to an understanding of the complete duty of love. This commandment, also from the books of Moses (Lev. 19:18), is of the same nature and character as the first. Genuine love for God is followed in importance by a genuine love for people (see note on Matt. 22:39). neighbor. Cf. Luke 10:29–37.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:32–33 the scribe said. The scribe’s response reveals he understood OT teaching that moral concerns took precedence over ceremonial practices (cf. 1 Sam. 15:22; Isa. 1:11–15; Hos. 6:6; Mic. 6:6–8).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:33 burnt offerings. Sacrifices that were completely consumed on the altar (cf. Lev. 1:1–17; 6:8–13).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:34 not far from the kingdom. Jesus both complimented and challenged the scribe. Jesus acknowledged the scribe’s insight regarding the importance of love. Yet by stating that the scribe was “not far” from the kingdom he emphasized that he was not in the kingdom. He understood the requirements of love, he needed only to love and obey the One who alone could grant him entrance to the kingdom.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:35 Jesus’ question exposed the Jewish religious leaders’ ineptness as teachers and their ignorance of what the OT taught regarding the true nature of the Messiah. temple. See note on 11:11. Christ. This is a translation of the OT Hebrew word “Messiah,” which means “anointed one” and refers to the King whom God had promised. son of David. The common messianic title that was standard scribal teaching. The religious leaders were convinced that the Messiah would be no more than a man, thus they deemed such a title appropriate (see notes on 10:47; Matt. 22:42).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:36 David himself, in the Holy Spirit. David used his own words, yet he wrote under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit (cf. 2 Sam. 23:2). The Lord said to my Lord. In this quote from the Hebrew text (Ps. 110:1), the first word for “Lord” is Yahweh, which is God’s covenant name. The second word for “Lord” is a different word that the Jews used as a title for God. Here David pictures God speaking to the Messiah, whom David calls his Lord. The religious leaders of Jesus’ day recognized this psalm as messianic.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:37 David himself calls him Lord. Jesus interpreted Ps. 110:1 for the Pharisees. David would not have called one of his descendants “Lord.” Thus the Messiah is more than the “Son of David”—he is also the “Son of God.” Jesus was proclaiming the Messiah’s deity, and thus his own (cf. Rom. 1:3; 2 Tim. 2:8; see note on Matt. 22:45). great throng. The multitude of people who observed this confrontation between Jesus and the religious leaders.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:38 Beware. This means “to see” or “to watch.” It carries the idea of guarding against the evil influence of the scribes. long robes. A long, flowing cloak that essentially trumpeted the wearer as a devout and noted scholar. greetings. Accolades for those holding titles of honor.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:39 best seats in the synagogues. The bench in the synagogue nearest the chest where the sacred scrolls were housed—an area reserved for leaders and people of renown (see note on James 2:3).

MARK—NOTE ON 12:40 devour widows’ houses. Jesus exposed the greedy, unscrupulous practice of the scribes. Scribes often served as estate planners for widows, which gave them the opportunity to convince distraught widows that they would be serving God by supporting the temple or the scribe’s own holy work. In either case, the scribe benefited monetarily and effectively robbed the widow of her husband’s legacy to her. long prayers. The Pharisees attempted to flaunt their piety by praying for long periods. Their motive was not devotion to God, but a desire to be revered by the people.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:41 treasury. This refers to the 13 trumpet-shaped receptacles on the walls in the court of the women where offerings and donations to the temple were placed.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:42 two small copper coins. A small copper coin was the smallest denomination in use. It was worth about an eighth of a cent. a penny. For the benefit of his Roman audience (see Introduction: Background and Setting), Mark related the “small copper coins” to this smallest denomination of Roman coinage. A “penny” was equal to one sixty-fourth of a denarius, and a denarius was the equivalent of a day’s wage.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:43 Truly, I say to you. See note on 3:28.

MARK—NOTE ON 12:44 all she had to live on. This meant she would not be able to eat until she earned more. The widow exemplified true sacrificial giving.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:1–37 This great sermon by Jesus is commonly known as the Olivet Discourse because Jesus delivered it on the Mount of Olives just east of the temple across the Kidron Valley. Jesus' prediction of the coming destruction of the temple prompted a question from the disciples about the character of the end times. The remainder of the passage (vv. 5–37) is his response to their question as he describes his second coming at the end of the present age.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:1 what wonderful stones and what wonderful buildings! See note on Matt. 24:1. This unidentified disciple was admiring the magnificence and beauty of the temple and the surrounding buildings and was encouraging a like response from Jesus. It is likely that he could not comprehend how such an awesome structure could be left “desolate” (cf. Matt. 23:38).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:2 Jesus said. In response to the disciple's admiration, Jesus again predicted that the temple would be destroyed. About 40 years later, in A.D. 70, the Romans ransacked Jerusalem, killed a million Jews, and demolished the temple. not . . . one stone. The only stones left undisturbed were huge foundation stones that were not actually a part of the temple edifice but formed footings for the retaining wall under the entire temple mount. These can be viewed today in the “Rabbi's Tunnel,” which runs north-south along the western wall. It is a portion of the western side of the retaining wall that today is called the Wailing Wall. More of that retaining wall, including the steps used to ascend and descend from the temple mount, has also been uncovered on the southern side.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:3 Mount of Olives. See note on 11:1. Peter and James and John and Andrew asked him privately. These four disciples were asking on behalf of all the Twelve.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:4 The disciples were speculating that Jesus would imminently usher in the kingdom, so they asked a twofold question: 1) When would the temple be destroyed and the kingdom begin? and 2) What event would herald the beginning of the kingdom? when will these things be . . . ? “When” implies immediacy. The disciples thought that Jesus was about to usher in the kingdom of God at any time (cf. Luke 19:11), at least by the end of the Passover season. “These things” refers to the desolation and destruction of the temple (cf. Matt. 23:38; 24:2) the sign. The disciples probably expected some miraculous occurrence—such as complete darkness, brilliant light, or an angel from heaven—to announce the coming millennial kingdom (see note on Matt. 24:3). All of those things will occur at that time (see notes on Mark 13:24–27).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:5 See that. This Greek word was often used as it is here with the idea of “keep your eyes open,” or “beware.”

MARK—NOTE ON 13:6 I am he! Many false prophets will come forward claiming to be messiahs and deliverers, offering themselves as the solution to the world’s problems. Some will even claim to be Christ himself. The number of false christs will increase as the end nears (cf. Matt. 24:23–24).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:7 the end. The consummation of the present age (see note on Matt. 24:6).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:8 the beginning of the birth pains. The Lord was referring to the pain a woman experiences in childbirth. Birth pains signal the end of pregnancy—they are infrequent at first and gradually increase just before the child is born. Likewise, the signs of vv. 6–8 will be infrequent, relatively speaking, in the beginning and will escalate to massive and tragic proportions just prior to Christ’s second coming (cf. 1 Thess. 5:3; see note on Matt. 24:8).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:9 councils. The Greek word is lit. “sanhedrins.” These were local, Jewish courts attached to the synagogues, which tried charges of heresy and normal infractions of the law. The historian Josephus says that each city’s court was composed of seven judges (Antiquities, 4.8.14), and the Mishnah records that there were 23 judges in every city with more than 100 Jewish men (“Sanhedrin” 1.6). These “councils” were like smaller versions of the great Sanhedrin that convened in Jerusalem (see note on Matt. 26:59). beaten. These local courts usually administered 39 stripes so as not to violate Deut. 25:2–3. The recipient of the punishment was stripped bare to the waist. He received 13 lashings to his chest and 26 to his back (see note on 2 Cor. 11:24). in synagogues. The “synagogues” were the places for Jewish assembly and worship. When the “courts” convened, they typically met in the “synagogue.”

MARK—NOTE ON 13:10 first be proclaimed to all nations. Before the end (see note on v. 7), there will be a worldwide proclamation of the gospel. This may even refer to the occasion when an angel will supernaturally proclaim the gospel throughout the world before God pours out his judgment at the end of the tribulation (Rev. 14:6–8; see note on Matt. 24:14).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:11 what you are to say. Although the persecution will be terrifying, Christians are not to be anxious in anticipation of those events. for it is not you who speak. Rather than being fearful, believers can remain calm and depend on the Holy Spirit, who will give them the appropriate and effective words to say in defense of their faith in Christ. See note on Luke 12:11.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:13 endures to the end will be saved. See note on Matt. 24:13. This endurance does not produce salvation; it is Spirit-empowered perseverance and proof of the reality of salvation in the one who endures. Christ will eventually deliver such believers out of the present evil system into God's eternal kingdom (cf. Matt. 10:22).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:14 the abomination of desolation. This first referred to the desecration of the temple by Antiochus Epiphanes, the king of Syria, in the second century B.C. when he sacrificed a pig on the temple altar. That event was similar in character to what Jesus refers to here, i.e., the Antichrist's ultimate desecration when he sets up an image of himself in the temple during the tribulation (see notes on Dan. 9:27; 11:31; Matt. 24:15; 2 Thess. 2:4). standing where he ought not to be. Matthew 24:15 indicates the location as the "holy place." On the only other occasion where this phrase from Matthew appears in the NT, it clearly refers to the temple (Acts 21:28). This specifically implies that the temple will be rebuilt in the future and that the daily sacrificial system will be reinstated. "Standing" indicates that the abomination of desolation will be continuous, actually lasting for three and one-half years (Dan. 12:11; cf. Rev. 12:6). let the reader understand. This indicates that Jesus was not issuing these warnings to the disciples or to others of their generation who would not experience this event, but to believers in the end time. Those who will read these truths will be prepared and "understand" the trials they are enduring. flee to the mountains. The Greek word for "flee" is related to the English word "fugitive," a person who is on the run to escape danger. Jesus warns those who live in Judea to escape the holocaust by taking refuge in the mountains (see note on Matt. 24:16).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:15 not go down. So urgent will be the need to flee that if a person happens to be on the roof of his house (see note on 2:4) when he hears the news, he is to run down the outside stairway and leave town without going inside his house to retrieve any belongings.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:16 cloak. The Greek word refers to the outer cloak. Jesus warns those working in the fields not to take the time to retrieve their cloaks that may be at home or some distance away at the entrance to the field.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:17 pregnant and . . . nursing infants. Jesus certainly felt compassion for those women who will be hindered from fleeing quickly because they carry children. But he may have been warning them about atrocities that could include unborn children being slashed in the wombs and tiny infants being crushed (cf. Hos. 13:16).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:18 in winter. This refers to the rainy season in Israel, when streams could become impassable and it would be difficult to glean food from barren fields.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:19 tribulation as has not been. This reveals that the tribulation Jesus was referring to is in the future and that it will be the greatest that has ever occurred. It will be of long duration and characterized by severe pressure and continual anguish. This is the Great Tribulation at the end of the age (cf. Rev. 7:14; see note on Matt. 24:21).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:20 shortened. Lit., “mutilated” or “amputated.” Jesus was referring to the determination of God to cut short or limit the period of time to only three and one-half years (cf. Dan. 7:25; Rev. 12:14; see note on Matt. 24:22). sake of the elect. The “elect” could refer to the nation of Israel (cf. Isa. 45:4), or those who become Christians during the tribulation (Rev. 17:14). In either case, God cuts short the days for their benefit.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:21 Look, here is the Christ! Satan will cause false christs to appear in an attempt to deceive the elect into leaving their places of refuge. False teachers will claim that Christ is in their midst or is back in Jerusalem or elsewhere in Judea.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:22 signs and wonders. Satanic inspired pseudo-miracles employed to support their claims to be the true Christ (cf. 2 Thess. 2:9).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:23 be on guard. Jesus issues a prophetic warning to be on guard. He has told the elect refugees of the future all that they need to know to avoid being misled and deceived by Satan’s emissaries.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:24 in those days, after that tribulation. “Those days” describes the events of vv. 6–23 and, thus, “that tribulation” refers to the great tribulation Jesus just spoke of. This also means that what he was about to describe (vv. 24–27) will occur immediately at the end of the future tribulation period (cf. Matt. 24:29). the sun will be darkened. The sun will go black as the universe begins to disintegrate prior to the return of Christ (see notes on Matt. 24:29; Acts 2:20; Rev. 6:12).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:25 stars will be falling. Heavenly bodies will careen at random through space (cf. Rev. 6:13–14; 8:10–13; 16:8, 17–20). powers in the heavens. All the forces of energy that hold everything in space constant, and which Christ controls, he will allow to become random and chaotic (cf. Isa. 13:6–16; 34:1–5; 2 Pet. 3:10–12).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:26 Son of Man. See note on 2:10. coming in clouds with great power and glory. Jesus will return to earth in the same manner in which he left it (cf. Acts 1:9–11; cf. Dan. 7:13–14; Rev. 1:7). The psalmist said that God uses “clouds” as his chariot (Ps. 104:3), and Isa. 19:1 pictures the Lord riding on a cloud. Although these “clouds” could be natural, they more likely describe the supernatural “glory cloud” that represented God’s presence in OT Israel (see note on Rev. 1:7). While Christ possesses “great power and glory,” his return will be accompanied with visible manifestations of that power and glory (cf. Rev. 6:15–17; 11:15–19; 16:17–21; 19:11–16)—he will redeem the elect, restore the devastated earth, and establish his rule on earth.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:27 angels. A number of angels return with Christ (cf. 8:38; Matt. 16:27; see following note). gather his elect. Angels are God’s gatherers—they gather unbelievers for judgment (Matt. 13:41, 49–50), and they gather the elect for glory. The “elect” will include the 144,000 Jewish witnesses (see note on Rev. 7:4), their converts (Rev. 7:9), and the converts of the angelic preachers (see note on Rev. 14:6). They will also include the OT saints, gathered out of their graves and united with their redeemed spirits (Dan. 12:1–3). from the four winds. A colloquial expression meaning “from everywhere,” and similar to the expression “from the four corners of the world.” None of the elect on earth or in heaven will miss entering the kingdom.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:28 its lesson. See note on 4:2. fig tree. See note on 11:13.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:29 Just as the fig tree’s buds turning into leaves was a sign of the nearness of summer, the events Jesus described as birth pains (vv. 6–23) are to be a clear indication of the return of Christ (see note on Matt. 24:32). these things. The events of Mark 13:6–23. he is near. Luke 21:31 says, “The kingdom of God is near.” That is consistent with the question the disciples initially asked Jesus (Mark 13:4), which was about the signs that would herald the establishment of the kingdom.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:30 Truly, I say to you. See note on 3:28. this generation. The generation of people living during the end times that witnesses the signs and events leading to the return of Christ (see note on Matt. 24:34).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:31 Heaven and earth will pass away. The universe as we know it will be dramatically altered after the thousand-year reign of Christ (see notes on 2 Pet. 3:10–13). my words will not pass away. It is impossible for God's word to be negated, destroyed, or altered in any way (cf. Ps. 19:9; Matt. 5:18; Luke 16:17; John 10:35).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:32 that day or that hour. The exact day and time of Christ's return (see note on Matt. 24:36). no one knows. The time of Christ's return will not be revealed in advance to any man. At this time, it was known only to God the Father. angels. While all the angelic beings enjoy intimacy with God, hover around his throne to do his bidding (Isa. 6:2–7), and continually behold him (Matt. 18:10), they have no knowledge of the time of Christ's return. nor the Son. When Jesus spoke these words to the disciples, even he had no knowledge of the date and time of his return. Although Jesus was fully God (John 1:1, 14), when he became a man, he voluntarily restricted the use of certain divine attributes (Phil. 2:6–8). He did not manifest them unless directed by the Father (John 4:34; 5:30; 6:38). He demonstrated his omniscience on several occasions (cf. John 2:25; 13:3), but he voluntarily restricted that omniscience to only those things God wanted him to know during the days of his humanity (John 15:15). Such was the case regarding the knowledge of the date and time of his return. After he was resurrected, Jesus resumed his full divine knowledge (cf. Matt. 28:18; Acts 1:7).

MARK—NOTE ON 13:33 keep awake. Christ sounded a warning for believers to be on guard (see note on v. 5). Even believers do not have in themselves sufficient resources to be alert to spiritual dangers that can so easily surprise them.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:34 doorkeeper. In Jesus' day, this individual guarded the outer gate of the house, so as to be ready to let the returning master in upon his arrival. All Christ's disciples are to be like doorkeepers, always remaining alert and vigilant for their Master's return.

MARK—NOTE ON 13:35 in the evening . . . or in the morning. The normal expressions designating the four three-hour watches of the night from 6:00 P.M. to 6:00 A.M. Their names identify the ends of the three-hour periods rather than the periods' beginnings.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:1 the Passover. Friday of Passover, which would have begun on Thursday at sunset. The Passover commemorated the “passing over” of the homes of the Israelites by the angel of death, who killed the firstborn of Egypt (Ex. 12:1–13:16). The Passover began on the fourteenth day of Nisan (the first month of the Jewish calendar) with the slaying of the Passover lamb, and continued into the early hours of the fifteenth (see notes on Ex. 12:6; Matt. 26:2). Unleavened Bread. This feast commemorated the departure of the Israelites from Egypt (Ex. 23:15). It began immediately after the Passover and lasted from Nisan 15–21. Unleavened bread refers to the type of bread the Israelites were to take with them in their escape, which represented the absence of the leaven of sin in their lives and household (see notes on Ex. 12:14; Lev. 23:6–8). two days before. In the context of Matt. 26:2, Jesus predicted his crucifixion was to take place in “two days,” which would be Friday, since when he was speaking it was Wednesday evening. Mark’s time line here is the same as Matthew’s (see note on Matt. 26:2). chief priests. See note on Mark 8:31. scribes. See note on Matt. 2:4.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:2 Not during the feast. Because the Passover had to be celebrated in Jerusalem, the city would have been overflowing—perhaps as many as two million people were there. Since many would have been from Galilee—an area where Jesus had many followers—and the religious leaders did not want to start a riot, they determined to wait until after the Passover season when the crowds would be diminished (see note on Matt. 26:5).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:3–9 The incident recorded here had occurred the previous Saturday (cf. John 12:1). It is Mark’s account of the anointing of Jesus by Mary in preparation for his crucifixion (cf. Matt. 26:6–13; John 12:2–8).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:3 Bethany. See note on 11:1. Simon the leper. This man is mentioned in the NT only in connection with this narrative. Since a leper was an outcast in Jewish society, he was probably miraculously cleansed of his leprosy by Jesus, and may have planned this meal for Jesus in gratitude (see notes on Lev. 13; Matt. 26:6). a woman. John 12:3 identifies her as Mary, the sister of Martha and Lazarus, who were also present at this meal. alabaster flask. This long-necked bottle was made out of a special variety of marble, a material which proved to be the best container for preserving expensive perfumes and oils (see note on Matt. 26:7). pure nard. This oil was derived from the nard plant, which was native to India. That it was pure meant it was genuine and unadulterated, which is what made it so costly. broke the flask. She may have simply broken the neck of the bottle so that she could pour out the contents more quickly, an expression of her sincere and total devotion to the Lord.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:4 some who said to themselves indignantly. John 12:4–5 says that Judas was the instigator, and Matt. 26:8 indicates that all the disciples, following Judas’s lead, were angry with Mary’s waste of a very valuable commodity.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:5 three hundred denarii. Since a denarius was a day’s wage for a common laborer, it represented almost a year’s work for such a person. given to the poor. While 11 of the disciples would have agreed to this use of the money, the fact is the poor may never have seen it. Since Judas was in reality a thief masquerading as the treasurer of the Twelve, he could have embezzled all of it (John 12:6).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:7 you always have the poor with you. Opportunities to minister to the poor are “always” available, but Jesus would be in their presence for only a limited time. This was not a time for meeting the needs of the poor and the sick—it was a time for sacrificial worship of the One who would soon suffer and be crucified (see note on Matt. 26:11; cf. Mark 2:19).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:8 anointed my body . . . for burial. Mary did so probably without ever realizing what she was doing. Her anointing of Jesus became a symbol that anticipated his death and burial (see note on Matt. 26:12).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:9 truly, I say to you. See note on 3:28. gospel. See note on 1:1.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:10 Judas Iscariot. Standing in sharp contrast to the love and devotion of Mary was the hatred and treachery of Judas. This disciple, who is understandably referred to last in the lists of the Twelve, was the son of Simon, who was also called “Iscariot.” The name “Iscariot” means “man of Kerioth,” which was a small town in Judea about 23 miles south of Jerusalem (cf. 3:19). Thus Judas was not a Galilean like the other disciples. It is clear that Judas never had any spiritual interest in Jesus—he was attracted to him because he expected Jesus to become a powerful religious and political leader. He saw great potential for power, wealth, and prestige through his association with him. But Jesus knew what Judas was like from the start, and that is why he chose him as one of the Twelve. He was the one who would betray him so that the Scripture and God’s plan of salvation would be fulfilled (Ps. 41:9; 55:12–15, 20–21; Zech. 11:12–13; John 6:64, 70–71; 13:18; 17:12). the twelve. See note on Mark 3:14. chief priests. See note on 8:31.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:11 money. Matthew says the amount Judas agreed to as blood money was 30 pieces of silver (see note on Matt. 26:15). sought an opportunity to betray him. “Sought” is better translated “began to seek.” Judas was looking for a suitable occasion to carry out his evil plan, which would be when Jesus was away from the crowds (Luke 22:6).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:12 Unleavened Bread. Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread were so closely associated that both terms were used interchangeably to refer to the eight-day celebration that began with the Passover. Although Unleavened Bread is used here, Mark’s clear intention is the preparation for Passover (see notes on v. 1; Matt. 26:17). they sacrificed the Passover lamb. The lambs were killed on 14 Nisan at twilight (Ex. 12:6), a Hebrew term meaning, “between the two evenings,” or between 3:00 and 5:00 P.M. After the lamb was slaughtered and some of its blood sprinkled on the altar, the lamb was taken home, roasted whole, and eaten in the evening meal with unleavened bread, bitter herbs, charoseth (a paste made of crushed apples, dates, pomegranates, and nuts, into which they dipped bread), and wine.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:13 two of his disciples. Peter and John (Luke 22:8). Only two people were allowed to accompany a lamb to the sacrifice. man carrying a jar of water. This is the only way that Jesus identified the man. But he stood out because it was uncommon for a man to carry a pitcher of water—women usually performed that chore (see note on Matt. 26:18).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:14 guest room. The word is translated “inn” in Luke 2:7. It typically referred to a place where a traveler could spend the night—a place of lodging or a guest room in someone’s home, as was the case here (cf. Matt. 26:18).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:15 large upper room. This indicates the room was located upstairs, and may have been a roof chamber built on top of the house. prepare. Peter and John were to prepare the Passover meal for Jesus and the other disciples.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:17 evening. The Passover meal was to be eaten at night after sunset, but had to be completed before midnight (Ex. 12:8–14). with the twelve. Peter and John may have rejoined Jesus and the other disciples and led them to the upper room. This may also be a general reference to the Twelve, meaning that Jesus came with the other 10 disciples to meet Peter and John.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:18 reclining . . . eating. The order of the Passover meal was: 1) drinking a cup of red wine mixed with water (cf. Luke 22:17); 2) the ceremonial washing of hands symbolizing the need for spiritual and moral cleansing; 3) eating the bitter herbs, symbolic of the bondage in Egypt; 4) drinking the second cup of wine, at which time the head of the household explained the meaning of Passover; 5) singing of the Hallel (Ps. 113–118)—at this point they sang the first two; 6) bringing the lamb out, and the head of the household distributing pieces of it with the unleavened bread; 7) drinking the third cup of wine (see notes on 1 Cor. 10:16).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:20 dipping . . . with me. There were likely several dishes around the table—Judas was probably one of several sitting near Jesus and thus would have dipped in the same bowl with him.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:21 Son of Man. See note on 2:10. as it is written. Jesus was no victim—his betrayal by Judas was prophesied in the OT (Ps. 22; Isa. 53), and was part of God’s predetermined plan to provide salvation (Acts 2:23). better . . . if he had not been born. Cf. John 8:21–24 and 16:8–11. This is because the terror Judas would experience in hell would be so great. The severest punishment is reserved for Judas and others like him (Heb. 10:29). This is one of the strongest statements in Scripture on human responsibility for believing in Jesus Christ, coupled with the consequences of such unbelief.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:22–25 At this point in the narrative, it appears that Judas had gone (John 13:23–30) and Jesus was alone with the faithful 11 disciples (see note on Luke 22:21). Then it was that he transformed the Passover of the Old Covenant into the Lord’s Supper of the New Covenant, creating a new memorial feast to remember God’s deliverance from sin.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:22 as they were eating. There is no indication from any of the Gospel accounts as to which part of the meal they were eating, but it is likely that this occurred just prior to eating the roasted lamb or concurrently with it. It is significant that Jesus established the truth of New Covenant while in the midst of eating the Passover. this is my body. Jesus gave new meaning to eating the bread. The unleavened bread symbolized the severing of the Israelites from the old life in Egypt. It represented a separation from worldliness, sin, and false religion and the beginning of a new life of holiness and godliness. From then on in the Lord's Supper, the bread would symbolize Christ's body, which he sacrificed for the salvation of men (see note on Matt. 26:26).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:23 a cup. The third cup of wine in the ceremony (see note on 1 Cor. 10:16).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:24 my blood of the covenant. The shedding of blood in a sacrifice was always God's requirement in establishing any covenant (cf. Gen. 8:20; 15:10; Ex. 24:5–8). Here, Christ's blood needed to be shed for the remission of sins (Heb. 9:22; 1 Pet. 1:19; see note on Matt. 26:28). for many. This lit. means "for the benefit of many." The "many" are all who believe, both Jew and Gentile. See note on Mark 10:45; cf. Matt. 20:28.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:25 Truly, I say to you. See note on 3:28. I will not drink. Jesus declared that this would be the last Passover, and that he would not even drink wine with them again, since this was his last meal. Until the inauguration of the millennial kingdom, believers are to share this memorial meal (see notes on 1 Cor. 11:23–34). drink it new. This served as an assurance to them of Jesus' return and his establishment of his earthly, millennial kingdom. It possibly implies that the communion service will continue to be observed in the millennial kingdom, as a memorial to the cross. It more probably indicates that Jesus would not have another Passover with them until the kingdom (see notes on Ezek. 45:18–25; 45:21–24). It is also true that in the kingdom, commemorative sacrifices from the Old Covenant will be restored (Ezek. 43–45) that will have meaning never understood before the cross of Christ to which they pointed. kingdom of God. The earthly millennial kingdom is in view.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:26 sung a hymn. Probably Ps. 118, the last psalm of the traditional Hallel sung at Passover (see note on Matt. 26:30). Mount of Olives. See note on Mark 11:1.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:27 fall away. See notes on 4:17 and Matt. 26:31. This refers to the disciples' temporary falling away from their loyalty to Jesus. it is written. Quoted from Zech. 13:7.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:28 to Galilee. Jesus' promise to meet the disciples in his post-resurrection form (cf. 16:7; Matt. 28:16–17; see note on Matt. 28:7).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:30 Truly, I tell you. See note on 3:28. before the rooster crows twice. In Jewish reckoning of time, “cock crow” was the third watch of the night, ending at 3:00 A.M., which was when roosters typically began to crow (see note on 13:35). Mark, alone of the Gospels, indicates that the cock crowed two times (14:72; see note on Matt. 26:34).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:32 Gethsemane. The name means “oil press,” and referred to a garden filled with olive trees on a slope of the Mount of Olives. Jesus frequented this spot with the disciples when he wanted to get away from the crowds to pray (cf. John 18:1–2; see note on Matt. 26:36).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:33 Peter and James and John. See note on 5:37. Jesus likely had them accompany him into the garden because they were the leaders of the Twelve and had to learn an important lesson to pass on to the others (14:34–42). troubled. The Greek word refers to a feeling of terrified amazement. In the face of the dreadful prospect of bearing God's full fury against sin, Jesus was in the grip of terror (see note on Matt. 26:38).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:34 to death. Jesus' sorrow was so severe that it threatened to cause his death at that moment. It is possible for a person to die from sheer anguish (cf. Luke 22:44; see note on Matt. 26:38).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:35 if . . . possible. Jesus was not asking God if he had the power to let the cup pass from him, but if it were possible in God's plan. Christ was to soon partake of this cup in the cross as God's only sacrifice for sin (cf. Acts 4:12). the hour. The time of his sacrificial death as decreed by God. It included everything from the betrayal (Mark 14:41) to Jesus' trials, the mockery, and his crucifixion.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:36 Abba. An endearing, intimate Aramaic term that is essentially equivalent to the English word “Daddy” (cf. Rom. 8:15; Gal. 4:6). all things are possible. Jesus knew that it was in the scope of God's power and omniscience to provide an alternate plan of salvation, if he desired (see note on Mark 14:35). cup. This was the cup of divine wrath referred to in the OT (Ps. 75:8; Isa. 51:17; Jer. 49:12). Christ was to endure the fury of God over sin, Satan, the power of death, and the guilt of iniquity (see notes on Matt. 26:39; Luke 22:42; John 18:11). not what I will, but what you will. This reveals Jesus' total resolution and resignation to do the will of God. He came into the world to do God's will, and that remained his commitment while here (see notes on Matt. 26:39; cf. John 6:38–40).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:37 Simon. Jesus' use of "Simon" may have implied that Peter was not living up to the significance and meaning of his new name, "Peter" (see note on Matt. 16:18). one hour. This suggests that Jesus had spent an hour praying, a duration in which Peter had been unable to stay awake.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:38 Watch. This Greek word means "to keep alert." Jesus was encouraging Peter, James, and John to discern when they were under spiritual attack. They were not to let their self-confidence lull them to sleep spiritually. the flesh is weak. Because willing spirits are still attached to unredeemed flesh, believers are not always able to practice the righteousness they desire to do (cf. Rom. 7:15–23; see note on Matt. 26:41).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:41 Are you still sleeping and taking your rest? The three disciples remained indifferent not only to the needs of Christ at that moment, but their need of strength and watchfulness for the impending temptation that all 11 would face. The disciples needed to learn that spiritual victory goes to those who are alert in prayer and depend on God, and that self-confidence and spiritual unpreparedness lead to spiritual disaster. Son of Man. See note on 2:10.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:43 Judas . . . one of the twelve. See notes on 3:19; Matt. 26:47. All the Gospel writers refer to him this way (Mark 14:10, 20; Matt. 26:14, 47; Luke 22:47; John 6:71); and in so doing, they display remarkable restraint in describing and evaluating Judas. Especially in this context, such a simple description actually heightens the evil of his crime more than any series of derogatory epithets or negative criticisms could do. It also points out the precise fulfillment of Jesus' announcement in Mark 14:18–20. a crowd with swords and clubs. This "crowd" was a carefully selected group whose sole purpose was arresting Jesus so he could be put to death. A cohort (600 men at full strength) of Roman soldiers (John 18:3, 12) was in this crowd because the Jewish leaders (cf. Luke 22:52) who organized the throng needed permission from Rome to carry out the death penalty and feared the crowds. The "swords" were the regular small hand weapons of the Romans, and the wood “clubs” were ordinary weapons carried by the Jewish temple police. chief priests . . . scribes . . . elders. Although three distinct sections of the Sanhedrin (as indicated by the Greek definite article with each), they were acting in unity. These Jewish leaders had evidently for some time (see notes on Mark 3:6; 11:18) hoped to accuse Jesus of rebellion against Rome. Then, his execution could be blamed on the Romans and the leaders could escape potential reprisals from those Jews who admired Jesus. The Sanhedrin likely had hurried to Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor, to ask immediate use of his soldiers; or perhaps acted on a prearranged agreement for troop use on short notice. Whatever the case, the leaders procured the assistance of the Roman military from Fort Antonia in Jerusalem.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:44 kiss. In addition to being a special act of respect and affection, this kind of kiss was a sign of homage in Middle Eastern culture. Out of the varieties of this kiss (on the feet, on the back of the hand, on the palm, on the hem of the garment), Judas chose the embrace and the kiss on the cheek—the one that showed the closest love and affection, normally reserved for one with whom a person had a close, intimate relationship (such as a pupil for his teacher). Judas could not have chosen a more despicable way to identify Jesus, because he perverted its usual meaning so treacherously and hypocritically.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:45 Rabbi! “My master” (see note on 9:5). kissed him. “Kissed” is an intensified form of the verb for “kiss” in v. 44, and it denotes a fervent, continuous expression of affection (cf. Luke 7:38, 45; 15:20; Acts 20:37). It was with intensity that Judas pretended to love Christ. The act was likely prolonged enough so the crowd had time to identify Jesus.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:47 one of those who stood by. Simon Peter (John 18:10), one of the two disciples who brought a weapon (Luke 22:38). Mark and the other synoptic writers do not identify Peter explicitly, perhaps because they wrote earlier than John, during the time when Peter would still have been in danger of Jewish revenge. the servant of the high priest. Malchus (John 18:10). He was neither a soldier nor temple policeman, but rather was a high-ranking personal slave of Caiaphas, the high priest, probably sent along to observe Judas and report on the events of the evening.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:48 as against a robber. Jesus expressed a righteous resentment toward the crowd’s actions and attitudes. “Robber” was normally a highwayman or armed bandit who would resist arrest. The setting that the crowd orchestrated was completely inconsistent with his well-known ministry as a religious teacher.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:49 temple. See note on 11:11. This was the most public place in Jerusalem. Scriptures be fulfilled. Entirely apart from the crowd's sinful intentions against Jesus, God was sovereignly using them to fulfill prophecy (cf. Isa. 53:7–9, 12) and accomplish his gracious purposes (see note on Matt. 26:54).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:50 left him. The disciples found no comfort in Jesus' reference to Scripture, but instead their faith in him collapsed as they realized he would not resist arrest and that they also might be captured.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:51 a young man. This perhaps was Mark himself. If the mob under Judas's guidance had first gone to Mark's mother's house in search of Jesus—possibly where the last Passover was observed by Jesus and the Twelve—Mark could have heard the noise, suspected what was happening, and hurried to follow the multitude. a linen cloth. Either a loose-fitting linen sleeping garment or a sheet Mark had hastily wrapped around himself after being roused from bed.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:52 ran away naked. Mark escaped capture and ran, but in so doing his covering came off or was pulled off, and he left with nothing at all on, or nothing more than undergarments.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:53–15:15 Mark's account of Jesus' trials, like that of all the Gospels, makes it clear that Christ was tried in two general phases: first, before the religious authorities (the Jewish Sanhedrin), and second, before the secular political authorities (Rome, represented by governor Pontius Pilate). Each of these phases had three parts: preliminary interrogation, formal arraignment, and formal sentencing. Mark, like the other Gospel writers, did not include a comprehensive account of all the details and stages. A complete picture requires the material from all four Gospels being combined.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:53 high priest. Caiaphas, the leader of the Sanhedrin (see notes on Matt. 26:3, 57; cf. John 18:24). He was the official high priest in A.D. 18–36. chief priests . . . elders . . . scribes. See note on Mark 14:43. The entire Sanhedrin, the whole hierarchy, was out in force.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:54 courtyard of the high priest. A quadrangle in the center of the high priest's residence.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:55 Council. The Sanhedrin (see note on Matt. 26:59).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:56 Because Jesus was innocent, the Jewish leaders could not convict him except by relying on perjured testimony and perverted justice. The Jews were intent on doing whatever was necessary, even if they had to violate every biblical and rabbinical rule. many bore false witness against him. There was no lack of people to come forward at the Sanhedrin's invitation to consciously present false, lying testimony. did not agree. The testimonies were grossly inconsistent. The law, however, required exact agreement between two witnesses (Deut. 17:6; 19:15).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:57–58 false witness. The witnesses maliciously garbled and misrepresented Jesus' statements. Quite possibly they blended his figurative statement regarding his death and resurrection in John 2:19–22 with his prediction of a literal destruction of the temple in Mark 13:2. Their charge claimed he was disloyal to the present order of religion and worship (by replacing the current temple), and that he was blaspheming God (by saying he would so quickly rebuild the temple without hands).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:58 I will destroy this temple that is made with hands. This refers to the material sanctuary in Jerusalem. Jesus boldly made this assertion in front of the temple the Jews revered, but his words were not fully understood (see notes on 14:57–58; John 2:19–20).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:60 Caiaphas attempted to salvage the tense situation when the continued false charges were failing to establish a case or elicit a response from the Lord. The high priest could not understand how Jesus could remain silent and not offer any defense.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:61 remained silent. The silence of innocence, integrity, and faith in God. An answer by Jesus would have given all the false testimonies and illegal proceedings an appearance of legitimacy. Christ. This term refers to Jesus' claim to be the promised Messiah (see note on Matt. 1:1). Son of the Blessed. This refers to Jesus' claim to deity. This is the only NT use of the expression, and it is an example of Jewish wording that avoided using God's name (see note on John 8:58). Jesus' acceptance of messiahship and deity (cf. Luke 4:18–21; John 4:25–26; 5:17–18; 8:58) had always brought vigorous opposition from the Jewish leaders (John 5:19–47; 8:16–19; 10:29–39). Clearly, the high priest was asking this question in hopes that Jesus would affirm it and open himself to the formal charge of blasphemy.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:62 I am. An explicit, unambiguous declaration that Jesus was and is both the Messiah and the Son of God. Son of Man. See notes on 2:10; Matt. 8:20. Jesus used this commonly acknowledged messianic title of himself more than 80 times in the Gospels, here in a reference to Ps. 110:1 and Dan. 7:13 (cf. Rev. 1:13; 14:14). right hand of Power. Cf. Mark 10:37; Acts 2:33; 7:55; Heb. 2:9; Rev. 12:5. Jesus’ glorified position is next to the throne of God (the “Power” is another reference to God). clouds. See note on Mark 13:26; cf. Matt. 24:30; 26:64; Luke 21:27; Acts 1:9–11; Rev. 1:7; 14:14.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:63 tore his garments. A ceremonial, and in this case contrived, display of grief and indignation over the presumed dishonoring of God’s name by Jesus (cf. Gen. 37:29; Lev. 10:6; Job 1:20; Acts 14:14; see note on Matt. 26:65). further witnesses do we need? A rhetorical question that expressed relief that the tense and embarrassing situation was finally over. Because Jesus had allegedly incriminated himself in the eyes of the Sanhedrin, they would not need to summon any more lying witnesses.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:64 blasphemy. See note on 2:7; cf. 3:29. Strictly speaking, Jesus’ words were not “blasphemy,” or defiant irreverence of God (Lev. 24:10–23), but Caiaphas regarded them as such because Jesus claimed for himself equal power and prerogative with God.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:65 spit on him . . . strike him. For the Jews, to “spit” in another’s face was the grossest, most hateful form of personal insult (cf. Num. 12:14; Deut. 25:9). Their brutal cruelty reached a climax and revealed the great depravity of their hearts when they struck him, or hit him with clenched fists. Prophecy! They jeeringly and disrespectfully ordered Jesus to use the prophetic powers he claimed to have—even in the frivolous manner of telling them who struck him (Matt. 26:68).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:66 below. The apartments around it were higher than the courtyard itself. one of the servant girls. Female slave, or maid, in the household of the high priest. She might have been the same gatekeeper (cf. John 18:15–16) who admitted Peter and who, being curious and suspicious of him, wanted a closer look.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:67 the Nazarene. Their reference to Jesus' hometown communicates a feeling of contempt, in keeping with the views of the Jewish leaders and the poor reputation Nazareth generally had (cf. John 1:46).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:68 the gateway. Used only here in the NT, this term denotes "the forecourt," or "entryway," a covered archway of the courtyard, opening onto the street.

MARK—NOTE ON 14:70 Galilean. Frequently used as a derisive label by people in Jerusalem toward their northern neighbors. It strongly suggested that natives of Galilee were deemed unsophisticated and uneducated (cf. Acts 4:13).

MARK—NOTE ON 14:72 the rooster crowed. This reference brings to mind Jesus' prediction in v. 30 (see note there and Matt. 26:34). Amid all the accusations being hurled at him, Peter either did not hear the rooster's crowing, or failed to realize its significance. When the rooster crowed the second time, Jesus looked at Peter (Luke 22:61), triggering Peter's memory and bringing conviction of his denials (cf. Mark 14:72).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:1 morning. At daybreak, probably between 5:00 and 6:00 A.M. Having illegally decided Jesus' guilt during the night (14:53–65; John 18:13–24), the Sanhedrin formally convened after daybreak to pronounce a sentence. chief priests. See note on Matt. 2:4. elders and scribes. See notes on Mark 14:43 and Matt. 2:4. the whole Council. The entire Sanhedrin (see notes on Mark 14:43, 53; Matt. 26:59). a consultation. This meeting is described in Luke 22:66–71. It amounted to little more than reiterating the charges earlier made against Jesus and affirming his guilty verdict. Pilate. Roman procurator (governor) of Judea from A.D. 26–36. His official residence was at Caesarea, but he was in Jerusalem for Passover.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:2 Pilate asked him. John records (John 18:30) that the Jewish leaders demanded that Pilate simply agree to the death sentence they had already pronounced on Jesus (Mark 14:64). Pilate refused, and the Jewish leaders then presented their false charges against Jesus (Luke 23:2). Having heard those charges, Pilate then questioned him. Are you the King of the Jews? The only charge Pilate took seriously was that Jesus claimed to be a king, thus making him guilty of rebellion against Rome. Pilate's question reveals that he had already been informed of this charge (Luke 23:2). You have said so. Jesus' answer acknowledged that he was the rightful King of Israel, but implied that Pilate's concept of what that meant differed from his (cf. John 18:34–37).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:4 Have you no answer . . . ? Pilate was amazed at Jesus' silence, since accused prisoners predictably and vehemently denied the charges against them. Jesus may have remained silent in fulfillment of prophecy (Isa. 42:1–2; 53:7), because Pilate had already pronounced him innocent (Luke 23:4; John 18:38), or both.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:6 at the feast. The Passover. used to. Ancient secular sources indicate that Roman governors occasionally granted amnesty at the request of their subjects. Assuming that the people would ask for their king (whom they had so acknowledged earlier in the week; 11:1–10) to be freed, Pilate undoubtedly saw this annual custom as the way out of his dilemma regarding Jesus.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:7 Barabbas. A robber (John 18:40) and murderer (Luke 23:18–19) in some way involved as an anti-Roman insurrectionist. Whether his involvement was motivated by political conviction or personal greed is not known. It is impossible to identify the specific insurrection in question, but such uprisings were common in Jesus' day and were precursors of the wholesale revolt of A.D. 66–70.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:10 out of envy. Pilate realized that the Jewish authorities had not handed Jesus over to him out of loyalty to Rome. He saw through their deceit to the underlying reason—their jealousy over Jesus' popularity with the people.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:13 Crucify. See note on v. 15.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:15 scourged. With a whip (known as a flagellum) consisting of a wooden handle to which metal-tipped leather thongs were attached. Being scourged with a flagellum was a fearful ordeal, ripping the flesh down to the bone, causing severe bleeding. It was a beating from which prisoners often died. crucified. See note on Matt. 27:31. Crucifixion, the common Roman method of execution for slaves and foreigners, was described by the Roman writer Cicero as “the cruelest and most hideous punishment possible.”

MARK—NOTE ON 15:16 governor's headquarters. The governor's official residence in Jerusalem, probably located in the Fortress Antonia complex. whole battalion. The Roman cohort, consisting of 600 men, was stationed in Jerusalem. All the soldiers who were not on duty at that time gathered to mock Jesus.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:17 clothed him in . . . purple . . . crown of thorns. “Purple” was the color traditionally worn by royalty; the “crown of thorns” was in mockery of a royal crown. The callous soldiers decided to hold a mock coronation of Jesus as king of the Jews.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:18 Hail, King of the Jews! The greeting was a parody of that given to Caesar.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:19 a reed. An imitation of a royal scepter.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:21 Condemned prisoners were required to carry the heavy crossbeam of their cross to the execution site. Exhausted from a sleepless night and severely wounded and weakened by his scourging, Jesus was unable to continue. The Roman guards conscripted Simon, apparently at random, to carry Jesus’ crossbeam the rest of the way. Simon, from the North African city of Cyrene, was on his way into Jerusalem. The identification of him as “the father of Alexander and Rufus” (cf. Rom. 16:13) is evidence of Mark’s connection with the church at Rome (see Introduction: Background and Setting).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:22 Golgotha . . . Place of a Skull. “Golgotha” is an Aramaic word meaning “skull,” which Mark translated for his readers (see Introduction: Background and Setting). Although the exact site is unknown, today two locations in Jerusalem are considered as possibilities: 1) Gordon’s Calvary (named for the man who discovered it in modern times) to the north; and 2) the traditional site to the west at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, a tradition dating to the fourth century.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:23 wine mixed with myrrh. To temporarily deaden the pain (see note on Matt. 27:34), the Romans allowed this drink to be administered to victims of crucifixion, probably not out of compassion, but to keep them from struggling while being crucified.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:24 crucified. See note on v. 15. None of the Gospel accounts give a detailed description of the actual crucifixion process. divided his garments. This was in fulfillment of Ps. 22:18. The executioners customarily divided the victim’s clothes among themselves.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:25 third hour. The crucifixion occurred at 9:00 A.M. based on the Jewish method of reckoning time. John notes that it was “about the sixth hour” when Pilate sentenced Jesus to be crucified (John 19:14). John may have used the Roman method of reckoning time, which counted the hours from midnight. Thus John’s “sixth hour” would have been about 6:00 A.M.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:26 inscription of the charge. The crime for which a condemned man was executed was written on a wooden board, which was fastened to the cross above his head. Jesus’ inscription was written in Latin, Hebrew, and Greek (John 19:20). *See note on Matt. 27:37. The King of the Jews. Since Pilate had repeatedly declared Jesus to be innocent of any crime (Luke 23:4, 14–15, 22), he ordered this inscription written for him. While Pilate’s intent was probably neither to mock nor to honor Jesus, he certainly intended it as an affront to the Jewish authorities, who had given him so much trouble. When the outraged Jewish leaders demanded the wording be changed, Pilate bluntly refused (see note on John 19:22). A comparison of all four Gospel accounts reveals that the full inscription read “This is Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews.” See note on Luke 23:38.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:27 two robbers. They were probably involved with Barabbas in the rebellion (see note on v. 7), since robbery itself was not a capital offense under Roman law.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:28 By placing Jesus’ cross between the two robbers (v. 27), Pilate may have intended to further insult the Jews, implying that their king was nothing but a common criminal. God intended it, however, as a fulfillment of prophecy (cf. Isa. 53:12).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:29 wagging their heads. A gesture of contempt and derision (cf. 2 Kings 19:21; Ps. 22:7; 44:14; 109:25; Jer. 18:16; Lam. 2:15). You who would destroy the temple and rebuild it in three days. The passersby repeated the false charge made during Jesus’ trial before Caiaphas (Mark 14:58). The charge was a misunderstanding of Jesus’ words in John 2:19–21.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:32 Christ. *See note on 1:1. come down now from the cross. A final demand for a miracle by the unbelieving Jewish authorities (cf. 8:11). Their claim that they would then see and believe was false, since they later refused to believe the even greater miracle of Christ’s resurrection. Those who were crucified with him. The two robbers joined in the reviling of Jesus, though one later repented (Luke 23:40–43).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:33 sixth hour. Noon, by Jewish reckoning, at the halfway point of Jesus' six hours on the cross (see note on v. 25). darkness. A mark of divine judgment (cf. Isa. 5:30; 13:10–11; Joel 2:1, 2; Amos 5:20; Zeph. 1:14–15; Matt. 8:12; 22:13; 25:30). The geographical extent of the darkness is not known, although the writings of the church Fathers hint that it extended beyond Palestine. ninth hour. I.e., 3:00 P.M.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:34 Eloi . . . sabachthani? The Aramaic words of Ps. 22:1. Matthew, who also recorded this cry, gave the Hebrew words (Matt. 27:46). why have you forsaken me? Jesus felt keenly his abandonment by the Father, resulting from God's wrath being poured out on him as the substitute for sinners (see notes on 2 Cor. 5:21).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:35 Elijah. Further mockery which in effect meant, "Let the forerunner come and save this so-called Messiah" (see note on Luke 1:17).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:36 sour wine. Cheap wine commonly consumed by soldiers and workers. It may have been an act of mercy, or merely intended to prolong his suffering. a reed. A hyssop branch (John 19:29).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:37 uttered a loud cry. Demonstrating amazing strength in light of the intense suffering he had endured, his shout reveals that his life did not slowly ebb away, but that he voluntarily gave it up (John 10:17–18). For the words of Christ's cry, see Luke 23:46.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:38 the curtain of the temple was torn in two. The massive curtain separating the Most Holy Place from the rest of the sanctuary (Ex. 26:31–33; 40:20–21; Lev. 16:2; Heb. 9:3). This rending signified that the way into God's presence was open by the death of his Son.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:39 centurion. The Roman officer in charge of the crucifixion. Centurions, considered the backbone of the Roman army, commanded 100 soldiers. saw that in this way he breathed his last. The centurion had seen many crucified victims die, but none like Jesus. The strength he possessed at his death, as evidenced by his loud cry (v. 37), was unheard of for a victim of crucifixion. That, coupled with the earthquake that coincided with Christ's death (Matt. 27:51–54) convinced the centurion that Jesus "was the Son of God." According to tradition, this man actually became a believer (see note on Matt. 27:54).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:40 Some of these women had earlier been at the foot of the cross (John 19:25–27). By then, unable to watch Jesus’ suffering at such close range, they were “looking on from a distance.” Their sympathetic loyalty was in sharp contrast to the disciples who, except for John, were nowhere to be found. Mary Magdalene. She was from the village of Magdala, on the west shore of the Sea of Galilee, hence her name. Luke notes that Jesus had cast seven demons out of her (Luke 8:2). She is usually named first when the women who followed Jesus are listed, which may suggest that she was their leader. Mary the mother of James the younger and of Joses. She is distinguished from the other Marys by the name of her sons. “James the younger” (called “James the son of Alphaeus” in Matt. 10:3) was one of the Twelve. Salome. The wife of Zebedee (Matt. 27:56), and the mother of James and John (see note on Mark 10:35).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:41 many other women. They had been with Jesus since the days of his Galilean ministry, traveling with him and the disciples, caring for their needs (cf. Luke 8:2–3).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:42 day of Preparation. Friday, the day before the Sabbath (Saturday).

MARK—NOTE ON 15:43 Joseph of Arimathea. “Arimathea,” known in the OT as Ramah, or Ramathaim-zophim (the birthplace of Samuel, 1 Sam. 1:1, 19; 2:11), was located about 15–20 miles northwest of Jerusalem. Joseph was a prominent member of the “Council” (or the Sanhedrin, see note on Mark 14:43) who had opposed Jesus’ condemnation (Luke 23:51). kingdom of God. See note on Mark 1:15. took courage. Pilate would not likely have been pleased to see a member of the Sanhedrin, after that group had forced him to crucify an innocent man. Further, Joseph’s public identification with Jesus would enrage the other members of the Sanhedrin. asked for the body of Jesus. Though prisoners sentenced to death forfeited the right to burial under Roman law, their bodies were usually granted to relatives who asked for them, but Jesus’ mother was emotionally exhausted from the ordeal. There is no evidence that his brothers and sisters were in Jerusalem, and his closest friends, the disciples, had fled (except for John, who had Mary to take care of; John 19:26–27). In the absence of those closest to Jesus, Joseph courageously asked Pilate for Jesus’ body.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:44 Pilate was surprised. Victims of crucifixion often lingered for days, hence Pilate's surprise that Jesus was dead after only six hours. Before granting Jesus' body to Joseph, Pilate checked with the "centurion" in charge of the crucifixion (see note on v. 39) to verify that Jesus was really dead.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:45 he granted the corpse to Joseph. Having received confirmation from the centurion that Jesus was dead, Pilate granted Jesus' body to Joseph. By that act, the Romans officially pronounced Jesus dead.

MARK—NOTE ON 15:46 wrapped him in the linen shroud. The Jews did not embalm corpses, but wrapped them in perfumed burial cloths (see note on 16:1). Nicodemus, another prominent member of the Sanhedrin (cf. John 7:50), assisted Joseph in caring for the body of Jesus (John 19:39–40). These men, who had kept their allegiance to Jesus secret during his lifetime, then came forward publicly to bury him, while the disciples, who had openly followed Jesus, hid (John 20:19). tomb . . . cut out of the rock. This "tomb" was located near Golgotha (John 19:42). Matthew adds that it was Joseph's own (Matt. 27:60), while Luke and John note that no one as yet had been buried in it (Luke 23:53; John 19:41).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:1 Sabbath was past. The Sabbath officially ended at sundown on Saturday, after which the women were able to purchase spices. Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James and Salome. See note on Matt. 27:56. Luke mentions that Joanna and other women were also there (Luke 24:10; cf. Mark 15:41). spices. The women bought more spices in addition to those prepared earlier (cf. Luke 23:56; John 19:39–40). anoint. Unlike the Egyptians, the Jewish people did not embalm their dead. Anointing was an act of love, to offset the stench of a decaying body. That the women came to anoint Jesus' body on the third day after his burial showed that they, like the disciples, were not expecting him to rise from the dead (cf. Mark 8:31; 9:31; 10:34).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:2 when the sun had risen. John 20:1 says that Mary Magdalene arrived at the tomb while it was still dark. She may have gone on ahead of the other women, or the whole party may have set out together while it was still dark and arrived at the tomb after sunrise.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:3 Who will roll away the stone . . . ? Only Mark records this discussion on the way to the tomb. The women realized they had no men with them to move the heavy stone (v. 4) away from the entrance to the tomb.

Since they had last visited the tomb on Friday evening, they did not know it had been sealed and a guard posted, which took place on Saturday (Matt. 27:62–66).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:4 the stone had been rolled back. This was not to let Jesus out, but to let the witnesses in. The earthquake when the angel rolled away the stone (Matt. 28:2) may have affected only the area around the tomb, since the women apparently did not feel it.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:5 entering the tomb. The outer chamber, separated from the burial chamber by a small doorway. young man . . . dressed in a white robe. The angel, having rolled away the stone (Matt. 28:2), had then entered the burial chamber. Luke records that there were two angels in the tomb; Matthew and Mark focus on the one who spoke (for similar instances, see note on Mark 10:46).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:6 Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. See note on Matt. 2:23. The inspired account leaves no doubt about who had been in the tomb. The idea of some unbelievers that the women went to the wrong tomb is ludicrous. He has risen. Christ's resurrection is one of the central truths of the Christian faith (1 Cor. 15:4) and the only plausible explanation for the empty tomb. Even the Jewish leaders did not deny the reality of the empty tomb, but concocted the story that the disciples had stolen Jesus' body (Matt. 28:11–15). The idea that the fearful (John 20:19), doubting (Mark 16:11, 13; Luke 24:10–11) disciples somehow overpowered the Roman guard detachment and stole Jesus' body is absurd. That they did it while the guards were asleep is even more preposterous. Surely, in moving the heavy stone from the mouth of the tomb, the disciples would have awakened at least one of the soldiers. And in any case, how could the guards have known what happened while they were asleep? Many other theories have been sinfully invented over the centuries to explain away the empty tomb, all of them equally futile.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:7 and Peter. Peter was not singled out as the leader of the disciples, but to be reassured that, despite his denials of Christ, he was still one of them. he is going before you to Galilee . . . as he told you. See note on 14:28. The disciples' lack of faith made them slow to act on these words; they did not leave for Galilee (Matt. 28:7, 16) until after Jesus repeatedly appeared to them in Jerusalem (cf. Luke 24:13–32; John 20:19–31).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:8 afraid. They were overwhelmed by the frightening appearance of the angel and the awesome mystery of the resurrection.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:9–20 The external evidence strongly suggests these verses were not originally part of Mark’s Gospel. While the majority of Greek manuscripts contain these verses, the earliest and most reliable do not. A shorter ending also existed, but it is not included in the text. Further, some that include the passage note that it was missing from older Greek manuscripts, while others have scribal marks indicating the passage was considered spurious. The fourth-century church Fathers Eusebius and Jerome noted that almost all Greek manuscripts available to them lacked vv. 9–20. The internal evidence from this passage also weighs heavily against Mark’s authorship. The transition between vv. 8 and 9 is abrupt and awkward. The Greek particle translated “now” that begins v. 9 implies continuity with the preceding narrative. What follows, however, does not continue the story of the women referred to in v. 8, but describes Christ’s appearance to Mary Magdalene (cf. John 20:11–18). The masculine participle in Mark 16:9 expects “he” as its antecedent, yet the subject of v. 8 is the women. Although she had just been mentioned three times (v. 1; 15:40, 47), 16:9 introduces Mary Magdalene as if for the first time. Further, if Mark wrote v. 9, it is strange that he would only now note that Jesus had cast seven demons out of her. The angel spoke of Jesus’ appearing to his followers in Galilee, yet the appearances described in vv. 9–20 are all in the Jerusalem area. Finally, the presence in these verses of a significant number of Greek words used nowhere else in Mark argues that Mark did not write them. Verses 9–20 represent an early (they were known to the second-century Fathers Irenaeus, Tatian, and, possibly, Justin Martyr) attempt to complete Mark’s Gospel. While for the most part summarizing truths taught elsewhere in Scripture, vv. 9–20 should always be compared with the rest of Scripture, and no doctrines should be formulated based solely on them. Since, in spite of all these considerations of the likely unreliability of this section, it is possible to be wrong on the issue, thus, it is good to consider the meaning of this passage and leave it in the text, just as with John 7:53–8:11.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:9 he rose early on the first day of the week. That is, early Sunday morning. Mary Magdalene. See note on 15:40.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:12–13 This incident is related in Luke 24:13–32.

MARK—NOTE ON 16:14 the eleven. The Twelve minus Judas, who had committed suicide (Matt. 27:3–10). unbelief and hardness of heart. In not believing the witnesses of the resurrection (Mark 16:12–13; cf. Luke 24:10–11).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:15–16 Similar to Matthew’s account of the Great Commission, with the added contrast of those who have been baptized (believers) with those who refuse to believe and are condemned. Even if v. 16 is a genuine part of Mark’s Gospel, it does not teach that baptism saves, since the lost are condemned for unbelief, not for not being baptized (see note on Acts 2:38).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:17–18 These signs were promised to the apostolic community (Matt. 10:1; 2 Cor. 12:12), not all believers in all ages (cf. 1 Cor. 12:29–30). All (with the exception of drinking poison) were experienced by some in the apostolic church and reported in Scripture (e.g., Acts 28:5), but not afterward (cf. Mark 16:20).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:19 right hand of God. The place of honor Jesus assumed after his ascension (see note on Acts 2:33).

MARK—NOTE ON 16:20 confirmed the message by accompanying signs. See notes on Acts 2:22; 2 Cor. 12:12; Heb. 2:4.

Introduction to Luke

Title

As with the other three Gospels, the title is derived from the author's name. According to tradition, Luke was a Gentile. The apostle Paul seems to confirm this, distinguishing Luke from those who were "of the circumcision" (Col. 4:11, 14). That would make Luke the only Gentile to pen any books of Scripture. He is responsible for a significant portion of the NT, having written both this Gospel and the book of Acts (see Author and Date).

Very little is known about Luke. He almost never included personal details about himself, and nothing definite is known about his background or his conversion. Both Eusebius and Jerome identified him as a native of Antioch (which may explain why so much of the book of Acts centers on Antioch—cf. Acts 11:19–27; 13:1–3; 14:26; 15:22–23, 30–35; 18:22–23). Luke was a frequent companion of the apostle Paul, at least from the time of Paul's Macedonian vision (Acts 16:9–10) right up to the time of Paul's martyrdom (2 Tim. 4:11).

The apostle Paul referred to Luke as a physician (Col. 4:14). Luke's interest in medical phenomena is evident in the high profile he gave to Jesus' healing ministry (e.g., Luke 4:38–40; 5:15–25; 6:17–19; 7:11–15; 8:43–47, 49–56; 9:2, 6, 11; 13:11–13; 14:2–4; 17:12–14; 22:50–51). In Luke's day, physicians did not have a unique vocabulary of technical terminology; so when Luke discusses healings and other medical issues, his language is not markedly different from that of the other Gospel writers.

Author and Date

The Gospel of Luke and the book of Acts clearly were written by the same individual (cf. 1:1–4; Acts 1:1). Although he never identified himself by name, it is clear from his use of "we" in many sections of Acts that he was a close companion of the apostle Paul (Acts 16:10–17; 20:5–15; 21:1–18; 27:1–28:16). Luke is the only person, among the colleagues Paul mentions in his own epistles (Col. 4:14; 2 Tim. 4:11; Philem. 24), who fits the profile of the author of these books. That accords perfectly with the earliest tradition of the church, which unanimously attributed this Gospel to Luke.

Luke and Acts appear to have been written at about the same time—Luke first, then Acts. Combined, they make a two-volume work addressed to “Theophilus” (Luke 1:3; Acts 1:1; see Background and Setting) giving a sweeping history of the founding of Christianity, from the birth of Christ to Paul’s imprisonment under house arrest in Rome (Acts 28:30–31).

The book of Acts ends with Paul still in Rome, which leads to the conclusion that Luke wrote these books from Rome during Paul’s imprisonment there (c. A.D. 60–62). Luke records Jesus’ prophecy of the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 (19:42–44; 21:20–24) but makes no mention of the fulfillment of that prophecy, either here or in Acts. Luke made it a point to record such prophetic fulfillments (cf. Acts 11:28), so it is extremely unlikely he wrote these books after the Roman invasion of Jerusalem. Acts also includes no mention of the great persecution that began under Nero in A.D. 64. In addition, many scholars set the date of James’ martyrdom at A.D. 62, and if that was before Luke completed his history, he certainly would have mentioned it. So, the most likely date for this Gospel is A.D. 60 or 61.

Background and Setting

Luke dedicated his works to “most excellent Theophilus” (lit., “lover of God”—1:3; cf. Acts 1:1). This designation, which may be a nickname or a pseudonym, is accompanied by a formal address (“most excellent”)—possibly signifying that “Theophilus” was a well known Roman dignitary, perhaps one of those who had turned to Christ in “Caesar’s household” (Phil. 4:22).

It is almost certain, however, that Luke envisioned a much broader audience for his work than this one man. The dedications at the outset of Luke and Acts are like the formal dedication in a modern book. They are not like the address of an epistle.

Luke expressly stated that his knowledge of the events recorded in his Gospel came from the reports of those who were eyewitnesses (Luke 1:1–2)—strongly implying that he himself was not an eyewitness. It is clear from his prologue that his aim was to give an ordered account of the events of Jesus’ life, but this does not mean he always followed a strict chronological order in all instances (e.g., see note on 3:20).

By acknowledging that he had compiled his account from various extant sources (see note on 1:1), Luke was not disclaiming divine inspiration for his work. The process of inspiration never bypasses or overrides the personalities, vocabularies, and styles of the human authors of Scripture. The unique traits of the human authors are always indelibly stamped on all the books of Scripture. Luke's research is no exception to this rule. The research itself was orchestrated by divine providence. And in his writing, Luke was moved by the Spirit of God (2 Pet. 1:21). Therefore, his account is infallibly true (see note on Luke 1:3).

Historical and Theological Themes

Luke's style is that of a scholarly, well-read author (see note on 1:1–4). He wrote as a meticulous historian, often giving details that helped identify the historical context of the events he described (1:5; 2:1–2; 3:1–2; 13:1–4).

His account of the nativity is the fullest in all the Gospel records—and (like the rest of Luke's work) more polished in its literary style. He included in the birth narrative a series of praise psalms (1:46–55; 1:68–79; 2:14; 2:29–32, 34–35). He alone reported the unusual circumstances surrounding the birth of John the Baptist, the annunciation to Mary, the manger, the shepherds, and Simeon and Anna (2:25–38).

A running theme in Luke's Gospel is Jesus' compassion for Gentiles, Samaritans, women, children, tax collectors, sinners, and others often regarded as outcasts in Israel. Every time he mentions a tax collector (3:12; 5:27; 7:29; 15:1; 18:10–13; 19:2), it is in a positive sense. Yet, Luke did not ignore the salvation of those who were rich and respectable—e.g., 23:50–53. From the outset of Jesus' public ministry (4:18) to the Lord's final words on the cross (23:40–43), Luke underscored this theme of Christ's ministry to the pariahs of society. Again and again he showed how the Great Physician ministered to those most aware of their need (cf. 5:31–32; 15:4–7, 31–32; 19:10).

The high profile Luke accords to women is particularly significant. From the nativity account, where Mary, Elizabeth, and Anna are given prominence (chs. 1; 2), to the events of resurrection morning, where women again are major characters (24:1, 10), Luke emphasized the central role of women in the life and ministry of our Lord (e.g., 7:12–15, 37–50; 8:2–3, 43–48; 10:38–42; 13:11–13; 21:2–4; 23:27–29, 49, 55–56).

Several other recurring themes form threads through Luke’s Gospel. Examples of these are human fear in the presence of God (see note on 1:12); forgiveness (3:3; 5:20–25; 6:37; 7:41–50; 11:4; 12:10; 17:3–4; 23:34; 24:47); joy (see note on 1:14); wonder at the mysteries of divine truth (see note on 2:18); the role of the Holy Spirit (1:15, 35, 41, 67; 2:25–27; 3:16, 22; 4:1, 14, 18; 10:21; 11:13; 12:10, 12); the temple in Jerusalem (1:9–22; 2:27–38, 46–49; 4:9–13; 18:10–14; 19:45–48; 20:1–21:6; 21:37–38; 24:53); and Jesus’ prayers (see note on 6:12).

Starting with 9:51, Luke devoted 10 chapters of his narrative to a travelogue of Jesus’ final journey to Jerusalem. Much of the material in this section is unique to Luke. This is the heart of Luke’s Gospel, and it features a theme Luke stressed throughout: Jesus’ relentless progression toward the cross. This was the very purpose for which Christ had come to earth (cf. 9:22–23; 17:25; 18:31–33; 24:25–26, 46), and he would not be deterred. The saving of sinners was his whole mission (19:10).

Interpretive Challenges

Luke, like Mark, and in contrast to Matthew, appears to target a Gentile readership (for a discussion of the Synoptic Problem, see Introduction to Mark: Interpretive Challenges). He identified locations that would have been familiar to all Jews (e.g., Luke 4:31; 23:51; 24:13), suggesting that his audience went beyond those who already had knowledge of Palestinian geography. He usually preferred Greek terminology over Hebraisms (e.g., “The Skull” instead of “Golgotha” in 23:33). The other Gospels all use occasional Semitic terms such as “Abba” (Mark 14:36), “rabbi” (Matt. 23:7–8; John 1:38, 49), and “Hosanna” (Matt. 21:9; Mark 11:9–10; John 12:13)—but Luke either omitted them or used Greek equivalents.

Luke quoted the OT more sparingly than Matthew, and when citing OT passages, he nearly always employed the LXX, a Greek translation of the Hebrew Scriptures. Furthermore, most of Luke’s OT citations are allusions rather than direct quotations, and many of them appear in Jesus’ words rather than Luke’s narration (2:23–24; 3:4–6; 4:4, 8, 10–12, 18–19; 7:27; 10:27; 18:20; 19:46; 20:17–18, 37, 42–43; 22:37).

Luke, more than any of the other Gospel writers, highlighted the universal scope of the gospel invitation. He portrayed Jesus as the Son of Man, rejected by Israel, and then offered to the world. As noted above (see Historical and Theological Themes), Luke repeatedly related accounts of Gentiles, Samaritans, and other outcasts who found grace in Jesus' eyes. This emphasis is precisely what we would expect from a close companion of the "Apostle to the Gentiles" (Rom. 11:13).

Yet some critics have claimed to see a wide gap between Luke's theology and that of Paul. It is true that Luke's Gospel is practically devoid of terminology that is uniquely Pauline. Luke wrote with his own style. Yet the underlying theology is perfectly in harmony with that of the apostle's. The centerpiece of Paul's doctrine was justification by faith (see note on Rom. 3:24). Luke also highlighted and illustrated justification by faith in many of the incidents and parables he related, chiefly the account of the Pharisee and the publican (Luke 18:9–14); the familiar story of the Prodigal Son (15:11–32); the incident at Simon's house (7:36–50); and the salvation of Zacchaeus (19:1–10).

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

Luke

Dedication to Theophilus

LUKE 1 †† Inasmuch as many have undertaken to compile a narrative of the things that have been accomplished among us, † just as those who from the beginning were eyewitnesses and ministers of the word have delivered them to us, † it seemed good to me also, having followed all things closely for some time past, to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus, † that you may have certainty concerning the things you have been taught.

Birth of John the Baptist Foretold

† In the days of Herod, king of Judea, there was a priest named Zechariah, [1] of the division of Abijah. And he had a wife from the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth. † And they were both righteous before God, walking blamelessly in all the commandments and statutes of the Lord. † But they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and both were advanced in years.

† Now while he was serving as priest before God when his division was on duty, † according to the custom of the priesthood, he was chosen by lot to enter the temple of the Lord and burn incense. † And the whole multitude of the people were praying outside at the hour of incense. † And there appeared to him an angel of the Lord standing on the right side of the altar of incense. † And Zechariah was troubled when he saw him, and fear fell upon him. † But the angel said to him, “Do not be afraid, Zechariah, for your prayer has been heard, and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call his name John. † And you will have joy and gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth, † for he will be great before the Lord. And he must not drink wine or strong drink, and he will be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother's womb. † And he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God, † and he will go before him in the spirit and power of Elijah, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, to make ready for the Lord a people prepared.”

† And Zechariah said to the angel, “How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is advanced in years.” <sup>19</sup>† And the angel answered him, “I am Gabriel. I stand in the presence of God, and I was sent to speak to you and to bring you this good news. <sup>20</sup>† And behold, you will be silent and unable to speak until the day that these things take place, because you did not believe my words, which will be fulfilled in their time.” <sup>21</sup>† And the people were waiting for Zechariah, and they were wondering at his delay in the temple. <sup>22</sup>† And when he came out, he was unable to speak to them, and they realized that he had seen a vision in the temple. And he kept making signs to them and remained mute. <sup>23</sup>† And when his time of service was ended, he went to his home.

<sup>24</sup>† After these days his wife Elizabeth conceived, and for five months she kept herself hidden, saying, <sup>25</sup>† “Thus the Lord has done for me in the days when he looked on me, to take away my reproach among people.”

Birth of Jesus Foretold

<sup>26</sup>† In the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a city of Galilee named Nazareth, <sup>27</sup>† to a virgin betrothed [2] to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David. And the virgin's name was Mary. <sup>28</sup>† And he came to her and said, “Greetings, O favored one, the Lord is with you!” [3] <sup>29</sup>† But she was greatly troubled at the saying, and tried to discern what sort of greeting this might be. <sup>30</sup>† And the angel said to her, “Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. <sup>31</sup>† And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you shall call his name Jesus. <sup>32</sup>† He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High. And the Lord God will give to him the throne of his father David, <sup>33</sup>† and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of his kingdom there will be no end.”

<sup>34</sup>† And Mary said to the angel, “How will this be, since I am a virgin?” [4]

<sup>35</sup>† And the angel answered her, “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; therefore the child to be born [5] will be called holy—the Son of God. <sup>36</sup>† And behold, your relative Elizabeth in her old age has also conceived a son, and this is the sixth month with her who was called barren. <sup>37</sup>† For nothing will be impossible with God.” <sup>38</sup>† And Mary said, “Behold, I am the servant [6] of the Lord; let it be to me according to your word.” And the angel departed from her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

<sup>39</sup>In those days Mary arose and went with haste into the hill country, to a town in Judah, <sup>40</sup>and she entered the house of Zechariah and greeted Elizabeth. <sup>41</sup>†And when Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary, the baby leaped in her womb. And Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit, <sup>42</sup>and she exclaimed with a loud cry, “Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb! <sup>43</sup>†And why is this granted to me that the mother of my Lord should come to me? <sup>44</sup>†For behold, when the sound of your greeting came to my ears, the baby in my womb leaped for joy. <sup>45</sup>And blessed is she who believed that there would be [Z] a fulfillment of what was spoken to her from the Lord.”

Mary's Song of Praise: The Magnificat

<sup>46</sup>†And Mary said, “My soul magnifies the Lord, <sup>47</sup>†and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior, <sup>48</sup>†for he has looked on the humble estate of his servant.

For behold, from now on all generations will call me blessed; <sup>49</sup>for he who is mighty has done great things for me, and holy is his name.

<sup>50</sup>And his mercy is for those who fear him from generation to generation.

<sup>51</sup>He has shown strength with his arm; he has scattered the proud in the thoughts of their hearts; <sup>52</sup>he has brought down the mighty from their thrones and exalted those of humble estate; <sup>53</sup>he has filled the hungry with good things, and the rich he has sent away empty.

The Birth of John the Baptist

<sup>57</sup>Now the time came for Elizabeth to give birth, and she bore a son. <sup>58</sup>And her neighbors and relatives heard that the Lord had shown great mercy to her, and they rejoiced with her. <sup>59</sup>†And on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child. And they would have called him Zechariah after his father, <sup>60</sup>†but his mother answered, “No; he shall be called John.” <sup>61</sup>And they said to her, “None of your relatives is called by this name.” <sup>62</sup>†And they made signs to his father, inquiring what he wanted him to be called. <sup>63</sup>And he asked for a writing tablet and wrote, “His name is John.” And they all wondered. <sup>64</sup>And immediately his mouth was opened and his tongue loosed, and he spoke, blessing God. <sup>65</sup>†And fear came on all their neighbors. And all these things were talked about through all the hill country of Judea, <sup>66</sup>and all who heard them laid them up in their hearts, saying, “What then will this child be?” For the hand of the Lord was with him.

Zechariah's Prophecy

<sup>67</sup>† And his father Zechariah was filled with the Holy Spirit and prophesied, saying, <sup>68</sup>† “Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for he has visited and redeemed his people <sup>69</sup>† and has raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David, <sup>70</sup>as he spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets from of old, <sup>71</sup>that we should be saved from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us; <sup>72</sup>† to show the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember his holy covenant, <sup>73</sup>the oath that he swore to our father Abraham, to grant us <sup>74</sup>that we, being delivered from the hand of our enemies, might serve him without fear, <sup>75</sup>in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.

<sup>76</sup>† And you, child, will be called the prophet of the Most High; for you will go before the Lord to prepare his ways, <sup>77</sup>† to give knowledge of salvation to his people in the forgiveness of their sins, <sup>78</sup>† because of the tender mercy of our God, whereby the sunrise shall visit us [8] from on high <sup>79</sup>to give light to those who sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace.”

<sup>80</sup>† And the child grew and became strong in spirit, and he was in the wilderness until the day of his public appearance to Israel.

The Birth of Jesus Christ

LUKE 2 †In those days a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be registered. †This was the first registration when [1] Quirinius was governor of Syria. †And all went to be registered, each to his own town. †And Joseph also went up from Galilee, from the town of Nazareth, to Judea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, †to be registered with Mary, his betrothed, [2] who was with child. †And while they were there, the time came for her to give birth. †And she gave birth to her firstborn son and wrapped him in swaddling cloths and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn.

The Shepherds and the Angels

†And in the same region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. †And an angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were filled with fear. †And the angel said to them, “Fear not, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. †For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. †And this will be a sign for you: you will find a baby wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger.” †And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, †“Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among those with whom he is pleased!” [3]

†When the angels went away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, “Let us go over to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us.” †And they went with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the baby lying in a manger. †And when they saw it, they made known the saying that had been told them concerning this child. †And all who heard it wondered at what the shepherds told them. †But Mary treasured up all these things, pondering them in her heart. †And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, as it had been told them.

†And at the end of eight days, when he was circumcised, he was called Jesus, the name given by the angel before he was conceived in the womb.

Jesus Presented at the Temple

<sup>22</sup>† And when the time came for their purification according to the Law of Moses, they brought him up to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord <sup>23</sup>(as it is written in the Law of the Lord, “Every male who first opens the womb shall be called holy to the Lord”) <sup>24</sup>† and to offer a sacrifice according to what is said in the Law of the Lord, “a pair of turtledoves, or two young pigeons.” <sup>25</sup>† Now there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon, and this man was righteous and devout, waiting for the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him. <sup>26</sup>† And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not see death before he had seen the Lord's Christ. <sup>27</sup> And he came in the Spirit into the temple, and when the parents brought in the child Jesus, to do for him according to the custom of the Law, <sup>28</sup> he took him up in his arms and blessed God and said, <sup>29</sup>† “Lord, now you are letting your servant [4] depart in peace, according to your word; <sup>30</sup>† for my eyes have seen your salvation <sup>31</sup>† that you have prepared in the presence of all peoples, <sup>32</sup> a light for revelation to the Gentiles, and for glory to your people Israel.”

<sup>33</sup> And his father and his mother marveled at what was said about him. <sup>34</sup>† And Simeon blessed them and said to Mary his mother, “Behold, this child is appointed for the fall and rising of many in Israel, and for a sign that is opposed <sup>35</sup>† (and a sword will pierce through your own soul also), so that thoughts from many hearts may be revealed.”

<sup>36</sup>† And there was a prophetess, Anna, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was advanced in years, having lived with her husband seven years from when she was a virgin, <sup>37</sup>† and then as a widow until she was eighty-four. [5] She did not depart from the temple, worshiping with fasting and prayer night and day. <sup>38</sup> And coming up at that very hour she began to give thanks to God and to speak of him to all who were waiting for the redemption of Jerusalem.

The Return to Nazareth

<sup>39</sup>† And when they had performed everything according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their own town of Nazareth. <sup>40</sup> And the child grew and became strong, filled with wisdom. And the favor of God was upon him.

The Boy Jesus in the Temple

<sup>42</sup> And when he was twelve years old, they went up according to custom. <sup>43</sup>† And when the feast was ended, as they were returning, the boy Jesus stayed behind in Jerusalem. His parents did not know it, <sup>44</sup>† but supposing him to be in the group they went a day's journey, but then they began to search for him among their relatives and acquaintances, <sup>45</sup> and when they did not find him, they returned to Jerusalem, searching for him. <sup>46</sup>† After three days they found him in the temple, sitting among the teachers, listening to them and asking them questions. <sup>47</sup> And all who heard him were amazed at his understanding and his answers. <sup>48</sup>† And when his parents [6] saw him, they were astonished. And his mother said to him, "Son, why have you treated us so? Behold, your father and I have been searching for you in great distress." <sup>49</sup>† And he said to them, "Why were you looking for me? Did you not know that I must be in my Father's house?" [7] <sup>50</sup> And they did not understand the saying that he spoke to them. <sup>51</sup>† And he went down with them and came to Nazareth and was submissive to them. And his mother treasured up all these things in her heart.

<sup>52</sup>† And Jesus increased in wisdom and in stature [8] and in favor with God and man.

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

LUKE 3 †In the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judea, and Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip tetrarch of the region of Ituraea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene, <sup>2</sup>†during the high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas, the word of God came to John the son of Zechariah in the wilderness. <sup>3</sup>†And he went into all the region around the Jordan, proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins. <sup>4</sup>†As it is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet, “The voice of one crying in the wilderness: ‘Prepare the way of the Lord, [\[1\]](#) make his paths straight.

<sup>5</sup>Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be made low, and the crooked shall become straight, and the rough places shall become level ways, <sup>6</sup>†and all flesh shall see the salvation of God.’”

<sup>7</sup>†He said therefore to the crowds that came out to be baptized by him, “You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come? <sup>8</sup>†Bear fruits in keeping with repentance. And do not begin to say to yourselves, ‘We have Abraham as our father.’ For I tell you, God is able from these stones to raise up children for Abraham. <sup>9</sup>†Even now the axe is laid to the root of the trees. Every tree therefore that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.”

<sup>10</sup>And the crowds asked him, “What then shall we do?” <sup>11</sup>†And he answered them, “Whoever has two tunics [\[2\]](#) is to share with him who has none, and whoever has food is to do likewise.” <sup>12</sup>†Tax collectors also came to be baptized and said to him, “Teacher, what shall we do?” <sup>13</sup>And he said to them, “Collect no more than you are authorized to do.” <sup>14</sup>†Soldiers also asked him, “And we, what shall we do?” And he said to them, “Do not extort money from anyone by threats or by false accusation, and be content with your wages.”

<sup>15</sup>As the people were in expectation, and all were questioning in their hearts concerning John, whether he might be the Christ, <sup>16</sup>†John answered them all, saying, “I baptize you with water, but he who is mightier than I is coming, the strap of whose sandals I am not worthy to untie. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire. <sup>17</sup>†His winnowing fork is in his hand, to clear his threshing floor and to gather the wheat into his barn, but the chaff he will burn with unquenchable fire.”

<sup>18</sup>So with many other exhortations he preached good news to the people. <sup>19</sup>†But Herod the tetrarch, who had been reproved by him for Herodias, his brother's wife, and for all the evil things that Herod had done, <sup>20</sup>†added this to them all, that he locked up John in prison.

<sup>21</sup>†Now when all the people were baptized, and when Jesus also had been baptized and was praying, the heavens were opened, <sup>22</sup>†and the Holy Spirit descended on him in bodily form, like a dove; and a voice came from heaven, “You are my beloved Son; [3] with you I am well pleased.” [4]

The Genealogy of Jesus Christ

<sup>23</sup>††Jesus, when he began his ministry, was about thirty years of age, being the son (as was supposed) of Joseph, the son of Heli, <sup>24</sup>the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, the son of Melchi, the son of Jannai, the son of Joseph, <sup>25</sup>the son of Mattathias, the son of Amos, the son of Nahum, the son of Esli, the son of Naggai, <sup>26</sup>the son of Maath, the son of Mattathias, the son of Semein, the son of Josech, the son of Joda, <sup>27</sup>the son of Joanan, the son of Rhesa, the son of Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, [5] the son of Neri, <sup>28</sup>the son of Melchi, the son of Addi, the son of Cosam, the son of Elmadam, the son of Er, <sup>29</sup>the son of Joshua, the son of Eliezer, the son of Jorim, the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, <sup>30</sup>the son of Simeon, the son of Judah, the son of Joseph, the son of Jonam, the son of Eliakim, <sup>31</sup>the son of Melea, the son of Menna, the son of Mattatha, the son of Nathan, the son of David, <sup>32</sup>the son of Jesse, the son of Obed, the son of Boaz, the son of Sala, the son of Nahshon, <sup>33</sup>the son of Amminadab, the son of Admin, the son of Arni, the son of Hezron, the son of Perez, the son of Judah, <sup>34</sup>the son of Jacob, the son of Isaac, the son of Abraham, the son of Terah, the son of Nahor, <sup>35</sup>the son of Serug, the son of Reu, the son of Peleg, the son of Eber, the son of Shelah, <sup>36</sup>the son of Cainan, the son of Arphaxad, the son of Shem, the son of Noah, the son of Lamech, <sup>37</sup>the son of Methuselah, the son of Enoch, the son of Jared, the son of Mahalaleel, the son of Cainan, <sup>38</sup>the son of Enos, the son of Seth, the son of Adam, the son of God.

The Temptation of Jesus

LUKE 4 †And Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit in the wilderness <sup>2</sup>†for forty days, being tempted by the devil. And he ate nothing during those days. And when they were ended, he was hungry. <sup>3</sup>†The devil said to him, “If you are the Son of God, command this stone to become bread.” <sup>4</sup>†And Jesus answered him, “It is written, ‘Man shall not live by bread alone.’” <sup>5</sup>And the devil took him up and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time, <sup>6</sup>and said to him, “To you I will give all this authority and their glory, for it has been delivered to me, and I give it to whom I will. <sup>7</sup>If you, then, will worship me, it will all be yours.” <sup>8</sup>†And Jesus answered him, “It is written, “‘You shall worship the Lord your God, and him only shall you serve.’”

<sup>9</sup>And he took him to Jerusalem and set him on the pinnacle of the temple and said to him, “If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down from here, <sup>10</sup>†for it is written, “‘He will command his angels concerning you, to guard you,’

<sup>11</sup>and “‘On their hands they will bear you up, lest you strike your foot against a stone.’”

<sup>12</sup>†And Jesus answered him, “It is said, ‘You shall not put the Lord your God to the test.’” <sup>13</sup>†And when the devil had ended every temptation, he departed from him until an opportune time.

Jesus Begins His Ministry

<sup>14</sup>†And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee, and a report about him went out through all the surrounding country. <sup>15</sup>†And he taught in their synagogues, being glorified by all.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

<sup>16</sup>†And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up. And as was his custom, he went to the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and he stood up to read. <sup>17</sup>And the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was given to him. He unrolled the scroll and found the place where it was written, <sup>18</sup>†“The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor.

He has sent me to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed, <sup>19</sup>†to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor.”

And the eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed on him. <sup>21</sup>†And he began to say to them, “Today this Scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing.” <sup>22</sup>And all spoke well of him and marveled at the gracious words that were coming from his mouth. And they said, “Is not this Joseph's son?” <sup>23</sup>†And he said to them, “Doubtless you will quote to me this proverb, ‘Physician, heal yourself.’ What we have heard you did at Capernaum, do here in your hometown as well.” <sup>24</sup>And he said, “Truly, I say to you, no prophet is acceptable in his hometown. <sup>25</sup>‡But in truth, I tell you, there were many widows in Israel in the days of Elijah, when the heavens were shut up three years and six months, and a great famine came over all the land, <sup>26</sup>and Elijah was sent to none of them but only to Zarephath, in the land of Sidon, to a woman who was a widow. <sup>27</sup>And there were many lepers [1] in Israel in the time of the prophet Elisha, and none of them was cleansed, but only Naaman the Syrian.” <sup>28</sup>†When they heard these things, all in the synagogue were filled with wrath. <sup>29</sup>And they rose up and drove him out of the town and brought him to the brow of the hill on which their town was built, so that they could throw him down the cliff. <sup>30</sup>†But passing through their midst, he went away.

Jesus Heals a Man with an Unclean Demon

<sup>31</sup>And he went down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee. And he was teaching them on the Sabbath, <sup>32</sup>†and they were astonished at his teaching, for his word possessed authority. <sup>33</sup>†And in the synagogue there was a man who had the spirit of an unclean demon, and he cried out with a loud voice, <sup>34</sup>†“Ha! [2] What have you to do with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are—the Holy One of God.” <sup>35</sup>But Jesus rebuked him, saying, “Be silent and come out of him!” And when the demon had thrown him down in their midst, he came out of him, having done him no harm. <sup>36</sup>And they were all amazed and said to one another, “What is this word? For with authority and power he commands the unclean spirits, and they come out!” <sup>37</sup>And reports about him went out into every place in the surrounding region.

Jesus Heals Many

<sup>38</sup>† And he arose and left the synagogue and entered Simon's house. Now Simon's mother-in-law was ill with a high fever, and they appealed to him on her behalf.

<sup>39</sup> And he stood over her and rebuked the fever, and it left her, and immediately she rose and began to serve them.

<sup>40</sup>† Now when the sun was setting, all those who had any who were sick with various diseases brought them to him, and he laid his hands on every one of them and healed them. <sup>41</sup>† And demons also came out of many, crying, “You are the Son of God!” But he rebuked them and would not allow them to speak, because they knew that he was the Christ.

Jesus Preaches in Synagogues

<sup>42</sup> And when it was day, he departed and went into a desolate place. And the people sought him and came to him, and would have kept him from leaving them, <sup>43</sup>† but he said to them, “I must preach the good news of the kingdom of God to the other towns as well; for I was sent for this purpose.” <sup>44</sup> And he was preaching in the synagogues of Judea. [\[3\]](#)

Jesus Calls the First Disciples

LUKE 5 †On one occasion, while the crowd was pressing in on him to hear the word of God, he was standing by the lake of Gennesaret, <sup>2</sup>†and he saw two boats by the lake, but the fishermen had gone out of them and were washing their nets. <sup>3</sup>†Getting into one of the boats, which was Simon's, he asked him to put out a little from the land. And he sat down and taught the people from the boat. <sup>4</sup>†And when he had finished speaking, he said to Simon, “Put out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch.” <sup>5</sup>And Simon answered, “Master, we toiled all night and took nothing! But at your word I will let down the nets.” <sup>6</sup>And when they had done this, they enclosed a large number of fish, and their nets were breaking. <sup>7</sup>They signaled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them. And they came and filled both the boats, so that they began to sink. <sup>8</sup>†But when Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, “Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord.” <sup>9</sup>For he and all who were with him were astonished at the catch of fish that they had taken, <sup>10</sup>and so also were James and John, sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, “Do not be afraid; from now on you will be catching men.” <sup>11</sup>†And when they had brought their boats to land, they left everything and followed him.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

<sup>12</sup>†While he was in one of the cities, there came a man full of leprosy. [1] And when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face and begged him, “Lord, if you will, you can make me clean.” <sup>13</sup>†And Jesus [2] stretched out his hand and touched him, saying, “I will; be clean.” And immediately the leprosy left him. <sup>14</sup>†And he charged him to tell no one, but “go and show yourself to the priest, and make an offering for your cleansing, as Moses commanded, for a proof to them.” <sup>15</sup>But now even more the report about him went abroad, and great crowds gathered to hear him and to be healed of their infirmities. <sup>16</sup>But he would withdraw to desolate places and pray.

Jesus Heals a Paralytic

<sup>17</sup>†On one of those days, as he was teaching, Pharisees and teachers of the law were sitting there, who had come from every village of Galilee and Judea and from Jerusalem. And the power of the Lord was with him to heal. [3] <sup>18</sup>And behold, some men were bringing on a bed a man who was paralyzed, and they were seeking to bring him in and lay him before Jesus, <sup>19</sup>†but finding no way to bring him in, because of the crowd, they went up on the roof and let him down with his bed through the tiles into the midst before Jesus. <sup>20</sup>†And when he saw their faith, he said, “Man, your sins are forgiven you.” <sup>21</sup>†And the scribes and the Pharisees began to question, saying, “Who is this who speaks blasphemies? Who can forgive sins but God alone?” <sup>22</sup>†When Jesus perceived their thoughts, he answered them, “Why do you question in your hearts? <sup>23</sup>†Which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Rise and walk’? <sup>24</sup>†But that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins”—he said to the man who was paralyzed—“I say to you, rise, pick up your bed and go home.” <sup>25</sup>And immediately he rose up before them and picked up what he had been lying on and went home, glorifying God. <sup>26</sup>†And amazement seized them all, and they glorified God and were filled with awe, saying, “We have seen extraordinary things today.”

Jesus Calls Levi

<sup>27</sup>†After this he went out and saw a tax collector named Levi, sitting at the tax booth. And he said to him, “Follow me.” <sup>28</sup>†And leaving everything, he rose and followed him.

A Question About Fasting

<sup>33</sup>†And they said to him, “The disciples of John fast often and offer prayers, and so do the disciples of the Pharisees, but yours eat and drink.” <sup>34</sup>And Jesus said to them, “Can you make wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them? <sup>35</sup>The days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and then they will fast in those days.” <sup>36</sup>†He also told them a parable: “No one tears a piece from a new garment and puts it on an old garment. If he does, he will tear the new, and the piece from the new will not match the old. <sup>37</sup>And no one puts new wine into old wineskins. If he does, the new wine will burst the skins and it will be spilled, and the skins will be destroyed. <sup>38</sup>But new wine must be put into fresh wineskins. <sup>39</sup>†And no one after drinking old wine desires new, for he says,

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

LUKE 6 On a Sabbath, [1] while he was going through the grainfields, his disciples plucked and ate some heads of grain, rubbing them in their hands. <sup>2</sup>†But some of the Pharisees said, “Why are you doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath?” <sup>3</sup>†And Jesus answered them, “Have you not read what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him: <sup>4</sup>†how he entered the house of God and took and ate the bread of the Presence, which is not lawful for any but the priests to eat, and also gave it to those with him?” <sup>5</sup>†And he said to them, “The Son of Man is lord of the Sabbath.”

A Man with a Withered Hand

<sup>6</sup>On another Sabbath, he entered the synagogue and was teaching, and a man was there whose right hand was withered. <sup>7</sup>†And the scribes and the Pharisees watched him, to see whether he would heal on the Sabbath, so that they might find a reason to accuse him. <sup>8</sup>†But he knew their thoughts, and he said to the man with the withered hand, “Come and stand here.” And he rose and stood there. <sup>9</sup>†And Jesus said to them, “I ask you, is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do harm, to save life or to destroy it?” <sup>10</sup>†And after looking around at them all he said to him, “Stretch out your hand.” And he did so, and his hand was restored. <sup>11</sup>†But they were filled with fury and discussed with one another what they might do to Jesus.

The Twelve Apostles

<sup>12</sup>†In these days he went out to the mountain to pray, and all night he continued in prayer to God. <sup>13</sup>†And when day came, he called his disciples and chose from them twelve, whom he named apostles: <sup>14</sup>Simon, whom he named Peter, and Andrew his brother, and James and John, and Philip, and Bartholomew, <sup>15</sup>and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon who was called the Zealot, <sup>16</sup>and Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot, who became a traitor.

Jesus Ministers to a Great Multitude

<sup>17</sup>††And he came down with them and stood on a level place, with a great crowd of his disciples and a great multitude of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the seacoast of Tyre and Sidon, <sup>18</sup>† who came to hear him and to be healed of their diseases. And those who were troubled with unclean spirits were cured. <sup>19</sup>† And all the crowd sought to touch him, for power came out from him and healed them all.

The Beatitudes

<sup>20</sup>†† And he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said: “Blessed are you who are poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.

“Blessed are you who weep now, for you shall laugh.

<sup>22</sup>† “Blessed are you when people hate you and when they exclude you and revile you and spurn your name as evil, on account of the Son of Man! <sup>23</sup> Rejoice in that day, and leap for joy, for behold, your reward is great in heaven; for so their fathers did to the prophets.

Jesus Pronounces Woes

<sup>24</sup> “But woe to you who are rich, for you have received your consolation.

<sup>25</sup> “Woe to you who are full now, for you shall be hungry.

“Woe to you who laugh now, for you shall mourn and weep.

<sup>26</sup> “Woe to you, when all people speak well of you, for so their fathers did to the false prophets.

Love Your Enemies

<sup>27</sup> “But I say to you who hear, Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, <sup>28</sup> bless those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you. <sup>29</sup>† To one who strikes you on the cheek, offer the other also, and from one who takes away your cloak do not withhold your tunic [\[2\]](#) either. <sup>30</sup> Give to everyone who begs from you, and from one who takes away your goods do not demand them back.

<sup>31</sup>† And as you wish that others would do to you, do so to them.

<sup>32</sup>“If you love those who love you, what benefit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them. <sup>33</sup>And if you do good to those who do good to you, what benefit is that to you? For even sinners do the same. <sup>34</sup>And if you lend to those from whom you expect to receive, what credit is that to you? Even sinners lend to sinners, to get back the same amount. <sup>35</sup>†But love your enemies, and do good, and lend, expecting nothing in return, and your reward will be great, and you will be sons of the Most High, for he is kind to the ungrateful and the evil. <sup>36</sup>Be merciful, even as your Father is merciful.

Judging Others

<sup>37</sup>†“Judge not, and you will not be judged; condemn not, and you will not be condemned; forgive, and you will be forgiven; <sup>38</sup>†give, and it will be given to you. Good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, will be put into your lap. For with the measure you use it will be measured back to you.”

<sup>39</sup>He also told them a parable: “Can a blind man lead a blind man? Will they not both fall into a pit? <sup>40</sup>A disciple is not above his teacher, but everyone when he is fully trained will be like his teacher. <sup>41</sup>†Why do you see the speck that is in your brother's eye, but do not notice the log that is in your own eye? <sup>42</sup>How can you say to your brother, ‘Brother, let me take out the speck that is in your eye,’ when you yourself do not see the log that is in your own eye? You hypocrite, first take the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to take out the speck that is in your brother's eye.

A Tree and Its Fruit

Build Your House on the Rock

<sup>46</sup>†“Why do you call me ‘Lord, Lord,’ and not do what I tell you? <sup>47</sup>†Everyone who comes to me and hears my words and does them, I will show you what he is like: <sup>48</sup>he is like a man building a house, who dug deep and laid the foundation on the rock. And when a flood arose, the stream broke against that house and could not shake it, because it had been well built. [3] <sup>49</sup>But the one who hears and does not do them is like a man who built a house on the ground without a foundation. When the stream broke against it, immediately it fell, and the ruin of that house was great.”

Jesus Heals a Centurion's Servant

LUKE 7 After he had finished all his sayings in the hearing of the people, he entered Capernaum. <sup>2</sup>†Now a centurion had a servant [1] who was sick and at the point of death, who was highly valued by him. <sup>3</sup>†When the centurion [2] heard about Jesus, he sent to him elders of the Jews, asking him to come and heal his servant. <sup>4</sup>And when they came to Jesus, they pleaded with him earnestly, saying, “He is worthy to have you do this for him, <sup>5</sup>for he loves our nation, and he is the one who built us our synagogue.” <sup>6</sup>†And Jesus went with them. When he was not far from the house, the centurion sent friends, saying to him, “Lord, do not trouble yourself, for I am not worthy to have you come under my roof. <sup>7</sup>Therefore I did not presume to come to you. But say the word, and let my servant be healed. <sup>8</sup>For I too am a man set under authority, with soldiers under me: and I say to one, ‘Go,’ and he goes; and to another, ‘Come,’ and he comes; and to my servant, ‘Do this,’ and he does it.” <sup>9</sup>When Jesus heard these things, he marveled at him, and turning to the crowd that followed him, said, “I tell you, not even in Israel have I found such faith.” <sup>10</sup>And when those who had been sent returned to the house, they found the servant well.

Jesus Raises a Widow's Son

<sup>11</sup>†Soon afterward [3] he went to a town called Nain, and his disciples and a great crowd went with him. <sup>12</sup>†As he drew near to the gate of the town, behold, a man who had died was being carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow, and a considerable crowd from the town was with her. <sup>13</sup>And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her and said to her, “Do not weep.” <sup>14</sup>†Then he came up and touched the bier, and the bearers stood still. And he said, “Young man, I say to you, arise.” <sup>15</sup>And the dead man sat up and began to speak, and Jesus [4] gave him to his mother. <sup>16</sup>Fear seized them all, and they glorified God, saying, “A great prophet has arisen among us!” and “God has visited his people!” <sup>17</sup>And this report about him spread through the whole of Judea and all the surrounding country.

Messengers from John the Baptist

<sup>18</sup>†The disciples of John reported all these things to him. And John, <sup>19</sup>†calling two of his disciples to him, sent them to the Lord, saying, “Are you the one who is to come, or shall we look for another?” <sup>20</sup>And when the men had come to him, they said, “John the Baptist has sent us to you, saying, ‘Are you the one who is to come, or shall we look for another?’” <sup>21</sup>In that hour he healed many people of diseases and plagues and evil spirits, and on many who were blind he bestowed sight. <sup>22</sup>† And he answered them, “Go and tell John what you have seen and heard: the blind receive their sight, the lame walk, lepers [5] are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, the poor have good news preached to them. <sup>23</sup>† And blessed is the one who is not offended by me.”

<sup>24</sup>When John's messengers had gone, Jesus [6] began to speak to the crowds concerning John: “What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind? <sup>25</sup>What then did you go out to see? A man dressed in soft clothing? Behold, those who are dressed in splendid clothing and live in luxury are in kings' courts. <sup>26</sup>What then did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet. <sup>27</sup>† This is he of whom it is written, “‘Behold, I send my messenger before your face, who will prepare your way before you.’”

<sup>28</sup>† I tell you, among those born of women none is greater than John. Yet the one who is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.” <sup>29</sup>† (When all the people heard this, and the tax collectors too, they declared God just, [7] having been baptized with the baptism of John, <sup>30</sup>† but the Pharisees and the lawyers rejected the purpose of God for themselves, not having been baptized by him.) <sup>31</sup>“To what then shall I compare the people of this generation, and what are they like? <sup>32</sup>† They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling to one another, “‘We played the flute for you, and you did not dance; we sang a dirge, and you did not weep.’”

<sup>33</sup>For John the Baptist has come eating no bread and drinking no wine, and you say, ‘He has a demon.’ <sup>34</sup>† The Son of Man has come eating and drinking, and you say, ‘Look at him! A glutton and a drunkard, a friend of tax collectors and sinners!’ <sup>35</sup>† Yet wisdom is justified by all her children.”

A Sinful Woman Forgiven

<sup>36</sup>† One of the Pharisees asked him to eat with him, and he went into the Pharisee's house and took his place at the table. <sup>37</sup>† And behold, a woman of the city, who was a sinner, when she learned that he was reclining at table in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster flask of ointment, <sup>38</sup>† and standing behind him at his feet, weeping, she began to wet his feet with her tears and wiped them with the hair of her head and kissed his feet and anointed them with the ointment. <sup>39</sup>† Now when the Pharisee who had invited him saw this, he said to himself, “If this man were a prophet, he would have known who and what sort of woman this is who is touching him, for she is a sinner.” <sup>40</sup>† And Jesus answering said to him, “Simon, I have something to say to you.” And he answered, “Say it, Teacher.”

<sup>41</sup>† “A certain moneylender had two debtors. One owed five hundred denarii, and the other fifty. <sup>42</sup> When they could not pay, he cancelled the debt of both. Now which of them will love him more?” <sup>43</sup> Simon answered, “The one, I suppose, for whom he cancelled the larger debt.” And he said to him, “You have judged rightly.” <sup>44</sup>† Then turning toward the woman he said to Simon, “Do you see this woman? I entered your house; you gave me no water for my feet, but she has wet my feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. <sup>45</sup> You gave me no kiss, but from the time I came in she has not ceased to kiss my feet. <sup>46</sup> You did not anoint my head with oil, but she has anointed my feet with ointment.

<sup>47</sup>† Therefore I tell you, her sins, which are many, are forgiven—for she loved much. But he who is forgiven little, loves little.” <sup>48</sup> And he said to her, “Your sins are forgiven.” <sup>49</sup>† Then those who were at table with him began to say among [8] themselves, “Who is this, who even forgives sins?” <sup>50</sup>† And he said to the woman, “Your faith has saved you; go in peace.”

Women Accompanying Jesus

LUKE 8 Soon afterward he went on through cities and villages, proclaiming and bringing the good news of the kingdom of God. And the twelve were with him, <sup>2</sup>†and also some women who had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities: Mary, called Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone out, <sup>3</sup>†and Joanna, the wife of Chuza, Herod's household manager, and Susanna, and many others, who provided for them [\[1\]](#) out of their means.

The Parable of the Sower

The Purpose of the Parables

<sup>9</sup>And when his disciples asked him what this parable meant, <sup>10</sup>†he said, “To you it has been given to know the secrets of the kingdom of God, but for others they are in parables, so that ‘seeing they may not see, and hearing they may not understand.’ <sup>11</sup>Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God. <sup>12</sup>The ones along the path are those who have heard; then the devil comes and takes away the word from their hearts, so that they may not believe and be saved. <sup>13</sup>†And the ones on the rock are those who, when they hear the word, receive it with joy. But these have no root; they believe for a while, and in time of testing fall away. <sup>14</sup>And as for what fell among the thorns, they are those who hear, but as they go on their way they are choked by the cares and riches and pleasures of life, and their fruit does not mature. <sup>15</sup>†As for that in the good soil, they are those who, hearing the word, hold it fast in an honest and good heart, and bear fruit with patience.

A Lamp Under a Jar

<sup>16</sup>†“No one after lighting a lamp covers it with a jar or puts it under a bed, but puts it on a stand, so that those who enter may see the light. <sup>17</sup>†For nothing is hidden that will not be made manifest, nor is anything secret that will not be known and come to light. <sup>18</sup>†Take care then how you hear, for to the one who has, more will be given, and from the one who has not, even what he thinks that he has will be taken away.”

Jesus' Mother and Brothers

<sup>19</sup>†Then his mother and his brothers came to him, but they could not reach him because of the crowd. <sup>20</sup>†And he was told, “Your mother and your brothers are standing outside, desiring to see you.” <sup>21</sup>But he answered them, “My mother and my brothers are those who hear the word of God and do it.”

Jesus Calms a Storm

<sup>22</sup>†One day he got into a boat with his disciples, and he said to them, “Let us go across to the other side of the lake.” So they set out, <sup>23</sup>and as they sailed he fell asleep. And a windstorm came down on the lake, and they were filling with water and were in danger. <sup>24</sup>And they went and woke him, saying, “Master, Master, we are perishing!” And he awoke and rebuked the wind and the raging waves, and they ceased, and there was a calm. <sup>25</sup>He said to them, “Where is your faith?” And they were afraid, and they marveled, saying to one another, “Who then is this, that he commands even winds and water, and they obey him?”

Jesus Heals a Man with a Demon

<sup>26</sup>†Then they sailed to the country of the Gerasenes, [2] which is opposite Galilee. <sup>27</sup>†When Jesus [3] had stepped out on land, there met him a man from the city who had demons. For a long time he had worn no clothes, and he had not lived in a house but among the tombs. <sup>28</sup>When he saw Jesus, he cried out and fell down before him and said with a loud voice, “What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I beg you, do not torment me.” <sup>29</sup>For he had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. (For many a time it had seized him. He was kept under guard and bound with chains and shackles, but he would break the bonds and be driven by the demon into the desert.) <sup>30</sup>†Jesus then asked him, “What is your name?” And he said, “Legion,” for many demons had entered him. <sup>31</sup>†And they begged him not to command them to depart into the abyss. <sup>32</sup>Now a large herd of pigs was feeding there on the hillside, and they begged him to let them enter these. So he gave them permission. <sup>33</sup>Then the demons came out of the man and entered the pigs, and the herd rushed down the steep bank into the lake and were drowned.

<sup>34</sup>When the herdsmen saw what had happened, they fled and told it in the city and in the country. <sup>35</sup>Then people went out to see what had happened, and they came to Jesus and found the man from whom the demons had gone, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind, and they were afraid. <sup>36</sup>And those who had seen it told them how the demon-possessed [4] man had been healed. <sup>37</sup>Then all the people of the surrounding country of the Gerasenes asked him to depart from them, for they were seized with great fear. So he got into the boat and returned. <sup>38</sup>The man from whom the demons had gone begged that he might be with him, but Jesus sent him away, saying, <sup>39</sup>“Return to your home, and declare how much God has done for you.” And he went away, proclaiming throughout the whole city how much Jesus had done for him.

Jesus Heals a Woman and Jairus's Daughter

<sup>40</sup>Now when Jesus returned, the crowd welcomed him, for they were all waiting for him. <sup>41</sup>† And there came a man named Jairus, who was a ruler of the synagogue. And falling at Jesus' feet, he implored him to come to his house, <sup>42</sup>† for he had an only daughter, about twelve years of age, and she was dying.

As Jesus went, the people pressed around him. <sup>43</sup>† And there was a woman who had had a discharge of blood for twelve years, and though she had spent all her living on physicians, [5] she could not be healed by anyone. <sup>44</sup>† She came up behind him and touched the fringe of his garment, and immediately her discharge of blood ceased. <sup>45</sup>And Jesus said, “Who was it that touched me?” When all denied it, Peter [6] said, “Master, the crowds surround you and are pressing in on you!” <sup>46</sup>† But Jesus said, “Someone touched me, for I perceive that power has gone out from me.” <sup>47</sup>And when the woman saw that she was not hidden, she came trembling, and falling down before him declared in the presence of all the people why she had touched him, and how she had been immediately healed. <sup>48</sup>And he said to her, “Daughter, your faith has made you well; go in peace.”

<sup>49</sup>While he was still speaking, someone from the ruler's house came and said, “Your daughter is dead; do not trouble the Teacher any more.” <sup>50</sup>† But Jesus on hearing this answered him, “Do not fear; only believe, and she will be well.”

<sup>51</sup>† And when he came to the house, he allowed no one to enter with him, except Peter and John and James, and the father and mother of the child. <sup>52</sup>† And all were weeping and mourning for her, but he said, “Do not weep, for she is not dead but sleeping.” <sup>53</sup> And they laughed at him, knowing that she was dead. <sup>54</sup> But taking her by the hand he called, saying, “Child, arise.” <sup>55</sup> And her spirit returned, and she got up at once. And he directed that something should be given her to eat. <sup>56</sup>† And her parents were amazed, but he charged them to tell no one what had happened.

Jesus Sends Out the Twelve Apostles

LUKE 9 †And he called the twelve together and gave them power and authority over all demons and to cure diseases, <sup>2</sup>and he sent them out to proclaim the kingdom of God and to heal. <sup>3</sup>†And he said to them, “Take nothing for your journey, no staff, nor bag, nor bread, nor money; and do not have two tunics. [1] <sup>4</sup>And whatever house you enter, stay there, and from there depart. <sup>5</sup>And wherever they do not receive you, when you leave that town shake off the dust from your feet as a testimony against them.” <sup>6</sup>And they departed and went through the villages, preaching the gospel and healing everywhere.

Herod Is Perplexed by Jesus

<sup>7</sup>†Now Herod the tetrarch heard about all that was happening, and he was perplexed, because it was said by some that John had been raised from the dead, <sup>8</sup>†by some that Elijah had appeared, and by others that one of the prophets of old had risen. <sup>9</sup>†Herod said, “John I beheaded, but who is this about whom I hear such things?” And he sought to see him.

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

<sup>10</sup>†On their return the apostles told him all that they had done. And he took them and withdrew apart to a town called Bethsaida. <sup>11</sup>When the crowds learned it, they followed him, and he welcomed them and spoke to them of the kingdom of God and cured those who had need of healing. <sup>12</sup>†Now the day began to wear away, and the twelve came and said to him, “Send the crowd away to go into the surrounding villages and countryside to find lodging and get provisions, for we are here in a desolate place.” <sup>13</sup>But he said to them, “You give them something to eat.” They said, “We have no more than five loaves and two fish—unless we are to go and buy food for all these people.” <sup>14</sup>†For there were about five thousand men. And he said to his disciples, “Have them sit down in groups of about fifty each.” <sup>15</sup>And they did so, and had them all sit down. <sup>16</sup>And taking the five loaves and the two fish, he looked up to heaven and said a blessing over them. Then he broke the loaves and gave them to the disciples to set before the crowd. <sup>17</sup>†And they all ate and were satisfied. And what was left over was picked up, twelve baskets of broken pieces.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

<sup>18</sup>† Now it happened that as he was praying alone, the disciples were with him. And he asked them, “Who do the crowds say that I am?” <sup>19</sup>† And they answered, “John the Baptist. But others say, Elijah, and others, that one of the prophets of old has risen.” <sup>20</sup>† Then he said to them, “But who do you say that I am?” And Peter answered, “The Christ of God.”

Jesus Foretells His Death

<sup>21</sup>† And he strictly charged and commanded them to tell this to no one, <sup>22</sup>† saying, “The Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and on the third day be raised.”

Take Up Your Cross and Follow Jesus

<sup>23</sup>† And he said to all, “If anyone would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me. <sup>24</sup>† For whoever would save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will save it. <sup>25</sup> For what does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses or forfeits himself? <sup>26</sup>† For whoever is ashamed of me and of my words, of him will the Son of Man be ashamed when he comes in his glory and the glory of the Father and of the holy angels. <sup>27</sup>† But I tell you truly, there are some standing here who will not taste death until they see the kingdom of God.”

The Transfiguration

<sup>28</sup>† Now about eight days after these sayings he took with him Peter and John and James and went up on the mountain to pray. <sup>29</sup>† And as he was praying, the appearance of his face was altered, and his clothing became dazzling white. <sup>30</sup>† And behold, two men were talking with him, Moses and Elijah, <sup>31</sup>† who appeared in glory and spoke of his departure, [2] which he was about to accomplish at Jerusalem. <sup>32</sup>† Now Peter and those who were with him were heavy with sleep, but when they became fully awake they saw his glory and the two men who stood with him. <sup>33</sup>† And as the men were parting from him, Peter said to Jesus, “Master, it is good that we are here. Let us make three tents, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah”—not knowing what he said. <sup>34</sup>† As he was saying these things, a cloud came and overshadowed them, and they were afraid as they entered the cloud. <sup>35</sup>† And a voice came out of the cloud, saying, “This is my Son, my Chosen One; [3] listen to him!” <sup>36</sup> And when the voice had spoken, Jesus was found alone. And they kept silent and told no one in those days anything of what they had seen.

Jesus Heals a Boy with an Unclean Spirit

<sup>37</sup>On the next day, when they had come down from the mountain, a great crowd met him. <sup>38</sup>†And behold, a man from the crowd cried out, “Teacher, I beg you to look at my son, for he is my only child. <sup>39</sup>†And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out. It convulses him so that he foams at the mouth, and shatters him, and will hardly leave him. <sup>40</sup>†And I begged your disciples to cast it out, but they could not.” <sup>41</sup>†Jesus answered, “O faithless and twisted generation, how long am I to be with you and bear with you? Bring your son here.” <sup>42</sup>While he was coming, the demon threw him to the ground and convulsed him. But Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit and healed the boy, and gave him back to his father. <sup>43</sup>And all were astonished at the majesty of God.

Jesus Again Foretells His Death

But while they were all marveling at everything he was doing, Jesus [\[4\]](#) said to his disciples, <sup>44</sup>†“Let these words sink into your ears: The Son of Man is about to be delivered into the hands of men.” <sup>45</sup>†But they did not understand this saying, and it was concealed from them, so that they might not perceive it. And they were afraid to ask him about this saying.

Who Is the Greatest?

<sup>46</sup>†An argument arose among them as to which of them was the greatest. <sup>47</sup>But Jesus, knowing the reasoning of their hearts, took a child and put him by his side <sup>48</sup>†and said to them, “Whoever receives this child in my name receives me, and whoever receives me receives him who sent me. For he who is least among you all is the one who is great.”

Anyone Not Against Us Is For Us

<sup>49</sup>†John answered, “Master, we saw someone casting out demons in your name, and we tried to stop him, because he does not follow with us.” <sup>50</sup>†But Jesus said to him, “Do not stop him, for the one who is not against you is for you.”

A Samaritan Village Rejects Jesus

<sup>51</sup>†When the days drew near for him to be taken up, he set his face to go to Jerusalem. <sup>52</sup>†And he sent messengers ahead of him, who went and entered a village of the Samaritans, to make preparations for him. <sup>53</sup>†But the people did not receive him, because his face was set toward Jerusalem. <sup>54</sup>†And when his disciples James and John saw it, they said, “Lord, do you want us to tell fire to come down from heaven and consume them?” [5] <sup>55</sup>†But he turned and rebuked them. [6] <sup>56</sup>And they went on to another village.

The Cost of Following Jesus

<sup>57</sup>As they were going along the road, someone said to him, “I will follow you wherever you go.” <sup>58</sup>And Jesus said to him, “Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head.” <sup>59</sup>†To another he said, “Follow me.” But he said, “Lord, let me first go and bury my father.” <sup>60</sup>And Jesus [7] said to him, “Leave the dead to bury their own dead. But as for you, go and proclaim the kingdom of God.” <sup>61</sup>Yet another said, “I will follow you, Lord, but let me first say farewell to those at my home.” <sup>62</sup>†Jesus said to him, “No one who puts his hand to the plow and looks back is fit for the kingdom of God.”

Jesus Sends Out the Seventy-Two

LUKE 10 †After this the Lord appointed seventy-two [1] others and sent them on ahead of him, two by two, into every town and place where he himself was about to go. <sup>2</sup>And he said to them, “The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few. Therefore pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest. <sup>3</sup>†Go your way; behold, I am sending you out as lambs in the midst of wolves. <sup>4</sup>†Carry no moneybag, no knapsack, no sandals, and greet no one on the road. <sup>5</sup>Whatever house you enter, first say, ‘Peace be to this house!’ <sup>6</sup>And if a son of peace is there, your peace will rest upon him. But if not, it will return to you. <sup>7</sup>†And remain in the same house, eating and drinking what they provide, for the laborer deserves his wages. Do not go from house to house. <sup>8</sup>Whenever you enter a town and they receive you, eat what is set before you. <sup>9</sup>Heal the sick in it and say to them, ‘The kingdom of God has come near to you.’ <sup>10</sup>But whenever you enter a town and they do not receive you, go into its streets and say, <sup>11</sup>†‘Even the dust of your town that clings to our feet we wipe off against you. Nevertheless know this, that the kingdom of God has come near.’ <sup>12</sup>I tell you, it will be more bearable on that day for Sodom than for that town.

Woe to Unrepentant Cities

<sup>13</sup>†“Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes. <sup>14</sup>But it will be more bearable in the judgment for Tyre and Sidon than for you. <sup>15</sup>And you, Capernaum, will you be exalted to heaven? You shall be brought down to Hades.

<sup>16</sup>†“The one who hears you hears me, and the one who rejects you rejects me, and the one who rejects me rejects him who sent me.”

The Return of the Seventy-Two

<sup>17</sup>†The seventy-two returned with joy, saying, “Lord, even the demons are subject to us in your name!” <sup>18</sup>†And he said to them, “I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven. <sup>19</sup>†Behold, I have given you authority to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurt you. <sup>20</sup>†Nevertheless, do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you, but rejoice that your names are written in heaven.”

Jesus Rejoices in the Father's Will

<sup>21</sup>† In that same hour he rejoiced in the Holy Spirit and said, “I thank you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that you have hidden these things from the wise and understanding and revealed them to little children; yes, Father, for such was your gracious will. [2] <sup>22</sup>All things have been handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows who the Son is except the Father, or who the Father is except the Son and anyone to whom the Son chooses to reveal him.”

<sup>23</sup>Then turning to the disciples he said privately, “Blessed are the eyes that see what you see! <sup>24</sup>For I tell you that many prophets and kings desired to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it.”

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

<sup>25</sup>† And behold, a lawyer stood up to put him to the test, saying, “Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?” <sup>26</sup>He said to him, “What is written in the Law? How do you read it?” <sup>27</sup>† And he answered, “You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength and with all your mind, and your neighbor as yourself.” <sup>28</sup>† And he said to him, “You have answered correctly; do this, and you will live.”

<sup>29</sup>† But he, desiring to justify himself, said to Jesus, “And who is my neighbor?” <sup>30</sup>† Jesus replied, “A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he fell among robbers, who stripped him and beat him and departed, leaving him half dead. <sup>31</sup>Now by chance a priest was going down that road, and when he saw him he passed by on the other side. <sup>32</sup>† So likewise a Levite, when he came to the place and saw him, passed by on the other side. <sup>33</sup>† But a Samaritan, as he journeyed, came to where he was, and when he saw him, he had compassion. <sup>34</sup>† He went to him and bound up his wounds, pouring on oil and wine. Then he set him on his own animal and brought him to an inn and took care of him. <sup>35</sup>† And the next day he took out two denarii [3] and gave them to the innkeeper, saying, ‘Take care of him, and whatever more you spend, I will repay you when I come back.’ <sup>36</sup>† Which of these three, do you think, proved to be a neighbor to the man who fell among the robbers?” <sup>37</sup>He said, “The one who showed him mercy.” And Jesus said to him, “You go, and do likewise.”

Martha and Mary

<sup>38</sup>† Now as they went on their way, Jesus [4] entered a village. And a woman named Martha welcomed him into her house. <sup>39</sup> And she had a sister called Mary, who sat at the Lord's feet and listened to his teaching. <sup>40</sup>† But Martha was distracted with much serving. And she went up to him and said, “Lord, do you not care that my sister has left me to serve alone? Tell her then to help me.” <sup>41</sup> But the Lord answered her, “Martha, Martha, you are anxious and troubled about many things, <sup>42</sup>† but one thing is necessary. [5] Mary has chosen the good portion, which will not be taken away from her.”

The Lord's Prayer

LUKE 11 †Now Jesus [1] was praying in a certain place, and when he finished, one of his disciples said to him, “Lord, teach us to pray, as John taught his disciples.” †And he said to them, “When you pray, say: “Father, hallowed be your name.

Your kingdom come.

And lead us not into temptation.”

<sup>5</sup>And he said to them, “Which of you who has a friend will go to him at midnight and say to him, ‘Friend, lend me three loaves, <sup>6</sup>for a friend of mine has arrived on a journey, and I have nothing to set before him’; <sup>7</sup>†and he will answer from within, ‘Do not bother me; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed. I cannot get up and give you anything’? <sup>8</sup>†I tell you, though he will not get up and give him anything because he is his friend, yet because of his impudence [3] he will rise and give him whatever he needs. <sup>9</sup>And I tell you, ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. <sup>10</sup>For everyone who asks receives, and the one who seeks finds, and to the one who knocks it will be opened. <sup>11</sup>What father among you, if his son asks for [4] a fish, will instead of a fish give him a serpent; <sup>12</sup>or if he asks for an egg, will give him a scorpion? <sup>13</sup>†If you then, who are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will the heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him!”

Jesus and Beelzebul

<sup>14</sup>†Now he was casting out a demon that was mute. When the demon had gone out, the mute man spoke, and the people marveled. <sup>15</sup>†But some of them said, “He casts out demons by Beelzebul, the prince of demons,” <sup>16</sup>†while others, to test him, kept seeking from him a sign from heaven. <sup>17</sup>†But he, knowing their thoughts, said to them, “Every kingdom divided against itself is laid waste, and a divided household falls. <sup>18</sup>And if Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? For you say that I cast out demons by Beelzebul. <sup>19</sup>†And if I cast out demons by Beelzebul, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they will be your judges. <sup>20</sup>†But if it is by the finger of God that I cast out demons, then the kingdom of God has come upon you. <sup>21</sup>†When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own palace, his goods are safe; <sup>22</sup>†but when one stronger than he attacks him and overcomes him, he takes away his armor in which he trusted and divides his spoil. <sup>23</sup>†Whoever is not with me is against me, and whoever does not gather with me scatters.

Return of an Unclean Spirit

<sup>24</sup>†“When the unclean spirit has gone out of a person, it passes through waterless places seeking rest, and finding none it says, ‘I will return to my house from which I came.’ <sup>25</sup>And when it comes, it finds the house swept and put in order. <sup>26</sup>†Then it goes and brings seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they enter and dwell there. And the last state of that person is worse than the first.”

True Blessedness

<sup>27</sup>As he said these things, a woman in the crowd raised her voice and said to him, “Blessed is the womb that bore you, and the breasts at which you nursed!” <sup>28</sup>†But he said, “Blessed rather are those who hear the word of God and keep it!”

The Sign of Jonah

<sup>29</sup>†When the crowds were increasing, he began to say, “This generation is an evil generation. It seeks for a sign, but no sign will be given to it except the sign of Jonah. <sup>30</sup>†For as Jonah became a sign to the people of Nineveh, so will the Son of Man be to this generation. <sup>31</sup>†The queen of the South will rise up at the judgment with the men of this generation and condemn them, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, something greater than Solomon is here. <sup>32</sup>The men of Nineveh will rise up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for they repented at the preaching of Jonah, and behold, something greater than Jonah is here.

The Light in You

<sup>33</sup>†“No one after lighting a lamp puts it in a cellar or under a basket, but on a stand, so that those who enter may see the light. <sup>34</sup>†Your eye is the lamp of your body. When your eye is healthy, your whole body is full of light, but when it is bad, your body is full of darkness. <sup>35</sup>Therefore be careful lest the light in you be darkness. <sup>36</sup>If then your whole body is full of light, having no part dark, it will be wholly bright, as when a lamp with its rays gives you light.”

Woes to the Pharisees and Lawyers

<sup>37</sup>While Jesus [5] was speaking, a Pharisee asked him to dine with him, so he went in and reclined at table. <sup>38</sup>†The Pharisee was astonished to see that he did not first wash before dinner. <sup>39</sup>†And the Lord said to him, “Now you Pharisees cleanse the outside of the cup and of the dish, but inside you are full of greed and wickedness. <sup>40</sup>†You fools! Did not he who made the outside make the inside also? <sup>41</sup>†But give as alms those things that are within, and behold, everything is clean for you.

<sup>45</sup>†One of the lawyers answered him, “Teacher, in saying these things you insult us also.” <sup>46</sup>†And he said, “Woe to you lawyers also! For you load people with burdens hard to bear, and you yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers. <sup>47</sup>†Woe to you! For you build the tombs of the prophets whom your fathers killed. <sup>48</sup>So you are witnesses and you consent to the deeds of your fathers, for they killed them, and you build their tombs. <sup>49</sup>††Therefore also the Wisdom of God said, ‘I will send them prophets and apostles, some of whom they will kill and persecute,’ <sup>50</sup>so that the blood of all the prophets, shed from the foundation of the world, may be charged against this generation, <sup>51</sup>from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah, who perished between the altar and the sanctuary. Yes, I tell you, it will be required of this generation. <sup>52</sup>†Woe to you lawyers! For you have taken away the key of knowledge. You did not enter yourselves, and you hindered those who were entering.”

<sup>53</sup>As he went away from there, the scribes and the Pharisees began to press him hard and to provoke him to speak about many things, <sup>54</sup>†lying in wait for him, to catch him in something he might say.

Beware of the Leaven of the Pharisees

LUKE 12 †In the meantime, when so many thousands of the people had gathered together that they were trampling one another, he began to say to his disciples first, “Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy. <sup>2</sup>†Nothing is covered up that will not be revealed, or hidden that will not be known. <sup>3</sup>Therefore whatever you have said in the dark shall be heard in the light, and what you have whispered in private rooms shall be proclaimed on the housetops.

Have No Fear

<sup>4</sup>“I tell you, my friends, do not fear those who kill the body, and after that have nothing more that they can do. <sup>5</sup>†But I will warn you whom to fear: fear him who, after he has killed, has authority to cast into hell. [1] Yes, I tell you, fear him! <sup>6</sup>†Are not five sparrows sold for two pennies? [2] And not one of them is forgotten before God. <sup>7</sup>Why, even the hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Acknowledge Christ Before Men

<sup>8</sup>†“And I tell you, everyone who acknowledges me before men, the Son of Man also will acknowledge before the angels of God, <sup>9</sup>†but the one who denies me before men will be denied before the angels of God. <sup>10</sup>†And everyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man will be forgiven, but the one who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven. <sup>11</sup>†And when they bring you before the synagogues and the rulers and the authorities, do not be anxious about how you should defend yourself or what you should say, <sup>12</sup>for the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say.”

The Parable of the Rich Fool

<sup>13</sup>†Someone in the crowd said to him, “Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me.” <sup>14</sup>†But he said to him, “Man, who made me a judge or arbitrator over you?” <sup>15</sup>And he said to them, “Take care, and be on your guard against all covetousness, for one's life does not consist in the abundance of his possessions.” <sup>16</sup>And he told them a parable, saying, “The land of a rich man produced plentifully, <sup>17</sup>and he thought to himself, ‘What shall I do, for I have nowhere to store my crops?’ <sup>18</sup>And he said, ‘I will do this: I will tear down my barns and build larger ones, and there I will store all my grain and my goods.

<sup>19</sup>And I will say to my soul, Soul, you have ample goods laid up for many years; relax, eat, drink, be merry.’ <sup>20</sup>But God said to him, ‘Fool! This night your soul is required of you, and the things you have prepared, whose will they be?’ <sup>21</sup>So is the one who lays up treasure for himself and is not rich toward God.”

Do Not Be Anxious

<sup>22</sup>†† And he said to his disciples, “Therefore I tell you, do not be anxious about your life, what you will eat, nor about your body, what you will put on. <sup>23</sup>For life is more than food, and the body more than clothing. <sup>24</sup>Consider the ravens: they neither sow nor reap, they have neither storehouse nor barn, and yet God feeds them. Of how much more value are you than the birds! <sup>25</sup>And which of you by being anxious can add a single hour to his span of life? [3] <sup>26</sup>If then you are not able to do as small a thing as that, why are you anxious about the rest?

<sup>27</sup>Consider the lilies, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin, [4] yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. <sup>28</sup>But if God so clothes the grass, which is alive in the field today, and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, how much more will he clothe you, O you of little faith! <sup>29</sup>And do not seek what you are to eat and what you are to drink, nor be worried. <sup>30</sup>For all the nations of the world seek after these things, and your Father knows that you need them. <sup>31</sup>Instead, seek his [5] kingdom, and these things will be added to you.

You Must Be Ready

not have left his house to be broken into. <sup>40</sup>† You also must be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.”

<sup>41</sup>† Peter said, “Lord, are you telling this parable for us or for all?” <sup>42</sup>† And the Lord said, “Who then is the faithful and wise manager, whom his master will set over his household, to give them their portion of food at the proper time? <sup>43</sup>† Blessed is that servant [9] whom his master will find so doing when he comes. <sup>44</sup>† Truly, I say to you, he will set him over all his possessions. <sup>45</sup>† But if that servant says to himself, ‘My master is delayed in coming,’ and begins to beat the male and female servants, and to eat and drink and get drunk, <sup>46</sup>† the master of that servant will come on a day when he does not expect him and at an hour he does not know, and will cut him in pieces and put him with the unfaithful. <sup>47</sup>† And that servant who knew his master's will but did not get ready or act according to his will, will receive a severe beating. <sup>48</sup>† But the one who did not know, and did what deserved a beating, will receive a light beating. Everyone to whom much was given, of him much will be required, and from him to whom they entrusted much, they will demand the more.

Not Peace, but Division

<sup>49</sup>† “I came to cast fire on the earth, and would that it were already kindled! <sup>50</sup>† I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how great is my distress until it is accomplished! <sup>51</sup>† Do you think that I have come to give peace on earth? No, I tell you, but rather division. <sup>52</sup>† For from now on in one house there will be five divided, three against two and two against three. <sup>53</sup>† They will be divided, father against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law.”

Interpreting the Time

<sup>54</sup>† He also said to the crowds, “When you see a cloud rising in the west, you say at once, ‘A shower is coming.’ And so it happens. <sup>55</sup>† And when you see the south wind blowing, you say, ‘There will be scorching heat,’ and it happens. <sup>56</sup>† You hypocrites! You know how to interpret the appearance of earth and sky, but why do you not know how to interpret the present time?”

Settle with Your Accuser

<sup>57</sup>“And why do you not judge for yourselves what is right? <sup>58</sup>†As you go with your accuser before the magistrate, make an effort to settle with him on the way, lest he drag you to the judge, and the judge hand you over to the officer, and the officer put you in prison. <sup>59</sup>†I tell you, you will never get out until you have paid the very last penny.” [\[10\]](#)

Repent or Perish

LUKE 13 † There were some present at that very time who told him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. <sup>2</sup>† And he answered them, “Do you think that these Galileans were worse sinners than all the other Galileans, because they suffered in this way? <sup>3</sup>† No, I tell you; but unless you repent, you will all likewise perish. <sup>4</sup>† Or those eighteen on whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them: do you think that they were worse offenders than all the others who lived in Jerusalem? <sup>5</sup>† No, I tell you; but unless you repent, you will all likewise perish.”

The Parable of the Barren Fig Tree

<sup>6</sup>† And he told this parable: “A man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking fruit on it and found none. <sup>7</sup>† And he said to the vinedresser, ‘Look, for three years now I have come seeking fruit on this fig tree, and I find none. Cut it down. Why should it use up the ground?’ <sup>8</sup>† And he answered him, ‘Sir, let it alone this year also, until I dig around it and put on manure. <sup>9</sup>† Then if it should bear fruit next year, well and good; but if not, you can cut it down.’”

A Woman with a Disabling Spirit

<sup>10</sup>† Now he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath. <sup>11</sup>† And there was a woman who had had a disabling spirit for eighteen years. She was bent over and could not fully straighten herself. <sup>12</sup>† When Jesus saw her, he called her over and said to her, “Woman, you are freed from your disability.” <sup>13</sup>† And he laid his hands on her, and immediately she was made straight, and she glorified God. <sup>14</sup>† But the ruler of the synagogue, indignant because Jesus had healed on the Sabbath, said to the people, “There are six days in which work ought to be done. Come on those days and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.” <sup>15</sup>† Then the Lord answered him, “You hypocrites! Does not each of you on the Sabbath untie his ox or his donkey from the manger and lead it away to water it? <sup>16</sup>† And ought not this woman, a daughter of Abraham whom Satan bound for eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?” <sup>17</sup>† As he said these things, all his adversaries were put to shame, and all the people rejoiced at all the glorious things that were done by him.

The Mustard Seed and the Leaven

<sup>18</sup>He said therefore, “What is the kingdom of God like? And to what shall I compare it? <sup>19</sup>‡It is like a grain of mustard seed that a man took and sowed in his garden, and it grew and became a tree, and the birds of the air made nests in its branches.”

<sup>20</sup>And again he said, “To what shall I compare the kingdom of God? <sup>21</sup>It is like leaven that a woman took and hid in three measures of flour, until it was all leavened.”

The Narrow Door

<sup>22</sup>‡He went on his way through towns and villages, teaching and journeying toward Jerusalem. <sup>23</sup>‡And someone said to him, “Lord, will those who are saved be few?” And he said to them, <sup>24</sup>‡“Strive to enter through the narrow door. For many, I tell you, will seek to enter and will not be able. <sup>25</sup>‡When once the master of the house has risen and shut the door, and you begin to stand outside and to knock at the door, saying, ‘Lord, open to us,’ then he will answer you, ‘I do not know where you come from.’ <sup>26</sup>Then you will begin to say, ‘We ate and drank in your presence, and you taught in our streets.’ <sup>27</sup>But he will say, ‘I tell you, I do not know where you come from. Depart from me, all you workers of evil!’ <sup>28</sup>‡In that place there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God but you yourselves cast out. <sup>29</sup>‡And people will come from east and west, and from north and south, and recline at table in the kingdom of God. <sup>30</sup>‡And behold, some are last who will be first, and some are first who will be last.”

Lament over Jerusalem

<sup>31</sup>‡At that very hour some Pharisees came and said to him, “Get away from here, for Herod wants to kill you.” <sup>32</sup>‡And he said to them, “Go and tell that fox, ‘Behold, I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I finish my course. <sup>33</sup>‡Nevertheless, I must go on my way today and tomorrow and the day following, for it cannot be that a prophet should perish away from Jerusalem.’ <sup>34</sup>‡O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the city that kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to it! How often would I have gathered your children together as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, and you would not! <sup>35</sup>‡Behold, your house is forsaken. And I tell you, you will not see me until you say, ‘Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!’”

Healing of a Man on the Sabbath

LUKE 14 †One Sabbath, when he went to dine at the house of a ruler of the Pharisees, they were watching him carefully. <sup>2</sup>†And behold, there was a man before him who had dropsy. <sup>3</sup>†And Jesus responded to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, “Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath, or not?” <sup>4</sup>But they remained silent. Then he took him and healed him and sent him away. <sup>5</sup>†And he said to them, “Which of you, having a son [1] or an ox that has fallen into a well on a Sabbath day, will not immediately pull him out?” <sup>6</sup>And they could not reply to these things.

The Parable of the Wedding Feast

<sup>7</sup>†Now he told a parable to those who were invited, when he noticed how they chose the places of honor, saying to them, <sup>8</sup>“When you are invited by someone to a wedding feast, do not sit down in a place of honor, lest someone more distinguished than you be invited by him, <sup>9</sup>and he who invited you both will come and say to you, ‘Give your place to this person,’ and then you will begin with shame to take the lowest place. <sup>10</sup>But when you are invited, go and sit in the lowest place, so that when your host comes he may say to you, ‘Friend, move up higher.’ Then you will be honored in the presence of all who sit at table with you. <sup>11</sup>†For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.”

The Parable of the Great Banquet

<sup>12</sup>†He said also to the man who had invited him, “When you give a dinner or a banquet, do not invite your friends or your brothers [2] or your relatives or rich neighbors, lest they also invite you in return and you be repaid. <sup>13</sup>But when you give a feast, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind, <sup>14</sup>†and you will be blessed, because they cannot repay you. For you will be repaid at the resurrection of the just.”

excuses. The first said to him, ‘I have bought a field, and I must go out and see it. Please have me excused.’<sup>19</sup> And another said, ‘I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to examine them. Please have me excused.’<sup>20</sup> And another said, ‘I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.’<sup>21</sup> † So the servant came and reported these things to his master. Then the master of the house became angry and said to his servant, ‘Go out quickly to the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in the poor and crippled and blind and lame.’<sup>22</sup> † And the servant said, ‘Sir, what you commanded has been done, and still there is room.’<sup>23</sup> † And the master said to the servant, ‘Go out to the highways and hedges and compel people to come in, that my house may be filled.’<sup>24</sup> † For I tell you, [4] none of those men who were invited shall taste my banquet.’”

The Cost of Discipleship

<sup>25</sup> † Now great crowds accompanied him, and he turned and said to them, <sup>26</sup> † “If anyone comes to me and does not hate his own father and mother and wife and children and brothers and sisters, yes, and even his own life, he cannot be my disciple. <sup>27</sup> † Whoever does not bear his own cross and come after me cannot be my disciple. <sup>28</sup> † For which of you, desiring to build a tower, does not first sit down and count the cost, whether he has enough to complete it? <sup>29</sup> Otherwise, when he has laid a foundation and is not able to finish, all who see it begin to mock him, <sup>30</sup> saying, ‘This man began to build and was not able to finish.’ <sup>31</sup> Or what king, going out to encounter another king in war, will not sit down first and deliberate whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him who comes against him with twenty thousand? <sup>32</sup> And if not, while the other is yet a great way off, he sends a delegation and asks for terms of peace. <sup>33</sup> † So therefore, any one of you who does not renounce all that he has cannot be my disciple.

Salt Without Taste Is Worthless

<sup>34</sup> † “Salt is good, but if salt has lost its taste, how shall its saltiness be restored? <sup>35</sup> It is of no use either for the soil or for the manure pile. It is thrown away. He who has ears to hear, let him hear.”

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

LUKE 15 † Now the tax collectors and sinners were all drawing near to hear him. † And the Pharisees and the scribes grumbled, saying, “This man receives sinners and eats with them.”

† So he told them this parable: † “What man of you, having a hundred sheep, if he has lost one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the open country, and go after the one that is lost, until he finds it? † And when he has found it, he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing. † And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and his neighbors, saying to them, ‘Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep that was lost.’ † Just so, I tell you, there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous persons who need no repentance.

The Parable of the Lost Coin

† “Or what woman, having ten silver coins, [1] if she loses one coin, does not light a lamp and sweep the house and seek diligently until she finds it? † And when she has found it, she calls together her friends and neighbors, saying, ‘Rejoice with me, for I have found the coin that I had lost.’ † Just so, I tell you, there is joy before the angels of God over one sinner who repents.”

The Parable of the Prodigal Son

† And he said, “There was a man who had two sons. † And the younger of them said to his father, ‘Father, give me the share of property that is coming to me.’ And he divided his property between them. † Not many days later, the younger son gathered all he had and took a journey into a far country, and there he squandered his property in reckless living. † And when he had spent everything, a severe famine arose in that country, and he began to be in need. † So he went and hired himself out to [2] one of the citizens of that country, who sent him into his fields to feed pigs. † And he was longing to be fed with the pods that the pigs ate, and no one gave him anything.

† “But when he came to himself, he said, ‘How many of my father's hired servants have more than enough bread, but I perish here with hunger! † I will arise and go to my father, and I will say to him, “Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you. <sup>19</sup>I am no longer worthy to be called your son. Treat me as one of your hired servants.’” <sup>20</sup>†And he arose and came to his father. But while he was still a long way off, his father saw him and felt compassion, and ran and embraced him and kissed him. <sup>21</sup>†And the son said to him, ‘Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you. I am no longer worthy to be called your son.’ [3] <sup>22</sup>†But the father said to his servants, [4] ‘Bring quickly the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet. <sup>23</sup>†And bring the fattened calf and kill it, and let us eat and celebrate. <sup>24</sup>For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found.’ And they began to celebrate.

<sup>25</sup>†“Now his older son was in the field, and as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing. <sup>26</sup>And he called one of the servants and asked what these things meant. <sup>27</sup>And he said to him, ‘Your brother has come, and your father has killed the fattened calf, because he has received him back safe and sound.’ <sup>28</sup>†But he was angry and refused to go in. His father came out and entreated him, <sup>29</sup>†but he answered his father, ‘Look, these many years I have served you, and I never disobeyed your command, yet you never gave me a young goat, that I might celebrate with my friends. <sup>30</sup>†But when this son of yours came, who has devoured your property with prostitutes, you killed the fattened calf for him!’ <sup>31</sup>†And he said to him, ‘Son, you are always with me, and all that is mine is yours. <sup>32</sup>†It was fitting to celebrate and be glad, for this your brother was dead, and is alive; he was lost, and is found.’”

The Parable of the Dishonest Manager

LUKE 16 †He also said to the disciples, “There was a rich man who had a manager, and charges were brought to him that this man was wasting his possessions. †And he called him and said to him, ‘What is this that I hear about you? Turn in the account of your management, for you can no longer be manager.’ †And the manager said to himself, ‘What shall I do, since my master is taking the management away from me? I am not strong enough to dig, and I am ashamed to beg. †I have decided what to do, so that when I am removed from management, people may receive me into their houses.’ †So, summoning his master’s debtors one by one, he said to the first, ‘How much do you owe my master?’ †He said, ‘A hundred measures [1] of oil.’ He said to him, ‘Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write fifty.’ †Then he said to another, ‘And how much do you owe?’ He said, ‘A hundred measures [2] of wheat.’ He said to him, ‘Take your bill, and write eighty.’ †The master commended the dishonest manager for his shrewdness. For the sons of this world [3] are more shrewd in dealing with their own generation than the sons of light. †And I tell you, make friends for yourselves by means of unrighteous wealth, [4] so that when it fails they may receive you into the eternal dwellings.

†“One who is faithful in a very little is also faithful in much, and one who is dishonest in a very little is also dishonest in much. †If then you have not been faithful in the unrighteous wealth, who will entrust to you the true riches? †And if you have not been faithful in that which is another’s, who will give you that which is your own? †No servant can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and money.”

The Law and the Kingdom of God

†The Pharisees, who were lovers of money, heard all these things, and they ridiculed him. †And he said to them, “You are those who justify yourselves before men, but God knows your hearts. For what is exalted among men is an abomination in the sight of God.

†“The Law and the Prophets were until John; since then the good news of the kingdom of God is preached, and everyone forces his way into it. [5] †But it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for one dot of the Law to become void.

Divorce and Remarriage

<sup>18</sup>†“Everyone who divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery, and he who marries a woman divorced from her husband commits adultery.

The Rich Man and Lazarus

<sup>19</sup>“There was a rich man who was clothed in purple and fine linen and who feasted sumptuously every day. <sup>20</sup>†And at his gate was laid a poor man named Lazarus, covered with sores, <sup>21</sup>†who desired to be fed with what fell from the rich man's table. Moreover, even the dogs came and licked his sores. <sup>22</sup>†The poor man died and was carried by the angels to Abraham's side. [6] The rich man also died and was buried, <sup>23</sup>†and in Hades, being in torment, he lifted up his eyes and saw Abraham far off and Lazarus at his side. <sup>24</sup>†And he called out, ‘Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus to dip the end of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am in anguish in this flame.’ <sup>25</sup>But Abraham said, ‘Child, remember that you in your lifetime received your good things, and Lazarus in like manner bad things; but now he is comforted here, and you are in anguish. <sup>26</sup>And besides all this, between us and you a great chasm has been fixed, in order that those who would pass from here to you may not be able, and none may cross from there to us.’ <sup>27</sup>†And he said, ‘Then I beg you, father, to send him to my father's house— <sup>28</sup>for I have five brothers [7]—so that he may warn them, lest they also come into this place of torment.’ <sup>29</sup>†But Abraham said, ‘They have Moses and the Prophets; let them hear them.’ <sup>30</sup>And he said, ‘No, father Abraham, but if someone goes to them from the dead, they will repent.’ <sup>31</sup>†He said to him, ‘If they do not hear Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be convinced if someone should rise from the dead.’”

Temptations to Sin

LUKE 17 †And he said to his disciples, “Temptations to sin [1] are sure to come, but woe to the one through whom they come! †It would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck and he were cast into the sea than that he should cause one of these little ones to sin. [2] †Pay attention to yourselves! If your brother sins, rebuke him, and if he repents, forgive him, †and if he sins against you seven times in the day, and turns to you seven times, saying, ‘I repent,’ you must forgive him.”

Increase Our Faith

†The apostles said to the Lord, “Increase our faith!” †And the Lord said, “If you had faith like a grain of mustard seed, you could say to this mulberry tree, ‘Be uprooted and planted in the sea,’ and it would obey you.

Unworthy Servants

†“Will any one of you who has a servant [3] plowing or keeping sheep say to him when he has come in from the field, ‘Come at once and recline at table’? †Will he not rather say to him, ‘Prepare supper for me, and dress properly, [4] and serve me while I eat and drink, and afterward you will eat and drink’? †Does he thank the servant because he did what was commanded? †So you also, when you have done all that you were commanded, say, ‘We are unworthy servants; [5] we have only done what was our duty.’”

Jesus Cleanses Ten Lepers

†On the way to Jerusalem he was passing along between Samaria and Galilee. †And as he entered a village, he was met by ten lepers, [6] who stood at a distance †and lifted up their voices, saying, “Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.” †When he saw them he said to them, “Go and show yourselves to the priests.” And as they went they were cleansed. †Then one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, praising God with a loud voice; †and he fell on his face at Jesus' feet, giving him thanks. Now he was a Samaritan. †Then Jesus answered, “Were not ten cleansed? Where are the nine? †Was no one found to return and give praise to God except this foreigner?” †And he said to him, “Rise and go your way; your faith has made you well.” [7]

The Coming of the Kingdom

<sup>20</sup>† Being asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, he answered them, “The kingdom of God is not coming with signs to be observed, <sup>21</sup>† nor will they say, ‘Look, here it is!’ or ‘There!’ for behold, the kingdom of God is in the midst of you.” [8]

<sup>22</sup>† And he said to the disciples, “The days are coming when you will desire to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it. <sup>23</sup>† And they will say to you, ‘Look, there!’ or ‘Look, here!’ Do not go out or follow them. <sup>24</sup> For as the lightning flashes and lights up the sky from one side to the other, so will the Son of Man be in his day. [9] <sup>25</sup>† But first he must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation. <sup>26</sup>† Just as it was in the days of Noah, so will it be in the days of the Son of Man. <sup>27</sup> They were eating and drinking and marrying and being given in marriage, until the day when Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all. <sup>28</sup>† Likewise, just as it was in the days of Lot—they were eating and drinking, buying and selling, planting and building, <sup>29</sup> but on the day when Lot went out from Sodom, fire and sulfur rained from heaven and destroyed them all— <sup>30</sup> so will it be on the day when the Son of Man is revealed. <sup>31</sup>† On that day, let the one who is on the housetop, with his goods in the house, not come down to take them away, and likewise let the one who is in the field not turn back. <sup>32</sup>† Remember Lot's wife. <sup>33</sup>† Whoever seeks to preserve his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life will keep it. <sup>34</sup>† I tell you, in that night there will be two in one bed. One will be taken and the other left. <sup>35</sup> There will be two women grinding together. One will be taken and the other left.” [10] <sup>37</sup>† And they said to him, “Where, Lord?” He said to them, “Where the corpse [11] is, there the vultures [12] will gather.”

The Parable of the Persistent Widow

LUKE 18 †And he told them a parable to the effect that they ought always to pray and not lose heart. †He said, “In a certain city there was a judge who neither feared God nor respected man. †And there was a widow in that city who kept coming to him and saying, ‘Give me justice against my adversary.’ †For a while he refused, but afterward he said to himself, ‘Though I neither fear God nor respect man, †yet because this widow keeps bothering me, I will give her justice, so that she will not beat me down by her continual coming.’” †And the Lord said, “Hear what the unrighteous judge says. †And will not God give justice to his elect, who cry to him day and night? Will he delay long over them? †I tell you, he will give justice to them speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of Man comes, will he find faith on earth?”

The Pharisee and the Tax Collector

†He also told this parable to some who trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and treated others with contempt: †“Two men went up into the temple to pray, one a Pharisee and the other a tax collector. †The Pharisee, standing by himself, prayed [1] thus: ‘God, I thank you that I am not like other men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even like this tax collector. †I fast twice a week; I give tithes of all that I get.’ †But the tax collector, standing far off, would not even lift up his eyes to heaven, but beat his breast, saying, ‘God, be merciful to me, a sinner!’ †I tell you, this man went down to his house justified, rather than the other. For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the one who humbles himself will be exalted.”

Let the Children Come to Me

†Now they were bringing even infants to him that he might touch them. And when the disciples saw it, they rebuked them. †But Jesus called them to him, saying, “Let the children come to me, and do not hinder them, for to such belongs the kingdom of God. †Truly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child shall not enter it.”

The Rich Ruler

†And a ruler asked him, “Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?”

<sup>19</sup>And Jesus said to him, “Why do you call me good? No one is good except God alone. <sup>20</sup>†You know the commandments: ‘Do not commit adultery, Do not murder, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Honor your father and mother.’” <sup>21</sup>And he said, “All these I have kept from my youth.” <sup>22</sup>When Jesus heard this, he said to him, “One thing you still lack. Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.” <sup>23</sup>But when he heard these things, he became very sad, for he was extremely rich. <sup>24</sup>Jesus, seeing that he had become sad, said, “How difficult it is for those who have wealth to enter the kingdom of God! <sup>25</sup>For it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter the kingdom of God.” <sup>26</sup>Those who heard it said, “Then who can be saved?” <sup>27</sup>But he said, “What is impossible with men is possible with God.” <sup>28</sup>And Peter said, “See, we have left our homes and followed you.” <sup>29</sup>And he said to them, “Truly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or wife or brothers [2] or parents or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God, <sup>30</sup>who will not receive many times more in this time, and in the age to come eternal life.”

Jesus Foretells His Death a Third Time

<sup>31</sup>†And taking the twelve, he said to them, “See, we are going up to Jerusalem, and everything that is written about the Son of Man by the prophets will be accomplished. <sup>32</sup>†For he will be delivered over to the Gentiles and will be mocked and shamefully treated and spit upon. <sup>33</sup>†And after flogging him, they will kill him, and on the third day he will rise.” <sup>34</sup>†But they understood none of these things. This saying was hidden from them, and they did not grasp what was said.

Jesus Heals a Blind Beggar

<sup>35</sup>†As he drew near to Jericho, a blind man was sitting by the roadside begging. <sup>36</sup>And hearing a crowd going by, he inquired what this meant. <sup>37</sup>They told him, “Jesus of Nazareth is passing by.” <sup>38</sup>†And he cried out, “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!” <sup>39</sup>And those who were in front rebuked him, telling him to be silent. But he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!” <sup>40</sup>And Jesus stopped and commanded him to be brought to him. And when he came near, he asked him, <sup>41</sup>“What do you want me to do for you?” He said, “Lord, let me recover my sight.” <sup>42</sup>†And Jesus said to him, “Recover your sight; your faith has made you well.” <sup>43</sup>And immediately he recovered his sight and followed him, glorifying God. And all the people, when they saw it, gave praise to God.

Jesus and Zacchaeus

LUKE 19 He entered Jericho and was passing through. <sup>2</sup>† And there was a man named Zacchaeus. He was a chief tax collector and was rich. <sup>3</sup>† And he was seeking to see who Jesus was, but on account of the crowd he could not, because he was small of stature. <sup>4</sup>† So he ran on ahead and climbed up into a sycamore tree to see him, for he was about to pass that way. <sup>5</sup>† And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up and said to him, “Zacchaeus, hurry and come down, for I must stay at your house today.” <sup>6</sup>† So he hurried and came down and received him joyfully. <sup>7</sup>† And when they saw it, they all grumbled, “He has gone in to be the guest of a man who is a sinner.” <sup>8</sup>† And Zacchaeus stood and said to the Lord, “Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor. And if I have defrauded anyone of anything, I restore it fourfold.” <sup>9</sup>† And Jesus said to him, “Today salvation has come to this house, since he also is a son of Abraham. <sup>10</sup>† For the Son of Man came to seek and to save the lost.”

The Parable of the Ten Minas

<sup>11</sup>† As they heard these things, he proceeded to tell a parable, because he was near to Jerusalem, and because they supposed that the kingdom of God was to appear immediately. <sup>12</sup>† He said therefore, “A nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom and then return. <sup>13</sup>† Calling ten of his servants, [1] he gave them ten minas, [2] and said to them, ‘Engage in business until I come.’ <sup>14</sup>† But his citizens hated him and sent a delegation after him, saying, ‘We do not want this man to reign over us.’ <sup>15</sup>† When he returned, having received the kingdom, he ordered these servants to whom he had given the money to be called to him, that he might know what they had gained by doing business. <sup>16</sup> The first came before him, saying, ‘Lord, your mina has made ten minas more.’ <sup>17</sup>† And he said to him, ‘Well done, good servant! [3] Because you have been faithful in a very little, you shall have authority over ten cities.’ <sup>18</sup> And the second came, saying, ‘Lord, your mina has made five minas.’ <sup>19</sup> And he said to him, ‘And you are to be over five cities.’ <sup>20</sup> Then another came, saying, ‘Lord, here is your mina, which I kept laid away in a handkerchief; <sup>21</sup>† for I was afraid of you, because you are a severe man. You take what you did not deposit, and reap what you did not sow.’ <sup>22</sup>† He said to him, ‘I will condemn you with your own words, you wicked servant! You knew that I was a severe man, taking what I did not deposit and reaping what I did not sow? <sup>23</sup> Why then did you not put my money in the bank, and at my coming I might have collected it with interest?’ <sup>24</sup> And he said to those who stood by, ‘Take the mina from him, and give it to the one who has the ten minas.’<sup>25</sup> And they said to him, ‘Lord, he has ten minas!’<sup>26</sup> † ‘I tell you that to everyone who has, more will be given, but from the one who has not, even what he has will be taken away.<sup>27</sup> † But as for these enemies of mine, who did not want me to reign over them, bring them here and slaughter them before me.’”

The Triumphal Entry

<sup>28</sup> † And when he had said these things, he went on ahead, going up to Jerusalem.
<sup>29</sup> † When he drew near to Bethphage and Bethany, at the mount that is called Olivet, he sent two of the disciples,<sup>30</sup> † saying, “Go into the village in front of you, where on entering you will find a colt tied, on which no one has ever yet sat. Untie it and bring it here.<sup>31</sup> If anyone asks you, ‘Why are you untying it?’ you shall say this: ‘The Lord has need of it.’”<sup>32</sup> So those who were sent went away and found it just as he had told them.<sup>33</sup> And as they were untying the colt, its owners said to them, “Why are you untying the colt?”<sup>34</sup> And they said, “The Lord has need of it.”<sup>35</sup> And they brought it to Jesus, and throwing their cloaks on the colt, they set Jesus on it.<sup>36</sup> † And as he rode along, they spread their cloaks on the road.<sup>37</sup> † As he was drawing near—already on the way down the Mount of Olives—the whole multitude of his disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the mighty works that they had seen,<sup>38</sup> † saying, “Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the Lord! Peace in heaven and glory in the highest!”<sup>39</sup> † And some of the Pharisees in the crowd said to him, “Teacher, rebuke your disciples.”<sup>40</sup> † He answered, “I tell you, if these were silent, the very stones would cry out.”

Jesus Weeps over Jerusalem

<sup>41</sup> † And when he drew near and saw the city, he wept over it,<sup>42</sup> saying, “Would that you, even you, had known on this day the things that make for peace! But now they are hidden from your eyes.<sup>43</sup> † For the days will come upon you, when your enemies will set up a barricade around you and surround you and hem you in on every side<sup>44</sup> † and tear you down to the ground, you and your children within you. And they will not leave one stone upon another in you, because you did not know the time of your visitation.”

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

<sup>45</sup>‡ And he entered the temple and began to drive out those who sold, <sup>46</sup>saying to them, “It is written, ‘My house shall be a house of prayer,’ but you have made it a den of robbers.”

<sup>47</sup>‡ And he was teaching daily in the temple. The chief priests and the scribes and the principal men of the people were seeking to destroy him, <sup>48</sup>but they did not find anything they could do, for all the people were hanging on his words.

The Authority of Jesus Challenged

LUKE 20 †One day, as Jesus [1] was teaching the people in the temple and preaching the gospel, the chief priests and the scribes with the elders came up ††and said to him, “Tell us by what authority you do these things, or who it is that gave you this authority.” †He answered them, “I also will ask you a question. Now tell me, †was the baptism of John from heaven or from man?” †And they discussed it with one another, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ he will say, ‘Why did you not believe him?’ †But if we say, ‘From man,’ all the people will stone us to death, for they are convinced that John was a prophet.” †So they answered that they did not know where it came from. †And Jesus said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

The Parable of the Wicked Tenants

††And he began to tell the people this parable: “A man planted a vineyard and let it out to tenants and went into another country for a long while. †When the time came, he sent a servant [2] to the tenants, so that they would give him some of the fruit of the vineyard. But the tenants beat him and sent him away empty-handed. †And he sent another servant. But they also beat and treated him shamefully, and sent him away empty-handed. †And he sent yet a third. This one also they wounded and cast out. †Then the owner of the vineyard said, ‘What shall I do? I will send my beloved son; perhaps they will respect him.’ †But when the tenants saw him, they said to themselves, ‘This is the heir. Let us kill him, so that the inheritance may be ours.’ †And they threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. What then will the owner of the vineyard do to them? †He will come and destroy those tenants and give the vineyard to others.” †When they heard this, they said, “Surely not!” †But he looked directly at them and said, “What then is this that is written: “The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone’? [3]

††Everyone who falls on that stone will be broken to pieces, and when it falls on anyone, it will crush him.”

Paying Taxes to Caesar

†The scribes and the chief priests sought to lay hands on him at that very hour, for they perceived that he had told this parable against them, but they feared the people. <sup>20</sup>† So they watched him and sent spies, who pretended to be sincere, that they might catch him in something he said, so as to deliver him up to the authority and jurisdiction of the governor. <sup>21</sup>† So they asked him, “Teacher, we know that you speak and teach rightly, and show no partiality, [4] but truly teach the way of God. <sup>22</sup>† Is it lawful for us to give tribute to Caesar, or not?” <sup>23</sup> But he perceived their craftiness, and said to them, <sup>24</sup>† “Show me a denarius. [5] Whose likeness and inscription does it have?” They said, “Caesar's.” <sup>25</sup>† He said to them, “Then render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's.” <sup>26</sup> And they were not able in the presence of the people to catch him in what he said, but marveling at his answer they became silent.

Sadducees Ask About the Resurrection

<sup>27</sup>†† There came to him some Sadducees, those who deny that there is a resurrection, <sup>28</sup>† and they asked him a question, saying, “Teacher, Moses wrote for us that if a man's brother dies, having a wife but no children, the man [6] must take the widow and raise up offspring for his brother. <sup>29</sup> Now there were seven brothers. The first took a wife, and died without children. <sup>30</sup> And the second <sup>31</sup> and the third took her, and likewise all seven left no children and died. <sup>32</sup> Afterward the woman also died. <sup>33</sup>† In the resurrection, therefore, whose wife will the woman be? For the seven had her as wife.”

<sup>34</sup> And Jesus said to them, “The sons of this age marry and are given in marriage, <sup>35</sup> but those who are considered worthy to attain to that age and to the resurrection from the dead neither marry nor are given in marriage, <sup>36</sup>† for they cannot die anymore, because they are equal to angels and are sons of God, being sons [7] of the resurrection. <sup>37</sup>† But that the dead are raised, even Moses showed, in the passage about the bush, where he calls the Lord the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob. <sup>38</sup>† Now he is not God of the dead, but of the living, for all live to him.” <sup>39</sup>† Then some of the scribes answered, “Teacher, you have spoken well.” <sup>40</sup>† For they no longer dared to ask him any question.

Whose Son Is the Christ?

<sup>41</sup>† But he said to them, “How can they say that the Christ is David's son? <sup>42</sup>† For David himself says in the Book of Psalms, “The Lord said to my Lord,

Sit at my right hand,
<sup>43</sup> until I make your enemies your footstool.’

Beware of the Scribes

<sup>45</sup>‡And in the hearing of all the people he said to his disciples, <sup>46</sup>“Beware of the scribes, who like to walk around in long robes, and love greetings in the marketplaces and the best seats in the synagogues and the places of honor at feasts, <sup>47</sup>who devour widows' houses and for a pretense make long prayers. They will receive the greater condemnation.”

The Widow's Offering

LUKE 21 †Jesus [1] looked up and saw the rich putting their gifts into the offering box, †and he saw a poor widow put in two small copper coins. [2] †And he said, “Truly, I tell you, this poor widow has put in more than all of them. †For they all contributed out of their abundance, but she out of her poverty put in all she had to live on.”

Jesus Foretells Destruction of the Temple

†And while some were speaking of the temple, how it was adorned with noble stones and offerings, he said, †“As for these things that you see, the days will come when there will not be left here one stone upon another that will not be thrown down.” †And they asked him, “Teacher, when will these things be, and what will be the sign when these things are about to take place?” †And he said, “See that you are not led astray. For many will come in my name, saying, ‘I am he!’ and, ‘The time is at hand!’ Do not go after them. †And when you hear of wars and tumults, do not be terrified, for these things must first take place, but the end will not be at once.”

Jesus Foretells Wars and Persecution

†Then he said to them, “Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. †There will be great earthquakes, and in various places famines and pestilences. And there will be terrors and great signs from heaven. †But before all this they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues and prisons, and you will be brought before kings and governors for my name's sake. †This will be your opportunity to bear witness. †Settle it therefore in your minds not to meditate beforehand how to answer, †for I will give you a mouth and wisdom, which none of your adversaries will be able to withstand or contradict. †You will be delivered up even by parents and brothers [3] and relatives and friends, and some of you they will put to death. †You will be hated by all for my name's sake. †But not a hair of your head will perish. †By your endurance you will gain your lives.

Jesus Foretells Destruction of Jerusalem

†“But when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that its desolation has come near. <sup>21</sup>†Then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains, and let those who are inside the city depart, and let not those who are out in the country enter it, <sup>22</sup>†for these are days of vengeance, to fulfill all that is written. <sup>23</sup>†Alas for women who are pregnant and for those who are nursing infants in those days! For there will be great distress upon the earth and wrath against this people. <sup>24</sup>†They will fall by the edge of the sword and be led captive among all nations, and Jerusalem will be trampled underfoot by the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled.

The Coming of the Son of Man

<sup>25</sup>†“And there will be signs in sun and moon and stars, and on the earth distress of nations in perplexity because of the roaring of the sea and the waves, <sup>26</sup>people fainting with fear and with foreboding of what is coming on the world. For the powers of the heavens will be shaken. <sup>27</sup>†And then they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory. <sup>28</sup>†Now when these things begin to take place, straighten up and raise your heads, because your redemption is drawing near.”

The Lesson of the Fig Tree

<sup>29</sup>†And he told them a parable: “Look at the fig tree, and all the trees. <sup>30</sup>As soon as they come out in leaf, you see for yourselves and know that the summer is already near. <sup>31</sup>So also, when you see these things taking place, you know that the kingdom of God is near. <sup>32</sup>Truly, I say to you, this generation will not pass away until all has taken place. <sup>33</sup>Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will not pass away.

Watch Yourselfs

<sup>34</sup>†“But watch yourselfs lest your hearts be weighed down with dissipation and drunkenness and cares of this life, and that day come upon you suddenly like a trap. <sup>35</sup>For it will come upon all who dwell on the face of the whole earth. <sup>36</sup>†But stay awake at all times, praying that you may have strength to escape all these things that are going to take place, and to stand before the Son of Man.”

<sup>37</sup>†And every day he was teaching in the temple, but at night he went out and lodged on the mount called Olivet. <sup>38</sup>And early in the morning all the people came to him in the temple to hear him.

The Plot to Kill Jesus

LUKE 22 †Now the Feast of Unleavened Bread drew near, which is called the Passover. †And the chief priests and the scribes were seeking how to put him to death, for they feared the people.

Judas to Betray Jesus

†Then Satan entered into Judas called Iscariot, who was of the number of the twelve. †He went away and conferred with the chief priests and officers how he might betray him to them. †And they were glad, and agreed to give him money. †So he consented and sought an opportunity to betray him to them in the absence of a crowd.

The Passover with the Disciples

†Then came the day of Unleavened Bread, on which the Passover lamb had to be sacrificed. †So Jesus [1] sent Peter and John, saying, “Go and prepare the Passover for us, that we may eat it.” †They said to him, “Where will you have us prepare it?” †He said to them, “Behold, when you have entered the city, a man carrying a jar of water will meet you. Follow him into the house that he enters †and tell the master of the house, ‘The Teacher says to you, Where is the guest room, where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?’ †And he will show you a large upper room furnished; prepare it there.” †And they went and found it just as he had told them, and they prepared the Passover.

Institution of the Lord's Supper

†And when the hour came, he reclined at table, and the apostles with him. †And he said to them, “I have earnestly desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer. †For I tell you I will not eat it [2] until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God.” †And he took a cup, and when he had given thanks he said, “Take this, and divide it among yourselves. †For I tell you that from now on I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes.” †And he took bread, and when he had given thanks, he broke it and gave it to them, saying, “This is my body, which is given for you. Do this in remembrance of me.” †And likewise the cup after they had eaten, saying, “This cup that is poured out for you is the new covenant in my blood. [3] †But behold, the hand of him who betrays me is with me on the table. <sup>22</sup>†For the Son of Man goes as it has been determined, but woe to that man by whom he is betrayed!” <sup>23</sup>†And they began to question one another, which of them it could be who was going to do this.

Who Is the Greatest?

<sup>24</sup>†A dispute also arose among them, as to which of them was to be regarded as the greatest. <sup>25</sup>†And he said to them, “The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them, and those in authority over them are called benefactors. <sup>26</sup>†But not so with you. Rather, let the greatest among you become as the youngest, and the leader as one who serves. <sup>27</sup>†For who is the greater, one who reclines at table or one who serves? Is it not the one who reclines at table? But I am among you as the one who serves.

<sup>28</sup>†“You are those who have stayed with me in my trials, <sup>29</sup>†and I assign to you, as my Father assigned to me, a kingdom, <sup>30</sup>†that you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

Jesus Foretells Peter's Denial

<sup>31</sup>†“Simon, Simon, behold, Satan demanded to have you, [4] that he might sift you like wheat, <sup>32</sup>†but I have prayed for you that your faith may not fail. And when you have turned again, strengthen your brothers.” <sup>33</sup>†Peter [5] said to him, “Lord, I am ready to go with you both to prison and to death.” <sup>34</sup>†Jesus [6] said, “I tell you, Peter, the rooster will not crow this day, until you deny three times that you know me.”

Scripture Must Be Fulfilled in Jesus

<sup>35</sup>†And he said to them, “When I sent you out with no moneybag or knapsack or sandals, did you lack anything?” They said, “Nothing.” <sup>36</sup>†He said to them, “But now let the one who has a moneybag take it, and likewise a knapsack. And let the one who has no sword sell his cloak and buy one. <sup>37</sup>†For I tell you that this Scripture must be fulfilled in me: ‘And he was numbered with the transgressors.’ For what is written about me has its fulfillment.” <sup>38</sup>†And they said, “Look, Lord, here are two swords.” And he said to them, “It is enough.”

Jesus Prays on the Mount of Olives

<sup>39</sup>† And he came out and went, as was his custom, to the Mount of Olives, and the disciples followed him. <sup>40</sup>† And when he came to the place, he said to them, “Pray that you may not enter into temptation.” <sup>41</sup>† And he withdrew from them about a stone's throw, and knelt down and prayed, <sup>42</sup>† saying, “Father, if you are willing, remove this cup from me. Nevertheless, not my will, but yours, be done.” <sup>43</sup>† And there appeared to him an angel from heaven, strengthening him. <sup>44</sup>† And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly; and his sweat became like great drops of blood falling down to the ground. [7] <sup>45</sup>† And when he rose from prayer, he came to the disciples and found them sleeping for sorrow, <sup>46</sup>† and he said to them, “Why are you sleeping? Rise and pray that you may not enter into temptation.”

Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus

<sup>47</sup>† While he was still speaking, there came a crowd, and the man called Judas, one of the twelve, was leading them. He drew near to Jesus to kiss him, <sup>48</sup>† but Jesus said to him, “Judas, would you betray the Son of Man with a kiss?” <sup>49</sup>† And when those who were around him saw what would follow, they said, “Lord, shall we strike with the sword?” <sup>50</sup>† And one of them struck the servant [8] of the high priest and cut off his right ear. <sup>51</sup>† But Jesus said, “No more of this!” And he touched his ear and healed him. <sup>52</sup>† Then Jesus said to the chief priests and officers of the temple and elders, who had come out against him, “Have you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs? <sup>53</sup>† When I was with you day after day in the temple, you did not lay hands on me. But this is your hour, and the power of darkness.”

Peter Denies Jesus

<sup>54</sup>† Then they seized him and led him away, bringing him into the high priest's house, and Peter was following at a distance. <sup>55</sup>† And when they had kindled a fire in the middle of the courtyard and sat down together, Peter sat down among them. <sup>56</sup>† Then a servant girl, seeing him as he sat in the light and looking closely at him, said, “This man also was with him.” <sup>57</sup>† But he denied it, saying, “Woman, I do not know him.” <sup>58</sup>† And a little later someone else saw him and said, “You also are one of them.” But Peter said, “Man, I am not.” <sup>59</sup>† And after an interval of about an hour still another insisted, saying, “Certainly this man also was with him, for he too is a Galilean.” <sup>60</sup>† But Peter said, “Man, I do not know what you are talking about.” And immediately, while he was still speaking, the rooster crowed. <sup>61</sup>† And the Lord turned and looked at Peter. And Peter remembered the saying of the Lord, how he had said to him, “Before the rooster crows today, you will deny me three times.” <sup>62</sup>And he went out and wept bitterly.

Jesus Is Mocked

<sup>63</sup>† Now the men who were holding Jesus in custody were mocking him as they beat him. <sup>64</sup>They also blindfolded him and kept asking him, “Prophecy! Who is it that struck you?” <sup>65</sup>And they said many other things against him, blaspheming him.

Jesus Before the Council

<sup>66</sup>† When day came, the assembly of the elders of the people gathered together, both chief priests and scribes. And they led him away to their council, and they said, <sup>67</sup>† “If you are the Christ, tell us.” But he said to them, “If I tell you, you will not believe, <sup>68</sup>and if I ask you, you will not answer. <sup>69</sup>But from now on the Son of Man shall be seated at the right hand of the power of God.” <sup>70</sup>So they all said, “Are you the Son of God, then?” And he said to them, “You say that I am.” <sup>71</sup>Then they said, “What further testimony do we need? We have heard it ourselves from his own lips.”

Jesus Before Pilate

LUKE 23 † Then the whole company of them arose and brought him before Pilate. † And they began to accuse him, saying, “We found this man misleading our nation and forbidding us to give tribute to Caesar, and saying that he himself is Christ, a king.” † And Pilate asked him, “Are you the King of the Jews?” And he answered him, “You have said so.” † Then Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowds, “I find no guilt in this man.” † But they were urgent, saying, “He stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Judea, from Galilee even to this place.”

Jesus Before Herod

† When Pilate heard this, he asked whether the man was a Galilean. † And when he learned that he belonged to Herod's jurisdiction, he sent him over to Herod, who was himself in Jerusalem at that time. † When Herod saw Jesus, he was very glad, for he had long desired to see him, because he had heard about him, and he was hoping to see some sign done by him. † So he questioned him at some length, but he made no answer. † The chief priests and the scribes stood by, vehemently accusing him. † And Herod with his soldiers treated him with contempt and mocked him. Then, arraying him in splendid clothing, he sent him back to Pilate. † And Herod and Pilate became friends with each other that very day, for before this they had been at enmity with each other.

† Pilate then called together the chief priests and the rulers and the people, † and said to them, “You brought me this man as one who was misleading the people. And after examining him before you, behold, I did not find this man guilty of any of your charges against him. † Neither did Herod, for he sent him back to us. Look, nothing deserving death has been done by him. † I will therefore punish and release him.” [1]

Pilate Delivers Jesus to Be Crucified

† But they all cried out together, “Away with this man, and release to us Barabbas”— † a man who had been thrown into prison for an insurrection started in the city and for murder. † Pilate addressed them once more, desiring to release Jesus, † but they kept shouting, “Crucify, crucify him!” † A third time he said to them, “Why, what evil has he done? I have found in him no guilt deserving death. I will therefore punish and release him.” † But they were urgent, demanding with loud cries that he should be crucified. And their voices prevailed. <sup>24</sup>† So Pilate decided that their demand should be granted. <sup>25</sup> He released the man who had been thrown into prison for insurrection and murder, for whom they asked, but he delivered Jesus over to their will.

The Crucifixion

<sup>26</sup>† And as they led him away, they seized one Simon of Cyrene, who was coming in from the country, and laid on him the cross, to carry it behind Jesus. <sup>27</sup> And there followed him a great multitude of the people and of women who were mourning and lamenting for him. <sup>28</sup>† But turning to them Jesus said, “Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for me, but weep for yourselves and for your children. <sup>29</sup>† For behold, the days are coming when they will say, ‘Blessed are the barren and the wombs that never bore and the breasts that never nursed!’ <sup>30</sup>† Then they will begin to say to the mountains, ‘Fall on us,’ and to the hills, ‘Cover us.’ <sup>31</sup>† For if they do these things when the wood is green, what will happen when it is dry?”

<sup>32</sup>† Two others, who were criminals, were led away to be put to death with him. <sup>33</sup>† And when they came to the place that is called The Skull, there they crucified him, and the criminals, one on his right and one on his left. <sup>34</sup>† And Jesus said, “Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.” [2] And they cast lots to divide his garments. <sup>35</sup>† And the people stood by, watching, but the rulers scoffed at him, saying, “He saved others; let him save himself, if he is the Christ of God, his Chosen One!” <sup>36</sup> The soldiers also mocked him, coming up and offering him sour wine <sup>37</sup> and saying, “If you are the King of the Jews, save yourself!” <sup>38</sup>† There was also an inscription over him, [3] “This is the King of the Jews.”

<sup>39</sup>† One of the criminals who were hanged railed at him, [4] saying, “Are you not the Christ? Save yourself and us!” <sup>40</sup> But the other rebuked him, saying, “Do you not fear God, since you are under the same sentence of condemnation? <sup>41</sup>† And we indeed justly, for we are receiving the due reward of our deeds; but this man has done nothing wrong.” <sup>42</sup>† And he said, “Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom.” <sup>43</sup>† And he said to him, “Truly, I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise.”

The Death of Jesus

<sup>44</sup>† It was now about the sixth hour, [5] and there was darkness over the whole

land until the ninth hour, [6] <sup>45</sup>†while the sun's light failed. And the curtain of the temple was torn in two. <sup>46</sup>†Then Jesus, calling out with a loud voice, said, “Father, into your hands I commit my spirit!” And having said this he breathed his last. <sup>47</sup>†Now when the centurion saw what had taken place, he praised God, saying, “Certainly this man was innocent!” <sup>48</sup>†And all the crowds that had assembled for this spectacle, when they saw what had taken place, returned home beating their breasts. <sup>49</sup>†And all his acquaintances and the women who had followed him from Galilee stood at a distance watching these things.

Jesus Is Buried

<sup>50</sup>†Now there was a man named Joseph, from the Jewish town of Arimathea. He was a member of the council, a good and righteous man, <sup>51</sup>†who had not consented to their decision and action; and he was looking for the kingdom of God. <sup>52</sup>†This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. <sup>53</sup>†Then he took it down and wrapped it in a linen shroud and laid him in a tomb cut in stone, where no one had ever yet been laid. <sup>54</sup>†It was the day of Preparation, and the Sabbath was beginning. [7] <sup>55</sup>†The women who had come with him from Galilee followed and saw the tomb and how his body was laid. <sup>56</sup>†Then they returned and prepared spices and ointments.

On the Sabbath they rested according to the commandment.

The Resurrection

LUKE 24 †But on the first day of the week, at early dawn, they went to the tomb, taking the spices they had prepared. †And they found the stone rolled away from the tomb, †but when they went in they did not find the body of the Lord Jesus. †While they were perplexed about this, behold, two men stood by them in dazzling apparel. †And as they were frightened and bowed their faces to the ground, the men said to them, “Why do you seek the living among the dead? †He is not here, but has risen. Remember how he told you, while he was still in Galilee, †that the Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men and be crucified and on the third day rise.” †And they remembered his words, †and returning from the tomb they told all these things to the eleven and to all the rest. †Now it was Mary Magdalene and Joanna and Mary the mother of James and the other women with them who told these things to the apostles, †but these words seemed to them an idle tale, and they did not believe them. †But Peter rose and ran to the tomb; stooping and looking in, he saw the linen cloths by themselves; and he went home marveling at what had happened.

On the Road to Emmaus

†That very day two of them were going to a village named Emmaus, about seven miles [1] from Jerusalem, †and they were talking with each other about all these things that had happened. †While they were talking and discussing together, Jesus himself drew near and went with them. †But their eyes were kept from recognizing him. †And he said to them, “What is this conversation that you are holding with each other as you walk?” And they stood still, looking sad. †Then one of them, named Cleopas, answered him, “Are you the only visitor to Jerusalem who does not know the things that have happened there in these days?” †And he said to them, “What things?” And they said to him, “Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, a man who was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people, †and how our chief priests and rulers delivered him up to be condemned to death, and crucified him. †But we had hoped that he was the one to redeem Israel. Yes, and besides all this, it is now the third day since these things happened. †Moreover, some women of our company amazed us. They were at the tomb early in the morning, †and when they did not find his body, they came back saying that they had even seen a vision of angels, who said that he was alive. †Some of those who were with us went to the tomb and found it just as the women had said, but him they did not see.” †And he said to them, “O foolish ones, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken! <sup>26</sup>‡ Was it not necessary that the Christ should suffer these things and enter into his glory?” <sup>27</sup>‡ And beginning with Moses and all the Prophets, he interpreted to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himself.

<sup>28</sup>So they drew near to the village to which they were going. He acted as if he were going farther, <sup>29</sup>but they urged him strongly, saying, “Stay with us, for it is toward evening and the day is now far spent.” So he went in to stay with them. <sup>30</sup>‡ When he was at table with them, he took the bread and blessed and broke it and gave it to them. <sup>31</sup>‡ And their eyes were opened, and they recognized him. And he vanished from their sight. <sup>32</sup>They said to each other, “Did not our hearts burn within us while he talked to us on the road, while he opened to us the Scriptures?” <sup>33</sup>And they rose that same hour and returned to Jerusalem. And they found the eleven and those who were with them gathered together, <sup>34</sup>‡ saying, “The Lord has risen indeed, and has appeared to Simon!” <sup>35</sup>Then they told what had happened on the road, and how he was known to them in the breaking of the bread.

Jesus Appears to His Disciples

<sup>36</sup>‡ As they were talking about these things, Jesus himself stood among them, and said to them, “Peace to you!” <sup>37</sup>But they were startled and frightened and thought they saw a spirit. <sup>38</sup>And he said to them, “Why are you troubled, and why do doubts arise in your hearts? <sup>39</sup>‡ See my hands and my feet, that it is I myself. Touch me, and see. For a spirit does not have flesh and bones as you see that I have.” <sup>40</sup>And when he had said this, he showed them his hands and his feet. <sup>41</sup>‡ And while they still disbelieved for joy and were marveling, he said to them, “Have you anything here to eat?” <sup>42</sup>They gave him a piece of broiled fish, <sup>[2]</sup> <sup>43</sup>and he took it and ate before them.

<sup>44</sup>‡ Then he said to them, “These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms must be fulfilled.” <sup>45</sup>‡ Then he opened their minds to understand the Scriptures, <sup>46</sup>‡ and said to them, “Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer and on the third day rise from the dead, <sup>47</sup>‡ and that repentance and forgiveness of sins should be proclaimed in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem. <sup>48</sup>You are witnesses of these things. <sup>49</sup>‡ And behold, I am sending the promise of my Father upon you. But stay in the city until you are clothed with power from on high.”

The Ascension

<sup>50</sup>† Then he led them out as far as Bethany, and lifting up his hands he blessed them. <sup>51</sup>† While he blessed them, he parted from them and was carried up into heaven. <sup>52</sup>† And they worshiped him and returned to Jerusalem with great joy, <sup>53</sup>† and were continually in the temple blessing God.

Study Notes

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:1–4 These four verses make a single sentence, written in the polished style of a Greek literary classic. It was common for Greek historical works to begin with such a prologue. After this formal prologue, however, Luke shifted into a simpler style of narrative, probably patterned after the familiar style of the LXX.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:1 many. Although Luke wrote direct divine revelation inspired by the Holy Spirit, he acknowledged the works of others (see note on v. 2) who had set down in writing events from Christ’s life. All those sources have been long lost, except for the inspired Gospels. Since Matthew and Mark were most likely written before Luke, it has been suggested that either one or both of those may have been among Luke’s sources when he did his research. It is also known that he was personally acquainted with many firsthand witnesses to the events of Christ’s life. And it is possible that some of his sources were word-of-mouth reports. About 60 percent of the material in Mark is repeated in Luke, and Luke seems to follow Mark’s order of events closely (see Introduction to Mark: Interpretive Challenges, the Synoptic Problem). compile a narrative. Luke proposed to narrate the ministry of Christ in an authoritative, logical, and factual order (though not always strictly chronological—v. 3). the things that have been accomplished. I.e., the OT messianic promises fulfilled in Christ. among us. I.e., in our generation. This phrase does not mean Luke was personally an eyewitness to the life of Christ (see note on v. 2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:2 eyewitnesses and ministers of the word. Luke’s primary sources were the apostles themselves, who delivered facts about Jesus’ life and teaching—both orally and by means of recorded memoirs in written documents made available to Luke. In any case, Luke made no pretense of being an eyewitness himself, but explained that these were facts supported by careful research (see note on v. 3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:3 having followed . . . closely. Lit., “having traced out carefully.” Luke’s Gospel was the result of painstaking investigation. Luke, more than anyone else in the early church, had the abilities and the opportunity to consult with eyewitnesses of Jesus’ ministry and consolidate their accounts. He spent more than two years during Paul’s imprisonment at Caesarea (Acts 24:26– 27), during which time he would have been able to meet and interview many of the apostles and other eyewitnesses of Jesus' ministry. We know, for example, that he met Philip (Acts 21:8), who was undoubtedly one of Luke's sources. In his travels, he may also have encountered the apostle John. Joanna, wife of Herod's steward, is mentioned only in Luke's Gospel (see note on Luke 8:3; cf. 24:10), so she must have been a personal acquaintance of his. Luke also related details about Herod's dealings with Christ not found in the other Gospels (13:31–33; 23:7–12). No doubt it was from Joanna (or someone in a similar position) that Luke learned those facts. However, his understanding was perfect because of the divine revelation he received from the Holy Spirit (2 Tim. 3:16–17; 2 Pet. 1:19–21). some time past. Or, "from the beginning." This could mean from the beginning of Christ's earthly life. However, the word can mean "from above" (John 3:31; 19:11; James 3:15). "From the beginning" in Luke 1:2 uses a different Greek word, arché—so it is best to understand that Luke was saying he used earthly sources for his material, but was given heavenly guidance as he did his research and writing. It is clear that he regarded his account as authoritative (see note on v. 4). orderly account. Luke's account is predominantly ordered chronologically, but he does not follow such an arrangement slavishly. most excellent. This was a title used to address governors (Acts 23:26; 24:3; 26:25). This sort of language was reserved for the highest dignitaries, suggesting that "Theophilus" was such a person.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:4 certainty. Notice the implicit claim of authority. Though Luke drew from other sources (v. 3), he regarded the reliability and authority of his Gospel as superior to uninspired sources. taught. Theophilus had been schooled in the apostolic tradition, possibly even by the apostle Paul himself. Yet the written Scripture by means of this Gospel sealed the certainty of what he had heard.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:5 Herod. Herod the Great. See note on Matt. 2:1–2. Zechariah. Lit., "Jehovah has remembered." the division of Abijah. The temple priesthood was organized into 24 divisions, with each division serving twice a year for one week (1 Chron. 24:4–19); Abijah's was the eighth division (1 Chron. 24:10). daughters of Aaron. I.e., both husband and wife were from the priestly tribe.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:6 both righteous before God. I.e., they were believers, justified in God's sight. There is a clear echo of Pauline theology in this expression. See Introduction: Interpretive Challenges.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:7 barren . . . advanced in years. This was seen by many as a sign of divine disfavor. See note on v. 25.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:8 his division. I.e., his division was on duty for one of their two annual stints (see note on v. 5).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:9 chosen by lot to . . . burn incense. A high honor (Ex. 30:7–8; 2 Chron. 29:11). Because of the large number of priests, most would never be chosen for such a duty, and no one was permitted to serve in this capacity twice. Zechariah no doubt regarded this as the supreme moment in a lifetime of priestly service. The incense was kept burning perpetually, just in front of the veil that divided the Holy Place from the Most Holy Place. The lone priest would offer the incense every morning and every evening, while the rest of the priests and worshipers stood outside the Holy Place in prayer (Luke 1:10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:12 fear. The normal response—and an appropriate one (12:5)—when someone is confronted by a divine visitation or a mighty work of God (Judg. 6:22; 13:22; Mark 16:5; see note on Rev. 1:17). Luke seems especially to take note of this; he often reports fear in the presence of God and his works (cf. Luke 1:30, 65; 2:9–10; 5:10, 26; 7:16; 8:25, 37, 50; 9:34, 45; 23:40).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:13 your prayer. Probably a prayer for children to be in his home (see note on v. 7; cf. v. 25). John. Lit., “Jehovah has shown grace.”

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:14 joy and gladness. The hallmarks of the messianic kingdom (Isa. 25:9; Ps. 14:7; 48:11). The motif of joy runs through Luke’s Gospel (cf. Luke 1:44, 47, 58; 2:10; 6:23; 8:13; 10:17–21; 13:17; 15:5–10, 22–32; 19:6, 37; 24:52).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:15 not drink wine or strong drink. This was a key element of the Nazirite vow (Num. 6:1–21) and would probably have been understood as such by Zechariah. Usually such a vow was temporary, but Samson (Judg. 16:17) and Samuel (1 Sam. 1:11) were subject to it from birth. The language here is reminiscent of the angel’s instructions to Samson’s parents (Judg. 13:4–7). However, no mention is made here of any restriction on the cutting of John’s hair. Luke may have simply omitted that detail to avoid weighing his Gentile audience down with the details of Jewish law. even from his mother’s womb. Reminiscent of Jeremiah (Jer. 1:5). This illustrates God’s sovereignty in salvation.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:17 in the spirit and power of Elijah. Elijah, like John the Baptist, was known for his bold, uncompromising stand for the word of God—even in the face of a ruthless monarch (cf. 1 Kings 18:17–24; Mark 6:15). The final two verses of the OT (Mal. 4:5–6) had promised the return of Elijah before the day of the Lord. See notes on Matt. 3:4; 11:14; Mark 9:11–12. to turn the hearts. Quoted from Mal. 4:6, showing that John the Baptist fulfilled that prophecy. make ready. Possibly an allusion to Isa. 40:3–5 (see notes on Luke 3:4; Matt. 3:3).

New Testament Women

New Testament Women
Mary, the virgin mother of Jesus, has a place of honor among the women of the New Testament. She is an enduring example of faith, humility, and service ( Luke 1:26–56 ). Other notable women of the New Testament include the following:
Name	Description	Biblical Reference
Anna	Recognized Jesus as the long-awaited Messiah	Luke 2:36–38
Bernice	Sister of Agrippa before whom Paul made his defense	Acts 25:13
Candace	A queen of Ethiopia	Acts 8:27
Chloe	Woman who knew of divisions in the church at Corinth	1 Cor. 1:11
Claudia	Christian of Rome	2 Tim. 4:21
Damaris	Woman of Athens converted under Paul’s ministry	Acts 17:34
Dorcas (Tabitha)	Christian in Joppa who was raised from the dead by Peter	Acts 9:36–41
Drusilla	Wife of Felix, governor of Judea	Acts 24:24
Elizabeth	Mother of John the Baptist	Luke 1:5, 13
Eunice	Mother of Timothy	2 Tim. 1:5
Herodias	Queen who demanded the execution of John the Baptist	Matt. 14:3–10
Joanna	Provided for the material needs of Jesus	Luke 8:3
Lois	Grandmother of Timothy	2 Tim. 1:5
Lydia	Converted under Paul’s ministry in Philippi	Acts 16:14
Martha and Mary	Sisters of Lazarus; friends of Jesus	Luke 10:38–42
Mary Magdalene	Woman from whom Jesus cast out demons	Matt. 27:56–61 ; Mark 16:9
Phoebe	A servant, perhaps a deaconess, in the church at Cenchreae	Rom. 16:1–2
Priscilla	Wife of Aquila; laborer with Paul at Corinth and Ephesus	Acts 18:2, 18–19
Salome	Mother of Jesus’ disciples James and John	Matt. 20:20–24
Sapphira	Held back goods from the early Christian community	Acts 5:1
Susanna	Provided for the material needs of Jesus	Luke 8:3

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:18 How shall I know this? Abraham also asked for a sign under similar circumstances (Gen. 15:8). The sign given Zechariah was also a mild rebuke for doubting (Luke 1:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:19 Gabriel. Lit., “strong man of God.” Gabriel also appears in Dan. 8:16 and 9:21 (see notes there). He is one of only two holy angels whose names are given in Scripture, the other being Michael (Dan. 10:13, 21; Jude 9; Rev. 12:7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:21 wondering at his delay. Zechariah was only supposed to offer incense, then come out to pronounce the familiar blessing of Num. 6:23–27 on the people who were waiting in the temple court. The conversation with the angel would have taken additional time.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:23 his time of service. A week. See note on v. 5. went to his home. In the hill country of Judea (v. 39).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:24 kept herself hidden. Probably an act of devotion out of deep gratitude to the Lord.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:25 my reproach. Childlessness carried a reproach in a culture where blessings were tied to birthrights and family lines. Barrenness could occasionally be a sign of divine disfavor (Lev. 20:20–21), but it was not always so (cf. Gen. 30:23; 1 Sam. 1:5–10). Still, it carried a social stigma that could be humiliating.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:26 In the sixth month. I.e., Elizabeth’s sixth month of pregnancy. Nazareth. See note on Matt. 2:23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:27 a virgin. The importance of the virgin birth cannot be overstated. A right view of the incarnation hinges on the truth that Jesus was virgin-born. Both Luke and Matthew expressly state that Mary was a virgin when Jesus was conceived (see note on Matt. 1:23). The Holy Spirit wrought the conception through supernatural means (see notes on Luke 1:35; Matt. 1:18). The nature of Christ’s conception testifies of both his deity and his sinlessness.  betrothed. See notes on Matt. 1:18–19.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:28 O favored one. Lit., “full of grace”—a term used of all believers in Eph. 1:6, where it is translated “blessed.” This portrays Mary as a recipient, not a dispenser, of divine grace.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:30 Do not be afraid. The same thing Gabriel had said to Zechariah (v. 13). See note on v. 12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:31 Jesus. See notes on Matt. 1:1, 21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:32 He will be great. This same promise was made of John the Baptist. However, the subsequent title is what set Jesus apart. the Son of the Most High. Cf. v. 76, where John the Baptist is called “the prophet of the Most High.” The Greek term Luke uses for “Most High” is the one employed in the LXX to translate the Hebrew, “The Most High God.” Since a son bears his father’s qualities, calling a person someone else’s “son” was a way of signifying equality. Here the angel was telling Mary that her son would be equal to the Most High God. his father David. See note on Matt. 9:27. Jesus was David’s physical descendant through Mary’s line. David’s “throne” was emblematic of the messianic kingdom (cf. 2 Sam. 7:13–16; Ps. 89:26–29).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:33 over the house of Jacob forever. This emphasizes both the Jewish character of the millennial kingdom and the eternal permanence of Christ’s rule over all. See notes on Isa. 9:7 and Dan. 2:44.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:34 I am a virgin. Mary understood that the angel was speaking of an immediate conception, and she and Joseph were still in the midst of the long betrothal, or engagement period (see note on Matt. 1:18), before the actual marriage and consummation. Her question was borne out of wonder, not doubt, nor disbelief, so the angel did not rebuke her as he had Zechariah (Luke 1:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:35 The Holy Spirit will come upon you. This was a creative act of the Holy Spirit, not the sort of divine-human cohabitation sometimes seen in pagan mythology.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:36 your relative Elizabeth. It seems most reasonable to regard the genealogy of 3:23–38 as Mary’s (see note on 3:23). This would make her a direct descendant of David (see note on 1:32). Yet, Elizabeth was a descendant of Aaron (see note on v. 5). Therefore, Mary must have been related to Elizabeth through her mother, who would have been of Aaronic descent. Thus, Mary was a descendant of David through her father.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:38 let it be to me according to your word. Mary was in an extremely embarrassing and difficult position. Betrothed to Joseph, she faced the stigma of unwed motherhood. Joseph would obviously have known that the child was not his. She knew she would be accused of adultery—an offense punishable by stoning (Deut. 22:13–21; cf. John 8:3–5). Yet she willingly and graciously submitted to the will of God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:41 filled with the Holy Spirit. I.e., controlled by the Holy Spirit, who undoubtedly guided Elizabeth’s remarkable expression of praise. See notes on vv. 43, 44, 67.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:43 the mother of my Lord. This expression is not in praise of Mary, but in praise of the child whom she bore. It was a profound expression of Elizabeth’s confidence that Mary’s child would be the long-hoped-for Messiah—the one whom even David called “Lord” (cf. 20:44). Elizabeth’s grasp of the situation was extraordinary, considering the aura of mystery that overshadowed all these events (cf. 2:19). She greeted Mary not with skepticism but with joy. She understood the response of the child in her own womb. And she seemed to comprehend the immense importance of the child whom Mary was carrying. All of this must be attributed to the illuminating work of the Spirit (1:41).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:44 the baby in my womb leaped for joy. The infant, like his mother, was Spirit-filled (cf. vv. 15, 41). His response, like that of Elizabeth, was supernaturally prompted by the Spirit of God (see note on v. 41).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:46–55 Mary’s Magnificat (the first word in the Latin translation; see notes on vv. 68–79; 2:29–32) is filled with OT allusions and quotations. It reveals that Mary’s heart and mind were saturated with the word of God. It contains repeated echoes of Hannah’s prayers, e.g., 1 Sam. 1:11 and 2:1–10. These verses also contain numerous allusions to the Law, the Psalms, and the Prophets. The entire passage is a point-by-point reciting of the covenant promises of God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:47 my Savior. Mary referred to God as “Savior,” indicating both that she recognized her own need of a Savior, and that she knew the true God as her Savior. Nothing here or anywhere else in Scripture indicates Mary thought of herself as “immaculate” (free from the taint of original sin). Quite the opposite is true; she employed language typical of someone whose only hope for salvation is divine grace. Nothing in this passage lends support to the notion that Mary herself ought to be an object of adoration.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:48 humble estate. The quality of Mary that shines most clearly through this passage is a deep sense of humility.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:56 about three months. Mary arrived in the sixth month of Elizabeth’s pregnancy (v. 26), so she evidently stayed until John the Baptist was born. her home. At this point Mary was still betrothed to Joseph, not yet living in his house (cf. Matt. 1:24).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:59 the eighth day. In accord with God’s commandment (Gen. 17:12; Lev. 12:1–3; cf. Phil. 3:5), it had become customary to name a child at circumcision. The ritual brought together family and friends, who in this case, pressured the parents to name the baby “after his father”—probably intending this as a gesture of respect to Zechariah.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:60 No. Elizabeth had learned from Zechariah in writing (v. 63), everything Gabriel had said to him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:62 made signs to his father. The priests conducting the circumcision ceremony appear to have assumed that since he could not speak he was also deaf.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:65 fear. See note on v. 12. all the hill country of Judea. I.e., Jerusalem and the surrounding area. John the Baptist’s reputation began to spread from the time of his birth (v. 66).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:67 filled with the Holy Spirit. See note on v. 41. In every case where someone was Spirit-filled in Luke’s nativity account, the result was Spirit-directed worship. Cf. Eph. 5:18–20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:68–79 This passage is known as the Benedictus (the first word of v. 68 in the Latin translation; see notes on vv. 46–55; 2:29–32). Like Mary’s Magnificat, it is liberally sprinkled with OT quotations and allusions. When Zechariah was struck mute in the temple (1:20), he was supposed to deliver a benediction (see note on v. 21). So it is fitting that when his speech was restored, the first words out of his mouth were this inspired benediction.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:69 horn of salvation. A common expression in the OT (2 Sam. 22:3; Ps. 18:2; cf. 1 Sam. 2:1). The horn is a symbol of strength (Deut. 33:17). These words were clearly not meant to exalt John the Baptist. Since both Zechariah and Elizabeth were Levites (see note on Luke 1:5), the One raised up “in the house of his servant David” could not be John, but spoke of Someone greater than he (John 1:26–27). Luke 1:76–79 speaks of John’s role.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:72 his holy covenant. I.e., the Abrahamic Covenant (v. 73), with its promise of salvation by grace. See note on Gen. 12:1–3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:76 the prophet of the Most High. See note on v. 32.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:77 the forgiveness of their sins. Forgiveness of sins is the heart of salvation. God saves sinners from separation from him and from eternal hell only by atoning for and forgiving their sins. See notes on Rom. 4:6–8; 2 Cor. 5:19; Eph. 1:7; Heb. 9:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:78 sunrise. A messianic reference (cf. Isa. 9:2; 60:1–3; Mal. 4:2; 2 Pet. 1:19; Rev. 22:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 1:80 in the wilderness. Several groups of ascetics inhabited the wilderness regions east of Jerusalem. One was the famous Qumran community, source of the Dead Sea Scrolls. John’s parents, already old when he was born, might have given him over to the care of someone with ties to such a community. In a similar way, Hannah consecrated Samuel to the Lord by entrusting him to Eli (1 Sam. 1:22–28). However, there is nothing concrete in Scripture to suggest that John was part of any such group. On the contrary, he is painted as a solitary figure, in the spirit of Elijah. See note on Luke 1:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:1 Caesar Augustus. Caius Octavius, grand-nephew, adopted son, and primary heir to Julius Caesar. Before and after Julius’s death in 44 B.C., the Roman government was constantly torn by power struggles. Octavius ascended to undisputed supremacy in 31 B.C. by defeating his last remaining rival, Antony, in a military battle at Actium. In 29 B.C., the Roman Senate declared Octavius Rome’s first emperor. Two years later they honored him with the title “Augustus” (“exalted one”—a term signifying religious veneration). Rome’s republican government was effectively abolished, and Augustus was given supreme military power. He reigned until his death at age 76 (A.D. 14). Under his rule, the Roman Empire dominated the Mediterranean region, ushering in a period of great prosperity and relative peace (the Pax Romana). He ordered “all the inhabited earth” (i.e., the world of the Roman Empire) to be counted. This was not merely a one-time census; the decree actually established a cycle of enrollments that were to occur every 14 years. Palestine had previously been excluded from the Roman census, because Jews were exempt from serving in the Roman army, and the census was designed primarily to register young men for military service (as well as account for all Roman citizens). This new, universal census was ostensibly to number each nation by family and tribe (hence Joseph, a Judean, had to return to his ancestral home to register—see note on v. 3). Property and income values were not recorded in this registration. But soon the names and population statistics gathered in this census were used for the levying of poll taxes (see note on Matt. 22:17), and the Jews came to regard the census itself as a distasteful symbol of Roman oppression. See note on Luke 1:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:2 Quirinius was governor of Syria. Fixing a precise date for this census is problematic. Publius Sulpicius Quirinius is known to have governed Syria during A.D. 6–9. A well known census was taken in Palestine in A.D. 6. Josephus records that it sparked a violent Jewish revolt (mentioned by Luke, quoting Gamaliel, in Acts 5:37). Quirinius was responsible for administering that census, and he also played a major role in quelling the subsequent rebellion. However, that cannot be the census Luke has in mind here, because it occurred about a decade after the death of Herod (see note on Matt. 2:1)—much too late to fit Luke’s chronology (cf. Luke 1:5). In light of Luke’s meticulous care as a historian, it would be unreasonable to charge him with such an obvious anachronism. Indeed, archaeology has vindicated Luke. A fragment of stone discovered at Tivoli (near Rome) in A.D. 1764 contains an inscription in honor of a Roman official who, it states, was twice governor of Syria and Phoenicia during the reign of Augustus. The name of the official is not on the fragment, but among his accomplishments are listed details that, as far as is known, can fit no one other than Quirinius. Thus, he must have served as governor in Syria twice. He was probably military governor at the same time that history records Varus was civil governor there. With regard to the dating of the census, some ancient records found in Egypt mention a worldwide census ordered in 8 B.C. That date is not without problems, either. It is generally thought by scholars that 6 B.C. is the earliest possible date for Christ’s birth. Evidently, the census was ordered by Caesar Augustus in 8 B.C. but was not actually carried out in Palestine until two to four years later, perhaps because of political difficulties between Rome and Herod. Therefore, the precise year of Christ’s birth cannot be known with certainty, but it was probably no earlier than 6 B.C. and certainly no later than 4 B.C. Luke’s readers, familiar with the political history of that era, would no doubt have been able to discern a very precise date from the information he gave.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:3 own town. I.e., the place of tribal origin.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:4 Nazareth . . . Bethlehem. Both Joseph and Mary were descendants of David and therefore went to their tribal home in Judea to be registered. This was a difficult trek of more than 70 miles through mountainous terrain—a particularly grueling journey for Mary, on the verge of delivery. Perhaps she and Joseph were conscious that a birth in Bethlehem would fulfill the prophecy in Mic. 5:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:5  betrothed. See note on Matt. 1:18. Matthew 1:24 indicates that when the angel told Joseph about Mary’s pregnancy, he “took his wife”—i.e., he took her into his home. But they did not consummate their marriage until after the birth of Jesus (Matt. 1:25). Therefore, technically, they were still betrothed.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:7 firstborn. Mary had other children subsequent to this. See note on Matt. 12:46. cloths. Strips of cloth were used to bind a baby tightly. It kept the baby from injuring sensitive facial skin and eyes with its own (often sharp) fingernails, and was believed to strengthen the limbs. This is still the custom in some Eastern cultures. The absence of such cloths was a sign of poverty or lack of parental care (Ezek. 16:4). manger. A feeding trough for animals. This is the source of the notion that Christ was born in a stable, something nowhere stated in Scripture. Ancient tradition held that he was born in a cave (possibly one used as a shelter for animals). But no actual description of the location is given. no place for them in the inn. Possibly because many were returning to this ancient town to register in the census.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:8 shepherds. Bethlehem was nearby Jerusalem, and many of the sheep used in the temple sacrifices came from there. The surrounding hills were prime grazing land, and shepherds worked in the area day and night, all year round. Therefore it is not possible to draw any conclusion about the time of year by the fact that shepherds were living out in the fields.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:10 Fear not. See note on 1:12; cf. 1:65.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:11 city of David. I.e., Bethlehem, the town where David was born—not the city of David, which was on the southern slope of Mount Zion (cf. 2 Sam. 5:7–9). a Savior. This is one of only two places in the Gospels where Christ is referred to as “Savior”—the other being John 4:42, where the men of Sychar confessed him as “Savior of the world.” Christ. “Christ” is the Greek equivalent of “Messiah” (see note on Matt. 1:1). Lord. The Greek word can mean “master”—but it is also the word used to translate the covenant name of God. Here (and in most of its NT occurrences), it is used in the latter sense, as a title of deity.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:13 multitude. A term used to describe an army encampment. Christ also used military imagery to describe the angels in Matt. 26:53 (see note there. Revelation 5:11 suggests that the number of the angelic host may be too large for the human mind to fathom. Note that here the heavenly army brought a message of peace (Luke 2:14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:14 the highest. I.e., heaven. peace. This is not to be taken as a universal declaration of peace toward all humanity. Rather, peace with God is a corollary of justification (see note on Rom. 5:1). among those with whom he is pleased. God’s peace is a gracious gift to those who are the objects of his pleasure.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:18 all who heard it wondered. Wonderment at the mysteries of Christ’s words and works is one of the threads that runs through Luke’s Gospel. Cf. vv. 19, 33, 47–48; 1:21, 63; 4:22, 36; 5:9; 8:25; 9:43–45; 11:14; 20:26; 24:12, 41. See note on 2:20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:20 praising God. Luke often reports this response. Cf. v. 28; 1:64; 5:25–26; 7:16; 13:13; 17:15–18; 18:43; 19:37–40; 23:47; 24:52–53.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:21 eight days. See note on 1:59.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:22 purification. A woman who bore a son was ceremonially unclean for 40 days (twice that if she bore a daughter—Lev. 12:2–5). After that she was to offer a yearling lamb and a dove or pigeon (Lev. 12:6). If poor, she could offer two doves or pigeons (Lev. 12:8). Mary’s offering indicates that she and Joseph were poor (Luke 2:24). to Jerusalem. A journey of about 6 miles from Bethlehem. to present him to the Lord. The dedication of the firstborn son was also required by Moses’ law (Luke 2:23, cf. Ex. 13:2, 12–15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:24 a pair of turtledoves. See note on v. 22. Quoted from Lev. 12:8.

consolation of Israel. A messianic title, evidently derived from verses like Isa. 25:9; 40:1–2; 66:1–11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:26 it had been revealed to him. It is significant that with messianic expectation running so high (cf. 3:15), and with the many OT prophecies that spoke of his coming, still only a handful of people realized the significance of Christ's birth. Most of them, including Simeon, received some angelic message or other special revelation to make the fulfillment of the OT prophecies clear.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:29–32 Simeon's psalm is known as the Nunc Dimittis, from the first two words of the Latin translation (see notes on 1:46–55; 1:68–79). It is the fourth of five psalms of praise Luke included in his birth narrative (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes). It is a touching expression of Simeon's extraordinary faith.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:30 your salvation. I.e., the One who would redeem his people from their sins.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:31 all peoples. I.e., all nations, tongues, and tribes (cf. Rev. 7:9)—both Israel and the Gentiles (Luke 2:32).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:34 fall and rising of many in Israel. To those who reject him, he is a stone of stumbling (1 Pet. 2:8); those who receive him are raised up (Eph. 2:6). Cf. Isa. 8:14–15; Hos. 14:9; 1 Cor. 1:23–24. sign that is opposed. This was synecdoche. Simeon mentioned only the verbal insults hurled at Christ, but the expression actually embraced more than that—Israel's rejection, and hatred, and crucifixion of the Messiah. See note on Luke 2:35.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:35 a sword. This was undoubtedly a reference to the personal grief Mary would endure when she watched her own son die in agony (John 19:25). that thoughts from many hearts may be revealed. The rejection of the Messiah (see note on Luke 2:34) would reveal the appalling truth about the apostate state of the Jews.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:36 a prophetess. This refers to a woman who spoke God's word. She was a teacher of the OT, not a source of revelation. The OT mentions only three women who prophesied: Miriam (Ex. 15:20); Deborah (Judg. 4:4); Huldah (2 Kings 22:14; 2 Chron. 34:22). One other, the "prophetess" Noadiah, was evidently a false prophet, grouped by Nehemiah with his enemies. Isaiah 8:3 refers to the prophet's wife as a "prophetess"—but there is no evidence Isaiah's wife prophesied. Perhaps she is so-called because the children she bore were given names that were prophetic (Isa. 8:3–4). This use of the title for Isaiah's wife also shows that the title does not necessarily indicate an ongoing revelatory prophetic ministry. Rabbinical tradition also regarded Sarah, Hannah, Abigail, and Esther as prophetesses (apparently to make an even seven with Miriam, Deborah, and Huldah). In the NT, the daughters of Philip prophesied (see note on Acts 21:9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:37 did not depart from the temple. Anna evidently had her living quarters on the temple grounds. There would have been several such dwelling places for priests in the outer court, and Anna must have been allowed to live there permanently because of her unusual status as a prophetess.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:39 they returned into Galilee. Luke omitted the visit of the Magi and the flight into Egypt (Matt. 2:1–18). The theme of early rejection, so prominent in Matthew (see Introduction to Matthew: Historical and Theological Themes), was not where Luke focused his attention.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:41 Feast of the Passover. See note on Ex. 23:14–19. Passover was a one-day feast, followed immediately by the week-long Feast of Unleavened Bread (see note on Matt. 26:17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:43 Jesus stayed behind. In stark contrast to the apocryphal gospels' spurious tales of youthful miracles and supernatural exploits, this lone biblical insight into the youth of Jesus portrays him as a typical boy in a typical family. His lingering was neither mischievous nor disobedient; it was owing to a simple mistaken presumption on his parents' part (v. 44) that he was left behind.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:44 in the group. Obviously Joseph and Mary were traveling with a large caravan of friends and relatives from Nazareth. No doubt hundreds of people from their community went together to the feast. Men and women in such a group might have been separated by some distance, and it appears each parent thought he was with the other.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:46 three days. This probably does not mean they searched Jerusalem for three days. They apparently realized he was missing at the end of a full day's travel. That required another full day's journey back to Jerusalem, and the better part of another day was spent seeking him. listening to them and asking them questions. The boy Jesus was utterly respectful, taking the role of the student. But even at that young age, his questions showed a wisdom that put the teachers to shame.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:48 why have you treated us so? Mary's words convey a tone of exasperation and rebuke—normal for any mother under such circumstances, but misplaced in this case. Jesus was not hiding from them or defying their authority. In fact, he had done precisely what any child should do under such circumstances (being left by his parents)—he went to a safe, public place, in the presence of trusted adults, where his parents could be expected to come looking for him (v. 49). your father. I.e., Joseph, who was legally his father.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:49 my Father's house. Contrasting with Mary's "your father" in v. 48. His reply was in no sense insolent, but reveals a genuine amazement that they did not know where to look for him. This also reveals that even at so young an age, he had a clear consciousness of his identity and mission.

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:51 was submissive. Jesus' relationship with his heavenly Father did not override or nullify his duty to his earthly parents. His obedience to the fifth commandment was an essential part of the perfect legal obedience he rendered on our behalf (Heb. 4:4; 5:8–9). He had to fulfill all righteousness (see note on Matt. 3:15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 2:52 And Jesus increased. Jesus did not cease being God or divest himself of divine attributes in order to become man. Rather, he took on a human nature (an addition, not a subtraction), and submitted the use of his divine attributes to the will of the Father (John 5:19, 30; 8:28; Phil. 2:5–8). Therefore, there were times when his omniscience was on display (Matt. 9:4; John 2:24–25; 4:17–18; 11:11–14; 16:30) and other times when it was veiled by his humanity in accordance with the Father's will (Mark 13:32). Christ was therefore subject to the normal process of human growth, intellectually, physically, spiritually, and socially. See note on Mark 13:32.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:1 fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius. Because of the way Tiberius came to power this date is hard to fix precisely. When the Roman Senate declared Augustus emperor (see note on 2:1), they did so on condition that his power would end with his death, rather than passing to his heirs. The idea was that the senate, rather than the emperor himself, was to choose the heir to the throne. However, Augustus circumvented that difficulty by appointing a co-regent, on whom he planned gradually to confer the imperial powers. When he outlived his first choice for successor, Augustus next selected his son-in-law, Tiberius, whom he adopted and made his heir in A.D. 4 (Augustus disliked Tiberius but hoped to pass power to his grandsons through him). Tiberius was made co-regent in A.D. 11, then automatically became sole ruler at the death of Augustus on August 19, A.D. 14. If Luke's chronology is dated from Tiberius's appointment to the co-regency, the fifteenth year would be A.D. 25 or 26. If Luke was reckoning from the death of Augustus, this date would fall between August 19, A.D. 28 and August 18, A.D. 29. One other fact complicates the setting of a precise date: the Jews reckoned a ruler's term from the Jewish New Year following accession, so if Luke was using the Jewish system, the actual dates could be slightly later. The earlier date of A.D. 25–26 seems to fit the chronology of Christ's life best. Pontius Pilate . . . Herod . . . Philip. See note on Matt. 2:22. Lysanias. Ruler of the area northwest of Damascus. History is virtually silent about him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:2 high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas. See note on Acts 4:6. According to Josephus, Annas served as high priest A.D. 6–15, when he was deposed by Roman officials. He nonetheless retained de facto power, as seen in the fact that his successors included five of his sons and Caiaphas, a son-in-law (see note on Matt. 26:3). Caiaphas was the actual high priest during the time Luke describes, but Annas still controlled the office. This is seen clearly in the fact that Christ was taken to Annas first after his arrest, then to Caiaphas (see note on Matt. 26:57). wilderness. See note on Matt. 3:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:3 baptism of repentance. See note on Matt. 3:6. for the forgiveness of sins. I.e., to symbolize and testify of the forgiveness already received upon repentance (see note on Acts 2:38).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:4 make his paths straight. Quoted from Isa. 40:3–5 (see notes there). A monarch traveling in wilderness regions would have a crew of workmen go ahead to make sure the road was clear of debris, obstructions, potholes, and other hazards that made the journey difficult. In a spiritual sense, John was calling the people of Israel to prepare their hearts for the coming of their Messiah.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:6 all flesh. I.e., Gentiles as well as Jews (see note on 2:31). All four Gospels quote Isa. 40:3 (Matt. 3:3; Mark 1:3; John 1:23). Only Luke adds Luke 3:5–6—thus using a familiar text from Isaiah to stress his theme of the universal scope of the gospel (see Introduction: Interpretive Challenges).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:7 the wrath to come. Possibly a reference to the coming destruction of Jerusalem. But this certainly also looks beyond any earthly calamity to the eschatological outpouring of divine wrath in the day of the Lord, and especially the final judgment, where divine wrath will be the just fruit of all the unrepentant (cf. Rom. 1:18; 1 Thess. 1:10; Heb. 10:27). See note on Matt. 3:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:8 stones. Cf. 19:40. The imagery may echo OT verses such as Ezek. 11:19 and 36:26; God can sovereignly turn a heart of stone into a believing heart. He can raise up children to Abraham from inanimate objects if he chooses—or even from stony-hearted Gentiles (cf. Gal. 3:29). children for Abraham. Abraham's true children are not merely physical descendants, but those who follow his faith, believing God's word the way he did (Rom. 4:11–16; 9:8; Gal. 3:7). To trust one's physical ancestry is to shift the focus of faith away from God himself—and that is spiritually fatal (cf. John 8:39–44).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:9 axe . . . to the root. See note on Matt. 3:10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:11 two tunics. Shirt-like garments. Only one could be worn at a time. John was still stressing the imminence of the coming judgment. This was not a time to hoard one's surplus goods.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:12 Tax collectors. See note on Matt. 5:46.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:14 Soldiers. These were most likely members of the forces of Herod Antipas, stationed at Perea, perhaps, along with Judean police. Do not extort money . . . by threats. Here and in v. 13, John demanded integrity and high character in the practical matters of everyday life, not a monastic lifestyle or a mystical asceticism. Cf. James 1:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:16 baptize. See note on Matt. 3:11. strap of whose sandals. Unfastening the sandal thong was the lowliest slave's task, preliminary to washing the feet (see note on John 13:4–5).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:17 winnowing fork. See note on Matt. 3:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:19 reproved . . . for Herodias. See note on Matt. 14:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:20 locked up John in prison. This event actually occurred much later during Jesus' ministry (Matt. 14:1–12; John 3:22–24). But Luke organized his material on John the Baptist topically rather than chronologically (see Introduction: Background and Setting).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:21 baptized. See note on Matt. 3:15. was praying. Luke alone notes that Jesus was praying. Prayer is one of Luke's themes (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes).

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:22 Holy Spirit. See note on Matt. 3:16–17. All three persons of the Trinity are distinguishable in this verse, a strong proof against the heresy of modalism, which suggests that God is one Person who manifests himself in three distinct modes, one at a time. in bodily form. I.e., physical and visible to all (cf. Matt. 3:16; John 1:32). like a dove. A picture of gentleness (Matt. 10:16). my beloved Son. See note on Matt. 3:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:23–38 Luke's genealogy moves backward, from Jesus to Adam; Matthew's moves forward, from Abraham to Joseph. Luke's entire section from Joseph to David differs starkly from that given by Matthew. The two genealogies are easily reconciled if Luke's is seen as Mary's genealogy, and Matthew's version represents Joseph's. Thus the royal line is passed through Jesus' legal father, and his physical descent from David is established by Mary's lineage. Luke, unlike Matthew (see note on Matt. 1:3), includes no women in his genealogy—even Mary herself. Joseph was “the son of Heli” by marriage (Heli having no sons of his own), and thus is named here in Luke 3:23 as the representative of Mary's generation. Moses himself established precedent for this sort of substitution in Num. 27:1–11 and 36:1–12. The men listed from Heli (Luke 3:23) to Rhesa (v. 27) are found nowhere else in Scripture. Zerubbabel and Shealtiel (v. 27) are the only two names here that correspond to names in Matthew's genealogy between David and Jesus. For an explanation see notes on Hag. 2:23 and Matt. 1:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 3:23 about thirty years of age. Luke was probably not fixing an exact age. Rather, this was an approximation, 30 being a customary age for entering into the office of prophet (Ezek. 1:1); priest (Num. 4:3, 35, 39, 43, 47), or king (Gen. 41:46; 2 Sam. 5:4). as was supposed. Luke had already established the fact of the virgin birth (Luke 1:34–35); here he made clear once again that Joseph was not Jesus' true father.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:1 led by the Spirit. See note on Matt. 4:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:2 forty days . . . tempted. Evidently the temptation of Christ encompassed the full 40 days of his fast (see note on Matt. 4:2). Both Matthew and Luke give a condensed recounting of only three specific temptations. Luke reverses the order of the last two temptations in Matthew's account. Luke occasionally ordered material logically, rather than chronologically (see Introduction: Background and Setting; see note on Luke 1:3). Luke may have had some purpose for doing so here—perhaps to end his account of Jesus' temptation at the temple in Jerusalem (cf. 4:9), a very important location in Luke's narrative (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:3–13 See notes on Matt. 4:3–10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:4 Jesus quoted Deut. 8:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:8 Jesus quoted Deut. 6:13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:10–11 Satan quoted Ps. 91:11–12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:12 Jesus quoted Deut. 6:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:13 until an opportune time. Satan's temptations did not end here for Christ, but persisted throughout his ministry (cf. Heb. 4:15), and culminated in Gethsemane (Luke 22:39–46).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:14 returned . . . to Galilee. The synoptic Gospels are largely silent about Jesus' ministry between his baptism and his return to Galilee, but John recorded a fairly extensive ministry in Jerusalem and Judea (John 2:12–4:1). Because of this, news of him quickly spread.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:15 synagogues. See note on Mark 1:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:16 he came to Nazareth. Luke acknowledged in v. 23 (see note there that Christ had already ministered in Capernaum. Yet Luke purposely situated this episode at the beginning of his account of Christ's public ministry. Here is an example of Luke's ordering things logically rather than chronologically (see Introduction: Background and Setting; see note on 1:3). as was his custom. Nazareth was his hometown, so he would have been well known to all who regularly attended this synagogue.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:18 he has anointed me. I.e., the Spirit himself was the anointing (vv. 1, 14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:19 year of the Lord's favor. The passage Christ read was Isa. 61:1–2. He stopped in the middle of v. 2. The rest of the verse prophesies judgment in the day of God's vengeance. Since that part of the verse pertains to the second advent, he did not read it.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:20 sat down. It was customary for a teacher to stand respectfully during the reading of the Scriptures (v. 16), and sit humbly to teach. See note on Matt. 5:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:21 this Scripture has been fulfilled. This was an unambiguous claim that he was the Messiah who fulfilled the prophecy. They correctly understood his meaning but could not accept such lofty claims from one whom they knew so well as the carpenter's son (v. 22; cf. Matt. 13:55).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:23 Capernaum. Obviously Christ had already gained a reputation for his miraculous works in Capernaum. Scripture gives few details about that first year of public ministry. Most of what we know about those months is found in John's Gospel, and it suggests Christ ministered mostly in Judea. However, John 2:12 mentions a brief visit to Capernaum, with no other details. John 4:46–54 describes how while Christ was at Cana, he healed a royal official's son who lay sick in Capernaum. We also know that Christ had already gathered some of his disciples, who were men from the north shore of the Sea of Galilee (John 1:35–42; see note on Matt. 4:18). He might have visited there more than once during that first year of ministry. In any case, he had been there long enough to do miracles, and his fame had spread throughout Galilee (cf. Luke 4:14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:25–27 Both the widow of Zarephath (1 Kings 17:8–24) and Naaman the Syrian (2 Kings 5) were Gentiles. Both lived during times of widespread unbelief in Israel. Jesus' point was that God bypassed all the widows and lepers in Israel, yet showed grace to two Gentiles. God's concern for Gentiles and outcasts is one of the thematic threads that runs through Luke's Gospel (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:28 filled with wrath. This is Luke's first mention of hostile opposition to Christ's ministry. What seems to have sparked the Nazarenes' fury was Christ's suggestion that divine grace might be withheld from them yet extended to Gentiles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:30 passing through their midst. The implication is that this was a miraculous escape—the first of several similar incidents in which he escaped a premature death at the hands of a mob (cf. John 7:30; 8:59; 10:39).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:32 authority. See note on Matt. 7:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:33 demon. See note on Matt. 8:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:34 Holy One of God. Demons always recognized Christ immediately (cf. v. 41; 8:28; Matt. 8:29; Mark 1:24; 3:11; 5:7)

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:38 Simon's mother-in-law. Peter was married (cf. 1 Cor. 9:5), though no details about his wife are given anywhere in Scripture. a high fever. Matthew 8:14–15 and Mark 1:30–31 also report this miracle. But only Luke, the physician, remarks that the fever was “high,” and makes note of the means Jesus used to heal her (Luke 4:39).

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:40 the sun was setting. Signifying the end of the Sabbath. As soon as they were free to travel, the multitudes came.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:41 You are the Son of God! See note on v. 34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 4:43 kingdom of God. This term, so prominent throughout the remainder of Luke's Gospel, is introduced here for the first time. See note on Matt. 3:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:1 lake of Gennesaret. I.e., the Sea of Galilee, sometimes also called the Sea of Tiberias (John 6:1; 21:1). It is actually a large freshwater lake, over 690 feet below sea level, and serves as the main source of water and commerce for the Galilee region.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:2 washing their nets. Having fished all night with nothing to show for their labor (cf. v. 5), they were drying and mending their nets for another night's work.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:3 he sat. See notes on 4:20 and Matt. 5:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:4 let down your nets. Normally, the fish that were netted in shallow water at night would migrate during the daylight hours to waters too deep to reach easily with nets, which is why Peter fished at night. Peter no doubt thought Jesus' directive made no sense, but he obeyed anyway, and was rewarded for his obedience (v. 6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:8 Depart from me. The remarkable catch of fish was clearly a miracle, astonishing to all the fishermen in Capernaum (v. 9). Peter immediately realized he was in the presence of the Holy One exercising his divine power, and he was stricken with shame over his own sin. Cf. Ex. 20:19; 33:20; Judg. 13:22; Job 42:5–6. See note on Isa. 6:5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:11 left everything and followed him. See note on Matt. 4:18. Luke gave a more detailed account of the second call of these disciples.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:12 full of leprosy. Luke's emphasis suggests this was an extremely serious case of leprosy. See note on Mark 1:40.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:13 immediately. One of the characteristics of Jesus' healings was immediate and total wholeness. Cf. 17:14; Matt. 8:13; Mark 5:29; John 5:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:14 tell no one. See note on Matt. 8:4. show yourself to the priest. I.e., in accordance with the law governing leprosy (Lev. 13:1–46).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:17 Pharisees. See note on Matt. 3:7. teachers of the law. I.e., scribes. See note on Matt. 2:4. These Jewish leaders came from as far away as Jerusalem. His reputation had spread, and already the scribes and Pharisees were watching him critically.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:19 through the tiles. This appears to have been a home with roof tiles which, when removed, gave access to lower the man between the roof beams. The extreme measures they took to lay this man before Jesus indicate that the crowds following him were very large. With the press of people around Jesus, it would have been impossible for men carrying a paralytic to get close enough to him, even if they waited until he left the house.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:20 your sins are forgiven. Christ ignored the paralysis and addressed the man's greater need first. See note on Matt. 9:2. In doing so he asserted a prerogative that was God's alone (Luke 5:21; cf. 7:49). His subsequent healing of the man's paralysis was proof that he had the authority to forgive sins as well.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:21 blasphemies. Their assessment would have been correct if he were not God incarnate. See note on Matt. 9:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:22 perceived their thoughts. I.e., by means of his omniscience. Cf. Matt. 9:4 and John 5:24–25.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:23 Which is easier . . . ? See note on Matt. 9:5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:24 that you may know. His ability to heal anyone and everyone at will—totally and immediately (v. 25)—was incontrovertible proof of his deity. As God, he had all authority to forgive sins. This was a decisive moment and should have ended once and for all the Pharisees' opposition. Instead, they began to try to discredit him by charging him with violating their Sabbath rules (see notes on 6:2–11).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:26 extraordinary things. The response is curiously non-committal—not void of wonder and amazement, but utterly void of true faith.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:28 leaving everything. Cf. v. 11 and 9:59–62. This implies an irreversible action.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:29 a large company of tax collectors. Levi's immediate response was to introduce his former comrades to Christ.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:30 eat and drink. Consorting with outcasts on any level—even merely speaking to them—was bad enough. Eating and drinking with them implied a level of friendship that was abhorrent to the Pharisees (cf. 7:34; 15:2; 19:7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:31 who are well. I.e., those who think they are whole don't seek healing. See note on Matt. 9:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:33 fast often. Jesus did fast on at least one occasion (Matt. 4:2)—but privately, in accordance with his own teaching (cf. Matt. 6:16–18). The law also prescribed a fast on the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16:29–31; 23:27)

—but all other fasts were supposed to be voluntary, for specific reasons such as penitence and earnest prayer. The fact that these Pharisees raised this question shows that they thought of fasting as a public exercise to display one’s own spirituality. Yet, the OT also rebuked hypocritical fasting (Isa. 58:3–6). See notes on Matt. 6:16–17 and 9:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 5:39 The old is good. Those who had acquired a taste for Old Covenant ceremonies and Pharisaic traditions were loath to give them up for the new wine of Jesus’ teaching. Luke alone adds this saying.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:2 not lawful. See note on Matt. 12:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:3 Have you not read. A rebuke, suggesting that they were culpable for their ignorance of so basic a truth (cf. Matt. 12:5; 19:4; 21:16, 42; 22:31). what David did. See notes on 1 Sam. 21:1–6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:5 lord of the Sabbath. See note on Matt. 12:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:7 to see whether he would heal on the Sabbath. The scribes and Pharisees spotted the man with the withered hand (v. 6) and, with Christ present, they immediately knew that this would be an occasion for the man’s healing. In stark contrast to all other so-called healers, Christ was not selective. He healed all who came to him (v. 19; cf. 4:40; Matt. 8:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:8 knew their thoughts. Cf. 5:22. See note on Matt. 9:4. Come and stand here. Jesus purposely did this miracle openly, before all, as if to demonstrate his contempt for the Pharisees’ man-made regulations.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:9 to do good. The Sabbath laws forbade labor for profit, frivolous diversions, and things extraneous to worship. Activity per se was not unlawful. Good works were especially appropriate on the Sabbath—particularly deeds of charity, mercy, and worship. Works necessary for the preservation of life were also permitted. To corrupt the Sabbath to forbid such works was a perversion of God’s design. See notes on Matt. 12:2–3. to do harm. Refusal to do good is tantamount to doing evil (James 4:17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:10 looking around at them. I.e., giving them a chance to respond to the question of v. 9. Evidently no one did.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:11 filled with fury. A curious response in the face of so glorious a miracle. Such irrational hatred was their response to having been publicly humiliated—something they hated worse than anything (cf. Matt. 23:6–7). They were unable to answer his reasoning (Luke 6:9–10). And furthermore, by healing the man only with a command, he had performed no actual “work” that they could charge him with. Desperately seeking a reason to accuse him (v. 7), they could find none. Their response was blind fury.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:12 all night he continued in prayer. Luke frequently shows Jesus praying—and particularly before major events in his ministry. Cf. 3:21; 5:16; 9:18, 28–29; 11:1; 22:32, 40–46.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:13 he called his disciples. See notes on Matt. 10:1–4. Christ had many disciples. At one point he sent 70 out in pairs to proclaim the gospel (Luke 10:1). But on this occasion, he chose 12 and specifically commissioned them as apostles, i.e., “sent ones,” with a special authority to deliver his message on his behalf (cf. Acts 1:21–22).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:17–49 The Sermon on the Plateau. The similarity to the Sermon on the Mount (see notes on Matt. 5:1–7:29) is remarkable. It is possible, of course, that Jesus simply preached the same sermon on more than one occasion. (It is evident that he often used the same material more than once—e.g., Luke 12:58–59; cf. Matt. 5:25–26.) It appears more likely, however, that these are variant accounts of the same event. Luke’s version is abbreviated somewhat, because he omitted sections from the sermon that are uniquely Jewish (particularly Christ’s exposition of the law). Aside from that, the two sermons follow exactly the same flow of thought, beginning with the Beatitudes and ending with the parable about building on the rock. Differences in wording between the two accounts are undoubtedly owing to the fact that the sermon was originally delivered in Aramaic. Luke and Matthew translate into Greek with slight variances. Of course, both translations are equally inspired and authoritative.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:17 a level place. Elsewhere it says “on the mountain” (Matt. 5:1). These harmonize easily if Luke is referring to either a plateau or a level place on the mountainside. Indeed, there is such a place at the site near Capernaum where tradition says this sermon was delivered. Tyre and Sidon. See notes on Matt. 11:21 and Mark 3:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:18 unclean spirits. Another name for demons, used often in the Gospels.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:19 power came out from him. Cf. 8:45–46; see note on Mark 5:30.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:20–25 Luke's account of the Beatitudes is abbreviated (cf. Matt. 5:3–12). He lists only four, and balances them with four parallel woes.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:20 you who are poor. Christ's concern for the poor and outcasts is one of Luke's favorite themes (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes). Luke used a personal pronoun ("you") where Matt. 5:3 employed a definite article ("the"); Luke was underscoring the tender, personal sense of Christ's words. A comparison of the two passages reveals that Christ was dealing with something more significant than mere material poverty and wealth, however. The poverty spoken of here refers primarily to a sense of one's own spiritual impoverishment.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:21 you who are hungry. No mere craving for food, but a hunger and thirst for righteousness (see note on Matt. 5:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:22 on account of the Son of Man. Persecution per se is not something to be sought. But when evil is spoken against a Christian falsely and for Christ's sake (Matt. 5:11), such persecution carries with it the blessing of God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:29 offer the other also. See notes on Matt. 5:39.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:31 See note on Matt. 7:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:35 sons of the Most High. I.e., God's children should bear the indelible stamp of his moral character. Since he is loving, gracious, and generous—even to those who are his enemies—we should be like him. See note on Matt. 5:44–45; cf. Eph. 5:1–2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:37 Judge not. This forbids hypocrisy and a condemning spirit rising from self-righteousness. It does not condemn true discernment. See note on Matt. 7:1. you will be forgiven. See note on Matt. 6:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:38 will be put into your lap. A long robe was used to carry the overflow of grain. Cf. Ps. 79:12; Isa. 65:6; Jer. 32:18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:41 speck . . . log. The humor of the imagery was no doubt intentional. Christ often employed hyperbole to paint comical images (cf. 18:25; Matt. 23:24).

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:46 you call me ‘Lord, Lord.’ It is not sufficient to give lip service to Christ’s lordship. Genuine faith produces obedience. A tree is known by its fruit (v. 44). See notes on Matt. 7:21–23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 6:47–49 See note on Matt. 7:24–28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:2 centurion . . . servant. See note on Matt. 8:5. The centurion’s tender concern for a lowly slave was contrary to the reputation Roman army officers had acquired in Israel. Yet, this is one of three centurions featured in the NT who gave evidence of genuine faith (see note on Matt. 27:54; cf. Acts 10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:3 elders of the Jews. Matthew 8:5–13 does not mention that the centurion appealed to Jesus through these intermediaries. It is a measure of the respect this man had in the community that Jewish elders would be willing to bring his cause to Jesus. He loved the Jewish nation and was somehow personally responsible for the building of the local synagogue (Luke 7:5). He obviously was being drawn to Christ by God himself (cf. John 6:44, 65). Like all men under conviction, he deeply sensed his own unworthiness (see note on Luke 5:8), and that is why he used intermediaries rather than speaking to Jesus personally (7:6–7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:6 not worthy. See note on Matt. 8:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:12 only son. See note on 9:38.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:14 touched the bier. A ceremonially defiling act, normally. Jesus graphically illustrated how impervious he was to such defilements. When he touched the coffin, its defilement did not taint him; rather, his power immediately dispelled the presence of all death and defilement (see notes on v. 39; 8:44). This was the first of three times Jesus raised people from the dead (cf. 8:49–56; John 11:20–44). Luke 7:22 implies that Christ also raised others who are not specifically mentioned.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:18 The disciples of John. John the Baptist evidently kept apprised of Christ’s ministry—even after his imprisonment—through disciples who acted as messengers for him. Cf. Acts 19:1–7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:19 Are you the one . . . ? John was not the sort of man who vacillated (v. 24). We are not to think that his faith was failing or that he had lost confidence in Christ. But with so many unexpected turns of events—John in prison, Christ encountering unbelief and hostility—John wanted reassurance from Christ himself. That is precisely what Jesus gave him (vv. 22–23). See notes on Matt. 11:3–11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:22 Go and tell John. Verses 22–23 are quoted from Isa. 35:5–6; 61:1. These were messianic promises. (Isa. 61:1 is from the same passage Jesus read in the Nazareth synagogue—see note on Luke 4:19). John’s disciples were to report that Jesus was doing precisely what Scripture foretold of the Messiah (7:21)—even though the scheme of prophetic fulfillment was not unfolding quite the way John the Baptist had envisioned it.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:23 the one who is not offended by me. This was not meant as a rebuke for John the Baptist, but as encouragement for him (cf. v. 28).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:29 declared God just. The common people and the outcast tax collectors who heard John the Baptist’s preaching acknowledged that what he required by way of repentance was from God and was righteous.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:30 lawyers. See note on 10:25. rejected the purpose of God. John’s call to repentance was an expression of the will of God. By refusing repentance, they rejected not just John the Baptist, but also God himself.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:32 like children. Christ used strong derision to rebuke the Pharisees. He suggested they were behaving childishly, determined not to be pleased, whether invited to “dance” (a reference to Christ’s joyous style of ministry, “eating and drinking” with sinners—v. 34), or urged to “weep” (a reference to John the Baptist’s call to repentance, and John’s more austere manner of ministry—v. 33).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:34 eating and drinking. I.e., living an ordinary life. This passage explains why John’s style of ministry differed so dramatically from Jesus’ approach, although their message was the same (see note on Matt. 4:17). The different methods took away all the Pharisees’ excuses. The very thing they had professed to want to see in Jesus—rigid abstinence and a spartan lifestyle—was what characterized the ministry of John the Baptist, yet they had already rejected him too. The real problem lay in the corruption of their own hearts, but they would not acknowledge that. friend of . . . sinners. See notes on Luke 5:30–33 and 15:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:35 wisdom is justified by all her children. I.e., true wisdom is vindicated by its consequences—what it produces. Cf. James 2:14–17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:36 One of the Pharisees. His name was Simon (v. 40). He does not appear to have been sympathetic to Jesus (cf. vv. 44–46). Undoubtedly his motive was either to entrap Jesus, or to find some reason to accuse him (cf. 6:7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:37 an alabaster flask. See note on Matt. 26:7. This is similar in many ways to the events described in Matt. 26:6–13; Mark 14:3–9; John 12:2–8, but it is clearly a different incident. That took place in Bethany, near Jerusalem, during the Passion Week. In the anointing at Bethany it was Mary, sister of Martha and Lazarus, who anointed Jesus. This incident takes place in Galilee and involves “a woman . . . who was a sinner”—i.e., a prostitute. There is no reason to identify this woman with Mary Magdalene, as some have done (see note on Luke 8:2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:38 standing behind him at his feet. He was reclining at a low table, as was the custom. It would have been shocking to all for a woman of such low reputation to come to a Pharisee’s house. Such dinners involving dignitaries were often open to spectators—but no one would have expected a prostitute to attend. Her coming took great courage, and reveals the desperation with which she sought forgiveness. Her “weeping” was an expression of deep repentance.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:39 what sort of woman. The Pharisees showed nothing but contempt for sinners. Simon was convinced that if Jesus knew her character, he would have sent her away, for her touching him was presumed to convey ceremonial uncleanness. See notes on v. 14 and 8:44.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:40 Jesus answering. Jesus knew Simon's thoughts (cf. 5:22; see note on Matt. 9:4)—demonstrating to Simon that he was indeed a prophet.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:41 denarii. Each denarius was worth a day's labor (see note on Matt. 22:19), so this was a large sum—about two years' full wages.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:44 no water for my feet. A glaring oversight. Washing a guest's feet was an essential formality (see note on John 13:4–5). Not to offer a guest water for the washing of feet was tantamount to an insult—like it would be in modern Western culture if one did not offer to take a guest's coat.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:47 for she loved much. This is not to suggest that she was forgiven because she loved much. The parable (vv. 41–43) pictured a forgiveness that was unconditional, and love was the result. Therefore to make the woman's love the reason for her forgiveness would be to distort the lesson Jesus is teaching here. "For" here has the sense of "wherefore." And her faith (v. 50), not the act of anointing Jesus' feet, was the instrument by which she laid hold of his forgiveness.

LUKE—NOTE ON 7:50 Your faith has saved you. Not all whom Jesus healed were saved, but those who exhibited true faith were (cf. 17:19; 18:42; Matt. 9:22; see note on Mark 5:34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:2 some women. Rabbis normally did not have women as disciples. Mary, called Magdalene. Her name probably derives from the Galilean town of Magdala. Some believe she is the woman described in 7:37–50, but it seems highly unlikely that Luke would introduce her here by name for the first time if she were the main figure in the account he just completed. Also, while it is clear that she had suffered at the hands of "demons," there is no reason whatsoever to think that she had ever been a prostitute.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:3 Joanna. This woman is also mentioned in 24:10, but nowhere else in Scripture. It is possible that she was a source for some of the details Luke recounts about Herod (cf. 23:8, 12). See note on 1:3. Susanna. Aside from this reference, she is nowhere mentioned in Scripture. She is probably someone Luke knew personally. out of their means. It was a Jewish custom for disciples to support rabbis in this way. Cf. 10:7; 1 Cor. 9:4–11; Gal. 6:6; 1 Tim. 5:17–18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:4 said in a parable. This marked a significant turning point in Jesus' ministry. See notes on Matt. 13:3, 34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:5 to sow his seed. Seed was sown by hand over plowed soil. In throwing seed toward the edges of a field, the sower would naturally throw some that landed or was blown onto the hard, beaten path on the edges of the field, where it could not penetrate the soil and grow (see notes on Matt. 13:4, 19). This could refer to the hard, obstinate Jewish leaders.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:6 rock. I.e., very shallow soil with a layer of rock lying just below the surface. See notes on Matt. 13:5, 20. This could refer to the fickle mob that followed Jesus only for his miracles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:7 thorns. See notes on Matt. 13:7, 22. This could refer to the materialists to whom earthly wealth was more important than spiritual riches.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:8 a hundredfold. Luke simplified the parable. Matthew 13:8 and Mark 4:8 described three levels of fruitfulness. “A hundredfold” simply speaks of inconceivable abundance (cf. Gen. 26:12). He who has ears. All three of the synoptics include this admonition with the parable of the sower (cf. Matt. 13:9; 4:9). Jesus often said this to stress particularly important statements cast in mysterious language (cf. Luke 14:35; Matt. 11:15; 13:43; Mark 4:23).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:10 secrets. See notes on Matt. 13:11, 13. seeing they may not see. This quotation from Isa. 6:9 describes God's act of judicially blinding unbelievers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:13 they believe for a while. I.e., with a nominal, non-saving faith. See note on Matt. 13:20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:15 hearing . . . hold . . . bear fruit. This constitutes evidence of true salvation. “Hearing” is a reference to understanding and believing (John 8:31, 47). “Hold” refers to ongoing obedience (Luke 11:28; see note on John 14:21–24). “Fruit” is good works (Matt. 7:16–20; James 2:14–26).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:16 under a bed. The fact that Christ taught mysteries in parables was not to suggest that his message was meant for elite disciples or that it should be kept secret. A lamp is not lit to be hidden, but must be put on a lampstand, where its light will reach furthest. Still, only those with eyes to see will see it.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:17 nothing is hidden that will not be made manifest. All truth will be manifest in the judgment. Cf. 12:2–3; 1 Cor. 4:5; 1 Tim. 5:24–25. God’s ultimate purpose is not to hide the truth, but to make it known.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:18 Take care then how you hear. One’s response to the light in this life is crucial, because at the throne of judgment there will be no opportunity to embrace truth that was formerly spurned (Rev. 20:11–15). Those who scorn the light of the gospel now will have all light removed from them in eternity. Cf. Luke 19:26 and Matt. 25:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:26–38 See notes on Matt. 8:28–34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:27 a man. Matthew reveals there were actually two men. Only one did the talking. See note on Matt. 8:28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:30 Legion. See notes on Matt. 8:30 and Mark 5:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:31 the abyss. See note on Matt. 8:31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:41 a ruler of the synagogue. See note on 13:14. Jesus had once cast a demon out of a man in Jairus’s synagogue (4:33–37).

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:42 only daughter. See note on 9:38. pressed. Lit., “choked,” i.e., they almost crushed him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:43 a discharge of blood. See note on Matt. 9:20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:44 came up behind him and touched. Because of her affliction, she would normally render anyone she touched unclean. The effect here was precisely the opposite. *See notes on 7:14, 39. fringe. *See note on Matt. 9:20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:46 power has gone out from me. See note on Mark 5:30.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:50 only believe. Though not all Jesus' healings required faith (cf. 22:51), at times he required it.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:51 Peter and John and James. See notes on 9:28; Matt. 10:2; 17:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 8:52 she is not dead. See notes on Matt. 9:23–24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:1–6 See notes on Matt. 10:1–42.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:3 Take nothing. Slight differences between Matthew, Mark, and Luke have troubled some. Matthew 10:9–10 and this text say the disciples were not to take staffs (see note there); but Mark 6:8 prohibited everything “except a staff.” Mark 6:9 also instructed them to “wear sandals”; but in Matt. 10:10 sandals were included in the things they were not to carry. Actually, however, what Matt. 10:10 and this verse prohibited was the packing of extra staffs and sandals. The disciples were not to be carrying baggage for the journey, but merely to go with the clothes on their backs.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:7 Herod the tetrarch. See note on Matt. 14:1. News of Christ reached to the highest levels of government. John had been raised from the dead. Of course, this was not true, but Herod himself nonetheless seemed gripped by guilty fear (cf. Mark 6:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:9 sought to see him. Only Luke gives this detail. See notes on 1:3 and 8:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:10 withdrew. They were trying to get some rest and a break from the crowds. Cf. Mark 6:31–32. Bethsaida. See note on Mark 8:22.

Bethsaida Julias is on the north shore and to the east of Galilee, where the Jordan River enters the lake.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:12–17 Aside from the resurrection, the feeding of the 5,000 is the only miracle of Jesus recorded in all four Gospels (cf. Matt. 14:15–21; Mark 6:35–44; John 6:4–13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:14 about five thousand men. Counting women and children, the actual size of the crowd may have been closer to 20,000.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:17 baskets. See notes on Mark 6:43 and 8:8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:18–21 See notes on Matt. 16:13–20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:19 John the Baptist . . . Elijah . . . one of the prophets of old. Cf. vv. 7–8. Such rumors were apparently quite common. See notes on 1:17; Matt. 11:14; Mark 9:13; Rev. 11:5–6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:20 The Christ of God. I.e., the Messiah promised in the OT (Dan. 9:25–26). See note on Matt. 16:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:21 tell this to no one. See notes on Matt. 8:4 and 12:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:22 The Son of Man must suffer. This pronouncement signified a great turning point in Jesus' ministry. See note on Matt. 16:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:23 cross. See note on Matt. 10:38. Self-denial was a common thread in Christ's teaching to his disciples (cf. Luke 14:26–27; Matt. 10:38; 16:24; Mark 8:34; John 12:24–26). The kind of self-denial he sought was not a reclusive asceticism (see note on Luke 7:34), but a willingness to obey his commandments, serve one another, and suffer—perhaps even die—for his sake.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:24 whoever loses his life for my sake. Aside from the command “follow me,” this saying is repeated more times in the Gospels than any other saying of Christ. Cf. 17:33; Matt. 10:39; 16:25; Mark 8:35; John 12:25. See note on Luke 14:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:26 whoever is ashamed of me. I.e., unbelievers. Cf. Matt. 10:33; Rom. 9:33; 10:11; 2 Tim. 2:12. See note on Luke 12:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:27 see the kingdom. See note on Matt. 16:28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:28 about eight days. A common expression signifying about a week (cf. John 20:26). See note on Matt. 17:1. after these sayings. This expression ties the promise of seeing the kingdom (Luke 9:27) to the events that follow (see note on Matt. 16:28). Peter and John and James. These three alone were permitted to witness the raising of Jairus's daughter (Luke 8:51), the transfiguration (cf. Matt. 17:1), and Christ's agony in the garden (Mark 14:33). the mountain. The traditional site, Mount Tabor, is unlikely. Jesus and the disciples had been in "the district of Caesarea Philippi" (Matt. 16:13), and Tabor is nowhere near there. Besides, Tabor had evidently been the site of pagan worship (Hos. 5:1), and in Jesus' day, an army garrison had their fortress at the top. The actual location of the transfiguration is nowhere identified, but Mount Hermon (7,000 feet higher than Tabor, and closer to Caesarea Philippi) is believed by many to be the place.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:29 as he was praying. See note on 3:21. As at his baptism, while he was praying, the Father's voice came from heaven (cf. Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes). dazzling. Lit., "emitting light." This word is used only here in the NT. It suggests a brilliant flashing light, similar to lightning.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:30 Moses and Elijah. See note on Matt. 17:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:31 his departure. Peter uses the same term to speak of his own death (2 Pet. 1:15). Only Luke mentions the subject matter of their conversation and the fact that Peter, James, and John had fallen asleep (v. 32). Cf. Luke 22:45.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:32 saw his glory. Cf. Ex. 33:18–23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:33 three tents. See note on Matt. 17:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:34 a cloud. Matthew 17:5 says "a bright cloud," i.e., enveloping the glory of God—similar to the pillar of cloud that led the Israelites in the OT (Ex. 14:19–20). The brightness of this cloud and the sleepiness of the disciples (Luke 9:32) suggest that this event may have occurred at night.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:35 This is my Son. See note on Matt. 3:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:38 my only child. Cf. 7:12 and 8:42. The son of the widow of Nain was her only child; and Jairus's daughter was his only child. Luke alone mentions these details.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:39 a spirit seizes him. This was no mere case of epilepsy; it was plainly demon possession. There's no reason to think Luke, a physician, was merely accommodating the understanding of his readers. Besides, Jesus healed the boy by rebuking the demon (v. 42; cf. Mark 9:25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:40 they could not. See notes on Matt. 17:19–21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:41 faithless and twisted generation. See note on Matt. 17:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:44 about to be delivered. See note on Matt. 17:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:46 was the greatest. See note on Matt. 20:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:48 Whoever receives this child. See note on Matt. 18:5. he who is least . . . is the one who is great. The way to preeminence in Christ's kingdom is by sacrifice and self-denial. See note on Luke 9:23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:49 because he does not follow with us. It is ironic that John, who came to be known as "the apostle of love," would be the one to raise this objection (see note on v. 54). John came to see that only legitimate tests of another person's ministry are the test of doctrine (1 John 4:1–3; 2 John 7–11) and the test of fruit (1 John 2:4–6, 29; 3:4–12; 4:5, 20; cf. Matt. 7:16). This man would have passed both tests, but John was inclined to reject him because of his group affiliation. That is the error of sectarianism.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:50 one who is not against you is for you. Contrast this with 11:23. There is no middle ground and no neutrality. Here Christ gave a test of outward conduct to use for measuring others. In 11:23, he gave a test of the inward life that is to be applied to oneself.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:51 set his face to go to Jerusalem. This begins a major section of Luke's Gospel. From here to 19:27, Christ's face was set toward Jerusalem (see note on 9:53), and Luke's narrative is a travelogue of that long journey to the cross. This was a dramatic turning point in Christ's ministry. After this, Galilee was no longer his base of operation. Although 17:11–37 describes a return visit to Galilee, Luke included everything between this point and that short Galilean sojourn as part of the journey to Jerusalem. We know from a comparison of the Gospels that, during this period of Christ's ministry, he made short visits to Jerusalem to celebrate feasts (see notes on 13:22; 17:11). Nonetheless, those brief visits were only interludes in this period of ministry that would culminate in a final journey to Jerusalem for the purpose of dying there. Thus Luke underscored this turning point in Christ's ministry more dramatically than any of the other Gospels, by showing Christ's determination to complete his mission of going to the cross. See note on 12:50.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:52 Samaritans. These people were descendants of Jewish mixed marriages from the days of captivity. They were rivals of the Jewish nation and had devised their own worship, a hybrid of Judaism and paganism, with a temple of their own on Mount Gerizim. They were considered unclean by the Jews and were so hated that most Jewish travelers from Galilee to Judah took the longer route east of the Jordan to avoid traveling through Samaria. See note on John 4:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:53 because his face was set toward Jerusalem. Traveling to Jerusalem for worship implied rejection of the rituals on Mount Gerizim and a contempt for Samaritan worship (see note on v. 52). This was a strong point of contention between Jews and Samaritans (cf. John 4:20–22).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:54 James and John. Jesus nicknamed these brothers “Boanerges”—Sons of Thunder (Mark 3:17)—a fitting title, apparently. This was John's second sin against charity in such a short time (see note on Luke 9:49). It is interesting to note that several years later, the apostle John journeyed through Samaria once again with Peter, this time preaching the gospel in Samaritan villages (Acts 8:25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:55 rebuked them. Christ's response to the Samaritans exemplifies the attitude the church ought to have with regard to all forms of religious persecution. The Samaritans' worship was pagan at heart, plainly wrong (see note on John 4:22). Compounding that was their intolerance. Yet, the Lord would not retaliate with force against them. Nor did he even revile them verbally. He had come to save, not to destroy, and so his response was grace rather than destructive fury. Nonetheless, Christ's words of disapproval here must not be taken as condemnation of Elijah's actions in 1 Kings 18:38–40 or 2 Kings 1:10–12. Elijah was commissioned to a special ministry as prophet in a theocracy, and it was his God-ordained task to confront an evil monarch (Ahab) who was attempting to usurp God's authority. Elijah was specifically authorized to measure out the reprisal of God's wrath. Elijah acted with an authority comparable to that of modern civil authorities (cf. Rom. 13:4)—not in a capacity that parallels that of ministers of the gospel.

LUKE—NOTE ON 9:62 looks back. A plowman looking back cuts a crooked furrow.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:1 seventy-two others. The commissioning of the 72 is recorded only in Luke. Moses also appointed 72 elders as his representatives (Num. 11:16, 24–26). The 12 disciples had been sent into Galilee (9:1–6); the 72 were sent into every city and place where he was about to go—i.e., into Judea, and possibly Perea (see note on Matt. 19:1). two by two. As the Twelve had been sent (Mark 6:7; cf. Eccles. 4:9, 11; Acts 13:2; 15:27, 39–40; 19:22; Rev. 11:3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:3 lambs in the midst of wolves. I.e., they would face hostility (cf. Ezek. 2:3–6; John 15:20) and spiritual danger (cf. Matt. 7:15; John 10:12).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:4 no moneybag, no knapsack, no sandals. I.e., travel without luggage. This does not mean they would be barefoot. See note on 9:3. greet no one. A greeting in that culture was an elaborate ceremony, involving many formalities, perhaps even a meal, and long delays (see note on 11:43). A person on an extremely urgent mission could be excused from such formalities without being thought rude. Everything in Jesus' instructions speaks of the shortness of time and the great urgency of the task.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:7 Do not go from house to house. I.e., for lodging (see note on Mark 6:10). They were to establish headquarters in a village and not waste time moving around or seeking more comfortable housing.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:16 These words elevate the office of a faithful minister of Christ, and magnify the guilt and the condemnation of those who reject the message.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:17 returned with joy. How long the mission lasted is not recorded. It may have been several weeks. The 72 probably did not return all at once, but this dialogue appears to have occurred after they had all reassembled.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:18 I saw Satan fall. In this context, it appears Jesus' meaning was, "Don't be so surprised that the demons are subject to you; I saw their commander cast out of heaven, so it is no wonder if his minions are cast out on earth. After all, I am the source of the authority that makes them subject to you” (v. 19). He may also have intended a subtle reminder and warning against pride—the reason for Satan’s fall (cf. 1 Tim. 3:6). For discussions of Satan’s fall, see notes on Isa. 14:12–14 and Ezek. 28:12–15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:19 serpents and scorpions. Cf. Ps. 91:13 and Ezek. 2:6. These appear to be figurative terms for demonic powers (cf. Rom. 16:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:20 do not rejoice in this. Rather than being so enthralled with extraordinary manifestations such as power over demons and the ability to work miracles, they should have realized that the greatest wonder of all is the reality of salvation—the whole point of the gospel message and the central issue to which all the miracles pointed. that your names are written in heaven. Cf. Phil. 4:3; Heb. 12:23; Rev. 21:27. By contrast, unbelievers are “written in the earth, for they have forsaken the Lord” (Jer. 17:13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:25 lawyer. I.e., a scribe who was supposedly an expert in the law of God. Aside from one usage of this word in Matt. 22:35 (see note there, Luke is the only one of the Gospel writers who uses it (Luke 11:45–46)). what shall I do to inherit eternal life? The same question is raised by several inquirers (18:18–23; Matt. 19:16–22; John 3:1–15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:27 he answered. The lawyer summed up the requirements of the law (Lev. 19:18; Deut. 6:5) exactly as Christ did on another occasion (see notes on Matt. 22:37–40).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:28 do this, and you will live. Cf. Lev. 18:5 and Ezek. 20:11. “Do and live” is the promise of the law. But since no sinner can obey perfectly, the impossible demands of the law are meant to drive us to seek divine mercy (Gal. 3:10–13, 22–25). This man should have responded with a confession of his own guilt, rather than self-justification (Luke 10:29).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:29 desiring to justify himself. This reveals the man’s self-righteous character. who is my neighbor? The prevailing opinion among scribes and Pharisees was that one’s neighbors were the righteous alone. According to them, the wicked—including rank sinners (such as tax collectors and prostitutes), Gentiles, and especially Samaritans—were to be hated because they were the enemies of God. They cited Ps. 139:21–22 to justify their position. As that passage suggests, hatred of evil is the natural corollary of loving righteousness. But the truly righteous person's "hatred" for sinners is not a malevolent enmity. It is a righteous abhorrence of all that is base and corrupt—not a spiteful, personal loathing of individuals. Godly hatred is marked by a broken-hearted grieving over the condition of the sinner. And as Jesus taught here and elsewhere (Luke 6:27–36; Matt. 5:44–48), it is also tempered by a genuine love. The Pharisees had elevated hostility toward the wicked to the status of a virtue, in effect nullifying the second Great Commandment. Jesus' answer to this lawyer demolished the pharisaical excuse for hating one's enemies.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:30 down from Jerusalem to Jericho. A rocky, winding, treacherous descent of about 3,300 feet in 17 miles. That stretch of road was notorious for being beset with thieves and danger.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:32 Levite. These were from the tribe of Levi, but not descendants of Aaron. They assisted the priests in the work of the temple.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:33 Samaritan. For a Samaritan to travel this road was unusual. The Samaritan himself was risking not only the thieves, but also the hostility of other travelers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:34 oil and wine. Probably carried by most travelers in small amounts as a kind of first-aid kit. The wine was antiseptic; the oil soothing and healing.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:35 two denarii. I.e., two days' wages (see notes on Matt. 20:2; 22:19). Probably more than enough to permit the man to stay until he recovered.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:36 neighbor to the man. Jesus reversed the lawyer's original question (v. 29). The lawyer assumed it was up to others to prove themselves neighbor to him (see note on v. 29). Jesus' reply makes it clear that each has a responsibility to be a neighbor—especially to those who are in need.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:38 a village. Bethany, 2 miles east of the temple in Jerusalem, on the east slope of the Mount of Olives. This was the home of Mary, Martha, and Lazarus (cf. John 11:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:40 distracted. Lit., "dragging all around." The expression implies that Martha was in a tumult. with much serving. Martha was evidently fussing about with details that were unnecessarily elaborate.

LUKE—NOTE ON 10:42 one thing . . . good portion. Jesus was not speaking of the number of dishes to be served. The one thing necessary was exemplified by Mary, i.e, an attitude of worship and meditation, listening with an open mind and heart to Jesus' words.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:1 Lord, teach us to pray. Rabbis often composed prayers for their disciples to recite. Having seen Jesus pray many times, they knew of his love for prayer, and they knew prayer was not just the reciting of words (see note on Matt. 6:7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:2 Father. Virtually the same prayer was given as a model on two separate occasions by Christ, first in the Sermon on the Mount (see notes on Matt. 6:9–13), and then here, in response to a direct question. That accounts for minor variations between the two versions. your name. God's name represents all his character and attributes. Cf. Ps. 8:1, 9; 9:10; 22:22; 52:9; 115:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:4 sins. See note on Matt. 6:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:7 my children are with me in bed. The one-room houses that were common in Israel had a common sleeping area shared by the whole family. If one person arose and lit a lamp to get bread, all would be awakened.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:8 impudence. It conveys the ideas of urgency, audacity, earnestness, boldness, and relentlessness—like the persistent asking of a desperate beggar.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:13 are evil. I.e., by nature. See note on Matt. 7:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:14 that was mute. I.e., the demon.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:15 Beelzebul. Originally this referred to Baal-zebul (“Baal, the prince”), chief god of the Philistine city of Ekron; the Israelites disdainfully referred to him as Baal-zebul (“Lord of Flies”). See note on 2 Kings 1:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:16 a sign from heaven. I.e., a miraculous work of cosmological proportions, like the rearranging of the constellations, or something far greater than the casting out of a demon, which they had just witnessed. See note on Matt. 12:38.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:17 he, knowing their thoughts. Jesus was God with full omniscience if he used it (see notes on 2:52; Mark 13:32; John 2:23–25). kingdom divided against itself. This may have been a subtle jab at the Jewish nation, a kingdom divided in the time of Jeroboam, and still marked by various kinds of bitter internal strife and factionalism, right up to the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:19 by whom do your sons cast them out? There were Jewish exorcists who claimed power to cast out demons (Acts 19:13–15). Jesus' point was that if such exorcisms could be done via satanic power, the Pharisaical exorcists must be suspect as well. And in fact, the evidence in Acts 19 suggests that the sons of Sceva were charlatans who employed fraud and trickery to fabricate phony exorcisms. your judges. I.e., witnesses against you. This seems to suggest that the fraudulent exorcisms (which had their approval) stood as a testimony against the Pharisees themselves, who disapproved of Christ's genuine exorcisms.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:20 by the finger of God. In Ex. 8:19 the phony magicians of Egypt were forced to confess that Moses' miracles were genuine works of God, not mere trickery such as they had performed. Here Jesus made a similar comparison between his exorcisms and the work of the Jewish exorcists. the kingdom of God has come. See note on Matt. 12:28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:21 a strong man. I.e., Satan.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:22 one stronger than he. I.e., Christ. divides his spoil. Probably a reference to Isa. 53:12. When a demon is defeated by the power of Christ, the soul vacated by the power of darkness is taken over by Christ. Cf. Luke 11:24–26.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:23 Whoever is not with me is against me. See note on 9:50.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:24 unclean spirit has gone out. Christ was characterizing the work of the phony exorcists (see note on v. 19). What appears to be a true exorcism is merely a temporary respite, after which the demon returns with seven others (v. 26).

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:26 worse than the first. See note on Matt. 12:45.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:28 rather. This has the sense of, “Yes, but rather . . . .” While not denying the blessedness of Mary, Christ did not countenance any tendency to elevate Mary as an object of veneration. Mary’s relationship to him as his physical mother did not confer on her any greater honor than the blessedness of those who hear and obey the word of God. See note on 1:47.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:29 It seeks for a sign. See note on v. 16. Jesus always declined to give signs on demand. Evidences were not the means by which he appealed to unbelievers. See note on 16:31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:30 Jonah became a sign. I.e., a sign of judgment to come. Jonah’s emergence from the fish’s belly pictured Christ’s resurrection. Jesus clearly regarded Jonah’s account as historically accurate. See notes on Matt. 12:39–40.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:33 See note on 8:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:34 the lamp of your body. This is a different metaphor from the one in v. 33. There the lamp speaks of the word of God; here the eye is the “lamp”—i.e., the source of light—for the body. See note on Matt. 6:22–23.
When your eye . . . is bad. The problem was their perception, not a lack of light. They did not need a sign; they needed hearts to believe the great display of divine power they had already seen.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:38 he did not first wash. The Pharisee was concerned with ceremony, not hygiene. The Greek word for “wash” refers to a ceremonial ablution. Nothing in the law commanded such washings, but the Pharisees practiced them, believing the ritual cleansed them of any accidental ceremonial defilement. See notes on Mark 7:2–3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:39 full of greed and wickedness. I.e., they were preoccupied with external ceremonies but overlooked the more important issue of internal morality. See note on Matt. 23:25.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:40 fools. I.e., persons who lack understanding. This was the truth and not the sort of coarse name-calling Christ forbade in Matt. 5:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:41 give as alms those things that are within. This contrasts inner virtues with external ceremonies. Alms are to be given not for show, but as an expression of a faithful heart (cf. Matt. 6:1–4)—and the true almsgiving is not the external act, but one’s attitude before God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:42 tithe. See note on Matt. 23:23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:43 greetings. These were ostentatious ceremonies that were more or less elaborate depending on the rank of the person being greeted.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:44 unmarked graves. Hidden sources of defilement. They had carefully concealed their own inward corruption, but it still was a source of defilement. See note on Matt. 23:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:45 lawyers. I.e., scribes. See note on 10:25.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:46 burdens. See note on Matt. 23:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:47 you build the tombs of the prophets. They thought they were honoring those prophets, but in reality they had more in common with those who killed the prophets (v. 48). See note on Matt. 23:30.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:49 the Wisdom of God said. There is no OT source for this quotation. Christ is prophetically announcing the coming judgment of God, not quoting a previously written source, but giving them a direct warning from God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:49–51 See notes on Matt. 23:34–36.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:52 the key of knowledge. They had locked up the truth of the Scriptures and thrown away the key by imposing their faulty interpretations and human traditions on God’s word. See note on Matt. 23:13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 11:54 to catch. The same word is used in Greek literature for the hunting of animals.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:1 many thousands. The Greek word is the same from which we get the word “myriads.” leaven. See notes on Matt. 16:12 and Mark 8:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:5 fear him. See note on Matt. 10:28.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:6 two pennies. Greek, assariōn, a Roman coin equal to one sixteenth of a denarius. One assarius would be less than an hour's wage. not one of them is forgotten before God. Divine providence governs even the most inconsequential details of God's creation. He cares for all that he created, regardless of how insignificant. See note on Matt. 10:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:8 before the angels of God. I.e., in the day of judgment. Cf. Matt. 25:31–34 and Jude 24. See note on Matt. 10:32.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:9 one who denies me before men. This describes a soul-damning denial of Christ—not the sort of temporary wavering Peter was guilty of (22:56–62)—but the sin of those who through fear, shame, neglect, delay, or love of the world reject all evidence and revelation and decline to confess Christ as Savior and King, until it is too late.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:10 blasphemes against the Holy Spirit. See notes on Matt. 12:31–32. This was not a sin of ignorance, but a deliberate, willful, settled hostility toward Christ—exemplified by the Pharisees in Matt. 12, who attributed to Satan the work of Christ (cf. Luke 11:15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:11 do not be anxious. I.e., do not worry. This does not suggest that ministers and teachers should forego preparation in their normal spiritual duties. To cite this passage and others like it (21:12–15; Matt. 10:19) to justify the neglect of study and meditation is to twist the meaning of Scripture. This verse is meant as a comfort for those under life-threatening persecution, not an excuse for laziness in ministry. The exact same expression is used in Luke 12:22, speaking of concern for one's material necessities. In neither context was Jesus condemning legitimate toil and preparation. He was promising the Holy Spirit's aid for times of persecution when there can be no preparation. See note on Mark 13:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:13 tell my brother to divide the inheritance. “The right of the firstborn” was a double portion of the inheritance (Deut. 21:17). Perhaps this man wanted an equal share. In any case, Jesus seemed unconcerned about the implied injustice, and refused the man's request to arbitrate the family dispute.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:14 who made me a judge . . . ? One of Christ's roles is that of Judge of all the earth (John 5:22), but he did not come to be an arbiter of petty earthly disputes. Settling an inheritance dispute was a matter for civil authorities.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:22 do not be anxious. See note on v. 11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:32 good pleasure. See note on 2:14. Christ stressed the Father’s tender care over his little flock as an antidote to anxiety (12:22–30).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:33 Sell your possessions, and give to the needy. Those who amassed earthly possessions, falsely thinking their security lay in material resources (vv. 16–20), needed to lay up treasure in heaven instead. See note on Matt. 6:20. Believers in the early church did sell their goods to meet the basic needs of poorer brethren (Acts 2:44–45; 4:32–37). But this commandment is not to be twisted into an absolute prohibition of all earthly possessions. In fact, Peter’s words to Ananias in Acts 5:4 make it clear that the selling of one’s possessions was optional. moneybags that do not grow old. These belts that do not wear out (so as to lose the money) are defined as “treasure in the heavens that does not fail.” The surest place to put one’s money is in such a belt—in heaven, where it is safe from thieves and decay as well.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:34 your heart be also. Where one puts his money reveals the priorities of his heart. Cf. 16:1–13 and Matt. 6:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:35 dressed. Speaks of preparedness. Long, flowing robes would be tucked into the belt to allow freedom to work. Cf. Ex. 12:11 and 1 Pet. 1:13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:36 when he comes. The servants were responsible to meet him with burning torches.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:37 awake. The key here is readiness at all times for Christ’s return. See note on Matt. 25:1–13. dress himself. I.e., he will take the servant’s role and wait on them. This remarkable statement pictures Christ, at his return, ministering as a servant to believers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:38 second watch. 9:00 P.M. to midnight. third. Midnight to 3:00 A.M.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:40 an hour you do not expect. Cf. 21:34; Matt. 24:36, 42–44; 1 Thess. 5:2–4; 2 Pet. 3:10; Rev. 3:3; 16:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:42 Christ did not directly answer Peter’s question (v. 41), but implied that these truths apply to unbelievers—most of all those to whom much has been committed (v. 48). manager. See note on 16:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:43 Blessed is that servant. The faithful manager pictures the genuine believer, who manages well the spiritual riches God has put in his care for the benefit of others, and the careful management of the master’s estate. Faithful expression of the duty of such spiritual stewardship will result in honor and reward (v. 44).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:45 to beat the . . . servants. This wicked manager’s unfaithfulness and cruel behavior illustrates the evil of an unbelieving heart.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:46 cut him in pieces. I.e., utterly destroy him. This speaks of the severity of final judgment of unbelievers.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:47–48 The degree of punishment is commensurate with the extent to which the unfaithful behavior was willful. Note that ignorance is nonetheless no excuse (v. 48). That there will be varying degrees of punishment in hell is clearly taught in Matt. 10:15; 11:22, 24; Mark 6:11; Heb. 10:29 (see notes there).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:49 fire. I.e., judgment. See note on Matt. 3:11. For the connection between fire and judgment, see Isa. 66:15; Joel 2:30; Amos 1:7, 10–14; 2:2, 5; Mal. 3:2, 5; 1 Cor. 3:13; 2 Thess. 1:7–8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:50 a baptism. A baptism of suffering. Christ was referring to his death. Christian baptism symbolizes identification with him in death, burial, and resurrection. distress. See note on Matt. 26:38. until it is accomplished! Though distressed about his coming passion, it was nonetheless the work he came to do, and he set his face steadfastly to accomplish it (see note on Luke 9:51; cf. John 12:23–27).

LUKE—NOTE ON 12:59 penny. See notes on 21:2 and Mark 12:42.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:1 Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. This incident is in keeping with what was known about the character of Pilate. Evidently, some worshipers from Galilee were condemned by Rome—perhaps because they were seditious zealots (see note on Matt. 10:4)—and were sought out and killed in the temple by Roman authorities while in the process of offering a sacrifice. Such a killing would have been the grossest sort of blasphemy. Incidents like this inflamed the Jews' hatred of Rome and finally led to rebellion, and the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:2 worse sinners. It was the belief of many that disaster and sudden death always signified divine displeasure over particular sins (cf. Job 4:7). Those who suffered in uncommon ways were therefore assumed to be guilty of some more severe immorality (cf. John 9:2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:3 unless you repent. Jesus did not deny the connection between catastrophe and human evil, for all such afflictions ultimately stem from the curse of humanity's fallenness (Gen. 3:17–19). Furthermore, specific calamities may indeed be the fruit of certain iniquities (Prov. 24:16). But Christ challenged the people's notion that they were morally superior to those who suffered in such catastrophes. He called all to repent, for all were in danger of sudden destruction. No one is guaranteed time to prepare for death, so now is the time for repentance for all (cf. 2 Cor. 6:2). you will all likewise perish. These words prophetically warned of the approaching judgment of Israel, which culminated in the catastrophic destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. Thousands in Jerusalem were killed by the Romans. See note on Matt. 23:36.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:4 Siloam. An area at the south end of the lower city of Jerusalem, where there was a well known pool (cf. John 9:7, 11). Evidently one of the towers guarding the aqueduct collapsed, perhaps while under construction, killing some people. Again, the question in the minds of people was regarding the connection between calamity and iniquity ("worse offenders"). Jesus responded by saying that such a calamity was not God's way to single out an especially evil group for death, but a means of warning to all sinners. Calamitous judgment was eventually coming to all if they did not repent.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:6 fig tree. Often used as a symbol for Israel (see notes on Matt. 21:19; Mark 11:14). In this case, however, the parable's lesson about fruitlessness applies equally to the whole nation, and to each individual soul.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:8 let it alone this year. This illustrates both the intercession of Christ and the extreme patience and graciousness of the Father.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:10 synagogues. See note on Mark 1:21. the Sabbath. The Pharisees' Sabbath traditions were the issue that most frequently provoked controversy in Jesus' ministry. Cf. Luke 6:5–11; 14:1–5; Matt. 12:2–10; Mark 2:23–3:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:11 had a disabling spirit. This suggests that her physical ailment, which left her unable to stand erect, was caused by an evil spirit. However, Christ did not have to confront and drive out a demon, but simply declared her loosed (v. 12), so her case appears somewhat different from other cases of demonic possession he often encountered (cf. 11:14; see note on 13:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:12 he called her over. The healing was unsolicited; he took the initiative (cf. 7:12–14). Furthermore, no special faith was required on her part or anyone else's. Jesus sometimes called for faith, but not always (cf. 8:48; Mark 5:34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:14 ruler. An eminent layman whose responsibilities included conducting meetings, caring for the building, and supervising the teaching in the synagogue (cf. 8:41; Matt. 9:18; Mark 5:38).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:15 untie his ox. Nothing in Scripture forbade either the watering of an ox or the healing of the sick (see notes on 6:9; Matt. 12:2–3, 10). Their Sabbath traditions actually placed a higher value on animals than on people in distress—and therefore corrupted the whole purpose of the Sabbath (Mark 2:27).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:16 a daughter of Abraham. She was a Jewess. whom Satan bound. Job's physical ailments and other disasters were also inflicted by Satan, with divine permission. This woman had apparently been permitted to suffer, not because of any evil she had done, but so that the glory of God might be manifest in her (cf. John 9:3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:22 through towns and villages. Luke's geographical points of reference are often vague; the readers he had in mind were probably largely unfamiliar with Palestinian geography anyway. Matt. 19:1; Mark 10:1; and John 10:40 all say that Christ moved his ministry to the region east of the Jordan, known as Perea. That move probably took place at about this point in Luke's narrative. Therefore the cities and villages he traveled through may have included places in both Judea and Perea. journeying toward Jerusalem. During his ministry in Judea to Perea, Christ actually went to Jerusalem on more than one occasion—at least once for the Feast of Tabernacles (John 7:11–8:59), another time for the Feast of Dedication (John 9:1–10:39), and another time when he raised Lazarus. Luke's focus was on Christ's constant progression toward his final trek to Jerusalem for the express purpose of dying there—and he therefore described all Christ's traveling as one long trek toward Jerusalem. See notes on Luke 9:51 and 17:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:23 will those who are saved be few? That question may have been prompted by a number of factors. The great multitudes that had once followed Christ were subsiding to a faithful few (cf. John 6:66). Great crowds still came to hear (Luke 14:25), but committed followers were increasingly scarce. Moreover, Christ's messages often seemed designed to discourage the half-hearted (see note on 14:33). And he himself had stated that the way is so narrow that few find it (Matt. 7:14). This contradicted the Jewish belief that all Jews, except for tax collectors and other notorious sinners, would be saved. Christ's reply once again underscored the difficulty of entering at the narrow gate. After the resurrection, only 120 disciples gathered in the upper room in Jerusalem (Acts 1:15), and only about 500 in Galilee (1 Cor. 15:6; see notes on Luke 24:34; Matt. 28:16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:24 Strive. This signifies a great struggle against conflict. Christ was not suggesting that anyone could merit heaven by striving for it. No matter how rigorously they labored, sinners could never save themselves. Salvation is solely by grace, not by works (Eph. 2:8–9). But entering the narrow gate is nonetheless difficult because of its cost in terms of human pride, because of the sinner's natural love for sin, and because of the world's and Satan's opposition to the truth. See notes on Luke 16:16 and Matt. 11:12. many . . . will seek to enter. I.e., at the judgment, when many will protest that they deserve entrance into heaven (cf. Matt. 7:21–23).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:25 I do not know . . . you. Cf. Matt. 7:23 and 25:12. Clearly, no relationship ever existed, though they had deluded themselves into thinking they knew the owner of the house (Luke 13:26). Despite their protests, he repeated his denial emphatically in v. 27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:28 weeping and gnashing of teeth. See note on Matt. 22:13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:29 people will come. By including people from the four corners of the earth, Jesus made it clear that even Gentiles would be invited to the heavenly banquet table. This was contrary to prevailing rabbinical thought, but perfectly consistent with the OT Scriptures (Ps. 107:3; Isa. 66:18–19; Mal. 1:11). See notes on Luke 2:31 and Mark 13:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:30 last . . . first . . . first . . . last. See note on Matt. 20:16. In this context the saying seems to contrast Jews (“the first”) and Gentiles (“the last”). See note on Luke 14:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:31 Get away from here. Herod Antipas ruled Galilee and Perea (see note on Matt. 2:22). Christ was probably either approaching Perea or ministering there already (see note on Luke 13:22). The Pharisees—no friends of Herod themselves—may have warned Christ because they hoped the threat of violence from Herod would either silence him—or drive him back to Judea, where the Sanhedrin would have jurisdiction over him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:32 that fox. Some have suggested that Jesus’ use of this expression is hard to reconcile with Ex. 22:28; Eccles. 10:20; and Acts 23:5. However, those verses apply to everyday discourse. Prophets, speaking as mouthpieces of God, and with divine authority, were often commissioned to rebuke leaders publicly (cf. Isa. 1:23; Ezek. 22:27; Hos. 7:3–7; Zeph. 3:3). Since Jesus spoke with perfect divine authority, he had every right to speak of Herod in such terms. Rabbinical writings often used “the fox” to signify someone who was both crafty and worthless. The Pharisees, who trembled at Herod’s power, must have been astonished at Christ’s boldness. today and tomorrow, and the third day. This expression signified only that Christ was on his own divine timetable; it was not meant to lay out a literal three-day schedule. Expressions like this were common in Semitic usage, and seldom were employed in a literal sense to specify precise intervals of time. See note on Matt. 12:40. finish my course. I.e., by death, in the finishing of his work. Cf. John 17:4–5; 19:30; Heb. 2:10. Herod was threatening to kill him, but no one could kill Christ before his time (John 10:17–18).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:33 it cannot be. Not all prophets who were martyred died in Jerusalem, of course. John the Baptist, for example, was beheaded by Herod, probably at Herod's palace in Machaerus. This saying was probably a familiar proverb, like the adage in 4:24; Matt. 13:57. The statement is full of irony, noting that most of the OT prophets were martyred at the hands of the Jewish people, not by foreign enemies. Luke's inclusion of this saying underscores his theme in this section of his Gospel—Jesus' relentless journey to Jerusalem for the purpose of dying (see note on Luke 9:51).

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:34 O Jerusalem, Jerusalem. There is great tenderness in these words, as seen in the imagery of a hen with chickens. This outpouring of divine compassion foreshadows his weeping over the city as he approached it for the final time (19:41). Clearly, these are deep and sincere emotions (see note on Matt. 9:36). would I have . . . you would not. Lit., "I willed, but you willed not." Christ's repeated expressions of grief over the plight of Jerusalem do not diminish the reality of his absolute sovereignty over all that happens. Nor should the truth of divine sovereignty be used to depreciate the sincerity of his compassion. See note on Matt. 23:37.

LUKE—NOTE ON 13:35 This account of Luke's clearly falls at an earlier point in Christ's ministry than the parallel account in Matt. 23:37–39, which took place in the temple during Christ's final days in Jerusalem. The wording of the two laments is nonetheless virtually identical. Here Christ delivers prophetically the same message he would later pronounce as a final judgment. Blessed. Quotation from Ps. 118:26.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:1 Sabbath. See note on 13:10. Luke shows Christ healing on the Sabbath more frequently than any of the other Gospels. Christ seems to have favored the Sabbath as a day for doing acts of mercy. watching him carefully. Evidently the Pharisee had less than honorable motives for inviting him to a meal.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:2 dropsy. A condition where fluid is retained in the tissues and cavities of the body—often caused by kidney or liver ailments, including cancer.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:3 lawyers. I.e., scribes. See note on 10:25. Is it lawful. He had repeatedly defended Sabbath healings, and his arguments consistently silenced the naysayers (cf. 6:9–10; 13:14–17). Here and in 6:9, he questioned the scribes about the legality of healing on the Sabbath beforehand—and still they could give no cogent reasons why they believed healing was a violation of Sabbath laws (cf. 14:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:5 an ox. Cf. 13:15 and Matt. 12:11–12. Common humanitarianism (not to mention economic necessity) taught them that it was right to show mercy to animals on the Sabbath. Should not the same principles be applied in showing mercy to suffering people?

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:7 places of honor. I.e., the best seats at the table. Cf. 11:43 and Matt. 23:6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:11 who exalts himself will be humbled. Jesus favored this sort of paradoxical play on words (cf. 9:24; 13:30; 17:33; 18:14; Matt. 23:11–12). This comment made the point of Luke 14:8–10 clear. The point of this whole lesson closely parallels Prov. 25:6–7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:12 do not invite your friends or your brothers. Clearly this is not to be taken as an absolute prohibition against inviting friends or relatives to a meal. Christ employed similar hyperbole in v. 26. Such language is common in Semitic discourse and is used for emphasis. His point here is that inviting one's friends and relatives cannot be classified as a spiritual act of true charity. It may also be a rebuke against those prone to reserve their hospitality for "rich neighbors" who they know will feel obligated to return the favor. Cf. Deut. 14:28–29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:14 repaid at the resurrection. I.e., with treasure in heaven (cf. 18:22).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:15 everyone who will eat bread in the kingdom. The man probably held the common view that only Jews would be invited to the heavenly feast (see note on Matt. 8:12). Perhaps this was an idle or pious saying, made without much serious reflection. Christ replied with a parable that pictures the inclusion of Gentiles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:16 a great banquet. This parable, similar in many ways to the one in Matt. 22:2–14, and making the same point, is nonetheless distinct. That parable was told on a different occasion, and some key details differ. invited many. Apparently no one declined the invitation. The man evidently had every reason to expect that all who were invited would attend.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:17 those who had been invited. Guests for a wedding, which could last a full week, were preinvited and given a general idea of the time. When all the many preparations were finally ready, the preinvited guests were notified that the event would commence. The preinvited guests refer to the people of Israel, who by the OT had been told to be ready for the arrival of the Messiah.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:18 excuses. All the excuses smack of insincerity. One does not purchase property without seeing it first. And since the purchase was already complete, there was no urgency. The land would still be there after the banquet. Likewise (v. 19), one does not purchase oxen without first testing them. The man who had recently married (v. 20) was excused from business travel, or serving in the military (Deut. 24:5), but there was no legitimate reason for newlyweds to avoid such a social engagement.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:21 the poor and crippled and blind and lame. I.e., people the Pharisees tended to regard as unclean or unworthy. The religious leaders condemned Jesus for his associations with prostitutes and tax collectors (cf. 5:29–30; 15:1; Matt. 9:10–11; 11:19; 21:31–32; Mark 2:15–16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:22 still there is room. God is more willing to save sinners than sinners are to be saved.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:23 to the highways and hedges. This evidently represents the Gentile regions. compel people to come in. I.e., not by force or violence, but by earnest persuasion.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:24 none of those men who were invited. I.e., those who refused. Having spurned the invitation, Israel was shut out of the banquet. The master's judgment against them was to seal their own decision. Most of them were killed by divine judgment at the hands of the Romans in A.D. 70. See notes on Matt. 22:7; 23:36; 24:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:25 great crowds. Christ's aim was not to gather appreciative crowds, but to make true disciples (see note on 13:23). He never adapted his message to majority preferences, but always plainly declared the high cost of discipleship. Here he made several bold demands that would discourage the half-hearted.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:26 hate. A similar statement in Matt. 10:37 is the key to understanding this difficult command. The “hatred” called for here is actually a lesser love. Jesus was calling his disciples to cultivate such a devotion to him that their attachment to everything else—including their own lives—would seem like hatred by comparison. See Luke 16:13; Gen. 29:30–31 for similar usages of the word “hate.”

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:27 bear his own cross. I.e., willingly. This parallels the idea of hating one’s own life in v. 26. See notes on 9:23; Matt. 10:38; cf. Mark 8:34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:28 count the cost. The multitudes were positive but uncommitted. Far from making it easy for them to respond positively, he set the cost of discipleship as high as possible (vv. 26–27, 33)—and encouraged them to do a careful inventory before declaring their willingness to follow. Cf. 9:57–62.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:33 renounce all. Only those willing to carefully assess the cost (vv. 28–32) and invest all they had in his kingdom were worthy to enter. This speaks of something far more than mere abandonment of one’s material possessions; it is an absolute, unconditional surrender. His disciples were permitted to retain no privileges and make no demands. They were to safeguard no cherished sins; treasure no earthly possessions; and cling to no secret self-indulgences. Their commitment to him must be without reservation. See notes on 9:23–26.

LUKE—NOTE ON 14:34 Salt is good. See notes on Matt. 5:13 and Mark 9:50. Christ employed this same imagery on at least three different occasions in his ministry.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:1 the tax collectors and sinners. See notes on 14:21; Matt. 5:46; 21:32. Despite the difficulties of Christ’s message (Luke 14:25–35), the outcasts of society were drawn to him, while the religious leaders grew more and more determined to kill him. Cf. 1 Cor. 1:26–29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:2 grumbled. Lit., “murmured greatly”—i.e., through the crowds. Their grumbling prompted three parables designed to illustrate the joy of God over the repentance of sinners. This man receives sinners. This phrase is the key to the trilogy of parables that follow. Christ was not ashamed to be known as a “friend of tax collectors and sinners” (7:34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:4 go after the one that is lost. The first two parables both picture God as taking the initiative in seeking sinners. The rabbis taught that God would receive sinners who sought his forgiveness earnestly enough, but here God is the One seeking the sinner (see note on 19:10). The shepherd in the Middle East was responsible for every sheep. He was obligated to his master to see that none was lost, killed, or injured (cf. Matt. 18:11–14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:5 lays it on his shoulders. The picture of a loving shepherd. Cf. John 10:11 and Ps. 24:1. rejoicing. Joy over the return of the lost is the most prominent feature in all three parables (Luke 15:7, 10, 32).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:7 joy in heaven. A reference to the joy of God himself. There was complaining on earth, among the Pharisees (v. 2); but there was great joy with God and among the angels (v. 10). persons who need no repentance. I.e., those who think themselves righteous (cf. 5:32; 16:15; 18:9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:8 silver coins. The drachma was a Greek coin roughly equivalent in value to the Roman denarius (see note on Matt. 22:19). light a lamp. The typical one-room house had no windows. sweep the house. This illustrates the thoroughness of the search.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:11–12 The parable of the prodigal son is the most familiar and beloved of all Christ's parables. It is one of the longest and most detailed parables. And unlike most parables, it has more than one lesson. The prodigal is an example of sound repentance. The elder brother illustrates the wickedness of the Pharisees' self-righteousness, prejudice, and indifference toward repenting sinners. And the father pictures God, eager to forgive, and longing for the return of the sinner. The main feature, however, as in the other two parables in this chapter, is the joy of God, the celebrations that fill heaven when a sinner repents.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:12 give me the share of property that is coming to me. A shocking request, tantamount to saying he wished his father were dead. He was not entitled to any inheritance while his father still lived. Yet the father graciously fulfilled the request, giving him his full share, which would have been one-third of the entire estate—because the right of the firstborn (Deut. 21:17) gave the elder brother a double portion. This act pictures all sinners (related to God the Father by creation) who waste their potential privileges and refuse any relationship with him, choosing instead a life of sinful self-indulgence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:13 gathered all he had. The prodigal son evidently took his share in liquid assets and left, abandoning his father, and heading into a life of iniquity. reckless living. Not merely wasteful extravagance, but also wanton immorality (v. 30). The Greek word for “reckless” means “dissolute,” or “wasteful,” and conveys the idea of an utterly debauched lifestyle.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:15 to feed pigs. This was the worst sort of degradation imaginable for Jesus’ Jewish audience; swine were the worst sort of unclean animals.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:16 was longing to be fed with the pods. I.e., Carob pods, used to feed swine but virtually undigestible for humans. In other words, the only reason he did not eat the same food as the swine is that he could not. no one gave him anything. He could not even eke out a living by begging. His situation could hardly have been more desperate. Thus he symbolizes the estranged sinner who is helpless in despair.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:17 came to himself. When his incessant sinning had left him utterly bankrupt and hungry, he was able to think more clearly. In that condition, he was a candidate for salvation (see notes on Matt. 5:3–6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:18 will say to him. He carefully contemplated what he would say and counted the cost of his repentance (v. 19). sinned against heaven. A euphemism, meaning he had sinned against God. He not only realized the futility of his situation, but he also understood the gravity of his transgressions against the father.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:20 his father saw him. Clearly, the father had been waiting and looking for his son’s return. ran. The father’s eagerness and joy at his son’s return is unmistakable. This is the magnificent attribute of God that sets him apart from all the false gods invented by men and demons. He is not indifferent or hostile, but a Savior by nature, longing to see sinners repent, and rejoicing when they do. See notes on 1 Tim. 2:4 and 4:10. From Gen. 3:8 to Rev. 22:17, from the fall to the consummation, God has been and will be seeking to save sinners, and rejoicing each time one repents and is converted.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:21 Notice that the son did not get to finish his rehearsed words of repentance before the father interrupted to grant forgiveness. This pictures God’s eagerness to forgive.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:22 the father said. Without a single word of rebuke for the past, the father pours out his love for the son, and expresses his joy that what was lost had been found. Each of the father's gifts said something unique about his acceptance of the son: robe. Reserved for the guest of honor. ring. A symbol of authority. shoes. These were not usually worn by slaves, and therefore signified his full restoration to sonship.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:23 the fattened calf. Reserved only for the most special of occasions—a sacrifice or a feast of great celebration. All this (vv. 22–23) symbolizes the lavishness of salvation's blessings (cf. Eph. 1:3; 2:4–7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:25 older son. He symbolizes the Pharisee, the hypocritical religious person, who stays close to the place of the Father (the temple) but has no sense of sin, no real love for the Father (so as to share in his joy), and no interest in repenting sinners.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:28 he was angry. This parallels the complaining done by the scribes and Pharisees (v. 2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:29 I never disobeyed your command. Unlikely, given the boy's obvious contempt for his father, shown by his refusal to participate in the father's great joy. This statement reveals the telltale problem with all religious hypocrites. They will not recognize their sin and repent (see notes on Matt. 9:12–13; 19:16–20). The elder son's comment reeks of the same spirit as the words of the Pharisee in Luke 18:11. you never gave me a young goat. All those years of service to the father appear to have been motivated too much by concern for what he could get for himself. This son's self-righteous behavior was more socially acceptable than the younger brother's debauchery, but it was equally dishonoring to the father—and called for repentance.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:30 this son of yours. An expression of deep contempt (cf. "this tax collector" in 18:11). He could not bring himself to refer to him as "my brother."

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:31 all that is mine is yours. The inheritance had already been distributed (v. 12). Everything the father had was literally in the elder son's possession. Yet the elder son was begrudging even the love the father showed to the prodigal son. The Pharisees and scribes had easy access to all the riches of God's truth. They spent their lives dealing with Scripture and public worship—but they never really possessed any of the treasures enjoyed by the repentant sinner.

LUKE—NOTE ON 15:32 It was fitting to celebrate and be glad. This summarizes the point of all three parables. your brother. See note on v. 30.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:1 manager. A manager was a trusted servant, usually someone born in the household, who was chief of the management and distribution of household provisions. He provided food for all the other servants, thus managing his master's resources for the well-being of others. He acted as an agent for his master, with full authority to transact business in the master's name. wasting his possessions. His prodigality is a thread that ties this parable to the preceding one. Like the younger son in the earlier parable, this manager was guilty of wasting the resources available to him. Unlike the prodigal, however, he had enough sense to make sure that his wastefulness did not leave him friendless and unprovided for in the future.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:2 you can no longer be manager. By announcing his intention to fire the man, the owner acted unwisely, and it cost him even more. Evidently he thought the man guilty of incompetence, rather than fraud. That would explain his reaction in v. 8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:3 not strong enough to dig. I.e., he did not consider himself fit for physical labor.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:4 decided what to do. Cleverly, he arranged to give large discounts to his master's debtors, which they would eagerly agree to pay. receive me into their houses. By reducing their debts to his master, he gained their indebtedness to him. They would thus be obligated to take him into their homes when he was put out of his master's home.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:6 quickly. This was a secret transaction, unauthorized by the master. The borrower was guilty of deliberate complicity in the man's fraud.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:8 The master commended the dishonest manager. Outwitted, he applauded the man's cunning. His admiration for the evil manager's criminal genius shows that he, too, was a wicked man. It is the natural tendency of fallen hearts to admire a villain's craftiness (Ps. 49:18). Notice that all the characters in this parable are unjust, unscrupulous, and corrupt. more shrewd. I.e., most unbelievers are wiser in the ways of the world than some believers ("sons of light," cf. John 12:36; Eph. 5:18) are toward the things of God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:9 unrighteous wealth. I.e., money. The unrighteous manager used his master's money to buy earthly friends; believers are to use their Master's money in a way that will accrue friends for eternity—by investing in the kingdom gospel that brings sinners to salvation, so that when they arrive in heaven (“eternal dwellings”), those sinners will be there to welcome them. Christ did not commend the man's dishonesty; he pointedly called him “dishonest” (v. 8). He only used him as an illustration to show that even the most wicked sons of this world are shrewd enough to provide for themselves against coming evil. Believers ought to be more shrewd, because they are concerned with eternal matters, not just earthly ones. Cf. 12:33 and Matt. 6:19–21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:10 One who is faithful. Probably a common proverb. Cf. 19:17 and Matt. 25:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:11 true riches. Faithful use of one's earthly wealth is repeatedly tied to the accumulation of treasure in heaven (cf. 12:33; 18:22; Matt. 6:19–21).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:12 that which is another's. This refers to God, and the believer's stewardship of his money, which believers only manage as stewards.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:13 You cannot serve God and money. Many of the Pharisees taught that devotion to money and devotion to God were perfectly compatible (v. 14). This went hand-in-hand with the commonly held notion that earthly riches signified divine blessing. Rich people were therefore regarded as God's favorites (see note on Matt. 19:24). While not condemning wealth per se, Christ denounced both love of wealth and devotion to money. On the love of money, see notes on 1 Tim. 6:9–10, 17–19.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:15 justify yourselves. The Pharisees' belief was that their own goodness was what justified them (cf. Rom. 10:3). This is the very definition of “self-righteousness.” But, as Jesus suggested, their righteousness was flawed, being an external veneer only. That might be enough to justify them before men, but not before God, because he knew their hearts. He repeatedly exposed their habit of seeking the approval of people (cf. Matt. 6:2, 5, 16; 23:28).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:16 until John. John the Baptist's ministry marked the turning point of redemptive history. Prior to that, the great truths of Christ and his kingdom were veiled in the types and shadows of the law, and promised in the writings of the prophets (cf. 1 Pet. 1:10–12). But John the Baptist introduced the King himself (see note on Matt. 11:11). The Pharisees, who thought of themselves as experts in the Law and the Prophets, missed the significance of the very One to whom the Law and the Prophets pointed. everyone forces his way into it. Cf. Jer. 29:13. While the Pharisees were busy opposing Christ, sinners were entering his kingdom in droves. The language of this expression speaks of violent force—probably signifying the zeal with which sinners were seeking with all of their heart to enter the kingdom (see notes on Luke 13:24; Isa. 55:6–7; Matt. 11:12).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:17 than for one dot of the Law to become void. Lest anyone think the statement in v. 16 meant he was declaring the Law and the Prophets annulled, he added this (see note on Matt. 5:18). The great moral principles of the law, the eternal truths contained in the law’s types and symbols, and the promises recorded by the prophets all remain in force and are not abrogated by the kingdom message.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:18 commits adultery. I.e., if the divorce had no legitimate grounds. Luke gave an abbreviated record of Jesus’ teaching on divorce, stressing only the main issue. Matthew’s fuller account makes it clear that he permitted divorce in cases where one’s spouse was guilty of adultery. See notes on Matt. 5:31–32; 19:3–9. This countered the rabbis’ doctrine, which permitted men to divorce their wives easily, and for almost any cause (Matt. 19:3).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:20 Lazarus. Clearly not the Lazarus in John 11 (who died at a later time). This beggar was the only character in any of Jesus’ parables ever given a name. Some therefore have speculated that this was no imaginary tale, but an actual incident that really took place. Either way, Christ employs it in the same fashion as all his parables, to teach a lesson, in this case for the benefit of the Pharisees. The rich man in the parable is sometimes called Dives, after the Latin word for “rich.”

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:21 The mention of crumbs, sores, and dogs all made this poor man appear odious in the eyes of the Pharisees. They were inclined to see all such things as proof of divine disfavor. They would have viewed such a person as not only unclean, but also despised by God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:22 Abraham’s side. This same expression (found only here in Scripture) was used in the Talmud as a figure for heaven. The idea was that Lazarus was given a place of high honor, reclining next to Abraham at the heavenly banquet.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:23 in Hades. The suggestion that a rich man would be excluded from heaven would have scandalized the Pharisees (see note on Matt. 19:24); especially galling was the idea that a beggar who ate scraps from his table was granted the place of honor next to Abraham. “Hades” was the Greek term for the abode of the dead. In the LXX, it was used to translate the Hebrew Sheol, which referred to the realm of the dead in general, without necessarily distinguishing between righteous or unrighteous souls. However, in NT usage, “Hades” always refers to the place of the wicked prior to final judgment in hell. The imagery Jesus used paralleled the common rabbinical idea that Sheol had two parts, one for the souls of the righteous and the other for the souls of the wicked—separated by an impassable gulf. But there is no reason to suppose, as some do, that “Abraham’s side” spoke of a temporary prison for the souls of OT saints, who were brought to heaven only after he had actually atoned for their sins. Scripture consistently teaches that the spirits of the righteous dead go immediately into the presence of God (cf. Luke 23:43; 2 Cor. 5:8; Phil. 1:23). And the presence of Moses and Elijah on the Mount of Transfiguration (Luke 9:30) belies the notion that they were confined in a compartment of Sheol until Christ finished his work.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:24 I am in anguish. Christ pictured Hades as a place where the unspeakable torment of hell had already begun. Among the miseries featured here are unquenchable flame (see note on Matt. 25:46); an accusing conscience fed by undying memories of lost opportunity (Luke 16:25); and permanent, irreversible separation from God and everything good (v. 26).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:27 send him to my father’s house. The rich man retained a condescending attitude toward Lazarus even in hell, repeatedly asking Abraham to “send” Lazarus to wait on him (cf. v. 24). The flames of hell do not atone for sin or purge hardened sinners from their depravity (cf. Rev. 22:11).

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:29 They have Moses and the Prophets. I.e., the OT Scriptures.

LUKE—NOTE ON 16:31 neither will they be convinced. This speaks powerfully of the singular sufficiency of Scripture to overcome unbelief. The gospel itself is the power of God unto salvation (Rom. 1:16). Since unbelief is at heart a moral, rather than an intellectual, problem, no amount of evidences will ever turn unbelief to faith. But the revealed word of God has inherent power to do so (cf. John 6:63; Heb. 4:12; James 1:18; 1 Pet. 1:23).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:1 Temptations to sin. Lit., “snares.” See note on Matt. 18:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:2 a millstone. Lit., “the millstone of a donkey.” See note on Matt. 18:6. little ones. Believers; God’s children who are under his care. See note on Matt. 18:5.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:3 rebuke him. It is the Christian’s duty to deal straightforwardly with a brother or sister in sin. See note on Matt. 18:15.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:4 seven times in the day. I.e., no matter how many times he sins and repents. See notes on Matt. 18:21–22. The number seven was not to set a limit on the number of times to forgive (cf. Ps. 119:164), but precisely the opposite. Christ meant that forgiveness should be granted unendingly (cf. Eph. 4:32; Col. 3:13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:5 Increase our faith! Lit., “Give us more faith.” They felt inadequate in the face of the high standard he set for them.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:6 faith like a grain of mustard seed. See note on Matt. 17:20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:7–10 The point of this parable was that a slave, or servant, should expect no special reward for doing what was his duty in the first place. The demanding standards Christ set (vv. 1–4) may have seemed too high to the disciples, but they represented only the minimal duties for a servant of Christ. Those who obey are not to think their obedience is meritorious.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:10 unworthy servants. I.e., not worthy of any special honor.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:11 to Jerusalem . . . passing along between Samaria and Galilee. Luke did not explain the reason for such a circuitous route, but a comparison of the Gospels yields several clues. It appears that time elapsed between v. 10 and v. 11. The raising of Lazarus at Bethany, near Jerusalem (John 11) appears to fit into this time frame. John 11:54 states that after raising Lazarus, to avoid the authorities who were seeking to kill him, Christ went to “a town called Ephraim”—north of Jerusalem near the border of Samaria. From there he apparently traveled north through Samaria and Galilee one more time, possibly to join friends and family from Galilee who would be making a pilgrimage to Jerusalem for the Passover. From there he would have traveled south by the conventional route, which would have brought him through Jericho (Luke 18:35) to Jerusalem. See notes on 9:51 and 13:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:12 lepers. These men were ceremonially defiled and forced to live outside the village (Lev. 13:46; Num. 5:2–3). They were legally required to stand at a distance, and thus their communication with Christ was by shouting. For a description of leprosy, see note on Lev. 13:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:13 have mercy on us. Cf. 16:24; 18:38–39; Matt. 9:27; 15:22; 17:15; 20:31; Mark 10:47–48. This was a common plea from those desiring healing.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:14 show yourselves to the priests. I.e., to be declared clean (Lev. 13:2–3; 14:2–32). as they went. The healing was sudden and immediately visible, but occurred after they obeyed his command.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:15 one of them . . . turned back. His response was reminiscent of the conduct of Naaman (2 Kings 5:15). The others, eager to be declared clean so that they could return to normal life in society, evidently continued on to the priest, forgetting to give thanks.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:16 he was a Samaritan. Jesus’ sending the lepers to show themselves to the priest suggests that they were Jewish. This Samaritan had been permitted to associate with them when all were ceremonially unclean, but in their healing, they did not share his deep gratitude.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:18 this foreigner. Evidently Jesus did not view Samaritans as anything more or less than other Gentiles. See note on John 4:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:19 made you well. Lit., “saved you” (cf. Matt. 9:22; see note on Mark 5:34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:20 when the kingdom of God would come. They may have asked the question mockingly, having already concluded that he was not the Messiah. not coming with signs to be observed. The Pharisees believed that the Messiah’s triumph would be immediate. They were looking for him to come, overthrow Rome, and set up the millennial kingdom. Christ's program was altogether different. He was inaugurating an era in which the kingdom would be manifest in the rule of God in men's hearts through faith in the Savior (v. 21; cf. Rom. 14:17). That kingdom was neither confined to a particular geographical location nor visible to human eyes. It would come quietly, invisibly, and without the normal pomp and splendor associated with the arrival of a king. Jesus did not suggest that the OT promises of an earthly kingdom were hereby nullified. Rather, that earthly, visible manifestation of the kingdom is yet to come (Rev. 20:1–6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:21 in the midst. I.e., within people's hearts. The pronoun could hardly refer to the Pharisees in general.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:22 The days are coming. This introduces a brief discourse that has some similarities to the Olivet Discourse of Matt. 24–25. you will desire to see one of the days of the Son of Man. I.e., desire to have him physically present. This suggests a longing for his return to set things right (cf. Rev. 6:9–11; 22:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:25 must suffer. I.e., because it was the sovereign plan of God for him to die as a substitute for sinners. Cf. 9:22; 18:31–33; 24:25–26; Matt. 16:21; Mark 8:31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:28 in the days of Lot. I.e., judgment came suddenly, destroying people in the midst of their everyday activities (Gen. 19:24–25). None of the things Jesus cited with regard to Noah's day or Lot's day were inherently sinful. But people were so absorbed in the things of this life that they were utterly unprepared when the time of judgment came.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:31 housetop. The typical house had a flat roof with an external stairway. The danger would be so great that those on the roofs should flee, without going into the house to retrieve anything.

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:32 Lot's wife was destroyed on the very threshold of deliverance. Her attachment to Sodom was so powerful that she delayed and looked back; she was overwhelmed by oncoming judgment, just before reaching the place of safety (Gen. 19:26).

LUKE—NOTE ON 17:33 See note on 14:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:1 always to pray. A common theme in Paul’s epistles (see Introduction: Interpretive Challenges). Cf. Rom. 1:9; 12:12; Eph. 6:18; 1 Thess. 5:17; 2 Thess. 1:11. not lose heart. I.e., in light of the afflictions and hardships of life, and the evidence of approaching judgment (described in the preceding discourse).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:2 neither feared God nor respected man. This man was thoroughly wicked. Christ described him as “unrighteous” (v. 6)—like the manager in 16:8. The judge is not given as a symbol of God, but rather in contrast to him. If such an unrighteous man would respond to persistent pleas, would not God, who is not only just, but also loving and merciful, do so more readily?

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:5 keeps bothering me. Lit., “hit under the eye.” What the judge would not do out of compassion for the widow or reverence for God, he would do out of sheer frustration with her incessant pleading.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:6 Hear what the unrighteous judge says. I.e., listen to the point of the story, namely, that God, who always does right and is filled with compassion for believers who suffer, will certainly respond to his beloved ones who cry for his help (v. 7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:8 speedily. He may delay long, but he does so for good reason (cf. 2 Pet. 3:8–9) and when he acts, his vengeance is swift. will he find faith. This suggests that when he returns, the true faith will be comparatively rare—as in the days of Noah (Luke 17:26), when only eight souls were saved. The period before his return will be marked by persecution, apostasy, and unbelief (Matt. 24:9–13, 24).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:9 This parable is rich with truth about the doctrine of justification by faith. It illustrates perfectly how a sinner who is utterly devoid of personal righteousness may be declared righteous before God instantaneously through an act of repentant faith. The parable is addressed to Pharisees who trusted their own righteousness (vv. 10–11). Such confidence in one’s inherent righteousness is a damning hope (cf. Rom. 10:3; Phil. 3:9), because human righteousness—even the righteousness of the most fastidious Pharisee—falls short of the divine standard (Matt. 5:48). Scripture consistently teaches that sinners are justified when God’s perfect righteousness is imputed to their account (cf. Gen. 15:6; Rom. 4:4–5; 2 Cor. 5:21; Phil. 3:4–9)—and it was only on that basis that this tax collector (or anyone else) could be saved.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:12 fast twice a week. I.e., more than is required by any biblical standard (see note on 5:33). By exalting his own works, the Pharisee revealed that his entire hope lay in his not being as bad as someone else. He lacked any sense of his own unworthiness and sin. Cf. 18:18–21 and Matt. 19:17–20. See note on Luke 17:7–10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:13 The tax collector’s humility is notable in everything about his posture and behavior. Here was a man who had been made to face the reality of his own sin, and his only response was abject humility and repentance. He contrasts with the Pharisee in virtually every detail. God, be merciful. He had no hope but the mercy of God. This is the point to which the law aims to bring every sinner (cf. Rom. 3:19–20; 7:13; Gal. 3:22–24).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:14 justified. I.e., reckoned righteous before God by means of an imputed righteousness (see note on v. 9).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:17 like a child. See note on Matt. 18:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:18–30 See notes on Matt. 19:16–30 and Mark 10:17–31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:20 Quoted from Ex. 20:12–16 and Deut. 5:16–20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:31 everything . . . written . . . by the prophets. E.g., Ps. 22:69; Isa. 53; Dan. 9:26; Zech. 13:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:32 delivered over to the Gentiles. Each prophecy of his death (cf. 9:22, 44; 12:50; 13:32–33; 17:25) was more explicit than the last. This is his first mention of being turned over to the Gentiles.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:33 he will rise. Christ had predicted his resurrection on the third day before (9:22). But the disciples missed the import of these words, and when he actually did rise, they were surprised by it (24:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:34 they did not grasp. The whole matter of Christ's death and resurrection was not grasped by the Twelve. The reason may have been that they were enamored with other ideas about the Messiah and how his earthly rule would operate (cf. Matt. 16:22; 17:10; Acts 1:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:35 Jericho. See note on Mark 10:46. blind man. There were actually two blind men. One probably spoke for both of them. See note on Matt. 20:30.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:38 Son of David. An affirmation that he recognized Jesus as Messiah and King. See note on Matt. 9:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 18:42 made you well. Lit., "saved you" (cf. Matt. 9:22; see note on Mark 5:34).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:2 chief tax collector. See note on Matt. 5:46. Zacchaeus probably oversaw a large tax district, and had other tax collectors working for him. Jericho alone was a prosperous trading center, so it is certain that Zacchaeus was a wealthy man. It is striking to note that only a chapter earlier, Luke recorded the account of the rich young ruler, and Jesus' statement about "how difficult it is for those who have wealth to enter the kingdom of God" (Luke 18:24). Here Jesus demonstrates that with God, nothing is impossible (cf. 18:27).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:3 the crowd. Christ was probably traveling with a large entourage of pilgrims to the Passover in Jerusalem. But "the crowd" apparently refers to people in Jericho who lined the street to see him pass through. They had undoubtedly heard about the recent raising of Lazarus in Bethany, less than 15 miles away (John 11). That, combined with his fame as a healer and teacher, stirred the entire city when word arrived that he was coming.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:4 sycamore tree. A sturdy tree with low, spreading branches. A small person could get out on a limb and hang over the road. This was an undignified position for someone of Zacchaeus's rank, but he was desperate to see Christ.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:5 I must stay at your house. This was worded as a mandate, not a request. It is the only place in all the Gospels where Jesus invited himself to be someone's guest (cf. Isa. 65:1).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:6 joyfully. Such a despicable sinner as a typical tax collector (see note on Matt. 5:46) might have been distressed at the prospect of a visit from the perfect, sinless Son of God. But Zacchaeus's heart was prepared.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:7 they all grumbled. Both the religious elite and the common people hated Zacchaeus. They did not understand, and in their blind pride refused to see, what possible righteous purpose Jesus had in visiting such a notorious sinner. But he had come to seek and to save the lost (v. 10). See note on 15:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:8 I restore it fourfold. Zacchaeus's willingness to make restitution was proof that his conversion was genuine. It was the fruit, not the condition, of his salvation. The law required a penalty of one-fifth as restitution for money acquired by fraud (Lev. 6:5; Num. 5:6–7), so Zacchaeus was doing more than was required. The law required fourfold restitution only when an animal was stolen and killed (Ex. 22:1). If the animal was found alive, only twofold restitution was required (Ex. 22:4). But Zacchaeus judged his own crime severely, acknowledging that he was as guilty as the lowest common robber. Since much of his wealth had probably been acquired fraudulently, this was a costly commitment. On top of that, he gave half his goods to the poor. But Zacchaeus had just found incomprehensible spiritual riches and did not mind the loss of material wealth (see notes on Luke 14:28; Matt. 13:44–46). He stands in stark contrast with the rich young ruler in Luke 18:18–24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:9 a son of Abraham. A Jew by race for whom Christ came as Savior (cf. Matt. 1:21; 10:6; 15:24; John 4:22).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:10 the Son of Man. See note on Matt. 8:20. to seek and to save the lost. The main theme of Luke's Gospel. Cf. Luke 5:31–32; 15:4–7, 32; see notes on 1 Tim. 2:4; 4:10.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:11 they supposed. The disciples still mistakenly assumed that Christ would establish his kingdom on earth at Jerusalem (see note on 17:20).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:12 a far country. Kings in Roman provinces like Galilee and Perea actually went to Rome to receive their kingdoms. The entire Herodian dynasty was dependent on Rome for ruling power, and Herod the Great himself had gone to Rome to be given his kingdom. This parable illustrates Christ, who would soon depart to receive his kingdom, and will one day return to rule. It is similar to the parable of the talents (Matt. 25:14–30) but there are significant differences (see note on Luke 19:13). That parable was told during the Olivet Discourse (see note on Matt. 24:1–25:46); this one was told on the road from Jericho up to Jerusalem (cf. Luke 19:28).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:13 minas. A Greek measure of money (see note on 15:8), equal to slightly more than three months' salary. The mina was one-sixtieth of a talent, meaning that the 10 servants in this parable had been given a considerably smaller sum to account for than any of the three servants in the parable of the talents (Matt. 25:14–30).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:14 sent a delegation after him. This was precisely what had happened to Archelaus (see note on Matt. 2:22), son of Herod the Great, when he went to Rome to be made tetrarch of Judea. A delegation of Jews traveled to Rome with a protest to Caesar Augustus (see note on Luke 2:1). He refused their complaint and made Archelaus king anyway. Archelaus subsequently built his palace in Jericho, not far from where Jesus told this parable. Archelaus's rule was so inept and despotic that Rome quickly replaced him with a succession of procurators, of whom Pontius Pilate was the fifth. With this parable Jesus warned that the Jews were about to do the same thing, in a spiritual sense, to their true Messiah.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:15 When he returned. This pictured Christ's return to earth. The full manifestation of his kingdom on earth awaits that time. See note on 17:20.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:17 faithful in a very little. See note on v. 13. Those with relatively small gifts and opportunities are just as responsible to use them faithfully as those who are given much more. over ten cities. The reward is incomparably greater than the 10 minas warranted. Note also that the rewards were apportioned according to the servants' diligence: the one who gained 10 minas was given 10 cities, the one who gained five minas, five cities (v. 19), and so on.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:21 I was afraid of you. A craven fear, not borne out of love or reverence, but tainted with contempt for the master (see note on Matt. 25:24). Had he had any true regard for the master, a righteous “fear” would have provoked diligence rather than sloth.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:22 You knew. See note on Matt. 25:26. This did not suggest that what the man “knew” about the master was true. However, even the knowledge he claimed to have was enough to condemn him. Thus will it be with the wicked in the day of judgment.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:26 See note on Matt. 25:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:27 these enemies of mine. These illustrated the Jews who actively opposed him. slaughter them before me. This spoke of harsh, violent judgment and may be a reference to the destruction of Jerusalem (see note on Matt. 24:2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:28 up to Jerusalem. The road from Jericho to Jerusalem was a steep ascent, rising some 3,300 feet in about 17 miles. This represented the last leg of the long journey that began in 9:51 (see note there).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:29 Bethphage. See note on Matt. 21:1. Bethany. Jesus often stayed there during his visits to Jerusalem. See note on Luke 10:38. mount . . . called Olivet. The main peak of a ridge running north to south, located east of the Kidron Valley adjacent to the temple. Olivet derived its name from the dense olive groves that once covered it. See note on Matt. 24:3.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:30–36 See notes on Matt. 21:1–8 and Mark 11:1–8.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:30 colt. The other Gospels say this was a donkey colt (cf. Zech. 9:9), and Matthew reveals that the mare was brought along as well (see note on Matt. 21:7). on which no one has ever yet sat. See note on Mark 11:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:36 spread their cloaks. See notes on Matt. 21:8 and Mark 11:8. Luke omits the cutting of palm branches mentioned by Matthew and Mark.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:37 the whole multitude of his disciples. Doubtless many in the crowd were not true disciples. mighty works. John 12:17–18 specifically mentions that news of the raising of Lazarus had provoked many in the crowd to come to see him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:38 Blessed is the King. Quoting Ps. 118:26, they hailed Jesus as Messiah. See note on Matt. 21:9. Peace in heaven. Only Luke reported this phrase. It is reminiscent of the angels' message in Luke 2:14.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:39 rebuke your disciples. The Pharisees were offended by people offering him such worshipful praise. They wanted him to stop them.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:40 the very stones would cry out. This was a strong claim of deity, and perhaps a reference to the words of Hab. 2:11. Scripture often speaks of inanimate nature praising God. Cf. Ps. 96:11; 98:7–9; 114:7; Isa. 55:12. Cf. also the words of John the Baptist in Matt. 3:9; note the fulfillment of Jesus' words in Matt. 27:51.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:41–42 Only Luke recorded the weeping of Jesus over the city of Jerusalem. Christ grieved over Jerusalem on at least two other occasions (13:34; Matt. 23:37). The timing of this lament may seem incongruous with the triumphal entry, but it reveals that Jesus knew the true superficiality of the peoples' hearts, and his mood was anything but giddy as he rode into the city. The same crowd would soon cry for his death (Luke 23:21).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:43 surround you and hem you in. Cf. 21:20. This is precisely the method used by Titus when he laid siege to Jerusalem in A.D. 70. He surrounded the city on April 9, cutting off all supplies, and trapping thousands of people who had been in Jerusalem for the Passover and Feast of Unleavened Bread (just completed). The Romans systematically built embankments around the city, gradually starving the city's inhabitants. The Romans held the city in this manner through the summer, defeating various sections of the city one by one. The final overthrow of the city occurred in early September.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:44 tear you down. This was literally fulfilled. The Romans utterly demolished the city, temple, residences, and people. Men, women, and children were brutally slaughtered by the tens of thousands. The few survivors were carried off to become victims of the Roman circus games and gladiatorial bouts. because you did not know the time of your visitation. I.e., Jerusalem's utter destruction was divine judgment for their failure to recognize and embrace their Messiah when he visited them (cf. 20:13–16; John 1:10–11).

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:45–46 This was the second time Jesus had driven the sellers out of the temple, and is a different incident from the one described in John 2:14–16. He quotes from Isa. 56:7. See note on Matt. 21:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 19:47 chief priests. See note on Matt. 2:4. The rulers of the temple. scribes. Mostly Pharisees, experts in the law and traditions. principal men of the people. Prominent Jewish laymen with influence in temple affairs. By bringing his ministry to the temple, Christ had walked into the very heart of the opposition against him. seeking to destroy him. I.e., kill him (cf. Luke 22:2; Matt. 26:3–4; John 5:16–18; 7:1, 19, 25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:1 One day. Probably Wednesday of Passion Week. The triumphal entry was on Monday, and the cleansing of the temple on Tuesday. The events in this chapter best fit Wednesday in the chronology of that week. This chapter features a series of carefully coordinated attacks on Christ by the Jewish leaders. chief priests . . . scribes . . . elders. See note on 19:47. Each of these groups played a unique role in the various attacks that follow. Each was also represented in the Sanhedrin, the Jewish council (see note on Matt. 26:59)—suggesting that the council had met to orchestrate the attack against Jesus. Their attacks came in the form of a series of questions designed to entrap him (see notes on Luke 20:2, 22, 33).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:2 This was the first in a series of questions designed to entrap Jesus. This question was raised by the chief priests, scribes, and elders—evidently representatives of the Sanhedrin. See notes on vv. 22–33.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:5 Why did you not believe him? John had clearly testified that Jesus was the Messiah. If John was a prophet whose words were true, they ought to believe his testimony about Christ. On the other hand, it would have been political folly for the Pharisees to attack the legitimacy of John the Baptist or deny his authority as a prophet of God. John was enormously popular with the people, and a martyr at the hands of the despised Herod. For the Pharisees to question John's authority was to attack a national hero, and they knew better than that. So they pleaded ignorance (v. 7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:8 Neither will I tell you. Jesus exposed the hypocrisy of the question, unmasking their evil motives. He wasted no truth on them (cf. Matt. 7:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:9–19 See notes on Matt. 21:33–45 and Mark 12:1–12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:9 the people. Luke alone noted the parable was addressed to all the people, not just the Jewish leaders.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:13 beloved son. Both Luke and Mark recorded this expression, which makes clear that the son in the parable is an illustration of Christ (see note on Matt. 21:37).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:16 destroy those tenants. This probably pictures the destruction of Jerusalem (see note on 19:43). give the vineyard to others. See note on 21:24. Surely not! Only Luke recorded this hostile reaction from the crowd. The response suggests that they grasped the meaning of the parable.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:17 Quoted from Ps. 118:22.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:18 Everyone who falls . . . it falls on anyone. See note on Matt. 21:44. The expression was a quotation from Isa. 8:13–15, which speaks of Jehovah. Like so many other OT passages applied to Christ, it proves that he was Jehovah incarnate.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:20 spies. The fact that the Jewish leaders resorted to such tactics is a measure of their desperation. They could not find any legitimate reason to accuse him (cf. 6:7; 11:53–54; Matt. 22:15; 26:59–60). the governor. I.e., Pilate, who was in town for the coming Passover and Feast of Unleavened Bread (see note on Matt. 27:2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:22 This was the second in a series of questions designed to entrap Jesus. This question was raised by the Pharisees and Herodians (Mark 12:13). See notes on Luke 20:2, 33.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:24 Whose likeness . . . ? The image on the denarius was one of the main reasons the Jews chafed at the poll tax. They claimed it was a violation of the commandment against graven images, and since Caesar pretended to a position tantamount to deity, the paying of the tax was unlawful worship—and in the minds of many, tantamount to gross idolatry. See notes on Matt. 22:19 and Mark 12:16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:25 render to Caesar. Christ thus recognized that all citizens have duties to the secular state, as well as duties to God—and he recognized a legitimate distinction between the two (see notes on Matt. 22:21; Mark 12:17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:27 Sadducees. See note on Matt. 3:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:28 the man must take the widow. According to the law of levirate marriage outlined in Deut. 25:5 (see note on Matt. 22:24).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:33 This was the third in a series of questions designed to entrap Jesus. This question was raised by the Sadducees (v. 27). See notes on vv. 2, 22. Matthew 22:34–40 and Mark 12:28–34 recorded one last question raised by a scribe. Luke omitted it from his record.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:36 equal to angels. I.e., like the angels in that they do not procreate (see note on Matt. 22:30).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:37 passage about the bush. Exodus 3:1–4:17. In that passage God identified himself to Moses as the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—using the present tense. He didn't say he was their God, but “I am” their God, indicating that their existence had not ended with their deaths.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:38 all live to him. Only Luke records this phrase. All people—whether departed from their earthly bodies or not—are still living, and will live forever. No one is annihilated in death (cf. John 5:28–30).

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:39 Teacher, you have spoken well. Christ had given a powerful argument for the resurrection of the dead, and on that subject, the Pharisees agreed with him against the Sadducees. This scribe, in spite of his hatred for Christ, was pleased with the answer he had given.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:40 no longer dared to ask him any question. The more questions Jesus answered, the clearer it became that his understanding and authority were vastly superior to that of the scribes and Pharisees. Cf. Matt. 22:46 and Mark 12:34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:41–44 After the Jewish leaders gave up questioning him, Christ turned the tables and posed a question to them. See notes on Matt. 22:42–45 and Mark 12:35–37.

LUKE—NOTE ON 20:45–47 See notes on Mark 12:38–40.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:1 offering box. Thirteen chests with funnel-shaped openings stood in the court of the women. Each was labeled for a specific use, and donations were given accordingly.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:2 poor widow. The Greek expression signifies extreme poverty. This woman was desperately poor, and more fit to be a recipient of charity than a donor. copper coins. The smallest copper coins in use in Palestine were worth about one-eighth of a cent, but they were all this woman had to live on (v. 4). See note on Mark 12:42.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:3 put in more. I.e., more in proportion to her means, and therefore more in the sight of God.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:4 out of their abundance. There was nothing sacrificial about their giving.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:5 noble stones. See notes on Matt. 24:1 and Mark 13:1. offerings. Wealthy people gave gifts of gold sculpture, golden plaques, and other treasures to the temple. Herod had donated a golden vine with clusters of golden grapes nearly 6 feet tall. The gifts were displayed on the walls and suspended in the portico. They constituted an unimaginable collection of wealth. All of these riches were looted by the Romans when the temple was destroyed (Luke 21:6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:8 Do not go after them. Cf. 17:23. See note on Matt. 24:26.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:11 signs from heaven. The cross-references in Matt. 24:7 and Mark 13:8 omit this phrase. Cf. Luke 21:25. See note on Mark 13:25.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:13 opportunity to bear witness. Trials are always opportunities (James 1:2–4), and persecution is often an opportunity to magnify one's testimony.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:14 not to meditate beforehand. See note on 12:11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:18 not a hair. Cf. v. 16. This was not a promise for the preservation of their physical lives, but a guarantee that they would suffer no eternal loss. God himself sovereignly preserves his own. See note on John 10:28–29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:19 By your endurance you will gain your lives. The true sense of this verse seems to be referring to the final aspect of salvation, namely, glorification. See note on Matt. 24:13.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:20 Jerusalem surrounded by armies. See note on 19:43. A comparison with Matt. 24:15–16 and Mark 13:14 suggests that this sign is closely associated with “the abomination of desolation” (see notes on Matt. 24:15; Dan. 9:27; 11:31). This sign of Jerusalem under siege was previewed in A.D. 70, but awaits its fulfillment in the future.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:21 the mountains. See notes on Matt. 24:16 and Mark 13:14.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:23 pregnant . . . nursing. See note on Mark 13:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:24 the times of the Gentiles. This expression is unique to Luke. It identifies the era from Israel’s captivity (c. 586 B.C. to Babylon; cf. 2 Kings 25) to her restoration in the kingdom (Rev. 20:1–6). It has been a time during which, in accord with God’s purpose, Gentiles have dominated or threatened Jerusalem. The era has also been marked by vast spiritual privileges for the Gentile nations (cf. Isa. 66:12; Mal. 1:11; Matt. 24:14; Mark 13:10).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:25 there will be signs. The celestial signs and wonders described here immediately precede the return of Christ. See note on Matt. 24:29.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:27 coming. Quoted from Dan. 7:13. See notes on Matt. 24:30–31 and Mark 13:26–27. Cf. 2 Thess. 1:7–10 and Rev. 19:11–16.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:28 raise your heads. The dreadful tribulations and signs that mark the last days are a cause of great expectation, joy, and triumph for the true believer. redemption. I.e., the final fullness of redemption, when the redeemed are reunited with Christ forever.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:29–33 See notes on Matt. 24:32–36 and Mark 13:29–32.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:34 that day. I.e., the day of his return. See note on Matt. 24:37. When Christ mentions his return, he invariably enjoins watchfulness (cf. Luke 12:37–40; Matt. 25:13; Mark 13:33–37).

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:36 at all times, praying. See note on 18:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 21:37 every day. I.e., during the days of that final week in Jerusalem.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:1 which is called the Passover. See note on Matt. 26:17. Passover was a single day, followed immediately by the Feast of the Unleavened Bread (Lev. 23:5–6). The whole season could be referred to by either name (cf. Luke 22:7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:2 chief priests and the scribes. See notes on 19:47 and 20:1. for they feared the people. They were therefore plotting secretly, hoping to eliminate him after the Passover season, when Jerusalem would not be filled with so many people (cf. 22:6; Matt. 26:4–5; Mark 14:1–2). But these events occurred according to God’s timetable, not theirs (see note on Matt. 26:2).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:3 Satan entered. I.e., Judas was possessed by Satan himself. Satan evidently gained direct control over Judas on two occasions—once just before Judas arranged his betrayal with the chief priests, and again during the Last Supper (John 13:27), immediately before the betrayal was actually carried out.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:4 officers. I.e., the temple guard, a security force consisting of Levites.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:5 agreed to give him money. Matthew 26:15 says 30 pieces of silver, the price of a slave (Ex. 21:32).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:7 day of Unleavened Bread. I.e., the first day of the feast season (see note on Matt. 26:17). The people from Galilee celebrated the Passover on Thursday evening (see Introduction to John: Interpretive Challenges) so the lambs were killed in the afternoon of that day. The disciples and Jesus ate the Passover meal that evening, after sundown (when Passover officially began). Judeans would follow this same sequence one day later on Friday.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:8 Peter and John. Identified only by Luke. Go and prepare. This was no small task. They had to take the paschal lamb to be sacrificed, and make preparations for a meal for 13 (v. 14). But preliminary arrangements for the meal had apparently been made personally by Jesus himself, and the owner of the upper room was taking care of many of those details for them. See note on Matt. 26:18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:10 a man carrying . . . water. Probably part of his work to prepare for the meal. Normally, carrying water was woman's work, so a man carrying a pitcher would stand out. It is unlikely that the water pitcher was any sort of prearranged signal. Christ's knowledge of what the man would be doing at the precise moment the disciples arrived appears to be a manifestation of his divine omniscience.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:12 a large upper room furnished. One of many such rooms for rent in Jerusalem that were maintained for the express purpose of providing pilgrims a place to celebrate feasts. The furnishings undoubtedly included everything necessary to prepare and serve a meal.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:14 the hour came. I.e., sundown, marking the official beginning of Passover (see note on v. 7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:15 earnestly desired. Cf. John 13:1. Jesus wanted to prepare them for what was coming.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:16 fulfilled. Christ's death on the following day fulfilled the symbolism of the Passover meal. Passover was both a memorial of the deliverance from Egypt, and a prophetic type of the sacrifice of Christ.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:17 he took a cup. Luke mentions two cups (cf. v. 20). The Passover seder involved the sharing of four cups of diluted red wine. This cup was the first of the four (the cup of thanksgiving) and was preliminary to the institution of the Lord's Supper (see note on 1 Cor. 10:16). It represented the end of his time of eating and drinking with the disciples, particularly partaking of the Passover (Luke 22:18; cf. 5:34–35; Matt. 9:15; 26:29; see note on Mark 14:25).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:19 This is my body. I.e., it represented his body (cf. the words of 8:11, “the seed is the word of God”—and also 22:20). Such metaphorical language was a typical Hebraism. No eucharistic miracle of transubstantiation was implied, nor could the disciples have missed the symbolic intent of his statement, for his actual body—yet unbroken—was before their very eyes. See note on Matt. 26:26. Do this. Thus he established the observance as an ordinance for worship (see notes on 1 Cor. 11:23–26). remembrance of me. Passover had looked forward to the sacrifice of Christ; he transformed the seder into an altogether different ceremony, which looks back in remembrance at his atoning death.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:20 likewise the cup. This is the third (the cup of blessing) of the four cups in the Passover celebration (see note on 1 Cor. 10:16). after they had eaten. Cf. 1 Cor. 11:25. These two verses are virtually identical in form. Paul stated that he had received his information about this event from the Lord himself (1 Cor. 11:23). This cup . . . is the new covenant. Clearly, the cup only represented the New Covenant (see note on v. 19).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:21 the hand . . . betrays me. Luke recounted the details of the Lord's Supper topically, not chronologically (see Introduction: Background and Setting; see note on 1:3). Matthew and Mark placed Jesus' warning about the betrayer prior to the giving of the bread and cup; Luke put it afterward. Only John 13:30 records Judas's departure, but John says nothing about the bread and cup. So it is difficult to tell by comparison whether Judas left before or after the institution of the Lord's Supper. But Luke's words here seem to imply that Judas actually shared in that event. If so, his presence at that time makes his hypocrisy and crime all the more despicable (cf. 1 Cor. 11:27–30).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:22 as it has been determined. Every detail of the crucifixion of Christ was under the sovereign control of God and in accord with his eternal purposes. Cf. Acts 2:23 and 4:26–28. but woe. The fact that Judas's betrayal was part of God's plan does not free him from the guilt of a crime he entered into willfully. God's sovereignty is never a legitimate excuse for human guilt.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:24 A dispute. Cf. 9:46 and Matt. 20:20–24. This dispute may have prompted the episode where Christ washed their feet (John 13:1–20). It reveals how large an issue this was in the minds of the disciples, and how far they were from grasping all that he had taught them.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:25 benefactors. Cf. Matt. 20:25. This title was used by the heathen rulers of both Egypt and Syria, though it was rarely a fitting description. The intent was to portray themselves as champions of their people, but it had a very condescending ring to it—especially when so many “benefactors” were actually ruthless tyrants.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:26 leader as one who serves. Cf. Matt. 20:26–28. This is an apparent reference to the washing of their feet (see note on Luke 22:24). Christ himself had modeled such servitude throughout his ministry (v. 27; cf. Phil. 2:5–8).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:28 my trials. Christ’s entire life and ministry were filled with temptations (4:1–13); hardships (9:58); sorrows (19:41); and agonies (22:44)—not to mention the sufferings of the cross that he knew were yet to come.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:29 I assign to you . . . a kingdom. Christ confirmed the disciples’ expectation of an earthly kingdom yet to come. It would not come in the timing or the manner that they hoped, but he affirmed the promise that such a kingdom would indeed be established, and that they would have a principal role in it (v. 30; cf. Matt. 19:28).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:30 judging the twelve tribes of Israel. The language identifies this as a millennial promise. See note on Rev. 20:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:31 Simon, Simon. The repetition of the name (cf. 10:41; Acts 9:4) implied an earnest and somber tone of warning. Christ himself had given Simon the name Peter (Luke 6:14), but here he reverted to his old name, perhaps to intensify his rebuke about Peter’s fleshly overconfidence. The context also suggests that Peter may have been one of the more vocal participants in the dispute of 22:24. Satan demanded. Though addressed specifically to Peter, this warning embraced the other disciples as well. sift you like wheat. The imagery is appropriate. It suggests that such trials, though unsettling and undesirable, have a necessary refining effect.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:32 I have prayed for you. The pronoun “you” is singular (see note on v. 31). Although it is clear that Jesus prayed for all of them (John 17:6–19), he personally assured Peter of his prayers and of Peter’s ultimate victory, even encouraging Peter to be an encourager to the others. that your faith may not fail. Peter himself failed miserably, but his faith was never overthrown (cf. John 21:18–19).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:34 you deny. This prediction of Peter’s denial evidently took place in the upper room (cf. John 13:38). Matthew 26:34 and Mark 14:30 record a second, nearly identical incident, which took place on the Mount of Olives on the way to Gethsemane (cf. Matt. 26:30; Mark 14:26).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:35 When I sent you. Cf. 9:3 and 10:4.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:36 But now. When Christ sent them out before, he had sovereignly arranged for their needs to be met. Henceforth they were to use normal means to provide for their own support and protection. The money bag, knapsack, and sword were figurative expressions for such means (the sword being emblematic of protection, not aggression). But they mistakenly took his words literally (v. 38).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:37 Quoted from Isa. 53:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:38 two swords. These were short, dagger-like instruments—more like knives than swords. There was nothing unusual about the carrying of such weapons in that culture. They had many practical uses besides violence against other people. It is enough. I.e., enough of such talk (cf. v. 51).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:39 Mount of Olives. See notes on 19:29 and Matt. 24:3. the disciples followed him. Matthew 26:36–37 and Mark 14:32–33 give more details. He left most of the disciples at the entrance to Gethsemane, and took Peter, James, and John inside with him to pray.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:40 the place. Gethsemane. See notes on Matt. 26:36 and Mark 14:32. Pray. He had already warned them—and Peter in particular—that an egregious trial was imminent (Luke 22:31). Sadly, that warning, as well as his imploring them to pray, went unheeded.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:41 about a stone's throw. I.e., within earshot. His prayer was partly for their benefit (cf. John 11:41–42).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:42 this cup. I.e., the cup of divine wrath (cf. Isa. 51:17, 22; Jer. 25:15–17, 27–29; Lam. 4:21–22; Ezek. 23:31–34; Hab. 2:16). not my will. Cf. Matt. 26:39; John 4:34; 5:30; 6:38; 8:29. This does not imply that there was any conflict between the will of the Father and the will of the Son. It was a perfectly normal expression of his humanity that he shrank from the cup of divine wrath (see note on Matt. 26:39). But even though the cup was abhorrent to him, he willingly took it, because it was the will of the Father. In this prayer he was consciously, deliberately, and voluntarily subjugating all his human desires to the Father's perfect will. Thus there was neither conflict between Father and Son, nor between the deity of Christ and his human desires.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:43–44 The facts in these verses are related only by Luke, the physician.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:44 like great drops of blood. This suggests a dangerous condition known as hematidrosis, the effusion of blood in one's perspiration. It can be caused by extreme anguish or physical strain. Subcutaneous capillaries dilate and burst, mingling blood with sweat. Christ himself stated that his distress had brought him to the threshold of death (see notes on Matt. 26:38; Mark 14:34; cf. Heb. 12:3–4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:45 sleeping for sorrow. Cf. 9:32. The emotional strain was wearing on the disciples as well as Christ. Their response, however, was to capitulate to fleshly cravings. Thus they gratified their immediate desire for sleep, rather than staying awake to pray for strength, as Christ had commanded them (22:40). All the reasons for their subsequent failure are found in their behavior in the garden.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:46 Rise and pray. A tender appeal to the disciples, who in their weakness were disobeying him at a critical moment. He may have been summoning them to a standing posture, to help overcome their drowsiness. Matthew 26:43 and Mark 14:40 reveal that he again found them sleeping at least one more time.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:47 a crowd. These were heavily armed representatives of the Sanhedrin (Matt. 26:47; Mark 14:43), accompanied by a Roman cohort with lanterns, torches, and weapons (John 18:3). kiss. A typical greeting, but this was the prearranged signal by which Judas would identify Christ for the soldiers (cf. Matt. 26:48–49; see note on Mark 14:44).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:50 cut off his right ear. All four Gospels record this incident. Only John reveals that the swordsman was Peter and the victim was named Malchus (John 18:10). And only Luke, the physician, records the subsequent healing (Luke 22:51).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:51 touched his ear and healed him. This is the only instance in all of Scripture where Christ healed a flesh wound. The miracle is also unique in that Christ healed an enemy, unasked, and without any evidence of faith in the recipient. It is also remarkable that such a dramatic miracle had no effect whatsoever on the hearts of those men. Neither had the explosive power of Jesus' words, which knocked them to the ground (John 18:6). They carried on with the arrest as if nothing peculiar had happened (Luke 22:54).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:53 this is your hour . . . darkness. I.e., nighttime, the hour of darkness. They had not the courage to confront Jesus in the presence of the crowds at the temple, where he had openly taught each day. Their skulking tactics betrayed the truth about their hearts. Nighttime was a fitting hour for the servants of the power of darkness (Satan) to be afoot (cf. John 3:20–21; Eph. 5:8, 12–15; 1 Thess. 5:5–7).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:54 high priest's house. I.e., Caiaphas's house. See note on Matt. 26:57. Peter was following at a distance. All four Gospels record this fact. John indicates that another disciple—presumably himself—also followed (John 18:15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:56 a servant girl. All four Gospels mention her. She appears to have been the doorkeeper of Annas's house (cf. Matt. 26:69; Mark 14:66; John 18:17).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:57 But he denied it. John 18:13–18 says this first denial took place while Jesus was being examined by Annas, father-in-law to Caiaphas (see note on Luke 3:2). Both accounts mention a fire in the courtyard (22:55; John 18:18) so it may be that the houses of Annas and Caiaphas shared a common courtyard. Only John mentions the examination by Annas, so the other Gospels describe Peter's threefold denial as an incident that took place in the porch and courtyard of Caiaphas's house.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:58 someone else saw him. "Someone else" is a masculine pronoun in the Greek, indicating a man. Mark 14:69 says this second challenge to Peter came from the same servant girl who first recognized him (Luke 22:56). The supposed discrepancy is easily reconciled when it is remembered that Peter was among several bystanders, and many of them questioned him at once (Matt. 26:73). He responded with his second denial.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:59 he too is a Galilean. They knew because of his accent (Matt. 26:73).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:61 the Lord turned and looked at Peter. Luke alone records that Jesus made eye contact with Peter. The verb used suggests an intent, fixed look. The fact that he could see Peter suggests that the men holding Jesus had already brought him into the courtyard to beat him (v. 63). Peter remembered. See note on Matt. 26:75.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:63 mocking him as they beat him. Luke includes no details about Caiaphas's first interrogation of Jesus, recorded in Matt. 26:59–68 and Mark 14:55–65. The beating described here evidently took place after that first examination, before the Sanhedrin could assemble for its official hearing (Luke 22:66).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:66 When day came. Criminal trials were not deemed legal if held at night, so the Sanhedrin dutifully waited until daybreak to render the verdict they had already agreed on anyway (cf. Matt. 26:66; Mark 14:64).

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:67 If you are the Christ. The Sanhedrin subjected him to the same set of questions he had been asked in the nighttime trial, and the answers he gave were substantially the same (cf. vv. 67–71; Matt. 26:63–66; Mark 14:61–64).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:1 the whole company of them. I.e., the entire Sanhedrin, some 70 men. At least one member of the council, Joseph of Arimathea, dissented from the decision to condemn Christ (vv. 50–52). brought him before Pilate. See note on Matt. 27:2.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:2 forbidding us to give tribute to Caesar. This was a deliberate lie. Members of the Sanhedrin had publicly questioned Jesus on this very issue (hoping to discredit him before the Jews), and he expressly upheld Caesar's right to demand taxes (20:20–25). saying that he . . . is Christ, a king. This was innuendo, implying that he was seditious against Rome—another untrue charge.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:3 You have said so. John 18:33–37 gives a fuller account of Jesus' reply to this question.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:4 no guilt. Despite the Jewish leaders' desperate attempts to accuse him, Pilate was satisfied that Jesus was no insurrectionist, but the ferocity of the people made him afraid to exonerate Jesus. He was relieved to hear that Jesus was a Galilean, because that gave him an excuse to send him to Herod (vv. 5–6).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:7 Herod's jurisdiction. See note on 13:31. sent him over to Herod. Herod had come to Jerusalem for the feasts, and Pilate seized the opportunity to free himself from a political dilemma by sending Jesus to his rival. See note on 23:12.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:8 he had long desired to see him. Herod's interest in Christ was fueled by the fact that Christ reminded him of his late nemesis, John the Baptist (cf. 9:7–9). At one time Herod had apparently threatened to kill Jesus (13:31–33), but with Christ in Judea rather than Galilee and Perea (where Herod ruled), the king's concern seems to have been nothing more than an eager curiosity.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:9 made no answer. It is significant that in all Jesus' various interrogations, Herod was the only one to whom he refused to speak. Cf. Matt. 7:6. Herod had summarily rejected the truth when he heard it from John the Baptist, so it would have been pointless for Jesus to answer him. Cf. Isa. 53:7; Ps. 38:13–14; 39:1–2, 9; 1 Pet. 2:23.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:11 his soldiers. I.e., his security force. treated him with contempt. Herod made Christ and the charges against him as an occasion for a joke for Pilate's amusement (v. 12). splendid clothing. Probably not the same robe mentioned in Matt. 27:28, which was a military cloak. This was an elegant king's garment, probably one that Herod was prepared to discard.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:12 friends. Based on their common unjust and cowardly treatment of Jesus.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:13 called together. Pilate intended to declare Christ not guilty (v. 14), and it was his intention to make the verdict as public as possible. He undoubtedly expected that it would put an end to the whole matter.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:14–15 Pilate and Herod concurred in the verdict (cf. 1 Tim. 6:13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:16 I will therefore punish . . . him. Cf. v. 22. Though Pilate found Jesus innocent of any wrongdoing, he was prepared to scourge him merely to pacify the Jews. But even that punishment, severe as it was (see note on Matt. 27:26), could not quench their thirst for his blood.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:17 See esv footnote, "he was obliged." I.e., because it was a long-standing Jewish custom (John 18:39), traditionally honored by the Romans.

This verse is not found in the best manuscripts.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:18 Barabbas. See note on Mark 15:7.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:21 crucify him! Crucifixion was the most painful and disgraceful form of execution the Romans employed. See note on Matt. 27:31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:22 A third time. Pilate repeatedly gave powerful testimony to the innocence of Christ (vv. 4, 14–15). In doing so, he not only condemned the Jews, who demanded Jesus' death, but also himself, because he handed the Savior over without cause.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:24 Pilate decided. Pilate's response reveals his lack of principle. His desire to please the Jews for political reasons (to save himself from Rome's displeasure) ultimately overcame his desire to set Jesus free (cf. v. 20). John 18:39–19:16 gives a much more detailed account of Pilate's decision to hand Jesus over.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:26 Simon of Cyrene. All three synoptic Gospels mention Simon. See notes on Matt. 27:32 and Mark 15:21.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:28 Daughters of Jerusalem. There is nothing to suggest that these women were Christ's disciples. They may have been professional mourners, obligatory at Jewish funerals (see note on Matt. 9:23), and probably present at high-profile executions as well. weep for yourselves. Christ's reply to them was a prophetic warning. Only Luke recorded this incident.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:29 Blessed are the barren. I.e., a time is coming when those who have no children to mourn will be considered blessed.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:30 to say. Quoted from Hos. 10:8. Cf. Rev. 6:16–17 and 9:6.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:31 wood is green . . . dry. This was probably a common proverb. Jesus' meaning seems to be this: If the Romans would perpetrate such atrocities on Jesus (the "green" wood—young, strong, and a source of life), what would they do to the Jewish nation (the "dry" wood—old, barren, and ripe for judgment)?

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:32 Two others . . . criminals. See notes on Matt. 27:38 and Mark 15:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:33 The Skull. The Latin equivalent of Golgotha. See notes on Matt. 27:33 and Mark 15:22. crucified. See note on Matt. 27:31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:34 forgive them. I.e., his tormentors, both Jews and Romans (cf. Acts 7:60). Some of the fruit of this prayer can be in the salvation of thousands of people in Jerusalem at Pentecost (Acts 2:41). they know not what they do. I.e., they were not aware of the full scope of their wickedness. They did not recognize him as the true Messiah (Acts 13:27–28). They were blind to the light of divine truth, “for if they had, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory” (1 Cor. 2:8). Still, their ignorance certainly did not mean that they deserved forgiveness; rather, their spiritual blindness itself was a manifestation of their guilt (John 3:19). But Christ’s prayer while they were in the very act of mocking him is an expression of the boundless compassion of divine grace. cast lots. See notes on Matt. 27:35 and Mark 15:24.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:35 scoffed. Cf. Ps. 22:6–7, 16–18.

LUKE—NOTE ON 22:36 sour wine. Cf. Ps. 69:21; see note on Matt. 27:34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:38 an inscription. All four Gospel writers mentioned the inscription, but each reported a slightly different variation. Both Luke and John (John 19:20) said that the inscription was written in Greek, Latin, and Hebrew, so the varying reports in the Gospels may simply reflect variant ways the inscription was translated on the placard itself. It is even more likely that all four evangelists simply reported the substance of the inscription elliptically, with each one omitting different parts of the full inscription. All four concurred with Mark that the inscription said “The King of the Jews” (Matt. 27:37; Mark 15:26; John 19:19). Luke added “This is” at the beginning, and Matthew started with “This is Jesus.” John’s version began, “Jesus of Nazareth.” Putting them all together, the full inscription would read “This is Jesus of Nazareth, The King of the Jews.”

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:39 One of the criminals. Matthew 27:44 and Mark 15:32 report that both criminals were mocking Christ along with the crowd. As the hours wore on, however, this criminal’s conscience was smitten, and he repented. When the impenitent thief resumed his mocking (Luke 23:39), this thief rebuked him and refused to participate again.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:41 this man has done nothing wrong. Cf. vv. 4, 15, 22. Even the thief testified of his innocence.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:42 Jesus, remember me. The penitent thief’s prayer reflected his belief that the soul lives on after death; that Christ had a right to rule over a kingdom of the souls of men; and that he would soon enter that kingdom despite his impending death. His request to be remembered was a plea for mercy, which also reveals that the thief understood he had no hope but divine grace, and that the dispensing of that grace lay in Jesus’ power. All of this demonstrates true faith on the part of the dying thief, and Christ graciously affirmed the man’s salvation (v. 43).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:43 Paradise. The only other places this word is used in the NT are 2 Cor. 12:3 and Rev. 2:7. The word suggests a garden (it is the word used of Eden in the LXX), but in all three NT uses it speaks of heaven.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:44 sixth hour . . . until the ninth hour. From noon to 3:00 P.M. Luke was using the Jewish method of reckoning time. See notes on Matt. 27:45 and Mark 15:25. darkness. See note on Mark 15:33. This could not have been caused by an eclipse, because the Jews used a lunar calendar, and Passover always fell on the full moon, making a solar eclipse out of the question. This was a supernatural darkness.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:45 the curtain. See note on Matt. 27:51.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:46 into your hands. This quotes Ps. 31:5, and the manner of his death accords with John 10:18. Normally victims of crucifixion died much slower deaths. He, being in control, simply yielded up his soul (John 10:18: 19:30), committing it to God. Thus he “offered himself without blemish to God” (Heb. 9:14).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:47 the centurion. See note on Matt. 27:54. this man was innocent! Matthew 27:54 and Mark 15:39 say the centurion stated, “this man was the Son of God.” Luke may be giving an equivalent expression; or, more likely, the centurion said both things.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:48 beating their breasts. Luke alone records this expression of remorse and anguish (cf. 18:13).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:49 the women . . . from Galilee. Matthew 27:56 and Mark 15:40–41 (see notes there) report that this included Mary Magdalene (see note on Luke 8:2); Mary, mother of James (the less) and Joses; Salome, mother of James and John, and many others. The same women were present at his burial (Luke 23:55; Matt. 27:61; Mark 15:47) and his resurrection (Luke 24:1; Matt. 28:1; Mark 16:1)—so they were eyewitnesses to all the crucial events of the gospel (cf. 1 Cor. 15:3–4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:50 Joseph. See notes on Matt. 27:57; Mark 15:43; John 19:38. All four evangelists mentioned him; Mark and Luke identified him as a member of the Sanhedrin; only Luke noted that he dissented from the council's verdict against Jesus (Luke 23:51).

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:51 looking for the kingdom of God. I.e., he believed Jesus' claims. John 19:38 refers to him as a secret disciple.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:53 a tomb cut in stone. Joseph, a wealthy man, undoubtedly had the tomb built for his own family. It had remained unused. Christ's burial there was a wonderful fulfillment of Isa. 53:9.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:54 day of Preparation. I.e., Friday, the day before the Sabbath.

LUKE—NOTE ON 23:55 saw . . . how his body was laid. According to John 19:39, Nicodemus brought a hundred pounds of spices and aloes (probably obtained while Joseph was negotiating with Pilate for Jesus' body), and he and Joseph wrapped the body with linen and the spices. These women, from Galilee, were probably unfamiliar with Joseph and Nicodemus, who were Judeans. After all, both men were associated with the Jewish leaders who orchestrated the conspiracy against Jesus (Luke 23:50; John 3:1). So the women were determined to prepare Jesus' body for burial themselves. So they returned (i.e., went to their homes) to prepare their own spices and perfumes (Luke 23:56). They had to have Jesus' body placed in the tomb before sunset, when the Sabbath began, so they were not able to finish preparing the body. Mark 16:1 says they purchased more spices "when the Sabbath was past," i.e., after sundown Saturday. Then they returned Sunday morning with the spices (Luke 24:1), expecting to finish the task that had been interrupted by the Sabbath.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:1 taking the spices. See note on 23:55. The women were not expecting to find Jesus risen from the dead; their only plan was to finish anointing his body for burial. See note on Mark 16:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:2 the stone rolled away. Matthew 28:2–4 records that an earthquake occurred and an angel rolled the stone away. The Roman guards fainted with fear. Mark, Luke, and John make no mention of the guards, so it appears they fled when they awoke to find the empty tomb. The women must have arrived shortly after.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:4 two men. These were angels. Only Luke mentioned them both (see note on Mark 16:5). Mark was concerned only with the one who spoke for the duo. Such minor differences in the Gospel accounts are all reconcilable. Here's a summary of the events of the resurrection, assembled from all four evangelists' accounts: Finding the stone rolled away, the women entered the tomb, but found it empty (Luke 24:3). While they were still in the tomb, the angels suddenly appeared (Luke 24:4; Mark 16:5). The angel who spoke reminded them of Jesus' promises (Luke 24:6–8), then sent them to find Peter and the disciples to report that Jesus was risen (Matt. 28:7–8; Mark 16:7–8). The women did as they were told (Luke 24:9–11). The disciples were skeptical at first (Luke 24:11), but ran to where the tomb was, John arriving first (John 20:4), but Peter actually entering the tomb first (John 20:6). They saw the linen wrappings intact but empty, proof that Jesus was risen (Luke 24:12; John 20:6–8). They left immediately (Luke 24:12; John 20:10). Meanwhile, Mary Magdalene returned to the tomb, and was standing outside weeping when Christ suddenly appeared to her (John 20:11–18). That was his first appearance (Mark 16:9). Sometime soon after that, he met the other women on the road and appeared to them as well (Matt. 28:9–10). Later that day he appeared to two of the disciples on the road to Emmaus (Luke 24:13–32), and to Peter (Luke 24:34). For a chronological listing of all his post-resurrection appearances, see note on Luke 24:34.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:6 how he told you . . . in Galilee. See notes on 9:22 and 18:31–33.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:9 all the rest. I.e., other disciples, mostly from Galilee, who were in Jerusalem for the Passover.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:10 Mary Magdalene. See note on 8:2. She was the first to see Jesus alive (Mark 16:9; John 20:11–18). See note on Luke 24:4. Joanna. Her husband was Herod's steward. See note on Luke 8:3. Mary the mother of James. See note on Matt. 27:56. the other women. They are never explicitly identified (cf. Luke 23:49, 55).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:12 Peter . . . ran. John ran with Peter, but reached the tomb first (John 20:4). linen cloths. I.e., the empty shell of wrappings that had contained the body.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:13 two of them. These evidently were not any of the 11 disciples. According to v. 18, one was named Cleopas. Emmaus. Mentioned nowhere else in Scripture. Its exact location is not known, but tradition says it is a town known as Kubeibeh, 7 miles northwest of Jerusalem.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:16 their eyes were kept. I.e., they were kept by God from recognizing him.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:18 Are you the only visitor to Jerusalem . . . ? The crucifixion of Jesus was already such a well known event around Jerusalem that they were shocked that he seemed not to know about it.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:21 we had hoped. They had been looking for an immediate earthly kingdom. With Jesus crucified, they were probably struggling with doubt about whether he was the Messiah who would reign. But they still regarded him as a true prophet (v. 19). the third day. There may have been a glimmer of hope in these words. They had heard rumors of his resurrection already (vv. 22–24). Perhaps Cleopas recalled the Lord's promises of 9:22 and 18:33. More likely, however, it seems this was his way of expressing surprise that this stranger did not yet know the news everyone else in Jerusalem had been discussing for the past three days.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:24 Some of those who were with us. I.e., Peter and John (see note on v. 12). but him they did not see. This was true. Evidently Cleopas and his companion had not heard about the appearance to Mary Magdalene (see note on v. 4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:26 Was it not necessary . . . ? OT prophecies spoke often of a suffering servant of Jehovah (see note on v. 27).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:27 Moses . . . all the Prophets. Verse 44 gives the threefold division; this expression is merely a shortened way to say the same thing. in all the Scriptures. In the inscrutable wisdom of divine providence, the substance of Christ's exposition of the OT messianic prophecies was not recorded. But the gist of what he expounded would have undoubtedly included an explanation of the OT sacrificial system, which was full of types and symbols that spoke of his sufferings and death. He also would have pointed them to the major prophetic passages that spoke of the crucifixion, such as Ps. 16:9–11; 22; 69; Isa. 52:14–53:12; Zech. 12:10; 13:7. And he would have pointed out the true meaning of passages like Gen. 3:15; Num. 21:6–9; Ps. 16:10; Jer. 23:5–6; Dan. 9:26—and a host of other key messianic prophecies, particularly those that spoke of his death and resurrection.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:30 took the bread. A simple expression, meaning to share a meal (v. 35).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:31 their eyes were opened. I.e., by God. They had been sovereignly kept from recognizing him until this point (cf. v. 16). His resurrection body was glorified, and altered from its previous appearance (see John's description in Rev. 1:13–16), and this surely explains why even Mary did not recognize him at first (cf. John 20:14–16). But in this case, God actively intervened to keep them from recognizing him until it was time for him to depart. he vanished from their sight. His resurrection body, though real and tangible (John 20:27)—and even capable of ingesting earthly food (Luke 24:42–43)—nonetheless possessed certain properties that indicate it was glorified, altered in a mysterious way (cf. 1 Cor. 15:35–54; Phil. 3:21). Christ could appear and disappear bodily, as seen in this text. His body could pass through solid objects—such as the grave clothes (see note on Luke 24:12), or the walls and doors of a closed room (John 20:19, 26). He could apparently travel great distances in a moment, for by the time these disciples returned to Jerusalem, Christ had already appeared to Peter (Luke 24:34). The fact that he ascended into heaven bodily demonstrated that his resurrection body was already fit for heaven. Yet it was his body, the same one that was missing from the tomb, even retaining identifying features such as the nail wounds (John 20:25–27). He was no ghost or phantom.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:34 appeared to Simon. Cf. 1 Cor. 15:5–8. Scripture describes at least 10 distinct appearances of Christ between the resurrection and ascension. He appeared to: 1) Mary Magdalene at the tomb (Mark 16:9; John 20:11–18); 2) to the women on the road (Matt. 28:9–10); 3) to the disciples on the road to Emmaus (Luke 24:13–32); 4) to Peter (Luke 24:34); 5) to 10 of the 11 disciples, Thomas being absent (Luke 24:36–43; Mark 16:14; John 20:19–25); 6) to the 11 disciples (with Thomas present) eight days later (John 20:26–31); 7) to seven disciples by the shore of the Sea of Galilee (John 21:1–25); 8) to more than 500 disciples, probably on a mountain in Galilee (1 Cor. 15:6; see note on Matt. 28:16); 9) to James (1 Cor. 15:7); and 10) to the apostles when he ascended into heaven (Acts 1:3–11). After his ascension, he appeared to Paul (1 Cor. 15:8). The next time he appears it will be in glory (Matt. 24:30).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:36 Jesus himself stood among them. The doors were closed and locked (John 20:19). See note on Luke 24:31.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:39 See my hands and my feet. He was showing them the nail wounds to prove it was really him. Cf. John 20:27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:41–43 See note on v. 31. Cf. Acts 10:41.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:44 the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms. I.e., the whole OT. See note on v. 27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:45 opened their minds. He undoubtedly taught them from the OT, as he had on the road to Emmaus (see note on v. 27). But the gist of the expression also seems to convey a supernatural opening of their minds to receive the truths he unfolded. Whereas their understanding was once dull (9:45), they finally saw clearly (cf. Ps. 119:18; Isa. 29:18–19; 2 Cor. 3:14–16).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:46–53 This section contains several ideas that are echoed in the opening of Acts, including Christ's suffering and resurrection (v. 46; Acts 1:3); the message of repentance and remission of sins (Luke 24:47; Acts 2:38); the disciples as his witnesses (Luke 24:48; Acts 1:8); the promise of the Father (Luke 24:49; Acts 1:4); tarrying in Jerusalem (Luke 24:49; Acts 1:4) and the beginning of gospel outreach there (Luke 24:47; Acts 1:8); power from on high (Luke 24:49; Acts 1:8); Christ's ascension (Luke 24:51; Acts 1:9–11); the disciples' return to Jerusalem (Luke 24:52; Acts 1:12); and their meeting in the temple (Luke 24:53; Acts 2:46).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:46 it is written. I.e., in the OT. See note on v. 27.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:47 This was the Great Commission (cf. Matt. 28:19–20; Mark 16:15).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:49 the promise of my Father. I.e., the Holy Spirit (John 14:26; 15:26; cf. Joel 2:28–29; Acts 2:1–4).

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:50 Bethany. See notes on 19:29 and Mark 11:1.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:51 carried up into heaven. I.e., visibly. Before, when the resurrected Christ left them, he simply vanished (v. 31). This time they saw him ascend. Cf. Acts 1:9–11.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:52 worshiped him. I.e., a formal act of worship. Now that he had opened their understanding (see note on v. 45), they perceived the full truth of his deity, unclouded by the darkness of confusion or doubt. Cf. Matt. 28:9; John 20:28; contrast Matt. 28:17.

LUKE—NOTE ON 24:53 in the temple. This became the first meeting-place of the church (Acts 2:46; 5:21–42). There were rooms around the porticoes of the outer court available for such meetings.

Introduction to John

Title

The title of the fourth Gospel continues the pattern of the other Gospels, being identified originally as “According to John.” Like the others, “The Gospel” was added later.

Author and Date

Although the author’s name does not appear in the Gospel, early church tradition strongly and consistently identified him as the apostle John. The early church father Irenaeus (c. A.D. 130–200) was a disciple of Polycarp (c. A.D. 70–160), who was a disciple of the apostle John, and he testified on Polycarp’s authority that John wrote the Gospel during his residence at Ephesus in Asia Minor when he was advanced in age (Against Heresies 2.22.5; 3.1.1). Subsequent to Irenaeus, all the church Fathers assumed John to be the Gospel’s author. Clement of Alexandria (c. A.D. 150–215) wrote that John, aware of the facts set forth in the other Gospels and being moved by the Holy Spirit, composed a “spiritual Gospel” (see Eusebius’s Ecclesiastical History 6.14.7).

Reinforcing early church tradition are significant internal characteristics of the Gospel. While the synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Mark, Luke) identify the apostle John by name approximately 20 times (including parallels), he is not directly mentioned by name in the Gospel of John. Instead, the author prefers to identify himself as the disciple “whom Jesus loved” (13:23; 19:26; 20:2; 21:7, 20). The absence of any mention of John’s name directly is remarkable when one considers the important part played by other named disciples in this Gospel. Yet, the recurring designation of himself as the disciple “whom Jesus loved,” a deliberate avoidance by John of his personal name, reflects his humility and celebrates his relation to his Lord Jesus. No mention of his name was necessary since his original readers clearly understood that he was the Gospel’s author. Also, through a process of elimination based primarily on analyzing the material in chs. 20–21, this disciple “whom Jesus loved” narrows down to the apostle John (e.g., 21:24; cf. 21:2). Since the Gospel’s author is exacting in mentioning the names of other characters in the book, if the author had been someone other than John the apostle, he would not have omitted John's name.

The Gospel's anonymity strongly reinforces the arguments favoring John's authorship, for only someone of his well known and preeminent authority as an apostle would be able to write a Gospel that differed so markedly in form and substance from the other Gospels and have it receive unanimous acceptance in the early church. In contrast, apocryphal Gospels produced from the mid-second century onward were falsely ascribed to apostles or other famous persons closely associated with Jesus, yet universally rejected by the church.

John and James, his older brother (Acts 12:2), were known as "the sons of Zebedee" (Matt. 10:2–4), and Jesus gave them the name "Sons of Thunder" (Mark 3:17). John was an apostle (Luke 6:12–16) and one of the three most intimate associates of Jesus (along with Peter and James—cf. Matt. 17:1; 26:37), being an eyewitness to and participant in Jesus' earthly ministry (1 John 1:1–4). After Christ's ascension, John became a "pillar" in the Jerusalem church (Gal. 2:9). He ministered with Peter (Acts 3:1; 4:13; 8:14) until he went to Ephesus (tradition says before the destruction of Jerusalem), from where he wrote this Gospel and from where the Romans exiled him to Patmos (Rev. 1:9). Besides the Gospel that bears his name, John also authored 1–3 John and the book of Revelation (Rev. 1:1).

Because the writings of some church Fathers indicate that John was actively writing in his old age and that he was already aware of the synoptic Gospels, many date the Gospel sometime after their composition, but prior to John's writing of 1–3 John or Revelation. John wrote his Gospel c. A.D. 80–90, about 50 years after he witnessed Jesus' earthly ministry.

Background and Setting

Strategic to John's background and setting is the fact that according to tradition John was aware of the synoptic Gospels. Apparently, he wrote his Gospel in order to make a unique contribution to the record of the Lord's life ("a spiritual Gospel") and, in part, to be supplementary as well as complementary to Matthew, Mark, and Luke.

The Gospel's unique characteristics reinforce this purpose: First, John supplied a large amount of unique material not recorded in the other Gospels. Second, he often supplied information that helps the understanding of the events in the synoptics. For example, while the synoptics begin with Jesus' ministry in Galilee, they imply that Jesus had a ministry prior to that (e.g., Matt. 4:12; Mark 1:14). John supplies the answer with information on Jesus' prior ministry in Judea (John 3) and Samaria (ch. 4). In Mark 6:45, after the feeding of the 5,000, Jesus compelled his disciples to cross the Sea of Galilee to Bethsaida. John recorded the reason. The people were about to make Jesus king because of his miraculous multiplying of food, and he was avoiding their ill-motivated efforts (John 6:26). Third, John is the most theological of the Gospels, containing, for example, a heavily theological prologue (1:1–18), larger amounts of didactic and discourse material in proportion to narrative (e.g., 3:13–17), and the largest amount of teaching on the Holy Spirit (e.g., 14:16–17, 26; 16:7–14). Although John was aware of the synoptics and fashioned his Gospel with them in mind, he did not depend upon them for information. Rather, under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, he utilized his own memory as an eyewitness in composing the Gospel (1:14; 19:35; 21:24).

John's Gospel is the second (cf. Luke 1:1–4) that contains a precise statement regarding the author's purpose (20:30–31). He declares, "these are written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name" (20:31). The primary purposes, therefore, are twofold: evangelistic and apologetic. Reinforcing the evangelistic purpose is the fact that the word "believe" occurs approximately 100 times in the Gospel (the synoptics use the term less than half as much). John composed his Gospel to provide reasons for saving faith in his readers and, as a result, to assure them that they would receive the divine gift of eternal life (1:12).

The apologetic purpose is closely related to the evangelistic purpose. John wrote to convince his readers of Jesus' true identity as the incarnate God-Man whose divine and human natures were perfectly united into one person who was the prophesied Christ ("Messiah") and Savior of the world (e.g., 1:41; 3:16; 4:25–26; 8:58). He organized his whole Gospel around eight "signs" or proofs that reinforce Jesus' true identity leading to faith. The first half of his work centers around seven miraculous signs selected to reveal Christ's person and engender belief: 1) water made into wine (2:1–11); 2) the healing of the official's son (4:46–54); 3) the healing of the lame man (5:1–18); 4) the feeding of a multitude (6:1–15); 5) walking on water (6:16–21); 6) healing of the blind man (9:1–41); and 7) the raising of Lazarus (11:1–57). The eighth sign is the miraculous catch of fish (21:6–11) after Jesus' resurrection.

Historical and Theological Themes

In accordance with John's evangelistic and apologetic purposes, the overall message of the Gospel is found in 20:31: "Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God." The book, therefore, centers on the person and work of Christ. Three predominant words ("signs," "believe," and "life") in 20:30–31 receive constant reemphasis throughout the Gospel to enforce the theme of salvation in him, which is first set forth in the prologue (1:1–18; cf. 1 John 1:1–4) and re-expressed throughout the Gospel in varying ways (e.g., John 6:35, 48; 8:12; 10:7, 9; 10:11–14; 11:25; 14:6; 17:3). In addition, John provides the record of how men responded to Jesus Christ and the salvation that he offered. Summing up, the Gospel focuses on: 1) Jesus as the Word, the Messiah, and Son of God; 2) who brings the gift of salvation to mankind; 3) who either accept or reject the offer.

John also presents certain contrastive sub-themes that reinforce his main theme. He uses dualism (life and death, light and darkness, love and hate, from above and from below) to convey vital information about the person and work of Christ and the need to believe in him (e.g., 1:4–5, 12–13; 3:16–21; 12:44–46; 15:17–20).

There are also seven emphatic "I am" statements that identify Jesus as God and Messiah (6:35; 8:12; 10:7, 9; 10:11, 14; 11:25; 14:6; 15:1, 5).

Interpretive Challenges

Because John composed his record in a clear and simple style, one might tend to underestimate the depth of this Gospel. Since John's Gospel is a "spiritual" Gospel (see Authorship and Date), the truths he conveys are profound. The reader must prayerfully and meticulously explore the book in order to discover the vast richness of the spiritual treasures that the apostle, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit (14:26; 16:13), has lovingly deposited in his Gospel.

The chronological reckoning between John's Gospel and the synoptics presents a challenge, especially in relation to the time of the Last Supper (13:2). While the synoptics portray the disciples and the Lord at the Last Supper as eating the Passover meal on Thursday evening (Nisan 14) and Jesus being crucified on Friday, John's Gospel states that the Jews did not enter into the Praetorium "so that they would not be defiled, but could eat the Passover” (18:28). So, the disciples had eaten the Passover on Thursday evening, but the Jews had not. In fact, John (19:14) states that Jesus’ trial and crucifixion were on the day of Preparation for the Passover and not after the eating of the Passover, so that with the trial and crucifixion on Friday Christ was actually sacrificed at the same time the Passover lambs were being slain (19:14). The question is, “Why did the disciples eat the Passover meal on Thursday?”

The answer lies in a difference among the Jews in the way they reckoned the beginning and ending of days. From Josephus, the Mishna, and other ancient Jewish sources we learn that the Jews in northern Palestine calculated days from sunrise to sunrise. That area included the region of Galilee, where Jesus and all the disciples, except Judas, had grown up. Apparently most, if not all, of the Pharisees used that system of reckoning. But Jews in the southern part, which centered in Jerusalem, calculated days from sunset to sunset. Because all the priests necessarily lived in or near Jerusalem, as did most of the Sadducees, those groups followed the southern scheme.

That variation doubtlessly caused confusion at times, but it also had some practical benefits. During Passover time, for instance, it allowed for the feast to be celebrated legitimately on two adjoining days, thereby permitting the temple sacrifices to be made over a total period of four hours rather than two. That separation of days may also have had the effect of reducing both regional and religious clashes between the two groups.

On that basis the seeming contradictions in the Gospel accounts are easily explained. Being Galileans, Jesus and the disciples considered Passover day to have started at sunrise on Thursday and to end at sunrise on Friday. The Jewish leaders who arrested and tried Jesus, being mostly priests and Sadducees, considered Passover day to begin at sunset on Thursday and end at sunset on Friday. By that variation, predetermined by God’s sovereign provision, Jesus could thereby legitimately celebrate the last Passover meal with his disciples and yet still be sacrificed on Passover day.

Once again one can see how God sovereignly and marvelously provides for the precise fulfillment of his redemptive plan. Jesus was anything but a victim of men’s wicked schemes, much less of blind circumstance. Every word he spoke and every action he took were divinely directed and secured. Even the words and actions by others against him were divinely controlled. See, e.g., 11:49–52;

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO

John

The Word Became Flesh

JOHN 1 ††In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. †He was in the beginning with God. †All things were made through him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. †In him was life, [1] and the life was the light of men. †The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it.

†There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. †He came as a witness, to bear witness about the light, that all might believe through him. †He was not the light, but came to bear witness about the light.

†The true light, which enlightens everyone, was coming into the world. †He was in the world, and the world was made through him, yet the world did not know him. †He came to his own, [2] and his own people [3] did not receive him. ††But to all who did receive him, who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God, †who were born, not of blood nor of the will of the flesh nor of the will of man, but of God.

†And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we have seen his glory, glory as of the only Son from the Father, full of grace and truth. †(John bore witness about him, and cried out, “This was he of whom I said, ‘He who comes after me ranks before me, because he was before me.’”) †And from his fullness we have all received, grace upon grace. †For the law was given through Moses; grace and truth came through Jesus Christ. †No one has ever seen God; the only God, [4] who is at the Father's side, [5] he has made him known.

The Testimony of John the Baptist

††And this is the testimony of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, “Who are you?” †He confessed, and did not deny, but confessed, “I am not the Christ.” †And they asked him, “What then? Are you Elijah?” He said, “I am not.” “Are you the Prophet?” And he answered, “No.” †So they said to him, “Who are you? We need to give an answer to those who sent us. What do you say about yourself?” <sup>23</sup>† He said, “I am the voice of one crying out in the wilderness, ‘Make straight [6] the way of the Lord,’ as the prophet Isaiah said.”

<sup>26</sup>John answered them, “I baptize with water, but among you stands one you do not know, <sup>27</sup>† even he who comes after me, the strap of whose sandal I am not worthy to untie.” <sup>28</sup>† These things took place in Bethany across the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

Behold, the Lamb of God

<sup>29</sup>†† The next day he saw Jesus coming toward him, and said, “Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world! <sup>30</sup>This is he of whom I said, ‘After me comes a man who ranks before me, because he was before me.’ <sup>31</sup>† I myself did not know him, but for this purpose I came baptizing with water, that he might be revealed to Israel.” <sup>32</sup>† And John bore witness: “I saw the Spirit descend from heaven like a dove, and it remained on him. <sup>33</sup>I myself did not know him, but he who sent me to baptize with water said to me, ‘He on whom you see the Spirit descend and remain, this is he who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.’ <sup>34</sup>† And I have seen and have borne witness that this is the Son of God.”

Jesus Calls the First Disciples

<sup>35</sup>† The next day again John was standing with two of his disciples, <sup>36</sup>and he looked at Jesus as he walked by and said, “Behold, the Lamb of God!” <sup>37</sup>† The two disciples heard him say this, and they followed Jesus. <sup>38</sup>Jesus turned and saw them following and said to them, “What are you seeking?” And they said to him, “Rabbi” (which means Teacher), “where are you staying?” <sup>39</sup>† He said to them, “Come and you will see.” So they came and saw where he was staying, and they stayed with him that day, for it was about the tenth hour. [7] <sup>40</sup>One of the two who heard John speak and followed Jesus [8] was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother. <sup>41</sup>† He first found his own brother Simon and said to him, “We have found the Messiah” (which means Christ). <sup>42</sup>† He brought him to Jesus. Jesus looked at him and said, “So you are Simon the son of John? You shall be called Cephas” (which means Peter [9]).

Jesus Calls Philip and Nathanael

<sup>43</sup>† The next day Jesus decided to go to Galilee. He found Philip and said to him, “Follow me.” <sup>44</sup>† Now Philip was from Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter. <sup>45</sup>† Philip found Nathanael and said to him, “We have found him of whom Moses in the Law and also the prophets wrote, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.” <sup>46</sup>† Nathanael said to him, “Can anything good come out of Nazareth?” Philip said to him, “Come and see.” <sup>47</sup>† Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward him and said of him, “Behold, an Israelite indeed, in whom there is no deceit!” <sup>48</sup>† Nathanael said to him, “How do you know me?” Jesus answered him, “Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.” <sup>49</sup>† Nathanael answered him, “Rabbi, you are the Son of God! You are the King of Israel!” <sup>50</sup> Jesus answered him, “Because I said to you, ‘I saw you under the fig tree,’ do you believe? You will see greater things than these.” <sup>51</sup>† And he said to him, “Truly, truly, I say to you, [\[10\]](#) you will see heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending on the Son of Man.”

The Wedding at Cana

JOHN 2 †† On the third day there was a wedding at Cana in Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there. † Jesus also was invited to the wedding with his disciples. † When the wine ran out, the mother of Jesus said to him, “They have no wine.” † And Jesus said to her, “Woman, what does this have to do with me? My hour has not yet come.” † His mother said to the servants, “Do whatever he tells you.”

† Now there were six stone water jars there for the Jewish rites of purification, each holding twenty or thirty gallons. [1] † Jesus said to the servants, “Fill the jars with water.” And they filled them up to the brim. † And he said to them, “Now draw some out and take it to the master of the feast.” So they took it. † When the master of the feast tasted the water now become wine, and did not know where it came from (though the servants who had drawn the water knew), the master of the feast called the bridegroom † and said to him, “Everyone serves the good wine first, and when people have drunk freely, then the poor wine. But you have kept the good wine until now.” † This, the first of his signs, Jesus did at Cana in Galilee, and manifested his glory. And his disciples believed in him.

† After this he went down to Capernaum, with his mother and his brothers [2] and his disciples, and they stayed there for a few days.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

††† The Passover of the Jews was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem. † In the temple he found those who were selling oxen and sheep and pigeons, and the money-changers sitting there. † And making a whip of cords, he drove them all out of the temple, with the sheep and oxen. And he poured out the coins of the money-changers and overturned their tables. † And he told those who sold the pigeons, “Take these things away; do not make my Father's house a house of trade.” † His disciples remembered that it was written, “Zeal for your house will consume me.”

†† So the Jews said to him, “What sign do you show us for doing these things?” † Jesus answered them, “Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.” † The Jews then said, “It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, and will you raise it up in three days?” † But he was speaking about the temple of his body. <sup>22</sup>When therefore he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they believed the Scripture and the word that Jesus had spoken.

Jesus Knows What Is in Man

<sup>23</sup>⚡Now when he was in Jerusalem at the Passover Feast, many believed in his name when they saw the signs that he was doing. <sup>24</sup>But Jesus on his part did not entrust himself to them, because he knew all people <sup>25</sup>and needed no one to bear witness about man, for he himself knew what was in man.

You Must Be Born Again

JOHN 3 1 Now there was a man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews. 2 This man came to Jesus 1 by night and said to him, “Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher come from God, for no one can do these signs that you do unless God is with him.” 3 Jesus answered him, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born again 2 he cannot see the kingdom of God.” 4 Nicodemus said to him, “How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter a second time into his mother's womb and be born?” 5 Jesus answered, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God. 6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. 3 7 Do not marvel that I said to you, ‘You 4 must be born again.’ 8 The wind 5 blows where it wishes, and you hear its sound, but you do not know where it comes from or where it goes. So it is with everyone who is born of the Spirit.”

9 Nicodemus said to him, “How can these things be?” 10 Jesus answered him, “Are you the teacher of Israel and yet you do not understand these things? 11 Truly, truly, I say to you, we speak of what we know, and bear witness to what we have seen, but you 6 do not receive our testimony. 12 If I have told you earthly things and you do not believe, how can you believe if I tell you heavenly things? 13 No one has ascended into heaven except he who descended from heaven, the Son of Man. 7 14 And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, 15 that whoever believes in him may have eternal life. 8

For God So Loved the World

16 “For God so loved the world, 9 that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life. 17 For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through him. 18 Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only Son of God. 19 And this is the judgment: the light has come into the world, and people loved the darkness rather than the light because their works were evil. 20 For everyone who does wicked things hates the light and does not come to the light, lest his works should be exposed. 21 But whoever does what is true comes to the light, so that it may be clearly seen that his works have been carried out in God.”

John the Baptist Exalts Christ

<sup>22</sup>†† After this Jesus and his disciples went into the Judean countryside, and he remained there with them and was baptizing. <sup>23</sup>† John also was baptizing at Aenon near Salim, because water was plentiful there, and people were coming and being baptized <sup>24</sup>† (for John had not yet been put in prison).

<sup>25</sup>†† Now a discussion arose between some of John's disciples and a Jew over purification. <sup>26</sup>† And they came to John and said to him, “Rabbi, he who was with you across the Jordan, to whom you bore witness—look, he is baptizing, and all are going to him.” <sup>27</sup>† John answered, “A person cannot receive even one thing unless it is given him from heaven. <sup>28</sup> You yourselves bear me witness, that I said, ‘I am not the Christ, but I have been sent before him.’ <sup>29</sup>† The one who has the bride is the bridegroom. The friend of the bridegroom, who stands and hears him, rejoices greatly at the bridegroom's voice. Therefore this joy of mine is now complete. <sup>30</sup> He must increase, but I must decrease.” [\[10\]](#)

Jesus and the Woman of Samaria

JOHN 4 †Now when Jesus learned that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus was making and baptizing more disciples than John <sup>2</sup>(although Jesus himself did not baptize, but only his disciples), †he left Judea and departed again for Galilee. †And he had to pass through Samaria. ††So he came to a town of Samaria called Sychar, near the field that Jacob had given to his son Joseph. †Jacob's well was there; so Jesus, wearied as he was from his journey, was sitting beside the well. It was about the sixth hour. [1]

†A woman from Samaria came to draw water. Jesus said to her, “Give me a drink.” †(For his disciples had gone away into the city to buy food.) †The Samaritan woman said to him, “How is it that you, a Jew, ask for a drink from me, a woman of Samaria?” (For Jews have no dealings with Samaritans.) †Jesus answered her, “If you knew the gift of God, and who it is that is saying to you, ‘Give me a drink,’ you would have asked him, and he would have given you living water.” †The woman said to him, “Sir, you have nothing to draw water with, and the well is deep. Where do you get that living water? †Are you greater than our father Jacob? He gave us the well and drank from it himself, as did his sons and his livestock.” †Jesus said to her, “Everyone who drinks of this water will be thirsty again, †but whoever drinks of the water that I will give him will never be thirsty again. [2] The water that I will give him will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life.” †The woman said to him, “Sir, give me this water, so that I will not be thirsty or have to come here to draw water.”

†Jesus said to her, “Go, call your husband, and come here.” †The woman answered him, “I have no husband.” Jesus said to her, “You are right in saying, ‘I have no husband’; †for you have had five husbands, and the one you now have is not your husband. What you have said is true.” †The woman said to him, “Sir, I perceive that you are a prophet. †Our fathers worshiped on this mountain, but you say that in Jerusalem is the place where people ought to worship.” †Jesus said to her, “Woman, believe me, the hour is coming when neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you worship the Father. †You worship what you do not know; we worship what we know, for salvation is from the Jews. †But the hour is coming, and is now here, when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth, for the Father is seeking such people to worship him. †God is spirit, and those who worship him must worship in spirit and truth.”<sup>25</sup> † The woman said to him, “I know that Messiah is coming (he who is called Christ). When he comes, he will tell us all things.”<sup>26</sup> † Jesus said to her, “I who speak to you am he.”

<sup>31</sup> Meanwhile the disciples were urging him, saying, “Rabbi, eat.”<sup>32</sup> † But he said to them, “I have food to eat that you do not know about.”<sup>33</sup> So the disciples said to one another, “Has anyone brought him something to eat?”<sup>34</sup> † Jesus said to them, “My food is to do the will of him who sent me and to accomplish his work.”<sup>35</sup> † Do you not say, ‘There are yet four months, then comes the harvest’? Look, I tell you, lift up your eyes, and see that the fields are white for harvest.<sup>36</sup> † Already the one who reaps is receiving wages and gathering fruit for eternal life, so that sower and reaper may rejoice together.<sup>37</sup> For here the saying holds true, ‘One sows and another reaps.’<sup>38</sup> I sent you to reap that for which you did not labor. Others have labored, and you have entered into their labor.”

<sup>39</sup> Many Samaritans from that town believed in him because of the woman's testimony, “He told me all that I ever did.”<sup>40</sup> So when the Samaritans came to him, they asked him to stay with them, and he stayed there two days.<sup>41</sup> And many more believed because of his word.<sup>42</sup> † They said to the woman, “It is no longer because of what you said that we believe, for we have heard for ourselves, and we know that this is indeed the Savior of the world.”

<sup>43</sup> † † After the two days he departed for Galilee.<sup>44</sup> † (For Jesus himself had testified that a prophet has no honor in his own hometown.)<sup>45</sup> † So when he came to Galilee, the Galileans welcomed him, having seen all that he had done in Jerusalem at the feast. For they too had gone to the feast.

Jesus Heals an Official's Son

<sup>46</sup> † So he came again to Cana in Galilee, where he had made the water wine. And at Capernaum there was an official whose son was ill.<sup>47</sup> † When this man heard that Jesus had come from Judea to Galilee, he went to him and asked him to come down and heal his son, for he was at the point of death.<sup>48</sup> † So Jesus said to him, “Unless you see signs and wonders you will not believe.” <sup>49</sup>The official said to him, “Sir, come down before my child dies.” <sup>50</sup>† Jesus said to him, “Go; your son will live.” The man believed the word that Jesus spoke to him and went on his way. <sup>51</sup>As he was going down, his servants [3] met him and told him that his son was recovering. <sup>52</sup>† So he asked them the hour when he began to get better, and they said to him, “Yesterday at the seventh hour [4] the fever left him.” <sup>53</sup>† The father knew that was the hour when Jesus had said to him, “Your son will live.” And he himself believed, and all his household. <sup>54</sup>This was now the second sign that Jesus did when he had come from Judea to Galilee.

The Healing at the Pool on the Sabbath

JOHN 5 §§§ After this there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

²† Now there is in Jerusalem by the Sheep Gate a pool, in Aramaic [\[1\]](#) called Bethesda, [\[2\]](#) which has five roofed colonnades. ³† In these lay a multitude of invalids—blind, lame, and paralyzed. [\[3\]](#) ⁵† One man was there who had been an invalid for thirty-eight years. ⁶† When Jesus saw him lying there and knew that he had already been there a long time, he said to him, “Do you want to be healed?” ⁷ The sick man answered him, “Sir, I have no one to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up, and while I am going another steps down before me.” ⁸† Jesus said to him, “Get up, take up your bed, and walk.” ⁹† And at once the man was healed, and he took up his bed and walked.

Now that day was the Sabbath. ¹⁰† So the Jews said to the man who had been healed, “It is the Sabbath, and it is not lawful for you to take up your bed.” ¹¹ But he answered them, “The man who healed me, that man said to me, ‘Take up your bed, and walk.’” ¹² They asked him, “Who is the man who said to you, ‘Take up your bed and walk’?” ¹³ Now the man who had been healed did not know who it was, for Jesus had withdrawn, as there was a crowd in the place. ¹⁴† Afterward Jesus found him in the temple and said to him, “See, you are well! Sin no more, that nothing worse may happen to you.” ¹⁵ The man went away and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had healed him. ¹⁶† And this was why the Jews were persecuting Jesus, because he was doing these things on the Sabbath. ¹⁷† But Jesus answered them, “My Father is working until now, and I am working.”

Jesus Is Equal with God

¹⁸† This was why the Jews were seeking all the more to kill him, because not only was he breaking the Sabbath, but he was even calling God his own Father, making himself equal with God.

The Authority of the Son

¹⁹† So Jesus said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, the Son can do nothing of his own accord, but only what he sees the Father doing. For whatever the Father [\[4\]](#) does, that the Son does likewise. ²⁰† For the Father loves the Son and shows him all that he himself is doing. And greater works than these will he show him, so that you may marvel. <sup>21</sup>For as the Father raises the dead and gives them life, so also the Son gives life to whom he will. <sup>22</sup>The Father judges no one, but has given all judgment to the Son, <sup>23</sup>†that all may honor the Son, just as they honor the Father. Whoever does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent him. <sup>24</sup>†Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever hears my word and believes him who sent me has eternal life. He does not come into judgment, but has passed from death to life.

<sup>25</sup>††“Truly, truly, I say to you, an hour is coming, and is now here, when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God, and those who hear will live. <sup>26</sup>†For as the Father has life in himself, so he has granted the Son also to have life in himself. <sup>27</sup>†And he has given him authority to execute judgment, because he is the Son of Man. <sup>28</sup>Do not marvel at this, for an hour is coming when all who are in the tombs will hear his voice <sup>29</sup>†and come out, those who have done good to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil to the resurrection of judgment.

Witnesses to Jesus

<sup>30</sup>†“I can do nothing on my own. As I hear, I judge, and my judgment is just, because I seek not my own will but the will of him who sent me. <sup>31</sup>If I alone bear witness about myself, my testimony is not deemed true. <sup>32</sup>†There is another who bears witness about me, and I know that the testimony that he bears about me is true. <sup>33</sup>You sent to John, and he has borne witness to the truth. <sup>34</sup>Not that the testimony that I receive is from man, but I say these things so that you may be saved. <sup>35</sup>He was a burning and shining lamp, and you were willing to rejoice for a while in his light. <sup>36</sup>†But the testimony that I have is greater than that of John. For the works that the Father has given me to accomplish, the very works that I am doing, bear witness about me that the Father has sent me. <sup>37</sup>†And the Father who sent me has himself borne witness about me. His voice you have never heard, his form you have never seen, <sup>38</sup>and you do not have his word abiding in you, for you do not believe the one whom he has sent. <sup>39</sup>†You search the Scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is they that bear witness about me, <sup>40</sup>†yet you refuse to come to me that you may have life. <sup>41</sup>†I do not receive glory from people. <sup>42</sup>But I know that you do not have the love of God within you. <sup>43</sup>†I have come in my Father's name, and you do not receive me. If another comes in his own name, you will receive him. <sup>44</sup>How can you believe, when you receive glory from one another and do not seek the glory that comes from the only God? <sup>45</sup>Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father. There is one who accuses you: Moses, on whom you have set your hope. <sup>46</sup>†For if you believed Moses, you would believe me; for he wrote of me. <sup>47</sup>But if you do not believe his writings, how will you believe my words?”

Jesus Feeds the Five Thousand

JOHN 6 † After this Jesus went away to the other side of the Sea of Galilee, which is the Sea of Tiberias. † And a large crowd was following him, because they saw the signs that he was doing on the sick. † Jesus went up on the mountain, and there he sat down with his disciples. † Now the Passover, the feast of the Jews, was at hand. † Lifting up his eyes, then, and seeing that a large crowd was coming toward him, Jesus said to Philip, “Where are we to buy bread, so that these people may eat?” † He said this to test him, for he himself knew what he would do. † Philip answered him, “Two hundred denarii [1] would not buy enough bread for each of them to get a little.” † One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, said to him, “There is a boy here who has five barley loaves and two fish, but what are they for so many?” † Jesus said, “Have the people sit down.” Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, about five thousand in number. † Jesus then took the loaves, and when he had given thanks, he distributed them to those who were seated. So also the fish, as much as they wanted. † And when they had eaten their fill, he told his disciples, “Gather up the leftover fragments, that nothing may be lost.” † So they gathered them up and filled twelve baskets with fragments from the five barley loaves left by those who had eaten. † When the people saw the sign that he had done, they said, “This is indeed the Prophet who is to come into the world!”

† Perceiving then that they were about to come and take him by force to make him king, Jesus withdrew again to the mountain by himself.

Jesus Walks on Water

† When evening came, his disciples went down to the sea, † got into a boat, and started across the sea to Capernaum. It was now dark, and Jesus had not yet come to them. † The sea became rough because a strong wind was blowing. † When they had rowed about three or four miles, [2] they saw Jesus walking on the sea and coming near the boat, and they were frightened. † But he said to them, “It is I; do not be afraid.” † Then they were glad to take him into the boat, and immediately the boat was at the land to which they were going.

I Am the Bread of Life

† On the next day the crowd that remained on the other side of the sea saw that there had been only one boat there, and that Jesus had not entered the boat with his disciples, but that his disciples had gone away alone. <sup>23</sup>Other boats from Tiberias came near the place where they had eaten the bread after the Lord had given thanks. <sup>24</sup>So when the crowd saw that Jesus was not there, nor his disciples, they themselves got into the boats and went to Capernaum, seeking Jesus.

<sup>25</sup>When they found him on the other side of the sea, they said to him, “Rabbi, when did you come here?” <sup>26</sup>†Jesus answered them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, you are seeking me, not because you saw signs, but because you ate your fill of the loaves. <sup>27</sup>†Do not labor for the food that perishes, but for the food that endures to eternal life, which the Son of Man will give to you. For on him God the Father has set his seal.” <sup>28</sup>†Then they said to him, “What must we do, to be doing the works of God?” <sup>29</sup>†Jesus answered them, “This is the work of God, that you believe in him whom he has sent.” <sup>30</sup>†So they said to him, “Then what sign do you do, that we may see and believe you? What work do you perform? <sup>31</sup>†Our fathers ate the manna in the wilderness; as it is written, ‘He gave them bread from heaven to eat.’” <sup>32</sup>†Jesus then said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, it was not Moses who gave you the bread from heaven, but my Father gives you the true bread from heaven. <sup>33</sup>†For the bread of God is he who comes down from heaven and gives life to the world.” <sup>34</sup>†They said to him, “Sir, give us this bread always.”

<sup>35</sup>†Jesus said to them, “I am the bread of life; whoever comes to me shall not hunger, and whoever believes in me shall never thirst. <sup>36</sup>But I said to you that you have seen me and yet do not believe. <sup>37</sup>†All that the Father gives me will come to me, and whoever comes to me I will never cast out. <sup>38</sup>For I have come down from heaven, not to do my own will but the will of him who sent me. <sup>39</sup>And this is the will of him who sent me, that I should lose nothing of all that he has given me, but raise it up on the last day. <sup>40</sup>†For this is the will of my Father, that everyone who looks on the Son and believes in him should have eternal life, and I will raise him up on the last day.”

<sup>41</sup>††So the Jews grumbled about him, because he said, “I am the bread that came down from heaven.” <sup>42</sup>†They said, “Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How does he now say, ‘I have come down from heaven’?” <sup>43</sup>Jesus answered them, “Do not grumble among yourselves. <sup>44</sup>†No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draws him. And I will raise him up on the last day. <sup>45</sup>†It is written in the Prophets, ‘And they will all be taught by God.’ Everyone who has heard and learned from the Father comes to me—<sup>46</sup>not that anyone has seen the Father except he who is from God; he has seen the Father. <sup>47</sup>Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever believes has eternal life. <sup>48</sup>I am the bread of life. <sup>49</sup>‡Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, and they died. <sup>50</sup>This is the bread that comes down from heaven, so that one may eat of it and not die. <sup>51</sup>‡‡I am the living bread that came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever. And the bread that I will give for the life of the world is my flesh.”

<sup>52</sup>‡The Jews then disputed among themselves, saying, “How can this man give us his flesh to eat?” <sup>53</sup>‡‡So Jesus said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. <sup>54</sup>Whoever feeds on my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up on the last day. <sup>55</sup>For my flesh is true food, and my blood is true drink. <sup>56</sup>Whoever feeds on my flesh and drinks my blood abides in me, and I in him. <sup>57</sup>As the living Father sent me, and I live because of the Father, so whoever feeds on me, he also will live because of me. <sup>58</sup>This is the bread that came down from heaven, not like the bread [3] the fathers ate and died. Whoever feeds on this bread will live forever.” <sup>59</sup>Jesus [4] said these things in the synagogue, as he taught at Capernaum.

The Words of Eternal Life

<sup>60</sup>‡When many of his disciples heard it, they said, “This is a hard saying; who can listen to it?” <sup>61</sup>‡But Jesus, knowing in himself that his disciples were grumbling about this, said to them, “Do you take offense at this? <sup>62</sup>Then what if you were to see the Son of Man ascending to where he was before? <sup>63</sup>It is the Spirit who gives life; the flesh is no help at all. The words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life. <sup>64</sup>‡But there are some of you who do not believe.” (For Jesus knew from the beginning who those were who did not believe, and who it was who would betray him.) <sup>65</sup>‡And he said, “This is why I told you that no one can come to me unless it is granted him by the Father.”

<sup>66</sup>‡After this many of his disciples turned back and no longer walked with him. <sup>67</sup>So Jesus said to the Twelve, “Do you want to go away as well?” <sup>68</sup>Simon Peter answered him, “Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life, <sup>69</sup>‡and we have believed, and have come to know, that you are the Holy One of God.” <sup>70</sup>‡Jesus answered them, “Did I not choose you, the Twelve? And yet one of you is a devil.” <sup>71</sup>‡He spoke of Judas the son of Simon Iscariot, for he, one of the Twelve, was going to betray him.

Jesus at the Feast of Booths

JOHN 7 ¶¶¶ After this Jesus went about in Galilee. He would not go about in Judea, because the Jews [1] were seeking to kill him. 2¶ Now the Jews' Feast of Booths was at hand. 3¶ So his brothers [2] said to him, "Leave here and go to Judea, that your disciples also may see the works you are doing. 4¶ For no one works in secret if he seeks to be known openly. If you do these things, show yourself to the world." 5¶ For not even his brothers believed in him. 6¶ Jesus said to them, "My time has not yet come, but your time is always here. 7¶ The world cannot hate you, but it hates me because I testify about it that its works are evil. 8¶ You go up to the feast. I am not [3] going up to this feast, for my time has not yet fully come." 9 After saying this, he remained in Galilee.

10¶ But after his brothers had gone up to the feast, then he also went up, not publicly but in private. 11¶ The Jews were looking for him at the feast, and saying, "Where is he?" 12¶ And there was much muttering about him among the people. While some said, "He is a good man," others said, "No, he is leading the people astray." 13 Yet for fear of the Jews no one spoke openly of him.

14¶ About the middle of the feast Jesus went up into the temple and began teaching. 15¶ The Jews therefore marveled, saying, "How is it that this man has learning, [4] when he has never studied?" 16¶ So Jesus answered them, "My teaching is not mine, but his who sent me. 17¶ If anyone's will is to do God's [5] will, he will know whether the teaching is from God or whether I am speaking on my own authority. 18¶ The one who speaks on his own authority seeks his own glory; but the one who seeks the glory of him who sent him is true, and in him there is no falsehood. 19¶ Has not Moses given you the law? Yet none of you keeps the law. Why do you seek to kill me?" 20 The crowd answered, "You have a demon! Who is seeking to kill you?" 21¶ Jesus answered them, "I did one work, and you all marvel at it. 22¶ Moses gave you circumcision (not that it is from Moses, but from the fathers), and you circumcise a man on the Sabbath. 23¶ If on the Sabbath a man receives circumcision, so that the law of Moses may not be broken, are you angry with me because on the Sabbath I made a man's whole body well? 24¶ Do not judge by appearances, but judge with right judgment."

Can This Be the Christ?

25¶ Some of the people of Jerusalem therefore said, "Is not this the man whom they seek to kill? <sup>26</sup>† And here he is, speaking openly, and they say nothing to him! Can it be that the authorities really know that this is the Christ? <sup>27</sup>† But we know where this man comes from, and when the Christ appears, no one will know where he comes from.” <sup>28</sup>† So Jesus proclaimed, as he taught in the temple, “You know me, and you know where I come from? But I have not come of my own accord. He who sent me is true, and him you do not know. <sup>29</sup> I know him, for I come from him, and he sent me.” <sup>30</sup>† So they were seeking to arrest him, but no one laid a hand on him, because his hour had not yet come. <sup>31</sup>† Yet many of the people believed in him. They said, “When the Christ appears, will he do more signs than this man has done?”

Officers Sent to Arrest Jesus

<sup>32</sup>† The Pharisees heard the crowd muttering these things about him, and the chief priests and Pharisees sent officers to arrest him. <sup>33</sup> Jesus then said, “I will be with you a little longer, and then I am going to him who sent me. <sup>34</sup>† You will seek me and you will not find me. Where I am you cannot come.” <sup>35</sup>†† The Jews said to one another, “Where does this man intend to go that we will not find him? Does he intend to go to the Dispersion among the Greeks and teach the Greeks? <sup>36</sup> What does he mean by saying, ‘You will seek me and you will not find me,’ and, ‘Where I am you cannot come’?”

Rivers of Living Water

<sup>37</sup>†† On the last day of the feast, the great day, Jesus stood up and cried out, “If anyone thirsts, let him come to me and drink. <sup>38</sup>† Whoever believes in me, as [\[6\]](#) the Scripture has said, ‘Out of his heart will flow rivers of living water.’” <sup>39</sup>† Now this he said about the Spirit, whom those who believed in him were to receive, for as yet the Spirit had not been given, because Jesus was not yet glorified.

Division Among the People

<sup>40</sup> When they heard these words, some of the people said, “This really is the Prophet.” <sup>41</sup>† Others said, “This is the Christ.” But some said, “Is the Christ to come from Galilee? <sup>42</sup> Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes from the offspring of David, and comes from Bethlehem, the village where David was?” <sup>43</sup>† So there was a division among the people over him. <sup>44</sup>† Some of them wanted to arrest him, but no one laid hands on him.

<sup>45</sup>†The officers then came to the chief priests and Pharisees, who said to them, “Why did you not bring him?” <sup>46</sup>†The officers answered, “No one ever spoke like this man!” <sup>47</sup>†The Pharisees answered them, “Have you also been deceived? <sup>48</sup>†Have any of the authorities or the Pharisees believed in him? <sup>49</sup>†But this crowd that does not know the law is accursed.” <sup>50</sup>†Nicodemus, who had gone to him before, and who was one of them, said to them, <sup>51</sup>†“Does our law judge a man without first giving him a hearing and learning what he does?” <sup>52</sup>†They replied, “Are you from Galilee too? Search and see that no prophet arises from Galilee.”

The Woman Caught in Adultery

<sup>53</sup>†[[They went each to his own house,

JOHN 8 but Jesus went to the Mount of Olives. <sup>2</sup>Early in the morning he came again to the temple. All the people came to him, and he sat down and taught them. <sup>3</sup>The scribes and the Pharisees brought a woman who had been caught in adultery, and placing her in the midst <sup>4</sup>they said to him, “Teacher, this woman has been caught in the act of adultery. <sup>5</sup>Now in the Law Moses commanded us to stone such women. So what do you say?” <sup>6</sup>† This they said to test him, that they might have some charge to bring against him. Jesus bent down and wrote with his finger on the ground. <sup>7</sup>† And as they continued to ask him, he stood up and said to them, “Let him who is without sin among you be the first to throw a stone at her.” <sup>8</sup>† And once more he bent down and wrote on the ground. <sup>9</sup>But when they heard it, they went away one by one, beginning with the older ones, and Jesus was left alone with the woman standing before him. <sup>10</sup>Jesus stood up and said to her, “Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?” <sup>11</sup>† She said, “No one, Lord.” And Jesus said, “Neither do I condemn you; go, and from now on sin no more.”]]

I Am the Light of the World

<sup>12</sup>†† Again Jesus spoke to them, saying, “I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life.” <sup>13</sup>† So the Pharisees said to him, “You are bearing witness about yourself; your testimony is not true.” <sup>14</sup>† Jesus answered, “Even if I do bear witness about myself, my testimony is true, for I know where I came from and where I am going, but you do not know where I come from or where I am going. <sup>15</sup>You judge according to the flesh; I judge no one. <sup>16</sup>Yet even if I do judge, my judgment is true, for it is not I alone who judge, but I and the Father [1] who sent me. <sup>17</sup>† In your Law it is written that the testimony of two people is true. <sup>18</sup>I am the one who bears witness about myself, and the Father who sent me bears witness about me.” <sup>19</sup>† They said to him therefore, “Where is your Father?” Jesus answered, “You know neither me nor my Father. If you knew me, you would know my Father also.” <sup>20</sup>These words he spoke in the treasury, as he taught in the temple; but no one arrested him, because his hour had not yet come.

<sup>21</sup>†† So he said to them again, “I am going away, and you will seek me, and you will die in your sin. Where I am going, you cannot come.” <sup>22</sup>† So the Jews said, “Will he kill himself, since he says, ‘Where I am going, you cannot come’?” <sup>23</sup>† He said to them, “You are from below; I am from above. You are of this world; I am not of this world. <sup>24</sup>† I told you that you would die in your sins, for unless you believe that I am he you will die in your sins.” <sup>25</sup>† So they said to him, “Who are you?” Jesus said to them, “Just what I have been telling you from the beginning. <sup>26</sup>† I have much to say about you and much to judge, but he who sent me is true, and I declare to the world what I have heard from him.” <sup>27</sup>† They did not understand that he had been speaking to them about the Father. <sup>28</sup>† So Jesus said to them, “When you have lifted up the Son of Man, then you will know that I am he, and that I do nothing on my own authority, but speak just as the Father taught me. <sup>29</sup>† And he who sent me is with me. He has not left me alone, for I always do the things that are pleasing to him.” <sup>30</sup>† As he was saying these things, many believed in him.

The Truth Will Set You Free

<sup>31</sup>†† So Jesus said to the Jews who had believed in him, “If you abide in my word, you are truly my disciples, <sup>32</sup>† and you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free.” <sup>33</sup>† They answered him, “We are offspring of Abraham and have never been enslaved to anyone. How is it that you say, ‘You will become free’?”

<sup>34</sup>† Jesus answered them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, everyone who commits sin is a slave [2] to sin. <sup>35</sup>† The slave does not remain in the house forever; the son remains forever. <sup>36</sup>† So if the Son sets you free, you will be free indeed. <sup>37</sup>† I know that you are offspring of Abraham; yet you seek to kill me because my word finds no place in you. <sup>38</sup>† I speak of what I have seen with my Father, and you do what you have heard from your father.”

You Are of Your Father the Devil

<sup>39</sup>† They answered him, “Abraham is our father.” Jesus said to them, “If you were Abraham's children, you would be doing the works Abraham did, <sup>40</sup>† but now you seek to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard from God. This is not what Abraham did. <sup>41</sup>† You are doing the works your father did.” They said to him, “We were not born of sexual immorality. We have one Father—even God.” <sup>42</sup>† Jesus said to them, “If God were your Father, you would love me, for I came from God and I am here. I came not of my own accord, but he sent me. <sup>43</sup>† Why do you not understand what I say? It is because you cannot bear to hear my word. <sup>44</sup>† You are of your father the devil, and your will is to do your father's desires. He was a murderer from the beginning, and has nothing to do with the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks out of his own character, for he is a liar and the father of lies. <sup>45</sup>But because I tell the truth, you do not believe me. <sup>46</sup>‡Which one of you convicts me of sin? If I tell the truth, why do you not believe me? <sup>47</sup>Whoever is of God hears the words of God. The reason why you do not hear them is that you are not of God.”

Before Abraham Was, I Am

<sup>48</sup>‡The Jews answered him, “Are we not right in saying that you are a Samaritan and have a demon?” <sup>49</sup>Jesus answered, “I do not have a demon, but I honor my Father, and you dishonor me. <sup>50</sup>Yet I do not seek my own glory; there is One who seeks it, and he is the judge. <sup>51</sup>‡Truly, truly, I say to you, if anyone keeps my word, he will never see death.” <sup>52</sup>‡The Jews said to him, “Now we know that you have a demon! Abraham died, as did the prophets, yet you say, ‘If anyone keeps my word, he will never taste death.’ <sup>53</sup>Are you greater than our father Abraham, who died? And the prophets died! Who do you make yourself out to be?” <sup>54</sup>Jesus answered, “If I glorify myself, my glory is nothing. It is my Father who glorifies me, of whom you say, ‘He is our God.’ [3] <sup>55</sup>But you have not known him. I know him. If I were to say that I do not know him, I would be a liar like you, but I do know him and I keep his word. <sup>56</sup>‡Your father Abraham rejoiced that he would see my day. He saw it and was glad.” <sup>57</sup>So the Jews said to him, “You are not yet fifty years old, and have you seen Abraham?” [4] <sup>58</sup>‡Jesus said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I am.” <sup>59</sup>‡So they picked up stones to throw at him, but Jesus hid himself and went out of the temple.

Jesus Heals a Man Born Blind

JOHN 9 †As he passed by, he saw a man blind from birth. †And his disciples asked him, “Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?” †Jesus answered, “It was not that this man sinned, or his parents, but that the works of God might be displayed in him. †We must work the works of him who sent me while it is day; night is coming, when no one can work. †As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.” †Having said these things, he spat on the ground and made mud with the saliva. Then he anointed the man's eyes with the mud †and said to him, “Go, wash in the pool of Siloam” (which means Sent). So he went and washed and came back seeing.

†The neighbors and those who had seen him before as a beggar were saying, “Is this not the man who used to sit and beg?” †Some said, “It is he.” Others said, “No, but he is like him.” He kept saying, “I am the man.” †So they said to him, “Then how were your eyes opened?” †He answered, “The man called Jesus made mud and anointed my eyes and said to me, ‘Go to Siloam and wash.’ So I went and washed and received my sight.” †They said to him, “Where is he?” He said, “I do not know.”

††They brought to the Pharisees the man who had formerly been blind. †Now it was a Sabbath day when Jesus made the mud and opened his eyes. †So the Pharisees again asked him how he had received his sight. And he said to them, “He put mud on my eyes, and I washed, and I see.” †Some of the Pharisees said, “This man is not from God, for he does not keep the Sabbath.” But others said, “How can a man who is a sinner do such signs?” And there was a division among them. †So they said again to the blind man, “What do you say about him, since he has opened your eyes?” He said, “He is a prophet.”

†The Jews did not believe that he had been blind and had received his sight, until they called the parents of the man who had received his sight †and asked them, “Is this your son, who you say was born blind? How then does he now see?” †His parents answered, “We know that this is our son and that he was born blind. †But how he now sees we do not know, nor do we know who opened his eyes. Ask him; he is of age. He will speak for himself.” †(His parents said these things because they feared the Jews, for the Jews had already agreed that if anyone should confess Jesus [\[1\]](#) to be Christ, he was to be put out of the synagogue.) †Therefore his parents said, “He is of age; ask him.”

<sup>24</sup>† So for the second time they called the man who had been blind and said to him, “Give glory to God. We know that this man is a sinner.” <sup>25</sup>He answered, “Whether he is a sinner I do not know. One thing I do know, that though I was blind, now I see.” <sup>26</sup>They said to him, “What did he do to you? How did he open your eyes?” <sup>27</sup>† He answered them, “I have told you already, and you would not listen. Why do you want to hear it again? Do you also want to become his disciples?” <sup>28</sup>† And they reviled him, saying, “You are his disciple, but we are disciples of Moses. <sup>29</sup>We know that God has spoken to Moses, but as for this man, we do not know where he comes from.” <sup>30</sup>† The man answered, “Why, this is an amazing thing! You do not know where he comes from, and yet he opened my eyes. <sup>31</sup>We know that God does not listen to sinners, but if anyone is a worshiper of God and does his will, God listens to him. <sup>32</sup>Never since the world began has it been heard that anyone opened the eyes of a man born blind. <sup>33</sup>If this man were not from God, he could do nothing.” <sup>34</sup>† They answered him, “You were born in utter sin, and would you teach us?” And they cast him out.

<sup>35</sup>†† Jesus heard that they had cast him out, and having found him he said, “Do you believe in the Son of Man?” [2] <sup>36</sup>† He answered, “And who is he, sir, that I may believe in him?” <sup>37</sup>Jesus said to him, “You have seen him, and it is he who is speaking to you.” <sup>38</sup>He said, “Lord, I believe,” and he worshiped him. <sup>39</sup>† Jesus said, “For judgment I came into this world, that those who do not see may see, and those who see may become blind.” <sup>40</sup>† Some of the Pharisees near him heard these things, and said to him, “Are we also blind?” <sup>41</sup>† Jesus said to them, “If you were blind, you would have no guilt; [3] but now that you say, ‘We see,’ your guilt remains.

I Am the Good Shepherd

JOHN 10 ††“Truly, truly, I say to you, he who does not enter the sheepfold by the door but climbs in by another way, that man is a thief and a robber. <sup>2</sup>But he who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. <sup>3</sup>†To him the gatekeeper opens. The sheep hear his voice, and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out. <sup>4</sup>†When he has brought out all his own, he goes before them, and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice. <sup>5</sup>A stranger they will not follow, but they will flee from him, for they do not know the voice of strangers.” †This figure of speech Jesus used with them, but they did not understand what he was saying to them.

<sup>7</sup>†So Jesus again said to them, “Truly, truly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep. <sup>8</sup>All who came before me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not listen to them. <sup>9</sup>†I am the door. If anyone enters by me, he will be saved and will go in and out and find pasture. <sup>10</sup>The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy. I came that they may have life and have it abundantly. <sup>11</sup>††I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. <sup>12</sup>†He who is a hired hand and not a shepherd, who does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming and leaves the sheep and flees, and the wolf snatches them and scatters them. <sup>13</sup>He flees because he is a hired hand and cares nothing for the sheep. <sup>14</sup>I am the good shepherd. I know my own and my own know me, <sup>15</sup>just as the Father knows me and I know the Father; and I lay down my life for the sheep. <sup>16</sup>†And I have other sheep that are not of this fold. I must bring them also, and they will listen to my voice. So there will be one flock, one shepherd. <sup>17</sup>†For this reason the Father loves me, because I lay down my life that I may take it up again. <sup>18</sup>No one takes it from me, but I lay it down of my own accord. I have authority to lay it down, and I have authority to take it up again. This charge I have received from my Father.”

<sup>19</sup>†There was again a division among the Jews because of these words. <sup>20</sup>Many of them said, “He has a demon, and is insane; why listen to him?” <sup>21</sup>Others said, “These are not the words of one who is oppressed by a demon. Can a demon open the eyes of the blind?”

I and the Father Are One

<sup>23</sup>and Jesus was walking in the temple, in the colonnade of Solomon. <sup>24</sup>† So the Jews gathered around him and said to him, “How long will you keep us in suspense? If you are the Christ, tell us plainly.” <sup>25</sup> Jesus answered them, “I told you, and you do not believe. The works that I do in my Father's name bear witness about me, <sup>26</sup>† but you do not believe because you are not part of my flock. <sup>27</sup> My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me. <sup>28</sup>† I give them eternal life, and they will never perish, and no one will snatch them out of my hand. <sup>29</sup> My Father, who has given them to me, [\[1\]](#) is greater than all, and no one is able to snatch them out of the Father's hand. <sup>30</sup>† I and the Father are one.”

<sup>31</sup>† The Jews picked up stones again to stone him. <sup>32</sup> Jesus answered them, “I have shown you many good works from the Father; for which of them are you going to stone me?” <sup>33</sup>† The Jews answered him, “It is not for a good work that we are going to stone you but for blasphemy, because you, being a man, make yourself God.” <sup>34</sup>† Jesus answered them, “Is it not written in your Law, ‘I said, you are gods’? <sup>35</sup>† If he called them gods to whom the word of God came—and Scripture cannot be broken— <sup>36</sup> do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world, ‘You are blaspheming,’ because I said, ‘I am the Son of God’? <sup>37</sup> If I am not doing the works of my Father, then do not believe me; <sup>38</sup>† but if I do them, even though you do not believe me, believe the works, that you may know and understand that the Father is in me and I am in the Father.” <sup>39</sup> Again they sought to arrest him, but he escaped from their hands.

<sup>40</sup>† He went away again across the Jordan to the place where John had been baptizing at first, and there he remained. <sup>41</sup> And many came to him. And they said, “John did no sign, but everything that John said about this man was true.” <sup>42</sup> And many believed in him there.

The Death of Lazarus

JOHN 11 ††† Now a certain man was ill, Lazarus of Bethany, the village of Mary and her sister Martha. <sup>2</sup>It was Mary who anointed the Lord with ointment and wiped his feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was ill. <sup>3</sup>† So the sisters sent to him, saying, “Lord, he whom you love is ill.” <sup>4</sup>† But when Jesus heard it he said, “This illness does not lead to death. It is for the glory of God, so that the Son of God may be glorified through it.”

<sup>5</sup>Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus. <sup>6</sup>† So, when he heard that Lazarus [1] was ill, he stayed two days longer in the place where he was. <sup>7</sup>† Then after this he said to the disciples, “Let us go to Judea again.” <sup>8</sup>The disciples said to him, “Rabbi, the Jews were just now seeking to stone you, and are you going there again?” <sup>9</sup>† Jesus answered, “Are there not twelve hours in the day? If anyone walks in the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world. <sup>10</sup>But if anyone walks in the night, he stumbles, because the light is not in him.” <sup>11</sup>† After saying these things, he said to them, “Our friend Lazarus has fallen asleep, but I go to awaken him.” <sup>12</sup>The disciples said to him, “Lord, if he has fallen asleep, he will recover.” <sup>13</sup>Now Jesus had spoken of his death, but they thought that he meant taking rest in sleep. <sup>14</sup>† Then Jesus told them plainly, “Lazarus has died, <sup>15</sup>and for your sake I am glad that I was not there, so that you may believe. But let us go to him.” <sup>16</sup>† So Thomas, called the Twin, [2] said to his fellow disciples, “Let us also go, that we may die with him.”

I Am the Resurrection and the Life

<sup>17</sup>† Now when Jesus came, he found that Lazarus had already been in the tomb four days. <sup>18</sup>† Bethany was near Jerusalem, about two miles [3] off, <sup>19</sup>and many of the Jews had come to Martha and Mary to console them concerning their brother. <sup>20</sup>So when Martha heard that Jesus was coming, she went and met him, but Mary remained seated in the house. <sup>21</sup>† Martha said to Jesus, “Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died. <sup>22</sup>† But even now I know that whatever you ask from God, God will give you.” <sup>23</sup>Jesus said to her, “Your brother will rise again.” <sup>24</sup>Martha said to him, “I know that he will rise again in the resurrection on the last day.” <sup>25</sup>† Jesus said to her, “I am the resurrection and the life. [4] Whoever believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live, <sup>26</sup>and everyone who lives and believes in me shall never die. Do you believe this?” <sup>27</sup>† She said to him, “Yes, Lord; I believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God, who is coming into the world.”

Jesus Weeps

<sup>28</sup>When she had said this, she went and called her sister Mary, saying in private, “The Teacher is here and is calling for you.” <sup>29</sup>And when she heard it, she rose quickly and went to him. <sup>30</sup>Now Jesus had not yet come into the village, but was still in the place where Martha had met him. <sup>31</sup>When the Jews who were with her in the house, consoling her, saw Mary rise quickly and go out, they followed her, supposing that she was going to the tomb to weep there. <sup>32</sup>† Now when Mary came to where Jesus was and saw him, she fell at his feet, saying to him, “Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died.” <sup>33</sup>† When Jesus saw her weeping, and the Jews who had come with her also weeping, he was deeply moved in his spirit and greatly troubled. <sup>34</sup>And he said, “Where have you laid him?” They said to him, “Lord, come and see.” <sup>35</sup>† Jesus wept. <sup>36</sup>So the Jews said, “See how he loved him!” <sup>37</sup>But some of them said, “Could not he who opened the eyes of the blind man also have kept this man from dying?”

Jesus Raises Lazarus

<sup>38</sup>Then Jesus, deeply moved again, came to the tomb. It was a cave, and a stone lay against it. <sup>39</sup>† Jesus said, “Take away the stone.” Martha, the sister of the dead man, said to him, “Lord, by this time there will be an odor, for he has been dead four days.” <sup>40</sup>Jesus said to her, “Did I not tell you that if you believed you would see the glory of God?” <sup>41</sup>† So they took away the stone. And Jesus lifted up his eyes and said, “Father, I thank you that you have heard me. <sup>42</sup>I knew that you always hear me, but I said this on account of the people standing around, that they may believe that you sent me.” <sup>43</sup>† When he had said these things, he cried out with a loud voice, “Lazarus, come out.” <sup>44</sup>The man who had died came out, his hands and feet bound with linen strips, and his face wrapped with a cloth. Jesus said to them, “Unbind him, and let him go.”

The Plot to Kill Jesus

<sup>45</sup>† Many of the Jews therefore, who had come with Mary and had seen what he did, believed in him, <sup>46</sup>but some of them went to the Pharisees and told them what Jesus had done. <sup>47</sup>† So the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered the Council and said, “What are we to do? For this man performs many signs. <sup>48</sup>† If we let him go on like this, everyone will believe in him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and our nation.” <sup>49</sup>† But one of them, Caiaphas, who was high priest that year, said to them, “You know nothing at all. <sup>50</sup>† Nor do you understand that it is better for you that one man should die for the people, not that the whole nation should perish.” <sup>51</sup>† He did not say this of his own accord, but being high priest that year he prophesied that Jesus would die for the nation, <sup>52</sup>† and not for the nation only, but also to gather into one the children of God who are scattered abroad. <sup>53</sup>† So from that day on they made plans to put him to death.

<sup>54</sup>† Jesus therefore no longer walked openly among the Jews, but went from there to the region near the wilderness, to a town called Ephraim, and there he stayed with the disciples.

<sup>55</sup>† Now the Passover of the Jews was at hand, and many went up from the country to Jerusalem before the Passover to purify themselves. <sup>56</sup>† They were looking for [5] Jesus and saying to one another as they stood in the temple, “What do you think? That he will not come to the feast at all?” <sup>57</sup>† Now the chief priests and the Pharisees had given orders that if anyone knew where he was, he should let them know, so that they might arrest him.

Mary Anoints Jesus at Bethany

JOHN 12 †Six days before the Passover, Jesus therefore came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, whom Jesus had raised from the dead. <sup>2</sup>So they gave a dinner for him there. Martha served, and Lazarus was one of those reclining with him at table. <sup>3</sup>†Mary therefore took a pound [1] of expensive ointment made from pure nard, and anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped his feet with her hair. The house was filled with the fragrance of the perfume. <sup>4</sup>But Judas Iscariot, one of his disciples (he who was about to betray him), said, <sup>5</sup>†“Why was this ointment not sold for three hundred denarii [2] and given to the poor?” <sup>6</sup>†He said this, not because he cared about the poor, but because he was a thief, and having charge of the moneybag he used to help himself to what was put into it. <sup>7</sup>†Jesus said, “Leave her alone, so that she may keep it [3] for the day of my burial. <sup>8</sup>†For the poor you always have with you, but you do not always have me.”

The Plot to Kill Lazarus

<sup>9</sup>When the large crowd of the Jews learned that Jesus [4] was there, they came, not only on account of him but also to see Lazarus, whom he had raised from the dead. <sup>10</sup>So the chief priests made plans to put Lazarus to death as well, <sup>11</sup>†because on account of him many of the Jews were going away and believing in Jesus.

The Triumphal Entry

<sup>12</sup>††The next day the large crowd that had come to the feast heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem. <sup>13</sup>†So they took branches of palm trees and went out to meet him, crying out, “Hosanna! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord, even the King of Israel!” <sup>14</sup>†And Jesus found a young donkey and sat on it, just as it is written, <sup>15</sup>“Fear not, daughter of Zion; behold, your king is coming, sitting on a donkey's colt!”

<sup>16</sup>His disciples did not understand these things at first, but when Jesus was glorified, then they remembered that these things had been written about him and had been done to him. <sup>17</sup>The crowd that had been with him when he called Lazarus out of the tomb and raised him from the dead continued to bear witness. <sup>18</sup>The reason why the crowd went to meet him was that they heard he had done this sign. <sup>19</sup>†So the Pharisees said to one another, “You see that you are gaining nothing. Look, the world has gone after him.”

Some Greeks Seek Jesus

<sup>20</sup>‡ Now among those who went up to worship at the feast were some Greeks.
<sup>21</sup> So these came to Philip, who was from Bethsaida in Galilee, and asked him, “Sir, we wish to see Jesus.” <sup>22</sup> Philip went and told Andrew; Andrew and Philip went and told Jesus. <sup>23</sup>‡ And Jesus answered them, “The hour has come for the Son of Man to be glorified. <sup>24</sup>‡ Truly, truly, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the earth and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it bears much fruit. <sup>25</sup>‡ Whoever loves his life loses it, and whoever hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life. <sup>26</sup> If anyone serves me, he must follow me; and where I am, there will my servant be also. If anyone serves me, the Father will honor him.

The Son of Man Must Be Lifted Up

<sup>27</sup>‡ “Now is my soul troubled. And what shall I say? ‘Father, save me from this hour’? But for this purpose I have come to this hour. <sup>28</sup>‡ Father, glorify your name.” Then a voice came from heaven: “I have glorified it, and I will glorify it again.” <sup>29</sup> The crowd that stood there and heard it said that it had thundered. Others said, “An angel has spoken to him.” <sup>30</sup> Jesus answered, “This voice has come for your sake, not mine. <sup>31</sup>‡ Now is the judgment of this world; now will the ruler of this world be cast out. <sup>32</sup>‡ And I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all people to myself.” <sup>33</sup> He said this to show by what kind of death he was going to die. <sup>34</sup>‡ So the crowd answered him, “We have heard from the Law that the Christ remains forever. How can you say that the Son of Man must be lifted up? Who is this Son of Man?” <sup>35</sup>‡ So Jesus said to them, “The light is among you for a little while longer. Walk while you have the light, lest darkness overtake you. The one who walks in the darkness does not know where he is going. <sup>36</sup> While you have the light, believe in the light, that you may become sons of light.”

The Unbelief of the People

When Jesus had said these things, he departed and hid himself from them. <sup>37</sup>‡ Though he had done so many signs before them, they still did not believe in him, <sup>38</sup> so that the word spoken by the prophet Isaiah might be fulfilled: “Lord, who has believed what he heard from us, and to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed?”

<sup>39</sup>Therefore they could not believe. For again Isaiah said, <sup>40</sup>“He has blinded their eyes and hardened their heart, lest they see with their eyes, and understand with their heart, and turn,

and I would heal them.”

<sup>41</sup>‡Isaiah said these things because he saw his glory and spoke of him.

<sup>42</sup>‡Nevertheless, many even of the authorities believed in him, but for fear of the Pharisees they did not confess it, so that they would not be put out of the synagogue; <sup>43</sup>for they loved the glory that comes from man more than the glory that comes from God.

Jesus Came to Save the World

<sup>44</sup>And Jesus cried out and said, “Whoever believes in me, believes not in me but in him who sent me. <sup>45</sup>And whoever sees me sees him who sent me. <sup>46</sup>I have come into the world as light, so that whoever believes in me may not remain in darkness. <sup>47</sup>If anyone hears my words and does not keep them, I do not judge him; for I did not come to judge the world but to save the world. <sup>48</sup>The one who rejects me and does not receive my words has a judge; the word that I have spoken will judge him on the last day. <sup>49</sup>For I have not spoken on my own authority, but the Father who sent me has himself given me a commandment—what to say and what to speak. <sup>50</sup>And I know that his commandment is eternal life. What I say, therefore, I say as the Father has told me.”

Jesus Washes the Disciples' Feet

JOHN 13 †† Now before the Feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that his hour had come to depart out of this world to the Father, having loved his own who were in the world, he loved them to the end. † During supper, when the devil had already put it into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him, † Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he had come from God and was going back to God, † rose from supper. He laid aside his outer garments, and taking a towel, tied it around his waist. † Then he poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet and to wipe them with the towel that was wrapped around him. † He came to Simon Peter, who said to him, "Lord, do you wash my feet?" † Jesus answered him, "What I am doing you do not understand now, but afterward you will understand." † Peter said to him, "You shall never wash my feet." Jesus answered him, "If I do not wash you, you have no share with me." † Simon Peter said to him, "Lord, not my feet only but also my hands and my head!" † Jesus said to him, "The one who has bathed does not need to wash, except for his feet, [1] but is completely clean. And you [2] are clean, but not every one of you." † For he knew who was to betray him; that was why he said, "Not all of you are clean."

† When he had washed their feet and put on his outer garments and resumed his place, he said to them, "Do you understand what I have done to you? † You call me Teacher and Lord, and you are right, for so I am. † If I then, your Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you also ought to wash one another's feet. † For I have given you an example, that you also should do just as I have done to you. † Truly, truly, I say to you, a servant [3] is not greater than his master, nor is a messenger greater than the one who sent him. † If you know these things, blessed are you if you do them. † I am not speaking of all of you; I know whom I have chosen. But the Scripture will be fulfilled, [4] 'He who ate my bread has lifted his heel against me.' † I am telling you this now, before it takes place, that when it does take place you may believe that I am he. † Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever receives the one I send receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who sent me."

One of You Will Betray Me

† After saying these things, Jesus was troubled in his spirit, and testified, "Truly, truly, I say to you, one of you will betray me." † The disciples looked at one another, uncertain of whom he spoke. <sup>23</sup>† One of his disciples, whom Jesus loved, was reclining at table close to Jesus, <sup>[5]</sup> <sup>24</sup>so Simon Peter motioned to him to ask Jesus <sup>[6]</sup> of whom he was speaking. <sup>25</sup>So that disciple, leaning back against Jesus, said to him, “Lord, who is it?” <sup>26</sup>† Jesus answered, “It is he to whom I will give this morsel of bread when I have dipped it.” So when he had dipped the morsel, he gave it to Judas, the son of Simon Iscariot. <sup>27</sup>† Then after he had taken the morsel, Satan entered into him. Jesus said to him, “What you are going to do, do quickly.” <sup>28</sup>Now no one at the table knew why he said this to him. <sup>29</sup>Some thought that, because Judas had the moneybag, Jesus was telling him, “Buy what we need for the feast,” or that he should give something to the poor. <sup>30</sup>† So, after receiving the morsel of bread, he immediately went out. And it was night.

A New Commandment

<sup>31</sup>† When he had gone out, Jesus said, “Now is the Son of Man glorified, and God is glorified in him. <sup>32</sup>If God is glorified in him, God will also glorify him in himself, and glorify him at once. <sup>33</sup>† Little children, yet a little while I am with you. You will seek me, and just as I said to the Jews, so now I also say to you, ‘Where I am going you cannot come.’ <sup>34</sup>†† A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another: just as I have loved you, you also are to love one another. <sup>35</sup>By this all people will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another.”

Jesus Foretells Peter's Denial

<sup>36</sup>† Simon Peter said to him, “Lord, where are you going?” Jesus answered him, “Where I am going you cannot follow me now, but you will follow afterward.” <sup>37</sup>Peter said to him, “Lord, why can I not follow you now? I will lay down my life for you.” <sup>38</sup>† Jesus answered, “Will you lay down your life for me? Truly, truly, I say to you, the rooster will not crow till you have denied me three times.

I Am the Way, and the Truth, and the Life

JOHN 14 ††“Let not your hearts be troubled. Believe in God; [1] believe also in me. ††In my Father's house are many rooms. If it were not so, would I have told you that I go to prepare a place for you? [2] †And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to myself, that where I am you may be also. †And you know the way to where I am going.” [3] †Thomas said to him, “Lord, we do not know where you are going. How can we know the way?” †Jesus said to him, “I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me. †If you had known me, you would have known my Father also. [4] From now on you do know him and have seen him.”

†Philip said to him, “Lord, show us the Father, and it is enough for us.” †Jesus said to him, “Have I been with you so long, and you still do not know me, Philip? Whoever has seen me has seen the Father. How can you say, ‘Show us the Father’? †Do you not believe that I am in the Father and the Father is in me? The words that I say to you I do not speak on my own authority, but the Father who dwells in me does his works. †Believe me that I am in the Father and the Father is in me, or else believe on account of the works themselves.

††“Truly, truly, I say to you, whoever believes in me will also do the works that I do; and greater works than these will he do, because I am going to the Father. †Whatever you ask in my name, this I will do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. †If you ask me [5] anything in my name, I will do it.

Jesus Promises the Holy Spirit

††“If you love me, you will keep my commandments. †And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Helper, [6] to be with you forever, †even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. You know him, for he dwells with you and will be in you.

††“I will not leave you as orphans; I will come to you. †Yet a little while and the world will see me no more, but you will see me. Because I live, you also will live. †In that day you will know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you. †Whoever has my commandments and keeps them, he it is who loves me. And he who loves me will be loved by my Father, and I will love him and manifest myself to him.” †Judas (not Iscariot) said to him, “Lord, how is it that you will manifest yourself to us, and not to the world?” <sup>23</sup>Jesus answered him, “If anyone loves me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our home with him. <sup>24</sup>Whoever does not love me does not keep my words. And the word that you hear is not mine but the Father's who sent me.

<sup>25</sup>“These things I have spoken to you while I am still with you. <sup>26</sup>†But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you. <sup>27</sup>†Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your hearts be troubled, neither let them be afraid. <sup>28</sup>†You heard me say to you, ‘I am going away, and I will come to you.’ If you loved me, you would have rejoiced, because I am going to the Father, for the Father is greater than I. <sup>29</sup>And now I have told you before it takes place, so that when it does take place you may believe. <sup>30</sup>†I will no longer talk much with you, for the ruler of this world is coming. He has no claim on me, <sup>31</sup>but I do as the Father has commanded me, so that the world may know that I love the Father. Rise, let us go from here.

I Am the True Vine

JOHN 15 ††“I am the true vine, and my Father is the vinedresser. †Every branch in me that does not bear fruit he takes away, and every branch that does bear fruit he prunes, that it may bear more fruit. †Already you are clean because of the word that I have spoken to you. †Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit by itself, unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in me. †I am the vine; you are the branches. Whoever abides in me and I in him, he it is that bears much fruit, for apart from me you can do nothing. †If anyone does not abide in me he is thrown away like a branch and withers; and the branches are gathered, thrown into the fire, and burned. †If you abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatever you wish, and it will be done for you. †By this my Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit and so prove to be my disciples. †As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you. Abide in my love. †If you keep my commandments, you will abide in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and abide in his love. †These things I have spoken to you, that my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be full.

†“This is my commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you. †Greater love has no one than this, that someone lay down his life for his friends. †You are my friends if you do what I command you. †No longer do I call you servants, [1] for the servant [2] does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for all that I have heard from my Father I have made known to you. †You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit and that your fruit should abide, so that whatever you ask the Father in my name, he may give it to you. †These things I command you, so that you will love one another.

The Hatred of the World

†“If the world hates you, know that it has hated me before it hated you. †If you were of the world, the world would love you as its own; but because you are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, therefore the world hates you. †Remember the word that I said to you: ‘A servant is not greater than his master.’ If they persecuted me, they will also persecute you. If they kept my word, they will also keep yours. †But all these things they will do to you on account of my name, because they do not know him who sent me. †If I had not come and spoken to them, they would not have been guilty of sin, [3] but now they have no excuse for their sin. <sup>23</sup>Whoever hates me hates my Father also. <sup>24</sup>If I had not done among them the works that no one else did, they would not be guilty of sin, but now they have seen and hated both me and my Father. <sup>25</sup>‡But the word that is written in their Law must be fulfilled: ‘They hated me without a cause.’

<sup>26</sup>‡“But when the Helper comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth, who proceeds from the Father, he will bear witness about me.

<sup>27</sup>And you also will bear witness, because you have been with me from the beginning.

JOHN 16 ††“I have said all these things to you to keep you from falling away. †They will put you out of the synagogues. Indeed, the hour is coming when whoever kills you will think he is offering service to God. †And they will do these things because they have not known the Father, nor me. †But I have said these things to you, that when their hour comes you may remember that I told them to you.

The Work of the Holy Spirit

“I did not say these things to you from the beginning, because I was with you. †But now I am going to him who sent me, and none of you asks me, ‘Where are you going?’ †But because I have said these things to you, sorrow has filled your heart. †Nevertheless, I tell you the truth: it is to your advantage that I go away, for if I do not go away, the Helper will not come to you. But if I go, I will send him to you. †And when he comes, he will convict the world concerning sin and righteousness and judgment: †concerning sin, because they do not believe in me; †concerning righteousness, because I go to the Father, and you will see me no longer; †concerning judgment, because the ruler of this world is judged.

†“I still have many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now. †When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all the truth, for he will not speak on his own authority, but whatever he hears he will speak, and he will declare to you the things that are to come. †He will glorify me, for he will take what is mine and declare it to you. †All that the Father has is mine; therefore I said that he will take what is mine and declare it to you.

Your Sorrow Will Turn into Joy

†“A little while, and you will see me no longer; and again a little while, and you will see me.” †So some of his disciples said to one another, “What is this that he says to us, ‘A little while, and you will not see me, and again a little while, and you will see me’; and, ‘because I am going to the Father?’” †So they were saying, “What does he mean by ‘a little while’? We do not know what he is talking about.” †Jesus knew that they wanted to ask him, so he said to them, “Is this what you are asking yourselves, what I meant by saying, ‘A little while and you will not see me, and again a little while and you will see me’? †Truly, truly, I say to you, you will weep and lament, but the world will rejoice. You will be sorrowful, but your sorrow will turn into joy. †When a woman is giving birth, she has sorrow because her hour has come, but when she has delivered the baby, she no longer remembers the anguish, for joy that a human being has been born into the world. <sup>22</sup>† So also you have sorrow now, but I will see you again, and your hearts will rejoice, and no one will take your joy from you. <sup>23</sup>† In that day you will ask nothing of me. Truly, truly, I say to you, whatever you ask of the Father in my name, he will give it to you. <sup>24</sup>† Until now you have asked nothing in my name. Ask, and you will receive, that your joy may be full.

I Have Overcome the World

<sup>25</sup>† “I have said these things to you in figures of speech. The hour is coming when I will no longer speak to you in figures of speech but will tell you plainly about the Father. <sup>26</sup>† In that day you will ask in my name, and I do not say to you that I will ask the Father on your behalf; <sup>27</sup> for the Father himself loves you, because you have loved me and have believed that I came from God. [1] <sup>28</sup>† I came from the Father and have come into the world, and now I am leaving the world and going to the Father.”

<sup>29</sup> His disciples said, “Ah, now you are speaking plainly and not using figurative speech! <sup>30</sup> Now we know that you know all things and do not need anyone to question you; this is why we believe that you came from God.” <sup>31</sup> Jesus answered them, “Do you now believe? <sup>32</sup> Behold, the hour is coming, indeed it has come, when you will be scattered, each to his own home, and will leave me alone. Yet I am not alone, for the Father is with me. <sup>33</sup>† I have said these things to you, that in me you may have peace. In the world you will have tribulation. But take heart; I have overcome the world.”

The High Priestly Prayer

JOHN 17 ††When Jesus had spoken these words, he lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, “Father, the hour has come; glorify your Son that the Son may glorify you, †since you have given him authority over all flesh, to give eternal life to all whom you have given him. †And this is eternal life, that they know you the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom you have sent. †I glorified you on earth, having accomplished the work that you gave me to do. †And now, Father, glorify me in your own presence with the glory that I had with you before the world existed.

†“I have manifested your name to the people whom you gave me out of the world. Yours they were, and you gave them to me, and they have kept your word. †Now they know that everything that you have given me is from you. †For I have given them the words that you gave me, and they have received them and have come to know in truth that I came from you; and they have believed that you sent me. †I am praying for them. I am not praying for the world but for those whom you have given me, for they are yours. †All mine are yours, and yours are mine, and I am glorified in them. †And I am no longer in the world, but they are in the world, and I am coming to you. Holy Father, keep them in your name, which you have given me, that they may be one, even as we are one. †While I was with them, I kept them in your name, which you have given me. I have guarded them, and not one of them has been lost except the son of destruction, that the Scripture might be fulfilled. †But now I am coming to you, and these things I speak in the world, that they may have my joy fulfilled in themselves. †I have given them your word, and the world has hated them because they are not of the world, just as I am not of the world. †I do not ask that you take them out of the world, but that you keep them from the evil one. [1] †They are not of the world, just as I am not of the world. †Sanctify them [2] in the truth; your word is truth. †As you sent me into the world, so I have sent them into the world. †And for their sake I consecrate myself, [3] that they also may be sanctified [4] in truth.

†“I do not ask for these only, but also for those who will believe in me through their word, †that they may all be one, just as you, Father, are in me, and I in you, that they also may be in us, so that the world may believe that you have sent me. †The glory that you have given me I have given to them, that they may be one even as we are one, †I in them and you in me, that they may become perfectly one, so that the world may know that you sent me and loved them even as you loved me. <sup>24</sup>†Father, I desire that they also, whom you have given me, may be with me where I am, to see my glory that you have given me because you loved me before the foundation of the world. <sup>25</sup>†O righteous Father, even though the world does not know you, I know you, and these know that you have sent me. <sup>26</sup>I made known to them your name, and I will continue to make it known, that the love with which you have loved me may be in them, and I in them.”

Betrayal and Arrest of Jesus

JOHN 18 †† When Jesus had spoken these words, he went out with his disciples across the Kidron Valley, where there was a garden, which he and his disciples entered. <sup>2</sup>Now Judas, who betrayed him, also knew the place, for Jesus often met there with his disciples. <sup>3</sup>† So Judas, having procured a band of soldiers and some officers from the chief priests and the Pharisees, went there with lanterns and torches and weapons. <sup>4</sup>†† Then Jesus, knowing all that would happen to him, came forward and said to them, “Whom do you seek?” <sup>5</sup>They answered him, “Jesus of Nazareth.” Jesus said to them, “I am he.” [1] Judas, who betrayed him, was standing with them. <sup>6</sup>When Jesus [2] said to them, “I am he,” they drew back and fell to the ground. <sup>7</sup>So he asked them again, “Whom do you seek?” And they said, “Jesus of Nazareth.” <sup>8</sup>Jesus answered, “I told you that I am he. So, if you seek me, let these men go.” <sup>9</sup>† This was to fulfill the word that he had spoken: “Of those whom you gave me I have lost not one.” <sup>10</sup>† Then Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's servant [3] and cut off his right ear. (The servant's name was Malchus.) <sup>11</sup>† So Jesus said to Peter, “Put your sword into its sheath; shall I not drink the cup that the Father has given me?”

Jesus Faces Annas and Caiaphas

<sup>12</sup>So the band of soldiers and their captain and the officers of the Jews arrested Jesus and bound him. <sup>13</sup>†† First they led him to Annas, for he was the father-in-law of Caiaphas, who was high priest that year. <sup>14</sup>It was Caiaphas who had advised the Jews that it would be expedient that one man should die for the people.

Peter Denies Jesus

<sup>15</sup>† Simon Peter followed Jesus, and so did another disciple. Since that disciple was known to the high priest, he entered with Jesus into the court of the high priest, <sup>16</sup>†† but Peter stood outside at the door. So the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to the servant girl who kept watch at the door, and brought Peter in. <sup>17</sup>The servant girl at the door said to Peter, “You also are not one of this man's disciples, are you?” He said, “I am not.” <sup>18</sup>Now the servants [4] and officers had made a charcoal fire, because it was cold, and they were standing and warming themselves. Peter also was with them, standing and warming himself.

The High Priest Questions Jesus

<sup>19</sup>† The high priest then questioned Jesus about his disciples and his teaching. <sup>20</sup> Jesus answered him, “I have spoken openly to the world. I have always taught in synagogues and in the temple, where all Jews come together. I have said nothing in secret. <sup>21</sup> Why do you ask me? Ask those who have heard me what I said to them; they know what I said.” <sup>22</sup> When he had said these things, one of the officers standing by struck Jesus with his hand, saying, “Is that how you answer the high priest?” <sup>23</sup>† Jesus answered him, “If what I said is wrong, bear witness about the wrong; but if what I said is right, why do you strike me?” <sup>24</sup>† Annas then sent him bound to Caiaphas the high priest.

Peter Denies Jesus Again

<sup>25</sup>† Now Simon Peter was standing and warming himself. So they said to him, “You also are not one of his disciples, are you?” He denied it and said, “I am not.” <sup>26</sup> One of the servants of the high priest, a relative of the man whose ear Peter had cut off, asked, “Did I not see you in the garden with him?” <sup>27</sup> Peter again denied it, and at once a rooster crowed.

Jesus Before Pilate

<sup>28</sup>†† Then they led Jesus from the house of Caiaphas to the governor's headquarters. [5] It was early morning. They themselves did not enter the governor's headquarters, so that they would not be defiled, but could eat the Passover. <sup>29</sup>† So Pilate went outside to them and said, “What accusation do you bring against this man?” <sup>30</sup> They answered him, “If this man were not doing evil, we would not have delivered him over to you.” <sup>31</sup>† Pilate said to them, “Take him yourselves and judge him by your own law.” The Jews said to him, “It is not lawful for us to put anyone to death.” <sup>32</sup>† This was to fulfill the word that Jesus had spoken to show by what kind of death he was going to die.

My Kingdom Is Not of This World

<sup>33</sup> So Pilate entered his headquarters again and called Jesus and said to him, “Are you the King of the Jews?” <sup>34</sup>† Jesus answered, “Do you say this of your own accord, or did others say it to you about me?” <sup>35</sup> Pilate answered, “Am I a Jew? Your own nation and the chief priests have delivered you over to me. What have you done?” <sup>36</sup>† Jesus answered, “My kingdom is not of this world. If my kingdom were of this world, my servants would have been fighting, that I might not be delivered over to the Jews. But my kingdom is not from the world.”

<sup>37</sup>Then Pilate said to him, “So you are a king?” Jesus answered, “You say that I am a king. For this purpose I was born and for this purpose I have come into the world—to bear witness to the truth. Everyone who is of the truth listens to my voice.” <sup>38</sup>† Pilate said to him, “What is truth?”

After he had said this, he went back outside to the Jews and told them, “I find no guilt in him. <sup>39</sup>But you have a custom that I should release one man for you at the Passover. So do you want me to release to you the King of the Jews?” <sup>40</sup>† They cried out again, “Not this man, but Barabbas!” Now Barabbas was a robber. [6]

Jesus Delivered to Be Crucified

JOHN 19 †Then Pilate took Jesus and flogged him. †And the soldiers twisted together a crown of thorns and put it on his head and arrayed him in a purple robe. †They came up to him, saying, “Hail, King of the Jews!” and struck him with their hands. †Pilate went out again and said to them, “See, I am bringing him out to you that you may know that I find no guilt in him.” †So Jesus came out, wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe. Pilate said to them, “Behold the man!” †When the chief priests and the officers saw him, they cried out, “Crucify him, crucify him!” Pilate said to them, “Take him yourselves and crucify him, for I find no guilt in him.” †The Jews answered him, “We have a law, and according to that law he ought to die because he has made himself the Son of God.” †When Pilate heard this statement, he was even more afraid. †He entered his headquarters again and said to Jesus, “Where are you from?” But Jesus gave him no answer. †So Pilate said to him, “You will not speak to me? Do you not know that I have authority to release you and authority to crucify you?” †Jesus answered him, “You would have no authority over me at all unless it had been given you from above. Therefore he who delivered me over to you has the greater sin.”

†From then on Pilate sought to release him, but the Jews cried out, “If you release this man, you are not Caesar's friend. Everyone who makes himself a king opposes Caesar.” †So when Pilate heard these words, he brought Jesus out and sat down on the judgment seat at a place called The Stone Pavement, and in Aramaic [1] Gabbatha. †Now it was the day of Preparation of the Passover. It was about the sixth hour. [2] He said to the Jews, “Behold your King!” †They cried out, “Away with him, away with him, crucify him!” Pilate said to them, “Shall I crucify your King?” The chief priests answered, “We have no king but Caesar.” †So he delivered him over to them to be crucified.

The Crucifixion

So they took Jesus, †and he went out, bearing his own cross, to the place called The Place of a Skull, which in Aramaic is called Golgotha. †There they crucified him, and with him two others, one on either side, and Jesus between them. †Pilate also wrote an inscription and put it on the cross. It read, “Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews.” †Many of the Jews read this inscription, for the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city, and it was written in Aramaic, in Latin, and in Greek. <sup>21</sup>So the chief priests of the Jews said to Pilate, “Do not write, ‘The King of the Jews,’ but rather, ‘This man said, I am King of the Jews.’” <sup>22</sup>Pilate answered, “What I have written I have written.”

<sup>23</sup>† When the soldiers had crucified Jesus, they took his garments and divided them into four parts, one part for each soldier; also his tunic. [3] But the tunic was seamless, woven in one piece from top to bottom, <sup>24</sup>† so they said to one another, “Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it to see whose it shall be.” This was to fulfill the Scripture which says, “They divided my garments among them, and for my clothing they cast lots.”

So the soldiers did these things, <sup>25</sup>† but standing by the cross of Jesus were his mother and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene. <sup>26</sup>† When Jesus saw his mother and the disciple whom he loved standing nearby, he said to his mother, “Woman, behold, your son!” <sup>27</sup> Then he said to the disciple, “Behold, your mother!” And from that hour the disciple took her to his own home.

The Death of Jesus

<sup>28</sup> After this, Jesus, knowing that all was now finished, said (to fulfill the Scripture), “I thirst.” <sup>29</sup>† A jar full of sour wine stood there, so they put a sponge full of the sour wine on a hyssop branch and held it to his mouth. <sup>30</sup>† When Jesus had received the sour wine, he said, “It is finished,” and he bowed his head and gave up his spirit.

Jesus' Side Is Pierced

<sup>31</sup>† Since it was the day of Preparation, and so that the bodies would not remain on the cross on the Sabbath (for that Sabbath was a high day), the Jews asked Pilate that their legs might be broken and that they might be taken away. <sup>32</sup> So the soldiers came and broke the legs of the first, and of the other who had been crucified with him. <sup>33</sup> But when they came to Jesus and saw that he was already dead, they did not break his legs. <sup>34</sup>† But one of the soldiers pierced his side with a spear, and at once there came out blood and water. <sup>35</sup>† He who saw it has borne witness—his testimony is true, and he knows that he is telling the truth—that you also may believe. <sup>36</sup>† For these things took place that the Scripture might be fulfilled: “Not one of his bones will be broken.” <sup>37</sup> And again another Scripture says, “They will look on him whom they have pierced.”

Jesus Is Buried

<sup>38</sup>† After these things Joseph of Arimathea, who was a disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus, and Pilate gave him permission. So he came and took away his body.

<sup>39</sup>† Nicodemus also, who earlier had come to Jesus [4] by night, came bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about seventy-five pounds [5] in weight. <sup>40</sup>† So they took the body of Jesus and bound it in linen cloths with the spices, as is the burial custom of the Jews. <sup>41</sup>† Now in the place where he was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb in which no one had yet been laid. <sup>42</sup> So because of the Jewish day of Preparation, since the tomb was close at hand, they laid Jesus there.

The Resurrection

JOHN 20 †† Now on the first day of the week Mary Magdalene came to the tomb early, while it was still dark, and saw that the stone had been taken away from the tomb. † So she ran and went to Simon Peter and the other disciple, the one whom Jesus loved, and said to them, “They have taken the Lord out of the tomb, and we do not know where they have laid him.” † So Peter went out with the other disciple, and they were going toward the tomb. † Both of them were running together, but the other disciple outran Peter and reached the tomb first. † And stooping to look in, he saw the linen cloths lying there, but he did not go in. † Then Simon Peter came, following him, and went into the tomb. He saw the linen cloths lying there, † and the face cloth, which had been on Jesus' [1] head, not lying with the linen cloths but folded up in a place by itself. † Then the other disciple, who had reached the tomb first, also went in, and he saw and believed; † for as yet they did not understand the Scripture, that he must rise from the dead. † Then the disciples went back to their homes.

Jesus Appears to Mary Magdalene

† But Mary stood weeping outside the tomb, and as she wept she stooped to look into the tomb. † And she saw two angels in white, sitting where the body of Jesus had lain, one at the head and one at the feet. † They said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping?” She said to them, “They have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid him.” † Having said this, she turned around and saw Jesus standing, but she did not know that it was Jesus. † Jesus said to her, “Woman, why are you weeping? Whom are you seeking?” Supposing him to be the gardener, she said to him, “Sir, if you have carried him away, tell me where you have laid him, and I will take him away.” † Jesus said to her, “Mary.” She turned and said to him in Aramaic, [2] “Rabboni!” (which means Teacher). † Jesus said to her, “Do not cling to me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father; but go to my brothers and say to them, ‘I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God.’” † Mary Magdalene went and announced to the disciples, “I have seen the Lord”—and that he had said these things to her.

Jesus Appears to the Disciples

† On the evening of that day, the first day of the week, the doors being locked where the disciples were for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood among them and said to them, “Peace be with you.” <sup>20</sup>† When he had said this, he showed them his hands and his side. Then the disciples were glad when they saw the Lord. <sup>21</sup>† Jesus said to them again, “Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, even so I am sending you.” <sup>22</sup>† And when he had said this, he breathed on them and said to them, “Receive the Holy Spirit. <sup>23</sup>† If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you withhold forgiveness from any, it is withheld.”

Jesus and Thomas

<sup>24</sup>† Now Thomas, one of the Twelve, called the Twin, [3] was not with them when Jesus came. <sup>25</sup> So the other disciples told him, “We have seen the Lord.” But he said to them, “Unless I see in his hands the mark of the nails, and place my finger into the mark of the nails, and place my hand into his side, I will never believe.”

<sup>26</sup> Eight days later, his disciples were inside again, and Thomas was with them. Although the doors were locked, Jesus came and stood among them and said, “Peace be with you.” <sup>27</sup> Then he said to Thomas, “Put your finger here, and see my hands; and put out your hand, and place it in my side. Do not disbelieve, but believe.” <sup>28</sup>† Thomas answered him, “My Lord and my God!” <sup>29</sup>† Jesus said to him, “Have you believed because you have seen me? Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed.”

The Purpose of This Book

<sup>30</sup>† Now Jesus did many other signs in the presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book; <sup>31</sup> but these are written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name.

Jesus Appears to Seven Disciples

JOHN 21 †† After this Jesus revealed himself again to the disciples by the Sea of Tiberias, and he revealed himself in this way. † Simon Peter, Thomas (called the Twin), Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, the sons of Zebedee, and two others of his disciples were together. † Simon Peter said to them, “I am going fishing.” They said to him, “We will go with you.” They went out and got into the boat, but that night they caught nothing.

† Just as day was breaking, Jesus stood on the shore; yet the disciples did not know that it was Jesus. † Jesus said to them, “Children, do you have any fish?” They answered him, “No.” † He said to them, “Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some.” So they cast it, and now they were not able to haul it in, because of the quantity of fish. † That disciple whom Jesus loved therefore said to Peter, “It is the Lord!” When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put on his outer garment, for he was stripped for work, and threw himself into the sea. † The other disciples came in the boat, dragging the net full of fish, for they were not far from the land, but about a hundred yards [1] off.

† When they got out on land, they saw a charcoal fire in place, with fish laid out on it, and bread. † Jesus said to them, “Bring some of the fish that you have just caught.” † So Simon Peter went aboard and hauled the net ashore, full of large fish, 153 of them. And although there were so many, the net was not torn. † Jesus said to them, “Come and have breakfast.” Now none of the disciples dared ask him, “Who are you?” They knew it was the Lord. † Jesus came and took the bread and gave it to them, and so with the fish. † This was now the third time that Jesus was revealed to the disciples after he was raised from the dead.

Jesus and Peter

†† When they had finished breakfast, Jesus said to Simon Peter, “Simon, son of John, do you love me more than these?” He said to him, “Yes, Lord; you know that I love you.” He said to him, “Feed my lambs.” † He said to him a second time, “Simon, son of John, do you love me?” He said to him, “Yes, Lord; you know that I love you.” He said to him, “Tend my sheep.” † He said to him the third time, “Simon, son of John, do you love me?” Peter was grieved because he said to him the third time, “Do you love me?” and he said to him, “Lord, you know everything; you know that I love you.” Jesus said to him, “Feed my sheep.

<sup>18</sup>‡ Truly, truly, I say to you, when you were young, you used to dress yourself and walk wherever you wanted, but when you are old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will dress you and carry you where you do not want to go.”
<sup>19</sup>(This he said to show by what kind of death he was to glorify God.) And after saying this he said to him, “Follow me.”

Jesus and the Beloved Apostle

<sup>20</sup>‡ Peter turned and saw the disciple whom Jesus loved following them, the one who had been reclining at table close to him and had said, “Lord, who is it that is going to betray you?”
<sup>21</sup>When Peter saw him, he said to Jesus, “Lord, what about this man?”
<sup>22</sup>‡ Jesus said to him, “If it is my will that he remain until I come, what is that to you? You follow me!”
<sup>23</sup>So the saying spread abroad among the brothers [2] that this disciple was not to die; yet Jesus did not say to him that he was not to die, but, “If it is my will that he remain until I come, what is that to you?”

<sup>24</sup>‡ This is the disciple who is bearing witness about these things, and who has written these things, and we know that his testimony is true.

<sup>25</sup>‡ Now there are also many other things that Jesus did. Were every one of them to be written, I suppose that the world itself could not contain the books that would be written.

Study Notes

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:1–18 These verses constitute the prologue, which introduces many of the major themes that John will treat, especially the main theme that “Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God” (vv. 12–14, 18; cf. 20:31). Several key words repeated throughout the Gospel (e.g., life, light, witness, glory) appear here. The remainder of the Gospel develops the theme of the prologue as to how the eternal “Word” of God, Jesus the Messiah and Son of God, became flesh and ministered among men so that all who believe in him would be saved. Although John wrote the prologue with the simplest vocabulary in the NT, the truths that the prologue conveys are the most profound. Six basic truths about Christ as the Son of God are featured in the prologue: 1) the eternal Christ (1:1–3); 2) the incarnate Christ (vv. 4–5); 3) the forerunner of Christ (vv. 6–8); 4) the unrecognized Christ (vv. 9–11); 5) the omnipotent Christ (vv. 12–13); and 6) the glorious Christ (vv. 14–18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:1 In the beginning. In contrast to 1 John 1:1 where John used a similar phrase (“from the beginning”) to refer to the starting point of Jesus’ ministry and gospel preaching, this phrase parallels Gen. 1:1 where the same phrase is used. John used the phrase in an absolute sense to refer to the beginning of the time-space-material universe. was. The verb highlights the eternal pre-existence of the Word, i.e., Jesus Christ. Before the universe began, the Second Person of the Trinity always existed; i.e., he always was (cf. John 8:58). This word is used in contrast with the verb “were made” in 1:3, which indicates a beginning in time. Because of John’s theme that Jesus Christ is the eternal God, the Second Person of the Trinity, he did not include a genealogy as Matthew and Luke did. While in terms of Jesus’ humanity, he had a human genealogy; in terms of his deity, he has no genealogy. the Word. John borrowed the use of the term “Word” not only from the vocabulary of the OT but also from Greek philosophy, in which the term was essentially impersonal, signifying the rational principle of “divine reason,” “mind,” or even “wisdom.” John, however, imbued the term entirely with OT and Christian meaning (e.g., Gen. 1:3 where God’s word brought the world into being; Ps. 33:6; 107:20; Prov. 8:27 where God’s word is his powerful self-expression in creation, wisdom, revelation, and salvation) and made it refer to a person, i.e., Jesus Christ. Greek philosophical usage, therefore, is not the exclusive background of John’s thought. Strategically, the term “Word” serves as a bridge-word to reach not only Jews but also the unsaved Greeks. John chose this concept because both Jews and Greeks were familiar with it. the Word was with God. The Word, as the Second Person of the Trinity, was in intimate fellowship with God the Father throughout all eternity. Yet, although the Word enjoyed the splendors of heaven and eternity with the Father (Isa. 6:1–13; cf. John 12:41; 17:5), he willingly gave up his heavenly status, taking the form of a man, and became subject to the death of the cross (see notes on Phil. 2:6–8). was God. The Greek construction emphasizes that the Word had all the essence or attributes of deity, i.e., Jesus the Messiah was fully God (cf. Col. 2:9). Even in his incarnation when he emptied himself, he did not cease to be God but took on a genuine human nature/body and voluntarily refrained from the independent exercise of the attributes of deity.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:3 All things were made through him. Jesus Christ was God the Father’s agent involved in creating everything in the universe (Col. 1:16–17; Heb. 1:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:4–5 life . . . light . . . darkness. John introduces the reader to contrastive themes that occur throughout the Gospel. “Life” and “light” are qualities of the Word that are shared not only among the Godhead (5:26) but also by those who respond to the gospel message regarding Jesus Christ (8:12; 9:5; 10:28; 11:25; 14:6). John uses the word “life” about 36 times in his Gospel, far more than any other NT book. It refers not only in a broad sense to physical and temporal life that the Son imparted to the created world through his involvement as the agent of creation (1:3), but especially to spiritual and eternal life imparted as a gift through belief in him (3:15; 17:3; Eph. 2:5). In Scripture “light” and “darkness” are very familiar symbols. Intellectually, “light” refers to biblical truth while “darkness” refers to error or falsehood (cf. Ps. 119:105; Prov. 6:23). Morally, “light” refers to holiness or purity (1 John 1:5) while “darkness” refers to sin or wrongdoing (John 3:19; 12:35, 46; Rom. 13:11–14; 1 Thess. 5:4–7; 1 John 1:6; 2:8–11). “Darkness” has special significance in relationship to Satan (and his demonic cohorts), who rules the present spiritually dark world (1 John 5:19) as the “prince of the power of the air” promoting spiritual darkness and rebellion against God (Eph. 2:2). John uses the term “darkness” 14 times (eight in the Gospel and six in 1 John) out of its 17 occurrences in the NT, making it almost an exclusive Johannine word. In John, “light” and “life” have their special significance in relationship to the Lord Jesus Christ, the Word (John 1:9; 9:5; 1 John 1:5–7; 5:12, 20).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:5 overcome. Darkness is not able to overcome or conquer the light. Just as a single candle can overcome a room filled with darkness, so also the powers of darkness are overcome by the person and work of the Son through his death on the cross (cf. 19:11a).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:6 sent from God. As forerunner to Jesus, John was to bear witness to him as the Messiah and Son of God. With John's ministry, the "400 silent years" between the end of the OT and the beginning of the NT period, during which God had given no revelation, ended. John. The name "John" always refers to John the Baptist in this Gospel, never to the apostle John. The writer of this Gospel calls him merely "John" without using the phrase "the Baptist," unlike the other Gospels, which use the additional description to identify him (Matt. 3:1; Mark 6:14; Luke 7:20). Moreover, John the apostle (or, son of Zebedee) never identified himself directly by name in the Gospel even though he was one of the three most intimate associates of Jesus (Matt. 17:1). Such silence argues strongly that John the apostle authored the Gospel and that his readers knew full well that he composed the Gospel that bears his name. For more on John the Baptist, cf. Matt. 3:1–6; Mark 1:2–6; Luke 1:5–25, 57–80.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:7 witness, to bear witness. The terms "witness" or "to bear witness" receive special attention in this Gospel, reflecting the courtroom language of the OT where the truth of a matter was to be established on the basis of multiple witnesses (8:17–18; cf. Deut. 17:6; 19:15). Not only did John the Baptist witness regarding Jesus as Messiah and Son of God (John 1:19–34; 3:27–30; 5:35), but there were other witnesses: 1) the Samaritan woman (4:29); 2) the works of Jesus (10:25); 3) the Father (5:32–37); 4) the OT (5:39–40); 5) the crowd (12:17); and 6) the Holy Spirit (15:26–27). that all might believe through him. "Him" refers not to Christ but to John as the agent who witnessed to Christ. The purpose of his testimony was to produce faith in Jesus Christ as the Savior of the world.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:8 He was not the light. While John the Baptist was the agent of belief, Jesus Christ is the object of belief. Although John's person and ministry were vitally important (Matt. 11:11), he was merely the forerunner who announced the coming of the Messiah. Many years after John's ministry and death, some still failed to understand John's subordinate role to Jesus (Acts 19:1–3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:9 The true light . . . coming into the world. This phrase highlights the incarnation of Jesus Christ (v. 14; 3:16). enlightens everyone.

Through God's sovereign power, every man has enough light to be responsible. God has planted his knowledge in man through general revelation in creation and conscience. The result of general revelation, however, does not produce salvation but either leads to the complete light of Jesus Christ or produces condemnation in those who reject such "light" (see notes on Rom. 1:19–20; 2:12–16). The coming of Jesus Christ was the fulfillment and embodiment of the light that God had placed inside the heart of man. the world. The basic sense of this Greek word meaning "an ornament" is illustrated by the word "adorning" (1 Pet. 3:3). While the NT uses it a total of 185 times, John had a particular fondness for this term, using it 78 times in his Gospel, 24 times in 1–3 John and three times in Revelation. John gives it several shades of meaning: 1) the physical created universe (John 1:9; cf. v. 3; 21:24–25); 2) humanity in general (3:16; 6:33, 51; 12:19); and 3) the invisible spiritual system of evil dominated by Satan and all that it offers in opposition to God, his Word, and his people (3:19; 4:42; 7:7; 14:17, 22, 27, 30; 15:18–19; 16:8, 20, 33; 17:6, 9, 14; cf. 1 Cor. 1:21; 2 Pet. 1:4; 1 John 5:19). The latter concept is the significant new use that the term acquires in the NT and that predominates in John. Thus, in the majority of times that John uses the word, it has decidedly negative overtones.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:11 his own . . . his own. The first usage of "his own" most likely refers to the world of mankind in general, while the second refers to the Jewish nation. As Creator, the world belongs to the Word as his property but the world did not even recognize him due to spiritual blindness (cf. also v. 10). John used the second occurrence of "his own" in a narrower sense to refer to Jesus' own physical lineage, the Jews. Although they possessed the Scriptures that testified of his person and coming, they still did not accept him (Isa. 65:2–3; Jer. 7:25). This theme of Jewish rejection of their promised Messiah receives special attention in John's Gospel (John 12:37–41).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:12–13 These verses stand in contrast to vv. 10–11. John softens the sweeping rejection of Messiah by stressing a believing remnant. This previews the book since the first 12 chapters stress the rejection of Christ, while chs. 13–21 focus on the believing remnant who received him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:12 all who did receive him, who believed in his name. The second phrase describes the first. To receive him who is the Word of God means to acknowledge his claims, place one's faith in him, and thereby yield allegiance to him. gave. The term emphasizes the grace of God involved in the gift of salvation (cf. Eph. 2:8–10). the right. Those who receive Jesus, the Word, receive full authority to claim the exalted title of “children of God.” his name. Denotes the character of the person himself. See note on John 14:13–14.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:13 of God. The divine side of salvation: ultimately it is not a man’s will that produces salvation but God’s will (cf. 3:6–8; Titus 3:5; 1 John 2:29).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:14 the Word became flesh. While Christ as God was uncreated and eternal (see notes on v. 1), the word “became” emphasizes Christ’s taking on humanity (cf. Heb. 1:1–3; 2:14–18). This reality is surely the most profound ever because it indicates that the Infinite became finite; the Eternal was conformed to time; the Invisible became visible; the supernatural One reduced himself to the natural. In the incarnation, however, the Word did not cease to be God but became God in human flesh, i.e., undiminished deity in human form as a man (1 Tim. 3:16). dwelt. Meaning “to pitch a tabernacle,” or “live in a tent.” The term recalls to mind the OT tabernacle where God met with Israel before the temple was constructed (Ex. 25:8). It was called the “tent of meeting” (Ex. 33:7; “tabernacle of witness”—LXX) where “the Lord used to speak to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend” (Ex. 33:11). In the NT, God chose to dwell among his people in a far more personal way through becoming a man. In the OT, when the tabernacle was completed, God’s Shekinah presence filled the entire structure (Ex. 40:34; cf. 1 Kings 8:10). When the Word became flesh, the glorious presence of deity was embodied in him (cf. Col. 2:9). we have seen his glory. Although his deity may have been veiled in human flesh, glimpses exist in the Gospels of his divine majesty. The disciples saw glimpses of his glory on the Mount of Transfiguration (Matt. 17:1–8). The reference to Christ’s glory, however, was not only visible but also spiritual. They saw him display the attributes or characteristics of God (grace, goodness, mercy, wisdom, truth, etc.; cf. Ex. 33:18–23). glory as of . . . the Father. Jesus as God displayed the same essential glory as the Father. They are one in essential nature (cf. John 5:17–30; 8:19; 10:30). only. The term “only” has the idea of singular uniqueness, of being beloved like no other. By this word, John emphasized the exclusive character of the relationship between the Father and the Son in the Godhead (cf. 3:16, 18; 1 John 4:9). It does not connote origin but rather unique prominence; e.g., it was used of Isaac (Heb. 11:17) who was Abraham’s second son (Ishmael being the first; cf. Gen. 16:15 with Gen. 21:2–3). full of grace and truth. John probably had Ex. 33–34 in mind. On that occasion, Moses requested that God display his glory to him. The Lord replied to Moses that he would make all his “goodness” pass before him, and then as he passed by, God declared, “The Lord . . . merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love and faithfulness” (Ex. 33:18–19; 34:5–7). These attributes of God’s glory emphasize the goodness of God’s character, especially in relationship to salvation. Jesus as Yahweh of the OT (John 8:58; “I am”) displayed the same divine attributes when he tabernacled among men in the NT era (Col. 2:9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:15 John the Baptist’s testimony corroborates John the apostle’s statement regarding the eternity of the Incarnate Word (cf. v. 14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:16 grace upon grace. This phrase emphasizes the superabundance of grace that has been displayed by God toward mankind, especially believers (Eph. 1:5–8; 2:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:17–18 Corroborating the truth of v. 14, these verses draw a closing contrast to the prologue. The law, given by Moses, was not a display of God’s grace but God’s demand for holiness. God designed the law as a means to demonstrate the unrighteousness of man in order to show the need for a Savior, Jesus Christ (Rom. 3:19–20; Gal. 3:10–14, 21–26). Furthermore, the law revealed only a part of truth and was preparatory in nature. The reality or full truth toward which the law pointed came through the person of Jesus Christ.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:18 who is at the Father’s side. This term denotes the mutual intimacy, love, and knowledge existing in the Godhead (see 13:23; Luke 16:22–23). made him known. Theologians derived the term “exegesis” or “to interpret” from the Greek word underlying this phrase. John meant that all that Jesus is and does interprets and explains who God is and what he does (John 14:8–10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:19–37 In these verses, John presented the first of many witnesses to prove that Jesus is the Messiah and Son of God, thus reinforcing his main theme (20:30–31). The testimony of John the Baptist was given on three different days to three different groups (cf. 1:29, 35, 36). Each time, he spoke of Christ in a different way and emphasized distinct aspects regarding him. The events in these verses took place in A.D. 26/27, just a few months after John’s baptism of Jesus (cf. Matt. 3:13–17; Luke 3:21–22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:19 John. John, born into a priestly family, belonged to the tribe of Levi (Luke 1:5). He began his ministry in the Jordan Valley when he was approximately 29 or 30 years old, and boldly proclaimed the need for spiritual repentance and preparation for the coming of the Messiah. He was the cousin of Jesus Christ and served as his prophetic forerunner (Matt. 3:3; Luke 1:5–25, 36). the Jews . . . from Jerusalem. This may refer to the Sanhedrin, the main governing body of the Jewish nation. The Sanhedrin was controlled by the family of the high priest, and thus the envoys would naturally be priests and Levites who would be interested in John’s ministry, both his message and his baptism.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:20 I am not the Christ. Some thought that John was the Messiah (Luke 3:15–17). Christ. The term “Christ” is the Greek equivalent of the Hebrew term for “Messiah.”

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:21 Are you Elijah? Malachi 4:5 (see note there promises that the prophet Elijah will return before Messiah establishes his earthly kingdom. If John was the forerunner of Messiah, was he Elijah, they asked? The angel announcing John’s birth said that John would go before Jesus “in the spirit and power of Elijah” (Luke 1:17), thus indicating that someone other than literal Elijah could fulfill the prophecy. God sent John who was like Elijah, i.e., one who had the same type of ministry, the same power and similar personality (2 Kings 1:8; cf. Matt. 3:4). If they had received Jesus as Messiah, John would have fulfilled that prophecy (see notes on Matt. 11:14; Mark 9:13; Luke 1:17; Rev. 11:5–6). Are you the Prophet? This is a reference to Deut. 18:15–18, which predicted God would raise up a great prophet like Moses who would function as his voice. While some in John’s time interpreted this prophecy as referring to another forerunner of Messiah, the NT (Acts 3:22–23; 7:37) applies the passage to Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:23 John quoted and applied Isa. 40:3 to himself (cf. Matt. 3:3; Mark 1:3; Luke 3:4). In the original context of Isa. 40:3, the prophet heard a voice calling for the leveling of a path. This call was a prophetic picture that foreshadowed the final and greatest return of Israel to their God from spiritual darkness and alienation through the spiritual redemption accomplished by the Messiah (cf. Rom. 11:25–27). In humility, John compared himself to a voice rather than a person, thus focusing the attention exclusively upon Christ (cf. Luke 17:10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:25 baptizing. Since John had identified himself as a mere voice (v. 23), the question arose as to his authority for baptizing. The OT associated the coming of Messiah with repentance and spiritual cleansing (Ezek. 36–37; Zech. 13:1). John focused attention on his position as forerunner of Messiah, who used traditional proselyte baptism as a symbol of the need to recognize those Jews who were outside God’s saving covenant like Gentiles. They too needed spiritual cleansing and preparation (repentance—Matt. 3:11; Mark 1:4; Luke 3:7–8) for Messiah’s advent. See notes on Matt. 3:6, 11, 16–17 for an explanation of the significance of John’s baptism.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:27 John the Baptist’s words here continue a theme of the pre-eminence of Messiah in the prologue (vv. 6–8, 15) and demonstrate extraordinary humility. Each time John had opportunity to focus on himself in these encounters, he instead shifted the focus onto Messiah. John went so far as to state that he, unlike a slave who was required to remove his master’s shoes, was not even worthy of performing this action in relationship to Messiah.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:28 Bethany. Some translations render this word as “Bethabara.” Some feel that John incorrectly identified Bethany as the place of these events. The solution is that two Bethanys existed, i.e., one near Jerusalem where Mary, Martha, and Lazarus lived (11:1), and one “across the Jordan” near the region of Galilee. Since John took great pains to identify the other Bethany’s close proximity to Jerusalem, he most likely was referring here to that other town with the same name.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:29–34 This portion deals with John’s witness to a second group of Jews on the second day (see vv. 19–28 for the first group and day) regarding Jesus. This section forms something of a bridge. It continues the theme of John the Baptist’s witness but also introduces a lengthy list of titles applied to Jesus: Lamb of God (vv. 29, 36), Rabbi (vv. 38, 49), Messiah/Christ (v. 41), Son of God (vv. 34, 49), King of Israel (v. 49), Son of Man (v. 51), and “him of whom Moses in the Law and also the prophets wrote” (v. 45).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:29 The next day. This phrase probably refers to the day after John’s response to the Jerusalem delegation. It also initiates a sequence of days (v. 43; 2:1) that culminated in the miracle at Cana (2:1–11). the Lamb of God. The use of a lamb for sacrifice was very familiar to Jews. A lamb was used as a sacrifice during Passover (Ex. 12:1–36); a lamb was led to the slaughter in the prophecies of Isaiah (Isa. 53:7); a lamb was offered in the daily sacrifices of Israel (Lev. 14:12–21; cf. Heb. 10:5–7). John the Baptist used this expression as a reference to the ultimate sacrifice of Jesus on the cross to atone for the sins of the world, a theme which John the apostle carries throughout his writings (John 19:36; cf. Rev. 5:1–6; 7:17; 17:14) and that appears in other NT writings (e.g., 1 Pet. 1:19). sin of the world! See note on John 1:9; cf. 3:16; 6:33, 51. In this context “world” has the connotation of humanity in general, not specifically every person. The use of the singular “sin” in conjunction with “of the world” indicates that Jesus’ sacrifice for sin potentially reaches all human beings without distinction (cf. 1 John 2:2). John makes clear, however, that its efficacious effect is only for those who receive Christ (John 1:11–12). For discussion of the relation of Christ’s death to the world, see note on 2 Cor. 5:19.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:31 I myself did not know him. Although John was Jesus’ cousin, he did not know Jesus as the “Coming One” or “Messiah” (v. 30).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:32 the Spirit descend. God had previously communicated to John that this sign was to indicate the promised Messiah (v. 33), so when John witnessed this act, he was able to identify the Messiah as Jesus (cf. Matt. 3:16; Mark 1:10; Luke 3:22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:34 the Son of God. Although, in a limited sense, believers can be called “sons of God” (e.g., Matt. 5:9; Rom. 8:14), John uses this phrase with the full force as a title that points to the unique oneness and intimacy that Jesus sustains to the Father as “Son.” The term carries the idea of the deity of Jesus as Messiah (John 1:49; 5:16–30; cf. 2 Sam. 7:14; Ps. 2:7; see notes on Heb. 1:1–9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:35–51 This portion deals with John’s witness to a third group, i.e., some of John’s disciples, on the third day (see vv. 19–28, 29–34 for the first and second groups) regarding Jesus. Consistent with John’s humility (v. 27), he focuses the attention of his own disciples onto Jesus (v. 37).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:37 they followed Jesus. Although the verb “follow” usually means “to follow as a disciple” in the writing of the apostle (v. 43; 8:12; 12:26; 21:19, 20, 22), it may also have a neutral sense (11:31). The “following” here does not necessarily mean that they became permanent disciples at this time. The implication may be that they went after Jesus to examine him more closely because of John’s testimony. This event constituted a preliminary exposure of John the Baptist’s disciples to Jesus (e.g., Andrew; 1:40). They eventually dedicated their lives to him as true disciples and apostles when Jesus called them to permanent service after these events (Matt. 4:18–22; 9:9; Mark 1:16–20). At this point in the narrative, John the Baptist fades from the scene and the attention focuses upon the ministry of Christ.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:39 the tenth hour. John may be reckoning time by the Roman method of the day beginning at midnight. See note on Mark 15:25. This would make the time about 10:00 A.M. John mentions the precise time most likely to emphasize that he was the other disciple of John the Baptist who was with Andrew (John 1:40). As an eyewitness to these events occurring on three successive days, John's first meeting with Jesus was so life-changing that he remembered the exact hour when he first met the Lord.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:41 Messiah. The term "Messiah" is a transliteration of a Hebrew or Aramaic verbal adjective that means "Anointed One." It comes from a verb that means "to anoint" someone as an action involved in consecrating that person to a particular office or function. While the term at first applied to the king of Israel ("the Lord's anointed"—1 Sam. 16:6), the high priest ("the anointed priest," Lev. 4:3) and, in one passage, the patriarchs ("my anointed ones," Ps. 105:15), the term eventually came to point above all to the prophesied "Coming One" or "Messiah" in his role as prophet, priest, and king. The term "Christ," a Greek word (verbal adjective) that comes from a verb meaning "to anoint," is used in translating the Hebrew term, so that the terms "Messiah" or "Christ" are titles and not personal names of Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:42 Jesus looked at him. Jesus knows hearts thoroughly (vv. 43–51) and not only sees into them (vv. 47–48) but also transforms a person into what he wants him to become. You shall be called Cephas. Up to this time, Peter had been known as "Simon, son of John" ("Jonah" in some translations; the name "Jonah" in Aramaic means "John"; cf. 21:15–17; Matt. 16:17). The term "Cephas" means "rock" in Aramaic, which is translated "Peter" in Greek. Jesus' assignment of the name "Cephas" or "Peter" to Simon occurred at the outset of his ministry (cf. Matt. 16:18; Mark 3:16). The statement not only is predictive of what Peter would be called but also declarative of how Jesus would transform his character and use him in relationship to the foundation of the church (cf. John 21:18–19; Matt. 16:16–18; Acts 2:14–4:32).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:43–51 This section introduces the fourth day since the beginning of John the Baptist's witness (cf. vv. 19, 29, 35).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:44 Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter. While Mark 1:21, 29 locates Peter's house in Capernaum, John relates that he was from Bethsaida. Resolution centers in the fact that Peter (and Andrew) most likely grew up in Bethsaida and later relocated to Capernaum in the same way that Jesus was consistently identified with his hometown of Nazareth, though he lived elsewhere later (Matt. 2:23; 4:13; Mark 1:9; Luke 1:26).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:45 him of whom Moses in the Law and also the prophets wrote. This phrase encapsulates the stance of John’s whole Gospel: Jesus is the fulfillment of OT Scripture (cf. v. 21; 5:39; Deut. 18:15–19; Luke 24:44–47; Acts 10:43; 18:28; 26:22–23; Rom. 1:2; 1 Cor. 15:3; 1 Pet. 1:10–11; Rev. 19:10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:46 Can anything good come out of Nazareth? Nathanael was from Cana (21:2), another town in Galilee. While Galileans were despised by Judeans, Galileans themselves despised people from Nazareth. In light of 7:52, Nathanael’s scorn may have centered in the fact that Nazareth was an insignificant village without seeming prophetic importance (cf., however, Matt. 2:23). Later, some would contemptuously refer to Christians as the “sect of the Nazarenes” (Acts 24:5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:47 no deceit! Jesus’ point was that Nathanael’s bluntness revealed that he was an Israelite without duplicitous motives who was willing to examine for himself the claims being made about Jesus. The term reveals an honest, seeking heart. The reference here may be an allusion to Gen. 27:35 where Jacob, in contrast to the sincere Nathanael, was known for his trickery. The meaning may be that the employment of trickery characterized not only Jacob but also his descendants. In Jesus’ mind, an honest and sincere Israelite had become an exception rather than the rule (cf. John 2:23–25).

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:48 I saw you. A brief glimpse of Jesus’ supernatural knowledge. Not only was Jesus’ brief summary of Nathanael accurate (v. 47), but he also revealed information that could only be known by Nathanael himself. Perhaps Nathanael had some significant or outstanding experience of communion with God at the location, and he was able to recognize Jesus’ allusion to it. At any rate, Jesus had knowledge of this event not available to men.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:49 the Son of God . . . the King of Israel! Jesus’ display of supernatural knowledge and Philip’s witness removed Nathanael’s doubts, so John added the witness of Nathanael to this section. The use of “the” with “Son of God” most likely indicates that the expression is to be understood as bearing its full significance (cf. v. 34; 11:27). For Nathanael, here was One who could not be described merely in human terms.

JOHN—NOTE ON 1:51 Truly, truly. Cf. 5:19, 24–25. A phrase used frequently for emphasizing the importance and truth of the coming statement. heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending. In light of the context of 1:47, this verse most likely refers to Gen. 28:12 where Jacob dreamed about a ladder from heaven. Jesus' point to Nathanael was that just like Jacob experienced supernatural or heaven-sent revelation, Nathanael and the other disciples would experience supernatural communication confirming who Jesus was. Moreover, the term "Son of Man" replaced the ladder in Jacob's dream, signifying that Jesus was the means of access between God and man. Son of Man. See note on Matt. 8:20. This is Jesus' favorite self-designation, for it was mostly spoken by Jesus, who used it over 80 times. In the NT, it refers only to Jesus and appears mostly in the Gospels (cf. Acts 7:56). In the fourth Gospel, the expression occurs 13 times and is most commonly associated with the themes of crucifixion and suffering (John 3:14; 8:28) and revelation (6:27, 53) but also with eschatological authority (5:27). While the term at times may refer merely to a human being or as a substitute for "I" (6:27; cf. 6:20), it especially takes on an eschatological significance referring to Dan. 7:13–14 where "son of man" or Messiah comes in glory to receive the kingdom from the "Ancient of Days" (i.e., the Father).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:1–11 John relates the first great sign performed by Jesus to demonstrate his deity, the turning of water into wine. Only God can create from nothing. John identifies eight miracles in his Gospel that constitute "signs" or confirmation of who Jesus is. Each of the eight miracles were different; no two were alike (cf. v. 11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:1 On the third day. This phrase has reference to the last narrated event, i.e., the calling of Philip and Nathanael (1:43). wedding. Such a wedding celebration in Israel could last for a week. Financial responsibility lay with the groom (vv. 9–10). To run out of wine for the guests would have been an embarrassment to the groom and may have even opened him to a potential lawsuit from the relatives of the bride. Cana in Galilee. Cana was the home of Nathanael (21:2). Its exact location is unknown. A probable location is Khirbet Qana, a village now in ruins approximately 9 miles north of Nazareth.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:2 Jesus . . . was invited . . . with his disciples. The fact that Jesus, his mother, and his disciples all attended the wedding suggests that the wedding may have been for a relative or close family friend. The disciples who accompanied him are the five mentioned in ch. 1: Andrew, Simon Peter, Philip, Nathanael, and the unnamed disciple (1:35) who was surely John, who also witnessed this miracle.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:3 wine. The wine served was subject to fermentation. In the ancient world, however, to quench thirst without inducing drunkenness, wine was diluted with water to between one-third and one-tenth of its strength. Due to the climate and circumstances, even “new wine” fermented quickly and had an inebriating effect if not mixed (Acts 2:13). Because of a lack of water purification process, wine mixed with water was also safer to drink than water alone. While the Bible condemns drunkenness, it does not necessarily condemn the consumption of wine (Ps. 104:15; Prov. 20:1; see notes on Eph. 5:18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:4 Woman. The term is not necessarily impolite, but it does have the effect of distancing Jesus from his mother and her request. Perhaps it has the equivalent of “ma’am.” what does this have to do with me? The expression, common in Semitic idiom (Judg. 11:12; 2 Sam. 16:10), always distances the two parties, the speaker’s tone conveying some degree of reproach. Jesus’ tone was not rude, but abrupt. The phrase asks what is shared in common between the parties. The thrust of Jesus’ comment was that he had entered into the purpose for his mission on earth, so that he subordinated all activities to the fulfillment of that mission. Mary had to recognize him not so much as a son whom she raised but as the promised Messiah and Son of God. Cf. Mark 3:31–35. My hour has not yet come. The phrase constantly refers to Jesus’ death and exaltation (John 7:30; 8:20; 12:23, 27; 13:1; 17:1). He was on a divine schedule decreed by God before the foundation of the world. Since the prophets characterized the messianic age as a time when wine would flow liberally (Jer. 31:12; Hos. 14:7; Amos 9:13–14), Jesus was likely referring to the fact that the necessity of the cross must come before the blessings of the millennial age.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:6 Jewish rites of purification. The six water jars were made of stone because stone was more impervious than earthenware and did not contract uncleanness. Also, this made them more suitable to ceremonial washing (cf. Mark 7:3–4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:11 signs. John used the word “signs” here to refer to significant displays of power that pointed beyond themselves to the deeper divine realities that could be perceived by the eyes of faith. By this word, John emphasized that miracles were not merely displays of power but had a significance beyond the mere acts themselves.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:12 After this. The phrase “after this” (or similar wording such as “after these things”) is a frequent connective between narratives in this Gospel (e.g., 3:22; 5:1, 14; 6:1; 7:1; 11:7, 11; 19:28, 38). John placed this verse here as a transition to explain Jesus’ movement from Cana in Galilee to Capernaum and eventual arrival at Jerusalem for the Passover celebration. Capernaum was on the northwest shore of Galilee about 16 miles northeast of Cana.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:13–25 John used this section where Jesus cleansed the temple in righteous indignation to reinforce his main theme that he was the promised Messiah and Son of God. In this section, he highlighted three attributes of Jesus that confirm his deity: 1) his passion for reverence (vv. 13–17); 2) his power of resurrection (vv. 18–22); and 3) his perception of reality (vv. 23–25).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:13–17 The first way John demonstrated Christ’s deity in the narrative of the temple cleansing was to show his passion for reverence. God alone exercises the right to regulate his worship.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:13 Passover of the Jews. This is the first of three Passovers that John mentions (v. 13; 6:4; 11:55). Jews selected the lamb on the tenth of the month, and celebrated Passover on the fourteenth day of the lunar month of Nisan (full moon at the end of March or beginning of April). They slaughtered the lamb between 3:00 and 6:00 P.M. on the night of the feast. Passover commemorates the deliverance of the Jews from slavery in Egypt when the angel of death “passed over” Jewish homes in Egypt whose “doorposts” were sprinkled with blood (Ex. 12:23–27). Jesus went up to Jerusalem. Jesus’ journeying to Jerusalem for the Passover was a standard annual procedure for every devout Jewish male over 12 years old (Ex. 23:14–17). Jewish pilgrims crowded into Jerusalem for this greatest of Jewish feasts.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:14 those who were selling . . . the money-changers. During the celebration of Passover, worshipers came from all over Israel and the Roman Empire to Jerusalem. Because many traveled large distances, it was inconvenient to bring their sacrificial animals with them. Opportunistic merchants, seeing a chance to provide a service and probably eyeing considerable profit during this time, set up areas in the outer courts of the temple in order for travelers to buy animals. The money-changers were needed because the temple tax, paid annually by every conscientious Jewish male 20 years of age or older (Ex. 30:13–14; Matt. 17:24–27), had to be in Jewish or Tyrian coinage (because of its high purity of silver). Those coming from foreign lands would need to exchange their money into the proper coinage for the tax. The money-changers charged a high fee for the exchange. With such a large group of travelers and because of the seasonal nature of the celebration, both the animal dealers and money-changers exploited the situation for monetary gain (“den of robbers”; Matt. 21:13). Religion had become crass and materialistic.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:15 As John recorded this cleansing of the temple at the beginning of Jesus’ ministry, the synoptic Gospels record a temple cleansing at the end of Jesus’ ministry during the final Passover week before Jesus’ crucifixion (Matt. 21:12–17; Mark 11:15–18; Luke 19:45–46). The historical circumstances and literary contexts of the two temple cleansings differ so widely that attempts to equate the two are unsuccessful. Furthermore, that two cleansings occurred is entirely consistent with the overall context of Jesus’ ministry, for the Jewish nation as a whole never recognized Jesus’ authority as Messiah (Matt. 23:37–39). Instead, they rejected his message as well as his person, making such repeated cleansing of the temple highly probable (as well as necessary). drove them all out of the temple. When the holiness of God and his worship was at stake, Jesus took fast and furious action. The “all” indicates that he drove out not only men but also animals. Yet, although his physical action was forceful, it was not cruel. The moderation of his actions is seen in the fact that no riotous uproar occurred; otherwise the specially large contingent of Roman troops in Jerusalem at that time because of the Passover crowds, stationed in the Antonia Fortress overlooking the temple, would have swiftly reacted. Although the primary reference is to the actions of the Messiah in the millennial kingdom, Jesus’ actions in cleansing the temple were an initial fulfillment of Mal. 3:1–3 (and Zech. 14:20–21) that speak of Messiah’s purifying the religious worship of his people.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:16 Do not make. The force of the Greek imperative indicates that Jesus made a strong demand that they stop their current practice. God’s holiness demands holiness in worship. my Father’s. John gave a subtle hint of Jesus’ divine Sonship as well as his messiahship with the recording of this phrase (see 5:17–18). house a house of trade. Jesus may have intended a play on words. The word “house” pictures a trading house filled with wares.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:17 Quoted from Ps. 69:9 to indicate that Jesus would not tolerate irreverence toward God. When David wrote this psalm, he was being persecuted because of his zeal toward God’s house and his defense of God’s honor. The disciples were afraid that Jesus’ actions would precipitate the same type of persecution. Paul quotes the latter half of Ps. 69:9 in Rom. 15:3 (“The reproaches of those who reproached you fell on me”), clearly indicating the messianic nature that the psalm had for the early church.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:18–22 The second way John demonstrated Christ’s deity in the account of the temple cleansing was to show his power over death through resurrection. Only God has this right.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:18 the Jews. Most likely the temple authorities or representatives of the Sanhedrin (cf. 1:19). sign. The Jews demanded that Jesus show some type of miraculous sign that would indicate his authority for the actions that he had just taken in regulating the activities of the temple. Their demand of a sign reveals that they had not grasped the significance of Jesus’ rebuke that centered in their need for proper attitudes and holiness in worship. Such an action itself constituted a “sign” of Jesus’ person and authority. Moreover, they were requesting from Jesus a crass display of miracles on demand, further displaying their unbelief.

The Eight Signs

The Eight Signs
Turns water into wine ( John 2:1–12 )	Jesus is the source of life.
Heals an official’s son ( John 4:46–54 )	Jesus is master over distance.
Heals a lame man at the pool of Bethesda ( John 5:1–17 )	Jesus is master over time.
Feeds 5,000 ( John 6:1–14 )	Jesus is the bread of life.
Walks on water, stills a storm ( John 6:15–21 )	Jesus is master over nature.
Heals a man blind from birth ( John 9:1–41 )	Jesus is the light of the world.
Raises Lazarus from the dead ( John 11:17–45 )	Jesus has power over death.
Causes abundant catch of fish ( John 21:6 )	Jesus is master over the animal world.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:19 At his trial, the authorities charged Jesus (Mark 14:58; cf. Mark 15:29) with making a threatening statement against the temple, revealing that they did not understand Jesus’ response here. Once again John’s Gospel supplements the other Gospels at this point by indicating that Jesus enigmatically referred to his resurrection. As with his usage of parables, Jesus’ cryptic statement most likely was designed to reveal the truth to his disciples but conceal its meaning from unbelievers who questioned him (Matt. 13:10–11).

Only after his resurrection, however, did the disciples understand the real significance of this statement (John 2:22; cf. Matt. 12:40). Importantly, through the death and resurrection of Christ, temple worship in Jerusalem was destroyed (cf. John 4:21) and reinstated in the hearts of those who were built into a spiritual temple called the church (Eph. 2:19–22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:20 forty-six years to build this temple. This was not a reference to the Solomonic temple, since it had been destroyed during the Babylonian conquest in 586 B.C. When the captives returned from Babylon, Zerubbabel and Jeshua began rebuilding the temple (Ezra 1–4). Encouraged by the prophets Haggai and Zechariah (Ezra 5:1–6:18), the Jews completed the work in 516 B.C. In 20/19 B.C. Herod the Great began a reconstruction and expansion. Workers completed the main part of the project in 10 years, but other parts were still being constructed even at the time Jesus cleansed the temple. Interestingly, the finishing touches on the whole enterprise were still being made at its destruction by the Romans along with Jerusalem in A.D. 70. The famous “Wailing Wall” is built on part of the Herodian temple foundation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:23–25 The third way John demonstrated Christ’s deity in the account of the temple cleansing was to show his perception of reality. Only God truly knows the hearts of men.

JOHN—NOTE ON 2:23–24 many believed in his name . . . But Jesus . . . did not entrust himself to them. John based these two phrases on the same Greek verb for “believe.” This verse subtly reveals the true nature of belief from a biblical standpoint. Because of what they knew of Jesus from his miraculous signs, many came to believe in him. However, Jesus made it his habit not to wholeheartedly “entrust” or “commit” himself to them because he knew their hearts. Verse 24 indicates that Jesus looked for genuine conversion rather than enthusiasm for the spectacular. The latter verse also leaves a subtle doubt as to the genuineness of the conversion of some (cf. 8:31–32). This emphatic contrast between 2:23–24 in terms of type of trust, therefore, reveals that, lit., “belief into his name” involved much more than intellectual assent. It called for wholehearted commitment of one’s life as Jesus’ disciple (cf. Matt. 10:37; 16:24–26).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:1–21 The story of Jesus and Nicodemus reinforces John’s themes that Jesus is the Messiah and Son of God (apologetic) and that he came to offer salvation to men (evangelistic). John 2:23–24 actually serves as the introduction to Nicodemus’s story, since ch. 3 constitutes tangible evidence of Jesus' ability to know men's hearts and thereby also demonstrates Jesus' deity. Jesus also presented God's plan of salvation to Nicodemus, showing that he was God's messenger, whose redemptive work brings about the promised salvation to his people (3:14). The chapter may be divided into two sections: 1) Jesus' dialogue with Nicodemus (vv. 1–10); and 2) Jesus' discourse on God's plan of salvation (vv. 11–21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:1–10 This section on Jesus' dialogue with Nicodemus may be divided into three sections: 1) Nicodemus's inquiry of Jesus (vv. 1–3); 2) Jesus' insight into Nicodemus (vv. 4–8); and 3) Jesus' indictment of Nicodemus (vv. 9–10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:1 Pharisees. See note on Matt. 3:7. The word “Pharisee” most likely comes from a Hebrew word meaning “to separate” and therefore probably means “separated ones.” They were not separatists in the sense of isolationists but in the puritanical sense, i.e., they were highly zealous for ritual and religious purity according to the Mosaic law as well as their own traditions that they added to the OT legislation. Although their origin is unknown, they seem to have arisen as an offshoot from the “Hasidim” or “pious ones” during the Maccabean era. They were generally from the Jewish middle class and mostly consisted of laity (businessmen) rather than priests or Levites. They represented the orthodox core of Judaism and very strongly influenced the common people of Israel. According to Josephus, 6,000 existed at the time of Herod the Great. Jesus condemned them for their hyper-concentration on externalizing religion (rules and regulations) rather than inward spiritual transformation (John 3:3, 7).

Nicodemus. Although Nicodemus was a Pharisee, his name was Greek in origin and means “victor over the people.” He was a prominent Pharisee and member of the Sanhedrin (“a ruler of the Jews”). Nothing is known about his family background. He eventually came to believe in Jesus (7:50–52), risking his own life and reputation by helping to give Jesus' body a decent burial (19:38–42). a ruler of the Jews. This is a reference to the Sanhedrin (see note on Matt. 26:59), the main ruling body of the Jews in Palestine. It was the Jewish “supreme court” or ruling council of the time and arose most likely during the Persian period. In NT times, the Sanhedrin was composed of the high priest (president), chief priests, elders (family heads), and scribes for a total of 71 people. The method of appointment was both hereditary and political. It executed both civil and criminal jurisdiction according to Jewish law. However, capital punishment cases required the sanction of the Roman procurator (John 18:30–32). After A.D. 70 and the destruction of Jerusalem, the Sanhedrin was abolished and replaced by the Beth Din (Court of Judgment) that was composed of scribes whose decisions had only moral and religious authority.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:2 came to Jesus by night. While some have thought that Nicodemus's visit at night was somehow figurative of the spiritual darkness of his heart (cf. 1:5; 9:4; 11:10; 13:30) or that he decided to come at this time because he could take more time with Jesus and be unhurried in conversation, perhaps the most logical explanation lies in the fact that, as a ruler of the Jews, Nicodemus was afraid of the implications of associating openly in conversation with Jesus. He chose night in order to have a clandestine meeting with Jesus rather than risk disfavor with his fellow Pharisees among whom Jesus was generally unpopular.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:3 born again. The phrase lit. means "born from above." Jesus answered a question that Nicodemus does not even ask. He read Nicodemus's heart and came to the very core of his problem, i.e., the need for spiritual transformation or regeneration produced by the Holy Spirit. New birth is an act of God whereby eternal life is imparted to the believer (2 Cor. 5:17; Titus 3:5; 1 Pet. 1:3; 1 John 2:29; 3:9; 4:7; 5:1, 4, 18). John 1:12–13 indicates that "born again" also carries the idea "to become children of God" through trust in the name of the incarnate Word. cannot see the kingdom of God. In context, this is primarily a reference to participation in the millennial kingdom at the end of the age, fervently anticipated by the Pharisees and other Jews. Since the Pharisees were supernaturalists, they naturally and eagerly expected the coming of the prophesied resurrection of the saints and institution of the messianic kingdom (Isa. 11:1–16; Dan. 12:2). Their problem was that they thought that mere physical lineage and keeping of religious externals qualified them for entrance into the kingdom rather than the needed spiritual transformation that Jesus emphasized (cf. John 8:33–39; Gal. 6:15). The coming of the kingdom at the end of the age can be described as the "regeneration" of the world (Matt. 19:28, esv footnote), but regeneration of the individual is required before the end of the world in order to enter the kingdom.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:4 A teacher himself, Nicodemus understood the rabbinical method of using figurative language to teach spiritual truth, and he was merely picking up Jesus' symbolism.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:5 born of water and the Spirit. Jesus referred not to literal water here but to the need for "cleansing" (e.g., Ezek. 36:24–27). When water is used figuratively in the OT, it habitually refers to renewal or spiritual cleansing, especially when used in conjunction with “spirit” (Num. 19:17–19; Ps. 51:9–10; Isa. 32:15; 44:3–5; 55:1–3; Jer. 2:13; Joel 2:28–29). Thus, Jesus made reference to the spiritual washing or purification of the soul, accomplished by the Holy Spirit through the word of God at the moment of salvation (cf. Eph. 5:26; Titus 3:5), required for belonging to his kingdom.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:8 The wind blows where it wishes. Jesus’ point was that just as the wind cannot be controlled or understood by human beings but its effects can be witnessed, so also it is with the Holy Spirit. He cannot be controlled or understood, but the proof of his work is apparent. Where the Spirit works, there is undeniable and unmistakable evidence.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:10 the teacher. The use of the definite article “the” indicates that Nicodemus was a renowned master-teacher in the nation of Israel, an established religious authority par excellence. He enjoyed a high standing among the rabbis or teachers of his day. Jesus’ reply emphasized the spiritual bankruptcy of the nation at that time, since even one of the greatest of Jewish teachers did not recognize this teaching on spiritual cleansing and transformation based clearly in the OT (cf. v. 5). The net effect is to show that externals of religion may have a deadening effect on one’s spiritual perception.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:11–21 The focus of these verses turns away from Nicodemus and centers on Jesus’ discourse regarding the true meaning of salvation. The key word in these verses is “believe,” used seven times. The new birth must be appropriated by an act of faith. While vv. 1–10 center on the divine initiative in salvation, vv. 11–21 emphasize the human reaction to the work of God in regeneration. In vv. 11–21, the section may be divided into three parts: 1) the problem of unbelief (vv. 11–12); 2) the answer to unbelief (vv. 13–17); and 3) the results of unbelief (vv. 18–21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:11–12 Jesus focused on the idea that unbelief is the cause of ignorance. At heart, Nicodemus’s failure to understand Jesus’ words centered not so much in his intellect but in his failure to believe Jesus’ witness.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:11 you do not receive our testimony. The plural “you” here refers back to the “we” of v. 2, where Nicodemus was speaking as a representative of his nation Israel (“we know”). Jesus replied in v. 11 with “you” indicating that Nicodemus’s unbelief was typical of the nation as a collective whole.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:13 No one has ascended into heaven. This verse contradicts other religious systems' claims to special revelation from God. Jesus insisted that no one has ascended to heaven in such a way as to return and talk about heavenly things (cf. 2 Cor. 12:1–4). Only he had his permanent abode in heaven prior to his incarnation and, therefore, only he has the true knowledge regarding heavenly wisdom (cf. Prov. 30:4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:14 so must the Son of Man be lifted up. Cf. 8:28; 12:32, 34; 18:31–32. This is a veiled prediction of Jesus' death on the cross. Jesus referred to the story of Num. 21:5–9 where the Israelite people who looked at the serpent lifted up by Moses were healed. The point of this illustration or analogy is in the “lifted up.” Just as Moses lifted up the snake on the pole so that all who looked upon it might live physically, those who look to Christ, who was “lifted up” on the cross, will live spiritually and eternally.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:15 eternal life. This is the first of 17 references to “eternal life” in John's Gospel. The same Greek word is translated in some versions as “everlasting life.” The expression appears in the NT nearly 50 times. Eternal life refers not only to eternal quantity but divine quality of life. It means lit. “life of the age to come” and refers therefore to resurrection and heavenly existence in perfect glory and holiness. This life for believers in the Lord Jesus is experienced before heaven is reached. This “eternal life” is in essence nothing less than participation in the eternal life of the Living Word, Jesus Christ. It is the life of God in every believer, yet not fully manifest until the resurrection (Rom. 8:19–23; Phil. 3:20–21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:16 For God so loved the world. The Son's mission is bound up in the supreme love of God for the evil, sinful “world” of humanity (cf. 6:32, 51; 12:47; see notes on 1:9; Matt. 5:44–45) that is in rebellion against him. The word “so” emphasizes the intensity or greatness of his love. The Father gave his unique and beloved Son to die on behalf of sinful men (see note on 2 Cor. 5:21). eternal life. See note on John 3:15; cf. 17:3; 1 John 5:20.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:18 believed in the name. This phrase (lit., “to believe into the name”) means more than mere intellectual assent to the claims of the gospel. It includes trust and commitment to Christ as Lord and Savior, which results in receiving a new nature (v. 7) that produces a change in heart and obedience to the Lord (see note on 2:23–24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:22–36 This section constitutes John the Baptist’s last testimony in this Gospel regarding Christ. As his ministry faded away, Jesus’ ministry moved to the forefront. In spite of the fact that John the Baptist received widespread fame in Israel and was generally accepted by the common people of the land as well as those who were social outcasts, his testimony regarding Jesus was rejected, especially by the leaders of Israel (cf. Matt. 3:5–10; Luke 7:29).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:22 into the Judean countryside. While the previous episode with Nicodemus took place in Jerusalem (2:23), which was part of Judea, the phrase here means that Jesus went out into the rural areas of that region. baptizing. Chapter 4:2 specifically says that Jesus did not personally baptize but that his disciples carried on this work.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:23 Aenon near Salim. The exact location of this reference is disputed. The phrase may refer to either Salim near Shechem or Salim that is 6 miles south of Beth-shean. Both are in the region of Samaria. Aenon is a transliterated Hebrew word meaning “springs,” and both of these possible sites have plenty of water (“water was plentiful there”).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:24 John had not yet been put in prison. This provides another indication that John supplemented the synoptic Gospels by providing additional information that helps further understanding of the movements of John the Baptist and Jesus (see Introduction). In Matthew and Mark, Christ’s temptation is followed by John’s imprisonment. With this phrase, John the apostle fills in the slot between Jesus’ baptism and temptation and the Baptist’s imprisonment.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:25 a discussion arose. The discussion probably concerned the relation of the baptismal ministries of John and Jesus to the Jews’ purification practices alluded to in 2:6. The real underlying impetus, however, centered in the concern of John’s disciples that Jesus was in competition with him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:25–36 This section may be divided into three parts that highlight the significance of what was occurring in relationship to John’s and Jesus’ ministry: 1) John the Baptist constituted the end of the old age (vv. 25–29); 2) the transition to Jesus’ ministry (v. 30); and 3) Jesus’ ministry as constituting the beginning of the new age (vv. 31–36). Instead of jealousy, John exhibited humble faithfulness to the superiority of Jesus' person and ministry.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:26 all are going to him. The potential conflict between John and Jesus was heightened by the fact that both were engaged in ministry in close proximity to one another. Because baptism is mentioned in v. 22, Jesus may have been close to Jericho near the fords of the Jordan, while John was a short distance north baptizing at Aenon. John's followers were especially disturbed by the fact that so many were flocking to Jesus whereas formerly they had come to John.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:27 given him from heaven. This verse emphasizes God's sovereign authority in granting ministry opportunity (cf. 1 Cor. 4:7; 15:10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:29 bridegroom . . . friend of the bridegroom. John conveyed his understanding of his own role through the use of a parable. The "friend of the bridegroom" was the ancient equivalent of the best man who organized the details and presided over the Judean wedding (Galilean weddings were somewhat different). This friend found his greatest joy in watching the ceremony proceed without problems. Most likely, John was also alluding to OT passages where faithful Israel is depicted as the bride of the Lord (Isa. 62:4–5; Jer. 2:2; Hos. 2:16–20).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:31–36 In these verses, John the Baptist gave five reasons for Christ's superiority to him: 1) Christ had a heavenly origin (v. 31); 2) Christ knew what was true by firsthand experience (v. 32); 3) Christ's testimony always agreed with God (v. 33); 4) Christ experienced the Holy Spirit in an unlimited manner (v. 34); and 5) Christ was supreme because the Father sovereignly had granted that status to him (v. 35).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:31–32 above all. These verses bring together several of the themes from the entire chapter. From the immediate context, John explained why Jesus the incarnate Word must become greater, i.e., he alone is "from above" (heavenly origin) and therefore "above all." The Greek term "above all" recalls v. 3 where the new birth "from above" can only be experienced by faith in the One who is "from above." In contrast, all others are "of the earth," signifying finitude and limitation. In the immediate context, John the Baptist had to become less (v. 30) because he was "of the earth" and belonged to the earth. Although he called for repentance and baptism, John could not reveal heaven's counsel like Jesus, the God-Man.

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:34 the Spirit without measure. God gave the Spirit to the Son without limits (1:32–33; Isa. 11:2; 42:1; 61:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 3:36 This constitutes a fitting climax to the chapter. John the Baptist laid out two alternatives, genuine faith and defiant disobedience, thereby bringing to the forefront the threat of looming judgment. As John faded from the forefront, he offered an invitation to faith in the Son and clearly expressed the ultimate consequence of failure to believe, i.e., “the wrath of God.”

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:1–26 The story of the Samaritan woman reinforces John’s main theme that Jesus is the Messiah and Son of God. The thrust of these verses is not so much her conversion but that Jesus is Messiah (v. 26). While her conversion is clearly implied, the apostle’s focus centers on Jesus’ declaration foretold in the Scriptures (v. 25). Important also is the fact that this chapter demonstrates Jesus’ love and understanding of people. His love for mankind involved no boundaries, for he lovingly and compassionately reached out to a woman who was a social outcast. In contrast to the limitations of human love, Christ exhibits the character of divine love that is indiscriminate and all-encompassing (3:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:3 he left Judea. John the Baptist and Jesus had official scrutiny focused on them because of their distinctive message regarding repentance and the kingdom. Most likely, Jesus wanted to avoid any possible trouble with John’s disciples who were troubled with his growing popularity and, since the Pharisees were also focusing on his growing influence, Jesus decided to leave Judea and travel north in order to avoid any conflict.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:4 he had to pass through. Several roads led from Judea to Galilee: one near the seacoast; another through the region of Perea; and one through the heart of Samaria. Even with the strong antipathy between Jews and Samaritans, the Jewish historian Josephus relates that the custom of Judeans at the time of the great festivals was to travel through the country of the Samaritans because it was the shorter route. Although the verb “had to” may possibly refer to the fact that Jesus wanted to save time and needless steps, because of the Gospel’s emphasis on the Lord’s consciousness of fulfilling his Father’s plan (2:4; 7:30; 8:20; 12:23; 13:1; 14:31), the apostle may have been highlighting divine, spiritual necessity, i.e., Jesus had an appointment with divine destiny in meeting the Samaritan woman, to whom he would reveal his messiahship. Samaria. When the nation of Israel split politically after Solomon’s rule, King Omri named the capital of the northern kingdom of Israel “Samaria” (1 Kings 16:24). The name eventually referred to the entire district and sometimes to the entire northern kingdom, which had been taken captive (capital, Samaria) by Assyria in 722 B.C. (2 Kings 17:1–6). While Assyria led most of the populace of the 10 northern tribes away (into the region which today is northern Iraq), it left a sizable population of Jews in the northern Samaritan region and transported many non-Jews into Samaria. These groups intermingled to form a mixed race through intermarriage. Eventually tension developed between the Jews who returned from captivity and the Samaritans. The Samaritans withdrew from the worship of Yahweh at Jerusalem and established their worship at Mount Gerizim in Samaria (John 4:20–22). Samaritans regarded only the Pentateuch as authoritative. As a result of this history, Jews repudiated Samaritans and considered them heretical. Intense ethnic and cultural tensions raged historically between the two groups so that both avoided contact as much as possible (v. 9; Ezra 4:1–24; Neh. 4:1–6; Luke 10:25–37). See note on 2 Kings 17:24.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:5–6 These verses refer back to Gen. 48:22 where Jacob bequeathed a section of land to Joseph that he had purchased from the “sons of Hamor” (cf. Gen. 33:19). When the Jews returned from Egypt, they buried Joseph’s bones in that land at Shechem. This area became the inheritance of Joseph’s descendants. The precise location of “Jacob’s well” has been set by a firm tradition among Jews, Samaritans, Muslims, and Christians and lies today in the shadow of the crypt of an unfinished Orthodox church. The term used here for “well” denotes a running spring, while in John 4:11–12 John used another term for “well” that means “cistern” or “dug-out well” indicating that the well was both dug out and fed by an underground spring. This spring is still active today.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:5 Sychar. This town is probably identified with the modern village of Askar on the shoulder of Mount Ebal, opposite Mount Gerizim. A continuous line of tradition identifies Jacob’s well as lying about a half mile south of Askar.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:6 wearied as he was from his journey. Since the Word became flesh (1:14), he also suffered from physical limitations in his humanity (Heb. 2:10–14). the sixth hour. John may have used Roman time, which started reckoning from 12:00 P.M., so the time would be about 6:00 P.M.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:7 A woman from Samaria came to draw water. Women generally came in groups to collect water, either earlier or later in the day to avoid the sun's heat. If the Samaritan woman alone came at 12:00 P.M. (see note on v. 6), this may indicate that her public shame (vv. 16–19) caused her to be isolated from other women. Give me a drink. For a Jewish man to speak to a woman in public—let alone to ask from her, a Samaritan, a drink—was a definite breach of rigid social custom as well as a marked departure from the social animosity that existed between the two groups. Further, a “rabbi” and religious leader did not hold conversations with women of ill repute (v. 18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:8 to buy food. This verse indicates that since Jesus and his disciples were willing to purchase food from Samaritans, they did not follow some of the self-imposed regulations of stricter Jews, who would have been unwilling to eat food handled by outcast Samaritans.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:10 living water. The OT is the background for this term, which has important metaphorical significance. In Jer. 2:13, Yahweh decries the disobedient Jews for rejecting him, the “fountain of living waters.” The OT prophets looked forward to a time when “living waters will flow out of Jerusalem” (Ezek. 47:9; Zech. 14:8). The OT metaphor spoke of the knowledge of God and his grace, which provides cleansing, spiritual life, and the transforming power of the Holy Spirit (cf. Isa. 1:16–18; 12:3; 44:3; Ezek. 36:25–27). John applies these themes to Jesus Christ as the living water, which is symbolic of eternal life mediated by the Holy Spirit from him (cf. John 4:14; 6:35; 7:37–39). Jesus used the woman's need for physical water to sustain life in this arid region in order to serve as an object lesson for her need for spiritual transformation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:15 The woman, like Nicodemus (3:4), did not realize that Jesus was talking about her spiritual needs. Instead, in her mind, she wanted such water in order to avoid her frequent trips to Jacob's well.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:16 call your husband. Since the woman failed to understand the nature of the living water he offered (v. 15), Jesus abruptly turned the dialogue to focus sharply on her real spiritual need for conversion and cleansing from sin. His intimate knowledge of her morally depraved life not only indicated his supernatural ability, but also focused on her spiritual condition.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:18 not your husband. She was living conjugally with a man who Jesus said was not her husband. By such an explicit statement, our Lord rejected the notion that when two people live together it constitutes marriage. Biblically, marriage is always restricted to a public, formal, official, and recognized covenant.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:19 you are a prophet. His knowledge of her life indicated he had supernatural inspiration.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:20 on this mountain. Both Jews and Samaritans recognized that God had commanded their forefathers to identify a special place for worshiping him (Deut. 12:5). The Jews, recognizing the entire Hebrew canon, chose Jerusalem (2 Sam. 7:5–13; 2 Chron. 6:6). The Samaritans, recognizing only the Pentateuch, noted that the first place Abraham built an altar to God was at Shechem (Gen. 12:6–7), which was overlooked by Mount Gerizim, where the Israelites had shouted the blessings promised by God before they entered the Promised Land (Deut. 11:29–30). As a result, they chose Mount Gerizim for the place of their temple.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:21 neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem. There was no reason to debate locations, since both places would be obsolete soon and neither would have any role to play in the lives of those who genuinely worship God. Jerusalem would even be destroyed with its temple (A.D. 70).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:22 you do not know. The Samaritans did not know God. They did not have the full revelation of him, and thus could not worship in truth. The Jews did have the full revelation of God in the OT; thus they knew the God they worshiped, because salvation's truth came first to them (see note on Luke 19:9), and through them to the world (cf. Rom. 3:2; 9:4–5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:23 hour. This refers to Jesus' death, resurrection, and ascension to God, having completed redemption. true worshipers. Jesus' point is that in light of his coming as Messiah and Savior, worshipers will be identified, not by a particular shrine or location, but by their worship of the Father through the Son. With Christ's coming, previous distinctions between true and false worshipers based on locations disappeared. True worshipers are all those everywhere who worship God through the Son, from the heart (cf. Phil. 3:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:24 God is spirit. This verse represents the classical statement on the nature of God as Spirit. The phrase means that God is invisible (Col. 1:15; 1 Tim. 1:17; Heb. 11:27) as opposed to the physical or material nature of man (John 1:18; 3:6). The word order of this phrase puts an emphasis on “spirit,” and the statement is essentially emphatic. Man could never comprehend the invisible God unless he revealed himself, as he did in Scripture and the incarnation. must worship. Jesus is not speaking of a desirable element in worship but that which is absolutely necessary. in spirit and truth. The word “spirit” does not refer to the Holy Spirit but to the human spirit. Jesus’ point here is that a person must worship not simply by external conformity to religious rituals and places (outwardly) but inwardly (“in spirit”) with the proper heart attitude. The reference to “truth” refers to worship of God consistent with the revealed Scripture and centered on the “Word made flesh” who ultimately revealed his Father (14:6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:25 Messiah. The Samaritans also anticipated Messiah’s coming.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:26 I who speak to you am he. Jesus forthrightly declared himself to be Messiah, though his habit was to avoid such declarations to his own Jewish people who had such crassly political and militaristic views regarding Messiah (cf. 10:24; Mark 9:41). The “he” in this translation is not in the original Greek, for Jesus lit. said, “I who speak to you am.” The usage of “I am” is similar to John 8:58 (see notes there). This claim constitutes the main point of the story regarding the Samaritan woman.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:27–42 These verses reinforce Jesus’ acknowledgment that he was Messiah by offering proof for his claim. John gave five genuine, but subtle, proofs that Jesus was truly Messiah and Son of God, which reinforced his main theme of 20:31: 1) proof from his immediate control of everything (4:27); 2) proof from his impact on the woman (vv. 28–30); 3) proof from his intimacy with the Father (vv. 31–34); 4) proof from his insight into men’s souls (vv. 35–38); and 5) proof from his impression on the Samaritans (vv. 39–42).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:27 Just then. Had the disciples arrived earlier, they would have interrupted and destroyed the conversation, and if they had arrived any later, she would have gone and they would not have heard his declaration of messiahship. This feature subtly reveals Jesus’ divine control over the situation that was occurring.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:28–31 to the people. Jesus had such an impact on the woman that she was eager to share the news among the townspeople whom she had previously avoided because of her reputation. Her witness and candor regarding her own life so impressed them that they came to see Jesus for themselves.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:32–33 I have food. Just like the Samaritan woman’s misunderstanding of Jesus’ words regarding literal water (v. 15), Jesus’ own disciples thought only of literal food. John commonly used such misunderstanding to advance the argument of his Gospel (e.g., 2:20; 3:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:34 My food is to do the will of him who sent me. Most likely Jesus echoed Deut. 8:3 where Moses stated, “man does not live by bread alone, but man lives by every word that comes from the mouth of the Lord” (cf. Matt. 4:4; Luke 4:4). When he talked with the Samaritan woman, Jesus was performing the will of the Father and thereby received greater sustenance and satisfaction than any mere physical food could offer him (John 5:23–24; 8:29; 17:4). Obedience to and dependence upon God’s will summed up Jesus’ whole life (Eph. 5:17). God’s will for him to finish is explained in John 6:38–40 (see note on 6:40).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:35 four months, then comes the harvest. The event probably happened in December or January, which was four months before the normal spring harvest (mid-April). Crops were planted in November, and by December or January the grain would be sprouting up in vibrant green color. Jesus used the fact that they were surrounded by crops growing in the field and waiting to be harvested as an object lesson to illustrate his urgency about reaching the lost, whom the “harvest” symbolized. Jesus points out the Samaritan woman and people of Sychar (“lift up your eyes”) who were at that moment coming upon the scene (v. 30) looking like a ripened “harvest” that urgently needed “gathering,” i.e., evangelizing. white for harvest. Their white clothing seen above the growing grain may have looked like white heads on the stalks, an indication of readiness for harvest. Jesus knew the hearts of all (2:24), so was able to state their readiness for salvation (cf. 4:39–41).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:36–38 The Lord’s call to his disciples to do the work of evangelism contains promises of reward (“wages”), fruit that brings eternal joy (v. 36), and the mutual partnership of shared privilege (vv. 37–38).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:42 Savior of the world. This phrase occurs also in 1 John 4:14. The verse constitutes the climax to the story of the woman of Samaria. The Samaritans themselves became another in a series of witnesses in John's Gospel that demonstrated the identity of Jesus as the Messiah and Son of God. This episode represents the first instance of cross-cultural evangelism (Acts 1:8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:43–54 The episode of Jesus' healing of the official's son constitutes the second major "sign" of eight that John used to reinforce Jesus' true identity for producing belief in his readers (v. 54). In this episode, Jesus chided the official's unbelief in needing a miraculous sign in order to trust in Christ (v. 48). While some believe that this story is the same as the healing of the centurion's servant (Matt. 8:5–13; Luke 7:2–10), sufficient differences exist to demonstrate that it is different from the synoptic account; e.g., 1) no evidence exists that the official's son was a Gentile; 2) the official's son, not his servant, was healed; and 3) Jesus was far more negative regarding the official's faith (John 4:48) than the centurion's (Matt. 8:10). One may divide this section into three parts: 1) Jesus contemplating unbelief (John 4:43–45); 2) Jesus confronting unbelief (vv. 46–49); and 3) Jesus conquering unbelief (vv. 50–54).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:43 departed for Galilee. After two days in Samaria, Jesus traveled to Galilee, resuming the trip that began in v. 3.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:44 a prophet has no honor in his own hometown. This proverb (also in Matt. 13:57; Mark 6:4) contrasts the believing response of the Samaritans (John 4:39) with the characteristic unbelief of Jesus' own people in Galilee (and Judea) whose reticent faith depended so much on Jesus' performance of miracles (v. 48). While in Samaria, Jesus had enjoyed his first unqualified and unopposed success. His own people's hearts were not open to him, but exhibited reluctance and hardness.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:45 the Galileans welcomed him. The apostle may have meant these words as irony, especially in light of the surrounding context of vv. 44, 48. The reception was likely that of curiosity seekers whose appetite centered more on seeing miracles than believing in Jesus as Messiah—as it had been at "the feast" (see notes on 2:23–25).

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:46 Cana in Galilee. The deep irony of the statement in v. 45 increases with the fact that Jesus had only recently performed a miracle in Cana at the wedding. Instead of responding in belief, the people wanted more (see note on v. 48). The basis of their welcome was extremely crass. official. This term most likely designated someone officially attached to the service of King Herod Antipas, tetrarch of Galilee from 4 B.C. to A.D. 39. Capernaum. Capernaum was approximately 16 miles northeast of Cana.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:47 asked him. The man repeatedly begged Jesus to heal his son. His approach to Jesus was out of desperation, but he had little appreciation of who Jesus was. In light of v. 46, apparently the official's motivation centered in Jesus' reputation as a miracle worker rather than as Messiah.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:48 Unless you see signs and wonders. The "you" is plural. Jesus addresses these words to the Galileans as a whole and not just to the official (see notes on vv. 45–46). The response of the Galileans was fundamentally flawed because it disregarded the person of Christ and centered in the need for a constant display of miraculous signs. Such an attitude represents the deepest state of unbelief.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:50 your son will live. Jesus met the demands of Galilean unbelief by healing the official's son, revealing not only his sympathy, but his marvelous graciousness in spite of such a faithless demand for miracles.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:52 the seventh hour. About 7:00 P.M., reckoning from noon, using the Roman system. See note on v. 6.

JOHN—NOTE ON 4:53 the hour. The time when the official's son improved corresponded precisely with the time that he had spoken with Jesus. This served to strengthen the official's faith and, as a result, the "household" believed.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:1–7:52 This section evidences the shift from reservation and hesitation about Jesus as Messiah (3:26; 4:1–3) to outright rejection (7:52). The opposition started with controversy regarding Jesus' healing on the Sabbath (5:1–18), intensified in ch. 6 with many of his disciples abandoning him (6:66), and finally hardened in ch. 7 into official opposition against him with the religious authorities' unsuccessful attempt to arrest him (7:20–52). Accordingly, the theme of this section is the rejection of Jesus as Messiah.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:1–18 Although opposition to Jesus smoldered beneath the surface (e.g., 2:13–20), the story of Jesus' healing at the Pool of Bethesda highlights the beginning of open hostility toward him in Jerusalem in the southern parts of Palestine. The passage may be divided into three parts: 1) the miracle performed (5:1–9); 2) the Master persecuted (vv. 10–16); and 3) the murder planned (vv. 16–18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:1 a feast of the Jews. John repeatedly tied his narrative to various Jewish feasts (2:13—Passover; 6:4—Passover; 7:2—Booths, or Tabernacles; 10:22—Hanukkah, or Feast of Dedication; and 11:55—Passover), but this reference is the only instance when he did not identify the particular feast occurring at the time.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:2 Sheep Gate. A reference to the gate identified in Neh. 3:1, 32; 12:39. It was a small opening in the north wall of the city, just west of the northeast corner. there is . . . a pool. Some have suggested that John wrote his Gospel before the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, because his usage of “is” here implies that the pool still existed. However, John frequently used what is known as a “historical present” to refer to past events, so this argument carries little weight. For more on the date of writing, see Introduction: Author and Date. Bethesda. “Bethesda” is the Greek transliteration of a Hebrew (or Aramaic) name meaning “house of outpouring.”

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:3a lay. It was a custom at that time for people with infirmities to gather at this pool. Intermittent springs may have fed the pool and caused the disturbance of the water (v. 7). Some ancient witnesses indicate that the waters of the pool were red with minerals, and thus thought to have medicinal value.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:3b–4 See esv footnote. The statement in the latter half of v. 3, “waiting for the moving of the water,” along with v. 4 are not original to the Gospel. The earliest and best Greek manuscripts, as well as the early versions, exclude the reading. The presence of words or expressions unfamiliar to John’s writings also militate against its inclusion.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:5 thirty-eight years. John included this figure to emphasize the gravity of the debilitating disease that afflicted the individual. Since his sickness had been witnessed by many people for almost four decades, when Jesus cured him everyone knew the genuineness of the healing (cf. v. 9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:6 knew. The word implies supernatural knowledge of the man’s situation (1:47–48; 4:17). Jesus picked the man out from among many sick people. The sovereign initiative was his, and no reason is given as to his choice.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:8 Get up, take up . . . walk. In the same way that he spoke the world into being at creation (Gen. 1:3), Jesus’ spoken words had the power to cure (cf. John 1:3; 8:58; Gen. 1:1; Col. 1:16; Heb. 1:2). bed. The “pallet” or “mat” was normally made of straw and was light enough so that it could be carried on the shoulder of a well person who assisted the infirm (cf. Mark 2:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:9 took up his bed and walked. This phrase emphasizes the completeness of the cure (cf. v. 5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:10–11 The OT had forbidden work on the Sabbath but did not stipulate what “work” was specifically indicated (Ex. 20:8–11). The assumption in Scripture seems to be that “work” was one’s customary employment, but rabbinical opinion had developed oral tradition beyond the OT that stipulated 39 activities forbidden (Mishnah Shabbath 7:2; 10:5), including carrying anything from one domain to another. Thus, the man had broken oral tradition, not OT law (see notes on John 5:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:10 it is not lawful. The phrase reveals that the Judaism during Jesus’ time had degenerated into pious hypocrisy. Such hypocrisy especially enraged the Lord Jesus (cf. Matt. 22–23), who used this incident to set up a confrontation with Jewish hyper-legalism and identified the need for national repentance.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:14 Sin no more, that nothing worse may happen to you. The basic thrust of Jesus’ comments here indicates that sin has its inevitable consequences (cf. Gal. 6:7–8). Although Scripture makes clear that not all disease is a consequence of sin (cf. John 9:1–3; Luke 13:1–5), illness at times may be directly tied into one’s moral turpitude (cf. 1 Cor. 11:29–30; James 5:15). Jesus may specifically have chosen this man in order to highlight this point.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:16 persecuting. The verb tense means that the Jews repeatedly persecuted Jesus, i.e., continued hostile activity. This was not an isolated incident of their hatred toward him because of his healings on the Sabbath (cf. Mark 3:1–6). on the Sabbath. Jesus did not break God’s law since in it there was no prohibition of doing good on that day (Mark 2:27). However, Jesus disregarded the oral law of the Jews that had developed, i.e., “the tradition of the elders” (cf. also Matt. 15:1–9). Most likely, Jesus deliberately practiced such healing on the Sabbath to provoke a confrontation with their religious hypocrisy that blinded them to the true worship of God (see John 5:17–47 for the main reason for Jesus’ confrontation; see notes on vv. 10–11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:17–47 These verses reveal the ultimate reason Jesus confronted the Jews’ religious hypocrisy, i.e., the opportunity to declare who he was. This section is Christ’s own personal statement of his deity. As such, it is one of the greatest Christological discourses in Scripture. Herein Jesus makes five claims to equality with God: 1) he is equal with God in his person (vv. 17–18); 2) he is equal with God in his works (vv. 19–20); 3) he is equal with God in his power and sovereignty (v. 21); 4) he is equal with God in his judgment (v. 22); and 5) he is equal with God in his honor (v. 23).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:17 Jesus’ point is that whether he broke the Sabbath or not, God was working continuously and, since Jesus himself worked continuously, he also must be God. Furthermore, God does not need a day of rest, for he never wearies (Isa. 40:28). For Jesus’ self-defense to be valid, the same factors that apply to God must also apply to him. Jesus is Lord of the Sabbath (Matt. 12:8)! Interestingly, even the rabbis admitted that God’s work had not ceased after the Sabbath because he sustains the universe.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:18 This verse confirms that the Jews instantly grasped the implications of his remarks that he was God (see notes on v. 17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:19 Truly, truly. Cf. vv. 24–25 and 1:51. This is an emphatic way of saying, “I’m telling you the truth.” In response to Jewish hostility at the implications of his assertions of equality with God, Jesus became even more fearless, forceful, and emphatic. Jesus essentially tied his activities of healing on the Sabbath directly to the Father. The Son never took independent action that set him against the Father because the Son only did those things that were coincident with and co-extensive with all that the Father does. Jesus thus implied that the only One who could do what the Father does must be as great as the Father.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:20 greater works. This refers to the powerful work of raising the dead. God has that power (cf. 1 Kings 17:17–24; 2 Kings 4:32–37; 5:7) and so does the Lord Jesus (John 5:21–29; 11:25–44; 14:19; 20:1–18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:23 honor the Son. This verse gives the reason that God entrusted all judgment to the Son (v. 22), i.e., so that all men should honor the Son just as they honor the Father. This verse goes far beyond making Jesus a mere ambassador who is acting in the name of a monarch, but gives him full and complete equality with the Father (cf. Phil. 2:9–11). honor the Father. Jesus turned the tables on the Jewish accusation against him of blasphemy. Instead, Jesus affirmed that the only way anyone can honor the Father is through receiving the Son. Therefore, the Jews were the ones who actually blasphemed the Father by rejection of his Son.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:24 passed from death to life. This develops the truth of v. 21, that Jesus gives life to whomever he desires. The people who receive that life are here identified as those who hear the word and believe in the Father and the Son. They are the people who have eternal life and never will be condemned (Rom. 8:1; Col. 1:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:25–29 The theme of these verses is resurrection. Jesus related that all men, saved and unsaved, will be literally and physically resurrected from the dead. However, only the saved experience a spiritual (“born again”), as well as physical, resurrection unto eternal life. The unsaved will be resurrected unto judgment and eternal punishment through separation from God (i.e., the second death; cf. Rev. 20:6, 14; 21:8). These verses also constitute proof of the deity of Jesus Christ since the Son has resurrection power (John 5:25–26), and the Father has granted him the status of Judge of all mankind (v. 27). In the light of other Scripture, it is clear that Jesus speaks generally about resurrection, but not about one, general resurrection (see notes on Dan. 12:2; 1 Cor. 15:23; 1 Thess. 4:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:25 hour is coming, and is now. Cf. 4:23. This phrase reveals an already/not yet tension regarding the resurrection. Those who are born again are already “spiritually” resurrected (“is now”; Eph. 2:1; Col. 2:13), and yet a future physical resurrection still awaits them (“hour is coming”; 1 Cor. 15:35–54; Phil. 3:20–21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:26 he has granted the Son. The Son from all eternity had the right to grant life (1:4). The distinction involves Jesus’ deity versus his incarnation. In becoming a man, Jesus voluntarily set aside the independent exercise of his divine attributes and prerogatives (Phil. 2:6–11). Jesus here affirmed that even in his humanity, the Father granted him “life-giving” power, i.e., the power of resurrection (see note on John 5:20).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:27 authority. Cf. 17:2; see note on Matt. 28:18.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:29 those who have done good . . . done evil. Jesus was not teaching justification by works (see 6:29). In the context, the “good” is believing on the Son so as to receive a new nature that produces good works (3:21; James 2:14–20), while the “evil” done is to reject the Son (the unsaved) and hate the light, which has the result of evil deeds (John 3:18–19). In essence, works merely evidence one’s nature as saved or unsaved (see notes on Rom. 2:5–10), but human works never determine one’s salvation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:30 the will of him who sent me. In summarizing all he has said from v. 19 on about his equality with God, Jesus claimed that the judgment he exercised was because everything he did was dependent upon the Father’s word and will (cf. vv. 19–20).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:32–47 The background of these verses is Deut. 17:6 and 19:15 where witnesses were to establish the truthfulness of a matter (see note on John 1:7). Jesus himself emphasized the familiar theme of witnesses who testify to the identity of the Son: 1) John the Baptist (5:32–35); 2) Jesus’ works (vv. 35–36); 3) the Father (vv. 37–38); and 4) the OT Scriptures (vv. 39–47).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:36 the very works that I am doing. Cf. 10:25. The miracles of Jesus were witness to his deity and messiahship. Such miracles are the major signs recorded by John in this Gospel, so as to fulfill his purpose in 20:30–31 (see Introduction: Historical and Theological Themes).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:37 Father . . . has himself borne witness. Cf. Matt. 3:17; Mark 1:11; Luke 3:22.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:39 You search. Although the verb “search” could also be understood as a command (i.e., “Search the Scriptures!”), most prefer this translation as an indicative. The verb implies diligent scrutiny in investigating the Scriptures to find “eternal life.” However, Jesus points out that with all their fastidious effort, they miserably failed in their understanding of the true way to eternal life through the Son of God (see notes on Matt. 19:16–25; cf. John 14:6; 2 Tim. 3:15). bear witness about me. Cf. John 5:45. Christ is the main theme of Scripture. See note on 1:45.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:40 refuse. They searched for eternal life, but were not willing to trust its only source (cf. v. 24; 1:11; 3:19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:41 glory from people. If Jesus agreed to be the kind of Messiah the Jews wanted, providing miracles and food along with political and military power, he would receive honor and glory from them. But he sought only to please God (vv. 19ff.).

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:43 you will receive him. The Jewish historian, Josephus, records that a string of messianic pretenders arose in the years before A.D. 70. This verse contrasts the Jewish rejection of their true Messiah because they did not love or know God (v. 42), with their willing acceptance of charlatans.

JOHN—NOTE ON 5:46 Moses . . . for he wrote of me. Jesus does not mention any specific passage in the five books of Moses although there are many (e.g., Deut. 18:15; cf. 1:21; 4:19; 6:14; 7:40, 52).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:1–14 The story of the feeding of the 5,000 is the fourth sign John employed to demonstrate that Jesus is the Messiah and Son of God. It is the only miracle recorded in all four Gospels (Matt. 14:13–23; Mark 6:30–46; Luke 9:10–17). Since John most likely wrote to supplement and provide additional information not recorded in the synoptics (see Introduction: Background and Setting), his recording of this miracle emphasized its strategic importance in two ways: 1) it demonstrated the creative power of Christ more clearly than any other miracle, and 2) it decisively supported John’s purposes of demonstrating the deity of Jesus Christ while also serving to set the stage for Jesus’ discourse on the “bread of life” (John 6:22–40). Interestingly, both creative miracles of Jesus, the water into wine (2:1–10) and the multiplying of bread (6:1–14), speak of the main elements in the Lord’s Supper, or communion (v. 53).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:1 After this. A large gap of time may exist between chs. 5 and 6. If the feast in 5:1 is Booths, or Tabernacles, then at least six months passed (October to April). If the feast of 5:1 is Passover, then a year passed between these chapters. the Sea of Galilee. Chapter 6 is very close to the same structure as ch. 5 since both occur around a Jewish feast and both lead to a discourse of Jesus’ deity. While ch. 5 takes place in the south around Judea and Jerusalem, ch. 6 takes place in the north around Galilee. The result of both chapters is the same: he is rejected not only in the southern but also in the northern regions. See note on 21:1.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:2 they saw the signs. The crowds followed not out of belief but out of curiosity concerning the miracles that he performed (v. 26). However, in spite of the crowd’s crass motivations, Jesus, having compassion on them, healed their sick and fed them (cf. Matt. 13:14; Mark 6:34).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:7 Two hundred denarii. Since one denarius was a day’s pay for a common laborer, 200 denarii would be approximately eight months’ wages. The crowd, however, was so large that such a significant amount was still inadequate to feed them.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:10 five thousand. The number of men was 5,000, not including women and children, who probably brought the total up to 20,000.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:14 the Prophet. The crowd referred to “the Prophet” of Deut. 18:15. Sadly, these comments, coming right after Jesus healed and fed them, indicate that the people desired a Messiah who met their physical, rather than spiritual, needs. Apparently, no recognition existed for the need of spiritual repentance and preparation for the kingdom (Matt. 4:17). They wanted an earthly, political Messiah to meet all their needs and to deliver them from Roman oppression. Their reaction typifies many who want a “Christ” who makes no demands of them (cf. Matt. 10:34–39; 16:24–26), but of whom they can make their selfish personal requests.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:15 take him by force to make him king. John supplemented the information in Matthew and Mark by indicating that the reason Jesus dismissed the disciples and withdrew from the crowd into a mountain alone was because of his supernatural knowledge of their intention to make him king in light of his healing and feeding of them. The crowd, incited by mob enthusiasm, was ready to proceed with crassly political intentions that would have jeopardized God’s will.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:16–21 The story of Jesus’ walking on the water constituted the fifth sign in John’s Gospel designed to demonstrate the writer’s purpose that Jesus is the Messiah and Son of God (20:30–31). The miracle demonstrates Jesus’ deity by his sovereignty over the laws of nature.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:17 to Capernaum. Matthew 14:22 and Mark 6:45 indicate that as soon as Jesus had fed the multitudes, he immediately dismissed his disciples to travel west toward Capernaum (John 6:16–17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:18 a strong wind was blowing. The Sea of Galilee is almost 700 feet below sea level. Cooler air from the northern mountains and southeastern tablelands rushes down into the lake and displaces the warm moist air, causing violent churning of the water.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:19–20 Jesus walking on the sea. The synoptics reveal that in fear and the darkness, they thought he was a ghost (Matt. 14:26; Mark 6:49). The Son of God, who made the world, was in control of its forces and, in this case, he suspended the law of gravity. The act was not frivolous on Jesus' part, for it constituted a dramatic object lesson to the disciples of Jesus' true identity as the sovereign Lord of all creation (cf. John 1:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:21 immediately the boat was at the land. This wording indicates that another miracle occurred besides walking on the water, i.e., the boat miraculously and instantly arrived at its precise destination as soon as Jesus stepped into the boat.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:22–58 Jesus' famous discourse on the bread of life. The key theme is v. 35, i.e., "I am the bread of life," which is the first of seven emphatic "I am" statements of Jesus in this Gospel (8:12; 10:7, 9; 10:11, 14; 11:25; 14:6; 15:1, 5). This analogy of Jesus as "the bread" of life reinforces John's theme of Jesus as the Messiah and Son of God (20:30–31). Although John records Jesus' miracles to establish his deity, he moves quickly to Jesus' discourse on the spiritual realities of his person in order to define correctly who Jesus Christ was, i.e., not merely a wonder-worker but the Son of God who came to save mankind from sin (3:16). This discourse took place in the synagogue at Capernaum (6:59).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:22–23 These verses indicate that the crowds who witnessed Jesus' healings and his feeding of the multitudes were still at the original site of these miracles (east of the lake) and, out of heightened curiosity, desired to find Jesus once again. Other boats loaded with people from Tiberias (on the northwest shore of the lake) also heard of the miracles and sought him out.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:26 because you ate. This phrase emphasizes Jesus' point that the crowds that followed him were motivated by superficial desire for food rather than any understanding of the true spiritual significance of Jesus' person and mission (8:14–21; Mark 6:52).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:27 food that perishes. Jesus rebuked the crowd for purely materialistic notions of the messianic kingdom (cf. v. 26; 4:15). Although Messiah's kingdom would be literal and physical someday, the people failed to see the overriding spiritual character and blessing of "eternal life" given immediately to those who believe the witness of God to his Son. food that endures to eternal life. The continuing discourse indicates that this was a reference to Jesus himself (6:35).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:28 works of God. They thought Jesus was saying that God required them to do some works to earn everlasting life, which they thought they would be able to do.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:29 the work of God, that you believe. The crowd misunderstood Jesus' prohibition in v. 27 ("Do not labor"), which prompted Jesus to remind them that an exclusive focus on material blessings is wrong. The only work God desired was faith or trust in Jesus as Messiah and Son of God (cf. Mal. 3:1). The "work" that God requires is to believe in his Son (cf. John 5:24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:30 What work do you perform? The question demonstrated the obtuseness, the spiritual blindness of the crowd, and their shallow, selfish curiosity. The feeding of 20,000 (v. 10) was a sufficient enough sign to demonstrate Christ's deity (cf. Luke 16:31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:31 Our fathers ate the manna. The crowd's logic appeared to be that Jesus' miraculous feeding was a small miracle compared to what Moses did. In order for them to believe in him, they would need to see him feed the nation of Israel on the same scale that God did when he sent manna and fed the entire nation of Israel during their wilderness wanderings for 40 years (Ex. 16:11–36). They were demanding that Jesus outdo Moses if they were to believe in him. They quoted from Ps. 78:24.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:32 true bread from heaven. The manna God gave was temporary and perished and was only a meager shadow of what God offered them in the true bread, Jesus Christ, who gives spiritual and eternal life to mankind ("world" vv. 33, 51).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:33 bread of God. This phrase is synonymous with the phrase "bread from heaven" (v. 32).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:34 Sir, give us this bread always. This statement once again demonstrated the blindness of the crowd, for they were thinking of some physical bread and failed to understand the spiritual implication that Jesus was that "bread" (cf. 4:15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:35 I am the bread of life. The obtuseness in v. 34 prompted Jesus to speak very plainly that he was referring to himself.

The “I am” Statements

The “I am” Statements
Twenty-three times in all we find our Lord’s meaningful “I am” (ego eimi, Greek) in the Greek text of this Gospel ( John 4:26 ; 6:20 , 35 , 41 , 48 , 51 ; 8:12 , 18 , 24 , 28 , 58 ; 10:7 , 9 , 11 , 14 ; 11:25 ; 13:19 ; 14:6 ; 15:1 , 5 ; 18:5 , 6 , 8 ). In several of these, he joins his “I am” with seven tremendous metaphors, which are expressive of his saving relationship toward the world.
“I am the bread of life” ( John 6:35 , 41 , 48 , 51 ).
“I am the light of the world” ( John 8:12 ).
“I am the door of the sheep” ( John 10:7 , 9 ).
“I am the good shepherd” ( John 10:11 , 14 ).
“I am the resurrection and the life” ( John 11:25 ).
“I am the way, and the truth, and the life” ( John 14:6 ).
“I am the true vine” ( John 15:1 , 5 ).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:37 All that the Father gives me will come to me. This verse emphasizes the sovereign will of God in the selection of those who come to him for salvation (cf. vv. 44, 65; 17:6, 12, 24). The Father has predestined those who would be saved (see notes on Rom. 8:29–30; Eph. 1:3–6; 1 Pet. 1:2). The absolute sovereignty of God is the basis of Jesus’ confidence in the success of his mission (see note on John 6:40; cf. Phil. 1:6). The security of salvation rests in the sovereignty of God, for God is the guarantee that “all” he has chosen will come to him for salvation. The idea of “gives me” is that every person chosen by God and drawn by God (John 6:44) must be seen as a gift of the Father’s love to the Son. The Son receives each “love gift” (v. 37), holds on to each (v. 39), and will raise each to eternal glory (vv. 39–40). No one chosen will be lost (see notes on Rom. 8:31–39). This saving purpose is the Father’s will, which the Son will not fail to do perfectly (John 6:38; cf. 4:34; 10:28–29; 17:6, 12, 24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:40 everyone who looks on the Son and believes in him. This verse emphasizes human responsibility in salvation. Although God is sovereign, he works through faith, so that a person must believe in Jesus as the Messiah and Son of God who alone offers the only way of salvation (cf. 14:6). However, even faith is a gift of God (Rom. 12:3; Eph. 2:8–9). Intellectually harmonizing the sovereignty of God and the responsibility of man is impossible humanly, but perfectly resolved in the infinite mind of God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:41–50 This section constitutes the beginning of the crowd’s reaction to Jesus’ discourse on the bread of life and may be divided into three sections: 1) the murmuring reaction of the crowd (vv. 41–42); 2) Jesus’ rebuke of the crowd for their reaction (vv. 43–46); and 3) Jesus’ reiteration of his message to the crowd (vv. 47–51).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:41 the Jews. In this Gospel, the term “Jews” is often associated with hostility toward Christ. It is used ironically to indicate the incongruity of their rising hostility toward their Messiah. Since they hardened their hearts, God judicially hardened their hearts also (cf. 12:37–40; Isa. 6:10; 53:1; Matt. 13:10–15). In the tribulation, Israel will turn to Jesus as their true Messiah and be saved (Rom. 11:25–27; Rev. 1:7; 7:1–8; cf. Zech. 12:10–14). grumbled. The reaction of the synagogue crowds to Jesus’ statements was the same as the Jews in the wilderness who grumbled against God both before and after the manna was given to them (Ex. 16:2, 8–9; Num. 11:4–6). because he said, “I am the bread . . . from heaven.” The Jews’ anger centered in two things: 1) that Jesus said he was the bread and 2) that he came down from heaven. Both the Jews in Jerusalem (John 5:18) and the Galileans reacted negatively when Jesus placed himself equal with God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:42 whose father and mother we know? On the human level, they knew Jesus as a fellow Galilean. These words are reminiscent of Jesus’ words in 4:44, “a prophet has no honor in his own hometown.” Their hostility sprang from the root of unbelief. Jesus’ death was impending because hostility had resulted everywhere he went.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:44 draws him. Cf. v. 65. The combination of v. 37a and v. 44 indicate that the divine drawing activity that Jesus referred to cannot be reduced to what theologians call “prevenient grace,” i.e., that somehow the power to come to Christ is allegedly dispensed to all of mankind, thus enabling everyone to accept or reject the gospel according to their own will alone. Scripture indicates that no “free will” exists in man’s nature, for man is enslaved to sin (total depravity) and unable to believe apart from God’s empowerment (Rom. 3:1–19; Eph. 2:1–3; 2 Cor. 4:4; 2 Tim. 1:9). While “whosoever will” may come to the Father, only those whom the Father gives the ability to will toward him will actually come to him. The drawing here is selective and efficacious (producing the desired effect) upon those whom God has sovereignly chosen for salvation, i.e., those whom God has chosen will believe because God has sovereignly determined that result from eternity past (Eph. 1:9–11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:45 Jesus paraphrased Isa. 54:13 to support the point that if someone comes to faith and repentance to God, it is because they have been “taught,” and hence drawn, by God. The “drawing” and “learning” are just different aspects of God’s sovereign direction in the person’s life. Those taught by God to grasp the truth are also drawn by God the Father to embrace the Son.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:49–50 Jesus contrasted the earthly and heavenly bread. The manna that was given in the wilderness, although sent from heaven to help sustain the Israelites for their physical needs, could not impart eternal life nor meet their spiritual needs as could the “bread of life” (v. 48) that came down from heaven in the person of Jesus the Messiah. The proof of this contrast centers in the irrefutable fact that all the fathers died who ate the wilderness manna.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:51–59 This section may be divided into three divisions: 1) Jesus’ pronouncement (v. 51); 2) the crowd’s perplexity (v. 52); and 3) Jesus’ promises (vv. 53–59).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:51 This pronouncement exactly reiterates vv. 33, 35, 47–48. bread . . . is my flesh. Jesus refers here prophetically to his impending sacrifice upon the cross (cf. 2 Cor. 5:21; 1 Pet. 2:24). Jesus voluntarily laid down his life for evil, sinful mankind (John 10:18; 1 John 2:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:52 disputed. Once again the perplexity of the Jews indicates that they failed to understand the spiritual truth behind Jesus’ illustration. Every time Jesus had given them a veiled saying or physical illustration, the Jews failed to see its spiritual significance (e.g., 3:4; 4:15). The Mosaic law prohibited the drinking of blood or the eating of meat with blood still in it (Lev. 17:10–14; Deut. 12:16; Acts 15:29). The Jews, unable to go beyond the mere physical perspective, were perplexed and angered.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:53–58 eat . . . drink. Jesus’ point was an analogy that has spiritual, rather than literal, significance: just as eating and drinking are necessary for physical life, so also is belief in his sacrificial death on the cross necessary for eternal life. The eating of his flesh and drinking of his blood metaphorically symbolize the need for accepting Jesus’ cross work. For the Jews, however, a crucified Messiah was unthinkable (cf. Acts 17:1–3). Once again, the Jews, in their willful and judicial blindness, could not see the real spiritual significance and truth behind Jesus’ statements. Moreover, Jesus’ reference here to eating and drinking was not referring to the ordinance of communion for two significant reasons: 1) communion had not been instituted yet, and 2) if Jesus was referring to communion, then the passage would teach that anyone partaking of communion would receive eternal life.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:60–71 These verses constitute the reaction of Jesus’ disciples to his sermon on the “bread of life.” As with the crowds’ response in Jerusalem (ch. 5) and in Galilee (ch. 6), the response of many of his disciples was unbelief and rejection of him. John lists two groups and their reactions: 1) the false disciples’ reaction of unbelief (6:60–66), and 2) the true disciples’ reaction of belief (vv. 67–71). After this sermon, only a small nucleus of disciples remained (v. 67).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:61 his disciples were grumbling. Many of Jesus’ disciples had the same reaction as the Jews in v. 41 and of the first generation of Israelites to manna, i.e., they grumbled (Ex. 16:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:64 Jesus knew. Reminiscent of Jesus’ words in 2:23–25, Jesus knew the hearts of men, including those disciples who followed him. He supernaturally knew that many did not believe in him as Messiah and Son of God so he did not entrust himself to them. These false disciples were simply attracted to the physical phenomena (e.g., miracles and food), and failed to understand the true significance of Jesus’ teaching (6:61).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:65 I told you. See notes on vv. 37, 44. Although men and women are commanded to believe and will be held accountable for unbelief, genuine faith is never exclusively a matter of human decision. Once again, in the face of unbelief, Jesus reiterated God’s sovereignty involved in selection for salvation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:66 disciples . . . no longer walked with him. The language indicates that the abandonment was decisive and final (cf. 1 Pet. 2:6–8; 1 John 2:19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:69 we have believed. Peter’s words were somewhat pretentious in that he implied that the true disciples somehow had superior insight and, as a result, came to belief through that insight.

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:70 Did I not choose you, the Twelve? In response to Peter’s words that the disciples had come to believe in Jesus, he reminds them that he sovereignly chose them (vv. 37, 44, 65). Jesus would not allow even a whisper of human pretension in God's sovereign selection. a devil. The word "devil" means "slanderer" or "false accuser." The idea perhaps is better rendered "one of you is the devil." This meaning is clear from 13:2, 27; Mark 8:33; Luke 22:3. The supreme adversary of God so operates behind failing human beings that his malice becomes theirs (cf. Matt. 16:23). Jesus supernaturally knew the source and identified it precisely. This clearly fixes the character of Judas, not as a well intentioned but misguided man trying to force Jesus to exert his power and set up his kingdom (as some suggest), but as a tool of Satan doing unmitigated wickedness (see notes on John 13:21–30).

JOHN—NOTE ON 6:71 Iscariot. The word most likely is from a Hebrew word meaning "man of Kerioth," the name of a village in Judah. As with the other three Gospels, as soon as he was named, he became identified as the betrayer.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:1–8:59 The main thrust of this section can be summarized as "high-intensity hatred" since the smoldering dislike of Jesus in chs. 5–6 erupted into a blazing inferno. The culmination of this hatred occurs in 11:45–57 where the Jewish authorities plot to kill the Son of God, culminating ultimately in his crucifixion. Both chapters deal with Jesus at the Feast of Booths, or Tabernacles, in Jerusalem. Especially noteworthy is the fact that two major themes associated with Tabernacles, i.e., water and light, come to prominence in these two chapters (7:37–39; 8:12). At the next Passover following this celebration of Tabernacles, Jesus was crucified. The central truth that dominates this whole passage is that Jesus was on a divine timetable. His life was not random, but operated according to God's sovereign and perfect timing and direction.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:1–13 This section has two parts: 1) Jesus' avoidance of the wrong time in God's sovereign plan (vv. 1–9), and 2) Jesus' perfect obedience to the right time in God's sovereign plan (vv. 10–13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:1 After this. A six-month gap most likely took place between chs. 6 and 7. While ch. 6 occurred around Passover (6:4—April), ch. 7 occurs at the Feast of Booths, or Tabernacles (October). John wrote nothing about those months since his purpose was not to present an exhaustive chronology of Christ's life but to portray him as the Messiah and Son of God and show how men reacted to him. about in Galilee. Chapter 6 indicates Jesus spent two days with the multitude of 20,000 people (6:22), but he spent seven months teaching his 12 disciples who believed in him. This phrase subtly highlights the great importance of discipleship, for Jesus concentrated great lengths of time upon training his future spiritual leaders.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:2 Feast of Booths. See note on 5:1. The Feast of Booths, or Tabernacles, was associated in the OT with the ingathering of the harvest of grapes and olives (Ex. 23:16; Lev. 23:33–36, 39–43; Deut. 16:13–15), while grain was reaped between April and June. The feast occurred for seven days from the fifteenth to the twenty-first of Tishri (September/October). According to Josephus, this feast was the most popular of the three principal Jewish feasts (Passover, Pentecost, and Booths, or Tabernacles). People living in rural areas built makeshift structures of light branches and leaves to live in for the week (hence, “booths” or “tabernacles”; cf. Lev. 23:42) while town dwellers put up similar structures on their flat roofs or in their courtyards. The feast was known for water-drawing and lamp-lighting rites, to which Jesus makes reference (“If anyone thirsts, let him come to me and drink”—7:37–38 and “I am the light of the world”—8:12).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:3 his brothers. Matthew 13:55 lists Jesus’ brothers as “James and Joseph and Simon and Judas.” James authored the NT epistle that bears his name and became the leader of the Jerusalem church, and Judas (or Jude) wrote the epistle that also bears his name. Because of Jesus’ virgin birth, they were only the half brothers of Jesus since Mary, not Joseph, was Jesus’ only human parent (cf. Matt. 1:16, 18, 23; Luke 1:35).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:4 to be known openly . . . . show yourself to the world. Jesus’ brothers wanted him to put on a display of his miracles. Although the text does not clearly state their motivation, perhaps they made the request for two reasons: 1) they wanted to see the miracles for themselves to determine their genuineness, and 2) they may have had similar crass political motives as did the people, namely, that he would become their social and political Messiah. Jerusalem’s acceptance of him was to be the acid test for them as to whether his own family would believe in him as Messiah.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:5 As with the crowds in Jerusalem and Galilee, even his own brothers did not believe in Jesus at first. They did not become his followers until after the resurrection (Acts 1:14; 1 Cor. 15:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:6 My time has not yet come. This recalls the response to Jesus’ mother at the wedding in Cana (see 2:4). It also reveals the first reason why Jesus would not go to the feast: it was not in God's perfect timing. The sentence reveals Jesus' complete dependence on and commitment to the Father's sovereign timetable for his life (cf. 8:20; Acts 1:7; 17:26). Furthermore, Jesus never committed himself to being motivated by unbelief, even that of his own half brothers. your time is always here. Because Jesus' brothers did not believe in him, they were of the world and therefore knew nothing of God or his purposes. Because of unbelief, they did not listen to his word, did not recognize God's schedule, and could not perceive the incarnate Word before them. As a result, any time would do for them, preferably that moment.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:7 The world cannot hate you. The world cannot hate Jesus' brothers because they belonged to the world and the world loves its own (cf. 15:18–19). The evil world system and all who reject the Word and Son of God lie in the control of the evil one himself (1 John 5:19). I testify about it that its works are evil. A true born-again believer who is living a life for God's glory should experience the hatred and antagonism of the world (cf. John 15:18–25; 16:1–3; 2 Tim. 3:12).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:8 my time has not yet fully come. This reveals the second reason why Jesus would not go to the feast in Jerusalem. The Jews could not kill him before God's perfect timing and plan was ready (cf. Gal. 4:4). Jesus' commitment to God's timetable would not permit any deviance from what God had decreed.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:10 in private. The assumption is that the Father had directed Jesus to permit him to go to Jerusalem. The secrecy of his journey indicates his maximum discretion, which was the complete opposite of what his brothers had demanded of him (cf. v. 4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:11 The Jews were looking for him. The contrast between the phrase "the Jews" in this verse and "the people" in v. 12 indicates that the term "Jews" designates the hostile Jewish authorities in Judea who were headquartered in Jerusalem. The search for Jesus was certainly hostile in intent.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:12–13 muttering about him among the people. The crowds, made up of Judeans, Galileans, and Diaspora (scattered) Jews, expressed various opinions regarding Christ. The spectrum ranged from superficial acceptance ("He is a good man") to cynical rejection ("he is leading the people astray"). The Jewish Talmud reveals that the latter view of deception became the predominant opinion of many Jews (Babylonian Talmud Sanhedrin 43a).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:14–24 The increasing hostility to Jesus did not prevent his teaching ministry. Instead, Jesus relentlessly set forth his claims regarding his identity and mission. In the midst of the Feast of Tabernacles, when Jews from all over Israel had migrated into Jerusalem, Jesus once again began to teach. In this section, Jesus set forth the justification of his ministry and taught with authority as God’s Son. In this passage, five reasons are set forth as to why Jesus’ claims regarding himself are true: 1) his supernatural knowledge originated from the Father himself (vv. 15–16); 2) his teaching and knowledge could be confirmed by testing (v. 17); 3) his actions demonstrated his selflessness (v. 18); 4) his impact on the world was startling (vv. 19–20); and 5) his deeds demonstrated his identity as the Son of God (vv. 21–24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:14 middle of the feast. Jesus may have waited until the middle of the feast in order to prevent a premature “triumphal entry” that some may have forced upon him for political motivations. into the temple and began teaching. Jesus taught according to the custom of the teachers or rabbis of his day. Prominent rabbis would enter the temple environs and expound on the OT to crowds who sat around them.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:15 marveled. Jesus’ knowledge of Scripture was supernatural. The people were amazed that someone who had never studied at any great rabbinical centers or under any great rabbis could display such profound mastery of Scripture. Both the content and manner of Jesus’ teachings were qualitatively different than any other teacher.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:16 his who sent me. The qualitative difference of Jesus’ teaching was found in its source, i.e., the Father gave it to him (8:26, 40, 46–47; 12:49–50). It originated from God the Father himself, in contrast to rabbis who received it from man (Gal. 1:12). While rabbis relied on the authority of others (a long chain of human tradition), Jesus’ authority centered in himself (cf. Matt. 7:28–29; Acts 4:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:17 If anyone’s will is to do God’s will, he will know. Those who are fundamentally committed to doing the will of God will be guided by him in the affirmation of his truth. God’s truth is self-authenticating through the teaching ministry of the Holy Spirit (cf. 16:13; 1 John 2:20, 27).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:18 the one who seeks the glory of him who sent him. While other saviors and messiahs acted for their own selfish interests, thereby revealing their falseness, Jesus Christ as God's Son came solely to glorify the Father and accomplish the Father's will (2 Cor. 2:17; Phil. 2:5–11; Heb. 10:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:19–20 kill me. If Jesus were another religious fake, the world never would have reacted in such hatred. Since the evil world system loves its own, its hatred toward him demonstrates that he came from God (15:18–19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:21 one work. The context makes clear (vv. 22–23) that Jesus had reference to the healing of the paralytic that evoked the beginning of persecution against him by the Jewish authorities because it took place on the Sabbath (see 5:1–16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:22 but from the fathers. The patriarchal period during the time of Abraham when God instituted the sign of circumcision (Gen. 17:10–12), which was later included as part of the Mosaic Covenant at Sinai (Ex. 4:26; 12:44–45). This observation not only depreciated the Jewish esteem for Moses, but even more importantly showed that this rite was antecedent to the Mosaic law and took precedence over it (Gal. 3:17). Furthermore, circumcision antedates the Sabbath law also.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:23 on the Sabbath. The law required that circumcision occur on the eighth day (Lev. 12:1–3). If a child was born on the Sabbath, then the eighth day would fall again on the subsequent Sabbath, when the Jews would circumcise the child. Jesus' point was that the Jews broke their own Sabbath law with the circumcision of the child. Their hypocrisy is evident. I made a man's whole body well. Jesus used an argument of the lesser to the greater. If ceremonial cleansing of one part of the body is permitted on the Sabbath through the act of circumcision (the less), how much more so should the actual healing of the entire body be permitted on the Sabbath (the greater).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:24 with right judgment. While Jesus forbade harsh, censorious judgment that self-righteous legalism promotes (Matt. 7:1), he demanded the exercise of moral and theological discernment.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:25–36 In this section, John once again reiterated the claims of Jesus to his identity as the Messiah and Son of God. He focused on his divine origin and citizenship. While some believed in him at this time (v. 31), the religious leaders became even more angry at him and nefariously planned to seize him (v. 32). Jesus confronted the people with three dilemmas recorded in these verses: 1) the problem of dense confusion (vv. 25–29); 2) the problem of divided conviction (vv. 30–32); and 3) the problem of delayed conversion (vv. 33–36). These three problems left Jerusalem in a state of utter despair.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:26 he is, speaking openly. What surprised the masses was that in spite of the ominous threat from the religious authorities (vv. 20, 32), Jesus boldly proclaimed his identity. the authorities really know. The question indicates the crowds and the rulers were in great confusion and uncertainty as to who Jesus was and what to do about him. They did not really have any firm convictions regarding Jesus' identity, for their question reveals their doubt and unbelief. They were also perplexed at the religious leaders' failure to arrest and silence him if he really were a fraud. Such dense confusion caused the crowd to wonder if the religious authorities in private concluded that he was indeed the Christ. Mass confusion among all groups reigned regarding Jesus. Christ. See notes on 1:20, 41.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:27 no one will know where he comes from. Only information regarding Messiah's birthplace was revealed in Scripture (Mic. 5:2; Matt. 2:5–6). Beyond that, a tradition had developed in Jewish circles that Messiah would appear suddenly to the people, based on a misinterpretation of Isa. 53:8 and Mal. 3:1. In light of this, the meaning of this phrase most likely is that the identity of the Messiah would be wholly unknown until he suddenly appeared in Israel and accomplished Israel's redemption. In contrast, Jesus had lived his life in Nazareth and was known (at least superficially) to the people (John 7:28).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:28 proclaimed. Jesus gave the greatest publicity to this important teaching by voicing it loudly (cf. v. 37; 1:15; 12:44). You know me, and you know where I come from? These words stand in antithesis to 8:19 where Jesus told his enemies that they neither knew him nor the Father, thus indicating a deep irony and sarcasm on Jesus' part here. Jesus' point is that contrary to what they thought, they really had no true understanding of who he was. They knew him in the earthly sense, but not in the spiritual sense, because they didn't know God either. him you do not know. Although they thought that they were acutely perceptive and spiritually oriented, their rejection of Jesus revealed their spiritual bankruptcy (Rom. 2:17–19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:30 his hour had not yet come. This reveals the reason why they could not seize him, i.e., God’s sovereign timetable and plan for Jesus would not allow it.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:31 many . . . believed. Divided conviction existed among the people regarding Jesus. While some wanted to seize him, a small remnant of genuine believers existed among the crowds. The question here anticipates a negative answer, i.e., the Messiah could do no greater kinds of miracles than those Jesus had done.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:32 the chief priests and Pharisees. See note on 3:1. The Pharisees and chief priests historically did not have harmonious relationships with each other. Most of the chief priests were Sadducees, who were political and religious opponents to the Pharisees. John repeatedly links these two groups in his Gospel (see also 7:45; 11:47, 57; 18:3) in order to emphasize that their cooperation stemmed from their mutual hatred of Jesus. Both were alarmed at the faith of those indicated in 7:31 and, in order to avoid any veneration of Jesus as Messiah, attempted unsuccessfully to arrest him (v. 30). officers. Temple guards who functioned as a kind of police force composed of Levites who were in charge of maintaining order in the temple environs. They could also be used by the Sanhedrin in areas outside the temple environs in religious disputes that did not affect Roman policy.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:34 Where I am you cannot come. Jesus referred here to his return to his heavenly origin with his Father after his crucifixion and resurrection (see 17:15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:35–36 John again highlights the ignorance of the Jews regarding Jesus’ words. The words were spoken to mock Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:35 teach the Greeks. The phrase “teach the Greeks” probably had reference to Jewish proselytes, i.e., Gentiles. John may have been citing this phrase with ironic force since the gospel eventually went to the Gentiles because of Jewish blindness and rejection of their Messiah. See notes on Rom. 11:7–11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:37–52 This section catalogues the different reactions of people to Jesus’ claims. These reactions have become universal patterns for reactions to him through the ages. This section may be divided into the claim of Christ (vv. 37–39) and the reactions to Christ (vv. 40–52). The reactions may be subdivided into five sections: 1) the reaction of the convinced (vv. 40–41a); 2) the reaction of the contrary (vv. 41b–42); 3) the reaction of the hostile (vv. 43–44); 4) the reaction of the confused (vv. 45–46); and 5) the reaction of the religious authorities (vv. 47–52).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:37 On the last day. This suggests that this occasion occurred on a different day than the controversy in vv. 11–36. If anyone thirsts. A tradition grew up in the few centuries before Jesus that on the seven days of the Feast of Booths, or Tabernacles, a golden container filled with water from the pool of Siloam was carried in procession by the high priest back to the temple. As the procession came to the Water Gate on the south side of the inner temple court, three trumpet blasts were made to mark the joy of the occasion and the people recited Isa. 12:3, “With joy you will draw water from the wells of salvation.” At the temple, while onlookers watched, the priests would march around the altar with the water container while the temple choir sang the Hallel (Ps. 113–118). The water was offered in sacrifice to God at the time of the morning sacrifice. The use of the water symbolized the blessing of adequate rainfall for crops. Jesus used this event as an object lesson and opportunity to make a very public invitation on the last day of the feast for his people to accept him as the living water. His words recall Isa. 55:1. thirsts . . . come . . . drink. These three words summarize the gospel invitation. A recognition of need leads to an approach to the source of provision, followed by receiving what is needed. The thirsty, needy soul feels the craving to come to the Savior and drink, i.e., receive the salvation that he offers.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:38 living water. The water-pouring rite was also associated within Jewish tradition as a foreshadowing of the eschatological rivers of living water foreseen in Ezek. 47:1–9 and Zech. 13:1. The significance of Jesus’ invitation centers in the fact that he was the fulfillment of all the Feast of Booths, or Tabernacles, anticipated, i.e., he was the One who provided the living water that gives eternal life to man (cf. John 4:10–11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:39 he said about the Spirit. The impartation of the Holy Spirit is the source of spiritual and eternal life. See note on 16:7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:41 from Galilee. This betrays the people’s great ignorance, because Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, not Galilee (Mic. 5:2 cf. Matt. 2:6; Luke 2:4). They did not even bother to investigate his true birthplace, showing their lack of interest in messianic credentials.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:43 division. See Matt. 10:34–36 and Luke 12:51–53.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:44 See notes on vv. 8, 30.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:45 The officers. The officers failed in their attempt to arrest Jesus when they were confronted with his person and powerful teaching. Since they were religiously trained, Jesus' words struck at their very heart. For their identity, see notes on v. 32.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:47–48 The Pharisees mocked the officers, not on professional grounds (as police officers) but religious grounds (as Levites). In essence, they accused them of being seduced by a deceiver (i.e., Jesus) in contrast to the Pharisees themselves, who arrogantly and self-righteously felt that in their wisdom and knowledge no one could ever deceive them.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:49 crowd. The Pharisees condescendingly labeled the people as a "crowd." The rabbis viewed the common people (or, people of the land) as ignorant and impious in contrast to themselves. This ignorance was not only because of their ignorance of Scripture, but especially the common people's failure to follow the Pharisees' oral traditions. accursed. The people were considered damned because they did not belong to the elite group or follow their beliefs regarding the law.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:50–52 Nicodemus's (see 3:10) mind had not closed regarding Christ's claims, so that while not defending Jesus directly, he did raise a procedural point in Jesus' favor.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:51 Does our law judge . . . ? No explicit OT text can be cited that makes Nicodemus's point. Most likely he referred to rabbinical traditions contained in their oral law.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:52 no prophet arises from Galilee. The real ignorance lay with the arrogant Pharisees who did not carefully search out the facts as to where Jesus was actually born. While they accused the crowds of ignorance, they too were really as ignorant (v. 42). Furthermore, the prophet Jonah did come from Galilee.

JOHN—NOTE ON 7:53–8:11 This section dealing with the adulteress most likely was not a part of the original contents of John. It has been incorporated into various manuscripts at different places in the Gospel (e.g., after vv. 36, 44, 52, or 21:25), while one manuscript places it after Luke 21:38. External manuscript evidence representing a great variety of textual traditions is decidedly against its inclusion, for the earliest and best manuscripts exclude it. Many manuscripts mark the passage to indicate doubt as to its inclusion. Significant early versions exclude it. No Greek church father comments on the passage until the twelfth century. The vocabulary and style of the section also are different from the rest of the Gospel, and the section interrupts the sequence of John 7:52 with 8:12ff. Many, however, do think that it has all the earmarks of historical veracity, perhaps being a piece of oral tradition that circulated in parts of the Western church, so that a few comments are in order. In spite of all these considerations of the likely unreliability of this section, it is possible to be wrong on the issue, and thus it is good to consider the meaning of this passage and leave it in the text, just as with Mark 16:9–20.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:6 test him . . . charge to bring against him. If Jesus rejected the law of Moses (Lev. 20:10; Deut. 22:22), his credibility would be gone. If he held to Mosaic law, his reputation for compassion and forgiveness would have been questioned.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:7 him who is without sin. This directly refers to Deut. 13:9 and 17:7, where the witnesses of a crime are to start the execution. Only those who were not guilty of the same sin could participate.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:8 Cf. v. 6. This seems to have been a delaying device, giving them time to think.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:11 sin no more. Actually, “Leave your life of sin” (cf. 3:17; 12:47; Matt. 9:1–8; Mark 2:13–17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:12–21 Excluding the story of the adulterous woman in 7:53–8:11, this verse attaches itself well to 7:52. The word “Again” indicates that Jesus spoke once more to the people at this same Feast of Booths, or Tabernacles (see 7:2, 10). While Jesus first used the water-drawing rite (7:37–39) as a metaphor to portray the ultimate spiritual truth of himself as Messiah who fulfills all that the feast anticipated, he then turned to another rite that traditionally occurred at the feast: the lighting ceremony. During Tabernacles, four large lamps in the temple’s court of women were lit, and an exuberant nightly celebration took place under their light with people dancing through the night and holding burning torches in their hands while singing songs and praises. The levitical orchestras also played. Jesus took this opportunity of the lighting celebration to portray another spiritual analogy for the people: “I am the light of the world.”

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:12 I am the light of the world. This is the second “I am” statement (see 6:35). John has already used the “light” metaphor for Jesus (1:4). Jesus’ metaphor here is steeped in OT allusions (Ex. 13:21–22; 14:19–25; Ps. 27:1; 119:105; Prov. 6:23; Ezek. 1:4, 13, 26–28; Hab. 3:3–4). The phrase highlights Jesus’ role as Messiah and Son of God (Ps. 27:1; Mal. 4:2). The OT indicates that the coming age of Messiah would be a time when the Lord would be a light for his people (Isa. 60:19–22; cf. Rev. 21:23–24) as well as for the whole earth (Isa. 42:6; 49:6). Zechariah 14:5b–8 has an emphasis on God as the light of the world who gives living waters to his people. This latter passage probably formed the liturgical readings for the Feast of Tabernacles. For further significance of Jesus as the “light,” see notes on John 1:4–5 and 1 John 1:5.

Whoever follows me. The word “follows” conveys the idea of someone who gives himself completely to the person followed. No half-hearted followers exist in Jesus’ mind (cf. Matt. 8:18–22; 10:38–39). A veiled reference exists here to the Jews, following the pillar of cloud and fire that led them during the exodus (Ex. 13:21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:13 You are bearing witness about yourself. The Jews mockingly brought up Jesus’ own words from 5:31. However, Jesus’ words there and here are reconciled by the fact that OT law required not one but multiple witnesses to establish the truth of a matter (Deut. 17:6). Jesus was not alone in his witness that pointed to him as Messiah, for many had already testified concerning this truth (see note on John 1:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:14–18 These verses give three reasons why Jesus’ witness was true: 1) Jesus knew his origin and destiny while the Jews were ignorant even of basic spiritual truths, making their judgment limited and superficial (vv. 14–15); 2) the intimate union of the Son with the Father guaranteed the truth of the Son’s witness (v. 16); and 3) the Father and Son witnessed harmoniously together regarding the identity of the Son (vv. 17–18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:17 In your Law it is written. Cf. Deut. 17:6 and 19:15. See notes on John 1:7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:19 Where is your Father? The Jews, as was their habit (e.g., 3:4; 4:11; 6:52), once again thought merely on human terms in asking about Jesus' paternity.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:21–30 Jesus revealed the consequence of the rejection of him as Messiah and Son of God, i.e., spiritual death (v. 24; cf. Heb. 10:26–31). These verses reveal four ways that ensure people will die in their sins and, as a result, experience spiritual death: 1) being self-righteous (John 8:20–22); 2) being earthbound (vv. 23–24); 3) being unbelieving (v. 24); and 4) being willfully ignorant (vv. 25–29). The Jews who rejected Jesus displayed all four of these characteristics.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:21 Jesus repeated his message of 7:33–34 but with more ominous overtones regarding the consequences of rejecting him. I am going away. By means of his impending death, resurrection, and ascension to the Father.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:22 Will he kill himself. The Jews spoke either in confusion (see notes on 7:34–35) or, perhaps more likely, in mockery of Christ. Jewish tradition condemned suicide as a particularly heinous sin that resulted in permanent banishment to the worst part of Hades (Josephus, Jewish Wars iii.viii.5 [iii.375]). God did deliver him to be killed (Acts 2:23); thus, as God, he gave up his own life (John 10:18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:23 You are from below. The contrast here is between the realm of God and that of the fallen, sinful world (i.e., “from below”). The world in this context is the invisible spiritual system of evil dominated by Satan and all that it offers in opposition to God, his word, and his people (see notes on 1:9; 1 John 5:19). Jesus declared that his opponents' true kinship was with Satan and his realm. By this domination, they were spiritually blinded (see 2 Cor. 4:4; Eph. 2:1–3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:24 unless you believe. Jesus emphasized that the fatal, unforgivable, and eternal sin is failure to believe in him as Messiah and Son of God. In truth, all other sins can be forgiven if this one is repented of. See notes on 16:8–9. I am he. The word “he” is not part of the original statement. Jesus' words were not constructed normally but were influenced by OT Hebrew usage. It is an absolute usage meaning “I am” and has immense theological significance. The reference may be to both Ex. 3:14 where the Lord declared his name as “I am” and to Isa. 40–55 where the phrase “I am” occurs repeatedly (especially Isa. 43:10, 13, 25; 46:4; 48:12). In this, Jesus referred to himself as the God (Yahweh—the Lord) of the OT, and directly claimed full deity for himself, prompting the Jews’ question of John 8:25. See note on v. 58.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:25 Who are you? The Jews were willfully ignorant because chs. 1–8 demonstrate that multiple witnesses testified to Jesus’ identity, and Jesus himself in words and actions persistently proved throughout his ministry on earth that he was the Son of God and Messiah. from the beginning. The start of Jesus’ ministry among the Jews.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:28 When you have lifted up the Son of Man. Jesus’ impending crucifixion. you will know that I am he. Having refused to accept him by faith and having nailed him to the cross, they would one day awaken to the terrifying realization that this One whom they despised was the One whom they should have worshiped (cf. Phil. 2:9–11; Rev. 1:7). Many Jews believed on Christ after his death and ascension, realizing that the One whom they rejected was truly the Messiah (Acts 2:36, 37, 41).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:31–36 These verses are a pivotal passage in understanding genuine salvation and true discipleship. John emphasized these realities by stressing truth and freedom. The focus in the passage is upon those who were exercising the beginnings of faith in Jesus as Messiah and Son of God. Jesus desired them to move on in their faith. Saving faith is not fickle but firm and settled. Such maturity expresses itself in full commitment to the truth in Jesus Christ resulting in genuine freedom. The passage has three features: 1) the progress of freedom (vv. 31–32); 2) the pretense of freedom (vv. 33–34); and 3) the promise of freedom (vv. 35–36).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:31 who had believed in him. The first step in the progress toward true discipleship is belief in Jesus Christ as Messiah and Son of God. If you abide in my word, you are truly my disciples. This reveals the second step in the progress toward true discipleship. Perseverance in obedience to Scripture (cf. Matt. 28:19–20) is the fruit or evidence of genuine faith (see Eph. 2:10). The word “abide” means to habitually abide in Jesus’ words. A genuine believer holds fast, obeys, and practices Jesus’ teaching. The one who continues in his teaching has both the Father and the Son (2 John 9; cf. Heb. 3:14; Rev. 2:26). Real disciples are both learners (the basic meaning of the word) and faithful followers.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:32 the truth. “Truth” here has reference not only to the facts surrounding Jesus as the Messiah and Son of God but also to the teaching that he brought. A genuinely saved and obedient follower of the Lord Jesus will know divine truth and both freedom from sin (v. 34) and the search for reality. This divine truth comes not merely by intellectual assent (1 Cor. 2:14) but saving commitment to Christ (cf. Titus 1:1–2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:33 never been enslaved to anyone. Because the Jews had often been in political subjection to many nations (Egypt, Assyria, Babylon, Greece, Syria, and Rome), they must have been referring to their inward sense of freedom.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:34 Truly, truly. See note on 1:51. everyone who commits sin. The kind of slavery that Jesus had in mind was not physical slavery but slavery to sin (cf. Rom. 6:17–18). The idea of “commits sin” means to practice sin habitually (1 John 3:4, 8–9). The ultimate bondage is not political or economic enslavement but spiritual bondage to sin and rebellion against God. Thus, this also explains why Jesus would not let himself be reduced to merely a political Messiah (John 6:14–15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:35–36 The notion of slavery in v. 34 moves to the status of slaves. While the Jews thought of themselves only as free sons of Abraham, in reality, they were slaves of sin. The genuine son in the context is Christ himself, who sets the slaves free from sin. Those whom Jesus Christ liberates from the tyranny of sin and the bondage of legalism are really free (Rom. 8:2; Gal. 5:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:39 If you were Abraham’s children. The construction of this phrase indicates that Jesus was denying that mere physical lineage was sufficient for salvation (see Phil. 3:4–9). The sense would be “if you were Abraham’s children, but you are not, then you would act like Abraham did.” Just as children inherit genetic characteristics from their parents, so also those who are truly Abraham’s offspring will act like Abraham, i.e., imitate Abraham’s faith and obedience (see Rom. 4:16; Gal. 3:6–9; Heb. 11:8–19; James 2:21–24). works Abraham did. Abraham’s faith was demonstrated through his obedience to God (James 2:21–24). Jesus’ point was that the conduct of the unbelieving Jews was diametrically opposed by the conduct of Abraham, who lived a life of obedience to all that God had commanded. Their conduct toward Jesus demonstrated that their real father was Satan (John 8:41, 44).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:41 We were not born of sexual immorality. The Jews may well have been referring to the controversy surrounding Jesus' birth. The Jews knew the story about Mary's betrothal and that Joseph was not Jesus' real father; thus they implied that Jesus' birth was illegitimate (see Matt. 1:18–25; Luke 1:26–38).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:42 If God were your Father, you would love me. The construction here (as in v. 39) denies that God is truly their Father. Although the OT calls Israel his “firstborn son” (Ex. 4:22) and affirms that God is Israel's father by creation and separation (Jer. 31:9), the unbelief of the Jews toward Jesus demonstrated that God was not their Father spiritually. Jesus stressed that the explicit criterion verifying the claim to be a child of God is love for his Son, Jesus. Since God is love, those who love his Son also demonstrate his nature (1 John 4:7–11; 5:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:44 your father the devil. Sonship is predicated on conduct. A son will manifest his father's characteristics (cf. Eph. 5:1–2). Since the Jews exhibited the patterns of Satan in their hostility toward Jesus and their failure to believe in him as Messiah, their paternity was the exact opposite of their claims, i.e., they belonged to Satan. He was a murderer from the beginning. Jesus' words refer to the fall when Satan tempted Adam and Eve and successfully killed their spiritual life (Gen. 2:17; 3:17–24; Rom. 5:12; Heb. 2:14). Some think that the reference may also refer to Cain's murder of Abel (Gen. 4:1–9; 1 John 3:12).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:46 convicts me of sin. Although the Jews argued that Jesus was guilty of sin (5:18), the sense here is that the perfect holiness of Christ was demonstrated, not by the Jews' silence at Jesus' question here, but by the assurance of his direct consciousness of the purity of his whole life. Only a perfectly holy One who has the closest and most intimate communion with the Father could speak such words. The Jews could marshal no convincing evidence that could convict him of sin in the heavenly court.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:48 you are a Samaritan. Since the Jews could not attack Jesus' personal life and conduct (v. 46), they tried an ad hominem attack of personal abuse toward him. The reference to Jesus as a “Samaritan” probably centers in the fact that the Samaritans, like Jesus, questioned the Jews' exclusive right to be called Abraham's children (see vv. 33, 39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:51 never see death. Heeding Jesus’ teaching and following him results in eternal life (6:63, 68). Physical death cannot extinguish such life (see 5:24; 6:40, 47; 11:25–26).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:52 Abraham died. Jesus’ assertion that anyone who keeps his word will never die (v. 51) prompted the Jews to offer a retort that once again revealed their thinking on strictly a literal and earthly level (see 3:4; 4:15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:56 Hebrews 11:13 indicates that Abraham saw Christ’s day (“having seen them . . . from afar”; see note there). Abraham particularly saw in the continuing seed of Isaac the beginning of God’s fulfilling the covenant (Gen. 12:1–3; 15:1–21; 17:1–8; cf. 22:8) that would culminate in Christ.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:58 Truly, truly. See note on 1:51. I am. See note on 6:22–58. Here Jesus declared himself to be Yahweh, i.e., the Lord of the OT. Basic to the expression are such passages as Ex. 3:14; Deut. 32:39; Isa. 41:4; 43:10 where God declared himself to be the eternally pre-existent God who revealed himself in the OT to the Jews. See also notes on John 8:24, 28.

JOHN—NOTE ON 8:59 they picked up stones. The Jews understood Jesus’ claim and followed Lev. 24:16, which indicates that any man who falsely claims to be God should be stoned. hid himself and went out of the temple. Jesus repeatedly escaped arrest and death because his hour had not yet come (see notes on John 7:8, 30). The verse most likely indicates escape by miraculous means.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:1–13 Jesus performed a miracle by recreating the eyes of a man who was born with congenital blindness (v. 1). Four features highlight this healing: 1) the problem that precipitated the healing (v. 1); 2) the purpose for the man’s being born blind (vv. 2–5); 3) the power that healed him (vv. 6–7); and 4) the perplexity of the people who saw the healing (vv. 8–13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:2 who sinned. While sin may be a cause of suffering, as clearly indicated in Scripture (see 5:14; Num. 12; 1 Cor. 11:30; James 5:15), it is not always the case necessarily (see Job; 2 Cor. 12:7; Gal. 4:13). The disciples assumed, like most Jews of their day, that sin was the primary, if not exclusive, cause of all suffering. In this instance, however, Jesus made it clear that personal sin was not the reason for the blindness (see John 9:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:3 Jesus did not deny the general connection between sin and suffering, but refuted the idea that personal acts of sin were the direct cause.

God's sovereignty and purposes play a part in such matters, as is clear from Job 1-2.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:4 while it is day. Jesus meant as long as he was still on earth with his disciples. The phrase does not mean that Jesus somehow stopped being the light of the world once he ascended but that the light shone most brightly among men when he was on the earth doing the Father's will (cf. 8:12). night is coming. See notes on 1:4-5 and 1 John 1:5-7. The darkness has special reference to the period when Jesus was taken from his disciples during his crucifixion (John 9:5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:5 I am the light of the world. See note on 8:12; cf. 1:5, 9:3:19; 12:35, 46. Not only was Jesus spiritually the light of the world, but he would also provide the means of physical light for this blind man.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:6 made mud with the saliva. As he had done when he originally made human beings out of the dust of the ground (Gen. 2:7), Jesus may have used the clay to fashion a new pair of eyes.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:7 wash in the pool of Siloam. The term "Siloam" is Hebrew for "Sent." The pool of Siloam was southeast of the original city of David. Its water source was through a channel (Hezekiah's tunnel) that carried water to it from the spring of Gihon in the Kidron Valley. It may be identified with the "lower pool" or "old pool" mentioned in Isa. 22:9, 11. Water for the water-pouring rites at the Feast of Booths, or Tabernacles, was drawn from this pool (see notes on John 7:37-39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:8-9 In ancient times, such severe physical deformities as congenital blindness sentenced a person to begging as the only means of support (see Acts 3:1-7). The drastic change in the healed man caused many to faithlessly believe that he was not the person born blind.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:13-34 This section in the story of the healing of the blind man reveals some key characteristics of willful unbelief: 1) unbelief sets false standards; 2) unbelief always wants more evidence but never has enough; 3) unbelief does biased research on a purely subjective basis; 4) unbelief rejects the facts; and 5) unbelief is self-centered. John included this section on the dialogue of the Pharisees with the blind man most likely for two reasons: 1) the dialogue carefully demonstrates the character of willful and fixed unbelief, and 2) the story confirms the first great schism between the synagogue and Christ's new followers. The blind man was the first known person thrown out of the synagogue because he chose to follow Christ (see 16:1–3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:13 They. This has reference to the blind man's "neighbors and those who had seen him before as a beggar" (v. 8). to the Pharisees. The people brought the blind man to the Pharisees most likely because the miracle had happened on the Sabbath (v. 14), and they were aware that the Pharisees reacted negatively to those who violated the Sabbath (cf. 5:1–15). The people also wanted advice from their local synagogue and religious leaders.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:16 not from God. The reasoning may have been that since Jesus violated their interpretation of the Sabbath law, he could not be the promised Prophet of God (Deut. 13:1–5). a division. Earlier the crowds were divided in opinion regarding Jesus (John 7:40–43); here the authorities also became divided.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:17 He is a prophet. While the blind man saw clearly that Jesus was more than a mere man, the sighted but obstinate Pharisees were spiritually blind to that truth (see v. 39). Blindness in the Bible is a metaphor for spiritual darkness, i.e., inability to discern God or his truth (2 Cor. 4:3–6; Col. 1:12–14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:18 called the parents. While neighbors may have been mistaken about the man's identity, the parents would know if this was their own son. The authorities considered the witness of the healed man worthless.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:24 Give glory to God. This means that the authorities wanted the man to own up and admit the truth that Jesus was a sinner because he violated their traditions and threatened their influence (cf. Josh. 7:19). We know that this man is a sinner. Enough unanimity existed among the religious authorities to conclude that Jesus was a sinner (cf. John 8:46). Because of this already predetermined opinion, they refused to accept any of the testimony that a miracle had actually taken place.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:27 In order to forcefully emphasize their hypocrisy, the healed man resorted to biting sarcasm when he suggested they desired to be Jesus' disciples.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:28 You are his disciple, but we are disciples of Moses. At this point, the meeting degenerated into a shouting match of insults. The healed man's wit had exposed the bias of his inquisitors. As far as the authorities were concerned, the conflict between Jesus and Moses was irreconcilable. If the healed man defended Jesus, then such defense could only mean that he was Jesus' disciple.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:30 The healed man demonstrated more spiritual insight and common sense than all of the religious authorities combined who sat in judgment of Jesus and him. His penetrating wit focused in on their intractable unbelief. His logic was that such an extraordinary miracle could only indicate that Jesus was from God, for the Jews believed that God responds in proportion to the righteousness of the one praying (see Job 27:9; 35:13; Ps. 66:18; 109:7; Prov. 15:29; Isa. 1:15; cf. John 14:13–14; 16:23–27; 1 John 3:21–22). The greatness of the miracle could only indicate that Jesus was actually from God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:34 would you teach us? The Pharisees were incensed with the man, and their anger prevented them from seeing the penetrating insight that the uneducated, healed man had demonstrated. The phrase also revealed their ignorance of Scripture, for the OT indicated that the coming messianic age would be evidenced by restoration of sight to the blind (Isa. 29:18; 35:5; 42:7; cf. Matt. 11:4–5; Luke 4:18–19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:35–41 While vv. 1–34 dealt with Jesus' restoration of physical sight in the blind man, vv. 35–41 featured Jesus bringing spiritual "sight" to him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:35 Do you believe . . . ? Jesus invited the man to put his trust in him as the One who revealed God to man. Jesus placed great emphasis on public acknowledgment of who he was and confession of faith in him (Matt. 10:32; Luke 12:8). Son of Man. Cf. John 1:51; 3:13–14; 5:27; 6:27, 53, 62; 8:28.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:36 sir. The word here is the same for "lord," but it should be understood not as an indication that he understood Jesus' deity but as meaning "sir." See also v. 38. Since the blind man had never seen Jesus (v. 7) nor met him since he went to wash in the pool, he did not recognize Jesus at first as the One who healed him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:39 For judgment. Not that his purpose was to condemn, but rather to save (12:47; Luke 19:10); saving some, nevertheless, involves condemning others (see notes on John 3:16, 18). The last part of this verse is taken from Isa. 6:10; 42:19 (cf. Mark 4:12). those who do not see. Those people who know they are in spiritual darkness. those who see. Refers in an ironic way to those who think they are in the light, but are not (cf. Mark 2:17; Luke 5:31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:40 Are we also blind? Apparently Jesus found (v. 35) the man in a public place, where the Pharisees were present listening.

JOHN—NOTE ON 9:41 your guilt remains. Jesus had particular reference to the sin of unbelief and rejection of him as Messiah and Son of God. If they knew their lostness and darkness and cried out for spiritual light, they would no longer be guilty of the sin of unbelief in Christ. But satisfied that their darkness was light, and continuing in rejection of Christ, their sin remained. See note on Matt. 6:22–23.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:1–39 Jesus’ discourse on himself as the “good shepherd” flowed directly from ch. 9, as Jesus continued to talk to the very same people. The problem of ch. 9 was that Israel was led by false shepherds who drew them astray from the true knowledge and kingdom of Messiah (9:39–41). In ch. 10, Jesus declared himself to be the “good shepherd” who was appointed by his Father as Savior and King, in contrast to the false shepherds of Israel who were self-appointed and self-righteous (Ps. 23:1; Isa. 40:11; Jer. 3:15; cf. Isa. 56:9–12; Jer. 23:1–4; 25:32–38; Ezek. 34:1–31; Zech. 11:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:1 sheepfold. Jesus spoke in vv. 1–30 using a sustained metaphor based on first-century sheep ranching. The sheep were kept in a pen, which had a gate through which the sheep entered and left. The shepherd engaged a “gatekeeper” (v. 3) or “hired hand” (v. 12) as an undershepherd to guard the gate. The shepherd entered through that gate. He whose interest was stealing or wounding the sheep would choose another way to attempt entrance. The words of Ezek. 34 most likely form the background to Jesus’ teaching since God decried the false shepherds of Israel (i.e., the spiritual leaders of the nation) for not caring properly for the flock of Israel (i.e., the nation). The Gospels themselves contain extensive sheep/shepherd imagery (see Matt. 9:36; Mark 6:34; 14:27; Luke 15:1–7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:3 the gatekeeper. The doorkeeper was a hired undershepherd who recognized the true shepherd of the flock, opened the gate for him, assisted the shepherd in caring for the flock, and especially guarded them at night. The sheep hear his voice. Near Eastern shepherds stand at different locations outside the sheep pen, sounding out their own unique calls, which their sheep recognize. As a result, the sheep gather around the shepherd. he calls his own sheep by name. This shepherd goes even further by calling each sheep by its own special name. Jesus’ point is that he comes to the fold of Israel and calls out his own sheep individually to come into his own messianic fold. The assumption is that they are already in some way his sheep even before he calls them by name (see vv. 25–27; 6:37, 39, 44, 64, 65; 17:6, 9, 24; 18:9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:4–5 Unlike Western shepherds who drive the sheep from the side or behind, often using sheep dogs, Near Eastern shepherds lead their flocks, their voice calling them to move on. This draws a remarkable picture of the master/disciple relationship. NT spiritual leadership is always by example, i.e., a call to imitate conduct (cf. 1 Tim. 4:12; 1 Pet. 5:1–3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:6 figure of speech. This phrase conveys the idea that something cryptic or enigmatic is intended in it. It occurs again in 16:25, 29 but not in the synoptics. Having given the illustration (10:1–5), Jesus then began to draw salient spiritual truth from it.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:7–10 I am the door. This is the third of seven “I am” statements of Jesus (see 6:35; 8:12). Here, he changes the metaphor slightly. While in 10:1–5 he was the shepherd, here he is the gate. While in vv. 1–5, the shepherd led the sheep out of the sheepfold, here he is the entrance to the fold (v. 9) that leads to proper pasture. This section echoes Jesus’ words in 14:6 that he is the only way to the Father. His point is that he serves as the sole means to approach the Father and partake of God’s promised salvation. As some Near Eastern shepherds slept in the gateway to guard the sheep, Jesus here pictures himself as the gate.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:9–10 These two verses are a proverbial way of insisting that belief in Jesus as the Messiah and Son of God is the only way of being “saved” from sin and hell and receiving eternal life. Only Jesus Christ is the one true source for the knowledge of God and the one basis for spiritual security.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:11–18 Jesus picked up another expression from vv. 1–5, i.e., he is the “good shepherd” in contrast to the present evil leadership of Israel (9:40–41). This is the fourth of seven “I am” statements of Jesus (see vv. 7, 9; 6:35; 8:12). The term “good” has the idea of “noble” and stands in contrast to the “hired hand” who cares only for self-interest.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:11 lays down his life for the sheep. This is a reference to Jesus’ substitutionary death for sinners on the cross. Cf. v. 15; 6:51; 11:50–51; 17:19; 18:14.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:12 sees the wolf coming . . . flees. The hired hand likely represents religious leaders who perform their duty in good times but who never display sacrificial care for the sheep in times of danger. They stand in contrast to Jesus, who laid down his life for his flock (see 15:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:16 not of this fold. This refers to Gentiles who will respond to his voice and become a part of the church (cf. Rom. 1:16). Jesus’ death was not only for Jews (see notes on John 10:1, 3), but also for non-Jews whom he will make into one new body, the church (see notes on 11:51–52; cf. Eph. 2:11–

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:17–18 take it up again. Jesus repeated this phrase twice in these two verses indicating that his sacrificial death was not the end. His resurrection followed in demonstration of his messiahship and deity (Rom. 1:4). His death and resurrection resulted in his ultimate glorification (John 12:23; 17:5) and the outpouring of the Holy Spirit (7:37–39; cf. Acts 2:16–39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:19–21 The Jews once again had a mixed reaction to Jesus' words (see 7:12–13). While some charged him with demon possession (see 7:20; 8:48; cf. Matt. 12:22–32), others concluded his works and words were a demonstration of God's sanction upon him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:22–23 Feast of Dedication. The Jewish celebration of Hanukkah, which celebrates the Israelite victory over the Syrian leader Antiochus Epiphanes, who persecuted Israel. In c. 170 B.C. he conquered Jerusalem and desecrated the Jewish temple by setting up a pagan altar to displace the altar of God. Under the leadership of an old priest named Mattathias (his family name was called the Hasmoneans), the Jews fought guerrilla warfare (known as the Maccabean Revolt—166–142 B.C.) against Syria and freed the temple and the land from Syrian dominance until 63 B.C. when Rome (Pompey) took control of Palestine. It was in 164 B.C. on 25 Chislev (December approximately), that the Jews liberated the temple and rededicated it. The celebration is also known as the “Feast of Lights” because of the lighting of lamps and candles in Jewish homes to commemorate the event. It was winter. John indicated by this phrase that the cold weather drove Jesus to walk on the eastern side of the temple in the sheltered area of Solomon's porch, which after the resurrection became the regular gathering place of Christians where they would proclaim the gospel (see Acts 3:11; 5:12).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:24 tell us plainly. In light of the context of vv. 31–39, the Jews were not seeking merely for clarity and understanding regarding who Jesus was, but rather wanted him to declare openly that he was Messiah in order to justify attacking him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:26–27 This clearly indicates that God has chosen his sheep and it is they who believe and follow (see notes on vv. 3, 16; cf. 6:37–40, 44, 65).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:28–29 The security of Jesus' sheep rests with him as the good shepherd, who has the power to keep them safe. Neither thieves and robbers (vv. 1, 8) nor the wolf (v. 12) can harm them. Verse 29 makes clear that the Father ultimately stands behind the sheep's security, for no one is able to steal from God, who is in sovereign control of all things (Col. 3:3). See notes on Rom. 8:31–39. No stronger passage in the OT or NT exists for the absolute, eternal security of every true Christian.

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:30 I and the Father are one. Both Father and Son are committed to the perfect protection and preservation of Jesus' sheep. The sentence, stressing the united purpose and action of both in the security and safety of the flock, presupposes unity of nature and essence (see 5:17–23; 17:22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:31 For the third time John records that the Jews attempted to stone Jesus (see 5:18; 8:59). Jesus' assertion (10:30) that he was One with the Father affirmed his claim to deity and caused the Jews to seek his execution (v. 33). Although the OT permitted stoning in certain instances (e.g., Lev. 24:16), the Romans reserved the right of capital punishment for themselves (John 18:31). Nevertheless, out-of-control Jews attempted a mob action in lieu of legal proceedings (see Acts 7:54–60).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:33 make yourself God. There was no doubt in the minds of those Jews that Jesus was claiming to be God (cf. 5:18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:34–36 Quoted from Ps. 82:6 where God calls some unjust judges “gods” and pronounces calamity against them. Jesus' argument is that this psalm proves that the word “god” can be legitimately used to refer to others than God himself. His reasoning is that if there are others whom God can address as “god” or “sons of the Most High,” why then should the Jews object to Jesus' statement that he is “the Son of God” (John 10:36)?

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:35 Scripture cannot be broken. An affirmation of the absolute accuracy and authority of Scripture (see notes on Matt. 5:17–19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:38 believe the works. Jesus did not expect to be believed merely on his own assertions. Since he did the same things that the Father does (see notes on 5:19), his enemies should consider this in their evaluation of him. The implication is, however, that they were so ignorant of God that they could not recognize the works of the Father or the One whom the Father sent (see also 14:10–11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 10:40 He went away again across the Jordan. Because of the increasing hostility (see v. 39), Jesus went from the region of Judea into the unpopulated area across the Jordan. to the place where John had been baptizing. Cf. Matt. 3:1–6; Mark 1:2–6; Luke 3:3–6. This is probably a reference to either Perea or Batanea, the general area in the tetrarchy of Philip in the east and northeast of the Sea of Galilee. The statement is ironic, since the area where John first began became the last area in which Jesus stayed before he left for Jerusalem and crucifixion. The people remembered John’s testimony to Christ and affirmed their faith in him (John 10:41–42).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:1–12:50 The previous passage (10:40–42) marked the end of John’s treatment of Jesus’ public ministry. At that point, he began to move into seclusion and minister to his own disciples and those who loved him as he prepared to face death. Israel had her day of opportunity; the sun was setting and the night was coming. These two chapters form the transition to chs. 13–21, which record the passion of Christ, i.e., the events surrounding the cross.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:1–57 As ch. 11 begins, Jesus stands in the shadow of facing the cross. The little time that he had in the area beyond the Jordan (cf. Matt. 19:1–20:34; Mark 10:1–52; Luke 17:11–19:28) would soon come to an end. John picked up the story (John 11:55–57) after he moved back into the area of Jerusalem, and his death on the cross was only a few days away. In those last few days before his death, the scene in John’s Gospel changes from hatred and rejection (10:39) to an unmistakable and blessed witness of the glory of Christ. All the rejection and hatred could not dim his glory as displayed through the resurrection of Lazarus. That miracle evidences his glory in three ways: 1) it pointed to his deity; 2) it strengthened the faith of the disciples; and 3) it led directly to the cross (12:23). The chapter can be divided as follows: 1) the preparation for the miracle (11:1–16); 2) the arrival of Jesus (vv. 17–36); 3) the miracle itself (vv. 37–44); and 4) the results of the miracle (vv. 45–57).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:1 Lazarus. The resurrection of Lazarus is the climactic and most dramatic sign in this Gospel and the capstone of Jesus’ public ministry. Six miracles have already been presented (water into wine [2:1–11], healing of the official’s son [4:46–54], restoring the impotent man [5:1–15], multiplying the loaves and fishes [6:1–14], walking on the water [6:15–21], and curing the man born blind [9:1–12]). Lazarus’s resurrection is more potent than all those and even more monumental than the raising of the widow's son in Nain (Luke 7:11–16) or Jairus's daughter (Luke 8:40–56) because those two resurrections occurred immediately after death. Lazarus was raised after four days of being in the grave with the process of decomposition already having started (John 11:39). Bethany. This Bethany is different from the other “Bethany across the Jordan” in 1:28 (see note there. It lies on the east side of the Mount of Olives about 2 miles from Jerusalem (11:18) along the road leading toward Jericho. Mary . . . Martha. This is the first mention of this family in John. John related the story of Mary's anointing of Jesus in 12:1–8, but this reference may indicate that the original readers were already familiar with the event. Cf. Luke 10:38–42.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:3 sent to him. Since Jesus was in the Transjordan and Lazarus was near Jerusalem, the message to Jesus would most likely have taken one whole day to reach him. Surely by omniscience, Jesus already knew of Lazarus's condition (see v. 6; 1:47). He may have died before the messenger reached Jesus, since he was dead four days (11:17) when Jesus arrived, after a two-day delay (v. 6) and a one-day journey. he whom you love. This phrase is a touching hint at the close friendship that Jesus had with Lazarus. Cf. 13:1.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:4 the Son of God may be glorified. This phrase reveals the real purpose behind Lazarus's sickness, i.e., not death, but that the Son of God might be glorified through his resurrection (cf. v. 4; see note on 9:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:6 he stayed two days longer. The decision to delay coming did not bring about Lazarus's death, since Jesus already supernaturally knew his plight. Most likely by the time the messenger arrived to inform Jesus, Lazarus was already dead. The delay was because he loved the family (v. 5) and that love would be clear as he greatly strengthened their faith by raising Lazarus from the dead. The delay also ensured that Lazarus had been dead long enough that no one could misinterpret the miracle as a fraud or mere resuscitation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:7–8 The disciples realized that the animosity toward Jesus was so great that his return could result in his death because of the murderous Jews (cf. 8:59; 10:31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:9–10 During the light of the sun, most people did their work safely. When darkness came, they stopped. The proverbial saying, however, had a deeper meaning. As long as the Son performed his Father's will (i.e., during the daylight period of his ministry when he is able to work), he was safe. The time would soon come (nighttime) when, by God's design, his earthly work would end and he would "stumble" in death. Jesus was stressing that as long as he was on earth doing God's will, even at this late time in his ministry, he would safely complete God's purposes.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:11–13 fallen asleep. A euphemistic term used in the NT to refer to death, particularly with reference to believers who will be physically raised to eternal life (cf. 1 Cor. 11:30; 15:51; 1 Thess. 4:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:14–15 The resurrection of Lazarus was designed to strengthen his disciples' faith in him as the Messiah and Son of God in the face of the strong Jewish rejection of him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:16 Thomas's words reflect loyal devotion and, at the same time, pessimism over the fact that they would probably all die. His fears were not unrealistic in the face of bitter hostility toward Jesus, and had not the Lord protected them in the garden (18:1–11), they may also have been arrested and executed. Cf. 20:24–29.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:17 in the tomb. The term "tomb" means a stone sepulcher. In first-century Israel such a grave was common. Either a cave or rock area would be hewn out, the floor inside leveled and graded to make a shallow descent. Shelves were cut out or constructed inside the area in order to bury additional family members. A rock was rolled in front to prevent wild animals or grave robbers from entering (see also v. 38). The evangelist made special mention of the fourth day (see note on v. 3) in order to stress the magnitude of the miracle, for the Jews did not embalm and by then the body would have been in a state of rapid decomposition.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:18–19 The implication of these verses is that the family was rather prominent. The mention of the Jews also heightens the reader's awareness of the great risk that Jesus took in coming so close to Jerusalem, which was seething with the leaders' hatred for him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:21 if you had been here. Cf. v. 32. Not a rebuke of Jesus but a testimony of her trust in his healing power.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:22 whatever you ask from God. Based on her statement in v. 39, Martha was not saying she believed Jesus could raise Lazarus from the dead, but that she knew he had a special relationship to God so that his prayers could bring some good from this sad event.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:25–26 This is the fifth in a series of seven great “I am” statements of Jesus (see 6:35; 8:12; 10:7, 9; 10:11, 14). With this statement, Jesus moved Martha from an abstract belief in the resurrection that will take place “on the last day” (cf. 5:28–29) to a personalized trust in him who alone can raise the dead. No resurrection or eternal life exists outside of the Son of God. Time (“on the last day”) is no barrier to the One who has the power of resurrection and life (1:4) for he can give life at any time.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:27 She said to him. Martha’s confession is representative of the very reason John wrote this inspired Gospel (cf. 20:30–31). See Peter’s confession in Matt. 16:16.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:32 See note on v. 21.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:33 saw . . . the Jews . . . weeping. According to Jewish oral tradition, the funeral custom indicated that even a poor family must hire at least two flute players and a professional wailing woman to mourn the dead. Because the family may have been well-to-do, a rather large group appears present. he was deeply moved in his spirit and greatly troubled. The phrase here does not mean merely that Jesus was deeply touched or moved with sympathy at the sight. The Greek term “deeply moved” always suggests anger, outrage, or emotional indignation (see v. 38; cf. Matt. 9:30; Mark 1:43; 14:5). Most likely Jesus was angered at the emotional grief of the people because it implicitly revealed unbelief in the resurrection and the temporary nature of death. The group was acting like pagans who had no hope (1 Thess. 4:13). While grief is understandable, the group was acting in despair, thus indicating a tacit denial of the resurrection and the Scripture that promised it. Jesus may also have been angered because he was indignant at the pain and sorrow in death that sin brought into the human condition.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:35 Jesus wept. The Greek word here has the connotation of silently bursting into tears in contrast to the loud lament of the group (see v. 33). His tears here were not generated out of mourning, since he was to raise Lazarus, but out of grief for a fallen world entangled in sin-caused sorrow and death. He was “a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief” (Isa. 53:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:39 odor. Although Jews used aromatic spices, their custom was not to embalm the body but to use the spices to counteract the repulsive odors from decomposition. They would wrap the body in linen cloth, adding spice in the layers and folds. The Jews did not wrap the body tightly like Egyptian mummies, but rather loosely with the head wrapped separately. This is indicated by the fact that Lazarus could move out of the tomb before he was unwrapped (v. 44; cf. 20:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:41–42 Jesus' prayer was not really a petition, but thanksgiving to the Father. The reason for the miracle was to authenticate his claims to be the Messiah and Son of God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:43 This was a preview of the power to be fully displayed in the final resurrection when all the dead hear the voice of the Son of God and live (5:25, 28–29).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:45–46 Jesus' teaching and actions often divided the Jews (e.g., 6:14–15; 7:10–13, 45–52). While some believed (cf. 11:40), others, apparently with malicious intent, informed the Pharisees of Jesus' action.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:47 gathered the Council. Alerted by the Pharisees, a Sanhedrin committee consisting of chief priests (former high priests and members of high-priestly families) and Pharisees, called the Sanhedrin to session. The Pharisees could not by themselves take any judicial action against Jesus. Though subject to Roman control, the Sanhedrin was the highest judicial body in Israel and exercised judicial, legislative, and executive powers at that time. In Jesus' day, the 70 members of the Sanhedrin were dominated by the chief priests, and virtually all the priests were Sadducees. The Pharisees constituted an influential minority. While the Pharisees and Sadducees were often in conflict, their mutual hatred of Jesus united them into action.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:48 the Romans will come. The Jews were not willing to believe in Jesus as the Son of God even though Lazarus had been raised. They feared that escalating messianic expectations could start a movement against Roman oppression and occupation that would cause the Romans to come and take away all their rights and freedoms.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:49 Caiaphas. Caiaphas became high priest c. A.D. 18, being appointed by the Roman prefect Valerius Gratus. His father-in-law was Annas, who had previously functioned in that same position from c. A.D. 7–14 and who exercised great influence over the office even after his tenure (see 18:12–14). Caiaphas remained in office until A.D. 36 when, along with Pontius Pilate, he was removed by the Romans. He took a leading part in the trial and condemnation of Jesus. In his court or palace, the chief priests (Sadducees) and Pharisees assembled “and plotted together to arrest Jesus by stealth and kill him” (see Matt. 26:3–4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:50 one man should die for the people. He only meant that Jesus should be executed in order to spare their own positions and nation from Roman reprisals, but Caiaphas unwittingly used sacrificial, substitutionary language and prophesied the death of Christ for sinners. Cf. 2 Cor. 5:21 and 1 Pet. 2:24.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:51 he prophesied. Caiaphas did not realize the implications of what he spoke. While he uttered blasphemy against Christ, God parodied his statement into truth (cf. Ps. 76:10). The responsibility for the wicked meaning of his words belonged to Caiaphas, but God’s providence directed the choice of words so as to express the heart of God’s glorious plan of salvation (Acts 4:27–28). He actually was used by God as a prophet because he was the high priest and originally the high priest was the means of God’s will being revealed (2 Sam. 15:27).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:52 gather into one the children of God. In context, this had reference to believing Jews of the dispersion who would be gathered together in the Promised Land to share the kingdom of God (Isa. 43:5; Ezek. 34:12). In a wider sense, this also anticipated the Gentile mission (see John 12:32). As a result of Christ’s sacrificial death and resurrection, both Jew and Gentile have been made into one group, the church (Eph. 2:11–18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:53 from that day on. The phrase indicates that their course of action toward Jesus was then fixed. It remained only to accomplish it. Notice that Jesus was not arrested to be tried. He had already been judged guilty of blasphemy. The trial was a mere formality for a sentence already passed (Mark 14:1–2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:54 Ephraim. This probably refers to the OT city of Ephron (see 2 Chron. 13:19). Its modern village name is Et-Taiyibeh, and it is located 4 miles northeast of Bethel and about 12 miles from Jerusalem. The location was far enough away for temporary safety until the time of Passover (John 11:55).

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:55 Passover. This is the third Passover mentioned in John (see 2:13; 6:4) and the last in Jesus' earthly ministry, at which his sacrificial death occurred. For the chronology of the Passover Week, see Introduction to Luke: Outline.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:56 They were looking for Jesus. The Jews who filled Jerusalem for Passover were wondering if Jesus would show himself at this time and were actively seeking to find him. The plot of the chief priests and Pharisees (see v. 47; 7:12) was known widely enough to pique their curiosity as to whether Jesus would dare show himself in Jerusalem.

JOHN—NOTE ON 11:57 if anyone knew. The plotters ensured that the whole city was filled with potential informants.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:1–50 This chapter focuses on the reactions of love and hate, belief and rejection toward Christ, leading to the cross.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:1 Six days before the Passover. This most likely was the previous Saturday with Passover coming six days later on Thursday evening through sunset Friday. See Introduction: Interpretive Challenges.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:3 a pound of expensive ointment made from pure nard. The term used for “pound” actually indicates a weight around three-fourths of a pound (approximately 12 ounces). “Nard” was an oil extracted from the root of a plant grown in India. anointed the feet of Jesus. Since those who were eating reclined at the table, their feet extended away from it, making it possible for Mary to anoint the feet of Jesus. The act symbolized Mary's humble devotion and love for him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:5 three hundred denarii. Since one denarius was a day's wage given to common laborers, 300 was equivalent to a year's wages (no money was earned on the Sabbath or other holy days).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:6 a thief. Judas's altruism was really a front for his own personal avarice. Because he was the apostolic band's treasurer, he was able to secretly pilfer the group treasury for his own desires.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:7 keep it for the day of my burial. Mary performed this act to signal her devotion but, as in the case of Caiaphas (11:49–52), her act revealed more than she realized at the time. During the first century, lavish sums were spent on funerals, which included costly perfumes to cover the smell of decay (see note on 11:39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:8 This does not mean that alms should not be distributed to the poor (Deut. 15:11) but was a reminder that, while the poor would remain, Jesus would not always be with them. See Matt. 26:11 and Mark 14:7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:11 going away . . . believing. This phrase signaled both a conscious, deliberate move away from the religion of the authorities and a move toward genuine faith in Jesus as Messiah and Son of God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:12–19 This section marks Jesus’ triumphal entry into Jerusalem. It is one of the few incidents in Jesus’ life reported in all four Gospels (Matt. 21:1–11; Mark 11:1–11; Luke 19:29–38). By this action, he presented himself officially to the nation as the Messiah and Son of God. The Sanhedrin and other Jewish leaders wanted him dead but did not want him killed during the Passover time because they feared stirring up the multitudes with whom he was popular (Matt. 26:5; Mark 14:2; Luke 22:2). Jesus entered the city, however, on his own time and forced the whole issue in order that it might happen exactly on the Passover day when the lambs were being sacrificed. As the Scripture says, “Christ, our Passover lamb, has been sacrificed” (1 Cor. 5:7). In God’s perfect timing (see John 7:30; 8:20), at the precise time foreordained from eternity, he presented himself to die (12:23; 10:17–18; 17:1; 19:10–11; cf. Acts 2:23; 4:27–28; Gal. 4:4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:12 The next day. The day after the crowds came to visit him and Lazarus in Bethany (cf. 12:9). Jesus arrived in Bethany on Saturday (see note on 12:1). Then on Sunday a great number of Jews visited him, angering the Jewish leaders (12:9–11). It would not have been until the following day (Monday) that Jesus prepared to enter Jerusalem through the East Gate of the city.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:13 took branches of palm trees. The supply of date palms was plentiful; they still grow in Jerusalem today. From about two centuries earlier, the waving of palm branches had become a national, if not nationalistic, symbol that signaled the fervent hope that a messianic liberator was arriving on the scene (6:14–15). Hosanna! The term “hosanna” is a transliteration of a Hebrew word that means “give salvation now.” It was a term of acclamation or praise occurring in Ps. 118:25, which was familiar to every Jew, since that psalm was part of the Hallel (Ps. 113–118) sung each morning by the temple choir during the Feast of Tabernacles (John 7:37) and associated with the Feast of Dedication (10:22) and especially the Passover. After shouting out the “Hosanna,” the crowds shouted Ps. 118:26; significantly, the original context of Ps. 118 may well have been the pronouncement of blessing upon a Messianic leader. Jewish commentaries have understood the verse to bear messianic implications. “He who comes in the name of the Lord” refers to Messiah, especially in context with the phrase, “the King of Israel,” though that messianic title is not from Ps. 118.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:14–15 The synoptic Gospels give more information here regarding Jesus’ selection of a young donkey (see Matt. 21:1–9; Mark 11:1–10; Luke 19:29–38). They convey the fact that Jesus deliberately planned to present himself to the nation in this manner as a conscious fulfillment of the messianic prophecy of Zech. 9:9 (quoted here). The words, “Fear not,” are not found in the Zechariah passage but were added from Isa. 40:9. Only after his ascension did the disciples grasp the meaning of the triumphal entry (cf. John 14:26).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:19 the world has gone after him. “The world” means the people in general, as opposed to everyone in particular. Clearly, most people in the world did not even know of Jesus at that time, and many in Israel did not believe in him. Often, “world” is used in this general sense (v. 47; 1:29; 3:17; 4:42; 14:22; 17:9, 21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:20–21 Most likely Gentile proselytes to Judaism who had come up for the Passover and who, in their desire to see Jesus, stood in direct antithesis to the attitude of the national leaders who desired to kill him. At the very moment when the Jewish authorities plotted virulently to kill him, Gentiles began to desire his attention.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:23 hour. Refers to the time of Jesus’ death, resurrection, and exaltation (v. 27; 13:1; 17:1). Up to this point, Jesus’ hour had always been future (2:4; 4:21, 23; 7:30; 8:20). Son of Man. See note on 1:51.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:24 As the sown kernel dies to bring forth a rich harvest, so also the death of the Son of God will result in the salvation of many.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:25–26 Not only is the principle of death applicable to Jesus (see v. 24) but it is also applicable to his followers. They, too, as his disciples may have to lose their life in service and witness for him (see Matt. 10:37–39; 16:24–25).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:27 Now is my soul troubled. The term used here is strong and signifies horror, anxiety, and agitation. Jesus' contemplation of taking on the wrath of God for the sins of the world caused revulsion in the sinless Savior (cf. 2 Cor. 5:21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:28 glorify your name. This request embodied the principle that Jesus lived by and would die by. See 7:18; 8:29, 50. I have . . . and I will glorify. The Father answered the Son in an audible voice. This is only one of three instances during Jesus' ministry when this took place (cf. Matt. 3:17—his baptism; Matt. 17:5—his transfiguration).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:31 the ruler of this world. A reference to Satan (see 14:30; 16:11; cf. Matt. 4:8–9; Luke 4:6–7; 2 Cor. 4:4; Eph. 2:2; 6:12). Although the cross might have appeared to signal Satan's victory over God, in reality it marked Satan's defeat (cf. Rom. 16:20; Heb. 2:14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:32 lifted up from the earth. This refers to his crucifixion (v. 33; 18:32). See note on 3:14.

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:34 remains forever. The term "Law" was used broadly enough to include not only the five books of Moses but also the whole of the OT (see Rom. 10:4). Perhaps they had in mind Isa. 9:7, which promised that Messiah's kingdom would last forever, or Ezek. 37:25 where God promised that the final David would be Israel's prince forever (see also Ps. 89:35–37).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:35–36 Jesus said to them. A final invitation from Jesus was recorded by John to focus on his theme of believing in the Messiah and Son of God (see 20:30–31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:37–40 In these verses, John gave the scriptural explanation for such large-scale, catastrophic unbelief on the part of the Jewish nation. The explanation was that the unbelief was not only foreseen in Scripture but necessitated by it. In v. 38, John quotes Isa. 53:1 and in John 12:40 he quotes Isa. 6:10 (see Rom. 10:16), both of which stress the sovereign plan of God in his judicial hardening of Israel (cf. Paul's argument in Rom. 9–11). Although God predestined such judgment, it was not apart from human responsibility and culpability (see John 8:24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:41 Isaiah . . . saw his glory and spoke of him. This is a reference to Isa. 6:1 (see notes there). John unambiguously ties Jesus to God or Yahweh of the OT (see note on John 8:58). Therefore, since 12:41 refers to Jesus, it makes him the author of the judicial hardening of Israel. That fits his role as Judge (see 5:22–23, 27, 30; 9:39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 12:42–43 The indictment of vv. 37–41 is followed by the exceptions of vv. 42–43 (see 1:10–11 vs. 1:12–13). While the people seemed to trust Jesus with much more candor and fervency, the leaders of Israel who believed in him demonstrated inadequate, irresolute, even spurious faith (see note on 2:23–25). The faith of the latter was so weak that they refused to take any position that would threaten their position in the synagogue. This is one of the saddest statements about spiritual leadership, for they preferred the praises of men above the praises of God in their refusal to publicly acknowledge Jesus as Messiah and Son of God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:1–17:16 In these remaining chapters before his crucifixion, the record looks at Jesus’ devoting himself to his own disciples. While chs. 1–12 center on the rejection of Jesus by the nation (cf. 1:11), chs. 13–17 center on those who did receive him (see 1:12). Beginning in ch. 13, Jesus moved completely away from public ministry to private ministry with those who had received him. Chapters 13–17 were spoken by Jesus as a farewell on the night of his betrayal and arrest to communicate his coming legacy to his followers (chs. 13–16) and pray for them (ch. 17). The cross was only one day away.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:1 to the end. Meaning “to perfection” with perfect love. God loves the world (3:16), and sinners (3:16; Matt. 5:44–45; Titus 3:4) with compassion and common grace, but loves his own with perfect, saving, eternal love.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:2 supper. Passover on Thursday night after sunset. See Introduction: Interpretive Challenges. the devil . . . the heart of Judas. This does not exonerate Judas, because his wicked heart desired exactly what the devil desired, the death of Jesus. The devil and Judas were in accord.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:3 going back to God. Jesus faced the betrayal, agony, and death because he knew he would be exalted to the Father afterward, where he would receive the glory and fellowship he had eternally enjoyed within the Trinity (see 17:4–5). This was the “joy that was set before him” that enabled him to endure “the cross” (Heb. 12:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:4–5 The dusty and dirty conditions of the region necessitated the need for footwashing. Although the disciples most likely would have been happy to wash Jesus’ feet, they could not conceive of washing one another’s feet. This was because in the society of the time, footwashing was reserved for the lowliest of menial servants. Peers did not wash one another’s feet, except very rarely and as a mark of great love. Luke points out (22:24) that they were arguing about who was the greatest of them, so that none was willing to stoop to wash feet. When Jesus moved to wash their feet, they were shocked. His actions serve also as symbolic of spiritual cleansing (John 13:6–9) and a model of Christian humility (vv. 12–17). Through this action Jesus taught the lesson of selfless service that was supremely exemplified by his death on the cross.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:6–10 These proceedings embarrassed all of the disciples. While others remained silent, Peter, perhaps on behalf of others (see Matt. 16:13–23), spoke up in indignation that Jesus would stoop so low as to wash his feet. He failed to see beyond the humble service itself to the symbolism of spiritual cleansing involved (John 13:7; cf. 1 John 1:7–9). Jesus’ response made the real point of his actions clear: unless the Lamb of God cleanses a person’s sin (i.e., as portrayed in the symbolism of washing), one can have no part with him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:10 wash, except for his feet. The cleansing that Christ does at salvation never needs to be repeated—atonement is complete at that point. But all who have been cleansed by God’s gracious justification need constant washing in the experiential sense as they battle sin in the flesh. Believers are justified and granted imputed righteousness (Phil. 3:8–9), but still need sanctification and personal righteousness (Phil. 3:12–14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:11–12 Not all of you are clean. This verse refers to Judas (6:70), who was soon to lead the mob to capture Jesus (18:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:15 an example. The word used here suggests both “example” and “pattern” (Heb. 4:11; 8:5; 9:25; James 5:10; 2 Pet. 2:6). Jesus’ purpose in this action was to establish the model of loving humility.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:17 blessed are you if you do them. Joy is always tied to obedience to God’s revealed word (see 15:14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:18 I have chosen. A reference to the 12 disciples whom the Lord had selected (see 15:16), whom the Lord knew perfectly, including Judas, who was chosen that the prophecy of Ps. 41:9 would be fulfilled.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:21 troubled. For the meaning of this word, see note on 12:27.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:23 One of his disciples, whom Jesus loved. This is the first reference to John the apostle, the author of the Gospel (see Introduction: Author and Date). He specifically mentioned himself at the cross (19:26–27), at the empty tomb (20:2–9), by the Sea of Tiberias (21:1, 20–23), and in the next-to-last verse where he is referenced as the author of the Gospel (21:24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:26 he gave it to Judas. The host at a feast (whose role was filled by Jesus) would dip into a common bowl and pull out a particularly tasty bit and pass it to a guest as a special mark of honor or friendship. Because Jesus passed it so easily to Judas, it has been suggested that he was seated near the Lord in a place of honor. Jesus was demonstrating a final gesture of his love for Judas even though he would betray him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:27 Satan entered into him. Judas was personally possessed by Satan himself in his betrayal of Jesus. See note on v. 2.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:30 it was night. Although this was a historical reminiscence of John, the phrase may also be imbued with profound theological implications. It was the hour for Judas to be handed over completely to the power of darkness (Satan; cf. Luke 22:53).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:31–33 glorified. With Judas gone, the final events were set in motion. Rather than looking at the agony of the cross, Jesus looked past the cross, anticipating the glory that he would have with the Father when it was over (see 17:4–5; Heb. 12:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:33 as I said to the Jews. That statement is recorded in 8:21.

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:34–35 Having announced his departure and having insisted that his disciples could not come with him, Jesus began to lay out what he expected of them after his leaving. Love is to serve as the distinguishing characteristic of discipleship (v. 35; cf. 1 John 2:7–11; 3:10–12; 4:7–10, 20–21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:34 A new commandment . . . as I have loved you. The commandment to love was not new. Deuteronomy 6:5 commanded love for God, and Lev. 19:18 commanded loving one's neighbor as oneself (cf. Matt. 22:34–40; Rom. 13:8–10; Gal. 5:14; James 2:8). However, Jesus' command regarding love presented a distinctly new standard for two reasons: 1) it was sacrificial love modeled after his love ("as I have loved you"; cf. John 15:13), and 2) it is produced through the New Covenant by the transforming power of the Holy Spirit (cf. Jer. 31:29–34; Ezek. 36:24–26; Gal. 5:22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:36 you cannot follow. His work was nearly finished; theirs was just beginning (Matt. 28:16–20; Mark 16:15; Luke 24:47). Particularly, Peter had a work to do (see notes on John 21:15–19). Only Jesus, as the sinless sacrifice for the trespasses of the world, could go to the cross and die (1 Pet. 2:22–24). Also, only he could be glorified in the presence of the Father with the glory that he possessed before his incarnation (see John 12:41; 17:1–5).

JOHN—NOTE ON 13:38 See 18:25–27; cf. Matt. 26:71–75; Mark 14:69–72; Luke 22:54–62.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:1–31 This whole chapter centers in the promise that Christ is the One who gives the believer comfort, not only in his future return but also in the present with the ministry of the Holy Spirit (v. 26). The scene continues to be the upper room where the disciples had gathered with Jesus before he was arrested. Judas had been dismissed (13:30) and Jesus had begun his valedictory address to the remaining 11. The world of the disciples was about to be shattered; they would be bewildered, confused, and ridden with anxiety because of the events that would soon transpire. Anticipating their devastation, Jesus spoke to comfort their hearts.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:1 Instead of the disciples lending support to Jesus in the hours before his cross, he had to support them spiritually as well as emotionally. This reveals his heart of serving love (cf. Matt. 20:26–28). troubled. Faith in him can stop the heart from being agitated. See note on John 12:27.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:2 rooms. These rooms, or even apartments (in modern terms), are all in the large "Father's house."

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:2–3 I go to prepare. His departure would be for their advantage since he was going away to prepare a heavenly home for them and will return to take them so that they may be with him. This is one of the passages that refers to the rapture of the saints at the end of the age when Christ returns. The features in this description do not describe Christ coming to earth with his saints to establish his kingdom (Rev. 19:11–15), but taking believers from earth to live in heaven. Since no judgment on the unsaved is described here, this is not the event of his return in glory and power to destroy the wicked (cf. Matt. 13:36–43, 47–50). Rather, this describes his coming to gather his own who are alive and raise the bodies of those who have died to take them all to heaven. This rapture event is also described in 1 Cor. 15:51–54 and 1 Thess. 4:13–18. After being raptured, the church will celebrate the marriage supper (Rev. 19:7–10), be rewarded (1 Cor. 3:10–15; 4:5; 2 Cor. 5:9–10), and later return to earth with Christ when he comes again to set up his kingdom (Rev. 19:11–20:6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:6 This is the sixth “I am” statement of Jesus in John (see 6:35; 8:12; 10:7, 9; 10:11, 14; 11:25; 15:1, 5). In response to Thomas’s query (14:4), Jesus declared that he is the way to God because he is the truth of God (1:14) and the life of God (1:4; 3:15; 11:25). In this verse, the exclusiveness of Jesus as the only approach to the Father is emphatic. Only one way, not many ways, exist to God, i.e., Jesus Christ (10:7–9; cf. Matt. 7:13–14; Luke 13:24; Acts 4:12).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:7–11 From now on you do know him. They know God because they had come to know Christ in his ministry and soon in his death and resurrection. To know him is to know God. This constant emphasis on Jesus as God incarnate is unmistakably clear in this Gospel (v. 11; 1:1–3, 14, 17, 18; 5:10–23, 26; 8:58; 9:35; 10:30, 38; 12:41; 17:1–5; 20:28).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:12 greater works than these will he do. Jesus did not mean greater works in power, but in extent. They would become witnesses to all the world through the power of the indwelling and infilling of the Holy Spirit (Acts 1:8) and would bring many to salvation because of the Helper dwelling in them. The focus is on spiritual rather than physical miracles. The book of Acts constitutes the beginning historical record of the impact that the Spirit-empowered disciples had on the world (cf. Acts 17:6). because I am going to the Father. The only way Jesus’ disciples would be able to be used to do those greater works was through the power of the Holy Spirit, and he could not be sent as the Helper until Jesus returned to the Father (John 14:26; 7:39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:13–14 In their hour of loss at the departure of Jesus, he comforted them with the means that would provide them with the necessary resources to accomplish their task without his immediate presence, which they had come to depend upon. To ask in Jesus' "name" does not mean to tack such an expression on the end of a prayer as a mere formula. It means: 1) the believer's prayer should be for his purposes and kingdom and not selfish reasons; 2) the believer's prayer should be on the basis of his merits and not any personal merit or worthiness; and 3) the believer's prayer should be in pursuit of his glory alone. See note on 16:26–28; on the disciples' prayer, see notes on Matt. 6:9–10.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:15–31 In these verses, Jesus promises believers comfort from five supernatural blessings that the world does not enjoy: 1) a supernatural Helper (vv. 15–17); 2) a supernatural life (vv. 18–19); 3) a supernatural union (vv. 20–25), 4) a supernatural teacher (v. 26); and 5) a supernatural peace (vv. 27–31). The key to all of this is v. 15, which relates that these supernatural promises are for those who love Jesus Christ, whose love is evidenced by obedience.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:15 If you love me . . . keep my commandments. Cf. vv. 21–24. Love for Christ is inseparable from obedience (see Luke 6:46; 1 John 5:2–3). "My commandments" are not only Jesus' ethical commandments in context (John 14:23–24), but the entire revelation from the Father (see 3:31–32; 12:47–49; 17:6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:16 ask the Father. The priestly and intercessory work of Christ began with the request that the Father send the Holy Spirit to indwell in the people of faith (7:39; 15:26; 16:7; see note on 20:22; cf. Acts 1:8; 2:4, 33). another. The Greek word specifically means another of the same kind, i.e., someone like Jesus himself who will take his place and do his work. The Spirit of Christ is the Third Person of the Trinity, having the same essence of deity as Jesus and as perfectly one with him as he is with the Father. Helper. The Greek term here lit. means "one called alongside to help" and has the idea of someone who encourages and exhorts (see note on John 16:7). "Be with you" has to do with his permanent residence in believers (Rom. 8:9; 1 Cor. 6:19–20; 12:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:17 Spirit of truth. He is the Spirit of truth in that he is the source of truth and communicates the truth to his own (v. 26; 16:12–15). Apart from him, people cannot know God's truth (1 Cor. 2:12–16; 1 John 2:20, 27). dwells with you and will be in you. This indicates some distinction between the ministry of the Holy Spirit to believers before and after Pentecost. While clearly the Holy Spirit has been with all who have ever believed throughout redemptive history as the source of truth, faith, and life, Jesus is saying something new is coming in his ministry. John 7:37–39 indicates this unique ministry would be like “rivers of living water.” Acts 19:1–7 introduces some Old Covenant believers who had not received the Holy Spirit in this unique fullness and intimacy. Cf. Acts 1:8; 2:1–4; 1 Cor. 12:11–13.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:18 orphans. In this veiled reference to his death, Jesus promised not to leave them alone (Rom. 8:9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:18–19 I will come to you . . . you will see me. First, he was referring to his resurrection, after which they would see him (20:19–29). There is no record that any unbelievers saw him after he rose (see 1 Cor. 15:1–9). In another sense, this has reference to the mystery of the Trinity. Through the coming and indwelling of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, Jesus would be back with his children (John 16:16; cf. Matt. 28:20; Rom. 8:9; 1 John 4:13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:19 you also will live. Because of his resurrection and by the indwelling life of the Spirit of Christ, believers possess eternal life (see Rom. 6:1–11; Col. 3:1–4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:20 In that day. This refers to his resurrection when he returns to them alive.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:21–24 Once again, Jesus emphasized the need for the habitual practice of obedience to his commands as evidence of the believer’s love for him and the Father (see note on v. 15). This is consistent with the teaching of James 2:14–26 that true saving faith is manifest by works produced by God in the transforming, regenerating power of the Spirit. Those works are expressions of the love that the Spirit pours into the believer’s heart (Rom. 5:5; Gal. 5:22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:26 will teach you all things. The Holy Spirit energized the hearts and minds of the apostles in their ministry, helping them to produce the NT Scripture. The disciples had failed to understand many things about Jesus and what he taught; but because of this supernatural work, they came to an inerrant and accurate understanding of the Lord and his work, and recorded it in the Gospels and the rest of the NT Scriptures (2 Tim. 3:16; 2 Pet. 1:20–21). See note on John 16:7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:27 Peace I leave. . . . Not as the world gives. The word “peace” reflects the Hebrew “Shalom,” which became a greeting to his disciples after the resurrection (20:19–26). At the individual level this peace, unknown to the unsaved, secures composure in difficult trouble (cf. 14:1), dissolves fear (Phil. 4:7), and rules in the hearts of God’s people to maintain harmony (Col. 3:15). The greatest reality of this peace will be in the messianic kingdom (Num. 6:26; Ps. 29:11; Isa. 9:6–7; 52:7; 54:13; 57:19; Ezek. 37:26; Hag. 2:9; cf. Acts 10:36; Rom. 1:7; 5:1; 14:17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:28 greater than I. Jesus was not admitting inferiority to the Father (after claiming equality repeatedly, see note on vv. 7–11), but was saying that if the disciples loved him, they would not be reluctant to let him go to the Father because he was returning to the realm where he belonged and to the full glory he gave up (17:5). He was going back to share equal glory with the Father, which would be greater than what he had experienced in his incarnation. He will in no way be inferior in that glory, because his humiliation was over.

JOHN—NOTE ON 14:30 the ruler of this world. Judas was only a tool of the “prince” who rules the system of darkness—Satan (6:70; 13:21, 27). no claim on me. The Hebrew idiom means that Satan had nothing on Jesus, could make no claim on him, nor charge him with any sin. Therefore, Satan could not hold him in death. Christ would triumph and destroy Satan (Heb. 2:14). His death was no sign that Satan won, but that God’s will was being done. (John 14:31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:1–17 Through this extended metaphor of the vine and branches, Jesus set forth the basis of Christian living. Jesus used the imagery of agricultural life at the time; i.e., vines and vine crops (see also Matt. 20:1–16; 21:23–41; Mark 12:1–9; Luke 13:6–9; 20:9–16). In the OT, the vine is used commonly as a symbol for Israel (Ps. 80:9–16; Isa. 5:1–7; 27:2–6; Jer. 2:21; 12:10; Ezek. 15:1–8; 17:1–21; 19:10–14; Hos. 10:1–2). He specifically identified himself as the “true vine” and the Father as the “vinedresser” or caretaker of the vine. The vine has two types of branches: 1) branches that bear fruit (John 15:2, 8), and 2) branches that do not (vv. 2, 6). The branches that bear fruit are genuine believers. Though in immediate context the focus is upon the 11 faithful disciples, the imagery also encompasses all believers down through the ages. The branches that do not bear fruit are those who profess to believe, but their lack of fruit indicates genuine salvation has never taken place and they have no life from the vine. Especially in the immediate context, Judas was in view, but the imagery extends from him to all those who make a profession of faith in Christ but do not actually possess salvation. The image of non-fruit-bearing branches being burned pictures eschatological judgment and eternal rejection (see Ezek. 15:6–8).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:1 I am the true vine. This is the last of seven claims to deity in the form of “I am” statements by Jesus in the Gospel of John (see 6:35; 8:12; 10:7, 9; 10:11, 14; 11:25; 14:6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:2 he takes away. The picture is of the vinedresser (i.e., the Father) getting rid of dead wood so that the living, fruit-bearing branches may be sharply distinguished. This is a picture of apostate Christians who never genuinely believed and will be taken away in judgment (v. 6; Matt. 7:16; Eph. 2:10); the transforming life of Christ has never pulsed within them (John 8:31–32; cf. Matt. 13:18–23; 24:12; Heb. 3:14–19; 6:4–8; 10:27–31; 1 John 2:19; 2 John 9). he prunes. God removes all things in the believer’s life that would hinder fruit bearing, i.e., he chastises to cut away sin and hindrances that would drain spiritual life just as the farmer removes anything on the branches that keep them from bearing maximum fruit (Heb. 12:3–11).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:4–6 Abide in me. The word “abide” means to remain or stay around. The “remaining” is evidence that salvation has already taken place (1 John 2:19) and not vice versa. The fruit or evidence of salvation is continuance in service to him and in his teaching (John 8:31; Col. 1:23; 1 John 2:24). The abiding believer is the only legitimate believer. Abiding and believing actually are addressing the same issue of genuine salvation (Heb. 3:6–19). For a discussion of the perseverance of the saints, see note on Matt. 24:13.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:6 The imagery here is one of destruction (cf. Matt. 3:10–12; 5:22; 13:40–42, 50; 25:41; Mark 9:43–49; Luke 3:17; 2 Thess. 1:7–9; Rev. 20:10–15). It pictures the judgment awaiting all those who were never saved.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:7–10 True believers obey the Lord’s commands, submitting to his word (14:21, 23). Because of their commitment to God’s word, they are devoted to his will, thus their prayers are fruitful (14:13–14), which puts God’s glory on display as he answers.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:9–10 Abide in my love. Cf. Jude 21. This is not emotional or mystical, but defined in John 15:10 as obedience. Jesus set the model by his perfect obedience to the Father, which we are to use as the pattern for our obedience to him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:11 your joy may be full. Just as Jesus maintained that his obedience to the Father was the basis of his joy, so also the believers who are obedient to his commandments will experience the same joy (17:13; cf. 16:24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:12 Cf. 13:34–35. See note on 1 John 2:7–11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:13 This is a reference to the supreme evidence and expression of Jesus' love (v. 12), his sacrificial death upon the cross. Christians are called to exemplify the same kind of sacrificial giving toward one another, even if such sacrifice involves the laying down of one's own life in imitation of Christ's example (cf. 1 John 3:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:14–15 friends. Just as Abraham was called the “friend of God” (2 Chron. 20:7; James 2:23) because he enjoyed extraordinary access to the mind of God through God's revelation to him, which he believed, so also those who follow Christ are privileged with extraordinary revelation through the Messiah and Son of God and, believing, become “friends” of God also. It was for his “friends” that the Lord laid down his life (John 15:13; 10:11, 15, 17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:16 I chose you. Cf. v. 19. In case any pretense might exist among the disciples in terms of spiritual pride because of the privileges they enjoyed, Jesus made it clear that such privilege rested not in their own merit, but on his sovereign choice of them. God chose Israel (Isa. 45:4; Amos 3:2), but not for any merit (Deut. 7:7; 9:4–6). God elected angels to be forever holy (1 Tim. 5:21). He elected believers to salvation apart from any merit (Matt. 24:24, 31; see notes on Rom. 8:29–33; Eph. 1:3–6; Col. 3:12; Titus 1:1; 1 Pet. 1:2). bear fruit. One purpose of God's sovereign election is that the disciples who have been blessed with such revelation and understanding should produce spiritual fruit. The NT describes fruit as godly attitudes (Gal. 5:22–23), righteous behavior (Phil. 1:11), praise (Heb. 13:15), and especially leading others to faith in Jesus as Messiah and Son of God (Rom. 1:13–16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:18–19 Since Satan is the one who dominates the evil world system in rebellion against God (14:30), the result is that the world hates not only Jesus, but those who follow him (2 Tim. 3:12). Hatred toward Jesus means also hatred toward the Father who sent him (John 15:23).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:20 servant . . . master. That axiom, spoken also in 13:16, reflects the obvious truth that led Jesus to inform his disciples. They could expect to be treated like he was treated because those who hated him don't know God (15:21) and would hate them also; and conversely, those who listened with faith to him, would hear them also.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:22–24 they would not have been guilty of sin. Jesus did not mean that if he had not come, they would have been sinless. But his coming incited the severest and most deadly sin, that of rejecting and rebelling against God and his truth. It was the decisive sin of rejection, the deliberate and fatal choice of darkness over light and death over life of which he spoke. He had done so many miracles and spoken innumerable words to prove he was Messiah and Son of God, but they were belligerent in their love of sin and rejection of the Savior. See Heb. 4:2–5; 6:4–6; 10:29–31.

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:25 Jesus quotes Ps. 35:19 and 69:4. The logic here is that if David, a mere man, could have been hated in such a terrible manner by the enemies of God, how much more would the wicked hate David's perfect, divine Son who was the promised king who would confront sin and reign forever over his kingdom of righteousness (see 2 Sam. 7:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 15:26–27 when the Helper comes. Again, Jesus promised to send the Holy Spirit (7:39; 14:16, 17, 26; 16:7, 13–14). This time he emphasized the Spirit's help for witnessing—proclaiming the gospel. See note on 16:7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:1–15 Jesus continued the thoughts of 15:18–25 regarding the world's hatred of his disciples and its opposition to the testimony of the Holy Spirit regarding him as Messiah and Son of God. In this section, he specified in greater detail how the Spirit confronts the world, i.e., not only does he testify about Jesus but he convicts men of sin. Through conviction of sin and testimony of the gospel, the Spirit turns the hostile hearts of men away from rebellion against God into belief regarding Jesus as Savior and Lord. This section may be divided into four parts: 1) the killing of the disciples by the world (16:1–4); 2) the comforting of the disciples by the Lord (vv. 5–7); 3) the conviction of men by the Holy Spirit (vv. 8–12); and 4) the guidance of the believer into all truth by the Holy Spirit (vv. 13–15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:1 these things. This is what he had just said in 15:18–25. falling away. The connotation of this word has the idea of setting a trap. The hatred of the world was such that it would seek to trap and destroy the disciples in an effort to prevent their witness to Jesus as Messiah and Son of God. Jesus did not want them to be caught unaware (16:4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:2 he is offering service to God. Paul, before he was saved, personified this attitude as he persecuted the church, thinking that he was doing service for God (Acts 22:4–5; 26:9–11; Gal. 1:13–17; Phil. 3:6; 1 Tim. 1:12–17). After Paul’s conversion, the persecutor became the persecuted because of the hatred of the world (2 Cor. 11:22–27; cf. Stephen in Acts 7:54–8:3).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:4 I was with you. Jesus didn’t need to warn them because he was there to protect them.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:5 none of you asks. Earlier they had done so (13:36; 14:5), but they were then so absorbed in their own sorrow and confusion that they lost interest in where he was going. They were apparently consumed with what would happen to them (16:6).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:7 the Helper will not come. Again, the promise of the Holy Spirit being sent is given to comfort the disciples. See note on 15:26–27. The first emphasis was on his life-giving power (7:37–39). The next featured his indwelling presence (14:16–17). The next marked his teaching ministry (14:26). His ministry of empowering for witness is marked in 15:26.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:8 when he comes. The coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost was approximately 40 or more days away at this point (see Acts 2:1–13). convict. This word has two meanings: 1) the judicial act of conviction with a view toward sentencing (i.e., a courtroom term—conviction of sin) or 2) the act of convincing. Here the second idea is best, since the purpose of the Holy Spirit is not condemnation but conviction of the need for the Savior. The Son does the judgment, with the Father (John 5:22, 27, 30). In 16:14, it is said that the Holy Spirit will reveal the glories of Christ to his people. He will also inspire the writing of the NT, guiding the apostles to write it (v. 13), and he will reveal “the things that are to come,” through the NT prophecies (v. 13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:9 sin. The singular indicates that a specific sin is in view; i.e., that of not believing in Jesus as Messiah and Son of God. This is the only sin, ultimately, that damns people to hell (see note on 8:24). Though all men are depraved, cursed by their violation of God’s law and sinful by nature, what ultimately damns them to hell is their unwillingness to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ as Savior (cf. 8:24).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:10 righteousness. The Holy Spirit's purpose here is to shatter the pretensions of self-righteousness (hypocrisy), exposing the darkness of the heart (3:19–21; 7:7; 15:22, 24). While Jesus was on the earth, he performed this task especially toward the shallowness and emptiness of Judaism that had degenerated into legalistic modes without life-giving reality (e.g., 2:13–22; 5:10–16; 7:24; Isa. 64:5–6). With Jesus gone to the Father, the Holy Spirit continues his convicting role.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:11 judgment. The judgment here in context is that of the world under Satan's control. Its judgments are blind, faulty, and evil as evidenced in their verdict on Christ. The world can't make righteous judgments (7:24), but the Spirit of Christ does (8:16). All Satan's adjudications are lies (8:44–47), so the Spirit convicts men of their false judgment of Christ. Satan, the ruler of the world (14:30; Eph. 2:1–3) who, as the god of this world, has perverted the world's judgment and turned people from believing in Jesus as the Messiah and Son of God (2 Cor. 4:4), was defeated at the cross. While Christ's death looked like Satan's greatest victory, it actually was Satan's destruction (cf. Col. 2:15; Heb. 2:14–15; Rev. 20:10). The Spirit will lead sinners to true judgment.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:13 all the truth. This verse, like 14:26, points to the supernatural revelation of all truth by which God has revealed himself in Christ (16:14–15), particularly. This is the subject of the inspired NT writings. See note on v. 7.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:14 He will glorify me. This is really the same as v. 13, in that all NT truth revealed by God centers in Christ (Heb. 1:1–2). Christ was the theme of the OT, as the NT claims (John 1:45; 5:37; Luke 24:27, 44; Acts 10:43; 18:28; Rom. 1:1–2; 1 Cor. 15:3; 1 Pet. 1:10–11; Rev. 19:10).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:16–19 Jesus was referring to his ascension (“you will see me no longer”) and the coming of the Holy Spirit (“you will see me”), emphatically claiming that the Spirit and he are one (Rom. 8:9; Phil. 1:19; 1 Pet. 1:11; Rev. 19:10). Christ dwells in believers through the Holy Spirit—in that sense they see him. See notes on John 14:16–18.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:20 sorrow will turn into joy. The very event that made the hateful realm of mankind (“world”) rejoice and cause grief to Jesus’ disciples, will be the same event that will lead to the world’s sorrow and the believer’s joy. The disciples would soon realize the marvelous nature of God’s gift of salvation and the Spirit through what he accomplished, and the blessing of answered prayer (v. 24). Acts records the coming of the Holy Spirit and the power and joy (Acts 2:4–47; 13:52) of the early church.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:22 I will see you. After the resurrection, Jesus did see his disciples (20:19–29; 21:1–23; cf. 1 Cor. 15:1–8). Beyond that brief time of personal fellowship (Acts 1:1–3), he would be with them permanently in his Spirit (see notes on John 16:16–19; 14:16–19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:23 In that day. This is a reference to Pentecost when the Holy Spirit came (Acts 2:1–13) and sorrow turned to joy. This is a reference also to the “last days,” which were inaugurated after his resurrection and the Spirit’s coming (Acts 2:17; 2 Tim. 3:1; Heb. 1:2; James 5:3; 2 Pet. 3:3; 1 John 2:18). ask nothing of me. After Jesus’ departure and sending of the Spirit, believers will no longer ask him since he is not present. Instead, they will ask the Father in his name (see notes on John 16:26–28; 14:13–14).

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:24 joy may be full. In this case, the believer’s joy will be related to answered prayer and a full supply of heavenly blessing for everything consistent with the purpose of the Lord in one’s life. See note on 15:11.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:25 in figures of speech. The term means “veiled, pointed statement” that is pregnant with meaning, i.e., something that is obscure. What seemed hard to understand for the disciples during the life of Jesus would become clear after his death, resurrection, and the coming of the Holy Spirit (see vv. 13–14; 14:26; 15:26–27). They would actually understand the ministry of Christ better than they had while they were with him, as the Spirit inspired them to write the Gospels and epistles and ministered in and through them.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:26–28 I do not say. Christ was clarifying what he meant by praying in his name. He did not mean asking him to ask the Father, as if the Father was indifferent to believers, but not to his Son. On the contrary, the Father loves Christ’s own. In fact, the Father sent the Son to redeem them and then return. Asking in Jesus’ name means simply asking on the basis of his merit, his righteousness, and for whatever would honor and glorify him so as to build his kingdom.

JOHN—NOTE ON 16:33 in me you may have peace. See note on 14:27. tribulation. This word often refers to eschatological woes (Mark 13:9; Rom. 2:9) and to persecution of believers because of their testimony for Christ (cf. John 15:18–16:4; Acts 11:19; Eph. 3:13). overcome. The fundamental ground for endurance in persecution is the victory of Jesus over the world (John 12:31; 1 Cor. 15:57). Through his impending death, he rendered the world’s opposition null and void. While the world continues to attack his people, such attacks fall harmlessly, for Christ’s victory has already accomplished a smashing defeat of the whole evil rebellious system. See notes on Rom. 8:35–39.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:1–26 Although Matt. 6:9–13 and Luke 11:2–4 have become known popularly as the “Lord’s Prayer,” that prayer was actually a prayer taught to the disciples by Jesus as a pattern for their prayers. The prayer recorded here is truly the Lord’s Prayer, exhibiting the face-to-face communion the Son had with the Father. Very little is recorded of the content of Jesus’ frequent prayers to the Father (Matt. 14:23; Luke 5:16), so this prayer reveals some of the precious content of the Son’s communion and intercession with him. This chapter is a transitional chapter, marking the end of Jesus’ earthly ministry and the beginning of his intercessory ministry for believers (Heb. 7:25). In many respects, the prayer is a summary of John’s entire Gospel. Its principal themes include: 1) Jesus’ obedience to his Father; 2) the glorification of his Father through his death and exaltation; 3) the revelation of God in Jesus Christ; 4) the choosing of the disciples out of the world; 5) their mission to the world; 6) their unity modeled on the unity of the Father and Son; and 7) the believer’s final destiny in the presence of the Father and Son. The chapter divides into three parts: 1) Jesus’ prayer for himself (John 17:1–5); 2) Jesus’ prayer for the apostles (vv. 6–19); and 3) Jesus’ prayer for all NT believers who will form the church (vv. 20–26).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:1 the hour has come. The time of his death. See note on 12:23. glorify your Son. The very event that would glorify the Son was his death. By it, he has received the adoration, worship, and love of millions whose sins he bore. He accepted this path to glory, knowing that by it he would be exalted to the Father. The goal is that the Father may be glorified for his redemptive plan in the Son. So he sought by his own glory the glory of his Father (13:31–32).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:2 authority over all flesh. Cf. 5:27; see note on Matt. 28:18. to all whom you have given him. A reference to God’s choosing of those who will come to Christ (see notes on John 6:37, 44). The biblical doctrine of election or predestination is presented throughout the NT (15:16, 19; Acts 13:48; Rom. 8:29–33; Eph. 1:3–6; 2 Thess. 2:13; Titus 1:1; 1 Pet. 1:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:3 eternal life. See notes on 3:15–16 and 5:24; cf. 1 John 5:20.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:5 glorify me in your own presence. Having completed his work (v. 4), Jesus looked past the cross and asked to be returned to the glory that he shared with the Father before the world began (see notes on 1:1; 8:58; 12:41). The actual completion of bearing judgment wrath for sinners was declared by Christ in the cry, “It is finished” (19:30).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:6–10 Yours they were. This phrase sums up all of Jesus’ ministry, including the cross that was just hours away. Again, the Son emphasized that those who believed in him were given by the Father (see note on v. 2). “They are yours” (cf. v. 9) is a potent assertion that before conversion, they belonged to God (cf. 6:37). That is true because of God’s election. They were chosen before the foundation of the world (Eph. 1:4), when their names were written in the Lamb’s book of life (Rev. 17:8). Cf. Acts 18:10, where God says he has many people in Corinth who belong to him but are not yet saved. See notes on John 10:1–5, 16.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:8 they have believed. The Son of God affirmed the genuine saving faith of his disciples.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:11 I am no longer in the world. So sure was his death and departure back to the Father that Jesus treated his departure as an already accomplished fact. He prayed here for his disciples because they would have to face the world’s temptation and hatred without his immediate presence and protection (15:18–16:4). Based on the eternal nature of immutable God (“name”), he prayed for the eternal security of those who believed. He prayed that as the Trinity experiences eternal unity, so may believers. See Rom. 8:31–39.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:12 I kept them in your name. Jesus protected them and kept them safe from the world as he said in 6:37–40, 44. One illustration of that can be seen in 18:1–11. Believers are secure forever because they are held by Christ and by God. See note on 10:28–29. son of destruction. This identifies Judas by pointing to his destiny, i.e., eternal damnation (Matt. 7:13; Acts 8:20; Rom. 9:22; Phil. 1:28; 3:19; 1 Tim. 6:9; Heb. 10:39; 2 Pet. 2:1; 3:7; Rev. 17:8, 11). The defection of Judas was not a failure on Jesus' part, but was foreseen and foreordained in Scripture (Ps. 41:9; 109:8; cf. John 13:18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:15 keep them from the evil one. The reference here refers to protection from Satan and all the wicked forces following him (Matt. 6:13; 1 John 2:13–14; 3:12; 5:18–19). Though Jesus' sacrifice on the cross was the defeat of Satan, he is still loose and orchestrating his evil system against believers. He seeks to destroy believers (1 Pet. 5:8), as with Job and Peter (Luke 22:31–32), and in general (Eph. 6:12), but God is their strong protector (John 12:31; 16:11; cf. Ps. 27:1–3; 2 Cor. 4:4; Jude 24–25).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:17 Sanctify. This verb also occurs in John's Gospel at v. 19 and 10:36. The idea of sanctification is the setting apart of something for a particular use. Accordingly, believers are set apart for God and his purposes alone so that the believer does only what God wants and hates all that God hates (Lev. 11:44–45; 1 Pet. 1:16). Sanctification is accomplished by means of the truth, which is the revelation that the Son gave regarding all that the Father commanded him to communicate and is now contained in the Scriptures left by the apostles. Cf. Eph. 5:26; 2 Thess. 2:13; James 1:21; 1 Pet. 1:22–23.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:19 I consecrate myself. Meaning only that he was totally set apart for the Father's will (cf. 4:34; 5:19; 6:38; 7:16; 9:4). He did that in order that believers might be set apart to God by the truth he brought.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:21 they may all be one. The basis of this unity centers in adherence to the revelation the Father mediated to his first disciples through his Son. Believers are also to be united in the common belief of the truth that was received in the word of God (Phil. 2:2). This is not still a wish, but it became a reality when the Spirit came (cf. Acts 2:4; 1 Cor. 12:13). It is not experiential unity, but the unity of common eternal life shared by all who believe the truth, and it results in the one body of Christ all sharing his life. See notes on Eph. 4:4–6.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:22 The glory that you have given me. This refers to the believer's participation in all of the attributes and essence of God through the indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit (v. 10; cf. Col. 1:27; 2 Pet. 1:4), as John 17:23 makes clear ("I in them").

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:23 perfectly one. The idea here is that they may be brought together in the same spiritual life around the truth that saves. That prayer was answered by the reality of 1 Cor. 12:12–13 and Eph. 2:14–22.

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:24 be with me. This will be in heaven, where one can see the full glory that is his (cf. v. 5). Someday believers will not only see his glory, but share it (Phil. 3:20–21; 1 John 3:2). Until then, we participate in it spiritually (2 Cor. 3:18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 17:25–26 This summarizes the prayer of this chapter and promises the continuing indwelling of Christ and his love. Cf. Rom. 5:5.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:1–40 The events of Jesus' arrest and trial receive emphasis in this chapter. Since John's purpose was to present Jesus as the Messiah and Son of God, he produced evidence to substantiate this purpose throughout his account of Jesus' passion. Through all of the debasing, shameful acts that were directed toward Jesus, John skillfully shows that these events, rather than detracting from his person and mission, actually constitute decisive evidence confirming who he was and the reason for which he came (1:29; cf. 2 Cor. 5:21).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:1 he went out. Jesus' supreme courage is seen in his determination to go to the cross, where his purity and sinlessness would be violated as he bore the wrath of God for the sins of the world (3:16; see note on 12:27). The time of "the power of darkness" had come (Luke 22:53; see notes on John 1:5; 9:4; 13:30). Kidron Valley. The Kidron Valley was between the temple mount on the east of Jerusalem and the Mount of Olives further to the east. a garden. On the slopes of the Mount of Olives, named for ever-present olive groves, were many gardens. Matthew 26:36 and Mark 14:32 call this particular garden "Gethsemane," which means "oil press." entered. The wording here suggests a walled enclosure around the garden.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:3 band of soldiers and some officers from the chief priests and the Pharisees. This "band of soldiers" refers to a cohort of Roman troops. A full auxiliary Roman cohort had the potential strength of 1,000 men (i.e., 760 foot soldiers and 240 cavalry led by a chiliarch or "leader of a thousand"). Usually, however, in practice a cohort normally numbered 600 men, but could sometimes refer to as little as 200 (i.e., a "maniple"). Roman auxiliary troops were usually stationed at Caesarea, but during feast days they were garrisoned in the Antonia Fortress, on the northwest perimeter of the temple complex (in order to ensure against mob violence or rebellion because of the large population that filled Jerusalem). The second group designated as “officers” refers to temple police, who were the primary arresting officers since Jesus’ destination after the arrest was to be brought before the high priest (vv. 12–14). They came ready for resistance from Jesus and his followers (“weapons”).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:4 knowing all that would happen. John, in a matter-of-fact way, states that Jesus was omniscient, thus God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:4–8 Whom do you seek? By twice asking that question (vv. 4, 7), to which they replied, “Jesus of Nazareth” (vv. 5, 7), Jesus was forcing them to acknowledge that they had no authority to take his disciples. In fact, he demanded that they let the disciples go (v. 8). The force of his demand was established by the power of his words. When he spoke, “I am he” (v. 6), a designation he had used before to declare himself God (8:28, 58; cf. 6:35; 8:12; 10:7, 9, 11, 14; 11:25; 14:6; 15:1, 5), they were jolted backward and to the ground (18:6). This power display and the authoritative demand not to take the disciples were of immense significance, as the next verse indicates.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:9 I have lost not one. Jesus was saying that he protected the disciples from being arrested, so he would not lose any of them, thus fulfilling the promises he made earlier (6:39, 40, 44; 10:28; 17:12). He knew that being arrested and perhaps imprisoned or executed was more than they could bear, and it could shatter their faith. So he made sure it did not happen. All believers are weak and vulnerable if not protected by the Lord. But he will never let them be tempted beyond what they can bear (1 Cor. 10:13), as evidenced here. Believers are eternally secure, not in their own strength, but by the gracious and constant protection of the Savior (cf. Rom. 8:35–39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:10 Simon Peter. He surely aimed for Malchus’s head, ready to start the battle in defense of his Lord, but his was an ignorant love and courage. Christ healed Malchus’s ear (Luke 22:51).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:11 shall I not drink the cup . . . given me? Peter’s impetuous bravery in v. 10 was not only misguided, but exhibited failure to understand the centrality of the death that Jesus came to die. The “cup” in the OT is associated with suffering and especially judgment, i.e., the cup of God’s wrath (Ps. 75:8; Isa. 51:17, 22; Jer. 25:15; Ezek. 23:31–34; see notes on Matt. 26:39; Mark 14:36; Luke 22:42; cf. Rev. 14:10; 16:19).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:13 First . . . Annas. Annas held the high priesthood office from A.D. 6–15 when Valerius Gratus, Pilate’s predecessor, removed him from office. In spite of this, Annas continued to wield influence over the office, most likely because he was still regarded as the true high priest and also because no fewer than five of his sons, and his son-in-law Caiaphas, held the office at one time or another. Two trials occurred: one Jewish and one Roman. The Jewish phase began with the informal examination by Annas (vv. 12–14, 19–23), probably giving time for the members of the Sanhedrin to hurriedly gather together. A session before the Sanhedrin was next (Matt. 26:57–68) at which consensus was reached to send Jesus to Pilate (Matt. 27:1–2). The Roman phase began with a first examination before Pilate (John 18:28–38a; Matt. 27:11–14), and then Herod Antipas (“that fox”—Luke 13:32) interrogated him (Luke 23:6–12). Lastly, Jesus appeared again before Pilate (John 18:38b–19:16; Matt. 27:15–31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:13–14 Caiaphas. See notes on 11:49. The examination under Caiaphas was not reported by John (see Matt. 26:57–68).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:15 another disciple . . . that disciple. Traditionally this person has been identified with the “disciple, whom Jesus loved” (13:23–24), i.e., John the apostle who authored this Gospel; but he never mentioned his own name (see Introduction: Author and Date).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:16–18 Peter. Here is the record of the first of Peter’s predicted three denials (see note on 18:25–27).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:16 known to the high priest. Apparently, John was more than just an acquaintance, because the term for “known” can mean a friend. The fact that he mentioned Nicodemus (3:1) and Joseph (19:38) may indicate his knowledge of other prominent Jews.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:19 At the core of their concern was Jesus’ claim that he was the Son of God (19:7). In a formal Jewish hearing, to question the defendant may have been illegal because a case had to rest on the weight of the testimony of witnesses (see note on 1:7). If this was an informal interrogation before the high priest emeritus and not before the Sanhedrin, Annas may have thought that he was not bound by such rules. Jesus, however, knew the law and demanded that witnesses be called (18:20–21). An official knew Jesus was rebuking Annas and retaliated (v. 22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:23 In essence, Jesus was asking for a fair trial, while his opponents, who had already decided on the sentence (see 11:47–57), had no intention of providing one.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:24 Annas recognized that he was not getting anywhere with Jesus and sent him to Caiaphas because, if Jesus was to be brought before Pilate for execution, the legal accusation must be brought by the current reigning high priest (i.e., Caiaphas) in his capacity as chairman of the Sanhedrin (see also note on v. 13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:25–27 Simon Peter. Here was the final fulfillment of Jesus' prediction that Peter would deny him three times (cf. Matt. 26:34).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:28–19:16 This section deals with Jesus' trial before Pilate. Although Pilate appears in every scene here, Jesus himself and the nature of his kingdom occupy center stage.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:28 governor's headquarters. The headquarters of the commanding officer of the Roman military camp or the headquarters of the Roman military governor (i.e., Pilate). Pilate's normal headquarters was in Caesarea, in the palace that Herod the Great had built for himself. However, Pilate and his predecessors made it a point to be in Jerusalem during the feasts in order to quell any riots. Jerusalem became his praetorium or headquarters. early. The word is ambiguous. Most likely, it refers to around 6:00 A.M. since many Roman officials began their day very early and finished by 10:00 or 11:00 A.M. not be defiled. Jewish oral law gives evidence that a Jew who entered the dwelling places of Gentiles became ceremonially unclean. Their remaining outside in the colonnade avoided that pollution. John loads this statement with great irony by noting the chief priests' scrupulousness in the matter of ceremonial cleansing, when all the time they were incurring incomparably greater moral defilement by their proceedings against Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:29 What accusation . . . ? This question formally opened the Roman civil phase of proceedings against Jesus (in contrast to the religious phase before the Jews in v. 24). The fact that Roman troops were used at the arrest (see note on v. 3) proves that the Jewish authorities communicated something about this case to Pilate in advance. Although they most likely had expected Pilate to confirm their judgment against Jesus and order his death sentence, Pilate ordered instead a fresh hearing in his presence.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:31 It is not lawful. When Rome took over Judea and began direct rule through a prefect in A.D. 6, capital jurisdiction (i.e., the right to execute) was taken away from the Jews and given to the Roman governor. Capital punishment was the most jealously guarded of all the attributes in Roman provincial administration.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:32 to fulfill the word that Jesus. Jesus had said that he would die by being “lifted up” (3:14; 8:28; 12:32–33). If the Jews had executed him it would have been by throwing him down and stoning him. But God providentially controlled all the political procedures to assure that when sentence was finally passed, he would be crucified by the Romans and not stoned by the Jews, as was Stephen (Acts 7:59). The Jews may have preferred this form of execution based on Deut. 21:23.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:34 others. Again (cf. vv. 20–21), Jesus demanded witnesses.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:36 My kingdom is not of this world. By this phrase, Jesus meant that his kingdom is not connected to earthly political and national entities, nor does it have its origin in the evil world system that is in rebellion against God. If his kingdom was of this world, he would have fought. The kingships of this world preserve themselves by fighting with force. Messiah’s kingdom does not originate in the efforts of man but with the Son of Man forcefully and decisively conquering sin in the lives of his people and someday conquering the evil world system at his second coming when he establishes the earthly form of his kingdom. His kingdom was no threat to the national identity of Israel or the political and military identity of Rome. It exists in the spiritual dimension until the end of the age (Rev. 11:15).

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:38 What is truth? In response to Jesus’ mention of “truth” in v. 37, Pilate responded rhetorically with cynicism, convinced that no answer existed to the question. The retort proved that he was not among those whom the Father had given to the Son (“Everyone who is of the truth listens to my voice”—v. 37; see notes on 10:1–5). no guilt. Cf. 19:4. John made it clear that Jesus was not guilty of any sin or crime, thus exhibiting the severe injustice and guilt of both the Jews and Romans who executed him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 18:40 Now Barabbas was a robber. The word “robber” means “one who seizes plunder” and may depict not only a robber but a terrorist or guerrilla fighter who participated in bloody insurrection (see Mark 15:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:1 flogged. Pilate appears to have flogged Jesus as a strategy to set him free (see vv. 4–6). He was hoping that the Jews would be appeased by this action and that sympathy for Jesus’ suffering would result in their desire that he be released (see Luke 23:13–16). Scourging was a horribly cruel act in which the victim was stripped, tied to a post, and beaten by several torturers, i.e., soldiers who alternated when exhausted. For victims who were not Roman citizens, the preferred instrument was a short wooden handle to which several leather thongs were attached. Each leather thong had pieces of bones or metal on the end. The beatings were so savage that sometimes victims died. The body could be torn or lacerated to such an extent that muscles, veins, or bones were exposed. Such flogging often preceded execution in order to weaken and dehumanize the victim (Isa. 53:5). Apparently, however, Pilate intended this to create sympathy for Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:2 crown of thorns. This “crown” was made from the long spikes (up to 12 inches) of a date palm formed into an imitation of the radiating crowns that oriental kings wore. The long thorns would have cut deeply into Jesus’ head, adding to the pain and bleeding. purple robe. The color represented royalty. The robe probably was a military cloak flung around Jesus’ shoulders, intended to mock his claim to be King of the Jews.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:4 I find no guilt in him. See note on 18:38.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:5 Behold the man! Pilate dramatically presented Jesus after his torturous treatment by the soldiers. Jesus would have been swollen, bruised, and bleeding. Pilate displayed Jesus as a beaten and pathetic figure, hoping to gain the people’s choice of Jesus for release. Pilate’s phrase is filled with sarcasm since he was attempting to impress upon the Jewish authorities that Jesus was not the dangerous man that they had made him out to be.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:6 Take him yourselves and crucify him. The pronouns “yourselves” and “him” have an emphatic force indicating Pilate’s disgust and indignation at the Jews for their callousness toward Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:7 We have a law. This probably refers to Lev. 24:16: “Whoever blasphemes the name of the Lord shall surely be put to death.” The charge of blasphemy (John 5:18; 8:58–59; 10:33, 36) was central in Jesus’ trial before Caiaphas (see Matt. 26:57–68).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:8 more afraid. Many Roman officials were deeply superstitious. While Jews interpreted Jesus' claims as messianic, to the Greco-Roman person, the title "Son of God" would place Jesus in the category of "divine men" who were gifted with supernatural powers. Pilate was afraid because he had just whipped and tortured someone who, in his mind, could bring down a curse or vengeance upon him.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:9 Where are you from? Pilate was concerned about Jesus' origins. His superstitious mind was wondering just what kind of person he was dealing with.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:11 Jesus' statement here indicates that even the worst evil cannot escape the sovereignty of God. Pilate had no real control (vv. 10–11), yet still stood as a responsible moral agent for his actions. When confronted with opposition and evil, Jesus often found solace in the sovereignty of his Father (e.g., 6:43–44, 65; 10:18, 28–29). he who delivered me over to you has the greater sin. This could refer either to Judas or Caiaphas. Since Caiaphas took such an active part in the plot against Jesus (11:49–53) and presided over the Sanhedrin, the reference may center on him (18:30, 35). The critical point is not the identity of the person but guilt because of the deliberate, high-handed, and coldly calculated act of handing Jesus over to Pilate, after having seen and heard the overwhelming evidence that he was Messiah and Son of God. Pilate had not been exposed to that. See notes on 9:41; 15:22–24; Heb. 10:26–31.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:12 not Caesar's friend. This statement by the Jews was loaded with irony, for the Jews' hatred of Rome certainly indicated they too were no friends of Caesar. But they knew Pilate feared Tiberius Caesar (the Roman emperor at the time of Jesus' crucifixion) since he had a highly suspicious personality and exacted ruthless punishment. Pilate had already created upheaval in Palestine by several foolish acts that had infuriated the Jews, and so was under the scrutiny of Rome to see if his ineptness continued. The Jews were intimidating him by threatening another upheaval that could spell the end of his power in Palestine, if he did not execute Jesus.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:13 the judgment seat. Pilate capitulated under pressure (v. 12) and prepared to render judgment on the original charge of sedition against Rome. This "judgment seat" was the place Pilate sat to render the official verdict. The seat was placed on an area paved with stones known as "The Stone Pavement." The irony is that Pilate rendered judgment on the One whom the Father himself entrusted with all judgment (5:22) and who would render a just condemnation of Pilate.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:14 day of Preparation of the Passover. This refers to the day before of preparation for Passover Week (i.e., Friday of Passover Week). For the chronology of the week, see Introduction: Interpretive Challenges. about the sixth hour. John may be reckoning time by the Roman method of the day beginning at midnight. See note on Mark 15:25. Behold your King! That was Pilate's mockery—that such a brutalized and helpless man was a fitting king for them. This mockery continued in the placard on the cross (John 19:19–22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:17 bearing his own cross. This refers to the cross-member, the horizontal bar. The condemned man carried it on his shoulders to the place of execution. Jesus carried his cross as far as the city gate, but due to the effects of the previous brutal beating, someone else had to eventually carry it for him, i.e., Simon of Cyrene (Matt. 27:32; Mark 15:21; Luke 23:26). Golgotha. This term is an English transliteration of the Greek which, in turn, is a translation of the Aramaic word meaning “skull.” The place probably derived its name from its appearance. The precise location of the site today is uncertain.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:18 crucified him. Jesus was made to lie on the ground while his arms were stretched out and nailed to the horizontal beam that he carried. The beam was then hoisted up, along with the victim, and fastened to the vertical beam. His feet were nailed to the vertical beam to which sometimes was attached a piece of wood that served as a kind of seat that partially supported the weight of the body. The latter, however, was designed to prolong and increase the agony, not relieve it. Having been stripped naked and beaten, Jesus could hang in the hot sun for hours if not days. To breathe, it was necessary to push with the legs and pull with the arms, creating excruciating pain. Terrible muscle spasms wracked the entire body; but since collapse meant asphyxiation, the struggle for life continued (see note on Matt. 27:31). two others. Matthew (Matt. 27:38) and Luke (Luke 23:33) use the same word for these two as John used for Barabbas, i.e., guerrilla fighters. See note on John 18:40.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:19–22 wrote an inscription. The custom in such executions was to place a placard or tablet around the neck of the victim as he made his way to execution. The tablet would then be nailed to the victim's cross (see Matt. 27:37; Mark 15:26; Luke 23:38). Pilate used this opportunity for mocking revenge on the Jews who had so intimidated him into this execution (see note on John 19:12).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:23 his garments . . . also his tunic. By custom, the clothes of the condemned person were the property of the executioners. The division of the garments suggests that the execution squad was made up of four soldiers (cf. Acts 12:4). The tunic was worn next to the skin. The plural “garments” probably refers to other clothes, including an outer garment, belt, sandals, and head covering.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:24 John cites Ps. 22:18. In the psalm, David, beset by physical distress and mockery by his opponents, used the symbolism of the common practice in an execution scene in which the executioner divided the victim’s clothes to portray the depth of his trouble. It is notable that David precisely described a form of execution that he had never seen. The passage was typologically prophetic of Jesus, David’s heir to the messianic throne (see Matt. 27:46; Mark 15:34).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:25 Although the exact number of women mentioned here is questioned, John probably refers to four women rather than three, i.e., two by name and two without naming them: 1) “his mother” (Mary); 2) “his mother’s sister” (probably Salome [Mark 15:40], the sister of Mary and mother of James and John, the sons of Zebedee [Matt. 27:56–57; Mark 15:40]); 3) “Mary the wife of Clopas” (the mother of James the younger and Joses—Matt. 27:56); and 4) Mary Magdalene (“Magdalene” signifies “Magdala” a village on the west shore of Galilee, 2 or 3 miles north of Tiberias). Mary Magdalene figures prominently in the resurrection account (see John 20:1–18; cf. Luke 8:2–3 where Jesus healed her from demon possession).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:26 the disciple whom he loved. This is a reference to John (see note on 13:23; cf. Introduction: Author and Date). Jesus, as firstborn and breadwinner of the family before he started his ministry, did not give the responsibility to his brothers because they were not sympathetic to his ministry nor did they believe in him (7:3–5) and they likely were not present at the time (i.e., their home was in Capernaum—see 2:12).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:29 The drink here is not to be confused with the wine “mixed with gall” offered to him on the way to the cross (Matt. 27:34) intended to help deaden pain. The purpose of this drink (cf. Mark 15:36) was to prolong life and increase the torture and pain. It was a cheap, sour wine used by soldiers. The use of this word recalls Ps. 69:21 where the same noun occurs in the LXX. Hyssop is a little plant that is ideal for sprinkling (see Ex. 12:22).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:30 It is finished. The verb here carries the idea of fulfilling one’s task and, in religious contexts, has the idea of fulfilling one’s religious obligations (see 17:4). The entire work of redemption had been brought to completion. The single Greek word here (translated “It is finished”) has been found in the papyri being placed on receipts for taxes meaning “paid in full” (see Col. 3:13–14). he . . . gave up his spirit. The sentence signaled that Jesus “handed over” his spirit as an act of his will. No one took his life from him, for he voluntarily and willingly gave it up (see John 10:17–18).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:31 day of Preparation. This refers to Friday, the day before or the “preparation” day for the Sabbath. See Introduction: Interpretive Challenges. would not remain on the cross on the Sabbath. The normal Roman practice was to leave crucified men and women on the cross until they died (and this could take days) and then leave their rotting bodies hanging there to be devoured by vultures. The Mosaic law insisted that anyone being impaled (usually after execution) should not remain there overnight (Deut. 21:22–23). Such a person was under God’s curse, and to leave him exposed would be to desecrate the land in their minds. their legs might be broken. In order to hasten death for certain reasons, soldiers would smash the legs of the victim with an iron mallet. Not only did this action induce shock and additional loss of blood, but it prevented the victim from pushing with his legs to keep breathing (see note on John 19:18), and thus the victim died due to asphyxiation.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:34 The soldier’s stabbing of Jesus’ side caused significant penetration because of the sudden flow of blood and water. Either the spear pierced Jesus’ heart or the chest cavity was pierced at the bottom. In either event, John mentioned the outflow of “blood and water” to emphasize that Jesus was unquestionably dead.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:35 He who saw it. This has reference to John the apostle who was an eyewitness of these events (v. 26; 13:23; 20:2; 21:7, 20; cf. 1 John 1:1–4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:36–37 John quoted from either Ex. 12:46 or Num. 9:12, both of which specify that no bone of the Passover lamb may be broken. Since the NT portrays Jesus as the Passover Lamb that takes away the sins of the world (John

1:29; cf. 1 Cor. 5:7; 1 Pet. 1:19), these verses have special typologically prophetic significance for him. The quote in John 19:37 comes from Zech. 12:10, which indicates God himself was pierced when his representative, the Shepherd (Zech. 13:7; cf. Zech. 11:4, 8–9, 15–17), was pierced. The anguish and contrition of the Jews in the Zechariah passage, because of their wounding of God’s Shepherd, is typologically prophetic of the time of the coming of the Son of God, Messiah, when at his return, Israel shall mourn for the rejection and killing of their King (cf. Rev. 1:7).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:38 Joseph of Arimathea. This man appears in all four Gospels, only in connection with Jesus’ burial. The synoptics relate that he was a member of the Sanhedrin (Mark 15:43), he was rich (Matt. 27:57), and he was looking for the kingdom of God (Luke 23:51). John treated the idea of secret disciples negatively (see John 12:42–43) but since Joseph publicly risked his reputation and even his life in asking for the body of Jesus, John pictured him in a more positive light.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:39 Nicodemus. See notes on 3:1–10. about seventy-five pounds. An inaccurate understanding of the term used in the original, this mixture of spices weighed closer to 65 pounds. Myrrh was a very fragrant, gummy resin that the Jews turned into a powdered form and mixed with aloes, a powder from the aromatic sandalwood. The Jews did not embalm but did this procedure to stifle the smell of putrefaction (see note on 11:39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:40 linen cloths . . . spices. The spices most likely were laid on the entire length of the strips of linen, which were then wound around Jesus’ body. More spices were laid under the body and perhaps packed around it. The sticky resin would help the cloth adhere.

JOHN—NOTE ON 19:41–42 garden . . . new tomb. Only John relates that the tomb was near the place where Jesus was crucified. Since the Sabbath, when all work had to cease, was nearly upon them (6:00 P.M., sunset), the nearness of the tomb was helpful. John does not mention that Joseph of Arimathea rolled a stone across the tomb’s mouth or that Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Jesus saw where he was laid (Matt. 27:58–61). For the time of the Lord’s death and burial, see note on Matt. 27:45.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:1–31 This chapter records the appearances of Jesus to his own followers: 1) the appearance to Mary Magdalene (vv. 1–18); 2) the appearance to the 10 disciples (vv. 19–23); and 3) the appearance to Thomas (vv. 24–29). Jesus did not appear to unbelievers (see 14:19; 16:16, 22) because the evidence of his resurrection would not have convinced them, as the miracles had not (Luke 16:31). The god of this world had blinded them and prevented their belief (2 Cor. 4:4). Jesus, therefore, appears exclusively to his own in order to confirm their faith in the living Christ. Such appearances were so profound that they transformed the disciples from cowardly men hiding in fear to bold witnesses for Jesus (e.g., Peter; see John 18:27; cf. Acts 2:14–39). Once again John’s purpose in recording these resurrection appearances was to demonstrate that Jesus’ physical and bodily resurrection was the crowning proof that he truly is the Messiah and Son of God who laid down his life for his own (John 10:17–18; 15:13; cf. Rom. 1:4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:1 first day of the week. A reference to Sunday. From then on, believers set aside Sunday to meet and remember the marvelous resurrection of the Lord (see Acts 20:7; 1 Cor. 16:2). It became known as the Lord’s Day (Rev. 1:10). See notes on Luke 24:4, 34. Mary Magdalene came to the tomb early, while it was still dark. Perhaps the reason why Jesus first appeared to Mary Magdalene was to demonstrate grace by his personal, loving faithfulness to someone who formerly had a sordid past; but clearly also because she loved him so dearly and deeply, that she appeared before anyone else at the tomb. Her purpose in coming was to finish the preparation of Jesus’ body for burial by bringing more spices to anoint the corpse (Luke 24:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:2 other disciple, the one whom Jesus loved. This is the author, John. They have taken. Though Jesus had predicted his resurrection numerous times, it was more than she could believe at that point. It would take his showing himself alive to them by “many proofs” (Acts 1:3) for them to believe.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:5–7 saw the linen cloths lying there. A contrast existed between the resurrection of Lazarus (11:44) and that of Jesus. While Lazarus came forth from the grave wearing his graveclothes, Jesus’ body, though physical and material, was glorified and was now able to pass through the graveclothes much in the same way that he later appeared in the locked room (see 20:19–20; cf. Phil. 3:21). linen cloths . . . face cloth. The state of those items indicates no struggle, no hurried unwrapping of the body by grave robbers, who wouldn't unwrap the body anyway, since transporting it elsewhere would be easier and more pleasant if it was left in its wrapped and spiced condition. All appearances indicated that no one had taken the body, but that it had moved through the cloth and left it behind in the tomb.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:8 the other disciple. John saw the graveclothes and was convinced by them that he had risen.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:9 did not understand the Scripture. Neither Peter nor John understood that Scripture said Jesus would rise (Ps. 16:10). This is evident by the reports of Luke (Luke 24:25–27, 32, 44–47). Jesus had foretold his resurrection (John 2:19; Matt. 16:21; Mark 8:31; 9:31; Luke 9:22), but they would not accept it (Matt. 16:22; Luke 9:44–45). By the time John wrote this Gospel, the church had developed an understanding of the OT prediction of Messiah's resurrection (cf. "as yet").

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:11–13 weeping. Mary's sense of grief and loss may have driven her back to the tomb. She apparently had not crossed paths with Peter or John and thus did not know of Jesus' resurrection (see v. 9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:12 two angels. Luke (Luke 24:4) describes both. Matthew (Matt. 28:2–3) and Mark (Mark 16:5) report only one. John's reason for the mention of angels is to demonstrate that no grave robbers took the body. This was an operation of the power of God.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:14 did not know that it was Jesus. The reason for Mary's failure to recognize Jesus is uncertain. She may not have recognized him because her tears blurred her eyes (v. 11). Possibly also, the vivid memories of Jesus' bruised and broken body were still etched in her mind, and Jesus' resurrection appearance was so dramatically different that she failed to recognize him. Perhaps, however, like the disciples on the road to Emmaus, she was supernaturally prevented from recognizing him until he chose for her to do so (see Luke 24:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:16 Mary. Whatever the reason for her failure to recognize Jesus, the moment he spoke the single word "Mary," she immediately recognized him. This is reminiscent of Jesus' words "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me" (10:27; cf. 10:3–4).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:17 Do not cling to me, for I have not yet ascended. Mary was expressing a desire to hold on to his physical presence for fear that she would once again lose him. Jesus' reference to his ascension signifies that he would only be temporarily with them and though she desperately wanted him to stay, he could not. Jesus was with them only for 40 more days and then he ascended (Acts 1:3–11). After he went to the Father, he sent the Holy Spirit (“the Helper”) so that they would not feel abandoned (see note on John 14:18–19). my brothers. Disciples have been called “servants” or “friends” (15:15), but not “brothers,” until here. Because of Jesus' work on the cross in place of the sinner, this new relationship to Christ was made possible (Rom. 8:14–17; Gal. 3:26–27; Eph. 1:5; Heb. 2:10–13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:19 On . . . that day. See note on v. 1. the doors being locked. The Greek word indicates the doors were locked for fear of the Jews. Since the authorities had executed their leader, they reasonably expected that Jesus' fate could be their own. Peace be with you. See notes on 14:27 and 16:33. Jesus' greeting complements his “It is finished,” for his work on the cross accomplished peace between God and his people (Rom. 5:1; Eph. 2:14–17).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:20 Jesus proved that he who appeared to them was the same One who was crucified (cf. Luke 24:39).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:21 This commission builds on 17:18. See Matt. 28:19–20.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:22 Since the disciples did not actually receive the Holy Spirit until the day of Pentecost, some 40 days in the future (Acts 1:8; 2:1–3), this statement must be understood as a pledge on Christ's part that the Holy Spirit would be coming.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:23 See notes on Matt. 16:19 and 18:18. This verse does not give authority to Christians to forgive sins. Jesus was saying that the believer can boldly declare the certainty of a sinner's forgiveness by the Father because of the work of his Son if that sinner has repented and believed the gospel. The believer with certainty can also tell those who do not respond to the message of God's forgiveness through faith in Christ that their sins, as a result, are not forgiven.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:24–26 Thomas has already been portrayed as loyal but pessimistic. Jesus did not rebuke Thomas for his failure, but instead compassionately offered him proof of his resurrection. Jesus lovingly met him at the point of his weakness. Thomas's actions indicated that Jesus had to convince the disciples rather forcefully of his resurrection, i.e., they were not gullible people predisposed to believing in resurrection. The point is they would not have fabricated it or hallucinated it, since they were so reluctant to believe even with the evidence they could see.

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:28 My Lord and my God! With these words, Thomas declared his firm belief in the resurrection and, therefore, the deity of Jesus the Messiah and Son of God (Titus 2:13). This is the greatest confession a person can make. Thomas's confession functions as the fitting capstone of John's purpose in writing (see John 20:30–31).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:29 Jesus foresaw the time when such tangible evidence as Thomas received would not be available. When Jesus ascended permanently to the Father, all those who believe would do so without the benefit of seeing the resurrected Lord. Jesus pronounced a special blessing on those who believe without having Thomas's privilege (1 Pet. 1:8–9).

JOHN—NOTE ON 20:30–31 These verses constitute the goal and purpose for which John wrote the Gospel (see Introduction: Background and Setting).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:1–25 The epilogue or appendix of John's Gospel. While 20:30–31 constitutes the conclusion of the body of the fourth Gospel, the information here at the end of his work provides a balance to his prologue in 1:1–18. The epilogue essentially ties up five loose ends that were unanswered in ch. 20. 1) Will Jesus no longer directly provide for his own (cf. 20:17)? This question is answered in 21:1–14. 2) What happened to Peter? Peter had denied Christ three times and fled. The last time Peter was seen was in 20:6–8 where both he and John saw the empty tomb but only John believed (20:8). This question is answered in 21:15–17. 3) What about the future of the disciples now that they are without their Master? This question is answered in vv. 18–19. 4) Was John going to die? Jesus answers this question in vv. 20–23. 5) Why weren't other things that Jesus did recorded by John? John gives the answer to that in vv. 24–25.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:1 Sea of Tiberias. An alternate name for the Sea of Galilee, found only in John (see 6:1).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:2 Simon Peter. In all lists of the apostles, he is named first, indicating his general leadership of the group (e.g., Matt. 10:2).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:3 I am going fishing. The most reasonable explanation for Peter and the others to go to Galilee in order to fish was that they went in obedience to the Lord's command to meet him in Galilee (Matt. 28:16). Peter and the others occupied themselves with fishing, which was their former livelihood, while they awaited Jesus' appearance.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:4 This could be another instance in which the Lord kept his disciples from recognizing him (20:14–15; cf. Luke 24:16).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:7 That disciple whom Jesus loved. John immediately recognized that the stranger was the risen Lord, for only he had such supernatural knowledge and power (v. 6). Peter impulsively jumped in and headed to see the Lord.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:9 fish . . . and bread. Apparently, the Lord created this breakfast as he had created food for the multitudes (6:1–13).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:11 153. John's recording of the precise number reinforces the fact that he was an eyewitness author of the events he recorded (1 John 1:1–4). Jesus' action here in providing the fish also indicated that he would still provide for his disciples' needs (see Phil. 4:19; Matt. 6:25–33).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:14 the third time. The reference to the "third time" refers only to the appearances reported in John's Gospel, i.e., the first being in 20:19–23 and the second in 20:26–29.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:15–17 The meaning of this section hinges upon the usage of two synonyms for love. In terms of interpretation, when two synonyms are placed in close proximity in context, a difference in meaning, however slight, is emphasized. When Jesus asked Peter if he loved him, he used a word for love that signified total commitment. Peter responded with a word for love that signified his love for Jesus, but not necessarily his total commitment. This was not because he was reluctant to express that greater love, but because he had been disobedient and denied the Lord in the past. He was, perhaps, now reluctant to make a claim of supreme devotion when, in the past, his life did not support such a claim. Jesus pressed home to Peter the need for unswerving devotion by repeatedly asking Peter if he loved him supremely. The essential message here is that Jesus demands total commitment from his followers. Their love for him must place him above their love for all else. Jesus confronted Peter with love because he wanted Peter to lead the apostles (Matt. 16:18), but in order for Peter to be an effective shepherd, his overwhelming drive must exemplify supreme love for his Lord.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:15–16 more than these? This probably refers to the fish (v. 11) representing Peter’s profession as a fisherman, for he had gone back to it while waiting for Jesus (see v. 3). Jesus wanted Peter to love him so supremely as to forsake all that he was familiar with and be exclusively devoted to being a fisher of men (Matt. 4:19). The phrase may refer to the other disciples, since Peter had claimed he would be more devoted than all the others (Matt. 26:33). Feed my lambs. . . . Tend my sheep. These terms convey the idea of being devoted to the Lord’s service as an undershepherd who cares for his flock (see 1 Pet. 5:1–4). The words have the idea of constantly feeding and nourishing the sheep. This served as a reminder that the primary duty of the messenger of Jesus Christ is to teach the Word of God (2 Tim. 4:2). Acts 1–12 records Peter’s obedience to this commission.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:17 Peter was grieved. The third time Jesus asked Peter, he used Peter’s word for love that signified something less than total devotion, questioning even that level of love Peter thought he was safe in claiming (see note on vv. 15–17). The lessons driven home to Peter grieved his heart, so that he sought for a proper understanding of his heart, not by what he said or had done, but based on the Lord’s omniscience (cf. 2:24–25).

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:18–19 A prophecy of Peter’s martyrdom. Jesus’ call of devotion to him would also mean that Peter’s devotion would entail his own death (Matt. 10:37–39). Whenever any Christian follows Christ, he must be prepared to suffer and die (Matt. 16:24–26). Peter lived three decades serving the Lord and anticipating the death that was before him (2 Pet. 1:12–15), but he wrote that such suffering and death for the Lord brings praise to God (1 Pet. 4:14–16). Church tradition records that Peter suffered martyrdom under Nero (c. A.D. 67–68), being crucified upside down, because he refused to be crucified like his Lord.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:20–22 Jesus’ prophecy regarding Peter’s martyrdom prompted Peter to ask what would happen to John (“the disciple whom Jesus loved”—see 13:23). He may have asked this because of his deep concern for John’s future, since he was an intimate friend. Jesus’ reply, “You follow me!”

signified that his primary concern must not be John but his continued devotion to the Lord and his service, i.e., Christ's service must be his all-consuming passion and nothing must detract from it.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:22–23 until I come. Jesus' hypothetical statement for emphasis was that, if John lived until his second coming, it was none of Peter's concern. He needed to live his own life in faithfulness, not compare it with any other.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:24 the disciple who is bearing witness. John is a personal witness of the truth of the events that he recorded. The "we" most likely is an editorial device referring only to John (see 1:14; 1 John 1:1–4; 3 John 12), or it may include the collective witness of his apostolic colleagues.

JOHN—NOTE ON 21:25 John explained that he had been selective rather than exhaustive in his testimony. Although selective, the truth revealed in John's Gospel is sufficient to bring anyone to faith in the Messiah and Son of God (14:26; 16:13).

Introduction to Acts

Title

As the second book Luke addressed to Theophilus (see Luke 1:3), Acts may originally have had no title. The Greek manuscripts title it “Acts,” and many add “of the Apostles.” The Greek word translated “Acts” (praxeis) was often used to describe the achievements of great men. Acts does feature the notable figures in the early years of the church, especially Peter (chs. 1–12) and Paul (chs. 13–28). But the book could more properly be called “The Acts of the Holy Spirit through the Apostles,” since his sovereign, superintending work was far more significant than that of any man. It was the Spirit’s directing, controlling, and empowering ministry that strengthened the church and caused it to grow in numbers, spiritual power, and influence.

Author and Date

Since Luke’s Gospel was the first book addressed to Theophilus (Luke 1:3), it is logical to conclude that Luke is also the author of Acts, although he is not named in either book. The writings of the early church Fathers such as Irenaeus, Clement of Alexandria, Tertullian, Origen, Eusebius, and Jerome affirm Luke’s authorship, and so does the Muratorian Canon (c. A.D. 170). Because he is a relatively obscure figure, mentioned only three times in the NT (Col. 4:14; 2 Tim. 4:11, Philem. 24), it is unlikely that anyone would have forged a work to make it appear to be Luke’s. A forger surely would have attributed his work to a more prominent person.

Luke was Paul’s close friend, traveling companion, and personal physician (Col. 4:14). He was a careful researcher (Luke 1:1–4) and an accurate historian, displaying an intimate knowledge of Roman laws and customs, as well as the geography of Palestine, Asia Minor, and Italy. In writing Acts, Luke drew on written sources (Acts 15:23–29; 23:26–30), and also no doubt interviewed key figures such as Peter, John, and others in the Jerusalem church. Paul’s two-year imprisonment at Caesarea (24:27) gave Luke ample opportunity to interview Philip and his daughters (who were considered important sources of information on the early days of the church). Finally, Luke’s frequent use of the first person plural pronouns “we” and “us” (16:10–17; 20:5–21:18; 27:1–28:16) reveals that he was an eyewitness to many of the events recorded in Acts.

Some believe Luke wrote Acts after the fall of Jerusalem (A.D. 70; his death was probably in the mid-eighties). It is more likely, however, that he wrote much earlier, before the end of Paul’s first Roman imprisonment (c. A.D. 60–62). That date is the most natural explanation for the abrupt ending of Acts—which leaves Paul awaiting trial before Caesar. Surely Luke, who devoted more than half of Acts to Paul’s ministry, would have given the outcome of that trial, and described Paul’s subsequent ministry, second imprisonment (cf. 2 Tim. 4:11), and death, if those events had happened before he wrote Acts. Luke’s silence about such notable events as the martyrdom of James, head of the Jerusalem church (A.D. 62 according to the Jewish historian Josephus), the persecution under Nero (A.D. 64), and the fall of Jerusalem (A.D. 70) also suggests he wrote Acts before those events transpired.

Background and Setting

As Luke makes clear in the prologue to his Gospel, he wrote to give Theophilus (and the others who would read his work) a “narrative of the things” (Luke 1:1) that Jesus had accomplished during his earthly ministry. Accordingly, Luke’s Gospel records those momentous events “in consecutive order” (Luke 1:3). Acts continues that record, noting what Jesus accomplished through the early church. Beginning with Jesus’ ascension, through the birth of the church on the day of Pentecost, to Paul’s preaching at Rome, Acts chronicles the spread of the gospel and the growth of the church (cf. Acts 1:15; 2:41, 47; 4:4; 5:14; 6:7; 9:31; 12:24; 13:49; 16:5; 19:20). It also records the mounting opposition to the gospel (cf. 2:13; 4:1–22; 5:17–42; 6:9–8:4; 12:1–5; 13:6–12, 45–50; 14:2–6, 19–20; 16:19–24; 17:5–9; 19:23–41; 21:27–36; 23:12–21; 28:24).

Theophilus, whose name means “lover of God,” is unknown to history apart from his mention in Luke and Acts. Whether he was a believer whom Luke was instructing, or a pagan whom Luke sought to convert, is not known. Luke’s address of him as “most excellent Theophilus” (Luke 1:3) suggests he was a Roman official of some importance (cf. Acts 24:3; 26:25).

Historical and Theological Themes

As the first work of church history ever penned, Acts records the initial response to the Great Commission (Matt. 28:19–20). It provides information on the first three decades of the church’s existence—material found nowhere else in the NT. Though not primarily a doctrinal work, Acts nonetheless emphasizes that Jesus of Nazareth was Israel’s long-awaited Messiah, shows that the gospel is offered to all men (not merely the Jewish people), and stresses the work of the Holy Spirit (mentioned more than 50 times). Acts also makes frequent use of the OT: e.g., Acts 2:17–21 (Joel 2:28–32); Acts 2:25–28 (Ps. 16:8–11); Acts 2:35 (Ps. 110:1); Acts 4:11 (Ps. 118:22); Acts 4:25–26 (Ps. 2:1–2); Acts 7:49–50 (Isa. 66:1–2); Acts 8:32–33 (Isa. 53:7–8); Acts 28:26–27 (Isa. 6:9–10).

Acts abounds with transitions: from the ministry of Jesus to that of the apostles; from the Old Covenant to the New Covenant; from Israel as God’s witness nation to the church (composed of both Jews and Gentiles) as God’s witness people. The book of Hebrews sets forth the theology of the transition from the Old Covenant to the New; Acts depicts the New Covenant’s practical outworking in the life of the church.

Interpretive Challenges

Because Acts is primarily a historical narrative, not a theological treatise like Romans or Hebrews, it contains relatively few interpretive challenges. Those that exist mainly concern the book’s transitional nature (see Historical and Theological Themes) and involve the role of signs and wonders. Those issues are addressed in the notes to the relevant passages (e.g., 2:1–47; 15:1–29).

OF THE APOSTLES

The Promise of the Holy Spirit

ACTS 1 † In the first book, O Theophilus, I have dealt with all that Jesus began to do and teach, † until the day when he was taken up, after he had given commands through the Holy Spirit to the apostles whom he had chosen. † He presented himself alive to them after his suffering by many proofs, appearing to them during forty days and speaking about the kingdom of God.

† And while staying [\[1\]](#) with them he ordered them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father, which, he said, “you heard from me; † for John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with [\[2\]](#) the Holy Spirit not many days from now.”

The Ascension

† So when they had come together, they asked him, “Lord, will you at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?” † He said to them, “It is not for you to know times or seasons that the Father has fixed by his own authority. † But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth.” † And when he had said these things, as they were looking on, he was lifted up, and a cloud took him out of their sight. † And while they were gazing into heaven as he went, behold, two men stood by them in white robes, † and said, “Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking into heaven? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will come in the same way as you saw him go into heaven.”

Matthias Chosen to Replace Judas

† Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a Sabbath day's journey away. † And when they had entered, they went up to the upper room, where they were staying, Peter and John and James and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James the son of Alphaeus and Simon the Zealot and Judas the son of James. <sup>14</sup>† All these with one accord were devoting themselves to prayer, together with the women and Mary the mother of Jesus, and his brothers. [3]

<sup>15</sup>† In those days Peter stood up among the brothers (the company of persons was in all about 120) and said, <sup>16</sup>† “Brothers, the Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit spoke beforehand by the mouth of David concerning Judas, who became a guide to those who arrested Jesus. <sup>17</sup>† For he was numbered among us and was allotted his share in this ministry.” <sup>18</sup>† (Now this man acquired a field with the reward of his wickedness, and falling headlong [4] he burst open in the middle and all his bowels gushed out. <sup>19</sup>† And it became known to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the field was called in their own language Akeldama, that is, Field of Blood.) <sup>20</sup>† “For it is written in the Book of Psalms, “‘May his camp become desolate, and let there be no one to dwell in it’; and “‘Let another take his office.’

<sup>21</sup>† So one of the men who have accompanied us during all the time that the Lord Jesus went in and out among us, <sup>22</sup>† beginning from the baptism of John until the day when he was taken up from us—one of these men must become with us a witness to his resurrection.” <sup>23</sup>† And they put forward two, Joseph called Barsabbas, who was also called Justus, and Matthias. <sup>24</sup>† And they prayed and said, “You, Lord, who know the hearts of all, show which one of these two you have chosen <sup>25</sup>† to take the place in this ministry and apostleship from which Judas turned aside to go to his own place.” <sup>26</sup>† And they cast lots for them, and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was numbered with the eleven apostles.

The Coming of the Holy Spirit

ACTS 2 † When the day of Pentecost arrived, they were all together in one place. † And suddenly there came from heaven a sound like a mighty rushing wind, and it filled the entire house where they were sitting. † And divided tongues as of fire appeared to them and rested [\[1\]](#) on each one of them. † And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance.

† Now there were dwelling in Jerusalem Jews, devout men from every nation under heaven. † And at this sound the multitude came together, and they were bewildered, because each one was hearing them speak in his own language. † And they were amazed and astonished, saying, “Are not all these who are speaking Galileans? † And how is it that we hear, each of us in his own native language? † Parthians and Medes and Elamites and residents of Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, † Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya belonging to Cyrene, and visitors from Rome, † both Jews and proselytes, Cretans and Arabians—we hear them telling in our own tongues the mighty works of God.” † And all were amazed and perplexed, saying to one another, “What does this mean?” † But others mocking said, “They are filled with new wine.”

Peter's Sermon at Pentecost

† But Peter, standing with the eleven, lifted up his voice and addressed them: “Men of Judea and all who dwell in Jerusalem, let this be known to you, and give ear to my words. † For these people are not drunk, as you suppose, since it is only the third hour of the day. [\[2\]](#) † But this is what was uttered through the prophet Joel: † “And in the last days it shall be, God declares, that I will pour out my Spirit on all flesh, and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams; † even on my male servants [\[3\]](#) and female servants in those days I will pour out my Spirit, and they shall prophesy.

† And I will show wonders in the heavens above and signs on the earth below, blood, and fire, and vapor of smoke; † the sun shall be turned to darkness and the moon to blood, before the day of the Lord comes, the great and magnificent day.

<sup>21</sup>† And it shall come to pass that everyone who calls upon the name of the Lord shall be saved.’

<sup>22</sup>‡‡ “Men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, a man attested to you by God with mighty works and wonders and signs that God did through him in your midst, as you yourselves know— <sup>23</sup>† this Jesus, delivered up according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God, you crucified and killed by the hands of lawless men. <sup>24</sup>† God raised him up, loosing the pangs of death, because it was not possible for him to be held by it. <sup>25</sup>‡ For David says concerning him, “I saw the Lord always before me, for he is at my right hand that I may not be shaken; <sup>26</sup>† therefore my heart was glad, and my tongue rejoiced; my flesh also will dwell in hope.

<sup>27</sup>† For you will not abandon my soul to Hades, or let your Holy One see corruption.

<sup>28</sup>† You have made known to me the paths of life; you will make me full of gladness with your presence.’

<sup>29</sup>‡ “Brothers, I may say to you with confidence about the patriarch David that he both died and was buried, and his tomb is with us to this day. <sup>30</sup>‡‡ Being therefore a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him that he would set one of his descendants on his throne, <sup>31</sup>† he foresaw and spoke about the resurrection of the Christ, that he was not abandoned to Hades, nor did his flesh see corruption. <sup>32</sup>† This Jesus God raised up, and of that we all are witnesses. <sup>33</sup>† Being therefore exalted at the right hand of God, and having received from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he has poured out this that you yourselves are seeing and hearing. <sup>34</sup>† For David did not ascend into the heavens, but he himself says, “‘The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, <sup>35</sup>† until I make your enemies your footstool.’

<sup>36</sup>† Let all the house of Israel therefore know for certain that God has made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom you crucified.”

<sup>37</sup>† Now when they heard this they were cut to the heart, and said to Peter and the rest of the apostles, “Brothers, what shall we do?” <sup>38</sup>† And Peter said to them, “Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. <sup>39</sup>† For the promise is for you and for your children and for all who are far off, everyone whom the Lord our God calls to himself.” <sup>40</sup>† And with many other words he bore witness and continued to exhort them, saying, “Save yourselves from this crooked generation.” <sup>41</sup>† So those who received his word were baptized, and there were added that day about three thousand souls.

The Fellowship of the Believers

<sup>42</sup>† And they devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and the fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers. <sup>43</sup>† And awe [4] came upon every soul, and many wonders and signs were being done through the apostles. <sup>44</sup>† And all who believed were together and had all things in common. <sup>45</sup>† And they were selling their possessions and belongings and distributing the proceeds to all, as any had need. <sup>46</sup>† And day by day, attending the temple together and breaking bread in their homes, they received their food with glad and generous hearts, <sup>47</sup>† praising God and having favor with all the people. And the Lord added to their number day by day those who were being saved.

The Lame Beggar Healed

ACTS 3 †Now Peter and John were going up to the temple at the hour of prayer, the ninth hour. [1] †And a man lame from birth was being carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple that is called the Beautiful Gate to ask alms of those entering the temple. †Seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple, he asked to receive alms. †And Peter directed his gaze at him, as did John, and said, “Look at us.” †And he fixed his attention on them, expecting to receive something from them. †But Peter said, “I have no silver and gold, but what I do have I give to you. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk!” †And he took him by the right hand and raised him up, and immediately his feet and ankles were made strong. †And leaping up he stood and began to walk, and entered the temple with them, walking and leaping and praising God. †And all the people saw him walking and praising God, †and recognized him as the one who sat at the Beautiful Gate of the temple, asking for alms. And they were filled with wonder and amazement at what had happened to him.

Peter Speaks in Solomon's Portico

†While he clung to Peter and John, all the people, utterly astounded, ran together to them in the portico called Solomon's. †And when Peter saw it he addressed the people: “Men of Israel, why do you wonder at this, or why do you stare at us, as though by our own power or piety we have made him walk? †The God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, the God of our fathers, glorified his servant [2] Jesus, whom you delivered over and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had decided to release him. †But you denied the Holy and Righteous One, and asked for a murderer to be granted to you, †and you killed the Author of life, whom God raised from the dead. To this we are witnesses. †And his name—by faith in his name—has made this man strong whom you see and know, and the faith that is through Jesus [3] has given the man this perfect health in the presence of you all.

†“And now, brothers, I know that you acted in ignorance, as did also your rulers. †But what God foretold by the mouth of all the prophets, that his Christ would suffer, he thus fulfilled. †Repent therefore, and turn again, that your sins may be blotted out, †that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord, and that he may send the Christ appointed for you, Jesus, †whom heaven must receive until the time for restoring all the things about which God spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets long ago. <sup>22</sup>†Moses said, ‘The Lord God will raise up for you a prophet like me from your brothers. You shall listen to him in whatever he tells you. <sup>23</sup>†And it shall be that every soul who does not listen to that prophet shall be destroyed from the people.’ <sup>24</sup>†And all the prophets who have spoken, from Samuel and those who came after him, also proclaimed these days. <sup>25</sup>†You are the sons of the prophets and of the covenant that God made with your fathers, saying to Abraham, ‘And in your offspring shall all the families of the earth be blessed.’ <sup>26</sup>†God, having raised up his servant, sent him to you first, to bless you by turning every one of you from your wickedness.”

Peter and John Before the Council

ACTS 4 †And as they were speaking to the people, the priests and the captain of the temple and the Sadducees came upon them, †greatly annoyed because they were teaching the people and proclaiming in Jesus the resurrection from the dead. †And they arrested them and put them in custody until the next day, for it was already evening. †But many of those who had heard the word believed, and the number of the men came to about five thousand.

†On the next day their rulers and elders and scribes gathered together in Jerusalem, †with Annas the high priest and Caiaphas and John and Alexander, and all who were of the high-priestly family. †And when they had set them in the midst, they inquired, “By what power or by what name did you do this?” ††Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, “Rulers of the people and elders, †if we are being examined today concerning a good deed done to a crippled man, by what means this man has been healed, †let it be known to all of you and to all the people of Israel that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead—by him this man is standing before you well. †This Jesus [1] is the stone that was rejected by you, the builders, which has become the cornerstone. [2] †And there is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved.”

†Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were uneducated, common men, they were astonished. And they recognized that they had been with Jesus. †But seeing the man who was healed standing beside them, they had nothing to say in opposition. ††But when they had commanded them to leave the council, they conferred with one another, †saying, “What shall we do with these men? For that a notable sign has been performed through them is evident to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it. †But in order that it may spread no further among the people, let us warn them to speak no more to anyone in this name.” †So they called them and charged them not to speak or teach at all in the name of Jesus. ††But Peter and John answered them, “Whether it is right in the sight of God to listen to you rather than to God, you must judge, †for we cannot but speak of what we have seen and heard.” †And when they had further threatened them, they let them go, finding no way to punish them, because of the people, for all were praising God for what had happened. †For the man on whom this sign of healing was performed was more than forty years old.

The Believers Pray for Boldness

<sup>23</sup>† When they were released, they went to their friends and reported what the chief priests and the elders had said to them. <sup>24</sup>†† And when they heard it, they lifted their voices together to God and said, “Sovereign Lord, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and everything in them, <sup>25</sup>† who through the mouth of our father David, your servant, [3] said by the Holy Spirit, ““Why did the Gentiles rage, and the peoples plot in vain?”

<sup>26</sup> The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers were gathered together, against the Lord and against his Anointed’ [4]— <sup>27</sup> for truly in this city there were gathered together against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, along with the Gentiles and the peoples of Israel, <sup>28</sup>† to do whatever your hand and your plan had predestined to take place. <sup>29</sup> And now, Lord, look upon their threats and grant to your servants [5] to continue to speak your word with all boldness, <sup>30</sup>† while you stretch out your hand to heal, and signs and wonders are performed through the name of your holy servant Jesus.” <sup>31</sup>† And when they had prayed, the place in which they were gathered together was shaken, and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and continued to speak the word of God with boldness.

They Had Everything in Common

<sup>32</sup>† Now the full number of those who believed were of one heart and soul, and no one said that any of the things that belonged to him was his own, but they had everything in common. <sup>33</sup>† And with great power the apostles were giving their testimony to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and great grace was upon them all. <sup>34</sup> There was not a needy person among them, for as many as were owners of lands or houses sold them and brought the proceeds of what was sold <sup>35</sup> and laid it at the apostles' feet, and it was distributed to each as any had need. <sup>36</sup>† Thus Joseph, who was also called by the apostles Barnabas (which means son of encouragement), a Levite, a native of Cyprus, <sup>37</sup>† sold a field that belonged to him and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet.

Ananias and Sapphira

ACTS 5 †But a man named Ananias, with his wife Sapphira, sold a piece of property, †and with his wife's knowledge he kept back for himself some of the proceeds and brought only a part of it and laid it at the apostles' feet. ††But Peter said, "Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and to keep back for yourself part of the proceeds of the land? †While it remained unsold, did it not remain your own? And after it was sold, was it not at your disposal? Why is it that you have contrived this deed in your heart? You have not lied to men but to God." †When Ananias heard these words, he fell down and breathed his last. And great fear came upon all who heard of it. †The young men rose and wrapped him up and carried him out and buried him.

†After an interval of about three hours his wife came in, not knowing what had happened. †And Peter said to her, "Tell me whether you [\[1\]](#) sold the land for so much." And she said, "Yes, for so much." †But Peter said to her, "How is it that you have agreed together to test the Spirit of the Lord? Behold, the feet of those who have buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out." †Immediately she fell down at his feet and breathed her last. When the young men came in they found her dead, and they carried her out and buried her beside her husband. †And great fear came upon the whole church and upon all who heard of these things.

Many Signs and Wonders Done

†Now many signs and wonders were regularly done among the people by the hands of the apostles. And they were all together in Solomon's Portico. †None of the rest dared join them, but the people held them in high esteem. †And more than ever believers were added to the Lord, multitudes of both men and women, †so that they even carried out the sick into the streets and laid them on cots and mats, that as Peter came by at least his shadow might fall on some of them. †The people also gathered from the towns around Jerusalem, bringing the sick and those afflicted with unclean spirits, and they were all healed.

The Apostles Arrested and Freed

†But the high priest rose up, and all who were with him (that is, the party of the Sadducees), and filled with jealousy †they arrested the apostles and put them in the public prison. <sup>19</sup>† But during the night an angel of the Lord opened the prison doors and brought them out, and said, <sup>20</sup>† “Go and stand in the temple and speak to the people all the words of this Life.” <sup>21</sup> And when they heard this, they entered the temple at daybreak and began to teach.

Now when the high priest came, and those who were with him, they called together the council and all the senate of the people of Israel and sent to the prison to have them brought. <sup>22</sup> But when the officers came, they did not find them in the prison, so they returned and reported, <sup>23</sup> “We found the prison securely locked and the guards standing at the doors, but when we opened them we found no one inside.” <sup>24</sup> Now when the captain of the temple and the chief priests heard these words, they were greatly perplexed about them, wondering what this would come to. <sup>25</sup> And someone came and told them, “Look! The men whom you put in prison are standing in the temple and teaching the people.” <sup>26</sup> Then the captain with the officers went and brought them, but not by force, for they were afraid of being stoned by the people.

<sup>27</sup> And when they had brought them, they set them before the council. And the high priest questioned them, <sup>28</sup>† saying, “We strictly charged you not to teach in this name, yet here you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and you intend to bring this man's blood upon us.” <sup>29</sup>† But Peter and the apostles answered, “We must obey God rather than men. <sup>30</sup>† The God of our fathers raised Jesus, whom you killed by hanging him on a tree. <sup>31</sup>† God exalted him at his right hand as Leader and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins. <sup>32</sup>† And we are witnesses to these things, and so is the Holy Spirit, whom God has given to those who obey him.”

<sup>33</sup> When they heard this, they were enraged and wanted to kill them. <sup>34</sup>† But a Pharisee in the council named Gamaliel, a teacher of the law held in honor by all the people, stood up and gave orders to put the men outside for a little while. <sup>35</sup> And he said to them, “Men of Israel, take care what you are about to do with these men. <sup>36</sup>† For before these days Theudas rose up, claiming to be somebody, and a number of men, about four hundred, joined him. He was killed, and all who followed him were dispersed and came to nothing. <sup>37</sup>† After him Judas the Galilean rose up in the days of the census and drew away some of the people after him. He too perished, and all who followed him were scattered. <sup>38</sup>† So in the present case I tell you, keep away from these men and let them alone, for if this plan or this undertaking is of man, it will fail; <sup>39</sup> but if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them. You might even be found opposing God!” So they took his advice, <sup>40</sup>†and when they had called in the apostles, they beat them and charged them not to speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go. <sup>41</sup>Then they left the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer dishonor for the name. <sup>42</sup>And every day, in the temple and from house to house, they did not cease teaching and preaching Jesus as the Christ.

Seven Chosen to Serve

ACTS 6 †Now in these days when the disciples were increasing in number, a complaint by the Hellenists [1] arose against the Hebrews because their widows were being neglected in the daily distribution. †And the twelve summoned the full number of the disciples and said, “It is not right that we should give up preaching the word of God to serve tables. †Therefore, brothers, [2] pick out from among you seven men of good repute, full of the Spirit and of wisdom, whom we will appoint to this duty. †But we will devote ourselves to prayer and to the ministry of the word.” †And what they said pleased the whole gathering, and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Spirit, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolaus, a proselyte of Antioch. †These they set before the apostles, and they prayed and laid their hands on them.

†And the word of God continued to increase, and the number of the disciples multiplied greatly in Jerusalem, and a great many of the priests became obedient to the faith.

Stephen Is Seized

†And Stephen, full of grace and power, was doing great wonders and signs among the people. †Then some of those who belonged to the synagogue of the Freedmen (as it was called), and of the Cyrenians, and of the Alexandrians, and of those from Cilicia and Asia, rose up and disputed with Stephen. †But they could not withstand the wisdom and the Spirit with which he was speaking. †Then they secretly instigated men who said, “We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses and God.” †And they stirred up the people and the elders and the scribes, and they came upon him and seized him and brought him before the council, †and they set up false witnesses who said, “This man never ceases to speak words against this holy place and the law, †for we have heard him say that this Jesus of Nazareth will destroy this place and will change the customs that Moses delivered to us.” †And gazing at him, all who sat in the council saw that his face was like the face of an angel.

Stephen's Speech

ACTS 7 † And the high priest said, “Are these things so?” 2 † † And Stephen said: “Brothers and fathers, hear me. The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he lived in Haran, 3 † and said to him, ‘Go out from your land and from your kindred and go into the land that I will show you.’ 4 † Then he went out from the land of the Chaldeans and lived in Haran. And after his father died, God removed him from there into this land in which you are now living. 5 † Yet he gave him no inheritance in it, not even a foot's length, but promised to give it to him as a possession and to his offspring after him, though he had no child. 6 † And God spoke to this effect—that his offspring would be sojourners in a land belonging to others, who would enslave them and afflict them four hundred years. 7 † ‘But I will judge the nation that they serve,’ said God, ‘and after that they shall come out and worship me in this place.’ 8 † And he gave him the covenant of circumcision. And so Abraham became the father of Isaac, and circumcised him on the eighth day, and Isaac became the father of Jacob, and Jacob of the twelve patriarchs.

9 † “And the patriarchs, jealous of Joseph, sold him into Egypt; but God was with him 10 † and rescued him out of all his afflictions and gave him favor and wisdom before Pharaoh, king of Egypt, who made him ruler over Egypt and over all his household. 11 † Now there came a famine throughout all Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction, and our fathers could find no food. 12 † But when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent out our fathers on their first visit. 13 † And on the second visit Joseph made himself known to his brothers, and Joseph's family became known to Pharaoh. 14 † And Joseph sent and summoned Jacob his father and all his kindred, seventy-five persons in all. 15 † And Jacob went down into Egypt, and he died, he and our fathers, 16 † and they were carried back to Shechem and laid in the tomb that Abraham had bought for a sum of silver from the sons of Hamor in Shechem.

17 † “But as the time of the promise drew near, which God had granted to Abraham, the people increased and multiplied in Egypt 18 † until there arose over Egypt another king who did not know Joseph. 19 † He dealt shrewdly with our race and forced our fathers to expose their infants, so that they would not be kept alive. 20 † At this time Moses was born; and he was beautiful in God's sight. And he was brought up for three months in his father's house, 21 † and when he was exposed, Pharaoh's daughter adopted him and brought him up as her own son. 22 † And

Moses was instructed in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and he was mighty in his words and deeds.

<sup>23</sup>†“When he was forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brothers, the children of Israel. <sup>24</sup>And seeing one of them being wronged, he defended the oppressed man and avenged him by striking down the Egyptian. <sup>25</sup>He supposed that his brothers would understand that God was giving them salvation by his hand, but they did not understand. <sup>26</sup>And on the following day he appeared to them as they were quarreling and tried to reconcile them, saying, ‘Men, you are brothers. Why do you wrong each other?’ <sup>27</sup>†But the man who was wronging his neighbor thrust him aside, saying, ‘Who made you a ruler and a judge over us? <sup>28</sup>Do you want to kill me as you killed the Egyptian yesterday?’ <sup>29</sup>†At this retort Moses fled and became an exile in the land of Midian, where he became the father of two sons.

<sup>30</sup>†“Now when forty years had passed, an angel appeared to him in the wilderness of Mount Sinai, in a flame of fire in a bush. <sup>31</sup>When Moses saw it, he was amazed at the sight, and as he drew near to look, there came the voice of the Lord: <sup>32</sup>†‘I am the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham and of Isaac and of Jacob.’ And Moses trembled and did not dare to look. <sup>33</sup>†Then the Lord said to him, ‘Take off the sandals from your feet, for the place where you are standing is holy ground. <sup>34</sup>†I have surely seen the affliction of my people who are in Egypt, and have heard their groaning, and I have come down to deliver them. And now come, I will send you to Egypt.’

<sup>35</sup>†“This Moses, whom they rejected, saying, ‘Who made you a ruler and a judge?’—this man God sent as both ruler and redeemer by the hand of the angel who appeared to him in the bush. <sup>36</sup>†This man led them out, performing wonders and signs in Egypt and at the Red Sea and in the wilderness for forty years. <sup>37</sup>†This is the Moses who said to the Israelites, ‘God will raise up for you a prophet like me from your brothers.’ <sup>38</sup>†This is the one who was in the congregation in the wilderness with the angel who spoke to him at Mount Sinai, and with our fathers. He received living oracles to give to us. <sup>39</sup>†Our fathers refused to obey him, but thrust him aside, and in their hearts they turned to Egypt, <sup>40</sup>†saying to Aaron, ‘Make for us gods who will go before us. As for this Moses who led us out from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.’ <sup>41</sup>†And they made a calf in those days, and offered a sacrifice to the idol and were rejoicing in the works of their hands. <sup>42</sup>†But God turned away and gave them over to worship the host of heaven, as it is written in the book of the prophets: “Did you bring to me slain beasts and sacrifices, during the forty years in the wilderness, O house of Israel?”

<sup>43</sup>† You took up the tent of Moloch and the star of your god Rephan, the images that you made to worship; and I will send you into exile beyond Babylon.’

<sup>44</sup>†† “Our fathers had the tent of witness in the wilderness, just as he who spoke to Moses directed him to make it, according to the pattern that he had seen. <sup>45</sup>Our fathers in turn brought it in with Joshua when they dispossessed the nations that God drove out before our fathers. So it was until the days of David, <sup>46</sup>who found favor in the sight of God and asked to find a dwelling place for the God of Jacob. [1] <sup>47</sup>But it was Solomon who built a house for him. <sup>48</sup>† Yet the Most High does not dwell in houses made by hands, as the prophet says, <sup>49</sup>†† “Heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool.

What kind of house will you build for me, says the Lord, or what is the place of my rest?

<sup>50</sup>Did not my hand make all these things?’

<sup>51</sup>†† “You stiff-necked people, uncircumcised in heart and ears, you always resist the Holy Spirit. As your fathers did, so do you. <sup>52</sup>† Which of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? And they killed those who announced beforehand the coming of the Righteous One, whom you have now betrayed and murdered, <sup>53</sup>† you who received the law as delivered by angels and did not keep it.”

The Stoning of Stephen

<sup>54</sup>† Now when they heard these things they were enraged, and they ground their teeth at him. <sup>55</sup>† But he, full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God. <sup>56</sup>† And he said, “Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God.” <sup>57</sup> But they cried out with a loud voice and stopped their ears and rushed together [2] at him. <sup>58</sup>† Then they cast him out of the city and stoned him. And the witnesses laid down their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul. <sup>59</sup>† And as they were stoning Stephen, he called out, “Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.” <sup>60</sup>† And falling to his knees he cried out with a loud voice, “Lord, do not hold this sin against them.” And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

Saul Ravages the Church

ACTS 8 † And Saul approved of his execution.

And there arose on that day a great persecution against the church in Jerusalem, and they were all scattered throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles. <sup>2</sup>† Devout men buried Stephen and made great lamentation over him. <sup>3</sup>† But Saul was ravaging the church, and entering house after house, he dragged off men and women and committed them to prison.

Philip Proclaims Christ in Samaria

<sup>4</sup>† Now those who were scattered went about preaching the word. <sup>5</sup>† Philip went down to the city [\[1\]](#) of Samaria and proclaimed to them the Christ. <sup>6</sup> And the crowds with one accord paid attention to what was being said by Philip when they heard him and saw the signs that he did. <sup>7</sup>† For unclean spirits, crying out with a loud voice, came out of many who had them, and many who were paralyzed or lame were healed. <sup>8</sup> So there was much joy in that city.

Simon the Magician Believes

<sup>9</sup>† But there was a man named Simon, who had previously practiced magic in the city and amazed the people of Samaria, saying that he himself was somebody great. <sup>10</sup>† They all paid attention to him, from the least to the greatest, saying, “This man is the power of God that is called Great.” <sup>11</sup> And they paid attention to him because for a long time he had amazed them with his magic. <sup>12</sup> But when they believed Philip as he preached good news about the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women. <sup>13</sup>† Even Simon himself believed, and after being baptized he continued with Philip. And seeing signs and great miracles [\[2\]](#) performed, he was amazed.

<sup>14</sup> Now when the apostles at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent to them Peter and John, <sup>15</sup>† who came down and prayed for them that they might receive the Holy Spirit, <sup>16</sup>† for he had not yet fallen on any of them, but they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>17</sup>† Then they laid their hands on them and they received the Holy Spirit. <sup>18</sup> Now when Simon saw that the Spirit was given through the laying on of the apostles' hands, he offered them money, <sup>19</sup> saying, “Give me this power also, so that anyone on whom I lay my hands may receive the Holy Spirit.”<sup>20</sup> But Peter said to him, “May your silver perish with you, because you thought you could obtain the gift of God with money!<sup>21</sup> You have neither part nor lot in this matter, for your heart is not right before God.<sup>22</sup> Repent, therefore, of this wickedness of yours, and pray to the Lord that, if possible, the intent of your heart may be forgiven you.<sup>23</sup> For I see that you are in the gall [3] of bitterness and in the bond of iniquity.”<sup>24</sup> And Simon answered, “Pray for me to the Lord, that nothing of what you have said may come upon me.”

<sup>25</sup> Now when they had testified and spoken the word of the Lord, they returned to Jerusalem, preaching the gospel to many villages of the Samaritans.

Philip and the Ethiopian Eunuch

<sup>26</sup> Now an angel of the Lord said to Philip, “Rise and go toward the south [4] to the road that goes down from Jerusalem to Gaza.” This is a desert place.<sup>27</sup> And he rose and went. And there was an Ethiopian, a eunuch, a court official of Candace, queen of the Ethiopians, who was in charge of all her treasure. He had come to Jerusalem to worship<sup>28</sup> and was returning, seated in his chariot, and he was reading the prophet Isaiah.<sup>29</sup> And the Spirit said to Philip, “Go over and join this chariot.”<sup>30</sup> So Philip ran to him and heard him reading Isaiah the prophet and asked, “Do you understand what you are reading?”<sup>31</sup> And he said, “How can I, unless someone guides me?” And he invited Philip to come up and sit with him.<sup>32</sup> Now the passage of the Scripture that he was reading was this: “Like a sheep he was led to the slaughter and like a lamb before its shearer is silent, so he opens not his mouth.

<sup>33</sup> In his humiliation justice was denied him.

Who can describe his generation?

For his life is taken away from the earth.”

<sup>34</sup> And the eunuch said to Philip, “About whom, I ask you, does the prophet say this, about himself or about someone else?”<sup>35</sup> Then Philip opened his mouth, and beginning with this Scripture he told him the good news about Jesus.<sup>36</sup> And as they were going along the road they came to some water, and the eunuch said, “See, here is water! What prevents me from being baptized?” [5]<sup>38</sup> And he commanded the chariot to stop, and they both went down into the water, Philip and the eunuch, and he baptized him.<sup>39</sup> And when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord carried Philip away, and the eunuch saw him no more, and went on his way rejoicing. <sup>40</sup>†But Philip found himself at Azotus, and as he passed through he preached the gospel to all the towns until he came to Caesarea.

The Conversion of Saul

ACTS 9 †But Saul, still breathing threats and murder against the disciples of the Lord, went to the high priest †and asked him for letters to the synagogues at Damascus, so that if he found any belonging to the Way, men or women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem. ††Now as he went on his way, he approached Damascus, and suddenly a light from heaven flashed around him. †And falling to the ground he heard a voice saying to him, “Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?” †And he said, “Who are you, Lord?” And he said, “I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting. †But rise and enter the city, and you will be told what you are to do.” †The men who were traveling with him stood speechless, hearing the voice but seeing no one. †Saul rose from the ground, and although his eyes were opened, he saw nothing. So they led him by the hand and brought him into Damascus. †And for three days he was without sight, and neither ate nor drank.

†Now there was a disciple at Damascus named Ananias. The Lord said to him in a vision, “Ananias.” And he said, “Here I am, Lord.” †And the Lord said to him, “Rise and go to the street called Straight, and at the house of Judas look for a man of Tarsus named Saul, for behold, he is praying, †and he has seen in a vision a man named Ananias come in and lay his hands on him so that he might regain his sight.” †But Ananias answered, “Lord, I have heard from many about this man, how much evil he has done to your saints at Jerusalem. †And here he has authority from the chief priests to bind all who call on your name.” †But the Lord said to him, “Go, for he is a chosen instrument of mine to carry my name before the Gentiles and kings and the children of Israel. †For I will show him how much he must suffer for the sake of my name.” †So Ananias departed and entered the house. And laying his hands on him he said, “Brother Saul, the Lord Jesus who appeared to you on the road by which you came has sent me so that you may regain your sight and be filled with the Holy Spirit.” †And immediately something like scales fell from his eyes, and he regained his sight. Then he rose and was baptized; †and taking food, he was strengthened.

Saul Proclaims Jesus in Synagogues

For some days he was with the disciples at Damascus. †And immediately he proclaimed Jesus in the synagogues, saying, “He is the Son of God.” †And all who heard him were amazed and said, “Is not this the man who made havoc in Jerusalem of those who called upon this name? And has he not come here for this purpose, to bring them bound before the chief priests?” <sup>22</sup>But Saul increased all the more in strength, and confounded the Jews who lived in Damascus by proving that Jesus was the Christ.

Saul Escapes from Damascus

<sup>23</sup>†When many days had passed, the Jews plotted to kill him, <sup>24</sup>†but their plot became known to Saul. They were watching the gates day and night in order to kill him, <sup>25</sup>†but his disciples took him by night and let him down through an opening in the wall, [1] lowering him in a basket.

Saul in Jerusalem

<sup>26</sup>And when he had come to Jerusalem, he attempted to join the disciples. And they were all afraid of him, for they did not believe that he was a disciple. <sup>27</sup>†But Barnabas took him and brought him to the apostles and declared to them how on the road he had seen the Lord, who spoke to him, and how at Damascus he had preached boldly in the name of Jesus. <sup>28</sup>So he went in and out among them at Jerusalem, preaching boldly in the name of the Lord. <sup>29</sup>†And he spoke and disputed against the Hellenists. [2] But they were seeking to kill him. <sup>30</sup>†And when the brothers learned this, they brought him down to Caesarea and sent him off to Tarsus.

<sup>31</sup>†So the church throughout all Judea and Galilee and Samaria had peace and was being built up. And walking in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit, it multiplied.

The Healing of Aeneas

<sup>32</sup>†Now as Peter went here and there among them all, he came down also to the saints who lived at Lydda. <sup>33</sup>†There he found a man named Aeneas, bedridden for eight years, who was paralyzed. <sup>34</sup>And Peter said to him, “Aeneas, Jesus Christ heals you; rise and make your bed.” And immediately he rose. <sup>35</sup>†And all the residents of Lydda and Sharon saw him, and they turned to the Lord.

Dorcas Restored to Life

<sup>36</sup>†Now there was in Joppa a disciple named Tabitha, which, translated, means

Dorcas. [3] She was full of good works and acts of charity. <sup>37</sup>† In those days she became ill and died, and when they had washed her, they laid her in an upper room. <sup>38</sup>† Since Lydda was near Joppa, the disciples, hearing that Peter was there, sent two men to him, urging him, “Please come to us without delay.” <sup>39</sup>† So Peter rose and went with them. And when he arrived, they took him to the upper room. All the widows stood beside him weeping and showing tunics [4] and other garments that Dorcas made while she was with them. <sup>40</sup> But Peter put them all outside, and knelt down and prayed; and turning to the body he said, “Tabitha, arise.” And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter she sat up. <sup>41</sup> And he gave her his hand and raised her up. Then calling the saints and widows, he presented her alive. <sup>42</sup> And it became known throughout all Joppa, and many believed in the Lord. <sup>43</sup>† And he stayed in Joppa for many days with one Simon, a tanner.

Peter and Cornelius

ACTS 10 †At Caesarea there was a man named Cornelius, a centurion of what was known as the Italian Cohort, †a devout man who feared God with all his household, gave alms generously to the people, and prayed continually to God. †About the ninth hour of the day [1] he saw clearly in a vision an angel of God come in and say to him, “Cornelius.” †And he stared at him in terror and said, “What is it, Lord?” And he said to him, “Your prayers and your alms have ascended as a memorial before God. †And now send men to Joppa and bring one Simon who is called Peter. †He is lodging with one Simon, a tanner, whose house is by the sea.” †When the angel who spoke to him had departed, he called two of his servants and a devout soldier from among those who attended him, †and having related everything to them, he sent them to Joppa.

Peter's Vision

†The next day, as they were on their journey and approaching the city, Peter went up on the housetop about the sixth hour [2] to pray. †And he became hungry and wanted something to eat, but while they were preparing it, he fell into a trance †and saw the heavens opened and something like a great sheet descending, being let down by its four corners upon the earth. †In it were all kinds of animals and reptiles and birds of the air. †And there came a voice to him: “Rise, Peter; kill and eat.” †But Peter said, “By no means, Lord; for I have never eaten anything that is common or unclean.” †And the voice came to him again a second time, “What God has made clean, do not call common.” †This happened three times, and the thing was taken up at once to heaven.

†Now while Peter was inwardly perplexed as to what the vision that he had seen might mean, behold, the men who were sent by Cornelius, having made inquiry for Simon's house, stood at the gate †and called out to ask whether Simon who was called Peter was lodging there. †And while Peter was pondering the vision, the Spirit said to him, “Behold, three men are looking for you. †Rise and go down and accompany them without hesitation, for I have sent them.” †And Peter went down to the men and said, “I am the one you are looking for. What is the reason for your coming?” †And they said, “Cornelius, a centurion, an upright and God-fearing man, who is well spoken of by the whole Jewish nation, was directed by a holy angel to send for you to come to his house and to hear what you have to say.” †So he invited them in to be his guests.

The next day he rose and went away with them, and some of the brothers from Joppa accompanied him. <sup>24</sup>And on the following day they entered Caesarea. Cornelius was expecting them and had called together his relatives and close friends. <sup>25</sup>When Peter entered, Cornelius met him and fell down at his feet and worshiped him. <sup>26</sup>†But Peter lifted him up, saying, “Stand up; I too am a man.” <sup>27</sup>And as he talked with him, he went in and found many persons gathered. <sup>28</sup>†And he said to them, “You yourselves know how unlawful it is for a Jew to associate with or to visit anyone of another nation, but God has shown me that I should not call any person common or unclean. <sup>29</sup>So when I was sent for, I came without objection. I ask then why you sent for me.”

<sup>30</sup>And Cornelius said, “Four days ago, about this hour, I was praying in my house at the ninth hour, [3] and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing <sup>31</sup>and said, ‘Cornelius, your prayer has been heard and your alms have been remembered before God. <sup>32</sup>Send therefore to Joppa and ask for Simon who is called Peter. He is lodging in the house of Simon, a tanner, by the sea.’ <sup>33</sup>So I sent for you at once, and you have been kind enough to come. Now therefore we are all here in the presence of God to hear all that you have been commanded by the Lord.”

Gentiles Hear the Good News

<sup>34</sup>†So Peter opened his mouth and said: “Truly I understand that God shows no partiality, <sup>35</sup>†but in every nation anyone who fears him and does what is right is acceptable to him. <sup>36</sup>†As for the word that he sent to Israel, preaching good news of peace through Jesus Christ (he is Lord of all), <sup>37</sup>†you yourselves know what happened throughout all Judea, beginning from Galilee after the baptism that John proclaimed: <sup>38</sup>†how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power. He went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with him. <sup>39</sup>And we are witnesses of all that he did both in the country of the Jews and in Jerusalem. They put him to death by hanging him on a tree, <sup>40</sup>but God raised him on the third day and made him to appear, <sup>41</sup>†not to all the people but to us who had been chosen by God as witnesses, who ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead. <sup>42</sup>And he commanded us to preach to the people and to testify that he is the one appointed by God to be judge of the living and the dead. <sup>43</sup>†To him all the prophets bear witness that everyone who believes in him receives forgiveness of sins through his name.”

The Holy Spirit Falls on the Gentiles

<sup>44</sup>‡While Peter was still saying these things, the Holy Spirit fell on all who heard the word. <sup>45</sup>‡And the believers from among the circumcised who had come with Peter were amazed, because the gift of the Holy Spirit was poured out even on the Gentiles. <sup>46</sup>‡For they were hearing them speaking in tongues and extolling God. Then Peter declared, <sup>47</sup>“Can anyone withhold water for baptizing these people, who have received the Holy Spirit just as we have?” <sup>48</sup>And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. Then they asked him to remain for some days.

Peter Reports to the Church

ACTS 11 Now the apostles and the brothers [1] who were throughout Judea heard that the Gentiles also had received the word of God. <sup>2</sup>So when Peter went up to Jerusalem, the circumcision party criticized him, saying, <sup>3</sup>†“You went to uncircumcised men and ate with them.” <sup>4</sup>†But Peter began and explained it to them in order: <sup>5</sup>“I was in the city of Joppa praying, and in a trance I saw a vision, something like a great sheet descending, being let down from heaven by its four corners, and it came down to me. <sup>6</sup>Looking at it closely, I observed animals and beasts of prey and reptiles and birds of the air. <sup>7</sup>And I heard a voice saying to me, ‘Rise, Peter; kill and eat.’ <sup>8</sup>But I said, ‘By no means, Lord; for nothing common or unclean has ever entered my mouth.’ <sup>9</sup>But the voice answered a second time from heaven, ‘What God has made clean, do not call common.’ <sup>10</sup>This happened three times, and all was drawn up again into heaven. <sup>11</sup>And behold, at that very moment three men arrived at the house in which we were, sent to me from Caesarea. <sup>12</sup>And the Spirit told me to go with them, making no distinction. These six brothers also accompanied me, and we entered the man's house. <sup>13</sup>And he told us how he had seen the angel stand in his house and say, ‘Send to Joppa and bring Simon who is called Peter; <sup>14</sup>†he will declare to you a message by which you will be saved, you and all your household.’ <sup>15</sup>†As I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell on them just as on us at the beginning. <sup>16</sup>†And I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, ‘John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit.’ <sup>17</sup>If then God gave the same gift to them as he gave to us when we believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I that I could stand in God's way?” <sup>18</sup>†When they heard these things they fell silent. And they glorified God, saying, “Then to the Gentiles also God has granted repentance that leads to life.”

The Church in Antioch

<sup>19</sup>†Now those who were scattered because of the persecution that arose over Stephen traveled as far as Phoenicia and Cyprus and Antioch, speaking the word to no one except Jews. <sup>20</sup>†But there were some of them, men of Cyprus and Cyrene, who on coming to Antioch spoke to the Hellenists [2] also, preaching the Lord Jesus. <sup>21</sup>†And the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number who believed turned to the Lord. <sup>22</sup>†The report of this came to the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and they sent Barnabas to Antioch. <sup>23</sup>When he came and saw the grace of God, he was glad, and he exhorted them all to remain faithful to the Lord with steadfast purpose, <sup>24</sup>for he was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith. And a great many people were added to the Lord. <sup>25</sup>† So Barnabas went to Tarsus to look for Saul, <sup>26</sup>† and when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch. For a whole year they met with the church and taught a great many people. And in Antioch the disciples were first called Christians.

<sup>27</sup>† Now in these days prophets came down from Jerusalem to Antioch. <sup>28</sup>† And one of them named Agabus stood up and foretold by the Spirit that there would be a great famine over all the world (this took place in the days of Claudius). <sup>29</sup> So the disciples determined, everyone according to his ability, to send relief to the brothers [3] living in Judea. <sup>30</sup>† And they did so, sending it to the elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

James Killed and Peter Imprisoned

ACTS 12 †About that time Herod the king laid violent hands on some who belonged to the church. †He killed James the brother of John with the sword, †and when he saw that it pleased the Jews, he proceeded to arrest Peter also. This was during the days of Unleavened Bread. †And when he had seized him, he put him in prison, delivering him over to four squads of soldiers to guard him, intending after the Passover to bring him out to the people. †So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer for him was made to God by the church.

Peter Is Rescued

†Now when Herod was about to bring him out, on that very night, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and sentries before the door were guarding the prison. †And behold, an angel of the Lord stood next to him, and a light shone in the cell. He struck Peter on the side and woke him, saying, “Get up quickly.” And the chains fell off his hands. †And the angel said to him, “Dress yourself and put on your sandals.” And he did so. And he said to him, “Wrap your cloak around you and follow me.” †And he went out and followed him. He did not know that what was being done by the angel was real, but thought he was seeing a vision. †When they had passed the first and the second guard, they came to the iron gate leading into the city. It opened for them of its own accord, and they went out and went along one street, and immediately the angel left him. †When Peter came to himself, he said, “Now I am sure that the Lord has sent his angel and rescued me from the hand of Herod and from all that the Jewish people were expecting.”

†When he realized this, he went to the house of Mary, the mother of John whose other name was Mark, where many were gathered together and were praying. †And when he knocked at the door of the gateway, a servant girl named Rhoda came to answer. †Recognizing Peter's voice, in her joy she did not open the gate but ran in and reported that Peter was standing at the gate. †They said to her, “You are out of your mind.” But she kept insisting that it was so, and they kept saying, “It is his angel!” †But Peter continued knocking, and when they opened, they saw him and were amazed. †But motioning to them with his hand to be silent, he described to them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, “Tell these things to James and to the brothers.” [1] Then he departed and went to another place.

<sup>18</sup>Now when day came, there was no little disturbance among the soldiers over what had become of Peter. <sup>19</sup>†And after Herod searched for him and did not find him, he examined the sentries and ordered that they should be put to death. Then he went down from Judea to Caesarea and spent time there.

The Death of Herod

<sup>20</sup>†Now Herod was angry with the people of Tyre and Sidon, and they came to him with one accord, and having persuaded Blastus, the king's chamberlain, they asked for peace, because their country depended on the king's country for food. <sup>21</sup>†On an appointed day Herod put on his royal robes, took his seat upon the throne, and delivered an oration to them. <sup>22</sup>And the people were shouting, "The voice of a god, and not of a man!" <sup>23</sup>†Immediately an angel of the Lord struck him down, because he did not give God the glory, and he was eaten by worms and breathed his last.

<sup>25</sup>†And Barnabas and Saul returned from [\[2\]](#) Jerusalem when they had completed their service, bringing with them John, whose other name was Mark.

Barnabas and Saul Sent Off

ACTS 13 †Now there were in the church at Antioch prophets and teachers, Barnabas, Simeon who was called Niger, [1] Lucius of Cyrene, Manaen a member of the court of Herod the tetrarch, and Saul. †While they were worshiping the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, “Set apart for me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.” †Then after fasting and praying they laid their hands on them and sent them off.

Barnabas and Saul on Cyprus

†So, being sent out by the Holy Spirit, they went down to Seleucia, and from there they sailed to Cyprus. †When they arrived at Salamis, they proclaimed the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews. And they had John to assist them. †When they had gone through the whole island as far as Paphos, they came upon a certain magician, a Jewish false prophet named Bar-Jesus. †He was with the proconsul, Sergius Paulus, a man of intelligence, who summoned Barnabas and Saul and sought to hear the word of God. †But Elymas the magician (for that is the meaning of his name) opposed them, seeking to turn the proconsul away from the faith. †But Saul, who was also called Paul, filled with the Holy Spirit, looked intently at him †and said, “You son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, full of all deceit and villainy, will you not stop making crooked the straight paths of the Lord? †And now, behold, the hand of the Lord is upon you, and you will be blind and unable to see the sun for a time.” Immediately mist and darkness fell upon him, and he went about seeking people to lead him by the hand. †Then the proconsul believed, when he saw what had occurred, for he was astonished at the teaching of the Lord.

Paul and Barnabas at Antioch in Pisidia

†Now Paul and his companions set sail from Paphos and came to Perga in Pamphylia. And John left them and returned to Jerusalem, †but they went on from Perga and came to Antioch in Pisidia. And on the Sabbath day they went into the synagogue and sat down. †After the reading from the Law and the Prophets, the rulers of the synagogue sent a message to them, saying, “Brothers, if you have any word of encouragement for the people, say it.” †So Paul stood up, and motioning with his hand said: “Men of Israel and you who fear God, listen. †The God of this people Israel chose our fathers and made the people great during their stay in the land of Egypt, and with uplifted arm he led them out of it. <sup>18</sup>And for about forty years he put up with [2] them in the wilderness. <sup>19</sup>†And after destroying seven nations in the land of Canaan, he gave them their land as an inheritance. <sup>20</sup>†All this took about 450 years. And after that he gave them judges until Samuel the prophet. <sup>21</sup>†Then they asked for a king, and God gave them Saul the son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, for forty years. <sup>22</sup>†And when he had removed him, he raised up David to be their king, of whom he testified and said, ‘I have found in David the son of Jesse a man after my heart, who will do all my will.’ <sup>23</sup>†Of this man's offspring God has brought to Israel a Savior, Jesus, as he promised. <sup>24</sup>†Before his coming, John had proclaimed a baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel. <sup>25</sup>And as John was finishing his course, he said, ‘What do you suppose that I am? I am not he. No, but behold, after me one is coming, the sandals of whose feet I am not worthy to untie.’

<sup>26</sup>†“Brothers, sons of the family of Abraham, and those among you who fear God, to us has been sent the message of this salvation. <sup>27</sup>†For those who live in Jerusalem and their rulers, because they did not recognize him nor understand the utterances of the prophets, which are read every Sabbath, fulfilled them by condemning him. <sup>28</sup>†And though they found in him no guilt worthy of death, they asked Pilate to have him executed. <sup>29</sup>†And when they had carried out all that was written of him, they took him down from the tree and laid him in a tomb. <sup>30</sup>But God raised him from the dead, <sup>31</sup>†and for many days he appeared to those who had come up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are now his witnesses to the people. <sup>32</sup>And we bring you the good news that what God promised to the fathers, <sup>33</sup>†this he has fulfilled to us their children by raising Jesus, as also it is written in the second Psalm, “‘You are my Son, today I have begotten you.’

<sup>34</sup>†And as for the fact that he raised him from the dead, no more to return to corruption, he has spoken in this way, “‘I will give you the holy and sure blessings of David.’

<sup>35</sup>†Therefore he says also in another psalm, “‘You will not let your Holy One see corruption.’

<sup>36</sup>For David, after he had served the purpose of God in his own generation, fell asleep and was laid with his fathers and saw corruption, <sup>37</sup>but he whom God raised up did not see corruption. <sup>38</sup>Let it be known to you therefore, brothers, that through this man forgiveness of sins is proclaimed to you, <sup>39</sup>† and by him everyone who believes is freed [3] from everything from which you could not be freed by the law of Moses. <sup>40</sup> Beware, therefore, lest what is said in the Prophets should come about: <sup>41</sup>† “Look, you scoffers, be astounded and perish; for I am doing a work in your days, a work that you will not believe, even if one tells it to you.”

<sup>42</sup> As they went out, the people begged that these things might be told them the next Sabbath. <sup>43</sup>† And after the meeting of the synagogue broke up, many Jews and devout converts to Judaism followed Paul and Barnabas, who, as they spoke with them, urged them to continue in the grace of God.

<sup>44</sup> The next Sabbath almost the whole city gathered to hear the word of the Lord. <sup>45</sup> But when the Jews saw the crowds, they were filled with jealousy and began to contradict what was spoken by Paul, reviling him. <sup>46</sup>† And Paul and Barnabas spoke out boldly, saying, “It was necessary that the word of God be spoken first to you. Since you thrust it aside and judge yourselves unworthy of eternal life, behold, we are turning to the Gentiles. <sup>47</sup>† For so the Lord has commanded us, saying, “I have made you a light for the Gentiles, that you may bring salvation to the ends of the earth.”

<sup>48</sup>† And when the Gentiles heard this, they began rejoicing and glorifying the word of the Lord, and as many as were appointed to eternal life believed. <sup>49</sup> And the word of the Lord was spreading throughout the whole region. <sup>50</sup> But the Jews incited the devout women of high standing and the leading men of the city, stirred up persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and drove them out of their district. <sup>51</sup>† But they shook off the dust from their feet against them and went to Iconium. <sup>52</sup>† And the disciples were filled with joy and with the Holy Spirit.

Paul and Barnabas at Iconium

ACTS 14 †Now at Iconium they entered together into the Jewish synagogue and spoke in such a way that a great number of both Jews and Greeks believed. <sup>2</sup>But the unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles and poisoned their minds against the brothers. [1] <sup>3</sup>†So they remained for a long time, speaking boldly for the Lord, who bore witness to the word of his grace, granting signs and wonders to be done by their hands. <sup>4</sup>†But the people of the city were divided; some sided with the Jews and some with the apostles. <sup>5</sup>†When an attempt was made by both Gentiles and Jews, with their rulers, to mistreat them and to stone them, <sup>6</sup>†they learned of it and fled to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and to the surrounding country, <sup>7</sup>and there they continued to preach the gospel.

Paul and Barnabas at Lystra

<sup>8</sup>Now at Lystra there was a man sitting who could not use his feet. He was crippled from birth and had never walked. <sup>9</sup>He listened to Paul speaking. And Paul, looking intently at him and seeing that he had faith to be made well, [2] <sup>10</sup>said in a loud voice, “Stand upright on your feet.” And he sprang up and began walking. <sup>11</sup>††And when the crowds saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices, saying in Lycaonian, “The gods have come down to us in the likeness of men!” <sup>12</sup>Barnabas they called Zeus, and Paul, Hermes, because he was the chief speaker. <sup>13</sup>†And the priest of Zeus, whose temple was at the entrance to the city, brought oxen and garlands to the gates and wanted to offer sacrifice with the crowds. <sup>14</sup>†But when the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard of it, they tore their garments and rushed out into the crowd, crying out, <sup>15</sup>††“Men, why are you doing these things? We also are men, of like nature with you, and we bring you good news, that you should turn from these vain things to a living God, who made the heaven and the earth and the sea and all that is in them. <sup>16</sup>†In past generations he allowed all the nations to walk in their own ways. <sup>17</sup>†Yet he did not leave himself without witness, for he did good by giving you rains from heaven and fruitful seasons, satisfying your hearts with food and gladness.” <sup>18</sup>Even with these words they scarcely restrained the people from offering sacrifice to them.

Paul Stoned at Lystra

<sup>19</sup>†But Jews came from Antioch and Iconium, and having persuaded the crowds, they stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, supposing that he was dead. <sup>20</sup>†But when the disciples gathered about him, he rose up and entered the city, and on the next day he went on with Barnabas to Derbe. <sup>21</sup>When they had preached the gospel to that city and had made many disciples, they returned to Lystra and to Iconium and to Antioch, <sup>22</sup>†strengthening the souls of the disciples, encouraging them to continue in the faith, and saying that through many tribulations we must enter the kingdom of God. <sup>23</sup>†And when they had appointed elders for them in every church, with prayer and fasting they committed them to the Lord in whom they had believed.

Paul and Barnabas Return to Antioch in Syria

<sup>24</sup>†Then they passed through Pisidia and came to Pamphylia. <sup>25</sup>†And when they had spoken the word in Perga, they went down to Attalia, <sup>26</sup>†and from there they sailed to Antioch, where they had been commended to the grace of God for the work that they had fulfilled. <sup>27</sup>And when they arrived and gathered the church together, they declared all that God had done with them, and how he had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles. <sup>28</sup>†And they remained no little time with the disciples.

The Jerusalem Council

ACTS 15 ††But some men came down from Judea and were teaching the brothers, “Unless you are circumcised according to the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved.”<sup>2</sup> †And after Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and debate with them, Paul and Barnabas and some of the others were appointed to go up to Jerusalem to the apostles and the elders about this question.<sup>3</sup> So, being sent on their way by the church, they passed through both Phoenicia and Samaria, describing in detail the conversion of the Gentiles, and brought great joy to all the brothers. [1] †When they came to Jerusalem, they were welcomed by the church and the apostles and the elders, and they declared all that God had done with them.<sup>5</sup> But some believers who belonged to the party of the Pharisees rose up and said, “It is necessary to circumcise them and to order them to keep the law of Moses.”

<sup>6</sup>The apostles and the elders were gathered together to consider this matter.
<sup>7</sup>†And after there had been much debate, Peter stood up and said to them, “Brothers, you know that in the early days God made a choice among you, that by my mouth the Gentiles should hear the word of the gospel and believe.<sup>8</sup> †And God, who knows the heart, bore witness to them, by giving them the Holy Spirit just as he did to us,<sup>9</sup> and he made no distinction between us and them, having cleansed their hearts by faith.<sup>10</sup> †Now, therefore, why are you putting God to the test by placing a yoke on the neck of the disciples that neither our fathers nor we have been able to bear?<sup>11</sup> †But we believe that we will be saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus, just as they will.”

<sup>12</sup>†And all the assembly fell silent, and they listened to Barnabas and Paul as they related what signs and wonders God had done through them among the Gentiles.<sup>13</sup> †After they finished speaking, James replied, “Brothers, listen to me.<sup>14</sup> †Simeon has related how God first visited the Gentiles, to take from them a people for his name.<sup>15</sup> †And with this the words of the prophets agree, just as it is written,<sup>16</sup> “After this I will return, and I will rebuild the tent of David that has fallen; I will rebuild its ruins, and I will restore it,<sup>17</sup> †that the remnant [2] of mankind may seek the Lord, and all the Gentiles who are called by my name, says the Lord, who makes these things<sup>18</sup> known from of old.’

<sup>19</sup>†Therefore my judgment is that we should not trouble those of the Gentiles who turn to God,<sup>20</sup> †but should write to them to abstain from the things polluted by idols, and from sexual immorality, and from what has been strangled, and from blood. <sup>21</sup>For from ancient generations Moses has had in every city those who proclaim him, for he is read every Sabbath in the synagogues.”

The Council's Letter to Gentile Believers

<sup>22</sup>†Then it seemed good to the apostles and the elders, with the whole church, to choose men from among them and send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas. They sent Judas called Barsabbas, and Silas, leading men among the brothers, <sup>23</sup>†with the following letter: “The brothers, both the apostles and the elders, to the brothers [3] who are of the Gentiles in Antioch and Syria and Cilicia, greetings. <sup>24</sup>†Since we have heard that some persons have gone out from us and troubled you [4] with words, unsettling your minds, although we gave them no instructions, <sup>25</sup>it has seemed good to us, having come to one accord, to choose men and send them to you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul, <sup>26</sup>†men who have risked their lives for the sake of our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>27</sup>We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, who themselves will tell you the same things by word of mouth. <sup>28</sup>For it has seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us to lay on you no greater burden than these requirements: <sup>29</sup>†that you abstain from what has been sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from what has been strangled, and from sexual immorality. If you keep yourselves from these, you will do well. Farewell.”

<sup>30</sup>So when they were sent off, they went down to Antioch, and having gathered the congregation together, they delivered the letter. <sup>31</sup>And when they had read it, they rejoiced because of its encouragement. <sup>32</sup>And Judas and Silas, who were themselves prophets, encouraged and strengthened the brothers with many words. <sup>33</sup>And after they had spent some time, they were sent off in peace by the brothers to those who had sent them. [5] <sup>35</sup>But Paul and Barnabas remained in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with many others also.

Paul and Barnabas Separate

<sup>36</sup>†And after some days Paul said to Barnabas, “Let us return and visit the brothers in every city where we proclaimed the word of the Lord, and see how they are.” <sup>37</sup>†Now Barnabas wanted to take with them John called Mark. <sup>38</sup>But Paul thought best not to take with them one who had withdrawn from them in Pamphylia and had not gone with them to the work. <sup>39</sup>†And there arose a sharp disagreement, so that they separated from each other. Barnabas took Mark with him and sailed away to Cyprus, <sup>40</sup>†but Paul chose Silas and departed, having been commended by the brothers to the grace of the Lord. <sup>41</sup>†And he went through Syria and Cilicia, strengthening the churches.

Timothy Joins Paul and Silas

ACTS 16 †Paul [1] came also to Derbe and to Lystra. A disciple was there, named Timothy, the son of a Jewish woman who was a believer, but his father was a Greek. <sup>2</sup>He was well spoken of by the brothers [2] at Lystra and Iconium. <sup>3</sup>†Paul wanted Timothy to accompany him, and he took him and circumcised him because of the Jews who were in those places, for they all knew that his father was a Greek. <sup>4</sup>†As they went on their way through the cities, they delivered to them for observance the decisions that had been reached by the apostles and elders who were in Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup>So the churches were strengthened in the faith, and they increased in numbers daily.

The Macedonian Call

<sup>6</sup>†And they went through the region of Phrygia and Galatia, having been forbidden by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia. <sup>7</sup>†And when they had come up to Mysia, they attempted to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit of Jesus did not allow them. <sup>8</sup>†So, passing by Mysia, they went down to Troas. <sup>9</sup>††And a vision appeared to Paul in the night: a man of Macedonia was standing there, urging him and saying, “Come over to Macedonia and help us.” <sup>10</sup>†And when Paul [3] had seen the vision, immediately we sought to go on into Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel to them.

The Conversion of Lydia

<sup>11</sup>†So, setting sail from Troas, we made a direct voyage to Samothrace, and the following day to Neapolis, <sup>12</sup>†and from there to Philippi, which is a leading city of the [4] district of Macedonia and a Roman colony. We remained in this city some days. <sup>13</sup>†And on the Sabbath day we went outside the gate to the riverside, where we supposed there was a place of prayer, and we sat down and spoke to the women who had come together. <sup>14</sup>†One who heard us was a woman named Lydia, from the city of Thyatira, a seller of purple goods, who was a worshiper of God. The Lord opened her heart to pay attention to what was said by Paul. <sup>15</sup>†And after she was baptized, and her household as well, she urged us, saying, “If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come to my house and stay.” And she prevailed upon us.

Paul and Silas in Prison

<sup>16</sup>†As we were going to the place of prayer, we were met by a slave girl who had a spirit of divination and brought her owners much gain by fortune-telling.

<sup>17</sup>†She followed Paul and us, crying out, “These men are servants [5] of the Most High God, who proclaim to you the way of salvation.” <sup>18</sup>†And this she kept doing for many days. Paul, having become greatly annoyed, turned and said to the spirit, “I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her.” And it came out that very hour.

<sup>19</sup>But when her owners saw that their hope of gain was gone, they seized Paul and Silas and dragged them into the marketplace before the rulers. <sup>20</sup>†And when they had brought them to the magistrates, they said, “These men are Jews, and they are disturbing our city. <sup>21</sup>†They advocate customs that are not lawful for us as Romans to accept or practice.” <sup>22</sup>†The crowd joined in attacking them, and the magistrates tore the garments off them and gave orders to beat them with rods. <sup>23</sup>And when they had inflicted many blows upon them, they threw them into prison, ordering the jailer to keep them safely. <sup>24</sup>†Having received this order, he put them into the inner prison and fastened their feet in the stocks.

The Philippian Jailer Converted

<sup>25</sup>About midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the prisoners were listening to them, <sup>26</sup>and suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken. And immediately all the doors were opened, and everyone's bonds were unfastened. <sup>27</sup>†When the jailer woke and saw that the prison doors were open, he drew his sword and was about to kill himself, supposing that the prisoners had escaped. <sup>28</sup>But Paul cried with a loud voice, “Do not harm yourself, for we are all here.” <sup>29</sup>And the jailer [6] called for lights and rushed in, and trembling with fear he fell down before Paul and Silas. <sup>30</sup>Then he brought them out and said, “Sirs, what must I do to be saved?” <sup>31</sup>†And they said, “Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you and your household.” <sup>32</sup>And they spoke the word of the Lord to him and to all who were in his house. <sup>33</sup>And he took them the same hour of the night and washed their wounds; and he was baptized at once, he and all his family. <sup>34</sup>Then he brought them up into his house and set food before them. And he rejoiced along with his entire household that he had believed in God.

<sup>35</sup>But when it was day, the magistrates sent the police, saying, “Let those men go.” <sup>36</sup>And the jailer reported these words to Paul, saying, “The magistrates have sent to let you go. Therefore come out now and go in peace.” <sup>37</sup>†But Paul said to them, “They have beaten us publicly, uncondemned, men who are Roman citizens, and have thrown us into prison; and do they now throw us out secretly? No! Let them come themselves and take us out.” <sup>38</sup>The police reported these words to the magistrates, and they were afraid when they heard that they were Roman citizens. <sup>39</sup>So they came and apologized to them. And they took them out and asked them to leave the city. <sup>40</sup>So they went out of the prison and visited Lydia. And when they had seen the brothers, they encouraged them and departed.

Paul and Silas in Thessalonica

ACTS 17 †Now when they had passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where there was a synagogue of the Jews. <sup>2</sup>†And Paul went in, as was his custom, and on three Sabbath days he reasoned with them from the Scriptures, <sup>3</sup>explaining and proving that it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise from the dead, and saying, “This Jesus, whom I proclaim to you, is the Christ.” <sup>4</sup>And some of them were persuaded and joined Paul and Silas, as did a great many of the devout Greeks and not a few of the leading women. <sup>5</sup>†But the Jews were jealous, and taking some wicked men of the rabble, they formed a mob, set the city in an uproar, and attacked the house of Jason, seeking to bring them out to the crowd. <sup>6</sup>And when they could not find them, they dragged Jason and some of the brothers before the city authorities, shouting, “These men who have turned the world upside down have come here also, <sup>7</sup>†and Jason has received them, and they are all acting against the decrees of Caesar, saying that there is another king, Jesus.” <sup>8</sup>And the people and the city authorities were disturbed when they heard these things. <sup>9</sup>†And when they had taken money as security from Jason and the rest, they let them go.

Paul and Silas in Berea

<sup>10</sup>†The brothers [\[1\]](#) immediately sent Paul and Silas away by night to Berea, and when they arrived they went into the Jewish synagogue. <sup>11</sup>Now these Jews were more noble than those in Thessalonica; they received the word with all eagerness, examining the Scriptures daily to see if these things were so. <sup>12</sup>Many of them therefore believed, with not a few Greek women of high standing as well as men. <sup>13</sup>But when the Jews from Thessalonica learned that the word of God was proclaimed by Paul at Berea also, they came there too, agitating and stirring up the crowds. <sup>14</sup>Then the brothers immediately sent Paul off on his way to the sea, but Silas and Timothy remained there. <sup>15</sup>†Those who conducted Paul brought him as far as Athens, and after receiving a command for Silas and Timothy to come to him as soon as possible, they departed.

Paul in Athens

<sup>16</sup>†Now while Paul was waiting for them at Athens, his spirit was provoked within him as he saw that the city was full of idols. <sup>17</sup>†So he reasoned in the synagogue with the Jews and the devout persons, and in the marketplace every day with those who happened to be there. <sup>18</sup>† Some of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers also conversed with him. And some said, “What does this babbling wish to say?” Others said, “He seems to be a preacher of foreign divinities”—because he was preaching Jesus and the resurrection. <sup>19</sup>† And they took him and brought him to the Areopagus, saying, “May we know what this new teaching is that you are presenting? <sup>20</sup>For you bring some strange things to our ears. We wish to know therefore what these things mean.” <sup>21</sup>Now all the Athenians and the foreigners who lived there would spend their time in nothing except telling or hearing something new.

Paul Addresses the Areopagus

<sup>22</sup>† So Paul, standing in the midst of the Areopagus, said: “Men of Athens, I perceive that in every way you are very religious. <sup>23</sup>† For as I passed along and observed the objects of your worship, I found also an altar with this inscription, ‘To the unknown god.’ What therefore you worship as unknown, this I proclaim to you. <sup>24</sup>† The God who made the world and everything in it, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in temples made by man, [2] <sup>25</sup>nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all mankind life and breath and everything. <sup>26</sup>† And he made from one man every nation of mankind to live on all the face of the earth, having determined allotted periods and the boundaries of their dwelling place, <sup>27</sup>† that they should seek God, in the hope that they might feel their way toward him and find him. Yet he is actually not far from each one of us, <sup>28</sup>† for “‘In him we live and move and have our being’; [3]

as even some of your own poets have said, “‘For we are indeed his offspring.’ [4]

<sup>29</sup>† Being then God's offspring, we ought not to think that the divine being is like gold or silver or stone, an image formed by the art and imagination of man. <sup>30</sup>† The times of ignorance God overlooked, but now he commands all people everywhere to repent, <sup>31</sup>† because he has fixed a day on which he will judge the world in righteousness by a man whom he has appointed; and of this he has given assurance to all by raising him from the dead.”

<sup>32</sup>† Now when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked. But others said, “We will hear you again about this.” <sup>33</sup>So Paul went out from their midst. <sup>34</sup>† But some men joined him and believed, among whom also were Dionysius the Areopagite and a woman named Damaris and others with them.

Paul in Corinth

ACTS 18 †After this Paul [1] left Athens and went to Corinth. <sup>2</sup>†And he found a Jew named Aquila, a native of Pontus, recently come from Italy with his wife Priscilla, because Claudius had commanded all the Jews to leave Rome. And he went to see them, <sup>3</sup>†and because he was of the same trade he stayed with them and worked, for they were tentmakers by trade. <sup>4</sup>†And he reasoned in the synagogue every Sabbath, and tried to persuade Jews and Greeks.

<sup>5</sup>†When Silas and Timothy arrived from Macedonia, Paul was occupied with the word, testifying to the Jews that the Christ was Jesus. <sup>6</sup>†And when they opposed and reviled him, he shook out his garments and said to them, “Your blood be on your own heads! I am innocent. From now on I will go to the Gentiles.” <sup>7</sup>†And he left there and went to the house of a man named Titius Justus, a worshiper of God. His house was next door to the synagogue. <sup>8</sup>†Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed in the Lord, together with his entire household. And many of the Corinthians hearing Paul believed and were baptized. <sup>9</sup>†And the Lord said to Paul one night in a vision, “Do not be afraid, but go on speaking and do not be silent, <sup>10</sup>†for I am with you, and no one will attack you to harm you, for I have many in this city who are my people.” <sup>11</sup>†And he stayed a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.

<sup>12</sup>†But when Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews made a united attack on Paul and brought him before the tribunal, <sup>13</sup>†saying, “This man is persuading people to worship God contrary to the law.” <sup>14</sup>†But when Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, “If it were a matter of wrongdoing or vicious crime, O Jews, I would have reason to accept your complaint. <sup>15</sup>But since it is a matter of questions about words and names and your own law, see to it yourselves. I refuse to be a judge of these things.” <sup>16</sup>And he drove them from the tribunal. <sup>17</sup>†And they all seized Sosthenes, the ruler of the synagogue, and beat him in front of the tribunal. But Gallio paid no attention to any of this.

Paul Returns to Antioch

<sup>18</sup>†After this, Paul stayed many days longer and then took leave of the brothers [2] and set sail for Syria, and with him Priscilla and Aquila. At Cenchreae he had cut his hair, for he was under a vow. <sup>19</sup>†And they came to Ephesus, and he left them there, but he himself went into the synagogue and reasoned with the Jews. <sup>20</sup>When they asked him to stay for a longer period, he declined. <sup>21</sup>But on taking leave of them he said, “I will return to you if God wills,” and he set sail from Ephesus.

<sup>22</sup>†When he had landed at Caesarea, he went up and greeted the church, and then went down to Antioch. <sup>23</sup>†After spending some time there, he departed and went from one place to the next through the region of Galatia and Phrygia, strengthening all the disciples.

Apollos Speaks Boldly in Ephesus

<sup>24</sup>†Now a Jew named Apollos, a native of Alexandria, came to Ephesus. He was an eloquent man, competent in the Scriptures. <sup>25</sup>†He had been instructed in the way of the Lord. And being fervent in spirit, [3] he spoke and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus, though he knew only the baptism of John. <sup>26</sup>†He began to speak boldly in the synagogue, but when Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they took him and explained to him the way of God more accurately.

<sup>27</sup>†And when he wished to cross to Achaia, the brothers encouraged him and wrote to the disciples to welcome him. When he arrived, he greatly helped those who through grace had believed, <sup>28</sup>†for he powerfully refuted the Jews in public, showing by the Scriptures that the Christ was Jesus.

Paul in Ephesus

ACTS 19 †And it happened that while Apollos was at Corinth, Paul passed through the inland [1] country and came to Ephesus. There he found some disciples. <sup>2</sup>†And he said to them, “Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?” And they said, “No, we have not even heard that there is a Holy Spirit.” <sup>3</sup>And he said, “Into what then were you baptized?” They said, “Into John's baptism.” <sup>4</sup>†And Paul said, “John baptized with the baptism of repentance, telling the people to believe in the one who was to come after him, that is, Jesus.” <sup>5</sup>†On hearing this, they were baptized in [2] the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>6</sup>†And when Paul had laid his hands on them, the Holy Spirit came on them, and they began speaking in tongues and prophesying. <sup>7</sup>There were about twelve men in all.

<sup>8</sup>†And he entered the synagogue and for three months spoke boldly, reasoning and persuading them about the kingdom of God. <sup>9</sup>†But when some became stubborn and continued in unbelief, speaking evil of the Way before the congregation, he withdrew from them and took the disciples with him, reasoning daily in the hall of Tyrannus. [3] <sup>10</sup>†This continued for two years, so that all the residents of Asia heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks.

The Sons of Sceva

<sup>11</sup>†And God was doing extraordinary miracles by the hands of Paul, <sup>12</sup>†so that even handkerchiefs or aprons that had touched his skin were carried away to the sick, and their diseases left them and the evil spirits came out of them. <sup>13</sup>†Then some of the itinerant Jewish exorcists undertook to invoke the name of the Lord Jesus over those who had evil spirits, saying, “I adjure you by the Jesus whom Paul proclaims.” <sup>14</sup>†Seven sons of a Jewish high priest named Sceva were doing this. <sup>15</sup>†But the evil spirit answered them, “Jesus I know, and Paul I recognize, but who are you?” <sup>16</sup>†And the man in whom was the evil spirit leaped on them, mastered all [4] of them and overpowered them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded. <sup>17</sup>And this became known to all the residents of Ephesus, both Jews and Greeks. And fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was extolled. <sup>18</sup>Also many of those who were now believers came, confessing and divulging their practices. <sup>19</sup>†And a number of those who had practiced magic arts brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all. And they counted the value of them and found it came to fifty thousand pieces of silver. <sup>20</sup>So the word of the Lord continued to increase and prevail mightily.

A Riot at Ephesus

<sup>21</sup>† Now after these events Paul resolved in the Spirit to pass through Macedonia and Achaia and go to Jerusalem, saying, “After I have been there, I must also see Rome.” <sup>22</sup>† And having sent into Macedonia two of his helpers, Timothy and Erastus, he himself stayed in Asia for a while.

<sup>23</sup>† About that time there arose no little disturbance concerning the Way. <sup>24</sup>† For a man named Demetrius, a silversmith, who made silver shrines of Artemis, brought no little business to the craftsmen. <sup>25</sup> These he gathered together, with the workmen in similar trades, and said, “Men, you know that from this business we have our wealth. <sup>26</sup> And you see and hear that not only in Ephesus but in almost all of Asia this Paul has persuaded and turned away a great many people, saying that gods made with hands are not gods. <sup>27</sup>† And there is danger not only that this trade of ours may come into disrepute but also that the temple of the great goddess Artemis may be counted as nothing, and that she may even be deposed from her magnificence, she whom all Asia and the world worship.”

<sup>28</sup> When they heard this they were enraged and were crying out, “Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!” <sup>29</sup>† So the city was filled with the confusion, and they rushed together into the theater, dragging with them Gaius and Aristarchus, Macedonians who were Paul’s companions in travel. <sup>30</sup> But when Paul wished to go in among the crowd, the disciples would not let him. <sup>31</sup>† And even some of the Asiarchs, [5] who were friends of his, sent to him and were urging him not to venture into the theater. <sup>32</sup>† Now some cried out one thing, some another, for the assembly was in confusion, and most of them did not know why they had come together. <sup>33</sup>† Some of the crowd prompted Alexander, whom the Jews had put forward. And Alexander, motioning with his hand, wanted to make a defense to the crowd. <sup>34</sup>† But when they recognized that he was a Jew, for about two hours they all cried out with one voice, “Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!”

<sup>35</sup>† And when the town clerk had quieted the crowd, he said, “Men of Ephesus, who is there who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is temple keeper of the great Artemis, and of the sacred stone that fell from the sky? [6] <sup>36</sup> Seeing then that these things cannot be denied, you ought to be quiet and do nothing rash. <sup>37</sup> For you have brought these men here who are neither sacrilegious nor blasphemers of our goddess. <sup>38</sup>¶ If therefore Demetrius and the craftsmen with him have a complaint against anyone, the courts are open, and there are proconsuls. Let them bring charges against one another. <sup>39</sup>But if you seek anything further, [7] it shall be settled in the regular assembly. <sup>40</sup>For we really are in danger of being charged with rioting today, since there is no cause that we can give to justify this commotion.” <sup>41</sup>And when he had said these things, he dismissed the assembly.

Paul in Macedonia and Greece

ACTS 20 †After the uproar ceased, Paul sent for the disciples, and after encouraging them, he said farewell and departed for Macedonia. <sup>2</sup>†When he had gone through those regions and had given them much encouragement, he came to Greece. <sup>3</sup>†There he spent three months, and when a plot was made against him by the Jews as he was about to set sail for Syria, he decided to return through Macedonia. <sup>4</sup>†Sopater the Berean, son of Pyrrhus, accompanied him; and of the Thessalonians, Aristarchus and Secundus; and Gaius of Derbe, and Timothy; and the Asians, Tychicus and Trophimus. <sup>5</sup>†These went on ahead and were waiting for us at Troas, <sup>6</sup>†but we sailed away from Philippi after the days of Unleavened Bread, and in five days we came to them at Troas, where we stayed for seven days.

Eutychus Raised from the Dead

<sup>7</sup>†On the first day of the week, when we were gathered together to break bread, Paul talked with them, intending to depart on the next day, and he prolonged his speech until midnight. <sup>8</sup>†There were many lamps in the upper room where we were gathered. <sup>9</sup>†And a young man named Eutychus, sitting at the window, sank into a deep sleep as Paul talked still longer. And being overcome by sleep, he fell down from the third story and was taken up dead. <sup>10</sup>†But Paul went down and bent over him, and taking him in his arms, said, “Do not be alarmed, for his life is in him.” <sup>11</sup>And when Paul had gone up and had broken bread and eaten, he conversed with them a long while, until daybreak, and so departed. <sup>12</sup>And they took the youth away alive, and were not a little comforted.

<sup>13</sup>†But going ahead to the ship, we set sail for Assos, intending to take Paul aboard there, for so he had arranged, intending himself to go by land. <sup>14</sup>†And when he met us at Assos, we took him on board and went to Mitylene. <sup>15</sup>†And sailing from there we came the following day opposite Chios; the next day we touched at Samos; and [\[1\]](#) the day after that we went to Miletus. <sup>16</sup>†For Paul had decided to sail past Ephesus, so that he might not have to spend time in Asia, for he was hastening to be at Jerusalem, if possible, on the day of Pentecost.

Paul Speaks to the Ephesian Elders

<sup>17</sup>Now from Miletus he sent to Ephesus and called the elders of the church to come to him. <sup>18</sup>And when they came to him, he said to them: “You yourselves know how I lived among you the whole time from the first day that I set foot in Asia, <sup>19</sup>†serving the Lord with all humility and with tears and with trials that happened to me through the plots of the Jews; <sup>20</sup>†how I did not shrink from declaring to you anything that was profitable, and teaching you in public and from house to house, <sup>21</sup>†testifying both to Jews and to Greeks of repentance toward God and of faith in our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>22</sup>†And now, behold, I am going to Jerusalem, constrained by [2] the Spirit, not knowing what will happen to me there, <sup>23</sup>†except that the Holy Spirit testifies to me in every city that imprisonment and afflictions await me. <sup>24</sup>†But I do not account my life of any value nor as precious to myself, if only I may finish my course and the ministry that I received from the Lord Jesus, to testify to the gospel of the grace of God. <sup>25</sup>†And now, behold, I know that none of you among whom I have gone about proclaiming the kingdom will see my face again. <sup>26</sup>†Therefore I testify to you this day that I am innocent of the blood of all of you, <sup>27</sup>†for I did not shrink from declaring to you the whole counsel of God. <sup>28</sup>††Pay careful attention to yourselves and to all the flock, in which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers, to care for the church of God, [3] which he obtained with his own blood. [4] <sup>29</sup>†I know that after my departure fierce wolves will come in among you, not sparing the flock; <sup>30</sup>†and from among your own selves will arise men speaking twisted things, to draw away the disciples after them. <sup>31</sup>†Therefore be alert, remembering that for three years I did not cease night or day to admonish everyone with tears. <sup>32</sup>†And now I commend you to God and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up and to give you the inheritance among all those who are sanctified. <sup>33</sup>†I coveted no one's silver or gold or apparel. <sup>34</sup>†You yourselves know that these hands ministered to my necessities and to those who were with me. <sup>35</sup>†In all things I have shown you that by working hard in this way we must help the weak and remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he himself said, ‘It is more blessed to give than to receive.’”

<sup>36</sup>And when he had said these things, he knelt down and prayed with them all.

<sup>37</sup>†And there was much weeping on the part of all; they embraced Paul and kissed him, <sup>38</sup>being sorrowful most of all because of the word he had spoken, that they would not see his face again. And they accompanied him to the ship.

Paul Goes to Jerusalem

ACTS 21 †And when we had parted from them and set sail, we came by a straight course to Cos, and the next day to Rhodes, and from there to Patara. [\[1\]](#) †And having found a ship crossing to Phoenicia, we went aboard and set sail. †When we had come in sight of Cyprus, leaving it on the left we sailed to Syria and landed at Tyre, for there the ship was to unload its cargo. †And having sought out the disciples, we stayed there for seven days. And through the Spirit they were telling Paul not to go on to Jerusalem. †When our days there were ended, we departed and went on our journey, and they all, with wives and children, accompanied us until we were outside the city. And kneeling down on the beach, we prayed †and said farewell to one another. Then we went on board the ship, and they returned home.

†When we had finished the voyage from Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais, and we greeted the brothers [\[2\]](#) and stayed with them for one day. †On the next day we departed and came to Caesarea, and we entered the house of Philip the evangelist, who was one of the seven, and stayed with him. †He had four unmarried daughters, who prophesied. †While we were staying for many days, a prophet named Agabus came down from Judea. †And coming to us, he took Paul's belt and bound his own feet and hands and said, "Thus says the Holy Spirit, 'This is how the Jews at Jerusalem will bind the man who owns this belt and deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.'" †When we heard this, we and the people there urged him not to go up to Jerusalem. †Then Paul answered, "What are you doing, weeping and breaking my heart? For I am ready not only to be imprisoned but even to die in Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus." †And since he would not be persuaded, we ceased and said, "Let the will of the Lord be done."

†After these days we got ready and went up to Jerusalem. †And some of the disciples from Caesarea went with us, bringing us to the house of Mnason of Cyprus, an early disciple, with whom we should lodge.

Paul Visits James

†When we had come to Jerusalem, the brothers received us gladly. †On the following day Paul went in with us to James, and all the elders were present. †After greeting them, he related one by one the things that God had done among the Gentiles through his ministry. <sup>20</sup>† And when they heard it, they glorified God. And they said to him, “You see, brother, how many thousands there are among the Jews of those who have believed. They are all zealous for the law, <sup>21</sup>† and they have been told about you that you teach all the Jews who are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, telling them not to circumcise their children or walk according to our customs. <sup>22</sup> What then is to be done? They will certainly hear that you have come. <sup>23</sup>† Do therefore what we tell you. We have four men who are under a vow; <sup>24</sup>† take these men and purify yourself along with them and pay their expenses, so that they may shave their heads. Thus all will know that there is nothing in what they have been told about you, but that you yourself also live in observance of the law. <sup>25</sup>† But as for the Gentiles who have believed, we have sent a letter with our judgment that they should abstain from what has been sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from what has been strangled, [3] and from sexual immorality.” <sup>26</sup>† Then Paul took the men, and the next day he purified himself along with them and went into the temple, giving notice when the days of purification would be fulfilled and the offering presented for each one of them.

Paul Arrested in the Temple

<sup>27</sup>† When the seven days were almost completed, the Jews from Asia, seeing him in the temple, stirred up the whole crowd and laid hands on him, <sup>28</sup>† crying out, “Men of Israel, help! This is the man who is teaching everyone everywhere against the people and the law and this place. Moreover, he even brought Greeks into the temple and has defiled this holy place.” <sup>29</sup> For they had previously seen Trophimus the Ephesian with him in the city, and they supposed that Paul had brought him into the temple. <sup>30</sup>† Then all the city was stirred up, and the people ran together. They seized Paul and dragged him out of the temple, and at once the gates were shut. <sup>31</sup>† And as they were seeking to kill him, word came to the tribune of the cohort that all Jerusalem was in confusion. <sup>32</sup>† He at once took soldiers and centurions and ran down to them. And when they saw the tribune and the soldiers, they stopped beating Paul. <sup>33</sup>† Then the tribune came up and arrested him and ordered him to be bound with two chains. He inquired who he was and what he had done. <sup>34</sup>† Some in the crowd were shouting one thing, some another. And as he could not learn the facts because of the uproar, he ordered him to be brought into the barracks. <sup>35</sup> And when he came to the steps, he was actually carried by the soldiers because of the violence of the crowd, <sup>36</sup>† for the mob of the people followed, crying out, “Away with him!”

Paul Speaks to the People

<sup>37</sup>†As Paul was about to be brought into the barracks, he said to the tribune, “May I say something to you?” And he said, “Do you know Greek? <sup>38</sup>†Are you not the Egyptian, then, who recently stirred up a revolt and led the four thousand men of the Assassins out into the wilderness?” <sup>39</sup>†Paul replied, “I am a Jew, from Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no obscure city. I beg you, permit me to speak to the people.” <sup>40</sup>And when he had given him permission, Paul, standing on the steps, motioned with his hand to the people. And when there was a great hush, he addressed them in the Hebrew language, [\[4\]](#) saying:

ACTS 22 ‡“Brothers and fathers, hear the defense that I now make before you.”

<sup>2</sup>‡And when they heard that he was addressing them in the Hebrew language, they became even more quiet. And he said: <sup>3</sup>‡“I am a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this city, educated at the feet of Gamaliel [1] according to the strict manner of the law of our fathers, being zealous for God as all of you are this day. <sup>4</sup>‡I persecuted this Way to the death, binding and delivering to prison both men and women, <sup>5</sup>‡as the high priest and the whole council of elders can bear me witness. From them I received letters to the brothers, and I journeyed toward Damascus to take those also who were there and bring them in bonds to Jerusalem to be punished.

<sup>6</sup>‡‡“As I was on my way and drew near to Damascus, about noon a great light from heaven suddenly shone around me. <sup>7</sup>‡And I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, ‘Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?’ <sup>8</sup>And I answered, ‘Who are you, Lord?’ And he said to me, ‘I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom you are persecuting.’ <sup>9</sup>‡Now those who were with me saw the light but did not understand [2] the voice of the one who was speaking to me. <sup>10</sup>And I said, ‘What shall I do, Lord?’ And the Lord said to me, ‘Rise, and go into Damascus, and there you will be told all that is appointed for you to do.’ <sup>11</sup>‡And since I could not see because of the brightness of that light, I was led by the hand by those who were with me, and came into Damascus.

<sup>12</sup>‡“And one Ananias, a devout man according to the law, well spoken of by all the Jews who lived there, <sup>13</sup>came to me, and standing by me said to me, ‘Brother Saul, receive your sight.’ And at that very hour I received my sight and saw him. <sup>14</sup>‡And he said, ‘The God of our fathers appointed you to know his will, to see the Righteous One and to hear a voice from his mouth; <sup>15</sup>‡for you will be a witness for him to everyone of what you have seen and heard. <sup>16</sup>‡And now why do you wait? Rise and be baptized and wash away your sins, calling on his name.’

<sup>17</sup>‡“When I had returned to Jerusalem and was praying in the temple, I fell into a trance <sup>18</sup>and saw him saying to me, ‘Make haste and get out of Jerusalem quickly, because they will not accept your testimony about me.’ <sup>19</sup>And I said, ‘Lord, they themselves know that in one synagogue after another I imprisoned and beat those who believed in you. <sup>20</sup>‡And when the blood of Stephen your witness was being shed, I myself was standing by and approving and watching over the garments of those who killed him.’ <sup>21</sup>‡ And he said to me, ‘Go, for I will send you far away to the Gentiles.’”

Paul and the Roman Tribune

<sup>22</sup>Up to this word they listened to him. Then they raised their voices and said, “Away with such a fellow from the earth! For he should not be allowed to live.” <sup>23</sup>‡ And as they were shouting and throwing off their cloaks and flinging dust into the air, <sup>24</sup>‡ the tribune ordered him to be brought into the barracks, saying that he should be examined by flogging, to find out why they were shouting against him like this. <sup>25</sup>‡ But when they had stretched him out for the whips, [3] Paul said to the centurion who was standing by, “Is it lawful for you to flog a man who is a Roman citizen and uncondemned?” <sup>26</sup>‡ When the centurion heard this, he went to the tribune and said to him, “What are you about to do? For this man is a Roman citizen.” <sup>27</sup> So the tribune came and said to him, “Tell me, are you a Roman citizen?” And he said, “Yes.” <sup>28</sup>‡ The tribune answered, “I bought this citizenship for a large sum.” Paul said, “But I am a citizen by birth.” <sup>29</sup> So those who were about to examine him withdrew from him immediately, and the tribune also was afraid, for he realized that Paul was a Roman citizen and that he had bound him.

Paul Before the Council

<sup>30</sup>‡‡ But on the next day, desiring to know the real reason why he was being accused by the Jews, he unbound him and commanded the chief priests and all the council to meet, and he brought Paul down and set him before them.

ACTS 23 †And looking intently at the council, Paul said, “Brothers, I have lived my life before God in all good conscience up to this day.” †And the high priest Ananias commanded those who stood by him to strike him on the mouth. †Then Paul said to him, “God is going to strike you, you whitewashed wall! Are you sitting to judge me according to the law, and yet contrary to the law you order me to be struck?” †Those who stood by said, “Would you revile God's high priest?” †And Paul said, “I did not know, brothers, that he was the high priest, for it is written, ‘You shall not speak evil of a ruler of your people.’”

†Now when Paul perceived that one part were Sadducees and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the council, “Brothers, I am a Pharisee, a son of Pharisees. It is with respect to the hope and the resurrection of the dead that I am on trial.” †And when he had said this, a dissension arose between the Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the assembly was divided. †For the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, nor angel, nor spirit, but the Pharisees acknowledge them all. †Then a great clamor arose, and some of the scribes of the Pharisees' party stood up and contended sharply, “We find nothing wrong in this man. What if a spirit or an angel spoke to him?” †And when the dissension became violent, the tribune, afraid that Paul would be torn to pieces by them, commanded the soldiers to go down and take him away from among them by force and bring him into the barracks.

†The following night the Lord stood by him and said, “Take courage, for as you have testified to the facts about me in Jerusalem, so you must testify also in Rome.”

A Plot to Kill Paul

†When it was day, the Jews made a plot and bound themselves by an oath neither to eat nor drink till they had killed Paul. †There were more than forty who made this conspiracy. †They went to the chief priests and elders and said, “We have strictly bound ourselves by an oath to taste no food till we have killed Paul. †Now therefore you, along with the council, give notice to the tribune to bring him down to you, as though you were going to determine his case more exactly. And we are ready to kill him before he comes near.”

†Now the son of Paul's sister heard of their ambush, so he went and entered the barracks and told Paul. †Paul called one of the centurions and said, “Take this young man to the tribune, for he has something to tell him.”<sup>18</sup> So he took him and brought him to the tribune and said, “Paul the prisoner called me and asked me to bring this young man to you, as he has something to say to you.”<sup>19</sup> The tribune took him by the hand, and going aside asked him privately, “What is it that you have to tell me?”<sup>20</sup> And he said, “The Jews have agreed to ask you to bring Paul down to the council tomorrow, as though they were going to inquire somewhat more closely about him.<sup>21</sup> But do not be persuaded by them, for more than forty of their men are lying in ambush for him, who have bound themselves by an oath neither to eat nor drink till they have killed him. And now they are ready, waiting for your consent.”<sup>22</sup> So the tribune dismissed the young man, charging him, “Tell no one that you have informed me of these things.”

Paul Sent to Felix the Governor

<sup>23</sup>† Then he called two of the centurions and said, “Get ready two hundred soldiers, with seventy horsemen and two hundred spearmen to go as far as Caesarea at the third hour of the night. [1] <sup>24</sup> Also provide mounts for Paul to ride and bring him safely to Felix the governor.”<sup>25</sup> And he wrote a letter to this effect:<sup>26</sup> † “Claudius Lysias, to his Excellency the governor Felix, greetings. <sup>27</sup> † This man was seized by the Jews and was about to be killed by them when I came upon them with the soldiers and rescued him, having learned that he was a Roman citizen.<sup>28</sup> And desiring to know the charge for which they were accusing him, I brought him down to their council. <sup>29</sup> † I found that he was being accused about questions of their law, but charged with nothing deserving death or imprisonment. <sup>30</sup> † And when it was disclosed to me that there would be a plot against the man, I sent him to you at once, ordering his accusers also to state before you what they have against him.”

<sup>31</sup> † So the soldiers, according to their instructions, took Paul and brought him by night to Antipatris. <sup>32</sup> † And on the next day they returned to the barracks, letting the horsemen go on with him. <sup>33</sup> † When they had come to Caesarea and delivered the letter to the governor, they presented Paul also before him. <sup>34</sup> † On reading the letter, he asked what province he was from. And when he learned that he was from Cilicia, <sup>35</sup> † he said, “I will give you a hearing when your accusers arrive.” And he commanded him to be guarded in Herod's praetorium.

Paul Before Felix at Caesarea

ACTS 24 † And after five days the high priest Ananias came down with some elders and a spokesman, one Tertullus. They laid before the governor their case against Paul. † And when he had been summoned, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying: “Since through you we enjoy much peace, and since by your foresight, most excellent Felix, reforms are being made for this nation, <sup>3</sup>in every way and everywhere we accept this with all gratitude. <sup>4</sup>But, to detain [1] you no further, I beg you in your kindness to hear us briefly. † † For we have found this man a plague, one who stirs up riots among all the Jews throughout the world and is a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes. † † He even tried to profane the temple, but we seized him. [2] <sup>8</sup>By examining him yourself you will be able to find out from him about everything of which we accuse him.”

<sup>9</sup>The Jews also joined in the charge, affirming that all these things were so.

<sup>10</sup> † † And when the governor had nodded to him to speak, Paul replied: “Knowing that for many years you have been a judge over this nation, I cheerfully make my defense. <sup>11</sup> † You can verify that it is not more than twelve days since I went up to worship in Jerusalem, <sup>12</sup>and they did not find me disputing with anyone or stirring up a crowd, either in the temple or in the synagogues or in the city. <sup>13</sup>Neither can they prove to you what they now bring up against me. <sup>14</sup> † But this I confess to you, that according to the Way, which they call a sect, I worship the God of our fathers, believing everything laid down by the Law and written in the Prophets, <sup>15</sup> † having a hope in God, which these men themselves accept, that there will be a resurrection of both the just and the unjust. <sup>16</sup> † So I always take pains to have a clear conscience toward both God and man. <sup>17</sup> † Now after several years I came to bring alms to my nation and to present offerings. <sup>18</sup> † While I was doing this, they found me purified in the temple, without any crowd or tumult. But some Jews from Asia— <sup>19</sup>they ought to be here before you and to make an accusation, should they have anything against me. <sup>20</sup>Or else let these men themselves say what wrongdoing they found when I stood before the council, <sup>21</sup> † other than this one thing that I cried out while standing among them: ‘It is with respect to the resurrection of the dead that I am on trial before you this day.’”

Paul Kept in Custody

<sup>22</sup>†But Felix, having a rather accurate knowledge of the Way, put them off, saying, “When Lysias the tribune comes down, I will decide your case.” <sup>23</sup>†Then he gave orders to the centurion that he should be kept in custody but have some liberty, and that none of his friends should be prevented from attending to his needs.

<sup>24</sup>†After some days Felix came with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish, and he sent for Paul and heard him speak about faith in Christ Jesus. <sup>25</sup>†And as he reasoned about righteousness and self-control and the coming judgment, Felix was alarmed and said, “Go away for the present. When I get an opportunity I will summon you.” <sup>26</sup>†At the same time he hoped that money would be given him by Paul. So he sent for him often and conversed with him. <sup>27</sup>†When two years had elapsed, Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus. And desiring to do the Jews a favor, Felix left Paul in prison.

Paul Appeals to Caesar

ACTS 25 †† Now three days after Festus had arrived in the province, he went up to Jerusalem from Caesarea. <sup>2</sup>And the chief priests and the principal men of the Jews laid out their case against Paul, and they urged him, <sup>3</sup>† asking as a favor against Paul [1] that he summon him to Jerusalem—because they were planning an ambush to kill him on the way. <sup>4</sup>† Festus replied that Paul was being kept at Caesarea and that he himself intended to go there shortly. <sup>5</sup>“So,” said he, “let the men of authority among you go down with me, and if there is anything wrong about the man, let them bring charges against him.”

<sup>6</sup>† After he stayed among them not more than eight or ten days, he went down to Caesarea. And the next day he took his seat on the tribunal and ordered Paul to be brought. <sup>7</sup>When he had arrived, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem stood around him, bringing many and serious charges against him that they could not prove. <sup>8</sup>Paul argued in his defense, “Neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Caesar have I committed any offense.” <sup>9</sup>† But Festus, wishing to do the Jews a favor, said to Paul, “Do you wish to go up to Jerusalem and there be tried on these charges before me?” <sup>10</sup>† But Paul said, “I am standing before Caesar's tribunal, where I ought to be tried. To the Jews I have done no wrong, as you yourself know very well. <sup>11</sup>† If then I am a wrongdoer and have committed anything for which I deserve to die, I do not seek to escape death. But if there is nothing to their charges against me, no one can give me up to them. I appeal to Caesar.” <sup>12</sup>† Then Festus, when he had conferred with his council, answered, “To Caesar you have appealed; to Caesar you shall go.”

Paul Before Agrippa and Bernice

ordered the man to be brought. <sup>18</sup>When the accusers stood up, they brought no charge in his case of such evils as I supposed. <sup>19</sup>†Rather they had certain points of dispute with him about their own religion and about a certain Jesus, who was dead, but whom Paul asserted to be alive. <sup>20</sup>†Being at a loss how to investigate these questions, I asked whether he wanted to go to Jerusalem and be tried there regarding them. <sup>21</sup>†But when Paul had appealed to be kept in custody for the decision of the emperor, I ordered him to be held until I could send him to Caesar.” <sup>22</sup>†Then Agrippa said to Festus, “I would like to hear the man myself.” “Tomorrow,” said he, “you will hear him.”

<sup>23</sup>†So on the next day Agrippa and Bernice came with great pomp, and they entered the audience hall with the military tribunes and the prominent men of the city. Then, at the command of Festus, Paul was brought in. <sup>24</sup>And Festus said, “King Agrippa and all who are present with us, you see this man about whom the whole Jewish people petitioned me, both in Jerusalem and here, shouting that he ought not to live any longer. <sup>25</sup>But I found that he had done nothing deserving death. And as he himself appealed to the emperor, I decided to go ahead and send him. <sup>26</sup>†But I have nothing definite to write to my lord about him. Therefore I have brought him before you all, and especially before you, King Agrippa, so that, after we have examined him, I may have something to write. <sup>27</sup>For it seems to me unreasonable, in sending a prisoner, not to indicate the charges against him.”

Paul's Defense Before Agrippa

ACTS 26 †† So Agrippa said to Paul, “You have permission to speak for yourself.” Then Paul stretched out his hand and made his defense: <sup>2</sup>“I consider myself fortunate that it is before you, King Agrippa, I am going to make my defense today against all the accusations of the Jews, <sup>3</sup>† especially because you are familiar with all the customs and controversies of the Jews. Therefore I beg you to listen to me patiently.

<sup>4</sup>“My manner of life from my youth, spent from the beginning among my own nation and in Jerusalem, is known by all the Jews. <sup>5</sup>† They have known for a long time, if they are willing to testify, that according to the strictest party of our religion I have lived as a Pharisee. <sup>6</sup>† And now I stand here on trial because of my hope in the promise made by God to our fathers, <sup>7</sup>† to which our twelve tribes hope to attain, as they earnestly worship night and day. And for this hope I am accused by Jews, O king! <sup>8</sup>† Why is it thought incredible by any of you that God raises the dead?

<sup>9</sup>“I myself was convinced that I ought to do many things in opposing the name of Jesus of Nazareth. <sup>10</sup>† And I did so in Jerusalem. I not only locked up many of the saints in prison after receiving authority from the chief priests, but when they were put to death I cast my vote against them. <sup>11</sup>† And I punished them often in all the synagogues and tried to make them blaspheme, and in raging fury against them I persecuted them even to foreign cities.

Paul Tells of His Conversion

<sup>12</sup>† “In this connection I journeyed to Damascus with the authority and commission of the chief priests. <sup>13</sup> At midday, O king, I saw on the way a light from heaven, brighter than the sun, that shone around me and those who journeyed with me. <sup>14</sup> And when we had all fallen to the ground, I heard a voice saying to me in the Hebrew language, [1] ‘Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me? It is hard for you to kick against the goads.’ <sup>15</sup> And I said, ‘Who are you, Lord?’ And the Lord said, ‘I am Jesus whom you are persecuting. <sup>16</sup>† But rise and stand upon your feet, for I have appeared to you for this purpose, to appoint you as a servant and witness to the things in which you have seen me and to those in which I will appear to you, <sup>17</sup>† delivering you from your people and from the Gentiles—to whom I am sending you <sup>18</sup>† to open their eyes, so that they may turn from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins and a place among those who are sanctified by faith in me.’

<sup>19</sup>“Therefore, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision, <sup>20</sup>†but declared first to those in Damascus, then in Jerusalem and throughout all the region of Judea, and also to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, performing deeds in keeping with their repentance. <sup>21</sup>†For this reason the Jews seized me in the temple and tried to kill me. <sup>22</sup>†To this day I have had the help that comes from God, and so I stand here testifying both to small and great, saying nothing but what the prophets and Moses said would come to pass:
<sup>23</sup>†that the Christ must suffer and that, by being the first to rise from the dead, he would proclaim light both to our people and to the Gentiles.”

<sup>24</sup>†And as he was saying these things in his defense, Festus said with a loud voice, “Paul, you are out of your mind; your great learning is driving you out of your mind.” <sup>25</sup>But Paul said, “I am not out of my mind, most excellent Festus, but I am speaking true and rational words. <sup>26</sup>†For the king knows about these things, and to him I speak boldly. For I am persuaded that none of these things has escaped his notice, for this has not been done in a corner. <sup>27</sup>†King Agrippa, do you believe the prophets? I know that you believe.” <sup>28</sup>†And Agrippa said to Paul, “In a short time would you persuade me to be a Christian?” [2] <sup>29</sup>And Paul said, “Whether short or long, I would to God that not only you but also all who hear me this day might become such as I am—except for these chains.”

<sup>30</sup>†Then the king rose, and the governor and Bernice and those who were sitting with them. <sup>31</sup>And when they had withdrawn, they said to one another, “This man is doing nothing to deserve death or imprisonment.” <sup>32</sup>And Agrippa said to Festus, “This man could have been set free if he had not appealed to Caesar.”

Paul Sails for Rome

ACTS 27 †And when it was decided that we should sail for Italy, they delivered Paul and some other prisoners to a centurion of the Augustan Cohort named Julius. †And embarking in a ship of Adramyttium, which was about to sail to the ports along the coast of Asia, we put to sea, accompanied by Aristarchus, a Macedonian from Thessalonica. †The next day we put in at Sidon. And Julius treated Paul kindly and gave him leave to go to his friends and be cared for. †And putting out to sea from there we sailed under the lee of Cyprus, because the winds were against us. †And when we had sailed across the open sea along the coast of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra in Lycia. †There the centurion found a ship of Alexandria sailing for Italy and put us on board. †We sailed slowly for a number of days and arrived with difficulty off Cnidus, and as the wind did not allow us to go farther, we sailed under the lee of Crete off Salmone. †Coasting along it with difficulty, we came to a place called Fair Havens, near which was the city of Lasea.

†Since much time had passed, and the voyage was now dangerous because even the Fast [1] was already over, Paul advised them, †saying, “Sirs, I perceive that the voyage will be with injury and much loss, not only of the cargo and the ship, but also of our lives.” †But the centurion paid more attention to the pilot and to the owner of the ship than to what Paul said. †And because the harbor was not suitable to spend the winter in, the majority decided to put out to sea from there, on the chance that somehow they could reach Phoenix, a harbor of Crete, facing both southwest and northwest, and spend the winter there.

The Storm at Sea

<sup>13</sup>Now when the south wind blew gently, supposing that they had obtained their purpose, they weighed anchor and sailed along Crete, close to the shore. †But soon a tempestuous wind, called the northeaster, struck down from the land. †And when the ship was caught and could not face the wind, we gave way to it and were driven along. †Running under the lee of a small island called Cauda, [2] we managed with difficulty to secure the ship's boat. †After hoisting it up, they used supports to undergird the ship. Then, fearing that they would run aground on the Syrtis, they lowered the gear, [3] and thus they were driven along. †Since we were violently storm-tossed, they began the next day to jettison the cargo. †And on the third day they threw the ship's tackle overboard with their own hands. <sup>20</sup>When neither sun nor stars appeared for many days, and no small tempest lay on us, all hope of our being saved was at last abandoned.

<sup>21</sup>Since they had been without food for a long time, Paul stood up among them and said, “Men, you should have listened to me and not have set sail from Crete and incurred this injury and loss. <sup>22</sup>Yet now I urge you to take heart, for there will be no loss of life among you, but only of the ship. <sup>23</sup>‡For this very night there stood before me an angel of the God to whom I belong and whom I worship, <sup>24</sup>‡and he said, ‘Do not be afraid, Paul; you must stand before Caesar. And behold, God has granted you all those who sail with you.’ <sup>25</sup>So take heart, men, for I have faith in God that it will be exactly as I have been told. <sup>26</sup>But we must run aground on some island.”

<sup>27</sup>‡When the fourteenth night had come, as we were being driven across the Adriatic Sea, about midnight the sailors suspected that they were nearing land. <sup>28</sup>‡So they took a sounding and found twenty fathoms. [4] A little farther on they took a sounding again and found fifteen fathoms. [5] <sup>29</sup>‡And fearing that we might run on the rocks, they let down four anchors from the stern and prayed for day to come. <sup>30</sup>‡And as the sailors were seeking to escape from the ship, and had lowered the ship's boat into the sea under pretense of laying out anchors from the bow, <sup>31</sup>Paul said to the centurion and the soldiers, “Unless these men stay in the ship, you cannot be saved.” <sup>32</sup>Then the soldiers cut away the ropes of the ship's boat and let it go.

<sup>33</sup>‡As day was about to dawn, Paul urged them all to take some food, saying, “Today is the fourteenth day that you have continued in suspense and without food, having taken nothing. <sup>34</sup>‡Therefore I urge you to take some food. For it will give you strength, for not a hair is to perish from the head of any of you.” <sup>35</sup>And when he had said these things, he took bread, and giving thanks to God in the presence of all he broke it and began to eat. <sup>36</sup>Then they all were encouraged and ate some food themselves. <sup>37</sup>‡(We were in all 276 [6] persons in the ship.) <sup>38</sup>‡And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, throwing out the wheat into the sea.

The Shipwreck

<sup>39</sup>Now when it was day, they did not recognize the land, but they noticed a bay with a beach, on which they planned if possible to run the ship ashore. <sup>40</sup>So they cast off the anchors and left them in the sea, at the same time loosening the ropes that tied the rudders. Then hoisting the foresail to the wind they made for the beach. <sup>41</sup>†But striking a reef, [7] they ran the vessel aground. The bow stuck and remained immovable, and the stern was being broken up by the surf. <sup>42</sup>†The soldiers' plan was to kill the prisoners, lest any should swim away and escape. <sup>43</sup>But the centurion, wishing to save Paul, kept them from carrying out their plan. He ordered those who could swim to jump overboard first and make for the land, <sup>44</sup>and the rest on planks or on pieces of the ship. And so it was that all were brought safely to land.

Paul on Malta

ACTS 28 †After we were brought safely through, we then learned that the island was called Malta. <sup>2</sup>The native people [1] showed us unusual kindness, for they kindled a fire and welcomed us all, because it had begun to rain and was cold. <sup>3</sup>†When Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks and put them on the fire, a viper came out because of the heat and fastened on his hand. <sup>4</sup>When the native people saw the creature hanging from his hand, they said to one another, “No doubt this man is a murderer. Though he has escaped from the sea, Justice [2] has not allowed him to live.” <sup>5</sup>He, however, shook off the creature into the fire and suffered no harm. <sup>6</sup>†They were waiting for him to swell up or suddenly fall down dead. But when they had waited a long time and saw no misfortune come to him, they changed their minds and said that he was a god.

<sup>7</sup>†Now in the neighborhood of that place were lands belonging to the chief man of the island, named Publius, who received us and entertained us hospitably for three days. <sup>8</sup>†It happened that the father of Publius lay sick with fever and dysentery. And Paul visited him and prayed, and putting his hands on him healed him. <sup>9</sup>And when this had taken place, the rest of the people on the island who had diseases also came and were cured. <sup>10</sup>They also honored us greatly, [3] and when we were about to sail, they put on board whatever we needed.

Paul Arrives at Rome

<sup>11</sup>†After three months we set sail in a ship that had wintered in the island, a ship of Alexandria, with the twin gods [4] as a figurehead. <sup>12</sup>†Putting in at Syracuse, we stayed there for three days. <sup>13</sup>†And from there we made a circuit and arrived at Rhegium. And after one day a south wind sprang up, and on the second day we came to Puteoli. <sup>14</sup>†There we found brothers [5] and were invited to stay with them for seven days. And so we came to Rome. <sup>15</sup>†And the brothers there, when they heard about us, came as far as the Forum of Appius and Three Taverns to meet us. On seeing them, Paul thanked God and took courage. <sup>16</sup>†And when we came into Rome, Paul was allowed to stay by himself, with the soldier that guarded him.

Paul in Rome

<sup>17</sup>††After three days he called together the local leaders of the Jews, and when they had gathered, he said to them, “Brothers, though I had done nothing against our people or the customs of our fathers, yet I was delivered as a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans. <sup>18</sup>When they had examined me, they wished to set me at liberty, because there was no reason for the death penalty in my case. <sup>19</sup>‡But because the Jews objected, I was compelled to appeal to Caesar —though I had no charge to bring against my nation. <sup>20</sup>‡For this reason, therefore, I have asked to see you and speak with you, since it is because of the hope of Israel that I am wearing this chain.” <sup>21</sup>And they said to him, “We have received no letters from Judea about you, and none of the brothers coming here has reported or spoken any evil about you. <sup>22</sup>But we desire to hear from you what your views are, for with regard to this sect we know that everywhere it is spoken against.”

<sup>23</sup>‡When they had appointed a day for him, they came to him at his lodging in greater numbers. From morning till evening he expounded to them, testifying to the kingdom of God and trying to convince them about Jesus both from the Law of Moses and from the Prophets. <sup>24</sup>And some were convinced by what he said, but others disbelieved. <sup>25</sup>And disagreeing among themselves, they departed after Paul had made one statement: “The Holy Spirit was right in saying to your fathers through Isaiah the prophet: <sup>26</sup>‡“Go to this people, and say, You will indeed hear but never understand, and you will indeed see but never perceive.

<sup>27</sup>For this people's heart has grown dull, and with their ears they can barely hear, and their eyes they have closed; lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears and understand with their heart and turn, and I would heal them.’

<sup>28</sup>‡Therefore let it be known to you that this salvation of God has been sent to the Gentiles; they will listen.” [6]

<sup>30</sup>‡He lived there two whole years at his own expense, [7] and welcomed all who came to him, <sup>31</sup>‡proclaiming the kingdom of God and teaching about the Lord Jesus Christ with all boldness and without hindrance.

Study Notes

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:1 first book. The Gospel of Luke (Luke 1:1–4; see Introduction: Background and Setting). That account chronicled the life and teaching of Jesus, through his death, resurrection, and ascension (Luke 24:51). Theophilus. The original recipient of this book. See note on Luke 1:3. all that Jesus began to do and teach. Jesus taught the disciples by word and deed the truth necessary to carry on his work. On the cross, he finished the work of redemption, but he had only started the proclamation of its glories.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:2 taken up. Christ's ascension to the Father (cf. Luke 24:51). Luke uses this term two other times (Acts 1:11, 22) to describe the end of the Lord's earthly ministry (cf. John 6:62; 13:1, 3; 16:28; 17:13; 20:17). given commands through the Holy Spirit. The Spirit was the source and power of Jesus' earthly ministry (cf. Matt. 4:1; 12:18; Mark 1:12; Luke 3:22; 4:1, 14, 18) and of the apostles' service (cf. Luke 24:49; John 14:16–17; 16:7). "Commands" or "commandments" are authoritative NT truths, revealed to the apostles (cf. John 14:26; 16:13–15). he had chosen. The Lord sovereignly chose the apostles for salvation and service (cf. John 6:70; 15:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:3 presented himself . . . by many proofs. Cf. John 20:30 and 1 Cor. 15:5–8. To give the apostles confidence to present his message, Jesus entered a locked room (John 20:19), showed his crucifixion wounds (Luke 24:39), and ate and drank with the disciples (Luke 24:41–43). forty days. The time period between Jesus' resurrection and ascension during which he appeared at intervals to the apostles and others (1 Cor. 15:5–8) and provided convincing evidence of his resurrection. kingdom of God. Cf. Acts 8:12; 14:22; 19:8; 20:25; 28:23, 31. Here this expression refers to the sphere of salvation, the gracious domain of divine rule over believers' hearts (see notes on 1 Cor. 6:9; Eph. 5:5; cf. Acts 17:7; Col. 1:13–14; Rev. 11:15; 12:10). This was the dominant theme during Christ's earthly ministry (cf. Matt. 4:23; 9:35; Mark 1:15; Luke 4:43; 9:2; John 3:3–21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:4 while staying. An alternative reading, "eating with them," is preferred (cf. 10:41; Luke 24:42–43). The fact that Jesus ate provides additional proof of his bodily resurrection. wait for the promise of the Father. Jesus repeatedly promised that God would send them his Spirit (Luke 11:13; 24:49; John 7:39; 14:16, 26; 15:26; 16:7; see note on John 20:22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:5 John baptized with water. See note on 2:38. baptized with the Holy Spirit. The apostles had to wait until the day of Pentecost, but since then all believers are baptized with the Holy Spirit at salvation (see note on 1 Cor. 12:13; cf. Rom. 8:9; 1 Cor. 6:19–20; Titus 3:5–6). not many days from now. God’s promise was fulfilled just 10 days later.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:6 restore the kingdom to Israel. The apostles still believed the earthly form of the kingdom of Messiah would soon be re-established (cf. Luke 19:11; 24:21). They also knew that Ezek. 36 and Joel 2 connected the coming of the kingdom with the outpouring of the Spirit whom Jesus had promised.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:7 This verse shows that the apostles’ expectation of a literal, earthly kingdom mirrored what Christ taught and what the OT predicted. Otherwise, he would have corrected them about such a crucial aspect of his teaching. times or seasons. These two words refer to features, eras, and events that will be part of his earthly kingdom reign, which will begin at the second coming (Matt. 25:21–34). The exact time of his return, however, remains unrevealed (Mark 13:32; cf. Deut. 29:29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:8 The apostles’ mission of spreading the gospel was the major reason the Holy Spirit empowered them. This event dramatically altered world history, and the gospel message eventually reached all parts of the earth (Matt. 28:19–20). receive power. The apostles had already experienced the Holy Spirit’s saving, guiding, teaching, and miracle-working power. Soon they would receive his indwelling presence and a new dimension of power for witness (see notes on Acts 2:4; 1 Cor. 6:19–20; Eph. 3:16, 20). witnesses. People who tell the truth about Jesus Christ (cf. John 14:26; 1 Pet. 3:15). The Greek word means “one who dies for his faith” because that was commonly the price of witnessing. Judea. The region in which Jerusalem was located. Samaria. The region immediately to the north of Judea (see note on Acts 8:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:9 lifted up. See note on v. 2. God the Father took Jesus, in his resurrection body, from this world to his rightful place at the Father’s right hand (Luke 24:51; cf. Acts 2:33; John 17:1–6). a cloud. A visible reminder that God’s glory was present as the apostles watched the ascension. For some of them, this was not the first time they had witnessed divine glory (Mark 9:26); neither will it be the last time clouds accompany Jesus (Mark 13:26; 14:62; see note on Rev. 1:7).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:10 two men . . . in white robes. Two angels in the form of men (cf. Gen. 18:2; Josh. 5:13–15; Mark 16:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:11 Men of Galilee. All the apostles were from Galilee except for Judas, who had killed himself by this time (cf. v. 18). in the same way. Christ one day will return to earth (to the Mount of Olives), in the same way he ascended (with clouds), to set up his kingdom (cf. Dan. 7:13; Zech. 14:4; Matt. 24:30; 26:64; Rev. 1:7; 14:14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:12 mount called Olivet. Located across the Kidron Valley, east of Jerusalem, this large hill rising about 200 feet higher in elevation than the city, was the site from which Jesus ascended into heaven (Luke 24:50–51). Sabbath day’s journey. One-half of a mile (about 2,000 cubits), the farthest distance a faithful Jew could travel on the Sabbath to accommodate the prohibition of Ex. 16:29. This measurement was derived from tradition based on Israel’s encampments in the wilderness. The tents farthest out on the camp’s perimeter were 2,000 cubits from the center tabernacle—the longest distance anyone had to walk to reach the tabernacle on the Sabbath (Josh. 3:4; cf. Num. 35:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:13 upper room. Where the Last Supper may have been celebrated (Mark 14:15) and where Jesus had appeared to the apostles after his resurrection. Bartholomew. This disciple is also called Nathanael (John 1:45–49; 21:2). James the son of Alphaeus. See note on Matt. 10:2. The same person as “James the younger,” so called to distinguish him from James, the brother of John (Mark 15:40). Zealot. See note on Matt. 10:4. Judas the son of James. The preferred rendering is “the brother of.” See note on Matt. 10:3. He was also known as Thaddaeus (Mark 3:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:14 devoting themselves to prayer. The pattern of praying in the name of Jesus started at this time (cf. John 14:13–14). with the women. Doubtless they included Mary Magdalene, Mary the wife of Clopas, the sisters Mary and Martha, and Salome. Some of the apostles’ wives also may have been present (cf. 1 Cor. 9:5). Mary the mother of Jesus. See notes on Luke 1:27–28. Mary’s name does not appear again in the NT. brothers. Jesus’ half brothers, named in Mark 6:3 as James, Joses, Judas, and Simon. James was the leader of the Jerusalem church (Acts 12:17; 15:13–22) and author of the epistle that bears his name. Judas (Jude) wrote the epistle of Jude. At this time they were new believers in Jesus as God, Savior, and Lord, whereas only eight months earlier John had mentioned their unbelief (John 7:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:15 In those days. Some unspecified time during the believers' 10 days of prayer and fellowship between the ascension and Pentecost. Peter. See note on Matt. 10:2. The acknowledged leader of the apostles took charge.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:16 Brothers. The 120 believers who were gathered (v. 15). the Scripture had to be fulfilled. The two OT passages Peter quotes in v. 20 are Ps. 69:25; 109:8. When God gives prophecies, they will come to pass (cf. Ps. 115:3; Isa. 46:10; 55:11). the Holy Spirit . . . by the mouth of David. Scripture contains no clearer description of divine inspiration. God spoke through David's mouth, actually referring to his writing (see note on 2 Pet. 1:21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:17 allotted his share in this ministry. Judas Iscariot was a member of the Twelve, but was never truly saved, which is why he was called “the son of destruction” (John 17:12). See Matt. 26:24; John 6:64, 70–71; cf. Acts 2:23 and Luke 22:22.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:18 this man acquired a field. Because the field was bought with the money the Jewish leaders paid Judas to betray Jesus, which he returned to them (Matt. 27:3–10), Luke refers to Judas as if he was the buyer (cf. Zech. 11:12–13). reward of his wickedness. The 30 pieces of silver paid to Judas. falling headlong. Apparently the tree on which Judas chose to hang himself (Matt. 27:5) overlooked a cliff. Likely, the rope or branch broke (or the knot slipped) and his body was shattered on the rocks below.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:19 Akeldama . . . Field of Blood. This is the Aramaic name of the field bought by the Jewish leaders. Traditionally, the field is located south of Jerusalem in the Valley of Hinnom, where that valley crosses the Kidron Valley. The soil there was good for making pottery, thus Matthew identifies it as “the potter's field” (Matt. 27:7, 10; see notes on Acts 1:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:20 it is written. See note on v. 16. Peter used the most compelling proof, Scripture, to reassure the believers that Judas's defection and the choice of his replacement were both in God's purpose (cf. Ps. 55:12–15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:21 went in and out among us. The first requirement for Judas's successor was that he had participated in Jesus' earthly ministry.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:22 baptism of John. Jesus' baptism by John the Baptist (Matt. 3:13–17; Mark 1:9–11; Luke 3:21–23). with us a witness to his resurrection. A second requirement for Judas's successor was that he had to have seen the resurrected Christ. The resurrection was central to apostolic preaching (cf. Acts 2:24, 32; 3:15; 5:30; 10:40; 13:30–37).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:23 Barsabbas . . . Justus. Barsabbas means “son of the Sabbath.” Justus (“the righteous”) was Joseph's Latin name. Many Jews in the Roman Empire had equivalent Gentile names. Matthias. The name means “gift of God.” The ancient historian Eusebius claims Matthias was among the 70 of Luke 10:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:24 you have chosen. Judas's successor was sovereignly determined (see notes on v. 20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:25 his own place. Judas chose his own fate of hell by rejecting Christ. It is not unfair to say that Judas and all others who go to hell belong there (cf. John 6:70).

ACTS—NOTE ON 1:26 cast lots. A common OT method of determining God's will (cf. Lev. 16:8–10; Josh. 7:14; Prov. 18:18; see note on Prov. 16:33). This is the last biblical mention of lots—the coming of the Spirit made them unnecessary.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:1 day of Pentecost. “Pentecost” means “fiftieth” and refers to the Feast of Weeks (Ex. 34:22–23) or Harvest (Lev. 23:16), which was celebrated 50 days after Passover in May/June (Lev. 23:15–22). It was one of three annual feasts for which the nation was to come to Jerusalem (see note on Ex. 23:14–19). At Pentecost, an offering of firstfruits was made (Lev. 23:20). The Holy Spirit came on this day as the firstfruits of the believer's inheritance (cf. 2 Cor. 5:5; Eph. 1:11, 14). Those gathered into the church then were also the firstfruits of the full harvest of all believers to come after. in one place. The upper room mentioned in Acts 1:13.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:2 a sound like a mighty rushing wind. Luke's simile described God's action of sending the Holy Spirit. Wind is frequently used in Scripture as a picture of the Spirit (cf. Ezek. 37:9–10; John 3:8).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:3 The disciples could not comprehend the significance of the Spirit’s arrival without the Lord sovereignly illustrating what was occurring with a visible phenomenon. tongues as of fire. Just as the sound, like wind, was symbolic, these were not literal flames of fire but supernatural indicators, like fire, that God had sent the Holy Spirit upon each believer. In Scripture, fire often denoted the divine presence (cf. Ex. 3:2–6). God’s use of a fire-like appearance here parallels what he did with the dove when Jesus was baptized (Matt. 3:11; Luke 3:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:4 all. The apostles and the 120. Cf. Joel 2:28–32. filled with the Holy Spirit. In contrast to the baptism with the Spirit, which is the one-time act by which God places believers into his body (see notes on 1 Cor. 12:13), the filling is a repeated reality of Spirit-controlled behavior that God commands believers to maintain (see notes on Eph. 5:18). Peter and many others in Acts 2 were filled with the Spirit again (e.g., Acts 4:8, 31; 6:5; 7:55) and so spoke boldly the word of God. The fullness of the Spirit affects all areas of life, not just speaking boldly (cf. Eph. 5:19–33). in other tongues. Known languages (see notes on Acts 2:6; 1 Cor. 14:1–25), not ecstatic utterances. These languages given by the Spirit were a sign of judgment to unbelieving Israel (see notes on 1 Cor. 14:21–22). They also showed that from then on God’s people would come from all nations, and marked the transition from Israel to the church. Tongues speaking occurs only twice more in Acts (Acts 10:46; 19:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:5 Jews, devout men. Hebrew males who made the pilgrimage to Jerusalem. They were expected to celebrate Pentecost (see note on v. 1) in Jerusalem, as part of observing the Jewish religious calendar. See note on Ex. 23:14–19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:6 this sound. The noise like gusty wind (v. 2), not the sound of the various languages. speak in his own language. As the believers were speaking, each pilgrim in the crowd recognized the language or dialect from his own country.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:7 Galileans. Inhabitants of the mostly rural area of northern Israel around the Sea of Galilee. Galilean Jews spoke with a distinct regional accent and were considered to be unsophisticated and uneducated by the southern Judean Jews. When Galileans were seen to be speaking so many different languages, the Judean Jews were astonished.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:9–11 The listing of specific countries and ethnic groups proves again that these utterances were known human languages.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:9 Parthians. They lived in what is modern Iran. Medes. In Daniel’s time, they ruled with the Persians, but had settled in Parthia. Elamites. They were from the southwestern part of the Parthian Empire. Mesopotamia. This means “between the rivers” (the Tigris and Euphrates). Many Jews still lived there, descendants of those who were in captivity and who never returned to the land of Israel (cf. 2 Chron. 36:22–23). Judea. All the region once controlled by David and Solomon, including Syria.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:9–10 Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, Phrygia and Pamphylia. All were districts in Asia Minor, in what is now Turkey.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:10 Egypt. Many Jews lived there, especially in the city of Alexandria. The nation then covered the same general area as modern Egypt. Libya belonging to Cyrene. These districts were west of Egypt, along the North African coast. Rome. The capital of the empire had a sizeable Jewish population, dating from the second century B.C.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:11 proselytes. Gentile converts to Judaism. Jews in Rome were especially active in seeking such converts. Cretans. Residents of the island of Crete, off the southern coast of Greece. Arabians. Jews who lived south of Damascus, among the Nabatean Arabs (cf. Gal. 1:17). we hear them telling. See note on Acts 2:6. mighty works of God. The Christians were quoting from the OT what God had done for his people (cf. Ex. 15:11; Ps. 40:5; 77:11; 96:3; 107:21). Such praises were often heard in Jerusalem during festival times.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:13 new wine. A drink that could have made one drunk.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:14–40 After the Holy Spirit's arrival, the first major event of church history was Peter's sermon, which led to 3,000 conversions and established the church (vv. 41–47).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:14 with the eleven. This number of the apostles included the newly appointed Matthias, who replaced Judas Iscariot (see notes on 1:23–24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:15 the third hour. Calculated in Jewish fashion from sunrise, this was 9:00 A.M.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:16–21 See Introduction to Joel: Interpretive Challenges; see notes on Joel 2:28–32. Joel's prophecy will not be completely fulfilled until the millennial kingdom. But Peter, by using it, shows that Pentecost was a pre-fulfillment, a taste of what will happen in the millennial kingdom when the Spirit is poured out on all flesh (cf. 10:45).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:17 last days. This phrase refers to the present era of redemptive history from the first coming of Christ (Heb. 1:2; 1 Pet. 1:20; 1 John 2:18) to his return. my Spirit. See notes on Acts 1:2, 5, 8. all flesh. This indicates all people will receive the Holy Spirit, because everyone who enters the millennial kingdom will be redeemed (cf. Matt. 24:29–25:46; Rev. 20:4–6). visions . . . dreams. Dreams (Gen. 20:3; Dan. 7:1) and visions (Gen. 15:1; Rev. 9:17) were some of God's most memorable means of revelation since they were pictorial in nature. While they were not limited to believers (e.g., Abimelech, Gen. 20:3; and Pharaoh, Gen. 41:1–8), they were primarily reserved for prophets and apostles (cf. Num. 12:6). While frequent in the OT, they were rare in the NT. In Acts, most of God's visions were associated with either Peter (Acts 10–11) or Paul (chs. 9, 18; cf. 2 Cor. 12:1). Most frequently they were used to reveal apocalyptic imagery (cf. Ezekiel, Daniel, Zechariah, Revelation). They were not considered normal in biblical times, nor should they be so now. The time will come, however, when God will use visions and dreams during the tribulation period as predicted by Joel 2:28–32.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:18 prophecy. The proclamation of God’s truth will be pervasive in the millennial kingdom.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:19 wonders . . . signs. Cf. 4:30; 5:12; 14:3; 15:12. “Wonders” is the amazement people experience when witnessing supernatural works (miracles). “Signs” point to the power of God behind miracles—marvels have no value unless they point to God and his truth. Such works were often done by the Holy Spirit through the apostles (5:12–16) and their associates (6:8) to authenticate them as the messengers of God’s truth. Cf. 2 Cor. 12:12; Heb. 2:3–4. blood . . . fire . . . vapor of smoke. These phenomena are all connected with events surrounding Christ’s second coming and signal the establishment of the earthly kingdom: blood (Rev. 6:8; 8:7–8; 9:15; 14:20; 16:3); fire (Rev. 8:5, 7–8, 10); and smoke (Rev. 9:2–3, 17–18; 18:9, 18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:20 sun . . . darkness . . . moon to blood. Cf. Matt. 24:29–30; see note on Rev. 6:12. day of the Lord. See Introduction to Joel: Interpretive Challenges; see note on 1 Thess. 5:2. This day of the Lord will come with the return of Jesus Christ (cf. 2 Thess. 2:2; Rev. 19:11–15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:21 everyone who calls. Up to that hour of judgment and wrath, any who turn to Christ as Lord and Savior will be saved (see notes on Rom. 10:10–13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:22–36 Here is the main body of Peter’s sermon, in which he presented and defended Jesus Christ as Israel’s Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:22 Jesus of Nazareth. The humble name that often identified the Lord during his earthly ministry (Matt. 21:11; Mark 10:47; Luke 24:19; John 18:5). attested . . . with mighty works and wonders and signs. By a variety of supernatural means and works, God validated Jesus as the Messiah (cf. Matt. 11:1–6; Luke 7:20–23; John 3:2; 5:17–20; 8:28; Phil. 2:9; see notes on Acts 1:3 and 2:19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:23 according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God. From eternity past (2 Tim. 1:9; Rev. 13:8) God predetermined that Jesus would die an atoning death as part of his pre-ordained plan (Acts 4:27–28; 13:27–29). hands of lawless men. An indictment against “men of Israel” (2:22), those unbelieving Jews who instigated Jesus’ death, which was carried out by the Romans. That the crucifixion was predetermined by God does not absolve the guilt of those who caused it.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:24 not possible. Because of his divine power (John 11:25; Heb. 2:14) and God’s promise and purpose (Luke 24:46; John 2:18–22; 1 Cor. 15:16–26), death could not keep Jesus in the grave.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:25–28 David says. The Lord was speaking of his resurrection prophetically through David (see note on Ps. 16:10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:27 Hades. Cf. v. 31; see note on Luke 16:23. The NT equivalent of the OT grave or “Sheol.” Though sometimes it identifies hell (Matt. 11:23), here it refers to the general place of the dead.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:29 his tomb is with us. A reminder to the Jews that David’s body had never been raised, so he could not be the fulfillment of the prophecy of Ps. 16.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:30–32 Peter expounds the meaning of Ps. 16 as referring not to David, but to Jesus Christ. He would be raised to reign (Acts 2:30; cf. Ps. 2:1–9; 89:3).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:30 therefore a prophet. Peter quoted Ps. 132:11. As God’s spokesman, David knew that God would keep his oath (2 Sam. 7:11–16) and Christ would come.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:31 Peter quoted Ps. 16:10.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:32 God raised up. Cf. v. 24; 10:40; 17:31; 1 Cor. 6:14; Eph. 1:20. That he did so attests to his approval of Christ’s work on the cross. we all are witnesses. The early preachers preached the resurrection (Acts 3:15, 26; 4:10; 5:30; 10:40; 13:30, 33–34, 37; 17:31).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:33 After Jesus was risen and ascended, God’s promise to send the Holy Spirit was fulfilled (cf. John 7:39; Gal. 3:14) and manifest that day. exalted at the right hand of God. See note on Acts 7:55.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:34 The Lord said to my Lord. Peter quoted another psalm (Ps. 110:1) concerning the exaltation of Messiah by ascension to the right hand of God, and reminds the reader that it was not fulfilled by David (as bodily resurrection had not yet been; see note on Acts 2:29), but by Jesus Christ (v. 36). Peter had been an eyewitness to that ascension (1:9–11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:36 Peter summarizes his sermon with a powerful statement of certainty: the OT prophecies of resurrection and exaltation provide evidence that overwhelmingly points to the crucified Jesus as the Messiah. both Lord and Christ. Jesus is God as well as anointed Messiah (cf. Rom. 1:4; 10:9; 1 Cor. 12:3; Phil. 2:9, 11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:37 cut to the heart. The Greek word for “cut” means “stab,” and thus denotes something sudden and unexpected. In grief, remorse, and intense spiritual conviction, Peter’s listeners were stunned by his indictment that they had killed their Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:38 Repent. This refers to a change of mind and purpose that turns an individual from sin to God (1 Thess. 1:9). Such change involves more than fearing the consequences of God’s judgment. Genuine repentance knows that the evil of sin must be forsaken and the person and work of Christ totally and singularly embraced. Peter exhorted his hearers to repent, otherwise they would not experience true conversion (see note on Matt. 3:2; cf. Acts 3:19; 5:31; 8:22; 11:18; 17:30; 20:21; 26:20; Matt. 4:17). be baptized. This Greek word lit. means “be dipped or immersed” in water. Peter was obeying Christ’s command from Matt. 28:19 and urging the people who repented and turned to the Lord Christ for salvation to identify, through the waters of baptism, with his death, burial, and resurrection (cf. Acts 19:5; Rom. 6:3, 4; 1 Cor. 12:13; Gal. 3:27; see notes on Matt. 3:2). This is the first time the apostles publicly enjoined people to obey that ceremony. Prior to this, many Jews had experienced the baptism of John the Baptist, (see notes on Matt. 3:1–3) and were also familiar with the baptism of Gentile converts to Judaism (proselytes). in the name of Jesus Christ. For the new believer, it was a crucial but costly identification to accept. for the forgiveness of your sins. This might better be translated “because of the forgiveness of sins.” Baptism does not produce forgiveness and cleansing from sin. See notes on 1 Pet. 3:20–21. The reality of forgiveness precedes the rite of baptism (Acts 2:41). Genuine repentance brings from God the forgiveness of sins (cf. Eph. 1:7), and because of that the new believer was to be baptized. Baptism, however, was to be the ever-present act of obedience, so that it became synonymous with salvation. Thus to say one was baptized for forgiveness was the same as saying one was saved. See note on “one baptism” in Eph. 4:5. Every believer enjoys the complete forgiveness of sins (Matt. 26:28; Luke 24:47; Eph. 1:7; Col. 2:13; 1 John 2:12). the gift of the Holy Spirit. See notes on Acts 1:5, 8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:39 the promise. See note on 1:4. all who are far off. Gentiles, who would also share in the blessings of salvation (cf. Eph. 2:11–13). everyone whom the Lord our God calls. Salvation is ultimately from the Lord. See note on Rom. 3:24.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:41 those who received his word were baptized. See note on v. 38. three thousand. Luke’s use of a specific number suggests records were kept of conversions and baptisms (see note on v. 38). Archeological work on the south side of the temple mount has uncovered numerous Jewish mikvahs, large baptistry-like facilities where Jewish worshipers would immerse themselves in ritual purification before entering the temple. More than enough existed to facilitate the large number of baptisms in a short amount of time.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:42 apostles’ teaching. The foundational content for the believer’s spiritual growth and maturity was the Scripture, God’s revealed truth, which the apostles received (see notes on John 14:26; 15:26–27; 16:13) and taught faithfully. See notes on 2 Pet. 1:19–21; 3:1, 2, 16. fellowship. Lit., “partnership,” or “sharing.” Because Christians become partners with Jesus Christ and all other believers (1 John 1:3), it is their spiritual duty to stimulate one another to righteousness and obedience (cf. Rom. 12:10; 13:8; 15:5; Gal. 5:13; Eph. 4:2, 25; 5:21; Col. 3:9; 1 Thess. 4:9; Heb. 3:13; 10:24–25; 1 Pet. 4:9–10). breaking of bread. A reference to the Lord’s Table, or Communion, which is mandatory for all Christians to observe (cf. 1 Cor. 11:24–29). prayers. Of individual believers and the church corporately (see Acts 1:14, 24; 4:24–31; cf. John 14:13–14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:43 wonders and signs. See note on v. 19. In the NT, the ability to perform miracles was limited to the apostles and their close colleagues (e.g., Philip in 8:13; cf. 2 Cor. 12:12; Heb. 2:3–4). These produced awe and respect for divine power.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:44 all things in common. See 4:32. This phrase conveys not that the early Christians lived in a commune or pooled and redistributed everything equally, but that they held their own possessions lightly, ready to use them at any moment for someone else, as needs arose.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:45 selling their possessions. This indicates that they had not pooled their resources (see note on v. 44) but sold their own possessions to provide money for those of the church in need (cf. v. 46; 4:34–37; 2 Cor. 8:13–14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:46 day by day . . . the temple. Believers went to the temple to praise God (v. 47), observe the daily hours of prayer (cf. 3:1), and witness to the gospel (2:47; 5:42). breaking bread in their homes. This has reference to the daily meals that believers shared with one another. glad and generous hearts. The Jerusalem church was joyful because its single focus was on Jesus Christ. See notes on 2 Cor. 11:3 and Phil. 3:13–14.

ACTS—NOTE ON 2:47 the Lord added. Cf. v. 39 and 5:14. See note on Matt. 16:18. Salvation is God's sovereign work.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:1 the hour of prayer, the ninth hour. 3:00 P.M. The Jews had three daily times of prayer (Ps. 55:17); the other two were 9:00 A.M. (third hour) and 12:00 noon (sixth hour).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:2 gate of the temple . . . called the Beautiful Gate. A large and ornate gate inside the temple mount on the eastern side, separating the Court of the Gentiles from the Court of the Women. alms. A charitable donation of money.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:3 into the temple. Beggars considered the temple the best site to operate because the daily throngs came to impress God with their pious good works, including offerings at the temple treasury.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:10 Beautiful Gate. See note on v. 2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:11 portico called Solomon's. A portico surrounding the temple's Court of the Gentiles. This was also where Jesus had taught about the Good Shepherd (John 10:23). Cf. Isa. 35:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:13 The God of Abraham . . . Isaac . . . Jacob. A description of God familiar to Peter's Jewish audience (cf. Ex. 3:6, 15; 1 Kings 18:36; 1 Chron. 29:18; 2 Chron. 30:6; Matt. 22:32). He used this formula, which stressed God's covenant faithfulness, to demonstrate that he declared the same God and Messiah whom the prophets had proclaimed. his servant Jesus. Peter depicted Jesus as God's personal representative. This is an unusual NT title for Jesus, used only four other places (Acts 3:26; 4:27, 30; Matt. 12:18), but a more familiar OT name for Messiah (Isa. 42:1–4, 19; 49:5–7; see notes on 52:13–53:12; cf. Matt. 20:28; John 6:38; 8:28; 13:1–7). Pilate . . . decided to release him. Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor at Jesus' trial, came from a national tradition that strongly supported justice (cf. Acts 16:37–38; 22:25–29; 25:16). He knew Jesus' crucifixion would be unjust and therefore declared him innocent six times (Luke 23:4, 14–15, 22; John 18:38; 19:4, 6) and repeatedly sought to release him (Luke 23:13–22; see notes on John 19:12–13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:14 the Holy and Righteous One. Cf. Ps. 16:10; Luke 4:34; John 6:69. murderer. Barabbas (Matt. 27:16–21; Mark 15:11; Luke 23:18; John 18:40).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:15 killed . . . God raised . . . we are witnesses. Peter's confident and forceful declaration (cf. 1 Cor. 15:3–7) was a clear defense of and provided further evidence for Christ's resurrection. Peter's claim was undeniable; the Jews never showed any evidence, such as Jesus' corpse, to disprove it. Author of life. The Greek word for "author" means originator, pioneer, or beginner of something. It describes Jesus as the Divine Originator of life (cf. Ps. 36:9; Heb. 2:10; 12:2; 1 John 5:11, 20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:18 foretold by the mouth of all the prophets. Cf. Gen. 3:15; Ps. 22; Isa. 53; Zech. 12:10.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:19 Repent therefore, and turn. See notes on 2:38 and Matt. 3:2. "Turn" is a frequent NT word that relates to sinners turning to God (Acts 9:35; 14:15; 26:18, 20; Luke 1:16–17; 2 Cor. 3:16; 1 Pet. 2:25). your sins . . . blotted out. Cf. Ps. 51:9; Isa. 43:25; 44:22. "Blotted out" compares forgiveness to the complete wiping away of ink from the surface of a document (Col. 2:14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:19–21 times of refreshing . . . time for restoring all the things. "Times" means epoch, era, or season. Two descriptions are given to the coming era of the millennial kingdom. This is clear because they bracket the reference to Jesus Christ being sent from God to bring those times. Peter points to Christ's earthly reign (see notes on 1:7; cf. Rom. 11:26). The period will be marked by all kinds of blessings and renewal (cf. Isa. 11:6–10; 35:1–10; Ezek. 34:26; 44:3; Joel 2:26; Matt. 19:28; Rev. 19:1–10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:22 Quoted from Deut. 18:15. Moses was revered by the Jews as their first and greatest prophet, and the Jews viewed the prophet “like him” to refer to the Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:23 Quoted from Deut. 18:19; cf. Lev. 23:29. Peter’s audience was in the precarious position of losing covenant blessings by rejecting the Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:24 prophets . . . from Samuel. Samuel was called a prophet in the OT (1 Sam. 3:20). Although he did not directly prophesy about Christ, he did anoint David as king and speak of his kingdom (1 Sam. 13:14; 15:28; 16:13; 28:17), and the promises David received were and will be fulfilled in Christ (cf. 2 Sam. 7:10–16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:25 in your offspring. Quoted from Gen. 22:18 and 26:4. Jesus Christ was the ultimate fulfillment of the Abrahamic Covenant and its blessings (Gal. 3:16), which are still available to the Jews.

ACTS—NOTE ON 3:26 God, having raised up. See note on 2:32. his servant. See note on 3:13.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:1 priests. The office of priest in the OT began with Aaron and his sons (Lev. 8). They became the human intermediaries between holy God and sinful humanity. They were characterized by three qualities: 1) they were chosen and set apart for priestly service by God; 2) they were to be holy in character; and 3) they were the only ones allowed to come near to God on behalf of the people, with the high priest being the chief go-between on the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16). Cf. Num. 16:5. the captain of the temple. Chief of the temple police force (composed of Levites) and second-ranking official to the high priest. The Romans had delegated the temple-policing responsibility to the Jews. Sadducees. See notes on Acts 23:8 and Matt. 3:7.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:2 proclaiming in Jesus the resurrection. This part of the apostles’ message was the most objectionable to the Jewish leaders. They had executed Christ as a blasphemer and now Peter and John were proclaiming his resurrection.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:3 already evening. The Jews detained Peter and John overnight in jail because Jewish law did not permit trials at night. It had been too late to convene the Sanhedrin (see note on v. 15) that afternoon, so the apostles would face a hearing the next day before that council.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:4 five thousand. The cumulative total of men in the Jerusalem church by this time, not the number of those converted after Peter's latest message.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:5 rulers and elders and scribes. These positions made up the Jewish ruling body, the Sanhedrin (see note on v. 15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:6 Annas . . . Caiaphas. See note on John 18:13. Even though Annas (A.D. 6–15) had been replaced and Caiaphas was now high priest (A.D. 18–36), he retained his title and wielded great influence. John . . . Alexander. Their identities are uncertain. "John" could be an alternate reading for "Jonathan," who was one of Annas's sons and replaced Caiaphas as high priest in A.D. 36.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:8–12 Peter put the Sanhedrin on trial by preaching the gospel to those same men who condemned Jesus Christ and made themselves enemies of God.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:8 filled with the Holy Spirit. See note on 2:4. Because Peter was under the control of the Spirit, he was able to face persecution and preach the gospel with power (cf. Luke 12:11–12). Rulers . . . elders. See note on Acts 4:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:11 rejected . . . the cornerstone. Quoted from Ps. 118:22 (see note); cf. Eph. 2:19–22 and 1 Pet. 2:4–8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:12 no other name. This refers to the exclusivism of salvation by faith in Jesus Christ. There are only two religious paths: the broad way of works-salvation, leading to eternal death, and the narrow way of faith in Jesus, leading to eternal life (Matt. 7:13–14; cf. John 10:7–8; 14:6). Sadly, the Sanhedrin and its followers were on the first path.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:13 uneducated, common men. Peter and John were not educated in the rabbinical schools and had no formal training in OT theology.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:15–17 It would be risky to punish the two apostles when they had broken no laws and had performed a miracle that captured the entire city's attention. But the Sanhedrin believed it had to stop the preaching of the incriminating truth that its members had executed the Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:15 council. The Sanhedrin, the Jews’ national ruling body and supreme court. It had 71 members, including the high priest (see note on v. 5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:19 to listen to you rather than to God. Christians should obey governmental authority (Rom. 13:1–7; 1 Pet. 2:13–17), but when government decrees are clearly contrary to God’s word, God must be obeyed (cf. Ex. 1:15–17; Dan. 6:4–10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:23 chief priests. A small group within the Sanhedrin (see note on v. 15), composed of former high priests and members of influential priestly families (see note on Matt. 2:4). elders. See note on Acts 4:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:24–30 Peter and John’s experience did not frighten or discourage the other disciples, but exhilarated them. They took confidence in God’s sovereign control of all events, even their sufferings. Furthermore, they were comforted that the opposition whom they were facing was foreseen in the OT (vv. 25–26).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:24 Lord. The Greek word is an uncommon NT title for God that means “absolute master” (Luke 2:29; 2 Tim. 2:21; 2 Pet. 2:1; Jude 4; Rev. 6:10), which represented the disciples’ recognition of God’s sovereignty.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:25 through the mouth of our father David. See note on 1:16. In the events of recent days, the disciples saw a fulfillment of Ps. 2:1–2, which they quoted.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:28 your hand and your plan. God has written all of history according to his eternal plan. The crucifixion of Jesus was no exception (see note on 2:23; cf. Rom. 8:29–30; 1 Cor. 2:7; Eph. 1:5–11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:30 signs and wonders. See note on 2:19. holy servant. See note on 3:13.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:31 was shaken. As on Pentecost, a physical phenomenon indicated the presence of the Holy Spirit (see notes on 2:2–3). filled with the Holy Spirit. See notes on 4:8 and 2:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:32–35 had everything in common. See notes on 2:44–46. Believers understood that all they had belonged to God, and therefore when a brother or sister had a need, those who could meet it were obligated to do so (cf. James 2:15–16; 1 John 3:17). The method was to give the money to the apostles, who would distribute it (Acts 4:35, 37).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:33 giving their testimony to the resurrection. See note on

1:22. great grace. This means “favor” and carries a twofold meaning here: 1) favor from the people outside the church. Because of the believers’ love and unity, the common people were impressed (cf. 2:47); and 2) favor from God, who was granting blessing.

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:36 Joseph . . . Barnabas . . . a Levite. Luke introduces Barnabas as a role model from among those who donated property proceeds. Barnabas was a member of the priestly tribe of the Levites and a native of the island of Cyprus. He becomes an associate of Paul and a prominent figure later in the book (cf. 9:26–27; 11:22–24, 30; chs. 13–15). Cyprus. Barnabas was from Cyprus, the third largest island in the Mediterranean after Sicily and Sardinia, located some 60 miles west off the Syrian coast (see note on 13:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 4:37 sold a field that belonged. The OT prohibited Levites from owning property in Israel (Num. 18:20, 24; Deut. 10:9), but that law was apparently no longer in force. It is also possible that the land was in Cyprus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:1 Ananias . . . Sapphira. These are two classic examples of hypocrisy among Christians who faked their spirituality to impress others (cf. Matt. 6:1–6, 16–18; 15:7; 23:13–36). They were in the “number of those who believed” (Acts 4:32) and were involved with the Holy Spirit (5:3), but remained hypocrites.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:2 kept back . . . some of the proceeds. This was not a sin in and of itself. However, they had promised, perhaps publicly, that they were giving the full amount received to the Lord. Their outward sin was lying about how much they were giving to the church, but the deeper, more devastating sin was their spiritual hypocrisy based on selfishness.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:3 Satan filled your heart. Ananias and Sapphira were satanically inspired in contrast to Barnabas’s Spirit-filled gesture (4:37).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:3–4 lie to the Holy Spirit. Ananias must have promised the Lord he would give the whole amount. He lied to the ever-present Holy Spirit in him (1 Cor. 6:19–20) and in the church (Eph. 2:21–22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:5 great fear. See v. 11. They were afraid about the seriousness of hypocrisy and sin in the church. The people learned that death can be the consequence of sin (see 1 Cor. 11:30–32; 1 John 5:16). That fear extended beyond those present to all who heard about the divine judgment (Acts 5:11). Cf.

1 Pet. 3:10 and 4:17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:6–10 The Jews did not embalm, but customarily buried the dead the same day, especially someone who died by divine judgment (see Deut. 21:22–23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:9 to test the Spirit of the Lord. Sapphira had gone too far in presuming upon God’s forbearance. The folly of such blatant human presumption had to be shown as a sin, hence the ultimate divine chastening that followed.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:11 church. This is the first use of “church” in Acts, although it is the most common word used to describe the assembly of those who had believed (cf. 4:32).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:12 signs and wonders. See note on 2:19. Solomon’s Portico. See note on 3:11.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:13 None . . . dared join them. See note on v. 5. These unbelievers had respect for the followers of Jesus, but feared the deadly potential of joining the church.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:14 believers . . . men and women. While the unbelievers stayed away due to fear of the consequence of sin, there were multitudes who heard the gospel witness, gladly believed, and joined the church.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:15 Peter . . . his shadow. The people truly believed he had divine healing power and that it might even extend to them through his shadow (cf. 3:1–10). But Scripture does not say Peter’s shadow ever healed anyone; in fact, the healing power of God through him seemed to go far beyond his shadow (5:16, “people . . . were all healed”). This outpouring of healing was an answer to the prayer in 4:29–30.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:16 unclean spirits. Cf. Matt. 10:1; 12:43–45; Mark 1:23–27; 5:1–13; 6:7; 9:25; Luke 4:36; 8:29; 9:42. They are demons, fallen angels (Rev. 12:3) who are so designated because of their vile wickedness. They frequently live inside unbelievers, particularly those who vent their wicked nature.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:17 high priest. See note on 4:6. Here the title could refer to Annas (cf. 4:6) or Caiaphas. Sadducees. See notes on 23:8 and Matt. 3:7.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:19 an angel of the Lord. This person should not be confused with “the angel of the Lord” in the OT (see note on Ex. 3:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:20 all the words of this Life. The gospel (cf. Phil. 2:16; 1 John 1:1–4). Jesus Christ came into this world to provide abundant and eternal life to spiritually dead people (cf. John 1:4; 11:25; 1 John 5:20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:28 teaching. The gospel of Jesus Christ (see notes on 2:14–40; 4:12–13). this man’s blood upon us. The Sanhedrin had apparently forgotten the brash statement its supporters had made before Pilate that the responsibility for Jesus’ death should be on them and their children (Matt. 27:25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:29 obey God rather than men. See note on 4:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:30 hanging him on a tree. Cf. Deut. 21:23 and Gal. 3:13.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:31 God exalted him at his right hand. See notes on 1:9; Mark 16:19; Phil. 2:9–11. Leader. See note on Acts 3:15. repentance to Israel. Salvation for the Jews. Salvation demands repentance (cf. 2:38; 3:19; 17:30; 20:21; 26:20). For the nature of repentance, see notes on 2 Cor. 7:9–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:32 so is the Holy Spirit. Every believer receives the Spirit the moment one is saved by obeying the gospel (see note on 2:4; cf. Rom. 8:9; 1 Cor. 6:19–20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:34 Gamaliel. Like his grandfather, the prominent rabbi Hillel, Gamaliel—the most noted rabbi of his time—led the liberal faction of the Pharisees. His most famous student was the apostle Paul (22:3).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:36 Theudas. An otherwise unknown individual who led a revolt in Judea in the early years of the first century, not to be confused with a later Theudas cited in Josephus as a revolutionary.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:37 Judas the Galilean rose up. The founder of the Zealots who led another revolt in Palestine early in the first century. Zealots, a party of Jews who were fanatical nationalists, believed that radical action was required to overthrow the Roman power in Palestine. They even sought to take up arms against Rome. days of the census. One ordered by Quirinius, governor of Syria, in 6–7 B.C. (cf. Luke 2:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:38–39 Members of the Sanhedrin heeded Gamaliel’s words concerning the apostles. But, based on his knowledge of Scripture, Gamaliel should have been more decisive and less pragmatic about accepting Jesus as the risen Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 5:40 beat them. The apostles were unjustly flogged, probably with 39 lashes, the standard number given to avoid exceeding the OT legal limit of 40 (cf. Deut. 25:3).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:1 increasing in number. See note on 4:4. The figure could have reached over 20,000 men and women. Hellenists . . . Hebrews. “Hellenists” were Jews from the Diaspora; “Hebrews” were the native Jewish population of Palestine. The Hellenists’ absorption of aspects of Greek culture made them suspect to the Palestinian Jews. widows were being neglected. The Hellenists believed their widows were not receiving an adequate share of the food the church provided for their care (cf. 1 Tim. 5:3–16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:2 serve tables. The word translated “tables” can refer to tables used in monetary matters (cf. Matt. 21:12; Mark 11:15; John 2:15), as well as those used for serving meals. To be involved either in financial matters or in serving meals would take the Twelve away from their first priority (see note on Acts 6:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:3 seven men. These were not deacons in terms of the later church office (1 Tim. 3:8–13), although they performed some of the same duties. Stephen and Philip (the only ones of the seven mentioned elsewhere in Scripture) clearly were evangelists, not deacons. Acts later mentions elders (Acts 14:23; 20:17), but not deacons. It seems, therefore, that a permanent order of deacons was not established at that time. full of the Spirit. Cf. 6:5; see notes on 2:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:4 Prayer and the ministry of the word (cf. v. 2) define the highest priorities of church leaders.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:5 The seven men chosen by the church all had Greek names, implying they were all Hellenists. The church, in a display of love and unity, may have chosen them to rectify the apparent imbalance involving the Hellenistic widows. they chose Stephen . . . Nicolaus. For Stephen’s ministry, see 6:9–7:60. His martyrdom became the catalyst for the spread of the gospel beyond Palestine (8:1–4; 11:19). Philip also played a key role in the spread of the gospel (cf. 8:4–24, 26–40). Nothing certain is known of the other five. According to some early traditions, Prochorus became the apostle John’s amanuensis when he wrote his Gospel and Nicolaus was a Gentile convert to Judaism from Antioch.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:6 they prayed and laid their hands on them. This expression was used of Jesus when he healed (Mark 6:5; Luke 4:40; 13:13; cf. Acts 28:8) and sometimes indicated being taken prisoner (5:18; Mark 14:46). In the OT, offerers of sacrifices laid their hands on the animal as an expression of identification (Lev. 8:14, 18, 22; Heb. 6:2). But in the symbolic sense, it signified the affirmation, support, and identification with someone and his ministry. See 1 Tim. 4:14; 5:22; 2 Tim. 1:6; cf. Num. 27:23.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:7 One of Luke’s periodic statements summarizing the growth of the church and the spread of the gospel (cf. 2:41, 47; 4:4; 5:14; 9:31; 12:24; 13:49; 16:5; 19:20). great many of the priests. The conversion of large numbers of priests may account for the vicious opposition that arose against Stephen. became obedient to the faith. See note on Rom. 1:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:8 wonders and signs. See note on 2:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:9 It seems that this verse describes three synagogues: the synagogue of the Freedmen, a second composed of Cyrenians and Alexandrians, and a third composed of those from Cilicia and Asia. Cultural and linguistic differences among the three groups make it unlikely they all attended the same synagogue. synagogue. These were meeting places which began in the intertestamental period where the dispersed Jews (usually Hellenists), who did not have temple access, could meet in their community to worship and read the OT. See note on Mark 1:21. Freedmen. Descendants of Jewish slaves captured by Pompey (63 B.C.) and taken to Rome. They were later freed and formed a Jewish community there. Cyrenians. Men from Cyrene, a city in North Africa. Simon, the man conscripted to carry Jesus’ cross, was a native of Cyrene (Luke 23:26). Alexandrians. Alexandria, another major North African city, was located near the mouth of the Nile River. The powerful preacher Apollos was from Alexandria (see note on Acts 18:24). Cilicia and Asia. Roman provinces in Asia Minor (modern Turkey). Since Paul’s hometown (Tarsus) was located in Cilicia, he probably attended this synagogue. disputed with Stephen. The word translated “disputed” signifies a formal debate. They no doubt focused on such themes as the death and resurrection of Jesus, and the OT evidence that he was the Messiah.

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:11 blasphemous words against Moses and God. Unable to prevail over Stephen in open debate, his enemies resorted to deceit and conspiracy. As with Jesus (Matt. 26:59–61), they secretly recruited false witnesses to spread lies about Stephen. The charges were serious, since blasphemy was punishable by death (Lev. 24:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:14 Jesus . . . will destroy this place. Another lie, since Jesus' words (John 2:19) referred to his own body (John 2:21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 6:15 face of an angel. Pure, calm, unruffled composure, reflecting the presence of God (cf. Ex. 34:29–35).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:1 high priest. See notes on 4:6. Probably Caiaphas (see note on John 18:13–14), who remained in office until A.D. 36. Are these things so? In modern legal terminology, “How do you plead?”

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:2–53 Stephen's response does not seem to answer the high priest's question. Instead, he gave a masterful, detailed defense of the Christian faith from the OT and concluded by condemning the Jewish leaders for rejecting Jesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:2 The God of glory. A title used only here and in Ps. 29:3. God's glory is the sum of his attributes (see notes on Ex. 33:18–19). Abraham . . . Mesopotamia, before he lived in Haran. Genesis 12:1–4 refers to the repeat of this call after Abraham had settled in Haran (c. 500 miles northwest of Ur). Evidently, God had originally called Abraham while he was living in Ur (cf. Gen. 15:7; Neh. 9:7), then repeated that call at Haran (see notes on Gen. 11:31–12:1–3).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:3 Quoted from Gen. 12:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:4 land of the Chaldeans. Where Abraham's original home city of Ur was located (Gen. 11:28, 31; 15:7; Neh. 9:7). after his father died. At first glance, Gen. 11:26, 32 and 12:4 seem to indicate that Terah lived for 60 years after Abraham's departure from Haran. Terah was 70 when his first son was born (Gen. 11:26); Abraham was 75 when he left Haran (Gen. 12:4; Terah would have been 145); and Terah lived to be 205 (Gen. 11:32). The best solution to this apparent difficulty is that Abraham was not Terah's firstborn son, but was mentioned first (Gen. 11:26) because he was most prominent. Abraham, then, would have been born when Terah was 130.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:5 Quoted from Gen. 17:8 and 48:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:6 four hundred years. This is taken directly from Gen. 15:13–14 where God himself rounded off the exact length of Israel's sojourn in Egypt (430 years, Ex. 12:40).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:7 Quoted from Ex. 3:12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:8 covenant of circumcision. Circumcision was the sign of the Abrahamic Covenant (see notes on Gen. 17:11). twelve patriarchs. The 12 sons of Jacob, who became the heads of the 12 tribes of Israel (Gen. 35:22–26).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:13 second visit. Joseph revealed himself to his brothers on their second trip to Egypt to buy grain (Gen. 43:1–3; 45:1–3).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:14 Jacob . . . and all his kindred, seventy-five persons. Genesis 46:26–27; Ex. 1:5; Deut. 10:22 give the figure as 70. However the LXX (the Greek translation of the OT, which as a Hellenist Stephen would have used) in Gen. 46:27 reads “seventy-five.” The additional five people were Joseph's descendants born in Egypt. See notes on Gen. 46:26–27.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:16 they were . . . laid in the tomb. “They” refers to Joseph (Josh. 24:32) and his brothers, but not Jacob, who was buried in Abraham's tomb at Machpelah (Gen. 50:13). the tomb that Abraham had bought . . . of Hamor in Shechem. Joshua 24:32 states that Jacob bought this tomb, although Abraham had earlier built an altar at Shechem (Gen. 12:6–7), and probably purchased the land on which he built it. Abraham did not settle there, however, and the land apparently reverted to the people of Hamor. Jacob then repurchased it from Shechem (Gen. 33:18–20), much like Isaac repurchased the well at Beersheba (Gen. 26:28–31) that Abraham had originally bought (Gen. 21:27–30). It is clear that Joseph was buried at Shechem as he requested (Gen. 50:25; Ex. 13:19; Josh. 24:32). The OT does not record where Joseph's brothers were buried, but Stephen reveals it was in Shechem.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:18 king who did not know Joseph. See note on Ex. 1:8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:19 expose their infants. Only the male babies (Ex. 1:15–22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:20–21 Moses . . . was exposed. In God's providence, however, he was rescued by Pharaoh's daughter. See notes on Ex. 2:5–10.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:23 forty years old. Moses' life may be divided into three 40-year periods. The first 40 years encompassed his birth and life in Pharaoh's court; the second his exile in Midian (vv. 29–30); and the third revolved around the events of the exodus and the years of Israel's wilderness wandering (v. 36).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:27–28 Cf. v. 35. Quoted from Ex. 2:14.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:29 fled . . . Midian. Because he feared Pharaoh would learn of his killing of the Egyptian (v. 28) and view him as the leader of a Jewish rebellion. two sons. Gershom (Ex. 2:22), and Eliezer (Ex. 18:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:30 angel. See note on Ex. 3:2. Mount Sinai. See notes on Ex. 19:3–10.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:32 Quoted from Ex. 3:6, 15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:33 Quoted from Ex. 3:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:34 Quoted from Ex. 3:7–8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:35 This Moses . . . sent as both ruler and redeemer. Thus began Israel's long history of rejecting her Godsent deliverers (cf. Matt. 21:33–46; 23:37). Who made you. Quoted from Ex. 2:14. angel. The angel of the Lord (Acts 7:30). See note on Ex. 3:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:36 wonders and signs. The 10 plagues in Egypt, and the miracles during the wilderness wandering (e.g., the parting of the Red Sea, Ex. 14:1–31; the miraculous provision of water at Rephidim, Ex. 17:1–7; and the destruction of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, Num. 16:1–40). See note on Acts 2:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:37 prophet like me. Quoted from Deut. 18:15, this refers to the Messiah (cf. John 1:21, 25; 6:14; 7:40).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:38 the congregation in the wilderness. Israel (cf. Ex. 12:3, 6, 19, 47; 16:1–2, 9–10; 17:1; 35:1; Lev. 4:13; 16:5; Num. 1:2; 8:9; 13:26; 14:2; Josh. 18:1). the angel . . . at Mount Sinai. Most likely this is the angel of the Lord (Acts 7:30, 35) who was assisted by a multitude of angels (cf. Deut. 33:3; Gal. 3:19; Heb. 2:2). See note on Acts 7:53. living oracles. The law given to Moses by God through the angel of the Lord and a whole host of angels (cf. Heb. 4:12; 1 Pet. 1:23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:39 refused to obey. Israel rejected Moses' leadership and longed to return to slavery in Egypt (cf. Num. 11:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:40 Make for us gods. A man-made representation of a false god (Ex. 32:1–5), which was forbidden (Ex. 20:4). Quoted from Ex. 32:1, 23.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:41 a calf. See note on Ex. 32:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:42 God . . . gave them over. Quoted from Amos 5:25–27. Judicially abandoning the people to their sin and idolatry (cf. Hos. 4:17; see notes on Rom. 1:24, 26, 28). the host of heaven. Israel's idolatrous worship of the sun, moon, and stars began in the wilderness and lasted through the Babylonian captivity (cf. Deut. 4:19; 17:3; 2 Kings 17:16; 21:3–5; 23:4; 2 Chron. 33:3, 5; Jer. 8:2; 19:13; Zeph. 1:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:43 Babylon. Amos wrote "Damascus" (Amos 5:27), while Stephen said "Babylon." Amos was prophesying the captivity of the northern kingdom in Assyria, a deportation beyond Damascus. Later the southern kingdom was taken captive to Babylon. Stephen, inspired to do so, extended the prophecy to embrace the judgment on the whole nation, summarizing their idolatrous history and its results.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:44–50 To counter the false charge that he blasphemed the temple (6:13–14), Stephen recounted its history to show his respect for it.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:44 tent of witness. The predecessor of the temple (Ex. 25:8–9, 40).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:48 Most High. A common OT title for God (cf. Gen. 14:18–20, 22; Num. 24:16; Deut. 32:8; 2 Sam. 22:14; Ps. 7:17; 9:2; 18:13; 21:7; 73:11; 87:5; 91:1; 107:11; Isa. 14:14; Lam. 3:35, 38; Dan. 4:17, 24–25, 32, 34; 7:25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:49–50 Quoted from Isa. 66:1–2. Stephen's point is that God is greater than the temple, and thus the Jewish leaders were guilty of blaspheming by confining God to it.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:51–53 The climax of Stephen’s sermon indicted the Jewish leaders for rejecting God in the same way that their ancestors had rejected him in the OT.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:51 stiff-necked. Obstinate, like their fathers (Ex. 32:9; 33:5). uncircumcised in heart and ears. Thus as unclean before God as the uncircumcised Gentiles (see notes on Deut. 10:16; Jer. 4:4; Rom. 2:28–29). resist the Holy Spirit. By rejecting the Spirit’s messengers and their message. Cf. Jesus’ sermon in Matt. 23:13–39.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:52 the Righteous One. See note on 3:14.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:53 law as delivered by angels. See Deut. 33:2; Gal. 3:19; Heb. 2:2. Scripture does not delineate their precise role in the giving of the law, but clearly states the fact of their presence.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:54 ground their teeth. In anger and frustration (cf. Ps. 35:16; 37:12; Matt. 8:11–12; 13:41–42, 50; 22:13; 24:51; 25:30; Luke 13:28).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:55 full of the Holy Spirit. See note on 2:4. the glory of God. Isaiah (Isa. 6:1–3), Ezekiel (Ezek. 1:26–28), Paul (2 Cor. 12:2–4), and John (Rev. 1:10) also received visions of God’s glory in heaven. at the right hand of God. Jesus is frequently so depicted (Acts 2:34; cf. Matt. 22:44; 26:64; Luke 22:69; Eph. 1:20; Col. 3:1; Heb. 1:3; 8:1; 10:11–12; 12:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:56 Son of Man. See note on Dan. 7:13–14.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:58 laid down their garments . . . Saul. Paul’s first appearance in Scripture. That he was near enough to the action to be holding the clothes of Stephen’s killers reflects his deep involvement in the sordid affair (see note on 8:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:59 stoning. This was the punishment prescribed in the law for blasphemy (Lev. 24:16); however, this was not a formal execution but an act of mob violence.

ACTS—NOTE ON 7:60 do not hold this sin against them. As had Jesus before him (Luke 23:34), Stephen prayed for God to forgive his killers. he fell asleep. A common NT euphemism for the death of believers (cf. John 11:11–14; 1 Cor. 11:30; 15:20, 51; 1 Thess. 4:14; 5:10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:1 approved. Paul’s murderous hatred of all believers was manifested here in his attitude toward Stephen (1 Tim. 1:13–15). scattered. Led by a Jew named Saul of Tarsus, the persecution scattered the Jerusalem fellowship and led to the first missionary outreach of the church. Not all members of the Jerusalem church were forced to flee; the Hellenists, because Stephen was likely one, bore the brunt of the persecution (cf. Acts 11:19–20). except the apostles. They remained because of their devotion to Christ, to care for those at Jerusalem and to continue evangelizing the region (cf. 9:26–27).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:2 Devout men. Probably pious Jews (cf. 2:5; Luke 2:25) who publicly protested Stephen’s death.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:3 ravaging the church. “Ravaging” was used in extrabiblical writings to refer to the destruction of a city or mangling by a wild animal.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:4 went about. This Greek word is used frequently in Acts for missionary efforts (v. 40; 9:32; 13:6; 14:24; 15:3, 41; 16:6; 18:23; 19:1, 21; 20:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:5 Philip. Cf. 6:5. The first missionary named in Scripture and the first to be given the title “evangelist” (21:8). the city of Samaria. The ancient capital of the northern kingdom of Israel, which eventually fell to the Assyrians (722 B.C.) after over 200 years of idolatry and rebellion against God. After resettling many of the people in other lands, the Assyrians located Gentiles from other areas into the region, resulting in a mix of Jews and Gentiles who became known as Samaritans (see notes on John 4:4, 20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:7 unclean spirits. See note on 5:16.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:9 magic. This word originally referred to the practices of the Medo-Persians: a mixture of science and superstition, including astrology, divination, and the occult (see notes on Deut. 18:9–12; Rev. 9:21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:10–11 the power of God that is called Great. Simon claimed to be united to God. The early church Fathers claimed he was one of the founders of Gnosticism, which asserted there were a series of divine emanations reaching up to God. They were called “Powers,” and the people believed he was at the top of the ladder.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:13 Simon . . . believed. His belief was motivated by purely selfish reasons and could never be considered genuine. Cf. John 2:23–24. He saw it as an external act useful to gain the power he believed Philip possessed. By following Philip, he also was able to maintain contact with his former audience.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:15 receive the Holy Spirit. See note on 2:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:16 not yet fallen on any of them. This verse does not support the false notion that Christians receive the Holy Spirit subsequent to salvation. This was a transitional period in which confirmation by the apostles was necessary to verify the inclusion of a new group of people into the church. Because of the animosity that existed between Jews and Samaritans, it was essential for the Samaritans to receive the Spirit, in the presence of the leaders of the Jerusalem church, for the purpose of maintaining a unified church. The delay also revealed the Samaritans’ need to come under apostolic authority. The same transitional event occurred when the Gentiles were added to the church (10:44–46; cf. 15:6–12; 19:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:17 laid their hands on them. This signified apostolic affirmation and solidarity. See note on 6:6. received the Holy Spirit. That this actually occurred likely demonstrated that believers also spoke in tongues here, just as those who received the Spirit did on the day of Pentecost (see note on 2:4), as the Gentiles did when they received the Spirit (10:46), and as those followers of John did (19:6). As Samaritans, Gentiles, and believers from the Old Covenant were added to the church, the unity of the church was established. No longer could one nation (Israel) be God’s witness people, but the church was made up of Jews, Gentiles, half-breed Samaritans, and OT saints who became NT believers (19:1–7). To demonstrate the unity, it was imperative that there be some replication in each instance of what had occurred at Pentecost with the believing Jews, such as the presence of the apostles and the coming of the Spirit manifestly indicated through speaking in the languages of Pentecost (2:5–12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:22–24 Although Simon was certainly fearful, he was unwilling to repent and seek forgiveness, wanting only to escape the consequences of his sin.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:26 Gaza. One of five chief cities of the Philistines. The original city was destroyed in the first century B.C. and a new city was built near the coast.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:27 Ethiopian. In those days, Ethiopia was a large kingdom located south of Egypt. eunuch. This can refer to one who had been emasculated or generally, to a government official. It is likely he was both since Luke refers to him as a eunuch and as one who held a position of authority in the queen's court—that of treasurer, much like a minister of finance or secretary of the treasury. As a physical eunuch, he would have been denied access to the temple (Deut. 23:1) and the opportunity to become a full proselyte to Judaism. Candace. Probably not a name, but an official title (like Pharaoh or Caesar) given to the queen mothers in that land.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:28 reading . . . Isaiah. He knew the importance of seeking God through the Scripture (Luke 24:25–27; John 5:39, 46; Rom. 10:12–15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:32–33 passage . . . he was reading. Isaiah 53:7–8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:34 About whom . . . does the prophet say this . . . ? His confusion was understandable. Even the Jewish religious experts were divided on the meaning of this passage. Some believed the slaughtered sheep represented Israel, others thought Isaiah was referring to himself, and others thought the Messiah was Isaiah's subject.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:37 See esv footnote.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:39 carried Philip away. Elijah (1 Kings 18:12; 2 Kings 2:16) and Ezekiel (Ezek. 3:12, 14; 8:3) were also snatched away in a miraculous fashion. This was a powerful confirmation to the caravan that Philip was God's representative.

ACTS—NOTE ON 8:40 Azotus. The first-century name for the ancient Philistine city of Ashdod, located 20 miles north of Gaza. Caesarea. Where Philip and his family probably lived (21:9; see note on 9:30).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:1 Saul. See Introduction to Romans: Author and Date. The apostle Paul was originally named Saul, after the first king of Israel. He was born a Jew, studied in Jerusalem under Gamaliel (22:3), and became a Pharisee (23:6). He was also a Roman citizen, a right he inherited from his father (22:28).

Verses 1–19 of ch. 9 record the external facts of his conversion (see also 22:1–22; 26:9–20). Philippians 3:1–14 records the internal spiritual conversion (see notes there). threats and murder. See 1 Tim. 1:12–13 and 1 Cor. 15:9.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:2 Damascus. An ancient city, the capital of Syria, located 60 miles inland from the Mediterranean and c. 160 miles northeast of Jerusalem. Apparently, it had a large population of Jews, including Hellenist believers who fled Jerusalem to avoid persecution (8:2). belonging to the Way. This description of Christianity, derived from Jesus' description of himself (John 14:6), appears several times in Acts (Acts 19:9, 23; 22:4; 24:14, 22). This is an appropriate title because Christianity is the way of God (18:26), the way into the holy places (Heb. 10:19–20), and the way of truth (John 14:6; 2 Pet. 2:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:3–6 This was the first of six visions to be seen by Paul in Acts (cf. 16:9–10; 18:9–10; 22:17–18; 23:11; 27:23–24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:3 a light from heaven. The appearance of Jesus Christ in glory (cf. 22:6; 26:13), visible only to Saul (26:9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:4 why are you persecuting me? An inseparable union exists between Christ and his followers. Saul's persecution represented a direct attack on Christ. Cf. Matt. 18:5–6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:10 Ananias. One of the leaders of the Damascus church, and therefore, one of Saul's targets (cf. 22:12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:11 street called Straight. This street, which runs through Damascus from the east gate to the west, still exists and is called Darb el-Mustaqim. Tarsus. The birthplace of Paul and a key city in the Roman province of Cilicia, located on the banks of the Cydnus River near the border of Asia Minor and Syria. It served as both a commercial and educational center. The wharves on the Cydnus were crowded with commerce, while its university ranked with those of Athens and Alexandria as the finest in the Roman world.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:15 chosen instrument. Lit., “a vessel of election.” There was perfect continuity between Paul's salvation and his service; God chose him to convey his grace to all people (Gal. 1:1; cf. 1 Tim. 2:7; 2 Tim. 1:11). Paul used this same word four times (Rom. 9:21, 23; 2 Cor. 4:7; 2 Tim. 2:21). before the Gentiles and kings and the children of Israel. Paul began his ministry preaching to Jews (Acts 13:14; 14:1; 17:1, 10; 18:4; 19:8), but his primary calling was to Gentiles (Rom. 11:13; 15:16). God also called him to minister to kings such as Agrippa (Acts 25:23–26:32) and likely Caesar (cf. 25:10–12; 2 Tim. 4:16–17).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:17 laying his hands on him. See note on 6:6. be filled with the Holy Spirit. See note on 2:4. The Spirit had already been active in Paul's life: convicting him of sin (John 16:9), convincing him of the lordship of Christ (1 Cor. 12:3), transforming him (Titus 3:5), and indwelling him permanently (1 Cor. 12:13). He was then filled with the Spirit and empowered for service (cf. Acts 2:4, 14; 4:8, 31; 6:5, 8; see also note on Eph. 5:18). Saul received the Spirit without any apostles present because he was a Jew (the inclusion of Jews in the church had already been established at Pentecost), and because he was an apostle in his own right because Christ personally chose him and commissioned him for service (Rom. 1:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:20 He is the Son of God. The content of Paul's message was that Jesus Christ is God (see notes on Heb. 1:4–5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:23 When many days had passed. A period of three years, in which he ministered in Nabatean Arabia, an area encompassing Damascus south to the Sinai peninsula (see notes on Gal. 1:17–18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:24 gates. Damascus was a walled city, thus the gates were the only conventional means of escape.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:25 let him down . . . in a basket. "Basket" was a large woven hamper suitable for hay, straw, or bales of wool.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:27 Barnabas. See note on 4:36.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:29 Hellenists. The same group Stephen debated (see note on 6:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:30 Caesarea. Cf. 8:40. An important port city on the Mediterranean located 30 miles north of Joppa. As the capital of the Roman province of Judea and the home of the Roman procurator, it served as the headquarters of a large Roman garrison. sent him off to Tarsus. Paul disappeared from prominent ministry for several years, although he possibly founded some churches around Syria and Cilicia (15:23; Gal. 1:21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:31 the church . . . had peace and was being built up. Paul's conversion and political changes contributed to the rest. A stricter Roman governor and the expansion of Herod Agrippa's authority restricted the persecution.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:32 Lydda. "Lod" in the OT. Located about 10 miles southeast of Joppa, it was a hub servicing roads from Egypt to Syria and from Joppa to Jerusalem.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:33 Aeneas. Apparently an unbeliever (cf. v. 36) whose paralysis was incurable by the limited medical knowledge of that day.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:35 Sharon. The plain surrounding Lydda and Joppa and extending north to Caesarea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:36 Joppa. A seacoast town today known as Jaffa, south of Tel Aviv. Tabitha. She was more commonly known by her Greek name, "Dorcas." Both names mean "gazelle."

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:37 upper room. This arrangement was similar to that of the upstairs room in 1:13 and 2:1. While it was customary to bury a body immediately, the believers in Joppa had another plan.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:38 near Joppa. Ten miles southeast.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:39 tunics and other garments. Close-fitting undergarments and long outer robes.

ACTS—NOTE ON 9:43 Simon, a tanner. Cf. 10:5–6. Peter breaks down a cultural barrier by staying with a tanner, an occupation despised by Jewish society because the tanner dealt with the skins of dead animals. The local synagogue probably shunned Simon.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:1 a centurion. One of 60 officers in a Roman legion, each of whom commanded 100 men (see note on Matt. 8:5). Italian Cohort. Ten cohorts of 600 men each made up a legion.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:2 feared God. A technical term used by Jews to refer to Gentiles who had abandoned their pagan religion in favor of worshipping Jehovah God. Such a person, while following the ethics of the OT, had not become a full proselyte to Judaism through circumcision. Cornelius was to receive the saving knowledge of God in Christ (see note on Rom. 1:20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:3 About the ninth hour. 3:00 P.M. (see note on 3:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:4 memorial. A remembrance. Cornelius's prayers, devotion, faith, and goodness were like a fragrant offering rising up to God.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:7 devout soldier. See note on vv. 1–2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:9 housetop . . . to pray. All kinds of worship occurred on the flat roofs of Jewish homes (2 Kings 23:12; Jer. 19:13; 32:29). sixth hour. 12:00 noon.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:12 all kinds of animals. Both clean and unclean animals. To keep the Israelites separate from their idolatrous neighbors, God set specific dietary restrictions regarding the consumption of such animals (cf. Lev. 11:25–26).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:13 kill and eat. With the coming of the New Covenant and the calling of the church, God ended the dietary restrictions (cf. Mark 7:19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:14 common or unclean. Impure or defiled.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:15 God has made clean. More than just abolishing the OT dietary restrictions, God made unity possible in the church of both Jews, symbolized by the clean animals, and Gentiles, symbolized by the unclean animals, through the comprehensive sacrificial death of Christ (see note on Eph. 2:14).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:22 directed by a holy angel. Cf. vv. 3–6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:23 invited them in. Self-respecting Jews did not invite any Gentiles into their home, especially soldiers of the hated Roman army. some . . . brothers. Six Jewish believers (11:12), identified as “the believers from among the circumcised” in 10:45.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:26 I too am a man. Cf. 14:11–15 and Rev. 22:8–9. Only the triune God deserves our worship.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:28 unlawful. Lit., “breaking a taboo.” Peter followed the Jewish standards and traditions his whole life. His comments reveal his acceptance of a new standard in which Jews no longer were to consider Gentiles profane.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:34 God shows no partiality. Taught in both the OT (Deut. 10:17; 2 Chron. 19:7; Job 34:19) and NT (Rom. 2:11; 3:29–30; James 2:1). The reality of this truth was taking on new dimensions for Peter.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:35 acceptable. This Greek word means “marked by a favorable manifestation of the divine pleasure.”

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:36 preaching . . . peace. Christ, by paying the price of sin through his sacrificial death, established peace between man and God (see note on Rom. 5:1–11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:37 the baptism that John proclaimed. Cf. 1:22; 13:24; 18:25; 19:34; see notes on Matt. 3:2–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:38 God anointed Jesus. Cf. 4:27. The beginning of Jesus’ earthly ministry (cf. Matt. 3:13–17; Luke 3:21–22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:41 chosen . . . as witnesses. Jesus became visible after his resurrection only to believers (cf. 1 Cor. 15:5–8).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:43 believes in him. The means of salvation—faith in Christ alone (see note on Rom. 1:16; cf. John 3:14–17; 6:69; Rom. 10:11; Gal. 3:22; Eph. 2:8–9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:44 the Holy Spirit fell. See notes on 2:4 and 8:17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:45 believers from among the circumcised. Cf. 11:2. Jewish Christians (see note on 10:23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 10:46 tongues. See notes on 2:4; 8:17.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:3 ate with them. The Jewish believers were outraged over such a blatant breach of Jewish custom. It was difficult for them to conceive that Jesus could be equally Lord of Gentile believers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:4–14 Cf. 10:1–23, 28–33.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:14 your household. All who were under Cornelius's authority and care, who could comprehend the gospel and believe (cf. 16:15, 31). This does not include infants.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:15 at the beginning. God attested to the reality of Gentile salvation with the same phenomenon that occurred at Pentecost (see note on 8:17).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:16 baptized with the Holy Spirit. See note on 1:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:18 to the Gentiles also God has granted repentance . . . to life. One of the most shocking admissions in Jewish history, but an event that the OT had prophesied (Isa. 42:1, 6; 49:6; see note on Acts 2:38).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:19 See notes on 8:1–3. Phoenicia. The coastal region directly north of Judea, containing the trading ports of Tyre and Sidon. Cyprus. See note on 4:36. Antioch. Located some 200 miles north of Sidon, Antioch was a major pagan metropolis, the third largest in the Roman Empire, behind Rome and Alexandria.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:20 men of Cyprus and Cyrene. See notes on 6:9 and 13:4. Hellenists. Cf. 6:1 and 9:29. Greek-speaking non-Jews (see note on 6:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:21 hand of the Lord. This refers to God's power expressed in judgment (cf. Ex. 9:33; Deut. 2:15; Josh. 4:24; 1 Sam. 5:6; 7:13) and in blessing (Ezra 7:9; 8:18; Neh. 2:8, 18). Here, it refers to blessing.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:22 Barnabas. See note on 4:36. Since he was a Cypriot Jew, he came from a similar background to the founders of the Antioch church.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:25 Tarsus. See note on 9:11. to look for Saul. This was to be no easy task. Several years had elapsed since Saul fled Jerusalem (9:30). Apparently, he had been disinherited and forced to leave his home due to his new allegiance to Christianity (Phil. 3:8).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:26 Christians. A term of derision meaning “of the party of Christ.” Cf. 26:28 and 1 Pet. 4:16.

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:27 prophets. Preachers of the NT (cf. 1 Cor. 14:32; Eph. 2:20; see notes on Acts 13:1; 21:9; Eph. 4:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:28 Agabus. One of the Jerusalem prophets who years later played an important part in Paul’s ministry (21:10–11). a great famine. Several ancient writers (Tacitus [Annals XI.43], Josephus [Antiquities 5], and Suetonius [Claudius 18]) affirm the occurrence of great famines in Israel c. A.D. 45–46. over all the world. The famine reached beyond the region of Palestine. Claudius. Emperor of Rome (A.D. 41–54).

ACTS—NOTE ON 11:30 elders. This is the first mention of the men who were pastor-overseers of the churches (15:4, 6, 22–23; 16:4; 21:18); i.e., a plurality of godly men responsible to lead the church (see notes on 1 Tim. 3:1–7; Titus 1:5–9). They soon began to occupy the leading role in the churches, transitioning from the apostles and prophets, who were foundational (cf. Eph. 2:20; 4:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:1 Herod the king. Herod Agrippa I reigned from A.D. 37–44 and was the grandson of Herod the Great. He ran up numerous debts in Rome and fled to Palestine. Imprisoned by Emperor Tiberius after some careless comments, he eventually was released following Tiberius’s death, and was made ruler of northern Palestine, to which Judea and Samaria were added in A.D. 41. As a hedge against his shaky relationship with Rome, he curried favor with the Jews by persecuting Christians.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:2 James. The first of the apostles to be martyred (see note on Matt. 10:2). with the sword. The manner of his execution indicates James was accused of leading people to follow false gods (cf. Deut. 13:12–15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:3 during the days of Unleavened Bread. The weekly feast following Passover (see notes on Ex. 23:14–19; Matt. 26:17).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:4 four squads. Each squad contained four soldiers and rotated the watch on Peter. At all times two guards were chained to him in his cell, while the other two stood guard outside the cell door (v. 6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:12 Mary. Mark is called the cousin of Barnabas in Col. 4:10, so she was his aunt. John . . . Mark. Cousin of Barnabas (Col. 4:10), acquaintance of Peter in his youth (1 Pet. 5:13), he accompanied Barnabas and Paul to Antioch (Acts 12:25) and later to Cyprus (13:4–5). He deserted them at Perga (13:13) and Paul refused to take him on his second missionary journey because of that desertion (15:36–41). He accompanied Barnabas to Cyprus (15:39). He disappeared until he was seen with Paul at Rome as an accepted companion and coworker (Col. 4:10; Philem. 24). During Paul's second imprisonment at Rome, Paul sought John Mark's presence as useful to him (2 Tim. 4:11). He wrote the second Gospel that bears his name, being enriched in his task by the aid of Peter (1 Pet. 5:13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:15–16 his angel. According to Jewish superstition, each person had his own guardian angel who could assume that person's form.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:17 James. The Lord's brother, now head of the Jerusalem church (see Introduction to James; see note on Acts 15:13). he departed. Except for a brief appearance in ch. 15, Peter fades from the scene as the rest of Acts revolves around Paul and his ministry.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:19 Herod. See note on v. 1. be put to death. According to Justinian's Code (ix. 4:4), a guard who allowed a prisoner to escape would suffer the same fatal penalty that awaited the prisoner. Caesarea. See note on 9:30.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:20 Tyre and Sidon. Two port cities north of Caesarea, in a region called Phoenicia. Mutual interdependence existed between these cities and Galilee, although Tyre and Sidon were more dependent on Galilee (see note on Mark 3:8). Blastus. The king's "chamberlain," or treasurer, acted as an intermediary between Herod and the representatives of Tyre and Sidon.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:21 On an appointed day. A feast in honor of Herod's patron, the Roman emperor Claudius. put on his royal robes. According to Josephus, he wore a garment made of silver.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:23 did not give God the glory. The crime for which Herod was executed by God (A.D. 44), who will eventually condemn and execute all who are guilty of this crime (Rom. 1:18–23). eaten by worms. According to Josephus, Herod endured terrible pain for five days before he died.

ACTS—NOTE ON 12:25 completed their service. After Herod's death, they delivered the famine relief to the Jerusalem church (11:30). John . . . Mark. See note on 12:12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:1 Chapter 13 marks a turning point in Acts. The first 12 chapters focus on Peter; the remaining chapters revolve around Paul. With Peter, the emphasis is the Jewish church in Jerusalem and Judea; with Paul, the focus is the spread of the Gentile church throughout the Roman world, which began at the church in Antioch. prophets. These had a significant role in the apostolic church (see notes on 1 Cor. 12:28; Eph. 2:20). They were preachers of God's word and were responsible in the early years of the church to instruct local congregations. On some occasions, they received new revelation that was of a practical nature (cf. Acts 11:28; 21:10), a function that ended with the cessation of the temporary sign gifts. Their office was also replaced by pastor-teachers and evangelists (see note on Eph. 4:11). Barnabas. See note on Acts 4:36. Simeon . . . called Niger. "Niger" means "black." He may have been a dark-skinned man, an African, or both. No direct evidence exists to equate him with Simon of Cyrene (Mark 15:21). Lucius of Cyrene. Not the Lucius of Rom. 16:21, or Luke, the physician and author of Acts. member of the court. Can be translated "foster-brother." Manean was reared in Herod the Great's household. Herod the tetrarch. Herod Antipas, the Herod of the Gospels (see note on Matt. 14:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:2 worshipping. This is from a Greek word that in Scripture describes priestly service. Serving in leadership in the church is an act of worship to God, and consists of offering spiritual sacrifices to him, including prayer, oversight of the flock, plus preaching and teaching the word. fasting. This is often connected with vigilant, passionate prayer (cf. Neh. 1:4; Ps. 35:13; Dan. 9:3; Matt. 17:21; Luke 2:37), and includes either a loss of desire for food or the purposeful setting aside of eating to concentrate on spiritual issues (see note on Matt. 6:16–17).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:3 laid their hands on them. See note on 6:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:4 Seleucia. This city served as the port for Antioch, some 16 miles away at the mouth of the Orontes River. Cyprus. See note on 4:36. Saul and Barnabas chose to begin their missionary outreach there because it was Barnabas's home, which was only a two-day journey from Antioch, and had a large Jewish population.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:5 arrived at Salamis. The chief port and commercial center of Cyprus. synagogues. See note on 6:9. Paul established the custom of preaching to the Jews first whenever he entered a new city (cf. 13:14, 42; 14:1; 17:1, 10, 17; 18:4, 19, 26; 19:8) because he had an open door, as a Jew, to speak and introduce the gospel. Also, if he preached to Gentiles first, the Jews would never have listened to him. John to assist. See note on 12:12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:6 Paphos. The capital of Cyprus and thus the seat of the Roman government. It also was a great center for the worship of Aphrodite (Venus), and thus a hotbed for all kinds of immorality. a certain magician . . . Jewish. “Magician” originally carried no evil connotation, but later was used to describe all kinds of practitioners and dabblers in the occult. This particular magician put his knowledge to evil use (see note on 8:9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:7 the proconsul. A Roman official who served as provincial governor (cf. 18:12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:8 Elymas. The Greek name of Bar-Jesus, a transliteration of the Arabic word for magician.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:9 Saul . . . called Paul. Paul’s Hebrew and Roman names.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:13 came to Perga in Pamphylia. Perga was a major city in the Roman province of Pamphylia, in Asia Minor—some 200 miles north across the Mediterranean from Cyprus. John left them. Whatever reason John Mark gave for leaving, Paul didn’t accept it (15:38). While his desertion did not hamper the mission, it did later create dissension between Paul and Barnabas (15:36–40). This was finally resolved (cf. Col. 4:10; 2 Tim. 4:11). See note on Acts 12:12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:14 Antioch in Pisidia. Not to be confused with Antioch in Syria, the location of the first Gentile church. This Antioch was located in the mountains of Asia Minor (modern Turkey).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:15 reading from the Law and the Prophets. The reading of the Scriptures. This occupied the third part in the liturgy of the synagogue, after the recitation of the shema (Deut. 6:4) and further prayers, but before the teaching, which was usually based on what had been read from the Scriptures.

rulers of the synagogue. Those who had general oversight of the synagogue (see note on Acts 6:9), including designating who would read from the Scriptures.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:16 who fear God. See note on 10:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:19 seven nations. See note on Deut. 7:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:20 See Introduction to Judges.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:21 Saul. See note on 1 Sam. 9:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:22 a man after my heart. See note on 1 Sam. 13:14. Some would question the reality of this designation for David since he proved to be such a sinner at times (cf. 1 Sam. 11:1–4; 12:9; 21:10–22:1). No man after God’s own heart is perfect; yet he will recognize sin and repent of it, as did David (cf. Ps. 32; 38; 51). Paul quoted from 1 Sam. 13:14 and Ps. 89:20.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:23 as he promised. Old Testament prophecy points to Messiah as a descendant of David (cf. 2 Sam. 7:12–16; Ps. 132:11; Isa. 11:10; Jer. 23:5). Jesus is the fulfillment of the OT prophecies of the coming Messiah (Matt. 1:1, 20–21; Rom. 1:3; 2 Tim. 2:8).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:24 baptism of repentance. Cf. 1:22 and 10:37.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:26 who fear God. See note on 10:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:27 rulers. The supposed experts in the OT, including the scribes, Pharisees, Sadducees, and priests.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:28 Pilate. See notes on 3:13 and Matt. 27:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:29–30 tree . . . tomb . . . God raised. The OT predicted the crucifixion of Christ on a cross (Ps. 22; Deut. 21), at the time when this particular form of execution was not used. His burial in a “tomb” was also prophesied (Isa. 53:9), yet victims of crucifixions were commonly tossed into mass graves. The climax of Paul’s message was the resurrection of Christ, the ultimate proof that Jesus is the Messiah, and the fulfillment of three specific prophecies (see notes on Acts 13:33–35).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:31 witnesses. More than 500 (cf. 1 Cor. 15:5–8).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:33 Quoted from Ps. 2:7.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:34 Quoted from Isa. 55:3.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:35 Quoted from Ps. 16:10; see note on Acts 2:27.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:39 you could not be freed by the law of Moses. Keeping the law of Moses did not free anyone from their sins (cf. Rom. 3:28; 1 Cor. 1:30; Gal. 2:16; 3:11; Phil. 3:9). But the atoning death of Jesus completely satisfied the demands of God's law, making forgiveness of all sins available to all who believe (Gal. 3:16; Col. 2:13–14). Only the forgiveness Christ offers can free people from their sins (Rom. 3:20, 22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:41 Quoted from Hab. 1:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:43 devout converts. Full converts to Judaism who had been circumcised. continue in the grace of God. Those who are truly saved persevere and validate the reality of their salvation by continuing in the grace of God (cf. John 8:31; 15:1–6; Col. 1:21–23; 1 John 2:19). With such encouragement, Paul and Barnabas hoped to prevent those who were intellectually convinced of the truths of the gospel, yet had stopped short of saving faith, from reverting to legalism rather than embracing Christ completely.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:46 first to you. God offered the plan of salvation to the Jews first (Matt. 10:5–6; 15:24; Luke 24:47; Rom. 1:16). Although the thrust of Paul's ministry was to Gentiles, he had a desire to see Jews saved (Rom. 9:1–5; 10:1), preaching to them first in many cities (see note on Acts 13:5). we are turning to the Gentiles. Because the Jews rejected the gospel. But God never planned salvation as an exclusive possession of the Jews (Isa. 42:1, 6; 49:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:47 Quoted from Isa. 49:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:48 appointed to eternal life. One of Scripture's clearest statements on the sovereignty of God in salvation. God chooses man for salvation, not the opposite (John 6:65; Eph. 1:4; Col. 3:12; 2 Thess. 2:13). Faith itself is a gift from God (Eph. 2:8–9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:51 shook off the dust from their feet. The Jews' antagonism toward Gentiles extended to their unwillingness to even bring Gentile dust into Israel. The symbolism of Paul and Barnabas's act is clear that they considered the Jews at Antioch no better than heathen. There could have been no stronger condemnation.

ACTS—NOTE ON 13:52 filled . . . with the Holy Spirit. See notes on 2:4 and Eph. 5:18.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:1 Iconium. A cultural melting pot of native Phrygians, Greeks, Jews, and Roman colonists, located 80 miles southeast of Pisidian Antioch.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:3 granting signs and wonders. See notes on 2:19. Acts of such divine power confirmed that Paul and Barnabas spoke for God.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:4 apostles. See notes on Rom. 1:1 and Eph. 4:11. Barnabas was not an apostle in the same sense as Paul and the Twelve since he was not an eyewitness of the resurrected Christ nor had he been called by him. It is best to translate “apostles” here as “messengers” (cf. 2 Cor. 8:23; Phil. 2:25). The verb means “to send.” The Twelve and Paul were “apostles of Christ” (2 Cor. 11:13; 1 Thess. 2:6), while Barnabas and others were “messengers of the churches” (2 Cor. 8:23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:5 stone them. This proves that their Jewish opponents were the instigators, since stoning was a Jewish form of execution, usually for blasphemy.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:6 Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia. Lycaonia was a district in the Roman province of Galatia. Lystra was about 18 miles from Iconium, and was the home of Lois, Eunice, and Timothy (16:1; 2 Tim. 1:5). Luke mentions no synagogue in connection with Lystra, and since Paul began his ministry there by preaching to a crowd, it likely had a small Jewish population. Derbe was about 40 miles southeast of Lystra.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:11–13 The strange reaction by the people of Lystra to the healing had its roots in local folklore. According to tradition, the gods Zeus and Hermes visited Lystra incognito, asking for food and lodging. All turned them away except for a peasant named Philemon and his wife, Baucis. The gods took vengeance by drowning everyone in a flood. But they turned the lowly cottage of Philemon and Baucis into a temple, where they were to serve as priest and priestess. Not wanting to repeat their ancestors' mistake, the people of Lystra believed Barnabas to be Zeus and Paul to be Hermes.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:11 Lycaonian. Paul and Barnabas were unable to understand the intentions of the people.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:13 priest of Zeus. It was his job to lead the people in worship of the two men they believed to be gods.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:14 tore their garments. A Jewish expression of horror and revulsion at blasphemy (see note on Matt. 26:65).

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:15–17 See note on 17:23–24. Because the crowd at Lystra was pagan and had no knowledge of the OT, Paul adjusted his message to fit the audience. Instead of proclaiming the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, he appealed to the universal and rational knowledge of the One who created the world (cf. 17:22–26; Jonah 1:9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:15 vain things. An appropriate description of idolatry and all false religions.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:16 allowed all the nations. The path that they all have walked is described in Rom. 1:18–32.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:17 did not leave himself without witness. God's providence and his creative power testify to man's reason of his existence (Rom. 1:18–20), as does man's own conscience, which contains his moral law (Rom. 2:13–15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:19 they stoned Paul . . . supposing that he was dead. Paul did not die from the stoning as some claim, who link it to his third-heaven experience in 2 Cor. 12. "Supposing" usually means "to suppose something that is not true." The main NT use of this word argues that the crowd's supposition was incorrect and that Paul was not dead. Another argument in favor of this position is that if Paul was resurrected, why didn't Luke mention it? Also, the dates of Paul's third-heaven experience and the time of the stoning do not reconcile.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:20 Derbe. See note on v. 6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:22 kingdom of God. See note on 1:3.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:23 appointed elders. See note on 11:30.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:24 Pisidia. A mountainous and rugged region that offered no opportunities for evangelism. Pamphylia. See note on 13:13.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:25 Perga. See note on 13:13.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:26 from there. Thus ended Paul's first missionary journey. Antioch. See note on 11:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 14:28 no little time. About one year.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:1–30 Throughout its history, the church's leaders have met to settle doctrinal issues. Historians point to seven ecumenical councils in the church's early history, especially the Councils of Nicea (A.D. 325) and Chalcedon (A.D. 451). Yet the most important council was the first one—the Jerusalem Council—because it established the answer to the most vital doctrinal question of all: “What must a person do to be saved?” The apostles and elders defied efforts to impose legalism and ritualism as necessary prerequisites for salvation. They forever affirmed that salvation is totally by grace through faith in Christ alone.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:1 some men. Judaizers—false teachers who were self-appointed guardians of legalism, teaching a doctrine of salvation by works. from Judea. See note on 1:8. Unless you are circumcised . . . you cannot be saved. Cf. 15:24. The heresy propagated by the Judaizers. See notes on Gen. 17:9–14.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:2 up to Jerusalem. See note on 18:22. elders. Leaders of the Jerusalem church (see note on 11:30).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:4 Paul and Barnabas and others went into great detail to report the many works God was accomplishing through their efforts. No doubt they provided sufficient evidence to verify the genuineness of the Gentiles' salvation (cf. 10:44–48; 11:17–18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:7 Peter stood up. Peter gave the first of three speeches at the Council that amount to one of the strongest defenses of salvation by grace through faith alone contained in Scripture. Peter began his defense by reviewing how God saved Gentiles in the early days of the church without a requirement of circumcision, law keeping, or ritual—referring to the salvation of Cornelius and his household (10:44–48; 11:17–18). If God did not require any additional qualifications for salvation, neither should the legalists. by my mouth. See 10:1–48.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:8 giving them the Holy Spirit. The Judaizers could have argued that Cornelius and the others could not have been saved because they did not meet the legalistic requirements. To thwart that potential argument, Peter reiterates that God gave them the Holy Spirit, thus proving the genuineness of their salvation (see note on 2:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:10 a yoke. A description of the law and the legalism of the scribes and Pharisees (Matt. 23:4; cf. Luke 11:46). The legalists expected the Gentiles to carry a load they themselves were unwilling to bear.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:11 through the grace of the Lord Jesus. A resounding affirmation of salvation by grace through faith alone (see notes on Rom. 3:24–25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:12 Barnabas and Paul. They delivered the second speech in which they recounted the work of God on their just-completed first missionary journey among Gentiles. signs and wonders. See note on 2:19.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:13 James replied. He delivers the third speech in defense of salvation by faith alone by relating how God’s future plans for Gentile salvation agree with his current work.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:14 people for his name. See notes on chs. 10–11. Cf. Mal. 2:2, 5; 3 John 7.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:15–17 James quotes Amos’s prophecy (9:11–12) of the millennial kingdom to prove that Gentile salvation was not contrary to God’s plan for Israel. In fact, in the kingdom God’s messengers will announce salvation to the Gentiles (Zech. 8:20–23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:17 Gentiles . . . called by my name. James’s point is that Amos makes no mention of Gentiles becoming Jewish proselytes. If Gentiles can be saved without becoming Jews in the kingdom, there is no need for Gentiles to become proselytes in the present age.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:19 we should not trouble. The Greek word for “trouble” means “to throw something in the path of someone to annoy them.” The decision of the Jerusalem Council, after considering all the evidence, was that keeping the law and observing rituals were not requirements for salvation. The Judaizers were to cease troubling and annoying the Gentiles.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:20 James and the other leaders did not want the Gentiles to revel in their freedom in Christ, which could cause the Jewish believers to follow that same liberty and violate their consciences. So James proposed that the Gentiles abstain from four pagan, idolatrous practices that were violations of the law of Moses so as not to offend Jews. things polluted by idols. Food offered to pagan gods and then sold in temple butcher shops. Because idolatry was so repulsive to Jews and forbidden by God (cf. Ex. 20:3; 34:17; Deut. 5:7), they would avoid anything to do with idols, including meat offered to idols (cf. 1 Cor. 8:1–13). sexual immorality. Sexual sins in general, but particularly the orgies associated with the worship of pagan gods. The Gentiles were to avoid being offensive to Jewish sensibilities in their marriages and any relationship with the opposite sex. what has been strangled, and from blood. Dietary restrictions (Gen. 9:4; Lev. 3:17; 7:26; 17:12–14; 19:26; Deut. 12:16, 23; 15:23; 1 Sam. 14:34; Ezek. 33:25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:22 Judas. Nothing more is known about him except that he was a prophet (v. 32). Silas. See note on v. 40. Also known as Silvanus, he accompanied Paul on his second missionary journey (v. 40; 16:19, 25, 29; 17:4, 10, 14–15; 18:5) and later was Peter’s amanuensis (scribe) for his first epistle (1 Pet. 5:12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:23 in Antioch and Syria and Cilicia. Antioch was the capital of Syria and Cilicia, which was administered as a single Roman district. The churches in Cilicia were probably founded by Paul when he went there after fleeing Jerusalem (9:30).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:24 troubled . . . unsettling. “Troubled” is a different Greek word from the one in v. 19, meaning “to deeply upset,” “to deeply trouble,” “to perplex,” or “to create fear.” The Greek word for “unsettling” was used in extrabiblical writings to speak of someone going bankrupt. Together these words aptly describe the chaos caused by the Judaizers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:26 risked their lives. On the first missionary journey they faced persecution (13:50) and Paul was nearly killed (14:19–20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:29 See notes on v. 20.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:34 This verse is not in the best manuscripts.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:36 see how they are. In addition to proclaiming the gospel, Paul also recognized his responsibility to mature the new believers in their faith (Matt. 28:19–20; Eph. 4:12–13; Phil. 1:8; Col. 1:28; 1 Thess. 2:17). So he planned his second missionary journey to retrace his first one.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:37–38 John called Mark. See notes on 12:12 and 13:13.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:39 disagreement . . . separated. This was not an amicable parting—they were in sharp disagreement regarding John Mark. The weight of the evidence favors Paul’s decision, especially since he was an apostle of Jesus Christ. That alone should have caused Barnabas to submit to his authority. But they eventually did reconcile (1 Cor. 9:6). Cyprus. See note on Acts 13:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:40 Silas. He was perfectly suited to be Paul’s companion, since he was a prophet and could proclaim and teach the word. Being a Jew gave him access to the synagogues (see note on 6:9). Because he was a Roman citizen (16:37), he enjoyed the same benefits and protection as Paul. His status as a respected leader in the Jerusalem fellowship helped to reinforce Paul’s teaching that Gentile salvation was by grace alone through faith alone (see note on 15:22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 15:41 Syria and Cilicia. Paul visited congregations he had most likely founded before his connection with the Antioch church (Gal. 1:21). The circumcision question had been raised there also.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:1 to Derbe and to Lystra. See note on 14:6. A disciple . . . Timothy. A young man (late teens or early 20s) of high regard, a “true child in the faith” (1 Tim. 1:2; cf. 2 Tim. 1:2), who eventually became Paul’s right-hand man (1 Cor. 4:17; 1 Thess. 3:2; Phil. 2:19; see Introduction to 1 Timothy). In essence, he became John Mark’s replacement. After being commissioned by the elders of the local church (1 Tim. 4:14; 2 Tim. 1:6), he joined Paul and Silas. his father was a Greek. The grammar likely suggests his father was dead. By being both Jew and Gentile, Timothy had access to both cultures—an indispensable asset for missionary service.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:3 circumcised him. This was done to aid his acceptance by the Jews and provide full access to the synagogues (see note on 6:9) he would be visiting with Paul and Silas. If Timothy had not been circumcised, the Jews could have assumed he had renounced his Jewish heritage and had chosen to live as a Gentile.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:4 the decisions. The determinations of the Jerusalem Council (see notes on 15:23–29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:6 Holy Spirit . . . Asia. Paul was not allowed to fulfill his intention to minister in Asia Minor (modern Turkey) and to such cities as Ephesus, Smyrna, Philadelphia, Laodicea, Colossae, Sardis, Pergamos, and Thyatira.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:7 Bithynia. A separate Roman province northeast of Mysia. the Spirit of Jesus did not allow them. Once the Holy Spirit had providentially stopped their travel north, they had nowhere else to go but Troas, a seaport on the Aegean Sea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:8 Mysia . . . Troas. The northwest part of the province of Asia Minor.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:9–10 This was the second of six visions received by the apostle (cf. 9:3–6; 18:9–10; 22:17–18; 23:11; 27:23–24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:9 Macedonia. The region located across the Aegean Sea on the mainland of Greece. The cities of Philippi and Thessalonica were located there. Most significantly, going there was to take the gospel from Asia into Europe.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:10 we. A change from the third person pronoun to the first person indicates that Luke joined up with Paul, Silas, and Timothy (see Introduction: Author and Date).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:11 Samothrace. An island in the Aegean Sea about halfway between Asia Minor and the Greek mainland. They stayed there overnight to avoid the hazards associated with sailing in the dark. Neapolis. The port city for Philippi.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:12 Philippi. See Introduction to Philippians. Located 10 miles inland from Neapolis, Philippi was named for Philip II of Macedon (the father of Alexander the Great). a Roman colony. Philippi became a Roman colony in 31 B.C., so it carried the right of freedom (it was self-governing and independent of the provincial government), the right of exemption from tax, and the right of holding land in full ownership.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:13 to the riverside. Evidently, the Jewish community did not have the minimum of 10 Jewish men who were heads of households required to form a synagogue. In such cases, a place of prayer under the open sky and near a river or sea was adopted as a meeting place. Most likely this spot was located where the road leading out of the city crossed the Gangites River. women who had come together. In further evidence of the small number of Jewish men, it was women who met to pray, worship, and recite from the OT Scriptures.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:14 Lydia, from the city of Thyatira. Her home city was located in the Roman province of Lydia, thus the name “Lydia” was probably associated with her place of origin. seller of purple goods. Because purple dye was extremely expensive, purple garments were usually worn by royalty and the wealthy. As a result, Lydia’s business turned a nice profit, which enabled her to have a house large enough to accommodate the missionary team (v. 15) and the new church at Philippi (v. 40). a worshiper of God. Like Cornelius, she believed in the God of Israel but had not become a full proselyte (cf. 10:2). The Lord opened her heart. This is another proof of the sovereignty of God in salvation (see note on 13:48).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:15 household. See note on 11:14. Cf. 16:31.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:16 a spirit of divination. Lit., “a python spirit.” That expression comes from Greek mythology; Python was a snake that guarded the oracle at Delphi. Essentially, this girl was a medium in contact with demons who could supposedly predict the future. See note on Deut. 18:9–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:17 the Most High God. El Elyon, the Absolutely Sovereign God, is an OT title (used about 50 times) for the God of Israel (see Gen. 14:18–22; Ps. 78:35; Dan. 5:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:18 I command you in the name of Jesus Christ. The demon left the girl in obedience to Paul’s command and his apostolic authority. The ability to cast out demons was a special ability of Christ’s apostles (Mark 3:15; 2 Cor. 12:12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:20 Jews . . . disturbing our city. Anti-Semitism was alive even then. The emperor Claudius issued an order around that time expelling the Jews from Rome (18:2). This may explain why they apprehended only Paul and Silas, since Luke was a Gentile and Timothy half-Gentile.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:21 advocate customs . . . not lawful for us . . . Romans. It was technically true that Roman citizens were not to engage in any foreign religion that had not been sanctioned by the state. But it was a false charge that they were creating chaos.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:22 magistrates. Every Roman colony had two of these men serving as judges. In this case, they did not uphold Roman justice: they did not investigate the charges, conduct a proper hearing, or give Paul and Silas the chance to defend themselves. beat. This was an illegal punishment since they had not been convicted of any crime. The officers (v. 35) under the command of the magistrates administered the beating with rods tied together in a bundle. Paul received the same punishment on two other occasions (2 Cor. 11:25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:24 inner prison . . . in the stocks. The most secure part of the prison. The jailer took further precautions by putting their feet “in the stocks.” This particular security measure was designed to produce painful cramping so the prisoner’s legs were spread as far apart as possible.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:27 prison doors were open . . . about to kill himself. Instead of waiting to face humiliation and a painful execution. A Roman soldier who let a prisoner escape paid for his negligence with his life (12:19; 27:42).

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:31 Believe in the Lord Jesus. One must believe he is who he claimed to be (John 20:31) and believe in what he did (1 Cor. 15:3–4; see note on Rom. 1:16). you and your household. All of his family, servants, and guests who could comprehend the gospel and believe heard the gospel and believed (see note on Acts 11:14). This does not include infants. Cf. 16:15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 16:37 Roman. To inflict corporal punishment on a Roman citizen was a serious crime, and made more so since Paul and Silas did not receive a trial. As a result, the magistrates faced the possibility of being removed from office, and having Philippi’s privileges as a Roman colony revoked (see note on v. 12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:1 Amphipolis and Apollonia . . . Thessalonica. Southwest from Philippi along the Egnatian Way. Amphipolis was about 30 miles from Philippi, and Apollonia another 30 miles beyond. The narrative indicates that the travelers stopped only for the night in those cities. Forty miles beyond Apollonia was Thessalonica, the capital city of Macedonia with a population of 200,000. It was a major port city and an important commercial center. synagogue. See note on 13:5. Luke refers to a synagogue only in Thessalonica, which may explain why Paul and his companions did not stay in the other two cities.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:2 Paul . . . was his custom. Paul began his ministry in each town with the Jews (see note on 13:5). three Sabbath days. The length of his initial public ministry. The actual amount of time spent in Thessalonica would have been longer, extending perhaps to four to six months.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:5 the house of Jason. The mob assumed Paul, Silas, and Timothy were staying there. Nothing is known of Jason except that he was probably Jewish, since Jason was a name adopted by many of the dispersed Jews.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:7 against the decrees of Caesar. One of the most serious crimes in the Roman Empire was to acknowledge allegiance to any king but Caesar (cf. John 19:15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:9 taken money as security. A bond, which would be forfeited by Jason should Paul and his companions cause more trouble. As a result, they had no choice but to leave Thessalonica.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:10 Berea. An important town that was not on a main route. synagogue. See note on 13:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:15 Athens. The cultural center of Greece. At its zenith, Athens was home to the most renowned philosophers in history, including Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle, who was arguably the most influential philosopher of all. Two other significant philosophers taught there: Epicurus, founder of Epicureanism, and Zeno, founder of Stoicism—two of the dominant philosophies in that day (see note on v. 18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:16 city was full of idols. Athens was also the religious center of Greece—virtually every deity known to man could be worshiped there. Paul viewed Athens as a city of lost humanity, all doomed to a Christless eternity because of rampant pagan idolatry.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:17 synagogue. See note on 13:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:18 Epicurean and Stoic philosophers. Epicurean philosophy taught that the chief end of man was the avoidance of pain. Epicureans were materialists—they did not deny the existence of God, but they believed he did not become involved with the affairs of men. When a person died, they believed his body and soul disintegrated. Stoic philosophy taught self-mastery—that the goal in life was to reach a place of indifference to pleasure or pain. babbler. Lit., “seed picker.” Some of the philosophers viewed Paul as an amateur philosopher—one who had no ideas of his own but only picked among prevailing philosophies and constructed one with no depth.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:19 the Areopagus. A court named for the hill on which it once met. Paul was not being formally tried; only being asked to defend his teaching.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:22 religious. Lit., “in fear of gods.”

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:23–24 To the unknown god. The Athenians were supernaturalists—they believed in supernatural powers that intervened in the course of natural laws. They at least acknowledged the existence of someone beyond their ability to understand who had made all things. Paul thus had the opportunity to introduce them to the Creator-God who could be known (Deut. 4:35; 1 Kings 8:43; 1 Chron. 28:9; Ps. 9:10; Jer. 9:24; 24:7; 31:34; John 17:3). When evangelizing pagans, Paul started from creation, the general revelation of God (cf. Acts 14:15–17). When evangelizing Jews, he started from the OT (17:10–13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:24 God who made the world. This teaching flatly contradicted both the Epicureans, who believed matter was eternal and therefore had no creator, and the Stoics, who as pantheists believed God was part of everything and could not have created himself. Paul’s teaching finds its support throughout Scripture (Gen. 1:1; Ps. 146:5–6; Isa. 40:28; 45:18; Jer. 10:12; 32:17; Jonah 1:9; Zech. 12:1; Eph. 3:9; Col. 1:16; Rev. 4:11; 10:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:26 one man. All men are equal in God’s sight since all came from one man, Adam. This teaching was a blow to the national pride of the Greeks, who believed all non-Greeks were barbarians (see note on Rom. 1:14). determined allotted periods. God sovereignly controls the rise and fall of nations and empires (cf. Dan. 2:36–45; Luke 21:24). the boundaries of their dwelling place. God is responsible for establishing nations as to their racial identity and their specific geographical locations (Deut. 32:8) and determining the extent of their conquests (cf. Isa. 10:12–15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:27 seek God. The Lord’s objective for man in revealing himself as the creator, ruler, and controller of the world. Men have no excuse for not knowing about God because he has revealed himself in man’s conscience and in the physical world (see notes on Rom. 1:19–20; 2:15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:28 In him we live and move and have our being. A quote from the Cretan poet Epimenides.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:29 God’s offspring. A quote from Aratus, who came from Paul’s home region of Cilicia. not . . . like gold or silver. If man is the offspring of God, as the Greek poet suggested, it is foolish to think that God could be nothing more than a man-made idol. Such reasoning points out the absurdity of idolatry (cf. Isa. 44:9–20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:30 times of ignorance God overlooked. See note on Rom. 3:25.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:31 man whom he has appointed. Jesus Christ (John 5:22–27).

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:32 resurrection of the dead. Greek philosophy did not believe in bodily resurrection.

ACTS—NOTE ON 17:34 the Areopagite. A member of the Areopagus court (see note on v. 19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:1 Corinth. See Introduction to 1 Corinthians. The leading political and commercial center in Greece. It was located at a strategic point on the isthmus of Corinth, which connected the Peloponnesian peninsula with the rest of Greece. Virtually all traffic between northern and southern Greece had to pass through the city. Because Corinth was a trade center and host to all sorts of travelers, it had an unsettled population that was extremely debauched. It also housed the temple of Aphrodite, the goddess of love. One thousand temple priestesses, who were ritual prostitutes, came each evening into the city to practice their trade.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:2 Aquila . . . Priscilla. This husband and wife team were to become Paul's close friends who even risked their lives for him (Rom. 16:3–4). Priscilla is listed first four times in Scripture (NU), which could imply she had a higher social rank than Aquila or that she was the more prominent of the two in the church. They probably were Christians when Paul met them, having come from Rome where a church already existed (Rom. 1:7–8). Claudius. See note on Acts 11:28. commanded all the Jews to leave Rome. The decree that forced Priscilla and Aquila to leave Rome c. A.D. 49 (see note on 16:20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:3 tentmakers. This could also refer to leatherworkers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:4 synagogue. See note on 13:5. Greeks. Gentile God-fearers in the synagogue (see note on 10:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:5 Silas and Timothy arrived from Macedonia. As Paul desired, Silas and Timothy joined him in Athens (17:15). From there he sent Timothy back to Thessalonica (1 Thess. 3:1–6). Paul evidently sent Silas somewhere in Macedonia, possibly Philippi (cf. 2 Cor. 11:9; Phil. 4:15), since he returned to Corinth from that province.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:6 Your blood be on your own heads! Paul held his opponents completely responsible for blaspheming Christ and rejecting his message (cf. Josh. 2:19; 2 Sam. 1:16; 1 Kings 2:37; Ezek. 18:13; 33:4; Matt. 27:25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:7 house of . . . Justus. A Gentile who showed interest in the God of Israel and was associated with the synagogue next door. His name indicates he was a Roman, and since Romans usually had three names, his may have been Gaius Titius Justus, meaning he was the same Gaius mentioned in Rom. 16:23 and 1 Cor. 1:14. a worshiper of God. See note on Acts 16:14.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:8 Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue. The conversion of this respected leader must have sent shock waves throughout the Jewish community (see note on 6:9). his entire household. See note on 11:14.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:9–10 This was the third of six visions given to Paul (cf. 9:3–6; 16:9–10; 22:17–18; 23:11; 27:23–24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:10 I have many in this city. God had appointed a number of people in Corinth for salvation, who had not yet heard the gospel (cf. 13:48; Rom. 10:13–15). The effect of Paul’s preaching would be to bring the elect to faith (Titus 1:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:11 a year and six months. Paul’s longest stay in any city, except Ephesus (20:31) and Rome (28:30).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:12 when Gallio was proconsul of Achaia. From July, A.D. 51 to June, A.D. 52. tribunal. A large, raised stone platform in the marketplace, situated in front of the residence of the proconsul, where he would try public cases.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:13 contrary to the law. While Judaism was not an official religion, it was officially tolerated in the Roman world, and Christianity was viewed as a sect of Judaism. The Jews in Corinth claimed that Paul’s teaching was external to Judaism, and therefore should be banned. Had Gallio ruled in the Jews’ favor, Christianity could have been outlawed throughout the empire.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:14–16 Gallio was no fool and saw through the Jews’ plan. He refused to get caught up in what he viewed as an internal squabble within Judaism. In essence, he rendered what would be called a summary judgment—he officially ruled that no crime had been committed, that the dispute was over semantics, and threw the case out.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:17 Sosthenes . . . beat him. The Greeks had reasons for being hostile to Sosthenes; they were venting general hostility toward Jews on him, or they may have been angry with his unsuccessful attempt, as leader of the Jews, at prosecuting the case against Paul. Since he was the ruler of the synagogue, he would have presented the case to Gallio. Later, he converted to Christ (1 Cor. 1:1).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:18 Priscilla and Aquila. See note on v. 2. That they could accompany Paul means there was sufficient leadership in Corinth, with men such as Gaius, Sosthenes, Stephanas, and Crispus. Cenchreae. The eastern port of Corinth. he had cut his hair, for he was under a vow. To show God his gratitude for helping him through a difficult time in Corinth, he took a Nazirite vow—a special pledge of separation and devotion to God (cf. Num. 6:2–5, 13–21). The vow generally lasted a specific period of time, although Samson (Judg. 13:5), Samuel (1 Sam. 1:11), and John the Baptist (Luke 1:15) were Nazirites for life. In Paul’s day, if someone made the vow while away from Jerusalem, at the termination of his vow he would shave his head, as Paul did, and afterwards present the shorn hair at the temple within 30 days.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:19 Ephesus. The most important city in Asia Minor (see Introduction to Ephesians). left them there. Priscilla and Aquila remained in Ephesus to establish their business. Apparently they lived in Ephesus for several years—a church met in their home (1 Cor. 16:19)—before they returned to Rome (Acts 16:3–5). synagogue. See note on 13:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:22 went up . . . went down to Antioch. Although Luke does not mention it in detail, his description of the geography indicates Paul went to Jerusalem to greet the church. Because Jerusalem was elevated over the surrounding region, travelers had to go “up” to get there and “down” to any other place. Paul also had to return to Jerusalem so he could fulfill his vow. This ended the second missionary journey.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:23 some time there. Possibly from the summer of A.D. 52 to the spring of A.D. 53. Galatia and Phrygia. See note on 16:6. Paul’s return to those regions marked the beginning of his third missionary journey.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:24 Apollos. An OT saint and follower of John the Baptist (v. 25). After further instruction by Aquila and Priscilla (v. 26), he became a powerful Christian preacher. His ministry profoundly influenced the Corinthians (cf. 1 Cor. 1:12). a native of Alexandria. Alexandria was an important city in Egypt located near the mouth of the Nile. In the first century, it had a large Jewish population. Thus Apollos, though born outside of Israel, was reared in a Jewish cultural setting. competent in the Scriptures. Used only here, this phrase refers to Apollos’s knowledge of the OT Scriptures. That knowledge, combined with his eloquence, allowed him to crush his Jewish opponents in debate (Acts 18:28).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:25 the way of the Lord. This did not include the Christian faith (cf. v. 26). The OT uses the phrase to describe the spiritual and moral standards God required his people to observe (Gen. 18:19; Judg. 2:22; 1 Sam. 12:23; 2 Sam. 22:22; 2 Kings 21:22; 2 Chron. 17:6; Ps. 18:21; 25:8–9; 138:5; Prov. 10:29; Jer. 5:4–5; Ezek. 18:25, 29; 33:17, 20; Hos. 14:9). baptism of John. Despite his knowledge of the OT, Apollos did not fully understand Christian truth. John’s baptism was to prepare Israel for the Messiah’s arrival (cf. Luke 1:16–17; see notes on Acts 2:38; Matt. 3:6). Apollos accepted that message, even acknowledging that Jesus of Nazareth was Israel's Messiah. He did not, however, understand such basic Christian truths as the significance of Christ's death and resurrection, the ministry of the Holy Spirit, and the church as God's new witness people. He was a redeemed OT believer (Acts 18:24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:26 the way of God more accurately. Aquila and Priscilla completed Apollos's training in divine truth by instructing him in the fullness of the Christian faith.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:27 Achaia. See note on v. 12. Apollos planned to cross from Asia Minor (modern Turkey) to Corinth on the Greek mainland (19:1). the brothers . . . wrote. Such letters of commendation were common in the early church (cf. Rom. 16:1–2; 1 Cor. 16:10; 2 Cor. 3:1–2; Col. 4:10). The Ephesian Christians wrote to inform their Corinthian brethren that Apollos was now a fully informed Christian.

ACTS—NOTE ON 18:28 the Christ. The Messiah of Israel.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:1 the inland country. The area of Asia Minor north of Ephesus, where Luke left Paul before the interlude describing Apollos's ministry (18:23). By going through that area, Paul took the direct route to Ephesus, not the more common trade route. Ephesus. See Introduction to Ephesians. some disciples. They were of John the Baptist (19:3); hence OT seekers. That they did not yet fully understand the Christian faith is evident from their reply to Paul's question (v. 2). The word "disciple" means "learner," or "follower," and does not always refer to Christians (cf. Matt. 9:14; 11:2; Mark 2:18; Luke 5:33; 7:18–19; 11:1; John 1:35; 6:66). Followers of John the Baptist, like this group, existed into the second century.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:2 Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed? The question reflects Paul's uncertainty about their spiritual status. Since all Christians receive the Holy Spirit at the moment of salvation (see notes on Rom. 8:9; 1 Cor. 12:13), their answer revealed they were not yet fully Christians. They had not yet received Christian baptism (having been baptized only "into John's baptism"), which further evidenced that they were not Christians (see note on Acts 2:38).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:4 baptism of repentance . . . believe in . . . Jesus. These disciples did not realize Jesus of Nazareth was the One to whom John's baptism pointed. Paul gave them instruction not on how to receive the Spirit, but about Jesus Christ.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:5 baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. They believed Paul's presentation of the gospel and came to saving faith in the Lord Jesus Christ (cf. 2:41). Although required of all Christians, baptism does not save (see note on 2:38).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:6 Paul . . . laid his hands on them. This signified their inclusion into the church (see note on 8:17). Apostles were also present when the church was born (ch. 2), and when the Samaritans (ch. 8) and Gentiles (ch. 10) were included. In each case, God's purpose was to emphasize the unity of the church. speaking in tongues and prophesying. This served as proof that they were part of the church (see note on 8:17). They also needed tangible evidence that the Holy Spirit now indwelt them, since they had not heard that he had come (19:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:8 synagogue. See note on 13:5. three months. Paul's longest stay in any synagogue, with the possible exception of the one at Corinth. kingdom of God. See note on 1:3.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:9 stubborn. The Greek word always refers to defiance against God (Rom. 9:18; Heb. 3:8, 13, 15; 4:7). Truth rejected leads to a hardened heart, causing the life-giving message of salvation to become "a fragrance from death to death" (2 Cor. 2:16). the Way. See note on Acts 9:2. the hall of Tyrannus. Tyrannus was either the owner of the lecture hall, or a philosopher who taught there. If the latter, his name, which means "our tyrant," may have been a nickname given him by his students. Paul used the hall during the afternoon break (from about 11:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M.), when it would otherwise be unoccupied.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:10 two years. The length of time Paul taught in the school of Tyrannus, not the total length of his ministry at Ephesus (cf. 20:31). all . . . of Asia heard. Though Paul probably never left Ephesus, his converts (cf. 2 Tim. 2:2) spread the gospel throughout the province of Asia Minor (modern Turkey). This two-year period saw the founding of the churches at Colossae and Hierapolis, and possibly some of the seven churches mentioned in Rev. 2–3, beyond the one at Ephesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:11 extraordinary miracles. These confirmed that Paul was God’s messenger, since there was no completed NT to use to determine the truth of his message (cf. 2 Cor. 12:12; Heb. 2:3–4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:12 handkerchiefs . . . aprons. The headbands and outer clothing Paul wore while making tents. The belief that mystical power could be so transmitted was widespread in the ancient world, e.g., believing that Peter’s shadow could heal (cf. 5:15; Matt. 9:21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:13 Jewish exorcists. Simon Magus (8:9–25) and Bar-Jesus (13:6–12) were other possible examples of such charlatans (cf. Matt. 12:27). In contrast to the absolute authority exercised by Jesus and the apostles over demons, those exorcists sought to expel the demons by attempting to call on a more potent spirit being—in this case the Lord Jesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:14 a Jewish high priest named Sceva. Since there is no record of a Jewish high priest by that name, he probably assumed that title falsely to impress people.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:15 Jesus I know, and Paul I recognize. Recognizing that the exorcists had no authority over him (unlike Jesus and Paul), the demon rejected their attempt to expel him from his victim. This confirms that the power to cast out demons belonged to Jesus and the apostles and no one else. Even the demons give testimony to that.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:16 Cf. Mark 5:1–4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:19 books. Of secret magical spells. Burning them proved the genuineness of the magicians’ repentance (see note on 2:38); having destroyed these books, they could not easily resume their practices. fifty thousand pieces of silver. Fifty thousand days’ wages for a common laborer—an astonishing sum of money given to indicate how widespread the practice of magic was in Ephesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:21 resolved in the Spirit. Probably his own spirit, not the Holy Spirit. Macedonia and Achaia. See notes on 16:9 and 18:12. Located on the Greek mainland, these provinces were in the opposite direction from Jerusalem. Paul, however, took this roundabout route to collect an offering for the needy in the Jerusalem church (Rom. 15:25–27; 1 Cor. 16:1–4; 2 Cor. 8–9). I must also see Rome. Paul had not visited the imperial capital, but because of the strategic importance of the church there, he could stay away no longer. In addition, Paul intended to use Rome as a jumping off point for ministry in the strategic region of Spain (Rom. 15:22–24). This simple declaration marked a turning point in Acts; from this point on, Rome became Paul’s goal. He would ultimately arrive there as a Roman prisoner (Acts 28:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:22 Timothy and Erastus. For Timothy, see note on 16:1. Nothing more is known of Erastus. Though the name appears two other times in Scripture (Rom. 16:23; 2 Tim. 4:20), he cannot with certainty be identified with either one. Paul sent these two ahead of him to assist in his collection of the offering.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:23 the Way. See note on 9:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:24 Demetrius, a silversmith. Probably not the individual commended by John (3 John 12), since the name was a common one. silver shrines. These were of the goddess Diana (Artemis). These shrines were used as household idols, and in the worship at the temple of Diana. Artemis. She was also known as “Diana.” Worship of her, centered at the great temple of Diana at Ephesus (one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World), was widespread throughout the Roman Empire. It is likely that the riot described in this passage took place during the annual spring festival held in her honor at Ephesus. brought no little business. This statement suggests Demetrius may have been the head of the silversmiths’ guild—which would explain his taking the lead in opposing the Christian preachers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:27 Demetrius cleverly played upon his hearers’ fears of financial ruin, religious zeal, and concern for their city’s prestige. The Christian preachers, he argued, threatened the continued prosperity of Ephesus. His audience’s violent reaction shows they took the threat seriously (v. 28).

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:29 Gaius and Aristarchus. These men are described as Macedonians, though 20:4 lists Gaius’s hometown as Derbe, a city in Galatia. Possibly the Gaius of 20:4 was a different person.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:31 Asiarchs. These members of the aristocracy were dedicated to promoting Roman interests. Though only one Asiarch ruled at a time, they bore the title for life. That such powerful, influential men were Paul’s friends shows that they did not regard him or his message as criminal. Hence, there was no legitimate cause for the riot.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:32 assembly. The frenzied mob gathered in the theater. Though Paul courageously sought to address them, the Asiarchs (along with the Ephesian Christians, v. 30) begged him to stay away (v. 31). They feared both for the apostle's safety, and that his presence would exacerbate the already explosive situation.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:33 Alexander. Probably not the false teacher later active at Ephesus (1 Tim. 1:20), or the individual who opposed Paul at Rome (2 Tim. 4:14), since the name was common. He was either a Christian Jew or a spokesman for Ephesus's Jewish community. Either way, the Jews' motive for putting him forward was the same—to disassociate themselves from the Christians and avoid a massacre of the Jews. make a defense. Either of the Christians, or the Jews, depending on which group he represented.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:34 a Jew. Whatever the Jews intended by putting Alexander forward backfired; the crowd shouted him down, and in a mindless display of religious frenzy, chanted the name of their goddess for two hours.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:35 town clerk. In modern terms, he was Ephesus's mayor. He was the liaison between the town council and the Roman authorities—who would hold him personally responsible for the riot. sacred stone that fell from the sky. This probably refers to a meteorite, since meteorites were incorporated with the worship of Diana.

ACTS—NOTE ON 19:38–40 The town clerk (v. 35) correctly blamed the crowd for the riot, noting that they should have followed proper judicial procedure and gone to the courts and proconsuls if they had any complaints, so as not to incur serious consequences from Rome.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:1 departed. Paul departed on his trip to Jerusalem via Greece (see note on 19:21). Macedonia. See note on 16:9.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:2 he had gone through those regions. Macedonia and Achaia (see note on 19:21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:3 three months. Most or all of it was likely spent in Corinth. a plot . . . against him by the Jews. See 9:20, 23; 13:45; 14:2, 19; 17:5–9, 13; 18:6, 12–13; 19:9; 21:27–36; 23:12–15. Tragically, most of the opposition to Paul’s ministry stemmed from his fellow countrymen (cf. 2 Cor. 11:26). The Jewish community of Corinth hated Paul because of its humiliating debacle before Gallio (Acts 18:12–17), and the stunning conversions of two of its most prominent leaders, Crispus (18:8), and Sosthenes (18:17; 1 Cor. 1:1). Luke does not record the details of the Jews’ plot, but it undoubtedly involved murdering Paul during the voyage to Palestine. The apostle would have been an easy target on a small ship packed with Jewish pilgrims. Because of that danger, Paul canceled his plans to sail from Greece to Syria. Instead, he decided to go north into Macedonia, cross the Aegean Sea to Asia Minor, and catch another ship from there. That delay cost Paul his opportunity to reach Palestine in time for Passover; but he hurried to be there in time for Pentecost (Acts 20:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:4 Sopater the Berean . . . Trophimus. Paul’s traveling companions came from the various provinces in which he had ministered. These men were likely the official representatives of their churches, chosen to accompany Paul as he took the offering to Jerusalem (see note on 19:21; cf. 1 Cor. 16:3–4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:5 for us. The first person plural pronoun reveals that Luke rejoined Paul in Philippi (v. 6). Being a Gentile, he was able to remain there to minister after Paul and Silas were forced to leave (16:20, 39–40). This verse begins the second of the three “we passages” in which Luke accompanied Paul on his travels (see Introduction: Author and Date). Troas. See note on 16:7–8.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:6 from Philippi. Paul, along with Luke, and possibly Titus, crossed the Aegean Sea from Philippi to Troas. That crossing, due to unfavorable winds, took five days; Paul’s earlier crossing from Troas to Neapolis (Philippi’s port) had taken only two days (16:11). In Troas, they were reunited with the rest of their party. days of Unleavened Bread. I.e., Passover (Ex. 12:17).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:7 first day of the week. Sunday, the day the church gathered for worship, because it was the day of Christ's resurrection. Cf. Matt. 28:1; Mark 16:2, 9; Luke 24:1; John 20:1, 19; 1 Cor. 16:2. The writings of the early church Fathers confirm that the church continued to meet on Sunday after the close of the NT period. Scripture does not require Christians to observe the Saturday Sabbath: 1) the Sabbath was the sign of the Mosaic Covenant (Ex. 31:16–17; Neh. 9:14; Ezek. 20:12), whereas Christians are under the New Covenant (2 Cor. 3; Heb. 8); 2) there is no NT command to keep the Sabbath; 3) the first command to keep the Sabbath was not until the time of Moses (Ex. 20:8); 4) the Jerusalem Council (Acts 15) did not order Gentile believers to keep the Sabbath; 5) Paul never cautioned Christians about breaking the Sabbath; and 6) the NT explicitly teaches that Sabbath keeping was not a requirement (see notes on Rom. 14:5; Gal. 4:10–11; Col. 2:16–17). to break bread. The common meal associated with the communion service (1 Cor. 11:20–22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:8 lamps. The fumes given off by these oil-burning lamps help explain why Eutychus fell asleep (v. 9). upper room. See note on 1:13. The early church met in homes (Rom. 16:5; 1 Cor. 16:19; Col. 4:15; Philem. 2); the first church buildings date from the third century.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:9 young man. The Greek word suggests he was between seven and 14 years old. His youth, the fumes from the lamps, and the lateness of the hour (v. 7) gradually overcame his resistance. He dozed off, fell out of the open window, and was killed.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:10 his life is in him. This does not mean that he had not died, but that his life had been restored. As a physician, Luke knew whether someone had died, as he plainly states (v. 9) was the case with Eutychus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:13 Assos. Located 20 miles south of Troas, across the neck of a small peninsula. by land. Because the ship had to sail around the peninsula, Paul could have arrived in Assos not long after it did. Paul presumably chose to walk to Assos so he could continue to teach the believers from Troas who accompanied him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:14 Mitylene. Chief city of the island of Lesbos, south of Assos.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:15 Chios. An island off the coast of Asia Minor, south of Lesbos. Chios was the birthplace of the Greek poet Homer. Samos. An island off the coast near Ephesus. The famed mathematician Pythagoras was born on Samos. Miletus. A city in Asia Minor, about 30 miles south of Ephesus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:16 decided to sail past Ephesus. Still trying to reach Jerusalem before Pentecost (50 days after Passover), Paul decided to have the elders (i.e., pastors, overseers) of the Ephesian church meet him in Miletus.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:19 with tears. Paul wept because of: 1) those who did not know Christ (cf. Rom. 9:2–3); 2) struggling, immature believers (2 Cor. 2:4); and 3) the threat of false teachers (Acts 20:29–30). plots of the Jews. See 2 Cor. 11:24, 26. Ironically, it was the plot of the Jews at Corinth that allowed the Ephesian elders this opportunity to spend time with Paul (see note on Acts 20:3).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:20 in public and from house to house. Paul taught in the synagogue (19:8; see note on 6:9) and the school of Tyrannus (19:10). He reinforced that public teaching with practical instruction of individuals and households.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:21 repentance. An essential element of the gospel (see notes on 2:38; cf. 26:20; Matt. 4:17; Luke 3:8; 5:32; 24:47).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:22 constrained by the Spirit. Paul's deep sense of duty toward the Master who had redeemed him and called him to service drove him onward despite the threat of danger and hardship (v. 23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:23 Holy Spirit testifies. Paul knew he faced persecution in Jerusalem (cf. Rom. 15:31), though he would not know the details until he heard Agabus's prophecy (Acts 21:10–11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:24 the ministry . . . received from the Lord Jesus. Cf. 2 Tim. 4:7. gospel of the grace of God. An apt description, since salvation is solely by God's grace (Eph. 2:8–9; Titus 2:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:25 none of you . . . will see my face. Aware that he faced severe opposition in Jerusalem, Paul did not anticipate ever returning to Asia Minor. Though he may have done so after his release from his first Roman imprisonment, he could not at this time have foreseen that possibility. the kingdom. See note on 1:3.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:26 innocent of the blood. Cf. Ezek. 33:7–9 and James 3:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:27 whole counsel of God. The entire plan and purpose of God for man’s salvation in all its fullness: divine truths of creation, election, redemption, justification, adoption, conversion, sanctification, holy living, and glorification. Paul strongly condemned those who adulterate the truth of Scripture (2 Cor. 2:17; 2 Tim. 4:3–4; cf. Rev. 22:18–19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:28–30 A timely warning, proven true by later events at Ephesus (1 Tim. 1:3–7, 19–20; 6:20–21; Rev. 2:2). False teachers were already plaguing the churches of Galatia (Gal. 1:6) and the Corinthian church (2 Cor. 11:4).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:28 Pay careful attention to yourselves. Paul repeated this call to self-examination to Timothy when his young son in the faith served as pastor of the Ephesian congregation (1 Tim. 4:16; 2 Tim. 2:20–21). overseers. These are the same as elders and pastors (see note on 1 Tim. 3:1). The word stresses the leaders’ responsibility to watch over and protect their congregations—an appropriate usage in the context of a warning against false teachers. Church rule, which minimizes the biblical authority of elders in favor of a cultural, democratic process, is foreign to the NT (cf. 1 Thess. 5:12–13; Heb. 13:17). with his own blood. See note on 1 Pet. 1:18. Paul believed so strongly in the unity of God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ that he could speak of Christ’s death as shedding the blood of God—who has no body (John 4:24; cf. Luke 24:39) and hence no blood.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:29 fierce wolves. Borrowed from Jesus (Matt. 7:15; 10:16), this metaphor stresses the extreme danger false teachers pose to the church.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:30 from among your own selves. Even more deadly than attacks from outside the church are the defections of those (especially leaders) within the church (1 Tim. 1:20; 2 Tim. 1:15; 2:17; cf. Jude 3–4, 10–13). twisted things. The Greek word means “distorted,” or “perverse.” False teachers twist God’s word for their own evil ends (Acts 13:10; 2 Pet. 3:16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:31 three years. The total length of Paul’s Ephesian ministry, including the two years he taught in the school of Tyrannus (19:10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:32 word of his grace. The Scriptures, the record of God’s gracious dealings with mankind. build you up. The Bible is the source of spiritual growth (1 Thess. 2:13; 2 Tim. 3:16–17; 1 Pet. 2:2) for all Christians. And since the church is “a pillar and buttress of the truth” (1 Tim. 3:15), its leaders must be familiar with that truth. inheritance. See note on 1 Pet. 1:4.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:33 coveted. Love of money is a hallmark of false teachers (cf. Isa. 56:11; Jer. 6:13; 8:10; Mic. 3:11; Titus 1:11; 2 Pet. 2:3), but did not characterize Paul’s ministry. See notes on 1 Tim. 6:3, 5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:34 these hands ministered to my necessities. Paul had the right to earn his living from the gospel (1 Cor. 9:3–14) and sometimes accepted support (2 Cor. 11:8–9; Phil. 4:10–19). Yet, he often worked to support himself so he could “present the gospel free of charge” (1 Cor. 9:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:35 help the weak. Cf. 1 Cor. 4:12; 1 Thess. 2:9; 2 Thess. 3:8–9. the words of the Lord Jesus. This is the only direct quote from Jesus’ earthly ministry recorded outside the Gospels. The Bible does not record all the words or deeds of Jesus (John 21:25).

ACTS—NOTE ON 20:37 embraced Paul. A common biblical way of expressing extreme emotion and affection (cf. Gen. 33:4; 45:14; 46:29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:1 parted. Lit., means “to tear away.” It reiterates the difficulty of Paul’s leaving the Ephesian elders (20:37–38). straight course to Cos. The chief city of the island of Cos. Rhodes. An island southeast of Cos; also the name of its capital city. Its harbor was home to the great statue known as the Colossus of Rhodes, one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World. Patara. A busy port city in the extreme southern portion of Asia Minor. Paul and the others had now rounded the southwestern corner of Asia Minor. Each of the ports they stopped in represented one day’s sailing; the ship did not sail at night.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:2 found a ship . . . to Phoenicia. Realizing he would never reach Jerusalem in time for Pentecost if he continued to hug the coast, Paul decided to risk sailing directly across the Mediterranean Sea to Tyre (v. 3). The ship they embarked on would have been considerably larger than the small coastal vessels on which they had been sailing. The ship that later took Paul on his ill-fated voyage to Rome held 276 people (27:37); this one was probably of comparable size.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:3 Cyprus. See note on 11:19. Tyre. See note on 12:20; cf. Josh. 19:29 and Matt. 11:21. The voyage across the Mediterranean from Patara to Tyre normally took five days.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:4 disciples. The church in Tyre had been founded by some of those who fled Jerusalem after Stephen's martyrdom (11:19)—a persecution Paul himself had spearheaded. telling Paul not to go on to Jerusalem. This was not a command from the Spirit for Paul not to go to Jerusalem. Rather, the Spirit had revealed to the believers at Tyre that Paul would face suffering in Jerusalem. Understandably, they tried (as his friends shortly would, 21:12) to dissuade him from going there. Paul's mission to Jerusalem had been given him by the Lord Jesus (20:24); the Spirit would never command him to abandon it.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:7 Ptolemais. Old Testament Acco (Judg. 1:31), located 25 miles south of Tyre.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:8 Caesarea. See note on 8:40. Philip the evangelist. See note on 6:5. No one else in Scripture is called an evangelist, though Paul commanded Timothy to do the work of an evangelist (2 Tim. 4:5). Once enemies, Philip and Paul were now fellow preachers of God's gospel of grace. the seven. See note on Acts 6:3.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:9 unmarried daughters. That they were virgins may indicate that they had been called by God for special ministry (cf. 1 Cor. 7:34). The early church regarded these women as important sources of information in the early years of the church (see Introduction: Author and Date). who prophesied. Luke does not reveal the nature of their prophecy. They may have had an ongoing prophetic ministry, or prophesied only once. Since women are not to be preachers or teachers in the church (1 Cor. 14:34–36; 1 Tim. 2:11–12), they probably ministered to individuals. For an explanation of NT prophets, see notes on Acts 11:27; 1 Cor. 12:28; Eph. 4:11.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:10 prophet named Agabus. See note on 11:28. down from Judea. Although it was located in Judea, the Jews considered Caesarea, seat of the Roman government, to be a foreign city (see note on 18:22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:11 belt. Old Testament prophets sometimes acted out their prophecies (cf. 1 Kings 11:29–39; Isa. 20:2–6; Jer. 13:1–11; Ezek. 4–5). Agabus's action foreshadowed Paul's arrest and imprisonment by the Romans. hands of the Gentiles. Though falsely accused by the Jews (Acts 21:27–28), Paul was arrested and imprisoned by the Romans (vv. 31–33).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:12 we and the people. Both Paul's friends (Luke and the others traveling with him) and the Caesarean Christians.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:13 for the name. Baptism (see note on 2:38; cf. 8:16; 10:48; 19:5), healing (3:6, 16; 4:10), signs and wonders (4:30), and preaching (4:18; 5:40; 8:12) were all done in the name of the Lord Jesus. His name represents all that he is.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:14 will of the Lord be done. A confident expression of trust that God's will is best (cf. 1 Sam. 3:18; Matt. 6:10; Luke 22:42; James 4:13–15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:15 up to Jerusalem. Jerusalem was southeast of Caesarea, located on a plateau so travelers were always said to go up to it (cf. 11:2; 15:2; 18:22; Mark 10:32; Luke 2:22; John 2:13; Gal. 1:17–18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:16 Mnason. His Greek name may mean he was a Hellenistic Jew. If so, Paul and his Gentile companions may have chosen to stay with him because of his acquaintance with Greek culture. That would have made him more comfortable in housing a party of Gentiles than the Palestinian Jews would have been. early disciple. Possibly one of those saved on the day of Pentecost. If so, Mnason could have been another source of historical information for Luke.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:17 come to Jerusalem. Presumably in time to celebrate Pentecost, as Paul had planned (20:16). the brothers received us gladly. This was because of the much-needed offering they brought. Also, and more importantly, the Jerusalem believers rejoiced because the Gentile converts with Paul provided visible evidence of God's work of salvation in the Roman world. This initial, unofficial reception may have taken place at Mnason's house.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:18 James. The brother of Jesus and head of the Jerusalem church (see note on 12:17), not James, the brother of John, who had been executed by Herod (12:2). all the elders. The mention of elders indicates that the apostles, often away on evangelistic work, had turned over rule of the Jerusalem church to them. Some have speculated that there were 70 elders, paralleling the Sanhedrin. Given the large size of the Jerusalem church, there probably were at least that many. God had decreed that after the apostles were gone, the church was to be ruled by elders (cf. 14:23; 20:17; 1 Tim. 5:17; Titus 1:5; James 5:14; 1 Pet. 5:1, 5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:19 related one by one. Paul's official report of his missionary work did not involve meaningless generalities; he related specific incidents from his journeys (cf. 11:4). As always (cf. 14:27; 15:4, 12), Paul gave all credit and glory for his accomplishments to God.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:20 zealous for the law. Some Jewish believers continued to observe the ceremonial aspects of the Mosaic law. Unlike the Judaizers (see note on 15:1), they did not view the law as a means of salvation.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:21 to forsake Moses. The Judaizers were spreading false reports that Paul was teaching Jewish believers to forsake their heritage. That Paul had not abandoned Jewish customs is evident from his circumcision of Timothy (16:1–3) and his own taking of a Nazirite vow (18:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:23 under a vow. A Nazirite vow, symbolizing total devotion to God (see notes on 18:18; Num. 6:1–21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:24 purify yourself. Having just returned from an extended stay in Gentile lands, Paul was considered ceremonially unclean. He therefore needed to undergo ritual purification before participating (as their sponsor) in the ceremony marking the end of the four men's vows. pay their expenses. For the temple ceremony in which the four would shave their heads, and the sacrifices associated with the Nazirite vow. Paying those expenses for another was considered an act of piety, and by so doing, Paul would give further proof that he had not forsaken his Jewish heritage. shave their heads. A practice commonly associated with a Nazirite vow (Num. 6:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:25 See notes on 15:19–20. James made it clear that what he was asking Paul to do by no means changed the decision of the Jerusalem Council regarding Gentiles. Since Paul was Jewish, that decision did not apply to him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:26 purified himself. See note on v. 24.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:27 seven days. The length of the purification process (see note on v. 24). Paul had to appear at the temple on the third and seventh days. The incident that follows took place on the seventh day, when the process was almost completed. Jews from Asia. Probably from Ephesus, since they recognized Trophimus as a Gentile (v. 29). They were in Jerusalem celebrating the Feast of Pentecost.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:28 people and the law and this place. Paul’s enemies leveled three false charges against him. They claimed that he taught Jews to forsake their heritage—the same lie told by the Judaizers (see note on v. 21). The second charge, that Paul opposed the law, was a very dangerous one, albeit false, in this setting. Originally, Pentecost was a celebration of the firstfruits of the harvest. But by this time, it had become a celebration of Moses’ receiving the law on Mount Sinai. Thus, the Jewish people were especially zealous for the law during this feast. The third charge, of blaspheming or defiling the temple, had helped bring about the deaths of Jesus (Mark 14:57–58) and Stephen (Acts 6:13). All three charges were, of course, totally false. brought Greeks into the temple. The Asian Jews accused Paul of having brought Trophimus past the Court of the Gentiles into the part of the temple where Gentiles were forbidden. Such a charge was absurd, for it would have entailed Paul’s risking his friend’s life (the Romans had granted the Jews permission to execute any Gentile who so defiled the temple).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:30 gates were shut. This was done by the temple guards, since Paul’s death on the temple grounds would defile the temple (cf. 2 Kings 11:15). They made no effort, however, to rescue the apostle from the crowd, which was intent on beating him to death.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:31 tribune. The tribune (Claudias Lysias, 23:26) commanding the Roman cohort based in Jerusalem. He was the highest ranking Roman official stationed in Jerusalem (the governor’s official residence was in Caesarea, see note on 8:40). cohort. The 1,000-man Roman occupation force. Their headquarters was the Fortress Antonia, located on a precipice overlooking the temple complex. From that vantage point, Roman sentries spotted the riot and informed their commander.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:32 soldiers and centurions. The use of the plural “centurions” suggests Lysias took at least 200 soldiers with him, since each centurion commanded 100 men.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:33 two chains. Assuming Paul to be guilty of something (since the Jews were so enraged at him), Lysias arrested him. The tribune thought he knew who Paul was (v. 38).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:34 barracks. In Fortress Antonia, overlooking the temple grounds.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:36 Away with him! Or, “Kill him” (cf. 22:22; Luke 23:18; John 19:15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:37 Do you know Greek? Paul’s use of the language of educated people startled Lysias, who assumed his prisoner was an uncultured criminal.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:38 the Egyptian . . . stirred up a revolt. Lysias’s question revealed who he (wrongly) assumed Paul was. The Egyptian was a false prophet who, several years earlier, had promised to drive out the Romans. Before he could do so, however, his forces were attacked and routed by Roman troops led by governor Felix. Though several hundred of his followers were killed or captured, he managed to escape. Lysias assumed he had returned and been captured by the crowd. Assassins. Called “sicarii,” they were a terrorist group whose Jewish nationalism led them to murder Romans and Jews perceived as sympathetic to Rome. Since they often used the cover of a crowd to stab their victims, Lysias assumed the mob had caught one of their leaders in the act.

ACTS—NOTE ON 21:39 Tarsus. See note on 9:11. Tarsus was an important cultural city, with a university rivaling those at Athens and Alexandria.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:1–22 Paul’s first of six defenses (cf. 22:30–23:10; 24:10–21; 25:1–12; 26:1–29; 28:17–29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:2 Hebrew language. Aramaic, the language commonly spoken in Palestine (cf. 2 Kings 18:26; Isa. 36:11). See note on Acts 21:37.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:3 I am a Jew. A response to the false charges raised by the Asian Jews (see note on 21:21). born in Tarsus. See note on 21:39. Cilicia. See note on 6:9. Tarsus was the chief city of Cilicia. brought up in this city. Paul was born among the Hellenistic Jews of the Diaspora, but had been brought up in Jerusalem. Gamaliel. See note on 5:34. That Paul had studied under the most celebrated rabbi of that day was further evidence that the charges against him were absurd. law of our fathers. As a student of Gamaliel, Paul received extensive training both in the OT law, and in the rabbinic traditions. Also, though he did not mention it to the crowd, he also had been a Pharisee. In light of all that, the charge that Paul opposed the law (see note on 21:21) was ridiculous.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:4 I persecuted this Way. See note on 9:2. As the leading persecutor of the Christian church after Stephen's martyrdom (cf. Gal. 1:13), Paul's zeal for his Jewish heritage far outstripped that of his hearers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:5 council of elders. The Sanhedrin (see notes on 4:15; Matt. 26:59).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:6–16 The second of three NT accounts of Paul's conversion (cf. 9:1–19; 26:12–18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:6 about noon. Paul's reference to the time of day emphasizes how bright the light from heaven really was. It outshone the sun at its peak.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:7–8 Cf. 9:4–5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:9 did not understand the voice. This is no contradiction with 9:7. Since Jesus spoke only to Paul, only he understood the Lord's words. His companions heard the sound, but could not make out the words (cf. John 12:29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:11 brightness of that light. Paul's companions saw the light, but only he saw the Lord Jesus Christ (v. 14; 9:7, 17, 27; 26:16; 1 Cor. 9:1; 15:8).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:12 Ananias. See note on 9:10. His testimony as a respected member of Damascus's Jewish community would carry weight with Paul's hostile audience.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:14 the Righteous One. A title given to the Messiah (cf. 3:14; 7:52; Isa. 53:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:15 a witness. Paul never wavered in his claim to have seen the risen, glorified Christ on the Damascus road (see note on v. 11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:16 wash away your sins. Grammatically the phrase "calling on his name" precedes "Rise and be baptized." Salvation comes from calling on the name of the Lord (Rom. 10:9–10, 13), not from being baptized (see note on Acts 2:38).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:17 When I had returned to Jerusalem. After a brief ministry in Damascus (9:20–25) and three years in Nabatean Arabia (Gal. 1:17– 18). a trance. Paul was carried beyond his senses into the supernatural realm to receive revelation from Jesus Christ. The experience was unique to the apostles, since only Peter (Acts 10:10; 11:5) and John (Rev. 1:10) had similar revelations. This was the fourth of six visions received by Paul in Acts (cf. Acts 9:3–6; 16:9–10; 18:9–10; 23:11; 27:23–24).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:20 Stephen your witness. See notes on 6:5; 7:54–60. approving. See 8:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:21–23 Paul’s insistence that the Lord had sent him to minister to the despised Gentiles was too much for the crowd. They viewed the teaching that Gentiles could be saved without first becoming Jewish proselytes (thus granting them equal status with the Jewish people before God) as intolerable blasphemy.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:23 throwing off their cloaks. They did this in preparation to stone Paul, in horror at his “blasphemy” (see note on 14:14) or in uncontrollable rage—or, most likely, for all three reasons. Their passions inflamed by racial pride, the members of the crowd lost any semblance of self-control. flinging dust. A sign of intense emotion (cf. 2 Sam. 16:13; Job 2:12; Rev. 18:19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:24 the tribune ordered him to be brought into the barracks. Lysias realized he would have to interrogate Paul privately. He ordered his soldiers to bring the prisoner into Fortress Antonia, away from the angry mob. that he should be examined by flogging. A brutal Roman interrogation method. Prisoners frequently died after being flogged with the Roman flagellum (metal-tipped leather thongs attached to a wooden handle).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:25 stretched him out for the whips. This was done in preparation for his examination by scourging. Stretching Paul taut would magnify the effects of the flagellum on his body. centurion. See notes on 10:1; Matt. 8:5. There would have been 10 centurions in the 1,000-man Roman garrison in Jerusalem. who is a Roman. Roman citizens were exempted (by the Valerian and Porcian laws) from such brutal methods of interrogation. Paul now exerted his rights as a Roman citizen. His claim would not have been questioned, because the penalty for falsely claiming Roman citizenship was death.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:26 What are you about to do? For this man is a Roman citizen. The centurion informed his commander of Paul’s citizenship, cautioning him against an act that could have ended Lysias's military career—or even cost him his life.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:28 for a large sum. Roman citizenship was officially not for sale, but could sometimes be obtained by bribing corrupt officials.

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:30–23:10 Paul's second of six defenses (cf. vv. 1–21; 24:10–21; 25:1–12; 26:1–29; 28:17–29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 22:30 chief priests and all the council. He convened an unofficial meeting of the Sanhedrin (see notes on 4:15, 23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:1 the council. The Sanhedrin (see notes on 4:15; Matt. 26:59). good conscience. See note on 2 Cor. 1:12; cf. Acts 24:16; 2 Tim. 1:3.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:2 high priest Ananias. Not the Annas of the Gospels (see note on Luke 3:2), this man was one of Israel's cruelest and most corrupt high priests (see note on Acts 4:6). His pro-Roman policies alienated him from the Jewish people, who murdered him at the outset of the revolt against Rome (A.D. 66). commanded . . . to strike him. An illegal act in keeping with Ananias's brutal character. The verb translated "strike" is used of the mob's beating of Paul (21:32) and the Roman soldiers' beating of Jesus (Matt. 27:30). It was no mere slap on the face, but a vicious blow.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:3 whitewashed wall! Cf. Ezek. 13:10–16 and Matt. 23:27. contrary to the law. Outraged by the high priest's flagrant violation of Jewish law, Paul flared up in anger. When Jesus was similarly struck in violation of the law, he reacted by calmly asking the reason for the blow (John 18:23). Paul's reaction was wrong, as he would shortly admit (Acts 23:5). Although an evil man, Ananias still held a God-ordained office, and was to be granted the respect that position demanded.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:4 revile. Those standing near Paul were appalled by his harsh rebuke of the high priest. "Revile" is the same word used in John 9:28 to describe the Jewish leaders' insulting remarks to the blind man whom Jesus had healed. Peter used it to speak of the abuse Jesus endured (1 Pet. 2:23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:5 I did not know. Some believe this to be another manifestation of Paul's eye problems (cf. Gal. 4:15); or that Paul was so angry that he forgot to whom he was speaking; or that he was being sarcastic, since Ananias was not acting like a high priest should. The simplest explanation is to take Paul's words at face value. He had been gone from Jerusalem for many years and would not likely have recognized Ananias by sight. That this was an informal gathering of the Sanhedrin (see note on Acts 22:30) would have meant the high priest would not have been wearing his official garments. it is written. Quoted from Ex. 22:28.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:6 Ananias's haughty attitude and illegal act convinced Paul he would not receive a fair hearing before the Sanhedrin. Accordingly, he decided on a bold step. As a Pharisee, and possibly a former member of the Sanhedrin (see note on 26:10), Paul was well aware of the tensions between the Sanhedrin's two factions. He appealed to the Pharisees for support, reminding them that he himself was a Pharisee, and appealing to the major theological difference between them and the Sadducees (see note on 23:7). Paul thus created a split between the Sanhedrin's factions. Sadducees . . . Pharisees. See note on Matt. 3:7. council. See note on Acts 4:15.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:7 a dissension. There were major social, political, and theological differences between the Sadducees and Pharisees. By raising the issue of the resurrection, Paul appealed to the Pharisees for support on perhaps the most important theological difference (see note on v. 8). Since the resurrection of Jesus Christ is also the central theme of Christianity, this was no cynical ploy on Paul's part to divide the Sanhedrin over a trivial point of theology.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:8 Sadducees . . . Pharisees. The Sadducees accepted only the Pentateuch as divinely inspired Scripture. Since they claimed (wrongly, cf. Matt. 22:23–33) that the Pentateuch did not teach that there would be a resurrection, they rejected it. The Pharisees, however, believed in the resurrection and afterlife. Their beliefs were thus closer to Christianity than those of the Sadducees. Significantly, the Scripture records the conversion of Pharisees (Acts 15:5; John 3:1), but not of Sadducees.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:9 scribes of the Pharisees' party. So intense was their theological disagreement with the Sadducees that they were willing to defend Paul—even though he was a leader of the hated sect of the Christians (cf. 24:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:11 the Lord stood by him. The fifth of six visions Paul received in Acts (cf. 9:3–6; 16:9–10; 18:9–10; 22:17–18; 27:23–24), all coming at crucial points in his ministry. you must testify also in Rome. Jesus encouraged Paul by telling him that his desire (Rom. 1:9–11; 15:23) to visit Rome would be granted.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:12 bound themselves by an oath. Lit., they “anathematized” themselves (cf. Gal. 1:8–9), thus invoking divine judgment if they failed (cf. 1 Sam. 14:44; 2 Sam. 3:35; 19:13; 1 Kings 2:23; 2 Kings 6:31).

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:14 chief priests and elders. See notes on 4:23; cf. Matt. 16:21. Being Sadducees, they would be more inclined to help the conspirators. Significantly excluded are the scribes who, being mostly Pharisees, had already shown their willingness to defend Paul (Acts 23:9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:16 son of Paul’s sister. The only clear reference in Scripture to Paul’s family (for other possible references, see Rom. 16:7, 11, 21). Why he was in Jerusalem, away from the family home in Tarsus, is not known. Nor is it evident why he would want to warn his uncle, since Paul’s family possibly disinherited him when he became a Christian (Phil. 3:8). entered the barracks and told Paul. Since Paul was not under arrest, but merely in protective custody, he was able to receive visitors.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:17 centurions. See note on 22:25.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:23–24 To foil the conspirators’ plot, avoid a potentially explosive confrontation with the Jews, and save Paul’s life, Lysias realized he had to get the apostle out of Jerusalem and to his superior, governor Felix in Caesarea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:23 soldiers . . . horsemen . . . spearmen. The “soldiers” were legionnaires, the elite soldiers of the Roman army; the “horsemen” were from the garrison’s cavalry detachment; and the “spearmen,” or javelin throwers, were soldiers less heavily armed than the legionnaires. Lysias sent almost half of his 1,000-man garrison, showing how seriously he viewed the plot against Paul. third hour of the night. 9:00 P.M.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:26 governor Felix. See note on 24:2.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:27 having learned that he was a Roman. Actually, Lysias did not find this out until after he arrested Paul (22:25–26). Lysias sought to portray himself in the best possible light before the governor. For that reason, he also neglected to mention his order to have Paul scourged (22:24), and his mistaken assumption that he was the notorious Egyptian assassin (21:38).

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:29 questions of their law. Lysias's failure to mention any crimes against Roman law was tantamount to declaring Paul innocent.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:30 to state before you what they have against him. The plot against Paul's life rendered any further hearings at Jerusalem unsafe, thus requiring Lysias to burden Felix with the case.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:31 Antipatris. A Roman military post about 40 miles from Jerusalem. Travelers from Jerusalem to Caesarea often rested there. To get there from Jerusalem in one night (v. 32) would have been an exhausting forced march for the foot soldiers.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:32 horsemen. Since there was much less danger of ambush in the largely Gentile region of Samaria, the foot soldiers were no longer needed.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:33 Caesarea. See note on 9:30.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:34 what province he was from. Felix needed to determine whether he had jurisdiction to hear Paul's case. from Cilicia. Judea and Cilicia were at that time both under the legate of Syria, so Felix had the authority to hear his case.

ACTS—NOTE ON 23:35 Herod's praetorium. Felix's official residence in Caesarea.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:1 after five days. A very short period of time for the Jewish leaders to put their case together, hire an attorney, and make the trip to Caesarea. Perhaps they feared Felix would dismiss the case against Paul if they did not pursue it rapidly. the high priest Ananias. See note on 23:2. elders. Important leaders of the Sanhedrin (see note on 4:5). Tertullus. Possibly a Roman, but more likely a Hellenistic Jew (cf. 24:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:2 Felix. Governor of Judea from A.D. 52 to 59. Felix was a former slave whose brother (a favorite of Emperor Claudius) had obtained for him the position as governor. He was not highly regarded by the influential Romans of his day and accomplished little during his term as governor. He defeated the Egyptian and his followers (see note on 21:38), but his brutality angered the Jews and led to his ouster as governor by Emperor Nero two years after Paul's hearing (v. 27).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:5–7 Having dispensed with the obligatory flattery of Felix, Tertullus set forth the specific charges against Paul. They included sedition (a violation of Roman law), sectarianism (a violation of Jewish law), and sacrilege (a violation of God's law).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:5 a plague. This statement, while reflecting the Sanhedrin's hatred of the apostle and Christianity, was not a specific charge of wrongdoing. stirs up riots. The first and (in a Roman court) most serious charge leveled against Paul: sedition (rebellion). The Romans did not tolerate those who incited rebellion (as the Jews present would learn a few years later in A.D. 66). Had the Jewish leaders been able to substantiate this charge, Paul would have faced severe punishment, possibly even execution. Tertullus carefully avoided naming any specific incidents, since Felix could then have transferred Paul's case to the governor in whose jurisdiction the incident took place. The Jews wanted Paul tried before a governor over whom they had some influence. ringleader . . . sect of the Nazarenes. The second charge brought against Paul was sectarianism (heresy). Tertullus's contemptuous reference to Christianity as "the sect of the Nazarenes" (cf. 6:14; John 1:46; 7:41, 52) was intended to portray Paul as the leader of a messianic sect posing a danger to Rome.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:6–8a He even. See esv footnote. Many ancient manuscripts omit this passage, raising the question of whom Tertullus was urging Felix to examine. If the passage is omitted, Tertullus would be asking Felix to examine Paul; but the apostle would merely have denied Tertullus's false accusations. If the passage is genuine, Tertullus would be falsely accusing Lysias of overstepping his authority by meddling in a proper Jewish legal proceeding. He would then be claiming that an examination of Lysias would confirm the Jewish leaders' false interpretation of the events. That would help explain Felix's decision to adjourn the hearing until he sent for Lysias (v. 22).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:6 tried to profane the temple. The third accusation leveled against Paul was sacrilege, blasphemy against God. The Jewish leaders, through their spokesman, repeated the false charges of the Asian Jews (21:28). Trying to whitewash the angry crowd's savage beating of Paul, they claimed (falsely) to have arrested him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:7–8a See esv footnote. Another falsehood, intended to shift the blame for the incident. Actually, it was the Jewish mob that was guilty of violence; Lysias put a stop to the riot and rescued Paul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:10–21 Paul’s third of six defenses (cf. 22:1–21; 22:30–23:10; 25:1–12; 26:1–29; 28:17–19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:10 many years . . . a judge. Both as governor, and before that during his service under the governor of Samaria. Unlike Tertullus, Paul was not flattering Felix, but reminding him of his acquaintance with Jewish laws, customs, and beliefs. Felix was thus bound to give a just verdict.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:11 twelve days. Five of which had been spent at Caesarea waiting for his accusers to arrive (v. 1). Several of the remaining seven had been taken up with his purification rites (see notes on 21:24, 27). Paul’s point was that, even if he had wanted to, he had not had the time to incite a revolt.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:14 the Way. See note on 9:2. the Law and . . . in the Prophets. The “Law and the Prophets” refers to the OT (see Matt. 7:12). The Sadducees rejected much of the OT (see note on Acts 23:8), while both they and the Pharisees rejected the OT’s witness to Jesus Christ (cf. Luke 24:27, 44; John 1:45; 5:39, 46). In contrast, Paul viewed the entire OT as the inspired word of God, and believed everything it taught.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:15 hope in God. The great hope of the Jewish people was the resurrection (Job 19:25–27; Dan. 12:2). It was Paul, not the skeptical Sadducees, who stood in the mainstream of traditional Jewish theology.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:16 clear conscience. See note on 23:1.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:17 alms . . . offerings. The only reference in Acts to the delivery of the offering Paul had been collecting for the poor saints in Jerusalem (see note on 19:21). Far from seeking to stir up strife, Paul had gone to Jerusalem on a humanitarian mission.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:18 purified. See note on 21:24. Jews from Asia. See note on 21:27.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:21 to the resurrection of the dead. Belief in the resurrection was not a crime under either Jewish or Roman law. Nor was Paul responsible for the long-standing feud between the Sadducees and Pharisees that erupted into open dissension when he made his statement.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:22 having a rather accurate knowledge of the Way. Probably from his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish (v. 24). put them off. The witnesses to Paul's alleged crime (the Jews from Asia) had failed to show up for the hearing. Nor could the Jewish leaders prove him guilty of a crime. The only verdict Felix could render consistent with Roman law was not guilty, which would infuriate the Jews, and possibly lead to further trouble. Since as governor, Felix's primary responsibility was to maintain order, he decided the best decision was no decision, and adjourned the proceedings on the pretext of needing further information from Lysias. tribune comes down. Lysias's written report had already stated that the dispute involved questions of Jewish law (23:29), and that Paul was not guilty of any crime (23:29). It is difficult to see what more he could have added, and there is no evidence that Felix ever summoned him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:24 Drusilla. The youngest daughter of Agrippa I (see note on 12:1), and Felix's third wife. Felix, struck by her beauty, had lured her away from her husband. At the time of Paul's hearing, she was not yet 20 years old.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:25 righteousness and self-control and the coming judgment. God demands "righteousness" of all people, because of his holy nature (Matt. 5:48; 1 Pet. 1:15–16). For men and women to conform to that absolute standard requires "self-control." The result of failing to exhibit self-control and to conform oneself to God's righteous standard is (apart from salvation) "judgment." Felix was alarmed. Living with a woman he had lured away from her husband, Felix obviously lacked "righteousness" and "self-control." The realization that he faced "judgment" alarmed him, and he hastily dismissed Paul. When I get an opportunity. The moment of conviction passed, and Felix foolishly passed up his opportunity to repent (cf. 2 Cor. 6:2).

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:26 money would be given him by Paul. Roman law prohibited the taking of bribes, which was nonetheless commonplace.

ACTS—NOTE ON 24:27 Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus. See note on v. 2. Festus was a member of the Roman nobility, unlike the former slave Felix. Little is known of his brief tenure as governor (he died two years after assuming office), but the Jewish historian Josephus described him as better than either his predecessor or his successor. do the Jews a favor. He did this since Jewish complaints to Rome about his brutality eventually led to his ouster from office. He had brutally suppressed a riot in Caesarea and infuriated the Jews, who managed to complain to Rome and have him replaced. Emperor Nero recalled him to Rome where he would have faced severe punishment if his influential brother, Pallas, had not interceded for him.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:1–12 Paul's fourth of six defenses (cf. 22:1–21; 22:30–23:10; 24:10–21; 26:1–29; 28:17–29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:1 three days after . . . to Jerusalem from Caesarea. To acquaint himself with the situation in his new province.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:3 ambush. A second ambush plot. This time, however, the members of the Sanhedrin were not accomplices (cf. 23:14–15), but the plotters.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:4 Festus. See note on 24:27. Caesarea. See note on 8:40. As the headquarters of Roman government in Judea, Caesarea was the proper place for Paul, a Roman citizen, to be tried.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:6 took his seat on the tribunal. This signified that this hearing was an official Roman trial (see vv. 10, 17; 18:12; Matt. 27:19; John 19:13).

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:9 wishing to do the Jews a favor. Cf. 24:27.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:10 Caesar's tribunal. Festus's compromise gave the Jewish leaders all that they hoped for; they intended to murder Paul before he got to Jerusalem. The apostle therefore rejected Festus's attempt at compromise and reminded the governor that he was standing at Caesar's judgment seat where, as a Roman citizen, he had every right to be judged.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:11 I appeal to Caesar. He declared his right as a Roman citizen to have a trial in Rome.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:12 his council. Festus's advisers. to Caesar you shall go. By granting the appeal, the governor removed himself from the case and transferred it to the emperor.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:13 Agrippa. Herod Agrippa II, son of the Herod who killed James and imprisoned Peter (see note on 12:1). He was the last of the Herods, who play a prominent role in NT history. His great-uncle, Herod Antipas, was the Herod of the Gospels (Mark 6:14–29; Luke 3:1; 13:31–33; 23:7–12), while his great-grandfather, Herod the Great, ruled at the time Jesus was born (Matt. 2:1–19; Luke 1:5). Though not the ruler of Judea, Agrippa was well versed in Jewish affairs (cf. Acts 26:3). Bernice. Not Agrippa’s wife, but his consort and sister. (Their sister, Drusilla, was married to the former governor, Felix). Their incestuous relationship was the talk of Rome, where Agrippa grew up. Bernice for a while became the mistress of Emperor Vespasian, then of his son, Titus, but always returned to her brother.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:19 religion. Such charges did not belong in a Roman court (cf. 18:12–16).

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:20 at a loss how to investigate these questions. Festus, a pagan Roman and new in Judea, could not be expected to understand the theological differences between Christians and Jews.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:21 Caesar. The “Caesar” ruling at this time was the infamous Nero.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:22 I would like to hear. The Greek verb tense implies Herod had been wanting to hear Paul for a long time. As an expert on Jewish affairs (cf. 26:3), he relished hearing Christianity’s leading spokesman in person.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:23 Agrippa . . . Bernice. The two are inseparable in Luke’s account (cf. v. 13; 26:30); she is a constant reminder of Agrippa’s scandalous private life (see note on 25:13). military tribunes. The five tribunes commanding the five cohorts stationed in Caesarea (see note on 10:1). prominent men. The civic leaders of the city.

ACTS—NOTE ON 25:26 I have nothing definite. Since Festus did not understand the nature of the charges against Paul, he did not know what to write in his official report to Nero. For a provincial governor to send a prisoner to the emperor with no clear charges against him was foolish, if not dangerous. especially before you, King Agrippa. Festus hoped Herod’s expertise in Jewish affairs (26:3) would enable him to make sense of the charges against Paul.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:1–29 Paul’s fifth of six defenses (cf. 22:1–21; 22:30–23:10; 24:10–21; 25:1–12; 28:17–19).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:1 permission to speak. Since no one was there to accuse Paul, Herod permitted him to speak in his defense. stretched out his hand. A common gesture at the beginning of a speech (cf. 12:17; 13:16; 19:33).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:3 familiar with all the customs and controversies of the Jews. See note on 25:26. Paul's main purpose was not to defend himself but to convert Agrippa and the others (vv. 26:8, 29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:5 lived as a Pharisee. See note on Matt. 3:7; cf. Phil. 3:5.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:6 my hope in the promise. The coming of the Messiah and his kingdom (cf. 1:6; 3:22–24; 13:23–33; Gen. 3:15; Isa. 7:14; 9:6; Dan. 7:14; Mic. 5:2; Titus 2:13; 1 Pet. 1:11–12).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:7 twelve tribes. A common NT designation for Israel (cf. Matt. 19:28; James 1:1; Rev. 21:12). The 10 northern tribes were not lost. Representatives from each intermingled with the two southern tribes before and after the exile—a process that had begun during the reigns of Hezekiah (2 Chron. 30:1–11) and Josiah (2 Chron. 34:1–9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:8 Paul found it inconceivable that he should be condemned for believing in the resurrection—the great hope of the Jewish people (see note on 24:15).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:10 saints. Christian believers (1 Cor. 1:2). I cast my vote. Lit., “I threw my pebble”—a reference to the ancient custom of recording votes by means of colored pebbles. This verse may also indicate that Paul had once been a member of the Sanhedrin.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:11 tried to make them blaspheme. To renounce their faith in Jesus Christ.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:12–14 The third NT account of Paul's conversion (see notes on 9:1–17; 22:6–23).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:16 in which I will appear to you. See 18:9–10; 22:17–21; 23:11; 2 Cor. 12:1–7; Gal. 1:11–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:17 Gentiles—to whom I am sending you. Paul's commissioning as the apostle to the Gentiles (Rom. 11:13; 1 Tim. 2:7).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:18 to open their eyes. Unbelievers are blinded to spiritual truth by Satan (2 Cor. 4:4; 6:14; cf. Matt. 15:14). from darkness to light. Since unbelievers are in the darkness of their spiritual blindness, the Bible often uses light to picture salvation (Acts 26:23; 13:47; Matt. 4:16; John 1:4–5, 7–9; 3:19–21; 8:12; 9:5; 12:36; 2 Cor. 4:4; 6:14; Eph. 5:8, 14; Col. 1:12–13; 1 Thess. 5:5; 1 Pet. 2:9; 1 John 1:7; 2:8–10). forgiveness of sins. This is the most significant result of salvation (see note on Acts 2:38; cf. 3:19; 5:31; 10:43; 13:38; Matt. 1:21; 26:28; Luke 1:77; 24:47; 1 Cor. 15:3; Gal. 1:4; Col. 1:14; Heb. 8:12; 9:28; 10:12; 1 Pet. 2:24; 3:18; 1 John 2:1–2; 3:5; 4:10; Rev. 1:5). a place. The blessings believers will enjoy throughout eternity in heaven (cf. Acts 20:32; Eph. 1:11, 14, 18; Col. 1:12; 3:24; Heb. 9:15). sanctified by faith. The Bible plainly and repeatedly teaches that salvation comes solely through faith apart from human works (Acts 13:39; 15:9; 16:31; John 3:14–17; 6:69; Rom. 3:21–28; 4:5; 5:1; 9:30; 10:9–11; Gal. 2:16; 3:11, 24; Eph. 2:8–9; Phil. 3:9).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:20 deeds in keeping with their repentance. Genuine repentance is inseparably linked to a changed lifestyle (see notes on 2:38; Matt. 3:8; James 2:18).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:21 Jews . . . tried to kill me. See 21:27–32. The true reason in contrast to the lies of the Jewish leaders (24:6).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:22 the prophets and Moses. See note on 24:14. The term “Moses” is used interchangeably with “law,” since he was the author of the Pentateuch, the five books of law.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:23 Christ must suffer . . . rise from the dead. Messiah’s suffering (Ps. 22; Isa. 53) and resurrection (Ps. 16:10; cf. Acts 13:30–37), the central themes of Paul’s preaching, are clearly taught in the OT.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:24 you are out of your mind. Festus was astonished that a learned scholar like Paul could actually believe that the dead would live again—something no intelligent Roman would accept. Unable to contain himself, he interrupted the proceedings, shouting that Paul’s tremendous learning had driven him insane (cf. Mark 3:21; John 8:48, 52; 10:20).

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:26 none of these things has escaped his notice. The death of Jesus and the Christians’ claim that he rose from the dead were common knowledge in Palestine.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:27 do you believe the prophets? Paul’s shrewd question put Herod in a dilemma. If he affirmed his belief in the prophets, he would also have to admit that what they taught about Jesus’ death and resurrection was true—an admission that would make him appear foolish before his Roman friends. Yet to deny the prophets would outrage his Jewish subjects.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:28 In a short time would you persuade me. Agrippa was saying, “Do you think you can convince me to become a Christian in such a short time?” Recognizing his dilemma, Agrippa parried Paul’s question with one of his own.

ACTS—NOTE ON 26:30–32 The hearing over, Agrippa and Festus met privately to discuss Paul’s case. Both agreed that he was innocent of any crime and could be set free, had he not appealed to Caesar.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:1 we. The use of the pronoun “we” marks the return of Paul’s close friend Luke, who has been absent since 21:18. He had likely been living near Caesarea so he could care for Paul during his imprisonment. Now he rejoined the apostle for the journey to Rome. centurion of the Augustan Cohort. A cohort (regiment) of that name was stationed in Palestine during the reign of Agrippa II (see note on 25:13). Julius may have been on detached duty, performing such tasks as escorting important prisoners.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:2 ship of Adramyttium. Adramyttium was a city on the northwest coast of Asia Minor (modern Turkey) near Troas, where the centurion planned to find a ship sailing to Italy. we put to sea. From Caesarea the ship sailed 70 miles north to Sidon. accompanied by Aristarchus. He had been seized by the crowd during the riot at Ephesus (19:29), while accompanying Paul to Jerusalem with the offering (20:4). Aristarchus would be with Paul during the apostle’s first Roman imprisonment (Col. 4:10).

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:3 put in at Sidon. See note on 12:20. The Christians there ministered to Paul—possibly by providing him with provisions for his trip.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:4 sailed under the lee of Cyprus. They kept to the lee side of the island (passing between it and the mainland), seeking shelter from the strong winds.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:5 coast of Cilicia and Pamphylia. See notes on 2:9–10 and 6:9. Myra in Lycia. One of the main ports of the imperial grain fleet, whose ships brought Egyptian grain to Italy.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:6 ship of Alexandria. Part of the imperial grain fleet.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:7 Cnidus. Located on a peninsula in extreme southwest Asia Minor, this port also served ships of the imperial grain fleet. Having reached Cnidus, the ship could not sail farther west due to the strong headwinds. It was forced to turn south and head for the island of Crete. the lee of Crete. This large island off the southwest coast of Asia Minor provided some relief from the strong northwest winds buffeting the ship. Salmone. A promontory on Crete's northeast coast.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:8 Fair Havens . . . Lasea. The ship fought its way around the southeast corner of Crete, finally reaching the shelter of the bay known as Fair Havens.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:9 the Fast was already over. See note on Zech. 7:3; cf. Lev. 23:26–32. Travel in the open sea was dangerous from mid-September to mid-November, after which it ceased altogether until February. Since the Fast (the Day of Atonement) of late September or early October was past, further travel was already extremely hazardous.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:10 voyage . . . much loss. Because of the lateness of the season, and the difficulties they had already experienced, Paul wisely counseled them to spend the winter at Fair Havens.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:11 centurion. See note on 10:1. Because the ship was part of the imperial grain fleet (see note on 27:5) Julius, not the helmsman nor the ship's owner, was the ranking official on board. pilot. The ship's captain.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:12 not suitable to spend the winter. The professional sailors deemed Fair Havens an unsuitable location to wait out the winter (see note on v. 9). Phoenix. Located 40 miles from Fair Havens with a harbor that provided better shelter from the winter storms.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:14 northeaster. From the Greek word euros ("east wind") and the Latin word aquilo ("north wind"). This is a strong, dangerous windstorm greatly feared by those who sailed the Mediterranean.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:16 Cauda. An island 23 miles southwest of Crete. ship's boat. Taking advantage of Cauda's shelter, the sailors began to rig the ship for the storm by hauling the ship's dinghy on board.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:17 used supports to undergird the ship. A procedure known as frapping. The cables, wrapped around the hull and winched tight, helped the ship endure the battering of the wind and waves. Syrtis. A region of sandbars and shoals off the coast of Africa, much feared as a graveyard of ships. lowered the gear. The sailors probably also took down the sails, since putting out an anchor with the sails up would be self-defeating.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:18 jettison the cargo. Throwing all unnecessary gear and cargo overboard would lighten the ship, enabling it to ride more easily over the waves.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:23–24 The last of six visions Paul received as recorded by Luke (cf. 9:3–6; 16:9–10; 18:9–10; 22:17–18; 23:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:24 stand before Caesar. The angel reaffirmed the promise Jesus himself had earlier made to Paul (23:11).

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:27 fourteenth night. Since they sailed from Fair Havens (v. 13). Adriatic Sea. The central Mediterranean Sea, not the present Adriatic Sea located between Italy and Croatia. The modern Adriatic was known in Paul's day as the Gulf of Adria. about midnight. The sailors probably heard the sound of waves breaking on a shore.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:28 took a sounding. With a weight attached to a length of rope they measured the depth of the sea. twenty fathoms . . . fifteen fathoms. 120 feet . . . 90 feet. The decreasing depth of the water confirmed the ship was approaching land.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:29 let down four anchors from the stern. An attempt to hold the ship in place and keep the bow pointed toward the shore.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:30 ship's boat. The same dinghy hauled aboard earlier (v. 16). laying out anchors from the bow. This would have been for additional stability (cf. v. 29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:33 without food. Because of seasickness and the difficulty of preparing and preserving food, the passengers and crew had eaten little or nothing in the two weeks since they left Fair Havens.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:34 not a hair is to perish. A common Jewish saying (1 Sam. 14:45; 2 Sam. 14:11; 1 Kings 1:52; Luke 21:18) denoting absolute protection.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:37 276 persons. As an ocean-going vessel, this ship was considerably larger than the smaller vessel Paul sailed in from Caesarea to Lycia.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:38 lightened the ship. See note on v. 18.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:41 a reef. A sandbar or reef short of the shore.

ACTS—NOTE ON 27:42 The soldiers' plan was to kill the prisoners. Knowing they could face punishment or death if their prisoners escaped (cf. 12:19; 16:27).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:1 Malta. An island, 17 miles long and 9 miles wide, about 60 miles south of Sicily. None of the sailors had previously been to the bay (known today as St. Paul's Bay) where they were shipwrecked.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:3 a viper. A venomous snake. Cf. Mark 16:18.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:6 said that he was a god. See 14:11–12.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:7 chief man. The Greek phrase indicates Publius was the Roman governor of Malta.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:8 sick with fever and dysentery. The gastric fever (caused by a microbe found in goat's milk) that was common on Malta. Dysentery, often the result of poor sanitation, was widespread in the ancient world.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:11 After three months. Since sea travel was dangerous during this period (see note on 27:9). ship of Alexandria. Probably another in the imperial grain fleet (see notes on 27:5–6). twin gods. Castor and Pollux, Zeus's sons according to Greek mythology, were believed to protect sailors.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:12 Syracuse. An important city on the island of Sicily. Tradition holds that Paul established a church during the ship's three-day stopover there.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:13 Rhegium. A harbor on the southern tip of the Italian mainland. There the ship waited one day for a favorable wind to permit it to sail through the Straits of Messina (separating Sicily from the Italian mainland).

Puteoli. Modern Pozzuoli, located on the Bay of Naples near Pompeii. Rome's main port and the most important one in Italy, Puteoli was also the main port for the Egyptian grain fleet (see note on 27:5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:14 Rome. Almost as a footnote, Luke mentions the party's arrival in the imperial capital—Paul's longtime goal (see note on 19:21).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:15 Forum of Appius. A market town 43 miles south of Rome on the Appian Way. Three Taverns. A rest stop on the Appian Way, about 30 miles south of Rome.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:16 stay by himself . . . guarded. Possibly through Julius's intervention, Paul was allowed to live under guard in his own rented quarters (cf. v. 30).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:17–29 Paul's sixth and final defense recorded in Acts (cf. 22:1–21; 22:30–23:10; 24:10–21; 25:1–12; 26:1–29).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:17 local leaders of the Jews. The most prominent men from Rome's synagogues (see note on 6:9). the customs of our fathers. Paul began by denying that he was guilty of any infraction against the Jewish people or their traditions (cf. 22:3; 24:14; 26:4–5).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:19 appeal to Caesar. See note on 25:11.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:20 the hope of Israel. See notes on 24:15 and 26:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:23 kingdom of God. See note on 1:3. trying to convince them . . . Law of Moses . . . Prophets. Paul's method of Jewish evangelism throughout Acts was to prove from the OT that Jesus was the Messiah (cf. 13:16–41).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:26–27 Quoted from Isa. 6:9–10 (see note there.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:28 salvation of God has been sent to the Gentiles. See 11:18; 13:46–47; 14:27; 15:14–17; 18:6.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:29 Many ancient manuscripts omit this verse.

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:30–31 The best explanation for this rather abrupt ending to the book is that Luke wrote Acts before Paul’s release from his first Roman imprisonment (see Introduction: Author and Date).

ACTS—NOTE ON 28:31 with all boldness and without hindrance. Helped by his loyal fellow workers (cf. Col. 4:10; Philem. 24), Paul evangelized Rome (cf. Phil. 1:13; 4:22).

Introduction to Romans

Title

This epistle's name comes from its original recipients: the members of the church in Rome, the capital of the Roman Empire (1:7).

Author and Date

No one disputes that the apostle Paul wrote Romans. Like his namesake, Israel's first king (Saul was Paul's Hebrew name; Paul his Greek name), Paul was from the tribe of Benjamin (Phil. 3:5). He was also a Roman citizen (Acts 16:37; 22:25). Paul was born about the time of Christ's birth, in Tarsus (Acts 9:11), an important city (Acts 21:39) in the Roman province of Cilicia, located in Asia Minor (modern Turkey). He spent much of his early life in Jerusalem as a student of the celebrated rabbi Gamaliel (Acts 22:3). Like his father before him, Paul was a Pharisee (Acts 23:6), a member of the strictest Jewish sect (cf. Phil. 3:5).

Miraculously converted while on his way to Damascus (c. A.D. 33–34) to arrest Christians in that city, Paul immediately began proclaiming the gospel message (Acts 9:20). After narrowly escaping from Damascus with his life (Acts 9:23–25; 2 Cor. 11:32–33), Paul spent three years in Nabatean Arabia, south and east of the Dead Sea (Gal. 1:17–18). During that time, he received much of his doctrine as direct revelation from the Lord (Gal. 1:11–12).

More than any other individual, Paul was responsible for the spread of Christianity throughout the Roman Empire. He made three missionary journeys through much of the Mediterranean world, tirelessly preaching the gospel he had once sought to destroy (Acts 26:9). After he returned to Jerusalem bearing an offering for the needy in the church there, he was falsely accused by some Jews (Acts 21:27–29), savagely beaten by an angry mob (Acts 21:30–31), and arrested by the Romans. Though two Roman governors, Felix and Festus, as well as Herod Agrippa, did not find him guilty of any crime, pressure from the Jewish leaders kept Paul in Roman custody. After two years, the apostle exercised his right as a Roman citizen and appealed his case to Caesar. After a harrowing trip (Acts 27–28), including a violent, two-week storm at sea that culminated in a shipwreck, Paul reached Rome. Eventually released for a brief period of ministry, he was arrested again and suffered martyrdom at Rome in c. A.D. 65–67 (cf. 2 Tim. 4:6).

Though physically unimpressive (cf. 2 Cor. 10:10; Gal. 4:14), Paul possessed an inner strength granted him through the Holy Spirit's power (Phil. 4:13). The grace of God proved sufficient to provide for his every need (2 Cor. 12:9–10), enabling this noble servant of Christ to successfully finish his spiritual race (2 Tim. 4:7).

Paul wrote Romans from Corinth, as the references to Phoebe (Rom. 16:1, Cenchreae was Corinth's port), Gaius (Rom. 16:23), and Erastus (Rom. 16:23)—all of whom were associated with Corinth—indicate. The apostle wrote the letter toward the close of his third missionary journey (most likely in A.D. 56), as he prepared to leave for Palestine with an offering for the poor believers in the Jerusalem church (Rom. 15:25). Phoebe was given the great responsibility of delivering this letter to the Roman believers (16:1–2).

Rome in the Time of Paul (c. A.D. 60)

The city plan below shows most of the features of the city of Rome that archeologists have so far identified as dating from the time of Paul. Sections of the city would have been very impressive in his time, but most of the outstanding buildings visible in Rome today date to after his death.

Background and Setting

Rome was the capital and most important city of the Roman Empire. It was founded in 753 B.C., but is not mentioned in Scripture until NT times. Rome is located along the banks of the Tiber River, about 15 miles from the Mediterranean Sea. Until an artificial harbor was built at nearby Ostia, Rome's main harbor was Puteoli, some 150 miles away (see note on Acts 28:13). In Paul's day, the city had a population of over one million people, many of whom were slaves. Rome boasted magnificent buildings, such as the emperor's palace, the Circus Maximus, and the Forum, but its beauty was marred by the slums in which so many lived. According to tradition, Paul was martyred outside Rome on the Ostian Way during Nero's reign (A.D. 54–68).

Some of those converted on the day of Pentecost probably founded the church at Rome (cf. Acts 2:10). Paul had long sought to visit the Roman church, but had been prevented from doing so (Rom. 1:13). In God's providence, Paul's inability to visit Rome gave the world this inspired masterpiece of gospel doctrine.

Paul's primary purpose in writing Romans was to teach the great truths of the gospel of grace to believers who had never received apostolic instruction. The letter also introduced him to a church where he was personally unknown, but hoped to visit soon for several important reasons: to edify the believers (1:11); to preach the gospel (1:15); and to get to know the Roman Christians, so they could encourage him (1:12; 15:32), better pray for him (15:30), and help him with his planned ministry in Spain (15:28).

Unlike some of Paul's other epistles (e.g., 1, 2 Corinthians, Galatians), his purpose for writing was not to correct aberrant theology or rebuke ungodly living. The Roman church was doctrinally sound, but, like all churches, it was in need of the rich doctrinal and practical instruction this letter provides.

Historical and Theological Themes

Since Romans is primarily a work of doctrine, it contains little historical material. Paul does use such familiar OT figures as Abraham (ch. 4), David (4:6–8), Adam (5:12–21), Sarah (9:9), Rebekah (9:10), Jacob and Esau (9:10–13), and Pharaoh (9:17) as illustrations. He also recounts some of Israel's history (chs. 9–11). Chapter 16 provides insightful glimpses into the nature and character of the first-century church and its members.

The overarching theme of Romans is the righteousness that comes from God: the glorious truth that God justifies guilty, condemned sinners by grace alone through faith in Christ alone. Chapters 1–11 present the theological truths of that doctrine, while chs. 12–16 detail its practical outworking in the lives of individual believers and the life of the whole church. Some specific theological topics include principles of spiritual leadership (1:8–15); God's wrath against sinful mankind (1:18–32); principles of divine judgment (2:1–16); the universality of sin (3:9–20); an exposition and defense of justification by faith alone (3:21–4:25); the security of salvation (5:1–11); the transference of Adam's sin (5:12–21); sanctification (chs. 6–8); sovereign election (ch. 9); God's plan for Israel (ch. 11); spiritual gifts and practical godliness (ch. 12); the believer's responsibility to human government (ch. 13); and principles of Christian liberty \(14:1–15:12\).

Interpretive Challenges

As the preeminent doctrinal work in the NT, Romans naturally contains a number of difficult passages. Paul's discussion of the perpetuation of Adam's sin (5:12–21) is one of the deepest, most profound theological passages in all of Scripture. The nature of mankind's union with Adam and how his sin was transferred to the human race has always been the subject of intense debate. Bible students also disagree on whether 7:7–25 describes Paul's experience as a believer or unbeliever, or is a literary device not intended to be autobiographical at all. The closely related doctrines of election (8:28–30) and the sovereignty of God (9:6–29) have confused many believers. Others question whether chs. 9–11 teach that God has a future plan for the nation of Israel. Some have ignored Paul's teaching on the believer's obedience to human government (13:1–7) in the name of Christian activism, while others have used it to defend slavish obedience to totalitarian regimes.

All of these and more interpretive challenges are addressed in the notes to the respective passages.

THE LETTER OF PAUL TO THE # Romans

Greeting

ROMANS 1 †Paul, a servant [1] of Christ Jesus, called to be an apostle, set apart for the gospel of God, †which he promised beforehand through his prophets in the holy Scriptures, †concerning his Son, who was descended from David [2] according to the flesh †and was declared to be the Son of God in power according to the Spirit of holiness by his resurrection from the dead, Jesus Christ our Lord, †through whom we have received grace and apostleship to bring about the obedience of faith for the sake of his name among all the nations, †including you who are called to belong to Jesus Christ, †To all those in Rome who are loved by God and called to be saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Longing to Go to Rome

†First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you, because your faith is proclaimed in all the world. †For God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I mention you †always in my prayers, asking that somehow by God's will I may now at last succeed in coming to you. †For I long to see you, that I may impart to you some spiritual gift to strengthen you— †that is, that we may be mutually encouraged by each other's faith, both yours and mine. †I want you to know, brothers, [3] that I have often intended to come to you (but thus far have been prevented), in order that I may reap some harvest among you as well as among the rest of the Gentiles. †I am under obligation both to Greeks and to barbarians, [4] both to the wise and to the foolish. †So I am eager to preach the gospel to you also who are in Rome.

The Righteous Shall Live by Faith

††For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Greek. †For in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith for faith, [5] as it is written, “The righteous shall live by faith.” [6]

God's Wrath on Unrighteousness

<sup>18</sup>†† For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who by their unrighteousness suppress the truth. <sup>19</sup>† For what can be known about God is plain to them, because God has shown it to them. <sup>20</sup>† For his invisible attributes, namely, his eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly perceived, ever since the creation of the world, in the things that have been made. So they are without excuse. <sup>21</sup>† For although they knew God, they did not honor him as God or give thanks to him, but they became futile in their thinking, and their foolish hearts were darkened. <sup>22</sup>† Claiming to be wise, they became fools, <sup>23</sup>† and exchanged the glory of the immortal God for images resembling mortal man and birds and animals and creeping things.

<sup>24</sup>†† Therefore God gave them up in the lusts of their hearts to impurity, to the dishonoring of their bodies among themselves, <sup>25</sup>† because they exchanged the truth about God for a lie and worshiped and served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever! Amen.

<sup>26</sup>† For this reason God gave them up to dishonorable passions. For their women exchanged natural relations for those that are contrary to nature; <sup>27</sup>† and the men likewise gave up natural relations with women and were consumed with passion for one another, men committing shameless acts with men and receiving in themselves the due penalty for their error.

<sup>28</sup>† And since they did not see fit to acknowledge God, God gave them up to a debased mind to do what ought not to be done. <sup>29</sup>† They were filled with all manner of unrighteousness, evil, covetousness, malice. They are full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, maliciousness. They are gossips, <sup>30</sup>† slanderers, haters of God, insolent, haughty, boastful, inventors of evil, disobedient to parents, <sup>31</sup>† foolish, faithless, heartless, ruthless. <sup>32</sup>† Though they know God's decree that those who practice such things deserve to die, they not only do them but give approval to those who practice them.

God's Righteous Judgment

ROMANS 2 †† Therefore you have no excuse, O man, every one of you who judges. For in passing judgment on another you condemn yourself, because you, the judge, practice the very same things. † We know that the judgment of God rightly falls on those who practice such things. † Do you suppose, O man—you who judge those who practice such things and yet do them yourself—that you will escape the judgment of God? † Or do you presume on the riches of his kindness and forbearance and patience, not knowing that God's kindness is meant to lead you to repentance? † But because of your hard and impenitent heart you are storing up wrath for yourself on the day of wrath when God's righteous judgment will be revealed.

† He will render to each one according to his works: † to those who by patience in well-doing seek for glory and honor and immortality, he will give eternal life; † but for those who are self-seeking [1] and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, there will be wrath and fury. † There will be tribulation and distress for every human being who does evil, the Jew first and also the Greek, † but glory and honor and peace for everyone who does good, the Jew first and also the Greek. † For God shows no partiality.

God's Judgment and the Law

† For all who have sinned without the law will also perish without the law, and all who have sinned under the law will be judged by the law. † For it is not the hearers of the law who are righteous before God, but the doers of the law who will be justified. † For when Gentiles, who do not have the law, by nature do what the law requires, they are a law to themselves, even though they do not have the law. † They show that the work of the law is written on their hearts, while their conscience also bears witness, and their conflicting thoughts accuse or even excuse them † on that day when, according to my gospel, God judges the secrets of men by Christ Jesus.

†† But if you call yourself a Jew and rely on the law and boast in God † and know his will and approve what is excellent, because you are instructed from the law; † and if you are sure that you yourself are a guide to the blind, a light to those who are in darkness, † an instructor of the foolish, a teacher of children, having in the law the embodiment of knowledge and truth— † you then who teach others, do you not teach yourself? While you preach against stealing, do you steal? <sup>22</sup>†You who say that one must not commit adultery, do you commit adultery? You who abhor idols, do you rob temples? <sup>23</sup>You who boast in the law dishonor God by breaking the law. <sup>24</sup>†For, as it is written, “The name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles because of you.”

<sup>25</sup>†For circumcision indeed is of value if you obey the law, but if you break the law, your circumcision becomes uncircumcision. <sup>26</sup>†So, if a man who is uncircumcised keeps the precepts of the law, will not his uncircumcision be regarded [2] as circumcision? <sup>27</sup>†Then he who is physically uncircumcised but keeps the law will condemn you who have the written code [3] and circumcision but break the law. <sup>28</sup>†For no one is a Jew who is merely one outwardly, nor is circumcision outward and physical. <sup>29</sup>†But a Jew is one inwardly, and circumcision is a matter of the heart, by the Spirit, not by the letter. His praise is not from man but from God.

God's Righteousness Upheld

ROMANS 3 Then what advantage has the Jew? Or what is the value of circumcision? <sup>2</sup>† Much in every way. To begin with, the Jews were entrusted with the oracles of God. <sup>3</sup>†† What if some were unfaithful? Does their faithlessness nullify the faithfulness of God? <sup>4</sup>† By no means! Let God be true though every one were a liar, as it is written, “That you may be justified in your words, and prevail when you are judged.”

<sup>5</sup>†† But if our unrighteousness serves to show the righteousness of God, what shall we say? That God is unrighteous to inflict wrath on us? (I speak in a human way.) <sup>6</sup>† By no means! For then how could God judge the world? <sup>7</sup> But if through my lie God's truth abounds to his glory, why am I still being condemned as a sinner? <sup>8</sup>† And why not do evil that good may come?—as some people slanderously charge us with saying. Their condemnation is just.

No One Is Righteous

<sup>9</sup>†† What then? Are we Jews [\[1\]](#) any better off? [\[2\]](#) No, not at all. For we have already charged that all, both Jews and Greeks, are under sin, <sup>10</sup>††† as it is written: “None is righteous, no, not one; <sup>11</sup>† no one understands; no one seeks for God.

<sup>12</sup>† All have turned aside; together they have become worthless; no one does good, not even one.”

<sup>19</sup>† Now we know that whatever the law says it speaks to those who are under the law, so that every mouth may be stopped, and the whole world may be held accountable to God. <sup>20</sup>† For by works of the law no human being [\[3\]](#) will be justified in his sight, since through the law comes knowledge of sin.

The Righteousness of God Through Faith

<sup>21</sup>†† But now the righteousness of God has been manifested apart from the law, although the Law and the Prophets bear witness to it— <sup>22</sup>†† the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe. For there is no distinction: <sup>23</sup>† for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, <sup>24</sup>† and are justified by his grace as a gift, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, <sup>25</sup>† whom God put forward as a propitiation by his blood, to be received by faith. This was to show God's righteousness, because in his divine forbearance he had passed over former sins. <sup>26</sup>† It was to show his righteousness at the present time, so that he might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus.

<sup>27</sup>† Then what becomes of our boasting? It is excluded. By what kind of law? By a law of works? No, but by the law of faith. <sup>28</sup>† For we hold that one is justified by faith apart from works of the law. <sup>29</sup>† Or is God the God of Jews only? Is he not the God of Gentiles also? Yes, of Gentiles also, <sup>30</sup> since God is one—who will justify the circumcised by faith and the uncircumcised through faith. <sup>31</sup>† Do we then overthrow the law by this faith? By no means! On the contrary, we uphold the law.

Abraham Justified by Faith

ROMANS 4 †What then shall we say was gained by [1] Abraham, our forefather according to the flesh? †For if Abraham was justified by works, he has something to boast about, but not before God. †For what does the Scripture say? “Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him as righteousness.” †Now to the one who works, his wages are not counted as a gift but as his due. †And to the one who does not work but believes in [2] him who justifies the ungodly, his faith is counted as righteousness, †just as David also speaks of the blessing of the one to whom God counts righteousness apart from works: †“Blessed are those whose lawless deeds are forgiven, and whose sins are covered; †blessed is the man against whom the Lord will not count his sin.”

††Is this blessing then only for the circumcised, or also for the uncircumcised? We say that faith was counted to Abraham as righteousness. †How then was it counted to him? Was it before or after he had been circumcised? It was not after, but before he was circumcised. ††He received the sign of circumcision as a seal of the righteousness that he had by faith while he was still uncircumcised. The purpose was to make him the father of all who believe without being circumcised, so that righteousness would be counted to them as well, †and to make him the father of the circumcised who are not merely circumcised but who also walk in the footsteps of the faith that our father Abraham had before he was circumcised.

The Promise Realized Through Faith

††For the promise to Abraham and his offspring that he would be heir of the world did not come through the law but through the righteousness of faith. †For if it is the adherents of the law who are to be the heirs, faith is null and the promise is void. †For the law brings wrath, but where there is no law there is no transgression.

†That is why it depends on faith, in order that the promise may rest on grace and be guaranteed to all his offspring—not only to the adherent of the law but also to the one who shares the faith of Abraham, who is the father of us all, †as it is written, “I have made you the father of many nations”—in the presence of the God in whom he believed, who gives life to the dead and calls into existence the things that do not exist. ††In hope he believed against hope, that he should become the father of many nations, as he had been told, “So shall your offspring be.” <sup>19</sup>†He did not weaken in faith when he considered his own body, which was as good as dead (since he was about a hundred years old), or when he considered the barrenness of Sarah's womb. <sup>20</sup>†No distrust made him waver concerning the promise of God, but he grew strong in his faith as he gave glory to God, <sup>21</sup>fully convinced that God was able to do what he had promised. <sup>22</sup>†That is why his faith was “counted to him as righteousness.” <sup>23</sup>†But the words “it was counted to him” were not written for his sake alone, <sup>24</sup>but for ours also. It will be counted to us who believe in him who raised from the dead Jesus our Lord, <sup>25</sup>†who was delivered up for our trespasses and raised for our justification.

Peace with God Through Faith

ROMANS 5 †† Therefore, since we have been justified by faith, we [1] have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. † Through him we have also obtained access by faith [2] into this grace in which we stand, and we [3] rejoice [4] in hope of the glory of God. † More than that, we rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering produces endurance, † and endurance produces character, and character produces hope, † and hope does not put us to shame, because God's love has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us.

† For while we were still weak, at the right time Christ died for the ungodly. † For one will scarcely die for a righteous person—though perhaps for a good person one would dare even to die— † but God shows his love for us in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us. † Since, therefore, we have now been justified by his blood, much more shall we be saved by him from the wrath of God. † For if while we were enemies we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, now that we are reconciled, shall we be saved by his life. † More than that, we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received reconciliation.

Death in Adam, Life in Christ

†† Therefore, just as sin came into the world through one man, and death through sin, and so death spread to all men because all sinned— † for sin indeed was in the world before the law was given, but sin is not counted where there is no law. † Yet death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over those whose sinning was not like the transgression of Adam, who was a type of the one who was to come.

†† But the free gift is not like the trespass. For if many died through one man's trespass, much more have the grace of God and the free gift by the grace of that one man Jesus Christ abounded for many. † And the free gift is not like the result of that one man's sin. For the judgment following one trespass brought condemnation, but the free gift following many trespasses brought justification. † For if, because of one man's trespass, death reigned through that one man, much more will those who receive the abundance of grace and the free gift of righteousness reign in life through the one man Jesus Christ.

<sup>18</sup>‡ Therefore, as one trespass [5] led to condemnation for all men, so one act of righteousness [6] leads to justification and life for all men. <sup>19</sup>‡ For as by the one man's disobedience the many were made sinners, so by the one man's obedience the many will be made righteous. <sup>20</sup>‡ Now the law came in to increase the trespass, but where sin increased, grace abounded all the more, <sup>21</sup>‡ so that, as sin reigned in death, grace also might reign through righteousness leading to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Dead to Sin, Alive to God

ROMANS 6 111 What shall we say then? Are we to continue in sin that grace may abound? 21 By no means! How can we who died to sin still live in it? 31 Do you not know that all of us who have been baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death? 41 We were buried therefore with him by baptism into death, in order that, just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, we too might walk in newness of life.

51 For if we have been united with him in a death like his, we shall certainly be united with him in a resurrection like his. 61 We know that our old self [\[1\]](#) was crucified with him in order that the body of sin might be brought to nothing, so that we would no longer be enslaved to sin. 71 For one who has died has been set free [\[2\]](#) from sin. 81 Now if we have died with Christ, we believe that we will also live with him. 91 We know that Christ, being raised from the dead, will never die again; death no longer has dominion over him. 101 For the death he died he died to sin, once for all, but the life he lives he lives to God. 1111 So you also must consider yourselves dead to sin and alive to God in Christ Jesus.

121 Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, to make you obey its passions. 131 Do not present your members to sin as instruments for unrighteousness, but present yourselves to God as those who have been brought from death to life, and your members to God as instruments for righteousness. 141 For sin will have no dominion over you, since you are not under law but under grace.

Slaves to Righteousness

1511 What then? Are we to sin because we are not under law but under grace? By no means! 161 Do you not know that if you present yourselves to anyone as obedient slaves, [\[3\]](#) you are slaves of the one whom you obey, either of sin, which leads to death, or of obedience, which leads to righteousness? 171 But thanks be to God, that you who were once slaves of sin have become obedient from the heart to the standard of teaching to which you were committed, 181 and, having been set free from sin, have become slaves of righteousness. 191 I am speaking in human terms, because of your natural limitations. For just as you once presented your members as slaves to impurity and to lawlessness leading to more lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves to righteousness leading to sanctification.

<sup>20</sup>For when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness.

<sup>21</sup>But what fruit were you getting at that time from the things of which you are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death. <sup>22</sup>†But now that you have been set free from sin and have become slaves of God, the fruit you get leads to sanctification and its end, eternal life. <sup>23</sup>†For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Released from the Law

ROMANS 7 1 †† Or do you not know, brothers [\[1\]](#)—for I am speaking to those who know the law—that the law is binding on a person only as long as he lives? 2 †† For a married woman is bound by law to her husband while he lives, but if her husband dies she is released from the law of marriage. [\[2\]](#) 3 †† Accordingly, she will be called an adulteress if she lives with another man while her husband is alive. But if her husband dies, she is free from that law, and if she marries another man she is not an adulteress.

4 †† Likewise, my brothers, you also have died to the law through the body of Christ, so that you may belong to another, to him who has been raised from the dead, in order that we may bear fruit for God. 5 †† For while we were living in the flesh, our sinful passions, aroused by the law, were at work in our members to bear fruit for death. 6 †† But now we are released from the law, having died to that which held us captive, so that we serve in the new way of the Spirit and not in the old way of the written code. [\[3\]](#)

The Law and Sin

7 †† What then shall we say? That the law is sin? By no means! Yet if it had not been for the law, I would not have known sin. For I would not have known what it is to covet if the law had not said, “You shall not covet.” 8 †† But sin, seizing an opportunity through the commandment, produced in me all kinds of covetousness. For apart from the law, sin lies dead. 9 †† I was once alive apart from the law, but when the commandment came, sin came alive and I died. 10 †† The very commandment that promised life proved to be death to me. 11 †† For sin, seizing an opportunity through the commandment, deceived me and through it killed me. 12 †† So the law is holy, and the commandment is holy and righteous and good.

13 †† Did that which is good, then, bring death to me? By no means! It was sin, producing death in me through what is good, in order that sin might be shown to be sin, and through the commandment might become sinful beyond measure. 14 †† For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am of the flesh, sold under sin. 15 †† For I do not understand my own actions. For I do not do what I want, but I do the very thing I hate. 16 †† Now if I do what I do not want, I agree with the law, that it is good. 17 †† So now it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells within me.

<sup>18</sup>† For I know that nothing good dwells in me, that is, in my flesh. For I have the desire to do what is right, but not the ability to carry it out. <sup>19</sup>For I do not do the good I want, but the evil I do not want is what I keep on doing. <sup>20</sup>† Now if I do what I do not want, it is no longer I who do it, but sin that dwells within me.

<sup>21</sup>† So I find it to be a law that when I want to do right, evil lies close at hand. <sup>22</sup>† For I delight in the law of God, in my inner being, <sup>23</sup>† but I see in my members another law waging war against the law of my mind and making me captive to the law of sin that dwells in my members. <sup>24</sup>† Wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me from this body of death? <sup>25</sup>† Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord! So then, I myself serve the law of God with my mind, but with my flesh I serve the law of sin.

Life in the Spirit

ROMANS 8 † There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus. [1] † For the law of the Spirit of life has set you [2] free in Christ Jesus from the law of sin and death. † For God has done what the law, weakened by the flesh, could not do. By sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh and for sin, [3] he condemned sin in the flesh, † in order that the righteous requirement of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not according to the flesh but according to the Spirit. † For those who live according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh, but those who live according to the Spirit set their minds on the things of the Spirit. † For to set the mind on the flesh is death, but to set the mind on the Spirit is life and peace. † For the mind that is set on the flesh is hostile to God, for it does not submit to God's law; indeed, it cannot. † Those who are in the flesh cannot please God.

† You, however, are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if in fact the Spirit of God dwells in you. Anyone who does not have the Spirit of Christ does not belong to him. † But if Christ is in you, although the body is dead because of sin, the Spirit is life because of righteousness. † If the Spirit of him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, he who raised Christ Jesus from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through his Spirit who dwells in you.

Heirs with Christ

† So then, brothers, [4] we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live according to the flesh. † For if you live according to the flesh you will die, but if by the Spirit you put to death the deeds of the body, you will live. † For all who are led by the Spirit of God are sons [5] of God. † For you did not receive the spirit of slavery to fall back into fear, but you have received the Spirit of adoption as sons, by whom we cry, “Abba! Father!” † The Spirit himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God, † and if children, then heirs—heirs of God and fellow heirs with Christ, provided we suffer with him in order that we may also be glorified with him.

Future Glory

† For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worth comparing with the glory that is to be revealed to us. † For the creation waits with eager longing for the revealing of the sons of God. <sup>20</sup>† For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of him who subjected it, in hope <sup>21</sup>† that the creation itself will be set free from its bondage to corruption and obtain the freedom of the glory of the children of God. <sup>22</sup> For we know that the whole creation has been groaning together in the pains of childbirth until now. <sup>23</sup>† And not only the creation, but we ourselves, who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, groan inwardly as we wait eagerly for adoption as sons, the redemption of our bodies. <sup>24</sup>† For in this hope we were saved. Now hope that is seen is not hope. For who hopes for what he sees? <sup>25</sup> But if we hope for what we do not see, we wait for it with patience.

<sup>26</sup>† Likewise the Spirit helps us in our weakness. For we do not know what to pray for as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with groanings too deep for words. <sup>27</sup>† And he who searches hearts knows what is the mind of the Spirit, because [6] the Spirit intercedes for the saints according to the will of God. <sup>28</sup>† And we know that for those who love God all things work together for good, [7] for those who are called according to his purpose. <sup>29</sup>† For those whom he foreknew he also predestined to be conformed to the image of his Son, in order that he might be the firstborn among many brothers. <sup>30</sup>† And those whom he predestined he also called, and those whom he called he also justified, and those whom he justified he also glorified.

God's Everlasting Love

<sup>31</sup>†† What then shall we say to these things? If God is for us, who can be [8] against us? <sup>32</sup>† He who did not spare his own Son but gave him up for us all, how will he not also with him graciously give us all things? <sup>33</sup>†† Who shall bring any charge against God's elect? It is God who justifies. <sup>34</sup>† Who is to condemn? Christ Jesus is the one who died—more than that, who was raised—who is at the right hand of God, who indeed is interceding for us. [9] <sup>35</sup>†† Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or danger, or sword? <sup>36</sup>† As it is written, “For your sake we are being killed all the day long; we are regarded as sheep to be slaughtered.”

<sup>37</sup>† No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. <sup>38</sup>† For I am sure that neither death nor life, nor angels nor rulers, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers, <sup>39</sup>† nor height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.

God's Sovereign Choice

ROMANS 9 †I am speaking the truth in Christ—I am not lying; my conscience bears me witness in the Holy Spirit—<sup>2</sup>†that I have great sorrow and unceasing anguish in my heart. <sup>3</sup>†For I could wish that I myself were accursed and cut off from Christ for the sake of my brothers, [1] my kinsmen according to the flesh. <sup>4</sup>†They are Israelites, and to them belong the adoption, the glory, the covenants, the giving of the law, the worship, and the promises. <sup>5</sup>†To them belong the patriarchs, and from their race, according to the flesh, is the Christ who is God over all, blessed forever. Amen.

<sup>6</sup>†But it is not as though the word of God has failed. For not all who are descended from Israel belong to Israel, <sup>7</sup>†and not all are children of Abraham because they are his offspring, but “Through Isaac shall your offspring be named.” <sup>8</sup>†This means that it is not the children of the flesh who are the children of God, but the children of the promise are counted as offspring. <sup>9</sup>†For this is what the promise said: “About this time next year I will return, and Sarah shall have a son.” <sup>10</sup>And not only so, but also when Rebekah had conceived children by one man, our forefather Isaac, <sup>11</sup>†though they were not yet born and had done nothing either good or bad—in order that God's purpose of election might continue, not because of works but because of him who calls—<sup>12</sup>†she was told, “The older will serve the younger.” <sup>13</sup>†As it is written, “Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated.”

<sup>14</sup>†What shall we say then? Is there injustice on God's part? By no means! <sup>15</sup>†For he says to Moses, “I will have mercy on whom I have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I have compassion.” <sup>16</sup>†So then it depends not on human will or exertion, [2] but on God, who has mercy. <sup>17</sup>†For the Scripture says to Pharaoh, “For this very purpose I have raised you up, that I might show my power in you, and that my name might be proclaimed in all the earth.” <sup>18</sup>†So then he has mercy on whomever he wills, and he hardens whomever he wills.

<sup>19</sup>†You will say to me then, “Why does he still find fault? For who can resist his will?” <sup>20</sup>††But who are you, O man, to answer back to God? Will what is molded say to its molder, “Why have you made me like this?” <sup>21</sup>Has the potter no right over the clay, to make out of the same lump one vessel for honorable use and another for dishonorable use? <sup>22</sup>††What if God, desiring to show his wrath and to make known his power, has endured with much patience vessels of wrath prepared for destruction, <sup>23</sup>† in order to make known the riches of his glory for vessels of mercy, which he has prepared beforehand for glory— <sup>24</sup>even us whom he has called, not from the Jews only but also from the Gentiles? <sup>25</sup>†† As indeed he says in Hosea, “Those who were not my people I will call ‘my people,’ and her who was not beloved I will call ‘beloved.’”

<sup>26</sup>“And in the very place where it was said to them, ‘You are not my people,’ there they will be called ‘sons of the living God.’”

<sup>27</sup>† And Isaiah cries out concerning Israel: “Though the number of the sons of Israel [3] be as the sand of the sea, only a remnant of them will be saved, <sup>28</sup>for the Lord will carry out his sentence upon the earth fully and without delay.”

<sup>29</sup>† And as Isaiah predicted, “If the Lord of hosts had not left us offspring, we would have been like Sodom and become like Gomorrah.”

Israel's Unbelief

<sup>30</sup>†† What shall we say, then? That Gentiles who did not pursue righteousness have attained it, that is, a righteousness that is by faith; <sup>31</sup>† but that Israel who pursued a law that would lead to righteousness [4] did not succeed in reaching that law. <sup>32</sup>† Why? Because they did not pursue it by faith, but as if it were based on works. They have stumbled over the stumbling stone, <sup>33</sup>† as it is written, “Behold, I am laying in Zion a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense; and whoever believes in him will not be put to shame.”

ROMANS 10 †Brothers, [1] my heart's desire and prayer to God for them is that they may be saved. †For I bear them witness that they have a zeal for God, but not according to knowledge. †For, being ignorant of the righteousness of God, and seeking to establish their own, they did not submit to God's righteousness. †For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone who believes. [2]

The Message of Salvation to All

†For Moses writes about the righteousness that is based on the law, that the person who does the commandments shall live by them. †But the righteousness based on faith says, “Do not say in your heart, ‘Who will ascend into heaven?’” (that is, to bring Christ down) †or “‘Who will descend into the abyss?’” (that is, to bring Christ up from the dead). †But what does it say? “The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart” (that is, the word of faith that we proclaim); †because, if you confess with your mouth that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved. †For with the heart one believes and is justified, and with the mouth one confesses and is saved. †For the Scripture says, “Everyone who believes in him will not be put to shame.” †For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek; for the same Lord is Lord of all, bestowing his riches on all who call on him. †For “everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.”

†How then will they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how are they to believe in him of whom they have never heard? [3] And how are they to hear without someone preaching? †And how are they to preach unless they are sent? As it is written, “How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the good news!” †But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, “Lord, who has believed what he has heard from us?” †So faith comes from hearing, and hearing through the word of Christ.

†But I ask, have they not heard? Indeed they have, for “Their voice has gone out to all the earth, and their words to the ends of the world.”

††But I ask, did Israel not understand? First Moses says, “I will make you jealous of those who are not a nation; with a foolish nation I will make you angry.”

†Then Isaiah is so bold as to say, “I have been found by those who did not seek me; I have shown myself to those who did not ask for me.”

<sup>21</sup>† But of Israel he says, “All day long I have held out my hands to a disobedient and contrary people.”

The Remnant of Israel

ROMANS 11 ††I ask, then, has God rejected his people? By no means! For I myself am an Israelite, a descendant of Abraham, [1] a member of the tribe of Benjamin. †God has not rejected his people whom he foreknew. Do you not know what the Scripture says of Elijah, how he appeals to God against Israel? †“Lord, they have killed your prophets, they have demolished your altars, and I alone am left, and they seek my life.” †But what is God's reply to him? “I have kept for myself seven thousand men who have not bowed the knee to Baal.” †So too at the present time there is a remnant, chosen by grace. †But if it is by grace, it is no longer on the basis of works; otherwise grace would no longer be grace.

†What then? Israel failed to obtain what it was seeking. The elect obtained it, but the rest were hardened, ††as it is written, “God gave them a spirit of stupor, eyes that would not see and ears that would not hear, down to this very day.”

†And David says, “Let their table become a snare and a trap, a stumbling block and a retribution for them; †let their eyes be darkened so that they cannot see, and bend their backs forever.”

Gentiles Grafted In

†So I ask, did they stumble in order that they might fall? By no means! Rather through their trespass salvation has come to the Gentiles, so as to make Israel jealous. †Now if their trespass means riches for the world, and if their failure means riches for the Gentiles, how much more will their full inclusion [2] mean!

†Now I am speaking to you Gentiles. Inasmuch then as I am an apostle to the Gentiles, I magnify my ministry †in order somehow to make my fellow Jews jealous, and thus save some of them. †For if their rejection means the reconciliation of the world, what will their acceptance mean but life from the dead? †If the dough offered as firstfruits is holy, so is the whole lump, and if the root is holy, so are the branches.

††But if some of the branches were broken off, and you, although a wild olive shoot, were grafted in among the others and now share in the nourishing root [3] of the olive tree, †do not be arrogant toward the branches. If you are, remember it is not you who support the root, but the root that supports you. <sup>19</sup>† Then you will say, “Branches were broken off so that I might be grafted in.” <sup>20</sup>† That is true. They were broken off because of their unbelief, but you stand fast through faith. So do not become proud, but fear. <sup>21</sup>† For if God did not spare the natural branches, neither will he spare you. <sup>22</sup>† Note then the kindness and the severity of God: severity toward those who have fallen, but God's kindness to you, provided you continue in his kindness. Otherwise you too will be cut off. <sup>23</sup>† And even they, if they do not continue in their unbelief, will be grafted in, for God has the power to graft them in again. <sup>24</sup> For if you were cut from what is by nature a wild olive tree, and grafted, contrary to nature, into a cultivated olive tree, how much more will these, the natural branches, be grafted back into their own olive tree.

The Mystery of Israel's Salvation

<sup>25</sup>† Lest you be wise in your own sight, I want you to understand this mystery, brothers: [\[4\]](#) a partial hardening has come upon Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in. <sup>26</sup>†† And in this way all Israel will be saved, as it is written, “The Deliverer will come from Zion, he will banish ungodliness from Jacob”; <sup>27</sup>† “and this will be my covenant with them when I take away their sins.”

<sup>28</sup>† As regards the gospel, they are enemies of God for your sake. But as regards election, they are beloved for the sake of their forefathers. <sup>29</sup>† For the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable. <sup>30</sup>† For just as you were at one time disobedient to God but now have received mercy because of their disobedience, <sup>31</sup> so they too have now been disobedient in order that by the mercy shown to you they also may now [\[5\]](#) receive mercy. <sup>32</sup>† For God has consigned all to disobedience, that he may have mercy on all.

<sup>33</sup>†† Oh, the depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are his judgments and how inscrutable his ways!

<sup>34</sup>† “For who has known the mind of the Lord, or who has been his counselor?”

<sup>35</sup>† “Or who has given a gift to him that he might be repaid?”

<sup>36</sup>† For from him and through him and to him are all things. To him be glory forever. Amen.

A Living Sacrifice

ROMANS 12 ††I appeal to you therefore, brothers, [1] by the mercies of God, to present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God, which is your spiritual worship. [2] †Do not be conformed to this world, [3] but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that by testing you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect. [4]

Gifts of Grace

†For by the grace given to me I say to everyone among you not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think with sober judgment, each according to the measure of faith that God has assigned. ††For as in one body we have many members, [5] and the members do not all have the same function, †so we, though many, are one body in Christ, and individually members one of another. †Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them: if prophecy, in proportion to our faith; †if service, in our serving; the one who teaches, in his teaching; †the one who exhorts, in his exhortation; the one who contributes, in generosity; the one who leads, [6] with zeal; the one who does acts of mercy, with cheerfulness.

Marks of the True Christian

††Let love be genuine. Abhor what is evil; hold fast to what is good. †Love one another with brotherly affection. Outdo one another in showing honor. †Do not be slothful in zeal, be fervent in spirit, [7] serve the Lord. †Rejoice in hope, be patient in tribulation, be constant in prayer. †Contribute to the needs of the saints and seek to show hospitality.

†Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse them. †Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep. †Live in harmony with one another. Do not be haughty, but associate with the lowly. [8] Never be wise in your own sight. †Repay no one evil for evil, but give thought to do what is honorable in the sight of all. †If possible, so far as it depends on you, live peaceably with all. †Beloved, never avenge yourselves, but leave it [9] to the wrath of God, for it is written, “Vengeance is mine, I will repay, says the Lord.” †To the contrary, “if your enemy is hungry, feed him; if he is thirsty, give him something to drink; for by so doing you will heap burning coals on his head.”

Submission to the Authorities

ROMANS 13 †Let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God. †Therefore whoever resists the authorities resists what God has appointed, and those who resist will incur judgment. †For rulers are not a terror to good conduct, but to bad. Would you have no fear of the one who is in authority? Then do what is good, and you will receive his approval, †for he is God's servant for your good. But if you do wrong, be afraid, for he does not bear the sword in vain. For he is the servant of God, an avenger who carries out God's wrath on the wrongdoer. †Therefore one must be in subjection, not only to avoid God's wrath but also for the sake of conscience. †For because of this you also pay taxes, for the authorities are ministers of God, attending to this very thing. †Pay to all what is owed to them: taxes to whom taxes are owed, revenue to whom revenue is owed, respect to whom respect is owed, honor to whom honor is owed.

Fulfilling the Law Through Love

†Owe no one anything, except to love each other, for the one who loves another has fulfilled the law. †For the commandments, “You shall not commit adultery, You shall not murder, You shall not steal, You shall not covet,” and any other commandment, are summed up in this word: “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” †Love does no wrong to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.

†Besides this you know the time, that the hour has come for you to wake from sleep. For salvation is nearer to us now than when we first believed. †The night is far gone; the day is at hand. So then let us cast off the works of darkness and put on the armor of light. †Let us walk properly as in the daytime, not in orgies and drunkenness, not in sexual immorality and sensuality, not in quarreling and jealousy. †But put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh, to gratify its desires.

Do Not Pass Judgment on One Another

ROMANS 14 ††As for the one who is weak in faith, welcome him, but not to quarrel over opinions. †One person believes he may eat anything, while the weak person eats only vegetables. †Let not the one who eats despise the one who abstains, and let not the one who abstains pass judgment on the one who eats, for God has welcomed him. †Who are you to pass judgment on the servant of another? It is before his own master [\[1\]](#) that he stands or falls. And he will be upheld, for the Lord is able to make him stand.

†One person esteems one day as better than another, while another esteems all days alike. Each one should be fully convinced in his own mind. †The one who observes the day, observes it in honor of the Lord. The one who eats, eats in honor of the Lord, since he gives thanks to God, while the one who abstains, abstains in honor of the Lord and gives thanks to God. †For none of us lives to himself, and none of us dies to himself. †For if we live, we live to the Lord, and if we die, we die to the Lord. So then, whether we live or whether we die, we are the Lord's. †For to this end Christ died and lived again, that he might be Lord both of the dead and of the living.

†Why do you pass judgment on your brother? Or you, why do you despise your brother? For we will all stand before the judgment seat of God; †for it is written, “As I live, says the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess [\[2\]](#) to God.”

†So then each of us will give an account of himself to God.

Do Not Cause Another to Stumble

†Therefore let us not pass judgment on one another any longer, but rather decide never to put a stumbling block or hindrance in the way of a brother. †I know and am persuaded in the Lord Jesus that nothing is unclean in itself, but it is unclean for anyone who thinks it unclean. †For if your brother is grieved by what you eat, you are no longer walking in love. By what you eat, do not destroy the one for whom Christ died. †So do not let what you regard as good be spoken of as evil. †For the kingdom of God is not a matter of eating and drinking but of righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit. †Whoever thus serves Christ is acceptable to God and approved by men. †So then let us pursue what makes for peace and for mutual upbuilding.

<sup>20</sup>† Do not, for the sake of food, destroy the work of God. Everything is indeed clean, but it is wrong for anyone to make another stumble by what he eats. <sup>21</sup>† It is good not to eat meat or drink wine or do anything that causes your brother to stumble. [3] <sup>22</sup>† The faith that you have, keep between yourself and God. Blessed is the one who has no reason to pass judgment on himself for what he approves. <sup>23</sup>† But whoever has doubts is condemned if he eats, because the eating is not from faith. For whatever does not proceed from faith is sin. [4]

The Example of Christ

ROMANS 15 †We who are strong have an obligation to bear with the failings of the weak, and not to please ourselves. †Let each of us please his neighbor for his good, to build him up. †For Christ did not please himself, but as it is written, “The reproaches of those who reproached you fell on me.” †For whatever was written in former days was written for our instruction, that through endurance and through the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope. ††May the God of endurance and encouragement grant you to live in such harmony with one another, in accord with Christ Jesus, †that together you may with one voice glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. †Therefore welcome one another as Christ has welcomed you, for the glory of God.

Christ the Hope of Jews and Gentiles

†For I tell you that Christ became a servant to the circumcised to show God's truthfulness, in order to confirm the promises given to the patriarchs, ††and in order that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy. As it is written, “Therefore I will praise you among the Gentiles, and sing to your name.”

†And again it is said, “Rejoice, O Gentiles, with his people.”

†And again, “Praise the Lord, all you Gentiles, and let all the peoples extol him.”

†And again Isaiah says, “The root of Jesse will come, even he who arises to rule the Gentiles; in him will the Gentiles hope.”

†May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that by the power of the Holy Spirit you may abound in hope.

Paul the Minister to the Gentiles

††I myself am satisfied about you, my brothers, [1] that you yourselves are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge and able to instruct one another. †But on some points I have written to you very boldly by way of reminder, because of the grace given me by God †to be a minister of Christ Jesus †to the Gentiles in the priestly service of the gospel of God, so that the offering of the Gentiles may be acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit. <sup>17</sup>† In Christ Jesus, then, I have reason to be proud of my work for God. <sup>18</sup>† For I will not venture to speak of anything except what Christ has accomplished through me to bring the Gentiles to obedience—by word and deed, <sup>19</sup>† by the power of signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God—so that from Jerusalem and all the way around to Illyricum I have fulfilled the ministry of the gospel of Christ; <sup>20</sup>† and thus I make it my ambition to preach the gospel, not where Christ has already been named, lest I build on someone else's foundation, <sup>21</sup>† but as it is written, “Those who have never been told of him will see, and those who have never heard will understand.”

Paul's Plan to Visit Rome

<sup>22</sup>† This is the reason why I have so often been hindered from coming to you. <sup>23</sup>†† But now, since I no longer have any room for work in these regions, and since I have longed for many years to come to you, <sup>24</sup>† I hope to see you in passing as I go to Spain, and to be helped on my journey there by you, once I have enjoyed your company for a while. <sup>25</sup>† At present, however, I am going to Jerusalem bringing aid to the saints. <sup>26</sup>† For Macedonia and Achaia have been pleased to make some contribution for the poor among the saints at Jerusalem. <sup>27</sup>† For they were pleased to do it, and indeed they owe it to them. For if the Gentiles have come to share in their spiritual blessings, they ought also to be of service to them in material blessings. <sup>28</sup>† When therefore I have completed this and have delivered to them what has been collected, [2] I will leave for Spain by way of you. <sup>29</sup>† I know that when I come to you I will come in the fullness of the blessing [3] of Christ.

<sup>30</sup>†† I appeal to you, brothers, by our Lord Jesus Christ and by the love of the Spirit, to strive together with me in your prayers to God on my behalf, <sup>31</sup>† that I may be delivered from the unbelievers in Judea, and that my service for Jerusalem may be acceptable to the saints, <sup>32</sup>† so that by God's will I may come to you with joy and be refreshed in your company. <sup>33</sup>† May the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

Personal Greetings

ROMANS 16 ††I commend to you our sister Phoebe, a servant [1] of the church at Cenchreae, <sup>2</sup>that you may welcome her in the Lord in a way worthy of the saints, and help her in whatever she may need from you, for she has been a patron of many and of myself as well.

<sup>3</sup>†Greet Prisca and Aquila, my fellow workers in Christ Jesus, <sup>4</sup>†who risked their necks for my life, to whom not only I give thanks but all the churches of the Gentiles give thanks as well. <sup>5</sup>†Greet also the church in their house. Greet my beloved Epaenetus, who was the first convert [2] to Christ in Asia. <sup>6</sup>†Greet Mary, who has worked hard for you. <sup>7</sup>†Greet Andronicus and Junia, [3] my kinsmen and my fellow prisoners. They are well known to the apostles, [4] and they were in Christ before me. <sup>8</sup>†Greet Ampliatus, my beloved in the Lord. <sup>9</sup>†Greet Urbanus, our fellow worker in Christ, and my beloved Stachys. <sup>10</sup>†Greet Apelles, who is approved in Christ. Greet those who belong to the family of Aristobulus. <sup>11</sup>†Greet my kinsman Herodion. Greet those in the Lord who belong to the family of Narcissus. <sup>12</sup>†Greet those workers in the Lord, Tryphaena and Tryphosa. Greet the beloved Persis, who has worked hard in the Lord. <sup>13</sup>†Greet Rufus, chosen in the Lord; also his mother, who has been a mother to me as well. <sup>14</sup>†Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Hermas, and the brothers [5] who are with them. <sup>15</sup>Greet Philologus, Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas, and all the saints who are with them. <sup>16</sup>†Greet one another with a holy kiss. All the churches of Christ greet you.

Final Instructions and Greetings

<sup>17</sup>††I appeal to you, brothers, to watch out for those who cause divisions and create obstacles contrary to the doctrine that you have been taught; avoid them. <sup>18</sup>†For such persons do not serve our Lord Christ, but their own appetites, [6] and by smooth talk and flattery they deceive the hearts of the naive. <sup>19</sup>†For your obedience is known to all, so that I rejoice over you, but I want you to be wise as to what is good and innocent as to what is evil. <sup>20</sup>†The God of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

<sup>21</sup>†Timothy, my fellow worker, greets you; so do Lucius and Jason and Sosipater, my kinsmen.

<sup>22</sup>†I Tertius, who wrote this letter, greet you in the Lord.

<sup>23</sup>†Gaius, who is host to me and to the whole church, greets you. Erastus, the city treasurer, and our brother Quartus, greet you. [7]

Doxology

<sup>25</sup>‡†Now to him who is able to strengthen you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery that was kept secret for long ages <sup>26</sup>†but has now been disclosed and through the prophetic writings has been made known to all nations, according to the command of the eternal God, to bring about the obedience of faith— <sup>27</sup>†to the only wise God be glory forevermore through Jesus Christ! Amen.

Study Notes

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:1 Paul. See Introduction: Author and Date. servant. Doulos, the common NT word for servant. Although in Greek culture it most often referred to the involuntary, permanent service of a slave, Paul elevates this word by using it in its Hebrew sense to describe a servant who willingly commits himself to serve a master he loves and respects (Ex. 21:5–6; Gal. 1:10; Titus 1:1; cf. Gen. 26:24; Num. 12:7; 2 Sam. 7:5; Isa. 53:11). apostle. The Greek word means “one who is sent.” In the NT, it primarily refers to the 12 men Christ chose to accompany him (Mark 3:13–19) and Matthias, whom the other apostles chose to replace Judas (Acts 1:15–26). Christ gave them power to confirm their apostleship with miracles (Matt. 10:1; 2 Cor. 12:12), and authority to speak as his proxies—every NT book was written either by an apostle or under his auspices (cf. John 14:26). Their teaching is the foundation of the church (Eph. 2:20). Christ himself selected Paul for this position (Acts 9:15; 22:14; 26:16; cf. Gal. 1:1) and trained him to fulfill this ministry (Gal. 1:12, 16). gospel of God. Used in its verb and noun forms some 60 times in this epistle, the Greek word for this phrase means “good news” (see Mark 1:1). Rome incorporated it into its emperor worship. The town herald used this word to begin important favorable announcements about the emperor—such as the birth of a son. But Paul’s good news is not from the emperor but “of God”; it originated with him. Its message that God will forgive sins, deliver from sin’s power, and give eternal hope (Rom. 1:16; cf. 1 Cor. 15:1–4) comes not only as a gracious offer, but also as a command to be obeyed (Rom. 10:16). Paul was consumed with this message (1 Cor. 9:23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:2 which he promised beforehand. Paul’s Jewish antagonists accused him of preaching a revolutionary new message unrelated to Judaism (Acts 21:28). But the OT is replete with prophecies concerning Christ and the gospel (1 Pet. 1:10–12; cf. Matt. 5:17; Heb. 1:1). his prophets. All the writers of the OT. The “Law and the Prophets” constitute all the OT (Acts 24:14). But the law—or the Pentateuch—was written by Moses, whom Scripture also calls a prophet (Deut. 18:15). holy Scriptures. While the rabbinical writings popular in the first century—and often studied more diligently than Scripture itself—may not have taught the gospel of God, the divinely inspired OT certainly did (cf. Luke 24:25, 27, 32; John 5:39; Acts 3:18; 7:52; 10:43; 13:32; 26:22–23; see note on Gen. 3:15). The prophets spoke clearly of a New Covenant (Jer. 31:31–34; Ezek. 36:25–27; cf. Heb. 8:6–13) and of the Messiah whose sacrifice would make it possible (Isa. 9:6–7; 53:1–12).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:3 flesh. Jesus was conceived in a virgin’s womb by the Holy Spirit (Luke 1:35; cf. Isa. 7:14), and was delivered normally. This word emphasizes that he is an actual historical figure. Many well known ancient writers, including the Roman historian Tacitus (Annals, 15.44), the familiar Jewish historian Josephus (Antiquities, 2.18.3), and Pliny the Younger (Letters, 10.96–97) verify Jesus’ historicity. descended from David. The OT had prophesied that Messiah would be in the lineage of David (2 Sam. 7:12–13; Ps. 89:3–4, 19, 24; Isa. 11:1–5; Jer. 23:5–6). Both Mary, Jesus’ mother (Luke 3:23, 31), and Joseph, his legal father (Matt. 1:6, 16; Luke 1:27), were descendants of David. John makes believing that Christ has come in the flesh a crucial test of orthodoxy (1 John 4:2–3). Because he is fully human—as well as fully God—he can serve as man’s substitute (John 1:29; 2 Cor. 5:21) and as a sympathetic high priest (Heb. 4:15–16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:4 declared. The Greek word, from which the English word “horizon” comes, means “to distinguish.” Just as the horizon serves as a clear demarcation line, dividing earth and sky, the resurrection of Jesus Christ clearly divides him from the rest of humanity, providing irrefutable evidence that he is the Son of God (see note on 10:9). Son of God. This title, used nearly 30 times in the Gospels, identifies Jesus Christ as the same in essence as God. See notes on John 1:34, 49; 11:27; 19:7 (cf. Heb. 1:5; 2 Sam. 7:14). The resurrection clearly declared that Jesus was deity, the expression of God himself in human form. While he was eternally the Son in anticipation of his incarnation, it was when he entered the world in incarnation that he was declared to all the world as the Son of God and took on the role of submission to the Father (see notes on Ps. 2:7; Heb. 1:5–6). Spirit of holiness. In his incarnation, Christ voluntarily submitted himself to do the will of the Father only through the direction, agency, and power of the Holy Spirit (Matt. 3:16; Luke 4:1; John 3:34; see note on Acts 1:2). resurrection from the dead. His victory over death was the supreme demonstration and most conclusive evidence that he is God the Son (see note on Rom. 10:9; cf. Acts 13:29–33; 1 Cor. 15:14–17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:5 grace. The unmerited favor which God shows guilty sinners. This is the book’s first reference to the most crucial part of the gospel message: salvation is a gift from God wholly separate from any human effort or achievement (3:24, 27; 4:1–5; 5:20–21; see note on Eph. 2:8). apostleship.

Although the term “apostle” refers to the Twelve in a unique way (see note on Rom. 1:1), in a broader and less official sense it can describe anyone whom God has sent with the message of salvation (cf. Acts 14:14; Rom. 16:7; Heb. 3:1). obedience of faith. True saving faith always produces obedience and submission to the lordship of Jesus Christ (Rom. 16:19, 26; cf. 10:9–10; cf. Matt. 7:13, 14, 22–27; James 2:17–20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:6 called. See note on 1:7. Always in the NT epistles the “call” of God refers to God’s effectual call of elect sinners to salvation (cf. 8:28–30), rather than the general call to all people to believe (cf. Matt. 20:16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:7 loved by God . . . called to be saints. The Greek text records these as three separate privileges: 1) God has set his love on his own (5:5; 8:35; Eph. 1:6; 2:4–5; 1 John 3:1); 2) he has extended to them not only the general, external invitation to believe the gospel (Isa. 45:22; 55:6; Ezek. 33:11; Matt. 11:28; John 7:37; Rev. 22:17), but his effectual calling—or his drawing to himself all those he has chosen for salvation (Rom. 8:30; 2 Thess. 2:13–14; 2 Tim. 1:9; see note on John 6:44); and 3) God has set believers apart from sin unto himself, so that they are holy ones (1 Cor. 3:16–17; 1 Pet. 2:5, 9). Rome. See Introduction: Background and Setting. Grace . . . peace. Paul’s standard greeting (1 Cor. 1:3; 2 Cor. 1:2; Gal. 1:3; Eph. 1:2; Phil. 1:2; Col. 1:2; 1 Thess. 1:1; 2 Thess. 1:2; 1 Tim. 1:2; 2 Tim. 1:2; Titus 1:4; Philem. 3).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:8 I thank my God. In every letter Paul wrote, he expressed his gratitude for those who would receive it (e.g., 1 Cor. 1:4), except in his letter to the Galatians, whose defection from the true gospel caused him to dispense with any opening commendations (Gal. 1:6–12). your faith. The genuineness of their salvation. The testimony of the church in Rome was so strong that in A.D. 49 the emperor Claudius expelled all the Jews because of the influence of “Chrestus,” which was undoubtedly a reference to Christ (cf. Acts 18:2). all the world. As the center of the Roman Empire and the inhabited world, whatever happened in Rome became known universally.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:9 serve with my spirit. In the NT, this Greek word for “serve” always refers to religious service, and is sometimes translated “worship.” Paul had seen the shallow, hypocritical religion of the Pharisees and the superstitious hedonism of pagan idolatry. His spiritual service (see note on 12:1), however, did not result from abject fear or legal obligation, but was genuine and sincere (cf. Phil. 3:3; 2 Tim. 1:3; 2:22).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:10 in my prayers. Paul frequently recorded the content of his requests (Eph. 3:14–19; Phil. 1:9–11; Col. 1:9–11; 2 Thess. 1:11, 12) and urged his readers to join him in prayer (Rom. 15:30–32; 1 Thess. 5:17; Eph. 6:18). God’s will. God’s sovereign orchestration of Paul’s circumstances (cf. Matt. 6:10; Acts 21:11–14; James 4:13–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:11 spiritual gift. The Greek word translated “gift” is charisma, which means a “gift of grace”—a spiritual enablement whose source is the Spirit of God. Romans uses this same term to describe: 1) Christ himself (5:15–16); 2) general blessings from God (11:29; cf. 1 Tim. 6:17); and 3) specific spiritual gifts given to members of the body to minister to the whole (Rom. 12:6–8; cf. 1 Cor. 12:1–31; 1 Pet. 4:10–11). Paul probably intends to encompass all three.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:12 each other’s faith. A glimpse of Paul’s genuine humility (cf. 1 Pet. 5:3–4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:13 harvest. Scripture catalogs three kinds of spiritual fruit: 1) spiritual attitudes that characterize a Spirit-led believer (Gal. 5:22–23); 2) righteous actions (Rom. 6:22; Phil. 4:16–17; Heb. 13:15); and 3) new converts (Rom. 16:5). In this context, Paul is probably referring to the third one—a desire that was eventually realized during his imprisonment in Rome (Phil. 4:22). among you as well as among the rest of the Gentiles. This implies the church in Rome consisted primarily of non-Jews.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:14 under obligation. Paul had an obligation to God (cf. 1 Cor. 9:16–17) to fulfill his divine mandate to minister to Gentiles (Rom. 1:5; Acts 9:15). Greeks. People of many different nationalities who had embraced the Greek language, culture, and education. They were the sophisticated elite of Paul’s day. Because of their deep interest in Greek philosophy, they were considered “wise.” Because of this prevalence of Greek culture, Paul sometimes used this word to describe all Gentiles (cf. Rom. 3:9). barbarians. A derisive term coined by the Greeks for all who had not been trained in Greek language and culture. When someone spoke in another language, it sounded to the Greeks like “bar-bar-bar,” or unintelligible chatter. Although in the narrowest sense “barbarian” referred to the uncultured, uneducated masses, it was often used to describe all non-Greeks—the unwise of the world. Paul’s point is that God is no respecter of persons—the gospel must reach both the world’s elite and its outcasts (cf. John 4:4–42; James 2:1–9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:15 gospel. See note on 1:1.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:16–17 These two verses crystallize the thesis of the entire book—the gospel of Jesus Christ—which Paul will unfold and explain in the following chapters.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:16 I am not ashamed. He had been imprisoned in Philippi (Acts 16:23–24), chased out of Thessalonica (Acts 17:10), smuggled out of Berea (Acts 17:14), laughed at in Athens (Acts 17:32), regarded as a fool in Corinth (1 Cor. 1:18–23), and stoned in Galatia (Acts 14:19), but Paul remained eager to preach the gospel in Rome—the seat of contemporary political power and pagan religion. Neither ridicule, criticism, nor physical persecution could curb his boldness. See notes on 2 Cor. 4:5–18; 11:23–28; 12:9–10. power. The English word “dynamite” comes from this Greek word. Although the message may sound foolish to some (1 Cor. 1:18), the gospel is effective because it carries with it the omnipotence of God (cf. Ex. 15:6; Deut. 32:39; Job 9:4; Ps. 33:8–9; 89:13; 106:8–9; Isa. 26:4; 43:13; Jer. 10:12; 27:5; Matt. 28:18; Rom. 9:21). Only God’s power is able to overcome man’s sinful nature and give him new life (Rom. 5:6; 8:3; John 1:12; 1 Cor. 1:18, 23–25; 2:1–4; 4:20; 1 Pet. 1:23). salvation. Used five times in Romans (the verb form occurs eight times), this key word basically means “deliverance” or “rescue.” The power of the gospel delivers people from lostness (Matt. 18:11), from the wrath of God (Rom. 5:9), from willful spiritual ignorance (Hos. 4:6; 2 Thess. 1:8), from evil self-indulgence (Luke 14:26), and from the darkness of false religion (Col. 1:13; 1 Pet. 2:9). It rescues them from the ultimate penalty of their sin, i.e., eternal separation from God and eternal punishment (see note on Rev. 20:6). believes. To trust, rely on, or have faith in. When used of salvation, this word usually occurs in the present tense which stresses that faith is not simply a one-time event, but an ongoing condition. True saving faith is supernatural, a gracious gift of God that he produces in the heart (see note on Eph. 2:8) and is the only means by which a person can appropriate true righteousness (cf. Rom. 3:22, 25; 4:5, 13, 20; 5:1; see notes on 4:1–25). Saving faith consists of three elements: 1) mental: the mind understands the gospel and the truth about Christ (10:14–17); 2) emotional: one embraces the truthfulness of those facts with sorrow over sin and joy over God’s mercy and grace (6:17; 15:13); and 3) volitional: the sinner submits his will to Christ and trusts in him alone as the only hope of salvation (see note on 10:9). Genuine faith will always produce authentic obedience (see note on 4:3; cf. John 8:31; 14:21–24). Jew first. God chose Israel to be his witness nation (Ex. 19:6) and gave her distinct privileges (Rom. 3:2; 9:4–5).

Christ's ministry was first to Israel (Matt. 15:24), and it was through Israel that salvation was to come to the world (John 4:22; Acts 13:46). Greek. See note on Rom. 1:14.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:17 righteousness of God. Better translated, “righteousness from God.” A major theme of the book, appearing over 30 times in one form or another, righteousness is the state or condition of perfectly conforming to God's perfect law and holy character. Other terms from the same Greek root also occur some 30 times and are usually translated “justified,” “justification,” or similarly. Only God is inherently righteous (Deut. 32:4; Ps. 11:7; 116:5; John 17:25; 1 John 2:1; Rev. 16:5), and man falls woefully short of the divine standard of moral perfection (Rom. 3:10, 23; Job 9:2; Matt. 5:48). But the gospel reveals that on the basis of faith—and faith alone—God will impute his righteousness to ungodly sinners (see notes on Rom 3:21–24; 4:5; 2 Cor. 5:21; Phil. 3:8–9). from faith for faith. This may be a parallel expression to “everyone who believes” (Rom. 1:16), as if Paul were singling out the faith of each individual believer—from one person's faith to another's faith to another's and so on. Or perhaps Paul's point is that the righteousness from God is completely on the basis of faith from beginning to end. as it is written. See note on Hab. 2:4. The righteous shall live by faith. Paul intends to prove that it has always been God's way to justify sinners by grace on the basis of faith alone. God established Abraham as a pattern of faith (Rom. 4:22–25; Gal. 3:6–7) and thus calls him the father of all who believe (Rom. 4:11, 16). Elsewhere, Paul uses this same phrase to argue that no one has ever been declared righteous before God except by faith alone (Gal. 3:11) and that true faith will demonstrate itself in action (Phil. 2:12–13). This expression emphasizes that true faith is not a single event, but a way of life—it endures. That endurance is called the perseverance of the saints (cf. Col. 1:22–23; Heb. 3:12–14). One central theme of the story of Job is that no matter what Satan does, saving faith cannot be destroyed. See notes on Rom. 8:31–39.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:18–3:20 After introducing the righteousness which comes from God (1:17), a theme he develops at length (3:21–5:21), Paul presents the overwhelming evidence of man's sinfulness, underscoring how desperately he needs this righteousness that only God can provide. He presents God's case against the irreligious, immoral pagan (1:18–32; the Gentiles) the religious, outwardly moral person (2:1–3:8; the Jews); and concludes by showing that all men alike deserve God's judgment (3:9–20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:18 wrath of God. This is not an impulsive outburst of anger aimed capriciously at people whom God does not like. It is the settled, determined response of a righteous God against sin (cf. Ps. 2:5, 12; 45:7; 75:8; 76:6–7; 78:49–51; 90:7–9; Isa. 51:17; Jer. 25:15–16; John 3:36; Rom. 9:22; Eph. 5:6; Col. 3:5–6). is revealed. More accurately, “is constantly revealed.” The word essentially means “to uncover, make visible, or make known.” God reveals his wrath in two ways: 1) indirectly, through the natural consequences of violating his universal moral law, and 2) directly through his personal intervention (the OT record—from the sentence passed on Adam and Eve to the worldwide flood, from the fire and brimstone that leveled Sodom to the Babylonian captivity—clearly displays this kind of intervention). The most graphic revelation of God’s holy wrath and hatred against sin was when he poured out divine judgment on his Son on the cross. God has various kinds of wrath: 1) eternal wrath, which is hell; 2) eschatological wrath, which is the final day of the Lord; 3) cataclysmic wrath like the flood and the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah; 4) consequential wrath, which is the principle of sowing and reaping; and 5) the wrath of abandonment, which is removing restraint and letting people go to their sins (for examples of this wrath, see Ps. 81:11–12; Prov. 1:23–31; see note on Hos. 4:17). Here, it is that fifth form, God’s abandoning the wicked continually through history to pursue their sin and its consequences (Rom. 1:24–32). ungodliness. This indicates a lack of reverence for, devotion to, and worship of the true God—a defective relationship with him (cf. Jude 14–15). unrighteousness. This refers to the result of ungodliness: a lack of conformity in thought, word, and deed to the character and law of God (see note on Rom. 1:17). suppress the truth. Although the evidence from conscience (1:19; 2:14), creation (1:20), and God’s word is irrefutable, men choose to resist and oppose God’s truth by holding fast to their sin (cf. Ps. 14:1; John 3:19–20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:19 is plain to them. God has sovereignly planted evidence of his existence in the very nature of man by reason and moral law (1:20–21, 28, 32; 2:15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:20 invisible attributes. This refers specifically to the two mentioned in this verse. his eternal power. The Creator, who made all that we see around us and constantly sustains it, must be a being of awesome power. divine nature. That is, his faithfulness (Gen. 8:21–22), kindness, and graciousness (Acts 14:17). in the things that have been made. The creation delivers a clear, unmistakable message about God’s person (cf. Ps. 19:1–8; 94:9; Acts 14:15–17; 17:23–28). they are without excuse. God holds all men responsible for their refusal to acknowledge what he has shown them of himself in his creation. Even those who have never had an opportunity to hear the gospel have received a clear witness about the existence and character of God—and have suppressed it. If a person will respond to the revelation he has, even if it is solely natural revelation, God will provide some means for that person to hear the gospel (cf. Acts 8:26–39; 10:1–48; 17:27).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:21 knew God. Man is conscious of God’s existence, power, and divine nature through general revelation (v v. 19–20). they did not honor him. Man’s chief end is to glorify God (Lev. 10:3; 1 Chron. 16:24–29; Ps. 148; Rom. 15:5–6), and Scripture constantly demands it (Ps. 29:1–2; 1 Cor. 10:31; Rev. 4:11). To glorify him is to honor him, to acknowledge his attributes, and to praise him for his perfections (cf. Ex. 34:5–7). It is to recognize his glory and extol him for it. Failing to give him glory is man’s greatest affront to his Creator (Acts 12:22–23). or give thanks. They refused to acknowledge that every good thing they enjoyed came from God (Matt. 5:45; Acts 14:15–17; 1 Tim. 6:17; James 1:17). futile. Man’s search for meaning and purpose will produce only vain, meaningless conclusions. hearts were darkened. When man rejects the truth, the darkness of spiritual falsehood replaces it (cf. John 3:19–20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:22 Claiming to be wise, they became fools. Man rationalizes his sin and proves his utter foolishness by devising and believing his own philosophies about God, the universe, and himself (cf. Ps. 14:1; 53:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:23 exchanged the glory . . . for images. They substitute the worship of idols for the worship of the true God. Historians report that many ancient cultures did not originally have idols. For example, Persia (Herodotus; The Histories, 1:31), Rome (Varro in Augustine; The City of God, 4:31), even Greece and Egypt (Lucian; The Syrian Goddess, 34) had no idolatry at their founding. The fourth-century A.D. historian Eusebius reported that the oldest civilizations had no idols. The earliest biblical record of idolatry was among Abram’s family in Ur (Josh. 24:2). The first commandment forbids it (Ex. 20:3–5), and the prophets continually ridiculed those who foolishly practiced it (Isa. 44:9–17; cf. 2 Kings 17:13–16). Although the false gods which men worship do not exist, demons often impersonate them (1 Cor. 10:20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:24–32 This section describes the downward spiral of the wrath of abandonment (see note on v. 18) in the life of man when God abandons him. Paul shows the essence (v v. 24–25), the expression (v v. 26–27), and the extent (v v. 28–32) of man’s sinfulness.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:24 God gave them up. This is a judicial term in Greek, used for handing over a prisoner to his sentence. When men consistently abandon God, he will abandon them (cf. Judg. 10:13; 2 Chron. 15:2; 24:20; Ps. 81:11–12; Hos. 4:17; Matt. 15:14; Acts 7:38–42; 14:16). He accomplishes this 1) indirectly and immediately, by removing his restraint and allowing their sin to run its inevitable course, and 2) directly and eventually, by specific acts of divine judgment and punishment. impurity. A general term often used of decaying matter, like the contents of a grave. It speaks here of sexual immorality (2 Cor. 12:21; cf. Gal. 5:19–23; Eph. 5:3; 1 Thess. 4:7), which begins in the heart and moves to the shame of the body.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:25 a lie. A denial of God’s existence and his right to be obeyed and glorified (v v. 19–21; Isa. 44:20; Jer. 13:25; cf. John 8:44).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:26 God gave them up. See notes on v v. 18, 24. dishonorable passions. Identified in v v. 26–27 as homosexuality, a sin roundly condemned in Scripture (Gen. 19; Lev. 18:22; 1 Cor. 6:9–11; cf. Gal. 5:19–21; Eph. 5:3–5; 1 Tim. 1:9–10; Jude 7). women. Rather than the normal Greek term for women, this is a general word for female. Paul mentions women first to show the extent of debauchery under the wrath of abandonment, because in most cultures women are the last to be affected by moral collapse.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:27 receiving in themselves the due penalty. Here the law of sowing and reaping (Gal. 6:7–8) takes effect, as Paul refers to the self-destructive nature of this sin, of which AIDS is one frightening evidence.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:28 God gave them up. See notes on v v. 18, 24. debased. This translates a Greek word that means “not passing the test.” It was often used to describe useless, worthless metals, discarded because they contained too much impurity. God has tested man’s minds and found them worthless and useless (cf. Jer. 6:30).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 1:32 know. Not ignorance, but blatant rebellion (see note on 2:15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:1–16 Having demonstrated the sinfulness of the immoral pagan (1:18–32), Paul presents his case against the religious moralist—Jew or Gentile—by cataloging six principles that govern God’s judgment: 1) knowledge (2:1); 2) truth (v v. 2–3); 3) guilt (v v. 4–5); 4) deeds (v v. 6–10); 5) impartiality (v v. 11–15); and 6) motive (v. 16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:1 no excuse . . . you who judges. Both Jews (Paul’s primary audience here; cf. v. 17) and moral Gentiles who think they are exempt from God’s judgment because they have not indulged in the immoral excesses described in ch. 1, are tragically mistaken. They have more knowledge than the immoral pagan (3:2; 9:4) and thus a greater accountability (cf. Heb. 10:26–29; James 3:1). condemn yourself. If someone has sufficient knowledge to judge others, he condemns himself, because he shows he has the knowledge to evaluate his own condition. practice the very same things. In their condemnation of others they have excused and overlooked their own sins. Self-righteousness exists because of two deadly errors: 1) minimizing God’s moral standard usually by emphasizing externals; and 2) underestimating the depth of one’s own sinfulness (cf. Matt. 5:20–22, 27–28; 7:1–3; 15:1–3; Luke 18:21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:2 rightly falls. Whatever God does is by nature right (cf. 3:4; 9:14; Ps. 9:4, 8; 96:13; 145:17; Isa. 45:19).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:3 See note on v. 1.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:4 presume. Lit., “to think down on,” thus to underestimate someone’s or something’s value, and even to treat with contempt. kindness. This refers to “common grace,” the benefits God bestows on all men (cf. Matt. 5:45; Acts 14:15–17). forbearance. This word, which means “to hold back,” was sometimes used of a truce between warring parties. Rather than destroying every person the moment he or she sins, God graciously holds back his judgment (cf. Rom. 3:25). He saves sinners in a physical and temporal way from what they deserve (see note on 1 Tim. 4:10), to show them his saving character, that they might come to him and receive salvation that is spiritual and eternal. patience. This word indicates the duration for which God demonstrates his kindness and tolerance—for long periods of time (cf. 2 Pet. 2:5). Together these three words speak of God’s common grace—the way he demonstrates his grace to all mankind (cf. Job 12:10; Ps. 119:68; 145:9). repentance. The act of turning from sin to Christ for forgiveness and salvation. See notes on 2 Cor. 7:9–11.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:5 hard. The English word “sclerosis” (as in arteriosclerosis, a hardening of the arteries) comes from this Greek word. But here the danger is not physical, but spiritual hardness (Ezek. 36:26; Matt. 19:8; Mark 3:5; 6:52; 8:17; John 12:40; Heb. 3:8, 15; 4:7). impenitent heart. A refusal to repent (cf. Rom. 2:4) and accept God's pardon of sin through Jesus Christ. storing up wrath. To reject God's offer of forgiveness and cling to one's sin is to accumulate more of God's wrath and earn a severer judgment (see notes on Heb. 10:26–30; Rev. 20:12). day of wrath . . . judgment. Refers to the final judgment of wicked men that comes at the great white throne at the end of the Millennium (see notes on Rev. 20:11–15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:6–10 See notes on v v. 1–16. Although Scripture everywhere teaches that salvation is not on the basis of works (see notes on 4:1–4; Eph. 2:8), it consistently teaches that God's judgment is always on the basis of a person's deeds (Isa. 3:10–11; Jer. 17:10; John 5:28–29; 1 Cor. 3:8; 2 Cor. 5:10; Gal. 6:7–9; cf. Rom. 14:12). Paul describes the deeds of two distinct groups: the redeemed (Rom. 2:7, 10) and the unredeemed (v v. 8–9). The deeds of the redeemed are not the basis of their salvation but the evidence of it. They are not perfect and are prone to sin, but there is undeniable evidence of righteousness in their lives (see notes on James 2:14–20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:7 eternal life. Not simply in duration, because even unbelievers will live forever (2 Thess. 1:9; Rev. 14:9–11), but also in quality (see note on John 17:3). Eternal life is a kind of life, the holy life of the eternal God given to believers.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:8 self-seeking. This word may have originally been used to describe a hireling or mercenary; someone who does what he does for money regardless of how his actions affect others. wrath. See note on 1:18.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:9 the Jew first. Just as the Jews were given the first opportunity to hear and respond to the gospel (1:16), they will be first to receive God's judgment if they refuse (cf. Amos 3:2). Israel will receive severer punishment because she was given greater light and blessing (see Rom. 9:3–4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:11 partiality. Lit., “to receive a face,” that is, to give consideration to someone simply because of his position, wealth, influence, popularity, or appearance. Because it is God's nature to be just, it is impossible for him to be anything but impartial (Acts 10:34; Gal. 2:6; Eph. 6:7–8; Col. 3:25; 1 Pet. 1:17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:12 sinned without the law. The Gentiles who never had the opportunity to know God’s moral law (Ex. 20:1ff.) will be judged on their disobedience in relationship to their limited knowledge (see notes on Rom. 1:19–20). judged by the law. The Jews and many Gentiles who had access to God’s moral law will be accountable for their greater knowledge (cf. Matt. 11:20–23; Heb. 6:4–6; 10:26–31).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:13 will be justified. See note on 3:24; cf. James 2:20–26.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:14 by nature do what the law requires. Without knowing the written law of God, people in pagan society generally value and attempt to practice its most basic tenets. This is normal for cultures instinctively (see note on v. 15) to value justice, honesty, compassion, and goodness toward others, reflecting the divine law written in the heart. law to themselves. Their practice of some good deeds and their aversion to some evil ones demonstrate an innate knowledge of God’s law—a knowledge that will actually witness against them on the day of judgment.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:15 work of the law. Probably best understood as “the same works the Mosaic law prescribes.” conscience. Lit., “with knowledge.” That instinctive sense of right and wrong that produces guilt when violated. In addition to an innate awareness of God’s law, men have a warning system that activates when they choose to ignore or disobey that law. Paul urges believers not to violate their own consciences or cause others to (13:5; 1 Cor. 8:7, 12; 10:25, 29; 2 Cor. 5:11; cf. Rom. 9:1; Acts 23:1, 24:16), because repeatedly ignoring the conscience’s warnings desensitizes it and eventually silences it (1 Tim. 4:2). See 2 Cor. 1:12; 4:2.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:16 that day. See note on 2:5. my gospel. Not his own personal message, but the divinely-revealed message of Jesus Christ (see note on 1:1), which is “good news” in light of the bad news of judgment. secrets. This primarily refers to the motives that lie behind men’s actions (1 Chron. 28:9; Ps. 139:1–3; Jer. 17:10; Matt. 6:4, 6, 18; cf. Luke 8:17; Heb. 4:12). by Christ Jesus. See note on John 5:23.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:17–29 Having shown that outwardly moral people—Jew and Gentiles alike—will stand condemned by God’s judgment, Paul turns his argument exclusively to the Jews, God’s covenant people. Neither their heritage (v. 17a), their knowledge (v v. 17b–24), nor their ceremonies, specifically circumcision (v v. 25–29), will protect them from God’s righteous judgment.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:17 Jew. Previously called Hebrews and Israelites, by the first century “Jew” had become the most common name for the descendants of Abraham through Isaac. “Jew” comes from “Judah” (meaning “praise”), one of the 12 tribes and the designation for the southern half of Solomon’s kingdom after his death. From the time of the Babylonian captivity, the whole race bore this title. Their great heritage, however (cf. Gen. 12:3), became a source of pride and complacency (cf. Jonah 4:2; Mic. 3:11–12; Matt. 3:7–9; John 8:31–34, 40–59), which led to judgment instead of “praise.”

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:19–20 the blind . . . foolish. Because they possessed the law, the Jews were confident that they were spiritually superior teachers: guides to blind pagans (cf. Matt. 23:24–28), light (cf. Isa. 42:6), wise in God’s ways, and able to teach the immature (probably a reference to Gentile proselytes to Judaism).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:21–23 A series of questions designed to contrast most Jews’ practice with what they knew and taught (cf. Ps. 50:16–20; Matt. 23:3–4; James 3:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:22 do you rob temples? May refer to fraudulently skimming funds from money given to the temple or withholding part of their temple tax or offerings (cf. Mal. 3:8–10). More likely, however, it refers to the common practice—in direct violation of God’s command (Deut. 7:25)—of looting pagan temples and selling the idols and vessels for personal profit (cf. Acts 19:37) under the pretext of religion.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:24 it is written. Quoted from Isa. 52:5.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:25 circumcision. See note on Gen. 17:11. of value. As an act of obedience and a reminder of their covenant relationship to God (see notes on Gen. 17:9–14). uncircumcision. A Jew who continually transgressed God’s law had no more of a saving relationship to God than an uncircumcised Gentile. The outward symbol was nothing without the inner reality.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:26 regarded as circumcision. God will regard the believing Gentile as favorably as a circumcised, believing Jew.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:27 A Gentile’s humble obedience to the law should serve as a stern rebuke to a Jew who, in spite of his great advantages, lives in disobedience.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:28 outwardly. This refers to physical descendants of Abraham who have been properly circumcised (cf. 9:6; Matt. 3:9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 2:29 a Jew. A true child of God; the true spiritual descendant of Abraham (see 4:16; cf. Gal. 3:29). circumcision is . . . of the heart. The outward rite is of value only when it reflects the inner reality of a heart separated from sin unto God. Cf. Deut. 10:16; 30:6. Spirit . . . letter. Salvation results from the work of God's Spirit in the heart, not mere external efforts to conform to his law.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:2 oracles. This Greek word is logion, a diminutive form of the common NT word logos, which is normally translated “word.” These are important sayings or messages, especially supernatural ones. Here Paul uses the word to encompass the entire OT—the Jews received the very words of the true God (Deut. 4:1–2; 6:1–2; cf. Mark 12:24; Luke 16:29; John 5:39). The Jews had a great advantage in having the OT, because it contained the truth about salvation (2 Tim. 3:15) and about the gospel in its basic form (Gal. 3:8). When Paul said “preach the word” (2 Tim. 4:2), he meant the “oracles of God” (1 Pet. 4:11) recorded in Scripture.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:3–4 Paul anticipated that Jewish readers would disagree with his statements that God has not guaranteed to fulfill his promises to every physical descendant of Abraham. They would argue that such teaching nullifies all the promises God made to the Jews in the OT. But his answer reflects both the explicit and implicit teaching of the OT; before any Jew, regardless of the purity of his lineage, can inherit the promises, he must come to repentance and faith (cf. 9:6–7; Isa. 55:6–7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:3 the faithfulness of God. God will fulfill all the promises he made to the nation, even if individual Jews are not able to receive them because of their unbelief.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:4 every one . . . a liar. If all mankind were to agree that God had been unfaithful to his promises, it would only prove that all are liars and God is true. Cf. Titus 1:1. it is written. This is quoted from Ps. 51:4.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:5–8 Paul anticipates and answers the objection that his teaching actually impugned the very holiness and purity of God's character (see note on 3:3–4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:5 show the righteousness of God. See note on 1:17. By contrast, like a jeweler who displays a diamond on black velvet to make the stone appear even more beautiful. I speak in a human way. He is simply paraphrasing the weak, unbiblical logic of his opponents—the product of their natural, unregenerate minds.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:6 judge. A major theme of Scripture (Gen. 18:25; Ps. 50:6; 58:11; 94:2), here it probably refers to the great future day of judgment (see note on Rom. 2:5). Paul's point is that if God condoned sin, he would have no equitable, righteous basis for judgment.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:8 slanderosly charge. Tragically, the apostle's gospel message of salvation by grace through faith alone had been perverted by his opponents who argued it provided not only a license to sin, but outright encouragement to do so (5:20; 6:1–2).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:9–20 Paul concludes his indictment of mankind with this summary: Jew and Gentile alike stand guilty before God (see note on 1:18–3:20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:9 Are we . . . better off? “We” probably refers to the Christians in Rome who will receive this letter. Christians do not have an intrinsically superior nature to all those Paul has shown to stand under God's condemnation. Greeks. See note on 1:14. under sin. Completely enslaved and dominated by sin.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:10–17 Paul strings together a series of OT quotations that indict the character (v v. 10–12), conversation (v v. 13–14), and conduct (v v. 15–17) of all men. Nine times he uses words such as “none” and “all” to show the universality of human sin and rebellion.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:10–12 This is quoted from Ps. 14:1–3 and 53:1–3.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:10 as it is written. The common introduction to OT quotations (cf. 1:17; 2:24; 3:4; Matt. 4:4, 6–7, 10). The tense of the Greek verb stresses continuity and permanence, and implies its divine authority. None is righteous. Man is universally evil (cf. Ps. 14:1; see notes on Rom. 1:17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:11 no one understands. Man is unable to comprehend the truth of God or grasp his standard of righteousness (see Ps. 14:2; 53:3; cf. 1 Cor. 2:14). Sadly, his spiritual ignorance does not result from a lack of opportunity (Rom. 1:19–20; 2:15), but is an expression of his depravity and rebellion (Eph. 4:18). no one seeks. See Ps. 14:2. This verse clearly implies that the world’s false religions are fallen man’s attempts to escape the true God—not to seek him. Man’s natural tendency is to seek his own interests (cf. Phil. 2:21), but his only hope is for God to seek him (John 6:37, 44). It is only as a result of God’s work in the heart that anyone seeks him (Ps. 16:8; Matt. 6:33).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:12 turned aside. See Ps. 14:3. This word basically means “to lean in the wrong direction.” It was used to describe a soldier’s running the wrong way, or deserting. All men are inclined to leave God’s way and pursue their own (cf. Isa. 53:6). no one does good. See note on Rom. 3:10.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:13 open grave. See Ps. 5:9. Graves were sealed not only to show respect for the deceased, but to hide the sight and stench of the body’s decay. As an unsealed grave allows those who pass to see and smell what is inside, the unregenerate person’s open throat—that is, the foul words that come from it—reveal the decay of his heart (cf. Prov. 10:31–32; 15:2, 28; Jer. 17:9; Matt. 12:34–35; 15:18; James 3:1–12). asps. See Ps. 140:3; cf. Matt. 3:7 and 12:34.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:14 curses. This is quoted from Ps. 10:7. It refers to wanting the worst for someone and publicly expressing that desire in caustic, derisive language. bitterness. The open, public expression of emotional hostility against one’s enemy (cf. Ps. 64:3–4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:15–17 This is quoted from Isa. 59:7–8.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:16 ruin and misery. Man damages and destroys everything he touches, leaving a trail of pain and suffering in his wake.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:17 way of peace. Not the lack of an inner sense of peace, but man’s tendency toward strife and conflict, whether between individuals or nations (cf. Jer. 6:14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:18 no fear of God. See Ps. 36:1. Man’s true spiritual condition is nowhere more clearly seen than in the absence of a proper submission to and reverence for God. Biblical fear for God consists of: 1) awe of his greatness and glory, and 2) dread of the results of violating that holy nature (see note on Prov. 1:7; cf. Prov. 9:10; 16:6; Acts 5:1–11; 1 Cor. 11:30).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:19 those . . . under the law. Every unredeemed human being. Jews received the written law through Moses (3:2), and Gentiles have the works of the law written on their hearts (2:15), so that both groups are accountable to God. every mouth . . . stopped . . . accountable. There is no defense against the guilty verdict God pronounces on the entire human race.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:20 works of the law. Doing perfectly what God’s moral law requires is impossible, so that every person is cursed by that inability (see notes on Gal. 3:10, 13). justified. See note on Rom. 3:24. through the law comes knowledge of sin. The law makes sin known, but can’t save. See note on 7:7.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:21–5:21 Having conclusively proved the universal sinfulness of man and his need for righteousness (1:18–3:20), Paul develops the theme he introduced in 1:17, i.e., God has graciously provided a righteousness that comes from him on the basis of faith alone (3:21–5:21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:21 But now. Not a reference to time, but a change in the flow of the apostle’s argument. Having shown the impossibility of gaining righteousness by human effort, he turns to explain the righteousness that God himself has provided. apart from the law. Entirely apart from obedience to any law (4:15; Gal. 2:16; 3:10–11; 5:1–2, 6; Eph. 2:8–9; cf. Phil. 3:9; 2 Tim. 1:9; Titus 3:5). righteousness. See note on Rom. 1:17. This righteousness is unique: 1) God is its source (Isa. 45:8); 2) it fulfills both the penalty and precept of God’s law. Christ’s death as a substitute pays the penalty exacted on those who failed to keep God’s law, and his perfect obedience to every requirement of God’s law fulfills God’s demand for comprehensive righteousness (2 Cor. 5:21; 1 Pet. 2:24; cf. Heb. 9:28); and 3) because God’s righteousness is eternal (Ps. 119:142; Isa. 51:8; Dan. 9:24), the one who receives it from him enjoys it forever. the Law and the Prophets bear witness. See note on Rom. 1:2.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:22 through faith . . . all who believe. See note on 1:16.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:22–23 there is no distinction . . . glory of God. A parenthetical comment explaining that God can bestow his righteousness on all who believe, Jew or Gentile, because all people—without distinction—fail miserably to live up to the divine standard.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:23 all have sinned. Paul has already made this case (1:18–3:20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:24 justified. This verb, and related words from the same Greek root (e.g., justification), occur some 30 times in Romans and are concentrated in 2:13–5:1. This legal or forensic term comes from the Greek word for “righteous” and means “to declare righteous.” This verdict includes: pardon from the guilt and penalty of sin, and the imputation of Christ’s righteousness to the believer’s account, which provides for the positive righteousness man needs to be accepted by God. God declares a sinner righteous solely on the basis of the merits of Christ’s righteousness. God imputed a believer’s sin to Christ’s account in his sacrificial death (Isa. 53:4–5; 1 Pet. 2:24), and he imputes Christ’s perfect obedience to God’s law to Christians (cf. Rom. 5:19; 1 Cor. 1:30; see notes on 2 Cor. 5:21; Phil. 3:9). The sinner receives this gift of God’s grace by faith alone (Rom. 3:22, 25; see notes on 4:1–25). Sanctification, the work of God by which he makes righteous those whom he has already justified, is distinct from justification but without exception, always follows it (8:30). by his grace as a gift. Justification is a gracious gift God extends to the repentant, believing sinner, wholly apart from human merit or work (see note on 1:5). redemption. The imagery behind this Greek word comes from the ancient slave market. It meant paying the necessary ransom to obtain the prisoner or slave’s release. The only adequate payment to redeem sinners from sin’s slavery and its deserved punishment was “in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim. 2:6; 1 Pet. 1:18–19), and was paid to God to satisfy his justice.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:25 whom God put forward. This great sacrifice was not accomplished in secret, but God publicly displayed his Son on Calvary for all to see. propitiation. Crucial to the significance of Christ’s sacrifice, this word carries the idea of appeasement or satisfaction—in this case Christ’s violent death satisfied the offended holiness and wrath of God against those for whom Christ died (Isa. 53:11; Col. 2:11–14). The Hebrew equivalent of this word was used to describe the mercy seat—the cover to the ark of the covenant—where the high priest sprinkled the blood of the slaughtered animal on the Day of Atonement to make atonement for the sins of the people. In pagan religions, it is the worshiper not the god who is responsible to appease the wrath of the offended deity. But in reality, man is incapable of satisfying God’s justice apart from Christ, except by spending eternity in hell. Cf. 1 John 2:2. by faith. See note on Rom. 1:16. forbearance. See note on 2:4. passed over former sins. This means neither indifference nor remission. God's justice demands that every sin and sinner be punished. God would have been just, when Adam and Eve sinned, to destroy them, and with them, the entire human race. But in his goodness and forbearance (see 2:4), he withheld his judgment for a certain period of time (cf. Ps. 78:38–39; Acts 17:30–31; 2 Pet. 3:9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:26 show his righteousness. Through the incarnation, sinless life, and substitutionary death of Christ. just and the justifier. The wisdom of God's plan allowed him to punish Jesus in the place of sinners and thereby justify those who are guilty without compromising his justice.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:27 what becomes of our boasting? Cf. 4:1–2 and 1 Cor. 1:26–29.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:28 justified by faith. See note on v. 24. Paul's clear meaning is that a person is justified on the basis of faith alone (cf. 4:3–5; see note on James 2:21). works of the law. See note on Rom. 3:20.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:29 God of Gentiles. There is only one true God (cf. 1 Cor. 8:5–6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 3:31 Knowing he would be accused of antinomianism (being against the law) for arguing that a man was justified apart from keeping the law, Paul introduced here the defense he later developed in chs. 6–7. by this faith . . . we uphold the law. Salvation by grace through faith does not denigrate the law, but underscores its true importance: 1) by providing a payment for the penalty of death, which the law required for failing to keep it; 2) by fulfilling the law's original purpose, which is to serve as a tutor to show mankind's utter inability to obey God's righteous demands and to drive people to Christ (Gal. 3:24); and 3) by giving believers the capacity to obey it (Rom. 8:3–4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:1 Abraham, our forefather. Paul uses the model of Abraham to prove justification by faith alone because the Jews held him up as the supreme example of a righteous man (John 8:39), and because it clearly showed that Judaism with its works-righteousness had deviated from the faith of the Jews' patriarchal ancestors. In a spiritual sense, Abraham was the forerunner of the primarily Gentile church in Rome as well (see notes on Rom. 1:13; 4:11, 16; cf. Gal. 3:6–7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:2 justified by works. Declared righteous on the basis of human effort (see note on 3:24). boast. If Abraham's own works had been the basis of his justification, he would have had every right to boast in God's presence. That makes the hypothetical premise of 4:2 unthinkable (Eph. 2:8–9; 1 Cor. 1:29).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:3 A quotation of Gen. 15:6, one of the clearest statements in all Scripture about justification (see note on Rom. 3:24). believed. Abraham was a man of faith (see note on 1:16; cf. 4:18–21; Gal. 3:6–7, 9; Heb. 11:8–10). But faith is not a meritorious work. It is never the ground of justification—it is simply the channel through which it is received and it, too, is a gift. See note on Eph. 2:8. counted. Cf. Rom. 4:5–6, 8–11, 22–24. Used in both financial and legal settings, this Greek word, which occurs nine times in ch. 4 alone, means to take something that belongs to someone and credit it to another's account. It is a one-sided transaction—Abraham did nothing to accumulate it; God simply credited it to him. God took his own righteousness and credited it to Abraham as if it were actually his. This God did because Abraham believed in him (see note on Gen. 15:6). righteousness. See notes on Rom. 1:17 and 3:21.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:4–5 Broadening his argument from Abraham to all men, the apostle here makes it clear that the forensic act of declaring a person righteous is completely apart from any kind of human work. If salvation were on the basis of one's own effort, God would owe salvation as a debt—but salvation is always a sovereignly given gift of God's grace (3:24; Eph. 2:8–9) to those who believe (cf. Rom. 1:16). Since faith is contrasted with work, faith must mean the end of any attempt to earn God's favor through personal merit.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:5 justifies the ungodly. Only those who relinquish all claims to goodness and acknowledge they are ungodly are candidates for justification (cf. Luke 5:32). counted. See note on Rom. 4:3.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:6–8 Paul turns for support of his argument to Ps. 32:1–2, a penitential psalm written by David after his adultery with Bathsheba and his murder of her husband (2 Sam. 11). In spite of the enormity of his sin and the utter absence of personal merit, David knew the blessing of imputed righteousness.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:9–12 Paul anticipated what his Jewish readers would be thinking: If Abraham was justified by his faith alone, why did God command him and his descendants to be circumcised? His response not only answers those concerned with circumcision, but the millions who still cling to some other kind of religious ceremony or activity as their basis for righteousness. See notes on Gen. 15:6.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:9 circumcised. This refers to Jews (see notes on Gen. 17:11–14; cf. Acts 15:19–29; Rom. 2:25–29; 4:11; Gal. 5:1–4; 6:12; Phil. 3:2–5). uncircumcised. All Gentiles (see notes on Rom. 2:25–29).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:10 not after, but before he was circumcised. The chronology of Genesis proves Paul’s case. Abraham was 86 when Ishmael was born (Gen. 16:16), and Abraham was 99 when he was circumcised. But God declared him righteous before Ishmael had even been conceived (Gen. 15:6; 16:2–4)—at least 14 years before Abraham’s circumcision.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:11–12 the father of the circumcised. Racially, Abraham is the father of all Jews (circumcised); spiritually, he is the father of both believing Jews (v. 12) and believing Gentiles (uncircumcised; v. 11). Cf. 4:16 and Gal. 3:29.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:11 sign. This indicates man’s need for spiritual cleansing (cf. 2:28–29; Jer. 4:3–4; 9:24–26) and of the covenant relationship between God and his people (see note on Gen. 17:11). seal. An outward demonstration of the righteousness God had credited to him by faith.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:13–15 Just as Abraham was not justified by the rite of circumcision (v v. 9–12), neither was he justified by keeping the Mosaic law (v v. 13–15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:13 promise . . . heir of the world. This refers to Christ and is the essence of the covenant God made with Abraham and his descendants (see notes on Gen. 12:3; cf. Gen. 15:5; 18:18; 22:18). The final provision of that covenant was that through Abraham’s descendants all the world would be blessed (Gen. 12:3). Paul argues that “his descendants” refers specifically to Christ and that this promise really constituted the gospel (Gal. 3:8, 16; cf. John 8:56). All believers, by being in Christ, become heirs of the promise (Gal. 3:29; cf. 1 Cor. 3:21–23). not . . . through the law. That is, not as a result of Abraham’s keeping the law. righteousness of faith. Righteousness received from God by faith (see note on Rom. 1:17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:14 adherents of the law. If only those who perfectly keep the law—an impossibility—receive the promise, faith has no value. promise is void. Making a promise contingent on an impossible condition nullifies the promise (see note on v. 13).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:15 law brings wrath. By exposing man's sinfulness (cf. 7:7–11; Gal. 3:19, 24).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:16 on faith. Justification is through faith alone (see notes on Rom. 1:16–17 and 3:24). may rest on grace. But the power of justification is God's great grace (see note on 1:5), not man's faith. promise. See note on 4:13. the adherent of the law. Believing Jews. one who shares the faith of Abraham. Believing Gentiles. father of us all. See note on 4:11.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:17 as it is written. Quoted from Gen. 17:5. gives life to the dead. Abraham had experienced this firsthand (Heb. 11:11–12; cf. Rom. 4:19). calls into existence the things that do not exist. This is another reference to the forensic nature of justification. God can declare believing sinners to be righteous even though they are not, by imputing his righteousness to them, just as God made or declared Jesus “sin” and punished him, though he was not a sinner. Those whom he justifies, he will conform to the image of his Son (Rom. 8:29–30).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:18–25 Having shown that justification is through faith, not works (v v. 1–8), and that it is by grace, not the keeping of law (v v. 9–17), Paul now concludes by showing that it results from divine power, not human effort (v v. 18–25).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:18 hope . . . against hope. From the human perspective, it seemed impossible (cf. v. 19). Cf. Gen. 17:5. as he had been told. Quoted from Gen. 15:5.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:19 weaken in faith. When doubt erodes one's confidence in God's word. the barrenness of Sarah's womb. She was only 10 years younger than Abraham (Gen. 17:17), 90 years old (well past childbearing age), when they received the promise of Isaac.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:20 the promise. Of the birth of a son (Gen. 15:4; 17:16; 18:10). gave glory to God. Believing God affirms his existence and character and thus gives him glory (cf. Heb. 11:6; 1 John 5:10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:22 That is why. Because of his genuine faith (see Gen. 15:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:23 not . . . for his sake alone. All Scripture has universal application (cf. 15:4; 2 Tim. 3:16–17), and Abraham’s experience is no exception. If Abraham was justified by faith, then all others are justified on the same basis.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 4:25 A paraphrase of the lxx (Greek translation of the OT) rendering of Isa. 53:12. Perhaps these words were adapted to and quoted from an early Christian confession or hymn. delivered up. I.e., crucified. for our justification. The resurrection provided proof that God had accepted the sacrifice of his Son and would be able to be just and yet justify the ungodly.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:1–11 Paul completed his case that God justifies sinners on the basis of faith alone, and he turned his pen to counter the notion that although believers receive salvation by faith, they will preserve it by good works. He argues that they are bound eternally to Jesus Christ, preserved by his power and not by human effort (cf. Isa. 11:5; Ps. 36:5; Lam. 3:23; Eph. 1:18–20; 2 Tim. 2:13; Heb. 10:23). For the Christian, the evidences of that eternal tie are: 1) his peace with God (Rom. 5:1); 2) his standing in grace (v. 2a); 3) his hope of glory (v v. 2b–5a); 4) his receiving of divine love (v v. 5b–8); 5) his certain escape of divine wrath (v v. 9–10); and 6) his joy in the Lord (v. 11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:1 have been justified. The Greek construction—and its English translation—underscores that justification is a one-time legal declaration with continuing results (see note on 3:24), not an ongoing process. peace with God. Not a subjective, internal sense of calm and serenity, but an external, objective reality. God has declared himself to be at war with every human being because of man’s sinful rebellion against him and his laws (5:10; cf. 1:18; 8:7; Ex. 22:24; Deut. 32:21–22; Ps. 7:11; John 3:36; Eph. 5:6). But the first great result of justification is that the sinner’s war with God is ended forever (Col. 1:21–22). Scripture refers to the end of this conflict as a person’s being reconciled to God (Rom. 5:10–11; 2 Cor. 5:18–20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:2 obtained access. This refers to the believer’s access to God through Jesus Christ. What was unthinkable to the OT Jew (cf. Ex. 19:9, 20, 21; 28:35) is now available to all who come (Jer. 32:38, 40; Heb. 4:16; 10:19–22; cf. Matt. 27:51). stand. This refers to the permanent, secure position believers enjoy in God's grace (cf. Rom. 5:10; 8:31–34; John 6:37; Phil. 1:6; 2 Tim. 1:12; Jude 24). hope of the glory of God. Unlike the English word “hope,” the NT word contains no uncertainty; it speaks of something that is certain, but not yet realized. The believer's ultimate destiny is to share in the very glory of God (Rom. 8:29–30; John 17:22; 2 Cor. 3:18; Phil. 3:20–21; 1 John 3:1–2), and that hope will be realized because Christ himself secures it (1 Tim. 1:1). Without the clear and certain promises of the word of God, the believer would have no basis for hope (Rom. 15:4; Ps. 119:81, 114; Eph. 2:12; cf. Jer. 14:8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:3 sufferings. A word used for pressure, like that of a press squeezing the fluid from olives or grapes. Here they are not the normal pressures of living (cf. 8:35), but the inevitable troubles that come to followers of Christ because of their relationship with him (Matt. 5:10–12; John 15:20; 2 Cor. 4:17; 1 Thess. 3:3; 2 Tim. 3:12; 1 Pet. 4:19). Such difficulties produce rich spiritual benefits (Rom. 5:3–4). endurance. Sometimes translated “patience,” this word refers to perseverance, the ability to remain under tremendous weight and pressure without succumbing (Rom. 15:5; Col. 1:22–23; 2 Thess. 1:4; Rev. 14:12).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:4 character. The Greek word simply means “proof.” It was used of testing metals to determine their purity. Here the proof is Christian character (cf. James 1:12). Christians can glory in tribulations because of what those troubles produce.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:5 God's love . . . poured into. God's love for us (cf. v. 8) has been lavishly poured out to the point of overflowing within our hearts. Paul moves from the objective aspects of our security in Christ to the internal, more subjective. God has implanted within our hearts evidence that we belong to him in that we love the One who first loved us (1 Cor. 16:22; cf. Gal. 5:22; Eph. 3:14–19; 1 John 4:7–10). Spirit who has been given. A marvelous testimony to God's love for us (Rom. 8:9, 14, 16–17; John 7:38–39; 1 Cor. 6:19–20; 12:13; Eph. 1:18).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:6 weak. Unregenerate sinners are spiritually dead and incapable of doing anything to help themselves (John 6:44; Eph. 2:1). at the right time. At the moment God had chosen (cf. Gal. 4:4). Christ died for the ungodly. God's love for his own is unwavering because it is not based on how lovable we are, but on the constancy of his own character; God's supreme act of love came when we were at our most undesirable (cf. Matt. 5:46).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:7 righteous person . . . good person. As uncommon as such a sacrifice is, Paul's point is that we were neither of these persons—yet Christ sacrificed himself for us.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:9 justified. See note on 3:24. by his blood. Through his violent, substitutionary death. References to the blood of the Savior include the reality that he bled in his death (a necessity to fulfill the OT imagery of sacrifice), but are not limited to the fluid itself. NT writers also use the term “blood” as a graphic way to describe violent death (see Matt. 23:30, 35; 27:4–8, 24–25; John 6:53–56; Acts 5:28; 20:26). References to the Savior's blood are not simply pointing to the fluid, but at his death and entire atoning work (cf. Rom. 3:25; Eph. 1:7; 2:13; Col. 1:14, 20; Heb. 9:12; 10:19; 13:12; 1 Pet. 1:2, 19; 1 John 1:7; Rev. 1:5). much more. What Paul is about to say is even more amazing and wonderful. wrath. See note on Rom. 1:18. Christ bore the full fury of God's wrath in the believing sinner's place, and there is none left for him (see 8:1; 1 Thess. 1:10; 5:9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:10 saved by his life. When we were God's enemies, Christ was able by his death to reconcile us to God. Certainly now that we are God's children, the Savior can keep us by his living power.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:11 reconciliation. This is between God and sinners. See notes on 2 Cor. 5:18–20.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:12–21 In one of the most enigmatic passages in the entire book, Paul sets out to show how one man's death can provide salvation for many. To prove his point, he uses Adam to establish the principle that it is possible for one man's actions to inexorably affect many other people.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:12 just as sin came. Not a particular sin, but the inherent propensity to sin entered the human realm; men became sinners by nature. Adam passed to all his descendants the inherent sinful nature he possessed because of his first disobedience. That nature is present from the moment of conception (Ps. 51:5), making it impossible for man to live in a way that pleases God. Satan, the father of sin (1 John 3:8), first brought temptation to Adam and Eve (Gen. 3:1–7). through one man. When Adam sinned, all mankind sinned in his loins (Rom. 5:18; cf. Heb. 7:7–10). Since his sin transformed his inner nature and brought spiritual death and depravity, that sinful nature would be passed on seminally to his posterity as well (Ps. 51:5). death. Adam was not originally subject to death, but through his sin it became a grim certainty for him and his posterity. Death has three distinct manifestations: 1) spiritual death or separation from God (cf. Eph. 2:1–2; 4:18); 2) physical death (Heb. 9:27); and 3) eternal death (also called the second death), which includes not only eternal separation from God, but eternal torment in the lake of fire (Rev. 20:11–15). because all sinned. Because all humanity existed in the loins of Adam, and have through procreation inherited his fallenness and depravity, it can be said that all sinned in him. Therefore, humans are not sinners because they sin, but rather they sin because they are sinners.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:13 sin is not counted. See note on 2 Cor. 5:19. Though all men were regarded as sinners (Rom. 5:12), because there was no explicit list of commands, there was no strict accounting of their specific points of violation. where there is no law. The period from Adam to Moses, when God had not yet given the Mosaic law.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:14 Yet death reigned. But even without the law, death was universal. All men from Adam to Moses were subject to death, not because of their sinful acts against the Mosaic law (which they did not yet have), but because of their own inherited sinful nature. sinning . . . not like . . . of Adam. Those who had no specific revelation as did Adam (Gen. 2:16–17) or those who had the Mosaic law (cf. Rom. 5:13), but nevertheless sinned against the holiness of God, i.e., those who “sinned without the law” (2:12). a type of the one . . . to come. Both Adam and Christ were similar in that their acts affected many others. This phrase serves as transition from the apostle’s discussion of the transference of Adam’s sin to the crediting of Christ’s righteousness.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:15–21 In this passage Paul explores the contrasts between the condemning act of Adam and the redemptive act of Christ. They were different in their effectiveness (v. 15), their extent (v. 16), their efficacy (v. 17), their essence (v v. 18–19), and their energy (v v. 20–21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:15 many died. Paul uses the word “many” with two distinct meanings in v. 15, just as he will the word “all” in v. 18. He has already established that all men, without exception, bear the guilt of sin and are therefore subject to death (see notes on v. 12). So the “many” who die must refer to all Adam’s descendants. much more. Christ’s one act of redemption was immeasurably greater than Adam’s one act of condemnation.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:16 the free gift. Salvation by grace. judgment following one trespass. See notes on v. 12. condemnation. The divine guilty verdict; the opposite of justification. many trespasses. Adam brought upon all men the condemnation for only one offense—his willful act of disobedience. Christ, however, delivers the elect from the condemnation of many offenses. justification. See note on 3:24.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:17 death reigned. Adam’s sin brought universal death—exactly opposite the result he expected and Satan had promised: “you will be like God” (Gen. 3:5). Christ’s sacrifice brought salvation to those who believe. gift of righteousness. See notes on Rom. 1:17 and 3:24; see also 2 Cor. 5:21 and Phil. 3:8–9. reign in life. Unlike Adam’s act, Christ’s act has—and will—accomplish exactly what he intended (cf. Phil. 1:6), i.e., spiritual life (cf. Eph. 2:5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:18–19 Summaries of the analogy of Adam and Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:18 condemnation. See note on v. 16. one act of righteousness. Not a reference to a single event, but generally to Christ’s obedience (cf. v. 19; Luke 2:49; John 4:34; 5:30; 6:38), culminating in the greatest demonstration of that obedience, death on a cross (Phil. 2:8). justification . . . for all men. This cannot mean that all men will be saved; salvation is only for those who exercise faith in Jesus Christ (cf. Rom. 1:16–17; 3:22, 28; 4:5, 13). Rather, like the word “many” in 5:15, Paul is using “all” with two different meanings for the sake of parallelism, a common practice in the Hebrew OT.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:19 made righteous. This expression probably refers to one’s legal status before God and not an actual change in character, since Paul is contrasting justification and condemnation throughout this passage, and he has not yet introduced the doctrine of sanctification (chs. 6–8) which deals with the actual transformation of the sinner as a result of redemption.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:20 the law came in. Cf. Gal. 3:19. Although the Mosaic law is not flawed (Rom. 7:12), its presence caused man’s sin to increase (cf. 7:8–11). Thus it made men more aware of their own sinfulness and inability to keep God’s perfect standard (7:7; Gal. 3:21–22), and it served as a tutor to drive them to Christ (Gal. 3:24).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 5:21 This is the final summary of the analogy of Adam and Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:1–8:39 Paul moves from demonstrating the doctrine of justification, which is God’s declaring the believing sinner righteous (3:20–5:21), to demonstrating the practical ramifications of salvation on those who have been justified. He specifically discusses the doctrine of sanctification, which is God’s producing actual righteousness in the believer (6:1–8:39).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:1–10 He begins his lesson on sanctification by arguing that in spite of their past, all whom God has justified will experience personal holiness (cf. 1 Cor. 6:9–11a; 1 Tim. 1:12–13).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:1 Are we to continue in sin . . . ? Because of his past Pharisaic experience, Paul was able to anticipate the major objections of his critics. He had already alluded to this criticism, that by preaching a justification based solely on the free grace of God, he was encouraging people to sin (cf. 3:5, 6, 8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:2 By no means! Used 14 times in Paul’s epistles (10 in Romans: 3:4, 6, 31; 6:2, 15; 7:7, 13; 9:14; 11:1, 11), this expression is the strongest Greek idiom for repudiating a statement, and it contains a sense of outrage that anyone would ever think the statement was true. we . . . died to sin. Not a reference to the believer’s ongoing daily struggle with sin, but to a one-time event completed in the past. Because we are “in Christ” (6:11; 8:1), and he died in our place (5:6–8), we are counted dead with him. This is the fundamental premise of ch. 6, and Paul spends the remainder of the chapter explaining and supporting it.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:3 baptized into Christ Jesus. This does not refer to water baptism. Paul is actually using the word “baptized” in a metaphorical sense, as we might in saying someone was immersed in his work, or underwent his baptism of fire when experiencing some trouble. All Christians have, by placing saving faith in him, been spiritually immersed into the person of Christ, that is, united and identified with him (cf. 1 Cor. 6:17; 10:2; Gal. 3:27; 1 Pet. 3:21; 1 John 1:3; see note on Acts 2:38). Certainly water baptism pictures this reality, which is the purpose—to show the transformation of the justified. into his death. This means that immersion or identification is specifically with Christ’s death and resurrection, as the apostle will explain (see Rom. 6:4–7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:4 buried . . . with him. Since we are united by faith with him, as baptism symbolizes, his death and burial become ours. newness of life. This is true if, in Christ, we died and were buried with him, we have also been united with him in his resurrection. There is a new quality and character to our lives, a new principle of life. This speaks of the believer's regeneration (cf. Ezek. 36:26; 2 Cor. 5:17; Gal. 6:15; Eph. 4:24). Whereas sin describes the old life, righteousness describes the new.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:6 our old self. A believer's unregenerate self. The Greek word for "old" does not refer to something old in years but to something that is worn out and useless. Our old self died with Christ, and the life we now enjoy is a new divinely-given life that is the life of Christ himself (cf. Gal. 2:20). We have been removed from the unregenerate self's presence and control, so we should not follow the remaining memories of its old sinful ways as if we were still under its evil influence (see notes on Eph. 4:20–24; Gal. 5:24; Col. 3:9–10). body of sin. Essentially synonymous with "our old self." Paul uses the terms "body" and "flesh" to refer to sinful propensities that are intertwined with physical weaknesses and pleasures (e.g., Rom. 8:10–11, 13, 23). Although the old self is dead, sin retains a foothold in our temporal flesh or our unredeemed humanness, with its corrupted desires (7:14–24). The believer does not have two competing natures, the old and the new; but one new nature that is still incarcerated in unredeemed flesh (see note on 6:12). But the term "flesh" is not equivalent to the physical body, which can be an instrument of holiness (v. 19; 12:1; 1 Cor. 6:20). brought to nothing. Rendered powerless or inoperative.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:7 has died. Through his union with Christ (see note on v. 3). free from sin. No longer under its domination and control.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:8 we will also live with him. The context suggests that Paul means not only that believers will live in the presence of Christ for eternity, but also that all who have died with Christ, which is true of all believers, will live a life here that is fully consistent with his holiness.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:9 dominion. Control or domination. Cf. v v. 11–12.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:10 he died to sin. Christ died to sin in two senses: 1) in regard to sin's penalty—he met its legal demands upon the sinner; and 2) in regard to sin's power—forever breaking its power over those who belong to him. And his death will never need repeating (Heb. 7:26–27; 9:12, 28; 10:10; cf. 1 Pet. 3:18). Paul's point is that believers have died to sin in the same way. he lives to God. For God's glory.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:11–14 Paul addresses the logical conclusion of his readers: If the old self is dead, why is there continually a struggle with sin and how can the new self become dominant (see also 7:1–25)? His exhortation is contained in two key words: “consider” (6:11b–12) and “present” (v v. 13–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:11 So. This implies the importance of his readers' knowing what he just explained. Without that foundation, what he is about to teach will not make sense. Scripture always identifies knowledge as the foundation for one's practice (cf. Col. 3:10). consider. This word was often used metaphorically to refer to having an absolute, unreserved confidence in what one's mind knows to be true—the kind of heartfelt confidence that affects his actions and decisions. Paul is not referring to mind games in which we trick ourselves into thinking a certain way. Rather he is urging us to embrace by faith what God has revealed to be true. dead to sin. See Rom. 6:2–7. in Christ. Paul's favorite expression of our union with Christ. This is its first occurrence in Romans (cf. Eph. 1:3–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:12 mortal body. The only remaining repository where sin finds the believer vulnerable. The brain and its thinking processes are part of the body and thus tempt our souls with its sinful lusts (see note on v. 6; cf. 8:22–23; 1 Cor. 15:53; 1 Pet. 2:9–11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:13 present. Refers to a decision of the will. Before sin can have power over a believer, it must first pass through his will (cf. Phil. 2:12–13). members. The parts of the physical body, the headquarters from which sin operates in the believer (Rom. 7:18, 22–25; cf. 12:1; 1 Cor. 9:27). instruments for unrighteousness. Tools for accomplishing that which violates God's holy will and law.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:14 sin will have no dominion over you. Sin must be able to exercise control in our bodies or Paul's admonition becomes unnecessary (v. 13). But sin does not have to reign there; so the apostle expresses his confidence that those who are Christ's will not allow it to. not under law but under grace. This does not mean God has abrogated his moral law (3:31; cf. Matt. 5:17–19). The law is good, holy, and righteous (Rom. 7:12; cf. 1 Tim. 1:8), but it cannot be kept, so it curses. Since it cannot assist anyone to keep God's moral standard (cf. Rom. 7:7–11), it can only show the standard and thus rebuke and condemn those who fail to keep it. But the believer is no longer under the law as a condition of acceptance with God—an impossible condition to meet and one designed only to show man his sinfulness (see notes on 3:19–20; cf. Gal. 3:10–13)—but under grace, which enables him to truly fulfill the law’s righteous requirements (Rom. 7:6; 8:3–4). Chapter 7 is Paul’s complete commentary on this crucial expression.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:15–23 This section continues Paul’s discussion of sanctification by reminding his readers of their past slavery to sin and their new slavery to righteousness. He wants them to live in submission to their new master, Jesus Christ, and not to be entangled again with the sins that characterized their old life, sins which no longer have any claim over them.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:15 Are we to sin . . . ? Cf. 3:5–6, 8:6:1. not under law but under grace. See note on v. 14.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:17 standard of teaching . . . committed. In the Greek “standard” is a word for a mold such as a craftsman would use to cast molten metal. Paul’s point is that God pours his new children into the mold of divine truth (12:2; cf. Titus 2:1). New believers have an innate and compelling desire to know and obey God’s Word (1 Pet. 2:2).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:18 having been set free. See note on v. 2. slaves of righteousness. See v. 16.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:19 human terms . . . natural limitations. Paul’s use of the master/slave analogy was an accommodation to their humanness and their difficulty in grasping divine truth. your members. See note on v. 13. more lawlessness. Like a vicious animal, sin’s appetite only grows when it is fed (Gen. 4:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:22 set free from sin. See note on v. 2. have become slaves of God. Paul describes a doulos/slave salvation relationship to one’s kupios/Lord who redeemed him. The doulos word group (used over 160 times in the NT) should always be translated with the sense of “slave” and never “servant” or “bondservant,” which would be foreign to the first-century intent of doulos, which conveyed at least five comprehensive ideas: 1) absolute obedience (Matt. 8:5–9; Luke 7:2–10); 2) compulsory obedience (Luke 6:46); 3) consistent obedience (John 13:16); 4) exclusive obedience (Matt. 6:24); and 5) loyal obedience (Matt. 10:24; John 15:20). Doulos is always employed in the context of being owned by, belonging to, and being wholly subordinate to one's master. Christ is the supreme example, being both a slave (Phil. 2:7) and Lord (Phil. 2:11). The Lordship of Christ in authentic salvation (both inauguration and continuation) comes across clearly in texts such as Rom. 10:9 (see note there and Col. 2:6). The Savior possesses sovereign authority over those whom he has saved; the redeemed by virtue of their salvation are obliged to obey as those who have been bought with a price and therefore are not their own (Acts 20:28; 1 Cor. 6:19–20; 1 Pet. 1:17–19). sanctification. The benefit of being slaves to God is sanctification, the outcome of which is eternal life.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 6:23 This verse describes two inexorable absolutes: 1) spiritual death is the paycheck for every man's slavery to sin; and 2) eternal life is a free gift God gives undeserving sinners who believe in his Son (cf. Eph. 2:8–9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:1–8:4 Knowing that his readers—especially Jewish ones—would have many questions about how the law relates to their faith in Christ, Paul sets out to explain that relationship (he refers to the law 27 times in this passage). In a detailed explanation of what it means not to be under law, but under grace (6:14–15), Paul teaches that: 1) the law can no longer condemn a believer (7:1–6); 2) it convicts unbelievers (and believers) of sin (7:7–13); 3) it cannot deliver a believer from sin (7:14–25); and 4) believers who walk in the power of the Spirit can fulfill the law (8:1–4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:1 know the law. Lit., “those who know law.” Although Paul intends to include God's written law, he is not referring to any specific law code, but to a principle that is true of all law—Greek, Roman, Jewish, or biblical. binding. No matter how serious a criminal's offenses may be, he is no longer subject to prosecution and punishment after he dies.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:2–3 These two verses are not a complex allegory, but a simple analogy, using marriage law to illustrate the point Paul just made about law's jurisdiction (v. 1). This passage is not teaching that only the death of a spouse frees a Christian to remarry; it is not teaching about divorce and remarriage at all. Both Christ and Paul have fully addressed those issues elsewhere (cf. Matt. 5:31–32; 19:3–12; 1 Cor. 7:10–15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:3 The law that governs a married woman's actions no longer has any jurisdiction over her once her husband dies. Widows are free to marry again, and Paul even encourages younger ones to remarry as long as their potential mate is a believer (1 Cor. 7:39; 1 Tim. 5:14). Even the legitimately divorced can marry again (see notes on 1 Cor. 7:8–9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:4 Likewise. The logical conclusion or application of Paul’s brief argument (v v. 1–3) follows. have died. The Greek construction of this verb emphasizes two important points: 1) this death happened at a point in time, with results that are complete and final; and 2) someone else—in this case God himself—initiated this death (lit., “you also were made to die”). In response to faith in his Son, God makes the believing sinner forever dead to the condemnation and penalty of the law (cf. 8:1). through the body of Christ. Because, as the substitute for sinners, he suffered the penalty of death that the law demanded. belong to another. Just as the widow in Paul’s analogy (7:2–3) was freed to remarry, the believer has been freed from his hostile relationship to a law that condemned him, and can, therefore, be remarried—this time to Christ (cf. 2 Cor. 11:2; Eph. 5:24–27). fruit. A transformed life that manifests new attitudes (Gal. 5:22–23) and actions (John 15:1–2; Phil. 1:11; cf. 2 Cor. 5:21; Gal. 2:19–20; Eph. 2:10; see note on Rom. 1:13).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:5 flesh. Scripture uses this term in a non-moral sense to describe man’s physical being (John 1:14), and in a morally evil sense to describe man’s unredeemed humanness (see notes on Rom. 6:6; 8; Gal. 5; Eph. 2), i.e., that remnant of the old self which will remain with each believer until each receives his or her glorified body (Rom. 8:23). “In the flesh” here describes a person who is able to operate only in the sphere of fallen mankind—an unredeemed, unregenerate person (8:9). Although the believer can manifest some of the deeds of the flesh, he can never again be “in the flesh.” sinful passions. The overwhelming impulses to think and do evil, which characterize those who are “in the flesh” (Eph. 2:3). aroused by the law. The unbeliever’s rebellious nature is awakened when restrictions are placed on him and makes him want to do the very things the law forbids (see note on Rom. 7:8; cf. 1:32). members. See note on 6:13. fruit for death. The sinful passions at work in unbelievers produce a harvest of eternal death (see note on 5:12; cf. Gal. 6:7–8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:6 released from the law. Not freedom to do what God’s law forbids (6:1, 15; 8:4; cf. 3:31), but freedom from the spiritual liabilities and penalties of God’s law (see note on 7:4; cf. Gal. 3:13). Because we died in Christ when he died (see note on Rom. 6:2), the law with its condemnation and penalties no longer has jurisdiction over us (7:1–3). serve. This is the verb form of the word for “servant” (see note on 1:1), but here it is parallel to being slaves of righteousness (cf. 6:18–19, 22), emphasizing that this service is not voluntary. Not only is the believer able to do what is right, he will do what is right. new way of the Spirit. A new state of mind which the Spirit produces, characterized by a new desire and ability to keep the law of God (see note on 8:4). old way of the written code. The external, written law code that produced only hostility and condemnation.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:7 the law is sin? Paul wanted to make certain his readers did not conclude (from v v. 4–6) that the law itself was evil (cf. v. 12). I would not have known sin. The law reveals the divine standard, and as believers compare themselves against that standard, they can accurately identify sin, which is the failure to meet the standard. Paul uses the personal pronoun “I” throughout the rest of the chapter, using his own experience as an example of what is true of unredeemed mankind (v v. 7–12) and true of Christians (v v. 13–25). covet. Quoted from Ex. 20:17 and Deut. 5:21.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:8 opportunity through the commandment. The word “opportunity” describes a starting point or base of operations for an expedition. Sin uses the specific requirements of the law as a base of operations from which to launch its evil work. Confronted by God’s law, the sinner’s rebellious nature finds the forbidden thing more attractive, not because it is inherently attractive, but because it furnishes an opportunity to assert one’s self-will. sin lies dead. Not lifeless or nonexistent (see notes on 5:12–13), but dormant. When the law comes, sin becomes fully active and overwhelms the sinner.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:9 from the law. Not ignorance of or lack of concern for the law (cf. Phil. 3:6), but a purely external, imperfect conception of it. when the commandment came. When he began to understand the true requirements of God’s moral law at some point prior to his conversion. sin came alive. He realized his true condition as a desperately wicked sinner (cf. 1 Tim. 1:15). I died. He realized his deadness, spiritually; that all his religious credentials and accomplishments were rubbish (Phil. 3:7–8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:10 promised life. Theoretically, perfect obedience to the law could bring eternal life, and with it happiness and holiness. But no one except Christ has—or could—ever fully obey it (2 Cor. 5:21; see note on Rom. 10:5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:11 sin . . . deceived me. By leading him to expect life from his keeping of the law, when what he found was death (v. 10); and by convincing him that he is acceptable to God because of his own merit and good works.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:12 The fact that the law reveals, arouses, and condemns sin, bringing death to the sinner, does not mean that the law is evil (cf. v. 7). Rather the law is a perfect reflection of God’s holy character (cf. v v. 14, 16, 22; Ps. 19:7–11) and the standard for believers to please him.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:13 Did that which is good . . . bring death. Sin is the cause of spiritual death, not the good law. sin . . . might become sinful. An awareness of the true nature of sin and its deadly character, which brings the sinner to see his need of salvation—the very purpose God intended the law to serve (Gal. 3:19–22).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:14–25 Some interpret this chronicle of Paul’s inner conflict as describing his life before Christ. They point out that Paul describes the person as “sold under sin” (v. 14); as having “nothing good” in him (v. 18); and as a “wretched man” trapped in a “body of death” (v. 24). Those descriptions seem to contradict the way Paul describes the believer in ch. 6 (cf. v v. 2, 6–7, 11, 17–18, 22). However, it is correct to understand Paul here to be speaking about a believer. This person desires to obey God’s law and hates his sin (7:15, 19, 21); he is humble, recognizing that nothing good dwells in his humanness (v. 18); he sees sin in himself, but not as all that is there (vv. 17, 20–22); and he serves Jesus Christ with his mind (v. 25). Paul has already established that none of those attitudes ever describe the unsaved (cf. 1:18–21, 32; 3:10–20). Paul’s use of present tense verbs in 7:14–25 strongly supports the idea that he is describing his life currently as a Christian. For those reasons, it seems certain that ch. 7 describes a believer. However, of those who agree that this is a believer, there is still disagreement. Some see a carnal, fleshly Christian; others a legalistic Christian, frustrated by his feeble attempts in his own power to please God by keeping the Mosaic law. But the personal pronoun “I” refers to the apostle Paul, a standard of spiritual health and maturity. So, in v v. 14–25 Paul must be describing all Christians—even the most spiritual and mature—who, when they honestly evaluate themselves against the righteous standard of God’s law, realize how far short they fall. He does so in a series of four laments (v v. 14–17, 18–20, 21–23, 24, 25).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:14 the law is spiritual. I.e., it reflects God’s holy character.

flesh. This means earthbound, mortal, and still incarcerated in unredeemed humanness. Paul does not say he is still “in the flesh” (see note on 7:5), but the flesh is in him. sold under sin. Sin no longer controls the whole man (as with an unbeliever; cf. 6:6), but it does hold captive the believer’s members, or his fleshly body (7:23; cf. v. 18). Sin contaminates him and frustrates his inner desire to obey the will of God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:15 understand. This refers to knowledge that goes beyond the factual and includes the idea of an intimate relationship (cf. Gal. 4:9). By extension, this word was sometimes used to express approving or accepting (cf. 1 Cor. 8:3). That is its sense here, i.e., Paul found himself doing things he did not approve of.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:16 I agree with the law, that it is good. Paul’s new nature defends the divine standard—the perfectly righteous law is not responsible for his sin (v. 12). His new self longs to honor the law and keep it perfectly (v. 22).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:17 no longer I who do it. The Greek adverb for “no longer” signifies a complete and permanent change. Paul’s new inner self (see note on 6:6), the new “I,” no longer approved of the sin that was still residing in his flesh, like his old self did (cf. 7:22; Gal. 2:20), but rather, strongly disapproved. Many have misconstrued Paul’s comments as abdicating personal responsibility for his sin by embracing a form of Greek dualism (which would later spawn Gnosticism; see Introduction to 1 John). Dualism taught that the body is evil and the spirit is good, so its adherents sinned with impunity by claiming they were not responsible; their sin was entirely the product of their physical bodies, while their spirits remained untouched and unsullied. But the apostle has already acknowledged personal guilt for his sin (Rom. 7:14; cf. 1 John 1:10). sin that dwells within me. His sin does not flow out of his new redeemed innermost self (“I”), but from his unredeemed humanness, his flesh “within me” (Gal. 5:17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:18 nothing good dwells in me. The flesh serves as a base camp from which sin operates in the Christian’s life. It is not sinful inherently (see note on 6:6), but because of its fallenness, it is still subject to sin and is thoroughly contaminated. my flesh. The part of the believer’s present being that remains unredeemed (see notes on 6:6, 12; 7:5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:20 no longer I who do it, but sin. See note on v. 17.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:21 law. A reference to an inviolable spiritual principle.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:22 I delight in the law of God. The believer's justified, new inner self no longer sides with sin, but joyfully agrees with the law of God against sin (Ps. 1:2; 119:14, 47, 77, 105, 140; cf. 2 Cor. 4:16; Eph. 3:16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:23 another law. A corresponding spiritual principle to the one in v. 21. But this principle, which Paul identifies as “the law of sin,” operates in the members of his body—that is, his unredeemed and still sinful humanness (see note on 6:6)—waging war against his desire to obey God's law. law of my mind. Equivalent to the new inner self (2 Cor. 5:17; see notes on Rom. 6:6), which longs to obey the law of God (see notes on 7:21–22). Paul is not saying his mind is spiritual and his body is inherently evil (see note on v. 17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:24 Wretched man. In frustration and grief, Paul laments his sin (cf. Ps. 38:14; 130:1–5). A believer perceives his own sinfulness in direct proportion to how clearly he sees the holiness of God and perfection of his law. deliver. This word means “to rescue from danger” and was used of a soldier pulling his wounded comrade from the battlefield. Paul longed to be rescued from his sinful flesh (cf. Rom. 8:23). body of death. The believer's unredeemed humanness, which has its base of operations in the body (see notes on 6:6, 12; 7:5). Tradition says that an ancient tribe near Tarsus tied the corpse of a murder victim to its murderer, allowing its spreading decay to slowly infect and execute the murderer—perhaps that is the image Paul has in mind.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 7:25 The first half of this verse answers the question Paul just raised (v. 24)—he is certain that Christ will eventually rescue him when he returns (cf. 8:18, 23; 1 Cor. 15:52–53, 56–57; 2 Cor. 5:4). The second half summarizes the two sides of the struggle Paul has described (Rom. 7:14–24). I myself. Paul's new redeemed self (see note on 6:6). with my mind. See note on 7:23. my flesh. See notes on 6:6, 12; 7:5. law of sin. See note on 7:23.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:1 therefore. The result or consequence of the truth just taught. Normally it marks the conclusion of the verses immediately preceding it. But here it introduces the staggering results of Paul's teaching in the first seven chapters: that justification is by faith alone on the basis of God's overwhelming grace. no condemnation. Occurring only three times in the NT, all in Romans (cf. 5:16, 18), “condemnation” is used exclusively in judicial settings as the opposite of justification. It refers to a verdict of guilty and the penalty that verdict demands. No sin a believer can commit—past, present, or future—can be held against him, since the penalty was paid by Christ and righteousness was imputed to the believer. And no sin will ever reverse this divine legal decision (see note on 8:33). those . . . in Christ Jesus. I.e., every true Christian; to be in Christ means to be united with him (see notes on 6:2, 11; cf. 6:1–11; 1 Cor. 12:13, 27; 15:22).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:2–30 The Spirit, who was mentioned only once in chs. 1–7 (cf. 1:4), is referred to nearly 20 times in ch. 8. He frees us from sin and death (8:2–3); enables us to fulfill God’s law (v. 4); changes our nature and grants us strength for victory over our unredeemed flesh (v v. 5–13); confirms our adoption as God’s children (v v. 14–16); and guarantees our ultimate glory (v v. 17–30).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:2 The word “for” introduces the reason there is no condemnation for the believer; the Spirit has replaced the law that produced only sin and death (7:5, 13) with a new, simple law that produces life: the law of faith (3:27), or the message of the gospel. the law of the Spirit of life. Synonymous with the gospel, the law of faith. the law of sin and death. The law of God. Although it is good, holy, and righteous (7:12), because of the weakness of the flesh (see notes on 7:7–11; 8:3), it can produce only sin and death (7:5, 13).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:3 what the law . . . could not do. Deliver sinners from its penalty (Acts 13:38–39; Gal. 3:10) or make them righteous (Gal. 3:21). weakened by the flesh. Because of the sinful corruption of unregenerate men, the law was powerless to produce righteousness (Gal. 3:21). his own Son. See notes on Ps. 2:7; Gal. 4:4; Phil. 2:6–7; Heb. 1:1–5. in the likeness of sinful flesh. Although in his incarnation Christ became fully man (see note on Rom. 1:3), he took only the outward appearance of sinful flesh, because he was completely without sin (Heb. 4:15). condemned sin in the flesh. God’s condemnation against sin was fully poured out on the sinless flesh of Christ (Isa. 53:4–8; cf. Phil. 2:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:4 requirement of the law. The thoughts, words, and deeds which the moral law of God demands. The ceremonial aspect of the Mosaic law has been set aside (Col. 2:14–17), and the basic responsibility for the civil aspect, which shows the application of the moral law in a community, has been transferred to human government (Rom. 13:1–7). The moral law finds its basis in the character of God and is presented in outline form in the Ten Commandments; its most condensed form is in Jesus' commands to love God and to love one's neighbor as one's self. It has never been abrogated, but finds its authority in the New Covenant. Every unbeliever is still under its requirement of perfection and its condemnation, until he comes to Christ (Gal. 3:23–25), and every believer still finds in it the standard for behavior. fulfilled. Although the believer is no longer in bondage to the moral law's condemnation and penalty (Rom. 7:6), the law still reflects the moral character of God and his will for his creatures. But what the external, written code was unable to accomplish, the Spirit is able to do by writing the law on our hearts (Jer. 31:33–34) and giving us the power to obey it. who walk not according to the flesh but . . . the Spirit. Not an admonition, but a statement of fact that applies to all believers. "Walk" refers to a lifestyle, the habits of living and thinking that characterize a person's life (cf. Luke 1:6; Eph. 4:17; 1 John 1:7). Since every true Christian is indwelt by the Spirit (Rom. 8:9), every Christian will manifest the fruit he produces in his life (Gal. 5:22–23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:5 those who live according to the flesh. All unbelievers (see note on v. 4). set their minds. This Greek verb refers to a basic orientation of the mind—a mindset that includes one's affections, mental processes, and will (cf. Phil. 2:2, 5; 3:15, 19; Col. 3:2). Paul's point is that unbelievers' basic disposition is to satisfy the cravings of their unredeemed flesh (Phil. 3:19; 2 Pet. 2:10). those who live according to the Spirit. All believers (see note on Rom. 8:4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:6 set the mind on the flesh. This is a simple spiritual equation: The person with the mind set on the flesh is spiritually dead (cf. 1 Cor. 2:14; Eph. 2:1). set the mind on the Spirit. This describes every Christian. The person with his mind set on the things of the Spirit is very much spiritually alive and at peace with God (see note on Rom. 5:1; cf. Eph. 2:5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:7 hostile to God. The unbeliever's problem is much deeper than acts of disobedience, which are merely outward manifestations of inner fleshly compulsions. His basic inclinations and orientation toward gratifying himself—however outwardly religious or moral he may appear—are directly hostile to God. Even the good deeds unbelievers perform are not truly a fulfillment of God's law, because they are produced by the flesh, for selfish reasons, and from a heart that is in rebellion (see note on 5:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:8 in the flesh. See note on 7:5.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:9 dwells. Refers to being in one’s own home. The Spirit of God makes his home in every person who trusts in Jesus Christ. Cf. 1 Cor. 6:19–20 and 12:13. When there is no evidence of his presence by the fruit he produces (Gal. 5:22–23), a person has no legitimate claim to Christ as Savior and Lord.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:10 the body is dead because of sin. The body is unredeemed and dead in sin (see notes on 6:6, 12; 7:5; cf. 8:11, 23). the Spirit is life because of righteousness. The original manuscripts did not distinguish between capital and lowercase letters, so it is an interpretive decision to decide whether this is a reference to the Holy Spirit or to the human spirit. It seems best to translate the word “spirit” as the person’s spirit, not the Holy Spirit. Paul seems to be saying that if God’s Spirit indwells you (v. 9), the human spirit is alive (cf. Eph. 2:5) and can manifest true righteousness (cf. Rom. 8:4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:11 your mortal bodies. See note on 6:12; cf. 8:23.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:12 the flesh. Our unredeemed humanness—that complex of sinful passions that sin generates through its one remaining domain, our bodies (see notes on 6:6, 12; 7:5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:13 put to death the deeds of the body. Paul’s first instruction concerning what his readers must do in the struggle with sin destroys several false views of how believers are made holy: 1) that in a crisis-moment we are immediately made perfect; 2) that we must “let God” take over while we remain idle; and 3) that some turning-point decision will propel us to a higher level of holiness. Rather, the apostle says the Spirit provides us with the energy and power to continually and gradually be killing our sins, a process never completed in this life. The means the Spirit uses to accomplish this process is our faithful obedience to the simple commands of Scripture (see notes on Eph. 5:18; Col. 3:16; cf. Rom. 13:14; Ps. 1:2; 119:11; Luke 22:40; John 17:17; 1 Cor. 6:18; 9:25–27; 1 Pet. 2:11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:14 led by the Spirit. Believers are not led through subjective, mental impressions or promptings to provide direction in making life’s decisions—something Scripture nowhere teaches. Instead, God’s Spirit objectively leads his children sometimes through the orchestration of circumstances (Acts 16:7) but primarily through: 1) illumination, divinely clarifying Scripture to make it understandable to our sinful, finite minds (Luke 24:44–45; 1 Cor. 2:14–16; Eph. 1:17–19; cf. Eph. 3:16–19; Col. 1:9); and 2) sanctification, divinely enabling us to obey Scripture (Gal. 5:16–17, 25). sons of God. When a person experiences the Spirit's leading in those ways, he gains assurance that God has adopted him into his family (see notes on Rom. 8:15–17; 1 John 3:2; for other tests of true faith see Introduction to 1 John: Historical and Theological Themes).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:15 spirit of slavery . . . into fear. Because of their life of sin, unregenerate people are slaves to their fear of death (Heb. 2:14–15), and to their fear of final punishment (1 John 4:18). Spirit of adoption. Not primarily a reference to the transaction by which God adopts us (see notes on Eph. 1:5; Gal. 4:5–6), but to a Spirit-produced awareness of the rich reality that God has made us his children, and, therefore, that we can come before him without fear or hesitation as our beloved Father. It includes the confidence that we are truly sons of God. Abba! An informal, Aramaic term for Father that conveys a sense of intimacy. Like the English terms “Daddy” or “Papa,” it connotes tenderness, dependence, and a relationship free of fear or anxiety (cf. Mark 14:36).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:16 bears witness with our spirit. In Roman culture, for an adoption to be legally binding, seven reputable witnesses had to be present, attesting to its validity. God's Holy Spirit confirms the validity of our adoption, not by some inner, mystical voice, but by the fruit he produces in us (Gal. 5:22–23) and the power he provides for spiritual service (Acts 1:8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:17 heirs. Every believer has been made an heir of God, our Father (Matt. 25:34; Gal. 3:29; Eph. 1:11; Col. 1:12; 3:24; Heb. 6:12; 9:15; 1 Pet. 1:4). We will inherit eternal salvation (Titus 3:7), God himself (Lam. 3:24; cf. Ps. 73:25; Rev. 21:3), glory (Rom. 5:2), and everything in the universe (Heb. 1:2). Unlike the Jewish practice of the primacy of the firstborn son, under Roman law the inheritance was divided equally between the children, where the law more carefully protected possessions that had been inherited. fellow heirs. God has appointed his Son to be heir of all things (Heb. 1:2). Every adopted child will receive by divine grace the full inheritance Christ receives by divine right (cf. Matt. 25:21; John 17:22; 2 Cor. 8:9). provided we suffer with him. Proof of the believer's ultimate glory is that he suffers—whether it comes as mockery, ridicule, or physical persecution—because of his Lord (Matt. 5:10–12; John 15:18–21; 2 Cor. 4:17; 2 Tim. 3:12).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:18 glory . . . revealed to us. This looks forward to the resurrection of the body (v. 23) and the subsequent complete Christlikeness which is the believer's eternal glory. See Phil. 3:20–21; Col. 3:4; 1 John 3:2.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:19 the creation. This includes everything in the physical universe except human beings, whom he contrasts with this term (v v. 22–23). All creation is personified to be, as it were, longing for transformation from the curse and its effects. the revealing. Lit., “an uncovering,” or “an unveiling.” When Christ returns, God's children will share his glory. See note on v. 18.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:20 futility. This refers to the inability to achieve a goal or purpose. Because of man's sin, God cursed the physical universe (Gen. 3:17–19), and now, no part of creation entirely fulfills God's original purpose.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:21 set free. Cf. 2 Pet. 3:10 and Rev. 21:4–5.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:23 firstfruits of the Spirit. Just as the first pieces of produce to appear on a tree provide hope of a future harvest, the fruit which the Spirit produces in us now (Gal. 5:22–23) provides hope that we will one day be like Christ. groan. With grief over our remaining sinfulness (Rom. 7:24; cf. Ps. 38:4, 9, 10). adoption. The process that began with God's choice (Eph. 1:5) and included our actually becoming his children at salvation (Gal. 4:5–7) will culminate with our glorification—the full realization of our inheritance (see Rom. 8:29–30). redemption of our bodies. Not the physical body only, but all of man's remaining fallenness (see notes on 6:6, 12; 7:5; cf. 1 Cor. 15:35–44; Phil. 3:20–21; 2 Pet. 1:3–4; 1 John 3:2).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:24 hope. See note on 5:2.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:26 Likewise. As the creation (v. 22) and believers (v. 23) both groan for ultimate restoration, the Spirit does as well. groanings too deep for words. Divine articulations within the Trinity that cannot be expressed in words, but carry profound appeals for the welfare of every believer (cf. 1 Cor. 2:11). This work of the Holy Spirit parallels the high-priestly work of intercession by the Lord Jesus on behalf of believers (see Heb. 2:17–18; 4:14–16; 7:24–26).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:27 the mind of the Spirit. No words are necessary because the Father understands and agrees with what the Spirit thinks. See note on Jude 20.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:28 good. In his providence, God orchestrates every event in life—even suffering, temptation, and sin—to accomplish both our temporal and eternal benefit (cf. Deut. 8:15–16). called. Cf. Rom. 8:30; see note on 1:7. As always, in the NT epistles, this call is God’s effectual calling of his elect that brings them to salvation.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:29 foreknew. Not a reference simply to God’s omniscience—that in eternity past he knew who would come to Christ. Rather, it speaks of a predetermined choice to set his love on us and establish an intimate relationship—or his election (cf. Acts 2:23—an inviolable rule of Greek grammar, called the Granville Sharp rule, equates [pre]determination and “foreknowledge”; see notes on 1 Pet. 1:1–2, and cf. with Rom. 1:20—the term must be interpreted the same in both verses). See notes on election in 9:11–23. predestined. Lit., “to mark out, appoint, or determine beforehand.” Those God chooses, he destines for his chosen end—that is, likeness to his Son (see notes on Eph. 1:4, 5, 11).

conformed to the image of his Son. The goal of God’s predestined purpose for his own is that they would be made like Jesus Christ. This is the “prize of the upward call” (Phil. 3:14; cf. Eph. 4:13; Col. 1:28; Phil. 3:20–21; 1 John 3:2).

firstborn. The preeminent one, the only one who is the rightful heir (cf. Ps. 89:27; Col. 1:15–18; Rev. 1:5). Jesus Christ is the most notable one among those who have become “brothers” by being made like him.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:30 predestined. See note on v. 29. called. See note on 1:7. justified. See note on 3:24. glorified. Paul uses the past tense for a future event to stress its certainty (cf. 8:18, 21; 2 Tim. 2:10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:31–39 Paul closes his teaching about the believer’s security in Christ with a crescendo of questions and answers for the concerns his readers might still have. The result is an almost poetic expression of praise for God’s grace in bringing salvation to completion for all who are chosen and believe—a hymn of security.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:31 If God is for us. The Greek construction is better translated, “Since God is for us.”

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:32 Paul’s point is: Would God do less for his children than he did for his enemies? graciously give. This word means “to bestow out of grace.” Paul often uses it to denote forgiveness (2 Cor. 2:7, 10; 12:13; Col. 2:13; 3:13) and may intend that here. all things. Referring either to every sin the believer commits (if “graciously give” is translated “forgiveness”) or to whatever is necessary to complete the purpose he had in choosing us (Rom. 8:29–30; cf. Phil. 1:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:33–34 The setting of these verses is the divine courtroom.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:33 God’s elect. See notes on v v. 29–30. It is God who justifies. See note on 3:24. Who can successfully accuse someone whom God has declared righteous?

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:34 condemn. To declare guilty and sentence to punishment. There are four reasons believers can never be found guilty: 1) Christ’s death; 2) his resurrection; 3) his exalted position; and 4) his continual intercession for them. interceding. Cf. Isa. 53:12 and Heb. 7:25.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:35–39 This list of experiences and persons that can’t separate the believer from God’s love in Christ was not just theory to Paul. It was rather personal testimony from one who had personally survived assaults from these entities and emerged triumphant.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:35 the love of Christ. Not our love for Christ, but his love for us (John 13:1), specifically here as he demonstrated it in salvation (1 John 4:9–10). tribulation. See note on Rom. 5:3. Here the word probably refers to the kind of adversity common to all men. distress. This refers to being strictly confined in a narrow, difficult place or being helplessly hemmed in by one’s circumstances. persecution. Suffering inflicted on us by men because of our relationship with Christ (Matt. 5:10–12).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:36 This is a quotation from the lxx (the ancient Greek translation of the Hebrew OT) of Ps. 44:22.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:37 more than conquerors. A compound Greek word, which means to over-conquer, to conquer completely, without any real threat to personal life or health.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:38 angels. Fallen angels or demons (cf. Eph. 6:12; Col. 2:15; Jude 6). powers. The plural form of this common word for “power” is used to refer to either miracles or to persons in positions of authority.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 8:39 nor height nor depth. Common astronomical terms used to refer to the high and low points of a star’s path; nothing in life’s path, from beginning to end, can separate us from Christ's love. Possibly, Paul may intend to describe all of space from top to bottom. nor anything else in all creation. In case anything or anyone might be left out, this covers everything but the Creator himself. the love of God. Cf. 5:5–11.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:1 conscience. See note on 2:15. in the Holy Spirit. Only when the Spirit controls the conscience can it be trusted—but it remains imperfect and its warnings must always be evaluated against the word of God (cf. 1 Cor. 4:3–5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:3 accursed. The Greek word is anathema, which means “to devote to destruction in eternal hell” (cf. 1 Cor. 12:3; 16:22; Gal. 1:8–9). Although Paul understood the exchange he was suggesting was impossible (Rom. 8:38–39; John 10:28), it was still the sincere expression of his deep love for his fellow Jews (cf. Ex. 32:32).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:4 Israelites. The descendants of Abraham through Jacob, whose name God changed to Israel (Gen. 32:28). adoption. Not in the sense of providing salvation to every person born a Jew (see notes on Rom. 8:15–23; cf. 9:6), but sovereignly selecting an entire nation to receive his special calling, covenant, and blessing and to serve as his witness nation (Ex. 4:22; 19:6; Hos. 11:1; cf. Isa. 46:3–4). glory. The glory cloud (Shekinah) that pictured God's presence in the OT (Ex. 16:10; 24:16–17; 29:42–43; Lev. 9:23). His glory was supremely present in the Most Holy Place in both the tabernacle and the temple, which served as the throne room of Yahweh, Israel's King (Ex. 25:22; 40:34; 1 Kings 8:11). covenants. See note on Gen. 9:16. A covenant is a legally binding promise, agreement, or contract. Three times in the NT the word “covenants” is used in the plural (Gal. 4:24; Eph. 2:12). All but one of God's covenants with man are eternal and unilateral—that is, God promised to accomplish something based on his own character and not on the response or actions of the promised beneficiary. The six biblical covenants include: 1) the covenant with Noah (Gen. 9:8–17); 2) the covenant with Abraham (Gen. 12:1–3; see note on Rom. 4:13); 3) the covenant of law given through Moses at Sinai (Ex. 19–31; cf. Deut. 29–30); 4) the Priestly Covenant (Num. 25:10–13); 5) the covenant of an eternal kingdom through David's greatest Son (2 Sam. 7:8–16); and 6) the New Covenant (Jer. 31:31–34; Ezek. 37:26; cf. Heb. 8:6–13). All but the Mosaic Covenant are eternal and unilateral. It is neither, since Israel's sin abrogated it and it has been replaced by the New Covenant (cf. Heb. 8:7–13). worship. This refers to the entire sacrificial and ceremonial system that God revealed through Moses (cf. Ex. 29:43–46). promises. Probably this refers to the promised Messiah, who would come out of Israel, bringing eternal life and an eternal kingdom (cf. Acts 2:39; 13:32–34; 26:6; Gal. 3:16, 21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:5 patriarchs. The patriarchs Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, through whom the promises of the Messiah were fulfilled. Christ . . . God . . . blessed forever. This is not intended primarily as a benediction, but as an affirmation of the sovereignty and deity of Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:6 word of God. This refers specifically to the privileges and promises God had revealed to Israel (v. 4; cf. Isa. 55:11; Jer. 32:42). not all who are descended from Israel belong to Israel. Not all the physical descendants of Abraham are true heirs of the promise (see notes on Rom. 2:28–29).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:7 To illustrate the truth of v. 6, Paul reminds his readers that even the racial and national promises made to Abraham were not made to every physical descendant of his, but only to those who came through Isaac. Cf. Gen. 21:12. children. Only Isaac’s descendants could truly be called the children of Abraham, the inheritors of those racial and national promises (Gen. 17:19–21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:8 children of the flesh. Abraham’s other children by Hagar and Keturah were not chosen to receive the national promises made to him. children of God. Paul’s point is that just as not all of Abraham’s descendants belonged to the physical people of God—or national Israel—not all of those who are true children of Abraham through Isaac are the true spiritual people of God and enjoy the promises made to Abraham’s spiritual children (4:6, 11; cf. 11:3–4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:9 Quoted from Gen. 18:10.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:11 they. The twins Jacob and Esau. done nothing either good or bad. God’s choice of Jacob, instead of Esau, to continue the physical line was not based on his personal merit or demerit. God’s purpose of election. Rather, God’s choice of Jacob resides solely in his own sovereign plan, a perfect example of election unto salvation. God has chosen some Jews—and some Gentiles—but not all, for salvation. not because of works but because of him who calls. The fact that God made his choice of Jacob before the boys were born and apart from personal merit demonstrates that election unto spiritual life is unrelated to any human effort, and is based only on the prerogative of God who makes his selection (see note on 8:29; cf. 1 Cor. 1:9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:12 Quoted from Gen. 25:23.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:13 Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated. Quoted from Mal. 1:2–3. Actual emotional hatred for Esau and his offspring is not the point here. Malachi, who wrote this declaration more than 1,500 years after their death, was looking back at these two men—and by extension the nations (Israel and Edom) that came from their loins. God chose one for divine blessing and protection, and the other he left to divine judgment.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:14 Is there injustice on God’s part? Paul once again anticipates his readers’ objection to Paul’s theology: If God were to choose some people for salvation and pass over others apart from their merits or actions, that would make God arbitrary and unfair (cf. Gen. 18:25; Ps. 7:9; 48:10; 71:19; 119:137, 142; Jer. 9:23–24).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:15 Quoted from Ex. 33:19. In response to the accusation that such a teaching about God’s sovereign election is inconsistent with his fairness, Paul cites this text from the OT that clearly indicates that God is absolutely sovereign and does elect who will be saved without violating his other attributes. He determines who receives mercy.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:16 it. God’s gracious choice of certain people unto eternal life (see note on 8:29). human will. Salvation is not initiated by human choice—even faith is a gift of God (see note on 1:16; cf. John 6:37; Eph. 2:8–9). exertion. Salvation is not merited by human effort (see notes on Rom. 9:11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:17 Quoted from Ex. 9:16. This again (as Rom. 9:15) is an OT quote to prove that God does sovereignly choose who will serve his purposes and how. raised you up. Refers to bringing forward or lifting up and was often used to describe the rise of leaders and countries to positions of prominence (cf. Hab. 1:6; Zech. 11:16). Undoubtedly, Pharaoh thought his position and actions were of his own free choice to accomplish his own purposes, but in reality he was there to serve God’s purpose. my name. The sum of the character of God (cf. Ex. 34:5–7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:18 The mighty act of God in freeing Israel from the hand of Pharaoh demonstrated two corollary truths. Both Moses and Pharaoh were wicked sinners, even murderers, and were equally worthy of God's wrath and eternal punishment. But Moses received mercy while Pharaoh received God's judgment, because that was God's sovereign will (cf. 11:7; Josh. 11:18–20; 1 Thess. 5:9; 2 Pet. 2:12). hardens. The Greek word literally means to make something hard, but is often used figuratively to refer to making stubborn or obstinate. Ten times Exodus refers to God's hardening Pharaoh's heart (e.g., Rom. 4:21; 7:3, 13), and other times to Pharaoh's hardening his own heart (e.g., 8:32; 9:34). This does not mean that God actively created unbelief or some other evil in Pharaoh's heart (cf. James 1:13), but rather that he withdrew all the divine influences that ordinarily acted as a restraint to sin and allowed Pharaoh's wicked heart to pursue its sin unabated (cf. Rom. 1:24, 26, 28).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:19 Why does he still find fault? The objection is: How can God blame anyone for sin and unbelief when he has sovereignly determined that person's destiny?

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:20 who are you, O man, to answer back to God? The nature of Paul's reply makes it clear that he is not addressing those with honest questions about this difficult doctrine, but those who seek to use it to excuse their own sin and unbelief.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:20–21 Using the familiar OT analogy of the potter (cf. Isa. 64:6–8; Jer. 18:3–16), Paul argues that it is as irrational, and far more arrogant, for men to question God's choice of certain sinners for salvation, as for a piece of pottery to question the purposes of the potter.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:22–23 These verses are not intended to identify the origin of evil or explain fully why God has allowed it, but they do provide three reasons he has permitted its presence and contamination: 1) to demonstrate his wrath; 2) to make his power known; and 3) to put the riches of his glorious mercy on display. No one is treated unfairly: Some receive the justice they earn and deserve (6:23), others graciously receive mercy.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:22 What if. This introduces a statement of fact in the form of a rhetorical question. desiring. The Greek word speaks of divine intention, not passive resignation. endured. God could justly destroy sinners the first time they sin. But he patiently endures their rebellion rather than giving them what every sin immediately deserves: eternal punishment. See note on 2:4. vessels of wrath. Continuing the analogy of a potter, Paul refers to those whom God has not chosen for salvation, but rather allowed to incur the just penalty for their sin—God’s wrath (see note on 1:18). prepared for destruction. By their own rejection of him. God does not make men sinful, but he leaves them in the sin they have chosen (see note on 9:18).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:23 glory. The greatness of his character, seen especially in the grace, mercy, compassion, and forgiveness he grants sinners in Christ. vessels of mercy. Those he has chosen for salvation. he has prepared beforehand. Refers to divine election (see note on v. 29).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:25–33 Paul finishes his argument that Israel’s unbelief is not inconsistent with God’s plan of redemption by using the OT to show that her unbelief reflects exactly what the prophets recorded (v v. 25–29), and that it is consistent with God’s prerequisite of faith (v v. 30–33).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:25–26 Paul quotes Hos. 1:9–10 and 2:23. Hosea spoke of the ultimate restoration of Israel to God, but Paul’s emphasis is that restoration necessarily implies her present alienation from God. Therefore, Israel’s unbelief is consistent with the OT revelation.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:27–28 See Isa. 10:22–23. Isaiah prophesied that the southern kingdom of Judah would be conquered and scattered—temporarily rejected by God—because of her unbelief. Paul’s point is that the scattering Isaiah described was only a preview of Israel’s rejection of the Messiah and her subsequent destruction and scattering.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:29 See Isa. 1:9. Again, only a remnant of Israel will survive God’s wrath, solely because of his mercy. Lord of hosts. Cf. James 5:4. This OT title for God refers to his all-encompassing sovereignty.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:30–32 Paul concludes the lesson on God’s divine choice by reminding his readers that although God chooses some to receive his mercy, those who receive his judgment do so not because of something God has done to them, but because of their own unwillingness to believe the gospel (cf. 2 Thess. 2:10). Sinners are condemned for their personal sins, the supreme one being rejection of God and Christ (cf. Rom. 2:2–6, 9, 12; John 8:21–24; 16:8–11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:30 righteousness . . . by faith. Righteousness which comes from God on the basis of faith (see note on 1:17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:31 law . . . to righteousness. Righteousness earned by keeping the law (cf. 3:20; see note on 8:3).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:32 not . . . by faith. See notes on 3:21–24. works. By doing everything the law prescribed (cf. Gal. 2:16; 3:2, 5, 10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 9:33 See Isa. 8:14 and 28:16. Long before his coming, the OT prophets had predicted that Israel would reject her Messiah, illustrating again that her unbelief is perfectly consistent with the Scripture.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:1 prayer to God for them. Paul’s calling as an apostle to the Gentiles (11:13; Acts 9:15) did not diminish his continual entreaties to God (cf. 1 Tim. 2:1–3) for Israel to be saved (cf. Rom. 1:16; John 4:22; Acts 1:8), or his own evangelistic efforts toward Jews.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:2 zeal for God. Demonstrated by legalistic conformity to the law and fierce opposition to Judaism’s opponents (Acts 22:3; 26:4–5; Gal. 1:13–14; Phil. 3:5–6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:3 being ignorant of the righteousness of God. Ignorant both of God’s inherent righteousness revealed in the law and the rest of the OT (which should have shown the Jews their own unrighteousness) and of the righteousness which comes from him on the basis of faith (see note on 1:17). seeking . . . their own. Based on their conformity to God’s law and often to the less demanding standards of their own traditions (Mark 7:1–13).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:4 Christ is the end of the law. Although the Greek word translated “end” can mean either “fulfillment” or “termination,” this is not a reference to Christ’s having perfectly fulfilled the law through his teaching (Matt. 5:17–18) or through his sinless life (2 Cor. 5:21). Instead, as the second half of the verse shows, Paul means that belief in Christ as Lord and Savior ends the sinner’s futile quest for righteousness through his imperfect attempts to save himself by efforts to obey the law (cf. Rom. 3:20–22; Isa. 64:6; Col. 2:13–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:5 the righteousness that is based on the law. A righteous standing before God on the basis of obedience to the law. the person who does the commandments shall live by them. Quoted from Lev. 18:5. To hope for a righteousness based on obedience to the law requires perfect conformity in every detail (Gal. 3:10; James 2:10; cf. Deut. 27:26)—an utter impossibility.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:6–7 Paul speaks of the righteousness based on faith as if it were a person and puts in its mouth a quotation from Deut. 30:12–13. His point is that the righteousness of faith does not require some impossible odyssey through the universe to find Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:8 The word is near you. Quoted from Deut. 30:14. The journey of Rom. 10:6–7 is unnecessary because God has clearly revealed the way of salvation: It is by faith. word of faith. The message of faith is the way to God.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:9 confess . . . Jesus is Lord. Not a simple acknowledgment that he is God and the Lord of the universe, since even demons acknowledge that to be true (James 2:19). This is the deep personal conviction, without reservation, that Jesus is that person's own master or sovereign. This phrase includes repenting from sin, trusting in Jesus for salvation, and submitting to him as Lord. This is the volitional element of faith (see note on Rom. 1:16). believe in your heart. See note on 1:16. God raised him from the dead. Christ's resurrection was the supreme validation of his ministry (cf. John 2:18–21). Belief in it is necessary for salvation because it proved that Christ is who he claimed to be and that the Father had accepted his sacrifice in the place of sinners (Rom. 4:24; cf. Acts 13:32–33; 1 Pet. 1:3–4). Without the resurrection, there is no salvation (1 Cor. 15:14–17). See note on Rom. 1:4. will be saved. See note on 1:16.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:10 confesses. This Greek word basically means to say the same thing, or to be in agreement with someone. The person who confesses Jesus as Lord (v. 9) agrees with the Father's declaration that Jesus is Savior and Lord.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:11 Quoted from Isa. 28:16 and 49:23. This quotation not only demonstrates that salvation by grace through faith alone has always been God's salvation plan, but that no one—including Gentiles—was ever to be excluded (Rom. 1:16; 3:21–22; 2 Pet. 3:9; see also Jonah 3:5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:12 there is no distinction. Cf. 3:22–23; Gal. 3:28–29; Eph. 2:11–13; 3:4–6.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:13 Paul quoted Joel (Joel 2:32) to further emphasize that salvation is available for people of all nations and races. calls on the name. This familiar OT expression (e.g., Ps. 79:5–6; 105:1; 116:4–5) does not refer to some desperate cry to just any deity but to the one true God as he has revealed himself—a revelation which now includes recognition of Jesus as Lord (Rom. 10:9) and of the One who raised up Jesus from the dead (v. 9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:14–15 Paul's main point in this series of rhetorical questions is that a clear presentation of the gospel message must precede true saving faith. True faith always has content—the revealed word of God. Salvation comes to those who hear and believe the facts of the gospel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:15 beautiful are the feet of those who preach the good news! Quoted from Isa. 52:7. It is the message of good news which those feet carry that is so welcome.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:16 obeyed the gospel. The good news is not only a gracious offer but a command to believe and repent (1:4–6; 2:8; 6:17; Acts 6:7; 2 Thess. 1:7–8; Heb. 5:9). believed what he has heard. Quoted from Isa. 53:1. The report Isaiah described was of the substitutionary death of Christ (Isa. 53:5)—the good news of the gospel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:17 faith comes from hearing. See note on v v. 14–15. the word of Christ. This means “the message about Christ”—the gospel (cf. Matt. 28:19–20; Acts 20:21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:18 Paul cited this quotation from the lxx (the Greek translation of the Hebrew OT) version of Ps. 19:4 to show that even David understood that God’s revelation of himself has reached the entire earth (cf. Rom. 1:18–20; Jer. 29:13; Matt. 24:14; John 1:9; Col. 1:5–6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:19–21 Israel was ignorant of the salvation truth contained in her own Scriptures, including that the gospel would reach the Gentiles, as promised in Deut. 32:21 and Isa. 65:1–2.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:19 those who are not a nation. The Gentiles, who are not a part of Israel, God’s special, chosen nation.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:20–21 Quoted from Isa. 65:1–2.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 10:21 disobedient. Lit., “to contradict,” or “to speak against.” As throughout her history, Israel once again had contradicted the word of God—this time it was the truth of the gospel (cf. Matt. 21:33–41; Luke 14:21–24).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:1–36 In this section Paul answers the question that logically arises from 10:19–21: “Is God’s setting aside of Israel for rejecting Christ permanent?” At stake is whether God can be trusted to keep his unconditional promises to that nation (cf. Jer. 33:19–26).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:1 rejected. To thrust away from oneself. The form of the question in the Greek text expects a negative answer. Despite Israel's disobedience (9:1–13; 10:14–21), God has not rejected his people (cf. 1 Sam. 12:22; 1 Kings 6:13; Ps. 89:31–37; 94:14; Isa. 49:15; 54:1–10; Jer. 33:19–26). By no means! The strongest form of negation in Greek (see note on Rom. 6:2).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:2 whom he foreknew. See note on 8:29. Israel's disobedience does not nullify God's predetermined love relationship with her. Elijah. See note on 1 Kings 17:1.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:3 Quoted from 1 Kings 19:10.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:4 Quoted from 1 Kings 19:18. Baal. See note on 1 Kings 16:31–32; cf. Num. 22:41.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:5 a remnant. Although the nation had rejected Jesus, thousands of individual Jews had come to faith in him (cf. Acts 2:41; 4:4; 6:1). chosen by grace. God did not choose this remnant because of its foreseen faith, good works, spiritual worthiness, or racial descent, but solely because of his grace (cf. Deut. 7:7–8; Eph. 2:8–9; 2 Tim. 1:9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:6 by grace . . . no longer . . . of works. Human effort and God's grace are mutually exclusive ways to salvation (cf. 3:21–31; 4:1–11; 9:11; Gal. 2:16, 21; 3:11–12, 18; Titus 3:5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:7 Israel . . . was seeking. In spite of their intense religious zeal, the Jews of Paul's day had failed to obtain God's righteousness (9:31–32; 10:2–3). The elect. Those whom God graciously had chosen in turn sought and found his righteousness (see notes on 9:30; 10:4). were hardened. By a judicial act of God (cf. Ex. 4:21; 7:3; 9:12; 10:20, 27; 11:10; 14:4, 8, 17; Deut. 2:30; John 12:40), in response to their stubbornness or rebellion (cf. Ex. 8:15, 32; 9:34; 10:1; 2 Chron. 36:13; Ps. 95:8; Prov. 28:14; Matt. 19:8; Mark 3:5; Eph. 4:18; Heb. 3:8, 15; 4:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:8–10 These OT quotes both illustrate God's judicial hardening of unbelieving Israel, and show that what Paul is teaching is not in violation of or inconsistent with the OT.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:8 it is written. See note on 3:10. The first line was quoted from Isa. 29:10 and the last lines are adapted from Deut. 29:4.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:9 Adapted from Ps. 69:22–23. A person’s “table” was thought to be a place of safety, but the table of the ungodly is a trap. Many people trust in the very things that damn them.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:11 stumble . . . fall. The form of Paul’s question (see note on v. 1) and his strong response confirm that Israel’s blindness, hardening, and apostasy are not irreversible. their trespass. Israel’s rejection of Jesus Christ. salvation . . . to the Gentiles. Something the OT had long prophesied (cf. Gen. 12:3; Isa. 49:6; Matt. 8:11–12; 21:43; 22:1–14; Acts 13:46–47; 28:25–28). to make Israel jealous. God intends to use his offer of salvation to the despised Gentiles (see note on Acts 22:21–23) to draw the nation back to him (Rom. 11:25–27).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:12 riches for the world. The rich truths of salvation (Gen. 12:3; Isa. 49:6; cf. 2 Cor. 8:9). their failure. To acknowledge Jesus of Nazareth as their Messiah and be God’s witness nation resulted in the Gentile church being given that privilege. their full inclusion. Their future spiritual renewal (Rev. 7:4, 9; cf. Zech. 8:23; 12:10; 13:1; 14:9, 11, 16). Israel’s “trespass” and “failure” is temporary (Rom. 11:25–27).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:13 apostle to the Gentiles. See Acts 18:6; 22:21; 26:17–18; Eph. 3:8; 1 Tim. 2:7.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:14 make . . . jealous. See note on v. 11. my fellow Jews. His fellow Israelites (see note on 9:3).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:15 their rejection . . . reconciliation of the world . . . acceptance. See notes on v. 12. life from the dead. Not bodily resurrection, but the passing from spiritual death to spiritual life (John 5:24). This phrase also describes the future spiritual rebirth of Israel (cf. Rom. 11:25–27; Zech. 12:10; 13:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:16 firstfruits. The first portion of the harvest, which was to be given to the Lord (Ex. 23:19; 34:26; Lev. 2:12; 23:10; Num. 15:19–21; 18:12–13; Deut. 18:4). dough . . . is holy, so is the whole lump. Because the firstfruit offering represented the entire portion, the entire piece of dough could be said to be holy, set apart to God (cf. Ex. 31:15; Lev. 27:14, 30, 32; Josh. 6:19). root. The patriarchs Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. See note on Rom. 4:13. branches. The patriarchs’ descendants: the nation of Israel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:17–24 In this section, Paul sternly warns the Gentiles against pride and arrogance (cf. v v. 18, 20) because of Israel’s rejection and their being grafted in.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:17 branches were broken off. See Jer. 5:10; 11:16–17; Matt. 21:43. Some, but not all, of the branches of Israel (see note on Rom. 11:16) were removed; God always preserved a believing remnant (cf. v v. 3–4). a wild olive . . . grafted in. Olives were an important crop in the ancient world. Although trees often lived for hundreds of years, individual branches eventually stopped producing olives. When that happened, branches from younger trees were grafted in to restore productivity. Paul’s point is that the old, unproductive branches (Israel) were broken off and branches from a wild olive tree (Gentiles) were grafted in. nourishing root. Once grafted in, Gentiles partake of the richness of God’s covenant blessings as the spiritual heirs of Abraham (see notes on 4:11–12; Gal. 3:29). the olive tree. The place of divine blessing; God’s covenant of salvation made with Abraham (Gen. 12:1–3; 15:1–21; 17:1–27).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:18 do not be arrogant. There is no place in the church for spiritual pride, still less for anti-Semitism—we are the spiritual offspring of Abraham (4:11, 16; Gal. 3:29). branches. The unbelieving Jews who had been broken off. the root that supports you. Gentiles are not the source of blessing, but have been grafted into the covenant of salvation that God made with Abraham (cf. Gal. 3:6–9, 13, 14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:19 Branches. See note on v. 17. grafted in. See note on v. 17.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:20 unbelief . . . faith. Branches were broken off and others grafted in based solely on the issue of faith, not race, ethnicity, social or intellectual background, or external morality. Salvation is ever and always by faith alone (cf. 1:16–17; Eph. 2:8–9). fear. See 1 Cor. 10:12 and 2 Cor. 13:5. God will judge the apostate church (cf. Rev. 2:15–16; 3:16) just as surely as he judged apostate Israel.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:21 If Israel (the “natural branches”) was not spared despite being God’s covenant nation, why should Gentiles, strangers to God’s covenants ([Eph. 2:11–12; see note on \[Rom. 9:4\]\(#\)](#)), expect to be spared if they sin against the truth of the gospel?

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:22 Note then the kindness and the severity. All of God’s attributes work in harmony; there is no conflict between his goodness and love, and his justice and wrath. Those who accept his gracious offer of salvation experience his goodness (2:4); those who reject it experience his severity (2:5). those who have fallen. The unbelieving Jews described in 11:12–21. “Fallen” translates a Greek word meaning “to fall so as to be completely ruined.” Those who reject God’s offer of salvation bring upon themselves utter spiritual ruin. provided you continue. Genuine saving faith always perseveres (cf. John 8:31; 15:5–6; Col. 1:22–23; Heb. 3:12–14; 4:11; 1 John 2:19). cut off. God will deal swiftly and severely with those who reject him.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:23–24 In the future, Israel will repent of unbelief and embrace the Messiah (Zech. 12:10). In the terms of Paul’s analogy, God will at that time gladly graft the (believing) Jewish people back into the olive tree of his covenant blessings because it was theirs originally (Rom. 9:4)—unlike the wild branches (the Gentiles, cf. Eph. 2:11–12).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:25 mystery. This word is used to refer to NT truth previously not revealed (see notes on 1 Cor. 2:7; Eph. 3:2–6). This mystery has two components: 1) Israel has experienced a partial spiritual hardening, and 2) that hardening will last only for a divinely specified period of time. See note on Rom. 16:25. wise in your own sight. Another warning to the Gentiles against spiritual pride and arrogance (see notes on 11:17–24). partial hardening. The nation’s “hardening,” or blindness, does not extend to every individual Jew. Through all of history God has always preserved a believing remnant (see notes on v v. 5, 17). until the fullness of the Gentiles has come in. “Until” refers to a specific point in time; “fullness” refers to completion; “has come in” translates a Greek verb often used to speak of coming to salvation (cf. Matt. 5:20; Mark 9:43, 45, 47; John 3:5; Acts 14:22). Israel’s spiritual hardening (which began with rejecting Jesus as Messiah) will last until the complete number of elect Gentiles has come to salvation.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:26–27a Quoted from Isa. 59:20–21.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:26 all Israel. All the elect Jewish people alive at the end of the tribulation, not the believing remnant of Jews within the church during this church age (see notes on v v. 5, 17). Since the remnant has already embraced the truth of the gospel (see note on v. 25), it could not be in view here, since it no longer needs the salvation this verse promises. The Deliverer will come from

Zion. See Ps. 14:7; 53:6; Isa. 46:13. The Lord Jesus Christ's millennial rule will be associated with Mount Zion (see notes on Ps. 110:2; Heb. 12:22). Zion. See note on Rom. 9:33.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:27 covenant. The New Covenant (Isa. 59:21; Jer. 31:31–34). when I take away their sins. Quoted from Isa. 27:9. A necessary prerequisite for Israel's salvation (cf. Ezek. 36:25–29; Heb. 8:12).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:28 gospel . . . enemies. Israel's temporary situation during her time of spiritual hardening (see note on v. 25). as regards election. From the perspective of God's eternal choice, Israel will always be his covenant people (see note on v. 1). the sake of their forefathers. The patriarchs (Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob), recipients of the Abrahamic Covenant (Ex. 2:24; Lev. 26:42; 2 Kings 13:23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:29 the gifts . . . are irrevocable. See note on v. 1. God's sovereign election of Israel, like that of individual believers, is unconditional and unchangeable, because it is rooted in his immutable nature and expressed in the unilateral, eternal Abrahamic Covenant (see note on 9:4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:30–31 God will extend his grace to unbelieving Israel, just as he did to unbelieving Gentiles (cf. Rom. 5:8). Salvation, whether of Jews or Gentiles, flows from God's mercy (cf. 1 Tim. 1:12–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:32 Though not the author of sin (Ps. 5:4; Hab. 1:13; James 1:13), God allowed man to pursue his sinful inclinations so that he could receive glory by demonstrating his grace and mercy to disobedient sinners (cf. Eph. 2:2; 5:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:33–36 The majesty, grandeur, and wisdom of God's plan revealed in v. 1–32 caused Paul to burst out in praise. This doxology is a fitting response not only to God's future plans for Israel (chs. 9–11), but to Paul's entire discussion of justification by faith (chs. 1–11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:33 wisdom. See Ps. 104:24; Dan. 2:20; Eph. 3:10; Rev. 7:12. knowledge. God's omniscience (cf. 1 Sam. 2:3; 1 Kings 8:39; Ps. 44:21; 147:5). judgments. God's purposes or decrees, which are beyond human understanding (cf. Ps. 36:6). ways. The methods God chooses to accomplish his purposes (cf. Job 5:9; 9:10; 26:14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:34 Quoted from Isa. 40:13.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:35 Quoted from Job 41:11.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 11:36 See 1 Cor. 8:6; 15:28; Eph. 1:23; 4:6; Heb. 2:10. God is the source, the sustainer, and the rightful end of everything that exists.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:1–16:27 In these final five chapters, Paul explains in great detail how believers are to practically live out the rich theological truths of chs. 1–11. God has graciously given believers so much, that Paul exhorts them to respond in grateful obedience.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:1 therefore. This refers to the last refrain of Paul's doxology of praise in 11:36. Since all things are for God's glory, we must respond by offering ourselves for that purpose. appeal. This Greek word comes from a root which means "to call alongside to help." Jesus used a related word, often translated "comforter," in reference to the Holy Spirit (John 14:16, 26; 15:26; 16:7). This family of words later came to connote exhorting, encouraging, or counseling. Paul was speaking as a counselor to his readers, but his counsel carried the full weight of his apostleship. mercies of God. The gracious, extravagant, divine graces Paul expounded in the first 11 chapters, including God's love (Rom. 1:7; cf. 5:5; 8:35, 39), grace (1:6–7; 3:24; 5:2, 20–21; 6:15), righteousness (1:17; 3:21–22; 4:5–6, 22–24; 5:17, 19), and the gift of faith (1:5, 17; 3:22, 26; 4:5, 13; 5:1; 10:17; 12:3). present your bodies as a living sacrifice. Under the Old Covenant, God accepted the sacrifices of dead animals. But because of Christ's ultimate sacrifice, the OT sacrifices are no longer of any effect (Heb. 9:11–12). For those in Christ, the only acceptable worship is to offer themselves completely to the Lord. Under God's control, the believer's yet-unredeemed body (see notes on Rom. 6:6, 12; 7:5; cf. 8:11, 23) can and must be yielded to him as an instrument of righteousness (6:12–13; cf. 8:11–13). spiritual worship. In light of all the spiritual riches believers enjoy solely as the fruit of God's mercies (Rom. 11:33, 36), it logically follows that they owe God their highest form of service. Understood here is the idea of priestly, spiritual service, which was such an integral part of OT worship.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:2 Do not be conformed. "Conformed" refers to assuming an outward expression that does not reflect what is really inside, a kind of masquerade or act. The word's form implies that Paul's readers were already allowing this to happen and must stop. this world. Better translated "age," which refers to the system of beliefs, values—or the spirit of the age—at any time current in the world. This sum of contemporary thinking and values forms the moral atmosphere of our world and is always dominated by Satan (cf. 2 Cor. 4:4). transformed. The Greek word, from which the English word “metamorphosis” comes, connotes a change in outward appearance. Matthew uses the same word to describe the Transfiguration (Matt. 17:2). Just as Christ briefly and in a limited way displayed outwardly his inner, divine nature and glory at the Transfiguration, Christians should outwardly manifest their inner, redeemed natures, not once, however, but daily (cf. 2 Cor. 3:18; Eph. 5:18). renewal of your mind. That kind of transformation can occur only as the Holy Spirit changes our thinking through consistent study and meditation of Scripture (Ps. 119:11; cf. Col. 1:28; 3:10, 16; Phil. 4:8). The renewed mind is one saturated with and controlled by the word of God. good . . . acceptable . . . perfect. Holy living of which God approves. These words borrow from OT sacrificial language and describe a life that is morally and spiritually spotless, just as the sacrificial animals were to be (cf. Lev. 22:19–25).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:3 grace. The divine, undeserved favor that called Paul to be an apostle and gave him spiritual authority (Rom. 1:1–5; cf. 1 Cor. 3:10; Gal. 2:9) and also produced sincere humility (1 Tim. 1:12–14). sober judgment. The exercise of sound judgment, which will lead believers to recognize that in themselves they are nothing (cf. 1 Pet. 5:5), and will yield the fruit of humility (cf. 3 John 9). measure of faith. The correct proportion of the spiritual gift—or supernatural endowment and ability—the Holy Spirit gives each believer (see note on 1 Pet. 4:10) so he may fulfill his role in the body of Christ (1 Cor. 12:7, 11). “Faith” is not saving faith, but rather faithful stewardship, the kind and quantity required to use one’s own particular gift (cf. 1 Cor. 12:7, 11). Every believer receives the exact gift and resources he needs to fulfill his role in the body of Christ.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:4–8 One of two NT passages (cf. 1 Cor. 12:12–14) listing the general categories of spiritual gifts. The emphasis in each list is not on believers identifying their gift perfectly, but on faithfully using the unique enablement God has given each. The fact that the two lists differ clearly implies the gifts are like a palette of basic colors, from which God selects to blend a unique hue for each disciple’s life (see notes on Rom. 12:6–8; 1 Cor. 12:12–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:4 one body . . . many members. Just as in the natural body, God has sovereignly given the body of Christ a unified diversity (see note on 1 Cor. 12:14–20).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:5 in Christ. See notes on 8:1 and Eph. 1:3–14.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:6 gifts. See note on 12:3. according to the grace given. Undeserved and unmerited (see note on v. 3). The gift itself (1 Cor. 12:4), the specific way in which it is used (1 Cor. 12:5), and the spiritual results (1 Cor. 12:6) are all sovereignly chosen by the Spirit completely apart from personal merit (1 Cor. 12:11). prophecy. See note on 1 Cor. 12:10. This Greek word means “speaking forth” and does not necessarily include prediction of the future or any other mystical or supernatural aspects. Although some prophets in Acts did make predictions of future events (Acts 11:27–28; 21:10–11), others made no predictions but spoke the truth of God to encourage and strengthen their hearers (Acts 15:32; cf. 15:22–31). The evidence does suggest, however, that in the first century, before the NT was complete and the sign gifts had ceased (see note on 1 Cor. 13:8–10), this word may have had both non-revelatory and revelatory facets. In its non-revelatory sense, the word “prophecy” simply identifies the skill of public proclamation of the word of God (see notes on 1 Cor. 14:3, 24–25; 1 Pet. 4:11). in proportion to our faith. Lit., “the faith,” or the full revealed message or body of Christian faith (Jude 3; cf. 2 Tim. 4:2). The preacher must be careful to preach the same message the apostles delivered. Or, it could also refer to the believer’s personal understanding and insight regarding the gospel (see note on Rom. 12:3).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:7 service. From the same Greek word as “deacon,” “deaconess,” it refers to those who serve. This gift, similar to the gift of helps (1 Cor. 12:28), has broad application to include every kind of practical help (cf. Acts 20:35; 1 Cor. 12:28). teaching. The ability to interpret, clarify, systematize, and explain God’s truth clearly (cf. Acts 18:24–25; 2 Tim. 2:2). Pastors must have the gift of teaching (1 Tim. 3:2; Titus 1:9; cf. 1 Tim. 4:16), but many mature, qualified laymen also have this gift. This differs from preaching (prophecy), not in content, but in the unique skill for public proclamation (see note on Rom. 12:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:8 exhortation. The gift which enables a believer to effectively call others to obey and follow God’s truth (see note on v. 1). It may be used negatively to admonish and correct regarding sin (2 Tim. 4:2), or positively, to encourage, comfort, and strengthen struggling believers (cf. 2 Cor. 1:3–5; Heb. 10:24–25). contributes. This denotes the sacrificial sharing and giving of one's resources and self to meet the needs of others (cf. 2 Cor. 8:3–5, 9, 11; Eph. 4:28). generosity. Simplicity, single-mindedness, and openhearted giving. The believer who gives with a proper attitude does not do so for thanks and personal recognition, but to glorify God (cf. Matt. 6:2; Acts 2:44–45; 4:37–5:11; 2 Cor. 8:2–5). leads. Lit., “standing before.” Paul calls this gift “administrating” (1 Cor. 12:28), a word that means “to guide” and is used of the person who steers a ship (Acts 27:11; Rev. 18:17). In the NT, this word is used to describe only leadership in the home (1 Tim. 3:4–5, 12) and the church (1 Cor. 12:28; 1 Tim. 5:17; cf. Acts 27:11; Rev. 18:17). Again, the church's leaders must exercise this gift, but it is certainly not limited to them. does acts of mercy. One who actively shows sympathy and sensitivity to those in suffering and sorrow, and who has both the willingness and the resources to help lessen their afflictions. Frequently, this gift accompanies the gift of exhortation. cheerfulness. This attitude is crucial to ensure that the gift of mercy becomes a genuine help, not a discouraging commiseration with those who are suffering (cf. Prov. 14:21, 31; Luke 4:18–19).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:9–21 This passage provides a comprehensive and mandatory list of traits that characterize the Spirit-filled life (cf. John 15:8; Eph. 2:10). Paul presents these characteristics under four categories: 1) personal duties (Rom. 12:9); 2) family duties (v v. 10–13); 3) duties to others (v v. 14–16); and 4) duties to those who consider us enemies (v v. 17–21).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:9 love. The supreme NT virtue, which centers completely on the needs and welfare of the one loved and does whatever necessary to meet those needs (cf. Matt. 22:37–39; Gal. 5:22; 1 Pet. 4:8; 1 John 4:16; see notes on 1 Cor. 13). genuine. See note on Matt. 6:2. Christian love is to be shown purely and sincerely, without self-centeredness or guile.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:10 Love . . . with brotherly affection. To be devoted to other Christians with a family sort of love, not based on personal attraction or desirability (cf. 1 Thess. 4:9). This quality is the primary way the world can recognize us as followers of Christ (John 13:35; cf. 1 John 3:10, 17–19). Outdo . . . in showing honor. To show genuine appreciation and admiration for fellow believers by putting them first (Phil. 2:3).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:11 Whatever is worth doing in the Christian life is valuable enough to be done with enthusiasm and care (John 9:4; Gal. 6:10; Heb. 6:10–11; cf. Eccles. 9:10; 2 Thess. 3:13). Sloth and indifference not only prevent good, but allow evil to prosper (Prov. 18:9; Eph. 5:15–16). fervent in spirit.

Lit., “to boil in spirit.” This phrase suggests having plenty of heat to produce adequate, productive energy, but not so much heat that one goes out of control (cf. Acts 18:25; 1 Cor. 9:26; Gal. 6:9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:12 Rejoice in hope. Of Christ’s return and our ultimate redemption (see notes on 5:2; 8:19; cf. Matt. 25:21; 1 Cor. 15:58; 2 Tim. 4:8). patient in tribulation. See note on Rom. 5:3. constant in prayer. Cf. Acts 2:42; 1 Thess. 5:17; 1 Tim. 2:8.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:13 Contribute. From a Greek word that means commonality, partnership, or mutual sharing, which is often translated “fellowship,” and “communion” (Acts 2:42, 44; cf. 4:32; 1 Tim. 6:17–18). show hospitality. Lit., “pursuing the love of strangers” (Heb. 13:2)—not merely entertaining one’s friends. In NT times, travel was dangerous and inns were evil, scarce, and expensive. So the early believers often opened their homes to travelers, especially to fellow believers (2 Tim. 1:16–18; 3 John 5–8; cf. Luke 14:12–14; 1 Pet. 4:9). Church leaders should be role models of this virtue (Titus 1:8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:14 Bless those who persecute you. Treat enemies as if they were your friends (Luke 6:27–33; cf. Matt. 5:44; Luke 23:34; Acts 7:60; 1 Pet. 2:21–23).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:15 Rejoice . . . weep. To be glad in the blessings, honor, and welfare of others—no matter what one’s own situation (cf. 1 Cor. 12:26; 2 Cor. 2:3), and to be sensitive or compassionate to the hardships and sorrows of others (Col. 3:12; James 5:11; cf. Luke 19:41–44; John 11:35).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:16 Live in harmony with one another. To be impartial (see notes on 2:11; James 2:1–4, 9; cf. Acts 10:34; 1 Tim. 5:21; 1 Pet. 1:17). not be haughty. To be haughty with self-seeking pride (cf. Phil. 2:3). wise in your own sight. Christians are not to have conceit or feelings of superiority toward fellow believers (cf. Rom. 1:22).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:17 Repay no one evil for evil. The OT law of “eye for eye, tooth for tooth” was never intended to be applied by individuals in the OT or NT; but it was a standard for the collective society to use to enforce good conduct among people (1 Thess. 5:15; see note on Ex. 21:23–24; cf. Lev. 24:20; Deut. 19:21; 1 Pet. 3:8–9). give thought to do what is honorable. Christians are to respect what is intrinsically proper and honest and have the right behavior when they are around others, especially unbelievers.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:18 If possible. Although we should do everything possible to be at peace with others, it will not always come, because it also depends on others' attitudes and responses.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:19 wrath. Of God (see note on 1:18). Vengeance. Divine retribution as quoted from Deut. 32:35.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 12:20 heap burning coals on his head. Refers to an ancient Egyptian custom in which a person who wanted to show public contrition carried a pan of burning coals on his head. The coals represented the burning pain of his shame and guilt. When believers lovingly help their enemies, it should bring shame to such people for their hate and animosity (cf. Prov. 25:21–22).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:1 be subject. This Greek word was used of a soldier's absolute obedience to his superior officer. Scripture makes one exception to this command: when obedience to civil authority would require disobedience to God's word (Ex. 1:17; Dan. 3:16–18; 6:7, 10; see note on Acts 4:19). governing authorities. Every position of civil authority without regard to competency, morality, reasonableness, or any other caveat (1 Thess. 4:11–12; 1 Tim. 2:1–2; Titus 3:1–2). there is no authority except from God. Since he alone is the Sovereign ruler of the universe (Ps. 62:11; 103:19; 1 Tim. 6:15), he has instituted four authorities on earth: 1) the government over all citizens; 2) the church over all believers; 3) the parents over all children; and 4) the masters over all employees. instituted. Human government's authority derives from and is defined by God. He established human government to reward good and to restrain sin in an evil, fallen world.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:2 resists the authorities resists what God has appointed. Since all government is God-ordained, disobedience is rebellion against God. judgment. Not God's judgment, but punishment from the government for breaking the law (see note on v. 4).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:3 not a terror to good conduct, but to bad. Even the most wicked, godless governments act as a deterrent to crime. do what is good . . . receive his approval. Peaceful, law-abiding citizens need not fear the authorities. Few governments will harm those who obey their laws. In fact, governments usually commend such people.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:4 God’s servant for your good. By helping restrain evil and protecting life and property. Paul took advantage of his government’s role in promoting what is good when he exercised his rights as a Roman citizen to obtain justice (Acts 16:37; 22:25, 29; 25:11). bear the sword. This symbolizes the government’s right to inflict punishment on wrongdoers—especially capital punishment (Gen. 9:6; cf. Matt. 26:52; Acts 25:11). carries out . . . wrath. By means of the punishment inflicted by the civil authorities against wrongdoers.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:5 be in subjection. See note on v. 1. for the sake of conscience. Out of a sense of obligation to God and to keep a clear conscience before him (see note on 2 Cor. 1:12), not merely to avoid punishment from the civil authorities.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:6 because of this. Because God ordained human government and demands submission to it (v v. 1–5). taxes. The Greek word referred specifically to taxes paid by individuals, particularly those living in a conquered nation to their foreign rulers—which makes the tax even more onerous. That tax was usually a combined income and property tax. In this context, however, Paul uses the term in the broadest possible sense to speak of all kinds of taxes. Jesus explicitly taught that taxes are to be paid—even to the pagan Roman government (Matt. 22:17–21). He also set an example by willingly paying the temple tax (Matt. 17:24–27).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:7 Pay to all what is owed. “Pay” translates a Greek word signifying the payment of something owed—not a voluntary contribution—and is reinforced by the word “owed.” The apostle reiterates that paying taxes is mandatory (see note on v. 6). taxes. Tolls or taxes on goods. respect . . . honor. God demands that we show sincere respect and an attitude of genuine high esteem for all public officials.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:8 Owe no one anything. Not a prohibition against borrowing money, which Scripture permits and regulates (cf. Ex. 22:25; Lev. 25:35–37; Deut. 15:7–9; Neh. 5:7; Ps. 15:5; 37:21, 26; Ezek. 22:12; Matt. 5:42; Luke 6:34). Paul’s point is that all our financial obligations must be paid when they are due. See notes on Deut. 23:19–20 and 24:10–13. loves another. Believers are commanded to love not only other Christians (John 13:34–35; 1 Cor. 14:1; Phil. 1:9; Col. 3:14; 1 Thess. 4:9; 1 Tim. 2:15; Heb. 6:10; 1 Pet. 1:22;

4:8; 1 John 2:10; 3:23; 4:7, 21), but also non-Christians (Matt. 5:44; Luke 6:27, 35; cf. Luke 6:28, 34; Rom. 12:14, 20; Gal. 6:10; 1 Thess. 5:15). fulfilled the law. See note on Rom. 13:10.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:9 To demonstrate that love fulfills the law, Paul cites four of the Ten Commandments dealing with human relations and ties them in with an overarching OT command. He quotes Ex. 20:13–15, 17 (cf. Deut. 5:17–19, 21). summed up . . . love your neighbor as yourself. This command, quoting Lev. 19:18, encompasses all of God’s laws concerning human relationships (Matt. 22:39); if we truly love our neighbor (anyone with whom we have contact, cf. Luke 10:25–37), we will only do what is in his best interest (Rom. 13:10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:10 love is the fulfilling of the law. If we treat others with the same care that we have for ourselves, we will not violate any of God’s laws regarding interpersonal relationships (Matt. 7:12; James 2:8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:11 time. The Greek word views time not in terms of chronology, but as a period, era, or age (cf. 3:26; Matt. 16:3; Mark 1:15; Luke 21:8; Acts 1:7; 3:19; Rev. 1:3). sleep. Spiritual apathy and lethargy, i.e. unresponsiveness to the things of God. salvation. Not our justification, but the final feature of our redemption, glorification (see note on Rom. 8:23). is nearer. We will be glorified when Jesus returns (see note on 8:23), which draws closer with each passing day. The Bible frequently uses the return of Jesus Christ to motivate believers to holy living (2 Cor. 5:10; Titus 2:11–13; Heb. 10:24–25; James 5:7–8; 1 Pet. 4:7–11; 2 Pet. 3:11–14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:12 night. Of man’s depravity and Satan’s dominion (cf. 1 Thess. 5:4–5). day. Of Christ’s return and reign (cf. 1 Thess. 5:2–4). cast off. In light of Christ’s imminent return, Paul exhorts believers to repent of and forsake their sins (2 Pet. 3:14; 1 John 2:28; cf. Eph. 4:22; Col. 3:8–10; Heb. 12:1, 14; James 1:21; 1 Pet. 2:1; 4:1–3). the armor of light. The protection that practical righteousness provides (cf. Eph. 6:11–17).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:13 Let us walk properly. By living a life pleasing to God, manifesting in our outward behavior the inner reality of a redeemed life (cf. 6:4; 8:4; Luke 1:6; Gal. 5:16, 25; Eph. 2:10; 4:1, 17; 5:2, 8, 15; Phil. 1:27; 3:16–17; Col. 1:10; 2:6; 1 Thess. 2:12; 4:1, 12; 1 Pet. 2:12; 1 John 2:6; 2 John 4, 6). orgies. Wild parties, sexual orgies, brawls, riots (cf. Gal. 5:21; 1 Pet. 4:3).

sexual immorality and sensuality. Cf. 1 Cor. 6:18; Eph. 5:3; Col. 3:5; 1 Thess. 4:3; 2 Tim. 2:22. quarreling and jealousy. Closely associated iniquities (cf. 1 Cor. 3:3; 2 Cor. 12:20; Gal. 5:20; Phil. 1:15; 1 Tim. 6:4), since the former is often the result of the latter.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 13:14 But put on the Lord Jesus Christ. This phrase summarizes sanctification, the continuing spiritual process in which those who have been saved by faith are transformed into his image and likeness (cf. 2 Cor. 3:18; Gal. 4:19; Phil. 3:13–14; Col. 2:7; 1 John 3:2, 3). The image Paul uses to describe that process is taking off and putting on clothing, which is symbolic of thoughts and behavior. See notes on Eph. 4:20–24. no provision. This word has the basic meaning of planning ahead or forethought. Most sinful behavior results from wrong ideas and lustful desires we allow to linger in our minds (cf. James 1:14–15). the flesh. See note on Rom. 7:5. its desires. See Gal. 5:17 and Eph. 2:3.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:1–12 The diversity of the church displays Christ's power to bring together dissimilar people in genuine unity. Yet Satan often works on man's unredeemed flesh to create division and threaten that unity. The threat to unity Paul addresses in this passage arises when mature (strong) believers—both Jews and Gentiles—conflict with immature (weak) believers. The strong Jewish believers understood their freedom in Christ and realized the ceremonial requirements of the Mosaic law were no longer binding. The mature Gentiles understood that idols are not gods and, therefore, that they could eat meat that had been offered to them. But in both cases the weaker brothers' consciences were troubled, and they were even tempted to violate their consciences (a bad thing to train oneself to do). Knowing that the mature Jews and Gentiles would be able to understand these struggles, Paul addresses most of his comments to them.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:1 welcome. The Greek word refers to personal and willing acceptance of another. weak in faith. This characterizes those believers who are unable to let go of the religious ceremonies and rituals of their past. The weak Jewish believer had difficulty abandoning the rites and prohibitions of the Old Covenant; he felt compelled to adhere to dietary laws, observe the Sabbath, and offer sacrifices in the temple. The weak Gentile believer had been steeped in pagan idolatry and its rituals; he felt that any contact with anything remotely related to his past, including eating meat that had been offered to a pagan deity and then sold in the marketplace, tainted him with sin. Both had very sensitive consciences in these areas, and were not yet mature enough to be free of those convictions. Cf. 1 Cor. 8:1–13. quarrel over opinions. The mature believer should not sit in judgment on the sincere but underdeveloped thoughts that govern the weak believer's conduct.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:2 One . . . believes. The strong believer, whose mature faith allows him to exercise his freedom in Christ by eating the inexpensive meat sold at the pagan meat markets—inexpensive because a worshiper had first offered it as a sacrifice to a pagan deity (see notes on 1 Cor. 8:1–13). only vegetables. The strict diet weak Jewish and Gentile believers ate to avoid eating meat that was unclean or may have been sacrificed to idols.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:3 despise . . . pass judgment. To “despise” is to consider someone as worthless. “pass judgment” is equally strong and means “to condemn.” Paul uses them synonymously: The strong hold the weak in contempt as legalistic and self-righteous; the weak judge the strong to be irresponsible at best and perhaps depraved.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:4 before his own master that he stands or falls. How Christ evaluates each believer is what matters, and his judgment does not take into account religious tradition or personal preference (cf. 8:33–34; 1 Cor. 4:3–5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:5 esteems one day. Though it was no longer required by God, the weak Jewish believer felt compelled to observe the Sabbath and other special days associated with Judaism (cf. Gal. 4:9–10; see notes on Col. 2:16–17). On the other hand, the weak Gentile wanted to separate himself from the special days of festivities associated with his former paganism because of its immorality and idolatry. esteems all days alike. The mature believers were unaffected by those concerns. Each . . . should be fully convinced. Each Christian must follow the dictates of his own conscience in matters not specifically commanded or prohibited in Scripture. Since conscience is a God-given mechanism to warn, and responds to the highest standard of moral law in the mind (Rom. 2:14–15), it is not sensible to train yourself to ignore it. Rather, respond to its compunctions and as you mature, by learning more, your mind will not alert it to those things which are not essential.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:6 The strong believer eats whatever he pleases and thanks the Lord. The weak brother eats according to his ceremonial diet and thanks the Lord that he made a sacrifice on his behalf. In either case, the believer thanks the Lord, so the motive is the same. of the Lord. Whether weak or strong, the motive behind a believer's decisions about issues of conscience must be to please the Lord.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:7 lives to himself . . . dies to himself. The focus of Christian living is never oneself—everything we do should be to please our Sovereign Lord (cf. 1 Cor. 6:20; 10:31).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:9 Lord both of the dead and of the living. Christ died not only to free us from sin, but to enslave us to himself (6:22); to establish himself as Sovereign over the saints in his presence and those still on earth (cf. Phil. 2:11; 1 Tim. 6:15; Rev. 17:14; 19:16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:10 pass judgment . . . despise. See note on v. 3. your brother. A fellow believer in Christ. the judgment seat of God. See notes on 1 Cor. 3:13–15. Every believer will give an account of himself, and the Lord will judge the decisions he made—including those concerning issues of conscience. That verdict is the only one that matters (see notes on 1 Cor. 4:1–5; 2 Cor. 5:9–10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:11 it is written. Paul quotes Isa. 45:23 and 49:18 (cf. Phil. 2:10–11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:13 pass judgment. See note on v. 3. but rather decide. The same Greek word translated “pass judgment” (14:3, 10, 13) is here translated “rather decide.” In v. 3, 10, 13a the meaning is negative: to condemn. In v. 13b, the meaning is positive: to determine or make a careful decision. The point of Paul's play on words is that instead of passing judgment on their brothers, they should use their best judgment to help fellow believers. stumbling block. Anything a believer does—even though Scripture may permit it—that causes another to fall into sin (1 Cor. 8:9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:14 I know and am persuaded in the Lord Jesus. This truth was not the product of Paul's own thinking or the teaching of others, but of divine revelation (cf. Gal. 1:12). See note on 1 Cor. 7:12. nothing is unclean in itself. See note on Acts 10:15; cf. Mark 7:15; 1 Tim. 4:3–5; Titus 1:15. unclean. The Greek word originally meant “common” but came to mean “impure” or “evil” (see note on Acts 10:14). anyone who thinks it unclean. If a believer is convinced a certain behavior is sin—even if his assessment is wrong—he should never do it. If he does, he will violate his conscience, experience guilt (cf. 1 Cor. 8:4–7; see note on Rom. 2:15), and perhaps be driven back into deeper legalism instead of moving toward freedom (see note on 14:5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:15 grieved. The Greek word refers to causing pain or distress. A weak believer may be hurt when he sees a brother do something he believes is sinful. But still worse, the strong believer may cause his weaker brother to violate his own conscience (cf. 1 Cor. 8:8–13). love. See notes on 1 Cor. 13:1–13. Love will ensure that the strong Christian is sensitive and understanding of his brother’s weaknesses (1 Cor. 8:8–13). destroy. This refers to complete devastation. In the NT, it is often used to indicate eternal damnation (Matt. 10:28; Luke 13:3; John 3:16; Rom. 2:12). In this context, however, it refers to a serious devastation of one’s spiritual growth (cf. Matt. 18:3, 6, 14). one for whom Christ died. Any Christian (cf. 1 Cor. 8:11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:16 good. The rightful exercise of one’s Christian liberty (cf. 1 Cor. 10:23–32). spoken of as evil. To blaspheme. When unbelievers see a strong Christian abusing his freedom in Christ and harming a weaker brother, they will conclude that Christianity is filled with unloving people, which reflects badly on God’s reputation (cf. Rom. 2:24).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:17 kingdom of God. The sphere of salvation where God rules in the hearts of those he has saved (see notes on Acts 1:3; 1 Cor. 6:9). eating and drinking. Non-essentials and external observances. righteousness. Holy, obedient living (cf. Eph. 6:14; Phil. 1:11). peace. The loving tranquillity, produced by the Spirit, that should characterize believers’ relationships with God and each other (Gal. 5:22). joy in the Holy Spirit. Another part of the Spirit’s fruit, this describes an abiding attitude of praise and thanksgiving regardless of circumstances, which flows from one’s confidence in God’s sovereignty (Gal. 5:22; 1 Thess. 1:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:18 approved by men. This refers to approving something after a careful examination, like a jeweler inspecting a stone to determine its quality and value. Christians are under the microscope of a skeptical world that is assessing how they live with and treat each other (cf. John 13:35; Phil. 2:15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:20 work of God. A fellow Christian who has been redeemed by the efforts of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, not his own (cf. v.

15; Eph. 2:10). Everything . . . clean. The discretionary liberties which God has given to believers and are good in themselves (cf. Rom. 14:14, 16). stumble by what he eats. One who uses those God-given liberties carelessly and selfishly, offending his weaker brother.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:21 stumble. See note on v. 13.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:22–23 The strongest Christian can bring harm to himself in the area of Christian liberty by denouncing or belittling the freedom God has given him (Gal. 5:1), or by carelessly flaunting his liberty without regard for how that might affect others (cf. 1 Cor. 10:23–32).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:22 faith that you have, keep between yourself and God. Paul urges the strong believer to understand his liberty, enjoy it, and keep it between God and himself. what he approves. The strong believer maintains a healthy conscience because he does not give a weak believer a cause to stumble.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 14:23 whoever has doubts is condemned. When the weak brother violates his conscience, he sins. whatever does not proceed from faith. The thoughts and actions that our conscience condemns.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:1 We who are strong. See notes on 14:1–13. to bear. The word means “to pick up and carry a weight.” It is used of carrying a pitcher of water (Mark 14:13), of carrying a man (Acts 21:35), and figuratively of bearing an obligation (Acts 15:10). The strong are not to simply tolerate the weaknesses of their weaker brothers; they are to help the weak shoulder their burdens by showing loving and practical consideration for them (Gal. 6:2; cf. 1 Cor. 9:19–22; Phil. 2:2–4). failings. See note on Rom. 14:1.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:2 build him up. To build up and strengthen. This is essentially the same appeal Paul made earlier (14:19), only with the additional qualification of self-sacrifice (1 Cor. 10:23–24; cf. Phil. 2:2–5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:3 Christ did not please himself. His ultimate purpose was to please God and accomplish his will (John 4:34; 5:30; 6:38; 8:25, 27–29; Phil. 2:6–8). it is written. Quoted from Ps. 69:9. The reproaches . . . fell on me. “Reproaches” refers to slander, false accusations, and insults. Men hate God, and they manifested that same hate toward the One he sent to reveal himself (cf. John 1:10, 11, 18).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:4 whatever was written in former days. The divinely revealed OT. written for our instruction. Although Christians live under the New Covenant and are not under the authority of the Old Covenant, God’s moral law has not changed and all Scripture is of spiritual benefit (1 Cor. 10:6, 10–11; 2 Pet. 1:20–21). Paul’s description of the benefits of Scripture certainly includes the NT, but speaks primarily about “the sacred writings”—or the OT (2 Tim. 3:15–17). endurance. See note on Rom. 5:3. encouragement. The word of God not only informs believers how to endure, but it also encourages them in the process. hope. See note on 5:2. Without the clear and certain promises of the word of God, the believer has no basis for hope (cf. Ps. 119:81, 114; Eph. 2:12; Jer. 14:8).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:5 live in such harmony with one another. Paul urges the strong and the weak (see notes on 14:1–13), despite their differing views on these non-essential issues, to pursue loving, spiritual harmony in regard to matters on which the Bible is silent.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:5–6 in accord . . . one voice. Our unity should be both real (“accord”) and apparent (“one voice”). But the consummate purpose of unity is not to please other believers but to glorify God. God and Father. This expression emphasizes the deity of Christ. Jesus is not an adopted son of God; he is of the same essential being and nature as God. This is such an important connection that it appears frequently in the NT (2 Cor. 1:3; 11:31; Eph. 1:3; Col. 1:3; 1 Pet. 1:3).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:7 welcome. See note on 14:1. as Christ . . . welcomed you. If the perfect, sinless Son of God was willing to bring sinners into God’s family, how much more should forgiven believers be willing to warmly embrace and accept each other in spite of their disagreements over issues of conscience (Matt. 10:24; 11:29; Eph. 4:32–5:2).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:8 a servant to the circumcised. Jesus was born a Jew (see note on Matt. 1:1), and as a child, he was circumcised and identified physically with the sign of the covenant (see notes on Rom. 4:11; Gen. 17:11–14). promises given to the patriarchs. The covenant with Abraham that God reiterated to both Isaac and Jacob (see note on Rom. 4:13).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:9–12 To show that God’s plan has always been to bring Jew and Gentile alike into his kingdom and to soften the prejudice of Christian Jews against their Gentile brothers, Paul quotes from the Law, the Prophets, and twice from the Psalms—all the recognized divisions of the OT—proving God’s plan from their own Scriptures.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:9 that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy. Because he extended his grace and mercy to a people outside the covenant (see notes on 10:11–21; 11:11–18). it is written. Quoted from 2 Sam. 22:50 and Ps. 18:49. The psalmist sings praise to God among the nations, which alludes to Gentile salvation.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:10 Quoted from Deut. 32:43.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:11 Quoted from Ps. 117:1.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:12 Quoted from Isa. 11:10. root of Jesse. A way of referring to Jesus as the descendant of David, and thus of David’s father Jesse (see note on Rev. 5:5).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:13 God of hope. God is the source of eternal hope, life, and salvation, and he is the object of hope for every believer (see note on 5:2). by the power of the Holy Spirit. The believer’s hope comes through the Scripture (cf. 15:4; Eph. 1:13–14), which was written and is applied to every believing heart by the Holy Spirit.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:14–22 Not wanting to jeopardize his relationship with the believers in Rome by seeming to be insensitive, presumptuous, or unloving, Paul sets out to explain how he could write such a forthright letter to a church he did not found and had never visited.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:14 goodness. High moral character. The believers in Rome hated evil and loved righteousness, attitudes their lives clearly displayed. knowledge. Refers to deep, intimate knowledge indicating that the Roman believers were doctrinally sound (Col. 2:2–3), illustrating the fact that truth and virtue are inseparable (cf. 1 Tim. 1:19). instruct. To encourage, warn, or advise—a comprehensive term for preaching (1 Cor. 14:3) and personal counseling (see note on Rom. 12:1). Every believer is responsible to encourage and strengthen other believers with God’s word and is divinely equipped to do so (2 Tim. 3:16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:15 way of reminder. In spite of their spiritual strength, these Christians needed to be reminded of truths they already knew but could easily neglect or even forget (cf. 1 Tim. 4:6; 2 Tim. 2:8–14; Titus 3:1).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:16 minister. “Minister” was a general Greek term used of public officials. But in the NT it is used most often of those who serve God in some form of public worship (e.g., Phil. 2:17; Heb. 1:7, 14; 8:1–2, 6), including that of a priest (Luke 1:23). to the Gentiles. Although Paul’s practice was always to present the gospel to the Jews first in every city he visited (see note on Acts 13:5), his primary apostolic calling was to the Gentiles (Rom. 11:13; Acts 9:15). the offering. Having referred to himself as a minister, a word with priestly overtones, Paul explains that his priestly ministry is to present to God an offering of a multitude of Gentile converts.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:17 be proud. Paul never boasted in his accomplishments as an apostle, but only in what Christ had accomplished through him (1 Cor. 1:27–29, 31; 2 Cor. 10:13–17; 12:5, 9; Gal. 6:14; 1 Tim. 1:12–16).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:19 signs and wonders. See notes on Acts 2:19; 2 Cor. 12:12. God used them to authenticate true preaching and teaching. Illyricum. The region that roughly corresponds to former Yugoslavia and current northern Albania. In Paul’s day, this area was more commonly known as Dalmatia (2 Tim. 4:10). Jerusalem to Illyricum covered some 1,400 miles.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:20 gospel. See note on 1:1. someone else’s foundation. Paul’s goal was to reach those who had never heard the gospel—the primary function of a NT evangelist (Eph. 4:11). But for pastor-teachers, building on the foundation laid by such an evangelist is the crucial part of their ministry (cf. 1 Cor. 3:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:21 it is written. Quoted from Isa. 52:15; see note on Rom. 3:10. The OT quotation refers primarily to Christ’s second coming, but in its broader application it refers to the process of evangelism that began in Paul’s day and continues throughout church history until Christ returns.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:22 hindered from coming. The form of this Greek verb indicates an ongoing problem, and that something external created the hindrance. Paul was providentially being prevented by God from going to Rome (cf. Acts 16:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:23–24 Careful and sensible planning does not demonstrate a lack of trust in God’s providence. But plans must always be subject to the Lord’s control and alteration—just as Paul’s were (cf. Prov. 16:9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:23 no longer have any room. Paul believed he had covered the region with the gospel sufficiently and could move on to other areas. I have longed . . . to come to you. See notes on 1:10–13.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:24 Spain. The city and region referred to in the OT as Tarshish (1 Kings 10:22; Jonah 1:3), located on the far western end of the European continent. It had become a major center of commerce and culture, made accessible by the vast network of Roman roads. Its most famous ancient son was Seneca, the philosopher and statesman who tutored Nero and served as prime minister of the Empire. helped on my journey there by you. Paul hoped the church at Rome would supply him with an escort and supplies to make the journey to Spain.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:25 bringing aid. See note on Acts 6:2.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:26 Macedonia and Achaia. See notes on Acts 16:9; 1 Thess. 1:7. Paul ministered in these regions during his first and second missionary journeys. contribution. The Greek word carries the basic idea of sharing and is usually translated “fellowship” or “communion.” The context indicates that here it is the sharing of a financial gift to help support the poor in Jerusalem (1 Cor. 16:1; 2 Cor. 8:2–4; Gal. 2:9–10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:27 their spiritual blessings. The “blessings” were gospel truths first preached to the Gentile believers by the Jewish apostles, prophets, teachers, and evangelists.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:28 what has been collected. The financial gift for the Jerusalem church; the fruit of their genuine love and gratitude. Spain. See note on 15:24.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:30 the love of the Spirit. This phrase occurs only here in Scripture and refers to Paul’s love for the Holy Spirit, not the Spirit’s love for him (cf. Ps. 143:10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:30–31 prayers . . . that I may be delivered. Many Jews in Judea rejected the gospel and were prepared to attack Paul when he returned. Aware of the trouble that awaited him (Acts 20:22–24), he wanted the Roman Christians to pray for his deliverance only so he could complete the ministry the Lord had given him. Their prayers were answered in that he met with success in Jerusalem (Acts 21:17, 19, 20) and was delivered from death, but not imprisonment (Acts 21:10–11; 23:11).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:31 may be acceptable. Paul wanted the Jewish Christians in Jerusalem to receive the financial gift from the Gentiles with loving gratitude, recognizing it as a gesture of brotherly love and kindness.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:32 God’s will. See note on 1:10. be refreshed in your company. Paul eventually found the joy and rest he was looking for (Acts 28:15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 15:33 the God of peace. Just as he is the God of hope (see note on v. 13), God is also the source of true peace (cf. Eph. 2:11–14; Phil. 4:7).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:1–27 This chapter, which has almost no explicit teaching and contains several lists of mostly unknown people, is the most extensive and intimate expression of Paul’s love and affection for other believers and coworkers found anywhere in his NT letters. It also provides insights into the lives of ordinary first-century Christians and gives an inside look at the nature and character of the early church.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:1 Phoebe. Means “bright and radiant,” which aptly fits Paul’s brief description of her personality and Christian character. servant. The term from which we get “deacon” and “deaconess” (see notes on 1 Tim. 3:10, 11, 12). In the early church, women servants cared for sick believers, the poor, strangers, and those in prison. They instructed the women and children (cf. Titus 2:3–5). Whether Phoebe had an official title or not, she had the great responsibility of delivering this letter to the Roman church. When they had served faithfully and become widowed and destitute, such women were to be cared for by the church (see notes on 1 Tim. 5:3–16). Cenchreae. A neighboring port city of Corinth, where Paul wrote Romans. The church in Cenchreae was probably planted by the Corinthian church.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:3 Prisca and Aquila. See notes on Acts 18:1–3.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:4 who risked their necks for my life. Probably at Corinth or Ephesus, but the details are not known.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:5 Epaenetus. Probably saved through Paul’s preaching and lovingly disciplined by the apostle. first convert. See note on 1:13. He was the first convert in Asia Minor (modern Turkey).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:6 Mary, who has worked hard for you. “Worked hard” connotes hard labor to the point of exhaustion. The context suggests she might have ministered in the church at Rome since its founding and been mentioned to Paul by others (possibly Prisca and Aquila). But nothing more is known of her.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:7 Andronicus and Junia. Perhaps a married couple, since “Junia” can be a woman’s name. fellow prisoners. Probably a reference to their actually sharing the same cell or adjacent cells at some point. well known to the apostles. Their ministry with Paul, and perhaps with Peter and some of the other apostles in Jerusalem before Paul was converted, was well known and appreciated by the apostles.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:8 Ampliatus. A common name among the emperor’s household slaves at that time; he may have been one of those in “Caesar’s household” (Phil. 4:22).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:9 Stachys. An uncommon Greek name meaning “ear of corn.” He was obviously close to Paul, but the details are unknown.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:10 Aristobulus. Since Paul does not greet him personally, he was probably not a believer, although some relatives and household servants apparently were. One noted biblical scholar believes that he was the brother of Herod Agrippa I and the grandson of Herod the Great.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:11 Herodion. Related to the Herod family, and so perhaps associated with the household of Aristobulus. my kinsman. He may have been one of Paul’s Jewish relatives. Narcissus. See note on 16:10. Some scholars believe that this was the Emperor Claudius’s secretary. If so, two households within the palace had Christians in them (cf. Phil. 4:22).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:12 Tryphaena and Tryphosa. Possibly twin sisters, whose names mean “delicate” and “dainty.” Persis. Named after her native Persia; since her work is spoken of in the past tense, she was probably older than the other two women in this verse.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:13 Rufus. Biblical scholars generally agree that he was one of the sons of Simon of Cyrene, the man enlisted to carry Jesus' cross (cf. Mark 15:21) and was likely saved through that contact with Christ. Mark wrote his Gospel in Rome, possibly after the letter to Rome was written and circulated. Paul would not have mentioned Rufus if that name were not well known to the church in Rome. chosen in the Lord. Elected to salvation. This indicates he was widely known as an extraordinary believer because of his great love and service. his mother . . . to me as well. Rufus was not Paul's natural brother. Rather, Rufus's mother, the wife of Simon of Cyrene, at some time had cared for Paul during his ministry travels.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:14–15 “Brothers” in this context probably refers to both men and women, which indicates that these names represent the outstanding leaders of two of the assemblies in Rome.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:16 holy kiss. Kissing of friends on the forehead, cheek, or beard was common in the OT. The Jews in the NT church carried on the practice, and it became especially precious to new believers, who were often outcasts from their own families because of their faith, because of the spiritual kinship it signified.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:17–20 Paul considered it necessary to insert into his greetings of love this caution against harmful teachings and practices that undermine the truth of Christianity and are its greatest threat. Genuine love will be ready to forgive evil, but it will not condone or ignore it. Those such as Paul, who truly love other believers who are dear to them, will warn them about sin and harm (cf. 1 Cor. 13:6).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:17 divisions and create obstacles. Doctrinal falsehood and unrighteous practices (cf. Matt. 24:24; Acts 20:27–32; Gal. 1:6–8; Eph. 4:14).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:18 appetites. Driven by self-interest and self-gratification, often seen in their pretentious, extravagant, and immoral lifestyles (cf. Phil. 3:18–19; 2 Tim. 3:7–8; 2 Pet. 1:20–2:3, 10–19; Jude 12–13). naive. The simple person (cf. 2 Cor. 11:13–15).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:19 known to all. See note on 1:8.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:20 God of peace. See 15:33 and Heb. 13:20. will . . . crush Satan. See note on Gen. 3:15. soon. “Speedily, quickly” (Acts 12:7; 22:18; cf. Rev. 22:7, 12, 20). grace of our Lord Jesus. See note on Rom. 1:7.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:21 Lucius. Either 1) a native of Cyrene, one of the prophets and teachers in Antioch who participated in Paul and Barnabas’s commissioning (Acts 13:1–3), or 2) another form of “Luke,” the author of the Gospel of Luke and the book of Acts. Jason. One of the first converts in Thessalonica, who evidently let Paul stay in his home for a short time before Paul and Silas were sent to Berea (see notes on Acts 17:5–10). Sosipater. A longer form of “Sopater” (Acts 20:4–6), a Berean (cf. Acts 17:10–12) who joined other believers in meeting Paul at Troas after the apostle left Ephesus. my kinsmen. See note on Rom. 16:11.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:22 Tertius. Paul’s secretary, who wrote this letter as Paul dictated it, inserts a personal greeting.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:23 Gaius. One of Paul’s converts at Corinth (cf. 1 Cor. 1:14). His full name was most likely “Titius Justus” (Acts 18:7). the whole church. The congregation that met in Gaius’s house. Erastus. A common name in NT times, but probably not the same man referred to in Acts 19:22 or 2 Tim. 4:20. treasurer. In Corinth. This was a prominent position with political clout. Quartus. May have been a physical brother of Erastus, but more likely just the final brother in Christ listed here.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:24 This verse is not found in the earliest Greek manuscripts of Romans, which is understandable in view of the longer, more explicit benediction that follows.

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:25–27 The letter concludes with a beautiful doxology that praises God for his work through Jesus Christ and thereby summarizes the major themes in Romans (see notes on 11:33–36; cf. Matt. 6:13; Luke 19:37–38; Eph. 3:20–21; Heb. 13:20–21; Rev. 5:9–10).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:25 my gospel. See notes on 1:1 and 2:16; cf. Gal. 1:11 and 2:2. preaching of Jesus Christ. Synonymous with the gospel, it was Paul’s supreme life commitment (see notes on Rom. 10:14, 15, 17; cf. 1 Cor. 1:23–24; 2 Cor. 4:5–6). the mystery. See note on Rom. 11:25. In the NT, this word does not have its modern connotation. Instead, it refers to something hidden in former times but now made known (1 Cor. 4:1; Eph. 5:32; 6:19; Col. 1:25–26; 2 Thess. 2:7–8; 1 Tim. 3:9, 16). The NT’s most common mystery is that God would provide salvation for Gentiles as well as Jews (Eph. 3:3–9).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:26 prophetic writings . . . made known. God had told Israel that he would not only call her to righteousness, but appoint her as a light (of the gospel) to the nations (see notes on Isa. 42:6; 49:6; 1 Pet. 1:10–11; cf. Gen. 12:3; Ex. 19:6; Isa. 49:22; 53:11; 60:3–5; Jer. 31:31, 33).

ROMANS—NOTE ON 16:27 God be glory. It was through the Father that the gospel was ultimately revealed, therefore he deserves all the credit, praise, and worship.

Introduction to 1 Corinthians

Title

The letter is named for the city of Corinth, where the church to whom it was written was located. With the exception of personal epistles addressed to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, all Paul's letters bear the name of the city where the church addressed existed.

Author and Date

As indicated in the first verse, the epistle was written by the apostle Paul, whose authorship cannot be seriously questioned. Pauline authorship has been universally accepted by the church since the first century, when 1 Corinthians was penned. Internally, the apostle claimed to have written the epistle (1:1, 13:3:4–6; 4:15; 16:21). Externally, this correspondence has been acknowledged as genuine since A.D. 95 by Clement of Rome, who was writing to the Corinthian church. Other early Christian leaders who authenticated Paul as author include Ignatius (c. A.D. 110), Polycarp (c. A.D. 135), and Tertullian (c. A.D. 200).

This epistle was most likely written in the first half of A.D. 55 from Ephesus (16:8–9, 19) while Paul was on his third missionary journey. The apostle intended to remain on at Ephesus to complete his three-year stay (Acts 20:31) until Pentecost (May/June) A.D. 55 (1 Cor. 16:8). Then he hoped to winter (A.D. 55–56) at Corinth (1 Cor. 16:6; Acts 20:2). His departure for Corinth was anticipated even as he wrote (1 Cor. 4:19; 11:34; 16:8).

Background and Setting

The city of Corinth was located in southern Greece, in what was the Roman province of Achaia, c. 45 miles west of Athens. This lower part, the Peloponnesus, is connected to the rest of Greece by a 4-mile-wide isthmus, which is bounded on the east by the Saronic Gulf and on the west by the Gulf of Corinth. Corinth is near the middle of the isthmus and is prominently situated on a high plateau. For many centuries, all north-south land traffic in that area had to pass through or near this ancient city. Since travel by sea around the Peloponnesus involved a 250-mile voyage that was dangerous and obviously time consuming, most captains carried their ships on skids or rollers across the isthmus directly past Corinth. Corinth understandably prospered as a major trade city, not only for most of Greece but for much of the Mediterranean area, including North Africa, Italy, and Asia Minor. A canal across the isthmus was begun by the emperor Nero during the first century A.D., but was not completed until near the end of the nineteenth century.

The Isthmian games, one of the two most famous athletic events of that day (the other being the Olympic games), was hosted by Corinth, causing more people-traffic. Even by the pagan standards of its own culture, Corinth became so morally corrupt that its very name became synonymous with debauchery and moral depravity. To “corinthianize” came to represent gross immorality and drunken debauchery. In 6:9–10, Paul lists some of the specific sins for which the city was noted and which formerly had characterized many believers in the church there. Tragically, some of the worst sins were still found among some church members. One of those sins, incest, was condemned even by most pagan Gentiles (5:1).

Like most ancient Greek cities, Corinth had an acropolis (lit., “a high city”), which rose 2,000 feet and was used both for defense and for worship. The most prominent edifice on the acropolis was a temple to Aphrodite, the Greek goddess of love. Some 1,000 priestesses, who were “religious” prostitutes, lived and worked there and came down into the city in the evening to offer their services to male citizens and foreign visitors.

The church in Corinth was founded by Paul on his second missionary journey (Acts 18:1ff.). As usual, his ministry began in the synagogue, where he was assisted by two Jewish believers, Priscilla and Aquila, with whom he lived for a while and who were fellow tradesmen. Soon after, Silas and Timothy joined them and Paul began preaching even more intensely in the synagogue. When most of the Jews resisted the gospel, he left the synagogue, but not before Crispus, the leader of the synagogue, his family, and many other Corinthians were converted (Acts 18:5–8).

After ministering in Corinth for over a year and a half (Acts 18:11), Paul was brought before a Roman tribunal by some of the Jewish leaders. Because the charges were strictly religious and not civil, the proconsul, Gallio, dismissed the case. Shortly thereafter, Paul took Priscilla and Aquila with him to Ephesus.

From there he returned to Israel (Acts 18:18–22).

Unable to fully break with the culture from which it came, the church at Corinth was exceptionally factional, showing its carnality and immaturity. After the gifted Apollos had ministered in the church for some time, a group of his admirers established a clique and had little to do with the rest of the church. Another group developed that was loyal to Paul, another claimed special allegiance to Peter (Cephas), and still another to Christ alone (see 1 Cor. 1:10–13; 3:1–9).

The most serious problem of the Corinthian church was worldliness, an unwillingness to divorce the culture around them. Most of the believers could not consistently separate themselves from their old, selfish, immoral, and pagan ways. It became necessary for Paul to write to correct this, as well as to command the faithful Christians not only to break fellowship with the disobedient and unrepentant members, but to put those members out of the church (5:9–13).

Before he wrote this inspired letter, Paul had written the church other correspondence (see 5:9), which was also corrective in nature. Because a copy of that letter has never been discovered, it has been referred to as “the lost epistle.” There was another non-canonical letter after 1 Corinthians, usually called “the severe letter” (2 Cor. 2:4).

Historical and Theological Themes

Although the major thrust of this epistle is corrective of behavior rather than of doctrine, Paul gives seminal teaching on many doctrines that directly relate to the matters of sin and righteousness. In one way or another, wrong living always stems from wrong belief. Sexual sins for example, including divorce, are inevitably related to disobeying God’s plan for marriage and the family (7:1–40). Proper worship is determined by such things as recognition of God’s holy character (3:17), the spiritual identity of the church (12:12–27), and pure partaking of the Lord’s Supper (11:17–34). It is not possible for the church to be edified faithfully and effectively unless believers understand and exercise their spiritual gifts (12:1–14:40). The importance of the doctrine of the resurrection, of course, cannot be overestimated because if there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ is not risen. And if Christ is not risen, then preaching is empty and so is faith (15:13–14).

In addition to those themes, Paul deals briefly with God's judgment of believers, the right understanding of which will produce right motives for godly living (see 3:13–15). The right understanding of idols and of false gods, in general, was to help the immature Corinthians think maturely about such things as eating meat that had been sacrificed to idols (8:1–11:1). The right understanding and expression of genuine, godly love was mandatory to right use of the gifts and even to right knowledge about all the things of God (13:1–13).

So Paul deals with the cross, divine wisdom and human wisdom, the work of the Spirit in illumination, carnality, eternal rewards, the transformation of salvation, sanctification, the nature of Christ, union with him, the divine role for women, marriage and divorce, Spirit baptism, indwelling and gifting, the unity of the church in one body, the theology of love, and the doctrine of resurrection. All these establish foundational truth for godly behavior.

Interpretive Challenges

By far the most controversial issue for interpretation is that of the sign gifts discussed in chs. 12–14, particularly the gifts of miracles and tongues-speaking. Many believe that all the gifts are permanent, so that the gift of speaking in tongues will cease (13:8) only at the time the gifts of prophecy and of knowledge cease, namely, when that which is perfect has come (13:10). Those who maintain that tongues and miracles are still valid spiritual gifts in the church today believe they should be exercised with the same power they were in NT times by the apostles. Others believe the miraculous sign gifts have ceased. This controversy will be resolved in the appropriate notes on chs. 12–14.

The issue of divorce is a troubling one for many. Chapter 7 addresses the subject, but calls for careful interpretation to yield consistent biblical doctrine on the matter.

Advocates of universalism, the idea that all men will eventually be saved, use 15:22 in support of that view, claiming that, just as every human being died spiritually because of Adam's sin, they will all be saved through Christ's righteousness. The note on that verse will confront the challenge of such universalists.

From that same chapter, the obscure phrase "baptized on behalf of the dead" (15:29) is used to defend the notion that a dead person can be saved by being baptized vicariously through a living Christian. There have been over 40 suggested explanations for this baptism. As the notes will point out, regardless of how that particular verse is interpreted, the falsehood of dead people having the opportunity to be saved is proven by many other texts that are indisputably clear.

A much less serious issue concerns the meaning of 6:4, which pertains to Christians taking other Christians to court before unbelievers. The resolution of that problem lies primarily in being obedient to a verse which is unambiguous.

THE FIRST LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS

1 Corinthians

Greeting

1 CORINTHIANS 1 †Paul, called by the will of God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus, and our brother Sosthenes, 2 †To the church of God that is in Corinth, to those sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints together with all those who in every place call upon the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, both their Lord and ours: 3 †Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving

4 †I give thanks to my God always for you because of the grace of God that was given you in Christ Jesus, 5 †that in every way you were enriched in him in all speech and all knowledge— 6 †even as the testimony about Christ was confirmed among you— 7 †so that you are not lacking in any spiritual gift, as you wait for the revealing of our Lord Jesus Christ, 8 †who will sustain you to the end, guiltless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ. 9 †God is faithful, by whom you were called into the fellowship of his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

Divisions in the Church

10 †I appeal to you, brothers, [1] by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that all of you agree, and that there be no divisions among you, but that you be united in the same mind and the same judgment. 11 †For it has been reported to me by Chloe's people that there is quarreling among you, my brothers. 12 †What I mean is that each one of you says, "I follow Paul," or "I follow Apollos," or "I follow Cephas," or "I follow Christ." 13 †Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Or were you baptized in the name of Paul? 14 †I thank God that I baptized none of you except Crispus and Gaius, 15 so that no one may say that you were baptized in my name. 16 †(I did baptize also the household of Stephanas. Beyond that, I do not know whether I baptized anyone else.) 17 †For Christ did not send me to baptize but to preach the gospel, and not with words of eloquent wisdom, lest the cross of Christ be emptied of its power.

Christ the Wisdom and Power of God

<sup>18</sup>‡ For the word of the cross is folly to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God. <sup>19</sup>‡ For it is written, “I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and the discernment of the discerning I will thwart.”

<sup>20</sup>‡ Where is the one who is wise? Where is the scribe? Where is the debater of this age? Has not God made foolish the wisdom of the world? <sup>21</sup>‡ For since, in the wisdom of God, the world did not know God through wisdom, it pleased God through the folly of what we preach to save those who believe. <sup>22</sup>‡ For Jews demand signs and Greeks seek wisdom, <sup>23</sup>‡ but we preach Christ crucified, a stumbling block to Jews and folly to Gentiles, <sup>24</sup>‡ but to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God. <sup>25</sup> For the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

<sup>26</sup>‡ For consider your calling, brothers: not many of you were wise according to worldly standards, [\[2\]](#) not many were powerful, not many were of noble birth. <sup>27</sup> But God chose what is foolish in the world to shame the wise; God chose what is weak in the world to shame the strong; <sup>28</sup> God chose what is low and despised in the world, even things that are not, to bring to nothing things that are, <sup>29</sup> so that no human being [\[3\]](#) might boast in the presence of God. <sup>30</sup>‡ And because of him [\[4\]](#) you are in Christ Jesus, who became to us wisdom from God, righteousness and sanctification and redemption, <sup>31</sup>‡ so that, as it is written, “Let the one who boasts, boast in the Lord.”

Proclaiming Christ Crucified

1 CORINTHIANS 2 †And I, when I came to you, brothers, [\[1\]](#) did not come proclaiming to you the testimony [\[2\]](#) of God with lofty speech or wisdom. †For I decided to know nothing among you except Jesus Christ and him crucified. †And I was with you in weakness and in fear and much trembling, †and my speech and my message were not in plausible words of wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power, †that your faith might not rest in the wisdom of men but in the power of God.

Wisdom from the Spirit

†Yet among the mature we do impart wisdom, although it is not a wisdom of this age or of the rulers of this age, who are doomed to pass away. †But we impart a secret and hidden wisdom of God, which God decreed before the ages for our glory. †None of the rulers of this age understood this, for if they had, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory. †But, as it is written, “What no eye has seen, nor ear heard, nor the heart of man imagined, what God has prepared for those who love him”— †these things God has revealed to us through the Spirit. For the Spirit searches everything, even the depths of God. †For who knows a person's thoughts except the spirit of that person, which is in him? So also no one comprehends the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God. †Now we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, that we might understand the things freely given us by God. †And we impart this in words not taught by human wisdom but taught by the Spirit, interpreting spiritual truths to those who are spiritual. [\[3\]](#)

†The natural person does not accept the things of the Spirit of God, for they are folly to him, and he is not able to understand them because they are spiritually discerned. †The spiritual person judges all things, but is himself to be judged by no one. †“For who has understood the mind of the Lord so as to instruct him?” But we have the mind of Christ.

Divisions in the Church

1 CORINTHIANS 3 †But I, brothers, [\[1\]](#) could not address you as spiritual people, but as people of the flesh, as infants in Christ. <sup>2</sup>†I fed you with milk, not solid food, for you were not ready for it. And even now you are not yet ready, <sup>3</sup>†for you are still of the flesh. For while there is jealousy and strife among you, are you not of the flesh and behaving only in a human way? <sup>4</sup>†For when one says, “I follow Paul,” and another, “I follow Apollos,” are you not being merely human?

<sup>5</sup>†What then is Apollos? What is Paul? Servants through whom you believed, as the Lord assigned to each. <sup>6</sup>†I planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the growth. <sup>7</sup>So neither he who plants nor he who waters is anything, but only God who gives the growth. <sup>8</sup>†He who plants and he who waters are one, and each will receive his wages according to his labor. <sup>9</sup>†For we are God's fellow workers. You are God's field, God's building.

<sup>10</sup>†According to the grace of God given to me, like a skilled master builder I laid a foundation, and someone else is building upon it. Let each one take care how he builds upon it. <sup>11</sup>†For no one can lay a foundation other than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ. <sup>12</sup>†Now if anyone builds on the foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw— <sup>13</sup>†each one's work will become manifest, for the Day will disclose it, because it will be revealed by fire, and the fire will test what sort of work each one has done. <sup>14</sup>†If the work that anyone has built on the foundation survives, he will receive a reward. <sup>15</sup>†If anyone's work is burned up, he will suffer loss, though he himself will be saved, but only as through fire.

<sup>16</sup>†Do you not know that you [\[2\]](#) are God's temple and that God's Spirit dwells in you? <sup>17</sup>†If anyone destroys God's temple, God will destroy him. For God's temple is holy, and you are that temple.

<sup>18</sup>†Let no one deceive himself. If anyone among you thinks that he is wise in this age, let him become a fool that he may become wise. <sup>19</sup>†For the wisdom of this world is folly with God. For it is written, “He catches the wise in their craftiness,” <sup>20</sup>and again, “The Lord knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are futile.” <sup>21</sup>†So let no one boast in men. For all things are yours, <sup>22</sup>†whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas or the world or life or death or the present or the future—all are yours, <sup>23</sup>†and you are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

The Ministry of Apostles

1 CORINTHIANS 4 † This is how one should regard us, as servants of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God. 2 † Moreover, it is required of stewards that they be found trustworthy. 3 † But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged by you or by any human court. In fact, I do not even judge myself. 4 † For I am not aware of anything against myself, but I am not thereby acquitted. It is the Lord who judges me. 5 † Therefore do not pronounce judgment before the time, before the Lord comes, who will bring to light the things now hidden in darkness and will disclose the purposes of the heart. Then each one will receive his commendation from God.

6 † I have applied all these things to myself and Apollos for your benefit, brothers, [1] that you may learn by us not to go beyond what is written, that none of you may be puffed up in favor of one against another. 7 † For who sees anything different in you? What do you have that you did not receive? If then you received it, why do you boast as if you did not receive it?

8 † Already you have all you want! Already you have become rich! Without us you have become kings! And would that you did reign, so that we might share the rule with you! 9 † For I think that God has exhibited us apostles as last of all, like men sentenced to death, because we have become a spectacle to the world, to angels, and to men. 10 † We are fools for Christ's sake, but you are wise in Christ. We are weak, but you are strong. You are held in honor, but we in disrepute. 11 † To the present hour we hunger and thirst, we are poorly dressed and buffeted and homeless, 12 † and we labor, working with our own hands. When reviled, we bless; when persecuted, we endure; 13 † when slandered, we entreat. We have become, and are still, like the scum of the world, the refuse of all things.

14 † I do not write these things to make you ashamed, but to admonish you as my beloved children. 15 † For though you have countless guides in Christ, you do not have many fathers. For I became your father in Christ Jesus through the gospel. 16 † I urge you, then, be imitators of me. 17 † That is why I sent [2] you Timothy, my beloved and faithful child in the Lord, to remind you of my ways in Christ, [3] as I teach them everywhere in every church. 18 † Some are arrogant, as though I were not coming to you. 19 † But I will come to you soon, if the Lord wills, and I will find out not the talk of these arrogant people but their power.

<sup>20</sup>†For the kingdom of God does not consist in talk but in power. <sup>21</sup>†What do you wish? Shall I come to you with a rod, or with love in a spirit of gentleness?

Sexual Immorality Defiles the Church

1 CORINTHIANS 5 †It is actually reported that there is sexual immorality among you, and of a kind that is not tolerated even among pagans, for a man has his father's wife. †And you are arrogant! Ought you not rather to mourn? Let him who has done this be removed from among you.

†For though absent in body, I am present in spirit; and as if present, I have already pronounced judgment on the one who did such a thing. †When you are assembled in the name of the Lord Jesus and my spirit is present, with the power of our Lord Jesus, †you are to deliver this man to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, so that his spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord. [1]

†Your boasting is not good. Do you not know that a little leaven leavens the whole lump? †Cleanse out the old leaven that you may be a new lump, as you really are unleavened. For Christ, our Passover lamb, has been sacrificed. †Let us therefore celebrate the festival, not with the old leaven, the leaven of malice and evil, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

†I wrote to you in my letter not to associate with sexually immoral people— †not at all meaning the sexually immoral of this world, or the greedy and swindlers, or idolaters, since then you would need to go out of the world. †But now I am writing to you not to associate with anyone who bears the name of brother if he is guilty of sexual immorality or greed, or is an idolater, reviler, drunkard, or swindler—not even to eat with such a one. †For what have I to do with judging outsiders? Is it not those inside the church whom you are to judge? †God judges [2] those outside. “Purge the evil person from among you.”

Lawsuits Against Believers

1 CORINTHIANS 6 †When one of you has a grievance against another, does he dare go to law before the unrighteous instead of the saints? †Or do you not know that the saints will judge the world? And if the world is to be judged by you, are you incompetent to try trivial cases? †Do you not know that we are to judge angels? How much more, then, matters pertaining to this life! †So if you have such cases, why do you lay them before those who have no standing in the church? †I say this to your shame. Can it be that there is no one among you wise enough to settle a dispute between the brothers, †but brother goes to law against brother, and that before unbelievers? †To have lawsuits at all with one another is already a defeat for you. Why not rather suffer wrong? Why not rather be defrauded? †But you yourselves wrong and defraud—even your own brothers! [1]

†Or do you not know that the unrighteous [2] will not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived: neither the sexually immoral, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor men who practice homosexuality, [3] †nor thieves, nor the greedy, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor swindlers will inherit the kingdom of God. †And such were some of you. But you were washed, you were sanctified, you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and by the Spirit of our God.

Flee Sexual Immorality

†“All things are lawful for me,” but not all things are helpful. “All things are lawful for me,” but I will not be enslaved by anything. †“Food is meant for the stomach and the stomach for food”—and God will destroy both one and the other. The body is not meant for sexual immorality, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body. †And God raised the Lord and will also raise us up by his power. †Do you not know that your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then take the members of Christ and make them members of a prostitute? Never! †Or do you not know that he who is joined [4] to a prostitute becomes one body with her? For, as it is written, “The two will become one flesh.” †But he who is joined to the Lord becomes one spirit with him. †Flee from sexual immorality. Every other sin [5] a person commits is outside the body, but the sexually immoral person sins against his own body. †Or do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God? You are not your own, †for you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body.

Principles for Marriage

1 CORINTHIANS 7 ¶¶¶ Now concerning the matters about which you wrote: “It is good for a man not to have sexual relations with a woman.” ¶ But because of the temptation to sexual immorality, each man should have his own wife and each woman her own husband. ¶ The husband should give to his wife her conjugal rights, and likewise the wife to her husband. ¶ For the wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband does. Likewise the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife does. ¶ Do not deprive one another, except perhaps by agreement for a limited time, that you may devote yourselves to prayer; but then come together again, so that Satan may not tempt you because of your lack of self-control.

¶ Now as a concession, not a command, I say this. [1] ¶ I wish that all were as I myself am. But each has his own gift from God, one of one kind and one of another.

¶ To the unmarried and the widows I say that it is good for them to remain single as I am. ¶ But if they cannot exercise self-control, they should marry. For it is better to marry than to burn with passion.

¶ To the married I give this charge (not I, but the Lord): the wife should not separate from her husband ¶ (but if she does, she should remain unmarried or else be reconciled to her husband), and the husband should not divorce his wife.

¶¶ To the rest I say (I, not the Lord) that if any brother has a wife who is an unbeliever, and she consents to live with him, he should not divorce her. ¶ If any woman has a husband who is an unbeliever, and he consents to live with her, she should not divorce him. ¶ For the unbelieving husband is made holy because of his wife, and the unbelieving wife is made holy because of her husband. Otherwise your children would be unclean, but as it is, they are holy. ¶ But if the unbelieving partner separates, let it be so. In such cases the brother or sister is not enslaved. God has called you [2] to peace. ¶ For how do you know, wife, whether you will save your husband? Or how do you know, husband, whether you will save your wife?

Live as You Are Called

<sup>17</sup>†† Only let each person lead the life that the Lord has assigned to him, and to which God has called him. This is my rule in all the churches. <sup>18</sup>† Was anyone at the time of his call already circumcised? Let him not seek to remove the marks of circumcision. Was anyone at the time of his call uncircumcised? Let him not seek circumcision. <sup>19</sup>† For neither circumcision counts for anything nor uncircumcision, but keeping the commandments of God. <sup>20</sup>† Each one should remain in the condition in which he was called. <sup>21</sup>† Were you a slave [3] when called? Do not be concerned about it. (But if you can gain your freedom, avail yourself of the opportunity.) <sup>22</sup>† For he who was called in the Lord as a slave is a freedman of the Lord. Likewise he who was free when called is a slave of Christ. <sup>23</sup>† You were bought with a price; do not become slaves of men. <sup>24</sup>† So, brothers, [4] in whatever condition each was called, there let him remain with God.

The Unmarried and the Widowed

<sup>25</sup>†† Now concerning [5] the betrothed, [6] I have no command from the Lord, but I give my judgment as one who by the Lord's mercy is trustworthy. <sup>26</sup>† I think that in view of the present [7] distress it is good for a person to remain as he is. <sup>27</sup>† Are you bound to a wife? Do not seek to be free. Are you free from a wife? Do not seek a wife. <sup>28</sup>† But if you do marry, you have not sinned, and if a betrothed woman [8] marries, she has not sinned. Yet those who marry will have worldly troubles, and I would spare you that. <sup>29</sup>† This is what I mean, brothers: the appointed time has grown very short. From now on, let those who have wives live as though they had none, <sup>30</sup>† and those who mourn as though they were not mourning, and those who rejoice as though they were not rejoicing, and those who buy as though they had no goods, <sup>31</sup>† and those who deal with the world as though they had no dealings with it. For the present form of this world is passing away.

<sup>32</sup>† I want you to be free from anxieties. The unmarried man is anxious about the things of the Lord, how to please the Lord. <sup>33</sup>†† But the married man is anxious about worldly things, how to please his wife, <sup>34</sup>† and his interests are divided. And the unmarried or betrothed woman is anxious about the things of the Lord, how to be holy in body and spirit. But the married woman is anxious about worldly things, how to please her husband. <sup>35</sup>† I say this for your own benefit, not to lay any restraint upon you, but to promote good order and to secure your undivided devotion to the Lord.

<sup>36</sup>† If anyone thinks that he is not behaving properly toward his betrothed, [9] if his [10] passions are strong, and it has to be, let him do as he wishes: let them marry—it is no sin. <sup>37</sup>† But whoever is firmly established in his heart, being under no necessity but having his desire under control, and has determined this in his heart, to keep her as his betrothed, he will do well. <sup>38</sup> So then he who marries his betrothed does well, and he who refrains from marriage will do even better.

<sup>39</sup>† A wife is bound to her husband as long as he lives. But if her husband dies, she is free to be married to whom she wishes, only in the Lord. <sup>40</sup>† Yet in my judgment she is happier if she remains as she is. And I think that I too have the Spirit of God.

Food Offered to Idols

1 CORINTHIANS 8 †† Now concerning [\[1\]](#) food offered to idols: we know that “all of us possess knowledge.” This “knowledge” puffs up, but love builds up. †† If anyone imagines that he knows something, he does not yet know as he ought to know. † But if anyone loves God, he is known by God. [\[2\]](#)

† Therefore, as to the eating of food offered to idols, we know that “an idol has no real existence,” and that “there is no God but one.” † For although there may be so-called gods in heaven or on earth—as indeed there are many “gods” and many “lords”— † yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and through whom we exist.

† However, not all possess this knowledge. But some, through former association with idols, eat food as really offered to an idol, and their conscience, being weak, is defiled. † Food will not commend us to God. We are no worse off if we do not eat, and no better off if we do. † But take care that this right of yours does not somehow become a stumbling block to the weak. † For if anyone sees you who have knowledge eating [\[3\]](#) in an idol's temple, will he not be encouraged, [\[4\]](#) if his conscience is weak, to eat food offered to idols? † And so by your knowledge this weak person is destroyed, the brother for whom Christ died. † Thus, sinning against your brothers [\[5\]](#) and wounding their conscience when it is weak, you sin against Christ. † Therefore, if food makes my brother stumble, I will never eat meat, lest I make my brother stumble.

Paul Surrenders His Rights

1 CORINTHIANS 9 ‡Am I not free? Am I not an apostle? Have I not seen Jesus our Lord? Are not you my workmanship in the Lord? †If to others I am not an apostle, at least I am to you, for you are the seal of my apostleship in the Lord.

‡This is my defense to those who would examine me. †Do we not have the right to eat and drink? †Do we not have the right to take along a believing wife, [1] as do the other apostles and the brothers of the Lord and Cephas? †Or is it only Barnabas and I who have no right to refrain from working for a living? †Who serves as a soldier at his own expense? Who plants a vineyard without eating any of its fruit? Or who tends a flock without getting some of the milk?

‡Do I say these things on human authority? Does not the Law say the same? †For it is written in the Law of Moses, “You shall not muzzle an ox when it treads out the grain.” Is it for oxen that God is concerned? †Does he not speak entirely for our sake? It was written for our sake, because the plowman should plow in hope and the thresher thresh in hope of sharing in the crop. †If we have sown spiritual things among you, is it too much if we reap material things from you? †If others share this rightful claim on you, do not we even more?

Nevertheless, we have not made use of this right, but we endure anything rather than put an obstacle in the way of the gospel of Christ. †Do you not know that those who are employed in the temple service get their food from the temple, and those who serve at the altar share in the sacrificial offerings? †In the same way, the Lord commanded that those who proclaim the gospel should get their living by the gospel.

†But I have made no use of any of these rights, nor am I writing these things to secure any such provision. For I would rather die than have anyone deprive me of my ground for boasting. †For if I preach the gospel, that gives me no ground for boasting. For necessity is laid upon me. Woe to me if I do not preach the gospel! †For if I do this of my own will, I have a reward, but if not of my own will, I am still entrusted with a stewardship. †What then is my reward? That in my preaching I may present the gospel free of charge, so as not to make full use of my right in the gospel.

†For though I am free from all, I have made myself a servant to all, that I might win more of them. †To the Jews I became as a Jew, in order to win Jews. To those under the law I became as one under the law (though not being myself under the law) that I might win those under the law. <sup>21</sup>† To those outside the law I became as one outside the law (not being outside the law of God but under the law of Christ) that I might win those outside the law. <sup>22</sup>† To the weak I became weak, that I might win the weak. I have become all things to all people, that by all means I might save some. <sup>23</sup>† I do it all for the sake of the gospel, that I may share with them in its blessings.

<sup>24</sup>†† Do you not know that in a race all the runners run, but only one receives the prize? So run that you may obtain it. <sup>25</sup>† Every athlete exercises self-control in all things. They do it to receive a perishable wreath, but we an imperishable. <sup>26</sup>† So I do not run aimlessly; I do not box as one beating the air. <sup>27</sup>† But I discipline my body and keep it under control, [2] lest after preaching to others I myself should be disqualified.

Warning Against Idolatry

1 CORINTHIANS 10 †† For I want you to know, brothers, [\[1\]](#) that our fathers were all under the cloud, and all passed through the sea, <sup>2</sup>† and all were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea, <sup>3</sup>† and all ate the same spiritual food, <sup>4</sup>† and all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank from the spiritual Rock that followed them, and the Rock was Christ. <sup>5</sup>† Nevertheless, with most of them God was not pleased, for they were overthrown in the wilderness.

<sup>6</sup>† Now these things took place as examples for us, that we might not desire evil as they did. <sup>7</sup>† Do not be idolaters as some of them were; as it is written, “The people sat down to eat and drink and rose up to play.” <sup>8</sup>† We must not indulge in sexual immorality as some of them did, and twenty-three thousand fell in a single day. <sup>9</sup>† We must not put Christ [\[2\]](#) to the test, as some of them did and were destroyed by serpents, <sup>10</sup>† nor grumble, as some of them did and were destroyed by the Destroyer. <sup>11</sup>† Now these things happened to them as an example, but they were written down for our instruction, on whom the end of the ages has come. <sup>12</sup>† Therefore let anyone who thinks that he stands take heed lest he fall. <sup>13</sup>† No temptation has overtaken you that is not common to man. God is faithful, and he will not let you be tempted beyond your ability, but with the temptation he will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it.

<sup>14</sup>† Therefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry. <sup>15</sup>† I speak as to sensible people; judge for yourselves what I say. <sup>16</sup>† The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not a participation in the blood of Christ? The bread that we break, is it not a participation in the body of Christ? <sup>17</sup>† Because there is one bread, we who are many are one body, for we all partake of the one bread. <sup>18</sup>† Consider the people of Israel: [\[3\]](#) are not those who eat the sacrifices participants in the altar? <sup>19</sup>† What do I imply then? That food offered to idols is anything, or that an idol is anything? <sup>20</sup>† No, I imply that what pagans sacrifice they offer to demons and not to God. I do not want you to be participants with demons. <sup>21</sup>† You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons. You cannot partake of the table of the Lord and the table of demons. <sup>22</sup>† Shall we provoke the Lord to jealousy? Are we stronger than he?

Do All to the Glory of God

<sup>23</sup>††“All things are lawful,” but not all things are helpful. “All things are lawful,” but not all things build up. <sup>24</sup>††Let no one seek his own good, but the good of his neighbor. <sup>25</sup>††Eat whatever is sold in the meat market without raising any question on the ground of conscience. <sup>26</sup>††For “the earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof.” <sup>27</sup>††If one of the unbelievers invites you to dinner and you are disposed to go, eat whatever is set before you without raising any question on the ground of conscience. <sup>28</sup>††But if someone says to you, “This has been offered in sacrifice,” then do not eat it, for the sake of the one who informed you, and for the sake of conscience— <sup>29</sup>††I do not mean your conscience, but his. For why should my liberty be determined by someone else's conscience? <sup>30</sup>††If I partake with thankfulness, why am I denounced because of that for which I give thanks?

<sup>31</sup>††So, whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do all to the glory of God. <sup>32</sup>††Give no offense to Jews or to Greeks or to the church of God, <sup>33</sup>††just as I try to please everyone in everything I do, not seeking my own advantage, but that of many, that they may be saved.

1 CORINTHIANS 11 †Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ.

Head Coverings

<sup>2</sup>†Now I commend you because you remember me in everything and maintain the traditions even as I delivered them to you. <sup>3</sup>††But I want you to understand that the head of every man is Christ, the head of a wife [1] is her husband, and the head of Christ is God. <sup>4</sup>†Every man who prays or prophesies with his head covered dishonors his head, <sup>5</sup>†but every wife [2] who prays or prophesies with her head uncovered dishonors her head, since it is the same as if her head were shaven. <sup>6</sup>†For if a wife will not cover her head, then she should cut her hair short. But since it is disgraceful for a wife to cut off her hair or shave her head, let her cover her head. <sup>7</sup>††For a man ought not to cover his head, since he is the image and glory of God, but woman is the glory of man. <sup>8</sup>For man was not made from woman, but woman from man. <sup>9</sup>†Neither was man created for woman, but woman for man. <sup>10</sup>†That is why a wife ought to have a symbol of authority on her head, because of the angels. [3] <sup>11</sup>†Nevertheless, in the Lord woman is not independent of man nor man of woman; <sup>12</sup>for as woman was made from man, so man is now born of woman. And all things are from God. <sup>13</sup>†Judge for yourselves: is it proper for a wife to pray to God with her head uncovered? <sup>14</sup>†Does not nature itself teach you that if a man wears long hair it is a disgrace for him, <sup>15</sup>but if a woman has long hair, it is her glory? For her hair is given to her for a covering. <sup>16</sup>†If anyone is inclined to be contentious, we have no such practice, nor do the churches of God.

The Lord's Supper

<sup>17</sup>††But in the following instructions I do not commend you, because when you come together it is not for the better but for the worse. <sup>18</sup>†For, in the first place, when you come together as a church, I hear that there are divisions among you. And I believe it in part, [4] <sup>19</sup>†for there must be factions among you in order that those who are genuine among you may be recognized. <sup>20</sup>†When you come together, it is not the Lord's supper that you eat. <sup>21</sup>†For in eating, each one goes ahead with his own meal. One goes hungry, another gets drunk. <sup>22</sup>What! Do you not have houses to eat and drink in? Or do you despise the church of God and humiliate those who have nothing? What shall I say to you? Shall I commend you in this? No, I will not.

<sup>23</sup>‡For I received from the Lord what I also delivered to you, that the Lord Jesus on the night when he was betrayed took bread, <sup>24</sup>and when he had given thanks, he broke it, and said, “This is my body which is for [5] you. Do this in remembrance of me.” [6] <sup>25</sup>‡In the same way also he took the cup, after supper, saying, “This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Do this, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of me.” <sup>26</sup>‡For as often as you eat this bread and drink the cup, you proclaim the Lord's death until he comes.

<sup>27</sup>‡Whoever, therefore, eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner will be guilty concerning the body and blood of the Lord. <sup>28</sup>Let a person examine himself, then, and so eat of the bread and drink of the cup.

<sup>29</sup>‡For anyone who eats and drinks without discerning the body eats and drinks judgment on himself. <sup>30</sup>‡That is why many of you are weak and ill, and some have died. [7] <sup>31</sup>But if we judged [8] ourselves truly, we would not be judged. <sup>32</sup>‡But when we are judged by the Lord, we are disciplined [9] so that we may not be condemned along with the world.

<sup>33</sup>So then, my brothers, [10] when you come together to eat, wait for [11] one another— <sup>34</sup>‡if anyone is hungry, let him eat at home—so that when you come together it will not be for judgment. About the other things I will give directions when I come.

Spiritual Gifts

1 CORINTHIANS 12 †† Now concerning [\[1\]](#) spiritual gifts, [\[2\]](#) brothers, [\[3\]](#) I do not want you to be uninformed. <sup>2</sup>† You know that when you were pagans you were led astray to mute idols, however you were led. <sup>3</sup>† Therefore I want you to understand that no one speaking in the Spirit of God ever says “Jesus is accursed!” and no one can say “Jesus is Lord” except in the Holy Spirit.

<sup>4</sup>† Now there are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit; <sup>5</sup>† and there are varieties of service, but the same Lord; <sup>6</sup> and there are varieties of activities, but it is the same God who empowers them all in everyone. <sup>7</sup>† To each is given the manifestation of the Spirit for the common good. <sup>8</sup>† For to one is given through the Spirit the utterance of wisdom, and to another the utterance of knowledge according to the same Spirit, <sup>9</sup>† to another faith by the same Spirit, to another gifts of healing by the one Spirit, <sup>10</sup>† to another the working of miracles, to another prophecy, to another the ability to distinguish between spirits, to another various kinds of tongues, to another the interpretation of tongues. <sup>11</sup>† All these are empowered by one and the same Spirit, who apportions to each one individually as he wills.

One Body with Many Members

<sup>12</sup>† For just as the body is one and has many members, and all the members of the body, though many, are one body, so it is with Christ. <sup>13</sup>† For in one Spirit we were all baptized into one body—Jews or Greeks, slaves [\[4\]](#) or free—and all were made to drink of one Spirit.

<sup>14</sup>† For the body does not consist of one member but of many. <sup>15</sup> If the foot should say, “Because I am not a hand, I do not belong to the body,” that would not make it any less a part of the body. <sup>16</sup> And if the ear should say, “Because I am not an eye, I do not belong to the body,” that would not make it any less a part of the body. <sup>17</sup> If the whole body were an eye, where would be the sense of hearing? If the whole body were an ear, where would be the sense of smell? <sup>18</sup>† But as it is, God arranged the members in the body, each one of them, as he chose. <sup>19</sup> If all were a single member, where would the body be? <sup>20</sup> As it is, there are many parts, [\[5\]](#) yet one body.

<sup>21</sup>† The eye cannot say to the hand, “I have no need of you,” nor again the head to the feet, “I have no need of you.” <sup>22</sup>† On the contrary, the parts of the body that seem to be weaker are indispensable, <sup>23</sup>and on those parts of the body that we think less honorable we bestow the greater honor, and our unpresentable parts are treated with greater modesty, <sup>24</sup>which our more presentable parts do not require. But God has so composed the body, giving greater honor to the part that lacked it, <sup>25</sup>†that there may be no division in the body, but that the members may have the same care for one another. <sup>26</sup>†If one member suffers, all suffer together; if one member is honored, all rejoice together.

<sup>27</sup>Now you are the body of Christ and individually members of it. <sup>28</sup>††And God has appointed in the church first apostles, second prophets, third teachers, then miracles, then gifts of healing, helping, administrating, and various kinds of tongues. <sup>29</sup>†Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Do all work miracles? <sup>30</sup>Do all possess gifts of healing? Do all speak with tongues? Do all interpret? <sup>31</sup>†But earnestly desire the higher gifts.

And I will show you a still more excellent way.

The Way of Love

1 CORINTHIANS 13 †† If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal. † And if I have prophetic powers, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing. † If I give away all I have, and if I deliver up my body to be burned, [\[1\]](#) but have not love, I gain nothing.

† Love is patient and kind; love does not envy or boast; it is not arrogant <sup>5</sup>or rude. It does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful; [\[2\]](#) <sup>6</sup>it does not rejoice at wrongdoing, but rejoices with the truth. <sup>7</sup>Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.

† Love never ends. As for prophecies, they will pass away; as for tongues, they will cease; as for knowledge, it will pass away. <sup>9</sup>For we know in part and we prophesy in part, <sup>10</sup>but when the perfect comes, the partial will pass away. <sup>11</sup>When I was a child, I spoke like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I gave up childish ways. <sup>12</sup>For now we see in a mirror dimly, but then face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I have been fully known.

<sup>13</sup>† So now faith, hope, and love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love.

Prophecy and Tongues

1 CORINTHIANS 14 †Pursue love, and earnestly desire the spiritual gifts, especially that you may prophesy. 2 ††For one who speaks in a tongue speaks not to men but to God; for no one understands him, but he utters mysteries in the Spirit. 3 †On the other hand, the one who prophesies speaks to people for their upbuilding and encouragement and consolation. 4 †The one who speaks in a tongue builds up himself, but the one who prophesies builds up the church. 5 †Now I want you all to speak in tongues, but even more to prophesy. The one who prophesies is greater than the one who speaks in tongues, unless someone interprets, so that the church may be built up.

6 †Now, brothers, [\[1\]](#) if I come to you speaking in tongues, how will I benefit you unless I bring you some revelation or knowledge or prophecy or teaching? 7 †If even lifeless instruments, such as the flute or the harp, do not give distinct notes, how will anyone know what is played? 8 And if the bugle gives an indistinct sound, who will get ready for battle? 9 So with yourselves, if with your tongue you utter speech that is not intelligible, how will anyone know what is said? For you will be speaking into the air. 10 †There are doubtless many different languages in the world, and none is without meaning, 11 but if I do not know the meaning of the language, I will be a foreigner to the speaker and the speaker a foreigner to me. 12 †So with yourselves, since you are eager for manifestations of the Spirit, strive to excel in building up the church.

13 Therefore, one who speaks in a tongue should pray for the power to interpret. 14 †For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays but my mind is unfruitful. 15 What am I to do? I will pray with my spirit, but I will pray with my mind also; I will sing praise with my spirit, but I will sing with my mind also. 16 †Otherwise, if you give thanks with your spirit, how can anyone in the position of an outsider [\[2\]](#) say “Amen” to your thanksgiving when he does not know what you are saying? 17 For you may be giving thanks well enough, but the other person is not being built up. 18 †I thank God that I speak in tongues more than all of you. 19 †Nevertheless, in church I would rather speak five words with my mind in order to instruct others, than ten thousand words in a tongue.

20 ††Brothers, do not be children in your thinking. Be infants in evil, but in your thinking be mature. 21 †In the Law it is written, “By people of strange tongues and by the lips of foreigners will I speak to this people, and even then they will not listen to me, says the Lord.” <sup>22</sup>† Thus tongues are a sign not for believers but for unbelievers, while prophecy is a sign [3] not for unbelievers but for believers. <sup>23</sup>† If, therefore, the whole church comes together and all speak in tongues, and outsiders or unbelievers enter, will they not say that you are out of your minds? <sup>24</sup>† But if all prophesy, and an unbeliever or outsider enters, he is convicted by all, he is called to account by all, <sup>25</sup>the secrets of his heart are disclosed, and so, falling on his face, he will worship God and declare that God is really among you.

Orderly Worship

<sup>26</sup>†† What then, brothers? When you come together, each one has a hymn, a lesson, a revelation, a tongue, or an interpretation. Let all things be done for building up. <sup>27</sup>† If any speak in a tongue, let there be only two or at most three, and each in turn, and let someone interpret. <sup>28</sup>But if there is no one to interpret, let each of them keep silent in church and speak to himself and to God. <sup>29</sup>† Let two or three prophets speak, and let the others weigh what is said. <sup>30</sup>If a revelation is made to another sitting there, let the first be silent. <sup>31</sup>For you can all prophesy one by one, so that all may learn and all be encouraged, <sup>32</sup>† and the spirits of prophets are subject to prophets. <sup>33</sup>† For God is not a God of confusion but of peace.

As in all the churches of the saints, <sup>34</sup>† the women should keep silent in the churches. For they are not permitted to speak, but should be in submission, as the Law also says. <sup>35</sup>If there is anything they desire to learn, let them ask their husbands at home. For it is shameful for a woman to speak in church.

<sup>36</sup>†† Or was it from you that the word of God came? Or are you the only ones it has reached? <sup>37</sup>If anyone thinks that he is a prophet, or spiritual, he should acknowledge that the things I am writing to you are a command of the Lord. <sup>38</sup>† If anyone does not recognize this, he is not recognized. <sup>39</sup>† So, my brothers, earnestly desire to prophesy, and do not forbid speaking in tongues. <sup>40</sup>† But all things should be done decently and in order.

The Resurrection of Christ

1 CORINTHIANS 15 ~~###~~ Now I would remind you, brothers, [\[1\]](#) of the gospel I preached to you, which you received, in which you stand, 2 and by which you are being saved, if you hold fast to the word I preached to you—unless you believed in vain.

3 For I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the Scriptures, 4 that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures, 5 and that he appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve. 6 Then he appeared to more than five hundred brothers at one time, most of whom are still alive, though some have fallen asleep. 7 Then he appeared to James, then to all the apostles. 8 Last of all, as to one untimely born, he appeared also to me. 9 For I am the least of the apostles, unworthy to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God. 10 But by the grace of God I am what I am, and his grace toward me was not in vain. On the contrary, I worked harder than any of them, though it was not I, but the grace of God that is with me. 11 Whether then it was I or they, so we preach and so you believed.

The Resurrection of the Dead

12 Now if Christ is proclaimed as raised from the dead, how can some of you say that there is no resurrection of the dead? 13 But if there is no resurrection of the dead, then not even Christ has been raised. 14 And if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is in vain and your faith is in vain. 15 We are even found to be misrepresenting God, because we testified about God that he raised Christ, whom he did not raise if it is true that the dead are not raised. 16 For if the dead are not raised, not even Christ has been raised. 17 And if Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile and you are still in your sins. 18 Then those also who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished. 19 If in Christ we have hope [\[2\]](#) in this life only, we are of all people most to be pitied.

20 But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead, the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep. 21 For as by a man came death, by a man has come also the resurrection of the dead. 22 For as in Adam all die, so also in Christ shall all be made alive. 23 But each in his own order: Christ the firstfruits, then at his coming those who belong to Christ. 24 Then comes the end, when he delivers the kingdom to God the Father after destroying every rule and every authority and power. <sup>25</sup>† For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet.

<sup>26</sup>‡ The last enemy to be destroyed is death. <sup>27</sup>† For “God [3] has put all things in subjection under his feet.” But when it says, “all things are put in subjection,” it is plain that he is excepted who put all things in subjection under him. <sup>28</sup>† When all things are subjected to him, then the Son himself will also be subjected to him who put all things in subjection under him, that God may be all in all.

<sup>29</sup>‡‡ Otherwise, what do people mean by being baptized on behalf of the dead? If the dead are not raised at all, why are people baptized on their behalf? <sup>30</sup>‡ Why are we in danger every hour? <sup>31</sup> I protest, brothers, by my pride in you, which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die every day! <sup>32</sup>† What do I gain if, humanly speaking, I fought with beasts at Ephesus? If the dead are not raised, “Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die.” <sup>33</sup>‡ Do not be deceived: “Bad company ruins good morals.” [4] <sup>34</sup> Wake up from your drunken stupor, as is right, and do not go on sinning. For some have no knowledge of God. I say this to your shame.

The Resurrection Body

<sup>35</sup>† But someone will ask, “How are the dead raised? With what kind of body do they come?” <sup>36</sup>‡‡ You foolish person! What you sow does not come to life unless it dies. <sup>37</sup> And what you sow is not the body that is to be, but a bare kernel, perhaps of wheat or of some other grain. <sup>38</sup> But God gives it a body as he has chosen, and to each kind of seed its own body. <sup>39</sup>‡ For not all flesh is the same, but there is one kind for humans, another for animals, another for birds, and another for fish. <sup>40</sup> There are heavenly bodies and earthly bodies, but the glory of the heavenly is of one kind, and the glory of the earthly is of another. <sup>41</sup> There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for star differs from star in glory.

<sup>42</sup>‡ So is it with the resurrection of the dead. What is sown is perishable; what is raised is imperishable. <sup>43</sup> It is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness; it is raised in power. <sup>44</sup> It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body. <sup>45</sup>‡ Thus it is written, “The first man Adam became a living being”; [5] the last Adam became a life-giving spirit. <sup>46</sup> But it is not the spiritual that is first but the natural, and then the spiritual. <sup>47</sup> The first man was from the earth, a man of dust; the second man is from heaven. <sup>48</sup> As was the man of dust, so also are those who are of the dust, and as is the man of heaven, so also are those who are of heaven. <sup>49</sup> Just as we have borne the image of the man of dust, we shall [6] also bear the image of the man of heaven.

Mystery and Victory

<sup>50</sup>†I tell you this, brothers: flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, nor does the perishable inherit the imperishable. <sup>51</sup>†Behold! I tell you a mystery. We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, <sup>52</sup>†in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised imperishable, and we shall be changed. <sup>53</sup>For this perishable body must put on the imperishable, and this mortal body must put on immortality. <sup>54</sup>†When the perishable puts on the imperishable, and the mortal puts on immortality, then shall come to pass the saying that is written: “Death is swallowed up in victory.”

<sup>55</sup>“O death, where is your victory?
O death, where is your sting?”

<sup>56</sup>The sting of death is sin, and the power of sin is the law. <sup>57</sup>But thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

<sup>58</sup>†Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain.

The Collection for the Saints

1 CORINTHIANS 16 †Now concerning [\[1\]](#) the collection for the saints: as I directed the churches of Galatia, so you also are to do. <sup>2</sup>†On the first day of every week, each of you is to put something aside and store it up, as he may prosper, so that there will be no collecting when I come. <sup>3</sup>†And when I arrive, I will send those whom you accredit by letter to carry your gift to Jerusalem. <sup>4</sup>If it seems advisable that I should go also, they will accompany me.

Plans for Travel

<sup>5</sup>†I will visit you after passing through Macedonia, for I intend to pass through Macedonia, <sup>6</sup>and perhaps I will stay with you or even spend the winter, so that you may help me on my journey, wherever I go. <sup>7</sup>For I do not want to see you now just in passing. I hope to spend some time with you, if the Lord permits. <sup>8</sup>But I will stay in Ephesus until Pentecost, <sup>9</sup>†for a wide door for effective work has opened to me, and there are many adversaries.

<sup>10</sup>†When Timothy comes, see that you put him at ease among you, for he is doing the work of the Lord, as I am. <sup>11</sup>So let no one despise him. Help him on his way in peace, that he may return to me, for I am expecting him with the brothers.

Final Instructions

<sup>12</sup>†Now concerning our brother Apollos, I strongly urged him to visit you with the other brothers, but it was not at all his will [\[2\]](#) to come now. He will come when he has opportunity.

<sup>13</sup>††Be watchful, stand firm in the faith, act like men, be strong. <sup>14</sup>Let all that you do be done in love.

<sup>15</sup>†Now I urge you, brothers [\[3\]](#)—you know that the household [\[4\]](#) of Stephanas were the first converts in Achaia, and that they have devoted themselves to the service of the saints— <sup>16</sup>be subject to such as these, and to every fellow worker and laborer. <sup>17</sup>†I rejoice at the coming of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus, because they have made up for your absence, <sup>18</sup>for they refreshed my spirit as well as yours. Give recognition to such men.

Greetings

<sup>19</sup>† The churches of Asia send you greetings. Aquila and Prisca, together with the church in their house, send you hearty greetings in the Lord. <sup>20</sup>† All the brothers send you greetings. Greet one another with a holy kiss.

<sup>21</sup>† I, Paul, write this greeting with my own hand. <sup>22</sup>† If anyone has no love for the Lord, let him be accursed. Our Lord, come! [5] <sup>23</sup> The grace of the Lord Jesus be with you. <sup>24</sup> My love be with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Study Notes

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:1 apostle. Lit., “a sent one.” Paul establishes his authority as an emissary of the Lord Jesus by God’s appointment (9:1; 15:8; cf. Acts 9:3–6, 17; 22:11–15), made especially necessary because so much of the message of this epistle is corrective (1 Cor. 2:1–7). See notes on Rom. 1:1 and Eph. 4:11. Since he was delegated by God to speak and write, resisting him was resisting God. Sosthenes. Probably Paul’s secretary, a former leader of the Corinthian synagogue who had become a brother in Christ. On one occasion, he was beaten for bringing Paul before the civil court at Corinth (Acts 18:12–17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:2 saints. Not referring to a specially pious or revered person canonized by an ecclesiastical body, but a reference to everyone who by salvation has been sanctified, that is, set apart from sin in Christ Jesus (cf. Gal. 1:6; Eph. 4:1, 4; Col. 3:15–17; 1 Tim. 6:12; Heb. 10:10, 14; 1 Pet. 2:9, 21; 3:9; 2 Pet. 1:3; Jude 1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:3 Grace to you and peace. A greeting Paul used in all his letters. The basic meaning of “grace” is favor; “peace” is a result of God’s saving grace (John 14:27; Phil. 4:7).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:4 grace of God . . . given. This looks at the past, i.e., their salvation, when God justified them by undeserved and unrepayable love and mercy, forgiving their sin through the work of his Son.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:5 in every way . . . enriched in him. In the present, the believer has everything the Lord has to give and therefore everything he needs (see 3:21; Eph. 1:3; Col. 2:10; 2 Pet. 1:3). The two particular blessings spoken of here are related to presenting the truth of God’s word. speech. In regard to speaking for God (cf. Acts 4:29, 31; Eph. 6:19; 2 Tim. 2:15; 1 Pet. 3:15), believers are able to speak when God wants them to because of his enablement. Prayer reaches out for that ability (cf. Acts 4:29, 31; Eph. 6:19), and diligence in study of God’s word aids it (2 Tim. 2:15; 1 Pet. 3:15). all knowledge. God provides believers with all the knowledge they need in order to speak effectively for him (cf. 1 Cor. 2:9; Matt. 11:15; 2 Cor. 4:6; Col. 1:9–10).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:6 testimony about Christ was confirmed among you. This is a reference to the moment of salvation when the gospel was heard and believed and settled in the heart. At that moment, the enabling of v. 4 took place, because one became a recipient of the grace of God.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:7 not lacking in any spiritual gift. “Gift” in Greek is specifically “a gift of grace.” While the blessings of speech and knowledge were primarily for evangelizing the lost, the spiritual gifts (chs. 12–14) edify the church. Because these gifts are given to each believer (12:11–12) without regard for maturity or spirituality, the Corinthians, though sinful, had them in full. the revealing. Paul looks to the blessing of future grace. At the Lord’s second coming, his full glory, honor, and majesty will be revealed in blazing splendor (Rev. 4:11; 5:12; 17:14), at which time all true believers will be fixed solidly forever as holy and without sin in full resurrected glory and purity to live in heaven with God forever. See Eph. 5:25–27 and 2 Cor. 11:2.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:8 the day of our Lord Jesus Christ. Cf. 5:5 and 2 Cor. 1:14. This refers to the coming of the Lord for his church, the rapture (John 14:1–3; 1 Thess. 4:13–18; Rev. 3:10). This is to be distinguished from the day of the Lord (1 Thess. 5:2, 4; 2 Thess. 2:2), a term referring to judgment on the ungodly (see Introduction to Joel: Historical and Theological Themes).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:9 God is faithful. Because of God’s sovereign and unchangeable promise, believers are assured of this grace—past, present, and future—and will remain saved, assured of future glory at Christ’s appearing (Eph. 5:26–27). by whom you were called. This call, as always in the epistles of the NT, refers to an effectual call that saves (see note on Rom. 8:30). God who calls to salvation and heaven will be faithful to give the grace needed to fulfill that call. fellowship of his Son. See notes on 1 John 1:3–7.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:10 all of you agree. Paul is emphasizing the unity of doctrine in the local assembly of believers, not the spiritual unity of his universal church. Doctrinal unity, clearly and completely based on Scripture, must be the foundation of all church life (cf. John 17:11, 21–23; Acts 2:46–47). Both weak commitment to doctrine and commitment to disunity of doctrine will severely weaken a church and destroy the true unity. In its place, there can be only shallow sentimentalism or superficial harmony. be united. The basic idea is that of putting back together something that was broken or separated so it is no longer divided. The term is used in both the NT and in classical Greek to speak of mending such things as nets, broken bones or utensils, torn garments, and dislocated joints. Cf. Rom. 16:17 and Phil. 1:27. same mind . . . same judgment. Cf. Phil. 3:15–16. The demand is for unity internally in their individual minds and externally in decisions made among themselves—unified in truth by beliefs, convictions, standards, and in behavior by applied principles of living (Acts 4:32; Eph. 4:3). The only source of such unity is God’s word, which establishes the standard of truth on which true unity rests.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:11–13 Cf. 3:4–8.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:11 Chloe’s people. Probably a prominent person in the Corinthian church who had written or come to visit Paul in Ephesus to tell him of the factions in the church. It is not known whether Chloe was a man or a woman.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:12 Apollos. See notes on 16:12 and Acts 18:24–28. Cephas. The apostle Peter.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:13 Is Christ divided? No human leader, not even an apostle, should be given the loyalty that belongs only to the Lord. Such elevation of leaders leads only to contention, disputes, and a divided church. Christ is not divided and neither is his body, the church. Paul depreciates his worth in comparison to the Lord Jesus. For passages on unity, see 12:12–13; Rom. 12:5; Eph. 4:4–6.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:14 Crispus. The leader of the synagogue in Corinth who was converted under Paul’s preaching (Acts 18:8). His conversion led to that of many others. Gaius. Since Romans was written from Corinth, this man was probably the host referred to in Rom. 16:23.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:16 Stephanas. Nothing is known of this family.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:17 This verse does not mean that people should not be baptized (cf. Acts 2:38), but that God did not send Paul to start a private cult of people personally baptized by him. See Acts 26:16–18. He was called to preach the gospel and bring people to oneness in Christ, not baptize a faction around himself.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:18 word of the cross. God’s total revelation, i.e., the gospel in all its fullness, which centers in the incarnation and crucifixion of Christ (2:2); the entire divine plan and provision for the redemption of sinners, which is the theme of all Scripture, is in view. folly. Translates the word from which “moron” is derived. perishing . . . being saved. Every person is either in the process of salvation (though not completed until the redemption of the body; see Rom. 8:23; 13:11) or the process of destruction. One’s response to the cross of Christ determines which. To the Christ-rejectors who are in the process of being destroyed (cf. Eph. 2:1–2) the gospel is nonsense. To those who are believers it is powerful wisdom.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:19 it is written. Quoted from Isa. 29:14 (see note there to emphasize that man’s wisdom will be destroyed. Isaiah’s prophecy will have its ultimate fulfillment in the last days when Christ sets up his kingdom (cf. Rev. 17:14) and all of human wisdom dies.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:20 Where is the one who is wise? Paul paraphrased Isa. 19:12, where the prophet was referring to the wise men of Egypt who promised, but never produced, wisdom. Human wisdom always proves to be unreliable and impermanent (cf. 1 Cor. 1:17; Prov. 14:12; Isa. 29:14; Jer. 8:9; Rom. 1:18–23). scribe. Probably Paul has in mind the Assyrians, who sent scribes along with their soldiers to record the booty taken in battle. God saw to it they had nothing to record (Isa. 33:18). debater. This was a Greek word with no OT counterpart, identifying those who were adept at arguing philosophy.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:21 in the wisdom of God. God wisely established that men could not come to know him by human wisdom. That would exalt man, so God designed to save helpless sinners through the preaching of a message that was so simple the “worldly wise” deemed it nonsense. Cf. Rom. 1:18–23. who believe. From the human side, salvation requires and comes only through faith. Cf. John 1:12 and Rom. 10:8–17.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:22 signs. Unbelieving Jews still wanted supernatural signs (Matt. 12:38–44), yet they refused to accept the most glorious of all the supernatural sign-works of God, namely providing salvation through a virgin-born, crucified, and risen Messiah. In fact, the sign was a stumbling block to them (cf. Rom. 9:31–33). wisdom. Gentiles wanted proof by means of human reason, through ideas they could set forth, discuss, and debate. Like the Athenian philosophers, they were not sincere, with no interest in divine truth, but merely wanting to argue intellectual novelty (Acts 17:21).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:23 Christ crucified. The only true sign and the only true wisdom. This alone was the message Paul would preach (2:2) because it alone had the power to save all who believed.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:24–25 called. See note on v. 9. To all the “called,” the message of the cross, which seems so pointless and irrelevant to man’s proud, natural mind, actually exhibits God’s greatest power and greatest wisdom.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:26–28 God disdained human wisdom, not only by disallowing it as a means to knowing him, but also by choosing to save the lowly. He does not call to salvation many whom the world would call wise, mighty, and noble (cf. Matt. 11:25; 18:3–4). God’s wisdom is revealed to the foolish, weak, and common, i.e., those considered nothing by the elite, who trust in Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord. God clearly received all the credit and the glory for causing such lowly ones to know him and the eternal truths of his heavenly kingdom. No saved sinner can boast that he has achieved salvation by his intellect (1 Cor. 1:29).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:30–31 The redeemed not only are given salvation by God’s wisdom rather than by their own, but are also graciously given (“by his doing”) a measure of his divine wisdom, as well as imputed righteousness (Rom. 4:5; 2 Cor. 5:21), sanctification from sin (Eph. 2:10), and redemption by God (Eph. 1:14; 1 Pet. 1:18–19) in order that, above all else, the Lord will be glorified (cf. Gal. 6:4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:31 Quoted from Jer. 9:24.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:1 lofty speech or wisdom. See notes on 1:20–22.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:2 crucified. Though Paul expounded the whole counsel of God to the church (Acts 20:27) and taught the Corinthians the word of God (Acts 18:11), the focus of his preaching and teaching to unbelievers was Jesus Christ, who paid the penalty for sin on the cross (Acts 20:20; 2 Cor. 4:2; 2 Tim. 4:1–2). Until someone understands and believes the gospel, there is nothing more to say to them. The preaching of the cross (1 Cor. 1:18) was so dominant in the early church that believers were accused of worshiping a dead man.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:3 weakness . . . fear . . . trembling. Paul came to Corinth after being beaten and imprisoned in Philippi, run out of Thessalonica and Berea, and scoffed at in Athens (Acts 16:22–24; 17:10, 13–14, 32), so he may have been physically weak. But in that weakness, he was most powerful (see 1 Cor. 2:4–5; 2 Cor. 12:9–10). There were no theatrics or techniques to manipulate people’s response. His fear and shaking were because of the seriousness of his mission.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:6 mature. Paul uses this word to refer to genuine believers who have been saved by Christ, as in Heb. 6:1 and 10:14. rulers. Those in authority. See notes on 1 Cor. 1:19–20. this age. All periods of human history until the Lord returns.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:7 secret. This term does not refer to something puzzling, but to truth known to God before time, that he has kept secret until the appropriate time for him to reveal it. See notes on Matt. 13:11 and Eph. 3:4–5. for our glory. The truth God established before time and revealed in the NT wisdom of the gospel is the truth that God will save and glorify sinners. See notes on Eph. 3:8–12.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:8 understood . . . if they had. The crucifixion is proof that the rulers/Jewish religious leaders lacked wisdom. Cf. 1 Tim. 1:12–13.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:9 These words from Isa. 64:4, often incorrectly thought to refer to the wonders of heaven, refer rather to the wisdom God has prepared for believers. God’s truth is not discoverable by eye or ear (objective, empirical evidence), nor is it discovered by the mind (subjective, rational conclusions).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:10–16 The wisdom that saves, which man’s wisdom can’t know, is revealed to us by God. He makes it known by revelation, inspiration, and illumination. Revelation (vv. 10–11) and inspiration (vv. 12–13) were given to those who wrote the Bible; illumination (vv. 14–16) is given to all believers who seek to know and understand that divinely written truth. In each case, the Holy Spirit is the divine agent doing the work (cf. 2 Pet. 1:21).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:10 to us. As with the “we’s” in vv. 6–7 and vv. 12–13, Paul is, first of all, speaking of himself (as in John 14:26; 15:26–27; see notes there), and, in a sense, of believers who have been given the word as recorded by the apostles and their associates who wrote the NT. God has revealed. By the Holy Spirit, God disclosed his saving truth (cf. Matt. 11:25; 13:10–13). The Spirit alone was qualified because he knows all that God knows, himself being God.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:12 we have received . . . given us. The “we” and “us” refer to the apostles and other writers of the word of God. The means was inspiration (see notes on 2 Tim. 3:16; 2 Pet. 1:20–21), by which God freely gave the gift of his word. It was this process of inspiration that turned the spiritual thoughts into spiritual words (1 Cor. 2:13) to give life (cf. Matt. 4:4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:14 natural person. This refers to the unconverted, who lack supernatural life and wisdom. spiritually discerned. Through illumination of the word, the Holy Spirit provides his saints the capacity to discern divine truth (see Ps. 119:18), which the spiritually dead are unable to comprehend (cf. John 5:37–39; see notes on 1 John 2:20–21, 27). The doctrine of illumination does not mean we know everything (cf. Deut. 29:29), that we do not need teachers (cf. Eph. 4:11–12), or that understanding does not require hard work (cf. 2 Tim. 2:15).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:15 judged by no one. Obviously, unbelievers are able to recognize Christians’ faults and shortcomings; but they are not able to evaluate their true nature as spiritual people who have been transformed into children of God (cf. 1 John 3:2).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:16 the mind of the Lord. Quoted from Isa. 40:13. The same word “mind” is used in 1 Cor. 14:14–15, 19. Believers are allowed, by the word and the Spirit, to know the thoughts of their Lord. Cf. Luke 24:45.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:1 The cause of problems in the church was more than external, worldly influence. It was also internal carnality. The pressures of the world were combined with the weakness of the flesh. flesh. Although Corinthian believers were no longer “natural,” they were not “spiritual” (fully controlled by the Holy Spirit). In fact, they were controlled by the fallen flesh. Though all believers have the Holy Spirit (cf. Rom. 8:9) they still battle the fallen “flesh” (see notes on Rom. 7:14–25; 8:23). infants in Christ. The carnality of those believers was indicative of their immaturity. They had no excuse for not being mature, since Paul implied that he should have been able to write to them as mature, in light of all he had taught them (1 Cor. 3:2). See notes on Heb. 5:12–14 and 1 Pet. 2:1–2.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:2 milk. Not a reference to certain doctrines, but to the more easily digestible truths of doctrine that were given to new believers. solid food. The deeper features of the doctrines of Scripture. The difference is not in kind of truth, but degree of depth. Spiritual immaturity makes one unable to receive the richest truths.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:3 jealousy and strife. The fallen flesh, or carnality, produces the attitude of jealousy, a severe form of selfishness, which produces the action of strife and the subsequent divisions. human way. Apart from the will of the Spirit, hence carnal, not spiritual.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:4 Paul . . . Apollos. Factionalism was the divisive product of carnality. Cf. 1:11–13.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:5–7 What then is Apollos . . . Paul? A humble, but accurate assessment of the roles that ministers play. the Lord assigned . . . God gave the growth. It is the Lord alone who can give the faith to the spiritually ignorant and dead. Salvation is God's work of grace to whom he chooses to give it (see notes on Rom. 9:15–19; Eph. 2:8–9).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:8 are one. All the human instruments God uses to produce salvation life are equally considered and rewarded for their willingness to be used by God. But all the glory goes to him, who alone saves. Because of that, the silly favoritism of v. 4 and 1:12 is condemned. See notes on Matt. 20:1–16.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:9 we. Paul, Apollos, Peter, and all ministers are equal workers in the field, but the spiritual life from that field is entirely by God's grace and power. God's building. Paul shifts the imagery from agricultural to construction (vv. 10–17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:10 master builder . . . foundation. The Greek word is the root for architect, but contained the idea of builder as well as designer. Paul's specialty was designing and building spiritual foundations (cf. Rom. 15:20). He was used by God to establish the groundwork for churches in Asia Minor, Macedonia, and Greece. Others (e.g., Timothy, Apollos) built the churches up from his foundations. That God used him in that way was all of grace (cf. 1 Cor. 3:7; 15:20; Rom. 15:18; Eph. 3:7–8; Col. 1:29). each one. This primarily refers to evangelists and pastor-teachers.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:11 no . . . foundation other than. Paul did not design the foundation, he only laid it down by preaching Christ. Cf. 1 Pet. 2:6–8.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:12 if anyone builds. This is, first of all, in reference to the evangelists and pastors (v. 9), and then to all believers who are called to build the church through faithful ministry. gold, silver, precious stones. His quality materials represent dedicated, spiritual service to build the church. wood, hay, straw. Inferior materials implying shallow activity with no eternal value. They do not refer to activities that are evil (see note on v. 13).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:13 the Day. Refers to the time of the judgment seat of Christ (see notes on 2 Cor. 5:10). revealed by fire. The fire of God’s discerning judgment (cf. Job 23:10; Zech. 13:9; 1 Pet. 1:17–18; Rev. 3:18). Second Corinthians 5:10 indicates that the wood, hay, and straw are “worthless” things that don’t stand the test of judgment fire (see note there; cf. Col. 2:18).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:14 survives. All that which has been accomplished in his power and for his glory will survive (cf. Matt. 25:21, 23; 2 Cor. 5:9; Phil. 3:13–14; 1 Thess. 2:19–20; 2 Tim. 4:7–8; James 1:12; 1 Pet. 5:4; Rev. 22:12). reward. Cf. Rev. 22:12. This is not a judgment for sin. Christ has paid that price (Rom. 8:1), so that no believer will ever be judged for sin. This is only to determine eternal reward (cf. 1 Cor. 4:5, “each one . . . commendation”).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:15 be saved. No matter how much is worthless, no believer will forfeit salvation.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:16–17 Here is a severe warning to any who would try to interfere with or destroy the building of the church on the foundation of Christ. See notes on Matt. 18:6–7.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:18–19a deceive himself. See notes on 1:18–25. Those who defile the church and think they can succeed in destroying it by their human wisdom, would be far better to reject that wisdom and accept the foolishness of Christ’s cross.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:19b–20 With quotations from Job 5:13 and Ps. 94:11, Paul reinforces his point from 1 Cor. 1:18–25 by reminding them that human wisdom, which cannot save, also cannot either build a church or prevent its growth.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:21 boast in men. Cf. v. 4 and 1:12. Paul, Apollos, and all others receive no credit for the building of the church. all things are yours. All believers share equally in God’s most important and valuable provisions and glories; human boasting, therefore, is ludicrous as well as sinful.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:22 the world. Although the universe is now in Satan’s grip, it is still the God-given and God-made possession of Christians (2 Cor. 4:15; 1 John 5:19). In the millennial kingdom and throughout eternity, however, believers will possess both the re-created and eternal earth in an infinitely more complete and rich way (Matt. 5:5; Rev. 21). life. Spiritual, eternal life (cf. John 14:23; cf. 2 Pet. 1:3–4). death. Spiritual and eternal death (1 Cor. 15:54–57; Phil. 1:21–24). the present. Everything the believer has or experiences in this life (cf. Rom. 8:37–39). the future. All the blessings of heaven. Cf. 1 Pet. 1:3–4. all are yours. In Christ, all good and holy things are for believers’ blessing and for God’s glory. Cf. Eph. 1:3 and 2 Pet. 1:3.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:23 Christ’s . . . God’s. Knowing that believers belong to Christ and therefore to each other is the greatest incentive for unity in the church (6:17; John 9:9–10, 21–23; Phil. 2:1–4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:1 regard us. Paul wanted everyone to view him and his fellow ministers only as the humble messengers God ordained them to be (cf. 3:9, 22). servants. Paul expresses his humility by using a word lit. meaning “under rowers,” referring to the lowest, most menial, and most despised galley slaves, who rowed on the bottom tier of a ship (9:16; see Luke 1:2; Acts 20:19). stewards. Paul defines his responsibilities as an apostle by using a word originally referring to a person entrusted with and responsible for his master’s entire household: e.g., buildings, fields, finances, food, other servants, and sometimes even children of the owner. Cf. 1 Pet. 4:10. mysteries of God. “Mysteries” is used in the NT to refer to divine revelation previously hidden. See notes on 1 Cor. 2:7; Matt. 13:11; Eph. 3:4–5. Here the word is used in its broadest sense as God’s full revealed truth in the NT (Acts 20:20–21, 27; 2 Tim. 2:15; 3:16). It was all that truth which Paul had to oversee and dispense as God’s servant and steward.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:2 trustworthy. The most essential quality of a servant or steward is obedient loyalty to his master (v. 17; 7:25; cf. Matt. 24:45–51; Col. 1:7; 4:7).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:3 human court. Paul is not being arrogant or saying that he is above fellow ministers, other Christians, or even certain unbelievers. He is saying that a human verdict on his life is not the one that matters, even if it was his own.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:4 anything against myself. Paul was not aware of any unconfessed or habitual sin in his own life, but his limited understanding assumed that his was not the final verdict (see note on 2 Cor. 1:12). not thereby acquitted. Paul's own sincere evaluation of his life did not acquit him of all failures to be faithful. the Lord. He is the ultimate and only qualified judge of any man's obedience and faithfulness (2 Tim. 2:15). See notes on 2 Cor. 5:9–10.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:5 things now hidden in darkness . . . purposes of the heart. These refer to the inner motives, thoughts, and attitudes which only God can know. Since final rewards will be based, not just on outward service, but on inward devotion (cf. 10:31), only God can give the praise each deserves. See notes on 3:12–14.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:6 these things. Paul is referring to the analogies he used to depict those who minister for the Lord, including himself and Apollos: farmers (3:6–9), builders (3:10–15), and servant-stewards (4:1–5). your benefit. Paul's humility, expressed in light of God's judgment on the greatest apostles and preachers, was useful to teach believers not to exalt any of them (cf. Gen. 18:27; 32:10; Ex. 3:11; Judg. 6:15; Matt. 3:14; Luke 5:8; John 1:26–27; Acts 20:19; 2 Cor. 3:5; Eph. 3:8). what is written. God's faithful servants are to be treated with respect only within the bounds of what is scriptural (1 Thess. 5:12; 1 Tim. 5:17; Heb. 13:7, 17). puffed up. Pride and arrogance were great problems in the Corinthian church (see 1 Cor. 4:18–19; 5:2; 8:1; 13:4; 2 Cor. 12:20).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:7 boast. Pride is deception, since everything a person possesses is from God's providential hand (cf. 1 Chron. 29:11–16; Job 1:21; James 1:17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:8 have all . . . rich . . . become kings. In a severe rebuke, Paul heaps on false praise, sarcastically suggesting that those Corinthians who were self-satisfied had already achieved spiritual greatness. They were similar to the Laodiceans (see Rev. 3:17). Cf. Phil. 3:12; 2 Tim. 4:8; James 1:12; 1 Pet. 5:4. reign. Yet, Paul genuinely wished it really were the coronation time of the Millennium, so that they all might share in the glory of the Lord.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:9 last. The imagery is of condemned prisoners brought into a Roman arena to fight and die; the last ones brought out for slaughter were the grand finale. In his sovereign wisdom and for his ultimate glory, God chose to display the apostles figuratively before men and angels during the present age as just such worthless and condemned spectacles (cf. Matt. 19:28). Like doomed gladiators, they were ridiculed, spit on, imprisoned, and beaten; yet, God glorified his name through them as he used them to build his kingdom.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:10 fools . . . wise. Again using sarcasm, this time on himself as if mimicking the attitude of the proud Corinthians toward him, Paul rebukes them (cf. Acts 17:18).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:11–13 The apostles and early preachers lived at the lowest levels of society. While the Corinthian believers thought they were kings (v. 8), the apostle knew he was a suffering slave (cf. 2 Cor. 1:8–9; 4:8–12; 6:4–10; 11:23–28).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:12 our own hands. The apostles did manual labor, which Greeks, including some in the church at Corinth, considered beneath their dignity and suitable only for slaves. But Paul was not resentful about any necessary labor needed to support gospel preaching (cf. Acts 18:3; 20:34; 2 Cor. 11:23–28; 1 Thess. 2:9; 2 Thess. 3:8; 2 Tim. 3:12).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:13 scum . . . refuse. The filth scraped from a dirty dish or garbage pot, figuratively used of the lowest, most degraded criminals who were often sacrificed in pagan ceremonies. Not in God's sight, but in the world's, Paul and his fellow preachers were so designated. What a rebuke of the proud, fleshly Corinthians who saw themselves at the top, while the humble apostle considered himself at the bottom.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:14 admonish. Lit., “put in mind,” with the purpose of admonishing and reproof, presupposing that something is wrong and should be corrected (cf. Matt. 18:15–20; Acts 20:31; 1 Thess. 2:7–12; 5:14). beloved children. Despite their fleshly, even sometimes hateful immaturity, Paul always looked on the Corinthian believers with affection (cf. 2 Cor. 12:14–15; Gal. 4:19; Phil. 1:23–27; 3 John 4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:15 countless guides. This refers to an unlimited number of moral guardians used with children. Only Paul was their spiritual father; hence, no one cared like him.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:16 be imitators of me. See 11:1. A bold, but justified exhortation. Spiritual leaders must set an example of Christlikeness to follow (cf. 1 Tim. 4:12; Heb. 13:7).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:17 Timothy. He had been so faithfully disciplined by Paul that he could be sent in the great apostle's place with confidence that he would perfectly represent him. Cf. 2 Tim. 2:2 and 3:10–14. I teach. Referring to doctrine, not advice. By his own instruction and example, Timothy would reinforce the eternal truths Paul had taught him.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:18–19 arrogant. They were full of pride, thinking they would never have to face Paul again. But, if God allowed, he was planning to see them soon. He would not let their proud sinning go unchallenged, for their own sake as well as the gospel's (cf. Heb. 12:6). The reality of how much real spiritual power they had would become clear in that confrontation.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:20 talk . . . power. Spiritual character is measured not by the impressiveness of words, but in the power of the life (cf. Matt. 7:21–23).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:21 rod. Spiritual leaders need to use the rod of correction if people persist in sin. The pattern for that correction is illustrated and explained in 5:1–13; cf. Matt. 18:15–18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:1 immorality. This sin was so vile that even the church's pagan neighbors were doubtless scandalized by it. The Corinthians had rationalized or minimized this sin that was common knowledge, even though Paul had written them before about it (v. 9). The Greek for "immorality" is the root of the English word "pornography." his father's wife. The man's stepmother, with whom having sexual relations bore the same sinful stigma as if between him and his natural mother. Incest was punishable by death in the OT (Lev. 18:7–8, 29; cf. Deut. 22:30) and was both uncommon ("not tolerated") and illegal under Roman law.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:2 arrogant. So prideful and fleshly as to excuse even that extreme wickedness. removed. Excommunicated, as in v. 7 (see Matt. 18:15–17; Eph. 5:3, 11; 2 Thess. 3:6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:3 already pronounced judgment. Paul had passed judgment on the sinner, and the church also needed to.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:4 name of the Lord. Consistent with his holy person and will. assembled. This action is to be done when the church meets publicly (see notes on Matt. 18:15–18). power. Authority is in view. Action against unrepentant sinning in the church carries the weight of the Lord’s authority.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:5 deliver . . . to Satan. “Deliver” is a strong term, used of judicial sentencing. This is equal to excommunicating the professed believer. It amounts to putting that person out of the blessing of Christian worship and fellowship by thrusting him into Satan’s realm, the world system. See note on 1 Tim. 1:20. the destruction of the flesh. This refers to divine chastening for sin that can result in illness and even death. See notes on 1 Cor. 11:29–32; cf. Acts 5:1–11. spirit . . . saved. The unrepentant person may suffer greatly under God’s judgment, but will not be an evil influence in the church; and he will more likely be saved under that judgment than if tolerated and accepted in the church. day of the Lord. This is the time when the Lord returns with his rewards for his people. See note on 1 Cor. 1:8.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:6 boasting. It was not good because their proud sense of satisfaction blinded them to their duty in regard to blatant sin that devastated the church. leaven. See note on Mark 8:15. In Scripture, it is used to represent influence, in most cases evil influence, although in Matt. 13:33 it refers to the good influence of the kingdom of heaven (cf. Ex. 13:3, 7). whole lump. When tolerated, sin will permeate and corrupt the whole local church.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:7 Christ, our Passover. Just as unleavened bread symbolized being freed from Egypt by the Passover (Ex. 12:15–17), so the church is to be unleavened, since it has been separated from the dominion of sin and death by the perfect Passover Lamb, the Lord Jesus Christ. The church is, therefore, to remove everything sinful in order to be separate from the old life, including the influence of sinful church members.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:8 celebrate the festival. In contrast to the OT Passover feast celebrated annually, believers constantly celebrate the “feast” of the new Passover—Jesus Christ. As the Jews who celebrate Passover do so with unleavened bread, so believers celebrate their continual Passover with unleavened lives.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:9 my letter. A previous letter that Paul had written the church at Corinth instructed them to disassociate with the immoral (cf. v. 11; 2 Thess. 3:6–15).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:10 sexually immoral of this world. Evidently, the church had misinterpreted the advice in that letter and had stopped having contact with the unsaved in the world, while continuing to tolerate the sin of those in the church, which was even more dangerous to the fellowship. See John 17:15, 18. God intends us to be in the world as witnesses (cf. Matt. 5:13–16; Acts 1:8; Phil. 2:15).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:11 anyone who bears the name of brother. Paul clarifies his intention in the earlier letter. He expected them to disassociate with all who said they were brothers, but had a consistent pattern of sin. not even to eat. The meal was a sign of acceptance and fellowship in those days. See 2 Thess. 3:6, 14.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:12–13 outsiders. Paul never intended himself or the church to be judges of unbelievers outside the church, but to judge those inside (cf. 1 Pet. 4:17). Those on the outside are for God to judge and believers to evangelize. Those who sin on the inside, the church is to put out. First Corinthians 5:13 is quoted from Deut. 17:7.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:1 a grievance against another. The phrase in Greek was commonly used of a lawsuit (“go to law”). dare. Suing another believer in a secular law court is a daring act of disobedience because of its implications related to all sin—the displeasure of God. unrighteous. This does not refer to their moral character, but to their unsaved spiritual condition. of the saints. Believers are to settle all issues between themselves within the church.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:2 judge the world. Because Christians will assist Christ to judge the world in the millennial kingdom (Rev. 2:26–27; 3:21; cf. Dan. 7:22), they are more than qualified with the truth, the Spirit, the gifts, and the resources they presently have in him to settle small matters that come up among themselves in this present life.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:3 judge angels. The Greek word can mean “rule or govern.” Since the Lord himself will judge fallen angels (2 Pet. 2:4; Jude 6), it is likely this means we will have some rule in eternity over holy angels. Since angels are “ministering spirits” to serve the saints (Heb. 1:14), it seems reasonable that they will serve us in glory.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:4 This is a difficult verse to translate, as suggested by the widely varying English renderings. But the basic meaning is clear: when Christians have earthly quarrels and disputes among themselves, it is inconceivable that they would turn to those least qualified (unbelievers) to resolve the matter. The most legally untrained believers, who know the word of God and are obedient to the Spirit, are far more competent to settle disagreements between believers than the most experienced unbeliever, void of God’s truth and Spirit.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:5–6 shame. Such conduct as suing a fellow believer is not only a sinful shame (v. 5), but a complete failure to act obediently and righteously. Christians who take fellow Christians to court suffer moral defeat and spiritual loss even before the case is heard, and they become subject to divine chastening (cf. Heb. 12:3ff.).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:7 Why not rather suffer wrong? The implied answer is because of the shameful sin (v. 5) and the moral defeat (v. 8) that result from selfishness, a willingness to discredit God, his wisdom, power, and sovereign purpose, and to harm the church and the testimony of Christ’s gospel. defrauded. Christians have no right to insist on legal recourse in a public court. It is far better to trust God’s sovereign purposes in trouble and lose financially, than to be disobedient and suffer spiritually (see notes on Matt. 5:39; 18:21–34).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:8 you yourselves wrong and defraud. He is referring to those who sue their brothers in Christ being as guilty of the same misconduct they are suing to rectify.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:9–10 This catalog of sins, though not exhaustive, represents the major types of moral sin that characterize the unsaved.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:9 not inherit the kingdom. The kingdom is the spiritual sphere of salvation where God rules as king over all who belong to him by faith (see notes on Matt. 5:3, 10). All believers are in that spiritual kingdom, yet are waiting to enter into the full inheritance of it in the age to come. People who are characterized by these iniquities are not saved (1 Cor. 6:10). See notes on 1 John 3:9–10. While believers can and do commit these sins, they do not characterize them as an unbroken life pattern. When they do, it demonstrates that the person is not in God's kingdom. True believers who do sin, resent that sin and seek to gain the victory over it (cf. Rom. 7:14–25). sexually immoral. All who indulge in sexual immorality, but particularly unmarried persons. idolaters. Those who worship any false god or follow any false religious system. adulterers. Married persons who indulge in sexual acts outside their marriage. men who practice homosexuality. As the esv footnote indicates, these two terms in Greek refer to those who exchange and corrupt normal male-female sexual roles and relations. Transvestism, sex changes, and other gender perversions are included (cf. Gen. 1:27; Deut. 22:5). Those whom some translations refer to as “sodomites” or “effeminate” are so-called because the sin of male-male sex dominated the city of Sodom (Gen. 18:20; 19:4–5). This sinful perversion is condemned always, in any form, by Scripture (cf. Lev. 18:22; 20:13; Rom. 1:26–27; 1 Tim. 1:10).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:10 thieves . . . greedy. Both are guilty of the same basic sin of covetousness. Those who are greedy desire what belongs to others; thieves actually take it. revilers. People who try to destroy others with words. swindlers. Extortioners and embezzlers who steal indirectly, taking unfair advantage of others for their own financial gain.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:11 some of you. Though not all Christians have been guilty of all those particular sins, every Christian is equally an ex-sinner, since Christ came to save sinners (cf. Matt. 9:13; Rom. 5:20). Some who used to have those patterns of sinful life were falling into those old sins again, and needed reminding that if they went all the way back to live as they used to, they were not going to inherit eternal salvation, because it would indicate that they never were saved (cf. 2 Cor. 5:17). washed. Refers to new life, through spiritual cleansing and regeneration (cf. John 3:3–8; 2 Cor. 5:17; Eph. 2:10; Titus 3:5). sanctified. This results in new behavior, which a transformed life always produces. Sin's total domination is broken and replaced by a new pattern of obedience and holiness. Though not perfection, this is a new direction (see Rom. 6:17–18, 22). justified. This refers to a new standing before God, in which the Christian is clothed in Christ's righteousness. In his death, the believer's sins were put to his account and he suffered for them, so that his righteousness might be put to an account, so that we might be blessed for it (Rom. 3:26; 4:22–25; 2 Cor. 5:21; Phil. 3:8–9; 1 Pet. 3:18). by the Spirit. The Holy Spirit is the agent of salvation's transformation (cf. John 3:3–5).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:12–20 As one who is washed, sanctified, and justified eternally by God’s grace, the believer is set free (cf. Rom. 8:21, 33; Gal. 5:1, 13). The Corinthians had done with that freedom just what Paul had warned the Galatians not to do: “do not use your freedom as an opportunity for the flesh” (Gal. 5:13). So in this section, Paul exposed the error in the Corinthian Christians’ rationalization that they were free to sin, because it was covered by God’s grace.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:12 All things are lawful . . . but not . . . helpful. That may have been a Corinthian slogan. It was true that no matter what sins a believer commits, God forgives (Eph. 1:7), but not everything they did was profitable or beneficial. The price of abusing freedom and grace was very high. Sin always produces loss. not be enslaved. Cf. Rom. 6:14. Sin has power, and no sin is more enslaving than sexual sin. While it can never be the unbroken pattern of a true believer’s life, it can be the recurring habit that saps joy, peace, usefulness and brings divine chastening and even church discipline (cf. 1 Cor. 5:1ff.). See notes on 1 Thess. 4:3–5. Sexual sin controls, so the believer must never allow sin to have that control, but must master it in the Lord’s strength (see note on 1 Cor. 9:27). Paul categorically rejects the ungodly notion that freedom in Christ gives license to sin (cf. Rom. 7:6; 8:13, 21).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:13 Food . . . stomach. Perhaps this was a popular proverb to celebrate the idea that sex is purely biological, like eating. The influence of philosophical dualism may have contributed to this idea since it made only the body evil; therefore, what one did physically was not preventable and thus inconsequential. Because the relationship between these two is purely biological and temporal, the Corinthians, like many of their pagan friends, probably used that analogy to justify sexual immorality. The body . . . the Lord. Paul rejects the convenient justifying analogy. Bodies and food are temporal relations that will perish.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:14 Cf. Acts 2:32 and Eph. 1:19. Bodies of believers and the Lord have an eternal relationship that will never perish. He is referring to the believer’s body to be changed, raised, glorified, and made heavenly. See 1 Cor. 15:35–54; cf. Phil. 3:20–21.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:15 members. The believer’s body is not only for the Lord here and now (v. 14) but is of the Lord, a part of his body, the church (Eph. 1:22–23). The Christian’s body is a spiritual temple in which the Spirit of Christ lives (1 Cor. 12:3; John 7:38–39; 20:22; Acts 1:8; Rom. 8:9; 2 Cor. 6:16); therefore, when a believer commits a sexual sin, it involves Christ with a harlot. All sexual sin is harlotry. Never! These words translate the strongest Greek negative—“this should never be so.”

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:16 one flesh. Paul supports his point in the previous verse by appealing to the truth of Gen. 2:24 that defines the sexual union between a man and a woman as “one flesh.” When a person is joined to a harlot, it is a one-flesh experience; therefore Christ spiritually is joined to that harlot.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:17 one spirit with him. Further strengthening the point, Paul affirms that all sex outside of marriage is sin; but illicit relationships by believers are especially reprehensible because they profane Jesus Christ, with whom believers are one (John 14:18–23; 15:4, 7; 17:20–23; Rom. 12:5). This argument should make such sin unthinkable.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:18 Every other sin . . . is outside. There is a sense in which sexual sin destroys a person like no other, because it is so intimate and entangling, corrupting on the deepest human level. But Paul is probably alluding to venereal disease, prevalent and devastating in his day and today. No sin has greater potential to destroy the body, something a believer should avoid because of the reality given in vv. 19–20.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:19 not your own. A Christian’s body belongs to the Lord (v. 13), is a member of Christ (v. 15), and is the Holy Spirit’s temple. See notes on Rom. 12:1–2. Every act of fornication, adultery, or any other sin is committed by the believer in the sanctuary, the Most Holy Place, where God dwells. In the OT, the high priest only went in there once a year, and only after extensive cleansing, lest he be killed (Lev. 16).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:20 a price. The precious blood of Christ (see notes on 1 Pet. 1:18). glorify God. The Christian’s supreme purpose (1 Cor. 10:31).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1–11:34 This section comprises Paul’s answers to practical questions about which the Corinthians had written him (7:1) in a letter probably delivered by Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus (16:17). The first of those questions had to do with marriage, an area of trouble due to the moral corruption of the culture, which tolerated fornication, adultery, homosexuality, polygamy, and concubinage.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1–7 Some had the notion that because of all the sexual sin and marital confusion, it would be better to be single, even more spiritual to be celibate. This could lead some falsely pious people to advocate divorce in order to be single. These verses elevate singleness, as long as it is celibate, but they in no way teach that marriage is either wrong or inferior.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1 relations with a woman. This is a Jewish euphemism for sexual intercourse (see, e.g., Gen. 20:6; Ruth 2:9; Prov. 6:29). Paul is saying that it is good not to have sex, that is, to be single and celibate. It is not, however, the only good or even better than marriage (cf. Gen. 1:28; 2:18).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:2 immorality. There is a great danger of sexual sin when single (cf. Matt. 19:12). Marriage is God’s only provision for sexual fulfillment. Marriage should not be reduced simply to that, however. Paul has a much higher view and articulates it in Eph. 5:22–23. He is, here, stressing the issue of sexual sin for people who are single.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:3 conjugal rights. Married believers are not sexually deprive their spouses. While celibacy is right for the single, it is wrong for the married. The practice of deprivation may have been most common when a believer had an unsaved spouse (for more on unsaved spouses, see notes on vv. 10–17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:4 authority. By the marriage covenant, each partner is given the right over the spouse’s body for the satisfaction of the other.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:5 deprive. This command may indicate that this kind of deprivation was going on among believers, perhaps reacting to the gross sexual sins of their past and wanting to leave all that behind. Husbands and wives may abstain temporarily from sexual activity, but only when they mutually agree to do so for intercession, as a part of their fasting. come together again. Sexual intercourse is to be soon renewed after the spiritual interruption. so that Satan may not tempt. Cf. 1 Thess. 3:5. After the agreed-upon “time” of abstinence, sexual desires intensify and a spouse becomes more vulnerable to sinful desire. See notes on Matt. 4:1–11 and 2 Cor. 2:11.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:6 concession. A better translation of the Greek would be “awareness” or “to have a mutual opinion.” Paul was very aware of the God-ordained advantages of both singleness and marriage, and was not commanding marriage because of the temptation of singleness. Spirituality is not connected at all to marital status, though marriage is God’s good gift (see 1 Pet. 3:7, “the grace of life”).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:7 as I myself am. As a single person, Paul recognized the special freedom and independence he had to serve Christ (see notes on vv. 32–34). But he did not expect all believers to be single, nor all who were single to stay that way, nor all who were married to act celibate as if they were single. gift from God. Both singleness and marriage are God’s gracious gifts.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:8 unmarried . . . widows. “Unmarried” is a term used four times in the NT, and only in 1 Corinthians (cf. vv. 11, 32, 34). This verse makes it clear that the unmarried and widows are distinct. Verse 11 identifies the divorced as the “unmarried” to be distinguished from “widows” (vv. 39–40; single by death) and virgins (vv. 25, 28; never married). Each use of “unmarried,” then, refers to those formerly married, presently single, but not widowed. They are the divorced. It is likely these people who were formerly married wanted to know if they, as Christians, could or should remarry. as I. Paul was possibly a widower, and could here affirm his former marriage by identifying with the unmarried and widows. His first suggestion is that they stay single because of its freedoms in serving the Lord (vv. 25–27, 32–34). See notes on Anna in Luke 2:36–37.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:9 should marry. The Greek tense indicates a command, since a person can’t live a happy life and serve the Lord effectively if dominated by unfulfilled sexual passion—especially in that Corinthian society.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:10 not I, but the Lord. What Paul writes to these believers was already made clear by Jesus during his earthly ministry (Matt. 5:31–32; 19:5–8; cf. Gen. 2:24; Mal. 2:16). separate. This word is used as a synonym for divorce, as indicated by the parallel use of the word “divorce” in 1 Cor. 7:11.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:11 remain unmarried. If a Christian divorces another Christian except for adultery (see notes on Matt. 5:31–32; 19:8–9), neither partner is free to marry another person. They should reconcile, or at least remain unmarried.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:12 To the rest. Those not covered by the instruction of vv. 10–11. I say. Not a denial of inspiration or an indication that Paul is giving human opinion, but simply a way of saying that Jesus had not spoken on this and God had not previously given revelation on the matter, as Paul was then writing. Apparently, some Christians felt they should divorce their unsaved spouses, to live celibately or marry a believer.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:12–13 Some believers must have felt that being married to an unbeliever was somehow defiling. However, just the opposite is true (v. 14).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:14 made holy. This does not refer to salvation; otherwise the spouse would not be spoken of as unbelieving. The sanctification is matrimonial and familial, not personal or spiritual, and means that the unsaved partner is set apart for temporal blessing because the other belongs to God. One Christian in a marriage brings grace that spills over on the spouse—even possibly leading them to salvation. children . . . are holy. The Christian need not separate from an unbeliever because of fear that the unbelieving spouse may defile the children. God promises the opposite. They would be unclean if both parents were unsaved, but the presence of one believing parent exposes the children to blessing and brings them protection. The presence of even one Christian parent will protect children from undue spiritual harm and they will receive many blessings, and often that includes salvation.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:15 let it be. A term referring to divorce (cf. vv. 10–11). When an unbelieving spouse cannot tolerate the partner’s faith and wants a divorce, it is best to let that happen in order to preserve peace in the family (cf. Rom. 12:18). The bond of marriage is broken only by death (Rom. 7:2), adultery (Matt. 19:9), or an unbeliever’s leaving. not enslaved. When the bond is broken in any of those ways, a Christian is free to marry another believer. Throughout Scripture, whenever legitimate divorce occurs, remarriage is assumed. When divorce is permitted, so is remarriage. By implication, the permission for a widow to remarry (1 Cor. 7:39–40; Rom. 7:3) because the “bond” is broken, extends to this case where there is no more bondage.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:16 Some may have been reluctant to let go of their unsaved spouse, who wanted out and was creating discord in the home—thinking they could evangelize the spouse by hanging on for the purpose of seeing that one converted. Paul says there are no such assurances and it is better to divorce and be at peace (v. 15), if the unsaved partner wants to end the marriage that way.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:17–24 Discontent was prevalent among these new believers in the Corinthian church. As noted up to this point (vv. 1–16), some wanted to change their marital status, some were slaves who wanted to be free, and some used their freedom in Christ to rationalize sinning. In a general response to that, this passage plainly repeats the basic principle that Christians should willingly accept the marital condition and social situations into which God has placed them and be content to serve him there until he leads them elsewhere.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:17 For the first of three times (vv. 20, 24), Paul states the principle of contentment, which is required of all Christians.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:18 call. As always in the epistles, this term refers to God's effectual call that saves (see note on Rom. 8:30). circumcised . . . uncircumcised. With Judaizers demanding all Gentile believers in Christ to be circumcised (Gal. 5:1–6), and with some Christian Jews wanting to disassociate with Judaism and thus having a surgery to become uncircumcised (as addressed in rabbinic literature), Paul needed to clarify the issue by saying that neither was necessary. Figuratively, the idea is that when a Jew became a Christian, he was not to give up his racial and cultural identity in order to appear like a Gentile. Likewise, a Gentile was not to become culturally like a Jew (1 Cor. 7:19). Culture, social order, and external ceremony have no bearing on spiritual life. What matters is faith and obedience.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:21 Were you a slave . . . ? Paul is not approving all slavery, but is teaching that a person who is a slave is still able to obey and honor Christ (Eph. 6:5–8; Col. 3:23; 1 Tim. 6:1–2). Do not be concerned about it. In modern society, this seems an insensitive command to those who wrongly assume that freedom is some God-given right, rather than a preferable option.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:22 the Lord . . . freedman. In the ways that truly count, no man is freer than a Christian. No bondage is as terrible as that of sin, from which Christ frees the believer. slave of Christ. Those who are not slaves, but free in the social sense, are in the spiritual sense made slaves of Christ in salvation (Rom. 6:22).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:23 price. The blood of Christ (6:20; 1 Pet. 1:19). slaves of men. This refers to sinful slavery, i.e., becoming slaves to the ways of men, the ways of the world, and of the flesh. This is the slavery about which to be concerned.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:25–40 Having already established that both marriage and singleness are good and right before the Lord (vv. 1–9), and for the person who has the gift of singleness (v. 7), that state has many practical advantages, Paul continued to answer the questions about which the Corinthians had written him (see note on v. 1). Paul gives six reasons for never marrying, in relationship to the downside of marriage, but remaining single (virgins): 1) pressure from the system (vv. 25–27); 2) problems of the flesh (v. 28); 3) passing of the world (vv. 29–31); 4) preoccupations of marriage (vv. 32–35); 5) promises from fathers (vv. 36–38); and 6) permanency of marriage (vv. 39–40).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:25 I have no command. See note on v. 12. The conviction given here is not a command, but is thoroughly dependable and sound advice to remain a virgin, which is counsel included by the inspiration of the Spirit from a trustworthy man.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:26 present distress. An unspecified, current calamity. Perhaps Paul anticipated the imminent Roman persecutions that began within 10 years after this epistle was written. remain as he is. Persecution is difficult enough for a single person to endure, but problems and pain are multiplied for those who are married, especially if they have children.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:27 The benefits of singleness notwithstanding, married people must remain married. be free. Divorce is in view.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:28 marry, you have not sinned. Marriage is a fully legitimate and godly option for both the divorced (on biblical grounds; see note on v. 15) and virgins. worldly troubles. “Trouble” means lit. “pressed together, or under pressure.” Marriage can involve conflicts, demands, difficulties, and adjustments that singleness does not, because it presses two fallen people into intimate life that leads to inevitable “trouble.” The troubles of singleness may be exceeded by the conflicts of marriage.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:29 time has grown very short. Human life is brief (cf. James 4:14; 1 Pet. 1:24). as though they had none. This does not teach that marriage is no longer binding or treated with seriousness (cf. Eph. 5:22–33; Col. 3:18–19), nor should there be any physical deprivation (1 Cor. 7:3–5); but Paul is teaching that marriage should not at all reduce one’s devotion to the Lord and service to him (cf. Col. 3:2). He means to keep the eternal priority (see 1 Cor. 7:31).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:30 The mature Christian does not get so swept up in the emotion of this life so as to lose motivation, hope, and purpose.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:31 deal . . . had no dealings. This refers to the normal commercial materialism and pleasures that govern in the world. Believers are not to be swept up in earthly enterprises so that heavenly matters become secondary. form. This refers to a manner of life, a fashion or way of doing things.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:32–33 free from anxieties. A single person is free from concern about the earthly needs of a spouse and therefore potentially better able to set himself apart exclusively for the Lord’s work.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:33 worldly things. These are earthly matters connected to the passing system (v. 31).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:33–34 how to please his wife . . . her husband. Here is a basic and expected principle for a good marriage—each seeking to please the other.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:34 The first part of this verse is preferably rendered in some manuscripts, “and his interests are divided. And the woman who is unmarried and the virgin . . .” This is important because it distinguishes clearly between the “unmarried” and “virgins,” who, therefore, can’t be the same. “Virgins” (see esv footnote) are single people never married, while “unmarried” must be single by divorce. “Widows” is the term for those made single by death (see note on v. 8).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:35 Marriage does not prevent great devotion to the Lord, but it brings more potential matters to interfere with it. Singleness has fewer hindrances, though not guaranteed greater spiritual virtue. undivided devotion. See notes on vv. 26, 29, 33.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:36 his betrothed. Lit., virgin; see esv footnote. It is better to understand the subject as the father, not the intended husband. That is, a man's daughter. Apparently in Corinth some of the fathers intending devotion to the Lord had dedicated their young daughters to the Lord as permanent virgins. Passions are strong. This phrase is better translated "past her youth." Fully matured as a woman capable of child-bearing, it has to be. When daughters became of marriageable age and insisted on being married, their fathers were free to break the vow and let them marry.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:37 no necessity. This means the father who has kept his daughter a virgin and is not under constraint by the daughter to change his mind, does well to fulfill his desire for her to be singularly devoted to the Lord (v. 34). As with those who remain single (v. 28), the choice was not between right and wrong.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:39 bound. God's law designed marriage for life (cf. Gen. 2:24; Mal. 2:16; Rom. 7:1–3). It is so permanent that the disciples thought it may be better not to marry (see note on Matt. 19:10). only in the Lord. That is, free to marry a believer only. This is true for all believers who marry or remarry (see 2 Cor. 6:14–16).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:40 I too have the Spirit. Perhaps with a touch of sarcasm, Paul affirmed that this sound advice was given by the Holy Spirit.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:1–11:1 Paul addresses liberty in the church (see notes on Rom. 14).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:1 food offered to idols. The Greeks and Romans were polytheistic (worshipping many gods) and polydemonistic (believing in many evil spirits). They believed that evil spirits would try to invade human beings by attaching themselves to food before it was eaten, and that the spirits could be removed only by the food's being sacrificed to a god. The sacrifice was meant not only to gain favor with the god, but also to cleanse the meat from demonic contamination. Such decontaminated meat was offered to the gods as a sacrifice. That which was not burned on the altar was served at wicked pagan feasts. What was left was sold in the market. After conversion, believers resented eating such food bought out of idol markets, because it reminded sensitive Gentile believers of their previous pagan lives and the demonic worship. all of us possess knowledge. Paul and mature believers knew better than to be bothered by such food offered once to idols and then sold in the marketplace. They knew the deities did not exist and that evil spirits did not contaminate the food. See note on 1 Tim. 4:3. love builds up. Knowledge mingled with love prevents a believer from exercising freedoms that offend weaker believers and, rather, builds the others up in truth and wisdom (cf. 1 Cor. 13:1–4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:2–3 Love is the proof of knowing God. Cf. 1 John 4:19–5:1.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:4 Paul states his agreement with the well taught believers who knew idols were nothing, so food offered to idols was not defiled.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:5 so-called gods. Some were outright fakes and some were manifestations of demons, but none were truly gods (Ps. 115:4–7; Acts 19:26).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:6 one God, the Father . . . one Lord, Jesus Christ. A powerful and clear affirmation of the essential equality of God the Father and God the Son (cf. Eph. 4:4–6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:7 conscience . . . is defiled. The consciences of some newer converts were still accusing them strongly with regard to allowing them to eat idol food without feeling spiritually corrupted and guilty. They still imagined that idols were real and evil. A defiled conscience is one that has been violated, bringing fear, shame, and guilt. See notes on Rom. 14:20–23.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:8 commend us to God. The idea is of bringing us nearer to God or making us approved by him. Food is spiritually neutral.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:9–11 stumbling block. Some believers would be caused to fall back into old sins by getting involved with foods offered to idols.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:11 destroyed. See note on Matt. 18:14. for whom Christ died. Christ died for all who believe, actually bearing the penalty for their sin and fully satisfying the wrath of God.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:12 you sin against Christ. A strong warning that causing a brother or sister in Christ to stumble is more than simply an offense against that person; it is a serious offense against the Lord himself (see notes on Matt. 18:6–14).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:13 See notes on Rom. 14:14–15, 17, 20.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:1–2 In ch. 8, Paul set out the limits of Christian liberty. In this chapter he sets forth how he followed them in his own life. In 9:1–18, he discusses his right to be financially supported by those to whom he ministers. In vv. 19–27, he explains how he would give up all rights to win people to Christ. All of these questions are rhetorical, the “yes” answer to each being assumed.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:2 seal of my apostleship. The existence of the church in Corinth was evidence of Paul’s apostolic authenticity.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:3 examine. Using this Greek legal term for a preliminary investigation required before a decision was reached in a case, Paul sets out to defend his rights.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:4 right to eat and drink. Cf. 1 Tim. 5:17–18. He was entitled to be married (v. 5) and to receive financial support from those to whom he ministered.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:5 Cephas. Peter, who was married (cf. Mark 1:29–31).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:6 working. With sarcasm, Paul, a tentmaker (Acts 18:3), let the Corinthians know that he and Barnabas had as much right as others to receive full financial support from their work. Except for help from a few churches (e.g., Phil. 4:15–16), they paid their own expenses not because of obligation or necessity, but voluntarily.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:7 Who plants a vineyard. Cf. 2 Tim. 2:6.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:9 Law. The Scripture, as quoted from Deut. 25:4.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:10 for our sake. As in agriculture, men should earn their living from their labor.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:11 material things. Financial support. See note on 1 Tim. 5:17. Cf. 2 Cor. 8:1–5.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:12 others share this rightful claim. Apparently, the church had financially supported other ministers. endure. False teachers sought money. Paul wanted to be certain he was not classed with them, so he endured not accepting support, so as not to offend. Cf. Acts 20:34 and 2 Thess. 3:8.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:13 share in the sacrificial offerings. Old Testament priests were supported by the tithes of crops and animals, as well as of financial gifts (Num. 18:8–24; cf. Gen. 14:18–21).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:14 get their living by the gospel. This refers to earning a living by preaching the good news.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:15 no use of any of these rights. The six reasons given in vv. 1–14 that indicate his right to financial support. nor am I writing. He was not underhandedly hoping that, despite his protest, the Corinthians would feel obligated to pay him (2 Cor. 11:8–9; cf. 1 Thess. 2:9; 2 Thess. 3:8; 1 Pet. 5:2). rather die. He preferred death to having anyone think he ministered with a financial motive. See Acts 20:33–35 and 1 Pet. 5:2. deprive me of . . . boasting. The term “boast” refers to that in which one glories or to the basis of one’s glorying, and carries the idea of rejoicing. It is a statement of sincere joy, not pride (cf. 1 Cor. 1:31; Rom. 15:17). Paul was genuinely overjoyed for the privilege of serving the Lord and did not want material support to rob him of it in any way.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:16 no ground for boasting. That is to say, his boast (cf. v. 15) was not personal. He was not proud as if it were his gospel; nor was he proud about the way he preached it, as if it were his ability. necessity. Paul did not preach from personal pride, but from divine compulsion. He had no other choice, because God had sovereignly set him apart for service (see Acts 9:3–6, 15; 26:13–19; Gal. 1:15; Col. 1:25; cf. Jer. 1:5; 20:9; Luke 1:13–17). Woe. God’s severest chastening is reserved for unfaithful ministers (Heb. 13:17; James 3:1).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:17 not of my own will. This does not indicate that Paul was unwilling to obey but that his will had no part in the call itself. Since it was God’s sovereign choice and call, he received not a “reward,” but a “stewardship” (a valuable responsibility or duty to be carefully managed).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:18 my reward. Not money, but the privilege of preaching the gospel without support, was Paul’s reward, so that he set aside his liberty (“right”).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:19 a servant. By choice, he set aside his right to be supported, and thus “enslaved” himself to self-support, in order to remove a potential offense and win more people to Jesus Christ (cf. Prov. 11:30).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:20 became as a Jew. Within the limits of God’s word and his Christian conscience, Paul would be as culturally and socially Jewish as necessary when witnessing to Jews (cf. Rom. 9:3; 10:1; 11:14). He was not bound to ceremonies and traditions of Judaism. All legal restraints had been removed, but there was the constraint of love (cf. Rom. 9:3; 10:1; 11:14). For examples of this identification with customs of the Jews, see notes on Acts 16:3; 18:18; 21:20–26.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:21 those outside the law. Gentiles. Paul was not suggesting the violating of God’s moral law, but, as he explained, not being lawless toward God, but abiding by the law of Jesus Christ (cf. James 1:25; 2:8, 12).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:22 weak. He stooped to make the gospel clear at the lower level of comprehension, which Paul no doubt had done often while dealing with the Corinthians themselves (cf. 2:1–5). all things . . . all means. Within the bounds of God’s word, he would not offend the Jew, Gentile, or those weak in understanding. Not changing Scripture or compromising the truth, he would condescend in ways that could lead to salvation.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:24–27 Liberty cannot be limited without self-control, since the flesh resists limits on its freedom. Here, Paul speaks of his personal self-control.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:24 race. The Greeks enjoyed two great athletic events, the Olympic games and the Isthmian games, and because the Isthmian events were held in Corinth, believers there were quite familiar with this analogy of running to win.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:25 self-control. Self-control is crucial to victory. wreath. A wreath of greenery given to the winner of the race. Cf. 2 Tim. 4:8 and 1 Pet. 5:4.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:26 aimlessly. Four times he has mentioned his goal of winning people to salvation (vv. 19, 22). beating the air. Paul changes the metaphor to boxing to illustrate the point that he was no shadow boxer, just waving his arms without effect (cf. 1 Tim. 1:18).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:27 discipline. From a term lit. meaning to hit under the eye. He knocked out the bodily impulses to keep them from preventing him from his mission of winning souls to Christ. disqualified. Another metaphor from the athletic games. A contestant who failed to meet basic training requirements could not participate at all, much less have an opportunity to win. Paul may be especially referring to such fleshly sins that disqualify a man from preaching and leading the church, particularly being blameless and above reproach in the sexual area, since such sin is a disqualification (see notes on Ps. 101:6; 1 Tim. 3:2; Titus 1:6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:1–13 Ancient Israel’s 40-year journey between Egypt and Canaan (Ex. 13:21; 14:16; 16:15; 17:6) is a sobering illustration of the misuse of freedom and the dangers of overconfidence. The Israelites misused their new-found freedom, fell into idolatry, immorality, and rebelliousness, disqualifying themselves from receiving the Lord’s blessing.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:1 to know. This transition leads from the lack of self-discipline and subsequent disqualification spoken of in 9:27 to an illustration of it in ancient Israel. our fathers. Paul is referring to ancient Israel, of whom he was a descendant. In particular, he asked his readers to remember what had happened to Israel in the wilderness, because of freedom without self-control. under the cloud. Guided by God’s presence as a cloud by day and column of fire at night (see Ex. 13:21). through the sea. The Red Sea, which opened for Israel to pass through and closed to drown the Egyptian army (see Ex. 14:26–31).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:2 baptized. Israel was immersed, not in the sea, but “into Moses,” indicating their oneness, or solidarity, with him as their leader.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:3–4 spiritual food . . . drink. Actual food provided by the spiritual power of God. See Ex. 16:15 and 17:6.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:4 spiritual Rock. The Jews had a legend that the actual rock Moses struck followed them throughout their wilderness wanderings, providing water for them. Paul says they have a Rock providing all they need, but it is Christ. Rock (petra) refers to a massive cliff, not simply a large stone or boulder, signifying the preincarnate Messiah (Christ), who protected and sustained his people. Cf. Matt. 16:18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:5 not pleased. This is an understatement. Because of Israel’s extreme disobedience, God allowed only two of the men over 19 who had originally left Egypt (Joshua and Caleb) to enter the Promised Land; all the others died in the wilderness, including Moses and Aaron who were disqualified from entering the land (Num. 20:8–12, 24).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:6 examples for us. They died in the wilderness because of their failure of self-discipline and consequent indulgence of every desire (see note on 9:27). Four major sins characterized them: idolatry (v. 7); sexual immorality (v. 8); testing God (v. 9); and complaining (v. 10).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:7 idolaters. The Israelites were barely out of Egypt when they fell into idol worship. Exodus 32 records the story (v. 6 is quoted here). Some 3,000 were executed for instigating an immoral orgy at Sinai (Ex. 32:28). See Ex. 20:3; Ezek. 14:3; 1 John 5:21; Rev. 22:9. play. A euphemism for the gross sexual relations that followed the excessive feasting.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:8 twenty-three thousand. Having just quoted from Ex. 32 in 1 Cor. 10:7, this very likely also refers to the incident in Ex. 32, not to the incident at Shittim in Num. 25. Apparently 3,000 were killed by the Levites (Ex. 32:28) and 20,000 died in the plague (Ex. 32:35).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:9 Christ to the test. Numbers 21 records this story of the people questioning the goodness and plan of the One carrying them through the wilderness, the Protector and Provider, the spiritual Rock, Christ preincarnate (see note on v. 4). serpents. See Num. 21:6; cf. 1 Cor. 11:30.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:10 Destroyer. This incident is recorded in Num. 16:3–41. The same angel had slain the firstborn of the Egyptians (Ex. 12:23), the 70,000 men because of David's census (2 Sam. 24:15–16), and the entire Assyrian army that was besieging Jerusalem (2 Chron. 32:21).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:11 the end of the ages. The time of Messiah; the last days of redemptive history before the messianic kingdom. See Heb. 9:26 and 1 John 2:18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:12 Cf. Prov. 16:18. The Bible is filled with examples of overconfidence (see Est. 3–5; Isa. 37:36–38; Luke 22:33–34, 54–62; Rev. 3:1–3, 17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:13 temptation. See notes on James 1:13–15; cf. Matt. 6:13. common to man. One Greek word meaning “that which is human.”

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:16 cup of blessing. The proper name given to the third cup during the Passover feast. At the last Passover with the disciples, Jesus used the third cup as the symbol of his blood shed for sin. That cup became the one used to institute the Lord's Supper. He set the cup apart as a token of salvation blessing before passing it to the Twelve (see notes on Luke 22:17, 20). a participation. This word means “to have in common, to participate and have partnership with.” The same Greek word is used in 1 Cor. 1:9; 2 Cor. 8:4; Phil. 2:1; 3:10. Commemorating the Lord's Supper was a regular and cherished practice in the early church, by which believers remembered their Savior's death and celebrated their common salvation and eternal life, which reflected their perfect spiritual oneness. the blood of Christ. A vivid phrase used to represent Christ's sacrificial death and full atoning work. See note on Rom. 5:9. See Acts 20:28; Rom. 3:25; Eph. 1:7; 2:13; Col. 1:20; 1 Pet. 1:19; 1 John 1:7; Rev. 1:5; 5:9. The bread. This symbolized our Lord's body as the cup symbolized his blood. Both point to his death as a sacrifice for the salvation of men.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:17 is one bread. This refers to the bread of communion as the symbol of Christ's body given for all who believe. Since we all partake of that body, we are one. See note on 6:17.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:18 Consider . . . Israel. In the OT sacrifices, the offering was on behalf of all who ate (see Lev. 7:15–18). By such action, the people were identifying with the offering and affirming their devotion to God to whom it was offered. Paul was, by this, implying how any sacrifice made to an idol (see 1 Cor. 10:7, 14) was identifying with and participating with that idol. It is completely inconsistent for believers to participate in any such worship (10:21).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:19–20 Idols and the things sacrificed to them have no spiritual nature or power in themselves (cf. 8:4, 8), but they do represent the demonic. If pagan worshipers believe an idol was a god, demons act out the part of the imagined god (cf. 2 Thess. 2:9–11). There is not a true god in the idol, but there is a satanic spiritual force (cf. Deut. 32:17; Ps. 106:37).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:22 jealousy. God tolerates no competition and will not allow idolatry to go unpunished. (Deut. 32:21; Jer. 25:6, 9; Rev. 21:8; cf. 1 Cor. 11:30).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:23–30 Paul gives four principles for Christian liberty: 1) edification over gratification (v. 23); 2) others over self (v. 24); 3) liberty over legalism (vv. 25–27); and 4) condescension over condemnation (vv. 28–30).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:23 See note on 6:12. build up. To build up in Christian doctrine (cf. 8:1; 14:3–4, 26; Acts 20:32; 2 Cor. 12:19; Eph. 4:12; 2 Tim. 3:16–17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:24 See notes on Phil. 2:3.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:25–26 Quoting Ps. 24:1, Paul declares that believers, though not participating in idol ceremonies (see notes on 1 Cor. 10:18–20), should not hesitate to buy meat once used in such ceremonies and eat it without guilt (see note on 1 Tim. 4:4–5).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:27 eat whatever. So as not to offend the unbeliever.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:28–29 Even if you are the guest of an unbeliever and don't want to offend him, it is better to offend the unbeliever and not eat for the sake of the weaker Christian who would be offended to eat, since love to other believers is the strongest witness we have (John 13:34–35).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:29 my liberty be determined by someone else's conscience. Offending a weaker brother with one's freedom will cause the offended person to condemn us.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:30 We can't truly offer thanks to God for some food by which we cause another believer to stumble.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:31 glory. Christian liberty, as well as the most common behavior, is to be conducted to the honor of God. Cf. Ezek. 36:23.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:32 Those three groups cover all humanity. We are to be careful to offend none.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:33 please everyone. See notes on 9:19–22.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:1 Be imitators of me. See notes on 4:16; Eph. 5:1; Phil. 3:17; 4:9.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:2 traditions. In the strict sense used here, a synonym for God's word (cf. 2 Thess. 2:15). The NT sometimes uses the word in a negative way, referring to man-made ideas or practices, especially those that conflict with Scripture (cf. Matt. 15:2–6; Gal. 1:14; Col. 2:8).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:3–15 There is no distinction between men and women as far as personal worth, intellect, or spirituality are concerned (cf. Gal. 3:28). That women function uniquely in God's order, however, submitting to men's authority, Paul affirms by several points: 1) the pattern in the Godhead (1 Cor. 11:3); 2) the divine design of male and female (v. 7); 3) the order of creation

(v. 8); 4) the purpose of woman in regard to man (v. 9); 5) the concern of the angels (v. 10); and 6) the characteristics of natural physiology (vv. 13–15).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:3 Christ. Christ is the head of the church as its Savior and Lord (cf. Eph. 1:22–23; 4:15; Col. 1:18). He is also the Lord over every unbeliever (cf. Matt. 28:18; Heb. 2:8). Someday all will acknowledge his authority (cf. Phil. 2:10–11). man. Men have authority over women in the basic order of creation (cf. 1 Cor. 11:8–9; cf. Isa. 3:12; Eph. 5:22–33). See notes on 1 Tim. 2:11–15. God. Christ has never been in any way inferior in essence to the Father (John 10:30; 17:21–24), but in his incarnation he willingly submitted himself to the Father’s will in humble obedience (1 Cor. 3:23; 15:24–28; cf. John 4:34; 5:30; 6:38).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:4 head covered dishonors. Lit., “having down from head,” is probably a reference to men wearing a head covering, which seems to have been a local custom. Jews began wearing head coverings during the fourth century A.D., although some may already have been wearing them in NT times. Apparently, Corinthian men were doing the same, and Paul informs them that it is a disgrace. Paul is not stating a universal law from God, but acknowledging a local custom, which did reflect divine principle. In that society, a man’s uncovered head was a sign of his authority over women, who were to have their heads covered. For a man to cover his head was to suggest a reversal of proper roles.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:5 wife who prays or prophesies. Paul makes clear directives that women are not to lead or speak in the services of the church (cf. 14:34; 1 Tim. 2:12), but they may pray and proclaim the truth to unbelievers, as well as teaching children and other women (cf. 1 Tim. 5:16; Titus 2:3–4). See note on Acts 21:9. Wherever and whenever women do pray and proclaim the word appropriately, they must do so maintaining a proper distinction from men. uncovered. In the culture of Corinth, a woman’s covered head while ministering or worshiping was a symbol to signify a subordinate relationship to her husband. The apostle is not laying down an absolute law for women to wear veils or coverings in all churches for all time, but is declaring that the symbols of the divinely established male and female roles are to be genuinely honored in every culture. As in the case of meat offered to idols (1 Cor. 8–9), there is nothing spiritual about wearing or not wearing a covering. But manifesting rebellion against God’s order was wrong. dishonors her head. “Head” may refer to her own self being disgraced by refusing to conform to recognized symbols of submission, or to her husband, who is disgraced by her behavior.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:6 disgraceful . . . cut off her hair. In that day only a prostitute or a feminist would shave her head. If a Christian woman rejected the covering that symbolized her submission in that culture, she might as well have shaved her head—the shame was similar.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:7 image and glory of God. Though men and women were both created in God’s image (Gen. 1:27), it is man who bears the glory of God uniquely by his role. Like God, he is given a sphere of sovereignty as the earthly sovereign over God’s created order. See notes on Gen. 3:16–17.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:7–8 woman is the glory of man. As man carries authority delegated to him by God, so woman carries authority delegated to her by God through her husband. Man came from God; woman came from man (cf. Gen. 2:9–23; 1 Tim. 2:11–13).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:9 See Gen. 2:18–23.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:10 angels. Women are to be submissive by wearing the symbol of authority so as not to offend these most holy and submissive creatures who watch the church (cf. Matt. 18:10; Eph. 3:9–10), who were present (Job 38:4, 7) at creation, when God designed the order of authority for men and women.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:11–12 All believers, male and female, are equal in the Lord and complementary in the Lord’s work. Their roles are different in function and relationships, not in spirituality or importance (cf. Gal. 3:28). See note on 1 Tim. 2:15.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:13 is it proper. Aside from apostolic command, Paul asked, in effect, “Isn’t it self-evident that women should not be uncovered?”

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:14–15 nature. The term can convey the idea of basic human awareness, i.e., the innate sense of what is normal and right. The male hormone, testosterone, speeds up the loss of hair in men. Estrogen causes women’s hair to grow longer and for a longer time. Women are rarely bald, no matter how old. This physiology is reflected in most cultures in the custom of longer hair on women. God has given her hair as a covering to show tenderness, softness, and beauty.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:16 no such practice. Neither the Lord, the apostles, nor the churches would allow female rebellion. Women were to maintain their distinctively feminine hairdos; and when custom dictated, they should wear a covering.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:17–34 The early church love feasts (cf. Jude 12) usually closed with observance of the Lord’s Supper. The worldly, fleshly church at Corinth had turned those sacred meals into gluttonous, drunken revelries (1 Cor. 11:17; cf. 2 Pet. 2:13). Beyond that, wealthy believers brought ample food and drink for themselves but refused to share, letting their poorer brethren go away hungry (1 Cor. 11:21).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:17 worse. A comparative Greek word that refers to moral evil.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:18 divisions. The church was torn by dissension (see 1:10–17; 3:1–3).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:19 genuine . . . recognized. Factions revealed who passed the test of spiritual genuineness and purity (cf. 1 Thess. 2:4).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:20 it is not the Lord’s supper that you eat. The love feast and communion celebration had become so perverted that it was a sinful, selfish mockery. They could not legitimately say it was devoted to the Lord, since it was not honoring to him.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:21–22 If they intended to selfishly indulge themselves, they might as well have stayed at home.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:23–26 While the information was not new to the Corinthians, because Paul had previously “delivered” it, it is an important reminder. This description of Christ’s final supper with his disciples is one of the most beautiful in all of Scripture, yet it was given in the midst of a strong rebuke of carnal selfishness. If this letter was written before any of the Gospels (see Matt. 26:26–30; Mark 14:22–26; Luke 22:17–20; John 13:2), as most conservative scholars believe, then Paul’s instruction was the first biblical record of the institution of the Lord’s Supper—given directly from the Lord and not through his reading of any other apostles (cf. Gal. 1:10–12).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:25 new covenant in my blood. The Old Covenant was practiced repeatedly by the blood of animals offered by men; but the New Covenant has been ratified once and for all by the death of Christ (cf. Heb. 9:28). in remembrance of me. Jesus transformed the third cup of the Passover into the cup of remembrance of his offering (see note on 1 Cor. 10:16).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:26 The gospel is presented through the service of communion as the elements are explained. They point to his physical incarnation, sacrificial death, resurrection, and coming kingdom.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:27 in an unworthy manner. I.e., ritualistically, indifferently, with an unrepentant heart, a spirit of bitterness, or any other ungodly attitude. guilty. To come to the Lord's Table clinging to one's sin does not only dishonor the ceremony, but it also dishonors his body and blood, treating lightly the gracious sacrifice of Christ for us. It is necessary to set all sin before the Lord (v. 28), then partake, so as not to mock the sacrifice for sin by holding on to it.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:29 judgment. I.e., chastisement. without discerning the body. When believers do not properly judge the holiness of the celebration of Communion, they treat with indifference the Lord himself—his life, suffering, and death (cf. Acts 7:52; Heb. 6:6; 10:29).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:30 died. See note on 15:18. The offense was so serious that God put the worst offenders to death, an extreme but effective form of church purification (cf. Luke 13:1–5; Acts 5:1–11; 1 John 5:16).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:32 Believers are kept from being consigned to hell, not only by divine decree, but by divine intervention. The Lord chastens to drive his people back to righteous behavior and even sends death to some in the church (v. 30) to remove them before they could fall away (cf. Jude 24).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:34 There is no point in gathering together to sin and be chastened.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:1–14:40 This section focuses on spiritual gifts in the church, dealing with a vital, but controversial, subject. The false religion situation in Corinth caused counterfeit spiritual manifestations that had to be confronted. The church was being informed on this subject by Paul and its behavior would be regulated by the truth and the Spirit.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:1 spiritual gifts. The word “gifts” is not in the original but is implied by the context (cf. vv. 4, 9, 28, 30–31; 14:1). The Greek lit. means “pertaining to the Spirit,” referring to that which has spiritual qualities or characteristics or is under some form of spiritual control. Spiritual gifts are divine enablements for ministry that the Holy Spirit gives in some measure to all believers and that are to be completely under his control and used for the building of the church to Christ’s glory (see notes on Rom. 12:4–8). These had to be distinguished from the mystical experiences called “ecstasy” (supernatural, sensuous communion with a deity) and “enthusiasm” (divination, dreams, revelations, visions) that were found in the pagan religions of Corinth.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:2 pagans. That is, Gentiles (1 Thess. 4:5; 1 Pet. 2:12). led astray. Incredibly, some church members were mimicking certain dramatic and bizarre practices of the mystery religions in which they had been formerly involved. The practice of ecstasy, considered to be the highest expression of religious experience, involved supposed supernatural interaction with a deity, induced through frenzied hypnotic chants and ceremonies. The practice frequently included drunkenness (cf. Eph. 5:18) and sexual orgies, to which the devotees willfully yielded themselves to be led into gross sin.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:3 accursed. This is the most severe kind of condemnation. Some of the Corinthians were fleshly and given over to ecstasies that were controlled by demons. In that condition, they actually claimed to be prophesying or teaching in the Spirit while demonically blaspheming the name of the Lord whom they were supposed to be worshiping. They had been judging the use of gifts on the basis of experience and not content. Satan always assaults the person of Christ. It is possible that the curser of Christ was a Gentile claiming to be a Christian, but holding to a philosophy that all matter was evil, including the human Jesus (i.e., pre-Gnosticism). They might have said that the Christ spirit left the human Jesus before his death, and therefore Jesus died a cursed death as a mere man. Jesus is Lord. Cf. Acts 2:36; Rom. 10:9–10; Eph. 1:20–21; Phil. 2:9–11. The validity of any speaking exercise is determined by the truthfulness of it. If the speaker affirms the lordship of Jesus, it is the truth from the Holy Spirit. What a person believes and says about Jesus Christ is the test of whether he speaks from the Holy Spirit. He always leads people to Christ’s lordship (cf. 1 Cor. 2:8–14; John 15:26; 1 John 5:6–8).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:4 gifts. These categories of giftedness are not natural talents, skills, or abilities, such as are possessed by believers and unbelievers alike. They are sovereignly and supernaturally bestowed by the Holy Spirit on all believers (vv. 7, 11), enabling them to spiritually edify each other effectively and thus honor the Lord. The varieties of gifts fall into two general types, speaking and serving (see vv. 8–10; cf. Rom. 12:6–8; 1 Pet. 4:10–11). The speaking, or verbal, gifts (prophecy, knowledge, wisdom, teaching, and exhortation) and the serving, nonverbal gifts (leadership, helps, giving, mercy, faith, and discernment) are all permanent gifts that will operate throughout the church age. Their purpose is to edify the church and glorify God. The list here and in Rom. 12:3–8 is best seen as representative of categories of giftedness that the Holy Spirit draws from to give each believer whatever kind or combination of kinds he chooses (1 Cor. 12:11). Some believers may be gifted categorically similar to others but are personally unique as the Spirit suits each grace gift to the individual. Miracles, healing, tongues, and the interpretation of tongues were temporary sign gifts limited to the apostolic age and have, therefore, ceased. Their purpose was to authenticate the apostles and their message as the true word of God, until God’s written word was completed and became self-authenticating. See notes on vv. 9–10.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:5–6 varieties of service . . . activities. The Lord gives believers unique ministry arenas in which to fulfill their giftedness, and provides varieties of power to energize and accomplish them (cf. Rom. 12:6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:7 manifestation of the Spirit. No matter what the gift, ministry, or effect, all spiritual gifts are from the Holy Spirit. They make him known, understood, and evident in the church and in the world, by spiritually profiting all who receive their ministry.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:8 the utterance of wisdom. “Utterance” indicates a speaking gift (see note on v. 4; cf. 1 Pet. 4:11). In the NT, “wisdom” is most often used of the ability to understand God’s word and his will, and to skillfully apply that understanding to life (cf. Matt. 11:19; 13:54; Mark 6:2; Luke 7:35; Acts 6:10; James 1:5; 3:13, 17; 2 Pet. 3:15). the utterance of knowledge. This gift may have been revelatory in the first century, but it is today the ability to understand and speak God’s truth, with insight into the mysteries of his word, that cannot be known apart from God’s revelation (Rom. 16:25; Eph. 3:3; Col. 1:26; 2:2; 4:3; cf. 1 Cor. 13:2). Knowledge majors on grasping the meaning of the truth; wisdom emphasizes the practical conviction and conduct that applies it.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:9 faith. Distinct from saving faith or persevering faith, both of which all believers possess, this gift is exercised in persistent prayer and endurance in intercession, along with a strong trust in God in the midst of difficult circumstances (cf. Matt. 17:20). healing. A temporary sign gift used by Christ (Matt. 8:16–17), the apostles (Matt. 10:1), the seventy (Luke 10:1), and a few associates of the apostles, such as Philip (Acts 8:5–7). This ability was identified as a gift belonging to the apostles (cf. 2 Cor. 12:12). Although Christians today do not have the gifts of healings, God certainly still hears and answers the faithful prayers of his children (see James 5:13–16). Some people feel that healing should be common and expected in every era, but this is not the case. Physical healings are very rare throughout the OT record. Only a few are recorded. There was never a time before the coming of Christ when healings were common. Only in his lifetime and that of his apostles was there a veritable explosion of healing. This was due to the unique need to accredit the Messiah and to authenticate the first miracles of the gospel. Jesus and his apostles temporarily banished disease from Palestine, but that was the most monumental era of redemptive history and called for such authentication. To normalize healing would be to normalize the arrival of the Savior. This gift belonged to the sign gifts for that era only. The gifts of healings were never used solely for bringing people physical health. Paul was sick but never healed himself or asked another human to heal him. His friend Epaphroditus was near death (Phil. 2:27), and Paul did not heal him. God intervened. When Timothy was sick, Paul did not heal him, but told him to take some wine (1 Tim. 5:23). Paul left Trophimus “ill at Miletus” (2 Tim. 4:20). Healings were not the everyday norm in Paul’s ministry, but did occur when he entered a new region, e.g., Malta, where the gospel and its preacher needed authentication (see Acts 28:8–9). That healing was the first mention of healing since the lame man was healed in Lystra (Acts 14:9) in connection with the arrival of Paul and the gospel there. Prior to that, the nearest healing was by Peter in Acts 9:34, and the resurrection of Tabitha in 9:41, so that people would believe the gospel Peter preached (cf. 9:42).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:10 miracles. This temporary sign gift was for the working of divine acts contrary to nature, so that there was no explanation for the action except that it was by the power of God. This, too, was to authenticate Christ and the apostolic preachers of the gospel. John 2:11 notes that Jesus did his first miracle at Cana to “manifest his glory,” not enhance the party (cf. John’s purpose for recording the miracles of Jesus in this Gospel, 20:30–31). Acts 2:22 affirms that Jesus did miracles to “attest” that God was working through him, so that people would believe in him as Lord and Savior. Jesus performed miracles and healed only for the three years of his ministry, not at all in the 30 years before. His miracles began when his ministry began. Though Jesus did miracles related to nature (made wine, created food, walked on water with Peter, ascended), no apostle ever is reported to have done a miracle in the natural realm. What miracle did the apostles do? The answer is in the word “miracles,” meaning “power,” and is frequently connected to casting out demons (Luke 4:36; 6:18; 9:42). It is precisely that power that the Lord gave the disciples (Luke 9:1; 10:17–19; cf. Acts 6:8; 8:7; 13:6–12). See notes on Acts 19:14–16. prophecy. The meaning is simply that of “speaking forth,” or “proclaiming publicly,” to which the connotation of prediction was added sometime in the Middle Ages. Since the completion of Scripture, prophecy has not been a means of new revelation, but is limited to proclaiming what has already been revealed in the written word. Even the biblical prophets were preachers, proclaimers of God’s truth both by revelation and reiteration. Old Testament prophets like Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel spent lifetimes proclaiming God’s word. Only a comparatively small amount of what they preached is recorded in the Bible as God’s direct revelation. They must have continually repeated and re-emphasized those truths, as preachers today repeat, explain, and re-emphasize the word of God in Scripture. The best definition for this gift is given in 1 Cor. 14:3. The importance of this gift is given in 14:1, 39. Its supremacy to other gifts, especially tongues, is the theme of ch. 14. See notes on 1 Thess. 5:20 and Rev. 19:10. distinguish between spirits. Satan is the great deceiver (John 8:44) and his demons counterfeit God’s message and work. Christians with the gift of discernment have the God-given ability to recognize lying spirits and to identify deceptive and erroneous doctrine (cf. Acts 17:11; 1 John 4:1). Paul illustrated the use of this gift in Acts 16:16–18, as Peter had exercised it in Acts 5:3. When it was not being exercised in the Corinthian church, grave distortion of the truth occurred (see 1 Cor. 12:3; 14:29). Though its operation has changed since apostolic times, because of the completion of Scripture, it is still essential to have people in the church who are discerning. They are the guardians, the watchmen who protect the church from demonic lies, false doctrines, perverted cults, and fleshly elements. As it requires diligent study of the word to exercise gifts of knowledge, wisdom, preaching, and teaching, so it does with discernment. See notes on 1 Thess. 5:20–22. tongues . . . interpretation. These temporary sign gifts, using the normal words for speaking a foreign language and translating it, like the others (miracles, healings) were for the authentication of the truth and those who preached it. This true gift was clearly identified in Acts 2:5–12 as languages, which validated the gospel as divine. They were, however, because of their counterfeit in the culture, disproportionately exalted and seriously abused in Corinth. Here, Paul identified them, but throughout 1 Cor. 14 he discussed them in detail. See notes on 14:1–39.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:11 one and the same Spirit. While stressing the diversity of gifts (vv. 4–11), Paul also stressed the singular source in the Spirit (cf. vv. 4–6, 8–9). This is the fifth mention, in this chapter, of the source of gifts being the Holy Spirit. It emphasizes that gifts are not something to seek, but to be received from the Spirit “as he wills.” It is he alone who “empowers” or energizes (v. 6) all gifts as he chooses.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:12 body . . . members. Paul used the human body as an analogy (cf. 10:17) for the unity of the church in Christ. From this point on to 12:27, he used “body” 18 times (cf. Rom. 12:5; Eph. 1:23; 2:16; 4:4, 12, 16; Col. 1:18).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:13 baptized. The church, the spiritual body of Christ, is formed as believers are immersed by Christ with the Holy Spirit. Christ is the baptizer (see note on Matt. 3:11) who immerses each believer with the Spirit into unity with all other believers. Paul is not writing of water baptism. That outward sign depicts the believer’s union with Christ in his death and resurrection (see notes on Rom. 6:3–4). Similarly, all believers are also immersed into the body of Christ by means of the Holy Spirit. Paul’s point is to emphasize the unity of believers. There cannot be any believer who has not been Spirit-baptized, nor can there be more than one Spirit baptism or the whole point of unity in the body of Christ is convoluted. Believers have all been Spirit-baptized and thus are all in one body. See notes on Eph. 4:4–6. This is not an experience to seek, but a reality to acknowledge. See also notes on Acts 8:17; 10:44–45; 11:15–16. drink of one Spirit. At salvation, all believers not only become full members of Christ’s body, the church, but the Holy Spirit is placed within each of them (Rom. 8:9; cf. 1 Cor. 6:19; Col. 2:10; 2 Pet. 1:3–4). There is no need (or divine provision) for any such thing as a second blessing, a triumphalistic experience of a deeper life, or a formula for instantly increased spirituality (cf. John 3:34). Christ’s salvation provision is perfect, and he calls only for obedience and trust in what has already been given (Heb. 10:14).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:14–20 By his illustration of how every part of a human body is essential to the function of that body, Paul showed that unity is an indispensable need of the church; but divinely provided diversity within that unity is also necessary. His words additionally implied that some selfish members were discontent with their gifts, wanting the gifts they had not been given (v. 11). With that attitude, they in effect questioned God's wisdom and implied he had made a mistake in assignments (cf. v. 3; Rom. 9:20–21). In seeking showy abilities and power, they also became vulnerable to carnal, demonically counterfeited gifts.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:18 Here again, as in v. 11, Paul dealt with the foolish and carnal Corinthians who were discontent with what had been given them sovereignly for the edification of the church and the glory of its Lord. See note on v. 31.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:21 no need. While some in Corinth were bemoaning the fact that they did not have the showy gifts (see note on vv. 14–20), those who did were belittling those with the more quiet and less prominent gifts. The “eye” and the “head,” which are highly visible and the focus of all who engage each other, represent the people with public gifts. They so overestimated their own importance that they disdained those whom they perceived as less gifted and less significant. They were apparently indifferent (“I have no need”) and self-sufficient.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:22–24 Paul's answer to the pride of the more visibly gifted was to engage his analogy again and remind them that the more fragile and less lovely, in fact, ugly parts of the body that are not publicly “presentable” (v. 24) are given the greater respect for their necessity. He spoke of the internal organs.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:25 God has designed visible, public gifts to have a crucial place, but equally designed and more vital to life are the hidden gifts, thus maintaining the perspective of unity—all are essential to the working of the body of Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:26–27 This is a call to mutual love and concern in the fellowship of believers (cf. Phil. 2:1–4), which maintains the unity that honors the Lord. There is one body in which all function, yet never do they lose their personal identity and the essential necessity of ministry as God has designed them to do it.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:28–30 God has appointed. Again emphasizing the sovereignty of God (cf. vv. 7, 11, 18), Paul illustrates the individuality and unity of the body by a repeat of the representative categories of ministries, callings, and giftedness.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:28 apostles . . . prophets. See notes on Eph. 4:11. Their purpose was: 1) to lay the foundation of the church (Eph. 2:20); 2) to receive and declare the revelation of God’s word (Acts 11:28; 21:10–11; Eph. 3:5); and 3) to give confirmation of that word through signs, wonders, and miracles (2 Cor. 12:12; cf. Acts 8:6–7; Heb. 2:3–4). “Apostles” refers, primarily, to those 12 chosen by our Lord plus Paul and Matthias (Acts 1:26). See note on Rom. 1:1. In a secondary sense, others served as messengers of the church: Barnabas (Acts 14:14), Silas and Timothy (1 Thess. 2:6), and others (Rom. 16:7; 2 Cor. 8:23; Phil. 2:25). Apostles of Christ were the source of the church’s doctrine (Acts 2:42); apostles of the church (2 Cor. 8:23) were its early leaders. “Prophets” were especially gifted men in the local churches who preached God’s word (Acts 11:21–28; 13:1). Any message preached by a prophet had to be judged by the word of the apostles (see note on 1 Cor. 14:36–37). teachers. Could be the same as pastor-teachers (see note on Eph. 4:11), but probably should be broadened to include all who are gifted for teaching in the church, whether they have the office of pastor or not. miracles . . . healing . . . tongues. See notes on 1 Cor. 12:9–10. helping, administrating. These less public gifts are mingled with the more public manifestations of the Spirit to show their vital necessity (v. 22). “Helping” is an ability for service; in fact, the gift of ministry (“service”) in Rom. 12:7 is in the same category. “Administrating” is leadership. The word comes from the Greek meaning “to pilot a ship” (Acts 27:11) and speaks of one who can lead ministries of the church efficiently and effectively.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:29–30 Each of these rhetorical queries expects a “no” answer. The body of Christ is diverse and God sovereignly designs it that way.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:31 earnestly desire. In context, this could not mean that believers should desire the more prominent gifts, when the whole chapter has just been confronting the fact that they have sinfully been doing just that. Desiring a gift for selfish reasons is wrong, since they are sovereignly given by God as he wills (vv. 7, 11, 18, 28). Therefore, this must be rendered not as an imperative (command), but, as the verb form allows, as an indicative (statement of fact), “You are desiring the showy gifts, wrongly.” The real imperative is to stop doing that and learn the “more excellent way,” the way of love, which Paul will explain in ch. 13.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:1–13 Spiritual gifts were present in Corinth (1:7); right doctrine was even in place (11:2); but love was absent. This led to the quarrels and exhibitions of selfishness and pride that plagued the church—notably in the area of spiritual gifts (see notes on 12:14–31). Instead of selfishly and jealously desiring showy gifts that they don't have, believers should pursue the greatest thing of all—love for each other. This chapter is considered by many the greatest literary passage ever penned by Paul. It is central to his earnestly dealing with spiritual gifts (chs. 12–14), because after discussing the endowment of gifts (ch. 12) and before presenting the function of gifts (ch. 14), he addresses the attitude necessary in all ministry in the church (ch. 13).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:1 tongues of men. Cf. 12:10, 28; 14:4–33. That this gift was actual languages is established in Acts 2:1–13 (see notes there), affirmed in this text by Paul's calling it "of men"—clearly a reference to human language. This was the gift that the Corinthians prized so highly, abused so greatly, and counterfeited so disastrously. God gave the ability to speak in a language not known to the speaker, as a sign with limited function (see notes on 1 Cor. 14:1–33). tongues . . . of angels. The apostle was writing in general hypothetical terms. There is no biblical teaching of any special angelic language that people could learn to speak. love. Self-giving love that is more concerned with giving than receiving (John 3:16; cf. 1 Cor. 14:1; Matt. 5:44–45; John 13:1, 34–35; 15:9; Rom. 5:10; Eph. 2:4–7; Phil. 2:2; Col. 3:14; Heb. 10:24). The word was not admired and thus seldom used in ancient Greek literature, but it is common in the NT. Without love, no matter how linguistically gifted one is to speak his own language, other languages, or even (hypothetically) the speech of angels, his speech is noise only. In NT times, rites honoring the pagan deities Cybele, Bacchus, and Dionysius included ecstatic noises accompanied by gongs, cymbals, and trumpets. Unless the speech of the Corinthians was done in love, it was no better than the gibberish of pagan ritual.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:2 prophetic powers. See notes on 12:10. In 14:1–5, Paul speaks of this gift as the most essential one because it brings God's truth to people. Even this gift must be ministered in love (cf. Eph. 4:15). understand all mysteries and all knowledge. This encompasses gifts of wisdom, knowledge, and discernment (see notes on 1 Cor. 12:8, 10), which are to be exercised in love (see Phil. 1:9). all faith. See note on Matt. 17:20. This refers to the gift of faith (enduring, believing prayer; see note on 1 Cor. 12:9), which is useless without selfless love for the church.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:3 burned. The practice of burning Christians at the stake did not begin until some years later, but it was clearly understood to be an extremely horrible death. Neither volunteering for giving up all your possessions or being burned would produce any spiritual benefit if not done out of love for the body of Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:4–7 In the previous comments (vv. 1–3), the focus is on the emptiness produced when love is absent from ministry. In these verses, the fullness of love is described, in each case by what love does. Love is action, not abstraction. Positively, love is patient with people and gracious to them with generosity. Negatively, love never envies, or brags, or is arrogant, since that is the opposite of selfless service to others. Never rude or overbearing, love never wants its own way, is not irritated or angered in personal offense, and finds no pleasure in someone else’s sin, even the sin of an enemy. On the positive side again, love is devoted to truth in everything. With regard to “all things” within God’s righteous and gracious will, love protects, believes, hopes, and endures what others reject.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:8–10 never ends. This refers to love’s lastingness or permanence as a divine quality. Love outlasts all failures (cf. 1 Pet. 4:8; 1 John 4:16). Paul strengthens his point on the permanence of love by comparing it to the spiritual gifts that the Corinthians so highly prized: prophecy, knowledge, and tongues, all of which will have an end. There may be a distinction made on how prophecy and knowledge come to an end, and how the gift of tongues does. This is indicated by the Greek verb forms used. In the case of prophecy and knowledge, they are both said to “be done away” (in both cases the verb indicates that something will put an end to those two functions). First Corinthians 13:9–10 indicates that what will abolish knowledge and prophecy is that which is “perfect.” When that occurs, those gifts will be rendered inoperative. The “perfect” is not the completion of Scripture, since there is still the operation of those two gifts and will be in the future kingdom (cf. Joel 2:28; Acts 2:17; Rev. 11:3). The Scriptures do not allow us to see “face to face” or have perfect knowledge as God does (1 Cor. 13:12). The “perfect” is not the rapture of the church or the second coming of Christ, since the kingdom to follow these events will have an abundance of preachers and teachers (cf. Isa. 29:18; 32:3–4; Joel 2:28; Rev. 11:3). The “perfect” must be the eternal state, when we in glory see God face to face (Rev. 22:4) and have full knowledge in the eternal new heavens and new earth. Just as a child grows to full understanding, believers will come to perfect knowledge and no such gifts will be necessary. On the other hand, Paul uses a different word for the end of the gift of tongues, or languages, thus indicating it will “cease” by itself, as it did at the end of the apostolic age. It will not end by the coming of the “perfect,” for it will already have ceased. The uniqueness of the gift of tongues and its interpretations was, as all sign gifts, to authenticate the message and messengers of the gospel before the NT was completed (Heb. 2:3–4). “Tongues” was also limited by being a judicial sign from the God of Israel’s judgment (see note on 1 Cor. 14:21; cf. Isa. 28:11–12). “Tongues” were also not a sign to believers, but unbelievers (see note on 1 Cor. 14:22), specifically those unbelieving Jews. Tongues also ceased because there was no need to verify the true messages from God once the Scripture was given. It became the standard by which all are to be deemed true. “Tongues” was a means of edification in a way far inferior to preaching and teaching (see notes on 14:5, 12, 27–28). In fact, ch. 14 was designed to show the Corinthians, so preoccupied with tongues, that it was an inferior means of communication (14:1–12), an inferior means of praise (14:13–19), and an inferior means of evangelism (14:20–25). Prophecy was and is, far superior (14:1, 3–6, 24, 29, 31, 39). That tongues have ceased should be clear from their absence from any other books in the NT, except Acts. Tongues ceased to be an issue of record or practice in the early church, as the Scripture was being written. That tongues has ceased should be clear also from its absence through church history since the first century, appearing only sporadically and then only in questionable groups. A more detailed discussion is given in the notes on ch. 14.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:13 love. The objects of faith and hope will be fulfilled and perfectly realized in heaven, but love, the Godlike virtue, is everlasting (cf. 1 John 4:8). Heaven will be the place for the expression of nothing but perfect love toward God and each other.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:1 Pursue love. A command for every believer. Because lovelessness was a root spiritual problem in the Corinthian church, the godly love just described should have been sought after by them with particular determination and diligence. desire . . . spiritual gifts. Love does not preclude the use of these enablements. Since Paul has addressed not desiring showy gifts (12:31) and not elevating one over the other (12:14–25), some might think it best to set them all aside for unity’s sake. Spiritual gifts, on the other hand, are sovereignly bestowed by God on each believer and necessary for the building of the church (12:1–10). Desire for them, in this context, is in reference to their use collectively and faithfully in his service—not a personal yearning to have an admired gift that one did not possess. As a congregation, the Corinthians should be wanting the full expression of all the gifts to be exercised. “You” is plural, emphasizing the corporate desire of the church. especially . . . prophecy. This spiritual gift was desirable in the life of the church to serve in a way that tongues cannot, namely, by edifying the entire church (13:5).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:2–39 Although it is not indicated consistently in some translations, the distinction between the singular “tongue” and the plural “tongues” is foundational to the proper interpretation of this chapter. Paul seems to use the singular to distinguish the counterfeit gift of pagan gibberish and the plural to indicate the genuine gift of a foreign language (see note on v. 2). It was perhaps in recognition of that, that the King James Version (KJV) translators added consistently the word “unknown” before every singular form (see vv. 2, 4, 13, 14, 19, 27). The implications of that distinction will be noted as appropriate. Against the backdrop of carnality and counterfeit ecstatic speech learned from the experience of the pagans, Paul covers three basic issues with regard to speaking in languages by the gift of the Holy Spirit: 1) its position, inferior to prophecy (vv. 1–19); 2) its purpose, a sign to unbelievers not believers (vv. 20–25); and 3) its procedure, systematic, limited, and orderly (vv. 26–40).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:2 one who speaks in a tongue. This is singular (see previous note; cf. vv. 4, 13, 14, 19, 27), indicating that it refers to the false gibberish of the counterfeit pagan ecstatic speech. The singular is used because gibberish can’t be plural; there are not various kinds of non-language. There are, however, various languages; hence when speaking of the true gift of language, Paul uses the plural to make the distinction (vv. 6, 18, 22, 23, 29). The only exception is in vv. 13, 27, 28 (see notes there), where it refers to a single person speaking a single genuine language. speaks not to men but to God. This is better translated, “to a god.” The Greek text has no definite article (see similar translation in Acts 17:23, “the unknown god”). Their gibberish was worship of pagan deities. The Bible records no incident of any believer ever speaking to God in any other than normal human language. no one understands . . . he utters mysteries in the Spirit. As indicated in the note on Rom. 8:10, it is an interpretive decision as to whether to understand this as a reference to the Holy Spirit or the human spirit. The fleshly, or carnal, Corinthians using the counterfeit ecstatic speech of paganism were not interested in being understood, but in making a dramatic display. The spirit by which they spoke was not the Holy Spirit, but their own human spirit or some demon; and the mysteries they declared were the type associated with the pagan mystery religions, which were espoused to be the depths that only the initiated few were privileged to know and understand. Those mysteries were totally unlike the ones mentioned in Scripture (e.g., Matt. 13:11; Eph. 3:9), which are divine revelations of truths previously hidden (see notes on 1 Cor. 12:7; Eph. 3:4–6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:3 prophecies. In dramatic contrast to the bedlam of counterfeit tongues was the gift of genuine prophecy or preaching of the truth (see note on 12:10). It produced the building up in truth, the encouragement to obedience, and the comfort in trouble that God desired for his church. Spiritual gifts are always for the benefit of others, never self.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:4 a tongue. Again (as in v. 2), Paul uses the singular to refer to the pagan counterfeit gibberish and sarcastically (cf. v. 16; 4:8–10 for other sarcasm) marks its selfishness as some kind of self-edification. This illicit building up of self comes from pride-induced emotion, which only produces more pride. builds up the church. See note on 12:7.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:5 all to speak in tongues, but even more to prophesy. Here the plural, “tongues,” appears as Paul was referring to the real gift of tongues, or languages (see note on v. 2). Obviously this was not Paul’s true desire, even for the true gift, since the very idea was impossible and contrary to God’s sovereign distribution of gifts (12:11, 30). He was simply suggesting hypothetically that, if they insisted on clamoring after gifts they did not possess, they at least should seek the one that was more enduring and more valuable for the church. The only purpose tongues renders to the church is when it is interpreted (the normal Greek word for “translation”). Wherever God gave the gift of tongues, he also gave the gift for translation, so that the sign would also be edifying. Never was the gift to be used without such translation (14:28), so that the church would always be edified.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:6 if I come to you . . . how will I benefit . . . ? Even an apostle who spoke in tongues did not spiritually benefit a congregation unless, through interpretation, his utterance was clarified so that the revelation and knowledge could be understandably preached and taught. Any private use of this gift is excluded for several reasons: 1) it is a sign to unbelievers (v. 22); 2) it must have a translator to have any meaning, even to the speaker (v. 2); and 3) it must edify the church (v. 6).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:7–9 Here, Paul illustrates his previous point about the uselessness of even the true gift apart from translation for the church to understand. If even inanimate musical instruments are expected to make sensible sounds, how much more should human speech make sense, especially when it deals with the things of God? See note on v. 23.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:10–11 Paul simply points up the obvious: the purpose of every language is to communicate, not to impress and certainly not to confuse, as the Corinthians had been doing with their counterfeits. That was clearly the point in the first instance of tongues: each heard the apostles speak in his own language (Acts 2:6, cf. 1 Cor. 14:8). This section makes an undeniable case for the fact that the true gift of tongues was never some unintelligible gibberish, but was human language that was to be translated (v. 13).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:12 Again Paul returned to the issue of edification, central to all gifts (12:7).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:14–17 Paul continued to speak sarcastically (cf. v. 16; 4:8–10) about counterfeit tongues, so he used the singular “tongue” (see note on 14:2–39), which refers to the fake gift. He was speaking hypothetically to illustrate the foolishness and pointlessness of speaking in ecstatic gibberish. The speaker could not understand, and what virtue is there in praying to God or praising God without understanding? No one can “Amen” such nonsense.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:16 outsider. From the Greek word meaning ignorant or unlearned.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:18 I speak in tongues more than all of you. Paul emphasized that by writing all of this, he was not condemning genuine tongues (plural); nor, as some may have thought to accuse him, was he envious of a gift he did not possess. At that point, he stopped speaking hypothetically about counterfeit tongue-speaking. He actually had more occasions to use the true gift than all of them (though we have no record of a specific instance). He knew the true gift and had used it properly. It is interesting, however, that the NT makes no mention of Paul’s actually exercising that gift. Nor does Paul in his own writings make mention of a specific use of it by any Christian.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:19 instruct others. This is the general principle that summarizes what he has been saying, i.e., teaching others is the important matter, and that requires understanding.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:20–25 This very important passage deals with the primary purpose of the gift of languages. Paul has clearly indicated that such speaking was not something for all believers to do, since it was dispensed sovereignly like all other gifts (12:11); nor was it connected to the baptism with the Holy Spirit, which all believers receive (12:13); nor was it some superior sign of spirituality, but rather an inferior gift (14:5). Because of all that, and the corruption of the real gift by the Corinthians, the apostle gives the principles for its proper and limited operation as a sign.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:20 Be infants in evil, but in your thinking be mature. Most of the Corinthian believers were the opposite of what Paul here admonished. They were extremely experienced in evil, but greatly lacking in wisdom. Yet mature understanding was especially essential for proper comprehension and use of the gift of tongues, because the conspicuous and fascinating nature of that gift made it so attractive to the flesh. He was asking his readers to put aside emotion and experience, along with the desires of the flesh and pride, to think carefully about the purpose of tongues.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:21 it is written. In a freely rendered quotation from Isa. 28:11–12, Paul explains that centuries earlier the Lord had predicted that one day he would use men of other tongues, that is, foreigners speaking unknown languages, as a sign to unbelieving Israel, who “will not listen to me.” These “strange tongues” are what they knew as the gift of languages, given solely as a sign to unbelieving Israel. That sign was threefold: cursing, blessing, and authority. To emphasize the cursing, Paul quoted Isaiah’s words of warning to Judah of the judgment from Assyria (see note on Isa. 28:11–12). The leaders thought his words were too simple and rejected him. The time would come, the prophet said, when they would hear Assyrian, a language they could not understand, indicating judgment. Jeremiah spoke similarly of the Babylonians who were also to come and destroy Judah (cf. Jer. 5:15). When the apostles spoke at Pentecost in all those foreign languages (Acts 2:3–12), the Jews should have known that the judgment prophesied and historically fulfilled first by the Assyrians and then by the Babylonian captivity was about to fall on them again for their rejection of Christ, including the destruction of Jerusalem (A.D. 70) as it had happened in 586 B.C. under Babylonian power.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:22 Thus tongues are a sign not for believers but for unbelievers. Explaining further, Paul says explicitly that all tongues are for the sake of unbelievers. In other words, that gift has no purpose in the church when everyone present is a believer. And once the sign served its purpose to pronounce judgment or cursing on Israel, and the judgment fell, the purpose ceased along with the sign gift. The blessing of that sign was that God would build a new nation of Jews and Gentiles to be his people (Gal. 3:28), to make Israel jealous and someday repent (see Rom. 11:11–12, 25–27). The sign was thus repeated when Gentiles were included in the church (Acts 10:44–46). The sign also gave authority to those who preached both the judgment and blessing (2 Cor. 12:12), including Paul (1 Cor. 14:18). while prophecy is . . . for believers. In the completely opposite way, the gift of prophesying benefits only believers, who are able, by their new natures and the indwelling Holy Spirit, to understand spiritual truth (cf. 1 Cor. 2:14; 1 John 2:20, 27).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:23 If, therefore . . . all speak in tongues. As Paul explains in more detail later (vv. 27–28), even for unbelievers, even when the gift of tongues was exercised in its proper time in history, when it was dominant and uncontrolled in the church, bedlam ensued and the gospel was disgraced and discredited. out of your minds. The Greek word means to be in an uncontrolled frenzy. When the real gift was used in Acts 2, there was no madness, and everyone understood in his own language (1 Cor. 14:11). In Corinth, there was charismatic chaos.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:24–25 But if all prophesy. This means to publicly proclaim the word of God (see note on 12:10). “All” does not mean all at once (see 14:31), but rather means that hypothetically if the cacophony of all the Corinthians could be replaced by all of them preaching the word, the effect on unbelievers would be amazingly powerful, the gospel would be honored, and souls would be converted to worshipping God.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:26–40 In this last section on the topic of tongues, the stress is on how they were to be systematically limited for use in the church in an orderly way. For the sake of hypothetical discussion, it is noteworthy that even if one granted that the gift was still in use today, the modern movement would be totally discredited as illegitimate by its failure to follow the clear, controlling commands in these verses.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:26 each one has. It seems that chaos and lack of order was rampant in that assembly (v. 33). It is interesting that no elders or pastors are mentioned, and the prophets were not even exercising control (see vv. 29, 32, 37). Everyone was participating with whatever expression they desired whenever they desired. a hymn. The reading or singing of an OT psalm. a lesson. This probably refers to a doctrine or subject of special interest (v. 33). a revelation. Some supposed word from God, whether spurious or genuine. a tongue. In the singular, this refers to the counterfeit. See note on vv. 2–39. an interpretation. This refers to that of a tongue's message. for building up. This was Paul's way of calling a halt to the chaos. Edification is the goal (cf. vv. 3–5, 12, 17, 26, 31), and the Corinthian chaos could not realize it (cf. 1 Thess. 5:11; Rom. 15:2–3).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:27–28 These verses provide regulations for the exercise of the gift: 1) only two or three persons in a service; 2) only speaking in turn, one at a time; and 3) only with an interpreter. Without those conditions, one was to meditate and pray silently.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:29–31 Since Paul's Pastoral Epistles (1–2 Tim.; Titus) do not mention prophets, it seems evident that this unique office had ceased to function in the church even before the end of the apostolic age. When Paul wrote the Corinthians, however, prophets were still central to the work of that church (cf. Acts 13:1). Here he gave four regulations for their preaching: 1) only two or three were to speak; 2) the other prophets were to judge what was said; 3) if while one was speaking, God gave a revelation, the speaker was to defer to the one hearing from God; and 4) each prophet was to speak in turn. See notes on Eph. 2:20 and 4:11.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:32 Not only were the prophets to judge others with discernment, but they were also to have control over themselves. God does not desire out-of-spirit or out-of-mind experiences. Those who received and proclaimed the truth were to have clear minds. There was nothing bizarre, ecstatic, trance-like, or wild about receiving and preaching God's word, as with demonic experiences.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:33 confusion. Here is the key to the whole chapter. The church at worship before God should reflect his character and nature because he is a God of peace and harmony, order and clarity, not strife and confusion (cf. Rom. 15:33; 2 Thess. 3:16; Heb. 13:20). As in all the churches. This phrase does not belong in 1 Cor. 14:33, but at the beginning of v. 34, as a logical introduction to a universal principle for churches.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:34–35 women should keep silent in the churches. The principle of women not speaking in church services is universal; this applies to all the churches, not just locally, geographically, or culturally. The context in this verse concerns prophecy, but includes the general theme of the chapter, i.e., tongues. Rather than leading, they are to be submissive as God’s word makes clear (see notes on 11:3–15; Gen. 3:16; 1 Tim. 2:11–15). It is not coincidental that many modern churches that have tongues-speaking and claim gifts of healings and miracles also permit women to lead worship, preach, and teach. Women may be gifted teachers, but they are not permitted by God “to speak” in churches. In fact, for them to do so is “shameful,” meaning “disgraceful.” Apparently, certain women were out of order in disruptively asking questions publicly in the chaotic services.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:36–37 Paul knew that the Corinthians would react to all these firm regulations that would end the free-for-all in their services. The prophets, tongues-speakers, and women may all have been resistant to words, so he anticipated that resistance by sarcastically challenging those who put themselves above his word, and thus, above Scripture by either ignoring it or interpreting it to fit their predisposed ideas. If anyone was genuinely a prophet or had the true spiritual gift of tongues, he or she would submit to the principles God had revealed through the apostle.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:36 was it from you . . . word . . . came . . . only ones? See notes on 1 Thess. 2:13; 2 Tim. 3:15–17; 2 Pet. 1:19–21.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:38 not recognized. Anyone who does not recognize the authority of Paul’s teaching should himself not be recognized as a legitimate servant gifted by God.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:39 do not forbid . . . tongues. Legitimate languages were limited in purpose and in duration, but as long as this gift was still active in the early church, it was not to be hindered. But prophecy was the most desirable gift to be exercised because of its ability to edify, exhort, and comfort with the truth (v. 3).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 14:40 See notes on v. 33.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:1–58 This chapter is the most extensive treatment of resurrection in the Bible. Both the resurrection of Jesus Christ as recorded in the Gospels and the resurrection of believers as promised in the Gospels are here explained.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:1–11 To begin his teachings about the resurrection of believers, Paul reviewed the evidences for Jesus’ resurrection: 1) the church (vv. 1–2); 2) the Scriptures (vv. 3–4); 3) the eyewitnesses (vv. 5–7); 4) the apostle himself (vv. 8–10); and 5) the common message (v. 11).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:1–2 preached . . . received . . . stand. This was not a new message. They had heard of the resurrection, believed in it, and had been saved by it.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:2 unless you believed in vain. By this qualifying statement, Paul recognized and called to their attention that some may have had a shallow, non-saving faith (see Matt. 7:13–14, 22–27; 13:24–30, 34–43, 47–50; 25:1–30). Some believed only as the demons believed (James 2:19), i.e., they were convinced the gospel was true, but had no love for God, Christ, and righteousness. True believers “hold fast” to the gospel (cf. John 8:31; 2 Cor. 13:5; 1 John 2:24; 2 John 9).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:3–4 in accordance with the Scriptures. The OT spoke of the suffering and resurrection of Christ (see Luke 24:25–27; Acts 2:25–31; 26:22–23). Jesus, Peter, and Paul quoted or referred to such OT passages regarding the work of Christ as Ps. 16:8–11; 22; Isa. 53.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:5–7 The testimony of eyewitnesses, recorded in the NT, was added to support the reality of the resurrection. These included: 1) John and Peter together (John 20:19–20), but probably also separately before (Luke 24:34); 2) the Twelve (John 20:19–20; Luke 24:36; Acts 1:22); 3) the 500, only referred to here (see note on 2 Pet. 3:15–16), had all seen the risen Christ (cf. Matt. 28:9; Mark 16:9, 12, 14; Luke 24:31–39; John 21:1–23); 4) James, either one of the two so-named apostles (son of Zebedee or son of Alphaeus; cf. Mark 3:17–18) or even James the half-brother of the Lord, the author of the epistle by that name and the key leader in the Jerusalem church (Acts 15:13–21); and 5) the apostles (John 20:19–29). Such unspecified appearances occurred over a 40-day period (Acts 1:3) to all the apostles.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:8 one untimely born. Paul was saved too late to be one of the 12 apostles. Christ had ascended before he was converted. But through a miraculous appearance (Acts 9:1–8; cf. 18:9–10; 23:11; 2 Cor. 12:1–7), Christ revealed himself to Paul and, according to divine purpose, Paul was made an apostle. See note on 1:1. He was “last of all” the apostles, and felt himself to be the “least” (15:9–10; 1 Tim. 1:12–17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:10 worked harder than any of them. In terms of years and extent of ministry, he exceeded all those named (vv. 5–7). John outlived him but did not have the extensive ministry of Paul.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:12 some of you say. The Corinthian Christians believed in Christ’s resurrection, or else they could not have been Christians (cf. John 6:44; 11:25; Acts 4:12; 2 Cor. 4:14; 1 Thess. 4:16). But some had particular difficulty accepting and understanding the resurrection of believers. Some of this confusion was a result of their experiences with pagan philosophies and religions. A basic tenet of much of ancient Greek philosophy was dualism, which taught that everything physical was intrinsically evil; so the idea of a resurrected body was repulsive and disgusting (Acts 17:32). In addition, perhaps some Jews in the Corinthian church formerly may have been influenced by the Sadducees, who did not believe in the resurrection even though it is taught in the OT (Job 19:26; Ps. 16:8–11; 17:15; Dan. 12:2). On the other hand, NT teaching in the words of our Lord himself was extensive on the resurrection (John 5:28–29; 6:44; 11:25; 14:19) and it was the theme of the apostolic preaching (Acts 4:1–2). In spite of that clarity, the church at Corinth was in doubt about the resurrection.

Jesus’ Appearances after His Resurrection

Each of the Gospels and a few other NT books mention various appearances by Jesus after his resurrection, but only Luke notes that Jesus ascended to heaven from the Mount of Olives just outside Jerusalem. Luke also recounts Jesus’ discussion with the two disciples on the road to Emmaus (likely modern Qaluniyah, not the Emmaus of the intertestamental period, which lay too far west). Matthew and John note that Jesus also appeared to his disciples in the region of Galilee.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:13–19 In these verses, Paul gives six disastrous consequences if there were no resurrection: 1) preaching Christ would be senseless (v. 14); 2) faith in Christ would be useless (v. 14); 3) all the witnesses and preachers of the resurrection would be liars (v. 15); 4) no one would be redeemed from sin (v. 17); 5) all former believers would have perished (v. 18); and 6) Christians would be the most pitiable people on earth (v. 19).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:13, 16 The two resurrections, Christ's and believers', stand or fall together; if there is no resurrection, then Christ is dead. Cf. Rev. 1:17–18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:17 still in your sins. See notes on Acts 5:30–31 and Rom. 4:25.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:18 fallen asleep. A common euphemism for death (cf. vv. 6, 20; 11:30; Matt. 27:52; Acts 7:60; 2 Pet. 3:4). This is not soul sleep, in which the body dies and the soul, or spirit, supposedly rests in unconsciousness.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:19 most to be pitied. This is because of the sacrifices made in this life in light of the hope of life to come. If there is no life to come, we would be better “to eat, drink and be merry” before we die.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:20 firstfruits. This speaks of the first installment of harvest to eternal life, in which Christ's resurrection will precipitate and guarantee that all of the saints who have died will be resurrected also. See John 14:19. those . . . asleep. See note on 1 Cor. 15:18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:21–22 man . . . man. Adam, who through his sin brought death on the whole human race, was human. So was Christ, who by his resurrection brought life to the race. See notes on Rom. 5:12–19.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:22 all . . . all. The two “alls” are alike only in the sense that they both apply to descendants. The second “all” applies only to believers (see Gal. 3:26, 29; 4:7; Eph. 3:6; cf. Acts 20:32; Titus 3:7) and does not imply universalism (the salvation of everyone without faith). Countless other passages clearly teach the eternal punishment of the unbelieving (e.g., Matt. 5:29; 10:28; 25:41, 46; Luke 16:23; 2 Thess. 1:9; Rev. 20:15).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:23 in his own order. Christ was first, as the firstfruits of the resurrection harvest (vv. 20–23a). Because of his resurrection, “those who belong to Christ” will be raised and enter the eternal heavenly state in three stages at Christ's coming (cf. Matt. 24:36, 42, 44, 50; 25:13): 1) those who have come to saving faith from Pentecost to the rapture will be joined by living saints at the rapture to meet the Lord in the air and ascend to heaven (1 Thess. 4:16–17); 2) those who come to faith during the tribulation, with the OT saints as well, will be raised up to reign with him during the Millennium (Rev. 20:4; cf. Dan. 12:2; cf. Isa. 26:19–20); and 3) those who die during the millennial kingdom may well be instantly transformed at death into their eternal bodies and spirits. The only people left to be raised will be the ungodly, and that will occur at the end of the Millennium at the great white throne judgment of God (see notes on Rev. 20:11–15; cf. John 5:28–29), which will be followed by eternal hell (Rev. 21:8).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:24 Then comes the end. This third aspect of the resurrection involves the restoration of the earth to the rule of Christ, the rightful King. “End” can refer not only to what is over, but to what is complete and fulfilled. he delivers the kingdom to God. In the culmination of the world’s history, after Christ has taken over the restored world for his Father and reigned for 1,000 years, all things will be returned to the way they were designed by God to be in the sinless glory of the new heavens and new earth (see Rev. 21–22). destroying every rule. Christ will permanently conquer every enemy of God and take back the earth that he created and that is rightfully his. During the Millennium, under Christ’s rule, rebelliousness will still exist and Christ will have to “rule them with a rod of iron” (Rev. 19:15). At the end of that 1,000 years, Satan will be unleashed briefly to lead a final insurrection against God (Rev. 20:7–9). But with all who follow his hatred of God and Christ, he will be banished to hell with his fallen angels to suffer forever in the lake of fire (Rev. 20:10–15).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:25 all his enemies under his feet. This figure comes from the common practice of kings always sitting enthroned above their subjects, so that when the subjects bowed or kneeled, they were lower than the sovereign’s feet. With enemies, the monarch might put his foot on the neck of a conquered ruler, symbolizing that enemy’s total subjugation. In the millennial kingdom, Christ’s foes will be in subjection to him.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:26–27 last enemy . . . death. Christ has broken the power of Satan, who held the power of death (Heb. 2:14), at the cross. But Satan will not be permanently divested of his weapon of death until the end of the Millennium (see notes on Rev. 20:1–10). At that point, having fulfilled completely the prophecy of Ps. 8:6 (1 Cor. 15:27a), Christ then will deliver the kingdom to his Father, and the eternal glory of Rev. 21–22 will begin.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:27 it is plain. Lest anyone misunderstand what should be “plain,” Paul does not mean by the phrase “put all things in subjection under his feet,” that God the Father is so included. It is actually the Father who gave Christ his authority (Matt. 28:18; John 5:26–27) and whom the Son perfectly serves.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:28 all in all. Christ will continue to rule because his reign is eternal (Rev. 11:15), but he will reign in his former, full, and glorious place within the Trinity, subject to God (1 Cor. 15:28) in the way eternally designed for him in full Trinitarian glory.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:29–34 Paul points out that the resurrection gives men compelling incentives for salvation (v. 19), for service (vv. 30–32), and for sanctification (vv. 33–34).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:29 This difficult verse has numerous possible interpretations. Other Scripture passages, however, clarify certain things that it does not mean. It does not teach, for example, that a dead person can be saved by another person's being baptized on his behalf, because baptism never has a part in a person's salvation (Eph. 2:8; cf. Rom. 3:28; 4:3; 6:3–4). A reasonable view seems to be that "people baptized" refers to living believers who give outward testimony to their faith in baptism by water because they were first drawn to Christ by the exemplary lives, faithful influence, and witness of believers who had subsequently died. Paul's point is that if there is no resurrection and no life after death, then why are people coming to Christ to follow the hope of those who have died?

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:30–31 I die every day! Paul continually risked his life in self-sacrificing ministry. Why would he risk death daily, even hourly, if there were no life after death, no reward, and no eternal joy for all his pain? Cf. 1 Pet. 1:3–4.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:32 beasts at Ephesus. Perhaps literal wild animals, or, metaphorically, the fierce crowd of Ephesians incited against him by Demetrius (Acts 19:23–34). In either case, these were life-threatening dangers (cf. 2 Cor. 11:23–28). eat . . . drink . . . die. A direct quote from Isa. 22:13 reflecting the hopelessness of the backslidden Israelites. Cf. Heb. 11:33–34, 38 for a litany of sufferers who were willing to die because they looked forward to resurrection (1 Cor. 15:35).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:33–34 Bad company. The Greek term behind this word can also refer to a spoken message. By word or example, bad, or evil, friends are a corrupting influence. Hope in the resurrection is sanctifying; it leads to godly living, not corruption. Some in the church did not know God and were a corrupting influence, but not for those who hoped for life in God's presence (see 1 John 3:2-3).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:35 They had the truth but shamefully did not believe and follow it (cf. 2 Cor. 13:5); thus, these questions did not reflect a genuine interest in the resurrection but were mocking taunts by those who denied the resurrection, perhaps under the influence of Gnostic-oriented philosophy. But supposing it were true, they queried as to how it could ever happen. Cf. Acts 26:8.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:36-49 To the questions posed in v. 35, Paul here gives four responses: 1) an illustration from nature (vv. 36-38); 2) a description of resurrection bodies (vv. 39-42a); 3) contrasts of earthly and resurrection bodies (vv. 42b-44); and 4) a reminder of the prototype resurrection of Jesus Christ (vv. 45-49).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:36-38 When a seed is planted in the ground it dies; decomposing, it ceases to exist in its seed form, but life comes from inside that dead seed (see John 12:24). Just as God gives a new body to that plant that rises from the dead seed, so he can give a resurrection body to a man who dies.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:39-42a As there are vastly different bodies and forms in God's created universe that are suited for all kinds of existence, so God can design a body perfect for resurrection life.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:42b-44 Focusing directly on the resurrection body, Paul gives four sets of contrasts to show how the new body will differ from the present one (cf. v. 54; Phil. 3:20-21): 1) no more sickness and death ("perishable body"); 2) no more shame because of sin ("dishonor"); 3) no more frailty in temptation ("weakness"); and 4) no more limits to the time/space sphere ("natural").

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:45-49 Here Paul answers the question (v. 35) more specifically by showing that the resurrection body of Jesus Christ is the prototype. He begins with a quotation from Gen. 2:7 with the addition of two words, "first" and "Adam." Adam was created with a natural body, not perfect, but good in every way (Gen. 1:31). The "last Adam" is Jesus Christ (Rom. 5:19, 21). He is saying that through the first Adam we received our natural bodies, but through the last Adam we will receive our spiritual bodies in resurrection. Adam's body was the prototype of the natural, Christ's body of the resurrection. We will bear the image of his body fit for heaven (Acts 1:11; Phil. 3:20–21; 1 John 3:1–3) as we have borne the image of Adam's on earth.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:50 People cannot live in God's eternal heavenly glory the way they are. See notes on Rom. 8:23. We have to be changed (1 Cor. 15:51).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:51 mystery. This term refers to truth hidden in the past and revealed in the NT. See notes on 2:7 and Eph. 3:4–5. In this case, the rapture of the church was never revealed in the OT. It was first mentioned in John 14:1–3, when it is specifically explained and is detailed in 1 Thess. 4:13–18 (see notes there). sleep. See note on 1 Cor. 15:18.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:52 twinkling of an eye. This was Paul's way of showing how brief the "moment" will be. The Greek word for "twinkling" refers to any rapid movement. Since the eye can move more rapidly than any other part of our visible bodies, it seems to well illustrate the sudden transformation of raptured believers. trumpet will sound. To herald the end of the church era, when all believers will be removed from the earth at the rapture (1 Thess. 4:16). dead . . . raised. According to 1 Thess. 4:16, they are first and the living saints follow (1 Thess. 4:17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:54–57 Paul enhanced his joy at the reality of resurrection by quoting from Isa. 25:8 and Hos. 13:14. The latter quote taunts death as if it were a bee whose sting was removed. That sting was the sin that was exposed by the law of God (see notes on Rom. 3:23; 4:15; 6:23; Gal. 3:10–13), but conquered by Christ in his death (see notes on Rom. 5:17; 2 Cor. 5:21).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 15:58 The hope of resurrection makes all the efforts and sacrifices in the Lord's work worth it. No work done in his name is wasted in light of eternal glory and reward.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:1 collection. An offering for destitute believers in the overpopulated, famine-stricken city of Jerusalem (v. 3; see Acts 11:28). Paul had previously solicited funds from the churches of Galatia, Macedonia, and Achaia (Rom. 15:26; cf. Luke 10:25–37; 2 Cor. 8:1–5; 9:12–15; Gal. 6:10; 1

John 3:17).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:2 first day of every week. This evidences that the early church met on Sunday (Acts 20:7). The point is that giving must occur regularly, not just when one feels generous, particularly led to do so, or instructed to do so for some special purpose (cf. Luke 6:38; cf. 2 Cor. 9:6–7). as he may prosper. No required amount or percentage for giving to the Lord's work is specified in the NT. All giving to the Lord is to be free will giving and completely discretionary (see Luke 6:38; 2 Cor. 9:6–8). This is not to be confused with the OT required giving of three tithes (see Lev. 27:30; Num. 18:21–26; Deut. 14:28–29; Mal. 3:8–10), which totaled about 23 percent annually to fund the national government of Israel, take care of public festivals, and provide welfare. Modern parallels to the Old Testament tithe are found in the taxation system of countries (Rom. 13:6). Old Testament giving to God was not regulated as to amount (see Ex. 25:1–2; 35:21; 36:6; Prov. 3:9–10; 11:24).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:3–4 This matter of getting the money to Jerusalem was important enough for Paul to go, if necessary.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:5 At the end of a three-year stay in Ephesus, Paul wrote his letter and probably gave it to Timothy to deliver (v. 10). Paul originally planned to follow Timothy a short while after (4:19), visiting Corinth on the way to and from Macedonia (2 Cor. 1:15–16). He had to change his plan and visit only after a longer stay in Ephesus (1 Cor. 16:8), then on to Corinth after Macedonia, to stay for a while (vv. 6–7).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:9 many adversaries. Perhaps no NT church had such fierce opposition as the one in Ephesus (see 2 Cor. 1:8–10 where he described his experience in Ephesus; cf. Acts 19:1–21). In spite of that opposition, the door for the gospel was open wide (cf. 2 Cor. 2:12–13 where Paul also had an open door, but no heart to remain and preach) and Paul stayed. At the end of the experience of opposition described in 2 Cor. 1:8–10, he wrote 1 Corinthians.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:10 Timothy. Paul had sent him with Erastus to Macedonia (Acts 19:22) and then he was to travel to Corinth, perhaps to carry this epistle (1 Cor. 4:17). put him at ease. I.e., Timothy should be free from fear of intimidation or frustration by believers in Corinth.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:12 Apollos. See note on Acts 18:24. Paul felt Apollos should accompany the other brothers, Timothy and Erastus, to Corinth. Apollos refused, staying in Ephesus longer. Paul respected his convictions.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:13–14 Paul gives five final commands. The Corinthians are to be alert, firm, mature, strong, and loving.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:13 the faith. The Christian faith, i.e., sound doctrine, as in Phil. 1:27; 1 Tim. 6:21; Jude 3.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:15 first converts. The members of the household of Stephanas were among the first converts in Corinth, which is located in Achaia, the southern province of Greece. Stephanas was one of the Corinthian believers Paul baptized personally (1:16), and was visiting with Paul in Ephesus at the time this epistle was written. With Fortunatus and Achaicus (16:17), he probably delivered the earlier letter from Corinth mentioned in 7:1 (see note there).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:17–18 Paul was glad about the arrival of his three friends in Ephesus who went there to be with him (cf. Prov. 25:25). The Corinthians were to give those men respect for their service to the Lord (cf. 1 Thess. 5:12–13).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:19 Aquila and Prisca. See note on Acts 18:2. They had become good friends with Paul, since he stayed in their house during his first ministry in Corinth (Acts 18:1–3). He may have stayed with them the entire year and a half (cf. Acts 18:18–19, 24–26). in their house. The early church used homes of believers for worship and many other activities (see, e.g., Acts 2:46; 5:42; 10:23, 27–48; 20:7–8; 28:23).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:20 kiss. A pure expression of Christian love between men with men and women with women, with no sexual overtones (cf. Rom. 16:16; 2 Cor. 13:12; 1 Thess. 5:26; 1 Pet. 5:14).

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:21 my own hand. Paul dictated the main part of the letter to a scribe (Rom. 16:22), but finished and signed it himself.

1 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 16:22 accursed. I.e., devoted to destruction. Our Lord, come! In this context, Paul perhaps appeals for the Lord to take away the nominal, false Christians who threatened the spiritual well-being of the church.

This was also an expression of eagerness for the Lord's return (cf. Rev. 22:20).

Introduction to 2 Corinthians

Title

This is the second NT epistle the apostle Paul wrote to the Christians in the city of Corinth (see Introduction to 1 Corinthians).

Author and Date

That the apostle Paul wrote 2 Corinthians is uncontested; the lack of any motive for a forger to write this highly personal, biographical epistle has led even the most critical scholars to affirm Paul as its author.

Several considerations establish a feasible date for the writing of this letter. Extrabiblical sources indicate that July, A.D. 51 is the most likely date for the beginning of Gallio's proconsulship (cf. Acts 18:12). Paul's trial before him at Corinth (Acts 18:12–17) probably took place shortly after Gallio assumed office. Leaving Corinth (probably in A.D. 52), Paul sailed for Palestine (Acts 18:18), thus concluding his second missionary journey. Returning to Ephesus on his third missionary journey (probably in A.D. 52), Paul ministered there for about two and one-half years (Acts 19:8, 10). The apostle wrote 1 Corinthians from Ephesus toward the close of that period (1 Cor. 16:8), most likely in A.D. 55. Since Paul planned to stay in Ephesus until the following spring (cf. the reference to Pentecost in 1 Cor. 16:8), and 2 Corinthians was written after he left Ephesus (see Background and Setting), the most likely date for 2 Corinthians is late A.D. 55 or very early A.D. 56.

Corinth in the Time of Paul (c. A.D. 60)

The city plan below shows those features of the city of Corinth that archeologists have so far identified as dating from the time of Paul. Others remain to be discovered by future archeological excavations.

Background and Setting

Paul's association with the important commercial city of Corinth (see Introduction to 1 Corinthians: Title) began on his second missionary journey (Acts 18:1–18), when he spent 18 months (Acts 18:11) ministering there. After leaving Corinth, Paul heard of immorality in the Corinthian church and wrote a letter (since lost) to confront that sin, referred to in 1 Cor. 5:9. During his ministry in Ephesus, he received further reports of trouble in the Corinthian church in the form of divisions among them (1 Cor. 1:11). In addition, the Corinthians wrote Paul a letter (1 Cor. 7:1) asking for clarification of some issues. Paul responded by writing the letter known as 1 Corinthians. Planning to remain at Ephesus a little longer (1 Cor. 16:8–9), Paul sent Timothy to Corinth (1 Cor. 4:17; 16:10–11). Disturbing news reached the apostle (possibly from Timothy) of further difficulties at Corinth, including the arrival of self-styled false apostles (2 Cor. 11:13; see note on 11:4).

To create the platform to teach their false gospel, they began by assaulting the character of Paul. They had to convince the people to turn from Paul to them if they were to succeed in preaching demon doctrine. Temporarily abandoning the work at Ephesus, Paul went immediately to Corinth. The visit (known as the “painful visit,” 2:1) was not a successful one from Paul’s perspective; someone in the Corinthian church (possibly one of the false apostles) even openly insulted him (2:5–8, 10; 7:12). Saddened by the Corinthians’ lack of loyalty to defend him, seeking to spare them further reproof (cf. 1:23), and perhaps hoping time would bring them to their senses, Paul returned to Ephesus. From Ephesus, Paul wrote what is known as the “severe letter” (2:4) and sent it with Titus to Corinth (7:5–16). Leaving Ephesus after the riot sparked by Demetrius (Acts 19:23–20:1), Paul went to Troas to meet Titus (2 Cor. 2:12–13). But Paul was so anxious for news of how the Corinthians had responded to the “severe letter” that he could not minister there though the Lord had opened the door (2:12; cf. 7:5). So he left for Macedonia to look for Titus (2:13). To Paul’s immense relief and joy, Titus met him with the news that the majority of the Corinthians had repented of their rebellion against Paul (7:7). Wise enough to know that some rebellious attitudes still smoldered under the surface, and could erupt again, Paul wrote (possibly from Philippi, cf. 11:9 with Phil. 4:15; also, some early manuscripts list Philippi as the place of writing) the Corinthians the letter called 2 Corinthians. In this letter, though the apostle expressed his relief and joy at their repentance (2 Cor. 7:8–16), his main concern was to defend his apostleship (chs. 1–7), exhort the Corinthians to resume preparations for the collection for the poor at Jerusalem (chs. 8–9), and confront the false apostles head on (chs. 10–13). He then went to Corinth, as he had written (12:14; 13:1–2). The Corinthians’ participation in the Jerusalem offering (Rom. 15:26) implies that Paul’s third visit to that church was successful.

Historical and Theological Themes

Second Corinthians complements the historical record of Paul’s dealings with the Corinthian church recorded in Acts and 1 Corinthians. It also contains important biographical data on Paul throughout.

Although an intensely personal letter, written by the apostle in the heat of battle against those attacking his credibility, 2 Corinthians contains several important theological themes. It portrays God the Father as a merciful comforter (1:3; 7:6), the Creator (4:6), the One who raised Jesus from the dead (4:14; cf. 13:4) and who will raise believers as well (1:9). Jesus Christ is the One who suffered (1:5), who fulfilled God’s promises (1:20), who was the proclaimed Lord (4:5), who manifested God’s glory (4:6), and the One who in his incarnation became poor for believers (8:9; cf. Phil. 2:5–8). The letter portrays the Holy Spirit as God (2 Cor. 3:17–18) and the guarantee of believers’ salvation (1:22; 5:5). Satan is identified as the “god of this world” (4:4; cf. 1 John 5:19), a deceiver (2 Cor. 11:14), and the leader of human and angelic deceivers (11:15). The end times include both the believer’s glorification (4:16–5:8) and his judgment (5:10). The glorious truth of God’s sovereignty in salvation is the theme of 5:14–21, while 7:9–10 sets forth man’s response to God’s offer of salvation—genuine repentance. Second Corinthians also presents the clearest, most concise summary of the substitutionary atonement of Christ to be found anywhere in Scripture (5:21; cf. Isa. 53) and defines the mission of the church to proclaim reconciliation (2 Cor. 5:18–20). Finally, the nature of the New Covenant receives its fullest exposition outside the book of Hebrews (3:6–16).

Interpretive Challenges

The main challenge confronting the interpreter is the relationship of chs. 10–13 to chs. 1–9 (see note on 10:1–13:14). The identity of Paul’s opponents at Corinth has produced various interpretations, as has the identity of the brother who accompanied Titus to Corinth (8:18, 22). Whether the offender mentioned in 2:5–8 is the incestuous man of 1 Cor. 5 is also uncertain. It is difficult to explain Paul’s vision (2 Cor. 12:1–5) and to identify specifically his “thorn in the flesh,” the “messenger of Satan [sent] to harass [him]” (12:7). These and other interpretive problems will be dealt with in the notes on the appropriate passages.

THE SECOND LETTER OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS

2 Corinthians

Greeting

2 CORINTHIANS 1 †Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by the will of God, and Timothy our brother, To the church of God that is at Corinth, with all the saints who are in the whole of Achaia: 2†Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

God of All Comfort

3†Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort, 4†who comforts us in all our affliction, so that we may be able to comfort those who are in any affliction, with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God. 5†For as we share abundantly in Christ's sufferings, so through Christ we share abundantly in comfort too. [\[1\]](#) 6†If we are afflicted, it is for your comfort and salvation; and if we are comforted, it is for your comfort, which you experience when you patiently endure the same sufferings that we suffer. 7†Our hope for you is unshaken, for we know that as you share in our sufferings, you will also share in our comfort.

8†For we do not want you to be ignorant, brothers, [\[2\]](#) of the affliction we experienced in Asia. For we were so utterly burdened beyond our strength that we despaired of life itself. 9†Indeed, we felt that we had received the sentence of death. But that was to make us rely not on ourselves but on God who raises the dead. 10†He delivered us from such a deadly peril, and he will deliver us. On him we have set our hope that he will deliver us again. 11†You also must help us by prayer, so that many will give thanks on our behalf for the blessing granted us through the prayers of many.

Paul's Change of Plans

12†For our boast is this, the testimony of our conscience, that we behaved in the world with simplicity [\[3\]](#) and godly sincerity, not by earthly wisdom but by the grace of God, and supremely so toward you. 13†For we are not writing to you anything other than what you read and acknowledge [4] and I hope you will fully acknowledge—<sup>14</sup>† just as you did partially acknowledge us—that on the day of our Lord Jesus you will boast of us as we will boast of you.

<sup>15</sup>† Because I was sure of this, I wanted to come to you first, so that you might have a second experience of grace. <sup>16</sup>† I wanted to visit you on my way to Macedonia, and to come back to you from Macedonia and have you send me on my way to Judea. <sup>17</sup>† Was I vacillating when I wanted to do this? Do I make my plans according to the flesh, ready to say “Yes, yes” and “No, no” at the same time? <sup>18</sup>† As surely as God is faithful, our word to you has not been Yes and No. <sup>19</sup>† For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, whom we proclaimed among you, Silvanus and Timothy and I, was not Yes and No, but in him it is always Yes. <sup>20</sup>† For all the promises of God find their Yes in him. That is why it is through him that we utter our Amen to God for his glory. <sup>21</sup>†† And it is God who establishes us with you in Christ, and has anointed us, <sup>22</sup>† and who has also put his seal on us and given us his Spirit in our hearts as a guarantee. [5]

<sup>23</sup>† But I call God to witness against me—it was to spare you that I refrained from coming again to Corinth. <sup>24</sup>† Not that we lord it over your faith, but we work with you for your joy, for you stand firm in your faith.

2 CORINTHIANS 2 †For I made up my mind not to make another painful visit to you. †For if I cause you pain, who is there to make me glad but the one whom I have pained? †And I wrote as I did, so that when I came I might not suffer pain from those who should have made me rejoice, for I felt sure of all of you, that my joy would be the joy of you all. †For I wrote to you out of much affliction and anguish of heart and with many tears, not to cause you pain but to let you know the abundant love that I have for you.

Forgive the Sinner

††Now if anyone has caused pain, he has caused it not to me, but in some measure—not to put it too severely—to all of you. †For such a one, this punishment by the majority is enough, †so you should rather turn to forgive and comfort him, or he may be overwhelmed by excessive sorrow. †So I beg you to reaffirm your love for him. †For this is why I wrote, that I might test you and know whether you are obedient in everything. †Anyone whom you forgive, I also forgive. Indeed, what I have forgiven, if I have forgiven anything, has been for your sake in the presence of Christ, †so that we would not be outwitted by Satan; for we are not ignorant of his designs.

Triumph in Christ

†When I came to Troas to preach the gospel of Christ, even though a door was opened for me in the Lord, †my spirit was not at rest because I did not find my brother Titus there. So I took leave of them and went on to Macedonia.

†But thanks be to God, who in Christ always leads us in triumphal procession, and through us spreads the fragrance of the knowledge of him everywhere.

†For we are the aroma of Christ to God among those who are being saved and among those who are perishing, †to one a fragrance from death to death, to the other a fragrance from life to life. Who is sufficient [1] for these things? †For we are not, like so many, peddlers of God's word, but as men of sincerity, as commissioned by God, in the sight of God we speak in Christ.

Ministers of the New Covenant

2 CORINTHIANS 3 †† Are we beginning to commend ourselves again? Or do we need, as some do, letters of recommendation to you, or from you? † You yourselves are our letter of recommendation, written on our [\[1\]](#) hearts, to be known and read by all. † And you show that you are a letter from Christ delivered by us, written not with ink but with the Spirit of the living God, not on tablets of stone but on tablets of human hearts. [\[2\]](#)

† Such is the confidence that we have through Christ toward God. † Not that we are sufficient in ourselves to claim anything as coming from us, but our sufficiency is from God, † who has made us competent [\[3\]](#) to be ministers of a new covenant, not of the letter but of the Spirit. For the letter kills, but the Spirit gives life.

†† Now if the ministry of death, carved in letters on stone, came with such glory that the Israelites could not gaze at Moses' face because of its glory, which was being brought to an end, † will not the ministry of the Spirit have even more glory? † For if there was glory in the ministry of condemnation, the ministry of righteousness must far exceed it in glory. † Indeed, in this case, what once had glory has come to have no glory at all, because of the glory that surpasses it. † For if what was being brought to an end came with glory, much more will what is permanent have glory.

† Since we have such a hope, we are very bold, † not like Moses, who would put a veil over his face so that the Israelites might not gaze at the outcome of what was being brought to an end. †† But their minds were hardened. For to this day, when they read the old covenant, that same veil remains unlifted, because only through Christ is it taken away. † Yes, to this day whenever Moses is read a veil lies over their hearts. † But when one [\[4\]](#) turns to the Lord, the veil is removed. † Now the Lord [\[5\]](#) is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom. † And we all, with unveiled face, beholding the glory of the Lord, [\[6\]](#) are being transformed into the same image from one degree of glory to another. For this comes from the Lord who is the Spirit.

The Light of the Gospel

2 CORINTHIANS 4 †Therefore, having this ministry by the mercy of God, [\[1\]](#) we do not lose heart. 2†But we have renounced disgraceful, underhanded ways. We refuse to practice cunning or to tamper with God's word, but by the open statement of the truth we would commend ourselves to everyone's conscience in the sight of God. 3†And even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled only to those who are perishing. 4†In their case the god of this world has blinded the minds of the unbelievers, to keep them from seeing the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God. 5†For what we proclaim is not ourselves, but Jesus Christ as Lord, with ourselves as your servants [\[2\]](#) for Jesus' sake. 6†For God, who said, "Let light shine out of darkness," has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

Treasure in Jars of Clay

7†But we have this treasure in jars of clay, to show that the surpassing power belongs to God and not to us. 8†We are afflicted in every way, but not crushed; perplexed, but not driven to despair; 9persecuted, but not forsaken; struck down, but not destroyed; 10†always carrying in the body the death of Jesus, so that the life of Jesus may also be manifested in our bodies. 11†For we who live are always being given over to death for Jesus' sake, so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our mortal flesh. 12†So death is at work in us, but life in you.

13†Since we have the same spirit of faith according to what has been written, "I believed, and so I spoke," we also believe, and so we also speak, 14knowing that he who raised the Lord Jesus will raise us also with Jesus and bring us with you into his presence. 15†For it is all for your sake, so that as grace extends to more and more people it may increase thanksgiving, to the glory of God.

16†So we do not lose heart. Though our outer self [\[3\]](#) is wasting away, our inner self is being renewed day by day. 17†For this light momentary affliction is preparing for us an eternal weight of glory beyond all comparison, 18†as we look not to the things that are seen but to the things that are unseen. For the things that are seen are transient, but the things that are unseen are eternal.

Our Heavenly Dwelling

2 CORINTHIANS 5 †For we know that if the tent that is our earthly home is destroyed, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. 2†For in this tent we groan, longing to put on our heavenly dwelling, 3†if indeed by putting it on [\[1\]](#) we may not be found naked. 4†For while we are still in this tent, we groan, being burdened—not that we would be unclothed, but that we would be further clothed, so that what is mortal may be swallowed up by life. 5†He who has prepared us for this very thing is God, who has given us the Spirit as a guarantee.

6†So we are always of good courage. We know that while we are at home in the body we are away from the Lord, 7†for we walk by faith, not by sight. 8†Yes, we are of good courage, and we would rather be away from the body and at home with the Lord. 9†So whether we are at home or away, we make it our aim to please him. 10†For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, so that each one may receive what is due for what he has done in the body, whether good or evil.

The Ministry of Reconciliation

11†Therefore, knowing the fear of the Lord, we persuade others. But what we are is known to God, and I hope it is known also to your conscience. 12†We are not commending ourselves to you again but giving you cause to boast about us, so that you may be able to answer those who boast about outward appearance and not about what is in the heart. 13†For if we are beside ourselves, it is for God; if we are in our right mind, it is for you. 14†For the love of Christ controls us, because we have concluded this: that one has died for all, therefore all have died; 15†and he died for all, that those who live might no longer live for themselves but for him who for their sake died and was raised.

16†From now on, therefore, we regard no one according to the flesh. Even though we once regarded Christ according to the flesh, we regard him thus no longer. 17†Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation. [\[2\]](#) The old has passed away; behold, the new has come. 18†All this is from God, who through Christ reconciled us to himself and gave us the ministry of reconciliation; 19†that is, in Christ God was reconciling [\[3\]](#) the world to himself, not counting their trespasses against them, and entrusting to us the message of reconciliation.

<sup>20</sup>†Therefore, we are ambassadors for Christ, God making his appeal through us. We implore you on behalf of Christ, be reconciled to God. <sup>21</sup>†For our sake he made him to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God.

2 CORINTHIANS 6 † Working together with him, then, we appeal to you not to receive the grace of God in vain. <sup>2</sup>† For he says, “In a favorable time I listened to you, and in a day of salvation I have helped you.”

Behold, now is the favorable time; behold, now is the day of salvation. <sup>3</sup>†† We put no obstacle in anyone's way, so that no fault may be found with our ministry, <sup>4</sup>† but as servants of God we commend ourselves in every way: by great endurance, in afflictions, hardships, calamities, <sup>5</sup>† beatings, imprisonments, riots, labors, sleepless nights, hunger; <sup>6</sup>† by purity, knowledge, patience, kindness, the Holy Spirit, genuine love; <sup>7</sup>† by truthful speech, and the power of God; with the weapons of righteousness for the right hand and for the left; <sup>8</sup>†† through honor and dishonor, through slander and praise. We are treated as impostors, and yet are true; <sup>9</sup>† as unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and behold, we live; as punished, and yet not killed; <sup>10</sup>† as sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, yet possessing everything.

<sup>11</sup>†† We have spoken freely to you, [1] Corinthians; our heart is wide open. <sup>12</sup>You are not restricted by us, but you are restricted in your own affections. <sup>13</sup>In return (I speak as to children) widen your hearts also.

The Temple of the Living God

<sup>14</sup>† Do not be unequally yoked with unbelievers. For what partnership has righteousness with lawlessness? Or what fellowship has light with darkness? <sup>15</sup>† What accord has Christ with Belial? [2] Or what portion does a believer share with an unbeliever? <sup>16</sup>† What agreement has the temple of God with idols? For we are the temple of the living God; as God said, “I will make my dwelling among them and walk among them, and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

<sup>17</sup>† Therefore go out from their midst, and be separate from them, says the Lord, and touch no unclean thing; then I will welcome you, <sup>18</sup>† and I will be a father to you, and you shall be sons and daughters to me, says the Lord Almighty.”

2 CORINTHIANS 7 † Since we have these promises, beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from every defilement of body [1] and spirit, bringing holiness to completion in the fear of God.

Paul's Joy

2† Make room in your hearts [2] for us. We have wronged no one, we have corrupted no one, we have taken advantage of no one. 3† I do not say this to condemn you, for I said before that you are in our hearts, to die together and to live together. 4† I am acting with great boldness toward you; I have great pride in you; I am filled with comfort. In all our affliction, I am overflowing with joy.

5†† For even when we came into Macedonia, our bodies had no rest, but we were afflicted at every turn—fighting without and fear within. 6†† But God, who comforts the downcast, comforted us by the coming of Titus, 7† and not only by his coming but also by the comfort with which he was comforted by you, as he told us of your longing, your mourning, your zeal for me, so that I rejoiced still more. 8†† For even if I made you grieve with my letter, I do not regret it—though I did regret it, for I see that that letter grieved you, though only for a while. 9† As it is, I rejoice, not because you were grieved, but because you were grieved into repenting. For you felt a godly grief, so that you suffered no loss through us.

10† For godly grief produces a repentance that leads to salvation without regret, whereas worldly grief produces death. 11† For see what earnestness this godly grief has produced in you, but also what eagerness to clear yourselves, what indignation, what fear, what longing, what zeal, what punishment! At every point you have proved yourselves innocent in the matter. 12† So although I wrote to you, it was not for the sake of the one who did the wrong, nor for the sake of the one who suffered the wrong, but in order that your earnestness for us might be revealed to you in the sight of God. 13 Therefore we are comforted.

And besides our own comfort, we rejoiced still more at the joy of Titus, because his spirit has been refreshed by you all. 14 For whatever boasts I made to him about you, I was not put to shame. But just as everything we said to you was true, so also our boasting before Titus has proved true. 15† And his affection for you is even greater, as he remembers the obedience of you all, how you received him with fear and trembling. 16 I rejoice, because I have perfect confidence in you.

Encouragement to Give Generously

2 CORINTHIANS 8 †† We want you to know, brothers, [\[1\]](#) about the grace of God that has been given among the churches of Macedonia, 2† for in a severe test of affliction, their abundance of joy and their extreme poverty have overflowed in a wealth of generosity on their part. 3† For they gave according to their means, as I can testify, and beyond their means, of their own accord, 4† begging us earnestly for the favor [\[2\]](#) of taking part in the relief of the saints— 5† and this, not as we expected, but they gave themselves first to the Lord and then by the will of God to us. 6† Accordingly, we urged Titus that as he had started, so he should complete among you this act of grace. 7† But as you excel in everything—in faith, in speech, in knowledge, in all earnestness, and in our love for you [\[3\]](#)—see that you excel in this act of grace also.

8† I say this not as a command, but to prove by the earnestness of others that your love also is genuine. 9† For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sake he became poor, so that you by his poverty might become rich. 10† And in this matter I give my judgment: this benefits you, who a year ago started not only to do this work but also to desire to do it. 11† So now finish doing it as well, so that your readiness in desiring it may be matched by your completing it out of what you have. 12† For if the readiness is there, it is acceptable according to what a person has, not according to what he does not have. 13† For I do not mean that others should be eased and you burdened, but that as a matter of fairness 14† your abundance at the present time should supply their need, so that their abundance may supply your need, that there may be fairness. 15† As it is written, “Whoever gathered much had nothing left over, and whoever gathered little had no lack.”

Commendation of Titus

16† But thanks be to God, who put into the heart of Titus the same earnest care I have for you. 17† For he not only accepted our appeal, but being himself very earnest he is going [\[4\]](#) to you of his own accord. 18† With him we are sending [\[5\]](#) the brother who is famous among all the churches for his preaching of the gospel. 19† And not only that, but he has been appointed by the churches to travel with us as we carry out this act of grace that is being ministered by us, for the glory of the Lord himself and to show our good will. 20† We take this course so that no one should blame us about this generous gift that is being administered by us, <sup>21</sup>†for we aim at what is honorable not only in the Lord's sight but also in the sight of man. <sup>22</sup>†And with them we are sending our brother whom we have often tested and found earnest in many matters, but who is now more earnest than ever because of his great confidence in you. <sup>23</sup>†As for Titus, he is my partner and fellow worker for your benefit. And as for our brothers, they are messengers [6] of the churches, the glory of Christ. <sup>24</sup>So give proof before the churches of your love and of our boasting about you to these men.

The Collection for Christians in Jerusalem

2 CORINTHIANS 9 †Now it is superfluous for me to write to you about the ministry for the saints, <sup>2</sup>†for I know your readiness, of which I boast about you to the people of Macedonia, saying that Achaia has been ready since last year. And your zeal has stirred up most of them. <sup>3</sup>But I am sending [\[1\]](#) the brothers so that our boasting about you may not prove empty in this matter, so that you may be ready, as I said you would be. <sup>4</sup>Otherwise, if some Macedonians come with me and find that you are not ready, we would be humiliated—to say nothing of you—for being so confident. <sup>5</sup>†So I thought it necessary to urge the brothers to go on ahead to you and arrange in advance for the gift [\[2\]](#) you have promised, so that it may be ready as a willing gift, not as an exaction. [\[3\]](#)

The Cheerful Giver

<sup>6</sup>†The point is this: whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows bountifully [\[4\]](#) will also reap bountifully. <sup>7</sup>†Each one must give as he has decided in his heart, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver. <sup>8</sup>†And God is able to make all grace abound to you, so that having all sufficiency [\[5\]](#) in all things at all times, you may abound in every good work. <sup>9</sup>†As it is written, “He has distributed freely, he has given to the poor; his righteousness endures forever.”

<sup>10</sup>†He who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will supply and multiply your seed for sowing and increase the harvest of your righteousness. <sup>11</sup>You will be enriched in every way to be generous in every way, which through us will produce thanksgiving to God. <sup>12</sup>†For the ministry of this service is not only supplying the needs of the saints but is also overflowing in many thanksgivings to God. <sup>13</sup>†By their approval of this service, they [\[6\]](#) will glorify God because of your submission flowing from your confession of the gospel of Christ, and the generosity of your contribution for them and for all others, <sup>14</sup>†while they long for you and pray for you, because of the surpassing grace of God upon you. <sup>15</sup>†Thanks be to God for his inexpressible gift!

Paul Defends His Ministry

2 CORINTHIANS 10 †I, Paul, myself entreat you, by the meekness and gentleness of Christ—I who am humble when face to face with you, but bold toward you when I am away!— †I beg of you that when I am present I may not have to show boldness with such confidence as I count on showing against some who suspect us of walking according to the flesh. †For though we walk in the flesh, we are not waging war according to the flesh. †For the weapons of our warfare are not of the flesh but have divine power to destroy strongholds. †We destroy arguments and every lofty opinion raised against the knowledge of God, and take every thought captive to obey Christ, †being ready to punish every disobedience, when your obedience is complete.

†Look at what is before your eyes. If anyone is confident that he is Christ's, let him remind himself that just as he is Christ's, so also are we. †For even if I boast a little too much of our authority, which the Lord gave for building you up and not for destroying you, I will not be ashamed. †I do not want to appear to be frightening you with my letters. †For they say, “His letters are weighty and strong, but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech of no account.” †Let such a person understand that what we say by letter when absent, we do when present. †Not that we dare to classify or compare ourselves with some of those who are commending themselves. But when they measure themselves by one another and compare themselves with one another, they are without understanding.

†But we will not boast beyond limits, but will boast only with regard to the area of influence God assigned to us, to reach even to you. †For we are not overextending ourselves, as though we did not reach you. For we were the first to come all the way to you with the gospel of Christ. †We do not boast beyond limit in the labors of others. But our hope is that as your faith increases, our area of influence among you may be greatly enlarged, †so that we may preach the gospel in lands beyond you, without boasting of work already done in another's area of influence. †“Let the one who boasts, boast in the Lord.” †For it is not the one who commends himself who is approved, but the one whom the Lord commends.

Paul and the False Apostles

2 CORINTHIANS 11 †I wish you would bear with me in a little foolishness. Do bear with me! <sup>2</sup>†For I feel a divine jealousy for you, since I betrothed you to one husband, to present you as a pure virgin to Christ. <sup>3</sup>†But I am afraid that as the serpent deceived Eve by his cunning, your thoughts will be led astray from a sincere and pure devotion to Christ. <sup>4</sup>†For if someone comes and proclaims another Jesus than the one we proclaimed, or if you receive a different spirit from the one you received, or if you accept a different gospel from the one you accepted, you put up with it readily enough. <sup>5</sup>†Indeed, I consider that I am not in the least inferior to these super-apostles. <sup>6</sup>†Even if I am unskilled in speaking, I am not so in knowledge; indeed, in every way we have made this plain to you in all things.

<sup>7</sup>†Or did I commit a sin in humbling myself so that you might be exalted, because I preached God's gospel to you free of charge? <sup>8</sup>†I robbed other churches by accepting support from them in order to serve you. <sup>9</sup>†And when I was with you and was in need, I did not burden anyone, for the brothers who came from Macedonia supplied my need. So I refrained and will refrain from burdening you in any way. <sup>10</sup>†As the truth of Christ is in me, this boasting of mine will not be silenced in the regions of Achaia. <sup>11</sup>And why? Because I do not love you? God knows I do!

<sup>12</sup>†And what I do I will continue to do, in order to undermine the claim of those who would like to claim that in their boasted mission they work on the same terms as we do. <sup>13</sup>††For such men are false apostles, deceitful workmen, disguising themselves as apostles of Christ. <sup>14</sup>†And no wonder, for even Satan disguises himself as an angel of light. <sup>15</sup>So it is no surprise if his servants, also, disguise themselves as servants of righteousness. Their end will correspond to their deeds.

Paul's Sufferings as an Apostle

<sup>16</sup>††I repeat, let no one think me foolish. But even if you do, accept me as a fool, so that I too may boast a little. <sup>17</sup>†What I am saying with this boastful confidence, I say not with the Lord's authority but as a fool. <sup>18</sup>Since many boast according to the flesh, I too will boast. <sup>19</sup>††For you gladly bear with fools, being wise yourselves! <sup>20</sup>†For you bear it if someone makes slaves of you, or devours you, or takes advantage of you, or puts on airs, or strikes you in the face. <sup>21</sup>† To my shame, I must say, we were too weak for that!

But whatever anyone else dares to boast of—I am speaking as a fool—I also dare to boast of that. <sup>22</sup>†† Are they Hebrews? So am I. Are they Israelites? So am I. Are they offspring of Abraham? So am I. <sup>23</sup>† Are they servants of Christ? I am a better one—I am talking like a madman—with far greater labors, far more imprisonments, with countless beatings, and often near death. <sup>24</sup>† Five times I received at the hands of the Jews the forty lashes less one. <sup>25</sup>† Three times I was beaten with rods. Once I was stoned. Three times I was shipwrecked; a night and a day I was adrift at sea; <sup>26</sup>†† on frequent journeys, in danger from rivers, danger from robbers, danger from my own people, danger from Gentiles, danger in the city, danger in the wilderness, danger at sea, danger from false brothers; <sup>27</sup> in toil and hardship, through many a sleepless night, in hunger and thirst, often without food, [1] in cold and exposure. <sup>28</sup>† And, apart from other things, there is the daily pressure on me of my anxiety for all the churches. <sup>29</sup> Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is made to fall, and I am not indignant?

<sup>30</sup>† If I must boast, I will boast of the things that show my weakness. <sup>31</sup>† The God and Father of the Lord Jesus, he who is blessed forever, knows that I am not lying. <sup>32</sup>† At Damascus, the governor under King Aretas was guarding the city of Damascus in order to seize me, <sup>33</sup> but I was let down in a basket through a window in the wall and escaped his hands.

Paul's Visions and His Thorn

2 CORINTHIANS 12 †† I must go on boasting. Though there is nothing to be gained by it, I will go on to visions and revelations of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>††† I know a man in Christ who fourteen years ago was caught up to the third heaven—whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, God knows. <sup>3</sup>And I know that this man was caught up into paradise—whether in the body or out of the body I do not know, God knows— <sup>4</sup>† and he heard things that cannot be told, which man may not utter. <sup>5</sup>† On behalf of this man I will boast, but on my own behalf I will not boast, except of my weaknesses. <sup>6</sup>† Though if I should wish to boast, I would not be a fool, for I would be speaking the truth. But I refrain from it, so that no one may think more of me than he sees in me or hears from me. <sup>7</sup>† So to keep me from becoming conceited because of the surpassing greatness of the revelations, [\[1\]](#) a thorn was given me in the flesh, a messenger of Satan to harass me, to keep me from becoming conceited. <sup>8</sup>† Three times I pleaded with the Lord about this, that it should leave me. <sup>9</sup>†† But he said to me, “My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness.” Therefore I will boast all the more gladly of my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may rest upon me. <sup>10</sup>For the sake of Christ, then, I am content with weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions, and calamities. For when I am weak, then I am strong.

Concern for the Corinthian Church

<sup>11</sup>† I have been a fool! You forced me to it, for I ought to have been commended by you. For I was not at all inferior to these super-apostles, even though I am nothing. <sup>12</sup>† The signs of a true apostle were performed among you with utmost patience, with signs and wonders and mighty works. <sup>13</sup>† For in what were you less favored than the rest of the churches, except that I myself did not burden you? Forgive me this wrong!

<sup>14</sup>† Here for the third time I am ready to come to you. And I will not be a burden, for I seek not what is yours but you. For children are not obligated to save up for their parents, but parents for their children. <sup>15</sup>† I will most gladly spend and be spent for your souls. If I love you more, am I to be loved less? <sup>16</sup>† But granting that I myself did not burden you, I was crafty, you say, and got the better of you by deceit. <sup>17</sup>Did I take advantage of you through any of those whom I sent to you? <sup>18</sup>I urged Titus to go, and sent the brother with him. Did Titus take advantage of you? Did we not act in the same spirit? Did we not take the same steps?

<sup>19</sup>† Have you been thinking all along that we have been defending ourselves to you? It is in the sight of God that we have been speaking in Christ, and all for your upbuilding, beloved. <sup>20</sup>For I fear that perhaps when I come I may find you not as I wish, and that you may find me not as you wish—that perhaps there may be quarreling, jealousy, anger, hostility, slander, gossip, conceit, and disorder.

<sup>21</sup>† I fear that when I come again my God may humble me before you, and I may have to mourn over many of those who sinned earlier and have not repented of the impurity, sexual immorality, and sensuality that they have practiced.

Final Warnings

2 CORINTHIANS 13 † This is the third time I am coming to you. Every charge must be established by the evidence of two or three witnesses. <sup>2</sup>† I warned those who sinned before and all the others, and I warn them now while absent, as I did when present on my second visit, that if I come again I will not spare them—<sup>3</sup>† since you seek proof that Christ is speaking in me. He is not weak in dealing with you, but is powerful among you. <sup>4</sup>† For he was crucified in weakness, but lives by the power of God. For we also are weak in him, but in dealing with you we will live with him by the power of God.

<sup>5</sup>†† Examine yourselves, to see whether you are in the faith. Test yourselves. Or do you not realize this about yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you?—unless indeed you fail to meet the test! <sup>6</sup>† I hope you will find out that we have not failed the test. <sup>7</sup>† But we pray to God that you may not do wrong—not that we may appear to have met the test, but that you may do what is right, though we may seem to have failed. <sup>8</sup>† For we cannot do anything against the truth, but only for the truth. <sup>9</sup>† For we are glad when we are weak and you are strong. Your restoration is what we pray for. <sup>10</sup>† For this reason I write these things while I am away from you, that when I come I may not have to be severe in my use of the authority that the Lord has given me for building up and not for tearing down.

Final Greetings

<sup>11</sup>† Finally, brothers, [\[1\]](#) rejoice. Aim for restoration, comfort one another, [\[2\]](#) agree with one another, live in peace; and the God of love and peace will be with you. <sup>12</sup>† Greet one another with a holy kiss. <sup>13</sup>† All the saints greet you.

<sup>14</sup>† The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all.

Study Notes

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:1 apostle. This refers to Paul’s official position as a messenger sent by Christ (see note on Rom. 1:1; Introduction to 1 Corinthians: Author and Date). by the will of God. Paul’s mission was not a self-appointed one, or based on his own achievements. Rather, his credentials were by divine appointment and his letter reflected not his own message but the words of Christ (see Introduction to Romans: Author and Date; cf. Acts 26:15–18). Timothy our brother. Paul’s cherished son in the faith and a dominant person in Paul’s life and ministry (see Introduction to 1 Timothy: Background and Setting; see note on 1 Tim. 1:2). Paul first met Timothy in Derbe and Lystra on his first missionary journey (Acts 16:1–4). Timothy was with him during the founding of the church in Corinth (Acts 18:1–5), which, along with Paul’s mention of Timothy in 1 Corinthians (1 Cor. 4:17; 16:10–11), indicated the Corinthians knew Timothy. Perhaps Paul mentioned him here to remind them Timothy was indeed a brother and to smooth over any hard feelings left from his recent visit (see notes on 1 Cor. 16:10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:2 Grace . . . peace. Part of Paul’s normal salutation in his letters (see note on Rom. 1:7). “Grace” is God’s unmerited favor, and “peace” one of its benefits.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:3 God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Paul praised the true God who revealed himself in his Son, who is of the same essence with the Father (see notes on John 1:14, 18; 17:3–5; cf. John 5:17; 14:9–11; Eph. 1:3; Heb. 1:2–3; 2 John 3). He is the anointed one (Christ) and sovereign (Lord) Redeemer (Jesus). Although the Son enjoyed this lofty position, he was willing to become a servant and submit himself in his incarnation (see notes on Phil. 2:5–8). This great benediction comprehends the entire gospel. Father of mercies. Paul borrowed from Jewish liturgical language and a synagogue prayer that called for God to treat the sinful individual with kindness, love, and tenderness (see note on Rom. 12:1; cf. 2 Sam. 24:14; Ps. 103:13–14; Mic. 7:18–20). God of all comfort. An OT description of God (cf. Isa. 40:1; 51:3, 12; 66:13), who is the ultimate source of every true act of comfort. The Greek word for “comfort” is related to the familiar word paraclete, “one who comes alongside to help,” another name for the Holy Spirit (see notes on John 14:26; Phil. 2:1). “Comfort” often connotes softness and ease, but that is not its meaning here. Paul was saying that God came to him in the middle of his sufferings and troubles to strengthen him and give him courage and boldness (cf. 2 Cor. 1:4–10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:4 affliction. This term refers to crushing pressure, because in Paul's life and ministry there was always something attempting to weaken him, restrict or confine his ministry, or even crush out his life. But no matter what confronted him, Paul knew God would sustain and strengthen him (see notes on 12:9–10; Rom. 8:31–38; cf. Phil. 1:6). that we may be able to comfort. Comfort from God is not an end in itself. Its purpose is that believers also might be comforters. Having humiliated and convicted the Corinthians, God used Paul to return to them with a strengthening message after he himself had received divine strengthening (2 Cor. 6:1–13; 12:6–11; cf. Luke 22:31–32).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:5 Christ's sufferings . . . abundantly. God's comfort to believers extends to the boundaries of their suffering for Christ. The more they endure righteous suffering, the greater will be their comfort and reward (cf. 1 Pet. 4:12–14). Paul knew firsthand that these many sufferings would seem never-ending (2 Cor. 4:7–11; 6:5–10; 11:23–27; cf. Gal. 6:17; Phil. 3:10; Col. 1:24), and all genuine believers should expect the same (cf. Matt. 10:18–24).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:6 Paul was referring to the body of Christ's partnership of suffering, which mutually builds godly patience and endurance (1 Cor. 12:26). All believers need to realize this process, avoid any sense of self-pity when suffering for him, and share in each others' lives the encouragement of divine comfort they receive from their experiences. salvation. This refers to the Corinthians' ongoing perseverance to final, completed salvation when they will be glorified (see note on Rom. 13:11). Paul's willingness, by God's grace and the Spirit's power, to suffer and be comforted and then comfort and strengthen the Corinthians enabled them to persevere.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:7 share in our sufferings. Some in the church at Corinth, perhaps the majority, were suffering for righteousness, as Paul was. Although that church had caused him much pain and concern, Paul saw its members as partners to be helped, because of their faithfulness in mutual suffering.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:8 our. An editorial plural, which Paul used throughout the letter. It usually was a humble reference to Paul himself, but in this instance it could include others as well. affliction we experienced in Asia. This was a recent occurrence (following the writing of 1 Corinthians) that happened in or around the city of Ephesus. The details of this situation are not known. despaired of life. Paul faced something that was beyond human survival and was extremely discouraging because he believed it threatened to end his ministry prematurely. The Greek word for “despaired” lit. means “no passage,” the total absence of an exit (cf. 2 Tim. 4:6). The Corinthians were aware of what had happened to Paul, but they did not realize the utter severity of it, or what God was doing through those circumstances.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:9 the sentence of death. The word for “sentence” is a technical term that indicated the passing of an official resolution, in this case the death sentence. Paul was so absolutely sure he was going to die for the gospel that he had pronounced the sentence upon himself. rely not on ourselves but on God. God’s ultimate purpose for Paul’s horrible extremity. The Lord took him to the point at which he could not fall back on any intellectual, physical, or emotional human resource (cf. 12:9–10). who raises the dead. A Jewish descriptive term for God used in synagogue worship language (see note on 1:3). Paul understood that trust in God’s power to raise the dead was the only hope of rescue from his extreme circumstances.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:10 he will deliver us again. See notes on 2 Tim. 4:16–17 and 2 Pet. 2:9.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:11 help us by prayer. Intercessory prayer is crucial to the expression of God’s power and sovereign purpose. In this regard, Paul wanted the faithful Corinthians to know he needed their prayers then and in the future (cf. Eph. 6:18; James 5:16). give thanks. Prayer’s duty is not to change God’s plans, but to glorify him and give thanks for them. Paul was confident that God’s sovereign purpose would be accomplished, balanced by the prayerful participation of believers. blessing. Or favor; this is God’s undeserved favor or the divine answer to prayer Paul would receive in being delivered from death.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:12 Paul faced his critics’ many accusations against his character and integrity (they had accused him of being proud, self-serving, untrustworthy and inconsistent, mentally unbalanced, incompetent, unsophisticated, and an incompetent preacher) by appealing to the highest human court, his conscience. boast. Paul often used this word. Used negatively, it refers to unwarranted bragging about one's own merits and achievements; but Paul used it positively to denote legitimate confidence in what God had done in his life (cf. Jer. 9:23–24; Rom. 15:18; 1 Cor. 1:31; 15:9–10; 1 Tim. 1:12–17).

conscience. The soul's warning system, which allows human beings to contemplate their motives and actions and make moral evaluations of what is right and wrong (see note on Rom. 2:14–15). In order to work as God designed it, the conscience must be informed to the highest moral and spiritual level and best standard, which means submitting it to the Holy Spirit through God's word (cf. Rom. 12:1–2; 1 Tim. 1:19; 2 Tim. 2:15; Heb. 9:14; 10:22). Paul's fully enlightened conscience exonerated him completely (cf. Acts 23:1; 24:16; 1 Tim. 1:5; 3:9; 2 Tim. 1:3). But ultimately, only God can accurately judge a man's motives (1 Cor. 4:1–5). earthly wisdom. Wisdom that is based on worldly, human insight (see note on James 3:15).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:13 This broadly answers the accusation that Paul had engaged in deceptive personal relationships (cf. 7:2; 11:9). His continuing flow of information to the Corinthians was always clear, straightforward and understandable, consistent, and genuine. Paul wanted them to know that he was not holding anything back, nor did he have any secret agenda (10:11). He simply wanted them to understand all that he had written and spoken to them.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:14 partially. As the Corinthians read and heard Paul's unfolding instruction to them, they continued to understand more. you will boast of us. See note on v. 12. the day of our Lord Jesus. When he returns (see notes on Phil. 1:6; 2 Tim. 1:12; 4:8). Paul eagerly longed for the Lord's coming when they would rejoice over each other in glory (cf. 1 Thess. 2:19–20).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:15 second experience of grace. Paul's original plan was to visit the Corinthians twice so that they might receive a double blessing. His travel plans were not the result of selfishness, but of the genuine relationship he enjoyed with the Corinthians and their mutual loyalty and godly pride in each other.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:16 come back. Paul had planned to leave Ephesus, stop at Corinth on the way to Macedonia, and return to Corinth again after his ministry in Macedonia (cf. 1 Cor. 16:5–7). For some reason, Paul's plans changed and he was unable to stop in Corinth the first time. The false apostles who had invaded the church seized upon that honest change of schedule as evidence of his untrustworthiness and tried to use it to discredit him.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:17 Paul is probably quoting some actual accusations of dishonesty brought by his opponents. Was I vacillating . . . ? The Greek words that introduce this question call for an indignant, negative answer. Paul declared that he was in no way operating as a vacillating, fickle, unstable person who could not be trusted. according to the flesh. Purely from a human viewpoint, apart from the leading of the Holy Spirit, this is someone who is unregenerate (see notes on Gal. 5:19–21). He affirmed that his “yes” and “no” words to them really meant what they said.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:18 as God is faithful. Paul may have been making an oath and calling God to give testimony (cf. 11:10, 31; Rom. 1:9; Gal. 1:20; Phil. 1:8; 1 Thess. 2:5, 10). Whatever the case, he refers to God’s trustworthiness and the fact that he represented such a God as an honest spokesman. not been Yes and No. He was not saying “yes” and meaning “no.” There was no duplicity with Paul (nor with Timothy and Silas). He said what he meant and did what he said, unless there was compelling reason to change his plans.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:19 The firmness of Paul’s statement, and his use of Jesus’ full title, indicates that the person and work of Christ were under attack from the false teachers at Corinth. The proof of his truthfulness with them was the truthful gospel that he faithfully preached. Silvanus. The Latin name for Silas, Paul’s companion on his second missionary journey (Acts 16–18) and fellow preacher at Corinth (see note on Acts 15:22). Timothy. See note on 2 Cor. 1:1.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:20 their Yes in him. All God’s OT and NT promises of peace, joy, love, goodness, forgiveness, salvation, sanctification, fellowship, hope, glorification, and heaven are made possible and fulfilled in Jesus Christ (cf. Luke 24:44). Amen. The Hebrew word of affirmation (cf. Matt. 5:18; John 3:3; Rom. 1:25). Paul reminded them that they had said a collective “yes” to the truth of his preaching and teaching.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:21 God who establishes us. Christ’s saving work of grace stabilizes believers and places them on a firm foundation in him (cf. Rom. 16:25; 1 Cor. 15:58; 1 Pet. 5:10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:21–22 God . . . Christ . . . Spirit. A clear reference to the three members of the Trinity. The authenticity of Paul’s spiritual life and that of every genuine believer is verified by these four divine works (“establishes us,” “anointed us,” “seal on us,” “given us his Spirit”) accomplished in their lives. For the critics to attack Paul’s authenticity was equal to tearing down God’s work as well as the church’s unity.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:21 anointed. This word is borrowed from a commissioning service that would symbolically set apart kings, prophets, priests, and special servants. The Holy Spirit sets apart believers and empowers them for the service of gospel proclamation and ministry (cf. Acts 1:8; 1 John 2:20, 27).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:22 put his seal on us. Refers to the ancient practice of placing soft wax on a document and imprinting the wax with a stamp that indicated authorship or ownership, authenticity, and protection. The Holy Spirit attaches all these meanings to his act of spiritually sealing believers (see notes on Eph. 1:13; cf. Hag. 2:23; Eph. 4:30). guarantee. A pledge or down payment. The Spirit is the down payment on the believer’s eternal inheritance (see note on Eph. 1:13–14; cf. 2 Pet. 1:4, 11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:23 God to witness. See note on v. 18. to spare you. Paul finally explained why he said he was coming, but did not. He did not come earlier because he wanted them to have time to repent of and correct their sinful behavior (see Introduction to 1 Corinthians: Background and Setting; see note on 1 Cor. 4:21). He waited instead for a report from Titus before taking further action (see 2 Cor. 7), hoping he would not have to come again, as he had earlier, to face their rebellion.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 1:24 Not that we lord it over your faith. Paul did not want to dominate and control the Corinthians when he ministered and worked among them (see notes on 1 Pet. 5:2–3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:1 another painful visit to you. Paul, who had already had a painful confrontation at Corinth (see Introduction: Background and Setting), was not eager to have another one (see note on 1:23).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:2 Although Paul was sensitive to the Corinthians’ pain and sadness from the past confrontation, because of his commitment to purity he would confront them again if necessary. “The one whom I have pained” refers to one convicted by his sin. In particular, there was apparently on Paul’s last visit a man in the church who confronted him with the accusations taken from the false teachers. The church had not dealt with that man in Paul’s defense, and Paul was deeply grieved over that lack of loyalty. The only thing that would bring Paul joy would be repentance from such a one and any who agreed with him, and Paul had been waiting for it.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:3 I wrote as I did. Paul’s reason for writing was that those in sin would repent—then there could be mutual joy when the apostle came.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:4 Paul again wanted them to know that his motive in dealing with them in the “severe letter” (see Introduction: Background and Setting) and 1 Corinthians (see Introduction to 1 Corinthians: Background and Setting) was not harsh but loving.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:5–11 This passage is one of the best texts in all of Scripture on the godly motivation and rationale for forgiveness.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:5 if anyone has caused pain. The Greek construction of this clause assumes the condition to be true—Paul is acknowledging the reality of the offense and its ongoing effect, not on him, but on the church. With this deflection of any personal vengeance, he sought to soften the charge against the penitent offender and allow the church to deal with the man and those who were with him objectively, apart from Paul’s personal anguish or offense.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:6 is enough. The process of discipline and punishment was enough; now it was time to show mercy because the man had repented (cf. Matt. 18:18, 23–35; Gal. 6:1–2; Eph. 4:32; Col. 3:13; Heb. 12:11). punishment by the majority. This indicates that the church in Corinth had followed the biblical process in disciplining the sinning man (cf. Matt. 18:15–20; 1 Cor. 5:4–13; 2 Thess. 3:6, 14). The Greek word for “punishment,” used frequently in secular writings but only here in the NT, denoted an official legal penalty or commercial sanction that was enacted against an individual or group (city, nation).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:7 you should rather turn to forgive. It was time to grant forgiveness so the man’s joy would be restored (cf. Ps. 51:12, 14; Isa. 42:2–3). Paul knew there was—and is—no place in the church for man-made limits on God’s grace, mercy, and forgiveness toward repentant sinners. Such restrictions could only rob the fellowship of the joy of unity (cf. Matt. 18:34–35; Mark 11:25–26).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:10 in the presence of Christ. Paul was constantly aware that his entire life was lived in the sight of God, who knew everything he thought, did, and said (cf. v. 17; 4:2; 2 Tim. 4:1).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:11 designs. The devil wants to produce sin and animosity that will destroy church unity. He uses every possible approach to accomplish this—from legalism to libertinism, intolerance to excessive tolerance (cf. 11:13–14; Eph. 4:14; 6:11–12; 1 Pet. 5:8). Paul used a different Greek word (but with similar meaning) translated “schemes” in Eph. 6:11. It, along with the words for “outwitted” and “ignorant,” strongly implies that Satan targets the believer’s mind, but God has provided protection by unmasking Satan’s schemes in Scripture, along with providing the counteracting truth.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:12 When I came to Troas. “Troas” was a seaport city north of Ephesus in the western Asia Minor province of Mysia (cf. Acts 16:7). The riots in Ephesus probably caused Paul to leave for Troas, but his main reason for going was to meet Titus, returning from Corinth after delivering “the severe letter” (2 Cor. 2:4), and to hear how the Corinthians had responded to that letter (see Introduction: Background and Setting). a door was opened for me. God sovereignly provided a great evangelistic opportunity for Paul, which may have led to the planting of the church in Troas (cf. Acts 20:5–12). Because of the success of his preaching, Paul was assured that this opportunity was from God (cf. 1 Cor. 16:8–9).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:13 my spirit was not at rest. Paul’s concern for the problems in the Corinthian church and how its members were responding to both those problems and his instructions caused Paul debilitating restlessness and anxiety (cf. 7:5–6). These concerns became so heavy and distracting that he was unable to give full attention to his ministry. Titus. One of Paul’s most important Gentile converts and closest associates in ministry (see notes on 2:12; Gal. 2:1; see Introduction to Titus: Background and Setting). took leave of them. Because of his troubled heart and mind and his anxiety to see Titus, Paul turned his back on the open door in Troas. Macedonia. A province that bordered the northwest shore of the Aegean Sea, north of Achaia (see Introduction to 1 Thessalonians: Background and Setting; see note on Acts 16:9). Paul headed there in hopes of intersecting with Titus, whom he knew would have to pass through there on his journey back from Corinth.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:14 But thanks be to God. Paul made an abrupt transition from his narrative and looked above and beyond his troubles to praise and thank God. By turning from the difficulties of ministry and focusing on the privileges of his position in Christ, Paul regained his joyful perspective. He picked the narrative back up in 7:5. in Christ always leads us in triumphal procession. Paul drew from the imagery of the official and exalted Roman ceremony called the Triumph, in which a victorious general was honored with a festive, ceremonial parade through the streets of Rome. First, Paul gave thanks for being led by a sovereign God at all times (cf. 1 Tim. 1:17); and second, for the promised victory in Jesus Christ (cf. Matt. 16:18; Rom. 8:37; Rev. 6:2). spreads the fragrance of the knowledge of him. Paul was also grateful for the privilege of being used as an influence for Christ (cf. Rom. 10:14–15) wherever he went. The imagery comes from the strong, sweet smell of incense from censers in the Triumph parade, which, along with the fragrance of crushed flowers strewn under horses' hooves, produced a powerful aroma that filled the city. By analogy, every believer is transformed and called by the Lord to be an influence for his gospel throughout the world.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:15 the aroma of Christ to God. Paul was further thankful for the privilege of pleasing God. Continuing his analogy, Paul pictured God as the emperor at the end of the Triumph who also smells the pervasive fragrance and is pleased with the victorious efforts it represents. Wherever God's servant is faithful and is an influence for the gospel, God is pleased (cf. 5:9; Matt. 25:21).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:16 a fragrance from death . . . life. Paul used the style of Hebrew superlatives to emphasize the twofold effect of gospel preaching. To some, the message brings eternal life and ultimate glorification. To others, it is a stumbling stone of offense that brings eternal death (cf. 1 Pet. 2:6–8). sufficient for these things. No one in his own strength is adequate or competent to serve God in the ways and with the power that Paul has been describing (cf. 2 Cor. 3:5; 1 Cor. 15:10; Gal. 2:20; Eph. 1:19; 3:20; Phil. 2:13; Col. 1:29).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 2:17 not, like so many. Or, “not as the majority.” This specifically refers to the false teachers in Corinth and to the many other teachers and philosophers of that day who operated by human wisdom (cf. 1 Cor. 1:19–20). peddlers. From a Greek verb that means “to corrupt,” this word came to refer to corrupt hucksters, or con men who by their cleverness and deception were able to sell as genuine an inferior product that was only a cheap imitation. The false teachers in the church were coming with clever, deceptive rhetoric to offer a degraded, adulterated message that mixed paganism and Jewish tradition. They were dishonest men seeking personal profit and prestige at the expense of gospel truth and people's souls. in the sight of God. See note on 2 Cor. 2:10.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:1–6 The false teachers in Corinth constantly attacked Paul's competency as a minister of the gospel; these verses form his defense.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:1 Because Paul did not want to allow the false teachers to accuse him of being proud, he began his defense by posing two questions rather than making any overt claims. Are we beginning to commend ourselves again? The Greek word for "commend" means "to introduce." Thus Paul was asking the Corinthians if he needed to reintroduce himself, as if they had never met, and prove himself once more. The form of the question demanded a negative answer. letters of recommendation. The false teachers also accused Paul of not possessing the appropriate documents to prove his legitimacy. Such letters were often used to introduce and authenticate someone to the first-century churches (cf. 1 Cor. 16:3, 10–11). The false teachers undoubtedly arrived in Corinth with such letters, which they may have forged (cf. Acts 15:1, 5) or obtained under false pretenses from prominent members of the Jerusalem church. Paul's point was that he did not need secondhand testimony when the Corinthians had firsthand proof of his sincere and godly character, as well as the truth of his message that regenerated them.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:2 written on our hearts. An affirmation of Paul's affection for the believers in Corinth—he held them close to his heart (cf. 12:15). known and read by all. The transformed lives of the Corinthians were Paul's most eloquent testimonial, better than any secondhand letter. Their changed lives were like an open letter that could be seen and read by all men as a testimony to Paul's faithfulness and the truth of his message.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:3 letter from Christ. The false teachers did not have a letter of commendation signed by Christ, but Paul had the Corinthian believers' changed lives as proof that Christ had transformed them. written not with ink. Paul's letter was no human document written with ink that can fade. It was a living one. Spirit of the living God. Paul's letter was alive, written by Christ's divine, supernatural power through the transforming work of the Holy Spirit (cf. 1 Cor. 2:4–5; 1 Thess. 1:5). tablets of stone. A reference to the Ten Commandments (see notes on Ex. 24:12; 25:16). tablets of human hearts. More than just writing his law on stone, God was writing his law on the hearts of those people he transformed (cf. Jer. 31:33; 32:38–39; Ezek. 11:19; 36:26–27). The false teachers claimed external adherence to the Mosaic law as the basis of salvation, but the transformed lives of the Corinthians proved that salvation was an internal change wrought by God in the heart.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:4 Such is the confidence. The Greek word for “confidence” can mean “to win.” Paul was confident in his ministry, and that confidence resulted in his ability to stay the course and continue moving toward the goal (cf. Acts 4:13, 29).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:5 sufficient. See note on 2:16. to claim anything. Paul disdained his own ability to reason, judge, or assess truth. Left to his own abilities, he was useless. He was dependent on divine revelation and the Holy Spirit’s power. our sufficiency is from God. Only God can make a person adequate to do his work, and Paul realized that truth (see note on 2:16; cf. 9:8, 10; 2 Thess. 2:13).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:6 new covenant. The covenant that provides forgiveness of sins through the death of Christ (see notes on Jer. 31:31–34; Matt. 26:28; Heb. 8:7–12). the letter. A shallow, external conformity to the law that missed its most basic requirement of absolutely holy and perfect love for God and man (Matt. 22:34–40) and distorted its true intention, which was to make a person recognize his sinfulness (cf. Rom. 2:27–29). the Spirit. The Holy Spirit. the letter kills, but the Spirit gives life. The letter kills in two ways: 1) it results in a living death. Before Paul was converted, he thought he was saved by keeping the law, but all it did was kill his peace, joy, and hope; and 2) it results in spiritual death. His inability to truly keep the law sentenced him to an eternal death (see notes on Rom. 7:9–11; cf. Rom. 5:12; Gal. 3:10). Only Jesus Christ through the agency of the Holy Spirit can produce eternal life in one who believes.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:7–18 A true minister of God preaches the New Covenant, thus Paul featured the glory of the New Covenant in these verses.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:7 the ministry of death. The law is a killer (v. 6) in the sense that it brings knowledge of sin. It acts as a ministry of death because no one can satisfy the demands of the law on his own and is therefore condemned (cf. Gal. 3:22; see notes on Rom. 7:1–13; 8:4; Gal. 3:10–13; 3:19–4:5). came with such glory. When God gave Moses the law, his glory appeared on the mountain (Ex. 19:10–25; 20:18–26). Paul was not depreciating the law; he was acknowledging that it was glorious because it reflected God’s nature, will, and character (see notes on Ex. 33:18–34:7). could not gaze at Moses’ face. The Israelites could not look intently or stare at Moses’ face for too long because the reflective glory of God was too bright for them. It was similar to staring into the sun (see notes on Ex. 34:29–35). its glory. When God manifested himself, he did so by reducing his attributes to visible light. That’s how God manifested himself to Moses (Ex. 34:29), whose face in turn reflected the glory of God to the people (cf. the transfiguration of Jesus in Matt. 17:1–8; 2 Pet. 1:16–18; and his second coming in Matt. 24:29–30; 25:31).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:8–9 ministry of the Spirit . . . righteousness must far exceed it in glory. The “ministry of the Spirit” is Paul’s descriptive term for the New Covenant (see notes on Jer. 31:31–34; Matt. 26:28; 1 Cor. 11:25; Heb. 8:8, 13; 9:15; 12:24). Paul is arguing that if such glory attended the giving of the law under the ministry that brought death, how much more glorious will be the ministry of the Spirit in the New Covenant that brings righteousness. The law pointed to the superior New Covenant and thus a glory that must also be superior.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:9 ministry of condemnation. Another name for the ministry of death (see note on v. 7). ministry of righteousness. The New Covenant. The emphasis here is on the righteousness it provides (cf. Rom. 3:21–22; Phil. 3:9).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:11 what was being brought to an end. The law had a fading glory (cf. v. 7). It was not the final solution or the last word on the plight of sinners. what is permanent. The New Covenant is what remains because it is the consummation of God’s plan of salvation. It has permanent glory.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:12 such a hope. The belief that all the promises of the New Covenant will occur. It is hope in total and complete forgiveness of sins for those who believe the gospel (cf. Rom. 8:24–25; Gal. 5:5; Eph. 1:18; 1 Pet. 1:3, 13, 21). bold. The Greek word for “bold” means “courageous.” Because of his confidence, Paul preached the New Covenant fearlessly, without any hesitation or timidity.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:13 Moses . . . put a veil over his face. This physical action pictured the fact that Moses did not have the confidence or boldness of Paul because the Old Covenant was veiled. It was shadowy. It was made up of types, pictures, symbols, and mystery. Moses communicated the glory of the Old Covenant with a certain obscurity (cf. 1 Pet. 1:10–11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:14–15 that same veil remains . . . a veil lies over their hearts. The “veil” here represents unbelief. Those Israelites did not grasp the glory of the Old Covenant because of their unbelief. As a result, the meaning of the Old Covenant was obscure to them (cf. Heb. 3:8, 15; 4:7). Paul’s point was that just as the Old Covenant was obscure to the people of Moses’ day, it was still obscure to those who trusted in it as a means of salvation in Paul’s day. The veil of ignorance obscures the meaning of the Old Covenant to the hardened heart (cf. John 5:38).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:14 that same veil . . . through Christ is it taken away. Without Christ the OT is unintelligible. But when a person comes to Christ, the veil is lifted and his spiritual perception is no longer impaired (Isa. 25:6–8). With the veil removed, believers are able to see the glory of God revealed in Christ (John 1:14). They understand that the law was never given to save them, but to lead them to the One who would.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:17 the Lord is the Spirit. Yahweh of the OT is the same Lord who is saving people in the New Covenant through the agency of the Holy Spirit. The same God is the minister of both the Old and New Covenants. there is freedom. Freedom from sin and the futile attempt to keep the demands of the law as a means of earning righteousness (cf. John 8:32–36; Rom. 3:19–20). The believer is no longer in bondage to the law’s condemnation and Satan’s dominion.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 3:18 we all. Not just Moses, or prophets, apostles, and preachers, but all believers. with unveiled face. Believers in the New Covenant have nothing obstructing their vision of Christ and his glory as revealed in the Scripture. beholding. Or “reflecting” (see esv footnote), as with a mirror. Paul’s emphasis here is not so much on the reflective capabilities of the mirror as it is on the intimacy of it. A person can bring a mirror right up to his face and get an unobstructed view. Mirrors in Paul’s day were polished metal (see note on James 1:23), and thus offered a far from perfect reflection. Though the vision is unobstructed and intimate, believers do not see a perfect representation of God’s glory now, but will one day (cf. 1 Cor. 13:12). being transformed. A continual, progressive transformation (see note on Rom. 12:2). into the same image. As they gaze at the glory of the Lord, believers are continually being transformed into Christlikeness. The ultimate goal of the believer is to be like Christ (cf. Rom. 8:29; Phil. 3:12–14; 1 John 3:2), and by continually focusing on him the Spirit transforms the believer more and more into his image. from one degree of glory to another. From one level of glory to another level of glory—from one level of manifesting Christ to another. This verse describes progressive sanctification. The more believers grow in their knowledge of Christ, the more he is revealed in their lives (cf. Phil. 3:12–14).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:1 this ministry. The New Covenant gospel of Jesus Christ. lose heart. A strong Greek term that refers to abandoning oneself to cowardly surrender. That was not how Paul responded to the continual attacks he faced. The task of ministering the New Covenant was too noble to lose heart over (cf. Gal. 6:9; Eph. 3:13). Since God had called him to proclaim it, Paul could not abandon his calling. Instead, he trusted God to strengthen him (cf. Acts 20:24; 1 Cor. 9:16–17; Col. 1:23, 25).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:2 we have renounced disgraceful, underhanded ways. “Renounced” means “to turn away from” or “to repent,” and “disgraceful” can also mean “ugly.” The phrase “underhanded ways” refers to secret immoralities, hypocrisies, and the sins hidden deep in the darkness of one’s life. At salvation every believer repents and turns away from such sin and devotes his life to the pursuit of godliness. This appears to be a reply by Paul to a direct and slanderous accusation against him, that he was a hypocrite whose mask of piety hid a corrupt and shameful life. tamper. This Greek word was used in non-biblical sources to speak of the dishonest business practice of diluting wine with water. The false teachers accused Paul of being a deceiver (“cunning”) who was twisting and perverting the teaching of Jesus and the OT Scripture.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:3 if our gospel is veiled . . . to those who are perishing. The false teachers accused Paul of preaching an antiquated message. So Paul showed that the problem was not with the message or the messenger, but with the hearers headed for hell (cf. 1 Cor. 2:14). The preacher cannot persuade people to believe; only God can do that.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:4 the god of this world. Satan (cf. Matt. 4:8; John 12:31; 14:30; 16:11; Eph. 2:2; 2 Tim. 2:26; 1 John 5:19). this world. The current world mind-set expressed by the ideals, opinions, goals, hopes, and views of the majority of people. It encompasses the world's philosophies, education, and commerce. *See notes on 2 Cor. 10:5. has blinded. Satan blinds men to God's truth through the world system he has created. Without a godly influence, man left to himself will follow that system, which panders to the depravity of unbelievers and deepens their moral darkness (cf. Matt. 13:19). Ultimately, it is God who allows such blindness (John 12:40). image of God. Jesus Christ is the exact representation of God himself (see notes on Col. 1:15; 2:9; Heb. 1:3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:5 we proclaim is not ourselves. The false teachers accused Paul of preaching for his own benefit, yet they were the ones guilty of doing so. In contrast, Paul was always humble (12:5, 9; cf. 1 Cor. 2:3); he never promoted himself, but always preached Christ Jesus as Lord (1 Cor. 2:2).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:6 God, who said, “Let light shine out of darkness.” A direct reference to God as Creator, who commanded physical light into existence (Gen. 1:3). the light of the knowledge of the glory of God. The same God who created physical light in the universe is the same God who must create supernatural light in the soul and usher believers from the kingdom of darkness to his kingdom of light (Col. 1:13). The light is expressed as “the knowledge of the glory of God.” That means to know that Christ is God incarnate. To be saved, one must understand that the glory of God shone in Jesus Christ. That is the theme of John's Gospel (see note on John 1:4–5).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:7 this treasure. See note on v. 1. jars of clay. The Greek word means “baked clay,” and refers to clay pots. They were cheap, breakable, and replaceable, but they served necessary household functions. Sometimes they were used as a vault to store valuables, such as money, jewelry, or important documents. But they were most often used for holding garbage and human waste. The latter is the use Paul had in mind, and it was how Paul viewed himself—as lowly, common, expendable, and replaceable (cf. 1 Cor. 1:20–27; 2 Tim. 2:20–21). surpassing power belongs to God and not to us. By using frail and expendable people, God makes it clear that salvation is the result of his power and not any power his messengers could generate (cf. 2 Cor. 2:16). The great power of God overcomes and transcends the clay pot. The messenger's weakness is not fatal to what he does; it is essential (cf. 12:9–10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:8–9 Here Paul gave four contrasting metaphors to show that his weakness did not cripple him, but actually strengthened him (cf.

6:4–10; 12:7–10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:10 always carrying in the body the death of Jesus. “Always” indicates that the suffering Paul experienced was endless. And the suffering was a result of attacks against Jesus, not Paul and other believers. Those who hated Jesus took out their vengeance on those who represented him (cf. John 15:18–21; Gal. 6:17; Col. 1:24). that the life of Jesus may also be manifested in our bodies. Through Paul’s weakness, Christ was put on display (cf. Gal. 2:20). His suffering, the false apostles said, was evidence that God was not with him and he was a fraud. On the contrary, Paul affirmed that his suffering was the badge of his loyalty to Christ and the source of his power (2 Cor. 12:9–10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:11 given over to death. Refers to the transferring of a prisoner to the executioner. It was used to refer to Christ’s being delivered to those who crucified him (Matt. 27:2). In this case, it refers to the potential physical death constantly faced by those who represented Christ. our mortal flesh. Another term for Paul’s humanness—his physical body (cf. 2 Cor. 4:10; 5:3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:12 Paul faced death every day, yet he was willing to pay that price if it meant salvation for those to whom he preached (cf. Phil. 2:17; Col. 1:24; 2 Tim. 2:10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:13 Paul remained true to his convictions, no matter the cost. He was not a pragmatist who would alter his message to suit his listeners. He was convinced of the power of God to act through the message he preached. spirit of faith. The attitude of faith, not the Holy Spirit. Paul had the same conviction about the power of the message as did the psalmist (see following note). I believed, and so I spoke. A quotation from the LXX (the Greek translation of the OT) version of Ps. 116:10. In the midst of his troubles, the psalmist confidently asked God to deliver him out of his troubles. He could confidently do so because he believed God would answer his prayer.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:15 to the glory of God. The ultimate goal of all that the believer does (see note on 1 Cor. 10:31).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:16 we do not lose heart. See note on v. 1. our outer self is wasting away. The physical body is in the process of decay and will eventually die. On the surface Paul was referring to the normal aging process, but with the added emphasis that his lifestyle sped up that process. While not an old man, Paul wore himself out in ministry, both in the effort and pace he maintained, plus the number of beatings and attacks he absorbed from his enemies (cf. 6:4–10; 11:23–27). inner self. The soul of every believer i.e., the new creation—the eternal part of the believer (cf. Eph. 4:24; Col. 3:10). being renewed. The growth and maturing process of the believer is constantly occurring. While the physical body is decaying, the inner self of the believer continues to grow and mature into Christlikeness (cf. Eph. 3:16–20).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:17 light momentary affliction. The Greek word for “light” means “a weightless trifle” and “affliction” refers to intense pressure. From a human perspective, Paul’s own testimony lists a seemingly unbearable litany of sufferings and persecutions he endured throughout his life (11:23–33), yet he viewed them as weightless and lasting for only a brief moment. eternal weight of glory. The Greek word for “weight” refers to a heavy mass. For Paul, the future glory he would experience with the Lord far outweighed any suffering he experienced in this world (cf. Rom. 8:17–18; 1 Pet. 1:6–7). Paul understood that the greater the suffering, the greater would be his eternal glory (cf. 1 Pet. 4:13).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 4:18 things that are seen . . . unseen. Endurance is based on a person’s ability to look beyond the physical to the spiritual, beyond the present to the future, and beyond the visible to the invisible. Believers must look past what is temporary—what is perishing (i.e., the things of the world). things . . . unseen are eternal. Pursuing God, Christ, the Holy Spirit, and the souls of men should consume the believer.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:1 tent that is our earthly home . . . house. Paul’s metaphor for the physical body (cf. 2 Pet. 1:13–14). The imagery was quite natural for that time because many people were nomadic tent dwellers, and Paul as a tentmaker (Acts 18:3) knew much about tents’ characteristics. Also, the Jewish tabernacle had symbolized God’s presence among the people as they left Egypt and became a nation. Paul’s point is that like a temporary tent, man’s earthly existence is fragile, insecure, and lowly (cf. 1 Pet. 2:11). a building from God. Paul’s metaphor for the believer’s resurrected, glorified body (cf. 1 Cor. 15:35–50). “Building” implies solidity, security, certainty, and permanence, as opposed to the frail, temporary, uncertain nature of a tent. Just as the Israelites replaced the tabernacle with the temple, so believers ought to long to exchange their earthly bodies for glorified ones (see notes on 2 Cor. 4:16; Rom. 8:19–23; 1 Cor. 15:35–50; Phil. 3:20–21). a house . . . in the heavens. A heavenly, eternal body. Paul wanted a new body that would forever perfectly express his transformed nature. not made with hands. A glorified body, by definition, is not of this earthly creation (see notes on Mark 14:58; Heb. 9:11; cf. John 2:19; Col. 2:11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:2 we groan. Paul had a passionate longing to be free from his earthly body and all the accompanying sins, frustrations, and weaknesses that were so relentless (see notes on Rom. 7:24; 8:23). put on our heavenly dwelling. The perfections of immortality (see note on 2 Cor. 5:1).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:3 we may not be found naked. Paul clarified the fact that the believer's hope for the next life is not a disembodied spiritual life, but a real, eternal, resurrection body. Unlike the pagans who viewed matter as evil and spirit as good, Paul knew that Christian death would not mean being released into a nebulous, spiritual infinity. Rather, it would mean the receiving of a glorified, spiritual, immortal, perfect, qualitatively different but nonetheless real body, just as Jesus received (see notes on 1 Cor. 15:35–44; Phil. 3:20–21; cf. 1 John 3:2).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:4 unclothed . . . clothed. See notes on vv. 2–3. Paul reiterated that he could hardly wait to get his glorified body (cf. Phil. 1:21–23). mortal may be swallowed up by life. Paul wanted the fullness of all that God had planned for him in eternal life, when all that is earthly and human will cease to be.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:5 for this very thing. Paul emphatically states that the believer's heavenly existence will come to pass according to God's sovereign purpose (see notes on Rom. 8:28–30; cf. John 6:37–40, 44). God . . . given us the Spirit. See notes on 2 Cor. 1:22; Rom. 5:5; Eph. 1:13; cf. Phil. 1:6. guarantee. See notes on 2 Cor. 1:22 and Eph. 1:13.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:6 at home in the body . . . away from the Lord. While a believer is alive on earth he is away from the fullness of God's presence. However, Paul was not saying he had absolutely no contact, because there is prayer, the indwelling Spirit, and fellowship through the word. Paul was simply expressing a heavenly homesickness, a strong yearning to be at home with his Lord (cf. Ps. 73:25; 1 Thess. 4:17; Rev. 21:3, 23; 22:3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:7 The Christian can hope for a heaven he has not seen. He does so by believing what Scripture says about it and living by that belief (see note on Heb. 11:1; cf. John 20:29).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:8 away from the body . . . at home with the Lord. Because heaven is a better place than earth, Paul would rather have been there, with God. This sentiment simply states Paul's feelings and longings of v. 6 from a reverse perspective (see notes on Phil. 1:21, 23).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:9 we make it our aim. Paul was speaking of his aim in life, but not the kind of proud, selfish desire that the related word “ambition” expresses in English. “Aim” is from the Greek word that means “to love what is honorable.” Paul demonstrated that it is right and noble for the believer to strive for excellence, spiritual goals, and all that is honorable before God (cf. Rom. 15:20; 1 Tim. 3:1). whether we are at home or away. See notes on 2 Cor. 5:6, 8. Paul's ambition was not altered by his state of being—whether he should be in heaven or on earth—he cared how he lived for the Lord (see notes on Rom. 14:6; Phil. 1:20; cf. 1 Cor. 9:27). please him. This was Paul's highest goal (cf. 1 Cor. 4:1–5), and should be so for every believer (cf. Rom. 12:2; Eph. 5:10; Col. 1:9; 1 Thess. 4:1). The term translated “please” is the same one used in Titus 2:9 to describe slaves who were passionate to please their masters.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:10 This describes the believer's deepest motivation and highest aim in pleasing God—the realization that every Christian is inevitably and ultimately accountable to him. the judgment seat of Christ. “Judgment seat” metaphorically refers to the place where the Lord will sit to evaluate believers' lives for the purpose of giving them eternal rewards. It is translated from the Greek word bēma, which was an elevated platform where victorious athletes (e.g., during the Olympics) went to receive their crowns. The term is also used in the NT to refer to the place of judging, as when Jesus stood before Pontius Pilate (Matt. 27:19; John 19:13), but here the reference is definitely from the athletic analogy. Corinth had such a platform where both athletic rewards and legal justice were dispensed (Acts 18:12–16), so the Corinthians understood Paul's reference. done in the body. Actions that happened during the believer's time of earthly ministry. This does not include sins, since their judgment took place at the cross (Eph. 1:7). Paul was referring to all those activities believers do during their lifetimes that relate to their eternal reward and praise from God. What Christians do in their temporal bodies will, in his eyes, have an impact for eternity (see notes on 1 Cor. 4:3–5; cf. Rom. 12:1–

2: Rev. 22:12). whether good or evil. These Greek terms do not refer to moral good and moral evil. Matters of sin have been completely dealt with by the death of the Savior. Rather, Paul was comparing worthwhile, eternally valuable activities with useless ones. His point was not that believers should not enjoy certain wholesome, earthly things, but that they should glorify God in them and spend most of their energy and time with what has eternal value (see notes on 1 Cor. 3:8–14).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:11 the fear of the Lord. This is not referring to being afraid, but to Paul’s worshipful reverence for God as his essential motivation to live in such a way as to honor his Lord and maximize his reward for his Lord’s glory (cf. 7:1; Prov. 9:10; Acts 9:31). we persuade others. The Greek word for “persuade” means to seek someone’s favor, as in getting the other person to see you in a certain favorable or desired way (cf. Gal. 1:10). This term can mean gospel preaching (Acts 18:4; 28:23), but here Paul was persuading others not about salvation, but about his own integrity. The Corinthians’ eternal reward would be affected if they defected to the false teachers and left the divine teaching of Paul. is known. Paul’s true spiritual condition of sincerity and integrity was manifest to God (see notes on 2 Cor. 1:12; cf. Acts 23:1; 24:16), and he also wanted the Corinthians to believe the truth about him.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:12 boast about outward appearance. Those who have no integrity, such as Paul’s opponents at Corinth, have to take pride in externals, which can be any false doctrine accompanied by showy hypocrisy (cf. Matt. 5:20; 6:1; Mark 7:6–7).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:13 beside ourselves. This Greek phrase usually means to be insane, or out of one’s mind, but here Paul used the expression to describe himself as one dogmatically devoted to truth. In this way, he answered those critics who claimed he was nothing more than an insane fanatic (cf. John 8:48; Acts 26:22–24). right mind. The original word meant to be moderate, sober minded, and in complete control. Paul also behaved this way among the Corinthians as he defended his integrity and communicated truth to them.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:14 the love of Christ. Christ’s love for Paul and all believers at the cross (cf. Rom. 5:6–8). Christ’s loving, substitutionary death motivated Paul’s service for him (cf. Gal. 2:20; Eph. 3:19). controls. This refers to pressure that causes action. Paul emphasized the strength of his desire to offer his life to the Lord. one has died for all. This expresses the truth of Christ's substitutionary death. The preposition "for" indicates he died "in behalf of," or "in the place of" all (cf. Isa. 53:4–12; Gal. 3:13; Heb. 9:11–14). This truth is at the heart of the doctrine of salvation. God's wrath against sin required death; Jesus took that wrath and died in the sinner's place. Thus he took away God's wrath and satisfied God's justice as a perfect sacrifice (see notes on 2 Cor. 5:21; Rom. 5:6–11, 18–19; 1 Tim. 2:5–6; cf. Eph. 5:2; 1 Thess. 5:10; Titus 2:14; 1 Pet. 2:24). therefore all have died. Everyone who died in Christ receives the benefits of his substitutionary death (see notes on Rom. 3:24–26; 6:8). With this short phrase, Paul defined the extent of the atonement and limited its application. This statement logically completes the meaning of the preceding phrase, in effect saying, "Christ died for all who died in him," or "One died for all, therefore all died" (see notes on 2 Cor. 5:19–21; cf. John 10:11–16; Acts 20:28). Paul was overwhelmed with gratitude that Christ loved him and was so gracious as to make him a part of the "all" who died in him.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:15 As he defended his integrity to the Corinthians, Paul wanted them to know that his old, self-centered life was finished and that he had an all-out desire to live righteously. For all genuine believers, their death in Christ is not only a death to sin, but a resurrection to a new life of righteousness (see notes on Rom. 6:3, 4, 8, 10; cf. Gal. 2:19–20; Col. 3:3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:16 Since Paul's conversion, his priority was to meet people's spiritual needs (cf. Acts 17:16; Rom. 1:13–16; 9:1–3; 10:1). according to the flesh. Paul no longer evaluated people according to external, human, worldly standards (cf. 2 Cor. 10:3). we regard him thus no longer. Paul, as a Christian, also no longer had merely a fallible, human assessment of Jesus Christ (cf. Acts 9:1–6; 26:9–23).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:17 in Christ. These two words comprise a brief but most profound statement of the inexhaustible significance of the believer's redemption, which includes the following: 1) the believer's security in Christ, who bore in his body God's judgment against sin; 2) the believer's acceptance in him with whom God alone is well pleased; 3) the believer's future assurance in him who is the resurrection to eternal life and the sole guarantor of the believer's inheritance in heaven; and 4) the believer's participation in the divine nature of Christ, the everlasting Word (cf. 2 Pet. 1:4). new creation. This describes something that is created at a qualitatively new level of excellence. It refers to regeneration or the new birth (cf. John 3:3; Eph. 2:1–3; Titus 3:5; 1 Pet. 1:23; 1

John 2:29; 3:9; 5:4). This expression encompasses the Christian's forgiveness of sins paid for in Christ's substitutionary death (cf. Gal. 6:15; Eph. 4:24). old has passed away. After a person is regenerate, old value systems, priorities, beliefs, loves, and plans are gone. Evil and sin are still present, but the believer sees them in a new perspective (see note on 2 Cor. 5:16), and they no longer control him. new has come. The Greek grammar indicates that this newness is a continuing condition of fact. The believer's new spiritual perception of everything is a constant reality for him, and he now lives for eternity, not temporal things. James identifies this transformation as the faith that produces works (see notes on Eph. 2:10; James 2:14–25).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:18 All this is from God. All the aspects related to someone's conversion and newly transformed life in Christ are accomplished by a sovereign God. Sinners on their own cannot decide to participate in these new realities (see note on Rom. 5:10; cf. 1 Cor. 8:6; 11:12; Eph. 2:1). ministry of reconciliation. This speaks to the reality that God wills sinful men to be reconciled to himself (cf. Rom. 5:10; Eph. 4:17–24). God has called believers to proclaim the gospel of reconciliation to others (cf. 1 Cor. 1:17). The concept of service, such as waiting on tables, derives from the Greek word for "ministry." Lit., God wants Christians to accept the privilege of serving unbelievers by proclaiming a desire to be reconciled.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:19 in Christ God. God by his own will and design used his Son, the only acceptable and perfect sacrifice, as the means to reconcile sinners to himself (see notes on v. 18; Acts 2:23; Col. 1:19–20; cf. John 14:6; Acts 4:12; 1 Tim. 2:5–6). reconciling the world. God initiates the change in the sinner's status in that he brings him from a position of alienation to a state of forgiveness and right relationship with himself. This again is the essence of the gospel. The word "world" should not be interpreted in any universalistic sense, which would say that everyone will be saved, or even potentially reconciled. "World" refers rather to the entire sphere of mankind or humanity (cf. Titus 2:11; 3:4), the category of beings to whom God offers reconciliation—people from every ethnic group, without distinction. The intrinsic merit of Christ's reconciling death is infinite and the offer is unlimited. However, actual atonement was made only for those who believe (cf. John 10:11, 15; 17:9; Acts 13:48; 20:28; Rom. 8:32–33; Eph. 5:25). The rest of humanity will pay the price personally for their own sin in eternal hell. counting. This may also be translated "reckoning." This is the heart of the doctrine of justification whereby God declares the repentant sinner righteous and does not count his sins against him because he covers him with the righteousness of Christ the moment he places wholehearted faith in Christ and his sacrificial death (see notes on Rom. 3:24–4:5; cf. Ps. 32:2; Rom. 4:8). message of reconciliation. See note on 2 Cor. 5:18. Here Paul presents another aspect to the meaning of the gospel. He used the Greek word for “message” (cf. Acts 13:26), which indicated a true and trustworthy message, as opposed to a false or unsure one. In a world filled with false messages, believers have the solid, truthful message of the gospel.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:20 ambassadors. A term that is related to the more familiar Greek word often translated “elder.” It described an older, more experienced man who served as a representative of a king from one country to another. Paul thus described his role—and the role of all believers—as a messenger representing the King of heaven with the gospel, who pleads with the people of the world to be reconciled to God, who is their rightful King (cf. Rom. 10:13–18). God making his appeal. As believers present the gospel, God speaks (lit., “calls,” or “begs”) through them and urges unbelieving sinners to come in an attitude of faith and accept the gospel, which means to repent of their sins and believe on Jesus (cf. Acts 16:31; James 4:8).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 5:21 Here Paul summarized the heart of the gospel, resolving the mystery and paradox of vv. 18–20, and explaining how sinners can be reconciled to God through Jesus Christ. These 15 Greek words express the doctrines of imputation and substitution like no other single verse. who knew no sin. Jesus Christ, the sinless Son of God (see notes on Gal. 4:4–5; cf. Luke 23:4, 14, 22, 47; John 8:46; Heb. 4:15; 7:26; 1 Pet. 1:19; 2:22–24; 3:18; Rev. 5:2–10). our sake he made him to be sin. God the Father, using the principle of imputation (see note on 2 Cor. 5:19), treated Christ as if he were a sinner though he was not, and had him die as a substitute to pay the penalty for the sins of those who believe in him (cf. Isa. 53:4–6; Gal. 3:10–13; 1 Pet. 2:24). On the cross, he did not become a sinner (as some suggest), but remained as holy as ever. He was treated as if he were guilty of all the sins ever committed by all who would ever believe, though he committed none. The wrath of God was exhausted on him and the just requirement of God’s law met for those for whom he died. the righteousness of God. Another reference to justification and imputation. The righteousness that is credited to the believer’s account is the righteousness of Jesus Christ, God’s Son (see notes on Rom. 1:17; 3:21–24; Phil. 3:9). As Christ was not a sinner, but was treated as if he were, so believers who have not yet been made righteous (until glorification) are treated as if they were righteous. He bore their sins so that they could bear his righteousness. God treated him as if he committed believers' sins, and treats believers as if they did only the righteous deeds of the sinless Son of God.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:1 to receive the grace of God in vain. Most of the Corinthians were saved but hindered by legalistic teaching regarding sanctification (see notes on 11:3; Gal. 6:1). Some were not truly saved but deceived by a gospel of works (cf. 2 Cor. 13:5; Gal. 5:4), which was being taught by the false teachers. In either case, Paul's proclamation of the gospel of grace would not have been having its desired effect, and he would have had cause for serious concern that his many months of ministry at Corinth were for nothing. Both cases also prevented the people from effectively assuming any "ministry of reconciliation" (2 Cor. 5:18).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:2 Paul emphasized his point by quoting Isa. 49:8. He was passionately concerned that the Corinthians adhere to the truth because it was God's time to save and they were messengers for helping to spread that message. now is the day of salvation. Paul applied Isaiah's words to the present situation. There is a time in God's economy when he listens to sinners and responds to those who are repentant—and it was and is that time (cf. Prov. 1:20–23; Isa. 55:6; Heb. 3:7–8; 4:7). However, there will also be an end to that time (cf. Gen. 6:3; Prov. 1:24–33; John 9:4), which is why Paul's exhortation was so passionate.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:3–10 Like Paul, any believer who engages in a faithful ministry of reconciliation should expect to be rejected and accepted, to be hated and loved, to encounter joy and hardship. This is what Jesus had already taught his disciples (cf. Matt. 5:10–16; Luke 12:2–12).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:3 no fault may be found. The faithful ambassador of Christ does nothing to discredit his ministry, but everything he can to protect its integrity, the gospel's integrity, and God's integrity (cf. Rom. 2:24; 1 Cor. 9:27; Titus 2:1–10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:4 as servants of God we commend ourselves. "Commend" means "introducing," with the connotation of proving oneself (see note on 3:1). The most convincing proof is the patient endurance of character reflected in Paul's hardships (6:5) and the nature of his ministry (vv. 6–7).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:5 Here Paul commended himself to them by mentioning his faithfulness in enduring persecution and citing his diligence in ministry labors, to the point of anguished deprivations when necessary (see note on 4:17).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:6 Paul commended himself positively by listing the important elements of the righteousness God had granted to him. the Holy Spirit. Paul lived and walked by the power of the Spirit (see note on Gal. 5:16). It was the central reason that all the other positive elements of his endurance were a reality.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:7 truthful speech. The Scriptures, the revealed word of God (cf. Col. 1:5; James 1:18). During his entire ministry, Paul never operated beyond the boundaries of the direction and guidance of divine revelation. the power of God. Paul did not rely on his own strength when he ministered (see notes on 1 Cor. 1:18; 2:1–3; cf. Rom. 1:16). with the weapons of righteousness. Paul did not fight Satan’s kingdom with human resources, but with spiritual virtue (see notes on 2 Cor. 10:3–5; Eph. 6:10–18). the right hand . . . the left. Paul had both offensive tools, such as the sword of the Spirit, and defensive tools, such as the shield of faith and the helmet of salvation, at his disposal (see notes on Eph. 6:16–17).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:8–10 The mark of a ministry that has genuine character is paradoxical, and here Paul gave a series of paradoxes regarding his service for Christ.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:8 as impostors. Paul’s opponents at Corinth had accused him of being an impostor and a false apostle (cf. John 7:12).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:9 as unknown. This is a twofold reference to: 1) the fact that Christians did not know him before he began persecuting them (cf. Acts 8:1; 1 Tim. 1:12–13); and 2) his rejection by the community of leading Jews and Pharisees following his conversion. He had become unknown to his former world, and well-known and well-loved by the Christian community.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:10 making many rich. The spiritual wealth Paul possessed and imparted did much to make his hearers spiritually wealthy (cf. Acts 3:6).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:11–13 Paul proved his genuine love for the Corinthians by defining love’s character. This passage confirms the reality of his profession of love for them (cf. 2:4; 3:2; 12:15, 19).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:11 our heart is wide open. Lit., “our heart is enlarged” (cf. 1 Kings 4:29). The evidence of Paul’s genuine love for the Corinthians was that no matter how some of them had mistreated him, he still loved them and had room for them in his heart (cf. Phil. 1:7).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:14 not be unequally yoked. An illustration taken from OT prohibitions to Israel regarding the work-related joining together of two different kinds of livestock (see note on Deut. 22:10). By this analogy, Paul taught that it is not right to join together in common spiritual enterprise with those who are not of the same nature (unbelievers). It is impossible under such an arrangement for things to be done to God’s glory. with unbelievers. Christians are not to be bound together with non-Christians in any spiritual enterprise or relationship that would be detrimental to the Christian’s testimony within the body of Christ (see notes on 1 Cor. 5:9–13; cf. 1 Cor. 6:15–18; 10:7–21; James 4:4; 1 John 2:15). This was especially important for the Corinthians because of the threats from the false teachers and the surrounding pagan idolatry. But this command does not mean believers should end all associations with unbelievers; that would defy the purpose for which God saved believers and left them on earth (cf. Matt. 28:19–20; 1 Cor. 9:19–23). The implausibility of such religious alliances is made clear in 2 Cor. 6:14b–17.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:15 Belial. An ancient name for Satan, the utterly worthless one (see note on Deut. 13:13). This contrasts sharply with Jesus Christ, the worthy One with whom believers are to be in fellowship.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:16 agreement . . . temple of God with idols? The temple of God (true Christianity) and idols (idolatrous, demonic false religions) are utterly incompatible (cf. 1 Sam. 4–6; 2 Kings 21:1–15; Ezek. 8). we are the temple of the living God. Believers individually are spiritual houses (cf. 2 Cor. 5:1) in which the Spirit of Christ dwells (see notes on 1 Cor. 3:16–17; 6:19–20; Eph. 2:22). as God said. Paul supported his statement by referring to a blend of OT texts (Lev. 26:11–12; Jer. 24:7; 31:33; Ezek. 37:26–27; Hos. 2:2–3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:17 Paul drew from Isa. 52:11 and elaborated on the command to be spiritually separated. It is not only irrational and sacrilegious but disobedient to be bound together with unbelievers. When believers are saved, they are to disengage themselves from all forms of false religion and make a clean break from all sinful habits and old idolatrous patterns (see notes on Eph. 5:6–12; 2 Tim. 2:20–23; cf. Rev. 18:4). be separate. This is a command for believers to be as Christ was (Heb. 7:26).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 6:18 As a result of separating themselves from false doctrine and practice, believers will know the full richness of what it means to be children of God (see notes on Rom. 8:14–17; cf. 2 Sam. 7:14; Ezek. 20:34).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:1 these promises. The OT promises Paul quoted in 6:16–18. Scripture often encourages believers to action based on God’s promises (cf. Rom. 12:1; 2 Pet. 1:3). let us cleanse ourselves. The form of this Greek verb indicates that this is something each Christian must do in his own life.

defilement. This Greek word, which appears only here in the NT, was used three times in the Greek OT to refer to religious defilement, or unholy alliances with idols, idol feasts, temple prostitutes, sacrifices, and festivals of worship. body and spirit. False religion panders to the human appetites, represented by both “body and spirit.” While some believers for a time might avoid succumbing to fleshly sins associated with false religion, the Christian who exposes his mind to false teaching cannot avoid contamination by the devilish ideologies and blasphemies that assault the purity of divine truth and blaspheme God’s name. See note on 2 Cor. 6:17. bringing holiness. The Greek word for “bringing” means “to finish” or “to complete” (cf. 8:6). “Holiness” refers to separation from all that would defile both the body and the mind. Complete or perfect holiness was embodied only in Christ, thus believers are to pursue him (cf. 3:18; Lev. 20:26; Matt. 5:48; Rom. 8:29; Phil. 3:12–14; 1 John 3:2–3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:2 We have wronged no one. The Greek word for “wronged” means “to treat someone unjustly,” “to injure someone,” or “to cause someone to fall into sin.” Paul could never be accused of injuring or leading any Corinthian into sin (see notes on Matt. 18:5–14). we have corrupted no one. “Corrupted” could refer to corruption by doctrine or money, but probably refers to corrupting one’s morals (cf. 1 Cor. 15:33). Paul could never be accused of encouraging any immoral conduct.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:3 Paul had a forgiving heart. Rather than only condemning the Corinthians for believing the false teachers and rejecting him, Paul reminded them of his love for them and his readiness to forgive them.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:4 great boldness toward you. Paul was confident of God’s ongoing work in their lives (cf. Phil. 1:6)—another proof of Paul’s love for the Corinthian believers.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:5–16 These verses catalog the restoration of Paul’s joy over the repentance of the Corinthian believers.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:5 Here, Paul continued the narrative he left off in 2:13. When he arrived in Macedonia after leaving Troas, he had no rest from external “fighting.” The Greek word is used of quarrels and disputes, and probably refers to the ongoing persecution Paul faced. He was also burdened by internal “fear”—the concern he had for the church and the anti-Paul faction prevalent there. Macedonia. See note on 2:13.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:6 the downcast. This refers not to the spiritually humble, but to those who are humiliated. Such people are lowly in the economic, social, or emotional sense (cf. Rom. 12:16).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:6–7 comforted us by the coming of Titus . . . as he told us. The Greek word for “coming” refers to the actual presence of Titus with Paul. But comforting Paul beyond just the arrival of Titus, which was a blessing, was the encouraging report he gave regarding the repentance of the Corinthians and their positive response to Paul’s letter carried by Titus.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:7 Paul was encouraged by the manner in which the Corinthians comforted Titus, since he brought them such a confrontational letter (see Introduction: Background and Setting). Paul was also encouraged by their response to himself, which was manifested in three ways: 1) “longing”—they were eager to see Paul again and resume their relationship with him; 2) “mourning”—they were sorrowful over their sin and the breach it created between themselves and Paul; and 3) “zeal”—they loved Paul to such a degree that they were willing to defend him against those who sought to harm him, specifically the false teachers.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:8 I made you grieve. See note on 2:1. my letter. The “severe letter” that confronted the mutiny in the church at Corinth (see note on 2:3; see Introduction: Background and Setting).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:8–9 I do not regret it . . . I did regret it . . . . I rejoice. Paul did not regret sending the letter, even though it caused them sorrow, because he knew that sorrow over their sin would affect in them repentance leading to obedience. Yet Paul did regret having sent it for a brief time while awaiting Titus's return, fearing that his letter was too harsh, and that he might have driven them further away from him. In the end, however, he rejoiced because the letter accomplished what he had hoped.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:9 grieved into repenting. The letter produced a sorrow in the Corinthian believers that led them to repent of their sins. “Repenting” refers to the desire to turn from sin and restore one’s relationship to God (see notes on Matt. 3:2, 8).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:10 grief produces a repentance that leads to salvation. “Grief” here refers to sorrow that is according to the will of God and produced by the Holy Spirit (see note on 2 Tim. 2:25). True repentance cannot occur apart from such a genuine sorrow over one’s sin. The word “leads” is supplied by the translators; Paul was saying that repentance belongs to the realm or sphere of salvation. Repentance is at the very heart of and proves one’s salvation: unbelievers repent of their sin initially when they are saved, and then as believers, repent of their sins continually to keep the joy and blessing of their relationship to God (see notes on 1 John 1:7–9). worldly grief produces death. Human sorrow is unsanctified remorse and has no redemptive capability. It is nothing more than the wounded pride of getting caught in a sin and having one’s lusts go unfulfilled. That kind of sorrow leads only to guilt, shame, despair, depression, self-pity, and hopelessness. People can die from such sorrow (cf. Matt. 27:3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:11 This verse provides a look at how genuine repentance will manifest itself in one’s attitudes. earnestness. It is the initial reaction of true repentance to eagerly and aggressively pursue righteousness. This is an attitude that ends indifference to sin and complacency about evil and deception. what eagerness to clear yourselves. A desire to clear one’s name of the stigma that accompanies sin. The repentant sinner restores the trust and confidence of others by making his genuine repentance known. indignation. Often associated with righteous indignation and holy anger. Repentance leads to anger over one’s sin and displeasure at the shame it has brought on the Lord’s name and his people. fear. This is reverence toward God, who is the One most offended by sin. Repentance leads to a healthy fear of the One who chastens and judges sin. longing. This could be translated “yearning,” and refers to the desire of the repentant sinner to restore the relationship with the one who was sinned against. zeal. This refers to loving someone or something so much that one hates anyone or anything that harms the object of this love (see note on v. 7).

punishment. This refers to the desire to see justice done. The repentant sinner no longer tries to protect himself; he wants to see the sin avenged no matter what it might cost him. innocent in the matter. The essence of repentance is an aggressive pursuit of holiness, which was characteristic of the Corinthians. The Greek word for “innocent” means “pure” or “holy.” They demonstrated the integrity of their repentance by their purity.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:12 one who did the wrong. The leader of the mutiny in the Corinthian church (see note on 12:7).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 7:15 fear and trembling. Reverence toward God and a healthy fear of judgment (see note on 1 Cor. 2:3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:1–9:15 While this section specifically deals with Paul’s instruction to the Corinthians about a particular collection for the saints in Jerusalem, it also provides the richest, most detailed model of Christian giving in the NT.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:1 grace of God. The generosity of the churches of Macedonia was motivated by God’s grace. Paul did not merely commend those churches for a noble human work, but instead gave the credit to God for what he did through them. churches of Macedonia. Macedonia was the northern Roman province of Greece. Paul’s reference was to the churches at Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea (cf. Acts 17:11). This was basically an impoverished province that had been ravaged by many wars and even then was being plundered by Roman authority and commerce.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:2 abundance of joy. “Abundance” means “surplus.” In spite of their difficult circumstances, the churches’ joy rose above their pain because of their devotion to the Lord and the causes of his kingdom. extreme poverty. “Extreme” means “according to the depth,” or “extremely deep.” “Poverty” refers to the most severe type of economic deprivation, the kind that caused a person to become a beggar. wealth of generosity. The Greek word for “generosity” can be translated “sincerity.” It is the opposite of duplicity or being double-minded. The Macedonian believers were rich in their single-minded, selfless generosity to God and to others.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:3 Paul highlighted three elements of the Macedonians' giving which summed up the concept of freewill giving: 1) "according to their means." Giving is proportionate—God sets no fixed amount or percentage and expects his people to give based on what they have (Luke 6:38; 1 Cor. 16:2); 2) "beyond their means." Giving is sacrificial. God's people are to give according to what they have, yet it must be in proportions that are sacrificial (cf. Matt. 6:25–34; Mark 12:41–44; Phil. 4:19); and 3) "their own accord"—lit., "one who chooses his own course of action." Giving is voluntary—God's people are not to give out of compulsion, manipulation, or intimidation. Freewill giving has always been God's plan (cf. 2 Cor. 9:6; Gen. 4:2–4; 8:20; Ex. 25:1–2; 35:4–5, 21–22; 36:5–7; Num. 18:12; Deut. 16:10, 17; 1 Chron. 29:9; Prov. 3:9–10; 11:24; Luke 19:1–8). Freewill giving is not to be confused with tithing, which related to the national taxation system of Israel (see note on Lev. 27:30–32) and is paralleled in the NT and the present by paying taxes (see notes on Matt. 22:21; Rom. 13:6–7).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:4 favor of taking part. The Macedonian Christians implored Paul for the special grace of being able to have fellowship and be partners in supporting the poor saints in Jerusalem. They viewed giving as a privilege, not an obligation (cf. 9:7).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:5 not as we expected. The response of the Macedonian churches was far more than Paul had expected. first. Refers not to time but priority. Of first priority to the Macedonians was to present themselves as sacrifices to God (cf. Rom. 12:1–2; 1 Pet. 2:5). Generous giving follows personal dedication.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:6 we urged Titus. Titus initially encouraged the Corinthians to begin the collection at least one year earlier. When he returned to Corinth with the "severe letter" (see Introduction: Background and Setting), Paul encouraged him to help the believers finish the collection of the money for the support of the poor saints in Jerusalem.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:7 you excel in everything. The giving of the Corinthians was to be in harmony with other Christian virtues that Paul already recognized in them: "faith"—sanctifying trust in the Lord; "speech"—sound doctrine; "knowledge"—the application of doctrine; "earnestness"—eagerness and spiritual passion; and "love"—the love of choice, inspired by their leaders.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:8 not as a command. Freewill giving is never according to obligation or command (see note on v. 3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:9 though he was rich. A reference to the eternity and pre-existence of Christ. As the second person of the Trinity, Christ is as rich as God is rich. He owns everything, and possesses all power, authority, sovereignty, glory, honor, and majesty (cf. Isa. 9:6; Mic. 5:2; John 1:1; 8:58; 10:30; 17:5; Col. 1:15–18; 2:9; Heb. 1:3). he became poor. A reference to Christ's incarnation (cf. John 1:14; Rom. 1:3; 8:3; Gal. 4:4; Col. 1:20; 1 Tim. 3:16; Heb. 2:7). He laid aside the independent exercise of all his divine prerogatives, left his place with God, took on human form, and died on a cross like a common criminal (Phil. 2:5–8). that you . . . might become rich. Believers become spiritually rich through the sacrifice and impoverishment of Christ (Phil. 2:5–8). They become rich in salvation, forgiveness, joy, peace, glory, honor, and majesty (cf. 1 Cor. 1:4–5; 3:22; Eph. 1:3; 1 Pet. 1:3–4). They become joint heirs with Christ (Rom. 8:17).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:10 judgment. Paul was not commanding the Corinthians to give any specific amount. It was his opinion, however, that it was to their advantage to give generously so they might receive abundantly more from God in either material blessings, spiritual blessings, or eternal reward (cf. 9:6; Luke 6:38).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:11 finish doing it. The Corinthians needed to finish what they had started by completing the collection (cf. Luke 9:62; 1 Cor. 16:2). They needed this reminder since they likely stopped the process due to the influence of the false teachers, who probably accused Paul of being a huckster who would keep the money for himself (cf. 2 Cor. 2:17).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:12 readiness. Paul spoke of a readiness and eagerness to give. God is most concerned with the heart attitude of the giver, not the amount he gives (cf. 9:7; Mark 12:41–44). according to what a person has. Whatever a person has is the resource out of which he should give (see note on 2 Cor. 8:3). That is why there are no set amounts or percentages for giving anywhere stated in the NT. The implication is that if one has much, he can give much; if he has little, he can give only little (cf. 9:6). not according to what he does not have. Believers do not need to go into debt to give, nor lower themselves to a poverty level. God never asks believers to impoverish themselves. The Macedonians received a special blessing of grace from God to give the way they did.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:14 fairness. This Greek word gives us the English word “isostasy,” which refers to a condition of equilibrium. Thus the term could also be translated “balance” or “equilibrium.” The idea is that in the body of Christ some believers who have more than they need should help those who have far less than they need (cf. 1 Tim. 6:17–18). This is not, however, a scheme of Paul’s to redistribute wealth within the church, but rather to meet basic needs.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:15 As it is written. Quoted from Ex. 16:18. The collecting of the manna by the Israelites in the wilderness was an appropriate illustration of sharing of resources. Some were able to gather more than others, and apparently shared it so that no one lacked what they needed.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:16 Titus. See note on v. 6.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:18 the brother. This man is unnamed because he was so well known, prominent, and unimpeachable. He was a distinguished preacher, and he was able to add credibility to the enterprise of taking the collection to Jerusalem.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:19 appointed by the churches. To protect Paul and Titus from false accusations regarding the mishandling of the money, the churches picked the unbiased brother (v. 18) as their representative to lend accountability to the enterprise. for the glory of the Lord himself. Paul wanted careful scrutiny as protection against bringing dishonor to Christ for any misappropriation of the money. He wanted to avoid any offenses worthy of justifiable criticisms or accusations.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:21 aim at what is honorable. A better rendering is “take into consideration what is honorable.” Paul cared greatly about what people thought of his actions, especially considering how large the gift was.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:22 our brother. A third member of the delegation sent to deliver the gift, also unnamed.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 8:23 partner and fellow worker. Titus was Paul’s “partner”—his close companion—and fellow laborer among the Corinthians. They already knew of his outstanding character. messengers of the churches. The two men who went with Titus were apostles in the sense of being commissioned and sent by the churches. They were not apostles of Christ (11:13; 1 Thess. 2:6), because they were not eyewitnesses of the resurrected Lord or commissioned directly by him (see note on Rom. 1:1). glory of Christ. The greatest of all commendations is to be characterized as bringing glory to Christ. Such was the case of the two messengers.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:1 ministry for the saints. The offering they were collecting for the believers in Jerusalem (see note on 8:4).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:2 Paul was simply calling the Corinthians back to their original eagerness and readiness to participate in the offering project. The confusion and lies spread by the false teachers (i.e., Paul was a deceiver ministering only for the money) had sidetracked the believers on this issue. people of Macedonia. Believers in the churches in the province of Macedonia, which was the northern part of Greece (see notes on 8:1–5; Acts 16:9; see Introduction to 1 Thessalonians: Background and Setting). Achaia. A province in southern Greece, where Corinth was located (see Introduction to 1 Corinthians: Background and Setting).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:5 gift. On first hearing of the need, the Corinthians had undoubtedly promised Paul that they would raise a large amount. exaction. This denotes a grasping to get more and keep it at the expense of others. This attitude emphasizes selfishness and pride, which can have a very detrimental effect on giving, and is natural for unbelievers but should not be for professed believers (cf. Ps. 10:3; Eccles. 5:10; Mic. 2:2; Mark 7:22; Rom. 1:29; 1 Cor. 5:11; 6:9–10; Eph. 5:3–5; 1 Tim. 6:10; 2 Pet. 2:14).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:6 The simple, self-evident agrarian principle—which Paul applied to Christian giving—that the harvest is directly proportionate to the amount of seed sown (cf. Prov. 11:24–25; 19:17; Luke 6:38; Gal. 6:7). bountifully. This is derived from the Greek word that gives us the word “eulogy” (“blessing”). When a generous believer gives by faith and trust in God, with a desire to produce the greatest possible blessing, that person will receive that kind of a harvest of blessing (cf. Prov. 3:9–10; 28:27; Mal. 3:10). God gives a return on the amount one invests with him. Invest a little, receive a little, and vice versa (cf. Luke 6:38).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:7 as he has decided. The term translated “decided” occurs only here in the NT and indicates a premeditated, predetermined plan of action that is done from the heart voluntarily, but not impulsively. This is an age-old biblical principle of giving (see note on 8:3; cf. Ex. 25:2). reluctantly. Lit.,

“with grief,” “sorrow,” or “sadness,” which indicates an attitude of depression, regret, and reluctance that accompanies something done strictly out of a sense of duty and obligation, but not joy. under compulsion. This refers to external pressure and coercion, quite possibly accompanied by legalism. Believers are not to give based on the demands of others, or according to any arbitrary standards or set amounts. God loves a cheerful giver. God has a unique, special love for those who are happily committed to generous giving. The Greek word for “cheerful” is the word from which we get “hilarious,” which suggests that God loves a heart that is enthusiastically thrilled with the pleasure of giving.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:8 all grace abound to you. God possesses an infinite amount of grace, and he gives it lavishly, without holding back (cf. 1 Chron. 29:14). Here “grace” does not refer to spiritual graces, but to money and material needs. When the believer generously—and wisely—gives of his material resources, God graciously replenishes them so he always has plenty and will not be in need (cf. 2 Chron. 31:10). all sufficiency. In secular Greek philosophy, this was the proud contentment of self-sufficiency that supposedly led to true happiness. Paul sanctifies the secular term and says that God, not man, will supply everything needed for real happiness and contentment (cf. Phil. 4:19). abound in every good work. God gives back lavishly to generous, cheerful givers, not so they may satisfy selfish, nonessential desires, but so they may meet the variety of needs others have (cf. Deut. 15:10–11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:9 Paul marshals OT support (Ps. 112:9) for what he has been saying about the divine principles of giving. God replenishes and rewards the righteous giver both in time and eternity.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:10 Paul drew on Isa. 55:10 for additional OT support. The same God who is faithful to supply all his creatures’ physical needs and is kind to all people, is uniquely gracious to his children. He always fulfills his promise to replenish their generosity. harvest of your righteousness. God’s temporal and eternal blessings to the cheerful giver (cf. Hos. 10:12).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:12 ministry of this service. The Greek word translated “ministry” is a priestly word from which we get “liturgy.” Paul viewed the entire collection project as a spiritual, worshipful enterprise that was primarily being offered to God to glorify him. supplying the needs of the saints. The Greek word for “supplying” is a doubly intense term that could be rendered “really, fully supplying.” This indicates the Jerusalem church had an extremely great need. Many of its members had gone to Jerusalem as pilgrims to celebrate the feast of Pentecost (see notes on Acts 2:1, 5–11), had been converted through Peter’s message, and had then remained in the city without adequate financial support. Many residents of Jerusalem had undoubtedly lost their jobs in the waves of persecution that came after the martyrdom of Stephen (Acts 8:1). However, the Corinthians were wealthy enough (they had not yet suffered persecution and deprivation like the Macedonians; 2 Cor. 8:1–4) to help meet the huge need with a generous monetary gift (see note on 9:5).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:13 approval of this service. The collection also provided an important opportunity for the Corinthians to test the genuineness of their faith (cf. James 1:22; 1 John 2:3–4). The Jewish believers, who already doubted the validity of Gentile salvation, were especially skeptical of the Corinthians since their church had so many problems. The Corinthians’ involvement in the collection would help to put those doubts to rest. submission flowing from your confession. Obedient submission to God’s word is always evidence of a true confession of Christ as Lord and Savior (Eph. 2:10; James 2:14–20; cf. Rom. 10:9–10). If the Corinthians had a proper response to and participation in Paul’s collection ministry, the Jewish believers would know the Gentile conversions had been real.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:14 This verse illustrates the truth that mutual prayer is at the heart of authentic Christian unity. When the Jerusalem believers recognized God was at work in the Corinthian church as a result of its outreach through the collection (see notes on v. 13), they would have become friends in Christ and prayed for the Corinthians, thanking God for their loving generosity. the surpassing grace of God. The Spirit of God was at work in the Corinthians in a special way (see note on v. 13).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 9:15 Paul summarized his discourse by comparing the believer’s act of giving with what God did in giving Jesus Christ (cf. Rom. 8:32), “his inexpressible gift.” God buried his Son and reaped a vast harvest of those who put their faith in the resurrected Christ (cf. John 12:24). That makes it possible for believers to joyfully, sacrificially, and abundantly sow and reap. As they give in this manner, they show forth Christ’s likeness (cf. John 12:25–26; Eph. 5:1–2).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:1–13:14 The abrupt change in tone from chs. 1–9 has prompted various explanations of the relationship between chs. 10–13 and 1–9. Some argue that chs. 10–13 were originally part of the “severe letter” (2:4), and hence belong chronologically before chs. 1–9. Chapters 10–13 cannot, however, have been written before chs. 1–9, since they refer to Titus’s visit as a past event (12:18; cf. 8:6). Further, the offender whose defiance of Paul prompted the “severe letter” (2:5–8) is nowhere mentioned in chs. 10–13. Others agree that chs. 10–13 belong after chs. 1–9, but believe they form a separate letter. They assume that Paul, after sending chs. 1–9 to the Corinthians, received reports of new trouble at Corinth and wrote chs. 10–13 in response. A variation of this view is that Paul paused in his writing of 2 Corinthians after chs. 1–9, then heard bad news from Corinth before he resumed writing chs. 10–13. This view preserves the unity of 2 Corinthians; however Paul does not mention anywhere in chs. 10–13 that he received any fresh news from Corinth. The best interpretation views 2 Corinthians as a unified letter, with chs. 1–9 addressed to the repentant majority (cf. 2:6) and chs. 10–13 to the minority still influenced by the false teachers. The support for this view is that: 1) there is no historical evidence (from Greek manuscripts, the writings of the church Fathers, or early translations) that chs. 10–13 ever circulated as a separate letter; all Greek manuscripts have them following chs. 1–9; 2) the differences in tone between chs. 10–13 and 1–9 have been exaggerated (cf. 11:11; 12:14 with 6:11; 7:2); and 3) chs. 10–13 form the logical conclusion to chs. 1–9, as Paul prepared the Corinthians for his promised visit (1:15–16; 2:1–3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:1 meekness. The humble and gentle attitude that expresses itself in patient endurance of unfair treatment. A meek person is not bitter or angry, and he does not seek revenge when wronged. See note on Matt. 5:5. gentleness. This is similar in meaning to meekness. When applied to someone in a position of authority it refers to leniency. Gentle people refuse to retaliate, even when it is in their power to do so (Phil. 4:5). humble . . . bold toward you. Paul sarcastically repeated another feature of the Corinthians’ accusation against him; sadly, they had mistaken his gentleness and meekness toward them for weakness. Further, they accused him of cowardice, of being bold only when writing to them from a safe distance (cf. 2 Cor. 10:10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:2 Paul was quite capable of bold, fearless confrontation (cf. Gal. 2:11). But seeking to spare the Corinthians (cf. 2 Cor. 1:23), the apostle begged the rebellious minority not to force him to display his boldness by confronting them—something he would do, he warned, if necessary.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:3 walk in the flesh. Paul’s opponents at Corinth had wrongly accused him of walking in the flesh in a moral sense (cf. Rom. 8:4). Playing off that, Paul affirmed that he did walk in the flesh in a physical sense; though possessing the power and authority of an apostle of Jesus Christ, he was a real human being (cf. 2 Cor. 4:7, 16; 5:1). war according to the flesh. Although a man, Paul did not fight the spiritual battle for men’s souls using human ingenuity, worldly wisdom, or clever methodologies (cf. 1 Cor. 1:17–25; 2:1–4). Such impotent weapons are powerless to free souls from the forces of darkness and bring them to maturity in Christ. They cannot successfully oppose satanic assaults on the gospel, such as those made by the false apostles at Corinth.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:4 our warfare. The motif of the Christian life as warfare is a common one in the NT (cf. 6:7; Eph. 6:10–18; 1 Tim. 1:18; 2 Tim. 2:3–4; 4:7). of the flesh. Human. See note on 2 Cor. 10:3. strongholds. The metaphor would have been readily understandable to the Corinthians since Corinth, like most ancient cities, had a fortress (on top of a hill south of the city) in which its residents could take refuge. The formidable spiritual strongholds manned by the forces of hell can be demolished only by spiritual weapons wielded by godly believers—singularly the “sword of the Spirit” (Eph. 6:17), since only the truth of God’s word can defeat satanic falsehoods. This is the true spiritual warfare. Believers are not instructed in the NT to assault demons or Satan (see note on Jude 9), but to assault error with the truth. That is our battle (cf. John 17:17; Heb. 4:12).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:5 arguments. Thoughts, ideas, reasonings, philosophies, and false religions are the ideological forts in which men barricade themselves against God and the gospel (cf. 1 Cor. 3:20). every lofty opinion. Emphasizes the total destruction of the fortresses of human and satanic wisdom and the rescuing of those inside from the damning lies that had enslaved them.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:6 Paul would not stand idly by while enemies of the faith assaulted a church under his care. He was ready to purge them out (as he did at Ephesus; 1 Tim. 1:19–20) as soon as the Corinthian church was complete in its obedience. When that happened, the lines would be clearly drawn between the repentant, obedient majority and the recalcitrant, disobedient minority.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:7 Look at what is before your eyes. The sense of Paul’s command is: “Look at what is obvious, face the facts, consider the evidence.” In light of what they knew about him (cf. 1 Cor. 9:1–2), how could some of the Corinthians possibly believe that Paul was a false apostle and the false teachers were true apostles? Unlike Paul, the false apostles had founded no churches, and had suffered no persecution for the cause of Christ. Paul could call on his companions and even Ananias as witnesses to the reality of his Damascus Road experience; there were no witnesses to verify the false apostles’ alleged encounters with the risen, glorified Christ. If anyone is confident that he is Christ’s. The false apostles’ claim to belong to Christ can be understood in four ways: 1) that they were Christians; 2) that they had known Jesus during his earthly life; 3) that they had an apostolic commission from him; or 4) that they had an elevated, secret knowledge of him. Their claim that some or all of those things were true about themselves implies that they denied all of them to be true of Paul. as he is Christ’s, so also are we. For the sake of argument, Paul did not at this point deny the false apostles’ claims (as he did later in 2 Cor. 11:13–15). He merely pointed out that he, too, can and does claim to belong to Christ. To decide between the conflicting personal claims, the Corinthians needed only to consider the objective evidence, as he commanded them to do earlier in this verse.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:8 The debate with the false apostles had forced Paul to emphasize his authority more than he cared to; Paul’s claims for his authority normally were restrained by his humility. But no matter how much he said about his authority, Paul would never be ashamed. Since he had the authority of which he spoke, he would never be proved guilty of making an empty boast. The Lord gave Paul his authority to edify and strengthen the church; that he had done so at Corinth proves the genuineness of his claim to apostolic calling. Far from edifying the Corinthian church, the false apostles had brought confusion, divisiveness, and turmoil to it. That showed that their authority did not come from the Lord, who seeks only to build his church (cf. Matt. 16:18), not tear it down.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:9 frightening you with my letters. The false apostles had accused Paul of being an abusive leader, of trying to intimidate the Corinthians in his letters (such as the “severe letter,” see Introduction: Background and Setting). Paul’s goal, however, was not to terrify the Corinthians, but to bring them to repentance (cf. 7:9–10), because he loved them (cf. 7:2–3; 11:11; 12:15).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:10 In their continuing attempt to discredit Paul, the false apostles claimed that in contrast to his bold, forceful letters, in person he lacked the presence, charisma, and personality of a truly great leader. They no doubt supported their point by portraying Paul’s departure after his “painful visit” (2:1; cf. Introduction: Background and Setting) as a retreat of abject failure. And in a culture that highly valued skillful rhetoric and eloquent oration, Paul’s “no account” speech was also taken as evidence that he was a weak, ineffective person.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:11 Paul denied the false charges against him and affirmed his integrity. What he was in his letters he was to be when present with them.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:12 classify or compare ourselves. It is a mark of Paul’s humility that he refused to compare himself with others, or engage in self-promotion. His only personal concern was what the Lord thought of him (cf. 1 Cor. 4:4), though he needed to defend his apostleship so the Corinthians would not, in turning from him, turn from the truth to lies. measure themselves by one another. Paul pointed out the folly of the false apostles’ boasting. They invented false standards that they could meet, then proclaimed themselves superior for meeting them.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:13 not boast beyond limits. In contrast to the proud, arrogant, boastful false apostles, Paul refused to say anything about himself or his ministry that was not true and God-given. the area of influence God assigned to us. Paul was content to stay within the bounds of the ministry God had given him—that of being the Apostle to the Gentiles (Rom. 1:5; 11:13; 1 Tim. 2:7; 2 Tim. 1:11). Thus, contrary to the claims of the false apostles, Paul’s sphere of ministry included Corinth. The apostle again demonstrated his humility by refusing to boast of his own accomplishments, preferring to speak only of what Christ had done through him (Rom. 15:18; Col. 1:29).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:15 our area of influence . . . greatly enlarged. When the crisis in Corinth had been resolved and the Corinthians’ faith strengthened, Paul would, with their help, expand his ministry into new areas.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:16 lands beyond you. Areas such as Rome (Acts 19:21) and Spain (Rom. 15:24, 28).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:17 The thought of self-glory was repugnant to Paul; he boasted only in the Lord (cf. Jer. 9:23–24; 1 Cor. 1:31; see note on 2 Cor. 10:13).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 10:18 whom the Lord commends. See note on v. 12. Self-commendation is both meaningless and foolish; the only true, meaningful commendation comes from God.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:1 a little foolishness. Having just pointed out the folly of self-commendation (10:18), Paul certainly did not want to engage in it. But the Corinthians' acceptance of the false apostles' claims forced Paul to set forth his own apostolic credentials (cf. 12:11); that was the only way he could get them to see the truth (see note on 10:7). Unlike the false apostles, however, Paul's boasting was in the Lord (10:17) and motivated by concern for the Corinthians' well-being under the threat of false teaching (cf. 11:2; 12:19).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:2 I feel a divine jealousy for you. The reason for Paul's "foolishness" (see note on v. 1) was his deep concern for the Corinthians—concern to the point of jealousy, not for his own reputation, but zeal for their spiritual purity (see note on v. 3). divine jealousy. Jealousy inspired by zeal for God's causes, and thus similar to God's own jealousy for his holy name and his people's loyalty (cf. Ex. 20:5; 34:14; Deut. 4:24; 5:9; 6:15; 32:16, 21; Josh. 24:19; Ps. 78:58; Ezek. 39:25; Nah. 1:2). I betrothed you to one husband. As their spiritual father (2 Cor. 12:14; 1 Cor. 4:15; cf. 9:1–2), Paul portrayed the Corinthians like a daughter, whom he betrothed to Jesus Christ (at their conversion). The OT pictures Israel as the wife of the Lord (cf. Isa. 54:5; Jer. 3:14; Hos. 2:19–20), while the NT pictures the church as the bride of Christ (Eph. 5:22–32; Rev. 19:7). pure virgin. Having betrothed or pledged the Corinthians to Christ, Paul wanted them to be pure until the marriage day finally arrived (cf. Rev. 19:7). It was that passionate concern which provoked Paul's jealousy (see note on 2 Cor. 11:1) and prompted him to set forth his apostolic credentials.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:3 Paul compared the danger facing the Corinthian church to Eve's deception by Satan. He feared the Corinthians, like Eve, would fall prey to satanic lies and have their minds corrupted. The tragic result would be the abandonment of their simple devotion to Christ in favor of the sophisticated error of the false apostles. Paul's allusion to Gen. 3 implies that the false apostles were Satan's emissaries—a truth that he later made explicit (2 Cor. 11:13–15).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:4 if someone comes. The false apostles came into the Corinthian church from the outside—just as Satan did into the Garden. Likely they were Palestinian Jews (cf. v. 22; Acts 6:1) who allegedly sought to bring the Corinthians under the sway of the Jerusalem church. They were in a sense Judaizers, seeking to impose Jewish customs on the Corinthians. Unlike the Judaizers who plagued the Galatian churches (cf. Gal. 5:2), however, the false apostles at Corinth apparently did not insist that the Corinthians be circumcised. Nor did they practice a rigid legalism; in fact, they apparently encouraged licentiousness (cf. 2 Cor. 12:21). Their fascination with rhetoric and oratory (cf. 10:10) suggests they had been influenced by Greek culture and philosophy. They claimed (falsely, cf. Acts 15:24) to represent the Jerusalem church, even possessing letters of commendation (see note on 2 Cor. 3:1). Claiming to be the most eminent of apostles (11:5), they scorned Paul’s apostolic claims. Though their teaching may have differed from the Galatian Judaizers, it was just as deadly. another Jesus . . . a different spirit . . . a different gospel. Despite their vicious attacks on him, Paul’s quarrel with the false apostles was not personal, but doctrinal. He could tolerate those hostile to him, as long as they preached the gospel of Jesus Christ (cf. Phil. 1:15–18). Those who adulterated the true gospel, however, received Paul’s strongest condemnation (cf. Gal. 1:6–9). Though the precise details of what the false apostles taught are unknown and don’t matter, they preached “another Jesus” and “a different spirit,” which added up to “a different gospel.” you put up with it readily enough. Paul’s fear that the Corinthians would embrace the damning lies of the false apostles prompted his jealous concern for them (see notes on 2 Cor. 11:2–3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:5 super-apostles. Possibly a reference to the 12 apostles, in which case Paul was asserting that, contrary to the claims of the false apostles (who said they were sent from the Jerusalem church; see note on v. 4), he was in no way inferior to the Twelve (cf. 1 Cor. 15:7–9). More likely, Paul was making a sarcastic reference to the false apostles, based on their exalted view of themselves. It is unlikely that he would refer to the Twelve in the context of false teaching (cf. 2 Cor. 11:1–4), nor does the comparison that follows seem to be between Paul and the Twelve (Paul certainly would not have had to defend his speaking skills against those of the Twelve; cf. Acts 4:13).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:6 unskilled in speaking. Paul acknowledged his lack of training in the rhetorical skills so prized in Greek culture (see note on 10:10; cf. Acts 18:24); he was a preacher of the gospel, not a professional orator. I am not so in knowledge. Whatever deficiencies Paul may have had as an orator, he had none in terms of knowledge. Paul did not refer here to his rabbinic training under Gamaliel (Acts 22:3), but to his knowledge of the gospel (cf. 1 Cor. 2:6–11; Eph. 3:1–5), which he had received directly from God (Gal. 1:12).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:7 free of charge. Greek culture measured the importance of a teacher by the fee he could command. The false apostles therefore accused Paul of being a counterfeit, since he refused to charge for his services (cf. 1 Cor. 9:1–15). They convinced the Corinthians to be offended by Paul’s refusal to accept support from them, offering that as evidence that he did not love them (cf. 2 Cor. 11:11). Paul’s resort to manual labor to support himself (Acts 18:1–3) also embarrassed the Corinthians, who felt such work to be beneath the dignity of an apostle. With biting irony Paul asked his accusers how foregoing his right to support could possibly be a sin. In fact, by refusing support he had humbled himself so they could be exalted; that is, lifted out of their sin and idolatry.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:8 I robbed other churches. “Robbed” is a very strong word, used in extrabiblical Greek to refer to pillaging. Paul, of course, did not take money from churches without their consent; his point is that the churches who supported him while he ministered in Corinth received no direct benefit from the support they gave him. Why Paul refused to accept the support he was entitled to from the Corinthians (1 Cor. 9:15) is not clear; perhaps some of them were suspicious of his motives in promoting the offering for the Jerusalem church (cf. 2 Cor. 12:16–18).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:9 brothers who came from Macedonia. Silas and Timothy (Acts 18:5), bringing money from Philippi (Phil. 4:15) and, possibly, Thessalonica (cf. 1 Thess. 3:6). The Macedonians’ generous financial support allowed Paul to devote himself full time to preaching the gospel.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:10 this boasting. About his ministering without charge (see note on v. 7; cf. 1 Cor. 9:15, 18). the regions of Achaia. The Roman province of which Corinth was the capital and leading city (see note on 2 Cor. 9:2). The false apostles apparently were affecting more than just the city of Corinth.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:12 continue to do. That Paul refused to accept financial support from the Corinthians was a source of embarrassment to the false apostles, who eagerly sought money for their services. Paul intended to keep his ministry free of charge and thereby undermine the false apostles' claims that they operated on the same basis as he did.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:13–15 No longer speaking with veiled irony or defending himself, Paul bluntly and directly exposed the false apostles for what they were—emissaries of Satan. Not only was their claim to apostleship false, so also was their doctrine (see note on v. 4). As satanic purveyors of false teaching, they were under the curse of Gal. 1:8–9. Paul's forceful language may seem harsh, but it expressed the godly jealousy he felt for the Corinthians (see note on 2 Cor. 11:2). Paul was unwilling to sacrifice truth for the sake of unity. Cf. 1 Tim. 4:12; 2 Pet. 2:1–17; Jude 8–13.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:13 false apostles. See note on v. 4.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:14–15 Since the Prince of Darkness (cf. Luke 22:53; Acts 26:18; Eph. 6:12; Col. 1:13) masquerades as an angel of light—that is, deceptively, disguised as a messenger of truth—it is not surprising that his emissaries do as well. Satan deceived Eve (see notes on 2 Cor. 11:3; Gen. 3:1–7) and holds unbelievers captive (2 Cor. 4:4; cf. Eph. 2:1–3); his emissaries were attempting to deceive and enslave the Corinthians. The terrifying “end” these self-styled “servants of righteousness” will face is God's judgment—the fate of all false teachers (Rom. 3:8; 1 Cor. 3:17; Phil. 3:19; 2 Thess. 2:8; 2 Pet. 2:1, 3, 17; Jude 4, 13).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:16–33 After digressing to discuss the issue of financial support (vv. 7–12) and to expose the false teachers as emissaries of Satan (vv. 13–15), Paul returned to the “foolish” boasting the Corinthians had forced him into (vv. 1–6; see note on v. 1).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:16 let no one think me foolish. See note on v. 1. Since some of the Corinthians (following the false apostles' lead) were comparing Paul unfavorably to the false apostles, he decided to answer fools according to their folly (Prov. 26:5). Paul's concern was not personal preservation; rather, the apostle knew that by rejecting him in favor of the false apostles, the Corinthians would be rejecting the true gospel for a false one. So by establishing himself and his ministry as genuine, Paul was defending the true gospel of Jesus Christ.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:17–18 Paul acknowledged that boasting was not commended by the Lord (cf. 10:1), but the desperate situation in Corinth (where the false apostles made their “boast according to the flesh”) forced him to boast, not for self-glorification (Gal. 6:14), but to counter the false doctrine threatening the Corinthian church (see note on 2 Cor. 11:16).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:19–21 These verses contain some of the most scathing sarcasm Paul ever penned, demonstrating the seriousness of the situation at Corinth and revealing the jealous concern of a godly pastor (see note on v. 2). Paul did not view his disagreement with the false apostles as a mere academic debate; the souls of the Corinthians and the purity of the gospel were at stake.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:19 The Corinthians, wrote Paul sarcastically, should have no trouble bearing with a “fool” like him, since they themselves were so wise (cf. 1 Cor. 4:10)!

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:20 slaves of you. The Greek verb translated by this phrase appears elsewhere in the NT only in Gal. 2:4, where it speaks of the Galatians’ enslavement by the Judaizers. The false apostles had robbed the Corinthians of their freedom in Christ (cf. Gal. 5:1). devours you. Or “preys upon you.” This probably refers to the false teachers’ demands for financial support (the same verb appears in Luke 20:47 where Jesus denounces the Pharisees for devouring widows’ houses). takes advantage of you. This is translated “got the better of you by deceit” in 2 Cor. 12:16. The false apostles were attempting to catch the Corinthians like fish in a net (cf. Luke 5:5–6). puts on airs. This refers to one who is presumptuous, exalts himself, acts arrogantly, or lords it over people (cf. 1 Pet. 5:3). strikes you in the face. The false apostles may have physically abused the Corinthians, but the phrase is more likely used in a metaphorical sense (cf. 1 Cor. 9:27) to speak of the false teachers’ humiliation of the Corinthians. To strike someone on the face was a sign of disrespect and contempt (cf. 1 Kings 22:24; Luke 22:64; Acts 23:2).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:21 we were too weak for that. Paul’s sarcasm reached its peak as he noted that he was too weak to abuse the Corinthians as the false apostles had done (v. 20).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:22–33 The third and most comprehensive list recorded in this letter of Paul’s sufferings for the cause of Christ (cf. 4:8–12; 6:4–10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:22 Are they Hebrews . . . Israelites . . . offspring of Abraham? To each of these questions Paul replied simply and powerfully, “So am I” (cf. Phil. 3:5).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:23 Are they servants of Christ? Paul had already emphatically denied that they were (v. 13); however, some of the Corinthians still believed they were. Paul accepted that belief for the sake of argument, then went on to show that his ministry was in every way superior to the false apostles’ so-called “ministry.” I am talking like a madman. See note on v. 1. Once again Paul expressed his extreme distaste for the boasting the Corinthians had forced him into. far greater labors . . . near death. A general summation of Paul’s sufferings for the gospel; the next few verses give specific examples, many of which are not found in Acts. Paul was often in danger of death (Acts 9:23, 29; 14:5, 19–20; 17:5; 21:30–32).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:24 forty lashes less one. Deuteronomy 25:1–3 set 40 as the maximum number that could legally be administered; in Paul’s day the Jews reduced that number by one to avoid accidentally going over the maximum. Jesus warned that his followers would receive such beatings (Matt. 10:17).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:25 beaten with rods. Refers to Roman beatings with flexible sticks tied together (cf. Acts 16:22–23). Once I was stoned. At Lystra (Acts 14:19–20). Three times I was shipwrecked. Not including the shipwreck on his journey as a prisoner to Rome (Acts 27), which had not yet taken place. Paul had been on several sea voyages up to this time (cf. Acts 9:30; 11:25–26; 13:4, 13; 14:25–26; 16:11; 17:14–15; 18:18, 21), giving ample opportunity for the three shipwrecks to have occurred. a night and a day I was adrift at sea. At least one of the shipwrecks was so severe that Paul spent an entire day floating on the wreckage, waiting to be rescued.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:26–27 in danger. Those connected with his frequent travels. “Rivers” and “robbers” posed a serious danger to travelers in the ancient world. Paul’s journey from Perga to Pisidian Antioch (Acts 13:14), for example, required him to travel through the robber-infested Taurus Mountains, and to cross two dangerous, flood-prone rivers. Paul was frequently in danger from his “own people” (Acts 9:23, 29; 13:45; 14:2, 19; 17:5; 18:6, 12– 16; 20:3, 19; 21:27–32) and, less often, from “Gentiles” (Acts 16:16–40; 19:23–20:1).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:26 false brothers. Those who appeared to be Christians, but were not, such as the false apostles (v. 13) and the Judaizers (Gal. 2:4).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:28–29 Far worse than the occasional physical suffering Paul endured was the constant, daily burden of concern for the churches that he felt. Those who were “weak” (cf. Rom. 14; 1 Cor. 8) in faith, or were “made to fall” caused him intense emotional pain. Cf. 1 Thess. 5:14.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:30 I will boast . . . my weakness. To do so magnified God’s power at work in him (cf. 4:7; Col. 1:29; 2 Tim. 2:20–21).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:31 Realizing how incredible the list of his sufferings must have seemed, Paul called on God to witness that he was telling the truth (cf. v. 10; 1:23; Rom. 1:9; 9:1; Gal. 1:20; 1 Thess. 2:5, 10; 1 Tim. 2:7)—that these things really happened.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 11:32–33 Paul related his humiliating escape from Damascus (cf. Acts 9:23–25) as the crowning example of the weakness and infirmity in which he boasted (2 Cor. 11:30). The Acts narrative names the hostile Jews as those who sought Paul’s life, whereas Paul here mentioned the governor under the Nabatean Arab king Aretas (9 B.C.–A.D. 40) as the one who sought him. Evidently the Jews stirred up the secular authorities against him, as they were later to do repeatedly in Acts (cf. Acts 13:50; 14:2; 17:13).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:1–7 Paul continued, reluctantly, with his boasting (see note on 11:1). Though it was not profitable, since it could tempt his own flesh to be proud, the Corinthians’ fascination with the alleged visions and revelations of the false apostles left him little choice (12:11).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:1 visions and revelations. Six of Paul’s visions are recorded in Acts (9:12; 16:9–10; 18:9; 22:17–18; 23:11; 27:23–24), and his letters speak of revelations he had received (cf. Gal. 1:12; 2:2; Eph. 3:3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:2–4 Since it took place 14 years before the writing of 2 Corinthians, the specific vision Paul relates cannot be identified with any incident recorded in Acts. It probably took place between his return to Tarsus from Jerusalem (Acts 9:30) and the start of his missionary journeys (Acts 13:1–3). caught up to the third heaven . . . caught up into paradise. Paul was not describing two separate visions; “the third heaven” and “paradise” are the same place (cf. Rev. 2:7, which says the tree of life is in paradise, with Rev. 22:14, which says it is in the city). The first heaven is the earth’s atmosphere (Gen. 8:2; Deut. 11:11; 1 Kings 8:35); the second is interplanetary and interstellar space (Gen. 15:5; Ps. 8:3; Isa. 13:10); and the third is the abode of God (1 Kings 8:30; 2 Chron. 30:27; Ps. 123:1).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:2 a man in Christ. Though Paul’s reluctance to boast caused him to refer to himself in the third person, the context makes it obvious that he was speaking about himself; relating the experience of another man would hardly have enhanced Paul’s apostolic credentials. Also, Paul’s thorn in the flesh afflicted him, not someone else (v. 7).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:2–3 whether in . . . or out of the body. Paul was so overwhelmed by his heavenly vision that he did not know the precise details. However, whether he was caught up bodily into heaven (like Enoch, Gen. 5:24 and Elijah, 2 Kings 2:11), or his spirit was temporarily separated from his body, was not important.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:4 things that cannot be told, which man may not utter. Because the words were for him alone, Paul was forbidden to repeat them, even if he could have expressed them coherently.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:5 On behalf of this man I will boast. See note on v. 2.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:6 If Paul wished to boast about his unique experience (vv. 1–4) he would not be a fool, because it really happened. He refrained from boasting about it, however, because he wanted the Corinthians to judge him based on their observations of his ministry, not on his visions.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:7 the revelations. See note on v. 1. a thorn was given me in the flesh, a messenger of Satan. This was sent to him by God, to keep him humble. As with Job, Satan was the immediate cause, but God was the ultimate cause. Paul’s use of the word “messenger” (Greek, angelos, or angel) from Satan suggests the “thorn in the flesh” (lit., “a stake for the flesh”) was a demonized person, not a physical illness. Of the 175 uses of the Greek word

angelos in the NT, most are in reference to angels. This angel was from Satan, a demon afflicting Paul. Possibly, the best explanation for this demon was that he was indwelling the ring leader of the Corinthian conspiracy, the leader of the false apostles. Through them he was tearing up Paul's beloved church and thus driving a painful stake through Paul. Further support for this view comes from the context of chs. 10–13, which is one of fighting adversaries (the false prophets). The verb translated “harass” always refers to ill treatment from other people (Matt. 26:67; Mark 14:65; 1 Cor. 4:11; 1 Pet. 2:20). Finally, the OT describes Israel's personal opponents as thorns (Num. 33:55; Josh. 23:13; Judg. 2:3; Ezek. 28:24). to keep me from becoming conceited. The assault was painful, but purposeful. God was allowing Satan to bring this severe trouble in the church for the purpose of humbling Paul who, having had so many revelations, including a trip to heaven and back, would have been proud. The demonized false apostle attacking his work in Corinth was the stake being driven through his otherwise proud flesh.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:8 Three times I pleaded. Paul, longing for relief from this painful hindrance to his ministry, went to his Lord, begging him (the use of the definite article with “Lord” shows Paul's prayer was directed to Jesus) to remove it. The demons are only subject to his authority. The threefold repetition of Paul's request parallels that of Jesus in Gethsemane (Mark 14:32–41). Both Paul and Jesus had their requests denied, but were granted grace to endure their ordeals.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:9 My grace is sufficient for you. The present tense of the verb translated “is sufficient” reveals the constant availability of divine grace. God would not remove the thorn, as Paul had requested, but would continually supply him with grace to endure it (cf. 1 Cor. 15:10; Phil. 4:13; Col. 1:29). power is made perfect in weakness. Cf. 2 Cor. 4:7–11. The weaker the human instrument, the more clearly God's grace shines forth.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:9–10 Paul took no pleasure in the pain itself, but rejoiced in the power of Christ that it revealed through him.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:11 been a fool! See notes on 11:1, 16; cf. 11:17, 21, 23. You forced me. See note on 11:1. super-apostles. See note on 11:5.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:12 The signs of a true apostle. Including, but not limited to, “signs and wonders and mighty works” (the miracle of the Corinthians' salvation was also a mark of Paul's apostleship, 1 Cor. 9:2). The purpose of miraculous signs was to authenticate the apostles as God's messengers (cf. Acts 2:22, 43; 4:30; 5:12; 14:3; Rom. 15:18–19; Heb. 2:3–4).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:13 Paul had not slighted the Corinthians except by refusing to be a burden (see note on 11:7). With a touch of irony, he begged their forgiveness for that “wrong.”

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:14 for the third time. The first was the visit recorded in Acts 18; the second was the “painful visit” (2 Cor. 2:1; see Introduction: Background and Setting). not be a burden. On his upcoming visit, Paul wished to continue his practice of refusing to accept support from the Corinthians. I seek not what is yours but you. Paul sought the Corinthians (cf. 6:11–13; 7:2–3), not their money. children . . . parents . . . parents . . . children. To reinforce his point, Paul cited the axiomatic truth that parents are financially responsible for their children, not children (when they are young, cf. 1 Tim. 5:4) for their parents.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:15 Far from seeking to take from the Corinthians, Paul sought to give. The verb translated “spend” refers to spending money, and probably describes Paul's willingness to work to support himself while in Corinth (Acts 18:3). “Be spent” describes Paul's willingness to give of himself—even to the point of sacrificing his life.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:16–18 Although it was obvious to all that Paul had not personally taken advantage of the Corinthians, his opponents circulated an even more vicious rumor—that he was using craftiness and cunning to deceive the Corinthians (cf. 4:2). Specifically, the false apostles accused Paul of sending his assistants to collect the Jerusalem offering from the Corinthians while intending to keep some of it for himself. Thus, according to his opponents, Paul was both a deceitful hypocrite (because he really did take money from the Corinthians after all, despite his words in 12:14–15) and a thief. This charge was all the more painful to Paul because it impugned the character of his friends. Outraged that the Corinthians could believe such ridiculous lies, Paul pointed out that his associates did not take advantage of the Corinthians during their earlier visits regarding the collection (8:6, 16–22). The simple truth was that neither Paul nor his representatives had in any way defrauded the Corinthians.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:19 Lest the Corinthians view themselves as judges before whom Paul was on trial, the apostle quickly set them straight: only God was his judge (cf. 5:10; 1 Cor. 4:3–5). Paul sought to edify the Corinthians, not exonerate himself.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 12:21 When he visited them, Paul did not want to find the Corinthians in the same sorry spiritual condition as on his last visit (the “painful visit,” 2:1; see Introduction: Background and Setting). If he found that they were not what he wished (i.e., still practicing the sins he listed), they would find him not as they wished—he would have had to discipline them (cf. 13:2). To find the Corinthians still living in unrepentant sin would both humiliate and sadden Paul. This warning (and the one in 13:2) was designed to prevent that from happening.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:1 the third time. See note on 12:14. two or three witnesses. Not a reference to Paul’s three visits to Corinth, since he could be only one witness no matter how many visits he made. Paul informed the Corinthians that he would deal biblically (cf. Deut. 19:15; Matt. 18:16; John 8:17; Heb. 10:28) with any sin he found in Corinth.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:2 I will not spare. See note on 12:21.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:3 proof that Christ is speaking in me. Those Corinthians still seeking proof that Paul was a genuine apostle would have it when he arrived. They may have gotten more than they bargained for, however, for Paul was going to use his apostolic authority and power to deal with any sin and rebellion he found there (v. 2; see note on 12:21). is not weak. Christ’s power was to be revealed through Paul against the sinning Corinthians (cf. 1 Cor. 11:30–32). By rebelling against Christ’s chosen apostle (1 Cor. 1:1), they were rebelling against him.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:4 Paul was to come to Corinth armed with the irresistible power of the risen, glorified Christ (cf. Phil. 3:10).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:5–6 The Greek grammar places great emphasis on the pronouns “yourselves” and “you.” Paul turned the tables on his accusers; instead of presuming to evaluate his apostleship, they needed to test the genuineness of their faith (cf. James 2:14–26). He pointed out the incongruity of the Corinthians’ believing (as they did) that their faith was genuine and his apostleship false. Paul was their spiritual father (1 Cor. 4:15); if his apostleship was counterfeit, so was their faith. The genuineness of their salvation was proof of the genuineness of his apostleship.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:5 fail to meet the test. Lit., “not approved.” Here it referred to the absence of genuine saving faith.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:7 do what is right. Paul’s deepest longing was for his spiritual children to lead godly lives (cf. 7:1)—even if they persisted in doubting him. Paul was even willing to appear “to have failed,” as long as the Corinthians turned from their sin (cf. Rom. 9:3).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:8–9 Lest anyone think his reference to failing (v. 7) was an admission of wrongdoing on his part, Paul hastened to add that he had not violated “the truth” of the gospel. The apostle may also have meant that he needed to take no action against the Corinthians if he found them living according to “the truth.” In that case, he would rejoice in his “weakness” (that is, his lack of opportunity to exercise his apostolic power), because that would mean that the Corinthians were spiritually “strong.”

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:10 A one-sentence summary of Paul’s purpose in writing this letter.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:11 Paul’s concluding exhortations expressed the attitudes he prayed (v. 9) would characterize the Corinthians. the God of love and peace will be with you. An encouragement to the Corinthians to carry out the exhortations in the first part of the verse. Only here in the NT is God called “the God of love” (cf. 1 John 4:8).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:12 a holy kiss. A sign of greeting in biblical times (Matt. 26:49; Luke 7:45), much like the modern handshake. For Christians, it further expressed brotherly love and unity (Rom. 16:16; 1 Cor. 16:20; 1 Thess. 5:26; 1 Pet. 5:14).

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:13 All the saints. Those in Macedonia (possibly Philippi; see Introduction: Background and Setting), from where Paul wrote 2 Corinthians. While encouraging unity within the Corinthian church, Paul did not want the Corinthians to lose sight of their unity with other churches.

2 CORINTHIANS—NOTE ON 13:14 The Trinitarian benediction reminded the Corinthians of the blessings they had received: “grace” from the Lord Jesus Christ (cf. 8:9), “love” from God the Father (cf. 13:11), and “fellowship” with God and one another through the Holy Spirit (cf. 1:22; 5:5). Jesus was mentioned before the Father because his sacrificial death is the ultimate expression of God’s love.

Introduction to Galatians

Title

Galatians derives its title (pros Galatas) from the region in Asia Minor (modern Turkey) where the churches addressed were located. It is the only one of Paul's epistles specifically addressed to churches in more than one city (1:2; cf. 3:1; 1 Cor. 16:1).

Author and Date

There is no reason to question the internal claims that the apostle Paul wrote Galatians (Gal. 1:1; 5:2). Paul was born in Tarsus, a city in the province of Cilicia, not far from Galatia. Under the famous rabbi, Gamaliel, Paul received a thorough training in the OT Scriptures and in the rabbinic traditions at Jerusalem (Acts 22:3). A member of the ultra-orthodox sect of the Pharisees (Acts 23:6), he was one of first-century Judaism's rising stars (Gal. 1:14; cf. Phil. 3:5–6).

The course of Paul's life took a sudden and startling turn when, on his way to Damascus from Jerusalem to persecute Christians, he was confronted by the risen, glorified Christ (see notes on Acts 9). That dramatic encounter turned Paul from Christianity's chief persecutor to its greatest missionary. His three missionary journeys and trip to Rome turned Christianity from a faith that included only a small group of Palestinian Jewish believers into an empire-wide phenomenon. Galatians is one of 13 inspired letters he addressed to Gentile congregations or his fellow workers. For further biographical information on Paul, see Introduction to Romans: Author and Date.

In ch. 2, Paul described his visit to the Jerusalem Council of Acts 15 (see note on Gal. 2:1), so he must have written Galatians after that event. Since most scholars date the Jerusalem Council about A.D. 49, the most likely date for Galatians is shortly thereafter.

Background and Setting

In Paul's day, the word Galatia had two distinct meanings. In a strict ethnic sense, Galatia was the region of central Asia Minor inhabited by the Galatians. They were a Celtic people who had migrated to that region from Gaul (modern France) in the third century B.C. The Romans conquered the Galatians in 189 B.C. but allowed them to have some measure of independence until 25 B.C. when Galatia became a Roman province, incorporating some regions not inhabited by ethnic Galatians (e.g., parts of Lycaonia, Phrygia, and Pisidia). In a political sense, Galatia came to describe the entire Roman province, not merely the region inhabited by the ethnic Galatians.

Paul founded churches in the southern Galatian cities of Antioch, Iconium, Lystra, and Derbe (Acts 13:14–14:23). These cities, although within the Roman province of Galatia, were not in the ethnic Galatian region. There is no record of Paul's founding churches in that northern, less populated region.

Those two uses of the word Galatia make it more difficult to determine who the original recipients of the epistle were. Some interpret Galatia in its strict racial sense and argue that Paul addressed this epistle to churches in the northern Galatian region, inhabited by the ethnic descendants of the Gauls. Although the apostle apparently crossed the border into the fringes of ethnic Galatia on at least two occasions (Acts 16:6; 18:23), Acts does not record that he founded any churches or engaged in any evangelistic ministry there.

Because neither Acts nor Galatians mentions any cities or people from northern (ethnic) Galatia, it is reasonable to believe that Paul addressed this epistle to churches located in the southern part of the Roman province, but outside of the ethnic Galatian region. Acts records the apostle's founding of such churches at Pisidian Antioch (Acts 13:14–50), Iconium (13:51–14:7; cf. 16:2), Lystra (14:8–19; cf. 16:2), and Derbe (14:20–21; cf. 16:1). In addition, the churches Paul addressed had apparently been established before the Jerusalem Council (Gal. 2:5), and the churches of southern Galatia fit that criterion, having been founded during Paul's first missionary journey before the Council met. Paul did not visit northern (ethnic) Galatia until after the Jerusalem Council (Acts 16:6).

Paul wrote Galatians to counter Judaizing false teachers who were undermining the central NT doctrine of justification by faith (see note on Rom. 3:31). Ignoring the express decree of the Jerusalem Council (Acts 15:23–29), they spread their dangerous teaching that Gentiles must first become Jewish proselytes and submit to all the Mosaic law before they could become Christians (see Gal. 1:7; 4:17, 21; 5:2–12; 6:12–13). Shocked by the Galatians' openness to that damning heresy (cf. 1:6), Paul wrote this letter to defend justification by faith and warn these churches of the dire consequences of abandoning that essential doctrine. Galatians is the only epistle Paul wrote that does not contain a commendation for its readers—that obvious omission reflects how urgently he felt about confronting the defection and defending the essential doctrine of justification.

Historical and Theological Themes

Galatians provides valuable historical information about Paul's background (chs. 1–2), including his three-year stay in Nabatean Arabia (1:17–18), which Acts does not mention; his 15-day visit with Peter after his stay in Arabia (1:18–19); his trip to the Jerusalem Council (2:1–10); and his confrontation of Peter (2:11–21).

As already noted, the central theme of Galatians (like that of Romans) is justification by faith. Paul defends that doctrine (which is the heart of the gospel) both in its theological (Gal. 3–4) and practical (chs. 5–6) ramifications. He also defends his position as an apostle (chs. 1–2) since, as in Corinth, false teachers had attempted to gain a hearing for their heretical teaching by undermining Paul's credibility. The main theological themes of Galatians are strikingly similar to those of Romans, e.g., the inability of the law to justify (2:16; cf. Rom. 3:20); the believer's deadness to the law (Gal. 2:19; cf. Rom. 7:4); the believer's crucifixion with Christ (Gal. 2:20; cf. Rom. 6:6); Abraham's justification by faith (Gal. 3:6; cf. Rom. 4:3); that believers are Abraham's spiritual children (Gal. 3:7; cf. Rom. 4:10–11) and therefore blessed (Gal. 3:9; cf. Rom. 4:23–24); that the law brings not salvation but God's wrath (Gal. 3:10; cf. Rom. 4:15); that the just shall live by faith (Gal. 3:11; cf. Rom. 1:17); the universality of sin (Gal. 3:22; cf. Rom. 11:32); that believers are spiritually baptized into Christ (Gal. 3:27; cf. Rom. 6:3); believers' adoption as God's spiritual children (Gal. 4:5–7; cf. Rom. 8:14–17); that love fulfills the law (Gal. 5:14; cf. Rom. 13:8–10); the importance of walking in the Spirit (Gal. 5:16; cf. Rom. 8:4); the warfare of the flesh against the Spirit (Gal. 5:17; cf. Rom. 7:23, 25); and the importance of believers bearing one another's burdens (Gal. 6:2; cf. Rom. 15:1).

Interpretive Challenges

First, Paul described a visit to Jerusalem and a subsequent meeting with Peter,

James, and John (Gal. 2:1–10). There is a question to be resolved in that text, as to whether that was his visit to the Jerusalem Council (Acts 15), or his earlier visit bringing famine relief to the Jerusalem church (Acts 11:27–30). Second, those who teach baptismal regeneration (the false doctrine that baptism is necessary for salvation) support their view from Gal. 3:27. Third, others have used this epistle to support their attacks on the biblical roles of men and women, claiming that the spiritual equality taught in 3:28 is incompatible with the traditional concept of authority and submission. Fourth, those who reject the doctrine of eternal security argue that the phrase “you have fallen away from grace” (5:4) describes believers who lost their salvation. Fifth, there is disagreement whether Paul’s statement “see with what large letters I am writing to you with my own hand” (6:11) refers to the entire letter, or merely the concluding verses. Finally, many claim that Paul erased the line between Israel and the church when he identified the church as the “Israel of God” (6:16). Those challenges will be addressed in the notes to the appropriate passages.

Galatians

Greeting

GALATIANS 1 †Paul, an apostle—not from men nor through man, but through Jesus Christ and God the Father, who raised him from the dead—<sup>2</sup>†and all the brothers [\[1\]](#) who are with me, To the churches of Galatia: <sup>3</sup>††Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ, <sup>4</sup>†who gave himself for our sins to deliver us from the present evil age, according to the will of our God and Father, <sup>5</sup>to whom be the glory forever and ever. Amen.

No Other Gospel

<sup>6</sup>†I am astonished that you are so quickly deserting him who called you in the grace of Christ and are turning to a different gospel—<sup>7</sup>†not that there is another one, but there are some who trouble you and want to distort the gospel of Christ. <sup>8</sup>††But even if we or an angel from heaven should preach to you a gospel contrary to the one we preached to you, let him be accursed. <sup>9</sup>†As we have said before, so now I say again: If anyone is preaching to you a gospel contrary to the one you received, let him be accursed.

<sup>10</sup>††For am I now seeking the approval of man, or of God? Or am I trying to please man? If I were still trying to please man, I would not be a servant [\[2\]](#) of Christ.

Paul Called by God

<sup>11</sup>†For I would have you know, brothers, that the gospel that was preached by me is not man's gospel. [\[3\]](#) <sup>12</sup>†For I did not receive it from any man, nor was I taught it, but I received it through a revelation of Jesus Christ. <sup>13</sup>††For you have heard of my former life in Judaism, how I persecuted the church of God violently and tried to destroy it. <sup>14</sup>†And I was advancing in Judaism beyond many of my own age among my people, so extremely zealous was I for the traditions of my fathers. <sup>15</sup>†But when he who had set me apart before I was born, [\[4\]](#) and who called me by his grace, <sup>16</sup>†was pleased to reveal his Son to [\[5\]](#) me, in order that I might preach him among the Gentiles, I did not immediately consult with anyone; [6] <sup>17</sup>†nor did I go up to Jerusalem to those who were apostles before me, but I went away into Arabia, and returned again to Damascus.

<sup>18</sup>†Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to visit Cephas and remained with him fifteen days. <sup>19</sup>†But I saw none of the other apostles except James the Lord's brother. <sup>20</sup>†(In what I am writing to you, before God, I do not lie!) <sup>21</sup>†Then I went into the regions of Syria and Cilicia. <sup>22</sup>†And I was still unknown in person to the churches of Judea that are in Christ. <sup>23</sup>†They only were hearing it said, “He who used to persecute us is now preaching the faith he once tried to destroy.” <sup>24</sup>†And they glorified God because of me.

Paul Accepted by the Apostles

GALATIANS 2 †† Then after fourteen years I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, taking Titus along with me. † I went up because of a revelation and set before them (though privately before those who seemed influential) the gospel that I proclaim among the Gentiles, in order to make sure I was not running or had not run in vain. † But even Titus, who was with me, was not forced to be circumcised, though he was a Greek. † Yet because of false brothers secretly brought in—who slipped in to spy out our freedom that we have in Christ Jesus, so that they might bring us into slavery— † to them we did not yield in submission even for a moment, so that the truth of the gospel might be preserved for you. † And from those who seemed to be influential (what they were makes no difference to me; God shows no partiality)—those, I say, who seemed influential added nothing to me. † On the contrary, when they saw that I had been entrusted with the gospel to the uncircumcised, just as Peter had been entrusted with the gospel to the circumcised † (for he who worked through Peter for his apostolic ministry to the circumcised worked also through me for mine to the Gentiles), † and when James and Cephas and John, who seemed to be pillars, perceived the grace that was given to me, they gave the right hand of fellowship to Barnabas and me, that we should go to the Gentiles and they to the circumcised. † Only, they asked us to remember the poor, the very thing I was eager to do.

Paul Opposes Peter

†† But when Cephas came to Antioch, I opposed him to his face, because he stood condemned. † For before certain men came from James, he was eating with the Gentiles; but when they came he drew back and separated himself, fearing the circumcision party. † And the rest of the Jews acted hypocritically along with him, so that even Barnabas was led astray by their hypocrisy. † But when I saw that their conduct was not in step with the truth of the gospel, I said to Cephas before them all, “If you, though a Jew, live like a Gentile and not like a Jew, how can you force the Gentiles to live like Jews?”

Justified by Faith

†† We ourselves are Jews by birth and not Gentile sinners; † yet we know that a person is not justified [1] by works of the law but through faith in Jesus Christ, so we also have believed in Christ Jesus, in order to be justified by faith in Christ and not by works of the law, because by works of the law no one will be justified.

<sup>17</sup>† But if, in our endeavor to be justified in Christ, we too were found to be sinners, is Christ then a servant of sin? Certainly not! <sup>18</sup>† For if I rebuild what I tore down, I prove myself to be a transgressor. <sup>19</sup>† For through the law I died to the law, so that I might live to God. <sup>20</sup>† I have been crucified with Christ. It is no longer I who live, but Christ who lives in me. And the life I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me. <sup>21</sup>† I do not nullify the grace of God, for if righteousness [2] were through the law, then Christ died for no purpose.

By Faith, or by Works of the Law?

GALATIANS 3 †O foolish Galatians! Who has bewitched you? It was before your eyes that Jesus Christ was publicly portrayed as crucified. †Let me ask you only this: Did you receive the Spirit by works of the law or by hearing with faith? †Are you so foolish? Having begun by the Spirit, are you now being perfected by [1] the flesh? †Did you suffer [2] so many things in vain—if indeed it was in vain? †Does he who supplies the Spirit to you and works miracles among you do so by works of the law, or by hearing with faith— †just as Abraham “believed God, and it was counted to him as righteousness”?

†Know then that it is those of faith who are the sons of Abraham. †And the Scripture, foreseeing that God would justify [3] the Gentiles by faith, preached the gospel beforehand to Abraham, saying, “In you shall all the nations be blessed.” †So then, those who are of faith are blessed along with Abraham, the man of faith.

The Righteous Shall Live by Faith

†For all who rely on works of the law are under a curse; for it is written, “Cursed be everyone who does not abide by all things written in the Book of the Law, and do them.” †Now it is evident that no one is justified before God by the law, for “The righteous shall live by faith.” [4] †But the law is not of faith, rather “The one who does them shall live by them.” †Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us—for it is written, “Cursed is everyone who is hanged on a tree”— †so that in Christ Jesus the blessing of Abraham might come to the Gentiles, so that we might receive the promised Spirit [5] through faith.

The Law and the Promise

††To give a human example, brothers: [6] even with a man-made covenant, no one annuls it or adds to it once it has been ratified. †Now the promises were made to Abraham and to his offspring. It does not say, “And to offsprings,” referring to many, but referring to one, “And to your offspring,” who is Christ. †This is what I mean: the law, which came 430 years afterward, does not annul a covenant previously ratified by God, so as to make the promise void. †For if the inheritance comes by the law, it no longer comes by promise; but God gave it to Abraham by a promise.

<sup>19</sup>‡‡ Why then the law? It was added because of transgressions, until the offspring should come to whom the promise had been made, and it was put in place through angels by an intermediary. <sup>20</sup>‡‡ Now an intermediary implies more than one, but God is one.

<sup>21</sup>‡‡ Is the law then contrary to the promises of God? Certainly not! For if a law had been given that could give life, then righteousness would indeed be by the law. <sup>22</sup>‡‡ But the Scripture imprisoned everything under sin, so that the promise by faith in Jesus Christ might be given to those who believe.

<sup>23</sup>‡‡ Now before faith came, we were held captive under the law, imprisoned until the coming faith would be revealed. <sup>24</sup>‡‡ So then, the law was our guardian until Christ came, in order that we might be justified by faith. <sup>25</sup>‡‡ But now that faith has come, we are no longer under a guardian, <sup>26</sup>‡‡ for in Christ Jesus you are all sons of God, through faith. <sup>27</sup>‡‡ For as many of you as were baptized into Christ have put on Christ. <sup>28</sup>‡‡ There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave [7] nor free, there is no male and female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus. <sup>29</sup>‡‡ And if you are Christ's, then you are Abraham's offspring, heirs according to promise.

Sons and Heirs

GALATIANS 4 ††I mean that the heir, as long as he is a child, is no different from a slave, [\[1\]](#) though he is the owner of everything, †but he is under guardians and managers until the date set by his father. †In the same way we also, when we were children, were enslaved to the elementary principles [\[2\]](#) of the world. †But when the fullness of time had come, God sent forth his Son, born of woman, born under the law, †to redeem those who were under the law, so that we might receive adoption as sons. †And because you are sons, God has sent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, crying, “Abba! Father!” †So you are no longer a slave, but a son, and if a son, then an heir through God.

Paul's Concern for the Galatians

††Formerly, when you did not know God, you were enslaved to those that by nature are not gods. †But now that you have come to know God, or rather to be known by God, how can you turn back again to the weak and worthless elementary principles of the world, whose slaves you want to be once more? †You observe days and months and seasons and years! †I am afraid I may have labored over you in vain.

††Brothers, [\[3\]](#) I entreat you, become as I am, for I also have become as you are. You did me no wrong. †You know it was because of a bodily ailment that I preached the gospel to you at first, †and though my condition was a trial to you, you did not scorn or despise me, but received me as an angel of God, as Christ Jesus. †What then has become of the blessing you felt? For I testify to you that, if possible, you would have gouged out your eyes and given them to me. †Have I then become your enemy by telling you the truth? [\[4\]](#) †They make much of you, but for no good purpose. They want to shut you out, that you may make much of them. †It is always good to be made much of for a good purpose, and not only when I am present with you, †my little children, for whom I am again in the anguish of childbirth until Christ is formed in you! †I wish I could be present with you now and change my tone, for I am perplexed about you.

Example of Hagar and Sarah

††Tell me, you who desire to be under the law, do you not listen to the law?

<sup>22</sup>†For it is written that Abraham had two sons, one by a slave woman and one by a free woman. <sup>23</sup>†But the son of the slave was born according to the flesh, while the son of the free woman was born through promise. <sup>24</sup>†Now this may be interpreted allegorically: these women are two covenants. One is from Mount Sinai, bearing children for slavery; she is Hagar. <sup>25</sup>†Now Hagar is Mount Sinai in Arabia; [5] she corresponds to the present Jerusalem, for she is in slavery with her children. <sup>26</sup>†But the Jerusalem above is free, and she is our mother. <sup>27</sup>†For it is written, “Rejoice, O barren one who does not bear; break forth and cry aloud, you who are not in labor!

For the children of the desolate one will be more than those of the one who has a husband.”

<sup>28</sup>†Now you, [6] brothers, like Isaac, are children of promise. <sup>29</sup>†But just as at that time he who was born according to the flesh persecuted him who was born according to the Spirit, so also it is now. <sup>30</sup>†But what does the Scripture say? “Cast out the slave woman and her son, for the son of the slave woman shall not inherit with the son of the free woman.” <sup>31</sup>†So, brothers, we are not children of the slave but of the free woman.

Christ Has Set Us Free

GALATIANS 5 † For freedom Christ has set us free; stand firm therefore, and do not submit again to a yoke of slavery.

† Look: I, Paul, say to you that if you accept circumcision, Christ will be of no advantage to you. † I testify again to every man who accepts circumcision that he is obligated to keep the whole law. † You are severed from Christ, you who would be justified [1] by the law; you have fallen away from grace. † For through the Spirit, by faith, we ourselves eagerly wait for the hope of righteousness. † For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision counts for anything, but only faith working through love.

† You were running well. Who hindered you from obeying the truth? † This persuasion is not from him who calls you. † A little leaven leavens the whole lump. † I have confidence in the Lord that you will take no other view than mine, and the one who is troubling you will bear the penalty, whoever he is. † But if I, brothers, [2] still preach [3] circumcision, why am I still being persecuted? In that case the offense of the cross has been removed. † I wish those who unsettle you would emasculate themselves!

† For you were called to freedom, brothers. Only do not use your freedom as an opportunity for the flesh, but through love serve one another. † For the whole law is fulfilled in one word: “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” † But if you bite and devour one another, watch out that you are not consumed by one another.

Walk by the Spirit

† But I say, walk by the Spirit, and you will not gratify the desires of the flesh. † For the desires of the flesh are against the Spirit, and the desires of the Spirit are against the flesh, for these are opposed to each other, to keep you from doing the things you want to do. † But if you are led by the Spirit, you are not under the law. † Now the works of the flesh are evident: sexual immorality, impurity, sensuality, † idolatry, sorcery, enmity, strife, jealousy, fits of anger, rivalries, dissensions, divisions, † envy, [4] drunkenness, orgies, and things like these. I warn you, as I warned you before, that those who do such things will not inherit the kingdom of God. † But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, <sup>23</sup>†gentleness, self-control; against such things there is no law. <sup>24</sup>†And those who belong to Christ Jesus have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires.

<sup>25</sup>†If we live by the Spirit, let us also walk by the Spirit. <sup>26</sup>Let us not become conceited, provoking one another, envying one another.

Bear One Another's Burdens

GALATIANS 6 †Brothers, [1] if anyone is caught in any transgression, you who are spiritual should restore him in a spirit of gentleness. Keep watch on yourself, lest you too be tempted. †Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. †For if anyone thinks he is something, when he is nothing, he deceives himself. †But let each one test his own work, and then his reason to boast will be in himself alone and not in his neighbor. †For each will have to bear his own load.

†One who is taught the word must share all good things with the one who teaches. †Do not be deceived: God is not mocked, for whatever one sows, that will he also reap. †For the one who sows to his own flesh will from the flesh reap corruption, but the one who sows to the Spirit will from the Spirit reap eternal life. †And let us not grow weary of doing good, for in due season we will reap, if we do not give up. †So then, as we have opportunity, let us do good to everyone, and especially to those who are of the household of faith.

Final Warning and Benediction

††See with what large letters I am writing to you with my own hand. †It is those who want to make a good showing in the flesh who would force you to be circumcised, and only in order that they may not be persecuted for the cross of Christ. †For even those who are circumcised do not themselves keep the law, but they desire to have you circumcised that they may boast in your flesh. †But far be it from me to boast except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by which [2] the world has been crucified to me, and I to the world. †For neither circumcision counts for anything, nor uncircumcision, but a new creation. †And as for all who walk by this rule, peace and mercy be upon them, and upon the Israel of God.

†From now on let no one cause me trouble, for I bear on my body the marks of Jesus.

†The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, brothers. Amen.

Study Notes

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:1 Paul. See Introduction to Romans: Author and Date; see note on Acts 9:1. apostle. In general terms, it means “one who is sent with a commission.” The apostles of Jesus Christ—the Twelve and Paul—were special ambassadors or messengers chosen and trained by Christ to lay the foundation of the early church and be the channels of God’s completed revelation (see note on Rom. 1:1; cf. Acts 1:2; 2:42; Eph. 2:20). not from men . . . but through Jesus Christ. To defend his apostleship against the false teachers’ attack, Paul emphasized that Christ himself appointed him as an apostle before he met the other apostles (cf. Gal. 1:17–18; Acts 9:3–9). raised him from the dead. See notes on Rom. 1:4. Paul included this important fact to show that the risen and ascended Christ himself appointed him (see notes on Acts 9:1–3, 15), thus Paul was a qualified witness of his resurrection (cf. Acts 1:22).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:2 churches of Galatia. The churches Paul founded at Antioch of Pisidia, Iconium, Lystra, and Derbe during his first missionary journey (Acts 13:14–14:23; see Introduction: Background and Setting).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:3–5 Paul’s deep concern over the churches’ defection from the gospel is evident from his greeting, which lacks his customary commendations and courtesies, and is instead brief and impersonal.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:3 Grace to you and peace. See note on Rom. 1:1. Even Paul’s typical greeting attacked the Judaizers’ legalistic system. If salvation is by works as they claimed, it is not of “grace” and cannot result in “peace,” since no one can be sure he has enough good works to be eternally secure.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:4 for our sins. No one can avoid sin by human effort or law-keeping (Rom. 3:20); therefore it must be forgiven, which Christ accomplished through his atoning death on the cross (Gal. 3:13; see notes on 2 Cor. 5:19–21; 1 Pet. 2:24). present evil age. The Greek word for “age” does not refer to a period of time but an order or system, and in particular to the current world system ruled by Satan (see notes on Rom. 12:2; 1 John 2:15–16; 5:19). the will of our God. The sacrifice of Christ for salvation was the will of God designed and fulfilled for his glory. Cf. Matt. 26:42; John 6:38–40; Acts 2:22–23; Rom. 8:3, 31–32; Eph. 1:7, 11; Heb. 10:4–10.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:6 so quickly. This Greek word can mean either “easily” or “quickly” and sometimes both. No doubt both senses characterized the Galatians’ response to the false teachers’ heretical doctrines. deserting. The Greek word was used of military desertion, which was punishable by death. The form of this Greek verb indicates that the Galatian believers were voluntarily deserting grace to pursue the legalism taught by the false teachers (see notes on 5:4). called you. This could be translated, “who called you once and for all” (cf. 2 Thess. 2:13–14; 2 Tim. 1:8–9; 1 Pet. 1:15), and refers to God’s effectual call to salvation (see note on Rom. 1:7). grace of Christ. God’s free and sovereign act of mercy in granting salvation through the death and resurrection of Christ, totally apart from any human work or merit (see note on Rom. 3:24). different gospel. Cf. 2 Cor. 11:4. The Judaizers’ perversion of the true gospel. They added the requirements, ceremonies, and standards of the Old Covenant as necessary prerequisites to salvation. See notes on Gal. 3:3; 4:9; 5:7; Phil. 3:2.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:7 trouble. The Greek word means “to shake back and forth,” meaning to agitate or stir up. Here, it refers to the deep emotional disturbance the Galatian believers experienced. distort. To turn something into its opposite. By adding law to the gospel of Christ, the false teachers were effectively destroying grace, turning the message of God’s undeserved favor toward sinners into a message of earned and merited favor. the gospel of Christ. The good news of salvation by grace alone through faith alone in Christ alone (see notes on Rom. 1:1; 1 Cor. 15:1–4).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:8–9 Throughout history God has devoted certain objects, individuals, and groups of people to destruction (Josh. 6:17–18; 7:1, 25–26). The NT offers many examples of one such group: false teachers (Matt. 24:24; John 8:44; 1 Tim. 1:20; Titus 1:16). Here the Judaizers are identified as members of this infamous company.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:8 we or an angel from heaven. Paul’s point is hypothetical, calling on the most unlikely examples for false teaching—himself and holy angels. The Galatians should receive no messenger, regardless of how impeccable his credentials, if his doctrine of salvation differs in the slightest degree from God’s truth revealed through Christ and the apostles. accursed. The translation of the familiar Greek word anathema, which refers to devoting someone to destruction in eternal hell (cf. Rom. 9:3; 1 Cor. 12:3; 16:22).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:9 As we have said before. This refers to what Paul taught during an earlier visit to these churches, not to a previous comment in this epistle. anyone. Paul turns from the hypothetical case of v. 8 (the apostle or heavenly angels preaching a false gospel) to the real situation faced by the Galatians. The Judaizers were doing just that, and were to be devoted to destruction because of their damning heresy.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:10–12 Because the false teachers sought to undermine Paul's spiritual credentials, he set out to defend his apostleship, explaining once again (cf. v. 1) that he was appointed by God and not by men.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:10 trying to please man? Paul's previous motivation when he used to persecute Christians on behalf of his fellow Jews. a servant of Christ. See note on Rom. 1:1. Paul had become a willing slave of Christ, which cost him a great deal of suffering from others (Gal. 6:17). Such personal sacrifice is exactly opposite the goal of pleasing men (6:12).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:11 would have you know. The strong Greek verb Paul used here often introduced an important and emphatic statement (1 Cor. 12:3; 2 Cor. 8:1). the gospel . . . not man's gospel. The gospel Paul preached was not human in origin or it would have been like all other human religion, permeated with works righteousness born of man's pride and Satan's deception (Rom. 1:16).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:12 not receive it from any man, nor was I taught it. In contrast to the Judaizers, who received their religious instruction from rabbinic tradition. Most Jews did not study the actual Scriptures; instead they used human interpretations of Scripture as their religious authority and guide. Many of their traditions not only were not taught in Scripture but also contradicted it (Mark 7:13). through a revelation. This refers to the unveiling of something previously kept secret—in this case, Jesus Christ. While he knew about Christ, Paul subsequently met him personally on the road to Damascus and received the truth of the gospel from him (Acts 9:1–16).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:13–2:21 Paul offers a brief biographical sketch of important events in his life to further defend his apostleship and prove the authenticity of the gospel of grace he proclaimed.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:13 Judaism. The Jewish religious system of works righteousness, based not primarily on the OT text, but on rabbinic interpretations and traditions. In fact, Paul will argue that a proper understanding of the OT can lead only to Christ and his gospel of grace through faith (3:6–29). persecuted. The tense of this Greek verb emphasizes Paul’s persistent and continual effort to hurt and ultimately exterminate Christians. See notes on Acts 8:1–3; 9:1; 1 Tim. 1:12–14.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:14 advancing . . . beyond. The Greek word for “advancing” means “to chop ahead,” much like one would blaze a trail through a forest. Paul blazed his path in Judaism (cf. Phil. 3:5–6), and because he saw Jewish Christians as obstacles to its advancement, he worked to cut them down. extremely zealous. Paul demonstrated this by the extent to which he pursued and persecuted Christians (cf. Acts 8:1–3; 26:11). traditions of my fathers. The oral teachings about OT law commonly known as the “Halakah.” This collection of interpretations of the law eventually carried the same authority as, or even greater than, the law (Torah) itself. Its regulations were so hopelessly complex and burdensome that even the most astute rabbinical scholars could not master it by either interpretation or conduct.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:15 set me apart before I was born. Paul is not talking about being born, separated physically from his mother, but being separated or set apart to God for service from the time of his birth. The phrase refers to God’s election of Paul without regard for his personal merit or effort (cf. Isa. 49:1; Jer. 1:5; Luke 1:13–17; Rom. 9:10–23). called me by his grace. This refers to God’s effectual call (see note on Rom. 1:7). On the Damascus Road God actually brought Saul, whom he had already chosen, to salvation.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:16 reveal his Son to me. Not only was Christ revealed to Paul on the Damascus Road, but in him as God gave him the life, light, and faith to believe in him. preach him among the Gentiles. Paul’s specific call to proclaim the gospel to non-Jews (see notes on Acts 9:15; 26:12–18; cf. Rom. 1:13–16; 11:13; 15:18). consult with anyone. Paul did not look to Ananias or other Christians at Damascus for clarification of or addition to the revelation he received from Christ (Acts 9:19–20).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:17 Jerusalem . . . Arabia . . . Damascus. Rather than immediately travel to Jerusalem to be instructed by the apostles, Paul instead went to Nabatean Arabia, a wilderness desert that stretched east of Damascus down to the Sinai peninsula. After being prepared for ministry by the Lord, he returned to minister in nearby Damascus.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:18 three years. The approximate time from Paul's conversion to his first journey to Jerusalem. During those years he made a visit to Damascus and resided in Arabia, under the instruction of the Lord. This Jerusalem visit is discussed in Acts 9:26–30 (see note on Acts 9:23). up to Jerusalem. Travelers in Israel always speak of going up to Jerusalem because of its higher elevation (see note on Acts 18:22). Cephas. See notes on Matt. 10:2; see Introduction to 1 Peter: Author and Date. The apostle Peter, who was the personal companion of the Lord and the most powerful spokesman in the early years of the Jerusalem church (Acts 1–12).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:19 James the Lord's brother. Cf. 2:9, 12; see note on Acts 15:13; see Introduction to James: Author and Date.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:20 The directness of this statement indicates that Paul had been accused by the Jewish legalists of being a liar, who was shameless or deluded.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:21 Syria and Cilicia. See note on Acts 15:23; cf. Acts 9:30. This area included his home town of Tarsus. He was preaching in that region for several years. When word of revival in that area reached Jerusalem, they sent Barnabas (see Acts 11:20–26). Paul stayed on in that region as a pastor in the church at Antioch. With Barnabas, they went from there on the first missionary journey (Acts 13:1–3), and afterward returned to Antioch (Acts 14:26) from where they were sent to the Jerusalem Council (Acts 14:26–15:4).

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:22 Judea. See note on Acts 1:8.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:23 Over the 14 years before the Jerusalem Council (see note on 2:1), Paul had come only twice to Jerusalem (Acts 9:26–30; 11:30) so the Christians there only knew him by reputation.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 1:24 they glorified God because of me. Proof that the gospel Paul preached was the same one the other apostles had taught the Judean believers.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 2:1–10 By recounting the details of his most significant trip to Jerusalem after his conversion, Paul offered convincing proof that the message he proclaimed was identical to that of the other 12 apostles.

GALATIANS—NOTE ON 2:1 fourteen years . . . again to Jerusalem. This was the
