Introduction to the Bible

The Bible is a collection of 66 documents inspired by God. These documents are gathered into two testaments, the Old (39) and the New (27). Prophets, priests, kings, and leaders from the nation of Israel wrote the OT books in Hebrew (with two passages in Aramaic). The apostles and their associates wrote the NT books in Greek.

The OT record starts with the creation of the universe and closes about 400 years before the first coming of Jesus Christ.

The flow of history through the OT moves along the following lines:

- Creation of the universe
- Fall of man
- Judgment flood over the earth
- Abraham, Isaac, Jacob (Israel)—fathers of the chosen nation
- The history of Israel
  - Exile in Egypt—430 years
  - Exodus and wilderness wanderings—40 years
  - Conquest of Canaan—7 years
  - Era of Judges—350 years
  - United Kingdom—Saul, David, Solomon—110 years
  - Divided Kingdom—Judah/Israel—350 years
  - Exile in Babylon—70 years
  - Return and rebuilding the land—140 years

The details of this history are explained in the 39 books divided into five categories:

- The Law—5 (Genesis—Deuteronomy)
- History—12 (Joshua—Esther)
- Wisdom—5 (Job—Song of Solomon)
- Major Prophets—5 (Isaiah—Daniel)
- Minor Prophets—12 (Hosea—Malachi)

After the completion of the OT, there were 400 years of silence, during which God did not speak or inspire any Scripture. That silence was broken by the arrival of John the Baptist announcing that the promised Lord Savior had come. The NT records the rest of the story from the birth of Christ to the culmination of all history and the final eternal state; so the two testaments go from creation to consummation, eternity past to eternity future.

While the 39 OT books major on the history of Israel and the promise of the coming Savior, the 27 NT books major on the person of Christ and the establishment of the church. The four Gospels give the record of his birth, life, death, resurrection, and ascension. Each of the four writers views the greatest and most important event of history, the coming of the God-man, Jesus Christ, from a different perspective. Matthew looks at him through the perspective of his kingdom; Mark through the perspective of his servanthood; Luke through the perspective of his humanness; and John through the perspective of his deity.

The book of Acts tells the story of the impact of the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, the Lord Savior—from his ascension, the consequent coming of the Holy Spirit, and the birth of the church, through the early years of gospel preaching by the apostles and their associates. Acts records the establishment of the church in Judea, Samaria, and into the Roman Empire.

The 21 epistles were written to churches and individuals to explain the significance of the person and work of Jesus Christ, with its implications for life and witness until he returns.

The NT closes with Revelation, which starts by picturing the current church age, and culminates with Christ's return to establish his earthly kingdom, bringing judgment on the ungodly and glory and blessing for believers. Following the millennial reign of the Lord Savior will be the last judgment, leading to the eternal state. All believers of all history enter the ultimate eternal glory prepared for them, and all the ungodly are consigned to hell to be punished forever.

To understand the Bible, it is essential to grasp the sweep of that history from creation to consummation. It is also crucial to keep in focus the unifying theme of Scripture. The one constant theme unfolding throughout the whole Bible is this: God for his own glory has chosen to create and gather to himself a group of people to be the subjects of his eternal kingdom, to praise, honor, and serve him forever and through whom he will display his wisdom, power, mercy, grace, and glory. To gather his chosen ones, God must redeem them from sin. The Bible reveals God's plan for this redemption from its inception in eternity past to its completion in eternity future. Covenants, promises, and epochs are all secondary to the one continuous plan of redemption.

There is one God. The Bible has one Creator. It is one book. It has one plan of grace, recorded from initiation, through execution, to consummation. From predestination to glorification, the Bible is the story of God redeeming his chosen people for the praise of his glory.

As God's redemptive purposes and plan unfold in Scripture, five recurring motifs are constantly emphasized:

- the character of God
- the judgment for sin and disobedience
- the blessing for faith and obedience
- the Lord Savior and sacrifice for sin
- the coming kingdom and glory

Everything revealed on the pages of both the OT and NT is associated with those five categories. Scripture is always teaching or illustrating: 1) the character and attributes of God; 2) the tragedy of sin and disobedience to God's holy standard; 3) the blessedness of faith and obedience to God's standard; 4) the need for a Savior by whose righteousness and substitution sinners can be forgiven, declared just, and transformed to obey God's standard; and 5) the coming glorious end of redemptive history in the Lord Savior's earthly kingdom and the subsequent eternal reign and glory of God and Christ. It is essential as one studies Scripture to grasp these recurring categories like great hooks on which to hang the passages. While reading through the Bible, one should be able to relate each portion of Scripture to these dominant topics, recognizing that what is introduced in the OT is also made more clear in the NT.

Looking at these five categories separately gives an overview of the Bible.

1. The Revelation of the Character of God

Above all else, Scripture is God's self-revelation. He reveals himself as the sovereign God of the universe who has chosen to make man and to make himself known to man. In that self-revelation is established his standard of absolute holiness. From Adam and Eve through Cain and Abel and to everyone before and after the law of Moses, the standard of righteousness was established and is sustained to the last page of the NT. Violation of it produces judgment, temporal and eternal.

In the OT, it is recorded that God revealed himself by the following means:

- creation—primarily through man—who was made in his image
- angels
- signs, wonders, and miracles
- visions
- spoken words by prophets and others
- written Scripture (OT)

In the NT, it is recorded that God revealed himself again by the same means, but more clearly and fully:

- creation—the God-man, Jesus Christ, who was the very image of God
- angels
- signs, wonders, and miracles
- visions
- spoken words by apostles and prophets
- written Scripture (NT)

2. The Revelation of Divine Judgment for Sin and Disobedience

Scripture repeatedly deals with the matter of man's sin, which leads to divine judgment. Account after account in Scripture demonstrates the deadly effects in time and eternity of violating God's standard. There are 1,189 chapters in the Bible. Only four of them don't involve a fallen world: the first two and the last two—before the fall and after the creation of the new heaven and new earth. The rest is the chronicle of the tragedy of sin.

In the OT, God showed the disaster of sin—starting with Adam and Eve, to Cain and Abel, the patriarchs, Moses and Israel, the kings, priests, some prophets, and Gentile nations. Throughout the OT is the relentless record of continual devastation produced by sin and disobedience to God's law.

In the NT, the tragedy of sin becomes more clear. The preaching and teaching of Jesus and the apostles begin and end with a call to repentance. King Herod, the Jewish leaders, and the nation of Israel—along with Pilate, Rome, and the rest of the world—all reject the Lord Savior, spurn the truth of God, and thus condemn themselves. The chronicle of sin continues unabated to the end of the age and the return of Christ in judgment. In the NT, disobedience is even more flagrant than OT disobedience because it involves the rejection of the Lord Savior Jesus Christ in the brighter light of NT truth.

3. The Revelation of Divine Blessing for Faith and Obedience

Scripture repeatedly promises wonderful rewards in time and eternity that come to people who trust God and seek to obey him. In the OT, God showed the blessedness of repentance from sin, faith in himself, and obedience to his word—from Abel, through the patriarchs, to the remnant in Israel—and even Gentiles who believed (such as the people of Nineveh).

God's standard for man, his will, and his moral law were always made known. To those who faced their inability to keep God's standard, recognized their sin, confessed their impotence to please God by their own effort and works, and asked him for forgiveness and grace—there came merciful redemption and blessing for time and eternity.

In the NT, God again showed the full blessedness of redemption from sin for repentant people. There were those who responded to the preaching of repentance by John the Baptist. Others repented at the preaching of Jesus. Still others from Israel obeyed the gospel through the apostles' preaching. And finally, there were Gentiles all over the Roman Empire who believed the gospel. To all those and to all who will believe through all of history, there is blessing promised in this world and the world to come.

4. The Revelation of the Lord Savior and Sacrifice for Sin

This is the heart of both the OT, which Jesus said spoke of him in type and prophecy, and the NT, which gives the biblical record of his coming. The promise of blessing is dependent on grace and mercy given to the sinner. Grace means that sin is not held against the sinner. Such forgiveness is dependent on a payment of sin's penalty to satisfy holy justice. That requires a substitute—one to die in the sinner's place. God's chosen substitute—the only one who qualified—was Jesus. Salvation is always by the same gracious means, whether during OT or NT times. When any sinner comes to God, repentant and convinced he has no power to save himself from the deserved judgment of divine wrath, and pleads for mercy, God's promise of forgiveness is granted. God then declares him righteous because the sacrifice and obedience of Christ is put to his account. In the OT, God justified sinners that same way, in anticipation of Christ's atoning work. There is, therefore, a continuity of grace and salvation through all of redemptive history. Various covenants, promises, and epochs do not alter that fundamental continuity, nor does the discontinuity between the OT witness nation, Israel, and the NT witness people, the church. A fundamental continuity is centered in the cross, which was no interruption in the plan of God, but is the very thing to which all else points.

Throughout the OT, the Savior and sacrifice are promised. In Genesis, he is the seed of the woman who will destroy Satan. In Zechariah, he is the pierced one to whom Israel turns and by whom God opens the fountain of forgiveness to all who mourn over their sin. He is the very One symbolized in the sacrificial system of the Mosaic law. He is the suffering substitute spoken of by the prophets. Throughout the OT, he is the Messiah who would die for the transgressions of his people; from beginning to end in the OT, the theme of the Lord Savior as a sacrifice for sin is presented. It is solely because of his perfect sacrifice for sin that God graciously forgives repentant believers.

In the NT, the Lord Savior came and actually provided the promised sacrifice for sin on the cross. Having fulfilled all righteousness by his perfect life, he fulfilled justice by his death. Thus God himself atoned for sin, at a cost too great for the human mind to fathom. Now he graciously supplies on their behalf all the merit necessary for his people to be the objects of his favor. That is what Scripture means when it speaks of salvation by grace.

5. The Revelation of the Kingdom and Glory of the Lord Savior

This crucial component of Scripture brings the whole story to its God-ordained consummation. Redemptive history is controlled by God, so as to culminate in his eternal glory. Redemptive history will end with the same precision and exactness with which it began. The truths of eschatology are neither vague nor unclear—nor are they unimportant. As in any book, how the story ends is the most crucial and compelling part—so with the Bible. Scripture notes several very specific features of the end planned by God.

In the OT, there is repeated mention of an earthly kingdom ruled by the Messiah, Lord Savior, who will come to reign. Associated with that kingdom will be the salvation of Israel, the salvation of Gentiles, the renewal of the earth from the effects of the curse, and the bodily resurrection of God's people who have died. Finally, the OT predicts that there will be the “uncreation” or dissolution of the universe, and the creation of a new heaven and new earth—which will be the eternal state of the godly—and a final hell for the ungodly.

In the NT, these features are clarified and expanded. The King was rejected and executed, but he promised to come back in glory, bringing judgment, resurrection, and his kingdom for all who believe. Innumerable Gentiles from every nation will be included among the redeemed. Israel will be saved and grafted back into the root of blessing from which she has been temporarily excised.

Israel's promised kingdom will be enjoyed, with the Lord Savior reigning on the throne, in the renewed earth, exercising power over the whole world, having taken back his rightful authority, and receiving due honor and worship. Following that kingdom will come the dissolution of the renewed, but still sin-stained creation, and the subsequent creation of a new heaven and new earth—which will be the eternal state, separate forever from the ungodly in hell.

Those are the five topics that fill up the Bible. To understand them at the start is to know the answer to the question that continually arises—Why does the Bible tell us this? Everything fits into this glorious pattern. As you read, hang the truth on these five hooks and the Bible will unfold, not as 66 separate documents, or even two separate testaments—but one book, by one divine Author, who wrote it all with one overarching theme.

My prayer is that the magnificent and overwhelming theme of the redemption of sinners for the glory of God will carry every reader with captivating interest from beginning to end of the story. Christian—this is your story. It is from God for you—about you. It tells what he planned for you, why he made you, what you were, what you have become in Christ, and what he has prepared for you in eternal glory.

Personal Notes

Why write a study Bible? The answer to that question comes in a conversation between Philip and an Ethiopian recorded in Acts 8:30–31:

So Philip ran to him and heard him reading Isaiah the prophet and asked,

“Do you understand what you are reading?” And he said,

“How can I, unless someone guides me?”

And he invited Philip to come up and sit with him.

As Philip did with the eunuch, I want to sit with you and explain the Scriptures. This Study Bible allows me that intimate opportunity.

Although I personally bear full responsibility for all the notes in The MacArthur Study Bible because they all have come from me and through me, a work of this magnitude with the responsibility to be accurate could only have been done with a team of supportive co-workers who committed themselves to assist me by arduous labor with loving devotion and commitment to excellence. Many friends have participated in the team—all of whom deserve to be commended and thanked.

My highest gratitude belongs to my friend and ministry partner, Dr. Richard Mayhue, Senior Vice President and Dean of The Master’s Seminary. He has worked next to me through the whole project, laboring beyond anyone while serving as project manager, OT and NT researcher, editor, and counselor. His exceptional gift for management, along with his vast knowledge of Scripture and doctrine, coupled with our one-mindedness theologically, plus his writing skill, have made for a more effective partnership.

Gratitude in abundance must be given to the faculty of The Master’s Seminary for their assistance in original research and carefully prepared first draft material for the study notes on the Old Testament. Using the foundation of that original research and material, I worked and re-worked the study notes into their final form.

Never have I been so challenged and blessed at the same time as during the two intense years of finalizing this work. Studying alone in my private place, perusing every word of Scripture, plus being challenged to understand each phrase and verse has yielded richness to my life and ministry like nothing I have undertaken before.

I have always been committed to the Scriptures as inspired, inerrant, infallible, sufficient and eternal. I have always preached the Bible expositionally, verse by verse, book by book. After this enterprise, I feel even more strongly about the necessity of preaching every pure word of Scripture (Ps. 12:6). I have been profoundly enriched in my own life, as never before, because of the sheer force of so much divine truth pouring through me daily. For many months I spent eight or more hours every day working in the word, not so much because I had to, but because I could not leave the text—its riches held me captive.

My thanks to you, the reader, for loving Scripture enough to be a serious student. This work is an additional way of fulfilling my calling as a pastor-teacher mandated “to equip the saints for the work of ministry, for building up the body of Christ” (Eph. 4:12).

A special word of thanks is certainly in order for my beloved wife, Patricia, who supported me with her prayers and encouragement, and endured my times of isolation with understanding.

With gratitude most of all to our glorious God who gave us his precious word, do I pray that he will be honored by this effort to explain what his word means by what it says.

John MacArthur

How We Got the Bible

Ever since Eve encountered Satan's barrage of doubt and denial (Gen. 3:1–7), mankind has continued to question God's word. Unfortunately, Eve had little or no help in sorting through her intellectual obstacles to full faith in God's self-disclosure (Gen. 2:16–17).

Now the scripture certainly has more than enough content to be interrogated, considering that it's comprised of 66 books, 1,189 chapters, 31,173 verses, and 757,444 words. When you open your english translation to read or study, you might have asked in the past or are currently asking, "how can I be sure this is the pure and true word of God?"

A question of this kind is not altogether bad, especially when one seeks to learn with a teachable mind (Acts 17:11). The scripture invites the kinds of queries that a sincere student asks. A whole host of questions can flood the mind, such as:

- Where did the Bible come from?
- Whose thinking does it reflect?
- Did any books of the Bible get lost in time past?
- What does the Scripture claim for itself?
- Does it live up to its claims?
- Who wrote the Bible—God or man?
- Has Scripture been protected from human tampering over the centuries?
- How close to the original manuscripts are today's translations?
- How did the Bible get to our time and in our language?
- Is there more Scripture to come, beyond the current 66 books?
- Who determined, and on what basis, that the Bible would be composed of the traditional list of 66 books?
- If the Scriptures were written over a period of 1,500 years (c. 1405 B.C. to A.D. 95), passed down since then for almost 2,000 years, and translated into several thousand languages, what prevented the Bible from being changed by the carelessness or ill motives of men?
- Does today's Bible really deserve the title "The Word of God"?

Undoubtedly, these questions have bombarded the minds of many. A study of the scriptures alone settles all questions to the extent that there is no need to be bothered by them again. Scripture gives this assurance.

Scripture's Self-Claims

Take the Bible and let it speak for itself. Does it claim to be God's word? Yes! Over 2,000 times in the Old Testament alone, the Bible asserts that God spoke what is written within its pages. From the beginning (Gen. 1:3) to the end (Mal. 4:3) and continually throughout, this is what Scripture claims.

The phrase "the word of God" occurs over 40 times in the New Testament. It is equated with the Old Testament (Mark 7:13). It is what Jesus preached (Luke 5:1). It was the message the apostles taught (Acts 4:31; 6:2). It was the word the Samaritans received (Acts 8:14) as given by the apostles (Acts 8:25). It was the message the Gentiles received as preached by Peter (Acts 11:1). It was the word Paul preached on his first missionary journey (Acts 13:5, 7, 44, 48–49; 15:35–36). It was the message preached on Paul's second missionary journey (Acts 16:32; 17:13; 18:11). It was the message Paul preached on his third missionary journey (Acts 19:10). It was the focus of Luke in the book of Acts in that it spread rapidly and widely (Acts 6:7; 12:24; 19:20). Paul was careful to tell the Corinthians that he spoke the word as it was given from God, that it had not been adulterated, and that it was a manifestation of truth (2 Cor. 2:17; 4:2). Paul acknowledged that it was the source of his preaching (Col. 1:25; 1 Thess. 2:13).

Psalms 19 and 119, plus Prov. 30:5–6, make powerful statements about God's word which set it apart from any other religious instruction ever known in the history of mankind. These passages make the case for the Bible being called "sacred" (2 Tim. 3:15) and "holy" (Rom. 1:2).

The Bible claims ultimate spiritual authority in doctrine, reproof, correction, and instruction in righteousness because it represents the inspired word of Almighty God (2 Tim. 3:16–17). Scripture asserts its spiritual sufficiency, so much so that it claims exclusivity for its teaching (cf. Isa. 55:11; 2 Pet. 1:3–4).

God's word declares that it is inerrant (Ps. 12:6; 119:140; Prov. 30:5a; John 10:35) and infallible (2 Tim. 3:16–17). In other words, it is true and therefore trustworthy. All of these qualities are dependent on the fact that Scripture is God-given (2 Tim. 3:16; 2 Pet. 1:20–21), which guarantees its quality at the Source and at its original writing.

In Scripture, the person of God and the word of God are everywhere interrelated, so much so that whatever is true about the character of God is true about the nature of God's word. God is true, impeccable, and reliable; therefore, so is his word. What a person thinks about God's word, in reality, reflects what a person thinks about God.

Thus, the Scripture can make these demands on its readers.

And he humbled you and let you hunger and fed you with manna, which you did not know, nor did your fathers know, that he might make you know that man does not live by bread alone, but man lives by every word that comes from the mouth of the Lord.

Deuteronomy 8:3

I have not departed from the commandment of his lips;
I have treasured the words of his mouth more than my portion of food.

Job 23:12

The Publishing Process

The Bible does not expect its reader to speculate on how these divine qualities were transferred from God to his word, but rather anticipates the questions with convincing answers. Every generation of skeptics has assailed the self-claims of the Bible, but its own explanations and answers have been more than equal to the challenge. The Bible has gone through God's publishing process in being given to and distributed among the human race. Its several features are discussed below.

Revelation

God took the initiative to disclose or reveal himself to mankind (Heb. 1:1). The vehicles varied; sometimes it was through the created order, at other times through visions/dreams or speaking prophets. However, the most complete and understandable self-disclosures were through the propositions of Scripture (1 Cor. 2:6–16). The revealed and written word of God is unique in that it is the only revelation of God that is complete and that so clearly declares man's sinfulness and God's provision of the Savior.

Inspiration

The revelation of God was captured in the writings of Scripture by means of "inspiration." This has more to do with the process by which God revealed himself than the fact of his self-revelation. "All Scripture is breathed out by God . . ." (2 Tim. 3:16) makes the claim. Peter explains the process, ". . . knowing this first of all, that no prophecy of Scripture is comes from someone's own interpretation. For no prophecy was ever produced by the will of man, but men spoke from God as they were carried along by the Holy Spirit" (2 Pet. 1:20–21). By this means, the word of God was protected from human error in its original record by the ministry of the Holy Spirit (cf. Deut. 18:18; Matt. 1:22). A section of Zech. 7:12 describes it most clearly, ". . . the law and the words that the Lord of hosts had sent by his Spirit through the former prophets." This ministry of the Spirit extended to both the part (the words) and to the whole in the original writings.

Canonicity

We must understand that the Bible is actually one book with one Divine Author, though it was written over a period of 1,500 years through the pens of almost 40 human writers. The Bible began with the creation account of Gen. 1–2, written by Moses about 1405 B.C., and extends to the eternity future account of Rev. 21–22, written by the apostle John about A.D. 95. During this time, God progressively revealed himself and his purposes in the inspired Scriptures. But this raises a significant question: "How do we know what supposed sacred writings were to be included in the canon of Scripture and which ones were to be excluded?"

Over the centuries, three widely recognized principles were used to validate those writings which came as a result of divine revelation and inspiration. First, the writing had to have a recognized prophet or apostle as its author (or one associated with them, as in the case of Mark, Luke, Hebrews, James, and Jude). Second, the writing could not disagree with or contradict previous Scripture. Third, the writing had to have general consensus by the church as an inspired book. Thus, when various councils met in church history to consider the canon, they did not vote for the canonicity of a book but rather recognized, after the fact, what God had already written.

With regard to the Old Testament, by the time of Christ all of the Old Testament had been written and accepted in the Jewish community. The last book, Malachi, had been completed about 430 B.C. Not only does the Old Testament canon of Christ's day conform to the Old Testament which has since been used throughout the centuries, but it does not contain the uninspired and spurious Apocrypha, that group of 14 rogue writings which were written after Malachi and attached to the Old Testament about 200–150 B.C. in the Greek translation of the Hebrew Old Testament called the Septuagint (LXX), appearing to this very day in some versions of the Bible. However, not one passage from the Apocrypha is cited by any New Testament writer, nor did Jesus affirm any of it as he recognized the Old Testament canon of his era (cf. Luke 24:27, 44).

By Christ's time, the Old Testament canon had been divided up into two lists of 22 or 24 books respectively, each of which contained all the same material as the 39 books of our modern versions. In the 22 book canon, Jeremiah and Lamentations were considered as one, as were Judges and Ruth. The following table shows how the 24 book format was divided.

The Hebrew Old Testament

THE HEBREW OLD TESTAMENT
Law	Prophets	Writings
1. Genesis	A. Former Prophets	A. Poetical Writings
2. Exodus	6. Joshua	14. Psalms
3. Leviticus	7. Judges	15. Proverbs
4. Numbers	8. Samuel (1&2)	16. Job
5. Deuteronomy	9. Kings (1&2)	B. Five Rolls (Megilloth)
	B. Latter Prophets	17. Song of Solomon
	10. Isaiah	18. Ruth

	11. Jeremiah	19. Lamentations
	12. Ezekiel	20. Ecclesiastes
	13. The Twelve (minor prophets)	21. Esther
		C. Historical Books
		22. Daniel
		23. Ezra-Nehemiah
		24. Chronicles (1&2)

The same three key tests of canonicity that applied to the Old Testament also applied to the New Testament. In the case of Mark and Luke/Acts, the authors were considered to be, in effect, the penmen for Peter and Paul respectively. James and Jude were written by Christ’s half brothers. While Hebrews is the only New Testament book whose authorship is unknown for certain, its content is so in line with both the Old Testament and New Testament, that the early church concluded it must have been written by an apostolic associate. The 27 books of the New Testament have been universally accepted since c. A.D. 350–400 as inspired by God.

Preservation

How can one be sure that the revealed and inspired, written word of God, which was recognized as canonical by the early church, has been handed down to this day without any loss of material? Furthermore, since one of the devil’s prime concerns is to undermine the Bible, have the Scriptures survived this destructive onslaught? In the beginning, he denied God’s word to Eve (Gen. 3:4). Satan later attempted to distort the Scripture in his wilderness encounter with Christ (Matt. 4:6–7). Through King Jehoiakim, he even attempted to literally destroy the word (Jer. 36:23). The battle for the Bible rages, but Scripture has and will continue to outlast its enemies.

God anticipated man’s and Satan’s malice towards the Scripture with divine promises to preserve his word. The very continued existence of Scripture is guaranteed in Isa. 40:8, “The grass withers, the flower fades, but the word of our God will stand forever” (cf. 1 Pet. 1:25). This even means that no inspired Scripture has been lost in the past and still awaits rediscovery.

The actual content of Scripture will be perpetuated, both in heaven (Ps. 119:89) and on earth (Isa. 59:21). Thus the purposes of God, as published in the sacred writings, will never be thwarted, even in the least detail (cf. Matt. 5:18; 24:25;

. . . so shall my word be that goes out from my mouth;

it shall not return to me empty,

but it shall accomplish that which I purpose, and shall succeed in the thing for which I sent it.

Transmission

Since the Bible has frequently been translated into multiple languages and distributed throughout the world, how can we be sure that error has not crept in, even if it was unintentional? As Christianity spread, it is certainly true that people desired to have the Bible in their own language which required translations from the original Hebrew and Aramaic languages of the Old Testament and the Greek of the New Testament. Not only did the work of translators provide an opportunity for error, but publication, which was done by hand copying until the printing press arrived c. A.D. 1450, also afforded continual possibilities of error.

Through the centuries, the practitioners of textual criticism, a precise science, have discovered, preserved, catalogued, evaluated, and published an amazing array of biblical manuscripts from both the Old and New Testaments. In fact, the number of existing biblical manuscripts dramatically outdistances the existing fragments of any other ancient literature. By comparing text with text, the textual critic can confidently determine what the original prophetic/apostolic, inspired writing contained.

Although existing copies of the main, ancient Hebrew text (Masoretic) date back only to the tenth century A.D., two other important lines of textual evidence bolster the confidence of textual critics that they have reclaimed the originals. First, the tenth century A.D. Hebrew Old Testament can be compared to the Greek translation called the Septuagint or LXX (written c. 200–150 B.C.; the oldest existing manuscripts date to c. A.D. 325). There is amazing consistency between the two, which speaks of the accuracy in copying the Hebrew text for centuries.

Second, the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls in 1947–1956 (manuscripts that are dated c. 200–100 B.C.) proved to be monumentally important. After comparing the earlier Hebrew texts with the later ones, only a few slight variants were discovered, none of which changed the meaning of any passage. Although the Old Testament had been translated and copied for centuries, the latest version was essentially the same as the earlier ones.

The New Testament findings are even more decisive because a much larger amount of material is available for study; there are over 5,000 Greek New Testament manuscripts that range from the whole testament to scraps of papyri which contain as little as part of one verse. A few existing fragments date back to within 25–50 years of the original writing. New Testament textual scholars have generally concluded that 1) 99.99 percent of the original writings have been reclaimed, and 2) of the remaining one hundredth of one percent, there are no variants substantially affecting any Christian doctrine.

With this wealth of biblical manuscripts in the original languages and with the disciplined activity of textual critics to establish with almost perfect accuracy the content of the autographs, any errors which have been introduced and/or perpetuated by the thousands of translations over the centuries can be identified and corrected by comparing the translation or copy with the reassembled original. By this providential means, God has made good his promise to preserve the Scriptures. We can rest assured that there are translations available today which indeed are worthy of the title, The Word of God.

The history of a full, English translation Bible essentially began with John Wycliffe (c. A.D. 1330–1384), who made the first English translation of the whole Bible. Later, William Tyndale was associated with the first complete, printed New Testament in English, c. A.D. 1526. Myles Coverdale followed in A.D. 1535, by delivering the first complete Bible printed in English. By A.D. 1611, the King James Version (KJV) had been completed. Since then, hundreds of translations have been made—some better, some worse. Today, the better English translations of the Hebrew and Greek Scriptures include: 1) English Standard Version (ESV); 2) New American Standard Bible (NASB); and 3) New King James Version (NKJV).

Summing It Up

God intended his word to abide forever (preservation). Therefore his written, propositional, self disclosure (revelation) was protected from error in its original writing (inspiration) and collected in 66 books of the Old and New Testaments (canonicity).

Through the centuries, tens of thousands of copies and thousands of translations have been made (transmission) which did introduce some error. Because there is an abundance of existing ancient Old Testament and New Testament manuscripts, however, the exacting science of textual criticism has been able to reclaim the content of the original writings (revelation and inspiration) to the extreme degree of 99.99 percent, with the remaining one hundredth of one percent having no effect on its content (preservation).

The sacred book which we read, study, obey, and preach deserves to unreservedly be called The Bible or “The Book without peer,” since its author is God and it bears the qualities of total truth and complete trustworthiness, as also characterizes its divine source.

Is There More To Come?

How do we know that God will not amend our current Bible with a 67th inspired book? Or, in other words, “Is the canon forever closed?”

Scripture texts warn that no one should delete from or add to Scripture (Deut. 4:2; 12:32; Prov. 30:6). Realizing that additional canonical books actually came after these words of warning, we can only conclude that while no deletions whatsoever were permitted, in fact, authorized, inspired writings were permitted to be added in order to complete the canon protected by those passages.

The most compelling text on the closed canon is the Scripture to which nothing has been added for 1,900 years.

I warn everyone who hears the words of the prophecy of this book: if anyone adds to them, God will add to him the plagues described in this book, and if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God will take away his share in the tree of life and in the holy city, which are described in this book.

Revelation 22:18–19

Several significant observations, when taken together, have convinced the church over the centuries that the canon of Scripture is actually closed, never to be reopened.

1. The book of Revelation is unique to the Scripture in that it describes with unparalleled detail the end-time events which precede eternity future. As Genesis began Scripture by bridging the gap from eternity past into our time/space existence with the only detailed creation account (Gen. 1–2), so Revelation transitions out of time/space back into eternity future (Rev. 20–22). Genesis and Revelation, by their contents, are the perfectly matched bookends of Scripture.
2. Just as there was prophetic silence after Malachi completed the Old Testament canon, so there was a parallel silence after John delivered Revelation. This leads to the conclusion that the New Testament canon was then closed also.
3. Since there have not been, nor now are, any authorized prophets or apostles in either the Old Testament or New Testament sense, there are not any potential authors of future inspired, canonical writings. God’s word, “once for all delivered to the saints,” is never to be added to, but to be earnestly contended for (Jude 3).
4. Of the four exhortations not to tamper with Scripture, only the one in Rev. 22:18–19 contains warnings of severe Divine judgment for disobedience. Further, Revelation is the only book of the New Testament to end with this kind of admonition and was the last New Testament book to be written. Therefore, these facts strongly suggest that Revelation was the last book of the canon and that the Bible is complete; to either add or delete would bring God’s severe displeasure.
5. Finally, the early church, those closest in time to the apostles, believed that Revelation concluded God’s inspired writings, the Scriptures.

So we can conclude, based on solid Biblical reasoning, that the canon is and will remain closed. There will be no future 67th book of the Bible.

Where Do We Stand?

In April, 1521, Martin Luther appeared before his ecclesiastical accusers at the Diet of Worms. They had given him the ultimatum to repudiate his unwavering faith in the sufficiency and perspicuity of the Scriptures. Luther is said to have responded, “Unless I am convicted by Scripture and plain reason—I do not accept the authority of popes and councils, for they have contradicted each other—my conscience is captive to the word of God. . . . God help me! Here I stand.”

Like Martin Luther, may we rise above the doubts within and confront the threats without when God’s word is assailed. God help us to be loyal contenders of the faith. Let us stand with God and the Scripture alone.

The Bible

This book contains: the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, and the happiness of believers.

Its doctrine is holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions are immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be saved, and practice it to be holy.

It contains light to direct you, food to support you, and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveler’s map, the pilgrim’s staff, the pilot’s compass, the soldier’s sword, and the Christian’s charter. Here heaven is open, and the gates of hell are disclosed.

Christ is the grand subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end. It should fill the memory, rule the heart, and guide the feet.

Read it slowly, frequently, and prayerfully. It is a mine of wealth, health to the soul, and a river of pleasure. It is given to you here in this life, will be opened at the judgment, and is established forever.

It involves the highest responsibility, will reward the greatest labor, and condemn all who trifle with its contents.

And we also thank God constantly for this, that when you received the word of God which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men but as what it really is, the word of God, which is at work in you believers.

How to Study the Bible

Here are tips on how to get the most out of the study of this “divine handbook.” These pointers will help answer the most crucial question of all, “How can a young man keep his way pure?” The psalmist responds, “By guarding it according to your word” (Ps. 119:9).

Why Is It Important to Study the Bible?

Why is God’s word so important? Because it contains God’s mind and will for your life (2 Tim. 3:16–17). It is the only source of absolute divine authority for you as a servant of Jesus Christ.

It is infallible in its totality: “The law of the Lord is perfect, reviving the soul; the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple” (Ps. 19:7).

It is inerrant in its parts: “Every word of God proves true; he is a shield to those who take refuge in him. Do not add to his words, lest he rebuke you and you be found a liar” (Prov. 30:5–6).

It is complete: “I warn everyone who hears the words of the prophecy of this book: if anyone adds to them, God will add to him the plagues described in this book, and if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God will take away his share in the tree of life and in the holy city, which are described in this book” (Rev. 22:18–19).

It is authoritative and final: “Forever, O Lord, your word is firmly fixed in the heaven” (Ps. 119:89).

It is totally sufficient for your needs: “. . . that the man of God may be competent, equipped for every good work” (2 Tim. 3:16–17).

It will accomplish what it promises: “so shall my word be that goes out from my mouth; it shall not return to me empty, but it shall accomplish that which I purpose, and shall succeed in the thing for which I sent it” (Isa. 55:11).

It provides the assurance of your salvation: “Whoever is of God hears the words of God . . .” (John 8:47; cf. 20:31).

How Will I Benefit from Studying the Bible?

Millions of pages of material are printed every week. Thousands of new books are published each month. This would not be surprising to Solomon who said, “. . . beware of anything beyond these. Of making many books there is no end” (Eccles. 12:12).

Even with today’s wealth of books and computer helps, the Bible remains the only source of divine revelation and power that can sustain Christians in their “daily walk with God.” Note these significant promises in the Scripture.

The Bible is the source of truth: “Sanctify them in the truth; your word is truth” (John 17:17).

The Bible is the source of God’s blessing when obeyed: “But he said, ‘Blessed rather are those who hear the word of God and keep it’” (Luke 11:28).

The Bible is the source of victory: “. . . the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God” (Eph. 6:17).

The Bible is the source of growth: “Like newborn infants, long for the pure spiritual milk, that by it you may grow up” (1 Pet. 2:2).

The Bible is the source of power: “For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Greek” (Rom. 1:16).

The Bible is the source of guidance: “Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my path” (Ps. 119:105).

What Should Be My Response to the Bible?

Because the Bible is so important and because it provides unparalleled eternal benefits, then these should be your responses:

- Believe it (John 6:68–69)
- Obey it (1 John 2:5)

- Preach it (2 Tim. 4:2)
- Honor it (Job 23:12)
- Guard it (1 Tim. 6:20)
- Study it (Ezra 7:10)
- Love it (Ps. 119:97)
- Fight for it (Jude 3)

Who Can Study the Bible?

Not everyone can be a Bible student. Check yourself on these necessary qualifications for studying the word with blessing:

- Are you saved by faith in Jesus Christ (1 Cor. 2:14–16)?
- Are you hungering for God’s word (1 Pet. 2:2)?
- Are you searching God’s word with diligence (Acts 17:11)?
- Are you seeking holiness (1 Pet. 1:14–16)?
- Are you Spirit-filled (Eph. 5:18)?

The most important question is the first. If you have never invited Jesus Christ to be your personal Savior and the Lord of your life, then your mind is blinded by Satan to God’s truth (2 Cor. 4:4).

If Christ is your need, stop reading right now and, in your own words with prayer, turn away from sin and turn toward God: “For by grace you have been saved through faith. And this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God, not a result of works, so that no one may boast” (Eph. 2:8–9).

What Are the Basics of Bible Study?

Personal Bible study, in precept, is simple. I want to share with you five steps to Bible study which will give you a pattern to follow.

STEP 1—Reading. Read a passage of Scripture repeatedly until you understand its theme, meaning the main truth of the passage. Isaiah said, “To whom would he teach knowledge, and to whom will he explain the message? Those who are weaned from the milk, those taken from the breast? For it is precept upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line, line upon line, here a little, there a little” (Isa. 28:9–10).

Develop a plan on how you will approach reading through the Bible. Unlike most books, you will probably not read it straight through from cover to cover. There are many good Bible reading plans available, but here is one that I have found helpful.

Read through the Old Testament at least once a year. As you read, note in the margins any truths you particularly want to remember, and write down separately anything you do not immediately understand. Often as you read you will find that many questions are answered by the text itself. The questions to which you cannot find answers become the starting points for more in-depth study using commentaries or other reference tools.

Follow a different plan for reading the New Testament. Read one book at a time repetitiously for a month or more. This will help you to retain what is in the New Testament and not always have to depend on a concordance to find things.

If you want to try this, begin with a short book, such as 1 John, and read it through in one sitting every day for 30 days. At the end of that time, you will know what is in the book. Write on index cards the major theme of each chapter. By referring to the cards as you do your daily reading, you will begin to remember the content of each chapter. In fact, you will develop a visual perception of the book in your mind.

Divide longer books into short sections and read each section daily for 30 days. For example, the Gospel of John contains 21 chapters. Divide it into 3 sections of 7 chapters. At the end of 90 days, you will finish John. For variety, alternate short and long books, and in less than three years you will have finished the entire New Testament—and you will really know it!

STEP 2—Interpreting. In Acts 8:30, Philip asked the Ethiopian eunuch, “Do you understand what you are reading?” Or put another way, “What does the Bible mean by what it says?” It is not enough to read the text and jump directly to the application; we must first determine what it means, otherwise the application may be incorrect.

As you read Scripture, always keep in mind one simple question: “What does this mean?” To answer that question requires the use of the most basic principle of interpretation, called the analogy of faith, which tells the reader to “interpret the Bible with the Bible.” Letting the Holy Spirit be your teacher (1 John 2:27), search the Scripture he has authored, using cross references, comparative passages, concordances, indexes, and other helps. For those passages that yet remain unclear, consult your pastor or godly men who have written in that particular area.

Errors to Avoid

As you interpret Scripture, several common errors should be avoided.

1. Do not draw any conclusions at the price of proper interpretation. That is, do not make the Bible say what you want it to say, but rather let it say what God intended when he wrote it.
2. Avoid superficial interpretation. You have heard people say, “To me, this passage means,” or “I feel it is saying . . .” The first step in interpreting the Bible is to recognize the four gaps we have to bridge: language, culture, geography, and history (see below).
3. Do not spiritualize the passage. Interpret and understand the passage in its normal, literal, historical, grammatical sense, just like you would understand any other piece of literature you were reading today.

Gaps to Bridge

The books of the Bible were written many centuries ago. For us to understand today what God was communicating then, there are several gaps that need to be bridged: the language gap, the cultural gap, the geographical gap, and the historical gap. Proper interpretation, therefore, takes time and disciplined effort.

1. Language. The Bible was originally written in Greek, Hebrew, and Aramaic. Often, understanding the meaning of a word or phrase in the original language can be the key to correctly interpreting a passage of Scripture.

2. Culture. The culture gap can be tricky. Some people try to use cultural differences to explain away the more difficult biblical commands. Realize that Scripture must first be viewed in the context of the culture in which it was written. Without an understanding of first-century Jewish culture, it is difficult to understand the Gospels. Acts and the epistles must be read in light of the Greek and Roman cultures.

3. Geography. A third gap that needs to be closed is the geography gap. Biblical geography makes the Bible come alive. A good Bible atlas is an invaluable reference tool that can help you comprehend the geography of the Holy Land.

4. History. We must also bridge the history gap. Unlike the scriptures of most other world religions, the Bible contains the records of actual historical persons and events. An understanding of Bible history will help us place the people and events in it in their proper historical perspective. A good Bible dictionary or Bible encyclopedia is useful here, as are basic historical studies.

Principles to Understand

Four principles should guide us as we interpret the Bible: literal, historical, grammatical, and synthesis.

1. The Literal Principle. Scripture should be understood in its literal, normal, and natural sense. While the Bible does contain figures of speech and symbols, they were intended to convey literal truth. In general, however, the Bible speaks in literal terms, and we must allow it to speak for itself.

2. The Historical Principle. This means that we interpret a passage in its historical context. We must ask what the text meant to the people to whom it was first written. In this way we can develop a proper contextual understanding of the original intent of Scripture.

3. The Grammatical Principle. This requires that we understand the basic grammatical structure of each sentence in the original language. To whom do the pronouns refer? What is the tense of the main verb? You will find that when you ask some simple questions like those, the meaning of the text immediately becomes clearer.

4. The Synthesis Principle. This is what the Reformers called the analogia scriptura. It means that the Bible does not contradict itself. If we arrive at an interpretation of a passage that contradicts a truth taught elsewhere in the Scriptures, our interpretation cannot be correct. Scripture must be compared with Scripture to discover its full meaning.

STEP 3—Evaluating. You have been reading and asking the question, “What does the Bible say?” Then you have interpreted, asking the question, “What does the Bible mean?” Now it is time to consult others to insure that you have the proper interpretation. Remember, the Bible will never contradict itself.

Read Bible introductions, commentaries, and background books which will enrich your thinking through that illumination which God has given to other men and to you through their books. In your evaluation, be a true seeker. Be one who accepts the truth of God’s word even though it may cause you to change what you always have believed, or cause you to alter your life pattern.

STEP 4—Applying. The next question is: “How does God’s truth penetrate and change my own life?” Studying Scripture without allowing it to penetrate to the depths of your soul would be like preparing a banquet without eating it. The bottom-line question to ask is, “How do the divine truths and principles contained in any passage apply to me in terms of my attitude and actions?”

Jesus made this promise to those who would carry their personal Bible study through to this point: “If you know these things, blessed are you if you do them” (John 13:17).

Having read and interpreted the Bible, you should have a basic understanding of what the Bible says, and what it means by what it says. But studying the Bible does not stop there. The ultimate goal should be to let it speak to you and enable you to grow spiritually. That requires personal application.

Bible study is not complete until we ask ourselves, “What does this mean for my life and how can I practically apply it?” We must take the knowledge we have gained from our reading and interpretation and draw out the practical principles that apply to our personal lives.

If there is a command to be obeyed, we obey it. If there is a promise to be embraced, we claim it. If there is a warning to be followed, we heed it. This is the ultimate step: we submit to Scripture and let it transform our lives. If you skip this step, you will never enjoy your Bible study and the Bible will never change your life.

STEP 5—Correlating. This last stage connects the doctrine you have learned in a particular passage or book with divine truths and principles taught elsewhere in the Bible to form the big picture. Always keep in mind that the Bible is one book in 66 parts, and it contains a number of truths and principles, taught over and over again in a variety of ways and circumstances. By correlating and cross-referencing, you will begin to build a sound doctrinal foundation by which to live.

What Now?

The psalmist said, “Blessed is the man who walks not in the counsel of the wicked, nor stands in the way of sinners, nor sits in the seat of scoffers; but his delight is in the law of the Lord, and on his law he meditates day and night” (Ps. 1:1–2).

It is not enough just to study the Bible. We must meditate upon it. In a very real sense we are giving our brain a bath; we are washing it in the purifying solution of God’s word.

This Book of the Law shall not depart from your mouth, but you shall meditate on it day and night, so that you may be careful to do according to all that is written in it. For then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will have good success.

Here is the spring where waters flow,

To quench our heat of sin:

Here is the tree where truth doth grow,

To lead our lives therein:

Here is the judge that stints the strife,

When men’s devices fail:

Preface to the English Standard Version

The Bible

“This Book [is] the most valuable thing that this world affords. Here is Wisdom; this is the royal Law; these are the lively Oracles of God.” With these words the Moderator of the Church of Scotland hands a Bible to the new monarch in Britain’s coronation service. These words echo the King James Bible translators, who wrote in 1611: “God’s sacred word . . . is that inestimable treasure that excelleth all the riches of the earth.” This assessment of the Bible is the motivating force behind the publication of the English Standard Version.

Translation Legacy

The English Standard Version (ESV) stands in the classic mainstream of English Bible translations over the past half-millennium. The fountainhead of that stream was William Tyndale’s New Testament of 1526; marking its course were the King James Version of 1611 (KJV), the English Revised Version of 1885 (RV), the American Standard Version of 1901 (ASV), and the Revised Standard Version of 1952 and 1971 (RSV). In that stream, faithfulness to the text and vigorous pursuit of accuracy were combined with simplicity, beauty, and dignity of expression. Our goal has been to carry forward this legacy for a new century.

To this end each word and phrase in the ESV has been carefully weighed against the original Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek, to ensure the fullest accuracy and clarity and to avoid under-translating or overlooking any nuance of the original text. The words and phrases themselves grow out of the Tyndale–King James legacy, and most recently out of the RSV, with the 1971 RSV text providing the starting point for our work. Archaic language has been brought to current usage and significant corrections have been made in the translation of key texts. But throughout, our goal has been to retain the depth of meaning and enduring language that have made their indelible mark on the English-speaking world and have defined the life and doctrine of the church over the last four centuries.

Translation Philosophy

The ESV is an “essentially literal” translation that seeks as far as possible to capture the precise wording of the original text and the personal style of each Bible writer. As such, its emphasis is on “word-for-word” correspondence, at the same time taking into account differences of grammar, syntax, and idiom between current literary English and the original languages. Thus it seeks to be transparent to the original text, letting the reader see as directly as possible the structure and meaning of the original.

In contrast to the ESV, some Bible versions have followed a “thought-for-thought” rather than “word-for-word” translation philosophy, emphasizing “dynamic equivalence” rather than the “essentially literal” meaning of the original. A “thought-for-thought” translation is of necessity more inclined to reflect the interpretive opinions of the translator and the influences of contemporary culture.

Every translation is at many points a trade-off between literal precision and readability, between “formal equivalence” in expression and “functional equivalence” in communication, and the ESV is no exception. Within this framework we have sought to be “as literal as possible” while maintaining clarity of expression and literary excellence. Therefore, to the extent that plain English permits and the meaning in each case allows, we have sought to use the same English word for important recurring words in the original; and, as far as grammar and syntax allow, we have rendered Old Testament passages cited in the New in ways that show their correspondence. Thus in each of these areas, as well as throughout the Bible as a whole, we have sought to capture the echoes and overtones of meaning that are so abundantly present in the original texts.

As an essentially literal translation, then, the ESV seeks to carry over every possible nuance of meaning in the original words of Scripture into our own language. As such, it is ideally suited for in-depth study of the Bible. Indeed, with its emphasis on literary excellence, the ESV is equally suited for public reading and preaching, for private reading and reflection, for both academic and devotional study, and for Scripture memorization.

Translation Style

The ESV also carries forward classic translation principles in its literary style. Accordingly it retains theological terminology—words such as grace, faith, justification, sanctification, redemption, regeneration, reconciliation, propitiation—because of their central importance for Christian doctrine and also because the underlying Greek words were already becoming key words and technical terms in New Testament times.

The ESV lets the stylistic variety of the biblical writers fully express itself—from the exalted prose that opens Genesis, to the flowing narratives of the historical books, to the rich metaphors and dramatic imagery of the poetic books, to the ringing rhetorical indictments in the prophetic books, to the smooth elegance of Luke, to the profound simplicities of John, and the closely reasoned logic of Paul.

In punctuating, paragraphing, dividing long sentences, and rendering connectives, the ESV follows the path that seems to make the ongoing flow of thought clearest in English. The biblical languages regularly connect sentences by frequent repetition of words such as “and,” “but,” and “for,” in a way that goes beyond the conventions of literary English. Effective translation, however, requires that these links in the original be reproduced so that the flow of the argument will be transparent to the reader. We have therefore normally translated these connectives, though occasionally we have varied the rendering by using alternatives (such as “also,” “however,” “now,” “so,” “then,” or “thus”) when they better capture the sense in specific instances.

In the area of gender language, the goal of the ESV is to render literally what is in the original. For example, “anyone” replaces “any man” where there is no word corresponding to “man” in the original languages, and “people” rather than “men” is regularly used where the original languages refer to both men and women. But the words “man” and “men” are retained where a male meaning component is part of the original Greek or Hebrew. Likewise, the word “man” has been retained where the original text intends to convey a clear contrast between “God” on the one hand and “man” on the other hand, with “man” being used in the collective sense of the whole human race (see Luke 2:52). Similarly, the English word “brothers” (translating the Greek word adelphoi) is retained as an important familial form of address between fellow-Jews and fellow-Christians in the first century. A recurring note is included to indicate that the term “brothers” (adelphoi) was often used in Greek to refer to both men and women, and to indicate the specific instances in the text where this is the case. In addition, the English word “sons” (translating the Greek word huioi) is retained in specific instances because the underlying Greek term usually includes a male meaning component and it was used as a legal term in the adoption and inheritance laws of first-century Rome. As used by the apostle Paul, this term refers to the status of all Christians, both men and women, who, having been adopted into God’s family, now enjoy all the privileges, obligations, and inheritance rights of God’s children.

The inclusive use of the generic “he” has also regularly been retained, because this is consistent with similar usage in the original languages and because an essentially literal translation would be impossible without it. Similarly, where God and man are compared or contrasted in the original, the ESV retains the generic use of “man” as the clearest way to express the contrast within the framework of essentially literal translation.

In each case the objective has been transparency to the original text, allowing the reader to understand the original on its own terms rather than on the terms of our present-day culture.

The Translation of Specialized Terms

In the translation of biblical terms referring to God, the ESV takes great care to convey the specific nuances of meaning of the original Hebrew and Greek terms. First, concerning terms that refer to God in the Old Testament: God, the Maker of heaven and earth, introduced himself to the people of Israel with the special, personal name, whose consonants are YHWH (see Ex. 3:14-15). Scholars call this the “Tetragrammaton,” a Greek term referring to the four Hebrew letters YHWH. The exact pronunciation of YHWH is uncertain, because the Jewish people considered the personal name of God to be so holy that it should never be spoken aloud. Instead of reading the word YHWH, they would normally read the Hebrew word adonai (“Lord”), and the ancient translations into Greek, Syriac, and Aramaic also followed suit. When the vowels of the word adonai are placed with the consonants of YHWH, this results in the familiar word Jehovah that was used in some earlier English Bible translations. As is common among English translations today, the ESV usually renders the personal name of God (YHWH) with the word Lord (printed in small capitals). An exception to this is when the Hebrew word adonai appears together with YHWH, in which case the two words are rendered together as “the Lord [in lower case] God [in small capitals].” In contrast to the personal name for God (YHWH), the more general name for God in Old Testament Hebrew is 'elohim and its related forms of 'el or 'eloah, all of which are normally translated “God” (in lower case letters). The use of these different ways to translate the Hebrew words for God is especially beneficial to the English reader, enabling the reader to see and understand the different ways that the personal name and the general name for God are both used to refer to the One True God of the Old Testament.

Second, in the New Testament, the Greek word Christos has been translated consistently as “Christ.” Although the term originally meant “anointed,” among Jews in New Testament times the term came to designate the Messiah, the great Savior that God had promised to raise up. In other New Testament contexts, however, especially among Gentiles, Christos (“Christ”) was on its way to becoming a proper name. It is important, therefore, to keep the context in mind in understanding the various ways that Christos (“Christ”) is used in the New Testament. At the same time, in accord with its “essentially literal” translation philosophy, the ESV has retained consistency and concordance in the translation of Christos (“Christ”) throughout the New Testament.

A third specialized term, the word “behold,” usually has been retained as the most common translation for the Hebrew word hinneh and the Greek word idou. Both of these words mean something like “Pay careful attention to what follows! This is important!” Other than the word “behold,” there is no single word in English that fits well in most contexts. Although “Look!” and “See!” and “Listen!” would be workable in some contexts, in many others these words lack sufficient weight and dignity. Given the principles of “essentially literal” translation, it is important not to leave hinneh and idou completely untranslated, and so to lose the intended emphasis in the original languages. The older and more formal word “behold” has usually been retained, therefore, as the best available option for conveying the original sense of meaning.

Textual Basis

The ESV is based on the Masoretic text of the Hebrew Bible as found in Biblia Hebraica Stuttgartensia (2nd ed., 1983), and on the Greek text in the 1993 editions of the Greek New Testament (4th corrected ed.), published by the United Bible Societies (UBS), and Novum Testamentum Graece (27th ed.), edited by Nestle and Aland. The currently renewed respect among Old Testament scholars for the Masoretic text is reflected in the ESV’s attempt, wherever possible, to translate difficult Hebrew passages as they stand in the Masoretic text rather than resorting to emendations or to finding an alternative reading in the ancient versions. In exceptional, difficult cases, the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Septuagint, the Samaritan Pentateuch, the Syriac Peshitta, the Latin Vulgate, and other sources were consulted to shed possible light on the text, or, if necessary, to support a divergence from the Masoretic text. Similarly, in a few difficult cases in the New Testament, the ESV has followed a Greek text different from the text given preference in the UBS/Nestle-Aland 27th edition. In this regard the footnotes that accompany the ESV text are an integral part of the ESV translation, informing the reader of textual variations and difficulties and showing how these have been resolved by the ESV translation team. In addition to this, the footnotes indicate significant alternative readings and occasionally provide an explanation for technical terms or for a difficult reading in the text. Throughout, the translation team has benefited greatly from the massive textual resources that have become readily available recently, from new insights into biblical laws and culture, and from current advances in Hebrew and Greek lexicography and grammatical understanding.

Publishing Team

The ESV publishing team includes more than a hundred people. The fourteen-member Translation Oversight Committee has benefited from the work of fifty biblical experts serving as Translation Review Scholars and from the comments of the more than fifty members of the Advisory Council, all of which has been carried out under the auspices of the Crossway Board of Directors. This hundred-member team, which shares a common commitment to the truth of God's word and to historic Christian orthodoxy, is international in scope and includes leaders in many denominations.

To God's Honor and Praise

We know that no Bible translation is perfect or final; but we also know that God uses imperfect and inadequate things to his honor and praise. So to our triune God and to his people we offer what we have done, with our prayers that it may prove useful, with gratitude for much help given, and with ongoing wonder that our God should ever have entrusted to us so momentous a task.

Soli Deo Gloria!—To God alone be the glory!

Explanation of Features Included in this Edition

The MacArthur Study Bible, ESV includes a number of valuable features to encourage the reading and study of the Bible. A brief description is provided below explaining the purpose and use of the MacArthur Study Bible, ESV features.

Section Headings

Section headings have been included throughout the text of the MacArthur Study Bible, ESV. While the headings are not part of the Bible text itself, they have been provided to help identify and locate important themes and topics throughout the Bible.

Center-Column Cross-Reference System

The MacArthur Study Bible, ESV includes one of the most extensive and useful cross-reference systems available. The ESV cross-reference system is based on a comprehensive system developed more than a hundred years ago by a team of Bible scholars from Oxford and Cambridge Universities. As far as possible this system also included the cross-references used in the original King James Version of 1611. The resulting cross-reference system was first used in the English Revised Version (RV) and has been highly regarded around the world for its effectiveness in showing the internal interrelationship of the text throughout the Bible.

The cross-reference system as it appears in the MacArthur Study Bible, ESV has been adapted as needed from the RV system for use with the ESV text. In some cases, therefore, the specific wording of the reference passage may differ, although the underlying meaning and relationship to the referenced text is normally the same.

Because the ESV is an essentially literal, word-for-word translation, the ESV is especially suited for cross-reference study of key words and concepts throughout the Bible.

Using the ESV Cross-Reference System

An alphabetical superscript, preceding a word or phrase, is used to indicate each word or phrase that is cross-referenced. Numerical superscripts, however, which follow words or phrases, refer to footnotes at the bottom of the page. See, for example, the word “psound8” in Titus 2:1, where the letter superscript “p” preceding the word refers to the cross-reference, while the number superscript “8” refers to the footnote at the bottom of the page.

Types of Cross-References

The ESV cross-reference system includes several types of cross-references, as illustrated here from Romans 3:3–4. These include:

(1) References to Specific Words or Phrases. References to words and phrases within the same chapter appear as, e.g., “ver. 7”; within the same book, as, e.g., “ch. 9:6”; in other books of the Bible, as, e.g., “Heb. 4:2.”

(2) Comparative References. These references direct the reader to passages with the same theme and are indicated by square brackets, e.g., “ch. 9:6; [2 Tim. 2:13].” In this example the theme of God’s faithfulness as found in Rom. 3:3 is cross-referenced with the same theme found later in Rom. 9:6 and in 2 Tim. 2:13.

(3) Less Direct References. These references generally provide additional information or insight about a specific theme and are introduced with the word “See,” e.g., “See John 8:26.” In this example the reader is directed to John 8:26, where God is presented as a trustworthy judge, thereby illustrating the theme of God’s faithfulness as taught in Rom. 3:4.

(4) Quoted References. These references indicate the source for verses or phrases quoted from other places in the Bible, e.g., “Cited from Ps. 51:4.”

The notations “(Heb.)” and “(Gk.)” indicate that the reference is clearer in Hebrew or Greek than in English. “(Gk.)” in New Testament citations of the Old Testament indicates that the reference is most clear in the Septuagint, a Greek translation of the Old Testament.

Footnotes

Several kinds of footnotes related to the ESV text are provided throughout the ESV Bible to assist the reader. These footnotes appear at the bottom of the page and are indicated in the ESV text by a superscript number that follows the word or phrase to which the footnote applies (e.g., “Isaac<sup>2</sup>”). Superscript letters that precede a word (e.g., “<sup>c</sup>Isaac”) are used to indicate cross-references (see cross-reference explanation above).

The footnotes included in the ESV Bible are an integral part of the text and provide important information concerning the understanding and translation of the text. The footnotes fall mainly into four categories, as illustrated in the examples below.

Types of Footnotes

(1) Alternative Translations. Footnotes of this kind provide alternative translations for specific words or phrases when there is a strong possibility that such words or phrases could be translated in another way, such as: “Or keep awake” (see Matt. 26:38); and “Or down payment” (see Eph. 1:14). In such cases, the translation deemed to have the stronger support is in the text while other possible renderings are given in the note.

(2) Explanation of Greek and Hebrew Terms. Notes of this kind relate primarily to the meaning of specific Greek or Hebrew terms, as illustrated by the following examples:

(a) Notes about the meaning of names in the original languages, such as: “Isaac means he laughs” (see Gen. 17:19); and “Simeon sounds like the Hebrew for heard” (see Gen. 29:33).

(b) Notes that give the literal translation of a Greek or Hebrew word or phrase deemed too awkward to be used in the English text, such as: “Greek girding up the loins of your mind” (see 1 Pet. 1:13).

(c) Notes indicating that absolute certainty of the meaning of a word or phrase is not possible given our best understanding of the original language (e.g., Hebrew words occurring so infrequently in the Old Testament that their meaning cannot be determined with certainty). Such words are identified with a note stating that “The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain” (see, e.g., Josh. 17:11).

(d) Notes that indicate the specialized use of a Greek word, such as: “brothers,” translating the Greek word adelphoi (see, e.g., the extended note on Rom. 1:13, corresponding to the first occurrence of adelphoi in any New Testament book, and the abbreviated note, e.g., on Rom. 7:1, corresponding to subsequent occurrences of adelphoi in any New Testament book); and “sons,” translating the Greek word huioi (see, e.g., Rom. 8:14). See also the discussion of adelphoi and huioi in the preface.

(3) Other Explanatory Notes. Footnotes of this kind provide clarifying information as illustrated by the following examples:

(a) Notes clarifying additional meanings that may not otherwise be apparent in the text, such as: “Leprosy was a term for several skin diseases; see Lev. 13.”

(b) Notes clarifying important grammatical points that would not otherwise be apparent in English, such as: “In Hebrew you is plural in verses 1-5” (see Gen. 3:1).

(c) Notes clarifying when the referent for a pronoun has been supplied in the English text, such as: “Greek he” (see, e.g., Mark 1:43).

(d) Notes giving English equivalents for weights, measures, and monetary values.

(4) Technical Translation Notes. Footnotes of this kind indicate how decisions have been made in the translation of difficult Hebrew and Greek passages. Such notes occasionally include technical terms. For an explanation of these terms the reader is referred to standard Bible study reference works. See further the section in the preface on “Textual Basis” for an explanation of the original-language texts used in the translation of the ESV Bible and how the translation of difficult passages has been resolved.

Maps

A valuable set of color maps is provided at the end of the MacArthur Study Bible, ESV. These include maps describing the biblical world and key historical periods in the life of ancient Israel and in New Testament times. Also included are maps showing Jerusalem in the time of Jesus as well as the missionary journeys of the apostle Paul.

Introduction to the Pentateuch

The first five books of the Bible (Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy) form a complete literary unit called the Pentateuch, meaning “five scrolls.” The five independent books of the Pentateuch were written as an unbroken unity in content and historical sequence, with each succeeding book beginning where the former left off.

Genesis’ first words, “In the beginning, God created . . .” (Gen. 1:1) imply the reality of God’s eternal or “before time” existence and announce the spectacular transition to time and space. While the exact date of creation cannot be determined, it certainly would be estimated to be thousands of years ago, not millions. Starting with Abraham (c. 2165–1990 B.C.) in Gen. 11, this book of beginnings spans over 300 years to the death of Joseph in Egypt (c. 1804 B.C.). There is then another gap of almost 300 years until the birth of Moses in Egypt (c. 1525 B.C.; Ex. 2).

Exodus begins with the words “These are the names” (Ex. 1:1), listing those of the family of Jacob who went down to Egypt to be with Joseph toward the end of Genesis (Gen. 46ff.). The second book of the Pentateuch, which records the escape of the Israelites from Egypt, concludes when the cloud which led the people through the wilderness descends upon the newly constructed tabernacle.

The first Hebrew words of Leviticus may be translated, “The Lord called Moses” (Lev. 1:1). From the cloud of God’s Presence in the tabernacle of meeting (Lev. 1:1), God summons Moses in order to prescribe to him the ceremonial law which told Israel how they must approach their Holy Lord. Leviticus concludes with, “These are the commandments that the Lord commanded Moses for the people of Israel on Mount Sinai” (Lev. 27:34).

Numbers, much like Leviticus, commences with God commissioning Moses at the tabernacle of meeting, this time to take a census in preparation for war against Israel’s enemies. The book’s title in the Hebrew Bible accurately represents the content—“Wilderness.” Due to lack of trust in God, Israel did not want to engage its enemies militarily in order to claim the Promised Land. After 40 additional years in the wilderness for their rebellion, Israel arrived on the plains of Moab.

Despite the fact that “It is eleven days’ journey from Horeb by the way of Mount Seir to Kadesh-barnea” (Deut. 1:2), the journey took Israel 40 years due to their rebellion against God. Moses preached the book of Deuteronomy as a sermon on the Plains of Moab in preparation for God’s people to enter the land of covenant promise (Gen. 12:1–3). The title Deuteronomy is from the Greek phrase deuteronomos, meaning “second law.” The book focuses on the restatement and, to some extent, the reapplication of the law to Israel’s new circumstances.

Moses was the human author of the Pentateuch (Ex. 17:14; 24:4; Num. 33:1–2; Deut. 31:9; Josh. 1:8; 2 Kings 21:8); thus, another title for the collection is “The Books of Moses.” Through Moses, God revealed himself, his former works, Israel’s family history, and its role in his plan of redemption for mankind. The Pentateuch is foundational to all the rest of Scripture.

Quoted or alluded to thousands of times in the OT and in the NT, the Pentateuch was Israel’s first inspired body of Scripture. For many years, this alone was Israel’s Bible. Another common title for this section of Scripture is Torah or Law, nomenclature which looks at the didactic nature of these books. The Israelites were to meditate upon it (Josh. 1:8), teach it to their children (Deut. 6:4–8), and read it publicly (Neh. 8:1ff.). Just before his death and Israel’s move into the Promised Land, Moses set forth the process by which public reading would make its way into human hearts and change their relationship with God, and ultimately their conduct:

Assemble the people, men, women, and little ones, and the sojourner within your towns, that they may hear and learn to fear the Lord your God, and be careful to do all the words of this law.

The relationships between the commands is important. The people must: 1) gather to hear the law in order to learn what is required of them and what it has to say about God; 2) learn about the Lord in order to fear him based on a correct understanding of who he is; and 3) fear God in order to be correctly motivated to obedience and good works. Good works performed for any other reason will be improperly motivated. The priests taught the law to the families (Mal. 2:4–7) and the parents instructed the children within the home (Deut. 6:4ff.). Instruction in the law, in short, would provide the right foundation for the OT believer's relationship with God.

Because the Israelites' knowledge of the world in which they lived came through the Egyptians, as well as their ancestors the Mesopotamians, there was much confusion about the creation of the world, how it got to its present state, and how Israel had come into existence. Genesis 1–11 helped Israel understand the origin and nature of creation, human labor, sin, marriage, murder, death, bigamy, judgment, the multiplicity of languages, cultures, etc. These chapters established the worldview which explained the remainder of Israel's first Bible, the Pentateuch.

The later portion of Genesis explained to Israel who they were, including the purpose God had for them as a people. In Gen. 12:1–3, God had appeared to Abraham and made a threefold promise to give them a land, descendants, and blessing. Years later, in a ceremony typical to Abraham's culture, God recast the threefold promise into a covenant (Gen. 15:7ff.). The remainder of Genesis treats the fulfillment of all three promises, but focuses especially on the seed or descendants. The barrenness of each of the patriarchs' chosen wives taught Israel the importance of trust and patience in waiting for children from God.

The rest of the Pentateuch looks at the way in which the promises of Gen. 12:1–3 expand in the Abrahamic Covenant and achieve their initial stages of fulfillment. Exodus and Leviticus focus more on the blessing of relationship with God. In Exodus, Israel meets the God of their fathers and is led forth by him from Egypt to the Promised Land. Leviticus underscores the meticulous care with which the people and priests were to approach God in worship and every dimension of their lives. Holiness and cleanness come together in simple and practical ways. Numbers and Deuteronomy focus on the journey to and preparation for the land. The Pentateuch treats many issues related to Israel's relationship with their God. But the underlying theme of the Pentateuch is the initial, unfolding fulfillments of God's promises made to Abraham.

Introduction to the Prophets

The writing prophets of the OT fall into two groups: the four major prophets—Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel—and the 12 minor prophets—Hosea, Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi. Lamentations falls into the major-prophet grouping because of its connection with Jeremiah.

Besides these, the OT regarded others as prophets. Such prophets as Gad, Nathan, Elijah, and Elisha were typical of the nonwriting prophets. In a sense, John the Baptist as a forerunner of Jesus was a prophet who belonged to the OT era.

The following table gives the sequence and approximate dates and direction of ministry for the writing prophets, with “Israel” designating the northern kingdom and “Judah” the southern:

Prophets organized by Date and Direction of Ministry

Prophets organized by Date and Direction of Ministry
Prophet	Ministered to	in the Years
Obadiah	Edom	850–840 B.C.
Joel	Judah	835–796 B.C.
Jonah	Nineveh	784–760 B.C.
Amos	Israel	763–755 B.C.
Hosea	Israel	755–710 B.C.
Isaiah	Judah	739–680 B.C.
Micah	Judah	735–710 B.C.
Nahum	Nineveh	650–630 B.C.
Zephaniah	Judah	635–625 B.C.
Jeremiah	Judah	627–570 B.C.
Habakkuk	Judah	620–605 B.C.
Daniel	Babylon	605–536 B.C.
Ezekiel	Babylon	593–570 B.C.
Haggai	Judah	520–505 B.C.
Zechariah	Judah	520–470 B.C.
Malachi	Judah	437–417 B.C.

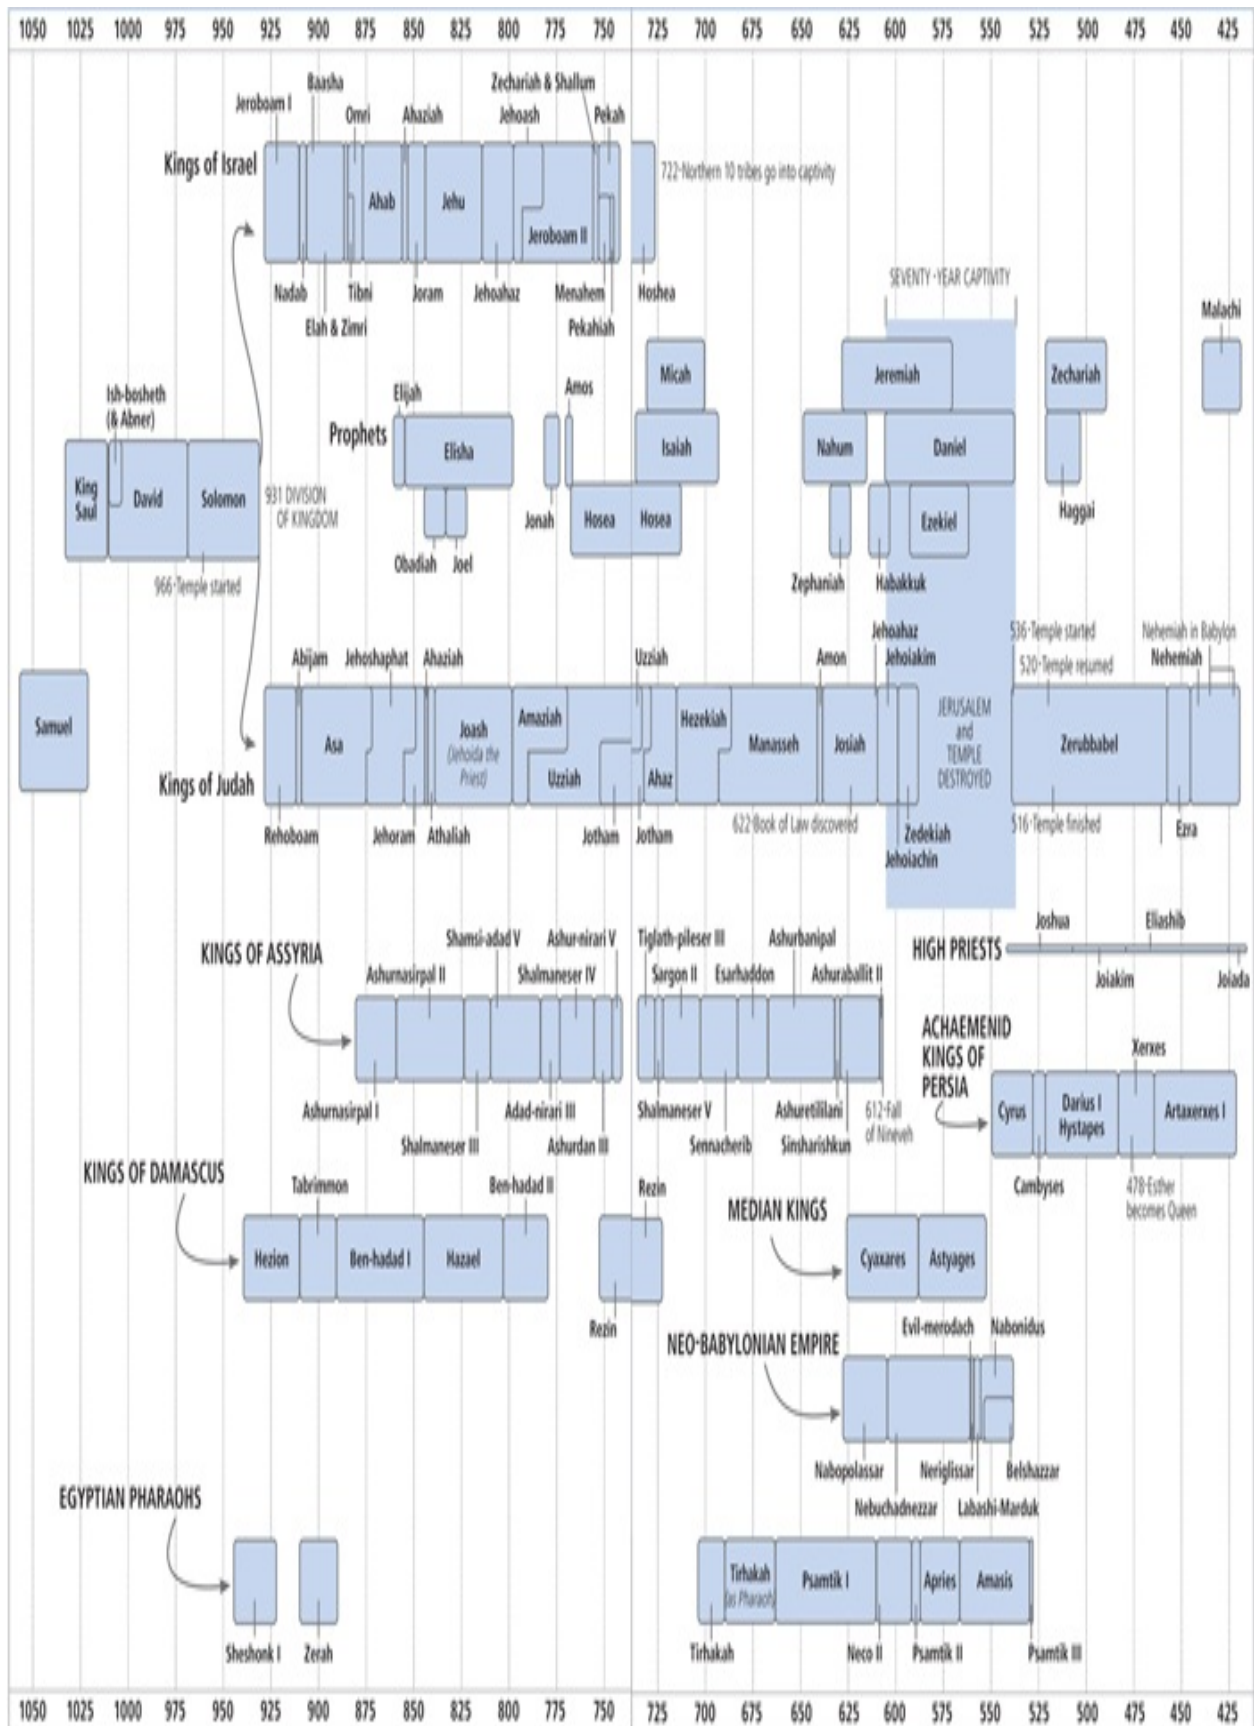

Another way of categorizing the writing prophets relates them chronologically to the captivities of Israel (c. 722 B.C.) and Judah (c. 586 B.C.):

Prophets organized by Writing Date and Captivity

Prophets organized by Writing Date and Captivity
Preexilic				Exilic	Postexilic
Obadiah	Amos	Micah	Jeremiah	Daniel	Haggai
Joel	Hosea	Nahum	Habakkuk	Ezekiel	Zechariah
Jonah	Isaiah	Zephaniah		Malachi

Chronology of Old Testament Kings and Prophets

Messages of the writing prophets sometimes related to the prophets' immediate future (e.g., Isa. 7:1–11) and sometimes to the distant future (e.g., Isa. 7:12–14). In their frequent predictions about the coming Messiah, they saw him in two roles: that of a suffering Messiah (e.g., Isa. 53) and that of a reigning Messiah (e.g., Isa. 11). The prophets themselves were unable to comprehend completely how these two aspects of the Messiah's future ministry would fit together (1 Pet. 1:10–12).

God's dealings with Israel dominated the pages of the major and minor prophets, but several books—Daniel, Obadiah, Jonah, and Nahum—have as their subjects God's working in Gentile world history. The other prophetic books look beyond Israel from time to time to note how God's chosen nation will impact the rest of the nations (e.g., Isa. 52:10, 15) or how God will judge the nations.

As seen from the chronological listing on the previous page, the period of the writing prophets ended about 400 years before the coming of Christ. No official declaration marked the end of OT prophecy, but the people of Israel came gradually to the realization that no prophet had appeared in Israel for a considerable period of time (cf. 1 Macc. 9:27). From the perspective of later times, it became obvious to all that the great prophetic movement of the OT terminated and thus commenced the 400 "silent years," after which comparable written ministries of NT apostles and prophets began.

Introduction to Genesis

Title

The English title, Genesis, comes from the Greek translation (Septuagint, LXX) meaning “origins”; whereas, the Hebrew title is derived from the Bible’s very first word, translated “in the beginning.” Genesis serves to introduce the Pentateuch (the first five books of the OT) and the entire Bible. The influence of Genesis in Scripture is demonstrated by its being quoted over 35 times in the NT and hundreds of allusions appearing in both Testaments. The story line of salvation that begins in Gen. 3 is not completed until Rev. 21–22, where the eternal kingdom of redeemed believers is gloriously pictured.

Author and Date

While 1) the author does not identify himself in Genesis and 2) Genesis ends almost three centuries before Moses was born, both the OT (Ex. 17:14; Num. 33:2; Josh. 8:31; 1 Kings 2:3; 2 Kings 14:6; Ezra 6:18; Neh. 13:1; Dan. 9:11, 13; Mal. 4:4) and the NT (Matt. 8:4; Mark 12:26; Luke 16:29; 24:27, 44; John 5:46; 7:22; Acts 15:1; Rom. 10:19; 1 Cor. 9:9; 2 Cor. 3:15) ascribe this composition to Moses, who is the fitting author in light of his educational background (cf. Acts 7:22). No compelling reasons have been forthcoming to challenge Mosaic authorship. Genesis was written after the exodus (c. 1445 B.C.), but before Moses’ death (c. 1405 B.C.). For a brief biographical sketch of Moses read Ex. 1–6.

Background and Setting

The initial setting for Genesis is eternity past. God then, by willful act and divine word, spoke all creation into existence, furnished it, and finally breathed life into a lump of dirt, which he fashioned in his image to become Adam. God made mankind the crowning point of his creation, i.e., his companions who would enjoy fellowship with him and bring glory to his name.

The historical background for the early events in Genesis is clearly Mesopotamian. While it is difficult to pinpoint precisely the historical moment for which this book was written, Israel first heard Genesis sometime prior to crossing the Jordan River and entering the Promised Land (c. 1405 B.C.).

Genesis has three distinct, sequential geographical settings: 1) Mesopotamia (chs. 1–11); 2) the Promised Land (chs. 12–36); and 3) Egypt (chs. 37–50). The time frames of these three segments are: 1) Creation to c. 2090 B.C.; 2) 2090–1897 B.C.; and 3) 1897–1804 B.C. Genesis covers more time than the remaining books of the Bible combined.

Historical and Theological Themes

In this book of beginnings, God revealed himself and a worldview to Israel that contrasted, at times sharply, with the worldview of Israel’s neighbors. The author made no attempt to defend the existence of God or to present a systematic discussion of his person and works. Rather, Israel’s God distinguished himself clearly from the alleged gods of her neighbors. Theological foundations are revealed that include God the Father, God the Son, God the Holy Spirit, man, sin, redemption, covenant, promise, Satan and angels, kingdom, revelation, Israel, judgment, and blessing.

Genesis 1–11 (primeval history) reveals the origins of the universe, i.e., the beginnings of time and space and many of the firsts in human experience, such as marriage, family, the fall, sin, redemption, judgment, and nations. Genesis 12–50 (patriarchal history) explained to Israel how they came into existence as a family whose ancestry could be traced to Eber (hence the “Hebrews”; Gen. 10:24–25) and even more remotely to Shem, the son of Noah (hence the “Semites”; Gen. 10:21). God’s people came to understand not only their ancestry and family history, but also the origins of their institutions, customs, languages, and different cultures, especially basic human experiences such as sin and death.

Because they were preparing to enter Canaan and dispossess the Canaanite inhabitants of their homes and properties, God revealed their enemies’ background. In addition, they needed to understand the actual basis of the war they were about to declare in light of the immorality of killing, consistent with the other four books that Moses was writing (Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy). Ultimately, the Jewish nation would understand a selected portion of preceding world history and the inaugural background of Israel as a basis by which they would live in their new beginnings under Joshua’s leadership in the land that had previously been promised to their original patriarchal forefather, Abraham.

Genesis 12:1–3 established a primary focus on God’s promises to Abraham. This narrowed their view from the entire world of peoples in Gen. 1–11 to one small nation, Israel, through whom God would progressively accomplish his redemptive plan. This underscored Israel’s mission to be “a light for the nations” (Isa. 42:6). God promised land, descendants (seed), and blessing. This threefold promise became, in turn, the basis of the covenant with Abraham (Gen. 15:1–20). The rest of Scripture bears out the fulfillment of these promises.

On a larger scale, Gen. 1–11 set forth a singular message about the character and works of God. In the sequence of accounts that make up these chapters of Scripture, a pattern emerges that reveals God’s abundant grace as he responded to the willful disobedience of mankind. Without exception, in each account God increased the manifestation of his grace. But also without exception, man responded in greater sinful rebellion. In biblical words, the more sin abounded the more did God’s grace abound (cf. Rom. 5:20).

One final theme of both theological and historical significance sets Genesis apart from other books of Scripture, in that the first book of Scripture corresponds closely with the final book. In the book of Revelation, the paradise that was lost in Genesis will be regained. The apostle John clearly presented the events recorded in his book as future resolutions to the problems which began as a result of the curse in Gen. 3. His focus is upon the effects of the fall in the undoing of creation and the manner in which God rids his creation of the curse effect. In John’s own words, “No longer will there be anything accursed” (Rev. 22:3). Not surprisingly, in the final chapter of God’s word, believers will find themselves back in the Garden of Eden, the eternal paradise of God, eating from the tree of life (Rev. 22:1–14). At that time, they will partake, wearing robes washed in the blood of the Lamb (Rev. 22:14).

Interpretive Challenges

Grasping the individual messages of Genesis that make up the larger plan and purpose of the book presents no small challenge since both the individual accounts and the book’s overall message offer important lessons to faith and works. Genesis presents creation by divine fiat, ex nihilo, i.e., “out of nothing.” Three traumatic events of epic proportions, namely the fall, the universal flood, and the dispersion of nations are presented as historical backdrop in order to understand world history. From Abraham on, the pattern is to focus on God's redemption and blessing.

The customs of Genesis often differ considerably from those of our modern day. They must be explained against their ancient Near Eastern background. Each custom must be treated according to the immediate context of the passage before any attempt is made to explain it based on customs recorded in extrabiblical sources or even elsewhere in Scripture.

Outline

Genesis by content is comprised of two basic sections: 1) Primitive history (Gen. 1–11) and 2) Patriarchal history (Gen. 12–50). Primitive history records four major events: 1) Creation (Gen. 1–2); 2) the fall (Gen. 3–5); 3) the flood (Gen. 6–9); and 4) the dispersion (Gen. 10–11). Patriarchal history spotlights four great men: 1) Abraham (Gen. 12:1–25:8); 2) Isaac (Gen. 21:1–35:29); 3) Jacob (Gen. 25:21–50:14); and 4) Joseph (Gen. 30:22–50:26).

The literary structure of Genesis is built on the frequently recurring phrase “the book of the generations of” and is the basis for the following outline.

- I. The Creation of Heaven and Earth (1:1–2:3)
- II. The Generations of the Heavens and the Earth (2:4–4:26)

Genesis

The Creation of the World

GENESIS 1 †In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth. †The earth was without form and void, and darkness was over the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the face of the waters.

†And God said, “Let there be light,” and there was light. ††And God saw that the light was good. And God separated the light from the darkness. †God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And there was evening and there was morning, the first day.

†And God said, “Let there be an expanse [\[1\]](#) in the midst of the waters, and let it separate the waters from the waters.” †And God made [\[2\]](#) the expanse and separated the waters that were under the expanse from the waters that were above the expanse. And it was so. †And God called the expanse Heaven. [\[3\]](#) And there was evening and there was morning, the second day.

†And God said, “Let the waters under the heavens be gathered together into one place, and let the dry land appear.” And it was so. †God called the dry land Earth, [\[4\]](#) and the waters that were gathered together he called Seas. And God saw that it was good.

††And God said, “Let the earth sprout vegetation, plants [\[5\]](#) yielding seed, and fruit trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind, on the earth.” And it was so. †The earth brought forth vegetation, plants yielding seed according to their own kinds, and trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind. And God saw that it was good. †And there was evening and there was morning, the third day.

†And God said, “Let there be lights in the expanse of the heavens to separate the day from the night. And let them be for signs and for seasons, [\[6\]](#) and for days and years, †and let them be lights in the expanse of the heavens to give light upon the earth.” And it was so. †And God made the two great lights—the greater light to rule the day and the lesser light to rule the night—and the stars. †And God set them in the expanse of the heavens to give light on the earth, †to rule over the day and over the night, and to separate the light from the darkness.

And God saw that it was good. <sup>19</sup>And there was evening and there was morning, the fourth day.

<sup>20</sup>† And God said, “Let the waters swarm with swarms of living creatures, and let birds [7] fly above the earth across the expanse of the heavens.” <sup>21</sup>So God created the great sea creatures and every living creature that moves, with which the waters swarm, according to their kinds, and every winged bird according to its kind. And God saw that it was good. <sup>22</sup>† And God blessed them, saying, “Be fruitful and multiply and fill the waters in the seas, and let birds multiply on the earth.” <sup>23</sup>And there was evening and there was morning, the fifth day.

<sup>24</sup>‡† And God said, “Let the earth bring forth living creatures according to their kinds—livestock and creeping things and beasts of the earth according to their kinds.” And it was so. <sup>25</sup>And God made the beasts of the earth according to their kinds and the livestock according to their kinds, and everything that creeps on the ground according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.

<sup>26</sup>‡† Then God said, “Let us make man [8] in our image, after our likeness. And let them have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over the livestock and over all the earth and over every creeping thing that creeps on the earth.”

<sup>28</sup>† And God blessed them. And God said to them, “Be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth and subdue it and have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the heavens and over every living thing that moves on the earth.”

<sup>29</sup>† And God said, “Behold, I have given you every plant yielding seed that is on the face of all the earth, and every tree with seed in its fruit. You shall have them for food. <sup>30</sup>And to every beast of the earth and to every bird of the heavens and to everything that creeps on the earth, everything that has the breath of life, I have given every green plant for food.” And it was so. <sup>31</sup>† And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good. And there was evening and there was morning, the sixth day.

The Seventh Day, God Rests

GENESIS 2 † Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them. † And on the seventh day God finished his work that he had done, and he rested on the seventh day from all his work that he had done. † So God blessed the seventh day and made it holy, because on it God rested from all his work that he had done in creation.

The Creation of Man and Woman

† These are the generations of the heavens and the earth when they were created, in the day that the LORD God made the earth and the heavens.

† When no bush of the field [1] was yet in the land [2] and no small plant of the field had yet sprung up—for the LORD God had not caused it to rain on the land, and there was no man to work the ground, † and a mist [3] was going up from the land and was watering the whole face of the ground— † then the LORD God formed the man of dust from the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living creature. † And the LORD God planted a garden in Eden, in the east, and there he put the man whom he had formed. † And out of the ground the LORD God made to spring up every tree that is pleasant to the sight and good for food. The tree of life was in the midst of the garden, and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.

† A river flowed out of Eden to water the garden, and there it divided and became four rivers. † The name of the first is the Pishon. It is the one that flowed around the whole land of Havilah, where there is gold. † And the gold of that land is good; bdellium and onyx stone are there. † The name of the second river is the Gihon. It is the one that flowed around the whole land of Cush. † And the name of the third river is the Tigris, which flows east of Assyria. And the fourth river is the Euphrates.

† The LORD God took the man and put him in the garden of Eden to work it and keep it. † And the LORD God commanded the man, saying, “You may surely eat of every tree of the garden, † but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you shall not eat, for in the day that you eat [4] of it you shall surely die.”

† Then the LORD God said, “It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him a helper fit for [5] him.” <sup>19</sup>† Now out of the ground the LORD God had formed [6] every beast of the field and every bird of the heavens and brought them to the man to see what he would call them. And whatever the man called every living creature, that was its name. <sup>20</sup>† The man gave names to all livestock and to the birds of the heavens and to every beast of the field. But for Adam [7] there was not found a helper fit for him. <sup>21</sup>† So the LORD God caused a deep sleep to fall upon the man, and while he slept took one of his ribs and closed up its place with flesh. <sup>22</sup> And the rib that the LORD God had taken from the man he made [8] into a woman and brought her to the man. <sup>23</sup>† Then the man said, “This at last is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man.” [9]

<sup>24</sup>† Therefore a man shall leave his father and his mother and hold fast to his wife, and they shall become one flesh. <sup>25</sup>† And the man and his wife were both naked and were not ashamed.

The Fall

GENESIS 3 †Now the serpent was more crafty than any other beast of the field that the LORD God had made.

He said to the woman, “Did God actually say, ‘You [1] shall not eat of any tree in the garden?’” †And the woman said to the serpent, “We may eat of the fruit of the trees in the garden, †but God said, ‘You shall not eat of the fruit of the tree that is in the midst of the garden, neither shall you touch it, lest you die.’” †But the serpent said to the woman, “You will not surely die. †For God knows that when you eat of it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like God, knowing good and evil.” †So when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was a delight to the eyes, and that the tree was to be desired to make one wise, [2] she took of its fruit and ate, and she also gave some to her husband who was with her, and he ate. †Then the eyes of both were opened, and they knew that they were naked. And they sewed fig leaves together and made themselves loincloths.

†And they heard the sound of the LORD God walking in the garden in the cool [3] of the day, and the man and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the LORD God among the trees of the garden. †But the LORD God called to the man and said to him, “Where are you?” [4] †And he said, “I heard the sound of you in the garden, and I was afraid, because I was naked, and I hid myself.” †He said, “Who told you that you were naked? Have you eaten of the tree of which I commanded you not to eat?” †The man said, “The woman whom you gave to be with me, she gave me fruit of the tree, and I ate.” †Then the LORD God said to the woman, “What is this that you have done?” The woman said, “The serpent deceived me, and I ate.”

†The LORD God said to the serpent, “Because you have done this, cursed are you above all livestock and above all beasts of the field; on your belly you shall go, and dust you shall eat

all the days of your life.

†I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring [5] and her offspring; he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel.”

<sup>16</sup>† To the woman he said, “I will surely multiply your pain in childbearing; in pain you shall bring forth children.

Your desire shall be for [\[6\]](#) your husband, and he shall rule over you.”

<sup>17</sup>†† And to Adam he said, “Because you have listened to the voice of your wife and have eaten of the tree of which I commanded you,

‘You shall not eat of it,’ cursed is the ground because of you; in pain you shall eat of it all the days of your life; <sup>18</sup>thorns and thistles it shall bring forth for you; and you shall eat the plants of the field.

till you return to the ground, for out of it you were taken;
for you are dust,
and to dust you shall return.”

<sup>20</sup>The man called his wife's name Eve, because she was the mother of all living. [\[7\]](#) <sup>21</sup>† And the LORD God made for Adam and for his wife garments of skins and clothed them.

<sup>22</sup>†† Then the LORD God said, “Behold, the man has become like one of us in knowing good and evil. Now, lest he reach out his hand and take also of the tree of life and eat, and live forever—” <sup>23</sup>therefore the LORD God sent him out from the garden of Eden to work the ground from which he was taken. <sup>24</sup>† He drove out the man, and at the east of the garden of Eden he placed the cherubim and a flaming sword that turned every way to guard the way to the tree of life.

Cain and Abel

GENESIS 4 †Now Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bore Cain, saying, “I have gotten [1] a man with the help of the LORD.” †And again, she bore his brother Abel. Now Abel was a keeper of sheep, and Cain a worker of the ground. †In the course of time Cain brought to the LORD an offering of the fruit of the ground, †and Abel also brought of the firstborn of his flock and of their fat portions. And the LORD had regard for Abel and his offering, †but for Cain and his offering he had no regard. So Cain was very angry, and his face fell. †The LORD said to Cain, “Why are you angry, and why has your face fallen? †If you do well, will you not be accepted? [2] And if you do not do well, sin is crouching at the door. Its desire is for [3] you, but you must rule over it.”

†Cain spoke to Abel his brother. [4] And when they were in the field, Cain rose up against his brother Abel and killed him. †Then the LORD said to Cain, “Where is Abel your brother?” He said, “I do not know; am I my brother's keeper?” †And the LORD said, “What have you done? The voice of your brother's blood is crying to me from the ground. †And now you are cursed from the ground, which has opened its mouth to receive your brother's blood from your hand. †When you work the ground, it shall no longer yield to you its strength. You shall be a fugitive and a wanderer on the earth.” †Cain said to the LORD, “My punishment is greater than I can bear. [5] †Behold, you have driven me today away from the ground, and from your face I shall be hidden. I shall be a fugitive and a wanderer on the earth, and whoever finds me will kill me.” †Then the LORD said to him, “Not so! If anyone kills Cain, vengeance shall be taken on him sevenfold.” And the LORD put a mark on Cain, lest any who found him should attack him. †Then Cain went away from the presence of the LORD and settled in the land of Nod, [6] east of Eden.

†Cain knew his wife, and she conceived and bore Enoch. When he built a city, he called the name of the city after the name of his son, Enoch. †To Enoch was born Irad, and Irad fathered Mehujael, and Mehujael fathered Methushael, and Methushael fathered Lamech. †And Lamech took two wives. The name of the one was Adah, and the name of the other Zillah. †Adah bore Jubal; he was the father of those who dwell in tents and have livestock. †His brother's name was Jubal; he was the father of all those who play the lyre and pipe. †Zillah also bore Tubal-cain; he was the forger of all instruments of bronze and iron. The sister of Tubal-cain was Naamah.

<sup>23</sup>‡Lamech said to his wives: “Adah and Zillah, hear my voice; you wives of Lamech, listen to what I say: I have killed a man for wounding me, a young man for striking me.

<sup>25</sup>‡And Adam knew his wife again, and she bore a son and called his name Seth, for she said, “God has appointed [7] for me another offspring instead of Abel, for Cain killed him.” <sup>26</sup>‡To Seth also a son was born, and he called his name Enosh. At that time people began to call upon the name of the LORD.

Adam's Descendants to Noah

GENESIS 5 ¶¶¶ This is the book of the generations of Adam. When God created man, he made him in the likeness of God. <sup>2</sup>¶ Male and female he created them, and he blessed them and named them Man [\[1\]](#) when they were created. <sup>3</sup>¶ When Adam had lived 130 years, he fathered a son in his own likeness, after his image, and named him Seth. <sup>4</sup>The days of Adam after he fathered Seth were 800 years; and he had other sons and daughters. <sup>5</sup>¶ Thus all the days that Adam lived were 930 years, and he died.

<sup>6</sup>When Seth had lived 105 years, he fathered Enosh. <sup>7</sup>Seth lived after he fathered Enosh 807 years and had other sons and daughters. <sup>8</sup>Thus all the days of Seth were 912 years, and he died.

<sup>9</sup>When Enosh had lived 90 years, he fathered Kenan. <sup>10</sup>Enosh lived after he fathered Kenan 815 years and had other sons and daughters. <sup>11</sup>Thus all the days of Enosh were 905 years, and he died.

<sup>12</sup>When Kenan had lived 70 years, he fathered Mahalalel. <sup>13</sup>Kenan lived after he fathered Mahalalel 840 years and had other sons and daughters. <sup>14</sup>Thus all the days of Kenan were 910 years, and he died.

<sup>15</sup>When Mahalalel had lived 65 years, he fathered Jared. <sup>16</sup>Mahalalel lived after he fathered Jared 830 years and had other sons and daughters. <sup>17</sup>Thus all the days of Mahalalel were 895 years, and he died.

<sup>28</sup>When Lamech had lived 182 years, he fathered a son <sup>29</sup>† and called his name Noah, saying, “Out of the ground that the LORD has cursed this one shall bring us relief [4] from our work and from the painful toil of our hands.” <sup>30</sup>Lamech lived after he fathered Noah 595 years and had other sons and daughters. <sup>31</sup>Thus all the days of Lamech were 777 years, and he died.

Increasing Corruption on Earth

GENESIS 6 †† When man began to multiply on the face of the land and daughters were born to them, † the sons of God saw that the daughters of man were attractive. And they took as their wives any they chose. † Then the LORD said, “My Spirit shall not abide in [1] man forever, for he is flesh: his days shall be 120 years.” † The Nephilim [2] were on the earth in those days, and also afterward, when the sons of God came in to the daughters of man and they bore children to them. These were the mighty men who were of old, the men of renown.

† The LORD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every intention of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. † And the LORD was sorry that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him to his heart. † So the LORD said, “I will blot out man whom I have created from the face of the land, man and animals and creeping things and birds of the heavens, for I am sorry that I have made them.” † But Noah found favor in the eyes of the LORD.

Noah and the Flood

†† These are the generations of Noah. Noah was a righteous man, blameless in his generation. Noah walked with God. † And Noah had three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

† Now the earth was corrupt in God's sight, and the earth was filled with violence. † And God saw the earth, and behold, it was corrupt, for all flesh had corrupted their way on the earth. † And God said to Noah, “I have determined to make an end of all flesh, [3] for the earth is filled with violence through them. Behold, I will destroy them with the earth. † Make yourself an ark of gopher wood. [4] Make rooms in the ark, and cover it inside and out with pitch. † This is how you are to make it: the length of the ark 300 cubits, [5] its breadth 50 cubits, and its height 30 cubits. † Make a roof [6] for the ark, and finish it to a cubit above, and set the door of the ark in its side. Make it with lower, second, and third decks. † For behold, I will bring a flood of waters upon the earth to destroy all flesh in which is the breath of life under heaven. Everything that is on the earth shall die. † But I will establish my covenant with you, and you shall come into the ark, you, your sons, your wife, and your sons' wives with you.

<sup>19</sup>‡And of every living thing of all flesh, you shall bring two of every sort into the ark to keep them alive with you. They shall be male and female. <sup>20</sup>Of the birds according to their kinds, and of the animals according to their kinds, of every creeping thing of the ground, according to its kind, two of every sort shall come in to you to keep them alive. <sup>21</sup>Also take with you every sort of food that is eaten, and store it up. It shall serve as food for you and for them.” <sup>22</sup>Noah did this; he did all that God commanded him.

GENESIS 7 †Then the LORD said to Noah, “Go into the ark, you and all your household, for I have seen that you are righteous before me in this generation. †Take with you seven pairs of all clean animals, [1] the male and his mate, and a pair of the animals that are not clean, the male and his mate, †and seven pairs [2] of the birds of the heavens also, male and female, to keep their offspring alive on the face of all the earth. †For in seven days I will send rain on the earth forty days and forty nights, and every living thing [3] that I have made I will blot out from the face of the ground.” †And Noah did all that the LORD had commanded him.

†Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of waters came upon the earth. †And Noah and his sons and his wife and his sons' wives with him went into the ark to escape the waters of the flood. †Of clean animals, and of animals that are not clean, and of birds, and of everything that creeps on the ground, †two and two, male and female, went into the ark with Noah, as God had commanded Noah. †And after seven days the waters of the flood came upon the earth.

†In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the month, on that day all the fountains of the great deep burst forth, and the windows of the heavens were opened. †And rain fell upon the earth forty days and forty nights. †On the very same day Noah and his sons, Shem and Ham and Japheth, and Noah's wife and the three wives of his sons with them entered the ark, †they and every beast, according to its kind, and all the livestock according to their kinds, and every creeping thing that creeps on the earth, according to its kind, and every bird, according to its kind, every winged creature. †They went into the ark with Noah, two and two of all flesh in which there was the breath of life. †And those that entered, male and female of all flesh, went in as God had commanded him. And the LORD shut him in.

†The flood continued forty days on the earth. The waters increased and bore up the ark, and it rose high above the earth. †The waters prevailed and increased greatly on the earth, and the ark floated on the face of the waters. †And the waters prevailed so mightily on the earth that all the high mountains under the whole heaven were covered. †The waters prevailed above the mountains, covering them fifteen cubits [4] deep. †And all flesh died that moved on the earth, birds, livestock, beasts, all swarming creatures that swarm on the earth, and all mankind. †Everything on the dry land in whose nostrils was the breath of life died. †He blotted out every living thing that was on the face of the ground, man and animals and creeping things and birds of the heavens. They were blotted out from the earth. Only Noah was left, and those who were with him in the ark. <sup>24</sup>†And the waters prevailed on the earth 150 days.

The Flood Subsides

GENESIS 8 †But God remembered Noah and all the beasts and all the livestock that were with him in the ark. And God made a wind blow over the earth, and the waters subsided. <sup>2</sup>The fountains of the deep and the windows of the heavens were closed, the rain from the heavens was restrained, <sup>3</sup>and the waters receded from the earth continually. At the end of 150 days the waters had abated, <sup>4</sup>†and in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month, the ark came to rest on the mountains of Ararat. <sup>5</sup>And the waters continued to abate until the tenth month; in the tenth month, on the first day of the month, the tops of the mountains were seen.

<sup>6</sup>At the end of forty days Noah opened the window of the ark that he had made <sup>7</sup>†and sent forth a raven. It went to and fro until the waters were dried up from the earth. <sup>8</sup>Then he sent forth a dove from him, to see if the waters had subsided from the face of the ground. <sup>9</sup>But the dove found no place to set her foot, and she returned to him to the ark, for the waters were still on the face of the whole earth. So he put out his hand and took her and brought her into the ark with him. <sup>10</sup>He waited another seven days, and again he sent forth the dove out of the ark. <sup>11</sup>And the dove came back to him in the evening, and behold, in her mouth was a freshly plucked olive leaf. So Noah knew that the waters had subsided from the earth. <sup>12</sup>Then he waited another seven days and sent forth the dove, and she did not return to him anymore.

<sup>13</sup>In the six hundred and first year, in the first month, the first day of the month, the waters were dried from off the earth. And Noah removed the covering of the ark and looked, and behold, the face of the ground was dry. <sup>14</sup>†In the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the earth had dried out. <sup>15</sup>Then God said to Noah, <sup>16</sup>“Go out from the ark, you and your wife, and your sons and your sons' wives with you. <sup>17</sup>†Bring out with you every living thing that is with you of all flesh—birds and animals and every creeping thing that creeps on the earth—that they may swarm on the earth, and be fruitful and multiply on the earth.” <sup>18</sup>So Noah went out, and his sons and his wife and his sons' wives with him. <sup>19</sup>Every beast, every creeping thing, and every bird, everything that moves on the earth, went out by families from the ark.

God's Covenant with Noah

<sup>20</sup>‡Then Noah built an altar to the LORD and took some of every clean animal and some of every clean bird and offered burnt offerings on the altar. <sup>21</sup>‡And when the LORD smelled the pleasing aroma, the LORD said in his heart, “I will never again curse [\[1\]](#) the ground because of man, for the intention of man's heart is evil from his youth. Neither will I ever again strike down every living creature as I have done. <sup>22</sup>‡While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night, shall not cease.”

GENESIS 9 †And God blessed Noah and his sons and said to them, “Be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth. 2‡The fear of you and the dread of you shall be upon every beast of the earth and upon every bird of the heavens, upon everything that creeps on the ground and all the fish of the sea. Into your hand they are delivered. 3Every moving thing that lives shall be food for you. And as I gave you the green plants, I give you everything. 4‡But you shall not eat flesh with its life, that is, its blood. 5‡And for your lifeblood I will require a reckoning: from every beast I will require it and from man. From his fellow man I will require a reckoning for the life of man.

6‡“Whoever sheds the blood of man, by man shall his blood be shed, for God made man in his own image.

7And you, [1] be fruitful and multiply, teem on the earth and multiply in it.”

8Then God said to Noah and to his sons with him, 9‡‡“Behold, I establish my covenant with you and your offspring after you, 10and with every living creature that is with you, the birds, the livestock, and every beast of the earth with you, as many as came out of the ark; it is for every beast of the earth. 11‡I establish my covenant with you, that never again shall all flesh be cut off by the waters of the flood, and never again shall there be a flood to destroy the earth.” 12‡And God said, “This is the sign of the covenant that I make between me and you and every living creature that is with you, for all future generations: 13I have set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between me and the earth. 14When I bring clouds over the earth and the bow is seen in the clouds, 15‡I will remember my covenant that is between me and you and every living creature of all flesh. And the waters shall never again become a flood to destroy all flesh. 16‡When the bow is in the clouds, I will see it and remember the everlasting covenant between God and every living creature of all flesh that is on the earth.” 17God said to Noah, “This is the sign of the covenant that I have established between me and all flesh that is on the earth.”

Noah's Descendants

18‡The sons of Noah who went forth from the ark were Shem, Ham, and Japheth. (Ham was the father of Canaan.) 19‡These three were the sons of Noah, and from these the people of the whole earth were dispersed. [2]

20Noah began to be a man of the soil, and he planted a vineyard. [3] 21‡He drank of the wine and became drunk and lay uncovered in his tent. <sup>22</sup>† And Ham, the father of Canaan, saw the nakedness of his father and told his two brothers outside. <sup>23</sup> Then Shem and Japheth took a garment, laid it on both their shoulders, and walked backward and covered the nakedness of their father. Their faces were turned backward, and they did not see their father's nakedness. <sup>24</sup> When Noah awoke from his wine and knew what his youngest son had done to him, <sup>25</sup> † he said, “Cursed be Canaan; a servant of servants shall he be to his brothers.”

and let him dwell in the tents of Shem, and let Canaan be his servant.”

Nations Descended from Noah

GENESIS 10 †† These are the generations of the sons of Noah, Shem, Ham, and Japheth. Sons were born to them after the flood.

The Tower of Babel

GENESIS 11 †Now the whole earth had one language and the same words. <sup>2</sup>†And as people migrated from the east, they found a plain in the land of Shinar and settled there. <sup>3</sup>†And they said to one another, “Come, let us make bricks, and burn them thoroughly.” And they had brick for stone, and bitumen for mortar. <sup>4</sup>†Then they said, “Come, let us build ourselves a city and a tower with its top in the heavens, and let us make a name for ourselves, lest we be dispersed over the face of the whole earth.” <sup>5</sup>And the LORD came down to see the city and the tower, which the children of man had built. <sup>6</sup>†And the LORD said, “Behold, they are one people, and they have all one language, and this is only the beginning of what they will do. And nothing that they propose to do will now be impossible for them. <sup>7</sup>†Come, let us go down and there confuse their language, so that they may not understand one another's speech.” <sup>8</sup>†So the LORD dispersed them from there over the face of all the earth, and they left off building the city. <sup>9</sup>†Therefore its name was called Babel, because there the LORD confused [\[1\]](#) the language of all the earth. And from there the LORD dispersed them over the face of all the earth.

Shem's Descendants

<sup>10</sup>†These are the generations of Shem. When Shem was 100 years old, he fathered Arpachshad two years after the flood. <sup>11</sup>And Shem lived after he fathered Arpachshad 500 years and had other sons and daughters.

<sup>12</sup>When Arpachshad had lived 35 years, he fathered Shelah. <sup>13</sup>And Arpachshad lived after he fathered Shelah 403 years and had other sons and daughters.

Terah's Descendants

<sup>27</sup>††Now these are the generations of Terah. Terah fathered Abram, Nahor, and Haran; and Haran fathered Lot. <sup>28</sup>†Haran died in the presence of his father Terah in the land of his kindred, in Ur of the Chaldeans. <sup>29</sup>And Abram and Nahor took wives. The name of Abram's wife was Sarai, and the name of Nahor's wife, Milcah, the daughter of Haran the father of Milcah and Iscah. <sup>30</sup>Now Sarai was barren; she had no child.

<sup>31</sup>†Terah took Abram his son and Lot the son of Haran, his grandson, and Sarai his daughter-in-law, his son Abram's wife, and they went forth together from Ur of the Chaldeans to go into the land of Canaan, but when they came to Haran, they settled there. <sup>32</sup>The days of Terah were 205 years, and Terah died in Haran.

The Call of Abram

GENESIS 12 †† Now the LORD said [1] to Abram, “Go from your country and your kindred and your father's house to the land that I will show you. † And I will make of you a great nation, and I will bless you and make your name great, so that you will be a blessing. † I will bless those who bless you, and him who dishonors you I will curse, and in you all the families of the earth shall be blessed.” [2]

† So Abram went, as the LORD had told him, and Lot went with him. Abram was seventy-five years old when he departed from Haran. † And Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother's son, and all their possessions that they had gathered, and the people that they had acquired in Haran, and they set out to go to the land of Canaan. When they came to the land of Canaan, † Abram passed through the land to the place at Shechem, to the oak [3] of Moreh. At that time the Canaanites were in the land. † Then the LORD appeared to Abram and said, “To your offspring I will give this land.” So he built there an altar to the LORD, who had appeared to him. † From there he moved to the hill country on the east of Bethel and pitched his tent, with Bethel on the west and Ai on the east. And there he built an altar to the LORD and called upon the name of the LORD. † And Abram journeyed on, still going toward the Negeb.

Abram and Sarai in Egypt

† Now there was a famine in the land. So Abram went down to Egypt to sojourn there, for the famine was severe in the land. † When he was about to enter Egypt, he said to Sarai his wife, “I know that you are a woman beautiful in appearance, † and when the Egyptians see you, they will say, ‘This is his wife.’ Then they will kill me, but they will let you live. † Say you are my sister, that it may go well with me because of you, and that my life may be spared for your sake.” † When Abram entered Egypt, the Egyptians saw that the woman was very beautiful. † And when the princes of Pharaoh saw her, they praised her to Pharaoh. And the woman was taken into Pharaoh's house. † And for her sake he dealt well with Abram; and he had sheep, oxen, male donkeys, male servants, female servants, female donkeys, and camels.

† But the LORD afflicted Pharaoh and his house with great plagues because of Sarai, Abram's wife. † So Pharaoh called Abram and said, “What is this you have done to me? Why did you not tell me that she was your wife? <sup>19</sup>Why did you say, 'She is my sister,' so that I took her for my wife? Now then, here is your wife; take her, and go." <sup>20</sup>†And Pharaoh gave men orders concerning him, and they sent him away with his wife and all that he had.

Abram and Lot Separate

GENESIS 13 †So Abram went up from Egypt, he and his wife and all that he had, and Lot with him, into the Negeb.

<sup>2</sup>Now Abram was very rich in livestock, in silver, and in gold. <sup>3</sup>And he journeyed on from the Negeb as far as Bethel to the place where his tent had been at the beginning, between Bethel and Ai, <sup>4</sup>to the place where he had made an altar at the first. And there Abram called upon the name of the LORD. <sup>5</sup>†And Lot, who went with Abram, also had flocks and herds and tents, <sup>6</sup>†so that the land could not support both of them dwelling together; for their possessions were so great that they could not dwell together, <sup>7</sup>†and there was strife between the herdsmen of Abram's livestock and the herdsmen of Lot's livestock. At that time the Canaanites and the Perizzites were dwelling in the land.

<sup>8</sup>†Then Abram said to Lot, “Let there be no strife between you and me, and between your herdsmen and my herdsmen, for we are kinsmen. [1] <sup>9</sup>†Is not the whole land before you? Separate yourself from me. If you take the left hand, then I will go to the right, or if you take the right hand, then I will go to the left.” <sup>10</sup>†And Lot lifted up his eyes and saw that the Jordan Valley was well watered everywhere like the garden of the LORD, like the land of Egypt, in the direction of Zoar. (This was before the LORD destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah.) <sup>11</sup>†So Lot chose for himself all the Jordan Valley, and Lot journeyed east. Thus they separated from each other. <sup>12</sup>Abram settled in the land of Canaan, while Lot settled among the cities of the valley and moved his tent as far as Sodom. <sup>13</sup>†Now the men of Sodom were wicked, great sinners against the LORD.

<sup>14</sup>†The LORD said to Abram, after Lot had separated from him, “Lift up your eyes and look from the place where you are, northward and southward and eastward and westward, <sup>15</sup>for all the land that you see I will give to you and to your offspring forever. <sup>16</sup>I will make your offspring as the dust of the earth, so that if one can count the dust of the earth, your offspring also can be counted. <sup>17</sup>Arise, walk through the length and the breadth of the land, for I will give it to you.” <sup>18</sup>†So Abram moved his tent and came and settled by the oaks [2] of Mamre, which are at Hebron, and there he built an altar to the LORD.

Abram Rescues Lot

GENESIS 14 †In the days of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of Goiim, <sup>2</sup>these kings made war with Bera king of Sodom, Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, Shemeber king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (that is, Zoar). <sup>3</sup>And all these joined forces in the Valley of Siddim (that is, the Salt Sea). <sup>4</sup>Twelve years they had served Chedorlaomer, but in the thirteenth year they rebelled. <sup>5</sup>In the fourteenth year Chedorlaomer and the kings who were with him came and defeated the Rephaim in Ashteroth-karnaim, the Zuzim in Ham, the Emim in Shaveh-kiriathaim, <sup>6</sup>and the Horites in their hill country of Seir as far as El-paran on the border of the wilderness. <sup>7</sup>Then they turned back and came to En-mishpat (that is, Kadesh) and defeated all the country of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites who were dwelling in Hazazon-tamar.

<sup>8</sup>Then the king of Sodom, the king of Gomorrah, the king of Admah, the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela (that is, Zoar) went out, and they joined battle in the Valley of Siddim <sup>9</sup>with Chedorlaomer king of Elam, Tidal king of Goiim, Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellasar, four kings against five. <sup>10</sup>†Now the Valley of Siddim was full of bitumen pits, and as the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, some fell into them, and the rest fled to the hill country. <sup>11</sup>So the enemy took all the possessions of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their provisions, and went their way. <sup>12</sup>They also took Lot, the son of Abram's brother, who was dwelling in Sodom, and his possessions, and went their way.

<sup>13</sup>†Then one who had escaped came and told Abram the Hebrew, who was living by the oaks [1] of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eshcol and of Aner. These were allies of Abram. <sup>14</sup>†When Abram heard that his kinsman had been taken captive, he led forth his trained men, born in his house, 318 of them, and went in pursuit as far as Dan. <sup>15</sup>†And he divided his forces against them by night, he and his servants, and defeated them and pursued them to Hobah, north of Damascus. <sup>16</sup>Then he brought back all the possessions, and also brought back his kinsman Lot with his possessions, and the women and the people.

Abram Blessed by Melchizedek

<sup>17</sup>†After his return from the defeat of Chedorlaomer and the kings who were with him, the king of Sodom went out to meet him at the Valley of Shaveh (that is, the King's Valley). <sup>18</sup>†And Melchizedek king of Salem brought out bread and wine. (He was priest of God Most High.) <sup>19</sup>And he blessed him and said, “Blessed be Abram by God Most High, Possessor [2] of heaven and earth; <sup>20</sup>†and blessed be God Most High, who has delivered your enemies into your hand!”

And Abram gave him a tenth of everything. <sup>21</sup>†And the king of Sodom said to Abram, “Give me the persons, but take the goods for yourself.” <sup>22</sup>But Abram said to the king of Sodom, “I have lifted my hand [3] to the LORD, God Most High, Possessor of heaven and earth, <sup>23</sup>that I would not take a thread or a sandal strap or anything that is yours, lest you should say, ‘I have made Abram rich.’ <sup>24</sup>I will take nothing but what the young men have eaten, and the share of the men who went with me. Let Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre take their share.”

God's Covenant with Abram

GENESIS 15 †After these things the word of the LORD came to Abram in a vision: “Fear not, Abram, I am your shield; your reward shall be very great.” <sup>2</sup>†But Abram said, “O Lord GOD, what will you give me, for I continue [1] childless, and the heir of my house is Eliezer of Damascus?” <sup>3</sup>†And Abram said, “Behold, you have given me no offspring, and a member of my household will be my heir.” <sup>4</sup>And behold, the word of the LORD came to him: “This man shall not be your heir; your very own son [2] shall be your heir.” <sup>5</sup>†And he brought him outside and said, “Look toward heaven, and number the stars, if you are able to number them.” Then he said to him, “So shall your offspring be.” <sup>6</sup>†And he believed the LORD, and he counted it to him as righteousness.

<sup>7</sup>†And he said to him, “I am the LORD who brought you out from Ur of the Chaldeans to give you this land to possess.” <sup>8</sup>†But he said, “O Lord GOD, how am I to know that I shall possess it?” <sup>9</sup>†He said to him, “Bring me a heifer three years old, a female goat three years old, a ram three years old, a turtledove, and a young pigeon.” <sup>10</sup>And he brought him all these, cut them in half, and laid each half over against the other. But he did not cut the birds in half. <sup>11</sup>And when birds of prey came down on the carcasses, Abram drove them away.

<sup>12</sup>†As the sun was going down, a deep sleep fell on Abram. And behold, dreadful and great darkness fell upon him. <sup>13</sup>††Then the LORD said to Abram, “Know for certain that your offspring will be sojourners in a land that is not theirs and will be servants there, and they will be afflicted for four hundred years. <sup>14</sup>But I will bring judgment on the nation that they serve, and afterward they shall come out with great possessions. <sup>15</sup>As for yourself, you shall go to your fathers in peace; you shall be buried in a good old age. <sup>16</sup>†And they shall come back here in the fourth generation, for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet complete.”

<sup>17</sup>†When the sun had gone down and it was dark, behold, a smoking fire pot and a flaming torch passed between these pieces. <sup>18</sup>†On that day the LORD made a covenant with Abram, saying, “To your offspring I give [3] this land, from the river of Egypt to the great river, the river Euphrates, <sup>19</sup>the land of the Kenites, the Kenizzites, the Kadmonites, <sup>20</sup>the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Rephaim, <sup>21</sup>the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Girgashites and the Jebusites.”

Sarai and Hagar

GENESIS 16 †Now Sarai, Abram's wife, had borne him no children. She had a female Egyptian servant whose name was Hagar. <sup>2</sup>And Sarai said to Abram, "Behold now, the LORD has prevented me from bearing children. Go in to my servant; it may be that I shall obtain children [1] by her." And Abram listened to the voice of Sarai. <sup>3</sup>†So, after Abram had lived ten years in the land of Canaan, Sarai, Abram's wife, took Hagar the Egyptian, her servant, and gave her to Abram her husband as a wife. <sup>4</sup>And he went in to Hagar, and she conceived. And when she saw that she had conceived, she looked with contempt on her mistress. [2] <sup>5</sup>†And Sarai said to Abram, "May the wrong done to me be on you! I gave my servant to your embrace, and when she saw that she had conceived, she looked on me with contempt. May the LORD judge between you and me!" <sup>6</sup>But Abram said to Sarai, "Behold, your servant is in your power; do to her as you please." Then Sarai dealt harshly with her, and she fled from her.

<sup>7</sup>†The angel of the LORD found her by a spring of water in the wilderness, the spring on the way to Shur. <sup>8</sup>†And he said, "Hagar, servant of Sarai, where have you come from and where are you going?" She said, "I am fleeing from my mistress Sarai." <sup>9</sup>The angel of the LORD said to her, "Return to your mistress and submit to her." <sup>10</sup>†The angel of the LORD also said to her, "I will surely multiply your offspring so that they cannot be numbered for multitude." <sup>11</sup>†And the angel of the LORD said to her, "Behold, you are pregnant and shall bear a son.

You shall call his name Ishmael, [3]
because the LORD has listened to your affliction.

<sup>12</sup>†He shall be a wild donkey of a man, his hand against everyone and everyone's hand against him, and he shall dwell over against all his kinsmen."

<sup>13</sup>†So she called the name of the LORD who spoke to her, "You are a God of seeing," [4] for she said, "Truly here I have seen him who looks after me." [5] <sup>14</sup>Therefore the well was called Beer-lahai-roi; [6] it lies between Kadesh and Bered.

<sup>15</sup>†And Hagar bore Abram a son, and Abram called the name of his son, whom Hagar bore, Ishmael. <sup>16</sup>†Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to Abram.

Abraham and the Covenant of Circumcision

GENESIS 17 When Abram was ninety-nine years old the LORD appeared to Abram and said to him, “I am God Almighty; [1] walk before me, and be blameless, [2] that I may make my covenant between me and you, and may multiply you greatly.” [3] Then Abram fell on his face. And God said to him, [4] “Behold, my covenant is with you, and you shall be the father of a multitude of nations. [5] No longer shall your name be called Abram, [6] but your name shall be Abraham, [7] for I have made you the father of a multitude of nations. [8] I will make you exceedingly fruitful, and I will make you into nations, and kings shall come from you. [9] And I will establish my covenant between me and you and your offspring after you throughout their generations for an everlasting covenant, to be God to you and to your offspring after you. [10] And I will give to you and to your offspring after you the land of your sojournings, all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession, and I will be their God.”

[11] And God said to Abraham, “As for you, you shall keep my covenant, you and your offspring after you throughout their generations. [12] This is my covenant, which you shall keep, between me and you and your offspring after you: Every male among you shall be circumcised. [13] You shall be circumcised in the flesh of your foreskins, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between me and you. [14] He who is eight days old among you shall be circumcised. Every male throughout your generations, whether born in your house or bought with your money from any foreigner who is not of your offspring, [15] both he who is born in your house and he who is bought with your money, shall surely be circumcised. So shall my covenant be in your flesh an everlasting covenant. [16] Any uncircumcised male who is not circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin shall be cut off from his people; he has broken my covenant.”

Isaac's Birth Promised

[17] And God said to Abraham, “As for Sarai your wife, you shall not call her name Sarai, but Sarah [18] shall be her name. [19] I will bless her, and moreover, I will give [20] you a son by her. I will bless her, and she shall become nations; kings of peoples shall come from her.” [21] Then Abraham fell on his face and laughed and said to himself, “Shall a child be born to a man who is a hundred years old? Shall Sarah, who is ninety years old, bear a child?” [22] And Abraham said to God, “Oh that Ishmael might live before you!” [23] God said, “No, but Sarah your wife shall bear you a son, and you shall call his name Isaac. [6] I will establish my covenant with him as an everlasting covenant for his offspring after him. <sup>20</sup>As for Ishmael, I have heard you; behold, I have blessed him and will make him fruitful and multiply him greatly. He shall father twelve princes, and I will make him into a great nation. <sup>21</sup>But I will establish my covenant with Isaac, whom Sarah shall bear to you at this time next year.”

<sup>22</sup>When he had finished talking with him, God went up from Abraham. <sup>23</sup>Then Abraham took Ishmael his son and all those born in his house or bought with his money, every male among the men of Abraham's house, and he circumcised the flesh of their foreskins that very day, as God had said to him. <sup>24</sup>Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin. <sup>25</sup>And Ishmael his son was thirteen years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin. <sup>26</sup>That very day Abraham and his son Ishmael were circumcised. <sup>27</sup>And all the men of his house, those born in the house and those bought with money from a foreigner, were circumcised with him.

GENESIS 18 †And the LORD appeared to him by the oaks [1] of Mamre, as he sat at the door of his tent in the heat of the day. <sup>2</sup>He lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, three men were standing in front of him. When he saw them, he ran from the tent door to meet them and bowed himself to the earth <sup>3</sup>†and said, “O Lord, [2] if I have found favor in your sight, do not pass by your servant. <sup>4</sup>Let a little water be brought, and wash your feet, and rest yourselves under the tree, <sup>5</sup>while I bring a morsel of bread, that you may refresh yourselves, and after that you may pass on—since you have come to your servant.” So they said, “Do as you have said.” <sup>6</sup>And Abraham went quickly into the tent to Sarah and said, “Quick! Three seahs [3] of fine flour! Knead it, and make cakes.” <sup>7</sup>And Abraham ran to the herd and took a calf, tender and good, and gave it to a young man, who prepared it quickly. <sup>8</sup>Then he took curds and milk and the calf that he had prepared, and set it before them. And he stood by them under the tree while they ate.

<sup>9</sup>†They said to him, “Where is Sarah your wife?” And he said, “She is in the tent.” <sup>10</sup>†The LORD said, “I will surely return to you about this time next year, and Sarah your wife shall have a son.” And Sarah was listening at the tent door behind him. <sup>11</sup>Now Abraham and Sarah were old, advanced in years. The way of women had ceased to be with Sarah. <sup>12</sup>So Sarah laughed to herself, saying, “After I am worn out, and my lord is old, shall I have pleasure?” <sup>13</sup>The LORD said to Abraham, “Why did Sarah laugh and say, ‘Shall I indeed bear a child, now that I am old?’ <sup>14</sup>†Is anything too hard [4] for the LORD? At the appointed time I will return to you, about this time next year, and Sarah shall have a son.” <sup>15</sup>But Sarah denied it, [5] saying, “I did not laugh,” for she was afraid. He said, “No, but you did laugh.”

<sup>16</sup>Then the men set out from there, and they looked down toward Sodom. And Abraham went with them to set them on their way. <sup>17</sup>†The LORD said, “Shall I hide from Abraham what I am about to do, <sup>18</sup>†seeing that Abraham shall surely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him? <sup>19</sup>†For I have chosen [6] him, that he may command his children and his household after him to keep the way of the LORD by doing righteousness and justice, so that the LORD may bring to Abraham what he has promised him.” <sup>20</sup>†Then the LORD said, “Because the outcry against Sodom and Gomorrah is great and their sin is very grave, <sup>21</sup>I will go down to see whether they have done altogether [7] according to the outcry that has come to me. And if not, I will know.”

Abraham Intercedes for Sodom

<sup>22</sup>So the men turned from there and went toward Sodom, but Abraham still stood before the LORD. <sup>23</sup>†Then Abraham drew near and said, “Will you indeed sweep away the righteous with the wicked? <sup>24</sup>†Suppose there are fifty righteous within the city. Will you then sweep away the place and not spare it for the fifty righteous who are in it? <sup>25</sup>†Far be it from you to do such a thing, to put the righteous to death with the wicked, so that the righteous fare as the wicked! Far be that from you! Shall not the Judge of all the earth do what is just?” <sup>26</sup>And the LORD said, “If I find at Sodom fifty righteous in the city, I will spare the whole place for their sake.”

<sup>27</sup>†Abraham answered and said, “Behold, I have undertaken to speak to the Lord, I who am but dust and ashes. <sup>28</sup>Suppose five of the fifty righteous are lacking. Will you destroy the whole city for lack of five?” And he said, “I will not destroy it if I find forty-five there.” <sup>29</sup>Again he spoke to him and said, “Suppose forty are found there.” He answered, “For the sake of forty I will not do it.” <sup>30</sup>Then he said, “Oh let not the Lord be angry, and I will speak. Suppose thirty are found there.” He answered, “I will not do it, if I find thirty there.” <sup>31</sup>He said, “Behold, I have undertaken to speak to the Lord. Suppose twenty are found there.” He answered, “For the sake of twenty I will not destroy it.” <sup>32</sup>†Then he said, “Oh let not the Lord be angry, and I will speak again but this once. Suppose ten are found there.” He answered, “For the sake of ten I will not destroy it.” <sup>33</sup>†And the LORD went his way, when he had finished speaking to Abraham, and Abraham returned to his place.

God Rescues Lot

GENESIS 19 †The two angels came to Sodom in the evening, and Lot was sitting in the gate of Sodom. When Lot saw them, he rose to meet them and bowed himself with his face to the earth <sup>2</sup>†and said, “My lords, please turn aside to your servant's house and spend the night and wash your feet. Then you may rise up early and go on your way.” They said, “No; we will spend the night in the town square.” <sup>3</sup>†But he pressed them strongly; so they turned aside to him and entered his house. And he made them a feast and baked unleavened bread, and they ate.

<sup>4</sup>†But before they lay down, the men of the city, the men of Sodom, both young and old, all the people to the last man, surrounded the house. <sup>5</sup>†And they called to Lot, “Where are the men who came to you tonight? Bring them out to us, that we may know them.” <sup>6</sup>†Lot went out to the men at the entrance, shut the door after him, <sup>7</sup>and said, “I beg you, my brothers, do not act so wickedly. <sup>8</sup>†Behold, I have two daughters who have not known any man. Let me bring them out to you, and do to them as you please. Only do nothing to these men, for they have come under the shelter of my roof.” <sup>9</sup>†But they said, “Stand back!” And they said, “This fellow came to sojourn, and he has become the judge! Now we will deal worse with you than with them.” Then they pressed hard against the man Lot, and drew near to break the door down. <sup>10</sup>†But the men reached out their hands and brought Lot into the house with them and shut the door. <sup>11</sup>And they struck with blindness the men who were at the entrance of the house, both small and great, so that they wore themselves out groping for the door.

<sup>12</sup>Then the men said to Lot, “Have you anyone else here? Sons-in-law, sons, daughters, or anyone you have in the city, bring them out of the place. <sup>13</sup>†For we are about to destroy this place, because the outcry against its people has become great before the LORD, and the LORD has sent us to destroy it.” <sup>14</sup>†So Lot went out and said to his sons-in-law, who were to marry his daughters, “Up! Get out of this place, for the LORD is about to destroy the city.” But he seemed to his sons-in-law to be jesting.

<sup>15</sup>As morning dawned, the angels urged Lot, saying, “Up! Take your wife and your two daughters who are here, lest you be swept away in the punishment of the city.” <sup>16</sup>†But he lingered. So the men seized him and his wife and his two daughters by the hand, the LORD being merciful to him, and they brought him out and set him outside the city. <sup>17</sup>†And as they brought them out, one said, “Escape for your life. Do not look back or stop anywhere in the valley. Escape to the hills, lest you be swept away.”<sup>18</sup> And Lot said to them, “Oh, no, my lords.<sup>19</sup> Behold, your servant has found favor in your sight, and you have shown me great kindness in saving my life. But I cannot escape to the hills, lest the disaster overtake me and I die.<sup>20</sup> Behold, this city is near enough to flee to, and it is a little one. Let me escape there—is it not a little one?—and my life will be saved!”<sup>21</sup> He said to him, “Behold, I grant you this favor also, that I will not overthrow the city of which you have spoken.<sup>22</sup> Escape there quickly, for I can do nothing till you arrive there.” Therefore the name of the city was called Zoar. [1]

God Destroys Sodom

<sup>23</sup>The sun had risen on the earth when Lot came to Zoar.<sup>24</sup> Then the LORD rained on Sodom and Gomorrah sulfur and fire from the LORD out of heaven.<sup>25</sup> And he overthrew those cities, and all the valley, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and what grew on the ground.<sup>26</sup> But Lot's wife, behind him, looked back, and she became a pillar of salt.

<sup>27</sup>And Abraham went early in the morning to the place where he had stood before the LORD.<sup>28</sup> And he looked down toward Sodom and Gomorrah and toward all the land of the valley, and he looked and, behold, the smoke of the land went up like the smoke of a furnace.

<sup>29</sup>So it was that, when God destroyed the cities of the valley, God remembered Abraham and sent Lot out of the midst of the overthrow when he overthrew the cities in which Lot had lived.

Lot and His Daughters

<sup>30</sup>Now Lot went up out of Zoar and lived in the hills with his two daughters, for he was afraid to live in Zoar. So he lived in a cave with his two daughters.

<sup>31</sup>And the firstborn said to the younger, “Our father is old, and there is not a man on earth to come in to us after the manner of all the earth.<sup>32</sup> Come, let us make our father drink wine, and we will lie with him, that we may preserve offspring from our father.”<sup>33</sup> So they made their father drink wine that night. And the firstborn went in and lay with her father. He did not know when she lay down or when she arose.

<sup>34</sup>The next day, the firstborn said to the younger, “Behold, I lay last night with my father. Let us make him drink wine tonight also. Then you go in and lie with him, that we may preserve offspring from our father.” <sup>35</sup>So they made their father drink wine that night also. And the younger arose and lay with him, and he did not know when she lay down or when she arose. <sup>36</sup>Thus both the daughters of Lot became pregnant by their father. <sup>37</sup>‡The firstborn bore a son and called his name Moab. [2] He is the father of the Moabites to this day. <sup>38</sup>The younger also bore a son and called his name Ben-ammi. [3] He is the father of the Ammonites to this day.

Abraham and Abimelech

GENESIS 20 †From there Abraham journeyed toward the territory of the Negeb and lived between Kadesh and Shur; and he sojourned in Gerar. <sup>2</sup>†And Abraham said of Sarah his wife, “She is my sister.” And Abimelech king of Gerar sent and took Sarah. <sup>3</sup>†But God came to Abimelech in a dream by night and said to him, “Behold, you are a dead man because of the woman whom you have taken, for she is a man's wife.” <sup>4</sup>Now Abimelech had not approached her. So he said, “Lord, will you kill an innocent people? <sup>5</sup>Did he not himself say to me, ‘She is my sister’? And she herself said, ‘He is my brother.’ In the integrity of my heart and the innocence of my hands I have done this.” <sup>6</sup>†Then God said to him in the dream, “Yes, I know that you have done this in the integrity of your heart, and it was I who kept you from sinning against me. Therefore I did not let you touch her. <sup>7</sup>†Now then, return the man's wife, for he is a prophet, so that he will pray for you, and you shall live. But if you do not return her, know that you shall surely die, you and all who are yours.”

<sup>8</sup>So Abimelech rose early in the morning and called all his servants and told them all these things. And the men were very much afraid. <sup>9</sup>†Then Abimelech called Abraham and said to him, “What have you done to us? And how have I sinned against you, that you have brought on me and my kingdom a great sin? You have done to me things that ought not to be done.” <sup>10</sup>And Abimelech said to Abraham, “What did you see, that you did this thing?” <sup>11</sup>†Abraham said, “I did it because I thought, There is no fear of God at all in this place, and they will kill me because of my wife. <sup>12</sup>Besides, she is indeed my sister, the daughter of my father though not the daughter of my mother, and she became my wife. <sup>13</sup>And when God caused me to wander from my father's house, I said to her, ‘This is the kindness you must do me: at every place to which we come, say of me, He is my brother.’”

<sup>14</sup>Then Abimelech took sheep and oxen, and male servants and female servants, and gave them to Abraham, and returned Sarah his wife to him. <sup>15</sup>And Abimelech said, “Behold, my land is before you; dwell where it pleases you.” <sup>16</sup>†To Sarah he said, “Behold, I have given your brother a thousand pieces of silver. It is a sign of your innocence in the eyes of all [\[1\]](#) who are with you, and before everyone you are vindicated.” <sup>17</sup>Then Abraham prayed to God, and God healed Abimelech, and also healed his wife and female slaves so that they bore children. <sup>18</sup>For the LORD had closed all the wombs of the house of Abimelech because of Sarah, Abraham's wife.

The Birth of Isaac

GENESIS 21 †The LORD visited Sarah as he had said, and the LORD did to Sarah as he had promised. <sup>2</sup>And Sarah conceived and bore Abraham a son in his old age at the time of which God had spoken to him. <sup>3</sup>Abraham called the name of his son who was born to him, whom Sarah bore him, Isaac. [1] <sup>4</sup>†And Abraham circumcised his son Isaac when he was eight days old, as God had commanded him. <sup>5</sup>†Abraham was a hundred years old when his son Isaac was born to him. <sup>6</sup>And Sarah said, “God has made laughter for me; everyone who hears will laugh over me.” <sup>7</sup>And she said, “Who would have said to Abraham that Sarah would nurse children? Yet I have borne him a son in his old age.”

God Protects Hagar and Ishmael

<sup>8</sup>†And the child grew and was weaned. And Abraham made a great feast on the day that Isaac was weaned. <sup>9</sup>†But Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, whom she had borne to Abraham, laughing. [2] <sup>10</sup>†So she said to Abraham, “Cast out this slave woman with her son, for the son of this slave woman shall not be heir with my son Isaac.” <sup>11</sup>And the thing was very displeasing to Abraham on account of his son. <sup>12</sup>†But God said to Abraham, “Be not displeased because of the boy and because of your slave woman. Whatever Sarah says to you, do as she tells you, for through Isaac shall your offspring be named. <sup>13</sup>†And I will make a nation of the son of the slave woman also, because he is your offspring.” <sup>14</sup>†So Abraham rose early in the morning and took bread and a skin of water and gave it to Hagar, putting it on her shoulder, along with the child, and sent her away. And she departed and wandered in the wilderness of Beersheba.

<sup>15</sup>When the water in the skin was gone, she put the child under one of the bushes. <sup>16</sup>Then she went and sat down opposite him a good way off, about the distance of a bowshot, for she said, “Let me not look on the death of the child.” And as she sat opposite him, she lifted up her voice and wept. <sup>17</sup>†And God heard the voice of the boy, and the angel of God called to Hagar from heaven and said to her, “What troubles you, Hagar? Fear not, for God has heard the voice of the boy where he is. <sup>18</sup>†Up! Lift up the boy, and hold him fast with your hand, for I will make him into a great nation.” <sup>19</sup>Then God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water. And she went and filled the skin with water and gave the boy a drink. <sup>20</sup>And God was with the boy, and he grew up. He lived in the wilderness and became an expert with the bow. <sup>21</sup>†He lived in the wilderness of Paran, and his mother took a wife for him from the land of Egypt.

A Treaty with Abimelech

<sup>22</sup>† At that time Abimelech and Phicol the commander of his army said to Abraham, “God is with you in all that you do. <sup>23</sup>Now therefore swear to me here by God that you will not deal falsely with me or with my descendants or with my posterity, but as I have dealt kindly with you, so you will deal with me and with the land where you have sojourned.” <sup>24</sup>And Abraham said, “I will swear.”

<sup>25</sup>When Abraham reproved Abimelech about a well of water that Abimelech's servants had seized, <sup>26</sup>Abimelech said, “I do not know who has done this thing; you did not tell me, and I have not heard of it until today.” <sup>27</sup>So Abraham took sheep and oxen and gave them to Abimelech, and the two men made a covenant. <sup>28</sup>Abraham set seven ewe lambs of the flock apart. <sup>29</sup>And Abimelech said to Abraham, “What is the meaning of these seven ewe lambs that you have set apart?” <sup>30</sup>He said, “These seven ewe lambs you will take from my hand, that this [3] may be a witness for me that I dug this well.” <sup>31</sup>† Therefore that place was called Beersheba, [4] because there both of them swore an oath. <sup>32</sup>† So they made a covenant at Beersheba. Then Abimelech and Phicol the commander of his army rose up and returned to the land of the Philistines. <sup>33</sup>† Abraham planted a tamarisk tree in Beersheba and called there on the name of the LORD, the Everlasting God. <sup>34</sup>And Abraham sojourned many days in the land of the Philistines.

The Sacrifice of Isaac

GENESIS 22 †After these things God tested Abraham and said to him, “Abraham!” And he said, “Here am I.” †He said, “Take your son, your only son Isaac, whom you love, and go to the land of Moriah, and offer him there as a burnt offering on one of the mountains of which I shall tell you.” †So Abraham rose early in the morning, saddled his donkey, and took two of his young men with him, and his son Isaac. And he cut the wood for the burnt offering and arose and went to the place of which God had told him. †On the third day Abraham lifted up his eyes and saw the place from afar. †Then Abraham said to his young men, “Stay here with the donkey; I and the boy [1] will go over there and worship and come again to you.” †And Abraham took the wood of the burnt offering and laid it on Isaac his son. And he took in his hand the fire and the knife. So they went both of them together. †And Isaac said to his father Abraham, “My father!” And he said, “Here am I, my son.” He said, “Behold, the fire and the wood, but where is the lamb for a burnt offering?” †Abraham said, “God will provide for himself the lamb for a burnt offering, my son.” So they went both of them together.

†When they came to the place of which God had told him, Abraham built the altar there and laid the wood in order and bound Isaac his son and laid him on the altar, on top of the wood. †Then Abraham reached out his hand and took the knife to slaughter his son. †But the angel of the LORD called to him from heaven and said, “Abraham, Abraham!” And he said, “Here am I.” †He said, “Do not lay your hand on the boy or do anything to him, for now I know that you fear God, seeing you have not withheld your son, your only son, from me.” †And Abraham lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, behind him was a ram, caught in a thicket by his horns. And Abraham went and took the ram and offered it up as a burnt offering instead of his son. †So Abraham called the name of that place, “The LORD will provide”; [2] as it is said to this day, “On the mount of the LORD it shall be provided.” [3]

†And the angel of the LORD called to Abraham a second time from heaven †and said, “By myself I have sworn, declares the LORD, because you have done this and have not withheld your son, your only son, †I will surely bless you, and I will surely multiply your offspring as the stars of heaven and as the sand that is on the seashore. And your offspring shall possess the gate of his [4] enemies, †and in your offspring shall all the nations of the earth be blessed, because you have obeyed my voice.”<sup>19</sup> So Abraham returned to his young men, and they arose and went together to Beersheba. And Abraham lived at Beersheba.

Sarah's Death and Burial

GENESIS 23 †Sarah lived 127 years; these were the years of the life of Sarah. †And Sarah died at Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron) in the land of Canaan, and Abraham went in to mourn for Sarah and to weep for her. †And Abraham rose up from before his dead and said to the Hittites, [1] †“I am a sojourner and foreigner among you; give me property among you for a burying place, that I may bury my dead out of my sight.” †The Hittites answered Abraham, †“Hear us, my lord; you are a prince of God [2] among us. Bury your dead in the choicest of our tombs. None of us will withhold from you his tomb to hinder you from burying your dead.” †Abraham rose and bowed to the Hittites, the people of the land. †And he said to them, “If you are willing that I should bury my dead out of my sight, hear me and entreat for me Ephron the son of Zohar, †that he may give me the cave of Machpelah, which he owns; it is at the end of his field. For the full price let him give it to me in your presence as property for a burying place.”

†Now Ephron was sitting among the Hittites, and Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the hearing of the Hittites, of all who went in at the gate of his city, †“No, my lord, hear me: I give you the field, and I give you the cave that is in it. In the sight of the sons of my people I give it to you. Bury your dead.” †Then Abraham bowed down before the people of the land. †And he said to Ephron in the hearing of the people of the land, “But if you will, hear me: I give the price of the field. Accept it from me, that I may bury my dead there.” †Ephron answered Abraham, †“My lord, listen to me: a piece of land worth four hundred shekels [3] of silver, what is that between you and me? Bury your dead.” †Abraham listened to Ephron, and Abraham weighed out for Ephron the silver that he had named in the hearing of the Hittites, four hundred shekels of silver, according to the weights current among the merchants.

†So the field of Ephron in Machpelah, which was to the east of Mamre, the field with the cave that was in it and all the trees that were in the field, throughout its whole area, was made over †to Abraham as a possession in the presence of the Hittites, before all who went in at the gate of his city. †After this, Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the cave of the field of Machpelah east of Mamre (that is, Hebron) in the land of Canaan. †The field and the cave that is in it were made over to Abraham as property for a burying place by the Hittites.

Isaac and Rebekah

GENESIS 24 Now Abraham was old, well advanced in years. And the LORD had blessed Abraham in all things. <sup>2</sup>†† And Abraham said to his servant, the oldest of his household, who had charge of all that he had, “Put your hand under my thigh, <sup>3</sup>† that I may make you swear by the LORD, the God of heaven and God of the earth, that you will not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom I dwell, <sup>4</sup>but will go to my country and to my kindred, and take a wife for my son Isaac.” <sup>5</sup>The servant said to him, “Perhaps the woman may not be willing to follow me to this land. Must I then take your son back to the land from which you came?” <sup>6</sup>† Abraham said to him, “See to it that you do not take my son back there. <sup>7</sup>† The LORD, the God of heaven, who took me from my father's house and from the land of my kindred, and who spoke to me and swore to me, ‘To your offspring I will give this land,’ he will send his angel before you, and you shall take a wife for my son from there. <sup>8</sup>But if the woman is not willing to follow you, then you will be free from this oath of mine; only you must not take my son back there.” <sup>9</sup>† So the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his master and swore to him concerning this matter.

<sup>10</sup>† Then the servant took ten of his master's camels and departed, taking all sorts of choice gifts from his master; and he arose and went to Mesopotamia [\[1\]](#) to the city of Nahor. <sup>11</sup>And he made the camels kneel down outside the city by the well of water at the time of evening, the time when women go out to draw water. <sup>12</sup>† And he said, “O LORD, God of my master Abraham, please grant me success today and show steadfast love to my master Abraham. <sup>13</sup>Behold, I am standing by the spring of water, and the daughters of the men of the city are coming out to draw water. <sup>14</sup>† Let the young woman to whom I shall say, ‘Please let down your jar that I may drink,’ and who shall say, ‘Drink, and I will water your camels’—let her be the one whom you have appointed for your servant Isaac. By this [\[2\]](#) I shall know that you have shown steadfast love to my master.”

finished giving him a drink, she said, "I will draw water for your camels also, until they have finished drinking." <sup>20</sup>† So she quickly emptied her jar into the trough and ran again to the well to draw water, and she drew for all his camels. <sup>21</sup> The man gazed at her in silence to learn whether the LORD had prospered his journey or not.

<sup>22</sup>† When the camels had finished drinking, the man took a gold ring weighing a half shekel, [4] and two bracelets for her arms weighing ten gold shekels, <sup>23</sup> and said, "Please tell me whose daughter you are. Is there room in your father's house for us to spend the night?" <sup>24</sup>† She said to him, "I am the daughter of Bethuel the son of Milcah, whom she bore to Nahor." <sup>25</sup> She added, "We have plenty of both straw and fodder, and room to spend the night." <sup>26</sup> The man bowed his head and worshiped the LORD <sup>27</sup> and said, "Blessed be the LORD, the God of my master Abraham, who has not forsaken his steadfast love and his faithfulness toward my master. As for me, the LORD has led me in the way to the house of my master's kinsmen." <sup>28</sup> Then the young woman ran and told her mother's household about these things.

<sup>29</sup>† Rebekah had a brother whose name was Laban. Laban ran out toward the man, to the spring. <sup>30</sup> As soon as he saw the ring and the bracelets on his sister's arms, and heard the words of Rebekah his sister, "Thus the man spoke to me," he went to the man. And behold, he was standing by the camels at the spring. <sup>31</sup> He said, "Come in, O blessed of the LORD. Why do you stand outside? For I have prepared the house and a place for the camels." <sup>32</sup> So the man came to the house and unharnessed the camels, and gave straw and fodder to the camels, and there was water to wash his feet and the feet of the men who were with him. <sup>33</sup>† Then food was set before him to eat. But he said, "I will not eat until I have said what I have to say." He said, "Speak on."

<sup>34</sup> So he said, "I am Abraham's servant. <sup>35</sup> The LORD has greatly blessed my master, and he has become great. He has given him flocks and herds, silver and gold, male servants and female servants, camels and donkeys. <sup>36</sup> And Sarah my master's wife bore a son to my master when she was old, and to him he has given all that he has. <sup>37</sup> My master made me swear, saying, 'You shall not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites, in whose land I dwell, <sup>38</sup> but you shall go to my father's house and to my clan and take a wife for my son.' <sup>39</sup> I said to my master, 'Perhaps the woman will not follow me.' <sup>40</sup> But he said to me, 'The LORD, before whom I have walked, will send his angel with you and prosper your way. You shall take a wife for my son from my clan and from my father's house. <sup>41</sup>Then you will be free from my oath, when you come to my clan. And if they will not give her to you, you will be free from my oath.'

<sup>42</sup>"I came today to the spring and said, 'O LORD, the God of my master Abraham, if now you are prospering the way that I go, <sup>43</sup>behold, I am standing by the spring of water. Let the virgin who comes out to draw water, to whom I shall say, "Please give me a little water from your jar to drink," <sup>44</sup>and who will say to me, "Drink, and I will draw for your camels also," let her be the woman whom the LORD has appointed for my master's son.'

<sup>45</sup>"Before I had finished speaking in my heart, behold, Rebekah came out with her water jar on her shoulder, and she went down to the spring and drew water. I said to her, 'Please let me drink.' <sup>46</sup>She quickly let down her jar from her shoulder and said, 'Drink, and I will give your camels drink also.' So I drank, and she gave the camels drink also. <sup>47</sup>Then I asked her, 'Whose daughter are you?' She said, 'The daughter of Bethuel, Nahor's son, whom Milcah bore to him.' So I put the ring on her nose and the bracelets on her arms. <sup>48</sup>Then I bowed my head and worshiped the LORD and blessed the LORD, the God of my master Abraham, who had led me by the right way [5] to take the daughter of my master's kinsman for his son. <sup>49</sup>† Now then, if you are going to show steadfast love and faithfulness to my master, tell me; and if not, tell me, that I may turn to the right hand or to the left."

<sup>50</sup>† Then Laban and Bethuel answered and said, "The thing has come from the LORD; we cannot speak to you bad or good. <sup>51</sup>Behold, Rebekah is before you; take her and go, and let her be the wife of your master's son, as the LORD has spoken."

<sup>52</sup>When Abraham's servant heard their words, he bowed himself to the earth before the LORD. <sup>53</sup>† And the servant brought out jewelry of silver and of gold, and garments, and gave them to Rebekah. He also gave to her brother and to her mother costly ornaments. <sup>54</sup>† And he and the men who were with him ate and drank, and they spent the night there. When they arose in the morning, he said, "Send me away to my master." <sup>55</sup>Her brother and her mother said, "Let the young woman remain with us a while, at least ten days; after that she may go." <sup>56</sup>But he said to them, "Do not delay me, since the LORD has prospered my way. Send me away that I may go to my master." <sup>57</sup>† They said, "Let us call the young woman and ask her." <sup>58</sup>And they called Rebekah and said to her, "Will you go with this man?" She said, "I will go." <sup>59</sup>† So they sent away Rebekah their sister and her nurse, and Abraham's servant and his men. <sup>60</sup>† And they blessed Rebekah and said to her, “Our sister, may you become thousands of ten thousands, and may your offspring possess the gate of those who hate him!” [6]

<sup>63</sup>† And Isaac went out to meditate in the field toward evening. And he lifted up his eyes and saw, and behold, there were camels coming. <sup>64</sup> And Rebekah lifted up her eyes, and when she saw Isaac, she dismounted from the camel <sup>65</sup>† and said to the servant, “Who is that man, walking in the field to meet us?” The servant said, “It is my master.” So she took her veil and covered herself. <sup>66</sup> And the servant told Isaac all the things that he had done. <sup>67</sup>† Then Isaac brought her into the tent of Sarah his mother and took Rebekah, and she became his wife, and he loved her. So Isaac was comforted after his mother's death.

Abraham's Death and His Descendants

GENESIS 25 †Abraham took another wife, whose name was Keturah. <sup>2</sup>She bore him Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah. <sup>3</sup>Jokshan fathered Sheba and Dedan. The sons of Dedan were Asshurim, Letushim, and Leummim. <sup>4</sup>The sons of Midian were Ephah, Ephher, Hanoch, Abida, and Eldaah. All these were the children of Keturah. <sup>5</sup>†Abraham gave all he had to Isaac. <sup>6</sup>But to the sons of his concubines Abraham gave gifts, and while he was still living he sent them away from his son Isaac, eastward to the east country.

The Birth of Esau and Jacob

nations are in your womb, and two peoples from within you [3] shall be divided; the one shall be stronger than the other, the older shall serve the younger.”

Esau Sells His Birthright

<sup>29</sup> Once when Jacob was cooking stew, Esau came in from the field, and he was exhausted. <sup>30</sup>† And Esau said to Jacob, “Let me eat some of that red stew, for I am exhausted!” (Therefore his name was called Edom. [5]) <sup>31</sup>† Jacob said, “Sell me your birthright now.” <sup>32</sup> Esau said, “I am about to die; of what use is a birthright to me?” <sup>33</sup> Jacob said, “Swear to me now.” So he swore to him and sold his birthright to Jacob. <sup>34</sup>† Then Jacob gave Esau bread and lentil stew, and he ate and drank and rose and went his way. Thus Esau despised his birthright.

God's Promise to Isaac

GENESIS 26 †Now there was a famine in the land, besides the former famine that was in the days of Abraham. And Isaac went to Gerar to Abimelech king of the Philistines. <sup>2</sup>†And the LORD appeared to him and said, “Do not go down to Egypt; dwell in the land of which I shall tell you. <sup>3</sup>†Sojourn in this land, and I will be with you and will bless you, for to you and to your offspring I will give all these lands, and I will establish the oath that I swore to Abraham your father. <sup>4</sup>†I will multiply your offspring as the stars of heaven and will give to your offspring all these lands. And in your offspring all the nations of the earth shall be blessed, <sup>5</sup>because Abraham obeyed my voice and kept my charge, my commandments, my statutes, and my laws.”

Isaac and Abimelech

<sup>6</sup>†So Isaac settled in Gerar. <sup>7</sup>When the men of the place asked him about his wife, he said, “She is my sister,” for he feared to say, “My wife,” thinking, “lest the men of the place should kill me because of Rebekah,” because she was attractive in appearance. <sup>8</sup>When he had been there a long time, Abimelech king of the Philistines looked out of a window and saw Isaac laughing with [\[1\]](#) Rebekah his wife. <sup>9</sup>So Abimelech called Isaac and said, “Behold, she is your wife. How then could you say, ‘She is my sister’?” Isaac said to him, “Because I thought, ‘Lest I die because of her.’” <sup>10</sup>Abimelech said, “What is this you have done to us? One of the people might easily have lain with your wife, and you would have brought guilt upon us.” <sup>11</sup>†So Abimelech warned all the people, saying, “Whoever touches this man or his wife shall surely be put to death.”

<sup>12</sup>†And Isaac sowed in that land and reaped in the same year a hundredfold. The LORD blessed him, <sup>13</sup>and the man became rich, and gained more and more until he became very wealthy. <sup>14</sup>He had possessions of flocks and herds and many servants, so that the Philistines envied him. <sup>15</sup>†(Now the Philistines had stopped and filled with earth all the wells that his father's servants had dug in the days of Abraham his father.) <sup>16</sup>And Abimelech said to Isaac, “Go away from us, for you are much mightier than we.”

<sup>17</sup>So Isaac departed from there and encamped in the Valley of Gerar and settled there. <sup>18</sup>And Isaac dug again the wells of water that had been dug in the days of Abraham his father, which the Philistines had stopped after the death of Abraham. And he gave them the names that his father had given them. <sup>19</sup>But when Isaac's servants dug in the valley and found there a well of spring water, <sup>20</sup>the herdsmen of Gerar quarreled with Isaac's herdsmen, saying, "The water is ours." So he called the name of the well Esek, [2] because they contended with him. <sup>21</sup>Then they dug another well, and they quarreled over that also, so he called its name Sitnah. [3] <sup>22</sup>† And he moved from there and dug another well, and they did not quarrel over it. So he called its name Rehoboth, [4] saying, "For now the LORD has made room for us, and we shall be fruitful in the land."

<sup>23</sup>From there he went up to Beersheba. <sup>24</sup>† And the LORD appeared to him the same night and said, "I am the God of Abraham your father. Fear not, for I am with you and will bless you and multiply your offspring for my servant Abraham's sake." <sup>25</sup>So he built an altar there and called upon the name of the LORD and pitched his tent there. And there Isaac's servants dug a well.

<sup>26</sup>† When Abimelech went to him from Gerar with Ahuzzath his adviser and Phicol the commander of his army, <sup>27</sup>Isaac said to them, "Why have you come to me, seeing that you hate me and have sent me away from you?" <sup>28</sup>† They said, "We see plainly that the LORD has been with you. So we said, let there be a sworn pact between us, between you and us, and let us make a covenant with you, <sup>29</sup>that you will do us no harm, just as we have not touched you and have done to you nothing but good and have sent you away in peace. You are now the blessed of the LORD." <sup>30</sup>† So he made them a feast, and they ate and drank. <sup>31</sup>In the morning they rose early and exchanged oaths. And Isaac sent them on their way, and they departed from him in peace. <sup>32</sup>That same day Isaac's servants came and told him about the well that they had dug and said to him, "We have found water." <sup>33</sup>† He called it Shibah; [5] therefore the name of the city is Beersheba to this day.

<sup>34</sup>When Esau was forty years old, he took Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite to be his wife, and Basemath the daughter of Elon the Hittite, <sup>35</sup>† and they made life bitter [6] for Isaac and Rebekah.

Isaac Blesses Jacob

GENESIS 27 †When Isaac was old and his eyes were dim so that he could not see, he called Esau his older son and said to him, “My son”; and he answered, “Here I am.”<sup>2</sup>He said, “Behold, I am old; I do not know the day of my death.<sup>3</sup>Now then, take your weapons, your quiver and your bow, and go out to the field and hunt game for me,<sup>4</sup>†and prepare for me delicious food, such as I love, and bring it to me so that I may eat, that my soul may bless you before I die.”

<sup>5</sup>†Now Rebekah was listening when Isaac spoke to his son Esau. So when Esau went to the field to hunt for game and bring it,<sup>6</sup>Rebekah said to her son Jacob, “I heard your father speak to your brother Esau,<sup>7</sup>‘Bring me game and prepare for me delicious food, that I may eat it and bless you before the LORD before I die.’<sup>8</sup>Now therefore, my son, obey my voice as I command you.<sup>9</sup>Go to the flock and bring me two good young goats, so that I may prepare from them delicious food for your father, such as he loves.<sup>10</sup>And you shall bring it to your father to eat, so that he may bless you before he dies.”<sup>11</sup>But Jacob said to Rebekah his mother, “Behold, my brother Esau is a hairy man, and I am a smooth man.<sup>12</sup>†Perhaps my father will feel me, and I shall seem to be mocking him and bring a curse upon myself and not a blessing.”<sup>13</sup>†His mother said to him, “Let your curse be on me, my son; only obey my voice, and go, bring them to me.”

<sup>18</sup>So he went in to his father and said, “My father.” And he said, “Here I am. Who are you, my son?”<sup>19</sup>Jacob said to his father, “I am Esau your firstborn. I have done as you told me; now sit up and eat of my game, that your soul may bless me.”<sup>20</sup>†But Isaac said to his son, “How is it that you have found it so quickly, my son?” He answered, “Because the LORD your God granted me success.”<sup>21</sup>Then Isaac said to Jacob, “Please come near, that I may feel you, my son, to know whether you are really my son Esau or not.”<sup>22</sup>So Jacob went near to Isaac his father, who felt him and said, “The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau.”<sup>23</sup>And he did not recognize him, because his hands were hairy like his brother Esau's hands. So he blessed him. <sup>24</sup>He said, "Are you really my son Esau?" He answered, "I am." <sup>25</sup>Then he said, "Bring it near to me, that I may eat of my son's game and bless you." So he brought it near to him, and he ate; and he brought him wine, and he drank.

<sup>26</sup>Then his father Isaac said to him, "Come near and kiss me, my son." <sup>27</sup>‡So he came near and kissed him. And Isaac smelled the smell of his garments and blessed him and said, "See, the smell of my son is as the smell of a field that the LORD has blessed!

Be lord over your brothers, and may your mother's sons bow down to you. Cursed be everyone who curses you, and blessed be everyone who blesses you!"

<sup>30</sup>As soon as Isaac had finished blessing Jacob, when Jacob had scarcely gone out from the presence of Isaac his father, Esau his brother came in from his hunting. <sup>31</sup>He also prepared delicious food and brought it to his father. And he said to his father, "Let my father arise and eat of his son's game, that you may bless me." <sup>32</sup>His father Isaac said to him, "Who are you?" He answered, "I am your son, your firstborn, Esau." <sup>33</sup>‡Then Isaac trembled very violently and said, "Who was it then that hunted game and brought it to me, and I ate it all before you came, and I have blessed him? Yes, and he shall be blessed." <sup>34</sup>‡As soon as Esau heard the words of his father, he cried out with an exceedingly great and bitter cry and said to his father, "Bless me, even me also, O my father!" <sup>35</sup>But he said, "Your brother came deceitfully, and he has taken away your blessing." <sup>36</sup>Esau said, "Is he not rightly named Jacob? [1] For he has cheated me these two times. He took away my birthright, and behold, now he has taken away my blessing." Then he said, "Have you not reserved a blessing for me?" <sup>37</sup>Isaac answered and said to Esau, "Behold, I have made him lord over you, and all his brothers I have given to him for servants, and with grain and wine I have sustained him. What then can I do for you, my son?" <sup>38</sup>Esau said to his father, "Have you but one blessing, my father? Bless me, even me also, O my father." And Esau lifted up his voice and wept.

<sup>39</sup>‡Then Isaac his father answered and said to him: "Behold, away from [2] the fatness of the earth shall your dwelling be, and away from [3] the dew of heaven on high.

<sup>41</sup>† Now Esau hated Jacob because of the blessing with which his father had blessed him, and Esau said to himself, “The days of mourning for my father are approaching; then I will kill my brother Jacob.” <sup>42</sup>But the words of Esau her older son were told to Rebekah. So she sent and called Jacob her younger son and said to him, “Behold, your brother Esau comforts himself about you by planning to kill you. <sup>43</sup>Now therefore, my son, obey my voice. Arise, flee to Laban my brother in Haran <sup>44</sup>and stay with him a while, until your brother's fury turns away— <sup>45</sup>† until your brother's anger turns away from you, and he forgets what you have done to him. Then I will send and bring you from there. Why should I be bereft of you both in one day?”

<sup>46</sup>† Then Rebekah said to Isaac, “I loathe my life because of the Hittite women. [4] If Jacob marries one of the Hittite women like these, one of the women of the land, what good will my life be to me?”

Jacob Sent to Laban

GENESIS 28 †Then Isaac called Jacob and blessed him and directed him, “You must not take a wife from the Canaanite women. <sup>2</sup>†Arise, go to Paddan-aram to the house of Bethuel your mother's father, and take as your wife from there one of the daughters of Laban your mother's brother. <sup>3</sup>††God Almighty [\[1\]](#) bless you and make you fruitful and multiply you, that you may become a company of peoples. <sup>4</sup>May he give the blessing of Abraham to you and to your offspring with you, that you may take possession of the land of your sojournings that God gave to Abraham!” <sup>5</sup>†Thus Isaac sent Jacob away. And he went to Paddan-aram, to Laban, the son of Bethuel the Aramean, the brother of Rebekah, Jacob's and Esau's mother.

Esau Marries an Ishmaelite

<sup>6</sup>Now Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob and sent him away to Paddan-aram to take a wife from there, and that as he blessed him he directed him, “You must not take a wife from the Canaanite women,” <sup>7</sup>and that Jacob had obeyed his father and his mother and gone to Paddan-aram. <sup>8</sup>So when Esau saw that the Canaanite women did not please Isaac his father, <sup>9</sup>†Esau went to Ishmael and took as his wife, besides the wives he had, Mahalath the daughter of Ishmael, Abraham's son, the sister of Nebaioth.

Jacob's Dream

<sup>10</sup>††Jacob left Beersheba and went toward Haran. <sup>11</sup>†And he came to a certain place and stayed there that night, because the sun had set. Taking one of the stones of the place, he put it under his head and lay down in that place to sleep. <sup>12</sup>†And he dreamed, and behold, there was a ladder [\[2\]](#) set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven. And behold, the angels of God were ascending and descending on it! <sup>13</sup>And behold, the LORD stood above it [\[3\]](#) and said, “I am the LORD, the God of Abraham your father and the God of Isaac. The land on which you lie I will give to you and to your offspring. <sup>14</sup>Your offspring shall be like the dust of the earth, and you shall spread abroad to the west and to the east and to the north and to the south, and in you and your offspring shall all the families of the earth be blessed. <sup>15</sup>†Behold, I am with you and will keep you wherever you go, and will bring you back to this land. For I will not leave you until I have done what I have promised you.” <sup>16</sup>Then Jacob awoke from his sleep and said, “Surely the LORD is in this place, and I did not know it.” <sup>17</sup>And he was afraid and said, “How awesome is this place! This is none other than the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven.”

<sup>18</sup>† So early in the morning Jacob took the stone that he had put under his head and set it up for a pillar and poured oil on the top of it. <sup>19</sup>He called the name of that place Bethel, [4] but the name of the city was Luz at the first. <sup>20</sup>Then Jacob made a vow, saying, “If God will be with me and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me bread to eat and clothing to wear, <sup>21</sup>so that I come again to my father's house in peace, then the LORD shall be my God, <sup>22</sup>† and this stone, which I have set up for a pillar, shall be God's house. And of all that you give me I will give a full tenth to you.”

Jacob Marries Leah and Rachel

GENESIS 29 †Then Jacob went on his journey and came to the land of the people of the east. †As he looked, he saw a well in the field, and behold, three flocks of sheep lying beside it, for out of that well the flocks were watered. The stone on the well's mouth was large, †and when all the flocks were gathered there, the shepherds would roll the stone from the mouth of the well and water the sheep, and put the stone back in its place over the mouth of the well.

†Jacob said to them, “My brothers, where do you come from?” They said, “We are from Haran.” †He said to them, “Do you know Laban the son of Nahor?” They said, “We know him.” †He said to them, “Is it well with him?” They said, “It is well; and see, Rachel his daughter is coming with the sheep!” †He said, “Behold, it is still high day; it is not time for the livestock to be gathered together. Water the sheep and go, pasture them.” †But they said, “We cannot until all the flocks are gathered together and the stone is rolled from the mouth of the well; then we water the sheep.”

†While he was still speaking with them, Rachel came with her father's sheep, for she was a shepherdess. †Now as soon as Jacob saw Rachel the daughter of Laban his mother's brother, and the sheep of Laban his mother's brother, Jacob came near and rolled the stone from the well's mouth and watered the flock of Laban his mother's brother. †Then Jacob kissed Rachel and wept aloud. †And Jacob told Rachel that he was her father's kinsman, and that he was Rebekah's son, and she ran and told her father.

†As soon as Laban heard the news about Jacob, his sister's son, he ran to meet him and embraced him and kissed him and brought him to his house. Jacob told Laban all these things, †and Laban said to him, “Surely you are my bone and my flesh!” And he stayed with him a month.

†Then Laban said to Jacob, “Because you are my kinsman, should you therefore serve me for nothing? Tell me, what shall your wages be?” †Now Laban had two daughters. The name of the older was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel. †Leah's eyes were weak, [1] but Rachel was beautiful in form and appearance. †Jacob loved Rachel. And he said, “I will serve you seven years for your younger daughter Rachel.” †Laban said, “It is better that I give her to you than that I should give her to any other man; stay with me.” †So Jacob served seven years for Rachel, and they seemed to him but a few days because of the love he had for her.

<sup>21</sup>Then Jacob said to Laban, “Give me my wife that I may go in to her, for my time is completed.” <sup>22</sup>So Laban gathered together all the people of the place and made a feast. <sup>23</sup>‡But in the evening he took his daughter Leah and brought her to Jacob, and he went in to her. <sup>24</sup>(Laban gave [2] his female servant Zilpah to his daughter Leah to be her servant.) <sup>25</sup>And in the morning, behold, it was Leah! And Jacob said to Laban, “What is this you have done to me? Did I not serve with you for Rachel? Why then have you deceived me?” <sup>26</sup>Laban said, “It is not so done in our country, to give the younger before the firstborn. <sup>27</sup>‡Complete the week of this one, and we will give you the other also in return for serving me another seven years.” <sup>28</sup>‡Jacob did so, and completed her week. Then Laban gave him his daughter Rachel to be his wife. <sup>29</sup>(Laban gave his female servant Bilhah to his daughter Rachel to be her servant.) <sup>30</sup>So Jacob went in to Rachel also, and he loved Rachel more than Leah, and served Laban for another seven years.

Jacob's Children

<sup>31</sup>‡When the LORD saw that Leah was hated, he opened her womb, but Rachel was barren. <sup>32</sup>And Leah conceived and bore a son, and she called his name Reuben, [3] for she said, “Because the LORD has looked upon my affliction; for now my husband will love me.” <sup>33</sup>She conceived again and bore a son, and said, “Because the LORD has heard that I am hated, he has given me this son also.” And she called his name Simeon. [4] <sup>34</sup>Again she conceived and bore a son, and said, “Now this time my husband will be attached to me, because I have borne him three sons.” Therefore his name was called Levi. [5] <sup>35</sup>And she conceived again and bore a son, and said, “This time I will praise the LORD.” Therefore she called his name Judah. [6] Then she ceased bearing.

GENESIS 30 †When Rachel saw that she bore Jacob no children, she envied her sister. She said to Jacob, “Give me children, or I shall die!” †Jacob's anger was kindled against Rachel, and he said, “Am I in the place of God, who has withheld from you the fruit of the womb?” †Then she said, “Here is my servant Bilhah; go in to her, so that she may give birth on my behalf, [1] that even I may have children [2] through her.” †So she gave him her servant Bilhah as a wife, and Jacob went in to her. †And Bilhah conceived and bore Jacob a son. †Then Rachel said, “God has judged me, and has also heard my voice and given me a son.” Therefore she called his name Dan. [3] †Rachel's servant Bilhah conceived again and bore Jacob a second son. †Then Rachel said, “With mighty wrestlings [4] I have wrestled with my sister and have prevailed.” So she called his name Naphtali. [5]

†When Leah saw that she had ceased bearing children, she took her servant Zilpah and gave her to Jacob as a wife. †Then Leah's servant Zilpah bore Jacob a son. †And Leah said, “Good fortune has come!” so she called his name Gad. [6] †Leah's servant Zilpah bore Jacob a second son. †And Leah said, “Happy am I! For women have called me happy.” So she called his name Asher. [7]

†In the days of wheat harvest Reuben went and found mandrakes in the field and brought them to his mother Leah. Then Rachel said to Leah, “Please give me some of your son's mandrakes.” †But she said to her, “Is it a small matter that you have taken away my husband? Would you take away my son's mandrakes also?” Rachel said, “Then he may lie with you tonight in exchange for your son's mandrakes.” †When Jacob came from the field in the evening, Leah went out to meet him and said, “You must come in to me, for I have hired you with my son's mandrakes.” So he lay with her that night. †And God listened to Leah, and she conceived and bore Jacob a fifth son. †Leah said, “God has given me my wages because I gave my servant to my husband.” So she called his name Issachar. [8]

†And Leah conceived again, and she bore Jacob a sixth son. †Then Leah said, “God has endowed me with a good endowment; now my husband will honor me, because I have borne him six sons.” So she called his name Zebulun. [9]

†Afterward she bore a daughter and called her name Dinah.

†Then God remembered Rachel, and God listened to her and opened her womb. †She conceived and bore a son and said, “God has taken away my reproach.” <sup>24</sup>†And she called his name Joseph, [10] saying, “May the LORD add to me another son!”

Jacob's Prosperity

<sup>25</sup>†As soon as Rachel had borne Joseph, Jacob said to Laban, “Send me away, that I may go to my own home and country. <sup>26</sup>Give me my wives and my children for whom I have served you, that I may go, for you know the service that I have given you.” <sup>27</sup>†But Laban said to him, “If I have found favor in your sight, I have learned by divination that [11] the LORD has blessed me because of you. <sup>28</sup>†Name your wages, and I will give it.” <sup>29</sup>Jacob said to him, “You yourself know how I have served you, and how your livestock has fared with me. <sup>30</sup>For you had little before I came, and it has increased abundantly, and the LORD has blessed you wherever I turned. But now when shall I provide for my own household also?” <sup>31</sup>†He said, “What shall I give you?” Jacob said, “You shall not give me anything. If you will do this for me, I will again pasture your flock and keep it: <sup>32</sup>let me pass through all your flock today, removing from it every speckled and spotted sheep and every black lamb, and the spotted and speckled among the goats, and they shall be my wages. <sup>33</sup>So my honesty will answer for me later, when you come to look into my wages with you. Every one that is not speckled and spotted among the goats and black among the lambs, if found with me, shall be counted stolen.” <sup>34</sup>Laban said, “Good! Let it be as you have said.” <sup>35</sup>But that day Laban removed the male goats that were striped and spotted, and all the female goats that were speckled and spotted, every one that had white on it, and every lamb that was black, and put them in the charge of his sons. <sup>36</sup>And he set a distance of three days' journey between himself and Jacob, and Jacob pastured the rest of Laban's flock.

<sup>37</sup>†Then Jacob took fresh sticks of poplar and almond and plane trees, and peeled white streaks in them, exposing the white of the sticks. <sup>38</sup>He set the sticks that he had peeled in front of the flocks in the troughs, that is, the watering places, where the flocks came to drink. And since they bred when they came to drink, <sup>39</sup>the flocks bred in front of the sticks and so the flocks brought forth striped, speckled, and spotted. <sup>40</sup>And Jacob separated the lambs and set the faces of the flocks toward the striped and all the black in the flock of Laban. He put his own droves apart and did not put them with Laban's flock. <sup>41</sup>Whenever the stronger of the flock were breeding, Jacob would lay the sticks in the troughs before the eyes of the flock, that they might breed among the sticks, <sup>42</sup>but for the feebler of the flock he would not lay them there. So the feebler would be Laban's, and the stronger Jacob's. <sup>43</sup>Thus the man increased greatly and had large flocks, female servants and male servants, and camels and donkeys.

Jacob Flees from Laban

GENESIS 31 †Now Jacob heard that the sons of Laban were saying, “Jacob has taken all that was our father's, and from what was our father's he has gained all this wealth.” <sup>2</sup>And Jacob saw that Laban did not regard him with favor as before. <sup>3</sup>†Then the LORD said to Jacob, “Return to the land of your fathers and to your kindred, and I will be with you.”

<sup>4</sup>†So Jacob sent and called Rachel and Leah into the field where his flock was <sup>5</sup>†and said to them, “I see that your father does not regard me with favor as he did before. But the God of my father has been with me. <sup>6</sup>†You know that I have served your father with all my strength, <sup>7</sup>yet your father has cheated me and changed my wages ten times. But God did not permit him to harm me. <sup>8</sup>If he said, ‘The spotted shall be your wages,’ then all the flock bore spotted; and if he said, ‘The striped shall be your wages,’ then all the flock bore striped. <sup>9</sup>Thus God has taken away the livestock of your father and given them to me. <sup>10</sup>†In the breeding season of the flock I lifted up my eyes and saw in a dream that the goats that mated with the flock were striped, spotted, and mottled. <sup>11</sup>†Then the angel of God said to me in the dream, ‘Jacob,’ and I said, ‘Here I am!’ <sup>12</sup>And he said, ‘Lift up your eyes and see, all the goats that mate with the flock are striped, spotted, and mottled, for I have seen all that Laban is doing to you. <sup>13</sup>†I am the God of Bethel, where you anointed a pillar and made a vow to me. Now arise, go out from this land and return to the land of your kindred.’” <sup>14</sup>†Then Rachel and Leah answered and said to him, “Is there any portion or inheritance left to us in our father's house? <sup>15</sup>Are we not regarded by him as foreigners? For he has sold us, and he has indeed devoured our money. <sup>16</sup>All the wealth that God has taken away from our father belongs to us and to our children. Now then, whatever God has said to you, do.”

kinsmen with him and pursued him for seven days and followed close after him into the hill country of Gilead. <sup>24</sup>‡But God came to Laban the Aramean in a dream by night and said to him, “Be careful not to say anything to Jacob, either good or bad.”

<sup>25</sup>And Laban overtook Jacob. Now Jacob had pitched his tent in the hill country, and Laban with his kinsmen pitched tents in the hill country of Gilead. <sup>26</sup>‡And Laban said to Jacob, “What have you done, that you have tricked me and driven away my daughters like captives of the sword? <sup>27</sup>‡Why did you flee secretly and trick me, and did not tell me, so that I might have sent you away with mirth and songs, with tambourine and lyre? <sup>28</sup>And why did you not permit me to kiss my sons and my daughters farewell? Now you have done foolishly. <sup>29</sup>It is in my power to do you harm. But the God of your [2] father spoke to me last night, saying, ‘Be careful not to say anything to Jacob, either good or bad.’ <sup>30</sup>‡And now you have gone away because you longed greatly for your father's house, but why did you steal my gods?” <sup>31</sup>‡Jacob answered and said to Laban, “Because I was afraid, for I thought that you would take your daughters from me by force.

<sup>32</sup>Anyone with whom you find your gods shall not live. In the presence of our kinsmen point out what I have that is yours, and take it.” Now Jacob did not know that Rachel had stolen them.

<sup>33</sup>So Laban went into Jacob's tent and into Leah's tent and into the tent of the two female servants, but he did not find them. And he went out of Leah's tent and entered Rachel's. <sup>34</sup>‡Now Rachel had taken the household gods and put them in the camel's saddle and sat on them. Laban felt all about the tent, but did not find them. <sup>35</sup>‡And she said to her father, “Let not my lord be angry that I cannot rise before you, for the way of women is upon me.” So he searched but did not find the household gods.

<sup>36</sup>Then Jacob became angry and berated Laban. Jacob said to Laban, “What is my offense? What is my sin, that you have hotly pursued me? <sup>37</sup>‡For you have felt through all my goods; what have you found of all your household goods? Set it here before my kinsmen and your kinsmen, that they may decide between us two. <sup>38</sup>‡These twenty years I have been with you. Your ewes and your female goats have not miscarried, and I have not eaten the rams of your flocks. <sup>39</sup>What was torn by wild beasts I did not bring to you. I bore the loss of it myself. From my hand you required it, whether stolen by day or stolen by night. <sup>40</sup>There I was: by day the heat consumed me, and the cold by night, and my sleep fled from my eyes. <sup>41</sup>These twenty years I have been in your house. I served you fourteen years for your two daughters, and six years for your flock, and you have changed my wages ten times. <sup>42</sup>‡If the God of my father, the God of Abraham and the Fear of Isaac, had not been on my side, surely now you would have sent me away empty-handed. God saw my affliction and the labor of my hands and rebuked you last night.”

<sup>43</sup>‡Then Laban answered and said to Jacob, “The daughters are my daughters, the children are my children, the flocks are my flocks, and all that you see is mine. But what can I do this day for these my daughters or for their children whom they have borne? <sup>44</sup>‡Come now, let us make a covenant, you and I. And let it be a witness between you and me.” <sup>45</sup>So Jacob took a stone and set it up as a pillar. <sup>46</sup>And Jacob said to his kinsmen, “Gather stones.” And they took stones and made a heap, and they ate there by the heap. <sup>47</sup>‡Laban called it Jegar-sahadutha, [3] but Jacob called it Galeed. [4] <sup>48</sup>Laban said, “This heap is a witness between you and me today.” Therefore he named it Galeed, <sup>49</sup>and Mizpah, [5] for he said, “The LORD watch between you and me, when we are out of one another's sight. <sup>50</sup>If you oppress my daughters, or if you take wives besides my daughters, although no one is with us, see, God is witness between you and me.”

<sup>51</sup>Then Laban said to Jacob, “See this heap and the pillar, which I have set between you and me. <sup>52</sup>This heap is a witness, and the pillar is a witness, that I will not pass over this heap to you, and you will not pass over this heap and this pillar to me, to do harm. <sup>53</sup>‡The God of Abraham and the God of Nahor, the God of their father, judge between us.” So Jacob swore by the Fear of his father Isaac, <sup>54</sup>and Jacob offered a sacrifice in the hill country and called his kinsmen to eat bread. They ate bread and spent the night in the hill country.

<sup>55</sup> [6] Early in the morning Laban arose and kissed his grandchildren and his daughters and blessed them. Then Laban departed and returned home.

Jacob Fears Esau

GENESIS 32 †Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him. <sup>2</sup>†And when Jacob saw them he said, “This is God's camp!” So he called the name of that place Mahanaim. [\[1\]](#)

<sup>3</sup>†And Jacob sent [\[2\]](#) messengers before him to Esau his brother in the land of Seir, the country of Edom, <sup>4</sup>instructing them, “Thus you shall say to my lord Esau: Thus says your servant Jacob, ‘I have sojourned with Laban and stayed until now. <sup>5</sup>I have oxen, donkeys, flocks, male servants, and female servants. I have sent to tell my lord, in order that I may find favor in your sight.’”

<sup>6</sup>And the messengers returned to Jacob, saying, “We came to your brother Esau, and he is coming to meet you, and there are four hundred men with him.” <sup>7</sup>†Then Jacob was greatly afraid and distressed. He divided the people who were with him, and the flocks and herds and camels, into two camps, <sup>8</sup>thinking, “If Esau comes to the one camp and attacks it, then the camp that is left will escape.”

<sup>9</sup>†And Jacob said, “O God of my father Abraham and God of my father Isaac, O LORD who said to me, ‘Return to your country and to your kindred, that I may do you good,’ <sup>10</sup>I am not worthy of the least of all the deeds of steadfast love and all the faithfulness that you have shown to your servant, for with only my staff I crossed this Jordan, and now I have become two camps. <sup>11</sup>Please deliver me from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Esau, for I fear him, that he may come and attack me, the mothers with the children. <sup>12</sup>But you said, ‘I will surely do you good, and make your offspring as the sand of the sea, which cannot be numbered for multitude.’”

the third and all who followed the droves, “You shall say the same thing to Esau when you find him, <sup>20</sup>and you shall say, ‘Moreover, your servant Jacob is behind us.’” For he thought, “I may appease him [3] with the present that goes ahead of me, and afterward I shall see his face. Perhaps he will accept me.” [4] <sup>21</sup>So the present passed on ahead of him, and he himself stayed that night in the camp.

Jacob Wrestles with God

<sup>22</sup>†† The same night he arose and took his two wives, his two female servants, and his eleven children, [5] and crossed the ford of the Jabbok. <sup>23</sup>He took them and sent them across the stream, and everything else that he had. <sup>24</sup>† And Jacob was left alone. And a man wrestled with him until the breaking of the day. <sup>25</sup>When the man saw that he did not prevail against Jacob, he touched his hip socket, and Jacob's hip was put out of joint as he wrestled with him. <sup>26</sup>Then he said, “Let me go, for the day has broken.” But Jacob said, “I will not let you go unless you bless me.” <sup>27</sup>And he said to him, “What is your name?” And he said, “Jacob.” <sup>28</sup>† Then he said, “Your name shall no longer be called Jacob, but Israel, [6] for you have striven with God and with men, and have prevailed.” <sup>29</sup>Then Jacob asked him, “Please tell me your name.” But he said, “Why is it that you ask my name?” And there he blessed him. <sup>30</sup>† So Jacob called the name of the place Peniel, [7] saying, “For I have seen God face to face, and yet my life has been delivered.” <sup>31</sup>The sun rose upon him as he passed Penuel, limping because of his hip. <sup>32</sup>† Therefore to this day the people of Israel do not eat the sinew of the thigh that is on the hip socket, because he touched the socket of Jacob's hip on the sinew of the thigh.

Jacob Meets Esau

GENESIS 33 †And Jacob lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, Esau was coming, and four hundred men with him. So he divided the children among Leah and Rachel and the two female servants. <sup>2</sup>And he put the servants with their children in front, then Leah with her children, and Rachel and Joseph last of all. <sup>3</sup>†He himself went on before them, bowing himself to the ground seven times, until he came near to his brother.

<sup>4</sup>But Esau ran to meet him and embraced him and fell on his neck and kissed him, and they wept. <sup>5</sup>†And when Esau lifted up his eyes and saw the women and children, he said, “Who are these with you?” Jacob said, “The children whom God has graciously given your servant.” <sup>6</sup>Then the servants drew near, they and their children, and bowed down. <sup>7</sup>Leah likewise and her children drew near and bowed down. And last Joseph and Rachel drew near, and they bowed down. <sup>8</sup>Esau said, “What do you mean by all this company [1] that I met?” Jacob answered, “To find favor in the sight of my lord.” <sup>9</sup>But Esau said, “I have enough, my brother; keep what you have for yourself.” <sup>10</sup>†Jacob said, “No, please, if I have found favor in your sight, then accept my present from my hand. For I have seen your face, which is like seeing the face of God, and you have accepted me. <sup>11</sup>Please accept my blessing that is brought to you, because God has dealt graciously with me, and because I have enough.” Thus he urged him, and he took it.

<sup>13</sup>But Jacob said to him, “My lord knows that the children are frail, and that the nursing flocks and herds are a care to me. If they are driven hard for one day, all the flocks will die. <sup>14</sup>Let my lord pass on ahead of his servant, and I will lead on slowly, at the pace of the livestock that are ahead of me and at the pace of the children, until I come to my lord in Seir.”

<sup>15</sup>†So Esau said, “Let me leave with you some of the people who are with me.” But he said, “What need is there? Let me find favor in the sight of my lord.”

<sup>18</sup>†And Jacob came safely [4] to the city of Shechem, which is in the land of Canaan, on his way from Paddan-aram, and he camped before the city. <sup>19</sup>†And from the sons of Hamor, Shechem's father, he bought for a hundred pieces of money [5] the piece of land on which he had pitched his tent. <sup>20</sup>†There he erected an altar and called it El-Elohe-Israel. [6]

The Defiling of Dinah

GENESIS 34 †† Now Dinah the daughter of Leah, whom she had borne to Jacob, went out to see the women of the land. † And when Shechem the son of Hamor the Hivite, the prince of the land, saw her, he seized her and lay with her and humiliated her. † And his soul was drawn to Dinah the daughter of Jacob. He loved the young woman and spoke tenderly to her. † So Shechem spoke to his father Hamor, saying, “Get me this girl for my wife.”

† Now Jacob heard that he had defiled his daughter Dinah. But his sons were with his livestock in the field, so Jacob held his peace until they came. † And Hamor the father of Shechem went out to Jacob to speak with him. † The sons of Jacob had come in from the field as soon as they heard of it, and the men were indignant and very angry, because he had done an outrageous thing in Israel by lying with Jacob's daughter, for such a thing must not be done.

† But Hamor spoke with them, saying, “The soul of my son Shechem longs for your [1] daughter. Please give her to him to be his wife. † Make marriages with us. Give your daughters to us, and take our daughters for yourselves. † You shall dwell with us, and the land shall be open to you. Dwell and trade in it, and get property in it.” † Shechem also said to her father and to her brothers, “Let me find favor in your eyes, and whatever you say to me I will give. † Ask me for as great a bride price [2] and gift as you will, and I will give whatever you say to me. Only give me the young woman to be my wife.”

† The sons of Jacob answered Shechem and his father Hamor deceitfully, because he had defiled their sister Dinah. † They said to them, “We cannot do this thing, to give our sister to one who is uncircumcised, for that would be a disgrace to us. † Only on this condition will we agree with you—that you will become as we are by every male among you being circumcised. † Then we will give our daughters to you, and we will take your daughters to ourselves, and we will dwell with you and become one people. † But if you will not listen to us and be circumcised, then we will take our daughter, and we will be gone.”

† Their words pleased Hamor and Hamor's son Shechem. † And the young man did not delay to do the thing, because he delighted in Jacob's daughter. Now he was the most honored of all his father's house. † So Hamor and his son Shechem came to the gate of their city and spoke to the men of their city, saying,

<sup>21</sup>“These men are at peace with us; let them dwell in the land and trade in it, for behold, the land is large enough for them. Let us take their daughters as wives, and let us give them our daughters. <sup>22</sup>Only on this condition will the men agree to dwell with us to become one people—when every male among us is circumcised as they are circumcised. <sup>23</sup>Will not their livestock, their property and all their beasts be ours? Only let us agree with them, and they will dwell with us.” <sup>24</sup>And all who went out of the gate of his city listened to Hamor and his son Shechem, and every male was circumcised, all who went out of the gate of his city.

<sup>25</sup>‡ On the third day, when they were sore, two of the sons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, Dinah's brothers, took their swords and came against the city while it felt secure and killed all the males. <sup>26</sup>They killed Hamor and his son Shechem with the sword and took Dinah out of Shechem's house and went away. <sup>27</sup>‡ The sons of Jacob came upon the slain and plundered the city, because they had defiled their sister. <sup>28</sup>They took their flocks and their herds, their donkeys, and whatever was in the city and in the field. <sup>29</sup>All their wealth, all their little ones and their wives, all that was in the houses, they captured and plundered.

<sup>30</sup>‡ Then Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, “You have brought trouble on me by making me stink to the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites and the Perizzites. My numbers are few, and if they gather themselves against me and attack me, I shall be destroyed, both I and my household.” <sup>31</sup>But they said, “Should he treat our sister like a prostitute?”

God Blesses and Renames Jacob

GENESIS 35 †God said to Jacob, “Arise, go up to Bethel and dwell there. Make an altar there to the God who appeared to you when you fled from your brother Esau.” †So Jacob said to his household and to all who were with him, “Put away the foreign gods that are among you and purify yourselves and change your garments. †Then let us arise and go up to Bethel, so that I may make there an altar to the God who answers me in the day of my distress and has been with me wherever I have gone.” †So they gave to Jacob all the foreign gods that they had, and the rings that were in their ears. Jacob hid them under the terebinth tree that was near Shechem.

†And as they journeyed, a terror from God fell upon the cities that were around them, so that they did not pursue the sons of Jacob. †And Jacob came to Luz (that is, Bethel), which is in the land of Canaan, he and all the people who were with him, †and there he built an altar and called the place El-bethel, [1] because there God had revealed himself to him when he fled from his brother. †And Deborah, Rebekah's nurse, died, and she was buried under an oak below Bethel. So he called its name Allon-bacuth. [2]

†God appeared [3] to Jacob again, when he came from Paddan-aram, and blessed him. †And God said to him, “Your name is Jacob; no longer shall your name be called Jacob, but Israel shall be your name.” So he called his name Israel. †And God said to him, “I am God Almighty: [4] be fruitful and multiply. A nation and a company of nations shall come from you, and kings shall come from your own body. [5] †The land that I gave to Abraham and Isaac I will give to you, and I will give the land to your offspring after you.” †Then God went up from him in the place where he had spoken with him. †And Jacob set up a pillar in the place where he had spoken with him, a pillar of stone. He poured out a drink offering on it and poured oil on it. †So Jacob called the name of the place where God had spoken with him Bethel.

The Deaths of Rachel and Isaac

†Then they journeyed from Bethel. When they were still some distance [6] from Ephrath, Rachel went into labor, and she had hard labor. †And when her labor was at its hardest, the midwife said to her, “Do not fear, for you have another son.” †And as her soul was departing (for she was dying), she called his name Ben-oni; [7] but his father called him Benjamin. [8] <sup>19</sup>So Rachel died, and she was buried on the way to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem), <sup>20</sup>†and Jacob set up a pillar over her tomb. It is the pillar of Rachel's tomb, which is there to this day. <sup>21</sup>†Israel journeyed on and pitched his tent beyond the tower of Eder.

Now the sons of Jacob were twelve. <sup>23</sup>The sons of Leah: Reuben (Jacob's firstborn), Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun. <sup>24</sup>The sons of Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin. <sup>25</sup>The sons of Bilhah, Rachel's servant: Dan and Naphtali. <sup>26</sup>The sons of Zilpah, Leah's servant: Gad and Asher. These were the sons of Jacob who were born to him in Paddan-aram.

<sup>27</sup>†And Jacob came to his father Isaac at Mamre, or Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron), where Abraham and Isaac had sojourned. <sup>28</sup>Now the days of Isaac were 180 years. <sup>29</sup>†And Isaac breathed his last, and he died and was gathered to his people, old and full of days. And his sons Esau and Jacob buried him.

Esau's Descendants

Joseph's Dreams

Joseph, being seventeen years old, was pasturing the flock with his brothers. He was a boy with the sons of Bilhah and Zilpah, his father's wives. And Joseph brought a bad report of them to their father. <sup>3</sup>††Now Israel loved Joseph more than any other of his sons, because he was the son of his old age. And he made him a robe of many colors. [1] <sup>4</sup>But when his brothers saw that their father loved him more than all his brothers, they hated him and could not speak peacefully to him.

<sup>5</sup>††Now Joseph had a dream, and when he told it to his brothers they hated him even more. <sup>6</sup>He said to them, “Hear this dream that I have dreamed: <sup>7</sup>Behold, we were binding sheaves in the field, and behold, my sheaf arose and stood upright. And behold, your sheaves gathered around it and bowed down to my sheaf.” <sup>8</sup>His brothers said to him, “Are you indeed to reign over us? Or are you indeed to rule over us?” So they hated him even more for his dreams and for his words.

<sup>9</sup>Then he dreamed another dream and told it to his brothers and said, “Behold, I have dreamed another dream. Behold, the sun, the moon, and eleven stars were bowing down to me.” <sup>10</sup>But when he told it to his father and to his brothers, his father rebuked him and said to him, “What is this dream that you have dreamed? Shall I and your mother and your brothers indeed come to bow ourselves to the ground before you?” <sup>11</sup>†And his brothers were jealous of him, but his father kept the saying in mind.

Joseph Sold by His Brothers

<sup>12</sup>††Now his brothers went to pasture their father's flock near Shechem. <sup>13</sup>And Israel said to Joseph, “Are not your brothers pasturing the flock at Shechem? Come, I will send you to them.” And he said to him, “Here I am.” <sup>14</sup>So he said to him, “Go now, see if it is well with your brothers and with the flock, and bring me word.” So he sent him from the Valley of Hebron, and he came to Shechem. <sup>15</sup>And a man found him wandering in the fields. And the man asked him, “What are you seeking?” <sup>16</sup>“I am seeking my brothers,” he said. “Tell me, please, where they are pasturing the flock.” <sup>17</sup>†And the man said, “They have gone away, for I heard them say, ‘Let us go to Dothan.’” So Joseph went after his brothers and found them at Dothan.

<sup>18</sup>†They saw him from afar, and before he came near to them they conspired against him to kill him. <sup>19</sup>They said to one another, “Here comes this dreamer. <sup>20</sup>Come now, let us kill him and throw him into one of the pits. [2] Then we will say that a fierce animal has devoured him, and we will see what will become of his dreams.” <sup>21</sup>But when Reuben heard it, he rescued him out of their hands, saying, “Let us not take his life.” <sup>22</sup>And Reuben said to them, “Shed no blood; throw him into this pit here in the wilderness, but do not lay a hand on him”—that he might rescue him out of their hand to restore him to his father. <sup>23</sup>So when Joseph came to his brothers, they stripped him of his robe, the robe of many colors that he wore. <sup>24</sup>And they took him and threw him into a pit. The pit was empty; there was no water in it.

<sup>25</sup>†Then they sat down to eat. And looking up they saw a caravan of Ishmaelites coming from Gilead, with their camels bearing gum, balm, and myrrh, on their way to carry it down to Egypt. <sup>26</sup>Then Judah said to his brothers, “What profit is it if we kill our brother and conceal his blood? <sup>27</sup>†Come, let us sell him to the Ishmaelites, and let not our hand be upon him, for he is our brother, our own flesh.” And his brothers listened to him. <sup>28</sup>†Then Midianite traders passed by. And they drew Joseph up and lifted him out of the pit, and sold him to the Ishmaelites for twenty shekels [3] of silver. They took Joseph to Egypt.

<sup>29</sup>†When Reuben returned to the pit and saw that Joseph was not in the pit, he tore his clothes <sup>30</sup>and returned to his brothers and said, “The boy is gone, and I, where shall I go?” <sup>31</sup>†Then they took Joseph's robe and slaughtered a goat and dipped the robe in the blood. <sup>32</sup>And they sent the robe of many colors and brought it to their father and said, “This we have found; please identify whether it is your son's robe or not.” <sup>33</sup>And he identified it and said, “It is my son's robe. A fierce animal has devoured him. Joseph is without doubt torn to pieces.” <sup>34</sup>Then Jacob tore his garments and put sackcloth on his loins and mourned for his son many days. <sup>35</sup>†All his sons and all his daughters rose up to comfort him, but he refused to be comforted and said, “No, I shall go down to Sheol to my son, mourning.” Thus his father wept for him. <sup>36</sup>†Meanwhile the Midianites had sold him in Egypt to Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh, the captain of the guard.

Judah and Tamar

GENESIS 38 †It happened at that time that Judah went down from his brothers and turned aside to a certain Adullamite, whose name was Hirah. †There Judah saw the daughter of a certain Canaanite whose name was Shua. He took her and went in to her, †and she conceived and bore a son, and he called his name Er. †She conceived again and bore a son, and she called his name Onan. †Yet again she bore a son, and she called his name Shelah. Judah [1] was in Chezib when she bore him.

†And Judah took a wife for Er his firstborn, and her name was Tamar. †But Er, Judah's firstborn, was wicked in the sight of the LORD, and the LORD put him to death. †Then Judah said to Onan, “Go in to your brother's wife and perform the duty of a brother-in-law to her, and raise up offspring for your brother.” †But Onan knew that the offspring would not be his. So whenever he went in to his brother's wife he would waste the semen on the ground, so as not to give offspring to his brother. †And what he did was wicked in the sight of the LORD, and he put him to death also. †Then Judah said to Tamar his daughter-in-law, “Remain a widow in your father's house, till Shelah my son grows up”—for he feared that he would die, like his brothers. So Tamar went and remained in her father's house.

†In the course of time the wife of Judah, Shua's daughter, died. When Judah was comforted, he went up to Timnah to his sheepshearers, he and his friend Hirah the Adullamite. †And when Tamar was told, “Your father-in-law is going up to Timnah to shear his sheep,” †she took off her widow's garments and covered herself with a veil, wrapping herself up, and sat at the entrance to Enaim, which is on the road to Timnah. For she saw that Shelah was grown up, and she had not been given to him in marriage. †When Judah saw her, he thought she was a prostitute, for she had covered her face. †He turned to her at the roadside and said, “Come, let me come in to you,” for he did not know that she was his daughter-in-law. She said, “What will you give me, that you may come in to me?” †He answered, “I will send you a young goat from the flock.” And she said, “If you give me a pledge, until you send it—” †He said, “What pledge shall I give you?” She replied, “Your signet and your cord and your staff that is in your hand.” So he gave them to her and went in to her, and she conceived by him. †Then she arose and went away, and taking off her veil she put on the garments of her widowhood.

<sup>24</sup>† About three months later Judah was told, "Tamar your daughter-in-law has been immoral. [3] Moreover, she is pregnant by immorality." [4] And Judah said, "Bring her out, and let her be burned." <sup>25</sup>As she was being brought out, she sent word to her father-in-law, "By the man to whom these belong, I am pregnant." And she said, "Please identify whose these are, the signet and the cord and the staff." <sup>26</sup>† Then Judah identified them and said, "She is more righteous than I, since I did not give her to my son Shelah." And he did not know her again.

<sup>27</sup>When the time of her labor came, there were twins in her womb. <sup>28</sup>And when she was in labor, one put out a hand, and the midwife took and tied a scarlet thread on his hand, saying, "This one came out first." <sup>29</sup>† But as he drew back his hand, behold, his brother came out. And she said, "What a breach you have made for yourself!" Therefore his name was called Perez. [5] <sup>30</sup>Afterward his brother came out with the scarlet thread on his hand, and his name was called Zerah.

Joseph and Potiphar's Wife

GENESIS 39 †Now Joseph had been brought down to Egypt, and Potiphar, an officer of Pharaoh, the captain of the guard, an Egyptian, had bought him from the Ishmaelites who had brought him down there. ††The LORD was with Joseph, and he became a successful man, and he was in the house of his Egyptian master. †His master saw that the LORD was with him and that the LORD caused all that he did to succeed in his hands. †So Joseph found favor in his sight and attended him, and he made him overseer of his house and put him in charge of all that he had. ††From the time that he made him overseer in his house and over all that he had the LORD blessed the Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake; the blessing of the LORD was on all that he had, in house and field. ††So he left all that he had in Joseph's charge, and because of him he had no concern about anything but the food he ate.

Now Joseph was handsome in form and appearance. †And after a time his master's wife cast her eyes on Joseph and said, "Lie with me." †But he refused and said to his master's wife, "Behold, because of me my master has no concern about anything in the house, and he has put everything that he has in my charge. †He is not greater in this house than I am, nor has he kept back anything from me except yourself, because you are his wife. How then can I do this great wickedness and sin against God?" ††And as she spoke to Joseph day after day, he would not listen to her, to lie beside her or to be with her.

†But one day, when he went into the house to do his work and none of the men of the house was there in the house, ††she caught him by his garment, saying, "Lie with me." But he left his garment in her hand and fled and got out of the house. †And as soon as she saw that he had left his garment in her hand and had fled out of the house, †she called to the men of her household and said to them, "See, he has brought among us a Hebrew to laugh at us. He came in to me to lie with me, and I cried out with a loud voice. †And as soon as he heard that I lifted up my voice and cried out, he left his garment beside me and fled and got out of the house." †Then she laid up his garment by her until his master came home, ††and she told him the same story, saying, "The Hebrew servant, whom you have brought among us, came in to me to laugh at me. †But as soon as I lifted up my voice and cried, he left his garment beside me and fled out of the house."

††As soon as his master heard the words that his wife spoke to him, "This is the way your servant treated me,” his anger was kindled. <sup>20</sup>And Joseph's master took him and put him into the prison, the place where the king's prisoners were confined, and he was there in prison. <sup>21</sup>‡But the LORD was with Joseph and showed him steadfast love and gave him favor in the sight of the keeper of the prison. <sup>22</sup>‡And the keeper of the prison put Joseph in charge of all the prisoners who were in the prison. Whatever was done there, he was the one who did it. <sup>23</sup>The keeper of the prison paid no attention to anything that was in Joseph's charge, because the LORD was with him. And whatever he did, the LORD made it succeed.

Joseph Interprets Two Prisoners' Dreams

GENESIS 40 †Some time after this, the cupbearer of the king of Egypt and his baker committed an offense against their lord the king of Egypt. †And Pharaoh was angry with his two officers, the chief cupbearer and the chief baker, †and he put them in custody in the house of the captain of the guard, in the prison where Joseph was confined. †The captain of the guard appointed Joseph to be with them, and he attended them. They continued for some time in custody.

†And one night they both dreamed—the cupbearer and the baker of the king of Egypt, who were confined in the prison—each his own dream, and each dream with its own interpretation. †When Joseph came to them in the morning, he saw that they were troubled. †So he asked Pharaoh's officers who were with him in custody in his master's house, “Why are your faces downcast today?” †They said to him, “We have had dreams, and there is no one to interpret them.” And Joseph said to them, “Do not interpretations belong to God? Please tell them to me.”

†So the chief cupbearer told his dream to Joseph and said to him, “In my dream there was a vine before me, †and on the vine there were three branches. As soon as it budded, its blossoms shot forth, and the clusters ripened into grapes. †Pharaoh's cup was in my hand, and I took the grapes and pressed them into Pharaoh's cup and placed the cup in Pharaoh's hand.” †Then Joseph said to him, “This is its interpretation: the three branches are three days. †In three days Pharaoh will lift up your head and restore you to your office, and you shall place Pharaoh's cup in his hand as formerly, when you were his cupbearer. †Only remember me, when it is well with you, and please do me the kindness to mention me to Pharaoh, and so get me out of this house. †For I was indeed stolen out of the land of the Hebrews, and here also I have done nothing that they should put me into the pit.”

†When the chief baker saw that the interpretation was favorable, he said to Joseph, “I also had a dream: there were three cake baskets on my head, †and in the uppermost basket there were all sorts of baked food for Pharaoh, but the birds were eating it out of the basket on my head.” †And Joseph answered and said, “This is its interpretation: the three baskets are three days. †In three days Pharaoh will lift up your head—from you!—and hang you on a tree. And the birds will eat the flesh from you.”

Joseph Interprets Pharaoh's Dreams

GENESIS 41 †After two whole years, Pharaoh dreamed that he was standing by the Nile, <sup>2</sup>and behold, there came up out of the Nile seven cows attractive and plump, and they fed in the reed grass. <sup>3</sup>And behold, seven other cows, ugly and thin, came up out of the Nile after them, and stood by the other cows on the bank of the Nile. <sup>4</sup>And the ugly, thin cows ate up the seven attractive, plump cows. And Pharaoh awoke. <sup>5</sup>And he fell asleep and dreamed a second time. And behold, seven ears of grain, plump and good, were growing on one stalk. <sup>6</sup>And behold, after them sprouted seven ears, thin and blighted by the east wind. <sup>7</sup>And the thin ears swallowed up the seven plump, full ears. And Pharaoh awoke, and behold, it was a dream. <sup>8</sup>†So in the morning his spirit was troubled, and he sent and called for all the magicians of Egypt and all its wise men. Pharaoh told them his dreams, but there was none who could interpret them to Pharaoh.

<sup>9</sup>†Then the chief cupbearer said to Pharaoh, “I remember my offenses today. <sup>10</sup>When Pharaoh was angry with his servants and put me and the chief baker in custody in the house of the captain of the guard, <sup>11</sup>we dreamed on the same night, he and I, each having a dream with its own interpretation. <sup>12</sup>A young Hebrew was there with us, a servant of the captain of the guard. When we told him, he interpreted our dreams to us, giving an interpretation to each man according to his dream. <sup>13</sup>And as he interpreted to us, so it came about. I was restored to my office, and the baker was hanged.”

<sup>14</sup>†Then Pharaoh sent and called Joseph, and they quickly brought him out of the pit. And when he had shaved himself and changed his clothes, he came in before Pharaoh. <sup>15</sup>And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “I have had a dream, and there is no one who can interpret it. I have heard it said of you that when you hear a dream you can interpret it.” <sup>16</sup>†Joseph answered Pharaoh, “It is not in me; God will give Pharaoh a favorable answer.” [1] <sup>17</sup>Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Behold, in my dream I was standing on the banks of the Nile. <sup>18</sup>Seven cows, plump and attractive, came up out of the Nile and fed in the reed grass. <sup>19</sup>Seven other cows came up after them, poor and very ugly and thin, such as I had never seen in all the land of Egypt. <sup>20</sup>And the thin, ugly cows ate up the first seven plump cows, <sup>21</sup>but when they had eaten them no one would have known that they had eaten them, for they were still as ugly as at the beginning. Then I awoke. <sup>22</sup>I also saw in my dream seven ears growing on one stalk, full and good. <sup>23</sup>Seven ears, withered, thin, and blighted by the east wind, sprouted after them, <sup>24</sup>and the thin ears swallowed up the seven good ears. And I told it to the magicians, but there was no one who could explain it to me.”

<sup>25</sup>† Then Joseph said to Pharaoh, “The dreams of Pharaoh are one; God has revealed to Pharaoh what he is about to do. <sup>26</sup>The seven good cows are seven years, and the seven good ears are seven years; the dreams are one. <sup>27</sup>The seven lean and ugly cows that came up after them are seven years, and the seven empty ears blighted by the east wind are also seven years of famine. <sup>28</sup>It is as I told Pharaoh; God has shown to Pharaoh what he is about to do. <sup>29</sup>There will come seven years of great plenty throughout all the land of Egypt, <sup>30</sup>but after them there will arise seven years of famine, and all the plenty will be forgotten in the land of Egypt. The famine will consume the land, <sup>31</sup>and the plenty will be unknown in the land by reason of the famine that will follow, for it will be very severe. <sup>32</sup>And the doubling of Pharaoh's dream means that the thing is fixed by God, and God will shortly bring it about. <sup>33</sup>† Now therefore let Pharaoh select a discerning and wise man, and set him over the land of Egypt. <sup>34</sup>Let Pharaoh proceed to appoint overseers over the land and take one-fifth of the produce of the land [2] of Egypt during the seven plentiful years. <sup>35</sup>And let them gather all the food of these good years that are coming and store up grain under the authority of Pharaoh for food in the cities, and let them keep it. <sup>36</sup>That food shall be a reserve for the land against the seven years of famine that are to occur in the land of Egypt, so that the land may not perish through the famine.”

Joseph Rises to Power

<sup>37</sup>† This proposal pleased Pharaoh and all his servants. <sup>38</sup>† And Pharaoh said to his servants, “Can we find a man like this, in whom is the Spirit of God?” [3] <sup>39</sup>Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Since God has shown you all this, there is none so discerning and wise as you are. <sup>40</sup>You shall be over my house, and all my people shall order themselves as you command. [4] Only as regards the throne will I be greater than you.” <sup>41</sup>† And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “See, I have set you over all the land of Egypt.” <sup>42</sup>† Then Pharaoh took his signet ring from his hand and put it on Joseph's hand, and clothed him in garments of fine linen and put a gold chain about his neck. <sup>43</sup>† And he made him ride in his second chariot. And they called out before him, “Bow the knee!” [5] Thus he set him over all the land of Egypt. <sup>44</sup>Moreover, Pharaoh said to Joseph, “I am Pharaoh, and without your consent no one shall lift up hand or foot in all the land of Egypt.” <sup>45</sup>† And Pharaoh called Joseph's name Zaphenath-paneah. And he gave him in marriage Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera priest of On. So Joseph went out over the land of Egypt.

<sup>50</sup>‡ Before the year of famine came, two sons were born to Joseph. Asenath, the daughter of Potiphara priest of On, bore them to him. <sup>51</sup>‡ Joseph called the name of the firstborn Manasseh. “For,” he said, “God has made me forget all my hardship and all my father's house.” [6] <sup>52</sup>The name of the second he called Ephraim, “For God has made me fruitful in the land of my affliction.” [7]

<sup>53</sup>The seven years of plenty that occurred in the land of Egypt came to an end, <sup>54</sup>‡ and the seven years of famine began to come, as Joseph had said. There was famine in all lands, but in all the land of Egypt there was bread. <sup>55</sup>‡ When all the land of Egypt was famished, the people cried to Pharaoh for bread. Pharaoh said to all the Egyptians, “Go to Joseph. What he says to you, do.”

<sup>56</sup>So when the famine had spread over all the land, Joseph opened all the storehouses [8] and sold to the Egyptians, for the famine was severe in the land of Egypt. <sup>57</sup>Moreover, all the earth came to Egypt to Joseph to buy grain, because the famine was severe over all the earth.

Joseph's Brothers Go to Egypt

GENESIS 42 †When Jacob learned that there was grain for sale in Egypt, he said to his sons, “Why do you look at one another?” <sup>2</sup>And he said, “Behold, I have heard that there is grain for sale in Egypt. Go down and buy grain for us there, that we may live and not die.” <sup>3</sup>So ten of Joseph's brothers went down to buy grain in Egypt. <sup>4</sup>†But Jacob did not send Benjamin, Joseph's brother, with his brothers, for he feared that harm might happen to him. <sup>5</sup>Thus the sons of Israel came to buy among the others who came, for the famine was in the land of Canaan.

<sup>6</sup>†Now Joseph was governor over the land. He was the one who sold to all the people of the land. And Joseph's brothers came and bowed themselves before him with their faces to the ground. <sup>7</sup>Joseph saw his brothers and recognized them, but he treated them like strangers and spoke roughly to them. “Where do you come from?” he said. They said, “From the land of Canaan, to buy food.” <sup>8</sup>And Joseph recognized his brothers, but they did not recognize him. <sup>9</sup>††And Joseph remembered the dreams that he had dreamed of them. And he said to them, “You are spies; you have come to see the nakedness of the land.” <sup>10</sup>They said to him, “No, my lord, your servants have come to buy food. <sup>11</sup>We are all sons of one man. We are honest men. Your servants have never been spies.”

<sup>12</sup>He said to them, “No, it is the nakedness of the land that you have come to see.” <sup>13</sup>And they said, “We, your servants, are twelve brothers, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan, and behold, the youngest is this day with our father, and one is no more.” <sup>14</sup>But Joseph said to them, “It is as I said to you. You are spies. <sup>15</sup>†By this you shall be tested: by the life of Pharaoh, you shall not go from this place unless your youngest brother comes here. <sup>16</sup>Send one of you, and let him bring your brother, while you remain confined, that your words may be tested, whether there is truth in you. Or else, by the life of Pharaoh, surely you are spies.” <sup>17</sup>And he put them all together in custody for three days.

<sup>18</sup>On the third day Joseph said to them, “Do this and you will live, for I fear God: <sup>19</sup>†if you are honest men, let one of your brothers remain confined where you are in custody, and let the rest go and carry grain for the famine of your households, <sup>20</sup>and bring your youngest brother to me. So your words will be verified, and you shall not die.” And they did so. <sup>21</sup>†Then they said to one another, “In truth we are guilty concerning our brother, in that we saw the distress of his soul, when he begged us and we did not listen. That is why this distress has come upon us.”<sup>22</sup>† And Reuben answered them, “Did I not tell you not to sin against the boy? But you did not listen. So now there comes a reckoning for his blood.”<sup>23</sup> They did not know that Joseph understood them, for there was an interpreter between them.<sup>24</sup>† Then he turned away from them and wept. And he returned to them and spoke to them. And he took Simeon from them and bound him before their eyes.<sup>25</sup> And Joseph gave orders to fill their bags with grain, and to replace every man's money in his sack, and to give them provisions for the journey. This was done for them.

<sup>29</sup> When they came to Jacob their father in the land of Canaan, they told him all that had happened to them, saying, <sup>30</sup> “The man, the lord of the land, spoke roughly to us and took us to be spies of the land. <sup>31</sup> But we said to him, ‘We are honest men; we have never been spies. <sup>32</sup> We are twelve brothers, sons of our father. One is no more, and the youngest is this day with our father in the land of Canaan.’ <sup>33</sup> Then the man, the lord of the land, said to us, ‘By this I shall know that you are honest men: leave one of your brothers with me, and take grain for the famine of your households, and go your way. <sup>34</sup> Bring your youngest brother to me. Then I shall know that you are not spies but honest men, and I will deliver your brother to you, and you shall trade in the land.’”

<sup>35</sup> As they emptied their sacks, behold, every man's bundle of money was in his sack. And when they and their father saw their bundles of money, they were afraid. <sup>36</sup>† And Jacob their father said to them, “You have bereaved me of my children: Joseph is no more, and Simeon is no more, and now you would take Benjamin. All this has come against me.” <sup>37</sup>† Then Reuben said to his father, “Kill my two sons if I do not bring him back to you. Put him in my hands, and I will bring him back to you.” <sup>38</sup> But he said, “My son shall not go down with you, for his brother is dead, and he is the only one left. If harm should happen to him on the journey that you are to make, you would bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to Sheol.”

Joseph's Brothers Return to Egypt

GENESIS 43 Now the famine was severe in the land. <sup>2</sup>And when they had eaten the grain that they had brought from Egypt, their father said to them, “Go again, buy us a little food.” <sup>3</sup>But Judah said to him, “The man solemnly warned us, saying, ‘You shall not see my face unless your brother is with you.’ <sup>4</sup>If you will send our brother with us, we will go down and buy you food. <sup>5</sup>But if you will not send him, we will not go down, for the man said to us, ‘You shall not see my face, unless your brother is with you.’” <sup>6</sup>Israel said, “Why did you treat me so badly as to tell the man that you had another brother?” <sup>7</sup>They replied, “The man questioned us carefully about ourselves and our kindred, saying, ‘Is your father still alive? Do you have another brother?’ What we told him was in answer to these questions. Could we in any way know that he would say, ‘Bring your brother down?’” <sup>8</sup>And Judah said to Israel his father, “Send the boy with me, and we will arise and go, that we may live and not die, both we and you and also our little ones. <sup>9</sup>I will be a pledge of his safety. From my hand you shall require him. If I do not bring him back to you and set him before you, then let me bear the blame forever. <sup>10</sup>If we had not delayed, we would now have returned twice.”

<sup>11</sup>Then their father Israel said to them, “If it must be so, then do this: take some of the choice fruits of the land in your bags, and carry a present down to the man, a little balm and a little honey, gum, myrrh, pistachio nuts, and almonds. <sup>12</sup>Take double the money with you. Carry back with you the money that was returned in the mouth of your sacks. Perhaps it was an oversight. <sup>13</sup>Take also your brother, and arise, go again to the man. <sup>14</sup>May God Almighty [1] grant you mercy before the man, and may he send back your other brother and Benjamin. And as for me, if I am bereaved of my children, I am bereaved.”

steward of Joseph's house and spoke with him at the door of the house, <sup>20</sup>and said, "Oh, my lord, we came down the first time to buy food. <sup>21</sup>And when we came to the lodging place we opened our sacks, and there was each man's money in the mouth of his sack, our money in full weight. So we have brought it again with us, <sup>22</sup>and we have brought other money down with us to buy food. We do not know who put our money in our sacks." <sup>23</sup>†He replied, "Peace to you, do not be afraid. Your God and the God of your father has put treasure in your sacks for you. I received your money." Then he brought Simeon out to them. <sup>24</sup>And when the man had brought the men into Joseph's house and given them water, and they had washed their feet, and when he had given their donkeys fodder, <sup>25</sup>they prepared the present for Joseph's coming at noon, for they heard that they should eat bread there.

<sup>26</sup>†When Joseph came home, they brought into the house to him the present that they had with them and bowed down to him to the ground. <sup>27</sup>And he inquired about their welfare and said, "Is your father well, the old man of whom you spoke? Is he still alive?" <sup>28</sup>They said, "Your servant our father is well; he is still alive." And they bowed their heads and prostrated themselves. <sup>29</sup>†And he lifted up his eyes and saw his brother Benjamin, his mother's son, and said, "Is this your youngest brother, of whom you spoke to me? God be gracious to you, my son!" <sup>30</sup>†Then Joseph hurried out, for his compassion grew warm for his brother, and he sought a place to weep. And he entered his chamber and wept there. <sup>31</sup>Then he washed his face and came out. And controlling himself he said, "Serve the food." <sup>32</sup>†They served him by himself, and them by themselves, and the Egyptians who ate with him by themselves, because the Egyptians could not eat with the Hebrews, for that is an abomination to the Egyptians. <sup>33</sup>†And they sat before him, the firstborn according to his birthright and the youngest according to his youth. And the men looked at one another in amazement. <sup>34</sup>†Portions were taken to them from Joseph's table, but Benjamin's portion was five times as much as any of theirs. And they drank and were merry [2] with him.

Joseph Tests His Brothers

GENESIS 44 Then he commanded the steward of his house, “Fill the men's sacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put each man's money in the mouth of his sack, <sup>2</sup>†and put my cup, the silver cup, in the mouth of the sack of the youngest, with his money for the grain.” And he did as Joseph told him.

<sup>3</sup>As soon as the morning was light, the men were sent away with their donkeys. <sup>4</sup>They had gone only a short distance from the city. Now Joseph said to his steward, “Up, follow after the men, and when you overtake them, say to them, ‘Why have you repaid evil for good? [1] <sup>5</sup>†Is it not from this that my lord drinks, and by this that he practices divination? You have done evil in doing this.’”

<sup>6</sup>When he overtook them, he spoke to them these words. <sup>7</sup>†They said to him, “Why does my lord speak such words as these? Far be it from your servants to do such a thing! <sup>8</sup>Behold, the money that we found in the mouths of our sacks we brought back to you from the land of Canaan. How then could we steal silver or gold from your lord's house? <sup>9</sup>Whichever of your servants is found with it shall die, and we also will be my lord's servants.” <sup>10</sup>He said, “Let it be as you say: he who is found with it shall be my servant, and the rest of you shall be innocent.” <sup>11</sup>Then each man quickly lowered his sack to the ground, and each man opened his sack. <sup>12</sup>†And he searched, beginning with the eldest and ending with the youngest. And the cup was found in Benjamin's sack. <sup>13</sup>†Then they tore their clothes, and every man loaded his donkey, and they returned to the city.

<sup>14</sup>†When Judah and his brothers came to Joseph's house, he was still there. They fell before him to the ground. <sup>15</sup>†Joseph said to them, “What deed is this that you have done? Do you not know that a man like me can indeed practice divination?” <sup>16</sup>†And Judah said, “What shall we say to my lord? What shall we speak? Or how can we clear ourselves? God has found out the guilt of your servants; behold, we are my lord's servants, both we and he also in whose hand the cup has been found.” <sup>17</sup>But he said, “Far be it from me that I should do so! Only the man in whose hand the cup was found shall be my servant. But as for you, go up in peace to your father.”

<sup>18</sup>†Then Judah went up to him and said, “Oh, my lord, please let your servant speak a word in my lord's ears, and let not your anger burn against your servant, for you are like Pharaoh himself. <sup>19</sup>My lord asked his servants, saying, ‘Have you a father, or a brother?’ <sup>20</sup>And we said to my lord, ‘We have a father, an old man, and a young brother, the child of his old age. His brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother's children, and his father loves him.’ <sup>21</sup>Then you said to your servants, ‘Bring him down to me, that I may set my eyes on him.’ <sup>22</sup>We said to my lord, ‘The boy cannot leave his father, for if he should leave his father, his father would die.’ <sup>23</sup>Then you said to your servants, ‘Unless your youngest brother comes down with you, you shall not see my face again.’

<sup>24</sup>“When we went back to your servant my father, we told him the words of my lord. <sup>25</sup>And when our father said, ‘Go again, buy us a little food,’ <sup>26</sup>we said, ‘We cannot go down. If our youngest brother goes with us, then we will go down. For we cannot see the man's face unless our youngest brother is with us.’ <sup>27</sup>Then your servant my father said to us, ‘You know that my wife bore me two sons. <sup>28</sup>One left me, and I said, Surely he has been torn to pieces, and I have never seen him since. <sup>29</sup>If you take this one also from me, and harm happens to him, you will bring down my gray hairs in evil to Sheol.’

<sup>30</sup>“Now therefore, as soon as I come to your servant my father, and the boy is not with us, then, as his life is bound up in the boy's life, <sup>31</sup>as soon as he sees that the boy is not with us, he will die, and your servants will bring down the gray hairs of your servant our father with sorrow to Sheol. <sup>32</sup>For your servant became a pledge of safety for the boy to my father, saying, ‘If I do not bring him back to you, then I shall bear the blame before my father all my life.’ <sup>33</sup>Now therefore, please let your servant remain instead of the boy as a servant to my lord, and let the boy go back with his brothers. <sup>34</sup>For how can I go back to my father if the boy is not with me? I fear to see the evil that would find my father.”

Joseph Provides for His Brothers and Family

GENESIS 45 †Then Joseph could not control himself before all those who stood by him. He cried, “Make everyone go out from me.” So no one stayed with him when Joseph made himself known to his brothers. <sup>2</sup>And he wept aloud, so that the Egyptians heard it, and the household of Pharaoh heard it. <sup>3</sup>And Joseph said to his brothers, “I am Joseph! Is my father still alive?” But his brothers could not answer him, for they were dismayed at his presence.

<sup>4</sup>So Joseph said to his brothers, “Come near to me, please.” And they came near. And he said, “I am your brother, Joseph, whom you sold into Egypt. <sup>5</sup>And now do not be distressed or angry with yourselves because you sold me here, for God sent me before you to preserve life. <sup>6</sup>†For the famine has been in the land these two years, and there are yet five years in which there will be neither plowing nor harvest. <sup>7</sup>†And God sent me before you to preserve for you a remnant on earth, and to keep alive for you many survivors. <sup>8</sup>†So it was not you who sent me here, but God. He has made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his house and ruler over all the land of Egypt. <sup>9</sup>Hurry and go up to my father and say to him, ‘Thus says your son Joseph, God has made me lord of all Egypt. Come down to me; do not tarry. <sup>10</sup>†You shall dwell in the land of Goshen, and you shall be near me, you and your children and your children's children, and your flocks, your herds, and all that you have. <sup>11</sup>There I will provide for you, for there are yet five years of famine to come, so that you and your household, and all that you have, do not come to poverty.’ <sup>12</sup>And now your eyes see, and the eyes of my brother Benjamin see, that it is my mouth that speaks to you. <sup>13</sup>You must tell my father of all my honor in Egypt, and of all that you have seen. Hurry and bring my father down here.” <sup>14</sup>†Then he fell upon his brother Benjamin's neck and wept, and Benjamin wept upon his neck. <sup>15</sup>And he kissed all his brothers and wept upon them. After that his brothers talked with him.

<sup>16</sup>†When the report was heard in Pharaoh's house, “Joseph's brothers have come,” it pleased Pharaoh and his servants. <sup>17</sup>And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Say to your brothers, ‘Do this: load your beasts and go back to the land of Canaan, <sup>18</sup>and take your father and your households, and come to me, and I will give you the best of the land of Egypt, and you shall eat the fat of the land.’ <sup>19</sup>And you, Joseph, are commanded to say, ‘Do this: take wagons from the land of Egypt for your little ones and for your wives, and bring your father, and come. <sup>20</sup>Have no concern for [\[1\]](#) your goods, for the best of all the land of Egypt is yours.’”

<sup>21</sup>The sons of Israel did so: and Joseph gave them wagons, according to the command of Pharaoh, and gave them provisions for the journey. <sup>22</sup>To each and all of them he gave a change of clothes, but to Benjamin he gave three hundred shekels [2] of silver and five changes of clothes. <sup>23</sup>To his father he sent as follows: ten donkeys loaded with the good things of Egypt, and ten female donkeys loaded with grain, bread, and provision for his father on the journey. <sup>24</sup>†Then he sent his brothers away, and as they departed, he said to them, “Do not quarrel on the way.”

<sup>25</sup>So they went up out of Egypt and came to the land of Canaan to their father Jacob. <sup>26</sup>†And they told him, “Joseph is still alive, and he is ruler over all the land of Egypt.” And his heart became numb, for he did not believe them. <sup>27</sup>But when they told him all the words of Joseph, which he had said to them, and when he saw the wagons that Joseph had sent to carry him, the spirit of their father Jacob revived. <sup>28</sup>And Israel said, “It is enough; Joseph my son is still alive. I will go and see him before I die.”

Joseph Brings His Family to Egypt

GENESIS 46 †So Israel took his journey with all that he had and came to Beersheba, and offered sacrifices to the God of his father Isaac. <sup>2</sup>†And God spoke to Israel in visions of the night and said, “Jacob, Jacob.” And he said, “Here am I.” <sup>3</sup>Then he said, “I am God, the God of your father. Do not be afraid to go down to Egypt, for there I will make you into a great nation. <sup>4</sup>†I myself will go down with you to Egypt, and I will also bring you up again, and Joseph's hand shall close your eyes.”

<sup>5</sup>Then Jacob set out from Beersheba. The sons of Israel carried Jacob their father, their little ones, and their wives, in the wagons that Pharaoh had sent to carry him. <sup>6</sup>†They also took their livestock and their goods, which they had gained in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt, Jacob and all his offspring with him, <sup>7</sup>his sons, and his sons' sons with him, his daughters, and his sons' daughters. All his offspring he brought with him into Egypt.

<sup>26</sup>‡All the persons belonging to Jacob who came into Egypt, who were his own descendants, not including Jacob's sons' wives, were sixty-six persons in all.

<sup>27</sup>‡And the sons of Joseph, who were born to him in Egypt, were two. All the persons of the house of Jacob who came into Egypt were seventy.

Jacob and Joseph Reunited

<sup>28</sup>‡He had sent Judah ahead of him to Joseph to show the way before him in Goshen, and they came into the land of Goshen. <sup>29</sup>Then Joseph prepared his chariot and went up to meet Israel his father in Goshen. He presented himself to him and fell on his neck and wept on his neck a good while. <sup>30</sup>Israel said to Joseph, “Now let me die, since I have seen your face and know that you are still alive.” <sup>31</sup>‡Joseph said to his brothers and to his father's household, “I will go up and tell Pharaoh and will say to him, ‘My brothers and my father's household, who were in the land of Canaan, have come to me. <sup>32</sup>And the men are shepherds, for they have been keepers of livestock, and they have brought their flocks and their herds and all that they have.’ <sup>33</sup>When Pharaoh calls you and says, ‘What is your occupation?’ <sup>34</sup>you shall say, ‘Your servants have been keepers of livestock from our youth even until now, both we and our fathers,’ in order that you may dwell in the land of Goshen, for every shepherd is an abomination to the Egyptians.”

Jacob's Family Settles in Goshen

GENESIS 47 †So Joseph went in and told Pharaoh, “My father and my brothers, with their flocks and herds and all that they possess, have come from the land of Canaan. They are now in the land of Goshen.” <sup>2</sup>And from among his brothers he took five men and presented them to Pharaoh. <sup>3</sup>Pharaoh said to his brothers, “What is your occupation?” And they said to Pharaoh, “Your servants are shepherds, as our fathers were.” <sup>4</sup>They said to Pharaoh, “We have come to sojourn in the land, for there is no pasture for your servants' flocks, for the famine is severe in the land of Canaan. And now, please let your servants dwell in the land of Goshen.” <sup>5</sup>Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Your father and your brothers have come to you. <sup>6</sup>The land of Egypt is before you. Settle your father and your brothers in the best of the land. Let them settle in the land of Goshen, and if you know any able men among them, put them in charge of my livestock.”

<sup>7</sup>†Then Joseph brought in Jacob his father and stood him before Pharaoh, and Jacob blessed Pharaoh. <sup>8</sup>And Pharaoh said to Jacob, “How many are the days of the years of your life?” <sup>9</sup>†And Jacob said to Pharaoh, “The days of the years of my sojourning are 130 years. Few and evil have been the days of the years of my life, and they have not attained to the days of the years of the life of my fathers in the days of their sojourning.” <sup>10</sup>And Jacob blessed Pharaoh and went out from the presence of Pharaoh. <sup>11</sup>†Then Joseph settled his father and his brothers and gave them a possession in the land of Egypt, in the best of the land, in the land of Rameses, as Pharaoh had commanded. <sup>12</sup>†And Joseph provided his father, his brothers, and all his father's household with food, according to the number of their dependents.

Joseph and the Famine

<sup>13</sup>†Now there was no food in all the land, for the famine was very severe, so that the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan languished by reason of the famine. <sup>14</sup>And Joseph gathered up all the money that was found in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, in exchange for the grain that they bought. And Joseph brought the money into Pharaoh's house. <sup>15</sup>†And when the money was all spent in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came to Joseph and said, “Give us food. Why should we die before your eyes? For our money is gone.” <sup>16</sup>†And Joseph answered, “Give your livestock, and I will give you food in exchange for your livestock, if your money is gone.” <sup>17</sup>So they brought their livestock to Joseph, and Joseph gave them food in exchange for the horses, the flocks, the herds, and the donkeys. He supplied them with food in exchange for all their livestock that year. <sup>18</sup>And when that year was ended, they came to him the following year and said to him, “We will not hide from my lord that our money is all spent. The herds of livestock are my lord's. There is nothing left in the sight of my lord but our bodies and our land. <sup>19</sup>Why should we die before your eyes, both we and our land? Buy us and our land for food, and we with our land will be servants to Pharaoh. And give us seed that we may live and not die, and that the land may not be desolate.”

<sup>23</sup>Then Joseph said to the people, “Behold, I have this day bought you and your land for Pharaoh. Now here is seed for you, and you shall sow the land. <sup>24</sup>And at the harvests you shall give a fifth to Pharaoh, and four fifths shall be your own, as seed for the field and as food for yourselves and your households, and as food for your little ones.” <sup>25</sup>‡And they said, “You have saved our lives; may it please my lord, we will be servants to Pharaoh.” <sup>26</sup>So Joseph made it a statute concerning the land of Egypt, and it stands to this day, that Pharaoh should have the fifth; the land of the priests alone did not become Pharaoh's.

<sup>27</sup>‡Thus Israel settled in the land of Egypt, in the land of Goshen. And they gained possessions in it, and were fruitful and multiplied greatly. <sup>28</sup>And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years. So the days of Jacob, the years of his life, were 147 years.

<sup>29</sup>‡And when the time drew near that Israel must die, he called his son Joseph and said to him, “If now I have found favor in your sight, put your hand under my thigh and promise to deal kindly and truly with me. Do not bury me in Egypt, <sup>30</sup>but let me lie with my fathers. Carry me out of Egypt and bury me in their burying place.” He answered, “I will do as you have said.” <sup>31</sup>‡And he said, “Swear to me”; and he swore to him. Then Israel bowed himself upon the head of his bed. [2]

Jacob Blesses Ephraim and Manasseh

GENESIS 48 After this, Joseph was told, “Behold, your father is ill.” So he took with him his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim. <sup>2</sup>And it was told to Jacob, “Your son Joseph has come to you.” Then Israel summoned his strength and sat up in bed. <sup>3</sup>†And Jacob said to Joseph, “God Almighty [1] appeared to me at Luz in the land of Canaan and blessed me, <sup>4</sup>†and said to me, ‘Behold, I will make you fruitful and multiply you, and I will make of you a company of peoples and will give this land to your offspring after you for an everlasting possession.’ <sup>5</sup>And now your two sons, who were born to you in the land of Egypt before I came to you in Egypt, are mine; Ephraim and Manasseh shall be mine, as Reuben and Simeon are. <sup>6</sup>And the children that you fathered after them shall be yours. They shall be called by the name of their brothers in their inheritance. <sup>7</sup>As for me, when I came from Paddan, to my sorrow Rachel died in the land of Canaan on the way, when there was still some distance [2] to go to Ephrath, and I buried her there on the way to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem).”

<sup>8</sup>†When Israel saw Joseph's sons, he said, “Who are these?” <sup>9</sup>Joseph said to his father, “They are my sons, whom God has given me here.” And he said, “Bring them to me, please, that I may bless them.” <sup>10</sup>Now the eyes of Israel were dim with age, so that he could not see. So Joseph brought them near him, and he kissed them and embraced them. <sup>11</sup>And Israel said to Joseph, “I never expected to see your face; and behold, God has let me see your offspring also.” <sup>12</sup>Then Joseph removed them from his knees, and he bowed himself with his face to the earth. <sup>13</sup>And Joseph took them both, Ephraim in his right hand toward Israel's left hand, and Manasseh in his left hand toward Israel's right hand, and brought them near him. <sup>14</sup>†And Israel stretched out his right hand and laid it on the head of Ephraim, who was the younger, and his left hand on the head of Manasseh, crossing his hands (for Manasseh was the firstborn). <sup>15</sup>††And he blessed Joseph and said, “The God before whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked, the God who has been my shepherd all my life long to this day, <sup>16</sup>†the angel who has redeemed me from all evil, bless the boys; and in them let my name be carried on, and the name of my fathers Abraham and Isaac; and let them grow into a multitude [3] in the midst of the earth.”

this one is the firstborn, put your right hand on his head.” <sup>19</sup>† But his father refused and said, “I know, my son, I know. He also shall become a people, and he also shall be great. Nevertheless, his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his offspring shall become a multitude [4] of nations.” <sup>20</sup> So he blessed them that day, saying, “By you Israel will pronounce blessings, saying, ‘God make you as Ephraim and as Manasseh.’”

Thus he put Ephraim before Manasseh. <sup>21</sup>† Then Israel said to Joseph, “Behold, I am about to die, but God will be with you and will bring you again to the land of your fathers. <sup>22</sup>† Moreover, I have given to you rather than to your brothers one mountain slope [5] that I took from the hand of the Amorites with my sword and with my bow.”

Jacob Blesses His Sons

GENESIS 49 † Then Jacob called his sons and said, “Gather yourselves together, that I may tell you what shall happen to you in days to come.

<sup>4</sup> Unstable as water, you shall not have preeminence, because you went up to your father's bed;

then you defiled it—he went up to my couch!

For in their anger they killed men, and in their willfulness they hamstrung oxen.

I will divide them in Jacob and scatter them in Israel.

<sup>8</sup>† “Judah, your brothers shall praise you; your hand shall be on the neck of your enemies; your father's sons shall bow down before you.

<sup>9</sup> Judah is a lion's cub; from the prey, my son, you have gone up.

He stooped down; he crouched as a lion and as a lioness; who dares rouse him?

and to him shall be the obedience of the peoples.

he has washed his garments in wine

<sup>15</sup> He saw that a resting place was good, and that the land was pleasant, so he bowed his shoulder to bear,

that bites the horse's heels

so that his rider falls backward.

his branches run over the wall. [5]

<sup>24</sup>†yet his bow remained unmoved; his arms [6] were made agile by the hands of the Mighty One of Jacob

(from there is the Shepherd, [7] the Stone of Israel), <sup>25</sup>†by the God of your father who will help you, by the Almighty [8] who will bless you with blessings of heaven above, blessings of the deep that crouches beneath, blessings of the breasts and of the womb.

parents, up to the bounties of the everlasting hills. [9]

May they be on the head of Joseph, and on the brow of him who was set apart from his brothers.

<sup>27</sup>†“Benjamin is a ravenous wolf, in the morning devouring the prey and at evening dividing the spoil.”

Jacob's Death and Burial

<sup>28</sup>†All these are the twelve tribes of Israel. This is what their father said to them as he blessed them, blessing each with the blessing suitable to him. <sup>29</sup>†Then he commanded them and said to them, “I am to be gathered to my people; bury me with my fathers in the cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite, <sup>30</sup>†in the cave that is in the field at Machpelah, to the east of Mamre, in the land of Canaan, which Abraham bought with the field from Ephron the Hittite to possess as a burying place. <sup>31</sup>†There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife. There they buried Isaac and Rebekah his wife, and there I buried Leah— <sup>32</sup>†the field and the cave that is in it were bought from the Hittites.” <sup>33</sup>†When Jacob finished commanding his sons, he drew up his feet into the bed and breathed his last and was gathered to his people.

GENESIS 50 Then Joseph fell on his father's face and wept over him and kissed him. <sup>2</sup>And Joseph commanded his servants the physicians to embalm his father. So the physicians embalmed Israel. <sup>3</sup>Forty days were required for it, for that is how many are required for embalming. And the Egyptians wept for him seventy days.

<sup>4</sup>And when the days of weeping for him were past, Joseph spoke to the household of Pharaoh, saying, "If now I have found favor in your eyes, please speak in the ears of Pharaoh, saying, <sup>5</sup>My father made me swear, saying, 'I am about to die: in my tomb that I hewed out for myself in the land of Canaan, there shall you bury me.' Now therefore, let me please go up and bury my father. Then I will return." <sup>6</sup>And Pharaoh answered, "Go up, and bury your father, as he made you swear." <sup>7</sup>So Joseph went up to bury his father. With him went up all the servants of Pharaoh, the elders of his household, and all the elders of the land of Egypt, <sup>8</sup>as well as all the household of Joseph, his brothers, and his father's household. Only their children, their flocks, and their herds were left in the land of Goshen. <sup>9</sup>And there went up with him both chariots and horsemen. It was a very great company. <sup>10</sup>When they came to the threshing floor of Atad, which is beyond the Jordan, they lamented there with a very great and grievous lamentation, and he made a mourning for his father seven days. <sup>11</sup>When the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, saw the mourning on the threshing floor of Atad, they said, "This is a grievous mourning by the Egyptians." Therefore the place was named Abel-mizraim; [\[1\]](#) it is beyond the Jordan. <sup>12</sup>Thus his sons did for him as he had commanded them, <sup>13</sup>for his sons carried him to the land of Canaan and buried him in the cave of the field at Machpelah, to the east of Mamre, which Abraham bought with the field from Ephron the Hittite to possess as a burying place. <sup>14</sup>After he had buried his father, Joseph returned to Egypt with his brothers and all who had gone up with him to bury his father.

God's Good Purposes

<sup>15</sup>When Joseph's brothers saw that their father was dead, they said, "It may be that Joseph will hate us and pay us back for all the evil that we did to him." <sup>16</sup>So they sent a message to Joseph, saying, "Your father gave this command before he died, <sup>17</sup>'Say to Joseph, Please forgive the transgression of your brothers and their sin, because they did evil to you.' And now, please forgive the transgression of the servants of the God of your father." Joseph wept when they spoke to him. <sup>18</sup>His brothers also came and fell down before him and said, "Behold, we are your servants.” <sup>19</sup>†But Joseph said to them, “Do not fear, for am I in the place of God? <sup>20</sup>†As for you, you meant evil against me, but God meant it for good, to bring it about that many people [2] should be kept alive, as they are today. <sup>21</sup>So do not fear; I will provide for you and your little ones.” Thus he comforted them and spoke kindly to them.

The Death of Joseph

<sup>22</sup>So Joseph remained in Egypt, he and his father's house. Joseph lived 110 years. <sup>23</sup>And Joseph saw Ephraim's children of the third generation. The children also of Machir the son of Manasseh were counted as Joseph's own. [3] <sup>24</sup>†And Joseph said to his brothers, “I am about to die, but God will visit you and bring you up out of this land to the land that he swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.” <sup>25</sup>Then Joseph made the sons of Israel swear, saying, “God will surely visit you, and you shall carry up my bones from here.” <sup>26</sup>†So Joseph died, being 110 years old. They embalmed him, and he was put in a coffin in Egypt.

Study Notes

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:1–2:3 This description of God creating heaven and earth is understood to be: 1) recent, i.e., thousands not millions of years ago; 2) ex nihilo, i.e., out of nothing; and 3) special, i.e., in six consecutive 24-hour periods called “days” and further distinguished as such by this phrase, “there was evening and there was morning.” Scripture does not support a creation date earlier than about 10,000 years ago. In the beginning. While God exists eternally (Ps. 90:2), this marked the beginning of the universe in time and space. In explaining Israel’s identity and purpose to her on the plains of Moab, God wanted his people to know about the origin of the world in which they found themselves. God. Elohim is a general term for deity and a name for the True God, though used also at times for pagan gods (Gen. 31:30), angels (Ps. 8:5), men (Ps. 82:6), and judges (Ex. 21:6). Moses made no attempt to defend the existence of God, which is assumed, or explain what he was like in person and works, which is treated elsewhere (cf. Isa. 43:10, 13). Both are to be believed by faith (cf. Heb. 11:3, 6). created. This word is used here of God’s creative activity alone, although it occasionally is used elsewhere of matter that already existed (Isa. 65:18). Context demands in no uncertain terms that this was a creation without preexisting material (as does other Scripture: cf. Isa. 40:28; 45:8, 12, 18; 48:13; Jer. 10:16; Acts 17:24). the heavens and the earth. All of God’s creation is incorporated into this summary statement that includes all six, consecutive days of creation.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:2 without form and void. This means “not finished in its shape and as yet uninhabited by creatures” (cf. Isa. 45:18, 19; Jer. 4:23). God would quickly (in six days) decorate his initial creation (Gen. 1:2–2:3). deep. Sometimes referred to as primordial waters, this is the term used to describe the earth’s water-covered surface before the dry land emerged (1:9–10). Jonah used this word to describe the watery abyss in which he found himself submerged (Jonah 2:5). Spirit of God. Not only did God the Holy Spirit participate in creation, but so did God the Son (cf. John 1:1–3; Col. 1:16; Heb. 1:2).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:3 God said. God effortlessly spoke light into existence (cf. Ps. 33:6; 148:5). This dispelled the darkness of Gen. 1:2. light. The greater and lesser lights (the sun and moon) were created later (1:14–19) on the fourth day. Here, God was the provider of light (2 Cor. 4:6) and will in eternity future be the source of light (cf. Rev. 21:23).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:4 good. Good for the purposes it was intended to serve (cf. v. 31).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:4–5 separated . . . called. After the initial creation, God continued to complete his universe. Once God separated certain things, he then named them. Separating and naming were acts of dominion and served as a pattern for man, who would also name a portion of God’s creation over which God gave him dominion (2:19–20).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:5 first day. God established the pattern of creation in seven days, which constituted a complete week. “Day” can refer to: 1) the light portion of a 24-hour period (1:5, 14); 2) an extended period of time (2:4); or 3) the 24-hour period which basically refers to a full rotation of the earth on its axis, called evening and morning. This cannot mean an age, but only a day, reckoned by the Jews from sunset to sunset (1:8, 13, 19, 23, 31). “Day” with numerical adjectives in Hebrew always refers to a 24-hour period. Comparing the order of the week in Ex. 20:8–11 with the creation week confirms this understanding of the time element. Such a cycle of light and dark means that the earth was rotating on its axis, so that there was a source of light on one side of the earth, though the sun was not yet created (Gen. 1:16).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:6 expanse. The portion of God’s creation named “heavens,” that which man saw when he looked up, i.e., the atmospheric and stellar heaven.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:7 under the expanse. Refers to subterranean reservoirs (cf. 7:11). above the expanse. This could possibly have been a canopy of water vapor that acted to make the earth like a hothouse, provided uniform temperature, inhibited mass air movements, caused mist to fall, and filtered out ultraviolet rays, thus extending life.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:9–10 dry land. This was caused by a tremendous, cataclysmic upheaval of the earth’s surface, and the rising and sinking of the land, which caused the waters to plunge into the low places, forming the seas, the continents and islands, the rivers and lakes (cf. Job 38:4–11; Ps. 104:6–9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:11–12 according to its kind. God set in motion a providential process whereby the vegetable kingdom could reproduce through seeds which would maintain each one's unique characteristics. The same phrase is used to describe the perpetuating reproduction of animals within their created species (vv. 21, 24, 25), and indicates that evolution, which proposes reproduction across species lines, is a false explanation of origins.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:11 yielding seed. The principle of reproduction that marks all life (cf. vv. 22, 24, 28).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:14 lights. Cf. v. 16. For three days there had been light (v. 4) in the day as though there were a sun, and lesser light at night as though there were the moon and stars. God could have left it that way, but did not. He created the “lights, sun, moon, and stars,” not for light, but to serve as markers for signs, seasons, days, and years. signs. Certainly to include: 1) weather (Matt. 16:2–3); 2) testimony to God (Ps. 8; 19; Rom. 1:14–20; 3) divine judgment (Joel 2:30–31; Matt. 24:29); and 4) navigation (Matt. 2:1–2). seasons. It is the earth's movement in relation to the sun and moon that determines the seasons and the calendar.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:15–18 two great lights . . . to separate the light from the darkness. It was God (not some other deity) who created the lights. Israel had originally come from Mesopotamia, where the celestial bodies were worshiped, and more recently from Egypt, where the sun was worshiped as a primary deity. God was revealing to them that the very stars, moons, and planets that Israel's neighbors had worshiped were the products of his creation. Later, they became worshipers of the “host of heaven” (see note on 2 Kings 17:16), which led to their being taken captive out of the Promised Land.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:20 living creatures. These creatures, including the extraordinarily large ones, included all sorts of fish and mammals, even dinosaurs (see notes on Job 40:15–41:1).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:22 blessed. This is the first occurrence of the word “bless” in Scripture. God's admonition to “be fruitful and multiply” was the substance of the blessing.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:24–25 livestock . . . beasts. This probably represents all kinds of large, four-legged animals.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:24 beasts of the earth. Different from and larger than the clan of cattle, this would include dinosaurs like Behemoth (Job 40:15ff.).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:26 us . . . our. The first clear indication of the triunity of God (cf. 3:22; 11:7). The very name of God, Elohim (1:1), is a plural form of El. man. The crowning point of creation, a living human, was made in God's image to rule creation. our image. This defined man's unique relation to God. Man is a living being capable of embodying God's communicable attributes (cf. 9:6; Rom. 8:29; Col. 3:10; James 3:9). In his rational life, he was like God in that he could reason and had intellect, will, and emotion. In the moral sense, he was like God because he was good and sinless.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:26–28 dominion over. This defined man's unique relation to creation. Man was God's representative in ruling over the creation. The command to rule separated him from the rest of living creation and defined his relationship as above the rest of creation (cf. Ps. 8:6–8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:27 male and female. Cf. Matt. 19:4 and Mark 10:6. While these two persons equally shared God's image and together exercised dominion over creation, they were by divine design physically diverse in order to accomplish God's mandate to multiply, i.e., neither one could reproduce offspring without the other.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:28 blessed. This second blessing (cf. v. 22) involved reproduction and dominion. Be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth and subdue it. God, having just created the universe, created his representative (dominion over) and representation (cf. image and likeness). Man would fill the earth and oversee its operation. "Subdue" does not suggest a wild and unruly condition for the creation because God himself pronounced it "good." Rather, it speaks of a productive ordering of the earth and its inhabitants to yield its riches and accomplish God's purposes.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:29–30 for food . . . for food. Prior to the curse (3:14–19), both mankind and beasts were vegetarians.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 1:31 very good. What had been pronounced good individually (vv. 4, 10, 12, 18, 21, 25) was now called "very good" collectively. The words anticipated God's conclusion that it was "not good" for a man to be alone (2:18), which occurred on the sixth day.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:1–3 These words affirm that God had completed his work. Four times it is said that he finished his work, and three times it is said that this included all his work. Present processes in the universe reflect God sustaining that completed creation, not more creation (cf. Heb. 1:3).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:2 finished . . . rested. God certainly did not rest due to weariness; rather, establishing the pattern for man’s work cycle, he only modeled the need for rest. Later, the Sabbath ordinance of Moses found its basis in the creation week (cf. Ex. 20:8–11). The Sabbath was God’s sacred ordained day in the weekly cycle. Jesus said, “The Sabbath was made for man” (Mark 2:27) and Gen. 2:3 stated that God “made it holy” or set apart the Sabbath day because he rested in it. Later, it was set aside for a day of worship in the Mosaic law (see note on Ex. 20:8). Hebrews 4:4 distinguishes between physical rest and the redemptive rest to which it pointed. Colossians 2:16 makes it clear that the Mosaic “Sabbath” has no symbolic or ritual place in the New Covenant. The church began worshiping on the first day of the week to commemorate the resurrection of Christ (Acts 20:7).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:4–4:26 The history of the heavens and the earth (v. 4).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:4–25 This section fills in the details of man’s creation on day six. How did Moses obtain this account, so different from the absurd fictions of the pagans? Not from any human source, for man was not in existence to witness it. Not from the light of reason, for though intellect can know the eternal power of the Godhead (Rom. 1:18–20) and that God made all things, it cannot know how. None but the Creator himself could give this data and, therefore, it is through faith that one understands that the worlds were formed by the word of God (Heb. 11:3).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:6 mist . . . going up from the land. “Mist” should be translated “flow.” It indicates that water came up from beneath the ground as springs and spread over the whole earth in an uninterrupted cycle of water. After the fall, rain became the primary means of watering the earth and allowed for floods and droughts that did not exist originally. Rains also allowed for God to judge through floods and droughts.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:7 formed. Many of the words used in this account of the creation of man picture a master craftsman at work shaping a work of art to which he gives life (1 Cor. 15:45). This adds detail to the statement of fact in Gen. 1:27 (cf. 1 Tim. 2:13). Cf. Ps. 139:14. Made from dirt, a man’s value is not in the physical components that form his body, but in the quality of life that

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:8 garden . . . Eden. The Babylonians called the lush green land from which water flowed edenu; today, the term “oasis” describes such a place. This was a magnificent garden paradise, unlike any the world has seen since, where God fellowshiped with those he created in his image. The exact location of Eden is unknown; if “in the east” was used in relationship to where Moses was when he wrote, then it could have been in the area of Babylon, the Mesopotamian Valley.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:9 tree of life. A real tree, with special properties to sustain eternal life. It was placed in the center of the garden, where it must have been observed by Adam, and its fruit perhaps eaten by him, thus sustaining his life (2:16). Such a tree, symbolic of eternal life, will be in the new heavens and new earth (see note on Rev. 22:2). tree . . . knowledge. Cf. Gen. 2:16; 3:1–6, 11, 22. It was perhaps given that title because it was a test of obedience by which our first parents were tried, whether they would be good or bad—obey God or disobey his command.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:10 out of. That is to say “the source,” and likely refers to some great spring gushing up inside the garden from some subterranean reservoir. There was no rain at that time.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:11 Pishon . . . Havilah. Locations are uncertain. This represents pre-flood geography, now dramatically altered.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:12 bdellium. A gum resin. This refers more to appearance than color, i.e., it had the appearance of a pale resin.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:13 Gihon . . . Cush. The river location is uncertain. Cush could be modern-day Ethiopia.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:14 Tigris . . . Assyria. The post-flood Tigris River runs northwest to southeast of the city of Babylon through the Mesopotamian Valley. Euphrates. A river that runs parallel (northwest to southeast) to the Tigris and empties into the Persian Gulf after joining the Tigris.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:15 work it and keep it. Work was an important and dignified part of representing the image of God and serving him, even before the fall. Cf. Rev. 22:3.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:17 surely die. To “die” has the basic idea of separation. It can mean spiritual separation, physical separation, and/or eternal separation. At the moment of their sin, Adam and Eve died spiritually, but because God was merciful they did not die physically until later (5:5). There is no reason given for this prohibition, other than it was a test (see note on v. 9). There was nothing magical about that tree, but eating from it after it had been forbidden by God would indeed give man the knowledge of evil—since evil can be defined as disobeying God. Man already had the knowledge of good.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:18 not good. When God saw his creation as very good (1:31), he viewed it as being to that point the perfect outcome to his creative plan. However, in observing man’s state as not good, he was commenting on his incompleteness before the end of the sixth day because the woman, Adam’s counterpart, had not yet been created. The words of this verse emphasize man’s need for a companion, a helper, and an equal. He was incomplete without someone to complement him in fulfilling the task of filling, multiplying, and taking dominion over the earth. This points to Adam’s inadequacy, not Eve’s insufficiency (cf. 1 Cor. 11:9). Woman was made by God to meet man’s deficiency (cf. 1 Tim. 2:14).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:19 This was not a new creation of animals. They were created before man on the fifth and sixth days (1:20–25). Here the Lord God was calling attention to the fact that he created them out of the ground as he did man, but man, who was a living soul in the image of God, was to name them, signifying his rule over them.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:20 gave names to. Naming is an act of discerning something about the creature so as to appropriately identify it and also an act of leadership or authority over that which was named. There is no kinship with any animal since none was a fitting companion for Adam.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:21 one of his ribs. This could also be “sides,” including surrounding flesh (“flesh of my flesh,” v. 23). Divine surgery by the Creator presented no problems. This would also imply the first act of healing in Scripture.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:23 bone of my bones. Adam’s poem focuses on naming the delight of his heart in this newly found companion. The man (Hb. ish) names her “woman” (Hb. isha) because she had her source in him (the root of the word “woman” is “soft”). She truly was made of bone from his bones and flesh from his flesh. Cf. 1 Cor. 11:8. The English words man/woman sustain the same relationship as the Hebrew words, hinting at that original creation.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:24 leave . . . hold fast to. The marital relationship was established as the first human institution. The responsibility to honor one’s parents (Ex. 20:12) does not cease with leaving and the union of husband with wife (Matt. 19:5; Mark 10:7, 8; 1 Cor. 6:16; Eph. 5:31), but does represent the inauguration of a new and primary responsibility. “Hold fast” carries the sense of a permanent or indissoluble union, so that divorce was not considered (cf. Gen. 2:16). “One flesh” speaks of a complete unity of parts making a whole, e.g., one cluster, many grapes (Num. 13:23) or one God in three persons (Deut. 6:4); thus this marital union was complete and whole with two people. This also implies their sexual completeness. One man and one woman constitute the pair to reproduce. The “one flesh” is primarily seen in the child born of that union, the one perfect result of the union of two. Cf. uses of this verse in Matt. 19:5, 6; Mark 10:8; 1 Cor. 6:16; Eph. 5:31. Permanent monogamy was and continues to be God’s design and law for marriage.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 2:25 both naked . . . not ashamed. With no knowledge of evil before the fall, even nakedness was shameless and innocent. They found their complete gratification in the joy of their one union and their service to God. With no inward principle of evil to work on, the solicitation to sin had to come from without, and it did.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:1 the serpent. The word means “snake.” The apostle John identified this creature as Satan (cf. Rev. 12:9; 20:2) as did Paul (2 Cor. 11:3). The serpent, a manifestation of Satan, appears for the first time before the fall of man. The rebellion of Satan, therefore, had occurred sometime after Gen. 1:31 (when everything in creation was good), but before 3:1. Cf. Ezek. 28:11–15 for a possible description of Satan’s dazzling beauty and Isa. 14:13–14 for Satan’s motivation to challenge God’s authority (cf. 1 John 3:8). Satan, being a fallen archangel and, thus, a supernatural spirit, had possessed the body of a snake in its pre-fall form (cf. Gen. 3:14 for post-fall form). more crafty. Deceitful; cf. Matt. 10:16. to the woman. She was the object of his attack, being the weaker one and needing the protection of her husband. He found her alone and unfortified by Adam’s experience and counsel. Cf. 2 Tim. 3:6. Though sinless, she was temptable and seducible. Did God actually say . . . ? In effect Satan said, “Is it true that he has restricted you from the delights of this place? This is not like one who is truly good and kind. There must be some mistake.” He insinuated doubt as to her understanding of God’s will, appearing as an angel of light (2 Cor. 11:14) to lead her to the supposed true interpretation. She received him without fear or surprise, but as some credible messenger from heaven with the true understanding, because of his cunning.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:2–3 In her answer, Eve extolled the great liberty that they had; they could eat all the fruit, with only one exception.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:3 not . . . touch it. An addition to the original prohibition as recorded (cf. Gen. 2:17). Adam may have so instructed her for her protection.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:4–5 not surely die. Satan, emboldened by her openness to him, spoke this direct lie. This lie actually led her and Adam to spiritual death (separation from God). So, Satan is called a liar and murderer from the beginning (John 8:44). His lies always promise great benefits (as in Gen. 3:5). Eve experienced this result—she and Adam did know good and evil; but by personal corruption, they did not know as God knows in perfect holiness.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:6 good . . . delight . . . to be desired. She decided that Satan was telling the truth and she had misunderstood God, but she didn’t know what she was doing. It was not overt rebellion against God, but seduction and deception to make her believe her act was the right thing to do (cf. v. 13). The NT confirms that Eve was deceived (2 Cor. 11:3; 1 Tim. 2:14; Rev. 12:9). he ate. A direct transgression without deception (see note on 1 Tim. 2:13–14).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:7 opened . . . knew . . . sewed. The innocence noted in 2:25 had been replaced by guilt and shame (3:8–10), and from then on they had to rely on their conscience to distinguish between good and their newly acquired capacity to see and know evil.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:8 God appeared, as before, in tones of goodness and kindness, walking in some visible form (perhaps Shekinah light as he later appeared in Ex. 33:18–23; 34:5–8, 29; 40:34–38). He came not in fury, but in the same condescending way he had walked with Adam and Eve before.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:9 Where are you? The question was God’s way of bringing man to explain why he was hiding, rather than expressing ignorance about man’s location. Shame, remorse, confusion, guilt, and fear all led to their clandestine behavior. There was no place to hide; there never is. See Ps. 139:1–

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:10 the sound of you. The sound of v. 8, which probably was God calling for Adam and Eve. Adam responded with the language of fear and sorrow, but not confession.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:11 Adam's sin was evidenced by his new knowledge of the evil of nakedness, but God still waited for Adam to confess to what God knew they had done. The basic reluctance of sinful people to admit their iniquity is here established. Repentance is still the issue. When sinners refuse to repent, they suffer judgment; when they do repent, they receive forgiveness.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:12 The woman whom you gave. Adam pitifully put the responsibility on God for giving him Eve. That only magnified the tragedy in that Adam had knowingly transgressed God's prohibition, but still would not be open and confess his sin, taking full responsibility for his action, which was not made under deception (1 Tim. 2:14).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:13 The serpent deceived me. The woman's desperate effort to pass the blame to the serpent, which was partially true (1 Tim. 2:14), did not absolve her of the responsibility for her distrust and disobedience toward God.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:14 to the serpent. The cattle and all the rest of creation were cursed (see Rom. 8:20–23; cf. Jer. 12:4) as a result of Adam and Eve's eating, but the serpent was uniquely cursed by being made to slither on its belly. It probably had legs before this curse. Now snakes represent all that is odious, disgusting, and low. They are branded with infamy and avoided with fear. Cf. Isa. 65:25 and Mic. 7:17.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:15 After cursing the physical serpent, God turned to the spiritual serpent, the lying seducer, Satan, and cursed him. bruise your head . . . bruise his heel. This "first gospel" is prophetic of the struggle and its outcome between "your offspring" (Satan and unbelievers, who are called the devil's children in John 8:44) and her offspring (Christ, a descendant of Eve, and those in him), which began in the garden. In the midst of the curse passage, a message of hope shone forth—the woman's offspring called "he" is Christ, who will one day defeat the Serpent. Satan could only "bruise" Christ's heel (cause him to suffer), while Christ will bruise Satan's head (destroy him with a fatal blow).

Paul, in a passage strongly reminiscent of Gen. 3, encouraged the believers in Rome, “The God of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet” (Rom. 16:20). Believers should recognize that they participate in the crushing of Satan because, along with their savior and because of his finished work on the cross, they also are of the woman’s seed. For more on the destruction of Satan, see Heb. 2:14–15 and Rev. 20:10.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:16 pain in childbearing. This is a constant reminder that a woman gave birth to sin in the human race and passes it on to all her children. She can be delivered from this curse by raising godly children, as indicated in 1 Tim. 2:15 (see note there. Your desire . . . he shall rule. Just as the woman and her seed will engage in a war with the serpent, i.e., Satan and his seed (Gen. 3:15), because of sin and the curse, the man and the woman will face struggles in their own relationship. Sin has turned the harmonious system of God-ordained roles into distasteful struggles of self-will. Lifelong companions, husbands and wives, will need God’s help in getting along as a result. The woman’s desire will be to lord it over her husband, but the husband will rule by divine design (Eph. 5:22–25). This interpretation of the curse is based upon the identical Hebrew words and grammar being used in Gen. 4:7 (see note there to show the conflict man will have with sin as it seeks to rule him).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:17 Because you have listened. The reason given for the curse on the ground and human death is that man turned his back on the voice of God, to follow his wife in eating that from which God had ordered him to abstain. The woman sinned because she acted independently of her husband, disdainingly his leadership, counsel, and protection. The man sinned because he abandoned his leadership and followed the wishes of his wife. In both cases, God’s intended roles were reversed.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:17–18 cursed is the ground because of you. God cursed the object of man’s labor and made it reluctantly, yet richly, yield his food through hard work.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:19 return to the ground. I.e., to die (cf. 2:7). Man, by sin, became mortal. Although he did not die the moment he ate (by God’s mercy), he was changed immediately and became liable to all the sufferings and miseries of life, to death, and to the pains of hell forever. Adam lived 930 years (5:5).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:21 garments of skins. The first physical deaths should have been the man and his wife, but it was an animal—a shadow of the reality that God would someday kill a substitute to redeem sinners.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:22 like one of us. See note on 1:26. This was spoken out of compassion for the man and woman, who only in limited ways were like the Trinity, knowing good and evil—not by holy omniscience, but by personal experience (cf. Isa. 6:3; Hab. 1:13; Rev. 4:8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:22–23 and live forever. See note on 2:9. God told man that he would surely die if he ate of the forbidden tree. But God’s concern may also have been that man not live forever in his pitifully cursed condition. Taken in the broader context of Scripture, driving the man and his wife out of the garden was an act of merciful grace to prevent them from being sustained forever by the tree of life.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 3:24 cherubim. Later in Israel’s history, two cherubim or angelic figures guarded the ark of the covenant and the Most Holy Place in the tabernacle (Ex. 25:18–22), where God communed with his people. flaming sword. An unexplainable phenomenon, perhaps associated directly with the cherubim or the flaming, fiery Shekinah presence of God himself.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:1 knew Eve his wife. The act of sexual intercourse was considered the only means by which God himself gave children. He was acknowledged as the sovereign giver of all life.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:2 again, she bore. Some think the boys may have been twins, since no time element intervenes between vv. 1–2. keeper of sheep . . . worker of the ground. Both occupations were respectable; in fact, most people subsisted through a combination of both. God’s focus was not on their vocation, but on the nature of their respective offerings.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:3 fruit of the ground. Produce in general.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:4 firstborn . . . fat. The best animals.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:4–5 Abel’s offering was acceptable (cf. Heb. 11:4), not just because it was an animal, nor just because it was the very best of what he had, nor even that it was the culmination of a zealous heart for God; but, because it was in every way obediently given according to what God must have revealed (though not recorded in Genesis). Cain, disdaining the divine instruction, just brought what he wanted to bring: some of his crop.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:5–6 angry. Rather than being repentant for his sinful disobedience, he was hostile toward God, whom he could not kill, and jealous of his brother, whom he could kill (cf. 1 John 3:12; Jude 11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:7 do well . . . be accepted. God reminded Cain that if he had obeyed God and offered the animal sacrifices God had required, his sacrifices would have been acceptable. It wasn't personal preference on God's part, or disdain for Cain's vocation, or the quality of his produce that caused God to reject his sacrifice. sin is crouching at the door. God told Cain that if he chose not to obey his commands, ever-present sin, crouched and waiting to pounce like a lion, would fulfill its desire to overpower him (cf. 3:16).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:8 The first murder in Scripture (cf. Matt. 23:35; Luke 11:51; Heb. 12:24). Cain rejected the wisdom spoken to him by God himself, rejected doing well, refused to repent, and thus crouching sin pounced and turned him into a killer. Cf. 1 John 3:10–12.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:9 am I my brother's keeper? Cain's sarcasm was a play on words, based on the fact that Abel was the "keeper" of sheep. Lying was the third sin resulting from Cain's attitude of indifference to God's commands. Sin was ruling over him (v. 7).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:10 voice . . . blood. A figure of speech to indicate that Abel's death was well known to God.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:11 cursed from the ground. A second curse came from God affecting just the productivity of the soil Cain would till. To a farmer like Cain, this curse was severe, and meant that Cain would all his life be, "a fugitive and a wanderer" (vv. 12, 14).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:14 whoever . . . kill me. This shows that the population of the earth was, by then, greatly increased. As a wanderer and scavenger in an agrarian world, Cain would be easy prey for those who wanted his life.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:15 mark. While not described here, it involved some sort of identifiable mark that he was under divine protection, which was mercifully given. At the same time, the mark that saved him was the lifelong sign of his shame.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:16 Nod. An unknown location.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:17 Cain knew his wife. Cain's wife obviously was one of Adam's later daughters (5:4). By Moses' time, this kind of close marriage was forbidden (Lev. 18:7–17), because of genetic decay. Enoch. His name means “initiation,” and was symbolic of the new city where Cain would try to mitigate his curse.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:19 two wives. No reason is given on Lamech's part for the first recorded instance of bigamy. He led the Cainites in open rebellion against God (cf. 2:24) by his violation of marriage law.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:20 Jabal. He invented tents and the nomadic life of herdsmen so common in the Middle East and elsewhere.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:21 Jubal. He invented both stringed and wind instruments.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:22 Tubal-cain. He invented metallurgy.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:23–24 Lamech killed someone in self-defense. He told his wives that they need not fear any harm coming to them for the killing because if anyone tried to retaliate, he would retaliate and kill them. He thought that if God promised sevenfold vengeance on anyone killing Cain, he would give 77-fold vengeance on anyone attacking Lamech.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:25 Seth. With Cain removed as the older brother and heir of the family blessing, and with Abel dead, God graciously gave Adam and Eve a godly son through whom the seed of redemption (3:15) would be passed all the way to Jesus Christ (Luke 3:38).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 4:26 people began to call upon the name of the Lord. As men realized their inherent sinfulness with no human means to appease God's righteous indignation and wrath over their multiplied iniquities, they turned to God for mercy and grace in hopes of a restored personal relationship.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 5:1–6:8 generations of Adam. Ten specific families are mentioned. Most likely, in accord with other biblical genealogies, this listing is representative rather than complete (cf. Ruth 4:18–22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 5:1–32 Adam . . . Noah. The genealogy connects Adam to the Noahic family which not only survived the flood, but also became first in God's re-creation. Two recurring phrases carry redemption history forward: "he had other sons and daughters" and "and he died." These lines, which get repeated for each successive descendant of Adam, echo two contrasting realities; God had said "you shall surely die" (2:17), but he had also commanded them to "be fruitful and multiply" (1:28).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 5:1 the likeness of God. See notes on 1:26.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 5:2 named them Man. In naming man, God declared his own dominion over all creation (Matt. 19:4; Mark 10:6).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 5:3 in his own likeness, after his image. The human image and likeness in which God created mankind was procreatively passed to the second generation and to all generations that follow.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 5:5 930 years. These are literal years marking unusual length of life, which are accounted for by the pre-flood environment provided by the earth being under a canopy of water, filtering out the ultraviolet rays of the sun and producing a much more moderate and healthful condition. See notes on 1:7 and 2:6. and he died. God told Adam that if he ate of the tree he would surely die (2:17). It included spiritual death immediately and then physical death later.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 5:24 walked with God . . . was not, for God took him. Enoch is the only break in the chapter from the incessant comment, "and he died." Cf. 4:17, 18; 1 Chron. 1:3; Luke 3:37; Heb. 11:5; Jude 14. Only one other man is said to have enjoyed this intimacy of relationship in walking with God, Noah (Gen. 6:9). Enoch experienced being taken to heaven alive by God, as did Elijah later (2 Kings 2:1–12).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 5:25–27 Methuselah. The man who lived the longest life on record. He died the year of the flood judgment (cf. 7:6).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 5:29 this one shall bring us relief. Comfort and relief would come through the godly life of Noah, who is "an heir of the righteousness that comes by faith" (Heb. 11:7).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:1–4 The account that follows records an act of degradation that reveals the end-point of God's patience.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:1 Such long lifespans as indicated in the record of ch. 5 caused massive increase in earth's population.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:2 sons of God . . . daughters of man. The sons of God, identified elsewhere almost exclusively as angels (Job 1:6; 2:1; 38:7), saw and took wives of the human race. This produced an unnatural union which violated the God-ordained order of human marriage and procreation (Gen. 2:24). Some have argued that the sons of God were the sons of Seth who cohabited with the daughters of Cain; others suggest they were perhaps human kings wanting to build harems. But the passage puts strong emphasis on the angelic vs. human contrast. The NT places this account in sequence with other Genesis events and identifies it as involving fallen angels who indwelt men (see notes on 2 Pet. 2:4, 5; Jude 6). Matthew 22:30 does not necessarily negate the possibility that angels are capable of procreation, but just that they do not marry. To procreate physically, they had to possess human, male bodies.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:3 My Spirit. Cf. Gen. 1:2. The Holy Spirit played a most active role in the OT. The Spirit had been striving to call men to repentance and righteousness, especially as Scripture notes, through the preaching of Enoch and Noah (1 Pet. 3:20; 2 Pet. 2:5; Jude 14). 120. The span of time until the flood (cf. 1 Pet. 3:20), in which man was given opportunity to respond to the warning that God's Spirit would not always be patient.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:4 Nephilim. This word is from a root meaning "to fall," indicating that they were strong men who "fell" on others in the sense of overpowering them (the only other use of this term is in Num. 13:33). They were already in the earth when the "mighty men" and "men of renown" were born. The fallen ones are not the offspring from the union in 6:1–2.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:5 his heart was only evil continually. This is one of the strongest and clearest statements about man's sinful nature. Sin begins in the thought-life (see notes on James 1:13–15). The people of Noah's day were exceedingly wicked, from the inside out. Cf. Jer. 17:9–10; Matt. 12:34–35; 15:18–19; Mark 7:21; Luke 6:45.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:6 sorry . . . grieved. Sin sorrowed God who is holy and without blemish (Eph. 4:30). Cf. Ex. 32:14; 1 Sam. 15:11; Jer. 26:3.

(cf. Eccles. 8:11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:8 But Noah found favor. Lest one believe that Noah was spared because of his good works alone (cf. Heb. 11:7), God makes it clear that Noah was a man who believed in God as Creator, Sovereign, and the only Savior from sin. He found grace for himself, because he humbled himself and sought it (cf. 4:26). See notes on Isa. 55:6–7; he was obedient, as well (Gen. 6:22; 7:5; James 4:6–10).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:9–9:29 The generations of Noah.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:9 a righteous man, blameless . . . walked with God. Cf. Ezek. 14:14, 20 and 2 Pet. 2:5. The order is one of increasing spiritual quality before God: “righteous” is to live by God’s righteous standards; “blameless” sets him apart by a comparison with those of his day; and that he “walked with God” puts him in a class with Enoch (Gen. 5:24).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:11 corrupt . . . filled with violence. Cf. 6:3, 5. The seed of Satan, the fallen rejectors of God, deceitful and destructive, had dominated the world.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:13 I will destroy them with the earth. Destroy did not mean annihilation, but rather referred to the flood judgment, both of the earth and its inhabitants.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:14 ark. A hollow chest, a box designed to float on water (Ex. 2:3). gopher wood. Probably cedar or cypress trees, abundant in the mountains of Armenia.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:15–16 While the ark was not designed for beauty or speed, these dimensions provided extraordinary stability in the tumultuous floodwaters. A cubit was about 18 inches long, making the ark 450 feet long, 75 feet wide, and 45 feet high. A gigantic box of that size would be very stable in the water, impossible to capsize. The volume of space in the ark was 1.4 million cubic feet, equal to the capacity of 522 standard railroad box cars, which could carry 125,000 sheep. It had three stories, each 15 feet high; each deck was equipped with various rooms (lit., “nests”). “Pitch” was a resin substance to seal the seams and cracks in the wood. The “door” may have actually been a low wall around the flat roof to catch water for all on the ark.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:17 flood of waters. Other notable Scriptures on the worldwide flood brought by God include: Job 12:15; 22:16; Ps. 29:10; Isa. 54:9; Matt. 24:37–39; Luke 17:26–27; Heb. 11:7; 1 Pet. 3:20; 2 Pet. 2:5; 3:5–6.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:18 But I will establish my covenant with you. In contrast with the rest of the created order that God was to destroy, Noah and his family were not only to be preserved, but they were to enjoy the provision and protection of a covenant relationship with God. This is the first mention of “covenant” in Scripture. This pledged covenant is actually made and explained in 9:9–17 (see notes there).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 6:19–20 There are fewer than 18,000 species living on earth today. This number may have been doubled to allow for now-extinct creatures. With two of each, a total of 72,000 creatures is reasonable as indicated in the note on 6:15–16; the cubic space could hold 125,000 sheep, and since the average size of land animals is less than a sheep, perhaps less than 60 percent of the space was used. The very large animals were surely represented by young. There was ample room also for the one million species of insects, as well as food for a year for everyone (v. 21).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 7:1 righteous. Cf. 6:9 and Job 1:1.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 7:2–3 seven . . . seven. The extra six pairs of clean animals and birds would be used for sacrifice (8:20) and food (9:3).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 7:3 to keep their offspring alive. So that God could use them to replenish the earth.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 7:4 God allowed one more week for sinners to repent. rain . . . forty days and forty nights. A worldwide rain for this length of time is impossible in post-flood atmospheric conditions, but not then. The canopy that covered the whole earth (see note on 1:7), a thermal water blanket encircling the earth, was to be condensed and dumped all over the globe (7:10).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 7:11 month . . . day. The calendar system of Noah’s day is unknown, although it appears that one month equaled 30 days. If calculated by the Jewish calendar of Moses’ day, it would be about May. This period of God’s grace was ended (cf. 6:3, 8; 7:4). all the fountains of the great deep burst forth. The subterranean waters sprang up from inside the earth to form the seas and rivers (1:10; 2:10–14), which were not produced by rainfall (since there was none), but by deep fountains in the earth. the windows of the heavens. The celestial waters in the canopy encircling the globe were dumped on the earth and joined with the terrestrial and the subterranean waters (cf. 1:7). This ended the water canopy surrounding the earth and unleashed the water in the earth; together these phenomena began the new system of hydrology that has since characterized the earth (see Job 26:8; Eccles. 1:7; Isa. 55:10; Amos 9:6). The sequence in this verse, indicating that the earth’s crust breaks up first, then the heavens drop their water, is interesting because the volcanic explosions that would have occurred when the earth fractured would have sent magma and dust into the atmosphere, along with gigantic sprays of water, gas, and air—all penetrating the canopy triggering its downpour.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 7:16 the Lord shut him in. No small event is spared in the telling of this episode, although the details are sparse.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 7:19 all the high mountains. This describes the extent of the flood as global. Lest there be any doubt, Moses adds “under the whole heaven” (cf. 2 Pet. 3:5–7). There are over 270 flood stories told in cultures all over the earth, which owe their origin to this one global event.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 7:20 The highest mountains were at least 22.5 feet under water, so that the ark floated freely above the peaks. This would include the highest peak in that area, Mount Ararat (8:4), which is c. 17,000 feet high. That depth further proves it was not a local flood, but a global one.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 7:24 150 days. These days included the 40-day-and-night period of rain (7:12, 17). The flood rose to its peak at that point (cf. 8:3). It then took over two and a half months before the water receded to reveal other mountain peaks (8:4–5), over four and a half months before the dove could find dry land (8:8–12), and almost eight months before the occupants could leave the ark (8:14).

The Flood Chronology

The Flood Chronology
1. In the 600th year of Noah (second month, tenth day), Noah entered the ark ( Gen. 7:4, 10, 11 ).
2. In the 600th year of Noah (second month, seventeenth day), the flood began ( Gen. 7:11 ).
3. The waters flooded the earth for 150 days (five months of 30 days each), including the 40 days and 40 nights of rain ( Gen. 7:12, 17, 24; 8:1 ), plus the initial receding.

4. The waters further receded to the point that (600th year, seventh month, seventeenth day) the ark rested on Ararat ( Gen. 8:3, 4 )
5. The waters continued to abate so that (600th year, tenth month, first day) the tops of the mountains were visible ( Gen. 8:5 ).
6. Forty days later (600th year, eleventh month, tenth day) Noah sent out a raven and a dove ( Gen. 8:6 ). Over the next 14 days, Noah sent out two more doves ( Gen. 8:10, 12 ). In all, this took 61 days or two months and one day.
7. By Noah's 601st year on the first month, the first day, the water had dried up ( Gen. 8:12, 13 ).
8. Noah waited one month and 26 days before he disembarked in the second month, the twenty-seventh day of his 601st year. From beginning to end, the flood lasted one year and 10 days from Gen. 7:11 to Gen. 8:14 .

GENESIS—NOTE ON 8:1 But God remembered Noah. God's covenant with Noah brought provision and protection in the midst of severe judgment. The remnant was preserved, and God initiated steps toward reestablishing the created order on earth. the waters subsided. God used the wind to dry the ground; evaporation returned water to the atmosphere.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 8:4 the mountains of Ararat. These were in the region of the Caucasus, also known as ancient Urartu, where the elevation exceeded 17,000 feet.

Major Mountains of the Bible

Major Mountains of the Bible
Mount Ararat (in modern Turkey), where Noah's ark came to rest ( Gen. 8:4 ).
Mount Carmel , where Elijah was victorious over the prophets of Baal ( 1 Kings 18:9–42 ).
Mount Ebal (opposite Mount Gerizim), where Moses commanded that an altar be built after the Hebrews entered the Promised Land ( Deut. 27:4 ).
Mount Gerizim , where Jesus talked with the Samaritan woman at the well ( John 4:20 ).
Mount Gilboa , where King Saul and his sons were killed in a battle with the Philistines ( 1 Chron. 10:1, 8 ).
Mount Hermon , a mountain range that marked the northern limit of the conquest of Canaan ( Josh. 11:3, 17 ).
Mount Lebanon , the source of cedar wood for Solomon's temple in Jerusalem ( 1 Kings 5:14, 18 ).
Mount Moriah , where Abraham brought Isaac for sacrifice ( Gen. 22:2 ) and the location of Solomon's temple ( 2 Chron. 3:1 ).
Mount Olivet , or Mount of Olives, where Jesus gave the discourse on his second coming ( Matt. 24:3 ).
Mount Pisgah , or Nebo, where Moses viewed the Promised Land ( Deut. 34:1 ).
Mount Seir , south of the Dead Sea, the location to which Esau moved after Isaac's death ( Gen. 36:8 ).
Mount Sinai , or Horeb (near Egypt), where the law was given to Moses ( Ex. 19:2–25 ).

Mount Tabor, 6 miles east of Nazareth, served as a boundary between Issachar and Zebulun; also Barak launched his attack on Sisera from Tabor (Judg. 4:6–15).

Mount Zion, originally limited to the southwest sector (2 Sam. 5:7), was later used of all Jerusalem (Lam. 1:4).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 8:7–12 a raven . . . a dove. Ravens survive on a broad range of food types. If any food was available outside the ark, the raven could survive. In contrast, a dove is much more selective in its food choices. The dove's choice of food would indicate that new life had begun to grow; thus Noah and his family could also survive outside the ark.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 8:14–16 Noah and his family had been in the ark for 378 days (cf. 7:4, 10, 11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 8:17–19 be fruitful and multiply. In the process of replenishing the created order that he had judged with destruction, God repeated the words of the blessing that he had put upon non-human creatures (1:22). Noah faced a new world where longevity of life began to decline immediately; the earth was subject to storms and severe weather, blazing heat, freezing cold, seismic action, and natural disasters.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 8:20 built an altar. This was done as an act of worship in response to God's covenant faithfulness in sparing him and his family.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 8:21 smelled the pleasing aroma. God accepted Noah's sacrifice. curse . . . strike down. Regardless of how sinful mankind would become in the future, God promised not to engage in global catastrophe by flood again (cf. 9:11). See notes on 2 Pet. 3:3–10 for how God will destroy the earth in the future.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 8:22 While the earth remains. With many alterations from the global flood, God reestablished the cycle of seasons after the catastrophic interruption.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:1 blessed Noah . . . Be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth. God blessed Noah and recommissioned him to fill the earth (cf. 1:28).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:2–3 The fear of you. Man's relationship to the animals appears to have changed, in that man is free to eat animals for sustenance (v. 3).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:4 blood. Raw blood was not to be consumed as food. It symbolically represented life. To shed blood symbolically represented death (cf. Lev. 17:11). The blood of animals, representing their life, was not to be eaten. It was, in fact, that blood that God designed to be a covering for sin (Lev. 17:11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:5 beast . . . man. Capital punishment was invoked upon every animal (Ex. 21:28) or man who took human life unlawfully. Cf. John 19:11; Acts 25:11; Rom. 13:4 for clear NT support for this punishment.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:6 for God made man in his own image. The reason man could kill animals, but neither animals nor man could kill man, is because man alone was created in God's image.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:9–17 This is the first covenant God made with man, afterward called the Noahic Covenant.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:9–10 with you and your offspring . . . with every living creature. The covenant with Noah included living creatures as was first promised in 6:18.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:11 by the waters. The specific promise of this covenant, never to destroy the world again by water, was qualified by the means, for God has since promised to destroy the earth with fire one day (2 Pet. 3:10–11; Rev. 20:9; 21:1).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:12 the sign of the covenant. The rainbow is the perpetual, symbolic reminder of this covenant promise, just as circumcision of all males would be for the Abrahamic Covenant (17:10–11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:15 I will remember. Not simple recognition, but God's commitment to keep the promise.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:16 the everlasting covenant. This covenant with Noah is the first of five divinely originated covenants in Scripture explicitly described as "everlasting." The other four include: 1) Abrahamic (Gen. 17:7); 2) Priestly (Num. 25:10–13); 3) Davidic (2 Sam. 23:5); and 4) new (Jer. 32:40). The term "everlasting" can mean either 1) to the end of time and/or 2) through eternity future. It never looks back to eternity past. Of the six explicitly mentioned covenants of this kind in Scripture, only the Mosaic or Old Covenant was nullified.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:18 Ham was the father of Canaan. Canaan's offspring, the idolatrous enemies of Israel whose land Abraham's descendants would later take (15:13–16), becomes a primary focus in ch. 10. This notation is important since Moses was writing the Pentateuch just before the Israelites took Canaan (see Introduction: Author and Date; Background and Setting).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:19 from these the people of the whole earth. All men who have ever lived since the flood came from these three sons of Noah (cf. 10:32). The “one man” (Acts 17:26) from whom all nations came is Adam through Noah. All physical characteristics of the whole race were present in the genetics of Noah, his sons, and their wives.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:21 became drunk. Fermentation, which leads to drunkenness, may have been caused by changed ecological conditions as a result of the flood. Noah may have taken off his clothes because of the heat, or been involuntarily exposed due to his drunkenness.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:22 saw the nakedness. There is no reasonable support for the notion that some perverse activity, in addition to seeing nakedness, occurred. But clearly, the implication is that Ham looked with some sinful thought, if only for a while until he left to inform his brothers. Perhaps he was glad to see his father's dignity and authority reduced to such weakness. He thought his brothers might share his feelings so he eagerly told them. They did not, however, share his attitude (v. 23).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:25–27 Cursed be Canaan. The shift from Ham to his son Canaan established the historic legitimacy of Israel's later conquest of the Canaanites. These were the people with whom Israel had to do battle shortly after they first heard Moses' reading of this passage. Here, God gave Israel the theological basis for the conquest of Canaan. The descendants of Ham had received a sentence of judgment for the sins of their progenitor. In 10:15–20, the descendants of Canaan are seen to be the earlier inhabitants of the land later promised to Abraham.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:26 let Canaan be his servant. Conquered peoples were called servants, even if they were not household or private slaves. Shem, the ancestor of Israel, and the other “Semites” were to be the masters of Ham's descendants, the Canaanites. The latter would give their land to the former.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 9:27  dwell in the tents. This means that spiritual blessings would come to the Japhethites through the God of Shem (v. 26) and the line of Shem from which Messiah would come.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:1–11:9 The genealogy of Shem, Ham, and Japheth (v. 1).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:1–32 See the map “Table of Nations” for the locations of Noah’s descendants.

c. 2200 B.C.

Many of the people groups mentioned in Gen. 10 can be identified with relative certainty. In general, the descendants of Ham settled in North Africa and the eastern Mediterranean coast, the descendants of Shem in Mesopotamia and Arabia, and the descendants of Japheth in Europe and the greater area of Asia Minor.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:5 spread . . . each with his own language. This act describes the situation after the Tower of Babel account in ch. 11.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:6–20 The sons of Ham. Many of whom were Israel’s enemies.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:8–10 Nimrod. This powerful leader was evidently the force behind the building of Babel (see 11:1–4).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:10 Babel. The beginning of what later would prove to be Babylon, the destroyer of God’s people and his city Jerusalem (c. 605–539 B.C.).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:11 into Assyria and built Nineveh. This was Israel’s primary enemy from the East. Nimrod was Israel’s prototypical ancient enemy warrior, whose name in Hebrew means “rebel” (cf. Mic. 5:6).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:15–19 Canaan. A notable shift occurs in this section away from place names to the inhabitants themselves (note the “ite” ending). These are not only the cursed people of Canaan’s curse for the scene at Noah’s drunkenness, but also they are those who possess the Promised Land which Israel as a nation needed to conquer. But the Noahic curse alone did not determine their guilt, for God said to Abram that the iniquity of the Amorites must first be complete before his descendants could occupy the Promised Land (15:16).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:21–31 The sons of Shem. I.e., Semitic people.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:21 elder brother of Japheth. Shem was the oldest of Noah’s three sons.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 10:25 the earth was divided. This looks ahead to the dispersion of nations at Babel (11:1–9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:1 one language and the same words. God, who made man as the one creature with whom he could speak (1:28), was to take the gift of language and use it to divide the race, for the apostate worship at Babel indicated that man had turned against God in pride (11:8–9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:2 as people migrated from the east. God had restated his commission for man to “be fruitful and multiply, teem on the earth” (9:7). It was in the course of spreading out that the events of this account occurred.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:3–4 let us make bricks . . . build ourselves a city and a tower . . . make a name for ourselves. While dispersing, a portion of the post-flood group, under the leading of the powerful Nimrod (10:8–10), decided to stop and establish a city as a monument to their pride and for their reputation. The tower, even though it was a part of the plan, was not the singular act of rebellion. Human pride was, which led these people to defy God. They were refusing to move on, i.e., scattering to fill the earth as they had been instructed. In fact, this was Nimrod's and the people's effort to disobey the command of God in 9:1, and thus defeat the counsel of heaven. They had to make bricks, since there were few stones on the plain.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:4 with its top in the heavens. Not that the tower would actually reach to the abode of God and not that the top would represent the heavens. They wanted it to be a high tower as a monument to their abilities, one that would enhance their fame. In this endeavor, they disobeyed God and attempted to steal his glory.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:6 nothing . . . will now be impossible. They were so united that they would do all they desired to do.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:7 let us. See note on 1:26 (cf. 3:22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:8 dispersed them from there. God addressed their prideful rebellion at the first act. They had chosen to settle; he forced them to scatter. This account tells how it was that the families of the earth “spread . . . each with his own language” (10:5) and “spread abroad on the earth after the flood” (10:32).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:9 its name was called Babel. This is linked to a Hebrew word meaning “to confuse.” From this account, Israel first understood not only how so many nations, peoples, and languages came about, but also the rebellious origins of their archetypal enemy, Babylon (cf. 10:5, 20, 31). dispersed them. Because they would not fill the earth as God had commanded them, God confused their language so that they had to separate and collect in regions where their own language was spoken.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:10–26 Shem . . . Abram. The genealogy of Shem (v. 10). Israel, upon hearing this section read, learned how the generation who survived the flood related to their own father, Abram (v. 26), later known as Abraham (cf. 17:5). The shortening of lifespans was in effect.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:14 Eber. Progenitor of the Hebrews (i.e., Eber's descendants).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:26 70 years. The age that Terah began to father children.

Abram was born later when Terah was 130 (c. 2165 B.C.). Cf. 11:32 with 12:4.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:27–25:11 The genealogy of Terah (v. 27).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:27 Abram. The name means “exalted father.” Cf. 17:5.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:28 Ur of the Chaldeans. A prosperous, populous city in Mesopotamia.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 11:31 from Ur . . . to Haran. Cf. Acts 7:2–4 and Heb. 11:8–10. Abram traveled along the Euphrates to Haran, a crossroads trading town in northern Mesopotamia or Syria, the best route from which to come down into Canaan and avoid crossing the great desert with all his people and animals (see Gen. 12:4).

---

Abram Travels to Canaan

Abram was born in Ur, a powerful city in southern Babylonia. Abram’s father, Terah, eventually led the family toward the land of Canaan but decided to settle in Haran (see Gen. 11:27–31). After Terah’s death, the Lord called Abram to go “to the land that I will show you” (Canaan), which he promises to give to Abram’s descendants.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:1–3 the Lord . . . to Abram. This passage is the promise whose fulfillment extends all through Scripture (either in fact or in expectation) to Rev. 20. The actual Abrahamic Covenant is introduced in Gen. 12:1–3, actually made in 15:18–21, reaffirmed in 17:1–21, then renewed also with Isaac (26:2–5) and Jacob (28:10–17). It is an everlasting covenant (17:7–8; 1 Chron. 16:17; Ps. 105:7–12; Isa. 24:5) which contains four elements: 1) seed (Gen. 17:2–7; cf. Gal. 3:8, 16 where it referred to Christ); 2) land (Gen. 15:18–21; 17:8); 3) a nation (12:2; 17:4); plus 4) divine blessing and protection (12:3). This covenant is unconditional in the sense of its ultimate fulfillment of a kingdom and salvation for Israel (see notes on Rom. 11:1–27), but conditional in terms of immediate fulfillment (cf. Gen. 17:4). Its national importance to Israel is magnified by its repeated references and point of appeal throughout the OT (cf. 2 Kings 13:23; 1 Chron. 16:15–22; Neh. 9:7, 8). Its importance spiritually to all believers is expounded by Paul (see notes on Gal. 3–4). Stephen quoted Gen. 12:1 in Acts 7:3.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:1 to the land. Abram was still in Haran (11:31) when the call was repeated (Acts 7:2) to go to Canaan.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:2 name great. Abram’s magnificent reputation and legacy was fulfilled materially (13:2; 24:35), spiritually (21:22), and socially (23:6).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:3 him who dishonors you I will curse. Those who “dishonor” Abram and his descendants are those who treat him lightly, despise him, or treat him with contempt. God’s curse for such lack of respect and disdain was to involve the most harsh of divine judgments. The opposite was to be true for those who bless him and his people. in you all the families of the earth shall be blessed. Paul identified these words as “the gospel beforehand to Abraham” (Gal. 3:8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:4 Haran. See note on 11:31. They must have been there for some time because they accumulated a group of people (probably servants).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:5 they came to . . . Canaan. C. 2090 B.C.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:6 Shechem. A Canaanite town located in the valley between Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim (cf. Deut. 27:4, 12) west of the Jordan about 15 miles and north of Jerusalem about 30 miles. Moreh was most likely a resident of the area for whom the tree was named. Canaanites were in the land. Moses was writing approximately 700 years after Abram entered the land (c. 1405 B.C.). The Canaanites, of whom he wrote, were soon to be the opponents of Israel as they entered Canaan.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:7 I will give this land. Cf. 13:15; 15:18; 17:7–8; Gal. 3:16. God was dealing with Abram, not in a private promise, but with a view toward high and sacred interests long into the future, i.e., the land that his posterity was to inhabit as a peculiar people. The seeds of divine truth were to be sown there for the benefit of all mankind. It was chosen as the most appropriate land for the coming of divine revelation and salvation for the world. altar to the Lord. By this act, Abram made an open confession of his religion, established worship of the true God, and declared his faith in God’s promise. This was the first true place of worship ever erected in the Promised Land. Isaac would later build an altar also to commemorate the Lord's appearance to him (Gen. 26:24–25), and Jacob also built one in Shechem (33:18–20).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:8 Bethel . . . Ai. Bethel, 7 miles north of Jerusalem, was named later by Abraham (28:19). Ai was 2 miles east of Bethel, where Joshua later fought (Josh. 7–8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:9 toward the Negeb. Abram moved toward the Negeb into a less desirable area for raising crops but better for his vocation as a herdsman, perhaps engaging also in merchant activity.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:10 a famine in the land. Famine was not an unusual phenomenon in Canaan; two other major food shortages also occurred during the patriarchal period (26:1; 41:56). The severity and timing of this one forced Abram, soon after his arrival and travel in the Promised Land (12:5–9), to emigrate to Egypt, where food was usually in abundant supply. Still holding to God's promise, he did not return to Ur, though matters were extremely difficult (cf. Heb. 11:15).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:11 a woman beautiful in appearance. At 65, Sarai was still young and exceptionally attractive, being only half the age she was to be when she died (127). The patriarchs lived long; Abram was 175 when he died.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:12–13 Abram's fear of Sarai's being taken to Pharaoh's harem and his being killed led him to disguise his true relationship to her (cf. 20:13). Abram sought on his own initiative to take care of his future, thinking to assist God in fulfilling his promises.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:13 sister. This was a lying half-truth, since Sarai was Abram's half-sister (20:12).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:15 taken into Pharaoh's house. Egyptian officials did take notice of Sarai and informed their monarch of her beauty. The result was not unexpected; she ended up in Pharaoh's harem!

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:17 the Lord afflicted Pharaoh . . . with great plagues. The separation of Abram and Sarai was critical enough to evoke the Lord's personal and dramatic intervention. Abram engineered the ruse to protect himself (v. 13, "that my life may be spared") apparently without too much thought being given to Sarai; but God's reaction focused upon the protection of Sarai (“because of Sarai”).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:18–19 What is this you have done to me? . . . take her, and go. Somehow, and it remains unexplained, the plagues uncovered the deceit of Abram for Pharaoh. The monarch of Egypt humiliated Abram with his questions, showing more character than Abram gave him credit for and sending Abram out of his country.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 12:20 sent him away. Abram’s lie brought him and his extended family to an ignominious exit from Egypt—one which the servants must have talked about among themselves, with some loss to Abram’s integrity and reputation in their eyes. See note on 13:9.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:1–4 Significantly, after the disastrous situation in Egypt, Abram journeyed back to where he had erected an altar and there he again worshiped (see 12:8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:5 flocks and herds. Wealth in the ancient world was measured, not by land owned, but by the size of one’s herds and the possession of silver, gold, and jewels (cf. v. 2; Job 1:1–3).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:6–7 Not unexpectedly, conflict occurred because of crowded conditions and limited grazing space. Both uncle and nephew had accrued much on the slow trip from Ur via Haran and Egypt to the Bethel/Ai region.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:7 Perizzites. A Canaanite tribe. Cf. 34:30; Deut. 7:1; Judg. 1:4; 3:5–6; 1 Kings 9:20–21; Ezra 9:1.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:8 we are kinsmen. Abram’s whole reaction in resolving the strife between the two households and their personnel portrayed a different Abram than seen in Egypt; one whose attitude was not self-centered. Waving his right to seniority, he gave the choice to his nephew, Lot.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:9 Is not the whole land before you? Abram gladly called on Lot to select for himself (vv. 10–11) what he desired for his household and flocks. After Lot’s choice had been exercised, then Abram would accept what was left for him. Perhaps this did much to restore, in the eyes of the servants, Abram’s integrity and reputation (see note on 12:20).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:10 before the Lord destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah. When Moses was writing (700 years after Abram came to Canaan) the devastation of that region had long before occurred by divinely initiated catastrophe (19:23–29), totally obliterating any evidence of its agricultural richness. like the garden of the Lord, like . . . Egypt. This twofold appraisal of the Jordan Valley, with its meadows on either side of the river to which Lot was so strongly attracted, highlighted its lush and fertile nature. Moses, reading this to the Jews about to enter Canaan and likening it to the Garden of Eden, referred hearer and reader to God’s revelatory description of it (2:8–15). Likening it to an obviously well known and well irrigated region of Egypt referred them to a place the Jews had likely known well in their sojourn in Egypt. Zoar. Cf. 4:2. A town located at the south end of the Dead Sea, whose name means “little” (see 19:22 and esv footnote).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:11–12 An excellent yet selfish choice, from a worldly point of view, but disastrous spiritually because it drew him into the wickedness of Sodom (v. 13).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:13 the men of Sodom were wicked, great sinners. Lot’s decisions put him in dangerous proximity to those cities whose names would become a byword for perversion and unbridled wickedness. Their evil is the theme of ch. 19.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:14–17 With Lot gone, the Lord reaffirmed his covenant promise with Abram (12:1–3). Strikingly and unmistakably, the Lord deeded the land (13:14—look in all directions, and 13:17—walk in all directions) in perpetuity to Abram and his descendants, whom he declared would be definitely innumerable (13:16—as the dust).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 13:18 the oaks of Mamre. A distinctively large grove of trees owned by Mamre the Amorite (14:13) located c. 19 miles southwest of Jerusalem at Hebron, whose elevation exceeds 3,000 feet. built an altar. Cf. 12:7–8 and 13:4. He was devoted to the worship of God.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 14:1–12 Raiding, conquering, and making other kings and city-states subservient vassals were all part of the world of the Fertile Crescent in Abraham’s day. These locations mentioned range from Shinar in the east (the region of Babylon in Mesopotamia) to the region south of the Salt Sea (Dead Sea) to the Jordan Valley, to the land of Moab, southwest of the Dead Sea to Mount Seir (later Edom). Amalekites (see note on Ex. 17:8) did not yet exist in Abram's time (cf. Gen. 36:12), but they did when Moses wrote. Amorites scattered throughout Palestine became Canaanites. Vassal states, when they thought they could throw off the yoke of their suzerain with impunity, rebelled by not paying the assessed tribute and waited for any military response. This time rebellion evoked a major military excursion by the offended suzerain Chedorlaomer and his allies (14:5–7); in the ensuing confrontation with Sodom and Gomorrah and their allies (14:8–10), the vassals miscalculated and they lost. Lot, by then a resident of Sodom, was taken captive.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 14:10 Valley of Siddim. Perhaps this was the large peninsula that comes out into the Dead Sea from the eastern shore. In Abram's time, it may have come all the way across to the western shore (near Masada), so the bottom third of the current Dead Sea formed this dry valley. bitumen pits. These pits provided sealants for all sorts of uses.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 14:13 one who had escaped. One of the survivors who had fled from the invaders to the mountains (v. 10) went further and located Lot's uncle (the people knew who was related to whom). One as wealthy as Abram would not be hard to find, and was obviously thought to be one who could do something about the crisis that had affected his own close relatives. the Hebrew. For the first time in the biblical record, this ethnic appellation, "descended from Eber" (cf. 11:15–17), is accorded to Abram. Foreigners used it of Israelites and Israelites used it of themselves in the presence of foreigners (cf. 34:14; 40:15; 43:32). oaks of Mamre. See note on 13:18.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 14:14 trained men. Abram's private militia, members of his extended family ("born in his house") totaling 318, were highly skilled bodyguards and the protective force for his possessions. These, together with the trained men of his allies (vv. 13, 24), were mustered and set off in pursuit of the military kidnappers, lest their captives be taken away to the east, to Shinar (the early name for Mesopotamia) or further east, to Elam.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 14:15–16 divided . . . defeated . . . pursued . . . brought back. A battle-wise Abram, no stranger to military strategy, pursued the enemy for over 150 miles (north of Damascus) and defeated the marauding consortium, being totally successful in his objective.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 14:17 the valley of Shaveh. See note on 2 Sam. 18:18. The liberated king of Sodom went to meet Abram near Jerusalem.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 14:18 Melchizedek king of Salem. The lack of biographical and genealogical particulars for this ruler, whose name meant “righteous king” and who was a king-priest over ancient Jerusalem, allowed for later revelation to use him as a type of Christ (cf. Ps. 110:4; Heb. 7:17, 21). His superior status in Abram’s day is witnessed 1) by the king of Sodom, the first to meet Abram returning in victory, deferring to Melchizedek before continuing with his request (Gen. 14:17, 21) and 2) by Abram, without demur, both accepting a blessing from and also giving a tithe to this priest-king (14:19–20). Cf. Heb. 7:1–2. priest of God Most High. The use of El Elyon (Sovereign Lord) for God’s name indicated that Melchizedek, who used this title two times (Gen. 14:18–19), worshiped, served, and represented no Canaanite deity, but the same one whom Abram also called Yahweh El Elyon (v. 22). That this was so is confirmed by the added description, “Possessor of heaven and earth,” being used by both Abram and Melchizedek (vv. 19, 22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 14:20 who has delivered your enemies into your hand. Credit for victory over a superior military coalition correctly went to the Sovereign Lord (El Elyon) and not to Abram’s prowess (see note on vv. 15–16). To Melchizedek, and to Abram too, this amounted to true worship of the true God. a tenth. This is the first mention in Scripture of giving 10 percent (cf. 28:22). This 10-percent offering was purely voluntary, and may only have been a tenth of the best, not a tenth of the total (see note on Heb. 7:4). This tenth is not like the required tenths given to Israel in the Mosaic law (see notes on Num. 18:21–24; Deut. 14:22; 26:12).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 14:21–24 If Abram acceded to the king of Sodom’s request, he would have allowed that wicked king to attribute Abram’s wealth to the king’s generosity, thus distorting the clear testimony of the Lord’s blessings on his life. To accept such payment would belie his trust in God! Such a personal commitment would not be foisted upon his allies, who could make their own decisions. As for his own servants, their meals taken from the spoils was sufficient compensation. Undoubtedly, the servants remembered their master’s reaction and testimony; it overcame much of the negative aspects in the memory of the earlier exit from Egypt (see 12:20).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:1 I am your shield. God served Abram as his divine protector (cf. Ps. 7:10; 84:9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:2 I continue childless. In response to God’s encouragement and admonition (v. 1), Abram showed what nagged at him. How could God’s promise of many descendants (13:16) and of being a great nation (12:2) come about when he had no children? Eliezer of Damascus. To Abram, God’s promise had stalled; so adoption of a servant as the male heir—a well known contemporary Mesopotamian custom—was the best officially recognizable arrangement to make it come to pass, humanly speaking.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:3–5 The question, “what will you give me?” (v. 2) became an accusation, “you have given me no offspring!” (v. 3). The Lord’s rejection of Abram’s solution (v. 4) preceded God’s reiterated promise of innumerable descendants (v. 5).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:5 So shall your offspring be. Cf. Rom. 4:18.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:6 believed . . . counted . . . as righteousness. The apostle Paul quoted these words as an illustration of faith over and against works (Rom. 4:3, 9, 22; Gal. 3:6; James 2:23). Abram was justified by faith! See notes on Rom. 4 and Gal. 3 for a fuller discussion of justification by faith.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:7 to give you this land to possess. That a specifically identifiable land (see vv. 18–21) was intimately linked with Abram’s having many descendants in God’s purpose and in the Abrahamic Covenant was clearly revealed and, in a formal ceremony (vv. 9–21), would be placed irrevocably beyond dispute.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:8 how am I to know that I shall possess it? A question not of veiled accusation at the delayed fulfillment but of genuine request for information and assurance. In response, God affirmed his covenant with Abram in a remarkable ceremony (vv. 9–21).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:9–10 cut them in half. The sign of ancient covenants often involved the cutting in half of animals, so that the pledging parties could walk between them, affirming that the same should happen to them if they broke the covenant (see Jer. 34:18–19).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:12 sleep. God put him to sleep, because the covenant did not involve any promise on his part. He would not walk through the pieces as a pledge (see v. 17).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:13–14 The words of God in the covenant ceremony assured Abram that his descendants would definitely be in the land, although a painful detour into Egypt would delay fulfillment until long after his demise. Cf. Acts. 7:6–7.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:13 four hundred years. This represents an approximated number that is precisely 430 years (cf. Ex. 12:40).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:16 the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet complete. A delay in judgment occasioned the delay in covenant fulfillment. Judgment on Egypt (v. 14) would mark the departure of Abram's descendants for their land, and judgment on the Canaanites (broadly defined ethnically as Amorites) would mark their entrance to that land.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:17 smoking fire pot . . . flaming torch. Cf. Ex. 13:21. These items symbolized the presence of God, who solemnly promised by divine oath to fulfill his promises to Abram by alone passing through the animal pieces (vv. 9–11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 15:18–21 river of Egypt to the . . . Euphrates. Scripture records both general (Ex. 23:31; Num. 13:21; Deut. 11:24; 1 Kings 8:65; 2 Kings 14:25; Isa. 27:12) and specific (Num. 34:1–12; Josh. 15:1–2; Ezek. 47:15–20; 48:1, 28) descriptions of the Promised Land, centering on the ancient land of Canaan. Such precise geographic demarcation will not allow for any redefinitions that would emasculate God's promise of its specificity. The river of Egypt was most probably what became known as the Wadi El Arish, the southern border of Judah. Kenites . . . Jebusites. The various peoples who inhabited the land are named. Such precise detailing of the nations in the land of Canaan attests again to the specificity of the Promised Land in God's promises.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:1 Hagar. See Gal. 4:21–31, where Paul uses Hagar as an illustration.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:3 gave her to Abram her husband. After 10 childless years (cf. 12:4), Sarai resorted to the custom of the day by which a barren wife could get a child through one of her own maidservants (16:2, "I shall obtain children by her"). Abram, ignoring divine reaction and assurance in response to his earlier attempt to appoint an heir (cf. 15:2–5), sinfully yielded to Sarai's insistence, and Ishmael was born (16:15).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:5 wrong done to me be on you . . . . she looked on me with contempt. Sarai, not anticipating contemptuous disregard by Hagar (v. 4) as the result of her solution for barrenness, blamed Abram for her trouble and demanded judgment to rectify the broken mistress-servant relationship. Abram transferred his responsibility to Sarai, giving her freedom to react as she wished (v. 6, “your servant is in your power . . .”). Sarai treated her so badly, she left.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:7 The angel of the Lord. This special individual spoke as though he were distinct from Yahweh, yet also spoke in the first person as though he were indeed to be identified as Yahweh himself, with Hagar recognizing that, in seeing this angel, she had seen God (v. 13). Others had the same experience and came to the same conclusion (cf. 22:11–18; 31:11–13; Ex. 3:2–5; Num. 22:22–35; Judg. 6:11–23; 13:2–5; 1 Kings 19:5–7). The angel of the Lord, who does not appear after the birth of Christ, is often identified as the preincarnate Christ. See note on Ex. 3:2. Shur was south of Palestine and east of Egypt, which meant that Hagar attempted to return home to Egypt.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:8 Hagar, servant of Sarai. Both the salutation and the instruction (v. 9, “Return . . . submit”) given by the angel and the response by Hagar treated the mistress-servant relationship as if it were still intact. Rebellious and absconding was not the solution (v. 9)!

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:10 I will surely multiply. A servant she might have been, but mother of many she would also become, thus making Abram the father of two groups of innumerable descendants (see 13:16; 15:5).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:11 call his name Ishmael. With her son’s name meaning “God hears,” Hagar the servant could not ever forget how God had heard her cry of affliction.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:12 a wild donkey of a man. The untameable desert onager (wild donkey) best described the fiercely aggressive and independent nature Ishmael would exhibit, along with his Arabic descendants.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:13 You are a God of seeing. Recognizing the angel as God and ascribing this new name to him arose from Hagar’s astonishment at having been the object of God’s gracious attention. The theophany and revelation led her to call him also “the Living One who sees me” (v. 14 and esv footnote).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:15 his son . . . Ishmael. C. 2079 B.C.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 16:16 eighty-six years old. Abram was 75 when he left Haran (12:4). There would be a 13-year interval until 17:1 picks up the narrative again.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:2 my covenant between me and you. Another reaffirmation of his unilateral covenant with Abram, which did not mean that there would be no responsibilities falling upon its recipients. See notes on vv. 7-9; 12:1-3; 15:18-21.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:4 a multitude of nations. The threefold reaffirmation of the divine promise of many descendants, perhaps including Isaac's and Ishmael's, brackets the change of name (vv. 4-6), giving it significant emphasis.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:5 your name shall be Abraham. Cf. 11:27. The name meaning "father of a multitude of nations" reflected Abraham's new relationship to God as well as his new identity based on God's promise of seed. Cf. Rom. 4:17.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:6 kings shall come from you. This promise highlights the reality of more than one people group, or nation in its own right, coming from Abraham.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:7 I will establish my covenant. This relationship was set up at God's initiative and also designated as an "everlasting covenant" (v. 7), thus applying to Abraham's posterity with equal force and bringing forth the declaration "I will be their God" (v. 8). This pledge became the dictum of the covenant relationship between Yahweh, i.e., Jehovah, and Israel.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:8 all the land of Canaan. God's reaffirmation of his covenant promises to Abraham did not occur without mention of the land being deeded by divine right to him and his descendants as "an everlasting possession." Cf. Acts 7:5.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:9 you shall keep my covenant. Despite repeated disobedience by the patriarchs and the nation, God's faithfulness to his covenant commitment never wavered (e.g., Deut. 4:25-31; 30:1-9; 1 Chron. 16:15-18; Jer. 30:11; 46:27-28; Amos 9:8; Luke 1:67-75; Heb. 6:13-18). Divine attestations of Abraham's obedience (Gen. 22:16-18; 26:3-5) were pronounced years after the formal establishment of his covenant (12:1–3; 15:12–18). Though the nation was apostate, there was always an obedient remnant of faithful Israelites (see Zeph. 3:12–13).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:11 a sign of the covenant. Circumcision (cutting away the male foreskin) was not entirely new in this period of history, but the special religious and theocratic significance then applied to it was entirely new, thus identifying the circumcised as belonging to the physical and ethnical lineage of Abraham (cf. Acts 7:8; Rom. 4:11). Without divine revelation, the rite would not have had this distinctive significance, thus it remained a theocratic distinctive of Israel (cf. Gen. 17:13). There was a health benefit, since disease could be kept in the folds of the foreskin, so that removing it prevented that. Historically, Jewish women have had the lowest rate of cervical cancer. But the symbolism had to do with the need to cut away sin and be cleansed. It was the male organ that most clearly demonstrated the depth of depravity because it carried the seed that produced depraved sinners. Thus, circumcision symbolized the need for a profoundly deep cleansing to reverse the effects of depravity.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:12 eight days old. This same time frame was repeated in Lev. 12:3.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:14 shall be cut off from his people. Being cut off from the covenant community meant loss of temporal benefits stemming from being part of the special, chosen, and theocratic nation, even to the point of death by divine judgment.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:15 Sarai . . . Sarah. Fittingly, since Sarai (“my princess”) would be the ancestress of the promised nations and kings, God changed her name to Sarah, taking away the limiting personal pronoun “my,” and calling her “princess” (v. 16).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:16 She shall become nations. Cf. 17:5.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:17 fell on his face and laughed and said to himself. A proper reaction of adoration over God’s promises was marred by the incredulity of Abraham. He knew he was to be a father (12:2; 15:4), but this was the first mention that his barren, old wife was to be the mother.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:18 Oh that Ishmael might live before you! Abraham’s plea for a living son to be the designated beneficiary of God’s promises betrayed just how impossible it was for him and Sarah to have children (cf. Rom. 4:17).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:19–21 Again, patiently but firmly rejecting Abraham’s alternative solution, God emphatically settled the matter by bracketing his gracious bestowal of much posterity to Ishmael (see 25:12–18) with affirmations that indeed Sarah’s son would be the heir of the “everlasting covenant.” For the first time God named the son.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:19 call his name Isaac. The name of the promised son meant “he laughs,” an appropriate reminder to Abraham of his initial, faithless reaction to God’s promise.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 17:23–27 that very day. Without delay, Abraham fully carried out God’s command on himself, on “every male,” and on “all the men of his house” (vv. 23, 27).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:1 the Lord appeared. Another instance of a theophany, although Abraham perhaps did not recognize at first that one of his visitors, whom he humbly greeted and entertained (vv. 2–8) and properly sent on their way (v. 16), was Yahweh. oaks of Mamre. See note on 13:18.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:3 O Lord. Although perhaps first used as the customary respectful address of a host to a visitor, later in their interchange it was used knowingly by Abraham of his true and Sovereign Lord whom he must have recognized when the visitor spoke of himself as “Lord” (v. 14).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:9–13 Despite a promise clearly reminiscent of God’s words to Abraham, Sarah reacted with similar incredulity as her husband had done (cf. 17:17). She was not thinking of divine miracle but of divine providence working only within the normal course of life, being convinced that, at their age, bearing children was just not naturally possible.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:10, 14Cf. Rom. 9:9.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:14–15 A rhetorical question (“Is anything too hard . . . ?”) and divine declaration (“At the appointed time . . . ”), coupled with obvious knowledge of her thoughts (“laughed to herself”), made Sarah fearfully perceive her total misperception of God’s working.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:17–18 Shall I hide from Abraham what I am about to do, seeing that . . . ? The Lord's reason for permitting Abraham to know of judgment in advance underscored his special role in the plan of God and the certain outcome of his covenant with Abraham—many offspring and great blessing.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:18 all the nations of the earth shall be blessed. Cf. Gal. 3:8.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:19 For I have chosen him, that he may command. An expression of divine confidence, i.e., a tribute to faithfulness, obedience, and consistency.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:20 the outcry . . . is great. The iniquity of the two cities, by then complete (cf. 15:16), had reached the point of no return before the Lord, who demonstrated before Abraham how justly he assessed the time for judgment (18:21, “I will go down to see . . .”).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:23 Will you indeed sweep away the righteous with the wicked? The intercession for the two wicked cities began with a question that portrayed Abraham's acute awareness of God's mercy toward the righteous and the distinction he made between the good and the bad (v. 25).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:24 fifty righteous. Among the righteous was Lot (see 2 Pet. 2:7–8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:25 Shall not the Judge of all the earth do what is just? Abraham's clear understanding of God's character being able only to do what is good and totally above reproach was affirmed with this rhetorical question.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:27 I who am but dust and ashes. Abraham's negotiation, far from being crassly or selfishly manipulative, humbly and compassionately expressed his concern for people (cf. 13:8–9) and particularly interceded for the place where his nephew Lot and his family lived. Neither did he intend to anger the Lord by his repeated requests (18:28, 30, 32).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:32 For the sake of ten. That the number of righteous people necessary to forestall judgment had been reduced from 50 to 10 may have reflected Abraham's awareness both of the intense wickedness of the cities as well as Lot's ineffective witness there. Abraham probably had the whole of Lot's family in mind.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 18:33 the Lord went his way . . . and Abraham returned to his place. Nothing more could be done; the judgment was inevitable!

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:1 two angels. These were the angels who, with God, had visited Abraham (18:22). They had taken human form (19:10; called “men”). Lot was sitting in the gate. Since city officials and other prominent citizens conducted the community’s affairs at the gate, Lot participated there as a judge (v. 9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:2 please turn aside to your servant’s house. Lot’s invitation to the two angels (vv. 1–3) to partake themselves of his hospitality was most likely not just courtesy, but an effort to protect them from the known perversity of the Sodomites.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:3 he pressed them strongly. Such was Lot’s concern for these strangers that their stated preference to pass the night in the town square could not be permitted.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:4 the men of the city . . . all the people. Both the size of the lustful mob of men boisterously milling around Lot’s house and the widespread nature of Sodom’s moral perversion received emphasis both from the additional qualifiers used (“all the people to the last man” and “both young and old”) and the request made (v. 5, “that we may know them”). Even acknowledging legitimate exaggeration in this use of “all” would not detract from this emphasis—this was indeed a wicked city!

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:5 know them. They sought homosexual relations with the visitors. God’s attitude toward this vile behavior became clear when he destroyed the city (vv. 23–29). Cf. Lev. 18:22, 29; 20:13; Rom. 1:26; 1 Cor. 6:9; 1 Tim. 1:10 where all homosexual behavior is prohibited and condemned by God.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:6–8 Lot’s response betrayed tension in his ethics; his offer to gratify their sexual lust contradicted his plea not to act “wickedly.” Such contradiction made clear also the vexation of spirit under which he lived in wicked Sodom (cf. 2 Pet. 2:6–7).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:8 do to them as you please. The constraints of Eastern hospitality and the very purpose for which Lot had invited the visitors in (vv. 2–3) compelled Lot to offer his daughters for a less deviant (see notes on Rom.

1:24–27) kind of wickedness, so as to protect his guests. This foolish effort shows that while Lot was right with God (2 Pet. 2:7–8), he had contented himself with some sins and weak faith rather than leaving Sodom. But God was gracious to him because he was righteous, by faith, before God.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:9 he has become the judge. Their accusation suggests Lot had made moral pronouncements before, but his evaluation was no longer tolerable. pressed hard. Homosexual deviation carries an uncontrollable lust that defies restraint. Even when blinded, they tried to fulfill their lust (v. 11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:10–11 Lot was now being protected by those whom he had earlier sought to protect!

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:13 the Lord has sent us to destroy it. With the wickedness of the city so graphically confirmed (vv. 4–11), divine judgment was the only outcome, but Lot’s family could escape it (vv. 12–13). Cf. Jude 7.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:14 seemed . . . to be jesting. Lot’s warning of imminent judgment fell within the category of jesting, so concluded his sons-in-law (or perhaps his daughters’ fiancés).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:16 the Lord being merciful to him. This reason, elsewhere described as God having remembered Abraham (v. 29), is why, in the face of Lot’s seeming reluctance to leave (“lingered”), the angels personally and forcefully escorted him and his family beyond the city’s precincts.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:17–21 An urbanized lifestyle was apparently superior to a lonely one in the mountains and might be why Lot, playing upon the mercy already shown him, negotiated for an alternative escape destination—another city! The angel’s reply (v. 21) indicated that this city was included in the original judgment plan, but would be spared for Lot’s sake.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:24 sulfur and fire from the Lord out of heaven. When morning came (v. 23) judgment fell. Any natural explanation, about how the Lord used combustible sulfur deposits to destroy that locale, falters on this emphatic indication of miraculous judgment. “Sulfur” could refer to any inflammable substance; perhaps a volcanic eruption and an earthquake with a violent electrical storm “overthrew” (v. 25) the area. That area is now believed to be under the south end of the Dead Sea. Burning gases, sulfur, and magma blown into the air all fell to bury the region.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:26 Lot's wife . . . looked back. Lot's wife paid the price of disregarding the angelic warning to flee without a backward glance (v. 17). In so doing, she became not only encased in salt, but a poignant example of disobedience producing unwanted reaction at judgment day (cf. Luke 17:29–32), even as her home cities became bywords of God's judgment on sin (cf. Isa. 1:9; Rom. 9:29; 2 Pet. 2:5–6).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:29 the cities of the valley. The best archeological evidence locates Sodom and Gomorrah at the south of the Dead Sea region, i.e., in the area south of the Lisan Peninsula that juts out on the east (see note on 14:10). God remembered Abraham. Cf. 18:23–33.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:30 afraid to live in Zoar. Perhaps because the people there felt he was responsible for all the devastation, or he feared more judgment on the region might hit the city (vv. 17–23).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:31–36 The immoral philosophy of Sodom and Gomorrah had so corrupted the thinking of Lot's daughters that they unhesitatingly contrived to be impregnated by their own father! They were virgins (v. 8), the married daughters were dead (v. 14), and there were no men left for husbands (v. 25). In fearing they would have no children, they conceived the gross iniquity.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 19:37–38 The two sons born of incest became the progenitors of Moab and Ammon, Israel's longstanding enemies.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 20:1 Gerar. A Philistine city on the border between Palestine and Egypt, about 10 miles south of Gaza.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 20:2 She is my sister. Twenty-five years after leaving Egypt in disgrace because of lying about his wife (12:10–20), Abraham reverted to the same ploy. Abimelech. This king who took Sarah into his harem was most likely the father or grandfather of the Abimelech encountered by Isaac. See note on 26:1.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 20:3 God came . . . in a dream. Again Abraham's Lord intervened to protect Sarah, who had joined in the lie of her husband (v. 5), deceiving a king who earnestly protested his innocence and integrity before God (vv. 4–6) and who, together with his aides, demonstrated proper submission to the warning of God (v. 8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 20:6 kept you from sinning. Notwithstanding God's restraint of Abimelech, he was still required to restore Sarah to forestall judgment.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 20:7 he is a prophet. Abraham, in spite of his lie, still served as God's intermediary and intercessor for Abimelech (cf. vv. 17–18). This is the first time the Hebrew term for "prophet" is used in Scripture. Here it identified Abraham as recognized by God to speak to him on behalf of Abimelech. Usually it is used to describe, not one who speaks to God on behalf of someone, but one who speaks to someone on behalf of God.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 20:9 things that ought not to be done. The confrontation between prophet and king attested the grievous nature of Abraham's actions. How humiliating for the prophet of God to be so rebuked by a heathen king.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 20:11–13 Abraham offered three reasons for his lie: 1) his perception from the horrible vices in Sodom that all other cities had no fear of God, including Gerar; 2) his fear of death as a mitigating factor for what he had done; and 3) his wife actually being his half-sister as justification for lying and hiding their marital status. Abraham didn't need fraud to protect himself. God was able to provide safety for him.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 20:16 vindicated. This is better translated "justified."

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:1 The Lord visited Sarah. To the aged couple (vv. 2, 5, 7), exactly as promised, a son was born and the 25-year suspense was finally over, with the laughter of derision turning to rejoicing (v. 6). The barrenness of Sarah (11:26) had ended.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:4 circumcised. See note on 17:11.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:5 Isaac . . . born to him. C. 2065 B.C. God fulfilled his promise to Abraham (12:2; 15:4–5; 17:7).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:8 weaned. This usually occurred in the second or third year.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:9 the son of Hagar . . . laughing. The celebration of Isaac's passage from infancy to childhood witnessed the laughter of ridicule (an intensive form of the Hebrew for laughing) and offended Sarah, causing her to demand the expulsion of Ishmael and his mother from the encampment (v. 10).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:10 Cast out . . . not be heir. Legal codes of Abraham's day—e.g., of Nuzi and of Hammurabi—forbade the putting out of a handmaiden's son if a rightful, natural heir was born. Sarah's request thus offended social law, Abraham's sensibilities, and his love for Ishmael (v. 11). Abraham, however, was given divine approval and assurances to overcome his scruples before sending Hagar and Ishmael out into the wilderness (vv. 12–15). Cf. Gal. 4:22–31.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:12 through Isaac shall your offspring be named. Cf. Rom. 9:7 and Heb. 11:18.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:13 make a nation. Cf. v. 18; see notes on 16:11–12. Ishmael was about 17 years old, a customary time for sons to go out to set up their own lives.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:14 wilderness of Beersheba. A wide, extensive desert on the southern border of Palestine.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:17 God heard the voice of the boy. When desperation turned the lad's voice of scoffing into a cry of anguish at probable death from thirst (vv. 15–16), God heard him whose name had been given years before when God had heard Hagar's cries (16:11). It reminded the mother of the promise made to Abraham about her son (17:20). angel of God. Same person as the angel of the Lord. See note on Ex. 3:2.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:18 make him into a great nation. See note on v. 13.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:21 wilderness of Paran. Located in the northeast section of the Sinai peninsula, the area called Arabia.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:22–34 A parity treaty formally struck between Abimelech and Abraham guaranteed the proper control and sharing of the region’s limited water resources and also assured the king of the patriarch’s fair and equitable treatment for years to come.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:31 Beersheba. This site is about 45 miles southwest of Jerusalem.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:32 the land of the Philistines. Abraham had contact with early migrations of Aegean traders who settled along the southwest coastal regions of Canaan and who were the predecessors of the twelfth century B.C. influx of Philistines, the future oppressors of Israel.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 21:33 tamarisk tree. This tree functioned as a reminder of the treaty concluded between two well known contemporaries, and also as a marker of one of Abraham’s worship sites. the Everlasting God. A divine name appropriately signifying to Abraham the unbreakable and everlasting nature of the covenant God had made with him, notwithstanding his being only a resident alien and a sojourner in the land (cf. 23:4).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:1 God tested Abraham. This was not a temptation; rather God examined Abraham’s heart (cf. James 1:2–4, 12–18).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:2 Take your son . . . and offer him. These startling commands activated a special testing ordeal for Abraham, i.e., to sacrifice his “only son” (repeated three times by God, vv. 2, 12, 16). This would mean killing the son (over 20 years old) and with that, ending the promise of the Abrahamic Covenant. Such action would seem irrational, yet Abraham obeyed (v. 3). Moriah. Traditionally associated with Jerusalem, and the site on which Solomon’s temple would be built later (cf. 2 Chron. 3:1).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:4 third day. With no appearance of reluctance or delay, Abraham rose early (v. 3) for the two-day trip from Beersheba to Moriah, one of the hills around Jerusalem.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:5 I and the boy will go over there and worship and come again to you. The three-day journey (v. 4) afforded much time of reflection upon God's commands but, without wavering or questioning the morality of human sacrifice or the purposes of God, Abraham confidently assured his servants of his and Isaac's return and went ahead with arrangements for the sacrifice (v. 6). Hebrews 11:17–19 reveals that he was so confident in the permanence of God's promise, that he believed if Isaac were to be killed, God would raise him from the dead (see notes there), or God would provide a substitute for Isaac (Gen. 22:8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:9–10 Abraham's preparations to kill his only son could not have placed his trust in God in sharper focus. Cf. Heb. 11:17–19.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:11 angel of the Lord. See note on Ex. 3:2.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:12 now I know. Abraham passed the test (v. 1). He demonstrated faith that God responds to with justification. See note on James 2:21.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:13 instead of his son. The idea of substitutionary atonement is introduced, which would find its fulfillment in the death of Christ (Isa. 53:4–6; John 1:29; 2 Cor. 5:21).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:15–18 In this formal reaffirmation of his Abrahamic Covenant, the Lord mentioned the three elements of land, seed, and blessing, but with attention directed graphically to the conquest of the land promised (v. 17, “shall possess the gate of his enemies”).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:16–17 I will surely bless you. Cf. 12:1–3; 15:13–18; 17:2, 7–9; Heb. 6:13–14.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:17 possess the gate of his enemies. Cf. 24:60. Refers to conquering enemies, so as to control their city.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:18 all the nations of the earth be blessed. Cf. Acts 3:25.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 22:20–24 it was told. This is clear indication that, despite geographical separation, information about family genealogies flowed back and forth in the Fertile Crescent region. This update advised most notably of a daughter, Rebekah, born to Isaac's cousin, Bethuel (v. 23). It also reminds the readers that Abraham and Sarah had not lost all ties with their original home. Abraham's brother, Nahor, still lived back in Mesopotamia, though he had not seen him for about 60 years.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:1–2 Although Sarah's age—the only woman's age at death recorded in Scripture—might suggest her importance in God's plan, it more importantly reminds of the birth of her only son well beyond childbearing age (at 90 years of age, cf. 17:17) and of God's intervention to bring about the fulfillment of his word to her and Abraham. Sarah's death occurred c. 2028 B.C.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:2 Hebron. See note on 13:18.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:3 Hittites. A settlement of Hittites whose original home was in Anatolia (modern-day Turkey), who had already been established in Canaan far from their homeland.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:4 give me property among you for a burying place. Negotiations for the purchase (“give” signifies here “sell”) of Hittite property was properly conducted in accordance with contemporary Hittite custom, with Abraham wanting to pay the market value for it (v. 9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:6 a prince of God among us. Rank and reputation accorded Abraham a place of leadership and respect, leading his neighbors (the Hittites) to freely offer their best sepulchers to him. They went on and arranged for Abraham to purchase a cave that belonged to a wealthy neighbor called Ephron (vv. 7–9), unknown to Abraham.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:10 sitting. Ephron was probably sitting at the city gate where business was usually transacted.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:11 I give you the field. This suggests not that Ephron felt generous, but that he was constrained by Hittite feudal polity, which tied ownership of land with service to the ruler. Passing the land to Abraham would pass also feudal responsibilities to Abraham, making him liable for all taxes and duties. This Ephron was apparently anxious to do, thus the offer to give the land.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:16 shekels of silver, according to the weights. Precious metals were not made into coins for exchange until centuries later. Merchants maintained the shekel as the standard weight of value for business transactions. A shekel weighed less than one half ounce.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:17–18 With the words of the transaction, the careful description of the property, and the payment of the stated price all done before witnesses and at the proper place of business, ownership of the land officially passed to Abraham. It was still binding years later in the time of Jacob (49:29–32; 50:12–13).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:19 After this. Once the purchase had been made, Abraham buried Sarah. Moses notes the place is Hebron in Canaan, to which his initial readers were soon headed.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 23:20 The field and the cave . . . were made over. This is an important summary, because finally, after years of nomadic wandering, Abraham owned a small piece of real estate in the midst of all the land divinely promised to him and his descendants. The cave also became many years later the family burial plot for Abraham, Isaac, Rebekah, Leah, and Jacob (cf. 25:9; 49:31; 50:13), with Rachel being the exception (35:19).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:2 servant, the oldest of his household. Eliezer, at 85 years of age, had risen to steward, or “chief of staff,” a position of substantial authority (indicated in v. 10). He would have received all Abraham’s wealth if he had no son (see 15:1–2), yet when Isaac was born the inheritance became Isaac’s. So, not only had he loyally served his master despite having been displaced by another heir (cf. 15:2–4), but he also faithfully served that heir (24:64–67).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:2–4 Put your hand under my thigh, that . . . swear. See note on v. 9. A solemn pledge mentioning the Lord’s name and formalized by an accepted customary gesture indicated just how serious an undertaking this was in Abraham’s eyes. At his age (v. 1), Abraham was concerned to perpetuate his people and God’s promise through the next generation, so he covenanted with his servant to return to Mesopotamia and bring back a wife for Isaac.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:3–4 Matrimonial arrangements were made by parents, and chosen partners were to come from one’s own tribe. It was apparently customary to marry one’s first cousin. But Abraham’s higher motive was to prevent Isaac from marrying a Canaanite pagan after Abraham’s death, thus possibly leading the people away from the true God.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:6–7 do not take my son back there. Should the expected scenario not materialize (v. 5) then the dictates of the oath were lifted (v. 8), but the option of Isaac going was summarily rejected because it suggested a nullification of God’s promise and calling for the land of promise (v. 7).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:7 he will send his angel before you. A statement of Abraham’s faith that the 450-mile expedition to Mesopotamia was clearly under divine oversight.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:9 his hand under the thigh. An ancient Near Eastern custom by which an intimate touch affirmed an oath (cf. 47:29).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:10 city of Nahor. No doubt the home of Abraham’s brother, Nahor (22:20).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:12–14 The steward’s prayer manifests not only his trust in God to direct affairs but also the selflessness with which he served Abraham. His patience after prayer (v. 21), his worship at answered prayer (v. 26), and his acknowledgment of divine guidance (v. 27) also portrayed his faith.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:14 water your camels. Hospitality required giving water to a thirsty stranger, but not to animals. A woman who would do that was unusually kind and served beyond the call of duty. Rebekah’s servant attitude was revealed (vv. 15–20) as was her beauty and purity (v. 16).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:20 all his camels. A single camel can hold up to 25 gallons and he had 10 of them. Serving them was a great task as she filled them all (v. 22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:24 I am the daughter of. In formal introductions, an abbreviated genealogy provided for specific identification (cf. 22:23). She was Isaac’s cousin.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:29–31 Laban. From what is revealed about his character (ch. 29), there is reason to believe that his sight of all the presents and the camels generated the welcome.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:33 I will not eat until. The first order of business was to identify his master and to explain his assignment, but not without stressing the blessings of God upon his master and upon his trip (vv. 34–48) and also not without immediately seeking to conclude his task and return home (vv. 49, 54–56). This is the portrait of a committed, faithful, and selfless servant!

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:50–51 The servant’s conviction and focus were obvious and intense, precluding anything but immediate acknowledgment of God’s leading and anything less than a full compliance with his request from Rebekah’s father and brother (vv. 50–51).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:53 By this dowry, Rebekah was betrothed to Isaac.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:54 Send me away to my master. Protocol and courtesy demanded a messenger be dismissed by the addressee.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:57–58 Will you go with this man? Commendably, Rebekah concurred with an immediate departure, and showed her confident acceptance of what was providentially coming about in her life.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:59 her nurse. See 35:8.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:60 they blessed Rebekah and said. Little did they realize that their conventional prayer wishing numerous offspring to Rebekah fitted in nicely with God’s promises of many descendants to Abraham through Sarah and Isaac. They also wished for her offspring to be victorious over their enemies (“possess the gate”), perhaps echoing God’s promises of possession of the land of the Canaanites (13:17; 15:7, 16; 17:8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:62 Beer-lahai-roi. See 16:14. Located on the Palestine-Egypt border, about 25 miles northwest of Kadesh-barnea. Isaac lived there after Abraham’s death (25:11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:63 to meditate. How God drew Isaac from home to where Hagar encountered the angel of the Lord (cf. 16:14) remains unknown, but he was in the right place to meet the caravan returning with his fiancée. Perhaps he was prayerfully contemplating the circumstances of his life and the void left by his mother's death (24:67), as well as thinking about and hoping the steward would not return from a failed mission.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:65 she took her veil and covered herself. Convention demanded the designated bride veil her face in the presence of her betrothed until the wedding day.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 24:67 the tent of Sarah his mother. He thus established his acceptance of her as his wife before he had seen her beauty. When he did see her, “he loved her.”

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:1–4 Abraham's sons through Keturah, (a concubine, cf. v. 6; 1 Chron. 1:32) a wife of lower status than Sarah, became the progenitors of various Arab tribes to the east of Canaan.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:5–6 Conferring gifts upon these other sons, then sending them away, and also conferring the estate upon Isaac ensured that Isaac would be considered as the rightful heir without competition or threat from his half-brothers. The steward, Eliezer, had informed Rebekah's relatives that all of Abraham's estate was Isaac's (cf. 24:36).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:8 gathered to his people. A euphemism for death, but also an expression of personal continuance beyond death, which denoted a reunion with previously departed friends (c. 1990 B.C.). Cf. Matt. 8:11 and Luke 16:22–23.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:9–10 his sons buried him. Abraham's funeral brought together two sons who would perhaps otherwise have remained somewhat estranged from each other (cf. 35:29). He was buried in the place that he had purchased at Hebron (ch. 23).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:12–18 the generations of Ishmael. With the death of Abraham and the focus shifting to Isaac, the record confirms God's promise of 12 princes to Ishmael (cf. 17:20–21).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:13–16 Arab tradition has it that these are their earliest ancestors.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:16 by their villages and by their encampments. In addition to serving as a testimony to God's promises (17:20), information such as this genealogy helped Israel to understand the origins of their neighbors in central and northern Arabia.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:19–35:29 The genealogy of Isaac.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:20 Paddan-aram. The “plain of Aram” in upper Mesopotamia near Haran to the northeast of Canaan.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:21 she was barren. Confronted by 20 years of his wife’s barrenness (vv. 19, 26), Isaac rose to the test and earnestly turned to God in prayer, obviously acknowledging thereby God’s involvement and timing in the seed-promise.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:22 struggled together within her. The very uncomfortable condition of her pregnancy (“why is this happening to me?”) prompted Rebekah, undoubtedly following the example of her husband, to turn earnestly to God in prayer. She learned directly from the Lord that the severe jostling in her womb prefigured the future antagonism between the two nations to arise from her twin sons (v. 23).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:23 the older shall serve the younger. This was contrary to the custom in patriarchal times when the elder son enjoyed the privileges of precedence in the household and at the father’s death received a double share of the inheritance and became the recognized head of the family (cf. Ex. 22:29; Num. 8:14–17; Deut. 21:17). Grave offenses could annul such primogeniture rights (cf. Gen. 35:22; 49:3–4; 1 Chron. 5:1) or the birthright could be sacrificed or legally transferred to another in the family, as in this case (Gen. 25:29–34). In this case, God declared otherwise since his sovereign elective purposes did not necessarily have to follow custom (cf. Rom. 9:10–14, esp. v. 12).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:24 days . . . were completed. Esau and Jacob were born c. 2005 B.C.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:25 red. This would be the linguistic basis for calling Esau’s country “Edom” (cf. v. 30).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:27–28 The difference between the two sons manifested itself in several areas: 1) as progenitors—Esau of Edom and Jacob of Israel; 2) in disposition—Esau a rugged, headstrong hunter preferring the outdoors and Jacob a plain, amiable man preferring the comforts of home; and 3) in parental favoritism—Esau by his father and Jacob by his mother. These were the ingredients for conflict and heartache!

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:30 Edom. In a play upon words to forever recall that Esau was born red and hairy (v. 25) and had sold his birthright for red stew, he was also named Edom, i.e., “Red.”

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:31 birthright. A double portion of the inheritance (Deut. 21:17) and the right to be family chief and priest (Ex. 4:22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 25:34 despised his birthright. The final evaluation of the verbal tussle and bartering that took place between the twins, all of which was indicative of prior discussions or arguments sufficient for Jacob to conclude how little Esau valued it. He became, therefore, known as irreligious, i.e., “unholy” (Heb. 12:16).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:1 a famine in the land. Once again the land of promise forced the beneficiaries of the covenant to move so as to escape the effects of a famine. Abimelech. Most probably a Philistine dynastic title, with this being a different king from the one who had met Abraham (ch. 20). See note on 20:2. Philistines. This tribe of people who originally sailed the Mediterranean Sea became fierce enemies of Israel when they settled along the southwest coast of Palestine. Friendly to Isaac, they were forerunners of hostile descendant enemies.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:2–11 Obedience and deceit were in juxtaposition. Obeying God to dwell in the land (vv. 2–3, 6), yet lying about his wife to the people of the land (vv. 7–11) reflected familiar shades of Abraham’s strategy for survival (see 12:10–14; 20:1–4).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:3–5 God confirmed the Abrahamic Covenant with Isaac, stressing the same three elements as before: land, seed, and blessing. He appended specific honorable mention of Abraham’s obedient response to all of God’s words. See notes on 12:1–3; 15:13–21; 17:2, 7–9. Although Abraham was commended for his deeds, the Abrahamic Covenant was an unconditional covenant grounded in God’s sovereign will (cf. Lev. 26:44–45).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:4 nations of the earth shall be blessed. Cf. Acts 3:25.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:6–9 Unlike his ancestor to whom God sovereignly revealed the relationship between Abraham and Sarah (20:3), this king providentially discovered Rebekah's relationship to Isaac by just happening to look out of a window and witnessing caresses indicative of marriage and intimacy.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:11 warned all the people . . . be put to death. A pagan king imposing the death penalty on anyone troubling Isaac or Rebekah suggests God was at work to preserve his chosen seed (cf. vv. 28–29). Cf. Ps. 105:14–15.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:12–14 Isaac was content to stay in that place and farm some land. His efforts were blessed by God, but envied by the Philistines!

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:15 had stopped . . . all the wells. Water was so precious in that desert land that wells were essential. Plugging someone's well was ruinous to them and constituted serious aggression, often leading to war. Isaac could have retaliated, but he did not; rather he dug new wells (vv. 16–19).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:22 Rehoboth. The word means “room enough.” Finally a well was dug without a quarrel erupting (vv. 20–21). Now that they were no longer perceived as encroaching upon another's territory, Isaac selected an appropriate place-name that reflected how he saw God providentially working out their situation.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:24–25 This abbreviated reaffirmation of the Abrahamic Covenant was designed to assuage Isaac's anxiety at facing envy, quarrels, and hostility (vv. 14, 20, 27), and to assure Isaac that he had reasoned right—fruitfulness in posterity would prevail. That it was a significant reminder to Isaac is seen in a response reminiscent of his father—he built an altar of worship to mark the spot of God's appearance to him (12:7).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:26 Abimelech . . . and Phicol. Because 90 years had passed since Abraham was visited by men with the same names, they must have been titles rather than proper names (cf. 21:22). See note on 26:1.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:28 a sworn pact . . . a covenant. In a mirror image of a former occasion (21:22–32), Abimelech in the company of a friend and the highest ranking officer in his army (26:26) sought after a treaty with one they estimated to be superior and stronger than themselves and a possible threat (v. 29). Isaac, on the other hand, perceived them as hostile (v. 27). The outcome was most desirable for both—peace between them (v. 31).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:30 Ratification of a covenant often involved a banquet.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:33 Beersheba. Lit., “the well of the oath.” The very place where his father Abraham had made an oath with another Abimelech and Phicol (see note on v. 26) and which Abraham had named Beersheba (21:32).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 26:35 made life bitter. Esau’s choice of wives from among neighboring Hittite women saddened his parents. His action had deliberately ignored the standard set by Abraham for Isaac (24:3). Cf. 27:46.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:1 Isaac was old. Blind Isaac evidently thought he was near death (v. 2) and would not live much beyond his current 137 years, which was the age of Ishmael when he died (25:17). He certainly did not expect to live another 43 years as he actually did (35:28; cf. 30:24–25; 31:41; 41:46–47; 45:6; 47:9 to calculate Isaac’s age at 137 and his twin sons’ ages at 77 years old).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:4 my soul may bless you. Ignoring the words of God to Rebekah (25:23), forgetting Esau’s bartered birthright (25:33), and overlooking Esau’s grievous marriages (26:35), Isaac was still intent on treating Esau as the eldest and granting him the blessing of birthright, and so arranged for his favorite meal before bestowing final fatherly blessing on his favorite son.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:5 Rebekah was listening. Desperation to secure patriarchal blessing for Jacob bred deception and trickery, with Rebekah believing her culinary skills could make goat’s meat taste and smell like choice venison (vv. 8–10) and make Jacob seem like Esau (vv. 15–17).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:12 seem to be mocking him. To his credit, Jacob at first objected. The differences between him and Esau would surely not fool his father and might result in blessing being replaced with a curse as a fitting punishment for deception.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:13 your curse be on me. With his mother accepting full responsibility for the scheme and bearing the curse should it occur, Jacob acquiesced and followed Rebekah’s instructions.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:15 best garments of . . . her older son. Esau, having been married for 37 years (cf. v. 1; 26:35), would have had his own tents and his own wives to do for him; so how and why Rebekah came by some of his best clothes in her tent is unknown. Perhaps these garments were the official robes associated with the priestly functions of the head of the house, kept in her house until passed on to the oldest son. Perhaps Esau had, on occasion, worn them, thus their smell of the field (27:27).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:20 the Lord your God granted me success. Isaac's perfectly legitimate question in v. 20 (hunting took time and Jacob had come so quickly with goats from the pen) afforded Jacob an escape route—confess and stop the deceit! Instead, Jacob, with consummate ease, knowing he needed Isaac's irrevocable confirmation even though he had bought the birthright, ascribed success in the hunt to God's providence. A lie had to sustain a lie, and a tangled web had begun to be woven (vv. 21–24). Although Jacob received Isaac's blessing that day, the deceit caused severe consequences: 1) he never saw his mother after that; 2) Esau wanted him dead; 3) Laban, his uncle, deceived him; 4) his family life was full of conflict; and 5) he was exiled for years from his family. By the promise of God he would have received the birthright (25:23). He didn't need to scheme this deception with his mother.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:27–29 Finally, with all lingering doubts removed, Isaac pronounced the blessing upon Jacob, although the opening words show he thought the one receiving it was Esau, the man of the field. His prayer-wish called for prosperity and superiority and ended with a repeat of God's words to Abraham (v. 29c; cf. 12:1–3). The words indicated that Isaac thought the covenantal line should have continued through his eldest son, Esau.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:33 Isaac trembled very violently. Visibly shocked when the scandal was uncovered by the entrance of Esau, the father, remembering the Lord's words to Rebekah (25:23), refused to withdraw the blessing and emphatically affirmed its validity—"Yes, and he shall be blessed" and a little later "Behold, I have made him lord over you" and also "you shall serve your brother" (27:37, 40). Sudden realization at having opposed God's will all those years likely made the shock more severe.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:34 Bless me, even me also. Esau fully expected to receive the blessing, for he had identified himself to his father as the firstborn (v. 32). Anguished at losing this important paternal blessing and bitterly acting as the innocent victim (v. 36), Esau shifted the blame for the loss of birthright and blessing to Jacob and pleaded for some compensating word of blessing from his father (vv. 36, 38).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:39–40 The prayer-wish called for prosperity and inferiority, i.e., maintaining the validity of the words to Jacob and replacing “be lord over your brothers” with “you shall serve your brother” (vv. 29, 40). This secondary blessing would not and could not undo the first one.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:40 you shall break his yoke from your neck. In later history, the Edomites, who descended from the line of Esau, fought time and again with Israel and shook off Israelite control on several occasions (2 Kings 8:20; 2 Chron. 21:8–10; 28:16–17).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:41 The days of mourning for my father. Evidently Esau also thought his father was on the verge of death (27:1) and so, out of respect for his aged father, he postponed murder. Isaac lived another 43 years (see note on 27:1).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:45 bereft of you both in one day. Rebekah understood she stood to lose both her sons since, after the murder of Jacob, the avenger of blood, i.e., the next nearest relative, would track down and execute Esau.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 27:46 Hittite women. See esv footnote “daughters of Heth.” See note on 26:35.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:1–2 take as your wife from there. Anxious for the safety of her son, Rebekah easily convinced her husband that the time had come for him to seek a non-Canaanite wife back in their homeland and preferably from near kinsmen (vv. 2, 5), just as Rebekah had been sought for Isaac (see 24:1–4).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:3–4 This extra patriarchal blessing unveiled where Isaac was in his thinking. He had come to understand that the divine blessings would go through Jacob, to whom the Abrahamic Covenant promises of posterity and land also applied—quite the reversal of prior wishes and understanding (cf. 27:27–29). The lack of land possession at that time, described by the phrase “the land of your sojournings,” did not deter at all from the certainty of God’s promise.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:3 God Almighty. Significantly, El Shaddai was the name Isaac chose to employ when blessing Jacob. It was the name of sovereign power with which God had identified himself to Abraham in covenant reaffirmation (17:1), which must have been an encouraging factor to both him and his son.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:5 Isaac sent Jacob away. C. 1928 B.C. This must have been a hard departure for the domestic Jacob.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:9 Esau went to Ishmael. Marrying back into the line of Abraham through the family of Ishmael seemed to have been a ploy to gain favor with his father (vv. 6, 8), and show an obedience similar to his brother's (v. 7). He hoped by such gratifying of his parents to atone for past delinquencies, and maybe have his father change the will. He actually increased iniquity by adding to his pagan wives (26:34–35) a wife from a family God had rejected.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:10–15 For the first time, and significantly while Jacob was on his way out of the land of Canaan, God revealed himself to Jacob and confirmed the Abrahamic Covenant with him in all of its three elements of land, seed, and blessing (vv. 13–14). Later, God would remind Jacob of this event when he instructed him to return to the land (31:13) and Jacob would remind his household of it when he instructed them to cleanse their homes before they could return to Bethel (35:3).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:10 Haran. See note on 11:31.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:11 a certain place. Identified in v. 19 as Bethel, about 50 miles north of Beersheba, and about 6 miles north of Jerusalem. There he spent the night in an open field.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:12 a ladder . . . angels of God were ascending and descending. A graphic portrayal of the heavenly Lord's personal involvement in the affairs of earth, and here especially as they related to divine covenant promises in Jacob's life (vv. 13–15). This dream was to encourage the lonely traveler. God's own appointed angelic messengers ensured the carrying out of his will and plans. More than likely, the angels traversed a stairway rather than a ladder.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:15 will keep you . . . will bring you back. A most timely, comforting, and assuring promise that remained engraved on Jacob's heart during his sojourn in Haran (see 30:25). His forced departure from Canaan did not and would not abrogate any of God's promises to him.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:18–21 a pillar. Marking a particular site as of special religious significance by means of a stone pillar was a known practice. A libation offering, a change of place-name, and a vow of allegiance to the Lord in exchange for promised protection and blessing completed Jacob's ceremonial consecration of Bethel, i.e., "house of God."

GENESIS—NOTE ON 28:22 a full tenth. Tithing, though not commanded by God, was obviously already known and voluntarily practiced, and served to acknowledge God's providential beneficence in the donor's life (see note on 14:20). Jacob may have been bargaining with God, as if to buy his favor rather than purely worshiping God with his gift, but it is best to translate the "if" (28:20) as "since" and see Jacob's vow and offering as genuine worship based on confidence in God's promise (vv. 13–15).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:1–4 Conveniently meeting at his destination, shepherds who knew both Laban and Rachel reflected the directing hand of God upon his life, just as promised (28:15).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:2–3 stone . . . was large. Perhaps due to the fact that this well of precious stored water could evaporate rapidly in the sun, or be filled with blowing dust, or used indiscriminately, it had been covered and its use regulated (vv. 7–8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:5 Laban the son of Nahor. Genealogical fluidity in the use of "son," meaning male descendant, occurred in Jacob's inquiry after Laban, for he was actually Nahor's grandson (cf. 22:20–23).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:6–8 It appears that Jacob was trying to get these men to water their sheep immediately and leave, so he could be alone with Rachel for the meeting.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:9 speaking with them. The language of Haran was Aramaic or Chaldee and evidently was known by Abraham and his sons. There is no comment on how these patriarchs spoke with the Canaanites and Egyptians in their travels, but it is reasonable to assume they had become skilled linguists, knowing more than Hebrew and Aramaic.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:10–14 Customary greetings and personal introductions ended 97 years of absence since Rebekah had left (see notes on 25:21; 27:1), and Laban's nephew was welcomed home.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:14 a month. Tradition in that ancient area allowed a stranger to be cared for three days. On the fourth he was to tell his name and mission. After that he could remain if he worked in some agreed-upon way (v. 15).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:17 eyes were weak. Probably means that they were a pale color rather than the dark and sparkling eyes most common. Such paleness was viewed as a blemish.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:18–30 Love and working to provide his service as a dowry (vv. 18–20) combined to make Jacob happily remain during the first seven years in Laban's household, almost as an adopted son rather than a mere employee. But Jacob, the deceiver (27:1–29), was about to be deceived (29:22–25). Local marriage customs (v. 26), love for Rachel, and more dowry desired by Laban (vv. 27–30) all conspired to give Jacob, not only seven more years of labor under Laban, but two wives who were to become caught up in a jealous childbearing competition (30:1–21).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:23 The deception was possible because of the custom of veiling the bride and the dark of the night (v. 24).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:23, 30 went in to. This is a euphemism for consummating marriage.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:27, 30 It appears that Laban agreed to give Jacob Rachel after the week of wedding celebration for Leah's marriage to him, and before the seven years of labor.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:28 Rachel to be his wife. Such consanguinity was not God's will (see note on Gen. 2:24), and the Mosaic code later forbade it (Lev. 18:18). Polygamy always brought grief, as in the life of Jacob.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 29:31 Leah was hated . . . Rachel was barren. There was quite a contrast when the one dearly beloved (vv. 18, 20, 30) had no children, whereas the one rejected did. Jacob might have demoted Leah, but God took action on her behalf. Leah had also prayed about her husband's rejection (v. 33) and had been troubled by it, as seen in the names given to her first four sons (vv. 32–35).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:1 or I shall die. A childless woman in ancient Near Eastern culture was no better than a dead wife and became a severe embarrassment to her husband (see v. 23).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:2 Am I in the place of God . . . ? Although spoken in a moment of frustration with Rachel's pleading for children and the envy with which it was expressed, Jacob's words do indicate an understanding that ultimately God opened and closed the womb.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:3 on my behalf. See esv footnote, "on my knees." When the surrogate gave birth while actually sitting on the knees of the wife, it symbolized the wife providing a child for her husband.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:1–21 The competition between the two sisters/wives is demonstrated in using their maids as surrogate mothers (vv. 3, 7, 9, 12), in declaring God had judged the case in favor of the plaintiff (v. 6), in bartering for time with the husband (vv. 14–16), in accusing one of stealing her husband's favor (v. 15), and in the name given to one son—"wrestled with my sister" (Naphtali, v. 8). The race for children was also accompanied by prayers to the Lord or by acknowledgment of his providence (vv. 6, 17, 20, 22; also 29:32, 33, 35). This bitter and intense rivalry, all the more fierce though they were sisters, and even though they occupied different dwellings with their children as customary, shows that the evil lay in the system itself (bigamy), which as a violation of God's ordinance (2:24) could not yield happiness.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:14 mandrakes. Jacob had eight sons by then from three women and about six years had elapsed since his marriages. The oldest son, Reuben, was about five. Playing in the field during wheat harvest, he found this small, orange-colored fruit and "brought them to his mother Leah." These were superstitiously viewed in the ancient world as "love-apples," an aphrodisiac or fertility-inducing narcotic.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:15–16 This odd and desperate bargain by Rachel was an attempt to become pregnant with the aid of the mandrakes, a folk remedy which failed to understand that God gives children (vv. 6, 17, 20, 22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:20 now my husband will honor me. The plaintive cry of one still unloved (cf. 29:31) as confirmed by Jacob's frequent absence from her home. She hoped that having six children for Jacob would win his permanent residence with her. Zebulun. The name means “honor,” signifying her hope of Jacob’s honoring her.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:21 Dinah. Although not the only daughter to be born to Jacob (cf. 37:35; 46:7), her name is mentioned in anticipation of the tragedy at Shechem (ch. 34).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:22 Then God remembered Rachel. All the desperate waiting (see 30:1) and pleading climaxed at the end of seven years with God’s response. Then Rachel properly ascribed her delivery from barrenness to the Lord, whom she also trusted for another son (vv. 23–24).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:24 Joseph. C. 1914 B.C. his name means “he will add” or “may he add,” indicating both her thanks and her faith that God would give her another son.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:25 Send me away . . . to my own home and country. Fourteen years of absence had not dulled Jacob’s acute awareness of belonging to the land God had given to him. Since Mesopotamia was not his home and his contract with Laban was up, he desired to return to “my own home” and “country.” Jacob’s wish to return to Canaan was not hidden from Laban (v. 30).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:27 I have learned by divination. See note on Deut. 18:9–12.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:28 Name your wages. On the two occasions that Laban asked this of Jacob it was to urge him to stay. The first time (29:15) Laban had sought to reward a relative, but this time it was because he had been rewarded since “the Lord has blessed me because of you” (30:27). Jacob readily confirmed Laban’s evaluation in that “little” had indeed “increased abundantly” (v. 30) since he had come on the scene. Laban’s superficial generosity should not be mistaken for genuine goodness (see 31:7). He was attempting to deceive Jacob into staying because it was potentially profitable for him.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:31–36 What shall I give you? Laban wanted Jacob to stay and asked what it would take for him to do so. Jacob wanted nothing except to be in a position for God to bless him. He was willing to stay, but not be further indebted to the scheming and selfish Laban. He offered Laban a plan that could bless him while costing Laban nothing. He would continue to care for Laban’s animals, as he had been doing. His pay would consist of animals not yet born, animals which would seem the less desirable to Laban because of their markings and color. None of the solid color animals would be taken by Jacob, and if any were born into Jacob's flocks, Laban could take them (they were considered as stolen). Only those animals born speckled, spotted, striped, or abnormally colored would belong to Jacob. Evidently, most of the animals were white (sheep), black (goats), and brown (cattle). Few were in the category of Jacob's request. Further, Jacob would not even use the living speckled or abnormally colored animals to breed more like them. He would separate them into a flock of their own kind, apart from the normally colored animals. Only the spotted and abnormally colored offspring born in the future to the normally colored would be his. Since it seemed to Laban that the birth of such abnormally marked animals was unlikely to occur in any significant volume from the normally colored, he agreed. He believed this a small and favorable concession on his part to maintain the skills of Jacob to further enlarge his herds and flocks. Jacob, by this, put himself entirely in God's hands. Only the Lord could determine what animals would be Jacob's. To make sure Jacob didn't cheat on his good deal, Laban separated the abnormally marked from the normal animals in Jacob's care (vv. 34–36).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 30:37–42 sticks. Jacob was knowledgeable about sheep, goats, and cattle, having kept his father's animals for most of his 90 years, and Laban's for the last 14 years. He knew that when one uncommonly marked animal was born (with a recessive gene), he could then begin to breed that gene selectively to produce flocks and herds of abnormally marked animals, which were in no way inferior physically to the normally marked. Once he began this breeding process, he sought to stimulate it by some methods that may appear superstitious and foolish to us (as the mandrakes in v. 14). But it is most likely that he had learned that, when the bark was peeled, there was some stimulant released into the water that stimulated the animals to sexual activity. In v. 38, the word "bred" is literally, in Hebrew "to be hot," or as is said of animals "to be in heat." His plan was successful (v. 39) and kept his own flock separate from the normally colored ones of Laban. His system worked to his own advantage, not that of Laban (v. 42) who had for years taken advantage of him. Jacob gave God the credit for the success of his efforts (31:7, 9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:1–2 Of materialistic bent and envious at Jacob's success, Laban's sons grumbled at what they saw as the depleting of their father's assets, thus hurting their own inheritance. If Jacob heard of this, so did Laban, and that knowledge rankled him to the point of surliness toward his son-in-law (cf.

31:20). Profiting from God's blessings through Jacob (30:27, 30) was one thing, but seeing only Jacob blessed was quite another matter and elicited no praise or gratitude to God from Laban.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:3 Return to the land. When Jacob sought to leave at the end of his contract (30:25), God's timing was not right. Now it was, so God directed Jacob's departure, and in confirmation assured him of his presence. So, after another six years, it was time to go (31:38–41).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:4 called . . . into the field. In the privacy of the open field, Jacob's plans could be confidentially shared with his wives.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:5 your father . . . my father. A contrast, perhaps not intentional, but nevertheless noticeable since their father signaled rejection toward him, whereas the God of his father had accepted him.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:6–9 As Jacob explained it, his unstinting service to their father had been met by Laban with wage changes intended to cripple his son-in-law's enterprise, but God had intervened by blocking the intended hurt (v. 7) and overriding the wage changes with great prosperity (v. 9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:10–12 striped, spotted, and mottled. See notes on 30:37–42.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:11 the angel of God. Cf. 21:17. The same as the angel of the Lord (16:11; 22:11, 15). See note on Ex. 3:2.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:13 I am the God of Bethel. The angel of God (v. 11) clearly identified himself as the Lord, pointing back as he did so to the earlier critical encounter with God in Jacob's life (28:10–22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:14–16 The two wives concurred that, in the context of severely strained family relationships, their inheritance might be in question since the ties that bind no longer held them there. They also agreed that God's intervention had, in effect, refunded what their father had wrongfully withheld and spent.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:19 household gods. Lit., teraphim (cf. 2 Kings 23:24; Ezek. 21:21). These images or figurines of varying sizes, usually of nude goddesses with accentuated sexual features, either signaled special protection for, inheritance rights for, or guaranteed fertility for the bearer. Or, perhaps possession by Rachel would call for Jacob to be recognized as head of the household at Laban's death. See notes on vv. 30, 44.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:20 Jacob tricked Laban. Because of fear at what Laban might do (v. 31), Jacob dispensed with the expected courtesy he had not forgotten before (30:25) and clandestinely slipped away at an appropriate time (31:19). With all his entourage, this was not a simple exit. Laban's gruffness (vv. 1-2) exuded enough hostility for Jacob to suspect forceful retaliation and to react by escaping what danger he could not know for sure.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:21 the Euphrates . . . hill country of Gilead. The area south of Galilee to the east of the Jordan River respectively.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:23 seven days. That it took so long for Laban's band to catch up with a much larger group burdened with possessions and animals indicates a forced march was undertaken by Jacob's people, probably motivated by Jacob's fear.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:24 Be careful . . . either good or bad. God again sovereignly protected, as he had done for Abraham and Isaac (12:17–20; 20:3–7; 26:8–11), to prevent harm coming to his man. In a proverbial expression (cf. Gen. 24:50; 2 Sam. 13:22) Laban is cautioned not to use anything in the full range of options open to him, “from the good to the bad,” to alter the existing situation and bring Jacob back.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:26 my daughters like captives. Laban evidently did not believe that his daughters could have possibly agreed with the departure and must have left under duress.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:27–29 Laban's questions protested his right to have arranged a proper send-off for his family and functioned as a rebuke of Jacob's thoughtlessness toward him.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:30 why did you steal my gods? Longing to return to Canaan (cf. 30:25) might excuse his leaving without notice, but it could not excuse the theft of his teraphim (31:19). Laban's thorough search for these idols (vv. 33–35) also marked how important they were to him as a pagan worshiper. See notes on vv. 19, 44.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:31 afraid. A reasonable fear is experienced by Jacob, who had come to find a wife and stayed for at least 20 years (v. 38) under the selfish compulsions of Laban.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:34–35 One dishonest deed needed further dishonesty and trickery to cover it up.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:35 the way of women. Rachel claimed she was having her menstrual period.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:37 decide between us two. Rachel's theft and dishonest cover-up had precipitated a major conflict between her father and her husband that could only be resolved by judicial inquiry before witnesses.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:38–42 Jacob registered his complaint that he had unfairly borne the losses normally carried by the owner and had endured much discomfort in fulfilling his responsibility. Jacob also delivered his conclusion that except for the oversight of God, Laban may very well have fleeced him totally.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:42 Fear of Isaac. Also see “the Fear of his father Isaac” (v. 53). This was another divine name, signifying Jacob’s identification of the God who caused Isaac to reverence him.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:43 Laban pled his case, amounting to nothing more than the manifestation of his grasping character, by claiming everything was his.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:44 let us make a covenant. Although Laban did regard all in Jacob’s hands as his—after all Jacob had arrived 20 years before with nothing—nevertheless, the matter was clearly ruled in Jacob’s favor, since Laban left with nothing. A treaty was struck in the customary fashion (vv. 45–51) in which they covenanted not to harm one another again (v. 52). With heaps of stones as testaments to the treaty named and in place (vv. 47–49), with the consecration meals having been eaten (vv. 46, 54), and with the appropriate oaths and statements made in the name of their God (vv. 50, 53), the agreement was properly sanctioned and concluded and thus they parted company. All contact between Abraham’s kin in Canaan and Mesopotamia appears to have ended at this point.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:47–49 Jegar-sahadutha . . . Galeed . . . Mizpah. The first two words mean in Aramaic and also Hebrew, “heap of witnesses” (see esv footnote). The third word means “watchpost.”

GENESIS—NOTE ON 31:53 God of Nahor. Laban’s probable syncretistic paralleling of the God of Abraham with that of Nahor and Terah, his brother and father respectively, elicited Jacob again using “the Fear of his father Isaac,” a reference to the true God (v. 42), for he certainly could not give credence to any of Laban’s syncretistic allusions.

Jacob Returns to Canaan

After acquiring wealth in Paddan-aram, Jacob returned to Canaan. He came to Mahanaim, where he sent his household ahead of him and crossed the Jabbok alone. There he wrestled with a mysterious man until morning and named the place Peniel (also called Penuel). Jacob then encountered his brother Esau, who had come from Edom to meet him. After the two were reconciled, Esau returned to Edom, while Jacob journeyed to Canaan.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:1 the angels of God. With one crisis behind him and before him the suspense of having to face Esau, Jacob was first met by an angelic host, who must have reminded him of Bethel, which served also as a timely reminder and encouragement of God’s will being done on earth (28:11–15).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:2 God’s camp . . . Mahanaim. Meaning “two camps,” i.e., one being God's and one being his own. It was located east of the Jordan River in Gilead near the Jabbok River.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:3 Seir . . . Edom. The territory of Esau south of the Dead Sea.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:7 greatly afraid and distressed. He had sought reconciliation with Esau (vv. 4–5), but the report of the returning envoys (v. 6) only confirmed his deepest suspicions that Esau's old threat against him (27:41–42) had not abated over the years, and his coming with force betokened only disaster (32:8, 11). He prepared for the attack by dividing his company of people and animals.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:9–12 Commendably, notwithstanding the plans to appease his brother (vv. 13–21), Jacob prayed for deliverance, rehearsing God's own commands and covenant promise (v. 12; see 28:13–15), acknowledging his own anxiety, and confessing his own unworthiness before the Lord. This was Jacob's first recorded prayer since his encounter with God at Bethel en route to Laban (28:20–22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:13–21 The logistics of Jacob's careful appeasement strategy (550 animals Esau would prize) may highlight his ability to plan, but it highlights even more, given the goal statement at the end (v. 20), his failure to pray and believe that God would change Esau's heart.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:22–32 This unique, nightlong wrestling match at Peniel ends with the 97-year-old Jacob having a change of name (v. 28) and the place having a new name assigned to it (v. 30) in order to memorialize it for Jacob and later generations. The limp with which he emerged from the match (vv. 25, 31) also served to memorialize this event.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:22 Jabbok. A stream, 60–65 miles long, east of the Jordan, which flows into that river midway between the Sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea (c. 45 miles south of the Sea of Galilee).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:24 a man wrestled. The site name, Peniel, or “face of God,” given by Jacob (v. 30) and the commentary given by Hosea (Hos. 12:4) identifies this man with whom Jacob wrestled as the angel of the Lord who is also identified as God, a preincarnate appearance of the Lord Jesus Christ. See note on Ex. 3:2.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:28 no longer . . . Jacob, but Israel. Jacob’s personal name changed from one meaning “heel-catcher” or “deceiver” to one meaning “God’s fighter” or “he strives with God” (cf. 35:10). with God and with men. An amazing evaluation of what Jacob had accomplished, i.e., emerging victorious from the struggle. In the record of his life, “strive” did indeed dominate: 1) with his brother Esau (ch. 25–27); 2) with his father (ch. 27); 3) with his father-in-law (ch. 29–31); 4) with his wives (ch. 30); and 5) with God at Peniel (32:28).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 32:32 not eat the sinew of the thigh. This might refer to the sciatic muscle/tendon. The observation that up to Moses’ time (“to this day”) the nation of Israel did not eat this part of a hindquarter intrigues because it bears no mention elsewhere in the OT, nor is it enshrined in the Mosaic law. It does find mention in the Jewish Talmud as a sacred law.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 33:1–2 Esau was coming. Jacob hastily divided his family into three groups (cf. 31:7) and went ahead of them to meet his brother. The division and relative location of his family in relationship to the perceived danger gives tremendous insight into whom Jacob favored.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 33:3–4 Fearfully and deferentially, Jacob approached his brother as an inferior would a highly honored patron, while gladly and eagerly, Esau ran to greet his brother without restraint of emotion. “They wept” because, after 21 years of troubling separation, old memories were wiped away and murderous threats belonged to the distant past; hearts had been changed, brothers reconciled! See v. 10.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 33:5–11 Family introductions (vv. 5–7) and an explanation of the 550 animals gift (vv. 8–10; cf. 32:13–21) properly acknowledged the gracious provision of the Lord upon his life (33:5, 11). The battle for generosity was won by Jacob when Esau, who initially refused to take anything from his brother, finally agreed to do so (v. 11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 33:10 your face . . . the face of God. Jacob acknowledged how God had so obviously changed Esau, as indicated by his facial expression, which was not one of sullen hate but of brotherly love divinely wrought and restored.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 33:15 Let me find favor. Jacob did not want to have Esau's people loaned to him for fear something might happen to again fracture their relationship.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 33:16–17 to Seir . . . to Succoth. With Esau's planned escort courteously dismissed, they parted company. Jacob's expressed intention to meet again in Seir (see note on 32:3), for whatever reason, did not materialize. Instead, Jacob halted his journey first at Succoth, then at Shechem (v. 18). Succoth is east of the Jordan River, 20 miles east of Shechem, which is 65 miles north of Jerusalem, located between Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 33:18 came safely. C. 1908 B.C. A reference to the fulfillment of Jacob's vow made at Bethel when, upon departure from Canaan, he looked to God for a safe return. Upon arrival in Canaan, he would tithe of his possessions (28:20–22). Presumably Jacob fulfilled his pledge at Shechem or later at Bethel (35:1).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 33:19 bought . . . the piece of land. This purchase became only the second piece of real estate legally belonging to Abraham's line in the Promised Land (cf. 23:17–18; 25:9–10). However, the land was not Abraham's and his descendants' simply because they bought it, but rather because God owned it all (Lev. 25:23) and gave it to them for their exclusive domain (see notes on Gen. 12:1–3).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 33:20 erected an altar. In the place where Abraham had first built an altar (12:6–7), Jacob similarly marked the spot with a new name, incorporating his own new name (32:28), “God, the God of Israel,” declaring that he worshiped the “Mighty One.” “Israel” perhaps foreshadowed its use for the nation with which it rapidly became associated, even when it consisted of not much more than Jacob's extended household (34:7).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:1–31 The tawdry details of the abuse of Dinah and the revenge of Levi and Simeon are recounted in full, perhaps in order to highlight for the readers about to enter Canaan how easily Abraham's descendants might intermingle and marry with Canaanites, contrary to patriarchal desires (cf. 24:3; 27:46; 28:1) and God's will (Ex. 34:6; Deut. 7:3; Josh. 23:12–13; Neh. 13:26–27).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:1 to see the women. Little did Dinah (see 30:20–21) realize that her jaunt to the nearby city to view how other women lived would bring forth such horrific results.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:2 saw . . . seized . . . lay with. Scripture classifies Shechem's action as forcible rape, no matter how sincerely he might have expressed his love for her afterwards (v. 3) and desire for marriage (vv. 11–12). Other expressions in the account underscore the clearly unacceptable nature of this crime, e.g. “defiled” (vv. 5, 13), “indignant and very angry” (v. 7), “an outrageous thing . . . must not be done” (v. 7), and “treat our sister like a prostitute” (v. 31).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:5 Jacob held his peace. In the absence of further data, Jacob's reticence to respond should not be criticized. Wisdom dictated that he wait and counsel with his sons, but their reaction, grief, anger, and vengeance hijacked the talks between Jacob and Hamor (v. 6) and led finally to Jacob's stern rebuke (v. 30).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:6–10 The prince of Shechem painted a picture of harmonious integration (v. 16, “become one people”). However, Shechemite self-interest and enrichment actually prevailed (v. 23).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:7 in Israel. Already Jacob's household is being called by the name God had given him as father of the coming nation (32:28).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:13–17 Feigning interest in the proposals put forward and misusing, if not abusing, the circumcision sign of the Abrahamic Covenant (see notes on 17:11–14), Jacob's sons conned both father and son into convincing all the men to submit to circumcision because the outcome would be to their favor with marriages (34:9) and social, economic integration (v. 10).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:19 he was the most honored. Meaning that the men agreed to such an excruciating surgery (vv. 24–25) because they had so much respect for him and because they anticipated mercenary benefit (v. 23).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:20 gate of their city. The normal place for public gatherings.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:25–29 A massacre of all males and the wholesale plunder of the city went way beyond the reasonable, wise, and justly deserved punishment of one man; this was a considerably more excessive vengeance than the Mosaic law would later legislate (cf. Deut. 22:28–29).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:27 sons of Jacob. Simeon and Levi set in motion the barbarity of that day and attention validly falls upon them in the narrative (vv. 25, 30; cf. 49:5–7), but their brothers joined in the looting, thereby approving murder and mayhem as justifiable retribution for the destroyed honor of their sister (34:31).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 34:30 You have brought trouble on me. Vengeance exacted meant retaliation expected. Total loss of respect (“making me stink”) and of peaceful relations (v. 21) put both him and them in harm’s way with survival being highly unlikely. This threat tested God’s promise of safety, giving Jacob cause for great concern (28:15; 32:9, 12). Perizzites. See note on 13:7.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:1 Bethel. This was the place where God confirmed the Abrahamic Covenant to Jacob (28:13–15).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:2–4 Put away the foreign gods. Moving to Bethel necessitated spiritual preparation beyond the level of an exercise in logistics. Possession of idolatrous symbols such as figurines, amulets, or cultic charms (v. 4, “rings . . . in their ears”) were no longer tolerable, including Rachel’s troubling teraphim (31:19). Idols buried out of sight, plus bathing and changing to clean clothes, all served to portray both cleansing from defilement by idolatry and consecration of the heart to the Lord. It had been 8 or 10 years since his return to Canaan and, appropriately, time enough to clean up all traces of idolatry.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:4 terebinth tree . . . near Shechem. Possibly this was the same tree as in Abraham’s day (12:6).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:5 a terror from God. A supernaturally induced fear of Israel rendered the surrounding city-states unwilling and powerless to intervene and made Jacob’s fear of their retaliation rather inconsequential (34:30).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:7 built an altar. Through this act of worship, fulfillment of his vow (28:20–22), and renaming the site, Jacob reconfirmed his allegiance to God, who also affirmed his commitment to Jacob by reappearing to him, repeating the change of name (35:10; cf. 32:28), and rehearsing the Abrahamic promises (35:11–12). In response, Jacob also repeated the rite he had performed when he first met God at Bethel (v. 14) and reaffirmed its name (v. 15).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:11 kings shall come from your own body. God’s words, here included for the first time since his promises at Abraham’s circumcision (17:6, 16), served as a reminder of future royalty.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:13 went up. The presence of God was there in some visible form.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:14 A commonly done way to make a covenant (see note on 28:18–21).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:16 Ephrath. A more ancient name for Bethlehem (v. 19:48:7; cf. 5:2).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:18 Ben-oni . . . Benjamin. The dying mother appropriately named her newly born son “Son of my sorrow,” but the grieving father named him “Son of the right hand,” thus assigning him a place of honor in the home. Her prayer at the birth of her firstborn was answered (30:24).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:20 The memorial to Rachel could still be seen in Moses’ day, about 1 mile north of Bethlehem.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:21 tower of Eder. Likely a watchtower for shepherds, near Bethlehem.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:22 the sons of Jacob were twelve. The birth of Benjamin in Canaan (v. 18) furnished reason to simply review the sons born outside of Canaan, with only one sad note preceding it, i.e., the sin of Reuben, which tainted the qualifier “Jacob’s firstborn” in the listing (see 49:3–4; Deut. 22:30; 1 Chron. 5:1–2).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:27 Mamre . . . Hebron. See note on 13:18.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 35:29 his sons Esau and Jacob. C. 1885 B.C. Isaac’s funeral brought his two sons back together, as Abraham’s funeral had done for Isaac and Ishmael (25:9). Jacob, back in the land before his father’s death, fulfilled yet another part of his Bethel vow (28:21, “come again to my father’s house in peace”).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:1–37:1 The genealogy of Esau (36:1).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:1–19 The taking up of the history of Jacob (37:2), the next patriarch, is preceded by a fairly detailed genealogy of Esau, to which is appended both the genealogy of Seir the Horite, whose descendants were the contemporary inhabitants of Edom and a listing of Edomite kings and chiefs. Jacob’s and Esau’s posterities, as history would go on to show, would not be in isolation from each other as originally intended (36:6–8). They were to become bitter enemies engaged with each other in war.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:1 Edom. Cf. v. 8; see note on 25:30; see Introduction to Obadiah.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:7 too great for them to dwell together. Crowded grazing and living conditions finally clinched the decision by Esau to move permanently to Edom, where he had already established a home (cf. 32:3; 33:14, 16). Since it was Abraham’s descendants through Isaac and Jacob who would possess the land, it was fitting for God to work out the circumstances providentially of keeping Jacob’s lineage in the land and moving Esau’s lineage out. It is not revealed if Esau had understood and come to accept the promises of God to Jacob, although his descendants surely sought to deny Israel any right to their land or their life.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:8 hill country of Seir. This was divinely assigned as Esau’s place (Deut. 2:5; Josh. 24:4).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:10–14 Esau’s sons. Cf. 1 Chron. 1:35–37.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:15 the chiefs. This term, “ruler of a thousand,” apart from one exception (Zech. 12:5–6), is used exclusively for the tribal princes or clan leaders, the political/military leaders in Edom. It may suggest a loosely formed tribal confederacy.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:20–28 sons of Seir. Cf. 1 Chron. 1:38–42.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:31–39 kings . . . before any king . . . over the Israelites. Sandwiched in the genealogical details of Edom is a statement prophetically pointing to kingship in Israel (17:6, 16; 35:11; 49:10; Num. 24:7, 17–18; Deut. 17:14–20). The kings’ list does not introduce a dynasty, each ruler not being the son of his predecessor. “Kings” more likely suggests rule over a more settled people than tribal groups.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 36:43 father of Edom. The closing title of the genealogy calls attention to the Lord’s words to Rebekah at the birth of her sons, “two nations are in your womb” (25:23); here was the nation from the older.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:1 land of his father’s sojournings. This introduction to the story of Jacob’s son, Joseph, informs the reader that Jacob’s father, Isaac, hence his sons as well, though in the land, had not yet entered into possession of their inheritance. They were still alien residents. land of Canaan. Actually Jacob and his family were in Hebron (v. 14). See note on 13:18.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:2–50:26 The genealogy of Jacob (v. 2).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:2 Joseph, being seventeen years old. Eleven years had passed since he had entered the land of Canaan with his family (cf. 30:22–24), since Joseph was born six years before departing from Haran. a bad report. Whether Joseph brought this at his own initiative or reported back at the father’s demand on four of his brothers (e.g., v. 14) is not elaborated upon, nor specifically cited as the cause of the brothers’ intense dislike of Joseph (cf. vv. 4–5, 8, 11, 18–19).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:3–4 Overt favoritism of Joseph and tacit appointment of him as the primary son by the father (see note on v. 3) conspired to estrange him from his brothers. They hated and envied him (vv. 4–5, 11) and could not interact with him without conflict and hostility. Joseph must have noticed the situation.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:3 a robe of many colors. The Septuagint (LXX) favored this translation of the Hebrew phrase used by Moses, although some prefer “a long-sleeved robe” or “an ornamented tunic.” It marked the owner as the one whom the father intended to be the future leader of the household, an honor normally given to the firstborn son.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:5–10 The content of the dreams that Joseph recounted exacerbated fraternal hostility, with the second one also incurring paternal rebuke. The dream symbolism needed no special interpretation to catch its significant elevation of the favored son to ruling status over his brothers (vv. 8–10).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:11 kept the saying in mind. Unlike the brothers, who immediately rejected any meaning to Joseph’s words yet still allowed the dream to sorely irritate them into greater resentment of their brother (v. 19), the father, notwithstanding his public admonishment of Joseph, continued to ponder the meaning of the dreams.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:12–17 The assignment to Shechem brought Joseph providentially to Dothan, a site more convenient for contact with merchants using the main trade route on their way to Egypt.

Joseph and his Brothers

Jacob sent Joseph from Hebron to Shechem to find his brothers, who had been pasturing their father's flock. When Joseph arrived, he learned that his brothers had gone on to Dothan, so he went there and found them. His brothers threw him into a pit and later sold him to some Ishmaelite spice traders on their way from Gilead to Egypt. The traders took Joseph to Egypt and sold him to Potiphar, the captain of Pharaoh's guard.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:12, 14 Shechem . . . Hebron. Shechem (see note on 12:6) was located c. 50 miles north of Hebron (see note on 13:18).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:17 Dothan. Almost 15 miles north of Shechem.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:18–27 The brothers' plans for murder and cover-up, the fruit of hate and envy, were forestalled by two brothers: first by Reuben, who intended to effect a complete rescue (vv. 21–22), and then by Judah who, prompted by a passing merchants' caravan, proposed a profitable alternative to fratricide (vv. 25–27).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:25 Ishmaelites. Also known as Midianites (cf. vv. 28, 36; 39:1). The descendants of Ishmael and of Abraham through Keturah and Midian (25:1–2) were sufficiently intermarried or were such inveterate travelers and traders, that they were viewed as synonymous groups. These were coming west from Gilead. Gilead. See note on 31:21.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:27 This criminal behavior would later be prohibited by the Mosaic legislation (Ex. 21:16; Deut. 24:7)

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:28 twenty shekels of silver. This was the average price of a slave at that time in the second millennium B.C. Although most slaves were part of the booty of military conquest, private and commercial slave-trading was also common. Joseph was sold into slavery c. 1897 B.C.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:29 Reuben . . . tore his clothes. Although he was absent at the time of the sale, he would be held responsible for the treachery, and so joined in the cover-up (vv. 30–35). His grief manifested how much he had actually wanted to rescue Joseph (see 42:22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:31–35 The deceiver of Isaac (27:18–29) was deceived by his own sons' lie. Sin's punishment is often long delayed.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:35 Sheol. This is the first OT use of this term for the abode of the dead (in 35:20 the word “tomb” is used to refer to an earthly burial plot). It is a general Hebrew term meaning the place of the dead (used 65 times in the OT), referring to either the body in its decaying form or the soul in its conscious afterlife.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 37:36 Potiphar. He was a prominent court official and high-ranking officer in Egypt, perhaps captain of the royal bodyguard (cf. 40:3–4). His name, a most unusual grammatical form for that period, either meant “the one whom the god Ra has given” or “the one who is placed on earth by Ra,” making it a descriptive epithet more than a personal name. See note on 40:3–4.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:1–30 The Judah-Interlude, as it is sometimes known, is bracketed by references to the sale of Joseph to Potiphar (37:36; 39:1). Such a parenthesis in the Joseph story demands some reason why a chapter laced with wickedness, immorality, and subterfuge should of necessity be placed in this spot. The answer is that the events recorded are chronologically in the right place, being contemporary with Joseph's slavery in Egypt (38:1, "at that time"). The account is also genealogically in the right place, i.e., with Joseph gone (seemingly for good), with Reuben, Simeon, and Levi out of favor (for incest and for treachery), Judah would most likely accede to firstborn status. It provides a contrast because it also demonstrates the immoral character of Judah, as compared with the virtue of Joseph. Canaanite syncretistic religion and inclusivism threatened to absorb the fourth and later generations of Abraham's heirs, but Egyptian exile and racial exclusivism produced not loss of their ethnic identity, but preservation of it.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:1 Adullamite. Adullam was a town about 1 mile northwest of Hebron.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:2–5 Judah's separation from his brethren was marked by more than the geographical; it involved integration. His Canaanite wife had three sons for his family line.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:6–10 Two sons were executed by the Lord, one for unspecified wickedness and one for deliberate and rebellious rejection of the duty to marry a relative's widow, called a levirate marriage. This was a rather dubious distinction for the line of Judah to gain. For details on levirate marriage according to later Mosaic law, see note on Deut. 25:5–10; see Introduction to Ruth.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:11 Remain a widow . . . till Shelah my son. Taking her father-in-law at his word and residing at her father's household as a widow would do, Tamar vainly waited for Judah's third son to protect the inheritance rights of her deceased husband (v. 14) and finally resorted to subterfuge to obtain her rights (vv. 13–16). In so doing, she may have been influenced by Hittite inheritance practices which wickedly called the father-in-law into levirate marriage in the absence of sons to do so.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:13 shear his sheep. Such an event was frequently associated, in the ancient world, with festivity and licentious behavior characteristic of pagan fertility-cult practices.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:14–15 Feeling that no one was going to give her a child, Tamar resorted to disguising herself as a prostitute, obviously knowing she could trap Judah, which says little for his moral stature in her eyes. Judah’s Canaanite friend, Hirah (vv. 1, 20), called her a temple prostitute (v. 21), which made Judah’s actions no less excusable just because cultic prostitution was an accepted part of Canaanite culture. He solicited the iniquity by making the proposal to her (v. 16), and she played the role of a prostitute, negotiating the price (v. 17).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:18 Your signet and your cord and your staff. A prominent man in the ancient Near East endorsed contracts with the cylinder signet he wore on a cord around his neck. Her request for the walking stick suggests it also had sufficient identifying marks on it (cf. v. 25, “whose these are”). The custom of using three pieces of identification is attested to in Ugaritic (Canaanite) literature.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:20–23 It was not good for one’s reputation to keep asking for the whereabouts of a prostitute.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:24 let her be burned. Double standards prevailed in that Judah, no less guilty than Tamar, commanded her execution for immorality. Later Mosaic legislation would prescribe this form of the death penalty for a priest’s daughter who prostituted herself or for those guilty of certain forms of incest (Lev. 20:14; 21:9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:26 more righteous than I. This was not an accolade for her moral character and faith, but a commendation by Judah for her attention to inheritance rights of her family line and his shameful neglect thereof. Her death sentence was rescinded.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 38:29 Perez. This first of the twins, born of prostitution and incest to Tamar, nevertheless came into the messianic line, which went through Boaz and Ruth to King David (Ruth 4:18–22; Matt. 1:3). His name means “breach” or “pushing through.”

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:1 Potiphar. See note on 37:36. Ishmaelites. See note on 37:25.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:2 The Lord was with Joseph. Any and all ideas that Joseph, twice a victim of injustice, had been abandoned by the Lord are summarily banished by the employment of phrases highlighting God’s oversight of his circumstances, e.g. “with him” (vv. 3, 21), “caused all that he did to succeed” (vv. 3, 23), “found/gave him favor” (vv. 4, 21), “blessed/blessing” (v. 5), and “showed him steadfast love” (v. 21). Neither being unjustly sold into slavery and forcibly removed from the land (37:28), nor being unjustly accused of sexual harassment and imprisoned (39:13–18) were events signaling even a temporary loss of divine superintendence of Joseph’s life and God’s purpose for his people, Israel.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:2–4 successful . . . overseer over his house. This involved the authority and trust as the steward of the whole estate (v. 5, “house and field” and v. 9, “not greater”), one of the criteria for which was trust. No doubt Joseph was conversant in the Egyptian language (see note on 29:9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:5 the blessing of the Lord. Joseph was experiencing fulfillment of the Abrahamic Covenant, even at that time before Israel was in the land (see 12:1–3).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:6 no concern about anything but the food he ate. Since Joseph proved trustworthy enough to need no oversight, his master concerned himself only with his own meals or his very own personal affairs. Joseph himself remarked that Potiphar had delegated to him so much, that he no longer knew the full extent of his own business affairs (v. 8); in fact, he knew only what was set before him (v. 6).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:9 this great wickedness. Joseph explained, when first tempted, that adultery would be a gross violation of his ethical convictions that demanded 1) the utmost respect for his master and 2) a life of holiness before his God. Far more was involved than compliance with the letter of an ancient Near Eastern law-code, many of which did forbid adultery. Rather, as one who walked with God, Joseph was seeking to obey moral standards which existed long before Mosaic law-code prescriptions applied (cf. Ps. 51:4).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:10–18 Her incessant efforts to seduce Joseph failed in the face of his strong convictions not to yield or be compromised. At flashpoint, Joseph fled! Based on false accusations, Joseph was deemed guilty and imprisoned. Cf. 2 Tim. 2:22 for a NT picture of Joseph’s attitude.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:12 his garment. See 37:31–35 for the other time one of Joseph’s cloaks was used in a conspiracy against him.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:17 Hebrew servant. This term was used by Potiphar’s wife as a pejorative, intended to heap scorn upon someone considered definitely unworthy of any respect. Its use may also suggest some latent attitudes toward dwellers in Canaan, which could be aggravated to her advantage. Potiphar’s wife also neatly shifted the blame onto her husband for having hired the Hebrew in the first place (vv. 16–18) and stated this also before the servants (v. 14).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:19–20 The death penalty for adultery may not have applied to a charge of attempted adultery, attempted seduction, or rape (cf. vv. 14, 18), so Potiphar consigned Joseph to the prison reserved for royal servants, from where, in the providence of God, he would be summoned into Pharaoh’s presence and begin the next stage of his life (cf. chs. 40–41). See note on 40:3–4.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:21 showed him steadfast love. God did not permit this initial painful imprisonment to continue (cf. Ps. 105:18–19).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 39:22–23 Once again Joseph, though in circumstances considerably less comfortable than Potiphar’s home, rose to a position of trust and authority and proved to be trustworthy enough not to need any oversight.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:1 the king of Egypt. To be identified as Senusert II, c. 1894–1878 B.C.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:2 the chief cupbearer and the chief baker. Both these occupations and ranks in Pharaoh’s court are attested in existing ancient Egyptian documents. The cupbearer gave him his drinks. The baker cooked his bread. Both had to be trustworthy and beyond the influence of the monarch’s enemies.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:3–4 captain of the guard. See note on 37:36. If this was Potiphar, the captain of the guard, then Joseph’s former master directed him to attend to the two royal servants remanded into his custody until sentence was past. This prison was also called “the house of the captain of the guard” (40:3), “his master’s house” (v. 7), and “pit” (v. 15; 41:14), unless Joseph had been moved to another penal facility.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:5 dream. Oneiromancy, the science or practice of interpreting dreams, flourished in ancient Egypt because dreams were thought to determine the future. Both Egypt and Babylon developed a professional class of dream interpreters. Deuteronomy 13:1–5 shows that such dream interpreters were part of ancient false religion and to be avoided by God’s people. By some 500 years later, a detailed manual of dream interpretation had been compiled. Unlike Joseph, neither cupbearer nor baker understood the significance of their dreams (cf. Gen. 37:5–11).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:8 Do not interpretations belong to God? Joseph was careful to give credit to his Lord (cf. 41:16). Daniel, the only other Hebrew whom God allowed to accurately interpret revelatory dreams, was just as careful to do so (Dan. 2:28). Significantly, God chose both men to play an important role for Israel while serving pagan monarchs and stepping forward at the critical moment to interpret their dreams and reveal their futures.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:9–13 the chief cupbearer. Consistent with his duty as the cupbearer to the king, he dreamed of a drink prepared for Pharaoh. It was a sign that he would be released and returned to his position (v. 13).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:14–15 remember me. A poignant appeal to the cupbearer, whose future was secure, to speak a word for Joseph’s freedom, because he knew cupbearers had the ear of kings. The cupbearer quickly forgot Joseph (v.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:15 the land of the Hebrews. Giving this designation to the land of Canaan indicates that Joseph understood the land promise of the Abrahamic Covenant.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:16 interpretation was favorable. The chief baker, noting some similarity in the dreams, was encouraged to request interpretation of his dream.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 40:20 Pharaoh's birthday. The Rosetta Stone (discovered in A.D. 1799, this is a trilingual artifact from Egyptian antiquity, c. 196 B.C., whose Greek inscription enabled linguists to understand the language of hieroglyphics) records a custom of releasing Pharaoh's prisoners, but at this party held for his servants, Pharaoh rendered two very different kinds of judgment (vv. 21–22).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:1 the Nile. This river dominated Egyptian life.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:8 none who could interpret. The combined expertise of a full council of Pharaoh's advisers and dream experts, all of whom had been summoned into his presence, failed to provide an interpretation of the two disturbing dreams. Without knowing it, they had just set the stage for Joseph's entrance on the scene of Egyptian history.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:9 Then the chief cupbearer said. With memory suitably prompted, the butler apologized for his neglect ("my offenses"), and apprised Pharaoh of the Hebrew prisoner and his accurate interpretation of dreams two years earlier (vv. 10–13).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:14 Then Pharaoh sent and called Joseph. The urgent summons had Joseph in front of Pharaoh with minimum delay, in prized, clean-shaven Egyptian style for a proper appearance.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:16 It is not in me; God will give. Deprecating any innate ability, Joseph advised at the very outset that the answer Pharaoh desired could only come from God.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:25 God has revealed. Joseph's interpretation kept the focus fixed upon what God had determined for Egypt (vv. 28, 32).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:33–36 After interpreting the dream, Joseph told Pharaoh how to survive the next 14 years. Incongruously, Joseph, a slave and a prisoner, appended to the interpretation a long-term strategy for establishing reserves to meet the future need, and included advice on the quality of the man to head up the project. Famines had ravaged Egypt before, but this time divine warning permitted serious and sustained advance planning.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:37–41 To Pharaoh and his royal retinue, no other candidate but Joseph qualified for the task of working out this good plan, because they recognized that he spoke God-given revelation and insight (v. 39). Joseph’s focus on his Lord had taken him from prison to the palace quickly (v. 41).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:38 the Spirit of God. The Egyptians did not understand about the third person of the triune Godhead. They merely meant that God had assisted Joseph.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:41 set you over all the land of Egypt. The country-wide jurisdiction accorded to Joseph receives frequent mention in the narrative (vv. 43–44, 46, 55; 42:6; 45:8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:42 signet ring . . . garments . . . gold chain. Emblems of office and a reward of clothing and jewelry suitable to the new rank accompanied Pharaoh’s appointment of Joseph as vizier, or prime minister, the second-in-command (v. 40; 45:8, 26). Joseph wore the royal seal on his finger, authorizing him to transact the affairs of state on behalf of Pharaoh himself.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:43–45 Other awards appropriate to promotion were also bestowed upon Joseph, namely, official and recognizable transportation (v. 43), an Egyptian name (v. 45), and an Egyptian wife (v. 45). Further, the populace was commanded to show deference for their vizier (v. 43, “Bow the knee”). All these dreams had been revealed by God, in a rare display of manifesting truth through pagans, so that Joseph would be established in Egypt as a leader and, thus elevated, could be used for the preservation of God’s people when the famine came to Canaan. Thus, God cared for his people and fulfilled his promises (see note on 45:1–8).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:43 his second chariot. This signified to all that Joseph was second-in-command.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:45 Zaphenath-paneah. This name probably means “The Nourisher of the Two Lands, the Living One” but various other proposals have also been suggested; certainty of that meaning still eludes scholars. Foreigners are known to have been assigned an Egyptian name.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:46 thirty years old. C. 1884 B.C. Only 13 years had elapsed since his involuntary departure from “the land of the Hebrews” (cf. 40:15). Joseph had been 17 when the narrative commenced (37:2).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:50 On. One of the four great Egyptian cities, also called Heliopolis, which was known as the chief city of the sun god, Ra. It was located c. 19 miles north of ancient Memphis.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:51–52 Manasse . . . Ephraim. The names, meaning “forgetful” and “fruitful,” assigned to his sons together with their explanations depict the centrality of God in Joseph’s worldview. Years of suffering, pagan presence, and separation from his own family had not harmed his faith.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:54–57 Use of hyperbole with “all” (vv. 54, 56–57) emphatically indicates the widespread ravaging impact of famine far beyond Egypt’s borders. She had become indeed the “breadbasket” of the ancient world.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 41:55–56 Go to Joseph. After seven years, Joseph’s authority remained intact, and Pharaoh still fully trusted his vizier. He dispensed the food supplies by sale to Egyptians and others (v. 47).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:1–3 Jacob’s sons were paralyzed in the famine, and Jacob was reluctant to let his family return to Egypt, not knowing what would happen to them (v. 4). But, with no other choice left, he dispatched them to buy grain in Egypt (v. 2).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:4 Benjamin. See 35:16–19. He was the youngest of all, the second son of Rachel, Jacob’s beloved, and the favorite of his father since he thought Joseph was dead.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:6 bowed. Without their appreciating it at the time, Joseph’s dream became reality (37:5–8). Recognition of Joseph was unlikely because: 1) over 15 years had elapsed and the teenager sold into slavery had become a mature adult; 2) he had become Egyptian in appearance and dress; 3) he treated them without a hint of familiarity (42:7–8); and 4) they thought he was dead (v. 13).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:9–22 The brothers' final evaluation after being imprisoned for 3 days, after protesting the charge of espionage, and after hearing the royal criterion for establishing their innocence (vv. 15, 20), revealed their guilty conscience and their understanding that vengeance for their wrongdoing to Joseph had probably arrived (vv. 21–22). Calling themselves “honest men” (v. 11) was hardly an accurate assessment.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:9 remembered the dreams. Joseph remembered his boyhood dreams about his brothers bowing down to him (37:9) as they were coming true.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:15 by the life of Pharaoh. Speaking an oath in the name of the king would most likely have masked Joseph's identity from the brothers. Perhaps it also prevented them from grasping the significance of his declaration, “I fear God” (v. 18). unless your youngest brother comes here. Joseph wanted to find out if they had done the same or a similar thing to Benjamin as to himself.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:19–20 if you are honest men. Joseph took their assessment of themselves at face value when exhorting them to respond to his proposals, but still asked for a hostage.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:21 distress of his soul. The brothers had steeled their hearts when selling Joseph to the Midianites (37:28–29), but they could not forget the fervent pleading and terror-filled voice of the teenager dragged away as a slave from home. Reuben reminded them of his warning at that time and the consequence.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:22 reckoning for his blood. This declaration referred to the death penalty (9:5).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:24 took Simeon. He kept hostage not Reuben the firstborn, but Simeon, the oldest brother who willingly participated in the crime against Joseph (37:21–31).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:28 God has done. Their guilty conscience and fear of vengeance from God surfaced again in this response to the money with which they had purchased the grain being returned and found in the one sack that had been opened. Later, upon discovering all their money had been returned, their fear increased even further (v. 35).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:36 Jacob could not handle the prospect of losing another son, and didn't trust the brothers who had already divested him of two sons by what he may have thought were their intrigues. All . . . against me. The whole situation overwhelmed Jacob who complained against his sons (cf. 43:6) and would not release Benjamin (42:38).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 42:37 The always salutary Reuben generously made his father an offer easy to refuse—killing his grandsons!

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:3 solemnly warned us. The seriousness of Joseph's words portended failure for another mission to buy food, unless the criterion he had set down was strictly met.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:9 I will be a pledge of his safety. Reuben's offer to guarantee the safety of Benjamin had been rejected (42:37–38), but Judah's was accepted (43:11) because of the stress of the famine and the potential death of all (v. 8) if they waited much longer (v. 10).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:11 a little. Likely, this was a significant present because they had little left. But there was no future at all past the little if they did not get grain in Egypt.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:14 Jacob's acquiescence to let Benjamin go (v. 13) ended with prayer for the brothers' and Benjamin's safety and with a cry of being a helpless victim of circumstances. Pessimism had apparently set into his heart and deepened after the loss of Joseph.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:23 Your God . . . has put. An indication of Joseph's steward either having come to faith in God or having become very familiar with how Joseph talked of his God and life. So concerned were the brothers to protest their ignorance of the means of the money being returned and to express their desire to settle this debt (vv. 20–22), that they missed the steward's clear reference to the God of Israel ("the God of your father") and his oversight of events in which he had played a part ("I received your money").

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:26 bowed down to him to the ground. Again, Joseph's boyhood dream (37:5–8) had become reality (cf. 42:6).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:29 God be gracious. Joseph easily used the name of God in his conversation, but the brothers did not hear the name of their own covenant God being spoken by one who looked just like an Egyptian (cf. 42:18).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:30 to weep. Joseph was moved to tears on several occasions (42:24; 45:2, 14–15; 46:29).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:32 not eat with the Hebrews. Exclusivism kept the Egyptians sensitive to the social stigma attached to sharing a meal table with foreigners (cf. 46:34). Discrimination prevailed at another level too: Joseph ate alone, his rank putting him ahead of others and giving him his own meal table and setting.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:33 the firstborn . . . the youngest. To be seated at the table in birth order in the house of an Egyptian official was startling—how did he know this of them? Enough clues had been given in Joseph’s previous questions about the family and his use of God’s name for them to wonder about him and his personal knowledge of them. Obviously, they simply did not believe Joseph was alive (44:20) and certainly not as a personage of such immense influence and authority. They had probably laughed through the years at the memory of Joseph’s dreams of superiority.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 43:34 Benjamin’s portion. Favoritism shown to Rachel’s son silently tested their attitudes; any longstanding envy, dislike, or animosity could not be easily masked. None surfaced.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 44:2 my cup, the silver cup. Joseph’s own special cup, also described as one connected with divination (vv. 5, 15) or hydromancy (interpreting the water movements), was a sacred vessel symbolizing the authority of his office of Egyptian vizier. Mention of its superstitious nature and purpose need not demand Joseph be an actual practitioner of pagan religious rites. See note on v. 15.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 44:5 divination. See note on Deut. 18:9–12.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 44:7–9 The brothers, facing a charge of theft, protested their innocence by pointing first to their integrity in returning the money from the last trip, and then by declaring death on the perpetrator and slavery for themselves.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 44:12 beginning with the eldest. Again, there was a display of inside knowledge of the family, which ought to have signaled something to the brothers. See note on 43:33.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 44:13 tore their clothes. A well known ancient Near Eastern custom of visibly portraying the pain of heart being experienced. They were very upset that Benjamin might become a slave in Egypt (v. 10). Benjamin appears to have been speechless. They had passed a second test of devotion to Benjamin (the first in 43:34).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 44:14 fell before him. Again the dream had become reality (cf. 37:5–8; 42:6); but now prostrate before him, they had come to plead for mercy both for their youngest brother Benjamin and for their father Jacob (44:18–34).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 44:15 practice divination. See notes on vv. 2 and 5. Joseph, still disguising himself as an Egyptian official before his brothers, permitted them to think it so.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 44:16 And Judah said. Judah stepped forward as the family spokesman since it was he who came with his brothers to Joseph's house and he who pled with him (cf. vv. 14, 18); Reuben, the firstborn, had been eclipsed. God has found out the guilt. Judah, showing how his heart had changed, acknowledged the providence of God in uncovering their guilt (note the "we" in the questions), and did not indulge in any blame shifting, even onto Benjamin.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 44:18–34 An eloquent and contrite plea for mercy, replete with reference to the aged father's delight in and doting upon the youngest son (vv. 20, 30) and the fatal shock should he be lost (vv. 22, 29, 31, 34). Judah's evident compassion for Jacob and readiness to substitute himself for Benjamin in slavery finally overwhelmed Joseph—these were not the same brothers of yesteryear (45:1).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 45:1–8 Stunned by the revelation of who it really was with whom they dealt, the brothers then heard expressed a masterpiece of recognition of and submission to the sovereignty of God, i.e., his providential rule over the affairs of life, both good and bad. See note on 41:43–45.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 45:6 these two years. Joseph would have been 39 years old and away from his brothers for 22 years (37:2).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 45:7 to preserve . . . a remnant. Words reflecting, on Joseph's part, an understanding of the Abrahamic Covenant and its promise of a nation (cf. chs. 12; 15; 17).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 45:8 father to Pharaoh. A title that belonged to viziers and that designated one who, unrelated to Pharaoh, nevertheless performed a valuable function and held high position, which in Joseph's case was "lord of all Egypt" (v. 9). A new and younger Pharaoh now reigned, Senusert III, c. 1878–1841 B.C.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 45:10 land of Goshen. This area, located in the northeast section of the Egyptian Delta region, was appropriate for grazing the herds of Jacob (cf. 47:27; 50:8). Over 400 years later, at the time of the exodus, the Jews still lived in Goshen (cf. Ex. 8:22; 9:26).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 45:14–15 Reconciliation was accomplished with much emotion, which clearly showed that Joseph held no grudges and had forgiven them, evidencing the marks of a spiritually mature man. See note on 50:15–18. It had been 22 years since the brothers sold Joseph into slavery.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 45:16 it pleased Pharaoh. The final seal of approval for Joseph's relatives to immigrate to Egypt came unsought from Pharaoh (vv. 17–20).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 45:24 Do not quarrel on the way. A needed admonition because they would have so much sin to think about as they readied their confession to their father.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 45:26 his heart became numb. Like his sons (v. 3), Jacob was shocked by the totally unexpected good news. Even though the record is silent on the matter, this was the appropriate occasion for the sons to confess their crime to their father.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:1 offered sacrifices. The route to Egypt for Jacob went via Beersheba, a notable site about 25 miles southwest of Hebron and favorite place of worship for both Abraham and Isaac (21:33; 26:25).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:2–4 God spoke . . . in visions. Jacob's anxiety about his departure to Egypt was allayed by the Lord's approval and confirmation of his descendants returning as a nation. God had previously appeared/spoken to Jacob in 28:10–17; 32:24–30; 35:1, 9–13.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:4 close your eyes. A promise of dying peacefully in the presence of his beloved son (cf. 49:33).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:6 came into Egypt. C. 1875 B.C. They remained 430 years (Ex. 12:40) until the exodus in 1445 B.C.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:8–27 The genealogical register, separately listing and totaling the sons per wife and handmaid, is enveloped by notification that it records the sons/persons of Jacob who went to Egypt (vv. 8, 27). Ancient Near Eastern genealogies could include historical notes as is true here, namely the death of Er and Onan (v. 12), and that Laban gave the handmaids to his daughters (vv. 18, 25).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:8 the descendants of Israel. This was the first time that author Moses referred to the family as a whole in this way, although “in Israel” had been used by the sons of Jacob before (cf. 34:7).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:26 sixty-six persons. The total of vv. 8–25 is 70, from which Er, Onan, Manasseh, and Ephraim need to be deleted.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:27 seventy. Jacob, Joseph, Manasseh, and Ephraim should be added to the 66. The 75 of Acts 7:14 included an additional five people, born in the land, which were added in the LXX reading of 46:8–27 (cf. Ex. 1:5; Deut. 10:22). These five included two sons of Manasseh, two sons of Ephraim, and one grandson of the latter. See note on Ex. 1:5.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:28 sent Judah ahead of him. Once again Judah was the leader going ahead as Jacob’s representative, not Reuben. See note on 44:16. Goshen. See note on 45:10.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 46:31–34 Joseph’s instructions about his preparatory interview with Pharaoh were designed to secure his relatives a place somewhat separate from the mainstream of Egyptian society. The social stigma regarding the Hebrews (43:32), who were shepherds also (46:34), played a crucial role in protecting Israel from intermingling and losing their identity in Egypt. See note on 43:32.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:1–6 in the land of Goshen. By informing Pharaoh of where he had located his family (cf. 45:10; 46:28) and then by having the family's five representatives courteously request permission to reside in Goshen (47:2, 4), Joseph, wise to court procedures, paved the way for Pharaoh's confirmation and approval (v. 6).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:7, 10 Jacob blessed Pharaoh. The aged patriarch's salutations pronounced, undoubtedly in the name of God, a benediction on Pharaoh Senusert III (see note on 45:8) for his generosity and his provision of a safe place for Jacob's family. Though Senusert III had ascended to the throne before the famine ended, he honored his father's commitments.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:9 my sojourning . . . Few and evil. Since neither Jacob nor his fathers had actually possessed the land of Canaan, describing life as a sojourning was a fitting evaluation to give. In addition, his years seemed few in contrast to those of the two who had visited Egypt long before him, Abraham and Isaac (175 and 180 years respectively). And still overshadowed with pessimism, the days were "evil," in the sense of toil and trouble, of many sorrows, distresses, and crises. See note on 48:15.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:11 land of Rameses. An alternative designation for Goshen (cf. 46:34; 47:1, 6), with this name perhaps used later to more accurately describe the region for Moses' contemporary readers. See note on Ex. 1:11 regarding the name Rameses ("Raamses" being the alternate spelling in Exodus). This region is also called Zoan elsewhere (cf. Ps. 78:12, 43).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:12 according to the number of their dependents. A rationing system was evidently in operation.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:13–24 When the famine finally exhausted the Egyptians' supply of money, Joseph accepted animals in exchange for grain (v. 17). After the animals ran out, the people were desperate enough to exchange their land (vv. 19–20). Eventually, Pharaoh owned all the land, except what was the priests' (v. 22), though the people were allowed to work the land and pay one-fifth of its yield to Pharaoh (v. 24). Whatever may have been the land tenure system at that time, some private land ownership did at first exist, but finally, as in a feudal system, all worked their land for Pharaoh. Landed nobility did lose out and declined during major social reforms undertaken under Senusert III. This is the first record in Scripture of a national income tax, and the amount was 20 percent. Later, after the exodus, God would prescribe tithes for Israel as national income taxes to support the theocracy (see Mal. 3:10).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:15 when the money was all spent. The severity of the famine finally bankrupted all in Egypt and Canaan. With no monetary instruments available as a medium of exchange, a barter system was established (vv. 16–18).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:16–18 Land soon replaced animals as the medium of exchange.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:25–26 The extra measures imposed by Joseph to control the impact of the famine, i.e., moving parts of the population into cities (v. 21) and demanding a one-fifth tax on crop yields (v. 24), did not affect his approval ratings (v. 25). Whatever the gain to Pharaoh, the people obviously understood that Joseph had not enriched himself at their expense.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:27–28 fruitful and multiplied greatly. For 17 years, Jacob was witness to the increase; he had a glimpse of God's promise to Abraham, Isaac, and himself in the process of being fulfilled.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:29 your hand under my thigh. Cf. Abraham and Eliezer in 24:9. Do not bury me in Egypt. With the customary sign of an oath in that day, Joseph sincerely promised to bury Jacob, at his request, in the family burial cave in Canaan (cf. 49:29–32).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 47:31 Cf. Heb. 11:21.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:3–6 After summarizing God's affirmation of the Abrahamic Covenant to himself, Jacob/Israel, in gratitude for Joseph's great generosity and preservation of God's people, formally proclaimed adoption of Joseph's sons on a par with Joseph's brothers in their inheritance, thus granting to Rachel's two sons (Joseph and Benjamin) three tribal territories in the land (cf. v. 16). This may explain why the new name, Israel, was used throughout the rest of the chapter.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:4 will give this land. Cf. Acts 7:5.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:8 Who are these? Blind Jacob asked for identification of Joseph's sons before he would pronounce their blessings. Perhaps, at this point, he recollected the time of blessing before his own father and the trick played on blind Isaac (27:1–29).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:14 crossing his hands. Intentionally crossing his hands, Jacob altered what Joseph expected to happen and placed his right hand on the youngest, not on the firstborn. When Joseph attempted to correct Jacob's mistake (vv. 17–18), he learned that Jacob knew exactly what he was doing (vv. 19–20). The patriarchal blessing took on prophetic significance with such action and words, since Ephraim would be the most influential of the two to the extent that Ephraim would become a substitute name for Israel (see note on 48:19).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:15 blessed Joseph. With hands on the sons' heads, Jacob uttered the prayer-wish for Joseph, which indicated by his wording that these two would be taking his son's place under Abraham and Isaac. See note on vv. 3–6.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:15–16 Pessimism no longer overshadowed Jacob's testimony; he recognized that every day had been under God's hand or that of his angel (see note on 16:13). This was a different evaluation of his life than previously given (47:9).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:16 redeemed me. This is the first mention of God as redeemer, deliverer, or Savior.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:19 younger brother shall be greater. Ephraim did indeed become the dominant tribe of the 10 northern tribes, eventually being used as the national designate for the 10 tribes in the prophets (Isa. 7:2, 5, 9, 17; Hos. 9:3–16).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:21 bring you again. Dying Jacob gave voice to his undying trust in God's taking his descendants back to Canaan.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 48:22 one mountain slope . . . with my sword. Jacob's history does not record any conquest of Amorite land. He did purchase property from the children of Hamor (33:19) but that was not by conquest. At some time this military event had actually occurred, but for some unknown reason it finds no other mention in God's revelation.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:1–28 With Judah and Joseph receiving the most attention (vv. 8–12, 22–26), the father's blessing portrayed the future history of each son, seemingly based upon their characters up to that time. The cryptic nature of the poetry demands rigorous analysis for correlating tribal history with Jacob's last word and testament. See Moses' blessing on the tribes in Deut. 33, c. 1405 B.C.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:1 in days to come. The key expression leading into the poetic content of Jacob's prediction for each son often signifies the last days in prophetic literature (Isa. 2:2; Ezek. 38:16) or points more generally to "the latter days" (Deut. 4:30; 31:29), i.e., in the sense of "in subsequent days."

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:2–27 The names of the sons are not given in birth order (cf. 29:32–30:24; 35:18), nor in the pattern of wife, then handmaid (cf. 46:8–25). The order is as per the mother: 1) the six sons of Leah; 2) one son of Bilhah; 3) two sons of Zilpah; 4) one son of Bilhah; and 5) the two sons of Rachel. Other than the reversal of Leah's fifth and sixth sons, the others remain in chronological order in relation to their mothers. No other pattern is discernible. It may have been nothing more than a mnemonic device, or just how Jacob personally had come to recall them to mind.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:3–4 The seriousness of Reuben's sin (35:22) was not forgotten. Its consequences erased his birthright (1 Chron. 5:1–3), and whatever dignity and majesty he might have had, his tribe received scant mention in Israelite history and produced not one judge, prophet, military leader, or other important person (cf. Judg. 5:15; 1 Chron. 5:1). Moses prayed for this tribe not to die out (Deut. 33:6). "Unstable as water" lit., means "boiling" and shows instability.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:5–7 The cruelty and anger of Simeon and Levi at Shechem were not forgotten (34:25). Their consequences affected Simeon who: 1) became the smallest tribe in the second census of Moses (Num. 26:14); 2) was omitted from the blessing of Moses (Deut. 33:8); and 3) later shared territory with Judah (Josh. 19:1–9). Levi was scattered (Gen. 49:7) throughout Israel; they became, by God's grace and through their loyalty to God (Ex. 32:26), the priestly tribe and residents of the cities of refuge. Neither possessed their own designated region in the land, although Levi's priestly position was certainly a privileged one (cf. Deut. 33:8–11; Josh. 21:1–3). "Hamstrung" means to cut the leg tendons as a means of destroying the animal's usefulness.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:8–12 As strong as a young lion and entrenched as an old lion, to Judah's line belonged national prominence and kingship, including David, Solomon, and their dynasty (640 years after this), as well as the one to whom “the scepter shall not depart,” i.e., Shiloh, the cryptogram for the Messiah, the one also called the “Lion of the tribe of Judah” (Rev. 5:5). On the march through the wilderness, Judah went first (Num. 10:14) and had the largest population in Moses’ census (cf. Num. 1:27; 26:22). This language (Gen. 49:11–12) describes prosperity so great that people will tie a donkey to a choice vine, letting it eat because there is such abundance; wine will be as plentiful as water and everyone will be healthy. This is likely a millennial prophecy.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:13 Although Zebulun’s territory did not border the Mediterranean nor the Sea of Galilee, the tribe was situated to benefit from the important trade route, the Via Maris, traversed by sea traders moving through their territory.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:14–15 Issachar, an industrious, robust, hardy, and stalwart tribe, lived up to the name of their founder whose name meant “man of wages” (cf. 1 Chron. 7:1–5; 12:32).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:16–18 Dan, whose name meant “Judge,” fathered an aggressive tribe that would also judge in the nation but would not be known for moral stature or religious faithfulness (cf. Judg. 13:2; 18:1ff.; 1 Kings 12:28–30; 2 Kings 10:29). Dan would later abandon their land allotment (Josh. 19:40–48) and migrate to the extreme north of Israel (Judg. 18:1–31). Jacob’s closing cry expressed hope for Dan in the day when salvation would indeed come to Israel. Dan, however, is omitted in the list of tribes in Rev. 7:4–8.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:19 Settling in Transjordan exposed Gad’s people to invasions, making them valiant fighters worthy of victory and commendation (cf. 1 Chron. 5:18–22; 12:8–15).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:20 Asher benefited much from occupying the agriculturally rich coastal region north of Carmel, and provided gourmet delights for the palace. Cf. Josh. 19:24–31.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:21 Deer-like speed and agility marked Naphtali’s military prowess (cf. Judg. 4:6; 5:18). The song of Deborah and Barak, who hailed from Naphtali (Judg. 4:6), is representative of his eloquent words (Judg. 5).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:22–26 Addressed to Joseph, but applicable to his two sons (cf. 48:15–20), these words thrust forth a contrasting experience of growth and prosperity alongside hostility and conflict. Verses 23–24 may be a biography of Joseph. No other tribe had such direct reference to the Lord God (vv. 24–25) in their blessing as addressed to Joseph. The four names for God well reflect Joseph's emphasis on the sovereignty of his God, no matter the misfortune and grief that attended his way (cf. v. 23). Samuel was from Ephraim, Gideon from Manasseh.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:27 The warlike nature of the small tribe of Benjamin became well known, as exhibited in their archers and slingers (Judg. 20:16; 1 Chron. 8:40; 12:2; 2 Chron. 14:8; 17:17) and in their brazen defense of their wickedness in Gibeah (Judg. 19; 20). Both Sauls in the Bible were from this tribe: the first king in Israel (1 Sam. 9:1–2) and the apostle Paul (Phil. 3:5).

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:29–32 Jacob's dying instructions were fully carried out (cf. 50:12–14). See 23:6–20.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:31 there I buried Leah. Honor was finally accorded to Leah in death and in Jacob's request to be buried alongside his wife, as were his fathers. Burial alongside Rachel, the beloved wife, was not requested.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 49:33 Jacob . . . breathed his last. C. 1858 B.C. gathered to his people. See note on 25:8.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 50:2–3 physicians to embalm. Joseph summoned medical men, who were fully capable of embalming, rather than the religious embalmers in order to avoid the magic and mysticism associated with their practices. Usually in Egypt, mummifying was a 40-day process, which included gutting the body, drying it, and wrapping it.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 50:3–6 Once normal embalming and mourning had been properly observed according to Egyptian custom, Joseph was free to seek permission to conduct a funeral in Canaan.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 50:7–11 Out of respect for Joseph, a substantial escort accompanied him and all his relatives into the land of Canaan. This extraordinary event gave assurance to later generations because the bodies of the three patriarchs were in Canaan and Joseph’s bones awaited transport there when, as per Joseph’s last words, God’s promises to the three began to be fulfilled.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 50:15–18 The brothers’ guilty consciences reasserted themselves and caused them to seriously underestimate the genuineness of Joseph’s forgiveness and affection for them. Jacob’s concern to plead on his sons’ behalf equally underestimated Joseph’s words and actions toward his brethren.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 50:19 am I in the place of God? This concise question tweaked their memory of his explanation of how God had put him where he was (cf. 45:3–8), in the place God intended him to be at that time.

GENESIS—NOTE ON 50:20 but God meant it for good. Joseph’s wise, theological answer has gone down in history as the classic statement of God’s sovereignty over the affairs of men. See note on 45:1–8.

Introduction to Exodus

Title

The Greek Septuagint (lxx) and the Latin Vulgate versions of the OT assigned the title “Exodus” to this second book of Moses, because the departure of Israel from Egypt is the dominant historical fact in the book (19:1). In the Hebrew Bible, the opening words, “And (or Now) these are the names,” served as the title of the book. The opening “And” or “Now” in the Hebrew title suggests that this book was to be accepted as the obvious sequel to Genesis, the first book of Moses. Hebrews 11:22 commends the faith of Joseph who, while on his deathbed (c. 1804 B.C.), spoke of the “exodus” of the sons of Israel, looking ahead over 350 years to the exodus (c. 1445 B.C.).

Author and Date

Mosaic authorship of Exodus is unhesitatingly affirmed. Moses followed God’s instructions and “wrote down all the words of the Lord” (24:4), which included at the least the record of the battle with Amalek (17:14), the Ten Commandments (34:4, 27–29), and the Book of the Covenant (20:22–23:33). Similar assertions of Mosaic writing occur elsewhere in the Pentateuch: Moses is identified as the one who recorded “their stages according to their starting places” (Num. 33:2) and who “wrote this law” (Deut. 31:9).

The OT corroborates Mosaic authorship of the portions mentioned above (see Josh. 1:7–8; 8:31–32; 1 Kings 2:3; 2 Kings 14:6; Neh. 13:1; Dan. 9:11–13; and Mal. 4:4). The NT concurs by citing Ex. 3:6 as part of “the book of Moses” (Mark 12:26), by assigning Ex. 13:2 to “the law of Moses,” which is also referred to as “the Law of the Lord” (Luke 2:22–23), by ascribing Ex. 20:12 and 21:17 to Moses (Mark 7:10), by attributing the law to Moses (John 7:19; Rom. 10:5), and by Jesus’ specifically declaring that Moses had written of him (John 5:46–47).

At some time during his 40-year tenure as Israel’s leader, beginning at 80 years of age and ending at 120 (Ex. 7:7; Deut. 34:7), Moses wrote down this second of his five books. More specifically, it would have been after the exodus and obviously before his death on Mount Nebo in the plains of Moab. The date of the exodus (c. 1445 B.C.) dictates the date of the writing in the fifteenth century B.C.

Scripture dates Solomon's fourth year of reign, when he began to build the temple (c. 966/65 B.C.), as being 480 years after the exodus (1 Kings 6:1), establishing the early date of 1445 B.C. Jephthah noted that, by his day, Israel had possessed Heshbon for 300 years (Judg. 11:26). Calculating backward and forward from Jephthah, and taking into account different periods of foreign oppression, judgeships and kingships, the wilderness wanderings, and the initial entry and conquest of Canaan under Joshua, this early date is confirmed and amounts to 480 years.

Scripture also dates the entry of Jacob and his extended family into Egypt (c. 1875 B.C.) as being 430 years before the exodus (Ex. 12:40), thus placing Joseph in what archeologists have designated as the twelfth Dynasty, the Middle Kingdom period of Egyptian history, and placing Moses and Israel's final years of residence and slavery in what archeologists have designated as the eighteenth Dynasty, or New Kingdom period. Further, Joseph's stint as vizier over all of Egypt (Gen. 45:8) precludes his having served under the Hyksos (c. 1730–1570 B.C.), the foreign invaders who ruled during a period of confusion in Egypt and who never controlled all of the country. They were a mixed Semitic race who introduced the horse and chariot as well as the composite bow. These implements of war made possible their expulsion from Egypt.

Background and Setting

Eighteenth Dynasty Egypt, the setting for Israel's dramatic departure, was not a politically or economically weak and obscure period of Egyptian history. Thutmose III, for example, the Pharaoh of the Oppression has been called the "Napoleon of Ancient Egypt," the sovereign who expanded the boundaries of Egyptian influence far beyond natural borders. This was the dynasty that over a century before, under the leadership of Amose I, had expelled the Hyksos kings from the country and redirected the country's economic, military, and diplomatic growth. At the time of the exodus, Egypt was strong, not weak.

Moses, born in 1525 B.C. (80 years old in 1445 B.C.), became "instructed in all the wisdom of the Egyptians" (Acts 7:22) while growing up in the courts of Pharaohs Thutmose I and II and Queen Hatshepsut for his first 40 years (Acts 7:23). He was in self-imposed, Midianite exile during the reign of Thutmose III for another 40 years (Acts 7:30), and returned at God's direction to be Israel's leader early in the reign of Amenhotep II, the pharaoh of the exodus. God used both the educational system of Egypt and his exile in Midian to prepare Moses to represent his people before a powerful pharaoh and to guide his people through the wilderness of the Sinai peninsula during his final 40 years (Acts 7:36). Moses died on Mount Nebo when he was 120 years old (Deut. 34:1–6), as God's judgment was on him for his anger and disrespect (Num. 20:1–13). While he looked on from afar, Moses never entered the Promised Land. Centuries later he appeared to the disciples on the Mount of Transfiguration (Matt. 17:3).

Historical and Theological Themes

In God's timing, the exodus marked the end of a period of oppression for Abraham's descendants (Gen. 15:13), and constituted the beginning of the fulfillment of the covenant promise to Abraham that his descendants would not only reside in the Promised Land, but would also multiply and become a great nation (Gen. 12:1–3, 7). The purpose of the book may be expressed like this: To trace the rapid growth of Jacob's descendants from Egypt to the establishment of the theocratic nation in their Promised Land.

At appropriate times, on Mount Sinai and in the plains of Moab, God also gave the Israelites that body of legislation, the law, that they needed for living properly in Israel as the theocratic people of God. By this, they were distinct from all other nations (Deut. 4:7–8; Rom. 9:4–5).

By God's self-revelation, the Israelites were instructed in the sovereignty and majesty, the goodness and holiness, and the grace and mercy of their Lord, the one and only God of heaven and earth (see especially Ex. 3; 6; 33; 34). The account of the exodus and the events that followed are also the subject of other major biblical revelation (cf. Ps. 105:25–45; 106:6–27; Acts 7:17–44; 1 Cor. 10:1–13; Heb. 9:1–6; 11:23–29).

Interpretive Challenges

The absence of any Egyptian record of the devastation of Egypt by the 10 plagues and the major defeat of Pharaoh's elite army at the Red Sea should not give rise to speculation on whether the account is historically authentic. Egyptian historiography did not permit records of their pharaohs' embarrassments and ignominious defeats to be published. In recording the conquest under Joshua, Scripture specifically notes the three cities that Israel destroyed and burned (Josh. 6:24; 8:28; 11:11–13). The conquest, after all, was one of takeover and inhabitation of property virtually intact, not a war designed to destroy. The date of Israel's march into Canaan will not be confirmed, therefore, by examining extensive burn levels at city-sites of a later period.

Despite the absence of any extrabiblical, ancient Near Eastern records of the Hebrew bondage, the plagues, the exodus, and the conquest, archeological evidence corroborates the early date. All the pharaohs, for example, of the fifteenth century left evidence of interest in building enterprises in Lower Egypt. These projects were obviously accessible to Moses in the Delta region near Goshen.

The typological significance of the tabernacle has occasioned much reflection. Ingenuity in linking every item of furniture and every piece of building material to Christ may appear most intriguing, but if NT statements and allusions do not support such linkage and typology then hermeneutical caution must rule. The tabernacle's structure and ornamentation for efficiency and beauty are one thing, but finding hidden meaning and symbolism is unfounded. How the sacrificial and worship system of the tabernacle and its parts meaningfully typify the redeeming work of the coming Messiah must be left to those NT passages that treat the subject.

Exodus

Israel Increases Greatly in Egypt

EXODUS 1 ‡‡ These are the names of the sons of Israel who came to Egypt with Jacob, each with his household: <sup>2</sup>Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah, <sup>3</sup>Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin, <sup>4</sup>Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Asher. <sup>5</sup>‡ All the descendants of Jacob were seventy persons; Joseph was already in Egypt. <sup>6</sup>‡ Then Joseph died, and all his brothers and all that generation. <sup>7</sup>‡ But the people of Israel were fruitful and increased greatly; they multiplied and grew exceedingly strong, so that the land was filled with them.

Pharaoh Oppresses Israel

<sup>8</sup>‡ Now there arose a new king over Egypt, who did not know Joseph. <sup>9</sup>‡‡ And he said to his people, “Behold, the people of Israel are too many and too mighty for us. <sup>10</sup>‡ Come, let us deal shrewdly with them, lest they multiply, and, if war breaks out, they join our enemies and fight against us and escape from the land.” <sup>11</sup>‡ Therefore they set taskmasters over them to afflict them with heavy burdens. They built for Pharaoh store cities, Pithom and Raamses. <sup>12</sup>‡ But the more they were oppressed, the more they multiplied and the more they spread abroad. And the Egyptians were in dread of the people of Israel. <sup>13</sup>So they ruthlessly made the people of Israel work as slaves <sup>14</sup>‡ and made their lives bitter with hard service, in mortar and brick, and in all kinds of work in the field. In all their work they ruthlessly made them work as slaves.

<sup>15</sup>‡‡ Then the king of Egypt said to the Hebrew midwives, one of whom was named Shiphrah and the other Puah, <sup>16</sup>‡ “When you serve as midwife to the Hebrew women and see them on the birthstool, if it is a son, you shall kill him, but if it is a daughter, she shall live.” <sup>17</sup>But the midwives feared God and did not do as the king of Egypt commanded them, but let the male children live. <sup>18</sup>So the king of Egypt called the midwives and said to them, “Why have you done this, and let the male children live?” <sup>19</sup>‡ The midwives said to Pharaoh, “Because the Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women, for they are vigorous and give birth before the midwife comes to them.” <sup>20</sup>So God dealt well with the midwives. And the people multiplied and grew very strong. <sup>21</sup>And because the midwives feared God, he gave them families. <sup>22</sup>‡ Then Pharaoh commanded all his people,

“Every son that is born to the Hebrews [\[1\]](#) you shall cast into the Nile, but you shall let every daughter live.”

The Birth of Moses

EXODUS 2 †Now a man from the house of Levi went and took as his wife a Levite woman. <sup>2</sup>The woman conceived and bore a son, and when she saw that he was a fine child, she hid him three months. <sup>3</sup>†When she could hide him no longer, she took for him a basket made of bulrushes [1] and daubed it with bitumen and pitch. She put the child in it and placed it among the reeds by the river bank. <sup>4</sup>And his sister stood at a distance to know what would be done to him. <sup>5</sup>†Now the daughter of Pharaoh came down to bathe at the river, while her young women walked beside the river. She saw the basket among the reeds and sent her servant woman, and she took it. <sup>6</sup>When she opened it, she saw the child, and behold, the baby was crying. She took pity on him and said, “This is one of the Hebrews' children.” <sup>7</sup>Then his sister said to Pharaoh's daughter, “Shall I go and call you a nurse from the Hebrew women to nurse the child for you?” <sup>8</sup>And Pharaoh's daughter said to her, “Go.” So the girl went and called the child's mother. <sup>9</sup>And Pharaoh's daughter said to her, “Take this child away and nurse him for me, and I will give you your wages.” So the woman took the child and nursed him. <sup>10</sup>†When the child grew up, she brought him to Pharaoh's daughter, and he became her son. She named him Moses, “Because,” she said, “I drew him out of the water.” [2]

Moses Flees to Midian

<sup>16</sup>Now the priest of Midian had seven daughters, and they came and drew water and filled the troughs to water their father's flock. <sup>17</sup>The shepherds came and drove them away, but Moses stood up and saved them, and watered their flock. <sup>18</sup>†When they came home to their father Reuel, he said, “How is it that you have come home so soon today?” <sup>19</sup>They said, “An Egyptian delivered us out of the hand of the shepherds and even drew water for us and watered the flock.” <sup>20</sup>He said to his daughters, “Then where is he? Why have you left the man? Call him, that he may eat bread.” <sup>21</sup>‡And Moses was content to dwell with the man, and he gave Moses his daughter Zipporah. <sup>22</sup>She gave birth to a son, and he called his name Gershom, for he said, “I have been a sojourner [4] in a foreign land.”

God Hears Israel's Groaning

The Burning Bush

EXODUS 3 † Now Moses was keeping the flock of his father-in-law, Jethro, the priest of Midian, and he led his flock to the west side of the wilderness and came to Horeb, the mountain of God. <sup>2</sup>†† And the angel of the LORD appeared to him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush. He looked, and behold, the bush was burning, yet it was not consumed. <sup>3</sup> And Moses said, “I will turn aside to see this great sight, why the bush is not burned.” <sup>4</sup> When the LORD saw that he turned aside to see, God called to him out of the bush, “Moses, Moses!” And he said, “Here I am.” <sup>5</sup>†† Then he said, “Do not come near; take your sandals off your feet, for the place on which you are standing is holy ground.” <sup>6</sup>† And he said, “I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.” And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look at God.

<sup>7</sup>† Then the LORD said, “I have surely seen the affliction of my people who are in Egypt and have heard their cry because of their taskmasters. I know their sufferings, <sup>8</sup>† and I have come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians and to bring them up out of that land to a good and broad land, a land flowing with milk and honey, to the place of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. <sup>9</sup> And now, behold, the cry of the people of Israel has come to me, and I have also seen the oppression with which the Egyptians oppress them. <sup>10</sup>† Come, I will send you to Pharaoh that you may bring my people, the children of Israel, out of Egypt.” <sup>11</sup>† But Moses said to God, “Who am I that I should go to Pharaoh and bring the children of Israel out of Egypt?” <sup>12</sup>† He said, “But I will be with you, and this shall be the sign for you, that I have sent you: when you have brought the people out of Egypt, you shall serve God on this mountain.”

<sup>13</sup>† Then Moses said to God, “If I come to the people of Israel and say to them, ‘The God of your fathers has sent me to you,’ and they ask me, ‘What is his name?’ what shall I say to them?” <sup>14</sup>† God said to Moses, “I AM WHO I AM.” [1] And he said, “Say this to the people of Israel, ‘I AM has sent me to you.’”

<sup>15</sup>†† God also said to Moses, “Say this to the people of Israel, ‘The LORD, [2] the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has sent me to you.’ This is my name forever, and thus I am to be remembered throughout all generations. <sup>16</sup>† Go and gather the elders of Israel together and say to them, ‘The LORD, the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Jacob, has appeared to me, saying, “I have observed you and what has been done to you in Egypt, <sup>17</sup>†and I promise that I will bring you up out of the affliction of Egypt to the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, a land flowing with milk and honey.” <sup>18</sup>†And they will listen to your voice, and you and the elders of Israel shall go to the king of Egypt and say to him, ‘The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, has met with us; and now, please let us go a three days' journey into the wilderness, that we may sacrifice to the LORD our God.’ <sup>19</sup>But I know that the king of Egypt will not let you go unless compelled by a mighty hand. [3] <sup>20</sup>So I will stretch out my hand and strike Egypt with all the wonders that I will do in it; after that he will let you go. <sup>21</sup>And I will give this people favor in the sight of the Egyptians; and when you go, you shall not go empty, <sup>22</sup>†but each woman shall ask of her neighbor, and any woman who lives in her house, for silver and gold jewelry, and for clothing. You shall put them on your sons and on your daughters. So you shall plunder the Egyptians.”

Moses Given Powerful Signs

EXODUS 4 †Then Moses answered, “But behold, they will not believe me or listen to my voice, for they will say, ‘The LORD did not appear to you.’” †The LORD said to him, “What is that in your hand?” He said, “A staff.” †And he said, “Throw it on the ground.” So he threw it on the ground, and it became a serpent, and Moses ran from it. †But the LORD said to Moses, “Put out your hand and catch it by the tail”—so he put out his hand and caught it, and it became a staff in his hand— †“that they may believe that the LORD, the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has appeared to you.” †Again, the LORD said to him, “Put your hand inside your cloak.” [1] And he put his hand inside his cloak, and when he took it out, behold, his hand was leprous [2] like snow. †Then God said, “Put your hand back inside your cloak.” So he put his hand back inside his cloak, and when he took it out, behold, it was restored like the rest of his flesh. †“If they will not believe you,” God said, “or listen to the first sign, they may believe the latter sign. †If they will not believe even these two signs or listen to your voice, you shall take some water from the Nile and pour it on the dry ground, and the water that you shall take from the Nile will become blood on the dry ground.”

†But Moses said to the LORD, “Oh, my Lord, I am not eloquent, either in the past or since you have spoken to your servant, but I am slow of speech and of tongue.” †Then the LORD said to him, “Who has made man's mouth? Who makes him mute, or deaf, or seeing, or blind? Is it not I, the LORD? †Now therefore go, and I will be with your mouth and teach you what you shall speak.” †But he said, “Oh, my Lord, please send someone else.” †Then the anger of the LORD was kindled against Moses and he said, “Is there not Aaron, your brother, the Levite? I know that he can speak well. Behold, he is coming out to meet you, and when he sees you, he will be glad in his heart. †You shall speak to him and put the words in his mouth, and I will be with your mouth and with his mouth and will teach you both what to do. †He shall speak for you to the people, and he shall be your mouth, and you shall be as God to him. †And take in your hand this staff, with which you shall do the signs.”

Moses Returns to Egypt

†Moses went back to Jethro his father-in-law and said to him, “Please let me go back to my brothers in Egypt to see whether they are still alive.” And Jethro said to Moses, “Go in peace.” <sup>19</sup>And the LORD said to Moses in Midian, “Go back to Egypt, for all the men who were seeking your life are dead.” <sup>20</sup>‡So Moses took his wife and his sons and had them ride on a donkey, and went back to the land of Egypt. And Moses took the staff of God in his hand.

<sup>21</sup>‡And the LORD said to Moses, “When you go back to Egypt, see that you do before Pharaoh all the miracles that I have put in your power. But I will harden his heart, so that he will not let the people go. <sup>22</sup>‡Then you shall say to Pharaoh, ‘Thus says the LORD, Israel is my firstborn son, <sup>23</sup>and I say to you, “Let my son go that he may serve me.” If you refuse to let him go, behold, I will kill your firstborn son.’”

<sup>27</sup>The LORD said to Aaron, “Go into the wilderness to meet Moses.” So he went and met him at the mountain of God and kissed him. <sup>28</sup>And Moses told Aaron all the words of the LORD with which he had sent him to speak, and all the signs that he had commanded him to do. <sup>29</sup>‡Then Moses and Aaron went and gathered together all the elders of the people of Israel. <sup>30</sup>Aaron spoke all the words that the LORD had spoken to Moses and did the signs in the sight of the people. <sup>31</sup>‡And the people believed; and when they heard that the LORD had visited the people of Israel and that he had seen their affliction, they bowed their heads and worshiped.

Making Bricks Without Straw

EXODUS 5 †Afterward Moses and Aaron went and said to Pharaoh, “Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, ‘Let my people go, that they may hold a feast to me in the wilderness.’” †But Pharaoh said, “Who is the LORD, that I should obey his voice and let Israel go? I do not know the LORD, and moreover, I will not let Israel go.” †Then they said, “The God of the Hebrews has met with us. Please let us go a three days' journey into the wilderness that we may sacrifice to the LORD our God, lest he fall upon us with pestilence or with the sword.” †But the king of Egypt said to them, “Moses and Aaron, why do you take the people away from their work? Get back to your burdens.” †And Pharaoh said, “Behold, the people of the land are now many, [1] and you make them rest from their burdens!” †The same day Pharaoh commanded the taskmasters of the people and their foremen, “You shall no longer give the people straw to make bricks, as in the past; let them go and gather straw for themselves. †But the number of bricks that they made in the past you shall impose on them, you shall by no means reduce it, for they are idle. Therefore they cry, ‘Let us go and offer sacrifice to our God.’ †Let heavier work be laid on the men that they may labor at it and pay no regard to lying words.”

†So the taskmasters and the foremen of the people went out and said to the people, “Thus says Pharaoh, ‘I will not give you straw. †Go and get your straw yourselves wherever you can find it, but your work will not be reduced in the least.’” †So the people were scattered throughout all the land of Egypt to gather stubble for straw. †The taskmasters were urgent, saying, “Complete your work, your daily task each day, as when there was straw.” †And the foremen of the people of Israel, whom Pharaoh's taskmasters had set over them, were beaten and were asked, “Why have you not done all your task of making bricks today and yesterday, as in the past?”

†Then the foremen of the people of Israel came and cried to Pharaoh, “Why do you treat your servants like this? †No straw is given to your servants, yet they say to us, ‘Make bricks!’ And behold, your servants are beaten; but the fault is in your own people.” †But he said, “You are idle, you are idle; that is why you say, ‘Let us go and sacrifice to the LORD.’ †Go now and work. No straw will be given you, but you must still deliver the same number of bricks.” †The foremen of the people of Israel saw that they were in trouble when they said, “You shall by no means reduce your number of bricks, your daily task each day.” †They met

Moses and Aaron, who were waiting for them, as they came out from Pharaoh;
<sup>21</sup>and they said to them, “The LORD look on you and judge, because you have made us stink in the sight of Pharaoh and his servants, and have put a sword in their hand to kill us.”

<sup>22</sup>Then Moses turned to the LORD and said, “O Lord, why have you done evil to this people? Why did you ever send me? <sup>23</sup>For since I came to Pharaoh to speak in your name, he has done evil to this people, and you have not delivered your people at all.”

God Promises Deliverance

EXODUS 6 †But the LORD said to Moses, “Now you shall see what I will do to Pharaoh; for with a strong hand he will send them out, and with a strong hand he will drive them out of his land.”

<sup>2</sup>‡God spoke to Moses and said to him, “I am the LORD. <sup>3</sup>†I appeared to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, as God Almighty, [1] but by my name the LORD I did not make myself known to them. <sup>4</sup>†I also established my covenant with them to give them the land of Canaan, the land in which they lived as sojourners. <sup>5</sup>Moreover, I have heard the groaning of the people of Israel whom the Egyptians hold as slaves, and I have remembered my covenant. <sup>6</sup>‡Say therefore to the people of Israel, ‘I am the LORD, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will deliver you from slavery to them, and I will redeem you with an outstretched arm and with great acts of judgment. <sup>7</sup>I will take you to be my people, and I will be your God, and you shall know that I am the LORD your God, who has brought you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians. <sup>8</sup>I will bring you into the land that I swore to give to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. I will give it to you for a possession. I am the LORD.’” <sup>9</sup>†Moses spoke thus to the people of Israel, but they did not listen to Moses, because of their broken spirit and harsh slavery.

<sup>10</sup>So the LORD said to Moses, <sup>11</sup>“Go in, tell Pharaoh king of Egypt to let the people of Israel go out of his land.” <sup>12</sup>†But Moses said to the LORD, “Behold, the people of Israel have not listened to me. How then shall Pharaoh listen to me, for I am of uncircumcised lips?” <sup>13</sup>But the LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron and gave them a charge about the people of Israel and about Pharaoh king of Egypt: to bring the people of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

The Genealogy of Moses and Aaron

the years of the life of Kohath being 133 years. <sup>19</sup>The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. These are the clans of the Levites according to their generations.

<sup>28</sup>‡On the day when the LORD spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt, <sup>29</sup>the LORD said to Moses, "I am the LORD; tell Pharaoh king of Egypt all that I say to you."

<sup>30</sup>But Moses said to the LORD, "Behold, I am of uncircumcised lips. How will Pharaoh listen to me?"

Moses and Aaron Before Pharaoh

EXODUS 7 †And the LORD said to Moses, “See, I have made you like God to Pharaoh, and your brother Aaron shall be your prophet. <sup>2</sup>You shall speak all that I command you, and your brother Aaron shall tell Pharaoh to let the people of Israel go out of his land. <sup>3</sup>But I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and though I multiply my signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, <sup>4</sup>†Pharaoh will not listen to you. Then I will lay my hand on Egypt and bring my hosts, my people the children of Israel, out of the land of Egypt by great acts of judgment. <sup>5</sup>†The Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I stretch out my hand against Egypt and bring out the people of Israel from among them.” <sup>6</sup>Moses and Aaron did so; they did just as the LORD commanded them. <sup>7</sup>Now Moses was eighty years old, and Aaron eighty-three years old, when they spoke to Pharaoh.

<sup>8</sup>Then the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, <sup>9</sup>†“When Pharaoh says to you, ‘Prove yourselves by working a miracle,’ then you shall say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and cast it down before Pharaoh, that it may become a serpent.’” <sup>10</sup>So Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh and did just as the LORD commanded. Aaron cast down his staff before Pharaoh and his servants, and it became a serpent. <sup>11</sup>†Then Pharaoh summoned the wise men and the sorcerers, and they, the magicians of Egypt, also did the same by their secret arts. <sup>12</sup>†For each man cast down his staff, and they became serpents. But Aaron's staff swallowed up their staffs. <sup>13</sup>Still Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he would not listen to them, as the LORD had said.

The First Plague: Water Turned to Blood

<sup>14</sup>†Then the LORD said to Moses, “Pharaoh's heart is hardened; he refuses to let the people go. <sup>15</sup>†Go to Pharaoh in the morning, as he is going out to the water. Stand on the bank of the Nile to meet him, and take in your hand the staff that turned into a serpent. <sup>16</sup>And you shall say to him, ‘The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, sent me to you, saying, “Let my people go, that they may serve me in the wilderness. But so far, you have not obeyed.”’ <sup>17</sup>†Thus says the LORD, “By this you shall know that I am the LORD: behold, with the staff that is in my hand I will strike the water that is in the Nile, and it shall turn into blood. <sup>18</sup>The fish in the Nile shall die, and the Nile will stink, and the Egyptians will grow weary of drinking water from the Nile.””” <sup>19</sup>†And the LORD said to Moses, “Say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt, over their rivers, their canals, and their ponds, and all their pools of water, so that they may become blood, and there shall be blood throughout all the land of Egypt, even in vessels of wood and in vessels of stone.’”

The Second Plague: Frogs

EXODUS 8 † [1] Then the LORD said to Moses, “Go in to Pharaoh and say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD, “Let my people go, that they may serve me. 2† But if you refuse to let them go, behold, I will plague all your country with frogs. 3The Nile shall swarm with frogs that shall come up into your house and into your bedroom and on your bed and into the houses of your servants and your people, [2] and into your ovens and your kneading bowls. 4The frogs shall come up on you and on your people and on all your servants.’”” 5 [3] And the LORD said to Moses, “Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch out your hand with your staff over the rivers, over the canals and over the pools, and make frogs come up on the land of Egypt!’” 6So Aaron stretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt, and the frogs came up and covered the land of Egypt. 7† But the magicians did the same by their secret arts and made frogs come up on the land of Egypt.

8† Then Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron and said, “Plead with the LORD to take away the frogs from me and from my people, and I will let the people go to sacrifice to the LORD.” 9† Moses said to Pharaoh, “Be pleased to command me when I am to plead for you and for your servants and for your people, that the frogs be cut off from you and your houses and be left only in the Nile.” 10† And he said, “Tomorrow.” Moses said, “Be it as you say, so that you may know that there is no one like the LORD our God. 11The frogs shall go away from you and your houses and your servants and your people. They shall be left only in the Nile.” 12So Moses and Aaron went out from Pharaoh, and Moses cried to the LORD about the frogs, as he had agreed with Pharaoh. [4] 13And the LORD did according to the word of Moses. The frogs died out in the houses, the courtyards, and the fields. 14And they gathered them together in heaps, and the land stank. 15But when Pharaoh saw that there was a respite, he hardened his heart and would not listen to them, as the LORD had said.

The Third Plague: Gnats

16† Then the LORD said to Moses, “Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch out your staff and strike the dust of the earth, so that it may become gnats in all the land of Egypt.’” 17† And they did so. Aaron stretched out his hand with his staff and struck the dust of the earth, and there were gnats on man and beast. All the dust of the earth became gnats in all the land of Egypt. 18The magicians tried by their secret arts to produce gnats, but they could not. So there were gnats on man and beast.

<sup>19</sup>†Then the magicians said to Pharaoh, “This is the finger of God.” But Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he would not listen to them, as the LORD had said.

The Fourth Plague: Flies

<sup>20</sup>Then the LORD said to Moses, “Rise up early in the morning and present yourself to Pharaoh, as he goes out to the water, and say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD, “Let my people go, that they may serve me. <sup>21</sup>†Or else, if you will not let my people go, behold, I will send swarms of flies on you and your servants and your people, and into your houses. And the houses of the Egyptians shall be filled with swarms of flies, and also the ground on which they stand. <sup>22</sup>†But on that day I will set apart the land of Goshen, where my people dwell, so that no swarms of flies shall be there, that you may know that I am the LORD in the midst of the earth. [5] <sup>23</sup>†Thus I will put a division [6] between my people and your people. Tomorrow this sign shall happen.’”” <sup>24</sup>And the LORD did so. There came great swarms of flies into the house of Pharaoh and into his servants' houses. Throughout all the land of Egypt the land was ruined by the swarms of flies.

<sup>25</sup>Then Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron and said, “Go, sacrifice to your God within the land.” <sup>26</sup>†But Moses said, “It would not be right to do so, for the offerings we shall sacrifice to the LORD our God are an abomination to the Egyptians. If we sacrifice offerings abominable to the Egyptians before their eyes, will they not stone us? <sup>27</sup>†We must go three days' journey into the wilderness and sacrifice to the LORD our God as he tells us.” <sup>28</sup>†So Pharaoh said, “I will let you go to sacrifice to the LORD your God in the wilderness; only you must not go very far away. Plead for me.” <sup>29</sup>†Then Moses said, “Behold, I am going out from you and I will plead with the LORD that the swarms of flies may depart from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people, tomorrow. Only let not Pharaoh cheat again by not letting the people go to sacrifice to the LORD.” <sup>30</sup>So Moses went out from Pharaoh and prayed to the LORD. <sup>31</sup>†And the LORD did as Moses asked, and removed the swarms of flies from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people; not one remained. <sup>32</sup>But Pharaoh hardened his heart this time also, and did not let the people go.

The Fifth Plague: Egyptian Livestock Die

EXODUS 9 Then the LORD said to Moses, “Go in to Pharaoh and say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews, “Let my people go, that they may serve me. <sup>2</sup>For if you refuse to let them go and still hold them, <sup>3</sup>†behold, the hand of the LORD will fall with a very severe plague upon your livestock that are in the field, the horses, the donkeys, the camels, the herds, and the flocks. <sup>4</sup>†But the LORD will make a distinction between the livestock of Israel and the livestock of Egypt, so that nothing of all that belongs to the people of Israel shall die.’””
<sup>5</sup>†And the LORD set a time, saying, “Tomorrow the LORD will do this thing in the land.” <sup>6</sup>†And the next day the LORD did this thing. All the livestock of the Egyptians died, but not one of the livestock of the people of Israel died. <sup>7</sup>†And Pharaoh sent, and behold, not one of the livestock of Israel was dead. But the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not let the people go.

The Sixth Plague: Boils

<sup>8</sup>And the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, “Take handfuls of soot from the kiln, and let Moses throw them in the air in the sight of Pharaoh. <sup>9</sup>†It shall become fine dust over all the land of Egypt, and become boils breaking out in sores on man and beast throughout all the land of Egypt.” <sup>10</sup>†So they took soot from the kiln and stood before Pharaoh. And Moses threw it in the air, and it became boils breaking out in sores on man and beast. <sup>11</sup>†And the magicians could not stand before Moses because of the boils, for the boils came upon the magicians and upon all the Egyptians. <sup>12</sup>†But the LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he did not listen to them, as the LORD had spoken to Moses.

The Seventh Plague: Hail

<sup>13</sup>Then the LORD said to Moses, “Rise up early in the morning and present yourself before Pharaoh and say to him, ‘Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews, “Let my people go, that they may serve me. <sup>14</sup>††For this time I will send all my plagues on you yourself, [\[1\]](#) and on your servants and your people, so that you may know that there is none like me in all the earth. <sup>15</sup>For by now I could have put out my hand and struck you and your people with pestilence, and you would have been cut off from the earth. <sup>16</sup>†But for this purpose I have raised you up, to show you my power, so that my name may be proclaimed in all the earth. <sup>17</sup>You are still exalting yourself against my people and will not let them go.

<sup>18</sup>Behold, about this time tomorrow I will cause very heavy hail to fall, such as never has been in Egypt from the day it was founded until now. <sup>19</sup>Now therefore send, get your livestock and all that you have in the field into safe shelter, for every man and beast that is in the field and is not brought home will die when the hail falls on them.””” <sup>20</sup>‡Then whoever feared the word of the LORD among the servants of Pharaoh hurried his slaves and his livestock into the houses, <sup>21</sup>but whoever did not pay attention to the word of the LORD left his slaves and his livestock in the field.

<sup>22</sup>Then the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand toward heaven, so that there may be hail in all the land of Egypt, on man and beast and every plant of the field, in the land of Egypt.” <sup>23</sup>‡Then Moses stretched out his staff toward heaven, and the LORD sent thunder and hail, and fire ran down to the earth. And the LORD rained hail upon the land of Egypt. <sup>24</sup>There was hail and fire flashing continually in the midst of the hail, very heavy hail, such as had never been in all the land of Egypt since it became a nation. <sup>25</sup>The hail struck down everything that was in the field in all the land of Egypt, both man and beast. And the hail struck down every plant of the field and broke every tree of the field. <sup>26</sup>‡Only in the land of Goshen, where the people of Israel were, was there no hail.

<sup>27</sup>‡Then Pharaoh sent and called Moses and Aaron and said to them, “This time I have sinned; the LORD is in the right, and I and my people are in the wrong. <sup>28</sup>‡Plead with the LORD, for there has been enough of God's thunder and hail. I will let you go, and you shall stay no longer.” <sup>29</sup>Moses said to him, “As soon as I have gone out of the city, I will stretch out my hands to the LORD. The thunder will cease, and there will be no more hail, so that you may know that the earth is the LORD's. <sup>30</sup>But as for you and your servants, I know that you do not yet fear the LORD God.” <sup>31</sup>‡(The flax and the barley were struck down, for the barley was in the ear and the flax was in bud. <sup>32</sup>But the wheat and the emmer [2] were not struck down, for they are late in coming up.) <sup>33</sup>So Moses went out of the city from Pharaoh and stretched out his hands to the LORD, and the thunder and the hail ceased, and the rain no longer poured upon the earth. <sup>34</sup>‡But when Pharaoh saw that the rain and the hail and the thunder had ceased, he sinned yet again and hardened his heart, he and his servants. <sup>35</sup>So the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not let the people of Israel go, just as the LORD had spoken through Moses.

The Eighth Plague: Locusts

EXODUS 10 Then the LORD said to Moses, “Go in to Pharaoh, for I have hardened his heart and the heart of his servants, that I may show these signs of mine among them, <sup>2</sup>and that you may tell in the hearing of your son and of your grandson how I have dealt harshly with the Egyptians and what signs I have done among them, that you may know that I am the LORD.”

<sup>3</sup>So Moses and Aaron went in to Pharaoh and said to him, “Thus says the LORD, the God of the Hebrews, ‘How long will you refuse to humble yourself before me? Let my people go, that they may serve me. <sup>4</sup>For if you refuse to let my people go, behold, tomorrow I will bring locusts into your country, <sup>5</sup>and they shall cover the face of the land, so that no one can see the land. And they shall eat what is left to you after the hail, and they shall eat every tree of yours that grows in the field, <sup>6</sup>and they shall fill your houses and the houses of all your servants and of all the Egyptians, as neither your fathers nor your grandfathers have seen, from the day they came on earth to this day.’” Then he turned and went out from Pharaoh.

<sup>7</sup>Then Pharaoh's servants said to him, “How long shall this man be a snare to us? Let the men go, that they may serve the LORD their God. Do you not yet understand that Egypt is ruined?” <sup>8</sup>So Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh. And he said to them, “Go, serve the LORD your God. But which ones are to go?” <sup>9</sup>Moses said, “We will go with our young and our old. We will go with our sons and daughters and with our flocks and herds, for we must hold a feast to the LORD.” <sup>10</sup>But he said to them, “The LORD be with you, if ever I let you and your little ones go! Look, you have some evil purpose in mind. [\[1\]](#) <sup>11</sup>No! Go, the men among you, and serve the LORD, for that is what you are asking.” And they were driven out from Pharaoh's presence.

<sup>12</sup>Then the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand over the land of Egypt for the locusts, so that they may come upon the land of Egypt and eat every plant in the land, all that the hail has left.” <sup>13</sup>So Moses stretched out his staff over the land of Egypt, and the LORD brought an east wind upon the land all that day and all that night. When it was morning, the east wind had brought the locusts. <sup>14</sup>The locusts came up over all the land of Egypt and settled on the whole country of Egypt, such a dense swarm of locusts as had never been before, nor ever will be again. <sup>15</sup>They covered the face of the whole land, so that the land was darkened, and they ate all the plants in the land and all the fruit of the trees that the hail had left. Not a green thing remained, neither tree nor plant of the field, through all the land of Egypt. <sup>16</sup>†Then Pharaoh hastily called Moses and Aaron and said, “I have sinned against the LORD your God, and against you. <sup>17</sup>†Now therefore, forgive my sin, please, only this once, and plead with the LORD your God only to remove this death from me.” <sup>18</sup>So he went out from Pharaoh and pleaded with the LORD. <sup>19</sup>†And the LORD turned the wind into a very strong west wind, which lifted the locusts and drove them into the Red Sea. Not a single locust was left in all the country of Egypt. <sup>20</sup>But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he did not let the people of Israel go.

The Ninth Plague: Darkness

<sup>21</sup>†Then the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand toward heaven, that there may be darkness over the land of Egypt, a darkness to be felt.” <sup>22</sup>So Moses stretched out his hand toward heaven, and there was pitch darkness in all the land of Egypt three days. <sup>23</sup>They did not see one another, nor did anyone rise from his place for three days, but all the people of Israel had light where they lived. <sup>24</sup>†Then Pharaoh called Moses and said, “Go, serve the LORD; your little ones also may go with you; only let your flocks and your herds remain behind.” <sup>25</sup>†But Moses said, “You must also let us have sacrifices and burnt offerings, that we may sacrifice to the LORD our God. <sup>26</sup>Our livestock also must go with us; not a hoof shall be left behind, for we must take of them to serve the LORD our God, and we do not know with what we must serve the LORD until we arrive there.” <sup>27</sup>But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he would not let them go. <sup>28</sup>†Then Pharaoh said to him, “Get away from me; take care never to see my face again, for on the day you see my face you shall die.” <sup>29</sup>†Moses said, “As you say! I will not see your face again.”

A Final Plague Threatened

EXODUS 11 ‡The LORD said to Moses, “Yet one plague more I will bring upon Pharaoh and upon Egypt. Afterward he will let you go from here. When he lets you go, he will drive you away completely. <sup>2</sup>Speak now in the hearing of the people, that they ask, every man of his neighbor and every woman of her neighbor, for silver and gold jewelry.” <sup>3</sup>And the LORD gave the people favor in the sight of the Egyptians. Moreover, the man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaoh's servants and in the sight of the people.

<sup>4</sup>‡‡So Moses said, “Thus says the LORD: About midnight I will go out in the midst of Egypt, <sup>5</sup>‡and every firstborn in the land of Egypt shall die, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sits on his throne, even to the firstborn of the slave girl who is behind the handmill, and all the firstborn of the cattle. <sup>6</sup>‡There shall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, such as there has never been, nor ever will be again. <sup>7</sup>‡But not a dog shall growl against any of the people of Israel, either man or beast, that you may know that the LORD makes a distinction between Egypt and Israel. <sup>8</sup>And all these your servants shall come down to me and bow down to me, saying, ‘Get out, you and all the people who follow you.’ And after that I will go out.” And he went out from Pharaoh in hot anger. <sup>9</sup>Then the LORD said to Moses, “Pharaoh will not listen to you, that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.”

<sup>10</sup>Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh, and the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he did not let the people of Israel go out of his land.

The Passover

EXODUS 12 †The LORD said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, <sup>2</sup>†“This month shall be for you the beginning of months. It shall be the first month of the year for you. <sup>3</sup>†Tell all the congregation of Israel that on the tenth day of this month every man shall take a lamb according to their fathers' houses, a lamb for a household. <sup>4</sup>And if the household is too small for a lamb, then he and his nearest neighbor shall take according to the number of persons; according to what each can eat you shall make your count for the lamb. <sup>5</sup>†Your lamb shall be without blemish, a male a year old. You may take it from the sheep or from the goats, <sup>6</sup>†and you shall keep it until the fourteenth day of this month, when the whole assembly of the congregation of Israel shall kill their lambs at twilight. [1]

<sup>7</sup>“Then they shall take some of the blood and put it on the two doorposts and the lintel of the houses in which they eat it. <sup>8</sup>They shall eat the flesh that night, roasted on the fire; with unleavened bread and bitter herbs they shall eat it. <sup>9</sup>†Do not eat any of it raw or boiled in water, but roasted, its head with its legs and its inner parts. <sup>10</sup>And you shall let none of it remain until the morning; anything that remains until the morning you shall burn. <sup>11</sup>In this manner you shall eat it: with your belt fastened, your sandals on your feet, and your staff in your hand. And you shall eat it in haste. It is the LORD's Passover. <sup>12</sup>†For I will pass through the land of Egypt that night, and I will strike all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, both man and beast; and on all the gods of Egypt I will execute judgments: I am the LORD. <sup>13</sup>The blood shall be a sign for you, on the houses where you are. And when I see the blood, I will pass over you, and no plague will befall you to destroy you, when I strike the land of Egypt.

<sup>14</sup>†“This day shall be for you a memorial day, and you shall keep it as a feast to the LORD; throughout your generations, as a statute forever, you shall keep it as a feast. <sup>15</sup>Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread. On the first day you shall remove leaven out of your houses, for if anyone eats what is leavened, from the first day until the seventh day, that person shall be cut off from Israel. <sup>16</sup>†On the first day you shall hold a holy assembly, and on the seventh day a holy assembly. No work shall be done on those days. But what everyone needs to eat, that alone may be prepared by you. <sup>17</sup>And you shall observe the Feast of Unleavened Bread, for on this very day I brought your hosts out of the land of Egypt. Therefore you shall observe this day, throughout your generations, as a statute forever. <sup>18</sup>In the first month, from the fourteenth day of the month at evening, you shall eat unleavened bread until the twenty-first day of the month at evening. <sup>19</sup>† For seven days no leaven is to be found in your houses. If anyone eats what is leavened, that person will be cut off from the congregation of Israel, whether he is a sojourner or a native of the land. <sup>20</sup>You shall eat nothing leavened; in all your dwelling places you shall eat unleavened bread.”

<sup>21</sup>Then Moses called all the elders of Israel and said to them, “Go and select lambs for yourselves according to your clans, and kill the Passover lamb. <sup>22</sup>† Take a bunch of hyssop and dip it in the blood that is in the basin, and touch the lintel and the two doorposts with the blood that is in the basin. None of you shall go out of the door of his house until the morning. <sup>23</sup>† For the LORD will pass through to strike the Egyptians, and when he sees the blood on the lintel and on the two doorposts, the LORD will pass over the door and will not allow the destroyer to enter your houses to strike you. <sup>24</sup>You shall observe this rite as a statute for you and for your sons forever. <sup>25</sup>† And when you come to the land that the LORD will give you, as he has promised, you shall keep this service. <sup>26</sup>† And when your children say to you, ‘What do you mean by this service?’ <sup>27</sup>you shall say, ‘It is the sacrifice of the LORD's Passover, for he passed over the houses of the people of Israel in Egypt, when he struck the Egyptians but spared our houses.’” And the people bowed their heads and worshiped.

<sup>28</sup>Then the people of Israel went and did so; as the LORD had commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did.

The Tenth Plague: Death of the Firstborn

<sup>29</sup>At midnight the LORD struck down all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sat on his throne to the firstborn of the captive who was in the dungeon, and all the firstborn of the livestock. <sup>30</sup>And Pharaoh rose up in the night, he and all his servants and all the Egyptians. And there was a great cry in Egypt, for there was not a house where someone was not dead. <sup>31</sup>† Then he summoned Moses and Aaron by night and said, “Up, go out from among my people, both you and the people of Israel; and go, serve the LORD, as you have said. <sup>32</sup>† Take your flocks and your herds, as you have said, and be gone, and bless me also!”

The Exodus

<sup>33</sup>The Egyptians were urgent with the people to send them out of the land in haste. For they said, “We shall all be dead.” <sup>34</sup>So the people took their dough before it was leavened, their kneading bowls being bound up in their cloaks on their shoulders. <sup>35</sup>The people of Israel had also done as Moses told them, for they had asked the Egyptians for silver and gold jewelry and for clothing. <sup>36</sup>† And the LORD had given the people favor in the sight of the Egyptians, so that they let them have what they asked. Thus they plundered the Egyptians.

<sup>37</sup>†† And the people of Israel journeyed from Rameses to Succoth, about six hundred thousand men on foot, besides women and children. <sup>38</sup>† A mixed multitude also went up with them, and very much livestock, both flocks and herds. <sup>39</sup>And they baked unleavened cakes of the dough that they had brought out of Egypt, for it was not leavened, because they were thrust out of Egypt and could not wait, nor had they prepared any provisions for themselves.

Institution of the Passover

<sup>51</sup>† And on that very day the LORD brought the people of Israel out of the land of Egypt by their hosts.

Consecration of the Firstborn

EXODUS 13 The LORD said to Moses, <sup>2</sup>‡“Consecrate to me all the firstborn. Whatever is the first to open the womb among the people of Israel, both of man and of beast, is mine.”

The Feast of Unleavened Bread

<sup>3</sup>Then Moses said to the people, “Remember this day in which you came out from Egypt, out of the house of slavery, for by a strong hand the LORD brought you out from this place. No leavened bread shall be eaten. <sup>4</sup>Today, in the month of Abib, you are going out. <sup>5</sup>And when the LORD brings you into the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which he swore to your fathers to give you, a land flowing with milk and honey, you shall keep this service in this month. <sup>6</sup>Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh day there shall be a feast to the LORD. <sup>7</sup>Unleavened bread shall be eaten for seven days; no leavened bread shall be seen with you, and no leaven shall be seen with you in all your territory. <sup>8</sup>‡You shall tell your son on that day, ‘It is because of what the LORD did for me when I came out of Egypt.’ <sup>9</sup>‡And it shall be to you as a sign on your hand and as a memorial between your eyes, that the law of the LORD may be in your mouth. For with a strong hand the LORD has brought you out of Egypt. <sup>10</sup>You shall therefore keep this statute at its appointed time from year to year.

<sup>11</sup>“When the LORD brings you into the land of the Canaanites, as he swore to you and your fathers, and shall give it to you, <sup>12</sup>‡you shall set apart to the LORD all that first opens the womb. All the firstborn of your animals that are males shall be the LORD's. <sup>13</sup>Every firstborn of a donkey you shall redeem with a lamb, or if you will not redeem it you shall break its neck. Every firstborn of man among your sons you shall redeem. <sup>14</sup>And when in time to come your son asks you, ‘What does this mean?’ you shall say to him, ‘By a strong hand the LORD brought us out of Egypt, from the house of slavery. <sup>15</sup>For when Pharaoh stubbornly refused to let us go, the LORD killed all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, both the firstborn of man and the firstborn of animals. Therefore I sacrifice to the LORD all the males that first open the womb, but all the firstborn of my sons I redeem.’ <sup>16</sup>It shall be as a mark on your hand or frontlets between your eyes, for by a strong hand the LORD brought us out of Egypt.”

Pillars of Cloud and Fire

<sup>17</sup>†When Pharaoh let the people go, God did not lead them by way of the land of the Philistines, although that was near. For God said, “Lest the people change their minds when they see war and return to Egypt.” <sup>18</sup>†But God led the people around by the way of the wilderness toward the Red Sea. And the people of Israel went up out of the land of Egypt equipped for battle. <sup>19</sup>†Moses took the bones of Joseph with him, for Joseph [\[1\]](#) had made the sons of Israel solemnly swear, saying, “God will surely visit you, and you shall carry up my bones with you from here.” <sup>20</sup>†And they moved on from Succoth and encamped at Etham, on the edge of the wilderness. <sup>21</sup>†And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of cloud to lead them along the way, and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light, that they might travel by day and by night. <sup>22</sup>The pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night did not depart from before the people.

Crossing the Red Sea

EXODUS 14 Then the LORD said to Moses, <sup>2</sup>“Tell the people of Israel to turn back and encamp in front of Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, in front of Baal-zephon; you shall encamp facing it, by the sea. <sup>3</sup>‡For Pharaoh will say of the people of Israel, ‘They are wandering in the land; the wilderness has shut them in.’ <sup>4</sup>And I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and he will pursue them, and I will get glory over Pharaoh and all his host, and the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD.” And they did so.

<sup>5</sup>‡When the king of Egypt was told that the people had fled, the mind of Pharaoh and his servants was changed toward the people, and they said, “What is this we have done, that we have let Israel go from serving us?” <sup>6</sup>So he made ready his chariot and took his army with him, <sup>7</sup>‡and took six hundred chosen chariots and all the other chariots of Egypt with officers over all of them. <sup>8</sup>‡And the LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he pursued the people of Israel while the people of Israel were going out defiantly. <sup>9</sup>The Egyptians pursued them, all Pharaoh's horses and chariots and his horsemen and his army, and overtook them encamped at the sea, by Pi-hahiroth, in front of Baal-zephon.

<sup>10</sup>‡When Pharaoh drew near, the people of Israel lifted up their eyes, and behold, the Egyptians were marching after them, and they feared greatly. And the people of Israel cried out to the LORD. <sup>11</sup>‡They said to Moses, “Is it because there are no graves in Egypt that you have taken us away to die in the wilderness? What have you done to us in bringing us out of Egypt? <sup>12</sup>‡Is not this what we said to you in Egypt: ‘Leave us alone that we may serve the Egyptians’? For it would have been better for us to serve the Egyptians than to die in the wilderness.” <sup>13</sup>‡And Moses said to the people, “Fear not, stand firm, and see the salvation of the LORD, which he will work for you today. For the Egyptians whom you see today, you shall never see again. <sup>14</sup>‡The LORD will fight for you, and you have only to be silent.”

<sup>15</sup>‡The LORD said to Moses, “Why do you cry to me? Tell the people of Israel to go forward. <sup>16</sup>‡Lift up your staff, and stretch out your hand over the sea and divide it, that the people of Israel may go through the sea on dry ground. <sup>17</sup>And I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians so that they shall go in after them, and I will get glory over Pharaoh and all his host, his chariots, and his horsemen. <sup>18</sup>And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I have gotten glory over Pharaoh, his chariots, and his horsemen.”

<sup>19</sup>† Then the angel of God who was going before the host of Israel moved and went behind them, and the pillar of cloud moved from before them and stood behind them, <sup>20</sup>coming between the host of Egypt and the host of Israel. And there was the cloud and the darkness. And it lit up the night [1] without one coming near the other all night.

<sup>21</sup>† Then Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and the LORD drove the sea back by a strong east wind all night and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided. <sup>22</sup>And the people of Israel went into the midst of the sea on dry ground, the waters being a wall to them on their right hand and on their left. <sup>23</sup>The Egyptians pursued and went in after them into the midst of the sea, all Pharaoh's horses, his chariots, and his horsemen. <sup>24</sup>†† And in the morning watch the LORD in the pillar of fire and of cloud looked down on the Egyptian forces and threw the Egyptian forces into a panic, <sup>25</sup>clogging [2] their chariot wheels so that they drove heavily. And the Egyptians said, “Let us flee from before Israel, for the LORD fights for them against the Egyptians.”

<sup>26</sup>Then the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand over the sea, that the water may come back upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horsemen.” <sup>27</sup>So Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and the sea returned to its normal course when the morning appeared. And as the Egyptians fled into it, the LORD threw [3] the Egyptians into the midst of the sea. <sup>28</sup>The waters returned and covered the chariots and the horsemen; of all the host of Pharaoh that had followed them into the sea, not one of them remained. <sup>29</sup>† But the people of Israel walked on dry ground through the sea, the waters being a wall to them on their right hand and on their left.

<sup>30</sup>Thus the LORD saved Israel that day from the hand of the Egyptians, and Israel saw the Egyptians dead on the seashore. <sup>31</sup>Israel saw the great power that the LORD used against the Egyptians, so the people feared the LORD, and they believed in the LORD and in his servant Moses.

The Song of Moses

EXODUS 15 † Then Moses and the people of Israel sang this song to the LORD, saying, “I will sing to the LORD, for he has triumphed gloriously; the horse and his rider [\[1\]](#) he has thrown into the sea.

<sup>2</sup>The LORD is my strength and my song, and he has become my salvation;
this is my God, and I will praise him, my father's God, and I will exalt him.

were sunk in the Red Sea.

shatters the enemy.

out your fury; it consumes them like stubble.

<sup>8</sup>At the blast of your nostrils the waters piled up; the floods stood up in a heap;
the deeps congealed in the heart of the sea.

<sup>9</sup>The enemy said, ‘I will pursue, I will overtake, I will divide the spoil, my desire shall have its fill of them.
I will draw my sword; my hand shall destroy them.’

<sup>10</sup>You blew with your wind; the sea covered them; they sank like lead in the mighty waters.

<sup>11</sup>“Who is like you, O LORD, among the gods?
Who is like you, majestic in holiness, awesome in glorious deeds, doing wonders?

redeemed; you have guided them by your strength to your holy abode.

<sup>14</sup>The peoples have heard; they tremble; pangs have seized the inhabitants of Philistia.

all the inhabitants of Canaan have melted away.

<sup>16</sup>† Terror and dread fall upon them; because of the greatness of your arm, they are still as a stone, till your people, O LORD, pass by, till the people pass by whom you have purchased.

<sup>17</sup>You will bring them in and plant them on your own mountain, the place, O LORD, which you have made for your abode, the sanctuary, O Lord, which your hands have established.

Bitter Water Made Sweet

<sup>22</sup>Then Moses made Israel set out from the Red Sea, and they went into the wilderness of Shur. They went three days in the wilderness and found no water.

<sup>23</sup>When they came to Marah, they could not drink the water of Marah because it was bitter; therefore it was named Marah. [2] <sup>24</sup>†And the people grumbled against Moses, saying, “What shall we drink?” <sup>25</sup>†And he cried to the LORD, and the LORD showed him a log, [3] and he threw it into the water, and the water became sweet.

There the LORD [4] made for them a statute and a rule, and there he tested them, <sup>26</sup>†saying, “If you will diligently listen to the voice of the LORD your God, and do that which is right in his eyes, and give ear to his commandments and keep all his statutes, I will put none of the diseases on you that I put on the Egyptians, for I am the LORD, your healer.”

<sup>27</sup>†Then they came to Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees, and they encamped there by the water.

Bread from Heaven

EXODUS 16 †They set out from Elim, and all the congregation of the people of Israel came to the wilderness of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after they had departed from the land of Egypt. †And the whole congregation of the people of Israel grumbled against Moses and Aaron in the wilderness, †and the people of Israel said to them, “Would that we had died by the hand of the LORD in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the meat pots and ate bread to the full, for you have brought us out into this wilderness to kill this whole assembly with hunger.”

†Then the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, I am about to rain bread from heaven for you, and the people shall go out and gather a day's portion every day, that I may test them, whether they will walk in my law or not. †On the sixth day, when they prepare what they bring in, it will be twice as much as they gather daily.” †So Moses and Aaron said to all the people of Israel, “At evening you shall know that it was the LORD who brought you out of the land of Egypt, †and in the morning you shall see the glory of the LORD, because he has heard your grumbling against the LORD. For what are we, that you grumble against us?” †And Moses said, “When the LORD gives you in the evening meat to eat and in the morning bread to the full, because the LORD has heard your grumbling that you grumble against him—what are we? Your grumbling is not against us but against the LORD.”

†Then Moses said to Aaron, “Say to the whole congregation of the people of Israel, ‘Come near before the LORD, for he has heard your grumbling.’” †And as soon as Aaron spoke to the whole congregation of the people of Israel, they looked toward the wilderness, and behold, the glory of the LORD appeared in the cloud. †And the LORD said to Moses, †“I have heard the grumbling of the people of Israel. Say to them, ‘At twilight you shall eat meat, and in the morning you shall be filled with bread. Then you shall know that I am the LORD your God.’”

†In the evening quail came up and covered the camp, and in the morning dew lay around the camp. †And when the dew had gone up, there was on the face of the wilderness a fine, flake-like thing, fine as frost on the ground. †When the people of Israel saw it, they said to one another, “What is it?” [1] For they did not know what it was. And Moses said to them, “It is the bread that the LORD has given you to eat. <sup>16</sup>‡ This is what the LORD has commanded: ‘Gather of it, each one of you, as much as he can eat. You shall each take an omer, [2] according to the number of the persons that each of you has in his tent.’” <sup>17</sup> And the people of Israel did so. They gathered, some more, some less. <sup>18</sup>‡ But when they measured it with an omer, whoever gathered much had nothing left over, and whoever gathered little had no lack. Each of them gathered as much as he could eat. <sup>19</sup> And Moses said to them, “Let no one leave any of it over till the morning.” <sup>20</sup> But they did not listen to Moses. Some left part of it till the morning, and it bred worms and stank. And Moses was angry with them. <sup>21</sup> Morning by morning they gathered it, each as much as he could eat; but when the sun grew hot, it melted.

<sup>22</sup>‡ On the sixth day they gathered twice as much bread, two omers each. And when all the leaders of the congregation came and told Moses, <sup>23</sup> he said to them, “This is what the LORD has commanded: ‘Tomorrow is a day of solemn rest, a holy Sabbath to the LORD; bake what you will bake and boil what you will boil, and all that is left over lay aside to be kept till the morning.’” <sup>24</sup> So they laid it aside till the morning, as Moses commanded them, and it did not stink, and there were no worms in it. <sup>25</sup> Moses said, “Eat it today, for today is a Sabbath to the LORD; today you will not find it in the field. <sup>26</sup> Six days you shall gather it, but on the seventh day, which is a Sabbath, there will be none.”

<sup>27</sup> On the seventh day some of the people went out to gather, but they found none. <sup>28</sup> And the LORD said to Moses, “How long will you refuse to keep my commandments and my laws? <sup>29</sup> See! The LORD has given you the Sabbath; therefore on the sixth day he gives you bread for two days. Remain each of you in his place; let no one go out of his place on the seventh day.” <sup>30</sup> So the people rested on the seventh day.

<sup>31</sup>‡ Now the house of Israel called its name manna. It was like coriander seed, white, and the taste of it was like wafers made with honey. <sup>32</sup>‡ Moses said, “This is what the LORD has commanded: ‘Let an omer of it be kept throughout your generations, so that they may see the bread with which I fed you in the wilderness, when I brought you out of the land of Egypt.’” <sup>33</sup> And Moses said to Aaron, “Take a jar, and put an omer of manna in it, and place it before the LORD to be kept throughout your generations.” <sup>34</sup> As the LORD commanded Moses, so Aaron placed it before the testimony to be kept. <sup>35</sup> The people of Israel ate the manna forty years, till they came to a habitable land. They ate the manna till they came to the border of the land of Canaan. <sup>36</sup> (An omer is the tenth part of an ephah.) [3]

Water from the Rock

EXODUS 17 †All the congregation of the people of Israel moved on from the wilderness of Sin by stages, according to the commandment of the LORD, and camped at Rephidim, but there was no water for the people to drink. †Therefore the people quarreled with Moses and said, “Give us water to drink.” And Moses said to them, “Why do you quarrel with me? Why do you test the LORD?” †But the people thirsted there for water, and the people grumbled against Moses and said, “Why did you bring us up out of Egypt, to kill us and our children and our livestock with thirst?” †So Moses cried to the LORD, “What shall I do with this people? They are almost ready to stone me.” †And the LORD said to Moses, “Pass on before the people, taking with you some of the elders of Israel, and take in your hand the staff with which you struck the Nile, and go. †Behold, I will stand before you there on the rock at Horeb, and you shall strike the rock, and water shall come out of it, and the people will drink.” And Moses did so, in the sight of the elders of Israel. †And he called the name of the place Massah [1] and Meribah, [2] because of the quarreling of the people of Israel, and because they tested the LORD by saying, “Is the LORD among us or not?”

Israel Defeats Amalek

†Then Amalek came and fought with Israel at Rephidim. ††So Moses said to Joshua, “Choose for us men, and go out and fight with Amalek. Tomorrow I will stand on the top of the hill with the staff of God in my hand.” ††So Joshua did as Moses told him, and fought with Amalek, while Moses, Aaron, and Hur went up to the top of the hill. †Whenever Moses held up his hand, Israel prevailed, and whenever he lowered his hand, Amalek prevailed. †But Moses' hands grew weary, so they took a stone and put it under him, and he sat on it, while Aaron and Hur held up his hands, one on one side, and the other on the other side. So his hands were steady until the going down of the sun. †And Joshua overwhelmed Amalek and his people with the sword.

†Then the LORD said to Moses, “Write this as a memorial in a book and recite it in the ears of Joshua, that I will utterly blot out the memory of Amalek from under heaven.” †And Moses built an altar and called the name of it, The LORD Is My Banner, †saying, “A hand upon the throne [3] of the LORD! The LORD will have war with Amalek from generation to generation.”

Jethro's Advice

EXODUS 18 †Jethro, the priest of Midian, Moses' father-in-law, heard of all that God had done for Moses and for Israel his people, how the LORD had brought Israel out of Egypt. <sup>2</sup>Now Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, had taken Zipporah, Moses' wife, after he had sent her home, <sup>3</sup>along with her two sons. The name of the one was Gershom (for he said, "I have been a sojourner [1] in a foreign land"), <sup>4</sup>and the name of the other, Eliezer [2] (for he said, "The God of my father was my help, and delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh"). <sup>5</sup>Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, came with his sons and his wife to Moses in the wilderness where he was encamped at the mountain of God. <sup>6</sup>And when he sent word to Moses, "I, [3] your father-in-law Jethro, am coming to you with your wife and her two sons with her," <sup>7</sup>†Moses went out to meet his father-in-law and bowed down and kissed him. And they asked each other of their welfare and went into the tent. <sup>8</sup>Then Moses told his father-in-law all that the LORD had done to Pharaoh and to the Egyptians for Israel's sake, all the hardship that had come upon them in the way, and how the LORD had delivered them. <sup>9</sup>And Jethro rejoiced for all the good that the LORD had done to Israel, in that he had delivered them out of the hand of the Egyptians.

<sup>10</sup>Jethro said, "Blessed be the LORD, who has delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians and out of the hand of Pharaoh and has delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians. <sup>11</sup>Now I know that the LORD is greater than all gods, because in this affair they dealt arrogantly with the people." [4] <sup>12</sup>†And Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, brought a burnt offering and sacrifices to God; and Aaron came with all the elders of Israel to eat bread with Moses' father-in-law before God.

<sup>13</sup>†The next day Moses sat to judge the people, and the people stood around Moses from morning till evening. <sup>14</sup>When Moses' father-in-law saw all that he was doing for the people, he said, "What is this that you are doing for the people? Why do you sit alone, and all the people stand around you from morning till evening?" <sup>15</sup>And Moses said to his father-in-law, "Because the people come to me to inquire of God; <sup>16</sup>when they have a dispute, they come to me and I decide between one person and another, and I make them know the statutes of God and his laws." <sup>17</sup>Moses' father-in-law said to him, "What you are doing is not good. <sup>18</sup>You and the people with you will certainly wear yourselves out, for the thing is too heavy for you. You are not able to do it alone. <sup>19</sup>Now obey my voice; I will give you advice, and God be with you! You shall represent the people before God and bring their cases to God, <sup>20</sup>and you shall warn them about the statutes and the laws, and make them know the way in which they must walk and what they must do. <sup>21</sup>Moreover, look for able men from all the people, men who fear God, who are trustworthy and hate a bribe, and place such men over the people as chiefs of thousands, of hundreds, of fifties, and of tens. <sup>22</sup>And let them judge the people at all times. Every great matter they shall bring to you, but any small matter they shall decide themselves. So it will be easier for you, and they will bear the burden with you. <sup>23</sup>If you do this, God will direct you, you will be able to endure, and all this people also will go to their place in peace.”

<sup>24</sup>So Moses listened to the voice of his father-in-law and did all that he had said. <sup>25</sup>Moses chose able men out of all Israel and made them heads over the people, chiefs of thousands, of hundreds, of fifties, and of tens. <sup>26</sup>And they judged the people at all times. Any hard case they brought to Moses, but any small matter they decided themselves. <sup>27</sup>Then Moses let his father-in-law depart, and he went away to his own country.

Israel at Mount Sinai

EXODUS 19 †On the third new moon after the people of Israel had gone out of the land of Egypt, on that day they came into the wilderness of Sinai. <sup>2</sup>They set out from Rephidim and came into the wilderness of Sinai, and they encamped in the wilderness. There Israel encamped before the mountain, <sup>3</sup>†while Moses went up to God. The LORD called to him out of the mountain, saying, “Thus you shall say to the house of Jacob, and tell the people of Israel: <sup>4</sup>†You yourselves have seen what I did to the Egyptians, and how I bore you on eagles' wings and brought you to myself. <sup>5</sup>†Now therefore, if you will indeed obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my treasured possession among all peoples, for all the earth is mine; <sup>6</sup>and you shall be to me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation. These are the words that you shall speak to the people of Israel.”

<sup>7</sup>So Moses came and called the elders of the people and set before them all these words that the LORD had commanded him. <sup>8</sup>†All the people answered together and said, “All that the LORD has spoken we will do.” And Moses reported the words of the people to the LORD. <sup>9</sup>†And the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, I am coming to you in a thick cloud, that the people may hear when I speak with you, and may also believe you forever.”

When Moses told the words of the people to the LORD, <sup>10</sup>†the LORD said to Moses, “Go to the people and consecrate them today and tomorrow, and let them wash their garments <sup>11</sup>and be ready for the third day. For on the third day the LORD will come down on Mount Sinai in the sight of all the people. <sup>12</sup>†And you shall set limits for the people all around, saying, ‘Take care not to go up into the mountain or touch the edge of it. Whoever touches the mountain shall be put to death. <sup>13</sup>No hand shall touch him, but he shall be stoned or shot; [1] whether beast or man, he shall not live.’ When the trumpet sounds a long blast, they shall come up to the mountain.” <sup>14</sup>So Moses went down from the mountain to the people and consecrated the people; and they washed their garments. <sup>15</sup>†And he said to the people, “Be ready for the third day; do not go near a woman.”

<sup>16</sup>†On the morning of the third day there were thunders and lightnings and a thick cloud on the mountain and a very loud trumpet blast, so that all the people in the camp trembled. <sup>17</sup>Then Moses brought the people out of the camp to meet God, and they took their stand at the foot of the mountain. <sup>18</sup>Now Mount Sinai was wrapped in smoke because the LORD had descended on it in fire. The smoke of it went up like the smoke of a kiln, and the whole mountain trembled greatly. <sup>19</sup>And as the sound of the trumpet grew louder and louder, Moses spoke, and God answered him in thunder. <sup>20</sup>The LORD came down on Mount Sinai, to the top of the mountain. And the LORD called Moses to the top of the mountain, and Moses went up.

<sup>21</sup>And the LORD said to Moses, “Go down and warn the people, lest they break through to the LORD to look and many of them perish. <sup>22</sup>Also let the priests who come near to the LORD consecrate themselves, lest the LORD break out against them.” <sup>23</sup>And Moses said to the LORD, “The people cannot come up to Mount Sinai, for you yourself warned us, saying, ‘Set limits around the mountain and consecrate it.’” <sup>24</sup>† And the LORD said to him, “Go down, and come up bringing Aaron with you. But do not let the priests and the people break through to come up to the LORD, lest he break out against them.” <sup>25</sup>So Moses went down to the people and told them.

The Ten Commandments

EXODUS 20 †And God spoke all these words, saying, <sup>2</sup>“I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery.

<sup>4</sup>†“You shall not make for yourself a carved image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. <sup>5</sup>†You shall not bow down to them or serve them, for I the LORD your God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children to the third and the fourth generation of those who hate me, <sup>6</sup>but showing steadfast love to thousands [\[2\]](#) of those who love me and keep my commandments.

<sup>8</sup>†“Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. <sup>9</sup>Six days you shall labor, and do all your work, <sup>10</sup>but the seventh day is a Sabbath to the LORD your God. On it you shall not do any work, you, or your son, or your daughter, your male servant, or your female servant, or your livestock, or the sojourner who is within your gates. <sup>11</sup>For in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is in them, and rested on the seventh day. Therefore the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and made it holy.

<sup>12</sup>††“Honor your father and your mother, that your days may be long in the land that the LORD your God is giving you.

<sup>18</sup>† Now when all the people saw the thunder and the flashes of lightning and the sound of the trumpet and the mountain smoking, the people were afraid [4] and trembled, and they stood far off <sup>19</sup>† and said to Moses, “You speak to us, and we will listen; but do not let God speak to us, lest we die.” <sup>20</sup>† Moses said to the people, “Do not fear, for God has come to test you, that the fear of him may be before you, that you may not sin.” <sup>21</sup> The people stood far off, while Moses drew near to the thick darkness where God was.

Laws About Altars

<sup>22</sup>† And the LORD said to Moses, “Thus you shall say to the people of Israel: ‘You have seen for yourselves that I have talked with you from heaven. <sup>23</sup> You shall not make gods of silver to be with me, nor shall you make for yourselves gods of gold. <sup>24</sup> An altar of earth you shall make for me and sacrifice on it your burnt offerings and your peace offerings, your sheep and your oxen. In every place where I cause my name to be remembered I will come to you and bless you. <sup>25</sup> If you make me an altar of stone, you shall not build it of hewn stones, for if you wield your tool on it you profane it. <sup>26</sup> And you shall not go up by steps to my altar, that your nakedness be not exposed on it.’

Laws About Slaves

EXODUS 21 †“Now these are the rules that you shall set before them. 2‡When you buy a Hebrew slave, he shall serve six years, and in the seventh he shall go out free, for nothing. 3If he comes in single, he shall go out single; if he comes in married, then his wife shall go out with him. 4If his master gives him a wife and she bears him sons or daughters, the wife and her children shall be her master's, and he shall go out alone. 5But if the slave plainly says, ‘I love my master, my wife, and my children; I will not go out free,’ 6then his master shall bring him to God, and he shall bring him to the door or the doorpost. And his master shall bore his ear through with an awl, and he shall be his slave forever.

7“When a man sells his daughter as a slave, she shall not go out as the male slaves do. 8If she does not please her master, who has designated her [1] for himself, then he shall let her be redeemed. He shall have no right to sell her to a foreign people, since he has broken faith with her. 9If he designates her for his son, he shall deal with her as with a daughter. 10If he takes another wife to himself, he shall not diminish her food, her clothing, or her marital rights. 11And if he does not do these three things for her, she shall go out for nothing, without payment of money.

12‡“Whoever strikes a man so that he dies shall be put to death. 13But if he did not lie in wait for him, but God let him fall into his hand, then I will appoint for you a place to which he may flee. 14But if a man willfully attacks another to kill him by cunning, you shall take him from my altar, that he may die.

15‡“Whoever strikes his father or his mother shall be put to death.

16“Whoever steals a man and sells him, and anyone found in possession of him, shall be put to death.

17†“Whoever curses [2] his father or his mother shall be put to death.

18“When men quarrel and one strikes the other with a stone or with his fist and the man does not die but takes to his bed, 19then if the man rises again and walks outdoors with his staff, he who struck him shall be clear; only he shall pay for the loss of his time, and shall have him thoroughly healed.

20‡“When a man strikes his slave, male or female, with a rod and the slave dies under his hand, he shall be avenged. <sup>21</sup>But if the slave survives a day or two, he is not to be avenged, for the slave is his money.

<sup>22</sup>‡“When men strive together and hit a pregnant woman, so that her children come out, but there is no harm, the one who hit her shall surely be fined, as the woman's husband shall impose on him, and he shall pay as the judges determine. <sup>23</sup>‡But if there is harm, [3] then you shall pay life for life, <sup>24</sup>‡eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, <sup>25</sup>burn for burn, wound for wound, stripe for stripe.

<sup>28</sup>“When an ox gores a man or a woman to death, the ox shall be stoned, and its flesh shall not be eaten, but the owner of the ox shall not be liable. <sup>29</sup>But if the ox has been accustomed to gore in the past, and its owner has been warned but has not kept it in, and it kills a man or a woman, the ox shall be stoned, and its owner also shall be put to death. <sup>30</sup>‡If a ransom is imposed on him, then he shall give for the redemption of his life whatever is imposed on him. <sup>31</sup>If it gores a man's son or daughter, he shall be dealt with according to this same rule. <sup>32</sup>‡If the ox gores a slave, male or female, the owner shall give to their master thirty shekels [4] of silver, and the ox shall be stoned.

Laws About Restitution

<sup>33</sup>“When a man opens a pit, or when a man digs a pit and does not cover it, and an ox or a donkey falls into it, <sup>34</sup>the owner of the pit shall make restoration. He shall give money to its owner, and the dead beast shall be his.

<sup>35</sup>“When one man's ox butts another's, so that it dies, then they shall sell the live ox and share its price, and the dead beast also they shall share. <sup>36</sup>Or if it is known that the ox has been accustomed to gore in the past, and its owner has not kept it in, he shall repay ox for ox, and the dead beast shall be his.

EXODUS 22 [1] “If a man steals an ox or a sheep, and kills it or sells it, he shall repay five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. <sup>2</sup> [2] If a thief is found breaking in and is struck so that he dies, there shall be no bloodguilt for him, <sup>3</sup>†but if the sun has risen on him, there shall be bloodguilt for him. He shall surely pay. If he has nothing, then he shall be sold for his theft. <sup>4</sup>If the stolen beast is found alive in his possession, whether it is an ox or a donkey or a sheep, he shall pay double.

<sup>5</sup>“If a man causes a field or vineyard to be grazed over, or lets his beast loose and it feeds in another man's field, he shall make restitution from the best in his own field and in his own vineyard.

<sup>6</sup>“If fire breaks out and catches in thorns so that the stacked grain or the standing grain or the field is consumed, he who started the fire shall make full restitution.

<sup>7</sup>“If a man gives to his neighbor money or goods to keep safe, and it is stolen from the man's house, then, if the thief is found, he shall pay double. <sup>8</sup>If the thief is not found, the owner of the house shall come near to God to show whether or not he has put his hand to his neighbor's property. <sup>9</sup>For every breach of trust, whether it is for an ox, for a donkey, for a sheep, for a cloak, or for any kind of lost thing, of which one says, ‘This is it,’ the case of both parties shall come before God. The one whom God condemns shall pay double to his neighbor.

<sup>10</sup>“If a man gives to his neighbor a donkey or an ox or a sheep or any beast to keep safe, and it dies or is injured or is driven away, without anyone seeing it, <sup>11</sup>†an oath by the LORD shall be between them both to see whether or not he has put his hand to his neighbor's property. The owner shall accept the oath, and he shall not make restitution. <sup>12</sup>But if it is stolen from him, he shall make restitution to its owner. <sup>13</sup>If it is torn by beasts, let him bring it as evidence. He shall not make restitution for what has been torn.

<sup>14</sup>“If a man borrows anything of his neighbor, and it is injured or dies, the owner not being with it, he shall make full restitution. <sup>15</sup>If the owner was with it, he shall not make restitution; if it was hired, it came for its hiring fee. [3]

Laws About Social Justice

give the bride-price [5] for her and make her his wife. <sup>17</sup>If her father utterly refuses to give her to him, he shall pay money equal to the bride-price for virgins.

<sup>21</sup>“You shall not wrong a sojourner or oppress him, for you were sojourners in the land of Egypt. <sup>22</sup>†You shall not mistreat any widow or fatherless child. <sup>23</sup>If you do mistreat them, and they cry out to me, I will surely hear their cry, <sup>24</sup>and my wrath will burn, and I will kill you with the sword, and your wives shall become widows and your children fatherless.

<sup>25</sup>†“If you lend money to any of my people with you who is poor, you shall not be like a moneylender to him, and you shall not exact interest from him. <sup>26</sup>If ever you take your neighbor's cloak in pledge, you shall return it to him before the sun goes down, <sup>27</sup>for that is his only covering, and it is his cloak for his body; in what else shall he sleep? And if he cries to me, I will hear, for I am compassionate.

<sup>29</sup>“You shall not delay to offer from the fullness of your harvest and from the outflow of your presses. The firstborn of your sons you shall give to me. <sup>30</sup>You shall do the same with your oxen and with your sheep: seven days it shall be with its mother; on the eighth day you shall give it to me.

<sup>31</sup>†“You shall be consecrated to me. Therefore you shall not eat any flesh that is torn by beasts in the field; you shall throw it to the dogs.

EXODUS 23 †“You shall not spread a false report. You shall not join hands with a wicked man to be a malicious witness. <sup>2</sup>You shall not fall in with the many to do evil, nor shall you bear witness in a lawsuit, siding with the many, so as to pervert justice, <sup>3</sup>nor shall you be partial to a poor man in his lawsuit.

<sup>4</sup>“If you meet your enemy's ox or his donkey going astray, you shall bring it back to him. <sup>5</sup>If you see the donkey of one who hates you lying down under its burden, you shall refrain from leaving him with it; you shall rescue it with him.

<sup>9</sup>“You shall not oppress a sojourner. You know the heart of a sojourner, for you were sojourners in the land of Egypt.

Laws About the Sabbath and Festivals

<sup>10</sup>†“For six years you shall sow your land and gather in its yield, <sup>11</sup>but the seventh year you shall let it rest and lie fallow, that the poor of your people may eat; and what they leave the beasts of the field may eat. You shall do likewise with your vineyard, and with your olive orchard.

<sup>12</sup>“Six days you shall do your work, but on the seventh day you shall rest; that your ox and your donkey may have rest, and the son of your servant woman, and the alien, may be refreshed.

<sup>13</sup>†“Pay attention to all that I have said to you, and make no mention of the names of other gods, nor let it be heard on your lips.

<sup>14</sup>†“Three times in the year you shall keep a feast to me. <sup>15</sup>You shall keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread. As I commanded you, you shall eat unleavened bread for seven days at the appointed time in the month of Abib, for in it you came out of Egypt. None shall appear before me empty-handed. <sup>16</sup>You shall keep the Feast of Harvest, of the firstfruits of your labor, of what you sow in the field. You shall keep the Feast of Ingathering at the end of the year, when you gather in from the field the fruit of your labor. <sup>17</sup>Three times in the year shall all your males appear before the Lord GOD.

<sup>18</sup>“You shall not offer the blood of my sacrifice with anything leavened, or let the fat of my feast remain until the morning.

<sup>19</sup>†“The best of the firstfruits of your ground you shall bring into the house of the LORD your God.

“You shall not boil a young goat in its mother's milk.

Conquest of Canaan Promised

<sup>20</sup>“Behold, I send an angel before you to guard you on the way and to bring you to the place that I have prepared. <sup>21</sup>Pay careful attention to him and obey his voice; do not rebel against him, for he will not pardon your transgression, for my name is in him.

<sup>22</sup>“But if you carefully obey his voice and do all that I say, then I will be an enemy to your enemies and an adversary to your adversaries.

<sup>23</sup>†“When my angel goes before you and brings you to the Amorites and the Hittites and the Perizzites and the Canaanites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, and I blot them out, <sup>24</sup>†you shall not bow down to their gods nor serve them, nor do as they do, but you shall utterly overthrow them and break their pillars in pieces. <sup>25</sup>†You shall serve the LORD your God, and he [1] will bless your bread and your water, and I will take sickness away from among you. <sup>26</sup>None shall miscarry or be barren in your land; I will fulfill the number of your days. <sup>27</sup>I will send my terror before you and will throw into confusion all the people against whom you shall come, and I will make all your enemies turn their backs to you. <sup>28</sup>†And I will send hornets before you, which shall drive out the Hivites, the Canaanites, and the Hittites from before you. <sup>29</sup>†I will not drive them out from before you in one year, lest the land become desolate and the wild beasts multiply against you. <sup>30</sup>Little by little I will drive them out from before you, until you have increased and possess the land. <sup>31</sup>†And I will set your border from the Red Sea to the Sea of the Philistines, and from the wilderness to the Euphrates, for I will give the inhabitants of the land into your hand, and you shall drive them out before you. <sup>32</sup>†You shall make no covenant with them and their gods. <sup>33</sup>They shall not dwell in your land, lest they make you sin against me; for if you serve their gods, it will surely be a snare to you.”

The Covenant Confirmed

EXODUS 24 Then he said to Moses, “Come up to the LORD, you and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel, and worship from afar. <sup>2</sup>Moses alone shall come near to the LORD, but the others shall not come near, and the people shall not come up with him.”

<sup>3</sup>Moses came and told the people all the words of the LORD and all the rules. [\[1\]](#) And all the people answered with one voice and said, “All the words that the LORD has spoken we will do.” <sup>4</sup>† And Moses wrote down all the words of the LORD. He rose early in the morning and built an altar at the foot of the mountain, and twelve pillars, according to the twelve tribes of Israel. <sup>5</sup>† And he sent young men of the people of Israel, who offered burnt offerings and sacrificed peace offerings of oxen to the LORD. <sup>6</sup> And Moses took half of the blood and put it in basins, and half of the blood he threw against the altar. <sup>7</sup>† Then he took the Book of the Covenant and read it in the hearing of the people. And they said, “All that the LORD has spoken we will do, and we will be obedient.” <sup>8</sup>† And Moses took the blood and threw it on the people and said, “Behold the blood of the covenant that the LORD has made with you in accordance with all these words.”

<sup>9</sup>† Then Moses and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel went up, <sup>10</sup>† and they saw the God of Israel. There was under his feet as it were a pavement of sapphire stone, like the very heaven for clearness. <sup>11</sup> And he did not lay his hand on the chief men of the people of Israel; they beheld God, and ate and drank.

<sup>12</sup>† The LORD said to Moses, “Come up to me on the mountain and wait there, that I may give you the tablets of stone, with the law and the commandment, which I have written for their instruction.” <sup>13</sup> So Moses rose with his assistant Joshua, and Moses went up into the mountain of God. <sup>14</sup>† And he said to the elders, “Wait here for us until we return to you. And behold, Aaron and Hur are with you. Whoever has a dispute, let him go to them.”

<sup>15</sup> Then Moses went up on the mountain, and the cloud covered the mountain. <sup>16</sup>† The glory of the LORD dwelt on Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days. And on the seventh day he called to Moses out of the midst of the cloud. <sup>17</sup> Now the appearance of the glory of the LORD was like a devouring fire on the top of the mountain in the sight of the people of Israel. <sup>18</sup> Moses entered the cloud and went up on the mountain. And Moses was on the mountain forty days and forty nights.

Contributions for the Sanctuary

EXODUS 25 †The LORD said to Moses, †“Speak to the people of Israel, that they take for me a contribution. From every man whose heart moves him you shall receive the contribution for me. †And this is the contribution that you shall receive from them: gold, silver, and bronze, †blue and purple and scarlet yarns and fine twined linen, goats' hair, †tanned rams' skins, goatskins, [1] acacia wood, †oil for the lamps, spices for the anointing oil and for the fragrant incense, †onyx stones, and stones for setting, for the ephod and for the breastpiece. †And let them make me a sanctuary, that I may dwell in their midst. †Exactly as I show you concerning the pattern of the tabernacle, and of all its furniture, so you shall make it.

The Ark of the Covenant

†“They shall make an ark of acacia wood. Two cubits [2] and a half shall be its length, a cubit and a half its breadth, and a cubit and a half its height. †You shall overlay it with pure gold, inside and outside shall you overlay it, and you shall make on it a molding of gold around it. †You shall cast four rings of gold for it and put them on its four feet, two rings on the one side of it, and two rings on the other side of it. †You shall make poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold. †And you shall put the poles into the rings on the sides of the ark to carry the ark by them. †The poles shall remain in the rings of the ark; they shall not be taken from it. †And you shall put into the ark the testimony that I shall give you.

†“You shall make a mercy seat [3] of pure gold. Two cubits and a half shall be its length, and a cubit and a half its breadth. †And you shall make two cherubim of gold; of hammered work shall you make them, on the two ends of the mercy seat. †Make one cherub on the one end, and one cherub on the other end. Of one piece with the mercy seat shall you make the cherubim on its two ends. †The cherubim shall spread out their wings above, overshadowing the mercy seat with their wings, their faces one to another; toward the mercy seat shall the faces of the cherubim be. †And you shall put the mercy seat on the top of the ark, and in the ark you shall put the testimony that I shall give you. †There I will meet with you, and from above the mercy seat, from between the two cherubim that are on the ark of the testimony, I will speak with you about all that I will give you in commandment for the people of Israel.

The Table for Bread

<sup>23</sup>“You shall make a table of acacia wood. Two cubits shall be its length, a cubit its breadth, and a cubit and a half its height. <sup>24</sup>You shall overlay it with pure gold and make a molding of gold around it. <sup>25</sup>And you shall make a rim around it a handbreadth [4] wide, and a molding of gold around the rim. <sup>26</sup>And you shall make for it four rings of gold, and fasten the rings to the four corners at its four legs. <sup>27</sup>Close to the frame the rings shall lie, as holders for the poles to carry the table. <sup>28</sup>You shall make the poles of acacia wood, and overlay them with gold, and the table shall be carried with these. <sup>29</sup>And you shall make its plates and dishes for incense, and its flagons and bowls with which to pour drink offerings; you shall make them of pure gold. <sup>30</sup>†And you shall set the bread of the Presence on the table before me regularly.

The Golden Lampstand

<sup>31</sup>†“You shall make a lampstand of pure gold. The lampstand shall be made of hammered work: its base, its stem, its cups, its calyxes, and its flowers shall be of one piece with it. <sup>32</sup>And there shall be six branches going out of its sides, three branches of the lampstand out of one side of it and three branches of the lampstand out of the other side of it; <sup>33</sup>three cups made like almond blossoms, each with calyx and flower, on one branch, and three cups made like almond blossoms, each with calyx and flower, on the other branch—so for the six branches going out of the lampstand. <sup>34</sup>And on the lampstand itself there shall be four cups made like almond blossoms, with their calyxes and flowers, <sup>35</sup>and a calyx of one piece with it under each pair of the six branches going out from the lampstand. <sup>36</sup>Their calyxes and their branches shall be of one piece with it, the whole of it a single piece of hammered work of pure gold. <sup>37</sup>You shall make seven lamps for it. And the lamps shall be set up so as to give light on the space in front of it. <sup>38</sup>Its tongs and their trays shall be of pure gold. <sup>39</sup>†It shall be made, with all these utensils, out of a talent [5] of pure gold. <sup>40</sup>†And see that you make them after the pattern for them, which is being shown you on the mountain.

The Tabernacle

EXODUS 26 †“Moreover, you shall make the tabernacle with ten curtains of fine twined linen and blue and purple and scarlet yarns; you shall make them with cherubim skillfully worked into them. <sup>2</sup>The length of each curtain shall be twenty-eight cubits, [1] and the breadth of each curtain four cubits; all the curtains shall be the same size. <sup>3</sup>Five curtains shall be coupled to one another, and the other five curtains shall be coupled to one another. <sup>4</sup>And you shall make loops of blue on the edge of the outermost curtain in the first set. Likewise you shall make loops on the edge of the outermost curtain in the second set. <sup>5</sup>Fifty loops you shall make on the one curtain, and fifty loops you shall make on the edge of the curtain that is in the second set; the loops shall be opposite one another. <sup>6</sup>And you shall make fifty clasps of gold, and couple the curtains one to the other with the clasps, so that the tabernacle may be a single whole.

<sup>7</sup>†“You shall also make curtains of goats' hair for a tent over the tabernacle; eleven curtains shall you make. <sup>8</sup>The length of each curtain shall be thirty cubits, and the breadth of each curtain four cubits. The eleven curtains shall be the same size. <sup>9</sup>You shall couple five curtains by themselves, and six curtains by themselves, and the sixth curtain you shall double over at the front of the tent. <sup>10</sup>You shall make fifty loops on the edge of the curtain that is outermost in one set, and fifty loops on the edge of the curtain that is outermost in the second set.

the tabernacle, on the north side twenty frames, <sup>21</sup>and their forty bases of silver, two bases under one frame, and two bases under the next frame. <sup>22</sup>And for the rear of the tabernacle westward you shall make six frames. <sup>23</sup>And you shall make two frames for corners of the tabernacle in the rear; <sup>24</sup>they shall be separate beneath, but joined at the top, at the first ring. Thus shall it be with both of them; they shall form the two corners. <sup>25</sup>And there shall be eight frames, with their bases of silver, sixteen bases; two bases under one frame, and two bases under another frame.

The Bronze Altar

EXODUS 27 †“You shall make the altar of acacia wood, five cubits [1] long and five cubits broad. The altar shall be square, and its height shall be three cubits. <sup>2</sup>And you shall make horns for it on its four corners; its horns shall be of one piece with it, and you shall overlay it with bronze. <sup>3</sup>†You shall make pots for it to receive its ashes, and shovels and basins and forks and fire pans. You shall make all its utensils of bronze. <sup>4</sup>You shall also make for it a grating, a network of bronze, and on the net you shall make four bronze rings at its four corners. <sup>5</sup>And you shall set it under the ledge of the altar so that the net extends halfway down the altar. <sup>6</sup>And you shall make poles for the altar, poles of acacia wood, and overlay them with bronze. <sup>7</sup>And the poles shall be put through the rings, so that the poles are on the two sides of the altar when it is carried. <sup>8</sup>You shall make it hollow, with boards. As it has been shown you on the mountain, so shall it be made.

The Court of the Tabernacle

<sup>9</sup>†“You shall make the court of the tabernacle. On the south side the court shall have hangings of fine twined linen a hundred cubits long for one side. <sup>10</sup>Its twenty pillars and their twenty bases shall be of bronze, but the hooks of the pillars and their fillets shall be of silver. <sup>11</sup>And likewise for its length on the north side there shall be hangings a hundred cubits long, its pillars twenty and their bases twenty, of bronze, but the hooks of the pillars and their fillets shall be of silver. <sup>12</sup>And for the breadth of the court on the west side there shall be hangings for fifty cubits, with ten pillars and ten bases. <sup>13</sup>The breadth of the court on the front to the east shall be fifty cubits. <sup>14</sup>The hangings for the one side of the gate shall be fifteen cubits, with their three pillars and three bases. <sup>15</sup>On the other side the hangings shall be fifteen cubits, with their three pillars and three bases. <sup>16</sup>†For the gate of the court there shall be a screen twenty cubits long, of blue and purple and scarlet yarns and fine twined linen, embroidered with needlework. It shall have four pillars and with them four bases. <sup>17</sup>All the pillars around the court shall be filleted with silver. Their hooks shall be of silver, and their bases of bronze. <sup>18</sup>The length of the court shall be a hundred cubits, the breadth fifty, and the height five cubits, with hangings of fine twined linen and bases of bronze. <sup>19</sup>All the utensils of the tabernacle for every use, and all its pegs and all the pegs of the court, shall be of bronze.

Oil for the Lamp

<sup>20</sup>‡“You shall command the people of Israel that they bring to you pure beaten olive oil for the light, that a lamp may regularly be set up to burn. <sup>21</sup>In the tent of meeting, outside the veil that is before the testimony, Aaron and his sons shall tend it from evening to morning before the LORD. It shall be a statute forever to be observed throughout their generations by the people of Israel.

The Priests' Garments

EXODUS 28 †“Then bring near to you Aaron your brother, and his sons with him, from among the people of Israel, to serve me as priests—Aaron and Aaron's sons, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. <sup>2</sup>†And you shall make holy garments for Aaron your brother, for glory and for beauty. <sup>3</sup>†You shall speak to all the skillful, whom I have filled with a spirit of skill, that they make Aaron's garments to consecrate him for my priesthood. <sup>4</sup>These are the garments that they shall make: a breastpiece, an ephod, a robe, a coat of checker work, a turban, and a sash. They shall make holy garments for Aaron your brother and his sons to serve me as priests. <sup>5</sup>†They shall receive gold, blue and purple and scarlet yarns, and fine twined linen.

<sup>6</sup>“And they shall make the ephod of gold, of blue and purple and scarlet yarns, and of fine twined linen, skillfully worked. <sup>7</sup>It shall have two shoulder pieces attached to its two edges, so that it may be joined together. <sup>8</sup>And the skillfully woven band on it shall be made like it and be of one piece with it, of gold, blue and purple and scarlet yarns, and fine twined linen. <sup>9</sup>You shall take two onyx stones, and engrave on them the names of the sons of Israel, <sup>10</sup>six of their names on the one stone, and the names of the remaining six on the other stone, in the order of their birth. <sup>11</sup>As a jeweler engraves signets, so shall you engrave the two stones with the names of the sons of Israel. You shall enclose them in settings of gold filigree. <sup>12</sup>And you shall set the two stones on the shoulder pieces of the ephod, as stones of remembrance for the sons of Israel. And Aaron shall bear their names before the LORD on his two shoulders for remembrance. <sup>13</sup>You shall make settings of gold filigree, <sup>14</sup>and two chains of pure gold, twisted like cords; and you shall attach the corded chains to the settings.

like cords, of pure gold. <sup>23</sup>And you shall make for the breastpiece two rings of gold, and put the two rings on the two edges of the breastpiece. <sup>24</sup>And you shall put the two cords of gold in the two rings at the edges of the breastpiece. <sup>25</sup>The two ends of the two cords you shall attach to the two settings of filigree, and so attach it in front to the shoulder pieces of the ephod. <sup>26</sup>You shall make two rings of gold, and put them at the two ends of the breastpiece, on its inside edge next to the ephod. <sup>27</sup>And you shall make two rings of gold, and attach them in front to the lower part of the two shoulder pieces of the ephod, at its seam above the skillfully woven band of the ephod. <sup>28</sup>And they shall bind the breastpiece by its rings to the rings of the ephod with a lace of blue, so that it may lie on the skillfully woven band of the ephod, so that the breastpiece shall not come loose from the ephod. <sup>29</sup>So Aaron shall bear the names of the sons of Israel in the breastpiece of judgment on his heart, when he goes into the Holy Place, to bring them to regular remembrance before the LORD. <sup>30</sup>†And in the breastpiece of judgment you shall put the Urim and the Thummim, and they shall be on Aaron's heart, when he goes in before the LORD. Thus Aaron shall bear the judgment of the people of Israel on his heart before the LORD regularly.

<sup>40</sup>†“For Aaron's sons you shall make coats and sashes and caps. You shall make them for glory and beauty. <sup>41</sup>And you shall put them on Aaron your brother, and on his sons with him, and shall anoint them and ordain them and consecrate them, that they may serve me as priests. <sup>42</sup>You shall make for them linen undergarments to cover their naked flesh. They shall reach from the hips to the thighs; <sup>43</sup>and they shall be on Aaron and on his sons when they go into the tent of meeting or when they come near the altar to minister in the Holy Place, lest they bear guilt and die. This shall be a statute forever for him and for his offspring after him.

Consecration of the Priests

EXODUS 29 †“Now this is what you shall do to them to consecrate them, that they may serve me as priests. Take one bull of the herd and two rams without blemish, <sup>2</sup>and unleavened bread, unleavened cakes mixed with oil, and unleavened wafers smeared with oil. You shall make them of fine wheat flour. <sup>3</sup>You shall put them in one basket and bring them in the basket, and bring the bull and the two rams. <sup>4</sup>You shall bring Aaron and his sons to the entrance of the tent of meeting and wash them with water. <sup>5</sup>Then you shall take the garments, and put on Aaron the coat and the robe of the ephod, and the ephod, and the breastpiece, and gird him with the skillfully woven band of the ephod. <sup>6</sup>And you shall set the turban on his head and put the holy crown on the turban. <sup>7</sup>You shall take the anointing oil and pour it on his head and anoint him. <sup>8</sup>Then you shall bring his sons and put coats on them, <sup>9</sup>and you shall gird Aaron and his sons with sashes and bind caps on them. And the priesthood shall be theirs by a statute forever. Thus you shall ordain Aaron and his sons.

and throw the rest of the blood against the sides of the altar. <sup>21</sup>Then you shall take part of the blood that is on the altar, and of the anointing oil, and sprinkle it on Aaron and his garments, and on his sons and his sons' garments with him. He and his garments shall be holy, and his sons and his sons' garments with him.

<sup>22</sup>“You shall also take the fat from the ram and the fat tail and the fat that covers the entrails, and the long lobe of the liver and the two kidneys with the fat that is on them, and the right thigh (for it is a ram of ordination), <sup>23</sup>and one loaf of bread and one cake of bread made with oil, and one wafer out of the basket of unleavened bread that is before the LORD. <sup>24</sup>You shall put all these on the palms of Aaron and on the palms of his sons, and wave them for a wave offering before the LORD. <sup>25</sup>Then you shall take them from their hands and burn them on the altar on top of the burnt offering, as a pleasing aroma before the LORD. It is a food offering to the LORD.

<sup>26</sup>“You shall take the breast of the ram of Aaron's ordination and wave it for a wave offering before the LORD, and it shall be your portion. <sup>27</sup>‡And you shall consecrate the breast of the wave offering that is waved and the thigh of the priests' portion that is contributed from the ram of ordination, from what was Aaron's and his sons'. <sup>28</sup>It shall be for Aaron and his sons as a perpetual due from the people of Israel, for it is a contribution. It shall be a contribution from the people of Israel from their peace offerings, their contribution to the LORD.

<sup>29</sup>“The holy garments of Aaron shall be for his sons after him; they shall be anointed in them and ordained in them. <sup>30</sup>The son who succeeds him as priest, who comes into the tent of meeting to minister in the Holy Place, shall wear them seven days.

<sup>35</sup>“Thus you shall do to Aaron and to his sons, according to all that I have commanded you. Through seven days shall you ordain them, <sup>36</sup>and every day you shall offer a bull as a sin offering for atonement. Also you shall purify the altar, when you make atonement for it, and shall anoint it to consecrate it.

<sup>37</sup>Seven days you shall make atonement for the altar and consecrate it, and the altar shall be most holy. Whatever touches the altar shall become holy.

<sup>38</sup>“Now this is what you shall offer on the altar: two lambs a year old day by day regularly. <sup>39</sup>One lamb you shall offer in the morning, and the other lamb you shall offer at twilight. <sup>40</sup>†And with the first lamb a tenth seah [3] of fine flour mingled with a fourth of a hin [4] of beaten oil, and a fourth of a hin of wine for a drink offering. <sup>41</sup>The other lamb you shall offer at twilight, and shall offer with it a grain offering and its drink offering, as in the morning, for a pleasing aroma, a food offering to the LORD. <sup>42</sup>†It shall be a regular burnt offering throughout your generations at the entrance of the tent of meeting before the LORD, where I will meet with you, to speak to you there. <sup>43</sup>There I will meet with the people of Israel, and it shall be sanctified by my glory. <sup>44</sup>I will consecrate the tent of meeting and the altar. Aaron also and his sons I will consecrate to serve me as priests. <sup>45</sup>†I will dwell among the people of Israel and will be their God. <sup>46</sup>And they shall know that I am the LORD their God, who brought them out of the land of Egypt that I might dwell among them. I am the LORD their God.

The Altar of Incense

EXODUS 30 †“You shall make an altar on which to burn incense; you shall make it of acacia wood. <sup>2</sup>A cubit [1] shall be its length, and a cubit its breadth. It shall be square, and two cubits shall be its height. Its horns shall be of one piece with it. <sup>3</sup>You shall overlay it with pure gold, its top and around its sides and its horns. And you shall make a molding of gold around it. <sup>4</sup>And you shall make two golden rings for it. Under its molding on two opposite sides of it you shall make them, and they shall be holders for poles with which to carry it. <sup>5</sup>You shall make the poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold. <sup>6</sup>†And you shall put it in front of the veil that is above the ark of the testimony, in front of the mercy seat that is above the testimony, where I will meet with you. <sup>7</sup>And Aaron shall burn fragrant incense on it. Every morning when he dresses the lamps he shall burn it, <sup>8</sup>and when Aaron sets up the lamps at twilight, he shall burn it, a regular incense offering before the LORD throughout your generations. <sup>9</sup>†You shall not offer unauthorized incense on it, or a burnt offering, or a grain offering, and you shall not pour a drink offering on it. <sup>10</sup>Aaron shall make atonement on its horns once a year. With the blood of the sin offering of atonement he shall make atonement for it once in the year throughout your generations. It is most holy to the LORD.”

The Census Tax

<sup>11</sup>The LORD said to Moses, <sup>12</sup>†“When you take the census of the people of Israel, then each shall give a ransom for his life to the LORD when you number them, that there be no plague among them when you number them. <sup>13</sup>†Each one who is numbered in the census shall give this: half a shekel [2] according to the shekel of the sanctuary (the shekel is twenty gerahs), [3] half a shekel as an offering to the LORD. <sup>14</sup>Everyone who is numbered in the census, from twenty years old and upward, shall give the LORD's offering. <sup>15</sup>The rich shall not give more, and the poor shall not give less, than the half shekel, when you give the LORD's offering to make atonement for your lives. <sup>16</sup>You shall take the atonement money from the people of Israel and shall give it for the service of the tent of meeting, that it may bring the people of Israel to remembrance before the LORD, so as to make atonement for your lives.”

The Bronze Basin

stand of bronze, for washing. You shall put it between the tent of meeting and the altar, and you shall put water in it, <sup>19</sup>with which Aaron and his sons shall wash their hands and their feet. <sup>20</sup>When they go into the tent of meeting, or when they come near the altar to minister, to burn a food offering [4] to the LORD, they shall wash with water, so that they may not die. <sup>21</sup>They shall wash their hands and their feet, so that they may not die. It shall be a statute forever to them, even to him and to his offspring throughout their generations.”

The Anointing Oil and Incense

Oholiab and Bezalel

EXODUS 31 †The LORD said to Moses, <sup>2</sup>“See, I have called by name Bezalel the son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, <sup>3</sup>and I have filled him with the Spirit of God, with ability and intelligence, with knowledge and all craftsmanship, <sup>4</sup>to devise artistic designs, to work in gold, silver, and bronze, <sup>5</sup>in cutting stones for setting, and in carving wood, to work in every craft. <sup>6</sup>And behold, I have appointed with him Oholiab, the son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan. And I have given to all able men ability, that they may make all that I have commanded you: <sup>7</sup>the tent of meeting, and the ark of the testimony, and the mercy seat that is on it, and all the furnishings of the tent, <sup>8</sup>the table and its utensils, and the pure lampstand with all its utensils, and the altar of incense, <sup>9</sup>and the altar of burnt offering with all its utensils, and the basin and its stand, <sup>10</sup>and the finely worked garments, [1] the holy garments for Aaron the priest and the garments of his sons, for their service as priests, <sup>11</sup>and the anointing oil and the fragrant incense for the Holy Place. According to all that I have commanded you, they shall do.”

The Sabbath

<sup>12</sup>†And the LORD said to Moses, <sup>13</sup>“You are to speak to the people of Israel and say, ‘Above all you shall keep my Sabbaths, for this is a sign between me and you throughout your generations, that you may know that I, the LORD, sanctify you. <sup>14</sup>You shall keep the Sabbath, because it is holy for you. Everyone who profanes it shall be put to death. Whoever does any work on it, that soul shall be cut off from among his people. <sup>15</sup>Six days shall work be done, but the seventh day is a Sabbath of solemn rest, holy to the LORD. Whoever does any work on the Sabbath day shall be put to death. <sup>16</sup>Therefore the people of Israel shall keep the Sabbath, observing the Sabbath throughout their generations, as a covenant forever. <sup>17</sup>It is a sign forever between me and the people of Israel that in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, and on the seventh day he rested and was refreshed.’”

<sup>18</sup>†And he gave to Moses, when he had finished speaking with him on Mount Sinai, the two tablets of the testimony, tablets of stone, written with the finger of God.

The Golden Calf

EXODUS 32 †When the people saw that Moses delayed to come down from the mountain, the people gathered themselves together to Aaron and said to him, “Up, make us gods who shall go before us. As for this Moses, the man who brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.” <sup>2</sup>So Aaron said to them, “Take off the rings of gold that are in the ears of your wives, your sons, and your daughters, and bring them to me.” <sup>3</sup>So all the people took off the rings of gold that were in their ears and brought them to Aaron. <sup>4</sup>†And he received the gold from their hand and fashioned it with a graving tool and made a golden [1] calf. And they said, “These are your gods, O Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt!” <sup>5</sup>†When Aaron saw this, he built an altar before it. And Aaron made proclamation and said, “Tomorrow shall be a feast to the LORD.” <sup>6</sup>†And they rose up early the next day and offered burnt offerings and brought peace offerings. And the people sat down to eat and drink and rose up to play.

<sup>7</sup>†And the LORD said to Moses, “Go down, for your people, whom you brought up out of the land of Egypt, have corrupted themselves. <sup>8</sup>They have turned aside quickly out of the way that I commanded them. They have made for themselves a golden calf and have worshiped it and sacrificed to it and said, ‘These are your gods, O Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt!’” <sup>9</sup>And the LORD said to Moses, “I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stiff-necked people. <sup>10</sup>†Now therefore let me alone, that my wrath may burn hot against them and I may consume them, in order that I may make a great nation of you.”

the testimony in his hand, tablets that were written on both sides; on the front and on the back they were written. <sup>16</sup>The tablets were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, engraved on the tablets. <sup>17</sup>When Joshua heard the noise of the people as they shouted, he said to Moses, “There is a noise of war in the camp.” <sup>18</sup>But he said, “It is not the sound of shouting for victory, or the sound of the cry of defeat, but the sound of singing that I hear.” <sup>19</sup>† And as soon as he came near the camp and saw the calf and the dancing, Moses' anger burned hot, and he threw the tablets out of his hands and broke them at the foot of the mountain. <sup>20</sup>He took the calf that they had made and burned it with fire and ground it to powder and scattered it on the water and made the people of Israel drink it.

<sup>21</sup>And Moses said to Aaron, “What did this people do to you that you have brought such a great sin upon them?” <sup>22</sup>† And Aaron said, “Let not the anger of my lord burn hot. You know the people, that they are set on evil. <sup>23</sup>† For they said to me, ‘Make us gods who shall go before us. As for this Moses, the man who brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.’ <sup>24</sup>So I said to them, ‘Let any who have gold take it off.’ So they gave it to me, and I threw it into the fire, and out came this calf.”

<sup>30</sup>The next day Moses said to the people, “You have sinned a great sin. And now I will go up to the LORD; perhaps I can make atonement for your sin.” <sup>31</sup>So Moses returned to the LORD and said, “Alas, this people has sinned a great sin. They have made for themselves gods of gold. <sup>32</sup>† But now, if you will forgive their sin—but if not, please blot me out of your book that you have written.” <sup>33</sup>But the LORD said to Moses, “Whoever has sinned against me, I will blot out of my book. <sup>34</sup>But now go, lead the people to the place about which I have spoken to you; behold, my angel shall go before you. Nevertheless, in the day when I visit, I will visit their sin upon them.”

<sup>35</sup>Then the LORD sent a plague on the people, because they made the calf, the one that Aaron made.

The Command to Leave Sinai

EXODUS 33 The LORD said to Moses, “Depart; go up from here, you and the people whom you have brought up out of the land of Egypt, to the land of which I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying, ‘To your offspring I will give it.’<sup>2</sup> †I will send an angel before you, and I will drive out the Canaanites, the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites.<sup>3</sup> Go up to a land flowing with milk and honey; but I will not go up among you, lest I consume you on the way, for you are a stiff-necked people.”

<sup>4</sup>When the people heard this disastrous word, they mourned, and no one put on his ornaments.<sup>5</sup> For the LORD had said to Moses, “Say to the people of Israel, ‘You are a stiff-necked people; if for a single moment I should go up among you, I would consume you. So now take off your ornaments, that I may know what to do with you.’”<sup>6</sup> Therefore the people of Israel stripped themselves of their ornaments, from Mount Horeb onward.

The Tent of Meeting

<sup>7</sup> †Now Moses used to take the tent and pitch it outside the camp, far off from the camp, and he called it the tent of meeting. And everyone who sought the LORD would go out to the tent of meeting, which was outside the camp.<sup>8</sup> Whenever Moses went out to the tent, all the people would rise up, and each would stand at his tent door, and watch Moses until he had gone into the tent.<sup>9</sup> When Moses entered the tent, the pillar of cloud would descend and stand at the entrance of the tent, and the LORD [1] would speak with Moses.<sup>10</sup> And when all the people saw the pillar of cloud standing at the entrance of the tent, all the people would rise up and worship, each at his tent door.<sup>11</sup> Thus the LORD used to speak to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend. When Moses turned again into the camp, his assistant Joshua the son of Nun, a young man, would not depart from the tent.

Moses' Intercession

<sup>12</sup> †Moses said to the LORD, “See, you say to me, ‘Bring up this people,’ but you have not let me know whom you will send with me. Yet you have said, ‘I know you by name, and you have also found favor in my sight.’<sup>13</sup> Now therefore, if I have found favor in your sight, please show me now your ways, that I may know you in order to find favor in your sight. Consider too that this nation is your people.” <sup>14</sup>And he said, “My presence will go with you, and I will give you rest.” <sup>15</sup>And he said to him, “If your presence will not go with me, do not bring us up from here. <sup>16</sup>For how shall it be known that I have found favor in your sight, I and your people? Is it not in your going with us, so that we are distinct, I and your people, from every other people on the face of the earth?”

<sup>17</sup>And the LORD said to Moses, “This very thing that you have spoken I will do, for you have found favor in my sight, and I know you by name.” <sup>18</sup>‡Moses said, “Please show me your glory.” <sup>19</sup>‡And he said, “I will make all my goodness pass before you and will proclaim before you my name ‘The LORD.’ And I will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will show mercy on whom I will show mercy. <sup>20</sup>But,” he said, “you cannot see my face, for man shall not see me and live.” <sup>21</sup>And the LORD said, “Behold, there is a place by me where you shall stand on the rock, <sup>22</sup>and while my glory passes by I will put you in a cleft of the rock, and I will cover you with my hand until I have passed by. <sup>23</sup>Then I will take away my hand, and you shall see my back, but my face shall not be seen.”

Moses Makes New Tablets

EXODUS 34 †The LORD said to Moses, “Cut for yourself two tablets of stone like the first, and I will write on the tablets the words that were on the first tablets, which you broke. <sup>2</sup>‡Be ready by the morning, and come up in the morning to Mount Sinai, and present yourself there to me on the top of the mountain. <sup>3</sup>No one shall come up with you, and let no one be seen throughout all the mountain. Let no flocks or herds graze opposite that mountain.” <sup>4</sup>So Moses cut two tablets of stone like the first. And he rose early in the morning and went up on Mount Sinai, as the LORD had commanded him, and took in his hand two tablets of stone. <sup>5</sup>The LORD descended in the cloud and stood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the LORD. <sup>6</sup>‡The LORD passed before him and proclaimed, “The LORD, the LORD, a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness, <sup>7</sup>†keeping steadfast love for thousands, [1] forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, but who will by no means clear the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children and the children's children, to the third and the fourth generation.” <sup>8</sup>And Moses quickly bowed his head toward the earth and worshiped. <sup>9</sup>And he said, “If now I have found favor in your sight, O Lord, please let the Lord go in the midst of us, for it is a stiff-necked people, and pardon our iniquity and our sin, and take us for your inheritance.”

The Covenant Renewed

<sup>10</sup>And he said, “Behold, I am making a covenant. Before all your people I will do marvels, such as have not been created in all the earth or in any nation. And all the people among whom you are shall see the work of the LORD, for it is an awesome thing that I will do with you.

<sup>11</sup>†“Observe what I command you this day. Behold, I will drive out before you the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. <sup>12</sup>‡Take care, lest you make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land to which you go, lest it become a snare in your midst. <sup>13</sup>You shall tear down their altars and break their pillars and cut down their Asherim <sup>14</sup>(for you shall worship no other god, for the LORD, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God), <sup>15</sup>lest you make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land, and when they whore after their gods and sacrifice to their gods and you are invited, you eat of his sacrifice, <sup>16</sup>and you take of their daughters for your sons, and their daughters whore after their gods and make your sons whore after their gods.

<sup>18</sup>†“You shall keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread. Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, as I commanded you, at the time appointed in the month Abib, for in the month Abib you came out from Egypt. <sup>19</sup>†All that open the womb are mine, all your male [2] livestock, the firstborn of cow and sheep. <sup>20</sup>The firstborn of a donkey you shall redeem with a lamb, or if you will not redeem it you shall break its neck. All the firstborn of your sons you shall redeem. And none shall appear before me empty-handed.

<sup>21</sup>†“Six days you shall work, but on the seventh day you shall rest. In plowing time and in harvest you shall rest. <sup>22</sup>†You shall observe the Feast of Weeks, the firstfruits of wheat harvest, and the Feast of Ingathering at the year's end. <sup>23</sup>Three times in the year shall all your males appear before the LORD God, the God of Israel. <sup>24</sup>For I will cast out nations before you and enlarge your borders; no one shall covet your land, when you go up to appear before the LORD your God three times in the year.

<sup>27</sup>And the LORD said to Moses, “Write these words, for in accordance with these words I have made a covenant with you and with Israel.” <sup>28</sup>So he was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights. He neither ate bread nor drank water. And he wrote on the tablets the words of the covenant, the Ten Commandments. [3]

The Shining Face of Moses

<sup>29</sup>†When Moses came down from Mount Sinai, with the two tablets of the testimony in his hand as he came down from the mountain, Moses did not know that the skin of his face shone because he had been talking with God. [4] <sup>30</sup>Aaron and all the people of Israel saw Moses, and behold, the skin of his face shone, and they were afraid to come near him. <sup>31</sup>But Moses called to them, and Aaron and all the leaders of the congregation returned to him, and Moses talked with them. <sup>32</sup>Afterward all the people of Israel came near, and he commanded them all that the LORD had spoken with him in Mount Sinai. <sup>33</sup>And when Moses had finished speaking with them, he put a veil over his face.

<sup>34</sup>Whenever Moses went in before the LORD to speak with him, he would remove the veil, until he came out. And when he came out and told the people of Israel what he was commanded, <sup>35</sup>the people of Israel would see the face of Moses, that the skin of Moses' face was shining. And Moses would put the veil over his face again, until he went in to speak with him.

Sabbath Regulations

EXODUS 35 ¶ Moses assembled all the congregation of the people of Israel and said to them, “These are the things that the LORD has commanded you to do. <sup>2</sup>Six days work shall be done, but on the seventh day you shall have a Sabbath of solemn rest, holy to the LORD. Whoever does any work on it shall be put to death. <sup>3</sup>You shall kindle no fire in all your dwelling places on the Sabbath day.”

Contributions for the Tabernacle

<sup>4</sup>¶ Moses said to all the congregation of the people of Israel, “This is the thing that the LORD has commanded. <sup>5</sup>Take from among you a contribution to the LORD. Whoever is of a generous heart, let him bring the LORD's contribution: gold, silver, and bronze; <sup>6</sup>blue and purple and scarlet yarns and fine twined linen; goats' hair, <sup>7</sup>tanned rams' skins, and goatskins; [1] acacia wood, <sup>8</sup>oil for the light, spices for the anointing oil and for the fragrant incense, <sup>9</sup>and onyx stones and stones for setting, for the ephod and for the breastpiece.

<sup>10</sup>¶ “Let every skillful craftsman among you come and make all that the LORD has commanded: <sup>11</sup>the tabernacle, its tent and its covering, its hooks and its frames, its bars, its pillars, and its bases; <sup>12</sup>the ark with its poles, the mercy seat, and the veil of the screen; <sup>13</sup>the table with its poles and all its utensils, and the bread of the Presence; <sup>14</sup>the lampstand also for the light, with its utensils and its lamps, and the oil for the light; <sup>15</sup>and the altar of incense, with its poles, and the anointing oil and the fragrant incense, and the screen for the door, at the door of the tabernacle; <sup>16</sup>the altar of burnt offering, with its grating of bronze, its poles, and all its utensils, the basin and its stand; <sup>17</sup>the hangings of the court, its pillars and its bases, and the screen for the gate of the court; <sup>18</sup>the pegs of the tabernacle and the pegs of the court, and their cords; <sup>19</sup>the finely worked garments for ministering [2] in the Holy Place, the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, for their service as priests.”

<sup>20</sup>¶ Then all the congregation of the people of Israel departed from the presence of Moses. <sup>21</sup>And they came, everyone whose heart stirred him, and everyone whose spirit moved him, and brought the LORD's contribution to be used for the tent of meeting, and for all its service, and for the holy garments. <sup>22</sup>So they came, both men and women. All who were of a willing heart brought brooches and earrings and signet rings and armlets, all sorts of gold objects, every man dedicating an offering of gold to the LORD. <sup>23</sup>And every one who possessed blue or purple or scarlet yarns or fine linen or goats' hair or tanned rams' skins or goatskins brought them. <sup>24</sup>Everyone who could make a contribution of silver or bronze brought it as the LORD's contribution. And every one who possessed acacia wood of any use in the work brought it. <sup>25</sup>And every skillful woman spun with her hands, and they all brought what they had spun in blue and purple and scarlet yarns and fine twined linen. <sup>26</sup>All the women whose hearts stirred them to use their skill spun the goats' hair. <sup>27</sup>And the leaders brought onyx stones and stones to be set, for the ephod and for the breastpiece, <sup>28</sup>and spices and oil for the light, and for the anointing oil, and for the fragrant incense. <sup>29</sup>All the men and women, the people of Israel, whose heart moved them to bring anything for the work that the LORD had commanded by Moses to be done brought it as a freewill offering to the LORD.

Construction of the Tabernacle

<sup>30</sup>‡Then Moses said to the people of Israel, “See, the LORD has called by name Bezalel the son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah; <sup>31</sup>and he has filled him with the Spirit of God, with skill, with intelligence, with knowledge, and with all craftsmanship, <sup>32</sup>to devise artistic designs, to work in gold and silver and bronze, <sup>33</sup>in cutting stones for setting, and in carving wood, for work in every skilled craft. <sup>34</sup>And he has inspired him to teach, both him and Oholiab the son of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan. <sup>35</sup>He has filled them with skill to do every sort of work done by an engraver or by a designer or by an embroiderer in blue and purple and scarlet yarns and fine twined linen, or by a weaver—by any sort of workman or skilled designer.

EXODUS 36 “Bezalel and Oholiab and every craftsman in whom the LORD has put skill and intelligence to know how to do any work in the construction of the sanctuary shall work in accordance with all that the LORD has commanded.”

<sup>2</sup>‡And Moses called Bezalel and Oholiab and every craftsman in whose mind the LORD had put skill, everyone whose heart stirred him up to come to do the work. <sup>3</sup>And they received from Moses all the contribution that the people of Israel had brought for doing the work on the sanctuary. They still kept bringing him freewill offerings every morning, <sup>4</sup>so that all the craftsmen who were doing every sort of task on the sanctuary came, each from the task that he was doing, <sup>5</sup>and said to Moses, “The people bring much more than enough for doing the work that the LORD has commanded us to do.” <sup>6</sup>So Moses gave command, and word was proclaimed throughout the camp, “Let no man or woman do anything more for the contribution for the sanctuary.” So the people were restrained from bringing, <sup>7</sup>for the material they had was sufficient to do all the work, and more.

<sup>8</sup>‡‡And all the craftsmen among the workmen made the tabernacle with ten curtains. They were made of fine twined linen and blue and purple and scarlet yarns, with cherubim skillfully worked. <sup>9</sup>The length of each curtain was twenty-eight cubits, [1] and the breadth of each curtain four cubits. All the curtains were the same size.

<sup>14</sup>He also made curtains of goats' hair for a tent over the tabernacle. He made eleven curtains. <sup>15</sup>The length of each curtain was thirty cubits, and the breadth of each curtain four cubits. The eleven curtains were the same size. <sup>16</sup>He coupled five curtains by themselves, and six curtains by themselves. <sup>17</sup>And he made fifty loops on the edge of the outermost curtain of the one set, and fifty loops on the edge of the other connecting curtain. <sup>18</sup>And he made fifty clasps of bronze to couple the tent together that it might be a single whole. <sup>19</sup>And he made for the tent a covering of tanned rams' skins and goatskins.

<sup>35</sup>He made the veil of blue and purple and scarlet yarns and fine twined linen; with cherubim skillfully worked into it he made it. <sup>36</sup>And for it he made four pillars of acacia and overlaid them with gold. Their hooks were of gold, and he cast for them four bases of silver. <sup>37</sup>He also made a screen for the entrance of the tent, of blue and purple and scarlet yarns and fine twined linen, embroidered with needlework, <sup>38</sup>and its five pillars with their hooks. He overlaid their capitals, and their fillets were of gold, but their five bases were of bronze.

Making the Ark

EXODUS 37 †Bezalel made the ark of acacia wood. Two cubits [1] and a half was its length, a cubit and a half its breadth, and a cubit and a half its height. <sup>2</sup>And he overlaid it with pure gold inside and outside, and made a molding of gold around it. <sup>3</sup>And he cast for it four rings of gold for its four feet, two rings on its one side and two rings on its other side. <sup>4</sup>And he made poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold <sup>5</sup>and put the poles into the rings on the sides of the ark to carry the ark. <sup>6</sup>And he made a mercy seat of pure gold. Two cubits and a half was its length, and a cubit and a half its breadth. <sup>7</sup>And he made two cherubim of gold. He made them of hammered work on the two ends of the mercy seat, <sup>8</sup>one cherub on the one end, and one cherub on the other end. Of one piece with the mercy seat he made the cherubim on its two ends. <sup>9</sup>The cherubim spread out their wings above, overshadowing the mercy seat with their wings, with their faces one to another; toward the mercy seat were the faces of the cherubim.

Making the Table

<sup>10</sup>†He also made the table of acacia wood. Two cubits was its length, a cubit its breadth, and a cubit and a half its height. <sup>11</sup>And he overlaid it with pure gold, and made a molding of gold around it. <sup>12</sup>And he made a rim around it a handbreadth [2] wide, and made a molding of gold around the rim. <sup>13</sup>He cast for it four rings of gold and fastened the rings to the four corners at its four legs. <sup>14</sup>Close to the frame were the rings, as holders for the poles to carry the table. <sup>15</sup>He made the poles of acacia wood to carry the table, and overlaid them with gold. <sup>16</sup>And he made the vessels of pure gold that were to be on the table, its plates and dishes for incense, and its bowls and flagons with which to pour drink offerings.

Making the Lampstand

<sup>17</sup>†He also made the lampstand of pure gold. He made the lampstand of hammered work. Its base, its stem, its cups, its calyxes, and its flowers were of one piece with it. <sup>18</sup>And there were six branches going out of its sides, three branches of the lampstand out of one side of it and three branches of the lampstand out of the other side of it; <sup>19</sup>three cups made like almond blossoms, each with calyx and flower, on one branch, and three cups made like almond blossoms, each with calyx and flower, on the other branch—so for the six branches going out of the lampstand. <sup>20</sup>And on the lampstand itself were four cups made like almond blossoms, with their calyxes and flowers, <sup>21</sup>and a calyx of one piece with it under each pair of the six branches going out of it. <sup>22</sup>Their calyxes and their branches were of one piece with it. The whole of it was a single piece of hammered work of pure gold. <sup>23</sup>And he made its seven lamps and its tongs and its trays of pure gold. <sup>24</sup>He made it and all its utensils out of a talent [3] of pure gold.

Making the Altar of Incense

<sup>25</sup>‡He made the altar of incense of acacia wood. Its length was a cubit, and its breadth was a cubit. It was square, and two cubits was its height. Its horns were of one piece with it. <sup>26</sup>He overlaid it with pure gold, its top and around its sides and its horns. And he made a molding of gold around it, <sup>27</sup>and made two rings of gold on it under its molding, on two opposite sides of it, as holders for the poles with which to carry it. <sup>28</sup>And he made the poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold.

<sup>29</sup>‡He made the holy anointing oil also, and the pure fragrant incense, blended as by the perfumer.

Making the Altar of Burnt Offering

EXODUS 38 †He made the altar of burnt offering of acacia wood. Five cubits [1] was its length, and five cubits its breadth. It was square, and three cubits was its height. <sup>2</sup>He made horns for it on its four corners. Its horns were of one piece with it, and he overlaid it with bronze. <sup>3</sup>And he made all the utensils of the altar, the pots, the shovels, the basins, the forks, and the fire pans. He made all its utensils of bronze. <sup>4</sup>And he made for the altar a grating, a network of bronze, under its ledge, extending halfway down. <sup>5</sup>He cast four rings on the four corners of the bronze grating as holders for the poles. <sup>6</sup>He made the poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with bronze. <sup>7</sup>And he put the poles through the rings on the sides of the altar to carry it with them. He made it hollow, with boards.

Making the Bronze Basin

<sup>8</sup>†He made the basin of bronze and its stand of bronze, from the mirrors of the ministering women who ministered in the entrance of the tent of meeting.

Making the Court

<sup>9</sup>†And he made the court. For the south side the hangings of the court were of fine twined linen, a hundred cubits; <sup>10</sup>their twenty pillars and their twenty bases were of bronze, but the hooks of the pillars and their fillets were of silver. <sup>11</sup>And for the north side there were hangings of a hundred cubits, their twenty pillars, their twenty bases were of bronze, but the hooks of the pillars and their fillets were of silver. <sup>12</sup>And for the west side were hangings of fifty cubits, their ten pillars, and their ten bases; the hooks of the pillars and their fillets were of silver. <sup>13</sup>And for the front to the east, fifty cubits. <sup>14</sup>The hangings for one side of the gate were fifteen cubits, with their three pillars and three bases. <sup>15</sup>And so for the other side. On both sides of the gate of the court were hangings of fifteen cubits, with their three pillars and their three bases. <sup>16</sup>All the hangings around the court were of fine twined linen. <sup>17</sup>And the bases for the pillars were of bronze, but the hooks of the pillars and their fillets were of silver. The overlaying of their capitals was also of silver, and all the pillars of the court were filleted with silver. <sup>18</sup>And the screen for the gate of the court was embroidered with needlework in blue and purple and scarlet yarns and fine twined linen. It was twenty cubits long and five cubits high in its breadth, corresponding to the hangings of the court. <sup>19</sup>And their pillars were four in number. Their four bases were of bronze, their hooks of silver, and the overlaying of their capitals and their fillets of silver.

Materials for the Tabernacle

Making the Priestly Garments

EXODUS 39 †† From the blue and purple and scarlet yarns they made finely woven garments, [1] for ministering in the Holy Place. They made the holy garments for Aaron, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

2† He made the ephod of gold, blue and purple and scarlet yarns, and fine twined linen. 3† And they hammered out gold leaf, and he cut it into threads to work into the blue and purple and the scarlet yarns, and into the fine twined linen, in skilled design. 4 They made for the ephod attaching shoulder pieces, joined to it at its two edges. 5 And the skillfully woven band on it was of one piece with it and made like it, of gold, blue and purple and scarlet yarns, and fine twined linen, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

6 They made the onyx stones, enclosed in settings of gold filigree, and engraved like the engravings of a signet, according to the names of the sons of Israel. 7 And he set them on the shoulder pieces of the ephod to be stones of remembrance for the sons of Israel, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

8† He made the breastpiece, in skilled work, in the style of the ephod, of gold, blue and purple and scarlet yarns, and fine twined linen. 9 It was square. They made the breastpiece doubled, a span [2] its length and a span its breadth when doubled. 10 And they set in it four rows of stones. A row of sardius, topaz, and carbuncle was the first row; 11 and the second row, an emerald, a sapphire, and a diamond; 12 and the third row, a jacinth, an agate, and an amethyst; 13 and the fourth row, a beryl, an onyx, and a jasper. They were enclosed in settings of gold filigree. 14 There were twelve stones with their names according to the names of the sons of Israel. They were like signets, each engraved with its name, for the twelve tribes. 15 And they made on the breastpiece twisted chains like cords, of pure gold. 16 And they made two settings of gold filigree and two gold rings, and put the two rings on the two edges of the breastpiece. 17 And they put the two cords of gold in the two rings at the edges of the breastpiece. 18 They attached the two ends of the two cords to the two settings of filigree. Thus they attached it in front to the shoulder pieces of the ephod. 19 Then they made two rings of gold, and put them at the two ends of the breastpiece, on its inside edge next to the ephod. 20 And they made two rings of gold, and attached them in front to the lower part of the two shoulder pieces of the ephod, at its seam above the skillfully woven band of the ephod. 21 And they bound the breastpiece by its rings to the rings of the ephod with a lace of blue, so that it should lie on the skillfully woven band of the ephod, and that the breastpiece should not come loose from the ephod, as the LORD had commanded Moses.

<sup>32</sup>†Thus all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting was finished, and the people of Israel did according to all that the LORD had commanded Moses; so they did. <sup>33</sup>†Then they brought the tabernacle to Moses, the tent and all its utensils, its hooks, its frames, its bars, its pillars, and its bases; <sup>34</sup>the covering of tanned rams' skins and goatskins, and the veil of the screen; <sup>35</sup>the ark of the testimony with its poles and the mercy seat; <sup>36</sup>the table with all its utensils, and the bread of the Presence; <sup>37</sup>the lampstand of pure gold and its lamps with the lamps set and all its utensils, and the oil for the light; <sup>38</sup>the golden altar, the anointing oil and the fragrant incense, and the screen for the entrance of the tent; <sup>39</sup>the bronze altar, and its grating of bronze, its poles, and all its utensils; the basin and its stand; <sup>40</sup>the hangings of the court, its pillars, and its bases, and the screen for the gate of the court, its cords, and its pegs; and all the utensils for the service of the tabernacle, for the tent of meeting; <sup>41</sup>the finely worked garments for ministering in the Holy Place, the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons for their service as priests. <sup>42</sup>†According to all that the LORD had commanded Moses, so the people of Israel had done all the work. <sup>43</sup>†And Moses saw all the work, and behold, they had done it; as the LORD had commanded, so had they done it. Then Moses blessed them.

The Tabernacle Erected

EXODUS 40 †The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>“On the first day of the first month you shall erect the tabernacle of the tent of meeting. <sup>3</sup>And you shall put in it the ark of the testimony, and you shall screen the ark with the veil. <sup>4</sup>And you shall bring in the table and arrange it, and you shall bring in the lampstand and set up its lamps. <sup>5</sup>And you shall put the golden altar for incense before the ark of the testimony, and set up the screen for the door of the tabernacle. <sup>6</sup>You shall set the altar of burnt offering before the door of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting, <sup>7</sup>and place the basin between the tent of meeting and the altar, and put water in it. <sup>8</sup>And you shall set up the court all around, and hang up the screen for the gate of the court.

<sup>9</sup>“Then you shall take the anointing oil and anoint the tabernacle and all that is in it, and consecrate it and all its furniture, so that it may become holy. <sup>10</sup>You shall also anoint the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils, and consecrate the altar, so that the altar may become most holy. <sup>11</sup>You shall also anoint the basin and its stand, and consecrate it. <sup>12</sup>Then you shall bring Aaron and his sons to the entrance of the tent of meeting and shall wash them with water <sup>13</sup>and put on Aaron the holy garments. And you shall anoint him and consecrate him, that he may serve me as priest. <sup>14</sup>You shall bring his sons also and put coats on them, <sup>15</sup>and anoint them, as you anointed their father, that they may serve me as priests. And their anointing shall admit them to a perpetual priesthood throughout their generations.”

<sup>16</sup>This Moses did; according to all that the LORD commanded him, so he did. <sup>17</sup>†In the first month in the second year, on the first day of the month, the tabernacle was erected. <sup>18</sup>Moses erected the tabernacle. He laid its bases, and set up its frames, and put in its poles, and raised up its pillars. <sup>19</sup>And he spread the tent over the tabernacle and put the covering of the tent over it, as the LORD had commanded Moses. <sup>20</sup>He took the testimony and put it into the ark, and put the poles on the ark and set the mercy seat above on the ark. <sup>21</sup>And he brought the ark into the tabernacle and set up the veil of the screen, and screened the ark of the testimony, as the LORD had commanded Moses. <sup>22</sup>He put the table in the tent of meeting, on the north side of the tabernacle, outside the veil, <sup>23</sup>and arranged the bread on it before the LORD, as the LORD had commanded Moses. <sup>24</sup>He put the lampstand in the tent of meeting, opposite the table on the south side of the tabernacle, <sup>25</sup>and set up the lamps before the LORD, as the LORD had commanded

Moses. <sup>26</sup>He put the golden altar in the tent of meeting before the veil, <sup>27</sup>and burned fragrant incense on it, as the LORD had commanded Moses. <sup>28</sup>He put in place the screen for the door of the tabernacle. <sup>29</sup>And he set the altar of burnt offering at the entrance of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting, and offered on it the burnt offering and the grain offering, as the LORD had commanded Moses. <sup>30</sup>He set the basin between the tent of meeting and the altar, and put water in it for washing, <sup>31</sup>with which Moses and Aaron and his sons washed their hands and their feet. <sup>32</sup>When they went into the tent of meeting, and when they approached the altar, they washed, as the LORD commanded Moses. <sup>33</sup>And he erected the court around the tabernacle and the altar, and set up the screen of the gate of the court. So Moses finished the work.

The Glory of the LORD

<sup>34</sup>†Then the cloud covered the tent of meeting, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle. <sup>35</sup>And Moses was not able to enter the tent of meeting because the cloud settled on it, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle. <sup>36</sup>†Throughout all their journeys, whenever the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the people of Israel would set out. <sup>37</sup>But if the cloud was not taken up, then they did not set out till the day that it was taken up. <sup>38</sup>For the cloud of the LORD was on the tabernacle by day, and fire was in it by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel throughout all their journeys.

Study Notes

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:1–12:36 This section recounts Israel’s final years in Egypt before the exodus.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:1–5 Genesis also reported the names and the number of Jacob’s descendants who came to Egypt (Gen. 35:23–26; 46:8–27).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:5 seventy persons. Cf. Gen. 46:8–27. Acts 7:14 reports 75 with the addition of five relatives of Joseph included in the LXX, but not the Hebrew text.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:6–8 This summary of a lengthy period of time moves the record from the death of Joseph (c. 1804 B.C.), the last recorded event in Genesis, to the radical change in Israel’s history, i.e., from favor before Egypt’s pharaoh to disfavor and enslavement (c. 1525–1445 B.C.).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:7 The growth of the nation (cf. 12:37) was phenomenal! It grew from 70 men to 603,000 males, 20 years of age and older, thus allowing for a total population of about 2 million (Num. 1:46) departing from Egypt. The seed of Abraham was no longer an extended family, but a nation. The promise that his descendants would be fruitful and multiply (Gen. 35:11–12) had indeed been fulfilled in Egypt.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:8 arose a new king. This king is either to be identified as one of the Hyksos kings (see Introduction) during a period of political disintegration, or as Pharaoh Amose I, founder of what archeologists have designated as the eighteenth Dynasty of the New Kingdom period in Egyptian history. It is probably best to take this new king, who did not know Joseph, as a Hyksos ruler. Furthermore, the term “arose” signifies “rose against,” which accords well with a foreign seizure of the Egyptian throne. The Hyksos (c. 1730–1570 B.C.) came from outside Egypt (cf. Acts 7:18).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:9–12 Another summary of a fairly lengthy period of time, as indicated by the population continuing to grow in spite of increasing hardship imposed on Israel.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:9 his people. An Egyptian pharaoh designated Israel as a nation, marking the first time the term “people” or “nation” is used of them.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:10–11 join our enemies . . . set taskmasters over them. Israel was assessed both as a threat to national security and as an economic asset—slavery would, therefore, control the danger and maximize their usefulness.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:11 store cities, Pithom and Raamses. Places where both provisions and military hardware were stored. Archeological identification has not been finally definitive, with some three to five options being put forward for them. Pithom is usually taken as a center of solar worship in northern Egypt, and Raamses as Qantir in the eastern delta region. In addition, the city might very well have been renamed under the reign of the later, powerful pharaoh, and that name was better known to Israel later on (cf. the case of Laish, or Leshem, renamed Dan in Gen. 14:14; Josh. 19:47; Judg. 18:29).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:12 the Egyptians. The native inhabitants continued to enslave Israel. Between vv. 12 and 13 a major change in Egyptian history took place—the Hyksos were driven out (c. 1570 B.C.).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:14 hard service, in mortar and brick. Archeologists have uncovered reliefs and paintings confirming the Egyptian practice of imposing forced labor on prisoners and slaves. These paintings also show foremen and guards watching construction work while scribes registered data on tablets.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:15–17 the midwives feared God. These brave, older women revered their God and therefore obeyed him and not man. They obviously understood that children were a gift from God and that murder was wrong. The two midwives mentioned by name were probably the leading representatives of their profession, for it is unlikely that such a burgeoning population had only two midwives to deal with all the births.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:15–16 The failure of rigorous bondage to suppress population growth necessitated that different measures be taken; hence, the royal order to the Hebrew midwives to murder male infants at birth.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:16 birthstool. Lit., “two stones” on which the women sat to deliver.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:19–20 Rather than trying to argue for a justifiable lie on the part of midwives seeking to protect God’s people, take it as a statement of what was true: God was directly involved in this affair of birth and national growth. That's the key to understanding why no decree of Pharaoh would work out as he intended it, and why Hebrew women were so healthy and gave birth with ease.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 1:22 The failure of the extermination program demanded of the midwives finally caused Pharaoh to demand that all his subjects get involved in murdering newborn boys.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:1–2 Since Moses was born soon after the general decree of 1:22 was given (c. 1525 B.C.), the issuer of the decree was Thutmose I.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:3–4 The careful actions of Moses' mother to construct the ark of bulrushes, to set Moses afloat close to the royal bathing place, and to have his sister watch to see what would happen, indicate a hope that something would work out right for the child.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:5 the daughter of Pharaoh. Identified possibly as Hatshepsut or another princess; in either case a princess whom God providentially used to override Pharaoh's death decree and protect the life of his chosen leader for the Israelites.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:10 became her son. The position of "son" undoubtedly granted Moses special privileges belonging to nobility, but none of these persuaded Moses to relinquish his native origin. Rather, as the NT advises, his spiritual maturity was such that when he came of age, he "refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter" (Heb. 11:24). The formal education in the court of that time meant that Moses would have learned reading, writing, arithmetic, and perhaps one or more of the languages of Canaan. He would also have participated in various outdoor sports, e.g., archery and horseback riding, two favorites of the eighteenth Dynasty court.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:11 when Moses had grown up. The narrative skips over all details of Moses' life as the adopted son of a princess prior to the event that led to his flight into Midian.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:11–12, 16–21 Two injustices aroused Moses' indignation with different consequences: one resulted in his leaving home, having killed an Egyptian who beat an Israelite; the other resulted in his finding a new home as an Egyptian who helped the Midianite daughters of Reuel, and in his finding a wife. Undoubtedly, Reuel and his family soon discovered Moses was not really an Egyptian.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:14 Who made you a prince . . . ? Cf. Acts 7:27–28, 35.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:15 Midian. The Midianites, who were descendants of Abraham and Keturah (Gen. 25:1–4), settled in the Arabian Peninsula along the eastern shore of the Gulf of Aqabah.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:18 Reuel. He was also known as Jethro (3:1), who may very well have been a worshiper of the true God (cf. 18:12–23), notwithstanding his being also the priest of Midian.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:21–23 The narrative skips over the unimportant details of this 40-year period and moves the record quickly to the finding of a new home and family and to the moment when Moses returned to his people.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:23–25 The hardship imposed upon Israel finally brought forth a collective cry for relief. The response of God is presented in four words: “heard,” “remembered,” “saw,” and “knew.” This signaled that a response was forthcoming.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 2:24 remembered his covenant. The unilateral covenant God made with Abraham (Gen. 12:1–3; 15:1–21; 17:1–22) and confirmed with Isaac (Gen. 26:2–5) and with Jacob (Gen. 28:10–15; 35:9–15) specifically promised a geographically recognizable territory to the descendants of Abraham through Isaac and Jacob. Through them, too, the world would be blessed.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:1 Moses was keeping the flock. Moses worked as a shepherd while living with his father-in-law, a life and occupation quite different from the privilege and prestige associated with his life in Pharaoh’s court.

Horeb. An alternative name for Mount Sinai (cf. 19:11; Deut. 4:10).

Traditionally, this mountain has been identified with Jebel Musa, “the mountain of Moses.” “Horeb” is the Hebrew for the non-Semitic place-name, Sinai, located in the southern part of the Sinai Peninsula. the mountain of God. This is known as such because of what took place there later in Israel’s history. This name for the mountain suggests that the book of Exodus was written by Moses after the events at Sinai. Others suggest that it was already known as a sacred mountain prior to the call of Moses; but it seems best to relate the name to what God did for Israel there.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:2–4 Moses’ attention was drawn to a most unusual sight, that of a burning bush that was not being consumed by the fire within. A supernatural event is the only viable explanation. Natural explanations of certain types of flowers with gaseous pods or oil glands fail, in that, after 40 years of work in the desert, Moses would surely have ignored something normal. This was so different that it aroused his curiosity and demanded further examination. God was in the bush speaking, clearly a miraculous event.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:2 The angel of the Lord. Lit., “messenger of Yahweh” who, in context, turns out to be the Lord himself talking to Moses (cf. Acts 7:30).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:5–10 Cf. Acts 7:33–34.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:5 Do not come near; take your sandals off. A sign of reverence in a holy place, one set apart from the norm because God was present there. These commands prevented Moses from rashly intruding, unprepared, into God’s presence.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:6 I am the God of your father. God’s opening words, although important for Moses to hear, point the reader back to 2:24—showing that the God of Israel has remembered his people and has begun to take action (cf. Matt. 22:32; Mark 12:26; Luke 20:37; Acts 3:13; 7:32). Moses hid his face. A fitting reaction of reverent fear in the presence of the Divine was modeled by Moses.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:7–8 I have surely seen . . . have heard. An emphasis on God’s having been well aware of the desperate situation of Israel. The result: he promised to deliver them from Egyptian oppression. Here, and in the next two verses, the repetitive manner in describing what God saw and would do served to underscore all the more his personal involvement in the history of his people whom he had sent into Egypt.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:8 to a good and broad land, a land . . . to the place. Three descriptions of the land to which Israel was going to be taken emphatically underscored the land promise of the Abrahamic Covenant. flowing with milk and honey. A formal and graphic way of describing a fertile land of bounteous provision. the Canaanites, the Hittites. A specific identification of the territory to which Israel was going; her Promised Land was currently inhabited by other peoples.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:10 I will send you. The divine summons made Moses both leader/deliverer of Israel and ambassador of God before Pharaoh.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:11 Who am I . . . ? The first response is an objection from Moses to the divine summons, an expression of inadequacy for such a serious mission. It sounded reasonable, for after 40 years of absence from Egypt, what could he, a mere shepherd in Midian, do upon return?

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:12 I will be with you. The divine promise, one given also to the patriarchs, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, should have been sufficient to quell all the chosen agent's fears and sense of inadequacy for the task. you shall serve God on this mountain. A second divine promise signified the future success of the mission, suggesting that Israel would not be delivered simply out of bondage and oppression, but rescued to worship (cf. Acts 7:7).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:13 Then Moses said. Was Moses at this point crossing the line from reasonable inquiry to unreasonable doubt? God's patient replies instructing Moses on what he would do and what the results would be, including Israel's being viewed with favor by the Egyptians (3:21), ought to caution the reader from hastily classifying Moses' attitude as altogether wrong from the very beginning of the interaction between him and the Lord. A response of divine anger comes only in 4:14 at the very end of Moses' questions and objections. See note on 4:1. What is his name? Moses raised a second objection. Israel might ask for God's name in validation of Moses' declaration that he had been sent by the God of their fathers. Significantly, the question was not "Who is this God?" The Hebrews understood the name Yahweh had been known to the patriarchs (which Genesis well indicates). Asking "what" meant they sought for the relevancy of the name to their circumstances. "Who?" sought after title, name, and identity, whereas "What?" inquired into the character, quality, or essence of a person.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:14 I am who I am. This name for God points to his self-existence and eternity; it denotes "I am the One who is/will be," which is decidedly the best and most contextually suitable option from a number of theories about its meaning and etymological source. The significance in relation to "God of your fathers" is immediately discernible: he's the same God throughout the ages! The consonants from the Hebrew word Yhwh, combined with the vowels from the divine name Adonai (Master or Lord), gave rise to the name “Jehovah” in English. Since the name Yahweh was considered so sacred that it should not be pronounced, the Massoretes inserted the vowels from Adonai to remind themselves to pronounce it when reading instead of saying Yahweh. Technically, this combination of consonants is known as the “tetragrammaton.”

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:15–22 Having provided Moses with his name in response to his second inquiry, God then furnished him with two speeches, one for Israel’s elders (vv. 16–17) and one for Pharaoh (v. 18b). Also included was notification of the elders’ positive response to Moses’ report (v. 18a), of Pharaoh’s refusal to grant them their request (v. 19), of God’s miraculous, judgmental reaction (v. 20), and of Israel’s plundering of the Egyptians, who found themselves responding favorably to the departing nation’s request for silver, gold, and clothing (vv. 21–22). The last of these harkens back to God’s promise to Abraham that his descendants would come out of the land of their affliction with great possessions (Gen. 15:14).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:15 the God of your fathers. Cf. Matt. 22:32; Mark 12:26; Acts 3:13.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:16 elders. Lit., “bearded ones,” which indicated the age and wisdom needed to lead.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:17 land of. See notes on 3:8.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:18 three days’ journey. The request for a three-day journey to worship, in the light of 1) direct promises of deliverance from Egypt, 2) worship at Horeb, and 3) entrance into Canaan, was not a ruse to get out and then not return, but an initial, moderate request to highlight the intransigence of Pharaoh—he just would not let these slaves leave under any conditions (v. 19)!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 3:22 plunder the Egyptians. See note on 12:36.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:1 Then Moses answered. In a third objection, Moses gave an unworthy response, after the lengthy explanation by God to Moses in 3:14–22. At this point, the hypothetical situation proposed became more objection than reasonable inquiry.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:2–9 In response to the hypothetical situation of Israel’s rejecting God as having appeared to him, Moses was given three signs to accredit him as the chosen spokesman and leader. Note the purpose stated: “that they may believe that the Lord . . . appeared to you” (v. 5). Two of these signs personally involved Moses right then and there—the rod to snake and back, the hand leprous and healed. No matter what the situation Moses could envision himself facing, God had sufficient resources to authenticate his man, and Moses was not to think otherwise.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:10 I am not eloquent. With his fourth argument, Moses focused on his speech disability, describing himself lit. as not being “a man of words,” as being “heavy in mouth and heavy in tongue,” i.e., unable to articulate his thoughts in fluent, flowing speech. An ancient document, The Tale of the Eloquent Peasant, suggests that eloquence was important in Egyptian culture, something that Moses would have well known from his time in the court. either in the past or since. This is a pointed and inappropriate, if not impolite, criticism that somehow in all the discussion God had overlooked Moses’ speech disability. Unless this disability changed, Moses believed that he could not undertake the assigned task (cf. 6:12).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:11–12 Who has made man’s mouth? Three rhetorical questions from God shut the door on any complaints or criticisms about being clumsy of speech. The follow-up command, “Now therefore go” including its promise of divine help in speech forbade all such objections.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:13–16 Moses’ fifth and final statement, notwithstanding the opening supplication, “my Lord, please,” was a polite way of bluntly saying, “Choose someone else, not me!” The anger of God toward this overt expression of reluctance was appropriate, yet the Lord still provided another way for his plan to move forward unhindered. Providentially (v. 27), Aaron would meet his brother Moses, and positively respond to being the spokesman.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:15 and I will . . . teach you. The plural pronoun “you” means that God had promised to assist both of them in their newly appointed duties.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:16 you shall be as God to him. Aaron would speak to the people for Moses, even as Moses would speak to Aaron for the Lord.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:17 this staff, with which you shall do the signs. Moses, despite God's anger at his unwillingness, retained superiority in that he had the instrument by which miracles would be done so that it was identified as "the staff of God" (v. 20).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:18 Please let me go. Courtesy toward the father-in-law for which he worked was not overlooked because of the divine call to service as national leader. Exactly how much was explained of the encounter at the burning bush remains unknown, but the purpose for the return, "to see whether they are still alive," suggests that specific details of the call for him to be leader/deliverer were left unsaid, in contrast to the full explanation given to Aaron (v. 28).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:20 sons. Gershom (2:22) and Eliezer (18:4).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:21 I will harden his heart. The Lord's personal and direct involvement in the affairs of men so that his purposes might be done is revealed as God informed Moses what would take place. Pharaoh was also warned that his own refusal would bring judgment on him (v. 23). Previously Moses had been told that God was certain of Pharaoh's refusal (3:19). This interplay between God's hardening and Pharaoh's hardening his heart must be kept in balance. Ten times (4:21; 7:3; 9:12; 10:1, 20, 27; 11:10; 14:4, 8, 17) the historical record notes specifically that God hardened the king's heart, and ten times (7:13–14, 22; 8:15, 19, 32; 9:7, 34–35; 13:15) the record indicates the king hardened his own heart. The apostle Paul used this hardening as an example of God's inscrutable will and absolute power to intervene as he chooses, yet obviously never without loss of personal responsibility for actions taken (Rom. 9:16–18). The theological conundrum posed by such interplay of God's acting and Pharaoh's acting can only be resolved by accepting the record as it stands and by taking refuge in the omniscience and omnipotence of the God who planned and brought about his deliverance of Israel from Egypt, and in so doing also judged Pharaoh's sinfulness. See note on Ex. 9:12.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:22 my firstborn son. To the ancient Egyptians, the firstborn son was special and sacred, and the Pharaoh considered himself the only son of the gods. Now he heard of a whole nation designated as God's firstborn son, meaning "declared and treated as first in rank, preeminent, with the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of being actually the firstborn." The Lord pointedly referred to the nation collectively in the singular in order to show that he was a father in what he would do, i.e., bring a nation into existence, then nurture and lead him (cf. Deut. 14:1–2). Divine sonship, as in the pagan world's perverted concept of a sexual union between the gods and women, was never so much as hinted at in the way God used the term to express his relationship with Israel, who were his people, a treasured possession, a kingdom of priests, and a holy nation (cf. 6:7; 19:4–6).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:24–26 The presence of Zipporah’s name indicates that the personal pronouns refer to Moses. She, judging by her action of suddenly and swiftly circumcising her son, understood that the danger to her husband’s life was intimately connected to the family’s not bearing the sign of the covenant given to Abraham for all his descendants (Gen. 17:10–14). Her evaluation, “Surely you are a bridegroom of blood to me,” suggests her own revulsion with this rite of circumcision, which Moses should have performed. The result, however, was God’s foregoing the threat and letting Moses go (Ex. 4:26a). The reaction of God at this point dramatically underscored the seriousness of the sign he had prescribed. See note on Jer. 4:4.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:29–30 The “leadership team” functioned as instructed: Aaron told all and Moses performed all the signs given to him (vv. 2–9).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 4:31 And the people believed . . . they bowed . . . and worshiped.* Just as God predicted, they responded in belief at the signs and in worship at the explanation of God’s awareness of their misery.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 5:1 Let my people go.* With this command from Israel’s Lord, the confrontation between Pharaoh and Moses, between Pharaoh and God, commenced. It was a command Pharaoh would hear often in the days leading up to the exodus.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 5:2 Who is the Lord . . . ?* In all likelihood Pharaoh knew of Israel’s God, but his interrogative retort insolently and arrogantly rejected him as having any power to make demands of Egypt’s superior ruler.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 5:3–5 As a follow-up to Pharaoh’s rejection, the spokesmen rephrase more specifically their request, together with a warning of possible divine judgment upon Israel for their failure to obey their God. Pharaoh saw this simply as a ruse to reduce the hours put in by his slave work force.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 5:6–9 Showing his authority to give orders to Israel, Pharaoh immediately increased their workload and the severity of their bondage. By adding, “they . . . pay no regard to lying words,” he showed his negative evaluation of God's words.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 5:10 taskmasters and the foremen. When combined with “foremen of the people of Israel” (v. 15), a three-level command structure is seen to have been in place—Egyptian section leaders and labor gang bosses, and Israelite foremen.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 5:11 straw. Ancient documents from Egypt show that straw was used as a necessary component of bricks—it helped bind the clay together.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 5:15–19 The formal labor complaint at the highest level was rejected with an emphatic evaluation of laziness on the part of Israel and a demand that production not slack.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 5:20–21 The leadership team evidently knew of the lodging of the formal labor complaint and waited outside the royal hall in order to meet Israel's representatives. The meeting was definitely not a cordial one, with accusations raised both about the propriety of and the authority of the words and actions of Aaron and Moses toward Pharaoh.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 5:22–23 Moses turned to the Lord. Whether Moses and his brother remonstrated with the foremen about their strong and wrong evaluation remains a moot point. Rather, the focus is upon Moses, who remonstrated with the Lord in prayer. Evidently, Moses did not anticipate what effect Pharaoh's refusal and reaction would have upon his own people. Confrontation with Pharaoh so far had provoked both angry resentment of Israel by the Egyptians and of Moses by Israel—this was not the expected scenario!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:1 Now you shall see. The Lord announced in response to Moses' prayer that finally the stage had been set for dealing with Pharaoh, who, in consequence, would only be able to urge Israel to leave.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:2–5 God spoke to Moses and reminded him of his promises to the patriarchs. Once again the focal point of the covenant was the land of Canaan deeded to their descendants by divine decree. The fact that this covenant was remembered meant obvious removal from Egypt!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:2–3 I am the Lord. The same self-existent, eternal God, Yahweh, had been there in the past with the patriarchs; no change had occurred in him, either in his covenant or promises.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:3 God Almighty . . . Lord . . . not make myself known. Since the name Yahweh was spoken before the flood (Gen. 4:26) and later by the patriarchs (Gen. 9:26; 12:8; 22:14; 24:12), the special significance of Yahweh, unknown to them, but to be known by their descendants, must arise from what God would reveal of himself in keeping the covenant and in redeeming Israel. See notes on Ex. 3:13–14.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:4 my covenant. The Abrahamic Covenant (cf. Gen. 15:1–21; 17:1–8).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:6–8 God instructed Moses to remind Israel of what they had previously been told: of God’s remembering the covenant with Abraham, of his seeing their misery, of his delivering them from it, of his granting to them the land of Canaan, and thus taking them there. The repetitive “I will” (seven times) marked God’s personal, direct involvement in Israel’s affairs. Bracketed, as they were, by the declaration, “I am the Lord,” denoted certainty of fulfillment.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:9 because of their broken spirit. The bondage was so great that it blocked out even the stirring words Moses had just delivered to them (vv. 6–8).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:12 uncircumcised lips. See notes on 4:10.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:14–27 The genealogical information formally identified Moses and Aaron as descendants of Levi, third son of Jacob by Leah. It also listed Aaron’s son, Eleazar, and grandson, Phinehas, both of whom would become Israel’s high priests. Mention of Levi in company with Reuben and Simeon recalled, perhaps, the unsavory background belonging to these three tribal fathers (Gen. 49:3–7) and emphasized that the choice of Moses and Aaron was not due to an exemplary lineage. This is intended to be a representative genealogy, not a complete one.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 6:28–7:5 A summary of the mission to Egypt resumes the narrative after the genealogical aside on Moses and Aaron.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:1 like God to Pharaoh. Moses, as the spokesman and ambassador for God, would speak with authority and power. your prophet. Aaron, as the divinely appointed spokesman for Moses, would forthrightly deliver the message given to him. Cf. Acts 14:11–13, where Barnabas and Paul were so perceived in a similar situation.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:4 my hosts, my people. The first term in this double-barreled designation of Israel occurred originally in 6:26. The nation was seen as organized like an army with its different divisions (its tribes) and also as God's military instrument upon the Canaanites. The second term with its possessive pronoun revealed the incongruity of Pharaoh's acting as though these people belonged to him.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:5 know that I am the Lord. This purpose of the exodus finds repeated mention in God's messages to Pharaoh and in God's descriptions of what he was doing (cf. 7:16; 8:10, 22; 9:14, 16, 29; 14:4, 18). Some of the Egyptians did come to understand the meaning of the name Yahweh, for they responded appropriately to the warning of the seventh plague (9:20), and others accompanied Israel into the wilderness (12:38). In the final analysis, Egypt would not be able to deny the direct involvement of the God of Israel in their rescue from bondage and the destruction of Egypt's army.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:9 working a miracle. Pharaoh's desire for accreditation would not go unanswered. That which God had done for Moses with the staff (4:2–9), and Moses had copied for Israel (4:30–31), also became the sign of authority before Pharaoh (cf. 7:10).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:11 magicians. Magic and sorcery played a major role in the pantheistic religion of Egypt. Its ancient documents record the activities of the magicians, one of the most prominent being the charming of serpents. These men were also styled "wise men" and "sorcerers," i.e., the learned men of the day and the religious as well (the word for sorcery being derived from a word meaning "to offer prayers"). Two of these men were named Jannes and Jambres (cf. 2 Tim. 3:8). Any supernatural power came from Satan (cf. 2 Cor. 11:13–15). secret arts. By means of their "witchcraft," the wise men, sorcerers, and magicians demonstrated their abilities to perform a similar feat. Whether by optical illusion, sleight of hand, or learned physical manipulation of a snake, all sufficiently skillful enough to totally fool Pharaoh and his servants, or by evil supernaturalism, the evaluation given in the inspired record is simply "they . . . also did the same." However, the turning of rods into snakes, and later turning water into blood (Ex. 7:22) and calling forth frogs (8:7), were not the same as trying to create gnats from inanimate dust (8:18–19). At that point, the magicians had no option but to confess their failure.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:12 Aaron's staff swallowed up their staffs. The loss of the magicians' staffs in this fashion gave evidence of the superiority of God's power when Aaron's staff gulped down theirs.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:14–10:29 The obvious miraculous nature of the 10 plagues cannot be explained by identifying them with natural occurrences to which Moses then applied a theological interpretation. The specific prediction of, as well as the intensity of, each plague moved it beyond being normal, natural phenomena. The notification of the specific discriminatory nature of some of the plagues, distinguishing between Hebrew and Egyptian (cf. 8:23; 9:4–6; 10:23), or Goshen and the rest of the land (cf. 8:22; 9:26), as they did, also marks the supernatural nature of these events.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:15 in the morning. Apparently, Pharaoh habitually went to the river for washing or, more likely, for the performance of some religious rite. Three times Moses would meet him at this early morning rendezvous to warn of plagues, i.e., the first, fourth, and seventh (8:20; 9:13). on the bank of the Nile. The first confrontation of the plague cycle took place on the banks of the Nile, the sacred waterway of the land, whose annual ebb and flow contributed strategically and vitally to the agricultural richness of Egypt. Hymns of thanksgiving were often sung for the blessings brought by the Nile, the country's greatest, single economic resource.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:17 blood. The Hebrew word does not denote red coloring such as might be seen when red clay is washed downstream, but denotes actual substance, i.e., blood.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:19–20 the waters . . . all their pools of water. The use of different words, "waters, rivers, canals, ponds, and pools," indicates graphically the extent of the plague. Even buckets of wood and stone filled with water and kept inside the homes could not escape the curse of their contents being turned into blood.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:22 the magicians . . . did the same by their secret arts. How ludicrous and revealing that the magicians resorted to copycat methodology instead of reversing the plague. What they did, bringing just more blood, did serve, however, to bolster Pharaoh's stubbornness.

The Ten Plagues on Egypt
The Plague	Egyptian Deity	The Effect
1. Blood ( 7:20 )	Hapi	Pharaoh hardened ( 7:22 )
2. Frogs ( 8:6 )	Heqt	Pharaoh begs relief, promises freedom ( 8:8 ), but is hardened ( 8:15 )
3. Gnats ( 8:17 )	Hathor, Nut	Pharaoh hardened ( 8:19 )
4. Flies ( 8:24 )	Shu, Isis	Pharaoh bargains ( 8:28 ), but is hardened ( 8:32 )
5. Livestock diseased ( 9:6 )	Apis	Pharaoh hardened ( 9:7 )
6. Boils ( 9:10 )	Sekhmet	Pharaoh hardened ( 9:12 )
7. Hail ( 9:23 )	Geb	Pharaoh begs relief ( 9:27 ), promises freedom ( 9:28 ), but is hardened ( 9:35 )
8. Locusts ( 10:13 )	Serapis	Pharaoh bargains ( 10:11 ), begs relief ( 10:17 ), but is hardened ( 10:20 )
9. Darkness ( 10:22 )	Ra	Pharaoh bargains ( 10:24 ), but is hardened ( 10:27 )
10. Death of firstborn ( 12:29 )		Pharaoh and Egyptians beg Israel to leave Egypt ( 12:31–33 )

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:24 dug along the Nile. The only recourse was to tap into the natural water table, the subterranean water supply. Evidently this was the water which was available to the magicians to use (v. 22).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 7:25 Seven full days. An interval of time occurred before another warning was delivered, indicating that the plagues did not occur rapidly in uninterrupted succession.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:1 Go in to Pharaoh. The warning for the second plague was delivered to Pharaoh, presumably at his palace. Warnings for the fifth (9:1) and eighth (10:1) plagues also occurred at the palace.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:2 I will plague. Various terms, namely, “plagues” (9:14), “strike” (12:13), and “pestilence” (9:15), were employed to impress them with the severity of what was happening in Egypt. frogs. That Egyptians favored frogs was seen in the wearing of amulets in the shape of a frog and in the prohibition against intentionally killing frogs, who were considered sacred animals. The croaking of frogs from the river and pools of water signaled to farmers that the gods who controlled the Nile’s flooding and receding had once again made the land fertile. The god Hapi was venerated on this occasion because he had caused alluvial deposits to come downstream. Further, the frog was the representation, the image, of the goddess Heqt, the wife of the god Khum, and the symbol of resurrection and fertility. The presence of frogs in such abundance, all over everywhere outside and inside the houses (8:3, 13), however, brought only frustration, dismay, and much discomfort, rather than the normal signal that the fields were ready for cultivating and harvesting.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:7 the magicians did the same. Once again, instead of reversing the plague, the magicians in demonstrating the power of their secret arts only appeared to increase the frog population to the added discomfort of the people. Their power was not sufficient enough to do more than play “copycat.” That the magicians could duplicate but not eradicate the problem was, however, sufficient to solidify royal stubbornness.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:8 Plead with the Lord. Using the Lord’s name and begging for relief through his intervention was more a point in negotiation and not a personal or official recognition of Israel’s Lord.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:9 left only in the Nile. A specific detail like this in Moses’ question indicates that the Nile and the waters had returned to normal and again continued to support life.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:10 Tomorrow. Having been granted the privilege to set the time when the Lord would answer Moses’ prayer for relief, Pharaoh requested a cessation only on the next day. Presumably he hoped something else would happen before then so that he would not have to acknowledge the Lord’s power in halting the plague, nor be obligated to Moses and his God. But God answered the prayer of Moses, and Pharaoh remained obstinate (v. 15).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:16 Without prior warning, the third plague descended on the country. The same absence of warning occurred for the sixth (9:8–9) and the ninth (10:21) plagues. A threefold pattern surfaces: prior warning at the river, then at the palace, and then no warning given. gnats. The Hebrew term is preferably taken to designate tiny, stinging insects barely visible to the naked eye. Those priests, who fastidiously kept themselves religiously pure by frequent washing and by shaving off body hair, were afflicted and rendered impure in their duties.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:17 All the dust of the earth . . . in all the land. The record stresses by its repetition of “all” and “land” the tremendous extent and severity of this pestilence.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:19 This is the finger of God. The failure of the magicians to duplicate this plague elicited from them this amazing evaluation, not only among themselves, but publicly before Pharaoh, who nevertheless remained recalcitrant, unwilling to acknowledge the power of God.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:21 swarms. The LXX translates “swarms” as “dog-fly,” a bloodsucking insect. The ichneumon fly, which deposited its eggs on other living things so the larvae could feast upon it, was considered the manifestation of the god Uatchit. “The land was ruined by the swarms” (v. 24) is hardly an evaluation propitious for any insect-god! Whatever the specific type of fly might have been, the effect of the plague was intense and distressful.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:22 set apart the land of Goshen. For the first time in connection with the plagues, God specifically noted the discrimination to be made—Israel would be untouched! The term “sign” (v. 23) describes the distinction that was being drawn and that was also specifically noted for the fifth, seventh, ninth, and tenth plagues. Coupled with the repeated emphasis on “my people” in God’s pronouncements, the specific distinguishing between Israel in Goshen and Egypt itself highlighted both God’s personal and powerful oversight of his people.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:23 Tomorrow. The plague warning on this occasion stated exactly when it would strike, giving Pharaoh and his people opportunity to repent or yield. “Tomorrow” was also the due time for the fifth, seventh, and eighth plagues (9:5, 18; 10:4), and “about midnight” was the stated time for the tenth plague to commence (11:4). See note on 11:4.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:26 sacrifice . . . are an abomination to the Egyptians. An attempt at appeasement by compromise on the part of Pharaoh—“Go, sacrifice . . . within the land”—was countered by Moses’ pointing out that Israel’s sacrifices would not be totally acceptable to the Egyptians, who might even react violently—“will they not stone us?” This evaluation Pharaoh immediately understood. Either their strong dislike of shepherds and sheep (Gen. 46:34) or Israel’s sacrificial animals being sacred ones in their religion brought about Egyptian aversion to Israel’s sacrifices.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:27–29 We must go . . . I will let you go. The first declaration showed the decision to travel no less than three days beyond Egyptian borders was a non-negotiable item. The second declaration showed Pharaoh trying to keep that decision to travel and sacrifice strictly under his authority and not as a response to the Lord's request for his people.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:28 Plead for me. An abbreviated request, applying not only to himself but also for the removal of the plague as previously asked in connection with the second plague (8:8).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:29 let not Pharaoh cheat again. Moses' closing exhortation underscored the deceptive nature of the king's words.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 8:31 not one remained. This declaration of the total divine removal of the flies—a demonstration of God's answering Moses' entreaty—did not persuade Pharaoh at all. Once again, removed from the humiliating effects of a plague, his stubborn resistance resurfaced (v. 32).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:3 in the field. Apparently stabled livestock did not succumb to the pestilence. Although incredibly severe, some animals were still alive afterward for Egypt to continue without total loss to an economy that depended upon domesticated animals. A few months later, when the seventh plague struck, there were still some cattle, which, if left in the field, would have died (9:19). horses . . . camels. Horses, which were common in the period, had been brought into military service by the Hyksos. See Introduction: Author and Date. Camels were a domesticated animal by this time in the fifteenth century B.C. a very severe plague. In listing the different kinds of livestock, the severe nature of the plague was emphatically underscored as one that would for the first time target personal property. Egyptian literature and paintings substantiate how valuable livestock was to them. Whatever the exact nature of this pestilence—anthrax, murrain, or other livestock disease—it was clearly contagious and fatal. Religious implications were obvious: Egypt prized the bull as a sacred animal with special attention and worship being given to the Apis bull, the sacred animal of the god Ptah. Heliopolis venerated the bull, Mnevis. Further, the goddess Hathor, represented by a cow, or a cow-woman image, was worshiped in several cities.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:4 nothing . . . shall die. The additional declaration on the safety of Israel's livestock graphically underscored the miraculous nature of what God was about to do as he declared for the second time the distinction being made between Israel and Egypt. It underscored Israel's protection and to whom she really belonged.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:5 set a time. The prophetic and miraculous nature of this plague is highlighted by stating “tomorrow” and, by noting “the next day,” it happened as predicted (v. 6).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:6 not one of the livestock of . . . Israel died. The distinction being made received added emphasis with this double declaration that Israelites suffered absolutely no loss in livestock.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:7 Pharaoh sent. This time the king had to check on the veracity of the protection afforded Israel. Whatever his own rationalizations or theories about it might have been, they only confirmed him in his resistance and disobedience, despite finding out that “not one . . . was dead.”

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:9 boils breaking out in sores on man and beast. For the first time human health was targeted.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:10 soot from the kiln. Aaron and Moses took two handfuls of soot, not just from any furnace, but from a lime-kiln or brick-making furnace. That which participated so largely in their oppressive labor became the source of a painful health hazard for the oppressors!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:11 magicians could not stand. A side comment indicates that these men (who in Egyptian eyes were men of power) had been so sorely afflicted that they could not stand, either physically or vocationally, before God's spokesmen. Although they are not mentioned after the third plague, they apparently had continued to serve before Pharaoh and were undoubtedly there when plagues four and five were announced. Their powerlessness had not been sufficient as yet for Pharaoh to dispense with their services—an outward symbol, perhaps, of Pharaoh's unwillingness to grant the God of Israel total sovereignty.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:12 the Lord hardened. For the first time, apart from the words to Moses before the plagues began (cf. 4:21; 7:3), the statement is made that God hardened Pharaoh's heart. In the other instances, the record observes that Pharaoh hardened his own heart. Each instance records “as the Lord had said,” so what happened did so from two closely related perspectives: 1) God was carrying out his purpose through Pharaoh, and 2) Pharaoh was personally responsible for his actions as the command of 9:13 implies. See note on 4:21.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:14 my plagues. God’s use of the possessive pronoun specified what should have become abundantly clear to Pharaoh by then, namely, that these were God’s own workings.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:14–19 After sounding again the customary demand to release God’s people for worship (v. 13), and after delivering a warning of how his plagues would really have an impact (v. 14), God provided more information and issued certain preliminary instructions: (1) A threefold purpose pertained to the plagues, namely, the Egyptians would recognize that Yahweh was incomparable, that his power would be demonstrated through them, and that his name, character, attributes, and power would be known everywhere. Egypt could not keep from other nations her humiliation by the plagues of Israel’s Lord. (2) A declaration that whatever royal authority Pharaoh had, it had been because of God’s sovereign and providential control of world affairs, which included putting Pharaoh on his throne. This was a telling reminder that he was what he declared himself to be, the one and only true and immanent Lord. (3) A reminder of the worst scenario for Egypt if Yahweh had chosen, in lieu of the preceding plagues, to strike the people first—they would have perished. In other words, God had been gracious and longsuffering in the progression of the plagues. (4) A declaration that the weather about to be unleashed by the incomparable God was unlike anything previously recorded in Egypt’s entire history, or “from the day it was founded” or “since it became a nation.” (5) An instruction as to how the Egyptians could avoid severe storm damage and loss of property. Grace again was afforded them!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:16 for this purpose. See Rom. 9:17 where Paul indicates God’s sovereignty over Pharaoh.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:20–21 whoever feared . . . whoever did not pay attention. Some heard the instruction and obeyed; others, like their national leader, “did not pay attention to the word of the Lord,” a graphic expression of refusal to heed divine instruction.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:23–24 fire ran down to the earth . . . fire flashing. The violent, electrical thunderstorm brought with it unusual lightning, or “fireballs,” which zigzagged (lit., “fire taking hold of itself”) to and fro on the ground with the hail.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:26 Only in the land of Goshen. The discriminatory nature of this plague was unannounced beforehand, but the national distinction previously declared and observed again prevailed. Although unstated, those who were in the strife-torn regions and who obeyed instructions obviously found their livestock equally safe and sound.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:27 This time I have sinned. Any improvement in Pharaoh's theological understanding, notwithstanding the following confession of a righteous Lord and of a wicked people, was rendered suspect by the face-saving caveat "this time." Lacking repentance, it brushed aside all previous reaction and disobedience as having no significance.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:28 there has been enough. Moses' reply (v. 30) indicated that such an evaluation was not one of repentance nor one of fearing the Lord and acknowledging his power.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:31–32 flax and the barley were struck down . . . the wheat and the emmer were not struck down. A very brief bulletin on which crops were damaged and which were not placed this plague in February. All four crops mentioned were important economic resources. Wheat would be harvested only a month later than flax and barley together with the aftercrop "emmer" or "spelt." God's timing of the disaster to two crops left room for Pharaoh to repent before the other crops might be destroyed.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 9:34 sinned yet again. Pharaoh's culpability increased because when he saw God answer Moses' prayer—an entreaty he had requested (v. 28)—all his admissions and promises were promptly swept aside. he and his servants. For the first time mention is made of the stubborn resistance of Pharaoh's entourage, all of whom had hardened their hearts. The striking contrast emerges in God's directions to Moses for the next plague: he had hardened their hearts for a purpose (10:1).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:2 that you may tell . . . that you may know. The release from Egypt, accompanied by these great acts of God, was designed to become an important and indelible part in recounting the history of Israel to succeeding generations. It would tell just who their God was and what he had done. signs I have done. Lit., “to deal harshly with” or “to make sport of,” and describing an action by which shame and disgrace is brought upon its object.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:3 How long will you refuse . . . ? The question asked of Pharaoh struck a contrast with the opening words of God to Moses (v. 1), “I have hardened his heart.” What God did cannot erase personal responsibility from Pharaoh to hear, repent, and submit. Under the cumulative weight of seven plagues, the time had come to deliver a challenge to reconsider and obey. This is God’s grace operating parallel with his own sovereign purposes.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:4–6 The extent and intensity of the locust plague was such that it would be unique in Egyptian history—nothing like any locust problem during the previous two generations, nor like any locust swarm in the future (v. 14). Locust invasions were feared in Egypt, to the point that the farmers often prayed to the locust god to ensure the safety of their crops. The humiliation of their god was total, as was the damage: “Not a green thing remained” (v. 15).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:7 How long shall this man . . . ? The first “How long?” question in this encounter dealt with the desired response from Pharaoh (v. 3), whereas this second “How long?” question pointed out their impatience at Pharaoh’s intransigence. Their advice—to give in—was the best choice. Egypt is ruined. The advisers negatively evaluated the state of the country after seven plagues, and suggested that Pharaoh was refusing to acknowledge how desperate the situation really was even before the agriculture was completely destroyed. Stubborn resistance did not necessarily rob them of all reason, and the better part of wisdom this time demanded acquiescence to Moses’ request.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:8 But which ones are to go? For the first time Pharaoh tried to negotiate a deal before the threatened plague struck. Adroitly, he suggested in his question that only representatives of Israel, perhaps only the men (v. 11), need go out to worship.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:10 The Lord be with you. Sarcastic threats demonstrated the unyielding and unreasonable obstinacy of Pharaoh. Egyptian women did accompany their men in religious celebration, but in Israel’s case if the men went out then the women and children were in effect hostages bidding them return.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:11 driven out. For the first time, God’s two spokesmen were angrily dismissed from the throne room.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:12 all that the hail has left. This reminder of the previous plague in which God had graciously restrained the extent of agricultural damage appeared also in the warning of the plague given to Pharaoh and his advisers (v. 5) and in the description of the damage done by the locusts (v. 15).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:13 an east wind. God used natural means, most probably the spring hot wind, or “sirocco,” to bring the locusts into the country from the Arabian peninsula.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:16 hastily. A recognition on the part of Pharaoh that his country now faced a crisis brought forth a hurried confession to Aaron and Moses, which again was merely an expedient course of action.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:17 forgive my sin. Again, an attempt to sound earnest in his response, and again with an appeal for Moses to pray for removal of the plague. He referred to it this time as “this death,” or “deadly plague,” phrases that highlighted the severity of Egypt’s condition.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:19 west wind. In answer to prayer, wind direction reversed as the Lord caused the locusts to be blown eastward out of the country. The completeness of their removal received emphasis. That none remained in the country was apparently something unusual, perhaps somewhat distinct from previously known locust invasions. The absence of locusts was a challenging reminder of the power of the Lord who had brought it all to pass.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:21–22 darkness . . . felt . . . pitch darkness. Such a description of the ninth plague, which occurred without warning, pointed to the most unusual nature of the three-day darkness that now prevented any from leaving their homes. That Israel had light in their dwellings and went about their normal activity stresses the supernatural nature of this plague. It takes attention away from trying to explain the darkness solely in terms of the Khamsin, the swirling sandstorms of the day. The LXX did, however, string together three Greek words, two for darkness and one for storm, to portray the nuance of the Hebrew. In so doing, it may unwittingly have given some credence to a severe sandstorm. Theologically, such thick darkness directly challenged the faithfulness of the sun god, Ra, to provide warmth and sunshine from day to day, and also prevented any daily worship rituals from taking place.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:24 Go . . . little ones also may go with you. Pharaoh's deceitful and manipulative negotiating skills rose to the occasion: Let the people go but keep back their livestock as the hostage forcing their return. He had not yet understood that partial obedience to the Lord's directions was unacceptable.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:25 that we may sacrifice. See 3:18 for remarks on the request to leave for worship suggesting something less than permanent departure.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:28 Get away from me . . . you shall die. Pharaoh's obstinacy and resistance reached a new height when he summarily dismissed Moses and Aaron and this time added a death threat.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 10:29 not see your face again. Moses concurred, but from another perspective than that of Pharaoh. All negotiations and requests ceased immediately. Moses would be summoned to see Pharaoh again after the tenth plague (12:31), but that would be to hear him finally concede defeat.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 11:1–3 The Lord said. Read as “the Lord had said.” In a parenthetical paragraph, the narrative recorded that which God had already said to Moses during the three days of darkness, priming him for Pharaoh's summons, and priming Israel to receive Egyptian jewelry and other goods. An aside explained Egyptian generosity as occasioned by divine intervention (cf. 12:35–36). This also included a healthy respect by Egypt's leaders and people for Israel's leader.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 11:4–8 Moses said. Moses' response to Pharaoh's threat continued with his giving warning of the final plague and leaving with great indignation. The death threat delivered by Pharaoh evoked one from God. The “get away” from Pharaoh to Israel's and God's spokesmen would be met by the “get out” from the Egyptians to Israel.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 11:4 About midnight. The day was not specified, as in previous plagues by “tomorrow.” It took place either the same day of the final confrontation with Pharaoh or a few days later. If the instructions for the Passover (12:1–20) were not given during the days of darkness, then four days minimum would be required to set the stage for that special feast day, i.e., from the tenth to the fourteenth day (12:3–6). See note on 8:23. I will go out. God was, of course, involved in all previous plagues through whatever means he chose to use, but this time, to warrant personal attention, God stated that he himself (emphatic personal pronoun used) would march throughout the land. Note the repeated “I will” statements in the Passover instructions (12:12–13).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 11:5 the firstborn. The firstborn held a particularly important position in the family and society, not only inheriting a double portion of the father’s estate, but also representing special qualities of life and strength (cf. Gen. 49:3). In Egypt, the firstborn would ascend to the throne and continue the dynasty. Whatever significance might have been attached religiously, politically, dynastically, and socially, it was all stripped away by the extent and intensity of the plague—namely the execution of all the firstborn of all classes of the population including their animals.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 11:6 has never been, nor ever will be again. So drastic was this plague that its uniqueness in Egypt’s history, already past and yet to come, was noted in the warning.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 11:7 not a dog shall growl. In contrast to the turmoil and grief experienced in Egyptian territory, all remained tranquil in Israelite territory—so much so that not even a dog barked. That the Lord had made and was making a sharp distinction between the two peoples was a fact to which none could be blind.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:1 The Lord said. Most probably, the instructions on the Passover (vv. 1–20) were also given during the three days of darkness in order to fully prepare Israel for the grand finale, their exodus from Egypt. in the land. Later, while Israel was in the wilderness, Moses wrote (23:14–17; Deut. 16:1–8) and indicated that the detailed instructions for this very special feast day in Israel’s religious calendar were not like those of the other special days, all which were given after the nation had already left Egypt. This one, the Passover, was inextricably linked to what took place in the exodus, and that connection was never to be forgotten. It became indelibly entrenched in Israel’s tradition and has always marked the day of redemption from Egypt.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:2 This month. The month of Abib (March/April) by divine decree became the beginning of the religious calendar, marking the start of Israel’s life as a nation. Later in Israel’s history, after the Babylonian captivity, Abib would become Nisan (cf. Neh. 2:1; Est. 3:7).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:3–14 The detailed instructions for the Passover included what animal to select, when to kill it, what to do with its blood, how to cook it, what to do with leftovers, how to dress for the meal, the reason why it was being celebrated “in haste,” and what the shed blood signified.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:5 Your lamb . . . without blemish. A kid goat was an alternative choice. Any flaw would render it unfit to represent a pure, wholesome sacrifice given to Yahweh.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:6 at twilight. Lit., “between the two evenings.” Since the new day was reckoned from sunset, the sacrificing of the lamb or kid was done before sunset while it was still day 14 of the first month. “Twilight” has been taken to signify either that time between sunset and the onset of darkness, or from the decline of the sun until sunset. Later Moses would prescribe the time for the sacrifice as “in the evening at sunset” (Deut. 16:6). According to Josephus, it was customary in his day to kill the lamb at about 3:00 p.m. This was the time of day that Christ, the Christian’s Passover lamb (1 Cor. 5:7), died (Luke 23:44–46).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:9 Do not eat any of it raw. A prohibition with health implications that also distinguished them from pagan peoples who often ate raw flesh in their sacred festivals.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:12 on all the gods. The tenth plague was a judgment against all Egyptian deities. The loss of the firstborn of men and beasts had far-reaching theological implications, namely, the impotence of the pagan deities, many of whom were represented by animals, to protect their devotees from such nationwide tragedies. The great cry of grief (11:6; 12:30) may also have bemoaned the incapability of the nation’s gods.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:14 a memorial. The details of how this Passover Day was to be memorialized in future years were laid down (vv. 14–20), and then repeated in the instructions to the elders (vv. 21–27). Prescribing the eating of unleavened bread for seven days, demanding a thorough housecleaning from leaven (v. 15), issuing a stern warning of banishment for eating leaven (v. 15), and bracketing the seven days with special holy days (v. 16), served to proclaim the high importance of the nation’s remembering this event.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:16 prepared by you. See note on v. 46.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:19 a sojourner. Provision was made right at the beginning for non-Israelites to be included in the nation's religious festivals. Failure to comply with the regulations on leaven would result in banishment for the sojourner as well.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:22 bunch of hyssop. Certain identification is impossible, but this could be the marjoram plant. lintel . . . the two doorposts. The top and two sides of the doorway.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:23 the destroyer. This is most likely the angel of the Lord (cf. 2 Sam. 24:16; Isa. 37:36). See note on Ex. 3:2.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:25 The promise of entering the land again received emphasis. Israel was not to think of the exodus as merely a departure from Egypt, but rather as a departure from one land in order to enter another land, which would be their own, in strict accordance with the specifics of the Abrahamic Covenant for his descendants through Isaac and Jacob (cf. Gen. 17:7–8).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:26–27 In the annual commemoration of the Passover, parents were obligated to teach their children its meaning. It became customary for the youngest child of a Jewish family to elicit the father’s formal explanation of what happened in connection with the original observance of the meal in Egypt.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:31 Up, go out . . . serve the Lord. Finally, Pharaoh’s response to the repeated “Let my people go!” became “Leave my people!” with no attempt at further negotiation, but total acquiescence. His subjects, fearing more deaths, concurred and hastened Israel’s departure (v. 33), driving them out with no time wasted (v. 39).

The Journey to Mount Sinai

Among the many theories regarding the route of the exodus, the traditional route to Jebel Musa is considered by many scholars to be the most plausible. Beginning at Rameses, the Israelites journeyed to Succoth, but these two sites are the only ones on the route identified with certainty. From there they traveled to Etham and Pi-hahiroth, where they crossed the Red Sea. From there they traveled to Marah, Elim, Rephidim, and finally Mount Sinai.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:32 bless me also. Undoubtedly, this final request from Pharaoh, whose heart was certainly not repentant (14:8), temporarily conceded defeat and acknowledged Moses and his God as the victors and as those who had the power and resources to bless him.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:36 they plundered the Egyptians. Cf. Gen. 15:14 and Ex 3:20–21. This was not done with deceit, but rather a straightforward request (cf. 11:2–3).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:37–18:27 This section recounts the march of the Israelites from Egypt to Mount Sinai.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:37 Rameses to Succoth. One of the cities Israel built (1:11) headed up the itinerary for the journey through the wilderness to Canaan. Succoth is first mentioned in Gen. 33:17 as an encampment designated by the word Succoth, which means “booth.” Although there is later a town by that name east of the Jordan (cf. Judg. 8:5–16), this is rather a place near Egypt (cf. Ex. 13:20; Num. 33:5, 6). six hundred thousand men on foot. A conservative estimate based on the number of men, probably the fighting men 20 years of age and above, would give a population of 2 million. Israel’s population had exploded from the 70 who entered with Jacob in 1875 B.C. to the 2 million who left with Moses in 1445 B.C. See note on Ex. 1:7.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:38 A mixed multitude. Other Semitic peoples, other races, and perhaps some native Egyptians accompanied the departing nation. They preferred to be identified with the victorious nation and Jehovah God. Later, some of these became the troublemakers with whom Moses had to deal (Num. 11:4).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:40–41 430 years. Abraham had been told that his descendants would be aliens mistreated in a foreign land for 400 years, using a figure rounded to hundreds (Gen. 15:13).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:43–51 Additional regulations given for the holding of the Passover contained prohibitions on any uncircumcised foreigner, stranger, or hired servant being a valid participant. To partake of this meal, non-Israelites had to be “as a native of the land” (v. 48). See note on Jer. 4:4.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:46 break any of its bones. Christ, the Christian’s Passover lamb (1 Cor. 5:7), had no bones broken (John 19:36).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:50 All . . . did just as. On two occasions (see also v. 28) Moses emphasized the complete obedience of the nation in response to the Lord’s commands to them: a contrast to the disobedience they would demonstrate in the very near future.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 12:51 on that very day. What would be for the nation in their new land a special Sabbath day, was for them at that time the day on which their journey began.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:2–10 Further explanation tied their departure to the divine promise of entrance and residence in a new land where commemoration of the exodus would occur through annual observance of this seven-day feast. Again the pedagogical opportunity afforded was not to be overlooked (vv. 8, 16).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:2 Consecrate to me all the firstborn. Since the firstborn of Israel, of both man and animal, were untouched by the tenth plague, it was fitting that they be set aside as special unto God. Notice the closing emphasis: “is mine.” Further instruction followed on the law relating to the firstborn males once they were in their assigned territory (vv. 11–16). This divine demand was closely linked to the day of departure (12:51, “on that very day”) and the Feast of Unleavened Bread (13:3, “this day” and v. 4, “today, in the month of Abib”). See Luke 2:7, where Christ was referred to as Mary’s firstborn.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:8 for me when I. A personalized application of God’s working belonged to the first generation who experienced the exodus. Later generations could only say “for us, when we . . .” in the sense of “our nation,” but without loss to the significance of how God had brought about such an important day in the nation’s history. Notice the personalized application of the law of the firstborn as well (v. 15, “I sacrifice . . . my sons I redeem”).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:9 Later generations would translate this figurative and proverbial expression (cf. Prov. 3:3; 6:21) into the physical reality of phylacteries—the leather prayer-boxes that were strapped on the left arm and on the forehead. Four strips of parchment inscribed with certain words (Ex. 13:1–16; Deut. 6:4–9; 11:13–21) were placed inside these boxes. The imagery of the proverbial mode of speech signified that their conduct was to be that of someone who could verbally recall what God’s law demanded of them. Yahweh who had rescued them had also provided the standards of life for them!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:12, 15 first opens the womb. See Luke 2:23.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:17 by way of the land of the Philistines. Travelers going east and northeast out of Egypt had two good options: “the way of the sea,” or “the way of Shur.” The first route, the most direct and shortest, was dotted with Egyptian fortresses, which monitored arrivals and departures to and from Egypt. A little further north, Philistine territory also presented a military threat. The lack of battle-readiness on Israel’s part deleted the first option, and God chose the second option (v. 18; 15:22). In any case, God had told Moses to lead the people to Horeb or Sinai, the mountain of God (3:1), and not to take them immediately into Canaan (3:12).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:18 the Red Sea. An alternative designation, quite in accord with the Hebrew term, would be “Sea of Reeds,” or perhaps “of papyrus marshes.” The difficulty of precisely locating other names associated with the crossing of the Red Sea (see 14:2) has occasioned much debate on the location of the crossing. Four views have generally emerged: It was located 1) in the northeastern region of the delta—but this would have been in effect “the way of the sea” and would not have been three days’ journey from Marah (15:22–23); 2) in the northern end of the Gulf of Suez—but this rules out entry into the wilderness of Shur (15:22); 3) in the vicinity of Lake Timsah or the southern extension of present day Lake Menzaleh—but probably more than three days from Marah; and 4) in the Bitter Lakes region, satisfying, in terms of geography and time, all objections to the other options.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:19 the bones of Joseph. In fulfillment of their solemnly sworn duty and responsibility (Gen. 50:24–26), the Israelites took Joseph’s coffin with them. Some 360 years earlier he had foreseen the day when God would bring about the exodus, and his instructions about his bones being carried to the Promised Land indicated just how certain he was of Israel’s departure for Canaan (cf. Gen. 50:24–26; Heb. 11:22). After the years of wilderness wanderings, Joseph’s remains reached their final resting place in Shechem (Josh. 24:32).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:20 Etham, on the edge of the wilderness. The Hebrew name of this place may be a transliteration of the Egyptian Khetem meaning “fortress.” A line of fortresses (see note on v. 17) stretched from the Mediterranean Sea to the Gulf of Suez. Even if the site remains unknown so that pinpointing it is not possible, it was surely a place bordering on the desert area to the east of Egypt.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 13:21 a pillar of cloud . . . a pillar of fire. This was the means by which God led the people. It was a single column, being cloud by day and fire by night (cf. 14:24) and was associated with the angel of God (14:19; 23:20–23) or the angel of God’s presence (Isa. 63:8–9). See note on Ex. 3:2. It was the pillar from which the Lord also spoke to Moses (33:9–11).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:3–4 Pharaoh will say . . . I will harden. Pharaoh was kept abreast of Israelite progress and when he heard of the change of direction, he assumed they were lost in unfamiliar territory and were trapped, closed in by desert, sea, and marsh. God intervened again and the stage was set for the final confrontation and final display of divine power.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:5 What is this we have done . . . ? Hardened hearts lost all sensitivity to the recent tragedy and focused instead on the loss of the economic benefit Israel's enslavement had provided. Those who had urged the Israelites to quickly leave now had the urge to force them to return!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:7 six hundred chosen chariots. Chariots, introduced by the Hyksos (see Introduction: Author and Date), featured prominently in the army of Egypt, and these "chosen" ones belonged to an elite, specialized unit.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:8 people of Israel were going out defiantly. The confidence shown by Israel in their departure is in sharp contrast to the fear they exhibited when they became aware of the pursuing force (v. 10).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:10 cried out to the Lord. The initial reaction of the people on seeing the approach was to turn to the Lord in anxious prayer. But prayer soon turned to complaints, with Moses as the target of their dismay.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:11 no graves in Egypt. In the light of Egypt's excessive preoccupation with death and various funerary and mortuary rituals, the bitter irony of Israel's questions marked how easily they had forgotten both bondage and rescue.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:12 serve the Egyptians. Just how much they conveniently forgot the degree of enslavement came out in their "We told you so" attitude. The comment of being better off living and serving than dying perhaps summarized their earlier reaction to Moses and Aaron outside the royal chambers (5:20–21).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:13 Fear not. Moses' exhortation turned attention to the Lord, whose power they had already seen dramatically in action, and whose deliverance they were about to witness and personally experience. All they needed to do was stand by and watch their God at work, fighting on their side. Euphemistically, Moses informed his people of the certain death of the Egyptian soldiers—you will not see them again! Expressing and experiencing fear did not mean Israel was less than 600,000 fighting men in number, as some have objected. The poorly trained, inadequately equipped, militarily unprepared, and inexperienced Israelites (13:17) were no match for Pharaoh's experienced troops and his highly trained and mobilized chariot force.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:14 The Lord will fight. This has been and will be true throughout the history of Israel (cf. 1 Sam. 17:47; 2 Chron. 14:10–11; 20:15; Ps. 24:8; Zech. 14:3).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:15 Why do you cry to me? . . . go forward. The Lord's promise of deliverance overruled all despair and sense of hopelessness.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:16–17 Lift up your staff. For the grand, triumphant finale, the staff that had previously been used to bring in different plagues on the Egyptians now divided the water, opening up a valley through which Israel would walk and in which Egypt's army would drown.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:19 stood behind them. The angel of the Lord, and the pillar of cloud and fire, moved from being advance guard to being rear guard, from leading to protecting. See note on 3:2.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:21 strong east wind. God's use of natural phenomena does not detract in any way from the miraculous nature of what took place that night. The psalmist recorded this event as the Lord dividing the sea by his strength (Ps. 74:13). The wind walled up the waters on either side of the pathway then opened (Ex. 14:22; 15:8; Ps. 78:13).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:24 the morning watch. The last of three four-hour night watches (2:00–6:00 A.M.) ended about sunrise.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:24–25 the Lord looked down . . . threw the Egyptian forces into a panic. Not only was the Lord fully aware of exactly what was happening—after all, he hardened Egyptian hearts to pursue Israel—he also brought havoc among them. Entrapped in the valley between the walls of water and in total disarray, they acknowledged that the Lord was fighting for their enemy. Not only were they swept aside by the returning waters (vv. 26–28), they were also hindered from driving their chariots forward by a sudden cloudburst (Ps. 77:17–19).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 14:29–31 The stark difference between Israel and Egypt is again rehearsed: One nation is obstinate and defeated, their dead on the shores of the sea, having acknowledged the Lord victorious; the other nation is alive on the shores, having traversed the sea on dry ground, acknowledging the work of the Lord, reverencing and believing him and his servant, Moses.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:1–18 The structure of the song now sung by the nation contains four stanzas (vv. 1–5; 6–10; 11–13; and 14–17) and a one-line closing declaration (v. 18). Stanzas one and two end with “they went down” and “they sank” a refrain emphasizing the finality of the enemy army’s defeat. Stanzas three and four end with reference to God’s Holy Place (vv. 13 and 17). More is involved than in easily observing these break points of the song. The flow of thought and emphasis is also interesting. Stanza one briefly introduces God’s powerful victory (vv. 1–5). Stanza two graphically repeats the victory and then inserts the arrogant and vengeful assertions of victory by the enemy to show how puny they were (vv. 6–10). Stanza three concisely summarizes the victory after asking an appropriate question (vv. 11–13). Further, since the victory was essential for Israel’s rescue, the stanza also introduces them. Stanza four picks up and expands on Yahweh’s leading his people to their divinely assigned home and the consequent fear by other nations as they hear of Israel’s dramatic rescue from such a powerful enemy nation (vv. 14–17). The closing line sums it all up: “The Lord will reign forever and ever.” A narrative interlude (vv. 19–20) reminds of the theme behind the song, and introduces the antiphonal response of Miriam and her band of women (v. 21).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:1 I will sing. The Israelites began their song in the first person, effectively personalizing the community’s song as individually relevant, each person heralding Yahweh’s victory and declaring who and what he was to them (notice the possessive pronouns in v. 2).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:6 O Lord. The forthright declarations of the opening stanza (vv. 1–5) are most appropriately followed by this vocative form of address in the rest of the song (vv. 6, 11, 16–17), since the focus of attention is on his working and intervention.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:15 Edom . . . Moab . . . Canaan. Edom and Moab were on the eastern border of the Jordan; Canaan or Palestine is to the west.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:16–17 An expression of confidence in the promises that God had made to Abraham 700 years earlier (see Gen. 12; 15; 17).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:18 reign forever. This speaks of the eternal, universal kingship of the Lord (cf. Ps. 145:13).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:20 the prophetess. Miriam was the first woman to be given this honor. She herself claimed the Lord had spoken through her (Num. 12:2). She apparently played an important role in these rescue events because the prophet Micah states that God delivered Israel by the hand of Moses, Aaron, and Miriam (Mic. 6:4). Other women to receive this rare honor were Deborah (Judg. 4:4); Huldah (2 Kings 22:14); Isaiah's wife (Isa. 8:3); Anna (Luke 2:36); and Philip's four daughters (Acts 21:9).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:24 grumbled against Moses. Israelite memory of victory displayed a remarkable brevity. The personalized declarations of their ode to the Lord sung three days earlier vanished into thin air. Their belief in Moses faded out of the picture (14:31). Their question about drinking water roughly brushed aside all recent affirmations of God's being worthy of praise because he had done wonders and was clearly taking them to their land.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:25 water became sweet. Since there is no known tree that would naturally make unpalatable water drinkable, this must have been a miracle by which God demonstrated his willingness and ability to look after his people in a hostile environment. Marah is usually associated with modern-day Ain Hawarah, where the waters still remain brackish and unpleasant. tested them. "To subject to difficulty in order to prove the quality of someone or something" is one way to explain the meaning of the Hebrew word used. Later, at Rephidim (17:1–7), at Sinai (20:20), and at Taberah (Num. 11:1–3; 13:26–33), God did just that to Israel. This is something which no one can do to God himself (Deut. 6:16)—he needs no testing in character or deed, but man certainly does need proving.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:26 the Lord; your healer. Since this is what he is, Jehovah-Rapha, obedience to divine instruction and guidance will obviously bring healing, not the consequence of plagues like those visited upon Egypt. This promise is limited in context to Israel, most likely for the duration of the exodus only.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 15:27 Elim. The next stopping place, most probably in modern day Wadi Garandel, had an abundant water supply—God would and did lead them aright!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:1 wilderness of Sin. More details of the camp sites in the journey from Rameses to Succoth and beyond are found in Num. 33:5–11. That itinerary also lists the next stop as having been Dophkah (Num. 33:12). Identifying it with modern Debbet er Ramleh locates it in the southwest of the Sinai peninsula on a direct line between Elim and Sinai. fifteenth day . . . second month. Thirty days after their departure from Rameses.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:2 the whole congregation . . . grumbled. What characterized them as a whole was this attitude of negativism. Faced with the scarcity of resources in the wilderness, they hankered after the abundant resources they had experienced in Egypt. The country that had enslaved them looked good in comparison to the wilderness. Again, their complaining so soon after benefiting from the miracles done by the Lord on their behalf points only to their short-term memory and self-centeredness.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:3 died by the hand of the Lord. Incredibly, Israel’s complaint still acknowledged the intervention of the Lord in their affairs. Sarcastically, they voiced a preference for dying in Egypt. The hand of the Lord, which they had glorified in song (15:6) only a month beforehand, they now pretended would have been better used to kill them in Egypt.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:4 I am about to rain bread. God’s gracious answer to their complaining was to promise an abundance of the bread they missed. God’s directions on how to gather it would also test their obedience to him (vv. 4–5, 16, 26–28). See note on 16:31.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:5 The same principle on a larger scale would feed the nation during and after the sabbatical year (cf. Lev. 25:18–22).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:6 you shall know. Israel’s short-term memory loss would be short-lived because that very day of complaint would witness not only God’s provision for them but also would powerfully remind them of who had brought them out of Egypt, namely, the Lord their God (cf. vv. 11–12).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:7 the glory of the Lord. In seeing the start of the provision of daily bread on the next day, Israel would also see the Lord’s glory, an appropriate term to use because what he did showed his presence with them. “Glory” typically refers to God’s manifested presence, which makes him impressive and leads to worship. your grumbling. Set in the context of instruction on how the Lord would act to provide for them, the fourfold repetition of this phrase (vv. 6–9) served to highlight God’s gracious response in contrast to their ungracious grumbling against him. For an effective poetic presentation of this contrast, refer to Ps. 78:17–25.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:13 quail. The psalmist removed all doubt about whether these birds of the partridge family were not real birds but something else, for he called them “winged birds” and in the preceding line of the parallelism referred to the coming of the quails as God having “rained meat” on them (Ps. 78:27). Upon return to their former habitat, these migratory birds would often fall to the ground, exhausted from prolonged flight. In ancient Egyptian paintings, people were shown catching quails by throwing nets over the brush where they were nesting.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:16, 32 omer. Slightly more than 2 quarts.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:18 See 2 Cor. 8:15, where Paul applies this truth to Christian giving.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:22–30 The provision of manna on six days only but none on the seventh was a weekly lesson on the nature of the Sabbath as a different day. It taught the people to keep the Sabbath properly, and acted as a challenge to obey God’s commands.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:31 manna. The arrival of the quails in much quantity (v. 13) was totally overshadowed by the arrival of manna the next morning. Despite the different descriptions given for its form and taste (vv. 14, 31), the name chosen for it derived from the question they asked. “Manna” was an older form of their question, “What is it?” The psalmist referred to manna as the “grain of heaven” and “bread of the angels” that rained down after God had opened the windows of heaven (Ps. 78:23–25). Natural explanations for the manna, such as lichen growing on rocks or insect-excreted granules on tamarisk thickets, are totally inadequate to explain its presence in sufficient quantity on the ground under the dew every day except the Sabbath for the next 40 years (Ex. 16:35) to satisfy every family’s hunger. It was supernaturally produced and supernaturally sustained to last for the Sabbath!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 16:32–36 place it before the Lord. Provision was made for memorializing the giving of the manna. When the tabernacle was finally constructed, the pot of manna was placed inside the ark. Succeeding generations would be reminded, when they came for worship, of the faithfulness of the Lord in caring for his people (cf. Heb. 9:4).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:1 Rephidim. To be identified as modern-day Wadi Refayid.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:2 the people quarreled. This time the people, reacting to Moses' leading them to a waterless site, quarreled with him or laid a charge against him. So intense was their reaction that Moses thought he was about to be stoned (v. 4). Significantly, the nation had not come to Rephidim without divine guidance (v. 1), portrayed by the column of fire and cloud. The people, in the midst of their emotional response, simply could not see that right before their eyes was the evidence of God's leading.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:4 Moses cried to the Lord. The leader turned to God in prayer, whereas the people, instead of following his example, turned on their leader. Moses' petition was not an isolated incident. His life was characterized by prayer (cf. 15:25; 32:30–32; Num. 11:2, 11; 12:13; 14:13, 19) and by turning to God for solutions to problems and crises.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:5–6 Pass on before the people . . . I will stand before you. By these words in his instructions to Moses, the Lord reinforced both the position of Moses as leader and himself as present to act. He answered the people's charge against Moses and their underlying challenge of his presence (v. 7). In fact, he intervened miraculously!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:7 Massah and Meribah. Appropriate names, "Testing" and "Quarreling," were assigned to this place; a disappointing culmination to all they had experienced of God's miraculous care and guidance (cf. Ps. 95:7–8; Heb. 3:7–8).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:8 Amalek came and fought. The Amalekites took their name from Amalek, the grandson of Esau, and dwelt as a nomadic people in the Negeb. Israel first encountered their military at Rephidim in the wilderness (Ex 17:8–13; Deut. 25:17–18). As a result, the Amalekites were doomed to annihilation by God (Ex. 17:14; Num. 24:20; Deut. 25:19) but it would not be immediate (Ex. 17:16). The Amalekites defeated disobedient Israel at Hormah (Num. 14:43–45). Saul failed to destroy them as God ordered (1 Sam. 15:2–3, 9). David later fought and defeated the Amalekites (1 Sam. 30:1–20). In Hezekiah’s day, the Amalekite remnant in the land was finally destroyed by Hezekiah (c. 716–687 B.C.). The final descendants of Agag (Est. 3:1), the Amalekite king in Saul’s day, were destroyed in Persia at the time of Esther and Mordecai (c. 473 B.C.; Est. 2:5, 8–10).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:9–13 Through the circumstances they experienced, Israel had learned how God provided food and water. They had to learn through warfare that God would also bring about defeat of hostile neighbors.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:9 Joshua. The name of Moses’ aide-de-camp, or personal minister (24:13; 33:11; Josh. 1:1) appears here for the first time in Exodus. His assignment to muster a task force was part of his being groomed for military leadership in Israel. Actually, at this stage his name was still Hoshea, which later changed to Joshua at Kadesh just before the reconnaissance mission in Canaan (Num. 13:16). At this stage, Israel could not be described as a seasoned army and was not even militarily well prepared and trained. See Introduction to Joshua. the staff of God. The staff that Moses held up in his hands was no magic wand. Rather it had been previously used to initiate, via his chosen leader, the miracles that God did and about which he had informed Moses in advance. It became, therefore, the symbol of God’s personal and powerful involvement, with Moses’ outstretched arms perhaps signifying an appeal to God. The ebb and flow of battle in correlation with Moses’ uplifted or drooping arms imparted more than psychological encouragement as the soldiers looked up to their leader on the hilltop, and more than Moses’ interceding for them. It demonstrated and acknowledged their having to depend upon God for victory in battle and not upon their own strength and zeal. It also confirmed the position of Moses both in relation to God and the nation’s well-being and safety. They had angrily chided him for their problems, but God confirmed his appointment as leader.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:10 Hur. Caleb’s son and the grandfather of Bezalel, the artisan (cf. 31:2–11; 1 Chron. 2:19–20).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:14 Write this as a memorial . . . and recite it. Moses would have learned writing and record-keeping in Pharaoh’s school of government. Official Hebrew records other than Scripture were also to be kept, and in this case especially for the purpose of remembering the victory in the very first battle in which they nationally engaged. God referred to “a book,” so Moses had evidently already begun it. This was not, then, the initial entry into what perhaps became known as the “Book of the Wars of the Lord” (Num. 21:14). Writing it was essential, so the facts could be verified and needed not to depend upon human memory or solely oral tradition. blot out the memory. The sentence of national extinction that the Amalekites proclaimed for Israel (cf. Ps. 83:4–7) passed by divine decree upon the Amalekites. The sentence was partially realized in Saul’s and David’s day (cf. 1 Sam. 15:1–9 and 2 Sam. 1:1; 8:11–12), after which it is scarcely mentioned again. However, due to Saul’s disobedience in sparing Agag, the Amalekite king and some of his people (1 Sam. 15:7–9), he lost his throne (1 Sam. 15:23). Samuel killed Agag (1 Sam. 15:33), but some Amalekites remained to return a few years later to raid Israel’s southern territory, even capturing David’s family (1 Sam. 30:1–5). David killed all but 400 (1 Sam. 30:16–17) who escaped. It was a descendant of Agag, Haman, who tried to exterminate the Jews later in Esther’s day (cf. Est. 3:1, 6).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:15 The Lord Is My Banner. By titling the altar with this designation for the Lord, Yahweh-Nissi, Moses declared the Lord himself to be the standard of his people.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 17:16 The Lord will have war. The difficulty of the Hebrew text permits an alternative translation: “a hand is upon/toward/against the throne/banner of Yahweh,” with the sense of supplication, or of taking an oath. Contextually, the significance is clear, whatever the translation adopted: The ongoing problem with Amalek was not merely one nation hostile toward another, it was a war between God and Amalek.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 18:1 Jethro . . . heard of all. The intelligence-gathering ability of ancient peoples should not be underestimated. Quickly and thoroughly the news of significant events in other lands passed from one place to another, very often via the merchant caravans that traversed the Fertile Crescent, or through ambassadors and other official contacts between nations. In Jethro’s case, whatever knowledge he had gleaned of Israel’s progress had been supplemented with information from Zipporah and her sons after Moses sent them ahead to her home (v. 2).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 18:7–12 Moses’ testimony elicited responses of praise and sacrifice from Jethro; evidence of his belief. Further, he understood fully the incomparability of Yahweh (v. 11). The priest of Midian (v. 1) was surely no worshiper of Midian’s gods! Since Midianites were generally regarded as idolaters (cf. Num. 25:17–18; 31:2–3, 16), Jethro must be viewed as remarkably different from his contemporaries; a difference highlighted by Aaron and the elders worshiping and fellowshiping together with him (Ex. 18:12).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 18:12 to God. Since the name Yahweh is always used in connection with sacrifices prescribed for Israel in the Pentateuch, the switch to Elohim must have some significance here, particularly after Jethro had himself used the name of Yahweh in his response to Moses. Despite the strong declaration of his faith and understanding, Jethro was a believing Gentile, therefore, a proselyte, and an alien. In this situation the Lord was relating to the Israelite and Gentile world simultaneously, thus the use of Elohim rather than Yahweh, the unique covenant name for Israel.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 18:13–27 Jethro’s practical wisdom was of immense benefit to Moses and Israel, and has been lauded as an example of delegation and management organization by efficiency experts for centuries—and still is. Woven into Jethro’s advice were statements about God and the virtues of godly men that cause one to respect this man as having his newfound faith well integrated into his thinking. Indeed, he fully recognized that Moses needed divine permission to enact his advice (v. 23). Moses apparently did not immediately implement Jethro’s solution, but waited until the law had been given (cf. Deut. 1:9–15).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 18:21 These same spiritual qualities were required of NT leaders (see Acts 6:3; 1 Tim. 3:1–7; Titus 1:6–9).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:1–40:38 This section outlines Israel’s activities during their approximately 11-month stay at Sinai (cf. 19:1 with Num. 10:11).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:3–8 The Israelites discerned the familiar pattern, in shortened form, of a suzerainty (superior-subordinate relationship) treaty in God’s words: a preamble (v. 3), a historical prologue (v. 4), certain stipulations (v. 5a), and blessings (vv. 5b–6a). The acceptance in solemn assembly would normally be recorded in the final treaty document. Here it follows upon presentation of the treaty to them (vv. 7–8). See note on 24:7.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:3 out of the mountain. The sign that the Lord had given particularly to Moses when he was still in Midian (3:12), that God had indeed sent him, was now fulfilled; he was with the people before the mountain of God. house of Jacob . . . people of Israel. In employing this dual designation for the nation, the Lord reminded them of their humble beginnings as descendants of Abraham through Isaac and Jacob, who had been with them in Egypt, and of their status now as a nation.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:4 bore you on eagles' wings. With a most appropriate metaphor, God described the exodus and the journey to Sinai. Eagles were known to have carried their young out of the nests on their wings and taught them to fly, catching them when necessary on their outspread wings. Moses, in his final song, employed this metaphor of God's care for Israel and especially noted that there was only one Lord who did this (Deut. 32:11–12).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:5–6 Three titles for Israel, “My treasured possession,” “a kingdom of priests,” and “a holy nation,” were given by the Lord to the nation, contingent upon their being an obedient and covenant-keeping nation. These titles summarized the divine blessings that such a nation would experience: belonging especially to the Lord, representing him in the earth and being set apart unto him for his purposes. These expanded ethnically and morally what it meant to have brought them to himself. “For all the earth is mine,” in the midst of the titles, laid stress upon the uniqueness and sovereignty of the Lord and had to be understood as dismissing all other claims by so-called other gods of the nations. It was more than the power of one god over another in Israel's situation; it was the choice and power of the only Lord! See 1 Pet. 2:9, where Peter uses these terms in the sense of God's spiritual kingdom of the redeemed.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:8 All the people answered together. Presented with the details of God's bilateral, conditional covenant (notice the “if you will indeed obey . . . you shall be” in v. 5), the people, briefed by their elders, responded with positive enthusiasm. The Lord's response to them does not take it as a rash promise by the people (cf. Deut. 5:27–29).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:9 believe you forever. The Lord designed the upcoming encounter with him so as to forestall any later accusation that Moses had himself compiled the law and had not met with the Lord on the mountain. It would also lead to great deference being accorded Moses by the people.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:10 consecrate them. How serious this step was for the nation was emphasized for them by two days of special preparation. The inward preparation for meeting with God was mirrored in the outward actions of maintaining bodily cleanliness.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:12–13 The proper approach to a holy God could not have been better stressed than by imposing a death penalty upon those who violated the arbitrary boundaries that God had set around the mountain. Even animals could not encroach upon this sacred area (cf. Heb. 12:20).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:15 do not go near a woman. This was so they would be ceremonially clean (see Lev. 15:16–18).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:16 thunders and lightnings. The dramatic visual presentation of God's presence on the mountain, accompanied by thick cloud and trumpet blast, more than impressed the onlookers with God's majesty and power—they trembled, but so did Moses (Heb. 12:21). The unusual was happening, not the usual phenomena from volcanic activity, as some writers have proposed.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 19:24 the priests. With the law still to be given, no priesthood had been established in Israel. These priests must have been the firstborn in each family who served as family priests because they had been dedicated to the Lord (cf. 13:2; 24:5). Their place would be taken over later by the Levites (Num. 3:45).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:1 all these words. This general description of the commands to follow also received from Moses the title “Ten Commandments” (34:28; Deut. 4:13). By this emphasis on God himself speaking these words (cf. Deut. 5:12, 15–16, 22, 32–33), all theories on Israel’s borrowing legal patterns or concepts from the nations around them are unacceptable.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:3–17 The Ten Commandments, also known as the Decalogue, which follow upon the opening historical prologue (v. 2), are formed as a precept or direct command given in the second person. This form was something rather uncommon in that day. Ancient Near Eastern law codes for the most part were casuistic, or case-law, in form, i.e., an “if . . . then” construction written in the third person wherein a supposed offense was followed by a statement of the action to be taken or penalty to be exacted. The Ten Commandments may also be grouped into two broad categories: the vertical, namely man’s relationship to God (vv. 2–11), and the horizontal, namely man’s relationship to the community (vv. 12–17). Concisely listed prohibitions mark the second category, with only one exception—an imperative plus its explanation (v. 12). Explanation or reason appended to a prohibition marks the first category. By these Ten Commandments, true theology and true worship, the name of God and the Sabbath, family honor, life, marriage, property, truth, and virtue are well protected. See note on 24:7.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:3 before me. Meaning “besides me,” this is a most appropriate expression in the light of the next few verses. All false gods stand in opposition to the true God, and the worship of them is incompatible with the worship of Yahweh. When Israel departed from the worship of the only one and true God, she plunged into religious confusion (Judg. 17; 18).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:4–6 The mode or fashion of worship appropriate to only one Lord forbids any attempt to represent or caricature him by use of anything he has made. Total censure of artistic expression was not the issue; the absolute censure of idolatry and false worship was the issue. Violation would seriously affect succeeding generations because the Lord demanded full and exclusive devotion, i.e., he is a jealous God (cf. 34:14; Deut. 4:24; 5:9). The worship of man-made representations was nothing less than hatred of the true God.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:5–6 to the third and the fourth generation . . . thousands. Moses had made it clear that children were not punished for the sins of their parents (Deut. 24:16; see Ezek. 18:19–32), but children would feel the impact of breaches of God’s law by their parents’ generation as a natural consequence of its disobedience, its hatred of God. Children reared in such an environment would imbibe and then practice similar idolatry, thus themselves expressing hateful disobedience. The difference in consequence served as both a warning and a motivation. The effect of a disobedient generation was to plant wickedness so deeply that it took several generations to reverse.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:7 take the name . . . in vain. To use God’s name in such a way as to bring disrepute upon his character or deeds was to irreverently misuse his name. To fail to perform an oath in which his name had been legitimately uttered (cf. 22:10–11; Lev. 19:12; Deut. 6:13) was to call into question his existence, since the guilty party evidently had no further thought of the God whose name he had used to improve his integrity. For the believer in the church age, however, the use of the name of God is not a needed verification of his intention and trustworthiness since his life is to exhibit truth on all occasions, with his “yes” meaning “yes” and his “no” meaning “no” (Matt. 5:37; James 5:12).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:8 Sabbath. Cf. 31:12–17. Each seventh day belonged to the Lord and would not be a work day but one set apart (i.e., holy) for rest and for time devoted to the worship of Yahweh. The term “Sabbath” is derived from “to rest or cease from work.” The historical precedent for such a special observance was the creation week; a span of time equal to what man copied in practice. Each Sabbath day should have reminded the worshiper that the God whom he praised had indeed made everything in both realms of existence in six 24-hour days. The Sabbath would also stand, therefore, as a counter to evolutionary ideas prevalent in false religion. Moses, in the review of the Decalogue, also linked the observance of the Sabbath with Israel's exodus from Egypt and specified that this was why Israel was to keep it (Deut. 5:12–15). Significantly, the command for the Sabbath is not repeated in the NT, whereas the other nine are. In fact, it is nullified (cf. Col. 2:16–17). Belonging especially to Israel under the Mosaic economy, the Sabbath could not apply to the believer of the church age, for he is living in a new economy.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:12–16 Cf. Matt. 19:18–19; Mark 10:19; Luke 18:20.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:12 Honor your father and your mother. The key to societal stability is reverence and respect for parents and their authority. The appended promise primarily related the command to life in the Promised Land and reminded the Israelite of the program God had set up for him and his people. Within the borders of their territory, God expected them not to tolerate juvenile delinquency, which at heart is overt disrespect for parents and authority. Severe consequences, namely capital punishment, could apply (cf. Deut. 21:18–21). One of the reasons for the Babylonian exile was a failure to honor parents (Ezek. 22:7, 15). The apostle Paul individualized this national promise when he applied the truth to believers in his day (cf. Matt. 15:4; Mark 7:10; Eph. 6:1–3).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:13–15 Cf. Rom. 13:9.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:13 murder. The irreversible nature of the divinely imposed sentence of death on every manslayer who killed another intentionally (cf. 21:12; Num. 35:17–21) stands without parallel in ancient Near Eastern literature and legal codes (cf. Gen. 9:5–6). Further, the sacredness of human life stands out in the passages dealing with unintentional manslaughter. The accident of death still carried with it a penalty of banishment to the city of refuge until the death of the high priest for the one who killed but not with intent. Careful appraisal of the word Moses used (one of seven different Hb. words for killing, and one used only 47 times in the OT) suggests a broad translation of “to kill, slay” but denoting the taking of life under a legal system where he would have to answer to the stipulations of a legal code, no matter whether he killed unintentionally or intentionally. By this command, men would be reminded and exhorted to strive after carefulness in the affairs of life so that on the person-to-person level no one would die by their hand. See note on 21:12–14 (cf. Matt. 5:21; James 2:11).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:14 adultery. Applicable to both men and women, this command protected the sacredness of the marriage relationship. God had instituted marriage at the creation of man and woman (Gen. 2:24) and had blessed it as the means of filling the earth (Gen. 1:28). The penalty for infidelity in the marital relationship was death (Lev. 20:10). Adultery was also referred to as “a great sin” (Gen. 20:9) and a “great wickedness and sin against God” (cf. Gen. 39:9; Matt. 5:27; James 2:11).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:15 steal. Any dishonest acquiring of another’s goods or assets greatly disturbs the right to ownership of private property, which is an important principle for societal stability.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:16 false witness. Justice is not served by any untruthful testimony. Practically all societies have recognized this principle and adjure all witnesses in courts to tell the truth and nothing but the truth.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:17 covet. The thoughts and desires of the heart do not escape attention. A strong longing to have what another has is wrong. This tenth command suggests that none of the previous nine commandments are only external acts with no relation to internal thoughts (cf. Matt. 15:19; Rom. 7:7; 13:9).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:18 trembled, and they stood far off. The people fearfully withdrew from the cluster of phenomena accompanying this theophany, this appearance of God on the mountain. They instinctively placed Moses in the position of mediator between them and God, because such was the gap between them and their holy God that they feared they were not fit to live in his presence (v. 19).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:19 do not let God speak. Fearing for their lives, the nation asked Moses to be their mediator (cf. Heb. 12:18–21).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:20 Instructed not to respond to the phenomena with fear, they were also told that proper fear, i.e., awe and reverence of God, deterred sin.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 20:22–26 Sacrifices, offerings, and altars were not unknown to Israel and were already part of certain worship ceremonies. Neither the earthen nor stone altars would have even a hint of being shaped to represent something more specific, so the restrictions on the form and the method of building would ensure the appropriateness and propriety of their worship. Leviticus 1–7 outlines the Mosaic sacrifices.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:1 rules. A combination of casuistic (case-law) and apodictic (direct command) precepts laid down, as a detailed enlargement of the Decalogue, the framework for judging and resolving civil disputes in Israel. Such a combination continued to confirm the uniqueness of Israel’s law among the different ancient Near Eastern law codes. Later in a special ceremony, God entitled these precepts the Book of the Covenant (24:7).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:2–11 The law of the slave guaranteed freedom after a specified period of 6 years unless the slave himself elected permanent servitude, but this would be service in a context not of abuse but of love (v. 5). Any permanent, involuntary servitude for a Hebrew slave to a Hebrew master was obviously undesirable for Israelite society and was unknown in Israel (cf. Lev. 25:39–55). Provision was also made to ensure the proper treatment of female slaves, who could not deliberately be left destitute by wrongful action on the part of their master.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:12–14 The laws relating to personal injury (vv. 15–36) from man or animal were preceded by the most serious of injuries, homicide. The death penalty was prescribed for intentional homicide only (see 20:13), whereas for unintentional homicide the penalty was banishment to an appointed place, which later God revealed were the cities of refuge (cf. Num. 35:6–24; Deut. 19:1–13). No degree of sanctuary applied to one guilty of premeditated murder. Death by accident at the hand of another is something unplanned by man but which God let happen. The law did afford sanctuary but away from home and vengeful relatives, often for life, because there the one guilty of involuntary manslaughter remained until the death of the high priest (Num. 35:25, 28).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:15–17 Disrespect for parents seen in physical and verbal abuse of them by their children was so serious it was designated a capital offense. Commandment five was a serious matter! Other ancient law codes, e.g., the Code of Hammurabi, also respected parental authority and prescribed severe consequences, although not the death penalty.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:17 Cf. Matt. 15:4 and Mark 7:10.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:20–21, 26–27 Punishment of slaves was considered the right of the owner (Prov. 10:13; 13:24), but did not allow for violence. Judges were to decide the appropriate punishment if the slave died (Ex. 21:20). If the slave lived a few days it was evidence that the owner had no intent to kill, and the loss of the slave was punishment enough (v. 21). A beating without death immediately ensuing was construed as a disciplinary matter not a homicidal one. Any permanent personal injury brought freedom and loss of a master's investment. The master's power over the slave was thus limited, which made this law unprecedented in the ancient world.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:22 Compensation was mandatory for accidentally causing a premature birth, even if no injury resulted to either mother or child. Judges were brought into the legal process so that damages awarded were fair and were not calculated out of vengeance.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:23–24 Cf. Lev. 24:19–20 and Deut. 19:21. The principle of retaliation, or lex talionis, applied if injury did occur to either mother or child. The punishment matched, but did not exceed, the damage done to the victim. The welfare of a pregnant woman was protected by this law so that unintentional maltreatment constituted culpable negligence. Significantly for the abortion debate, the fetus was considered a person; thus, someone was held accountable for its death or injury.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:24 Cf. Matt. 5:38.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:30 Animal owners were held responsible for death or injuries caused by their animals. Since the owner was guilty of negligence and not of an intentional crime, he was able to make payment to escape the death penalty. Again, judges are brought into the process to ensure that no vengeful decisions are made.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 21:32 shekels. A shekel weighs .4 ounces; 30 shekels would weigh 12 ounces. Christ was betrayed for the price of a slave (Zech. 11:12–13; Matt. 26:14–15).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:3 if the sun has risen on him. The culpability of a householder's actions against an intruder depended on whether the break-in (lit., "digging through" the mud walls) was at night or in the daytime. At night quick evaluation of an intruder's intentions was not as clear as it might be in daytime, nor would someone be awake and on hand to help.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:11 an oath by the Lord. Presumably an oath of innocence that would bind the two parties to a dispute over lost goods and preclude any further legal action being taken.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:16 If a man seduces . . . give the bride-price. The male was held accountable for premarital intercourse, and the victim was seen as having been exploited by him, for which he paid a price (cf. Deut. 22:22–29).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:18 sorceress. A woman who practices occultism.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:19 The degree of sexual perversion in Canaanite culture was such that bestiality was fairly commonplace (cf. Lev. 18:23–24). Hittite laws, for example, even permitted cohabitation with certain animals.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:20 devoted to destruction. Lit., meaning “put to the ban” or “devoted to sacred use,” which in this case meant death (cf. Josh. 7:2ff.).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:22 widow or fatherless child. God reserved his special attention for widows and orphans, who often had no one to care for them. He also reserved a special reaction, his wrath, for those abusing and exploiting them. This wrath would work out in military invasions as the sword reduced the abusers' families to the same status of being without spouse or parents.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:25 interest. One way in which the people showed their concern for the poor and needy was to take no business advantage of them. Charging interest was allowable (Lev. 25:35–37; Deut. 23:19–20), but not when it was exorbitant or worsened the plight of the borrower. The psalmist identified a righteous man as one who lends money without interest (Ps. 15:5).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:28 See Acts 23:3–5, where Paul apparently violated this law, not knowing to whom he spoke.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 22:31 consecrated to me. All these laws and regulations caused Israel to be set apart in conduct, not just in name. The special calling as Yahweh's firstborn son (4:22) and as his treasured possession, a kingdom of priests, and a holy nation (19:5–6) mandated ethical uprightness. not eat any flesh that is torn. Flesh of an animal killed by another and lying in the field became unclean by coming into contact with unclean carnivores and insects and with putrefaction by not having had the blood drained properly from it. A set-apart lifestyle impacted every area of life, including from where one collected his meat.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:1–9 A list of miscellaneous laws, which includes the protection of equitable and impartial justice for all. False testimony, undiscerningly following a majority, favoring one over another, and accepting bribes, all contribute to the perversion of true justice. The attitude of impartiality was to include the helping of another with his animals regardless of whether he be friend or foe. If no help was given, his livelihood could very well be adversely affected, which was a situation others in the community could not allow to happen.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:10–11 seventh year. A sabbatical year of rest after six years of farming benefited both the land and the poor. This pattern of letting a field lie fallow appears to have been unique with Israel.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:13 Idolatry was to be avoided right down to the level of not causing the name of other deities to be remembered. This perhaps served also as a prohibition of intermarriage with other nations, for in the marriage contract recognition was given to the deities of the parties involved, which would have had the effect of putting God on a par with pagan gods.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:14–19 Requiring all males to be present for three specified feasts at a central sanctuary would have had a socially and religiously uniting effect on the nation. The men must trust the Lord to protect their landholdings while on pilgrimage to the tabernacle (cf. 34:23–24). All three feasts were joyful occasions, being a commemoration of the exodus (the Feast of Unleavened Bread), an expression of gratitude to God for all the grain he had provided (the Feast of the Harvest), and a thanksgiving for the final harvest (the Feast of Ingathering). Alternative names appear in the biblical record for the second and third feasts: the Feast of Weeks (34:22) or Firstfruits (34:22; Acts 2:1), and the Feast of Tabernacles or Booths (Lev. 23:33–36). For additional discussions see Lev. 23:1–24:9; Num. 28; 29; Deut. 16.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:19 not boil a young goat. Canaanite ritual, according to excavations at Ras Shamra (ancient Ugarit), called for sacrificial kids to be boiled in milk, but the damaged Ugaritic text does not clearly specify mother's milk. If it were so, then it is understandable that Israel was being prevented from copying pagan idolatrous ritualism. Another option suggests that the dead kid was being boiled in the very substance which had sustained its life; hence the prohibition. Until more archeological information comes to light, the specific religious or cultural reason remains as supposition.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:23 my angel. Usually taken to be a reference to the angel of Yahweh, who is distinguished from the Lord who talks about him as another person. See note on 3:2. Yet, he is identified with him by reason of his forgiving sin and the Lord's name being in him (23:21). Neither Moses nor some other messenger or guide qualify for such descriptions. The key to victory in the upcoming takeover of the land would not be Israel's military skill but the presence of this angel, who is the preincarnate Christ.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:24 pillars. Stone markers of pagan shrines were absolutely intolerable once the land had been taken from the tribes just mentioned in the previous verse.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:25–26 Proper worship brought with it due rewards, not only good harvests and a good water supply, but also physical health, including fertility and safe pregnancies.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:28 hornets. This figurative expression of the panic-producing power of God parallels “my terror” (v. 27), which was the obvious effect of “my angel” having been the advance guard to the conquest (v. 23). In anticipation of the conquest of their land, Israel was being given another reminder that victory depended on God and not their own efforts alone. Fear and panic did play a strategic role in the victories in Transjordan and Canaan (Num. 22:3; Josh. 2:9–11; 5:1; 9:24). An alternative non-figurative view is based upon the bee or wasp being a heraldic symbol of Egyptian pharaohs whose steady succession of military strikes into Canaan year after year God providentially used to weaken Canaan prior to the invasion by Israel.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:29–30 The occupation would be a gradual but effective process taking longer than a year to accomplish, but ensuring full control of a land in good condition and not left desolate by a sweeping and destructive warfare. The reference to the multiplication of wild beasts if the land was desolated underscores the fertility of the land and its ability to support life.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:31 I will set your border. God gave both broad and more detailed geographic descriptions of the land. Even limited demarcation of borders was sufficient to lay out the extent of their possession. It would extend from the Gulf of Aqabah to the Mediterranean and from the desert in the Negeb to the river of the northern boundary.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 23:32 make no covenant. International diplomacy, with its parity or suzerainty treaties, was not an option open to Israel in dealing with the tribes living within the designated borders of the Promised Land (Deut. 7:1–2). All these treaties were accompanied by the names of the nations' gods, so it was fitting to deliver a charge not to make a treaty (covenant) with them, nor to serve their pagan gods. The situation with other nations outside the land being given to Israel was different (cf. Deut. 20:10–18).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 24:4 twelve pillars. Unlike pagan stone markers (23:24), these were built to represent the 12 tribes and were placed alongside the altar Moses had erected in preparation for a covenant ratification ceremony. They did not mark the worship site of a pagan deity.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 24:5 young men. Most probably a reference to firstborn children who officiated until the law appointed the Levites in their place.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 24:7 the Book of the Covenant. Civil, social, and religious laws were received by Moses on Mount Sinai, orally presented (v. 3), then written down (v. 4), and read to the people. This book contained not only this detailed enlargement of the Decalogue (20:22–23:33), but also the Ten Commandments themselves (20:1–17) and the preliminary abbreviated presentation of the treaty (19:3–6). See notes on 19:3–8 and 20:3–17.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 24:8 threw it on the people. By this act, Moses, in response to the positive acceptance and assertion of obedience by the people after hearing the Book of the Covenant read to them, officially sealed the treaty with blood, a not uncommon custom (cf. Gen. 15:9–13, 17). Half of the blood used had been sprinkled on the altar as part of the consecration ceremony. The representatives of Israel were thereby qualified to ascend the mountain and participate in the covenant meal with Yahweh (24:11; cf. Heb. 9:20).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 24:9–11 they saw the God of Israel. The representatives accompanying Moses up the mountain, by God's instructions, were privileged to have seen God without being consumed by his holiness. Precisely what they saw must remain a moot point and must stay within the description given, which focuses only on what was under his feet. This perhaps indicates that only a partial manifestation took place such as would occur before Moses (33:20), or that the elders, in the presence of divine majesty, beauty, and strength (cf. Ps. 96:6), did not dare raise their eyes above his footstool.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 24:10 pavement of sapphire. The description sounds like a comparison with lapis lazuli, an opaque blue precious stone much used in Mesopotamia and Egypt at that time.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 24:12 tablets of stone. For the first time, mention is made of what form the revelation of the law would take: tablets of stone. They were also called the “tablets of the testimony” (31:18) and the “tablets of the covenant” (Deut. 9:9).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 24:14 Hur. See note on 17:10.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 24:16–18 This was the first (ending in 32:6) of two (40 days and 40 nights each) trips to Sinai (cf. 34:2–28). The awe-inspiring sight of God’s glory cloud, the Shekinah, resting on the mountain and into which Moses disappeared for 40 days and nights, impressed everyone with the singular importance of this event in Israel’s history. During these days Moses received all the instructions on the tabernacle and its furnishings and accoutrements (chs. 25–31). The settling of the Shekinah upon the tabernacle at its completion impressed the Israelites with the singular importance of this structure in Israel’s worship of and relationship to Yahweh (40:34–38).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:1–40:38 The primary focus of attention in the closing chapters is upon the design and construction of the central place of worship for the nation. In preparation for occupation of their land, they had been given a system of law to regulate individual and national life, to prevent exploitation of the poor and the stranger, and to safeguard against polytheism and idolatry. That these safeguards were needed was confirmed by the idolatrous golden calf incident (32:1–35). The very detailed and divinely given blueprint of the tabernacle removes all speculation about whether it has any comparison with, or was somehow derived from, the little portable sanctuaries belonging to various tribal deities. The origin of the tabernacle was found in God and delivered to Moses by special revelation (cf. 25:9, 40; 26:30; Heb. 8:5).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:2 contribution for me. Voluntarily and freely the people were given opportunity to personally contribute to the nation’s worship center from the list of 14 components and materials needed to build the tabernacle. One wonders how much of their contribution came originally from Egyptian homes and had been thrust into the hands of the Israelites right before the exodus (cf. 12:35–36). The people so responded with joy and enthusiasm that they finally had to be restrained from bringing any more gifts (35:21–29; 36:3–7). A similar response occurred centuries later, when King David requested gifts to build the temple (1 Chron. 29:1–9).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:4 blue and purple and scarlet yarns. These colors were produced by dyeing the thread: blue from a shellfish, purple from the secretion of a murex snail, and crimson from powdered eggs and bodies of certain worms, which attached themselves to holly plants. Deriving different colored dyes from different natural sources demonstrates a substantial degree of technical sophistication with textiles and fabrics. fine twined linen. Egypt had a reputation for excellence in producing finely twined linens.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:5 tanned rams’ skins. With all the wool removed and then dyed, it resembled moroccan leather. acacia wood. A hard, durable, close-grained, and aromatic desert wood avoided by wood-eating insects. It was considered good for cabinet making, and could also be found in sufficient quantities in the Sinai peninsula.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:6 spices. For the many years of Bible history, Arabia was highly respected for the variety of balsams she exported.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:7 onyx stones. Sometimes thought to be chrysoprase quartz, a product known to the Egyptians and with which Israel was no doubt familiar. The LXX translated it as beryl.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:8 I may dwell. The tabernacle, a noun derived from the verb “to dwell,” was an appropriate designation for that which was to be the place of God’s presence with his people. His presence would be between the cherubim and from there he would meet with Moses (v. 22).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:9 tabernacle. The Pentateuch records five different names for the tabernacle: 1) “sanctuary,” denoting a sacred place or set apart, i.e., holy, place; 2) “tent,” denoting a temporary or collapsible dwelling; 3) “tabernacle,” from “to dwell,” denoting the place of God’s presence (as well as other titles); 4) “tabernacle of the congregation, or meeting”; and 5) “tabernacle of the testimony.”

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:11 pure gold. The technology of the day was sufficient to refine gold.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:16 the testimony. This designation for the two tablets of stone containing the Ten Commandments, which were placed inside the ark, explains why it was also called “the ark of the testimony” (v. 22), and shows why it was appropriate to call the whole structure “the tabernacle” or “the tent of the testimony.” “The ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth” (Josh. 3:11) and “the holy ark” (2 Chron. 35:3) were alternative designations.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:17 mercy seat. The lid or cover of the ark was the “mercy seat” or the place at which atonement took place. Between the Shekinah glory cloud above the ark and the tablets of law inside the ark was the blood-sprinkled cover. Blood from the sacrifices stood between God and the broken law of God!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:18 cherubim. Forged as one with the golden cover of the ark were two angelic beings rising up on each end and facing one another, their wings stretching up and over, forming an arch. Cherubim, associated with the majestic glory and presence of God (cf. Ezek. 10:1–22), were appropriately woven into the tabernacle curtains and the veil for the Most Holy Place (26:1, 31), for this place was where God was present with his people. Scripture reveals them as the bearers of God’s throne (1 Sam. 4:4; Isa. 37:16) and the guardians of the Garden of Eden and the Tree of Life (Gen. 3:24).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:30 bread of the Presence. Each week a new batch of 12 loaves of bread was laid on a table on the north side of the Holy Place. The utensils for this table were also made of refined gold (v. 29). This “bread of his Presence” was not set out in order to feed Israel’s God, unlike food placed in pagan shrines and temples, but to acknowledge that the 12 tribes were sustained constantly under the watchful eye and care of their Lord. The bread was eaten in the Holy Place each Sabbath by the priests on duty (Lev. 24:5–9). The bread of the Presence is understood to typify the Lord Jesus Christ as the Bread that came from heaven (John 6:32–35).

The Plan of the Tabernacle

The tabernacle was to provide a place where God might dwell among his people. The term tabernacle sometimes refers to the tent, including the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place, which was covered with embroidered curtains. But in other places it refers to the entire complex, including the curtained court in which the tent stood.

This illustration shows relative positions of the tabernacle furniture used in Israelite worship. The tabernacle is enlarged for clarity.

The Placement of Israel's Tribes

©1993 by Thomas Nelson, Inc.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:31 lampstand. Situated opposite the table of the bread of the Presence on the south side of the Holy Place stood an ornate lampstand, or menorah, patterned after a flowering almond tree. It provided light for the priests serving in the Holy Place. Care was taken, according to God's instructions (27:20–21; 30:7–8; Lev. 24:1–4), to keep it well supplied with pure olive oil so that it would not be extinguished. The lampstand is seen as typifying the Lord Jesus Christ, who was the true light that came into the world (John 1:6–9; 8:12).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:39 talent. Approximately 75 pounds.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 25:40 Cf. Heb. 8:5.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 26:1 ten curtains. The beauty of these curtains could be seen only from the inside, the thick outer protective covering of goats' hair drapes, and ram and porpoise skins (v. 14) hiding them from the view of anyone except the priests who entered.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 26:7 eleven curtains. The extra length of the outer drapes doubled as a covering for the front and back of the tabernacle structure (vv. 9–13).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 26:15–29 The frame or trellis work, on which the curtains and outer coverings were draped, also received precise instructions. The portability of the whole structure was obvious. Throughout the wilderness wanderings, it could be quickly dismantled and readied for transport, and just as rapidly re-erected.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 26:30 according to the plan. Again (cf. 25:40) the warning was sounded that the blueprint must be carefully followed. Nothing was to be left to human guesswork, no matter how skilled the craftsmen might have been.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 26:31–34 A veil, similar in design to the inner curtains (see note on 26:1), divided the tabernacle into the Holy Place and the Most Holy, or lit., the Most Holy Place.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 26:36 screen. Another curtain or veil, without the embroidered cherubim motif, was made to cover the entranceway into the Holy Place.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 27:1 altar. The largest piece of equipment, also known as the “altar of burnt offering” (Lev. 4:7, 10, 18), was situated in the courtyard of the tabernacle. It was covered, not in gold as the items inside the Holy Place, but in bronze. Like the other pieces of furniture and equipment, it was also built to be carried by poles (27:6–7).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 27:3 All the altar’s utensils and accessories were also made of bronze, not gold.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 27:9 the court of the tabernacle. The dimensions of the rectangular courtyard space, bordered by curtains and poles around the tabernacle were also precisely given (vv. 9–19; 150 feet by 75 feet). The outer hangings were high enough, 5 cubits or 7.5 feet, to block all view of the interior of the courtyard (v. 18). Entry into the courtyard of God’s dwelling place was not gained just generally and freely from all quarters.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 27:16 gate of the court. The curtain forming the covering for the entranceway into the courtyard was colored differently from that which surrounded the oblong courtyard. Clearly there was only one way to enter this very special place where God had chosen to place the evidence of his dwelling with his people.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 27:20–21 pure beaten olive oil. The clear oil from crushed unripened olives granted almost a smoke-free light. The people were to provide the fuel to maintain the light needed by the high priest and his priestly staff in the Holy Place.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:1 serve me as priests. The threefold repetition of this phrase in the opening words about Aaron’s priestly wardrobe would appear to stress the importance of his role in the religious life of the nation. Aaron’s sons were part of the priesthood being set up. The Hebrew text groups the sons in two pairs, the first pair being Nadab and Abihu, both of whom died because of wanton disregard of God’s instructions (Lev. 10:1–2). Aaron and his descendants, as well as the tribe of Levi, were selected by God to be Israel’s priests—they did not appoint themselves to the position. The law clearly defined their duties for worship and the sacrifices in the tabernacle and for the individual worshiper and the nation’s covenantal relationship to God.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:2 for glory and for beauty. The garments were designed to exalt the office and function of the priesthood, vividly marking out Aaron as a special person playing a special mediatorial role—they were “holy” vestments. In the OT priestly system for the nation of Israel, such dress maintained the priest-laity distinction.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:3 skillful. This was the first reference in God’s instructions to Moses that certain men would be especially empowered by him to work skillfully on this construction project.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:5–13 ephod. Whenever Aaron entered the sanctuary, he carried with him on his shoulders the badge and the engraved stones that were representative of the 12 tribes.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:15–30 breastpiece of judgment. The 12 precious stones, each engraved with a tribe’s name, colorfully and ornately displayed Aaron’s representative role of intercession for the tribes before the Lord. The breastpiece was to be securely fastened to the ephod so as not to come loose from it (v. 28 and 39:21). Thus, to speak of the ephod after this was done would be to speak of the whole ensemble.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:30 Urim and the Thummim. The etymological source of these two terms, as well as the material nature of the objects represented by them, cannot be established with any degree of finality. Clearly two separate objects were inserted into the breastpiece and became thereby an essential part of the high priest's official regalia. Aaron and his successors bore over their heart "the judgment of the people of Israel," i.e., "judgment" in the sense of giving a verdict or decision. The passages in which the terms appear (Lev. 8:8; Num. 27:21; Deut. 33:8; 1 Sam. 28:6; Ezra 2:63; Neh. 7:65) and those that record inquiries of the Lord when a high priest with the ephod was present (Josh. 9:14; Judg. 1:1–2; 20:18; 1 Sam. 10:22; 23:2–4, 10–12; 1 Chron. 10:14) allow for the following conclusions: 1) that these two objects represented the right of the high priest to request guidance for the acknowledged leader who could not approach God directly, as Moses had done, but had to come via the God-ordained priestly structure, and 2) that the revelation then received gave specific direction for an immediate problem or crisis, and went beyond what could be associated with some sort of sacred lots providing merely a wordless "yes" and "no" response.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:31–35 robe. The priest's outer garment.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:32 opening in a garment. The meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain. If it means "coat of mail" (see esv footnote), then it refers to a flexible metal covering used by the Egyptians for protection in battle.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:33 bells of gold. The sound of the tinkling bells sewn on the hem of the high priest's robe signaled those waiting outside the Holy Place that their representative ministering before the Lord was still alive and moving about, fulfilling his duties.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:36–38 turban. The headdress carried the declaration essential to worship and priestly representation, namely the holiness of the Lord, and in so doing reminded the high priest and all others that their approach to God must be done with reverence.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:39 coat . . . sash. An undergarment.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 28:40–43 The rest of the priests also had distinctive dress to wear, visually setting them apart from the ordinary citizen. Failure to comply with the dress regulations when serving in the sanctuary brought death. Such a severe consequence stressed the importance of their duties and should have motivated the priests not to consider their priestly role as a mundane, routine, and thankless task.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 29:1–18 consecrate. The ones chosen to begin the priesthood could not enter into office without Moses' conducting a solemn, seven-day investiture (vv. 4–35 and Lev. 8:1–36), involving washing, dressing, anointing, sacrificing, daubing and sprinkling with blood, and eating.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 29:19–20 Daubing blood on the right ear, hand, and big toe symbolically sanctified the ear to hear the word of God, the hand to do the work of God, and the foot to walk in the way of God.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 29:27–28 wave offering . . . peace offerings. See note on Lev. 7:30–32.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 29:40 seah . . . hin. Four to 6 gallons and 6 to 8 pints respectively.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 29:42 throughout your generations. Perhaps this phrase intends a prophetic reminder or confirmation of a long history for Israel.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 29:45 I will dwell. That he would be their God and they would be his people was one thing, but that he would also dwell or tabernacle with them was a very important reality in the experience of the new nation. They were to understand not only the transcendence of their God, whose dwelling place was in the heaven of heavens, but also the immanence of their God, whose dwelling place was with them. Their redemption from Egypt was for this purpose (v. 46).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 30:1–10 altar . . . incense. The design for this piece of furniture for the Holy Place was not given with the other two (25:23–40) but follows the instructions about the priesthood perhaps because it was the last piece to which the high priest came before he entered the Most Holy Place once a year. Right after Aaron’s consecration ceremony had been noted, his duties of 1) ensuring proper incense was offered continually upon this altar and 2) once a year cleansing it with blood from the atonement offering (v. 10) received attention.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 30:6 in front of the veil. This places the altar outside of the Most Holy Place in the Holy Place. Hebrews 9:3–4 speaks of the altar in the Most Holy Place in the sense of its proximity to the ark and in relation to its cleansing on the Day of Atonement. The priests could not go beyond it on any other day.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 30:9 unauthorized incense. See v. 38.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 30:12 census. The reason for the numbering of all males of military age (v. 14) was not stated, but its seriousness surfaces in the dire warning given about a plague and the use of the term “ransom” in connection with it (cf. 1 Chron. 21).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 30:13 shekel of the sanctuary. A shekel weighed about .4 ounces (cf. Lev. 5:15; 27:3, 25; Num. 3:47; 7:13ff.).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 30:18–21 basin of bronze. The washing of hands and feet was mandatory before engaging in priestly duties. Again, the seriousness of being ceremonially purified is seen in the warning of death if this washing is neglected. Nothing casual was being done in the sanctuary or out in the courtyard!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 30:22–33 Nothing was left to chance or to human ingenuity. The ingredients for making the anointing oil were carefully spelled out. Anything different was totally unacceptable and brought with it the penalty of death (v. 33). This was to be a unique blend! Using it for any other purpose also erased its holy status as set apart for use in the tabernacle and made it no different from the ordinary and the mundane.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 30:25, 35 as by the perfumer. The skill of the perfumer was obviously already well known in Israel, a trade which they undoubtedly observed in Egypt.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 30:34–38 incense. God also listed the ingredients for the unique blend of incense prescribed for use at the altar of incense. Making anything different would have been to make “unauthorized incense” (v. 9) and would also result in death (v. 38). Personal use rendered its holy status null and void. Nadab and Abihu were executed for violating this command (cf. Lev. 10:1–2).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 31:1–11 God identified two men by name as specially chosen and divinely endowed with ability, or Spirit-filled, to make all he had revealed to Moses (cf. 28:3; 36:1). None of the craftsmen were left untouched by divinely bestowed understanding in the intricacy of their work. They were called “craftsmen,” suggesting previously developed skill. They were to make all that is prescribed in Ex. 25–30.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 31:18 two tablets of the testimony. See note on 25:16. written with the finger of God. A figurative way of attributing the law to God.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:1 make us gods. Such was the influence of the polytheistic world in which they lived that the Israelites, in a time of panic or impatience, succumbed to a pagan world view. What made it even more alarming was the rapidity with which pagan idolatry swept in despite recent real-life demonstrations of God’s greatness and goodness toward them. But they weren’t just requesting gods, but gods to lead them forward—“who shall go before us.” The pagan world view had robbed them of seeing God as having led them out of Egypt and instead they scornfully attributed the exodus to Moses (cf. Acts 7:40).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:4 a golden calf. The young bull, which Aaron caused to be fashioned, was a pagan religious symbol of virile power. A miniature form of the golden calf, although made of bronze and silver, was found at the site of the ancient Philistine city of Ashkelon. Since it dates to about 1550 B.C. it indicates that calf worship was known not only in Egypt, but also in Canaan prior to the time of Moses. In worshiping the calf, the Israelites violated the first three commandments (20:3–7).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:5 feast to the Lord. Syncretism brought about the ludicrous combination of an idol, an altar, and a festal celebration held in a bizarre attempt to honor the true God.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:6 rose up to play. The Hebrew word allows for the inclusion of drunken and immoral activities so common to idolatrous fertility cults in their revelry (see the description in vv. 7, 25). Syncretism had robbed the people of all ethical alertness and moral discernment (cf. 1 Cor. 10:7).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:7 your people. In alerting Moses to the trouble in the camp, God designated Israel as Moses' people, a change of possessive pronoun Moses could not have missed. Beforehand God had acknowledged them as "my people." In pleading with God for Israel and in responding to God's offer to make of him a great nation (v. 10), Moses maintained what he knew to be true, given the exodus and the divine promises to the patriarchs (vv. 12–13), and designated them correctly as "your people" (v. 11).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:10 make a great nation of you. God could have consumed all the people and started over again with Moses, just as he had earlier with Abraham (Gen. 12).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:13 Israel. Another name for Jacob, which means "one who strives with God" (cf. Gen. 32:28).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:14 the Lord relented from the disaster. Moses' appeal for God to change his mind, to relent, succeeded because God had only threatened judgment, not decreed it. A divine intention is not an unchangeable divine decree. Decrees or sworn declarations (cf. Gen. 22:16–18; Ps. 110:4) or categorical statements of not changing or relenting (cf. Jer. 4:28; Ezek. 24:14; Zech. 8:14–15) are unconditional and bind the speaker to the stated course of action regardless of the circumstances or reactions of the listeners. Intentions retain a conditional element and do not necessarily bind the speaker to a stated course of action (cf. Jer. 15:6; 18:8–10; 26:3, 13, 19; Joel 2:13; Jonah 3:9–10; 4:2).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:19 broke them. Moses pictured the nation breaking God's commandments by actually breaking the tablets on which they were written.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:22–24 Aaron, held responsible by Moses for what had taken place in the camp (vv. 21, 25), endeavored to avoid responsibility for the people's actions by shifting the blame to their propensity to do evil, and also for the presence of the golden calf by ridiculously representing it as having just popped out of the fire all by itself!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:23 See Acts 7:40.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:26 Who is on the Lord's side? Only the tribe of Levi responded to the call to take action in response to this situation that demanded judgment be inflicted. They had understood that neutrality could not exist in the open confrontation between good and evil. Family and national ties were superseded by submission to the Lord to do his will, which in this situation was to wield the sword of God's judgment to preserve his honor and glory.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:28 They apparently killed those who persisted in idolatry and immorality (cf. Num. 25:6–9).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 32:32 blot me out of your book. Nothing more strongly marked the love of Moses for his people than his sincere willingness to offer up his own life rather than see them disinherited and destroyed. The book to which Moses referred, the psalmist entitled "the book of the living" (Ps. 69:28). Untimely or premature death would constitute being blotted out of the book. The apostle Paul displayed a similar passionate devotion for his kinsmen (Rom. 9:1–3).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 33:2–6 Good news included bad news! Entry into the Promised Land was not forfeited, but God's presence on the way was withdrawn. What was a sworn covenant-promise to the patriarchs just could not be broken: what was assured—the divine presence on the way—could be set aside because of sin (cf. 23:20–23). Removal of their jewelry depicted outwardly the people's sorrow of heart. It was a response analogous to donning sackcloth and ashes.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 33:2 See notes on 3:8.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 33:7 the tent of meeting. In the time prior to the construction of the tabernacle, Moses' tent became the special meeting place for Moses to talk intimately, "face to face" (v. 11), with God. No doubt the people watching from afar were reminded of the removal of God's immediate presence.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 33:12–17 Again Moses entered earnestly and confidently into the role of intercessor before God for the nation whom he again referred to as “your people” (vv. 13, 16). Moses clearly understood that without God’s presence they would not be a people set apart from other nations, so why travel any further? Moses’ favored standing before the Lord comes out in the positive response to his intercession (v. 17).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 33:18–23 Cautionary measures were needed for God to respond only in part to Moses’ request to see more of him than he was already experiencing (cf. Num. 12:8)—otherwise he would die. Notwithstanding God’s being gracious and compassionate to whomever he chose, Moses could not see God’s face and live. Whatever he saw of God’s nature transformed into blazing light is referred to as “God’s back” and was never subsequently described by Moses (cf. John 1:18; 1 John 4:12).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 33:19 See Rom. 9:15.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:1 Cut . . . two tablets of stone. Renewal of the covenant meant replacement of the broken original tablets on which God had personally written the Ten Commandments (cf. 32:19).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:2–28 Moses’ second period of 40 days and nights on Mount Sinai (cf. chs. 25–32).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:6–7 Here is one of the testimonies to the character of God.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:7 See note on 20:5–6.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:11 See note on 3:8.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:12–17 See note on 23:32. This time the admonition on international treaties included a warning of how idolatry could easily ensnare them by seemingly innocent invitations to join the festivities like a good neighbor or by intermarriage, because these events would require recognition of the contracting parties’ deities. Their future history demonstrated the urgency of such instruction and the disaster of disobeying it.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:18 See note on 12:14.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:19–20 See note on 13:2.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:21 See note on 20:8.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:22–23, 26 See note on 23:14–19.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 34:29–35 The first time on the mount (24:12–32:14), unlike the second, had not left Moses with a face that was reflecting some radiance associated with being in the presence of the Lord for an extended period of time. On the first occasion, mere mention was made of Moses' being gone 40 days and nights (24:18). On the second, mention was made of the 40-day-and-night absence but adding that Moses had been there with the Lord, neither eating nor drinking (34:28), appears to draw attention to the different nature of the second visit. It, in comparison with the first, was not interrupted by the Lord's sending Moses away because of sin in the camp (32:7–10). A compliant and not defiant people feared the evidence of God's presence. When not speaking to the Lord or authoritatively on his behalf to the people, Moses veiled his face. The apostle Paul advised that the veil prevented the people from seeing a fading glory and related it to the inadequacy of the Old Covenant and the blindness of the Jews in his day (see notes on 2 Cor. 3:7–18).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 35:1–40:38 In this section, the Israelites constructed the tabernacle as God so prescribed in 25:1–31:18.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 35:1–3 See note on 20:8. This time, however, an extra admonition forbids the making of a fire on the Sabbath.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 35:4–9 See note on 25:2.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 35:10–19 See notes on 25:11–28:43.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 35:20–29 See note on 25:2.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 35:30–36:1 The Lord also gave the two named craftsmen skill in teaching their trades. This substantiates that they were most probably the supervisors or leaders of the construction teams. See notes on 28:3; 31:1–11.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 36:2–7 The people, stubborn and disobedient at times, nevertheless rose to the occasion and voluntarily brought much more than was needed for the building of the tabernacle. See note on 25:2.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 36:8–39:43 The report of the work done is repeated in the past tense. This report also highlighted how careful the workers were in carrying out the instructions and blueprints received. Note the repeated refrain on doing all just as the Lord had commanded Moses (39:1, 5, 7, 21, 26, 29, 31, 32, 42, 43 and 40:19, 21, 23, 25, 27, 29, 32).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 36:8–37 See notes on ch. 26.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 37:1–9 See notes on 25:16–18.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 37:10–16 See note on 25:30.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 37:17–24 See note on 25:31.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 37:25–28 See note on 30:1–10.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 37:29 See notes on 30:22–33, 34–38.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 38:1–7 See note on 27:1.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 38:8 See note on 30:18–21.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 38:9–20 See notes on 27:9, 16.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 38:21–31 The inventory taken calculates out at half a shekel (cf. 30:13–16) per man 20 years old and up to equal 603,550 men (cf. Num. 1:46 and the first census). Talents were about 75 pounds and shekels about half an ounce.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:1–2 They made . . . He made. The third-person plural, “they,” dominating the manufacturing report (vv. 2–31), is interrupted four times by the singular “he” (vv. 2, 7, 8, 22). The plural undoubtedly refers to Bezalel and/or his associates in operation, whereas the singular marks out what Bezalel worked on by himself.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:1 as the Lord had commanded Moses. This repetitive refrain (vv. 1, 5, 7, 21, 26, 29, 31), a quality-control statement, signals to the reader of every age, or to the listener in Israel back then, that God’s detailed instructions to Moses on the fabricating of the ephod (vv. 2–7), breastpiece (vv. 8–21), and priestly garments (vv. 22–31) were followed to the letter. Obedience in every detail was taken seriously by Israel’s artisans.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:2 He made the ephod. See note on 28:5–13.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:3 they hammered out gold leaf, and he cut it into threads. The process adopted to get the delicate strips for braided chains or gold embroidery work conformed well with contemporary Egyptian methods of gold-working.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:8 He made the breastpiece. See notes on 28:15–30. The Urim and Thummim were inserted into the breastpiece and became an essential part of it, or were seen as a permanent connection with it.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:22 He also made the robe of the ephod. See note on 28:31–35.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:27 They also made the coats . . . for Aaron and his sons. See notes on 28:39–43.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:30 They made the plate of the holy crown. See note on 28:36–38 on this special plate engraved with its message of God's purity and separation from all the profane and impure.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:32 Thus all the work . . . was finished. Finally the moment arrived when all the different tasks assigned to different craftsmen were all completed, and the great task on which they embarked was ready for formal presentation to Israel's leader. and the people of Israel. No individual artisan is singled out for special mention or award; instead the whole nation was represented as doing everything in accordance with the Lord's instructions to Moses. so they did. In what is almost an offhanded aside, emphasis is placed on the strict attention paid to the official, divine specifications for all parts of the work for the tabernacle.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:33 they brought the tabernacle to Moses. Attestations of obedience and accuracy provide, as it were, an envelope (vv. 32, 42–43) for the concise inventory of all the parts included in that presentation to Moses. None of the individual parts listed, nor the sum of them, reflect just human ingenuity in designing something they wanted to have, but reflect instead just what their Lord required them to have. It was fully his architecture and his design at every level of the undertaking.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:42–43 The double repetition of the same quality-control refrain found earlier in the chapter together with the two additional phrases emphasizing exact conformity (notice "behold" and "so had") to all specifications combine to formally mark the closing of these great God-initiated preparations for the place of his presence and the site of their worship. Israel's skillful craftsmen had done their work with zero tolerance for error in mind!

EXODUS—NOTE ON 39:43 Moses saw all the work. Fittingly enough, the one who had been with God on the mount and had passed on to the people the blueprints for everything connected with the Lord's tabernacle personally inspected the work and confirmed its successful completion. The term "work" is to be taken as "the end result of professional and skilled craftsmen." Then Moses blessed them. By this act, Moses set his final and formal seal of approval on the outcome of their earnestness and diligence, and expressed his prayer-wish that good would result to them from their God. This is the only instance recorded in Exodus of Moses' pronouncing a blessing upon his people. The other appearances of the verb "to bless" occur three times with God as the subject of the verb (20:11, 24; 23:25) and one time with Pharaoh requesting Moses to bless him (12:32).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 40:1–33 Finally the time arrived for the tabernacle to be erected with the Most Holy Place and its accompanying Holy Place to the west, and the courtyard entrance to the east. In terms of pagan religions and their worship of the sun god, some polemic significance might be seen in the high priest worshipping God with his back to the rising sun. All who entered the courtyard also turned their backs to the rising sun as they came in to sacrifice and worship.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 40:17 The tabernacle was completed almost one year after the exodus from Egypt. The people were at the foot of Mount Sinai at that time, where the book of Leviticus was given in the first month of that second year. The record of Numbers begins with the people still at Mount Sinai in the second month of that second year after leaving Egypt (cf. Num. 1:1).

EXODUS—NOTE ON 40:34 the cloud covered . . . the glory of the Lord filled. This was the final confirmation for Moses and the people that all the work for setting up God’s dwelling place had been properly done and all the tedious instructions obediently followed.

EXODUS—NOTE ON 40:36 taken up. This first occurred (as recorded in Num. 10:11) 50 days after the tabernacle was finished and erected.

Introduction to Leviticus

Title

The original Hebrew title of this third book of the law is taken from the first word, translated “And he called.” Several OT books derive their Hebrew names in the same manner (e.g., Genesis, “In the beginning”; Exodus, “Now these are the names”). The title “Leviticus” comes from the Latin Vulgate version of the Greek OT (LXX) Leuitikon meaning “matters of the Levites” (25:32–33). While the book addresses issues of the Levites’ responsibilities, much more significantly, all the priests are instructed in how they are to assist the people in worship, and the people are informed about how to live a holy life. New Testament writers quote the book of Leviticus over 15 times.

Author and Date

Authorship and date issues are resolved by the concluding verse of the book, “These are the commandments that the Lord commanded Moses for the people of Israel on Mount Sinai” (27:34; cf. 7:38; 25:1; 26:46). The fact that God gave these laws to Moses (cf. 1:1) appears 56 times in Leviticus’ 27 chapters. In addition to recording detailed prescriptions, the book chronicles several historical accounts relating to the laws (see chs. 8–10; 24:10–23). The exodus occurred in 1445 B.C. (see Introduction to Exodus: Author and Date) and the tabernacle was finished one year later (Ex. 40:17). Leviticus picks up the record at that point, probably revealed in the first month (Abib/Nisan) of the second year after the exodus. The book of Numbers begins after that in the second month (Ziv; cf. Num. 1:1).

Background and Setting

Before the year that Israel camped at Mount Sinai: 1) the presence of God’s glory had never formally resided among the Israelites; 2) a central place of worship, like the tabernacle, had never existed; 3) a structured and regulated set of sacrifices and feasts had not been given; and 4) a high priest, a formal priesthood, and a cadre of tabernacle workers had not been appointed. As Exodus concluded, features one and two had been accomplished, thereby requiring that elements three and four be inaugurated, which is where Leviticus fits in. Exodus 19:6 called Israel to be “a kingdom of priests and a holy nation.” Leviticus in turn is God’s instruction for his newly redeemed people, teaching them how to worship and obey him.

Israel had, up to that point, only the historical records of the patriarchs from which to gain their knowledge of how to worship and live before their God. Having been slaves for centuries in Egypt, the land of a seemingly infinite number of gods, they had a concept of worship and the godly life that was severely distorted. Their tendency to hold on to polytheism and pagan ritual is witnessed in the wilderness wanderings, e.g., when they worshiped the golden calf (cf. Ex. 32). God would not permit them to worship in the ways of their Egyptian neighbors, nor would he tolerate Egyptian ideas about morality and sin. With the instructions in Leviticus, the priests could lead Israel in worship appropriate to the Lord.

Even though the book contains a great deal of law, it is presented in a historical format. Immediately after Moses supervised the construction of the tabernacle, God came in glory to dwell there; this marked the close of the book of Exodus (40:34–38). Leviticus begins with God calling Moses from the tabernacle and ends with God’s commands to Moses in the form of binding legislation. Israel’s King had occupied his palace (the tabernacle), instituted his law, and declared himself a covenant partner with his subjects.

No geographical movement occurs in this book. The people of Israel stay at the foot of Sinai, the mountain where God came down to give his law (25:1; 26:46; 27:34). They were still there one month later when the record of Numbers began (cf. Num. 1:1).

Historical and Theological Themes

The core ideas around which Leviticus develops are the holy character of God and the will of God for Israel’s holiness. God’s holiness, mankind’s sinfulness, sacrifice, and God’s presence in the sanctuary are the book’s most common themes. With a clear, authoritative tone, the book sets forth instruction toward personal holiness at the urging of God (11:44–45; 19:2; 20:7, 26; cf. 1 Pet. 1:14–16). Matters pertaining to Israel’s life of faith tend to focus on purity in ritual settings, but not to the exclusion of concerns regarding Israel’s personal purity. In fact, there is a continuing emphasis on personal holiness in response to the holiness of God (cf. this emphasis in Lev. 17–27). On over 125 occasions, Leviticus indicts mankind for uncleanness and/or instructs on how to be purified. The motive for such holiness is stated in two repeated phrases: “I am the Lord” and “I am holy.” These are used over 50 times. See note on 11:44–45.

The theme of the conditional Mosaic Covenant resurfaces throughout the book, but particularly in ch. 26. This contract for the new nation not only details the consequences for obedience or disobedience to the covenant stipulations, but it does so in a manner scripted for determining Israel’s history. One cannot help but recognize prophetic implications in the punishments for disobedience; they sound like the events of the much later Babylonian deportment, captivity, and subsequent return to the land almost 900 years after Moses wrote Leviticus (c. 538 B.C.). The eschatological implications for Israel’s disobedience will not conclude until Messiah comes to introduce his kingdom and end the curses of Lev. 26 and Deut. 28 (cf. Zech. 14:11).

The five sacrifices and offerings were symbolic. Their design was to allow the truly penitent and thankful worshiper to express faith in and love for God by the observance of these rituals. When the heart was not penitent and thankful, God was not pleased with the ritual. Cf. Amos 5:21–27. The offerings were burnt, symbolizing the worshiper’s desire to be purged of sin and sending up the fragrant smoke of true worship to God. The myriad of small details in the execution of the rituals was to teach exactness and precision that would extend to the way the people obeyed the moral and spiritual laws of God and the way they revered every facet of his word.

Interpretive Challenges

Leviticus is both a manual for the worship of God in Israel and a theology of Old Covenant ritual. Comprehensive understanding of the ceremonies, laws, and ritual details prescribed in the book is difficult today because Moses assumed a certain context of historical understanding. Once the challenge of understanding the detailed prescriptions has been met, the question arises as to how believers in the church should respond to them, since the NT clearly abrogates OT ceremonial law (cf. Acts 10:1–16; Col. 2:16–17), the levitical priesthood (cf. 1 Pet. 2:9; Rev. 1:6; 5:10; 20:6), and the sanctuary (cf. Matt. 27:51), as well as instituting the New Covenant (cf. Matt. 26:28; 2 Cor. 3:6–18; Heb. 7–10). Rather than try to practice the old ceremonies or look for some deeper spiritual significance in them, the focus should be on the holy and divine character behind them. This may partly be the reason that explanations that Moses often gave in the prescriptions for cleanness offer greater insight into the mind of God than do the ceremonies themselves. The spiritual principles in which the rituals were rooted are timeless because they are embedded in the nature of God. The NT makes it clear that from Pentecost forward (cf. Acts 2), the church is under the authority of the New Covenant, not the old (cf. Heb. 7–10).

The interpreter is challenged to compare features of this book with NT writers who present types or analogies based on the tabernacle and the ceremonial aspects of the law, so as to teach valuable lessons about Christ and New Covenant reality. Though the ceremonial law served only as a shadow of the reality of Christ and his redemptive work (Heb. 10:1), excessive typology is to be rejected. Only that which NT writers identify as types of Christ should be so designated (cf. 1 Cor. 5:7, “Christ, our Passover lamb”).

The most profitable study in Leviticus is that which yields truth in the understanding of sin, guilt, substitutionary death, and atonement by focusing on features that are not explained or illustrated elsewhere in OT Scripture. Later OT authors, and especially NT writers, build on the basic understanding of these matters provided in Leviticus. The sacrificial features of Leviticus point to their ultimate, one-time fulfillment in the substitutionary death of Jesus Christ (Heb. 9:11–22).

Leviticus

Laws for Burnt Offerings

LEVITICUS 1 1 1 1 The LORD called Moses and spoke to him from the tent of meeting, saying, 2 1 “Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When any one of you brings an offering to the LORD, you shall bring your offering of livestock from the herd or from the flock.

3 1 1 1 “If his offering is a burnt offering from the herd, he shall offer a male without blemish. He shall bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting, that he may be accepted before the LORD. 4 1 He shall lay his hand on the head of the burnt offering, and it shall be accepted for him to make atonement for him. 5 1 Then he shall kill the bull before the LORD, and Aaron's sons the priests shall bring the blood and throw the blood against the sides of the altar that is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 6 Then he shall flay the burnt offering and cut it into pieces, 7 and the sons of Aaron the priest shall put fire on the altar and arrange wood on the fire. 8 And Aaron's sons the priests shall arrange the pieces, the head, and the fat, on the wood that is on the fire on the altar; 9 1 but its entrails and its legs he shall wash with water. And the priest shall burn all of it on the altar, as a burnt offering, a food offering [\[1\]](#) with a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

10 1 “If his gift for a burnt offering is from the flock, from the sheep or goats, he shall bring a male without blemish, 11 1 and he shall kill it on the north side of the altar before the LORD, and Aaron's sons the priests shall throw its blood against the sides of the altar. 12 And he shall cut it into pieces, with its head and its fat, and the priest shall arrange them on the wood that is on the fire on the altar, 13 but the entrails and the legs he shall wash with water. And the priest shall offer all of it and burn it on the altar; it is a burnt offering, a food offering with a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

14 1 “If his offering to the LORD is a burnt offering of birds, then he shall bring his offering of turtledoves or pigeons. 15 1 And the priest shall bring it to the altar and wring off its head and burn it on the altar. Its blood shall be drained out on the side of the altar. 16 1 He shall remove its crop with its contents [\[2\]](#) and cast it beside the altar on the east side, in the place for ashes. 17 He shall tear it open by its wings, but shall not sever it completely. And the priest shall burn it on the altar, on the wood that is on the fire. It is a burnt offering, a food offering with a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

Laws for Grain Offerings

LEVITICUS 2 §§§“When anyone brings a grain offering as an offering to the LORD, his offering shall be of fine flour. He shall pour oil on it and put frankincense on it ²† and bring it to Aaron's sons the priests. And he shall take from it a handful of the fine flour and oil, with all of its frankincense, and the priest shall burn this as its memorial portion on the altar, a food offering with a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ³† But the rest of the grain offering shall be for Aaron and his sons; it is a most holy part of the LORD's food offerings.

⁴† “When you bring a grain offering baked in the oven as an offering, it shall be unleavened loaves of fine flour mixed with oil or unleavened wafers smeared with oil. ⁵ And if your offering is a grain offering baked on a griddle, it shall be of fine flour unleavened, mixed with oil. ⁶ You shall break it in pieces and pour oil on it; it is a grain offering. ⁷ And if your offering is a grain offering cooked in a pan, it shall be made of fine flour with oil. ⁸ And you shall bring the grain offering that is made of these things to the LORD, and when it is presented to the priest, he shall bring it to the altar. ⁹ And the priest shall take from the grain offering its memorial portion and burn this on the altar, a food offering with a pleasing aroma to the LORD. ¹⁰ But the rest of the grain offering shall be for Aaron and his sons; it is a most holy part of the LORD's food offerings.

¹¹† “No grain offering that you bring to the LORD shall be made with leaven, for you shall burn no leaven nor any honey as a food offering to the LORD. ¹²† As an offering of firstfruits you may bring them to the LORD, but they shall not be offered on the altar for a pleasing aroma. ¹³† You shall season all your grain offerings with salt. You shall not let the salt of the covenant with your God be missing from your grain offering; with all your offerings you shall offer salt.

Laws for Peace Offerings

LEVITICUS 3 ‡‡‡“If his offering is a sacrifice of peace offering, if he offers an animal from the herd, male or female, he shall offer it without blemish before the LORD. <sup>2</sup>And he shall lay his hand on the head of his offering and kill it at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and Aaron's sons the priests shall throw the blood against the sides of the altar. <sup>3</sup>And from the sacrifice of the peace offering, as a food offering to the LORD, he shall offer the fat covering the entrails and all the fat that is on the entrails, <sup>4</sup>‡and the two kidneys with the fat that is on them at the loins, and the long lobe of the liver that he shall remove with the kidneys. <sup>5</sup>Then Aaron's sons shall burn it on the altar on top of the burnt offering, which is on the wood on the fire; it is a food offering with a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

<sup>6</sup>‡“If his offering for a sacrifice of peace offering to the LORD is an animal from the flock, male or female, he shall offer it without blemish. <sup>7</sup>If he offers a lamb for his offering, then he shall offer it before the LORD, <sup>8</sup>lay his hand on the head of his offering, and kill it in front of the tent of meeting; and Aaron's sons shall throw its blood against the sides of the altar. <sup>9</sup>Then from the sacrifice of the peace offering he shall offer as a food offering to the LORD its fat; he shall remove the whole fat tail, cut off close to the backbone, and the fat that covers the entrails and all the fat that is on the entrails <sup>10</sup>and the two kidneys with the fat that is on them at the loins and the long lobe of the liver that he shall remove with the kidneys. <sup>11</sup>‡And the priest shall burn it on the altar as a food offering to the LORD.

Laws for Sin Offerings

LEVITICUS 4 ¶¶ And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 2 † “Speak to the people of Israel, saying, If anyone sins unintentionally [1] in any of the LORD's commandments about things not to be done, and does any one of them, 3 †† if it is the anointed priest who sins, thus bringing guilt on the people, then he shall offer for the sin that he has committed a bull from the herd without blemish to the LORD for a sin offering. 4 He shall bring the bull to the entrance of the tent of meeting before the LORD and lay his hand on the head of the bull and kill the bull before the LORD. 5 † And the anointed priest shall take some of the blood of the bull and bring it into the tent of meeting, 6 † and the priest shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle part of the blood seven times before the LORD in front of the veil of the sanctuary. 7 † And the priest shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar of fragrant incense before the LORD that is in the tent of meeting, and all the rest of the blood of the bull he shall pour out at the base of the altar of burnt offering that is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 8 And all the fat of the bull of the sin offering he shall remove from it, the fat that covers the entrails and all the fat that is on the entrails 9 and the two kidneys with the fat that is on them at the loins and the long lobe of the liver that he shall remove with the kidneys 10 † (just as these are taken from the ox of the sacrifice of the peace offerings); and the priest shall burn them on the altar of burnt offering. 11 † But the skin of the bull and all its flesh, with its head, its legs, its entrails, and its dung— 12 † all the rest of the bull—he shall carry outside the camp to a clean place, to the ash heap, and shall burn it up on a fire of wood. On the ash heap it shall be burned up.

13 ¶ “If the whole congregation of Israel sins unintentionally [2] and the thing is hidden from the eyes of the assembly, and they do any one of the things that by the LORD's commandments ought not to be done, and they realize their guilt, [3] 14 when the sin which they have committed becomes known, the assembly shall offer a bull from the herd for a sin offering and bring it in front of the tent of meeting. 15 And the elders of the congregation shall lay their hands on the head of the bull before the LORD, and the bull shall be killed before the LORD. 16 † Then the anointed priest shall bring some of the blood of the bull into the tent of meeting, 17 and the priest shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle it seven times before the LORD in front of the veil. 18 And he shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar that is in the tent of meeting before the LORD, and the rest of the blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar of burnt offering that is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. <sup>19</sup>And all its fat he shall take from it and burn on the altar. <sup>20</sup>Thus shall he do with the bull. As he did with the bull of the sin offering, so shall he do with this. And the priest shall make atonement for them, and they shall be forgiven. <sup>21</sup>And he shall carry the bull outside the camp and burn it up as he burned the first bull; it is the sin offering for the assembly.

<sup>22</sup>‡“When a leader sins, doing unintentionally any one of all the things that by the commandments of the LORD his God ought not to be done, and realizes his guilt, <sup>23</sup>or the sin which he has committed is made known to him, he shall bring as his offering a goat, a male without blemish, <sup>24</sup>and shall lay his hand on the head of the goat and kill it in the place where they kill the burnt offering before the LORD; it is a sin offering. <sup>25</sup>Then the priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering and pour out the rest of its blood at the base of the altar of burnt offering. <sup>26</sup>And all its fat he shall burn on the altar, like the fat of the sacrifice of peace offerings. So the priest shall make atonement for him for his sin, and he shall be forgiven.

<sup>27</sup>‡“If anyone of the common people sins unintentionally in doing any one of the things that by the LORD's commandments ought not to be done, and realizes his guilt, <sup>28</sup>or the sin which he has committed is made known to him, he shall bring for his offering a goat, a female without blemish, for his sin which he has committed. <sup>29</sup>And he shall lay his hand on the head of the sin offering and kill the sin offering in the place of burnt offering. <sup>30</sup>And the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering and pour out all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar. <sup>31</sup>And all its fat he shall remove, as the fat is removed from the peace offerings, and the priest shall burn it on the altar for a pleasing aroma to the LORD. And the priest shall make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven.

<sup>32</sup>“If he brings a lamb as his offering for a sin offering, he shall bring a female without blemish <sup>33</sup>and lay his hand on the head of the sin offering and kill it for a sin offering in the place where they kill the burnt offering. <sup>34</sup>Then the priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering and pour out all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar. <sup>35</sup>And all its fat he shall remove as the fat of the lamb is removed from the sacrifice of peace offerings, and the priest shall burn it on the altar, on top of the LORD's food offerings. And the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin which he has committed, and he shall be forgiven.

LEVITICUS 5 †††“If anyone sins in that he hears a public adjuration to testify, and though he is a witness, whether he has seen or come to know the matter, yet does not speak, he shall bear his iniquity; <sup>2</sup>or if anyone touches an unclean thing, whether a carcass of an unclean wild animal or a carcass of unclean livestock or a carcass of unclean swarming things, and it is hidden from him and he has become unclean, and he realizes his guilt; <sup>3</sup>or if he touches human uncleanness, of whatever sort the uncleanness may be with which one becomes unclean, and it is hidden from him, when he comes to know it, and realizes his guilt; <sup>4</sup>†or if anyone utters with his lips a rash oath to do evil or to do good, any sort of rash oath that people swear, and it is hidden from him, when he comes to know it, and he realizes his guilt in any of these; <sup>5</sup>†when he realizes his guilt in any of these and confesses the sin he has committed, <sup>6</sup>he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation [1] for the sin that he has committed, a female from the flock, a lamb or a goat, for a sin offering. And the priest shall make atonement for him for his sin.

<sup>7</sup>†“But if he cannot afford a lamb, then he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation for the sin that he has committed two turtledoves or two pigeons, [2] one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. <sup>8</sup>He shall bring them to the priest, who shall offer first the one for the sin offering. He shall wring its head from its neck but shall not sever it completely, <sup>9</sup>and he shall sprinkle some of the blood of the sin offering on the side of the altar, while the rest of the blood shall be drained out at the base of the altar; it is a sin offering. <sup>10</sup>Then he shall offer the second for a burnt offering according to the rule. And the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin that he has committed, and he shall be forgiven.

<sup>11</sup>†“But if he cannot afford two turtledoves or two pigeons, then he shall bring as his offering for the sin that he has committed a tenth of an ephah [3] of fine flour for a sin offering. He shall put no oil on it and shall put no frankincense on it, for it is a sin offering. <sup>12</sup>And he shall bring it to the priest, and the priest shall take a handful of it as its memorial portion and burn this on the altar, on the LORD's food offerings; it is a sin offering. <sup>13</sup>†Thus the priest shall make atonement for him for the sin which he has committed in any one of these things, and he shall be forgiven. And the remainder [4] shall be for the priest, as in the grain offering.”

Laws for Guilt Offerings

<sup>14</sup>‡The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>15</sup>‡“If anyone commits a breach of faith and sins unintentionally in any of the holy things of the LORD, he shall bring to the LORD as his compensation, a ram without blemish out of the flock, valued [5] in silver shekels, [6] according to the shekel of the sanctuary, for a guilt offering. <sup>16</sup>‡He shall also make restitution for what he has done amiss in the holy thing and shall add a fifth to it and give it to the priest. And the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering, and he shall be forgiven.

<sup>17</sup>“If anyone sins, doing any of the things that by the LORD's commandments ought not to be done, though he did not know it, then realizes his guilt, he shall bear his iniquity. <sup>18</sup>He shall bring to the priest a ram without blemish out of the flock, or its equivalent for a guilt offering, and the priest shall make atonement for him for the mistake that he made unintentionally, and he shall be forgiven. <sup>19</sup>It is a guilt offering; he has indeed incurred guilt before [7] the LORD.”

LEVITICUS 6 † [1] The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 2“‘If anyone sins and commits a breach of faith against the LORD by deceiving his neighbor in a matter of deposit or security, or through robbery, or if he has oppressed his neighbor 3or has found something lost and lied about it, swearing falsely—in any of all the things that people do and sin thereby— 4if he has sinned and has realized his guilt and will restore what he took by robbery or what he got by oppression or the deposit that was committed to him or the lost thing that he found 5or anything about which he has sworn falsely, he shall restore it in full and shall add a fifth to it, and give it to him to whom it belongs on the day he realizes his guilt. 6†And he shall bring to the priest as his compensation to the LORD a ram without blemish out of the flock, or its equivalent for a guilt offering. 7And the priest shall make atonement for him before the LORD, and he shall be forgiven for any of the things that one may do and thereby become guilty.”

The Priests and the Offerings

8‡‡ [2] The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 9†“‘Command Aaron and his sons, saying, This is the law of the burnt offering. The burnt offering shall be on the hearth on the altar all night until the morning, and the fire of the altar shall be kept burning on it. 10†And the priest shall put on his linen garment and put his linen undergarment on his body, and he shall take up the ashes to which the fire has reduced the burnt offering on the altar and put them beside the altar. 11Then he shall take off his garments and put on other garments and carry the ashes outside the camp to a clean place. 12†The fire on the altar shall be kept burning on it; it shall not go out. The priest shall burn wood on it every morning, and he shall arrange the burnt offering on it and shall burn on it the fat of the peace offerings. 13†Fire shall be kept burning on the altar continually; it shall not go out.

14‡“‘And this is the law of the grain offering. The sons of Aaron shall offer it before the LORD in front of the altar. 15†And one shall take from it a handful of the fine flour of the grain offering and its oil and all the frankincense that is on the grain offering and burn this as its memorial portion on the altar, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. 16‡‡And the rest of it Aaron and his sons shall eat. It shall be eaten unleavened in a holy place. In the court of the tent of meeting they shall eat it. 17It shall not be baked with leaven. I have given it as their portion of my food offerings. It is a thing most holy, like the sin offering and the guilt offering. 18Every male among the children of Aaron may eat of it, as decreed forever throughout your generations, from the LORD's food offerings. Whatever touches them shall become holy.”

<sup>19</sup>‡The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>20</sup>‡“This is the offering that Aaron and his sons shall offer to the LORD on the day when he is anointed: a tenth of an ephah [3] of fine flour as a regular grain offering, half of it in the morning and half in the evening. <sup>21</sup>It shall be made with oil on a griddle. You shall bring it well mixed, in baked [4] pieces like a grain offering, and offer it for a pleasing aroma to the LORD. <sup>22</sup>‡The priest from among Aaron's sons, who is anointed to succeed him, shall offer it to the LORD as decreed forever. The whole of it shall be burned. <sup>23</sup>Every grain offering of a priest shall be wholly burned. It shall not be eaten.”

<sup>24</sup>‡The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>25</sup>‡“Speak to Aaron and his sons, saying, This is the law of the sin offering. In the place where the burnt offering is killed shall the sin offering be killed before the LORD; it is most holy. <sup>26</sup>‡The priest who offers it for sin shall eat it. In a holy place it shall be eaten, in the court of the tent of meeting. <sup>27</sup>‡Whatever touches its flesh shall be holy, and when any of its blood is splashed on a garment, you shall wash that on which it was splashed in a holy place. <sup>28</sup>And the earthenware vessel in which it is boiled shall be broken. But if it is boiled in a bronze vessel, that shall be scoured and rinsed in water. <sup>29</sup>Every male among the priests may eat of it; it is most holy. <sup>30</sup>‡But no sin offering shall be eaten from which any blood is brought into the tent of meeting to make atonement in the Holy Place; it shall be burned up with fire.

LEVITICUS 7 ††“This is the law of the guilt offering. It is most holy. <sup>2</sup>In the place where they kill the burnt offering they shall kill the guilt offering, and its blood shall be thrown against the sides of the altar. <sup>3</sup>And all its fat shall be offered, the fat tail, the fat that covers the entrails, <sup>4</sup>the two kidneys with the fat that is on them at the loins, and the long lobe of the liver that he shall remove with the kidneys. <sup>5</sup>The priest shall burn them on the altar as a food offering to the LORD; it is a guilt offering. <sup>6</sup>Every male among the priests may eat of it. It shall be eaten in a holy place. It is most holy. <sup>7</sup>†The guilt offering is just like the sin offering; there is one law for them. The priest who makes atonement with it shall have it. <sup>8</sup>And the priest who offers any man's burnt offering shall have for himself the skin of the burnt offering that he has offered. <sup>9</sup>And every grain offering baked in the oven and all that is prepared on a pan or a griddle shall belong to the priest who offers it. <sup>10</sup>†And every grain offering, mixed with oil or dry, shall be shared equally among all the sons of Aaron.

<sup>11</sup>††“And this is the law of the sacrifice of peace offerings that one may offer to the LORD. <sup>12</sup>If he offers it for a thanksgiving, then he shall offer with the thanksgiving sacrifice unleavened loaves mixed with oil, unleavened wafers smeared with oil, and loaves of fine flour well mixed with oil. <sup>13</sup>†With the sacrifice of his peace offerings for thanksgiving he shall bring his offering with loaves of leavened bread. <sup>14</sup>And from it he shall offer one loaf from each offering, as a gift to the LORD. It shall belong to the priest who throws the blood of the peace offerings. <sup>15</sup>And the flesh of the sacrifice of his peace offerings for thanksgiving shall be eaten on the day of his offering. He shall not leave any of it until the morning. <sup>16</sup>†But if the sacrifice of his offering is a vow offering or a freewill offering, it shall be eaten on the day that he offers his sacrifice, and on the next day what remains of it shall be eaten. <sup>17</sup>But what remains of the flesh of the sacrifice on the third day shall be burned up with fire. <sup>18</sup>If any of the flesh of the sacrifice of his peace offering is eaten on the third day, he who offers it shall not be accepted, neither shall it be credited to him. It is tainted, and he who eats of it shall bear his iniquity.

<sup>19</sup>†“Flesh that touches any unclean thing shall not be eaten. It shall be burned up with fire. All who are clean may eat flesh, <sup>20</sup>but the person who eats of the flesh of the sacrifice of the LORD's peace offerings while an uncleanness is on him, that person shall be cut off from his people. <sup>21</sup>And if anyone touches an unclean thing, whether human uncleanness or an unclean beast or any unclean detestable creature, and then eats some flesh from the sacrifice of the LORD's peace offerings, that person shall be cut off from his people.”

<sup>28</sup>The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>29</sup>‡“Speak to the people of Israel, saying, Whoever offers the sacrifice of his peace offerings to the LORD shall bring his offering to the LORD from the sacrifice of his peace offerings. <sup>30</sup>‡His own hands shall bring the LORD's food offerings. He shall bring the fat with the breast, that the breast may be waved as a wave offering before the LORD. <sup>31</sup>The priest shall burn the fat on the altar, but the breast shall be for Aaron and his sons. <sup>32</sup>And the right thigh you shall give to the priest as a contribution from the sacrifice of your peace offerings. <sup>33</sup>Whoever among the sons of Aaron offers the blood of the peace offerings and the fat shall have the right thigh for a portion. <sup>34</sup>For the breast that is waved and the thigh that is contributed I have taken from the people of Israel, out of the sacrifices of their peace offerings, and have given them to Aaron the priest and to his sons, as a perpetual due from the people of Israel. <sup>35</sup>This is the portion of Aaron and of his sons from the LORD's food offerings, from the day they were presented to serve as priests of the LORD. <sup>36</sup>‡The LORD commanded this to be given them by the people of Israel, from the day that he anointed them. It is a perpetual due throughout their generations.”

<sup>37</sup>‡‡This is the law of the burnt offering, of the grain offering, of the sin offering, of the guilt offering, of the ordination offering, and of the peace offering, <sup>38</sup>which the LORD commanded Moses on Mount Sinai, on the day that he commanded the people of Israel to bring their offerings to the LORD, in the wilderness of Sinai.

Consecration of Aaron and His Sons

LEVITICUS 8 ¶¶ The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, ¶<sup>2</sup>“Take Aaron and his sons with him, and the garments and the anointing oil and the bull of the sin offering and the two rams and the basket of unleavened bread. ¶<sup>3</sup>And assemble all the congregation at the entrance of the tent of meeting.” ¶<sup>4</sup>And Moses did as the LORD commanded him, and the congregation was assembled at the entrance of the tent of meeting.

¶<sup>5</sup>And Moses said to the congregation, “This is the thing that the LORD has commanded to be done.” ¶<sup>6</sup>¶ And Moses brought Aaron and his sons and washed them with water. ¶<sup>7</sup>And he put the coat on him and tied the sash around his waist and clothed him with the robe and put the ephod on him and tied the skillfully woven band of the ephod around him, binding it to him with the band. [1] ¶<sup>8</sup>¶ And he placed the breastpiece on him, and in the breastpiece he put the Urim and the Thummim. ¶<sup>9</sup>And he set the turban on his head, and on the turban, in front, he set the golden plate, the holy crown, as the LORD commanded Moses.

¶<sup>10</sup>Then Moses took the anointing oil and anointed the tabernacle and all that was in it, and consecrated them. ¶<sup>11</sup>¶ And he sprinkled some of it on the altar seven times, and anointed the altar and all its utensils and the basin and its stand, to consecrate them. ¶<sup>12</sup>¶ And he poured some of the anointing oil on Aaron's head and anointed him to consecrate him. ¶<sup>13</sup>And Moses brought Aaron's sons and clothed them with coats and tied sashes around their waists and bound caps on them, as the LORD commanded Moses.

¶<sup>18</sup>¶ Then he presented the ram of the burnt offering, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the head of the ram. ¶<sup>19</sup>And he killed it, and Moses threw the blood against the sides of the altar. ¶<sup>20</sup>He cut the ram into pieces, and Moses burned the head and the pieces and the fat. <sup>21</sup>He washed the entrails and the legs with water, and Moses burned the whole ram on the altar. It was a burnt offering with a pleasing aroma, a food offering for the LORD, as the LORD commanded Moses.

<sup>22</sup>Then he presented the other ram, the ram of ordination, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the head of the ram. <sup>23</sup>†And he killed it, and Moses took some of its blood and put it on the lobe of Aaron's right ear and on the thumb of his right hand and on the big toe of his right foot. <sup>24</sup>Then he presented Aaron's sons, and Moses put some of the blood on the lobes of their right ears and on the thumbs of their right hands and on the big toes of their right feet. And Moses threw the blood against the sides of the altar. <sup>25</sup>Then he took the fat and the fat tail and all the fat that was on the entrails and the long lobe of the liver and the two kidneys with their fat and the right thigh, <sup>26</sup>and out of the basket of unleavened bread that was before the LORD he took one unleavened loaf and one loaf of bread with oil and one wafer and placed them on the pieces of fat and on the right thigh. <sup>27</sup>And he put all these in the hands of Aaron and in the hands of his sons and waved them as a wave offering before the LORD. <sup>28</sup>Then Moses took them from their hands and burned them on the altar with the burnt offering. This was an ordination offering with a pleasing aroma, a food offering to the LORD. <sup>29</sup>†And Moses took the breast and waved it for a wave offering before the LORD. It was Moses' portion of the ram of ordination, as the LORD commanded Moses.

<sup>30</sup>Then Moses took some of the anointing oil and of the blood that was on the altar and sprinkled it on Aaron and his garments, and also on his sons and his sons' garments. So he consecrated Aaron and his garments, and his sons and his sons' garments with him.

<sup>31</sup>And Moses said to Aaron and his sons, "Boil the flesh at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and there eat it and the bread that is in the basket of ordination offerings, as I commanded, saying, 'Aaron and his sons shall eat it.' <sup>32</sup>And what remains of the flesh and the bread you shall burn up with fire. <sup>33</sup>And you shall not go outside the entrance of the tent of meeting for seven days, until the days of your ordination are completed, for it will take seven days to ordain you. <sup>34</sup>As has been done today, the LORD has commanded to be done to make atonement for you. <sup>35</sup>†At the entrance of the tent of meeting you shall remain day and night for seven days, performing what the LORD has charged, so that you do not die, for so I have been commanded." <sup>36</sup>And Aaron and his sons did all the things that the LORD commanded by Moses.

The LORD Accepts Aaron's Offering

LEVITICUS 9 †On the eighth day Moses called Aaron and his sons and the elders of Israel, †and he said to Aaron, “Take for yourself a bull calf for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering, both without blemish, and offer them before the LORD. †And say to the people of Israel, ‘Take a male goat for a sin offering, and a calf and a lamb, both a year old without blemish, for a burnt offering, †and an ox and a ram for peace offerings, to sacrifice before the LORD, and a grain offering mixed with oil, for today the LORD will appear to you.’” †And they brought what Moses commanded in front of the tent of meeting, and all the congregation drew near and stood before the LORD. †And Moses said, “This is the thing that the LORD commanded you to do, that the glory of the LORD may appear to you.” †Then Moses said to Aaron, “Draw near to the altar and offer your sin offering and your burnt offering and make atonement for yourself and for the people, and bring the offering of the people and make atonement for them, as the LORD has commanded.”

†So Aaron drew near to the altar and killed the calf of the sin offering, which was for himself. †And the sons of Aaron presented the blood to him, and he dipped his finger in the blood and put it on the horns of the altar and poured out the blood at the base of the altar. †But the fat and the kidneys and the long lobe of the liver from the sin offering he burned on the altar, as the LORD commanded Moses. †The flesh and the skin he burned up with fire outside the camp.

†Then he killed the burnt offering, and Aaron's sons handed him the blood, and he threw it against the sides of the altar. †And they handed the burnt offering to him, piece by piece, and the head, and he burned them on the altar. †And he washed the entrails and the legs and burned them with the burnt offering on the altar.

†Then he presented the people's offering and took the goat of the sin offering that was for the people and killed it and offered it as a sin offering, like the first one. †And he presented the burnt offering and offered it according to the rule. †And he presented the grain offering, took a handful of it, and burned it on the altar, besides the burnt offering of the morning.

†Then he killed the ox and the ram, the sacrifice of peace offerings for the people. And Aaron's sons handed him the blood, and he threw it against the sides of the altar. <sup>19</sup>But the fat pieces of the ox and of the ram, the fat tail and that which covers the entrails and the kidneys and the long lobe of the liver— <sup>20</sup>they put the fat pieces on the breasts, and he burned the fat pieces on the altar, <sup>21</sup>‡but the breasts and the right thigh Aaron waved for a wave offering before the LORD, as Moses commanded.

<sup>22</sup>‡Then Aaron lifted up his hands toward the people and blessed them, and he came down from offering the sin offering and the burnt offering and the peace offerings. <sup>23</sup>‡And Moses and Aaron went into the tent of meeting, and when they came out they blessed the people, and the glory of the LORD appeared to all the people. <sup>24</sup>‡And fire came out from before the LORD and consumed the burnt offering and the pieces of fat on the altar, and when all the people saw it, they shouted and fell on their faces.

The Death of Nadab and Abihu

LEVITICUS 10 †Now Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, each took his censer and put fire in it and laid incense on it and offered unauthorized [1] fire before the LORD, which he had not commanded them. <sup>2</sup>†And fire came out from before the LORD and consumed them, and they died before the LORD. <sup>3</sup>†Then Moses said to Aaron, “This is what the LORD has said, ‘Among those who are near me I will be sanctified, and before all the people I will be glorified.’” And Aaron held his peace.

<sup>4</sup>†And Moses called Mishael and Elzaphan, the sons of Uzziel the uncle of Aaron, and said to them, “Come near; carry your brothers away from the front of the sanctuary and out of the camp.” <sup>5</sup>So they came near and carried them in their coats out of the camp, as Moses had said. <sup>6</sup>††And Moses said to Aaron and to Eleazar and Ithamar his sons, “Do not let the hair of your heads hang loose, and do not tear your clothes, lest you die, and wrath come upon all the congregation; but let your brothers, the whole house of Israel, bewail the burning that the LORD has kindled. <sup>7</sup>And do not go outside the entrance of the tent of meeting, lest you die, for the anointing oil of the LORD is upon you.” And they did according to the word of Moses.

<sup>8</sup>†And the LORD spoke to Aaron, saying, <sup>9</sup>“Drink no wine or strong drink, you or your sons with you, when you go into the tent of meeting, lest you die. It shall be a statute forever throughout your generations. <sup>10</sup>You are to distinguish between the holy and the common, and between the unclean and the clean, <sup>11</sup>†and you are to teach the people of Israel all the statutes that the LORD has spoken to them by Moses.”

<sup>12</sup>†Moses spoke to Aaron and to Eleazar and Ithamar, his surviving sons: “Take the grain offering that is left of the LORD's food offerings, and eat it unleavened beside the altar, for it is most holy. <sup>13</sup>You shall eat it in a holy place, because it is your due and your sons' due, from the LORD's food offerings, for so I am commanded. <sup>14</sup>But the breast that is waved and the thigh that is contributed you shall eat in a clean place, you and your sons and your daughters with you, for they are given as your due and your sons' due from the sacrifices of the peace offerings of the people of Israel. <sup>15</sup>The thigh that is contributed and the breast that is waved they shall bring with the food offerings of the fat pieces to wave for a wave offering before the LORD, and it shall be yours and your sons' with you as a due forever, as the LORD has commanded.”

<sup>16</sup>‡ Now Moses diligently inquired about the goat of the sin offering, and behold, it was burned up! And he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the surviving sons of Aaron, saying, <sup>17</sup>“Why have you not eaten the sin offering in the place of the sanctuary, since it is a thing most holy and has been given to you that you may bear the iniquity of the congregation, to make atonement for them before the LORD? <sup>18</sup>Behold, its blood was not brought into the inner part of the sanctuary. You certainly ought to have eaten it in the sanctuary, as I commanded.” <sup>19</sup>And Aaron said to Moses, “Behold, today they have offered their sin offering and their burnt offering before the LORD, and yet such things as these have happened to me! If I had eaten the sin offering today, would the LORD have approved?” <sup>20</sup>And when Moses heard that, he approved.

Clean and Unclean Animals

LEVITICUS 11 ¶¶ And the LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying to them, <sup>2</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel, saying, These are the living things that you may eat among all the animals that are on the earth. <sup>3</sup>¶ Whatever parts the hoof and is cloven-footed and chews the cud, among the animals, you may eat.

<sup>4</sup>¶ Nevertheless, among those that chew the cud or part the hoof, you shall not eat these: The camel, because it chews the cud but does not part the hoof, is unclean to you. <sup>5</sup>¶ And the rock badger, because it chews the cud but does not part the hoof, is unclean to you. <sup>6</sup> And the hare, because it chews the cud but does not part the hoof, is unclean to you. <sup>7</sup> And the pig, because it parts the hoof and is cloven-footed but does not chew the cud, is unclean to you. <sup>8</sup> You shall not eat any of their flesh, and you shall not touch their carcasses; they are unclean to you.

<sup>9</sup>¶ “These you may eat, of all that are in the waters. Everything in the waters that has fins and scales, whether in the seas or in the rivers, you may eat. <sup>10</sup> But anything in the seas or the rivers that has not fins and scales, of the swarming creatures in the waters and of the living creatures that are in the waters, is detestable to you. <sup>11</sup> You shall regard them as detestable; you shall not eat any of their flesh, and you shall detest their carcasses. <sup>12</sup> Everything in the waters that has not fins and scales is detestable to you.

wash his clothes and be unclean until the evening. <sup>26</sup>‡Every animal that parts the hoof but is not cloven-footed or does not chew the cud is unclean to you. Everyone who touches them shall be unclean. <sup>27</sup>And all that walk on their paws, among the animals that go on all fours, are unclean to you. Whoever touches their carcass shall be unclean until the evening, <sup>28</sup>and he who carries their carcass shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the evening; they are unclean to you.

<sup>29</sup>“And these are unclean to you among the swarming things that swarm on the ground: the mole rat, the mouse, the great lizard of any kind, <sup>30</sup>‡the gecko, the monitor lizard, the lizard, the sand lizard, and the chameleon. <sup>31</sup>These are unclean to you among all that swarm. Whoever touches them when they are dead shall be unclean until the evening. <sup>32</sup>And anything on which any of them falls when they are dead shall be unclean, whether it is an article of wood or a garment or a skin or a sack, any article that is used for any purpose. It must be put into water, and it shall be unclean until the evening; then it shall be clean. <sup>33</sup>And if any of them falls into any earthenware vessel, all that is in it shall be unclean, and you shall break it. <sup>34</sup>Any food in it that could be eaten, on which water comes, shall be unclean. And all drink that could be drunk from every such vessel shall be unclean. <sup>35</sup>And everything on which any part of their carcass falls shall be unclean. Whether oven or stove, it shall be broken in pieces. They are unclean and shall remain unclean for you. <sup>36</sup>‡Nevertheless, a spring or a cistern holding water shall be clean, but whoever touches a carcass in them shall be unclean. <sup>37</sup>And if any part of their carcass falls upon any seed grain that is to be sown, it is clean, <sup>38</sup>but if water is put on the seed and any part of their carcass falls on it, it is unclean to you.

<sup>39</sup>“And if any animal which you may eat dies, whoever touches its carcass shall be unclean until the evening, <sup>40</sup>and whoever eats of its carcass shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the evening. And whoever carries the carcass shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the evening.

<sup>41</sup>“Every swarming thing that swarms on the ground is detestable; it shall not be eaten. <sup>42</sup>Whatever goes on its belly, and whatever goes on all fours, or whatever has many feet, any swarming thing that swarms on the ground, you shall not eat, for they are detestable. <sup>43</sup>You shall not make yourselves detestable with any swarming thing that swarms, and you shall not defile yourselves with them, and become unclean through them. <sup>44</sup>‡For I am the LORD your God. Consecrate yourselves therefore, and be holy, for I am holy. You shall not defile yourselves with any swarming thing that crawls on the ground. <sup>45</sup>For I am the LORD who brought you up out of the land of Egypt to be your God. You shall therefore be holy, for I am holy.”

<sup>46</sup>This is the law about beast and bird and every living creature that moves through the waters and every creature that swarms on the ground, <sup>47</sup>to make a distinction between the unclean and the clean and between the living creature that may be eaten and the living creature that may not be eaten.

Purification After Childbirth

LEVITICUS 12 †The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“Speak to the people of Israel, saying, ‘If a woman conceives and bears a male child, then she shall be unclean seven days. As at the time of her menstruation, she shall be unclean. †And on the eighth day the flesh of his foreskin shall be circumcised. †Then she shall continue for thirty-three days in the blood of her purifying. She shall not touch anything holy, nor come into the sanctuary, until the days of her purifying are completed. †But if she bears a female child, then she shall be unclean two weeks, as in her menstruation. And she shall continue in the blood of her purifying for sixty-six days.

†“And when the days of her purifying are completed, whether for a son or for a daughter, she shall bring to the priest at the entrance of the tent of meeting a lamb a year old for a burnt offering, and a pigeon or a turtledove for a sin offering, †and he shall offer it before the LORD and make atonement for her. Then she shall be clean from the flow of her blood. This is the law for her who bears a child, either male or female. †And if she cannot afford a lamb, then she shall take two turtledoves or two pigeons, [1] one for a burnt offering and the other for a sin offering. And the priest shall make atonement for her, and she shall be clean.’”

Laws About Leprosy

LEVITICUS 13 ‡The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, <sup>2</sup>†“When a person has on the skin of his body a swelling or an eruption or a spot, and it turns into a case of leprous [1] disease on the skin of his body, then he shall be brought to Aaron the priest or to one of his sons the priests, <sup>3</sup>and the priest shall examine the diseased area on the skin of his body. And if the hair in the diseased area has turned white and the disease appears to be deeper than the skin of his body, it is a case of leprous disease. When the priest has examined him, he shall pronounce him unclean. <sup>4</sup>But if the spot is white in the skin of his body and appears no deeper than the skin, and the hair in it has not turned white, the priest shall shut up the diseased person for seven days. <sup>5</sup>And the priest shall examine him on the seventh day, and if in his eyes the disease is checked and the disease has not spread in the skin, then the priest shall shut him up for another seven days. <sup>6</sup>And the priest shall examine him again on the seventh day, and if the diseased area has faded and the disease has not spread in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him clean; it is only an eruption. And he shall wash his clothes and be clean. <sup>7</sup>But if the eruption spreads in the skin, after he has shown himself to the priest for his cleansing, he shall appear again before the priest. <sup>8</sup>And the priest shall look, and if the eruption has spread in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is a leprous disease.

<sup>9</sup>“When a man is afflicted with a leprous disease, he shall be brought to the priest, <sup>10</sup>and the priest shall look. And if there is a white swelling in the skin that has turned the hair white, and there is raw flesh in the swelling, <sup>11</sup>it is a chronic leprous disease in the skin of his body, and the priest shall pronounce him unclean. He shall not shut him up, for he is unclean. <sup>12</sup>And if the leprous disease breaks out in the skin, so that the leprous disease covers all the skin of the diseased person from head to foot, so far as the priest can see, <sup>13</sup>then the priest shall look, and if the leprous disease has covered all his body, he shall pronounce him clean of the disease; it has all turned white, and he is clean. <sup>14</sup>But when raw flesh appears on him, he shall be unclean. <sup>15</sup>And the priest shall examine the raw flesh and pronounce him unclean. Raw flesh is unclean, for it is a leprous disease. <sup>16</sup>But if the raw flesh recovers and turns white again, then he shall come to the priest, <sup>17</sup>and the priest shall examine him, and if the disease has turned white, then the priest shall pronounce the diseased person clean; he is clean.

<sup>18</sup>“If there is in the skin of one's body a boil and it heals, <sup>19</sup>and in the place of the boil there comes a white swelling or a reddish-white spot, then it shall be shown to the priest. <sup>20</sup>And the priest shall look, and if it appears deeper than the skin and its hair has turned white, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is a case of leprous disease that has broken out in the boil. <sup>21</sup>But if the priest examines it and there is no white hair in it and it is not deeper than the skin, but has faded, then the priest shall shut him up seven days. <sup>22</sup>And if it spreads in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is a disease. <sup>23</sup>But if the spot remains in one place and does not spread, it is the scar of the boil, and the priest shall pronounce him clean.

<sup>24</sup>“Or, when the body has a burn on its skin and the raw flesh of the burn becomes a spot, reddish-white or white, <sup>25</sup>the priest shall examine it, and if the hair in the spot has turned white and it appears deeper than the skin, then it is a leprous disease. It has broken out in the burn, and the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is a case of leprous disease. <sup>26</sup>But if the priest examines it and there is no white hair in the spot and it is no deeper than the skin, but has faded, the priest shall shut him up seven days, <sup>27</sup>and the priest shall examine him the seventh day. If it is spreading in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean; it is a case of leprous disease. <sup>28</sup>But if the spot remains in one place and does not spread in the skin, but has faded, it is a swelling from the burn, and the priest shall pronounce him clean, for it is the scar of the burn.

<sup>29</sup>“When a man or woman has a disease on the head or the beard, <sup>30</sup>the priest shall examine the disease. And if it appears deeper than the skin, and the hair in it is yellow and thin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean. It is an itch, a leprous disease of the head or the beard. <sup>31</sup>And if the priest examines the itching disease and it appears no deeper than the skin and there is no black hair in it, then the priest shall shut up the person with the itching disease for seven days, <sup>32</sup>and on the seventh day the priest shall examine the disease. If the itch has not spread, and there is in it no yellow hair, and the itch appears to be no deeper than the skin, <sup>33</sup>then he shall shave himself, but the itch he shall not shave; and the priest shall shut up the person with the itching disease for another seven days. <sup>34</sup>And on the seventh day the priest shall examine the itch, and if the itch has not spread in the skin and it appears to be no deeper than the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him clean. And he shall wash his clothes and be clean. <sup>35</sup>But if the itch spreads in the skin after his cleansing, <sup>36</sup>then the priest shall examine him, and if the itch has spread in the skin, the priest need not seek for the yellow hair; he is unclean. <sup>37</sup>But if in his eyes the itch is unchanged and black hair has grown in it, the itch is healed and he is clean, and the priest shall pronounce him

<sup>38</sup>“When a man or a woman has spots on the skin of the body, white spots, <sup>39</sup>the priest shall look, and if the spots on the skin of the body are of a dull white, it is leukoderma that has broken out in the skin; he is clean.

<sup>47</sup>†“When there is a case of leprous disease in a garment, whether a woolen or a linen garment, <sup>48</sup>in warp or woof of linen or wool, or in a skin or in anything made of skin, <sup>49</sup>if the disease is greenish or reddish in the garment, or in the skin or in the warp or the woof or in any article made of skin, it is a case of leprous disease, and it shall be shown to the priest. <sup>50</sup>And the priest shall examine the disease and shut up that which has the disease for seven days. <sup>51</sup>Then he shall examine the disease on the seventh day. If the disease has spread in the garment, in the warp or the woof, or in the skin, whatever be the use of the skin, the disease is a persistent leprous disease; it is unclean. <sup>52</sup>And he shall burn the garment, or the warp or the woof, the wool or the linen, or any article made of skin that is diseased, for it is a persistent leprous disease. It shall be burned in the fire.

<sup>53</sup>“And if the priest examines, and if the disease has not spread in the garment, in the warp or the woof or in any article made of skin, <sup>54</sup>then the priest shall command that they wash the thing in which is the disease, and he shall shut it up for another seven days. <sup>55</sup>And the priest shall examine the diseased thing after it has been washed. And if the appearance of the diseased area has not changed, though the disease has not spread, it is unclean. You shall burn it in the fire, whether the rot is on the back or on the front.

<sup>56</sup>“But if the priest examines, and if the diseased area has faded after it has been washed, he shall tear it out of the garment or the skin or the warp or the woof.

<sup>57</sup>Then if it appears again in the garment, in the warp or the woof, or in any article made of skin, it is spreading. You shall burn with fire whatever has the disease. <sup>58</sup>But the garment, or the warp or the woof, or any article made of skin from which the disease departs when you have washed it, shall then be washed a second time, and be clean.”

<sup>59</sup>†This is the law for a case of leprous disease in a garment of wool or linen, either in the warp or the woof, or in any article made of skin, to determine whether it is clean or unclean.

Laws for Cleansing Lepers

LEVITICUS 14 †The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“This shall be the law of the leprous person for the day of his cleansing. He shall be brought to the priest, †and the priest shall go out of the camp, and the priest shall look. Then, if the case of leprous disease is healed in the leprous person, ††the priest shall command them to take for him who is to be cleansed two live [1] clean birds and cedarwood and scarlet yarn and hyssop. †And the priest shall command them to kill one of the birds in an earthenware vessel over fresh [2] water. †He shall take the live bird with the cedarwood and the scarlet yarn and the hyssop, and dip them and the live bird in the blood of the bird that was killed over the fresh water. †And he shall sprinkle it seven times on him who is to be cleansed of the leprous disease. Then he shall pronounce him clean and shall let the living bird go into the open field. †And he who is to be cleansed shall wash his clothes and shave off all his hair and bathe himself in water, and he shall be clean. And after that he may come into the camp, but live outside his tent seven days. †And on the seventh day he shall shave off all his hair from his head, his beard, and his eyebrows. He shall shave off all his hair, and then he shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and he shall be clean.

††“And on the eighth day he shall take two male lambs without blemish, and one ewe lamb a year old without blemish, and a grain offering of three tenths of an ephah [3] of fine flour mixed with oil, and one log [4] of oil. †And the priest who cleanses him shall set the man who is to be cleansed and these things before the LORD, at the entrance of the tent of meeting. †And the priest shall take one of the male lambs and offer it for a guilt offering, along with the log of oil, and wave them for a wave offering before the LORD. †And he shall kill the lamb in the place where they kill the sin offering and the burnt offering, in the place of the sanctuary. For the guilt offering, like the sin offering, belongs to the priest; it is most holy. †The priest shall take some of the blood of the guilt offering, and the priest shall put it on the lobe of the right ear of him who is to be cleansed and on the thumb of his right hand and on the big toe of his right foot. †Then the priest shall take some of the log of oil and pour it into the palm of his own left hand †and dip his right finger in the oil that is in his left hand and sprinkle some oil with his finger seven times before the LORD. †And some of the oil that remains in his hand the priest shall put on the lobe of the right ear of him who is to be cleansed and on the thumb of his right hand and on the big toe of his right foot, on top of the blood of the guilt offering. †And the rest of the oil that is in the priest's hand he shall put on the head of him who is to be cleansed. Then the priest shall make atonement for him before the LORD. <sup>19</sup>The priest shall offer the sin offering, to make atonement for him who is to be cleansed from his uncleanness. And afterward he shall kill the burnt offering. <sup>20</sup>And the priest shall offer the burnt offering and the grain offering on the altar. Thus the priest shall make atonement for him, and he shall be clean.

<sup>21</sup>“But if he is poor and cannot afford so much, then he shall take one male lamb for a guilt offering to be waved, to make atonement for him, and a tenth of an ephah of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering, and a log of oil; <sup>22</sup>also two turtledoves or two pigeons, whichever he can afford. The one shall be a sin offering and the other a burnt offering. <sup>23</sup>And on the eighth day he shall bring them for his cleansing to the priest, to the entrance of the tent of meeting, before the LORD. <sup>24</sup>And the priest shall take the lamb of the guilt offering and the log of oil, and the priest shall wave them for a wave offering before the LORD. <sup>25</sup>And he shall kill the lamb of the guilt offering. And the priest shall take some of the blood of the guilt offering and put it on the lobe of the right ear of him who is to be cleansed, and on the thumb of his right hand and on the big toe of his right foot. <sup>26</sup>And the priest shall pour some of the oil into the palm of his own left hand, <sup>27</sup>and shall sprinkle with his right finger some of the oil that is in his left hand seven times before the LORD. <sup>28</sup>And the priest shall put some of the oil that is in his hand on the lobe of the right ear of him who is to be cleansed and on the thumb of his right hand and on the big toe of his right foot, in the place where the blood of the guilt offering was put. <sup>29</sup>And the rest of the oil that is in the priest's hand he shall put on the head of him who is to be cleansed, to make atonement for him before the LORD. <sup>30</sup>And he shall offer, of the turtledoves or pigeons, whichever he can afford, <sup>31</sup>one [5] for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering, along with a grain offering. And the priest shall make atonement before the LORD for him who is being cleansed. <sup>32</sup>This is the law for him in whom is a case of leprous disease, who cannot afford the offerings for his cleansing.”

Laws for Cleansing Houses

<sup>33</sup>‡The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, <sup>34</sup>‡“When you come into the land of Canaan, which I give you for a possession, and I put a case of leprous disease in a house in the land of your possession, <sup>35</sup>then he who owns the house shall come and tell the priest, ‘There seems to me to be some case of disease in my house.’ <sup>36</sup>Then the priest shall command that they empty the house before the priest goes to examine the disease, lest all that is in the house be declared unclean. And afterward the priest shall go in to see the house. <sup>37</sup>† And he shall examine the disease. And if the disease is in the walls of the house with greenish or reddish spots, and if it appears to be deeper than the surface, <sup>38</sup> then the priest shall go out of the house to the door of the house and shut up the house seven days. <sup>39</sup> And the priest shall come again on the seventh day, and look. If the disease has spread in the walls of the house, <sup>40</sup> then the priest shall command that they take out the stones in which is the disease and throw them into an unclean place outside the city. <sup>41</sup> And he shall have the inside of the house scraped all around, and the plaster that they scrape off they shall pour out in an unclean place outside the city. <sup>42</sup> Then they shall take other stones and put them in the place of those stones, and he shall take other plaster and plaster the house.

<sup>43</sup>“If the disease breaks out again in the house, after he has taken out the stones and scraped the house and plastered it, <sup>44</sup> then the priest shall go and look. And if the disease has spread in the house, it is a persistent leprous disease in the house; it is unclean. <sup>45</sup> And he shall break down the house, its stones and timber and all the plaster of the house, and he shall carry them out of the city to an unclean place. <sup>46</sup> Moreover, whoever enters the house while it is shut up shall be unclean until the evening, <sup>47</sup> and whoever sleeps in the house shall wash his clothes, and whoever eats in the house shall wash his clothes.

<sup>48</sup>“But if the priest comes and looks, and if the disease has not spread in the house after the house was plastered, then the priest shall pronounce the house clean, for the disease is healed. <sup>49</sup> And for the cleansing of the house he shall take two small birds, with cedarwood and scarlet yarn and hyssop, <sup>50</sup> and shall kill one of the birds in an earthenware vessel over fresh water <sup>51</sup> and shall take the cedarwood and the hyssop and the scarlet yarn, along with the live bird, and dip them in the blood of the bird that was killed and in the fresh water and sprinkle the house seven times. <sup>52</sup> Thus he shall cleanse the house with the blood of the bird and with the fresh water and with the live bird and with the cedarwood and hyssop and scarlet yarn. <sup>53</sup> And he shall let the live bird go out of the city into the open country. So he shall make atonement for the house, and it shall be clean.”

<sup>54</sup> This is the law for any case of leprous disease: for an itch, <sup>55</sup> for leprous disease in a garment or in a house, <sup>56</sup> and for a swelling or an eruption or a spot, <sup>57</sup> † to show when it is unclean and when it is clean. This is the law for leprous disease.

Laws About Bodily Discharges

LEVITICUS 15 †The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, †“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When any man has a discharge from his body, [1] his discharge is unclean. <sup>3</sup>And this is the law of his uncleanness for a discharge: whether his body runs with his discharge, or his body is blocked up by his discharge, it is his uncleanness. <sup>4</sup>Every bed on which the one with the discharge lies shall be unclean, and everything on which he sits shall be unclean. <sup>5</sup>And anyone who touches his bed shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>6</sup>And whoever sits on anything on which the one with the discharge has sat shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>7</sup>And whoever touches the body of the one with the discharge shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>8</sup>And if the one with the discharge spits on someone who is clean, then he shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>9</sup>And any saddle on which the one with the discharge rides shall be unclean. <sup>10</sup>And whoever touches anything that was under him shall be unclean until the evening. And whoever carries such things shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>11</sup>Anyone whom the one with the discharge touches without having rinsed his hands in water shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>12</sup>And an earthenware vessel that the one with the discharge touches shall be broken, and every vessel of wood shall be rinsed in water.

<sup>13</sup>“And when the one with a discharge is cleansed of his discharge, then he shall count for himself seven days for his cleansing, and wash his clothes. And he shall bathe his body in fresh water and shall be clean. <sup>14</sup>And on the eighth day he shall take two turtledoves or two pigeons and come before the LORD to the entrance of the tent of meeting and give them to the priest. <sup>15</sup>And the priest shall use them, one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. And the priest shall make atonement for him before the LORD for his discharge.

<sup>16</sup>†“If a man has an emission of semen, he shall bathe his whole body in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>17</sup>And every garment and every skin on which the semen comes shall be washed with water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>18</sup>If a man lies with a woman and has an emission of semen, both of them shall bathe themselves in water and be unclean until the evening.

<sup>19</sup>‡“When a woman has a discharge, and the discharge in her body is blood, she shall be in her menstrual impurity for seven days, and whoever touches her shall be unclean until the evening. <sup>20</sup>And everything on which she lies during her menstrual impurity shall be unclean. Everything also on which she sits shall be unclean. <sup>21</sup>And whoever touches her bed shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>22</sup>And whoever touches anything on which she sits shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>23</sup>Whether it is the bed or anything on which she sits, when he touches it he shall be unclean until the evening. <sup>24</sup>And if any man lies with her and her menstrual impurity comes upon him, he shall be unclean seven days, and every bed on which he lies shall be unclean.

<sup>25</sup>‡“If a woman has a discharge of blood for many days, not at the time of her menstrual impurity, or if she has a discharge beyond the time of her impurity, all the days of the discharge she shall continue in uncleanness. As in the days of her impurity, she shall be unclean. <sup>26</sup>Every bed on which she lies, all the days of her discharge, shall be to her as the bed of her impurity. And everything on which she sits shall be unclean, as in the uncleanness of her menstrual impurity. <sup>27</sup>And whoever touches these things shall be unclean, and shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening. <sup>28</sup>But if she is cleansed of her discharge, she shall count for herself seven days, and after that she shall be clean. <sup>29</sup>And on the eighth day she shall take two turtledoves or two pigeons and bring them to the priest, to the entrance of the tent of meeting. <sup>30</sup>And the priest shall use one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. And the priest shall make atonement for her before the LORD for her unclean discharge.

<sup>32</sup>This is the law for him who has a discharge and for him who has an emission of semen, becoming unclean thereby; <sup>33</sup>also for her who is unwell with her menstrual impurity, that is, for anyone, male or female, who has a discharge, and for the man who lies with a woman who is unclean.

The Day of Atonement

LEVITICUS 16 ††The LORD spoke to Moses after the death of the two sons of Aaron, when they drew near before the LORD and died, †and the LORD said to Moses, “Tell Aaron your brother not to come at any time into the Holy Place inside the veil, before the mercy seat that is on the ark, so that he may not die. For I will appear in the cloud over the mercy seat. †But in this way Aaron shall come into the Holy Place: with a bull from the herd for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering. †He shall put on the holy linen coat and shall have the linen undergarment on his body, and he shall tie the linen sash around his waist, and wear the linen turban; these are the holy garments. He shall bathe his body in water and then put them on. †And he shall take from the congregation of the people of Israel two male goats for a sin offering, and one ram for a burnt offering.

†“Aaron shall offer the bull as a sin offering for himself and shall make atonement for himself and for his house. †Then he shall take the two goats and set them before the LORD at the entrance of the tent of meeting. †And Aaron shall cast lots over the two goats, one lot for the LORD and the other lot for Azazel. [1] †And Aaron shall present the goat on which the lot fell for the LORD and use it as a sin offering, †but the goat on which the lot fell for Azazel shall be presented alive before the LORD to make atonement over it, that it may be sent away into the wilderness to Azazel.

†“Aaron shall present the bull as a sin offering for himself, and shall make atonement for himself and for his house. He shall kill the bull as a sin offering for himself. †And he shall take a censer full of coals of fire from the altar before the LORD, and two handfuls of sweet incense beaten small, and he shall bring it inside the veil †and put the incense on the fire before the LORD, that the cloud of the incense may cover the mercy seat that is over the testimony, so that he does not die. †And he shall take some of the blood of the bull and sprinkle it with his finger on the front of the mercy seat on the east side, and in front of the mercy seat he shall sprinkle some of the blood with his finger seven times.

†“Then he shall kill the goat of the sin offering that is for the people and bring its blood inside the veil and do with its blood as he did with the blood of the bull, sprinkling it over the mercy seat and in front of the mercy seat. †Thus he shall make atonement for the Holy Place, because of the uncleannesses of the people of Israel and because of their transgressions, all their sins. And so he shall do for the tent of meeting, which dwells with them in the midst of their uncleanness.

<sup>17</sup>†No one may be in the tent of meeting from the time he enters to make atonement in the Holy Place until he comes out and has made atonement for himself and for his house and for all the assembly of Israel. <sup>18</sup>Then he shall go out to the altar that is before the LORD and make atonement for it, and shall take some of the blood of the bull and some of the blood of the goat, and put it on the horns of the altar all around. <sup>19</sup>And he shall sprinkle some of the blood on it with his finger seven times, and cleanse it and consecrate it from the uncleannesses of the people of Israel.

<sup>20</sup>†“And when he has made an end of atoning for the Holy Place and the tent of meeting and the altar, he shall present the live goat. <sup>21</sup>†And Aaron shall lay both his hands on the head of the live goat, and confess over it all the iniquities of the people of Israel, and all their transgressions, all their sins. And he shall put them on the head of the goat and send it away into the wilderness by the hand of a man who is in readiness. <sup>22</sup>The goat shall bear all their iniquities on itself to a remote area, and he shall let the goat go free in the wilderness.

<sup>23</sup>“Then Aaron shall come into the tent of meeting and shall take off the linen garments that he put on when he went into the Holy Place and shall leave them there. <sup>24</sup>And he shall bathe his body in water in a holy place and put on his garments and come out and offer his burnt offering and the burnt offering of the people and make atonement for himself and for the people. <sup>25</sup>And the fat of the sin offering he shall burn on the altar. <sup>26</sup>And he who lets the goat go to Azazel shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and afterward he may come into the camp. <sup>27</sup>†And the bull for the sin offering and the goat for the sin offering, whose blood was brought in to make atonement in the Holy Place, shall be carried outside the camp. Their skin and their flesh and their dung shall be burned up with fire. <sup>28</sup>And he who burns them shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and afterward he may come into the camp.

<sup>29</sup>†“And it shall be a statute to you forever that in the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month, you shall afflict yourselves [2] and shall do no work, either the native or the stranger who sojourns among you. <sup>30</sup>†For on this day shall atonement be made for you to cleanse you. You shall be clean before the LORD from all your sins. <sup>31</sup>It is a Sabbath of solemn rest to you, and you shall afflict yourselves; it is a statute forever. <sup>32</sup>And the priest who is anointed and consecrated as priest in his father's place shall make atonement, wearing the holy linen garments. <sup>33</sup>He shall make atonement for the holy sanctuary, and he shall make atonement for the tent of meeting and for the altar, and he shall make atonement for the priests and for all the people of the assembly. <sup>34</sup>†And this shall be a statute forever for you, that atonement may be made for the people of Israel once in the year because of all their sins.” And Moses did as the LORD commanded him.

The Place of Sacrifice

LEVITICUS 17 ~~17~~ And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Speak to Aaron and his sons and to all the people of Israel and say to them, This is the thing that the LORD has commanded. <sup>3</sup>If any one of the house of Israel kills an ox or a lamb or a goat in the camp, or kills it outside the camp, <sup>4</sup>†and does not bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting to offer it as a gift to the LORD in front of the tabernacle of the LORD, bloodguilt shall be imputed to that man. He has shed blood, and that man shall be cut off from among his people. <sup>5</sup>†This is to the end that the people of Israel may bring their sacrifices that they sacrifice in the open field, that they may bring them to the LORD, to the priest at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and sacrifice them as sacrifices of peace offerings to the LORD. <sup>6</sup>And the priest shall throw the blood on the altar of the LORD at the entrance of the tent of meeting and burn the fat for a pleasing aroma to the LORD. <sup>7</sup>So they shall no more sacrifice their sacrifices to goat demons, after whom they whore. This shall be a statute forever for them throughout their generations.

<sup>8</sup>“And you shall say to them, Any one of the house of Israel, or of the strangers who sojourn among them, who offers a burnt offering or sacrifice <sup>9</sup>and does not bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting to offer it to the LORD, that man shall be cut off from his people.

Laws Against Eating Blood

<sup>10</sup>†“If any one of the house of Israel or of the strangers who sojourn among them eats any blood, I will set my face against that person who eats blood and will cut him off from among his people. <sup>11</sup>†For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it for you on the altar to make atonement for your souls, for it is the blood that makes atonement by the life. <sup>12</sup>Therefore I have said to the people of Israel, No person among you shall eat blood, neither shall any stranger who sojourns among you eat blood.

<sup>13</sup>†“Any one also of the people of Israel, or of the strangers who sojourn among them, who takes in hunting any beast or bird that may be eaten shall pour out its blood and cover it with earth. <sup>14</sup>For the life of every creature [1] is its blood: its blood is its life. [2] Therefore I have said to the people of Israel, You shall not eat the blood of any creature, for the life of every creature is its blood. Whoever eats it shall be cut off. <sup>15</sup>†And every person who eats what dies of itself or what is torn by beasts, whether he is a native or a sojourner, shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean until the evening; then he shall be clean.

<sup>16</sup>But if he does not wash them or bathe his flesh, he shall bear his iniquity.”

Unlawful Sexual Relations

LEVITICUS 18 †And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, I am the LORD your God. <sup>3</sup>†You shall not do as they do in the land of Egypt, where you lived, and you shall not do as they do in the land of Canaan, to which I am bringing you. You shall not walk in their statutes. <sup>4</sup>†You shall follow my rules [1] and keep my statutes and walk in them. I am the LORD your God. <sup>5</sup>†You shall therefore keep my statutes and my rules; if a person does them, he shall live by them: I am the LORD.

<sup>6</sup>††“None of you shall approach any one of his close relatives to uncover nakedness. I am the LORD. <sup>7</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father, which is the nakedness of your mother; she is your mother, you shall not uncover her nakedness. <sup>8</sup>†You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father's wife; it is your father's nakedness. <sup>9</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of your sister, your father's daughter or your mother's daughter, whether brought up in the family or in another home. <sup>10</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of your son's daughter or of your daughter's daughter, for their nakedness is your own nakedness. <sup>11</sup>†You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father's wife's daughter, brought up in your father's family, since she is your sister. <sup>12</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father's sister; she is your father's relative. <sup>13</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of your mother's sister, for she is your mother's relative. <sup>14</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father's brother, that is, you shall not approach his wife; she is your aunt. <sup>15</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of your daughter-in-law; she is your son's wife, you shall not uncover her nakedness. <sup>16</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of your brother's wife; it is your brother's nakedness. <sup>17</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of a woman and of her daughter, and you shall not take her son's daughter or her daughter's daughter to uncover her nakedness; they are relatives; it is depravity. <sup>18</sup>†And you shall not take a woman as a rival wife to her sister, uncovering her nakedness while her sister is still alive.

neither shall any woman give herself to an animal to lie with it: it is perversion.

<sup>24</sup>“Do not make yourselves unclean by any of these things, for by all these the nations I am driving out before you have become unclean, <sup>25</sup>and the land became unclean, so that I punished its iniquity, and the land vomited out its inhabitants.

<sup>26</sup>But you shall keep my statutes and my rules and do none of these abominations, either the native or the stranger who sojourns among you <sup>27</sup>(for the people of the land, who were before you, did all of these abominations, so that the land became unclean), <sup>28</sup>lest the land vomit you out when you make it unclean, as it vomited out the nation that was before you. <sup>29</sup>‡For everyone who does any of these abominations, the persons who do them shall be cut off from among their people. <sup>30</sup>‡So keep my charge never to practice any of these abominable customs that were practiced before you, and never to make yourselves unclean by them: I am the LORD your God.”

The LORD Is Holy

LEVITICUS 19 †And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“Speak to all the congregation of the people of Israel and say to them, You shall be holy, for I the LORD your God am holy. ††Every one of you shall revere his mother and his father, and you shall keep my Sabbaths: I am the LORD your God. †Do not turn to idols or make for yourselves any gods of cast metal: I am the LORD your God.

‡“When you offer a sacrifice of peace offerings to the LORD, you shall offer it so that you may be accepted. †It shall be eaten the same day you offer it or on the day after, and anything left over until the third day shall be burned up with fire. †If it is eaten at all on the third day, it is tainted; it will not be accepted, †and everyone who eats it shall bear his iniquity, because he has profaned what is holy to the LORD, and that person shall be cut off from his people.

Love Your Neighbor as Yourself

‡“When you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not reap your field right up to its edge, neither shall you gather the gleanings after your harvest. †And you shall not strip your vineyard bare, neither shall you gather the fallen grapes of your vineyard. You shall leave them for the poor and for the sojourner: I am the LORD your God.

†“You shall not steal; you shall not deal falsely; you shall not lie to one another. †You shall not swear by my name falsely, and so profane the name of your God: I am the LORD.

†“You shall not oppress your neighbor or rob him. The wages of a hired servant shall not remain with you all night until the morning. †You shall not curse the deaf or put a stumbling block before the blind, but you shall fear your God: I am the LORD.

“You shall do no injustice in court. You shall not be partial to the poor or defer to the great, but in righteousness shall you judge your neighbor. †You shall not go around as a slanderer among your people, and you shall not stand up against the life [1] of your neighbor: I am the LORD.

“You shall not hate your brother in your heart, but you shall reason frankly with your neighbor, lest you incur sin because of him. †You shall not take vengeance or bear a grudge against the sons of your own people, but you shall love your neighbor as yourself: I am the LORD.

You Shall Keep My Statutes

<sup>19</sup>‡“You shall keep my statutes. You shall not let your cattle breed with a different kind. You shall not sow your field with two kinds of seed, nor shall you wear a garment of cloth made of two kinds of material.

<sup>20</sup>‡“If a man lies sexually with a woman who is a slave, assigned to another man and not yet ransomed or given her freedom, a distinction shall be made. They shall not be put to death, because she was not free; <sup>21</sup>but he shall bring his compensation to the LORD, to the entrance of the tent of meeting, a ram for a guilt offering. <sup>22</sup>And the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering before the LORD for his sin that he has committed, and he shall be forgiven for the sin that he has committed.

<sup>23</sup>‡“When you come into the land and plant any kind of tree for food, then you shall regard its fruit as forbidden. [2] Three years it shall be forbidden to you; it must not be eaten. <sup>24</sup>And in the fourth year all its fruit shall be holy, an offering of praise to the LORD. <sup>25</sup>But in the fifth year you may eat of its fruit, to increase its yield for you: I am the LORD your God.

<sup>26</sup>‡“You shall not eat any flesh with the blood in it. You shall not interpret omens or tell fortunes. <sup>27</sup>‡You shall not round off the hair on your temples or mar the edges of your beard. <sup>28</sup>You shall not make any cuts on your body for the dead or tattoo yourselves: I am the LORD.

<sup>29</sup>‡“Do not profane your daughter by making her a prostitute, lest the land fall into prostitution and the land become full of depravity. <sup>30</sup>‡You shall keep my Sabbaths and reverence my sanctuary: I am the LORD.

<sup>31</sup>‡“Do not turn to mediums or necromancers; do not seek them out, and so make yourselves unclean by them: I am the LORD your God.

<sup>32</sup>‡“You shall stand up before the gray head and honor the face of an old man, and you shall fear your God: I am the LORD.

<sup>33</sup>‡“When a stranger sojourns with you in your land, you shall not do him wrong. <sup>34</sup>You shall treat the stranger who sojourns with you as the native among you, and you shall love him as yourself, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

<sup>35</sup>“You shall do no wrong in judgment, in measures of length or weight or quantity. <sup>36</sup>† You shall have just balances, just weights, a just ephah, and a just hin: [3] I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt.

<sup>37</sup>And you shall observe all my statutes and all my rules, and do them: I am the LORD.”

Punishment for Child Sacrifice

LEVITICUS 20 ‡The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“Say to the people of Israel, Any one of the people of Israel or of the strangers who sojourn in Israel who gives any of his children to Molech shall surely be put to death. The people of the land shall stone him with stones. †I myself will set my face against that man and will cut him off from among his people, because he has given one of his children to Molech, to make my sanctuary unclean and to profane my holy name. †And if the people of the land do at all close their eyes to that man when he gives one of his children to Molech, and do not put him to death, ††then I will set my face against that man and against his clan and will cut them off from among their people, him and all who follow him in whoring after Molech.

†“If a person turns to mediums and necromancers, whoring after them, I will set my face against that person and will cut him off from among his people.

‡Consecrate yourselves, therefore, and be holy, for I am the LORD your God.

‡Keep my statutes and do them; I am the LORD who sanctifies you. †For anyone who curses his father or his mother shall surely be put to death; he has cursed his father or his mother; his blood is upon him.

Punishments for Sexual Immorality

‡“If a man commits adultery with the wife of [1] his neighbor, both the adulterer and the adulteress shall surely be put to death. †If a man lies with his father's wife, he has uncovered his father's nakedness; both of them shall surely be put to death; their blood is upon them. †If a man lies with his daughter-in-law, both of them shall surely be put to death; they have committed perversion; their blood is upon them. †If a man lies with a male as with a woman, both of them have committed an abomination; they shall surely be put to death; their blood is upon them. †If a man takes a woman and her mother also, it is depravity; he and they shall be burned with fire, that there may be no depravity among you. †If a man lies with an animal, he shall surely be put to death, and you shall kill the animal. †If a woman approaches any animal and lies with it, you shall kill the woman and the animal; they shall surely be put to death; their blood is upon them.

‡“If a man takes his sister, a daughter of his father or a daughter of his mother, and sees her nakedness, and she sees his nakedness, it is a disgrace, and they shall be cut off in the sight of the children of their people. He has uncovered his sister's nakedness, and he shall bear his iniquity. <sup>18</sup>If a man lies with a woman during her menstrual period and uncovers her nakedness, he has made naked her fountain, and she has uncovered the fountain of her blood. Both of them shall be cut off from among their people. <sup>19</sup>You shall not uncover the nakedness of your mother's sister or of your father's sister, for that is to make naked one's relative; they shall bear their iniquity. <sup>20</sup>If a man lies with his uncle's wife, he has uncovered his uncle's nakedness; they shall bear their sin; they shall die childless. <sup>21</sup>If a man takes his brother's wife, it is impurity. [2] He has uncovered his brother's nakedness; they shall be childless.

You Shall Be Holy

<sup>22</sup>†“You shall therefore keep all my statutes and all my rules and do them, that the land where I am bringing you to live may not vomit you out. <sup>23</sup>And you shall not walk in the customs of the nation that I am driving out before you, for they did all these things, and therefore I detested them. <sup>24</sup>But I have said to you, ‘You shall inherit their land, and I will give it to you to possess, a land flowing with milk and honey.’ I am the LORD your God, who has separated you from the peoples. <sup>25</sup>You shall therefore separate the clean beast from the unclean, and the unclean bird from the clean. You shall not make yourselves detestable by beast or by bird or by anything with which the ground crawls, which I have set apart for you to hold unclean. <sup>26</sup>You shall be holy to me, for I the LORD am holy and have separated you from the peoples, that you should be mine.

<sup>27</sup>†“A man or a woman who is a medium or a necromancer shall surely be put to death. They shall be stoned with stones; their blood shall be upon them.”

Holiness and the Priests

LEVITICUS 21 †† And the LORD said to Moses, “Speak to the priests, the sons of Aaron, and say to them: No one shall make himself unclean for the dead among his people, <sup>2</sup>except for his closest relatives, his mother, his father, his son, his daughter, his brother, <sup>3</sup>or his virgin sister (who is near to him because she has had no husband; for her he may make himself unclean). <sup>4</sup>He shall not make himself unclean as a husband among his people and so profane himself. <sup>5</sup>† They shall not make bald patches on their heads, nor shave off the edges of their beards, nor make any cuts on their body. <sup>6</sup>† They shall be holy to their God and not profane the name of their God. For they offer the LORD's food offerings, the bread of their God; therefore they shall be holy. <sup>7</sup>† They shall not marry a prostitute or a woman who has been defiled, neither shall they marry a woman divorced from her husband, for the priest is holy to his God. <sup>8</sup>You shall sanctify him, for he offers the bread of your God. He shall be holy to you, for I, the LORD, who sanctify you, am holy. <sup>9</sup>† And the daughter of any priest, if she profanes herself by whoring, profanes her father; she shall be burned with fire.

<sup>10</sup>†† “The priest who is chief among his brothers, on whose head the anointing oil is poured and who has been consecrated to wear the garments, shall not let the hair of his head hang loose nor tear his clothes. <sup>11</sup>He shall not go in to any dead bodies nor make himself unclean, even for his father or for his mother. <sup>12</sup>He shall not go out of the sanctuary, lest he profane the sanctuary of his God, for the consecration of the anointing oil of his God is on him: I am the LORD. <sup>13</sup>And he shall take a wife in her virginity. [1] <sup>14</sup>A widow, or a divorced woman, or a woman who has been defiled, or a prostitute, these he shall not marry. But he shall take as his wife a virgin [2] of his own people, <sup>15</sup>that he may not profane his offspring among his people, for I am the LORD who sanctifies him.”

<sup>16</sup>† And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>17</sup>“Speak to Aaron, saying, None of your offspring throughout their generations who has a blemish may approach to offer the bread of his God. <sup>18</sup>For no one who has a blemish shall draw near, a man blind or lame, or one who has a mutilated face or a limb too long, <sup>19</sup>or a man who has an injured foot or an injured hand, <sup>20</sup>or a hunchback or a dwarf or a man with a defect in his sight or an itching disease or scabs or crushed testicles. <sup>21</sup>No man of the offspring of Aaron the priest who has a blemish shall come near to offer the LORD's food offerings; since he has a blemish, he shall not come near to offer the bread of his God. <sup>22</sup>He may eat the bread of his God, both of the most holy and of the holy things, <sup>23</sup>but he shall not go through the veil or approach the altar, because he has a blemish, that he may not profane my sanctuaries, for I am the LORD who sanctifies them.” <sup>24</sup>So Moses spoke to Aaron and to his sons and to all the people of Israel.

LEVITICUS 22 †And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Speak to Aaron and his sons so that they abstain from the holy things of the people of Israel, which they dedicate to me, so that they do not profane my holy name: I am the LORD. <sup>3</sup>Say to them, ‘If any one of all your offspring throughout your generations approaches the holy things that the people of Israel dedicate to the LORD, while he has an uncleanness, that person shall be cut off from my presence: I am the LORD. <sup>4</sup>†None of the offspring of Aaron who has a leprous disease or a discharge may eat of the holy things until he is clean. Whoever touches anything that is unclean through contact with the dead or a man who has had an emission of semen, <sup>5</sup>†and whoever touches a swarming thing by which he may be made unclean or a person from whom he may take uncleanness, whatever his uncleanness may be— <sup>6</sup>the person who touches such a thing shall be unclean until the evening and shall not eat of the holy things unless he has bathed his body in water. <sup>7</sup>†When the sun goes down he shall be clean, and afterward he may eat of the holy things, because they are his food. <sup>8</sup>He shall not eat what dies of itself or is torn by beasts, and so make himself unclean by it: I am the LORD.’ <sup>9</sup>They shall therefore keep my charge, lest they bear sin for it and die thereby when they profane it: I am the LORD who sanctifies them.

<sup>10</sup>†“A lay person shall not eat of a holy thing; no foreign guest of the priest or hired servant shall eat of a holy thing, <sup>11</sup>but if a priest buys a slave as his property for money, the slave [1] may eat of it, and anyone born in his house may eat of his food. <sup>12</sup>If a priest's daughter marries a layman, she shall not eat of the contribution of the holy things. <sup>13</sup>But if a priest's daughter is widowed or divorced and has no child and returns to her father's house, as in her youth, she may eat of her father's food; yet no lay person shall eat of it. <sup>14</sup>And if anyone eats of a holy thing unintentionally, he shall add the fifth of its value to it and give the holy thing to the priest. <sup>15</sup>They shall not profane the holy things of the people of Israel, which they contribute to the LORD, <sup>16</sup>and so cause them to bear iniquity and guilt, by eating their holy things: for I am the LORD who sanctifies them.”

Acceptable Offerings

<sup>17</sup>†And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>18</sup>“Speak to Aaron and his sons and all the people of Israel and say to them, When any one of the house of Israel or of the sojourners in Israel presents a burnt offering as his offering, for any of their vows or freewill offerings that they offer to the LORD, <sup>19</sup>if it is to be accepted for you it shall be a male without blemish, of the bulls or the sheep or the goats.

<sup>20</sup>You shall not offer anything that has a blemish, for it will not be acceptable for you. <sup>21</sup>And when anyone offers a sacrifice of peace offerings to the LORD to fulfill a vow or as a freewill offering from the herd or from the flock, to be accepted it must be perfect; there shall be no blemish in it. <sup>22</sup>Animals blind or disabled or mutilated or having a discharge or an itch or scabs you shall not offer to the LORD or give them to the LORD as a food offering on the altar. <sup>23</sup>You may present a bull or a lamb that has a part too long or too short for a freewill offering, but for a vow offering it cannot be accepted. <sup>24</sup>Any animal that has its testicles bruised or crushed or torn or cut you shall not offer to the LORD; you shall not do it within your land, <sup>25</sup>neither shall you offer as the bread of your God any such animals gotten from a foreigner. Since there is a blemish in them, because of their mutilation, they will not be accepted for you.”

<sup>26</sup>And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>27</sup>“When an ox or sheep or goat is born, it shall remain seven days with its mother, and from the eighth day on it shall be acceptable as a food offering to the LORD. <sup>28</sup>But you shall not kill an ox or a sheep and her young in one day. <sup>29</sup>And when you sacrifice a sacrifice of thanksgiving to the LORD, you shall sacrifice it so that you may be accepted. <sup>30</sup>It shall be eaten on the same day; you shall leave none of it until morning: I am the LORD.

<sup>31</sup>‡“So you shall keep my commandments and do them: I am the LORD. <sup>32</sup>And you shall not profane my holy name, that I may be sanctified among the people of Israel. I am the LORD who sanctifies you, <sup>33</sup>who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God: I am the LORD.”

Feasts of the LORD

LEVITICUS 23 ~~###~~The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>†“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, These are the appointed feasts of the LORD that you shall proclaim as holy convocations; they are my appointed feasts.

The Sabbath

<sup>3</sup>†“Six days shall work be done, but on the seventh day is a Sabbath of solemn rest, a holy convocation. You shall do no work. It is a Sabbath to the LORD in all your dwelling places.

The Passover

<sup>4</sup>†“These are the appointed feasts of the LORD, the holy convocations, which you shall proclaim at the time appointed for them. <sup>5</sup>†In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month at twilight, [1] is the LORD's Passover. <sup>6</sup>†And on the fifteenth day of the same month is the Feast of Unleavened Bread to the LORD; for seven days you shall eat unleavened bread. <sup>7</sup>On the first day you shall have a holy convocation; you shall not do any ordinary work. <sup>8</sup>But you shall present a food offering to the LORD for seven days. On the seventh day is a holy convocation; you shall not do any ordinary work.”

The Feast of Firstfruits

<sup>9</sup>†And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>10</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When you come into the land that I give you and reap its harvest, you shall bring the sheaf of the firstfruits of your harvest to the priest, <sup>11</sup>and he shall wave the sheaf before the LORD, so that you may be accepted. On the day after the Sabbath the priest shall wave it. <sup>12</sup>And on the day when you wave the sheaf, you shall offer a male lamb a year old without blemish as a burnt offering to the LORD. <sup>13</sup>And the grain offering with it shall be two tenths of an ephah [2] of fine flour mixed with oil, a food offering to the LORD with a pleasing aroma, and the drink offering with it shall be of wine, a fourth of a hin. [3] <sup>14</sup>And you shall eat neither bread nor grain parched or fresh until this same day, until you have brought the offering of your God: it is a statute forever throughout your generations in all your dwellings.

The Feast of Weeks

<sup>15</sup>‡“You shall count seven full weeks from the day after the Sabbath, from the day that you brought the sheaf of the wave offering. <sup>16</sup>You shall count fifty days to the day after the seventh Sabbath. Then you shall present a grain offering of new grain to the LORD. <sup>17</sup>You shall bring from your dwelling places two loaves of bread to be waved, made of two tenths of an ephah. They shall be of fine flour, and they shall be baked with leaven, as firstfruits to the LORD. <sup>18</sup>And you shall present with the bread seven lambs a year old without blemish, and one bull from the herd and two rams. They shall be a burnt offering to the LORD, with their grain offering and their drink offerings, a food offering with a pleasing aroma to the LORD. <sup>19</sup>And you shall offer one male goat for a sin offering, and two male lambs a year old as a sacrifice of peace offerings. <sup>20</sup>And the priest shall wave them with the bread of the firstfruits as a wave offering before the LORD, with the two lambs. They shall be holy to the LORD for the priest. <sup>21</sup>And you shall make proclamation on the same day. You shall hold a holy convocation. You shall not do any ordinary work. It is a statute forever in all your dwelling places throughout your generations.

<sup>22</sup>“And when you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not reap your field right up to its edge, nor shall you gather the gleanings after your harvest. You shall leave them for the poor and for the sojourner: I am the LORD your God.”

The Feast of Trumpets

<sup>23</sup>‡‡And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>24</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel, saying, In the seventh month, on the first day of the month, you shall observe a day of solemn rest, a memorial proclaimed with blast of trumpets, a holy convocation. <sup>25</sup>You shall not do any ordinary work, and you shall present a food offering to the LORD.”

The Day of Atonement

<sup>26</sup>‡And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>27</sup>“Now on the tenth day of this seventh month is the Day of Atonement. It shall be for you a time of holy convocation, and you shall afflict yourselves and present a food offering to the LORD. <sup>28</sup>And you shall not do any work on that very day, for it is a Day of Atonement, to make atonement for you before the LORD your God. <sup>29</sup>For whoever is not afflicted on that very day shall be cut off from his people. <sup>30</sup>And whoever does any work on that very day, that person I will destroy from among his people. <sup>31</sup>You shall not do any work. It is a statute forever throughout your generations in all your dwelling places. <sup>32</sup>It shall be to you a Sabbath of solemn rest, and you shall afflict yourselves. On the ninth day of the month beginning at evening, from evening to evening shall you keep your Sabbath.”

The Feast of Booths

<sup>33</sup>‡And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>34</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel, saying, On the fifteenth day of this seventh month and for seven days is the Feast of Booths [4] to the LORD. <sup>35</sup>On the first day shall be a holy convocation; you shall not do any ordinary work. <sup>36</sup>For seven days you shall present food offerings to the LORD. On the eighth day you shall hold a holy convocation and present a food offering to the LORD. It is a solemn assembly; you shall not do any ordinary work.

<sup>37</sup>“These are the appointed feasts of the LORD, which you shall proclaim as times of holy convocation, for presenting to the LORD food offerings, burnt offerings and grain offerings, sacrifices and drink offerings, each on its proper day, <sup>38</sup>besides the LORD's Sabbaths and besides your gifts and besides all your vow offerings and besides all your freewill offerings, which you give to the LORD.

<sup>39</sup>“On the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when you have gathered in the produce of the land, you shall celebrate the feast of the LORD seven days. On the first day shall be a solemn rest, and on the eighth day shall be a solemn rest. <sup>40</sup>And you shall take on the first day the fruit of splendid trees, branches of palm trees and boughs of leafy trees and willows of the brook, and you shall rejoice before the LORD your God seven days. <sup>41</sup>You shall celebrate it as a feast to the LORD for seven days in the year. It is a statute forever throughout your generations; you shall celebrate it in the seventh month. <sup>42</sup>You shall dwell in booths for seven days. All native Israelites shall dwell in booths, <sup>43</sup>that your generations may know that I made the people of Israel dwell in booths when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.”

The Lamps

LEVITICUS 24 †The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Command the people of Israel to bring you pure oil from beaten olives for the lamp, that a light may be kept burning regularly. <sup>3</sup>Outside the veil of the testimony, in the tent of meeting, Aaron shall arrange it from evening to morning before the LORD regularly. It shall be a statute forever throughout your generations. <sup>4</sup>He shall arrange the lamps on the lampstand of pure gold [\[1\]](#) before the LORD regularly.

Bread for the Tabernacle

<sup>5</sup>†“You shall take fine flour and bake twelve loaves from it; two tenths of an ephah [\[2\]](#) shall be in each loaf. <sup>6</sup>And you shall set them in two piles, six in a pile, on the table of pure gold [\[3\]](#) before the LORD. <sup>7</sup>And you shall put pure frankincense on each pile, that it may go with the bread as a memorial portion as a food offering to the LORD. <sup>8</sup>Every Sabbath day Aaron shall arrange it before the LORD regularly; it is from the people of Israel as a covenant forever. <sup>9</sup>And it shall be for Aaron and his sons, and they shall eat it in a holy place, since it is for him a most holy portion out of the LORD's food offerings, a perpetual due.”

Punishment for Blasphemy

<sup>10</sup>†Now an Israelite woman's son, whose father was an Egyptian, went out among the people of Israel. And the Israelite woman's son and a man of Israel fought in the camp, <sup>11</sup>and the Israelite woman's son blasphemed the Name, and cursed. Then they brought him to Moses. His mother's name was Shelomith, the daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan. <sup>12</sup>†And they put him in custody, till the will of the LORD should be clear to them.

<sup>13</sup>Then the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>14</sup>“Bring out of the camp the one who cursed, and let all who heard him lay their hands on his head, and let all the congregation stone him. <sup>15</sup>And speak to the people of Israel, saying, Whoever curses his God shall bear his sin. <sup>16</sup>Whoever blasphemes the name of the LORD shall surely be put to death. All the congregation shall stone him. The sojourner as well as the native, when he blasphemes the Name, shall be put to death.

An Eye for an Eye

The Sabbath Year

LEVITICUS 25 ¶¶ The LORD spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When you come into the land that I give you, the land shall keep a Sabbath to the LORD. <sup>3</sup>For six years you shall sow your field, and for six years you shall prune your vineyard and gather in its fruits, <sup>4</sup>but in the seventh year there shall be a Sabbath of solemn rest for the land, a Sabbath to the LORD. You shall not sow your field or prune your vineyard. <sup>5</sup>You shall not reap what grows of itself in your harvest, or gather the grapes of your undressed vine. It shall be a year of solemn rest for the land. <sup>6</sup>The Sabbath of the land shall provide food for you, for yourself and for your male and female slaves and for your hired servant and the sojourner who lives with you, <sup>7</sup>and for your cattle and for the wild animals that are in your land: all its yield shall be for food.

The Year of Jubilee

<sup>8</sup>¶¶ “You shall count seven weeks [1] of years, seven times seven years, so that the time of the seven weeks of years shall give you forty-nine years. <sup>9</sup>¶ Then you shall sound the loud trumpet on the tenth day of the seventh month. On the Day of Atonement you shall sound the trumpet throughout all your land. <sup>10</sup>¶ And you shall consecrate the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout the land to all its inhabitants. It shall be a jubilee for you, when each of you shall return to his property and each of you shall return to his clan. <sup>11</sup>That fiftieth year shall be a jubilee for you; in it you shall neither sow nor reap what grows of itself nor gather the grapes from the undressed vines. <sup>12</sup>For it is a jubilee. It shall be holy to you. You may eat the produce of the field. [2]

<sup>13</sup>“In this year of jubilee each of you shall return to his property. <sup>14</sup>¶ And if you make a sale to your neighbor or buy from your neighbor, you shall not wrong one another. <sup>15</sup>You shall pay your neighbor according to the number of years after the jubilee, and he shall sell to you according to the number of years for crops. <sup>16</sup>If the years are many, you shall increase the price, and if the years are few, you shall reduce the price, for it is the number of the crops that he is selling to you. <sup>17</sup>¶ You shall not wrong one another, but you shall fear your God, for I am the LORD your God.

<sup>18</sup>¶ “Therefore you shall do my statutes and keep my rules and perform them, and then you will dwell in the land securely. <sup>19</sup>The land will yield its fruit, and you will eat your fill and dwell in it securely. <sup>20</sup>‡And if you say, ‘What shall we eat in the seventh year, if we may not sow or gather in our crop?’ <sup>21</sup>I will command my blessing on you in the sixth year, so that it will produce a crop sufficient for three years. <sup>22</sup>When you sow in the eighth year, you will be eating some of the old crop; you shall eat the old until the ninth year, when its crop arrives.

Redemption of Property

<sup>23</sup>‡“The land shall not be sold in perpetuity, for the land is mine. For you are strangers and sojourners with me. <sup>24</sup>And in all the country you possess, you shall allow a redemption of the land.

<sup>25</sup>“If your brother becomes poor and sells part of his property, then his nearest redeemer shall come and redeem what his brother has sold. <sup>26</sup>If a man has no one to redeem it and then himself becomes prosperous and finds sufficient means to redeem it, <sup>27</sup>let him calculate the years since he sold it and pay back the balance to the man to whom he sold it, and then return to his property. <sup>28</sup>But if he has not sufficient means to recover it, then what he sold shall remain in the hand of the buyer until the year of jubilee. In the jubilee it shall be released, and he shall return to his property.

<sup>29</sup>“If a man sells a dwelling house in a walled city, he may redeem it within a year of its sale. For a full year he shall have the right of redemption. <sup>30</sup>If it is not redeemed within a full year, then the house in the walled city shall belong in perpetuity to the buyer, throughout his generations; it shall not be released in the jubilee. <sup>31</sup>But the houses of the villages that have no wall around them shall be classified with the fields of the land. They may be redeemed, and they shall be released in the jubilee. <sup>32</sup>As for the cities of the Levites, the Levites may redeem at any time the houses in the cities they possess. <sup>33</sup>‡And if one of the Levites exercises his right of redemption, then the house that was sold in a city they possess shall be released in the jubilee. For the houses in the cities of the Levites are their possession among the people of Israel. <sup>34</sup>‡But the fields of pastureland belonging to their cities may not be sold, for that is their possession forever.

Kindness for Poor Brothers

<sup>35</sup>‡“If your brother becomes poor and cannot maintain himself with you, you shall support him as though he were a stranger and a sojourner, and he shall live with you. <sup>36</sup>‡Take no interest from him or profit, but fear your God, that your brother may live beside you. <sup>37</sup>You shall not lend him your money at interest, nor give him your food for profit. <sup>38</sup>†I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to give you the land of Canaan, and to be your God.

<sup>39</sup>†“If your brother becomes poor beside you and sells himself to you, you shall not make him serve as a slave: <sup>40</sup>he shall be with you as a hired servant and as a sojourner. He shall serve with you until the year of the jubilee. <sup>41</sup>Then he shall go out from you, he and his children with him, and go back to his own clan and return to the possession of his fathers. <sup>42</sup>†For they are my servants, [3] whom I brought out of the land of Egypt; they shall not be sold as slaves. <sup>43</sup>You shall not rule over him ruthlessly but shall fear your God. <sup>44</sup>†As for your male and female slaves whom you may have: you may buy male and female slaves from among the nations that are around you. <sup>45</sup>You may also buy from among the strangers who sojourn with you and their clans that are with you, who have been born in your land, and they may be your property. <sup>46</sup>You may bequeath them to your sons after you to inherit as a possession forever. You may make slaves of them, but over your brothers the people of Israel you shall not rule, one over another ruthlessly.

Redeeming a Poor Man

<sup>47</sup>†“If a stranger or sojourner with you becomes rich, and your brother beside him becomes poor and sells himself to the stranger or sojourner with you or to a member of the stranger's clan, <sup>48</sup>†then after he is sold he may be redeemed. One of his brothers may redeem him, <sup>49</sup>or his uncle or his cousin may redeem him, or a close relative from his clan may redeem him. Or if he grows rich he may redeem himself. <sup>50</sup>He shall calculate with his buyer from the year when he sold himself to him until the year of jubilee, and the price of his sale shall vary with the number of years. The time he was with his owner shall be rated as the time of a hired servant. <sup>51</sup>†If there are still many years left, he shall pay proportionately for his redemption some of his sale price. <sup>52</sup>If there remain but a few years until the year of jubilee, he shall calculate and pay for his redemption in proportion to his years of service. <sup>53</sup>He shall treat him as a servant hired year by year. He shall not rule ruthlessly over him in your sight. <sup>54</sup>And if he is not redeemed by these means, then he and his children with him shall be released in the year of jubilee. <sup>55</sup>†For it is to me that the people of Israel are servants. [4] They are my servants whom I brought out of the land of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

Blessings for Obedience

LEVITICUS 26 †††“You shall not make idols for yourselves or erect an image or pillar, and you shall not set up a figured stone in your land to bow down to it, for I am the LORD your God. <sup>2</sup>You shall keep my Sabbaths and reverence my sanctuary: I am the LORD.

<sup>3</sup>†“If you walk in my statutes and observe my commandments and do them, <sup>4</sup>†then I will give you your rains in their season, and the land shall yield its increase, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit. <sup>5</sup>Your threshing shall last to the time of the grape harvest, and the grape harvest shall last to the time for sowing. And you shall eat your bread to the full and dwell in your land securely. <sup>6</sup>†I will give peace in the land, and you shall lie down, and none shall make you afraid. And I will remove harmful beasts from the land, and the sword shall not go through your land. <sup>7</sup>†You shall chase your enemies, and they shall fall before you by the sword. <sup>8</sup>Five of you shall chase a hundred, and a hundred of you shall chase ten thousand, and your enemies shall fall before you by the sword. <sup>9</sup>†I will turn to you and make you fruitful and multiply you and will confirm my covenant with you. <sup>10</sup>You shall eat old store long kept, and you shall clear out the old to make way for the new. <sup>11</sup>I will make my dwelling [1] among you, and my soul shall not abhor you. <sup>12</sup>†And I will walk among you and will be your God, and you shall be my people. <sup>13</sup>I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that you should not be their slaves. And I have broken the bars of your yoke and made you walk erect.

Punishment for Disobedience

<sup>14</sup>†“But if you will not listen to me and will not do all these commandments, <sup>15</sup>†if you spurn my statutes, and if your soul abhors my rules, so that you will not do all my commandments, but break my covenant, <sup>16</sup>†then I will do this to you: I will visit you with panic, with wasting disease and fever that consume the eyes and make the heart ache. And you shall sow your seed in vain, for your enemies shall eat it. <sup>17</sup>I will set my face against you, and you shall be struck down before your enemies. Those who hate you shall rule over you, and you shall flee when none pursues you. <sup>18</sup>And if in spite of this you will not listen to me, then I will discipline you again sevenfold for your sins, <sup>19</sup>and I will break the pride of your power, and I will make your heavens like iron and your earth like bronze. <sup>20</sup>And your strength shall be spent in vain, for your land shall not yield its increase, and the trees of the land shall not yield their fruit.

<sup>21</sup>“Then if you walk contrary to me and will not listen to me, I will continue striking you, sevenfold for your sins. <sup>22</sup>†And I will let loose the wild beasts against you, which shall bereave you of your children and destroy your livestock and make you few in number, so that your roads shall be deserted.

<sup>23</sup>“And if by this discipline you are not turned to me but walk contrary to me, <sup>24</sup>then I also will walk contrary to you, and I myself will strike you sevenfold for your sins. <sup>25</sup>†And I will bring a sword upon you, that shall execute vengeance for the covenant. And if you gather within your cities, I will send pestilence among you, and you shall be delivered into the hand of the enemy. <sup>26</sup>When I break your supply [2] of bread, ten women shall bake your bread in a single oven and shall dole out your bread again by weight, and you shall eat and not be satisfied.

<sup>27</sup>“But if in spite of this you will not listen to me, but walk contrary to me, <sup>28</sup>then I will walk contrary to you in fury, and I myself will discipline you sevenfold for your sins. <sup>29</sup>†You shall eat the flesh of your sons, and you shall eat the flesh of your daughters. <sup>30</sup>†And I will destroy your high places and cut down your incense altars and cast your dead bodies upon the dead bodies of your idols, and my soul will abhor you. <sup>31</sup>†And I will lay your cities waste and will make your sanctuaries desolate, and I will not smell your pleasing aromas. <sup>32</sup>And I myself will devastate the land, so that your enemies who settle in it shall be appalled at it. <sup>33</sup>And I will scatter you among the nations, and I will unsheathe the sword after you, and your land shall be a desolation, and your cities shall be a waste.

<sup>34</sup>“Then the land shall enjoy [3] its Sabbaths as long as it lies desolate, while you are in your enemies' land; then the land shall rest, and enjoy its Sabbaths. <sup>35</sup>†As long as it lies desolate it shall have rest, the rest that it did not have on your Sabbaths when you were dwelling in it. <sup>36</sup>And as for those of you who are left, I will send faintness into their hearts in the lands of their enemies. The sound of a driven leaf shall put them to flight, and they shall flee as one flees from the sword, and they shall fall when none pursues. <sup>37</sup>They shall stumble over one another, as if to escape a sword, though none pursues. And you shall have no power to stand before your enemies. <sup>38</sup>†And you shall perish among the nations, and the land of your enemies shall eat you up. <sup>39</sup>And those of you who are left shall rot away in your enemies' lands because of their iniquity, and also because of the iniquities of their fathers they shall rot away like them.

<sup>40</sup>‡“But if they confess their iniquity and the iniquity of their fathers in their treachery that they committed against me, and also in walking contrary to me, <sup>41</sup>so that I walked contrary to them and brought them into the land of their enemies—if then their uncircumcised heart is humbled and they make amends for their iniquity, <sup>42</sup>‡then I will remember my covenant with Jacob, and I will remember my covenant with Isaac and my covenant with Abraham, and I will remember the land. <sup>43</sup>But the land shall be abandoned by them and enjoy its Sabbaths while it lies desolate without them, and they shall make amends for their iniquity, because they spurned my rules and their soul abhorred my statutes. <sup>44</sup>Yet for all that, when they are in the land of their enemies, I will not spurn them, neither will I abhor them so as to destroy them utterly and break my covenant with them, for I am the LORD their God. <sup>45</sup>But I will for their sake remember the covenant with their forefathers, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt in the sight of the nations, that I might be their God: I am the LORD.”

<sup>46</sup>‡These are the statutes and rules and laws that the LORD made between himself and the people of Israel through Moses on Mount Sinai.

Laws About Vows

LEVITICUS 27 †The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, If anyone makes a special vow to the LORD involving the valuation of persons, †then the valuation of a male from twenty years old up to sixty years old shall be fifty shekels [1] of silver, according to the shekel of the sanctuary. †If the person is a female, the valuation shall be thirty shekels. †If the person is from five years old up to twenty years old, the valuation shall be for a male twenty shekels, and for a female ten shekels. †If the person is from a month old up to five years old, the valuation shall be for a male five shekels of silver, and for a female the valuation shall be three shekels of silver. †And if the person is sixty years old or over, then the valuation for a male shall be fifteen shekels, and for a female ten shekels. †And if someone is too poor to pay the valuation, then he shall be made to stand before the priest, and the priest shall value him; the priest shall value him according to what the vower can afford.

†“If the vow [2] is an animal that may be offered as an offering to the LORD, all of it that he gives to the LORD is holy. †He shall not exchange it or make a substitute for it, good for bad, or bad for good; and if he does in fact substitute one animal for another, then both it and the substitute shall be holy. †And if it is any unclean animal that may not be offered as an offering to the LORD, then he shall stand the animal before the priest, †and the priest shall value it as either good or bad; as the priest values it, so it shall be. †But if he wishes to redeem it, he shall add a fifth to the valuation.

†“When a man dedicates his house as a holy gift to the LORD, the priest shall value it as either good or bad; as the priest values it, so it shall stand. †And if the donor wishes to redeem his house, he shall add a fifth to the valuation price, and it shall be his.

†“If a man dedicates to the LORD part of the land that is his possession, then the valuation shall be in proportion to its seed. A homer [3] of barley seed shall be valued at fifty shekels of silver. †If he dedicates his field from the year of jubilee, the valuation shall stand, †but if he dedicates his field after the jubilee, then the priest shall calculate the price according to the years that remain until the year of jubilee, and a deduction shall be made from the valuation. †And if he who dedicates the field wishes to redeem it, then he shall add a fifth to its valuation price, and it shall remain his. †But if he does not wish to redeem the field, or if he has sold the field to another man, it shall not be redeemed anymore. <sup>21</sup>But the field, when it is released in the jubilee, shall be a holy gift to the LORD, like a field that has been devoted. The priest shall be in possession of it. <sup>22</sup>If he dedicates to the LORD a field that he has bought, which is not a part of his possession, <sup>23</sup>then the priest shall calculate the amount of the valuation for it up to the year of jubilee, and the man shall give the valuation on that day as a holy gift to the LORD. <sup>24</sup>In the year of jubilee the field shall return to him from whom it was bought, to whom the land belongs as a possession. <sup>25</sup>Every valuation shall be according to the shekel of the sanctuary: twenty gerahs [4] shall make a shekel.

<sup>26</sup>†“But a firstborn of animals, which as a firstborn belongs to the LORD, no man may dedicate; whether ox or sheep, it is the LORD's. <sup>27</sup>And if it is an unclean animal, then he shall buy it back at the valuation, and add a fifth to it; or, if it is not redeemed, it shall be sold at the valuation.

<sup>28</sup>“But no devoted thing that a man devotes to the LORD, of anything that he has, whether man or beast, or of his inherited field, shall be sold or redeemed; every devoted thing is most holy to the LORD. <sup>29</sup>†No one devoted, who is to be devoted for destruction [5] from mankind, shall be ransomed; he shall surely be put to death.

Study Notes

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:1–7:38 This section provides laws pertaining to sacrifice. For the first time in Israel’s history, a well-defined set of sacrifices was given to them, although people had offered sacrifices since the time of Abel and Cain (cf. Gen. 4:3–4). This section contains instructions for the people (Lev. 1:1–6:7) and the priests (6:8–7:38). For a comparison with the millennial kingdom sacrifices, see notes on Ezek. 45; 46.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:1–6:7 God had taken the nation at its word, “All that the Lord has spoken we will do” (Ex. 19:8; 24:3–8) and gave detailed instructions as to how they were to sacrifice to him. Five sacrifices were outlined: the first three were voluntary, the last two compulsory. They were: 1) burnt offering (Lev. 1:1–17); 2) grain offering (2:1–16); 3) peace offering (3:1–17); 4) sin offering (4:1–5:13); and 5) trespass or guilt offering (5:14–6:7). All these offerings were forms of worship to God, to give expression of the penitent and thankful heart. Those who were truly God’s by faith gave these offerings with an attitude of worship; for the rest, they were external rituals only.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:1 The Lord called Moses. Leviticus begins where Exodus left off (see Introduction: Author and Date; Background and Setting). No sooner did the glory cloud come down to rest on the tabernacle in the concluding verses of Exodus, than God instructed Moses with the content in Leviticus. The question of how to use the tabernacle in worship is answered here by an audible voice from the Divine Glory over the ark in the Most Holy Place (cf. Ex. 40:34; Num. 7:89; Ps. 80:1). tent of meeting. This is so named since it was the place where Israel would gather to meet the Lord (cf. Ex. 25:8, 22; 26:1–37). See Ex. 25–32 for a detailed description of the tabernacle.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:2 Speak to the people of Israel. This is essential revelation, with reference to their spiritual life, for all the descendants of Jacob, who was also called Israel (cf. Gen. 32:28). When any one of you brings. These were completely voluntary and freewill offerings with no specific number or frequency given (Lev. 1:3). The regulation excluded horses, dogs, pigs, camels, and donkeys, which were used in pagan sacrifices, as well as rabbits, deer, beasts, and birds of prey. The sacrifice had to be from the offerer’s herd or he had to purchase it. an offering. The Pharisees manipulated this simple concept so that adult children could selfishly withhold the material goods that would help their parents, under the guise of Corban, that it was dedicated to the Lord (cf. Mark 7:8–13). herd . . . flock. These terms refer to the cattle (Lev. 1:3), sheep, or goats (1:10) respectively. Only domestic animals could be sacrificed.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:3–17 See 6:8–13 for the priests' instructions. The burnt offerings were the first sacrifices revealed because these were the ones to be most frequently offered: every morning and evening (Num. 28:1–8), every Sabbath (Num. 28:9–10), the first day of each month (Num. 28:11–15), and at the special feasts (Num. 28:16–29:40). This offering signified voluntary and complete dedication and consecration to the Lord. It was an offering of repentance for sins committed, with the desire to be purged from the guilt of sinful acts. Designed to demonstrate the sinner's penitence and obedience, it indicated his self-dedication to the worship of God. The most costly animal was mentioned first; the least costly last. The singing of psalms later became a part of this ritual (cf. Ps. 4; 5; 40; 50; 66).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:3–9 This section describes the sacrifice of bulls (v. 5).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:3 burnt offering. This offering is so called because it required that the animal be completely consumed by the fire, except for the crop of feathers of a bird (1:16) or skin of the bull, which went to the priest (1:6; 7:8). a male without blemish. Since no animal with any deformity or defect was permitted, the priests would inspect each animal, perhaps using a method that the Egyptians employed in their sacrifices, calling for all inspected and approved animals to have a certificate attached to the horns and sealed with wax. A male without defect was required, as it was the choicest offering of the flock. to the entrance . . . before the Lord. This entrance to the courtyard around the tabernacle where the altar of burnt offering stood (Ex. 40:6) would place the one offering a sacrifice on the north side of the altar (cf. Lev. 1:11). God's presence in the cloud rested upon the mercy seat of the ark in the Most Holy Place inside the tabernacle proper (see note on 1:1). The offering was brought to and offered before the Lord, not before man.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:4 lay his hand on the head. This symbolic gesture pictured the transfer of the sacrificer's sin to the sacrificial animal and was likely done with a prayer of repentance and request for forgiveness (cf. Ps. 51:18–19). make atonement. The word means "cover." The psalmist defines it by saying, "Blessed is the one whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered" (Ps. 32:1). Theologically, the “atonement” of the OT covered sin only temporarily, but it did not eliminate sin or later judgment (Heb. 10:4). The one-time sacrifice of Jesus Christ fully atoned for sin, thus satisfying God’s wrath forever and insuring eternal salvation (cf. Heb. 9:12; 1 John 2:2), even to those who put saving faith in God for their redemption before Christ’s death on the cross (cf. Rom. 3:25–26; Heb. 9:15). for him. This was a substitutionary sacrifice that prefigured the ultimate substitute—Jesus Christ (cf. Isa. 53; see note on 2 Cor. 5:21).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:5 he shall kill. Making vivid and dramatic the consequences of sin, the person offering the sacrifice killed and butchered the animal (cf. v. 6). Aaron’s sons. This refers to the immediate descendants of Aaron, i.e., Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar (cf. Ex. 28:1). In the beginning, there were five priests, including Aaron, who served as the high priest. shall bring . . . throw the blood. The priest had to collect the blood in a basin and then offer it to God as a sacrifice to indicate that a life had been taken, i.e., death occurred (cf. Lev. 17:11, 14). The price of sin is always death (cf. Gen. 2:17; Rom. 6:23). the altar. The altar of burnt offering (cf. Ex. 27:1–8; 38:1–7), which is in the courtyard outside of the tabernacle proper. The prototype experience, before the tabernacle was constructed, is remembered in Ex. 24:1–8.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:9 wash. This allowed the one sacrificing to cleanse the animal of excrement and thus make it clean. a pleasing aroma. The pleasant smell of burning meat signified the sacrifice of obedience, which was pleasing to the Lord. While the costly ritual recognized God’s anger for sin committed (cf. 1:13, 17), the penitent heart behind the sacrifice made it acceptable. That was far more significant than the sacrifice itself (cf. Gen. 8:21; 1 Sam. 15:22). This is the first of three freewill offerings to please the Lord; cf. the grain offering (Lev. 2:2) and the peace offering (3:5).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:10–13 from the flock. This section describes the sacrifice of sheep and goats.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:11 north side. This placed the one sacrificing in front of the tabernacle door (cf. 1:3).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:14–17 of birds. This section describes the sacrifice of birds. God does not ask the poor to bring the same burnt offering as those financially well off because the relative cost to the one sacrificing was an important factor. This is the kind of sacrifice brought by Joseph and Mary on the eighth day after Christ's birth for Mary's purification (cf. 12:8; Luke 2:22–24).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:15 the priest . . . wring off. Unlike the livestock being killed by the one offering the sacrifice, the bird was killed by the priest.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 1:16 crop . . . contents. This refers to the neck or gullet of a bird, where food was stored. east side . . . place for ashes. This was the closest side to the entrance of the tabernacle compound and provided for the easiest removal of the ashes outside (cf. 6:10–11).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:1–16 See 6:14–23 for the priests' instructions. The grain offering signified homage and thanksgiving to God as a voluntary offering, which was offered along with a burnt offering and a drink offering at the appointed sacrifices (cf. Num. 28:1–15). Three variations were prescribed: 1) uncooked flour (Lev. 2:1–3); 2) baked flour (2:4–13); or 3) roasted firstfruit grain from the harvest (2:14–16). This was the only non-animal sacrifice of the five and shows that there was a place for offering from the fruit of the soil (as in the case of Cain in Gen. 4).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:1–3 fine flour. The first variation consisted of uncooked flour whose quality of "fine" paralleled the "unblemished" animal in the burnt offering. A portion of this offering was to support the priests (v. 3). Like the drink offering or "libation," the grain offering was added to the burnt offering (cf. Num. 28:1–15).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:1 oil. See note on 2:4. frankincense. See note on 2:15.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:2 handful. Unlike the whole burnt offering (1:9), only a representative or memorial portion was given to the Lord. pleasing aroma. See note on 1:9.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:3 Aaron and his sons. Unlike the burnt offering (cf. 1:9, 13, 17), this offering supplies provision for the priests. most holy. This was unique from the others because it was not limited to God alone, like the burnt offering, nor eaten in part by the worshiper, like the peace offering. Only the priest could eat the portion not burned (see 7:9). The sin offering (6:17, 25) and the trespass offering (6:17; 7:1) are also called "most holy."

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:4–13 This variation of the grain offering involved baked flour. The kinds of containers discussed are: 1) oven (2:4); 2) griddle (2:5–6); and 3) covered pan (2:7–10). The manner of preparation is discussed in 2:11–13.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:4 unleavened loaves. The notion of leaven as a symbol representing the presence of sin remains valid beyond the context of the Passover and continues to the NT (cf. Matt. 16:6; 1 Cor. 5:6–7). smeared with oil. Literally, “anointed with oil.” Anointing is usually reserved for human appointments by God. Here, it was applied to the preparation of a holy sacrifice, set apart as a memorial to the Lord.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:11 This applies to the offerings of 2:4–10, all of which were to be burned on the altar. no leaven nor . . . honey. Both yeast and honey were edible foods, but were never to be used with a grain offering, since both could induce fermentation, which symbolized sin (see note on 2:4).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:12 This applies to the offering of 2:14–16, which was not to be burned on the altar, but rather roasted by the worshiper (v. 14) before going to the tabernacle.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:13 the salt of the covenant. This was included in all of the offerings in 2:4–10, 14–16 since salt was emblematic of permanence or loyalty to the covenant.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:14 firstfruits fresh ears. These would be offered at the Feast of Firstfruits (23:9–14) and the Feast of Weeks (23:15–22).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 2:15 frankincense. A gum resin with a pungent, balsamic odor, used in the tabernacle sacrifices (cf. Ex. 30:34).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 3:1–17 See 7:11–36 for the priests’ instructions. The peace offering symbolizes the peace and fellowship between the true worshiper and God (as a voluntary offering). It was the third freewill offering resulting in a sweet aroma to the Lord (3:5), which served as the appropriate corollary to the burnt offering of atonement and the grain offering of consecration and dedication. It symbolized the fruit of redemptive reconciliation between a sinner and God (cf. 2 Cor. 5:18).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 3:1–5 Pertains to cattle, i.e., the herd, used in the peace offering.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 3:1–2 male or female. This is similar to the burnt offering in manner of presentation (cf. 1:3–9), but different in that a female was allowed.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 3:4 the fat. All of the fat was dedicated to the Lord (3:3–5, 9–11, 14–16).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 3:6–11 Pertains to sheep used in the peace offering.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 3:11 as a food. The sacrifice was intended to symbolize a meal between God and the one offering it, where peace and friendship were epitomized by sharing that meal together.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 3:12–16 Pertains to goats used in the peace offering.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 3:17 eat neither fat nor blood. The details given in the chapter distinctly define which fat was to be burned and not eaten, so that whatever adhered to other parts or was mixed with them might be eaten. As with many facets of the Mosaic legislation, there were underlying health benefits also.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:1–6:7 The sin (4:1–5:13) and guilt (5:14–6:7) offerings differed from the previous three in that the former were voluntary and these were compulsory. The sin offering differed from the guilt offering in that the former involved iniquity where restitution was not possible, while in the latter it was possible.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:1–5:13 See 6:24–30 for the priests' instructions. The sin offering atoned for sins committed unknowingly where restitution was impossible. This was a required sacrifice, as was the guilt offering (5:14–6:7). Unintentional sins of commission (4:1–35) and unintentional sins of omission (5:1–13) are discussed. Leviticus 4:1–35 indicates the person committing the sin: 1) the high priest (vv. 3–12); 2) the congregation (vv. 13–21); 3) a leader (vv. 22–26); and 4) an individual (vv. 27–35). Leviticus 5:1–13 unfolds according to the animal sacrificed: 1) lamb/goat (vv. 1–6); 2) bird (vv. 7–10); and 3) flour (vv. 11–13).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:2 unintentionally. The intended meaning is to stray into a sinful situation, but not necessarily to be taken completely by surprise (see esv footnote, “by mistake”). Numbers 15:30–31 illustrates the defiant attitude of intentional sin. not to be done . . . does any. Sins of commission.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:3–12 Sacrifices for the sin of the high priest are given.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:3 the anointed priest. See Ex. 29:29 and Lev. 16:32, which defined this person as the high priest. bringing guilt on the people. Only the high priest, due to his representative position, was capable of this type of guilt infusion. For example, Achan had brought about the defeat of Israel when he held back the spoils, but the entire nation was not executed, as was his family (cf. Josh. 7:22–26).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:5 into the tent of meeting. He actually went into the Holy Place.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:6 seven times. The number of completion or perfection, indicating the nature of God's forgiveness (Ps. 103:12). the veil of the sanctuary. The veil marked the entry into the very presence of God in the Most Holy Place.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:7 altar of fragrant incense. See Ex. 30:1–10. This altar was in the tabernacle proper before the veil. It was so close to the ark that Hebrews speaks of it as actually being in the Most Holy Place (Heb. 9:4). This altar was also sprinkled with blood on the Day of Atonement (Ex. 30:10). altar of burnt offering. The altar in the courtyard on which blood was normally splashed.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:10 peace offerings. See note on 3:1–17.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:11 entrails, and its dung. This identifies the major internal organs of an animal, including the intestines' waste content.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:12 carry outside the camp. This was a symbolic gesture of removing the sin from the people (cf. Heb. 13:11–13 in reference to Christ).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:13–21 Sacrifices for the sin of the congregation were to follow essentially the same procedure as that for the sin of priests (4:3–12).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:16 the anointed priest. See note on 4:3.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:22–26 These are sacrifices for the sin of a ruler. The blood of the sacrifice was not sprinkled in the Holy Place, as for the priest or congregation (4:6, 17), but only on the altar of burnt offering.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 4:27–35 These are sacrifices for the sin of an individual. Either a goat (vv. 27–31) or a lamb (vv. 32–35) could be sacrificed in much the same manner as the offering for a ruler (vv. 22–26).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:1–13 Dealing with unintentional sins continues with an emphasis on sins of omission (vv. 1–4). Lambs/goats (v. 6), birds (vv. 7–10), or flour (vv. 11–13) were acceptable sacrifices.

Old Testament Sacrifices Compared to Christ's Sacrifice

Old Testament Sacrifices Compared to Christ's Sacrifice
Leviticus		Hebrews
1. Old Covenant (temporary)	Heb. 7:22; 8:6, 13; 10:20	1. New Covenant (permanent)
2. Obsolete promises	Heb. 8:6–13	2. Better promises
3. A shadow	Heb. 8:5; 9:23–24; 10:1	3. The reality
4. Aaronic priesthood (many)	Heb. 6:19–7:25	4. Melchizedekian priesthood (one)
5. Sinful priesthood	Heb. 7:26, 27; 9:7	5. Sinless priest
6. Limited-by-death priesthood	Heb. 7:16, 17, 23, 24	6. Forever priesthood
7. Daily sacrifices	Heb. 7:27; 9:12, 25, 26; 10:9, 10, 12	7. Once-for-all sacrifice
8. Animal sacrifices	Heb. 9:11–15, 26; 10:4–10, 19	8. Sacrifice of God's Son
9. Ongoing sacrifices	Heb. 10:11–14, 18	9. Sacrifices no longer needed
10. One year atonement	Heb. 7:25; 9:12, 15; 10:1–4, 12	10. Eternal propitiation

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:1–5 This call to confession named a few examples of violations for which penitence was the right response: 1) withholding evidence (v. 1); 2) touching something unclean (vv. 2–3); and 3) rash oath making (v. 4).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:1 public adjuration . . . witness. A witness was sinning when he did not come forward to testify that he had actually seen or had firsthand knowledge of a violation, such as hearing the violator confess to the sin.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:4 swear. “Speaking thoughtlessly” suggests a reckless oath for good or bad, i.e., an oath the speaker should not or could not keep.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:5 confesses. Confession must accompany the sacrifice as the outward expression of a repentant heart that openly acknowledged agreement with God concerning sin. Sacrifice minus true faith, repentance, and obedience was hypocrisy (cf. Ps. 26:4; Isa. 9:17; Amos 5:21–26).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:7 burnt offering. See notes on 1:3–17.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:11 ephah. About 6 gallons. put no oil . . . frankincense. Contrast the grain offering (2:2).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:13 grain offering. See notes on 2:1–16.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:14–6:7 See 7:1–10 for the priests’ instructions. The trespass or guilt offering symbolized an atonement for sin unknowingly committed where restitution was possible. Like the sin offering (4:1–5:13), this one was compulsory. For sins against the Lord’s property, restitution was made to the priest (5:14–19), while restitution was made to the person who suffered loss in other instances (6:1–7).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:15 shekel of the sanctuary. This amounted to 20 gerahs (Ex. 30:13; Lev. 27:25; Num. 3:47) or two bekas (Ex. 38:26), which is the equivalent of four-tenths of one ounce. God fixed the value of a shekel.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 5:16 a fifth. The offender was required to make a 120-percent restitution, which was considerably lower than that prescribed elsewhere in the Mosaic law, e.g., Ex. 22:7, 9. Perhaps this is accounted for by a voluntary confession in contrast to an adjudicated and forced conviction.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:1–7 While all sins are against God (cf. Ps. 51:4), some are direct (Lev. 5:14–19) and others are indirect, involving people (6:1–7), as here. These violations are not exhaustive, but representative samples used to establish and illustrate the principle.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:6 equivalent. The priest served as an appraiser to give appropriate value to the goods in question.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:8–7:38 These were laws of sacrifice for the priesthood. Leviticus 1:1–6:7 has dealt with five major offerings from the worshiper's perspective. Here instructions for the priests are given, with special attention to the priests' portion of the sacrifice.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:8–13 The burnt offering. See notes on 1:3–17.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:9 on the hearth on the altar all night. This resulted in the complete incineration of the sacrifice, picturing it as totally given to the Lord, with the smoke arising as a sweet aroma to him (1:9, 13, 17).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:10–11 ashes. This described both the immediate (v. 10) and final (v. 11) disposition of the ash remains, i.e., that which is worthless.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:12 fat . . . peace offerings. See note on 3:4.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:13 burning . . . continually. The perpetual flame indicated a continuous readiness on the part of God to receive confession and restitution through the sacrifice.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:14–23 The grain offering. See notes on 2:1–16.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:15 handful. See note on 2:2.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:16–18 Unlike the burnt offering, the grain offering provided food for the priests and their male children, i.e., future priests.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:16 in a holy place. This was to be eaten only in the courtyard of the tabernacle.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:19–23 Aaron, as high priest, was to make a daily grain offering at morning and night on behalf of his priestly family.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:20 he is anointed. See 8:7–12. ephah. See note on 5:11.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:22–23 The priest . . . anointed to succeed him. The high priests who succeed Aaron are in view here. whole . . . burned. The priests' offering was to be given completely, with nothing left over.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:24–30 The sin offering. See notes on 4:1–5:13.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:25 burnt offering. See notes on 1:3–17. most holy. See note on 2:3.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:26 priest . . . eat. The priest putting the offering on the brazen altar could use it for food, if the sacrifice was for a ruler (4:22–26) or the people (4:27–35).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:27–28 Instructions on the cleanness of the priest's garments as they relate to blood.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 6:30 no sin offering . . . eaten. Those sacrifices made on behalf of a priest (4:3–12) or the congregation (4:13–21) could be eaten.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:1–10 The trespass or guilt offering. See notes on 5:14–6:7. Verses 7–10 provide a brief excursus on what may be eaten by the priests.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:1 most holy. See note on 2:3.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:7 See note on 6:26.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:10 mixed with oil or dry. Both were acceptable options.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:11–36 The peace offering. See notes on 3:1–17. The purposes for the peace offering are given in 7:11–18. Special instructions that prevented a priest from being “cut off” (vv. 19–27) and the allotment to Aaron and his sons (vv. 28–36) are enumerated.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:11–15 A peace offering for thanksgiving shall also be combined with a grain offering (see 2:1–16). The meat had to be eaten that same day, probably for the reason of health since it would rapidly spoil and for the purpose of preventing people from thinking that such meat had some spiritual presence in it, thus developing some superstitions.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:13 leavened bread. Contrast the unleavened grain offering (see 2:11).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:16–18 vow . . . freewill offering. The priest could eat the meat the same day or next day, but eating on the third day brought punishment.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:19–21 cut off. Uncleanness was punishable by death. See ch. 22 for more details.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:22–27 See note on 3:17.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:27 cut off. See note on 7:19–21.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:29 offering . . . sacrifice. The worshiper made a peace offering from his sacrifice so that the Lord received the blood (v. 33) and the fat (v. 33). The priests received the breast (vv. 30–31) and right thigh (v. 33). The worshiper could use the rest for himself.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:30–32 wave offering. This was a symbolic act indicating the offering was for the Lord. Bread (Ex. 29:23–24), meat (Ex. 29:22–24), gold (Ex. 38:24), oil (Lev. 14:12), and grain (Lev. 23:11) all served as wave offerings. Another type of offering was the heave offering. Jewish tradition portrayed the wave offering as being presented with a horizontal motion and the heave offering with a vertical motion, as suggested by Lev. 10:15.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:36 he anointed them. See 8:30.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:37–38 Moses gives a summary conclusion of 1:3–7:36.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 7:37 ordination offering. This refers to the offerings at the ordination of Aaron and his sons (see 8:14–36; Ex. 29:1–46).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:1–10:20 Beginnings of the Aaronic priesthood are discussed in this section. Before the time of Aaron, the patriarchs (Gen. 4:3–4) and the fathers (Job 1:5) had offered sacrifices to God, but with Aaron came the fully prescribed priestly service.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:1–36 Aaron and his sons were consecrated before they ministered to the Lord. The consecration of Aaron and his sons had been ordered long before (see notes on Ex. 29:1–28), but is here described with all the ceremonial details as it was done after the tabernacle was completed and the regulations for the various sacrifices enacted.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:2 the garments. *See notes on Ex. 28:1–43. the anointing oil. Oil was used for ceremonial anointing (Lev. 8:12, 30). sin offering. *See notes on 4:1–5:13, esp. 4:3–12.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:6–9 See notes on Ex. 28:1–43.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:8 the Urim and the Thummim. A feature on the breastpiece of the high priest by which God’s people were given his decision on matters that required a decision. See note on Ex. 28:30.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:11 seven times. See note on 4:6.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:12 to consecrate him. This act was to ceremonially set Aaron apart from the congregation to be a priest unto God, and from the other priests to be high priest.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:14–17 See notes on 4:3–12.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:17 dung. See note on 4:11.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:18–21 See notes on 1:3–17.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:23–24 right ear . . . right hand . . . right foot. Using a part to represent the whole, Aaron and his sons were consecrated to listen to God’s holy word, to carry out his holy assignments, and to live holy lives.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:29 wave offering. See note on 7:30–32.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 8:35 performing what the Lord has charged. The commandment of God ordered Aaron and his sons to do exactly as the Lord had spoken through Moses. Disobedience would meet with death.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 9:1–24 Since the priests had been consecrated and appropriate sacrifices offered on their behalf, they were prepared to fulfill their priestly duties on behalf of the congregation as they carried out all of the prescribed sacrifices in Lev. 1–7 and rendered them to the Lord.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 9:2–4 sin . . . burnt . . . peace . . . grain offering. See notes on 4:1–5:13; 1:3–17; 3:1–17; and 2:1–16 respectively.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 9:4, 6 the glory of the Lord. The Lord’s manifestation or presence was going to appear to them to show acceptance of the sacrifices. See notes on vv. 23–24, where that appearance is recorded.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 9:8–21 Aaron presented sacrifices on his own behalf (vv. 8–14) and on behalf of the people (vv. 15–21).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 9:17 burnt offering . . . morning. See Ex. 29:41 and Num. 28:4.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 9:21 wave offering. See note on 7:30–32.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 9:22 lifted up his hands toward the people. The high priest gave a symbolic gesture for blessing, perhaps pronouncing the priestly blessing (Num. 6:24–26; cf. 2 Cor. 13:14).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 9:23 the glory of the Lord appeared. The Bible speaks often of the glory of God—the visible appearance of his beauty and perfection reduced to blazing light. His glory appeared to Moses in a burning bush in Midian (Ex. 3:1–6), in a cloud on Mount Sinai (Ex. 24:15–17), and in a rock on Mount Sinai (Ex. 33:18–23). The glory of God also filled the tabernacle (Ex. 40:34), led the people as a pillar of fire and cloud (Ex. 40:35–38), and also filled the temple in Jerusalem (1 Kings 8:10–11). When Aaron made the first sacrifice in the wilderness, as a priest, the “glory of the Lord appeared to all the people.” In these manifestations, God was revealing his righteousness, holiness, truth, wisdom, and grace—the sum of all he is. However, nowhere has God’s glory been more perfectly expressed than in his Son, the Lord Jesus Christ (John 1:14). It will be seen on earth again when he returns (Matt. 24:29–31; 25:31).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 9:24 fire came out . . . consumed. This fire miraculously signified that God had accepted their offering (cf. 1 Kings 18:38–39), and the people shouted for joy because of that acceptance and worshiped God.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:1 Nadab and Abihu. These were the two oldest sons of Aaron. censer. The vessels in which the incense was burned in the Holy Place (its features are unknown) was to be used only for holy purposes. unauthorized fire. Though the exact infraction is not detailed, in some way they violated the prescription for offering incense (cf. Ex. 30:9, 34–38), probably because they were drunk (see Lev. 10:8–9). Instead of taking the incense fire from the brazen altar, they had some other source for the fire and thus perpetrated an act, which, considering the descent of the miraculous fire they had just seen and their solemn duty to do as God told them, betrayed carelessness, irreverence, and lack of consideration for God. Such a tendency had to be punished for all priests to see as a warning.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:2 fire came out. The same divine fire that accepted the sacrifices (9:24) consumed the errant priests. That was not unlike the later deaths of Uzzah (2 Sam. 6:6–7) or Ananias and Sapphira (Acts 5:5, 10).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:3 be sanctified . . . be glorified. Nadab and Abihu were guilty of violating both requirements of God's absolute standard. The priests had received repeated and solemn warnings as to the necessity of reverence before God (see Ex. 19:22; 29:44). Aaron held his peace. In spite of losing his two sons, he did not complain, but submitted to the righteous judgment of God.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:4 Mishael . . . Elzaphan. See Ex. 6:22 for their lineage. This procedure prevented the priests from defiling themselves by handling the dead bodies (Lev. 21:1), and allowed the whole congregation to see the result of such disregard for the holiness of God. out of the camp. As this was done with the ashes of sacrificed animals (6:11), so it was done with the remains of these two priests who received God's wrath.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:6 Eleazar and Ithamar. Aaron's youngest sons who yet lived. Later, the line of Eleazar would be designated as the unique line of the high priest (cf. Num. 25:10–13).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:6–7 This prohibition against the customary signs of mourning was usually reserved for the high priest only as prescribed in 21:10–12. Here, Moses applies it to Eleazar and Ithamar also.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:8–9 Drink no wine or strong drink. Taken in its context, this prohibition suggests that intoxication led Nadab and Abihu to perform their blasphemous act. Cf. Prov. 23:20–35; 1 Tim. 3:3; Titus 1:7.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:11 teach the people of Israel. It was essential that alcohol not hinder the clarity of their minds, since the priests were to teach God’s law to all of Israel. They were the expositors of the Scripture, alongside the prophets who generally received the word directly from the Lord. Ezra would become the supreme example of a commendable priest (Ezra 7:10).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:12–15 See notes on the peace offering in 3:1–17 and 7:11–36.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 10:16–20 The sin offering had not been eaten as prescribed in 6:26, but rather it was wholly burned. It was the duty of the priests to have eaten the meat after the blood was sprinkled on the altar, but instead of eating it in a sacred feast, they had burned it outside the camp. Moses discovered this disobedience, probably from a dread of some further judgment, and challenged, not Aaron, whose heart was too torn in the death of his sons, but the two surviving sons in the priesthood to explain their breach of ritual duty. Aaron, who heard the charge, however, and by whose direction the violation had occurred, gave the explanation. His reason was that they had done all the ritual sacrifice correctly up to the point of eating the meat, but omitted eating because he was too dejected for a feast in the face of the appalling judgments that had fallen. He was wrong, because God had specifically commanded the sin offering to be eaten in the Holy Place. God’s law was clear and it was sin to deviate from it at all. Moses sympathized with Aaron’s grief, however, and having made his point, dropped the issue.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:1–16:34 Prescriptions for uncleanness are covered in this section. God used the tangible issues of life, which he labeled clean/unclean, to repeatedly impress upon Israel the difference between what was holy and unholy. “Clean” means acceptable to God; “unclean” means unacceptable to God. Leviticus 11–15 details the code of cleanness; Lev. 16 returns to sacrifices on the Day of Atonement.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:1–47 This section contains further legislation on the consumption of animals. Abel’s offering hints at a “post-fall/pre-flood” diet of animals (Gen. 4:4). After the Noahic flood, God specifically had granted man permission to eat meat (Gen. 9:1–4), but here spelled out the specifics as covenant legislation. All of the reasons for the prohibitions are not specified. The major points were: 1) that Israel was to obey God’s absolute standard, regardless of the reason for it, or the lack of understanding of it; and 2) such a unique diet was specified that Israel would find it difficult to eat with the idolatrous people around and among them. Their dietary laws served as a barrier to easy socialization with idolatrous peoples. Dietary and hygienic benefits were real, but only secondary to the divine purposes of obedience and separation.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:3–23 This section is repeated in Deut. 14:3–20 in almost exact wording. The subject matter includes animals (Lev. 11:3–8), water life (vv. 9–12), birds (vv. 13–19), and insects (vv. 20–23).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:4 camel. The camel has a divided foot of two large parts, but the division is not complete and the two toes rest on an elastic pad.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:5–6 rock badger . . . hare. While not true ruminating animals, the manner in which these animals processed their food gave the distinct appearance of “chewing the cud.”

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:9 fins and scales. Much like the cud and hoof characteristics, the “no fin and scales” guidelines ruled out a segment of water life commonly consumed by ancient people.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:13 among the birds. Rather than unifying characteristics as in the hoof-cud and no fin-scales descriptions, the forbidden birds were simply named.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:21 This describes the locust (v. 22), which was allowed for food.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:24–43 This section deals with separation from other defiling things.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:26–27 These prohibited animals would include horses and donkeys, which have a single hoof, and lion and tigers, which have paws.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:30 gecko. A type of lizard.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:36 a spring or a cistern. The movement and quantity of water determined the probability of actual contamination. Water was scarce also, and it would have been a threat to the water supply if all water touched by these prohibited carcasses were forbidden for drinking.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 11:44–45 Consecrate yourselves . . . be holy, for I am holy. In all of this, God is teaching his people to live antithetically. That is, he is using these clean and unclean distinctions to separate Israel from other idolatrous nations who have no such restrictions, and he is illustrating by these prescriptions that his people must learn to live his way. Through dietary laws and rituals, God is teaching them the reality of living his way in everything. They are being taught to obey God in every seemingly mundane area of life, so as to learn how crucial obedience is. Sacrifices, rituals, diet, and even clothing and cooking are all carefully ordered by God to teach them that they are to live differently from everyone else. This is to be an external illustration for the separation from sin in their hearts. Because the Lord is their God, they are to be utterly distinct. In v. 44, for the first time the statement “I am the Lord your God” is made, as a reason for the required separation and holiness. After this verse, that phrase is mentioned about 50 more times in this book, along with the equally instructive claim, “I am holy.” Because God is holy and is their God, the people are to be holy in outward ceremonial behavior as an external expression of the greater necessity of heart holiness. The connection between ceremonial holiness carries over into personal holiness. The only motivation given for all these laws is to learn to be holy because God is holy. The holiness theme is central to Leviticus (see 10:3; 19:2; 20:7, 26; 21:6–8).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 12:1–8 Uncleaness is related to the mother’s afterbirth, not the child.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 12:2 menstruation. See note on 15:19–24.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 12:3 eighth day. Joseph and Mary followed these instructions at the birth of Christ (Luke 2:21). circumcised. The sign of the Abrahamic (Gen. 17:9–14) Covenant was incorporated into the laws of Mosaic cleanness. Cf. Rom. 4:11–13. (For a discussion on circumcision, see note on Jer. 4:4.)

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 12:5 two weeks . . . sixty-six days. Apparently mothers were unclean twice as long (80 days) after the birth of a daughter as a son (40 days), which reflected the stigma on women for Eve’s part in the fall. This stigma is removed in Christ (see notes on 1 Tim. 2:13–15).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 12:6 burnt offering . . . sin offering. Though the occasion was joyous, the sacrifices required were to impress upon the mind of the parent the reality of original sin and that the child had inherited a sin nature. The circumcision involved a cutting away of the male foreskin, which could carry infections and diseases in its folds. This cleansing of the physical organ so as not to pass on disease (Jewish women have historically had the lowest incidence of cervical cancer), was a picture of the deep need for cleansing from depravity, which is most clearly revealed by procreation, as men produce sinners and only sinners. Circumcision points to the fact that cleansing is needed at the very core of a human being, a cleansing God offers to the faithful and penitent through the sacrifice of Christ to come.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 12:8 turtledoves . . . pigeons. Cf. Lev. 1:14–17 and 5:7–10. These were the offerings of Joseph and Mary after Christ's birth (cf. Luke 2:24), when they presented Jesus as their firstborn to the Lord (Ex. 13:2; Luke 2:22). Birds, rather than livestock, indicated a low economic situation, though one who was in total poverty could offer flour (Lev. 5:11–13).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 13:1–14:57 This section covers laws pertaining to skin diseases.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 13:2 a spot. This probably refers to inflammation. leprous disease. This is a term referring to various ancient skin disorders that were sometimes superficial, sometimes serious. It may have included modern leprosy (Hansen's disease). The symptoms described in vv. 2, 6, 10, 18, 30, and 39 are not sufficient for a diagnosis of the clinical condition. For the protection of the people, observation and isolation were demanded for all suspected cases of what could be a contagious disease. This biblical leprosy involved some whiteness (v. 3; Ex. 4:6), which disfigured its victim but did not disable him. Naaman was able to exercise his functions as general of Syria's army, although a leper (2 Kings 5:1, 27). Both OT and NT lepers went almost everywhere, indicating that this disease was not the leprosy of today that cripples. A victim of this scaly disease was unclean as long as the infection was partial. Once the body was covered with it, he was clean and could enter the place of worship (see Lev. 13:12–17). Apparently the complete covering meant the contagious period was over. The allusion to a boil (vv. 18–28) with inflamed or raw areas and whitened hairs may refer to a related infection that was contagious. When lepers were cured by Christ, they were neither lame nor deformed. They were never brought on beds. Similar skin conditions are described in vv. 29–37 and vv. 38–44 (some inflammation from infection). The aim of these laws was to protect the people from disease, but more importantly, to inculcate into them by vivid object lessons how God desired purity, holiness, and cleanness among his people.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 13:45 “Unclean, unclean.” Here are the symbols of grief and isolation. This same cry is heard from the survivors of Jerusalem’s destruction (cf. Lam. 4:15).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 13:47–59 Deals with garments worn by infected persons.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 13:59 determine whether it is clean or unclean. The primary purpose of this legislation was to assist the priest in determining the presence of contagious skin disease. The language of the passage indicates disease that affects the clothes as it did the person. This provided more illustrations of the devastating infection of sin and how essential cleansing was spiritually.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:1–32 This section explains the cleansing ritual for healed persons.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:2 the law of the leprous. The sense of this law is a prescription, not for healing from leprosy and other such diseases, but rather for the ceremonial cleansing, which needed to be performed after the person was declared clean.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:3 out of the camp. The leper was not allowed to return to society immediately. Before the person could enter the camp, some priest skilled in the diagnoses of disease needed to examine him and assist with the ritual of the two birds (vv. 4–7).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:4–7 The bundle of cedar and hyssop tied with scarlet included the living bird. It was all dipped seven times into the blood of the killed bird mixed with water to symbolize purification. The bird was then set free to symbolize the leper’s release from quarantine.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:4 hyssop. See note on Ex. 12:22 (cf. Lev. 14:6, 49, 51).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:8 outside his tent. The movement was progressive until finally he could enter and dwell in his own tent, giving dramatic indication of the importance of thorough cleansing for fellowship with God’s people. This was a powerful lesson from God on the holiness he desired for those who lived among his people. This has not changed (see 2 Cor. 7:1).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:10–20 As part of the leper’s ceremonial cleansing ritual, trespass or guilt (5:14–6:7), sin (4:1–5:13), burnt (1:3–17), and grain (2:1–16) offerings were to be made.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:10 one log of oil. Less than 1 pint.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:12 wave offering. See note on 7:30–32.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:17 right ear . . . right hand . . . right foot. See note on 8:23–24.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:18 put on the head. This would not have been understood as an anointing for entry into an office, but rather a symbolic gesture of cleansing and healing. There could be a connection with the NT directive to anoint the sick for healing (Mark 6:13; 16:18; James 5:14).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:33–57 This section covers contaminated houses, which most likely involved some kinds of infectious bacteria, fungus, or mold.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:34 I put a case of leprous disease. God’s sovereign hand is acknowledged in the diseases that were in Canaan (cf. Ex. 4:11; Deut. 32:39). He had his purposes for these afflictions, as he always does. Uniquely, in Israel’s case, they allowed for object lessons on holiness.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:37 greenish or reddish spots. The disease would appear to be some sort of contagious mildew. Leprosy (Hansen’s disease), as we know it today, is not the problem here since it is a disease related to the human senses, i.e., the destruction of feeling due to the dysfunction of the nerves. It is not known to be contagious either, and it couldn’t be developed in a house. The matter of cleansing such houses is delineated in vv. 38–53.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 14:57 to show when it is unclean . . . clean. The priest needed instruction in identifying and prescribing the course for disease such as that described herein, to teach people the importance of distinguishing holy things.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 15:1–33 This section deals with purification for bodily discharges. Several types of discharges by men (vv. 1–18) and women (vv. 19–30) are identified and given prescribed treatment.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 15:2–15 These verses describe secretions related to some disease of the male sexual organs. After he became well, he was required to make both a sin and a burnt offering (v. 15).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 15:16–18 These verses refer to natural sexual gland secretions for which no offerings were required.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 15:19–24 These verses concern the natural menstrual discharge of a woman, for which no offerings were required.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 15:25–30 These verses deal with some secretion of blood indicating disease, not menstruation, requiring a sin and burnt offering after she is well.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 15:31–33 In all these instructions, God was showing the Israelites that they must have a profound reverence for holy things; and nothing was more suited to that purpose than to bar from the tabernacle all who were polluted by any kind of uncleanness, ceremonial as well as natural, physical as well as spiritual. In order to mark out his people as dwelling before him in holiness, he required of them complete purity and didn't allow them to come before him when defiled, even by involuntary or secret impurities. And when one considers that God was training a people to live in his presence, it becomes apparent that these rules for the maintenance of personal purity, pointing to the necessity of purity in the heart, were neither too stringent nor too minute.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:1–34 This section covers the Day of Atonement (cf. Ex. 30:10; Lev. 23:26–32; Num. 29:7–11; Heb. 9:1–28), which was commanded to be observed annually (Lev. 16:34) to cover the sins of the nation, both corporately and individually (v. 17). Even with the most scrupulous observance of the required sacrifices, many sins and defilements still remained unacknowledged and, therefore, without specific expiation. This special inclusive sacrifice was designed to cover all that (v. 33). The atonement was provided, but only those who were genuine in faith and repentance received its benefit, the forgiveness of God. That forgiveness was not based on any animal sacrifice, but on the One all sacrifices pictured—the Lord Jesus Christ and his perfect sacrifice on the cross (cf. Heb. 10:1–10). This holiest of all Israel's festivals occurred in September/October on the tenth day of the seventh month (Lev. 16:29). It anticipated the ultimate high priest and the perfect sacrificial Lamb.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:1 The death of the two sons of Aaron. Cf. 10:1–3.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:2 Common priests went every day to burn incense on the golden altar in the part of the tabernacle sanctuary outside the veil, where the lampstand, table, and bread of the Presence were. None except the high priest was allowed to enter inside the veil (cf. v. 12), into the Holy Place, actually called the Most Holy Place, where the ark of the covenant rested. This arrangement was designed to inspire a reverence for God at a time when his presence was indicated by visible symbols. appear in the cloud. This cloud was likely the smoke of the incense that the high priest burned on his annual entrance into the Most Holy Place. It was this cloud that covered the mercy seat on the ark of the covenant (see v. 13). the mercy seat. See Ex. 25:17–22. It lit. means “place of atonement” and referred to the throne of God between the cherubim (cf. Isa. 6). It is so named because it was where God manifested himself for the purpose of atonement.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:3 sin . . . burnt offering. For these offerings brought by Aaron the high priest, see notes on 4:1–5:13; 6:24–30 and 1:3–17; 6:8–13, respectively. The bull was sacrificed first as a sin offering (16:11–14) and later the ram as a burnt offering (16:24).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:4 For a description of the priests’ normal clothing, see Ex. 28:1–43 and Lev. 8:6–19. He wore them later for the burnt offering (cf. Lev. 16:24). These humbler clothes were less ornate, required for the Day of Atonement to portray the high priest as God’s humble servant, himself in need of atonement (vv. 11–14).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:5 two . . . goats. See 16:7–10, 20–22. One animal would be slain to picture substitutionary death and the other sent to the wilderness to represent removal of sin. one ram. Along with the high priest’s ram (v. 3), these were to be offered as burnt offerings (v. 24).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:6–28 The following sequence describes the activities of the high priest and those who assisted him on the Day of Atonement: 1) The high priest (HP) washed at the basin in the courtyard and dressed in the tabernacle (v. 4). 2) The HP offered the bull as a sin offering for himself and his family (vv. 3, 6, 11). 3) The HP entered the Most Holy Place (MHP) with the bull's blood, incense, and burning coals from the altar of burnt offering (vv. 12–13). 4) The HP sprinkled the bull's blood on the mercy seat seven times (v. 14). 5) The HP went back to the courtyard and cast lots for the two goats (vv. 7–8). 6) The HP sacrificed one goat as a sin offering for the people (vv. 5, 9, 15). 7) The HP reentered the MHP to sprinkle blood on the mercy seat and also the Holy Place (cf. Ex. 30:10; Lev. 16:15–17). 8) The HP returned to the altar of burnt offering and cleansed it with the blood of the bull and goat (vv. 11, 15, 18–19). 9) The scapegoat was dispatched to the wilderness (vv. 20–22). 10) Afterward, the goatkeeper cleansed himself (v. 26). 11) The HP removed his special Day of Atonement clothing, rewashed, and put on the regular HP clothing (vv. 23–24). 12) The HP offered two rams as burnt offerings for himself and the people (vv. 3, 5, 24). 13) The fat of the sin offering was burned (v. 25). 14) The bull-and-goat sin offerings were carried outside the camp to be burned (v. 27). 15) The one who burned the sin offering cleansed himself (v. 28).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:8 cast lots. See note on Prov. 16:33. Azazel. Cf. vv. 10, 26. This goat (lit., “escape goat”) pictured the substitutionary bearing and total removal of sin that would later be fully accomplished by Jesus Christ (cf. Matt. 20:28; John 1:29; 2 Cor. 5:21; Gal. 1:4; 3:13; Heb. 9:28; 10:1–10; 1 Pet. 2:24; 1 John 2:2). See notes on Lev. 16:20–22.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:9–10 See notes on vv. 20–22.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:12 inside the veil. See note on v. 2. The veil separated all from the holy and consuming presence of God. It was this veil in Herod's temple that was torn open from top to bottom at the death of Christ, signifying access into God's presence through Jesus Christ (see Matt. 27:51; Mark 15:38; Luke 23:45).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:13 cloud. See note on v. 2. over the testimony. The testimony included the tablets of stone, upon which were written the Ten Commandments (Ex. 25:16; 31:18), located in the ark under the mercy seat.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:14 seven times. This number symbolically indicated completion or perfection (cf. v. 19).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:16 atonement for the Holy Place The object of this solemn ceremony was to impress the minds of the Israelites with the conviction that the whole tabernacle was stained by the sins of a guilty people. By those sins, they had forfeited the privileges of the presence of God and worship of him, so that an atonement had to be made for their sins as the condition of God remaining with them.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:17 himself . . . his household . . . assembly. The Day of Atonement was necessary for everyone since all had sinned, including the high priest.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:20–22 This “sin offering of atonement” portrayed Christ’s substitutionary sacrifice (vv. 21–22) with the result that the sinner’s sins were removed (v. 22). See notes on Isa. 52:13–53:12 for another discussion of these truths. Christ lived out this representation when he cried from the cross, “My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?” (Matt. 27:46).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:21–22 hands on the head of the live goat. This act was more than a symbolic gesture; it was a picture of the ultimate “substitutionary atonement” fulfilled by the Lord Jesus Christ (cf. Isa. 53:5–12; see note on 2 Cor. 5:21).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:27 outside the camp. This represents the historical reality of Christ’s death outside of Jerusalem (cf. Heb. 13:10–14).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:29 seventh month. Tishri is September/October. afflict yourselves. This act of denying oneself was probably with respect to food, making the Day of Atonement the only day of prescribed fasting in Israel’s annual calendar.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:30 clean . . . from all your sins. See Ps. 103:12; Isa. 38:17; Micah 7:19. This day provided ceremonial cleansing for one year, and pictured the forgiveness of God available to all who believed and repented. Actual atonement was based on cleansing through the sacrifice of Christ (cf. Rom. 3:25–26; Heb. 9:15).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 16:34 once in the year. The better sacrifice of Jesus Christ was offered once-for-all, never to be repeated (cf. Heb. 9:11–10:18). Upon that sacrifice all forgiveness of sin is based, including that of OT believers.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:1–27:34 Guidelines for practical holiness are detailed throughout this section.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:1–22:33 Holiness issues that pertain to the individual are enumerated.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:1–16 Miscellaneous laws relating to sacrifice are discussed.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:1–9 The Lord warns against sacrificing anywhere other than at the door of the tabernacle of meeting (cf. vv. 5–7).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:4 bloodguilt. An unauthorized sacrifice could result in death.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:5 peace offerings. See notes on 3:1–17 and 7:11–34.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:10–16 Warnings against the misuse of blood are issued (cf. 7:26–27; Deut. 12:16, 23–25; 15:23; 1 Sam. 14:32–34).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:11 life of the flesh is in the blood. This phrase is amplified by “its blood is its life” (17:14). Blood carries life-sustaining elements to all parts of the body; therefore it represents the essence of life. In contrast, the shedding of blood represents the shedding of life, i.e., death (cf. Gen. 9:4). NT references to the shedding of the blood of Jesus Christ are references to his death. blood that makes atonement. Since it contains the life, blood is sacred to God. Shed blood (death) from a substitute atones for or covers the sinner, who is then allowed to live.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:13–14 It was customary with heathen hunters, when they killed any game, to pour out the blood as an offering to the god of the hunt. The Israelites, to the contrary, were enjoined by this directive and banned from all such superstitious acts of idolatry.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 17:15–16 This cleansing was necessary because these animals would not have had the blood drained properly. Cf. Ex. 22:31 and Deut. 14:21.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:1–30 Laws are given, relating to sexual practices, which would eliminate the abominations being practiced by the heathen in the land (18:27; cf. Lev. 20:10–21; Deut. 22:13–30). These specific laws assume the general prohibition of adultery (Ex. 20:14) and a father incestuously engaging his daughter. They do not necessarily invalidate the special case of a levirate marriage (cf. Deut. 25:5). The penalties for such outlawed behavior are detailed in Lev. 20:10–21.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:3 not do as they do. Repeating the sexual practices or customs of the Egyptians and Canaanites was forbidden by God.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:4 I am the Lord your God. This phrase, used over 50 times, asserts the uniqueness of the one true and living God, who calls his people to holiness as he is holy, and calls them to reject all other gods.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:5 if a person does them, he shall live. Special blessing was promised to the Israelites on the condition of their obedience to God's law. This promise was remarkably verified in particular eras of their history, in the national prosperity they enjoyed when pure and undefiled religion prevailed among them. Obedience to God's law always ensures temporal blessings, as this verse indicates. But these words have a higher reference to spiritual life as indicated by the Lord (cf. Luke 10:28) and Paul (cf. Rom. 10:5). Obedience does not save from sin and hell, but it does mark those who are saved (cf. Eph. 2:8–9; see notes on Rom. 2:6–10).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:6–18 This section deals with consanguinity, i.e., the sins of incest.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:6 uncover nakedness. This is a euphemism for sexual relations.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:8 your father's wife. Actually a stepmother is in mind here (cf. v. 7).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:11 your sister. Here he is forbidden to marry a stepsister.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:18 while her sister still is alive. The principle on which the prohibitions are made changes slightly. Instead of avoiding sexual involvement because it would violate a relational connection, this situation defaults to the principle of one person at a time, or while the other is still alive, i.e., it forbids polygamy. Commonly in Egyptian, Chaldean, and Canaanite culture, sisters were taken as wives in polygamous unions. God forbids such, as all polygamy is forbidden by the original law of marriage (see Gen. 2:24–25). Moses, because of hard hearts, tolerated it, as did others in Israel in the early stages of that nation. But it always led to tragedy.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:19 menstrual uncleanness. Cf. 15:24.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:21 Molech. This Semitic false deity (god of the Ammonites) was worshiped with child sacrifice (cf. Lev. 20:2–5; 1 Kings 11:7; 2 Kings 23:10; Jer. 32:35). Since this chapter deals otherwise with sexual deviation, there is likely an unmentioned sexual perversion connected with this pagan ritual. Jews giving false gods homage gave foreigners occasion to blaspheme the true God.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:22 not lie with a male. This outlaws all homosexuality (cf. 20:13; Rom. 1:27; 1 Cor. 6:9; 1 Tim. 1:10). See notes on Gen. 19:1–29.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:23 lie with any animal. This outlaws the sexual perversion of bestiality.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:29 cut off. All the sexual perversions discussed in this chapter were worthy of death, indicating their loathsomeness before God.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 18:30 practiced before you. Not in their presence, but by the people who inhabited the land before them in time (cf. v. 27), were such sins committed.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:1–37 Here are practical applications of holy conduct in society.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:2 I the Lord your God am holy. This basic statement, which gives the reason for holy living among God's people, is the central theme in Leviticus (cf. 20:26). See note on 11:44–45. Cf. 1 Pet. 1:16. Israel had been called to be a holy nation, and the perfectly holy character of God (cf. Isa. 6:3) was the model after which the Israelites were to live (cf. Lev. 10:3; 20:26; 21:6–8).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:3 revere his mother and his father. The fifth commandment (cf. Ex. 20:12) to honor one's father and mother is amplified by the use of a different word, "revere." Because they revered (an attitude), they could then honor (an action).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:3–4 In addition to the fifth commandment, the fourth (19:3b), the first (19:4a), and the second (19:4b) were commanded as illustrations of holy behavior (cf. Ex. 20:3–6, 8–11).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:5–8 peace offerings. See notes on 3:1–17 and 7:11–34.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:9–10 This was the law of gleaning (cf. 23:22; Deut. 24:19–22), a practice seen in Ruth 2:8–23.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:11 Commandments from Ex. 20 are again repeated.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:12 Cf. Matt. 5:33.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:13 wages . . . not remain with you all night. Hired workers were to be paid at the end of a work day. Unsalaries day workers depended on pay each day for their sustenance. See notes on Matt. 20:1–2.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:14 deaf . . . blind. Israel's God of compassion always demonstrated a concern for the disabled.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:16 stand up against the life. This refers to doing anything that would wrongfully jeopardize the life of a neighbor.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:18 This, called the second great commandment, is the most often quoted OT text in the NT (Matt. 5:43; 19:19; 22:39; Mark 12:31–33; Luke 10:27; Rom. 13:9; Gal. 5:14; James 2:8).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:19 These mixtures may have been characteristic of some idolatrous practices.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:20–22 In the case of immorality with a betrothed slave, the couple was to be punished (possibly by scourging), but not killed. Afterward, a trespass or guilt offering (see notes on 5:14–6:7) was to be rendered with appropriate reparation. This is an exception to the norm (cf. Deut. 22:23–24).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:23–25 forbidden. They could not eat from the fruit trees of Canaan for four years after entering the land because the fruit of the first three years was to be considered unclean, and the fourth year the fruit was to be offered to the Lord. Some gardeners say preventing a tree from bearing fruit in the first years, by cutting off the blossoms, makes it more productive.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:26 interpret omens or tell fortunes. Attempting to tell the future with the help of snakes and clouds was a common ancient way of foretelling good or bad future. These were forbidden forms of witchcraft that involved demonic activity. See note on Deut. 18:9–12.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:27–28 These pagan practices were most likely associated with Egyptian idolatry and were therefore to be avoided. The practice of making deep gashes on the face and arms or legs, in times of grief, was universal among pagans. It was seen as a mark of respect for the dead, as well as a sort of propitiatory offering to the gods who presided over death. The Jews learned this custom in Egypt and, though weaned from it, relapsed into the old superstition (cf. Isa. 22:12; Jer. 16:6; 47:5). Tattoos also were connected to names of idols, and were permanent signs of apostasy.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:29 profane your daughter. Even the pagans of ancient Assyria at this time forbade such horrendous means of monetary gain.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:30 Sabbaths. See note on 19:3–4.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:31 mediums or necromancers. Mediums are humans who act as “go-betweens” to supposedly contact/communicate with the spirits of the dead, who are actually impersonated by demons. Cf. 20:6, 27.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:32 stand up . . . honor. Showing respect for the older man acknowledged God’s blessing of long life and the wisdom that comes with it (cf. Isa. 3:5).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:33–34 stranger. Cf. Ex. 22:21.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 19:36 ephah . . . hin. These dry and liquid measures, respectively, were equal approximately to 4 to 6 gallons and 6 to 8 pints.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 20:1–27 Here capital and other grave crimes are discussed. Many of the same issues from chs. 18–19 are elaborated, with the emphasis on the penalty paid for the violation.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 20:2 gives any of his children to Molech. Molech (Moloch), the Ammonite god of the people surrounding Israel, required human (especially child) sacrifice. See note on 18:21.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 20:5–6 cut . . . off. This means to kill. It is synonymous with “put to death” in v. 9.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 20:5 whoring. This speaks figuratively of spiritual idolatry.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 20:6 mediums . . . necromancers. See note on 19:31. “Necromancers” refers to demons (cf. 20:27).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 20:9 curses his father or his mother. Doing the very opposite of the command to honor or to revere (cf. 19:3) had fatal consequences. See Mark 7:10, where Jesus referred to this text.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 20:10–21 Here are the punishments for violating the prohibitions of sexual sins detailed in 18:1–30; see Deut. 22:13–30.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 20:22 may not vomit you out. God told Israel repeatedly that remaining in the land required obedience to the Mosaic Covenant (cf. 18:25, 28).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 20:27 medium . . . necromancer. See note on 19:31.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 21:1–24 Laws for the priests are given, which demanded a higher standard of holy conduct than for the general Israelite.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 21:1 make himself unclean. Coming into contact with a corpse (Num. 19:11) or being in the same room with one (Num. 19:14) made one unclean. The exceptions were the dead from the priest’s own family (Lev. 21:2–4).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 21:5 bald . . . edges . . . cuts on their body. These were the superstitious marks of grief. See note on 19:27–28. Cf. 1 Kings 18:28.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 21:6 the bread of their God. This phrase appears five times in Lev. 21 (cf. vv. 8, 17, 21, 22). It most likely refers to the bread of the Presence in the Holy Place (cf. Ex. 25:30; 39:36; 40:23; Lev. 24:5–9).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 21:7–8 The priest was allowed to marry, but only in the purest of circumstances. A holy marriage union pictured the holy union between God and his people. See 21:13–14. The priests were to be living models of that holy union. Cf. Paul’s words regarding pastors in 1 Tim. 3:2–4 and Titus 1:6.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 21:9 The priests’ children were to live a holy life. The common punishment of stoning (cf. Deut. 22:21) is replaced with burning by fire. Cf. 1 Tim. 3:4 and Titus 1:6.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 21:10–15 Here is a summary of the standards for the high priest, which were the highest and most holy in accord with his utmost sacred responsibility.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 21:10 shall not let the hair of his head hang loose nor tear his clothes. Acts associated with mourning or anguish (cf. the violation in Christ’s trial, Matt. 26:65; Mark 14:63).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 21:16–23 blemish. Just as the sacrifice had to be without blemish, so did the one offering the sacrifice. As visible things exert strong impressions on the minds of people, any physical impurity or malformation tended to distract from the weight and authority of the sacred office, failed to externally exemplify the inward wholeness God sought, and failed to be a picture of Jesus Christ, the perfect high priest to come (cf. Heb. 7:26).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 22:1–33 These are additional instructions on ceremonial cleanness for the priests, beginning with a death threat (v. 3, “cut off”) to those who might violate these rules.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 22:4 leprous disease. Cf. 13:1–14:32; see note on 13:2. discharge. See notes on 15:1–33.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 22:5 swarming thing. See 11:29–38.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 22:7 he shall be clean. In the same manner, much water is not made unclean by a small contamination. Time was essential for ceremonial purification.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 22:10–11 buys a slave . . . for money. This portion of the sacrifice assigned to the support of the priests was restricted to the use of his family. However, an indentured servant or slave was to be treated as one of the priest's family, pertaining to eating the consecrated food. See the laws of release, which show this to be a temporary indenture (25:10; Ex. 21:2–11; Deut. 15:12–18).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 22:17–30 This section describes the unacceptable and acceptable sacrifices.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 22:31–33 The motive behind obedience to God was his holy nature and grace in delivering the nation.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:1–27:34 Holiness issues that pertain to the nation collectively are outlined.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:1–24:9 The special feasts of Israel are explained. Cf. Ex. 23:14–17; Num. 28:1–29:40; Deut. 16:1–17.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:1–44 This section points to days that are sacred to the Lord. After the Sabbath (v. 3), the feasts are given in the order of the calendar (vv. 4–44).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:2 proclaim as holy convocations. These festivals did not involve gatherings of all Israel in every case. Only the feasts of 1) Unleavened Bread; 2) Weeks; and 3) Tabernacles required that all males gather in Jerusalem (cf. Ex. 23:14–17; Deut. 16:16–17).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:3 Sabbath of solemn rest. The Mosaic ordinance of the fourth commandment came first (cf. Gen. 2:1–3; Ex. 20:8–11).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:4–22 Three events were commemorated in March/April: 1) Passover on the 14th (v. 5); 2) Feast of Unleavened Bread on the 15th–21st (vv. 6–8); and Feast of Firstfruits on the day after the Sabbath of Unleavened Bread week (vv. 9–14).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:5 the Lord's Passover. The festival commemorated God's deliverance of Israel from Egypt (cf. Ex. 12:1–14, 43–49; Num. 28:16; Deut. 16:1–2).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:6–8 Feast of Unleavened Bread. This festival connected with the Passover commemorated Israel’s hurried departure from Egypt and the associated hardships (cf. Ex. 12:15–20; 13:3–10; Num. 28:17–25; Deut. 16:3–8).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:9–14 the firstfruits of your harvest. This festival dedicated the initial part of the barley harvest in March/April and was celebrated on the day after the Sabbath of Unleavened Bread week. It involved presenting to the Lord a sheaf of barley (cf. 23:10–11) accompanied by burnt, grain, and drink offerings (cf. Ex. 29:40). Firstfruits symbolized the consecration of the whole harvest to God, and was a pledge of the whole harvest to come (cf. Rom. 8:23; 11:16; 1 Cor. 15:20; James 1:18).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:15–22 fifty days. The Feast of Weeks (May/June) dedicated the firstfruits of the wheat harvest (cf. Ex. 23:16; Num. 28:26–31; Deut. 16:9–12). It occurred on the fiftieth day after the Sabbath preceding the Feast of Firstfruits. It is also known as the Feast of Harvest (Ex. 23:16) and Pentecost, Greek for fifty (Acts 2:1).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:23–43 Three events were commemorated in September/October: 1) Feast of Trumpets on the first (vv. 23–25); 2) Day of Atonement on the tenth (vv. 26–32); and 3) Feast of Booths or Tabernacles on the fifteenth–twenty-first (vv. 33–43).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:23–25 memorial proclaimed with blast of trumpets. This feast, called the Feast of Trumpets, consecrated the seventh month (September/October) as a sabbatical month (cf. Num. 29:1–6).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:26–32 Day of Atonement. The annual Day of Atonement pointed to the forgiveness and cleansing of sin for the priests, the nation, and the tabernacle (see notes on 16:1–34).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 23:33–43 Feast of Booths. This festival commemorated God’s deliverance, protection, and provision during the wilderness wanderings of the exodus (cf. Ex. 23:16; Num. 29:12–38; Deut. 16:13–15). It is also known as the Feast of Tabernacles and Feast of Ingathering (Ex. 23:16). The people lived in booths or huts made from limbs (cf. Neh. 8:14–18), remembering their wilderness experience. It also celebrated the autumn harvest and will be celebrated in the millennium (cf. Zech. 14:16).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 24:1–9 These are additional instructions for the tabernacle relating to the lamps (vv. 1–4) and the bread (vv. 5–9). See Ex. 25:31–40; 27:20–21; 37:17–24 and Ex. 25:23–30; 39:36; 40:23, respectively.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 24:5 Each loaf was made with 4 quarts of flour.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 24:10–23 This portion relates to the sin of blasphemy. Cf. Ex. 20:7 and 22:28.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 24:10–14, 23 Now . . . son. Here is another historical example of blasphemy along similar lines as the Nadab and Abihu account (10:1–2). The blasphemer was one of the “people.” The people transferred the guilt of them all to him.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 24:12 put him in custody. There were no jails in Israel since incarceration was not a penalty for crime. They had merely restrained him, probably in a pit of some sort, until they could establish his punishment. Punishments were corporal, banishment, or, in severe cases, death. Those who lived through the punishment worked to secure restitution for those they had violated.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 24:20 eye for eye, tooth for tooth. Cf. Matt. 5:38. This law of retaliation established the principle that the punishment should fit the crime, but not go beyond it.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:1–55 Proper care for the Lord’s property is prescribed for the sabbatical year (25:1–7) and the jubilee year (25:8–55).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:1–7 This involves revitalization of the land. The seventh year of rest would invigorate and replenish the nutrients in the soil. Whatever grew naturally was free to all for the taking (vv. 6–7).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:8–55 The year of jubilee involved a year of release from indebtedness (vv. 23–38) and bondage of all sorts (vv. 39–55). All prisoners and captives were set free, slaves released, and debtors absolved. All property reverted to original owners. This plan curbed inflation and moderated acquisitions. It also gave new opportunity to people who had fallen on hard times.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:8–17 These are general instructions for jubilee.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:9 loud trumpet. This was blown on the tenth day of the seventh month to start the fiftieth year of universal redemption.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:10 proclaim liberty. Not only must they let the land lie fallow, but the people were allowed a one-year break from their labor. Those bound by a work contract were released from their commitments, and there was the release of indentured servants.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:14–16 The jubilee year had an effect on the value of land, which was to be considered in all transactions.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:17 You shall not wrong one another. No one should take advantage of or abuse another person, because cruelty is against the very character of God. Penalties for crime were to be swift and exact.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:18–22 God's provision in the year of no planting was given, which on a smaller scale had been true for the Sabbath day during the exodus (cf. Ex. 16:5).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:20–21 crop sufficient for three years. When the important query was asked, God responded by promising to supply enough to last.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:23–34 Various regulations regarding real estate are outlined.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:23 the land is mine. God owns the earth and all that is in it (cf. Ps. 24:1). The people of Israel were, in fact, only tenants on the land by the Lord's grace. Therefore ownership of property was temporary, not permanent.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:33 cities of the Levites. Cf. Num. 35:1–8 and Josh. 21.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:34 pastureland. These were fields that the village/city-at-large used to grow crops.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:35–38 Instructions on dealing with the poor are outlined.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:35 a stranger and a sojourner. The law required gleanings (leftovers after harvest) for the Israelite as well as the stranger (cf.

19:9–10; 23:22; Deut. 24:19–21).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:36 interest . . . profit. Usury or excessive interest was prohibited for all (Ps. 15:5). Even fair interest was otherwise prohibited in dealing with the poor (see notes on Deut. 23:19–20; 24:10–13). The basics of life were to be given, not loaned, to the poor.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:38 to give you the land of Canaan. The Lord cites his generosity in giving them a land that was not theirs as a motive for their generosity toward their countrymen.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:39–55 The principles for dealing with slavery are laid out.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:42 For they are my servants. The spirit of OT slavery is revealed in these words. God, in effect, ordered that slaves be treated like family, i.e., better than employees, because they are his slaves whom he redeemed out of the slave markets of Egypt. God owned not only the land (v. 23), but also the people.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:44–46 from among the nations. These slaves included people whom Israel was to either drive out or destroy (i.e., slavery was a humane option) and those who came to Israel in the exodus from Egypt.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:47–55 This section deals with an alien who has an Israelite slave.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:48 may be redeemed. Redemption, a contractual agreement that existed in the slave culture, offered the potential for emancipation to indentured individuals under certain conditions. Slaves could be bought out of slavery or some other sort of indentured status by family members or other interested parties who would pay the ransom price.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:51–54 pay proportionately for his redemption. The cost of buying him out of slavery was affected by the jubilee year, when he could be set free.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 25:55 The Israelites emancipated from Egypt by God were all God's servants; therefore, they were to treat their own slaves with the same grace and generosity as God had granted them.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:1–46 The covenant blessings for obedience (26:3–13) and curses for disobedience (26:14–39) are elaborated (cf. Deut. 28). A provision for repentance is also offered (Lev. 26:40–45).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:1–2 A representative summary of the Ten Commandments (Ex. 20:3–17) was set forth as the standard by which Israel's obedience or disobedience would be measured.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:1 image . . . pillar . . . figured stone. Israel's neighbors used all of these devices for the worship of their gods.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:3–13 These blessings will reward obedience.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:4 rains in their season. If the rains did not come at the right times, the people experienced crop failure and famine (cf. 1 Kings 17–18).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:6 harmful beasts. Dangerous animals such as lions and bears existed in that area. Joseph's brothers claimed that such an animal had killed him (Gen. 37:20).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:7 chase your enemies. God provided victories repeatedly in the conquest of Canaan (cf. Josh. 8–12).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:9 make you fruitful and multiply you . . . confirm my covenant with you. What God commanded at creation and repeated after the flood was contained in the covenant promise of seed (Gen. 12:1–3), which he will fulfill to the nation of Israel as promised to Abraham (Gen. 15:5–6).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:12 your God . . . my people. The promise of an intimate covenant relationship with the God of the universe is given (cf. 2 Cor. 6:16).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:14–39 These punishments will repay disobedience.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:15 break my covenant. By disobeying the commandments and the various laws of the Mosaic Covenant, Israel broke this conditional covenant. Unlike the ultimate provisions of the unconditional covenant made with Abraham, all blessings in the covenant of Mosaic law were conditioned upon obedience (cf. Lev. 26:25).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:16 wasting disease. Perhaps tuberculosis or leprosy is in view (the subject of much legislation in Lev. 13–14), but no certain identification is possible. your enemies shall eat it. They will be conquered by their enemies at a time when those enemies will enjoy Israel's harvest.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:22 roads shall be deserted. The activity on a nation's roadway, i.e., messengers, merchants, and people traveling, reflected the well-being of that country. This is a picture of extreme economic siege.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:25 vengeance for the covenant. God's retribution for Israel's breaking the conditional Mosaic Covenant is pledged.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:29 eat the flesh. There will be widespread famine in the land and thus the people will even resort to cannibalism, which actually came to pass (cf. 2 Kings 6:28–29; Jer. 19:9; Lam. 2:20; 4:10).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:30 high places. These were natural shrines for the worship of idols. Solomon disobeyed God by worshiping him on the high places (1 Kings 3:4), and not long afterward, he was serving the gods of his foreign wives (1 Kings 11:1–9).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:31–35 All this occurred in the terrible invasion of the northern kingdom of Israel in 722 B.C. by the Assyrians and the destruction of the southern kingdom of Judah in 605–586 B.C. by the Babylonians. In the case of Judah, it was a 70-year captivity to rest the land for all the Sabbath years that had been violated. See 2 Chron. 36:17–21.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:35 rest that it did not have. By implication, because they had violated the Sabbath repeatedly. This violation became the basis of the later 70-year Babylonian captivity (cf. 2 Chron. 36:20–21).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:38 The 10 tribes of the northern kingdom of Israel never returned directly from captivity. See 2 Kings 17:7–23; see note on Acts 26:7.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:40–42 if they confess . . . I will remember my covenant. God's covenant was rooted in the relationship he had initiated with his people. True repentance would be honored by him.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:42 Jacob . . . Isaac . . . Abraham. The reverse order is a look in retrospect as opposed to the actual historical sequence.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 26:46 Much of the content of Leviticus came during Moses' two "forty-day-and-night" visits to Sinai (cf. Ex. 24:16–32:6; 34:2–28; Lev. 7:37–38; 25:1; 27:34).

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 27:1–34 Standard legislation is given for dedicated persons, animals, houses, and lands.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 27:2–7 makes a . . . vow. This sets the gift apart from the rest of his household and possessions as a gift to the Lord and his service.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 27:3 the shekel of the sanctuary. See note on 5:15.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 27:26 a firstborn. The firstborn already belonged to the Lord (Ex. 13:2), so the worshiper could not dedicate it a second time.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 27:29 No one devoted. A person under the ban, like Achan in Josh. 7.

LEVITICUS—NOTE ON 27:30–32 tithe. This general tithe was given to the Levites. Cf. Num. 18:21–32. This is the only mention of tithe or 10 percent in Leviticus. However, along with this offering, there were two other OT tithes, which totaled about 23 percent annually (cf. the second tithe—Deut. 14:22; and the third tithe every three years—Deut. 14:28–29; 26:12).

Introduction to Numbers

Title

The English title “Numbers” comes from the Greek (LXX) and Latin (Vulgate) versions. This designation is based on the numberings that are a major focus of chs. 1–4 and 26. The most common Hebrew title comes from the fifth word in the Hebrew text of 1:1, “in the wilderness [of].” This name is much more descriptive of the total contents of the book, which recount the history of Israel during almost 39 years of wandering in the wilderness. Another Hebrew title, favored by some early church fathers, is based on the first word of the Hebrew text of 1:1, “and he spoke.” This designation emphasizes that the book records the word of God to Israel.

Author and Date

The first five books of the Bible, called the Law, of which Numbers is the fourth, are ascribed to Moses throughout Scripture (Josh. 8:31; 2 Kings 14:6; Neh. 8:1; Mark 12:26; John 7:19). The book of Numbers itself refers to the writing of Moses in Num. 33:2 and 36:13.

Numbers was written in the final year of Moses’ life. The events from 20:1 to the end occur in the 40th year after the exodus. The account ends with Israel poised on the eastern side of the Jordan River across from Jericho (36:13), which is where the conquest of the land of Canaan began (Josh. 3–6). The book of Numbers must be dated c. 1405 B.C., since it is foundational to the book of Deuteronomy, and Deuteronomy is dated in the 11th month of the fortieth year after the exodus (Deut. 1:3).

Background and Setting

Most of the events of the book are set “in the wilderness.” The word “wilderness” is used 48 times in Numbers. This term refers to land that contains little vegetation or trees, and because of a sparsity of rainfall, it cannot be cultivated. This land is best used for tending flocks of animals. In 1:1–10:10, Israel encamped in “the wilderness of Sinai.” It was at Sinai that the Lord had entered into the Mosaic Covenant with them (Ex. 19–24). From Num. 10:11–12:16, Israel traveled from Sinai to Kadesh. In 13:1–20:13, the events took place in and around Kadesh, which was located in “the wilderness of Paran” (12:16; 13:3, 26), “the wilderness of Zin” (13:21; 20:1). From 20:14–22:1, Israel traveled from Kadesh to the “plains of Moab.” All the events of 22:2–36:13 occurred while Israel was encamped in the plain to the north of Moab. That plain was a flat and fertile piece of land in the middle of the wasteland (21:20; 23:28; 24:1).

The book of Numbers concentrates on events that take place in the second and fortieth years after the exodus. All incidents recorded in 1:1–14:45 occur in 1444 B.C., the year after the exodus. Everything referred to after 20:1 is dated c. 1406/1405 B.C., the fortieth year after the exodus. The laws and events found in 15:1–19:22 are undated, but probably all should be dated c. 1443 to 1407 B.C. The lack of material devoted to this 37-year period, in comparison with the other years of the journey from Egypt to Canaan, communicates how wasted these years were because of Israel’s rebellion against the Lord and his consequent judgment.

Historical and Theological Themes

Numbers chronicles the experiences of two generations of the nation of Israel. The first generation participated in the exodus from Egypt. Their story begins in Ex. 2:23 and continues through Leviticus and into the first 14 chapters of Numbers. This generation was numbered for the war of conquest in Canaan (Num. 1:1–46). However, when the people arrived at the southern edge of Canaan, they refused to enter the land (14:1–10). Because of their rebellion against the Lord, all the adults 20 and over (except Caleb and Joshua) were sentenced to die in the wilderness (14:26–38). In chs. 15–25, the first and second generations overlap; the first died out as the second grew to adulthood. A second numbering of the people commenced the history of this second generation (26:1–56). These Israelites did go to war (26:2) and inherited the land (26:52–56). The story of this second generation, beginning in Num. 26:1, continues through the books of Deuteronomy and Joshua.

Three theological themes permeate Numbers. First, the Lord himself communicated to Israel through Moses (1:1; 7:89; 12:6–8), so the words of Moses had divine authority. Israel’s response to Moses mirrored her obedience or disobedience to the Lord. Numbers contains three distinct divisions based on Israel's response to the word of the Lord: obedience (chs. 1–10), disobedience (chs. 11–25), and renewed obedience (chs. 26–36). The second theme is that the Lord is the God of judgment. Throughout Numbers, the “anger” of the Lord was aroused in response to Israel's sin (11:1, 10, 33; 12:9; 14:18; 25:3–4; 32:10, 13, 14). Third, the faithfulness of the Lord to keep his promise to give the seed of Abraham the land of Canaan is emphasized (15:2; 26:52–56; 27:12; 33:50–56; 34:1–29).

Interpretive Challenges

Four major interpretive challenges face the reader of Numbers. First, is the book of Numbers a separate book, or is it a part of a larger literary whole, the Pentateuch? The biblical books of Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy form the Torah. The remainder of the Scripture always views these five books as a unit. The ultimate meaning of Numbers cannot be divorced from its context in the Pentateuch. The first verse of the book speaks of the Lord, Moses, the tabernacle and the exodus from Egypt. This assumes that the reader is familiar with the three books that precede Numbers. Still, every Hebrew manuscript available divides the Pentateuch in exactly the same way as the present text. In them the book of Numbers is a well-defined unit, with a structural integrity of its own. The book has its own beginning, middle, and ending, even as it functions within a larger whole. Thus, the book of Numbers is also to be viewed with singular identity.

The second interpretive question asks, “Is there a sense of coherence in the book of Numbers?” It is readily evident that Numbers contains a wide variety of literary materials and forms. Census lists, genealogies, laws, historical narratives, poetry, prophecy, and travel lists are found in this book. Nevertheless, they are all blended to tell the story of Israel's journey from Mount Sinai to the Plains of Moab. The coherence of Numbers is reflected in the outline that follows.

A third issue deals with the large numbers given for the tribes of Israel in 1:46 and 26:51. These two lists of Israel's men of war, taken 39 years apart, both put the number over 600,000. These numbers demand a total population for Israel in the wilderness of around 2.5 million at any one time. From a natural perspective, this total seems too high for the wilderness conditions to sustain. However, it must be recognized that the Lord supernaturally took care of Israel for 40 years (Deut. 8:1–5). Therefore, the large numbers must be accepted at face value (see note on Num. 1:46).

The fourth interpretive challenge concerns the heathen prophet Balaam, whose story is recorded in 22:2–24:25. Even though Balaam claimed to know the Lord (22:18), Scripture consistently refers to him as a false prophet (2 Pet. 2:15–16; Jude 11). The Lord used Balaam as his mouthpiece to speak the true words he put in his mouth (see notes on Num. 22:2–24:25).

Numbers

A Census of Israel's Warriors

NUMBERS 1 1 1 1 The LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the tent of meeting, on the first day of the second month, in the second year after they had come out of the land of Egypt, saying, 2 1 “Take a census of all the congregation of the people of Israel, by clans, by fathers' houses, according to the number of names, every male, head by head. 3 1 From twenty years old and upward, all in Israel who are able to go to war, you and Aaron shall list them, company by company. 4 1 And there shall be with you a man from each tribe, each man being the head of the house of his fathers. 5 And these are the names of the men who shall assist you. From Reuben, Elizur the son of Shedeur; 6 from Simeon, Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai; 7 from Judah, Nahshon the son of Amminadab; 8 from Issachar, Nethanel the son of Zuar; 9 from Zebulun, Eliab the son of Helon; 10 from the sons of Joseph, from Ephraim, Elishama the son of Ammihud, and from Manasseh, Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur; 11 from Benjamin, Abidan the son of Gideoni; 12 from Dan, Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai; 13 from Asher, Pagiel the son of Ochran; 14 from Gad, Eliasaph the son of Deuel; 15 from Naphtali, Ahira the son of Enan.” 16 These were the ones chosen from the congregation, the chiefs of their ancestral tribes, the heads of the clans of Israel.

17 1 Moses and Aaron took these men who had been named, 18 and on the first day of the second month, they assembled the whole congregation together, who registered themselves by clans, by fathers' houses, according to the number of names from twenty years old and upward, head by head, 19 as the LORD commanded Moses. So he listed them in the wilderness of Sinai.

20 The people of Reuben, Israel's firstborn, their generations, by their clans, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, all who were able to go to war: 21 those listed of the tribe of Reuben were 46,500.

22 Of the people of Simeon, their generations, by their clans, by their fathers' houses, those of them who were listed, according to the number of names, head by head, every male from twenty years old and upward, all who were able to go to war: 23 those listed of the tribe of Simeon were 59,300.

<sup>24</sup>Of the people of Gad, their generations, by their clans, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all who were able to go to war: <sup>25</sup>those listed of the tribe of Gad were 45,650.

<sup>26</sup>Of the people of Judah, their generations, by their clans, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of names, from twenty years old and upward, every man able to go to war: <sup>27</sup>those listed of the tribe of Judah were 74,600.

<sup>32</sup>Of the people of Joseph, namely, of the people of Ephraim, their generations, by their clans, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of names, from twenty years old and upward, every man able to go to war: <sup>33</sup>those listed of the tribe of Ephraim were 40,500.

<sup>34</sup>Of the people of Manasseh, their generations, by their clans, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of names, from twenty years old and upward, every man able to go to war: <sup>35</sup>those listed of the tribe of Manasseh were 32,200.

<sup>42</sup>Of the people of Naphtali, their generations, by their clans, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of names, from twenty years old and upward, every man able to go to war: <sup>43</sup>those listed of the tribe of Naphtali were 53,400.

<sup>44</sup>These are those who were listed, whom Moses and Aaron listed with the help of the chiefs of Israel, twelve men, each representing his fathers' house. <sup>45</sup>So all those listed of the people of Israel, by their fathers' houses, from twenty years old and upward, every man able to go to war in Israel— <sup>46</sup>†all those listed were 603,550.

Levites Exempted

<sup>47</sup>But the Levites were not listed along with them by their ancestral tribe. <sup>48</sup>For the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>49</sup>“Only the tribe of Levi you shall not list, and you shall not take a census of them among the people of Israel. <sup>50</sup>†But appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of the testimony, and over all its furnishings, and over all that belongs to it. They are to carry the tabernacle and all its furnishings, and they shall take care of it and shall camp around the tabernacle. <sup>51</sup>†When the tabernacle is to set out, the Levites shall take it down, and when the tabernacle is to be pitched, the Levites shall set it up. And if any outsider comes near, he shall be put to death. <sup>52</sup>The people of Israel shall pitch their tents by their companies, each man in his own camp and each man by his own standard. <sup>53</sup>†But the Levites shall camp around the tabernacle of the testimony, so that there may be no wrath on the congregation of the people of Israel. And the Levites shall keep guard over the tabernacle of the testimony.” <sup>54</sup>Thus did the people of Israel; they did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses.

Arrangement of the Camp

NUMBERS 2 The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, <sup>2</sup>†“The people of Israel shall camp each by his own standard, with the banners of their fathers' houses. They shall camp facing the tent of meeting on every side. <sup>3</sup>†Those to camp on the east side toward the sunrise shall be of the standard of the camp of Judah by their companies, the chief of the people of Judah being Nahshon the son of Amminadab, <sup>4</sup>his company as listed being 74,600. <sup>5</sup>Those to camp next to him shall be the tribe of Issachar, the chief of the people of Issachar being Nethanel the son of Zuar, <sup>6</sup>his company as listed being 54,400. <sup>7</sup>Then the tribe of Zebulun, the chief of the people of Zebulun being Eliab the son of Helon, <sup>8</sup>his company as listed being 57,400. <sup>9</sup>All those listed of the camp of Judah, by their companies, were 186,400. They shall set out first on the march.

<sup>10</sup>“On the south side shall be the standard of the camp of Reuben by their companies, the chief of the people of Reuben being Elizur the son of Shedeur, <sup>11</sup>his company as listed being 46,500. <sup>12</sup>And those to camp next to him shall be the tribe of Simeon, the chief of the people of Simeon being Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai, <sup>13</sup>his company as listed being 59,300. <sup>14</sup>†Then the tribe of Gad, the chief of the people of Gad being Eliasaph the son of Reuel, <sup>15</sup>his company as listed being 45,650. <sup>16</sup>All those listed of the camp of Reuben, by their companies, were 151,450. They shall set out second.

<sup>17</sup>†“Then the tent of meeting shall set out, with the camp of the Levites in the midst of the camps; as they camp, so shall they set out, each in position, standard by standard.

<sup>25</sup>“On the north side shall be the standard of the camp of Dan by their companies, the chief of the people of Dan being Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai, <sup>26</sup>his company as listed being 62,700. <sup>27</sup>And those to camp next to him shall be the tribe of Asher, the chief of the people of Asher being Pagiel the son of Ocran, <sup>28</sup>his company as listed being 41,500. <sup>29</sup>Then the tribe of Naphtali, the chief of the people of Naphtali being Ahira the son of Enan, <sup>30</sup>his company as listed being 53,400. <sup>31</sup>All those listed of the camp of Dan were 157,600. They shall set out last, standard by standard.”

<sup>32</sup>† These are the people of Israel as listed by their fathers' houses. All those listed in the camps by their companies were 603,550. <sup>33</sup>But the Levites were not listed among the people of Israel, as the LORD commanded Moses.

<sup>34</sup>Thus did the people of Israel. According to all that the LORD commanded Moses, so they camped by their standards, and so they set out, each one in his clan, according to his fathers' house.

The Sons of Aaron

NUMBERS 3 †These are the generations of Aaron and Moses at the time when the LORD spoke with Moses on Mount Sinai. <sup>2</sup>These are the names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab the firstborn, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. <sup>3</sup>†These are the names of the sons of Aaron, the anointed priests, whom he ordained to serve as priests. <sup>4</sup>†But Nadab and Abihu died before the LORD when they offered unauthorized fire before the LORD in the wilderness of Sinai, and they had no children. So Eleazar and Ithamar served as priests in the lifetime of Aaron their father.

Duties of the Levites

<sup>5</sup>And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>6</sup>†“Bring the tribe of Levi near, and set them before Aaron the priest, that they may minister to him. <sup>7</sup>They shall keep guard over him and over the whole congregation before the tent of meeting, as they minister at the tabernacle. <sup>8</sup>They shall guard all the furnishings of the tent of meeting, and keep guard over the people of Israel as they minister at the tabernacle. <sup>9</sup>And you shall give the Levites to Aaron and his sons; they are wholly given to him from among the people of Israel. <sup>10</sup>†And you shall appoint Aaron and his sons, and they shall guard their priesthood. But if any outsider comes near, he shall be put to death.”

<sup>11</sup>And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>12</sup>†“Behold, I have taken the Levites from among the people of Israel instead of every firstborn who opens the womb among the people of Israel. The Levites shall be mine, <sup>13</sup>for all the firstborn are mine. On the day that I struck down all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, I consecrated for my own all the firstborn in Israel, both of man and of beast. They shall be mine: I am the LORD.”

<sup>14</sup>And the LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, saying, <sup>15</sup>†“List the sons of Levi, by fathers' houses and by clans; every male from a month old and upward you shall list.” <sup>16</sup>So Moses listed them according to the word of the LORD, as he was commanded. <sup>17</sup>And these were the sons of Levi by their names: Gershon and Kohath and Merari. <sup>18</sup>And these are the names of the sons of Gershon by their clans: Libni and Shimei. <sup>19</sup>And the sons of Kohath by their clans: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. <sup>20</sup>And the sons of Merari by their clans: Mahli and Mushi. These are the clans of the Levites, by their fathers'

<sup>27</sup>‡To Kohath belonged the clan of the Amramites and the clan of the Izharites and the clan of the Hebronites and the clan of the Uzzielites; these are the clans of the Kohathites. <sup>28</sup>According to the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, there were 8,600, keeping guard over the sanctuary. <sup>29</sup>The clans of the sons of Kohath were to camp on the south side of the tabernacle, <sup>30</sup>with Elizaphan the son of Uzziel as chief of the fathers' house of the clans of the Kohathites. <sup>31</sup>And their guard duty involved the ark, the table, the lampstand, the altars, the vessels of the sanctuary with which the priests minister, and the screen; all the service connected with these. <sup>32</sup>And Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest was to be chief over the chiefs of the Levites, and to have oversight of those who kept guard over the sanctuary.

<sup>38</sup>‡Those who were to camp before the tabernacle on the east, before the tent of meeting toward the sunrise, were Moses and Aaron and his sons, guarding the sanctuary itself, to protect [2] the people of Israel. And any outsider who came near was to be put to death. <sup>39</sup>All those listed among the Levites, whom Moses and Aaron listed at the commandment of the LORD, by clans, all the males from a month old and upward, were 22,000.

Redemption of the Firstborn

<sup>40</sup>And the LORD said to Moses, “List all the firstborn males of the people of Israel, from a month old and upward, taking the number of their names. <sup>41</sup>And you shall take the Levites for me—I am the LORD—instead of all the firstborn among the people of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites instead of all the firstborn among the cattle of the people of Israel.” <sup>42</sup>So Moses listed all the firstborn among the people of Israel, as the LORD commanded him. <sup>43</sup>† And all the firstborn males, according to the number of names, from a month old and upward as listed were 22,273.

<sup>44</sup>And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>45</sup>“Take the Levites instead of all the firstborn among the people of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites instead of their cattle. The Levites shall be mine: I am the LORD. <sup>46</sup>And as the redemption price for the 273 of the firstborn of the people of Israel, over and above the number of the male Levites, <sup>47</sup>you shall take five shekels [3] per head; you shall take them according to the shekel of the sanctuary (the shekel of twenty gerahs [4]), <sup>48</sup>and give the money to Aaron and his sons as the redemption price for those who are over.” <sup>49</sup>So Moses took the redemption money from those who were over and above those redeemed by the Levites. <sup>50</sup>From the firstborn of the people of Israel he took the money, 1,365 shekels, by the shekel of the sanctuary. <sup>51</sup>And Moses gave the redemption money to Aaron and his sons, according to the word of the LORD, as the LORD commanded Moses.

Duties of the Kohathites

NUMBERS 4 †The LORD spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Take a census of the sons of Kohath from among the sons of Levi, by their clans and their fathers' houses, <sup>3</sup>†from thirty years old up to fifty years old, all who can come on duty, to do the work in the tent of meeting. <sup>4</sup>†This is the service of the sons of Kohath in the tent of meeting: the most holy things. <sup>5</sup>When the camp is to set out, Aaron and his sons shall go in and take down the veil of the screen and cover the ark of the testimony with it. <sup>6</sup>Then they shall put on it a covering of goatskin [1] and spread on top of that a cloth all of blue, and shall put in its poles. <sup>7</sup>And over the table of the bread of the Presence they shall spread a cloth of blue and put on it the plates, the dishes for incense, the bowls, and the flagons for the drink offering; the regular showbread also shall be on it. <sup>8</sup>Then they shall spread over them a cloth of scarlet and cover the same with a covering of goatskin, and shall put in its poles. <sup>9</sup>And they shall take a cloth of blue and cover the lampstand for the light, with its lamps, its tongs, its trays, and all the vessels for oil with which it is supplied. <sup>10</sup>And they shall put it with all its utensils in a covering of goatskin and put it on the carrying frame. <sup>11</sup>And over the golden altar they shall spread a cloth of blue and cover it with a covering of goatskin, and shall put in its poles. <sup>12</sup>And they shall take all the vessels of the service that are used in the sanctuary and put them in a cloth of blue and cover them with a covering of goatskin and put them on the carrying frame. <sup>13</sup>And they shall take away the ashes from the altar and spread a purple cloth over it. <sup>14</sup>And they shall put on it all the utensils of the altar, which are used for the service there, the fire pans, the forks, the shovels, and the basins, all the utensils of the altar; and they shall spread on it a covering of goatskin, and shall put in its poles. <sup>15</sup>And when Aaron and his sons have finished covering the sanctuary and all the furnishings of the sanctuary, as the camp sets out, after that the sons of Kohath shall come to carry these, but they must not touch the holy things, lest they die. These are the things of the tent of meeting that the sons of Kohath are to carry.

<sup>16</sup>“And Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest shall have charge of the oil for the light, the fragrant incense, the regular grain offering, and the anointing oil, with the oversight of the whole tabernacle and all that is in it, of the sanctuary and its vessels.”

them, that they may live and not die when they come near to the most holy things: Aaron and his sons shall go in and appoint them each to his task and to his burden, <sup>20</sup>but they shall not go in to look on the holy things even for a moment, lest they die.”

<sup>21</sup>‡The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>22</sup>“Take a census of the sons of Gershon also, by their fathers' houses and by their clans. <sup>23</sup>From thirty years old up to fifty years old, you shall list them, all who can come to do duty, to do service in the tent of meeting. <sup>24</sup>This is the service of the clans of the Gershonites, in serving and bearing burdens: <sup>25</sup>they shall carry the curtains of the tabernacle and the tent of meeting with its covering and the covering of goatskin that is on top of it and the screen for the entrance of the tent of meeting <sup>26</sup>and the hangings of the court and the screen for the entrance of the gate of the court that is around the tabernacle and the altar, and their cords and all the equipment for their service. And they shall do all that needs to be done with regard to them. <sup>27</sup>All the service of the sons of the Gershonites shall be at the command of Aaron and his sons, in all that they are to carry and in all that they have to do. And you shall assign to their charge all that they are to carry. <sup>28</sup>This is the service of the clans of the sons of the Gershonites in the tent of meeting, and their guard duty is to be under the direction of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.

<sup>46</sup>All those who were listed of the Levites, whom Moses and Aaron and the chiefs of Israel listed, by their clans and their fathers' houses, <sup>47</sup>from thirty years old up to fifty years old, everyone who could come to do the service of ministry and the service of bearing burdens in the tent of meeting, <sup>48</sup>those listed were 8,580. <sup>49</sup>According to the commandment of the LORD through Moses they were listed, each one with his task of serving or carrying. Thus they were listed by him, as the LORD commanded Moses.

Unclean People

NUMBERS 5 †The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“Command the people of Israel that they put out of the camp everyone who is leprous [1] or has a discharge and everyone who is unclean through contact with the dead. †You shall put out both male and female, putting them outside the camp, that they may not defile their camp, in the midst of which I dwell.” †And the people of Israel did so, and put them outside the camp; as the LORD said to Moses, so the people of Israel did.

Confession and Restitution

†And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“Speak to the people of Israel, When a man or woman commits any of the sins that people commit by breaking faith with the LORD, and that person realizes his guilt, †he shall confess his sin that he has committed. [2] And he shall make full restitution for his wrong, adding a fifth to it and giving it to him to whom he did the wrong. †But if the man has no next of kin to whom restitution may be made for the wrong, the restitution for wrong shall go to the LORD for the priest, in addition to the ram of atonement with which atonement is made for him. †And every contribution, all the holy donations of the people of Israel, which they bring to the priest, shall be his. †Each one shall keep his holy donations: whatever anyone gives to the priest shall be his.”

A Test for Adultery

†And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“Speak to the people of Israel, If any man's wife goes astray and breaks faith with him, †if a man lies with her sexually, and it is hidden from the eyes of her husband, and she is undetected though she has defiled herself, and there is no witness against her, since she was not taken in the act, †and if the spirit of jealousy comes over him and he is jealous of his wife who has defiled herself, or if the spirit of jealousy comes over him and he is jealous of his wife, though she has not defiled herself, †then the man shall bring his wife to the priest and bring the offering required of her, a tenth of an ephah [3] of barley flour. He shall pour no oil on it and put no frankincense on it, for it is a grain offering of jealousy, a grain offering of remembrance, bringing iniquity to remembrance.

<sup>16</sup>“And the priest shall bring her near and set her before the LORD. <sup>17</sup>And the priest shall take holy water in an earthenware vessel and take some of the dust that is on the floor of the tabernacle and put it into the water. <sup>18</sup>†And the priest shall set the woman before the LORD and unbind the hair of the woman's head and place in her hands the grain offering of remembrance, which is the grain offering of jealousy. And in his hand the priest shall have the water of bitterness that brings the curse. <sup>19</sup>Then the priest shall make her take an oath, saying, ‘If no man has lain with you, and if you have not turned aside to uncleanness while you were under your husband's authority, be free from this water of bitterness that brings the curse. <sup>20</sup>But if you have gone astray, though you are under your husband's authority, and if you have defiled yourself, and some man other than your husband has lain with you, <sup>21</sup>then’ (let the priest make the woman take the oath of the curse, and say to the woman) ‘the LORD make you a curse and an oath among your people, when the LORD makes your thigh fall away and your body swell. <sup>22</sup>May this water that brings the curse pass into your bowels and make your womb swell and your thigh fall away.’ And the woman shall say, ‘Amen, Amen.’

<sup>23</sup>“Then the priest shall write these curses in a book and wash them off into the water of bitterness. <sup>24</sup>And he shall make the woman drink the water of bitterness that brings the curse, and the water that brings the curse shall enter into her and cause bitter pain. <sup>25</sup>And the priest shall take the grain offering of jealousy out of the woman's hand and shall wave the grain offering before the LORD and bring it to the altar. <sup>26</sup>And the priest shall take a handful of the grain offering, as its memorial portion, and burn it on the altar, and afterward shall make the woman drink the water. <sup>27</sup>And when he has made her drink the water, then, if she has defiled herself and has broken faith with her husband, the water that brings the curse shall enter into her and cause bitter pain, and her womb shall swell, and her thigh shall fall away, and the woman shall become a curse among her people. <sup>28</sup>†But if the woman has not defiled herself and is clean, then she shall be free and shall conceive children.

<sup>29</sup>“This is the law in cases of jealousy, when a wife, though under her husband's authority, goes astray and defiles herself, <sup>30</sup>or when the spirit of jealousy comes over a man and he is jealous of his wife. Then he shall set the woman before the LORD, and the priest shall carry out for her all this law. <sup>31</sup>The man shall be free from iniquity, but the woman shall bear her iniquity.”

The Nazirite Vow

NUMBERS 6 †And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When either a man or a woman makes a special vow, the vow of a Nazirite, [1] to separate himself to the LORD, †he shall separate himself from wine and strong drink. He shall drink no vinegar made from wine or strong drink and shall not drink any juice of grapes or eat grapes, fresh or dried. †All the days of his separation [2] he shall eat nothing that is produced by the grapevine, not even the seeds or the skins.

‡“All the days of his vow of separation, no razor shall touch his head. Until the time is completed for which he separates himself to the LORD, he shall be holy. He shall let the locks of hair of his head grow long.

‡“All the days that he separates himself to the LORD he shall not go near a dead body. †Not even for his father or for his mother, for brother or sister, if they die, shall he make himself unclean, because his separation to God is on his head. †All the days of his separation he is holy to the LORD.

‡“And if any man dies very suddenly beside him and he defiles his consecrated head, then he shall shave his head on the day of his cleansing; on the seventh day he shall shave it. †On the eighth day he shall bring two turtledoves or two pigeons to the priest to the entrance of the tent of meeting, †and the priest shall offer one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering, and make atonement for him, because he sinned by reason of the dead body. And he shall consecrate his head that same day †and separate himself to the LORD for the days of his separation and bring a male lamb a year old for a guilt offering. But the previous period shall be void, because his separation was defiled.

‡“And this is the law for the Nazirite, when the time of his separation has been completed: he shall be brought to the entrance of the tent of meeting, †and he shall bring his gift to the LORD, one male lamb a year old without blemish for a burnt offering, and one ewe lamb a year old without blemish as a sin offering, and one ram without blemish as a peace offering, †and a basket of unleavened bread, loaves of fine flour mixed with oil, and unleavened wafers smeared with oil, and their grain offering and their drink offerings. †And the priest shall bring them before the LORD and offer his sin offering and his burnt offering, †and he shall offer the ram as a sacrifice of peace offering to the LORD, with the basket of unleavened bread. The priest shall offer also its grain offering and its drink offering. <sup>18</sup>And the Nazirite shall shave his consecrated head at the entrance of the tent of meeting and shall take the hair from his consecrated head and put it on the fire that is under the sacrifice of the peace offering. <sup>19</sup>And the priest shall take the shoulder of the ram, when it is boiled, and one unleavened loaf out of the basket and one unleavened wafer, and shall put them on the hands of the Nazirite, after he has shaved the hair of his consecration, <sup>20</sup>and the priest shall wave them for a wave offering before the LORD. They are a holy portion for the priest, together with the breast that is waved and the thigh that is contributed. And after that the Nazirite may drink wine.

<sup>21</sup>“This is the law of the Nazirite. But if he vows an offering to the LORD above his Nazirite vow, as he can afford, in exact accordance with the vow that he takes, then he shall do in addition to the law of the Nazirite.”

Aaron's Blessing

<sup>27</sup>†“So shall they put my name upon the people of Israel, and I will bless them.”

Offerings at the Tabernacle's Consecration

NUMBERS 7 ††† On the day when Moses had finished setting up the tabernacle and had anointed and consecrated it with all its furnishings and had anointed and consecrated the altar with all its utensils, † the chiefs of Israel, heads of their fathers' houses, who were the chiefs of the tribes, who were over those who were listed, approached † and brought their offerings before the LORD, six wagons and twelve oxen, a wagon for every two of the chiefs, and for each one an ox. They brought them before the tabernacle. † Then the LORD said to Moses, † “Accept these from them, that they may be used in the service of the tent of meeting, and give them to the Levites, to each man according to his service.” † So Moses took the wagons and the oxen and gave them to the Levites. † Two wagons and four oxen he gave to the sons of Gershon, according to their service. † And four wagons and eight oxen he gave to the sons of Merari, according to their service, under the direction of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest. † But to the sons of Kohath he gave none, because they were charged with the service of the holy things that had to be carried on the shoulder. † And the chiefs offered offerings for the dedication of the altar on the day it was anointed; and the chiefs offered their offering before the altar. † And the LORD said to Moses, “They shall offer their offerings, one chief each day, for the dedication of the altar.”

† He who offered his offering the first day was Nahshon the son of Amminadab, of the tribe of Judah. † And his offering was one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, [1] one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; † one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; † one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; † one male goat for a sin offering; † and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Nahshon the son of Amminadab.

† On the second day Nethanel the son of Zuar, the chief of Issachar, made an offering. † He offered for his offering one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; † one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; † one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; † one male goat for a sin offering; † and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Nethanel the son of Zuar.

<sup>24</sup>On the third day Eliab the son of Helon, the chief of the people of Zebulun:

<sup>36</sup>On the fifth day Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai, the chief of the people of Simeon: <sup>37</sup>his offering was one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; <sup>38</sup>one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; <sup>39</sup>one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; <sup>40</sup>one male goat for a sin offering; <sup>41</sup>and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai.

<sup>42</sup>On the sixth day Eliasaph the son of Deuel, the chief of the people of Gad: <sup>43</sup>his offering was one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; <sup>44</sup>one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; <sup>45</sup>one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; <sup>46</sup>one male goat for a sin offering; <sup>47</sup>and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Eliasaph the son of Deuel.

Ephraim: <sup>49</sup>his offering was one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; <sup>50</sup>one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; <sup>51</sup>one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; <sup>52</sup>one male goat for a sin offering; <sup>53</sup>and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Elishama the son of Ammihud.

<sup>54</sup>On the eighth day Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur, the chief of the people of Manasseh: <sup>55</sup>his offering was one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; <sup>56</sup>one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; <sup>57</sup>one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; <sup>58</sup>one male goat for a sin offering; <sup>59</sup>and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur.

<sup>60</sup>On the ninth day Abidan the son of Gideoni, the chief of the people of Benjamin: <sup>61</sup>his offering was one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; <sup>62</sup>one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; <sup>63</sup>one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; <sup>64</sup>one male goat for a sin offering; <sup>65</sup>and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Abidan the son of Gideoni.

<sup>66</sup>On the tenth day Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai, the chief of the people of Dan: <sup>67</sup>his offering was one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; <sup>68</sup>one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; <sup>69</sup>one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; <sup>70</sup>one male goat for a sin offering; <sup>71</sup>and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai.

<sup>72</sup>On the eleventh day Pagiel the son of Ochran, the chief of the people of Asher: <sup>73</sup>his offering was one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; <sup>74</sup>one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; <sup>75</sup>one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; <sup>76</sup>one male goat for a sin offering; <sup>77</sup>and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Pagiel the son of Ocran.

<sup>78</sup>On the twelfth day Ahira the son of Enan, the chief of the people of Naphtali: <sup>79</sup>his offering was one silver plate whose weight was 130 shekels, one silver basin of 70 shekels, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; <sup>80</sup>one golden dish of 10 shekels, full of incense; <sup>81</sup>one bull from the herd, one ram, one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; <sup>82</sup>one male goat for a sin offering; <sup>83</sup>and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Ahira the son of Enan.

<sup>84</sup>‡ This was the dedication offering for the altar on the day when it was anointed, from the chiefs of Israel: twelve silver plates, twelve silver basins, twelve golden dishes, <sup>85</sup>each silver plate weighing 130 shekels and each basin 70, all the silver of the vessels 2,400 shekels according to the shekel of the sanctuary, <sup>86</sup>the twelve golden dishes, full of incense, weighing 10 shekels apiece according to the shekel of the sanctuary, all the gold of the dishes being 120 shekels; <sup>87</sup>all the cattle for the burnt offering twelve bulls, twelve rams, twelve male lambs a year old, with their grain offering; and twelve male goats for a sin offering; <sup>88</sup>and all the cattle for the sacrifice of peace offerings twenty-four bulls, the rams sixty, the male goats sixty, the male lambs a year old sixty. This was the dedication offering for the altar after it was anointed.

<sup>89</sup>‡ And when Moses went into the tent of meeting to speak with the LORD, he heard the voice speaking to him from above the mercy seat that was on the ark of the testimony, from between the two cherubim; and it spoke to him.

The Seven Lamps

NUMBERS 8 †Now the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Speak to Aaron and say to him, When you set up the lamps, the seven lamps shall give light in front of the lampstand.” <sup>3</sup>And Aaron did so: he set up its lamps in front of the lampstand, as the LORD commanded Moses. <sup>4</sup>And this was the workmanship of the lampstand, hammered work of gold. From its base to its flowers, it was hammered work; according to the pattern that the LORD had shown Moses, so he made the lampstand.

Cleansing of the Levites

<sup>5</sup>†And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>6</sup>†“Take the Levites from among the people of Israel and cleanse them. <sup>7</sup>Thus you shall do to them to cleanse them: sprinkle the water of purification upon them, and let them go with a razor over all their body, and wash their clothes and cleanse themselves. <sup>8</sup>Then let them take a bull from the herd and its grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil, and you shall take another bull from the herd for a sin offering. <sup>9</sup>†And you shall bring the Levites before the tent of meeting and assemble the whole congregation of the people of Israel. <sup>10</sup>When you bring the Levites before the LORD, the people of Israel shall lay their hands on the Levites, <sup>11</sup>and Aaron shall offer the Levites before the LORD as a wave offering from the people of Israel, that they may do the service of the LORD. <sup>12</sup>Then the Levites shall lay their hands on the heads of the bulls, and you shall offer the one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering to the LORD to make atonement for the Levites. <sup>13</sup>And you shall set the Levites before Aaron and his sons, and shall offer them as a wave offering to the LORD.

<sup>14</sup>“Thus you shall separate the Levites from among the people of Israel, and the Levites shall be mine. <sup>15</sup>And after that the Levites shall go in to serve at the tent of meeting, when you have cleansed them and offered them as a wave offering. <sup>16</sup>For they are wholly given to me from among the people of Israel. Instead of all who open the womb, the firstborn of all the people of Israel, I have taken them for myself. <sup>17</sup>For all the firstborn among the people of Israel are mine, both of man and of beast. On the day that I struck down all the firstborn in the land of Egypt I consecrated them for myself, <sup>18</sup>and I have taken the Levites instead of all the firstborn among the people of Israel. <sup>19</sup>†And I have given the Levites as a gift to Aaron and his sons from among the people of Israel, to do the service for the people of Israel at the tent of meeting and to make atonement for the people of Israel, that there may be no plague among the people of Israel when the people of Israel come near the sanctuary.”

<sup>20</sup>Thus did Moses and Aaron and all the congregation of the people of Israel to the Levites. According to all that the LORD commanded Moses concerning the Levites, the people of Israel did to them. <sup>21</sup>And the Levites purified themselves from sin and washed their clothes, and Aaron offered them as a wave offering before the LORD, and Aaron made atonement for them to cleanse them. <sup>22</sup>And after that the Levites went in to do their service in the tent of meeting before Aaron and his sons; as the LORD had commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so they did to them.

Retirement of the Levites

<sup>23</sup>And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>24</sup>†“This applies to the Levites: from twenty-five years old and upward they [1] shall come to do duty in the service of the tent of meeting. <sup>25</sup>And from the age of fifty years they shall withdraw from the duty of the service and serve no more. <sup>26</sup>They minister [2] to their brothers in the tent of meeting by keeping guard, but they shall do no service. Thus shall you do to the Levites in assigning their duties.”

The Passover Celebrated

NUMBERS 9 †† And the LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the first month of the second year after they had come out of the land of Egypt, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Let the people of Israel keep the Passover at its appointed time. <sup>3</sup>† On the fourteenth day of this month, at twilight, you shall keep it at its appointed time; according to all its statutes and all its rules you shall keep it.” <sup>4</sup> So Moses told the people of Israel that they should keep the Passover. <sup>5</sup> And they kept the Passover in the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, at twilight, in the wilderness of Sinai; according to all that the LORD commanded Moses, so the people of Israel did. <sup>6</sup>† And there were certain men who were unclean through touching a dead body, so that they could not keep the Passover on that day, and they came before Moses and Aaron on that day. <sup>7</sup> And those men said to him, “We are unclean through touching a dead body. Why are we kept from bringing the LORD's offering at its appointed time among the people of Israel?” <sup>8</sup> And Moses said to them, “Wait, that I may hear what the LORD will command concerning you.”

<sup>9</sup> The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>10</sup>† “Speak to the people of Israel, saying, If any one of you or of your descendants is unclean through touching a dead body, or is on a long journey, he shall still keep the Passover to the LORD. <sup>11</sup> In the second month on the fourteenth day at twilight they shall keep it. They shall eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs. <sup>12</sup>† They shall leave none of it until the morning, nor break any of its bones; according to all the statute for the Passover they shall keep it. <sup>13</sup>† But if anyone who is clean and is not on a journey fails to keep the Passover, that person shall be cut off from his people because he did not bring the LORD's offering at its appointed time; that man shall bear his sin. <sup>14</sup>† And if a stranger sojourns among you and would keep the Passover to the LORD, according to the statute of the Passover and according to its rule, so shall he do. You shall have one statute, both for the sojourner and for the native.”

The Cloud Covering the Tabernacle

<sup>15</sup> †† On the day that the tabernacle was set up, the cloud covered the tabernacle, the tent of the testimony. And at evening it was over the tabernacle like the appearance of fire until morning. <sup>16</sup>† So it was always: the cloud covered it by day [1] and the appearance of fire by night. <sup>17</sup> And whenever the cloud lifted from over the tent, after that the people of Israel set out, and in the place where the cloud settled down, there the people of Israel camped. <sup>18</sup>At the command of the LORD the people of Israel set out, and at the command of the LORD they camped. As long as the cloud rested over the tabernacle, they remained in camp. <sup>19</sup>Even when the cloud continued over the tabernacle many days, the people of Israel kept the charge of the LORD and did not set out. <sup>20</sup>Sometimes the cloud was a few days over the tabernacle, and according to the command of the LORD they remained in camp; then according to the command of the LORD they set out. <sup>21</sup>And sometimes the cloud remained from evening until morning. And when the cloud lifted in the morning, they set out, or if it continued for a day and a night, when the cloud lifted they set out. <sup>22</sup>Whether it was two days, or a month, or a longer time, that the cloud continued over the tabernacle, abiding there, the people of Israel remained in camp and did not set out, but when it lifted they set out. <sup>23</sup>†At the command of the LORD they camped, and at the command of the LORD they set out. They kept the charge of the LORD, at the command of the LORD by Moses.

The Silver Trumpets

NUMBERS 10 ‡The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>‡“Make two silver trumpets. Of hammered work you shall make them, and you shall use them for summoning the congregation and for breaking camp. <sup>3</sup>‡And when both are blown, all the congregation shall gather themselves to you at the entrance of the tent of meeting. <sup>4</sup>But if they blow only one, then the chiefs, the heads of the tribes of Israel, shall gather themselves to you. <sup>5</sup>‡When you blow an alarm, the camps that are on the east side shall set out. <sup>6</sup>And when you blow an alarm the second time, the camps that are on the south side shall set out. An alarm is to be blown whenever they are to set out. <sup>7</sup>But when the assembly is to be gathered together, you shall blow a long blast, but you shall not sound an alarm. <sup>8</sup>‡And the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall blow the trumpets. The trumpets shall be to you for a perpetual statute throughout your generations. <sup>9</sup>And when you go to war in your land against the adversary who oppresses you, then you shall sound an alarm with the trumpets, that you may be remembered before the LORD your God, and you shall be saved from your enemies. <sup>10</sup>On the day of your gladness also, and at your appointed feasts and at the beginnings of your months, you shall blow the trumpets over your burnt offerings and over the sacrifices of your peace offerings. They shall be a reminder of you before your God: I am the LORD your God.”

Israel Leaves Sinai

<sup>11</sup>‡‡In the second year, in the second month, on the twentieth day of the month, the cloud lifted from over the tabernacle of the testimony, <sup>12</sup>‡and the people of Israel set out by stages from the wilderness of Sinai. And the cloud settled down in the wilderness of Paran. <sup>13</sup>They set out for the first time at the command of the LORD by Moses. <sup>14</sup>‡‡The standard of the camp of the people of Judah set out first by their companies, and over their company was Nahshon the son of Amminadab. <sup>15</sup>And over the company of the tribe of the people of Issachar was Nethanel the son of Zuar. <sup>16</sup>And over the company of the tribe of the people of Zebulun was Eliab the son of Helon.

<sup>17</sup>And when the tabernacle was taken down, the sons of Gershon and the sons of Merari, who carried the tabernacle, set out. <sup>18</sup>And the standard of the camp of Reuben set out by their companies, and over their company was Elizur the son of Shedeur. <sup>19</sup>And over the company of the tribe of the people of Simeon was Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai. <sup>20</sup>And over the company of the tribe of the people of Gad was Eliasaph the son of Deuel.

<sup>21</sup>Then the Kohathites set out, carrying the holy things, and the tabernacle was set up before their arrival. <sup>22</sup>And the standard of the camp of the people of Ephraim set out by their companies, and over their company was Elishama the son of Ammihud. <sup>23</sup>And over the company of the tribe of the people of Manasseh was Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur. <sup>24</sup>And over the company of the tribe of the people of Benjamin was Abidan the son of Gideoni.

<sup>25</sup>Then the standard of the camp of the people of Dan, acting as the rear guard of all the camps, set out by their companies, and over their company was Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai. <sup>26</sup>And over the company of the tribe of the people of Asher was Pagiël the son of Ocran. <sup>27</sup>And over the company of the tribe of the people of Naphtali was Ahira the son of Enan. <sup>28</sup>This was the order of march of the people of Israel by their companies, when they set out.

<sup>29</sup>† And Moses said to Hobab the son of Reuel the Midianite, Moses' father-in-law, "We are setting out for the place of which the LORD said, 'I will give it to you.' Come with us, and we will do good to you, for the LORD has promised good to Israel." <sup>30</sup>But he said to him, "I will not go. I will depart to my own land and to my kindred." <sup>31</sup>And he said, "Please do not leave us, for you know where we should camp in the wilderness, and you will serve as eyes for us. <sup>32</sup>And if you do go with us, whatever good the LORD will do to us, the same will we do to you."

<sup>33</sup>† So they set out from the mount of the LORD three days' journey. And the ark of the covenant of the LORD went before them three days' journey, to seek out a resting place for them. <sup>34</sup>And the cloud of the LORD was over them by day, whenever they set out from the camp.

<sup>35</sup>† And whenever the ark set out, Moses said, "Arise, O LORD, and let your enemies be scattered, and let those who hate you flee before you." <sup>36</sup>And when it rested, he said, "Return, O LORD, to the ten thousand thousands of Israel."

The People Complain

NUMBERS 11 ‡‡‡ And the people complained in the hearing of the LORD about their misfortunes, and when the LORD heard it, his anger was kindled, and the fire of the LORD burned among them and consumed some outlying parts of the camp. <sup>2</sup>Then the people cried out to Moses, and Moses prayed to the LORD, and the fire died down. <sup>3</sup>So the name of that place was called Taberah, [1] because the fire of the LORD burned among them.

<sup>4</sup>‡ Now the rabble that was among them had a strong craving. And the people of Israel also wept again and said, “Oh that we had meat to eat! <sup>5</sup>We remember the fish we ate in Egypt that cost nothing, the cucumbers, the melons, the leeks, the onions, and the garlic. <sup>6</sup>But now our strength is dried up, and there is nothing at all but this manna to look at.”

<sup>7</sup>‡ Now the manna was like coriander seed, and its appearance like that of bdellium. <sup>8</sup>The people went about and gathered it and ground it in handmills or beat it in mortars and boiled it in pots and made cakes of it. And the taste of it was like the taste of cakes baked with oil. <sup>9</sup>When the dew fell upon the camp in the night, the manna fell with it.

<sup>10</sup>Moses heard the people weeping throughout their clans, everyone at the door of his tent. And the anger of the LORD blazed hotly, and Moses was displeased.

<sup>11</sup>Moses said to the LORD, “Why have you dealt ill with your servant? And why have I not found favor in your sight, that you lay the burden of all this people on me? <sup>12</sup>Did I conceive all this people? Did I give them birth, that you should say to me, ‘Carry them in your bosom, as a nurse carries a nursing child,’ to the land that you swore to give their fathers? <sup>13</sup>‡ Where am I to get meat to give to all this people? For they weep before me and say, ‘Give us meat, that we may eat.’ <sup>14</sup>I am not able to carry all this people alone; the burden is too heavy for me. <sup>15</sup>If you will treat me like this, kill me at once, if I find favor in your sight, that I may not see my wretchedness.”

Elders Appointed to Aid Moses

<sup>16</sup>‡‡ Then the LORD said to Moses, “Gather for me seventy men of the elders of Israel, whom you know to be the elders of the people and officers over them, and bring them to the tent of meeting, and let them take their stand there with you.

<sup>17</sup>† And I will come down and talk with you there. And I will take some of the Spirit that is on you and put it on them, and they shall bear the burden of the people with you, so that you may not bear it yourself alone. <sup>18</sup> And say to the people, ‘Consecrate yourselves for tomorrow, and you shall eat meat, for you have wept in the hearing of the LORD, saying, “Who will give us meat to eat? For it was better for us in Egypt.” Therefore the LORD will give you meat, and you shall eat. <sup>19</sup> You shall not eat just one day, or two days, or five days, or ten days, or twenty days, <sup>20</sup> but a whole month, until it comes out at your nostrils and becomes loathsome to you, because you have rejected the LORD who is among you and have wept before him, saying, “Why did we come out of Egypt?”’” <sup>21</sup>† But Moses said, “The people among whom I am number six hundred thousand on foot, and you have said, ‘I will give them meat, that they may eat a whole month!’ <sup>22</sup> Shall flocks and herds be slaughtered for them, and be enough for them? Or shall all the fish of the sea be gathered together for them, and be enough for them?” <sup>23</sup>† And the LORD said to Moses, “Is the LORD's hand shortened? Now you shall see whether my word will come true for you or not.”

<sup>24</sup> So Moses went out and told the people the words of the LORD. And he gathered seventy men of the elders of the people and placed them around the tent. <sup>25</sup>† Then the LORD came down in the cloud and spoke to him, and took some of the Spirit that was on him and put it on the seventy elders. And as soon as the Spirit rested on them, they prophesied. But they did not continue doing it.

<sup>26</sup> Now two men remained in the camp, one named Eldad, and the other named Medad, and the Spirit rested on them. They were among those registered, but they had not gone out to the tent, and so they prophesied in the camp. <sup>27</sup> And a young man ran and told Moses, “Eldad and Medad are prophesying in the camp.” <sup>28</sup> And Joshua the son of Nun, the assistant of Moses from his youth, said, “My lord Moses, stop them.” <sup>29</sup>† But Moses said to him, “Are you jealous for my sake? Would that all the LORD's people were prophets, that the LORD would put his Spirit on them!” <sup>30</sup> And Moses and the elders of Israel returned to the camp.

Quail and a Plague

<sup>31</sup>† Then a wind from the LORD sprang up, and it brought quail from the sea and let them fall beside the camp, about a day's journey on this side and a day's journey on the other side, around the camp, and about two cubits [2] above the ground. <sup>32</sup>† And the people rose all that day and all night and all the next day, and gathered the quail. Those who gathered least gathered ten homers. [3] And they spread them out for themselves all around the camp. <sup>33</sup>While the meat was yet between their teeth, before it was consumed, the anger of the LORD was kindled against the people, and the LORD struck down the people with a very great plague. <sup>34</sup>Therefore the name of that place was called Kibroth-hattaavah, [\[4\]](#) because there they buried the people who had the craving. <sup>35</sup>From Kibroth-hattaavah the people journeyed to Hazeroth, and they remained at Hazeroth.

Miriam and Aaron Oppose Moses

NUMBERS 12 †† Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Cushite woman whom he had married, for he had married a Cushite woman. † And they said, “Has the LORD indeed spoken only through Moses? Has he not spoken through us also?” And the LORD heard it. † Now the man Moses was very meek, more than all people who were on the face of the earth. † And suddenly the LORD said to Moses and to Aaron and Miriam, “Come out, you three, to the tent of meeting.” And the three of them came out. † And the LORD came down in a pillar of cloud and stood at the entrance of the tent and called Aaron and Miriam, and they both came forward. † And he said, “Hear my words: If there is a prophet among you, I the LORD make myself known to him in a vision; I speak with him in a dream. † Not so with my servant Moses. He is faithful in all my house. † With him I speak mouth to mouth, clearly, and not in riddles, and he beholds the form of the LORD. Why then were you not afraid to speak against my servant Moses?” † And the anger of the LORD was kindled against them, and he departed.

† When the cloud removed from over the tent, behold, Miriam was leprous, [1] like snow. And Aaron turned toward Miriam, and behold, she was leprous. † And Aaron said to Moses, “Oh, my lord, do not punish us [2] because we have done foolishly and have sinned. † Let her not be as one dead, whose flesh is half eaten away when he comes out of his mother's womb.” † And Moses cried to the LORD, “O God, please heal her—please.” † But the LORD said to Moses, “If her father had but spit in her face, should she not be shamed seven days? Let her be shut outside the camp seven days, and after that she may be brought in again.” † So Miriam was shut outside the camp seven days, and the people did not set out on the march till Miriam was brought in again. † After that the people set out from Hazeroth, and camped in the wilderness of Paran.

Spies Sent into Canaan

NUMBERS 13 ††The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, †“Send men to spy out the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the people of Israel. From each tribe of their fathers you shall send a man, every one a chief among them.” †So Moses sent them from the wilderness of Paran, according to the command of the LORD, all of them men who were heads of the people of Israel. †And these were their names: From the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the son of Zaccur; †from the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat the son of Hori; †from the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh; †from the tribe of Issachar, Igal the son of Joseph; †from the tribe of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Nun; †from the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the son of Raphu; †from the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel the son of Sodi; †from the tribe of Joseph (that is, from the tribe of Manasseh), Gaddi the son of Susi; †from the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the son of Gemalli; †from the tribe of Asher, Sethur the son of Michael; †from the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the son of Vophsi; †from the tribe of Gad, Geuel the son of Machi. †These were the names of the men whom Moses sent to spy out the land. And Moses called Hoshea the son of Nun Joshua.

†Moses sent them to spy out the land of Canaan and said to them, “Go up into the Negeb and go up into the hill country, †and see what the land is, and whether the people who dwell in it are strong or weak, whether they are few or many, †and whether the land that they dwell in is good or bad, and whether the cities that they dwell in are camps or strongholds, †and whether the land is rich or poor, and whether there are trees in it or not. Be of good courage and bring some of the fruit of the land.” Now the time was the season of the first ripe grapes.

†So they went up and spied out the land from the wilderness of Zin to Rehob, near Lebo-hamath. †They went up into the Negeb and came to Hebron. Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmi, the descendants of Anak, were there. (Hebron was built seven years before Zoan in Egypt.) †And they came to the Valley of Eshcol and cut down from there a branch with a single cluster of grapes, and they carried it on a pole between two of them; they also brought some pomegranates and figs. †That place was called the Valley of Eshcol, [1] because of the cluster that the people of Israel cut down from there.

Report of the Spies

†At the end of forty days they returned from spying out the land. †And they came to Moses and Aaron and to all the congregation of the people of Israel in the wilderness of Paran, at Kadesh. They brought back word to them and to all the congregation, and showed them the fruit of the land. <sup>27</sup>And they told him, “We came to the land to which you sent us. It flows with milk and honey, and this is its fruit. <sup>28</sup>‡However, the people who dwell in the land are strong, and the cities are fortified and very large. And besides, we saw the descendants of Anak there. <sup>29</sup>The Amalekites dwell in the land of the Negeb. The Hittites, the Jebusites, and the Amorites dwell in the hill country. And the Canaanites dwell by the sea, and along the Jordan.”

<sup>30</sup>‡But Caleb quieted the people before Moses and said, “Let us go up at once and occupy it, for we are well able to overcome it.” <sup>31</sup>Then the men who had gone up with him said, “We are not able to go up against the people, for they are stronger than we are.” <sup>32</sup>‡So they brought to the people of Israel a bad report of the land that they had spied out, saying, “The land, through which we have gone to spy it out, is a land that devours its inhabitants, and all the people that we saw in it are of great height. <sup>33</sup>‡And there we saw the Nephilim (the sons of Anak, who come from the Nephilim), and we seemed to ourselves like grasshoppers, and so we seemed to them.”

The People Rebel

NUMBERS 14 † Then all the congregation raised a loud cry, and the people wept that night. † And all the people of Israel grumbled against Moses and Aaron. The whole congregation said to them, “Would that we had died in the land of Egypt! Or would that we had died in this wilderness! † Why is the LORD bringing us into this land, to fall by the sword? Our wives and our little ones will become a prey. Would it not be better for us to go back to Egypt?” † And they said to one another, “Let us choose a leader and go back to Egypt.”

† Then Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the assembly of the congregation of the people of Israel. † And Joshua the son of Nun and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, who were among those who had spied out the land, tore their clothes † and said to all the congregation of the people of Israel, “The land, which we passed through to spy it out, is an exceedingly good land. † If the LORD delights in us, he will bring us into this land and give it to us, a land that flows with milk and honey. † Only do not rebel against the LORD. And do not fear the people of the land, for they are bread for us. Their protection is removed from them, and the LORD is with us; do not fear them.” † Then all the congregation said to stone them with stones. But the glory of the LORD appeared at the tent of meeting to all the people of Israel.

† And the LORD said to Moses, “How long will this people despise me? And how long will they not believe in me, in spite of all the signs that I have done among them? † I will strike them with the pestilence and disinherit them, and I will make of you a nation greater and mightier than they.”

Moses Intercedes for the People

† But Moses said to the LORD, “Then the Egyptians will hear of it, for you brought up this people in your might from among them, † and they will tell the inhabitants of this land. They have heard that you, O LORD, are in the midst of this people. For you, O LORD, are seen face to face, and your cloud stands over them and you go before them, in a pillar of cloud by day and in a pillar of fire by night. † Now if you kill this people as one man, then the nations who have heard your fame will say, † ‘It is because the LORD was not able to bring this people into the land that he swore to give to them that he has killed them in the wilderness.’ † And now, please let the power of the Lord be great as you have promised, saying, <sup>18</sup>‘The LORD is slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love, forgiving iniquity and transgression, but he will by no means clear the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children, to the third and the fourth generation.’ <sup>19</sup>Please pardon the iniquity of this people, according to the greatness of your steadfast love, just as you have forgiven this people, from Egypt until now.”

God Promises Judgment

<sup>20</sup>Then the LORD said, “I have pardoned, according to your word. <sup>21</sup>But truly, as I live, and as all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the LORD, <sup>22</sup>‡none of the men who have seen my glory and my signs that I did in Egypt and in the wilderness, and yet have put me to the test these ten times and have not obeyed my voice, <sup>23</sup>shall see the land that I swore to give to their fathers. And none of those who despised me shall see it. <sup>24</sup>‡But my servant Caleb, because he has a different spirit and has followed me fully, I will bring into the land into which he went, and his descendants shall possess it. <sup>25</sup>‡Now, since the Amalekites and the Canaanites dwell in the valleys, turn tomorrow and set out for the wilderness by the way to the Red Sea.”

<sup>26</sup>‡And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, <sup>27</sup>“How long shall this wicked congregation grumble against me? I have heard the grumbings of the people of Israel, which they grumble against me. <sup>28</sup>Say to them, ‘As I live, declares the LORD, what you have said in my hearing I will do to you: <sup>29</sup>your dead bodies shall fall in this wilderness, and of all your number, listed in the census from twenty years old and upward, who have grumbled against me, <sup>30</sup>not one shall come into the land where I swore that I would make you dwell, except Caleb the son of Jephunneh and Joshua the son of Nun. <sup>31</sup>But your little ones, who you said would become a prey, I will bring in, and they shall know the land that you have rejected. <sup>32</sup>But as for you, your dead bodies shall fall in this wilderness. <sup>33</sup>And your children shall be shepherds in the wilderness forty years and shall suffer for your faithlessness, until the last of your dead bodies lies in the wilderness. <sup>34</sup>According to the number of the days in which you spied out the land, forty days, a year for each day, you shall bear your iniquity forty years, and you shall know my displeasure.’ <sup>35</sup>I, the LORD, have spoken. Surely this will I do to all this wicked congregation who are gathered together against me: in this wilderness they shall come to a full end, and there they shall die.”

<sup>36</sup>And the men whom Moses sent to spy out the land, who returned and made all the congregation grumble against him by bringing up a bad report about the land — <sup>37</sup>†the men who brought up a bad report of the land—died by plague before the LORD. <sup>38</sup>Of those men who went to spy out the land, only Joshua the son of Nun and Caleb the son of Jephunneh remained alive.

Israel Defeated in Battle

<sup>39</sup>When Moses told these words to all the people of Israel, the people mourned greatly. <sup>40</sup>And they rose early in the morning and went up to the heights of the hill country, saying, “Here we are. We will go up to the place that the LORD has promised, for we have sinned.” <sup>41</sup>But Moses said, “Why now are you transgressing the command of the LORD, when that will not succeed? <sup>42</sup>Do not go up, for the Lord is not among you, lest you be struck down before your enemies. <sup>43</sup>For there the Amalekites and the Canaanites are facing you, and you shall fall by the sword. Because you have turned back from following the LORD, the LORD will not be with you.” <sup>44</sup>†But they presumed to go up to the heights of the hill country, although neither the ark of the covenant of the LORD nor Moses departed out of the camp. <sup>45</sup>Then the Amalekites and the Canaanites who lived in that hill country came down and defeated them and pursued them, even to Hormah.

Laws About Sacrifices

NUMBERS 15 ¶¶ The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When you come into the land you are to inhabit, which I am giving you, <sup>3</sup>and you offer to the LORD from the herd or from the flock a food offering [1] or a burnt offering or a sacrifice, to fulfill a vow or as a freewill offering or at your appointed feasts, to make a pleasing aroma to the LORD, <sup>4</sup>¶ then he who brings his offering shall offer to the LORD a grain offering of a tenth of an ephah [2] of fine flour, mixed with a quarter of a hin [3] of oil; <sup>5</sup>and you shall offer with the burnt offering, or for the sacrifice, a quarter of a hin of wine for the drink offering for each lamb. <sup>6</sup>Or for a ram, you shall offer for a grain offering two tenths of an ephah of fine flour mixed with a third of a hin of oil. <sup>7</sup>And for the drink offering you shall offer a third of a hin of wine, a pleasing aroma to the LORD. <sup>8</sup>And when you offer a bull as a burnt offering or sacrifice, to fulfill a vow or for peace offerings to the LORD, <sup>9</sup>then one shall offer with the bull a grain offering of three tenths of an ephah of fine flour, mixed with half a hin of oil. <sup>10</sup>And you shall offer for the drink offering half a hin of wine, as a food offering, a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

<sup>11</sup>“Thus it shall be done for each bull or ram, or for each lamb or young goat. <sup>12</sup>As many as you offer, so shall you do with each one, as many as there are. <sup>13</sup>Every native Israelite shall do these things in this way, in offering a food offering, with a pleasing aroma to the LORD. <sup>14</sup>And if a stranger is sojourning with you, or anyone is living permanently among you, and he wishes to offer a food offering, with a pleasing aroma to the LORD, he shall do as you do. <sup>15</sup>For the assembly, there shall be one statute for you and for the stranger who sojourns with you, a statute forever throughout your generations. You and the sojourner shall be alike before the LORD. <sup>16</sup>One law and one rule shall be for you and for the stranger who sojourns with you.”

<sup>17</sup>¶ The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>18</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When you come into the land to which I bring you <sup>19</sup>and when you eat of the bread of the land, you shall present a contribution to the LORD. <sup>20</sup>Of the first of your dough you shall present a loaf as a contribution; like a contribution from the threshing floor, so shall you present it. <sup>21</sup>Some of the first of your dough you shall give to the LORD as a contribution throughout your generations.

Laws About Unintentional Sins

<sup>22</sup>‡“But if you sin unintentionally, [4] and do not observe all these commandments that the LORD has spoken to Moses, <sup>23</sup>all that the LORD has commanded you by Moses, from the day that the LORD gave commandment, and onward throughout your generations, <sup>24</sup>then if it was done unintentionally without the knowledge of the congregation, all the congregation shall offer one bull from the herd for a burnt offering, a pleasing aroma to the LORD, with its grain offering and its drink offering, according to the rule, and one male goat for a sin offering. <sup>25</sup>And the priest shall make atonement for all the congregation of the people of Israel, and they shall be forgiven, because it was a mistake, and they have brought their offering, a food offering to the LORD, and their sin offering before the LORD for their mistake. <sup>26</sup>And all the congregation of the people of Israel shall be forgiven, and the stranger who sojourns among them, because the whole population was involved in the mistake.

<sup>27</sup>“If one person sins unintentionally, he shall offer a female goat a year old for a sin offering. <sup>28</sup>And the priest shall make atonement before the LORD for the person who makes a mistake, when he sins unintentionally, to make atonement for him, and he shall be forgiven. <sup>29</sup>You shall have one law for him who does anything unintentionally, for him who is native among the people of Israel and for the stranger who sojourns among them. <sup>30</sup>‡But the person who does anything with a high hand, whether he is native or a sojourner, reviles the LORD, and that person shall be cut off from among his people. <sup>31</sup>Because he has despised the word of the LORD and has broken his commandment, that person shall be utterly cut off; his iniquity shall be on him.”

A Sabbathbreaker Executed

<sup>32</sup>‡While the people of Israel were in the wilderness, they found a man gathering sticks on the Sabbath day. <sup>33</sup>And those who found him gathering sticks brought him to Moses and Aaron and to all the congregation. <sup>34</sup>They put him in custody, because it had not been made clear what should be done to him. <sup>35</sup>And the LORD said to Moses, “The man shall be put to death; all the congregation shall stone him with stones outside the camp.” <sup>36</sup>And all the congregation brought him outside the camp and stoned him to death with stones, as the LORD commanded Moses.

Tassels on Garments

<sup>37</sup>‡The LORD said to Moses, <sup>38</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel, and tell them to make tassels on the corners of their garments throughout their generations, and to put a cord of blue on the tassel of each corner. <sup>39</sup>And it shall be a tassel for you to look at and remember all the commandments of the LORD, to do them, not to follow [5] after your own heart and your own eyes, which you are inclined to whore after. <sup>40</sup>So you shall remember and do all my commandments, and be holy to your God. <sup>41</sup>†I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God: I am the LORD your God.”

Korah's Rebellion

NUMBERS 16 †† Now Korah the son of Izhar, son of Kohath, son of Levi, and Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, and On the son of Peleth, sons of Reuben, took men. <sup>2</sup>And they rose up before Moses, with a number of the people of Israel, 250 chiefs of the congregation, chosen from the assembly, well-known men. <sup>3</sup>They assembled themselves together against Moses and against Aaron and said to them, “You have gone too far! For all in the congregation are holy, every one of them, and the LORD is among them. Why then do you exalt yourselves above the assembly of the LORD?” <sup>4</sup>When Moses heard it, he fell on his face, <sup>5</sup>and he said to Korah and all his company, “In the morning the LORD will show who is his, [1] and who is holy, and will bring him near to him. The one whom he chooses he will bring near to him. <sup>6</sup>Do this: take censers, Korah and all his company; <sup>7</sup>put fire in them and put incense on them before the LORD tomorrow, and the man whom the LORD chooses shall be the holy one. You have gone too far, sons of Levi!” <sup>8</sup>† And Moses said to Korah, “Hear now, you sons of Levi: <sup>9</sup>is it too small a thing for you that the God of Israel has separated you from the congregation of Israel, to bring you near to himself, to do service in the tabernacle of the LORD and to stand before the congregation to minister to them, <sup>10</sup>and that he has brought you near him, and all your brothers the sons of Levi with you? And would you seek the priesthood also? <sup>11</sup>Therefore it is against the LORD that you and all your company have gathered together. What is Aaron that you grumble against him?”

<sup>12</sup>† And Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, and they said, “We will not come up. <sup>13</sup>Is it a small thing that you have brought us up out of a land flowing with milk and honey, to kill us in the wilderness, that you must also make yourself a prince over us? <sup>14</sup>Moreover, you have not brought us into a land flowing with milk and honey, nor given us inheritance of fields and vineyards. Will you put out the eyes of these men? We will not come up.” <sup>15</sup>† And Moses was very angry and said to the LORD, “Do not respect their offering. I have not taken one donkey from them, and I have not harmed one of them.”

<sup>16</sup>† And Moses said to Korah, “Be present, you and all your company, before the LORD, you and they, and Aaron, tomorrow. <sup>17</sup>And let every one of you take his censer and put incense on it, and every one of you bring before the LORD his censer, 250 censers; you also, and Aaron, each his censer.” <sup>18</sup>So every man took his censer and put fire in them and laid incense on them and stood at the entrance of the tent of meeting with Moses and Aaron. <sup>19</sup>Then Korah assembled all the congregation against them at the entrance of the tent of meeting. And the glory of the LORD appeared to all the congregation.

<sup>20</sup>And the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, <sup>21</sup>†“Separate yourselves from among this congregation, that I may consume them in a moment.” <sup>22</sup>†And they fell on their faces and said, “O God, the God of the spirits of all flesh, shall one man sin, and will you be angry with all the congregation?” <sup>23</sup>And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>24</sup>“Say to the congregation, Get away from the dwelling of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.”

<sup>25</sup>Then Moses rose and went to Dathan and Abiram, and the elders of Israel followed him. <sup>26</sup>And he spoke to the congregation, saying, “Depart, please, from the tents of these wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, lest you be swept away with all their sins.” <sup>27</sup>So they got away from the dwelling of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram. And Dathan and Abiram came out and stood at the door of their tents, together with their wives, their sons, and their little ones. <sup>28</sup>And Moses said, “Hereby you shall know that the LORD has sent me to do all these works, and that it has not been of my own accord. <sup>29</sup>If these men die as all men die, or if they are visited by the fate of all mankind, then the LORD has not sent me. <sup>30</sup>†But if the LORD creates something new, and the ground opens its mouth and swallows them up with all that belongs to them, and they go down alive into Sheol, then you shall know that these men have despised the LORD.”

<sup>31</sup>And as soon as he had finished speaking all these words, the ground under them split apart. <sup>32</sup>†And the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up, with their households and all the people who belonged to Korah and all their goods. <sup>33</sup>So they and all that belonged to them went down alive into Sheol, and the earth closed over them, and they perished from the midst of the assembly. <sup>34</sup>And all Israel who were around them fled at their cry, for they said, “Lest the earth swallow us up!” <sup>35</sup>And fire came out from the LORD and consumed the 250 men offering the incense.

<sup>36</sup>‡ [2] Then the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>37</sup>“Tell Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest to take up the censers out of the blaze. Then scatter the fire far and wide, for they have become holy. <sup>38</sup>As for the censers of these men who have sinned at the cost of their lives, let them be made into hammered plates as a covering for the altar, for they offered them before the LORD, and they became holy. Thus they shall be a sign to the people of Israel.” <sup>39</sup>So Eleazar the priest took the bronze censers, which those who were burned had offered, and they were hammered out as a covering for the altar, <sup>40</sup>to be a reminder to the people of Israel, so that no outsider, who is not of the descendants of Aaron, should draw near to burn incense before the LORD, lest he become like Korah and his company—as the LORD said to him through Moses.

<sup>41</sup>‡But on the next day all the congregation of the people of Israel grumbled against Moses and against Aaron, saying, “You have killed the people of the LORD.” <sup>42</sup>And when the congregation had assembled against Moses and against Aaron, they turned toward the tent of meeting. And behold, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the LORD appeared. <sup>43</sup>And Moses and Aaron came to the front of the tent of meeting, <sup>44</sup>and the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>45</sup>“Get away from the midst of this congregation, that I may consume them in a moment.” And they fell on their faces. <sup>46</sup>‡And Moses said to Aaron, “Take your censer, and put fire on it from off the altar and lay incense on it and carry it quickly to the congregation and make atonement for them, for wrath has gone out from the LORD; the plague has begun.” <sup>47</sup>So Aaron took it as Moses said and ran into the midst of the assembly. And behold, the plague had already begun among the people. And he put on the incense and made atonement for the people. <sup>48</sup>And he stood between the dead and the living, and the plague was stopped. <sup>49</sup>‡Now those who died in the plague were 14,700, besides those who died in the affair of Korah. <sup>50</sup>And Aaron returned to Moses at the entrance of the tent of meeting, when the plague was stopped.

Aaron's Staff Buds

NUMBERS 17 [1] The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>†“Speak to the people of Israel, and get from them staffs, one for each fathers' house, from all their chiefs according to their fathers' houses, twelve staffs. Write each man's name on his staff, <sup>3</sup>and write Aaron's name on the staff of Levi. For there shall be one staff for the head of each fathers' house. <sup>4</sup>†Then you shall deposit them in the tent of meeting before the testimony, where I meet with you. <sup>5</sup>And the staff of the man whom I choose shall sprout. Thus I will make to cease from me the grumblings of the people of Israel, which they grumble against you.” <sup>6</sup>Moses spoke to the people of Israel. And all their chiefs gave him staffs, one for each chief, according to their fathers' houses, twelve staffs. And the staff of Aaron was among their staffs. <sup>7</sup>And Moses deposited the staffs before the LORD in the tent of the testimony.

<sup>8</sup>†On the next day Moses went into the tent of the testimony, and behold, the staff of Aaron for the house of Levi had sprouted and put forth buds and produced blossoms, and it bore ripe almonds. <sup>9</sup>Then Moses brought out all the staffs from before the LORD to all the people of Israel. And they looked, and each man took his staff. <sup>10</sup>†And the LORD said to Moses, “Put back the staff of Aaron before the testimony, to be kept as a sign for the rebels, that you may make an end of their grumblings against me, lest they die.” <sup>11</sup>Thus did Moses; as the LORD commanded him, so he did.

<sup>12</sup>†And the people of Israel said to Moses, “Behold, we perish, we are undone, we are all undone. <sup>13</sup>†Everyone who comes near, who comes near to the tabernacle of the LORD, shall die. Are we all to perish?”

Duties of Priests and Levites

NUMBERS 18 †† So the LORD said to Aaron, “You and your sons and your father's house with you shall bear iniquity connected with the sanctuary, and you and your sons with you shall bear iniquity connected with your priesthood. <sup>2</sup>And with you bring your brothers also, the tribe of Levi, the tribe of your father, that they may join you and minister to you while you and your sons with you are before the tent of the testimony. <sup>3</sup>They shall keep guard over you and over the whole tent, but shall not come near to the vessels of the sanctuary or to the altar lest they, and you, die. <sup>4</sup>They shall join you and keep guard over the tent of meeting for all the service of the tent, and no outsider shall come near you. <sup>5</sup>And you shall keep guard over the sanctuary and over the altar, that there may never again be wrath on the people of Israel. <sup>6</sup>And behold, I have taken your brothers the Levites from among the people of Israel. They are a gift to you, given to the LORD, to do the service of the tent of meeting. <sup>7</sup>† And you and your sons with you shall guard your priesthood for all that concerns the altar and that is within the veil; and you shall serve. I give your priesthood as a gift, [1] and any outsider who comes near shall be put to death.”

<sup>8</sup>† Then the LORD spoke to Aaron, “Behold, I have given you charge of the contributions made to me, all the consecrated things of the people of Israel. I have given them to you as a portion and to your sons as a perpetual due. <sup>9</sup>This shall be yours of the most holy things, reserved from the fire: every offering of theirs, every grain offering of theirs and every sin offering of theirs and every guilt offering of theirs, which they render to me, shall be most holy to you and to your sons. <sup>10</sup>In a most holy place shall you eat it. Every male may eat it; it is holy to you. <sup>11</sup>This also is yours: the contribution of their gift, all the wave offerings of the people of Israel. I have given them to you, and to your sons and daughters with you, as a perpetual due. Everyone who is clean in your house may eat it. <sup>12</sup>All the best of the oil and all the best of the wine and of the grain, the firstfruits of what they give to the LORD, I give to you. <sup>13</sup>The first ripe fruits of all that is in their land, which they bring to the LORD, shall be yours. Everyone who is clean in your house may eat it. <sup>14</sup>Every devoted thing in Israel shall be yours. <sup>15</sup>Everything that opens the womb of all flesh, whether man or beast, which they offer to the LORD, shall be yours. Nevertheless, the firstborn of man you shall redeem, and the firstborn of unclean animals you shall redeem. <sup>16</sup>And their redemption price (at a month old you shall redeem them) you shall fix at five shekels [2] in silver, according to the shekel of the sanctuary, which is twenty gerahs. <sup>17</sup>But the firstborn of a cow, or the firstborn of a sheep, or the firstborn of a goat, you shall not redeem; they are holy. You shall sprinkle their blood on the altar and shall burn their fat as a food offering, with a pleasing aroma to the LORD. <sup>18</sup>But their flesh shall be yours, as the breast that is waved and as the right thigh are yours. <sup>19</sup>†All the holy contributions that the people of Israel present to the LORD I give to you, and to your sons and daughters with you, as a perpetual due. It is a covenant of salt forever before the LORD for you and for your offspring with you.” <sup>20</sup>And the LORD said to Aaron, “You shall have no inheritance in their land, neither shall you have any portion among them. I am your portion and your inheritance among the people of Israel.

<sup>21</sup>†“To the Levites I have given every tithe in Israel for an inheritance, in return for their service that they do, their service in the tent of meeting, <sup>22</sup>so that the people of Israel do not come near the tent of meeting, lest they bear sin and die. <sup>23</sup>But the Levites shall do the service of the tent of meeting, and they shall bear their iniquity. It shall be a perpetual statute throughout your generations, and among the people of Israel they shall have no inheritance. <sup>24</sup>For the tithe of the people of Israel, which they present as a contribution to the LORD, I have given to the Levites for an inheritance. Therefore I have said of them that they shall have no inheritance among the people of Israel.”

<sup>25</sup>†And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>26</sup>“Moreover, you shall speak and say to the Levites, ‘When you take from the people of Israel the tithe that I have given you from them for your inheritance, then you shall present a contribution from it to the LORD, a tithe of the tithe. <sup>27</sup>And your contribution shall be counted to you as though it were the grain of the threshing floor, and as the fullness of the winepress. <sup>28</sup>So you shall also present a contribution to the LORD from all your tithes, which you receive from the people of Israel. And from it you shall give the LORD's contribution to Aaron the priest. <sup>29</sup>Out of all the gifts to you, you shall present every contribution due to the LORD; from each its best part is to be dedicated.’ <sup>30</sup>Therefore you shall say to them, ‘When you have offered from it the best of it, then the rest shall be counted to the Levites as produce of the threshing floor, and as produce of the winepress. <sup>31</sup>And you may eat it in any place, you and your households, for it is your reward in return for your service in the tent of meeting. <sup>32</sup>And you shall bear no sin by reason of it, when you have contributed the best of it. But you shall not profane the holy things of the people of Israel, lest you die.’”

Laws for Purification

NUMBERS 19 ¶¶ Now the LORD spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, ¶<sup>2</sup>“This is the statute of the law that the LORD has commanded: Tell the people of Israel to bring you a red heifer without defect, in which there is no blemish, and on which a yoke has never come. ¶<sup>3</sup>And you shall give it to Eleazar the priest, and it shall be taken outside the camp and slaughtered before him. ¶<sup>4</sup>And Eleazar the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger, and sprinkle some of its blood toward the front of the tent of meeting seven times. ¶<sup>5</sup>And the heifer shall be burned in his sight. Its skin, its flesh, and its blood, with its dung, shall be burned. ¶<sup>6</sup>And the priest shall take cedarwood and hyssop and scarlet yarn, and throw them into the fire burning the heifer. ¶<sup>7</sup>Then the priest shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and afterward he may come into the camp. But the priest shall be unclean until evening. ¶<sup>8</sup>The one who burns the heifer shall wash his clothes in water and bathe his body in water and shall be unclean until evening. ¶<sup>9</sup>And a man who is clean shall gather up the ashes of the heifer and deposit them outside the camp in a clean place. And they shall be kept for the water for impurity for the congregation of the people of Israel; it is a sin offering. ¶<sup>10</sup>And the one who gathers the ashes of the heifer shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening. And this shall be a perpetual statute for the people of Israel, and for the stranger who sojourns among them.

¶<sup>11</sup>“Whoever touches the dead body of any person shall be unclean seven days. ¶<sup>12</sup>He shall cleanse himself with the water on the third day and on the seventh day, and so be clean. But if he does not cleanse himself on the third day and on the seventh day, he will not become clean. ¶<sup>13</sup>Whoever touches a dead person, the body of anyone who has died, and does not cleanse himself, defiles the tabernacle of the LORD, and that person shall be cut off from Israel; because the water for impurity was not thrown on him, he shall be unclean. His uncleanness is still on him.

¶<sup>14</sup>“This is the law when someone dies in a tent: everyone who comes into the tent and everyone who is in the tent shall be unclean seven days. ¶<sup>15</sup>And every open vessel that has no cover fastened on it is unclean. ¶<sup>16</sup>Whoever in the open field touches someone who was killed with a sword or who died naturally, or touches a human bone or a grave, shall be unclean seven days. ¶<sup>17</sup>For the unclean they shall take some ashes of the burnt sin offering, and fresh [1] water shall be added in a vessel. ¶<sup>18</sup>¶ Then a clean person shall take hyssop and dip it in the water and sprinkle it on the tent and on all the furnishings and on the persons who were there and on whoever touched the bone, or the slain or the dead or the grave.

<sup>19</sup>And the clean person shall sprinkle it on the unclean on the third day and on the seventh day. Thus on the seventh day he shall cleanse him, and he shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water, and at evening he shall be clean.

<sup>20</sup>“If the man who is unclean does not cleanse himself, that person shall be cut off from the midst of the assembly, since he has defiled the sanctuary of the LORD. Because the water for impurity has not been thrown on him, he is unclean.
<sup>21</sup>And it shall be a statute forever for them. The one who sprinkles the water for impurity shall wash his clothes, and the one who touches the water for impurity shall be unclean until evening. <sup>22</sup>And whatever the unclean person touches shall be unclean, and anyone who touches it shall be unclean until evening.”

The Death of Miriam

NUMBERS 20 <sup>1</sup>And the people of Israel, the whole congregation, came into the wilderness of Zin in the first month, and the people stayed in Kadesh. And Miriam died there and was buried there.

The Waters of Meribah

<sup>2</sup>Now there was no water for the congregation. And they assembled themselves together against Moses and against Aaron. <sup>3</sup>And the people quarreled with Moses and said, “Would that we had perished when our brothers perished before the LORD! <sup>4</sup>Why have you brought the assembly of the LORD into this wilderness, that we should die here, both we and our cattle? <sup>5</sup>And why have you made us come up out of Egypt to bring us to this evil place? It is no place for grain or figs or vines or pomegranates, and there is no water to drink.” <sup>6</sup>Then Moses and Aaron went from the presence of the assembly to the entrance of the tent of meeting and fell on their faces. And the glory of the LORD appeared to them, <sup>7</sup>and the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>8</sup>“Take the staff, and assemble the congregation, you and Aaron your brother, and tell the rock before their eyes to yield its water. So you shall bring water out of the rock for them and give drink to the congregation and their cattle.” <sup>9</sup>And Moses took the staff from before the LORD, as he commanded him.

Moses Strikes the Rock

<sup>10</sup>Then Moses and Aaron gathered the assembly together before the rock, and he said to them, “Hear now, you rebels: shall we bring water for you out of this rock?” <sup>11</sup>And Moses lifted up his hand and struck the rock with his staff twice, and water came out abundantly, and the congregation drank, and their livestock. <sup>12</sup>And the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, “Because you did not believe in me, to uphold me as holy in the eyes of the people of Israel, therefore you shall not bring this assembly into the land that I have given them.” <sup>13</sup>These are the waters of Meribah, [\[1\]](#) where the people of Israel quarreled with the LORD, and through them he showed himself holy.

Edom Refuses Passage

brother Israel: You know all the hardship that we have met: <sup>15</sup>how our fathers went down to Egypt, and we lived in Egypt a long time. And the Egyptians dealt harshly with us and our fathers. <sup>16</sup>And when we cried to the LORD, he heard our voice and sent an angel and brought us out of Egypt. And here we are in Kadesh, a city on the edge of your territory. <sup>17</sup>†Please let us pass through your land. We will not pass through field or vineyard, or drink water from a well. We will go along the King's Highway. We will not turn aside to the right hand or to the left until we have passed through your territory.” <sup>18</sup>But Edom said to him, “You shall not pass through, lest I come out with the sword against you.” <sup>19</sup>And the people of Israel said to him, “We will go up by the highway, and if we drink of your water, I and my livestock, then I will pay for it. Let me only pass through on foot, nothing more.” <sup>20</sup>†But he said, “You shall not pass through.” And Edom came out against them with a large army and with a strong force. <sup>21</sup>Thus Edom refused to give Israel passage through his territory, so Israel turned away from him.

The Death of Aaron

<sup>22</sup>††And they journeyed from Kadesh, and the people of Israel, the whole congregation, came to Mount Hor. <sup>23</sup>And the LORD said to Moses and Aaron at Mount Hor, on the border of the land of Edom, <sup>24</sup>†“Let Aaron be gathered to his people, for he shall not enter the land that I have given to the people of Israel, because you rebelled against my command at the waters of Meribah. <sup>25</sup>Take Aaron and Eleazar his son and bring them up to Mount Hor. <sup>26</sup>And strip Aaron of his garments and put them on Eleazar his son. And Aaron shall be gathered to his people and shall die there.” <sup>27</sup>Moses did as the LORD commanded. And they went up Mount Hor in the sight of all the congregation. <sup>28</sup>And Moses stripped Aaron of his garments and put them on Eleazar his son. And Aaron died there on the top of the mountain. Then Moses and Eleazar came down from the mountain. <sup>29</sup>†And when all the congregation saw that Aaron had perished, all the house of Israel wept for Aaron thirty days.

Arad Destroyed

NUMBERS 21 †† When the Canaanite, the king of Arad, who lived in the Negeb, heard that Israel was coming by the way of Atharim, he fought against Israel, and took some of them captive. <sup>2</sup>And Israel vowed a vow to the LORD and said, “If you will indeed give this people into my hand, then I will devote their cities to destruction.” [1] <sup>3</sup>†† And the LORD heeded the voice of Israel and gave over the Canaanites, and they devoted them and their cities to destruction. So the name of the place was called Hormah. [2]

The Bronze Serpent

<sup>4</sup>†† From Mount Hor they set out by the way to the Red Sea, to go around the land of Edom. And the people became impatient on the way. <sup>5</sup>†† And the people spoke against God and against Moses, “Why have you brought us up out of Egypt to die in the wilderness? For there is no food and no water, and we loathe this worthless food.” <sup>6</sup>†† Then the LORD sent fiery serpents among the people, and they bit the people, so that many people of Israel died. <sup>7</sup>†† And the people came to Moses and said, “We have sinned, for we have spoken against the LORD and against you. Pray to the LORD, that he take away the serpents from us.” So Moses prayed for the people. <sup>8</sup>And the LORD said to Moses, “Make a fiery serpent and set it on a pole, and everyone who is bitten, when he sees it, shall live.” <sup>9</sup>†† So Moses made a bronze [3] serpent and set it on a pole. And if a serpent bit anyone, he would look at the bronze serpent and live.

The Song of the Well

<sup>10</sup>†† And the people of Israel set out and camped in Oboth. <sup>11</sup>And they set out from Oboth and camped at Iye-abarim, in the wilderness that is opposite Moab, toward the sunrise. <sup>12</sup>From there they set out and camped in the Valley of Zered. <sup>13</sup>From there they set out and camped on the other side of the Arnon, which is in the wilderness that extends from the border of the Amorites, for the Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites. <sup>14</sup>†† Therefore it is said in the Book of the Wars of the LORD, “Waheb in Suphah, and the valleys of the Arnon, <sup>15</sup>and the slope of the valleys that extends to the seat of Ar, and leans to the border of Moab.”

<sup>16</sup>†† And from there they continued to Beer; [4] that is the well of which the LORD said to Moses, “Gather the people together, so that I may give them water.”

<sup>17</sup>Then Israel sang this song: “Spring up, O well!—Sing to it!—<sup>18</sup>the well that the princes made, that the nobles of the people dug, with the scepter and with their staffs.”

And from the wilderness they went on to Mattanah,<sup>19</sup> and from Mattanah to Nahaliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth,<sup>20</sup> and from Bamoth to the valley lying in the region of Moab by the top of Pisgah that looks down on the desert. [5]

King Sihon Defeated

<sup>21</sup>Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, saying,<sup>22</sup> “Let me pass through your land. We will not turn aside into field or vineyard. We will not drink the water of a well. We will go by the King's Highway until we have passed through your territory.”<sup>23</sup> But Sihon would not allow Israel to pass through his territory. He gathered all his people together and went out against Israel to the wilderness and came to Jahaz and fought against Israel.<sup>24</sup> And Israel defeated him with the edge of the sword and took possession of his land from the Arnon to the Jabbok, as far as to the Ammonites, for the border of the Ammonites was strong.<sup>25</sup> And Israel took all these cities, and Israel settled in all the cities of the Amorites, in Heshbon, and in all its villages.<sup>26</sup> For Heshbon was the city of Sihon the king of the Amorites, who had fought against the former king of Moab and taken all his land out of his hand, as far as the Arnon.
<sup>27</sup>Therefore the ballad singers say, “Come to Heshbon, let it be built; let the city of Sihon be established.

It devoured Ar of Moab, and swallowed [6] the heights of the Arnon.

<sup>29</sup>Woe to you, O Moab!

You are undone, O people of Chemosh!
He has made his sons fugitives, and his daughters captives, to an Amorite king, Sihon.

<sup>30</sup>So we overthrew them; Heshbon, as far as Dibon, perished; and we laid waste as far as Nophah; fire spread as far as Medeba.” [7]

King Og Defeated

<sup>31</sup>Thus Israel lived in the land of the Amorites.<sup>32</sup> And Moses sent to spy out Jazer, and they captured its villages and dispossessed the Amorites who were there. <sup>33</sup>Then they turned and went up by the way to Bashan. And Og the king of Bashan came out against them, he and all his people, to battle at Edrei. <sup>34</sup>But the LORD said to Moses, “Do not fear him, for I have given him into your hand, and all his people, and his land. And you shall do to him as you did to Sihon king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon.” <sup>35</sup>So they defeated him and his sons and all his people, until he had no survivor left. And they possessed his land.

Balak Summons Balaam

NUMBERS 22 †Then the people of Israel set out and camped in the plains of Moab beyond the Jordan at Jericho. <sup>2</sup>†And Balak the son of Zippor saw all that Israel had done to the Amorites. <sup>3</sup>†And Moab was in great dread of the people, because they were many. Moab was overcome with fear of the people of Israel. <sup>4</sup>†And Moab said to the elders of Midian, “This horde will now lick up all that is around us, as the ox licks up the grass of the field.” So Balak the son of Zippor, who was king of Moab at that time, <sup>5</sup>†sent messengers to Balaam the son of Beor at Pethor, which is near the River in the land of the people of Amaw, [1] to call him, saying, “Behold, a people has come out of Egypt. They cover the face of the earth, and they are dwelling opposite me. <sup>6</sup>†Come now, curse this people for me, since they are too mighty for me. Perhaps I shall be able to defeat them and drive them from the land, for I know that he whom you bless is blessed, and he whom you curse is cursed.”

<sup>7</sup>So the elders of Moab and the elders of Midian departed with the fees for divination in their hand. And they came to Balaam and gave him Balak's message. <sup>8</sup>†And he said to them, “Lodge here tonight, and I will bring back word to you, as the LORD speaks to me.” So the princes of Moab stayed with Balaam. <sup>9</sup>†And God came to Balaam and said, “Who are these men with you?” <sup>10</sup>And Balaam said to God, “Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, has sent to me, saying, <sup>11</sup>‘Behold, a people has come out of Egypt, and it covers the face of the earth. Now come, curse them for me. Perhaps I shall be able to fight against them and drive them out.’” <sup>12</sup>†God said to Balaam, “You shall not go with them. You shall not curse the people, for they are blessed.” <sup>13</sup>So Balaam rose in the morning and said to the princes of Balak, “Go to your own land, for the LORD has refused to let me go with you.” <sup>14</sup>So the princes of Moab rose and went to Balak and said, “Balaam refuses to come with us.”

<sup>15</sup>Once again Balak sent princes, more in number and more honorable than these. <sup>16</sup>And they came to Balaam and said to him, “Thus says Balak the son of Zippor: ‘Let nothing hinder you from coming to me, <sup>17</sup>for I will surely do you great honor, and whatever you say to me I will do. Come, curse this people for me.’” <sup>18</sup>But Balaam answered and said to the servants of Balak, “Though Balak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I could not go beyond the command of the LORD my God to do less or more. <sup>19</sup>So you, too, please stay here tonight, that I may know what more the LORD will say to me.” <sup>20</sup>†And God came to Balaam at night and said to him, “If the men have come to call you, rise, go with them; but only do what I tell you.” <sup>21</sup>So Balaam rose in the morning and saddled his donkey and went with the princes of Moab.

Balaam's Donkey and the Angel

<sup>22</sup>†But God's anger was kindled because he went, and the angel of the LORD took his stand in the way as his adversary. Now he was riding on the donkey, and his two servants were with him. <sup>23</sup>And the donkey saw the angel of the LORD standing in the road, with a drawn sword in his hand. And the donkey turned aside out of the road and went into the field. And Balaam struck the donkey, to turn her into the road. <sup>24</sup>Then the angel of the LORD stood in a narrow path between the vineyards, with a wall on either side. <sup>25</sup>And when the donkey saw the angel of the LORD, she pushed against the wall and pressed Balaam's foot against the wall. So he struck her again. <sup>26</sup>Then the angel of the LORD went ahead and stood in a narrow place, where there was no way to turn either to the right or to the left. <sup>27</sup>When the donkey saw the angel of the LORD, she lay down under Balaam. And Balaam's anger was kindled, and he struck the donkey with his staff. <sup>28</sup>†Then the LORD opened the mouth of the donkey, and she said to Balaam, “What have I done to you, that you have struck me these three times?” <sup>29</sup>And Balaam said to the donkey, “Because you have made a fool of me. I wish I had a sword in my hand, for then I would kill you.” <sup>30</sup>And the donkey said to Balaam, “Am I not your donkey, on which you have ridden all your life long to this day? Is it my habit to treat you this way?” And he said, “No.”

<sup>31</sup>†Then the LORD opened the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, with his drawn sword in his hand. And he bowed down and fell on his face. <sup>32</sup>And the angel of the LORD said to him, “Why have you struck your donkey these three times? Behold, I have come out to oppose you because your way is perverse [2] before me. <sup>33</sup>The donkey saw me and turned aside before me these three times. If she had not turned aside from me, surely just now I would have killed you and let her live.” <sup>34</sup>Then Balaam said to the angel of the LORD, “I have sinned, for I did not know that you stood in the road against me. Now therefore, if it is evil in your sight, I will turn back.” <sup>35</sup>And the angel of the LORD said to Balaam, “Go with the men, but speak only the word that I tell you.” So Balaam went on with the princes of Balak.

<sup>36</sup>When Balak heard that Balaam had come, he went out to meet him at the city of Moab, on the border formed by the Arnon, at the extremity of the border.

<sup>37</sup>And Balak said to Balaam, “Did I not send to you to call you? Why did you not come to me? Am I not able to honor you?” <sup>38</sup>Balaam said to Balak, “Behold, I have come to you! Have I now any power of my own to speak anything? The word that God puts in my mouth, that must I speak.” <sup>39</sup>Then Balaam went with Balak, and they came to Kiriath-huzoth. <sup>40</sup>And Balak sacrificed oxen and sheep, and sent for Balaam and for the princes who were with him.

<sup>41</sup>‡And in the morning Balak took Balaam and brought him up to Bamoth-baal, and from there he saw a fraction of the people.

Balaam's First Oracle

NUMBERS 23 And Balaam said to Balak, “Build for me here seven altars, and prepare for me here seven bulls and seven rams.” <sup>2</sup>Balak did as Balaam had said. And Balak and Balaam offered on each altar a bull and a ram. <sup>3</sup>And Balaam said to Balak, “Stand beside your burnt offering, and I will go. Perhaps the LORD will come to meet me, and whatever he shows me I will tell you.” And he went to a bare height, <sup>4</sup>and God met Balaam. And Balaam said to him, “I have arranged the seven altars and I have offered on each altar a bull and a ram.” <sup>5</sup>†And the LORD put a word in Balaam's mouth and said, “Return to Balak, and thus you shall speak.” <sup>6</sup>And he returned to him, and behold, he and all the princes of Moab were standing beside his burnt offering. <sup>7</sup>†And Balaam took up his discourse and said, “From Aram Balak has brought me, the king of Moab from the eastern mountains: ‘Come, curse Jacob for me, and come, denounce Israel!’

<sup>8</sup>How can I curse whom God has not cursed?

How can I denounce whom the LORD has not denounced?

<sup>9</sup>For from the top of the crags I see him, from the hills I behold him;
behold, a people dwelling alone, and not counting itself among the nations!

<sup>10</sup>†Who can count the dust of Jacob or number the fourth part [\[1\]](#) of Israel?

Let me die the death of the upright, and let my end be like his!”

<sup>11</sup>And Balak said to Balaam, “What have you done to me? I took you to curse my enemies, and behold, you have done nothing but bless them.” <sup>12</sup>And he answered and said, “Must I not take care to speak what the LORD puts in my mouth?”

Balaam's Second Oracle

<sup>13</sup>†And Balak said to him, “Please come with me to another place, from which you may see them. You shall see only a fraction of them and shall not see them all. Then curse them for me from there.” <sup>14</sup>And he took him to the field of Zophim, to the top of Pisgah, and built seven altars and offered a bull and a ram on each altar. <sup>15</sup>Balaam said to Balak, “Stand here beside your burnt offering, while I meet the LORD over there.” <sup>16</sup>And the LORD met Balaam and put a word in his mouth and said, “Return to Balak, and thus shall you speak.” <sup>17</sup>And he came to him, and behold, he was standing beside his burnt offering, and the princes of Moab with him. And Balak said to him, “What has the LORD spoken?” <sup>18</sup>And Balaam took up his discourse and said, “Rise, Balak, and hear;

give ear to me, O son of Zippor:

<sup>19</sup>† God is not man, that he should lie, or a son of man, that he should change his mind.

Has he said, and will he not do it?

Or has he spoken, and will he not fulfill it?

<sup>20</sup>Behold, I received a command to bless: he has blessed, and I cannot revoke it.

<sup>21</sup>He has not beheld misfortune in Jacob, nor has he seen trouble in Israel.
The LORD their God is with them, and the shout of a king is among them.

<sup>22</sup>God brings them out of Egypt and is for them like the horns of the wild ox.

<sup>23</sup>For there is no enchantment against Jacob, no divination against Israel;
now it shall be said of Jacob and Israel, ‘What has God wrought!’

<sup>24</sup>Behold, a people! As a lioness it rises up and as a lion it lifts itself; it does not lie down until it has devoured the prey and drunk the blood of the slain.”

<sup>25</sup>And Balak said to Balaam, “Do not curse them at all, and do not bless them at all.” <sup>26</sup>But Balaam answered Balak, “Did I not tell you, ‘All that the LORD says, that I must do’?” <sup>27</sup>† And Balak said to Balaam, “Come now, I will take you to another place. Perhaps it will please God that you may curse them for me from there.” <sup>28</sup>† So Balak took Balaam to the top of Peor, which overlooks the desert. [2] <sup>29</sup>And Balaam said to Balak, “Build for me here seven altars and prepare for me here seven bulls and seven rams.” <sup>30</sup>And Balak did as Balaam had said, and offered a bull and a ram on each altar.

Balaam's Third Oracle

NUMBERS 24 When Balaam saw that it pleased the LORD to bless Israel, he did not go, as at other times, to look for omens, but set his face toward the wilderness. <sup>2</sup>†And Balaam lifted up his eyes and saw Israel camping tribe by tribe. And the Spirit of God came upon him, <sup>3</sup>†and he took up his discourse and said, “The oracle of Balaam the son of Beor, the oracle of the man whose eye is opened, [\[1\]](#)

<sup>4</sup>the oracle of him who hears the words of God, who sees the vision of the Almighty, falling down with his eyes uncovered:

<sup>7</sup>†Water shall flow from his buckets, and his seed shall be in many waters; his king shall be higher than Agag, and his kingdom shall be exalted.

<sup>8</sup>†God brings him out of Egypt and is for him like the horns of the wild ox; he shall eat up the nations, his adversaries, and shall break their bones in pieces and pierce them through with his arrows.

<sup>9</sup>†He crouched, he lay down like a lion and like a lioness; who will rouse him up?

Blessed are those who bless you, and cursed are those who curse you.”

<sup>10</sup>And Balak's anger was kindled against Balaam, and he struck his hands together. And Balak said to Balaam, “I called you to curse my enemies, and behold, you have blessed them these three times. <sup>11</sup>Therefore now flee to your own place. I said, ‘I will certainly honor you,’ but the LORD has held you back from honor.” <sup>12</sup>And Balaam said to Balak, “Did I not tell your messengers whom you sent to me, <sup>13</sup>‘If Balak should give me his house full of silver and gold, I would not be able to go beyond the word of the LORD, to do either good or bad of my own will. What the LORD speaks, that will I speak’? <sup>14</sup>†And now, behold, I am going to my people. Come, I will let you know what this people will do to your people in the latter days.”

Balaam's Final Oracle

<sup>15</sup>‡And he took up his discourse and said, “The oracle of Balaam the son of Beor, the oracle of the man whose eye is opened, <sup>16</sup>the oracle of him who hears the words of God, and knows the knowledge of the Most High, who sees the vision of the Almighty, falling down with his eyes uncovered:

<sup>17</sup>I see him, but not now; I behold him, but not near:

a star shall come out of Jacob, and a scepter shall rise out of Israel;

it shall crush the forehead [3] of Moab and break down all the sons of Sheth.

<sup>18</sup>Edom shall be dispossessed; Seir also, his enemies, shall be dispossessed.

Israel is doing valiantly.

<sup>20</sup>‡Then he looked on Amalek and took up his discourse and said, “Amalek was the first among the nations, but its end is utter destruction.”

<sup>21</sup>And he looked on the Kenite, and took up his discourse and said, “Enduring is your dwelling place, and your nest is set in the rock.

<sup>23</sup>And he took up his discourse and said, “Alas, who shall live when God does this?

<sup>24</sup>But ships shall come from Kittim and shall afflict Asshur and Eber; and he too shall come to utter destruction.”

<sup>25</sup>Then Balaam rose and went back to his place. And Balak also went his way.

Baal Worship at Peor

NUMBERS 25 † While Israel lived in Shittim, the people began to whore with the daughters of Moab. <sup>2</sup>These invited the people to the sacrifices of their gods, and the people ate and bowed down to their gods. <sup>3</sup>† So Israel yoked himself to Baal of Peor. And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel. <sup>4</sup>And the LORD said to Moses, “Take all the chiefs of the people and hang [1] them in the sun before the LORD, that the fierce anger of the LORD may turn away from Israel.” <sup>5</sup>And Moses said to the judges of Israel, “Each of you kill those of his men who have yoked themselves to Baal of Peor.”

<sup>6</sup>† And behold, one of the people of Israel came and brought a Midianite woman to his family, in the sight of Moses and in the sight of the whole congregation of the people of Israel, while they were weeping in the entrance of the tent of meeting. <sup>7</sup>When Phinehas the son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, saw it, he rose and left the congregation and took a spear in his hand <sup>8</sup>and went after the man of Israel into the chamber and pierced both of them, the man of Israel and the woman through her belly. Thus the plague on the people of Israel was stopped. <sup>9</sup>† Nevertheless, those who died by the plague were twenty-four thousand.

The Zeal of Phinehas

<sup>10</sup>† And the LORD said to Moses, <sup>11</sup>“Phinehas the son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, has turned back my wrath from the people of Israel, in that he was jealous with my jealousy among them, so that I did not consume the people of Israel in my jealousy. <sup>12</sup>Therefore say, ‘Behold, I give to him my covenant of peace, <sup>13</sup>and it shall be to him and to his descendants after him the covenant of a perpetual priesthood, because he was jealous for his God and made atonement for the people of Israel.’”

<sup>14</sup>The name of the slain man of Israel, who was killed with the Midianite woman, was Zimri the son of Salu, chief of a father's house belonging to the Simeonites. <sup>15</sup>And the name of the Midianite woman who was killed was Cozbi the daughter of Zur, who was the tribal head of a father's house in Midian.

<sup>16</sup>And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>17</sup>† “Harass the Midianites and strike them down, <sup>18</sup>for they have harassed you with their wives, with which they beguiled you in the matter of Peor, and in the matter of Cozbi, the daughter of the chief of Midian, their sister, who was killed on the day of the plague on account of Peor.”

Census of the New Generation

NUMBERS 26 After the plague, the LORD said to Moses and to Eleazar the son of Aaron, the priest, <sup>2</sup>“Take a census of all the congregation of the people of Israel, from twenty years old and upward, by their fathers' houses, all in Israel who are able to go to war.” <sup>3</sup>And Moses and Eleazar the priest spoke with them in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho, saying, <sup>4</sup>“Take a census of the people, [\[1\]](#) from twenty years old and upward,” as the LORD commanded Moses. The people of Israel who came out of the land of Egypt were: <sup>5</sup>Reuben, the firstborn of Israel; the sons of Reuben: of Hanoch, the clan of the Hanochites; of Pallu, the clan of the Palluites; <sup>6</sup>of Hezron, the clan of the Hezronites; of Carmi, the clan of the Carmites. <sup>7</sup>These are the clans of the Reubenites, and those listed were 43,730. <sup>8</sup>And the sons of Pallu: Eliab. <sup>9</sup>The sons of Eliab: Nemuel, Dathan, and Abiram. These are the Dathan and Abiram, chosen from the congregation, who contended against Moses and Aaron in the company of Korah, when they contended against the LORD <sup>10</sup>and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up together with Korah, when that company died, when the fire devoured 250 men, and they became a warning. <sup>11</sup>But the sons of Korah did not die.

<sup>19</sup>The sons of Judah were Er and Onan; and Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. <sup>20</sup>And the sons of Judah according to their clans were: of Shelah, the clan of the Shelanites; of Perez, the clan of the Perezites; of Zerah, the clan of the Zerahites. <sup>21</sup>And the sons of Perez were: of Hezron, the clan of the Hezronites; of Hamul, the clan of the Hamulites. <sup>22</sup>These are the clans of Judah as they were listed, 76,500.

<sup>26</sup>The sons of Zebulun, according to their clans: of Sered, the clan of the Seredites; of Elon, the clan of the Elonites; of Jahleel, the clan of the Jahleelites. <sup>27</sup>These are the clans of the Zebulunites as they were listed, 60,500.

<sup>28</sup>The sons of Joseph according to their clans: Manasseh and Ephraim. <sup>29</sup>The sons of Manasseh: of Machir, the clan of the Machirites; and Machir was the father of Gilead; of Gilead, the clan of the Gileadites. <sup>30</sup>These are the sons of Gilead: of Iezer, the clan of the Iezerites; of Helek, the clan of the Helekites; <sup>31</sup>and of Asriel, the clan of the Asrielites; and of Shechem, the clan of the Shechemites; <sup>32</sup>and of Shemida, the clan of the Shemidaites; and of Hephher, the clan of the Hephherites. <sup>33</sup>†Now Zelophehad the son of Hephher had no sons, but daughters. And the names of the daughters of Zelophehad were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. <sup>34</sup>These are the clans of Manasseh, and those listed were 52,700.

<sup>38</sup>The sons of Benjamin according to their clans: of Bela, the clan of the Belaites; of Ashbel, the clan of the Ashbelites; of Ahiram, the clan of the Ahiramites; <sup>39</sup>of Shephupham, the clan of the Shuphamites; of Hupham, the clan of the Huphamites. <sup>40</sup>And the sons of Bela were Ard and Naaman: of Ard, the clan of the Ardites; of Naaman, the clan of the Naamites. <sup>41</sup>These are the sons of Benjamin according to their clans, and those listed were 45,600.

<sup>42</sup>These are the sons of Dan according to their clans: of Shuham, the clan of the Shuhamites. These are the clans of Dan according to their clans. <sup>43</sup>All the clans of the Shuhamites, as they were listed, were 64,400.

Beriah: of Heber, the clan of the Heberites; of Malchiel, the clan of the Malchielites. <sup>46</sup>And the name of the daughter of Asher was Serah. <sup>47</sup>These are the clans of the sons of Asher as they were listed, 53,400.

<sup>48</sup>The sons of Naphtali according to their clans: of Jahzeel, the clan of the Jahzeelites; of Guni, the clan of the Gunites; <sup>49</sup>of Jezer, the clan of the Jezerites; of Shillem, the clan of the Shillemites. <sup>50</sup>These are the clans of Naphtali according to their clans, and those listed were 45,400.

<sup>51</sup>This was the list of the people of Israel, 601,730.

<sup>57</sup>‡This was the list of the Levites according to their clans: of Gershon, the clan of the Gershonites; of Kohath, the clan of the Kohathites; of Merari, the clan of the Merarites. <sup>58</sup>These are the clans of Levi: the clan of the Libnites, the clan of the Hebronites, the clan of the Mahlites, the clan of the Mushites, the clan of the Korahites. And Kohath was the father of Amram. <sup>59</sup>The name of Amram's wife was Jochebed the daughter of Levi, who was born to Levi in Egypt. And she bore to Amram Aaron and Moses and Miriam their sister. <sup>60</sup>And to Aaron were born Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. <sup>61</sup>But Nadab and Abihu died when they offered unauthorized fire before the LORD. <sup>62</sup>And those listed were 23,000, every male from a month old and upward. For they were not listed among the people of Israel, because there was no inheritance given to them among the people of Israel.

<sup>63</sup>These were those listed by Moses and Eleazar the priest, who listed the people of Israel in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho. <sup>64</sup>But among these there was not one of those listed by Moses and Aaron the priest, who had listed the people of Israel in the wilderness of Sinai. <sup>65</sup>For the LORD had said of them, “They shall die in the wilderness.” Not one of them was left, except Caleb the son of Jephunneh and Joshua the son of Nun.

The Daughters of Zelophehad

NUMBERS 27 † Then drew near the daughters of Zelophehad the son of Hopher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, from the clans of Manasseh the son of Joseph. The names of his daughters were: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. <sup>2</sup> And they stood before Moses and before Eleazar the priest and before the chiefs and all the congregation, at the entrance of the tent of meeting, saying, <sup>3</sup> † “Our father died in the wilderness. He was not among the company of those who gathered themselves together against the LORD in the company of Korah, but died for his own sin. And he had no sons. <sup>4</sup> Why should the name of our father be taken away from his clan because he had no son? Give to us a possession among our father's brothers.”

<sup>5</sup> Moses brought their case before the LORD. <sup>6</sup> And the LORD said to Moses, <sup>7</sup> “The daughters of Zelophehad are right. You shall give them possession of an inheritance among their father's brothers and transfer the inheritance of their father to them. <sup>8</sup> † And you shall speak to the people of Israel, saying, ‘If a man dies and has no son, then you shall transfer his inheritance to his daughter. <sup>9</sup> And if he has no daughter, then you shall give his inheritance to his brothers. <sup>10</sup> And if he has no brothers, then you shall give his inheritance to his father's brothers. <sup>11</sup> And if his father has no brothers, then you shall give his inheritance to the nearest kinsman of his clan, and he shall possess it. And it shall be for the people of Israel a statute and rule, as the LORD commanded Moses.’”

Joshua to Succeed Moses

<sup>12</sup> † The LORD said to Moses, “Go up into this mountain of Abarim and see the land that I have given to the people of Israel. <sup>13</sup> When you have seen it, you also shall be gathered to your people, as your brother Aaron was, <sup>14</sup> because you rebelled against my word in the wilderness of Zin when the congregation quarreled, failing to uphold me as holy at the waters before their eyes.” (These are the waters of Meribah of Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin.) <sup>15</sup> † Moses spoke to the LORD, saying, <sup>16</sup> “Let the LORD, the God of the spirits of all flesh, appoint a man over the congregation <sup>17</sup> who shall go out before them and come in before them, who shall lead them out and bring them in, that the congregation of the LORD may not be as sheep that have no shepherd.” <sup>18</sup> † So the LORD said to Moses, “Take Joshua the son of Nun, a man in whom is the Spirit, and lay your hand on him. <sup>19</sup> Make him stand before Eleazar the priest and all the congregation, and you shall commission him in their sight. <sup>20</sup>† You shall invest him with some of your authority, that all the congregation of the people of Israel may obey. <sup>21</sup>† And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall inquire for him by the judgment of the Urim before the LORD. At his word they shall go out, and at his word they shall come in, both he and all the people of Israel with him, the whole congregation.” <sup>22</sup> And Moses did as the LORD commanded him. He took Joshua and made him stand before Eleazar the priest and the whole congregation, <sup>23</sup> and he laid his hands on him and commissioned him as the LORD directed through Moses.

Daily Offerings

NUMBERS 28 ‡The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Command the people of Israel and say to them, ‘My offering, my food for my food offerings, my pleasing aroma, you shall be careful to offer to me at its appointed time.’ <sup>3</sup>‡And you shall say to them, This is the food offering that you shall offer to the LORD: two male lambs a year old without blemish, day by day, as a regular offering. <sup>4</sup>The one lamb you shall offer in the morning, and the other lamb you shall offer at twilight; <sup>5</sup>also a tenth of an ephah [\[1\]](#) of fine flour for a grain offering, mixed with a quarter of a hin [\[2\]](#) of beaten oil. <sup>6</sup>It is a regular burnt offering, which was ordained at Mount Sinai for a pleasing aroma, a food offering to the LORD. <sup>7</sup>Its drink offering shall be a quarter of a hin for each lamb. In the Holy Place you shall pour out a drink offering of strong drink to the LORD. <sup>8</sup>The other lamb you shall offer at twilight. Like the grain offering of the morning, and like its drink offering, you shall offer it as a food offering, with a pleasing aroma to the LORD.

Sabbath Offerings

<sup>9</sup>‡“On the Sabbath day, two male lambs a year old without blemish, and two tenths of an ephah of fine flour for a grain offering, mixed with oil, and its drink offering: <sup>10</sup>this is the burnt offering of every Sabbath, besides the regular burnt offering and its drink offering.

Monthly Offerings

<sup>11</sup>‡“At the beginnings of your months, you shall offer a burnt offering to the LORD: two bulls from the herd, one ram, seven male lambs a year old without blemish; <sup>12</sup>also three tenths of an ephah of fine flour for a grain offering, mixed with oil, for each bull, and two tenths of fine flour for a grain offering, mixed with oil, for the one ram; <sup>13</sup>and a tenth of fine flour mixed with oil as a grain offering for every lamb; for a burnt offering with a pleasing aroma, a food offering to the LORD. <sup>14</sup>Their drink offerings shall be half a hin of wine for a bull, a third of a hin for a ram, and a quarter of a hin for a lamb. This is the burnt offering of each month throughout the months of the year. <sup>15</sup>Also one male goat for a sin offering to the LORD; it shall be offered besides the regular burnt offering and its drink offering.

Passover Offerings

<sup>16</sup>‡“On the fourteenth day of the first month is the LORD's Passover, <sup>17</sup>and on the fifteenth day of this month is a feast. Seven days shall unleavened bread be eaten. <sup>18</sup>On the first day there shall be a holy convocation. You shall not do any ordinary work, <sup>19</sup>but offer a food offering, a burnt offering to the LORD: two bulls from the herd, one ram, and seven male lambs a year old; see that they are without blemish; <sup>20</sup>also their grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil; three tenths of an ephah shall you offer for a bull, and two tenths for a ram; <sup>21</sup>a tenth shall you offer for each of the seven lambs; <sup>22</sup>also one male goat for a sin offering, to make atonement for you. <sup>23</sup>You shall offer these besides the burnt offering of the morning, which is for a regular burnt offering. <sup>24</sup>In the same way you shall offer daily, for seven days, the food of a food offering, with a pleasing aroma to the LORD. It shall be offered besides the regular burnt offering and its drink offering. <sup>25</sup>And on the seventh day you shall have a holy convocation. You shall not do any ordinary work.

Offerings for the Feast of Weeks

<sup>26</sup>‡“On the day of the firstfruits, when you offer a grain offering of new grain to the LORD at your Feast of Weeks, you shall have a holy convocation. You shall not do any ordinary work, <sup>27</sup>but offer a burnt offering, with a pleasing aroma to the LORD: two bulls from the herd, one ram, seven male lambs a year old; <sup>28</sup>also their grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil, three tenths of an ephah for each bull, two tenths for one ram, <sup>29</sup>a tenth for each of the seven lambs; <sup>30</sup>with one male goat, to make atonement for you. <sup>31</sup>Besides the regular burnt offering and its grain offering, you shall offer them and their drink offering. See that they are without blemish.

Offerings for the Feast of Trumpets

NUMBERS 29 <sup>1</sup>“On the first day of the seventh month you shall have a holy convocation. You shall not do any ordinary work. It is a day for you to blow the trumpets, <sup>2</sup>and you shall offer a burnt offering, for a pleasing aroma to the LORD: one bull from the herd, one ram, seven male lambs a year old without blemish; <sup>3</sup>also their grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil, three tenths of an ephah [\[1\]](#) for the bull, two tenths for the ram, <sup>4</sup>and one tenth for each of the seven lambs; <sup>5</sup>with one male goat for a sin offering, to make atonement for you; <sup>6</sup>besides the burnt offering of the new moon, and its grain offering, and the regular burnt offering and its grain offering, and their drink offering, according to the rule for them, for a pleasing aroma, a food offering to the LORD.

Offerings for the Day of Atonement

<sup>7</sup><sup>1</sup>“On the tenth day of this seventh month you shall have a holy convocation and afflict yourselves. You shall do no work, <sup>8</sup>but you shall offer a burnt offering to the LORD, a pleasing aroma: one bull from the herd, one ram, seven male lambs a year old: see that they are without blemish. <sup>9</sup>And their grain offering shall be of fine flour mixed with oil, three tenths of an ephah for the bull, two tenths for the one ram, <sup>10</sup>a tenth for each of the seven lambs: <sup>11</sup>also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the sin offering of atonement, and the regular burnt offering and its grain offering, and their drink offerings.

Offerings for the Feast of Booths

<sup>12</sup><sup>1</sup>“On the fifteenth day of the seventh month you shall have a holy convocation. You shall not do any ordinary work, and you shall keep a feast to the LORD seven days. <sup>13</sup>And you shall offer a burnt offering, a food offering, with a pleasing aroma to the LORD, thirteen bulls from the herd, two rams, fourteen male lambs a year old; they shall be without blemish; <sup>14</sup>and their grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil, three tenths of an ephah for each of the thirteen bulls, two tenths for each of the two rams, <sup>15</sup>and a tenth for each of the fourteen lambs; <sup>16</sup>also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering and its drink offering.

the bulls, for the rams, and for the lambs, in the prescribed quantities; <sup>19</sup>also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering and its grain offering, and their drink offerings.

<sup>35</sup>“On the eighth day you shall have a solemn assembly. You shall not do any ordinary work, <sup>36</sup>but you shall offer a burnt offering, a food offering, with a pleasing aroma to the LORD: one bull, one ram, seven male lambs a year old without blemish, <sup>37</sup>and the grain offering and the drink offerings for the bull, for the ram, and for the lambs, in the prescribed quantities; <sup>38</sup>also one male goat for a sin offering; besides the regular burnt offering and its grain offering and its drink offering.

<sup>39</sup>“These you shall offer to the LORD at your appointed feasts, in addition to your vow offerings and your freewill offerings, for your burnt offerings, and for your grain offerings, and for your drink offerings, and for your peace offerings.”

<sup>40</sup> [2] So Moses told the people of Israel everything just as the LORD had commanded Moses.

Men and Vows

NUMBERS 30 ‡Moses spoke to the heads of the tribes of the people of Israel, saying, “This is what the LORD has commanded. <sup>2</sup>‡If a man vows a vow to the LORD, or swears an oath to bind himself by a pledge, he shall not break his word. He shall do according to all that proceeds out of his mouth.

Women and Vows

<sup>3</sup>“If a woman vows a vow to the LORD and binds herself by a pledge, while within her father's house in her youth, <sup>4</sup>and her father hears of her vow and of her pledge by which she has bound herself and says nothing to her, then all her vows shall stand, and every pledge by which she has bound herself shall stand. <sup>5</sup>But if her father opposes her on the day that he hears of it, no vow of hers, no pledge by which she has bound herself shall stand. And the LORD will forgive her, because her father opposed her.

<sup>6</sup>“If she marries a husband, while under her vows or any thoughtless utterance of her lips by which she has bound herself, <sup>7</sup>and her husband hears of it and says nothing to her on the day that he hears, then her vows shall stand, and her pledges by which she has bound herself shall stand. <sup>8</sup>But if, on the day that her husband comes to hear of it, he opposes her, then he makes void her vow that was on her, and the thoughtless utterance of her lips by which she bound herself. And the LORD will forgive her. <sup>9</sup>‡(But any vow of a widow or of a divorced woman, anything by which she has bound herself, shall stand against her.) <sup>10</sup>And if she vowed in her husband's house or bound herself by a pledge with an oath, <sup>11</sup>and her husband heard of it and said nothing to her and did not oppose her, then all her vows shall stand, and every pledge by which she bound herself shall stand. <sup>12</sup>But if her husband makes them null and void on the day that he hears them, then whatever proceeds out of her lips concerning her vows or concerning her pledge of herself shall not stand. Her husband has made them void, and the LORD will forgive her. <sup>13</sup>Any vow and any binding oath to afflict herself, her husband may establish, [1] or her husband may make void. <sup>14</sup>But if her husband says nothing to her from day to day, then he establishes all her vows or all her pledges that are upon her. He has established them, because he said nothing to her on the day that he heard of them. <sup>15</sup>But if he makes them null and void after he has heard of them, then he shall bear her iniquity.”

<sup>16</sup>These are the statutes that the LORD commanded Moses about a man and his wife and about a father and his daughter while she is in her youth within her father's house.

Vengeance on Midian

NUMBERS 31 †† The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, † “Avenge the people of Israel on the Midianites. Afterward you shall be gathered to your people.” † So Moses spoke to the people, saying, “Arm men from among you for the war, that they may go against Midian to execute the LORD's vengeance on Midian. † You shall send a thousand from each of the tribes of Israel to the war.” † So there were provided, out of the thousands of Israel, a thousand from each tribe, twelve thousand armed for war. † And Moses sent them to the war, a thousand from each tribe, together with Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, with the vessels of the sanctuary and the trumpets for the alarm in his hand. † They warred against Midian, as the LORD commanded Moses, and killed every male. † They killed the kings of Midian with the rest of their slain, Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba, the five kings of Midian. And they also killed Balaam the son of Beor with the sword. † And the people of Israel took captive the women of Midian and their little ones, and they took as plunder all their cattle, their flocks, and all their goods. † All their cities in the places where they lived, and all their encampments, they burned with fire, † and took all the spoil and all the plunder, both of man and of beast. † Then they brought the captives and the plunder and the spoil to Moses, and to Eleazar the priest, and to the congregation of the people of Israel, at the camp on the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho.

† Moses and Eleazar the priest and all the chiefs of the congregation went to meet them outside the camp. † And Moses was angry with the officers of the army, the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, who had come from service in the war. † Moses said to them, “Have you let all the women live? † Behold, these, on Balaam's advice, caused the people of Israel to act treacherously against the LORD in the incident of Peor, and so the plague came among the congregation of the LORD. † Now therefore, kill every male among the little ones, and kill every woman who has known man by lying with him. † But all the young girls who have not known man by lying with him keep alive for yourselves. † Encamp outside the camp seven days. Whoever of you has killed any person and whoever has touched any slain, purify yourselves and your captives on the third day and on the seventh day. † You shall purify every garment, every article of skin, all work of goats' hair, and every article of wood.”

† Then Eleazar the priest said to the men in the army who had gone to battle: “This is the statute of the law that the LORD has commanded Moses: † only the gold, the silver, the bronze, the iron, the tin, and the lead, <sup>23</sup>everything that can stand the fire, you shall pass through the fire, and it shall be clean. Nevertheless, it shall also be purified with the water for impurity. And whatever cannot stand the fire, you shall pass through the water. <sup>24</sup>You must wash your clothes on the seventh day, and you shall be clean. And afterward you may come into the camp.”

<sup>48</sup>Then the officers who were over the thousands of the army, the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, came near to Moses <sup>49</sup>and said to Moses, “Your servants have counted the men of war who are under our command, and there is not a man missing from us. <sup>50</sup>And we have brought the LORD's offering, what each man found, articles of gold, armlets and bracelets, signet rings, earrings, and beads, to make atonement for ourselves before the LORD.” <sup>51</sup>And Moses and Eleazar the priest received from them the gold, all crafted articles. <sup>52</sup>And all the gold of the contribution that they presented to the LORD, from the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, was 16,750 shekels. [\[1\]](#) <sup>53</sup>(The men in the army had each taken plunder for himself.) <sup>54</sup>And Moses and Eleazar the priest received the gold from the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, and brought it into the tent of meeting, as a memorial for the people of Israel before the LORD.

Reuben and Gad Settle in Gilead

NUMBERS 32 †Now the people of Reuben and the people of Gad had a very great number of livestock. And they saw the land of Jazer and the land of Gilead, and behold, the place was a place for livestock. <sup>2</sup>So the people of Gad and the people of Reuben came and said to Moses and to Eleazar the priest and to the chiefs of the congregation, <sup>3</sup>†“Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, Elealeh, Sebam, Nebo, and Beon, <sup>4</sup>the land that the LORD struck down before the congregation of Israel, is a land for livestock, and your servants have livestock.” <sup>5</sup>And they said, “If we have found favor in your sight, let this land be given to your servants for a possession. Do not take us across the Jordan.”

<sup>6</sup>But Moses said to the people of Gad and to the people of Reuben, “Shall your brothers go to the war while you sit here? <sup>7</sup>Why will you discourage the heart of the people of Israel from going over into the land that the LORD has given them? <sup>8</sup>†Your fathers did this, when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to see the land. <sup>9</sup>For when they went up to the Valley of Eshcol and saw the land, they discouraged the heart of the people of Israel from going into the land that the LORD had given them. <sup>10</sup>And the LORD's anger was kindled on that day, and he swore, saying, <sup>11</sup>‘Surely none of the men who came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, shall see the land that I swore to give to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, because they have not wholly followed me, <sup>12</sup>none except Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite and Joshua the son of Nun, for they have wholly followed the LORD.’ <sup>13</sup>And the LORD's anger was kindled against Israel, and he made them wander in the wilderness forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the sight of the LORD was gone. <sup>14</sup>And behold, you have risen in your fathers' place, a brood of sinful men, to increase still more the fierce anger of the LORD against Israel! <sup>15</sup>For if you turn away from following him, he will again abandon them in the wilderness, and you will destroy all this people.”

<sup>16</sup>Then they came near to him and said, “We will build sheepfolds here for our livestock, and cities for our little ones, <sup>17</sup>but we will take up arms, ready to go before the people of Israel, until we have brought them to their place. And our little ones shall live in the fortified cities because of the inhabitants of the land. <sup>18</sup>We will not return to our homes until each of the people of Israel has gained his inheritance. <sup>19</sup>For we will not inherit with them on the other side of the Jordan and beyond, because our inheritance has come to us on this side of the Jordan to the east.” <sup>20</sup>So Moses said to them, “If you will do this, if you will take up arms to go before the LORD for the war, <sup>21</sup>and every armed man of you will pass over the Jordan before the LORD, until he has driven out his enemies from before him <sup>22</sup>and the land is subdued before the LORD; then after that you shall return and be free of obligation to the LORD and to Israel, and this land shall be your possession before the LORD. <sup>23</sup>†But if you will not do so, behold, you have sinned against the LORD, and be sure your sin will find you out. <sup>24</sup>Build cities for your little ones and folds for your sheep, and do what you have promised.” <sup>25</sup>And the people of Gad and the people of Reuben said to Moses, “Your servants will do as my lord commands. <sup>26</sup>Our little ones, our wives, our livestock, and all our cattle shall remain there in the cities of Gilead, <sup>27</sup>but your servants will pass over, every man who is armed for war, before the LORD to battle, as my lord orders.”

<sup>28</sup>So Moses gave command concerning them to Eleazar the priest and to Joshua the son of Nun and to the heads of the fathers' houses of the tribes of the people of Israel. <sup>29</sup>And Moses said to them, “If the people of Gad and the people of Reuben, every man who is armed to battle before the LORD, will pass with you over the Jordan and the land shall be subdued before you, then you shall give them the land of Gilead for a possession. <sup>30</sup>However, if they will not pass over with you armed, they shall have possessions among you in the land of Canaan.” <sup>31</sup>And the people of Gad and the people of Reuben answered, “What the LORD has said to your servants, we will do. <sup>32</sup>We will pass over armed before the LORD into the land of Canaan, and the possession of our inheritance shall remain with us beyond the Jordan.”

<sup>33</sup>†And Moses gave to them, to the people of Gad and to the people of Reuben and to the half-tribe of Manasseh the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites and the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, the land and its cities with their territories, the cities of the land throughout the country. <sup>34</sup>And the people of Gad built Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer, <sup>35</sup>Atroth-shophan, Jazer, Jogbehah, <sup>36</sup>Beth-nimrah and Beth-haran, fortified cities, and folds for sheep. <sup>37</sup>And the people of Reuben built Heshbon, Elealeh, Kiriathaim, <sup>38</sup>Nebo, and Baal-meon (their names were changed), and Sibmah. And they gave other names to the cities that they built. <sup>39</sup>And the sons of Machir the son of Manasseh went to Gilead and captured it, and dispossessed the Amorites who were in it. <sup>40</sup>And Moses gave Gilead to Machir the son of Manasseh, and he settled in it. <sup>41</sup>And Jair the son of Manasseh went and captured their villages, and called them Havvoth-jair. [\[1\]](#) <sup>42</sup>And Nobah went and captured Kenath and its villages, and called it Nobah, after his own name.

Recounting Israel's Journey

NUMBERS 33 ‡ These are the stages of the people of Israel, when they went out of the land of Egypt by their companies under the leadership of Moses and Aaron. <sup>2</sup>Moses wrote down their starting places, stage by stage, by command of the LORD, and these are their stages according to their starting places. <sup>3</sup>They set out from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month. On the day after the Passover, the people of Israel went out triumphantly in the sight of all the Egyptians, <sup>4</sup>while the Egyptians were burying all their firstborn, whom the LORD had struck down among them. On their gods also the LORD executed judgments.

<sup>5</sup>So the people of Israel set out from Rameses and camped at Succoth. <sup>6</sup>And they set out from Succoth and camped at Etham, which is on the edge of the wilderness. <sup>7</sup>And they set out from Etham and turned back to Pi-hahiroth, which is east of Baal-zephon, and they camped before Migdol. <sup>8</sup>And they set out from before Hahiroth [\[1\]](#) and passed through the midst of the sea into the wilderness, and they went a three days' journey in the wilderness of Etham and camped at Marah. <sup>9</sup>And they set out from Marah and came to Elim; at Elim there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees, and they camped there. <sup>10</sup>And they set out from Elim and camped by the Red Sea. <sup>11</sup>And they set out from the Red Sea and camped in the wilderness of Sin. <sup>12</sup>And they set out from the wilderness of Sin and camped at Dophkah. <sup>13</sup>And they set out from Dophkah and camped at Alush. <sup>14</sup>And they set out from Alush and camped at Rephidim, where there was no water for the people to drink. <sup>15</sup>And they set out from Rephidim and camped in the wilderness of Sinai. <sup>16</sup>And they set out from the wilderness of Sinai and camped at Kibroth-hattaavah. <sup>17</sup>And they set out from Kibroth-hattaavah and camped at Hazeroth. <sup>18</sup>And they set out from Hazeroth and camped at Rithmah. <sup>19</sup>And they set out from Rithmah and camped at Rimmon-perez. <sup>20</sup>And they set out from Rimmon-perez and camped at Libnah. <sup>21</sup>And they set out from Libnah and camped at Rissah. <sup>22</sup>And they set out from Rissah and camped at Kehelathah. <sup>23</sup>And they set out from Kehelathah and camped at Mount Shepher. <sup>24</sup>And they set out from Mount Shepher and camped at Haradah. <sup>25</sup>And they set out from Haradah and camped at Makheloth. <sup>26</sup>And they set out from Makheloth and camped at Tahath. <sup>27</sup>And they set out from Tahath and camped at Terah. <sup>28</sup>And they set out from Terah and camped at Mithkah. <sup>29</sup>And they set out from Mithkah and camped at Hashmonah. <sup>30</sup>And they set out from Hashmonah and camped at Moseroth. <sup>31</sup>And they set out from Moseroth and camped at Benejaakan. <sup>32</sup>And they set out from Bene-jaakan and camped at Hor-haggidgad. <sup>33</sup>And they set out from Hor-haggidgad and camped at Jotbathah. <sup>34</sup>And they set out from Jotbathah and camped at Abronah. <sup>35</sup>And they set out from Abronah and camped at Ezion-geber. <sup>36</sup>And they set out from Ezion-geber and camped in the wilderness of Zin (that is, Kadesh). <sup>37</sup>And they set out from Kadesh and camped at Mount Hor, on the edge of the land of Edom.

<sup>38</sup>And Aaron the priest went up Mount Hor at the command of the LORD and died there, in the fortieth year after the people of Israel had come out of the land of Egypt, on the first day of the fifth month. <sup>39</sup>And Aaron was 123 years old when he died on Mount Hor.

<sup>40</sup>And the Canaanite, the king of Arad, who lived in the Negeb in the land of Canaan, heard of the coming of the people of Israel.

Drive Out the Inhabitants

<sup>50</sup>†††And the LORD spoke to Moses in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho, saying, <sup>51</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When you pass over the Jordan into the land of Canaan, <sup>52</sup>†then you shall drive out all the inhabitants of the land from before you and destroy all their figured stones and destroy all their metal images and demolish all their high places. <sup>53</sup>And you shall take possession of the land and settle in it, for I have given the land to you to possess it. <sup>54</sup>You shall inherit the land by lot according to your clans. To a large tribe you shall give a large inheritance, and to a small tribe you shall give a small inheritance. Wherever the lot falls for anyone, that shall be his. According to the tribes of your fathers you shall inherit. <sup>55</sup>But if you do not drive out the inhabitants of the land from before you, then those of them whom you let remain shall be as barbs in your eyes and thorns in your sides, and they shall trouble you in the land where you dwell. <sup>56</sup>†And I will do to you as I thought to do to them.”

Boundaries of the Land

NUMBERS 34 †The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>2</sup>“Command the people of Israel, and say to them, When you enter the land of Canaan (this is the land that shall fall to you for an inheritance, the land of Canaan as defined by its borders), <sup>3</sup>your south side shall be from the wilderness of Zin alongside Edom, and your southern border shall run from the end of the Salt Sea on the east. <sup>4</sup>And your border shall turn south of the ascent of Akrabbim, and cross to Zin, and its limit shall be south of Kadesh-barnea. Then it shall go on to Hazar-addar, and pass along to Azmon. <sup>5</sup>And the border shall turn from Azmon to the Brook of Egypt, and its limit shall be at the sea.

<sup>13</sup>†Moses commanded the people of Israel, saying, “This is the land that you shall inherit by lot, which the LORD has commanded to give to the nine tribes and to the half-tribe. <sup>14</sup>For the tribe of the people of Reuben by fathers' houses and the tribe of the people of Gad by their fathers' houses have received their inheritance, and also the half-tribe of Manasseh. <sup>15</sup>The two tribes and the half-tribe have received their inheritance beyond the Jordan east of Jericho, toward the sunrise.”

List of Tribal Chiefs

<sup>16</sup>†The LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>17</sup>“These are the names of the men who shall divide the land to you for inheritance: Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun. <sup>18</sup>You shall take one chief from every tribe to divide the land for inheritance. <sup>19</sup>These are the names of the men: Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh. <sup>20</sup>Of the tribe of the people of Simeon, Shemuel the son of Ammihud. <sup>21</sup>Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the son of Chislon. <sup>22</sup>Of the tribe of the people of Dan a chief, Bukki the son of Jogli. <sup>23</sup>Of the people of Joseph: of the tribe of the people of Manasseh a chief, Hanniel the son of Ephod. <sup>24</sup>And of the tribe of the people of Ephraim a chief, Kemuel the son of Shiptan. <sup>25</sup>Of the tribe of the people of Zebulun a chief, Elizaphan the son of Parnach. <sup>26</sup>Of the tribe of the people of Issachar a chief, Paltiel the son of Azzan. <sup>27</sup>And of the tribe of the people of Asher a chief, Ahihud the son of Shelomi. <sup>28</sup>Of the tribe of the people of Naphtali a chief, Pedahel the son of Ammihud. <sup>29</sup>These are the men whom the LORD commanded to divide the inheritance for the people of Israel in the land of Canaan.”

Cities for the Levites

NUMBERS 35 ‡The LORD spoke to Moses in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho, saying, <sup>2</sup>‡“Command the people of Israel to give to the Levites some of the inheritance of their possession as cities for them to dwell in. And you shall give to the Levites pasturelands around the cities. <sup>3</sup>The cities shall be theirs to dwell in, and their pasturelands shall be for their cattle and for their livestock and for all their beasts. <sup>4</sup>The pasturelands of the cities, which you shall give to the Levites, shall reach from the wall of the city outward a thousand cubits [\[1\]](#) all around. <sup>5</sup>And you shall measure, outside the city, on the east side two thousand cubits, and on the south side two thousand cubits, and on the west side two thousand cubits, and on the north side two thousand cubits, the city being in the middle. This shall belong to them as pastureland for their cities.

<sup>6</sup>“The cities that you give to the Levites shall be the six cities of refuge, where you shall permit the manslayer to flee, and in addition to them you shall give forty-two cities. <sup>7</sup>All the cities that you give to the Levites shall be forty-eight, with their pasturelands. <sup>8</sup>And as for the cities that you shall give from the possession of the people of Israel, from the larger tribes you shall take many, and from the smaller tribes you shall take few; each, in proportion to the inheritance that it inherits, shall give of its cities to the Levites.”

Cities of Refuge

<sup>9</sup>‡And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, <sup>10</sup>“Speak to the people of Israel and say to them, When you cross the Jordan into the land of Canaan, <sup>11</sup>then you shall select cities to be cities of refuge for you, that the manslayer who kills any person without intent may flee there. <sup>12</sup>‡The cities shall be for you a refuge from the avenger, that the manslayer may not die until he stands before the congregation for judgment. <sup>13</sup>And the cities that you give shall be your six cities of refuge. <sup>14</sup>You shall give three cities beyond the Jordan, and three cities in the land of Canaan, to be cities of refuge. <sup>15</sup>These six cities shall be for refuge for the people of Israel, and for the stranger and for the sojourner among them, that anyone who kills any person without intent may flee there.

<sup>16</sup>“But if he struck him down with an iron object, so that he died, he is a murderer. The murderer shall be put to death. <sup>17</sup>And if he struck him down with a stone tool that could cause death, and he died, he is a murderer. The murderer shall be put to death. <sup>18</sup>Or if he struck him down with a wooden tool that could cause death, and he died, he is a murderer. The murderer shall be put to death. <sup>19</sup>†The avenger of blood shall himself put the murderer to death; when he meets him, he shall put him to death. <sup>20</sup>And if he pushed him out of hatred or hurled something at him, lying in wait, so that he died, <sup>21</sup>or in enmity struck him down with his hand, so that he died, then he who struck the blow shall be put to death. He is a murderer. The avenger of blood shall put the murderer to death when he meets him.

<sup>22</sup>“But if he pushed him suddenly without enmity, or hurled anything on him without lying in wait <sup>23</sup>or used a stone that could cause death, and without seeing him dropped it on him, so that he died, though he was not his enemy and did not seek his harm, <sup>24</sup>†then the congregation shall judge between the manslayer and the avenger of blood, in accordance with these rules. <sup>25</sup>†And the congregation shall rescue the manslayer from the hand of the avenger of blood, and the congregation shall restore him to his city of refuge to which he had fled, and he shall live in it until the death of the high priest who was anointed with the holy oil. <sup>26</sup>But if the manslayer shall at any time go beyond the boundaries of his city of refuge to which he fled, <sup>27</sup>and the avenger of blood finds him outside the boundaries of his city of refuge, and the avenger of blood kills the manslayer, he shall not be guilty of blood. <sup>28</sup>For he must remain in his city of refuge until the death of the high priest, but after the death of the high priest the manslayer may return to the land of his possession. <sup>29</sup>And these things shall be for a statute and rule for you throughout your generations in all your dwelling places.

<sup>30</sup>†“If anyone kills a person, the murderer shall be put to death on the evidence of witnesses. But no person shall be put to death on the testimony of one witness. <sup>31</sup>Moreover, you shall accept no ransom for the life of a murderer, who is guilty of death, but he shall be put to death. <sup>32</sup>And you shall accept no ransom for him who has fled to his city of refuge, that he may return to dwell in the land before the death of the high priest. <sup>33</sup>†You shall not pollute the land in which you live, for blood pollutes the land, and no atonement can be made for the land for the blood that is shed in it, except by the blood of the one who shed it. <sup>34</sup>You shall not defile the land in which you live, in the midst of which I dwell, for I the LORD dwell in the midst of the people of Israel.”

Marriage of Female Heirs

NUMBERS 36 ‡ The heads of the fathers' houses of the clan of the people of Gilead the son of Machir, son of Manasseh, from the clans of the people of Joseph, came near and spoke before Moses and before the chiefs, the heads of the fathers' houses of the people of Israel. <sup>2</sup>They said, “The LORD commanded my lord to give the land for inheritance by lot to the people of Israel, and my lord was commanded by the LORD to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother to his daughters. <sup>3</sup>But if they are married to any of the sons of the other tribes of the people of Israel, then their inheritance will be taken from the inheritance of our fathers and added to the inheritance of the tribe into which they marry. So it will be taken away from the lot of our inheritance. <sup>4</sup>And when the jubilee of the people of Israel comes, then their inheritance will be added to the inheritance of the tribe into which they marry, and their inheritance will be taken from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.”

<sup>5</sup>And Moses commanded the people of Israel according to the word of the LORD, saying, “The tribe of the people of Joseph is right. <sup>6</sup>This is what the LORD commands concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, ‘Let them marry whom they think best, only they shall marry within the clan of the tribe of their father. <sup>7</sup>The inheritance of the people of Israel shall not be transferred from one tribe to another, for every one of the people of Israel shall hold on to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers. <sup>8</sup>And every daughter who possesses an inheritance in any tribe of the people of Israel shall be wife to one of the clan of the tribe of her father, so that every one of the people of Israel may possess the inheritance of his fathers. <sup>9</sup>So no inheritance shall be transferred from one tribe to another, for each of the tribes of the people of Israel shall hold on to its own inheritance.’”

<sup>10</sup>The daughters of Zelophehad did as the LORD commanded Moses, <sup>11</sup>for Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad, were married to sons of their father's brothers. <sup>12</sup>‡ They were married into the clans of the people of Manasseh the son of Joseph, and their inheritance remained in the tribe of their father's clan.

<sup>13</sup>These are the commandments and the rules that the LORD commanded through Moses to the people of Israel in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho.

Study Notes

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:1–10:36 The first 10 chapters of Numbers record the final preparations of Israel necessary for their conquest of the land of Canaan. In this section, the Lord spoke to Israel through Moses (1:1; 2:1; 3:1, 5, 11, 14, 44; 4:1, 17, 21; 5:1, 5, 11; 6:1, 22; 7:4; 8:1, 5, 23; 9:1, 9; 10:1), and Moses and Israel responded with obedience (1:19, 54; 2:33–34; 3:16, 42, 51; 4:49; 7:2–3; 8:3; 9:5, 18, 23; 10:13, 14–28 in accordance with [2:34]). These chapters divide into two parts (1:1–6:27 and 7:1–10:36), which both end with an invocation of the Lord's blessing on Israel (6:22–27 and 10:35–36).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:1–6:27 These six chapters chronologically follow the events recorded in 7:1–10:10. The ordering of Israel around the tabernacle (1:1–4:49) and the purity of the camp of Israel (5:1–6:27) were the final results of the Lord's commands that began in Ex. 25:1. Obeying God's instructions transformed an impure (Ex. 32:7–8) and disorderly (Ex. 32:25) Israel into a people ready to march into Canaan.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:1 The Lord spoke to Moses. This connects the revelation given here by the Lord with Ex. 25:1ff. and Lev. 1:1ff. The word from God directed everything that was done by Israel. the wilderness of Sinai. Israel had been encamped there for 11 months. See Ex. 19:1. the tent of meeting. The tabernacle, where the Lord's glory resided in the cloud, had been erected one month earlier (Ex. 40:17). This was God's dwelling place in the midst of his people. In Num. 1:1–6:27, Israel was organized with the tabernacle as the central feature. the second year. Numbers begins in the fourteenth month (377 days) after the exodus from Egypt.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:2 a census. In Ex. 30:11–16, the Lord had commanded that a census of the males in Israel over 20 (excluding the Levites) be taken for the purpose of determining the ransom money for the service of the tabernacle. The result of that census is recorded in Ex. 38:25–28. The total number, 603,550 (Ex. 38:26), equals the number in Num. 1:46.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:3 go to war. The purpose of this census was to form a roster of fighting men. The book of Numbers looks ahead to the invasion of the land promised to Abraham (cf. Gen. 12:1–3).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:4 a man. One leader from each of the 12 tribes was to assist Moses and Aaron in the numbering of the men. These same leaders are mentioned in Num. 2:1–34 and 10:14–28 as the heads of tribes, and in 7:1–88 they bring gifts to the tabernacle.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:17–46 The numbers from the tribes were:

Reuben	46,500 (v. 21 )
Simeon	59,300 (v. 23 )
Gad	45,650 (v. 25 )
Judah	74,600 (v. 27 )
Issachar	54,400 (v. 29 )
Zebulun	57,400 (v. 31 )
Ephraim	40,500 (v. 33 )
Manasseh	32,200 (v. 35 )
Benjamin	35,400 (v. 37 )
Dan	62,700 (v. 39 )
Asher	41,500 (v. 41 )
Naphtali	53,400 (v. 43 )
Total	603,550 (v. 46 )

The tribal order follows the pattern of Jacob’s wives: first, the sons of Leah; second, the sons of Rachel; and third, the sons of the maids, except Gad (born of Leah’s maid), who replaced Levi in the third-born position (cf. Gen. 29:31–30:24; 35:16–20).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:46 603,550. This number, combined with the 22,000 Levite males a month old and above (3:39), allows for a total population of over 2,000,000 Israelites. Since this number seems too high for the wilderness conditions and relatively few firstborn sons (3:43), some have reinterpreted the plain meaning of the text by 1) saying “thousand” means “clan” or “chief” here, or 2) stating the numbers are symbolic. However, if “thousand” is not the meaning in this chapter, 1:46 would read 598 “clans” or “chiefs” with only 5,500 individuals. Thus, the meaning “thousand” must be retained. Further, there is no textual indication that these numbers are symbolic. The only conclusion is that God took care of over 2,000,000 people in the wilderness during the period of 40 years (cf. Deut. 8:3–4). Tampering with the number is tampering with God’s purpose for these numbers—to show his power in behalf of Israel.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:50 appoint the Levites. The tribe of Levi, including Moses and Aaron, was not included in this census because it was exempt from military service. The Levites were to serve the Lord by carrying and attending to the tabernacle (cf. 3:5–13; 4:1–33, 46–49).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:51 any outsider. This word often refers to the “alien” or “stranger.” The non-Levite Israelite was like a “foreigner” to the transporting of the tabernacle and had to keep his distance lest he die.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 1:53 no wrath. The purpose of setting the Levites apart and arranging them around the tabernacle was to keep the wrath of the Lord from consuming Israel (cf. Ex. 32:10, 25–29).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 2:2 standard . . . banners. The banners were flags identifying the individual tribes (probably with some sort of insignia). The standards were flags marking each of the four encampments of three tribes each. tent of meeting. For details see Ex. 25–30.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 2:3 on the east side . . . Judah. Judah occupied the place of honor to the east. Genesis 49:8–12 highlights the role and centrality Judah would have in the defeat of Israel’s enemies. Judah was the tribe through which the Messiah would be born. Nahshon. Nahshon appears in the later genealogies of the messianic line (cf. Ruth 4:20; Matt. 1:4).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 2:14 Reuel. Also called “Deuel” (cf. 1:14). The letters R and D are similar in Hebrew and were easily confused by the scribes who copied the text.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 2:17 set out. As the tribes marched, the tabernacle was transported in the middle of the tribes of Israel, six in front and six behind.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 2:32 See note on 1:46.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:1 Aaron and Moses. Because Aaron and his sons are emphasized in this chapter, Aaron is named first. Mount Sinai. The Lord had first communicated to Moses his choice of Aaron and his sons as priests in Ex. 28:1–29:46 while he was in the midst of the cloud on Mount Sinai (Ex. 24:18).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:3 the anointed priests. Of all the tribe of Levi, only the sons of Aaron were priests. Only priests could offer the sacrifices; the rest of the Levites aided them in the work of the tabernacle (cf. 3:7–9). ordained. The setting apart of Aaron and his sons to the priesthood is recorded in Lev. 8:1–9:24.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:4 Eleazar and Ithamar. All of the future priests of Israel under the Mosaic Covenant were descendants of these two sons of Aaron. Eleazar and his descendants would later be singled out for great blessing (cf. Num. 25:10–13).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:6 the tribe of Levi. The specific task of the Levites was to serve Aaron, his sons, and all of Israel by doing the work of the tabernacle, further defined in 3:25–26, 31, 36–37; 4:4–33.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:10 any outsider. Laymen or strangers (cf. 1:51) would die if they participated in priestly activities (cf. 3:38; 16:40).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:12 firstborn. At the exodus, the Lord claimed for himself the firstborn of Israel’s males (cf. Ex. 13:1–2). The firstborn was to act as the family priest. But when the full ministry of the Mosaic economy came in, God transferred the priestly duties to the Levites, perhaps partly because of their holy zeal in the golden calf incident (cf. Ex. 32:29). The Levites substituted for the firstborn.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:15 List. Moses took a census of every Levite male who was at least one month old. This included Moses and Aaron and their sons, because they descended from Amram (3:19; cf. Ex. 6:20).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:21–26 Gershon. The Gershonites numbered 7,500 males and were responsible for the coverings of the tabernacle. They were to camp west of the tabernacle.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:27–32 Kohath. Some LXX manuscripts give the number of Kohathites as 8,300, which is the preferred reading. (The addition of one Hebrew letter changes the “six” to a “three.” This letter was dropped very early in the copying of the text.) The Kohathites were responsible for the holy objects of the tabernacle (including transporting the ark) and were to camp south of the tabernacle.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:33–37 Merari. The Merarites numbered 6,200 males and were responsible for the wooden framework of the tabernacle. They were to camp north of the tabernacle.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:38 Moses . . . Aaron. Moses and Aaron and his sons were given the place of honor on the east of the tabernacle and gave overall supervision to the Levites. Eleazar oversaw the Kohathites (3:32), and Ithamar oversaw the Gershonites and Merarites (4:28, 33).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 3:43 22,273. This was the total number of Gershonite, Kohathite, and Merarite males born in the 12.5 months since the exodus. The Levites took the place of the first 22,000 firstborns, and the rest (273) were redeemed with 1,365 silver shekels (about 170 lbs.).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 4:1–49 For a discussion of the tabernacle and contents, see notes on Ex. 25–30.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 4:3 thirty . . . to fifty. This second census of the Levites determined those who would carry the tabernacle on the coming journey to Canaan. Only those between the ages of 30 and 50 were called by the Lord for this task (see note on 8:24).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 4:4–16 Kohath. The Kohathites carried the furnishings of the tabernacle only after they had been covered by Aaron and his sons. If the Kohathites touched (4:15) or saw (4:20) any of the holy things, they would die.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 4:21–28 Gershon. See note on 3:21–26.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 4:29–33 Merari. See note on 3:33–37.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 4:34–49 listed. The Kohathites totaled 2,750 (v. 36), the Gershonites 2,630 (v. 40), the Merarites 3,200 (v. 44). All the Levites from 30 to 50 years old in service added up to 8,580 (v. 48).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:1–4 These verses deal with outward, visible defects.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:2 leprous. One having an infectious skin disease (cf. Lev. 13:1–14:57). discharge. A bodily emission indicative of disease, primarily from the sex organs (cf. Lev. 15:1–33). dead. Physical contact with a dead body (cf. Lev. 21:11). All of these prohibitions had sensible health benefits as well as serving to illustrate the need for moral cleanliness when approaching God.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:3 outside the camp . . . in the midst of which I dwell. God's holy presence in the cloud in the tabernacle demanded cleanness. Therefore, all the unclean were barred from the encampment of Israel.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:5–10 These verses deal with personal sins, which are not as outwardly visible as the uncleanness of 5:1–4.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:6 with the Lord. A sin committed against God's people was considered a sin committed against God himself. There was a need for confession and restitution in addition to the trespass offering (cf. Lev. 5:14–6:7).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:8 no next of kin. A supplement to Lev. 6:1–7. If the injured party had died and there was no family member to receive the restitution called for in Num. 5:7, it was to go to the priest as the Lord’s representative.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:11–31 These verses deal with the most intimate of human relationships and the most secret of sins. Adultery was to be determined and dealt with to maintain the purity of the camp. To accomplish that purity, God called for a very elaborate and public trial. If adultery was proven, it was punished with death, and this ceremony made guilt or innocence very apparent. It was not a trial with normal judicial process, since such sins are secret and lack witnesses, but it was effective. The ceremony was designed to be so terrifying and convicting that the very tendencies of human nature would make it clear if the person was guilty.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:14 spirit of jealousy. A mood of suspicion came over the husband that his wife had defiled herself with another man. The accuracy of the suspicion was determined to be right or wrong.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:15 iniquity to remembrance. The purpose of the husband’s offering was to bring the secret iniquity (if it was present) to light. How this was done is explained in 5:18, 25–26.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:18 before the Lord. The woman was brought to a priest at the tabernacle. There she was in the presence of the Lord, who knew her guilt or innocence. unbind the hair. Lit., “unbind the head.” In Lev. 10:6; 13:45; 21:10, this phrase signifies mourning. This seems to signify the expectation of judgment and consequent mourning if the woman was proven to be guilty. water of bitterness. This water included dust from the tabernacle floor (5:17) and the ink used to write the curses (5:23). The woman was to drink the water (5:26). If the woman was guilty, the water would make her life bitter by carrying out the curse of making her thigh rot and her belly swell (5:21, 27). The public, frightening nature of this test could not fail to make guilt or innocence appear when the conscience was so assaulted.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 5:28 conceive children. The penalty for the guilty wife was obvious, since the death penalty was called for. In contrast, the innocent wife was assured she would live to bring forth children.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 6:1–21 Whereas 5:1–31 dealt with the cleansing of the camp by dealing with the unclean and sinful, 6:1–21 showed how consecration to the Lord was possible for every Israelite. Although only the family of Aaron could be priests, any man or woman could be “priestly” (i.e., dedicated to God’s service) for a time (from a month to a lifetime) by means of the vow of a Nazirite. Such a vow was made by people unusually devout toward God and dedicated to his service.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 6:2 the vow of a Nazirite. The word “vow” here is related to the word “wonder,” which signifies something out of the ordinary. “Nazirite” transliterates a Hebrew term meaning “dedication by separation.” The Nazirite separated himself to the Lord by separating himself from 1) grape products (6:3–4), 2) the cutting of one’s hair (6:5), and 3) contact with a dead body (6:6–7). The high priest was also forbidden 1) to drink wine while serving in the tabernacle (Lev. 10:9), and 2) to touch dead bodies (Lev. 21:11). Further, both the high priest’s crown (Ex. 29:6; 39:30; Lev. 8:9) and the Nazirite’s head (Num. 6:9, 18) are referred to by the same Hebrew word. The Nazirite’s hair was like the high priest’s crown. Like the high priest, the Nazirite was holy to the Lord (6:8; cf. Ex. 28:36) all the days (Num. 6:4–8) of his vow.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 6:9 dies . . . suddenly. If the Nazirite inadvertently came in contact with a dead body, he was to shave his head, on the eighth day bring the prescribed offerings, and begin the days of his vow again. This is a good illustration of the fact that sin can become mingled with the best intentions, and is not always premeditated. When sin is mixed with the holiest actions, it calls for a renewed cleansing.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 6:13 completed. At the end of the determined time, the Nazirite was released from his vow through offerings and the shaving of his head. His hair was to be brought to the sanctuary at the time of those offerings (cf. Acts 18:18).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 6:22–27 Obedient Israel, organized before and consecrated to the Lord, was the recipient of God’s blessing (i.e., his favor) pronounced by the priests.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 6:24 bless. The Lord’s blessing was described as his face (i.e., his presence) shining on his people (v. 25) and looking at them (v. 26). God shone forth in benevolence on Israel and looked on them for good. keep. The results of the Lord's blessing were his preservation of Israel ("keep"), his kindness toward her ("be gracious," v. 25), and her total well-being ("peace," v. 26).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 6:27 put my name. The name of the Lord represented his person and character. The priests were to call for God to dwell among his people and meet all their needs.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 7:1–10:36 These four chapters show how the Lord spoke to Moses (7:89) and led Israel (9:22; 10:11–12) from the tabernacle. As Israel was properly oriented toward the Lord and obeyed his word, God gave them victory over their enemies (10:35).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 7:1–89 As the people of Israel had been generous in giving to the construction of the tabernacle (see Ex. 35:4–29), they showed the same generosity in its dedication.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 7:1 finished setting up the tabernacle. According to Ex. 40:17, the tabernacle was raised up on the first day of the first month of the second year. Thus the tabernacle was set up 11.5 months after the exodus from Egypt.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 7:2 the chiefs of Israel. The leaders of the 12 tribes were those named in 1:5–15 who oversaw the numbering of the people. The order of the presentation by tribe of their offerings to the tabernacle was the same as the order of march given in 2:3–32.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 7:6 the wagons and the oxen. These were to be used in the transportation of the tabernacle. According to v. 9, the sons of Kohath did not receive a cart because they were to carry the holy things of the tabernacle on their shoulders.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 7:12 the first day. I.e., the first day of the first month. The gifts of the leaders to the tabernacle were given over 12 successive days.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 7:84–88 Each of the leaders gave the same offerings to the tabernacle. Here the total of all the gifts was given.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 7:89 it spoke to him. With the completion of the tabernacle, the Lord communicated his word to Moses from the mercy seat in the Most Holy Place (see Lev. 1:1; Num. 1:1).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 8:1–4 Exodus 25:32–40 recorded the instructions for the making of the golden lampstand and Ex. 37:17–24 reported its completion. Here, as a part of the dedication of the tabernacle, the seven lamps of the lampstand were lit.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 8:5–26 This ceremony set apart the Levites to the service of the Lord. Their dedication was a feature of the overall description of the dedication of the tabernacle.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 8:6 cleanse. In contrast to the priests who were consecrated (Ex. 29:1, 9), the Levites were cleansed. According to Num. 8:7, this cleansing was accomplished by first, the sprinkling of water; second, the shaving of the body; and third, the washing of the clothes. This cleansing of the Levites made them pure so they might come into contact with the holy objects of the tabernacle. Similar requirements were given for the cleansing of the leper in Lev. 14:8–9.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 8:9 the whole congregation. Since the Levites took the place of the firstborn, who had acted as family priests among the people of Israel (see vv. 16–18), all of the congregation of Israel showed their identification with the Levites by the laying on of their hands.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 8:19 a gift to Aaron. The Levites were given by God to assist the priests. no plague. See note on 1:53.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 8:24 twenty-five years old. The Levites were to begin their service in helping the priests at age 25. However, in 4:3 the age of commencement is 30. A rabbinic suggestion was that the Levites were to serve a five-year apprenticeship. A better solution can be discovered by noting the differing tasks in the two chapters. Numbers 4 dealt with the carrying of the tabernacle, while here they helped in the service in the tabernacle. A Levite began serving in the tabernacle at 25 and carrying the tabernacle at 30. In both cases, his service ended at age 50. David later lowered the age to 20 (see 1 Chron. 23:24, 27; cf. Ezra 3:8).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:1–14 The call from the Lord to keep the Passover led to an inquiry from those whose uncleanness kept them from obeying. This request led to an amplification of the requirement by the Lord. This was the second

Passover.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:1 the first month. The events recorded in these verses precede the beginning of the census in ch. 1, but follow the dedication of the tabernacle in ch. 7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:3 twilight. The time between the end of one day and the beginning of the next. See Ex. 12:6.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:6 unclean. Ceremonially unclean because of contact with a dead body. See note on 5:2.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:10 any one . . . of your descendants. This word from the Lord was not only for the current situation, but it was a continuing ordinance for Israel. If a man was unable to eat the Passover because of uncleanness or because he was away from the land, he could partake of the Passover on the fourteenth day of the second month.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:12 This text is alluded to in John 19:36.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:13 cut off. If any Israelite did not keep the Passover at the appointed time and was not unclean or away from the land, he was to be “cut off,” which implies that he was to be killed.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:14 one statute. A non-Israelite who wished to participate in the Passover would be required to be circumcised.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:15–23 See Ex. 40:34–38. The cloud, the visible symbol of the Lord’s presence, was continually sitting above the tabernacle. The movement of the cloud was the signal to Israel that they were to travel on their journey.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:15 tabernacle was set up. The presence of the Lord arrived when the tabernacle was completed and raised up on the first day of the first month of the second year after they had come out of Egypt.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:16 cloud . . . fire. The presence of the Lord, which was seen in the cloud by day, became a fire that was seen at night (cf. Lev. 16:2).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 9:23 command . . . command. The text emphasizes that Israel obeyed the Lord at this point in her experience. Throughout the wilderness wanderings, the Israelites could only journey as the cloud led them. When it did not move, they stayed encamped where they were.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:1–10 Israel was also to be guided by the blowing of the two silver trumpets made by Moses. Both a call to gather and a call to march were communicated with the trumpets.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:2 trumpets. According to a Jewish tradition, these instruments were between 12 and 20 inches long and had a narrow tube that was flared at the end. hammered work. The same description is given concerning the cherubim above the mercy seat. See Ex. 25:18 and 37:7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:3–4 both . . . one. The first function of the trumpets was to gather the people to the tabernacle. When both trumpets were blown, all adult males of the congregation were to gather. If only one trumpet was blown, the leaders were to come.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:5 set out. The second purpose of the trumpets was to give a signal indicating that the tribes were to begin their march. The exact difference between the blowing for the gathering at the tabernacle and for the march is not known. Jewish tradition said the convocation sound was a long steady blast, while the advance signal was a succession of three shorter notes.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:8 a perpetual statute. The blowing of the horns was to be a perpetual ordinance in Israel, calling the people to worship or to war.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:11–36 Finally, in an orderly and obedient fashion, Israel departed from Sinai as the Lord commanded through Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:11 second year . . . twentieth day of the month. Only 13 months after the exodus from Egypt and 11 months after the arrival at Sinai, Israel began to march toward Canaan.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:12 the wilderness of Sinai. According to 13:26, Kadesh was in the Wilderness of Paran, probably at its northern border. This verse gives a summary of God's leading from Sinai to Kadesh.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:14–28 The order of march followed by Israel in these verses is in exact conformity to the details given in 2:1–34.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:14 standard. See note on 2:2 Nahshon. For the fourth, and final time in the book of Numbers, the 12 leaders of the first generation of Israel were noted (see chs. 1; 2; and 7). In accordance with Gen. 49:8–12, the tribe of Judah was given preeminence as the ruling tribe. It led the march into the Promised Land.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:29 Hobab. As the son of Reuel, Hobab was Moses' brother-in-law. Reuel. Reuel was the father-in-law of Moses (see Ex. 2:18). Come with us. Moses sought Hobab's help in leading Israel through the wilderness. He promised Hobab a portion of the inheritance of Israel within the land if he would come. The text of Numbers does not explicitly state whether Hobab responded to Moses or not. But Judg. 1:16 implies that Hobab agreed to Moses' request. Later, he joined with Judah in the conquest of the land and did receive the blessing of dwelling in the land.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:33 three days' journey. The Israelites traveled for three days from Sinai before they encamped for more than one night.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 10:35–36 As Israel traveled and encamped, Moses prayed that the Lord would give victory and that his presence would be among her.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:1–25:18 In contrast to Num. 1–10, a major change takes place at 11:1. Obedient Israel became complaining (11:1; 14:2, 27, 29, 36; 16:1–3, 41; 17:5) and rebellious (14:9; 17:10) Israel. Ultimately, Moses and Aaron rebelled against the Lord as well (20:10, 24). In response to Israel's disobedience, the Lord's anger was aroused (11:1, 10, 33; 12:9; 14:18; 25:3–4) and he plagued his people (14:37; 16:46–50; 25:8–9, 18) as he had Pharaoh and the Egyptians (Ex. 9:14; 12:13; 30:12). Nevertheless, even though God judged that generation of Israel, he will still fulfill his promises to Abraham in the future (23:5–24:24).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:1–12:16 The complaining of the people and leaders began on the journey from Sinai to Kadesh.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:1 the Lord heard it. Their complaining was outward and loud. outlying parts of the camp. God in his grace consumed only those who were on the very edges of the encampment of Israel.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:4 the rabble. The word occurs only here in the OT. However, another word, "multitude," was used in Ex. 12:38. The "rabble" here are non-Israelites who left Egypt with Israel in the exodus. meat. After over a year of eating manna in the wilderness, the mixed multitude wanted the spicy food of Egypt once again.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:7 manna. See Ex. 16:14. bdellium. This refers more to appearance than color, i.e., it had the appearance of a pale resin.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:13–14 Moses confessed to God that he was not able to provide meat for the people as they demanded. Their complaining was discouraging him so that because of this great burden, Moses desired death from the hand of the Lord.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:16–30 In response to Moses' despair in leading the people, the Lord gave him 70 men to help.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:16 seventy men. These aides to Moses might be the same 70 referred to in Ex. 18:21–26.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:17 the Spirit. This refers to the Spirit of God. It was by means of the Holy Spirit that Moses was able to lead Israel. In v. 25, the Lord gave the Spirit to the 70 men in fulfillment of the word he gave to Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:21 six hundred thousand. Moses rounded off the 603,550 of 1:46 and 2:32.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:23 Is the Lord's hand shortened? The Lord indicated he was able to do as he had said and provide meat for the 600,000 men of Israel and their families for one month.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:25 prophesied. Here the prophesying refers to the giving of praise and similar expressions of worship to the Lord without prior training. The text is clear that this was a one-time event as far as these men were concerned.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:29 that the Lord would put his Spirit on them! Moses desired and anticipated the day when all of God's people would have his Spirit within them. By this, he looked forward to the New Covenant. See Ezek. 36:22–27; Jer. 31:31ff.; Joel 2:28.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:31 a day's journey. The Lord, using a wind, brought a great quantity of quail that surrounded the encampment within one day's journey. about two cubits above the ground. The birds flew at a height of about 3 feet where they were able to be easily captured or clubbed to the ground by the people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 11:32 ten homers. About 60–70 bushels.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 12:1–16 The brother and sister of Moses opposed his leadership. The immediate occasion was the prophesying of the elders. Moses' position as the spokesman for God to Israel was called into question.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 12:1 Cushite. Ethiopia (also known as Cush), south of Egypt, was inhabited by the descendants of Cush, the firstborn son of Ham (Gen. 10:6–7). Although the term “Cushite” could have been used concerning Zipporah, Moses' first wife, it seems more likely that Moses had remarried after the death of Zipporah. The marriage to the Ethiopian woman had been recent and furnished the pretext for the attack of Miriam and Aaron. Since Miriam is mentioned first, she probably was the instigator of the attack against Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 12:2 spoken only through Moses. Miriam and Aaron asserted that God had spoken to them in the same way that he had spoken to Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 12:3 very meek. This statement is often cited as evidence that Moses could not have written the book of Numbers, for he would not have boasted in his own humility. However, the Holy Spirit certainly could inspire Moses to make an accurate statement about himself, probably against his own natural inclination. In this context, Moses was asserting there was nothing that he had done to provoke this attack by Miriam and Aaron.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 12:5 the Lord came down. As in Gen. 11:5, this clause states that the Lord knows and deals with situations on earth. Here the Lord came down and, in Num. 12:10, departed. This was God's answer to the attack against Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 12:7 my servant Moses. This phrase is also repeated in v. 8. A servant of the Lord in the OT is one who responded in faith by obedience to the word of the Lord. faithful in all my house. A reference to Moses' loyal performance of his role as covenant mediator between the Lord and Israel.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 12:8 mouth to mouth. God spoke to Moses without mediation. Also the Lord did not speak to Moses through visions and dreams, but plainly. It was not that Moses saw the full glory of God (cf. John 1:18), but rather that he had the most explicit, intimate encounters (cf. Deut. 34:10). the form of the Lord. This is the likeness or representation of the Lord that Moses was privileged to see. See Ex. 33:23.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 12:10 leprous. In judgment of Miriam's opposition to Moses, the Lord struck her with leprosy. For the treatment of a leper, see Lev. 13–14. A public sin required a public response from the Lord.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 12:16 wilderness of Paran. See note on 10:12.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:1–14:45 These chapters record the massive failure of Israel at Kadesh. The people failed to believe the Lord (14:11) and take the Promised Land. Their lack of faith was open rebellion against the Lord (14:9). The NT looks back to these times as an illustration of apostasy (cf. 1 Cor. 10:5; Heb. 3:16–19).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:1 The Lord spoke to Moses. According to Deut. 1:22–23, the people had first requested the spies be sent out after Moses challenged them to take the land. Here, the Lord affirmed the peoples' desire and commanded Moses to send them.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:2 spy out the land of Canaan. The spies were specifically called to explore the land that God had promised to Israel. This exploration gave valuable information to Moses for the conquest of the land.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:3 heads of the people of Israel. These leaders were different from those mentioned in Num. 1; 2; 7; and 10. Presumably the tribal leaders in the four earlier lists were older men. The task for the spies called for some leaders who were younger, probably about 40 years of age, based on the ages of Caleb and Joshua.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:16 Hoshea . . . Joshua. For reasons not made clear, Moses changed the name of Hoshea, meaning “desire for salvation,” to Joshua, meaning “the Lord is salvation.”

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:17–20 The spies were to determine the nature of the land itself, as well as the strengths and weaknesses of the people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:20 the time was the season of the first ripe grapes.

Mid-summer (mid to late July).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:21 from the wilderness of Zin to Rehob. These were the southernmost and northernmost borders of the land.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:22 Hebron. The first major city the spies came to in Canaan. Abram had earlier built an altar to the Lord here (cf. Gen. 13:18). Abraham and Isaac were buried here (Gen. 49:31). The city had been fortified at about 1730 B.C., seven years before the building of Zoan in Egypt, and later became the inheritance of Caleb (Josh. 14:13–15) and then David’s capital when he reigned over Judah (2 Sam. 2:1–4). the descendants of Anak. Cf. Num. 13:28. Anak was probably the ancestor of Ahiman, Sheshiai, and Talmi, who were living at Hebron. They were noted for their height (Deut. 2:21; 9:2).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:23 the Valley of Eshcol. Eshcol means “cluster.”

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:28 the people . . . are strong. The spies reported that the land was good; however, the people were too strong to be conquered.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:30 Caleb quieted the people. The verb “quieted” usually occurs in the form of the interjection “Hush!” This implies that the spies report evoked a vocal reaction from the people. Caleb concurred with the report of the other spies, but called the people to go up and take the land, knowing that with God’s help they were able to overcome the strong people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:32 a bad report. The report of the 10 spies was evil because it exaggerated the dangers of the people in the land, sought to stir up and instill fear in the people of Israel and, most important, it expressed their faithless attitude toward God and his promises.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 13:33 Nephilim. This term was used in Gen. 6:4 for a group of strong men who lived on the earth before the flood. The descendants of Anak were, in exaggeration, compared to these giants, which led the spies to view themselves as grasshoppers before them.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:1 all the congregation . . . wept. All of Israel bewailed the circumstances.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:2 grumbled. The term means “to murmur.” Specifically they wished they had died in Egypt or the wilderness.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:4 choose a leader and go back to Egypt. The faithless people were ready to reject God’s leader, Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:6 tore their clothes. This was an indication of distress (see Gen. 37:29).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:7–9 Joshua and Caleb reaffirmed their appraisal that the land was good and their confidence that the Lord would deliver it and its people into their hands.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:10 the glory of the Lord appeared. In response to the people’s violent rejection of Joshua and Caleb’s challenge, God appeared.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:11 despise . . . not believe in me. They had refused to trust or rely on God and his power to give them the land of Canaan in spite of the signs that he had done in their midst.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:12 I will make of you a nation. As in Ex. 32:9–10, God threatened to wipe out the people and start over again with Moses’ “son.” This justifiable threat showed the seriousness with which God took rebellion on the part of his people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:13–19 As in Ex. 32:11–13, Moses interceded for Israel to protect the Lord’s reputation with the Egyptians, who would charge the Lord with inability to complete his deliverance of Israel and thus deny his power. Second, the Lord’s loyal love was the basis on which the Lord could forgive his people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:22 ten times. Taken literally this includes: 1) Ex. 14:10–12; 2) Ex. 15:22–24; 3) Ex. 16:1–3; 4) Ex. 16:19–20; 5) Ex. 16:27–30; 6) Ex. 17:1–4; 7) Ex. 32:1–35; 8) Num. 11:1–3; 9) Num. 11:4–34; and 10) Num. 14:3.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:24 my servant Caleb. Since Caleb was recognized as one who feared and trusted the Lord, he later rewarded his faith (cf. Josh. 14).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:25 turn . . . and set out for the wilderness. Because of Israel’s refusal to enter the land, instead of continuing northward, God commanded they move southward toward the Gulf of Aqabah.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:26–35 The Lord granted the Israelites their wish, i.e., their judgment was that they would die in the wilderness (vv. 29, 35: cf. v. 2). Their children, however, whom they thought would become victims (v. 3), God would bring into the land of Canaan (vv. 30–32). The present generation of rebels would die in the wilderness until 40 years were completed. The 40 years were calculated as one year for each day the spies were in Canaan.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:37 died by plague. As an indication of the certainty of the coming judgment, the 10 spies who undermined the people’s faith were struck by the plague and died.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 14:44 they presumed to go up to the heights of the hill country. With characteristic obstinacy, the people rejected Moses’ counsel and the Lord’s command and went to attack the Amalekites in the hill country. Since the Lord was not with them, they were defeated.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:1–41 Even though the Israelites had rebelled against the Lord and were under his judgment, the Lord still planned to give the land of Canaan to them. These laws assumed Israel’s entrance into the land (15:2, 17).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:1–16 The law of the grain offering recorded here differs from that given in Lev. 2. The grain offerings in Leviticus were offered separately as a gift to the Lord. Here, for the first time, grain and drink offerings were allowed to be offered along with either a burnt or a peace offering.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:4 ephah . . . hin. Measurements equal to 4 to 6 gallons and 6 to 8 pints.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:17–21 This regulation pertained to the offering of the firstfruits of the harvest. When the people entered the land of Canaan and began to enjoy its produce, they were to show their devotion to the Lord by presenting to him a cake baked from the first cuttings of the grain.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:22 sin unintentionally. Sin offerings were prescribed whenever any of the Lord’s commands were disobeyed accidentally, i.e., by unintentional neglect or omission. In vv. 24–26, the offerings for the whole community were given. In vv. 27–29, the offerings for the individual person who sinned unintentionally were stated.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:30 does anything with a high hand. These sins, committed knowingly and deliberately, were described as blasphemous because they were an arrogant act of insubordination against the Lord. Anyone guilty of presumptuous sin was to be excommunicated from Israel and put to death.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:32–36 This was an illustration of defiant sin. When it was determined that there was a premeditated violation of the Sabbath law, death was required.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:37–38 tassels. These blue tassels were in the form of a flower or petal and were attached to the garments of the Israelites to remind them of their need to trust and obey God’s commands.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 15:41 the Lord. This reminder harkens back to Moses’ first encounter with the Lord in the desert (Ex. 3:13–22).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:1–18:32 In 16:1–40, Korah (a Levite), allied with some Reubenites and other leaders of Israel, instigated an organized opposition to the authority of Aaron and the priests. Their argument against Moses and Aaron was that by claiming the unique right and responsibility to represent the people before God, they exalted themselves based on the promise that “all in the congregation are holy, every one of them, and the Lord is among them” (16:3). The Lord dealt with these rebels (16:4–40) and reaffirmed his choice of Aaron (16:41–17:13). Finally, the Lord restated the duties and support of both the priests and Levites (18:1–32). These events took place at some unidentified place and time during Israel’s wilderness wanderings.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:1 Korah. Korah was descended from Levi through Kohath. Being a son of Kohath, he already had significant duties at the tabernacle (see 4:1–20). However, he desired further to be a priest (see 16:10).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:8 sons of Levi. Other Levites were involved in this rebellion with Korah.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:12 Dathan and Abiram. These two men of the tribe of Reuben despised Moses, blaming him for taking Israel out of the land of Egypt and failing to bring them into the land of Canaan. Because of Moses’ perceived failure, they attacked him, joining with Korah in the rebellion against Moses and Aaron.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:15 I have not harmed one of them. Moses pled his innocence before the Lord, claiming to have been a true servant-leader. This confirms that Num. 12:3 could have been written by Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:16–35 God judged those who rebelled against Moses and Aaron by putting them to death.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:21 The Lord answered Moses' intercession by calling the people to depart from the tents of the rebels so that only they would be judged.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:22 God of the spirits of all flesh. This phrase appears only here and in 27:16. Moses called on the omniscient God—who knows the heart of everyone—to judge those who had sinned, and those only.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:30 something new. This supernatural opening of the earth to swallow the rebels was a sign of God's wrath and the vindication of Moses and Aaron.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:32 their households. Numbers 26:11 indicates that this did not include their children.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:36–40 The 250 leaders of Israel had brought censers filled with fire before the Lord (16:17–18). The censers were holy to the Lord since they had been used in the tabernacle. Therefore, Eleazar was commanded to hammer out the metal censers into a covering for the altar. That covering was to be a perpetual reminder that God had chosen Aaron and his descendants for the priesthood.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:41–50 Instead of bringing about the repentance of the people, the Lord's wrath only led to more complaining. Though the children of Israel held Moses and Aaron accountable for the people who had been killed by the Lord, it was the intervention of Moses and Aaron for the entire nation that saved them from destruction because of their opposition to God.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:46 incense. Incense was symbolic of prayer. Aaron interceded in prayer and the plague stopped (v. 48).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 16:49 14,700. See 1 Cor. 10:10.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:2 twelve staffs. These sticks of wood were to bear the names of the 12 tribes, with the tribe of Levi replaced by the name Aaron.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:4 before the testimony. The testimony is the Ten Commandments written on two stone tablets kept in the ark of the covenant. The phrase “before the testimony” is synonymous with “before the ark.”

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:8 the staff of Aaron. God had stated that the stick of the man he had chosen would blossom (17:5). The stick of Aaron had not only blossomed, but had yielded ripe almonds. Thus God had exceeded the demands of the test, so there would be no uncertainty of the fact that Aaron had been chosen as high priest.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:10 a sign. Aaron’s rod that blossomed and brought forth fruit was to be kept as an indication of God’s choice in order to permanently stop the murmuring of the rebellious Israelites.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:12 Behold, we perish. Finally, the people realized their sin in challenging Aaron’s role.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 17:13 comes near. The people’s fear of going near to God led to a reaffirmation of the priesthood of Aaron and his sons in ch. 18.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:1–7 Only Aaron and his family could minister with the holy articles of the sanctuary of God.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:1 the Lord said to Aaron. Only here in vv. 1–25 and in Lev. 10:8 does the Lord speak directly to Aaron alone. bear iniquity. Aaron and his sons from this point forward were responsible for any offense against the holiness of the tabernacle or violations of the rules of priesthood.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:7 priesthood as a gift. Even though the priesthood demanded much, the priests were to view it as a gift from the Lord.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:8–20 In return for their service to the Lord, the priests were to receive a portion of the offerings that the people presented in worship. They could keep all of the parts of the sacrifices not consumed on the altar by fire. Also, the offerings of firstfruits and everything devoted to the Lord were theirs as well.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:19 a covenant of salt forever. Salt, which does not burn, was a metaphor to speak of durability. As salt keeps its flavor, so the Lord’s covenant with the priesthood was durable. The Lord would provide through the offerings of his people for his priests forever.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:21–24 The Levites received the tithes from the people. This was their source of income and compensation for their tabernacle service.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 18:25–32 As the Levites themselves received the tithe, they were also required to present a tithe (a tenth) of what they received to the Lord.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:1–22 Over a period of 38.5 years, over 1.2 million people died in the wilderness because of God’s judgment. The Israelites were continually coming into contact with dead bodies, which led to ceremonial uncleanness. Therefore, the Lord provided a means of purification so that those who came into contact with dead bodies might be cleansed.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:1–10 The provision given for the preparation of the “water for impurity” (cf. Lev. 12–15).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:2 red heifer without defect. A reddish brown cow, probably young since no yoke had been laid on it. This cow was burned and its ashes were used as the agent of purification (see v. 9).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:3 Eleazar. The son of Aaron was a deputy high priest who was in charge of the slaughter of the red cow. outside the camp. The red cow was killed outside the camp of Israel, and its ashes were stored there as well (see v. 9). Hebrews 13:11–13 picks up the image of “outside the camp” as it relates to Christ’s death outside of Jerusalem.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:6 cedarwood and hyssop and scarlet. The cow was totally consumed by the fire along with these three materials, which were also used in the ritual of purification of skin disease (Lev. 14:1–9). The ashes of all these and the cow were mixed to make the agent by which cleansing could take place.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:11–22 A general statement regarding the use of the “water for impurity” (vv. 11–13) is followed by a more detailed explanation of the procedure to be followed.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 19:18 a clean person. Any clean person, not just priests, could sprinkle the unclean with the water for impurity.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:1–22:1 These chapters record the beginning of the transition from the old generation (represented by Miriam and Aaron) to the new generation (represented by Eleazar). Geographically, Israel moves from Kadesh (20:1) to the plains of Moab (22:1) from where the conquest of the land would be launched. There is an interval of 37 years between 19:22 and 20:1.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:1–13 Just as the children of Israel failed to trust in the Lord (14:11) and thus were not allowed to go into the Promised Land (14:30), Israel's leaders, Moses and Aaron, would also not go into the land because of failure to trust in the Lord.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:1 the first month. The year is not stated. However, at the end of this chapter, there is a report of the death of Aaron. According to Num. 33:38, Aaron died on the first day of the fifth month of the fortieth year after the exodus from Egypt. Thus, the first month here must be of the fortieth year. Most of the older generation had died in the wilderness. Kadesh. As the people had begun their wilderness wanderings at Kadesh (13:26), so they ended them there. Kadesh was located on the northern boundary of the wilderness of Paran (13:26) and on the southeast border of the wilderness of Zin. Miriam died. Miriam, who led Israel in celebrating the victory over Egypt at the Red Sea (Ex. 15:20–21), also led the attack against Moses recorded in Num. 12:1–15. Her death served as a symbol that the old generation would not enter Canaan.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:2 no water. During Israel's 40 years in the wilderness, water was their greatest physical need. The Lord had provided it continually, beginning at Horeb (Ex. 17:1–7). The present lack of water stirred the people to contend with Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:3 Would that we had perished when our brothers perished. The situation was so desperate in the people's mind that they wished they had been among those who died in Korah's rebellion (16:41–50).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:6 fell on their faces. As he had done in the past, Moses sought the Lord's counsel (see 14:5; 16:4).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:8 tell the rock. Though God told Moses to take his rod with which he had performed many wonders in the past (Ex. 4:1–5; 7:19–21; 14:16; 17:5–6), he was only to speak to the rock for it to yield water.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:10 you rebels. Instead of speaking to the rock, Moses spoke to the people, accusing them of being rebels against God. By his actions, Moses joined the people in rebellion against God (see 27:14).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:12 you did not believe in me. The Lord's evaluation of Moses was that he failed to take God at his word and thus to treat him as holy to the people. Moses here failed in the same way as Israel had at Kadesh 38 years previously (14:11). you shall not bring this assembly into the land. God's judgment upon Moses for his sin of striking the rock was that he would not take Israel into the land of Canaan. The inclusion of Aaron demonstrated his partnership with Moses in the action against the Lord.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:13 Meribah. Lit., "contention, quarreling" (see esv footnote). The same name was used earlier at the first occasion of bringing water from the rock (Ex. 17:7).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:14–21 Moses' attempt to pass through the territory of Edom was rejected by the king.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:14 your brother Israel. The people of Edom were descended from Esau, the brother of Jacob (see Gen. 36:1).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:17 the King's Highway. The major north-south trade route from the Gulf of Aqabah north to Damascus, which passed through the Edomite city of Sela.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:20 with a large army and with a strong force. The king of Edom sent out his army to intercept Israel. Since Israel was forbidden by the Lord to engage in warfare with Edom (Deut. 2:4–6), they turned away from Edom's border.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:22–29 Eleazar succeeded his father Aaron as high priest. Aaron's death further marked the passing of the first generation.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:22 Mount Hor. Likely a mountain to the northeast of Kadesh on the border of Edom.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:24 because you rebelled against my command. Aaron had joined Moses in rebellion against God (v. 12). Aaron's death foreshadowed the death of Moses.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 20:29 wept . . . thirty days. This was the same mourning period as for Moses (Deut. 34:8). Since the normal time for mourning was seven days (see Gen. 50:10), the length of this mourning showed the importance of Aaron and the loss to Israel.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:1–3 Israel's first victory over the Canaanites occurred at Hormah, the place they had previously been defeated (see 14:45).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:1 king of Arad. This raiding king came from a Canaanite city in the south (i.e., the Negeb).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:3 they devoted them . . . to destruction. Israel vowed to the Lord that if he would give them victory over Arad, they would completely destroy them, not claiming the spoils of victory for themselves. The Lord responded to this vow and gave victory.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:4–9 After their victory over Arad, Israel showed again their lack of obedience toward the Lord.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:4 by the way to the Red Sea. Cf. Deut. 2:1. Since the way through Edom was barred, Moses turned to the south to take Israel around Edom. Thus, Israel journeyed toward Elath on the coast of the Gulf of Aqabah. This long, circuitous route led to impatience and frustration on the part of Israel.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:5 this worthless food. The people's impatience led them to despise the manna (see 11:6).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:6 fiery serpents. So called because these snake bites inflicted a fiery inflammation.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:7 We have sinned. The people confessed their iniquity and asked that they might be released from the judgment God had sent.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:9 a bronze serpent. One had to fix his gaze upon this snake, a definite act of the will, if he wanted to be healed and live. See the typological use of this incident in John 3:14–15.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:10–20 Israel circled around both Edom and Moab and encamped on the north side of the Arnon River in the territory of the Amorites.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:14 the Book of the Wars of the Lord. This was apparently a book of victory songs that was current at the time of Moses, possibly written by Moses or a contemporary. The work is cited here as evidence that the Arnon River was the northern boundary of Moab.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:16 Beer. Lit., “well.” Here God provided water for Israel. In response, Israel praised the Lord with a song that might have also come from “the Book of the Wars of the Lord” (vv. 17–18).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:21–32 As with Edom (20:14–19), Israel requested passage through the land of Sihon, a king of the Amorites. Since there was no requirement from the Lord not to engage the Amorites in warfare as there had been for Edom, when Sihon brought out his army, he was attacked and defeated by Israel. Israel thus took the land bounded by the Arnon River on the south, the Dead Sea and Jordan River on the west, the Jabbok River on the north, and the land of the Ammonites on the east.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:27 the ballad singers say. These words came from the wise men, probably among the Amorites. The words of vv. 27–30 describe the Amorites’ defeat of the Moabites north of the Arnon River. Ironically, as the Amorites had taken the land from the Moabites, the Israelites had taken the land from the Amorites. The purpose of these words cited by Moses was to substantiate Israel’s right to this land. According to God’s commandments, the territory belonging to the Moabites was not to be taken by Israel because the Moabites were descendants of Lot (Deut. 2:9). However, what belonged to the Amorites had been promised to Israel and was theirs for the taking.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 21:33–35 The land north of the Jabbok River was under the control of Og, another Amorite king. Og attacked Israel and suffered a devastating defeat. Thus, all of the land in the Transjordan from the Arnon River in the south to the heights of Bashan in the north came under Israelite control.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:1 With their control of Transjordan secured, Israel moved unimpeded to the plains of Moab in preparation for assaulting Canaan.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:2–24:25 The narrative changes to center on Balaam, a pagan prophet. His oracles reassert the faithfulness of the Lord to the Abrahamic Covenant and his purpose to bless Israel. In 22:2–40, the events leading to Balaam’s words are recorded. This is followed in 22:41–24:24 with the words of his prophecies, and the conclusion is in 24:25.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:3 Moab was in great dread. The Moabites were descendants of Lot (see Gen. 19:36–37). Balak, their king, had seen how the Israelites destroyed the Amorites. Not knowing that Israel was forbidden by God to attack Moab, he was terrified that the same end awaited him and his people (Deut. 2:9).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:4 Midian. The Midianites were descendants of Abraham through Keturah (see Gen. 25:1–4), who lived south of Moab’s border. When Moab communicated to the elders of Midian that they were in danger of being destroyed by Israel as well, they joined with Moab in an alliance to defeat Israel.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:5 Balaam. Balaam was from Pethor, a city on the Euphrates River, perhaps near Mari, where the existence of a cult of prophets whose activities resembled those of Balaam have been found. Balaam practiced magic and divination (24:1) and eventually led Israel into apostasy (31:16). Later Scripture identifies Balaam as a false prophet (Deut. 23:3–6; Josh. 13:22; 24:9–10; Neh. 13:1–3; Micah 6:5; 2 Pet. 2:15–16; Jude 11; Rev. 2:14).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:6 curse this people. Knowing that Israel was too strong to defeat militarily, Balak called for Balaam to come and curse Israel. A curse was a spoken word that was believed to bring misfortune upon the one it was spoken against. Balak acknowledged that Balaam had the reputation of pronouncing curses that actually worked.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:8 as the Lord speaks to me. Throughout these chapters Balaam himself used the name “Lord,” i.e., Israel’s God (22:13, 18–19; 23:3, 12; 24:13). In 22:18 he even called the Lord, “the Lord my God.” In this verse it must be assumed that Balaam expected the God of Israel to speak to him. As a pagan prophet he would anticipate making contact with the gods of any people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:9 God came to Balaam. Israel’s God did communicate to Balaam. However, rather than using the term “Lord,” which indicates a covenant relationship, God consistently used the word “God” when he spoke to him (22:9, 12, 20). Though Balaam used the word “Lord,” the biblical text makes it clear that he did not have a relationship with Israel’s God.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:12 they are blessed. Balaam could not curse Israel because the Lord had determined to give them blessing only.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:20 only do what I tell you. Because of his great desire for the material wealth that would come to him, Balaam desired to go to Balak. He implored the Lord even after God had told him not to go. God acceded to Balaam's request to let him go, but told him that he could speak only the true message from God.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:22 because he went. Even though God had given Balaam permission to go (v. 20), he knew that his motive was not right. Thus the anger of the Lord burned against Balaam because God knew that he was not yet submissive to what he required. The result of God's confrontation with Balaam was a reaffirmation of the word given in v. 20, repeated in v. 35, that he was to speak only the words that God wanted him to speak. That Balaam got the message is explicitly stated in v. 38. the angel of the Lord. The angel of the Lord was a manifestation of the presence of the Lord himself. He was equated with deity (see Gen. 16:7; 18:1–2; Ex. 3:1–6). See note on Ex. 3:2.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:28 the Lord opened the mouth of the donkey. Balaam's donkey was able to see the angel of the Lord with his drawn sword (v. 23, 25, 27). Realizing the danger to herself, she sought to avoid the angel. In doing this, she preserved Balaam as well. Miraculously, the donkey was able to communicate with Balaam.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:31 the Lord opened the eyes of Balaam. The Lord allowed Balaam to see things as they really were, especially those things that are not ordinarily visible to humans, and to be submissive to his will as he went to Balak.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 22:41–23:12 Balaam's first oracle emphatically stated that Israel could not be cursed (23:8). She was unlike all the other nations of the world (23:9). Balaam even wished to share in her blessing (23:10).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:5 the Lord put a word in Balaam's mouth. Even though Balak and Balaam offered sacrifices on pagan altars, it was the Lord who gave Balaam his oracle.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:7 Balaam took up his discourse. This statement introduces each of Balaam's speeches (vv. 7, 18; 24:3, 20, 21, 23).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:10 Who can count the dust of Jacob. Here is Oriental hyperbole signifying a very populous nation as Jacob's posterity was to be (cf.

Gen. 13:16; 28:14). fourth part of Israel. The camp was divided into four parts, one on each side of the tabernacle. If one could not count the part, certainly no one could count the whole.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:13–26 Balaam’s second oracle reaffirmed the Lord’s determination to bless Israel. The iniquity in Israel was mercifully set aside by the Lord (23:21) and therefore would not stop his plan. The God who supernaturally brought Israel out of Egypt (23:22) would give victory over all her enemies (23:24).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:19 God is not man. In contrast to the unreliability of man, so well seen in Balaam himself, God is reliable and immutable. He does not change; therefore, his words always come to pass.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:27–24:14 Balaam’s third oracle focused on the ultimate King (the “Messiah”), who would bring the blessings of the Abrahamic Covenant both to Israel and the nations.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 23:28 Peor. Also named Beth-peor (Deut. 3:29), it was the location of a temple to Baal (Num. 25:3).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:2 the Spirit of God came upon him. This terminology was regularly used in the OT for those whom God uniquely prepared to do his work (see Judg. 3:10). Unlike the previous two oracles, Balaam does not involve himself in divination before giving this third oracle. He is empowered with the Holy Spirit to utter God’s message accurately.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:3 whose eye is opened. His inner eye of understanding had been opened by God’s Spirit.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:7 Agag. In 1 Sam. 15:32–33, an Amalekite king bore this name. The Amalekites were the first people to attack Israel after they left Egypt (see Ex. 17:8–15). “Agag” may be a proper name or a title of Amalekite rulers, like “Pharaoh” in Egypt.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:8 God brings him out of Egypt. Because of the verbal similarities between v. 8 and v. 9, with 23:22 and 23:24, the “him” in this verse is usually interpreted to be Israel. However, since the “him” is singular and the closest reference in 24:7 is to the coming king, it is better to see vv. 8 and 9 as referring to Israel’s king. Numbers 24:9 is a direct quote from Gen. 49:9, which speaks of the ultimate King who will come from Judah—the Messiah.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:9 Blessed are those who bless you. These words refer to Gen. 12:3. The ultimate fulfillment of the Abrahamic Covenant centers upon the coming Messiah. It is the one who blesses Israel who will ultimately reap God’s blessing in the future.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:14 in the latter days. Lit., “at the end of days.” This term is rightfully used in the OT for the distant future. Balaam’s fourth oracle takes the truth communicated in the third and applies it to Moab.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:15–19 Balaam’s fourth oracle predicted the future coming of Israel’s king, who would “crush the forehead of Moab” and conquer Edom. He will have total dominion.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 24:20–24 Balaam’s final three oracles look at the future of the nations. First, Amalek will come to an end (24:20). Second, the Kenites, identical to or a part of the Midianites, will be carried away by Asshur, i.e., Assyria (24:21–22). Third, Assyria and Eber, probably Israel herself (Gen. 10:21), will be afflicted by Cyprus or Kittim (Kittim came to represent the Mediterranean region west of Palestine and in Dan. 11:30 refers to Rome), until Cyprus comes to ruin.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:1–18 The final failure of Israel before the conquest of Canaan occurred in the plains of Moab. According to 31:16, the incident was brought about by the counsel of Balaam. Failing to be able to curse Israel, he gave the Moabites and Midianites direction in how to provoke the Lord’s anger against his people.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:1 Shittim. The region across the Jordan River from Jericho where Israel invaded the land of Canaan (see Josh. 2:1).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:3 yoked himself to Baal of Peor. Israel engaged in acts of sexual immorality with the women of Moab. Since this was part of the pagan cult that was worshiped by the Moabites, the Israelites joined in these idolatrous practices. The Israelites yoked themselves to the false god of the Moabites and the Midianites, referred to as Baal of Peor. This was a violation of the first commandment.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:6 Midianite woman. Cf. vv. 14–15.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:9 twenty-four thousand. This is to be differentiated from the plague over the golden calf where 23,000 died (cf. Ex. 32:1–14, 28; 1 Cor. 10:8).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:10–13 Because of Phinehas’ zeal for God’s holiness, the Lord made a “covenant of a perpetual priesthood” with him so that through his family line would come all future, legitimate high priests (cf. Ps. 106:30–31). This promise will extend even into the millennial kingdom (cf. Ezek. 40:46; 44:10, 15; 48:11).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 25:17 Harass the Midianites. Because the Midianites had attacked Israel by their schemes of sexual and idolatrous seduction, the Lord called Israel to attack them in return. This attack is recorded in 31:1–24.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:1–36:13 The final major section of Numbers records the renewed obedience of Israel. God continued to speak (26:1, 2, 52; 27:6, 12, 18; 28:1; 31:1, 25; 33:50; 34:1, 16; 35:1, 9), and the second generation of Israel obeyed. Most of the commandments in this section related to Israel’s life after they entered the land.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:1–32:42 These chapters begin and end speaking of going to war (26:2; 32:20, 29, 32) and the ensuing inheritance of Canaan (26:52–56; 32:32). Israel was being prepared for the conquest of the Promised Land.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:1–51 This second census, like the first taken over 38 years earlier (1:1–46), counted all the men 20 years of age and older, fit for military service.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:5–51 The numbers for each tribe with the net gain or loss were as follows:

Reuben	43,730 (v. 7 )	-2,770
Simeon	22,200 (v. 14 )	-37,100
Gad	40,500 (v. 18 )	-5,150
Judah	76,500 (v. 22 )	+1,900
Issachar	64,300 (v. 25 )	+9,900
Zebulun	60,500 (v. 27 )	+3,100
Manasseh	52,700 (v. 34 )	+20,500
Ephraim	32,500 (v. 37 )	-8,000
Benjamin	45,600 (v. 41 )	+10,200

Dan	64,400 (v. 43 )	+1,700
Asher	53,400 (v. 47 )	+11,900
Naphtali	45,400 (v. 50 )	-8,000
Total	601,730 (v. 51 )	-1,820

The great decline in the tribe of Simeon might be due to its participation in the sin of Baal of Peor (see 25:14).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:9 Dathan, and Abiram. These were singled out for special mention because of their part in the rebellion recorded in 16:1–40. Mention of them was a reminder of God’s judgment against rebellion.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:11 the sons of Korah. These sons of Korah were spared judgment because they separated themselves from their father’s house (see 16:26).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:19 Er and Onan. These two sons of Judah did not receive an inheritance in the land because of their great evil (see Gen. 38:1–10).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:33 Zelophehad. The mentioning of Zelophehad having no sons, but only daughters, laid the basis for the laws of inheritance stated in 27:1–11 and 36:1–12.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:52–56 These census numbers would be used to decide the size of each tribe’s inheritance in the land. The exact locations would be determined by lot (see Josh. 13:1–7; 14:1–19:51 for the outworking of these words).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 26:57–65 As in the first census (3:14–39), the Levites were counted separately. The total number of Levites was 23,000 (26:62), an increase of 1,000 over the previous census (see 3:39).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:1–11 The coming distribution of the land of Canaan presented a dilemma for the family of Zelophehad since he had no sons. His five daughters boldly asked that they inherit their father’s name and his inheritance (vv. 1–4). The Lord’s decision that the daughters should receive his inheritance became the basis of a perpetual statute in Israel governing inheritances (vv. 5–11).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:3 died for his own sin. Zelophehad had not been involved in Korah's rebellion. Instead, he had died under God's judgment in the wilderness, like the rest of the faithless exodus generation.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:8–11 The following is the order of inheritance: son, daughter, brother, paternal uncle, and closest relative in the family. This same order (with the exception of the daughter) was followed in Lev. 25:48–49 dealing with the various cases of redemption of the land in the jubilee year.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:12–14 God reaffirmed that Moses could not enter the land of Canaan, although he was able to see it from Mount Nebo, across from Jericho (see Deut. 32:49).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:15–17 Moses' greatest concern was that Israel have a good leader who was like a shepherd. The Lord answered his request in the man Joshua.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:18 lay your hand on him. Joshua already had the inner endowment for leadership. He was empowered by the Holy Spirit. This inner endowment was to be recognized by an external ceremony. Moses publicly laid his hands upon Joshua. This act signified the transfer of Moses' leadership to Joshua. The laying on of hands can accompany a dedication to an office (see 8:10).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:20 invest him with some of your authority. Moses was to pass on some of the "honor" or "majesty" that he had to Joshua. See Josh. 3:7.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 27:21 Eleazar . . . shall inquire for him. Moses had been able to communicate directly with God (12:8), but Joshua would receive the word from the Lord through the high priest. Urim. See note on Ex. 28:30 for this part of the high priest's breastpiece (Ex. 39:8–21) as a means of determining God's will (cf. Deut. 33:8; 1 Sam. 28:6).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:1–29:40 Instructions concerning the regular celebrations in Israel's worship calendar had been given previously. Now, poised to enter the land, Moses gave an orderly reiteration and summary of the regular offerings for each time of celebration, adding some additional offerings.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:3–8 See Ex. 29:38–42.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:9–10 These were newly revealed offerings for the Sabbath.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:11–15 These were newly revealed offerings for the “beginnings of your months.”

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:16–25 See Lev. 23:5–8.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 28:26–31 See Lev. 23:18.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 29:1–6 See Lev. 23:23–25.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 29:7–11 See Lev. 23:26–32.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 29:12–38 See Lev. 23:33–43.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:1–16 This chapter added clarification to the laws regarding vows given in Lev. 27:1–33. The basic principle for men is restated in Num. 30:2. Then, it was asserted that a man was also responsible for the vows made by women in his household (vv. 3–16). A father or husband could overrule the vow of a daughter or wife, but a man’s silence, if he knew of the vow, meant it must be accomplished.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:2 a vow . . . bind himself by a pledge. A promise to do something or a promise not to do something. Christ could have had this text in mind (Matt. 5:33).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 30:9 a widow or of a divorced woman. These were not viewed as being under a man’s authority, so the word of the woman alone sufficed.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:1–54 This chapter has many links with previous passages in Numbers: vengeance on Midian (vv. 2–3; 25:17–18); Zur the Midianite (31:8; 25:15); Balaam (31:8, 16; 22:2–24:25); Peor (31:16; 25:1–9, 14–15); purification after contact with the dead (31:19–24; 19:11–19); care for the priests and Levites (31:28–47; 18:8–32). This battle with the Midianites modeled God’s requirements for holy war when Israel took vengeance on his enemies (see Deut. 20:1–18).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:1–11 Israel was commanded by the Lord to take vengeance on Midian because they were responsible for corrupting Israel at Peor (25:1–18).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:2 gathered to your people. A euphemism for death (see Gen. 25:8, 17; 35:29).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:12–24 All the Midianites, except the virgin women, were to be put to death. Both the soldiers and the spoil needed to be cleansed.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:17 The execution of all male children and women of childbearing age ensured the extermination of the Midianites and prevented them from ever again seducing Israel to sin. Reference to Midianites later (Judg. 6:1–6) was to a different clan. It was the Midianites living in Moab who were destroyed here.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 31:25–54 The plunder was divided equally between those who went and fought and those who stayed.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:1–42 The tribes of Reuben and Gad desired to live in the land already conquered because they possessed much livestock and the land was good for grazing. Moses gave them, along with the half tribe of Manasseh, portions of the land only on the condition that they would fully participate in the conquest of Canaan.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:3 Ataroth . . . Beon. The places mentioned here cannot be identified, but all lie between the Arnon River to the south and the Jabbok River to the north.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:8 Your fathers did this. Moses feared that if these two tribes were comfortably settled, they would not join with the other 10 tribes in conquering Canaan, and that could be the beginning of a general revolt against entering the land. As the 10 spies had dissuaded the people at Kadesh nearly 40 years earlier from conquering the land (vv. 9–13; 13:26–14:4), the refusal of these two tribes could cause the people to fail again (32:15).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:23 your sin will find you out. The two tribes committed themselves to provide their warriors for the conquest of the land. This agreement satisfied Moses, although he added that non-participation would be sin and God would certainly find and judge the tribes for their sin.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 32:33 half-tribe of Manasseh. Once the agreement was reached with Reuben and Gad concerning settlement on the east side of the Jordan, the half-tribe of Manasseh, also rich with flocks, joined in seeking land in that territory. However, vv. 39–42 indicate that Manasseh conquered cities not yet taken and settled in the northern area of Gilead.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:1–49 The Lord commanded Moses to write a list of Israel's encampments between Egypt and the plains of Moab. Significantly, 40 places were mentioned (not including Rameses and the plains of Moab), reflecting the 40 years spent in the wilderness. Some sites recorded earlier are not listed and other sites are only mentioned here. The God who would lead the Israelites in the conquest of Canaan (33:50–56) was the One who had led them through the wilderness.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:50–36:13 The Promised Land had been Israel's goal from the beginning of Numbers. This last part of the book anticipated the settlement of Canaan.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:50–56 God commanded that all of the Canaanites were to be exterminated, along with all their idolatrous symbols.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:52 their high places. Hills on which Canaanite altars and shrines were placed.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 33:56 I will do to you as I thought to do to them. If Israel failed to obey God, she would be the object of God’s punishment in exactly the same way as the Canaanites were.

The Journey to Canaan

It is difficult to know for certain the exact route the Israelites took from Kadesh-barnea to the plains of Moab, but it is possible that they followed a course shown here, going around the lands of Edom and Moab along a desert route after they were refused passage through them.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:1–15 God gave precise instruction to Israel concerning the boundaries of the land of Canaan. Sadly, the actual conquest of the land fell far short of these boundaries.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:13 give to the nine tribes and to the half-tribe. The land to be conquered was to be given to the nine and a half tribes. The other two and a half tribes already had their inheritance in Transjordan (32:1–42).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 34:16–29 The Lord appointed the men who were to assign the portions of the land of Canaan: Eleazar the priest (20:25–26), Joshua the commander (27:18–23), and the leaders of each of the 10 tribes that were to receive an inheritance. None of these men were sons of the leaders listed in 1:5–15.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:1–8 Forty-eight cities throughout the land were to be given to the Levites. The tribe of Levi did not receive a tribal allotment, but lived among the other tribes. Joshua 21:1–42 gave the list of these 48 cities.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:2 of the inheritance of their possession. According to 18:23, the Levites were to have no land as inheritance in Canaan, so the Levites did not inherit these towns; they only lived in them. pasturelands around the cities. The Levites were also given grazing land around the cities so that their animals might feed.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:9–34 Six of the Levitical cities were to be established as “cities of refuge” (see Deut. 19:1–13). These cities were to be havens giving protection to any person who accidentally killed another person (manslaughter).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:12 the avenger. The meaning of this term is “near of kin.” It refers to the person chosen by a family to deal with a loss suffered in that family. Here the close relative of a homicide victim would seek to avenge his death, but not until proper judgment was made.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:19 Swift retribution according to the law of Gen. 9:5–6.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:24 judge between the manslayer and the avenger of blood. The congregation was called to decide the motive of the killer, whether it was with or without hostility. If there was evil intent, the killer was turned over to the avenger to be put to death. If, however, hostility could not be proven to exist between the killer and the victim, then the killer was allowed to remain in the city of refuge.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:25 until the death of the high priest. The manslayer without evil intent was to remain in the city of refuge until the death of the high priest. The death of the high priest marked the end of an old era and the beginning of a new one for the manslayer.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:30 witnesses. No one could be judged guilty of death on the testimony of only one witness. Two or more witnesses were required in all capital cases (cf. Deut. 17:6; 19:15).

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 35:33 blood pollutes the land. Though murder and inadvertent killing polluted the land, murder was atoned for by the death of the murderer. Failure to observe these principles would make the land unclean. If the whole land became unclean, then the Lord would no longer be able to dwell in their midst.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 36:1–13 The issue raised here stemmed from a decision regarding female inheritance in 27:1–11. Since a tribe would lose an allotted inheritance in the year of jubilee if an inheriting woman had married into another tribe, the woman of any tribe who inherited land must marry within her own tribe.

NUMBERS—NOTE ON 36:12 married into the clans of . . . Manasseh. The daughters of Zelophehad exemplified the obedience to God's commandments that should have been practiced by all of Israel. Their inheritance was a direct result of their obedience to the Lord—a basic lesson stressed throughout the whole book of Numbers.

Introduction to Deuteronomy

Title

The English title “Deuteronomy” comes from the Greek Septuagint (LXX) mistranslation of “copy of this law” in 17:18 as “second law,” which was rendered Deuteronomium in the Latin version (Vulgate). The Hebrew title of the book is translated “These are the words,” from the first two Hebrew words of the book. The Hebrew title is a better description of the book since it is not a “second law,” but rather the record of Moses’ words of explanation concerning the law. Deuteronomy completes the five-part literary unit called the Pentateuch.

Author and Date

Moses has been traditionally recognized as the author of Deuteronomy, since the book itself testifies that Moses wrote it (1:1, 5; 31:9, 22, 24). Both the OT (1 Kings 2:3; 8:53; 2 Kings 14:6; 18:12) and the NT (Acts 3:22–23; Rom. 10:19) support the claim of Mosaic authorship. While Deut. 32:48–34:12 was added after Moses’ death (probably by Joshua), the rest of the book came from Moses’ hand just before his death in 1405 B.C.

The majority of the book is comprised of farewell speeches that the 120-year-old Moses gave to Israel, beginning on the first day of the eleventh month of the fortieth year after the exodus from Egypt (Deut. 1:3). These speeches can be dated January–February, 1405 B.C. In the last few weeks of Moses’ life, he committed these speeches to writing and gave them to the priests and elders for the coming generations of Israel (31:9, 24–26).

Background and Setting

Like Leviticus, Deuteronomy does not advance historically, but takes place entirely in one location over about one month of time (cf. Deut. 1:3 and 34:8 with Josh. 5:6–12). Israel was encamped in the central rift valley to the east of the Jordan River (Deut. 1:1). This location was referred to in Num. 36:13 as “the plains of Moab,” an area north of the Arnon River across the Jordan River from Jericho. It had been almost 40 years since the Israelites had exited Egypt.

The book of Deuteronomy concentrates on events that took place in the final weeks of Moses' life. The major event was the verbal communication of divine revelation from Moses to the people of Israel (1:1–30:20; 31:30–32:47; 33:1–29). The only other events recorded were: 1) Moses' recording the law in a book and his commissioning of Joshua as the new leader (31:1–29); 2) Moses' viewing of the land of Canaan from Mount Nebo (32:48–52; 34:1–4); and 3) his death (34:5–12).

The original recipients of Deuteronomy, both in its verbal and written presentations, were the second generation of the nation of Israel. All of that generation from 40 to 60 years of age (except Joshua and Caleb, who were older) had been born in Egypt and had participated as children or teens in the exodus. Those under 40 had been born and reared in the wilderness. Together, they comprised the generation that was on the verge of conquering the land of Canaan under Joshua, 40 years after they had left Egypt (1:34–39).

Historical and Theological Themes

Like Leviticus, Deuteronomy contains much legal detail, but with an emphasis on the people rather than the priests. As Moses called the second generation of Israel to trust the Lord and be obedient to his covenant made at Horeb (Sinai), he illustrated his points with references to Israel's past history. He reminded Israel of her rebellion against the Lord at Horeb (9:7–10:11) and at Kadesh (1:26–46), which brought devastating consequences. He also reminded her of the Lord's faithfulness in giving victory over her enemies (2:24–3:11; 29:2, 7–8). Most important, Moses called the people to take the land that God had promised by oath to their forefathers Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (1:8; 6:10; 9:5; 29:13; 30:20; 34:4; cf. Gen. 15:18–21; 26:3–5; 35:12). Moses not only looked back, he also looked ahead and saw that Israel's future failure to obey God would lead to her being scattered among the nations before the fulfillment of his oath to the patriarchs would be completed (4:25–31; 29:22–30:10; 31:26–29).

The book of Deuteronomy, along with Psalms and Isaiah, reveals much about the attributes of God. Thus, it is directly quoted over 40 times in the NT (exceeded only by Psalms and Isaiah) with many more allusions to its content. Deuteronomy reveals that the Lord is the only God (4:39; 6:4), and that he is jealous (4:24), faithful (7:9), loving (7:13), merciful (4:31), yet angered by sin (6:15). This is the God who called Israel to himself. Over 250 times, Moses repeated the phrase, "the Lord your God" to Israel. Israel was called to obey (28:2), fear (10:12), love (10:12), and serve (10:12) her God by walking in his ways and keeping his commandments (10:12–13). By obeying him, the people of Israel would receive his blessings (28:1–14). Obedience and the pursuit of personal holiness is always based upon the character of God. Because of who he is, his people are to be holy (cf. 7:6–11; 8:6, 11, 18; 10:12, 16–17; 11:13; 13:3–4; 14:1–2).

Interpretive Challenges

Three interpretive challenges face the reader of Deuteronomy. First, is the book a singular record, or is it only a part of the larger literary whole, the Pentateuch? The remainder of the Scripture always views the Pentateuch as a unit, and the ultimate meaning of Deuteronomy cannot be divorced from its context in the Pentateuch. The book also assumes the reader is already familiar with the four books that precede it; in fact, Deuteronomy brings into focus all that had been revealed in Genesis to Numbers, as well as its implications for the people as they entered the land. However, every available Hebrew manuscript divides the Pentateuch in exactly the same way as the present text, indicating that the book is a well-defined unit recounting the final speeches of Moses to Israel, so it may also be viewed as a singular record.

Second, is the structure of Deuteronomy based on the secular treaties of Moses' day? During the last 35 years, many evangelical scholars have supported the Mosaic authorship of Deuteronomy by appealing to the similarities between the structure of the book and the ancient Near Eastern treaty form of the mid-second millennium B.C. (the approximate time of Moses). These secular suzerainty treaties (i.e., a ruler dictating his will to his vassals) followed a set pattern not used in the mid-first millennium B.C. These treaties usually contained the following elements: 1) preamble—identifying the parties to the covenant; 2) historical prologue—a history of the king's dealing with his vassals; 3) general and specific stipulations; 4) witnesses; 5) blessings and curses; and 6) oaths and covenant ratification. Deuteronomy, it is believed, approximates this basic structure. While there is agreement that 1:1–5 is a preamble, 1:5–4:43 a historical prologue, and chs. 27–28 feature blessings and cursings, there is no consensus as to how the rest of Deuteronomy fits this structure. While there might have been a covenant renewal on the plains of Moab, this is neither clearly explicit nor implicit in Deuteronomy. It is best to take the book for what it claims to be: the explanation of the law given by Moses for the new generation.

The structure follows the speeches given by Moses. See Outline.

Third, what was the covenant made in the land of Moab (29:1)? The majority opinion posits this covenant as a renewal of the Sinaitic Covenant made nearly 40 years before with the first generation. Here, Moses supposedly updated and renewed this same covenant with the second generation of Israel. The second view sees this covenant as a Palestinian Covenant that guarantees the nation of Israel's right to the land, both at that time and in the future. A third position is that Moses in chs. 29–30 anticipated the New Covenant, since he knew Israel would fail to keep the Sinaitic Covenant. The third view seems the best.

Deuteronomy

The Command to Leave Horeb

DEUTERONOMY 1 †† These are the words that Moses spoke to all Israel beyond the Jordan in the wilderness, in the Arabah opposite Suph, between Paran and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Dizahab. <sup>2</sup>† It is eleven days' journey from Horeb by the way of Mount Seir to Kadesh-barnea. <sup>3</sup>† In the fortieth year, on the first day of the eleventh month, Moses spoke to the people of Israel according to all that the LORD had given him in commandment to them, <sup>4</sup>† after he had defeated Sihon the king of the Amorites, who lived in Heshbon, and Og the king of Bashan, who lived in Ashtaroth and in Edrei. <sup>5</sup>†† Beyond the Jordan, in the land of Moab, Moses undertook to explain this law, saying, <sup>6</sup>“The LORD our God said to us in Horeb, ‘You have stayed long enough at this mountain. <sup>7</sup>† Turn and take your journey, and go to the hill country of the Amorites and to all their neighbors in the Arabah, in the hill country and in the lowland and in the Negeb and by the seacoast, the land of the Canaanites, and Lebanon, as far as the great river, the river Euphrates. <sup>8</sup>† See, I have set the land before you. Go in and take possession of the land that the LORD swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give to them and to their offspring after them.’

Leaders Appointed

<sup>9</sup>† “At that time I said to you, ‘I am not able to bear you by myself. <sup>10</sup>† The LORD your God has multiplied you, and behold, you are today as numerous as the stars of heaven. <sup>11</sup>† May the LORD, the God of your fathers, make you a thousand times as many as you are and bless you, as he has promised you! <sup>12</sup> How can I bear by myself the weight and burden of you and your strife? <sup>13</sup>† Choose for your tribes wise, understanding, and experienced men, and I will appoint them as your heads.’ <sup>14</sup> And you answered me, ‘The thing that you have spoken is good for us to do.’ <sup>15</sup> So I took the heads of your tribes, wise and experienced men, and set them as heads over you, commanders of thousands, commanders of hundreds, commanders of fifties, commanders of tens, and officers, throughout your tribes. <sup>16</sup> And I charged your judges at that time, ‘Hear the cases between your brothers, and judge righteously between a man and his brother or the alien who is with him. <sup>17</sup> You shall not be partial in judgment. You shall hear the small and the great alike. You shall not be intimidated by anyone, for the judgment is God's.

And the case that is too hard for you, you shall bring to me, and I will hear it.’
<sup>18</sup>And I commanded you at that time all the things that you should do.

Israel's Refusal to Enter the Land

<sup>19</sup>“Then we set out from Horeb and went through all that great and terrifying wilderness that you saw, on the way to the hill country of the Amorites, as the LORD our God commanded us. And we came to Kadesh-barnea. <sup>20</sup>And I said to you, ‘You have come to the hill country of the Amorites, which the LORD our God is giving us. <sup>21</sup>See, the LORD your God has set the land before you. Go up, take possession, as the LORD, the God of your fathers, has told you. Do not fear or be dismayed.’ <sup>22</sup>Then all of you came near me and said, ‘Let us send men before us, that they may explore the land for us and bring us word again of the way by which we must go up and the cities into which we shall come.’ <sup>23</sup>The thing seemed good to me, and I took twelve men from you, one man from each tribe. <sup>24</sup>And they turned and went up into the hill country, and came to the Valley of Eshcol and spied it out. <sup>25</sup>And they took in their hands some of the fruit of the land and brought it down to us, and brought us word again and said, ‘It is a good land that the LORD our God is giving us.’

<sup>26</sup>“Yet you would not go up, but rebelled against the command of the LORD your God. <sup>27</sup>And you murmured in your tents and said, ‘Because the LORD hated us he has brought us out of the land of Egypt, to give us into the hand of the Amorites, to destroy us. <sup>28</sup>Where are we going up? Our brothers have made our hearts melt, saying, “The people are greater and taller than we. The cities are great and fortified up to heaven. And besides, we have seen the sons of the Anakim there.”’ <sup>29</sup>Then I said to you, ‘Do not be in dread or afraid of them. <sup>30</sup>The LORD your God who goes before you will himself fight for you, just as he did for you in Egypt before your eyes, <sup>31</sup>and in the wilderness, where you have seen how the LORD your God carried you, as a man carries his son, all the way that you went until you came to this place.’ <sup>32</sup>Yet in spite of this word you did not believe the LORD your God, <sup>33</sup>who went before you in the way to seek you out a place to pitch your tents, in fire by night and in the cloud by day, to show you by what way you should go.

The Penalty for Israel's Rebellion

<sup>34</sup>“And the LORD heard your words and was angered, and he swore, <sup>35</sup>Not one of these men of this evil generation shall see the good land that I swore to give to your fathers, <sup>36</sup>‡except Caleb the son of Jephunneh. He shall see it, and to him and to his children I will give the land on which he has trodden, because he has wholly followed the LORD!’ <sup>37</sup>‡Even with me the LORD was angry on your account and said, ‘You also shall not go in there. <sup>38</sup>Joshua the son of Nun, who stands before you, he shall enter. Encourage him, for he shall cause Israel to inherit it. <sup>39</sup>And as for your little ones, who you said would become a prey, and your children, who today have no knowledge of good or evil, they shall go in there. And to them I will give it, and they shall possess it. <sup>40</sup>But as for you, turn, and journey into the wilderness in the direction of the Red Sea.’

<sup>41</sup>‡“Then you answered me, ‘We have sinned against the LORD. We ourselves will go up and fight, just as the LORD our God commanded us.’ And every one of you fastened on his weapons of war and thought it easy to go up into the hill country. <sup>42</sup>And the LORD said to me, ‘Say to them, Do not go up or fight, for I am not in your midst, lest you be defeated before your enemies.’ <sup>43</sup>So I spoke to you, and you would not listen; but you rebelled against the command of the LORD and presumptuously went up into the hill country. <sup>44</sup>Then the Amorites who lived in that hill country came out against you and chased you as bees do and beat you down in Seir as far as Hormah. <sup>45</sup>And you returned and wept before the LORD, but the LORD did not listen to your voice or give ear to you. <sup>46</sup>‡So you remained at Kadesh many days, the days that you remained there.

The Wilderness Years

DEUTERONOMY 2 123“Then we turned and journeyed into the wilderness in the direction of the Red Sea, as the LORD told me. And for many days we traveled around Mount Seir. <sup>2</sup>Then the LORD said to me, <sup>3</sup>“You have been traveling around this mountain country long enough. Turn northward <sup>4</sup>and command the people, “You are about to pass through the territory of your brothers, the people of Esau, who live in Seir; and they will be afraid of you. So be very careful. <sup>5</sup>Do not contend with them, for I will not give you any of their land, no, not so much as for the sole of the foot to tread on, because I have given Mount Seir to Esau as a possession. <sup>6</sup>You shall purchase food from them for money, that you may eat, and you shall also buy water of them for money, that you may drink. <sup>7</sup>For the LORD your God has blessed you in all the work of your hands. He knows your going through this great wilderness. These forty years the LORD your God has been with you. You have lacked nothing.” <sup>8</sup>So we went on, away from our brothers, the people of Esau, who live in Seir, away from the Arabah road from Elath and Ezion-geber.

“And we turned and went in the direction of the wilderness of Moab. <sup>9</sup>And the LORD said to me, ‘Do not harass Moab or contend with them in battle, for I will not give you any of their land for a possession, because I have given Ar to the people of Lot for a possession.’ <sup>10</sup>(The Emim formerly lived there, a people great and many, and tall as the Anakim. <sup>11</sup>Like the Anakim they are also counted as Rephaim, but the Moabites call them Emim. <sup>12</sup>The Horites also lived in Seir formerly, but the people of Esau dispossessed them and destroyed them from before them and settled in their place, as Israel did to the land of their possession, which the LORD gave to them.) <sup>13</sup>‘Now rise up and go over the brook Zered.’ So we went over the brook Zered. <sup>14</sup>And the time from our leaving Kadesh-barnea until we crossed the brook Zered was thirty-eight years, until the entire generation, that is, the men of war, had perished from the camp, as the LORD had sworn to them. <sup>15</sup>For indeed the hand of the LORD was against them, to destroy them from the camp, until they had perished.

<sup>16</sup>“So as soon as all the men of war had perished and were dead from among the people, <sup>17</sup>the LORD said to me, <sup>18</sup>‘Today you are to cross the border of Moab at Ar. <sup>19</sup>And when you approach the territory of the people of Ammon, do not harass them or contend with them, for I will not give you any of the land of the people of Ammon as a possession, because I have given it to the sons of Lot for a possession.’ <sup>20</sup>†(It is also counted as a land of Rephaim. Rephaim formerly lived there—but the Ammonites call them Zamzummim— <sup>21</sup>a people great and many, and tall as the Anakim; but the LORD destroyed them before the Ammonites, [\[1\]](#) and they dispossessed them and settled in their place, <sup>22</sup>as he did for the people of Esau, who live in Seir, when he destroyed the Horites before them and they dispossessed them and settled in their place even to this day. <sup>23</sup>†As for the Avvim, who lived in villages as far as Gaza, the Caphtorim, who came from Caphtor, destroyed them and settled in their place.) <sup>24</sup>††‘Rise up, set out on your journey and go over the Valley of the Arnon. Behold, I have given into your hand Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land. Begin to take possession, and contend with him in battle. <sup>25</sup>†This day I will begin to put the dread and fear of you on the peoples who are under the whole heaven, who shall hear the report of you and shall tremble and be in anguish because of you.’

The Defeat of King Sihon

<sup>26</sup>†“So I sent messengers from the wilderness of Kedemoth to Sihon the king of Heshbon, with words of peace, saying, <sup>27</sup>†‘Let me pass through your land. I will go only by the road; I will turn aside neither to the right nor to the left. <sup>28</sup>You shall sell me food for money, that I may eat, and give me water for money, that I may drink. Only let me pass through on foot, <sup>29</sup>as the sons of Esau who live in Seir and the Moabites who live in Ar did for me, until I go over the Jordan into the land that the LORD our God is giving to us.’ <sup>30</sup>†But Sihon the king of Heshbon would not let us pass by him, for the LORD your God hardened his spirit and made his heart obstinate, that he might give him into your hand, as he is this day. <sup>31</sup>And the LORD said to me, ‘Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land over to you. Begin to take possession, that you may occupy his land.’ <sup>32</sup>†Then Sihon came out against us, he and all his people, to battle at Jahaz. <sup>33</sup>And the LORD our God gave him over to us, and we defeated him and his sons and all his people. <sup>34</sup>And we captured all his cities at that time and devoted to destruction [\[2\]](#) every city, men, women, and children. We left no survivors. <sup>35</sup>Only the livestock we took as spoil for ourselves, with the plunder of the cities that we captured. <sup>36</sup>From Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and from the city that is in the valley, as far as Gilead, there was not a city too high for us. The LORD our God gave all into our hands. <sup>37</sup>Only to the land of the sons of Ammon you did not draw near, that is, to all the banks of the river Jabbok and the cities of the hill country, whatever the LORD our God had forbidden us.

The Defeat of King Og

DEUTERONOMY 3 †“Then we turned and went up the way to Bashan. And Og the king of Bashan came out against us, he and all his people, to battle at Edrei. <sup>2</sup>But the LORD said to me, ‘Do not fear him, for I have given him and all his people and his land into your hand. And you shall do to him as you did to Sihon the king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon.’ <sup>3</sup>So the LORD our God gave into our hand Og also, the king of Bashan, and all his people, and we struck him down until he had no survivor left. <sup>4</sup>And we took all his cities at that time—there was not a city that we did not take from them—sixty cities, the whole region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Bashan. <sup>5</sup>All these were cities fortified with high walls, gates, and bars, besides very many unwalled villages. <sup>6</sup>And we devoted them to destruction, [1] as we did to Sihon the king of Heshbon, devoting to destruction every city, men, women, and children. <sup>7</sup>But all the livestock and the spoil of the cities we took as our plunder. <sup>8</sup>†So we took the land at that time out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, from the Valley of the Arnon to Mount Hermon <sup>9</sup>(the Sidonians call Hermon Sirion, while the Amorites call it Senir), <sup>10</sup>all the cities of the tableland and all Gilead and all Bashan, as far as Salecah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan. <sup>11</sup>†(For only Og the king of Bashan was left of the remnant of the Rephaim. Behold, his bed was a bed of iron. Is it not in Rabbah of the Ammonites? Nine cubits [2] was its length, and four cubits its breadth, according to the common cubit. [3]) <sup>12</sup>‡“When we took possession of this land at that time, I gave to the Reubenites and the Gadites the territory beginning at Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and half the hill country of Gilead with its cities. <sup>13</sup>The rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, the kingdom of Og, that is, all the region of Argob, I gave to the half-tribe of Manasseh. (All that portion of Bashan is called the land of Rephaim. <sup>14</sup>Jair the Manassite took all the region of Argob, that is, Bashan, as far as the border of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and called the villages after his own name, Havvoth-jair, as it is to this day.) <sup>15</sup>To Machir I gave Gilead, <sup>16</sup>and to the Reubenites and the Gadites I gave the territory from Gilead as far as the Valley of the Arnon, with the middle of the valley as a border, as far over as the river Jabbok, the border of the Ammonites; <sup>17</sup>the Arabah also, with the Jordan as the border, from Chinnereth as far as the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, under the slopes of Pisgah on the east.

<sup>18</sup>“And I commanded you at that time, saying, ‘The LORD your God has given you this land to possess. All your men of valor shall cross over armed before your brothers, the people of Israel. <sup>19</sup>Only your wives, your little ones, and your livestock (I know that you have much livestock) shall remain in the cities that I have given you, <sup>20</sup>†until the LORD gives rest to your brothers, as to you, and they also occupy the land that the LORD your God gives them beyond the Jordan. Then each of you may return to his possession which I have given you.’ <sup>21</sup>And I commanded Joshua at that time, ‘Your eyes have seen all that the LORD your God has done to these two kings. So will the LORD do to all the kingdoms into which you are crossing. <sup>22</sup>†You shall not fear them, for it is the LORD your God who fights for you.’

Moses Forbidden to Enter the Land

<sup>23</sup>†“And I pleaded with the LORD at that time, saying, <sup>24</sup>‘O Lord GOD, you have only begun to show your servant your greatness and your mighty hand. For what god is there in heaven or on earth who can do such works and mighty acts as yours? <sup>25</sup>Please let me go over and see the good land beyond the Jordan, that good hill country and Lebanon.’ <sup>26</sup>†But the LORD was angry with me because of you and would not listen to me. And the LORD said to me, ‘Enough from you; do not speak to me of this matter again. <sup>27</sup>Go up to the top of Pisgah and lift up your eyes westward and northward and southward and eastward, and look at it with your eyes, for you shall not go over this Jordan. <sup>28</sup>But charge Joshua, and encourage and strengthen him, for he shall go over at the head of this people, and he shall put them in possession of the land that you shall see.’ <sup>29</sup>†So we remained in the valley opposite Beth-peor.

Moses Commands Obedience

DEUTERONOMY 4 †“And now, O Israel, listen to the statutes and the rules [1] that I am teaching you, and do them, that you may live, and go in and take possession of the land that the LORD, the God of your fathers, is giving you. †You shall not add to the word that I command you, nor take from it, that you may keep the commandments of the LORD your God that I command you. †Your eyes have seen what the LORD did at Baal-peor, for the LORD your God destroyed from among you all the men who followed the Baal of Peor. †But you who held fast to the LORD your God are all alive today. †See, I have taught you statutes and rules, as the LORD my God commanded me, that you should do them in the land that you are entering to take possession of it. †Keep them and do them, for that will be your wisdom and your understanding in the sight of the peoples, who, when they hear all these statutes, will say, ‘Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people.’ †For what great nation is there that has a god so near to it as the LORD our God is to us, whenever we call upon him? †And what great nation is there, that has statutes and rules so righteous as all this law that I set before you today?

††“Only take care, and keep your soul diligently, lest you forget the things that your eyes have seen, and lest they depart from your heart all the days of your life. Make them known to your children and your children's children— †how on the day that you stood before the LORD your God at Horeb, the LORD said to me, ‘Gather the people to me, that I may let them hear my words, so that they may learn to fear me all the days that they live on the earth, and that they may teach their children so.’ †And you came near and stood at the foot of the mountain, while the mountain burned with fire to the heart of heaven, wrapped in darkness, cloud, and gloom. †Then the LORD spoke to you out of the midst of the fire. You heard the sound of words, but saw no form; there was only a voice. †And he declared to you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, that is, the Ten Commandments, [2] and he wrote them on two tablets of stone. †And the LORD commanded me at that time to teach you statutes and rules, that you might do them in the land that you are going over to possess.

Idolatry Forbidden

††“Therefore watch yourselves very carefully. Since you saw no form on the day that the LORD spoke to you at Horeb out of the midst of the fire, †beware lest you act corruptly by making a carved image for yourselves, in the form of any figure, the likeness of male or female, <sup>17</sup>the likeness of any animal that is on the earth, the likeness of any winged bird that flies in the air, <sup>18</sup>the likeness of anything that creeps on the ground, the likeness of any fish that is in the water under the earth. <sup>19</sup>And beware lest you raise your eyes to heaven, and when you see the sun and the moon and the stars, all the host of heaven, you be drawn away and bow down to them and serve them, things that the LORD your God has allotted to all the peoples under the whole heaven. <sup>20</sup>†But the LORD has taken you and brought you out of the iron furnace, out of Egypt, to be a people of his own inheritance, as you are this day. <sup>21</sup>Furthermore, the LORD was angry with me because of you, and he swore that I should not cross the Jordan, and that I should not enter the good land that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance. <sup>22</sup>For I must die in this land; I must not go over the Jordan. But you shall go over and take possession of that good land. <sup>23</sup>Take care, lest you forget the covenant of the LORD your God, which he made with you, and make a carved image, the form of anything that the LORD your God has forbidden you. <sup>24</sup>†For the LORD your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

<sup>25</sup>‡“When you father children and children's children, and have grown old in the land, if you act corruptly by making a carved image in the form of anything, and by doing what is evil in the sight of the LORD your God, so as to provoke him to anger, <sup>26</sup>I call heaven and earth to witness against you today, that you will soon utterly perish from the land that you are going over the Jordan to possess. You will not live long in it, but will be utterly destroyed. <sup>27</sup>†And the LORD will scatter you among the peoples, and you will be left few in number among the nations where the LORD will drive you. <sup>28</sup>And there you will serve gods of wood and stone, the work of human hands, that neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell. <sup>29</sup>But from there you will seek the LORD your God and you will find him, if you search after him with all your heart and with all your soul. <sup>30</sup>†When you are in tribulation, and all these things come upon you in the latter days, you will return to the LORD your God and obey his voice. <sup>31</sup>†For the LORD your God is a merciful God. He will not leave you or destroy you or forget the covenant with your fathers that he swore to them.

The LORD Alone Is God

<sup>32</sup>‡‡“For ask now of the days that are past, which were before you, since the day that God created man on the earth, and ask from one end of heaven to the other, whether such a great thing as this has ever happened or was ever heard of. <sup>33</sup>Did any people ever hear the voice of a god speaking out of the midst of the fire, as you have heard, and still live? <sup>34</sup>Or has any god ever attempted to go and take a nation for himself from the midst of another nation, by trials, by signs, by wonders, and by war, by a mighty hand and an outstretched arm, and by great deeds of terror, all of which the LORD your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes? <sup>35</sup>To you it was shown, that you might know that the LORD is God; there is no other besides him. <sup>36</sup>Out of heaven he let you hear his voice, that he might discipline you. And on earth he let you see his great fire, and you heard his words out of the midst of the fire. <sup>37</sup>†And because he loved your fathers and chose their offspring after them [3] and brought you out of Egypt with his own presence, by his great power, <sup>38</sup>driving out before you nations greater and mightier than yourselves, to bring you in, to give you their land for an inheritance, as it is this day, <sup>39</sup>know therefore today, and lay it to your heart, that the LORD is God in heaven above and on the earth beneath; there is no other. <sup>40</sup>†Therefore you shall keep his statutes and his commandments, which I command you today, that it may go well with you and with your children after you, and that you may prolong your days in the land that the LORD your God is giving you for all time.”

Cities of Refuge

<sup>41</sup>†Then Moses set apart three cities in the east beyond the Jordan, <sup>42</sup>that the manslayer might flee there, anyone who kills his neighbor unintentionally, without being at enmity with him in time past; he may flee to one of these cities and save his life: <sup>43</sup>Bezer in the wilderness on the tableland for the Reubenites, Ramoth in Gilead for the Gadites, and Golan in Bashan for the Manassites.

Introduction to the Law

<sup>44</sup>†This is the law that Moses set before the people of Israel. <sup>45</sup>†These are the testimonies, the statutes, and the rules, which Moses spoke to the people of Israel when they came out of Egypt, <sup>46</sup>beyond the Jordan in the valley opposite Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon the king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, whom Moses and the people of Israel defeated when they came out of Egypt. <sup>47</sup>And they took possession of his land and the land of Og, the king of Bashan, the two kings of the Amorites, who lived to the east beyond the Jordan; <sup>48</sup>†from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, as far as Mount Sirion [4] (that is, Hermon), <sup>49</sup>†together with all the Arabah on the east side of the Jordan as far as the Sea of the Arabah, under the slopes of Pisgah.

The Ten Commandments

DEUTERONOMY 5 †† And Moses summoned all Israel and said to them, “Hear, O Israel, the statutes and the rules that I speak in your hearing today, and you shall learn them and be careful to do them. † The LORD our God made a covenant with us in Horeb. † Not with our fathers did the LORD make this covenant, but with us, who are all of us here alive today. † The LORD spoke with you face to face at the mountain, out of the midst of the fire, † while I stood between the LORD and you at that time, to declare to you the word of the LORD. For you were afraid because of the fire, and you did not go up into the mountain. He said: †† “I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery.

†† “You shall have no other gods before [\[1\]](#) me.

†† “You shall not make for yourself a carved image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is on the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. † You shall not bow down to them or serve them; for I the LORD your God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the children to the third and fourth generation of those who hate me, † but showing steadfast love to thousands [\[2\]](#) of those who love me and keep my commandments.

†† “You shall not take the name of the LORD your God in vain, for the LORD will not hold him guiltless who takes his name in vain.

†† “Observe the Sabbath day, to keep it holy, as the LORD your God commanded you. † Six days you shall labor and do all your work, † but the seventh day is a Sabbath to the LORD your God. On it you shall not do any work, you or your son or your daughter or your male servant or your female servant, or your ox or your donkey or any of your livestock, or the sojourner who is within your gates, that your male servant and your female servant may rest as well as you. † You shall remember that you were a slave [\[3\]](#) in the land of Egypt, and the LORD your God brought you out from there with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm. Therefore the LORD your God commanded you to keep the Sabbath day.

†† “Honor your father and your mother, as the LORD your God commanded you, that your days may be long, and that it may go well with you in the land that the LORD your God is giving you.

<sup>21</sup>‡“And you shall not covet your neighbor's wife. And you shall not desire your neighbor's house, his field, or his male servant, or his female servant, his ox, or his donkey, or anything that is your neighbor's.’

<sup>22</sup>‡‡“These words the LORD spoke to all your assembly at the mountain out of the midst of the fire, the cloud, and the thick darkness, with a loud voice; and he added no more. And he wrote them on two tablets of stone and gave them to me.

<sup>23</sup>And as soon as you heard the voice out of the midst of the darkness, while the mountain was burning with fire, you came near to me, all the heads of your tribes, and your elders. <sup>24</sup>And you said, ‘Behold, the LORD our God has shown us his glory and greatness, and we have heard his voice out of the midst of the fire. This day we have seen God speak with man, and man still live. <sup>25</sup>Now therefore why should we die? For this great fire will consume us. If we hear the voice of the LORD our God any more, we shall die. <sup>26</sup>For who is there of all flesh, that has heard the voice of the living God speaking out of the midst of fire as we have, and has still lived? <sup>27</sup>Go near and hear all that the LORD our God will say and speak to us all that the LORD our God will speak to you, and we will hear and do it.’

<sup>28</sup>‡‡“And the LORD heard your words, when you spoke to me. And the LORD said to me, ‘I have heard the words of this people, which they have spoken to you. They are right in all that they have spoken. <sup>29</sup>Oh that they had such a mind as this always, to fear me and to keep all my commandments, that it might go well with them and with their descendants [5] forever! <sup>30</sup>‡Go and say to them, “Return to your tents.” <sup>31</sup>But you, stand here by me, and I will tell you the whole commandment and the statutes and the rules that you shall teach them, that they may do them in the land that I am giving them to possess.’ <sup>32</sup>You shall be careful therefore to do as the LORD your God has commanded you. You shall not turn aside to the right hand or to the left. <sup>33</sup>You shall walk in all the way that the LORD your God has commanded you, that you may live, and that it may go well with you, and that you may live long in the land that you shall possess.

The Greatest Commandment

DEUTERONOMY 6 †“Now this is the commandment, the statutes and the rules [1] that the LORD your God commanded me to teach you, that you may do them in the land to which you are going over, to possess it, <sup>2</sup>that you may fear the LORD your God, you and your son and your son's son, by keeping all his statutes and his commandments, which I command you, all the days of your life, and that your days may be long. <sup>3</sup>†Hear therefore, O Israel, and be careful to do them, that it may go well with you, and that you may multiply greatly, as the LORD, the God of your fathers, has promised you, in a land flowing with milk and honey.

<sup>4</sup>††“Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is one. [2] <sup>5</sup>†You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your might. <sup>6</sup>†And these words that I command you today shall be on your heart. <sup>7</sup>†You shall teach them diligently to your children, and shall talk of them when you sit in your house, and when you walk by the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise. <sup>8</sup>†You shall bind them as a sign on your hand, and they shall be as frontlets between your eyes. <sup>9</sup>You shall write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates.

<sup>10</sup>†“And when the LORD your God brings you into the land that he swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give you—with great and good cities that you did not build, <sup>11</sup>and houses full of all good things that you did not fill, and cisterns that you did not dig, and vineyards and olive trees that you did not plant—and when you eat and are full, <sup>12</sup>then take care lest you forget the LORD, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. <sup>13</sup>†It is the LORD your God you shall fear. Him you shall serve and by his name you shall swear. <sup>14</sup>You shall not go after other gods, the gods of the peoples who are around you— <sup>15</sup>†for the LORD your God in your midst is a jealous God—lest the anger of the LORD your God be kindled against you, and he destroy you from off the face of the earth.

<sup>16</sup>†“You shall not put the LORD your God to the test, as you tested him at Massah. <sup>17</sup>You shall diligently keep the commandments of the LORD your God, and his testimonies and his statutes, which he has commanded you. <sup>18</sup>And you shall do what is right and good in the sight of the LORD, that it may go well with you, and that you may go in and take possession of the good land that the LORD swore to give to your fathers <sup>19</sup>by thrusting out all your enemies from before you, as the LORD has promised.

<sup>20</sup>†“When your son asks you in time to come, ‘What is the meaning of the testimonies and the statutes and the rules that the LORD our God has commanded you?’ <sup>21</sup>then you shall say to your son, ‘We were Pharaoh's slaves in Egypt. And the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand. <sup>22</sup>And the LORD showed signs and wonders, great and grievous, against Egypt and against Pharaoh and all his household, before our eyes. <sup>23</sup>And he brought us out from there, that he might bring us in and give us the land that he swore to give to our fathers. <sup>24</sup>And the LORD commanded us to do all these statutes, to fear the LORD our God, for our good always, that he might preserve us alive, as we are this day. <sup>25</sup>†And it will be righteousness for us, if we are careful to do all this commandment before the LORD our God, as he has commanded us.’

A Chosen People

DEUTERONOMY 7 ††“When the LORD your God brings you into the land that you are entering to take possession of it, and clears away many nations before you, the Hittites, the Girgashites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, seven nations more numerous and mightier than yourselves, <sup>2</sup>†and when the LORD your God gives them over to you, and you defeat them, then you must devote them to complete destruction. [1] You shall make no covenant with them and show no mercy to them. <sup>3</sup>†You shall not intermarry with them, giving your daughters to their sons or taking their daughters for your sons, <sup>4</sup>for they would turn away your sons from following me, to serve other gods. Then the anger of the LORD would be kindled against you, and he would destroy you quickly. <sup>5</sup>†But thus shall you deal with them: you shall break down their altars and dash in pieces their pillars and chop down their Asherim and burn their carved images with fire.

<sup>6</sup>†“For you are a people holy to the LORD your God. The LORD your God has chosen you to be a people for his treasured possession, out of all the peoples who are on the face of the earth. <sup>7</sup>It was not because you were more in number than any other people that the LORD set his love on you and chose you, for you were the fewest of all peoples, <sup>8</sup>†but it is because the LORD loves you and is keeping the oath that he swore to your fathers, that the LORD has brought you out with a mighty hand and redeemed you from the house of slavery, from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt. <sup>9</sup>†Know therefore that the LORD your God is God, the faithful God who keeps covenant and steadfast love with those who love him and keep his commandments, to a thousand generations, <sup>10</sup>and repays to their face those who hate him, by destroying them. He will not be slack with one who hates him. He will repay him to his face. <sup>11</sup>You shall therefore be careful to do the commandment and the statutes and the rules that I command you today.

<sup>12</sup>††“And because you listen to these rules and keep and do them, the LORD your God will keep with you the covenant and the steadfast love that he swore to your fathers. <sup>13</sup>†He will love you, bless you, and multiply you. He will also bless the fruit of your womb and the fruit of your ground, your grain and your wine and your oil, the increase of your herds and the young of your flock, in the land that he swore to your fathers to give you. <sup>14</sup>You shall be blessed above all peoples. There shall not be male or female barren among you or among your livestock. <sup>15</sup>†And the LORD will take away from you all sickness, and none of the evil diseases of Egypt, which you knew, will he inflict on you, but he will lay them on all who hate you. <sup>16</sup>And you shall consume all the peoples that the LORD your God will give over to you. Your eye shall not pity them, neither shall you serve their gods, for that would be a snare to you.

<sup>17</sup>“If you say in your heart, ‘These nations are greater than I. How can I dispossess them?’ <sup>18</sup>you shall not be afraid of them but you shall remember what the LORD your God did to Pharaoh and to all Egypt, <sup>19</sup>the great trials that your eyes saw, the signs, the wonders, the mighty hand, and the outstretched arm, by which the LORD your God brought you out. So will the LORD your God do to all the peoples of whom you are afraid. <sup>20</sup>‡Moreover, the LORD your God will send hornets among them, until those who are left and hide themselves from you are destroyed. <sup>21</sup>You shall not be in dread of them, for the LORD your God is in your midst, a great and awesome God. <sup>22</sup>‡The LORD your God will clear away these nations before you little by little. You may not make an end of them at once, [\[2\]](#) lest the wild beasts grow too numerous for you. <sup>23</sup>But the LORD your God will give them over to you and throw them into great confusion, until they are destroyed. <sup>24</sup>And he will give their kings into your hand, and you shall make their name perish from under heaven. No one shall be able to stand against you until you have destroyed them. <sup>25</sup>The carved images of their gods you shall burn with fire. You shall not covet the silver or the gold that is on them or take it for yourselves, lest you be ensnared by it, for it is an abomination to the LORD your God. <sup>26</sup>‡And you shall not bring an abominable thing into your house and become devoted to destruction [\[3\]](#) like it. You shall utterly detest and abhor it, for it is devoted to destruction.

Remember the LORD Your God

DEUTERONOMY 8 “The whole commandment that I command you today you shall be careful to do, that you may live and multiply, and go in and possess the land that the LORD swore to give to your fathers. <sup>2</sup>†And you shall remember the whole way that the LORD your God has led you these forty years in the wilderness, that he might humble you, testing you to know what was in your heart, whether you would keep his commandments or not. <sup>3</sup>†And he humbled you and let you hunger and fed you with manna, which you did not know, nor did your fathers know, that he might make you know that man does not live by bread alone, but man lives by every word [\[1\]](#) that comes from the mouth of the LORD. <sup>4</sup>†Your clothing did not wear out on you and your foot did not swell these forty years. <sup>5</sup>†Know then in your heart that, as a man disciplines his son, the LORD your God disciplines you. <sup>6</sup>‡So you shall keep the commandments of the LORD your God by walking in his ways and by fearing him. <sup>7</sup>†For the LORD your God is bringing you into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains and springs, flowing out in the valleys and hills, <sup>8</sup>a land of wheat and barley, of vines and fig trees and pomegranates, a land of olive trees and honey, <sup>9</sup>†a land in which you will eat bread without scarcity, in which you will lack nothing, a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills you can dig copper. <sup>10</sup>And you shall eat and be full, and you shall bless the LORD your God for the good land he has given you.

<sup>11</sup>†“Take care lest you forget the LORD your God by not keeping his commandments and his rules and his statutes, which I command you today, <sup>12</sup>lest, when you have eaten and are full and have built good houses and live in them, <sup>13</sup>and when your herds and flocks multiply and your silver and gold is multiplied and all that you have is multiplied, <sup>14</sup>†then your heart be lifted up, and you forget the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery, <sup>15</sup>†who led you through the great and terrifying wilderness, with its fiery serpents and scorpions and thirsty ground where there was no water, who brought you water out of the flinty rock, <sup>16</sup>†who fed you in the wilderness with manna that your fathers did not know, that he might humble you and test you, to do you good in the end. <sup>17</sup>Beware lest you say in your heart, ‘My power and the might of my hand have gotten me this wealth.’ <sup>18</sup>‡You shall remember the LORD your God, for it is he who gives you power to get wealth, that he may confirm his covenant that he swore to your fathers, as it is this day. <sup>19</sup>†And if you forget the LORD your God and go after other gods and serve them and worship them, I solemnly warn you today that you shall surely perish. <sup>20</sup>Like the nations that the LORD makes to perish before you, so shall you perish, because you would not obey the voice of the LORD your God.

Not Because of Righteousness

DEUTERONOMY 9 †“Hear, O Israel: you are to cross over the Jordan today, to go in to dispossess nations greater and mightier than yourselves, cities great and fortified up to heaven, †a people great and tall, the sons of the Anakim, whom you know, and of whom you have heard it said, ‘Who can stand before the sons of Anak?’ †Know therefore today that he who goes over before you as a consuming fire is the LORD your God. He will destroy them and subdue them before you. So you shall drive them out and make them perish quickly, as the LORD has promised you.

†“Do not say in your heart, after the LORD your God has thrust them out before you, ‘It is because of my righteousness that the LORD has brought me in to possess this land,’ whereas it is because of the wickedness of these nations that the LORD is driving them out before you. †Not because of your righteousness or the uprightness of your heart are you going in to possess their land, but because of the wickedness of these nations the LORD your God is driving them out from before you, and that he may confirm the word that the LORD swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob.

†“Know, therefore, that the LORD your God is not giving you this good land to possess because of your righteousness, for you are a stubborn people.

†Remember and do not forget how you provoked the LORD your God to wrath in the wilderness. From the day you came out of the land of Egypt until you came to this place, you have been rebellious against the LORD. †Even at Horeb you provoked the LORD to wrath, and the LORD was so angry with you that he was ready to destroy you. †When I went up the mountain to receive the tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant that the LORD made with you, I remained on the mountain forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread nor drank water. †And the LORD gave me the two tablets of stone written with the finger of God, and on them were all the words that the LORD had spoken with you on the mountain out of the midst of the fire on the day of the assembly. †And at the end of forty days and forty nights the LORD gave me the two tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant. †Then the LORD said to me, ‘Arise, go down quickly from here, for your people whom you have brought from Egypt have acted corruptly. They have turned aside quickly out of the way that I commanded them; they have made themselves a metal image.’

The Golden Calf

<sup>13</sup>“Furthermore, the LORD said to me, ‘I have seen this people, and behold, it is a stubborn people. <sup>14</sup>†Let me alone, that I may destroy them and blot out their name from under heaven. And I will make of you a nation mightier and greater than they.’ <sup>15</sup>So I turned and came down from the mountain, and the mountain was burning with fire. And the two tablets of the covenant were in my two hands. <sup>16</sup>And I looked, and behold, you had sinned against the LORD your God. You had made yourselves a golden [1] calf. You had turned aside quickly from the way that the LORD had commanded you. <sup>17</sup>So I took hold of the two tablets and threw them out of my two hands and broke them before your eyes. <sup>18</sup>Then I lay prostrate before the LORD as before, forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread nor drank water, because of all the sin that you had committed, in doing what was evil in the sight of the LORD to provoke him to anger. <sup>19</sup>†For I was afraid of the anger and hot displeasure that the LORD bore against you, so that he was ready to destroy you. But the LORD listened to me that time also. <sup>20</sup>†And the LORD was so angry with Aaron that he was ready to destroy him. And I prayed for Aaron also at the same time. <sup>21</sup>Then I took the sinful thing, the calf that you had made, and burned it with fire and crushed it, grinding it very small, until it was as fine as dust. And I threw the dust of it into the brook that ran down from the mountain.

<sup>22</sup>†“At Taberah also, and at Massah and at Kibroth-hattaavah you provoked the LORD to wrath. <sup>23</sup>†And when the LORD sent you from Kadesh-barnea, saying, ‘Go up and take possession of the land that I have given you,’ then you rebelled against the commandment of the LORD your God and did not believe him or obey his voice. <sup>24</sup>†You have been rebellious against the LORD from the day that I knew you.

<sup>25</sup>“So I lay prostrate before the LORD for these forty days and forty nights, because the LORD had said he would destroy you. <sup>26</sup>And I prayed to the LORD, ‘O Lord GOD, do not destroy your people and your heritage, whom you have redeemed through your greatness, whom you have brought out of Egypt with a mighty hand. <sup>27</sup>Remember your servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Do not regard the stubbornness of this people, or their wickedness or their sin, <sup>28</sup>†lest the land from which you brought us say, “Because the LORD was not able to bring them into the land that he promised them, and because he hated them, he has brought them out to put them to death in the wilderness.” <sup>29</sup>For they are your people and your heritage, whom you brought out by your great power and by your outstretched arm.'

New Tablets of Stone

DEUTERONOMY 10 ††“At that time the LORD said to me, ‘Cut for yourself two tablets of stone like the first, and come up to me on the mountain and make an ark of wood. <sup>2</sup>And I will write on the tablets the words that were on the first tablets that you broke, and you shall put them in the ark.’ <sup>3</sup>So I made an ark of acacia wood, and cut two tablets of stone like the first, and went up the mountain with the two tablets in my hand. <sup>4</sup>And he wrote on the tablets, in the same writing as before, the Ten Commandments [1] that the LORD had spoken to you on the mountain out of the midst of the fire on the day of the assembly. And the LORD gave them to me. <sup>5</sup>Then I turned and came down from the mountain and put the tablets in the ark that I had made. And there they are, as the LORD commanded me.”

<sup>6</sup>††(The people of Israel journeyed from Beeroth Bene-jaakan [2] to Moserah. There Aaron died, and there he was buried. And his son Eleazar ministered as priest in his place. <sup>7</sup>From there they journeyed to Gudgodah, and from Gudgodah to Jotbathah, a land with brooks of water. <sup>8</sup>†At that time the LORD set apart the tribe of Levi to carry the ark of the covenant of the LORD to stand before the LORD to minister to him and to bless in his name, to this day. <sup>9</sup>†Therefore Levi has no portion or inheritance with his brothers. The LORD is his inheritance, as the LORD your God said to him.) <sup>10</sup>†“I myself stayed on the mountain, as at the first time, forty days and forty nights, and the LORD listened to me that time also. The LORD was unwilling to destroy you. <sup>11</sup>And the LORD said to me, ‘Arise, go on your journey at the head of the people, so that they may go in and possess the land, which I swore to their fathers to give them.’

Circumcise Your Heart

<sup>12</sup>†“And now, Israel, what does the LORD your God require of you, but to fear the LORD your God, to walk in all his ways, to love him, to serve the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul, <sup>13</sup>and to keep the commandments and statutes of the LORD, which I am commanding you today for your good?

<sup>14</sup>†Behold, to the LORD your God belong heaven and the heaven of heavens, the earth with all that is in it. <sup>15</sup>Yet the LORD set his heart in love on your fathers and chose their offspring after them, you above all peoples, as you are this day.

<sup>16</sup>†Circumcise therefore the foreskin of your heart, and be no longer stubborn.

<sup>17</sup>For the LORD your God is God of gods and Lord of lords, the great, the mighty, and the awesome God, who is not partial and takes no bribe. <sup>18</sup>†He executes justice for the fatherless and the widow, and loves the sojourner, giving him food and clothing. <sup>19</sup>Love the sojourner, therefore, for you were sojourners in the land of Egypt. <sup>20</sup>†You shall fear the LORD your God. You shall serve him and hold fast to him, and by his name you shall swear. <sup>21</sup>He is your praise. He is your God, who has done for you these great and terrifying things that your eyes have seen. <sup>22</sup>†Your fathers went down to Egypt seventy persons, and now the LORD your God has made you as numerous as the stars of heaven.

Love and Serve the LORD

DEUTERONOMY 11 “You shall therefore love the LORD your God and keep his charge, his statutes, his rules, and his commandments always. <sup>2</sup>†And consider today (since I am not speaking to your children who have not known or seen it), consider the discipline [1] of the LORD your God, his greatness, his mighty hand and his outstretched arm, <sup>3</sup>his signs and his deeds that he did in Egypt to Pharaoh the king of Egypt and to all his land, <sup>4</sup>and what he did to the army of Egypt, to their horses and to their chariots, how he made the water of the Red Sea flow over them as they pursued after you, and how the LORD has destroyed them to this day, <sup>5</sup>and what he did to you in the wilderness, until you came to this place, <sup>6</sup>†and what he did to Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, son of Reuben, how the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up, with their households, their tents, and every living thing that followed them, in the midst of all Israel. <sup>7</sup>For your eyes have seen all the great work of the LORD that he did.

<sup>8</sup>“You shall therefore keep the whole commandment that I command you today, that you may be strong, and go in and take possession of the land that you are going over to possess, <sup>9</sup>and that you may live long in the land that the LORD swore to your fathers to give to them and to their offspring, a land flowing with milk and honey. <sup>10</sup>††For the land that you are entering to take possession of it is not like the land of Egypt, from which you have come, where you sowed your seed and irrigated it, [2] like a garden of vegetables. <sup>11</sup>But the land that you are going over to possess is a land of hills and valleys, which drinks water by the rain from heaven, <sup>12</sup>a land that the LORD your God cares for. The eyes of the LORD your God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year to the end of the year.

<sup>13</sup>†“And if you will indeed obey my commandments that I command you today, to love the LORD your God, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul, <sup>14</sup>†the [3] will give the rain for your land in its season, the early rain and the later rain, that you may gather in your grain and your wine and your oil. <sup>15</sup>And he will give grass in your fields for your livestock, and you shall eat and be full. <sup>16</sup>Take care lest your heart be deceived, and you turn aside and serve other gods and worship them; <sup>17</sup>then the anger of the LORD will be kindled against you, and he will shut up the heavens, so that there will be no rain, and the land will yield no fruit, and you will perish quickly off the good land that the LORD is giving you.

<sup>18</sup>‡“You shall therefore lay up these words of mine in your heart and in your soul, and you shall bind them as a sign on your hand, and they shall be as frontlets between your eyes. <sup>19</sup>You shall teach them to your children, talking of them when you are sitting in your house, and when you are walking by the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise. <sup>20</sup>You shall write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates, <sup>21</sup>that your days and the days of your children may be multiplied in the land that the LORD swore to your fathers to give them, as long as the heavens are above the earth. <sup>22</sup>For if you will be careful to do all this commandment that I command you to do, loving the LORD your God, walking in all his ways, and holding fast to him, <sup>23</sup>then the LORD will drive out all these nations before you, and you will dispossess nations greater and mightier than yourselves. <sup>24</sup>‡Every place on which the sole of your foot treads shall be yours. Your territory shall be from the wilderness to [4] the Lebanon and from the River, the river Euphrates, to the western sea. <sup>25</sup>No one shall be able to stand against you. The LORD your God will lay the fear of you and the dread of you on all the land that you shall tread, as he promised you.

<sup>26</sup>‡“See, I am setting before you today a blessing and a curse: <sup>27</sup>the blessing, if you obey the commandments of the LORD your God, which I command you today, <sup>28</sup>and the curse, if you do not obey the commandments of the LORD your God, but turn aside from the way that I am commanding you today, to go after other gods that you have not known. <sup>29</sup>And when the LORD your God brings you into the land that you are entering to take possession of it, you shall set the blessing on Mount Gerizim and the curse on Mount Ebal. <sup>30</sup>Are they not beyond the Jordan, west of the road, toward the going down of the sun, in the land of the Canaanites who live in the Arabah, opposite Gilgal, beside the oak [5] of Moreh? <sup>31</sup>For you are to cross over the Jordan to go in to take possession of the land that the LORD your God is giving you. And when you possess it and live in it, <sup>32</sup>you shall be careful to do all the statutes and the rules that I am setting before you today.

The LORD's Chosen Place of Worship

DEUTERONOMY 12 ¶¶¶“These are the statutes and rules that you shall be careful to do in the land that the LORD, the God of your fathers, has given you to possess, all the days that you live on the earth. <sup>2</sup>†You shall surely destroy all the places where the nations whom you shall dispossess served their gods, on the high mountains and on the hills and under every green tree. <sup>3</sup>†You shall tear down their altars and dash in pieces their pillars and burn their Asherim with fire. You shall chop down the carved images of their gods and destroy their name out of that place. <sup>4</sup>You shall not worship the LORD your God in that way. <sup>5</sup>†But you shall seek the place that the LORD your God will choose out of all your tribes to put his name and make his habitation [1] there. There you shall go, <sup>6</sup>†and there you shall bring your burnt offerings and your sacrifices, your tithes and the contribution that you present, your vow offerings, your freewill offerings, and the firstborn of your herd and of your flock. <sup>7</sup>†And there you shall eat before the LORD your God, and you shall rejoice, you and your households, in all that you undertake, in which the LORD your God has blessed you.

<sup>8</sup>†“You shall not do according to all that we are doing here today, everyone doing whatever is right in his own eyes, <sup>9</sup>for you have not as yet come to the rest and to the inheritance that the LORD your God is giving you. <sup>10</sup>But when you go over the Jordan and live in the land that the LORD your God is giving you to inherit, and when he gives you rest from all your enemies around, so that you live in safety, <sup>11</sup>then to the place that the LORD your God will choose, to make his name dwell there, there you shall bring all that I command you: your burnt offerings and your sacrifices, your tithes and the contribution that you present, and all your finest vow offerings that you vow to the LORD. <sup>12</sup>And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God, you and your sons and your daughters, your male servants and your female servants, and the Levite that is within your towns, since he has no portion or inheritance with you. <sup>13</sup>Take care that you do not offer your burnt offerings at any place that you see, <sup>14</sup>but at the place that the LORD will choose in one of your tribes, there you shall offer your burnt offerings, and there you shall do all that I am commanding you.

<sup>15</sup>†“However, you may slaughter and eat meat within any of your towns, as much as you desire, according to the blessing of the LORD your God that he has given you. The unclean and the clean may eat of it, as of the gazelle and as of the deer. <sup>16</sup>Only you shall not eat the blood; you shall pour it out on the earth like water.

<sup>17</sup>‡ You may not eat within your towns the tithe of your grain or of your wine or of your oil, or the firstborn of your herd or of your flock, or any of your vow offerings that you vow, or your freewill offerings or the contribution that you present, <sup>18</sup>but you shall eat them before the LORD your God in the place that the LORD your God will choose, you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, and the Levite who is within your towns. And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God in all that you undertake. <sup>19</sup>Take care that you do not neglect the Levite as long as you live in your land.

<sup>20</sup>“When the LORD your God enlarges your territory, as he has promised you, and you say, ‘I will eat meat,’ because you crave meat, you may eat meat whenever you desire. <sup>21</sup>‡ If the place that the LORD your God will choose to put his name there is too far from you, then you may kill any of your herd or your flock, which the LORD has given you, as I have commanded you, and you may eat within your towns whenever you desire. <sup>22</sup>Just as the gazelle or the deer is eaten, so you may eat of it. The unclean and the clean alike may eat of it. <sup>23</sup>‡ Only be sure that you do not eat the blood, for the blood is the life, and you shall not eat the life with the flesh. <sup>24</sup>You shall not eat it; you shall pour it out on the earth like water. <sup>25</sup>You shall not eat it, that all may go well with you and with your children after you, when you do what is right in the sight of the LORD. <sup>26</sup>But the holy things that are due from you, and your vow offerings, you shall take, and you shall go to the place that the LORD will choose, <sup>27</sup>and offer your burnt offerings, the flesh and the blood, on the altar of the LORD your God. The blood of your sacrifices shall be poured out on the altar of the LORD your God, but the flesh you may eat. <sup>28</sup>Be careful to obey all these words that I command you, that it may go well with you and with your children after you forever, when you do what is good and right in the sight of the LORD your God.

Warning Against Idolatry

<sup>29</sup>‡ “When the LORD your God cuts off before you the nations whom you go in to dispossess, and you dispossess them and dwell in their land, <sup>30</sup>take care that you be not ensnared to follow them, after they have been destroyed before you, and that you do not inquire about their gods, saying, ‘How did these nations serve their gods?—that I also may do the same.’ <sup>31</sup>‡ You shall not worship the LORD your God in that way, for every abominable thing that the LORD hates they have done for their gods, for they even burn their sons and their daughters in the fire to their gods.

<sup>32</sup>† [2] “Everything that I command you, you shall be careful to do. You shall not add to it or take from it.

DEUTERONOMY 13 †“If a prophet or a dreamer of dreams arises among you and gives you a sign or a wonder, †and the sign or wonder that he tells you comes to pass, and if he says, ‘Let us go after other gods,’ which you have not known, ‘and let us serve them,’ †you shall not listen to the words of that prophet or that dreamer of dreams. For the LORD your God is testing you, to know whether you love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul. †You shall walk after the LORD your God and fear him and keep his commandments and obey his voice, and you shall serve him and hold fast to him. †But that prophet or that dreamer of dreams shall be put to death, because he has taught rebellion against the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt and redeemed you out of the house of slavery, to make you leave the way in which the LORD your God commanded you to walk. So you shall purge the evil [1] from your midst.

†“If your brother, the son of your mother, or your son or your daughter or the wife you embrace [2] or your friend who is as your own soul entices you secretly, saying, ‘Let us go and serve other gods,’ which neither you nor your fathers have known, †some of the gods of the peoples who are around you, whether near you or far off from you, from the one end of the earth to the other, †you shall not yield to him or listen to him, nor shall your eye pity him, nor shall you spare him, nor shall you conceal him. †But you shall kill him. Your hand shall be first against him to put him to death, and afterward the hand of all the people. †You shall stone him to death with stones, because he sought to draw you away from the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. †And all Israel shall hear and fear and never again do any such wickedness as this among you.

†“If you hear in one of your cities, which the LORD your God is giving you to dwell there, †that certain worthless fellows have gone out among you and have drawn away the inhabitants of their city, saying, ‘Let us go and serve other gods,’ which you have not known, †then you shall inquire and make search and ask diligently. And behold, if it be true and certain that such an abomination has been done among you, †you shall surely put the inhabitants of that city to the sword, devoting it to destruction, [3] all who are in it and its cattle, with the edge of the sword. †You shall gather all its spoil into the midst of its open square and burn the city and all its spoil with fire, as a whole burnt offering to the LORD your God. It shall be a heap forever. It shall not be built again. †None of the devoted things shall stick to your hand, that the LORD may turn from the fierceness of his anger and show you mercy and have compassion on you and multiply you, as he swore to your fathers, <sup>18</sup>if you obey the voice of the LORD your God, keeping all his commandments that I am commanding you today, and doing what is right in the sight of the LORD your God.

Clean and Unclean Food

DEUTERONOMY 14 †“You are the sons of the LORD your God. You shall not cut yourselves or make any baldness on your foreheads for the dead. †For you are a people holy to the LORD your God, and the LORD has chosen you to be a people for his treasured possession, out of all the peoples who are on the face of the earth.

‡“You shall not eat any abomination. †These are the animals you may eat: the ox, the sheep, the goat, †the deer, the gazelle, the roebuck, the wild goat, the ibex, [1] the antelope, and the mountain sheep. †Every animal that parts the hoof and has the hoof cloven in two and chews the cud, among the animals, you may eat. †Yet of those that chew the cud or have the hoof cloven you shall not eat these: the camel, the hare, and the rock badger, because they chew the cud but do not part the hoof, are unclean for you. †And the pig, because it parts the hoof but does not chew the cud, is unclean for you. Their flesh you shall not eat, and their carcasses you shall not touch.

‡“Of all that are in the waters you may eat these: whatever has fins and scales you may eat. †And whatever does not have fins and scales you shall not eat; it is unclean for you.

‡“You may eat all clean birds. †But these are the ones that you shall not eat: the eagle, [2] the bearded vulture, the black vulture, †the kite, the falcon of any kind; †every raven of any kind; †the ostrich, the nighthawk, the sea gull, the hawk of any kind; †the little owl and the short-eared owl, the barn owl †and the tawny owl, the carrion vulture and the cormorant, †the stork, the heron of any kind; the hoopoe and the bat. †And all winged insects are unclean for you; they shall not be eaten. †All clean winged things you may eat.

‡“You shall not eat anything that has died naturally. You may give it to the sojourner who is within your towns, that he may eat it, or you may sell it to a foreigner. For you are a people holy to the LORD your God.

“You shall not boil a young goat in its mother's milk.

Tithes

‡“You shall tithe all the yield of your seed that comes from the field year by year. <sup>23</sup>† And before the LORD your God, in the place that he will choose, to make his name dwell there, you shall eat the tithe of your grain, of your wine, and of your oil, and the firstborn of your herd and flock, that you may learn to fear the LORD your God always. <sup>24</sup>† And if the way is too long for you, so that you are not able to carry the tithe, when the LORD your God blesses you, because the place is too far from you, which the LORD your God chooses, to set his name there, <sup>25</sup> then you shall turn it into money and bind up the money in your hand and go to the place that the LORD your God chooses <sup>26</sup>† and spend the money for whatever you desire—oxen or sheep or wine or strong drink, whatever your appetite craves. And you shall eat there before the LORD your God and rejoice, you and your household. <sup>27</sup> And you shall not neglect the Levite who is within your towns, for he has no portion or inheritance with you.

<sup>28</sup>† “At the end of every three years you shall bring out all the tithe of your produce in the same year and lay it up within your towns. <sup>29</sup> And the Levite, because he has no portion or inheritance with you, and the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, who are within your towns, shall come and eat and be filled, that the LORD your God may bless you in all the work of your hands that you do.

The Sabbatical Year

DEUTERONOMY 15 †“At the end of every seven years you shall grant a release.
<sup>2</sup>And this is the manner of the release: every creditor shall release what he has lent to his neighbor. He shall not exact it of his neighbor, his brother, because the LORD's release has been proclaimed. <sup>3</sup>†Of a foreigner you may exact it, but whatever of yours is with your brother your hand shall release. <sup>4</sup>†But there will be no poor among you; for the LORD will bless you in the land that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance to possess— <sup>5</sup>if only you will strictly obey the voice of the LORD your God, being careful to do all this commandment that I command you today. <sup>6</sup>For the LORD your God will bless you, as he promised you, and you shall lend to many nations, but you shall not borrow, and you shall rule over many nations, but they shall not rule over you.

<sup>7</sup>“If among you, one of your brothers should become poor, in any of your towns within your land that the LORD your God is giving you, you shall not harden your heart or shut your hand against your poor brother, <sup>8</sup>†but you shall open your hand to him and lend him sufficient for his need, whatever it may be. <sup>9</sup>Take care lest there be an unworthy thought in your heart and you say, ‘The seventh year, the year of release is near,’ and your eye look grudgingly [1] on your poor brother, and you give him nothing, and he cry to the LORD against you, and you be guilty of sin. <sup>10</sup>You shall give to him freely, and your heart shall not be grudging when you give to him, because for this the LORD your God will bless you in all your work and in all that you undertake. <sup>11</sup>†For there will never cease to be poor in the land. Therefore I command you, ‘You shall open wide your hand to your brother, to the needy and to the poor, in your land.’

<sup>12</sup>†“If your brother, a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman, is sold [2] to you, he shall serve you six years, and in the seventh year you shall let him go free from you. <sup>13</sup>†And when you let him go free from you, you shall not let him go empty-handed. <sup>14</sup>You shall furnish him liberally out of your flock, out of your threshing floor, and out of your winepress. As the LORD your God has blessed you, you shall give to him. <sup>15</sup>†You shall remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt, and the LORD your God redeemed you; therefore I command you this today. <sup>16</sup>But if he says to you, ‘I will not go out from you,’ because he loves you and your household, since he is well-off with you, <sup>17</sup>†then you shall take an awl, and put it through his ear into the door, and he shall be your slave forever. And to your female slave you shall do the same. <sup>18</sup>†It shall not seem hard to you when you let him go free from you, for at half the cost of a hired servant he has served you six years. So the LORD your God will bless you in all that you do.

<sup>19</sup>†“All the firstborn males that are born of your herd and flock you shall dedicate to the LORD your God. You shall do no work with the firstborn of your herd, nor shear the firstborn of your flock. <sup>20</sup>You shall eat it, you and your household, before the LORD your God year by year at the place that the LORD will choose. <sup>21</sup>†But if it has any blemish, if it is lame or blind or has any serious blemish whatever, you shall not sacrifice it to the LORD your God. <sup>22</sup>You shall eat it within your towns. The unclean and the clean alike may eat it, as though it were a gazelle or a deer. <sup>23</sup>Only you shall not eat its blood; you shall pour it out on the ground like water.

Passover

DEUTERONOMY 16 †††“Observe the month of Abib and keep the Passover to the LORD your God, for in the month of Abib the LORD your God brought you out of Egypt by night. <sup>2</sup>And you shall offer the Passover sacrifice to the LORD your God, from the flock or the herd, at the place that the LORD will choose, to make his name dwell there. <sup>3</sup>†You shall eat no leavened bread with it. Seven days you shall eat it with unleavened bread, the bread of affliction—for you came out of the land of Egypt in haste—that all the days of your life you may remember the day when you came out of the land of Egypt. <sup>4</sup>No leaven shall be seen with you in all your territory for seven days, nor shall any of the flesh that you sacrifice on the evening of the first day remain all night until morning. <sup>5</sup>†You may not offer the Passover sacrifice within any of your towns that the LORD your God is giving you, <sup>6</sup>but at the place that the LORD your God will choose, to make his name dwell in it, there you shall offer the Passover sacrifice, in the evening at sunset, at the time you came out of Egypt. <sup>7</sup>†And you shall cook it and eat it at the place that the LORD your God will choose. And in the morning you shall turn and go to your tents. <sup>8</sup>For six days you shall eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh day there shall be a solemn assembly to the LORD your God. You shall do no work on it.

The Feast of Weeks

<sup>9</sup>“You shall count seven weeks. Begin to count the seven weeks from the time the sickle is first put to the standing grain. <sup>10</sup>†Then you shall keep the Feast of Weeks to the LORD your God with the tribute of a freewill offering from your hand, which you shall give as the LORD your God blesses you. <sup>11</sup>And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God, you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, the Levite who is within your towns, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow who are among you, at the place that the LORD your God will choose, to make his name dwell there. <sup>12</sup>You shall remember that you were a slave in Egypt; and you shall be careful to observe these statutes.

The Feast of Booths

<sup>13</sup>†“You shall keep the Feast of Booths seven days, when you have gathered in the produce from your threshing floor and your winepress. <sup>14</sup>You shall rejoice in your feast, you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, the Levite, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow who are within your towns. <sup>15</sup>For seven days you shall keep the feast to the LORD your God at the place that the LORD will choose, because the LORD your God will bless you in all your produce and in all the work of your hands, so that you will be altogether joyful.

<sup>16</sup>“Three times a year all your males shall appear before the LORD your God at the place that he will choose: at the Feast of Unleavened Bread, at the Feast of Weeks, and at the Feast of Booths. They shall not appear before the LORD empty-handed. <sup>17</sup>Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the LORD your God that he has given you.

Justice

<sup>18</sup>†“You shall appoint judges and officers in all your towns that the LORD your God is giving you, according to your tribes, and they shall judge the people with righteous judgment. <sup>19</sup>†You shall not pervert justice. You shall not show partiality, and you shall not accept a bribe, for a bribe blinds the eyes of the wise and subverts the cause of the righteous. <sup>20</sup>Justice, and only justice, you shall follow, that you may live and inherit the land that the LORD your God is giving you.

Forbidden Forms of Worship

<sup>21</sup>†“You shall not plant any tree as an Asherah beside the altar of the LORD your God that you shall make. <sup>22</sup>And you shall not set up a pillar, which the LORD your God hates.

DEUTERONOMY 17 †“You shall not sacrifice to the LORD your God an ox or a sheep in which is a blemish, any defect whatever, for that is an abomination to the LORD your God.

2“If there is found among you, within any of your towns that the LORD your God is giving you, a man or woman who does what is evil in the sight of the LORD your God, in transgressing his covenant, 3†and has gone and served other gods and worshiped them, or the sun or the moon or any of the host of heaven, which I have forbidden, 4and it is told you and you hear of it, then you shall inquire diligently, and if it is true and certain that such an abomination has been done in Israel, 5then you shall bring out to your gates that man or woman who has done this evil thing, and you shall stone that man or woman to death with stones. 6†On the evidence of two witnesses or of three witnesses the one who is to die shall be put to death; a person shall not be put to death on the evidence of one witness. 7The hand of the witnesses shall be first against him to put him to death, and afterward the hand of all the people. So you shall purge [1] the evil [2] from your midst.

Legal Decisions by Priests and Judges

8†“If any case arises requiring decision between one kind of homicide and another, one kind of legal right and another, or one kind of assault and another, any case within your towns that is too difficult for you, then you shall arise and go up to the place that the LORD your God will choose. 9And you shall come to the Levitical priests and to the judge who is in office in those days, and you shall consult them, and they shall declare to you the decision. 10Then you shall do according to what they declare to you from that place that the LORD will choose. And you shall be careful to do according to all that they direct you. 11According to the instructions that they give you, and according to the decision which they pronounce to you, you shall do. You shall not turn aside from the verdict that they declare to you, either to the right hand or to the left. 12The man who acts presumptuously by not obeying the priest who stands to minister there before the LORD your God, or the judge, that man shall die. So you shall purge the evil from Israel. 13And all the people shall hear and fear and not act presumptuously again.

Laws Concerning Israel's Kings

14†“When you come to the land that the LORD your God is giving you, and you possess it and dwell in it and then say, 'I will set a king over me, like all the nations that are around me,' <sup>15</sup>‡you may indeed set a king over you whom the LORD your God will choose. One from among your brothers you shall set as king over you. You may not put a foreigner over you, who is not your brother. <sup>16</sup>‡Only he must not acquire many horses for himself or cause the people to return to Egypt in order to acquire many horses, since the LORD has said to you, 'You shall never return that way again.' <sup>17</sup>And he shall not acquire many wives for himself, lest his heart turn away, nor shall he acquire for himself excessive silver and gold.

<sup>18</sup>‡“And when he sits on the throne of his kingdom, he shall write for himself in a book a copy of this law, approved by [3] the Levitical priests. <sup>19</sup>And it shall be with him, and he shall read in it all the days of his life, that he may learn to fear the LORD his God by keeping all the words of this law and these statutes, and doing them, <sup>20</sup>‡that his heart may not be lifted up above his brothers, and that he may not turn aside from the commandment, either to the right hand or to the left, so that he may continue long in his kingdom, he and his children, in Israel.

Provision for Priests and Levites

DEUTERONOMY 18 †“The Levitical priests, all the tribe of Levi, shall have no portion or inheritance with Israel. They shall eat the LORD's food offerings [1] as their [2] inheritance. <sup>2</sup>They shall have no inheritance among their brothers; the LORD is their inheritance, as he promised them. <sup>3</sup>†And this shall be the priests' due from the people, from those offering a sacrifice, whether an ox or a sheep: they shall give to the priest the shoulder and the two cheeks and the stomach. <sup>4</sup>The firstfruits of your grain, of your wine and of your oil, and the first fleece of your sheep, you shall give him. <sup>5</sup>For the LORD your God has chosen him out of all your tribes to stand and minister in the name of the LORD, him and his sons for all time.

<sup>6</sup>†“And if a Levite comes from any of your towns out of all Israel, where he lives—and he may come when he desires [3]—to the place that the LORD will choose, <sup>7</sup>and ministers in the name of the LORD his God, like all his fellow Levites who stand to minister there before the LORD, <sup>8</sup>then he may have equal portions to eat, besides what he receives from the sale of his patrimony. [4]

Abominable Practices

<sup>9</sup>†“When you come into the land that the LORD your God is giving you, you shall not learn to follow the abominable practices of those nations. <sup>10</sup>There shall not be found among you anyone who burns his son or his daughter as an offering, [5] anyone who practices divination or tells fortunes or interprets omens, or a sorcerer <sup>11</sup>or a charmer or a medium or a necromancer or one who inquires of the dead, <sup>12</sup>for whoever does these things is an abomination to the LORD. And because of these abominations the LORD your God is driving them out before you. <sup>13</sup>You shall be blameless before the LORD your God, <sup>14</sup>for these nations, which you are about to dispossess, listen to fortune-tellers and to diviners. But as for you, the LORD your God has not allowed you to do this.

A New Prophet like Moses

<sup>15</sup>†“The LORD your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among you, from your brothers—it is to him you shall listen— <sup>16</sup>just as you desired of the LORD your God at Horeb on the day of the assembly, when you said, ‘Let me not hear again the voice of the LORD my God or see this great fire any more, lest I die.’ <sup>17</sup>And the LORD said to me, ‘They are right in what they have spoken. <sup>18</sup>I will raise up for them a prophet like you from among their brothers. And I will put my words in his mouth, and he shall speak to them all that I command him. <sup>19</sup>And whoever will not listen to my words that he shall speak in my name, I myself will require it of him. <sup>20</sup>‡But the prophet who presumes to speak a word in my name that I have not commanded him to speak, or [6] who speaks in the name of other gods, that same prophet shall die.’ <sup>21</sup>And if you say in your heart, ‘How may we know the word that the LORD has not spoken?’— <sup>22</sup>when a prophet speaks in the name of the LORD, if the word does not come to pass or come true, that is a word that the LORD has not spoken; the prophet has spoken it presumptuously. You need not be afraid of him.

Laws Concerning Cities of Refuge

DEUTERONOMY 19 ¶¶“When the LORD your God cuts off the nations whose land the LORD your God is giving you, and you dispossess them and dwell in their cities and in their houses, <sup>2</sup>‡you shall set apart three cities for yourselves in the land that the LORD your God is giving you to possess. <sup>3</sup>You shall measure the distances [1] and divide into three parts the area of the land that the LORD your God gives you as a possession, so that any manslayer can flee to them.

<sup>4</sup>“This is the provision for the manslayer, who by fleeing there may save his life. If anyone kills his neighbor unintentionally without having hated him in the past — <sup>5</sup>as when someone goes into the forest with his neighbor to cut wood, and his hand swings the axe to cut down a tree, and the head slips from the handle and strikes his neighbor so that he dies—he may flee to one of these cities and live, <sup>6</sup>lest the avenger of blood in hot anger pursue the manslayer and overtake him, because the way is long, and strike him fatally, though the man did not deserve to die, since he had not hated his neighbor in the past. <sup>7</sup>Therefore I command you, You shall set apart three cities. <sup>8</sup>And if the LORD your God enlarges your territory, as he has sworn to your fathers, and gives you all the land that he promised to give to your fathers— <sup>9</sup>‡provided you are careful to keep all this commandment, which I command you today, by loving the LORD your God and by walking ever in his ways—then you shall add three other cities to these three, <sup>10</sup>lest innocent blood be shed in your land that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance, and so the guilt of bloodshed be upon you.

<sup>11</sup>“But if anyone hates his neighbor and lies in wait for him and attacks him and strikes him fatally so that he dies, and he flees into one of these cities, <sup>12</sup>then the elders of his city shall send and take him from there, and hand him over to the avenger of blood, so that he may die. <sup>13</sup>Your eye shall not pity him, but you shall purge the guilt of innocent blood [2] from Israel, so that it may be well with you.

Property Boundaries

<sup>14</sup>‡“You shall not move your neighbor's landmark, which the men of old have set, in the inheritance that you will hold in the land that the LORD your God is giving you to possess.

Laws Concerning Witnesses

<sup>15</sup>‡“A single witness shall not suffice against a person for any crime or for any wrong in connection with any offense that he has committed. Only on the evidence of two witnesses or of three witnesses shall a charge be established.

<sup>16</sup>‡If a malicious witness arises to accuse a person of wrongdoing, <sup>17</sup>then both parties to the dispute shall appear before the LORD, before the priests and the judges who are in office in those days. <sup>18</sup>The judges shall inquire diligently, and if the witness is a false witness and has accused his brother falsely, <sup>19</sup>then you shall do to him as he had meant to do to his brother. So you shall purge the evil [3] from your midst. <sup>20</sup>‡And the rest shall hear and fear, and shall never again commit any such evil among you. <sup>21</sup>‡Your eye shall not pity. It shall be life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

Laws Concerning Warfare

DEUTERONOMY 20 ††“When you go out to war against your enemies, and see horses and chariots and an army larger than your own, you shall not be afraid of them, for the LORD your God is with you, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt. <sup>2</sup>†And when you draw near to the battle, the priest shall come forward and speak to the people <sup>3</sup>and shall say to them, ‘Hear, O Israel, today you are drawing near for battle against your enemies: let not your heart faint. Do not fear or panic or be in dread of them, <sup>4</sup>for the LORD your God is he who goes with you to fight for you against your enemies, to give you the victory.’ <sup>5</sup>†Then the officers shall speak to the people, saying, ‘Is there any man who has built a new house and has not dedicated it? Let him go back to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man dedicate it. <sup>6</sup>And is there any man who has planted a vineyard and has not enjoyed its fruit? Let him go back to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man enjoy its fruit. <sup>7</sup>And is there any man who has betrothed a wife and has not taken her? Let him go back to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man take her.’ <sup>8</sup>And the officers shall speak further to the people, and say, ‘Is there any man who is fearful and fainthearted? Let him go back to his house, lest he make the heart of his fellows melt like his own.’ <sup>9</sup>And when the officers have finished speaking to the people, then commanders shall be appointed at the head of the people.

<sup>10</sup>†“When you draw near to a city to fight against it, offer terms of peace to it. <sup>11</sup>And if it responds to you peaceably and it opens to you, then all the people who are found in it shall do forced labor for you and shall serve you. <sup>12</sup>But if it makes no peace with you, but makes war against you, then you shall besiege it. <sup>13</sup>And when the LORD your God gives it into your hand, you shall put all its males to the sword, <sup>14</sup>but the women and the little ones, the livestock, and everything else in the city, all its spoil, you shall take as plunder for yourselves. And you shall enjoy the spoil of your enemies, which the LORD your God has given you. <sup>15</sup>Thus you shall do to all the cities that are very far from you, which are not cities of the nations here. <sup>16</sup>†But in the cities of these peoples that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance, you shall save alive nothing that breathes, <sup>17</sup>but you shall devote them to complete destruction, [\[1\]](#) the Hittites and the Amorites, the Canaanites and the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, as the LORD your God has commanded, <sup>18</sup>that they may not teach you to do according to all their abominable practices that they have done for their gods, and so you sin against the LORD your God.

<sup>19</sup>‡“When you besiege a city for a long time, making war against it in order to take it, you shall not destroy its trees by wielding an axe against them. You may eat from them, but you shall not cut them down. Are the trees in the field human, that they should be besieged by you? <sup>20</sup>Only the trees that you know are not trees for food you may destroy and cut down, that you may build siegeworks against the city that makes war with you, until it falls.

Atonement for Unsolved Murders

DEUTERONOMY 21 ‡“If in the land that the LORD your God is giving you to possess someone is found slain, lying in the open country, and it is not known who killed him, <sup>2</sup>then your elders and your judges shall come out, and they shall measure the distance to the surrounding cities. <sup>3</sup>And the elders of the city that is nearest to the slain man shall take a heifer that has never been worked and that has not pulled in a yoke. <sup>4</sup>And the elders of that city shall bring the heifer down to a valley with running water, which is neither plowed nor sown, and shall break the heifer's neck there in the valley. <sup>5</sup>‡Then the priests, the sons of Levi, shall come forward, for the LORD your God has chosen them to minister to him and to bless in the name of the LORD, and by their word every dispute and every assault shall be settled. <sup>6</sup>And all the elders of that city nearest to the slain man shall wash their hands over the heifer whose neck was broken in the valley, <sup>7</sup>and they shall testify, ‘Our hands did not shed this blood, nor did our eyes see it shed. <sup>8</sup>Accept atonement, O LORD, for your people Israel, whom you have redeemed, and do not set the guilt of innocent blood in the midst of your people Israel, so that their blood guilt be atoned for.’ <sup>9</sup>So you shall purge the guilt of innocent blood from your midst, when you do what is right in the sight of the LORD.

Marrying Female Captives

<sup>10</sup>“When you go out to war against your enemies, and the LORD your God gives them into your hand and you take them captive, <sup>11</sup>‡‡and you see among the captives a beautiful woman, and you desire to take her to be your wife, <sup>12</sup>and you bring her home to your house, she shall shave her head and pare her nails. <sup>13</sup>And she shall take off the clothes in which she was captured and shall remain in your house and lament her father and her mother a full month. After that you may go in to her and be her husband, and she shall be your wife. <sup>14</sup>But if you no longer delight in her, you shall let her go where she wants. But you shall not sell her for money, nor shall you treat her as a slave, since you have humiliated her.

Inheritance Rights of the Firstborn

<sup>15</sup>‡“If a man has two wives, the one loved and the other unloved, and both the loved and the unloved have borne him children, and if the firstborn son belongs to the unloved, [\[1\]](#) <sup>16</sup>then on the day when he assigns his possessions as an inheritance to his sons, he may not treat the son of the loved as the firstborn in preference to the son of the unloved, who is the firstborn, <sup>17</sup>but he shall acknowledge the firstborn, the son of the unloved, by giving him a double portion of all that he has, for he is the firstfruits of his strength. The right of the firstborn is his.

A Rebellious Son

<sup>18</sup>‡“If a man has a stubborn and rebellious son who will not obey the voice of his father or the voice of his mother, and, though they discipline him, will not listen to them, <sup>19</sup>then his father and his mother shall take hold of him and bring him out to the elders of his city at the gate of the place where he lives, <sup>20</sup>and they shall say to the elders of his city, ‘This our son is stubborn and rebellious; he will not obey our voice; he is a glutton and a drunkard.’ <sup>21</sup>Then all the men of the city shall stone him to death with stones. So you shall purge the evil from your midst, and all Israel shall hear, and fear.

A Man Hanged on a Tree Is Cursed

<sup>22</sup>‡“And if a man has committed a crime punishable by death and he is put to death, and you hang him on a tree, <sup>23</sup>his body shall not remain all night on the tree, but you shall bury him the same day, for a hanged man is cursed by God. You shall not defile your land that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance.

Various Laws

DEUTERONOMY 22 #1“You shall not see your brother's ox or his sheep going astray and ignore them. You shall take them back to your brother. <sup>2</sup>And if he does not live near you and you do not know who he is, you shall bring it home to your house, and it shall stay with you until your brother seeks it. Then you shall restore it to him. <sup>3</sup>And you shall do the same with his donkey or with his garment, or with any lost thing of your brother's, which he loses and you find; you may not ignore it. <sup>4</sup>You shall not see your brother's donkey or his ox fallen down by the way and ignore them. You shall help him to lift them up again.

<sup>5</sup>#2“A woman shall not wear a man's garment, nor shall a man put on a woman's cloak, for whoever does these things is an abomination to the LORD your God.

<sup>6</sup>#3“If you come across a bird's nest in any tree or on the ground, with young ones or eggs and the mother sitting on the young or on the eggs, you shall not take the mother with the young. <sup>7</sup>You shall let the mother go, but the young you may take for yourself, that it may go well with you, and that you may live long.

<sup>8</sup>#4“When you build a new house, you shall make a parapet for your roof, that you may not bring the guilt of blood upon your house, if anyone should fall from it.

<sup>9</sup>#5“You shall not sow your vineyard with two kinds of seed, lest the whole yield be forfeited, [\[1\]](#) the crop that you have sown and the yield of the vineyard.

<sup>12</sup>#8“You shall make yourself tassels on the four corners of the garment with which you cover yourself.

Laws Concerning Sexual Immorality

<sup>13</sup>#9“If any man takes a wife and goes in to her and then hates her <sup>14</sup>and accuses her of misconduct and brings a bad name upon her, saying, ‘I took this woman, and when I came near her, I did not find in her evidence of virginity,’ <sup>15</sup>#10 then the father of the young woman and her mother shall take and bring out the evidence of her virginity to the elders of the city in the gate. <sup>16</sup>And the father of the young woman shall say to the elders, ‘I gave my daughter to this man to marry, and he hates her; <sup>17</sup>and behold, he has accused her of misconduct, saying, “I did not find in your daughter evidence of virginity.” And yet this is the evidence of my daughter's virginity.’ And they shall spread the cloak before the elders of the city. <sup>18</sup>Then the elders of that city shall take the man and whip [2] him, <sup>19</sup>†and they shall fine him a hundred shekels [3] of silver and give them to the father of the young woman, because he has brought a bad name upon a virgin [4] of Israel. And she shall be his wife. He may not divorce her all his days. <sup>20</sup>But if the thing is true, that evidence of virginity was not found in the young woman, <sup>21</sup>then they shall bring out the young woman to the door of her father's house, and the men of her city shall stone her to death with stones, because she has done an outrageous thing in Israel by whoring in her father's house. So you shall purge the evil from your midst.

<sup>22</sup>‡“If a man is found lying with the wife of another man, both of them shall die, the man who lay with the woman, and the woman. So you shall purge the evil from Israel.

<sup>23</sup>“If there is a betrothed virgin, and a man meets her in the city and lies with her, <sup>24</sup>then you shall bring them both out to the gate of that city, and you shall stone them to death with stones, the young woman because she did not cry for help though she was in the city, and the man because he violated his neighbor's wife. So you shall purge the evil from your midst.

<sup>28</sup>“If a man meets a virgin who is not betrothed, and seizes her and lies with her, and they are found, <sup>29</sup>then the man who lay with her shall give to the father of the young woman fifty shekels of silver, and she shall be his wife, because he has violated her. He may not divorce her all his days.

<sup>30</sup>† [5] “A man shall not take his father's wife, so that he does not uncover his father's nakedness. [6]

Those Excluded from the Assembly

DEUTERONOMY 23 †“No one whose testicles are crushed or whose male organ is cut off shall enter the assembly of the LORD.

<sup>2</sup>‡“No one born of a forbidden union may enter the assembly of the LORD. Even to the tenth generation, none of his descendants may enter the assembly of the LORD.

<sup>3</sup>“No Ammonite or Moabite may enter the assembly of the LORD. Even to the tenth generation, none of them may enter the assembly of the LORD forever, <sup>4</sup>because they did not meet you with bread and with water on the way, when you came out of Egypt, and because they hired against you Balaam the son of Beor from Pethor of Mesopotamia, to curse you. <sup>5</sup>But the LORD your God would not listen to Balaam; instead the LORD your God turned the curse into a blessing for you, because the LORD your God loved you. <sup>6</sup>You shall not seek their peace or their prosperity all your days forever.

<sup>7</sup>“You shall not abhor an Edomite, for he is your brother. You shall not abhor an Egyptian, because you were a sojourner in his land. <sup>8</sup>Children born to them in the third generation may enter the assembly of the LORD.

Uncleanness in the Camp

<sup>9</sup>‡“When you are encamped against your enemies, then you shall keep yourself from every evil thing.

<sup>10</sup>“If any man among you becomes unclean because of a nocturnal emission, then he shall go outside the camp. He shall not come inside the camp, <sup>11</sup>but when evening comes, he shall bathe himself in water, and as the sun sets, he may come inside the camp.

<sup>12</sup>“You shall have a place outside the camp, and you shall go out to it. <sup>13</sup>And you shall have a trowel with your tools, and when you sit down outside, you shall dig a hole with it and turn back and cover up your excrement. <sup>14</sup>Because the LORD your God walks in the midst of your camp, to deliver you and to give up your enemies before you, therefore your camp must be holy, so that he may not see anything indecent among you and turn away from you.

Miscellaneous Laws

<sup>15</sup>‡‡“You shall not give up to his master a slave who has escaped from his master to you. <sup>16</sup>He shall dwell with you, in your midst, in the place that he shall choose within one of your towns, wherever it suits him. You shall not wrong him.

<sup>17</sup>‡“None of the daughters of Israel shall be a cult prostitute, and none of the sons of Israel shall be a cult prostitute. <sup>18</sup>You shall not bring the fee of a prostitute or the wages of a dog [1] into the house of the LORD your God in payment for any vow, for both of these are an abomination to the LORD your God.

<sup>19</sup>‡“You shall not charge interest on loans to your brother, interest on money, interest on food, interest on anything that is lent for interest. <sup>20</sup>You may charge a foreigner interest, but you may not charge your brother interest, that the LORD your God may bless you in all that you undertake in the land that you are entering to take possession of it.

<sup>21</sup>‡“If you make a vow to the LORD your God, you shall not delay fulfilling it, for the LORD your God will surely require it of you, and you will be guilty of sin. <sup>22</sup>But if you refrain from vowing, you will not be guilty of sin. <sup>23</sup>You shall be careful to do what has passed your lips, for you have voluntarily vowed to the LORD your God what you have promised with your mouth.

<sup>24</sup>‡“If you go into your neighbor's vineyard, you may eat your fill of grapes, as many as you wish, but you shall not put any in your bag. <sup>25</sup>If you go into your neighbor's standing grain, you may pluck the ears with your hand, but you shall not put a sickle to your neighbor's standing grain.

Laws Concerning Divorce

DEUTERONOMY 24 †“When a man takes a wife and marries her, if then she finds no favor in his eyes because he has found some indecency in her, and he writes her a certificate of divorce and puts it in her hand and sends her out of his house, and she departs out of his house, <sup>2</sup>and if she goes and becomes another man's wife, <sup>3</sup>and the latter man hates her and writes her a certificate of divorce and puts it in her hand and sends her out of his house, or if the latter man dies, who took her to be his wife, <sup>4</sup>then her former husband, who sent her away, may not take her again to be his wife, after she has been defiled, for that is an abomination before the LORD. And you shall not bring sin upon the land that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance.

Miscellaneous Laws

<sup>5</sup>†“When a man is newly married, he shall not go out with the army or be liable for any other public duty. He shall be free at home one year to be happy with his wife whom he has taken.

<sup>6</sup>†“No one shall take a mill or an upper millstone in pledge, for that would be taking a life in pledge.

<sup>7</sup>†“If a man is found stealing one of his brothers of the people of Israel, and if he treats him as a slave or sells him, then that thief shall die. So you shall purge the evil from your midst.

<sup>8</sup>†“Take care, in a case of leprous [\[1\]](#) disease, to be very careful to do according to all that the Levitical priests shall direct you. As I commanded them, so you shall be careful to do. <sup>9</sup>Remember what the LORD your God did to Miriam on the way as you came out of Egypt.

<sup>10</sup>†“When you make your neighbor a loan of any sort, you shall not go into his house to collect his pledge. <sup>11</sup>You shall stand outside, and the man to whom you make the loan shall bring the pledge out to you. <sup>12</sup>And if he is a poor man, you shall not sleep in his pledge. <sup>13</sup>You shall restore to him the pledge as the sun sets, that he may sleep in his cloak and bless you. And it shall be righteousness for you before the LORD your God.

<sup>14</sup>†“You shall not oppress a hired servant who is poor and needy, whether he is one of your brothers or one of the sojourners who are in your land within your towns. <sup>15</sup>You shall give him his wages on the same day, before the sun sets (for he is poor and counts on it), lest he cry against you to the LORD, and you be guilty of sin.

<sup>16</sup>‡“Fathers shall not be put to death because of their children, nor shall children be put to death because of their fathers. Each one shall be put to death for his own sin.

<sup>17</sup>‡“You shall not pervert the justice due to the sojourner or to the fatherless, or take a widow's garment in pledge, <sup>18</sup>but you shall remember that you were a slave in Egypt and the LORD your God redeemed you from there; therefore I command you to do this.

<sup>19</sup>‡“When you reap your harvest in your field and forget a sheaf in the field, you shall not go back to get it. It shall be for the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, that the LORD your God may bless you in all the work of your hands. <sup>20</sup>When you beat your olive trees, you shall not go over them again. It shall be for the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow. <sup>21</sup>When you gather the grapes of your vineyard, you shall not strip it afterward. It shall be for the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow. <sup>22</sup>You shall remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt; therefore I command you to do this.

DEUTERONOMY 25 †“If there is a dispute between men and they come into court and the judges decide between them, acquitting the innocent and condemning the guilty, <sup>2</sup>then if the guilty man deserves to be beaten, the judge shall cause him to lie down and be beaten in his presence with a number of stripes in proportion to his offense. <sup>3</sup>Forty stripes may be given him, but not more, lest, if one should go on to beat him with more stripes than these, your brother be degraded in your sight.

<sup>4</sup>†“You shall not muzzle an ox when it is treading out the grain.

Laws Concerning Levirate Marriage

<sup>5</sup>††“If brothers dwell together, and one of them dies and has no son, the wife of the dead man shall not be married outside the family to a stranger. Her husband's brother shall go in to her and take her as his wife and perform the duty of a husband's brother to her. <sup>6</sup>And the first son whom she bears shall succeed to the name of his dead brother, that his name may not be blotted out of Israel. <sup>7</sup>And if the man does not wish to take his brother's wife, then his brother's wife shall go up to the gate to the elders and say, ‘My husband's brother refuses to perpetuate his brother's name in Israel; he will not perform the duty of a husband's brother to me.’ <sup>8</sup>Then the elders of his city shall call him and speak to him, and if he persists, saying, ‘I do not wish to take her,’ <sup>9</sup>then his brother's wife shall go up to him in the presence of the elders and pull his sandal off his foot and spit in his face. And she shall answer and say, ‘So shall it be done to the man who does not build up his brother's house.’ <sup>10</sup>And the name of his house [1] shall be called in Israel, ‘The house of him who had his sandal pulled off.’

Miscellaneous Laws

<sup>11</sup>†“When men fight with one another and the wife of the one draws near to rescue her husband from the hand of him who is beating him and puts out her hand and seizes him by the private parts, <sup>12</sup>then you shall cut off her hand. Your eye shall have no pity.

<sup>13</sup>†“You shall not have in your bag two kinds of weights, a large and a small. <sup>14</sup>You shall not have in your house two kinds of measures, a large and a small. <sup>15</sup>A full and fair [2] weight you shall have, a full and fair measure you shall have, that your days may be long in the land that the LORD your God is giving you.

<sup>16</sup>For all who do such things, all who act dishonestly, are an abomination to the LORD your God.

<sup>17</sup>‡“Remember what Amalek did to you on the way as you came out of Egypt, <sup>18</sup>how he attacked you on the way when you were faint and weary, and cut off your tail, those who were lagging behind you, and he did not fear God.

<sup>19</sup>Therefore when the LORD your God has given you rest from all your enemies around you, in the land that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance to possess, you shall blot out the memory of Amalek from under heaven; you shall not forget.

Offerings of Firstfruits and Tithes

DEUTERONOMY 26 †“When you come into the land that the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance and have taken possession of it and live in it, †you shall take some of the first of all the fruit of the ground, which you harvest from your land that the LORD your God is giving you, and you shall put it in a basket, and you shall go to the place that the LORD your God will choose, to make his name to dwell there. †And you shall go to the priest who is in office at that time and say to him, ‘I declare today to the LORD your God that I have come into the land that the LORD swore to our fathers to give us.’ †Then the priest shall take the basket from your hand and set it down before the altar of the LORD your God.

†“And you shall make response before the LORD your God, ‘A wandering Aramean was my father. And he went down into Egypt and sojourned there, few in number, and there he became a nation, great, mighty, and populous. †And the Egyptians treated us harshly and humiliated us and laid on us hard labor. †Then we cried to the LORD, the God of our fathers, and the LORD heard our voice and saw our affliction, our toil, and our oppression. †And the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm, with great deeds of terror, [1] with signs and wonders. †And he brought us into this place and gave us this land, a land flowing with milk and honey. †And behold, now I bring the first of the fruit of the ground, which you, O LORD, have given me.’ And you shall set it down before the LORD your God and worship before the LORD your God. †And you shall rejoice in all the good that the LORD your God has given to you and to your house, you, and the Levite, and the sojourner who is among you.

†“When you have finished paying all the tithe of your produce in the third year, which is the year of tithing, giving it to the Levite, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, so that they may eat within your towns and be filled, †then you shall say before the LORD your God, ‘I have removed the sacred portion out of my house, and moreover, I have given it to the Levite, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, according to all your commandment that you have commanded me. I have not transgressed any of your commandments, nor have I forgotten them. †I have not eaten of the tithe while I was mourning, or removed any of it while I was unclean, or offered any of it to the dead. I have obeyed the voice of the LORD my God. I have done according to all that you have commanded me. †Look down from your holy habitation, from heaven, and bless your people Israel and the ground that you have given us, as you swore to our fathers, a land flowing with milk and honey.’

<sup>16</sup>⚔“This day the LORD your God commands you to do these statutes and rules. You shall therefore be careful to do them with all your heart and with all your soul. <sup>17</sup>You have declared today that the LORD is your God, and that you will walk in his ways, and keep his statutes and his commandments and his rules, and will obey his voice. <sup>18</sup>And the LORD has declared today that you are a people for his treasured possession, as he has promised you, and that you are to keep all his commandments, <sup>19</sup>and that he will set you in praise and in fame and in honor high above all nations that he has made, and that you shall be a people holy to the LORD your God, as he promised.”

The Altar on Mount Ebal

DEUTERONOMY 27 †Now Moses and the elders of Israel commanded the people, saying, “Keep the whole commandment that I command you today. 2†And on the day you cross over the Jordan to the land that the LORD your God is giving you, you shall set up large stones and plaster them with plaster. 3†And you shall write on them all the words of this law, when you cross over to enter the land that the LORD your God is giving you, a land flowing with milk and honey, as the LORD, the God of your fathers, has promised you. 4†And when you have crossed over the Jordan, you shall set up these stones, concerning which I command you today, on Mount Ebal, and you shall plaster them with plaster. 5†And there you shall build an altar to the LORD your God, an altar of stones. You shall wield no iron tool on them; 6you shall build an altar to the LORD your God of uncut [1] stones. And you shall offer burnt offerings on it to the LORD your God, 7and you shall sacrifice peace offerings and shall eat there, and you shall rejoice before the LORD your God. 8And you shall write on the stones all the words of this law very plainly.”

Curses from Mount Ebal

9Then Moses and the Levitical priests said to all Israel, “Keep silence and hear, O Israel: this day you have become the people of the LORD your God. 10You shall therefore obey the voice of the LORD your God, keeping his commandments and his statutes, which I command you today.”

11That day Moses charged the people, saying, 12††“When you have crossed over the Jordan, these shall stand on Mount Gerizim to bless the people: Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin. 13And these shall stand on Mount Ebal for the curse: Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali. 14And the Levites shall declare to all the men of Israel in a loud voice: 15††“‘Cursed be the man who makes a carved or cast metal image, an abomination to the LORD, a thing made by the hands of a craftsman, and sets it up in secret.’ And all the people shall answer and say, ‘Amen.’

16††“‘Cursed be anyone who dishonors his father or his mother.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

17††“‘Cursed be anyone who moves his neighbor's landmark.’ And all the people shall say, 'Amen.'

<sup>18</sup>†“Cursed be anyone who misleads a blind man on the road.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

<sup>19</sup>†“Cursed be anyone who perverts the justice due to the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

<sup>20</sup>†“Cursed be anyone who lies with his father's wife, because he has uncovered his father's nakedness.’ [\[2\]](#) And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

<sup>21</sup>†“Cursed be anyone who lies with any kind of animal.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

<sup>23</sup>†“Cursed be anyone who lies with his mother-in-law.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

<sup>24</sup>†“Cursed be anyone who strikes down his neighbor in secret.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

<sup>25</sup>†“Cursed be anyone who takes a bribe to shed innocent blood.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

<sup>26</sup>†“Cursed be anyone who does not confirm the words of this law by doing them.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

Blessings for Obedience

DEUTERONOMY 28 ††††“And if you faithfully obey the voice of the LORD your God, being careful to do all his commandments that I command you today, the LORD your God will set you high above all the nations of the earth. <sup>2</sup>And all these blessings shall come upon you and overtake you, if you obey the voice of the LORD your God. <sup>3</sup>†Blessed shall you be in the city, and blessed shall you be in the field. <sup>4</sup>Blessed shall be the fruit of your womb and the fruit of your ground and the fruit of your cattle, the increase of your herds and the young of your flock. <sup>5</sup>Blessed shall be your basket and your kneading bowl. <sup>6</sup>†Blessed shall you be when you come in, and blessed shall you be when you go out.

<sup>7</sup>“The LORD will cause your enemies who rise against you to be defeated before you. They shall come out against you one way and flee before you seven ways. <sup>8</sup>The LORD will command the blessing on you in your barns and in all that you undertake. And he will bless you in the land that the LORD your God is giving you. <sup>9</sup>The LORD will establish you as a people holy to himself, as he has sworn to you, if you keep the commandments of the LORD your God and walk in his ways. <sup>10</sup>†And all the peoples of the earth shall see that you are called by the name of the LORD, and they shall be afraid of you. <sup>11</sup>And the LORD will make you abound in prosperity, in the fruit of your womb and in the fruit of your livestock and in the fruit of your ground, within the land that the LORD swore to your fathers to give you. <sup>12</sup>The LORD will open to you his good treasury, the heavens, to give the rain to your land in its season and to bless all the work of your hands. And you shall lend to many nations, but you shall not borrow. <sup>13</sup>†And the LORD will make you the head and not the tail, and you shall only go up and not down, if you obey the commandments of the LORD your God, which I command you today, being careful to do them, <sup>14</sup>and if you do not turn aside from any of the words that I command you today, to the right hand or to the left, to go after other gods to serve them.

Curses for Disobedience

<sup>15</sup>††“But if you will not obey the voice of the LORD your God or be careful to do all his commandments and his statutes that I command you today, then all these curses shall come upon you and overtake you. <sup>16</sup>†Cursed shall you be in the city, and cursed shall you be in the field. <sup>17</sup>Cursed shall be your basket and your kneading bowl. <sup>18</sup>Cursed shall be the fruit of your womb and the fruit of your ground, the increase of your herds and the young of your flock. <sup>19</sup>Cursed shall you be when you come in, and cursed shall you be when you go out.

<sup>20</sup>†“The LORD will send on you curses, confusion, and frustration in all that you undertake to do, until you are destroyed and perish quickly on account of the evil of your deeds, because you have forsaken me. <sup>21</sup>†The LORD will make the pestilence stick to you until he has consumed you off the land that you are entering to take possession of it. <sup>22</sup>†The LORD will strike you with wasting disease and with fever, inflammation and fiery heat, and with drought [1] and with blight and with mildew. They shall pursue you until you perish. <sup>23</sup>†And the heavens over your head shall be bronze, and the earth under you shall be iron. <sup>24</sup>The LORD will make the rain of your land powder. From heaven dust shall come down on you until you are destroyed.

<sup>25</sup>†“The LORD will cause you to be defeated before your enemies. You shall go out one way against them and flee seven ways before them. And you shall be a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth. <sup>26</sup>†And your dead body shall be food for all birds of the air and for the beasts of the earth, and there shall be no one to frighten them away. <sup>27</sup>†The LORD will strike you with the boils of Egypt, and with tumors and scabs and itch, of which you cannot be healed. <sup>28</sup>The LORD will strike you with madness and blindness and confusion of mind, <sup>29</sup>and you shall grope at noonday, as the blind grope in darkness, and you shall not prosper in your ways. [2] And you shall be only oppressed and robbed continually, and there shall be no one to help you. <sup>30</sup>†You shall betroth a wife, but another man shall ravish her. You shall build a house, but you shall not dwell in it. You shall plant a vineyard, but you shall not enjoy its fruit. <sup>31</sup>Your ox shall be slaughtered before your eyes, but you shall not eat any of it. Your donkey shall be seized before your face, but shall not be restored to you. Your sheep shall be given to your enemies, but there shall be no one to help you. <sup>32</sup>†Your sons and your daughters shall be given to another people, while your eyes look on and fail with longing for them all day long, but you shall be helpless. <sup>33</sup>A nation that you have not known shall eat up the fruit of your ground and of all your labors, and you shall be only oppressed and crushed continually, <sup>34</sup>so that you are driven mad by the sights that your eyes see. <sup>35</sup>†The LORD will strike you on the knees and on the legs with grievous boils of which you cannot be healed, from the sole of your foot to the crown of your head.

<sup>36</sup>†“The LORD will bring you and your king whom you set over you to a nation that neither you nor your fathers have known. And there you shall serve other gods of wood and stone. <sup>37</sup>† And you shall become a horror, a proverb, and a byword among all the peoples where the LORD will lead you away. <sup>38</sup>† You shall carry much seed into the field and shall gather in little, for the locust shall consume it. <sup>39</sup> You shall plant vineyards and dress them, but you shall neither drink of the wine nor gather the grapes, for the worm shall eat them. <sup>40</sup> You shall have olive trees throughout all your territory, but you shall not anoint yourself with the oil, for your olives shall drop off. <sup>41</sup> You shall father sons and daughters, but they shall not be yours, for they shall go into captivity. <sup>42</sup> The cricket [3] shall possess all your trees and the fruit of your ground. <sup>43</sup> The sojourner who is among you shall rise higher and higher above you, and you shall come down lower and lower. <sup>44</sup> He shall lend to you, and you shall not lend to him. He shall be the head, and you shall be the tail.

<sup>45</sup>“All these curses shall come upon you and pursue you and overtake you till you are destroyed, because you did not obey the voice of the LORD your God, to keep his commandments and his statutes that he commanded you. <sup>46</sup>† They shall be a sign and a wonder against you and your offspring forever. <sup>47</sup> Because you did not serve the LORD your God with joyfulness and gladness of heart, because of the abundance of all things, <sup>48</sup> therefore you shall serve your enemies whom the LORD will send against you, in hunger and thirst, in nakedness, and lacking everything. And he will put a yoke of iron on your neck until he has destroyed you. <sup>49</sup>† The LORD will bring a nation against you from far away, from the end of the earth, swooping down like the eagle, a nation whose language you do not understand, <sup>50</sup>† a hard-faced nation who shall not respect the old or show mercy to the young. <sup>51</sup> It shall eat the offspring of your cattle and the fruit of your ground, until you are destroyed; it also shall not leave you grain, wine, or oil, the increase of your herds or the young of your flock, until they have caused you to perish.

<sup>52</sup>†† “They shall besiege you in all your towns, until your high and fortified walls, in which you trusted, come down throughout all your land. And they shall besiege you in all your towns throughout all your land, which the LORD your God has given you. <sup>53</sup>† And you shall eat the fruit of your womb, the flesh of your sons and daughters, whom the LORD your God has given you, in the siege and in the distress with which your enemies shall distress you. <sup>54</sup> The man who is the most tender and refined among you will begrudge food to his brother, to the wife he embraces, [4] and to the last of the children whom he has left, <sup>55</sup> so that he will not give to any of them any of the flesh of his children whom he is eating, because he has nothing else left, in the siege and in the distress with which your enemy shall distress you in all your towns. <sup>56</sup>The most tender and refined woman among you, who would not venture to set the sole of her foot on the ground because she is so delicate and tender, will begrudge to the husband she embraces, [\[5\]](#) to her son and to her daughter, <sup>57</sup>her afterbirth that comes out from between her feet and her children whom she bears, because lacking everything she will eat them secretly, in the siege and in the distress with which your enemy shall distress you in your towns.

<sup>58</sup>‡“If you are not careful to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, that you may fear this glorious and awesome name, the LORD your God, <sup>59</sup>‡then the LORD will bring on you and your offspring extraordinary afflictions, afflictions severe and lasting, and sicknesses grievous and lasting. <sup>60</sup>And he will bring upon you again all the diseases of Egypt, of which you were afraid, and they shall cling to you. <sup>61</sup>‡Every sickness also and every affliction that is not recorded in the book of this law, the LORD will bring upon you, until you are destroyed. <sup>62</sup>Whereas you were as numerous as the stars of heaven, you shall be left few in number, because you did not obey the voice of the LORD your God. <sup>63</sup>‡And as the LORD took delight in doing you good and multiplying you, so the LORD will take delight in bringing ruin upon you and destroying you. And you shall be plucked off the land that you are entering to take possession of it.

<sup>64</sup>‡“And the LORD will scatter you among all peoples, from one end of the earth to the other, and there you shall serve other gods of wood and stone, which neither you nor your fathers have known. <sup>65</sup>And among these nations you shall find no respite, and there shall be no resting place for the sole of your foot, but the LORD will give you there a trembling heart and failing eyes and a languishing soul. <sup>66</sup>Your life shall hang in doubt before you. Night and day you shall be in dread and have no assurance of your life. <sup>67</sup>In the morning you shall say, ‘If only it were evening!’ and at evening you shall say, ‘If only it were morning!’ because of the dread that your heart shall feel, and the sights that your eyes shall see. <sup>68</sup>‡And the LORD will bring you back in ships to Egypt, a journey that I promised that you should never make again; and there you shall offer yourselves for sale to your enemies as male and female slaves, but there will be no buyer.”

The Covenant Renewed in Moab

DEUTERONOMY 29 †† [1] These are the words of the covenant that the LORD commanded Moses to make with the people of Israel in the land of Moab, besides the covenant that he had made with them at Horeb.

<sup>2</sup> [2] And Moses summoned all Israel and said to them: “You have seen all that the LORD did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh and to all his servants and to all his land, <sup>3</sup>the great trials that your eyes saw, the signs, and those great wonders. <sup>4</sup>† But to this day the LORD has not given you a heart to understand or eyes to see or ears to hear. <sup>5</sup>I have led you forty years in the wilderness. Your clothes have not worn out on you, and your sandals have not worn off your feet. <sup>6</sup>You have not eaten bread, and you have not drunk wine or strong drink, that you may know that I am the LORD your God. <sup>7</sup>And when you came to this place, Sihon the king of Heshbon and Og the king of Bashan came out against us to battle, but we defeated them. <sup>8</sup>We took their land and gave it for an inheritance to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of the Manassites. <sup>9</sup>† Therefore keep the words of this covenant and do them, that you may prosper [3] in all that you do.

<sup>10</sup>† “You are standing today all of you before the LORD your God: the heads of your tribes, [4] your elders, and your officers, all the men of Israel, <sup>11</sup>your little ones, your wives, and the sojourner who is in your camp, from the one who chops your wood to the one who draws your water, <sup>12</sup>† so that you may enter into the sworn covenant of the LORD your God, which the LORD your God is making with you today, <sup>13</sup>that he may establish you today as his people, and that he may be your God, as he promised you, and as he swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. <sup>14</sup>† It is not with you alone that I am making this sworn covenant, <sup>15</sup>but with whoever is standing here with us today before the LORD our God, and with whoever is not here with us today.

<sup>16</sup>“You know how we lived in the land of Egypt, and how we came through the midst of the nations through which you passed. <sup>17</sup>And you have seen their detestable things, their idols of wood and stone, of silver and gold, which were among them. <sup>18</sup>† Beware lest there be among you a man or woman or clan or tribe whose heart is turning away today from the LORD our God to go and serve the gods of those nations. Beware lest there be among you a root bearing poisonous and bitter fruit, <sup>19</sup>† one who, when he hears the words of this sworn covenant, blesses himself in his heart, saying, 'I shall be safe, though I walk in the stubbornness of my heart.' This will lead to the sweeping away of moist and dry alike. <sup>20</sup>†The LORD will not be willing to forgive him, but rather the anger of the LORD and his jealousy will smoke against that man, and the curses written in this book will settle upon him, and the LORD will blot out his name from under heaven. <sup>21</sup>†And the LORD will single him out from all the tribes of Israel for calamity, in accordance with all the curses of the covenant written in this Book of the Law. <sup>22</sup>†And the next generation, your children who rise up after you, and the foreigner who comes from a far land, will say, when they see the afflictions of that land and the sicknesses with which the LORD has made it sick— <sup>23</sup>†the whole land burned out with brimstone and salt, nothing sown and nothing growing, where no plant can sprout, an overthrow like that of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim, which the LORD overthrew in his anger and wrath— <sup>24</sup>†all the nations will say, 'Why has the LORD done thus to this land? What caused the heat of this great anger?' <sup>25</sup>Then people will say, 'It is because they abandoned the covenant of the LORD, the God of their fathers, which he made with them when he brought them out of the land of Egypt, <sup>26</sup>and went and served other gods and worshiped them, gods whom they had not known and whom he had not allotted to them. <sup>27</sup>Therefore the anger of the LORD was kindled against this land, bringing upon it all the curses written in this book, <sup>28</sup>and the LORD uprooted them from their land in anger and fury and great wrath, and cast them into another land, as they are this day.'

<sup>29</sup>†“The secret things belong to the LORD our God, but the things that are revealed belong to us and to our children forever, that we may do all the words of this law.

Repentance and Forgiveness

DEUTERONOMY 30 ††“And when all these things come upon you, the blessing and the curse, which I have set before you, and you call them to mind among all the nations where the LORD your God has driven you, <sup>2</sup>and return to the LORD your God, you and your children, and obey his voice in all that I command you today, with all your heart and with all your soul, <sup>3</sup>then the LORD your God will restore your fortunes and have compassion on you, and he will gather you again from all the peoples where the LORD your God has scattered you. <sup>4</sup>†If your outcasts are in the uttermost parts of heaven, from there the LORD your God will gather you, and from there he will take you. <sup>5</sup>And the LORD your God will bring you into the land that your fathers possessed, that you may possess it. And he will make you more prosperous and numerous than your fathers. <sup>6</sup>†And the LORD your God will circumcise your heart and the heart of your offspring, so that you will love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul, that you may live. <sup>7</sup>†And the LORD your God will put all these curses on your foes and enemies who persecuted you. <sup>8</sup>†And you shall again obey the voice of the LORD and keep all his commandments that I command you today. <sup>9</sup>The LORD your God will make you abundantly prosperous in all the work of your hand, in the fruit of your womb and in the fruit of your cattle and in the fruit of your ground. For the LORD will again take delight in prospering you, as he took delight in your fathers, <sup>10</sup>†when you obey the voice of the LORD your God, to keep his commandments and his statutes that are written in this Book of the Law, when you turn to the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul.

The Choice of Life and Death

<sup>11</sup>†“For this commandment that I command you today is not too hard for you, neither is it far off. <sup>12</sup>It is not in heaven, that you should say, ‘Who will ascend to heaven for us and bring it to us, that we may hear it and do it?’ <sup>13</sup>Neither is it beyond the sea, that you should say, ‘Who will go over the sea for us and bring it to us, that we may hear it and do it?’ <sup>14</sup>But the word is very near you. It is in your mouth and in your heart, so that you can do it.

<sup>15</sup>†“See, I have set before you today life and good, death and evil. <sup>16</sup>If you obey the commandments of the LORD your God [1] that I command you today, by loving the LORD your God, by walking in his ways, and by keeping his commandments and his statutes and his rules, [2] then you shall live and multiply, and the LORD your God will bless you in the land that you are entering to take possession of it. <sup>17</sup>But if your heart turns away, and you will not hear, but are drawn away to worship other gods and serve them, <sup>18</sup>I declare to you today, that you shall surely perish. You shall not live long in the land that you are going over the Jordan to enter and possess. <sup>19</sup>†I call heaven and earth to witness against you today, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and curse. Therefore choose life, that you and your offspring may live, <sup>20</sup>loving the LORD your God, obeying his voice and holding fast to him, for he is your life and length of days, that you may dwell in the land that the LORD swore to your fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give them.”

Joshua to Succeed Moses

DEUTERONOMY 31 †† So Moses continued to speak these words to all Israel. † And he said to them, “I am 120 years old today. I am no longer able to go out and come in. The LORD has said to me, ‘You shall not go over this Jordan.’ † The LORD your God himself will go over before you. He will destroy these nations before you, so that you shall dispossess them, and Joshua will go over at your head, as the LORD has spoken. † And the LORD will do to them as he did to Sihon and Og, the kings of the Amorites, and to their land, when he destroyed them. † And the LORD will give them over to you, and you shall do to them according to the whole commandment that I have commanded you. † Be strong and courageous. Do not fear or be in dread of them, for it is the LORD your God who goes with you. He will not leave you or forsake you.”

† Then Moses summoned Joshua and said to him in the sight of all Israel, “Be strong and courageous, for you shall go with this people into the land that the LORD has sworn to their fathers to give them, and you shall put them in possession of it. † It is the LORD who goes before you. He will be with you; he will not leave you or forsake you. Do not fear or be dismayed.”

The Reading of the Law

† Then Moses wrote this law and gave it to the priests, the sons of Levi, who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and to all the elders of Israel. † And Moses commanded them, “At the end of every seven years, at the set time in the year of release, at the Feast of Booths, † when all Israel comes to appear before the LORD your God at the place that he will choose, you shall read this law before all Israel in their hearing. † Assemble the people, men, women, and little ones, and the sojourner within your towns, that they may hear and learn to fear the LORD your God, and be careful to do all the words of this law, † and that their children, who have not known it, may hear and learn to fear the LORD your God, as long as you live in the land that you are going over the Jordan to possess.”

Joshua Commissioned to Lead Israel

† And the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, the days approach when you must die. Call Joshua and present yourselves in the tent of meeting, that I may commission him.” And Moses and Joshua went and presented themselves in the tent of meeting. <sup>15</sup>And the LORD appeared in the tent in a pillar of cloud. And the pillar of cloud stood over the entrance of the tent.

<sup>16</sup>†And the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, you are about to lie down with your fathers. Then this people will rise and whore after the foreign gods among them in the land that they are entering, and they will forsake me and break my covenant that I have made with them. <sup>17</sup>Then my anger will be kindled against them in that day, and I will forsake them and hide my face from them, and they will be devoured. And many evils and troubles will come upon them, so that they will say in that day, ‘Have not these evils come upon us because our God is not among us?’ <sup>18</sup>And I will surely hide my face in that day because of all the evil that they have done, because they have turned to other gods.

<sup>19</sup>†“Now therefore write this song and teach it to the people of Israel. Put it in their mouths, that this song may be a witness for me against the people of Israel. <sup>20</sup>For when I have brought them into the land flowing with milk and honey, which I swore to give to their fathers, and they have eaten and are full and grown fat, they will turn to other gods and serve them, and despise me and break my covenant. <sup>21</sup>And when many evils and troubles have come upon them, this song shall confront them as a witness (for it will live unforgotten in the mouths of their offspring). For I know what they are inclined to do even today, before I have brought them into the land that I swore to give.” <sup>22</sup>So Moses wrote this song the same day and taught it to the people of Israel.

<sup>23</sup>†And the LORD commissioned Joshua the son of Nun and said, “Be strong and courageous, for you shall bring the people of Israel into the land that I swore to give them. I will be with you.”

<sup>24</sup>†When Moses had finished writing the words of this law in a book to the very end, <sup>25</sup>Moses commanded the Levites who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD, <sup>26</sup>“Take this Book of the Law and put it by the side of the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, that it may be there for a witness against you. <sup>27</sup>†For I know how rebellious and stubborn you are. Behold, even today while I am yet alive with you, you have been rebellious against the LORD. How much more after my death! <sup>28</sup>Assemble to me all the elders of your tribes and your officers, that I may speak these words in their ears and call heaven and earth to witness against them. <sup>29</sup>†For I know that after my death you will surely act corruptly and turn aside from the way that I have commanded you. And in the days to come evil will befall you, because you will do what is evil in the sight of the LORD, provoking him to anger through the work of your hands.”

The Song of Moses

<sup>30</sup> Then Moses spoke the words of this song until they were finished, in the ears of all the assembly of Israel:

DEUTERONOMY 32 †“Give ear, O heavens, and I will speak, and let the earth hear the words of my mouth.

<sup>2</sup>†May my teaching drop as the rain, my speech distill as the dew, like gentle rain upon the tender grass, and like showers upon the herb.

<sup>3</sup>†For I will proclaim the name of the LORD; ascribe greatness to our God!

<sup>4</sup>†“The Rock, his work is perfect, for all his ways are justice.
A God of faithfulness and without iniquity, just and upright is he.

<sup>5</sup>†They have dealt corruptly with him; they are no longer his children because they are blemished; they are a crooked and twisted generation.

<sup>6</sup>†Do you thus repay the LORD, you foolish and senseless people?
Is not he your father, who created you, who made you and established you?

<sup>7</sup>†Remember the days of old; consider the years of many generations;
ask your father, and he will show you, your elders, and they will tell you.

<sup>8</sup>‡When the Most High gave to the nations their inheritance, when he divided mankind, he fixed the borders [1] of the peoples according to the number of the sons of God. [2]

<sup>10</sup>‡†“He found him in a desert land, and in the howling waste of the wilderness;

he encircled him, he cared for him,
he kept him as the apple of his eye.

<sup>11</sup>†Like an eagle that stirs up its nest, that flutters over its young, spreading out its wings, catching them, bearing them on its pinions,

<sup>12</sup>†the LORD alone guided him, no foreign god was with him.

<sup>13</sup>†He made him ride on the high places of the land, and he ate the produce of the field, and he suckled him with honey out of the rock, and oil out of the flinty rock.

<sup>14</sup>†Curds from the herd, and milk from the flock, with fat [3] of lambs, rams of Bashan and goats, with the very finest [4] of the wheat— and you drank foaming wine made from the blood of the grape.

<sup>15</sup>†“But Jeshurun grew fat, and kicked; you grew fat, stout, and sleek; then he forsook God who made him and scoffed at the Rock of his salvation.

<sup>16</sup>†They stirred him to jealousy with strange gods; with abominations they provoked him to anger.

<sup>17</sup>†They sacrificed to demons that were no gods, to gods they had never known,
to new gods that had come recently,
whom your fathers had never dreaded.

<sup>18</sup>‡You were unmindful of the Rock that bore [5] you, and you forgot the God who gave you birth.

<sup>19</sup>“The LORD saw it and spurned them, because of the provocation of his sons and his daughters.

<sup>20</sup>And he said, ‘I will hide my face from them; I will see what their end will be,
For they are a perverse generation, children in whom is no faithfulness.

<sup>21</sup>†They have made me jealous with what is no god; they have provoked me to anger with their idols.
So I will make them jealous with those who are no people; I will provoke them to anger with a foolish nation.

<sup>22</sup>†For a fire is kindled by my anger, and it burns to the depths of Sheol, devours the earth and its increase, and sets on fire the foundations of the mountains.

<sup>23</sup>†“And I will heap disasters upon them; I will spend my arrows on them;
<sup>24</sup>they shall be wasted with hunger, and devoured by plague and poisonous pestilence;
I will send the teeth of beasts against them, with the venom of things that crawl in the dust.

<sup>25</sup>Outdoors the sword shall bereave, and indoors terror, for young man and woman alike,
the nursing child with the man of gray hairs.

<sup>26</sup>I would have said, “I will cut them to pieces; I will wipe them from human memory,”

<sup>27</sup>†had I not feared provocation by the enemy, lest their adversaries should misunderstand, lest they should say, “Our hand is triumphant, it was not the LORD who did all this.””

<sup>28</sup>“For they are a nation void of counsel, and there is no understanding in them.

<sup>29</sup>If they were wise, they would understand this; they would discern their latter end!

<sup>30</sup>How could one have chased a thousand, and two have put ten thousand to flight, unless their Rock had sold them, and the LORD had given them up?

<sup>32</sup>† For their vine comes from the vine of Sodom and from the fields of Gomorrah; their grapes are grapes of poison;

their clusters are bitter;

<sup>35</sup>† Vengeance is mine, and recompense, [6]

for the time when their foot shall slip;
for the day of their calamity is at hand, and their doom comes swiftly.’

<sup>36</sup>† For the LORD will vindicate [7] his people and have compassion on his servants, when he sees that their power is gone and there is none remaining, bond or free.

<sup>37</sup>Then he will say, ‘Where are their gods, the rock in which they took refuge, <sup>38</sup>who ate the fat of their sacrifices and drank the wine of their drink offering?

Let them rise up and help you;
let them be your protection!

<sup>39</sup>† “See now that I, even I, am he, and there is no god beside me;

I kill and I make alive;

I wound and I heal;

and there is none that can deliver out of my hand.

<sup>40</sup>† For I lift up my hand to heaven and swear, As I live forever,

<sup>41</sup>if I sharpen my flashing sword [8] and my hand takes hold on judgment,

I will take vengeance on my adversaries and will repay those who hate me.

<sup>42</sup>I will make my arrows drunk with blood, and my sword shall devour flesh — with the blood of the slain and the captives, from the long-haired heads of the enemy.’

<sup>43</sup>†“Rejoice with him, O heavens; bow down to him, all gods, [9] for he avenges the blood of his children [10] and takes vengeance on his adversaries.
He repays those who hate him [11] and cleanses [12] his people's land.” [13]

<sup>44</sup>Moses came and recited all the words of this song in the hearing of the people, he and Joshua [14] the son of Nun. <sup>45</sup>And when Moses had finished speaking all these words to all Israel, <sup>46</sup>he said to them, “Take to heart all the words by which I am warning you today, that you may command them to your children, that they may be careful to do all the words of this law. <sup>47</sup>†For it is no empty word for you, but your very life, and by this word you shall live long in the land that you are going over the Jordan to possess.”

Moses' Death Foretold

<sup>48</sup>†That very day the LORD spoke to Moses, <sup>49</sup>†“Go up this mountain of the Abarim, Mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, opposite Jericho, and view the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the people of Israel for a possession. <sup>50</sup>†And die on the mountain which you go up, and be gathered to your people, as Aaron your brother died in Mount Hor and was gathered to his people, <sup>51</sup>because you broke faith with me in the midst of the people of Israel at the waters of Meribah-kadesh, in the wilderness of Zin, and because you did not treat me as holy in the midst of the people of Israel. <sup>52</sup>For you shall see the land before you, but you shall not go there, into the land that I am giving to the people of Israel.”

Moses' Final Blessing on Israel

DEUTERONOMY 33 †† This is the blessing with which Moses the man of God blessed the people of Israel before his death. <sup>2</sup>† He said, “The LORD came from Sinai and dawned from Seir upon us; [1]

he shone forth from Mount Paran;
he came from the ten thousands of holy ones, with flaming fire [2] at his right hand.

<sup>3</sup>† Yes, he loved his people, [3]

all his holy ones were in his [4] hand; so they followed [5] in your steps, receiving direction from you, <sup>4</sup>when Moses commanded us a law, as a possession for the assembly of Jacob.

<sup>5</sup>† Thus the LORD became king in Jeshurun, when the heads of the people were gathered, all the tribes of Israel together.

<sup>7</sup>† And this he said of Judah: “Hear, O LORD, the voice of Judah, and bring him in to his people.

With your hands contend [6] for him, and be a help against his adversaries.”

<sup>8</sup>† And of Levi he said, “Give to Levi [7] your Thummim, and your Urim to your godly one, whom you tested at Massah, with whom you quarreled at the waters of Meribah; <sup>9</sup>who said of his father and mother, ‘I regard them not’;

he disowned his brothers and ignored his children.

For they observed your word and kept your covenant.

<sup>10</sup>They shall teach Jacob your rules and Israel your law;
they shall put incense before you and whole burnt offerings on your altar.

<sup>11</sup>Bless, O LORD, his substance, and accept the work of his hands;
crush the loins of his adversaries, of those who hate him, that they rise not again.”

<sup>12</sup>†Of Benjamin he said, “The beloved of the LORD dwells in safety.

The High God [8] surrounds him all day long, and dwells between his shoulders.”

<sup>13</sup>†And of Joseph he said, “Blessed by the LORD be his land, with the choicest gifts of heaven above, [9] and of the deep that crouches beneath,

<sup>14</sup>with the choicest fruits of the sun and the rich yield of the months, <sup>15</sup>with the finest produce of the ancient mountains and the abundance of the everlasting hills, <sup>16</sup>with the best gifts of the earth and its fullness and the favor of him who dwells in the bush.

May these rest on the head of Joseph, on the pate of him who is prince among his brothers.

<sup>17</sup>A firstborn bull [10]—he has majesty, and his horns are the horns of a wild ox;

with them he shall gore the peoples,

all of them, to the ends of the earth;

they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, and they are the thousands of Manasseh.”

<sup>18</sup>†And of Zebulun he said, “Rejoice, Zebulun, in your going out, and Issachar, in your tents.

<sup>19</sup>They shall call peoples to their mountain; there they offer right sacrifices; for they draw from the abundance of the seas and the hidden treasures of the sand.”

<sup>20</sup>†And of Gad he said, “Blessed be he who enlarges Gad!

Gad crouches like a lion;

he tears off arm and scalp.

<sup>21</sup>He chose the best of the land for himself, for there a commander's portion was reserved; and he came with the heads of the people, with Israel he executed the justice of the LORD, and his judgments for Israel.”

<sup>22</sup>†And of Dan he said, “Dan is a lion's cub that leaps from Bashan.”

<sup>23</sup>† And of Naphtali he said, “O Naphtali, sated with favor, and full of the blessing of the LORD, possess the lake [\[11\]](#) and the south.”

<sup>24</sup>† And of Asher he said, “Most blessed of sons be Asher; let him be the favorite of his brothers, and let him dip his foot in oil.

<sup>25</sup>Your bars shall be iron and bronze, and as your days, so shall your strength be.

<sup>26</sup>‡ “There is none like God, O Jeshurun, who rides through the heavens to your help, through the skies in his majesty.

<sup>27</sup>The eternal God is your dwelling place, [\[12\]](#) and underneath are the everlasting arms. [\[13\]](#)

And he thrust out the enemy before you and said, Destroy.

<sup>28</sup>‡‡ So Israel lived in safety, Jacob lived alone, [\[14\]](#) in a land of grain and wine, whose heavens drop down dew.

<sup>29</sup>Happy are you, O Israel! Who is like you, a people saved by the LORD, the shield of your help,
and the sword of your triumph!

Your enemies shall come fawning to you, and you shall tread upon their backs.”

The Death of Moses

DEUTERONOMY 34 ¶¶¶ Then Moses went up from the plains of Moab to Mount Nebo, to the top of Pisgah, which is opposite Jericho. And the LORD showed him all the land, Gilead as far as Dan, <sup>2</sup>all Naphtali, the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, all the land of Judah as far as the western sea, <sup>3</sup>the Negeb, and the Plain, that is, the Valley of Jericho the city of palm trees, as far as Zoar. <sup>4</sup>And the LORD said to him, “This is the land of which I swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, ‘I will give it to your offspring.’ I have let you see it with your eyes, but you shall not go over there.” <sup>5</sup>So Moses the servant of the LORD died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the LORD, <sup>6</sup>† and he buried him in the valley in the land of Moab opposite Beth-peor; but no one knows the place of his burial to this day. <sup>7</sup>† Moses was 120 years old when he died. His eye was undimmed, and his vigor unabated. <sup>8</sup>† And the people of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab thirty days. Then the days of weeping and mourning for Moses were ended.

<sup>9</sup>† And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom, for Moses had laid his hands on him. So the people of Israel obeyed him and did as the LORD had commanded Moses. <sup>10</sup>† And there has not arisen a prophet since in Israel like Moses, whom the LORD knew face to face, <sup>11</sup>none like him for all the signs and the wonders that the LORD sent him to do in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh and to all his servants and to all his land, <sup>12</sup>and for all the mighty power and all the great deeds of terror that Moses did in the sight of all Israel.

Study Notes

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:1–4 This introduction gives the setting of Deuteronomy and its purpose.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:1 the words that Moses spoke. Almost all of Deuteronomy consists of speeches given by Moses at the end of his life. According to v. 3, Moses acted upon the authority of God since his inspired words were in accordance with the commandments that God had given. to all Israel. This expression is used 12 times in this book and emphasizes the unity of Israel, and the universal applications of these words. the Arabah opposite Suph. Except for Jordan and the Arabah, the exact location of the places named in 1:1 is not known with certainty, although they may have been along Israel's route north from the Gulf of Aqabah (cf. Num. 33). The plain referred to is the large rift valley that extends from the Sea of Galilee in the north to the Gulf of Aqabah in the south. Israel was encamped to the east of the Jordan River in this valley.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:2 eleven days' journey. The distance from Horeb to Kadesh-barnea was about 150 miles. Kadesh was on the southern border of the Promised Land. This trip took 11 days on foot, but for Israel lasted 38 more years. Horeb. The usual name in Deuteronomy for Mount Sinai means “desolation,” a fitting name since the area around Sinai is barren and uninviting. Mount Seir. South of the Dead Sea in Edom.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:3 the fortieth year. The fortieth year after the exodus from Egypt. The years of divine judgment (Num. 14:33–34) were ending. the eleventh month. January/February, 1405 B.C. Numbers 20–36 records the events of the fortieth year.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:4 Sihon . . . Og. The two kings of the Amorites whom the Jews defeated in Transjordan (see 2:24–3:11; Num. 21:21–35).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:5–4:43 These verses are mainly Moses' first speech. Moses introduced his explanation of the law with a call to enter the land of Canaan (1:6–8), which had been promised by the Abrahamic Covenant from God (cf. Gen. 15:18–21). Throughout this book, he refers to that covenant promise (Deut. 1:35; 4:31; 6:10, 18, 23; 7:8, 12; 8:1, 18; 9:5; 10:11; 11:9, 21; 13:17; 19:8; 26:3, 15; 27:3; 28:11; 29:13; 30:20; 31:7, 20–23; 34:4). He then gave a historical review of God’s gracious acts (1:9–3:29) and a call to Israel for obedience to the covenant given to them by the Lord at Sinai (4:1–40). This introductory section ends with a brief narrative recounting the appointment of the three cities of refuge east of the Jordan (4:41–43).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:5 explain. To make clear, distinct, or plain. The purpose of the book was to make the sense and purpose of the law clear to the people as they entered the land. It was to be their guide to the law while living in the land. Moses did not review what happened at Horeb (Sinai), which is recorded by him in Exodus, Leviticus, and Numbers (cf. Ex. 20:1–Num. 10:10), but rather gave Israel instruction in how to walk with God and how to fulfill God’s will in the land and be blessed.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:7–8 the land. The land that the Lord set before Israel to go in and possess was clearly described in v. 7. The hill country of the Amorites referred to the mountainous territory west of the Dead Sea. The Arabah was the land in the rift valley from the Sea of Galilee in the north to the Dead Sea in the south. The hill country referred to the hills that run through the center of the land north and south. These hills are to the west of the Sea of Galilee and the Jordan River. The lowland referred to the low rolling hills that sloped toward the Mediterranean coast (Shephelah). The Negeb described the dry wasteland stretching southward from Beersheba to the wilderness. The seacoast referred to the land along the Mediterranean Sea. The boundaries of the land of the Canaanites were given in Num. 34:1–15. Lebanon to the north marked the northwestern boundary on the coast. The northeast boundary of the land was the Euphrates River. Cf. Num. 34:1–12.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:8 the Lord swore. God’s command to take possession of this land by conquest was based upon the promise of the land that had been given in a covenant to Abraham (Gen 15:18–21) and reiterated to Isaac and Jacob (Gen. 26:3–5; 28:13–15; 35:12). These three patriarchs are mentioned seven times in Deuteronomy (1:8; 6:10; 9:5, 27; 29:13; 30:20; 34:4). The Lord sealed his promise to the patriarchs with an oath (swore) indicating that he would never change his plan (cf. Ps. 110:4).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:9–18 See notes on Ex. 18 for the background.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:10 the stars of heaven. The Lord had promised Abraham that his descendants would be as numerous as the stars in the sky (see Gen. 15:5; 22:17). The nation's growth proved both God's intention and ability to fulfill his original promises to Abraham.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:11 a thousand times. A Semitic way of saying “an infinitely large number.”

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:13 Choose . . . wise . . . men. The fulfillment of God's promise to give to Abraham such a large posterity created a problem for Moses. The nation had become too large for Moses to govern effectively. The solution was the appointment by Moses of men to help him lead the people (see Ex. 18:13–27). These men were to be 1) wise, i.e., men who knew how to apply their knowledge; 2) discerning, i.e., those who had understanding and so were able to judge; and 3) experienced, i.e., knowledgeable and respected. Cf. Ex. 18:21.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:19–21 See notes on Num. 10:11–12:16 for the background.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:22–46 See notes on Num. 13–14 for the background.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:22 Let us send men before us. When challenged by Moses to take the land (vv. 20–21), the people requested that spies be sent first. Moses, it seems, took their request to the Lord, who also approved their plan and commanded Moses to appoint the spies (Num. 13:1–2). Thus, Moses selected 12 men who went to see what the land was like (Num. 13:17–20).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:26 but rebelled. Israel, at Kadesh-barnea, deliberately and defiantly refused to respond to God's command to take the land (Num. 14:1–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:27 you murmured. Israel complained in their tents that the Lord hated them. They assumed the Lord brought them from Egypt to have them destroyed by the Amorites.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:28 the Anakim. Lit., “sons of the Anakim” (i.e., the Anakites). The Anakites were early inhabitants of Canaan described as “great and tall” (2:10, 21; 9:2; Num. 13:32–33). They were larger than the Israelites and were especially feared because of their military power.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:32 you did not believe the Lord your God. The failure of the people to take the land at the beginning of their time in the wilderness was explained here in the same way as in Num. 14:11. Israel did not take the Lord at his word and, therefore, did not obey his command. The Israelites' lack of obedience is explained as the outcome of their lack of faith in the Lord.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:33 in fire . . . cloud. The cloud by day and the fire by night were the means of God's direction for Israel in the wilderness (Ex. 13:21; Num. 9:15–23). The Lord who guided Israel through the wandering journey was the same Lord who had already searched out a place for Israel in the land. As he had directed them in the past, he would direct them also in the future.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:36–38 Caleb . . . Joshua. They were excluded from this judgment because of exemplary faith and obedience (cf. Num. 14:24; Josh. 14:8–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:37 with me the Lord was angry. Although his disobedience occurred almost 39 years after the failure of Israel at Kadesh (Num. 20:1–13), Moses included it here with Israel's disobedience to the Lord because his disobedience was of the same kind. Moses, like Israel, failed to honor the word of the Lord and thus, in rebellion for self glory, disobeyed God's clear command and struck the rock rather than speaking to it. Thus, he suffered the same result of God's anger and, like Israel, was not allowed to go into the land (Num. 20:12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:41–45 Israel's further defiance of the Lord's command was shown by their presumption in seeking to go into the land after God said they should not. This time they rebelled by attempting to go in and conquer the land, only to be chased back by the Amorites. The Lord showed his displeasure by not helping them or sympathizing with their defeat, and for that generation there was no escape from death in the desert during the next 38 years (cf. Num. 15–19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 1:46 you remained at Kadesh many days. These words suggest that Israel spent a large part of the 38 years in the wilderness around Kadesh-barnea.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:1–3:11 See notes on Num. 20:14–21:35 for the background.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:1–23 This section deals with encounters with Israel’s relatives, the Edomites (vv. 1–8), Moabites (vv. 9–18), and Ammonites (vv. 19–23).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:1 in the direction of the Red Sea. Cf. Num. 21:4. After spending a long time at Kadesh, the Israelites set out once again at the command of the Lord through Moses. They traveled away from their Promised Land in a southeasterly direction from Kadesh toward the Gulf of Aqabah on the road to the Red Sea. Thus began the wanderings that were about to end. traveled around Mount Seir. Israel spent many days wandering in the vicinity of Mount Seir, the mountain range of Edom, south of the Dead Sea and extending down the eastern flank of the Arabah.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:3 Turn northward. The departure from Kadesh had been in a southeasterly direction away from the Promised Land, until the Lord commanded Israel to turn again northward in the direction of the Promised Land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:4 your brothers, the people of Esau. Esau was the brother of Jacob (Gen. 25:25–26). The Edomites, the descendants of Esau, lived in Mount Seir. According to Num. 20:14–21, the Edomites refused to allow Israel to pass through their land. Deuteronomy 2:8, reflecting this refusal, states that the Israelites went around the border of the descendants of Esau, i.e., to the east of their territory.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:5 I will not give you any of their land. God had granted to the descendants of Esau an inheritance (Mount Seir was their possession). In v. 9, the same is said about the Moabites and in v. 19, about the Ammonites.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:8 from Elath and Ezion-geber. Two towns located just north of the Gulf of Aqabah. Israel passed to the east of Edom and to the east of Moab on their journey northward.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:10 The Emim. Apparently a Moabite term (see v. 11) meaning “terrible ones.” This people, numerous and tall, were the pre-Moabite occupants of the land of Moab.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:12 their possession, which the Lord gave to them. The Horites were Hurrians, a people who lived in various places in Syria and Palestine. Those living in the region of Seir had been displaced by the descendants of Esau. The displacement of the Horites by the Edomites was analogous to the Israelites' possession of their own land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:13 Zered. A brook that ran into the Dead Sea from the southeast. It seems to have constituted the southern boundary of Moab. In contrast to the disobedience associated with Kadesh, the people obeyed the command to cross over the brook Zered. There was a new spirit of obedience toward the Lord among the people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:14 thirty-eight years. From 1444–1406 B.C. These were the years from the failure at Kadesh to the obedience at Zered. It was during this time that the rebellious generation, who had been denied access to the Promised Land by the oath of the Lord, had all died.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:20 Zamzummin. Apparently an Ammonite term used to describe their precursors in their land. They were characterized as being as tall as the Anakim. But the Lord had destroyed them and given their land to the Ammonites. This was an encouragement to the Israelites that God could also defeat the Anakim in the land of Canaan and give that land to Israel.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:23 the Avvim. The ancient village dwellers of southwestern Palestine along the Mediterranean coast as far as the city of Gaza. the Caphtorim. Caphtor probably refers to Crete and may be a reference to an early Philistine group from that island who invaded the coast of Palestine, defeated the Avvim, and then dwelt there. These Caphtorim were precursors to the later, greater Philistine invasion of c. 1200 B.C.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:24–3:29 Moses continues the historical survey detailing the defeat of two Amorite kings, Sihon and Og, and the takeover of their territory.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:24 the Valley of the Arnon. The northern boundary of Moab. Israel was allowed to attack Sihon the Amorite because the Amorites were not relatives of Israel.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:25 fear of you. As the conquest began, God put the fear of Israel into the hearts of their enemies.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:26 the wilderness of Kedemoth. Kedemoth means “eastern regions.” It was probably a few miles north of the Arnon River and near to the eastern border of the Amorite state.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:27 Let me pass through. As with the Edomites previously (Num. 20:17), Moses asked to pass peacefully through the territory of Sihon.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:30 hardened his spirit. Sihon, by his own conscious will, refused Israel’s request to journey through his land. God confirmed what was already in Sihon’s heart, namely arrogance against the Lord and his people Israel, so that he might defeat him in battle and give his land to Israel.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 2:32 Jahaz. The place of battle between Sihon and the Israelites, probably a few miles to the north of Kedemoth (v. 26).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:1 Bashan. A fertile region located east of the Sea of Galilee and the Jordan River extending from Mount Hermon in the north to the Yarmuk River in the south. Israel met King Og and his army in battle at Edrei, a city on the Yarmuk River. The Amorite king ruled over 60 cities (vv. 4–10; Josh. 13:30), which were taken by Israel; this kingdom was assigned to the Transjordanic tribes, especially the half tribe of Manasseh (Deut. 3:13).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:8 beyond the Jordan. East of the Jordan River, Israel controlled the territory from the Arnon River to Mount Hermon, a length of about 150 miles. Note that the perspective of the speaker was to the east of the Jordan; the west of the Jordan still needed to be conquered. This statement helps date these speeches as pre-conquest.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:11 a bed of iron. The bed may actually have been a coffin, which would have been large enough to also hold tomb objects. The size of the “bed,” 13.5 by 6 feet, emphasized the largeness of Og, who was a giant (the last of the Rephaim, a race of giants). As God had given Israel victory over the giant Og, so he would give them victory over the giants in the land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:12–20 See notes on Num. 32:1–42 and 34:13–15 for background.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:20 rest. A peaceful situation with the land free from external threat and oppression. The eastern two and a half tribes had the responsibility to battle alongside their western brethren until the conquest was complete (cf. Josh. 22).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:22 the Lord your God . . . fights for you. Moses commanded Joshua not to be afraid because the Lord himself would provide supernatural power and give them the victory (cf. 1:30; 31:6–8; Josh. 1:9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:23 I pleaded with the Lord. With the victories over Sihon and Og, Moses made one final passionate plea to the Lord to be allowed to enter the Promised Land. However, the Lord would not allow Moses that privilege. He did, however, allow Moses to go to the top of Pisgah and see the land (cf. 32:48–52; 34:1–4).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:26 the Lord was angry. See note on 1:37; cf. 4:21–24.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 3:29 Beth-peor. Located east of the Jordan River, probably opposite Jericho (see notes on Num. 22–25 for the background).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:1 O Israel, listen. Moses called the people to hear and obey the rules of conduct that God had given them to observe. Successful conquest and full enjoyment of life in the land was based on submission to God's law. the statutes and the rules. The first are permanent rules for conduct fixed by the reigning authority, while the second deal with judicial decisions that served as precedents for future guidance.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:2 You shall not add . . . nor take from. The word that God had given to Israel through Moses was complete and sufficient to direct the people. Thus, this law, the gift of God at Horeb, could not be supplemented or reduced. Anything that adulterated or contradicted God's law would not be tolerated (cf. 12:32; Prov. 30:6; Rev. 22:18–19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:3–4 Moses used the incident at Baal-peor (Num. 25:1–9) to illustrate from the Israelites' own history that their very lives depended on obeying God's law. Only those who had held fast to the Lord by obeying his commands were alive that day to hear Moses.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:6 the peoples. Israel's obedience to God's law would provide a testimony to the world that God was near to his people and that his laws were righteous. One purpose of the law was to make Israel morally and spiritually unique among all the nations and, therefore, draw those nations to the true and living God. They were from their beginnings to be a witness nation. Though they failed and have been temporarily set aside, the prophets revealed that in the future kingdom of Messiah they will be a nation of faithful witnesses (cf. Isa. 45:14; Zech. 8:23). a wise and understanding people. The nations would see three things in Israel (Deut. 4:6–8). First, the Israelites would know how to apply God’s knowledge so as to have discernment and to be able to judge matters accurately.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:7 a god so near to it. Second, faithfulness to the Lord would allow the nations to see that the Lord had established intimacy with Israel.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:8 statutes and rules so righteous. Third, the nations would see that Israel’s law was distinctive, for its source was the Lord, indicating its character was righteous.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:9–31 This section carries the most basic lesson for Israel to learn—to fear and reverence God.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:9 Make them known to your children. Deuteronomy stresses the responsibility of parents to pass on their experiences with God and the knowledge they have gained from him to their children (cf. 6:7; 11:19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:10 how on the day. One experience of Israel to be passed on from generation to generation was the great theophany (the self-revelation of God in physical form) which took place at Horeb (cf. Ex. 19:9–20:19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:12 no form. Israel was to remember that when God revealed himself at Sinai, his presence came through his voice, i.e., the sound of his words. They did not see him. God is Spirit (John 4:24), which rules out any idolatrous representation of God in any physical form (Deut. 4:16–18) or any worship of the created order (v. 19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:13 the Ten Commandments. Lit. “ten statements,” from which comes the term “Decalogue.” These summarize and epitomize all the commandments the Lord gave to Israel through Moses. Though the phrase occurs only here, in 10:4, and in Ex. 34:28, there are 26 more references to it in Deuteronomy (see notes on Matt. 19:16–21; 22:35–40; Mark 10:17–22; Rom. 13:8–10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:15–19 This is a strong emphasis on commandments one and two (cf. Rom. 1:18–23).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:20 the iron furnace. A fire was used to heat iron sufficiently to be hammered into different shapes or welded to other objects. The iron furnace here suggests that Israel's time in Egypt was a period of ordeal, testing, and purifying for the Hebrews, readying them for usefulness as God's witness nation.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:24 a jealous God. God is zealous to protect what belongs to him. He will not allow another to have the honor that is due to him alone (cf. Isa. 42:8; 48:11).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:25–31 Cf. 8:18–19. In fact, this briefly outlined the future judgment of Israel, which culminated in the northern 10 tribes being exiled to Assyria (c. 722 B.C.; 2 Kings 17) and the southern two tribes being deported to Babylon (c. 605–586 B.C.; 2 Kings 24–25). Although the Jews returned in the days of Ezra and Nehemiah (c. 538–445 B.C.), they never regained their autonomy or dominance. Thus, the days of promised restoration and return look forward to Messiah's return to set up the millennial kingdom.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:27 the Lord will scatter you. Moses warned Israel that the judgment for idolatry would be their dispersion among the nations by the Lord (see 28:64–67).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:30 the latter days. Lit., “the end of days.” Moses saw in the distant future a time when repentant Israel would turn again to the Lord and obey him. Throughout the Pentateuch, “the latter days” refers to the time when Messiah will establish his kingdom (see Gen. 49:1, 8–12; Num. 24:14–24; Deut. 32:39–43).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:31 the covenant with your fathers. God mercifully, not because they deserve it, will fulfill the covenant he made with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob with repentant Israel in the future. God will not forget the word that he has given to Abraham and his seed (cf. Rom. 11:25–27).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:32–40 A historical apologetic, appealing for the nation’s obedience to God’s law.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:32–39 since the day that God created man on the earth. In all of human history, no other nation has had the privilege that Israel had of hearing God speak, as he did in giving the law at Mount Sinai, and surviving such an awesome experience. Nor had any other people been so blessed, chosen and delivered from bondage by such mighty miracles as Israel saw. God did this to reveal to them that he alone is God (vv. 35, 39).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:37 with his own presence. Lit., “his face.” God himself had brought Israel out of Egypt. The exodus resulted from the electing love that God had for the patriarchs and their descendants.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:40 Such gracious privilege, as remembered in vv. 32–39, should elicit obedience, particularly in view of the unconditional promise that the land will be theirs permanently (“for all time”) as is detailed in chs. 29–30.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:41–43 These three verses are a narrative insertion at the end of Moses’ speech. The setting aside of three cities on the east side of the Jordan by Moses showed that Moses willingly obeyed the commandments God gave him. He was an example of the type of obedience that God was calling for in 4:1–40 (cf. Num. 35:14; Josh. 20:8–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:44–28:68 The heart of Deuteronomy is found in this long second speech of Moses. “This is the law” (4:44) that Moses explained to Israel (cf. 1:5). After a brief introduction (4:44–49), Moses gave the people a clear understanding of what the law directed concerning their relationship with the Lord in the land (5:1–26:19), then concluded by recounting the blessings or the curses that would come upon the nation as a consequence of their response to the stipulations of this law (27:1–28:68).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:45 testimonies . . . statutes . . . rules. God’s instruction to Israel was set forth in: 1) the testimonies, the basic covenant stipulations (5:6–21); 2) statutes, words that were inscribed and therefore fixed; and 3) ordinances, the decisions made by a judge on the merits of the situation. This law was given to Israel when they came out of Egypt. Moses is not giving further law, he is now explaining that which has already been given.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:48 Mount Sirion (that is, Hermon). This reference to Mount Hermon is not to be confused with Mount Zion in Jerusalem.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 4:49 Sea of the Arabah. The Dead Sea.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:1–11:32 As Moses began his second address to the people of Israel, he reminded them of the events and the basic commands from God that were foundational to the Sinaitic Covenant (5:1–33; see Ex. 19:1–20:21). Then, in Deut. 6:1–11:32, Moses expounded and applied the first three of the Ten Commandments to the present experience of the people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:1 Hear, O Israel. The verb “hear” carried the sense “obey.” A hearing that leads to obedience was demanded of all the people (cf. 6:4; 9:1; 20:3; 27:9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:2 a covenant with us in Horeb. The second generation of Israel, while children, received the covenant that God made with Israel at Sinai.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:3 Not with our fathers did the Lord make this covenant. The “fathers” were not the people’s immediate fathers, who had died in the wilderness, but their more distant ancestors, the patriarchs (see 4:31, 37; 7:8, 12; 8:18). The Sinaitic or Mosaic Covenant was in addition to and distinct from the Abrahamic Covenant made with the patriarchs.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:6–21 The first four commandments involve relationship with God, the last six deal with human relationships; together they were the foundation of Israel’s life before God. Moses here reiterated them as given originally at Sinai. Slight variations from the Exodus text are accounted for by Moses’ explanatory purpose in Deuteronomy. See notes on Ex. 20:1–17 for an additional explanation of these commands.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:7 no other gods. Cf. Ex. 20:3. “Other gods” were non-existent pagan gods, which were made in the form of idols and shaped by the minds of their worshipers. The Israelite was to be totally faithful to the God to whom he was bound by covenant. Cf. Matt. 16:24–27; Mark 8:34–38; Luke 9:23–26; 14:26–33.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:8 a carved image . . . any likeness. Cf. Ex. 20:4–5. Reducing the infinite God to any physical likeness was intolerable, as the people found out in their attempt to cast God as a golden calf (cf. Ex. 32).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:9–10 third and fourth generation . . . thousands. See note on Ex. 20:5–6 for an explanation of this often misunderstood text. those who hate me . . . love me. Disobedience is equal to hatred of God, as love is equal to obedience (cf. Matt. 22:34–40; Rom. 13:8–10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:11 take the name . . . in vain. Cf. Ex. 20:7. Attach God's name to emptiness. Cf. Ps. 111:9; Matt. 6:9; Luke 1:49; John 17:6, 26.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:12 as the Lord your God commanded you. Cf. Ex. 20:8–10. These words are missing from Ex. 20:8, but refer back to this commandment given to Israel at Sinai 40 years earlier.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:15 brought you out from there. Here an additional reason is given for God's rest after creation (i.e., for the observance of the Sabbath; see Ex. 20:11)—God's deliverance of the people from Egypt. While the Israelites had been slaves in Egypt, they were not allowed rest from their continual labor, so the Sabbath was also to function as a day of rest in which their deliverance from bondage would be remembered with thanksgiving as the sign of their redemption and continual sanctification (cf. Ex. 31:13–17; Ezek. 20:12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:16–20 Cf. Matt. 19:18–19; Mark 10:19; Luke 18:20.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:16 that your days may be long. Cf. Ex. 20:12; Matt. 15:4; Mark 7:10; Eph. 6:2–3. Paul indicated that this was the first commandment with a promise attached (Eph. 6:2). Jesus also had much to say about honoring parents (see Matt. 10:37; 19:29; Luke 2:49–51; John 19:26–27).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:17 murder. Cf. Ex. 20:13; Matt. 5:21; James 2:11.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:18 adultery. Cf. Ex. 20:14; Matt. 5:27.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:19 steal. Cf. Ex. 20:15; Eph. 4:28.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:20 bear false witness. Cf. Ex. 20:16; Col. 3:9.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:21 covet . . . desire. Cf. Ex. 20:17. Both the lusting after a neighbor's wife and a strong desire for a neighbor's property were prohibited by the tenth commandment (cf. Rom. 7:7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:22 and he added no more. These Ten Commandments alone were identified as direct quotations by God. The rest of the stipulations of the covenant were given to Moses, who in turn gave them to the Israelites. These basic rules, which reflect God’s character, continue to be a means by which God reveals the sinful deeds of the flesh (cf. Rom. 7:7–14; Gal. 3:19–24; 5:13–26). They are also a holy standard for conduct that the saved live by through the Spirit’s power, with the exception of keeping the Sabbath (cf. Col. 2:16–17). two tablets of stone. The tablets were written on both sides (see Ex. 32:15).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:22–27 The frightening circumstances of God’s presence at Sinai caused the people to have enough fear to ask Moses to receive the words from God and communicate those words to them, after which they promised to obey all that God said (see v. 27).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:28–29 God affirmed that the pledge to be obedient was the right response (v. 28), and then expressed his loving passion for them to fulfill their promise so they and their children would prosper.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 5:30–33 They asked to be given all God’s word (v. 27), so God dismissed the people and told Moses he was going to give the law to him to teach the people (v. 31). At stake was life and prosperity in the Land of Promise.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:1–3 days may be long. Moses’ concern is that successive generations maintain the obedience to God’s laws that ensures life and prosperity.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:3 a land flowing with milk and honey. A description that included the richness of the land which the Israelites were soon to possess (see 11:9; 26:9, 15; 27:3; 31:20).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:4–5 Cf. Mark 12:29–33.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:4 Hear, O Israel! See 5:1. Deuteronomy 6:4–9, known as the Shema (Hebrew for “hear”), has become the Jewish confession of faith, recited twice daily by the devout, along with 11:13–21 and Num. 15:37–41. The Lord . . . Lord is one. The intent of these words was to give a clear statement of the truth of monotheism, that there is only one God. Thus, it has also been translated “the Lord is our God, the Lord alone.” The word used for “one” in this passage does not mean “singleness,” but “unity.” The same word is used in Gen. 2:24, where the husband and wife were said to be “one flesh.” Thus, while this verse was intended as a clear and concise statement of monotheism, it does not exclude the concept of the Trinity.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:5–9 You shall love the Lord your God. First in the list of all that was essential for the Jew was unreserved, wholehearted commitment expressed in love to God. Since this relationship of love for God could not be represented in any material way as with idols, it had to be demonstrated in obedience to God’s law in daily life. Cf. 11:16–21; Matt. 22:37; Luke 10:27.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:6 these words . . . on your heart. The people were to think about these commandments and meditate on them so that obedience would not be a matter of formal legalism, but a response based upon understanding. The law written upon the heart would be an essential characteristic of the later New Covenant (see Jer. 31:33).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:7 teach them diligently to your children. The commandments were to be the subject of conversation, both inside and outside the home, from the beginning of the day to its end.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:8 hand . . . frontlets between your eyes. The Israelite was to continually meditate upon and be directed by the commandments that God had given to him. Later in Jewish history, this phrase was taken literally and the people tied phylacteries (boxes containing these verses) to their hands and foreheads with thongs of leather.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:10–11 the Lord your God brings you into the land. God reiterated that he was going to give Israel the land in fulfillment of the promises that he had made to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, both with title and prosperity.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:13 by his name you shall swear. An oath was a solemn pledge to affirm something said as absolutely true. The invoking of the Lord’s name in the oath meant that one was bound under obligation before God to fulfill that word (cf. Matt. 4:10; Luke 4:8).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:15 a jealous God. See note on 4:24.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:16 Massah. This name actually means “testing” (cf. Ex. 17:1–7; Matt. 4:7; Luke 4:12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:20 When your son asks you in time to come. When a young son asked the meaning of the law, his father was to use the following pattern in explaining it to him. First, the Israelites were in bondage in Egypt (v. 21a). Second, God miraculously delivered the Israelites and judged the Egyptians (v. 21b). Third, this work was in accord with his promise to the patriarchs (v. 23). Fourth, God gave his law to Israel that his people might obey it (vv. 24–25).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 6:25 righteousness for us. A true and personal relationship with God that would be manifest in the lives of the people of God. There was no place for legalism or concern about the external since the compelling motive for this righteousness was to be love for God (v. 5).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:1–26 This section discusses how the Israelites should relate to the inhabitants of Canaan, including their destruction, the forbidding of intermarriage, and the elimination of all altars and idols. It was God’s time for judgment on that land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:1 seven nations. These seven groups controlled areas of land usually around one or more fortified cities. Together they had greater population and military strength than Israel. Six of these seven are mentioned elsewhere (see Ex. 3:8). The unique nation here is the Girgashites, who are referred to in Gen. 10:16; Josh. 3:10; 24:11; 1 Chron. 1:14, and in Ugaritic texts. They may have been tribal people living in the north of Palestine.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:2 devote them to complete destruction. All the men, women and children were to be put to death. Even though this action seems extreme, the following need to be kept in mind: 1) the Canaanites deserved to die for their sin (9:4–5; cf. Gen. 15:16); 2) the Canaanites persisted in their hatred of God (Deut. 7:10); and 3) the Canaanites constituted a moral cancer that had the potential of introducing idolatry and immorality that would spread rapidly among the Israelites (20:17–18).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:3 not intermarry. Because of the intimate nature of marriage, the idolatrous spouse could lead her mate astray (see 1 Kings 11:1–8 for the example of Solomon).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:5 break down their altars. This destructive action would remove any consequent temptation for the Israelites to follow the religious practices of the nations they were to displace from the land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:6 a people holy to the Lord your God. The basis for the command to destroy the Canaanites is found in God’s election of Israel. God had set apart Israel for his own special use and they were his treasured possession. As God’s people, Israel needed to be separated from the moral pollution of the Canaanites.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:8 loves you . . . is keeping the oath. The choosing of Israel as a holy nation set apart for God was grounded in God’s love and his faithfulness to the promises he had made to the patriarchs, not in any merit or intrinsic goodness in Israel.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:9 a thousand generations. See note on 1:11.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:12–15 The Lord promised Israel particular blessings for their obedience, which are further enumerated in 28:1–14.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:12 the Lord your God will keep with you the covenant. If Israel was obedient to the Lord, they would experience his covenantal mercy. However, the people could forfeit the blessings of the covenant through their own disobedience.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:13 grain . . . wine . . . oil. These were the three principal food products of Palestine. “Grain” included wheat and barley. “Wine” was the grape juice as it came from the presses. The “oil” was the olive oil used in cooking and in the lamps.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:15 the evil diseases of Egypt. Some virulent and malignant diseases such as elephantiasis, ophthalmia, and dysentery were common in Egypt.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:20 God will send hornets. The hornet or wasp was a large insect, common in Canaan, that may have had a potentially fatal sting. Here the reference was probably figurative in the sense of a great army sent into panic when the Lord would inflict his sting on them (see 11:25). See note on Ex.

23:28.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:22 little by little. Even though the Lord promised that the defeat of the people of the land would be quick (4:26; 9:3), the process of settlement would be more gradual to avoid the danger of the land returning to a primitive state of natural anarchy.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 7:26 You shall utterly detest it and abhor it.

“Detest” and “abhor” were strong words of disapproval and rejection. Israel was to have the same attitude toward the idols of the Canaanites as did God himself. it is devoted to destruction. The images or idols were to be set aside for destruction.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:2 remember. The people were to recall what God had done for them (cf. 5:15; 7:18; 8:18; 9:7; 15:15; 16:3, 12; 24:9, 18; 25:17), and not forget (cf. 4:9, 23, 31; 6:12; 8:11, 14, 19; 9:7; 25:19; 26:13). to know what was in your heart. Israel’s 40 years in the wilderness was a time of God’s affliction and testing so that the basic attitude of the people toward God and his commandments could be made known. God chose to sustain his hungry people in the wilderness by a means previously unknown to them. Through this miraculous provision, God both humbled the people and tested their obedience.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:3 manna, which you did not know. God sustained the people in the wilderness with a food previously unknown to them. See Ex. 16:15 for the beginning of the giving of the manna and Josh. 5:12 for its cessation. man does not live by bread alone. Israel’s food in the wilderness was decreed by the word of God. They had manna because it came by God’s command; therefore, ultimately it was not bread that kept them alive, but God’s word (cf. Matt. 4:4; Luke 4:4).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:4 Your clothing did not wear out. This miraculous provision is also mentioned in 29:5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:5 the Lord your God disciplines you. Israel’s sojourn in the wilderness was viewed as a time of God’s discipline of his children. He was seeking to correct their wayward attitude so that they might be prepared to obediently go into the land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:6–10 An extensive description of God’s abundant blessings for Israel in the land (cf. 7:7–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:7 a good land. In contrast to the desolation of the wilderness, vv. 7–9 describe the abundance of Israel’s new land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:9 iron . . . copper. The mountains of southern Lebanon and the region east of the Sea of Galilee and south of the Dead Sea contained iron. Both copper and iron were found in the Rift Valley south of the Dead Sea.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:11 lest you forget the Lord your God. Sufficient food would lead to the satisfaction of Israel in the land (vv. 10, 12). This satisfaction and security could lead to Israel forgetting God. Forgetting God means no longer having him in the daily thoughts of one’s life. This forgetfulness would lead to a disobedience of his commandments. Whereas, in the wilderness, Israel had to depend on God for the necessities of life, in the rich land there would be a tempting sense of self-sufficiency.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:14 then your heart be lifted up. Pride was viewed as the root of forgetfulness. In their prosperity, the people might claim that their power and strength had produced their wealth (v. 17).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:15 water out of the flinty rock. Cf. Num. 20:9–13.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:16 to do you good in the end. God designed the test of the wilderness so that Israel might be disciplined to obey him. Through her obedience, she received the blessing of the land. Thus, God’s design was to do good for Israel at the end of the process.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:18–19 See note on 4:25–31.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 8:19 if you forget. Forgetting God would lead to worshipping other gods, which in turn would result in certain destruction. As God destroyed the Canaanites for their idolatry, so also would he judge Israel.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:1–10:11 This part of Moses’ speech rehearses the sins of the Israelites at Horeb (cf. Ex. 32).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:2 the Anakim. Moses remembered the people’s shock when they heard the original report of the 12 spies concerning the size, strength, and number of the inhabitants of Canaan (Num. 13:26–14:6). Therefore, he emphasized that from a purely military and human point of view, their victory was impossible. The fear of the spies and the people focused on the Anakim, a tall, strong people who lived in the land of Canaan (see note on 1:28).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:3 a consuming fire. The Lord was pictured as a fire that burned everything in its path. So the Lord would go over into Canaan and exterminate Canaanites. make them perish quickly. Israel was to be the human agent of the Lord's destruction of the Canaanites. The military strength of the Canaanites would be destroyed quickly (see Josh. 6:1–11:23), though the complete subjugation of the land would take time (see Deut. 7:22; Josh. 13:1).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:4 because of my righteousness. Three times in vv. 4–6, Moses emphasized that the victory was not because of Israel's goodness, but was entirely the work of God. It was the wickedness of the Canaanites that led to their expulsion from the land (cf. Rom. 10:6).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:6 a stubborn people. Lit., "hard of neck." An expression for the stubborn, intractable, obdurate, and unbending attitude of Israel. In vv. 7–29, Moses illustrated Israel's rebellious attitude and actions toward the Lord.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:7 Remember. Moses challenged Israel to call to mind the long history of their stubbornness and provocation of God, which had extended from the time of the exodus from Egypt for 40 years until the present moment on the Plains of Moab.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:10 the finger of God. God himself had written the Ten Commandments on the two tablets of stone at Mount Sinai (see Ex. 31:18).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:14 blot out their name from under heaven. God threatened to destroy the people of Israel so completely that he pictured it as an obliteration of all memory of them from the world of men. This threat was taken by Moses as an invitation to intercede for the children of Israel (Num. 14:11–19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:19 Cf. Heb. 12:21.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:20 I prayed for Aaron. Moses interceded on behalf of Aaron, on whom the immediate responsibility for the Israelites' sin of the golden calf rested. Aaron had thus incurred the wrath of God, and his life was in danger (see Ex. 32:1–6). This is the only verse in the Pentateuch that specifically states that Moses prayed for Aaron.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:22 *Taberah . . . Massah . . . Kibroth-hattaavah. These three places were all associated with Israel’s rebellion against the Lord. Taberah, “burning,” was where the people had complained of their misfortunes (Num. 11:1–3). At Massah, “testing,” they had found fault with everything and in presumption had put God to the test (Ex. 17:1–7). At Kibroth-hattaavah, “graves of craving,” the people had again incurred God’s anger by complaining about their food (Num. 11:31–35).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:23 *Kadesh-barnea. There they sinned by both lack of faith in God and disobedience (cf. Num. 13–14).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:24 *You have been rebellious against the Lord. Moses concluded that his dealings with Israel as God’s mediator had been one of continual rebellion on Israel’s part, which led to his intercession (vv. 25–29).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 9:28 *he has brought them out. Moses’ prayer of intercession to the Lord on behalf of Israel appealed to the Lord to forgive his people because the Egyptians could have interpreted God’s destruction of Israel as his inability to fulfill his promise and as his hate for his people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:1–3 two tablets of stone like the first. God had listened to Moses' intercession and dealt mercifully with the Israelites who had broken the covenant by rewriting the Ten Commandments on two tablets prepared for that purpose by Moses. The second tablets were made of the same material and were the same size as the first.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:1 an ark of wood. This refers to the ark of the covenant. Moses telescoped the events in these verses. Later, at the construction of the ark of the covenant, Moses placed the two new stone tablets within that ark (see Ex. 37:1–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:6–9 These verses show that the priesthood of Aaron and service of the Levites were restored after the incident of the golden calf.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:6 Moserah. There Aaron died. Aaron was not killed at Sinai, but lived until the fortieth year of the exodus, which shows the effectiveness of Moses' intercession before the Lord (cf. Num. 20:22–29; 33:38–39). After Aaron's death, the priestly ministry continued in the appointment of Eleazar. Moserah is the district in which Mount Hor stands, on which Aaron died (cf. Num. 20:27–28; 33:38).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:8 At that time. This refers to the time that Israel was at Mount Sinai.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:9 has no portion. The family of Levi received no inheritance in the land of Canaan (see Num. 18:20, 24).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:10–11 Because of Moses' intercession, not because of their righteousness, the Israelites were encamped on the banks of the Jordan, ready to enter the Promised Land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:12–13 what does the Lord . . . require of you . . . ? This rhetorical question led into Moses' statement of the five basic requirements that God expected of his people (cf. Mic. 6:8): 1) to fear the Lord your God. To hold God in awe and submit to him; 2) to walk in all his ways. To conduct life in accordance with the will of God; 3) to love him. To choose to set one's affections on the Lord and on him alone; 4) to serve the Lord your God. To have the worship of the Lord as the central focus of life; 5) to keep the commandments . . . of the Lord. To obey the requirements the Lord had imposed.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:14–15 God, with the same sovereignty by which he controls all things, had chosen the patriarchs and the nation of Israel to be his special people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:16 Circumcise . . . your heart. Moses called the Israelites to cut away all the sin in their hearts, as the circumcision surgery cut away the skin. This would leave them with a clean relationship to God (cf. 30:6; Lev. 26:40–41; Jer. 4:4; 9:25; Rom. 2:29). See note on Jer. 4:4.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:18 He executes justice. The sovereign, authoritative God is also impartial (v. 17), as seen in his concern for the orphan, the widow, and the alien (cf. Lev. 19:9–18; James 1:27).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:20 hold fast to him. The verb means “to stick to” or “to hold onto.” As a husband is to be united to his wife (Gen. 2:24), so Israel was to cling intimately to her God.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 10:22 seventy persons. See Ex. 1:5. One of the great and awesome things God had done for Israel was multiplying the 70 people who went to Egypt into a nation of over two million people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:2 your children. Moses distinguished between the adults and the children in his audience. The adults were those who had seen the exodus from Egypt as children and had experienced the Lord’s discipline in the wilderness. It was to these adults that Moses could say, “For your eyes have seen all the great work of the Lord that he did” (v. 7). It was that specially blessed generation of adults who were called to pass on the teaching of what they had learned to their children (v. 19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:6 Dathan and Abiram. These two sons of Eliab, of the tribe of Reuben, had rebelled against the authority of Moses, the Lord’s chosen leader. The basis of their complaint was that Moses had brought Israel out of Egypt, a fertile and prosperous land, and not brought them into Canaan. Because of their rebellion against Moses, God had judged them by having the earth open and swallow them up (see Num. 16:12–14, 25–27, 31–33). God’s judgment of their rebellion was spoken of here by Moses in the context of his contrast between the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan (Deut. 11:10–12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:10–11 the land that you are entering to take possession. The land of Canaan was different from Egypt. The land of Egypt depended upon the Nile River for its fertility. By contrast, the land of Canaan depended upon the rains that came from heaven for its fertility.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:10 irrigated it. Probably a reference to carrying water to each garden or the practice of indenting the ground with foot-dug channels through which irrigating water would flow.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:13 Cf. 6:5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:14 he will give the rain for your land. Since the land of Canaan was dependent upon the rainfall for its fertility, God promised in response to Israel’s obedience to give them the rain necessary for that fertility (vv. 16–17). the early rain and the later rain. The early rain was the autumn rain from October to January. The latter rain was the spring rain that came through March/April.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:18–21 For the children and all subsequent generations, God’s great acts had not been seen “with their own eyes,” as had been the case for that first generation. God’s acts were to be “seen” for them in the word of Scripture. It was to be in Moses’ words that the acts of God would be put before the eyes of their children. The first priority, therefore, was given to Scripture as the means of teaching the law and grace of God (cf. 6:6–9).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:24 Every place . . . your foot treads. In response to the obedience of Israel (vv. 22–23), the Lord promised to give to Israel all of the land they personally traversed to the extent of the boundaries that he had given. This same promise was repeated in Josh. 1:3–5. Had Israel obeyed God faithfully, her boundaries would have been enlarged to fulfill the promise made to Abraham (Gen. 15:18). But because of Israel’s disobedience, the complete promise of the whole land still remains, to be fulfilled in the future kingdom of Messiah (cf. Ezek. 36:8–38).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 11:26–32 As a final motive for driving home the importance of obedience and trust in God, Moses gave instruction for a ceremony that the people were to carry out when they entered the land. They were to read the blessings and the curses of the covenant on Mount Gerizim and Mount Ebal (see 27:1–14) as they actually would do later (Josh. 8:30–35).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:1–26:19 Having delineated the general principles of Israel’s relationship with the Lord (5:1–11:32), Moses then explained specific laws that would help the people subordinate every area of their lives to the Lord. These instructions were given for Israel to “be careful to do in the land” (12:1).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:1–16:17 The first specific instructions that Moses gives deal with the public worship of the Lord by Israel as they come into the land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:1–32 Moses begins by repeating his instructions concerning what to do with the false worship centers after Israel had taken possession of the land of the Canaanites (see 7:1–6). They were to destroy them completely.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:2 the high mountains . . . hills . . . every green tree. The Canaanite sanctuaries to be destroyed were located in places believed to have particular religious significance. The mountain or hill was thought to be the home of a god and by ascending the mountain, the worshiper was in some symbolic sense closer to the deity. Certain trees were considered to be sacred and symbolized fertility, a dominant theme in Canaanite religion.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:3 their altars . . . pillars . . . carved images. These were elements of Canaanite worship, which included human sacrifice (v. 31). If they remained, the people might mix the worship of God with those places (v. 4).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:5 the place that the Lord your God will choose. Cf. vv. 11, 18, 21. Various places of worship were chosen after the people settled in Canaan, such as Mount Ebal (27:1–8; Josh. 8:30–35), Shechem (Josh. 24:1–28) and Shiloh (Josh. 18:1), which was the center of worship through the period of Judges (Judg. 21:19). The tabernacle, the Lord’s dwelling place, was located in Canaan, where the Lord chose to dwell. The central importance of the tabernacle was in direct contrast to the multiple places (see Deut. 12:2) where the Canaanites practiced their worship of idols. Eventually, the tabernacle was brought to Jerusalem by David (cf. 2 Sam. 6:12–19).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:6 See notes on Lev. 1–7 for descriptions of these various ceremonies.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:7 eat . . . rejoice. Some of the offerings were shared by the priests, Levites, and the worshipers (cf. Lev. 7:15–18). The worship of God was to be holy and reverent, yet full of joy.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:8 everyone doing whatever is right in his own eyes. There seems to have been some laxity in the offering of the sacrifices in the wilderness, which was not to be allowed when Israel came into the Promised Land. This self-centered attitude became a major problem in the time of Judges (cf. Judg. 17:6; 21:25).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:15 slaughter . . . within any of your towns. While sacrificial offerings were brought to the appointed centers for worship as well as the central sanctuary, the killing and eating of meat for regular eating could be engaged in anywhere. The only restriction on eating nonsacrificial meat was the prohibition of the blood and the fat.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:17–19 All sacrifices and offerings had to be brought to the place chosen by God.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:21 If the place . . . is too far. Moses envisioned the enlarging of the borders of Israel according to God's promise. This meant that people would live further and further away from the central sanctuary. Except for sacrificial animals, all others could be slaughtered and eaten close to home.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:23 the blood is the life. See Gen. 9:4–6 and Lev. 17:10–14. The blood symbolized life. By refraining from eating blood, the Israelite demonstrated respect for life and ultimately for the Creator of life. Blood, representing life, was the ransom price for sins. So blood was sacred and not to be consumed by the people. This relates to atonement in Lev. 16; Heb. 9:12–14; 1 Pet. 1:18–19; 1 John 1:7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:29–30 Cf. 2 Cor. 6:14–7:1, where Paul gives a similar exhortation.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:31 they even burn their sons and their daughters. One of the detestable practices of Canaanite worship was the burning of their sons and daughters in the fire as sacrifices to Molech (cf. Lev. 18:21; 20:2–5; 1 Kings 11:7; 2 Kings 23:10; Jer. 32:35).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 12:32 You shall not add to it or take from it. See note on 4:2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:1–18 After the general prohibition of involvement in Canaanite worship (12:29–31), Moses discussed three ways in which the temptation to idolatry was likely to come to Israel: 1) through a false prophet (13:1–5); 2) through a family member (vv. 6–11); or 3) through apostates in some Canaanite city (vv. 12–18).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:2 the sign or wonder . . . comes to pass. Miraculous signs alone were never meant to be a test of truth (cf. Pharaoh’s magicians in Ex. 7–10). A prophet or a dreamer’s prediction may come true, but if his message contradicted God’s commands, the people were to trust God and his word rather than such experience. Let us go after other gods. The explicit temptation was to renounce allegiance to the Lord and go after other gods. The result of this apostasy would be the serving of these false gods by worshiping them, which would be in direct contradiction to the first commandment (Deut. 5:7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:3 the Lord your God is testing you. God, in his sovereignty, allowed the false prophets to entice the people to apostasy to test the true disposition of the hearts of the Israelites. And while the temptation was dangerous, the overcoming of that temptation would strengthen the people in their love for God and obedience to his commandments. Cf. 6:5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:5 purge the evil from your midst. The object of the severe penalty was not only the punishment of the evildoer, but also the preservation of the community. Paul must have had this text in mind when he gave a similar command to the Corinthian church (cf. 1 Cor. 5:13; also Deut. 17:7; 19:19; 21:21; 22:21; 24:7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:6 your brother . . . friend. The temptation to idolatry might also come from a member of the immediate family or from an intimate friend. While the temptation from the false prophet would be made openly based on a sign or wonder, this temptation would be made secretly and would be based upon the intimacy of relationship.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:10 stone him to death. The convicting witness cast the first stone. Love for family and friends must not take precedence over devotion to God (cf. Luke 14:26).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:12 one of your cities. He has in mind an entire city of Canaan given by God to the Israelites, yet enticed to idolatry.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 13:13 worthless fellows. Lit., “sons of Belial (worthlessness).” Belial is used of Satan in 2 Cor. 6:15. It is a way to describe evil, worthless, or wicked men (Judg. 19:22; 1 Sam. 2:12; 1 Kings 21:10, 13).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:1 You shall not cut . . . or make any baldness. The two practices, lacerating the body and shaving the head, were associated with mourning customs of foreign religions. Though the actions could in themselves appear to be innocent, they were associated with practices and beliefs reprehensible to the Lord. Cf. Lev. 19:27–28; 21:5; 1 Kings 18:28; 1 Cor. 3:17.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:2 you are a people holy to the Lord your God. Again comes the important reminder of their peculiar relation to God. Over 250 times, Moses emphasized to Israel, “the Lord your God.”

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:3–21 This summary of clean and unclean animals is drawn from the list in Lev. 11:2–23. The ground for the allowances and prohibitions of the eating of certain animals was that Israel was to be holy to the Lord (Deut. 14:2, 21). These special dietary laws were to separate them from social mixing with pagan idolatrous people, to prevent them from being lured into idolatry.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:21 anything that has died naturally. Eating the meat of an animal that had died a natural death was prohibited because the animal had not been killed in the proper fashion and the blood drained out (see note on 12:23). The animal, however, could be eaten by “the sojourner who is within your towns.” See notes on Lev. 17:10–16. a young goat in its mother’s milk. This prohibition no doubt reflected a common practice in Canaanite religion that was superstitiously observed hoping that fertility and productivity would be increased (cf. Ex. 23:19; 34:26).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:22 tithe. A tenth. The tithe specified in these verses was only that of the agricultural produce that the land would provide. This was a second tithe to be used for the celebration of convocations of worship at the sanctuary (vv. 23–26), in addition to the first tithe mentioned, known as the Levitical tithe, which went to support the priests and Levites who served the people. Cf. Lev. 27:30–33 and Num. 18:21–32. A third welfare tithe was also offered every three years (see notes on Deut. 14:28; 26:12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:23 before the Lord. . . you shall eat. The tithe was to be taken to the central sanctuary where the worshipers were to eat a portion in fellowship with the Lord.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:24 if the way is too long. If certain Israelites lived too far from the sanctuary for it to be practical for them to carry their agricultural tithe there, then they could exchange the tithe locally for silver and subsequently convert the money back into substance at the sanctuary.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:26 wine or strong drink. See notes on Prov. 20:1; 23:29–35; 31:4–7.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 14:28 At the end of every three years. In year three and year six of the seven-year sabbatical cycle, rather than taking this tithe to the central sanctuary, it was instead stored up within the individual cities in the land. This tithe was used to feed the Levites, the orphan, the widow, and the stranger (i.e., foreigner) who lived with the Israelites. Cf. 26:12 and Num. 18:26–32.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:1 At the end of every seven years . . . grant a release. The sabbatical year was established and described in Ex. 23:10–11 and Lev. 25:1–7. However, while these texts stated that in the seventh year the land was to lie fallow without any crops being planted, only here did Moses prescribe a cancellation of debts. On the basis of Deut. 15:9–11, the debt was canceled completely and permanently, not just a cancellation of payment during that year.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:3 Of a foreigner you may exact it. The provision for sabbatical release of debts was not intended for one who stayed only temporarily in the land. That foreigner was still responsible to pay his debts.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:4 there will be no poor. Idealistically, there was the possibility that poverty would be eradicated in the land “for the Lord will bless you in the land.” The fullness of that blessing, however, would be contingent on the completeness of Israel’s obedience. Thus, vv. 4–6 were an encouragement to strive for a reduction of poverty while at the same time they stressed the abundance of the provision God would make in the Promised Land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:8 lend him sufficient for his need. The attitude of the Israelites toward the poor in their community was to be one of warmth and generosity. The poor were given whatever was necessary to meet their needs, even with the realization that such “loans” would never need to be paid back. See note on 23:19–20.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:11 For there will never cease to be poor in the land. Realistically (in contrast to v. 4), the disobedience toward the Lord on Israel’s part meant that there would always be poor people in the land of Israel. Jesus repeated this truism in Matt. 26:11.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:12 If your brother . . . is sold. In the context of vv. 1–11, the reason for the sale would be default, an alternative repayment of a debt, and a period of servitude would substitute for that repayment. The Hebrew slave would serve his master six years following the sale with freedom being declared in the seventh year.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:13 you shall not let him go empty-handed. When a slave had completed his time of service, his former owner was to make ample provision for him so that he would not begin his state of new freedom in destitution.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:15 remember. The Israelites, formerly enslaved in Egypt, were to treat their own slaves as God had treated them.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:17 an awl . . . through his ear. In certain circumstances, a slave might prefer to remain with the family after the required six years of servitude. He would then be marked with a hole in his ear and become a servant forever (cf. Ex. 21:5–6).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:18 half the cost of a hired servant. Lit., “second” or “double.” The slave was worth double to his owner because the owner not only had the service of the slave, but he also did not have to pay out anything for that service as he would have for a hired hand.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:19 All the firstborn . . . dedicate. The firstborn was the first to be produced during the bearing life of an animal. It was to be consecrated to the Lord. The firstborn would be sacrificed annually, and the offerers would participate in the sacrificial meal (see 14:23). nor shear. The firstborn ox or bull was not to be worked, nor the firstborn sheep or goat shorn in the time before their sacrifice to the Lord.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 15:21 any blemish. An imperfect firstborn animal was not acceptable as a sacrifice. It was to be treated like any other nonsacrificial animal (see 12:15–16) and eaten at home (cf. Mal. 1:6–14).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:1–17 Moses discusses the feasts during which all the men over 20 years of age were to appear before the Lord at the central worship site. If possible, their families were to go as well (see vv. 11, 14). Cf. Ex. 23; Lev. 23; Num. 28–29.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:1 the month of Abib. Abib (which was later called Nisan) occurred in the spring (approximately March or April).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:1–8 keep the Passover. The offering of Passover itself was to be only a lamb (Ex. 12:3–11). However, additional offerings were also to be made during the Passover and the subsequent seven days of the Feast of Unleavened Bread (cf. Ex. 12:15–20; 13:3–10; Lev. 23:6–8; Num. 28:19–25). Therefore, sacrifices from both the flock and the herd were used in keeping the Passover.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:3 remember. This was the key word at Passover time as it is for the Lord’s Supper today (cf. Matt. 26:26–30; Luke 22:14–19; 1 Cor. 11:23–26).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:5–6 at the place . . . God will choose. The Passover sacrifices could no longer be slain by every family in their house (see Ex. 12:46). From this point on, the Passover sacrifices must be killed at the central place of worship.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:7 in the morning . . . go to your tents. After the sacrifice of the Passover animal and the eating and the night vigil that followed, in the morning the people would return to their lodgings or tents where they were staying for the duration of the feast.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:10–12 the Feast of Weeks. Seven weeks later this second feast was celebrated. It was also called the “Feast of Harvest” (Ex. 23:16) or the “day of the firstfruits” (Lev. 23:9–22; Num. 28:26–31) and later came to be known as “Pentecost” (Acts 2:1). With the grain harvest completed, this one-day festival was a time of rejoicing. The outpouring of the Holy Spirit, 50 days after the death of Christ at the Passover, was on Pentecost and gives special meaning to that day for Christians (cf. Joel 2:28–32; Acts 2:14–18).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:13–15 the Feast of Booths. This was also called the “Feast of Ingathering” and the “Feast of Tabernacles” (cf. Ex. 23:16; 34:22; Lev. 23:33–43; Num. 29:12–39).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:18–18:22 This section deals with the responsibilities of the officials who were to maintain pure worship within the land and to administer justice impartially.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:18 appoint judges and officers. Moses had appointed leaders at Sinai to help him in the administration of the people (1:13). Here he specified that such important leadership should continue in each city. “Judges” were those who adjudicated cases with the application of the law. “Officers” were subordinate leaders of various kinds.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:19 a bribe blinds the eyes. Accepting a bribe was wrong since it perverted the ability of judges to act in fairness to the parties in litigation.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 16:21–22 Asherah . . . pillar. Asherah was the name of a Canaanite goddess, represented by a wooden pole, image or tree. A stone pillar symbolic of male fertility was prevalent in the Canaanite religion. These were forbidden by the first two commandments (Ex. 20:3–6; Deut. 5:7–10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:1 any defect. To bring a defective sacrifice to the Lord was to bring something into the sanctuary that was forbidden. Such a sacrifice was an abomination to the Lord. To offer less than the best to God was to despise his name (see Mal. 1:6–8). Offering a less-than-perfect sacrifice was, in effect, failing to acknowledge God as the ultimate provider of all that was best in life.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:3–7 served other gods. The local judges were to see that false worshipers were executed, so that idolatry was dealt with severely.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:6–7 of two . . . or of three witnesses. The execution of the idolater could not take place on the basis of hearsay. There had to be at least two valid witnesses against the accused person in order for a case to be established. One witness was not sufficient in a case of this severity; this standard avoided false testimony. The way in which the execution was carried out emphasized the burden of responsibility for truthful testimony that rested on the witnesses in a case involving capital punishment. The witnesses, by casting the first stone, accepted responsibility for their testimony (cf. 19:15; 1 Cor. 5:13).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:8–13 any case . . . too difficult for you. If a judge thought a case was too difficult for him to decide, he could take it to a central tribunal, consisting of priests and an officiating chief judge, to be established at the future site of the central sanctuary. The decision of that tribunal would be final, and anyone refusing to abide by that court’s decision was subject to the death penalty.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:14 a king. The office of kingship was anticipated by Moses in the Pentateuch (see Gen. 17:16; 35:11; 49:9–12; Num. 24:7, 17). He anticipated the time when the people would ask for a king and here gave explicit instruction concerning the qualifications of that future king.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:15 from among your brothers. How the Lord would make that choice was not said, but the field was narrowed by the specification that he must be a brother Israelite.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:16–17 acquire . . . acquire . . . acquire. Restrictions were placed on the king: 1) he must not acquire many horses; 2) he must not take multiple wives; and 3) he must not accumulate much silver and gold. The king was not to rely on military strength, political alliances, or wealth for his position and authority, but he was to look to the Lord. Solomon violated all of those prohibitions, while his father, David, violated the last two. Solomon’s wives brought idolatry into Jerusalem, which resulted in the kingdom being divided (1 Kings 11:1–43).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:18 write . . . a copy of this law. The ideal set forth was that of the king who was obedient to the will of God, which he learned from reading the law. The result of his reading of the Pentateuch would be fear of the Lord and humility. The king was pictured as a scribe and scholar of Scripture. Josiah reinstated this approach at a bleak time in Israel’s history (cf. 2 Kings 22).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 17:20 his heart may not be lifted up above his brothers. The king was not to be above God’s law, any more than any other Israelite.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:1 all the tribe of Levi. Unlike the other 12 tribes, none of the tribe of Levi, including the priests, was given an allotment of land to settle and cultivate. The Levites lived in the cities assigned to them throughout the land (Num. 35:1–8; Josh. 21) while the priests lived near the central sanctuary, where they went to officiate in their appropriate course (cf. 1 Chron. 6:57–60). Levites assisted the priests (Num. 3; 4; 8).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:3–5 the priests' due. In place of a land inheritance and in recognition of their priestly duties, the priests had a right to specific portions of the animals offered for sacrifices.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:6–8 a Levite. If a Levite wanted to go to the central sanctuary to minister there in the Lord's name, he was permitted to do so and to receive equal support along with other Levites.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:9–12 the abominable practices of those nations. Moses gave a strict injunction not to copy, imitate, or do what the polytheistic Canaanites did. Nine detestable practices of the Canaanites were delineated in vv. 10–11, namely: 1) sacrificing children in the fire (see 12:31); 2) witchcraft, seeking to determine the will of the gods by examining and interpreting omens; 3) soothsaying, attempting to control the future through power given by evil spirits; 4) interpreting omens, telling the future based on signs; 5) sorcery, inducing magical effects by drugs or some other sort of potion; 6) conjuring spells, binding other people by magical muttering; 7) being a medium, one who supposedly communicates with the dead, but actually communicates with demons; 8) being a spiritist, one who has an intimate acquaintance with the demonic, spiritual world; and 9) calling up the dead, investigating and seeking information from the dead. These evil practices were the reason the Lord was going to drive the Canaanites out of the land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:15–19 a prophet like me. The singular pronoun emphasizes the ultimate Prophet who was to come. Both the OT (34:10) and the NT (Acts 3:22–23; 7:37) interpret this passage as a reference to the coming Messiah, who like Moses would receive and preach divine revelation and lead his people (cf. John 1:21, 25, 43–45; 6:14; 7:40). In fact, Jesus was like Moses in several other ways: 1) he was spared death as a baby (Ex. 2; Matt. 2:13–23); 2) he renounced a royal court (Phil. 2:5–8; Heb. 11:24–27); 3) he had compassion on his people (Num. 27:17; Matt. 9:36); 4) he made intercession for the people (Deut. 9:18; Heb. 7:25); 5) he spoke with God face to face (Ex. 34:29–30; 2 Cor.

3:7); and 6) he was the mediator of a covenant (Deut. 29:1; Heb. 8:6–7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 18:20–22 who speaks in the name of other gods. In contrast to the true prophet, Moses predicted there would be false prophets who would come to Israel, speaking not in the name of the Lord, but in the name of false gods. How could the people tell if a prophet was authentically speaking for God? Moses said, “if the word does not come to pass,” it was not from God. The characteristic of false prophets is the failure of their predictions to always come true. Sometimes false prophets speak and it happens as they said, but they are representing false gods and trying to turn people from the true God—they must be rejected and executed (13:1–5). Other times, false prophets are more subtle and identify with the true God but speak lies. If ever a prophecy of such a prophet fails, he is shown to be false. Cf. Jer. 28:15–17 and 29:30–32.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:1–23:14 The statutes explained by Moses in this part of Deuteronomy deal broadly with social and community order. These laws focus on interpersonal relationships.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:1–13 See Num. 35:9–34 for the purpose of the cities of refuge.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:2 three cities. Three cities of refuge were to be set aside in Canaan after the conquest of the land (see Josh. 20:7 for Israel’s obedience to this command). These three cities to the west of the Jordan River were in addition to the three already established east of it (see Deut. 4:41–43 for the eastern cities of refuge).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:9 add three other cities. If the Israelites had been faithful in following the Lord fully, then he would have enlarged their territory to the boundaries promised in the Abrahamic Covenant (Gen. 15:18–21). In that case, three more cities of refuge, for a total of nine, would have been needed.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:14 your neighbor’s landmark. These “landmarks” referred to stones bearing inscriptions that identified the owner of the property. Moving a neighbor’s boundary stone was equivalent to stealing his property (cf. Prov. 22:28; 23:10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:15 on the evidence of two witnesses or of three witnesses. More than one witness was necessary to convict a man of a crime. This principle was to act as a safeguard against the false witness who might bring an untruthful charge against a fellow Israelite. By requiring more than one witness, greater accuracy and objectivity was gained (cf. Deut. 17:6; Matt. 18:15–17; 2 Cor. 13:1).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:16–19 a malicious witness. In some cases, there would only be one witness who brought a charge against someone. When such a case was taken to the central tribunal of priests and judges for trial, and upon investigation the testimony of the witness was found to be false, the accuser received the punishment appropriate for the alleged crime.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:20 hear and fear. When the fate of the false witness became known in Israel, it would serve as a deterrent against giving false testimony in Israel's courts.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 19:21 eye for eye. This principle of legal justice (called lex talionis, “law of retaliation”) was given to encourage appropriate punishment of a criminal in cases where there might be a tendency to be either too lenient or too strict (see notes on Ex. 21:23–24; Lev. 24:20). Jesus confronted the Jews of his day for taking this law out of the courts and using it for purposes of personal vengeance (cf. Matt. 5:38–42).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:1–20 The humanitarian principles applicable in war under Mosaic law are in stark contrast to the brutality and cruelty of other nations.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:1 not be afraid. When Israelites went into battle, they were never to fear an enemy's horses or chariots because the outcome of a battle would never be determined by mere military strength. The command not to be afraid was based on God's power and faithfulness, which had already been proved to Israel in their deliverance from Egypt.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:2–4 the priest shall . . . speak to the people. The role of the priest in battle was to encourage the soldiers by God's promise, presence, and power to be strong in faith. A lack of trust in God's ability to fight for them would affect the strength of their will so that they would become fainthearted. Victory was linked to their faith in God.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:5–8 Let him go back to his house. Four exemptions from service in Israel's volunteer army were cited to illustrate the principle that anyone whose heart was not in the fight should not be there. Those who had other matters on their minds or were afraid were allowed to leave the army and return to their homes, since they would be useless in battle and even influence others to lose courage (v. 8).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:10–15 terms of peace. Cities outside of Canaan were not under the judgment of total destruction, so to them Israel was to offer a peace treaty. If the city agreed to become a vassal to Israel, then the people would become tributary subjects. However, if the offer of peace was rejected, Israel was to besiege and take the city, killing the men and taking possession of the rest of the people and animals as spoils of war. Note here the principle that the proclamation of peace preceded judgment (cf. Matt. 10:11–15).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:16–18 devote them to complete destruction. The Canaanite cities were to be totally destroyed, i.e., nothing was to be spared, in order to destroy their influence toward idolatry (cf. 7:22–26).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 20:19–20 you shall not destroy its trees. When besieging a city, armies in the ancient world would cut down the trees to build ramps and weapons, as well as facilities for the long siege. However, Israel was not to use fruit trees in the siege of a city, so they could enjoy the fruit of the land God had given to them (7:12–13).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:1–9 it is not known who killed him. This law, which dealt with an unsolved homicide, was not given elsewhere in the Pentateuch. In the event that the guilty party was unknown, justice could not adequately be served. However, the people were still held responsible to deal with the crime. The elders of the city closest to the place where the body of a dead man was found were to accept responsibility for the crime. This precluded inter-city strife, in case relatives sought revenge. They would go to a valley (idol altars were always on high places, so this avoided association with idolatry) and there break the neck of a heifer, indicating that the crime deserved to be punished. But the handwashing of the elders (v. 6) would show that, although they accepted responsibility for what had happened, they were nevertheless free from the guilt attached to the crime.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:5 This distinctly indicates that final judicial authority in the theocracy of Israel rested with the priests.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:11–14 a beautiful woman. According to ancient war customs, a female captive became the servant of the victors. Moses was given instruction to deal in a kind way with such issues. In the event her conquerors were captivated by her beauty and contemplated marriage with her, one month was required to elapse, during which her troubled feelings might settle, her mind would be reconciled to the new conditions of conquest, and she could sorrow over the loss of her parents as she left home to marry a stranger. One month was the usual mourning period for Jews, and the features of this period, e.g., shaving the head, trimming the nails, and removing her lovely clothes (ladies on the eve of captivity dressed to be attractive to their captors), were typical signs of Jewish grief. This action was important to show kindness to the woman and to test the strength of the man's affection. After the 30 days, they could marry. If later he decided divorce was appropriate (based on the provisions of 24:1–4), he could not sell her as a slave. She was to be set completely free because "you have humiliated her." This phrase clearly refers to sexual activity, in which the wife has fully submitted herself to her husband (cf. 22:23–29). It should be noted that divorce appears to have been common among the people, perhaps learned from their time in Egypt, and tolerated by Moses because of their "hardness of heart" (see notes on Deut. 24:1–4; Matt. 19:8).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:11–12 among the captives a beautiful woman.

Such a woman would be from a non-Canaanite city that Israel had captured (see 20:14) since all the Canaanites were to be killed (20:16). These discarded items were symbolic of the casting off of her former life and carried purification symbolism (cf. Lev. 14:18; Num. 8:7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:15–17 has two wives. In the original, the words are rendered “has had two wives,” referring to events that have already taken place, evidently intimating that one wife is dead and another has taken her place. Moses, then, is not legislating on a polygamous case where a man has two wives at the same time, but on that of a man who has married twice in succession. The man may prefer the second wife and be exhorted by her to give his inheritance to one of her sons. The issue involves the principle of the inheritance of the firstborn (the right of primogeniture). The firstborn son of the man, whether from the favorite wife or not, was to receive the double portion of the inheritance. The father did not have the authority to transfer this right to another son. This did not apply to sons of a concubine (Gen. 21:9–13) or in cases of misconduct (Gen. 49:3–4).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:18–21 a stubborn and rebellious son. Cf. 27:16. The long-term pattern of rebellion and sin of a child who was incorrigibly disobedient is in view. No hope remained for such a person who flagrantly violated the fifth commandment (Ex. 20:12), so he was to be stoned to death.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 21:22–23 hang him on a tree. After an execution, the body was permitted to hang on a tree for the rest of the day as a public display of the consequences of disobedience. However, the body was not to remain on the tree overnight, but was to be properly buried before sunset. Cf. Gal. 3:13, where Paul quotes this text in regard to the death of the Lord Jesus Christ.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:1–26:19 While loving God was the first duty (cf. 6:5), loving one’s neighbor came next (cf. Matt. 22:37–40). In this section, the law of loving one’s neighbor is applied to domestic and social relationships.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:1–4 ignore them. The Israelite must not hide his eyes from such an obvious loss. It was his duty to pursue and bring back the lost property of his neighbor.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:5 nor shall a man put on a woman’s cloak. Found only here in the Pentateuch, this statute prohibited a man from wearing any item of feminine clothing or ornamentation, or a woman from wearing any item of masculine clothing or ornamentation. The same word translated “abomination” was used to describe God’s view of homosexuality (Lev. 18:22; 20:13). This instance specifically outlawed transvestism. The creation order distinctions between male and female were to be maintained without exception (cf. Gen. 1:27).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:6 a bird’s nest. Found only here in the Pentateuch, this law showed that God cared for the long-term provisions for his people. By letting the mother go, food could be acquired without killing the source of future food.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:8 a parapet. Found only here in the Pentateuch, this refers to the roof of a home in ancient Israel, which was flat and usually reached by outside stairs. To prevent injury or death from falling, a fence was to be built around the roof. This, too, expressed love for those who might otherwise be injured or killed.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:9 two kinds of seed. The aim of the legislation seems to be to maintain healthy crops by keeping the seeds separate from one another. See note on Lev. 19:19.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:10 an ox and a donkey together. According to the dietary laws prescribed earlier (14:1–8), the ox was a “clean” animal, but the donkey was “unclean.” Even more compelling was the fact that these two different animals couldn’t together plow a straight furrow. Their temperaments, natural instincts, and physical characteristics made it impossible. As with the seed (Deut. 22:9), God is protecting his people’s food.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:11 cloth of wool and linen. See note on Lev. 19:19.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:12 make . . . tassels. See Num. 15:38–40 for the purpose of these tassels.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:13–30 This section is on family life (cf. Lev. 18:1–30; 20:10–21).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:13–21 An Israelite who doubted the virginity of his bride was to make a formal accusation to the “elders of the city.” If her parents gave proof of virginity showing the accusation was false, the husband was to pay a penalty and was prohibited from divorcing the woman. However, if she was found not to be a virgin, then she was to be put to death.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:15 the evidence of her virginity. Probably a blood-stained garment or a bed sheet from the wedding night.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:19 shekels. This word is not in the Hebrew text, but the context suggests it. A shekel weighed .4 ounces, so the total fine would be about 2.5 pounds of silver.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:22–29 Adultery was punished by death for the two found in the act. If the adulterous persons were a man with a woman who was pledged to be married to someone else, this consensual act led to the death of both parties (vv. 23–24). However, if the man forced (i.e., raped) the woman, then only the man's life was required (vv. 25–27). If the woman was a virgin not pledged in marriage, then the man had to pay a fine, marry the girl, and keep her as his wife as long as he lived (vv. 28–29).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 22:30 A man shall not take his father's wife. In no case was a man to marry his father's wife or have sexual relations with her. This probably has relations with a stepmother in view, though incest was certainly forbidden (cf. Lev. 18:6–8).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:1 the assembly of the Lord. From the sanctification of the home and marriage in the previous chapter, Moses proceeds to the sanctification of their union as a congregation and speaks of the right of citizenship, including being gathered before the presence of the Lord to worship him. Most likely, this law did not exclude one from residence in the area where Israel was to live, but from public offices and honors, intermarriage, and participation in the religious rites at the tabernacle plus later at the temple. The emasculated (v. 1), the illegitimate (v. 2), and the Ammonites and Moabites (vv. 3–6) were not allowed to worship the Lord. The general rule was that strangers and foreigners, for fear of friendship or marriage connections which would lead Israel into idolatry, were not admissible until their conversion to God and the Jewish faith. This purge, however, describes some limitations to the general rule. Eunuchs, illegitimate children, and people from Ammon and Moab were excluded. Eunuchs were forbidden because such willful mutilation (lit. in Hebrew by crushing, which was the way such an act was generally performed) violated God's creation of man, was associated with idolatrous practices and was done by pagan parents to their children so that they might serve as eunuchs in the homes of the great (cf. 25:11–12). The illegitimate were excluded so as to place an indelible stigma as a discouragement to shameful sexual misconduct. People from Ammon and Moab were excluded, not because they were born out of incest (cf. Gen. 19:30ff.), but on account of their vicious hostility toward God and his people Israel. Many of the Israelites were settled east of the Jordan in the immediate neighborhood of these people, so God raised this wall to prevent the evils of idolatrous influence. Individuals from all three of these outcast groups are offered grace and acceptance by Isaiah upon personal faith in the true God (cf. Isa. 56:1–8). Ruth the Moabitess serves as a most notable example (cf. Ruth 1:4, 16).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:2–3 to the tenth generation. The use of the words “may” and “forever” in vv. 3, 6 seems to indicate that this phrase is an idiom denoting permanent exclusion from the worshiping community of Israel. In contrast, an Edomite or Egyptian might worship in Israel in the third generation (see vv. 7–8). Though these nations had also been enemies, Edom was a near relative, coming from Jacob's family, while individual Egyptians had shown kindness to the Israelites at the exodus (cf. Ex. 12:36).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:9–14 Because the camp of Israelite soldiers was a place of God's presence (v. 14), the camp was to be kept clean. Instruction was given concerning nocturnal emission (vv. 10–11) and defecation (vv. 12–13). Such instruction for external cleanness illustrated what God wanted in the heart.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:15–25:19 Moses selected 21 sample laws to further illustrate the nature of the requirements of living under the Sinaitic Covenant.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:15–16 A fugitive slave was not to be turned over to his master. Evidently this has in mind a slave from the Canaanites or other neighboring nations who was driven out by oppression or with a desire to know Israel's God.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:17–18 Prostitution as a form of worship was forbidden. “Dog” was a reference to male prostitutes (cf. Rev. 22:15).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:19–20 This prohibition of lending money at interest to a fellow Israelite is qualified by Ex. 22:25 and Lev. 25:35–36, which indicates that it restricts its application to the poor and prevents further impoverishment, but it was allowed for foreigners who were engaged in trade and commerce to enlarge their wealth. According to Deut. 15:1–2, it is also clear that money could be legitimately lent in the normal course of business, subject to forgiveness of all unpaid debt in the sabbatical year (cf. 24:10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:21–23 Though vows were made voluntarily, they were to be promptly kept once made. Cf. Num. 30:2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 23:24–25 Farmers were to share their produce with the people in the land, but the people were not to profit from the farmers' generosity.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:1–4 This passage does not command, commend, condone, or even suggest divorce. Rather, it recognizes that divorce occurs and permits it only on restricted grounds. The case presented here is designed to convey the fact that divorcing produced defilement. Notice the following sequence: 1) if a man finds an uncleanness (some impurity or something vile, cf. 23:14) in his wife, other than adultery, which was punished by execution (cf. 22:22); 2) if he legally divorces her (although God hates divorce, as Mal. 2:16 says; he has designed marriage for life, as Gen. 2:24 declares; and he allowed divorce because of hard hearts, as Matt. 19:8 reveals); 3) if she then marries another man; 4) if the new husband then dies or divorces her; then that woman could not return to her first husband (Deut. 24:4). This is so because she was “defiled” with such a defilement that is an abomination to the Lord and a sinful pollution of the Promised Land. What constitutes that defilement? Only one thing is possible—she was defiled in the remarriage because there was no ground for the divorce. So when she remarried, she became an adulteress (Matt. 5:31–32) and is thus defiled so that her former husband can't take her back. Illegitimate divorce proliferates adultery. See notes on Matt. 5:31–32 and 19:4–9.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:5 During the first year of marriage, a man was not held responsible for military service or any other duty. He was to devote that year of marriage to the enjoyment and establishment of his marriage.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:6 Two millstones were needed to grind grain. Neither was to be taken in pledge because it was indispensable to one's daily subsistence.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:7 The death penalty would be exacted on kidnappers who kidnapped a brother Israelite for involuntary servitude or as merchandise to sell.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:8–9 Moses exhorted the people to follow the commands of the Lord regarding infectious skin diseases (see notes on Lev. 13:1–14:57).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:10–13 his pledge. This would often be a cloak, an outer garment, which was given in pledge to guarantee the repayment of a loan. God's people were to act righteously in the lending of money. An example of a righteous lender was one who did not forcefully exact payment and who allowed a poor person to retain his pledge (cloak) overnight if it was necessary to keep him warm. Lending to the poor was permitted, but without 1) interest (23:19–20); 2) coercion to repay; and 3) extension of the loan beyond the sabbatical year (15:1–2).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:14–15 Day laborers were to be paid on the day they labored because they lived day to day on such wages (cf. Lev. 19:13; Matt. 20:1–16).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:16 Punishment for a crime was to be borne only by the offender. See notes on Ezek. 18. The death of Saul's seven grandsons (2 Sam. 21:5–9) is a striking exception of national proportion grounded in God's sovereign wisdom, as was the death of David and Bathsheba's first son (2 Sam. 12:14).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:17–18 The administration of law should be carried out with equity for all members of society, including those with the least power and influence, e.g., widows, orphans, and immigrants.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 24:19–22 The practice of allowing the needy to glean in the field was grounded in the remembrance of Israel's hard service in Egypt (v. 18).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:1–3 Corporal punishment for crimes committed was to be equitably carried out in the presence of the judges and was limited to 40 stripes.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:4 A worker must be allowed to enjoy the fruit of his own labor (cf. 1 Cor. 9:9; 1 Tim. 5:18; 2 Tim. 2:6).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:5–10 Levirate marriages (from Latin, levir, “husband’s brother”) provided that the brother of a dead man who died childless was to marry the widow in order to provide an heir. These were not compulsory marriages in Israel, but were applied as strong options to brothers who shared the same estate. Obviously, this required that the brother be unmarried and desired to keep the property in the family by passing it on to a son. Cf. Lev. 18:16; 20:21 where adultery with a living brother’s wife is forbidden. Though not compulsory, this practice reflected fraternal affection, and if a single brother refused to conform to this practice, he was confronted with contempt and humiliation by the elders. The perpetuation of his name as a member of the covenant people witnessed to the dignity of the individual. Since Num. 27:4–8 gave daughters the right of inheritance when there were no sons in a family, it is reasonable to read “no child” rather than “no son” in Deut. 25:5. Cf. Tamar, Gen. 38:8–10, and the Boaz-Ruth marriage, Ruth 4:1–17.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:5 Cf. Matt. 22:24; Mark 12:19; Luke 20:28.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:11–12 The consequence of the immodest act was the only example of punishment by mutilation in the Pentateuch.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:13–16 The weights and measures of trade were to be kept equitably so people were not cheated. Obedience meant prosperous years in the land.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 25:17–19 The admonition to remember the treachery of the Amalekites was repeated to the new generation (see notes on Ex. 17:9–16). For execution of the command, see 1 Sam. 15.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:1–15 As the stipulation section of Deuteronomy came to an end (chs. 5–25), Moses commanded the people to keep two rituals when they had conquered the land and began to enjoy its produce. These two rituals were the initial firstfruits offering (26:1–11) and the first third-year special tithe (26:12–15). In both cases, there is an emphasis upon the prayer of confession to be given at the time of the rituals (26:5–10, 13–15). These special offerings were given in order to celebrate Israel’s transition from a nomadic existence to a settled agrarian community, made possible by the Lord’s blessing.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:2 the first of all the fruit. Baskets of the firstfruits of the first harvest reaped by Israel once they were in the land of Canaan were to be taken to the tabernacle (cf. Ex. 23:19; 34:26; Num. 18:12–17). This is to be distinguished from the annual Feast of Firstfruits (cf. Lev. 23:9–14) celebrated in conjunction with the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:5 you shall make a response before the Lord your God. The offering of the firstfruits was to be accompanied by an elaborate confession of the Lord’s faithfulness in preserving Israel and bringing the people into the land. The essential aspects of the worshiper’s coming to the sanctuary were the presentation of the firstfruits, bowing in worship, and rejoicing in the Lord’s goodness. In this manner the visit to the sanctuary was a confession and acknowledgment of God. It was a time of praise and rejoicing because of God’s goodness and mercy extended to former generations and evidence of divine sustaining grace at that time. A wandering Aramean. This phrase referred to Jacob, who was each Israelite’s father or ancestor. When Jacob fled from his home in Beersheba he passed through Syria (Aram) to Mesopotamia (Gen. 24:10) to live with Laban his uncle. Returning from there, Jacob was overtaken by Laban after he came through Syria at the Jabbok River, where he not only faced the wrath of Laban but also that of Esau his brother. Later, the famine in Canaan necessitated his migration to Egypt. When the Israelites became populous and powerful, they were oppressed by the Egyptians, but it was God who responded to their prayers and miraculously delivered them out of Egypt. It was God who enabled them to enter and conquer the land from which the firstfruits were presented before the altar.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:12 the tithe. I.e., the tithe collected every third year of Israel in the land of Canaan (see 14:28). Apparently this tithe was not taken to the central sanctuary, but distributed locally to Levites, immigrants, widows, and orphans. For the other regular annual tithes, see note on 14:22.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:13–14 you shall say before the Lord your God. The confession to be made in connection with the offering of this first tithe consisted of a statement of obedience (vv. 13–14) and a prayer for God’s blessing (v. 15). In this manner, the Israelite confessed his continual dependence on God and lived in obedient expectation of God’s continued gracious blessing.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:15 Look down from . . . heaven. This was the first reference to God’s dwelling place being in heaven. From his abode in heaven, God had given the Israelites the land flowing with milk and honey as he had promised to the patriarchs. His continued blessing on both the people and the land was requested.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:16–19 These four verses concluded Moses' explanation of the law's stipulations by calling for the total commitment by Israel to the Lord and his commands. These verses can be viewed as the formal ratification of the Sinaitic Covenant between the Lord and the second generation of Israel. In accepting the terms of this agreement, acknowledging that the Lord is their God, and promising wholehearted obedience plus a desire to listen to God's voice, the Israelites were assured that they were his people and the chosen over all other nations to receive his blessings and the calling to witness to his glory to all the world. See Ex. 19:5–6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 26:16 This day. I.e., the first day of the eleventh month of the fortieth year (1:3). Note also, "today" in 26:17–18.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:1–28:68 In these two chapters, Moses explained the curses and the blessings associated with the Sinaitic Covenant. He first called Israel to perform an elaborate ceremony to ratify the covenant when they entered the land (27:1–26; carried out by Joshua in Josh. 8:30–35). This was to remind the people that it was essential to obey the covenant and its laws. Then, Moses further explained the blessings for obedience and the curses for disobedience (Deut. 28:1–68).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:2, 4 plaster them with plaster. Upon arrival in the Land of Promise, under Joshua, large stone pillars were to be erected. Following the method used in Egypt, they were to be prepared for writing by whitewashing with plaster. When the law was written on the stones, the white background would make it clearly visible and easily read. These inscribed stones were to offer constant testimony to all people and coming generations of their relationship to God and his law (cf. 31:26; Josh. 24:26–27).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:3, 8 all the words of this law. Probably a reference to the whole book of Deuteronomy.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:4 Mount Ebal. A mountain in the center of the Promised Land, just to the north of the city of Shechem. It was at Shechem that the Lord first appeared to Abraham in the land and where Abraham built his first altar to the Lord (Gen. 12:6–7). This mountain, where the stone pillars with the law and the altar (Deut. 27:5) were built, was the place where the curses were to be read (v. 13).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:5–7 build an altar. In addition to setting up the stones, the Israelites were to build an altar of uncut stones. On this altar the offerings were to be brought to the Lord, and together the people would rejoice in God’s presence. This is what was done when the covenantal relationship was established at Mount Sinai (Ex. 24:1–8). The burnt offerings, completely consumed, represented complete devotion to God; the peace offerings expressed thanks to him.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:12–13 these . . . these. The 12 tribes were divided into two groups of six each. The tribe of Levi was to participate in the first group. The tribes of Manasseh and Ephraim were together as the tribe of Joseph.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:12 Mount Gerizim. This was the mountain just to the south of Mount Ebal with the city of Shechem in the valley between, from which the blessings were to be read. Perhaps the actual arrangement provided that the priests stood by the ark of the covenant, in the valley between the two mountains, with six tribes located northward toward Mount Ebal and six southward toward Mount Gerizim. The priests and Levites read the curses and blessings with the people responding with the “Amen” of affirmation. to bless. The blessings that were to be recited from Mount Gerizim were not recorded in this passage, no doubt omitted here to stress that Israel did not prove themselves obedient to the covenant and, therefore, did not enjoy the blessings.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:15–26 Twelve offenses serve as examples of the kind of iniquities that made one subject to the curse. These offenses might have been chosen because they are representative of sins that might escape detection and so remain secret (vv. 15, 24).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:15 man who makes . . . metal image. The first curse concerned idolatry, the breaking of the first and second commandments (5:7–10). Amen. To each curse all the people responded, “Amen.” The word means “so be it.” The people thereby indicated their understanding and agreement with the statement made.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:16 dishonors his father or his mother. The dishonoring of parents was the breaking of the fifth commandment (5:16).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:17 landmark. See note on 19:14.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:18 misleads a blind man. This refers to abusing a blind man.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:19 perverts the justice. The taking advantage of those members of society who could be easily abused.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:20 lies with his father's wife. Incest. See note on 22:30.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:21 lies with any kind of animal. Bestiality. See Ex. 22:19; Lev. 18:23; 20:15–16.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:22 lies with his sister. The committing of incest with either a full sister or a half sister.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:23 lies with his mother-in-law. See Lev. 18:17; 20:14.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:24 strikes down his neighbor in secret. A secret attempt to murder a neighbor.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:25 takes a bribe. This relates to a paid assassin.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 27:26 does not confirm the words of this law. The final curse covered all the rest of God's commandments enunciated by Moses on the plains of Moab (cf. Gal. 3:10). Total obedience is demanded by the law and required by God. Only the Lord Jesus Christ accomplished this (2 Cor. 5:21). Amen. All the people agreed to be obedient (cf. Ex. 24:1–8), a promise they would soon violate.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:1–68 In his responsibility as leader and mediator, Moses had previously told the people the promise of God's blessing and the warning that they should not turn to other gods when the covenant was given at Sinai (Ex. 23:20–33). After their rebellion against that covenant, Moses warned them (Lev. 26) of the divine judgment that would come if they disobeyed. Here, Moses gives an exhortation based upon the blessings and the curses of the covenant (see Lev. 26:1–45). The blessings and the curses in this chapter follow the same structure. First, Moses clearly explained that the quality of Israel's future experience would come on the basis of obedience or disobedience to God (Deut. 28:1–2, 15). Second, the actual blessings and curses were succinctly stated (28:3–6, 16–19). Third, Moses gave a sermonic elaboration of the basic blessings and curses (28:7–14, 20–68). Just as the curses were given more prominence in the ceremony of 27:11–26, so the curses incurred by disobedience to the covenant were much more fully developed here. The perspective of Moses was that Israel would not prove faithful to the covenant (31:16–18, 27) and so would not enjoy the blessings of the covenant; therefore, the curses received much more attention.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:1–14 See Josh. 21:45; 23:14–15; 1 Kings 8:56 for blessing fulfillment.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:1–2 faithfully obey . . . the Lord your God. “Faithfully obey” stressed the need for complete obedience on the part of Israel. The people could not legally or personally merit God’s goodness and blessing, but their constant desire to obey, worship, and maintain a right relation to him was evidence of their true faith in and love for him (cf. 6:5). It was also evidence of God’s gracious work in their hearts.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:1 high above all the nations. If Israel obeyed the Lord, ultimate blessing would be given in the form of preeminence above all the nations of the world (see 26:19). The indispensable condition for obtaining this blessing was salvation, resulting in obedience to the Lord, in the form of keeping his commandments. This blessing will ultimately come to pass in the millennial kingdom, particularly designed to exalt Israel’s King, the Messiah, and his nation (see Zech. 13:1–14:21; Rom. 11:25–27).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:3–6 Blessed. These beatitudes summarize the various spheres where the blessing of God would extend to Israel’s life. God’s favor is also intended to permeate all their endeavors as emphasized further in the expanded summary in 28:7–14, on the condition of obedience (vv. 1–2, 9, 13–14). They will know victory, prosperity, purity, respect, abundance, and dominance—comprehensive blessing.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:6 come in . . . go out. An idiomatic way of referring to the normal everyday activities of life (see 31:2). This is a fitting conclusion to the “blessings and curses” (28:19) since it sums up everything.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:10 called by the name of the Lord. Israel’s obedience and blessing would cause all the people of the earth to fear Israel because they were clearly the people of God. This was God’s intention for them all along, to be a witness to the nations of the one true and living God and draw the Gentiles out of idol worship. They will be that witness nation in the last days (see Rev. 7:4–10; 14:1) and in the kingdom (see Zech. 8:1–12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:13 the head and not the tail. Israel was to be the leader over the other nations (“the head”) and not to be in subjection to another nation (“the tail”).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:15–68 The curses are outlined as God warned his people of the price of the absence of love for him and disobedience.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:15 Cf. Josh. 23:15–16.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:16–19 These are parallels to the blessings in vv. 3–6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:20 until you are destroyed. Moses was aware that the Israelites were apt to be unfaithful to God, so he portrays in extended warnings the disastrous results of the loss of their land and their place of worship if they disobeyed God. Destruction was the ultimate calamity for Israel’s sin (vv. 20–21, 24, 45, 48, 51, 61, 63).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:21 Cf. Jer. 14:12; 21:6; Ezek. 5:12; 6:11.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:22 Cf. Amos 4:9.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:23 bronze . . . iron. The heavens would be as bright as bronze, but no rain would fall from them to water the ground. The earth would be as hard as iron, so any rain that would fall would run off and not penetrate (cf. Amos 4:7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:25 Cf. 2 Chron. 29:8; Neh. 1:8; Jer. 15:4.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:26 Cf. Jer. 7:33; 16:4; 19:7; 34:20.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:27 the boils of Egypt. The disease with which God afflicted the Egyptians prior to the exodus (see Ex. 9:9; Amos 4:10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:30 These three curses were in contrast to the exemptions from military service granted in 20:5–7. The exemptions were possible because God would grant his people victory in battle. Disobedience to the Lord, however, would mean that God would no longer fight for his people. Those normally exempted from military service would be forced to fight and be killed. Consequently, the soldier's betrothed wife would be violated and his house and grapes taken by the foreign invader (cf. Jer. 8:10; Amos 5:11; Zeph. 1:13).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:32 Cf. 2 Chron. 29:9.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:35 sole of your foot . . . head. Diseases of the skin would afflict the people cursed by God. The disease mentioned here is like that from which Job suffered (see Job 2:7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:36 your king, whom you set over you. Though they had no king at the time of entering the land, Moses anticipated that Israel would have a king over them when this curse came—a future king of Israel who would be taken with them into exile. to a nation that neither you nor your fathers have known. The Israelites would be taken captive to a nation other than Egypt, where they had recently been in bondage. This future nation would be particularly steeped in idolatry (cf. 2 Kings 17:41; Jer. 16:13).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:37 Cf. 1 Kings 9:8; 2 Chron. 29:8; Jer. 19:8; 25:9; 18; 29:18.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:38–40 Cf. Isa. 5:10; Joel 1:4; Micah 6:15.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:46 Cf. 2 Chron. 29:8; Jer. 18:6; Ezek. 14:8.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:49 a nation . . . from the end of the earth. God would raise up a nation to act as his own instrument of judgment against his ungrateful people. This foreign nation was described as coming from a far distance from Israel, a nation that would arise quickly and one that would completely devastate the land. This was fulfilled first by Assyria (Isa. 5:26; 7:18–20; 28:11; 37:18; Hos. 8:1) and second, by Babylon (Jer. 5:15; Lam. 4:19; Ezek. 17:3; Hab. 1:6–8).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:50 Cf. 2 Chron. 36:17.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:52–57 Ultimately, an invading nation would besiege all of the cities of Judah (see note on v. 49). In vv. 53–57, Moses gave a revolting description of the Israelites' response to those siege conditions. The unthinkable activity of cannibalism is introduced in v. 53 and then illustrated in the verses that follow (see 2 Kings 6:28–29; Lam. 2:20; 4:10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:52 Cf. 2 Chron. 32:10; Jer. 10:17–18; Ezek. 5:2; Hos. 11:6.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:53 Cf. Jer. 19:9.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:58–63 this glorious and awesome name, the Lord your God. Israel's obedience to the law (i.e., the Sinaitic Covenant) would lead to fearing the Lord, whose "name" represents his presence and character. The title "Lord (Yahweh)" revealed the glory and greatness of God (see Ex. 3:15). Significantly, the phrase "the Lord your God" is used approximately 280 times in the book of Deuteronomy. The full measure of the divine curse would come on Israel when its disobedience had been hardened into disregard for the glorious and awesome character of God. In vv. 15, 45 Moses described curses for disobedience; hence the worst of the curses come when disobedience is hardened into failure to fear God. Only God's grace would save a small remnant (v. 62), thus keeping Israel from being annihilated (cf. Mal. 2:2). In contrast to the promise made to Abraham in Gen. 15:5, the physical seed of Abraham under God's curse would be reduced; as God had multiplied the seed of the patriarchs in Egypt (see Ex. 1:7), he would decimate their numbers to make them as nothing until his restoration of the nation in a future day (see Deut. 30:5).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:59–61 Cf. Amos 4:10.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:61 the book of this law. A definite, particular written document was meant (see 31:9), referring not just to Deuteronomy (cf. 31:9), but to the Pentateuch, as far as it had been written. This is evident from 28:60–61, which indicate that the diseases of Egypt were written in the book of the law, thus referring to Exodus, which records those plagues.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:63 Cf. Jer. 12:14 and 45:4.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:64 the Lord will scatter you. The Jews remaining after the curses fall would be dispersed by the Lord ultimately to serve false gods, restlessly and fearfully throughout all the nations of the earth (cf. Neh.

1:8–9; Jer. 30:11; Ezek. 11:16). This dispersion began with the captivity of the northern kingdom, Israel (722 B.C.), then the southern kingdom, Judah (586 B.C.), and is still a reality today. In the future earthly kingdom of Messiah, Israel will experience its regathering in faith, salvation, and righteousness. See. Isa. 59:19–21; Jer. 31:31–34; Ezek. 36:8–37:14; Zech. 12:10–14:21. The unbearable nature of Israel’s present condition was emphasized since the people longed for another time (Deut. 28:67). Cf. Jer. 44:7; Hos. 8:13; 9:3; 11:4–5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 28:68 but there will be no buyer. Israel would be so abandoned by God that she would not even be able to sell herself into slavery. The curse of God would bring Israel into a seemingly hopeless condition (cf. Hos. 8:13; 9:3). The specific mention of Egypt could be symbolic for any lands where the Jews have been taken into bondage or sold as slaves. But it is true that after the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, which was a judgment on the apostasy of Israel and their rejection and execution of the Messiah, this prophecy was actually fulfilled. The Roman general Titus, who conquered Jerusalem and Israel, sent 17,000 adult Jews to Egypt to perform hard labor there and had those who were under 17 years old publicly sold. Under the Roman emperor Hadrian, countless Jews were sold and suffered such bondage and cruelty.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:1–30:20 These chapters contain the third address of Moses, which is a contrast between the covenant at Sinai and the covenant he envisioned for Israel in the future. Though the past had seen Israel’s failure to keep the covenant and to trust in God, there was hope for the future. It was this hope that Moses emphasized in the content of these chapters focusing clearly on the themes of the New Covenant.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:1 These are the words. The Hebrew text numbers this verse as 28:69 rather than 29:1, seeing it as the conclusion to the second address of Moses. However, as in 1:1, these words introduce what follows, serving as the introduction to Moses’ third address. the covenant . . . in the land of Moab. The majority of interpreters view the covenant stated here as a reference to the covenant made at Sinai. According to this view, the covenant that God made with Israel at Sinai (Horeb) was renewed in Moab. However, this verse clearly states that the covenant of which Moses now speaks was “besides,” or “in addition to,” the previous covenant. This was another covenant distinct from the one made at Sinai. This other covenant is viewed by some interpreters as the Palestinian Covenant, which gave Israel the title to the land (see 30:5). However, the emphasis of these two chapters is not on the land, but on the change of Israel's heart (see the contrast between 29:4 and 30:6). It was exactly this change of heart that the later prophets would term "the new covenant" (see Jer. 31:31–34; Ezek. 36:26–27). In response to Israel's certain failure under the provisions of the Sinaitic Covenant (Deut. 29:23–28), Moses anticipated the New Covenant under which Israel would be obedient to the Lord and finally reap his blessings (30:1–10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:4 the Lord has not given you . . . eyes to see. In spite of all they had experienced (vv. 2–3), Israel was spiritually blind to the significance of what the Lord had done for them, lacking spiritual understanding, even as Moses was speaking. This spiritual blindness of Israel continues to the present day (Rom. 11:8), and it will not be reversed until Israel's future day of salvation (see Rom. 11:25–27). The Lord had not given them an understanding heart, simply because the people had not penitently sought it (cf. 2 Chron. 7:14).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:9 keep the words of this covenant. The spiritual experience of God's faithfulness to Israel should have led to obedience to the stipulations of the Sinaitic Covenant in the future, but could not without a transformed heart (vv. 4, 18) and the true knowledge of God (v. 6).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:10–11 You are standing . . . before the Lord your God. All the people were likely stationed in an orderly way before Moses, but this is not a call to outward order, but inward devotion, to make the covenant a matter of the heart and life.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:12 enter into the sworn covenant. "Enter into" expresses entire submission in faith and repentance before God, resulting in heart obedience. The people were to bind themselves in an oath to obey the stipulations of God's covenant (cf. Gen. 26:28).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:14–15 not with you alone. All of Israel, present and future, were to be bound by the stipulations of the covenant to obey God and be blessed. Thus they would be able to lead all nations to the blessedness of salvation (cf. John 17:20–21; Acts 2:39).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:18 a root bearing poisonous and bitter fruit. The picture was of a root spreading poison and bitterness into the whole tree. The metaphor indicates permeation of idolatry throughout Israel because of the action of an individual family or tribe, precipitating God's curse and wrath.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:19 to the sweeping away of moist and dry alike. The meaning is that the deceived individual rebelling against the Lord follows only his wicked heart and could not hide within the total community. The idolater would stand out and bear the judgment for his idolatry.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:20 blot out his name from under heaven. The idolater would have no place among God's people, because God would curse him and then kill him (cf. 25:19; Ex. 17:14). This very strong language reveals how God feels about idolatry, which is forbidden in the Decalogue (Ex. 20:2–7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:21 this Book of the Law. See note on 31:9.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:22 the next generation . . . and the foreigner. In a future day, both Israel and the nations would see the results of God's judgment upon the land of Israel because of Israel's disobedience, as a witness to the holy standard God has established in his law. Cf. Lev. 26:31–32.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:23 Sodom. The punishment the Lord would bring upon Israel in the future was likened to that of Sodom and her allies whom the Lord buried in fiery brimstone in the time of Abraham and Lot (see Gen. 19:24–29). It should be noted that Sodom and vicinity resembled paradise, the garden of God, before its destruction (cf. Gen. 13:10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:24 This question is answered in vv. 25–28.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 29:29 The secret things . . . the things that are revealed. That which is revealed included the law with its promises and threats; consequently, that which is hidden only can refer to the specific way in which God will carry out his will in the future, which is revealed in his word and completed in his great work of salvation, in spite of the apostasy of his people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:1–10 The rejection of God by Israel, and of Israel by God and the subsequent dispersion were not the end of the story of God’s people. Having anticipated a time when Israel’s disobedience would lead to her captivity in a foreign land, Moses looked beyond the destruction of that time of judgment to an even more distant time of restoration and redemption for Israel (cf. Lev. 26:40–45). This future restoration and blessing of Israel would take place under the New Covenant (see notes on Jer. 31:31–34; 32:36–41; Ezek. 36:25–27). For a comparison of the New Covenant with the Old Covenant, see notes on 2 Cor. 3:6–18.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:1–3 you call them to mind. Moses moved to the future when curses would be over and blessings would come. At some future time, after disobedience to the Lord brought upon Israel the curses of the covenant, the people will remember that the circumstances in which they found themselves were the inevitable consequence of their disobedience, and in repentance they will return to the Lord. This repentance will lead to a wholehearted commitment of obedience to God’s commandments (v. 8) and the consequent end of Israel’s distress (v. 3). This is the ultimate salvation of Israel by faith in Christ, spoken of by Isaiah (54:4–8), Jeremiah (31:31–34; 32:37–42), Ezekiel (36:23–38), Hosea (14:1–9), Joel (3:16–21), Amos (9:11–15), Zephaniah (3:14–20), Zechariah (12:10–13:9), Malachi (3:16–4:4), and Paul (Rom. 11:25–27).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:4–5 The gathering of Jews out of all the countries of the earth will follow Israel’s final redemption. Restoration to the land will be in fulfillment of the promise of the covenant given to Abraham (see Gen. 12:7; 13:15; 15:18–21; 17:8) and so often reiterated by Moses and the prophets.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:6 the Lord . . . will circumcise your heart. Cf. 10:16. This work of God in the innermost being of the individual is the true salvation that grants a new will to obey him in place of the former spiritual insensitivity and stubbornness (cf. Jer. 4:4; 9:25; Rom. 2:28–29). This new heart will allow the Israelite to love the Lord wholeheartedly, and is the essential feature of the New Covenant (see Deut. 29:4, 18; 30:10, 17; Jer. 31:31–34; 32:37–42; Ezek. 11:19; 36:26). See note on Jer. 4:4.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:7 on your foes. The curses that had fallen on Israel because of disobedience will in the future come upon the nations that have enslaved the Jews. The judgment of God would come upon those who cursed the physical seed of Abraham in fulfillment of Gen. 12:3.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:8–9 you shall again obey the voice of the Lord. With a new heart under the New Covenant, Israel would obey all the commandments of the Lord. This would result in the Lord's blessing, which would bring greater prosperity than Israel had ever previously experienced.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:10 Here is a renewed enforcement of the indispensable fruit of salvation and another echo of the constant theme of this book.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:11–14 After remembering the failures of the past and the prospects for the future, Moses earnestly admonished the people to make the right choice. The issue facing them was to enjoy salvation and blessing by loving God so wholeheartedly that they would willingly live in obedience to his word. The choice was simple, yet profound. It was stated in simple terms so that they could understand and grasp what God expected of them (v. 11). Although God had spoken from heaven, he had spoken through Moses in words every person could understand (v. 12). They did not have to search at some point beyond the sea (v. 13). The truth was there, through Moses, now in their hearts and minds (v. 14). All the truth necessary for choosing to love and obey God and thus avoid disobedience and cursing, they had heard and known (v. 15). Paul quotes vv. 12–14 in Rom. 10:6–8.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:15 Here Moses pinpoints the choice—to love and obey God is life and prosperity, to reject God is death and adversity. If they chose to love God and obey his word, they would enjoy all God's blessings (v. 16). If they refused to love and obey him, they would be severely and immediately punished (vv. 17–18). Paul, in speaking about salvation in the NT, makes use of this appeal made by Moses (Rom. 10:1–13). Like Moses, Paul is saying that the message of salvation is plain and understandable.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 30:19 choose life. Moses forces the decision, exhorting Israel on the plains of Moab before God (heaven) and man (earth) to choose by believing in and loving God, the life available through the New Covenant (see v. 6). Sadly, Israel failed to respond to this call to the right choice (see 31:16–18, 27–29). Choosing life or death was also emphasized by Jesus. The one who believed in him had the promise of eternal life; while the one who refused to believe faced eternal death (cf. John 3:1–36). Every person faces this same choice.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:1–34:12 Two themes dominate the last four chapters of Deuteronomy: 1) the death of Moses (31:1–2, 14, 16, 26–29; 32:48–52; 33:1; 34:1–8, 10–12) and 2) the succession of Joshua (31:1–8, 14, 23; 32:44; 34:9). These final chapters center upon two more speeches by Moses: 1) the Song of Moses \(32:1–43\), and 2) the Blessings of Moses (33:1–29).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:1 Moses continued to speak. Though some interpreters view this verse as the conclusion to the foregoing address in chs. 29–30, it is better to see these words as an introduction to the words of Moses that follow, based upon the general pattern of Deuteronomy. Verses 2–6 are addressed to every Israelite.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:2 120 years old. This was the age of Moses at his death. According to Acts 7:30, Moses spent 40 years in Midian tending sheep. Thus, the life of Moses is broken down into three 40-year periods. His first 40 years were spent in Egypt (Ex. 2:1–15). The second 40 years were spent in Midian (Ex. 2:15–4:19). His final 40 years were spent leading Israel out of Egypt and through the wilderness to the Promised Land. The life and ministry of Moses were completed, but God’s work would go on (Deut. 31:3a). go out and come in. Here is an idiom for engaging in a normal day’s work and activity. Though still strong for his age (cf. 34:7), Moses admitted that he no longer could provide the daily leadership necessary for Israel. Furthermore, God would not allow him to enter the land over the Jordan because of his sin at the waters of Meribah (see 32:51).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:3 God . . . will go over . . . Joshua will go over. Though Joshua was to be the new human leader over Israel (see 31:3–7, 23), it was the Lord himself who was the real leader and power. He would cross over ahead of them to enable them to destroy the nations.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:4 Sihon and Og. Israel was assured that the nations of the land would be destroyed by the Lord in the same way that he had recently defeated the Amorite kings, Sihon and Og, on the east side of the Jordan River (see 2:26–3:11). That was a preview of what was to come (31:5).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:6–8 Be strong and courageous. The strength and courage of the warriors of Israel would come from their confidence that their God was with them and would not forsake them. In vv. 7–8, Moses repeated the substance of his exhortation, this time addressing it specifically to Joshua in the presence of the people to encourage him and to remind the people that Joshua’s leadership was being assumed with the full approval of God. This principle for faith and confidence is repeated in 31:23; Josh. 1:5–7; 2 Sam. 10:12; 2 Kings 2:2; 1 Chron. 22:11–13; 2 Chron. 32:1–8; Ps. 27:14. The writer of Hebrews quotes Deut. 31:6, 8 in Heb. 13:5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:9 Moses wrote this law. At the least, Moses, perhaps with the aid of some scribes or elders who assisted him in leading Israel, wrote down the law that he had explained in the first 32 chapters of Deuteronomy (cf. 31:24). However, since the law explained in Deuteronomy had been given in portions of Exodus through Numbers, it seems best to view this written law as all that is presently found in Scripture from Gen. 1 through Deut. 32:47. After Moses’ death, Deut. 32:48–34:12 were added to complete the canonical Torah, perhaps by one of the elders who had served with Moses, even Joshua.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:11 you shall read this law before all Israel. The law that Moses wrote down was given to the priests who were required to be its custodians and protectors and to read it in the hearing of all Israel at the Feast of Tabernacles during each sabbatical year. This reading of the law every seven years was to remind the people to live in submission to their awe-inspiring God.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:14 the tent of meeting. The Lord told Moses to summon Joshua to the tent where he met Israel, and the presence of the Lord appeared in the pillar of cloud standing at the door of the Holy Place (v. 15). This signaled God’s confirmation of Joshua, the former military captain (see Ex. 17:9–14) and spy (see Num. 13:16), as Israel’s new leader. God’s message to Joshua is summed up in Deut. 31:16–22.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:16–21 they will forsake me and break my covenant. After Moses’ death, the Lord himself predicts that in spite of what he has commanded (30:11, 20), the Israelites would forsake him by turning to worship other gods and thereby break the Sinaitic Covenant. Having forsaken God, the people would then be forsaken by God with the inevitable result that disaster would fall upon them at every turn. This is one of the saddest texts in the OT. After all God had done, he knew they would forsake him.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:19, 22 write this song. The song that the Lord gave Moses to teach the Israelites would be a constant reminder of their disobedience to the Lord and the results of that disobedience. The song was written that same day and is recorded in 32:1–43.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:23 I will be with you. Joshua was to assume his lonely role of leadership over Israel with an assurance of the companionship and strength of the Lord. God’s presence with him was sufficient to enable him to meet boldly every obstacle that the future could bring (see Josh. 1:5; 3:7).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:24 in a book. The words that Moses had spoken were written down in a book that was placed beside the ark of the covenant (v. 26). Only the Ten Commandments were placed in the ark itself (Ex. 25:16; 31:18). The “Book of the Law” (Deut. 31:26) was one of the titles for the Pentateuch in the rest of Scripture (Josh. 1:8; 8:34).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:27 rebellious and stubborn. See 9:6, 13; 10:16. Moses was well acquainted with Israel’s obstinate ways even in the most gracious of divine provision.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:29 you will surely act corruptly. Dominated by the practice of idolatry (see 4:16, 25; 9:12), the people would become wicked. in the days to come evil will befall you. “The days to come” (lit., “at the end of the days”) referred to the far distant future. This was the time when the king would come from Judah (Gen. 49:8–12) to defeat Israel’s enemies (Num. 24:17–19). Here it is revealed that it would also be a time when disaster would fall upon Israel because of evil done, thus bringing the Lord’s wrath. The description of God’s judgment on Israel and the nations in this song can’t be limited to the immediate future of the people as they entered the land, but extends to issues that are eschatological in time and global in extent, as the song indicates (Deut. 32:1–43).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 31:30–32:43 This prophetic, poetic song has as its central theme Israel’s apostasy, which brings God’s certain judgment. The song begins with a short introduction emphasizing the steadfast God and the fickle nation (32:1–6). The song describes God’s election of Israel (vv. 8–9) and his care for them from the time of the wilderness wanderings (vv. 10–12) to their possession and initial enjoyment of the blessings in the land (vv. 13–14). However, Israel’s neglect of God’s goodness and her apostasy (vv. 15–18) would bring God's future outpouring of wrath on his people (vv. 19–27) and Israel's continuing blindness in the face of God's wrath (vv. 28–33). Ultimately, God's vengeance would strip Israel of all power and turn the nation from idolatry (vv. 34–38). Then, God would bring his judgment upon the nations, both his enemies and Israel's (vv. 39–42). The song ends with a call to the nations to rejoice with Israel because God would punish his enemies and spiritually heal both Israel and her land (v. 43). Ezekiel 16 should be studied as a comparison to this chapter. It recites similar matters in graphic and picturesque language.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:1 Give ear, O heavens . . . and let the earth hear. All of creation was called to be an audience to hear the message to Israel as in 30:19 because the truth Moses was about to proclaim concerned the whole universe. It did so because it involved the honor of God the Creator so disregarded by sinners, the justification of God so righteous in all his ways, and the manifestation in heaven and earth of God's judgment and salvation (32:43).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:2 my teaching. Moses imparted instruction that if received would, like rain, dew, raindrops, and showers to the earth, bring benefit to the hearts and the minds of the hearers.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:3 ascribe greatness to our God! Cf. 3:24; 5:24; 9:26; 11:2; Ps. 150:2. This command refers to the greatness of God revealed in his acts of omnipotence.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:4 The Rock. This word, representing the stability and permanence of God, was placed at the beginning of the verse for emphasis and was followed by a series of phrases which elaborated the attributes of God as the Rock of Israel. It is one of the principal themes in this song (see vv. 15, 18, 30–31), stressing the unchanging nature of God in contrast with the fickle nature of the people.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:5 a crooked and twisted generation. Israel, in contrast to God, was warped and twisted. Jesus used this phrase in Matt. 17:17 of an unbelieving generation and Paul in Phil. 2:15 of the dark world of mankind in rebellion against God.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:6 your father. The foolishness and stupidity of Israel would be seen in the fact that they would rebel against God who as a Father had brought them forth and formed them into a nation. As Father, he was the progenitor and originator of the nation and the One who had matured and sustained it. This idea of God as Father of the nation is emphasized in the OT (cf. 1 Chron. 29:10; Isa. 63:16; 64:8; Mal. 2:10) while the idea of God as Father of individual believers is developed in the NT (cf. Rom. 8:15; Gal. 4:6).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:7 Remember the days of old. A call to reflect on past history and to inquire about the lessons to be learned.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:8–9 the Most High. This title for God emphasized his sovereignty and authority over all the nations (see Gen. 10:32; 11:9; 14:18; Num. 24:16) with the amazing revelation that in the whole plan for the world, God had as his goal the salvation of his chosen people. God ordained a plan where the number of nations (70 according to Gen. 10) corresponded to the number of the children of Israel (70 according to Gen. 46:27). Further, as God gave the nations their lands, he established their boundaries, leaving Israel enough land to sustain their expected population.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:10–14 This whole description of what God did for Israel is figurative. Israel is like a man in the horrible desert in danger of death, without food or water, who is rescued by the Lord.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:10 as the apple of his eye. Lit., “the little man of his eye.” Just as the pupil of the eye is essential for vision and, therefore, closely protected, especially in a howling wind, so God closely protected Israel. Cf. Ps. 17:8 and Prov. 7:2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:11 flutters over its young. The Lord exercised his loving care for Israel like an eagle caring for its young, especially as they were taught to fly. As they began to fly and had little strength, they would start to fall. At that point, an eagle would stop their fall by spreading its wings so they could land on them; so the Lord has carried Israel and not let the nation fall. He had been training Israel to fly on his wings of love and omnipotence.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:12 no foreign god. Moses makes clear that God alone carried Israel through all its struggles and victories, thus depriving the people of any excuse for apostasy from the Lord by interest in false gods.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:13 honey out of the rock. A reference to honeycombs located in the fissures of the faces of a cliff is used because Canaan had many wild bees. oil out of the flinty rock. Likely a reference to olive trees growing in rocky places otherwise bereft of fruit-growing trees. These metaphoric phrases regarding honey and oil point to the most valuable products coming out of the most unproductive places.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:14 rams of Bashan. See note on 3:1.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:15 Jeshurun. The word means “righteous” (lit., “the upright one”), i.e., a name for Israel that sarcastically expresses the fact that Israel did not live up to God’s law after entering the land. God uses this name to remind Israel of his calling and to severely rebuke apostasy. grew fat, and kicked. Like an ox which had become fat and intractable, Israel became affluent because of the bountiful provisions of God but, instead of being thankful and obedient, became rebellious against the Lord (cf. 6:10–15).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:16 strange gods. Israel turned to worship the gods of the people in the land. These were gods they had not before acknowledged (v. 17).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:17 demons. Cf. Lev. 17:7; 2 Chron. 11:15; Ps. 106:37. The term describes those angels who fell with Satan and constitute the evil force that fights against God and his holy angels. Idol worship is a form of demon worship as demon spirits impersonate the idol and work their wicked strategies through the system of false religion tied to the false god.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:18–33 For this foolish apostasy, the Lord will severely judge Israel. This visitation of anger is in the form of a divine resolution to punish Israelites whenever they pursue idols, including the next generation of sons and daughters (v. 19). In vv. 20–22, Moses quotes the Lord himself.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:21 no people. As the Lord was provoked to jealousy by Israel’s worship of that which was “no God,” so he would provoke Israel to jealousy and anger by humiliation before a foolish, vile “nation.” In Rom. 10:19, Paul applied the term “not a nation” to the Gentile nations generally. Jews who worship a “no-god” will be judged by a “no-people.”

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:22 a fire is kindled . . . to the depths of Sheol. Cf. 29:20. Once the fire of God’s anger was kindled, it knew no limits in its destructive force, reaching to even those in the grave, an indication of God’s eternal judgment against those who oppose him.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:23 disasters . . . arrows. The misfortunes (lit., “evil”) are described in v. 24. The arrows represent the enemies who would defeat Israel in war and are further described in vv. 25–27.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:27 Our hand is triumphant. Military arrogance. The only thing that would prevent the Lord from permitting the complete destruction of his people would be his concern that the Gentiles might claim for themselves the honor of victory over Israel.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:31 rock . . . Rock. A contrast between the gods of the nations (“rock”) and Israel’s true God (“Rock”). Israel could smite its foes with very little difficulty because of the weakness of their gods, who are not like the Rock Jehovah.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:32 the vine of Sodom. Employing the metaphor of a vineyard, its grapes and its wine, the wickedness of Israel’s enemies was described as having its roots in Sodom and Gomorrah, the evil cities destroyed by God as recorded in Gen. 19:1–29.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:34 sealed up in my treasuries. The wicked acts of Israel’s enemies were known to God and are stored up in his storehouse. At the proper time, God will avenge. Paul uses this image in Rom. 2:4–5.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:35 Vengeance is mine, and recompense. The manner and timing of the repayment of man’s wickedness is God’s prerogative. This principle is reaffirmed in the NT in Rom. 12:19 and Heb. 10:30.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:36 This is the promise that the Lord will judge Israel as a nation, but that the nation is composed of righteous and wicked. God actually helps the righteous by destroying the wicked. “His servants” are the righteous, all who in the time of judgment are faithful to the Lord (cf. Mal. 3:16–4:3). The Lord has judged Israel, not to destroy the nation, but to punish the sinners and show the folly of their false gods (Deut. 32:37–38). At the same time, the Lord has always shown compassion for those who have loved and obeyed him.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:39 I, even I, am he. After showing the worthlessness of false gods (vv. 37–38), this declaration of the nature of God was presented in contrast to show that the God of Israel is the living God, the only One who can offer help and protection to Israel. He has the power of life and death with regard to Israel (cf. 1 Sam. 2:6; 2 Kings 5:7) and the power to wound and heal them (cf. Isa. 30:26; 57:17–18; Jer. 17:14; Hos. 6:1).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:40–42 I lift up my hand. God takes an oath to bring vengeance on his enemies. Here (as in Ex. 6:8; Num. 14:28) the hand is used anthropomorphically of God, who can swear by no greater than his eternal Self (cf. Isa. 45:23; Jer. 22:5; Heb. 6:17).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:43 Rejoice with him, O heavens. As a result of the execution of God’s vengeance, all nations will be called upon to praise with Israel the Lord who will have provided redemptively for them in Christ and also provided a new beginning in the land. This atonement for the land is the satisfaction of God’s wrath by the sacrifice of his enemies in judgment. The atonement for the people is by the sacrifice of Jesus Christ on the cross (cf. Ps. 79:9). Paul quotes this passage in Rom. 15:10, as does the writer of Hebrews (Heb. 1:6).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:47 your very life. Moses reiterated to Israel that obedience to the Lord’s commands was to be the key to her living long in the land that God had prepared and called for this song to be a kind of national anthem that the leaders should see is frequently repeated to animate the people to love and obey God.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:48–34:12 The anticipation of and record of Moses’ death (32:48–52; 34:1–12) bracket the recording of Moses’ blessing given to Israel before his death. This literary unit was composed and added to the text after the death of Moses.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:49 Mount Nebo. A peak in the Abarim range of mountains to the east of the north end of the Dead Sea, from where Moses would be able to see across to the Promised Land, which he was not permitted to enter.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 32:50 gathered to his people. An idiom for death. See Gen. 25:8, 17; 35:29; 49:33; Num. 20:24, 26; 31:2.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:1–29 The final words of Moses to the people were a listing of the blessings of each of the tribes of Israel, Simeon excluded (vv. 6–25). These blessings were introduced and concluded with passages that praise God (vv. 2–5, 26–29). That these blessings of Moses are presented in this chapter as recorded by someone other than Moses is clear because in v. 1, Moses was viewed as already being dead, and as the words of Moses were presented, the clause “he said” (vv. 2, 7, 8, 12, 13, 18, 20, 22, 23, 24) was used.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:1 the man of God. The first use of this phrase in Scripture. Subsequently, some 70 times in the OT, messengers of God (especially prophets) are called “a man of God “ (1 Sam. 2:27; 9:6; 1 Kings 13:1; 17:18; 2 Kings 4:7). The NT uses this title for Timothy (1 Tim. 6:11; 2 Tim. 3:17). Moses was viewed among such prophets in this conclusion to the book (see Deut. 34:10).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:2 Sinai . . . Seir . . . Paran. These are mountains associated with the giving of the law—Sinai on the south, Seir on the northeast, and Paran on the north. These mountains provide a beautiful metaphor, borrowed from the dawn. God, like the morning sun, is the Light that rises to give his beams to all the Promised Land. holy ones. Probably a reference to the angels who assisted God when the law was mediated to Moses at Mount Sinai (see Acts 7:53; Gal. 3:19; Heb. 2:2).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:3 he loved his people. Notwithstanding the awe-inspiring symbols of majesty displayed at Sinai, the law was given in kindness and love to provide both temporal and eternal blessing to those with a heart to obey it. Cf. Rom. 13:8–10.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:5 the Lord became king in Jeshurun. See note on 32:15. Lit., “he was king.” Since Moses is nowhere else in Scripture referred to as king, most interpret this as a reference to the Lord as King over Israel. However, Moses is the closest antecedent of the pronoun “he” in this clause; it therefore seems most natural to understand that Moses is being referred to as a king. Moses certainly exercised kingly authority over Israel and could be viewed as a prototype of the coming King. Thus, united in the figure of Moses, the coming prophet like unto Moses (18:15) would be the prophet-king.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:6 Reuben. Here is the prayer that this tribe would survive in large numbers (cf. Num. 1:21; 2:11).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:7 Judah. Moses prayed that this tribe would be powerful in leading the nation to be victorious in battle through the help of the Lord.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:8–11 Levi. Moses prays for the Levites to fulfill their tasks, God granting to them protection from their enemies. Moses omitted Simeon, but that tribe did receive a number of allies in the southern territory of Judah (Josh. 19:2–9) and did not lose their identity (cf. 1 Chron. 4:34–38).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:12 Benjamin. That this tribe would have security and peace because the Lord would shield them was Moses' request. They were given the land in the north of Judah near Jerusalem.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:13–17 Joseph. This included both Ephraim and Manasseh (v. 17), who would enjoy material prosperity (vv. 13–16) and military might (v. 17), which would compensate and reward them for the Egyptian slavery of their ancestor (see Gen. 49:26). Ephraim would have greater military success in the future than Manasseh as the outworking of Jacob's blessing of the younger over the older (see Gen. 48:20).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:18 Zebulun . . . Issachar. Moses prayed that these two tribes from the fifth and sixth sons of Leah would receive God's blessing in their daily lives, particularly through the trade on the seas.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:20 Gad. This tribe had large territory east of the Jordan and was a leader in gaining the victory in battles in Canaan.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:22 Dan. Dan had the potential for great energy and strength and leaped from its southern settlement to establish a colony in the north. Cf. Gen. 49:17–18, where Dan is compared to a serpent.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:23 Naphtali. This tribe would enjoy the favor of God in the fullness of his blessing, having land in the west of Galilee and south of the northern Danites.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:24 Asher. The request is that this tribe would experience abundant fertility and prosperity, depicted by reference to a foot-operated oil press. Shoes of hard metal suited both country people and soldiers.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:26–27 God, O Jeshurun. Moses concluded his blessings with a reminder of the uniqueness of Israel's God. For "Jeshurun," see note on 32:15.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:28–29 This pledge was only partially fulfilled after they entered the land, but it awaits a complete fulfillment in the kingdom of Messiah.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 33:28 Jacob. Lit., “spring” or “fountain” of Jacob. This is a euphemism for Jacob’s seed, referring to his posterity.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:1–12 This concluding chapter was obviously written by someone other than Moses (probably the writer of Joshua) to bridge out of Deuteronomy into Joshua.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:1 Pisgah. The range or ridge of which Mount Nebo was the highest point.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:1–4 the Lord showed him. From the top of the mountain, Moses was allowed to see the panorama of the land the Lord had promised to give (the land of Canaan) to the patriarchs and their seed in Gen. 12:7; 13:15; 15:18–21; 26:4; 28:13–14.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:6 he buried him. The context indicates that the Lord is the one who buried Moses, and man did not have a part in it. Cf. Jude 9, which recounts Michael’s and Satan’s dispute over Moses’ body.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:7 undimmed . . . unabated. Moses’ physical vision and physical health were not impaired. It was not death by natural causes that kept Moses from leading Israel into the Promised Land; it was his unfaithfulness to the Lord at Meribah (see Num. 20:12).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:8 thirty days. The mourning period for Moses conformed to that of Aaron (Num. 20:29).

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:9 spirit of wisdom . . . laid his hands. Joshua received 1) confirmation of the military and administrative ability necessary to the task the Lord had given him, as well as, 2) the spiritual wisdom to rely on and to be committed to the Lord through the laying on of Moses’ hands.

DEUTERONOMY—NOTE ON 34:10 a prophet . . . like Moses. Moses was the greatest of all the OT prophets, one whom the Lord knew intimately. Not until John the Baptist was there another prophet greater than Moses (see Matt. 11:11). After John, the Prophet came of whom Moses wrote (cf. John 1:21, 25; 6:14 with Deut. 18:15, 18; Acts 3:22; 7:37). Moses next appeared on the Mount of Transfiguration together with Elijah and Jesus Christ (Matt. 17:3; Mark 9:4; Luke 9:30–31).

Introduction to Joshua

Title

This is the first of the 12 historical books, and it gained its name from the exploits of Joshua, the understudy whom Moses prayed for and commissioned as a leader in Israel (Num. 27:12–23). “Joshua” means “Jehovah saves,” or “the Lord is salvation,” and corresponds to the NT name “Jesus.” God delivered Israel in Joshua’s day when he was personally present as the saving Commander who fought on Israel’s behalf (Josh. 5:14–6:2; 10:42; 23:3, 5; Acts 7:45).

Author and Date

Although the author is not named, the most probable candidate is Joshua, who was the key eyewitness to the events recorded (cf. 18:9; 24:26). An assistant whom Joshua groomed could have finished the book by attaching such comments as those concerning Joshua’s death (24:29–33). Some have even suggested that this section was written by the high priest Eleazar, or his son, Phinehas. Rahab was still living at the time Josh. 6:25 was penned. The book was completed before David’s reign (15:63; cf. 2 Sam. 5:5–9). The most likely writing period is c. 1405–1385 B.C.

Joshua was born in Egyptian slavery, trained under Moses, and by God’s choice rose to his key position of leading Israel into Canaan. Distinguishing features of his life include: 1) service (Ex. 17:10; 24:13; 33:11; Num. 11:28); 2) soldiering (Ex. 17:9–13); 3) scouting (Num. 13–14); 4) supplication by Moses (Num. 27:15–17); 5) the sovereignty of God (Num. 27:18ff.); 6) the Spirit’s presence (Num. 27:18; Deut. 34:9); 7) separation by Moses (Num. 27:18–23; Deut. 31:7–8, 13–15); and 8) selflessness in wholly following the Lord (Num. 32:12).

Background and Setting

When Moses passed the baton of leadership on to Joshua before he died (Deut. 34), Israel was at the end of its 40-year wilderness wandering period c. 1405 B.C. Joshua was approaching 90 years of age when he became Israel’s leader. He later died at the age of 110 (Josh. 24:29), having led Israel to drive out most of the Canaanites and having divided the land among the 12 tribes. Poised on the plains of Moab, east of the Jordan River and the land that God had promised (Gen. 12:7; 15:18–21), the Israelites awaited God’s direction to conquer the land. They faced peoples on the western side of the Jordan who had become so steeped in iniquity that God would cause the land, so to speak, to spew out these inhabitants (Lev. 18:24–25). He would give Israel the land by conquest, primarily to fulfill the covenant he had pledged to Abraham and his descendants, but also to pass just judgment on the sinful inhabitants (cf. Gen. 15:16). Long possession of different parts of the land by various peoples had predated even Abraham’s day (Gen. 10:15–19; 12:6; 13:7). Its inhabitants had continued on a moral decline in the worship of many gods up to Joshua’s time.

Historical and Theological Themes

A keynote feature is God’s faithfulness to fulfill his promise of giving the land to Abraham’s descendants (Gen. 12:7; 15:18–21; 17:8). By his leading (cf. Josh. 5:14–6:2), they inhabited the territories east and west of the Jordan, and so the word “possess” appears nearly 20 times.

Related to this theme is Israel’s failure to press their conquest to every part of the land (13:1). Judges 1–2 later describes the tragic results from this sin. Key verses focus on: 1) God’s promise of possession of the land (Josh. 1:3, 6); 2) meditation on God’s law, which was strategic for his people (1:8); and 3) Israel’s actual possession of the land in part (11:23; 21:45; 22:4).

Specific allotment of distinct portions in the land was Joshua’s task, as recorded in chs. 13–22. Levites were placed strategically in 48 towns so that God’s spiritual services through them would be reasonably within reach of the Israelites, wherever they lived.

God wanted his people to possess the land: 1) to keep his promise (Gen. 12:7); 2) to set the stage for later developments in his kingdom plan (cf. Gen. 17:8; 49:8–12), e.g., positioning Israel for events in the periods of the kings and prophets; 3) to punish peoples that were an affront to him because of extreme sinfulness (Lev. 18:25); and 4) to be a testimony to other peoples (Josh. 2:9–11), as God’s covenant heart reached out to all nations (Gen. 12:1–3).

Interpretive Challenges

Miracles always challenge readers either to believe that the God who created heaven and earth (Gen. 1:1) can do other mighty works, too, or to explain them away. As in Moses' day, miracles in this book were a part of God's purpose, such as: 1) his holding back the Jordan's waters (Josh. 3:7-17); 2) the fall of Jericho's walls (6:1-27); 3) the hailstones (10:1-11); and 4) the long day (10:12-15).

Other challenges include: 1) How did God's blessing on the harlot Rahab, who responded to him in faith, relate to her telling a lie (ch. 2)? 2) Why were Achan's family members executed with him (ch. 7)? 3) Why was Ai, with fewer men than Israel, hard to conquer (ch. 7-8)? 4) What does God's sending "the hornet" before Israel mean (24:12)? These questions will be addressed in the notes.

Joshua

God Commissions Joshua

JOSHUA 1 After the death of Moses the servant of the LORD, the LORD said to Joshua the son of Nun, Moses' assistant, <sup>2</sup>†“Moses my servant is dead. Now therefore arise, go over this Jordan, you and all this people, into the land that I am giving to them, to the people of Israel. <sup>3</sup>Every place that the sole of your foot will tread upon I have given to you, just as I promised to Moses. <sup>4</sup>†From the wilderness and this Lebanon as far as the great river, the river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites to the Great Sea toward the going down of the sun shall be your territory. <sup>5</sup>†No man shall be able to stand before you all the days of your life. Just as I was with Moses, so I will be with you. I will not leave you or forsake you. <sup>6</sup>†Be strong and courageous, for you shall cause this people to inherit the land that I swore to their fathers to give them. <sup>7</sup>†Only be strong and very courageous, being careful to do according to all the law that Moses my servant commanded you. Do not turn from it to the right hand or to the left, that you may have good success [1] wherever you go. <sup>8</sup>†This Book of the Law shall not depart from your mouth, but you shall meditate on it day and night, so that you may be careful to do according to all that is written in it. For then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will have good success. <sup>9</sup>†Have I not commanded you? Be strong and courageous. Do not be frightened, and do not be dismayed, for the LORD your God is with you wherever you go.”

Joshua Assumes Command

<sup>10</sup>And Joshua commanded the officers of the people, <sup>11</sup>†“Pass through the midst of the camp and command the people, ‘Prepare your provisions, for within three days you are to pass over this Jordan to go in to take possession of the land that the LORD your God is giving you to possess.’”

<sup>12</sup>†And to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh Joshua said, <sup>13</sup>†“Remember the word that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you, saying, ‘The LORD your God is providing you a place of rest and will give you this land.’ <sup>14</sup>Your wives, your little ones, and your livestock shall remain in the land that Moses gave you beyond the Jordan, but all the men of valor among you shall pass over armed before your brothers and shall help them, <sup>15</sup>until the LORD gives rest to your brothers as he has to you, and they also take possession of the land that the LORD your God is giving them. Then you shall return to the land of your possession and shall possess it, the land that Moses the servant of the LORD gave you beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise.”

<sup>16</sup>And they answered Joshua, “All that you have commanded us we will do, and wherever you send us we will go. <sup>17</sup>Just as we obeyed Moses in all things, so we will obey you. Only may the LORD your God be with you, as he was with Moses! <sup>18</sup>Whoever rebels against your commandment and disobeys your words, whatever you command him, shall be put to death. Only be strong and courageous.”

Rahab Hides the Spies

JOSHUA 2 †And Joshua the son of Nun sent [1] two men secretly from Shittim as spies, saying, “Go, view the land, especially Jericho.” And they went and came into the house of a prostitute whose name was Rahab and lodged there. †And it was told to the king of Jericho, “Behold, men of Israel have come here tonight to search out the land.” †Then the king of Jericho sent to Rahab, saying, “Bring out the men who have come to you, who entered your house, for they have come to search out all the land.” †But the woman had taken the two men and hidden them. And she said, “True, the men came to me, but I did not know where they were from. †And when the gate was about to be closed at dark, the men went out. I do not know where the men went. Pursue them quickly, for you will overtake them.” †But she had brought them up to the roof and hid them with the stalks of flax that she had laid in order on the roof. †So the men pursued after them on the way to the Jordan as far as the fords. And the gate was shut as soon as the pursuers had gone out.

†Before the men [2] lay down, she came up to them on the roof †and said to the men, “I know that the LORD has given you the land, and that the fear of you has fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land melt away before you. †For we have heard how the LORD dried up the water of the Red Sea before you when you came out of Egypt, and what you did to the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, to Sihon and Og, whom you devoted to destruction. [3] †And as soon as we heard it, our hearts melted, and there was no spirit left in any man because of you, for the LORD your God, he is God in the heavens above and on the earth beneath. †Now then, please swear to me by the LORD that, as I have dealt kindly with you, you also will deal kindly with my father's house, and give me a sure sign †that you will save alive my father and mother, my brothers and sisters, and all who belong to them, and deliver our lives from death.” †And the men said to her, “Our life for yours even to death! If you do not tell this business of ours, then when the LORD gives us the land we will deal kindly and faithfully with you.”

†Then she let them down by a rope through the window, for her house was built into the city wall, so that she lived in the wall. †And she said [4] to them, “Go into the hills, or the pursuers will encounter you, and hide there three days until the pursuers have returned. Then afterward you may go your way.” †The men said to her, “We will be guiltless with respect to this oath of yours that you have made us swear. <sup>18</sup>†Behold, when we come into the land, you shall tie this scarlet cord in the window through which you let us down, and you shall gather into your house your father and mother, your brothers, and all your father's household. <sup>19</sup>Then if anyone goes out of the doors of your house into the street, his blood shall be on his own head, and we shall be guiltless. But if a hand is laid on anyone who is with you in the house, his blood shall be on our head. <sup>20</sup>But if you tell this business of ours, then we shall be guiltless with respect to your oath that you have made us swear.” <sup>21</sup>And she said, “According to your words, so be it.” Then she sent them away, and they departed. And she tied the scarlet cord in the window.

<sup>22</sup>They departed and went into the hills and remained there three days until the pursuers returned, and the pursuers searched all along the way and found nothing. <sup>23</sup>Then the two men returned. They came down from the hills and passed over and came to Joshua the son of Nun, and they told him all that had happened to them. <sup>24</sup>And they said to Joshua, “Truly the LORD has given all the land into our hands. And also, all the inhabitants of the land melt away because of us.”

Israel Crosses the Jordan

JOSHUA 3 Then Joshua rose early in the morning and they set out from Shittim. And they came to the Jordan, he and all the people of Israel, and lodged there before they passed over. <sup>2</sup>At the end of three days the officers went through the camp <sup>3</sup>†and commanded the people, “As soon as you see the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God being carried by the Levitical priests, then you shall set out from your place and follow it. <sup>4</sup>†Yet there shall be a distance between you and it, about 2,000 cubits [1] in length. Do not come near it, in order that you may know the way you shall go, for you have not passed this way before.” <sup>5</sup>Then Joshua said to the people, “Consecrate yourselves, for tomorrow the LORD will do wonders among you.” <sup>6</sup>And Joshua said to the priests, “Take up the ark of the covenant and pass on before the people.” So they took up the ark of the covenant and went before the people.

<sup>7</sup>The LORD said to Joshua, “Today I will begin to exalt you in the sight of all Israel, that they may know that, as I was with Moses, so I will be with you. <sup>8</sup>†And as for you, command the priests who bear the ark of the covenant, ‘When you come to the brink of the waters of the Jordan, you shall stand still in the Jordan.’” <sup>9</sup>And Joshua said to the people of Israel, “Come here and listen to the words of the LORD your God.” <sup>10</sup>†And Joshua said, “Here is how you shall know that the living God is among you and that he will without fail drive out from before you the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Hivites, the Perizzites, the Gergashites, the Amorites, and the Jebusites. <sup>11</sup>Behold, the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth [2] is passing over before you into the Jordan. <sup>12</sup>Now therefore take twelve men from the tribes of Israel, from each tribe a man. <sup>13</sup>And when the soles of the feet of the priests bearing the ark of the LORD, the Lord of all the earth, shall rest in the waters of the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan shall be cut off from flowing, and the waters coming down from above shall stand in one heap.”

<sup>14</sup>So when the people set out from their tents to pass over the Jordan with the priests bearing the ark of the covenant before the people, <sup>15</sup>and as soon as those bearing the ark had come as far as the Jordan, and the feet of the priests bearing the ark were dipped in the brink of the water (now the Jordan overflows all its banks throughout the time of harvest), <sup>16</sup>†the waters coming down from above stood and rose up in a heap very far away, at Adam, the city that is beside Zarethan, and those flowing down toward the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, were completely cut off. And the people passed over opposite Jericho. <sup>17</sup>Now the priests bearing the ark of the covenant of the LORD stood firmly on dry ground in the midst of the Jordan, and all Israel was passing over on dry ground until all the nation finished passing over the Jordan.

Twelve Memorial Stones from the Jordan

JOSHUA 4 †When all the nation had finished passing over the Jordan, the LORD said to Joshua, <sup>2</sup>“Take twelve men from the people, from each tribe a man, <sup>3</sup>and command them, saying, ‘Take twelve stones from here out of the midst of the Jordan, from the very place where the priests' feet stood firmly, and bring them over with you and lay them down in the place where you lodge tonight.’” <sup>4</sup>Then Joshua called the twelve men from the people of Israel, whom he had appointed, a man from each tribe. <sup>5</sup>And Joshua said to them, “Pass on before the ark of the LORD your God into the midst of the Jordan, and take up each of you a stone upon his shoulder, according to the number of the tribes of the people of Israel, <sup>6</sup>that this may be a sign among you. When your children ask in time to come, ‘What do those stones mean to you?’ <sup>7</sup>then you shall tell them that the waters of the Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the LORD. When it passed over the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan were cut off. So these stones shall be to the people of Israel a memorial forever.”

<sup>8</sup>And the people of Israel did just as Joshua commanded and took up twelve stones out of the midst of the Jordan, according to the number of the tribes of the people of Israel, just as the LORD told Joshua. And they carried them over with them to the place where they lodged and laid them down [\[1\]](#) there. <sup>9</sup>And Joshua set up twelve stones in the midst of the Jordan, in the place where the feet of the priests bearing the ark of the covenant had stood; and they are there to this day. <sup>10</sup>For the priests bearing the ark stood in the midst of the Jordan until everything was finished that the LORD commanded Joshua to tell the people, according to all that Moses had commanded Joshua.

The people passed over in haste. <sup>11</sup>And when all the people had finished passing over, the ark of the LORD and the priests passed over before the people. <sup>12</sup>The sons of Reuben and the sons of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh passed over armed before the people of Israel, as Moses had told them. <sup>13</sup>About 40,000 ready for war passed over before the LORD for battle, to the plains of Jericho. <sup>14</sup>On that day the LORD exalted Joshua in the sight of all Israel, and they stood in awe of him just as they had stood in awe of Moses, all the days of his life.

<sup>15</sup>And the LORD said to Joshua, <sup>16</sup>“Command the priests bearing the ark of the testimony to come up out of the Jordan.” <sup>17</sup>So Joshua commanded the priests, “Come up out of the Jordan.” <sup>18</sup>And when the priests bearing the ark of the covenant of the LORD came up from the midst of the Jordan, and the soles of the priests' feet were lifted up on dry ground, the waters of the Jordan returned to their place and overflowed all its banks, as before.

<sup>19</sup>†The people came up out of the Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, and they encamped at Gilgal on the east border of Jericho. <sup>20</sup>And those twelve stones, which they took out of the Jordan, Joshua set up at Gilgal. <sup>21</sup>And he said to the people of Israel, “When your children ask their fathers in times to come, ‘What do these stones mean?’ <sup>22</sup>then you shall let your children know, ‘Israel passed over this Jordan on dry ground.’ <sup>23</sup>For the LORD your God dried up the waters of the Jordan for you until you passed over, as the LORD your God did to the Red Sea, which he dried up for us until we passed over, <sup>24</sup>so that all the peoples of the earth may know that the hand of the LORD is mighty, that you may fear the LORD your God forever.” [2]

The New Generation Circumcised

JOSHUA 5 †As soon as all the kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan to the west, and all the kings of the Canaanites who were by the sea, heard that the LORD had dried up the waters of the Jordan for the people of Israel until they had crossed over, their hearts melted and there was no longer any spirit in them because of the people of Israel.

<sup>2</sup>†At that time the LORD said to Joshua, “Make flint knives and circumcise the sons of Israel a second time.” <sup>3</sup>So Joshua made flint knives and circumcised the sons of Israel at Gibeath-haaraloth. [\[1\]](#) <sup>4</sup>And this is the reason why Joshua circumcised them: all the males of the people who came out of Egypt, all the men of war, had died in the wilderness on the way after they had come out of Egypt. <sup>5</sup>Though all the people who came out had been circumcised, yet all the people who were born on the way in the wilderness after they had come out of Egypt had not been circumcised. <sup>6</sup>For the people of Israel walked forty years in the wilderness, until all the nation, the men of war who came out of Egypt, perished, because they did not obey the voice of the LORD; the LORD swore to them that he would not let them see the land that the LORD had sworn to their fathers to give to us, a land flowing with milk and honey. <sup>7</sup>So it was their children, whom he raised up in their place, that Joshua circumcised. For they were uncircumcised, because they had not been circumcised on the way.

<sup>8</sup>†When the circumcising of the whole nation was finished, they remained in their places in the camp until they were healed. <sup>9</sup>†And the LORD said to Joshua, “Today I have rolled away the reproach of Egypt from you.” And so the name of that place is called Gilgal [\[2\]](#) to this day.

First Passover in Canaan

<sup>10</sup>†While the people of Israel were encamped at Gilgal, they kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the month in the evening on the plains of Jericho. <sup>11</sup>And the day after the Passover, on that very day, they ate of the produce of the land, unleavened cakes and parched grain. <sup>12</sup>†And the manna ceased the day after they ate of the produce of the land. And there was no longer manna for the people of Israel, but they ate of the fruit of the land of Canaan that year.

The Commander of the LORD's Army

<sup>13</sup>⚔ When Joshua was by Jericho, he lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold, a man was standing before him with his drawn sword in his hand. And Joshua went to him and said to him, “Are you for us, or for our adversaries?” <sup>14</sup>And he said, “No; but I am the commander of the army of the LORD. Now I have come.” And Joshua fell on his face to the earth and worshiped and said to him, “What does my lord say to his servant?” <sup>15</sup>And the commander of the LORD's army said to Joshua, “Take off your sandals from your feet, for the place where you are standing is holy.” And Joshua did so.

The Fall of Jericho

JOSHUA 6 †Now Jericho was shut up inside and outside because of the people of Israel. None went out, and none came in. <sup>2</sup>And the LORD said to Joshua, “See, I have given Jericho into your hand, with its king and mighty men of valor. <sup>3</sup>‡You shall march around the city, all the men of war going around the city once. Thus shall you do for six days. <sup>4</sup>Seven priests shall bear seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark. On the seventh day you shall march around the city seven times, and the priests shall blow the trumpets. <sup>5</sup>‡And when they make a long blast with the ram's horn, when you hear the sound of the trumpet, then all the people shall shout with a great shout, and the wall of the city will fall down flat, [1] and the people shall go up, everyone straight before him.” <sup>6</sup>So Joshua the son of Nun called the priests and said to them, “Take up the ark of the covenant and let seven priests bear seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the LORD.” <sup>7</sup>And he said to the people, “Go forward. March around the city and let the armed men pass on before the ark of the LORD.”

<sup>8</sup>And just as Joshua had commanded the people, the seven priests bearing the seven trumpets of rams' horns before the LORD went forward, blowing the trumpets, with the ark of the covenant of the LORD following them. <sup>9</sup>The armed men were walking before the priests who were blowing the trumpets, and the rear guard was walking after the ark, while the trumpets blew continually. <sup>10</sup>But Joshua commanded the people, “You shall not shout or make your voice heard, neither shall any word go out of your mouth, until the day I tell you to shout. Then you shall shout.” <sup>11</sup>So he caused the ark of the LORD to circle the city, going about it once. And they came into the camp and spent the night in the camp.

<sup>12</sup>Then Joshua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the ark of the LORD. <sup>13</sup>And the seven priests bearing the seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the LORD walked on, and they blew the trumpets continually. And the armed men were walking before them, and the rear guard was walking after the ark of the LORD, while the trumpets blew continually. <sup>14</sup>And the second day they marched around the city once, and returned into the camp. So they did for six days.

<sup>15</sup>On the seventh day they rose early, at the dawn of day, and marched around the city in the same manner seven times. It was only on that day that they marched around the city seven times. <sup>16</sup>† And at the seventh time, when the priests had blown the trumpets, Joshua said to the people, “Shout, for the LORD has given you the city. <sup>17</sup>† And the city and all that is within it shall be devoted to the LORD for destruction. [2] Only Rahab the prostitute and all who are with her in her house shall live, because she hid the messengers whom we sent. <sup>18</sup> But you, keep yourselves from the things devoted to destruction, lest when you have devoted them you take any of the devoted things and make the camp of Israel a thing for destruction and bring trouble upon it. <sup>19</sup> But all silver and gold, and every vessel of bronze and iron, are holy to the LORD; they shall go into the treasury of the LORD.” <sup>20</sup> So the people shouted, and the trumpets were blown. As soon as the people heard the sound of the trumpet, the people shouted a great shout, and the wall fell down flat, so that the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and they captured the city. <sup>21</sup> Then they devoted all in the city to destruction, both men and women, young and old, oxen, sheep, and donkeys, with the edge of the sword.

<sup>22</sup>† But to the two men who had spied out the land, Joshua said, “Go into the prostitute's house and bring out from there the woman and all who belong to her, as you swore to her.” <sup>23</sup> So the young men who had been spies went in and brought out Rahab and her father and mother and brothers and all who belonged to her. And they brought all her relatives and put them outside the camp of Israel. <sup>24</sup> And they burned the city with fire, and everything in it. Only the silver and gold, and the vessels of bronze and of iron, they put into the treasury of the house of the LORD. <sup>25</sup> But Rahab the prostitute and her father's household and all who belonged to her, Joshua saved alive. And she has lived in Israel to this day, because she hid the messengers whom Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.

<sup>26</sup>† Joshua laid an oath on them at that time, saying, “Cursed before the LORD be the man who rises up and rebuilds this city, Jericho.

“At the cost of his firstborn shall he lay its foundation, and at the cost of his youngest son shall he set up its gates.”

<sup>27</sup>† So the LORD was with Joshua, and his fame was in all the land.

Israel Defeated at Ai

JOSHUA 7 ‡But the people of Israel broke faith in regard to the devoted things, for Achan the son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took some of the devoted things. And the anger of the LORD burned against the people of Israel.

<sup>2</sup>‡Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai, which is near Beth-aven, east of Bethel, and said to them, “Go up and spy out the land.” And the men went up and spied out Ai. <sup>3</sup>‡And they returned to Joshua and said to him, “Do not have all the people go up, but let about two or three thousand men go up and attack Ai. Do not make the whole people toil up there, for they are few.” <sup>4</sup>So about 3,000 men went up there from the people. And they fled before the men of Ai, <sup>5</sup>and the men of Ai killed about thirty-six of their men and chased them before the gate as far as Shebarim and struck them at the descent. And the hearts of the people melted and became as water.

<sup>6</sup>Then Joshua tore his clothes and fell to the earth on his face before the ark of the LORD until the evening, he and the elders of Israel. And they put dust on their heads. <sup>7</sup>And Joshua said, “Alas, O Lord GOD, why have you brought this people over the Jordan at all, to give us into the hands of the Amorites, to destroy us? Would that we had been content to dwell beyond the Jordan! <sup>8</sup>O Lord, what can I say, when Israel has turned their backs before their enemies! <sup>9</sup>‡For the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land will hear of it and will surround us and cut off our name from the earth. And what will you do for your great name?”

The Sin of Achan

<sup>10</sup>The LORD said to Joshua, “Get up! Why have you fallen on your face? <sup>11</sup>Israel has sinned; they have transgressed my covenant that I commanded them; they have taken some of the devoted things; they have stolen and lied and put them among their own belongings. <sup>12</sup>Therefore the people of Israel cannot stand before their enemies. They turn their backs before their enemies, because they have become devoted for destruction. [1] I will be with you no more, unless you destroy the devoted things from among you. <sup>13</sup>Get up! Consecrate the people and say, ‘Consecrate yourselves for tomorrow; for thus says the LORD, God of Israel, “There are devoted things in your midst, O Israel. You cannot stand before your enemies until you take away the devoted things from among you.” <sup>14</sup>In the morning therefore you shall be brought near by your tribes. And the tribe that the LORD takes by lot shall come near by clans. And the clan that the LORD takes shall come near by households. And the household that the LORD takes shall come near man by man. <sup>15</sup>‡And he who is taken with the devoted things shall be burned with fire, he and all that he has, because he has transgressed the covenant of the LORD, and because he has done an outrageous thing in Israel.’”

<sup>16</sup>So Joshua rose early in the morning and brought Israel near tribe by tribe, and the tribe of Judah was taken. <sup>17</sup>And he brought near the clans of Judah, and the clan of the Zerahites was taken. And he brought near the clan of the Zerahites man by man, and Zabdi was taken. <sup>18</sup>And he brought near his household man by man, and Achan the son of Carmi, son of Zabdi, son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, was taken. <sup>19</sup>Then Joshua said to Achan, “My son, give glory to the LORD God of Israel and give praise [2] to him. And tell me now what you have done; do not hide it from me.” <sup>20</sup>And Achan answered Joshua, “Truly I have sinned against the LORD God of Israel, and this is what I did: <sup>21</sup>‡when I saw among the spoil a beautiful cloak from Shinar, and 200 shekels of silver, and a bar of gold weighing 50 shekels, [3] then I coveted them and took them. And see, they are hidden in the earth inside my tent, with the silver underneath.”

<sup>22</sup>So Joshua sent messengers, and they ran to the tent; and behold, it was hidden in his tent with the silver underneath. <sup>23</sup>And they took them out of the tent and brought them to Joshua and to all the people of Israel. And they laid them down before the LORD. <sup>24</sup>‡And Joshua and all Israel with him took Achan the son of Zerah, and the silver and the cloak and the bar of gold, and his sons and daughters and his oxen and donkeys and sheep and his tent and all that he had. And they brought them up to the Valley of Achor. <sup>25</sup>And Joshua said, “Why did you bring trouble on us? The LORD brings trouble on you today.” And all Israel stoned him with stones. They burned them with fire and stoned them with stones. <sup>26</sup>And they raised over him a great heap of stones that remains to this day. Then the LORD turned from his burning anger. Therefore, to this day the name of that place is called the Valley of Achor. [4]

The Fall of Ai

JOSHUA 8 And the LORD said to Joshua, “Do not fear and do not be dismayed. Take all the fighting men with you, and arise, go up to Ai. See, I have given into your hand the king of Ai, and his people, his city, and his land. <sup>2</sup>And you shall do to Ai and its king as you did to Jericho and its king. Only its spoil and its livestock you shall take as plunder for yourselves. Lay an ambush against the city, behind it.”

<sup>3</sup>† So Joshua and all the fighting men arose to go up to Ai. And Joshua chose 30,000 mighty men of valor and sent them out by night. <sup>4</sup>And he commanded them, “Behold, you shall lie in ambush against the city, behind it. Do not go very far from the city, but all of you remain ready. <sup>5</sup>And I and all the people who are with me will approach the city. And when they come out against us just as before, we shall flee before them. <sup>6</sup>And they will come out after us, until we have drawn them away from the city. For they will say, ‘They are fleeing from us, just as before.’ So we will flee before them. <sup>7</sup>† Then you shall rise up from the ambush and seize the city, for the LORD your God will give it into your hand. <sup>8</sup>And as soon as you have taken the city, you shall set the city on fire. You shall do according to the word of the LORD. See, I have commanded you.” <sup>9</sup>So Joshua sent them out. And they went to the place of ambush and lay between Bethel and Ai, to the west of Ai, but Joshua spent that night among the people.

<sup>10</sup>Joshua arose early in the morning and mustered the people and went up, he and the elders of Israel, before the people to Ai. <sup>11</sup>And all the fighting men who were with him went up and drew near before the city and encamped on the north side of Ai, with a ravine between them and Ai. <sup>12</sup>He took about 5,000 men and set them in ambush between Bethel and Ai, to the west of the city. <sup>13</sup>So they stationed the forces, the main encampment that was north of the city and its rear guard west of the city. But Joshua spent that night in the valley. <sup>14</sup>And as soon as the king of Ai saw this, he and all his people, the men of the city, hurried and went out early to the appointed place [\[1\]](#) toward the Arabah to meet Israel in battle. But he did not know that there was an ambush against him behind the city. <sup>15</sup>And Joshua and all Israel pretended to be beaten before them and fled in the direction of the wilderness. <sup>16</sup>So all the people who were in the city were called together to pursue them, and as they pursued Joshua they were drawn away from the city. <sup>17</sup>Not a man was left in Ai or Bethel who did not go out after Israel. They left the city open and pursued Israel.

<sup>18</sup>† Then the LORD said to Joshua, “Stretch out the javelin that is in your hand toward Ai, for I will give it into your hand.” And Joshua stretched out the javelin that was in his hand toward the city. <sup>19</sup>And the men in the ambush rose quickly out of their place, and as soon as he had stretched out his hand, they ran and entered the city and captured it. And they hurried to set the city on fire. <sup>20</sup>So when the men of Ai looked back, behold, the smoke of the city went up to heaven, and they had no power to flee this way or that, for the people who fled to the wilderness turned back against the pursuers. <sup>21</sup>And when Joshua and all Israel saw that the ambush had captured the city, and that the smoke of the city went up, then they turned back and struck down the men of Ai. <sup>22</sup>And the others came out from the city against them, so they were in the midst of Israel, some on this side, and some on that side. And Israel struck them down, until there was left none that survived or escaped. <sup>23</sup>But the king of Ai they took alive, and brought him near to Joshua.

<sup>24</sup>When Israel had finished killing all the inhabitants of Ai in the open wilderness where they pursued them, and all of them to the very last had fallen by the edge of the sword, all Israel returned to Ai and struck it down with the edge of the sword. <sup>25</sup>And all who fell that day, both men and women, were 12,000, all the people of Ai. <sup>26</sup>But Joshua did not draw back his hand with which he stretched out the javelin until he had devoted all the inhabitants of Ai to destruction. [2] <sup>27</sup>Only the livestock and the spoil of that city Israel took as their plunder, according to the word of the LORD that he commanded Joshua. <sup>28</sup>So Joshua burned Ai and made it forever a heap of ruins, as it is to this day. <sup>29</sup>† And he hanged the king of Ai on a tree until evening. And at sunset Joshua commanded, and they took his body down from the tree and threw it at the entrance of the gate of the city and raised over it a great heap of stones, which stands there to this day.

Joshua Renews the Covenant

<sup>30</sup>‡‡ At that time Joshua built an altar to the LORD, the God of Israel, on Mount Ebal, <sup>31</sup>just as Moses the servant of the LORD had commanded the people of Israel, as it is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, “an altar of uncut stones, upon which no man has wielded an iron tool.” And they offered on it burnt offerings to the LORD and sacrificed peace offerings. <sup>32</sup>And there, in the presence of the people of Israel, he wrote on the stones a copy of the law of Moses, which he had written. <sup>33</sup>And all Israel, sojourner as well as native born, with their elders and officers and their judges, stood on opposite sides of the ark before the Levitical priests who carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD, half of them in front of Mount Gerizim and half of them in front of Mount Ebal, just as Moses the servant of the LORD had commanded at the first, to bless the people of Israel. <sup>34</sup>And afterward he read all the words of the law, the blessing and the curse, according to all that is written in the Book of the Law. <sup>35</sup>There was not a word of all that Moses commanded that Joshua did not read before all the assembly of Israel, and the women, and the little ones, and the sojourners who lived [3] among them.

The Gibeonite Deception

JOSHUA 9 As soon as all the kings who were beyond the Jordan in the hill country and in the lowland all along the coast of the Great Sea toward Lebanon, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, heard of this, <sup>2</sup>they gathered together as one to fight against Joshua and Israel.

<sup>3</sup>But when the inhabitants of Gibeon heard what Joshua had done to Jericho and to Ai, <sup>4</sup>they on their part acted with cunning and went and made ready provisions and took worn-out sacks for their donkeys, and wineskins, worn-out and torn and mended, <sup>5</sup>with worn-out, patched sandals on their feet, and worn-out clothes. And all their provisions were dry and crumbly. <sup>6</sup>And they went to Joshua in the camp at Gilgal and said to him and to the men of Israel, “We have come from a distant country, so now make a covenant with us.” <sup>7</sup>But the men of Israel said to the Hivites, “Perhaps you live among us; then how can we make a covenant with you?” <sup>8</sup>They said to Joshua, “We are your servants.” And Joshua said to them, “Who are you? And where do you come from?” <sup>9</sup>They said to him, “From a very distant country your servants have come, because of the name of the LORD your God. For we have heard a report of him, and all that he did in Egypt, <sup>10</sup>and all that he did to the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, to Sihon the king of Heshbon, and to Og king of Bashan, who lived in Ashtaroth. <sup>11</sup>So our elders and all the inhabitants of our country said to us, ‘Take provisions in your hand for the journey and go to meet them and say to them, “We are your servants. Come now, make a covenant with us.”’ <sup>12</sup>Here is our bread. It was still warm when we took it from our houses as our food for the journey on the day we set out to come to you, but now, behold, it is dry and crumbly. <sup>13</sup>These wineskins were new when we filled them, and behold, they have burst. And these garments and sandals of ours are worn out from the very long journey.” <sup>14</sup>So the men took some of their provisions, but did not ask counsel from the LORD. <sup>15</sup>And Joshua made peace with them and made a covenant with them, to let them live, and the leaders of the congregation swore to them.

<sup>16</sup>At the end of three days after they had made a covenant with them, they heard that they were their neighbors and that they lived among them. <sup>17</sup>And the people of Israel set out and reached their cities on the third day. Now their cities were Gibeon, Chephirah, Beeroth, and Kiriath-jearim. <sup>18</sup>But the people of Israel did not attack them, because the leaders of the congregation had sworn to them by the LORD, the God of Israel. Then all the congregation murmured against the leaders. <sup>19</sup>But all the leaders said to all the congregation, “We have sworn to them by the LORD, the God of Israel, and now we may not touch them. <sup>20</sup>This we will do to them: let them live, lest wrath be upon us, because of the oath that we swore to them.” <sup>21</sup>‡And the leaders said to them, “Let them live.” So they became cutters of wood and drawers of water for all the congregation, just as the leaders had said of them.

<sup>22</sup>Joshua summoned them, and he said to them, “Why did you deceive us, saying, ‘We are very far from you,’ when you dwell among us? <sup>23</sup>Now therefore you are cursed, and some of you shall never be anything but servants, cutters of wood and drawers of water for the house of my God.” <sup>24</sup>They answered Joshua, “Because it was told to your servants for a certainty that the LORD your God had commanded his servant Moses to give you all the land and to destroy all the inhabitants of the land from before you—so we feared greatly for our lives because of you and did this thing. <sup>25</sup>And now, behold, we are in your hand. Whatever seems good and right in your sight to do to us, do it.” <sup>26</sup>So he did this to them and delivered them out of the hand of the people of Israel, and they did not kill them. <sup>27</sup>But Joshua made them that day cutters of wood and drawers of water for the congregation and for the altar of the LORD, to this day, in the place that he should choose.

The Sun Stands Still

JOSHUA 10 ‡As soon as Adoni-zedek, king of Jerusalem, heard how Joshua had captured Ai and had devoted it to destruction, [1] doing to Ai and its king as he had done to Jericho and its king, and how the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Israel and were among them, <sup>2</sup>he [2] feared greatly, because Gibeon was a great city, like one of the royal cities, and because it was greater than Ai, and all its men were warriors. <sup>3</sup>So Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem sent to Hoham king of Hebron, to Piram king of Jarmuth, to Japhia king of Lachish, and to Debir king of Eglon, saying, <sup>4</sup>“Come up to me and help me, and let us strike Gibeon. For it has made peace with Joshua and with the people of Israel.” <sup>5</sup>Then the five kings of the Amorites, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon, gathered their forces and went up with all their armies and encamped against Gibeon and made war against it.

<sup>6</sup>And the men of Gibeon sent to Joshua at the camp in Gilgal, saying, “Do not relax your hand from your servants. Come up to us quickly and save us and help us, for all the kings of the Amorites who dwell in the hill country are gathered against us.” <sup>7</sup>So Joshua went up from Gilgal, he and all the people of war with him, and all the mighty men of valor. <sup>8</sup>And the LORD said to Joshua, “Do not fear them, for I have given them into your hands. Not a man of them shall stand before you.” <sup>9</sup>So Joshua came upon them suddenly, having marched up all night from Gilgal. <sup>10</sup>And the LORD threw them into a panic before Israel, who [3] struck them with a great blow at Gibeon and chased them by the way of the ascent of Beth-horon and struck them as far as Azekah and Makkedah. <sup>11</sup>‡And as they fled before Israel, while they were going down the ascent of Beth-horon, the LORD threw down large stones from heaven on them as far as Azekah, and they died. There were more who died because of the hailstones than the sons of Israel killed with the sword.

<sup>12</sup>‡At that time Joshua spoke to the LORD in the day when the LORD gave the Amorites over to the sons of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel, “Sun, stand still at Gibeon, and moon, in the Valley of Aijalon.”

<sup>13</sup>‡And the sun stood still, and the moon stopped, until the nation took vengeance on their enemies.

Is this not written in the Book of Jashar? The sun stopped in the midst of heaven and did not hurry to set for about a whole day. <sup>14</sup>There has been no day like it before or since, when the LORD heeded the voice of a man, for the LORD fought for Israel.

<sup>15</sup>So Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to the camp at Gilgal.

Five Amorite Kings Executed

<sup>16</sup>These five kings fled and hid themselves in the cave at Makkedah. <sup>17</sup>And it was told to Joshua, “The five kings have been found, hidden in the cave at Makkedah.” <sup>18</sup>And Joshua said, “Roll large stones against the mouth of the cave and set men by it to guard them, <sup>19</sup>but do not stay there yourselves. Pursue your enemies; attack their rear guard. Do not let them enter their cities, for the LORD your God has given them into your hand.” <sup>20</sup>When Joshua and the sons of Israel had finished striking them with a great blow until they were wiped out, and when the remnant that remained of them had entered into the fortified cities, <sup>21</sup>then all the people returned safe to Joshua in the camp at Makkedah. Not a man moved his tongue against any of the people of Israel.

<sup>22</sup>Then Joshua said, “Open the mouth of the cave and bring those five kings out to me from the cave.” <sup>23</sup>And they did so, and brought those five kings out to him from the cave, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon. <sup>24</sup>†And when they brought those kings out to Joshua, Joshua summoned all the men of Israel and said to the chiefs of the men of war who had gone with him, “Come near; put your feet on the necks of these kings.” Then they came near and put their feet on their necks. <sup>25</sup>And Joshua said to them, “Do not be afraid or dismayed; be strong and courageous. For thus the LORD will do to all your enemies against whom you fight.” <sup>26</sup>And afterward Joshua struck them and put them to death, and he hanged them on five trees. And they hung on the trees until evening. <sup>27</sup>But at the time of the going down of the sun, Joshua commanded, and they took them down from the trees and threw them into the cave where they had hidden themselves, and they set large stones against the mouth of the cave, which remain to this very day.

<sup>28</sup>As for Makkedah, Joshua captured it on that day and struck it, and its king, with the edge of the sword. He devoted to destruction every person in it; he left none remaining. And he did to the king of Makkedah just as he had done to the king of Jericho.

Conquest of Southern Canaan

<sup>29</sup>Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Makkedah to Libnah and fought against Libnah. <sup>30</sup>And the LORD gave it also and its king into the hand of Israel. And he struck it with the edge of the sword, and every person in it; he left none remaining in it. And he did to its king as he had done to the king of Jericho.

<sup>31</sup>Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Libnah to Lachish and laid siege to it and fought against it. <sup>32</sup>And the LORD gave Lachish into the hand of Israel, and he captured it on the second day and struck it with the edge of the sword, and every person in it, as he had done to Libnah.

<sup>33</sup>Then Horam king of Gezer came up to help Lachish. And Joshua struck him and his people, until he left none remaining.

<sup>34</sup>Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Lachish to Eglon. And they laid siege to it and fought against it. <sup>35</sup>And they captured it on that day, and struck it with the edge of the sword. And he devoted every person in it to destruction that day, as he had done to Lachish.

<sup>36</sup>Then Joshua and all Israel with him went up from Eglon to Hebron. And they fought against it <sup>37</sup>and captured it and struck it with the edge of the sword, and its king and its towns, and every person in it. He left none remaining, as he had done to Eglon, and devoted it to destruction and every person in it.

<sup>38</sup>Then Joshua and all Israel with him turned back to Debir and fought against it <sup>39</sup>and he captured it with its king and all its towns. And they struck them with the edge of the sword and devoted to destruction every person in it; he left none remaining. Just as he had done to Hebron and to Libnah and its king, so he did to Debir and to its king.

<sup>40</sup>† So Joshua struck the whole land, the hill country and the Negeb and the lowland and the slopes, and all their kings. He left none remaining, but devoted to destruction all that breathed, just as the LORD God of Israel commanded.

<sup>41</sup>And Joshua struck them from Kadesh-barnea as far as Gaza, and all the country of Goshen, as far as Gibeon. <sup>42</sup>† And Joshua captured all these kings and their land at one time, because the LORD God of Israel fought for Israel. <sup>43</sup>Then Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to the camp at Gilgal.

Conquests in Northern Canaan

JOSHUA 11 †When Jabin, king of Hazor, heard of this, he sent to Jobab king of Madon, and to the king of Shimron, and to the king of Achshaph, <sup>2</sup>†and to the kings who were in the northern hill country, and in the Arabah south of Chinneroth, and in the lowland, and in Naphoth-dor on the west, <sup>3</sup>to the Canaanites in the east and the west, the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, and the Jebusites in the hill country, and the Hivites under Hermon in the land of Mizpah. <sup>4</sup>And they came out with all their troops, a great horde, in number like the sand that is on the seashore, with very many horses and chariots. <sup>5</sup>†And all these kings joined their forces and came and encamped together at the waters of Merom to fight against Israel.

<sup>6</sup>†And the LORD said to Joshua, “Do not be afraid of them, for tomorrow at this time I will give over all of them, slain, to Israel. You shall hamstring their horses and burn their chariots with fire.” <sup>7</sup>So Joshua and all his warriors came suddenly against them by the waters of Merom and fell upon them. <sup>8</sup>†And the LORD gave them into the hand of Israel, who struck them and chased them as far as Great Sidon and Misrephoth-maim, and eastward as far as the Valley of Mizpeh. And they struck them until he left none remaining. <sup>9</sup>And Joshua did to them just as the LORD said to him: he hamstrung their horses and burned their chariots with fire.

<sup>10</sup>And Joshua turned back at that time and captured Hazor and struck its king with the sword, for Hazor formerly was the head of all those kingdoms. <sup>11</sup>And they struck with the sword all who were in it, devoting them to destruction; [1] there was none left that breathed. And he burned Hazor with fire. <sup>12</sup>†And all the cities of those kings, and all their kings, Joshua captured, and struck them with the edge of the sword, devoting them to destruction, just as Moses the servant of the LORD had commanded. <sup>13</sup>But none of the cities that stood on mounds did Israel burn, except Hazor alone; that Joshua burned. <sup>14</sup>And all the spoil of these cities and the livestock, the people of Israel took for their plunder. But every man they struck with the edge of the sword until they had destroyed them, and they did not leave any who breathed. <sup>15</sup>Just as the LORD had commanded Moses his servant, so Moses commanded Joshua, and so Joshua did. He left nothing undone of all that the LORD had commanded Moses.

<sup>16</sup>†So Joshua took all that land, the hill country and all the Negeb and all the land of Goshen and the lowland and the Arabah and the hill country of Israel and its lowland <sup>17</sup>from Mount Halak, which rises toward Seir, as far as Baal-gad in the Valley of Lebanon below Mount Hermon. And he captured all their kings and struck them and put them to death. <sup>18</sup>†Joshua made war a long time with all those kings. <sup>19</sup>There was not a city that made peace with the people of Israel except the Hivites, the inhabitants of Gibeon. They took them all in battle. <sup>20</sup>†For it was the LORD's doing to harden their hearts that they should come against Israel in battle, in order that they should be devoted to destruction and should receive no mercy but be destroyed, just as the LORD commanded Moses.

<sup>21</sup>†And Joshua came at that time and cut off the Anakim from the hill country, from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, and from all the hill country of Judah, and from all the hill country of Israel. Joshua devoted them to destruction with their cities. <sup>22</sup>†There was none of the Anakim left in the land of the people of Israel. Only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod did some remain. <sup>23</sup>†So Joshua took the whole land, according to all that the LORD had spoken to Moses. And Joshua gave it for an inheritance to Israel according to their tribal allotments. And the land had rest from war.

Kings Defeated by Moses

JOSHUA 12 † Now these are the kings of the land whom the people of Israel defeated and took possession of their land beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise, from the Valley of the Arnon to Mount Hermon, with all the Arabah eastward: <sup>2</sup>Sihon king of the Amorites who lived at Heshbon and ruled from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and from the middle of the valley as far as the river Jabbok, the boundary of the Ammonites, that is, half of Gilead, <sup>3</sup>and the Arabah to the Sea of Chinneroth eastward, and in the direction of Beth-jeshimoth, to the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, southward to the foot of the slopes of Pisgah; <sup>4</sup>and Og [1] king of Bashan, one of the remnant of the Rephaim, who lived at Ashtaroth and at Edrei <sup>5</sup>and ruled over Mount Hermon and Salecah and all Bashan to the boundary of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and over half of Gilead to the boundary of Sihon king of Heshbon. <sup>6</sup>Moses, the servant of the LORD, and the people of Israel defeated them. And Moses the servant of the LORD gave their land for a possession to the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

Kings Defeated by Joshua

<sup>7</sup>And these are the kings of the land whom Joshua and the people of Israel defeated on the west side of the Jordan, from Baal-gad in the Valley of Lebanon to Mount Halak, that rises toward Seir (and Joshua gave their land to the tribes of Israel as a possession according to their allotments, <sup>8</sup>in the hill country, in the lowland, in the Arabah, in the slopes, in the wilderness, and in the Negeb, the land of the Hittites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites): <sup>9</sup>the king of Jericho, one; the king of Ai, which is beside Bethel, one; <sup>10</sup>the king of Jerusalem, one; the king of Hebron, one; <sup>11</sup>the king of Jarmuth, one; the king of Lachish, one; <sup>12</sup>the king of Eglon, one; the king of Gezer, one; <sup>13</sup>the king of Debir, one; the king of Geder, one; <sup>14</sup>the king of Hormah, one; the king of Arad, one; <sup>15</sup>the king of Libnah, one; the king of Adullam, one; <sup>16</sup>the king of Makkedah, one; the king of Bethel, one; <sup>17</sup>the king of Tappuah, one; the king of Hopher, one; <sup>18</sup>the king of Aphek, one; the king of Lasharon, one; <sup>19</sup>the king of Madon, one; the king of Hazor, one; <sup>20</sup>the king of Shimron-meron, one; the king of Achshaph, one; <sup>21</sup>the king of Taanach, one; the king of Megiddo, one; <sup>22</sup>the king of Kedesh, one; the king of Jokneam in Carmel, one; <sup>23</sup>the king of Dor in Naphath-dor, one; the king of Goiim in Galilee, [2] one; <sup>24</sup>† the king of Tirzah, one: in all, thirty-one kings.

Land Still to Be Conquered

JOSHUA 13 †† Now Joshua was old and advanced in years, and the LORD said to him, “You are old and advanced in years, and there remains yet very much land to possess. <sup>2</sup>This is the land that yet remains: all the regions of the Philistines, and all those of the Geshurites <sup>3</sup>† (from the Shihor, which is east of Egypt, northward to the boundary of Ekron, it is counted as Canaanite; there are five rulers of the Philistines, those of Gaza, Ashdod, Ashkelon, Gath, and Ekron), and those of the Avvim, <sup>4</sup>in the south, all the land of the Canaanites, and Mearah that belongs to the Sidonians, to Aphek, to the boundary of the Amorites, <sup>5</sup>and the land of the Gebalites, and all Lebanon, toward the sunrise, from Baal-gad below Mount Hermon to Lebo-hamath, <sup>6</sup>all the inhabitants of the hill country from Lebanon to Misrephoth-maim, even all the Sidonians. I myself will drive them out from before the people of Israel. Only allot the land to Israel for an inheritance, as I have commanded you. <sup>7</sup>† Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance to the nine tribes and half the tribe of Manasseh.”

The Inheritance East of the Jordan

<sup>8</sup>With the other half of the tribe of Manasseh [\[1\]](#) the Reubenites and the Gadites received their inheritance, which Moses gave them, beyond the Jordan eastward, as Moses the servant of the LORD gave them: <sup>9</sup>from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and the city that is in the middle of the valley, and all the tableland of Medeba as far as Dibon; <sup>10</sup>and all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, as far as the boundary of the Ammonites; <sup>11</sup>and Gilead, and the region of the Geshurites and Maacathites, and all Mount Hermon, and all Bashan to Salecah; <sup>12</sup>all the kingdom of Og in Bashan, who reigned in Ashtaroth and in Edrei (he alone was left of the remnant of the Rephaim); these Moses had struck and driven out. <sup>13</sup>Yet the people of Israel did not drive out the Geshurites or the Maacathites, but Geshur and Maacath dwell in the midst of Israel to this day.

<sup>14</sup>To the tribe of Levi alone Moses gave no inheritance. The offerings by fire to the LORD God of Israel are their inheritance, as he said to him.

<sup>15</sup>And Moses gave an inheritance to the tribe of the people of Reuben according to their clans. <sup>16</sup>So their territory was from Aroer, which is on the edge of the Valley of the Arnon, and the city that is in the middle of the valley, and all the tableland by Medeba; <sup>17</sup>with Heshbon, and all its cities that are in the tableland; Dibon, and Bamoth-baal, and Beth-baal-meon, <sup>18</sup>and Jahaz, and Kedemoth, and Mephaath, <sup>19</sup>and Kiriathaim, and Sibmah, and Zereth-shahar on the hill of the valley, <sup>20</sup>and Beth-peor, and the slopes of Pisgah, and Beth-jeshimoth, <sup>21</sup>that is, all the cities of the tableland, and all the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, whom Moses defeated with the leaders of Midian, Evi and Rekem and Zur and Hur and Reba, the princes of Sihon, who lived in the land. <sup>22</sup>†Balaam also, the son of Beor, the one who practiced divination, was killed with the sword by the people of Israel among the rest of their slain. <sup>23</sup>And the border of the people of Reuben was the Jordan as a boundary. This was the inheritance of the people of Reuben, according to their clans with their cities and villages.

<sup>24</sup>Moses gave an inheritance also to the tribe of Gad, to the people of Gad, according to their clans. <sup>25</sup>Their territory was Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the Ammonites, to Aroer, which is east of Rabbah, <sup>26</sup>and from Heshbon to Ramath-mizpeh and Betonim, and from Mahanaim to the territory of Debir, [2] <sup>27</sup>and in the valley Beth-haram, Beth-nimrah, Succoth, and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon king of Heshbon, having the Jordan as a boundary, to the lower end of the Sea of Chinnereth, eastward beyond the Jordan. <sup>28</sup>This is the inheritance of the people of Gad according to their clans, with their cities and villages.

<sup>29</sup>And Moses gave an inheritance to the half-tribe of Manasseh. It was allotted to the half-tribe of the people of Manasseh according to their clans. <sup>30</sup>Their region extended from Mahanaim, through all Bashan, the whole kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all the towns of Jair, which are in Bashan, sixty cities, <sup>31</sup>and half Gilead, and Ashtaroth, and Edrei, the cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan. These were allotted to the people of Machir the son of Manasseh for the half of the people of Machir according to their clans.

<sup>32</sup>These are the inheritances that Moses distributed in the plains of Moab, beyond the Jordan east of Jericho. <sup>33</sup>†But to the tribe of Levi Moses gave no inheritance; the LORD God of Israel is their inheritance, just as he said to them.

The Inheritance West of the Jordan

JOSHUA 14 †These are the inheritances that the people of Israel received in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the heads of the fathers' houses of the tribes of the people of Israel gave them to inherit. <sup>2</sup>Their inheritance was by lot, just as the LORD had commanded by the hand of Moses for the nine and one-half tribes. <sup>3</sup>For Moses had given an inheritance to the two and one-half tribes beyond the Jordan, but to the Levites he gave no inheritance among them. <sup>4</sup>For the people of Joseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim. And no portion was given to the Levites in the land, but only cities to dwell in, with their pasturelands for their livestock and their substance. <sup>5</sup>†The people of Israel did as the LORD commanded Moses; they allotted the land.

Caleb's Request and Inheritance

<sup>6</sup>†Then the people of Judah came to Joshua at Gilgal. And Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite said to him, “You know what the LORD said to Moses the man of God in Kadesh-barnea concerning you and me. <sup>7</sup>I was forty years old when Moses the servant of the LORD sent me from Kadesh-barnea to spy out the land, and I brought him word again as it was in my heart. <sup>8</sup>But my brothers who went up with me made the heart of the people melt; yet I wholly followed the LORD my God. <sup>9</sup>And Moses swore on that day, saying, ‘Surely the land on which your foot has trodden shall be an inheritance for you and your children forever, because you have wholly followed the LORD my God.’ <sup>10</sup>†And now, behold, the LORD has kept me alive, just as he said, these forty-five years since the time that the LORD spoke this word to Moses, while Israel walked in the wilderness. And now, behold, I am this day eighty-five years old. <sup>11</sup>I am still as strong today as I was in the day that Moses sent me; my strength now is as my strength was then, for war and for going and coming. <sup>12</sup>†So now give me this hill country of which the LORD spoke on that day, for you heard on that day how the Anakim were there, with great fortified cities. It may be that the LORD will be with me, and I shall drive them out just as the LORD said.”

<sup>13</sup>Then Joshua blessed him, and he gave Hebron to Caleb the son of Jephunneh for an inheritance. <sup>14</sup>Therefore Hebron became the inheritance of Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite to this day, because he wholly followed the LORD, the God of Israel. <sup>15</sup>†Now the name of Hebron formerly was Kiriath-arba. [\[1\]](#)

(Arba [\[2\]](#) was the greatest man among the Anakim.) And the land had rest from war.

The Allotment for Judah

JOSHUA 15 ‡The allotment for the tribe of the people of Judah according to their clans reached southward to the boundary of Edom, to the wilderness of Zin at the farthest south. <sup>2</sup>And their south boundary ran from the end of the Salt Sea, from the bay that faces southward. <sup>3</sup>It goes out southward of the ascent of Akkrabbim, passes along to Zin, and goes up south of Kadesh-barnea, along by Hezron, up to Addar, turns about to Karka, <sup>4</sup>passes along to Azmon, goes out by the Brook of Egypt, and comes to its end at the sea. This shall be your south boundary. <sup>5</sup>And the east boundary is the Salt Sea, to the mouth of the Jordan. And the boundary on the north side runs from the bay of the sea at the mouth of the Jordan. <sup>6</sup>And the boundary goes up to Beth-hoglah and passes along north of Beth-arabah. And the boundary goes up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben. <sup>7</sup>And the boundary goes up to Debir from the Valley of Achor, and so northward, turning toward Gilgal, which is opposite the ascent of Adummim, which is on the south side of the valley. And the boundary passes along to the waters of Enshemesh and ends at En-rogel. <sup>8</sup>Then the boundary goes up by the Valley of the Son of Hinnom at the southern shoulder of the Jebusite (that is, Jerusalem). And the boundary goes up to the top of the mountain that lies over against the Valley of Hinnom, on the west, at the northern end of the Valley of Rephaim. <sup>9</sup>Then the boundary extends from the top of the mountain to the spring of the waters of Nephtoah, and from there to the cities of Mount Ephron. Then the boundary bends around to Baalah (that is, Kiriath-jearim). <sup>10</sup>And the boundary circles west of Baalah to Mount Seir, passes along to the northern shoulder of Mount Jearim (that is, Chesalon), and goes down to Beth-shemesh and passes along by Timnah. <sup>11</sup>The boundary goes out to the shoulder of the hill north of Ekron, then the boundary bends around to Shikkeron and passes along to Mount Baalah and goes out to Jabneel. Then the boundary comes to an end at the sea. <sup>12</sup>And the west boundary was the Great Sea with its coastline. This is the boundary around the people of Judah according to their clans.

<sup>13</sup>According to the commandment of the LORD to Joshua, he gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh a portion among the people of Judah, Kiriath-arba, that is, Hebron (Arba was the father of Anak). <sup>14</sup>And Caleb drove out from there the three sons of Anak, Sheshai and Ahiman and Talmi, the descendants of Anak. <sup>15</sup>And he went up from there against the inhabitants of Debir. Now the name of Debir formerly was Kiriath-sepher. <sup>16</sup>And Caleb said, "Whoever strikes Kiriath-sepher and captures it, to him will I give Achsah my daughter as wife." <sup>17</sup>‡And Othniel the son of Kenaz, the brother of Caleb, captured it. And he gave him Achsah his daughter as wife. <sup>18</sup>When she came to him, she urged him to ask her father for a field. And she got off her donkey, and Caleb said to her, "What do you want?" <sup>19</sup>She said to him, "Give me a blessing. Since you have given me the land of the Negeb, give me also springs of water." And he gave her the upper springs and the lower springs.

<sup>45</sup>Ekron, with its towns and its villages; <sup>46</sup>from Ekron to the sea, all that were by the side of Ashdod, with their villages.

<sup>63</sup>† But the Jebusites, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the people of Judah could not drive out, so the Jebusites dwell with the people of Judah at Jerusalem to this day.

The Allotment for Ephraim and Manasseh

JOSHUA 16 †The allotment of the people of Joseph went from the Jordan by Jericho, east of the waters of Jericho, into the wilderness, going up from Jericho into the hill country to Bethel. <sup>2</sup>Then going from Bethel to Luz, it passes along to Ataroth, the territory of the Archites. <sup>3</sup>Then it goes down westward to the territory of the Japhletites, as far as the territory of Lower Beth-horon, then to Gezer, and it ends at the sea.

<sup>5</sup>†The territory of the people of Ephraim by their clans was as follows: the boundary of their inheritance on the east was Ataroth-addar as far as Upper Beth-horon, <sup>6</sup>and the boundary goes from there to the sea. On the north is Michmethath. Then on the east the boundary turns around toward Taanath-shiloh and passes along beyond it on the east to Janoah, <sup>7</sup>then it goes down from Janoah to Ataroth and to Naarah, and touches Jericho, ending at the Jordan. <sup>8</sup>From Tappuah the boundary goes westward to the brook Kanah and ends at the sea. Such is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Ephraim by their clans, <sup>9</sup>together with the towns that were set apart for the people of Ephraim within the inheritance of the Manassites, all those towns with their villages. <sup>10</sup>†However, they did not drive out the Canaanites who lived in Gezer, so the Canaanites have lived in the midst of Ephraim to this day but have been made to do forced labor.

JOSHUA 17 †Then allotment was made to the people of Manasseh, for he was the firstborn of Joseph. To Machir the firstborn of Manasseh, the father of Gilead, were allotted Gilead and Bashan, because he was a man of war. <sup>2</sup>And allotments were made to the rest of the people of Manasseh by their clans, Abiezer, Helek, Asriel, Shechem, Hopher, and Shemida. These were the male descendants of Manasseh the son of Joseph, by their clans.

<sup>3</sup>†Now Zelophehad the son of Hopher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, had no sons, but only daughters, and these are the names of his daughters: Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. <sup>4</sup>They approached Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the leaders and said, “The LORD commanded Moses to give us an inheritance along with our brothers.” So according to the mouth of the LORD he gave them an inheritance among the brothers of their father. <sup>5</sup>Thus there fell to Manasseh ten portions, besides the land of Gilead and Bashan, which is on the other side of the Jordan, <sup>6</sup>because the daughters of Manasseh received an inheritance along with his sons. The land of Gilead was allotted to the rest of the people of Manasseh.

<sup>7</sup>The territory of Manasseh reached from Asher to Michmethath, which is east of Shechem. Then the boundary goes along southward to the inhabitants of Entappuah. <sup>8</sup>The land of Tappuah belonged to Manasseh, but the town of Tappuah on the boundary of Manasseh belonged to the people of Ephraim. <sup>9</sup>Then the boundary went down to the brook Kanah. These cities, to the south of the brook, among the cities of Manasseh, belong to Ephraim. Then the boundary of Manasseh goes on the north side of the brook and ends at the sea, <sup>10</sup>the land to the south being Ephraim's and that to the north being Manasseh's, with the sea forming its boundary. On the north Asher is reached, and on the east Issachar. <sup>11</sup>Also in Issachar and in Asher Manasseh had Beth-shean and its villages, and Ibleam and its villages, and the inhabitants of Dor and its villages, and the inhabitants of En-dor and its villages, and the inhabitants of Taanach and its villages, and the inhabitants of Megiddo and its villages; the third is Naphath. [1] <sup>12</sup>†Yet the people of Manasseh could not take possession of those cities, but the Canaanites persisted in dwelling in that land. <sup>13</sup>Now when the people of Israel grew strong, they put the Canaanites to forced labor, but did not utterly drive them out.

<sup>14</sup>Then the people of Joseph spoke to Joshua, saying, “Why have you given me but one lot and one portion as an inheritance, although I am a numerous people, since all along the LORD has blessed me?” <sup>15</sup>And Joshua said to them, “If you are a numerous people, go up by yourselves to the forest, and there clear ground for yourselves in the land of the Perizzites and the Rephaim, since the hill country of Ephraim is too narrow for you.” <sup>16</sup>The people of Joseph said, “The hill country is not enough for us. Yet all the Canaanites who dwell in the plain have chariots of iron, both those in Beth-shean and its villages and those in the Valley of Jezreel.” <sup>17</sup>Then Joshua said to the house of Joseph, to Ephraim and Manasseh, “You are a numerous people and have great power. You shall not have one allotment only, <sup>18</sup>but the hill country shall be yours, for though it is a forest, you shall clear it and possess it to its farthest borders. For you shall drive out the Canaanites, though they have chariots of iron, and though they are strong.”

Allotment of the Remaining Land

JOSHUA 18 †Then the whole congregation of the people of Israel assembled at Shiloh and set up the tent of meeting there. The land lay subdued before them.

<sup>2</sup>There remained among the people of Israel seven tribes whose inheritance had not yet been apportioned. <sup>3</sup>So Joshua said to the people of Israel, “How long will you put off going in to take possession of the land, which the LORD, the God of your fathers, has given you? <sup>4</sup>Provide three men from each tribe, and I will send them out that they may set out and go up and down the land. They shall write a description of it with a view to their inheritances, and then come to me. <sup>5</sup>They shall divide it into seven portions. Judah shall continue in his territory on the south, and the house of Joseph shall continue in their territory on the north. <sup>6</sup>And you shall describe the land in seven divisions and bring the description here to me. And I will cast lots for you here before the LORD our God. <sup>7</sup>The Levites have no portion among you, for the priesthood of the LORD is their heritage. And Gad and Reuben and half the tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance beyond the Jordan eastward, which Moses the servant of the LORD gave them.”

<sup>8</sup>†So the men arose and went, and Joshua charged those who went to write the description of the land, saying, “Go up and down in the land and write a description and return to me. And I will cast lots for you here before the LORD in Shiloh.” <sup>9</sup>So the men went and passed up and down in the land and wrote in a book a description of it by towns in seven divisions. Then they came to Joshua to the camp at Shiloh, <sup>10</sup>and Joshua cast lots for them in Shiloh before the LORD. And there Joshua apportioned the land to the people of Israel, to each his portion.

The Inheritance for Benjamin

<sup>11</sup>†The lot of the tribe of the people of Benjamin according to its clans came up, and the territory allotted to it fell between the people of Judah and the people of Joseph. <sup>12</sup>On the north side their boundary began at the Jordan. Then the boundary goes up to the shoulder north of Jericho, then up through the hill country westward, and it ends at the wilderness of Beth-aven. <sup>13</sup>From there the boundary passes along southward in the direction of Luz, to the shoulder of Luz (that is, Bethel), then the boundary goes down to Ataroth-addar, on the mountain that lies south of Lower Beth-horon. <sup>14</sup>Then the boundary goes in another direction, turning on the western side southward from the mountain that lies to the south, opposite Beth-horon, and it ends at Kiriath-baal (that is, Kiriath-jearim), a city belonging to the people of Judah. This forms the western side.

<sup>15</sup>And the southern side begins at the outskirts of Kiriath-jearim. And the boundary goes from there to Ephron, [1] to the spring of the waters of Nephtoah.

And it then goes down the Valley of Hinnom, south of the shoulder of the Jebusites, and downward to En-rogel. <sup>17</sup>Then it bends in a northerly direction going on to En-shemesh, and from there goes to Geliloth, which is opposite the ascent of Adummim. Then it goes down to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben, <sup>18</sup>and passing on to the north of the shoulder of Beth-arabah [2] it goes down to the Arabah. <sup>19</sup>Then the boundary passes on to the north of the shoulder of Beth-hoglah. And the boundary ends at the northern bay of the Salt Sea, at the south end of the Jordan: this is the southern border. <sup>20</sup>The Jordan forms its boundary on the eastern side. This is the inheritance of the people of Benjamin, according to their clans, boundary by boundary all around.

Gibeah [4] and Kiriath-jearim [5]—fourteen cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the people of Benjamin according to its clans.

The Inheritance for Simeon

JOSHUA 19 †The second lot came out for Simeon, for the tribe of the people of Simeon, according to their clans, and their inheritance was in the midst of the inheritance of the people of Judah. <sup>2</sup>And they had for their inheritance Beersheba, Sheba, Moladah, <sup>3</sup>Hazar-shual, Balah, Ezem, <sup>4</sup>Eltolad, Bethul, Hormah, <sup>5</sup>Ziklag, Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susah, <sup>6</sup>Beth-lebaoth, and Sharuhēn—thirteen cities with their villages; <sup>7</sup>Ain, Rimmon, Ether, and Ashan—four cities with their villages, <sup>8</sup>together with all the villages around these cities as far as Baalath-beer, Ramah of the Negeb. This was the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Simeon according to their clans. <sup>9</sup>The inheritance of the people of Simeon formed part of the territory of the people of Judah. Because the portion of the people of Judah was too large for them, the people of Simeon obtained an inheritance in the midst of their inheritance.

The Inheritance for Zebulun

<sup>10</sup>†The third lot came up for the people of Zebulun, according to their clans. And the territory of their inheritance reached as far as Sarid. <sup>11</sup>Then their boundary goes up westward and on to Mareal and touches Dabbesheth, then the brook that is east of Jokneam. <sup>12</sup>From Sarid it goes in the other direction eastward toward the sunrise to the boundary of Chisloth-tabor. From there it goes to Daberath, then up to Japhia. <sup>13</sup>From there it passes along on the east toward the sunrise to Gath-hepher, to Eth-kazin, and going on to Rimmon it bends toward Neah, <sup>14</sup>then on the north the boundary turns about to Hannathon, and it ends at the Valley of Iphtahel; <sup>15</sup>and Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Idalah, and Bethlehem—twelve cities with their villages. <sup>16</sup>This is the inheritance of the people of Zebulun, according to their clans—these cities with their villages.

The Inheritance for Issachar

<sup>17</sup>†The fourth lot came out for Issachar, for the people of Issachar, according to their clans. <sup>18</sup>Their territory included Jezreel, Chesulloth, Shunem, <sup>19</sup>Hapharaim, Shion, Anaharath, <sup>20</sup>Rabbith, Kishion, Ebez, <sup>21</sup>Remeth, En-gannim, En-haddah, Beth-pazzez. <sup>22</sup>The boundary also touches Tabor, Shahazumah, and Beth-shemesh, and its boundary ends at the Jordan—sixteen cities with their villages. <sup>23</sup>This is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Issachar, according to their clans—the cities with their villages.

The Inheritance for Asher

The Inheritance for Naphtali

<sup>32</sup>‡The sixth lot came out for the people of Naphtali, for the people of Naphtali, according to their clans. <sup>33</sup>‡And their boundary ran from Heleph, from the oak in Zaananim, and Adami-nekeb, and Jabneel, as far as Lakkum, and it ended at the Jordan. <sup>34</sup>Then the boundary turns westward to Aznoth-tabor and goes from there to Hukkok, touching Zebulun at the south and Asher on the west and Judah on the east at the Jordan. <sup>35</sup>The fortified cities are Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Chinnereth, <sup>36</sup>Adamah, Ramah, Hazor, <sup>37</sup>Kedesh, Edrei, En-hazor, <sup>38</sup>Yiron, Migdal-el, Horem, Beth-anath, and Beth-shemesh—nineteen cities with their villages. <sup>39</sup>This is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Naphtali according to their clans—the cities with their villages.

The Inheritance for Dan

<sup>40</sup>‡The seventh lot came out for the tribe of the people of Dan, according to their clans. <sup>41</sup>And the territory of its inheritance included Zorah, Eshtaol, Ir-shemesh, <sup>42</sup>Shaalabbin, Aijalon, Ithlah, <sup>43</sup>Elon, Timnah, Ekron, <sup>44</sup>Eltekeh, Gibbethon, Baalath, <sup>45</sup>Jehud, Bene-berak, Gath-rimmon, <sup>46</sup>and Me-jarkon and Rakkon with the territory over against Joppa. <sup>47</sup>When the territory of the people of Dan was lost to them, the people of Dan went up and fought against Leshem, and after capturing it and striking it with the sword they took possession of it and settled in it, calling Leshem, Dan, after the name of Dan their ancestor. <sup>48</sup>This is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Dan, according to their clans—these cities with their villages.

The Inheritance for Joshua

<sup>49</sup>‡When they had finished distributing the several territories of the land as inheritances, the people of Israel gave an inheritance among them to Joshua the son of Nun. <sup>50</sup>By command of the LORD they gave him the city that he asked, Timnath-serah in the hill country of Ephraim. And he rebuilt the city and settled in it.

<sup>51</sup>These are the inheritances that Eleazar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the heads of the fathers' houses of the tribes of the people of Israel distributed by lot at Shiloh before the LORD, at the entrance of the tent of meeting. So they finished dividing the land.

The Cities of Refuge

JOSHUA 20 Then the LORD said to Joshua, <sup>2</sup>‡“Say to the people of Israel, ‘Appoint the cities of refuge, of which I spoke to you through Moses, <sup>3</sup>that the manslayer who strikes any person without intent or unknowingly may flee there. They shall be for you a refuge from the avenger of blood. <sup>4</sup>He shall flee to one of these cities and shall stand at the entrance of the gate of the city and explain his case to the elders of that city. Then they shall take him into the city and give him a place, and he shall remain with them. <sup>5</sup>And if the avenger of blood pursues him, they shall not give up the manslayer into his hand, because he struck his neighbor unknowingly, and did not hate him in the past. <sup>6</sup>And he shall remain in that city until he has stood before the congregation for judgment, until the death of him who is high priest at the time. Then the manslayer may return to his own town and his own home, to the town from which he fled.’”

<sup>7</sup>So they set apart Kedesh in Galilee in the hill country of Naphtali, and Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim, and Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron) in the hill country of Judah. <sup>8</sup>And beyond the Jordan east of Jericho, they appointed Bezer in the wilderness on the tableland, from the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead, from the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan, from the tribe of Manasseh. <sup>9</sup>These were the cities designated for all the people of Israel and for the stranger sojourning among them, that anyone who killed a person without intent could flee there, so that he might not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, till he stood before the congregation.

Cities and Pasturelands Allotted to Levi

JOSHUA 21 ‡Then the heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites came to Eleazar the priest and to Joshua the son of Nun and to the heads of the fathers' houses of the tribes of the people of Israel. <sup>2</sup>And they said to them at Shiloh in the land of Canaan, "The LORD commanded through Moses that we be given cities to dwell in, along with their pasturelands for our livestock." <sup>3</sup>‡So by command of the LORD the people of Israel gave to the Levites the following cities and pasturelands out of their inheritance.

<sup>4</sup>‡The lot came out for the clans of the Kohathites. So those Levites who were descendants of Aaron the priest received by lot from the tribes of Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin, thirteen cities.

<sup>5</sup>And the rest of the Kohathites received by lot from the clans of the tribe of Ephraim, from the tribe of Dan and the half-tribe of Manasseh, ten cities.

<sup>6</sup>The Gershonites received by lot from the clans of the tribe of Issachar, from the tribe of Asher, from the tribe of Naphtali, and from the half-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteen cities.

<sup>7</sup>The Merarites according to their clans received from the tribe of Reuben, the tribe of Gad, and the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

<sup>8</sup>These cities and their pasturelands the people of Israel gave by lot to the Levites, as the LORD had commanded through Moses.

<sup>9</sup>Out of the tribe of the people of Judah and the tribe of the people of Simeon they gave the following cities mentioned by name, <sup>10</sup>which went to the descendants of Aaron, one of the clans of the Kohathites who belonged to the people of Levi; since the lot fell to them first. <sup>11</sup>They gave them Kiriath-arba (Arba being the father of Anak), that is Hebron, in the hill country of Judah, along with the pasturelands around it. <sup>12</sup>But the fields of the city and its villages had been given to Caleb the son of Jephunneh as his possession.

its pasturelands, Beth-shemesh with its pasturelands—nine cities out of these two tribes; <sup>17</sup>then out of the tribe of Benjamin, Gibeon with its pasturelands, Geba with its pasturelands, <sup>18</sup>Anathoth with its pasturelands, and Almon with its pasturelands—four cities. <sup>19</sup>The cities of the descendants of Aaron, the priests, were in all thirteen cities with their pasturelands.

<sup>20</sup>As to the rest of the Kohathites belonging to the Kohathite clans of the Levites, the cities allotted to them were out of the tribe of Ephraim. <sup>21</sup>To them were given Shechem, the city of refuge for the manslayer, with its pasturelands in the hill country of Ephraim, Gezer with its pasturelands, <sup>22</sup>Kibzaim with its pasturelands, Beth-horon with its pasturelands—four cities; <sup>23</sup>and out of the tribe of Dan, Elteke with its pasturelands, Gibbethon with its pasturelands, <sup>24</sup>Aijalon with its pasturelands, Gath-rimmon with its pasturelands—four cities; <sup>25</sup>and out of the half-tribe of Manasseh, Taanach with its pasturelands, and Gath-rimmon with its pasturelands—two cities. <sup>26</sup>The cities of the clans of the rest of the Kohathites were ten in all with their pasturelands.

<sup>27</sup>And to the Gershonites, one of the clans of the Levites, were given out of the half-tribe of Manasseh, Golan in Bashan with its pasturelands, the city of refuge for the manslayer, and Beeshterah with its pasturelands—two cities; <sup>28</sup>and out of the tribe of Issachar, Kishion with its pasturelands, Daberath with its pasturelands, <sup>29</sup>Jarmuth with its pasturelands, En-gannim with its pasturelands—four cities; <sup>30</sup>and out of the tribe of Asher, Mishal with its pasturelands, Abdon with its pasturelands, <sup>31</sup>Helkath with its pasturelands, and Rehob with its pasturelands—four cities; <sup>32</sup>and out of the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilee with its pasturelands, the city of refuge for the manslayer, Hammoth-dor with its pasturelands, and Kartan with its pasturelands—three cities. <sup>33</sup>The cities of the several clans of the Gershonites were in all thirteen cities with their pasturelands.

<sup>41</sup>The cities of the Levites in the midst of the possession of the people of Israel were in all forty-eight cities with their pasturelands. <sup>42</sup>These cities each had its pasturelands around it. So it was with all these cities.

<sup>43</sup>Thus the LORD gave to Israel all the land that he swore to give to their fathers. And they took possession of it, and they settled there. <sup>44</sup>And the LORD gave them rest on every side just as he had sworn to their fathers. Not one of all their enemies had withstood them, for the LORD had given all their enemies into their hands. <sup>45</sup>Not one word of all the good promises that the LORD had made to the house of Israel had failed; all came to pass.

The Eastern Tribes Return Home

JOSHUA 22 †At that time Joshua summoned the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh, <sup>2</sup>and said to them, “You have kept all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you and have obeyed my voice in all that I have commanded you. <sup>3</sup>You have not forsaken your brothers these many days, down to this day, but have been careful to keep the charge of the LORD your God. <sup>4</sup>†And now the LORD your God has given rest to your brothers, as he promised them. Therefore turn and go to your tents in the land where your possession lies, which Moses the servant of the LORD gave you on the other side of the Jordan. <sup>5</sup>Only be very careful to observe the commandment and the law that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you, to love the LORD your God, and to walk in all his ways and to keep his commandments and to cling to him and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul.” <sup>6</sup>So Joshua blessed them and sent them away, and they went to their tents.

<sup>7</sup>Now to the one half of the tribe of Manasseh Moses had given a possession in Bashan, but to the other half Joshua had given a possession beside their brothers in the land west of the Jordan. And when Joshua sent them away to their homes and blessed them, <sup>8</sup>he said to them, “Go back to your tents with much wealth and with very much livestock, with silver, gold, bronze, and iron, and with much clothing. Divide the spoil of your enemies with your brothers.” <sup>9</sup>So the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh returned home, parting from the people of Israel at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan, to go to the land of Gilead, their own land of which they had possessed themselves by command of the LORD through Moses.

The Eastern Tribes' Altar of Witness

<sup>10</sup>†And when they came to the region of the Jordan that is in the land of Canaan, the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh built there an altar by the Jordan, an altar of imposing size. <sup>11</sup>And the people of Israel heard it said, “Behold, the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh have built the altar at the frontier of the land of Canaan, in the region about the Jordan, on the side that belongs to the people of Israel.” <sup>12</sup>And when the people of Israel heard of it, the whole assembly of the people of Israel gathered at Shiloh to make war against them.

<sup>13</sup>Then the people of Israel sent to the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh, in the land of Gilead, Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, <sup>14</sup>and with him ten chiefs, one from each of the tribal families of Israel, every one of them the head of a family among the clans of Israel. <sup>15</sup>And they came to the people of Reuben, the people of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, in the land of Gilead, and they said to them, <sup>16</sup>“Thus says the whole congregation of the LORD, ‘What is this breach of faith that you have committed against the God of Israel in turning away this day from following the LORD by building yourselves an altar this day in rebellion against the LORD? <sup>17</sup>Have we not had enough of the sin at Peor from which even yet we have not cleansed ourselves, and for which there came a plague upon the congregation of the LORD, <sup>18</sup>that you too must turn away this day from following the LORD? And if you too rebel against the LORD today then tomorrow he will be angry with the whole congregation of Israel. <sup>19</sup>But now, if the land of your possession is unclean, pass over into the LORD's land where the LORD's tabernacle stands, and take for yourselves a possession among us. Only do not rebel against the LORD or make us as rebels by building for yourselves an altar other than the altar of the LORD our God. <sup>20</sup>Did not Achan the son of Zerah break faith in the matter of the devoted things, and wrath fell upon all the congregation of Israel? And he did not perish alone for his iniquity.’”

<sup>21</sup>Then the people of Reuben, the people of Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh said in answer to the heads of the families of Israel, <sup>22</sup>“The Mighty One, God, the LORD! The Mighty One, God, the LORD! He knows; and let Israel itself know! If it was in rebellion or in breach of faith against the LORD, do not spare us today <sup>23</sup>for building an altar to turn away from following the LORD. Or if we did so to offer burnt offerings or grain offerings or peace offerings on it, may the LORD himself take vengeance. <sup>24</sup>No, but we did it from fear that in time to come your children might say to our children, ‘What have you to do with the LORD, the God of Israel? <sup>25</sup>For the LORD has made the Jordan a boundary between us and you, you people of Reuben and people of Gad. You have no portion in the LORD.’ So your children might make our children cease to worship the LORD. <sup>26</sup>Therefore we said, ‘Let us now build an altar, not for burnt offering, nor for sacrifice, <sup>27</sup>but to be a witness between us and you, and between our generations after us, that we do perform the service of the LORD in his presence with our burnt offerings and sacrifices and peace offerings, so your children will not say to our children in time to come, “You have no portion in the LORD.”’” <sup>28</sup>And we thought, If this should be said to us or to our descendants in time to come, we should say, ‘Behold, the copy of the altar of the LORD, which our fathers made, not for burnt offerings, nor for sacrifice, but to be a witness between us and you.’ <sup>29</sup>Far be it from us that we should rebel against the LORD and turn away this day from following the LORD by building an altar for burnt offering, grain offering, or sacrifice, other than the altar of the LORD our God that stands before his tabernacle!”

<sup>30</sup>When Phinehas the priest and the chiefs of the congregation, the heads of the families of Israel who were with him, heard the words that the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the people of Manasseh spoke, it was good in their eyes. <sup>31</sup>And Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest said to the people of Reuben and the people of Gad and the people of Manasseh, “Today we know that the LORD is in our midst, because you have not committed this breach of faith against the LORD. Now you have delivered the people of Israel from the hand of the LORD.”

<sup>32</sup>Then Phinehas the son of Eleazar the priest, and the chiefs, returned from the people of Reuben and the people of Gad in the land of Gilead to the land of Canaan, to the people of Israel, and brought back word to them. <sup>33</sup>And the report was good in the eyes of the people of Israel. And the people of Israel blessed God and spoke no more of making war against them to destroy the land where the people of Reuben and the people of Gad were settled. <sup>34</sup>The people of Reuben and the people of Gad called the altar Witness, “For,” they said, “it is a witness between us that the LORD is God.”

Joshua's Charge to Israel's Leaders

JOSHUA 23 †A long time afterward, when the LORD had given rest to Israel from all their surrounding enemies, and Joshua was old and well advanced in years, <sup>2</sup>Joshua summoned all Israel, its elders and heads, its judges and officers, and said to them, “I am now old and well advanced in years. <sup>3</sup>And you have seen all that the LORD your God has done to all these nations for your sake, for it is the LORD your God who has fought for you. <sup>4</sup>Behold, I have allotted to you as an inheritance for your tribes those nations that remain, along with all the nations that I have already cut off, from the Jordan to the Great Sea in the west. <sup>5</sup>†The LORD your God will push them back before you and drive them out of your sight. And you shall possess their land, just as the LORD your God promised you. <sup>6</sup>Therefore, be very strong to keep and to do all that is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, turning aside from it neither to the right hand nor to the left, <sup>7</sup>†that you may not mix with these nations remaining among you or make mention of the names of their gods or swear by them or serve them or bow down to them, <sup>8</sup>but you shall cling to the LORD your God just as you have done to this day. <sup>9</sup>For the LORD has driven out before you great and strong nations. And as for you, no man has been able to stand before you to this day. <sup>10</sup>One man of you puts to flight a thousand, since it is the LORD your God who fights for you, just as he promised you. <sup>11</sup>Be very careful, therefore, to love the LORD your God. <sup>12</sup>For if you turn back and cling to the remnant of these nations remaining among you and make marriages with them, so that you associate with them and they with you, <sup>13</sup>know for certain that the LORD your God will no longer drive out these nations before you, but they shall be a snare and a trap for you, a whip on your sides and thorns in your eyes, until you perish from off this good ground that the LORD your God has given you.

<sup>14</sup>“And now I am about to go the way of all the earth, and you know in your hearts and souls, all of you, that not one word has failed of all the good things [1] that the LORD your God promised concerning you. All have come to pass for you; not one of them has failed. <sup>15</sup>†But just as all the good things that the LORD your God promised concerning you have been fulfilled for you, so the LORD will bring upon you all the evil things, until he has destroyed you from off this good land that the LORD your God has given you, <sup>16</sup>if you transgress the covenant of the LORD your God, which he commanded you, and go and serve other gods and bow down to them. Then the anger of the LORD will be kindled against you, and you shall perish quickly from off the good land that he has given to you.”

The Covenant Renewal at Shechem

JOSHUA 24 ¶ Joshua gathered all the tribes of Israel to Shechem and summoned the elders, the heads, the judges, and the officers of Israel. And they presented themselves before God. ¶ And Joshua said to all the people, “Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, ‘Long ago, your fathers lived beyond the Euphrates, Terah, the father of Abraham and of Nahor; and they served other gods. ¶ Then I took your father Abraham from beyond the River and led him through all the land of Canaan, and made his offspring many. I gave him Isaac. ¶ And to Isaac I gave Jacob and Esau. And I gave Esau the hill country of Seir to possess, but Jacob and his children went down to Egypt. ¶ And I sent Moses and Aaron, and I plagued Egypt with what I did in the midst of it, and afterward I brought you out.

¶ “Then I brought your fathers out of Egypt, and you came to the sea. And the Egyptians pursued your fathers with chariots and horsemen to the Red Sea. ¶ And when they cried to the LORD, he put darkness between you and the Egyptians and made the sea come upon them and cover them; and your eyes saw what I did in Egypt. And you lived in the wilderness a long time. ¶ Then I brought you to the land of the Amorites, who lived on the other side of the Jordan. They fought with you, and I gave them into your hand, and you took possession of their land, and I destroyed them before you. ¶ Then Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and fought against Israel. And he sent and invited Balaam the son of Beor to curse you, ¶ but I would not listen to Balaam. Indeed, he blessed you. So I delivered you out of his hand. ¶ And you went over the Jordan and came to Jericho, and the leaders of Jericho fought against you, and also the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Girgashites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. And I gave them into your hand. ¶ And I sent the hornet before you, which drove them out before you, the two kings of the Amorites; it was not by your sword or by your bow. ¶ I gave you a land on which you had not labored and cities that you had not built, and you dwell in them. You eat the fruit of vineyards and olive orchards that you did not plant.’

Choose Whom You Will Serve

¶ “Now therefore fear the LORD and serve him in sincerity and in faithfulness. Put away the gods that your fathers served beyond the River and in Egypt, and serve the LORD. ¶ And if it is evil in your eyes to serve the LORD, choose this day whom you will serve, whether the gods your fathers served in the region beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land you dwell. But as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD.”

<sup>16</sup>Then the people answered, “Far be it from us that we should forsake the LORD to serve other gods, <sup>17</sup>for it is the LORD our God who brought us and our fathers up from the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery, and who did those great signs in our sight and preserved us in all the way that we went, and among all the peoples through whom we passed. <sup>18</sup>†And the LORD drove out before us all the peoples, the Amorites who lived in the land. Therefore we also will serve the LORD, for he is our God.”

<sup>19</sup>But Joshua said to the people, “You are not able to serve the LORD, for he is a holy God. He is a jealous God; he will not forgive your transgressions or your sins. <sup>20</sup>If you forsake the LORD and serve foreign gods, then he will turn and do you harm and consume you, after having done you good.” <sup>21</sup>And the people said to Joshua, “No, but we will serve the LORD.” <sup>22</sup>Then Joshua said to the people, “You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen the LORD, to serve him.” And they said, “We are witnesses.” <sup>23</sup>He said, “Then put away the foreign gods that are among you, and incline your heart to the LORD, the God of Israel.” <sup>24</sup>And the people said to Joshua, “The LORD our God we will serve, and his voice we will obey.” <sup>25</sup>So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day, and put in place statutes and rules for them at Shechem. <sup>26</sup>†And Joshua wrote these words in the Book of the Law of God. And he took a large stone and set it up there under the terebinth that was by the sanctuary of the LORD. <sup>27</sup>And Joshua said to all the people, “Behold, this stone shall be a witness against us, for it has heard all the words of the LORD that he spoke to us. Therefore it shall be a witness against you, lest you deal falsely with your God.” <sup>28</sup>So Joshua sent the people away, every man to his inheritance.

Joshua's Death and Burial

<sup>29</sup>††After these things Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, died, being 110 years old. <sup>30</sup>And they buried him in his own inheritance at Timnath-serah, which is in the hill country of Ephraim, north of the mountain of Gaash.

<sup>31</sup>†Israel served the LORD all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua and had known all the work that the LORD did for Israel.

<sup>32</sup>†As for the bones of Joseph, which the people of Israel brought up from Egypt, they buried them at Shechem, in the piece of land that Jacob bought from the sons of Hamor the father of Shechem for a hundred pieces of money. [\[1\]](#) It became an inheritance of the descendants of Joseph.

<sup>33</sup>And Eleazar the son of Aaron died, and they buried him at Gibeah, the town of Phinehas his son, which had been given him in the hill country of Ephraim.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:2 the land that I am giving. This is the land God promised in his covenant with Abraham and often reaffirmed later (Gen. 12:7; 13:14–15; 15:18–21).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:4 Borders of the Promised Land are: west, the Mediterranean seacoast; east, Euphrates River far to the east; south, the wilderness over to the Nile of Egypt; north, Lebanon.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:5 The promise of divine power for Joshua's task.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:6 I swore to their fathers. Cf. Gen. 12:7; 15:18–21; 17:8; 26:3; 28:13; 35:12 to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:7 strong and very courageous. See note on Deut. 31:6–8.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:8 This Book of the Law. A reference to Scripture, specifically Genesis through Deuteronomy, written by Moses (cf. Ex. 17:14; Deut. 31:9–11, 24). meditate on it. To read with thoughtfulness, to linger over God's word. The parts of Scripture they possessed have always been the main spiritual food of those who served him, e.g., Job (Job 23:12); the psalmist (Ps. 1:1–3); Jeremiah (Jer. 15:16); and Jesus (John 4:34). good success. The promise of God's blessing on the great responsibility God has given Joshua. The principle here is central to all spiritual effort and enterprise, namely the deep understanding and application of Scripture at all times.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:9 Lord . . . is with you. This assurance has always been the staying sufficiency for his servants such as: Abraham (Gen. 15:1); Moses and his people (Ex. 14:13); Isaiah (Isa. 41:10); Jeremiah (Jer. 1:7–8); and Christians through the centuries (Matt. 28:20; Heb. 13:5).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:11 within three days. In some cases, events that took place before this announcement and these three days (cf. 3:2) are described later on, e.g., Joshua's sending two scouts to check out the land (2:22).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:12 half-tribe of Manasseh. In Gen. 48 Jacob blessed both sons of Joseph, Ephraim and Manasseh, so that Joseph actually received a double blessing (Gen. 48:22). This allowed for 12 allotments of the land, Levi being excluded because of priestly function.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 1:13–18 The Lord . . . will give you this land. God gave them these lands directly across the Jordan River on the east (cf. Num. 32). Yet, it was their duty to assist the other tribes of Israel to invade and conquer their allotted land to the west.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:1 two men . . . as spies. These scouts would inform Joshua on various features of the topography, food, drinking water, and defenses to be overcome in the invasion. Shittim . . . Jericho. The grove (cf. 3:1) was situated in foothills about 7 miles east of the Jordan, and Jericho lay 7 miles west of the river. house of a prostitute. Their purpose was not impure; rather, the spies sought a place where they would not be conspicuous. Resorting to such a house would be a good cover, from where they might learn something of Jericho. Also, a house on the city wall (2:15) would allow a quick getaway. In spite of this precaution, their presence became known (vv. 2–3). God, in his sovereign providence, wanted them there for the salvation of the harlot. She would provide an example of his saving by faith a woman at the bottom of the social strata, as he saved Abraham at the top (cf. James 2:18–25). Most important, by God’s grace she was in the Messianic line (Matt. 1:5).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:2 the king. He was not over a broad domain, but only the city-state. Kings over other city areas appear later during this conquest (cf. 8:23; 12:24).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:4–5 Cf. vv. 9–11. Lying is sin to God (Ex. 20:16), for he cannot lie (Titus 1:2). God commended her faith (Heb. 11:31; James 2:25) as expressed in Josh. 2:9–16, not her lie. He never condones any sin, yet none are without some sin (cf. Rom. 3:23), thus the need for forgiveness. But he also honors true faith, small as it is, and imparts saving grace (Ex. 34:7).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:6 stalks of flax. These fibers, used for making linen, were stems about 3 feet long, left to sit in water, and then piled in the sun or on a level roof to dry.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:11 God in the heavens above and on the earth beneath. She confessed the realization that he is the Sovereign Creator and Sustainer of all that exists (cf. Deut. 4:39; Acts 14:15; 17:23–28), thus the Supreme One.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:15–16 Her home was on the city wall, with the Jordan (v. 7) to the east. The rugged mountains to the west provided many hiding places.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 2:18 cord. A different word from “rope” (v. 15). Scarlet, unlike drab green, brown, gray, etc., is better seen to mark the house for protection. The color also is fitting for these whose blood (v. 19) was under God’s pledge of safety.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:3 the ark. Symbolized God’s presence going before his people. Kohathites customarily carried the ark (Num. 4:15; 7:9), but in this unusual case the Levitical priests transported it, as in Josh. 6:6 and 1 Kings 8:3–6.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:4 2,000 cubits. 1,000 yards.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:8 stand . . . in the Jordan. The priests were to stand there to permit time for God’s words (v. 9) to stimulate reflection on the greatness of God’s eminent action in giving the land as he showed his presence (v. 10). Also, it was a preparation to allow the people following to get set for God’s miracle, which stopped the waters for a crossing (vv. 13–17).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:10 Canaanite people to be killed or defeated were sinful to the point of extreme (cf. Gen. 15:16; Lev. 18:24–25). God, as moral judge, has the right to deal with all people, as at the end (Rev. 20:11–15) or any other time when he deems it appropriate for his purposes. The question is not why God chose to destroy these sinners, but why he had let them live so long, and why all sinners are not destroyed far sooner than they are. It is grace that allows any sinner to draw one more breath of life (cf. Gen. 2:17; Ezek. 18:20; Rom. 6:23).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 3:16 rose up in a heap. The God of all power, who created heaven, earth, and all else according to Gen. 1, worked miracles here. The waters were dammed up at Adam, a city 15 miles north of the crossing, and also in tributary creeks. Once the miracle was completed, God permitted waters to flow again (Josh. 4:18) after all the people had walked to the other side on dry ground (3:17). As the exodus had begun (cf. Ex. 14), so it ended.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:1–8 Twelve stones picked up from the riverbed became a memorial to God’s faithfulness. They were set up at Gilgal (about 1.25 miles from Jericho), which was Israel’s first campsite in the invaded land (vv. 19–20). Placing 12 stones in the riverbed itself commemorated the place that God dried up, where his ark had been held, and where he showed by a miracle his mighty presence and worthiness of respect (vv. 9–11, 21–24).

The Peoples around the Promised Land

The Peoples Around the Promised Land (cf. Ex. 34:10–17 ; Deut. 20:17 ; Josh. 3:10 ; 9:1 ; 24:11 )
1. AMALEKITES	The descendants of Amalek, the grandson of Esau ( Gen. 36:12 ), who dwelt south of Palestine in the Negeb.
2. AMMONITES	The descendants of Ammon, the grandson of Lot by his youngest daughter ( Gen. 19:38 ), who lived east of the Jordan River and north of Moab.
3. AMORITES	A general term for the inhabitants of the land, but especially for the descendants of Canaan who inhabited the hill country on both sides of the Jordan.
4. CANAANITES	Broadly speaking, these are the descendants of Canaan, son of Ham, son of Noah (cf. Gen. 10:15–18 ), and included many of the other groups named here.

5. EDOMITES	The descendants of Esau who settled southeast of Palestine (cf. Gen. 25:30 ) in the land of Seir.
6. GEBALITES	People of the ancient seaport later known as Byblos, about 20 miles north of modern Beirut ( Josh. 13:5 ).
7. GESHURITES	The inhabitants of Geshur, east of the Jordan and to the south of Syria ( Josh. 12:5 ).
8. GIBEONITES	The inhabitants of Gibeon and surrounding area ( Josh. 9:17 ).
9. GIRGASHITES	A tribe descended from Canaan, which was included among the general population of the land without specific geographical identity.
10. GIRZITES	An obscure group that lived in the northwest part of the Negeb, before they were destroyed by David ( 1 Sam. 27:8–9 ).
11. HITTITES	Immigrants from the Hittite Empire (in the region of Syria) to the central region of the land (cf. Gen. 23:10 ; 2 Sam. 11:3 ).
12. HIVITES	Descendants of Canaan who lived in the northern reaches of the land.
13. HORITES	Ancient residents of Edom from an unknown origin who were destroyed by Esau's descendants ( Deut. 2:22 ).
14. JEBUSITES	Descendants of Canaan who dwelt in the hill country around Jerusalem (cf. Gen. 15:21 ; Ex. 3:8 ).
15. KENITES	A Midianite tribe that originally dwelt in the Gulf of Aqabah region ( 1 Sam. 27:10 ).
16. MOABITES	The descendants of Moab, the grandson of Lot by his eldest daughter ( Gen. 19:37 ), who lived east of the Dead Sea.
17. PERIZZITES	People included among the general population of the land who do not trace their lineage to Canaan. Their exact identity is uncertain.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 4:19 tenth day of the first month. March/April. Abib was the term used by preexilic Jews; Nisan later came to be used by postexilic Israel.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:1 heard. Reports of God's supernaturally opening a crossing struck fear into the Canaanites. The miracle was all the more incredible and shocking since God performed it when the Jordan was swollen to flood height (3:15). To the people in the land, this miracle was a powerful demonstration proving that God is mighty (4:24). This came on top of reports about the Red Sea miracle (2:10).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:2 circumcise. God commanded Joshua to see that this was done to all males under 40. These were sons of the generation who died in the wilderness, survivors (cf. vv. 6–7) from the new generation God spared in Num. 13–14. This surgical sign of a faith commitment to the Abrahamic Covenant (see Gen. 17:9–14) had been ignored during the wilderness trek. Now God wanted it reinstated, so the Israelites would start out right in the land they were possessing. See note on Jer. 4:4.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:8 they were healed. This speaks of the time needed to recover from such a painful and potentially infected wound.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:9 rolled away the reproach. By his miracle of bringing the people into the land, God removed (rolled away) the ridicule that the Egyptians had heaped on them.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:10 Passover. Commemorated God's deliverance from Egypt, recorded in Ex. 7–12. Such a remembrance was a strengthening preparation for trusting God to work in possessing the new land.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:12 manna ceased. God had begun to provide this food from the time of Ex. 16 and did so for 40 years (Ex. 16:35). Since food was plentiful in the land of Canaan, they could provide for themselves with produce such as dates, barley, and olives.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 5:13–15 commander. The Lord Jesus Christ (6:2; cf. 5:15 with Ex. 3:2–5) in a preincarnate appearance (Christophany). He came as the Angel (Messenger) of the Lord, as if he were a man (cf. the one of three “angels,” Gen. 18). Joshua fittingly was reverent in worship. The commander, sword drawn, showed a posture indicating he was set to give Israel victory over the Canaanites (Josh. 6:2; cf. 1:3).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:1 Jericho. The city was fortified by a double ring of walls, the outer 6 feet thick and the inner 12; timbers were laid across these, supporting houses on the walls. Since Jericho was built on a hill, it could be taken only by mounting a steep incline, which put the Israelites at a great disadvantage. Attackers of such a “fortress” often used a siege of several months to force surrender through starvation.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:3–21 The bizarre military strategy of marching around Jericho gave occasion for the Israelites to take God at his promise (v. 2). They would also heighten the defenders' uneasiness. Seven is sometimes a number used to signify completeness (cf. 2 Kings 5:10, 14).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:5 God assured Israel of an astounding miracle, just as he had done at the Jordan.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:16 The loud shout in unison expressed an expectation of God's action to fulfill his guaranteed promise (vv. 2, 5, 16).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:17 devoted . . . for destruction. The Hebrew term means “utterly destroyed,” as in v. 21; i.e., to ban or devote as spoil for a deity. Here it is stated to be retained for God’s possession, a tribute belonging to him for the purpose of destruction.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:22–25 Joshua honored the promise of safety to the household of Rahab. The part of the wall securing this house must not have fallen, and all possessions in the dwelling were safe.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:26 God put a curse on whoever would rebuild Jericho. While the area around it was later occupied to some extent (2 Sam. 10:5), in Ahab’s reign Hiel rebuilt Jericho and experienced the curse by losing his eldest and youngest sons (1 Kings 16:34).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 6:27 God kept his pledge that he would be with Joshua (1:5–9).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:1–5 Israel’s defeat here is similar to an earlier setback against the Amalekites (Num. 14:39–45).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:2 Ai. A town situated west of the Jordan, in the hills east of Bethel (cf. Gen. 12:8).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:3 few. The “few” inhabitants of Ai are numbered at 12,000 in 8:25 (cf. 8:3).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:9 what will you do for your great name? The main issue is the glory and honor of God (cf. Daniel’s prayer in Dan. 9:16–19).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:15, 24–25 Achan’s family faced execution with him. They were regarded as co-conspirators in what he did. They helped cover up his guilt and withheld information from others. Similarly, family members died in Korah’s rebellion (Num. 16), Haman’s fall (Est. 9:13–14), and after Daniel’s escape (Dan. 6:24).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:21 I saw. There are four steps in the progress of Achan’s sin: “I saw . . . I coveted . . . took . . . hidden.” David’s sin with Bathsheba followed the same path (2 Sam. 11; cf. James 1:14–15). a beautiful cloak from Shinar. A costly, ornate robe beautified by colored figures of men or animals, woven or done in needlework, and perhaps trimmed with jewels. The word is used for a king's robe in Jonah 3:6.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 7:24 Achor. Lit., “trouble” (cf. Isa. 65:10; Hos. 2:15).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:3 30,000 mighty men. Joshua's elite force was far superior to that of Ai, with a mere 12,000 total population (8:25). This time Joshua took no small force presumptuously (cf. 7:3–4), but had 30,000 to sack and burn Ai, a decoy group to lure defenders out (8:5–6), and a third detachment of about 5,000 to prevent Bethel from helping Ai (v. 12).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:7 God will give it into your hand. God had sovereignly caused Israel's defeat earlier due to Achan's disobedience (7:1–5). Yet, this time, despite Israel's overwhelming numbers, God was still the sovereign power for this victory (8:7).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:18 the javelin. Joshua's hoisted javelin represented the go-ahead indicator to occupy Ai. Possibly the raising was even a signal of confidence in God: “for I will give it into your hand.” Earlier, Moses' uplifted rod and arms probably signified trusting contact with God for victory over Amalek (Ex. 17:8–13).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:29 the king of Ai. The complete execution of Ai's populace included hanging even the king. This wise move prevented later efforts to muster a Canaanite army. Further, as a wicked king, he was worthy of punishment according to biblical standards (Deut. 21:22; Josh. 10:26–27). This carried out the vengeance of God on his enemies.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:30–35 This ceremony took place in obedience to Deut. 27:1–26 at the conclusion of Joshua's central campaign (cf. 6:1–8:35).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 8:30–31 Thanks is offered to God for giving victory. The altar, in obedience to the instruction of Ex. 20:24–26, was built of uncut stones, thus keeping worship simple and untainted by man's showmanship. Joshua gave God's word a detailed and central place.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:3 inhabitants. Gibeon of the Hivites (v. 7), or Horites (cf. Gen. 36:2, 20), was northwest of Jerusalem and about 7 miles from the area of Ai. It was a strong city with capable fighting men (Josh. 10:2). Three other towns were in league with it (9:17).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:4–15 The Gibeonite plot to trick Israel worked. Israel’s sinful failure occurred because they were not vigilant in prayer to assure that they acted by God’s counsel (v. 14; cf. Prov. 3:5–6).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:15 Israel precipitously made peace with the Gibeonites (11:19) who lived nearby, even though God had instructed them to eliminate the people of cities in the land (Deut. 7:1–2). God permitted peace with cities outside (Deut. 20:11–15).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 9:21–23 While honoring the pledge of peace with the Gibeonites (v. 19); Joshua made them woodcutters and water carriers because of the deception. This curse extended the perpetual (v. 23) part of “let Canaan be his servant” (Gen. 9:26). Gibeon became a part of Benjamin’s land area (Josh. 18:25). Later, Joshua consigned Gibeon as one of the Levite towns (21:17). Nehemiah had help from some Gibeonites in rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem (Neh. 3:7).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:1–11 Gibeon and three other towns (9:17) were attacked by a coalition of five cities. Israel came to the rescue, with God giving the victory (10:10).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:11 The hailstones were miraculous. Notice their: 1) source, God; 2) size, large; 3) slaughter, more by stones than by sword; 4) selectivity, only on the enemy; 5) swath, “as far as Azekah”; 6) situation, during a trek down a slope and while God caused the sun to stand still; and 7) similarity to miraculous stones God will fling down during the future wrath (Rev. 16:21).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:12–14 sun stood still, and the moon stopped. Some say an eclipse hid the sun, keeping its heat from Joshua’s worn soldiers and allowing coolness for battle. Others suppose a local (not universal) refraction of the sun’s rays such as the local darkness in Egypt (Ex. 10:21–23). Another view has it as only language of observation; i.e., it only seemed to Joshua’s men that the sun and moon stopped as God helped them do in one literal 24-hour day what would normally take longer. Others view it as lavish poetic description, not literal fact. However, such ideas fail to do justice to Josh. 10:12–14, and needlessly question God’s power as Creator. This is best accepted as an outright, monumental miracle. Joshua, moved by the Lord’s will, commanded the sun to delay (Hebrew, “be still, silent, leave off”). The earth actually stopped revolving or, more likely, the sun moved in the same way to keep perfect pace with the battlefield. The moon also ceased its orbiting. This permitted Joshua’s troops time to finish the battle with complete victory (v. 11).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:13–15 Book of Jashar. Jashar means “upright.” It may be the same as the book called Wars of the Lord (Num 21:14). The Book of Jashar is mentioned again in 2 Sam. 1:18 and a portion is recorded in 10:12–13. The book appears to have been a compilation of Hebrew songs in honor of Israel’s leaders and exploits in battle.

The Conquest of Canaan: The Southern Campaign

c. 1400 B.C.

Upon hearing that the Gibeonites signed a peace treaty with the Israelites, five Amorite cities attacked Gibeon. Joshua’s forces came up from Gilgal to defend the Gibeonites, and they chased the Amorites as far as Azekah and Makkedah. Joshua’s forces continued their attack until they had captured Libnah, Lachish, Makkedah, Eglon, Debir, Hebron, and most likely Jarmuth.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:24 feet on the necks. This gesture 1) symbolized victory and 2) promised assurance of future conquest (v. 25).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:40–43 A summary of Joshua's southern campaign (cf. 9:1–10:43).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 10:42 Tribute belongs to the Lord for all the victories, as “give thanks in all circumstances” (1 Thess. 5:18).

---

The Conquest of Canaan: The Northern Campaign

c. 1400 B.C.

After Joshua’s forces defeated several Amorite kings in the south, the king of Hazor assembled the northern Canaanite kings to battle the Israelites. Joshua and his men defeated the Canaanites at the waters of Merom and pursued them to Great Sidon and the Valley of Mizpeh. Then Joshua turned back and captured the city of Hazor.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:1 Hazor. A city 5 miles southwest of Lake Huleh, 10 miles north of the Sea of Galilee. King Jabin led a coalition of kings from several city-states in Galilee and to the west against Joshua, whose victory reports in the south had spread northward.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:2 south . . . in the lowland. This refers to the deep rift of the Jordan River valley to the south of the Lake of Chinneroth (12:3), later called the Sea of Galilee. Chinneroth was probably a town not far north of the lake. The lowland or foothills are an area somewhat west of the Jordan, toward the Mediterranean Sea. Here also is the plain of Sharon and the heights of Dor, i.e., foothills extending to Mount Carmel, nearer the Mediterranean coast and Dor, a seaport city.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:5 Merom. These copious springs a few miles southwest of Lake Huleh, about 13 miles north from the Lake of Chinneroth, provided the northern armies a rendezvous point.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:6 hamstring. They cut the large sinew or ligament at the back of the hock on the rear leg, which crippled the horses, making them useless.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:8 Great Sidon. A city on the Phoenician coast, north of Hazor. “Great” may refer to surrounding areas along with the city itself. Misrephoth-maim. This location lay west of Hazor and also on the Mediterranean.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:12–15 A summary of Joshua’s northern campaign (11:1–15).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:16–17 Joshua took all that land. The sweeping conquest covered much of Palestine. hill country. In the south, in Judah. Negeb. South of the Dead Sea. Goshen. Probably the land between Gaza and Gibeon. lowland. Or foothills; refers to an area between the Mediterranean coastal plain and the hills of Judah. Arabah. The rift valley running south of the Dead Sea all the way to the Red Sea’s Gulf of Aqabah. The hill country of Israel is distinct from that in v. 16, lying in the northern part of Palestine. The conquest reached from Mount Halak, about 6 miles south of the Dead Sea, to Mount Hermon about 40 miles northeast from the Lake of Chinneroth.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:18 war a long time. The conquest took approximately seven years—c. 1405–1398 B.C. (cf. 14:10). Only Gibeon submitted without a fight (11:19).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:20 it was the Lord’s doing to harden their hearts. God turned the Canaanites’ hearts to fight in order that Israel might be his judging instrument to destroy them. They were willfully guilty of rejecting the true God with consequent great wickedness, and were as unfit to remain in the land as vomit spewed out of the mouth (Lev. 18:24–25).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:21 Anakim. Enemies who dwelt in the southern area that Joshua had defeated. They descended from Anak (“long-necked”), and were related to the giants who made Israel’s spies feel small as grasshoppers by comparison (Num. 13:28–33). Compare also Deut. 2:10, 11, 21. Their territory was later given to Caleb as a reward for his loyalty (Josh. 14:6–15).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:22 Anakim . . . Gath. Some of them remained in Philistine territory; most notably those who preceded Goliath (cf. 1 Sam. 17:4).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 11:23 the whole land. Here is a key verse for the book, which sums up 11:16–22. How does this relate to 13:1, where God tells Joshua that he did not take the whole land? It may mean that the major battles had been fought and supremacy demonstrated, even if further incidents would occur and not every last pocket of potential resistance had yet been rooted out.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:1–24 the kings . . . defeated. The actual list of 31 kings conquered (v. 24) follows and fills out the summary of “the land” in 11:16–23. The roster shows the kings whom “Moses defeated” east of the Jordan earlier (12:1–6; cf. Num. 21; Deut. 2:24–3:17); then those whom Joshua conquered west of the Jordan—a summary (Josh. 12:7–8); central kings (v. 9); southern kings (vv. 10–16); and northern kings (vv. 17–24).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 12:24 The conquest of all these kings, covering areas up and down the “land” (11:23), was due to the Lord’s faithful help, which fulfilled his word. God promised the land in his covenant with Abraham (Gen. 12:7), and reaffirmed that he would give success in conquest (Josh. 1:3–6).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:1 Joshua was old. By this time he was about 95, in comparison to Caleb’s 85 years (14:10). In 23:1, he was 110 and near death (24:29).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:1–2 much land. Some land had not yet actually been occupied by the Israelites through the previous general victories. Pockets or areas in 13:2–6 still lay untouched by specific invasion and occupation (see note on 11:23). When Joshua allotted areas to individuals and tribes, they bore the challenge to drive out lingering resisters; if not, they would disobey God’s mandate to be resolute in conquest (Deut. 11:22–23). Failure to do this thoroughly is a sad theme in Judg. 1.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:3 Shihor. Probably related to the Nile (Isa. 23:3; Jer. 2:18), and possibly a name for that river or an eastern tributary of it. The name could also refer to a seasonal rain trough that runs to the Mediterranean, the Wadi-el-Arish in the desert south of Palestine, northeast of Egypt.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:7 divide this land. God commanded Joshua to devise allotments within boundaries for inheritances as he had prepared for earlier (Num. 32–34). Joshua announced divisions made clear by lot to tribes east of the Jordan (Josh. 13:8–33), tribes west of the Jordan (chs. 14–19), Caleb (14:6–15; cf. 15:13–19), his own area (19:49–51), cities of refuge (20:1–9), and Levite towns (ch. 21).

The Allotment of the Land

During the conquest of Canaan, Joshua allotted the land to the tribes of Israel. These boundaries, however, do not necessarily reflect the land each tribe actually inhabited by the end of the conquest. Several tribes, such as Dan, were unable to drive out the Canaanites that lived in much of their allotted territory (19:47), while other tribes controlled portions of land that were not originally allotted to them (e.g., 17:11).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:22 Balaam . . . was killed . . . by the people of Israel. This Israelite slaying of the infamous false prophet occurred at an unidentified point during the conquest (cf. Num. 21–25; 31:16; Josh. 24:9–10; 2 Pet. 2:15–16; Jude 11; Rev. 2:14).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 13:33 to . . . Levi . . . gave no inheritance. God did not give this tribe a normal allotment of land. This suited his choice of Levites for the special ministry of the tabernacle service. Their inheritance consisted in this unique role to share his holy ministrations (18:7). God did assign them cities and adjacent lands (14:4; Num. 35:2–5), scattered at 48 places (Josh. 21:41) throughout all the tribes. This made these religious servants accessible to all the people (cf. ch. 21).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:1 the land of Canaan. The name for the land west of the Jordan.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:5 The people of Israel did. They obeyed in some things, but not in all (see note on 13:1–2).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:6–9 Caleb. This passage reviews what is also recounted in Num. 13–14. This includes a celebration of God’s faithfulness (Josh. 14:7–11), and Caleb’s specific inheritance (vv. 12–15). Later, he conquered the area (15:13–14) and conferred blessing on Othniel and his daughter (15:15–19).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:10 eighty-five years old. Given 1) that Caleb was 40 at Kadesh-barnea and 2) that the Israelites had wandered in the wilderness 38 years, then the conquering of the land took seven years (c. 1405–1398 B.C.), Caleb was now 85 years old.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:12–14 Based on his promise (v. 9), God granted Caleb’s desire for Hebron because of his faithfulness to believe that God would give the land to the Israelites as he promised.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 14:15 Anakim. See 15:13; see note on 11:21.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:1–12 The allotment for . . . Judah. The tribe’s southern boundary (v. 1) ran from the lower tip of the Salt or Dead Sea in a sweep through the desert over to the Wadi, the brook of Egypt (see note on 13:3), and along it to the Mediterranean. The eastern limit (15:5) ran the length of the Salt Sea itself. On the north, it extended from the north end of the Salt Sea by various lines working to the Mediterranean (vv. 5–11). The Mediterranean coastline served as the western border (v. 12).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:17 Othniel. A conqueror like Caleb, who was his father-in-law, he would later be a judge in Israel (Judg. 3:9–11).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:18–19 Caleb’s daughter sought blessing and exercised real faith for it—like father, like daughter.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:20–62 the inheritance of . . . Judah. Judah’s cities are grouped in four areas: south (vv. 20–32); lowland or foothills over near the Mediterranean (vv. 33–47); hilly central region (vv. 48–60); Judean wilderness dropping eastward down to the Dead Sea (vv. 61–62).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 15:63 Jebusites. The inhabitants of Jerusalem were descendants from the third son of Canaan (Gen. 10:15–16; 15:21). Joshua killed their king who had joined a pact against Gibeon (Josh. 10). Israelites called the area “Jebus” until David ordered Joab and his soldiers to capture the city (2 Sam. 5:6–7) and made it his capital. Judges 1:8, 21 show that the Israelites conquered Jebus and burned it, but the Jebusites later regained control until David’s day. Melchizedek had been a very early king (Gen. 14), a believer in the true God, when the site was “Salem” (cf. Ps. 76:2, “Salem” is “Jerusalem”).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 16:1–4 people of Joseph. Joseph’s territory was double as it was given to his sons Manasseh and Ephraim, who had inheritances stretching over a good portion of the central area in the Promised Land.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 16:5–9 territory of . . . Ephraim. The description is of the land north of Judah’s territory, from the Jordan west to the Mediterranean Sea. There was the inclusion of some cities in the territory of Manasseh, since Ephraim’s land was small compared to its population.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 16:10 Ephraim did not drive the Canaanites from their area. This is the first mention of the fatal policy of neglecting to exterminate the idolaters (cf. Deut. 20:16).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:1–18 Manasseh. The other half-tribe of Manasseh, distinct from the half in 16:4, received its portion of the split inheritance west of the Jordan to the north and east near the Lake of Chinneroth (Galilee).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:3–6 Zelophehad. In Manasseh’s tribe, this man had no sons as heirs, but his five daughters received the inheritance. God led Moses to give this right to women (Num. 27:1–11, cited in Josh. 17:4).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 17:12–18 people of Manasseh. Tribesmen of Manasseh complained that Joshua did not allot them land sufficient to their numbers and that the Canaanites were too tough for them to drive out altogether. He permitted them extra land in forested hills that they could clear. Joshua told them that they could drive out the Canaanites, for God had promised to be with them in victory against chariots (Deut. 20:1).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:1 Shiloh. Israel as a whole, having had their camp first at Gilgal (4:20; 5:9), converged to Shiloh for worship at the tabernacle. Shiloh, about 9 miles north of Bethel and 20 miles north of Jerusalem, remained the center of spiritual attention, as in Judg. 18:31 and 1 Sam. 1:3. Due to Israel's sin, God would later let the Philistines devastate Israel at Shiloh and capture the ark (1 Sam. 4:10, 17), and he would later use Shiloh as an example of judgment (Jer. 7:12).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:8, 10 Seven tribes were yet to receive land (v. 2). Joshua obtained from their 21 surveyor scouts (vv. 2–4) descriptions of the seven areas of land, and then cast lots to decide the choices. The high priest Eleazar served him, seeking God's will by casting lots (19:51). This was not some act of mere chance, but a means God used to reveal his will (see note on Prov. 16:33).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 18:11–28 The lot of . . . Benjamin. This inheritance lay between Judah's and Ephraim's, and embraced Jerusalem (v. 28).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:1–9 Simeon. This area was a southern portion of Judah's territory, since that allotment was more than Judah needed (v. 9).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:10–16 Zebulun. This allotment lay west of the Lake of Chinneroth (Sea of Galilee) and ran to the Mediterranean Sea.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:17–23 Issachar. The area basically ran just below the Sea of Galilee from the Jordan west over to Mount Tabor, circling southwest almost to Megiddo, north of Manasseh's portion.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:24–31 Asher. This territory was a long, broad strip flanking the Mediterranean on the west, then Naphtali's and Zebulun's claims on the east, running south to Manasseh's. It reached from Mount Carmel in the south to the area of Tyre in the north.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:32–39 Naphtali. This region took in a long stretch of land with a border at the northern edge of all the Israelite inheritances, a line on the west dividing it from Asher, southward to follow Zebulun's northern border. Then it struck eastward toward the Sea of Galilee with land to the west alongside that sea and down to Issachar's claim, over to the Jordan River. The eastern line ran northward, including the city of Hazor and also Dan, and then swung north of Dan. Jesus' Galilean ministry would take place largely in this area (Isa. 9:1–2; Matt. 4:13–17).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:33 oak. This may have been an oak forest (if taken in a collective sense, as the word possibly means in Gen. 12:6) near Kedesh and northwest of the waters at Merom. According to Judg. 4:11, it was the site where Jael killed Sisera with a hammer and tent peg (Josh. 4:21).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:40–48 Dan. The tribal allotment was a narrow, roughly U-shaped strip just north of Judah's claim and south of Ephraim's. The Mediterranean coast lay on the western arm of the "U." Joppa was on the coast near the north end. Later the Danites, failing to possess their original claim (Judg. 1:34–36), migrated northeastward to a territory by Laish or Leshem (Josh. 19:47). They conquered this area north of the Sea of Galilee and Hazor, and renamed it Dan (Josh. 19:47–48; Judg. 18:27–29).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 19:49–50 Joshua received his own inheritance from the children of Israel, an area he preferred in the hills of his tribe, Ephraim (Num. 13:8). He built a city, Timnath-serah, about 16 miles southwest of Shechem. His inheritance was an intrinsic part of God's promise to him, as was also Caleb's inheritance (Num. 14:30).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 20:2–9 cities of refuge. Moses had spoken God’s word to name six cities in Israel as refuge centers. A person who inadvertently killed another could flee to the nearest of these for protection (cf. Num. 35:9–34). Three lay west of the Jordan, and three lay to the east, each reachable in a day for those in its area. The slayer could flee there to escape pursuit by a family member seeking to exact private justice. Authorities at the refuge protected him and escorted him to a trial. If found innocent, he was guarded at the refuge until the death of the current high priest, a kind of statute of limitations (Josh. 20:6). He could then return home. If found guilty of murder, he suffered due punishment.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:1–3 cities to dwell in. God had given Moses his direction to provide 48 cities for the Levites, dotted throughout Israel’s tribal allotments (Num. 35:1–8). Six were to be the cities of refuge (Num. 35:6).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:3–42 the people of Israel gave to the Levites. These 48 cities (v. 41) are for various branches of the Levite people to live in and have pasture for their livestock (v. 42). People of the other tribes donated the areas, each site giving the Levites a vantage point from which to minister spiritually to the people nearby. In fairness, larger tribes devoted more land, smaller ones less (Num. 35:8). Only the Kohathites were priests, with other branches of Levites assisting in various roles of ritual worship and manual labors.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:4 Kohathites. Under God’s guiding wisdom, these received 13 city areas in the vicinity of Jerusalem or at a reasonable distance within allotments of Judah, Benjamin, and Simeon. This would give them access to carry out priestly functions where God would later have the ark moved and the temple situated (2 Sam. 6).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 21:43–45 Thus the Lord gave to Israel all the land. This sums up God’s fulfillment of his covenant promise to give Abraham’s people the land (Gen. 12:7; Josh. 1:2, 5–9). God also kept his word in giving the people rest (Deut. 12:9–10). In a valid sense, the Canaanites were in check, under military conquest as God had pledged (Josh. 1:5), not posing an immediate threat. Not every enemy had been driven out, however, leaving some to stir up trouble later. But God’s people failed to exercise their responsibility and possess their land to the full degree in various areas.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:1 Reubenites . . . Gadites . . . Manasseh. The tribes from east of the Jordan had helped their people conquer the land west of the river. Now they were ready to go back to their families to the east.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:4 Moses . . . gave you. Clearance from Moses and Joshua for these tribes to possess land east of the Jordan was of God (v. 9; 24:8; Num. 32:30–33).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 22:10–34 an altar by the Jordan. The special altar built by the two and a half tribes near the river, though well-meant, aroused suspicions among western tribes. They feared rebellion against the Shiloh altar that served all the tribes in unity. When challenged, men of the eastern tribes explained their motives to follow the true God, be in unity with the rest of Israel, and not be regarded as outsiders. The explanation met with other Israelites' approval.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:1 Joshua was old. A long time had passed since he led the conquest c. 1405–1398 B.C.; Joshua had grown very old, and was 110 when he died (24:29), c. 1385–1383 B.C. (see note on 13:1).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:5 The Lord . . . will push them back. God was ready to help his people drive the remaining Canaanites out so that they could possess their claims more fully. Such moves needed to be gradual (Deut. 7:22), but determined, in obedience to God.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:7–8 The dangers from being incomplete about possessing all the land included that of intermingling with the godless, as in marriages (v. 12), and committing to their gods, thus drifting from worshiping the true God. The Canaanites would become snares, traps, scourges, and thorns, causing Israelites to eventually lose the land (vv. 13, 15–16).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 23:15–16 This actually occurred 800 years later, when Babylon exiled the Israelites c. 605–586 B.C. (cf. 2 Kings 24–25).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:1–25 It was time for worship and thanksgiving for all God had done leading up to and including the conquest of Canaan.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:1–5 Joshua reviewed the history recorded in Gen. 11 to Ex. 15.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:2 the Euphrates. Where Abraham's family had lived. It is clear here that God's calling of Abraham out to himself was also a call out of idolatry, as he does with others (cf. 1 Thess. 1:9).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:6–13 Joshua reviewed the history recorded in Ex. 12 to Josh. 22.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:8, 15 Amorites. Sometimes this is used as a general term for the entire pagan populace (cf. v. 11) in Canaan, as elsewhere (Gen. 15:16; Judg. 1:34–35). At other times, the name has a narrower reference to people of the hill country (Num. 13:29), distinct from others.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:9–10 Balaam. See note on Josh. 13:22 about the unsavory nature of Balaam in Num. 21–25.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:12 I sent the hornet before you. This description, as also in Ex. 23:28, is a picturesque figure (cf. also Josh. 23:13) portraying God's own fighting to assist Israel (23:3, 5, 10, 13). This awesome force put the enemy to flight, as the feared hornets lit. can do (Deut. 7:20–21).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:15 choose this day whom you will serve. Joshua's fatherly model (reminiscent of Abraham's, Gen. 18:19) was for himself and his family to serve the Lord, not false gods. He called others in Israel to this, and they committed themselves to serve the Lord also (Josh. 24:21–24).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:18 The population joined Joshua in claiming total commitment to serve the Lord (cf. Ex. 19:8).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:26 Book of the Law. Joshua expands the first five books of Moses, as the canon of revealed Scripture develops. by the sanctuary. God's tabernacle, the ark of the covenant, was at Shiloh (21:2). The stone of witness by the holy place (sanctuary) here was at Shechem (24:1). This holy place is not a formal tent or building, but a sacred place by a tree (cf. Gen. 12:6; 35:4), as other places had significance in the past for worship to God (Gen. 21:33).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:29–33 Joshua . . . Eleazar. Three prominent leaders were buried as the conquering generation was passing on: Joseph, Joshua, and the high priest Eleazar.

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:29 110 years old. This was c. 1383 B.C. (cf. 14:7–10).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:31 Faithfulness to God extended only one generation (cf.

Judg. 2:6–13).

JOSHUA—NOTE ON 24:32 the bones of Joseph. These had been carried by the Israelites in the exodus (Ex. 13:19) as Joseph had made them promise (Gen. 50:25). He wanted his remains to lie in the land of covenant pledge. So now his people laid them to rest at Shechem, in the land God had guaranteed (Gen. 12:7).

Introduction to Judges

Title

The book bears the fitting name “Judges,” which refers to unique leaders God gave to his people for preservation against their enemies (2:16–19). The Hebrew title means “deliverers” or “saviors,” as well as judges (cf. Deut. 16:18; 17:9; 19:17). Twelve such judges arose before Samuel; then Eli and Samuel raised the count to 14. God himself is the higher Judge (Judg. 11:27). Judges spans about 350 years from Joshua’s conquest (c. 1398 B.C.) until Eli and Samuel judged prior to the establishment of the monarchy (c. 1043 B.C.).

Author and Date

No author is named in the book, but the Jewish Talmud identifies Samuel, a key prophet who lived at the time these events took place and could have personally summed up the era (cf. 1 Sam. 10:25). The time was earlier than David’s capture of Jerusalem c. 1004 B.C. (2 Sam. 5:6–7) since Jebusites still controlled the site (Judg. 1:21). Also, the writer deals with a time before a king ruled (Judg. 17:6; 18:1; 21:25). Since Saul began his reign c. 1043 B.C., a time shortly after his rule began is probably when Judges was written.

Background and Setting

Judges is a tragic sequel to Joshua. In Joshua, the people were obedient to God in conquering the land. In Judges, they were disobedient, idolatrous, and often defeated. Judges 1:1–3:6 focuses on the closing days of the book of Joshua. Judges 2:6–9 gives a review of Joshua’s death (cf. Josh. 24:28–31). The account describes seven distinct cycles of Israel’s drifting away from the Lord starting even before Joshua’s death, with a full departure into apostasy afterward. Five basic reasons are evident for these cycles of Israel’s moral and spiritual decline: 1) disobedience in failing to drive the Canaanites out of the land (Judg. 1:19, 21, 35); 2) idolatry (2:12); 3) intermarriage with wicked Canaanites (3:5–6); 4) not heeding judges (2:17); and 5) turning away from God after the death of the judges (2:19).

A four-part sequence repeatedly occurred in this phase of Israel's history: 1) Israel's departure from God; 2) God's chastisement in permitting military defeat and subjugation; 3) Israel's prayer pleading for deliverance; and 4) God raising up "judges," either civil or sometimes local military champions who led in shaking off the oppressors. Fourteen judges arose, six of them military judges (Othniel, Ehud, Deborah, Gideon, Jephthah, and Samson). Two men were of special significance for contrast in spiritual leadership: 1) Eli, judge and high priest (not a good example); and 2) Samuel, judge, priest, and prophet (a good example).

Historical and Theological Themes

Judges is thematic rather than chronological; foremost among its themes is God's power and covenant mercy in graciously delivering the Israelites from the consequences of their failures, which were suffered for sinful compromise (cf. 2:18–19; 21:25). In seven periods of sin to salvation (cf. Introduction: Outline), God compassionately delivered his people throughout the different geographical areas of tribal inheritances that he had earlier given through Joshua (Josh. 13–22). The apostasy covered the whole land, as indicated by the fact that each area is specifically identified: southern (Judg. 3:7–31); northern (4:1–5:31); central (6:1–10:5); eastern (10:6–12:15); and western (13:1–16:31). His power to faithfully rescue shines against the dark backdrop of pitiful human compromise and sometimes bizarre twists of sin, as in the final summary (chs. 17–21). The last verse (21:25) sums up the account: "In those days there was no king in Israel. Everyone did what was right in his own eyes."

Interpretive Challenges

The most stimulating challenges are: 1) how to view men's violent acts against enemies or fellow countrymen, whether with God's approval or without it; 2) God's use of leaders who at times do his will and at times follow their own sinful impulses (Gideon, Eli, Jephthah, Samson); 3) how to view Jephthah's vow and offering of his daughter (11:30–40); and 4) how to resolve God's sovereign will with his providential working in spite of human sin (cf. 14:4).

The chronology of the various judges in different sectors of the land raises questions about how much time passed and how the time totals can fit into the entire time span from the exodus (c. 1445 B.C.) to Solomon's fourth year, c.

967/966 B.C., which is said to be 480 years (1 Kings 6:1; see note on Judg. 11:26). A reasonable explanation is that the deliverances and years of rest under the judges in distinct parts of the land included overlaps, so that some of them did not run consecutively but rather concurrently during the 480 years. Paul's estimate of "about 450" years in Acts 13:19 is an approximation.

The Continuing Conquest of Canaan

JUDGES 1 † After the death of Joshua, the people of Israel inquired of the LORD, “Who shall go up first for us against the Canaanites, to fight against them?”

‡ The LORD said, “Judah shall go up; behold, I have given the land into his hand.”<sup>3</sup> And Judah said to Simeon his brother, “Come up with me into the territory allotted to me, that we may fight against the Canaanites. And I likewise will go with you into the territory allotted to you.” So Simeon went with him.

<sup>4</sup> Then Judah went up and the LORD gave the Canaanites and the Perizzites into their hand, and they defeated 10,000 of them at Bezek. <sup>5</sup> They found Adoni-bezek at Bezek and fought against him and defeated the Canaanites and the Perizzites.

‡ Adoni-bezek fled, but they pursued him and caught him and cut off his thumbs and his big toes. <sup>7</sup> And Adoni-bezek said, “Seventy kings with their thumbs and their big toes cut off used to pick up scraps under my table. As I have done, so God has repaid me.” And they brought him to Jerusalem, and he died there.

<sup>8</sup> And the men of Judah fought against Jerusalem and captured it and struck it with the edge of the sword and set the city on fire. <sup>9</sup> And afterward the men of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites who lived in the hill country, in the Negeb, and in the lowland. <sup>10</sup> And Judah went against the Canaanites who lived in Hebron (now the name of Hebron was formerly Kiriath-arba), and they defeated Sheshai and Ahiman and Talmi.

<sup>11</sup> From there they went against the inhabitants of Debir. The name of Debir was formerly Kiriath-sepher. ‡ And Caleb said, “He who attacks Kiriath-sepher and captures it, I will give him Achsah my daughter for a wife.” <sup>13</sup> And Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother, captured it. And he gave him Achsah his daughter for a wife. <sup>14</sup> When she came to him, she urged him to ask her father for a field. And she dismounted from her donkey, and Caleb said to her, “What do you want?” <sup>15</sup> She said to him, “Give me a blessing. Since you have set me in the land of the Negeb, give me also springs of water.” And Caleb gave her the upper springs and the lower springs.

‡ And the descendants of the Kenite, Moses' father-in-law, went up with the people of Judah from the city of palms into the wilderness of Judah, which lies in the Negeb near Arad, and they went and settled with the people. <sup>17</sup> And Judah went with Simeon his brother, and they defeated the Canaanites who inhabited Zephath and devoted it to destruction. So the name of the city was called Hormah. [1] <sup>18</sup>Judah also captured Gaza with its territory, and Ashkelon with its territory, and Ekron with its territory. <sup>19</sup>†And the LORD was with Judah, and he took possession of the hill country, but he could not drive out the inhabitants of the plain because they had chariots of iron. <sup>20</sup>†And Hebron was given to Caleb, as Moses had said. And he drove out from it the three sons of Anak. <sup>21</sup>But the people of Benjamin did not drive out the Jebusites who lived in Jerusalem, so the Jebusites have lived with the people of Benjamin in Jerusalem to this day.

<sup>22</sup>The house of Joseph also went up against Bethel, and the LORD was with them. <sup>23</sup>And the house of Joseph scouted out Bethel. (Now the name of the city was formerly Luz.) <sup>24</sup>And the spies saw a man coming out of the city, and they said to him, “Please show us the way into the city, and we will deal kindly with you.” <sup>25</sup>And he showed them the way into the city. And they struck the city with the edge of the sword, but they let the man and all his family go. <sup>26</sup>And the man went to the land of the Hittites and built a city and called its name Luz. That is its name to this day.

Failure to Complete the Conquest

<sup>27</sup>Manasseh did not drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shean and its villages, or Taanach and its villages, or the inhabitants of Dor and its villages, or the inhabitants of Ibleam and its villages, or the inhabitants of Megiddo and its villages, for the Canaanites persisted in dwelling in that land. <sup>28</sup>When Israel grew strong, they put the Canaanites to forced labor, but did not drive them out completely.

<sup>29</sup>And Ephraim did not drive out the Canaanites who lived in Gezer, so the Canaanites lived in Gezer among them.

<sup>30</sup>Zebulun did not drive out the inhabitants of Kitron, or the inhabitants of Nahalol, so the Canaanites lived among them, but became subject to forced labor.

<sup>31</sup>Asher did not drive out the inhabitants of Acco, or the inhabitants of Sidon or of Ahlab or of Achzib or of Helbah or of Aphik or of Rehob, <sup>32</sup>so the Asherites lived among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land, for they did not drive them out.

<sup>33</sup>Naphtali did not drive out the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh, or the inhabitants of Beth-anath, so they lived among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land. Nevertheless, the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and of Beth-anath became subject to forced labor for them.

<sup>34</sup>†The Amorites pressed the people of Dan back into the hill country, for they did not allow them to come down to the plain. <sup>35</sup>The Amorites persisted in dwelling in Mount Heres, in Aijalon, and in Shaalbim, but the hand of the house of Joseph rested heavily on them, and they became subject to forced labor. <sup>36</sup>And the border of the Amorites ran from the ascent of Akrabbim, from Sela and upward.

Israel's Disobedience

JUDGES 2 † Now the angel of the LORD went up from Gilgal to Bochim. And he said, “I brought you up from Egypt and brought you into the land that I swore to give to your fathers. I said, ‘I will never break my covenant with you, <sup>2</sup>and you shall make no covenant with the inhabitants of this land; you shall break down their altars.’ But you have not obeyed my voice. What is this you have done? <sup>3</sup>So now I say, I will not drive them out before you, but they shall become thorns in your sides, [1] and their gods shall be a snare to you.” <sup>4</sup>As soon as the angel of the LORD spoke these words to all the people of Israel, the people lifted up their voices and wept. <sup>5</sup>And they called the name of that place Bochim. [2] And they sacrificed there to the LORD.

The Death of Joshua

<sup>6</sup>When Joshua dismissed the people, the people of Israel went each to his inheritance to take possession of the land. <sup>7</sup>And the people served the LORD all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua, who had seen all the great work that the LORD had done for Israel. <sup>8</sup>And Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the LORD, died at the age of 110 years. <sup>9</sup>And they buried him within the boundaries of his inheritance in Timnath-heres, in the hill country of Ephraim, north of the mountain of Gaash. <sup>10</sup>† And all that generation also were gathered to their fathers. And there arose another generation after them who did not know the LORD or the work that he had done for Israel.

Israel's Unfaithfulness

<sup>11</sup>And the people of Israel did what was evil in the sight of the LORD and served the Baals. <sup>12</sup>† And they abandoned the LORD, the God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt. They went after other gods, from among the gods of the peoples who were around them, and bowed down to them. And they provoked the LORD to anger. <sup>13</sup>They abandoned the LORD and served the Baals and the Ashtaroath. <sup>14</sup>† So the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he gave them over to plunderers, who plundered them. And he sold them into the hand of their surrounding enemies, so that they could no longer withstand their enemies. <sup>15</sup>Whenever they marched out, the hand of the LORD was against them for harm, as the LORD had warned, and as the LORD had sworn to them. And they were in terrible distress.

The LORD Raises Up Judges

<sup>16</sup>†Then the LORD raised up judges, who saved them out of the hand of those who plundered them. <sup>17</sup>Yet they did not listen to their judges, for they whored after other gods and bowed down to them. They soon turned aside from the way in which their fathers had walked, who had obeyed the commandments of the LORD, and they did not do so. <sup>18</sup>Whenever the LORD raised up judges for them, the LORD was with the judge, and he saved them from the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge. For the LORD was moved to pity by their groaning because of those who afflicted and oppressed them. <sup>19</sup>But whenever the judge died, they turned back and were more corrupt than their fathers, going after other gods, serving them and bowing down to them. They did not drop any of their practices or their stubborn ways. <sup>20</sup>So the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he said, “Because this people has transgressed my covenant that I commanded their fathers and have not obeyed my voice, <sup>21</sup>I will no longer drive out before them any of the nations that Joshua left when he died, <sup>22</sup>in order to test Israel by them, whether they will take care to walk in the way of the LORD as their fathers did, or not.” <sup>23</sup>So the LORD left those nations, not driving them out quickly, and he did not give them into the hand of Joshua.

JUDGES 3 †Now these are the nations that the LORD left, to test Israel by them, that is, all in Israel who had not experienced all the wars in Canaan. <sup>2</sup>It was only in order that the generations of the people of Israel might know war, to teach war to those who had not known it before. <sup>3</sup>These are the nations: the five lords of the Philistines and all the Canaanites and the Sidonians and the Hivites who lived on Mount Lebanon, from Mount Baal-hermon as far as Lebo-hamath. <sup>4</sup>They were for the testing of Israel, to know whether Israel would obey the commandments of the LORD, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses. <sup>5</sup>†So the people of Israel lived among the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. <sup>6</sup>†And their daughters they took to themselves for wives, and their own daughters they gave to their sons, and they served their gods.

Othniel

<sup>7</sup>And the people of Israel did what was evil in the sight of the LORD. They forgot the LORD their God and served the Baals and the Asheroth. <sup>8</sup>Therefore the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of Cushan-rishathaim king of Mesopotamia. And the people of Israel served Cushan-rishathaim eight years. <sup>9</sup>But when the people of Israel cried out to the LORD, the LORD raised up a deliverer for the people of Israel, who saved them, Othniel the son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother. <sup>10</sup>†The Spirit of the LORD was upon him, and he judged Israel. He went out to war, and the LORD gave Cushan-rishathaim king of Mesopotamia into his hand. And his hand prevailed over Cushan-rishathaim. <sup>11</sup>So the land had rest forty years. Then Othniel the son of Kenaz died.

Ehud

<sup>12</sup>And the people of Israel again did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, and the LORD strengthened Eglon the king of Moab against Israel, because they had done what was evil in the sight of the LORD. <sup>13</sup>He gathered to himself the Ammonites and the Amalekites, and went and defeated Israel. And they took possession of the city of palms. <sup>14</sup>And the people of Israel served Eglon the king of Moab eighteen years.

<sup>15</sup>Then the people of Israel cried out to the LORD, and the LORD raised up for them a deliverer, Ehud, the son of Gera, the Benjaminite, a left-handed man. The people of Israel sent tribute by him to Eglon the king of Moab. <sup>16</sup>And Ehud made for himself a sword with two edges, a cubit [1] in length, and he bound it on his right thigh under his clothes. <sup>17</sup>And he presented the tribute to Eglon king of Moab. Now Eglon was a very fat man. <sup>18</sup>And when Ehud had finished presenting the tribute, he sent away the people who carried the tribute. <sup>19</sup>But he himself turned back at the idols near Gilgal and said, "I have a secret message for you, O king." And he commanded, "Silence." And all his attendants went out from his presence. <sup>20</sup>† And Ehud came to him as he was sitting alone in his cool roof chamber. And Ehud said, "I have a message from God for you." And he arose from his seat. <sup>21</sup>And Ehud reached with his left hand, took the sword from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly. <sup>22</sup>And the hilt also went in after the blade, and the fat closed over the blade, for he did not pull the sword out of his belly; and the dung came out. <sup>23</sup>Then Ehud went out into the porch [2] and closed the doors of the roof chamber behind him and locked them.

<sup>24</sup>† When he had gone, the servants came, and when they saw that the doors of the roof chamber were locked, they thought, "Surely he is relieving himself in the closet of the cool chamber." <sup>25</sup>And they waited till they were embarrassed. But when he still did not open the doors of the roof chamber, they took the key and opened them, and there lay their lord dead on the floor.

<sup>26</sup>Ehud escaped while they delayed, and he passed beyond the idols and escaped to Seirah. <sup>27</sup>When he arrived, he sounded the trumpet in the hill country of Ephraim. Then the people of Israel went down with him from the hill country, and he was their leader. <sup>28</sup>And he said to them, "Follow after me, for the LORD has given your enemies the Moabites into your hand." So they went down after him and seized the fords of the Jordan against the Moabites and did not allow anyone to pass over. <sup>29</sup>And they killed at that time about 10,000 of the Moabites, all strong, able-bodied men; not a man escaped. <sup>30</sup>So Moab was subdued that day under the hand of Israel. And the land had rest for eighty years.

Shamgar

<sup>31</sup>† After him was Shamgar the son of Anath, who killed 600 of the Philistines with an oxgoad, and he also saved Israel.

Deborah and Barak

JUDGES 4 And the people of Israel again did what was evil in the sight of the LORD after Ehud died. <sup>2</sup>And the LORD sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor. The commander of his army was Sisera, who lived in Harosheth-hagoyim. <sup>3</sup>Then the people of Israel cried out to the LORD for help, for he had 900 chariots of iron and he oppressed the people of Israel cruelly for twenty years.

<sup>4</sup>†Now Deborah, a prophetess, the wife of Lappidoth, was judging Israel at that time. <sup>5</sup>She used to sit under the palm of Deborah between Ramah and Bethel in the hill country of Ephraim, and the people of Israel came up to her for judgment. <sup>6</sup>She sent and summoned Barak the son of Abinoam from Kedesh-naphtali and said to him, “Has not the LORD, the God of Israel, commanded you, ‘Go, gather your men at Mount Tabor, taking 10,000 from the people of Naphtali and the people of Zebulun. <sup>7</sup>And I will draw out Sisera, the general of Jabin’s army, to meet you by the river Kishon with his chariots and his troops, and I will give him into your hand’?” <sup>8</sup>Barak said to her, “If you will go with me, I will go, but if you will not go with me, I will not go.” <sup>9</sup>And she said, “I will surely go with you. Nevertheless, the road on which you are going will not lead to your glory, for the LORD will sell Sisera into the hand of a woman.” Then Deborah arose and went with Barak to Kedesh. <sup>10</sup>And Barak called out Zebulun and Naphtali to Kedesh. And 10,000 men went up at his heels, and Deborah went up with him.

<sup>11</sup>†Now Heber the Kenite had separated from the Kenites, the descendants of Hobab the father-in-law of Moses, and had pitched his tent as far away as the oak in Zaanannim, which is near Kedesh.

<sup>12</sup>When Sisera was told that Barak the son of Abinoam had gone up to Mount Tabor, <sup>13</sup>Sisera called out all his chariots, 900 chariots of iron, and all the men who were with him, from Harosheth-hagoyim to the river Kishon. <sup>14</sup>And Deborah said to Barak, “Up! For this is the day in which the LORD has given Sisera into your hand. Does not the LORD go out before you?” So Barak went down from Mount Tabor with 10,000 men following him. <sup>15</sup>And the LORD routed Sisera and all his chariots and all his army before Barak by the edge of the sword. And Sisera got down from his chariot and fled away on foot. <sup>16</sup>And Barak pursued the chariots and the army to Harosheth-hagoyim, and all the army of Sisera fell by the edge of the sword; not a man was left.

<sup>17</sup>But Sisera fled away on foot to the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite, for there was peace between Jabin the king of Hazor and the house of Heber the Kenite. <sup>18</sup>And Jael came out to meet Sisera and said to him, “Turn aside, my lord; turn aside to me; do not be afraid.” So he turned aside to her into the tent, and she covered him with a rug. <sup>19</sup>‡And he said to her, “Please give me a little water to drink, for I am thirsty.” So she opened a skin of milk and gave him a drink and covered him. <sup>20</sup>And he said to her, “Stand at the opening of the tent, and if any man comes and asks you, ‘Is anyone here?’ say, ‘No.’” <sup>21</sup>‡But Jael the wife of Heber took a tent peg, and took a hammer in her hand. Then she went softly to him and drove the peg into his temple until it went down into the ground while he was lying fast asleep from weariness. So he died. <sup>22</sup>And behold, as Barak was pursuing Sisera, Jael went out to meet him and said to him, “Come, and I will show you the man whom you are seeking.” So he went in to her tent, and there lay Sisera dead, with the tent peg in his temple.

<sup>23</sup>So on that day God subdued Jabin the king of Canaan before the people of Israel. <sup>24</sup>And the hand of the people of Israel pressed harder and harder against Jabin the king of Canaan, until they destroyed Jabin king of Canaan.

The Song of Deborah and Barak

JUDGES 5 †Then sang Deborah and Barak the son of Abinoam on that day:
2“That the leaders took the lead in Israel, that the people offered themselves willingly, bless the LORD!

3“Hear, O kings; give ear, O princes; to the LORD I will sing;
I will make melody to the LORD, the God of Israel.

4“LORD, when you went out from Seir, when you marched from the region of Edom, the earth trembled and the heavens dropped, yes, the clouds dropped water.

5The mountains quaked before the LORD, even Sinai before the LORD, the God of Israel.

6“In the days of Shamgar, son of Anath, in the days of Jael, the highways were abandoned, and travelers kept to the byways.

7The villagers ceased in Israel; they ceased to be until I arose;
I, Deborah, arose as a mother in Israel.

8When new gods were chosen, then war was in the gates.
Was shield or spear to be seen among forty thousand in Israel?

9My heart goes out to the commanders of Israel who offered themselves willingly among the people.
Bless the LORD.

10†“Tell of it, you who ride on white donkeys, you who sit on rich carpets [\[1\]](#) and you who walk by the way.

11†To the sound of musicians [\[2\]](#) at the watering places, there they repeat the righteous triumphs of the LORD, the righteous triumphs of his villagers in Israel.

“Then down to the gates marched the people of the LORD.

12“Awake, awake, Deborah!
Awake, awake, break out in a song!
Arise, Barak, lead away your captives,
O son of Abinoam.

13Then down marched the remnant of the noble; the people of the LORD marched down for me against the mighty.

<sup>14</sup>† From Ephraim their root they marched down into the valley, <sup>[3]</sup> following you, Benjamin, with your kinsmen; from Machir marched down the commanders, and from Zebulun those who bear the lieutenant's <sup>[4]</sup> staff; <sup>15</sup>the princes of Issachar came with Deborah, and Issachar faithful to Barak;
into the valley they rushed at his heels.

Among the clans of Reuben
there were great searchings of heart.

<sup>16</sup>Why did you sit still among the sheepfolds, to hear the whistling for the flocks?

Among the clans of Reuben
there were great searchings of heart.

<sup>17</sup>† Gilead stayed beyond the Jordan; and Dan, why did he stay with the ships?

Asher sat still at the coast of the sea, staying by his landings.

<sup>18</sup>Zebulun is a people who risked their lives to the death; Naphtali, too, on the heights of the field.

<sup>19</sup>“The kings came, they fought; then fought the kings of Canaan, at Taanach, by the waters of Megiddo;
they got no spoils of silver.

<sup>20</sup>† From heaven the stars fought, from their courses they fought against Sisera.

Kishon.

March on, my soul, with might!

<sup>22</sup>“Then loud beat the horses' hoofs with the galloping, galloping of his steeds.

<sup>23</sup>“Curse Meroz, says the angel of the LORD, curse its inhabitants thoroughly, because they did not come to the help of the LORD, to the help of the LORD against the mighty.

<sup>24</sup>‡ “Most blessed of women be Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite, of tent-dwelling women most blessed.

<sup>25</sup>He asked water and she gave him milk; she brought him curds in a noble's bowl.

<sup>26</sup>She sent her hand to the tent peg and her right hand to the workmen's mallet; she struck Sisera;

she crushed his head;
she shattered and pierced his temple.
<sup>27</sup>Between her feet he sank, he fell, he lay still;
between her feet
he sank, he fell;
where he sank,
there he fell—dead.
<sup>28</sup>“Out of the window she peered, the mother of Sisera wailed through the lattice: ‘Why is his chariot so long in coming?
Why tarry the hoofbeats of his chariots?’
<sup>30</sup>‘Have they not found and divided the spoil?— A womb or two for every man;
spoil of dyed materials for Sisera, spoil of dyed materials embroidered, two pieces of dyed work embroidered for the neck as spoil?’
<sup>31</sup>†“So may all your enemies perish, O LORD!
But your friends be like the sun as he rises in his might.”

And the land had rest for forty years.

Midian Oppresses Israel
