The First Book Of Moses, Called Genesis.

In the beginning God created heaven and earth. The I, 2 earth was void and empty, and darkness was upon the deep, and the spirit of god moved upon the water.
Then God said: let there be light and there was light. 3
And God saw the light that it was good: and divided the light 4 from the darkness, and called the light day, and the darkness 5 night: and so of the evening and morning was made the first day. And God said: let there be a firmament between the wa- 6 ters, and let it divide the waters asunder. Then God made the 7 firmament and parted the waters which were under the firmament, from the waters that were above the firmament: And it was so. And God called the firmament heaven. And so of 8 the evening and morning was made the second day. And God 9 said, let the waters that are under heaven gather them selves unto one place, that the dry land may appear: And it came so to pass. And God called the dry land the earth and the 10 gathering together of waters called he the sea. And God saw that it was good. And God said: let the earth bring forth herb 11 and grass that sow seed, and fruitful trees that bear fruit every one in his kind, having their seed in themselves upon the earth. And it came so to pass: And the earth brought forth 12 herb and grass sowing seed every one in his kind and trees bearing fruit and having their seed in them selves, every one in his kind. And God saw that it was good: and then of the 13 evening and morning was made the third day. Then said God: 14 let there be lights in the firmament of heaven to divide the day from the night, that they may be unto signs, seasons, days and years. And let them be lights in the firmament of heaven, to 15 shine upon the earth: and so it was. And God made two great 16 lights: A greater light to rule the day, and a less light to rule the night, and he made stars also. And God put them in the 17 firmament of heaven to shine upon the earth, and to rule the 18 day and the night, and to divide the light from darkness. And God saw that it was good: and so of the evening and morning 19 was made the fourth day. And God said, let the water bring 20 forth creatures that move and have life, and fowls for to flee* 21 over the earth under the firmament of heaven. And God created great whales and all manner of creatures that live and move, which the waters brought forth in their kinds, and all manner of feathered fowls in their kinds. And God saw that 22 it was good: and God blessed them saying: Grow and multiply and fill the waters of the seas, and let the fowls multiply 23 upon the earth. And so of the evening and morning was made the fifth day. And God said: let the earth bring forth living 24 creatures in their kinds: cattle and worms and beasts of the earth in their kinds, and so it came to pass. And God made 25 the beasts of the earth in their kinds, and cattle in their kinds, and all manner worms of the earth in their kinds: and God 26 saw that it was good. And God said: let us make man in our similitude and after our likeness: that he may have rule over the fish of the sea, and over the fowls of the air, and over cattle, and over all the earth, and over all worms that creep on 27 the earth. And God created man after his likeness, after the likeness of God created he him: male and female created he 28 them. And God blessed them, and God said unto them: Grow and multiply and fill the earth and subdue it, and have dominion over the fishes of the sea, and over the fowls of the air, and 29 over all the beasts that move on the earth. And God said: see, I have given yow all herbs that sow seed which are on all the earth, and all manner trees that have fruit in them and sow 30 seed: to be meat for yow and for all beasts of the earth, and unto all fowls of the air, and unto all that creepeth on the earth where in is life, that they may have all manner herbs and grass 31 for to eat, and even so it was. And God beheld all that he had made, and lo they were exceeding good: and so of the evening and morning was made the sixth day.

II Thus was heaven and earth finished with all their apparel: 2 and in the seventh day God ended his work which he had made and rested in the seventh day from all his works which he had 3 made. And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it, for in it he rested from all his works which he had created and 4 made. These are the generations of heaven and earth when they were created, in the time when the LORD God created 5 heaven and earth and all the shrubs of the field before they were in the earth. And all the herbs of the field before they sprang: for the LORD God had yet sent no rain upon the earth, neither was there yet any man to till the earth. But there arose a mist out of the ground and watered all the face of the earth: Then the LORD God shope man, even of the mould of 7

the earth and breathed into his face the breath of life. So man was made a living soul. The LORD God also planted a garden 8 in Eden from the beginning, and there he set man whom he had formed. And the LORD God made to spring out of the 9 earth, all manner trees beautiful to the sight and pleasant to eat, and the tree of life in the midst* of the garden: and also the tree of knowledge of good and evil. And there sprang a 10 river out of Eden to water the garden, and thence divided itself, and grew into four principal waters. The name of the 11 one is Phison, he it is that compasseth all the land of Hevila, where gold groweth. And the gold of that country is precious, there is found bedellion and a stone called Onyx. The name 12 of the second river is Gihon, which compasseth all the land of Inde. And the name of the third river is Hidekell, which runneth on the east side of the Assyrians; And the fourth river is Euphrates. And the LORD God took Adam and put him in 13 the garden of Eden, to dress it and to keep it: And the LORD God commanded Adam saying: Of all the trees of the garden see thou eat: But of the tree of knowledge of good and bad 14 see that thou eat not: For even the same day thou eatest of it, thou shalt surely die.* And the LORD God said: It is not good that man should be alone, I will make him an helper to bear 15 him company: And after that the LORD God had made of the earth all manner beasts of the field, and all manner fowls of the air, he brought them unto Adam to see what he would call 16 them. And as Adam called all manner living beasts: even so are their names. And Adam gave names unto all manner cattle, and unto the fowls of the air, and unto all manner beasts 17 of the field. But there was no help found unto Adam to bear him company. Then the LORD God cast a slumber on Adam, and he slept. And then he took out one of his ribs, and in 18
stead thereof he filled up the place with flesh. And the LORD God made of the rib which he took out of Adam, a woman, and brought her unto Adam. Then said Adam: This is once bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh. This shall be called woman: 24 because she was taken of the man. For this cause shall a man leave father and mother and cleave unto his wife, and they 25 shall be one flesh. And they were either of them naked, both Adam and his wife, and were not ashamed.

III But the serpent was subtler than all the beasts of the field which the LORD God had made, and said unto the woman: Ah sir,* that God hath said,* ye shall not eat of all manner trees in 2 the garden. And the woman said unto the serpent, of the fruit 3 of the trees in the garden we may eat, but of the fruit of the tree that* is in the midst* of the garden (said God) see that ye 4 eat not, and see that ye touch it not: lest ye die. Then said the 5 serpent unto the woman: tush ye shall not die: but God doth know, that whensoever ye should eat of it, your eyes should be opened and ye should be as God and know both good and 6 evil. And the woman saw that it was a good tree to eat of and lusty unto the eyes and a pleasant tree for to make wise. And took of the fruit of it and ate, and gave unto her husband also 7 with her, and he ate. And the eyes of both them were opened, that they understood how that they were naked. Then they 8 sewed fig leaves together and made them aprons. And they heard the voice of the LORD God as he walked in the garden in the cool of the day. And Adam hid himself and his wife also from the face of the LORD God, among the trees of the garden.
 9 And the LORD God called Adam and said unto him where art 10 thou? And he answered: Thy voice I heard in the garden, but I was afraid because I was naked, and therefore hid myself.
 11 And he said: Who told thee that thou wast naked? hast thou eaten of the tree, of which I bade thee that thou shouldest not 12 eat? And Adam answered: The woman which thou gavest to 13 bear me company, she took me of the tree, and I ate. And the LORD God said unto the woman: Wherefore didst thou so?
 And the woman answered: The serpent deceived me and I ate.
 14 And the LORD God said unto the serpent because thou hast so done most cursed be thou of all cattle and of all beasts of the field: upon thy belly shalt thou go: and earth shalt thou 15 eat all days of thy life. Moreover I will put hatred between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed. And that seed shall tread thee on the head, and thou shalt tread it* on the heel. And unto the woman he said: I will surely 16 increase thy sorrow and make thee oft with child, and with pain shalt thou be delivered: And thy lusts shall pertain unto thy husband and he shall rule thee. And unto Adam he said: 17 Forasmuch as thou hast obeyed the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree of which I commanded thee, saying: See thou eat not thereof: cursed be the earth for thy sake. In sorrow shalt thou eat thereof all days of thy life: And it shall bear 18 thorns and thistles unto thee. And thou shalt eat the herbs of the field: In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, until 19 thou return unto the earth whence thou wast take: for earth thou art, and unto earth shalt thou return. And Adam called 20 his wife Heva, because she was the mother of all that liveth.

 And the LORD God made Adam and his wife garments of skins, 21 and put them on them. And the LORD God said: Lo, Adam is 22 become as it were one of us, in knowledge of good and evil. But now lest he stretch forth his hand and take also of the tree of life and eat and live ever. And the LORD God cast him out 23 of the garden of Eden, to till the earth whence he was taken.
 And he cast Adam out, and set at the entering of the garden 24 Eden, Cherubim with a naked sword moving in and out, to keep the way to the tree of life.

And Adam lay with Heva is wife, which conceived and bare IV Cain, and said: I have gotten a man of the LORD. And she 2 proceeded forth and bare his brother Abel: And Abel became a shepherd, and Cain became a plowman. And it fortun'd 3 in process of time, that Cain brought of the fruit of the earth: an offering unto the LORD. And Abel, he brought also of the 4 firstlings of his sheep and of the fat of them. And the LORD looked unto Abel and to his offering: but unto Cain and unto 5 his offering, looked he not. And Cain was wroth exceedingly, and lowered. And the LORD said unto Cain: why art thou 6 angry, and why lowerest thou? Wotest thou not if thou dost well thou shalt receive it? But and if thou dost evil, by and 7 by thy sin lieth open in the door. Notwithstanding let it be subdued unto thee, and see thou rule it. And Cain talked 8 with Abel his brother. And as soon as they were in the fields, Cain fell upon Abel his brother and slew him. And the LORD 9 said unto Cain: where is Abel thy brother? And he said: I 10 can not tell, am I my brother's keeper? And he said: What 11 hast thou done? The voice of thy brother's blood cryeth unto 12 me out of the earth. And now cursed be thou as pertaining 13 to the earth, which opened her mouth to receive thy brother's 14 blood of thine hand. For when thou tillest the ground she 15 shall henceforth not give her power unto thee. A vagabond 16 and a renegade shalt thou be upon the earth. And Cain said 17 unto the LORD: my sin is greater, than that it may be forgiven.

18 Behold thou castest me out this day from off the face of the 19 earth, and from thy sight must I hide myself, and I must be 20 wandering and a vagabond upon the earth: Moreover whoso-21 ever findeth me, will kill me. And the LORD said unto him: 22 Not so, but whosoever slayeth Cain shall be punished seven-23 fold. And the LORD put a mark upon Cain that no man that 24 found him should kill him. And Cain went out from the face of 25 the LORD, and dwelt in the land Nod, on the east side of Eden.
26 And Cain lay with his wife, which conceived and bare Henoch.
And he was building a city and called the name of it after the name of his son, Henoch. And Henoch begat Irad. And Irad begat Mahuiahel. And Mahuiahel begat Mathusael. And Mathusael begat Lamech. And Lamech took him two wives: the one was called Ada, and the other Zilla: And Ada bare Jabal, of whom came they that dwell in tents and possess cattle.
And his brother's name was Jubal: of him came all that exercise them selves on the harp and on the organs. And Zilla she also bare Tubalcain a worker in metal and a father of all that grave in brass and iron. And Tubalcain's sister was called Naema. Then said Lamech unto his wives Ada and Zilla: hear my voice ye wives of Lamech and hearken unto my words, for I have slain a man and wounded myself, and have slain a young man, and got myself stripes: For Cain shall be avenged seven-fold: but Lamech seventy times sevenfold. Adam also lay with his wife yet again, and she bare a son and called his name Seth For God (said she) hath given me another son for Abel whom Cain slew. And Seth begat a son and called his name Enos.
And in that time began men to call on the name of the LORD.

V This is the book of the generation of man, in the day when God created man and made him after the similitude of God.
2 Male and female made he them, and called their names man, 3 in the day when they were created. And when Adam was an hundred and thirty year old, he begat a son after his likeness and similitude: and called his name Seth. And the days of Adam after he begat Seth, were eight hundred year, and be- 4 gat sons and daughters. And all the days of Adam which he 5 lived, were nine hundred and thirty year, and then he died.

And Seth lived an hundred and five years, and begat Enos. 6 And after he had begot Enos he lived eight hundred and seven 7 year, and begat sons and daughters. And all the days of Seth 8 were nine hundred and twelve year, and died. And Enos lived 9 ninety year, and begat Kenan. And Enos after he begat Ke- 10 nan, lived eight hundred and fifteen year, and begat sons and daughters: and all the days of Enos were nine hundred and 11 five year, and then he died. And Kenan lived seventy year, 12 and begat Mahalaliel. And Kenan after he had begot Maha- 13 laliel, lived eight hundred and forty year, and begat sons and daughters: and all the days of Kenan were nine hundred and 14 ten year, and then he died. And Mahalaliel lived sixty five 15 year, and begat Jared. And Mahalaliel after he had begot 16 Jared lived eight hundred and thirty year, and begat sons and daughters: and all the days of Mahalaliel were eight hundred 17 ninety and five year, and then he died. And Jared lived an 18 hundred and sixty two year, and begat Henoch: and Jared 19 lived after he begat Henoch, eight hundred year, and begat sons and daughters. And all the days of Jared were nine hun- 20 dred and sixty two year, and then he died. And Henoch lived 21 sixty five year, and begat Mathusala. And Henoch walked 22 with God after he had begot Mathusalah, three hundred year, and begat sons and daughters: And all the days of Henoch 23 were three hundred and sixty five year, and then Henoch lived 24 a godly life, and was no more seen, for God took him away.
And Mathusala lived an hundred and eighty seven year and 25 begat Lamech: and Mathusala after he had begot Lamech, 26 lived seven hundred and eighty two year, and begat sons and daughters. And all the days of Mathusala were nine hundred 27 sixty nine year, and then he died. And Lamech lived an hun- 28 dred eighty two year and begat a son, and called him Noe 29 saying: This same shall comfort us: as concerning our work and sorrow of our hands which we have about the earth that the LORD hath cursed. And Lamech lived after he had begot 30 Noe, five hundred, ninety and five year, and begat sons and 31 daughters. And all the days of Lamech were seven hundred 32 seventy seven year, and then he died. And when Noe was five hundred year old, he begat Sem, Ham and Japheth.

VI And it came to pass, when men began to multiply upon the 2 earth and had begot them daughters, the sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair, and took unto them 3 wives, which they best liked among them all. And the LORD said: My spirit shall not alway strive with man, for they are flesh. Nevertheless I will give them yet space, an hundred and 4 twenty years. There were tyrants in the world in those days.
For after that the children of God had gone in unto the daughters of men and had begotten them children, the same chil-5 dren were the mightiest of the world and men of renown. And when the LORD saw that the wickedness of man was increased upon the earth, and that all the imagination and thoughts of 6 his heart was only evil continually, he repented that he had 7 made man upon the earth and sorrowed in his heart. And said: I will destroy mankind which I have made, from off the face of the earth: both man, beast, worm and fowl of the air, 8 for it repenteth me that I have made them. But yet Noe found 9 grace in the sight of the LORD. These are the generations of Noe. Noe was a righteous man and uncorrupt in his time, and 10 walked with God. And Noe begat three sons: Sem, Ham and 11 Japheth. And the earth was corrupt in the sight of God, and 12 was full of mischief. And God looked upon the earth, and lo it was corrupt: for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the 13 earth. Then said God to Noe: the end of all flesh is come before me, for the earth is full of their mischief. And lo, I will 14 destroy them with the earth. Make thee an ark of pine tree, and make chambers in the ark, and pitch it within and without 15 with pitch. And of this fashion shalt thou make it. The length of the ark shall be three hundred cubits, and the breadth of it 16 fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty cubits. A window shalt thou make above in the ark. And within a cubit compass shalt thou finish it. And the door of the ark shalt thou set in the side of it: and thou shalt make it with three lofts one above an 17 other. For behold I will bring in a flood of water upon the earth to destroy all flesh from under heaven, wherein breath of life 18 is, so that all that is in the earth shall perish. But I will make mine appointment with thee, that both thou shalt come in to the ark and thy sons, thy wife and thy sons' wives with thee. And of all that liveth whatsoever flesh it be, shalt thou bring into the ark, of every thing a pair, to keep them alive with thee. And male and female see that they be, of birds in their kind, and of beasts in their kind, and of all manner of worms of the earth in their kind: a pair of every thing shall come unto thee to keep them alive. And take unto thee of all manner of meat that may be eaten and lay it up in store by thee, that it may be meat both for thee and for them: and Noe did according to all that God commanded him.

And the LORD said unto Noe: Go into the ark both thou and all thy household. For thee have I seen righteous before me in this generation. Of all clean beasts take unto thee seven of every kind the male and his female, and of unclean beasts a pair, the male and his female: likewise of the birds of the air seven of every kind, male and female to save seed upon all the earth. For seven days hence will I send rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights and will destroy all manner of things that I have made, from off the face of the earth. And Noe did according to all that the LORD commanded him: and Noe was six hundred year old, when the flood of water came upon the earth: and Noe went and his sons and his wife and his sons' wives with him, into the ark from the waters of the flood. And of clean beasts and of beasts that were unclean and of birds and of all that creepeth upon the earth, came in by couples of every kind unto Noe into the ark: a male and a female: even as God commanded Noe. And the seventh day the waters of the flood came upon the earth. In the six hundredth year of Noe's life, in the second month, in the seventeenth day of the month, that same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened, and there fell a rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights. And the self same day went Noe, Sem, Ham and Japheth, Noe's sons, and Noe's wife and the three wives of his sons with them in to the ark: both they and all manner of beasts in their kind, and all manner of cattle in their kind and all manner of worms that creep upon the earth in their kind, and all manner of birds in their kind, and all manner of fowls whatsoever had feathers. And they came unto Noe into the ark by couples, of all flesh that had breath of life in it. And they that came, came male and female of every flesh according as God commanded him: and the LORD shut the door upon 17 him. And the flood came forty days and forty nights upon the earth, and the water increased and bare up the ark and it was 18 lift up from off the earth. And the water prevailed and increased exceedingly upon the earth: and the ark went upon he 19 top of the waters. And the waters prevailed exceedingly above measure upon the earth, so that all the high hills which are under 20 all the parts of heaven, were covered: even fifteen cubits high prevailed the waters, so that the hills were covered. And 21 all flesh that moved on the earth, both birds, cattle and beasts perished, with all that crept on the earth and all men: so that 22 all that had the breath of life in the nostrils of it throw out all that was on dry land died. Thus was destroyed all that was 23 upon the earth, both man, beasts, worms and fowls of the air so that they were destroyed from the earth: save Noe was reserved 24 only and they that were with him in the ark. And the waters prevailed upon the earth, an hundred and fifty days.

VIII And God remembered Noe and all the beasts and all the cattle that were with him in the ark; And God made a wind 2 to blow upon the earth, and the waters ceased: and the fountains of the deep and the windows of heaven were stopped and 3 the rain of heaven was forbidden, and the waters returned from off the earth and abated after the end of an hundred and 4 fifty days. And the ark rested upon the mountains of Ararat, the seventeenth day of the seventh month. And the waters 5 went away and decreased until the tenth month. And the first day of the tenth month, the tops of the mountains appeared.
6 And after the end of forty days, Noe opened the window of the ark which he had made, and sent forth a raven, which went 7 out, ever going and coming again, until the waters were dried up upon the earth. Then sent he forth a dove from him, to 8 wete whether the waters were fallen from off the earth. And when the dove could find no resting place for her foot, she returned 9 to him again unto the ark, for the waters were upon the face of all the earth. And he put out his hand and took her 10 and pulled her to him into the ark. And he abode yet seven days more,* and sent out the dove again out of the ark, and was in her mouth a leaf of an olive tree which she had plucked, whereby Noe perceived that the waters were abated upon the earth. And he tarried yet seven other days, and sent forth the dove, which from thence forth came no more again to him. And it came to pass, the six hundred and one year and the first day of the first month, that the waters were dried up upon the earth. And Noe took off the hatches of the ark and looked: and behold, the face of the earth was dry. So by the twenty seventh day of the second month the earth was dry. And God spake unto Noe saying: Come out of the ark, both thou and thy wife and thy sons and thy sons' wives with thee. And all the beasts that are with thee whatsoever flesh it be, both fowl and cattle and all manner worms that creep on the earth, bring out with thee, and let them move, grow and multiply upon the earth. And Noe came out, and his sons and his wife and his sons' wives with him. And all the beasts, and all the worms, and all the fowls, and all that moved upon the earth, came also out of the ark, all of one kind together. And Noe made an altar unto the LORD, and took of all manner of clean beasts and all manner of clean fowls, and offered sacrifice upon the altar. And the LORD smelled a sweet savour and said in his heart: I will henceforth no more curse the earth for man's sake, for the imagination of man's heart is evil even from the very youth of him. Moreover I will not destroy from henceforth all that liveth as I have done. Neither shall sowing time and harvest, cold, and heat, summer and winter, day and night cease, as long as the earth endureth.

And God blessed Noe and his sons, and said unto them: Increase and multiply and fill the earth. The fear also and dread of yow be upon all beasts of the earth, and upon all fowls of the air, and upon all that creepeth on the earth, and upon all fishes of the sea, which are given unto your hands. And all that moveth upon the earth having life, shall be your meat: Even as the green herbs, so give I yow all things. Only the flesh with his life which is his blood, see that ye eat not. For verily the blood of yow wherein your lives are will I require: Even of the hand of all beasts will I require it, and of the hand of man and of the hand of every man's brother, will I require the life of man: so that he which sheddeth man's blood, shall have his blood shed by man again: for God made man after 7 his own likeness. See that ye increase, and wax, and be occu-8 pied upon the earth, and multiply therein. Furthermore God 9 spake unto Noe and to his sons with him saying: See, I make 10 my bond with you and your seed after you, and with all living things that is with you: both fowl and cattle, and all manner 11 beast of the earth that is with yow, of all that cometh out of the ark what soever beast of the earth it be. I make my bond 12 with yow, that henceforth all flesh shall not be destroyed with the waters of any flood, and that henceforth there shall not be 13 a flood to destroy the earth. And God said: This is the token of my bond which I make between me and yow, and between 14 all living thing that is with yow for ever: I will set my bow in the clouds, and it shall be a sign of the appointment made be-15 tween me and the earth: so that when I bring in clouds upon the earth, the bow shall appear in the clouds. And then will I think upon my testament which I have made between me and yow, and all that liveth whatsoever flesh it be. So that hence-16 forth there shall be no more waters to make a flood to destroy all flesh. The bow shall be in the clouds, and I will look upon it, to remember the everlasting testament between God and all 17 that liveth upon the earth, whatsoever flesh it be. And God said unto Noe: This is the sign of the testament which I have 18 made between me and all flesh that is on the earth. The sons of Noe that came out of the ark were: Sem, Ham, and Japheth.

19 And Ham he is the father of Canaan. These are the three sons of Noe, and of these was all the world overspread. And 20 Noe being an husbandman, went forth and planted a vineyard, and drank of the wine and was drunk, and lay uncovered in the 21 midst of his tent. And Ham the father of Canaan saw his father's privates,* and told his two brethren that were with-22 out. And Sem and Japheth took a mantle, and put it on both their shoulders and went backward, and covered their father's secrets, but their faces were backward, so that they saw not 23 their father's nakedness. As soon as Noe was awaked from his wine and wist what his youngest son had done unto him, 24 he said: Cursed be Canaan, and a servant, of all servants be he to his brethren. And he said: Blessed be the LORD God of 25 Sem, and Canaan be his servant. God increase Japheth that he may dwell in the tents of Sem. And Canaan be their servant. And Noe lived after the flood three hundred and fifty 28 year: So that all the days of Noe were nine hundred and fifty 29 year, and then he died.

These are the generations of the sons of Noe: of Sem, Ham X and Japheth, which begat them children after the flood. The 2 sons of Japheth were: Gomir, Magog, Madai, Javan, Tuball, Mesech and Thyras. And the sons of Gomir were: Ascenas, 3 Riphat and Togarma. And the sons of Javan were: Elisa, 4 Tharsis, Cithim, and Dodanim. Of these came the Isles of 5 the gentiles in their countries, every man in his speech, kindred and nation. The sons of Ham were: Chus, Misraim, 6 Phut and Canaan. The sons of Chus: were Seba, Hevila, 7 Sabta, Raima and Sabtema. And the sons of Raima were: Sheba, and Dedan. Chus also begot Nimrod, which began 8 to be mighty in the earth. He was a mighty hunter in the 9 sight of the LORD: Whereof came the proverb: he is as Nimrod that mighty hunter in the sight of the LORD. And the begin- 10 ning of his kingdom was Babell, Erech, Achad, and Chalne in the land of Sinear: Out of that land came Assur and builded 11 Ninive, and the city Rehoboth, and Calah, and Ressen be- 12 tween Nineve and Calah. That is a great city. And Mizrim 13 begat Ludim, Enanim, Leabim, Naphtuhim, Pathrusim and 14 Casluhim: from whence came the Philistins, and the Caph-therines. Canaan also begat Zidon his eldest son and Heth, 15 Jebusi, Emori, Girgosi, Hivi, Arki, Sini, Arvadi, Zemari and 16, 17, 18 Harmati. And afterward sprang the kindreds of the Cananites.
And the coasts of the Cananites were from Sidon till thou come 19 to Gerara and to Asa, and till thou come to Sodoma, Gomorra, Adama, Zeboim: even unto Lasa. These were the children of 20 Ham in their kindreds, tongues, lands and nations. And Sem 21 the father of all the children of Eber and the eldest brother of Japheth, begat children also. And his sons were: Elam Assur, 22 Arphachsad, Lud and Aram. And the children of Aram were: 23 Ur, Hul, Gether and Mas. And Arphachsad begat Sala, and 24 Sala begat Eber. And Eber begat two sons. The name of the 25 one was Peleg, for in his time the earth was divided. And the name of his brother was Jaketan. Jaketan begat Almodad, 26 Saleph, Hizarmoneth, Jarah, Hadoram, Usal, Dikela, Obal, 27, 28 Abimael, Seba, Ophir, Hevila and Jobab. All these are the 29 sons of Jaketan. And the dwelling of them was from Mesa 30 until thou come unto Sephara a mountain of the east land.

31 These are the sons of Sem in their kindreds, languages, coun-32 tries and nations. These are the kindreds of the sons of Noe, in their generations and nations. And of these came the people that were in the world after the flood.

XI, 2 And all the world was of one tongue and one language. And as they came from the east, they found a plain in the land 3 of Sinear, and there they dwelled. And they said one to another: come on, let us make brick and burn it with fire. So 4 brick was their stone and slime was their mortar. And they said: Come on, let us build us a city and a tower, that the top may reach unto heaven. And let us make us a name, for peradventure we shall be scattered abroad over all the earth.
5 And the LORD came down to see the city and the tower which 6 the children of Adam had builded. And the LORD said: See, the people is one and have one tongue among them all: And this have they begun to do, and will not leave off from all that 7 they have purposed to do. Come on, let us descend and mingle their tongue even there, that one understand not what another 8 sayeth. Thus the LORD scattered them from thence upon all 9 the earth. And they left off to build the city. Wherefore the name of it is called Babel, because that the LORD there confounded the tongue of all the world. And because that the LORD from thence, scattered them abroad upon all the earth.
10 These are the generations of Sem: Sem was an hundred year 11 old and begat Arphachsad two year after the flood. And Sem lived after he had begot Arphachsad five hundred year and be-12 gat sons and daughters. And Arphachsad lived thirty five 13 year and begat Sala, and lived after he had begot Sala four 14 hundred year and three and begat sons and daughters. And 15 Sala was thirty year old and begat Eber, and lived after he had begot Eber four hundred and three year, and begat sons 16 and daughters. When Eber was thirty four year old, he be-17 gat Peleg, and lived after he had begot Peleg, four hundred 18 and thirty year, and begat sons and daughters. And Peleg 19 when he was thirty year old begat Regu, and lived after he had begot Regu two hundred and nine year, and begat sons and 20 daughters. And Regu when he had lived thirty two year begat 21 Serug, and lived after he had begot Serug two hundred and 22 seven year, and begat sons and daughters. And when Serug was thirty year old, he begat Nahor, and lived after he had 23 begot Nahor two hundred year, and begat sons and daughters.

 And Nahor when he was twenty nine year old, begat Terah, 24 and lived after he had begot Terah, an hundred and nineteen 25 year, and begat sons and daughters. And when Terah was sev- 26 enty year old, he begat Abram, Nahor and Haran. And these 27 are the generations of Terah. Terah begat Abram, Nahor and Haran. And Haran begat Lot. And Haran died before Terah 28 his father in the land where he was born, at Ur in Chaldea.
 And Abram and Nahor took them wives. Abram's wife was 29 called Sarai. And Nahor's wife Milkah the daughter of Haran which was father of Milca and of Iisca. But Sarai was bar- 30 ren and had no child. Then took Terah Abram his son and 31 Lot his son Haran's son, and Sarai his daughter-in-law his son Abram's wife. And they went with him from Ur in Chaldea, to go into the land of Chanaan. And they came to Haran and dwelled there. And when Terah was two hundred year old 32 and five he died in Haran.

Then the LORD said unto Abram: Get thee out of thy country XII and from thy kindred, and out of thy father's house, into a 2 land which I will shew thee. And I will make of thee a mighty people, and will bless thee, and make thy name great, that 3 thou mayst be a blessing. And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse them that curse thee. And in thee shall be blessed all the generations of the earth. And Abram went as 4 the LORD bade him, and Lot went with him. Abram was seventy five year old, when he went out of Haran. And Abram 5 took Sarai his wife and Lot his brother's son, with all their goods which they had gotten and souls which they had begotten in Haran. And they departed to go into the land of Chanaan. And when they were come into the land of Chanaan, Abram went forth into the land till he came unto a place called 6 Sichem, and unto the oak of More. And the Cananites dwelled then in the land. Then the LORD appeared unto Abram and 7 said: unto thy seed will I give this land. And he builded an altar there unto the LORD which appeared to him. Then de- 8 parted he thence unto a mountain that lieth on the east side of BETHEL and pitched his tent: BETHEL being on the west side, and Ay on the east: and he builded there an altar unto the LORD, and called on the name of the LORD. And then 9 10 Abram departed and took his journey southward. After this there came a dearth in the land. And Abram went down into Egypt to sojourn there, for the dearth was sore in the land.

11 And when he was come nye for to enter into Egypt, he said unto Sarai his wife. Behold, I know that thou art a fair woman 12 to look upon. It will come to pass therefore when the Egyptians see thee, that they will say: she is his wife. And so

13 shall they slay me and save thee. Say I pray thee therefore that thou art my sister, that I may fare the better by reason

14 of thee, and that my soul may live for thy sake. As soon as he came into Egypt, the Egyptians saw the woman that she 15 was very fair. And Pharao's lords saw her also, and praised her unto Pharao: So that she was taken into Pharao's house, 16 which entreated Abram well for her sake, so that he had sheep, oxen and he asses, men servants, maid servants, she asses and

17 camels. But GOD plagued Pharao and his house with great 18 plagues, because of Sarai Abram's wife. Then Pharao called Abram and said: Why hast thou thus dealt with me? Where-19 fore toldest thou me not that she was thy wife? Why saidest thou that she was thy sister, and causedest me to take her to my wife? But now lo, there is thy wife, take her and be walk-

20 ing. Pharao also gave a charge unto his men over Abram, to lead him out, with his wife and all that he had.

XIII Then Abram departed out of Egypt, both he and his wife and 2 all that he had, and Lot with him unto the south. Abram was

3 very rich in cattle, silver and gold. And he went on his journey from the south even unto BETHEL, and unto the place where

4 his tent was at the first time between BETHEL and Ay, and unto the place of the altar which he made before. And there

5 called Abram upon the name, of the LORD. Lot also which

6 went with him had sheep, cattle and tents: so that the land was not able to receive them that they might dwell together, for the substance of their riches was so great, that they could not

7 dwell together. And there fell a strife between the herdmen of Abram's cattle, and the herdmen of Lot's cattle. Moreover the Cananites and the Pherisites dwelled at that time in the land.

8 Then said Abram unto Lot: Let there be no strife I pray thee between thee and me and between my herdmen and thine, for 9 we be brethren. Is not all the hole land before thee? Depart I pray thee from me. If thou wilt take the left hand, I will take the right: or if thou take the right hand I will take the left. And Lot lift up his eyes and beheld all the country about 10 Jordan, which was a plenteous country of water every where, before the LORD destroyed Sodom and Gomorra, even as the garden of the LORD, and as the land of Egypt till thou come to Zoar. Then Lot chose all the coasts of Jordan and took his 11 journey from the east. And so departed the one brother from the other. Abram dwelled in the land of Canaan: And Lot 12 in the cities of the plain, and tented till he came to Sodom.

But the men of Sodom were wicked and sinned exceedingly 13 against the LORD. And the LORD said unto Abram, after that 14 Lot was departed from him: Lift up thine eyes and look from the place where thou art, northward, southward, eastward and westward, for all the land which thou seest will I give unto 15 thee and to thy seed for ever. And I will make thy seed, as the 16 dust of the earth: so that if a man can number the dust of the earth, then shall thy seed also be numbered. Arise and walk 17 about in the land, in the length of it and in the breadth for I will give it unto thee. Then Abram took down his tent, and 18 went and dwelled in the oak grove of Mamre which is in Ebron and builded there an altar to the LORD.

And it chanced within a while, that Amraphel king of Sin- XIV ear, Arioch king of Ellasar, Kedorlaomer king of Elam and Thydeall king of the nations: made war with Bera king of Sodom, 2 and with Birsas king of Gomorra. And with Sineab king of Adama, and with Semeaber king of Zeboim, and with the king of Bela which Bela is called Zoar. All these came together 3 unto the vale of Siddim, which is now the salt sea. Twelve 4 year were they subject to king Kedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth year rebelled. Therefore in the fourteenth year came 5 Kedorlaomer and the kings that were with him, and smote the Raphaims in Astaroth Karnaim, and the Susims in Ham, and the Emims in Sabe Kariathaim, and the Horims in their own 6 mount Seir unto the plain of Pharan, which bordereth upon the wilderness. And then turned they and came to the well 7 of judgement which is Cades, and smote all the country of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites that dwell in Hazon Thamar. Then went out the king of Sodom, and the king of 8 Gomorra, and the king of Adama and the king of Zeboim, and the king of Bela now called Zoar. And set their men in array 9 to fight with them in the vale of Siddim, that is to say, with Kedorlaomer the king of Elam and with Thydeall king of the Nations, and with Amraphel king of Sinear. And with Ari-10 och king of Ellasar: four kings against five. And that vale of Siddim was full of slime pits. And the kings of Sodom and Gomorra fled, and fell there. And the residue fled to the moun-11 tains. And they took all the goods of Sodom and Gomorra and all their vitailles, and went their way. And they took 12 Lot also Abram's brother's son and his goods (for he dwelled at Sodom) and departed. Then came one that had escaped, 13 and told Abram the Hebrew which dwelt in the oak grove of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eschol and Aner: which were 14 confederate with Abram. When Abram heard that his brother was taken, he harnessed his servants born in his own house three hundred and eighteen, and followed till they came at 15 Dan. And set himself and his servants in array, and fell upon them by night, and smote them, and chased them away unto 16 Hoba: which lieth on the left hand of Damasco, and brought again all the goods and also his brother Lot, and his goods, the 17 women also and the people. And as he returned again from the slaughter of Kedorlaomer and of the kings that were with him, then came the king of Sodom against* him unto the vale 18 of Saue which now is called king's dale. Then Melchisedech king of Salem brought forth bread and wine. And he being the 19 priest of the most highest God, blessed him saying: Blessed be Abram unto the most highest God, possessor of heaven and 20 earth. And blessed be God the most highest, which hath delivered thine enemies into thy hands. And Abram gave him 21 tithes of all. Then said the king of Sodom unto Abram: Give me the souls, and take the goods to thy self. And Abram an-22 swered the king of Sodom: I lift up my hand unto the LORD God most high possessor of heaven and earth, that I will not 23 take of all that is thine, so much as a thread or a shoe latchet, lest thou shouldest say I have made Abram rich. Save only 24 that which the young men have eaten and the parts of the men which went with me. Aner, Eschol and Mamre. Let them take their parts.

XV After these deeds, the word of GOD came unto Abram in a vision saying fear not Abram, I am thy shield, and thy reward shall be exceeding great. And Abram answered: Lord 2 Jehovah* what wilt thou give me: I go childless, and the cater 3 of mine house, this Eleasar of Damasco hath a son. And 3 Abram said: See, to me hast thou given to seed: lo, a lad born 4 in my house shall be mine heir. And behold, the word of the 4 LORD spake unto Abram saying: He shall not be thine heir, but one that shall come out of thine own body shall be thine 5 heir. And he brought him out at the doors and said: Look up 5 unto heaven and tell the stars, if thou be able to number them.

 And said unto him: Even so shall thy seed be. And Abram 6 believed the LORD, and it was counted to him for righteous- 6 ness. And he said unto him: I am the LORD that brought 7 thee out of Ur in Chaldea to give thee this land to possess it.
 And he said: Lord GOD, whereby shall I know that I shall pos- 8 sess it? And he said unto him: take an heifer of three year 9 old, and a she goat of three years old, and a three year old 9 ram, a turtle dove and a young pigeon. And he took all these 10 and divided them in the midst, and laid every piece, one over 11 against another. But the fowls divided he not. And the birds 11 fell on the carcasses, but Abram drove them away. And when 12 the sun was down, there fell a slumber upon Abram. And lo, 13 fear and great darkness came upon him. And he said unto 13 Abram: know this of a surety, that thy seed shall be a stranger in a land that pertaineth not unto them. And they shall make bondmen of them and entreat them evil four hundred years.
 But the nation whom they shall serve, will I judge. And after- 14 ward shall they come out with great substance. Nevertheless 15 thou shalt go unto thy fathers in peace, and shalt be buried when thou art of a good age: and in the fourth generation 16 they shall come hither again, for the wickedness of the Amorites is not yet full. When the sun was down and it was waxed 17 dark: behold, there was a smoking furnace and a fire brand that went between the said pieces. And that same day the 18 LORD made a covenant with Abram saying: unto thy seed will I give this land, from the river of Egypt, even unto the great river Euphrates: the Kenites, the Kenizites, the Cadmonites, 19 the Hethites, the Pherezites, the Raphaims, the Amorites, the 20, 21 Cananites, the Gergesites and the Jebusites.

Sarai Abram's wife bare him no children. But she had an XVI

2 hand maid an Egyptian, whose name was Hagar. Wherefore she said unto Abram: Behold the LORD hath closed me, that I can not bear. I pray thee go in unto my maid, peradventure I shall be multiplied by means of her; And Abram heard the 3 voice of Sarai. Then Sarai Abram's wife took Hagar her maid the Egyptian (after Abram had dwelled ten year in the land of Canaan) and gave her to her husband Abram, to be his wife.
4 And he went in unto Hagar, and she conceived. And when she saw that she had conceived her mistress was despised in her 5 sight. Then said Sarai unto Abram: Thou dost me unright, for I have given my maid into thy bosom: and now because she seeth that she hath conceived, I am despised in her sight: the 6 LORD judge between thee and me. Then said Abram to Sarai: behold, thy maid is in thy hand, do with her as it pleaseth thee.
7 And because Sarai fared foul with her, she fled from her. And the Angel of the LORD found her beside a fountain of water in 8 the wilderness: even by a well in the way to Sur. And he said: Hagar Sarai's maid, whence comest thou and whither wilt thou 9 go? And she answered: I flee from my mistress Sarai. And the Angel of the LORD said unto her: return to thy mistress again, 10 and submit thyself under her hands. And the angel of the LORD said unto her: I will so increase thy seed, that it shall 11 not be numbered for multitude. And the LORD's angel said further unto her: see, thou art with child and shalt bear a son, and shalt call his name Ismael: because the LORD hath heard 12 thy tribulation. He will be a wild man, and his hand will be against every man, and every man's hand against him. And 13 yet shall he dwell fast by all his brethren. And she called the name of the LORD that spake unto her: thou art the God that lookest on me, for she said: I have of a surety seen here the 14 back parts of him that seeth me. Wherefore she called the well, the well of the living that seeth me which well is between 15 Cades and Bared. And Hagar bare Abram a son, and Abram 16 called his son's name which Hagar bare Ismael. And Abram was eighty six year old, when Hagar bare him Ismael.

XVII When Abram was ninety year old and nine, the LORD appeared to him saying: I am the almighty God: walk before me 2 and be uncorrupt. And I will make my bond between thee and 3 me, and will multiply thee exceedingly. And Abram fell on his 4 face. And God talked moreover with him saying: I am, behold my testament is with thee, that thou shalt be a father of many nations. Therefore shalt thou no more be called Abram, 5 but thy name shall be Abraham: for a father of many nations have I made thee, and I will multiply thee exceedingly, and 6 will make nations of thee: yea and kings shall spring out of thee. Moreover I will make my bond between me and thee, 7 and thy seed after thee, in their times to be an everlasting testament, so that I will be God unto thee and to thy seed after thee. And I will give unto thee and to thy seed after thee, the 8 land wherein thou art a stranger: even all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession, and will be their God. And God 9 said unto Abraham: See thou keep my testament, both thou and thy seed after thee in their times: This is my testament 10 which ye shall keep between me and you and thy seed after thee, that ye circumcise all your men children. Ye shall circumcise 11 the foreskin of your flesh, and it shall be a token of the bond betwixt me and you. And every manchild when it is eight days old, shall be circumcised among you in your generations, and all servants also born at home or bought with money though they be strangers and not of thy seed. The servant born in thy house, and he also that is bought with money, must needs be circumcised, that my testament may be in your flesh, for an everlasting bond. If there be any uncircumcised 14 manchild, that hath not the foreskin of his flesh cut off, his soul shall perish from his people: because he hath broken my testament. And God said unto Abraham. Sarai thy wife shall 15 no more be called Sarai: but Sara shall her name be. For I will bless her and give thee a son of her and will bless her: so that people, yea and kings of people shall spring of her. And 17 Abraham fell upon his face and laughed, and said in his heart: shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred year old, and shall Sara that is ninety year old, bear: And Abraham 18 said unto God. O that Ismael might live in thy sight. Then said God: nay, Sara thy wife shall bear thee a son, and thou shalt call his name Isaac. And I will make my bond with him, that it shall be an everlasting bond unto his seed after him. And as concerning Ismael also, I have heard thy request: lo, I will bless him and increase him, and multiply him exceedingly. Twelve princes shall he* beget, and I will make a great nation 21 of him. But my bond will I make with Isaac, which Sara shall 22 bear unto thee: even this time twelve month. And God left off 23 talking with him, and departed up from Abraham. And Abraham took Ismael his son and all the servants born in his house and all that was bought with money as many as were men children among the men of Abraham's house, and circumcised the foreskin of their flesh, even the selfsame day, as God had said 24 unto him. Abraham was ninety year old and nine when he 25 cut off the foreskin of his flesh. And Ismael his son was thirteen year old, when the foreskin of his flesh was circumcised.

 26 The self same day was Abraham circumcised and Ismael his 27 son. And all the men in his house, whether they were born in his house or bought with money (though they were strangers) were circumcised with him.

And the LORD appeared unto him in the oak grove of Mamre 2 as he sat in his tent door in the heat of the day. And he lift up his eyes and looked: and lo, three men stood not far from him. And when he saw them, he ran against* them from the 3 tent door, and fell to the ground and said: Lord if I have found 4 favour in thy sight, go not by thy servant. Let a little water be fetched, and wash your feet, and rest your selves under 5 the tree: And I will fetch a morsel of bread, to comfort your hearts withal. And then go your ways, for even therefore are ye come to your servant. And they answered: Do even so as 6 thou hast said. And Abraham went a pace into his tent unto Sara and said: make ready at once three pecks of fine meal, 7 knead it, and make cakes. And Abraham ran unto his beasts and fetched a calf that was tender and good, and gave it unto 8 a young man which made it ready at once. And he took butter and milk and the calf which he had prepared, and set it before them, and stood himself by them under the tree: and 9 they ate. And they said unto him: Where is Sara thy wife?
 10 And he said: in the tent. And he said: I will come again unto thee as soon as the fruit can live. And lo: Sara thy wife shall have a son. That heard Sara, out of the tent door which was 11 behind his back. Abraham and Sara were both old and well stricken in age, and it ceased to be with Sara after the man-12 ner as it is with wives. And Sara laughed in her self saying: Now I am waxed old, shall I give my self to lust, and my lord

18. v.2 Other: to meet.

old also? Then said the LORD unto Abraha: wherefore doth 13 Sara laugh saying: shall I of a surety bear a child, now when 14 I am old? is the thing too hard for the LORD to do? In the 14 time appointed will I return unto thee, as soon as the fruit can have life. And Sara shall have a son. Then Sara denied it 15 saying: I laughed not, for she was afraid. But he said: yes thou laughtest. Then the men stood up from thence and looked to- 16 ward Sodom. And Abraham went with them to bring them on the way. And the LORD said: Can I hide from Abraham that 17 thing which I am about to do, seeing that Abraham shall be 18 a great and a mighty people, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him? For I know him that he will com- 19 mand his children and his household after him, that they keep the way of the LORD, to do after right and conscience, that the LORD may bring upon Abraham that he hath promised him.
And the LORD said: The cry of Sodom and Gomorra is great, 20 and their sin is exceeding grievous. I will go down and see 21 whether they have done altogether according to that cry which is come unto me or not, that I may know. And the men de- 22 parted thence and went to Sodomward. But Abraham stood yet before the LORD, and drew near and said Wilt thou de- 23 stroy the righteous with the wicked? If there be fifty right- 24 eous within the city, wilt thou destroy it and not spare the place for the sake of fifty righteous that are therein? That be 25 far from thee, that thou shouldest do after this manner, to slay the righteous with the wicked, and that the righteous should be as the wicked: that be far from thee. Should not the Judge of all the world do according to right? And the LORD said: If 26 I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, I will spare all the place for their sakes. And Abraham answered and said: 27 behold I have taken upon me to speak unto the Lord, and yet am but dust and ashes. What though there lack five of fifty 28 righteous, wilt thou destroy all the city for lack of five? And he said: If I find there forty and five I will not destroy them.
And he spake unto him yet again and said: what if there be 29 forty found there: And he said: I will not do it for forty's sake.
And he said: O let not my Lord be angry, that I speak. What 30 if there be found thirty there? And he said: I will not do it, if I find thirty there. And he said: Oh, see, I have begun to speak 31 unto my Lord, what if there be twenty found there? And he 32 said: I will not destroy them for twenty's sake. And he said: O let not my Lord be angry, that I speak yet, but even once more only. What if ten be found there? And he said: I will not 33 destroy them for ten's sake. And the LORD went his way as soon as he had left communing with Abraham. And Abraham returned unto his place.

XIX And there came two angels to Sodom at even. And Lot sat at the gate of the city. And Lot saw them, and rose up against* 2 them, and he bowed himself to he ground with his face. And he said: See lords, turn in I pray you in to your servant's house and tarry all night and wash your feet, and rise up early and go on your ways. And they said: nay, but we will bide in the 3 streets all night. And he compelled them exceedingly. And they turned in unto him and entered into his house, and he made them a feast and did bake sweet cakes, and they ate.
4 But before they went to rest, the men of the city of Sodom compassed the house round about both old and young, all the 5 people from all quarters. And they called unto Lot and said unto him: where are the men which came into thy house to 6 night? bring them out unto us that we may do our lust with 7 them. And Lot went out at doors unto them and shut the 8 door after him and said: nay for god's sake brethren, do not 9 so wickedly. Behold I have two daughters which have known 10 no man, them will I bring out unto you: do with them as it seemeth you good: Only unto these men do nothing, for there-11 fore came they under the shadow of my roof. And they said: come hither. And they said: camest thou not in to sojourn, and wilt thou be now a judge? we will surely deal worse with thee 12 than with them. And as they preased sore upon Lot and began to break up the door, the men put forth their hands and 13 pulled Lot into the house to them and shut to the door. And the men that were at the door of the house, they smote with 14 blindness both small and great: so that they could not find the door. And the men said moreover unto Lot: If thou have yet here any son-in-law or sons or daughters or whatsoever thou hast in the city, bring it out of this place: for we must destroy this place, because the cry of them is great before the LORD.
14 Wherefore he hath sent us to destroy it. And Lot went out and spake unto his sons-in-law which should have married his daughters, and said: stand* up and get yow out of this place, for the LORD will destroy the city. But he seemed as though he had mocked, unto his sons-in-law. And as the morning arose 15 the angels caused Lot to speed him saying: Stand up, take thy wife and thy two daughters and that that is at hand, lest thou perish in the sin of the city. And as he prolonged the time, 16 the men caught both him, his wife and his two daughters by the hands, because the LORD was merciful unto him, and they brought him forth and set him without the city. When they 17 had brought them out, they said: Save thy life and look not behind thee neither tarry thou in any place of the country, but save thyself in the mountain, lest thou perish. Then said Lot 18 unto them: Oh nay my Lord: behold, inasmuch as thy servant hath found grace in thy sight, now make thy mercy great which thou shewest unto me in saving my life. For I can not save myself in the mountains, lest some misfortune fall upon me and I die. Behold, here is a city by, to flee unto, and it is a 20 little one, let me save myself therein: is it not a little one, that my soul may live? And he said to him: see I have received thy request as concerning this thing, that I will not overthrow this city for the which thou hast spoken. Haste thee, and save 22 thyself there, for I can do nothing till thou be come in thither. And therefore the name of the city is called Zoar. And the sun 23 was upon the earth when Lot was entered into Zoar. Then the LORD rained upon Sodom and Gomorra, brimstone and fire 24 from the LORD out of heaven, and overthrew those cities and all the region, and all that dwelled in the cities, and that that 25 grew upon the earth. And Lot's wife looked behind her, and was turned in to a pillar of salt. Abraham rose up early and 27 got him to the place where he stood before the LORD, and looked toward Sodom and Gomorra and toward all the land 28 of that country. And as he looked: behold, the smoke of the country arose as it had been the smoke of a furnace. But yet 29 when God destroyed the cities of the region, he thought upon Abraha: and sent Lot out from the danger of the overthrowing, when he overthrew the cities where Lot dwelled. And Lot de- 30 parted out of Zoar and dwelled in the mountains and his two daughters with him for he feared to tarry in Zoar: he dwelt therefore in a cave, both he and his two daughters also. Then 31 said the elder unto the younger our father is old, and there are no more men in the earth to come in unto us after the manner 32 of all the world. Come therefore, let us give our father wine to drink, and let us lie with him that we may save seed of our 33 father. And they gave their father wine to drink that same night. And the elder daughter went and lay with her father.

And he perceived it not, neither when she lay down, neither 34 when she rose up. And on the morrow the elder said unto the younger: behold, yesternight lay I with my father. Let us give him wine to drink this night also, and go thou and lie with him, 35 and let us save seed of our father. And they gave their father wine to drink that night also. And the younger arose and lay with him. And he perceived it not: neither when she lay down, 36 neither when she rose up. Thus were both the daughters of 37 Lot with child by their father. And the elder bare a son and called him Moab, which is the father of the Moabites unto this 38 day. And the younger bare a son and called him Ben Ammi, which is the father of the children of Ammon unto this day.

XX And Abraham departed thence toward the south country and dwelled between Cades and Sur and sojourned in Gerar.
2 And Abraham said of Sara his wife, that she was his sister.
Then Abimelech king of Gerar sent and fetched Sara away.
3 And God came to Abimelech by night in a dream and said to him: See, thou art but a dead man for the woman's sake which 4 thou hast taken away, for she is a man's wife. But Abimelech had not yet come nye her, and therefore said: Lord wilt thou 5 slay righteous people? said not he unto me, that she was his sister? yea and said not she herself that he was her brother?
6 with a pure heart and innocent hands have I done this. And God said unto him in a dream. I wot it well that thou didst it in the pureness of thy heart: And therefore I kept thee that thou shouldest not sin against me, neither suffered I thee to 7 come nigh her. Now therefore deliver the man his wife again, for he is a prophet. And let him pray for thee that thou mayst live. But and if thou deliver her not again, be sure that thou 8 shalt die the death, with all that thou hast. Then Abimelech rose up be times in the morning and called all his servants, and told all these things in their ears, and the men were sore 9 afraid. And Abimelech called Abraham and said unto him: What hast thou done unto us, and what have I offended thee, that thou shouldest bring on me and on my kingdom so great a sin? thou hast done deeds unto me that ought not to be done. And Abimelech said moreover unto Abraham: What sawest thou that moved thee to do this thing? And Abraham answered. I thought that peradventure the fear of God was not in this place, and that they should slay me for my wife's sake: yet in very deed she is my sister, the daughter of my father, but not of my mother: and became my wife. And after God caused me to wander out of my father's house, I said unto her: This kindness shalt thou shew unto me in all places where we come, that thou say of me, how that I am thy brother. Then took Abimelech sheep and oxen, menservants and womenservants and gave them unto Abraham, and delivered him Sara his wife again. And Abimelech said: behold the land lieth before thee, dwell where it pleaseth thee best. And unto Sara he said: See I have given thy brother a thousand pieces of silver, behold he* shall be a covering to thine eyes unto all that are with thee and unto all men and an excuse. And so Abraham prayed unto God, and God healed Abimelech and his wife and his maidens, so that they bare. For the LORD had closed to, all the matrices of the house of Abimelech, because of Sara Abraham's wife.

The LORD visited Sara as he had said and did unto her according as he had spoken.* And Sara was with child and bare Abraham a son in his old age even the same season which the Lorde had appointed. And Abraham called his son's name that was born unto him which Sara bare him Isaac: and Abraham circumcised Isaac his son when he was eight days old, as God commanded him. And Abraham was an hundred year old, when his son Isaac was born unto him. And Sara said: God hath made me a laughing stock: for all that hear, will laugh at me. She said also: who would have said unto Abraham, that Sara should have given children suck, or that I should have borne him a son in his old age: The child grew and was weaned, and Abraham made a great feast, the same day that Isaac was weaned. Sara saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian which she had borne unto Abraham, a mocking. Then she said unto Abraham: put away this bondmaid and her son: for the son of this bondwoman shall not be heir with my son Isaac:

11 But the word seemed very grievous in Abraham's sight, be-12 cause of his son. Then the Lorde said unto Abraham: let it not be grievous unto thee, because of the lad and of thy bond-maid: But in all that Sara hath said unto thee, hear her voice, 13 for in Isaac shall thy seed be called. Moreover of the son of the bondwoman will I make a nation, because he is thy seed.
14 And Abraham rose up early in the morning and took bread and a bottle with water, and gave it unto Hagar, putting it on her shoulders with the lad also, and sent her away. And she departed and wandered up and down in the wilderness of 15 Berseba. When the water was spent that was in the bottle, 16 she cast the lad under a bush and went and sat her out of sight a great way, as it were a bowshot off: For she said: I will not see the lad die. And she sat down out of sight, and lift 17 up her voice and wept. And God heard the voice of the child.
And the angel of God called Hagar out of heaven and said unto her: What aileth thee Hagar? Fear not, for God hath heard the 18 voice of the child where he lieth. Arise and lift up the lad, and take him in thy hand, for I will make of him a great people.
19 And God opened her eyes and she saw a well of water. And she went and filled the bottle with water, and gave the boy drink.
20 And God was with the lad, and he grew and dwelt in the wilder-21 ness, and became an archer. And he dwelt in the wilderness of Pharan. And his mother got him a wife out of thee, land of 22 Egypt. And it chanced the same season, that Abimelech and Phicol his chief captain spake unto Abraham saying: God is 23 with thee in all that thou doest. Now therefore swear unto me even here by God, that thou wilt not hurt me nor my children, nor my children's children. But that thou shalt deal with me and the country where thou art a stranger, according unto the 24 kindness that I have shewed thee. Then said Abraham: I will 25 swear. And Abraham rebuked Abimelech for a well of water, 26 which Abimelech's servants had taken away. And Abimelech answered I wist not who did it: Also thou toldest me not, nei-27 ther heard I of it, but this day. And Abraham took sheep and oxen and gave them unto Abimelech. And they made both of 28 them a bond together. And Abraham set seven lambs by them 29 selves. And Abimelech said unto Abraham: what mean these 30 seven lambs which thou hast set by them selves. And he answered: seven lambs shalt thou take of my hand, that it may be a witness unto me, that I have digged this well: Wherefore 31 the place is called Berseba, because they sware both of them.

 Thus made they a bond together at Berseba. Then Abimelech 32 and Phicol his chief Captain rose up and turned again unto the land of the Philistines. And Abraham planted a wood in 33 Berseba, and called there, on the name of the LORD, the everlasting God: and dwelt in the Philistine land a long season. 34

After these deeds, God did prove Abraham and said unto XXII him: Abraham. And he answered: here am I. And he said: 2 take thy only son Isaac whom thou lovest, and get thee unto the land of Moria, and sacrifice him there for a sacrifice upon one of the mountains which I will shew thee. Then Abraham 3 rose up early in the morning and saddled his ass, and took two of his meiny with him, and Isaac his son:* and clove wood for the sacrifice, and rose up and got him to the place which God had appointed him. The third day Abraham lift up his eyes 4 and saw the place afar off, and said unto his young men: bide 5 here with the ass. I and the lad will go yonder and worship and come again unto you. And Abraham took the wood of the sac- 6 rifice and laid it upon Isaac his son, and took fire in his hand and a knife. And they went both of them together. Then spake 7 Isaac unto Abraham his father and said: My father? And he answered here am I my son. And he said: See here is fire and wood, but where is the sheep for sacrifice? And Abra- 8 ham said: my son, God will provide him a sheep for sacrifice.
 So went they both together. And when they came unto the 9 place which God shewed him, Abraham made an altar there and dressed the wood, and bound Isaac his son and laid him on the altar, above upon the wood. And Abraham stretched forth 10 his hand, and took the knife to have killed his son. Then the angel of the LORD called unto him from heaven saying: Abra- 11 ham, Abraham?. And he answered: here am I. And he said: 12 lay not thy hands upon the child, neither do anything at all unto him, for now I know that thou fearest God, in that thou hast not kept thine only son from me. And Abraham lifted 13 up his eyes and looked about: and behold, there was a ram caught by the horns in a thicket. And he went and took the ram and offered him up for a sacrifice in the stead of his son.
 And Abraham called the name of the place, the LORD will see: 14

22. v.3 Other: sonne.

wherefore it is a common saying this day: in the mount will the 15 LORD be seen. And the angel of the LORD cried unto Abra-16 ham from heaven the second time saying: by myself have I sworn (saith the LORD) because thou hast done this thing and 17 hast not spared thy only son, that I will bless thee and multiply thy seed as the stars of heaven and as the sand upon the sea side. And thy seed shall possess the gates of his enemies.
 18 And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed, be-19 cause thou hast obeyed my voice. So turned Abraham again unto his young men, and they rose up and went together to 20 Berseba. And Abraham dwelt at Berseba. And it chanced after these things, that one told Abraham saying: Behold, Milcha 21 she hath also born children unto thy brother Nachor: Hus his eldest son and Bus his brother, and Kemuel the father of the 22 Sirians, and Cesed, and Haso, and Pildas, and Jedlaph, and 23 Bethuel. And Bethuel begat Rebecca. These eight did Milcha 24 bear to Nachor Abraham's brother. And his concubine called Rheuma she bare also Tebah, Gaham, Thaas and Maacha.

Sara was an hundred and twenty seven year old (for so long 2 lived she) and then died in a head city called Hebron in the land of Canaan. Then Abraham came to mourn Sara and to 3 weep for her. And Abraham stood up from the corpse, and 4 talked with the sons of Heth saying: I am a stranger and a foreigner among yow, give me a possession to bury in with you, 5 that I may bury my dead out of my sight. And the children of 6 Heth answered Abraham saying unto him: Hear us lord, thou art a prince of God among us. In the chiefest of our sepulchers bury thy dead: None of us shall forbid thee his sepulchre, that 7 thou shouldest not bury thy dead therein. Abraham stood up and bowed himself before the people of the land the children 8 of Heth. And he communed* with them saying: If it be your minds that I shall bury my dead out of my sight, hear me and 9 speak for me to Ephron the son of Zoar: and let him give me the double cave which he hath in the end of his field, for as much money as it is worth, let him give it me in the presence 10 of you, for a possession to bury in. For Ephron dwelled among the children of Heth. Then Ephron the Hethite answered Abraham in the audience of the children of Heth and of all that went

me: The field give I thee, and the cave that therein is, give I thee also. And even in the presence of the sons of my people give I it thee to bury thy dead in. Then Abraham bowed himself before the people of the land, and spake unto Ephron in the audience of the people of the country saying: I pray thee hear me, I will give silver for the field, take it of me, and so will I bury my dead there. Ephron answered Abraham saying unto him: My lord, hearken unto me. The land is worth four hundredth sicles of silver: But what is that betwixt thee and me? bury thy dead. And Abraham hearkened unto Ephron and weighed him the silver which he had said in the audience of the sons of Heth. Even four hundred silver sicles of current money among merchants. Thus was the field of Ephron wherein the double cave is before Mamre: even the field and the cave that is therein and all the trees of the field which grow in all the borders round about, made sure unto Abraham for a possession, in the sight of the children of Heth and of all that went in at the gates of the city. And then Abraham buried Sara his wife in the double cave of the field that lieth before Mamre, otherwise called Ebron in the land of Canaan. And so both the field and the cave that is therein, was made unto Abraham, a sure possession to bury in, of the sons of Heth.

Abraham was old and stricken in days, and the LORD had blessed him in all things. And he said unto his eldest servant of his house which had the rule over all that he had: Put thy hand under my thigh that I may make thee swear by the LORD that is God of heaven and God of the earth, that thou shalt not take a wife unto my son, of the daughters of the Cananites, among which I dwell. But shalt go unto my country and to my kindred, and there take a wife unto my son Isaac. Then said the servant unto him: what and if the woman will not agree to come with me unto this land, shall I bring thy son again unto the land which thou camest out of? And Abraham said unto him: beware of that, that thou bring not my son thither. The LORD God of heaven which took me from my father's house and from the land where I was born, and which spake unto me and sware unto me saying: unto thy seed will I give this land, he shall send his angel before thee, that thou mayest take a wife unto my son from thence. Nevertheless if the woman will not agree to come with thee then shalt thou be without danger of this oath. But above all things 9 bring not my son thither again. And the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham and sware to him as concerning 10 that matter. And the servant took ten camels of the camels of his master and departed, and had of all manner goods of his master with him, and stood up and went to Mesopotamia, unto 11 the city of Nahor. And made his camels to lie down without the city by a well's side of water, at even: about the time that 12 women come out to draw water, and he said: LORD God of my master Abraham, send me good speed this day, and shew 13 mercy unto my master Abraham. Lo I stand here by the well of water and the daughters of the men of this city will come 14 out to draw water: Now the damsel to whom I say, stoop down thy pitcher, and let me drink. If she say: Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also, the same is she that thou hast ordained for thy servant Isaac: yea and thereby shall I know that thou 15 hast shewed mercy on my master. And it came to pass yer he had left speaking, that Rebecca came out, the daughter of Bethuel, son to Milkah the wife of Nahor Abraham's brother, 16 and her pitcher upon her shoulder: The damsel was very fair to look upon, and yet a maid and unknown of man. And she went down to the well and filled her pitcher and came up again.

17 Then the servant ran unto her and said: let me sip a little wa-18 ter of thy pitcher. And she said: drink my lord. And she hasted and let down her pitcher upon her arm and gave him 19 drink. And when she had given him drink, she said: I will draw water for thy camels also, until they have drunk enough.
20 And she poured out her pitcher into the trough hastily, and ran again unto the well, to fetch water: and drew for all his 21 camels. And the fellow wondered at her. But held his peace, to wete whether the LORD had made his journey prosperous or 22 not. And as the camels had left drinking, he took an earring of half a sicle weight, and two bracelets for her hands, of ten sicles 23 weight of gold, and said unto her: Whose daughter art thou? tell me: is there room in thy father's house, for us to lodge 24 in? And she said unto him: I am the daughter of Bethuel the 25 son of Milkah which she bare unto Nahor: and said moreover unto him: we have litter and provender enough and also room 26 to lodge in. And the man bowed himself and worshipped the 27 LORD, and said: blessed be the LORD God of my master Abraham which ceaseth not to deal mercifully and truly with my master. And hath brought me the way to my master's brother's house. And the damsel ran and told them of her mother's house these things. And Rebecca had a brother called Laban. And Laban ran out unto the man, to the well: for as soon as he had seen the earrings and the bracelets upon his sister's hands, and heard the words of Rebecca his sister saying thus said the man unto me, then he went out unto the man. And lo, he stood yet with the camels by the well side. And Laban said: come in thou blessed of the LORD. Wherefore standest thou without? I have dressed the house and made room for the camels. And then the man came in to the house: and he unbridled the camels: and brought litter and provender for the camels, and water to wash his feet and their feet that were with him, and there was meat set before him to eat. But he said: I will not eat, until I have said mine errand: And he said: say on; And he said: I am Abraham's servant, and the LORD hath blessed my master out of measure that he is become great and hath given him sheep, oxen, silver and gold, menservants, maidservants, camels and asses. And Sara my master's wife bare him a son, when she was old: and unto him hath he given all that he hath. And my master made me swear saying: Thou shalt not take a wife to my son, among the daughters of the Cananites in whose land I dwell. But thou shalt go unto my father's house and to my kindred, and there take a wife unto my son. And I said unto my master: What if the wife will not follow me? And he said unto me: The LORD before whom I walk, will send his angel with thee, and prosper thy journey that thou shalt take a wife for my son, of my kindred and of my father's house. But and if (when thou comest unto my kindred) they will not give thee one, then shalt thou bear no peril of mine oath. And I came this day unto the well and said: O LORD, the God of my master Abraham, if it be so that thou makest my journey which I go, prosperous: behold, I stand by this well of water, and when a virgin cometh forth to draw water, and I say to her: give me a little water of thy pitcher to drink, and she say again to me: drink thou, and I will also draw water for thy camels: that same is the wife, whom the LORD hath prepared for my master's son. And before I had made an end of speaking in mine heart: behold Rebecca came forth, and her pitcher on her shoulder, and she went down unto the well and 46 drew. And I said unto her give me drink. And she made haste, and took down her pitcher from off her, and said: drink, and I will give thy camels drink also. And I drank, and she gave the 47 camels drink also. And I asked her saying: whose daughter art thou? And she answered: the daughter of Bathuel Nahor's son, whom Milkah bare unto him. And I put the earing upon 48 her face and the bracelets upon her hands. And I bowed myself, and worshipped the LORD, and blessed the LORD God of my master Abraham which had brought me the right way, to 49 take my master's brother's daughter unto his son. Now therefore if ye will deal mercifully and truly with my master, tell me: And if not, tell me also: that I may turn me to the right 50 hand or to the left. Then answered Laban and Bathuel saying: The thing is proceeded even out of the LORD, we can not 51 therefore say unto thee, either good or bad: Behold Rebecca before thy face, take her and go, and let her be thy master's 52 son's wife, even as the LORD hath said. And when Abraham's servant heard their words, he bowed himself unto the LORD, 53 flat upon the earth. And the servant took forth jewels of silver and jewels of gold and raiment, and gave them to Rebecca: 54 But unto her brother and to her mother, he gave spices. And then they ate and drank, both he and the men that were with him, and tarried all night and rose up in the morning. And 55 he said: let me depart unto my master. But her brother and her mother said: let the damsel abide with us a while, and 56 it be but even ten days, and then go thy ways. And he said unto them, hinder me not: for the LORD hath prospered my 57 journey. Send me away that I may go unto my master. And they said: let us call the damsel, and wit what she saith to the 58 matter. And they called forth Rebecca and said unto her: wilt 59 thou go with this man? And she said: Yea. Then they brought Rebecca their sister on the way and her nurse and Abraham's 60 servant, and the men that were with him. And they blessed Rebecca and said unto her: Thou art our sister, grow into thousand thousands, and thy seed possess the gates of their ene-61 mies. And Rebecca arose and her damsels, and sat them up upon the camels and went their way after the man. And the 62 servant took Rebecca and went his way. And Isaac was a coming from the well of the living and seeing, for he dwelt in the south country, and was gone out to walk in his meditations 63 before the even tide. And he lift up his eyes and looked, and 64 behold the camels were coming. And Rebecca lift up her eyes, 64 and when she saw Isaac, she lighted off the camel, and said 65 unto the servant: what man is this that cometh against us in the field? And the servant said: it is my master. And then she took her mantle, and put it about her. And the servant told 66 Isaac all that he had done. Then Isaac brought her in to his 67 mother Sara's tent, and took Rebecca and she became his wife, and he loved her: and so was Isaac comforted over his mother.

Abraham took him another wife called Ketura, which bare XXV, 2 him Simran, Jacksan, Medan, Midian, Jesback and Suah. And 3 Jacksan begat Seba and Dedan. And the sons of Dedan were Assurim, Letusim and Leumim. And the sons of Midian were 4 Epha, Ephher, Hanoth, Abida and Elda. All these were the children of Bethura.* But Abraham gave all that he had unto 5 Isaac. And unto the sons of his concubines he gave gifts, and 6 sent them away from Isaac his son (while he yet lived) eastward, unto the east country. These are the days of the life 7 of Abraham which he lived: an hundred and seventy five year and then fell sick and died, in a lusty age (when he had lived 8 enough) and was put unto his people. And his sons Isaac and 9 Ismael buried him in the double cave in the field of Ephron son, of Zoar the Hethite before Mamre. Which field Abraham 10 bought of the sons of Heth: There was Abraham buried and Sara his wife. And after the death of Abraham God blessed 11 Isaac his son, which dwelt by the well of the living and seeing.
 These are the generations of Ismael Abraham's son, which Ha- 12 gar the Egyptian Sara's handmaid bare unto Abraham. And 13 these are the names of the sons of Ismael, with their names in their kindreds. The eldest son of Ismael, Nevath, then Redar, Adbeel, Mibsam, Misma, Duma, Masa, Hadar, Thema, Jetur, 14, 15 Naphis and Kedma. These are the sons of Ismael, and these are their names, in their towns and castles twelve princes of 16 nations. And these are the years of the life of Ismael: an hun- 17 dred and thirty seven year, and then he fell sick and died, and was laid unto his people. And he dwelt from Evila unto Sur 18 that is before Egypt, as men go toward the Assyrians. And he died in the presence of all his brethren. And these are 19 the generations of Isaac Abraham's son: Abraham begat Isaac.

20 And Isaac was forty year old when he took Rebecca to wife the daughter of Bethuel the Sirian of Mesopotamia and sis-21 ter to Laban the Sirian. And Isaac made intercession unto the LORD for his wife: because she was barren: and the LORD 22 was intreated of him, and Rebecca his wife conceived: and the children strove together within her. Then she said: if it should go so to pass, what helpeth it that I am with child? And she 23 went and asked the LORD. And the LORD said unto her there are two manner of people in thy womb, and two nations shall spring out of thy bowels, and the one nation shall be might-24 younger. And when her time was come to be delivered: be-25 hold there were two twins in her womb. And he that came out first, was red and rough over all as it were an hide: and they 26 called his name Esau. And afterward his brother came out and his hand holding Esau by the heel. Wherefore his name was called Jacob. And Isaac was forty year old when she bare 27 them: and the boys grew, and Esau became a cunning hunter and a tillman. But Jacob was a simple man and dwelled in the 28 tents. Isaac loved Esau because he did eat of his venison, but 29 Rebecca loved Jacob. Jacob sod pottage, and Esau came from 30 the field and was fainty, and said to Jacob: let me sip of that red pottage, for I am fainty. And therefore was his name called 31, 32 Edom. And Jacob said: sell me this day thy birthright. And Esau answered: Lo I am at the point to die, and what profit 33 shall this birthright do me? And Jacob said, swear to me then this day. And he swore to him and sold his birthright unto Ja-34 cob. Then Jacob gave Esau bread and pottage of red rice. And he ate and drank and rose up and went his way. And so Esau regarded not his birthright.

XXVI And there fell a dearth in the land, passing the first dearth that fell in the days of Abraham. Wherefore Isaac went unto 2 Abimelech king of the Philistines unto Gerar. Then the LORD appeared unto him and said: go not down into Egypt, but bide 3 in the land which I say unto thee: Sojourn in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bless thee: for unto thee and unto thy seed I will give all these countries. And I will perform the 4 oath which I swore unto Abraham thy father, and will multiply thy seed as the stars of heaven, and will give unto thy seed all these countries. And thow thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed, because that Abraham hearkened unto 5 my voice and kept mine ordinances, commandments, statutes and laws. And Isaac dwelled in Gerar. And the men of the 6, 7 place asked him of his wife, and he said that she was his sister: for he feared to call her his wife lest the men of the place should have killed him for her sake, because she was beautiful to the eye. And it happened after he had been there long 8 time, that Abimelech king of the Philistines looked out at a window, and saw Isaac sporting with Rebecca his wife. And 9 Abimelech sent for Isaac and said: see, she is of a surety thy wife, and why saidest thou that she was thy sister? And Isaac said unto him: I thought that I might peradventure have died 10 for her sake. Then said Abimelech: why hast thou done this unto us? one of the people might lightly have lain by thy wife and so shouldest thou have brought sin upon us. Then Abimelech 11 charged all his people saying: he that toucheth this man or his wife, shall surely die for it. And Isaac sowed in the land, 12 and found in the same year an hundred bushels: for the LORD blessed him, and the man waxed mighty, and went forth and 13 grew till he was exceeding great, that he had possession of sheep, of oxen and a mighty household: so that the Philistines 14 had envy at him: Insomuch that they stopped and filled up with earth, all the wells which his father's servants digged in 15 his father Abraham's time. Then said Abimelech unto Isaac: get thee from me, for thou art mightier than we a great deal. 16 Then Isaac departed thence, and pitched his tent in the valley Gerar and dwelt there. And Isaac digged again, the wells 17 of water which they digged in the days of Abraham his father which the Philistines had stopped after the death of Abraham, and gave them the same names which his father gave them. 18 As Isaac's servants digged in the valley, they found a well of springing* water. And the herdmen of Gerar did strive with 19 Isaac's herdmen saying: the water is ours. Then called he the well Esec because they strove with him. Then digged they 21 another well, and they strove for that also. Therefore called he it Sitena. And then he departed thence, and digged another 22 well for the which they strove not: therefore called he it Re-hoboth, saying: the LORD hath now made us room, and we are 26. v.19 Other: living.

23 increased upon the earth. Afterward departed he thence and 24 came to Berseba. And the LORD appeared unto him the same night and said: I am the God of Abraham thy father, fear not for I am with thee, and will bless thee, and multiply thy seed 25 for my servant Abraham's sake. And then he builded an altar there and called upon the name of the LORD, and there pitched 26 his tent. And there Isaac's servants digged a well. Then came Abimelech to him from Gerar and Ahusath his friend and Ph-27 icoll his chief captain. And Isaac said unto them: wherefore come ye to me, seeing ye hate me and have put me away from 28 you? Then said they: we saw that the LORD was with thee, and therefore we said that there should be an oath betwixt us 29 and thee, and that we would make a bond with thee: that thou shouldest do us no hurt, as we have not touched thee, and have done unto thee nothing but good, and send thee away in peace: 30 for thou art now the blessed of the LORD. And he made them 31 a feast, and they ate and drank. And they rose up by times in the morning and sware one to another. And Isaac sent them 32 away. And they departed from him in peace. And the same day came Isaac's servants, and told him of a well which they had digged: and said unto him, that they had found water.
33 And he called it Seba, wherefore the name of the city is called 34 Berseba unto this day. When Esau was forty year old, he took to wife Judith the daughter of Bery an Hethite, and Basmath 35 the daughter of Elon an Hethite also, which were disobedient unto Isaac and Rebecca.

XXVII And it came to pass that Isaac waxed old and his eyes were dim, so that he could not see. Then called he Esau his eldest son and said unto him: my son. And he said unto him: here 2 am I. And he said: behold, I am old and know not the day of 3 my death: Now therefore take thy weapons, thy quiver and thy bow, and get thee to the fields, and take me some venison, 4 and make me meat such as I love, and bring it me and let me 5 eat that my soul may bless thee before that I die. But Rebecca heard when Isaac spoke to Esau his son. And as soon as Esau was gone to the field to catch venison, and to bring 6 it, she spake unto Jacob her son saying: Behold I have heard 7 thy father talking with Esau thy brother and saying: bring me venison and make me meat, that I may eat and bless thee 8 before the LORD yer I die. Now therefore my son hear my voice in that which I command thee: get thee to the flock, and bring me thence two good kids, and I will make meat of them for thy father, such as he loveth. And thou shalt bring it to thy father and he shall eat, that he may bless thee before his death. Then said Jacob to Rebecca his mother: Behold my brother is rough and I am smooth. My father shall peradventure feel me, and I shall seem unto him as though I went about to beguile him, and so shall he bring a curse upon me and not a blessing: and his mother said unto him. Upon me be thy curse my son, only hear my voice, and go and fetch me them. And Jacob went and fetched them and brought them to his mother. And his mother made meat of them, according as his father loved. And she went and fetched goodly raiment of her eldest son Esau which she had in the house with her, and put them upon Jacob her youngest son, and she put the skins upon his hands and upon the smooth of his neck. And she put the meat and bread which she had made in the hand of her son Jacob. And he went in to his father saying: my father. And he answered: here am I, who art thou my son? And Jacob said unto his father: I am Esau thy eldest son, I have done according as thou baddest me, up and sit and eat of my venison, that thy soul may bless me. But Isaac said unto his son: How cometh it that thou hast found it so quickly my son? He answered: The LORD thy God brought it to my hand. Then said Isaac unto Jacob: come near and let me feel thee my son, whether thou be my son Esau or not. Then went Jacob to Isaac his father, and he felt him and said the voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau. And he knew him not, because his hands were rough as his brother Esau's hands and so he blessed him. And he asked him, art thou my son Esau? And he said: that I am. Then said he: bring me and let me eat of my son's venison, that my soul may bless thee. And he brought him, and he ate. And he brought him wine also, and he drank. And his father Isaac said unto him: come near and kiss me my son. And he went to him and kissed him. And he smelled the savour of his raiment and blessed him, and said See, the smell of my son is as the smell of a field which the LORD hath blessed. God give thee of the dew of heaven, and of the fatness of the earth and plenty of corn and wine. People be thy servants and nations bow unto thee. Be lord over thy brethren, and thy mother's children stoop unto thee. Cursed be he that curseth thee, and blessed* be he that blesseth thee.

30 As soon as Isaac had made an end of blessing Jacob, and Jacob was scarce gone out from the presence of Isaac his father:

31 then came Esau his brother from his hunting: and had made also meat, and brought it in unto his father and said unto him: Arise my father and eat of thy son's venison, that thy soul may

32 bless me. Then his father Isaac said unto him: Who art thou? he answered I am thy eldest son Esau. And Isaac was greatly

33 astonied out of measure, and said: Where is he then that hath hunted venison and brought it me, and I have eaten of all before thou camest, and have blessed him, and he shall be blessed

34 still. When Esau heard the words of his father, he cried out greatly and bitterly above measure, and said unto his father: bless me also my father. And he said thy brother came with 35 subtlety, and hath taken away thy blessing. Then said he: He may well be called Jacob, for he hath undermined me now two times, first he took away my birthright: and see, now hath 36 he taken away my blessing also. And he said, hast thou kept never a blessing for me? Isaac answered and said unto Esau: behold I have made him thy lord, and all his mother's children

37 have I made his servants. Moreover with corn and wine have I stablished him, what can I do unto thee now my son? And

38 Esau said unto his father: hast thou but that one blessing my father? bless me also my father: so lifted up Esau his voice and wept. Then Isaac his father answered and said unto him: Be-

39 hold thy dwelling place shall have of the fatness of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above. And with thy sword

40 shalt thou live and shalt be thy brother's servant; But the time will come, when thou shalt get the mastery, and lowse his yoke from off thy neck. And Esau hated Jacob, because of the blessing

41 that his father blessed him withal, and said in his heart: The days of my father's sorrow are at hand, for I will slay my

42 brother Jacob. And these words of Esau her eldest son, were told to Rebecca. And she sent and called Jacob her youngest

43 son, and said unto him: behold thy brother Esau threateneth to kill thee: Now therefore my son hear my voice, make thee

til thy brother's wrath turn away from thee, and he forget that which thou hast done to him. Then will I send and fetch thee away from thence. Why should I lose you both in one day? And Rebecca spake to Isaac: I am weary of my life, for fear of the daughters of Heth. If Jacob take a wife of the daughters of Heth, such one as these are, or of the daughters of the land, what lust should I have to live?

Then Isaac called Jacob his son and blessed him, and charged XXVIII him and said unto him: see thou take not a wife of the daughters of Canaan, but arise and get thee to Mesopotamia to the house of Bethuel thy mother's father: and there take thee a wife of the daughters of Laban thy mother's brother. And God almighty bless thee, increase thee, and multiply thee that thou mayest be a number of people, and give thee the blessing of Abraham: both to thee and to thy seed with thee, that thou mayest possess the land (wherein thou art a stranger) which God gave unto Abraham. Thus Isaac sent forth Jacob, to go to Mesopotamia unto Laban, son of Bethuel the Sirien, and brother to Rebecca Jacob's and Esau's mother. When Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob, and sent him to Mesopotamia, to fetch him a wife thence, and that, as he blessed him he gave him a charge saying: see thou take not a wife of the daughters of Canaan: and that Jacob had obeyed his father and mother, and was gone unto Mesopotamia: and seeing also that the daughters of Canaan pleased not Isaac his father: Then went he unto Ismael, and took unto the wives which he had, Mahala the daughter of Ismael Abraham's son, the sister of Nabaioth to be his wife. Jacob departed from Berseba and went toward Haran, and came unto a place and tarried there all night, because the son was down. And took a stone of the place, and put it under his head, and laid him down in the same place to sleep. And he dreamed: and behold there stood a ladder upon the earth, and the top of it reached up to heaven. And see, the angels of God went up and down upon it, yea and the LORD stood upon it and said: I am the LORD God of Abraham thy father and the God of Isaac: The land which thou sleepest upon will I give thee and thy seed. And thy seed shall be as the dust of the earth: And thou shalt spread abroad: west, east, north and south. And thorow thee and thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed. And see I am with thee, and will be thy keeper in all places whother thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land: Neither will I leave thee until 16 I have made good, all that I have promised thee. When Jacob was awaked out of his sleep, he said: surely the LORD is in 17 this place, and I was not aware. And he was afraid and said how fearful is this place? it is none other, but even the house of 18 God and the gate of heaven. And Jacob stood up early in the morning and took the stone that he had laid under his head, 19 and pitched it up on end, and poured oil on the top of it. And he called the name of the place Bethel, for indeed the name of 20 the city was called Lus before time. And Jacob vowed a vow, saying: If God will be with me and will keep me in this journey which I go and will give me bread to eat, and clothes to 21 put on, so that I come again unto my father's house in safety: 22 then shall the LORD be my God, and this stone which I have set up an end, shall be God's house. And of all that thou shalt give me, will I give the tenth unto thee.

Then Jacob lift up his feet, and went toward the east country. And as he looked about, behold there was a well in the field, and three flocks of sheep lay thereby (for at that well were the flocks watered) and there lay a great stone at the 3 well mouth. And the manner was to bring the flocks thither, and to roll the stone from the well's mouth and to water the sheep, and to put the stone again upon the well's mouth unto 4 his place. And Jacob said unto them: brethren, whence be ye?
5 And they said: of Haran are we. And he said unto them: Know ye Laban the son of Nahor. And they said: We know him. And he said unto them: is he in good health? And they said: he is in good health: and behold, his daughter Rahel cometh with the 7 sheep. And he said: lo, it is yet a great while to night, neither is it time that the cattle should be gathered together: water the 8 sheep and go and feed them. And they said: we may not, until all the flocks be brought together, and the stone be rolled from 9 the well's mouth, and so we water our sheep. While he yet talked with them, Rahel came with her father's sheep, for she 10 kept them. As soon as Jacob saw Rahel, the daughter of Laban his mother's brother, and the sheep of Laban his mother's brother, he went and rolled the stone from the well's mouth, 11 and watered the sheep of Laban his mother's brother. And 12 Jacob kissed Rahel, and lift up his voice and wept: and told her also that he was her father's brother and Rebecca's son. Then Rahel ran and told her father. When Laban heard tell of Jacob his sister's son, he ran against him, and embraced him and kissed him and brought him into his house. And then Jacob told Laban all the matter. And then Laban said: well, thou art my bone and my flesh. Abide with me the space of a month. And afterward Laban said unto Jacob: though thou be my brother, shouldst thou therefore serve me for nought? tell me what shall thy wages be? And Laban had two daughters, the eldest called Lea and the youngest Rahel. Lea was tender eyed, but Rahel was beautiful and well favored. And Jacob loved her well, and said: I will serve thee seven year for Rahel thy youngest daughter. And Laban answered: it is better that I give her thee, than to another man: bide therefore with me. And Jacob served seven years for Rahel, and they seemed unto him but a few days, for the love he had to her. And Jacob said unto Laban: give me my wife, that I may lie with her. For the time appointed me is come. Then Laban bade all the men of that place, and made a feast. And when even was come, he took Lea his daughter and brought her to him and he went in unto her. And Laban gave unto his daughter Lea, Zilpha his maid, to be her servant. And when the morning was come, behold it was Lea. Than said he to Laban: wherefore hast thou played thus with me? did not I serve thee for Rahel, wherefore then hast thou beguiled me? Laban answered: it is not the manner of this place, to marry the youngest before the eldest. Pass out this week, and then shall this also be given thee for the service which thou shalt serve me yet seven years more. And Jacob did even so, and passed out that week, and then he gave him Rahel his daughter to wife also. And Laban gave to Rahel his daughter, Bilha his handmaid to be her servant. So lay he by Rahel also, and loved Rahel more than Lea, and served him yet seven years more. When the LORD saw that Lea was despised, he made her fruitful: but Rahel was barren. And Lea conceived and bare a son, and called his name Ruben, for she said: the LORD hath looked upon my tribulation. And now my husband will love me. And she conceived again and bare a son, and said: the LORD hath heard that I am despised, and hath therefore given me this son also, and she called him Simeon. And she conceived yet and bare a son, and said: now this once will my husband keep me company, because I have borne him three sons: and therefore she called his name Levi.

35 And she conceived yet again, and bare a son saying: Now will I praise the LORD: therefore she called his name Juda, and left bearing.

XXX

When Rahel saw that she bare Jacob no children, she envied her sister and said unto Jacob: give me children, or else I am but dead. Then was Jacob wroth with Rahel saying: Am I in God's stead which keepeth from thee the fruit of thy womb?

3 Then she said: here is my maid Bilha: go in unto her, that she

4 may bear upon my lap, that I may be increased by her. And she gave him Bilha her handmaid to wife. And Jacob went in

5, 6 unto her: And Bilha conceived and bare Jacob a son. Then said Rahel: God hath given sentence on my side, and hath also heard my voice, and hath given me a son. Therefore called

7 she him Dan. And Bilha Rahel's maid conceived again, and 8 bare Jacob another son. And Rahel said: God is turned, and I have made a change with my sister, and have gotten the upper 9 hand. And she called his name Naphtali. When Lea saw that she had left bearing, she took Silpha her maid, and gave her

10, 11 Jacob to wife. And Silpha Lea's maid bare Jacob a son. Then 12 said Lea: Good luck: and called his name Gad. And Silpha 13 Lea's maid bare Jacob another son. Then said Lea: happy am I, for the daughters will call me blessed. And called his name 14 Asser. And Ruben went out in the wheat harvest and found mandragoras in the fields, and brought them unto his mother

Lea. Then said Rahel to Lea give me of thy son's mandragoras.

15 And Lea answered: Is it not enough, that thou hast taken away my husband, but wouldest take away my son's mandragoras also? Then said Rahel well, let him sleep with thee this night, 16 for thy son's mandragoras. And when Jacob came from the fields at even, Lea went out to meet him, and said: come in to me, for I have bought thee with my son's mandragoras. And 17 he slept with her that night. And God heard Lea, that she 18 conceived and bare unto Jacob the fifth son. Then said Lea:

God hath given me my reward, because I gave my maiden to 19 my husband, and she called him Isachar. And Lea conceived 20 yet again and bare Jacob the sixth son. Then said she: God hath endued me with a good dowry. Now will my husband dwell with me, because I have borne him six sons: and called his name Zabulon. After that she bare a daughter, and called 21 her Dina. And God remembered Rahel, heard her, and made 22 her fruitful: so that she conceived and bare a son, and said 23 God hath taken away my rebuke. And she called his name 24 Joseph saying: The LORD give me yet another son. As soon as 25 Rahel had borne Joseph, Jacob said to Laban: Send me away that I may go unto mine own place and country, give me my 26 wives and my children for whom I have served thee, and let me go: for thou knowest what service I have done thee. Then 27 said Laban unto him: If I have found favour in thy sight (for I suppose that the LORD hath blessed me for thy sake) appoint 28 what thy reward shall be, and I will give it thee. But he said 29 unto him, thou knowest what service I have done thee, and in what taking thy cattle have been under me: For it was but 30 little that thou hadst before I came, and now it is increased into a multitude, and the LORD hath blessed thee for my sake.

But now when shall I make provision for mine own house also?
And he said: what shall I give thee? And Jacob answered: thou 31 shalt give me nothing at all, if thou wilt do this one thing for me: And then will I turn again and feed thy sheep and keep them. I will go about all thy sheep this day, and separate 32 from them all the sheep that are spotted and of divers colours, and all black sheep among the lambs and the party and spotted among the kids: And then such shall be my reward. So 33 shall my righteousness answer for me: when the time cometh that I shall receive my reward of thee: So that whatsoever is not speckled and party among the goats and black among the lambs, let that be theft with me. Then said Laban: Lo, I am 34 content, that it be according as thou hast said. And he took 35 out that same day the he goats that were party and of divers colours, and all the goats that were spotted and party coloured, and all that had white in them, and all the black among the lambs: and put them in the keeping of his sons, and set three 36 days' journey betwixt himself and Jacob. And so Jacob kept the rest of Laban's sheep. Jacob took rods of green poplar, hazel, 37 and of chestnut trees, and pilled white streaks in them and made the white appear in the staves: And he put the staves 38 which he had pilled, even before the sheep, in the gutters and watering troughs, when the sheep came to drink: that they should conceive when they came to drink. And the sheep con- 39 ceived before the staves, and brought forth streaked, spotted 40 and party. Then Jacob parted the lambs, and turned the faces of the sheep toward spotted things, and toward all manner of black things thorow out the flocks of Laban. And he made him 41 flocks of his own by them self, which he put not unto the flocks of Laban. And alway in the first bucking time of the sheep, 42 Jacob put the staves before the sheep in the gutters, that they might conceive before the staves: But in the latter bucking time, he put them not there: so the last brood was Laban's and 43 the first Jacob's. And the man became exceeding rich and had many sheep, maidservants, menservants, camels and asses.

XXXI

And Jacob heard the words of Laban's sons how they said: Jacob hath taken away all that was our father's, and of our fa-2 ther's goods, hath he gotten all this honour. And Jacob beheld the countenance of Laban, that it was not toward him as it was 3 in times past. And the LORD said unto Jacob: turn again into the land of thy fathers and to thy kindred, and I will be with 4 thee. Then Jacob sent and called Rahel and Lea to the field 5 unto his sheep, and said unto them: I see your father's countenance, that it is not toward me as in times past. Moreover 6 the God of my father hath been with me. And ye know how 7 that I have served your father with all my might. And your father hath deceived* me and changed my wages ten times: 8 But God suffered him not to hurt me. When he said the spotted shall be thy wages, then all the sheep bare spotted. If he said, the streaked shall be thy reward, then bare all the sheep 9 streaked: thus hath God taken away your father's cattle and 10 given them me. For in bucking time, I lifted up mine eyes and saw in a dream: and behold, the rams that bucked the sheep 11 were streaked, spotted and party. And the angel of God spake unto me in a dream saying: Jacob?. And I answered: here am 12 I. And he said: lift up thine eyes and see how all the rams that leap upon the sheep are streaked, spotted and party: for I have 13 seen all that Laban doth unto thee. I am the God of Bethel where thou anointedest the stone and where thou vowdest a vow unto me. Now arise and get thee out of this country, and 14 return unto the land where thou wast born. Then answered Rahel and Lea and said unto him: we have no part nor inheri-15 tance in our father's house: he counteth us even as strangers,

31. v.7 Other: disceaved.

for he hath sold us, and hath even eaten up the price of us. 16 Moreover all the riches which God hath taken from our father, 16 that is ours and our children's. Now therefore whatsoever God hath said unto thee, that do. Then Jacob rose up and set his 17 sons and wives up upon camels, and carried away all his cattle 18 and all his substance which he had gotten in Mesopotamia, for to go to Isaac his father unto the land of Canaan Laban was 19 gone to shear his sheep, and Rahel had stolen her father's images. And Jacob went away unknowing to* Laban the Sirian, 20 and told him not that he fled. So fled he and all that he had, 21 and made himself ready, and passed over the rivers, and set his face straight toward the mount Gilead. Upon the third 22 day after, was it told Laban that Jacob was fled. Then he took 23 his brethren with him and followed after him seven days' journey, and overtook him at the mount Gilead. And God came 24 to Laban the Sirian in a dream by night, and said unto him: take heed to thyself, that thou speak not to Jacob ought save good. And Laban overtook Jacob: and Jacob had pitched his 25 tent in that mount. And Laban with his brethren pitched their tent also upon the mount Gilead. Then said Laban to Jacob: 26 why hast thou this done unknowing to me,* and hast carried away my daughters as though they had been taken captive with sword? Wherefore wentest thou away secretly unknown 27 to me and didst not tell me, that I might have brought thee on the way with mirth, singing, timbrels and harps, and hast 28 not suffered me to kiss my children and my daughters?. Thou wast a fool to do it, for I am able to do you evil. But the God 29 of your father spake unto me yesterday saying take heed that thou speak not to Jacob ought save good. And now though 30 thou wentest thy way because thou longest after thy father's house, yet wherefore hast thou stolen my gods? Jacob an- 31 swered and said to Laba: because I was afraid, and thought that thou wouldest have taken away thy daughters from me.
 But with whomsoever thou findest thy gods, let him die here 32 before our brethren. Seek that thine is by me, and take it to thee: for Jacob wist not that Rahel had stolen them. Then 33 went Laban into Jacob's tent, and into Lea's tent, and into two maidens' tents: but found them not. Then went he out of Lea's tent, and entered into Rahel's tent. And Rahel took the im- 34 ages, and put them in the camel's straw, and sat down upon them. And Laban searched all the tent: but found them not.

35 Then said she to her father: my lord, be not angry that I can not rise up before thee, for the disease of women is come upon

36 me. So searched he, but found them not. Jacob was wroth, and chode with Laban: Jacob also answered and said to him: what have I trespassed or what have I offended, that thou fol-

37 lowedest after me? Thou hast searched all my stuff, and what hast thou found of all thy household stuff? put it here before thy brethren and mine, and let them judge betwixt us both.

38 This twenty year that I have been with thee, thy sheep and thy goats have not been barren, and the rams of thy flock have

39 I not eaten. Whatsoever was torn of beasts I brought it not unto thee, but made it good myself: of my hand didst thou require it, whether it was stolen by day or night. Moreover by day the heat consumed me, and the cold by night, and my sleep

40 departed from mine eyes. Thus have I been twenty year in thy house, and served thee fourteen years for thy two daughters, and six year for thy sheep, and thou hast changed my re-

41 ward ten times. And except the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the God whom Isaac feareth, had been with me: surely thou hadst sent me away now all empty. But God beheld my tribulation, and the labour of my, hands: and rebuked thee

42 yesterday. Laban answered and said unto Jacob: the daughters are my daughters, and the children are my children, and the sheep are my sheep, and all that thou seest is mine. And what can I do this day unto these my daughters, or unto their

43 children which they have born? Now therefore come on, let us make a bond, I and thou together, and let it be a witness between thee and me. Then took Jacob a stone and set it up on 44 end, and said unto his brethren, gather stones. And they took stones, and made an heap, and they ate there, upon the heap.

45 And Laban called it Zegar Sahadutha, but Jacob called Gilead.

46 Then said Laban: this heap be witness between thee and me this day (therefore is it called Gilead) and this toot hill which the LORD seeth (said he) be witness between me and thee when 47 we are departed one from another: that thou shalt not vex my daughters neither shalt take other wives unto them. Here is no man with us: behold, God is witness betwixt thee and me.

50

51 And Laban said moreover to Jacob: behold, this heap and this mark which I have set here, betwixt me and thee: this heap 52 be witness and also this mark, that I will not come over this heap to thee, and thou shalt not come over this heap and this mark, to do any harm. The God of Abraham, the God of Nahor 53 and the God of their fathers, be judge betwixt us. And Jacob swore by him that his father Isaac feared. Then Jacob did 54 sacrifice upon the mount, and called his brethren to eat bread.

 And they ate bread and tarried all night in the hill. And early 55 in the morning Laban rose up and kissed his children and his daughters, and blessed them and departed and went unto his place again.

But Jacob went forth on his journey. And the angels of God XXXII came and met him. And when Jacob saw them, he said: this is 2 God's host: and called the name of that same place Mahanaim.
 Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother, unto the 3 land of Seir and the field of Edom. And he commanded them 4 saying: see that ye speak after this manner to my lord Esau: thy servant, Jacob sayeth thus; I have sojourned and been a stranger with Laban unto this time: and have gotten oxen, 5 asses and sheep, menservants and womenservants, and have sent to shew it my lord, that I may find grace in thy sight. And 6 the messengers came again to Jacob saying: we came unto thy brother Esau, and he cometh against thee and four hundred 7 men with him. Then was Jacob greatly afraid, and wist not which way to turn himself, and divided the people that was with him and the sheep, oxen and camels, into two companies, and said: If Esau come to the one part and smite it, the other 8 may save itself. And Jacob said: O God of my father Abra- 9 ham, and God of my father Isaac: LORD, which saidest unto me, return unto thy country and to thy kindred, and I will deal well with thee. I am not worthy of the least of all the mer- 10 cies and truth which thou hast shewed unto thy servant. For with my staff came I over this Jordan, and now have I gotten two droves. Deliver me from the hands of my brother Esau, 11 for I fear him: lest he will come and smite the mother with the children. Thou saidest that thou wouldest surely do me 12 good, and wouldest make my seed as the sand of the sea which can not be numbered for multitude. And he tarried there that 13 same night, and took of that which came to hand, a present, unto Esau his brother: Two hundred she goats and twenty 14 15 he goats: two hundred sheep and twenty rams: thirty milch camels with their colts: forty kine and ten bulls: twenty she 16 asses and ten foals and delivered them unto his servants, every drove by them selves, and said unto them: go forth before 17 me and put a space betwixt every drove. And he commanded the foremost, saying: When Esau my brother meeteth thee and asketh thee saying: whose servant art thou and whither goest 18 thou, and whose are these that go before thee: thou shalt say, they be thy servant Jacob's, and are a present sent unto my 19 lord Esau, and behold, he himself cometh after us. And so commanded he the second, and even so the third, and likewise all that followed the droves saying, of this manner see that ye 20 speak unto Esau when ye meet him, and say moreover. Behold thy servant Jacob cometh after us, for he said: I will pease his wrath with the present that goeth before me and afterward I will see him myself, so peradventure he will receive me to 21 grace. So went the present before him and he tarried all that 22 night in the tent, and rose up the same night and took his two wives and his two maidens and his eleven sons, and went over 23 the ford Jabok. And he took them and sent them over the 24 river, and sent over that he had and tarried behind himself alone. And there wrestled a man with him unto the breaking 25 of the day. And when he saw that he could not prevail against him, he smote him under the thigh, and the sinew of Jacob's 26 thigh shrank as he wrestled with him. And he said: let me go, for the day breaketh. And he said: I will not let thee go, except 27 thou bless me. And he said unto him: what is thy name? He 28 answered: Jacob. And he said: thou shalt be called Jacob no more, but Israel. For thou hast wrestled with God and with 29 men and hast prevailed. And Jacob asked him saying, tell me thy name. And he said, wherefore dost thou ask after my 30 name? and he blessed him there. And Jacob called the name of the place Pheniel, for I have seen God face to face, and yet 31 is my life reserved. And as he went over Peniel, the sun rose 32 upon him, and he halted upon his thigh: wherefore the children of Israel eat not of the sinew that shrank under the thigh, unto this day: because that he smote Jacob under the thigh in the sinew that shrank.

XXXIII

Jacob lift up his eyes and saw his brother Esau come, and with him four hundred men. And he divided the children unto Lea and unto Rahel and unto the two maidens. And he put 2 the maidens and their children foremost, and Lea and her chil- 3 dren after, and Rahel and Joseph hindermost. And he went 3 before them and fell on the ground seven times, until he came unto his brother. Esau ran against* him and embraced him 4 and fell on his neck and kissed him, and they wept. And he 5 lift up his eyes and saw the wives and their children, and said: what are these which thou there hast? And he said: they are 6 the children which God hath given thy servant. Then came 6 the maidens forth, and did their obeisance. Lea also and her 7 children came and did their obeisance. And last of all came 8 Joseph and Rahel and did their obeisance. And he said: what 8 meanest thou with all the droves which I met? And he answered: to find grace in the sight of my lord. And Esau said: 9 I have enough my brother, keep that thou hast unto thyself.

Jacob answered: oh nay but if I have found grace in thy sight, 10 receive my present of my hand: for I have seen thy face as though I had seen the face of God: wherefore receive me to 11 grace and take my blessing that I have brought thee, for God hath given it me freely. And I have enough of all things. And 12 so he compelled him to take it. And he said: let us take our 12 journey and go, and I will go in thy company. And he said 13 unto him: my lord knoweth that I have tender children, ewes and kine with young, under mine hand, which if men should overdrive but even one day, the whole flock would die. Let 14 my lord therefore go before his servant and I will drive fair and softly, according as the cattle that goeth before me and the children, be able to endure: until I come to my lord unto Seir.
And Esau said: let me yet leave some of my folk with thee. And 15 he said: what needeth it? let me find grace in the sight of my lord. So Esau went his way again that same day unto Seir. 16 And Jacob took his journey toward Sucoth, and built him an 17 house, and made booths for his cattle: whereof the name of the place is called Sucoth. And Jacob went to Salem* to the city 18 of Sichem in the land of Canaan, after that he was come from Mesopotamia, and pitched before the city, and bought a parcel 19 of ground where he pitched his tent, of the children of Hemor Sichem's father, for an hundred lambs; And he made there an 20 altar, and there called upon the mighty God of Israel.

33. v.4 Other: to meet. v.18 Other: came peaceably in.

XXXIV

Dina the daughter of Lea which she bare unto Jacob, went 2 out to see the daughters of the land. And Sichem the son of Hemor the Hevite lord of the country, saw her, and took her, 3 and lay with her, and forced her: and his heart lay unto Dina the daughter of Jacob. And he loved the damsel and spake 4 kindly unto her, and spake unto his father Hemor saying, get 5 me this maiden unto my wife. And Jacob heard that he had defiled Dina his daughter, but his sons were with the cattle in the field, and therefore he held his peace, until they were come.
6 Then Hemor the father of Sichem went out unto Jacob, to com-7 mune with him. And the sons of Jacob came out of the field as soon as they heard it, for it grieved them, and they were not a little wroth, because he had wrought folly in Israel, in that he had lain with Jacob's daughter, which thing ought not to 8 be done. And Hemor communed with them saying: the soul of my son Sichem longeth for your daughter: give her him to 9 wife, and make marriages with us: give your daughters unto 10 us, and take our daughters unto you, and dwell with us, and the land shall be at your pleasure, dwell and do your business, 11 and have your possessions therein. And Sichem said unto her father and her brethren: let me find grace in your eyes, and 12 whatsoever ye appoint me, that will I give. Ask freely of me both the dowry and gifts, and I will give according as ye say 13 unto me, and give me the damsel to wife. Then the sons of Jacob answered to Sichem and Hemor his father deceitfully, 14 because he had defiled Dina their sister. And they said unto them, we can not do this thing, that we should give our sister to one that is uncircumcised, for that were a shame unto 15 us. Only in this will we consent unto you: If ye will be as we 16 be, that all the men children among you be circumcised, then will we give our daughter to you and take yours to us, and will 17 dwell with you and be one people. But and if ye will not hearken unto us to be circumcised, than will we take our daughter 18 and go our ways. And their words pleased Hemor and Sichem his son. And the young man deferred not for to do the thing, because he had a lust to Jacob's daughter: he was also most 20 set by of all that were in his father's house. Then Hemor and Sichem went unto the gate of their city, and communed with 21 the men of their city saying: These men are peaceable with us, and will dwell in the land and do their occupation therein;

And in the land is room enough for them, let us take their daughters to wives and give them ours: only herein will they consent unto us for to dwell with us and to be one people: if all the men children that are among us be circumcised as they are. Their goods and their substance and all their cattle are ours, only let us consent unto them, that they may dwell with us. And unto Hemor and Sichem his son hearkened all that went out at the gate of his city. And all the men children were circumcised whatsoever went out at the gates of his city. And the third day when it was painful to them, two of the sons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi Dina's brethren, took either of them his sword and went into the city boldly, and slew all that was male, and slew also Hemor and Sichem his son with the edge of the sword, and took Dina their sister out of Sichem's house, and went their way. Then came the sons of Jacob upon the deed, and spoiled the city, because they had defiled their sister: and took their sheep, oxen, asses and whatsoever was in the city and also in the fields. And all their goods, all their children and their wives took they captive, and made havoc of all that was in the houses. And Jacob said to Simeon and Levi: ye have troubled me and made me stink unto the inhabitants of the land, both to the Cananites and also unto the Pherezites. And I am few in number. Wherefore they shall gather themselves together against me and slay me, and so shall I and my house be destroyed. And they answered: should they deal with our sister as with an whore?

And God said unto Jacob, arise and get thee up to Bethel, and dwell there. And make there an altar unto God that appeared unto thee, when thou fleddest from Esau thy brother. Then said Jacob unto his household and to all that were with him, put away the strange gods that are among you and make your selves clean, and change your garments, and let us arise and go up to Bethel, that I may make an altar there, unto God which heard me in the day of my tribulation and was with me in the way which I went. And they gave unto Jacob all the strange gods which were under their hands, and all their earrings which were in their ears, and Jacob hid them under an oak at Sichem. And they departed. And the fear of God fell upon the cities that were round about them, that they durst not follow after the sons of Jacob. So came Jacob to Lus in the land of Canaan, otherwise called Bethel, with all the people that was 7 with him. And he builded there an altar, and called the place Elbethel: because that God appeared unto him there, when he 8 fled from his brother. Then died Debora Rebecca's nurse, and was buried beneath Bethel under an oak. And the name of it 9 was called the oak of lamentation. And God appeared unto Jacob again after he came out of Mesopotamia, and blessed 10 him and said unto him: Thy name is Jacob. Notwithstanding thou shalt be no more called Jacob, but Israel shall be thy 11 name. And so was his name called Israel. And God said unto him: I am God allmighty, grow and multiply: for people and a multitude of people shall spring of thee, yea and kings shall 12 come out of thy loins. And the land which I gave Abraham and Isaac, will I give unto thee, and unto thy seed after thee will I 13 give it also. And God departed from him in the place where he talked with him. And Jacob set up a mark in the place where 14 he talked with him: even a pillar of stone, and poured drink offering thereon and poured also oil thereon, and called the 15 name of the place where God spake with him, Bethel. And they departed from Bethel, and when he was but a field brede from Ephrath, Rahel began to travail. And in travailing she 16 was in peril. And as she was in pains of her labour, the mid-wife said unto her: fear not, for thou shalt have this son also.

17 Then as her soul was departing, that she must die: she called his name Ben Oni. But his father called him Ben Jamin. And 18 thus died Rahel and was buried in the way to Ephrath which now is called Bethlehem. And Jacob set up a pillar upon her 20 grave, which is called Rahel's grave pillar unto this day. And Israel went thence and pitched up his tent beyond the tower of 21 Eder. And it chanced as Israel dwelt in that land, that Ruben went and lay with Bilha his father's concubine, and it came 22 to Israel's ear. The sons of Jacob were twelve in number. The sons of Lea: Ruben, Jacob's eldest son, and Simeon, Levi, Juda, 23 Isachar, and Zabulon. The sons of Rahel: Joseph and Ben Jamin. The sons of Bilha Rahel's maid: Dan and Nephtali. The 24 sons of Zilpha Lea's maid Gad and Asser. These are the sons 25, 26 which were born him in Mesopotamia. Then Jacob went unto Isaac his father to Mamre a principal city, otherwise called He-27 bron: where Abraham and Isaac sojourned as strangers. And 28 the days of Isaac were an hundred and eighty years: and then fell he sick and died, and was put unto his people being old and full of days. And his sons Esau and Jacob buried him.

These are the generations of Esau which is called Edom. XXXVI Esau took his wives of the daughters of Canaan Ada the daughter of Elon an Hethite, and Ahalibama the daughter of Ana, which Ana was the son of Zibeon an Hevite; And Basmath Ismael's daughter and sister of Nebaioth. And Ada bare unto Esau, Eliphaz: and Basmath bare Reguel: And Ahalibama bare Jeus, Jaelam and Korah. These are the sons of Esau which were born him in the land of Canaan. And Esau took his wives, his sons and daughters and all the souls of his house: his goods and all his cattle and all his substance which he had got in the land of Canaan, and went into a country away from his brother Jacob: for their riches was so much, that they could not dwell together, and that the land wherein they were strangers, could not receive them: because of their cattle. Thus dwelt Esau in mount Seir, which Esau is called Edom. These are the generations of Esau father of the Edomites in mount Seir, and these are the names of Esau's sons: Eliphaz the son of Ada the wife of Esau, and Reguel the son of Basmath the wife of Esau also. And the sons of Eliphaz were: Theman, Omar, Zepho, Gaetham and Kenas. And Thimna was concubine to Eliphaz Esau's son, and bare unto Eliphaz, Amalek. And these, be the sons of Ada Esau's wife. And these are the sons of Reguel: Nahath, Serah, Samma and Misa: these were the sons of Basmath Esau's wife. And these were the sons of Ahalibama Esau's wife the daughter of Ana son of Zebeon, which she bare unto Esau: Jeus, Jaelam and Korah. These were dukes of the sons of Esau. The children of Eliphaz the first son of Esau were these: duke Theman, duke Omar, duke Zepho, duke Kenas, duke Korah, duke Gaetham and duke Amaleck: these are the dukes that came of Eliphaz in the land of Edom, and these were the sons of Ada. These are the dukes that came of Reguel in the land of Edom, and these were the sons of Basmath Esau's wife. These were the children of Ahalibama Esau's wife: duke Jeus, duke Gaelam, duke Korah these dukes came of Ahalibama the daughter of Ana Esau's wife. These are the children of Esau, and these are the dukes of them: 20 which Esau is called Edom: These are the children of Seir the Horite, the inhabiter of the land: Lothan, Sobal, Zibeon, Ana, 21 Dison, Eser and Disan. These are the dukes of the Horites 22 the children of Seir in the land of Edom. And the children of Lothan were: Hori and Hemam. And Lothan's sister was called 23 Thimna. The children of Sobal were these: Alvan, Manahath, 24 Ebal, Sepho and Onam. These were the children of Zibeon.

 Aia and Ana, this was that Ana that found the mules in the 25 wilderness, as he fed his father Zibeon's asses. The children of Ana were these. Dison and Ahalibama the daughter of Ana.
 26 These are the children of Dison. Hemdan, Esban, Jethran, and 27 Cheran. The children of Ezer were these, Bilhan, Seavan and 28, 29 Akan. The children of Disan were: Ur and Aran. These are the dukes that came of Hori: duke Lothan, duke Sobal, duke 30 Zibeon, duke Ana, duke Dison, duke Ezer, duke Disan. These be the dukes that came of Hori in their dukedoms in the land of 31 Seir. These are the kings that reigned in the land of Edom be-32 fore there reigned any king among the children of Israel. Bela the son of Beor reigned in Edomea, and the name of his city 33 was Dinhaba. And when Bela died, Jobab the son of Serah 34 out of Bezara, reigned in his stead. When Jobab was dead, 35 Husam of the land of Themany reigned in his stead. And after the death of Husam, Hadad the son of Bedad which slew the Madianites in the field of the Moabites, reigned in his stead, 36 and the name of his city was Avith. When Hadad was dead, 37 Samla of Masreka reigned in his stead. When Samla was 38 dead, Saul of the river Rehoboth reigned in his stead. When Saul was dead, Baal Hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his 39 stead. And after the death of Baal Hanan the son of Achbor, Hadad reigned in his stead, and the name of his city was Pagu. And his wife's name Mehetabeel the daughter of Matred 40 the daughter of Mesaab. These are the names of the dukes that came of Esau, in their kindreds, places and names: Duke 41 Thimma, duke Alua, duke Jetheth, duke Ahalibama, duke 42 Ela, duke Pinon, duke Kenas, duke Theman, duke Mibzar, 43 duke Magdiel, duke Iram. These be the dukes of Edomea in their habitations, in the land of their possessions. This Esau is the father of the Edomites.

XXXVII And Jacob dwelt in the land wherein his father was a stranger, that is to say in the land of Canaan. And these are the generations of Jacob: when Joseph was seventeen year old, he kept sheep with his brethren, and the lad was with the sons of Bilha and of Zilpha his father's wives. And he brought unto their father an evil saying that was of them. And Israel loved Joseph more than all his children, because he begat him in his old age, and he made him a coat of many colours. When his brethren saw that their father loved him more than all his brethren, they hated him and could not speak one kind word unto him. Moreover Joseph dreamed a dream and told it his brethren: wherefore they hated him yet the more. And he said unto them hear I pray yow this dream which I have dreamed: Behold we were making sheaves in the field: and lo, my sheaf arose and stood upright, and yours stood round about and made obeisance to my sheaf. Then said his brethren unto him: what, shalt thou be our king or shalt thou reign over us? And they hated him yet the more, because of his dream and of his words. And he dreamed yet another dream and told it his brethren saying: behold, I have had one dream more: me thought the son* and the moon and eleven stars made obeisance to me. And when he had told it unto his father and his brethren, his father rebuked him and said unto him: what meaneth this dream which thou hast dreamed: shall I and thy mother and thy brethren come and fall on the ground before thee? And his brethren hated him, but his father noted the saying. His brethren went to keep their father's sheep in Sichem, and Israel said unto Joseph: do not thy brethren keep in Sichem? come that I may send thee to them. And he answered here am I. And he said unto him: go and see whether it be well with thy brethren and the sheep, and bring me word again: And sent him out of the vale of Hebron, for to go to Sichem. And a certain man found him wandering out of his way in the field, and asked him what he sought. And he answered: I seek my brethren, tell me I pray thee where they keep sheep. And the man said, they are departed hence, for I heard them say, let us go unto Dothan. Thus went Joseph after his brethren, and found them in Dothan. And when they saw him afar off before he came at them, they took counsel* against him, for to slay him, and said one to another: Behold

20 this dreamer cometh, come now and let us slay him and cast him into some pit, and let us say that son* wicked beast hath devoured him, and let us see what his dreams will come to.
21 When Ruben heard that, he went about to rid him out of their 22 hands and said, let us not kill him. And Ruben said moreover unto them, shed not his blood, but cast him into this pit that is in the wilderness, and lay no hands upon him: for he would have rid him out of their hands and delivered him to his father 23 again. And as soon as Joseph was come unto his brethren, 24 they stripped him out, of his gay coat that was upon him, and they took him and cast him into a pit. But the pit was empty 25 and had no water therein. And they sat them down to eat bread. And as they lift up their eyes and looked about, there came a company of Ismaelites from Gilead, and their camels laden with spicery, balm, and myrrh, and were going down into 26 Egypt. Then said Juda to his brethren, what availeth it that 27 we slay our brother, and keep his blood secret? come on, let us sell him to the Ismaelites, and let not our hands be defiled upon him: for he is our brother and our flesh. And his brethren 28 were content. Then as the Madianites merchant men passed by, they drew Joseph out of the pit and sold him unto the Ismaelites for twenty pieces of silver. And they brought him into 29 Egypt. And when Ruben came again unto the pit and found 30 not Joseph there, he rent his clothes and went again unto his brethren saying: the lad is not yonder, and whither shall I go?
31 And they took Joseph's coat and killed a goat, and dipped the 32 coat in the blood. And they sent that gay coat and caused it to be brought unto their father and said: This have we found: see, 33 whether it be thy son's coat or no. And he knew it saying: it is my son's coat: a wicked beast hath devoured him, and Joseph 34 is rent in pieces. And Jacob rent his clothes, and put sack cloth about his loins, and sorrowed for his son a long season.
35 Then came all his sons and all his daughters to comfort him.
And he would not be comforted, but said: I will go down into the grave unto my son, mourning. And thus his father wept for 36 him. And the Madianites sold him in Egypt unto Putiphar a lord of Pharaoh's: and his chief marshal.

XXXVIII And it fortun'd at that time that Judas went from his brethren 2 and gat him to a man called Hira of Odollam, and there he saw the daughter of a man called Sua a Cananite. And he took her and went in unto her. And she conceived and bare 3 a son and called his name Er. And she conceived again and 4 bare a son and called him Onan. And she conceived the third 5 time and bare a son, whom she called Sela: and he was at Chesib when she bare him. And Judas gave Er his eldest son, 6 a wife whose name was Tamar. But this Er Juda's eldest son 7 was wicked in the sight of the LORD, wherefore the LORD slew him. Then said Judas unto Onan: go in to thy brother's wife 8 and marry her, and stir up seed unto thy brother. And when 9 Onan perceived that the seed should not be his: therefore when he went in to his brother's wife, he spilled it on the ground, because he would not give seed unto his brother. And the 10 thing which he did, displeased the LORD, wherefore he slew him also. Then said Juda to Tamar his daughter-in-law: remain a widow at thy father's house, till Sela my son be grown: for he feared lest he should have died also, as his brethren did. Thus went Tamar and dwelt in her father's house. And in 12 process of time, the daughter of Sua Juda's wife died. Then Judas when he had left mourning, went unto his sheep shearers to Thimnath with his friend Hira of Odollam. And one told 13 Tamar saying: behold, thy father-in-law goeth up to Thimnath, to shear his sheep. And she put her widow's garments 14 off from her and covered her with a cloak, and disguised herself: And sat her down at the entering of Enaim which is by the high way's side to Thimnath, for because she saw that Sela was grown, and she was not given unto him to wife. When 15 Juda saw her he thought it had been an whore, because she had covered her face. And turned to her unto the way and said, come I pray thee, let me lie with thee, for he knew not that it was his daughter-in-law. And she said what wilt thou give me, for to lie with me? Then said he, I will send thee 17 a kid from the flock. She answered: Then give me a pledge till thou send it. Then said he, what pledge shall I give thee? 18 And she said: thy signet, thy necklace, and thy staff that is in thy hand. And he gave it her and lay by her, and she was with child by him. And she gat her up and went and put her 19 mantle from her, and put on her widow's raiment again. And 20 Judas sent the kid by his neighbour of Odollam, for to fetch out his pledge again from the wife's hand. But he found her not.

v.20 Other: sonne.

21 Then asked he the men of the same place saying: where is the whore that sat at Enaim in the way? And they said: there was 22 no whore here. And he came to Juda again saying: I can not find her, and also the men of the place said: that there was no 23 whore there. And Juda said: let her take it to her, lest we be shamed: for I sent the kid and thou couldest not find her. And 24 it came to pass that after three months, one told Juda saying: Thamar thy daughter-in-law hath played the whore, and with playing the whore is become great with child. And Juda said: 25 bring her forth and let her be brent. And when they brought her forth, she sent to her father-in-law saying: by the man unto whom these things pertain, am I with child. And said also: look 26 whose are this seal, necklace, and staff. And Juda knew them saying: she is more righteous than I, because I gave her not to 27 Sela my son. But he lay with her no more. When time was come that she should be delivered, behold there was two twins 28 in her womb. And as she travailed, the one put out his hand and the midwife took and bound a red thread about it saying: 29 this will come out first. But he plucked his hand back again, and his brother came out. And she said: wherefore hast thou 30 rent a rent upon thee? and called him Pharez. And afterward came out his brother that had the red thread about his hand, which was called Zarah.

XXXIX Joseph was brought unto Egypt, and Putiphar a lord of Pharaoh's: and his chief marshal an Egyptian, bought him of the Ismaelites 2 which brought him thither. And the LORD was with Joseph, and he was a lucky fellow and continued in the house of his 3 master the Egyptian. And his master saw that the LORD was with him and that the LORD made all that he did prosper in 4 his hand: Wherefore he found grace in his master's sight, and served him. And his master made him ruler of his house, and 5 put all that he had in his hand. And as soon as he had made him ruler over his house and over all that he had, the LORD blessed this Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake, and the blessing of the LORD was upon all that he had: both in the house 6 and also in the fields. And therefore he left all that he had in Joseph's hand, and looked upon nothing that was with him, save only on the bread which he ate. And Joseph was a goodly 7 person and a well favored. And it fortun'd after this, that his master's wife cast her eyes upon Joseph and said come lie with me. But he denied and said to her: Behold, my master 8 woteth not what he hath in the house with me, but hath com- 9 mitted all that he hath to my hand. He himself is not greater in the house than I, and hath kept nothing from me, but only thee because thou art his wife. How then can I do this great wickedness, for to sin against God? And after this manner 10 spake she to Joseph day by day: but he hearkened not unto her, to sleep near her or to be in her company. And it fortun- 11 ed about the same season, that Joseph entered into the house, to do his business: and there was none of the household by, in the house. And she caught him by the garment saying: come sleep 12 with me. And he left his garment in her hand and fled and got him out. When she saw that he had left his garment in her 13 hand, and was fled out, she called unto the men of the house, and told them saying: See, he hath brought in an Hebrew unto 14 us to do us shame: for he came in to me, for to have slept with me. But I cried with a loud voice. And when he heard, that 15 I lift up my voice and cried, he left his garment with me and fled away and got him out. And she laid up his garment by 16 her, until her lord came home. And she told him according to these words saying: This Hebrews' servant which thou hast 17 brought unto us came in to me to do me shame. But as soon as I lift up my voice and cried, he left his garment with me and 18 fled out. When his master heard the words of his wife which she told him saying: after this manner did thy servant to me, he waxed wroth. And he took Joseph and put him in prison: 19 even in the place where the king's prisoners lay bound. And there continued he in prison, but the LORD was with Joseph 21 and shewed him mercy, and got him favour in the sight of the keeper of the prison which committed to Joseph's hand all the 22 prisoners that were in the prison house. And whatsoever was done there, that did he. And the keeper of the prison looked 23 unto nothing that was under his hand, because the LORD was with him, and because that whatsoever he did, the LORD made it come luckily to pass.

And it chanced after this, that the chief butler of the king XL of Egypt and his chief baker had offended their lord the king of Egypt. And Pharaoh was angry with them and put them in 2 ward in his chief marshal's house: even in the prison where 3 Joseph was bound. And the chief marshal gave Joseph a 4 charge with them, and he served them. And they continued 5 a season in ward. And they dreamed either of them in one night: both the butler and the baker of the king of Egypt which were bound in the prison house, either of them his dream, and 6 each man's dream of a sundry interpretation. When Joseph came in unto them in the morning, and looked upon them: be-7 hold, they were sad. And he asked them saying, wherefore 8 look ye so sadly today? They answered him, we have dreamed a dream, and have no man to declare it. And Joseph said unto 9 them. Interpreting belongeth to God, but tell me yet. And the chief butler told his dream to Joseph and said unto him: In my 10 dream me thought there stood a vine before me, and in the vine were three branches, and it was as though it budded, and her blossoms shot forth: and the grapes thereof waxed ripe.

11 And I had Pharaoh's cup in my hand, and took of the grapes and wrung them into Pharaoh's cup, and delivered Pharaoh's cup into 12 his hand. And Joseph said unto him, this is the interpretation 13 of it. The three branches are three days: for within three days shall Pharaoh lift up thine head, and restore thee unto thine office again, and thou shalt deliver Pharaoh's cup into his hand, after the old manner, even as thou didst when thou wast his 14 butler. But think on me with thee, when thou art in good case, and shew mercy unto me. And make mention of me to Pharaoh, 15 and help to bring me out of this house: for I was stolen out of the land of the Hebrews, and here also have I done nothing at all wherefore they should have put me into this dungeon.
16 When the chief baker saw that he had well interpreted it, he said unto Joseph, me thought also in my dream, that I had 17 three wicker baskets on my head? And in the uppermost basket, of all manner bakemeats for Pharaoh. And the birds ate 18 them out of the basket upon my head. Joseph answered and said: this is the interpretation thereof. The three baskets are 19 three days, for this day three days shall Pharaoh take thy head from thee, and shall hang thee on a tree, and the birds shall 20 eat thy flesh from off thee. And it came to pass the third day which was Pharaoh's birthday, that he made a feast unto all his servants. And he lifted up the head of the chief butler and of 21 the chief baker among his servants. And restored the chief butler unto his butlership again, and he reached the cup into 22 Pharaoh's hand, and hanged the chief baker: even as Joseph had interpreted unto them. Notwithstanding the chief butler 23 remembered not Joseph, but forgot him.

And it fortun'd at two years' end, that Pharao dreamed, XLI and thought that he stood by a river's side, and that there 2 came out of the river seven goodly kine and fat fleshed, and fed in a meadow. And him thought that seven other kine came 3 up after them out of the river evil favored and lean fleshed and stood by the other upon the brink of the river. And the evil fa- 4 vored and lean fleshed kine: ate up the seven well favored and fat kine: and he awoke therewith. And he slept again and 5 dreamed the second time, that seven ears of corn grew upon one stalk rank and goodly. And that seven thin ears blasted 6 with the wind, sprang up after them: and that the seven thin 7 ears devoured the seven rank and full ears. And then Pharao awaked: and see, here is his dream. When the morning came, 8 his spirit was troubled; And he sent and called for all the sooth-sayers of Egypt and all the wise men thereof, and told them his dream: but there was none of them that could interpret it unto 9 Pharao. Then spake the chief butler unto Pharao saying: I do remember my fault this day. Pharao was angry with his ser- 10 vants, and put in ward in the chief marshal's house both me and the chief baker. And we dreamed both of us in one night 11 and each man's dream of a sundry interpretation. And there 12 was with us a young man, an Hebrew born, servant unto the chief marshal. And we told him, and he declared our dreams to us according to either of our dreams. And as he declared 13 them unto us, even so it came to pass. I was restored to mine office again, and he was hanged. Then Pharao sent and called 14 Joseph. And they made him haste out of prison. And he shaved himself and changed his raiment, and went in to Pharao. And 15 Pharao said unto Joseph: I have dreamed a dream and no man can interpretate it, but I have heard say of thee that as soon as thou hearest a dream, thou dost interpretate it. And Joseph 16 answered Pharao saying: God shall give Pharao an answer of peace without me. Pharao said unto Joseph: in my dream me 17 thought I stood by a river's side, and there came out of the river seven fat fleshed and well favored kine, and fed in the 18 meadow. And then seven other kine came up after them, poor and very evil favored and lean fleshed: so that I never saw 19 their like in all the land of Egypt in evil favoredness. And the 20 seven lean and evil favored kine ate up the first seven fat kine.

21 And when they had eaten them up, a man could not perceive that they had eaten them: for they were still as evil favored as 22 they were at the beginning. And I awoke. And I saw again in 23 my dream seven ears spring out of one stalk full and good, and seven other ears withered, thin and blasted with wind, spring 24 up after them. And the thin ears devoured the seven good ears. And I have told it unto the soothsayers, but no man can 25 tell me what it meaneth. Then Joseph said unto Pharao: both Pharao's dreams are one. And God doth shew Pharao what 26 he is about to do. The seven good kine are seven year: and the seven good ears are seven year also, and is but one dream.
27 Likewise, the seven thin and evil favored kine that came out after them, are seven years: and the seven empty and blasted 28 ears shall be seven years of hunger. This is that which I said unto Pharao, that God doth shew Pharao what he is about to 29 do. Behold there shall come seven year of great plenteous-30 ness throughout all the land of Egypt. And there shall arise after them seven years of hunger. So that all the plenteousness shall be forgotten in the land of Egypt. And the hunger shall 31 consume the land: so that the plenteousness shall not be once a seen in the land by reason of that hunger that shall come 32 after, for it shall be exceeding great. And as concerning that the dream was doubled unto Pharao the second time, it betokeneth that the thing is certainly prepared of God, and that 33 God will shortly bring it to pass. Now therefore let Pharao provide for a man of understanding and wisdom, and set him 34 over the land of Egypt. And let Pharao make officers over the land, and take up the fifth part of the land of Egypt in the seven 35 plenteous years and let them gather all the food of these good years that come, and lay up corn under the power of Pharao: 36 that there may be food in the cities, and there let them keep it: that there may be food in store in the land, against the seven years of hunger which shall come in the land of Egypt, 37 and that the land perish not thorow hunger. And the saying pleased Pharao and all his servants. Then said Pharao unto 38 his servants: where shall we find such a man as this is, that hath the spirit of God in him? wherefore Pharao said unto 39 Joseph: forasmuch as God hath shewed thee all this, there is 40 no man of understanding nor of wisdom like unto thee. Thou therefore shalt be over my house, and according to thy word shall all my people obey: only in the king's seat will I be above thee. And he said unto Joseph: behold, I have set thee over all the land of Egypt. And he took off his ring from his finger, and put it upon Joseph's finger, and arrayed him in raiment of byss, and put a golden chain about his neck and set him upon the best chariot that he had save one. And they cried before him Abrech, and that Pharao had made him ruler over all the land of Egypt. And Pharao said unto Joseph: I am Pharao, without thy will, shall no man lift up either his hand or foot in all the land of Egypt. And he called Joseph's name Zaphnath Pae-nea. And he gave him to wife Asnath the daughter of Potiphar priest of On. Then went Joseph abroad in the land of Egypt. And he was thirty year old when he stood before Pharao king of Egypt. And then Joseph departed from Pharao, and went thorow out all the land of Egypt. And in the seven plenteous years they made sheaves and gathered up all the food of the seven plenteous years which were in the land of Egypt and put it into the cities. And he put the food of the fields that grew round about every city: even in the same. And Joseph laid up corn in store, like unto the sand of the sea in multitude out of measure, until he left numbering: For it was without number. And unto Joseph were born two sons before the years of hunger came, which Asnath the daughter of Potiphar priest of On, bare unto him. And he called the name of the first son Manasse, for God (said he) hath made me forget all my labour and all my father's household. The second called he Ephraim, for God (said he) hath caused me to grow in the land of my trouble. And when the seven years of plenteousness that was in the land of Egypt were ended, then came the seven years of dearth, according as Joseph had said. And the dearth was in all lands: but in the land of Egypt was there yet food. When now all the land of Egypt began to hunger, then cried the people to Pharao for bread. And Pharao said unto all Egypt: go unto Joseph, and what he saith to you that do. And when the dearth was thorow out all the land, Joseph opened all that was in the cities, and sold unto the Egyptians. And hunger waxed sore in the land of Egypt. And all countries came to Egypt to Joseph for to buy corn: because that the hunger was so sore in all lands.

XLII

When Jacob saw that there was corn to be sold in Egypt, 2 he said unto his sons: why are ye negligent? behold, I have heard that there is corn to be sold in Egypt. Get you thither 3 and buy us corn from thence, that we may live and not die. So 4 went Joseph's ten brethren down to buy corn in Egypt, for Ben Jamin Joseph's brother would not Jacob send with his other brethren: for he said: some misfortune might happen 5 him. And the sons of Israel came to buy corn among other that came, for there was dearth also in the land of Canaan.
6 And Joseph was governor in the land, and sold corn to all the people of the land. And his brethren came, and fell flat on 7 the ground before him. When Joseph saw his brethren, he knew them: But made strange unto them, and spake roughly unto them saying: Whence come ye? and they said: out of the 8 land of Canaan, to buy vitaille. Joseph knew his brethren, 9 but they knew not him. And Joseph remembered his dreams which he dreamed of them, and said unto them: ye are spies, 10 and to see where the land is weak is your coming. And they said unto him: nay, my lord: but to buy vitaille thy servants 11 are come. We are all one man's sons, and mean truly, and thy servants are no spies. And he said unto them: nay verily, but 12 even to see where the land is weak is your coming. And they said: we thy servants are twelve brethren, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan. The youngest is yet with our father, 14 and one no man woteth where he is. Joseph said unto them, 15 that is it that I said unto you, that ye are surely spies. Here by ye shall be proved. For by the life of Pharao, ye shall not 16 go hence, until your youngest brother be come hither. Send therefore one of you and let him fetch your brother, and ye shall be in prison in the mean season. And thereby shall your words be proved, whether there be any truth in you: or else 17 by the life of Pharao, ye are but spies. And he put them in 18 ward three days. And Joseph said unto the third day: This do 19 and live, for I fear God. If ye mean no hurt, let one of your brethren be bound in the prison, and go ye and bring the nec-20 essary food unto your households, and bring your youngest brother unto me: that your words may be believed, and that 21 ye die not; And they did so. Then they said one to another: we have verily sinned against our brother, in that we saw the anguish of his soul when he besought us, and would not hear him: therefore is this trouble come upon us. Ruben answered 22 them saying: said I not unto you that ye should not sin against the lad? but ye would not hear; And now verily see, his blood is required. They were not aware that Joseph understood them, 23 for he spake unto them by an interpreter. And he turned from them and wept, and then turned to them again and communed 24 with them, and took out Simeon from among them and bound him before their eyes, and commanded to fill their sacks with 25 corn, and to put every man's money in his sack, and to give them vitaille to spend by the way. And so it was done to them.

And they laded their asses with the corn and departed thence. 26
And as one of them opened his sack, for to give his ass proven- 27 der in the Inn, he spied his money in his sack's mouth. And 28 he said unto his brethren: my money is restored me again, and is even in my sack's mouth. Then their hearts failed them, and were astonied and said one to another: how cometh it that God dealeth thus with us? And they came unto Jacob their 29 father unto the land of Canaan, and told him all that had happened them saying: The lord of the land spake roughly to us, 30 and took us for spies to search the country. And we said unto 31 him: we mean truly and are no spies. We be twelve brethren 32 sons of our father, one is away, and the youngest is now with our father in the land of Canaan. And the lord of the coun- 33 try said unto us: hereby shall I know if ye mean truly: leave one of your brethren here with me, and take food necessary for your households and get you away, and bring your youngest 34 brother unto me; And thereby shall I know that ye are no spies, but mean truly: So will I deliver you your brother again, and ye shall occupy in the land. And as they emptied their sacks, 35 behold: every man's bundle of money was in his sack. And when both they and their father saw the bundles of money, they were afraid. And Jacob their father said unto them: Me 36 have ye robbed of my children: Joseph is away, and Simeon is away, and ye will take Ben Jamin away. All these things fall upon me. Ruben answered his father saying: Slay my two 37 sons, if I bring him not to thee again. Deliver him therefore to my hand, and I will bring him to thee again: And he said: my 38 son shall not go down with you. For his brother is dead, and he is left alone. Moreover some misfortune might happen upon him by the way which ye go. And so should ye bring my gray head with sorrow unto the grave.

XLIII, 2 And the dearth waxed sore in the land. And when they had eaten up that corn which they brought out of the land of Egypt, their father said unto them: go again and buy us a little food.

3 Then said Juda unto him: the man did testify unto us saying: look that ye see not my face except your brother be with you.

4 Therefore if thou wilt send our brother with us, we will go and

5 buy the food. But if thou wilt not send him, we will not go: for the man said unto us: look that ye see not my face, except

6 your brother be with you. And Israel said: wherefore dealt ye so cruelly with me, as to tell the man that ye had yet another

7 brother? And they said: The man asked us of our kindred saying: is your father yet alive? have ye not another brother? And we told him according to these words. How could we know that

8 he would bid us bring our brother down with us? Then said Juda unto Israel his father: Send the lad with me, and we will rise and go, that we may live and not die: both we, thou and

9 also our children. I will be surety for him, and of my hands require him. If I bring him not to thee and set him before 10 thine eyes, then let me bear the blame for ever. For except we had made this tarrying: by this we had been there twice

11 and come again. Then their father Israel said unto them: if it must needs be so now: then do thus, take of the best fruits of the land in your vessels, and bring the man a present, a courtesy balm, and a courtesy of honey, spices and myrrh, dates 12 and almonds. And take as much money more with you. And the money that was brought again in your sacks, take it again with you in your hands, peradventure it was some oversight.

13 Take also your brother with you, and arise and go again to the 14 man. And God almighty give you mercy in the sight of the man and send you your other brother and also Ben Jamin, and 15 I will be as a man robbed of his children. Thus took they the present and twice so much more money with them, and Ben Jamin. And rose up, went down to Egypt, and presented himself

16 to Joseph. When Joseph saw Ben Jamin with them, he said to the ruler of his house: bring these men home, and slay and 17 make ready: for they shall dine with me at noon. And the man did as Joseph bade, and brought them in to Joseph's house.

18 When they were brought to Joseph's house, they were afraid, and said: because of the money that came in our sacks' mouths at the first time, are we brought, to pick a quarrel with us and to lay some thing to our charge: to bring us in bondage and our asses also. Therefore came they to the man that was the ruler 19 over Joseph's house, and communed with him at the door and 20 said: Sir, we came hither at the first time to buy food, and as 21 we came to an inn and opened our sacks: behold, every man's money was in his sack with full weight: But we have brought it again with us, and other money have we brought also in 22 our hands, to buy food, but we can not tell who put our money in our sacks. And he said: be of good cheer, fear not: Your 23 God and the God of your fathers hath put you that treasure in your sacks, for I had your money. And he brought Simeon out to them and led them into Joseph's house, and gave them 24 water to wash their feet, and gave their asses provender: And 25 they made ready their present against Joseph came at noon, for they heard say that they should dine there. When Joseph 26 came home, they brought the present into the house to him, which they had in their hands, and fell flat on the ground before him. And he welcomed them courteously saying: is your 27 father that old man which ye told me of, in good health? and is he yet alive? they answered: thy servant our father is in good 28 health, and is yet alive. And they bowed them selves and fell to the ground. And he lift up his eyes and beheld his brother Ben 29 Jamin his mother's son, and said: is this your youngest brother of whom ye said unto me? And said: God be merciful unto thee my son. And Joseph made haste (for his heart did melt upon 30 his brother) and sought for to weep, and entered into his chamber, for to weep there. And he washed his face and came out 31 and refrained himself, and bade set bread on the table. And 32 they prepared for him by himself, and for them by them selves, and for the Egyptians which ate with him by them selves, because the Egyptians may not eat bread with the Hebrews, for that is an abomination unto the Egyptians. And they sat be- 33 fore him: the eldest according unto his age, and the youngest according unto his youth. And the men marvelled among them selves. And they brought rewards unto them from before him: 34 but Ben Jamin's part was five times so much as any of theirs.

 And they ate and they drank, and were drunk with him.

And he commanded the ruler of his house saying: fill the XLIV men's sacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put ev- 2 ery man's money in his bag mouth, and put my silver cup in the sack's mouth of the youngest and his corn money also. And he 3 did as Joseph had said. And in the morning as soon as it was 4 light, the men were let go with their asses. And when they were out of the city and not yet far away, Joseph said unto the ruler of his house: up and follow after the men and overtake them, and say unto them: wherefore have ye rewarded evil 5 for good? is that not the cup of which my lord drinketh, and doth he not prophesy therein? ye have evil done that ye have 6 done. And he overtook them and said the same words unto 7 them. And they answered him: wherefore saith my lord such 8 words? God forbid that thy servants should do so. Behold, the money which we found in our sack's mouths, we brought again unto thee, out of the land of Canaa: how then should we steal 9 out of my lord's house, either silver or gold? with whosoever of thy servants it be found let him die, and let us also be my 10 lord's bondmen. And he said: Now therefore according unto your words, he with whom it is found, shall be my servant: but 11 ye, shall be harmless. And at once every man took down his 12 sack to the ground, and every man opened his sack. And he searched, and began at the eldest and left at the youngest. And 13 the cup was found in Ben Jamin's sack. Then they rent their clothes, and laded every man his ass and went again unto the 14 city. And Juda and his brethren came to Joseph's house, for 15 he was yet there, and they fell before him on the ground. And Joseph said unto them: what deed is this which ye have done?

16 wist ye not that such a man as I can prophesy? Then said Juda: what shall we say unto my lord, what shall we speak or what excuse can we make? God hath found out the wickedness of thy servants. Behold, both we and he with whom the cup is 17 found, are thy servants. And he answered: God forbid that I should do so, the man with whom the cup is found, he shall be 18 my servant: but go ye in peace unto your father. Then Juda went unto him and said: oh my lord, let thy servant speak a word in my lord's audience,* and be not wroth with thy servant: 19 for thou art even as Pharaoh. My lord asked his servant saying: 20 have ye a father or a brother? And we answered my lord, we have a father that is old, and a young lad which he begat in his age: and the brother of the said lad is dead, and he is all that is left of that mother. And his father loveth him. Then said 21 my lord unto his servants bring him unto me, that I may set mine eyes upon him. And we answered my lord, that the lad 22 could not go from his father, for if he should leave his father, he were but a dead man. Then saidest thou unto thy servants: 23 except your youngest brother come with you, look that ye see my face no more. And when we came unto thy servant our 24 father, we shewed him what my lord had said. And when our 25 father said unto us, go again and buy us a little food: we said, 26 that we could not go. Nevertheless if our youngest brother go with us then will we go, for we may not see the man's face, except our youngest brother be with us. Then said thy servant 27 our father unto us. Ye know that my wife bare me two sons.

44. v.18 Other: ear.

 And the one went out from me and it is said of a surety that he 28 is torn in pieces of wild beasts, and I saw him not since. If ye 29 shall take this also away from me and some misfortune happen upon him, then shall ye bring my gray head with sorrow unto the grave. Now therefore when I come to thy servant my 30 father, if the lad be not with me: seeing that his life hangeth by the lad's life, then as soon as he seeth that the lad is not 31 come, he will die. So shall we thy servants bring the gray head of thy servant our father with sorrow unto the grave. For I 32 thy servant became surety for the lad unto my father and said: if I bring him not unto thee again. I will bear the blame all my life long. Now therefore let me thy servant bide here for the 33 lad, and be my lord's bondman: and let the lad go home with his brethren. For how can I go unto my father, and the lad not 34 with me: lest I should see the wretchedness that shall come on my father.

And Joseph could no longer refrain before all them that XLV stood about him, but commanded that they should go all out from him, and that there should be no man with him, while he uttered himself unto his brethren. And he wept aloud, so that 2 the Egyptians and the house of Pharaoh heard it. And he said 3 unto his brethren: I am Joseph: doth my father yet live? But his brethren could not answer him, for they were abashed at his presence. And Joseph said unto his brethren: come near 4 to me, and they came near. And he said: I am Joseph your brother whom ye sold into Egypt. And now be not grieved 5 therewith, neither let it seem a cruel thing in your eyes, that ye sold me hither. For God did send me before you to save life.

6 For this is the second year of dearth in the land, and five more are behind in which there shall neither be earing nor harvest.
7 Wherefore God sent me before you to make provision, that ye might continue in the earth and to save your lives by a great 8 deliverance. So now it was not ye that sent me hither, but God: and he hath made me father unto Pharao and lord over 9 all his house, and ruler in all the land of Egypt. Haste you and go to my father and tell him, this sayeth thy son Joseph: God hath made me lord over all Egypt. Come down unto me and 10 tarry not. And thou shalt dwell in the land of Gosan and be by me: both thou and thy children, and thy children's children: 11 and thy sheep, and beasts and all that thou hast. There will I make provision for thee: for there remain yet five years of dearth, lest thou and thy household and all that thou hast per-12 ish. Behold, your eyes do see, and the eyes also of my brother 13 Ben Jamin, that I speak to you by mouth. Therefore tell my father of all my honour which I have in Egypt and of all that 14 ye have seen, and make haste and bring in father hither. And he fell on his brother Ben Jamin's neck and wept, and Ben Ja-15 min wept on his neck. Moreover he kissed all his brethren and wept upon them. And after that, his brethren talked with 16 him. And when the tidings was come unto Pharao's house that Joseph's brethren were come, it pleased Pharao well and 17 all his servants. And Pharao spake unto Joseph: say unto thy brethren, this do ye: lade your beasts and get you hence. And 18 when ye be come unto the land of Canaan, take your father and your households and come unto me, and I will give you the best of the land of Egypt, and ye shall eat the fat of the land.
19 And commanded also. This do ye: take chariots with you out of the land of Egypt, for your children and for your wives: and 20 bring your father and come. Also, regard not your stuff, for 21 the goods of all the land of Egypt shall be yours. And the children of Israel did even so. And Joseph gave them chariots at the commandment of Pharao, and gave them vitaille also 22 to spend by the way. And he gave unto each of them change of raiment: but unto Ben Jamin he gave three hundred pieces 23 of silver and five changes of raiment. And unto his father he sent after the same manner: ten he asses laden with goods out of Egypt, and ten she asses laden with corn, bread and meat:

to serve his father by the way. So sent he his brethren away, 24 and they departed. And he said unto them: see that ye fall not out by the way. And they departed from Egypt and came 25 into the land of Canaan unto Jacob their father, and told him saying: Joseph is yet alive and is governor over all the land 26 of Egypt. And Jacob's heart wavered, for he believed them not.
 And they told him all the words of Joseph which he had said 27 unto them. But when he saw the chariots which Joseph had sent to carry him, then his spirits revived. And Israel said: I 28 have enough, if Joseph my son be yet alive: I will go and see him, yer that I die.

Israel took his journey with all that he had, and came unto XLVI Berseba and offered offerings unto the God of his father Isaac.
 And God said unto Israel in a vision by night, and called unto 2 him: Jacob, Jacob. And he answered: here am I. And he said: 3 I am that mighty God of thy father, fear not to go down into Egypt. For I will make of thee there a great people. I will go 4 down with thee into Egypt, and I will also bring thee up again, and Joseph shall put his hand upon thine eyes. And Jacob 5 rose up from Berseba. And the sons of Israel carried Jacob their father, and their children and their wives in the chariots which Pharaoh had sent to carry him. And they took their cat- 6 tle and the goods which they had gotten in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt: both Jacob and all his seed with him, his 7 sons and his sons' sons with him: his daughters and his sons daughters and all his seed brought he with him into Egypt.
 These are the names of the children of Israel which came into 8 Egypt, both Jacob and his sons: Ruben Jacob's first son. The 9 children of Ruben: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron and Charmi. The 10 children of Simeon: Jemuel, Jami, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar and Saul the son of a Cananitish woman. The children of Levi: 11 Gerson, Kahath and Merari. The children of Juda: Er, Onan, 12 Sela, Pharez and Zerah, but Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. The children of Pharez, Hezron, and Hamul. The 13 children of Isachar: Tola, Phua, Job and Semnon. The chil- 14 dren of Zabulon: Sered, Elon and Jaheleel. These be the chil- 15 dren of Lea which she bare unto Jacob in Mesopotamia with his daughter Dina. All these souls of his sons and daughters make thirty and six.* The children of Gad: Ziphion, Haggi, Suni, 16

46. v.15 Other: three.

17 Ezbon, Eri Arodi and Areli. The children of Asser: Jemna, 18 Jesua, Jesui, Bria and Serah their sister. And the children 19 of Bria were Heber and Malchiel. These are the children of 20 Silpha whom Laban gave to Lea his daughter. And these she 21 bare unto Jacob in number sixteen souls. The children of Ra-22 hel Jacob's wife: Joseph and Ben Jamin. And unto Joseph in 23, 24 the land of Egypt were borne: Manasses and Ephraim which 25 Asnath the daughter of Putiphar priest of On bare unto him.
 26 The children of Ben Jamin: Bela, Becher, Asbel, Gera, Nae-27 man, Ehi, Ros, Mupim, Hupim and Ard. These are the chil-28 dren of Rahel which were born unto Jacob: fourteen souls alto-29 gether. The children of Dan: Husim. The children Nepthali: 30 Jahezeel, Guni, Jezer and Sillem. These are the sons of Bilha 31 which Laban gave unto Rahel his daughter, and she bare these 32 unto Jacob, altogether seven souls. All the souls that came 33 with Jacob into Egypt which came out of his loins (beside his 34 son's wives) were all together sixty and six souls. And the sons of Joseph, which were born him in Egypt were: two souls.
 So that all the souls of the house of Jacob which came into Egypt are seventy. And he sent Juda before him unto Joseph that the way might be shewed him unto Gosan, and they came into the land of Gosan. And Joseph made ready his chariot and went against* Israel his father unto Gosan, and presented himself unto him, and fell on his neck and wept upon his neck a good while. And Israel said unto Joseph: Now I am content to die, insomuch I have seen thee, that thou art yet alive. And Joseph said unto his brethren and unto his father's house: I will go and shew Pharao and tell him: that my brethren and my father's house which were in the land of Canaan are come unto me, and how they are shepherds (for they were men of cattle) and they have brought their sheep and their oxen and all that they have with them. If Pharao call you and ask you what your occupation is, say: thy servants have been occupied about cattle, from our childhood unto this time: both we and our fathers, that ye may dwell in the land of Gosan. For an abomination unto the Egyptians are all that feed sheep.*

XLVII

And Joseph went and told Pharao and said: my father and my brethren their sheep and their beasts and all that they have, are come out of the land of Canaan and are in the land v.29 Other: to meet. v.34 Other: For the Egyptians abhor all shepherds.

of Gosan. And Joseph took a part of his brethren: even five 2 of them, and presented them unto Pharao. And Pharao said 3 unto his brethren: what is your occupation? And they said 3 unto Pharao: feeders of sheep* are thy servants, both we and also our fathers. They said moreover unto Pharao: for to so- 4 journ in the land are we come, for thy servants have no pasture for their sheep so sore is the famishment in the land of Canaan.
Now therefore let thy servants dwell in the land of Gosan.
And Pharao said unto Joseph: thy father and thy brethren are 5 come unto thee. The land of Egypt is open before thee: In the 6 best place of the land make both thy father and thy brethren dwell: And even in the land of Gosan let them dwell. Moreover if thou know any men of activity among them, make them 7 rulers over my cattle. And Joseph brought in Jacob his father and set him before Pharao. And Jacob blessed Pharao. And 8 Pharao asked Jacob, how old art thou? And Jacob said unto 9 Pharao: the days of my pilgrimage are an hundred and thirty years. Few and evil have the days of my life been, and have not attained unto the years of the life of my fathers in the days of their pilgrimages. And Jacob blessed Pharao and went out 10 from him. And Joseph prepared dwellings for his father and 11 his brethren, and gave them possessions in the land of Egypt, in the best of the land: even in the land of Rameses, as Pharao commanded. And Joseph made provision for his father, his 12 brethren and all his father's household, as young children are fed with bread. There was no bread in all the land, for the 13 dearth was exceeding sore: so that the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan, were famished by the reason of the dearth.
And Joseph brought together all the money that was found 14 in the land of Egypt and of Canaan, for the corn which they bought: and he laid up the money in Pharao's house. When 15 money failed in the land of Egypt and of Canaan, all the Egyptians came unto Joseph and said: give us sustenance: wherefore sufferest thou us to die before thee: for our money is spent.
Then said Joseph: bring your cattle, and I will give yow for 16 your cattle, if ye be without money. And they brought their 17 cattle unto Joseph. And he gave them bread for horses and sheep, and oxen and asses: so he fed them with bread for all their cattle that year. When that year was ended, they came 18

47. v.3 Other: shepherds.

unto him the next year and said unto him: we will not hide it from my lord, how that we have neither money nor cattle for my lord: there is no more left for my lord, but even our bod-19 ies and our lands. Wherefore lettest thou us die before thine eyes, and the land to go to nought? buy us and our lands for bread: and let both us and our lands be bond to Pharao. Give us seed, that we may live and not die, and that the land go not 20 to waste. And Joseph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharao.
 For the Egyptians sold every man his land because the dearth 21 was sore upon them: and so the land became Pharao's. And he appointed the people unto the cities, from one side of Egypt 22 unto the other: only the land of the Priests bought he not. For there was an ordinance made by Pharao for the priests, that they should eat that which was appointed unto them: which Pharao had given them wherefore they sold not their lands.
 23 Then Joseph said unto the folk: behold I have bought you this day and your lands for Pharao. Take there seed and go sow 24 the land. And of the increase, ye shall give the fifth part unto Pharao, and four parts shall be your own, for seed to sow the field: and for you, and them of your households, and for your 25 children, to eat. And they answered: Thou hast saved our lives. Let us find grace in the sight of my lord, and let us be 26 Pharao's servants. And Joseph made it a law over the land of Egypt unto this day: that men must give Pharao the fifth part, except the land of the priests only, which was not bond unto 27 Pharao. And Israel dwelt in Egypt: even in the country of Gosan. And they had their possessions therein, and they grew 28 and multiplied exceedingly. Moreover Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years, so that the hole age of Jacob was an 29 hundred and forty seven year. When the time drew nye, that Israel must die: he sent for his son Joseph and said unto him: If I have found grace in thy sight, put thy hand under my thigh and deal mercifully and truly with me, that thou bury me not 30 in Egypt: but let me lie by my fathers, and carry me out of Egypt, and bury me in their burial. And he answered: I will do 31 as thou hast said. And he said: swear unto me: and he sware unto him. And then Israel bowed him unto the bed's head.

XLVIII After these deeds, tidings were brought unto Joseph, that his father was sick. And he took with him his two sons, Man-2 asse and Ephraim. Then was it said unto Jacob: behold, thy son Joseph cometh unto thee. And Israel took his strength unto him, and sat up on the bed, and said unto Joseph: God 3 all mighty appeared unto me at Lus in the land of Canaan, and blessed me, and said unto me: behold, I will make thee grow 4 and will multiply thee, and will make a great number of people of thee, and will give this land unto thee and unto thy seed after thee unto an everlasting possession. Now therefore thy 5 two sons Manasse and Ephraim which were born unto thee before I came to thee, into Egypt, shall be mine: even as Ruben and Simeon shall they be unto me. And the children which 6 thou gettest after them, shall be thine own: but shall be called with the names of their brethren in their inheritances. And 7 after I came from Mesopotamia, Rahel died upon my hand in the land of Canaan, by the way: when I had but a field's brede to go unto Ephrat. And I buried her there in the way to Ephrat which is now called Bethlehem. And Israel beheld Joseph's 8 sons and said: what are these? And Joseph said unto his fa- 9 ther: they are my sons, which God hath given me here. And he said: bring them to me, and let me bless them. And the 10 eyes of Israel were dim for age, so that he could not see. And he brought them to him, and he kissed them and embraced them. And Israel said unto Joseph: I had not thought to have 11 seen thy face, and yet lo, God hath shewed it me and also thy seed. And Joseph took them away from his lap, and they fell 12 on the ground before him. Then took Joseph them both: Eph- 13

in his left hand, toward Israel's right hand, and brought them unto him. And Israel stretched out his right hand and laid it 14 upon Ephraim's head which was the younger, and his left hand upon Manasse's head, crossing his hands, for Manasse was the 15 elder. And he blessed Joseph saying: God before whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac did walk, and the God which hath fed 16 me all my life long unto this day; And the angel which hath delivered me from all evil, bless these lads: that they may be 17 called after my name, and after my father Abraham and Isaac, and that they may grow and multiply upon the earth. When Joseph saw that his father laid his right hand upon the head of Ephraim, it displeased him. And he lift up his father's hand, to have removed it from Ephraim's head unto Manasse's head, and said unto his father: Not so my father, for this is the eldest. 18 19 Put thy right hand upon his head. And his father would not, but said: I know it well my son, I know it well. He shall be also a people and shall be great. But of a troth his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his seed shall be full of people.

 20 And he blessed them saying: At the example of these, the Israelites shall bless and say: God make thee as Ephraim and as 21 Manasse. Thus set he Ephraim before Manasse. And Israel said unto Joseph: behold, I die. And God shall be with you and 22 bring you again unto the land of your fathers. Moreover I give unto thee, a portion of land above thy brethren which I gat out of the hands of the Amorites with my sword and with my bow.

XLIX

And Jacob called for his sons and said: come together, that 2 I may tell you what shall happen you in the last days. Gather you together and hear ye sons of Jacob, and hearken unto Israel your father. Ruben, thou art mine eldest son, my might and the beginning of my strength, chief in receiving and chief 3 in power. As unstable as water wast thou: thou shalt therefore not be the chiefest, for thou wentest up upon thy father's 4 bed, and then defiledest thou my couch with going up. The brethren Simeon and Levi, wicked instruments are their weapons.
 5 Into their secrets come not my soul, and unto their congregation be my honour not coupled: for in their wrath they slew 6 a man, and in their self will they houghed an ox. Cursed be their wrath for it was strong, and their fierceness for it was cruel. I will therefore divide them in Jacob, and scatter them 7 in Israel. Juda, thy brethren shall praise thee, and thine hand shall be in the neck of thine enemies, and thy father's children 8 shall stoop unto thee. Juda is a lion's whelp. From spoil my son thou art come on high:* he laid him down and couched 9 himself as a lion, and as a lioness. Who dare stir him up? The sceptre shall not depart from Juda, nor a ruler from between his legs, until Silo come, unto whom the people shall hearken.
 10 He shall bind his foal unto the vine, and his ass's colt unto the vine branch, and shall wash his garment in wine and his 11 mantle in the blood of grapes: his eyes are roudier than wine, and his teeth whiter then milk. Zabulon shall dwell in the haven of the sea and in the port of ships, and shall reach unto 12 Sidon. Isachar is a strong ass, he couched him down between two borders, and saw that rest was good and the land that it was pleasant, and bowed his shoulder to bear, and became a servant unto tribute. Dan shall judge his people, as one of 16 the tribes of Israel. Dan shall be a serpent in the way, and an 17 adder in the path, and bite the horse heels, so that his rider shall fall backward. After thy saving look I, LORD. Gad, 18, 19 men of war shall invade him. And he shall turn them to flight.

49. v.9 Other: an hye.

 Of Asser cometh fat bread, and he shall give pleasures for a 20 king. Nephtali is a swift hind, and giveth goodly words. That 21, 22 flourishing child Joseph, that flourishing child and goodly unto the eye: the daughters come forth to bear rule.* The shooters 23 have envied him and chide with him and hated him, and yet 24 his bow bode fast, and his arms and his hands were strong, by the hands of the mighty God of Jacob: out of him shall come an herdman, a stone in Israel. Thy father's God shall help thee, 25 and the almighty shall bless thee with blessings from heaven above, and with blessings of the water that lieth under, and with blessings of the breasts and of the womb. The blessings 26 of thy father were strong: even as the blessings of my elders, after the desire of the highest* in the world, and these blessings shall fall on the head of Joseph, and on the top of the head of him that was separated from his brethren. Ben Jamin is a 27 ravishing wolf. In the morning he shall devour his prey, and at night he shall divide his spoil. All these are the twelve 28 tribes of Israel, and this is that which their father spake unto them when he blessed them, every man with a several blessing. And he charged them and said unto them. I shall be put 29 unto my people: see that ye bury me with my fathers, in the cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hethite, in the double 30 cave that is in the field before Mamre in the land of Canaan.
 Which field Abraham bought of Ephron the Hethite for a possession to bury in. There they buried Abraham and Sara his 31 wife, there they buried Isaac and Rebecca his wife. And there I buried Lea: which field and the cave that is therein, was 32 bought of the children of Heth. When Jacob had commanded 33 all that he would unto his sons, he plucked up his feet upon the bed and died, and was put unto his people;

And Joseph fell upon his father's face, and wept upon him, L and kissed him. And Joseph commanded his servants that 2 were Physicians, to embalm his father, and the Physicians em-

3 balmed Israel forty days long, for so long doth the embalming 4 last, and the Egyptians bewept him seventy days. And when the days of weeping were ended, Joseph spake unto the house of Pharaoh saying: If I have found favour in your eyes, speak 5 unto Pharaoh and tell him, how that my father made me swear and said: lo, I die, see that thou bury me in my grave which I have made me in the land of Canaan. Now therefore let me go 6 and bury my father, and then will I come again. And Pharaoh said, go and bury thy father, according as he made thee swear.
7 And Joseph went up to bury his father, and with him went all the servants of Pharaoh that were the elders of his house, 8 and all the elders of Egypt, and all the house of Joseph and his brethren and his father's house: only their children and their sheep and their cattle left they behind them in the land 9 of Goshen. And there went with him also Chariots and horse-10 men: so that they were an exceeding great company. And when they came to the field of Atad beyond Jordan, there they made great and exceeding sore lamentation. And he mourned 11 for his father seven days. When the inhabitants of the land the Canaanites saw the mourning in the field of Atad, they said: this is a great mourning which the Egyptians make. Wherefore the name of the place is called Abel mizraim, which place 12 lieth beyond Jordan. And his sons did unto him according 13 as he had commanded them. And his sons carried him into the land of Canaan and buried him in the double cave which Abraham had bought with the field to be a place to bury in, 14 of Ephron the Hethite before Mamre. And Joseph returned to Egypt again and his brethren, and all that went up with him to 15 bury his father, as soon as he had buried him. When Joseph's brethren saw that their father was dead, they said: Joseph might fortune to hate us and reward us again all the evil which 16 we did unto him. They did therefore a commandment unto Joseph saying: thy father charged before his death saying: 17 This wise say unto Joseph, forgive I pray thee the trespass of thy brethren and their sin, for they rewarded thee evil. Now therefore we pray thee, forgive the trespass of the servants of thy father's God. And Joseph wept when they spake unto him.
18 And his brethren came and fell before him and said: behold we 19 be thy servants. And Joseph said unto them: fear not, for am 20 not I under God? Ye thought evil unto me: but God turned it unto good to bring to pass, as it is this day, even to save much people alive. Fear not therefore, for I will care for you and for 21 your children, and he spake kindly unto them. Joseph dwelt 22 in Egypt and his father's house also, and lived an hundred and ten year. And Joseph saw Ephraim's children, even unto the 23 third generation. And unto Machir the son of Manasse were children born, and sat on Joseph's knees. And Joseph said 24 unto his brethren: I die; And God will surely visit you and bring you out of this land, unto the land which he sware unto Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. And Joseph took an oath of the 25 children of Israel and said: God will not fail but visit you: see therefore that ye carry my bones hence. And so Joseph died, 26 when he was an hundred and ten year old. And they embalmed him and put him in a chest in Egypt.

The end of the first book of Moses.

The Second Book Of Moses, Called Exodus.

I  hese are the names of the children of Israel, which came to Egypt with Jacob, every man with his household: Ruben, Simeon, Levi, Juda, Isachar, Zabulon, Ben Jamin, Dan, Nephtali, Gad and Aser. All the souls that came out of the loins of Jacob, were seventy, and Joseph was in Egypt already. When Joseph was dead and all his brethren and all that generation: the children of Israel grew, increased, multiplied and waxed exceeding mighty: so that the land was full of them. Then there rose up a new king in Egypt which knew not Joseph. And he said unto his folk: behold the people of the children of Israel are more and might-ier than we. Come on, let us play wisely with them: lest they multiply, and then (if there chance any war) they join them selves unto our enemies and fight against us, and so get them out of the land. And he set taskmasters over them, to keep them under with burthens. And they built unto Pharao treasure cities: Phiton and Raamses. But the more they vexed them, the more they multiplied and grew: so that they abhorred the children of Israel. And the Egyptians held the children of Israel in bondage without mercy, and made their lives bitter unto them with cruel labour in clay and brick, and all manner work in the fields, and in all manner of service, which they caused them to work cruelly. And the king of Egypt said unto the midwives of the Hebrews' women, of which the one's name was Sephora and the other Phua: when ye midwife the women of the Hebrews and see in the birth time that it is a boy, kill it. But if it be a maid, let it live. Notwithstanding the midwives feared God, and did not as the king of Egypt commanded them: but saved the men children. Then the king of Egypt called for the midwives and said unto them: why have ye dealt on this manner and have saved the men children? And the midwives answered Pharao, that the Hebrews' women were not as the women of Egypt: but were sturdy women, and were delivered yer the midwives came at them. And God therefore dealt well with the midwives. And the people multiplied and waxed very mighty. And because the midwives feared God, he 21 made them houses. Then Pharaoh charged all his people say- 22 ing: All the men children that are born, cast into the river and save the maid children alive.

And there went a man of the house of Levi and took a daugh- II ter of Levi. And the wife conceived and bare a son. And when 2 she saw that it was a proper child, she hid him three months long. And when she could no longer hide him, she took a bas- 3 ket of bulrushes and daubed it with slime and pitch, and laid the child therein, and put it in the flags by the river's brink.
And his sister stood afar off, to wete what would come of it. 4 And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to the river to wash 5 herself, and her maidens walked along by the river's side. And when she saw the basket among the flags, she sent one of her maids and caused it to be fetched. And when she had opened 6 it she saw the child, and behold, the babe wept. And she had compassion on it and said: it is one of the Hebrew's children.
Then said his sister unto Pharaoh's daughter: shall I go and 7 call unto thee a nurse of the Hebrew's women, to nurse the child? And the maid ran and called the child's mother. Then 8, 9 Pharaoh's daughter said unto her. Take this child away and nurse it for me, and I will reward thee for thy labour. And the woman took the child and nursed it up. And when the 10 child was grown, she brought it unto Pharaoh's daughter, and it was made her son, and she called it Moses, because (said she) I took him out of the water. And it happened in these 11 days when Moses was waxed great, that he went out unto his brethren and looked on their burthens, and spied an Egyptian smiting one of his brethren an Hebrew. And he looked round 12 about: and when he saw that there was no man by, he slew the Egyptian and hid him in the sand. And he went out an- 13 other day: and behold, two Hebrews strove together. And he said unto him that did the wrong: wherefore smitest thou thine neighbour? And he answered: who hath made thee a ruler or 14 a judge over us? Intendest thou to kill me, as thou killedst the Egyptian? Then Moses feared and said: of a surety the thing is known. And Pharaoh heard of it and went about to slay Moses: 15 but he fled from Pharaoh and dwelt in the land of Madian, and he sat down by a well's side. The priest of Madian had seven 16 daughters which came and drew water and filled the troughs, 17 for to water their father's sheep. And the shepherds came and drove them away: But Moses stood up and helped them and 18 watered their sheep. And when they came to Raguel their father, he said: how happeneth it that ye are come so soon today?

19 And they answered: there was an Egyptian that delivered us from the shepherds, and so drew us water and watered the 20 sheep. And he said unto his daughters: where is he? why 21 have ye left the man? Go call him that he may eat bread. And Moses was content to dwell with the man. And he gave Moses 22 Zephora his daughter which bare a son, and he called him Gerson: for he said: I have been a stranger in a strange land.
23 And she bare yet another son, whom he called Elieser saying: the God of my father is mine helper, and hath rid me out of the hands of Pharao. And it chanced in process of time, that the king of Egypt died, and the children of Israel sighed by the 24 reason of labour, and cried. And their complaint came up unto God from the labour. And God remembered his promise with 25 Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. And God looked upon the children of Israel and knew them.

III Moses kept the sheep of Jethro his father-in-law priest of Madian, and he drove the flock to the backside of the desert, 2 and came to the mountain of God, Horeb. And the angel of the LORD appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of a bush. And he perceived that the bush burned with fire, and consumed not.
3 Then Moses said: I will go hence and see this great sight, how 4 it cometh that the bush burneth not. And when the LORD saw that he came for to see, he called unto him out of the bush 5 and said: Moses Moses; And he answered: here am I. And he said: come not hither, but put thy shoes off thy feet: for 6 the place whereon thou standest is holy ground. And he said: I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob. And Moses hid his face, for he was 7 afraid to look upon God. Then the LORD said: I have surely seen the trouble of my people which are in Egypt, and have heard their cry, which they have of their taskmasters. For I 8 know their sorrow, and am come down to deliver them out of the hands of the Egyptians, and to bring them out of that land unto a good land and a large, and unto a land that floweth with milk and honey: even unto the place of the Cananites, Hethites, Amorites, Pherezites, Hevites, and of the Jebusites.

Now therefore behold, the complaint of the children of Israel is 9 come unto me and I have also seen the oppression, wherewith 10 the Egyptians oppress them. But come, I will send thee unto Pharao, that thou mayst bring my people the children of Israel out of Egypt. And Moses said unto God: what, am I to go to 11 Pharao and to bring the children of Israel out of Egypt? And 12 he said: I will be with thee. And this shall be a token unto thee that I have sent thee: after that thou hast brought the people out of Egypt, ye shall serve God upon this mountain.
Then said Moses unto God: when I come unto the children of 13 Israel and say unto them, the God of your fathers hath sent me unto you, and they say unto me, what is his name, what answer shall I give them? Then said God unto Moses: I will 14 be what I will be: and he said, this shalt thou say unto the children of Israel: I will be did send me to you. And God spake 15 further unto Moses: thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel: the LORD God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob hath sent me unto you: this is my name for ever, and this is my memorial thorowout all generations. Go therefore and gather the elders of Israel 16 together and say unto them: the LORD God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob, appeared unto me and said: I have been and seen both you and that which is done to you in Egypt. And I have said it, 17 that I will bring you out of the tribulation of Egypt unto the land of the Cananites, Hethites, Amorites, Pherezites, Hevites and Jebusites: even a land that floweth with milk and honey.
If it come to pass that they hear thy voice, then go, both thou 18 and the elders of Israel unto the king of Egypt, and say unto him: The LORD God of the Hebrews hath met with us: Let us go therefore three days' journey into the wilderness, that we may sacrifice unto the LORD our God. Notwithstanding I 19 am sure that the king of Egypt will not let you go, except it be with a mighty hand: yea and I will therefore stretch out mine 20 hand, and smite Egypt with all my wonders which I will do therein. And after that he will let you go. And I will get this 21 people favour in the sight of the Egyptians: so that when ye go, ye shall not go empty: but every wife shall borrow of her 22 neighbourouess and of her that sojourneth in her house, jewels of silver and of gold and raiment. And ye shall put them on your sons and daughters, and shall rob the Egyptians.

IV Moses answered and said: See, they will not believe me nor hearken unto my voice: but will say, the LORD hath not appeared unto thee. Then the LORD said unto him: what is that in thine hand? and he said, a rod. And he said, cast it on the ground, and it turned unto a serpent. And Moses ran away from it. And the LORD said unto Moses: put forth thine hand and take it by the tail. And he put forth his hand and caught it, and it became a rod again in his hand, that they may believe that the LORD God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob hath appeared unto thee. And the LORD said furthermore unto him: thrust thine hand into thy bosom. And he thrust his hand into his bosom and took it out. And behold, his hand was leprous even as snow. And he said: put thine hand into thy bosom again. And he put his hand into his bosom again, and plucked it out of his bosom, and behold, it was turned again as his other flesh. If they will not believe thee neither hear the voice of the first token: yet will they believe the voice of the second token. But and if they will not believe the two signs neither hearken unto thy voice, then take of the water of the river and pour it upon the dry land. And the water which thou takest out of the river shall turn to blood upon the dry land. And Moses said unto the LORD: Oh my Lord. I am not eloquent, no not in times past and namely since thou hast spoken unto thy servant: but I am slow mouthed and slow tongued. And the LORD said unto him: who hath made man's mouth, or who hath made the dumb or the deaf, the seeing or the blind? have not I the LORD? Go therefore and I will be with thy mouth and teach thee what thou shalt say. And he said: Oh my Lord, send I pray thee whom thou wilt. And the LORD was angry with Moses and said: I know Aaron thy brother the Levite that he can speak. And moreover behold, he cometh out against* thee, and when he seeth thee, he will be glad in his heart. And thou shalt speak unto him and put the words in his mouth, and I will be with thy mouth and with his mouth, and will teach you what ye shall do. And he shall be thy spokesman unto the people: he shall be thy mouth, and thou shalt be his God: and take this rod in thy hand, wherewith thou shalt do miracles. And

4. v.14 Other: to meet.

Moses went and returned to Jethro his father-in-law again and said unto him: let me go (I pray thee) and turn again unto my brethren which are in Egypt, that I may see whether they be yet alive. And Jethro said to Moses: go in peace. And the LORD said unto Moses in Madian: return again into Egypt for they are dead which went about to kill thee. And Moses took his wife and his sons and put them on an ass, and went again to Egypt, and took the rod of God in his hand. And the LORD said unto Moses: when thou art come into Egypt again, see that thou do all the wonders before Pharaoh which I have put in thy hand: but I will harden his heart, so that he shall not let the people go. And tell Pharaoh, thus sayeth the LORD: Israel is mine eldest son, and therefore sayeth unto thee: let my son go, that he may serve me. If thou wilt not let him go: behold, I will slay thine eldest son. And it chanced by the way in the inn, that the LORD met him and would have killed him. Then Zepora took a stone and circumcised her son, and fell at his feet, and said: a bloody husband art thou unto me. And he let him go. She said a bloody husband, because of the circumcision. Then said the LORD unto Aaron: go meet Moses in the wilderness. And he went and met him in the mount of God and kissed him. And Moses told Aaron all the words of the LORD which he had sent by him, and all the tokens which he had charged him withal. So went Moses and Aaron and gathered all the elders of the children of Israel. And Aaron told all the words which the LORD had spoken unto Moses, and did the miracles in the sight of the people, and the people believed. And when they heard that the LORD had visited the children of Israel and had looked upon their tribulation, they bowed them selves, and worshipped.

Then Moses and Aaron went and told Pharaoh, thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel. Let my people go, that they may keep holy day unto me in the wilderness. And Pharaoh answered: what fellow is the LORD, that I should hear his voice for to let Israel go? I know not the LORD, neither will let Israel go. And they said: the God of the Hebrews hath met with us: let us go (we pray thee) three days' journey into the desert, that we may sacrifice unto the LORD our God: lest he smite us either with pestilence or with sword. Then said the king of Egypt unto them: wherefore do ye, Moses and Aaron, let the people

5 from their work, get you unto your labour. And Pharao said furthermore: behold, there is much people in the land, and ye 6 make them play and let their work stand. And Pharao commanded the same day unto the taskmasters over the people 7 and unto the officers saying: see that ye give the people no more straw to make brick withal, as ye did in time past: let 8 them go and gather them straw them selves, and the number of bricks which they were wont to make in time past, lay unto their charge also, and minish nothing thereof. For they be idle and therefore cry saying: let us go and do sacrifice unto our 9 God. They must have more work laid upon them, that they may labour therein, and then will they not turn them selves to 10 false words. Then went the taskmasters of the people and the officers out and told the people saying: Thus sayeth Pharao: 11 I will give you no more straw, but go your selves and gather you straw where ye can find it, yet shall none of your labour be 12 minished. Then the people scattered abroad thorowout all the land of Egypt for to gather them stubble to be instead of straw.
13 And the taskmasters hasted them forward saying: fulfil your work day by day, even as when straw was given you. And the officers of the children of Israel which Pharao's taskmasters had set over them, were beaten. And it was said unto them: 14 wherefore have ye not fulfilled your task in making brick, both 15 yesterday and today, as well as in times past? Then went the officers of the children of Israel and complained unto Pharao 16 saying: wherefore dealest thou thus with thy servants? there is no straw given unto thy servants, and yet they say unto us: make brick. And lo, thy servants are beaten, and thy people is 17 foul intreated. And he answered: idle are ye idle, and there-18 fore ye say: let us go and do sacrifice unto the LORD. Go therefore and work, for there shall no straw be given you, and 19 yet see that ye deliver the hole tale of brick. When the officers of the children of Israel saw themself in shrewd case (in that he said ye shall minish nothing of your daily making of brick) 20 then they met Moses and Aaron standing in their way as they 21 came out from Pharao, and said unto them: The LORD look unto you and judge, for ye have made the savour of us stink in the sight of Pharao and of his servants, and have put a sword 22 into their hands to slay us. Moses returned unto the LORD and said: Lord wherefore dealest thou cruelly with this people:

and wherefore hast thou sent me? For since I came to Pharao 23 to speak in thy name, he hath fared foul with this folk, and yet thou hast not delivered thy people at all;

Then the LORD said unto Moses. Now shalt thou see what I VI will do unto Pharao, for with a mighty hand shall he let them go, and with a mighty hand shall he drive them out of his land.
And God spake unto Moses saying unto him: I am the LORD, 2 and I appeared unto Abraham, Isaac and Jacob an almighty 3 God: but in my name Jehovah* was I not known unto them.
Moreover I made an appointment with them to give them the 4 land of Canaa: the land of their pilgrimage wherein they were strangers. And I have also heard the groaning of the chil- 5 dren of Israel, because the Egyptians keep them in bondage, and have remembered my promise. Wherefore say unto the 6 children of Israel: I am the LORD, and will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and will rid you out of their bondage, and will deliver you with a stretched out arm and with great judgements. And I will take you for my peo- 7 ple and will be to you a God. And ye shall know that I am the LORD your God which brings you out from under the burthens of the Egyptians. And I will bring you unto the land over the 8 which I did lift up my hand to give it unto Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and will give it unto you for a possession: even I the LORD. And Moses told the children of Israel even so: But 9 they hearkened not unto Moses for anguish of spirit and for cruel bondage. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: Go 10, 11 and bid Pharao king of Egypt, that he let the children of Israel go out of his land. And Moses spake before the LORD saying: 12 behold, the children of Israel hearken not unto me, how then shall Pharao hear me: seeing that I have uncircumcised lips.
And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron and gave them 13 a charge unto the children of Israel and unto Pharao king of Egypt: to bring the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.
These be the heads of their father's houses. The children of 14 Ruben the eldest son of Israel are these: Hanoh, Pallu, Hezron, Charmi, these be the householders of Ruben. The children of 15 Simeon are these: Gemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Saul the son of a Cananitish wife: these are the kindreds of Simeon. These are the names of the children of Levi in their 16 generations: Gerson, Kahath and Merari. And Levi lived an 17 hundred and thirty seven year. The sons of Gerson: Libni 18 and Semei in their kindreds. The children of Kahath: Am-ram, Jesear, Hebron and Usiel. And Kahath lived an hundred 19 and thirty three year. The children of Merari are these: Ma-heli and Musi: these are the kindreds of Levi in their gener-20 ations. And Amram took Jochebed his niece to wife which bare him Aaron and Moses. And Amram lived an hundred and 21 thirty seven year. The children of Jezear: Korah, Nepheg and 22 Sichri. The children of Usiel: Misael, Elzaphan and Sithri.

23 And Aaron took Elizaba daughter of Aminadab and sister of Nahason, to wife: which bare him Nadab, Abehu, Eleazar and 24 Ithamar. The children of Korah: Assir, Elkana and Abias-25 saph: these are the kindreds of the Korahites. And Eleazar Aaron's son took him one of the daughters of Putuel to wife: which bare him Pinehas: these be the principal fathers of the 26 Levites in their kindreds. These are that Aaron and Moses to whom the LORD said: carry the children of Israel out of the 27 land of Egypt, with their armies. These are that Moses and Aaron which spake to Pharao king of Egypt, that they might 28 bring the children of Israel out of Egypt. And in the day when 29 the LORD spake unto Moses in the land of Egypt, he spake unto him saying, I am the LORD, see that thou speak unto 30 Pharao the king of Egypt all that I say unto thee. And Moses answered before the LORD: I am of uncircumcised lips, how shall Pharao then give me audience?

VII And the LORD said unto Moses: behold, I have made thee Pharao's God, and Aaron thy brother shall be thy prophet.
2 Thou shalt speak all that I command thee and Aaron thy brother shall speak unto Pharao: that he send the children of Israel out 3 of his land. But I will harden Pharao's heart, that I may mul-4 tiple my miracles and my wonders in the land of Egypt. And yet Pharao shall not hearken unto you, that I may set mine hand upon Egypt and bring out mine armies, even my people the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, with great judge-5 ments. And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD when I have stretched forth my hand upon Egypt, and have 6 brought out the children of Israel from among them. Moses 7 and Aaron did as the LORD commanded them. And Moses was eighty year old and Aaron eighty three when they spake unto Pharao. And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron saying: 8 when Pharao speaketh unto you and sayeth: shew a wonder, 9 then shalt thou say unto Aaron, take the rod and cast it before Pharao, and it shall turn to a serpent. Then went Moses 10 and Aaron in unto Pharao, and did even as the LORD had commanded. And Aaron cast forth his rod before Pharao and before his servants, and it turned to a serpent. Then Pharao 11 called for the wise men, and enchanters of Egypt did in like manner with their sorcery. And they cast down every man his 12 rod, and they turned to serpents: but Aaron's rod ate up their rods: and yet for all that Pharao's heart was hardened, so 13 that he hearkened not unto them, even as the LORD had said.

Then said the LORD unto Moses: Pharao's heart is hardened, 14 and he refuseth to let the people go. Get thee unto Pharao 15 in the morning, for he will come unto the water, and stand* thou upon the river's brink against he come, and the rod which turned to a serpent take in thine hand. And say unto him: the 16 LORD God of the Hebrews hath sent me unto thee saying: let my people go, that they may serve me in the wilderness: but hitherto thou wouldest not hear. Wherefore thus sayeth the 17 LORD: hereby thou shalt know that I am the LORD. Behold, I will smite with the staff that is in mine hand upon the waters that are in the river, and they shall turn to blood. And the 18 fish that is in the river shall die, and the river shall stink: so that it shall grieve the Egyptians to drink of the water of the river. And the LORD spake unto Moses, say unto Aaron: take 19 thy staff and stretch out thine hand over the waters of Egypt, over their streams, rivers, ponds and all pools of water, that they may be blood, and that there may be blood in all the land of Egypt: both in vessels of wood and also of stone. And Moses 20 and Aaron did even as the LORD commanded. And he lift up the staff and smote the waters that were in the river, in the sight of Pharao and in the sight of his servants, and all the water that was in the river, turned into blood. And the fish that 21 was in the river died, and the river stank: so that the Eryptians could not drink of the water of the river. And there was blood thorowout all the land of Egypt. And the enchanters of 22 Egypt did likewise with their enchantments, so that Pharao's heart was hardened and did not regard them as the LORD had

7. v.15 Other: stode.

23 said. And Pharao turned himself and went into his house, and 24 set not his heart thereunto. And the Egyptians digged round about the river for water to drink, for they could not drink of 25 the water of the river. And it continued a week after that the LORD had smote the river.

VIII The LORD spake unto Moses: Go unto Pharao and tell him, thus sayeth the LORD: let my people go, that they may serve 2 me. If thou wilt not let them go: behold I will smite all thy 3 land with frogs. And the river shall scrale with frogs, and they shall come up and go into thine house and into thy chamber where thou sleepest and upon thy bed, and into the houses of thy servants, and upon thy people, and into thine ovens, 4 and upon thy vitailles which thou hast in store. And the frogs shall come upon thee and on thy people and upon all thy 5 servants. And the LORD spake unto Moses, say unto Aaron: stretch forth thine hand with thy rod over the streams, rivers, 6 and ponds. And bring up frogs upon the land of Egypt. And Aaron stretched his hand over the water of Egypt, and the 7 frogs came up and covered the land of Egypt. And the sorcerers did likewise with their sorcery, and the frogs came up 8 upon the land of Egypt. Then Pharao called for Moses and Aaron and said, pray ye unto the LORD that he may take away the frogs from me and from my people, and I will let the people 9 go, that they may sacrifice unto the LORD. And Moses said unto Pharao: Appoint thou the time unto me, when I shall pray for thee and thy servants and thy people, to drive away the frogs from thee and thy house, so that they shall remain 10 but in the river only. And he said tomorrow. And he said: even as thou hast said, that thou mayst know that there is 11 none like unto the LORD our God. And the frogs shall depart from thee and from thine houses, and from thy servants and from thy people, and shall remain in the river only. And Moses and Aaron went out from Pharao, and Moses cried unto the LORD upon the appointment of frogs which he had made 12 unto Pharao. And the LORD did according to the saying of Moses. And the frogs died out of the houses, courts and fields.
13 And they gathered them together upon heaps: so that the land stank of them. But when Pharao saw that he had rest given 14 him, he hardened his heart and hearkened not unto them, as the LORD had said. And the LORD said unto Moses: Say unto

Aaron: stretch out thy rod and smite the dust of the land that it may turn to lice in all the land of Egypt. And they did so. 17
And Aaron stretched out his hand with his rod and smote the dust of the earth, and it turned to lice both in man and beast, so that all the dust of the land turned to lice, thorowout all the land of Egypt. And the enchanters assayed likewise with their enchantments to bring forth lice, but they could not. And the lice were both upon man and beast. Then said the enchanters unto Pharao: it is the finger of God. Neverthelater Pharao's heart was hardened and he regarded them not, as the LORD had said. And the LORD said unto Moses: rise up early in the morning and stand before Pharao, for he will come unto the water: and say unto him, thus sayeth the LORD: let my people go, that they may serve me. If thou wilt not let my people go, behold, I will send all manner flies both upon thee and thy servants, and thy people, and into thy houses. And the houses of the Egyptians shall be full of flies, and the ground whereon they are. But I will separate the same day the land of Gosan where my people are, so that there shall no flies be there: that thou mayest know that I am the LORD upon the earth. And I will put a division between my people and thine. And even tomorrow shall this miracle be done. And the LORD did even so: and there came noisome flies into the house of Pharao, and into his servants' houses and into all the land of Egypt: so that the land was marred with flies. Then Pharao sent for Moses and Aaron and said: Go and do sacrifice unto your God in the land. And Moses answered: it is not mete so to do. For we must offer unto the LORD our God, that which is an abomination unto the Egyptians: behold shall we sacrifice that which is an abomination unto the Egyptians before their eyes, and shall they not stone us? we will therefore go three days' journey into the desert and sacrifice unto the LORD our God as he hath commanded us. And Pharao said: I will let you go, that ye may sacrifice unto the LORD your God in the wilderness: only go not far away, and see that ye pray for me. And Moses said: behold, I will go out from thee and pray unto the LORD, and the flies shall depart from Pharao and from his servants and from his people tomorrow. But let Pharao from henceforth deceive no more, that he would not let the people go to sacrifice unto the LORD. And Moses went out from Pharao and 30 31 prayed unto the LORD. And the LORD did as Moses had said, and took away the flies from Pharao and from his servants and 32 from his people, so that there remained not one. But for all that, Pharao hardened his heart even then also and would not let the people go.

IX And the LORD said unto Moses: go unto Pharao and tell him, thus sayeth the LORD God of the Hebrews: send out my 2 people that they may serve me. If thou wilt not let them go 3 but wilt hold them still: behold, the hand of the LORD shall be upon thy cattle which thou hast in the field, upon horses, asses, camels, oxen, and sheep, with a mighty great murrain.
4 But the LORD shall make a division between the beasts of the Israelites, and the beasts of the Egyptians: so that there shall 5 nothing die of all that pertaineth to the children of Israel. And the LORD appointed a time saying: tomorrow the LORD shall 6 do this thing in the land. And the LORD did the thing on the morrow, and all the cattle of Egypt died: but of the cat-7 tle of the children of Israel died not one. And Pharao sent to wete: but there was not one of the cattle of the Israelites dead. Notwithstanding the heart of Pharao hardened, and he 8 would not let the people go. And the LORD said unto Moses and Aaron: take your hands full of ashes out of the furnace, and let Moses sprinkle it up into the air in the sight of Pharao, 9 and it shall turn to dust in all the land of Egypt, and shall make swelling sores with blains both on man and beast in all 10 the land of Egypt. And they took ashes out of the furnace, and stood before Pharao, and Moses sprinkled it up into the air: And there brake out sores with blains both in man and 11 beast: so that the sorcerers could not stand before Moses, by the reason of botches on the enchanters and upon all the Eryp-12 tians. But the LORD hardened the heart of Pharao, that he hearkened not unto them, as the LORD had said unto Moses.
13 And the LORD said unto Moses: rise up early in the morning and stand before Pharao and tell him, thus sayeth the LORD God of the Hebrews: Let my people go, that they may serve 14 me, or else I will at this time send all my plagues upon thine heart and upon thy servants and on thy people, that you mayst 15 know that there is none like me in all the earth. For now I will stretch out my hand and will smite thee and thy people with 16 pestilence: so that thou shalt perish from the earth. Yet in very deed for this cause have I stirred thee up, for to shew my power in thee, and to declare my name thorowout all the world. If it be so that thou stoppest my people, that thou wilt not let them go: behold, tomorrow this time, I will send down a mighty great hail: even such one as was not in Egypt since it was grounded unto this time. Send therefore and fetch home thy beasts and all that thou hast in the field. For upon all the men and beasts which are found in the field and not brought home, shall the hail fall, and they shall die. And as many as feared the word of the LORD among the servants of Pharao made their servants and their beasts flee to house: and they that regarded not the word of the LORD, left their servants and their beasts in the field. And the LORD said unto Moses: stretch forth thine hand unto heaven, that there may be hail in all the land of Egypt: upon man and beast, and upon all the herbs of the field in the field of Egypt. And Moses stretched out his rod unto heaven, and the LORD thundered and hailed, so that the fire ran along upon the ground. And the LORD so hailed in the land of Egypt, that there was hail and fire mingled with the hail, so grievous, that there was none such in all the land of Egypt, since people inhabited it. And the hail smote in the land of Egypt all that was in the field both man and beast. And the hail smote all the herbs of the field and broke all the trees of the field: only in the land of Gosan where the children of Israel were, was there no hail. And Pharao sent and called for Moses and Aaron, and said unto them: I have now sinned, the LORD is righteous and I and my people are wicked. Pray ye unto the LORD, that the thunder of God and hail may cease, and I will let you go, and ye shall tarry no longer. And Moses said unto him: as soon as I am out of the city, I will spread abroad my hands unto the LORD, and the thunder shall cease, neither shall there be any more hail: that thou mayst know, how that the earth is the LORD's. But I know that thou and thy servants yet fear not the LORD God. The flax and the barley were smitten, for the barley was shot up and the flax was bolled: but the wheat and the rye were not smitten, for they were late sown. And Moses went out of the city from Pharao and spread abroad his hands unto the LORD, and the thunder and hail ceased, neither rained it any more upon the earth. When Pharao saw that the rain and the hail and thunder were ceased, he sinned again and hardened his heart: both he and his servants. So was the heart of Pharaoh hardened, that he would not let the children of Israel go, as the LORD had said by Moses.

X The LORD said unto Moses: go unto Pharaoh, nevertheless I have hardened his heart and the hearts of his servants, that I might shew these my signs amongst them, and that thou tell in the audience of thy son and of thy son's son, the pageants which I have played in Egypt, and the miracles which I have done among them: that ye may know how that I am the LORD. Then Moses and Aaron went in unto Pharaoh, and said unto him: Thus sayeth the LORD God of the Hebrews: how long shall it be, or thou wilt submit thyself unto me? Let my people go that they may serve me. If thou wilt not let my people go: behold, tomorrow will I bring grasshoppers into thy land, and they shall cover the face of the earth that it can not be seen, and they shall eat the residue which remaineth unto you and escaped the hail, and they shall eat all your green trees upon the field, and they shall fill thy houses and all thy servants' houses, and the houses of all the Egyptians after such a manner: as neither thy fathers nor thy fathers fathers have seen, since the time they were upon the earth unto this day. And he turned himself about, and went out from Pharaoh. And Pharaoh's servants said unto him: How long shall this fellow thus plague us? * Let the men go that they may serve the LORD their God, or else wilt thou see Egypt first destroyed? And then Moses and Aaron were brought again unto Pharaoh, and he said unto them: Go and serve the LORD your God but who are they that shall go? And Moses answered: we must go with young and old: yea and with our sons and with our daughters, and with our sheep and oxen must we go. For we must hold a feast unto the LORD. And he said unto them: shall it be so? The LORD be with you, should I let you go, and your children also? Take heed, for ye have some mischief in hand. Nay not so: but go ye that are men and serve the LORD, for that was your desire. And they thrust them out of Pharaoh's presence. And the LORD said unto Moses: Stretch out thine hand over the land of Egypt for grasshoppers, that they come upon the land of Egypt and eat all the herbs of the land, and all that the hail left untouched. And Moses stretched forth his rod over the land of Egypt, and the LORD brought an east wind upon the land, all that day and all night. And in the morning the east wind brought the grasshoppers, and the grasshoppers went up over all the land of Egypt and lighted in all quarters of Egypt very grievously: so that before them were there no such grasshoppers, neither after them shall be. And they covered all the face of the earth, so that the land was dark therewith. And they ate all the herbs of the land and all the fruits of the trees which the hail had left: so that there was no green thing left in the trees and herbs of the field thorow all the land of Egypt. Then Pharao called for Moses and Aaron in haste and said: I have sinned against the LORD your God and against you. Forgive me yet my sin only this once, and pray unto the LORD your God that he may take away from me this death only. And he went out from Pharao and prayed unto the LORD, and the LORD turned the wind into a mighty strong west wind, and it took away the grasshoppers and cast them into the reed sea: so that there was not one grasshopper left in all the coasts of Egypt. But the LORD hardened Pharao's heart, so that he would not let the children of Israel go. And the LORD said unto Moses: Stretch out thy hand unto heaven, and let there be darkness upon the land of Egypt: even that they may feel the darkness. And Moses stretched forth his hand unto heaven, and there was a dark mist* upon all the land of Egypt three days long, so that no man saw another, neither rose up from the place where he was by the space of three days, but all the children of Israel had light where they dwelled. Then Pharao called for Moses and said: go and serve the LORD, only let your sheep, and your oxen abide, but let your children go with you. And Moses answered: thou must give us also offerings and burnt offerings for to sacrifice unto the LORD our God. Our cattle therefore shall go with us, and there shall not one hoof be left behind, for thereof must we take to serve the LORD our God. Moreover we can not know where-with we shall serve the LORD, until we come thither. But the LORD hardened Pharao's heart, so that he would not let them go. And Pharao said unto him: get thee from me and take heed to thyself that thou see my face no more. For whensoever v.22 Other: thick darkness.

10. v.7 Other: How long shall we be thus evilly entreated?.

29 thou comest in my sight, thou shalt die. And Moses said: Let it be as thou hast said: I will see thy face no more.

XI And the LORD said unto Moses: yet will I bring one plague more upon Pharaoh and upon Egypt, and after that he will let you go hence. And when he letteth you go, he shall utterly 2 drive you hence. But bid the people that every man borrow of his neighbour and every woman of her neighbour: jewels of 3 silver and jewels of gold. And the LORD gat the people favour in the sight of the Egyptians. Moreover Moses was very great in the land of Egypt: both in the sight of Pharaoh, and also 4 in the sight of the people. And Moses said: thus sayeth the LORD. About midnight will I go out among the Egyptians, and all the firstborn in the land of Egypt shall die: even from the firstborn of Pharaoh that sitteth on his seat, unto the firstborn of the maidservant that is in the mill, and all the firstborn of the cattle. And there shall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt: so that there was never none like nor shall be.
7 And among all the children of Israel shall not a dog move his tongue, nor yet man or beast: that ye may know, how the LORD 8 putteth a difference between the Egyptians and Israel. And all these thy servants shall come down unto me, and fall before me and say: get thee out and all the people that are under thee, and then will I depart. And he went out from Pharaoh in a 9 great anger. And the LORD said unto Moses: Pharaoh shall not regard you, that many wonders may be wrought in the land 10 of Egypt. And Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh. But the LORD hardened Pharaoh's heart, so that he would not let the children of Israel go out of his land.

XII And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron in the land of 2 Egypt saying: This month shall be your chief month: even the first month of the year shall it be unto you. Speak ye unto all the fellowship of Israel saying: that they take the tenth day 4 of this month to every household, a sheep. If the household be too few for a sheep, then let him and his neighbour that is next unto this house, take according to the number of souls, 5 and count unto a sheep according to every man's eating. A sheep without spot and a male of one year old shall it be, and 6 from among the lambs and the goats shall ye take it. And ye shall keep him in ward, until the fourteenth day of the same month. And every man of the multitude of Israel shall kill him about even. And they shall take of the blood and strike on 7 the two side posts and on the upper doorpost of the houses, wherein they eat him. And they shall eat the flesh the same 8 night, roast with fire, and with unleavened bread, and with sour herbs they shall eat it. See that ye eat not thereof sodden 9 in water, but roast with fire: both head, feet, and purtenance together. And see that ye let nothing of it remain unto the 10 morning: if ought remain burn it with fire. Of this manner 11 shall ye eat it: with your loins girded, and shoes on your feet, and your staves in your hands. And ye shall eat it in haste, for it is the LORD's passover, for I will go about in the land of 12 Egypt this same night, and will smite all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, both of man and beast, and upon all the gods of Egypt will I the LORD do execution. And the blood shall 13 be unto you a token upon the houses wherein ye are, for when I see the blood, I will pass over you, and the plague shall not be upon you to destroy you, when I smite the land of Egypt.

And this day shall be unto you a remembrance, and ye shall 14 keep it holy unto the LORD: even throwout your generations after you shall ye keep it holy day, that it be a custom for ever.
Seven days shall ye eat unleavened bread, so that even the first 15 day ye shall put away leaven out of your houses. For whosoever eateth leavened bread from the first day until the seventh day, that soul shall be plucked out from Israel. The first day shall 16 be a holy feast unto you, and the seventh also. There shall be no manner of work done in them, save about that only which every man must eat: that only may ye do. And see that ye 17 keep you to unleavened bread. For upon that same day I will bring your armies out of the land of Egypt, therefore ye shall observe this day and all your children after you, that it be a custom for ever. The first month and the fourteenth day of 18 the month at even, ye shall eat sweet bread unto the twenty first day of the month at even again. Seven days see that 19 there be no leavened bread found in your houses. For whosoever eateth leavened bread, that soul shall be rooted out from the multitude of Israel: whether he be a stranger or born in the land. Therefore see that ye eat no leavened bread, but in 20 all your habitations eat sweet bread. And Moses called for the elders of Israel and said unto them: choose out and take to ev- 21 ery household a sheep, and kill passover. And take a bunch of 22 hyssop, and dip it in the blood that is in the basin, and strike it upon the upper post and on the two side posts, and see that none of you go out at the door of his house until the morning.

23 For the LORD will go about and smite Egypt. And when he seeth the blood upon the upper door post and on the two side posts, he will pass over the door and will not suffer the destroyer to come into your house to plague you. Therefore see

24 that thou observe this thing, that it be an ordinance to thee, and thy sons for ever. And when ye be come into the land

25 which the LORD will give you according as he hath promised, see that ye keep this service. And when your children ask you

26 what manner of service is this ye do. Ye shall say: it is the sacrifice of the LORD's passover, which passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt, as he smote the Egyptians

27 and saved our houses. Then the people bowed them selves and worshipped. And the children of Israel went and did as the 28 LORD had commanded Moses and Aaron. And at midnight the LORD smote all the firstborn in the land of Egypt: from the firstborn of Pharaoh that sat on his seat, unto the firstborn of the captive that was in prison, and all firstborn of the cattle.

29 Then Pharaoh arose the same night and all his servants and all the Egyptians, and there was a great crying thoroughout Egypt, for there was no house where there was not one dead.

30 And he called unto Moses and Aaron by night saying: Rise up, and get you out from among my people: both ye and also the children of Israel, and go and serve the LORD as ye have

31 said. And take your sheep and your oxen with you as ye have said, and depart and bless me also. And the Egyptians were

32 fierce upon the people and made haste to send them out of the land: for they said: we be all dead men. And the people took the dough before it was soured which they had in store, and

33 bound it in cloths, and put it upon their shoulders. And the children of Israel did according to the saying of Moses: and they borrowed of the Egyptians jewels of silver, and jewels of 34 gold, and raiment. And the LORD gat the people favour in the sight of the Egyptians: and so they borrowed and robbed the Egyptians. Thus took the children of Israel their journey

35 from Rameses to Sucoth six hundred thousand men of foot, beside children. And much common people went also with 36 them, and sheep, and oxen, and cattle exceeding much. And they baked sweet cakes of the dough which they brought out of Egypt, for it was not soured: because they were thrust out of Egypt and could not tarry, neither had they prepared them any other provision of meat. And the time of the dwelling of the children of Israel which they dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty year. And when the four hundred and thirty years were expired, even the self same day departed all the hosts of the LORD out of the land of Egypt. This is a night to be observed to the LORD, because he brought them out of the land of Egypt. This is a night of the LORD, to be kept of all the children of Israel and of their generations after them. And the LORD said unto Moses and Aaron: this is the manner of passover: there shall no stranger eat thereof, but all the servants that are bought for money shall ye circumcise, and then let them eat thereof. A stranger and a hired servant shall not eat thereof. In one house shall it be eaten. Ye shall carry none of the flesh out at the doors: moreover, see that ye break not a bone thereof. All the multitude of the children of Israel shall observe it. If a stranger dwell among you, and will hold Passover unto the LORD, let him circumcise all that be males, and then let him come and observe it, and be taken as one that is born in the land. No uncircumcised person shall eat thereof. One manner of law shall be unto them that are born in the land, and unto the strangers that dwell among you. And all the children of Israel did as the LORD commanded Moses and Aaron. And even the self same day did the LORD bring the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt with their armies.

And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: Sanctify unto me all the firstborn that open all manner matrices among the children of Israel, as well of men as of beasts: for they are mine. And Moses said unto the people: think on this day in which ye came out of Egypt and out of the house of bondage: for with a mighty hand the LORD brought you out from thence. See therefore that ye eat no leavened bread. This day come ye out of Egypt in the month of Abib. When the LORD hath brought thee in to the land of the Cananites, Hethites, Amorites, Hevites and Jebusites, which he sware unto thy fathers that he would give thee: a land wherein milk and honey floweth, then see that thou keep this service in this same month. Seven days thou shalt eat sweet bread, and the seventh day shall be

7 feastful unto the LORD. Therefore thou shalt eat sweet bread seven days, and see that there be no leavened bread seen nor 8 yet leaven among you in all your quarters. And thou shalt shew thy son at that time saying: this is done, because of that which the LORD did unto me when I came out of Egypt.
9 Therefore it shall be a sign unto thee upon thine hand and a remembrance between thine eyes, that the LORD's law may be in thy mouth. For with a strong hand the LORD brought 10 thee out of Egypt, see thou keep therefore this ordinance in 11 his season from year to year. Moreover when the LORD hath brought thee into the land of the Cananites, as he hath sworn 12 unto thee and to thy fathers, and hath given it thee, then thou shalt appoint unto the LORD all that openeth the matrice, and all the firstborn among the beasts which thou hast if they be 13 males. And all the firstborn of the asses, thou shalt redeem with a sheep: if thou redeem him not, then break his neck.
But all the firstborn among thy children shalt thou buy out.
14 And when thy son asketh thee in time to come saying: what is this? thou shalt say unto him: with a mighty hand and LORD brought us out of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.
15 And when Pharao was loth to let us go, the LORD slew all the firstborn in the land of Egypt: as well the firstborn of men as of beasts. And therefore I sacrifice unto the LORD all the males that open the matrice, but all the firstborn of my chil-16 dren I must redeem. And this shall be as a token in thine hand, and as a thing hanged up between thine eyes: because 17 the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand. When Pharao had let the people go, God carried them not thorow the land of the Philistines, though it were a nye way. For God said: the people might haply repent when they see war, and 18 so turn again to Egypt: therefore God led thee about thorow the wilderness that bordereth on the red sea. The children of 19 Israel went harnessed out of the land of Egypt. And Moses took the bones of Joseph with him: for he made the children of Israel swear saying: God will surely visit you, take my bones 20 therefore away hence with you. And they took their journey from Sucoth: and pitched their tents in Etham in the edge of 21 the wilderness. And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud to lead them the way: and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light: that they might go both by day and night. And the pillar of the cloud never departed by day nor 22 the pillar of fire by night out of the people's sight.

Then the LORD spake unto Moses saying: bid the children XIV, 2 of Israel that they turn and pitch their tents before the entering of Hiroth between Migdol and the sea toward Baal Zephon: even before that shall ye pitch upon the sea. For Pharao will 3 say of the children of Israel: they are tangled in the land, the wilderness hath shut them in. And I will harden his heart, 4 that he shall follow after them, that I may get me honour upon Pharao and upon all his host, that the Egyptians may know that I am the LORD. And they did even so. And when it 5 was told the king of Egypt that the people fled, then Pharao's heart and all his servants turned unto the people and said: why have we this done, that we have let Israel go out of our service? and he made ready his chariots and took his peo- 6 ple with him and took six hundred chosen chariots and all the chariots of Egypt and captains upon all his people. For 7 the LORD hardened the heart of Pharao king of Egypt, that he followed after the children of Israel which for all that went 8 out thorow an high hand. And the Egyptians followed after 9 them and overtook them where they pitched by the sea, with all the horsses and chariots of Pharao and with his horsemen and his host: even fast by the entering of Hiroth before Baal Zephon. And Pharao drew nye, and when the children of Is- 10 rael lift up their eyes and saw how the Egyptians followed after them, they were sore afraid and cried out unto the LORD.
Then said they unto Moses: were there no graves for us in 11 Egypt, but thou must bring us away for to die in the wilderness? wherefore hast thou served us thus, for to carry us out of Egypt? Did not we tell thee this in Egypt saying, let us be 12 in rest and serve the Egyptians? For it had been better for us to have served the Egyptians, than for to die in the wilderness.
And Moses said unto the people: fear ye not but stand still and 13 behold how the LORD shall save you this day: For as ye see the Egyptians this day, shall ye see them no more for ever till the world's end. The LORD shall fight for you and ye shall 14 hold your peace. The LORD said unto Moses: wherefore criest 15 thou unto me? speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward. But lift thou up thy rod and stretch out thy hand 16 over the sea and divide it asunder, that the children of Israel

17 may go on dry ground thorow the middest thereof. And behold I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians that they may follow you. And I will get me honour upon Pharao and upon all 18 his host, upon his chariots and upon his horsemen. And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD when I have gotten me honour upon Pharao, upon his chariots and upon his 19 horsemen. And the angel of God which went before the host of Israel, removed and went behind them. And the clouden pillar that was before them removed and stood behind them and 20 went between the host of the Egyptians and the host of Israel. It was a dark cloud, and gave light by night: so that all the 21 night long the one could not come at the other. When now Moses stretched forth his hand over the sea, the LORD carried away the sea with a strong east wind that blew all night, and 22 made the sea dry land and the water divided itself. And the children of Israel went in thorow the middest of the sea upon the dry ground. And the water was a wall unto them, both on 23 their right hand and on their left hand. And the Egyptians followed and went in after them to the middest of the sea, with 24 all Pharao's horses, and his chariots and his horsemen. And in the morning watch, the LORD looked unto the host of the Egyptians out of the fiery and cloudy pillar, and troubled their 25 host and smote off their chariot wheels and cast them down to the ground. Then said the Egyptians: Let us flee from Israel, for the LORD fighteth for them against us. Then said the 26 LORD unto Moses: stretch out thine hand over the sea, that the water may come again upon the Egyptians upon their chariots 27 and horsemen. Then stretched forth Moses his hand over the sea, and it came again to his course early in the morning, and the Egyptians fled against it. Thus the LORD overthrew the 28 Egyptians in the middest of the sea, and the water returned and covered the chariots and the horsemen: so that of all the host of Pharao that came into the sea after them, there re-29 mained not one. But the children of Israel went upon dry land in the middest of the sea, and the water was a wall unto them: 30 both on the right hand of them and also on the left. Thus the LORD delivered Israel the self same day out of the hand of the Egyptians, and Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the 31 sea side. And when Israel saw that mighty hand which the LORD had shewed upon the Egyptians, they feared the LORD:

and believed both the LORD and also his servant Moses.

Then Moses and the children of Israel sang this song unto XV the LORD and said: Let us sing unto the LORD, for he is become glorious, the horse and him that rode upon him hath he overthrown in the sea. The LORD is my strength and my song, 2 and is become my salvation. He is my God and I will glorify him, he is my father's God and I will lift him up on high.* The 3 LORD is a man of war, Jehovah* is his name: Pharaoh's char- 4 iots and his host hath he cast into the sea. His jolly captains are drowned in the redde* sea, the deep waters have covered 5 them: they sank to the bottom as a stone. Thine hand LORD 6 is glorious in power, thine hand LORD hath all to dashed the enemy. And with thy great glory thou hast destroyed thine ad- 7 versaries, thou sentest forth thy wrath and it consumed them, even as stubble. With the breath of thine anger the water 8 gathered together and the floods stood still as a rock, and the deep water congealed together in the midst of the sea. The 9 enemy said: I will follow and overtake them, and will divide the spoil: I will satisfy my lust upon them: I will draw my sword, and mine hand shall destroy them. Thou blewest with 10 thy breath and the sea covered them, and they sank as lead in the mighty waters. Who is like unto thee o LORD among gods: 11 who is like thee, so glorious in holiness, fearful, laudable and that shewest wonders? Thou stretchedest out thy right hand, 12 and in the earth swallowed them. And thou carriedest with 13 thy mercy this people which thou deliveredest, and broughtest them with thy strength unto thy holy habitation. The na- 14 tions heard, and were afraid, pangs came upon the Philistines.
Then the dukes of the Edomites were amazed, and trembling 15 came upon the mightiest of the Moabites, and all the inhabiters of Canaan waxed faint hearted. Let fear and dread fall 16 upon them thorow the greatness of thine arm, and let them be as still as a stone, while thy people pass thorow o LORD, while the people pass thorow, which thou hast gotten. Bring them 17 in and plant them in the mountains of thine inheritance, the place LORD which thou hast made for to dwell in, the sanctuary Lord, which thy hands have prepared. The LORD reign 18 ever and allway. For Pharaoh went in on horseback with his 19 chariots and horsemen into the sea, and the LORD brought 15. v.2 Other: an hie. v.3 Other: Iehouah. v.4 Other: reed.

the waters of the sea upon them. And the children of Israel 20 went on dry land thorow the middest of the sea. And Miriam a prophetess the sister of Aaron took a timbrel in her hand, and all the women came out after her with timbrels in a dance.
 21 And Miriam sang before them: sing ye unto the LORD, for he is become glorious indeed: the horse and his rider hath he over-22 thrown in the sea. Moses brought Israel from the redde* sea, and they went out into the wilderness of Sur. And they went 23 three days long in the wilderness, and could find no water. At the last they came to Mara: but they could not drink of the wa-24 ters for bitterness, for they were bitter. Therefore the name of the place was called Mara. Then the people murmured 25 against Moses, saying: what shall we drink? And Moses cried unto the LORD, and he shewed him a tree:.* and he cast it into the water, and they waxed sweet. There he made them an or-26 dinance and a law, and there he tempted them and said: If ye will hearken unto the voice of the LORD your God, and will do that which is right in his sight and will give an ear unto his commandments, and keep all his ordinances: then will I put none of these diseases upon thee which I brought upon the 27 Egyptians, for I am the LORD thy surgeon. And they came to Elim where were twelve wells of water and seventy date trees, and they pitched there by the water.

XVI And they took their journey from Elim, and all the whole company of the children of Israel came to the wilderness of Sin, which lieth between Elim and Sinai: the fifteenth day of the second month after that they were come out of the land 2 of Egypt. And the hole multitude of the children of Israel 3 murmured against Moses and Aaron in the wilderness, and said unto them: would to God we had died by the hand of the LORD in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the flesh pots, and ate bread our bellies' full for ye have brought us out into this 4 wilderness to kill this hole multitude for hunger. Then said the LORD unto Moses: behold, I will rain bread from heaven down to you, and let the people go out, and gather day by day, that I may prove them whether they will walk in my law or no.
 5 The sixth day let them prepare that which they will bring in, 6 and let it be twice as much as they gather in daily. And Moses and Aaron said unto all the children of Israel: at even ye shall v.22 Other: reed. v.25 Other: tre.

know that it is the LORD, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, and in the morning ye shall see the glory of the LORD: 7 because he hath heard your grudgings against the LORD: for 7 what are we that ye should murmur against us? And more- 8 over spake Moses: At evening the LORD will give you flesh to 8 eat, and in the morning bread enough, because the LORD hath 8 heard your murmur which ye murmur against him: for what 8 are we? your murmuring is not against us, but against the 8 LORD. And Moses spake unto Aaron: Say unto all the com- 9 pany of the children of Israel, come forth before the LORD, for 9 he hath heard your grudgings. And as Aaron spake unto the 10 hole multitude of the children of Israel, they looked toward the 10 wilderness: and behold, the glory of the LORD appeared in a 10 cloud. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: I have heard 11, 12 the murmuring of the children of Israel, tell them therefore 11, 12 and say that at evening they shall eat flesh, and in the morn- 11, 12 ing they shall be filled with bread, and ye shall know that I am 11, 12 the LORD your God. And at evening the quails came and cover- 13 ed the ground where they lay. And in the morning the dew 13 lay round about the host. And when the dew was fallen: be- 14 hold, it lay upon the ground in the wilderness, small and round 14 and thin as the hoar frost on the ground. When the children 15 of Israel saw it, they said one to another: what is this? for they 15 wist not what it was; And Moses said: this is the bread which 15 the LORD hath given you to eat. This is the thing which the 16 LORD hath commanded, that ye gather every man enough for 16 him to eat: a gomer full for a man according to the number 16 of you, and gather every man for them which are in his tent. 16 And the children of Israel did even so, and gathered some more 17 some less, and did mete it with a gomer. And unto him that 18 had gathered much remained nothing over, and unto him that 18 had gathered little was there no lack: but every man had gather- 18 ed sufficient for his eating. And Moses said unto them: See 19 that no man let ought remain of it till the morning. Notwith- 20 standing they hearkened not unto Moses: but some of the left 20 of it until the mornynge, and it waxed full of worms and stank, 20 and Moses was angry with them. And they gathered it all 21 mornings: every man as much as sufficed for his eating, for as 21 soon as the heat of the son* came it melted. And the sixth day 22

16. v.21 Other: sonne.

they gathered twice so much bread, two gomers for one man, 23 and the rulers of the multitude came and told Moses. And he said unto them: this is that which the LORD hath said: tomorrow is the Sabbath of the holy rest of the LORD: bake that which ye will bake and fetch that ye will fetch, and that which 24 remaineth lay up for you, and keep it till the morning. And they laid it up till the morning as Moses bade, and it stank 25 not, neither was there any worms therein. And Moses said: that eat this day: for today it is the LORD's Sabbath: today 26 ye shall find none in the field. Sixth days ye shall gather it, for the seventh is the Sabbath: there shall be none therein.
27 Notwithstanding there went out of the people in the seventh 28 day for to gather: but they found none. Then the LORD said unto Moses: how long shall it be, yer ye will keep my com-29 mandments and laws? See because the LORD hath given you a Sabbath, therefore he giveth you the sixth day bread for two days. Bide therefore every man at home, and let no man go out 30 of his place the seventh day. And the people rested the sev-31 enth day. And the house of Israel called it Man. And it was like unto Coriander seed and white, and the taste of it was like 32 unto wafers made with honey. And Moses said: this is that which the LORD commandeth: fill a gomer of it, that it may be kept for your children after you: that they may see the bread wherewith he fed you in wilderness, when he had brought you 33 out of the land of Egypt. And Moses spake unto Aaron: take a cruze and put a gomer full of Man therein, and lay it up before 34 the LORD to be kept for your children after you, as the LORD commanded Moses. And Aaron laid it up before the testimony 35 there to be kept. And the children of Israel ate man forty year until they came unto a land inhabited. And so they ate Man, even until they came unto the borders of the land of Canaan, 36 and a gomer is the tenth part of an Epha.

XVII And all the company of the children of Israel went on their journeys from the wilderness of Sin at the commandment of the LORD, and pitched in Raphidim: where was no water for 2 the people to drink. And the people chode with Moses and said: give us water to drink. And Moses said unto them: why 3 chide ye with me, and wherefore do ye tempt the LORD? There the people thirsted for water, and murmured against Moses and said: wherefore hast thou brought us out of Egypt, to kill us and our children and our cattle with thirst? And Moses 4 cried unto the LORD saying, what shall I do unto this people? they be almost ready to stone me. And the LORD said unto 5 Moses: go before the people, and take with thee of the elders of Israel: and thy rod wherewith thou smotest the river, take in thine hand and go. Behold, I will stand there before thee 6 upon a rock in Horeb: and thou shalt smite the rock, and there shall come water out thereof, that the people may drink. And Moses did even so before the elders of Israel. And he called the 7 name of the place: Massa and Meriba: because of the chiding of the children of Israel, and because they tempted the LORD saying: is the LORD among us or not? Then came Amalek 8 and fought with Israel in Raphidim. And Moses said unto 9 Josua: choose out men and go fight with Amelech. Tomorrow I will stand on the top of the hill and the rod of God in mine hand. And Josua did as Moses bade him, and fought with 10 the Amalekites. And Moses, Aaron and Hur went up to the top of the hill. And when Moses held up his hand, Israel had 11 the better. And when he let his hand down, Amelech had the better. When Moses' hands were weary, they took a stone and 12 put it under him, and he sat down there on. And Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands, the one on the one side and the other on the other side. And his hands were steady until the son was down. And Josua discomfited Amalek and his people with the 13 edge of his sword. And the LORD said unto Moses: write this 14 for a remembrance in a book and tell it unto Josua, for I will put out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven. And 15 Moses made an altar and called the name of it Jehovah Nissi,* for he said: the hand is on the seat of the LORD, that the LORD 16 will have war with Amalek thorowout all generations.

Jethro the priest of Madian Moses' father-in-law heard of XVIII all that God had done unto Moses and to Israel his people, how that the LORD had brought Israel out of Egypt. And he took 2 Zippora Moses' wife, after she was sent back, and her two 3 sons, of which the one was called Gerson, for he said: I have been an alien* in a strange land. And the other was called 4 Eliesar: for the God of my father was mine help and delivered me from the sword of Pharao. And Jethro Moses' father-in- 5 law came with his two sons and his wife unto Moses into the wilderness: where he had pitched his tent by the mount of God.

6 And he sent word to Moses: I thy father-in-law Jethro am come 7 to thee, and thy wife also, and her two sons with her. And Moses went out to meet his father-in-law and did obeisance and kissed him, and they saluted each other and came into the 8 tent. And Moses told his father-in-law all that the LORD had done unto Pharao and to the Egyptians for Israel's sake, and all the travail that had happened them by the way, and how the 9 LORD had delivered them. And Jethro rejoiced over all the good which the LORD had done to Israel, and because he had 10 delivered them out of the hand of the Egyptians. And Jethro said: blessed be the LORD which hath delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians and out of the hand of Pharao, which hath delivered his people from under the power of the Egyp-11 tians. Now I know that the LORD is greater than all gods, for 12 because that they dealt proudly with them. And Jethro Moses' father-in-law offered burnt offerings and sacrifices unto God.
And Aaron and all the elders of Israel came to eat bread with 13 Moses' father-in-law before God. And it chanced on the morrow, that Moses sat to judge the people, and the people stood 14 about Moses from morning unto evening. When his father-in-law saw all that he did unto the people, he said: what is this that thou doest unto the people? why sittest thou thyself and lettest all the people stand about thee from morning 15 unto even? And Moses said unto his father-in-law: because 16 the people came unto me to seek counsel* of God. For when they have a matter, they come unto me, and I must judge between every man and his neighbour, and must shew them the 17 ordinances of God and his laws. And his father-in-law said 18 unto him: it is not well that thou doest. Thou doest unwisely and also this people that is with thee: because the thing is too grievous for thee, and thou art not able to do it thy self alone.
19 But hear my voice, and I will give thee counsel,* and God shall be with thee. Be thou unto the people to Godward, and bring 20 the causes unto God and provide them ordinances and laws, and shew them the way wherein they must walk and the works 21 that they must do. Moreover seek out among all the people, men of activity which fear God, and men that are true and hate covetousness: and make them heads over the people, captains over thousands, over hundreds, over fifty, and over ten. And let them judge the people at all seasons: If there be any great matter, let them bring that unto thee, and let them judge all small causes them selves, and ease thy self, and let them bear with thee. If thou shalt do this thing, then thou shalt be able to endure that which God chargeth thee with all, and all this people shall go to their places quietly. And Moses heard the voice of his father-in-law, and did all that he had said, and chose active men out of all Israel and made them heads over the people, captains over thousands, over hundreds, over fifty and over ten. And they judged the people at all seasons, and brought the hard causes unto Moses: and judged all small matters them selves. And then Moses let his father-in-law depart, and he went in to his own land.

The third month after the children of Israel were gone out of Egypt: the same day they came into the wilderness of Sinai. For they were departed from Raphidim, and were come to the desert of Sinai and had pitched their tents in the wilderness. And there Israel pitched before the mount. And Moses went up unto God. And the LORD called to him out of the mountain saying: thus say unto the house of Jacob, and tell the children of Israel: Ye have seen what I did unto the Egyptians and how I took you up upon Eagles' wings, and have brought you unto myself. Now therefore if ye will hear my voice and keep mine appointment: ye shall be mine own above all nations, for all the earth is mine. Ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests and an holy people: these are the words which thou shalt say unto the children of Israel. And Moses came and called for the elders of Israel, and laid before them all these words which the LORD had commanded him. And the people answered all together and said: All that the LORD hath said, we will do. And Moses brought the words of the people unto the LORD. And the LORD said unto Moses: Lo, I will come unto thee in a thick cloud, that the people may hear when I talk with thee, and also believe thee for ever. And Moses shewed the words of the people unto the LORD. And the LORD said unto Moses: Go unto the people and sanctify them today and tomorrow, and let them wash their clothes: that they may be ready against the third day. For the third day the LORD will come down in the sight of all the people upon mount Sinai. And set marks round about the people and say: beware that ye go not up into the mount, and that ye twich not the borders of it, for whosoever twicheth the mount, shall surely die. There shall not an hand twich it, but that he shall either be stoned or else shot thorow: whether it be beast or man, it shall not live, when the horn bloweth: then let them come up in to the mountain.

14 And Moses went down from the mount unto the people and 15 sanctified them, and they washed their clothes: And he said 16 unto the people: be ready against the third day, and see that 17 ye come not at your wives. And the third day in the morning 18 there was thunder, and lightning and a thick cloud upon the 19 mount, and the voice of the horn waxed exceeding loud, and 20 all the people that was in the host was afraid. And Moses 21 brought the people out of the tents to meet with God, and they 22 stood under the hill. And mount Sinai was altogether on a 23 smoke: because the LORD descended down upon it in fire. And 24 the smoke thereof ascended up, as it had been the smoke of a 25 kiln, and all the mount was exceeding fearful. And the voice of the horn blew and waxed louder, and louder. Moses spake, and God answered him and that with a voice. And the LORD came down upon mount Sinai, even in the top of the hill, and called Moses up into the top of the hill. And Moses went up.
And the LORD said unto Moses: go down and charge the people that they prease not up unto the LORD for to see him, and so many of them perish. And let the priests also which come to the LORD's presence, sanctify them selves: lest the LORD smite them. Then Moses said unto the LORD: the people can not come up in to mount Sinai, for thou chargedest us saying: set marks about the hill and sanctify it. And the LORD said unto him: away, and get thee down: and come up both thou and Aaron with thee. But let not the priests and the people presume for to come up unto the LORD: lest he smite them.

25 And Moses went down unto the people and told them.

XX, 2 And God spake all these words and said: I am the LORD thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt and 3 out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have none other gods 4 in my sight. Thou shalt make thee no graven image, neither any similitude that is in heaven above, either in the earth be-5 neath, or in the water that is beneath the earth. See that thou neither bow thyself unto them neither serve them: for I the LORD thy God, am a jealous God, and visit the sin of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me: and yet shew mercy unto thousands 6 among them that love me and keep my commandments. Thou 7 shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain, for the LORD will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain. Remember the Sabbath day that thou sanctify it. Six days 8, 9 mayst thou labour and do all that thou hast to do: but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the LORD thy God, in it thou shalt do no manner work: neither thou nor thy son, nor thy daughter, neither thy manservant nor thy maidservant, neither thy cattle neither yet the stranger that is within thy gates. For 11 in six days the LORD made both heaven and earth and the sea and all that in them is and rested the seventh day: wherefore the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it. Honour 12 thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee. Thou shalt not 13 kill. Thou shalt not break wedlock. Thou shalt not steal. 14, 15 Thou shalt bear no false witness against thy neighbour. Thou 16, 17 shalt not covet thy neighbour's house: neither shalt covet thy neighbour's wife, his manservant, his maid, his ox, his ass or ought that is his. And all the people saw the thunder and 18 the lightning and the noise of the horn, and how the mountain smoked. And when the people saw it, they removed and stood 19 afar off and said unto Moses: talk thou with us and we will hear, but let not God talk with us, lest we die. And Moses 20 said unto the people fear not, for God is come to prove you, and that his fear may be among you that ye sin not. And the people 21 stood afar off, and Moses went into the thick cloud where God was. And the LORD said unto Moses: thus thou shalt 22 say unto the children of Israel: Ye have seen how that I have talked with you from out of heaven. Ye shall not make there- 23 fore with me gods of silver nor gods of gold: in no wise shall ye do it. An altar of earth thou shalt make unto me and thereon 24 offer thy burnt offerings and thy peace offerings, and thy sheep and thine oxen. And in all places where I shall put the remembrance of my name, thither I will come unto thee and bless 25 thee. But and if thou wilt make me an altar of stone, see thou 26 make it not of hewed stone, for if thou lift up thy tool upon it, thou shalt pollute it. Moreover thou shalt not go up with steps unto mine altar, that thy nakedness be not shewed thereon.

XXI, 2 These are the laws which thou shalt set before them. If 3 thou buy a servant that is an Hebrew, sixth years he shall serve, and the seventh he shall go out free paying nothing.
4 If he came alone, he shall go out alone: If he came married, 5 his wife shall go out with him. And if his master have given him a wife and she have borne him sons or daughters: then 6 the wife and her children shall be her master's and he shall go out alone. But and if the servant say I love my master and 7 my wife and my children, I will not go out free. Then let his master bring him unto the Gods and set him to the door or 8 the doorpost, and bore his ear thorow with an nawl, and let him be his servant forever. If a man sell his daughter to be 9 a servant: she shall not go out as the menservants do. If she please not her master, so that he hath given her to no man to 10 wife, then shall he let her go free: to sell her unto a strange nation shall he have no power, because he despised her. If he 11 have promised her unto his son to wife, he shall deal with her as men do with their daughters. If he take him another wife, 12 yet her food, raiment and duty of marriage shall he not minish.
If he do not these three unto her, then shall she go out free and 13 pay no money. He that smiteth a man that he die, shall be slain for it. If a man lay not await but God deliver him into 14 his hand, then I will point thee a place whither he shall flee.
If a man come presumptuously upon his neighbour and slay 15 him with guile, thou shalt take him from mine altar that he die. And he that smiteth his father or his mother, shall die 16 for it. He that stealeth a man and selleth him (if it be proved upon him) shall be slain for it. And he that curseth his father 17 or mother, shall be put to death for it. If men strive together and one smite another with a stone or with his fist, so that he 18 die not, but lieth in bed: if he rise again and walk without upon his staff, then shall he that smote him go quite: save only 19 he shall bear his charges while he lay in bed and pay for his healing. If a man smite his servant or his maid with a staff 20 that they die under his hand, it shall be avenged. But and if they continue a day or two, it shall not be avenged for they are 21 his money. When men strive and smite a woman with child so that her fruit depart from her and yet no misfortune followeth: 22 then shall he be merced, according as the woman's husband will lay to his charge, and he shall pay as the daysmen appoint him. But and if any misfortune follow, then shall he pay life 23 for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, 24 burning for burning, wound for wound and stripe for stripe. If 25, 26 a man smite his servant or his maid in the eye and put it out, he shall let them go free for the eye's sake. Also if he smite 27 out his servant's or his maid's tooth, he shall let them go out free for the tooth's sake. If an ox gore a man or a woman that 28 they die, then the ox shall be stoned, and his flesh shall not be eaten: and his master shall go quite. If the ox were wont 29 to run at men in time past and it hath been told his master, and he hath not kept him, but that he hath killed a man or a woman: then the ox shall be stoned and his master shall die also. If he be set to a sum of money, then he shall give for 30 the deliverance of his life, according to all that is put unto him.

 And whether he hath gored a son or a daughter, he shall be 31 served after the same manner. But if it be a servant or a maid 32 that the ox hath gored, then he shall give unto their master the sum of thirty sicles, and the ox shall be stoned. If a man 33 open a well or dig a pit and cover it not, but that an ox or an ass fall therein, the owner of the pit shall make it good and give 34 money unto their master, and the dead beast shall be his. If 35 one man's ox hurt another's that he die: then they shall sell the live ox and divide the money, and the dead ox also they shall divide. But and if it be known that the ox hath used to push 36 in time's past, then because his master hath not kept him, he shall pay ox for ox, and the dead shall be his own.

If a man steal an ox or sheep and kill it or sell it, he shall XXII restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep. If a 2 thief be found breaking up and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him: except the son* be up when he 3 is found, then there shall be blood shed for him. A thief shall make restitution: If he have not wherewith, he shall be sold for his theft. If the theft be found in his hand alive (whether 4 it be ox, ass or sheep) he shall restore double. If a man do 5 hurt field or vineyard, so that he put in his beast to feed in another man's field: of the best of his own field, and of the best of his own vineyard, shall he make restitution. If fire 6 break out and catch in the thorns, so that the stacks* of corn 22. v.3 Other: sonne. v.6 Other: stoukes.

or the standing corn or field be consumed therewith: he that 7 kindled the fire shall make restitution. If a man deliver his neighbour money or stuff to keep, and it be stolen out of his 8 house: If the thief be found, he shall pay double. If the thief be not found, then the goodman of the house shall be brought unto the gods and swear, whether he have put his hand unto 9 his neighbour's good. And in all manner of trespass, whether it be ox, ass, sheep, raiment or any manner lost thing which another challengeth to be his, the cause of both parties shall come before the gods. And whom the gods condemn: the same 10 shall pay double unto his neighbour. If a man deliver unto his neighbour to keep, ass, ox, sheep or whatsoever beast it be and it die or be hurt or driven away and no man see it: 11 then shall an oath of the LORD go between them, whether he have put his hand unto his neighbour's good, and the owner of it shall take the oath, and the other shall not make it good.
12 If it be stolen from him, then he shall make restitution unto 13 the owner: If it be torn with wild beasts, then let him bring 14 record of the tearing: and he shall not make it good. When a man borroweth ought of his neighbour if it be hurt or else die, and if the owner thereof be not by, he shall make it good: 15 If the owner thereof be by, he shall not make it good, namely 16 if it be an hired thing and came for hire. If a man beguile a maid that is not betrothed and lie with her, he shall endote 17 her and take her to his wife: If her father refuse to give her unto him, he shall pay money according to the dowry of virgins.
18, 19 Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live. Whosoever lieth with 20 a beast, shall be slain for it. He that offereth unto any gods 21 save unto the LORD only, let him die without redemption. Vex not a stranger neither oppress him for ye were strangers in 22 the land of Egypt. Ye shall trouble no widow nor fatherless 23 child: If ye shall trouble them: they shall cry unto me, and 24 I will surely hear their cry and then will my wrath wax hot and I will kill you with sword, and your wives shall be widows 25 and your children fatherless. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be as an usurer 26 unto him, neither shalt oppress him with usury. If thou take thy neighbour's raiment to pledge, see that thou deliver it unto 27 him again by that the son* go down. For that is his coverlet

v.26 Other: sonne.

only: even the raiment for his skin wherein he sleepeth: or else he will cry unto me and I will hear him, for I am merciful. Thou shalt not rail upon the gods, neither curse the ruler of thy people. Thy fruits (whether they be dry or moist) see thou keep not back. Thy firstborn son thou shalt give me: likewise shalt thou do of thine oxen and of thy sheep. Seven days it shall be with the dam, and the eighth day thou shalt give it me. Ye shall be holy people unto me, and therefore shall ye eat no flesh that is torn of beasts in the field. But shall cast it to dogs.

Thou shalt not accept a vain tale, neither shalt thou put thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness. Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil: neither answer in a matter of plea that thou wouldest to follow many turn aside from the truth, neither shalt thou paint a poor man's cause. When thou meetest thine enemy's ox or ass going astray, thou shalt bring them to him again. If thou see thine enemy's ass sink under his burthen, thou shalt not pass by and let him alone: but shalt help him to lift him up again. Thou shalt not hinder the right of the poor that are among you in their suit. Keep thee far from a false matter, and the Innocent and righteous see thou slay not, for I will not justify the wicked. Thou shalt take no gifts, for gifts blind the seeing and pervert the words of the righteous. Thou shalt not oppress a stranger, for I know the heart of stranger, because ye were strangers in Egypt. Six years thou shalt sow thy land and gather in the fruits thereof: and the seventh year thou shalt let it rest and lie still, that the poor of thy people may eat, and what they leave, the beasts of the field shall eat: In like manner thou shalt do with thy vineyard and thine olive trees. Six days thou shalt do thy work and the seventh day thou shalt keep holy day, that thine ox and thine ass may rest and the son of thy maid and the stranger may be refreshed. And in all things that I have said unto you be circumspect. And make no rehearsal of the names of strange gods, neither let any man hear them out of your mouths. Three feasts thou shalt hold unto me in a year. Thou shalt keep the feast of sweet bread, that thou eat unleavened bread seven days long as I commanded thee in the time appointed of the month of Abib, for in that month thou camest out of Egypt: and see that no man appear before me empty.

XXIII

16 And the feast of Harvest, when thou reapest the first fruits of thy labours which thou hast sown in the field. And the feast of ingathering, in the end of the year: when thou hast gathered 17 in thy labours out of the field. Three times in a year shall all 18 thy men children appear before the Lord Jehovah.* Thou shalt not offer the blood of my sacrifice with leavened bread: neither 19 shall the fat of my feast remain until the morning. The first of the firstfruits of thy land thou shalt bring into the house of the LORD thy God thou shalt also not seethe a kid in his mother's 20 milk. Behold, I send mine angel before thee, to keep thee in the way, and to bring thee into the place which I have pre-21 pared. Beware of him and hear his voice and anger him not:
for he will not spare your misdeeds, yea and my name is in him.
22 But and if thou shalt hearken unto his voice and keep all that I shall tell thee, then I will be an enemy unto thine enemies and 23 an adversary unto thine adversaries. When mine angel goeth before thee and hath brought thee in unto the Amorites, Het-hites, Pherezites, Cananites, Hevites and Jebusites, and I shall 24 have destroyed them, see thou worship not their gods neither serve them, neither do after the works of them, but overthrow 25 them and break down the places of them. And see that ye serve the LORD your God, and he shall bless thy bread and thy water, and I will take all sicknesses away from among you.
26 Moreover there shall be no woman childless or unfruitful in 27 thy land, and the number of thy days I will fulfill. I will send my fear before thee and will kill all the people whither thou shalt go. And I will make all thine enemies turn their backs 28 unto thee, and I will send hornets before thee, and they shall drive out the Hevites, the Cananites and the Hethites before 29 thee. I will not cast them out in one year, lest the land grow to a wilderness: and the beasts of the field multiply upon thee.
30 But a little and a little I will drive them out before thee, until 31 thou be increased that thou mayst inherit the land. And I will make thy coasts from the red sea unto the sea of the Philistines and from the desert unto the river. I will deliver the inhabitants of the land into thine hand, and thou shalt drive them out be-32 fore thee. And thou shalt make none appointment with them 33 nor with their gods. Neither shall they dwell in thy land, lest they make thee sin against me: for if thou serve their gods, it will surely be thy decay.

And he said unto Moses: come unto the LORD: both thou XXIV and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and the seventy elders of Israel, and worship afar off. And Moses went himself alone unto the 2 LORD, but they came not nye, neither came the people up with him. And Moses came and told the people all the words of 3 the LORD and all the laws. And all the people answered with one voice and said: all the words which the LORD hath said, will we do. Then Moses wrote all the words of the LORD and 4 rose up early and made an altar under the hill, and twelve pillars according to the number of the twelve tribes of Israel, and sent young men of the children of Israel to sacrifice burnt 5 offerings and to offer peace offerings of oxen unto the LORD.
And Moses took half of the blood and put it in basins, and the 6 other half he sprinkled on the altar. And he took the book of 7 the appointment and read it in the audience of the people. And they said: All that the LORD hath said, we will do and hear.
And Moses took the blood and sprinkled it on the people and 8 said: behold, this is the blood of the appointment which the LORD hath made with you upon all these words. Then went 9 Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu and the seventy elders of Israel up, and saw the God of Israel, and under his feet as 10 it were a brick work of Saphir and as it were the fashion of heaven when it is clear, and upon the nobles of the children of 11 Israel he set not his hand. And when they had seen God they ate and drank. And the LORD said unto Moses: come up to 12 me in to the hill and be there, and I will give thee tables of stone and a law and commandments, which I have written to teach them. Then Moses rose up and his minister Josua, and 13 Moses went up into the hill of God, and said unto the elders: 14 tarry ye here until we come again unto you: And behold here is Aaron and Hur with you. If any man have any matters to do, let him come to them. When Moses was come up into 15 the mount, a cloud covered the hill, and the glory of the LORD 16 abode upon mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days. And the seventh day he called unto Moses out of the cloud. And the 17 fashion of the glory of the LORD was like consuming fire on the top of the hill in the sight of the children of Israel. And Moses 18 went into the mountain. And Moses was in the mount forty days and forty nights.

XXV, 2 And the LORD talked with Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel that they give me an heave offering, and of every man that giveth it willingly with his heart, ye shall take 3 it. And this is the heave offering which ye shall take of them: 4 gold, silver and brass: and Jacinth colour, scarlet, purple, byss 5 and goat's hair: ram's skins that are red, and the skins of 6 taxus and sethim wood, oil for lights, and spices for anointing 7 oil and for sweet cense: Onyx stones and set stones for the 8 Ephod and for the breastlap. And they shall make me a sanc-9 tuary that I may dwell among them. And as I have shewed* thee the fashion of the habitation and of all the ornaments 10 thereof, even so see that ye make it in all things. And they shall make an ark of sethim wood two cubits and an half long, a 11 cubit and an half broad and a cubit and an half high. And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold: both within and without, and 12 shalt make an high upon it a crown of gold round about. And thou shalt cast four rings of gold for it and put them in the four corners thereof, two rings on the one side of it and two on the 13 other. And thou shalt make staves of sethim wood and cover 14 them with gold, and put the staves in the rings along by the 15 sides of the ark, to bear it withal. And the staves shall abide 16 in the rings of the ark, and shall not be taken away. And thou 17 shalt put in the ark, the witness which I shall give thee. And thou shalt make a mercy seat of pure gold two cubits and an 18 half long and a cubit and an half broad. And make two cheru-19 bins of thick gold on the two ends of the mercy seat: and set the one cherub on the one end and the other on the other end of the mercy seat: so see that thou make them on the two ends 20 thereof. And the cherubins shall stretch their wings abroad over on high,* and cover the mercy seat with their wings, and their faces shall look one to another: even to the mercy seat 21 ward, shall the faces of the cherubins be. And thou shalt put the mercy seat above upon the ark, and in the ark thou shalt 22 put the witness which I will give thee. There I will meet thee and will commune* with thee from upon the mercy seat from between the two cherubins which are upon the ark of witness, of all things which I will give thee in commandment unto the 23 children of Israel. Thou shalt also make a table of sethim wood of two cubits long and one cubit broad and a cubit and an half high. And cover it with pure gold and make thereto 24 a crown of gold round about. And make unto that an hoop of 25 four fingers broad, round about. And make a golden crown also to the hoop round about. And make for it four rings of gold 26 and put them in the corners that are on the four feet thereof: even hard under the hoop shall the rings be, to put in staves to 27 bear the table withal. And thou shalt make staves of sethim 28 wood and overlay them with gold, that the table may be borne with them. And thou shalt make his dishes, spoons, pots and 29 flatpieces to pour out withal, of fine gold. And thou shalt set 30 upon the table, shewbread before me alway. And thou shalt 31 make a candlestick of pure thick gold with his shaft, branches, bowls, knops and flowers proceeding thereout. Six branches 32 shall proceed out of the sides of the candlestick, three out of the one side and three out of the other. And there shall be 33 three cups like unto almonds with knops and flowers upon every one of the six branches that proceed out of the candlestick: and in the candlestick self four cups like unto almonds with 34 their knops and flowers: that there be a knop under every two 35 branches of the six that proceed out of the candlestick. And 36 the knops and the branches shall be altogether, one piece of pure thick gold. And thou shalt make seven lamps and put 37 them an high there on, to give light unto the other side that is over against it: with snuffers and firepans of pure gold. An 38, 39 hundred pound weight of fine gold shall make it with all the apparel. And see that thou make them after the fashion that 40 was shewed thee in the mount.

And thou shalt make an habitation with ten curtains of XXVI twined byss, Jacinth, scarlet and purple, and shalt make them with cherubins of broidered work. The length of a curtain 2 shall be twenty eight cubits, and the breadth four and they shall be all of one measure: five curtains shall be coupled to- 3 gether one to another: and the other five likewise shall be coupled together one to another. Then shalt thou make loops of 4 Jacinth colour, along by the edge of the one curtain even in the selvedge of the coupling curtain. And likewise shalt thou make in the edge of the utmost curtain that is coupled therewith on the other side. Fifty loops shalt thou make in the one curtain, 5 and fifty in the edge of the other that is coupled therewith on the other side: so that the loops be one over against another.

6 And thou shalt make fifty buttons of gold, and couple the curtain together with the buttons: that it may be an habitation.
7 And thou shalt make eleven curtains of goat's hair, to be a tent 8 to cover the habitation. The length of a curtain shall be thirty cubits, and the breadth four and they shall be all eleven of one 9 measure. And thou shalt couple five by them selves, and the other six by them selves, and shalt double the sixth in the fore-10 front of the tabernacle. And thou shalt make fifty loops in the edge of the utmost curtain on the one side: even in the coupling curtain, and as many in the edge of the coupling curtain on the 11 other side. And thou shalt make fifty buttons of brass and put them on the loops, and couple the tent together withal: that 12 there may be one tabernacle.* And the remnant that resteth in the curtains of the tent: even the breadth of half a curtain that resteth, shall be left on the back sides of the habitation:
13 a cubit on the one side and a cubit on the other side, of that, that remaineth in the length of the curtains of the tabernacle, which shall remain of either side of the habitation to cover it 14 withal. And thou shalt make another covering for the tent of rams' skins dyed red: and yet another above all of taxus' skins.
15 And thou shalt make boards for the habitation of sethim wood to stand upright: ten cubits long shall every board be, and 16 a cubit and an half broad. Two feet shall one board have to couple them together withal, and so thou shalt make unto all 17 the boards of the habitation. And thou shalt make twenty boards for the habitation on the south side, and thou shalt 18 make forty sockets of silver and put them under the twenty boards: two sockets under every board, for their two feet. In 19 like manner in the north side of the habitation there shall be 20 twenty boards and forty sockets of silver: two sockets under 21 every board. And for the west end of the habitation, shalt 22 thou make six boards, and two boards more for the two west 23 corners of the habitation: so that these two boards be coupled together beneath and likewise above with clamps. And 24 so shall it be in both the corners. And so there shall be eight boards in all, and sixteen sockets of silver: two sockets under 25 every board. And thou shalt make bars of sethim wood five 26 for the boards of the one side of the tabernacle, and five for the other side, and five for the boards of the west end. And 27 28 the middle bar shall go along thorow the midst* of the boards and bar them together from the one end unto the other. And 29 thou shalt cover the boards with gold and make golden rings for them to put the bars thorow, and shalt cover the bars with gold also. And rear up the habitation according to the fashion 30 thereof that was shewed thee in the mount. And thou shalt 31 make a vail of Jacinth, of scarlet, purple and twined byss, and shalt make it of broidered work and full of cherubins. And 32 hang it upon four pillars of sethim wood covered with gold and that their knops be covered with gold also, and stand upon four sockets of silver. And thou shalt hang up the vail with rings, 33 and shall bring in within the vail, the ark of witness. And the vail shall divide the holy from the most holy. And thou shalt 34 put the mercy seat upon the ark of witness in the holiest place.

 And thou shalt put the table without the vail and candlestick 35 over against the table, upon the south side of the habitation.
 And put the table on the north side. And thou shalt make an 36 hanging for the door of the tabernacle: of Jacinth, of scarlet, of purple and of twined byss, wrought with needle work. And 37 thou shalt make for the hanging, five pillars of sethim wood, and cover both them and their knops with gold, and shalt cast five sockets of brass for them.

And thou shalt make an altar of sethim wood: five cubits XXVII long and five cubits broad, that it be foursquare, and three cubits high. And make it horns proceeding out in the four 2 corners of it, and cover it with brass. And make his ash- 3 pans, shovels, basins, fleshhooks, firepans and all the apparel thereof, of brass: after the fashion of a net, and put upon the 4 net four rings: even in the four corners of it, and put it be- 5 neath under the compass of the altar, and let the net reach unto the one half of the altar; And make staves for the altar 6 of sethim wood, and cover them with brass, and let them be 7 put in rings along by the sides of the altar, to bear it withal.
 And make the altar hollow with boards: even as it was shewed 8 thee in the mount, so let them make it. And thou shalt make 9 a court unto the habitation, which shall have in the south side hangings of twined byss, being an hundred cubits long, and 10 twenty pillars thereof with their twenty sockets of brass: but the knops of the pillars and their hoops shall be silver. In like 11 v.28 Other: myddes.

wise on the north side there shall be hangings of an hundred cubits long and twenty pillars with their sockets of brass, and the knops and the hoops of silver. And in the breadth of the court westward, there shall be hangings of fifty cubits long, and ten pillars with their ten sockets. And in the breadth of the court eastward toward the rising of the sun, shall be hangings of fifty cubits. Hangings of fifteen cubits in the one side of it with three pillars, and three sockets: and likewise on the other side shall be hangings of fifteen cubits with three pillars and three sockets. And in the gate of the court shall be a vail of twenty cubits: of jacinth, scarlet, purple and twined byss wrought with needle work, and four pillars with their four sockets. All the pillars round about the court shall be hooped with silver, and their knops of silver, and their sockets of brass. The length of the court, shall be an hundred cubits, and the breadth fifty, and the height five, and the hangings shall be of twined byss and the sockets of brass. And all the vessels of the habitation to all manner service and the pins thereof: yea and the pins also of the court, shall be brass. And command the children of Israel that they give the pure oil olive beaten for the lights to pour alway into the lamps. In the tabernacle of witness without the vail which is before the witness, shall Aaron and his sons dress it both even and morning before the LORD: And it shall be a duty for ever unto your generations after you: to be given of the children of Israel.

XXVIII

And take thou unto thee, Aaron thy brother and his sons with him, from among the children of Israel, that he may minister unto me: both Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron's sons. And thou shalt make holy raiment for Aaron thy brother, both honourable and glorious. Moreover speak unto all that are wise hearted, which I have filled with the spirit of wisdom: that they make Aaron's raiment to consecrate him with, that he may minister unto me. These are the garments which they shall make: a breastlap, Ephod, a tunicle, a strait coat, a mitre and a girdle. And they shall make holy garments for Aaron thy brother and his sons, that he may minister unto me. And they shall take thereto, gold, jacinth, scarlet, purple and byss. And they shall make the Ephod of gold, jacinth, scarlet, purple and white twined byss with broi-dered work. The two sides shall come together, closed up in the edges thereof. And the girdle of the Ephod shall be of the 8 same workmanship and of the same stuff: even of gold, jacinth, scarlet, purple and twined byss. And thou shalt take two onyx 9 stones and grave in them the names of the children of Israel: fix in the one stone, and the other fix in the other stone: ac- 10 cording to the order of their birth. After the work of a stone 11 graver, even as signets are graven, shalt thou grave the two stones with the names of the children of Israel, and shalt make them to be set in ouches of gold. And thou shalt put the two 12 stones upon the two shoulders of the Ephod, and they shall be stones of remembrance unto the children of Israel. And Aaron shall bear their names before the LORD upon his two shoulders for a remembrance. And thou shalt make hooks of gold and 13, 14 two chains of fine gold: link work and wreathed, and fasten the wreathed chains to the hooks. And thou shalt make the 15 breastlap of ensample* with broidered work: even after the work of the Ephod shalt thou make it: of gold, jacinth, scarlet, purple and twined byss shalt thou make it. Foursquare 16 it shall be and double, an hand breadth long and an hand breadth broad. And thou shalt fill it with four rows of stones. 17 In the first row shall be a Sardius, a Topas and Smaragdus.

 The second row, a Ruby, Sapphire and Diamond. The third: 18, 19 Ligurius, an Achat and Amethyst. The fourth: a Turcois Onyx and Jasper. And they shall be set in gold in their enclosures. 20 And the stones shall be graven as signets be graven: with the names of the children of Israel, even with twelve names every 21 one with his name according to the twelve tribes. And thou 22 shalt make upon the breastlap two fastening chains of pure gold and wreathen work. And thou shalt make likewise upon 23 the breastlap two rings of gold and put them on the edges of the breastlap, and put the two wreathen chains of gold in the 24 two rings which are in the edges of the breastlap. And the two 25 ends of the two chains thou shalt fasten in the two rings, and put them upon the shoulders of the Ephod: on the foreside of it. And thou shalt yet make two rings of gold, and put them 26 in the two edges of the breastlap even in the borders thereof toward the inside of the Ephod that is over against it. And 27 yet two other rings of gold thou shalt make, and put them on the two sides of the Ephod, beneath over against the breast-lap, alow where the sides are joined together upon the broi-28 dered girdle of the Ephod. And they shall bind the breastlap by his rings unto the rings of the Ephod with a lace of jacinth, that it may lie close unto the broi-dered girdle of the Ephod, 29 that the breastlap be not lowsed from the Ephod. And Aaron shall bear the names of the children Israel in the breastlap of ensample upon his heart, when he goeth into the holy place, 30 for a remembrance before the LORD alway. And thou shalt put in the breastlap of ensample light and perfectness: that they be even upon Aaron's heart when he goeth in before the LORD and Aaron shall bear the example of the children of Is-31 rael upon his heart before the LORD alway. And thou shalt 32 make the tunicle unto the Ephod, altogether of Jacinth. And there shall be an hole for the head in the midst of it, and let there be a bond of woven work round about the collar of it: as 33 it were the collar of a partlet, that it rend not. And beneath upon the hem, thou shalt make pomegranates of Jacinth, of 34 scarlet, and of purple round about the hem, and bells of gold between them round about: that there be ever a golden bell and a pomegranate, a golden bell and a pomegranate round 35 about upon the hem of the tunicle. And Aaron shall have it upon him when he ministereth, that the sound may be heard when he goeth into the holy place before the LORD and when 36 he cometh out, that he die not. And thou shalt make a plate of pure gold, and grave thereon (as signets are graven) The ho-37 liness of the LORD, and put it on a lace of Jacinth and tie it 38 unto the mitre, upon the forefront of it, that it be upon Aaron's forehead: that Aaron bear the sin of the holy things which the children of Israel have hallowed in all their holy gifts. And it shall be always upon Aaron's forehead, that they may be ac-39 cepted before the LORD. And thou shalt make an alb of byss, and thou shalt make a mitre of byss and a girdle of needle 40 work. And thou shalt make for Aaron's sons also coats, gir-41 dles and bonnets honourable and glorious, and thou shalt put them upon Aaron thy brother and on his sons with him and shalt anoint them and fill their hands and consecrate them, 42 that they may minister unto me. And thou shalt make them linen breeches to cover their privates:* from the loins unto the 43 thighs shall they reach. And they shall be upon Aaron and v.42 Other: privities.

his sons, when they go into the tabernacle of witness, or when they go unto the altar to minister in holiness, that they bear no sin and so die. And it shall be a law for ever unto Aaron and his seed after him.

This is the thing that thou shalt do unto them when thou XXIX hallowest them to be my priests. Take one ox and two rams that are without blemish, and unleavened bread and cakes 2 of sweet bread tempered with oil and wafers of sweet bread anointed with oil (of wheaten flour shalt thou make them) and 3 put them in a maund and bring them in the maund with the oil and the two rams. And bring Aaron and his sons unto the 4 door of the tabernacle of witness, and wash them with water, and take the garments, and put upon Aaron: the strait coat, 5 and the tunic of the Ephod, and the Ephod and the breast-lap: and girth them to him with the broidered girdle of the Ephod. And put the mitre upon his head and put the holy 6 crown upon the mitre. Then take the anointing oil and pour 7 it upon his head and anoint him. And bring his sons and put 8 albes upon them, and girth them with girdles: as well Aaron 9 as his sons. And put the bonnets on them that the priest's office may be theirs for a perpetual law. And fill the hands of Aaron and of his sons, and bring the ox before the tabernacle of wit- 10 ness. And let Aaron and his sons put their hands upon his head and kill him before the LORD in the door of the tabernacle of 11 witness. And take of the blood of the ox and put it upon the horns of the altar with thy finger and pour all the blood upon 12 the bottom of the altar, and take all the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul that is on the liver, and the two kidneys 13 with the fat that is upon them: and burn them upon the altar. But the flesh of the ox and his skin and his dung, shalt 14 thou burn with fire, without the host. For it is a sin offering.
Then take one of the rams, and let Aaron and his sons put their 15 hands upon the head of the ram, and cause him to be slain, 16 and take of his blood, and sprinkle it round about upon the altar, and cut the ram in pieces and wash the inwards of him 17 and his legs, and put them unto the pieces and unto his head, and burn the whole ram upon the altar. For it is a burnt offer- 18 ing unto the LORD, and a sweet savour of the LORD's sacrifice.
And take the other ram and let Aaron and his sons, put their 19 hands upon his head and let him then be killed. And take of 20 his blood and put it upon the tip of the right ear of Aaron and of his sons, and upon the thumb of their right hands, and upon the great toe of their right feet and sprinkle the blood upon 21 the altar round about. Then take of the blood that is upon the altar and of the anointing oil, and sprinkle it upon Aaron and his vestments, and upon his sons and upon their garments also. Then is he and his clothes holy and his sons and their 22 clothes holy also. Then take the fat of the ram and his rump and the fat that covereth the inwards and the caul of the liver and, the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them and the 23 right shoulder (for that ram is a full offering) and a simnel of bread and a cake of oiled bread and a wafer out of the basket 24 of sweet bread that is before the LORD, and put all upon the hands of Aaron and on the hands of his sons: and wave them 25 in and out a wave offering unto the LORD. Then take it from off their hands and burn it upon the altar: even upon the burnt offering, to be a savour of sweetness before the LORD. For it 26 is a sacrifice unto the LORD. Then take the breast of the ram that is Aaron's full offering and wave it a wave offering before 27 the LORD, and let that be thy part. And sanctify the breast of the wave offering and the shoulder of the heave offering which is waved and heaved up of the ram which is the full offering of 28 Aaron and of his sons. And it shall be Aaron's and his sons' duty for ever, of the children of Israel, for it is an heave offering. And the heave offering shall be the LORD's duty of the children of Israel: even of the sacrifice of their peace offerings 29 which they heave unto the LORD. And the holy garments of Aaron shall be his sons' after him, to anoint them therein, and 30 to fill their hands therein. And that son that is priest in his stead after him, shall put them on seven days: that he go into 31 the tabernacle of witness, to minister in the holy place. Then take the ram that is the full offering and seethe his flesh in an 32 holy place. And Aaron and his sons shall eat the flesh of him, and the bread that is in the basket: even in the door of the 33 tabernacle of witness. And they shall eat them, because the atonement was made therewith to fill their hands and to sanctify them: but a stranger shall not eat thereof, because they are 34 holy. If ought of the flesh of the full offerings, or of the bread remain unto the morning, thou shalt burn it with fire: for it 35 shall not be eaten, because it is holy. And see thou do unto

Aaron and his sons, even so in all things as I have commanded thee: that thou fill their hands seven days and offer every day an ox for a sin offering for to reconcile with all. And thou shalt hallow the altar when thou reconcilest it, and shalt anoint it to sanctify it. Seven days thou shalt reconcile the altar and sanctify it, that it may be an altar most holy: so that no man may twich it but they that be consecrate. This is that which thou shalt offer upon the altar: two lambs of one year old day by day for ever, the one thou shalt offer in the morning and the other at even. And unto the one lamb take a tenth deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oil, and the fourth part of an hin of wine, for a drink offering. And the other lamb thou shalt offer at even and shalt do thereto according to the meat offering and drink offering in the morning, to be an odour of a sweet savour of the sacrifice of the LORD. And it shall be a continual burnt offering among your children after you, in the door of the tabernacle of witness before the LORD, where I will meet you to speak unto you there. There I will meet with the children of Israel, and will be sanctified in mine honour. And I will sanctify the tabernacle of witness and the altar: and I will sanctify also both Aaron and his sons to be my priests. And moreover I will dwell among the children of Israel and will be their God. And they shall know that I am the LORD their God that brought them out of the land of Egypt for to dwell among them: even I the LORD their God.

And thou shalt make an altar to burn cense therein, of XXX sethim wood: a cubit long, and a cubit broad, even foursquare shall it be and two cubits, high: with horns proceeding out of it, and thou shalt overlay it with fine gold both the roof and the walls round about, and his horns also, and shalt make unto it a crown of gold round about, and two golden rings on either side, even under the crown, to put staves therein for to bear it withal. And thou shalt make the staves of sethim wood and cover them with gold. And thou shalt put it before the vail that hangeth before the ark of witness, and before the mercy seat that is before the witness, where I will meet thee. And Aaron shall burn thereon sweet cense every morning when he dresseth the lamps: and likewise at even when he setteth up the lamps he shall burn cense perpetually before the LORD thorowout your generations. Ye shall put no strange cense thereon, neither burnt sacrifice nor meat offering, neither pour any drink offering thereon. And Aaron shall reconcile his horns once in a year, with the blood of the sin offering of reconciling: even once in the year shall he reconcile it thow your generations. And so is it most holy unto the LORD. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: when thou takest the sum of the children of Israel and tellest them, they shall give every man a reconciling of his soul unto the LORD, that there be no plague among them when thou tellest them. And thus much shall every man give that goeth in the number: half a sicle, after the holy sicle: a sicle is twenty geras: and an half sicle shall be the heave offering unto the LORD. And all that are numbered of them that are twenty year old and above shall give an heave offering unto the LORD. The rich shall not pass, and the poor shall not go under half a sicle, when they give an heave offering unto the LORD for the atonement of their souls. And thou shalt take the reconciling money of the children of Israel and shalt put it unto the use of the tabernacle of witness, and it shall be a memorial of the children of Israel before the LORD, to make atonement for their souls. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: thou shalt make a laver of brass and his foot also of brass to wash withal, and shalt put it between the tabernacle of witness and the altar and put water therein: that Aaron and his sons may wash both their hands and their feet thereout, when they go into the tabernacle of witness, or when they go unto the altar to minister and to burn the LORD's offering, lest they die. And it shall be an ordinance for ever unto him and his seed among your children after you. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: take principal spices: of pure myrrh five hundred sicles, of sweet cinnamon half so much, two hundred and fifty sicles: of sweet calamite, two hundred and fifty. Of cassia, two hundred and fifty after the holy sicle, and of oil olive an hin. And make of them holy anointing oil even an oil compound after the craft of the apothecary. And anoint the tabernacle of witness therewith, and the ark of witness, and the table with all his apparel, and the candlestick with all his ordinance, and the altar of incense, and the altar of burnt sacrifice and all his vessels, and the laver and his foot. And sacrifice them that they may be most holy: so that no man twich them but they that be hallowed. And anoint Aaron and his sons and conse- 30 crate them to minister unto me. And thou shalt speak unto 31 the children of Israel saying: this shall be an holy anointing oil unto me, thorowout your generations. No man's flesh shall be 32 anointed therewith: neither shall ye make any other after the making of it for it is holy, see therefore that ye take it for holy: Whosoever maketh like that, or whosoever putteth any of it 33 upon a stranger, shall perish from among his people. And the 34 LORD said unto Moses: take unto thee sweet spices: stacte, onycha, sweet galbanum and pure frankincense, of each like much: and make cense of them compounded after the craft 35 of the apothecary, mingled together, that it may be made pure and holy. And beat it to powder and put it before the witness 36 in the tabernacle of witness, where I will meet thee, but let it be unto you holy. And see that ye make none after the making 37 of that, but let it be unto you holy for the LORD. And whoso- 38 ever shall make like unto that, to smell thereto, shall perish from among his people.

And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: behold, I have XXXI, 2 called by name, Bezaleel the son of Uri son to Hur of the tribe of Juda. And I have filled him with the spirit of God, with wis- 3 dom, understanding and knowledge: even in all manner work, to find out subtle feats, to work in gold, silver and brass and 4, 5 with the craft to grave stones, to set and to carve in timber, and to work in all manner workmanship. And behold, I have 6 given him to be his companion Ahaliab the son of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan, and in the hearts of all that are wise hearted I have put wisdom to make all that I have commanded thee: the tabernacle of witness, and the ark of witness, and the mer- 7 cyseat that is there upon, all the ornaments of the tabernacle, and the table with his ordinance, and the pure candlestick with 8 all his apparel, and the altar of incense, and the altar of burnt 9 offerings with all his vessels, and the laver with his foot, and 10 the vestments to minister in, and the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons to minister in, and 11 the anointing oil and the sweet cense for the sanctuary: according to all as I have commanded thee shall they do. And 12 the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children 13 of Israel and say: in any wise see that ye keep my Sabbath, for it shall be a sign between me and you in your generations for 14 to know, that I the LORD do sanctify you. Keep my Sabbath therefore, that it be an holy thing unto you. He that defileth it, shall be slain therefore. For whosoever worketh therein, the 15 same soul shall be rooted out from among his people. Six days shall men work, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the holy rest of the LORD: so that whosoever doeth any work in the Sab-16 bath day, shall die for it. Wherefore let the children of Israel keep the Sabbath, that they observe it thorowout their gener-17 ations, that it be an appointment for ever. For it shall be a sign between me, and the children of Israel for ever. For in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, and the seventh day 18 he rested and was refreshed. And when he had made an end of communing with Moses upon the mount Sinai, he gave him two tables of witness: which were of stone and written with the finger of God.

XXXII

And when the people saw that it was long or Moses came down out of the mountain, they gathered them selves together and came unto Aaron and said unto him: Up and make us a god to go before us: for of this Moses the fellow that brought 2 us out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become. And Aaron said unto them: pluck off the golden earrings which are in the ears of your wives, your sons and of your daughters: and 3 bring them unto me. And all the people plucked off the golden earrings that were in their ears, and brought them unto Aaron.
4 And he received them of their hands and fashioned it with a graver and made it a calf of molten metal. And they said: This is thy God, O Israel, which brought thee out of the land of 5 Egypt. And when Aaron saw that, he made an altar before it, and made a proclamation saying tomorrow shall be holy day 6 unto the LORD. And they rose up in the morning and offered burnt offerings, and brought offerings of atonement also. And then they sat them down to eat and drink, and rose up again 7 to play. Then the LORD said unto Moses: go get thee down, for thy people which thou broughtest out of the land of Egypt, 8 have marred all they are turned at once out of the way which I commanded them, and have made them a calf of molten metal, and have worshipped it and have offered thereto and have said: This is thy God thou Israel, which hath brought thee out of the 9 land of Egypt. And the LORD said unto Moses: behold, I see 10 this people, that it is a stiffnecked people, and now therefore suffer me that my wrath may wax hot upon them, and that I may consume them: and then will I make of thee a mighty people. Then Moses besought the LORD his God and said: O LORD, why should thy wrath wax hot upon thy people which thou hast brought out of the land of Egypt with great power and with a mighty hand? wherefore should the Egyptians speak and say: For a mischief did he bring them out: even for to slay them in the mountains, and to consume them from the face of the earth. Turn from thy fierce wrath, and have compassion over the wickedness of thy people. Remember Abraham, Isaac and Israel thy servants, to whom thou sworest by thine own self and saidest unto them: I will multiply your seed as the stars of heaven, and all this land which I have said, I will give unto your seed: and they shall inherit it for ever. And the LORD refrained himself from that evil, which he said he would do unto his people. And Moses turned his back and went down from the hill, and the two tables of witness in his hand: which were written on both the leaves and were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God graven upon the tables. And when Josua heard the noise of the people as they shouted, he said unto Moses: there is a noise of war in the host. And he said: it is not the cry of them that have the mastery, nor of them that have the worse: but I do hear the noise of singing. And as soon as he came nye unto the host and saw the calf and the dancing, his wrath waxed hot, and he cast the tables out of his hand, and brake them even at the hill foot. And he took the calf which they had made and burned it with fire, and stamped it unto powder and strowed it in the water, and made the children of Israel drink. And then Moses said unto Aaron: what did this people unto thee that thou hast brought so great a sin upon them? And Aaron said: let not the wrath of my lord wax fierce, thou knowest the people that they are even set on mischief: they said unto me: make us a god to go before us, for we wot not what is become of Moses the fellow that brought us out of the land of Egypt. And I said unto them: let them that have gold, take and bring it me: and I cast it into the fire, and thereof came out this calf. When Moses saw that the people were naked (for Aaron had made them naked unto their shame when they made insurrection) he went and stood in the gate of the host and said: If any man pertain unto the LORD, let him come to me. And all the sons of Levi gathered 27 them selves together and came unto him. And he said unto them, thus sayeth the LORD of Israel: put every man his sword by his side, and go in and out from gate to gate thorowout the host: and slay every man his brother, every man his friend 28 and every man his neighbour. And the children of Levi did as Moses had said. And there were slain of the people the same 29 day, about three thousand men. Then Moses said: fill your hands unto the LORD this day, every man upon his son and 30 upon his brother: to bring upon you a blessing this day. And on the morrow, Moses said unto the people: Ye have sinned a great sin. But now I will go up unto the LORD, to wit whether 31 I can make an atonement for your sin. And Moses went again unto the LORD and said: Oh, this people have sinned a great 32 sin and have made them a god of gold: Yet forgive them their sin I pray thee: If not wipe me out of thy book which thou hast 33 written. And the LORD said unto Moses: I will put him out of 34 my book that hath sinned against me. But go and bring the people unto the land which I said unto thee: behold, mine angel shall go before thee. Neverthelater in the day when I visit, 35 I will visit their sin upon them. And the LORD plagued the people, because they made the calf which Aaron made.

XXXIII

And the LORD said unto Moses: depart and go hence: both thou and the people which thou hast brought out of the land of Egypt, unto the land which I swore unto Abraham, Isaac 2 and Jacob, saying: unto thy seed I will give it. And I will send an angel before thee, and will cast out the Cananites, the Amorites, the Hethites, the Pherezites, the Hevites, and the 3 Jebusites: that thou mayst go in to a land that floweth with milk and honey. But I will not go among you myself, for ye are 4 a stiffnecked people: lest I consume you by the way. And when the people heard this evil tidings, they sorrowed: and no man 5 did put on his best raiment. And the LORD spake unto Moses, say unto the children of Israel: ye are a stiffnecked people: I must come once suddenly upon you, and make an end of you.
But now put your goodly raiment from you, that I may wete 6 what to do unto you. And the children of Israel laid their 7 goodly raiment from them even under the mount Horeb. And Moses took the tabernacle and pitched it without the host, afar off from the host, and called it the tabernacle of witness. And all that would ask any question of the LORD, went out unto the tabernacle of witness which was without the host. And when 8 Moses went out unto the tabernacle, all the people rose up and stood every man in his tent door and looked after Moses, until he was gone in to the tabernacle. And as soon as Moses was 9 entered into the tabernacle, the clouden pillar descended and stood in the door of the tabernacle, and he talked with Moses.

And when all the people saw the clouden pillar stand in the 10 tabernacle door, they rose up and worshipped: every man in his tent door. And the LORD spake unto Moses face to face, 11 as a man speaketh unto his friend. And when Moses turned again in to the host, the lad Josua his servant the son of Nun departed not out of the tabernacle. And Moses said unto the 12 LORD: see, thou saidest unto me: lead this people forth, but thou shewest me not whom thou wilt send with me. And hast said moreover: I know thee by name and thou hast also found grace in my sight: Now therefore, if I have found favour in thy 13 sight, then shew me thy way and let me know thee: that I may find grace in thy sight. And look on this also, how that this nation is thy people. And he said: my presence shall go with 14 thee, and I will give thee rest. And he said: If thy presence 15 go not with me, carry us not hence, for how shall it be known 16 now that both I and thy people have found favour in thy sight, but in that thou goest with us: that both I and thy people have a preeminence before all the people that are upon the face of the earth. And the LORD said unto Moses: I will do this also 17 that thou hast said, for thou hast found grace in my sight, and I know thee by name. And he said: I beseech thee, shew me 18 thy glory: And he said: I will make all my good go before thee, 19 and I will be called in this name Jehovah* before thee, and will shew mercy to whom I shew mercy, and will have compassion on whom I have compassion. And he said furthermore: thou 20 mayst not see my face, for there shall no man see me and live.
And the LORD said: behold, there is a place by me, and thou 21 shalt stand upon a rock, and while my glory goeth forth I will 22 put thee in a clift of the rock, and will put mine hand upon thee while I pass by. And then I will take away mine hand, 23 and thou shalt see my back parts: but my face shall not be seen.

And the LORD said unto Moses: hew the two tables of stone like unto the first that I may write in them the words which 2 were in the first two tables, which thou brakest. And be ready against the morning that thou mayst come up early unto the mount of Sinai and stand* me there upon the top of the mount.
 3 But let no man come up with thee, neither let any man be seen thorowout all the mount, neither let sheep nor oxen feed before 4 the hill. And Moses hewed two tables of stone like unto the first and rose up early in the morning and went up unto the mount of Sinai as the LORD commanded him: and took in his 5 hand the two tables of stone. And the LORD descended in the cloud, and stood with him there: and he called upon the name 6 of the LORD. And when the LORD walked before him, he cried: LORD LORD God full of compassion and mercy, which art not 7 lightly angry but abundant in mercy and truth, and keepest mercy in store for thousands, and forgivest wickedness, trespass and sin (for there is no man innocent before thee) and visitest the wickedness of the fathers upon the children and upon children's children, even unto the third and fourth generation.
 8 And Moses bowed himself to the earth quickly, and worshipped 9 and said: If I have found grace in thy sight o Lord, then let my Lord go with us (for it is a stubborn people) and have mercy upon our wickedness and our sin, and let us be thine enheritance. And he said: behold, I make an appointment before 10 all this people, that I will do marvels: such as have not been done in all the world, neither among any nation. And all the people among which thou art, shall see the work of the LORD:
 11 for it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee: keep all that I command thee this day, and behold: I will cast out before thee: the Amorites, Cananites, Hethites, Pherezites, Hevites 12 and Jebusites. Take heed to thyself, that thou make no compact with the inhabiters of the land whither thou goest lest it 13 be cause of ruin among you. But overthrow their altars and 14 break their pillars, and cut down their groves, for thou shalt worship no strange god. For the LORD is called jealous, because he is a jealous God: lest if thou make any agreement with the inhabiters of the land, when they go a whoring after their gods and do sacrifice unto their gods, they call thee and 15 thou eat of their sacrifice: And thou take of their daughters 16

34. v.2 Other: stode.

unto thy sons, and when their daughters go a whoring after their gods, they make thy sons go a whoring after their gods 17 also. Thou shalt make thee no gods of metal. The feast of 18 sweet bread shalt thou keep, and seven days thou shalt eat unleavened bread (as I commanded thee) in the time appointed in the month of Abib: for in the month of Abib thou camest out of Egypt. All that breaketh up the matrice shall be mine, and 19 all that breaketh the matrice among thy cattle, if it be male: whether it be ox or sheep. But the first of the ass thou shalt 20 buy out with a sheep, or if thou redeem him not: see thou break his neck. All the firstborn of thy sons thou must needs redeem.
 And see that no man appear before me empty. Six days thou 21 shalt work, and the seventh thou shalt rest: both from earing and reaping. Thou shalt observe the feast of weeks with the 22 first fruits of wheat harvest, and the feast of ingathering at the years' end. Thrice in a year shall all your men children appear 23 before the Lord Jehovah* God of Israel: for I will cast out the 24 nations before thee and will enlarge thy coasts, so that no man shall desire thy land, while thou goest up to appear before the face of the LORD thy God, thrice in the year. Thou shalt not of- 25 fer the blood of my sacrifice with leavened bread: neither shall ought of the sacrifice of the feast of Passover, be left unto the morning. The first of the first fruits of thy land, thou shalt 26 bring unto the house of the LORD thy God. And see, that thou seethe not a kid in his mother's milk. And the LORD said unto 27 Moses: write these words, for upon these words I have made a covenant with thee and with the children of Israel. And he 28 was there with the LORD forty days and forty nights, and neither ate bread nor drank water. And he wrote in the tables the words of the covenant: even ten verses. And Moses came 29 down from mount Sinai and the two tables of witness in his hand, and yet he wist not that the skin of his face shone with beams of his communing with him. And when Aaron and all 30 the children of Israel looked upon Moses and saw that the skin of his face shone with beams, they were afraid to come nye him. But he called them to him, and then Aaron and all the 31 chief of the company came unto him, and Moses talked with them. And at the last all the children of Israel came unto him, 32 and he commanded them all that the LORD had said unto him

v.23 Other: Iehouah.

33 in mount Sinai. And as soon as he had made an end of com-34 muning with them, he put a covering upon his face. But when he went before the LORD to speak with him, he took the covering off until he came out. And he came out and spake unto 35 the children of Israel that which he was commanded. And the children of Israel saw the face of Moses, that the skin of his face shone with beams: but Moses put a covering upon his face, until he went in, to commune with him.

And Moses gathered all the company of the children of Israel together, and said unto them: these are the things which 2 the LORD hath commanded to do: Six days ye shall work, but the seventh day shall be unto you the holy Sabbath of the LORD's rest: so that whosoever doth any work therein, shall 3 die. Moreover ye shall kindle no fire thorowout all your habi-4 tations upon the Sabbath day. And Moses spake unto all the multitude of the children of Israel saying: this is the thing 5 which the LORD commanded saying: Give from among you an heave offering, unto the LORD. All that are willing in their hearts, shall bring heave offerings unto the LORD: gold, silver, 6, 7 brass: Jacinth, scarlet, purple, byss and goats' hair: rams' 8 skins red and taxus' skins and Sethim wood: and oil for lights 9 and spices for the anointing oil and for the sweet cense: and Onyx stones and stones to be set for the Ephod and for the 10 breastlap. And let all them that are wise hearted among you, 11 come and make all that the LORD hath commanded: the habitation and the tent thereof with his covering and his rings, 12 boards, bars, pillars and sockets: the ark and the staves thereof 13 with the mercy seat and the vail that covereth it: the table and his staves with all that pertaineth thereto and the shew-14 bread: the candlestick of light with his apparel and his lamps 15 and the oil for the lights: the cense altar and his staves, the anointing oil and the sweet cense and the hanging before the 16 tabernacle door: the altar of burnt sacrifices and his brazen gridiron that longeth thereto with his staves and all his ordi-17 nance and the laver and his foot: the hangings of the court with his pillars and their sockets, and the hanging to the door 18 of the court: the pins of the habitation and the pins of the 19 court with their boards: the ministering garments to minister with in holiness, and the holy vestments of Aaron the priest 20 and the vestments of his sons to minister in. And all the company of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses. And they went (as many as their hearts couraged 21 them and as many as their spirits made them willing) and brought heave offerings unto the LORD, to the making of the tabernacle of witness and for all his uses and for the holy vestments. And the men came with the women (even as many as 22 were willing hearted) and brought bracelets, earrings, rings and girdles and all manner Jewels of gold. And all the men that waved wave offerings of gold unto the LORD and every man 23 with whom was found Jacinth, scarlet, purple, byss or goats' hair or red skins of rams' or taxus' skins, brought it. And 24 all that hove up gold or brass, brought an heave offering unto the LORD. And all men with whom was found sethim wood meet for any manner work or service, brought it. And all the 25 women that were wise hearted to work with their hands, span, and brought the spun work, both of Jacinth, scarlet, purple and byss. And all the women that excelled in wisdom of heart, 26 span the goats' hair. And the lords brought Onyx stones and setstones for the Ephod, and for the breastlap, and spice and 27 oil: both for the lights and for the anointing oil and for the sweet cense. And the children of Israel brought willing offer- 28 ings unto the LORD, both men and women: as many as their hearts made them willing to bring, for all manner works which the LORD had commanded to make by the hand of Moses. And 30 Moses said unto the children of Israel: behold, the LORD hath called by name Bezaleel the son of Uri the son of Hur of the tribe of Juda, and hath filled him with the spirit of God, with 31 wisdom, understanding and knowledge, even in all manner work, and to find out curious works, to work in gold, silver 32 and brass: and with graving of stones to set, and with carving in wood, and to work in all manner of subtle works. And he 34 hath put in his heart the grace to teach: both him and Ahaliab the son of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan hath he filled with 35 wisdom of heart, to work all manner of graven work: they are also broiderers and workers with needle, in Jacinth, scarlet, purple and byss, and are weavers that can make all manner work, and can devise subtle works.

And Bezaleel wrought and Ahaliab and all wise hearted XXXVI men to whom the LORD had given wisdom and understanding, to know how to work all manner work for the holy service, 2 in all that the LORD commanded. And Moses called for Beza-leel, Ahaliab and all the wise hearted men in whose hearts the LORD had put wisdom, even as many as their hearts couraged 3 to come unto the work to work it. And they received of Moses all the heave offerings which the children of Israel had brought for the work of the holy service to make it withal. And they 4 brought beside that, willing offerings every morning. And all the wise men that wrought all the holy work, came every man 5 from his work which they made, and spake unto Moses saying: the people bring too much and above that is enough to serve for the work which the LORD hath commanded to make.

6 And then Moses gave a commandment, and they caused it to be proclaimed thorowout the host saying: see that neither man nor woman prepare any more work for the holy heave offering, 7 and so the people were forbidden to bring: for the stuff they had, was sufficient for them unto all the work, to make it and 8 too much. And all the wise hearted men among them that wrought in the work of the habitation made: even ten curtains of twined byss, Jacinth, scarlet and purple, and made them 9 full of Cherubins with broidered work. The length of one curtain was twenty eight cubits and the breadth four and were 10 all of one size. And they coupled five curtains by them selves, 11 and other five by them selves. And they made fifty loops of Jacinth along by the edge of the utmost curtain, even in the selvedge of the coupling curtain: and likewise they made on 12 the side of the utmost coupling curtain on, the other side, fifty loops they made in the one curtain, and fifty in the edge of the coupling curtain on the other side: so that the loops were one 13 over against another. And they made fifty rings of gold, and coupled the curtains one to another with the rings: and so was 14 it made a dwelling place. And they made eleven curtains of 15 goats' hair to be a tent over the tabernacle thirty cubits long apiece and four cubits broad, and they all eleven of one sise, 16 and they coupled five by them selves, and six by them selves, 17 and they made fifty loops along by the border of the utmost coupling courtain on the one side, and fifty in the edge of the 18 coupling curtain on the other side. And they made fifty rings 19 of brass to couple the tent together that it might be one. And they made a covering unto the tent of rams' skins red, and yet 20 another of taxus' skins above all. And they made boards for the dwelling place of sethim wood that stood upright, every 21 board ten cubits long and a cubit and an half broad. And they 22 made two feet to every board of the dwelling place joining one to another. And they made twenty boards for the south side 23 of the habitation, and forty sockets of silver under the twenty 24 boards, two sockets under every board, even for the two feet of them. And for the other side of the dwelling toward the north, 25 they made other twenty boards with forty sockets of silver two 26 sockets under every board. And behind in the end of the taber- 27 nacle toward the west, they made six boards and two other 28 boards for the corners of the habitation behind, and they were 29 joined close both beneath and also above with clamps, and thus they did to both the corners: so they were in all eight boards 30 and sixteen sockets, under every board two sockets. And they 31 made bars of Sethim wood five for the boards of the one side of the habitation and five for the other, and five for the boards of 32 the west end of the habitation. And they made the middle bar 33 to shoot thorow the boards: even from the one end to the other, and overlaid the boards with gold, and made them rings of gold 34 to thrust the bars thorow, and covered the bars with gold. And 35 they made an hanging of Jacinth, of scarlet, purple and twined byss with Cherubins of broidered work. And made thereunto 36 four pillars of Sethim wood and overlaid them with gold. Their knops were also of gold, and they cast for them four sockets of silver. And they made an hanging for the tabernacle door: of 37 Jacinth, scarlet, purple and twined byss of needle work, and 38 the pillars of it were five with their knops, and overlaid the heads of them and the hoops with gold, with their five sockets of brass.

And Bezaleel made the ark of sethim wood two cubits and XXXVII an half long and a cubit and a half broad, and a cubit and a half 2 high: and overlaid it with fine gold both within and without, 2 and made a crown of gold to it round about, and cast for it four 3 rings of gold for the four corners of it: two rings for the one side and two for the other, and made staves of Sethim wood, and 4 covered them with gold, and put the staves in the rings along 5 by the side of the ark to bear it withal. And he made the mer- 6 cyseat of pure gold two cubits and a half long and one cubit and a half broad, and made two Cherubins of thick gold upon the 7 two ends of the mercy seat: One Cherub on the one end, and 8 9 another Cherub on the other end of the mercyseat. And the Cherubins spread out their wings above on high, * and covered the mercyseat therewith. And their faces were one to another: even to the mercyseat ward, were the faces of the Cherubins.

10 And he made the table of sethim wood two cubits long and a 11 cubit broad, and a cubit and an half high, and overlaid it with 12 fine gold, and made thereto a crown of gold round about, and made thereto an hoop of an hand breadth round about, and 13 made unto the hoop a crown of gold round about, and cast for it four rings of gold and put the rings in the four corners by 14 the feet: even under the hoop to put staves in to bear the table 15 withal. And he made staves of Sethim wood and covered them 16 with gold to bear the table withal, and made the vessels that were on the table of pure gold, the dishes, spoons, flat pieces 17 and pots to pour withal. And he made the candlestick of pure thick gold: both the candlestick and his shaft: with branches, 18 bowls, knops and flowers proceeding out of it. Six branches proceeding out of the sides thereof, three out of the one side and 19 three out of the other. And on every branch were three cups like unto almonds, with knops and flowers thorowout the six 20 branches that proceeded out of the candlestick. And upon the candlestick self, were four cups after the fashion of almonds 21 with knops and flowers: under every two branches a knop.
22 And the knops and the branches proceeded out of it, and were 23 all one piece of pure thick gold. And he made seven lamps thereto, and the snuffers thereof, and firepans of pure gold.
24 An hundred weight of pure gold, made both it and all that be-25 longed thereto. And he made the cense altar of Sethim wood of a cubit long and a cubit broad: even four square, and two 26 cubits high with horns proceeding out of it. And he covered it with pure gold both the top and the sides round about and the horns of it, and made unto it a crown of gold round about.
27 And he made two rings of gold unto it, even under the crown upon either side of it, to put staves in for to bear it withal: 28 and made staves of Sethim wood, and overlaid them with gold.
29 And he made the holy anointing oil and the sweet pure incense after the apothecary's craft.

XXXVIII

And he made the burnt offering altar of Sethim wood, five cubits long and five cubits broad: even four square, and three

37. v.9 Other: an hye.

cubits high. And he made horns in the four corners of it proceeding out of it, and overlaid it with brass. And he made all the vessels of the altar: the cauldrons, shovels, basins, flesh-hooks and coalpans all of brass. And he made a brazen grid-iron of network unto the altar round about alow beneath, under the compass of the altar: so that it reached unto half the altar, and cast four rings of brass for the four ends of the grid-iron to put staves in. And he made staves of sethim wood and covered them with brass, and put the staves in the rings along by the altar side to bear it withal, and made the altar hollow with boards. And he made the laver of brass and the foot of it also of brass, in the sight of them that did watch before the door of the tabernacle of witness. And he made the court with hangings of twined byss of an hundred cubits long upon the south side, and twenty pillars with twenty sockets of brass: but the knops of the pillars, and the hoops were silver. And on the north side the hangings were an hundred cubits long with twenty pillars and twenty sockets of brass, but the knops and the hoops of the pillars were of silver. And on the west side, were hangings of fifty cubits long, and ten pillars with their ten sockets, and the knops and the hoops of the pillars were silver. And on the east side toward the son rising, were hangings of fifty cubits: the hangings of the one side of the gate were fifteen cubits long, and their pillars three with their three sockets. And of the other side of the court gate, were hangings also of fifteen cubits long, and their pillars three with three sockets. Now all the hangings of the court round about, were of twined byss, and the sockets of the pillars were brass: but the knops and the hoops of the pillars were silver, and the heads were overlaid with silver, and all the pillars of the court were hooped about with silver. And the hanging of the gate of the court was needlework: of jacinth, scarlet, purple, and twined byss twenty cubits long and five in the breadth, according to the hangings of the court. And the pillars were four with four sockets of brass, and the knops of silver, and the heads overlaid with silver and hooped about with silver, and all the pins of the tabernacle and of the court round about were brass. This is the sum of the habitation of witness, which was counted at the commandment of Moses: and was the office of the Levites by the hand of Ithamar son to Aaron the priest.

22 And Bezaleel son of Uri son to Hur of the tribe of Juda, made 23 all that the LORD commanded Moses, and with him Ahaliab son of Ahisamach of the tribe of Dan, a cunning graver and a worker of needle work in jacinth, scarlet, purple and byss.
 24 All the gold that was occupied upon all the work of the holy place (which was the gold of the wave offering) was, twenty nine hundred weight and seven hundred and thirty sicles, ac-25 cording to the holy sicle. And the sum of silver that came of the multitude, was five score hundred weight and a thousand 26 seven hundred and seventy five sicles of the holy sicle. Every man offering half a sicle after the weight of the holy sicle among them that went to be numbered from twenty year old and above, among six hundred thousand and three thousand 27 and five hundred and fifty men. And the five score hundred weight of silver went to the casting of the sockets of the sanctuary and the sockets of the vail: an hundred sockets of the five score hundred weight, an hundred weight to every socket.
 28 And the thousand seven hundred and seventy five sicles, made knops to the pillars and overlaid the heads and hooped them.
 29 And the brass of the wave offering was seventy hundred weight 30 and two thousand, and four hundred sicles. And therewith he made the sockets to the door of the tabernacle of witness, and the brazen altar, and the brazen gridiron that longeth thereto, 31 and all the vessels of the altar, and the sockets of the court round about, and the sockets of the court gate, and all the pins of the habitation, and all the pins of the court round about.

XXXIX And of the jacinth, scarlet, purple and twined byss, they made the vestments of ministration to do service* in that holy place, and made the holy garments that pertained to Aaron, as 2 the LORD commanded Moses. And they made the Ephod of 3 gold, jacinth, scarlet, purple, and twined byss. And they did beat the gold into thin plates, and cut it into wires: to work it in the jacinth, scarlet, purple, and the byss, with broidered 4 work. And they made the sides come together, and closed 5 them up by the two edges. And the broidering of the girdle that was upon it, was of the same stuff and after the same work of gold, jacinth, scarlet, purple and twined byss, as the LORD 6 commanded Moses. And they wrought Onyx stones closed in ouches of gold and graved as signets are graven with the names of the children of Israel, and put them on the shoulders of the Ephod that they should be a remembrance of the children of Israel, as the LORD commanded Moses. And they made the brestlap of cunning work, after the work of the Ephod: even of gold, Jacinct, scarlet, purple and twined byss. And they made it four square and double, an hand breadth long and an hand breadth broad. And they filled it with four rows of stones (the first row: Sardios, a Topas and Smaragdus: the second row: a Ruby, a Sapphire and a Diamond. The third row: Ligurius, an Achat and an Amethyst. The fourth row: a Turquoise, an onyx and a Jasper) closed in ouches of gold in their inclosures. And the twelve stones were graven as signets with the names of the children of Israel: every stone with his name, according to the twelve tribes. And they made upon the breastlap, two fastening chains of wreathen work and pure gold. And they made two hooks of gold and two gold rings, and put the two rings upon the two corners of the breastlap. And they put the two chains of gold in the two rings, in the corners of the breastlap. And the two ends of the two chains they fastened in the two hooks, and put them on the shoulders of the Ephod upon the forefront of it. And they made two other rings of gold and put them on the two other corners of the breastlap along upon the edge of it, toward the inside of the Ephod that is over against it. And they made yet two other gold rings, and put them on the two sides of the Ephod, beneath on the fore side of it: even where the sides go together, above upon the broi-dering of the Ephod, and they strained the breastlap by his rings unto the rings of the Ephod, with laces of jacinth, that it might lie fast upon the broi-dering of the Ephod, and should not be lowsed from of the Ephod: as the LORD commanded Moses. And he made the tunicle unto the Ephod of woven work and all together of jacinth, and the head of the tunicle was in the mid-dest of it as the collar of a partlet, with a band round about the collar, that it should not rent. And they made beneath upon the hem of the tunicle: pomegranates of jacinth, scarlet, purple, and twined byss. And they made little bells of pure gold, and put them among the pomegranates round about upon the edge of the tunicle, a bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate round about the hems of the tunicle to minister in, as the LORD commanded Moses. And they made coats of 28 byss of woven work for Aaron and his sons, and a mitre of byss, and goodly bonnets of byss, and linen breeches of twined 29 byss, and a girdle of twined byss, jacinth, scarlet and purple: 30 even of needle work, as the LORD commanded Moses. And they made the plate of the holy crown of fine gold, and wrote 31 upon it with graven work: the holiness of the LORD, and tied it to a lace of jacinth to fasten it on high* upon the mitre, as the 32 LORD commanded Moses. Thus was all the work of the habitation of the tabernacle of witness, finished. And the children of Israel did, according to all that the LORD had commanded 33 Moses. And they brought the habitation unto Moses: the tent and all his apparel thereof: the buttons, boards, bars, pillars 34 and sockets: and the covering of rams' skins red, and the cov-35 ering of taxus' skins, and the hanging vail, and the ark of 36 witness with the staves thereof, and the mercyseat: the ta-37 ble and all the ordinance thereof, and the shewbread, and the pure candlestick, and the lamps prepared thereunto with all 38 the vessels thereof, and the oil for lights, and the golden altar, and the anointing oil and the sweet cense, and the hanging 39 of the tabernacle door, and the brasen altar, and the gridiron of brass longing thereunto with his bars and all his vessels, 40 and the laver with his foot, and the hangings of the court with his pillars and sockets, and the hanging to the court gate, his boards and pins, and all the ordinance that serveth to the 41 habitation of the tabernacle of witness, and the ministering vestments to serve in the holy place, and the holy vestments 42 of Aaron the priest and his sons' raiments to minister in: according to all that the LORD commanded Moses: even so the 43 children of Israel made all the work. And Moses beheld all the work: and see, they had done it even as the LORD commanded: and then Moses blessed them.

39. v.1 Other: in.

XL, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: In the first day of the first month shalt thou set up the habitation of the taberna-3 cle of witness, and put therein the ark of witness, and cover 4 the ark with the vail, and bring in the table and apparel it, 5 and bring in the candlestick and put on his lamps, and set the cense altar of gold before the ark of witness, and put the 6 hanging of the door unto the habitation. And set the burnt 7 offering altar before the door of the tabernacle of witness, and set the laver between the tabernacle of witness, and the altar, and put water therein, and make the court round about, and set up the hanging of the court gate. And take the anointing oil and anoint the habitation and all that is therein, and hallow it and all that belong thereto: that it may be holy. And anoint the altar of the burnt offerings and all his vessels, and sanctify the altar that it may be most holy. And anoint also the laver and his foot, and sanctify it. Then bring Aaron and his sons unto the door of the tabernacle of witness, and wash them with water. And put upon Aaron the holy vestments. And anoint him and sanctify him that he may minister unto me, that their anointing may be an everlasting priesthood unto them thorowout their generations. And Moses did according to all that the LORD commanded him. Thus was the tabernacle reared up the first month in the second year. And Moses reared up the tabernacle and fastened his sockets, and set up the boards and put in their bars, and reared up the pillars, and spread abroad the tent over the habitation and put the covering of the tent on high* above it: as the LORD commanded Moses. And he took and put the testimony in the ark, and set the staves to the ark and put the mercy seat on high* upon the ark, and brought the ark into the habitation and hanged up the vail and covered the ark of witness, as the LORD commanded Moses. And he put the table in the tabernacle of witness in the north side of the habitation without the vail, and set the bread in order before the LORD, even as the LORD had commanded Moses. And he put the candlestick in the tabernacle of witness over against the table in the south side of the habitation, and set up the lamps before the LORD: as the LORD commanded Moses. And he put the golden altar in the tabernacle of witness before the vail, and brent sweet cense there on as the LORD commanded Moses. And set up the hanging in the door of the habitation, and set the burnt offering altar before the door of the tabernacle of witness, and offered burnt offerings and meat offerings there on as the LORD commanded Moses. And he set the laver between the tabernacle of witness and the altar, and poured water therein to wash with all. And both Moses Aaron and his sons washed their hands and their feet thereat: both when they went into the tabernacle of witness, or when they went to the altar, as the 33 LORD commanded Moses. And he reared up the court round about the habitation and the altar, and set up the hanging of 34 the court gate: and so Moses finished the work. And the cloud covered the tabernacle of witness, and the glory of the LORD 35 filled the habitation: so that Moses could not enter into the tabernacle of witness, because the cloud abode therein, and the 36 glory of the LORD filled the habitation. When the cloud was taken up from off the habitation, the children of Israel took 37 their journeys as oft as they journeyed. And if the cloud de-38 parted not, they journeyed not till it departed: for the cloud of the LORD was upon the habitation by day, and fire by night: in the sight of all the house of Israel in all their journeys.

The end of the second book of Moses.

The Third Book Of Moses, Called Leviticus.

And the LORD called Moses, and spake unto him out of the tabernacle of witness saying: Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them: Whosoever of you shall bring a gift unto the LORD, shall bring it of the cattle: even of the oxen and of the sheep. If he bring a burnt offering of the oxen he shall offer a male without blemish, and shall bring him to the door of the tabernacle of witness, that he may be accepted before the LORD. And let him put his hand upon the head of the burnt sacrifice, and favour shall be given him to make an atonement for him, and let him kill the ox before the LORD. And let the priests Aaron's sons bring the blood and let them sprinkle it round about upon the altar that is before the door of the tabernacle of witness. And let the burnt offerings be stripped and hewed in pieces. And then let the sons of Aaron the priest put fire upon the altar, and put wood upon the fire, and let them lay the pieces with the head and the fat, upon the wood that is on the fire in the altar. But the inwards and the legs they shall wash in water, and the priest shall burn altogether upon the altar, that it be a burnt sacrifice, and an offering of a sweet odour unto the LORD. If he will offer a burnt sacrifice of the sheep whether it be of the lambs or of the goats: he shall offer a male without blemish. And let him kill it on the north side of the altar, before the LORD. And let the priests Aaron's sons sprinkle the blood of it, round about upon the altar. And let it be cut in pieces: even with his head and his fat, and let the priest put them upon the wood that lieth upon the fire in the altar. But let him wash the inwards and the legs with water, and then bring altogether and burn it upon the altar: that is a burnt offering and a sacrifice of sweet savour unto the LORD. If he will offer a burnt offering of the fowls* he shall offer either of the turtle doves or of the young pigeons. And the priest shall bring it unto the altar, and wring the neck asunder of it, and burn it on the altar, and let the blood run out upon the sides of the altar,

I. v.14 Other: to the LORD.

16 and pluck away his crop and his feathers, and cast them beside 17 the altar on the east part upon the heap of ashes, and break his wings, but pluck them not asunder. And then let the priest burn it upon the altar, even upon the wood that lieth upon the fire, a burnt sacrifice and an offering of a sweet savour unto the LORD.

II If any soul will offer a meatoffering unto the LORD, his offering shall be fine flour, and he shall pour thereto oil, and put 2 frankincense thereon, and shall bring it unto Aaron's sons the priests. And one of them shall take thereout his handful of the flour, and of the oil with all the frankincense, and burn it for a memorial upon the altar: an offering of a sweet savour 3 unto the LORD. And the remnant of the meatoffering shall be Aaron's and his sons, as a thing most holy of the sacrifices of 4 the LORD. If any man bring a meatoffering that is baken in the oven, let him bring sweet cakes of fine flour mingled with 5 oil, and unleavened wafers anointed with oil. If thy meatoffering be baken in the frying pan, then it shall be of sweet flour 6 mingled with oil. And thou shalt mince it small, and pour oil 7 thereon: and so is it a meatoffering. If thy meatoffering be a thing broiled upon the gridiron, of flour mingled with oil it 8 shall be. And thou shalt bring the meatoffering that is made of these things unto the LORD, and shalt deliver it unto the 9 priest, and he shall bring it unto the altar, and shall heave up part of the meatoffering for a memorial, and shall burn it upon the altar: an offering of a sweet savour unto the LORD.
10 And that which is left of the meatoffering shall be Aaron's and his sons, as a thing that is most holy of the offerings of the 11 LORD. All the meatofferings which ye shall bring unto the LORD, shall be made without leaven. For ye shall neither burn 12 leaven nor honey in any offering of the LORD: Notwithstanding ye shall bring the firstlings of them unto the LORD: But they shall not come upon the altar to make a sweet savour.
13 All thy meatofferings thou shalt salt with salt: neither shalt thou suffer the salt of the covenant of thy God to be lacking from thy meatoffering: but upon all thine offerings thou shalt 14 bring salt. If thou offer a meatoffering of the first ripe fruits unto the LORD, then take of that which is yet green, and dry it by the fire and beat it small, and so offer the meatoffering of 15 thy first ripe fruits. And then pour oil thereto, and put frankincense thereon: and so it is a meatoffering. And the priest shall burn part of the beaten corn and part of that oil, with all the frankincense, for a remembrance. That is an offering unto the LORD. 16

If any man bring a peaceoffering of the oxen: whether it be male or female, he shall bring such as is without blemish, before the LORD, and let him put his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it before the door of the tabernacle of witness. And Aaron's sons the priests, shall sprinkle the blood upon the altar round about. And they shall offer of the peaceoffering to be a sacrifice unto the LORD: the fat that covereth the inwards and all the fat that is upon the inwards: and the two kidneys with the fat that lieth upon the loins: and the caul that is on the liver, they shall take away with the kidneys. And Aaron's sons shall burn them upon the altar with the burnt sacrifice which is upon the wood on the fire. That is a sacrifice of a sweet favour unto the LORD. If a man bring a peaceoffering unto the LORD from of the flock: whether it be male, or female, it shall be without blemish. If he offer a lamb, he shall bring it before the LORD, and put his hand upon his offering's head, and kill it in the door of the tabernacle of witness, and Aaron's sons shall sprinkle the blood thereof round about the altar. And of the peaceoffering they shall bring a sacrifice unto the LORD: the fat thereof and the rump altogether, which they shall take off hard by the back bone: and the fat that covereth the inwards and all the fat that is upon the inwards and the two kidneys with the fat that lieth upon them and upon the loins, and the caul that is upon the liver he shall take away with the kidneys. And the priest shall burn them upon the altar to feed the LORD's offering withall. If the offering be a goat, he shall bring it before the LORD and put his hand upon the head of it and kill it before the tabernacle of witness, and the sons of Aaron shall sprinkle the blood thereof upon the altar round about. And he shall bring thereof his offering unto the LORD's sacrifice: the fat that covereth the inwards and all the fat that is upon the inwards and the two kidneys and the fat that lieth upon them and upon the loins, and the caul that is upon the liver he shall take away with the kidneys. And the priest shall burn them upon the alter to feed the LORD's sacrifice with all and to make a sweet savour. And thus shall all III

17 the fat be the LORD's, and it shall be a law forever among your generations after you in your dwelling places: that ye eat neither fat nor blood.

IV, 2 And the LORD talked with Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say: when a soul sinneth thorow ignorance, and hath done any of those things which the LORD hath 3 forbidden in his commandments to be done: If the priest that is anointed sin and make the people to do amiss, he shall bring for his sin which he hath done: an ox without blemish unto the 4 LORD for a sinoffering. And he shall bring the ox unto the door of the tabernacle of witness before the LORD, and shall put his hand upon the ox's head and kill him before the LORD.
5 And the priest that is anointed shall take of the ox's blood, and 6 bring it into the tabernacle of witness, and shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle thereof seven times before the 7 LORD: even before the hanging of the holy place. And he shall put some of the blood upon the horns of the altar of sweet cense before the LORD which is in the tabernacle of witness, and shall pour all the blood of the ox upon the bottom of the altar of burntofferings which is by the door of the tabernacle 8 of witness. And he shall take away all the fat of the ox that is the sinoffering: the fat that covereth the inwards and all 9 the fat that is about them, and the two kidneys with the fat that lieth upon them and upon the loins, and the caul upon 10 the liver let them take away also with the kidneys: as it was taken from the ox of the peaceoffering, and let the priest burn them upon the altar of burntofferings. But the skin of the ox and all his flesh with his head, his legs, his inwards with his 11 dung, shall he carry altogether out of the host unto a clean place: even where the ashes are poured out, and burn him on 12 wood with fire: even upon the heap of ashes. If the whole commonalty of the children of Israel sin thorow ignorance, and the thing be hid from their eyes: so that they have committed any of these things which the LORD hath forbidden to be done 13 in his commandments and have offended, and the sin which they have sinned be afterward known, then shall they offer an ox for a sinoffering and shall bring him before the tabernacle of witness, and the elders of the multitude shall put 14 their hands upon his head before the LORD. And the priest that is anointed shall bring of his blood into the tabernacle of
16 witness, and shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle it 17 seven times before the LORD: even before the veil. And shall 18 put of the blood upon the horns of the altar which is before the LORD in the tabernacle of witness, and shall pour all the blood upon the bottom of the altar of burntofferings which is by the door of the tabernacle of witness, and shall take all his 19 fat from him and burn it upon the altar, and shall do with 20 his ox as he did with the sinoffering ox. And the priest shall make an atonement for them, and so it shall be forgiven them.

And he shall bring the ox without the host, and burn him as 21 he burned the first, so is this the sinoffering of the commonalty. When a lord sinneth and committeth thorow ignorance 22 any of these things which the LORD his God hath forbidden to be done in his commandments and hath so offended: when his 23 sin is shewed unto him which he hath sinned, he shall bring for his offering an hegoat without blemish and lay his hand upon 24 the head of it, and kill it in the place where the burntofferings are killed before the LORD: this is a sinoffering. Then let the 25 priest take of the blood of the sinoffering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the burntoffering altar, and pour his blood upon the bottom of the burntoffering altar and burn all 26 his fat upon the altar, as he doth the fat of the peaceofferings.
And the priest shall make an atonement for him as concerning his sin, and so it shall be forgiven him. If one of the common 27 people of the land sin thorow ignorance and commit any of the things which the LORD hath forbidden, in his commandments to be done and so hath trespassed, when his sin which he hath 28 sinned is come to his knowledge, he shall bring for his offering, a she goat without blemish for his sin which he hath sinned, and lay his hand upon the head of the sinoffering, and slay it 29 in the place of burntofferings. And the priest shall take of the 30 blood with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the burntoffering altar, and pour all the blood upon the bottom of the altar, and shall take away all his fat as the fat of the peaceofferings 31 is taken away. And the priest shall burn it upon the altar for a sweet savour unto the LORD, and the priest shall make an atonement for him and it shall be forgiven him. If he bring 32 a sheep* and offer it for a sinoffering, he shall bring a ewe* without blemish, and lay his hand upon the head of the sinof- 33 fering, and slay it in the place where the burntofferings are 34 slain. And the priest shall take of the blood of the sinoffering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the burntoffering altar, and shall pour all the blood thereof unto the bottom of 35 the altar. And he shall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat of the sheep of the peaceofferings was taken away. And the priest shall burn it upon the altar for the LORD's sacrifice, and the priest shall make an atonement for his sin, and it shall be forgiven him.

V When a soul hath sinned and heard the voice of cursing and is a witness: whether he hath seen or known of it if he have not 2 uttered it, he shall bear his sin. Either when a man toucheth any unclean thing: whether it be the carrion of an unclean beast or of unclean cattle or unclean worm and is not ware 3 of it, he is also unclean and hath offended. Either when he toucheth any uncleanness of man (whatsoever uncleanness it be that a man is defiled with all) and is not ware of it and after-4 ward cometh to the knowledge of it, he is a trespasser. Either when a soul sweareth: so that he pronounceth with his lips to do evil or to do good (whatsoever it be that a man pronounceth with an oath) and the thing be out of his mind and afterward cometh to the knowledge of it, then he hath offended in one 5 of these. Then when he hath sinned in one of these things, 6 he shall confess that wherein that he hath sinned, and shall bring his trespassoffering unto the LORD for his sin which he hath sinned. A female from the flock, whether it be an ewe* or a she goat, for a sinoffering. And the priest shall make 7 an atonement for him for his sin. But if he be not able to bring a sheep, then let him bring for his trespass which he hath sinned, two turtle doves or two young pigeons unto the LORD, one for a sinoffering and another for a burntoffering.
8 And he shall bring them unto the priest, which shall offer the sinoffering first and wring the neck asunder of it, but pluck it 9 not clean off. And let him sprinkle of the blood of the sinoffering upon the side of the altar, and let the rest of the blood bleed 10 upon the bottom of the altar, and then it is a sinoffering. And let him offer the second for a burntoffering as the manner is:
and so shall the priest make an atonement for him for the sin 11 which he hath sinned, and it shall be forgiven him. And yet if he be not able to bring two turtle doves or two young pigeons, then let him bring his offering for his sin: the tenth part of an Epha of fine flour for a sinoffering, but put none oil thereto neither put any frankincense thereon, for it is a sinoffering. And let him bring it to the priest, and the priest shall take his handful of it and burn it upon the altar for a remembrance to be a sacrifice for the LORD: that is a sinoffering. And let the priest make an atonement for him for his sin (whatsoever of these he hath sinned) and it shall be forgiven. And the remnant shall be the priest's, as it is in the meatoffering. And the LORD communed with Moses saying: when a soul trespasseth and sinneth thorow ignorance in any of the holy things of the LORD, he shall bring for his trespass unto the LORD, a ram without blemish out of the flock valued at two sicles after the holy sicle,* for a trespassoffering. And he shall make amends for the harm that he hath done in the holy thing, and put the fifth part more thereto, and give it unto the priest. And the priest shall make an atonement for him with the ram of the trespassoffering, and it shall be forgiven him. When a soul sinneth and committeth any of these things which are forbidden to be done by the commandments of the LORD: though he wist it not, he hath yet offended and is in sin, and shall bring a ram without blemish out of the flock that is esteemed to be worth a sinoffering, unto the priest. And the priest shall make an atonement for him for the ignorance which he did, and was not ware, and it shall be forgiven him. This is a trespassoffering, for he trespassed against the LORD.

5. v.6 Other: lamb.

And the LORD talked with Moses saying: when a soul sinneth and trespasseth against the LORD, and denied unto his neighbour that which was taken him to keep, or that was put under his hand, or that which he hath violently taken away, or that which he hath deceived his neighbour of with subtlety, or hath found that which was lost and denieth it, and sweareth falsely, in whatsoever thing it be that a man doth and sinneth therein; Then when he hath sinned or trespassed, he shall restore again that he took violently away, or the wrong which he did, or that which was delivered him to keep, or the lost thing which he found, or whatsoever it be about which he hath sworn falsely, he shall restore it again in the whole sum, and shall add the fifth part more thereto and give it unto him to whom it pertaineth, the same day that he offereth for his trespass, and shall bring for his trespass offering unto the LORD, a ram without blemish out of the flock, that is esteemed worth a trespass offering unto the priest. And the priest shall make an atonement for him before the LORD, and it shall be forgiven him in whatsoever thing it be that a man doth and trespasseth therein. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: Command Aaron and his sons saying: this is the law of the burnt offering. The burnt offering shall be upon the hearth of the altar all night unto the morning, and the fire of the altar shall burn therein. And the priest shall put on his linen alb and his linen breeches upon his flesh, and take away the ashes which the fire of the burnt sacrifice in the altar hath made, and put them beside the altar, and then put off his raiment and put on other and carry the ashes out without the host unto a clean place. The fire that is upon the altar shall burn therein and not go out. And the priest shall put wood on the fire every morning, and put the burnt sacrifice upon it, and he shall burn thereon the fat of the peace offerings. The fire shall ever burn upon the altar, and never go out. This is the law of the meat offering: Aaron's sons shall bring it before the LORD, unto the altar: and one of them shall take his handful of the flour of the meat offering and of the oil with all the frankincense which is thereon, and shall burn it unto a remembrance upon the altar to be a sweet savour of the memorial of it unto the LORD. And the rest thereof, Aaron and his sons shall eat: unleavened it shall be eaten in the holy place: even in the court of the tabernacle of witness they shall eat it. Their part which I have given them of my sacrifice, shall not be baken with leaven, for it is most holy, as is the sin offering, and trespass offering. All the males among the children of Aaron, shall eat of it: and it shall be a duty for ever unto your generations of the sacrifices of the LORD, neither shall any man twitch it, but he that is hallowed. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: this is the offering of Aaron and of his sons which he shall offer unto the LORD in the day when they are anointed: the tenth part of an Epha of flour, which is a daily meat offering perpetually: half in the morning and half at night: and in the frying pan it shall be made with oil. And when it is fried, thou shalt bring it in as a baken meatoffering minced small, and shalt offer it for a sweet savour unto the LORD. And that priest of his sons 22 that is anointed in his stead, shall offer it: and it shall be the LORD's duty for ever, and it shall be burnt altogether. For all 23 the meatofferings of the priests shall be burnt altogether, and shall not be eaten. And the LORD talked with Moses saying: 24 speak unto Aaron and unto his sons and say: This is the law of 25 the sinoffering. In the place where the burnt offering is killed, shall the sinoffering be killed also before the LORD, for it is most holy. The priest that offereth it shall eat it in the holy 26 place: even in the court of the tabernacle of witness. No man 27 shall touch the flesh thereof, save he that is hallowed. And if any raiment be sprinkled therewith, it shall be washed in an holy place, and the earthen pot that it is sodden in shall be 28 broken. If it be sodden in brass, then the pot shall be scoured and plunged* in the water. All the males among the children 29 of Aaron* shall eat thereof, for it is most holy. Notwithstand- 30 ing no sinoffering that hath his blood brought into the tabernacle of witness to reconcile with all in the holy place, shall be eaten: but shall be burnt in the fire.

This is the law of the trespass offering which is most holy. VII
 In the place where the burnt offering is killed, the trespass offer- 2 ing shall be killed also: and his blood shall be sprinkled round about upon the altar. And all the fat thereof shall be offer- 3 ed: the rump and the fat that covered the inwards, and the 4 two kidneys with the fat that lieth on them and upon the loins:
 and the caul on the liver shall be taken away with the kidneys:
 And the priest shall burn them upon the altar, to be an offer- 5 ing unto the LORD: this is a trespass offering. All the males 6 among the priests shall eat thereof in the holy place, for it is most holy. As the sinoffering is, so is the trespass offering, one 7 law serveth for both: and it shall be the priests that reconcileth therewith. And the priest that offered a man's burnt offering, 8 shall have the skin of the burnt offering which he hath offered.
 And all the meatofferings that are baken in the oven, and all 9 that is dressed upon the gridiron and in the frying pan, shall be the priests that offereth them. And all the meatofferings 10 that are mingled with oil or dry, shall pertain unto all the sons of Aaron, and one shall have as much as another. This is the 11 law of the peaceofferings which shall be offered unto the LORD.

12 If he offer to give thanks, he shall bring unto his thankoffering: sweet cakes mingled with oil and sweet wafers anointed with 13 oil, and cakes mingled with oil of fine flour fried, and he shall bring his offering upon cakes made of leavened bread unto the 14 thankoffering of his peaceofferings, and of them all he shall offer one to be an heave offering unto the LORD, and it shall be the priests that sprinkleth the blood of the peaceofferings.
15 And the flesh of the thankoffering of his peaceofferings shall be eaten the same day that it is offered, and there shall none 16 of it be laid up until the morning. If it be a vow or a freewill offering that he bringeth, the same day that he offereth it, it shall be eaten, and that which remaineth may be eaten on the 17 morrow: but as much of the offered flesh as remaineth unto 18 the third day shall be burned with fire. For if any of the flesh of the peaceofferings be eaten the third day then shall he that offered it obtain no favour, neither shall it be reckoned unto him: but shall be an abomination, and the soul that eateth of 19 it shall bear the sin thereof. The flesh that twicheth any unclean thing shall not be eaten, but burnt with fire: and all that 20 be clean in their flesh, may eat flesh. If any soul eat of the flesh of the peaceofferings, that pertain unto the LORD, and his uncleanness yet upon him, the same soul shall perish from 21 among his people. Moreover if a soul twich any unclean thing, whether it be the uncleanness of man or of any unclean beast or any abomination that is unclean: and then eat of the flesh of the peaceofferings which pertain unto the LORD, that soul 22 shall perish from his people. And the LORD spake unto Moses 23 saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say: Ye shall 24 eat no manner fat of oxen, sheep or goats: neverthelater the fat of the beast that dieth alone and the fat of that which is torn with wild beasts, may be occupied in all manner uses: but 25 ye shall in no wise eat of it. For whosoever eateth the fat of the beast of which men bring an offering unto the LORD, that 26 soul that eateth it shall perish from his people. Moreover ye shall eat no manner of blood, wheresoever ye dwell, whether 27 it be of fowl or of beast. Whatsoever soul it be that eateth any manner of blood the same soul shall perish from his peo-28, 29 ple. And the LORD talked with Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say: He that offereth his peaceoffering unto the LORD, shall bring his gift unto the LORD of his peaceofferings: his own hands shall bring the offering of the 30 LORD: even the fat upon the breast he shall bring with the breast to wave it a waveoffering before the LORD. And the 31 priest shall burn the fat upon the altar, and the breast shall be Aaron's and his sons. And the right shoulder they shall give 32 unto the priest, to be an heave offering, of their peaceofferings.

 And the same that offereth the blood of the peaceofferings and 33 the fat, among the sons of Aaron, shall have the right shoulder unto his part, for the wavebreast and the heaveshoulder 34 I have taken of the children of Israel, even of their peaceofferings, and have given it unto Aaron the priest and unto his sons: to be a duty for ever of the children of Israel. This is 35 the anointing of Aaron and of the sacrifices of the LORD, in the day when they were offered to be priests unto the LORD, which the LORD commanded to be given them in the day when 36 he anointed them, of the children of Israel, and to be a duty for ever among their generations. This is the law of burntoffer- 37 ings, of meatofferings, of sinofferings, of trespassofferings, of fullofferings, of peaceofferings, which the LORD commanded 38 Moses in the mount of Sinai, in the day when he commanded the children of Israel to offer their offerings unto the LORD in the wilderness of Sinai.

And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: take Aaron and VIII, 2 his sons with him, and the vestures and the anointing oil, and an ox for a sinoffering and two rams and a basket of sweet bread: and gather all the community together unto the door 3 of the tabernacle of witness. And Moses did as the LORD com- 4 manded him, and the people gathered them selves together unto the door of the tabernacle of witness. And Moses said 5 unto the people: this is the thing which the LORD commanded to do. And Moses brought Aaron and his sons, and washed 6 them with water, and put upon him the alb and gird him 7 with a girdle, and put upon him the tunicle, and put the Ephod thereon, and girded him with the broidered girdle of the Ephod, and bound it unto him therewith. And he put the breastlap 8 thereon, and put in the breastlap light and perfectness. And 9 he put the mitre upon his head, and put upon the mitre even upon the forefront of it, the golden plate of the holy crown, as the LORD commanded Moses. And Moses took the anointing 10 oil and anointed the habitation and all that was therein and 11 sanctified them, and sprinkled thereof upon the altar seven times, and anointed the altar and all his vessels, and the laver 12 with his foot, to sanctify them. And he poured of the anointing 13 oil upon Aaron's head, and anointed him to sanctify him. And he brought Aaron's sons and put albs upon them, and girded them with girdles, and put bonnets upon their heads: as the 14 LORD commanded Moses. And the sinoffering was brought.

And Aaron and his sons put their hands upon the head of the 15 ox of the sinoffering. And when it was slain, Moses took of the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar round about with his finger and purified it, and poured the blood unto the 16 bottom of the altar and sanctified it and reconciled it. And he took all the fat that was upon the inwards and the caul that was on the liver and the two kidneys with their fat and 17 burned it upon the altar. But the ox, the hide, his flesh and his dung, he burnt with fire without the host, as the LORD com-18 manded Moses. And he brought the ram of the burnt offering, and Aaron and his sons put their hands upon the head of the 19 ram, and it was killed. And Moses sprinkled the blood upon 20 the altar round about, and cut the ram in pieces and burnt 21 the head, the pieces and the fat, and washed the inwards and the legs in water, and burn the ram every whit upon the altar. That was a burnt sacrifice of a sweet savour, and an offer-22 ing unto the LORD, as the LORD commanded Moses. And he brought the other ram that was the fulloffering, and Aaron and 23 his sons put their hands upon the head of the ram: And when it was slain, Moses took of the blood of it, and put it upon the tip of Aaron's right ear, and upon the thumb of his right hand, 24 and upon the great toe of his right foot. Then were Aaron's sons brought, and Moses put of the blood on the tip of the right ear of them, and upon the thumbs of their right hands, and upon the great toes of their right feet, and sprinkled the blood 25 upon the altar round about. And he took the fat and the rump and all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul of the liver, and the two kidneys with their fat and their right shoul-26 der. And out of the basket of sweet bread that was before the LORD, he took one sweet cake of oiled bread and one wafer, 27 and put them on the fat and upon the right shoulder, and put altogether upon Aaron's hands and upon his sons' hands, and waved it a waveoffering before the LORD. And then Moses 28 took them from of their hands again, and burnt them upon the altar, even upon the burnt offering: These are the fullofferings of a sweet savour and a sacrifice unto the LORD. And Moses 29 took the breast and waved it a waveoffering before the LORD, of the ram of the fullofferings: and it was Moses' part, as the LORD commanded Moses. And Moses took of the anointing 30 oil and of the blood which was upon the altar, and sprinkled it upon Aaron and upon his vestments and upon his sons and on their vestments with him, and sanctified Aaron and his vestures and his sons and his sons' vestures also. Then Moses 31 said unto Aaron and his sons: boil the flesh in the door of the tabernacle of witness, and there eat it with the bread that is in the basket of fullofferings, as the Lord commanded saying: Aaron and his sons shall eat it: and that which remaineth 32 of the flesh and of the bread, burn with fire. And see that 33 ye depart not from the door of the tabernacle of witness seven days long: until the days of your fullofferings be at an end. For seven days must your hands be filled, as they were this day: 34 even so the LORD hath commanded to do, to reconcile you with all. See therefore that ye abide in the door of the tabernacle of 35 witness day and night seven days long: and keep the watch of the LORD that ye die not: for so I am commanded. And Aaron 36 and his sons did all things which the LORD commanded by the hand of Moses.

And the eighth day Moses called Aaron and his sons, and IX the elders of Israel, and said unto Aaron: take a calf for a 2 sin offering, and a ram for a burnt offering: both without blemish, and bring them before the LORD. And unto the children 3 of Israel he spake saying: take ye an he goat for a sin offering, and a calf and a lamb both two of a year old, and without blemish for a burnt sacrifice, and an ox and a ram for peaceof- 4 ferings, to offer before the LORD, and a meat offering mingled with oil, for today the LORD will appear unto you. And they 5 brought that which Moses commanded unto the tabernacle of witness, and all the people came and stood before the LORD.
 And Moses said: this is the thing which the LORD commanded 6 that ye should do: and then the glory of the LORD shall appear unto you. And Moses said unto Aaron: go unto the altar and 7 offer thy sin offering, and make an atonement for thee and for the people: and then offer the offering of the people and reconcile them also, as the LORD commanded Moses. And Aaron went unto the altar, and slew the calf that was his sinoffering. And the sons of Aaron brought the blood unto him, and he dipped his finger in the blood and put it upon the horns of the altar, and poured the blood unto the bottom of the altar. And the fat and the two kidneys with the caul of the liver of the sinoffering, he burnt upon the altar, as the LORD commanded Moses: but the flesh and the hide, he burnt with fire without the host. Afterward he slew the burnt offering, and Aaron's sons brought the blood unto him, and he sprinkled it round about upon the altar. And they brought the burnt offering unto him in pieces and the head also, and he burnt it upon the altar, and did wash the inwards and the legs, and burnt them also upon the burnt offering in the altar. And then he brought the people's offering and took the goat that was the people's sinoffering, and slew it and offered it for a sinoffering: as he did the first. And then brought the burnt offering and offered it as the manner was, and brought the meat offering and filled his hand thereof, and burnt it upon the altar, besides the burnt sacrifice in the morning. Then he slew the ox and the ram that were the people's peaceofferings, and Aaron's sons brought the blood unto him, and he sprinkled it upon the altar round about, and took the fat of the ox and of the ram: the rump and the fat that covereth the inwards and the kidneys and the caul of the liver: and put them upon the breasts and burnt it upon the altar: but the breasts and the right shoulders Aaron waved before the LORD, as the LORD commanded Moses. And Aaron lift up his hand over the people and blessed them, and came down from offering of sinofferings, burnt offerings and peaceofferings. Then Moses and Aaron went into the tabernacle of witness and came out again and blessed the people, and the glory of the LORD appeared unto all the people. And there came a fire out from before the LORD, and consumed upon the altar: the burnt offering and the fat. And all the people saw it and shouted, and fell on their faces.

X And Nadab and Abihu the sons of Aaron took either of them his censor, and put fire therein, and put cense upon, and brought strange fire before the LORD: which he commanded them not, and there went a fire out from the LORD, and consumed them, and they died before the LORD. Then Moses said unto Aaron: 3 this is it that the LORD spake saying: I will be sanctified in them that come nye me, and before all the people I will be glorified. And Aaron held his peace. And Moses called Misael 4 and Elisaphan the sons of Uriel the uncle of Aaron, and said unto them: go to and carry your brethren from the holy place out of the host. And they went to them and carried them in 5 their albs out of the host, as Moses bade. And Moses said unto 6 Aaron and unto Eleazar and Ithamar his eldest sons: uncover not your head neither rent your clothes, lest ye die and wrath come upon all the people, let your brethren the hole house of Israel, bewEEP the burning which the LORD hath burnt. But 7 go ye not out from the door of the tabernacle of witness, lest ye die: for the anointing oil of the LORD is upon you. And they did as Moses bade. And the LORD spake unto Aaron saying: 8 drink no wine nor strong drink, neither thou nor thy sons with 9 thee: when ye go into the tabernacle of witness, lest ye die.

And let it be a law forever unto your children after you: that 10 ye may put difference between holy and unholy, and between unclean and clean, and that ye may teach the children of Is- 11 rael all the ordinances which the LORD hath commanded them by the hands of Moses. And Moses said unto Aaron and unto 12 Eleazar and Ithamar his sons that were left: take the meatoffering that remaineth of the sacrifices of the LORD, and eat it without leaven beside the altar, for it is most holy: eat it 13 therefore in the holy place, because it is thy duty and thy sons' duty of the sacrifice of the LORD: for so I am commanded. And 14 the wavebreast and heaveshoulder eat in a clean place: both thou and thy sons and thy daughters with thee. For it is thy duty, and thy sons' duty with thee, of the peaceofferings of the children of Israel. For the heaveshoulder and the wavebreast 15 which they bring with the sacrifices of the fat, to wave it before the LORD, shall be thine and thy sons' with thee, and be a law for ever, as the LORD hath commanded. And Moses sought for 16 the goat that was the sinoffering, and see, it was burnt. And he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar the sons of Aaron, which were left alive saying: wherefore have ye not eaten the sinof- 17 fering in the holy place, seeing it is most holy: and forasmuch as it is given you to bear the sin of the people, and make agreement for them before the LORD? Behold, the blood of it was 18 not brought in within the holy place, therefore should ye have 19 eaten it in the holy place as I commanded. And Aaron said unto Moses: behold, this day have they offered their sinoffering and their burnt offering before the LORD, and it is chanced me after this manner. If I should eat of the sin offering today, 20 would the LORD be content with all? And when Moses heard that, he was content.

XI, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say: these are the beasts which 3 ye shall eat among all the beasts that are on the earth: whatsoever hath hoof and divideth it into two claws and cheweth 4 cud among the beasts, that shall ye eat. Nevertheless, these shall ye not eat of them that chew cud and have hoofs. The camel, for he cheweth cud but he divideth not the hoof into two 5 claws, therefore he shall be unclean unto you. And the cony, for he cheweth the cud but divideth not the hoof into two claws, 6 therefore he is unclean to you. And the hare, for he likewise cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof into two claws, he 7 is therefore unclean to you. And the swine, for though he divide the hoof into two claws, yet he cheweth not the cud and 8 therefore is unclean to you. Of their flesh see that ye eat not, and their carcasses see that ye twich not for they are unclean 9 to you. These shall ye eat of all that are in the waters: whatsoever hath fins and scales in the waters, seas and rivers, that 10 shall ye eat. And all that have not fins and scales in the seas and rivers of all that move and live in the waters, shall ye ab-11 hor. See that ye eat not of their flesh, and also that ye ab-12 hor their carcasses: for all that have no fins nor scales in the 13 waters, shall be abomination unto you. These are the fowls which ye shall abhor and which shall not be eaten, for they are an abomination. The eagle, the goshawk, the cormorant, the 14, 15, 16 kite, the vulture and all his kind and all kind of ravens, the ostrich, the nightcrow, the cuckoo, the sparrowhawk, and all 17, 18 the kind: the little owl, the stork, the great owl, the back, 19 the pelican, the pye, the heron, the jay with the kind, the lap-20 wing and the swallow. And all fowls that creep and go upon 21 all fours shall be an abomination unto you. Yet these may ye eat of all the fowls that move and go upon four feet: even those that have no knees above upon their feet to leap withal 22 upon the earth, even these of them ye may eat: the arb and all his kind: the Soleam with all his kind: the Hargol and all the kind, and the Hagab and all his kind. All other fowls that 23 move and have four feet, shall be abomination unto you. In 24 such ye shall be unclean whosoever touch the carcass of the shall be unclean unto the even, and whosoever beareth the 25 carcass of them, shall wash his clothes and shall be unclean until even. Among all manner beasts, they that have hoofs 26 and divide them not into two claws or that chew not the cud, shall be unclean unto you: and all that twicheth them shall be unclean. And all that goeth upon his hands among all 27 manner beasts that go on all fours, are unclean unto you: and as many as twich their carcasses, shall be unclean until the evening. And he that beareth the carcass of them, shall wash 28 his clothes and be unclean until the even, for such are unclean unto you. And these are also unclean to you among the things 29 that creep upon the earth: the weasel, the mouse, the toad and all his kind, the hedgehog, stellio, the lizard, the snail and the 30 mole: These are unclean to you among all that move, and all 31 that twich them when they be dead, shall be unclean until the evening. And whatsoever any of the dead carcasses of them 32 fall upon, shall be unclean: whatsoever vessel of wood it be, or raiment, or skin, or bag or whatsoever thing it be that any work is wrought with all. And they shall be plunged in the water and be unclean until the even, and then they shall be clean again. All manner of earthen vessel whereinto any of 33 them falleth, is unclean with all that therein is: and ye shall break it. All manner meat that is eaten, if any such water 34 come upon it, it shall be unclean. And all manner drink that is drunk in all manner such vessels, shall be unclean. And 35 whether it be oven or kettle, it shall be broken. For they are unclean and shall be unclean unto you: Neverthelater, yet the 36 fountains and wells and ponds of water, shall be clean still. But whosoever twicheth their carcasses, shall be unclean. If the 37 dead carcass of any such fall upon any seed used to sow, it shall yet be clean still: but and if any water be poured upon the 38 seed and afterward the dead carcass of them fall thereon, then it shall be unclean unto you. If any beast of which ye eat die, 39 he that twicheth the dead carcass shall be unclean until the evening. And he that eateth of any such dead carcass, shall 40 wash his clothes and remain unclean until the evening. And he also that beareth the carcass of it, shall wash his clothes and 41 be unclean until even. All that crawleth upon the earth, is an 42 abomination and shall not be eaten. And whatsoever goeth upon the breast, and whatsoever goeth upon four or more feet among all that crawleth upon the earth, of that see ye eat not: 43 for they are abominable. Make not your souls abominable.

Make not your souls abominable with nothing that creepeth, neither make your souls unclean with them: that ye should 44 be defiled thereby. For I am the LORD your God, be sanctified therefore that ye may be holy, for I am holy: and defile not your souls with any manner thing that creepeth upon the 45 earth. For I am the LORD that brought you out of the land of 46 Egypt to be your God: be holy therefore, for I am holy. This is the law of beast and fowl and of all manner thing that liveth and moveth in the water and of all things that creep upon the 47 earth, that ye may put difference between unclean and clean, and between the beasts that are eaten and the beasts that are not eaten.

XII, 2 And the LORD spake Unto Moses and said: speak unto the children of Israel and say: when a woman hath conceived and hath borne a man child, she shall be unclean seven days: even in like manner as when she is put apart in time of her natural 3 disease. And in the eighth day the flesh of the child's fore-4 skin shall be cut away. And she shall continue in the blood of her purifying thirty three days, she shall twitch no hallowed thing nor come in to the sanctuary, until the time of her puri-5 fying be out. If she bear a maidchild, then she shall be unclean two weeks, as when she hath her natural disease. And she shall continue in the blood of her purifying sixty six days.
6 And when the days of her purifying are out: whether it be a son or a daughter, she shall bring a lamb of one year old for a burntoffering and a young pigeon or a turtledove for a sinoffering unto the door of the tabernacle of witness unto the priest: 7 which shall offer them before the LORD, and make an atonement for her, and so she shall be purged of her issue of blood.
This is the law of her that hath borne a child, whether it be 8 male or female. But and if she be not able to bring a sheep, then let her bring two turtles or two young pigeons: the one for the burntoffering, and the other for the sinoffering. And the priest shall make an atonement for her, and she shall be clean.

And the LORD spake unto Moses and unto Aaron saying: XIII when there appeareth a rising in any man's flesh either a scab 2 or a glistering white: as though the plague of leprosy were in the skin of his flesh, then let him be brought unto Aaron the priest or unto one of his sons the priests, and let the priest 3 look on the sore that is in the skin of his flesh. If the hair in the sore be turned unto white, and the sore also seem to be lower than the skin of his flesh, then it is surely a leprosy, and let the priest look on him and make him unclean. If there be 4 but a white pleck in the skin of his flesh, and seem not to be lower than the other skin nor the hair thereof is turned unto white: then let the priest shut him up seven days. And let 5 the priest look upon him the seventh day: if the sore seem to him to abide still and to go no further in the skin, then let the priest shut him up yet seven days more. And let the priest 6 look on him again the seventh day. Then if the sore be waxed blackish, and is not grown abroad in the skin, let the priest make him clean, for it is but a scurf. And let him wash his clothes, and then he is clean. But and if the scab grow in the 7 skin after that he is seen of the priest again. If the priest see 8 that the scab be grown abroad in the skin, let him make him unclean: for it is surely a leprosy. If the plague of leprosy 9 be in a man, let him be brought unto the priest, and let the 10 priest see him. If the rising appear white in the skin, and have also made the hair white, and there be raw flesh in the sore also: then it is an old leprosy in the skin of his flesh. 11 And the priest shall make him unclean, and shall not shut him up for he is unclean. If a leprosy break out in the skin and 12 cover all the skin from the head to the foot over all wheresoever the priest looketh, then let the priest look upon him. If the 13 leprosy have covered all his flesh, let him make* the disease clean: for inasmuch as he is altogether white he is therefore clean. But and if there be raw flesh on him when he is seen, 14 then he shall be unclean. Therefore when the priest seeth 15 the raw flesh, let him make him unclean. For inasmuch as his flesh is raw, he is unclean and it is surely a true leprosy.
 But and if the raw flesh depart again and change unto white, 16 then let him come to the priest and let the priest see him: 17 If the sore be changed unto white, let the priest make* the 18 disease clean, and then he is clean. When there is a beal in 19 the skin of any man's flesh and is healed and after in the place of the beal there appear a white rising either a shining white 20 somewhat reddish, let him be seen of the priest. If when the priest seeth him it appear lower than the other skin and the hair thereof be changed unto white, let the priest make* him unclean: for it is a very leprosy, that is broken out in the place 21 of the beal. But and if when the priest looketh on it there be no white hairs therein neither the scab lower than the other skin and be somewhat blackish, then the priest shall shut him 22 apart seven days. If it spread abroad in the mean season, then 23 let the priest make* him unclean: for it is a leprosy. But and if the glistening white abide still in one place and go no further, then it is but the print of the beal, and the priest shall make* 24 him clean. When the skin of any man's flesh is burnt with fire that it be raw and there appear in the burning a glistening 25 white that is somewhat reddish or altogether white, let the priest look upon it. If the hair in that brightness be changed to white and it also appear lower than the other skin, then it is a leprosy that is broken out in the place of the burning. And 26 the priest shall make* him unclean, for it is a leprosy. But and if (when the priest looketh on it) he see that there is no white hair in the brightness, and that it is no lower than the other skin, and that it is also blackish, then let the priest shut 27 him up seven days. And if (when the priest looketh on him the seventh day) it be grown abroad in the skin, let him make* him 28 unclean: for it is a leprosy. But and if that brightness abide still in one place and go no further in the skin and be blackish, then it is but a rising in the place of the burning, and the priest shall make him clean: for it is but the print of the burning 29 only. When either man or woman hath a breaking out upon 30 the head or the beard, let the priest see it. And if it appear lower than the other skin, and there be therein golden hairs and thin, let the priest make* him unclean, for it is a breaking 31 out of leprosy upon the head or beard. If (when the priest looketh on the breaking out) he see that it is no lower than the other skin and that there are black hairs therein, let him shut 32 him up seven days. And let the priest look on the disease the seventh day: and if the breaking out be gone no further neither be any golden hairs therein neither the scab be lower than the 33 other skin, then let him be shaven, but let him not shave the scab, 34 and let the priest shut him up seven days more. And let the priest look on the breaking out the seventh day again: If the breaking out be gone no further in the skin nor more lower than the other skin, then let the priest make* him clean, and let him wash his clothes and then he is clean. If the breaking 35 out grow in the skin after that he is once made* clean, let the 36 priest see him. If it be grown abroad indeed in the skin, let the priest seek no further for any golden hairs, for he is unclean.

 But and if he see that the scab stand still, and that there is 37 black hair grown up therein, then the scab is healed and he is clean: and the priest shall make* him clean. If there be found 38 in the skin of the flesh of man or woman a glistering white, let the priest see it. If there appear in their flesh a glistering 39 white somewhat blackish, then it is but freckles grown up in the skin: and he is clean. If a man's hair fall off his head, 40 then he is headbald and clean. If his hair fall before in his forehead, then he is foreheadbald and clean. If there be in the 42 bald head or bald forehead a reddish white scab, then there is leprosy sprung up in his bald head or bald forehead. And let 43 the priest see it: and if the rising of the sore be reddish white in his bald head or forehead after the manner of a leprosy in the skin of the flesh, then he is a leper and unclean: and the priest 44 shall make* him unclean, for the plague of his head. And 45 the leper in whom the plague is, shall have his clothes rent and his head bare and his mouth muffled and shall be called unclean. And as long as the disease lasteth upon him, he shall 46 be unclean: for he is unclean, and shall therefore dwell alone, and even without the host shall his habitation be. When the 47 plague of leprosy is in a cloth: whether it be linen or woollen, yea and whether it be in the warp or woof of the linen or of 48 the woollen: either in a skin or any thing made of skin, if 49 the disease be pale or somewhat reddish in the cloth or skin: whether it be in the warp or the woof or any thing that is made of skin, then it is a very leprosy, and must be shewed unto the priest. And when the priest seeth the plague, let him shut it 50 up seven days, and let him look on the plague the seventh day. 51 v.34 Other: judge. v.35 Other: judged. v.37 Other: judge. v.44 Other: judge.

If it be increased in the cloth: whether it be in the warp or woof or in a skin or in anything that is made of skin, then the plague 52 is a fretting leprosy, and it is unclean: And that cloth shall be burnt, either warp or woof, whether it be woollen or linen or any thing that is made of skin wherein the plague is, for it is a 53 fretting leprosy, and shall be burnt in the fire. If the priest see that the plague hath fretten no further in the cloth: either in 54 the warp or woof or in whatsoever thing of skin it be, then let the priest command then to wash the thing wherein the plague 55 is, and let him shut it up seven days more. And let the priest look on it again after that the plague is washed. If the plague have not changed his fashion though it be spread no further abroad, it is yet unclean. And see that ye burn it in the fire, 56 for it is fretten inward: whether in part or in all together. But and if the priest see that it is somewhat blackish after that it is washed, let him rent it out of the cloth, or out of the skin or out 57 of the warp or woof. But and if it appear any more in the cloth either in the warp or in the woof or in anything made of skin, then it is a waxing plague. And see that ye burn that with fire, 58 wherein the plague is. Moreover the cloth either warp or woof or whatsoever thing of skin it be which thou hast washed and the plague be departed from it, shall be washed once again: 59 and then it is clean. This is the law of the plague of leprosy in a cloth whether it be woollen or linen: either whether it be in the warp or woof, or in anything made of skins, to make* it clean or unclean.

XIV, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: this is the law of a leper when he shall be cleansed: He shall be brought unto the 3 priest, and the priest shall go out without the host and look 4 upon him. If the plague of leprosy be healed in the leper, then shall the priest command that there be brought for him that shall be cleansed two living birds that are clean, and cypress* 5 wood, and a piece of purple cloth and hyssop. And the priest shall command that one of the birds be killed over* an earthen 6 vessel of running water. And the priest shall take the living bird and the cypress* wood and the purple and the hyssop, and shall dip them and the living bird in the blood of the slain bird, 7 and in the running water and sprinkle it upon him that must be cleansed of his leprosy seven times and cleanse him, and shall let the living bird go free into the fields. And he that is 8 cleansed shall wash his clothes and shave off all his hair, and wash himself in water, and then he is clean. And after that he shall come into the host, but shall tarry without his tent seven days. When the seventh day is come, he shall shave off all 9 his hair both upon his head and his beard and on his brows: and even all the hair that is on him, shall be shaven off. And he shall wash his clothes and his flesh in water, and then he shall be clean. And when the eighth day is come, let him take 10 two lambs without blemish and a ewe lamb of a year old without blemish, and three tenth deals of fine flour for a meatoffering mingled with oil, and a log of oil. Then let the priest 11 that maketh him clean, bring the man that is made clean with those things before the LORD unto the door of the tabernacle of witness. And let the priest take one of the lambs and offer 12 him for a trespassoffering, and the log of oil: and wave them before the LORD. And then let him slay the lamb in the place 13 where the sinoffering and the burnt offering are slain: even in the holy place. For as the sinoffering is, even so is the trespassoffering the priest's: for it is most holy. Then let the priest 14 take of the blood of the trespassoffering, and put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot. Then 15 let the priest take of the log of oil, and pour it into the palm of his left hand and dip his right finger in the oil that is in the palm of his left hand, and let him sprinkle it with his finger 16 seven times before the LORD. And of the rest of the oil that 17 is in his hand, shall the priest put upon the tip of the right ear of him that is cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot: even upon the blood of the trespass offering. And the remnant of the oil that is in 18 the priest's hand, he shall pour upon the head of him that is cleansed: and so shall be priest make an atonement for him before the LORD. Then let the priest offer the sinoffering, 19 and make an atonement for him that is cleansed for his un-cleanness. And then let the burnt offering be slain, and let the 20 priest put both the burnt offering and the meat offering upon the altar; and make an atonement for him, and then he shall be clean. If he be poor and can not get so much, then let him 21 bring one lamb for a trespassoffering to wave it and to make an atonement for him, and a tenth deal of fine flour mingled with 22 oil for a meatoffering, and a log of oil, and two turtle doves or two young pigeons which he is able to get, and let the one 23 be a sinoffering and the other a burnt offering. And let him bring them the eighth day for his cleansing unto the priest to 24 the door of the tabernacle of witness before the LORD. And let the priest take the lamb that is the trespass offering and the log 25 of oil, and wave them before the LORD. And when the lamb of the trespass offering is killed, the priest shall take of the blood of the trespass offering, and put it upon the tip of his right ear that is cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and 26 upon the great toe of his right foot. And the priest shall pour 27 of the oil into his right hand, and shall sprinkle with his finger of the oil that is in his left hand seven times before the 28 LORD. And the priest shall put of the oil that is in his hand, upon the tip of the right ear of him that is cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot: even in the place where the blood of the trespass offering 29 was put. And the rest of the oil that is in his hand, he shall pour upon the head of him that is cleansed: to make an atone-30 ment for him before the LORD. And he shall offer one of the 31 turtle doves or of the young pigeons, such as he can get: the one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering upon the altar. And so shall the priest make an atonement for him that 32 is cleansed before the LORD. This is the law of him that hath the plague of leprosy, whose hand is not able to get that which 33 pertaineth to his cleansing. And the LORD spake unto Moses 34 and Aaron saying: when ye be come unto the land of Canaan which I give you to possess: if I put the plague of leprosy in any 35 house of the land of your possession, let him that owneth the house go and tell the priest saying: me think that there is as 36 it were a leprosy in the house. And the priest shall command them to rid all things out of the house, before the priest go in to see the plague: that he make not all that is in the house 37 unclean, and then the priest shall go in and see the house. If the priest see that the plague is in the walls of the house, and that there be hollow streaks pale or red which seem to be lower 38 than the other parts of the wall, then let the priest go out at 39 the house doors, and shut up the house for seven days. And let the priest come again the seventh day and see it: if the plague be increased in the walls of the house, let the priest command 40 them to take away the stones in which the plague is, and let 41 them cast them in a foul place without the city, and scrape the 41 house within round about, and pour out the dust without the 41 city in a foul place. And let them take other stones and put 42 them in the places of those stones, and other mortar, and plas- 42 ter the house withal. If now the plague come again and break 43 out in the house, after that they have taken away the stones 43 and scraped the house, and after that the house is plastered 43 anew: let the priest come and see it. And if then he perceive 44 that the plague hath eaten further in the house, then it is a 44 fretting leprosy that is in the house, and it is unclean. Then 45 they shall break down the house: both stones, timber and all 45 the mortar of the house, and carry it out of the city unto a foul 45 place. Moreover he that goeth into the house all the while 46 that it is shut up, shall be unclean until night. And he that 47 sleepeth in the house shall wash his clothes, and he also that 47 eateth in the house shall wash his clothes. But and if the 48 priest come and see that the plague hath spread no further in 48 the house after that it is new plastered, then let him make it 48 clean for the plague is healed. And let him take to cleanse the 49 house withal: two birds, cypress wood, and purple cloth and 49 hyssop. And let him kill one of the birds over* an earthen ves- 50 sel of* running water: and take the cypress wood, the hyssop, 51 the purple and the living bird, and dip them in the blood of 51 the slain bird and in the running water, and sprinkle upon the 51 house seven times, and cleanse the house with the blood of 52 the bird, and with the running water, and with the living bird, 52 and with the cypress* wood, and the hyssop, and the purple 52 cloth. And he shall let the living bird flee out of the town into 53 the wild fields, and so make an atonement for the house, and it 53 shall be clean. This is the law of all manner plague of leprosy 54 and breaking out, and of the leprosy of cloth and house: and 55, 56 of risings, scabs and glistening white, to teach when a thing is 57 unclean or clean. This is the law of leprosy.

And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron saying: Speak XV, 2 unto the children of Israel and say unto them: every man that hath a running issue in his flesh, is unclean by the reason of his issue. And hereby shall it be known when he is unclean. If 3 his flesh run, or if his flesh congeal by the reason of his issue, 4 then he is unclean. Every couch whereon he lieth and every 5 thing whereon he sitteth shall be unclean. He that twicheth his couch, shall wash his clothes and bathe himself with wa-6 ter, and be unclean until the even. He that sitteth on that whereon he sat, shall wash his clothes and bathe himself with 7 water and be unclean until the evening. And he that twicheth his flesh shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and 8 be unclean unto the evening. If any such spit upon him that is clean, he must wash his clothes and bathe himself in water 9 and be unclean until even. And whatsoever saddle that he 10 rideth upon, shall be unclean. And whosoever twicheth anything that was under him, shall be unclean unto the evening.

And he that beareth any such things shall wash his clothes, 11 and bathe himself in water and be unclean unto the even, and whosoever he twicheth (if he have not first washed his hands in water) must wash his clothes, and bathe himself in water, 12 and be unclean unto the evening. And if he twich a vessel of earth, it shall be broken: and all vessels of wood shall be rinsed 13 in the water. When he that hath an issue is cleansed of his issue, let him number seven days after he is clean, and wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in running water, and then he is 14 clean. And the eighth day let him take two turtle doves or two young pigeons, and come before the LORD unto the door of 15 the tabernacle of witness, and give them unto the priest. And the priest shall offer them: the one for a sinoffering, and the other for a burntoffering: and make an atonement for him be-16 fore the LORD, as concerning his issue. If any man's seed depart from him in his sleep, he shall wash his flesh in water and 17 be unclean until evening. And all the clothes or furs whereon such seed chanceth shall be washed with water and be unclean 18 unto the evening. And if a woman lie with such a one, they shall wash them selves with water and be unclean until even.
19 When a woman's natural course of blood runneth, she shall be put apart seven days: and whosoever twicheth her shall be un-20 clean unto the evening. And all that she lieth* upon as long 21 as she is put apart shall be unclean. And whosoever twicheth her couch shall wash his clothes and bathe himself with water 22 and be unclean unto the evening. And whosoever twicheth

15. v.20 Other: or sitteth.

anything that she sat upon, shall wash his clothes and wash himself also in water, and be unclean unto the even: so that 23 whether he twich her couch or anything whereon she hath sitten, he shall be unclean unto the evening. And if a man lie 24 with her in the mean time, he shall be put apart as well as she and shall be unclean seven days, and all his couch wherein he sleepeth shall be unclean. When a woman's blood run- 25 neth long time: whether out of the time of her natural course: as long as her uncleanness runneth, she shall be unclean after the manner as when she is put apart. All her couches 26 whereon she lieth (as long as her issue lasteth) shall be unto her as her couch when she is put apart. And whatsoever she sitteth upon, shall be unclean, as is her uncleanness when she is put apart. And whosoever twicheth them, shall be unclean, 27 and shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water and be unclean unto evening. And when* she is cleansed* of her is- 28 sue, let her count her seven days, after that she is clean. And 29 the eighth day let her take two turtles or two young pigeons and bring them unto the priest unto the door of the tabernacle of witness. And the priest shall offer the one for a sinoffer- 30 ing, and the other for a burnt offering: and so make an atonement for her before the LORD, as concerning her unclean issue.
 Make the children of Israel to keep them selves from their un- 31 cleanness, that they die not in their uncleanness: when they have defiled my habitation that is among them. This is the 32 law of him that hath a running sore, and of him whose seed runneth from him in his sleep and is defiled therewith, and 33 of her that hath an issue of blood as long as she is put apart, and of whosoever hath a running sore whether it be man or woman, and of him that sleepeth with her that is unclean.

And the LORD spake unto Moses after the death of the two XVI sons of Aaron, when they had offered before the LORD and died: And he said unto Moses: speak unto Aaron thy brother 2 that he go not at all times into the holy place, that is within the vail that hangeth before the mercy seat which is upon the ark that he die not. For I will appear in a cloud upon the mercy seat. But of this manner shall Aaron go in into the holy place: 3 with a young ox* for a sin offering, and a ram for a burnt offering. And he shall put the holy linen alb upon him, and shall 4 have a linen breech upon his flesh, and shall gird him with a linen girdle, and put the linen mitre upon his head: for they are holy raiments. And he shall wash his flesh with water, and put 5 them on. And he shall take of the multitude of the children of Israel two goats for a sinoffering and a ram for a burnt offering.

6 ing. And Aaron shall offer the ox for his sinoffering and make an atonement for him and for his house. And he shall take 7 the two goats and present them before the LORD in the door of the tabernacle of witness. And Aaron cast lots over the two 8 goats: one lot for the LORD, and another for a scapegoat. And Aaron shall bring the goat upon which the LORD's lot fell, and 9 offer him for a sinoffering. But the goat on which the lot fell to scape, he shall set alive before the LORD to reconcile with and 10 to let him go free into the wilderness. And Aaron shall bring the ox of his sinoffering, and reconcile for himself and for his 11 household, and kill him. And then he shall take a censer full of burning coals out of the altar that is before the LORD, and his handful of sweet cense beaten small, and bring them within 12 the vail and put the cense upon the fire before the LORD: that the cloud of the cense may cover the mercy seat that is upon the witness, that he die not. And he shall take of the blood 13 of the ox and sprinkle it with his finger before the mercy seat eastward: even seven times. Then shall he kill the goat that is the people's sinoffering, and bring his blood within the vail, and do with his blood as he did with the blood of the ox, and let him sprinkle it toward the mercy seat, and before the mercy 14 seat: and reconcile the holy place from the uncleanness of the children of Israel, and from their trespasses and all their sins. And so let him do also unto the tabernacle of witness that 15 dwelleth with them, even among their uncleannesses. And there shall be nobody in the tabernacle of witness, when he goeth in to make an atonement in the holy place, until he come out again. And he shall make an atonement for himself and 16 for his household, and for all the multitude of Israel. Then he shall go out unto the altar that standeth before the LORD, and reconcile it, and shall take of the blood of the ox and of the blood of the goat, and put it upon the horns of the altar round 17 about, and sprinkle of the blood upon it with his finger seven times, and cleanse it, and hallow it from the uncleannesses of the children of Israel. And when he hath made an end of rec-oncing the holy place and the tabernacle of witness and the altar, let him bring the live goat and let Aaron put both his 21 hands upon the head of the live goat, and confess over him all the misdeeds of the children of Israel, and all their trespasses, and all their sins: and let him put them upon the head of the goat and send him away by the hands of one that is acquainted in the wilderness. And the goat shall bear upon him all their 22 misdeeds unto the wilderness, and he shall let the goat go free in the wilderness. And let Aaron go in to the tabernacle of 23 witness and put off the line clothes which he put on when he went in into the holy place, and leave them there. And let him 24 wash his flesh with water in the holy place, and put on his own raiment, and then come out and offer his burnt offering and the burnt offering of the people, and make an atonement for himself and for the people, and the fat of the sin offering let him 25 burn upon the altar. And let him that carried forth the scapegoat, wash his clothes and bathe his flesh in water, and then 26 come into the host again. And the ox of the sin offering and the 27 goat of the sin offering (whose blood was brought in to make an atonement in the holy place) let one carry out without the host and burn with fire: both their skins, their flesh and their dung.

 And let him that burneth them, wash his clothes and bathe his 28 flesh in water, and then come into the host again. And it* 29 shall be an ordinance for ever unto you. And even in the tenth day of the seventh month, ye shall humble your souls and shall do no work at all: whether it be one of your selves or a stranger that sojourneth among you, for that day shall an atonement 30 be made for you to cleanse you from all your sins before the LORD, and ye shall be clean. It shall be a Sabbath of rest 31 unto you, and ye shall humble your souls, and it shall be an ordinance for ever. And the priest that is anointed and whose 32 hand was filled to minister in his father's stead, shall make the atonement and shall put on the holy linen* vestments, and 33 reconcile the holy sanctuary and the tabernacle of witness and the altar, and shall make an atonement also for the priests and for all the people of the congregation. And this shall be 34 an everlasting ordinance unto you to make an atonement for the children of Israel for all their sins once a year: and it was done even as the LORD commanded Moses.

XVII, 2 And the LORD talked with Moses saying: speak unto Aaron and unto his sons and unto all the children of Israel and say unto them, this is the thing which the LORD charged saying:
3 whatsoever he be of the house of Israel that killeth an ox, lamb 4 or goat in the host or out of the host and bringeth them not unto the door of the tabernacle of witness, to offer an offering unto the LORD before the dwelling place of the LORD, blood shall be imputed unto that man, as though he had shed blood, 5 and that man shall perish from among his people. Wherefore let the children of Israel bring their offerings they offer in the wide field, unto the LORD: even unto the door of the tabernacle of witness and unto the priest, and offer them for 6 peaceofferings unto the LORD. And the priest shall sprinkle the blood upon the altar of the LORD in the door of the tabernacle of witness, and burn the fat to be a sweet savour unto 7 the LORD. And let them no more offer their offerings unto devils, after whom they go an whoring. And this shall be an 8 ordinance for ever unto you thorowout your generations. And thou shalt say unto them: whatsoever man it be of the house of Israel or of the strangers that sojourn among you that offereth 9 a burnt offering or any other offering, and bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of witness to offer unto the LORD, 10 that fellow shall perish from among his people. And whatsoever man it be of the house of Israel or of the strangers that sojourn among you that eateth any manner of blood, I will set my face against that soul that eateth blood, and will destroy 11 him from among his people, for the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it unto you upon the altar, to make an atonement for your souls, for blood shall make an atonement 12 for the soul. And therefore I said unto the children of Israel: see that no soul of you eat blood, nor yet any stranger that sojourneth among you. Whatsoever man it be of the children of 13 Israel or of the strangers that sojourn among you that hunteth and catcheth any beast or fowl that may be eaten, he shall pour 14 out the blood and cover it with earth. For the life of all flesh is in the blood, therefore I said unto the children of Israel, ye shall eat the blood of no manner of flesh, for the life of all flesh is in his blood, and whosoever therefore eateth it shall perish.
15 And whatsoever soul it be that eateth that which died alone or that which was torn with wild beasts: whether it be one of your selves or a stranger, he shall wash his clothes and bathe himself in water, and shall be unclean unto the even, and then is he clean. But and if he wash them not nor wash his flesh he shall bear his sin. 16

And the LORD talked with Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, I am the LORD your God. Wherefore after the doings of the land of Egypt wherein ye dwelt, see that ye do not: neither after the doings of the land of Canaan, whether I will bring you, neither walk ye in their ordinances, but do after my judgments, and keep mine ordinances, to walk therein: for I am the LORD your God. Keep therefore mine ordinances, and my judgments which if a man do he shall live thereby: for I am the LORD. See that ye go to none of your nighest kindred for to uncover their secrets, for I am the LORD. The secrets of thy father and thy mother, see thou unhele not: she is thy mother, therefore shalt thou not discover her secrets. The secrets of thy father's wife shalt thou not discover, for they are thy father's secrets. Thou shalt not discover the privity of thy sister, the daughter of thy father or of thy mother: whether she be born at home or without. Thou shalt not discover the secrets of thy son's daughter or thy daughter's daughter, for that is thine own privity: Thou shalt not discover the secrets of thy father's wife's daughter, which she bare to thy father, for she is thy sister: thou shalt therefore not discover her secrets. Thou shalt not uncover the secrets of thy father's sister, for she is thy father's next kin.* Thou shalt not discover the secrets of thy mother's sister, for she is thy mother's next kin.* Thou shalt not open* the secrets of thy father's brother: that is thou shalt not go in to his wife, for she is thine aunt. Thou shalt not discover the secrets of thy daughter-in-law she is thy son's wife: therefore uncover not her secrets. Thou shalt not unhele the secrets of thy brother's wife, for that is thy brother's privity. Thou shalt not discover the privates* of the wife and her daughter also, neither shalt thou take her son's daughter or her daughter's daughter to uncover their secrets, they are her next kin, it were therefore wickedness. Thou shalt not take a wife and her sister thereto, to vex her that thou wouldest open her secrets as long as she XVIII, 2

19 liveth. Thou shalt not go unto a woman to open her secrets,* 20 as long as she is put apart for her uncleanness. Thou shalt not 21 lie with thy neighbour's wife, to defile thyself with her. Thou shalt not give of thy seed to offer it unto Moloch, that thou de-22 file not the name of thy God, for I am the LORD. Thou shalt not lie with mankind as with womankind, for that is abomina-23 tion. Thou shalt lie with no manner of beast to defile thyself therewith, neither shall any woman stand before a beast to lie 24 down thereto, for that is abomination. Defile not your selves in any of these things, for with all these things are these na-25 tions defiled which I cast out before you: and the land is defiled, and I will visit the wickedness thereof upon it. And the 26 land shall spew out her inhabitants. Keep ye therefore mine ordinances and judgements, and see that ye commit none of these abominations: neither any of you nor any stranger that sojour-27 neth among you (for all these abominations have the men of the land done which were there before you, and the land is de-28 filed) lest that the land spew you out when ye have defiled it, 29 as it spewed out the nations that were there before you. For whosoever shall commit any of these abominations, the same souls that commit them shall perish from among their people.
 30 Therefore see that ye keep mine ordinances, that ye commit none of these abominable customs which were committed before you: that ye defile not your selves therewith for I am the LORD your God.

XIX, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto all the multitude of the children of Israel, and say unto them. Be holy 3 for I the LORD your God am holy. See that ye fear every man his father and his mother, and that ye keep my Sabbaths, for I 4 am the LORD your God. Ye shall not turn unto idols nor make 5 you gods of metal: I am the LORD your God. When ye offer your peaceofferings unto the LORD, ye shall offer them that 6 ye may be accepted. And it shall be eaten the same day ye offer it and on the morrow, but whatsoever is left on the third 7 day shall be burnt in the fire. If it be eaten the third day, 8 it shall be unclean and not accepted. And he that eateth it shall bear his sin, because he hath defiled the hallowed things of the LORD, and that soul shall perish from among his peo-9 ple. When ye reap down the ripe corn of your land, ye shall not reap down the utmost borders of your fields, neither shalt thou gather that which is left behind in thy harvest. Thou shalt not pluck in all thy vineyard clean, neither gather in the grapes that are overscaped. But thou shalt leave them for the poor and stranger. I am the LORD your God. Ye shall not steal neither lie, neither deal falsely one with another. Ye shall not swear by my name falsely: that thou defilest not the name of thy God, I am the LORD. Thou shalt not beguile thy neighbour with cavillations, neither rob him violently, neither shall the workman's labour abide with thee until the morning. Thou shalt not curse the deaf, neither put a stumbling block before the blind: but shalt fear thy God. I am the LORD. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgement. Thou shalt not favour the poor nor honour the mighty, but shalt judge thy neighbour righteously. Thou shalt not go up and down a privy accuser among thy people, neither shalt thou help to shed the blood of thy neighbour: I am the LORD. Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart but shalt in any wise rebuke thy neighbour: that thou bear not sin for his sake. Thou shalt not avenge thyself nor bear hate in thy mind against the children of thy people, but shalt love thy neighbour even as thyself. I am the LORD. Keep mine ordinances. Let none of thy cattle gender with a contrary kind, neither sow thy field with mingled seed, neither shalt thou put on any garment of linen and woollen. If a man have to do with a woman that is bond and hath been meddled with all of another man which neither is bought nor freedom given her, there shall be a pain upon it: but they shall not die, because she was not made free. And he shall bring for his trespassoffering unto the LORD: even unto the door of the tabernacle of witness, a ram for a trespass offering. And the priest shall make an atonement for him with the ram of the trespassoffering before the LORD, for his sin which he hath done: and it shall be forgiven him, as concerning the sin which he hath done. And when ye come to the land and have planted all manner of trees whereof men eat, ye shall hold them uncircumcised as concerning their fruit: even three year shall they be uncircumcised unto you and shall not be eaten of, and the fourth year all the fruit of them shall be holy and acceptable to the LORD. And the fifth year may ye eat of the fruit of them, and gather in the increase of them: I 26 am the LORD your God. Ye shall eat nothing with the blood, 27 ye shall use no witchcraft, nor observe dismal days, ye shall not round the locks of your heads, neither shalt thou mar the 28 tufts of thy beard. Ye shall not rent your flesh for any soul's 29 sake, nor print any marks upon you: I am the LORD. Thou shalt not pollute thy daughter, that thou wouldest maintain her to be an whore: lest the land fall to whoredom, and wax 30 full of wickedness. See that ye keep my Sabbaths and fear my 31 sanctuary: I am the LORD. Turn not to them that work with spirits, neither regard them that observe dismal days: that 32 ye be not defiled by them, for I am the LORD your God. Thou shalt rise up before the hoarhead, and reverence the face of the 33 old man and dread thy God, for I am the LORD. If a stranger 34 sojourn by thee in your land, see that ye vex him not: But let the stranger that dwelleth with you, be as one of your selves, and love him as thy self, for ye were strangers in the land of 35 Egypt. I am the LORD your God. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgement neither in meteyard, weight or measure.

 36 But ye shall have true balances, true weights, a true Epha and a true hin. I am the LORD your God which brought you out of 37 the land of Egypt, that ye should observe all mine ordinances and judgments and that ye should keep them: I am the LORD.

XX, 2 And the LORD talked with Moses saying: tell the children of Israel, whosoever he be of the children of Israel or of the strangers that dwell in Israel, that giveth of his seed unto Moloch he shall die for it: the people of the land shall stone 3 him with stones. And I will set my face upon that fellow, and will destroy him from among his people: because he hath given of his seed unto Moloch, for to defile my sanctuary and to pol-4 lute mine holy name. And though that the people of the land hide their eyes from that fellow, when he giveth of his seed 5 unto Moloch, so that they kill him not: yet I will put my face upon that man and upon his household,* and will destroy him and all that go a whoring with him and commit whoredom with 6 Moloch from among their people. If any soul turn unto them that work with spirits or makers of dismal days* and go a whoring after them, I will put my face upon that soul and will de-7 stroy him from among his people. Sanctify your selves there-8 fore and be holy, for I am the LORD your God. And see that ye keep mine ordinances and do them. For I am the LORD which sanctify you. Whosoever curseth his father or mother, shall die for it, his blood on his head, because he hath cursed his father or mother. He that breaketh wedlock with another man's wife shall die for it, because he hath broke wedlock with his neighbour's wife, and so shall she likewise. If a man lie with his father's wife and uncover his father's secrets, they shall both die for it, their blood be upon their heads. If a man lie with his daughter-in-law they shall die both of them: they have wrought abomination, their blood upon their heads. If a man lie with the mankind after the manner as with womankind, they have both committed an abomination and shall die for it. Their blood be upon their heads. If a man take a wife and her mother thereto, it is wickedness. Men shall burn with fire both him and them, that there be no wickedness among you. If a man lie with a beast he shall die, and ye shall slay the beast. If a woman go unto a beast and lie down thereto: thou shalt kill the woman and the beast also they shall die, and their blood be upon their heads. If a man take his sister, his father's daughter or his mother's daughter, and see her secrets, and she see his secrets also: it is a wicked thing. Therefore let them perish in the sight of their people; he hath seen his sister's secretness, he shall therefore bear his sin. If a man lie with a woman in time of her natural disease and unheal^{} her secrets and uncover^{} her fountain, and she also open the fountain of her blood, they shall both perish from among their people. Thou shalt not uncover the secrets of thy mother's sister nor of thy father's sisters, for he that doth so, uncovereth his next kin: and they shall bear their misdoing. If a man lie with his uncle's wife, he hath uncovered his uncle's secrets: they shall bear their sin, and shall die childless. If a man take his brother's wife, it is an unclean thing, he hath uncovered his brother's secrets, they shall be childless therefore. See that ye keep therefore all mine ordinances and all my judgements, and that ye do them: that the land whither I bring you to dwell therein, spew you not out. And see that ye walk not in the manners of the nations which I cast out before you: For they committed all these things, and I abhorred them. But I have said unto you that ye shall enjoy their land, and that I will give it unto you to possess it: even a land that floweth with milk and honey. I am the LORD your God, which have separated you from other nations: that ye should put difference 25 between clean beasts and unclean, and between unclean fowls and them that are clean. Make not your souls therefore abominable with beasts and fowls, and with all manner thing that creepeth upon the ground, which I have separated unto you to 26 hold them unclean. Be holy unto me, for I the LORD am holy and have severed you from other nations: that ye should be 27 mine. If there be man or woman that worketh with a spirit or a maker of dismal days,* they shall die for it. Men shall stone them with stones, and their blood shall be upon them.

XXI And the LORD said unto Moses: speak unto the priests the sons of Aaron and say unto them: A priest shall defile himself 2 at the death of none of his people, but upon his kin that is nye unto him: as his mother, father, son, daughter and brother: 3 and on his sister as long as she is a maid and dwelleth nye him and was never given to man: on her he may defile himself.
 4 But he shall not make himself unclean upon a ruler of his people to pollute himself withal. They shall make them 5 no baldness upon their heads or shave off the locks of their beards, nor make any marks in their flesh. They shall be holy 6 unto their God, and not pollute the name of their God, for the sacrifices of the LORD and the bread of their God they do offer: 7 therefore they must be holy. They shall take no wife that is an whore, or polluted, or put from her husband: for a priest 8 is holy unto his God. Sanctify him therefore, for he offereth up the bread of God: he shall therefore be holy unto thee, for I 9 the LORD which sanctify you, am holy. If a priest's daughter fall to play the whore, she polluteth her father: therefore she 10 shall be burnt with fire. He that is the high priest among his brethren upon whose head the anointing oil was poured and whose hand was filled to put on the vestments, shall not un-11 cover his head nor rent his clothes, neither shall go to any dead body nor make himself unclean: no not on his father or 12 mother, neither shall go out of the sanctuary, that he pollute not the holy place of his God, for the crown of the anointing oil of God, is upon him. I am the LORD. He shall take a maiden 13 unto his wife: but no widow nor divorced nor polluted whore.
 14

v.27 Other: expoundeth tokens.

But he shall take a maiden of his own people to wife, that he 15 defile not his seed upon his people. For I am the LORD which sanctify him. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying, speak 16, 17 unto Aaron and say: No man of thy seed in their generations that hath any deformity upon him, shall prease for to offer the bread of his God: For none that hath any blemish shall come 18 near: whether he be blind, lame, snoutnosed, or that hath any monstrous member, or broken footed, or broken handed, or 19, 20 crook backed, or perleyed, or goggle eyed, or mangy or skald, or hath his stones broken. No man that is deformed of the seed 21 of Aaron the priest, shall come nye to offer the sacrifices of the LORD. If he have a deformity, he shall not prese to offer the bread of his God. Notwithstanding he shall eat of the bread 22 of his God: even as well of the most holy, as of the holy: but 23 shall not go in unto the vail nor come nye the altar, because he is deformed, that he pollute not my sanctuary, for I am the LORD that sanctify them. And Moses told it unto Aaron and 24 to his sons, and unto all the children of Israel.

And the LORD communed with Moses saying: bid Aaron XXII, 2 and his sons that they abstain from the hallowed things of the children of Israel which they have hallowed unto me, that they pollute not mine holy name: for I am the LORD. Say unto 3 them: whosoever he be of all your seed among your generation after you, that goeth unto the hallowed things which the children of Israel shall have hallowed unto the LORD, his un-cleanness shall be upon him: and that soul shall perish from out of my sight. I am the LORD. None of the seed of Aaron 4 that is a leper or that hath a running sore, shall eat of the hallowed things until he be clean. And whosoever twitcheth any unclean soul or man whose seed runneth from him by night, or whosoever twicheth any worm that is unclean to him, or 5 man that is unclean to him, whatsoever uncleanness he hath: the same soul that hath twiched any such thing, shall be un- 6 clean until even, and shall not eat of the hallowed things until he have washed his flesh with water. And then when the 7 son is down he shall be clean and shall afterward eat of the hallowed things: for they are his food. Of a beast that dieth 8 alone or is rent with wild beasts, he shall not eat, to defile himself therewith: I am the LORD. But let them keep therefore 9 mine ordinance, lest they lade sin upon them and die therein when they have defiled them selves: for I am the LORD which 10 sanctify them. There shall no stranger eat of the hallowed 11 things, neither a guest of the priests, or an hired servant. But if the priest buy any fowl with money he may eat of it, and 12 he also that is born in his house may eat of his bread. If the priest's daughter be married unto a stranger, she may not 13 eat of the hallowed heave offerings. Notwithstanding if the priest's daughter be a widow or divorced and have no child but is returned unto her father's house again, she shall eat of her father's bread as well as she did in her youth. But there shall 14 no stranger eat thereof. If a man eat of the hallowed things unwittingly, he shall put the fifth part thereunto, and make 15 good unto the priest the hallowed thing. And let the priests see, that they defile not the hallowed things of the children of 16 Israel which they have offered unto the LORD, lest they lade them selves with misdoing and trespass in eating their hal-17 lowed things, for I am the LORD which hallow them. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto Aaron and his sons and unto all the children of Israel and say unto them, whatsoever he be of the house of Israel or stranger in Israel that will offer his offering: whatsoever vow or freewill offering it be which they will offer unto the LORD for a burnt offering 19 to reconcile them selves, it must be a male without blemish 20 of the oxen, sheep or goats, let them offer nothing that is de-21 formed for they shall get no favour therewith. If a man will offer a peace offering unto the LORD and separate a vow or a freewill offering of the oxen or the flock, it must be without deformity, that it may be accepted. There may be no blem-22 ish therein: whether it be blind, broken, wounded or have a wen, or be mangy or scabbed; see that ye offer no such unto the LORD, nor put an offering of any such upon the altar unto 23 the LORD. An ox or a sheep that hath any member out of proportion, mayst thou offer for a freewill offering: but in a 24 vow it shall not be accepted. Thou shalt not offer unto the LORD that which hath his stones bruised, broken, plucked out 25 or cut away, neither shalt make any such in your land, neither of a stranger's hand shall ye offer an offering to your God of any such. For they mar all in that they have deformities 26 in them, and therefore can not be accepted for you. And the 27 LORD spake unto Moses saying: when an ox, a sheep or a goat is brought forth, it shall be seven days under the dam. And from the eighth day forth, it shall be accepted unto a gift in the sacrifice of the LORD. And whether it be ox or sheep, ye shall not kill it, and her young: both in one day. When ye will offer a thankoffering unto the LORD, ye shall so offer it that ye may be accepted. And the same day it must be eaten up, so that ye leave none of it until the morrow. For I am the LORD, keep now my commandments and do them, for I am the LORD. And pollute not my holy name, that I may be hallowed among the children of Israel. For I am the LORD which hallow you, and brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: for I am the LORD.

And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them: These are the feasts of the LORD which ye shall call holy feasts. Six days ye shall work, and the seventh is the Sabbath of rest an holy feast: so that ye may do no work therein, for it is the Sabbath of the LORD, wheresoever ye dwell. These are the feasts of the LORD which ye shall proclaim holy in their seasons. The fourteenth day of the first month at evening is the LORD's Passover. And the fifteenth day of the same month is the feast of sweet bread unto the LORD, seven days ye must eat unleavened bread. The first day shall be an holy feast unto you, so that ye may do no laborious work therein. But ye shall offer sacrifices unto the LORD seven days, and the seventh day also shall be an holy feast, so that ye may do no laborious work therein. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say unto them: when ye be come into the land which I give unto you and reap down your harvest, ye shall bring a sheaf of the first fruits of your harvest unto the priest, and he shall wave the sheaf before the LORD to be accepted for you: and even the morrow after the Sabbath the priest shall wave it. And ye shall offer the day when he waveth the sheaf, a lamb without blemish of a year old for a burnt offering unto the LORD: and the meat offering thereof, two tenth deals of fine flour mingled with oil to be a sacrifice unto the LORD of a sweet savour: and the drink offering thereto, the fourth deal of an hin of wine. And ye shall eat neither bread, nor parched corn, nor frumenty of new corn: until the self same day that ye have brought an offer- XXIII, 2 ing unto your God. And this shall be a law for ever unto your 15 children after you, wheresoever ye dwell. And ye shall count from the morrow after the Sabbath: even from the day that ye brought the sheaf of the waveoffering, seven weeks complete: 16 even unto the morrow after the seventh week ye shall number fifty days. And then ye shall bring a new meatoffering unto 17 the LORD. And ye shall bring out of your habitations two wave loaves made of two tenth deals of fine flour leavened and 18 baken, for first fruits unto the LORD. And ye shall bring with the bread seven lambs without deformity of one year of age, and one young ox, and two rams, which shall serve for burntoffer-ings unto the LORD, with meatofferings and drink offerings longing to the same, to be a sacrifice of a sweet savour unto 19 the LORD. And ye shall offer an he goat for a sinoffering: and 20 two lambs of one year old for peaceofferings. And the priest shall wave them with the bread of the first fruits before the LORD, and with the two lambs. And they shall be holy unto 21 the LORD, and be the priest's. And ye shall make a proclamation the same day that it be an holy feast unto you, and ye shall do no laborious work therein. And it shall be a law for ever thorowout all your habitations unto your children after 22 you. When ye reap down your harvest, thou shalt not make clean riddance of thy field, neither shalt thou make any aftergathering of thy harvest: but shalt leave them unto the poor 23 and the stranger. I am the LORD your God. And the LORD 24 spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say: The first day of the seventh month shall be a rest of remembrance unto you, to blow horns in an holy feast it 25 shall be, and ye shall do no laborious work therein, and ye 26 shall offer sacrifice unto the LORD. And the LORD spake unto 27 Moses saying: also the tenth day of the self seventh month, is a day of atonement, and shall be on holy feast unto you, and ye shall humble your souls and offer sacrifice unto the 28 LORD. Moreover ye shall do no work the same day, for it is a day of atonement to make an atonement for you before the 29 LORD your God. For whatsoever soul it be that humbleth not himself that day, he shall be destroyed from among his peo-30 ple. And whatsoever soul do any manner work that day, the 31 same I will destroy from among his people. See that ye do no manner work therefore. And it shall be a law for ever unto your generations after you in all your dwellings. A Sabbath of 32 rest it shall be unto you, and ye shall humble your souls. The ninth day of the month at evening and so forth from evening to evening again, ye shall keep your Sabbath. And the LORD 33 spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel 34 and say: the fifteenth day of the same seventh month shall be the feast of tabernacles seven days unto the LORD. The 35 first day shall be an holy feast, so that ye shall do no laborious work therein. Seven days ye shall offer sacrifice unto 36 the LORD, and the eighth day shall be an holy feast unto you, and ye shall offer sacrifice unto the LORD. It is the end of the feast, and ye shall do no laborious work therein. These are the 37 feasts of the LORD which ye shall proclaim holy feasts, for to offer sacrifice unto the LORD, burntofferings, meatofferings, and drinkofferings every day: beside the Sabbaths of the LORD, 38 and beside your gifts, and all your vows, and all your freewill offerings which ye shall give unto the LORD. Moreover in the 39 fifteenth day of the seventh month after that ye have gathered in the fruits of the land, ye shall keep holy day unto the LORD seven days long. The first day shall be a day of rest, and the eighth day shall be a day of rest. And ye shall take you the 40 first day, the fruits of goodly trees and the branches of palm trees and the boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook, and shall rejoice before the LORD seven days. And ye shall 41 keep it holy day unto the LORD seven days in the year. And it shall be a law for ever unto your children after you, that ye keep that feast in the seventh month. And ye shall dwell in 42 booths seven days: even all that are Israelites born, shall dwell in booths, that your children after you may know how that I 43 made the children of Israel dwell in booths, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: for I am the LORD your God.

 And Moses told all the feasts of the LORD unto the children of 44 Israel.

And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: command the XXIV, 2 children of Israel that they bring unto thee, pure oil olive beaten for lights to pour into the lamps always, without the vail of 3 testimony* within the tabernacle of witness. And Aaron shall dress them both evening and morning before the LORD always.
 And it shall be a law for ever among your children after you.

24. v.3 Other: witness.

4 And he shall dress the lamps upon the pure candlestick before 5 the LORD perpetually. And thou shalt take fine flour and bake twelve wastels thereof, two tenth deals shall every wastel be.
6 And make two rows of them, six on a row upon the pure table 7 before the LORD, and put pure frankincense upon the rows.
And it shall be bread of remembrance, and an offering to the 8 LORD. Every Sabbath he shall put them in rows before the LORD evermore, given of the children of Israel, that it be an 9 everlasting covenant. And they shall be Aaron's and his sons, and they shall eat them in the holy place. For they are most holy unto him of the offerings of the LORD, and shall be a duty 10 for ever. And the son of an Israelitish wife whose father was an Egyptian, went out among the children of Israel. And this son of the Israelitish wife and a man of Israel, strove together 11 in the host. And the Israelitish woman's son blasphemed the name and cursed, and they brought him unto Moses. And his mother's name was Selamith, the daughter of Dibri of the tribe 12 of Dan: and they put him in ward, that Moses should declare 13 unto them what the LORD said thereto. And the LORD spake 14 unto Moses saying, bring him that cursed* without the host, and let all that heard him, put their hands upon his head, and 15 let all the multitude stone him. And speak unto the children of Israel saying: Whosoever curseth his God, shall bear his 16 sin: And he that blasphemeth the name of the LORD, shall die for it: all the multitude shall stone him to death. And the stranger as well as the Israelite if he curse the name, shall die 17, 18 for it. He that killeth any man, shall die for it, but he that 19 killeth a beast shall pay for it, beast for beast. If a man maim his neighbour, as he hath done, so shall it be done to him again: 20 broke for broke, eye for eye and tooth for tooth: even as he hath 21 maimed a man, so shall he be maimed again. So now he that killeth a beast, shall pay for it: but he that killeth a man, shall 22 die for it. Ye shall have one manner of law among you: even for the stranger as well as for one of your selves, for I am the 23 LORD your God. And Moses told the children of Israel, that they should bring him that had cursed, out of the host, and stone him with stones. And the children of Israel did as the LORD commanded Moses.

XXV And the LORD spake unto Moses in mount Sinai saying, v.14 Other: blasphemed.

2 speak unto the children of Israel and say unto them: When ye be come in to the land which I give you, let the land rest a Sabbath unto the LORD. Six years thou shalt sow thy field, 3 and six year thou shalt cut thy vines and gather in thy fruits. But the seventh year shall be a Sabbath of rest unto the land. 4 The LORD's Sabbath it shall be, and thou shalt neither sow thy field, nor cut thy vines. The corn that groweth by itself thou 5 shalt not reap, neither gather the grapes that grow without thy dressing: but it shall be a Sabbath of rest unto the land. Nev- 6 ertheless the Sabbath of the land shall be meat for you: even for thee and thy servant and for thy maid and for thy hired servant and for the stranger that dwelleth with thee: and for 7 thy cattle and for the beasts that are in thy land, shall all the increase thereof be meat. Then number seven weeks of years, 8 that is, seven times seven year: and the space of the seven weeks of years will be unto thee forty nine year. And then 9 thou shalt make an horn blow: even in the tenth day of the seventh month, which is the day of atonement. And then shall ye make the horn blow, even thorowout all your land. And ye 10 shall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty thorowout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof. It shall be a year of horns blowing unto you and ye shall return: every man unto his possession and every man unto his kindred again. A year 11 of horns blowing shall that fiftieth year be unto you. Ye shall not sow neither reap the corn that groweth by itself, nor gather the grapes that grow without thy labour. For it is a year of 12 horns blowing and shall be holy unto you: how be it, yet ye shall eat of the increase of the field. And in this year of horns 13 blowing ye shall return, every man unto his possession again. When thou sellest ought unto thy neighbour or buyest of thy 14 neighbour's hand, ye shall not oppress one another: but according to the number of years after the trompet year, thou shalt buy of thy neighbour, and according unto the number of 15 fruit year, he shall sell unto thee. According unto the multitude of years, thou shalt increase the price thereof and according to the fewness of years, thou shalt minish the price: for the 16 number of fruit he shall sell unto thee. And see that no man oppress his neighbour, but fear thy God. For I am the LORD 17 your God. Wherefore do after mine ordinances and keep my laws and do them, that ye may dwell in the land in safety. 18

19 And the land shall give her fruit, and ye shall eat your fill and 20 dwell therein in safety. If ye shall say, what shall we eat the seventh year inasmuch as we shall not sow nor gather in our 21 increase?. I will send my blessing upon you in the sixth year, 22 and it shall bring forth fruit for three years: and ye shall sow the eighth year and eat of old fruit until the ninth year, and 23 even until her fruits come, ye shall eat of old store. Wherefore the land shall not be sold for ever, because that the land 24 is mine, and ye but strangers and sojourners with me: and ye shall thorowout all the land of your possession, let the land go 25 home free again. When thy brother is waxed poor and hath sold away of his possession: if any of his kin come to redeem 26 it, he shall buy out that which his brother sold. And though he have no man to redeem it for him, yet if his hand can get 27 sufficient to buy it out again, then let him count how long it hath been sold, and deliver the rest unto him to whom he sold 28 it, and so he shall return unto his possession again. But and if his hand can not get sufficient to restore it to him again, then that which is sold shall remain in the hand of him that hath bought it, until the horn year:* and in the horn year* it shall 29 come out, and he shall return unto his possession again. If a man sell a dwelling house in a walled city, he may buy it out again any time within a whole year after it is sold: and that 30 shall be the space in which he may redeem it again. But and if it be not bought out again within the space of a full year, then the house in the walled city shall be stablished for ever unto him that bought it and to his successors after him and shall not 31 go out in the trompet year.* But the houses in villages which have no walls round about them, shall be counted like unto the fields of the country, and may be bought out again at any 32 season, and shall go out free in the trompet year.* Notwithstanding the cities of the Levites and the houses in the cities of 33 their possessions the Levites may redeem at all seasons. And if a man purchase ought of the Levites: whether it be house or city that they possess, the bargain shall go out in the trompet year* for the houses of the cities of the Levites, are their pos-34 sessions among the children of Israel. But the fields that lie round about their cities, shall not be bought: for they are their possessions for ever. If thy brother be waxed poor and fallen 35 in decay with thee, receive him as a stranger or a sojourner, and let him live by thee. And thou shalt take none usury of 36 him, nor yet vantage. But shalt fear thy God, that thy brother may live with thee. Thou shalt not lend him thy money upon 37 usury, nor lend him of thy food to have advantage by it for 38 I am the LORD your God which brought you out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Canaan and to be your God.

If thy brother that dwelleth by thee wax poor and sell him- 39 self unto thee, thou shalt not let him labour as a bondservant doeth: but as an hired servant and as a sojourner he shall be 40 with thee, and shall serve thee unto the trompet year,* and 41 then shall he depart from thee: both he and his children with him, and shall return unto his own kindred again and unto 42 the possessions of his fathers; for they are my servants which I brought out of the land of Egypt, and shall not be sold as bondmen. See therefore that thou reign not over him cruelly, 43 but fear thy God. If thou wilt have bondservants and maid- 44 ens, thou shalt buy them of the heathen that are round about you, and of the children of the strangers that are sojourners 45 among you, and of their generations that are with you, which they begat in your land. And ye shall possess them and give 46 them unto your children after you, to possess them for ever: and they shall be your bond men. But over your brethren the children of Israel, ye shall not reign one over another cruelly.
When a stranger and a sojourner waxeth rich by thee, and thy 47 brother that dwelleth by him waxeth poor and sell himself unto the stranger that dwelleth by thee or to any of the stranger's kin: after that he is sold he may be redeemed again: one of 48 his brethren may buy him out: whether it be his uncle or his uncle's son, or any that is nye of kin unto him of his kindred: either if his hand can get so much he may be loosed. And he 50 shall reckon with him that bought him, from the year that he was sold in unto the trompet year, and the price of his buying shall be according unto the number of years, and he shall be with him as a hired servant. If there be yet many years 51 behind, according unto them he shall give again for his deliverance, of the money that he was sold for. If there remain but 52 few years unto the trompet year, he shall so count with him, v.40 Other: of jubilee.

and according unto his years give him again for his redemption, and shall be with him year by year as an hired servant, and the other shall not reign cruelly over him in thy sight. If he be not bought free in the meantime, then he shall go out in the trompet year and his children with him; for the children of Israel are my servants which I brought out of the land of Egypt. I am the LORD your God.

XXVI

Ye shall make you no idols, nor graven image, neither rear you up any pillar, neither ye shall set up any image of stone in your land to bow your selves thereto: for I am the LORD your God; keep my Sabbaths and fear my sanctuary. For I am the LORD. If ye shall walk in mine ordinances and keep my commandments and do them, then I will send you rain in the right season and your land shall yield her increase and the trees of the field shall give their fruit. And the threshing shall reach unto wine harvest, and the wine harvest shall reach unto sowing time, and ye shall eat your bread in plenteousness, and shall dwell in your land peaceably. And I will send peace in your land, that ye shall sleep, and no man shall make you afraid. And I will rid evil beasts out of your land, and there shall no sword go thorowout your land. And ye shall chase your enemies, and they shall fall before you upon the sword. And five of you shall chase an hundred, and an hundred of you shall put ten thousand to flight, and your enemies shall fall before you upon the sword. And I will turn unto you and increase you and multiply you, and set up my testament with you. And ye shall eat old store, and cast out the old for plenteousness of the new. I will make my dwelling place among you, and my soul shall not loathe you. And I will walk among you and will be your God, and ye shall be my people. For I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of the land of the Egyptians, that ye should not be their bondmen, and I brake the bows of your yokes, and made you go up right. But and if ye will not hearken unto me, nor will do all these my commandments, or if ye shall despise mine ordinances either if your souls refuse my laws, so that ye will not do all my commandments, but shall break mine appointment: then I will do this again unto you: I will visit you with vexations, swelling and fevers, that shall make your eyes dazzle, and with sorrows of heart. And ye shall sow your seed in vain, for your enemies shall eat it. And I will set my face against you and ye shall 17 fall before your enemies, and they that hate you shall reign over you, and ye shall flee when no man followeth you. And 18 if ye will not yet for all this hearken unto me, then will I punish you seven times more for your sins, and will break the 19 pride of your strength. For I will make the heaven over you as hard as iron, and your land as hard as brass. And so your 20 labour shall be spent in vain. For your land shall not give her increase, neither the trees of the land shall give their fruits.

And if ye walk contrary unto me and will not hearken unto 21 me, I will bring seven times more plagues upon you according to your sins. I will send in wild beasts upon you, which shall 22 rob you of your children and destroy your cattle, and make you so few in number that your high ways shall grow unto a wilderness. And if ye will not be learned yet for all this but 23 shall walk contrary unto me, then will I also walk contrary 24 unto you and will punish you yet seven times for your sins. I 25 will send a sword upon you, that shall avenge my testament with you. And when ye are fled unto your cities, I will send the pestilence among you, ye shall be delivered into the hands of your enemies. And when I have broken the staff of your 26 bread: that ten wives shall bake your bread in one oven and men shall deliver you your bread again by weight, then shall ye eat and shall not be satisfied. And if ye will not yet for all 27 this hearken unto me, but shall walk contrary unto me, then 28 I will walk contrary unto you also wrathfully, and will also chastise you seven times for your sins: so that ye shall eat 29 the flesh of your sons and the flesh of your daughters. And 30 I will destroy your altars built upon high hills, and overthrow your images, and cast your carcasses upon the bodies of your idols, and my soul shall abhor you. And I will make your 31 cities desolate, and bring your sanctuaries unto nought, and will not smell the savours of your sweet odours. And I will 32 bring the land unto a wilderness: so that your enemies which dwell therein shall wonder at it. And I will straw you among 33 the heathen, and will draw out a sword after you, and your land shall be waste, and your cities desolate. Then the land 34 shall rejoice in her Sabbaths, as long as it lieth void and ye in your enemies' land: even then shall the land keep holy day and rejoice in her Sabbaths. And as long as it lieth void it shall 35 rest, for that it could not rest in your Sabbaths, when ye dwelt 36 therein. And upon them that are left alive of you, I will send a faintness into their hearts in the land of their enemies: so that the sound of a leaf that falleth, shall chase them and they shall flee as though they fled a sword, and shall fall no man following 37 them. And they shall fall one upon another, as it were before a sword even no man following them, and ye shall have no power 38 to stand before your enemies: And ye shall perish among the 39 heathen, and the land of your enemies shall eat you up. And they that are left of you, shall pine away in their unrighteousness, even in their enemies' land, and also in the misdeeds of 40 their fathers shall they consume. And they shall confess their misdeeds and the misdeeds of their fathers in their trespasses which they have trespassed against me, and for that also that 41 they have walked contrary unto me. Therefore I also will walk contrary unto them, and will bring them into the land of their enemies. And then at the least way their uncircumcised hearts shall be tamed, and then they shall make an atonement for 42 their misdeeds. And I will remember my bond with Jacob and my testament with Isaac, and my testament with Abraham, 43 and will think on the land. For the land shall be left of them and shall have pleasure in her Sabbaths, while she lieth waste without them, and they shall make an atonement for their misdeeds, because they despised my laws and their souls refused 44 mine ordinances. And yet for all that when they be in the land of their enemies, I will not so cast them away nor my soul shall not so abhor them, that I will utterly destroy them and break mine appointment with them: for I am the LORD their God.

45 I will therefore remember unto them the first covenant made when I brought them out of the land of Egypt in the sight of 46 the heathen to be their God: for I am the LORD. These are the ordinances, judgements, and laws which the LORD made between him and the children of Israel in mount Sinai by the hand of Moses.

XXVII, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say unto them: If any man will give a singular vow unto the LORD according to the value of his soul, 3 then shall the male from twenty year unto forty be set at fifty 4 sicles of silver, after the sicle of the sanctuary, and the female 5 at thirty sicles. And from five years to twenty the male shall be set at twenty sicles, and the female at ten sicles. And from 6 a month unto five year, the male shall be set at five sicles of silver, and the female at three. And the man that is forty 7 and above, shall be valued at fifteen sicles, and the woman at ten. If he be too poor so to be set, then let him come before 8 the priest: and let the priest value him, according as the hand of him that vowed is able to get. If it be of the beasts of which 9 men bring an offering unto the LORD: all that any man giveth of such unto the LORD, shall be holy. He may not alter it nor 10 change it: a good for a bad or a bad for good. If he change beast for beast, then both the same beast and it also wherewith it was changed shall be holy. If it be any manner of unclean 11 beast of which men may not offer unto the LORD, let him bring the beast before the priest and let the priest value it. And 12 whether it be good or bad as the priest setteth it, so shall it be.

And if he will buy it again, let him give the fifth part more to 13 that it was set at. If any man dedicate his house, it shall be 14 holy unto the LORD. And the priest shall set it; whether it be good or bad, and as the priest hath set it, so it shall be. If he 15 that sanctified it will redeem his house, let him give the fifth part of the money that it was judged at thereto, and it shall 16 be his. If a man hallow a piece of his inherited land unto the LORD, it shall be set according to that it beareth. If it bear an 17 homer of barley, it shall be set at fifty sicles of silver. If he hallow his field immediately from the trumpet year, it shall be 18 worth according as it is esteemed. But and if he hallow his field after the trumpet year, the priest shall reckon the price 19 with him according to the years that remain unto the trumpet year, and thereafter it shall be lower set. If he that sanctified 20 the field will redeem it again, let him put the fifth part of the price that it was set at, thereunto, and it shall be his: if he will 21 not it shall be redeemed no more. But when the field goeth out in the trumpet year, it shall be holy unto the LORD: even 22 as a thing dedicated, and it shall be the priest's possession. If a man sanctify unto the LORD a field, which he hath bought and is not of his inheritance, then the priest shall reckon with 23 him what it is worth unto the trumpet year,* and he shall give the price that it is set at the same day, and it shall be holy unto the LORD. But in the trumpet year, the field shall return 24

27. v.23 Other: year of jubilee.

unto him of whom he bought it, whose inheritance of land it 25 was. And all setting shall be according to the holy sicle. One 26 sicle maketh twenty geras. But the firstborn of the beasts that pertain unto the LORD, may no man sanctify: whether 27 it be ox or sheep, for they are the LORD's already. If it be an unclean beast, then let him redeem it as it is set at, and give the fifth part more thereto. If it be not redeemed, then 28 let it be sold as it is rated. Notwithstanding no dedicated thing that a man dedicateth unto the LORD, of all his goods, whether it be man or beast or land of his inheritance, shall be sold or redeemed: for all dedicate things are most holy unto the 29 LORD. No dedicated thing therefore that is dedicate of man, 30 may be redeemed, but must needs die. All these tithes of the land, whether it be of the corn of the field or fruit of the trees, 31 shall be holy unto the LORD. If any man will redeem ought 32 of his tithes, let him add the fifth part more thereto. And the tithes of oxen and sheep and of all that goeth under the 33 herdman's keeping, shall be holy tithes unto the LORD. Men shall not look if it be good or bad nor shall change it. If any man change it then both it and that it was changed withall, shall be 34 holy and may not be redeemed. These are the commandments which the LORD gave Moses in charge to give unto the children of Israel in mount Sinai.

The end of the third booke of Moses.

The Fourth Book Of Moses, Called Numbers.

And the LORD spake unto Moses in the wilderness of I Sinai, in the tabernacle of witness, the first day of the second month, and in the second year after they were come out of the land of Egypt saying: take ye 2 the sum of all the multitude of the children of Israel, in their kindreds and households of their fathers and number them by name all that are males, poll by poll, from twenty year and 3 above: even all that are able to go forth in to war in Israel, thou and Aaron shall number them in their armies, and with 4 you shall be of every tribe a head man in the house of his father. And these are the names of the men that shall stand 5 with you: in Ruben, Elizur the son of Sedeur: In Simeon, Selumiel: the son of Zuri Sadai: In the tribe of Juda, Nahesson 6 the son of Aminadab: In Isachar, Nathaneel the son of Zuar: 7 In Zabulon, Eliab the son of Helon. Among the children of 8 Joseph: In Ephraim, Elisama the son of Amihud: In Manasse, 9, 10 Gamaliel the son of Pedazur: In BenJamin, Abidan the son of Gedeoni: In Dan, Ahiezer the son of Ammi Sadai: In Aser, 11 Pagiel the son of Ochran: In Gad, Elisaph the son of Deguel: 12, 13 In Naphtali, Ahira the son of Enan. These were councillors 14 of the congregation and lords in the tribes of their fathers and 15, 16 captains over thousands in Israel. And Moses and Aaron took 17 these men above named and gathered all the congregation together, the first day of the second month, and reckoned them 18 after their birth and kindreds and houses of their fathers by name from twenty year and above head by head, as the LORD 19 commanded Moses, even so he numbered them in the wilderness of Sinai. And the children of Ruben Israel's eldest son in 20 their generations, kindreds and houses of their fathers, when they were numbered every man by name, all that were males from twenty year and above, as many as were able to go forth in war: were numbered in the tribe of Ruben, forty six thou- 21 sand and five hundred. Among the children of Simeon: their 22 generation in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (when every man's name was told) of all the males from twenty years 23 and above, whatsoever was meet for the war: were numbered in the tribe of Simeon forty nine thousand and three hundred.

24 Among the children of Gad: their generation in their kindreds and households of their fathers, when they were told by name, from twenty year and above, all that were mete for the war:

25 were numbered in the tribe of Gad forty five thousand, six hun-26 dred and fifty. Among the children of Juda: their generation in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (by the number of names) from twenty year and above, all that were able to 27 war, were told in the tribe of Juda seventy four thousand and 28 six hundred. Among the children of Isachar: their generation, in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (when their names were counted) from twenty year and above, whatsoever

29 was apt for war, were numbered in the tribe of Isachar fifty 30 four thousand and four hundred. Among the children of Zabulon: their generation, in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (after the number of names) from twenty year and above, 31 whosoever was mete for the war: were counted in the tribe 32 of Zabulon fifty seven thousand and four hundred. Among the children of Joseph: first among the children of Ephraim: their generation, in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (when the names of all that were apt to the war were told) from 33 twenty years and above: were in number in the tribe of Eph-34 raim, forty thousand, and six hundred. Among the children of Manasse: their generation, in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (when the names of all that were apt to war were 35 told) from twenty and above were numbered in the tribe of 36 Manasse thirty two thousand and two hundred. Among the children of BenJamin: their generation, in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (by the tale of names) from twenty year 37 and above of all that were mete for war, were numbered in the tribe of BenJamin thirty five thousand and four hundred.

38 Among the children of Dan: their generation in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (in the sum of names) of all that 39 was apt to war from twenty year and above, were numbered in the tribe of Dan fifty seven thousand and seven hundred.

40 Among the children of Asser: their generation, in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (when they were summed by name) from twenty years and above, all that were apt to war 41 were numbered in the tribe of Asser forty one thousand and five hundred. Among the children of Naphtali: their genera- 42 tion in their kindreds and houses of their fathers (when their names were told) from twenty years and above, whatsoever was mete to war: were numbered in the tribe of Naphtali fifty 43 three thousand and four hundred. These are the numbers 44 which Moses and Aaron numbered with the twelve princes of Israel: of every house of their fathers a man. And all the num- 45 bers of the children of Israel, in the houses of their fathers, from twenty year and above, whatsoever was mete for the war in Israel, drew unto the sum of six hundred and three thou- 46 sand, five hundred and fifty. But the Levites in the tribe of 47 their fathers were not numbered among them. And the LORD 48 spake unto Moses saying: only see that thou number not the 49 tribe of Levi, neither take the sum of them among the children of Israel. But thou shalt appoint the Levites unto the habita- 50 tion of witness, and to all the apparel thereof and unto all that longeth thereto. For they shall bear the tabernacle and all the ordinance thereof, and they shall minister it and shall pitch their tents round about it. And when the tabernacle goeth 51 forth the Levites shall take it down: and when the tabernacle is pitched, they shall set it up: for if any stranger come near, he shall die. And the children of Israel shall pitch their tents, 52 every man in his own company and every man by his own standard thorowout all their hosts. But the Levites shall pitch 53 round about the habitation of witness, that there fall no wrath upon the congregation of the children of Israel, and the Levites shall wait upon the habitation of witness. And the children of 54 Israel did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses.

And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron saying: II, 2
 The children of Israel shall pitch: every man by his own standard with the arms of their father's houses, a way from the presence of the tabernacle of witness. On the eastside toward the rising 3 of the son, shall they of the standard of the host of Juda pitch with their arms: And Nahesson the son of Aminadab shall be captain over the sons of Juda. And his host and the number of 4 them seventy four thousand and six hundred. And next unto 5 him shall the tribe of Isachar pitch and Nathaneel the son of Zuar captain over the children of Isachar: his host and the 6 number of them fifty four thousand and four hundred. And 7 then the tribe of Zabulon: with Eliab the son of Helon, captain 8 over the children of Zabulon, and his host in the number of 9 them: fifty seven thousand and four hundred. So that all they that pertain unto the host of Juda, are an hundred thousand eighty six thousand and four hundred in their companies: and 10 these shall go in the forefront, when they journey. And on the south side, the standard of the host of Ruben shall lie with their companies and the captain over the sons of Ruben, Elizur 11 the son of Sedeur, and his host and the number of them forty 12 six thousand, and five hundred. And fast by him shall the tribe of Simeon pitch, and the captain over the sons of Simeon.

13 Salumiel the son of Zuri Sadai, and his host and the number 14 of them forty nine thousand and three hundred. And the tribe of Gad also: And the captain over the sons of Gad, Eliasaph 15 the son of Deguel and his host and the number of them forty 16 five thousand six hundred and fifty. So that all the number that pertain unto the host of Ruben, are an hundred thousand, fifty one thousand, four hundred and fifty, with their compa-17 nies, and they shall be the second in the journey. And the tabernacle of witness with the host of the Levites, shall go in the midst of the hosts: as they lie in their tents, even so shall they proceed in the journey, every man in his quarter about 18 their standards. On the west side, the standard and the host of Ephraim shall lie with their companies. And the captain 19 over the sons of Ephraim, Elisama the son of Amihud: and his host and the number of them forty thousand and five hun-20 dred. And fast by him, the tribe of Manasse, and the captain 21 over the sons of Manasse, Gamaliel the son of Peda Zur and his host and the number of them thirty two thousand and two 22 hundred. And the tribe of BenJamin also: and the captain 23 over the sons of BenJamin, Abidan the son of Gedeoni, and his host and the number of them thirty five thousand and four 24 hundred. All the number that pertained unto the host of Eph-raim, were an hundred thousand eight thousand and an hundred in their hosts: and they shall be the third in the journey.
25 And the standard and the host of Dan shall lie on the north side with their companies: and the captain over the children 26 of Dan, Ahiezer the son of Ammi Sadai: and his host and the 27 number of them sixty two thousand and seven hundred. And fast by him shall the tribe of Asser pitch: and the captain over 28 the sons of Asser, Pagiell the son of Ochran: and his host and the number of them forty one thousand and five hundred. And 29 the tribe of Naphtali also, and the captain over the children of Naphtali: Ahira the son of Enan: and his host and the num- 30 ber of them fifty three thousand and four hundred. So that the 31 whole number of all that pertained unto the host of Dan, was an hundred thousand fifty seven thousand and six hundred.

 And they shall be the last in the journey with their standards.
 These are the sums of the children of Israel in the houses of 32 their fathers: even all the numbers of the hosts with their companies six hundred thousand three thousand five hundred and fifty. And yet the Levites were not numbered among the chil- 33 dren of Israel, as the LORD commanded Moses. And the chil- 34 dren of Israel did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses, and so they pitched with their standards, and so they journeyed: every man in his kindred, and in the household of his father.

These are the generations of Aaron and Moses, when the III LORD spake unto Moses in Mount Sinai, and these are the 2 names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab the eldest son, and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. These are the names of the sons of 3 Aaron which were priests anointed and their hands filled to minister, but Nadab and Abihu died before the LORD, as they 4 brought strange fire before the LORD in the wilderness of Sinai, and had no children. And Eleazar and Ithamar ministered in the sight of Aaron their father. And the LORD spake unto 5 Moses saying: bring the tribe of Levi, and set them before 6 Aaron the priest, and let them serve him and wait upon him, and upon all the multitude, before the tabernacle of witness, 7 to do the service of the habitation. And they shall wait upon 8 all the apparel of the tabernacle of witness, and upon the children of Israel, to do the service of the habitation. And thou 9 shalt give the Levites unto Aaron and his sons, for they are given unto him of the children of Israel. And thou shalt ap- 10 point Aaron and his sons to wait on their priests' office: and the stranger that cometh nye, shall die for it. And the LORD 11 spake unto Moses saying: behold, I have taken the Levites 12 from among the children of Israel, for all the firstborn that openeth the matrice among the children of Israel, so that the Levites shall be mine: because all the first born are mine: 13 for the same day that I smote all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, I hallowed unto me all the firstborn in Israel, both man 14 and beast, and mine they shall be: for I am the LORD. And the LORD spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai say-15 ing: Number the children of Levi in the houses of their fathers and kindreds, all that are males from a month old and 16 above. And Moses numbered them at the word of the LORD, 17 as he was commanded. And these are the names of the chil-18 dren of Levi: Gerson, Cahath, and Merari. And these are the names of the children of Gerson in their kindreds: Libni and 19 Semei. And the sons of Cahath in their kindred were Am-20 ram, Jezehar, Hebron and Usiel. And the sons of Merari in their kindreds were Maheli and Musi. These are the kindreds 21 of Levi in the houses of their fathers. And of Gerson came the kindred of the Libnites and the Semeites, which are the 22 kindreds of the Gersonites. And the sum of them (when all the males were told) from a month old and above, were seven 23 thousand and five hundred. And the kindreds of the Gerson-24 ites pitched behind the habitation westward. And the captain of the most ancient house among the Gersonites, was Elias-25 aph the son of Lael. And the office of the children of Gerson in the tabernacle of witness was the habitation and the tent with the covering thereof and the hanging of the door of the 26 tabernacle of witness, and the hangings of the court, and the curtain of the door of the court: which court went round about the dwelling, and the altar, and the cords that pertained unto 27 all the service thereof. And of Cahath came the kindred of the Amramites and the kindred of the Jezeharites and of the Hebronites and of the Usielites: And these are the kindreds of the 28 Cahathites. And the number of all the males from a month old and above, was eight thousand and six hundred: which waited 29 on the holy place. And the kindred of the children of Cahath, 30 pitched on the south side of the dwelling. And the captain in the most ancient house of the kindreds of the Cahathites, was 31 Elizaphan the son of Usiel, and their office was: to keep the ark, the table, the candlestick, and the altar, and the holy vessels to minister with and the vail with all that served thereto.

32 And Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, was captain over all the captains of the Levites, and had the oversight of them that 33 waited upon the holy things. And of Merari came the kindreds of the Mahelites and of the Musites: and these are the kindreds of the Merarites. And the number of them (when all the males 34 from a month old and above was told) drew unto six thousand and two hundred. And the captain of the most ancient house 35 among the kindreds of the Merarites, was Zuriel the son of Abihail which pitched on the north side of the dwelling. And the 36 office of the sons of Merari was: the boards of the dwelling and the bars, pillars with the sockets thereof, and all the instruments there of and all that served thereto: and the pillars of 37 the court round about and their sockets, with their pins and cords. But on the forefront of the habitation and before the 38 tabernacle of witness eastward, shall Moses and Aaron and his sons pitch and wait on the sanctuary in the stead of the children of Israel. And the stranger that cometh nye, shall die for it. And the whole sum of the Levites which Moses and Aaron 39 numbered, at the commandment of the LORD thorowout their kindreds even, of all the males of a month old and above, was twenty two thousand. And the LORD said unto Moses: Num- 40 ber all the first born that are males among the children of Israel, from a month old and above, and take the number of their names. And thou shalt appoint the Levites to me the LORD, 41 for all the firstborn among the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites for the firstborn of the children of Israel. And 42 Moses numbered as the LORD commanded him, all the first-born of the children of Israel. And all the firstborn males, in 43 the sum of names, from a month old and above, were numbered twenty two thousand two hundred and seventy three. And the 44 LORD spake unto Moses saying: take the Levites for all the 45 firstborn of the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites for their cattle: and the Levites shall be mine which am the 46 LORD. And for the redeeming of the two hundred and seventy three which are more than the Levites in the firstborn of the children of Israel, take five sicles of every piece, after the 47 sicles of the holy place, twenty geras the sicles. And give the 48 money wherewith the odd number of them is redeemed, unto Aaron and his sons. And Moses took the redemption money 49 of the overplus that were more than the Levites, among the 50 firstborn of the children of Israel: and it came to a thousand three hundred and sixty five sicles, of the holy sicle. And he 51 gave that redemption money unto Aaron and his sons at the word of the LORD, even as the LORD commanded Moses.

IV, ² And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron, and bade them take the sum of the children of Cahath from among the sons of Levi, in their kindreds and houses of their fathers from ³ thirty year and above until fifty, all that were able to war, for ⁴ to do the work in the tabernacle of witness: even in the most ⁵ holy place.* And when the host removeth, Aaron and his sons shall come and take down the vail, and cover the ark of witness ⁶ therewith, and shall put thereon a covering of taxus' skins, and shall spread a cloth that is altogether of jacinth above all, ⁷ and put the staves thereof in. And upon the shew table, they shall spread a cloth of jacinth, and put thereon, the dishes, spoons, flat pieces and pots to pour with, and the daily bread ⁸ shall be thereon: and they shall spread upon them a covering of purple, and cover the same with a covering of taxus' skins, ⁹ and put the staves thereof in. And they shall take a cloth of jacinth and cover the candlestick of light and her lamps and her snuffers, and firepans, and all her oil vessels which they ¹⁰ occupy about it, and shall put upon her and on all her instruments, a covering of taxus' skins, and put it upon staves. ¹¹ And upon the golden altar they shall spread a cloth of Jacinth, ¹² and put on her staves. And they shall take all the things which they occupy to minister with in the holy place, and put a cloth of Jacinth upon them and cover them with a covering of ¹³ taxus' skins and put them on staves. And they shall take away the ashes out of the altar, and spread a scarlet cloth thereon: ¹⁴ and put about it, the firepans, the fleshhooks, the shovels, the basins, and all that belongeth unto the altar, and they shall spread upon it a covering of taxus' skins, and put on the staves ¹⁵ of it. And when Aaron and his sons have made an end of covering the sanctuary and all things of the sanctuary, against that the host remove, then the sons of Cahath shall come in for to bear, and so let them not twich the sanctuary lest they die. And this is the charge of the sons of Cahath in the tabernacle of witness. And Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, shall ¹⁶ have the charge to prepare oil for the lights and sweet cense, and the daily meatoffering and the anointing oil, and the oversight of all the dwelling and of all that therein is, both over the ¹⁷ sanctuary and over all that pertaineth thereto. And the LORD ¹⁸ spake unto Moses and Aaron saying: destroy not the tribe of the kindreds of the Cahathites, from among the Levites. But 19 thus do unto them that they may live and not die, when they go unto the most holy place. Aaron and his sons shall go in and put them, every man unto his service and unto his burthen.

 But let them not go in to see when they cover the sanctuary, 20 lest they die. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: Take 21, 22 the sum of the children of Gerson, in the houses of their fathers and in their kindreds: from thirty year and above, until fifty, 23 all that are able to go forth in war, for to do service in the tabernacle of witness. And this is the service of the kindred of the 24 Gersonites, to serve and to bear. They shall bear the curtains 25 of the dwelling and the roof of the tabernacle of witness and his covering and the covering of taxus' skins that is on high* above upon it, and the hanging of the door of the tabernacle of witness: and the hanging of the court and the hanging of 26 the gate of the court that is round about the dwelling and the altar, and the cords of them, and all the instruments that serve unto them and all that is made for them. And at the mouth 27 of Aaron and his sons, shall all the service of the children of the Gersonites be done, in all their charges and in all their service, and ye shall appoint them unto all their charges that they shall wait upon. And this is the service of the kindred of 28 the children of the Gersonites in the tabernacle of witness, and their wait shall be in the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest. And thou shalt number the sons of Merari in their kin- 29 dreds and in the houses of their fathers, from thirty years and 30 above unto fifty. All that is able to go forth in war, to do the service of the tabernacle of witness. And this is the charge that 31 they must wait upon in all that they must serve in the tabernacle of witness: The boards of the dwelling, and the bars, pillars, and sockets thereof, and the pillars of the court round about, 32 and their sockets, pins and cords with all that pertaineth and serveth unto them. And by name ye shall reckon the things that they must wait upon to bear. This is the service of the 33 kindreds of the sons of Merari in all their service in the tabernacle of witness by the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the 34 priest. And Moses and Aaron and the princes of the multitude numbered the sons of the Cahathites in their kindreds 35 and houses of their fathers, from thirty year and above unto fifty, and that were able to go forth in the host and to do service in the tabernacle of witness. And the number of them in their kindreds were two thousand, seven hundred and fifty. These are the numbers of the kindreds of the Cahathites, of all that did service in the tabernacle of witness, which Moses and Aaron did number at the commandment of the LORD of by the hand of Moses. And the sons of Gerson were numbered in their kindreds and in the houses of their fathers, from thirty year up unto fifty, all that were able to go forth in the host for to do service in the tabernacle of witness. And the number of them in their kindreds, and in the houses of their fathers, was two thousand, six hundred and thirty. This is the number of the kindreds of the sons of Gerson, of all that did service in the tabernacle of witness, which Moses and Aaron did number at the commandment of the LORD. And the kindreds of the sons of Merari were numbered in their kindreds and in the houses of their fathers, from thirty year up unto fifty. All that were able to go forth with the host, to do service in the tabernacle of witness. And the number of them was in their kindreds, three thousand and two hundred. This is the number of the kindreds of the sons of Merari, which Moses and Aaron numbered at the bidding of the LORD, by the hand of Moses. The whole sum which Moses, Aaron and the lords of Israel numbered among the Levites in their kindreds and households of their fathers, from thirty year up unto fifty every man to do his office and service and to bear his burthen in the tabernacle of witness: was eight thousand, five hundred and eighty which they numbered at the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moses every man unto his service and burthen: as the LORD commanded Moses.

V, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: command the children of Israel that they put out of the host, all the lepers and all that have issues and all that are defiled upon the dead, whether they be males or females ye shall put them out of the host, that they defile not the tents among which I^{*} dwell. 3 And the children of Israel did so, and put them out of the host: even as the LORD commanded Moses, so did the children of Israel. 4 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel: whether it be man or woman, when they have sinned any manner of sin which a man doeth wherewith a man trespasseth against the LORD, so that the soul hath done amiss: then they shall knowledge their sins which they 7 have done, and restore again the hurt that they have done in the whole, and put the fifth part of it more thereto, and give it unto him whom he hath trespassed against. But and if he that maketh the amends have no man to do it to, then the amends that is made shall be the LORD's and the priest's, beside the ram of the atonement offering wherewith he maketh an atonement for himself. And all heave offerings of all the hallowed things which the children of Israel bring unto the priest, shall be the priest's, and every man's hallowed things shall be his own, but whatsoever any man giveth the priest, it shall be the priest's. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: Speak unto 11, 12 the children of Israel, and say unto them: If any man's wife go aside and trespass against him, so that another man lie with her fleshly and the thing be hid from the eyes of her husband and is not come to light that she is defiled (for there is no witness against her) in as much as she was not taken with the manner, and the spirit of jealousy cometh upon him and he is jealous over his wife and she defiled, or happily the spirit of jealousy cometh upon him, and he is jealous over his wife and she yet undefiled. Then let her husband bring her unto 15 the priest and bring an offering for her: the tenth part of an Epha of barley meal, but shall pour none oil thereunto, nor put frankincense thereon: for it is an offering of jealousy, and an offering that maketh remembrance of sin. And let the priest 16 bring her and set her before the LORD, and let him take holy water in an earthen vessel and of the dust that is in the floor of the habitation, and put it into the water. And the priest shall 18 set the wife before the LORD and uncover her head, and put the memorial of the offering in her hands which is the jealousy offering, and the priest shall have bitter and cursing water in his hand, and he shall conjure her and shall say unto her: If no 19 man have lien with thee neither hast gone aside, and defiled thyself behind thy husband, then have thou no harm of this bitter cursing water. But and if thou hast gone aside behind 20 thine husband and art defiled and some other man hath lien with thee beside thine husband (and let the priest conjure her with the conjuration of the curse and say unto her) the LORD 21 make thee a curse and a conjuration among thy people: so that 22 the LORD make thy thigh rot, and thy belly swell and this bitter cursing water go into the bowels of thee, that thy belly swell 23 and thy thigh rot, and the wife shall say: Amen Amen. And the priest shall write this curse in a bill and wash it out in the 24 bitter water. And when the cursing water is in her that it is 25 bitter, then let the priest take the jealousy offering out of the wife's hand, and wave it before the LORD, and bring it unto the 26 altar: and he shall take an handful of the memorial offering and burn it upon the altar, and then make her drink the water 27 and when he hath made her drink the water. If she be defiled and have trespassed against her husband, then shall the cursing water go into her and be so bitter, that her belly shall swell and her thigh shall rot, and she shall be a curse among her 28 people. And if she be not defiled but is clean, then she shall 29 have no harm, but that she may conceive. This is the law of jealousy, when a wife goeth a side behind her husband and is 30 defiled, or when the spirit of jealousy cometh upon a man, so that he is jealous over his wife: then he shall bring her before the LORD, and the priest shall minister all this law unto her, 31 and the man shall be guiltless, and the wife shall bear her sin.

VI, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto children of Israel and say unto them: when either man or woman appointeth to vow a vow of abstinence for to abstain unto the 3 LORD, he shall abstain from wine and strong drink, and shall drink no vinegar of wine or of strong drink, nor drink whatsoever is pressed out of grapes: and shall eat no fresh grapes 4 neither yet dried, as long as his abstinence endureth. Moreover he shall eat nothing that is made of the vine tree, no not 5 so much as the kernels or the husk of the grape. And as long as the vow of his abstinence endureth, there shall no razor nor shears come upon his head, until his days be out which he fasteth unto the LORD, and he shall be holy and shall let the 6 locks of his hair grow. As long as he abstaineth unto the LORD 7 he shall come at no dead body: he shall not make himself unclean at the death of his father, mother, brother or sister: For 8 the abstinence of his God is upon his head. And therefore as long as his abstinence lasteth, he shall be holy unto the LORD.
9 And if it fortune that any man by chance die suddenly before him, and defile the head of his abstinence, then must he shave his head the day of his cleansing: even the seventh day he shall shave it. And the eighth day he shall bring two turtles or two 10 young pigeons to the priest, unto the door of the tabernacle of witness. And the priest shall offer the one for a sinoffering 11 and the other for a burnt offering and make an atonement for him, as concerning that he sinned upon the dead, and shall also hallow his head the same day and he shall abstain unto 12 the LORD the time of his abstinency, and shall bring a lamb of an year old for a trespass offering: but the days that were before are lost, because his abstinence was defiled. This is the 13 law of the abstainer, when the time of his abstinence is out; he shall be brought unto the door of the tabernacle of witness and he shall bring his offering unto the LORD: an he lamb of 14 a year old without blemish for a burnt offering and a she lamb of a year old without blemish for a sin offering, a ram without blemish also for a peace offering, and a basket of sweet 15 bread of fine flour mingled with oil and wafers of sweet bread anointed with oil with meat offerings and drink offerings that long thereto. And the priest shall bring him before the LORD 16 and offer his sin offering and his burnt offering, and shall of- 17 fer the ram for a peace offering unto the LORD with the basket of sweet bread, and the priest shall offer also his meat offering and his drink offering. And the abstainer shall shave his head 18 in the door of the tabernacle of witness and shall take the hair of his sober head and put it in the fire which is under the peace-offering. Then the priest shall take the sodden shoulder of the 19 ram and one sweet cake out of the basket and one sweet wafer also and put them in the hand of the abstainer after he hath shaven his abstinence off, and the priest shall wave them unto 20 the LORD, which offering shall be holy unto the priest with the wave breast and heave shoulder: and then the abstainer may drink wine. This is the law of the abstainer which hath vowed 21 his offering unto the LORD for his abstinence, besides that his hand can get. And according to the vow which he vowed, even so he must do in the law of his abstinence. And the LORD 22 talked with Moses saying: speak unto Aaron and his sons say- 23 ing: of this wise ye shall bless the children of Israel saying unto them. The LORD bless thee and keep thee. The LORD make 24, 25 his face shine upon thee and be merciful unto thee. The LORD 26 lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace. For ye 27 shall put my name upon the children of Israel, that I may bless them.

VII And when Moses had full set up the habitation and anointed it and sanctified it and all the apparel thereof, and had anointed 2 and sanctified the altar also and all the vessels thereof: then the princes of Israel, heads over the houses of their fathers which were the lords of the tribes that stood and numbered,
3 offered and brought their gifts before the LORD six covered chariots and twelve oxen: two and two a chariot and an ox every man, and they brought them before the habitation. And 4 the LORD spake unto Moses saying: take it of them and let them be to do the service of the tabernacle of witness, and give them unto the Levites, every man according unto his of-5 fice. And Moses took the chariots and the oxen, and gave them 6 unto the Levites: two chariots and four oxen he gave unto the 7 sons of Gerson according unto their office. And four chariots and eight oxen he gave unto the sons of Merari according unto their offices, under the hands of Ithamar the son of Aaron the 8 priest. But unto the sons of Cahath he gave none, for the office that pertained to them was holy, and therefore they must 9 bear upon shoulders. And the princes offered unto the dedicating of the altar in the day that it was anointed, and brought 10 their gifts before the altar. And the LORD said unto Moses: let the princes bring their offerings, every day one prince, unto 11 the dedicating of the altar. He that offered his offering the first day, was Nahesson the son of Aminadab of the tribe of 12 Juda. And his offering was: a silver charger, of an hundred and thirty sicles weight: and a silver bowl of seventy sicles of the holy sicle, both of them full of fine wheaten flour mingled with oil for a meatoffering: and a spoon of ten sicles of 13 gold full of cense: and an ox,* a ram and a lamb of a year 14 old for burntofferings, and an he goat for a sinoffering: and for peace offerings two oxen, five rams, five he goats and five lambs of a year old. And this was the gift of Nahesson the son 15 of Aminadab. The second day, did Nathaneel offer, the son of 16, 17 Zuar, captain over Isachar. And his offering which he brought was: a silver charger of an hundred and thirty sicles weight, 18 and a silver bowl of seventy sicles, of the holy sicle: both full of fine wheaten flour mingled with oil for a meat offering: and a of Zuri Sadai, chief lord among the children of Simeon, offered:

of Selumiel the son of Zuri Sadai. The sixth day, Eliasaph the 42 son of Deguel the chief lord among the children of Gad, offered: whose gift was: a silver charger of an hundred and thirty sicles 43 weight, and a silver bowl of seventy sicles of the holy sicle, and both full of fine flour mingled with oil for a meatoffering: and 44 a golden spoon of ten sicles full of cense. And an ox, a ram 45 and a lamb of a year old for burntofferings, and an he goat for 46 a sinoffering. And for peaceofferings two oxen five rams five 47 he goats and five lambs of one year old. And this was the offer-48 ing of Eliasaph the son of Deguel. The seventh day, Elisama the son of Amihud, the chief lord of the children of Ephraim, 49 offered. And his gift was: a silver charger of an hundred and thirty sicles weight, and a silver bowl of seventy sicles, of the 52 an ox, a ram and a lamb of a year old for burntofferings, and 53 an he goat for a sinoffering: and for peaceofferings two oxen 58, 59 ferings, and an he goat for a sinoffering: and for peaceofferings two oxen five rams five he goats and five lambs of one year of Pagiel the son of Ocran. The twelfth day, Ahira the son of 78 Enan, chief lord among the children of Naphtali offered. And 79 his gift was: a silver charger of an hundred and thirty sicles

 both full of fine flour mingled with oil for a meatoffering: and 80 a golden spoon of ten sicles full of cense: and an ox, a ram and 81 a lamb of a year old for burntofferings, and an he goat for a 82 sinoffering: and for peaceofferings two oxen five rams five he 83 goats and five lambs of one year old. And this was the offering of Ahira, the son of Enan. Of this manner was the dedication 84 of the altar, when it was anointed: unto the which was brought of the princes of Israel twelve chargers of silver twelve silver 85 bowls and twelve spoons of gold: every charger containing an hundred and thirty sicles of silver, and every bowl seventy so 86 that all the silver of all the vessels, was two thousand and dred and twenty sicles. All the oxen that were brought for 87 he goats for sinofferings. And all the oxen of the peaceoffer- 88 ings were twenty four the rams sixty the goats sixty and lambs of a year old apiece sixty and this was the dedication of the altar, after that it was anointed. And when Moses was gone into 89 the tabernacle of witness to speak with him, he heard the voice of one speaking unto him from of the mercy seat that was upon the ark of witness: even from between the two cherubins he spake unto him.

And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto Aaron VIII, 2 and say unto him: when thou putttest on the lamps see that they light all seven upon the forefront of the candlestick. And 3 Aaron did even so, and put the lamps upon the forefront of the candlestick, as the LORD commanded Moses, and the work of 4 the candlestick was of stiff gold: both the shaft and the flowers thereof. And according unto the vision which the LORD 5 had shewed Moses even so he made the candlestick. And 6 the LORD spake unto Moses saying: take the Levites from 7 among the children of Israel, and cleanse them. And this do unto them when thou cleanst them, sprinkle water of purifying upon them and make a razor to run along upon all the 8 flesh of them, and let them wash their clothes, and then they 9 shall be clean. And let them take a bullock and his meatoffering, fine flour mingled with oil: and another bullock shalt 10 thou take to be a sinoffering. Then bring the Levites before the tabernacle of witness and gather the hole multitude of the 11 children of Israel together. And bring the Levites before the LORD, and let the children of Israel put their hands upon the 12 Levites. And let Aaron heave the Levites before the LORD, for an heaveoffering given of the children of Israel, and then let 13 them be appointed to wait upon the service of the LORD. And let the Levites put their hands upon the heads of the bullocks, and then offer them: the one for a sinoffering and the other 14 for a burnt offering unto the LORD, to make an atonement for the Levites. And make the Levites stand before Aaron and 15 his sons, and have them to be a heaveoffering unto the LORD.

And thou shalt separate the Levites, from among the children 16 of Israel, that they be mine: and after that let them go and do the service of the tabernacle of witness. Cleanse them and 17 wave them, for they are given unto me from among the children of Israel: for I have taken them unto me for all the first-born that open any matrice among the children of Israel. For 18 all the firstborn among the children of Israel are mine both man and beast: because the same time that I smote the first-born in the land of Egypt, I sanctified them for myself: and I 19 have taken the Levites for all the firstborn among the children of Israel, and have given them unto Aaron and his sons from among the children of Israel, to do the service of the children of Israel in the tabernacle of witness and to make an atonement 20 for the children of Israel, that there be no plague among the children of Israel, if they come nye unto the sanctuary. And Moses and Aaron and all the congregation of the children of 21 Israel did unto the Levites according unto all that the LORD commanded Moses. And the Levites purified them selves, and washed their clothes. And Aaron waved them before the LORD, and made an atonement for them to cleanse them. And after that they went in to do their service in the tabernacle of witness, before Aaron and his sons. And according as the LORD had commanded Moses as concerning the Levites, even so they did unto them. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: this shall be the manner of the Levites: from twenty five year upward they shall go in to wait upon the service in the tabernacle of witness, and at fifty they shall cease waiting upon the service thereof, and shall labour no more: but shall minister unto their brethren in the tabernacle of witness, and there wait, but shall do no more service. And see that thou do after this manner unto the Levites in their waiting times.

And the LORD spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the first month of the second year, after they were come out of the land of Egypt saying: let the children of Israel offer IX Passover in his season: even the fourteenth day of this month at even they shall keep it in his season, according to all the ordinances and manners thereof. And Moses bade the children of Israel that they should offer Passover, and they offered Passover the fourteenth day of the first month at even in the wilderness of Sinai: and did according to all that the LORD commanded Moses. And it chanced that certain men which were defiled with a dead corpse that they might not offer Passover the same day, came before Moses and Aaron the same day,* and said: we are defiled upon a dead corpse, wherefore are we kept back that we may not offer an offering unto the LORD in the due season, among the children of Israel? And Moses said unto them: tarry, that I may hear what the LORD will command you. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say: If any man among you or your children after you be unclean by the reason of a corpse or is in the way far off, then let him offer Passover unto the LORD: the fourteenth day of the second month at even, and eat it with sweet bread and sour herbs, and let them leave none of it unto the morning nor break any bone of it. And according to all the ordinance of the Passover let them offer it. But if a man be clean and not let in a journey, and yet was negligent to offer Passover, the same soul shall perish 9. v.6 Other: time.

from his people, because he brought not an offering unto the 14 LORD in his due season: and he shall bear his sin. And when a stranger dwelleth among you and will offer Passover unto the LORD, according to the ordinance of Passover and manner thereof shall he offer it. And ye shall have one law both for the stranger and for him that was born at home in the land.
15 And the same day that the habitation was reared up, a cloud covered it on high* upon the tabernacle of witness: and at even there was upon the habitation, as it were the similitude of fire 16 until the morning. And so it was alway, that the cloud covered 17 it by day, and the similitude of fire by night. And when the cloud was taken up from of the tabernacle, then the children of Israel journeyed: and where the cloud abode there the chil-18 dren of Israel pitched their tents. At the mouth of the LORD the children of Israel journeyed, and at the mouth of the LORD they pitched. And as long as the cloud abode upon the habita-19 tion, they lay still, and when the cloud tarried still upon the habitation long time, the children of Israel waited upon the 20 LORD and journeyed not. If it chanced that the cloud abode any space of time upon the habitation, then they kept their tents at the mouth of the LORD: and they journeyed also at 21 the commandment of the LORD. And if it happened that the cloud was upon the habitation from evening unto morning and was taken up in the morning, then they journeyed. Whether it was by day or by night that the cloud was taken up, they jour-22 neyed. But when the cloud tarried two days or a month or a long season upon the habitation, as long as it tarried thereon, the children of Israel kept their tents and journeyed not. And 23 as soon as the cloud was taken up, they journeyed. At the mouth of the LORD they rested, and at the commandment of the LORD they journeyed. And thus they kept the wait* of the LORD, at the commandment of the LORD by the hand of Moses.

X, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: Make thee two trumpets of hard* silver, that thou mayst use them to call the 3 congregation together, and when the host shall journey. When they blow with them, all the multitude shall resort to thee, 4 unto the door of the tabernacle of witness. If but one trumpet blow only, then the princes which are heads over the thousands 5 of Israel shall come unto thee. And when ye trump the first time, the hosts that lie on the east parts shall go forward. And 6 when ye trump the second time, then the hosts that lie on the south side shall take their journey: for they shall trump when they take their journeys. And in gathering the congregation 7 together, ye shall blow and not trump. And the sons of Aaron 8 the priests shall blow the trumpets and shall have them and it shall be a law unto you for ever and among your children after you. And when ye shall go to war in your land against your 9 enemies that vex you, ye shall trump with the trumpets and ye shall be remembered before the LORD your God and saved from your enemies. Also when ye be merry in your feast days 10 and in the first days of your months, ye shall blow the trumpets over your burnt sacrifices and peaceofferings, that it may be a remembrance of you before your God. I am the LORD your God. And it came to pass the twentieth day of the second 11 month in the second year, that the cloud was taken up from off the habitation of witness. And the children of Israel took 12 their journey out of the desert of Sinai, and the cloud rested in the wilderness of Pharan. And the first took their journey 13 at the mouth of the LORD, by the hand of Moses: even the standard of the host of Juda removed first with their armies, whose captain was Nahesson the son of Aminadab. And over 15 the host of the tribe of the children of Isachar, was Nathanael the son of Zuar. And over the host of the tribe of the chil- 16 dren of Zabulon, was Eliab the son of Helon. And the habi- 17 tation was taken down: and the sons of Gerson and Merari went forth bearing the habitation. Then the standard of the 18 host of Ruben went forth with their armies, whose captain was Elizur the son of Sedeur. And over the host of the tribe of the 19 children of Simeon, was Salamiel the son of Zuri saddai. And 20 over the host of the tribe of the children of Gad was Eliasaph the son of Deguel. Then the Cahathites went forward and 21 bare the holy things, and the other did set up the habitation against they came. Then the standard of the host of the chil- 22 dren of Ephraim went forth with their armies, whose captain was Elisama the son of Amiud. And over the host of the tribe 23 of the sons of Manasse, was Gamaliel the son of Pedazur. And 24 over the host of the tribe of the sons of BenJamin, was Abidan the son of Gedeoni. And hindmost of all the host came the 25 standard of the host of the children of Dan with their armies:

26 whose captain was, Ahiezar the son of Ammi Saddai. And over the host of the tribe of the children of Asser, was Pagi-27 the son of Ochran. And over the host of the tribe of the chil-28 dren of Nephthali, was Ahira the son of Enan, of this manner were the journeys of the children of Israel, with their armies 29 when they removed. And Moses said unto Hobab the son of Raguel the Madianite, Moses' father-in-law: we go unto the place of which the LORD said I will give it you. Go with us and we will do thee good, for the LORD hath promised good unto 30 Israel. And he said unto him: I will not: but will go to mine 31 own land and to my kindred. And Moses said, oh nay, leave us not, for thou knowest where is best for us to pitch in the 32 wilderness: and thou shalt be our eyes. And if thou go with us, look what goodness the LORD sheweth upon us, the same 33 we will shew upon thee. And they departed from the mount of the LORD three days' journey, and the ark of the testament of the LORD went before them in the three days' journey to search 34 out a resting place for them. And the cloud of the LORD was 35 over them by day, when they went out of the tents. And when the ark went forth, Moses said: Rise up LORD and let thine enemies be scattered, and let them that hate thee flee before 36 thee. And when the ark rested, he said: return LORD, unto the many thousands of Israel.

XI And the people waxed impatient,* and it displeased the ears of the LORD. And when the LORD heard it he was wroth, and the fire of the LORD burnt among them and consumed the ut-2 termost of the host. And the people cried unto Moses, and he made intercession unto the LORD and the fire quenched.
 3 And they called the name of the place Tabera because the fire 4 of the LORD burnt among them. And the rascal people that was among them fell a lusting. And the children of Israel also 5 went to and wept and said: who shall give us flesh to eat? we remember the fish which we should eat in Egypt for nought, and of the Cucumbers and melons, leeks, onions and garlic.
 6 But now our souls are dried away, for our eyes look on noth-7 ing else, save upon Manna. The Manna was as it had been 8 coriander seed, and to see to like Bedellion. And the people went about and gathered it, and ground it in mills, or beat it in mortars and boke it in pans and made cakes of it. And the 11. v.1 Other: complained.

taste of it was like unto the taste of an oilcake. And when the dew fell about the host in the night, the manna fell therewith. And when Moses heard the people weep in their households every man in the door of his tent, then the wrath of the LORD waxed hot exceedingly: and it grieved Moses also. And Moses said unto the LORD: wherefore dealest thou so cruelly with thy servant? wherefore do I not find favour in thy sight, seeing that thou puttest the weight of this people upon me? have I conceived all this people, or have I begotten them, that thou shouldest say unto me, carry them in thy bosom (as a nurse beareth the sucking child) unto the land which thou swarest unto their fathers? where should I have flesh to give unto all this people? For they weep unto me saying: give us flesh that we may eat. I am not able to bear all this people alone, for it is too heavy for me. Wherefore if thou deal thus with me, kill me, I pray thee, if I have found favour in thy sight: and let me not see my wretchedness. And the LORD said unto Moses: gather unto me seventy of the elders of Israel, which thou knowest that they are the elders of the people and officers over them, and bring them unto the tabernacle of witness, and let them stand there with thee. And I will come down and talk with thee there, and take of the spirit which is upon thee and put upon them, and they shall bear with thee in the burthen of the people, and so shalt thou not bear alone. And say unto the people: hallow your selves against tomorrow, that ye may eat flesh, for ye have whined in the ears of the LORD saying: who shall give us flesh to eat, for we were happy when we were in Egypt? therefore the LORD will give you flesh, and ye shall eat: Ye shall not eat one day only either two or five days, either ten or twenty days: but even a month long, and until it come out at the nostrils of you, that ye be ready to parbreak: because that ye have cast the LORD aside which is among you, and have wept before him saying: why came we out of Egypt. And Moses said: six hundred thousand footmen are there of the people, among which I am. And thou hast said: I will give them flesh and they shall eat a month long. Shall the sheep and the oxen be slain for them to find them, either shall all the fish of the sea be gathered together to serve them? And the LORD said unto Moses: is the LORD's hand waxed short? Thou shalt see whether my word shall come to pass unto thee 24 or not. And Moses went out and told the people the saying of the LORD, and gathered the seventy elders of the people, and 25 set them round about the tabernacle. And the LORD came down in a cloud and spake unto him, and took of the spirit that was upon him, and put it upon the seventy elders. And as the spirit rested upon them, they prophesied and did nought else.

26 But there remained two of the men in the host: the one called Eldad, and the other Medad. And the spirit rested upon them for they were of them that were written, but they went not out 27 unto the tabernacle: and they prophesied in the host. And there ran a young man and told Moses and said: Eldad and 28 Medad do prophesy in the host. And Josua the son of Nun the servant of Moses which he had chosen out, answered and said: 29 master Moses, forbid them. And Moses said unto him: enviest thou for my sake? would God that all the LORD's people could prophesy, and that the LORD would put his spirit upon them.
30 And then both Moses and the elders of Israel, gat them into 31 the host. And there went forth a wind from the LORD and brought quails from the sea and let them fall about the host, even a day's journey round about on every side of the host, and 32 two cubits high upon the earth. And the people stood up all that night and on the morrow, and gathered quails. And he that gathered the least, gathered ten homers full. And they 33 killed them round about the host. And while the flesh was yet between their teeth, yer it was chewed up, the wrath of the LORD waxed hot upon the people, and the LORD slew of the 34 people an exceeding mighty slaughter. And they called the name of the place, the graves of lust: because they buried the 35 people that lusted there. And the people took their journey from the graves of lust* unto Hazeroth, and bode at Hazeroth.

XII And Miriam and Aaron spake against Moses, because of his wife of Inde which he had taken: for he had taken to wife one 2 of India. And they said: doth the LORD speak only thorow Moses? doth he not speak also by us? And the LORD heard 3 it. But Moses was a very meek man above all the men of the 4 earth. And the LORD spake at once unto Moses unto Aaron and Miriam: come out ye three unto the tabernacle of witness: 5 and they came out all three. And the LORD came down in the pillar of the cloud and stood in the door of the taberna-v.35 Other: kibrath hathavah.

cle and called Aaron and Miriam. And they went out both of them. And he said: hear my words. If there be a prophet of the LORD's among you, I will shew myself unto him in a vision and will speak unto him in a dream: But my servant Moses is not so, which is faithful in all mine house. Unto him I speak mouth to mouth and he seeth the sight and the fashion of the LORD, and not thorow riddles. Wherefore then were ye not afraid to speak against my servant Moses? And the LORD was angry with them and went his way, and the cloud departed from the tabernacle. And behold, Miriam was become leprous, as it were snow. And when Aaron looked upon Miriam and saw that she was leprous, he said unto Moses: Oh I beseech thee my lord, put not the sin upon us which we have foolishly committed and sinned. Oh, let her not be as one that came dead out of his mother's womb: for half her flesh is eaten away. And Moses cried unto the LORD saying: Oh God, heal her. And the LORD said unto Moses: If her father had spit in her face, should she not be ashamed seven days? let her be shut out of the host seven days, and after that let her be received in again. And Miriam was shut out of the host seven days: and the people removed not, till she was brought in again. And afterward they removed from Hazeroth, and pitched in the wilderness of Pharan.

And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: Send men out to search the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel: of every tribe of their fathers a man and let them all be such as are rulers among them. And Moses at the commandment of the LORD sent forth out of the wilderness of Pharan: such men as were all heads among the children of Israel, whose names are these: In the tribe of Ruben, Sammua the son of Zacur: In the tribe of Simeon, Saphat the son of Hori. In the tribe of Juda, Caleph the son of Jephune. In the tribe of Isachar, Igeal the son of Joseph. In the tribe of Ephraim, Hosea the son of Nun. In the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the son of Raphu. In the tribe of Zabulon, Gadiel the son of Sodi. In the tribe of Joseph: In the tribe of Manasse, Gaddi the son of Susi. In the tribe of Dan, Amiel the son of Gemali. In the tribe of Asser, Sethur the son of Micheel. In the tribe of Nephthali, Nahebi the son of Uaphsi. In the tribe of Gad, Guel the son of Machi. These are the names of the men which Moses sent to spy out the land. And Moses called the name of Hosea 17 the son of Nun, Josua. And Moses sent them forth to spy out the land of Canaan, and said unto them: get you southward 18 and go up into the high country, and see the land what manner thing it is and the people that dwelleth therein: whether 19 they be strong or weak, either few or many, and what the land is that they dwell in, whether it be good or bad, and what manner of cities they dwell in: whether they dwell in tents or 20 walled towns, and what manner of land it is: whether it be fat or lean, and whether there be trees therein or not. And be of a good courage, and bring of the fruits of the land. And it was 21 about the time that grapes are first ripe. And they went up and searched out the land from the wilderness of Zin unto Re-22 hob as men go to Hemath, and they ascended unto the south and came unto Hebron, where Ahiman was and Sefai and Thal-mani the sons of Enack. Hebron was built seven year before 23 Zoan in Egypt. And they came unto the river of Escol and they cut down there a branch with one cluster of grapes and bare it upon a staff between twain, and also of the pomegranates and 24 of the figs of the place. The river was called Escol, because of the cluster of grapes which the children of Israel cut down 25 there. And they turned back again from searching the land, 26 at forty days' end. And they went and came to Moses and Aaron and unto all the multitude of the children of Israel, unto the wilderness of Pharan: even unto Cades, and brought them word and also unto all the congregation, and shewed them the 27 fruit of the land. And they told him saying: we came unto the land whither thou sendedst us, and surely it is a land that 28 floweth with milk and honey and here is of the fruit of it. Nevertheless the people be strong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled and exceeding great, and moreover we saw 29 the children of Enack there. The Amaleks dwell in the south country, and the Hethites, Jebusites and the Amorites dwell in the mountains, and the Cananites dwell by the sea and along 30 by the coast of Jordan. And Caleb stilled the murmur of the people against Moses saying: let us go up and conquer it, for 31 we be able to overcome it. But the men that went up with him, said: We be not able to go up against the people, for they 32 are stronger than we: And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched, unto the children of Israel saying: The land which we have gone thorow to search it out, is a land that eateth up the inhabiters thereof, and the people that we saw in it are men of stature. And there we saw also giants, the children of Enack which are of the giants. And we seemed in our sight as it were grasshoppers and so we did in their sight. 33

And the multitude cried out, and the people wept thorowout that night, and all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron. And the whole congregation said unto them: would God that we had died in the land of Egypt, either we would that we had died in this wilderness. Wherefore hath the LORD brought us unto this land to fall upon the sword, that both our wives, and also our children should be a prey? is it not better that we return unto Egypt again? And they said one to another: let us make a captain and return unto Egypt again. And Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the congregation of the multitude of the children of Israel. And Josua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephune which were of them that searched the land rent their clothes and spake unto all the company of the children of Israel saying: The land which we walked thorow to search it, is a very good land. If the LORD have lust to us, he will bring us into this land and give it us, which is a land that floweth with milk and honey. But in any wise rebel not against the LORD. Moreover fear ye not the people of the land, for they are but bread for us. Their shield is departed from them, and the LORD is with us: fear them not therefore. And all the whole multitude bade stone them with stones. But the glory of the LORD appeared in the tabernacle of witness, unto all the children of Israel. And the LORD said unto Moses: How long shall this people rail upon me, and how long will it be, yer they believe me, for all my signs which I have shewed among them? I will smite them with the pestilence and destroy them, and will make of thee a greater nation and a mightier than they. And Moses said unto the LORD: then the Egyptians shall hear it, for thou broughtest this people with thy might from among them. And it will be told to the inhabiters of this land also, for they have heard likewise, that thou the LORD art among this people, and that thou art seen face to face, and that thy cloud standeth over them and that thou goest before them by day time in a pillar XIV

15 of cloud, and in a pillar of fire by night. If thou shalt kill all 16 this people as they were but one man then the nations which 17 have heard the fame of thee, will speak saying: because the 18 LORD was not able to bring in this people into the land which 19 he swore unto them, therefore he slew them in the wilderness.
20 So now let the power of my Lord be great, according as thou 21 hast spoken saying: the LORD is long yer he be angry, and 22 full of mercy, and suffereth sin and trespass, and leaveth no 23 man innocent, and visiteth the unrighteousness of the fathers 24 upon the children, even upon the third and fourth generation, 25 be merciful I beseech ye therefore, unto the sin of this people 26 according unto thy great mercy, and according as thou hast 27 forgiven this people from Egypt even unto this place. And the 28 LORD said: I have forgiven it, according to thy request. But 29 as truly as I live, all the earth shall be filled with my glory.
30 For of all those men which have seen my glory and my mira-31 cles which I did in Egypt and in the wilderness, and yet have 32 tempted me now this ten times and have not hearkened unto 33 my voice, there shall not one see the land which I sware unto their fathers, neither shall any of them that railed upon me, see it. But my servant Caleb, because there is another manner spirit with him, and because he hath followed me unto the utmost: him I will bring into the land which he hath walked in, and his seed shall conquer it, and also the Amalekites and Cananites which dwell in the low countries. Tomorrow turn you and get you into the wilderness: even the way toward the Red Sea. And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron saying: how long shall this evil multitude murmur against me?
I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel which they murmur against me. Tell them, that the LORD sayeth: As truly as I live, I will do unto you even as ye have spoken in mine ears. Your carcasses shall lie in this wilderness, neither shall any of these numbers which were numbered from twenty year and above of you which have murmured against me come in to the land over which I lifted mine hand to make you dwell therein, save Caleb the son of Jephune, and Josua the son of Nun. And your children which ye said should be a prey, them I will bring in, and they shall know the land which ye have refused, and your carcasses shall lie in this wilderness And your children shall wander in this wilderness forty years and suffer for your whoredom until your carcasses be wasted in the wilderness, after the number of the days in which ye 34 searched out the land forty days, and every day a year: so that they shall bear your unrighteousness forty year, and ye shall feel my vengeance I the LORD have said that I will do it unto 35 all this evil congregation that are gathered together against me: even in this wilderness ye shall be consumed, and here ye shall die. And the men which Moses sent to search the land, 36 and which (when they came again) made all the people to murmur against it in that they brought up a slander upon the land:

 died for their bringing up that evil slander upon it, and were 37 plagued before the LORD. But Josua the son of Nun and Caleb 38 the son of Jephune which were of the men that went to search the land, lived still. And Moses told these sayings unto all the 39 children of Israel, and the people took great sorrow. And they 40 rose up early in the morning and gat them up into the top of the mountain saying: lo we be here, and will go up unto the place of which the LORD said, for we have sinned. And Moses said: 41 wherefore will ye go on this manner beyond the word of the LORD? it will not come well to pass: go not up for the LORD is 42 not among you that ye be not slain before your enemies. For 43 the Amalekites and the Cananites are there before you, and ye will fall upon the sword: because ye are turned away from the LORD, and therefore the LORD will not be with you. But they 44 were blinded to go up into the hilltop: Never the later, the ark of the testament of the LORD and Moses departed not out of the host. Then the Amalekites and the Cananites which dwelt in 45 that hill, came down and smote them and hewed them: even unto Horma.

And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the XV, 2 children of Israel and say unto them: when ye be come into the land of your habitation which I give unto you, and will 3 offer an offering upon the fire unto the LORD, whether it be a burnt offering or a special vow or freewill offering or if it be in your principal feasts to make a sweet savour unto the LORD, of the oxen or of the flock. Then, let him that offereth his 4 offering unto the LORD, bring also a meat offering of a tenth deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of oil, and the 5 fourth part of an hin of wine for a drink offering, and offer with the burnt offering or any other offering when it is a lamb. And 6 7 unto a ram thou shalt offer a meatoffering of two tenth deals 8 of flour, mingled with the third part of an hin of oil, and to a 9 drinkoffering thou shalt offer the third part of an hin of wine, 10 to be a sweet savour unto the LORD. When thou offerest an ox 11 to a burnt offering or in any special vow or peaceoffering unto 12 the LORD, then thou shalt bring unto an ox, a meatoffering of 13 three tenth deals of flour mingled with half an hin of oil. And 14 thou shalt bring for a drinkoffering half an hin of wine, that is 15 an offering of a sweet savour unto the LORD. This is the man-16 ner that shall be done unto one ox, one ram, a lamb or a kid.

17 And according to the number of such offerings, thou shalt in-18 crease the meatofferings and the drinkofferings. All that are 19 of your selves shall do these things after this manner, when 20 he offereth an offering of sweet savour unto the LORD. And 21 if there be a stranger with you or be among you in your gen-22 erations, and will offer an offering of a sweet savour unto the 23 LORD: even as ye do, so he shall do. One ordinance shall serve 24 both for you of the congregation, and also for the stranger. And 25 it shall be an ordinance for ever among your children after you, that the stranger and ye shall be like before the LORD.
One law and one manner shall serve, both for you and for the stranger that dwelleth with you. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say unto them: when ye be come in to the land whither I will bring you, then when ye will eat of the bread of the land, ye shall give an heaveoffering unto the LORD. Ye shall give a cake of the first of your dough unto an heave offering: as ye do the heave-offering of the barn, even so ye shall heave it. Of the first of your dough ye must give unto the LORD an heaveoffering, thorowout your generations. If ye oversee your selves and observe not all these commandments which the LORD hath spoken unto Moses, and all that the LORD hath commanded you by the hand of Moses, from the first day forward that the LORD commanded among your generation: when ought is committed ignorantly before the eyes of the congregation, then all the multitude shall offer a calf for a burnt offering to be a sweet savour unto the LORD, and the meatoffering and the drinkof-fering thereto, according to the manner: and an he goat for a sin offering. And the priest shall make an atonement for all the multitude of the children of Israel, and it shall be forgiven them for it was ignorance. And they shall bring their gifts unto the offering of the LORD, and their sinoffering before the LORD for their ignorance. And it shall be forgiven unto all the 26 multitude of the children of Israel, and unto the stranger that dwelleth among you: for the ignorance pertaineth unto all the people. If any one soul sin thorow ignorance he shall bring a 27 she goat of a year old for a sinoffering. And the priest shall 28 make an atonement for the soul that sinned ignorantly with the sinoffering before the LORD and reconcile him, and it shall be forgiven him. And both thou that art born one of the chil- 29 dren of Israel and the stranger that dwelleth among you shall have both one law, if ye sin thorow ignorance. And the soul 30 that doth ought presumptuously, whether he be an Israelite or a stranger, the same hath despised the LORD. And that soul shall be destroyed from among his people, because he 31 hath despised the word of the LORD and hath broken his commandments, that soul therefore shall perish and his sin shall be upon him. And while the children of Israel were in the 32 wilderness, they found a man gathering sticks upon the Sabbath day. And they that found him gathering sticks, brought 33 him unto Moses and Aaron and unto all the congregation: and 34 they put him in ward, for it was not declared what should be done unto him. And the LORD said unto Moses: the man 35 shall die: let all the multitude stone him with stones without the host. And all the multitude brought him without the 36 host and stoned him with stones, and he died as the LORD commanded Moses. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: 37 speak unto the children of Israel and bid them, that they make 38 them guards upon the quarters of their garments thorowout their generations, and let them make the guards of ribbons of Jacinth. And the guard shall be unto you to look upon it, 39 that ye remember all the commandments of the LORD and do them: that ye seek not a way after your own hearts and after your own eyes, for to go a whoring after them: but that ye re- 40 member and do all my commandments and be holy unto your God, for I am the LORD your God, which brought you out of 41 the land of Egypt, to be your God. I am the LORD God.

And Corah the son of Jezehar the son of Cahath the son of XVI Levi: and Dathan and Abiram the son of Eliab, and On the son of Peleth, the son of Ruben: stood up before Moses, with other 2 of the children of Israel two hundred and fifty, heads of the congregation, and councillors, and men of fame, and they gathered them selves together against Moses and Aaron and said unto them: ye have done enough. For all the multitude are holy every one of them, and the LORD is among them. Why therefore heave ye your selves up above the congregation of the LORD. When Moses heard it, he fell upon his face and spake unto Corah and unto all his company saying: tomorrow the LORD will shew who is his and who is holy, and will take them unto him, and whom soever he hath chosen, he will cause to come to him. This do: take firepans, thou Corah and all thy company, and do fire therein and put cense thereto before the LORD tomorrow: And then whomsoever the LORD doeth chose, the same is holy. Ye make enough to do ye children of Levi. And Moses said unto Corah: hear ye children of Levi, Seemeth it but a small thing unto you, that the God of Israel hath separated you from the multitude of Israel to bring you to him, to do the service of the dwelling place of the LORD, and to stand before the people to minister unto them? he hath taken thee to him and all thy brethren the sons of Levi with thee, and ye seek the office of the priest also. For which cause both thou and all thy company are gathered together against the LORD: for what is Aaron, that ye should murmur against him. And Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab, and they answered: we will not come. Seemeth it a small thing unto thee that thou hast brought us out of a land that floweth with milk and honey, to kill us in the wilderness. But that thou shouldest reign over us also? More over thou hast brought us unto no land that floweth with milk and honey, neither hast given us possessions of fields or of vines. Either wilt thou pull out the eyes of these men? we will not come. And Moses waxed very angry and said unto the LORD: Turn not unto their offerings. I have not taken so much as an ass from them, neither have vexed any of them. Then Moses said unto Corah: Be thou and all thy company before the LORD: both thou, they and Aaron tomorrow. And take every man his censer and put cense in them, and come before the LORD every man with his censer: two hundred and fifty censers, and Aaron with his censer. And they took every man his censer and put fire in them and laid cense thereon, and stood in the door of the tabernacle of witness, and Moses and Aaron also. And Corah 19 gathered all the congregation against them unto the door of the tabernacle of witness. And the glory of the LORD appeared unto all the congregation. And the LORD spake unto Moses 20 and Aaron saying: separate your selves from this congrega- 21 tion, that I may consume them at once. And they fell upon 22 their faces and said: O most mighty God of the spirits of all flesh, one man hath sinned, and wilt thou be wroth with all the multitude? And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak 23, 24 unto the congregation and say: Get you away from about the dwelling of Corah, Dathan and Abiram. And Moses rose up 25 and went unto Dathan and Abiram, and the elders of Israel followed him. And he spake unto the congregation saying: 26 depart from the tents of these wicked men and twich nothing of theirs: lest ye perish in all their sins. And they gat 27 them from the dwelling of Corah, Dathan and Abiram, on every side. And Dathan and Abiram came out and stood in the door of their tents with their wives, their sons and their children. And Moses said: Hereby ye shall know that the LORD 28 hath sent me to do all these works, and that I have not done them of mine own mind: If these men die the common death 29 of all men or if they be visited after the visitation of all men, then the LORD hath not sent me. But and if the LORD make 30 a new thing, and the earth open her mouth and swallow them and all that pertain unto them, so that they go down quick in to hell: then ye shall understand, that these men have railed upon the LORD. And as soon as he had made an end of speak- 31 ing all these words, the ground clove asunder that was under them, and the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them 32 and their houses and all the men that were with Corah and all their goods. And they and all that pertained unto them, 33 went down alive unto hell, and the earth closed upon them, and they perished from among the congregation. And all Is- 34 rael that were about them, fled at the cry of them. For they said: The earth might happily swallow us also. And there 35 came out a fire from the LORD and consumed the two hundred and fifty men that offered cense. And the LORD spake 36 unto Moses saying: Speak unto Eleazer the son of Aaron the 37 priest and let him take up the censers out of the burning and scatter the fire here and there, for the censers of these sin- 38 ners are hallowed in their deaths: and let them be beaten into thin plates and fastened upon the altar. For they offered them before the LORD, and therefore they are holy and they shall 39 be a sign unto the children of Israel. And Eleazar the priest took the brazen censers which they that were burnt had offered, and beat them and fastened them upon the altar, to be 40 a remembrance unto the children of Israel, that no stranger which is not of the seed of Aaron, come near to offer cense before the LORD, that he be not made like unto Corah and his company: as the LORD said unto him by the hand of Moses.

41 And on the morrow all the multitude of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron saying: ye have killed the 42 people of the LORD. And when the multitude was gathered against Moses and Aaron, they looked toward the tabernacle of witness; And behold, the cloud had covered it and the glory 43 of the LORD appeared. And Moses and Aaron went before the tabernacle of witness. And the LORD spake unto Moses say-44 ing: Get you from this congregation, that I may consume them quickly. And they fell upon their faces. And Moses said unto 45 Aaron: take a censer and put fire therein out of the altar, and pour on cense, and go quickly unto the congregation and make an atonement for them. For there is wrath gone out from the 46 LORD, and there is a plague begun. And Aaron took as Moses commanded him, and ran unto the congregation: and behold, the plague was begun among the people, and he put on cense, 47 and made an atonement for the people. And he stood between the dead, and them that were alive, and the plague ceased.
48 And the number of them that died in the plague, were fourteen thousand and seven hundred: beside them that died about the 49 business of Corah. And Aaron went again unto Moses unto the door of the tabernacle of witness, and the plague ceased.

XVII, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel and take of them, for every principal house a rod, of their princes over the houses of their fathers: even 3 twelve rods, and write every man's name upon his rod. And write Aaron's name upon the staff of Levi: for every headman 4 over the houses of their fathers shall have a rod. And put them in the tabernacle of witness where I will meet you. And his rod whom I chose, shall blossom: So I will make cease from 5 me the grudgings of the children of Israel which they grudge against you. And Moses spake unto the children of Israel, 6 and all the princes gave him for every prince over their fathers' houses, a rod: even twelve rods, and the rod of Aaron was among the rods. And Moses put the rods before the LORD in 7 the tabernacle of witness: And on the morrow, Moses went in 8 to the tabernacle: and behold, the rod of Aaron of the house of Levi was budded and bare blossoms and almonds. And Moses 9 brought out all the staves from before the LORD, unto all the children of Israel, and they looked upon them, and took every man his staff. And the LORD said unto Moses: bring Aaron's 10 rod again before the witness to be kept for a token unto the children of rebellion, that their murmurings may cease from me, that they die not. And Moses did as the LORD commanded 11 him. And the children of Israel spake unto Moses saying: be- 12 hold, we are destroyed and all come to nought: for whosoever 13 cometh nye the dwelling of the LORD, dieth. Shall we utterly consume away?

And the LORD said unto Aaron: Thou and thy sons and thy XVIII father's house with thee, shall bear the fault of that which is done amiss in the holy place. And thou and thy sons with thee, shall bear the fault of that which is done amiss in your priesthood. And thy brethren also the tribe of Levi, the tribe of thy 2 father take with thee, and let them be joined unto thee and minister unto thee. And thou and thy sons with thee shall minister before the tabernacle of witness. And let them wait 3 upon thee and upon all the tabernacle: only let them not come nye the holy vessels and the altar, that both they and ye also die not. And let them be by thee and wait on the taberna- 4 cle of witness, and on all the service of the tabernacle, and let no stranger come nye unto you. Wait therefore upon the holy 5 place and upon the altar, that there fall no more wrath upon the children of Israel: behold, I have taken your brethren 6 the Levites from among children of Israel, to be yours, as gifts given unto the LORD to do the service of the tabernacle of witness. And see that both thou and thy sons with thee take heed 7 unto your priests' office, in all things that pertain unto the altar and within the vail. And see that ye serve, for I have given your priests' office unto you for a gift to do service: and the stranger that cometh nye, shall die. And the LORD spake unto 8 Aaron: behold, I have given thee the keeping of mine heave offerings in all the hallowed things of the children of Israel. And unto thee I have given them unto anointing and to thy sons: to be a duty for ever. This shall be thine of most holy sacrifices: All their gifts, thoroughout all their meatofferings, sinofferings and trespassofferings which they bring unto me. They shall be most holy unto thee and unto thy sons. And ye shall eat it in the most holy place: all that are males shall eat of it, for it shall be holy unto thee. And this shall be thine: the heaveoffering of their gifts, thoroughout all the waveofferings of the children of Israel, for I have given them unto thee and thy sons, and thy daughters with thee, to be a duty for ever: and all that are clean in thy house, shall eat of it, all the fat of the oil, of the wine and of the corn: their first fruits which they give unto the LORD that have I given unto thee. The first fruits of all that is in their lands which they bring unto the LORD, shall be thine: and all that are clean in thine house, shall eat of it. All dedicate things in Israel, shall be thine. All that breaketh the matrice of all flesh that men bring unto the LORD, both of man and beast, shall be thine. Nevertheless the firstborn of man shall be redeemed, and the firstborn of unclean beasts shall be redeemed. And their redemptions shall be at a month old, valued at five sicles of silver, of the holy sicle. A sicle maketh twenty Geras. But the firstborn of oxen, sheep and goats shall not be redeemed. For they are holy, and thou shalt sprinkle their blood upon the altar, and shalt burn their fat to be a sacrifice of a sweet savour unto the LORD. And the flesh of them shall be thine, as the wavebreast and all the right shoulder is thine. All the holy heave offerings which the children of Israel heave unto the LORD, I give thee and thy sons and thy daughters with thee to be a duty for ever. And it shall be a salted covenant for ever, before the LORD: unto thee and to thy seed with thee. And the LORD spake unto Aaron: thou shalt have none inheritance in their land, nor part among them. For I am thy part and thy inheritance among the children of Israel. And behold I have given the children of Levi, the tenth in Israel to inherit, for the service which they serve in the tabernacle of witness, that the children of Israel henceforth come not nye the tabernacle of witness, and bear sin and die. And the Levites shall do the service in the tabernacle of witness and bear their sin, and it shall be a law for ever unto your children after you: But among the children of Israel they shall inherit none inheritance. For the tithes of the children of Israel which they heave unto the LORD, I have given the Levites to inherit. Wherefore I have said unto them: Among the children of Israel ye shall inherit none inheritance. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the Levites and say unto them: when ye take of the children of Israel the tithes which I have given you of them to your inheritance, ye shall take an heaveoffering of that same for the LORD: even the tenth of that tithe. And it shall be reckoned unto you for your heaveoffering, even as though ye gave corn out of the barn or a full offering from the wine press. And of this manner ye shall heave an heaveoffering unto the LORD, of all your tithes which ye receive of the children of Israel, and ye shall give there of the LORD's heave offering unto Aaron the priest. Of all your gifts, ye shall take out the LORD's heaveoffering: even the fat of all their hallowed things. And thou shalt say unto them: when ye have taken away the fat of it from it, it shall be counted unto the Levites, as the increase of corn and wine. And ye shall eat it in all places both ye and your households, for it is your rewards for your service in the tabernacle of witness. And ye shall bear no sin by the reason of it, when ye have taken from it the fat of it: neither shall ye unhallow the hallowed things of the children of Israel, and so shall ye not die.

And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron saying: this is the ordinance of the law which the LORD commandeth saying: speak unto the children of Israel and let them take thee a red cow without spot wherein is no blemish, and which never bare yoke upon her. And ye shall give her unto Eleazer the priest, and he shall bring her without the host and cause her to be slain before him. And Eleazar the priest shall take of her blood upon his finger, and sprinkle it straight toward the tabernacle of witness seven times. And he shall cause the cow to be burnt in his sight: both skin, flesh and blood, with the dung also. And let the priest take cypress wood, and Hyssop and purple cloth, and cast it upon the cow as she burneth. And let the priest wash his clothes and bathe his flesh in water, and then come into the host, and the priest shall be unclean unto the evening. And he that burneth her, shall wash his clothes in water and bathe his flesh also in water, and be unclean until evening. And one that is clean, shall go and take up the ashes of the cow, and put them without the host in a clean place, where they shall be kept to make sprinkling water for the multitude of the children of Israel: for it is a sinoffering. And let him that gathereth the ashes of the cow, wash his clothes, and remain unclean until evening. And this shall be unto the children of Israel and unto the stranger that dwelleth among them, a manner for ever. He that twicheth any dead person, shall be unclean seven days. And he shall purify himself with the ashes the third day and then he shall be clean the seventh day. And if he purify not himself the third day, then the seventh day, he shall not be clean. Whosoever twicheth any person that dieth and sprinkleth not himself, defileth the dwelling of the LORD: and therefore that soul shall be rooted out of Israel, because he hath not sprinkled the sprinkling water upon him, he shall be unclean, and his uncleanness shall remain upon him. This is the law of the man that dieth in a tent: all that come into the tent and all that is in the tent, shall be unclean seven days. And all the vessels that be open which have no lid nor covering upon them, are unclean. And whosoever twicheth one that is slain with a sword in the fields, or a dead person, or a bone of a dead man, or a grave: shall be unclean seven days. And they shall take for an unclean person, of the burnt ashes of the sinoffering, and put running water thereto into a vessel. And a clean person shall take Hyssop and dip it in the water, and sprinkle it upon the tent and upon all the vessels and on the souls that were there, and upon him that twiched a bone or a slain person or a dead body or a grave. And the clean person shall sprinkle upon the unclean the third day and the seventh day. And the seventh day he shall purify himself and wash his clothes and bathe himself in water, and shall be clean at evening. If any be unclean and sprinkle not himself, the same soul shall be destroyed from among the congregation: for he hath defiled the holy place of the LORD. And he that sprinkleth the sprinkling water, shall wash his clothes. And he that twicheth the sprinkling water, shall be unclean until even. And whatsoever the unclean person twicheth, shall be unclean. And the soul that twiched it, shall be unclean until the evening.

And the whole multitude of the children of Israel, came into XX the desert of Sin in the first month, and the people dwelt at Cades. And there died MirIam, and was buried there. More- 2 over there was no water for the multitude, wherefore they gathered them selves together against Moses and against Aaron.
And the people chode with Moses and spake saying: would God 3 that we had perished when our brethren perished before the LORD. Why have ye brought the congregation of the LORD 4 unto this wilderness, that both we and our cattle should die here? Wherefore brought ye us out of Egypt, to bring us into 5 this ungracious place, which is no place of seed nor of figs nor vines nor of pomegranates, neither is there any water to drink?
And Moses and Aaron went from the congregation unto the 6 door of the tabernacle of witness, and fell upon their faces. And the glory of the LORD appeared unto them. And the LORD 7 spake unto Moses saying: take the staff, and gather thou and 8 thy brother Aaron the congregation together, and say unto the rock before their eyes, that he give forth his water. And thou shalt bring them water out of the rock and shalt give the com- 9 pany drink, and their beasts also. And Moses took the staff from before the LORD, as he commanded him And Moses and 10 Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock, and he said unto them: hear ye rebellious, must we fetch you water out of this rock? And Moses lift up his hand with his staff and 11 smote the rock two times, and the water came out abundantly, and the multitude drank and their beasts also. And the LORD 12 spake unto Moses and Aaron: Because ye believed me not, to sanctify me in the eyes of the children of Israel, therefore ye shall not bring this congregation into the land which I have 13 given them. This is the water of strife, because the children of Israel strove with the LORD, and he was sanctified upon them. And Moses sent messengers from Cades unto the king 14 of Edom. Thus sayeth thy brother Israel: Thou knowest all the travail that hath happened us, how our fathers went down 15 into Egypt, and how we have dwelt in Egypt a long time, and, how the Egyptians vexed both us and our fathers. Then we 16 cried unto the LORD and he heard our voices, and sent an angel and hath fetched us out of Egypt. And behold, we are in Cades, a city hard by the borders of thy country: let us go a 17 good fellowship thorow thy country: we will not go thorow the fields nor throw the vineyards, neither will we drink of the water of the fountains: but we will go by the highway and neither turn unto the right hand nor to the left, until we be past thy country. And Edom answered him: See thou come not by me, lest I come out against thee with the sword. And the children of Israel said unto him: we will go by the beaten way: and if either we or our cattle drink of thy water, we will pay for it, we will do no more but pass throw by foot only. And he said: ye shall not go throw. And Edom came out against him with much people and with a mighty power. And thus Edom denied to give Israel passage throw his country; And Israel turned away from him. And the children of Israel removed from Cades and went unto mount Hor with all the congregation. And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron in mount Hor, hard upon the coasts of the land of Edom saying: let Aaron be put unto his people, for he shall not come into the land which I have given unto the children of Israel: because ye disobeyed my mouth at the water of strife. Take Aaron and Eleazer his son, and bring them up into mount Hor, and strip Aaron out of his vestments and put them upon Eleazer his son, and let Aaron be put unto his people and die there. And Moses did as the LORD commanded: and they went up into mount Hor in the sight of all the multitude. And Moses took off Aaron's clothes and put them upon Eleazer his son, and Aaron died there in the top of the mount. And Moses and Eleazer came down out of the mount. And all the house of Israel mourned for Aaron thirty days

XXI And when king Arad the Cananite which dwelt in the south parts, heard tell that Israel came by the way that the spies had found out: he came and fought with Israel and took some of them prisoners. Then Israel vowed a vow unto the LORD and said: If thou wilt give this people into our hands, we will destroy their cities. And the LORD heard the voice of Israel, and delivered them the Cananites. And they destroyed both them and their cities, and called the place Horma. Then they departed from mount Hor toward the red sea: to compass the land of Edom. And the souls of the people fainted by the way. And the people spake against God and against Moses: wherefore hast thou brought us out of Egypt, for to die in the wilderness, for here is neither bread nor water, and our souls loatheth this light bread. Then the LORD sent fiery serpents among 6 the people, which stung them: so that much people died in Is- 7 rael. And the people came to Moses and said: we have sinned, 7 for we have spoken against the LORD and against thee: make intercession to the LORD, that he take away the serpents from us. And Moses made intercession for the people. And the 8 LORD said unto Moses: make thee a serpent and hang it up for a sign, and let as many as are bitten look upon it and they shall live. And Moses made a serpent of brass and set it up 9 for a sign. And when the serpents had bitten any man, he went and beheld the serpent of brass and recovered. And the 10 children of Israel removed and pitched in Oboth. And they 11 departed from Oboth and lay at Egebarim in the wilderness which is before Moab on the east side. And they removed 12 thence, and pitched upon the river of Zarad. And they de- 13 parted thence and pitched on the other side of Arnon, which river is in the wilderness, and cometh out of the coasts of the Amorites: for Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and 14 the Amorites. Wherefore it is spoken in the book of the war of the LORD: go with a violence, both on the river of Arnon and on the river's head, which shooteth down to dwell at Ar, 15 and leaneth upon the coasts of Moab. And from thence they 16 came to Bear, which is the well whereof the LORD spake unto Moses: gather the people together, that I may give them water. Then Israel sang this song: Arise up well, sing thereto: 17 The well which the rulers digged and the captains of the people 18 with the help of the lawgiver and with their staves. And from this wilderness they went to Matana, and from Matana to Na- 19 haliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth, and from Bamoth to the 20 valley that is in the field of Moab in the top of Phasgah which boweth toward the wilderness.* And Israel sent messengers 21 unto Sehon, king of the Amorites, saying: let us go thorow 22 thy land: We will not turn into thy fields nor into thy vineyards, neither drink of the water of the wells: but we will go along by the common way, until we be past thy country. And 23 Sehon would give Israel no licence to pass thorow his country, but gathered all his people together and went out against Israel into the wilderness. And he came to Jaheza and fought with Israel. And Israel smote him with the edge of the sword 24 and conquered his land, from Arnon unto Jabock: even unto the children of Ammon. For the borders of the children of Ammon, are strong. And Israel took all these cities and dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites: in Hesbon and in all the towns that long thereto. For Hesbon was the city of Sehon the king of the Amorites which Sehon had fought before with the king of the Moabites, and had taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon. Wherefore it is a proverb: go to Hesbon and let the city of Sehon be built and made ready for there is a fire gone out of Hesbon and a flame from the city of Sehon and hath consumed Ar of the Moabites and the men of the hills of Arnon. Woe be to thee Moab: O people of Chamos ye are forlorn.* His sons are put to flight and his daughters brought captive unto Sehon king of the Amorites. Their light is out from Hesbon unto Dibon and we made a wilderness even unto Nopha which reacheth unto Mediba. And thus Israel dwelt in the land of the Amorites. And Moses sent to search out Jaezer, and they took the towns belonging thereto and conquered the Amorites that were there. And then they turned and went up toward Bason. And Og the king of Bason came out against them, both he and all his people, to war at Edrei. And the LORD said unto Moses: fear him not, for I have delivered him into thy hands with all his people and his land. And thou shalt do with him as thou didst with Sehon the king of the Amorites which dwelt at Hesbon. And they smote him and his sons and all his people, until there was nothing left him. And they conquered his land.

XXII

And the children of Israel removed and pitched in the fields of Moab, on the other side of Jordan, by Jericho. And Balac the son of Ziphor saw all that Israel had done to the Amorites, and the Moabites were sore afraid of the people, because they were many, and abhorred the children of Israel: And Moab said unto the elders of Madian, now this company hath licked up all that are round about us, as an ox licketh up the grass of the field. And Balac the son of Ziphor was king of the Moabites at that time. And he sent messengers unto Balam the son of Beor, the interpreter which dwelt upon the river of the land of the children of his folk, to call him saying: behold, there is a people come out of Egypt which covereth the face of the earth and lie even hard by me. Come now a fellowship and curse v.29 Other: undone.

me this people. For they are too mighty for me, so peradventure I might be able to smite them and to drive them out of the land. For I wot that whom thou blessest shall be blessed, and whom thou cursest shall be cursed. And the elders of Moab 7 went with the elders of Madian, and the reward of the sooth-saying in their hands. And they came unto Balam and told him the words of Balac. And he said unto them: tarry here 8 all night and I will bring you word, even as the LORD shall say unto me. And the lords of Moab abode with Balam. And 9 God came unto Balam and said: what men are these which are with thee? And Balam said unto God: Balac the son of Ziphor 10 king of Moab hath sent unto me saying: behold, there is a 11 people come out of Egypt and covereth the face of the earth: come now therefore and curse me them, that so peradventure I may be able to overcome them in battle, and to drive them out. And God said unto Balam: thou shalt not go with them, 12 neither curse the people, for they are blessed. And Balam 13 rose up in the morning and said unto the lords of Balac: get you unto your land, for the LORD will not suffer me to go with you. And the lords of Moab rose up and went unto Balac and 14 said, Balam would not come with us. And Balac sent again a 15 greater company of lords and more honourable than they. And 16 they came to Balam and told him: Thus sayeth Balac the son of Ziphor: oh, let nothing let thee to come unto me, for I will 17 greatly promote thee unto great honour, and will do whatsoever thou sayest unto me, come therefore I pray thee, curse me this people. And Balam answered and said unto the servants 18 of Balac: If Balac would give me his house full of silver and gold, I can go no further than the word of the LORD my God, to do less or more. Nevertheless tarry ye here all night: that 19 I may wete, what the LORD will say unto me once more. And 20 God came to Balam by night and said unto him: If the men come to fetch thee, rise up and go with them: but what I say unto thee, that only thou shalt do. And Balam rose up early 21 and saddled his ass and went with the lords of Moab. But 22 God was angry because he went. And the angel of the LORD stood in the way against him. And he rid upon his ass and two servants with him. And when the ass saw the angel of the 23 LORD stand in the way and his sword drawn in his hand, she turned aside out of the way and went out into the field. And 24 Balam smote the ass, to turn her into the way. And the angel of the LORD went and stood in a path between the vineyards, where was a wall on the one side and another on the other.

25 When the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she wrenched unto the wall and thrust Balam's foot unto the wall, and he smote

26 her again. And the angel of the LORD went further and stood in a narrow place, where was no way to turn, either to the

27 right hand or to the left. And when the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she fell down under Balam: and Balam was wroth

28 and smote the ass with a staff. And the LORD opened the mouth of the ass, and she said unto Balam: what have I done

29 unto thee, that thou smitest me thus three times? And Balam said unto the Ass: because thou hast mocked me? I would that

30 I had a sword in mine hand, that I might now kill thee. And the ass said unto Balam: am not I thine Ass which thou hast ridden upon since thou wast born unto this day? Was I ever

31 wont to do so unto thee? And he said, nay. And the LORD opened the eyes of Balam that he saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, with his sword drawn in his hand. And he

32 bowed himself and fell flat on his face. And the angel of the LORD said unto him: Wherefore smitest thou thine ass this three times? behold, I came out to resist thee, for the way is

33 contrary unto me, and the ass saw me and avoided me three times: or else (had she not turned from me) I had surely slain

34 thee and saved her alive. And Balam said unto the angel of the LORD: I have sinned: for I wist not that thou stoodest in the way against me. Now therefore if it displease thine eyes, 35 I will turn again. And the angel said unto Balam, go with the men: but in any wise, what I say unto thee, that say. And

36 Balam went with the lords of Balac. And when Balac heard that Balam was come he went out against him unto a city of Moab that stood in the border of Arnon, which was the utmost 37 part of his country. And Balac said unto Balam: did I not send for thee, to call thee? wherefore camest thou not unto me? thinkest thou that I am not able to promote thee unto honour?

38 And Balam said unto Balac: Lo I am come unto thee. But I can say nothing at all save what God putteth in my mouth that

39 must I speak. And Balam went with Balac, and they came 40 unto the city of Huzoth.* And Balac offered oxen and sheep and sent for Balam and for the lords that were with him. And on the morning Balac took Balam and brought him up into the high place of Baal, and thence he saw unto the utmost part of the people. 41

And Balam said unto Balac: build me here seven altars and provide here seven oxen and seven rams. And Balac did as Balam said. And Balac and Balam offered on every altar an ox and a ram. And Balam said unto Balac: stand by the sacrifice, while I go to wete whether the LORD will come and meet me, and whatsoever he sheweth me, I will tell thee, and he went forthwith. And God came unto Balam, and Balam said unto him: I have prepared seven altars, and have offered upon every altar, an ox and a ram. And the LORD put a saying in Balam's mouth and said: go again to Balac and say on this wise. And he went again unto him and lo, he stood by his sacrifice, both he and all the lords of Moab. And he began his parable and said: Balac the king of Moab hath fetched me from Mesopotamia out of the mountains of the east saying: come and curse me Jacob, come and defy me Israel. How shall I curse whom God curseth not and how shall I defy whom the LORD defieth not? from the top of the rocks I see him and from the hills I behold him: Lo, the people shall dwell by himself and shall not be reckoned among other nations. Who can tell the dust of Jacob and the number of the fourth part of Israel. I pray God that my soul, may die the death of the righteous, and that my last end may be like his. And Balac said unto Balam, what hast thou done unto me? I fetched thee to curse mine enemies: and behold, thou blessest them. And he answered and said: must I not keep that and speak it, which the LORD hath put in my mouth? And Balac said unto him: Come I pray thee with me unto another place, whence thou shalt see them, and shalt see but the utmost part of them and shalt not see them all and curse me them there. And he brought him into a plain field where men might see far, even to the top of Pisga, and built seven altars and offered an ox and a ram on every altar. And he said unto Balac: stand here by thy sacrifice while I go yonder. And the LORD met Balam and put words in his mouth and said: go again unto Balac and thus say. And when he came to him: behold, he stood by his sacrifice and the lords of Moab with him; And Balac said unto him: what sayeth the XXIII

18 LORD? And he took up his parable and said: rise up Balac 19 and hear, and hearken unto me thou son of Ziphor. The Lorde is not a man, that he can lie, neither the son of a man that he can repent: should he say and not do, or should he speak 20 and not make it good? behold, I have begun to bless and have 21 blessed, and can not go back therefrom. He beheld no wickedness in Jacob nor saw Idolatry in Israel: The LORD his God is 22 with him, and the tromp* of a king among them. God that brought them out of Egypt, is as the strength of an unicorn 23 unto them, for there is no sorcerer, in Jacob, nor soothsayer in Israel. When the time cometh, it will be said of Jacob and of 24 Israel, what God hath wrought. Behold, the people shall rise up as a lioness and heave up himself as a lion, and shall not lie down again, until he have eaten of the prey and drunk of 25 the blood of them that are slain. And Balac said unto Balam: 26 neither curse them nor bless them. And Balam answered and said unto Balac: told not I thee saying, all that the LORD bid-27 deth me, that I must do? And Balac said unto Balam: come I pray thee, I will bring thee yet unto another place: so peradventure it shall please God, that thou mayst curse them there.
28 And Balac brought Balam unto the top of Peor, that boweth 29 toward the wilderness. And Balam said unto Balac: make me here seven altars, and prepare me here seven bullocks and 30 seven rams. And Balac did as Balam had said, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.

XXIV When Balam saw that it pleased the LORD that he should bless Israel, he went not as he did twice before to fetch sooth-2 saying, but set his face toward the wilderness, and lift up his eyes and looked upon Israel as he lay with his tribes, and the 3 spirit of God came upon him. And he took up his parable and 4 said: Balam the son of Beor hath said, and the man whose eye is open hath said: he hath said which heareth the words of God and seeth the visions of the almighty, which falleth down 5 and his eyes are opened. How goodly are the tents of Jacob 6 and thine habitations Israel, even as the broad valleys and as gardens by the river's side, as the tents which the LORD 7 hath pitched and as cypress trees upon the water. The water shall flow out of his bucket and his seed shall be many waters, and his king shall be higher than Agag; And his kingdom

23. v.21 Other: triumph.

shall be exalted. God that brought him out of Egypt is as the strength of an unicorn unto him, and he shall eat the nations that are his enemies and break their bones and pierce them thorow with his arrows. He couched himself and lay down as a lion and as a lioness, who shall stir him up? blessed is he that blesseth thee, and cursed is he that curseth thee. And Balac was wroth with Balam and smote his hands together, and said unto him: I sent for thee to curse mine enemies: and behold, thou hast blessed them this three times, and now get thee quickly unto thy place. I thought that I would promote thee unto honour, but the LORD hath kept thee back from worship. And Balam said unto Balac: told I not thy messengers which thou sentest unto me saying: If Balac would give me his house full of silver and gold, I can not pass the mouth of the LORD, to do either good or bad of mine own mind. What the LORD sayeth, that must I speak. And now behold, I go unto my people: come let me shew thee, what this people shall do to thy folk in the latter days. And he began his parable and said: Balam the son of Beor hath said, and the man that hath his eye open hath said, and he hath said that heareth the words of God and hath the knowledge of the most high and beholdeth the vision of the almighty, and when he falleth down hath his eyes opened. I see him but not now, I behold him but not nye. There shall come a star of Jacob and rise a scepter of Israel, which shall smite the coasts of Moab and undermine all the children of Seth. And Edom shall be his possession, and the possession of Seir shall be their enemies, and Israel shall do manfully. And out of Jacob shall come he that shall destroy the remnant of the cities. And he looked on Amalek and began his parable and said: Amalek is the first of the nations, but his latter end shall perish utterly. And he looked on the Kenites, and took his parable and said: strong is thy dwelling place and put thy nest upon a rock. Neverthelater thou shalt be a burning to Kain, until Assur take thee prisoner. And he took his parable and said: Alas, who shall live when God doeth this? The ships shall come out of the coast of Cittim and subdue Assur and subdue Eber, and he himself shall perish at the last. And Balam rose up and went and dwelt in his place: and Balac also went his way.

And Israel dwelt in Sittim, and the people began to com- XXV

2 mit whoredom with the daughters of Moab, which called the people unto the sacrifice of their gods. And the people ate and 3 worshipped their gods, and Israel coupled himself unto Baal 4 Peor. Then the LORD was angry with Israel, and said unto Moses: take all the heads of the people, and hang them up unto the LORD against the son, that the wrath of the LORD 5 may turn away from Israel. And Moses said unto the judges of Israel: go and slay those men that joined them selves unto 6 Baal Peor. And behold, one of the children of Israel came and brought unto his brethren, a Madianitish wife even in the sight of Moses and in the sight of all the multitude of the children of Israel, as they were weeping in the door of the tabernacle 7 of witness. And when Phineas the son of Eleazer the son of Aaron the priest saw it, he rose up out of the company and 8 took a weapon in his hand, and went after the man of Israel into the whorehouse, and thrust them thorow: both the man of Israel and also the woman even thorow the belly of 9 her. And the plague ceased from the children of Israel. And there died in the plague twenty four thousand. And the LORD 10 spake unto Moses saying: Phineas the son of Eleazer the son of Aaron the priest, hath turned mine anger away from the children of Israel, because he was jealous for my sake among them, that I had not consumed the children of Israel in my 12 jealousy. Wherefore say: behold, I give unto him my covenant 13 of peace, and he shall have it and his seed after him, even the covenant of the priest's office for ever, because he was jealous for his God's sake and made an atonement for the children of 14 Israel. The name of the Israelite which was smitten with the Madianitish wife, was Simri the son of Salu, a lord of an an-15 cient house among the Simeonites. And the name of the Madianitish wife, was Cosbi the daughter of Zur and head over the 16 people of an ancient house in Madian. And the LORD spake 17, 18 unto Moses saying: vex the Madianites and smite them, for they have troubled you with their wiles with thee which they have beguiled you, thorow Peor and thorow their sister Cosbi the daughter of a lord in Madian, which was slain in the day of the plague for Peor's sake.

XXVI And after the plague, the LORD spake unto Moses and unto 2 Eleazer saying: take the number of all the multitude of the children of Israel from twenty year and above thorowout their fathers' houses, all that are able to go to war in Israel. And 3 Moses and Eleazer the priest told them in the fields of Moab, by Jordan fast by Jericho, from twenty year and above, as the 4 LORD commanded Moses. And the children of Israel that came 36 of the Thahanites. And these are the children of Suthelah:

These are the numbers of the children of Israel: six hundred thousand, and a thousand seven hundred and thirty. And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: unto these the land shall be divided to inherit, according to the number of names: to many thou shalt give the more inheritance and to few the less: to every tribe shall the inheritance be given according to the number thereof. Notwithstanding, the land shall be divided by lot, and according to the names of the tribes of their fathers, they shall inherit: and according to their lot thou shalt divide their land, both to the many and to the few. and Abihu died, as they offered strange fire before the LORD.
62 And the number of them was twenty three thousand, of all the males from a month old and above. For they were not numbered among the children of Israel, because there was no in-63 heritance given them among the children of Israel. These are the numbers of the children of Israel which Moses and Eleazer the priest numbered in the fields of Moab, fast by Jordan nye 64 to Jericho. And among these there was not a man of the number of the children of Israel which Moses and Aaron told in the 65 wilderness of Sinai. For the LORD said unto them, that they should die in the wilderness and that there should not be left a man of them: save Caleb the son of Jephune and Josua the son of Nun.

XXVII

And the daughters of Zelaphead the son of Heber the son of Gilead, the son of Machir the son of Manasse, of the kindreds of Manasse the son of Joseph (whose names were Ma-2 hela, Noha, Hagla, Melcha and Thirza) came and stood before Moses and Eleazer the priest and before the lords and all the 3 multitude in the door of the tabernacle of witness saying: our father died in the wilderness, and was not among the company of them that gathered them selves together against the LORD in the congregation of Corah: But died in his own sin, and had 4 no sons. Wherefore should the name of our father's be taken away from among his kindred, because he had no son? Give 5 unto us a possession among the brethren of our father. And 6 Moses brought their cause before the LORD. And the LORD 7 spake unto Moses saying: The daughters of Zelaphead speak right: thou shalt give them a possession to inherit among their father's brethren, and shalt turn the inheritance of their father 8 unto them. And speak unto the children of Israel saying: If a man die and have no son, ye shall turn his inheritance unto 9 his daughter. If he have no daughter, ye shall give his inheri-10 tance unto his brethren. If he have no brethren, ye shall give his inheritance unto his father's brethren. If he have no father's brethren, ye shall give his inheritance unto him that is next to him of his kindred, and let him possess it. And this shall be unto the children of Israel an ordinance, and a law, 12 as the LORD hath commanded Moses. And the LORD said unto Moses: get thee up into this mount Abarim, and behold, 13 the land which I have given unto the children of Israel. And when thou hast seen it, thou shalt be gathered unto thy people also, as Aaron thy brother was gathered unto his people. For 14 ye were disobedient unto my mouth in the desert of Zin in the strife of the congregation, that ye sanctified me not in the water before their eyes. That is the water of strife in Cades in the wilderness of Zin. And Moses spake unto the LORD saying: 15 let the LORD God of the spirits of all flesh, set a man over the 16 congregation, which may go in and out before them, and to 17 lead them in and out, that the congregation of the LORD be not as a flock of sheep without a shepherd. And the LORD said 18 unto Moses: take Josua the son of Nun in whom there is spirit, and put thine hands upon him, and set him before Eleazer the 19 priest and before all the congregation and give him a charge in their sight. And put of thy praise upon him that all the com- 20 pany of the children of Israel may hear. And he shall stand 21 before Eleazar the priest which shall ask counsel* for him after the manner of the light* before the LORD: And at the mouth of Eleazer shall both he and all the children of Israel with him and all the congregation, go in and out. And Moses did as 22 the LORD commanded him, and he took Josua and set him before Eleazer the priest and before all the congregation, and 23 put his hands upon him and give him a charge, as the LORD commanded thorow the hand of Moses.

And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: give the children XXVIII, 2 of Israel a charge and say unto them, that they take heed to offer unto me the offering of my bread in the sacrifice of sweet savour, in his due season. And say unto them. This is the 3 offering which ye shall offer unto the LORD: two lambs of a year old without spot day by day to be a burnt offering perpetu- 4 ally. One lamb thou shalt offer in the morning, and the other 5 at even. And thereto the tenth part of an Ephah of flour for a meat offering mingled with beaten oil, the fourth part of an hin: 6 which is a daily offering ordained in the mount Sinai unto a sweet savour in the sacrifice of the LORD. And the drink offering 7 of the same: the fourth part of an hin unto one lamb, and pour the drink offering in the holy place, to be good drink unto 8 the LORD. And the other lamb thou shalt offer at even, with the meat offering and the drink offering after the manner of the morning: a sacrifice of a sweet savour unto the LORD. And 9

27. v.21 Other: councill. v.21 Other: judgement of Urim.

on the Sabbath day two lambs of a year old apiece and without spot, and two tenth deals of flour for a meatoffering mingled with oil, and the drinkoffering thereto. This is the burnt offering of every Sabbath, besides the daily burnt offering and his drinkoffering. And in the first day of your months, ye shall offer a burnt offering unto the LORD: two young bullocks, and a ram, and seven lambs of a year old without spot, and three tenth deals of flour for a meatoffering mingled with oil unto one bullock, and two tenth deals of flour for a meatoffering mingled with oil unto one ram. And ever more, a tenth deal of flour mingled with oil, for a meatoffering unto one lamb. That is a burnt offering of a sweet savour in the sacrifice of the LORD. And their drink offerings shall be half an hin of wine unto one bullock, and the third part of an hin of wine unto a ram and the fourth part of an hin unto a lamb. This is the burnt offering of every month thorowout all the months of the year: and one he goat for a sin offering unto the LORD, which shall be offered with the daily burnt offering and his drinkoffering. And the fourteenth day of the first month shall be passover unto the LORD. And the fifteenth day of the same month shall be a feast, in which seven days men must eat unleavened bread. The first day shall be an holy feast, so that ye shall do no manner of laborious work therein. And ye shall offer a burnt offering unto the LORD two bullocks, one ram, and seven lambs of a year old without spot, and their meatoffering of flour mingled with oil three tenth deals unto a bullock, and two tenth deals unto a ram, and ever more one tenth deal unto a lamb, thorowout the seven lambs: and an he goat for a sin offering to make an atonement for you. And ye shall offer these, beside the burnt offering in the morning that is always offered. And after this manner ye shall offer thorowout the seven days, the food of the sacrifice of sweet favour unto the LORD. And it shall be done beside the daily burnt offering and his drinkoffering. And the seventh day shall be an holy feast unto you, so that ye shall do no laborious work therein. And the day of your first fruits when ye bring a new meatoffering unto the LORD in your weeks, shall be an holy feast unto you: so that ye shall do no labourious work therein. And ye shall offer a burnt offering of a sweet savour unto the LORD: two young bullocks, and a ram, and seven lambs of a year old apiece, with their meatofferings of flour mingled with oil three tenth deals unto a bullock two tenth deals to a ram, and ever more one 29 tenth deal unto a lamb thorowout the seven lambs, and an he 30 goat to make an atonement for you. And this ye shall do be- 31 sides the daily burnt offering, and his meat offering: and they shall be without spot, with their drinkofferings.

Also* the first day of the seventh month shall be an holy XXIX feast unto you, and ye shall do no labourious work therein. It shall be a day of trumpet blowing unto you. And ye shall offer 2 a burnt offering of a sweet savour unto the LORD: one young bullock and one ram and seven lambs of a year old apiece that are pure. And their meatofferings of flour mingled with oil: 3 three tenth deals unto the bullock, and two unto the ram, and 4 one tenth deal unto one lamb throw the seven lambs. And 5 an he goat for a sin offering to make an atonement for you, beside the burnt offering of the month and his meat offering 6 and beside the daily burnt offering and his meat offering, and the drinkofferings of the same: according unto the manner of them for a savour of sweetness in the sacrifice of the LORD.
 And the tenth day of that same seventh month shall be an 7 holy feast unto you, and ye shall humble your souls and shall do no manner work therein. And ye shall offer a burnt offer- 8 ing unto the LORD of a sweet savour: one bullock, and a ram, and seven lambs of a year old apiece, without fault and their 9 meatofferings of flour mingled with oil: three tenth deals to a bullock, and two to a ram and always a tenth deal unto 10 a lamb, thorowout the seven lambs. And one he goat for a 11 sin offering, beside the sin offering of atonement and the daily burnt offering, and the meat and drinkofferings that long to the same. And the fifteenth day of the seventh month shall 12 be holy day and ye shall do no laborious work therein, and ye shall keep a feast unto the LORD of seven days long. And 13 ye shall offer a burnt offering of a sweet savour unto the LORD: thirteen bullocks two rams and fourteen lambs which are yearlings and pure, with oil, three tenth deals unto every one of 14 the thirteen bullocks: two tenth deals to either of the rams, and one tenth deal unto each of the fourteen lambs. And 15, 16 one he goat unto a sin offering, beside the daily burnt offering with his meat and drinkofferings. And the second day twelve 17 18 young bullocks, two rams, and fourteen yearling lambs without spot: and their meatofferings and drinkofferings unto the 19 bullocks, rams and lambs, according to the number of them and after the manner. And an he goat for a sinoffering, beside 20 the daily burnt offering and his meat and drinkofferings. And the third day eleven bullocks two rams and fourteen yearling 21 lambs without spot: and their meat and drinkofferings unto the bullocks, rams and lambs, after the number of them and 22 according to the manner. And an he goat for a sinoffering, beside the daily burnt offering and his meat and drinkofferings.

23 And the fourth day ten bullocks two rams and fourteen lambs, 24 yearlings and pure: and their meat and drinkofferings unto the bullocks, rams and lambs, according to their number and 25 after the manner. And an he goat for a sinoffering, beside 26 the daily burnt offering and his meat and drinkofferings. And the fifth day nine bullocks two rams and fourteen lambs of one 27 year old apiece without spot. And their meat and drinkofferings unto the bullocks, rams and lambs, according to the 28 number of them and after the manner. And an he goat for a sinoffering, beside the daily burnt offering and his meat and 29 drinkofferings. And the sixth day eight bullocks two rams 30 and fourteen yearling lambs without spot. And their meat and drinkofferings unto the bullocks, rams and lambs, accord-31 ing to the manner. And an he goat for a sinoffering, beside the 32 daily burnt offering and his meat and drinkofferings. And the seventh day seven bullocks two rams and fourteen lambs that 33 are yearlings and pure. And their meat and drinkofferings unto the bullocks, rams and lambs, according to their number 34 and to the manner. And an hegoat for a sinoffering, beside the 35 daily burnt offering and his meat and drinkofferings. And the eighth day shall be the conclusion of the feast unto you, and 36 ye shall do no manner laborious work therein. And ye shall offer a burnt offering of a sweet savour unto the LORD: one bul-37 lock, one ram and seven yearling lambs without spot. And the meat and drinkofferings unto the bullock, ram and lambs, ac-38 cording to their numbers and according to the manner. And an he goat for a sinoffering beside the daily burnt offering and 39 his meat and drinkofferings. These things ye shall do unto the LORD in your feasts: beside your vows and freewill offerings, in your burntofferings, meatofferings, drinkofferings and peaceofferings. And Moses told the children of Israel, accord- 40 ing to all that the LORD commanded him.

And Moses spake unto the heads of the tribes of the chil- XXX dren of Israel saying: this is the thing which the LORD com-mandeth. If a man vow a vow unto the LORD or swear an 2 oath and bind his soul, he shall not go back with his word: but shall fulfil all that proceedeth out of his mouth. If a damsel 3 vow a vow unto the LORD and bind herself being in her father's house and unmarried: If her father hear her vow and 4 bond which she hath made upon her soul, and hold his peace thereto: then all her vows and bonds which she hath made upon her soul shall stand in effect. But and if her father for- 5 bid her the same day that he heareth it, none of her vows nor bonds which she hath made upon her soul shall be of value, and the LORD shall forgive her, because her father forbade her. 6 If she had an husband when she vowed or pronounced ought out of her lips wherewith she bound her soul, and her husband 7 heard it and held his peace thereat the same day he heard it: Then her vows and her bonds wherewith she bound her soul, shall stand in effect. But and if her husband forbade her the 8 same day that he heard it, then hath he made her vow which she had upon her of none effect, and that also which she pronounced with her lips wherewith she bound her soul, and the LORD shall forgive her. The vow of a widow and of her that 9 is divorced, and all that they have bound their souls withal, shall stand in effect with them. If she vowed in her husband's 10 house or bound her soul with an oath, and her husband heard 11 it and held his peace and forbade her not: then all her vows and bonds wherewith she bound her soul, shall stand. But 12 if her husband disannulled them the same day that he heard them, then nothing that proceeded out of her lips in vows and bonds wherewith she bound her soul shall stand in effect: for her husband hath lowsed them, and the LORD shall forgive her. All vows and oaths that bind to humble the soul, may her 13 husband stablish or break. But if her husband hold his peace 14 from one day unto another, then he stablisheth all her vows and bonds which she had upon her, because he held his peace the same day that he heard them. And if he afterward break 15 them, he shall bear her sin himself. These are the ordinances 16 which the LORD commanded Moses, between a man and his wife, and between the father and his daughter, being a damsel in her father's house.

XXXI, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: avenge the children of Israel of the Madianites, and afterward be gathered 3 unto thy people. And Moses spake unto the folk saying: Harness some of you unto war, and let them go upon the Madianites and avenge the LORD of the Madianites. Ye shall send 4 unto the war a thousand of every tribe thorowout all the tribes 5 of Israel. And there were taken out of the thousands of Israel twelve thousand prepared unto war, of every tribe a thousand.
6 And Moses sent them a thousand of every tribe, with Phineas the son of Eleazer the priest to war, and the holy vessels and 7 the trumpets to blow with in his hand. And they warred against the Madianites, as the LORD commanded Moses, and 8 slew all the males. And they slew the kings of Madian among other that were slain: Eui, Rekem, Zur, Hur and Reba: five 9 kings of Madian. And they slew Balam the son of Beor with the sword. And the children of Israel took all the women of 10 Madian prisoners and their children, and spoiled all their cattle, their substance and their goods. And they burnt all their 11 cities wherein they dwelt, and all their castles with fire. And they took all the spoil and all they could catch, both of men 12 and beasts. And they brought the captives and that which they had taken and all the spoil unto Moses and Eleazer the 13 priest and unto the company of the children of Israel, even unto the host, in the fields of Moab by Jordan nye to Jericho. And 14 Moses and Eleazer the priest and all the lords of the congregation went out of the host against them. And Moses was angry 15 with the officers of the host, with the captains over thousands and over hundreds, which came from war and battle, and said 16 unto them: Have ye saved the women alive? behold, these caused the children of Israel thorow Balam, to commit trespass 17 against the LORD, by the reason of Peor, and there followed a plague among the congregation of the LORD. Now therefore 18 slay all the men children and the women that have lien with men fleshly: But all the women children that have not lien 19 with men, keep alive for your selves. And lodge without the host seven days all that have killed any person and all that 20 have twiched any dead body, and purify both your selves and your prisoners the third day and the seventh. And sprinkle all your raiments and all that is made of skins, and all work of goats' hair, and all things made of wood. And Eleazer the 21 priest said unto all the men of war which went out to battle: this is the ordinance of the law which the LORD commanded Moses: Gold, silver, brass, iron, tin and lead, and all that 22, 23 may abide the fire, ye shall make it go thorow the fire, and then it is clean. Neverthelater, it shall be sprinkled with sprinkling water. And all that suffereth not the fire, ye shall make go thorow the water. And wash your clothes the seventh day, and 24 then ye are clean. And afterward come into the host. And the 25 LORD spake unto Moses saying: take the sum of the prey that 26 was taken, both of the women and of cattle, thou and Eleazer the priest and the ancient heads of the congregation. And di- 27 vide it into two parts, between them that took the war upon them and went out to battle and all the congregation. And 28 take a portion unto the LORD of the men of war which went out to battle one of five hundred, of the women and of the oxen and of the asses and of the sheep and ye shall take it of their 29 half and give it unto Eleazer the priest, an heave offering unto the LORD. And of the half of the children of Israel, take one of 30 fifty, of the women, of the oxen, of the asses and of the sheep, and of all manner of beasts, and give them unto the Levites which wait upon the habitation of the LORD. And Moses and 31 Eleazer the priest did as the LORD commanded Moses. And 32 the booty and the prey which the men of war had caught, was six hundred thousand and seventy five thousand sheep: and 33 seventy two thousand oxen: and sixty one thousand asses: 34 and thirty two thousand women that had lien by no man. And 35, 36 the half which was the part of them that went out to war, was three hundred thousand and thirty seven thousand and five hundred sheep: And the LORD's part of the sheep was six hun- 37 dred and seventy five. And the oxen were thirty six thousand, 38 of which the LORD's part was seventy two. And the asses 39 were thirty thousand and five hundred, of which the LORD's part was sixty one. And the women were sixteen thousand, of 40 which the LORD's part was thirty two souls. And Moses gave 41 that sum which was the LORD's heave offering unto Eleazer the priest: as the LORD commanded Moses. And the other 42 half of the children of Israel which Moses separated from the men of war (that is to wete, the half that pertained unto the 43 congregation) was three hundred thousand and thirty seven 44 thousand and five hundred sheep: and thirty six thousand 45, 46 oxen: and thirty thousand asses and five hundred: and six-47 teen thousand women. And Moses took of this half that pertained unto the children of Israel: one of every fifty, both of the women and of the cattle, and gave them unto the Levites which waited upon the habitation of the LORD, as the LORD 48 commanded Moses. And the officers of thousands of the host, the captains over the thousands and the captains over the hun-49 dreds came forth and said unto Moses: Thy servants have taken the sum of the men of war, which were under our hand, 50 and there lacked not one man of them. We have therefore brought a present unto the LORD what every man found of Jewels of gold, chains, bracelets, rings, earrings and spangles, 51 to make an atonement for our souls before the LORD. And Moses and Eleazer took the gold of them: Jewels of all manner 52 fashions. And all the gold of the heave offering of the LORD, of the captains over thousands and hundreds was sixteen thou-53 sand seven hundred and fifty sicles, which* the men of war 54 had spoiled, every man for himself. And Moses and Eleazer the priest took the gold of the captains over the thousands and over the hundreds, and brought it into the tabernacle of witness: to be a memorial unto the children of Israel, before the LORD.

The children of Ruben and the children of Gad, had an exceeding great multitude of cattle. And when they saw the land of Jaeser and the land of Gilead that it was an apt place for cat-2 tle, they came and spake unto Moses and Eleazer the priest 3 and unto the lords of the congregation saying: The land of 4 Ataroth, Dibo and Beon, which country the LORD smote before the congregation of Israel: is a land for cattle and we thy 5 servants have cattle wherefore (said they) if we have found grace in thy sight, let this land be given unto thy servants to 6 possess, and bring us not over Jordan. And Moses said unto the children of Gad and of Ruben: shall your brethren go to 7 war and ye tarry here? Wherefore discourage ye the hearts of the children of Israel for to go over into the land which the 8 LORD hath given them? This did your fathers, when I sent 9 them from Cades bernea to see the land. And they went up even unto the river of Escol and saw the land, and discouraged the hearts of the children of Israel, that they should not go into the land which the LORD had given them. And the LORD was 10 wroth the same time and sware saying: None of the men that 11 came out of Egypt from twenty year old and above, shall see the land which I swore unto Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, because they have not continually followed me: save Caleb the 12 son of Jephune the Kenesite, and Josua the son of Nun, for they have followed me continually. And the LORD was angry 13 with Israel, and made them wander in the wilderness forty year, until all the generation that had done evil in the sight of the LORD were consumed. And behold, ye are risen up in 14 your father's stead, the increase of sinful men, to augment the fierce wrath of the LORD to Israelward. For if ye turn away 15 from after him, he will yet again leave the people in the wilderness, so shall ye destroy all this folk. And they went near him 16 and said: we will build sheepfolds here for our sheep and for our cattle, and cities for our children: But we our selves will 17 go ready armed before the children of Israel, until we have brought them unto their place. And our children shall dwell in the strong* cities, because of the inhabitants of the land. And 18 we will not return unto our houses, until the children of Israel have inherited: every man his inheritance. For we will not 19 inherit with them on yonder side Jordan forward, because our inheritance is fallen to us on this side Jordan eastward. And 20 Moses said unto them: If ye will do this thing, that ye will go all harnessed before the LORD to war, and will go all of you in 21 harness over Jordan before the LORD, until he have cast out his enemies before him, and until the land be subdued before 22 the LORD, then ye shall return and be without sin against the LORD and against Israel, and this land shall be your possession before the LORD. But and if ye will not do so, behold, ye 23 sin against the LORD: and be sure your sin will find you out.

 Build your cities for your children and folds for your sheep, and 24 see ye do that ye have spoken. And the Children of Gad and 25 of Ruben spake unto Moses saying: thy servants will do as my lord commandeth. Our children, our wives, substance and all 26 our cattle shall remain here in the cities of Gilead. But we 27 thy servants will go all harnessed for the war unto battle be-

28 fore the LORD, as my lord hath said. And Moses commanded Eleazer the priest: and Josua the son of Nun and the ancient 29 heads of the tribes of the children of Israel, and said unto them: If the children of Gad and Ruben will go with you over Jordan, all prepared to fight before the LORD: then when the land is subdued unto you, give them the land of Gilead to pos-30 sess, but and if they will not go over with you in harness, then they shall have their possessions among you in the land 31 of Canaan. And the children of Gad and Ruben answered saying: that which the LORD hath said unto thy servants we will 32 do. We will go harnessed before the LORD into the land of Canaan, and the possession of our inheritance shall be on this 33 side the Jordan. And Moses gave unto the children of Gad and of Ruben and unto half the tribe of Manasse the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sehon king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og king of Basan, the land that longed unto the cities thereof 34 in the coasts of the country round about. And the children 35 of Gad built Dibo, ataroth Aroer, Atroth, Sophan, Jaeser, Je-36 gabea, Bethnimra and Betharan strong* cities, and they built 37 folds for their sheep. And the children of Ruben built Hes-38 ebon, Elalea, Kiriathaim, Nebo, Baal Meon and turned their names, and Sibama also: and gave names unto the cities which 39 they built. And the children of Machir the son of Manasse went to Gilead and took it, and put out the Amorites that were 40 therein. And Moses gave Gilead unto Machir the son of Man-41 asse and he dwelt therein. And Jahir the son of Manasse went and took the small towns thereof, and called them the towns of 42 Jair. And Nobah went and took kenath with the towns longing thereto, and called it Nobah after his own name.

These are the journeys of the children of Israel which went out of the land of Egypt with their armies under Moses and 2 Aaron. And Moses wrote their going out by their journeys at the commandment of the LORD: even these are the journeys of 3 their going out. The children of Israel departed from Rameses the fifteenth day of the first month, on the morrow after Passover and went out with an high hand in the sight of all 4 Egypt, while the Egyptians buried all their firstborn which the LORD had smoten among them. And upon their gods also 5 the LORD did execution. And the children of Israel removed from Rameses and pitched in Succoth. And they departed from 6 Succoth and pitched their tents in Ethan, which is in the edge of the wilderness. And they removed from Ethan and turned 7 unto the entering of Hivroth which is before Baal Zephon, and pitched before Migdol. And they departed from before Hi- 8 vroth and went thorow the midst of the sea into the wilderness, and went three days journey in the wilderness of Ethan, and pitched in Marah. And they removed from Marah and went 9 unto Elim where were twelve fountains and seventy date* trees and they pitched there. And they removed from Elim and lay 10 fast by the red sea. And they removed from the red sea and 11 lay in the wilderness of Zin. And they took their journey out of 12 the wilderness of Zin, and set up their tents in Daphka. And 13 they departed from Daphka, and lay in Alus. And they re- 14 moved from Alus, and lay at Raphedim, where was no water for the people to drink. And they departed from Raphedim, and 15 pitched in the wilderness of Sinai. And they removed from the 16 desert of Sinai, and lodged at the graves of lust. And they de- 17 parted from the sepulchres of lust, and lay at Hazeroth. And 18 they departed from Hazeroth, and pitched in Rithma. And 19 departed from Rithma and pitched at Rimmon Parazi. And they 20 departed from Rimmon Parazi, and pitched in Libna. And they 21 removed from Libna, and pitched at Rissa. And they jour- 22 neyed from Rissa and pitched at Kehelath. And they went 23 from Kehelath, and pitched in mount Sapher. And they re- 24 moved from mount Sapher, and lay in Harada. And they re- 25 moved from Harada, and pitched in Makeheloth. And they 26 removed from Makeheloth, and lay at Tahath, and they de- 27 parted from Tahath and pitched at Tharath. And they re- 28 moved from Tharath, and pitched in Mithca. And they went 29 from Mithca, and lodged in Hasmona. And they departed 30 from Hasmona, and lay at Moseroth. And they departed from 31 Moseroth, and pitched among the children of Jaken. And 32 they removed from the children of Bane Jaken, and lay at Horgadgad. And they went from Horgadgad, and pitched in Jath- 33 batha. And they removed from Jathbatha, and lay at Abrona. 34 And they departed from Abrona, and lay at Ezeon gaber. And 35, 36 they removed from Ezeon gaber, and pitched in the wilderness of Sin, which is Cades. And they removed from Cades, 37 and pitched in mount Hor, in the edge of the land of Moab.*

38 And Aaron the priest went up into mount Hor at the commandment of the LORD and died there, even in the fortieth year, after the children of Israel were come out of the land of 39 Egypt, and in the first day of the fifth month. And Aaron was an hundred and thirty three year old when he died in mount 40 Hor. And king Erad the Cananite which dwelt in the south of the land of Canaan, heard that the children of Israel were 41 come. And they departed from mount Hor, and pitched in Zalmona. And they departed from Zalmona, and pitched in Phimon, 42 mon, and they departed from Phimon, and pitched in Oboth. And they departed from Oboth, and pitched in Iгим Abarim* 43 in the borders of Moab. And they departed from Iгим,* and pitched in Dibon Gad. And they removed from Dibon Gad, 44 and lay in Almon Diblathama. And they removed from Almon Diblathama, and pitched in the mountains of Abarim before Nibo.
45 And they departed from the mountains of Abarim, and pitched in the fields of Moab fast by Jordan nye to Jericho.
46 And they pitched upon Jordan, from Beth Haiesmoth unto the plain of Sitim* in the fields of Moab. And the LORD spake 47 unto Moses in the fields of Moab by Jordan nye unto Jericho, saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say unto them: 48 when ye are come over Jordan into the land of Canaan, see that ye drive out all the inhabiters of the land before you, and 49 destroy their imaginations* and all their Images of Metal, and pluck down all their altars built on hills: And possess the land 50 and dwell therein, for I have given you the land to enjoy it. And ye shall divide the inheritance of the land by lot among 51 your kindreds, and give to the more the more inheritance, and to the fewer the less inheritance. And your inheritance shall 52 be in the tribes of your fathers, in the place where every man's lot falleth. But and if ye will not drive out the inhabiters of 53 the land before you, then these* which ye let remain of them, shall be thorns in your eyes and darts in your sides, and shall 54 vex you in the land wherein ye dwell. Moreover it will come to pass, that I shall do unto you as I thought to do unto them.

XXXIV, 2 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: command the children of Israel and say unto them: when ye come into the land of Canaan, this is the land that shall fall unto your inheritance, the land of Canaan with all her coasts. And your south quarter shall be from the wilderness of Zin along by the coast of Edom, so that your south quarter shall be from the side of the salt sea eastward, and shall fetch a compass from the south up to Acrabim, and reach to Zinna. And it shall go out on the south side of Cades Bernea, and go out also at Hazar Adar, and go along to Azmon. And shall fetch a compass from Azmon unto the river of Egypt, and shall go out at the sea. And your west quarter shall be the great sea, which coast shall be your west coast. And this shall be your north quarter: ye shall compass from the great sea unto mount Hor. And from mount Hor, ye shall compass and go unto Hemath, and the end of the coast shall be at Zedada, and the coast shall reach out to Ziphron and go out at Hazor enan. And this shall be your north quarter. And ye shall compass your east quarter from Hazar Enan to Sepham. And the coast shall go down from Sepham to Ribla on the east side of Ain. And then descend and go out at the side of the sea of Cenereth eastward. And then go down along by Jordan, and leave at the salt sea. And this shall be your land with all the coasts thereof round about. And Moses commanded the children of Israel, saying: this is the land which ye shall inherit by lot, and which the LORD commanded to give unto nine tribes and an half: for the tribe of the children of Ruben, have received, in the households of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Gad in their fathers' households, and half the tribe of Manasse, have received their inheritance, that is to wete two tribes and a half have received their inheritance on the other side of Jordan by Jericho eastward, toward the son rising. And the LORD spake to Moses saying: These are the names of the men, which shall divide you the land to inherit. Eleazer the priest, and Josua the son of Nun. And ye shall take also a lord of every tribe to divide the land, whose names are these: in the tribe of Juda, Caleb the son of Jephune. And in the tribe of the children of Simeon, Semuel the son of Amiud, and in the tribe of BenJamin, Elidad the son of Cislon. And in the tribe of the children of Dan, the lord Bucki the son of Jagli. And among the children of Joseph: in the tribe of the children of Manasse, the lord Haniel the son of Ephod. And in the tribe of the chil-

25 dren of Ephraim, the lord Cemuel the son of Siphtan. And in the tribe of the sons of Zabulon, the lord Elizaphan the son of 26 Parnac. And in the tribe of the children of Isachar, the lord 27 Palthiel the son of Asan. And in the tribe of the sons of Aser, 28 the lord Ahihud the son of Selomi. And in the tribe of the children of Naphthali, the lord Pada El the son of Ammihud.
 29 These are they which the LORD commanded to divide the inheritance unto the children of Israel, in the land of Canaan.

And the LORD spake unto Moses in the fields of Moab by 2 Jordan Jericho saying: command the children of Israel, that they give unto the Levites of the inheritance of their posses-3 sion: cities to dwell in. And ye shall give also unto the cities of the Levites, suburbs round about them. The cities shall be 4 for them to dwell in, and the suburbs for their cattle, possession and all manner beasts of theirs. And the suburbs of the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, shall reach from the wall of the city outward, a thousand cubits round about.
 5 And ye shall measure without the city, and make the utmost border of the east side: two thousand cubits. And the utmost border of the south side: two thousand cubits. And the utmost border of the west side: two thousand cubits. And the utmost border of the north side: two thousand cubits also: and the city shall be in the midst. And these shall be the suburbs of 6 their cities. And among the cities which ye shall give unto the Levites, there shall be six cities of franchise which ye shall give to that intent that he which killeth, may fly thither. And to 7 them ye shall add forty two cities more:* so that all the cities which ye shall give the Levites shall be forty eight with their 8 suburbs. And of the cities which ye shall give out of the possessions of the children of Israel, ye shall give many out of their possessions that have much and few out of their possessions that have little: so that every tribe shall give of his cities unto the Levites, according to the inheritance which he inheriteth.
 9, 10 And the LORD spake unto Moses saying: speak unto the children of Israel and say unto them: when ye be come over Jor-11 dan into the land of Canaan, ye shall build cities which shall be privileged towns for you: that he which slayeth a man un-12 awares, may fly thither. And the cities shall be to flee from the executer of blood, that he which killed die not, until he stand before the congregation in judgement. And of these six 13 free cities which ye shall give three ye shall give on this side 14 Jordan and three in the land of Canaan. And these six free 15 cities shall be for the children of Israel and for the stranger and for him that dwelleth among you, that all they which kill any person unawares, may flee thither. If any man smite another 16 with a weapon of iron that he die, then he is a murderer, and shall die for it. If he smite him with a throwing stone that 17 he die therewith, then he shall die: For he is a murderer and shall be slain therefore. If he smite him with a hand weapon 18 of wood that he die therewith, then he shall die: for he is a mur-derer and shall be slain therefore. The judge* of blood shall 19 slay the murderer, as soon as he findeth him: If he thrust him 20 of hate, or hurl at him with laying of wait that he die or smite 21 him with his hand of envy that he die, he that smote him shall die, for he is a murderer. The justice of blood shall slay him as 22 soon as he findeth him. But and if he pushed him by chance and not of hate or cast at him with any manner of thing and 23 not of laying of wait: or cast any manner of stone at him that he die therewith, and saw him not: And he cast it upon him 24 and he died, but was not his enemy, neither sought him any harm: Then the congregation shall judge between the slayer 25 and the executer of blood in such cases. And the congregation shall deliver the slayer out of the hand of the judge of blood, and shall restore him again unto the franchised city, whither he was fled. And he shall bide there unto the death of the high 26 priest which was anointed with holy oil. But and if he came without the borders of his privileged city whither he was fled, if the blood avenger find him without the borders of his free 27 town, he shall slay the murderer and be guiltless, because he 28 should have bidden in his free town until the death of the high priest, and after the death of the high priest, he shall return again unto the land of his possession. And this shall be an or- 29 dinance and a law unto you, among your children after you in all your habitations. Whosoever slayeth, shall be slain at the 30 mouth of witnesses. For one witness shall not answer against one person to put him to death. Moreover ye shall take none 31 amends for the life of the murderer which is worthy to die: But he shall be put to death. Also ye shall take none atonement 32 for him that is fled to a free city, that he should come again and 33 dwell in the land before the death of the high priest. And see that ye pollute not the land which ye are in, for blood defileth the land. And the land can none otherwise be cleansed of the blood that is shed therein, but by the blood of it that shed it.

 34 Defile not therefore the land which ye inhabit, and in the midst of which I also dwell, for I am, the LORD which dwell among the children of Israel.

XXXVI

And the ancient heads of the children of Gilead the son of Machir the son of Manasse of the kindred of the children of Joseph, came forth and spake before Moses and the princes 2 which were ancient heads among the children of Israel and said: The LORD commanded my lord to give the land to inherit by lot to the children of Israel. And then my lord commanded in the name of the LORD to give the inheritance of Zelaphead 3 our brother unto his daughters. Now when any of the sons of the tribes of Israel take them to wives, then shall their inheritance be taken from the inheritance of our fathers, and shall be put unto the inheritance of the tribe in which they are and 4 shall be taken from the lot of our inheritance. And when the free year* cometh unto the children of Israel, then shall their inheritance be put unto the inheritance of the tribe where they are in, and so shall their inheritance be taken away from the 5 inheritance of the tribe of our fathers. And Moses commanded the children of Israel at the mouth of the LORD saying: the 6 tribe of the children of Joseph have said well. This therefore doeth the LORD: command the daughters of Zelaphead saying: let them be wives to whom they themselves think best, but in the 7 kindred of the tribe of their fathers shall they marry, that the inheritance of the children of Israel roll not from tribe to tribe.
 But that the children of Israel may abide, every man in the in-8 heritance of the tribe of his fathers. And every daughter that possesseth any inheritance among the tribes of the children of Israel, shall be wife unto one of the kindred of the tribe of her father, that the children of Israel may enjoy every man the in-9 heritance of his father, and that the inheritance go not from one tribe to another: but that the tribes of the children of Is-10 rael, may abide every man in his own inheritance. And as the LORD commanded Moses even so did the daughters of Zelapried unto their fathers' brothers' sons, of the kindred of the 12 children of Manasse the son of Joseph: and so they had their inheritance in the tribe of the kindred of their father. These 13 are the commandments and laws which the LORD commanded thorow Moses, unto the children of Israel in the fields of Moab upon Jordan nye unto Jericho.

The end of the .iiij. booke of Moyses.

The Fifth Book Of Moses, Called Deuteronomy.

I  these be the words which Moses spake unto all Israel, on the other side Jordan in the wilderness and in the fields by the red sea, between Pharan and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth and Disahab twelve days journey from Horeb unto Cades barne, by the way that leadeth unto mount Seir. And it fortuneth the first day of the eleventh month in the fortieth year, that Moses spake unto the children of Israel according unto all that the LORD had given him in commandment unto them, after that he had smote Sehon the king of the Amorites which dwelt in Hesbon, and Og king of Basan which dwelt at Astaroth in Edrei. On the other side Jordan in the land of Moab, Moses began to declare this law saying: the LORD our God spake unto us in Horeb saying: Ye have dwelt long enough in this mount: depart therefore and take your journey and go unto the hills of the Amorites and unto all places nye there unto: both fields, hills and dales: and unto the south and unto the sea's side in the land of Canaan, and unto Libanon: even unto the great river Euphrates. Behold, I have set the land before you: go in therefore and possess the land which the LORD sware unto your fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, to give unto them and their seed after them.

9 And I said unto you the same season: I am not able to bear you myself alone. For the LORD your God hath multiplied you: so that ye are this day as the stars of heaven in number (the LORD God of your fathers make you a thousand times so many more as ye are, and bless you as he hath promised you) how (said I) can I myself alone, bear the cumbrance, charge and strife that is among you: bring therefore men of wisdom and of understanding and expert, known among your tribes, that I may make them rulers over you. And ye answered me and said: that which thou hast spoken is good to be done.

15 And then I took the heads of your tribes, men of wisdom and that were expert, and made them rulers over you: captains over thousands and over hundreds, over fifty and over ten, and officers among your tribes. And I charged your judges the same time saying: hear your brethren and judge righteously between every man and his brother and the stranger that is with him. See that ye know no man in judgement: but hear 17 the small as well as the great and be afraid of no man, for the law is God's. And the cause that is too hard for you, bring unto me and I will hear it. And I commanded you the same season, 18 all the things which ye should do. And then we departed from 19 Horeb and walked thorow all that great and terrible wilderness as ye have seen along by the way that leadeth unto the hills of the Amorites, as the LORD our God commanded us, and came to Cades barne. And there I said unto you: Ye are 20 come unto the hills of the Amorites, which the LORD our God doth give unto us. Behold the LORD thy God hath set the 21 land before thee, go up and conquer it, as the LORD God of thy fathers sayeth unto thee: fear not, neither be discouraged.

And then ye came unto me every one and said: Let us send 22 men before us, to search us out the land and to bring us word again, both what way we shall go up by, and unto what cities we shall come. And the saying pleased me well, and I took 23 twelve men of you, of every tribe one. And they departed and 24 went up into the high country and came unto the river Escol, and searched it out, and took of the fruit of the land in their 25 hands and brought it down unto us and brought us word again and said: it is a good land which the LORD our God doeth give us. Notwithstanding ye would not consent to go up, but were 26 disobedient unto the mouth of the LORD your God, and mur- 27 mured in your tents and said: because the LORD hateth us, therefore he hath brought us out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hands of the Amorites and to destroy us. How 28 shall we go up? Our brethren have discouraged our hearts saying: the people is greater and taller than we, and the cities are great and walled even up to heaven, and moreover we have seen the sons of the Enakims there. And I said unto you: 29 dread not nor be afraid of them: The LORD your God which 30 goeth before you, he shall fight for you, according to all that he did unto you in Egypt before your eyes and in the wilder- 31 ness: as thou hast seen how that the LORD thy God bare thee as a man should bear his son, thorowout all the way which ye have gone, until ye came unto this place. And yet for all this 32 saying ye did not believe the LORD your God which goeth the 33 way before you, to search you out a place to pitch your tents in, in fire by night, that ye might see what way to go and in a cloud by day. And the LORD heard the voice of your words and was wroth and swore saying, there shall not one of these men of this froward generation see that good land which I sware to give unto your fathers, save Caleb the son of Jephune, he shall see it, and to him I will give the land which he hath walked in and to his children, because he hath continually followed the LORD. Likewise the LORD was angry with me for your sakes saying: thou also shalt not go in thither. But Josua the son of Nun which standeth before thee, he shall go in thither. Bold him therefore for he shall divide it unto Israel. Moreover your children which ye said should be a prey, and your sons which know neither good nor bad this day, they shall go in thither and unto them I will give it, and they shall enjoy it. But as for you, turn back and take your journey into the wilderness: even the way to the red sea. Then ye answered and said unto me: We have sinned against the LORD: we will go up and fight, according to all that the LORD our God commanded us. And when ye had girded on every man his weapons of war and were ready to go up into the hills, the LORD said unto me: say unto them, see that ye go not up and that ye fight not, for I am not among you: lest ye be plagued before your enemies. And when I told you ye would not hear: but disobeyed the mouth of the LORD, and went presumptuously up into the hills. Then the Amorites which dwelt in those hills, came out against you and chased you as bees do, and hewed you in Seir, even unto Horma. And ye came again and wept before the LORD: but the LORD would not hear your voice nor give you audience. And so ye abode in Cades a long season, according unto the time that ye there dwelt.

II Then we turned and took our journey into the wilderness, even the way to the red sea as the LORD commanded me. And we compassed the mountains of Seir a long time. Then the LORD spake unto me saying: Ye have compassed these mountains long enough, turn you northward. And warn the people saying: Ye shall go thorow the coasts of your brethren the children of Esau which dwell in Seir, and they shall be afraid of you: But take good heed unto your selves that ye provoke them not, for I will not give you of their land, no not so much as a foot breadth: because I have given mount Seir unto Esau to possess. Ye shall buy meat of them for money to eat, and 6 ye shall buy water of them for money to drink. For the LORD 7 thy God hath blessed thee in all the works of thine hand, and knew thee as thou wentest thorow this great wilderness. Moreover the LORD thy God hath been with thee this forty years, so that thou hast lacked nothing. And when we were departed 8 from our brethren the children of Esau which dwelt in Seir by the field way from Elath and Ezion Gaber, we turned and went the way to the wilderness of Moab. Then the LORD said 9 unto me: see that thou vex not the Moabites, neither provoke them to battle for I will not give thee of their land to possess: because I have given Ar unto the children of loth to possess.

The Emims dwelt therein in times past, a people great, many 10 and tall, as the Enakims: which also were taken for giants 11 as the Enakims: And the Moabites called them Emims. In 12 like manner the Horims dwelt in Seir before time which the children of Esau cast out, and destroyed them before them and dwelt there in their stead: as Israel did in the land of his possession which the LORD gave them. Now rise up (said I) and 13 get you over the river Zared: and we went over the river Zared.
The space in which we came from Cades barne until we were 14 come over the river Zared was thirty eight years: until all the generation of the men of war were wasted out of the host as the LORD sware unto them. For indeed the hand of the LORD was 15 against them, to destroy them out of the host, till they were consumed. And as soon as all the men of war were consumed 16 and dead from among the people, then the LORD spake unto 17 me saying: Thou shalt go thorow Ar the coast of Moab this 18 day, and shalt come nye unto the children of Ammon: see that 19 thou vex them not, nor yet provoke them. For I will not give thee of the land of the children of Ammon to possess, because I have given it unto the children of Loth to possess. That also 20 was taken for a land of giants and giants dwelt therein in old time, and the Ammonites called them Zamzumims. A people 21 that was great, many and tall, as the Enakims. But the LORD destroyed them before the Ammonites, and they cast them out and they dwelt there in their stead: as he did for the children 22 of Esau which dwell in Seir: even as he destroyed the Horims before them, and they cast them out and dwell in their stead 23 unto this day. And the Avims which dwelt in Hazarim even 24 unto Aza, the Caphthorims which came out of Caphthor de-25 stroyed them and dwelt in their rooms. Rise up, take your 26 journey and go over the river Arnon. Behold, I have given into 27 thy hand Sehon the Amorite king of Hesbon, and his land. Go 28 to and conquer and provoke him to battle. This day I will be-29 gin to send the fear and dread of thee upon all nations that 30 are under all ports of heaven: so that when they hear speak 31 of thee, they shall tremble and quake for fear of thee. Then 32 I sent messengers out of the wilderness of Kedemoth unto Si-33 hon king of Hesbon, with words of peace saying: Let me go 34 thorow thy land. I will go always along by the high way and 35 will neither turn unto the right hand nor to the left. Sell me 36 meat for money for to eat, and give me drink for money for to 37 drink: I will go thorow by foot only (as the children of Esau did unto me which dwell in Seir and the Moabites which dwell in Ar) until I be come over Jordan, into the land which the LORD our God giveth us. But Sihon the king of Hesbon would not let us pass by him, for the LORD thy God had hardened his spirit and made his heart tough because he would deliver him into thy hands as it is come to pass this day. And the LORD said unto me: behold, I have begun to set Sihon and his land before thee: go to and conquer, that thou mayst possess his land. Then both Sihon and all his people came out against us unto battle at Jahab. And the LORD set him before us, and we smote him and his sons and all his people. And we took all his cities the same season, and destroyed all the cities with men, women, and children and let nothing remain, save the cattle only we caught unto our selves and the spoil of the cities which we took, from Aroer upon the brink of the river of Arnon, and the city in the river, unto Gilead: there was not one city too strong for us. The LORD our God delivered all unto us: only unto the land of the children of Ammon ye came not, nor^{} unto all the coast of the river Jabock nor^{} unto the cities in the mountains, nor unto whatsoever the LORD our God forbade us.

III Then we turned and went up the way to Basan. And Og the king of Basan came out against us: both he and all his people 2 to battle at Edrei. And the LORD said unto me: fear him not, for I have delivered him and all his people and his land into thy hand and thou shalt deal with him as thou dealest with Sihon king of the Amorites which dwelt at Hesbon. And so 3 the LORD our God delivered into our hands, Og also the king of Basan and all his folk. And we smote him until nought was left him. And we took all his cities the same season (for there 4 was not a city which we took not from them) even three score cities, all the region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Basan.

All these cities were made strong with high walls, gates and 5 bars, beside unwalled towns a great many. And we utterly de- 6 stroyed them, as we played with Sihon king of Hesbon: bringing to nought all the cities with men, women and children.
But all the cattle and the spoil of the cities, we caught for our- 7 selves. And thus we took the same season, the land out of the 8 hand of two kings of the Amorites on the other side Jordan, from the river of Arnon unto mount Hermon (which Hermon 9 the Sidons call Sirion, but the Amorites call it Senir) all the cities in the plain and all Gilead and all Basan unto Salcha 10 and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Basan. For only 11 Og king of Basan remained of the remnant of the giants: behold, his iron bed is yet at Rabath among the children of Ammon nine cubits long and, four cubits broad, of the cubits of a 12 man. And when we had conquered this land the same time, I gave from Aroer which is upon the river of Arnon, and half mount Gilead and the cities thereof unto the Rubenites, and Gadites. And the rest of Gilead and all Basan the kingdom 13 of Og, I gave unto the half tribe of Manasse: all the region of Argob with all Basan was called the land of giants. Jair the 14 son of Manasse took all the region of Argob unto the coasts of Gesuri and Maachati, and called the towns of Basan after his own name: the towns of Havoth Jair unto this day. And I gave 15 half Gilead unto Machir. And unto Ruben and Gad, I gave 16 from Gilead unto the river of Arnon and half the valley and the coast, even unto the river Jabock which is the border of the children of Ammon, and the fields and Jordan with the coast, 17 from Cenereth even unto the sea in the field which is the salt sea under the springs of Pisga eastward. And I commanded 18 you the same time (ye Ruben and Gad) saying: the LORD your God hath given you this land to enjoy it: see that ye go harnessed before your brethren the children of Israel, all that are men of war among you. Your wives only, your children and 19 your cattle (for I wot that ye have much cattle) shall abide in 20 your cities which I have given you, until the LORD have given rest unto your brethren as well as unto you, and until they also have conquered the land which the LORD your God hath given them beyond Jordan: and then return again every man unto 21 his possession which I have given you. And I warned Josua the same time saying: thine eyes have seen all that the LORD your God hath done unto these two kings, even so the LORD 22 will do unto all kingdoms whither thou goest. Fear them not, 23 for the LORD your God he it is that fighteth for you. And I 24 besought the LORD the same time saying: O Lord Jehovah,* thou hast begun to shew thy servant thy greatness and thy mighty hand, for there is no God in heaven nor in earth that 25 can do after thy works and after thy power: let me go over and see the good land that is beyond Jordan, that goodly high coun-26 try and Libanon. But the LORD was angry with me for your sakes and would not hear me, but said unto me, be content, 27 and speak henceforth no more unto me of this matter; Get thee up into the top of Pisga and lift up thine eyes west, north, south and east, and behold it with thine eyes for thou shalt not 28 go over this Jordan. Moreover, charge Josua and courage him and bold him. For he shall go over before his people, and he shall divide the land which thou shalt see unto them. And so 29 we abode in the valley beside Beth Peor.

IV And now hearken Israel unto the ordinances and laws which I teach you, for to do them, that ye may live and go and conquer the land which the LORD God of your fathers giveth you.
 2 Ye shall put nothing unto the word which I command you neither do ought therefrom, that ye may keep the commandments 3 of the LORD your God which I command you. Your eyes have seen what the LORD did unto Baal Peor: for all the men that followed Baal Peor, the LORD your God hath destroyed from 4 among you. But ye that clave unto the LORD your God, are 5 alive every one of you this day. Behold, I have taught you ordinances and laws, such as the LORD my God commanded me, that ye should do even so in the land whither ye go to possess it.
 6 Keep them therefore and do them, for that is your wisdom and understanding in the sight of the nations: which when they have heard all these ordinances, shall say: O what a wise and understanding people is this great nation. For what nation 7 is so great that hath Gods* so nye unto him: as the LORD our 8 God is nye unto us, in all things, when we call unto him? Yea, 8 and what nation is so great that hath ordinances and laws so 8 righteous, as all this law which I set before you this day. Take 9 heed to thy self therefore only and keep thy soul diligently, that 9 thou forget not the things which thine eyes have seen, and that 9 they depart not out of thine heart, all the days of thine life: but 9 teach them thy sons, and thy sons son's. The day that I stood 10 before the LORD your God in Horeb, when he said unto me, 10 gather me the people together, that I may make them hear my 10 words that they may learn to fear me as long as they live upon 10 the earth and that they may teach their children: ye came 11 and stood also under the hill, and the hill burnt with fire: even 11 unto the midst of heaven, and there was darkness, clouds and 11 mist. And the LORD spake unto you out of the fire and ye 12 heard the voice of the words: But saw no image, save heard 12 a voice only. And he declared unto you his covenant, which 13 he commanded you to do, even ten verses and wrote them in 13 two tables of stone. And the LORD commanded me the same 14 season to teach you ordinances and laws, for to do them in the 14 land whither ye go to possess it. Take heed unto yourselves 15 diligently as pertaining unto your souls, for ye saw no man- 15 ner of image the day when the LORD spake unto you in Horeb 15 out of the fire: lest ye mar yourselves and make you graven 16 images after whatsoever likeness it be: whether after the like- 16 ness of man or woman or any manner beast that is on the 17 earth or of any manner feathered fowl that flyeth in the air, or 18 of any manner worm that creepeth on the earth or of any man- 18 ner fish that is in the water beneath the earth: Yea and lest 19 thou lift up thine eyes unto heaven, and when thou seest the 19 son and the moon and the stars and whatsoever is contained in 19 heaven, shouldest be deceived and shouldest bow thyself unto 19 them and serve the things which the LORD thy God hath dis- 19 tributed unto all nations that are under all quarters of heaven. 19 For the LORD took you and brought you out of the iron furnace 20 of Egypt, to be unto him a people of inheritance, as it is come 20 to pass this day. Furthermore, the LORD was angry with me 21 for your sakes and sware, that I should not go over Jordan 21

4. v.7 Other: Goddes.

and that I should not go unto that good land, which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inheritance. For I must die in this land, and shall not go over Jordan: But ye shall go over and conquer that good land. Take heed unto yourselves therefore, that ye forget not the appointment of the LORD your God which he made with you, and that ye make you no graven image of whatsoever it be that the LORD thy God hath forbidden thee. For the LORD thy God is a consuming fire, and a jealous God. If after thou hast gotten children and children's children and hast dwelt long in the land, ye shall mar yourselves and make graven images after the likeness of whatsoever it be, and shall work wickedness in the sight of the LORD thy God, to provoke him. I call heaven and earth to record unto you this day, that ye shall shortly perish from off the land whither ye go over Jordan to possess it: Ye shall not prolong your days therein, but shall shortly be destroyed. And the LORD shall scatter you among nations, and ye shall be left few in number among the people whither the LORD shall bring you: and there ye shall serve gods which are the works of man's hand, wood and stone which neither see nor hear nor eat nor smell. Nevertheless ye shall seek the LORD your God even there, and shalt find him if thou seek him with all thine heart and with all thy soul. In thy tribulation and when all these things are come upon thee, even in the latter days, thou shalt turn unto the LORD thy God, and shalt hearken unto his voice. For the LORD thy God is a pitiful God: he will not forsake thee neither destroy thee, nor forget the appointment made with thy fathers which he sware unto them. For ask I pray thee of the days that are past which were before thee, since the day that God created man upon the earth and from the one side of heaven unto the other, whether anything hath been like unto this great thing or whether any such thing hath been heard as it is, that a nation hath heard the voice of God speaking out of fire as thou hast heard, and yet lived? either whether God assayed to go and take him a people from among nations, thorow temptations and signs and wonders and thorow war and with a mighty hand and a stretched out arm and with mighty terrible sights, according unto all that the LORD your God did unto you in Egypt before your eyes. Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest know, how that the LORD he is God and that there is none but he. Out of heaven he made thee hear his voice to nurture thee, and upon earth he shewed thee his great fire, and thou heardest his words out of the fire. And because he loved thy fathers, therefore he chose their seed after them and brought thee out with his presence and with his mighty power of Egypt: to thrust out nations greater and mightier than thou before thee, to bring thee in and to give thee their land to inheritance: as it is come to pass this day. Understand therefore this day and turn it to thine heart, that the LORD he is God in heaven above and upon the earth beneath, there is no more: keep therefore his ordinances, and his commandments which I command thee this day, that it may go well with thee and with thy children after thee and that thou mayst prolong thy days upon the earth which the LORD thy God giveth thee for ever.* Then Moses severed three cities on the other side Jordan toward the son rising, that he should flee thither which had killed his neighbour unwares and hated him not in time past, and therefore should flee unto one of the same cities and live: Bezer in the wilderness even in the plain country among the Rubenites: and Ramoth in Gilead among the Gadites and Solan in Basan among the Manassites. This is the law which Moses set before the children of Israel, and these are the witness, ordinances and statutes which Moses told the children of Israel after they came out of Egypt, on the other side Jordan in the valley beside Beth Peor in the land of Sehon king of the Amorites which dwelt at Hesbon, whom Moses and the children of Israel smote after they were come out of Egypt, and conquered his land and the land of Og king of Basan two kings of the Amorites on the other side Jordan toward the son rising: from Aroer upon the bank of the river Arnon, unto mount Sion which is called Hermon and all the fields on the other side Jordan eastward: even unto the sea in the field under the springs of Pisga.

And Moses called unto all Israel and said unto them: Hear Israel the ordinances and laws which I speak in thine ears this day, and learn them and take heed that ye do them. The LORD our God made an appointment with us in Horeb. The LORD made not this bond with our fathers, but with us: we are they, which are all here alive this day. The LORD talked with you

v.40 Other: thy life long.

5 face to face in the mount out of the fire. And I stood between the LORD and you the same time, to shew you the saying of the LORD. For ye were afraid of the fire and therefore went not up 6 into the mount and he said: I am the LORD thy God which brought thee out of the land of Egypt the house of bondage.
7 Thou shalt have therefore none other gods in my presence.
8 Thou shalt make thee no graven Image of any manner likeness that is in heaven above, or in the earth beneath, or in the 9 water beneath the earth. Thou shalt neither bow thyself unto them nor serve them, for I the LORD thy God, am a jealous God, visiting the wickedness of the fathers upon the children, even in the third and the fourth generation, among them that 10 hate me: and shew mercy upon thousands among them that 11 love me and keep my commandments. Thou shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain: for the LORD will not 12 hold him guiltless, that taketh his name in vain. Keep the Sabbath day that thou sanctify it, as the LORD thy God hath 13 commanded thee. Six days thou shalt labour and do all that 14 thou hast to do, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the LORD thy God: thou shalt do no manner work, neither thou nor thy son nor thy daughter nor thy servant nor thy maid nor thine ox nor thine ass nor any of thy cattle, nor the stranger that is within thy city, that thy servant and thy maid may rest 15 as well as thou. And remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt and how that the LORD God, brought thee out thence with a mighty hand and a stretched out arm. For which cause the LORD thy God commandeth thee to keep the 16 Sabbath day. Honour thy father and thy mother, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee: that thou mayst prolong thy days, and that it may go well with thee on the land, which the 17, 18 LORD thy God giveth thee. Thou shalt not slee. Thou shalt 19, 20 not break wedlock. Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not bear 21 false witness against thy neighbour. Thou shalt not lust after thy neighbour's wife: thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's house, field, servant, maid, ox, ass nor ought that is thy neigh-22 bour's. These words the LORD spake unto all your multitude in the mount out of the fire, cloud and darkness, with a loud voice, and added no more thereto, and wrote them in two tables 23 of stone and delivered them unto me. But as soon as ye heard the voice out of the darkness and saw the hill burn with fire, ye came unto me all the heads of your tribes and your elders: and ye said: behold, the LORD our God hath shewed us his glory and his greatness, and we have heard his voice out of the fire, and we have seen this day that God may talk with a man and he yet live. And now wherefore should we die that this great fire should consume us: If we should hear the voice of the LORD our God any more, we should die. For what is any flesh that he should hear the voice of the living God speaking out of the fire as we have done and should yet live: Go thou and hear all that the LORD our God sayeth, and tell thou unto us all that the LORD our God sayeth unto thee, and we will hear it and do it. And the LORD heard the voice of your words when ye spake unto me, and he said unto me: I have heard the voice of the words of this people which they have spoke unto thee, they have well said all that they have said. Oh that they had such an heart with them to fear me and keep all my commandments alway, that it might go well with them and with their children for ever. Go and say unto them: get you into your tents again, but stand thou here before me and I will tell thee all the commandments, ordinances and laws which thou shalt teach them, that they may do them in the land which I give them to possess. Take heed therefore that ye do as the LORD your God hath commanded you, and turn not aside: either to the right hand or to the left: but walk in all the ways which the LORD your God hath commanded you, that ye may live and that it may go well with you and that ye may prolong your days in the land which ye shall possess.

These are the commandments, ordinances and laws which the LORD your God commanded to teach you, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go to possess it: that thou mightest fear the LORD thy God, to keep all his ordinances and his commandments which I command thee, both thou and thy son and thy son's son all days of thy life, that thy days may be prolonged. Hear therefore Israel and take heed that thou do thereafter, that it may go well with thee and that ye may increase mightily: even as the LORD God of thy fathers hath promised thee, a land that floweth with milk and honey. Hear Israel, the LORD thy God is LORD onely, and thou shalt love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, with all thy soul and with all thy might. And these words which I command thee

7 this day, shall be in thine heart and thou shalt whet them on thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou art at home in thy house and as thou walkest by the way, and when thou 8 liest down and when thou risest up: and thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thine hand. And they shall be papers of remem-9 brance between thine eyes, and shalt write them upon the 10 posts of thy house and upon thy gates. And when the LORD thy God hath brought thee into the land which he sware unto thy fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, to give thee with great 11 and goodly cities which thou buildest not, and houses full of all manner goods which thou filledst not, and wells digged which thou diggedst not, and vines and olive trees which thou 12 planted not, and when thou hast eaten, and art full: Then beware lest thou forget the LORD which brought thee out of the 13 land of Egypt the house of bondage. But fear the LORD thy 14 God and serve him, and swear by his name, and see that ye walk not after strange gods* off the gods of the nations which 15 are about you. For the LORD thy God is a jealous God among you, lest the wrath of the LORD thy God wax hot upon thee and 16 destroy thee from the earth. Ye shall not tempt the LORD your 17 God as ye did at Masa. But see that ye keep the commandments of the LORD your God, his witnesses and his ordinances 18 which he hath commanded thee, and see thou do that which is right and good in the sight of the LORD: that thou mayst prosper and that thou mayst go and conquer that good land which 19 the LORD sware unto thy fathers, and that the LORD may 20 cast out all thine enemies before thee as he hath said. When thy son asketh thee in time to come saying: What meaneth the witnesses, ordinances and laws which the LORD our God 21 hath commanded you? Then thou shalt say unto thy son: We were bondmen unto Pharaoh in Egypt, but the LORD brought 22 us out of Egypt with a mighty hand. And the LORD shewed signs and wonders both great and evil upon Egypt, Pharaoh and 23 upon all his household, before our eyes, and brought us from thence: to bring us in and to give us the land which he sware 24 unto our fathers. And therefore commanded us to do all these ordinances and for to fear the LORD our God, for our wealth always and that he might save us, as it is come to pass this day.
25 Moreover it shall be righteousness unto us before the LORD our God, if we take heed to keep all these commandments as he hath commanded us.

When the LORD thy God hath brought thee into the land VII whither thou goest to possess it, and hath cast out many nations before thee: the Hethites, the Girgosites, the Amorites, the Cananites, the Pheresites, the Hevites and the Jebusites. Seven nations more in number and mightier than thou: and 2 when the LORD thy God hath set them before thee that thou shouldest smite them, see that thou utterly destroy them and make no covenant with them nor have compassion on them. Also thou shalt make no marriages with them, neither give 3 thy daughter unto his son nor take his daughter unto thy son. For they will make your sons depart from me and serve strange 4 gods, and then will the wrath of the LORD wax hot upon you and destroy you shortly. But thus ye shall deal with them: 5 overthrow their altars, break down their pillars, cut down their groves and burn their images with fire. For thou art an holy 6 nation unto the LORD thy God: the LORD thy God hath chosen thee to be a several people unto himself of all nations that are upon the earth. It was not because of the multitude of 7 you above all nations, that the LORD had lust unto you and chose you. For ye were fewest of all nations: But because the 8 LORD loved you and because he would keep the oath which he had sworn unto your fathers, therefore he brought you out of Egypt with a mighty hand and delivered you out of the house of bondage: even from the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt. Un- 9 derstand therefore, that the LORD thy God he is God and that a true God, which keepeth appointment and mercy unto them that love him and keep his commandments, even thorowout a thousand generations and rewardeth them that hate him 10 before his face so that he bringeth them to nought, and will not defer the time unto him that hateth him but will reward him before his face. Keep therefore the commandments, or- 11 dinances and laws which I command you this day, that ye do them. If ye shall hearken unto these laws and shall observe 12 and do them, then shall the LORD thy God keep appointment with thee and the mercy which he sware unto thy fathers and will love thee, bless thee and multiply thee: he will bless the 13 fruit of thy womb and the fruit of thy field, thy corn, thy wine and thy oil, the fruit of thine oxen and the flocks of thy sheep in

14 the land which he sware unto thy fathers to give thee. Thou shalt be blessed above all nations, there shall be neither man nor woman unfruitful among you, nor anything unfruitful among 15 your cattle. Moreover the LORD will turn from thee all manner infirmities, and will put none of the evil diseases of Egypt (which thou knowest) upon thee, but will send them upon them 16 that hate thee. Thou shalt bring to nought all nations which the LORD thy God delivereth thee, thine eye shall have no pity upon them neither shalt thou serve their gods, for that shall be 17 thy decay. If thou shalt say in thine heart: these nations are more than I, how can I cast them out? Fear them not, but remember what the LORD thy God did unto Pharaoh and unto all 19 Egypt, and the great temptations which thine eyes saw, and the signs and wonders and mighty hand and stretched out arm wherewith the LORD thy God brought thee out: even so shall the LORD thy God do unto all the nations of which thou art 20 afraid. Thereto, the LORD thy God will send hornets among them until they that are left, and hide them selves from thee, 21 be destroyed. See thou fear them not for the LORD thy God is among you a mighty God and a terrible. The LORD thy God will put out these nations before thee a little and a little: thou mayst not consume them at once lest the beasts of 23 the field increase upon thee. And the LORD thy God shall deliver them unto thee and stir up a mighty tempest among 24 them, until they be brought to nought. And he shall deliver their kings into thine hand, and thou shalt destroy their names from under heaven. There shall no man stand before thee, un-25 til thou have destroyed them. The images of their gods thou shalt burn with fire, and see that thou covet not the silver or gold that is on them nor take it unto thee, lest thou be snared therewith. For it is an abomination unto the LORD thy God.
26 Bring not therefore the Abomination to thine house, lest thou be a damned thing as it is: but utterly defy it and abhor it, for it is a thing that must be destroyed.

VIII All the commandments which I command thee this day ye shall keep for to do them, that ye may live and multiply and go and possess the land which the LORD sware unto your fathers.
2 And think on all the way which the LORD thy God led thee this forty year in the wilderness, for to humble thee and to prove thee, to wete what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldest keep his commandments or no. He humbled thee and made 3 thee hunger and fed thee with manna which neither thou nor thy father knew of, to make thee know that a man must not live by bread only: but by all that proceedeth out of the mouth of the LORD must a man live. Thy raiment waxed not old upon 4 thee, neither did thy feet swell this forty year. Understand 5 therefore in thine heart, that as a man nurtureth his son, even so the LORD thy God nurtureth thee. Keep therefore the com- 6 mandments of the LORD thy God that thou walk in his ways and that thou fear him. For the LORD thy God bringeth thee 7 into a good land, a land of rivers of water, of fountains and of springs that spring out both in valleys and hills: a land of 8 wheat and of barley, of vines, fig trees and pomegranates, a land of olive trees with oil and of honey: a land wherein thou 9 shalt not eat bread in scarceness, and where thou shalt lack nothing, a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou shalt dig brass. When thou hast eaten therefore and 10 filled thyself, then bless the LORD for the good land which he hath given thee. But beware that thou forget not the LORD 11 thy God, that thou wouldest not keep his commandments, laws and ordinances which I command thee this day: yea and when 12 thou hast eaten and filled thyself and hast built goodly houses and dwelt therein, and when thy beasts and thy sheep are 13 waxed many and thy silver and thy gold is multiplied and all 14 that thou hast increased, then beware lest thine heart rise and thou forget the LORD thy God which brought thee out of the land of Egypt the house of bondage, and which led thee in 15 the wilderness both great and terrible with fiery serpents and scorpions and thirst* where was no water, which brought the water out of the rock of flint: which fed thee in the wilder- 16 ness with Man whereof thy fathers knew not, for to humble thee and to prove thee, that he might do thee good at thy latter end. And beware that thou say not in thine heart, my power 17 and the might of mine own hand hath done me all these acts: But remember the LORD thy God, how that it is he which gave 18 thee power to do manfully, for to make good the promise which he sware unto thy fathers, as it is come to pass this day. For 19 if thou shalt forget the LORD thy God and shalt walk after strange gods and serve them and worship them, I testify unto 20 you this day, that ye shall surely perish. As the nations which the LORD destroyeth before thee, even so ye shall perish, because ye would not hearken unto the voice of the LORD your God.

IX Hear Israel, thou goest over Jordan this day, to go and conquer nations greater and mightier than thyself: and cities great 2 and walled up to heaven, and people great and tall, even the children of the Enakims, which thou knowest and of whom thou hast heard say who is able to stand* before the children 3 of Enack? But understand this day that the LORD thy God which goeth over before thee a consuming fire, he shall destroy them and he shall subdue them before thee. And thou shalt cast them out, and bring them to nought quickly as the 4 LORD hath said unto thee. Speak not in thine heart, after that the LORD thy God hath cast them out before thee saying: for my righteousness the LORD hath brought me into possess this land. Nay, but for the wickedness of these nations the 5 LORD doth cast them out before thee. It is not for thy righteousness' sake and right heart that thou goest to possess their land: But partly for the wickedness of these nations, the LORD thy God doth cast them out before thee, and partly to perform that which the LORD thy God sware unto thy fathers, Abra-6 ham, Isaac and Jacob. Understand therefore that it is not for thy righteousness' sake, that the LORD thy God doth give thee this good land to possess it, for thou art a stiffnecked people.
 7 Remember and forget not how thou provokedest the LORD thy God in the wilderness: for since the day that thou camest out of the land of Egypt until ye came unto this place, ye have re-8 belled against the LORD. Also in Horeb ye angered the LORD so that the LORD was wroth with you, even to have destroyed 9 you, after that I was gone up into the mount, to fetch the tables of stone, the tables of appointment which the LORD made with you. And I abode in the hill forty days and forty nights 10 and neither ate bread nor drank water. And the LORD delivered me two tables of stone written with the finger of God, and in them was according to all the words which the LORD said unto you in the mount out of the fire in the day when the 11 people were gathered together. And when the forty days and forty nights were ended, the LORD gave me the two tables of stone, the tables of the testament, and said unto me: Up, and 12 get thee down quickly from hence, for thy people which thou hast brought out of Egypt, have marred them selves. They are turned at once out of the way, which I commanded them, and have made them a god of metal. Furthermore the LORD 13 spake unto me saying: I see this people how that it is a stiff-necked people, let me alone that I may destroy them and put 14 out the name of them from under heaven, and I will make of thee a nation both greater and more than they. And I turned 15 away and came down from the hill (and the hill burnt with fire) and had the two tables of the appointment in my hands. And 16 when I looked and saw that ye had sinned against the LORD your God and had made you a calf of metal and had turned at once out of the way which the LORD had commanded you.

 Then I took the two tables and cast them out of my two hands, 17 and brake them before your eyes. And I fell before the LORD: 18 even as at the first time forty days and nights, and neither ate bread nor drank water, over all your sins which ye had sinned in doing wickedly in the sight of the LORD and in provoking 19 him. For I was afraid of the wrath and fierceness wherewith the LORD was angry with you, even for to have destroyed you; But the LORD heard my petition at that time also. The LORD 20 was very angry with Aaron also, even for to have destroyed him: But I made intercession for Aaron also the same time.
 And I took your sin, the calf which ye had made and burnt 21 him with fire and stamped him and ground him a good, even unto small dust. And I cast the dust thereof into the brook that descended out of the mount. Also at Thabeera and at 22 Masa and at the sepulchres of lust ye angered the LORD, yea 23 and when the LORD sent you from Cades Barnea saying: go up and conquer the land which I have given you, ye disobeyed the mouth of the LORD your God, and neither believed him nor hearkened unto his voice. Thus ye have been disobedient 24 unto the LORD, since the day that I knew you. And I fell before the LORD forty days and forty nights which I lay there, for 25 the LORD was minded to have destroyed you. But I made intercession unto the LORD and said: O Lord Jehovah,* destroy 26 not thy people and thine inheritance which thou hast delivered thorow thy greatness and which thou hast brought out of Egypt

v.26 Other: Iehouah.

27 with a mighty hand. Remember thy servants Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and look not unto the stubbornness of this people 28 nor unto their wickedness and sin: lest the land whence thou broughtest them say: Because the LORD was not able to bring them into the land which he promised them and because he hated them, therefore he carried them out to destroy them in 29 the wilderness. Moreover they are thy people and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest out with thy mighty power and with thy stretched out arm.

X In the same season the LORD said unto me: hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first and come up unto me into 2 the mount and make thee an Ark of wood, and I will write in the table, the words that were in the first tables which thou 3 brakest, and thou shalt put them in the ark. And I made an ark of sethim wood and hewed two tables of stone like unto the first, and went up into the mountain and the two tables in 4 mine hand. And he wrote in the tables, according to the first writing (the ten verses which the LORD spake unto you in the mount out of the fire in the day when the people were gathered) 5 * and gave them unto me. And I departed and came down from the hill and put the tables in the ark which I had made: and 6 there they remained, as the LORD commanded me. And the children of Israel took their journey from Beroth Ben * Jaken to Mosera, where Aaron died and where he was buried, and 7 Eleazer his son became priest in his stead. And from thence they departed unto Gudgod: and from Gudgod to Jathbath, a 8 land of rivers of water. And the same season the LORD separated the tribe of Levi to bear the ark of the appointment of the LORD and to stand before the LORD, and to minister unto him 9 and to bless in his name unto this day. Wherefore the Levites have no part nor inheritance with their brethren. The LORD he is their inheritance, as the LORD thy God hath promised them.
10 And I tarried in the mount, even as at the first time forty days and forty nights, and the LORD hearkened unto me at that 11 time also, so that the LORD would not destroy thee. And the LORD said unto me: up and go forth in the journey before the people and let them go in and conquer the land which I sware 12 unto their fathers to give unto them. And now Israel what is it that the LORD thy God requireth of thee, but to fear the LORD thy God and to walk in all his ways and to love him and to serve the LORD thy God with all thine heart and with all thy soul, that thou keep the commandments of the LORD and his ordinances which I command thee this day, for thy wealth. Behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens is the LORD's thy God, and the earth with all that therein is: only the LORD had a lust unto thy fathers to love them, and therefore chose you their seed after them of all nations, as it is come to pass this day Circumcise therefore the foreskin of your hearts, and be no longer stiffnecked. For the LORD your God, he is God of Gods and Lord of Lords, a great God, a mighty and a terrible which regardeth no man's person nor taketh gifts: but doeth right unto the fatherless and widow and loveth the stranger, to give him food and raiment. Love therefore the stranger, for ye were strangers your selves in the land of Egypt. Thou shalt fear the LORD thy God and serve him and cleave unto him and swear by his name, for he is thy praise and he is thy God that hath done these great and terrible things for thee, which thine eyes have seen. Thy fathers went down into Egypt with seventy souls, and now the LORD thy God hath made thee as the stars of heaven in multitude.

Love the LORD thy God and keep his observances, his ordinances, his laws and his commandments alway. And call to mind this day that which your children have neither known nor seen: even the nurture of the LORD your God, his greatness, his mighty hand and his stretched out arm: his miracles and his acts which he did among the Egyptians, even unto Pharaoh the king of Egypt and unto all his land: and what he did unto the host of the Egyptians, unto their horses and chariots, how he brought the water of the red sea upon them as they chased you, and how the LORD hath brought them to nought unto this day: and what he did unto you in the wilderness, until ye came unto this place: and what he did unto Dathan and Abiram the sons of Eliab the son of Ruben, how the earth opened her mouth and swallowed them with their households and their tents, and all their substance that was in their possession, in the midst of Israel. For your eyes have seen all the great deeds of the LORD which he did. Keep therefore all the commandments which I command thee this day that ye may be strong and go and conquer the land whither ye go to possess it, XI

9 and that ye may prolong your days in the land which the LORD sware unto your fathers to give unto them and to their seed, a 10 land that floweth with milk and honey. For the land whither thou goest to possess it, is not as the land of Egypt whence thou camest out, where thou sowedest thy seed and watered 11 it with thy labour as a garden of herbs: but the land whither ye go over to possess it, is a land of hills and valleys 12 and drinketh water of the rain of heaven, and a land which the LORD thy God careth for. The eyes of the LORD thy God are always upon it, from the beginning of the year unto the lat-13 ter end of the year. If thou shalt hearken therefore unto my commandments which I command you this day, that ye love the LORD your God and serve him with all your hearts and with all 14 your souls: then he will give rain unto your land in due season, both the first rain and the latter, and thou shalt gather in 15 thy corn, thy wine and thine oil. And he will send grass in thy fields for thy cattle: and thou shalt eat and fill thyself. But be-16 ware that your hearts deceive* you not that ye turn aside and serve strange gods and worship them, and then the wrath of the LORD wax hot upon you and shut up the heaven that there be no rain and that your land yield not her fruit, and that ye perish quickly from off the good land which the LORD giveth 18 you. Put up therefore these my words in your hearts and in your souls, and bind them for a sign unto your hands, and let 19 them be as papers of remembrance between your eyes, and teach them your children: so that thou talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and 20 when thou liest down and when thou risest up: yea and write them upon the doorposts of thine house and upon thy gates, 21 that your days may be multiplied and the days of your children upon the earth which the LORD sware unto your fathers to give 22 them, as long as the days of heaven last upon the earth. For if ye shall keep all these commandments which I command you, so that ye do them and love the LORD your God and walk in all 23 his ways and cleave unto him. Then will the LORD cast out all 24 these nations* both greater and mightier than your selves. All the places whereon the soles of your feet shall tread, shall be yours: even from the wilderness and from Libanon and from the river Euphrates, even unto the uttermost sea shall your coasts be. There shall no man be able to stand before you: the LORD your God shall cast the fear and dread of you upon all lands whither ye shall come, as he hath said unto you. Behold, I set before you this day, a blessing and a curse: a blessing: if ye hearken unto the commandments of the LORD your God which I command you this day: And a curse: if ye will not hearken unto the commandments of the LORD your God: but turn out of the way which I command you this day to go after strange gods which ye have not known. When the LORD thy God hath brought thee into the land whither thou goest to possess it, then put the blessing upon mount Garizim and the curse upon mount Ebal, which are on the other side Jordan on the back side of the way toward the going down of the son in the land of the Cananites which dwell in the fields over against Gilgal beside Moreh grove. For ye shall go over to go and possess the land which the LORD your God giveth you, and shall conquer it and dwell therein. Take heed therefore that ye do all the commandments and laws, which I set before you this day.

These are the ordinances and laws which ye shall observe to do in the land which the LORD God of thy fathers giveth thee to possess it, as long as ye live upon the earth. See that ye destroy all places where the nations which ye conquer serve their gods, upon high mountains and on high* hills and under every green tree. Overthrow their altars and break their pillars and burn their groves with fire and hew down the images of their gods, and bring the names of them to nought out of that place. See ye do not so unto the LORD your God but ye shall enquire the place which the LORD your God shall have chosen out of all your tribes to put his name there and there to dwell. And thither thou shalt come, and thither ye shall bring your burnt sacrifices and your offerings, your tithes and heave offerings of your hands, your vows and free will offerings and thy first born of your oxen and of your sheep. And there ye shall eat before the LORD your God, and ye shall rejoice in all that ye lay your hands on, both ye and your households, because the LORD thy God hath blessed thee. Ye shall do after nothing that we do here this day, every man what seemeth him good in his own eyes. For ye are not yet come to rest nor unto the inheritance which the LORD your God giveth you.

10 But ye shall go over Jordan and dwell in the land which the LORD your God giveth you to inherit, and he shall give you rest from all your enemies round about: and ye shall dwell 11 in safety. Therefore when the LORD your God hath chosen a place to make his name dwell there, thither ye shall bring all that I command you, your burnt sacrifices and your offerings, your tithes and the heave offerings of your hands and all your 12 godly vows which ye vow unto the LORD. And ye shall rejoice before the LORD your God, both ye, your sons and your daughters, your servants and your maids and the Levite that is within your gates for he hath neither part nor inheritance 13 with you. Take heed that thou offer not thy burnt offerings in 14 whatsoever place thou seest: but in the place which the LORD shall have chosen among one of thy tribes, there thou shalt offer thy burnt offerings and there thou shalt do all that I com-15 mand thee. Notwithstanding thou mayst kill and eat flesh in all thy cities, whatsoever thy soul lusteth after according to the blessing of the LORD thy God which he hath given thee both the unclean and the clean mayst thou eat, even as the roe and 16 the hart: only eat not the blood, but pour it upon the earth as 17 water. Thou mayst not eat within thy gates the tithes of thy corn, of thy wine and of thy oil, either the firstborn of thine oxen or of thy sheep, neither any of thy vows which thou vow-est, nor thy freewill offerings or heave offerings of thine hands: 18 but thou must eat them before the LORD thy God, in the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen: both thou thy son and thy daughter, thy servant and thy maid and the Levite that is within thy gates: and thou shalt rejoice before the LORD 19 thy God, in all that thou puttest thine hand to. And beware that thou forsake not the Levite as long as thou livest upon the 20 earth. If (when the LORD thy God hath enlarged thy coasts as he hath promised thee) thou say: I will eat flesh, because thy soul longeth to eat flesh: then thou shalt eat flesh, whatsoever 21 thy soul lusteth. If the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen to put his name there be too far from thee, then thou mayst kill of thy oxen and of thy sheep which the LORD hath given thee as I have commanded thee, and thou mayst eat in 22 thine own city whatsoever thy soul lusteth. Neverthelater, as the roe and the hart is eaten, even so thou shalt eat it: the unclean and the clean indifferently thou shalt eat. But be strong 23 that thou eat not the blood. For the blood, that is the life: and 24 thou mayst not eat the life with the flesh: thou mayst not eat 24 it: but must pour it upon the earth as water. See thou eat it 25 not therefore that it may go well with thee and with thy children after thee, when thou shalt have done that which is right in the sight of the LORD. But thy holy things which thou hast 26 and thy vows, thou shalt take and go unto the place which the LORD hath chosen, and thou shalt offer thy burnt offerings, 27 both flesh and blood upon the altar of the LORD thy God, and the blood of thine offerings thou shalt pour out upon the altar of the LORD thy God, and shalt eat the flesh. Take heed and 28 hear all these words which I command thee that it may go well with thee and with thy children after thee for ever, when thou doest that which is good and right in the sight of the LORD thy God. When the LORD thy God hath destroyed the nations be- 29 fore thee, whither thou goest to conquer them, and when thou hast conquered them, and dwelt in their lands: Beware that 30 thou be not taken in a snare after them, after that they be destroyed before thee, and that thou ask not after their gods saying: how did these nations serve their gods, that I may do so likewise? Nay, thou shalt not do so unto the LORD thy God: 31 for all abominations which the LORD hated did they unto their gods. For they burnt both their sons and their daughters with fire unto their gods. But whatsoever I command you that take 32 heed ye do: and put nought thereto, nor take ought there from.

If there arise among you a prophet or a dreamer of dreams XIII and give thee a sign or a wonder, and that sign or wonder 2 which he hath said come to pass, and then say: let us go after strange gods which thou hast not known, and let us serve them: hearken not unto the words of that prophet or dreamer 3 of dreams. For the LORD thy God tempteth you, to wete whether ye love the LORD your God with all your hearts and with all your souls. For ye must walk after the LORD your God and 4 fear him and keep his commandments and hearken unto his voice and serve him and cleave unto him. And that prophet 5 or dreamer of dreams shall die for it, because he hath spoken to turn you away from the LORD your God which brought you out of the land of Egypt and delivered you out of the house of bondage, to thrust thee out of the way which the LORD thy God commanded thee to walk in: and so thou shalt put evil 6 away from thee. If thy brother the son of thy mother or thine own son or thy daughter or the wife that lieth in thy bosom or thy friend which is as thine own soul unto thee, entice thee secretly saying: let us go and serve strange gods which thou hast 7 not known nor yet thy fathers, of the gods of the people which are round about thee, whether they be nye unto thee or far off 8 from thee, from the one end of the land unto the other. See thou consent not unto him nor hearken unto him: no, let not thine eye pity him nor have compassion on him, nor keep him 9 secret, but cause him to be slain: Thine hand shall be first upon him to kill him: and then the hands of all the people.

10 And thou shalt stone him with stones that he die, because he hath gone about to thrust thee away from the LORD thy God 11 which brought thee out of Egypt the house of bondage. And all Israel shall hear and fear and shall do no more and such 12 wickedness as this is, among them. If thou shalt hear say of one of thy cities which the LORD thy God hath given thee to 13 dwell in, that certain being the children of Belial are gone out from among you and have moved the inhabitants of their city saying: let us go and serve strange gods which ye have not 14 known. Then seek and make search and enquire diligently.
If it be true and the thing of a surety that such abomination 15 is wrought among you: then thou shalt smite the dwellers of that city with the edge of the sword, and destroy it merciless and all that is therein, and even the very cattle thereof with 16 the edge of the sword. And gather all the spoil of it into the midst of the streets thereof, and burn with fire: both the city and all the spoil thereof every whit unto the LORD thy God.
And it shall be an heap for ever and shall not be built again.
17 And see that there cleave nought of the damned thing in thine hand, that the LORD may turn from his fierce wrath and shew thee mercy and have compassion on thee and multiply thee, as 18 he hath sworn unto thy fathers: when thou hast hearkened unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep all his commandments which I command thee this day so that thou do that which is right in the eyes of the LORD thy God.

XIV Ye are the children of the LORD your God, cut not your selves nor make you any baldness between the eyes for any 2 man's death. For thou art an holy people unto the LORD thy God, and the LORD hath chosen thee to be a several people unto himself, of all the nations that are upon the earth. Ye 3 shall eat no manner of abomination. These are the beasts 4 which ye shall eat of: oxen, sheep and goats, hart, roe and bu- 5 ggle, hart* goat, unicorn, origen and Camelion. And all beasts 6 that cleave the hoof, and slit it into two claws and chew the cud, them ye shall eat. Nevertheless, these ye shall not eat 7 of them that chew cud and of them that divide and cleave the hoof: the camel, the hare and the coney. For they chew cud, but divide not the hoof: and therefore are unclean unto you: and 8 also the swine, for though he divide the hoof, yet he cheweth not cud, and therefore is unclean unto you: Ye shall not eat of the flesh of them nor touch the dead carcasses of them. These 9 ye shall eat of all that are in the waters: All that have fins and scales. And whatsoever hath not fins and scales, of that ye 10 may not eat, for that is unclean unto you. Of all clean birds 11 ye shall eat, but these are they of which ye may not eat: the 12 eagle, the goshawk, the cormorant, the ixion, the vultur, the 13 kite and her kind, and all kind of ravens, the Ostrich, the 14, 15 nightcrow, the cuckoo, the sparrowhawk and all her kind, the 16 little owl, the great owl, the back, the bittern, the pye, the 17, 18 stork, the heron, the Jay in his kind, the lapwing, the swallow.

 And all creeping fowls are unclean unto you and may not be 19 eaten of: but of all clean fowls ye may well eat. Ye shall eat 20, 21 of nothing that dieth alone: But thou mayest give it unto the stranger that is in thy city that he eat it, or mayst sell it unto an Alien. For thou art an holy people unto the LORD thy God.
 Thou shalt not seethe a kid in his mother's milk. Thou shalt 22 tithe all the increase of thy seed that cometh out of the field year by year. And thou shalt eat before the LORD thy God in 23 the place, which he hath chosen to make his name dwell there the tithe of thy corn, of thy wine and of thine oil, and the first-born of thine oxen and of thy flock that thou mayst learn to fear the LORD thy God alway. If the way be too long for thee, 24 so that thou art not able to carry it, because the place is too far from the which the LORD thy God hath chosen to set his name there (for the LORD thy God hath blessed thee) then make it 25 in money and take the money in thine hand, and go unto the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen, and bestow that 26 money on whatsoever thy soul lusteth after: on oxen, sheep, wine and good drink, and on whatsoever thy soul desireth, and eat there before the LORD thy God and be merry: both thou 27 and thine household and the Levite that is in thy city. See thou forsake not the Levite, for he hath neither part nor inheritance with thee. At the end of three year, thou shalt bring 28 forth all the tithes of thine increase the same year and lay it up within thine own city, and the Levite shall come because he 29 hath neither part nor inheritance with thee, and the stranger and the fatherless and the widow which are within thy city and shall eat and fill them selves: that the LORD thy God may bless thee in all the works of thine hand which thou doest.

XV, 2 At the end of seven year thou shalt make a free year. And this is the manner of the free year, whosoever lendeth ought with his hand unto his neighbour, may not ask again that which he hath lent, of his neighbour or of his brother: because 3 it is called the LORD's free year, yet of a stranger thou mayst call it home again. But that which thou hast with thy brother 4 thine hand shall remit, and that in any wise, that there be no beggar among you. For the LORD shall bless the land which 5 the LORD thy God giveth thee, an heritage to possess it: so that thou hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to observe and do all these commandments which I command you 6 this day: yea and then the LORD thy God shall bless thee as he hath promised thee, and thou shalt lend unto many nations, and shalt borrow of no man, and shalt reign over many nations, 7 but none shall reign over thee. When one of thy brethren among you is waxed poor in any of thy cities within thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, see that thou harden not 8 thine heart nor shut to thine hand from thy poor brother: But open thine hand unto him and lend him sufficient for his need 9 which he hath. And beware that there be not a point of Belial in thine heart, that thou wouldest say: The seventh year, the year of freedom is at hand, and therefore it grieve thee to look on thy poor brother and givest him nought and he then 10 cry unto the LORD against thee and it be sin unto thee: But give him, and let it not grieve thine heart to give. Because that for that thing, the LORD thy God shall bless thee in all thy 11 works and in all that thou putttest thine hand to. For the land shall never be without poor. Wherefore I command thee saying: open thine hand unto thy brother that is needy and poor in thy land. If thy brother an Hebrew sell himself to thee, or an 12 Hebrewess, he shall serve thee six year and the seventh year thou shalt let him go free from thee. And when thou sendest 13 him out free from thee, thou shalt not let him go away empty: but shalt give him of thy sheep and of thy corn and of thy wine, 14 and give him of that wherewith the LORD thy God hath blessed thee. And remember that thou wast a servant in the land of 15 Egypt, and the LORD thy God delivered thee thence: wherefore I command thee this thing today. But and if he say unto 16 thee, I will not go away from thee, because he loveth thee and thine house and is well at ease with thee. Then take an awl 17 and nail his ear to the door therewith and let him be thy servant forever, and unto thy maidservant thou shalt do likewise.

 And let it not grieve thine eyes to let him go out from thee, for 18 he hath been worth a double hired servant to thee in his service six years. And the LORD thy God shall bless thee in all that thou doest. All the firstborn that come of thine oxen and 19 of thy sheep that are males, thou shalt hallow unto the LORD thy God. Thou shalt do no service with the firstborn of thy sheep: but shalt eat them before the LORD thy God year by 20 year in the place which the LORD hath chosen both thou and thine household. If there be any deformity therein, whether it 21 be lame or blind or whatsoever evil favouredness it hath, thou shalt not offer it unto the LORD thy God: But shalt eat it in 22 thine own city, the unclean and the clean indifferently, as the roe and the hart. Only eat not the blood thereof, but pour it 23 upon the ground as water.

Observe the month of Abib, and offer passover unto the XVI LORD thy God. For in the month of Abib, the LORD thy God brought thee out of Egypt by night : Thou shalt therefore of- 2 fer passover unto the LORD thy God, and sheep and oxen in the place which the LORD shall choose to make his name dwell there. Thou shalt eat no leavened bread therewith: but shalt 3 eat therewith the bread of tribulation seven days long. For thou camest out of the land of Egypt in haste, that thou mayst remember the day when thou camest out of the land of Egypt, all days of thy life. And see that there be no leavened bread 4 seen in all thy coasts seven days long, and that there remain nothing of the flesh which thou hast offered the first day at 5 evening, until the morning. Thou mayst not offer passover in 6 any of thy cities which the LORD thy God giveth thee: But in the place which the LORD thy God shall choose to make his name dwell in, there thou shalt offer Passover at evening about the going down of the sun, even in the season that thou 7 camest out of Egypt. And thou shalt seethe and eat* in the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen, and depart on the 8 morrow and get thee unto thy tent. Six days thou shalt eat sweet bread, and the seventh day is for the people to come together to the LORD thy God, that thou mayst do no work.

9 Then reckon the seven weeks, and begin to reckon the seven 10 weeks when the sickle beginneth in the corn, and keep the feast of weeks unto the LORD thy God, that thou give a freewillof-fering of thine hand unto the LORD thy God according as the 11 LORD thy God hath blessed thee. And rejoice before the LORD thy God both thou, thy son, thy daughter, thy servant and thy maid, and the Levite that is within thy gates, and the stranger, the fatherless and the widow that are among you, in the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen to make his name dwell 12 there. And remember that thou was a servant in Egypt, that 13 thou observe and do these ordinances. Thou shalt observe the feast of tabernacles seven days long, after that thou hast 14 gathered in thy corn and thy wine. And thou shalt rejoice in that thy feast, both thou and thy son, thy daughter, thy servant, thy maid, the Levite, the stranger, the fatherless and 15 the widow that are in thy cities. Seven days thou shalt keep holy day unto the LORD thy God, in the place which the LORD shall choose: for the LORD thy God shall bless thee in all thy fruits and in all the works of thine hands, and thou shalt be 16 all together gladness. Three times in the year shall all your males appear before the LORD thy God in the place which he shall choose: In the feast of sweet bread, in the feast of weeks and in the booth feast.* And they shall not appear before the 17 LORD empty: but every man with the gift of his hand, according to the blessing of the LORD thy God, which he hath 18 given thee. Judges and officers thou shalt make thee in all thy cities* which the LORD thy God giveth thee thorowout thy 19 tribes: And let them judge the people righteously. Wrest not the law nor know any person neither take any reward: for gifts blind the wise and pervert the words of the righteous. But in 20 all things follow righteousness, that thou mayst live and enjoy the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee. Thou shalt 21 plant no grove of whatsoever trees it be, nye unto the altar of the LORD thy God which thou shalt make thee. Thou shalt 22 set thee up no pillar, which the LORD thy God hateth.

Thou shalt offer unto the LORD thy God no ox or sheep XVII wherein is any deformity, whatsoever evil favouredness it be:
 for that is an abomination unto the LORD thy God. If there 2 be found among you in any of thy cities which the LORD thy God giveth thee man or woman that hath wrought wickedness in the sight of the LORD thy God, that they have gone beyond his appointment, so that they have gone and served strange 3 gods and worshipped them, whether it be the son or moon or anything contained in heaven which I forbade, and it was told 4 thee and thou hast heard of it: Then thou shalt enquire diligently. And if it be true and the thing of a surety that such abomination is wrought in Israel, then thou shalt bring forth 5 that man or that woman which have committed that wicked thing, unto thy gates and shalt stone them with stones and they shall die. At the mouth of two or three witnesses shall 6 he that is worthy of death, die: but at the mouth of one witness he shall not die. And the hands of the witnesses shall 7 be first upon him to kill him, and afterward the hands of all the people: so shalt thou put wickedness away from thee. If 8 a matter be too hard for thee in judgement between blood and blood, plea and plea, plage and plage in matters of strife within thy cities: Then arise and get thee up unto the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen, and go unto the priests the 9 Levites, and unto the judge that shall be in those days, and ask, and they shall shew thee how to judge. And see that thou 10 do according to that which they of that place which the LORD hath chosen shew thee, and see that thou observe to do according to all that they enform thee. According to the law which 11 they teach thee and manner of judgement which they tell thee, see that thou do and that thou bow not from that which they shew thee, neither to the right hand nor to the left. And that 12 man that will do presumptuously, so that he will not hearken unto the priest that standeth there to minister unto the LORD thy God or unto the judge, shall die: and so thou shalt put 13 away evil from Israel. And all the people shall hear and shall 14 fear, and shall do no more presumptuously. When thou art come unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee and enjoyest it and dwellest therein: If thou shalt say, I will set a king over me, like unto all the nations that are about me: 15 Then thou shalt make him king over thee, whom the LORD thy God shall choose. One of thy brethren must thou make king over thee, and mayst not set a stranger over thee which is not 16 of thy brethren. But in any wise let him not hold too many horses, that he bring not the people again to Egypt thorow the multitude of horses, forasmuch as the LORD hath said unto 17 you: ye shall henceforth go no more again that way. Also he shall not have too many wives, lest his heart turn away, nei-18 ther shall he gather him silver and gold too much. And when he is sitten upon the seat of his kingdom, he shall write him out this second law in a book taking a copy of the priests' the 19 Levites'. And it shall be with him and he shall read there in all days of his life that he may learn to fear the LORD his God for to keep all the words of this law and these ordinances for to 20 do them: that his heart arise not above his brethren and that he turn not from the commandment: either to the right hand or to the left: that both he and his children may prolong their days in his kingdom in Israel.

XVIII The priests the Levites, all the tribe of Levi shall have no part nor inheritance with Israel. The offerings of the LORD and 2 his inheritance they shall eat, but shall have no inheritance among their brethren: the LORD he is their inheritance, as he 3 hath said unto them. And this is the duty of the priests, of the people and of them that offer, whether it be ox or sheep: They must give unto the priest, the shoulder and the two cheeks 4 and the maw, the first fruits of thy corn, wine and oil, and 5 the first of thy sheep shearing must thou give him. For the LORD thy God hath chosen him out of all thy tribes to stand and to minister in the name of the LORD: both him and his 6 sons for ever. If a Levite come out of any of thy cities or any place of Israel, where he is a sojourner, and come with all the lust of his heart unto the place which the LORD hath chosen: 7 he shall there minister in the name of the LORD his God as all his brethren the Levites do which stand there before the 8 LORD. And they shall have like portions to eat, beside that which cometh to him of the patrimony of his elders. When 9 thou art come into the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, see that thou learn not to do after the abominations of these nations. Let there not be found among you that maketh 10 his son or his daughter go thorow fire, either a bruterar or a maker of dismal days or that useth witchcraft* or a sorcerer, or a charmer, or that speaketh* with a spirit, or a soothsayer 11 or that talketh with them that are dead.* For all that do such 12 things are abomination unto the LORD: and because of these abominations the LORD thy God doeth cast them out before thee, be pure therefore with the LORD thy God. For these 13, 14 nations which thou shalt conquer, hearken unto makers* of dismal days and bruterars.* But the LORD thy God permitteth not that to thee. The LORD thy God will stir up a Prophet 15 among you: even of thy brethren like unto me: and unto him ye shall hearken according to all that thou desiredest of the 16 LORD thy God in Horeb in the day when the people were gathered saying: Let me hear the voice of my LORD God no more, nor see this great fire any more, that I die not. And the LORD 17 said unto me: they have well spoken, I will raise them up a 18 prophet from among their brethren like unto thee and will put my words into his mouth and he shall speak unto them all that I shall command him. And whosoever will not hearken unto 19 the words which he shall speak in my name, I will require it of him. But the prophet which shall presume to speak ought 20 in my name which I commanded him not to speak, and he that speaketh in the name of strange gods, the same prophet shall die. And if thou say in thine heart, how shall I know that 21 which the LORD hath not spoken? When a prophet speaketh 22 in the name of the LORD, if the thing follow not nor come to pass, that is the thing which the LORD hath not spoken. But the prophet hath spoken it presumptuously: be not afeared therefore of him.

When the LORD thy God hath destroyed the nations whose XIX land the LORD thy God giveth thee, and thou hast conquered them and dwellest in their cities and in their houses: thou 2 shalt appoint three cities in the land which the LORD thy God

18. v.10 Other: or that useth witchcraft, or a chooser out of days or that regardeth the flyeng of souls. v.11 Other: counseleth. v.11 Other: prophesiar or that asketh the advise of the dead. v.14 Other: choosers out. v.14 Other: prophesyars, or profit-seers.

giveth thee to possess it: thou shalt prepare the way and divide the coasts of thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it: thou shalt prepare the way and divide the coasts of thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inherit, into three parts that whosoever committeth murder may flee thither. And this is the cause of the slayer that shall flee thither and be saved: If he smite his neighbour ignorantly and hated him not in time past: As when a man goeth unto the wood with his neighbour to hew wood, and as his hand fetcheth a stroke with the axe, the head slippeth from the helve and smiteth his neighbour that he die: the same shall flee unto one of the same cities and be saved. Lest the executer of blood follow after the slayer while his heart is hot and overtake him, because the way is long, and slay him, and yet there is no cause worthy of death in him, inasmuch as he hated not his neighbour in time past. Wherefore I command thee saying: see that thou appoint out three cities. And if the LORD thy God enlarge thy coasts as he hath sworn unto thy fathers and give thee all the land which he said he would give unto thy fathers (so that thou keep all these commandments to do them, which I command thee this day, that thou love the LORD thy God and walk in his ways ever) then thou shalt add three cities more unto those three, that innocent blood be not shed in thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inherit, and so blood come upon thee. But and if there be any man that hateth his neighbour and layeth await for him and riseth against him and smiteth him that he die, and fleeth unto any of these cities. Then let the elders of his city send and fetch him thence and deliver him into the hands of the justice of blood, and he shall die. Let thine eye have no pity on him, and so thou shalt put away innocent blood from Israel, and happy art thou. Thou shalt not remove thy neighbour's mark which they of old time have set in thine inheritance that thou inheritest in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to enjoy it. One witness shall not rise against a man in any manner trespass or sin, whatsoever sin a man sinneth: But at the mouth of two witnesses or of three witnesses shall all matters be tried. If an unrighteous witness rise up against a man to accuse him of trespass: then let both the men which strive together stand before the LORD, before the priests and the judges which shall be in those days, and let the judges enquire a good. And if the witness be found false and that he hath given false witness against his brother then shall ye do unto him as he had thought to do unto his brother, and so thou shalt put evil away from thee. And other shall hear and fear and shall henceforth commit no more any such wickedness among you. And let thine eye have no compassion, but life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, and foot for foot.

When thou goest out to battle against thine enemies, and seest horses and chariots and people more than thou, be not afear'd of them, for the LORD thy God is with thee which brought thee out of the land of Egypt. And when ye are come nye unto battle, let the priest come forth and speak unto the people and say unto them: Hear Israel, ye are come unto battle against your enemies, let not your hearts faint, neither fear nor be amazed nor a dread of them. For the LORD thy God goeth with you to fight for you against your enemies and to save you. And let the officers speak unto the people saying: If any man have built a new house and have not dedicate it, let him go and return to his house lest he die in the battle, and another dedicate it. And if any man have planted a vineyard and have not made it common, let him go and return again unto his house, lest he die in the battle and another make it common. And if any man be betrothed unto a wife and have not taken her, let him go and return again unto his house, lest he die in the battle and another take her. And let the officers speak further unto the people and say. If any man fear and be fainthearted, let him go and return unto his house, lest his brother's heart be made faint as well as his. And when the officers have made an end of speaking unto the people, let them make captains of war over them. When thou comest nye unto a city to fight against it, offer them peace. And if they answer thee again peaceably, and open unto thee, then let all the people that is found therein be tributaries unto thee and serve thee. But and if they will make no peace with thee, then make war against the city and besiege it. And when the LORD thy God hath delivered it into thine hands, smite all the males thereof with the edge of the sword, save the women and the children and the cattle and all that is in the city and all the spoil thereof take unto thyself and eat the spoil of thine ene- XX

15 mies which the LORD thy God giveth thee. Thus thou shalt do 16 unto all the cities which are a great way off from thee and not 17 of the cities of these nations. But in the cities of these nations 18 which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inherit, thou shalt save 19 alive nothing that breatheth. But shalt destroy them without 20 redemption, both the Hethites, the Amorites, the Cananites, the Pherezites, the Hevites and the Jebusites, as the LORD thy God hath commanded thee, that they teach you not to do after all their abominations which they do unto their gods, and so should sin against the LORD your God. When thou hast besieged a city long time in making war against it to take it, destroy not the trees thereof, that thou wouldest thrust an axe unto them. For thou mayst eat of them, and therefore destroy them not. For the trees of the fields are no men that they might come against thee to besiege thee. Neverthelater those trees which thou knowest that men eat not of them, thou mayst destroy and cut them down and make bulwarks against the city that maketh war with thee, until it be overthrown.

If one be found slain in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to possess it, and lieth in the fields, and not known 2 who hath slain him: Then let thine elders and thy judges come forth and meet unto the cities that are round about the slain.
3 And let the elders of that city which is next unto the slain man, take an heifer that is not laboured with nor hath drawn in the 4 yoke, and let them bring her unto a valley where is neither earring nor sowing, and strike off her head there in the valley.
5 Then let the priests the sons of Levi come forth (for the LORD thy God hath chosen them to minister and to bless in the name of the LORD and therefore at their mouth shall all strife and 6 plague be tried.) And all the elders of the city that is next to the slain man shall wash their hands over the heifer that is 7 beheaded in the plain, and shall answer and say: our hands 8 have not shed this blood neither have our eyes seen it. Be merciful LORD unto thy people Israel which thou hast delivered and put not innocent blood unto thy people Israel: and 9 the blood shall be forgiven them. And so shalt thou put innocent blood from thee, when thou shalt have done that which 10 is right in the sight of the LORD. When thou goest to war against thine enemies and the LORD thy God hath delivered 11 them into thine hands and thou hast take them captive, and seest among the captives a beautiful woman and hast a fantasy unto her that thou wouldest have her to thy wife. Then bring her home to thine house and let her shave her head and pare her nails and put her raiment that she was taken in from her, and let her remain in thine house and bewEEP her father and her mother a month long and after that go in unto her and marry her and let her be thy wife. And if thou have no favour unto her, then let her go whither she lusteth: for thou mayst not sell her for money nor make chevisance of her, because thou hast humbled her. If a man have two wives, one loved and another hated, and they have borne him children, both the loved and also the hated. If the firstborn be the son of the hated: then when he dealeth his goods among his children, he may not make the son of the beloved firstborn before the son of the hated which is indeed the firstborn: But he shall know the son of the hated for his firstborn, that he give him double of all that he hath. For he is the first of his strength, and to him belongeth the right of the firstbornship. If any man have a son that is stubborn, and disobedient, that he will not hearken unto the voice of his father and voice of his mother, and they have taught him nurture, but he would not hearken unto them: Then let his father and his mother take him and bring him out unto the elders of that city and unto the gate of that same place, and say unto the elders of the city. This our son is stubborn and disobedient and will not hearken unto our voice, he is a rioter and a drunkard. Then let all the men of that city stone him with stones unto death. And so thou shalt put evil away from thee, and all Israel shall hear and fear. If a man have committed a trespass worthy of death and is put to death for it and hanged on tree: let not his body remain all night upon the tree, but bury him the same day. For the curse of God is on him that is hanged. Defile not thy land therefore, which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inherit.

If thou see thy brother's ox or sheep go astray, thou shalt not withdraw thyself from them: But shalt bring them home again unto thy brother. If thy brother be not nye unto thee or if thou know him not, then bring them unto thine own house and let them be with thee, until thy brother ask after them, and then deliver him them again. In like manner shalt thou do with his ass, with his raiment and with all lost things of thy brother which he hath lost and thou hast found, and thou 4 mayst not withdraw thyself. If thou see that thy brother's ass or ox is fallen down by the way, thou shalt not withdraw thyself 5 from them: but shalt help him to heave them up again. The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto the man, neither shall a man put on woman's raiment. For all that do 6 so, are abomination unto the LORD thy God. If thou chance upon a bird's nest by the way, in whatsoever tree it be or on the ground, whether they be young or eggs, and the dam sitting upon the young or upon the eggs: thou shalt not take the 7 mother with the young. But shalt in any wise let the dam go and take the young, that thou mayst prosper and prolong thy 8 days. When thou buildest a new house, thou shalt make a battlement unto the roof, that thou lade not blood upon thine 9 house, if any man fall thereof. Thou shalt not sow thy vineyard with divers seed: lest thou hallow the seed which thou 10 hast sown with the fruit of thy vineyard. Thou shalt not plough with an ox and an ass together. Thou shalt not wear 11 a garment made of wool and flax together. Thou shalt put ribbons upon the four quarters of thy vesture wherewith thou 12 coverest thyself. If a man take a wife and when he hath lien with her hate her and lay shameful things unto her charge and bring up an evil name upon her and say: I took this wife, 13 and when I came to her, I found her not a maid: Then let the father of the damsel and the mother bring forth the tokens of the damsel's virginity, unto the elders of the city, even unto the 14 gate. And let the damsel's father say unto the elders, I gave my daughter unto this man to wife and he hateth her: and 15 lo, he layeth shameful things unto her charge saying, I found not thy daughter a maid. And yet these are the tokens of my daughter's virginity. And let them spread the vesture before 16 the elders of the city. Then let the elders of that city take that 17 man and chastise him and merce him in an hundred sicles of silver and give them unto the father of the damsel, because he hath brought up an evil name upon a maid in Israel. And she shall be his wife, and he may not put her away all his days.

18 But and if the thing be of a surety that the damsel be not found 19 a virgin, let them bring her unto the door of her father's house, and let the men of that city stone her with stones to death, because she hath wrought folly in Israel, to play the whore in her 20 21 father's house. And so thou shalt put evil away from thee. If 22 a man be found lying with a woman, that hath a wedded husband, then let them die either other of them: both the man that lie with the wife and also the wife: so shalt thou put away evil from Israel. If a maid be handfasted unto an husband, 23 and then a man find her in the town and lay with her, then 24 ye shall bring them both out unto the gates of that same city and shall stone them with stones to death: The damsel because she cried not being in the city: And the man, because he hath humbled his neighbour's wife, and thou shalt put away evil from thee. But if a man find a betrothed damsel in the field 25 and force her and lie with her: Then the man that lay with her shall die alone, and unto the damsel thou shalt do no harm: 26 because there is in the damsel no cause of death. For as when a man riseth against his neighbour and slayeth him, even so is this matter. For he found her in the fields and the betrothed 27 damsel cried: but there was no man to succour her. If a man 28 find a maid that is not betrothed and take her and lie with her and be found: Then the man that lay with her shall give unto 29 the damsel's father fifty sicles of silver. And she shall be his wife, because he hath humbled her, and he may not put her away all his days. No man shall take his father's wife, nor 30 unhele his father's covering.

None that is gelded or hath his privy members cut off, shall 2 come into the congregation of the LORD. And he that is born of a common woman shall not come in the congregation of the LORD, no in the tenth generation he shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD. The Ammonites and the Moabites 3 shall not come into the congregation of the LORD, no not in the tenth generation, no they shall never come in to the congrega- 4 tion of the LORD, because they met you not with bread and water in the way when ye came out of Egypt, and because they hired against thee Balaam the son of Beor the interpreter of Mesopotamia, to curse thee. Nevertheless the LORD thy God 5 would not hearken unto Balam, but turned the curse to a blessing unto thee, because the LORD thy God loved thee. Thou 6 shalt never therefore seek that which is prosperous or good for them all thy days for ever. Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite, 7 for he is thy brother: neither shalt thou abhor an Egyptian, because thou wast a stranger in his land. The children that 8 are begotten of them shall come into the congregation of the 9 LORD in the third generation. When thou goest out with the host against thine enemies, keep thee from all wickedness for 10 the Lord is among you. If there be any man that is unclean by the reason of uncleanness that chanceth him by night, let him 11 go out of the host and not come in again until he have washed himself with water before the evening: and then when the son 12 is down, let him come into the host again. Thou shalt have a 13 place without the host whither thou shalt resort to and thou shalt have a sharp point at the end of thy weapon: and when thou wilt ease thyself, dig therewith and turn and cover that 14 which is departed from thee. For the LORD thy God walketh in thine host, to rid thee and to set thine enemies before thee.

Let thine host be pure that he see no unclean thing among you 15 and turn from you. Thou shalt not deliver unto his master 16 the servant which is escaped from his master unto thee. Let him dwell with thee, even among you in what place he himself liketh best, in one of thy cities where it is good for him, and 17 vex him not. There shall be no whore of the daughters of Is-18 rael, nor whorekeeper of the sons of Israel. Thou shalt neither bring the hire of an whore nor the price of a dog into the house of the LORD thy God, in no manner of vow: for even both of 19 them are abomination unto the LORD thy God. Thou shalt be no usurer unto thy brother, neither in money nor in food, nor 20 in any manner thing that is lent upon usury. Unto a stranger thou mayst lend upon usury, but not unto thy brother, that the LORD thy God may bless thee in all that thou settest thine 21 hand to in the land whither thou goest to conquer it. When thou hast vowed a vow unto the LORD thy God, see thou be not slack to pay it. For he will surely require it of thee, and it 22 shall be sin unto thee. If thou shalt leave vowing, it shall be 23 no sin unto thee: but that which is once gone out of thy lips, thou must keep and do, according as thou hast vowed unto the LORD thy God a freewill offering which thou hast spoken with 24 thy mouth. When thou comest into thy neighbour's vineyard, thou mayst eat grapes thy bellyful at thine own pleasure: but 25 thou shalt put none in thy bag. When thou goest into thy neighbour's corn, thou mayst pluck the ears with thine hand, but thou mayst not move a sickle unto thy neighbour's corn.

no favour in his eyes, because he hath spied some uncleanness in her: Then let him write her a bill of divorcement and put it in her hand and send her out of his house. If when she is departed out of his house, she go and be another man's wife and the second husband hate her and write her a letter of divorcement and put it in her hand and send her out of his house, or if the second man die which took her to wife; Her first man which sent her away may not take her again to be his wife, inasmuch as she is defiled. For that is abomination in the sight of the LORD: that thou defile not the land with sin, which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inherit. When a man taketh a new wife, he shall not go a warfare neither shall be charged with any business: but shall be free at home one year and rejoice with his wife which he hath taken. No man shall take the nether or the upper millstone to pledge, for then he taketh a man's life to pledge. If any man be found stealing any of his brethren the children of Israel, and maketh chevisance of him or selleth him, the thief shall die. And thou shalt put evil away from thee. Take heed to thyself as concerning the plague of leprosy, that thou observe diligently to do according to all that the priests the Levites shall teach thee, as I commanded them so ye shall observe to do. Remember what the LORD thy God did unto Miriam by the way, after that ye were come out of Egypt. If thou lend thy brother any manner succour, thou shalt not go into his house to fetch a pledge: but shalt stand without and the man to whom thou lendest, shall bring thee the pledge out at the door. Furthermore if it be a poor body, go not to sleep with his pledge: but deliver him the pledge again by that the son go down, and let him sleep in his own raiment and bless thee. And it shall be righteousness unto thee, before the LORD thy God. Thou shalt not defraud an hired servant that is needy and poor, whether he be of thy brethren or a stranger that is in thy land within thy cities. Give him his hire the same day, and let not the son go down thereon. For he is needy and therewith sustaineth his life, lest he cry against thee unto the LORD and it be sin unto thee. The fathers shall not die for the children nor the children for the fathers: but every man shall die for his own sin. Hinder not the right of the stranger nor of the fatherless, nor take widow's raiment to pledge. But remember that thou wast a servant in Egypt, and how the LORD thy God delivered thee thence. Wherefore I 19 command thee to do this thing. When thou cuttest down thine harvest in the field and hast forgotten a sheaf in the field, thou shalt not go again and fetch it: But it shall be for the stranger, the fatherless and the widow, that the LORD thy God may bless 20 thee in all the work of thine hand. When thou beatest down thine olive trees thou shalt not make clean riddance after thee: but it shall be for the stranger, the fatherless and the widow.

 21 And when thou gatherest thy vineyard, thou shalt not gather clean after thee: but it shall be for the stranger, the fatherless 22 and the widow. And remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt: wherefore I command thee to do this thing.

XXV When* there is strife between men, let them come unto the law, and let the judges justify the righteous and condemn the 2 trespasser. And if the trespasser be worthy of stripes, then let the judge cause to take him down and to beat him before his 3 face according to his trespass, unto a certain number. Forty stripes he shall give him and not pass: lest if he should exceed and beat him above that with many stripes, thy brother should 4 appear ungodly before thine eyes. Thou shalt not muzzle the 5 ox that treadeth out the corn. When brethren dwell together and one of them die and have no child, the wife of the dead shall not be given out unto a stranger: but her brotherinlaw 6 shall go in unto her and take her to wife and marry her. And the eldest son which she beareth, shall stand up in the name of his brother which is dead, that his name be not put out in Is-7 rael. But and if the man will not take his sisterinlaw, then let her go to the gate unto the elders and say: My brotherinlaw refuseth to stir up unto his brother a name in Israel, he will not 8 marry me. Then let the elders of his city call unto him and commune with him. If he stand and say: I will not take her, 9 then let his sister-in-law go unto him in the presence of the elders and loose his shoe off his foot and spit in his face and answer and say: So shall it be done unto that man that will 10 not build his brother's house. And his name shall be called in 11 Israel, the unshoed house. If when men strive together, one with another, the wife of the one run to, for to rid her husband out of the hands of him that smiteth him and put forth her 12 hand and take him by the secrets: cut off her hand, and let not thine eye pity her. Thou shalt not have in thy bag two 13 manner weights, a great and a small: neither shalt thou have 14 in thine house divers measures, a great and a small. But thou 15 shalt have a perfect and a just measure: that thy days may be lengthened in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

 For all that do such things and all that do unright, are abomi- 16 nation unto the LORD thy God. Remember what Amalech did 17 unto thee by the way after thou camest out of Egypt, he met 18 thee by the way and smote the hindmost of you, all that were over laboured and dragged behind, when thou wast fainted and weary, and he feared not God. Therefore when the LORD thy 19 God hath given thee rest from all thine enemies round about, in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee to inherit and possess: see that thou put out the name of Amalech from under heaven, and forget not.

When thou art come into the land which the LORD thy God XXVI giveth thee to inherit and hast enjoyed it and dwellest therein: take of the first of all the fruit of the earth, which thou hast 2 brought in out of the land that the LORD thy God giveth thee and put it in a maund and go unto the place which the LORD thy God shall choose to make his name dwell there. And thou 3 shalt come unto the priest that shall be in those days and say unto him: I knowledge this day unto the LORD thy God, that I am come unto the country which the LORD sware unto our fathers for to give us. And the priest shall take the maund 4 out of thine hand, and set it down before the altar of the LORD thy God. And thou shalt answer and say before the LORD thy 5 God: The Sirians would have destroyed my father, and he went down into Egypt and sojourned there with a few folk and grew there unto a nation great, mighty and full of people. And the 6 Egyptians vexed us and troubled us, and laded us with cruel bondage. And we cried unto the LORD God of our fathers, and 7 the LORD heard our voice and looked on our adversity, labour and oppression. And the LORD brought us out of Egypt with 8 a mighty hand and a stretched out arm and with great terribleness and with signs and wonders. And he hath brought us 9 into this place and hath given us this land that floweth with milk and honey. And now lo, I have brought the first fruits 10 of the land which the LORD hath given me. And set it before the LORD thy God and worship before the LORD thy God and 11 rejoice over all the good thing which the LORD thy God hath given unto thee and unto thine house, both thou the Levite 12 and the stranger that is among you. When thou hast made an end of tithing all the tithes of thine increase the third year, the year of tithing: and hast given it unto the Levite, the stranger, the fatherless and the widow, and they have eaten in thy gates 13 and filled them selves. Then say before the LORD thy God: I have brought thee hallowed things out of mine house: and have given them unto the Levite, the stranger, the fatherless and the widow according to all the commandments which thou 14 commandest me: I have not overskipped thy commandments, nor forgotten them. I have not eaten thereof in my mourning nor taken away thereof unto any uncleanness, nor spent thereof about any dead corpse: but have hearkened unto the voice of the LORD my God, and have done after all that he 15 commanded me, look down from thy holy habitation heaven and bless thy people Israel and the land which thou hast given us (as thou swearest unto our fathers) a land that floweth with 16 milk and honey. This day the LORD thy God hath commanded thee to do these ordinances and laws. Keep them therefore and do them with all thine heart and all thy soul. Thou hast set 17 up the LORD this day to be thy God and to walk in his ways and to keep his ordinances, his commandments and his laws, and to hearken unto his voice. And the LORD hath set thee up 18 this day, to be a several people unto him (as he hath promised thee) and that thou keep his commandments, and to make thee high above all nations which he hath made, in praise, in name and honour: that thou mayst be an holy people unto the 19 LORD thy God, as he hath said.

XXVII

And Moses with the elders of Israel commanded the people saying: keep all the commandments which I command you 2 this day. And when ye be come over Jordan unto the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, set up great stones and 3 plaster them with plaster, and write upon them all the words of this law, when thou art come over: that thou mayst come into the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee: a land that 4 floweth with milk and honey, as the LORD God of thy fathers hath promised thee. When ye be come over Jordan, see that ye set up these stones which I command you this day in mount 5 Ebal, and plaster them with plaster. And there build unto the LORD thy God, an altar of stones and see thou lift up no iron upon them: But thou shalt make the altar of the LORD thy 6 God of rough stones and offer burntofferings thereon unto the LORD thy God. And thou shalt offer peaceofferings and shalt 7 eat there and rejoice before the LORD thy God. And thou shalt 8 write upon the stones all the words of this law, manifestly and well. And Moses with the priests the Levites spake unto all 9 Israel saying: take heed and hear Israel, this day thou art become the people of the LORD thy God. Hearken therefore unto 10 the voice of the LORD thy God and do his commandments and his ordinances which I command you this day. And Moses 11 charged the people the same day saying: These shall stand 12 upon mount Grisim to bless the people, when ye are come over Jordan: Simeon, Levi, Juda, Isachar, Joseph and BenJamin.

And these shall stand upon mount Ebal to curse: Ruben, Gad, 13 Asser, Zabulon, Dan and Nephthali. And the Levites shall 14 begin and say unto all the men of Israel with a loud voice: Cursed be he that maketh any carved image or image of metal 15 (an abomination unto the LORD, the work of the hands of the craftsman) and putteth it in a secret place: And all the people shall answer and say Amen. Cursed be he that curseth his fa- 16 ther or his mother, and all the people shall say Amen. Cursed 17 be he that removeth his neighbour's mark, and all the people shall say Amen. Cursed be he that maketh the blind go out of 18 his way, and all the people shall say Amen. Cursed be he that hindreth the right of the stranger, fatherless and widow, and 19 all the people shall say Amen. Cursed be he that lieth with his father's wife because he hath opened his father's covering, and all the people shall say Amen. Cursed be he that lieth with 21 any manner beast, and all the people shall say Amen. Cursed 22 be he that lieth with his sister whether she be the daughter of his father or of his mother, and all the people shall say Amen.
Cursed be he that lieth with his mother-in-law, and all the peo- 23 ple shall say Amen. Cursed be he that smiteth his neighbour secretly, and all the people shall say Amen. Cursed be he that 25 taketh a reward to slay innocent blood, and all the people shall say Amen. Cursed be he that maintaineth not all the words 26 of this law to do them, and all the people shall say Amen.

If thou shalt hearken diligently unto the voice of the LORD XXVIII thy God, to observe and to do all his commandments which I command thee this day. The LORD will set thee on high* above 2 all nations of the earth. And all these blessings shall come on thee and over take thee, if thou shalt hearken unto the voice 3 of the LORD thy God. Blessed shalt thou be in the town and 4 blessed in the fields, blessed shall be the fruit of thy body, the fruit of thy ground and the fruit of thy cattle, the fruit of thine 5 oxen, and thy flocks of sheep, blessed shall thine almerly be 6 and thy store. Blessed shalt thou be, both when thou goest 7 out, and blessed when thou comest in. The LORD shall smite thine enemies that rise against thee before thy face. They shall come out against thee one way, and flee before thee seven ways.

8 The LORD shall command the blessing to be with thee in thy store houses and in all that thou settest thine hand to, and will bless the in the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.
9 The LORD shall make thee an holy people unto himself, as he hath sworn unto thee: if thou shalt keep the commandments 10 of the LORD thy God and walk in his ways. And all nations of the earth shall see that thou art called after the name of 11 the LORD, and they shall be afearred of thee. And the LORD shall make thee plenteous in goods, in the fruit of thy body, in the fruit of thy cattle and in the fruit of thy ground, in the 12 land which the LORD sware unto thy fathers to give thee. The LORD shall open unto thee his good treasure, even the heaven, to give rain unto thy land in due season and to bless all the labours of thine hand. And thou shalt lend unto many na-13 tions, but shalt not need to borrow thyself. And the LORD shall set thee before and not behind, and thou shalt be above only and not beneath: if that thou hearken unto the commandments of the LORD thy God which I command thee this day to 14 keep and to do them. And see that thou bow not from any of these words which I command thee this day either to the right hand or to the left, that thou wouldest go after strange 15 gods to serve them. But and if thou wilt not hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God to keep and to do all his commandments and ordinances which I command thee this day: then all 16 these curses shall come upon thee and overtake thee: Cursed 17 shalt thou be in the town, and cursed in the field, cursed shall 18 thine almerly be and thy store. Cursed shall be the fruit of thy body and the fruit of thy land be and the fruit of thine oxen

28. v.1 Other: an hye.

and the flocks of thy sheep. And cursed shalt thou be when 19 thou goest in, and when thou goest out. And the LORD shall 20 send upon thee cursing, going to nought and complaining in all that thou settest thine hand to, whatsoever thou doest: until thou be destroyed and brought to nought quickly, because of the wickedness of thine inventions in that thou hast forsaken the LORD. And the LORD shall make the pestilence cleave 21 unto thee, until he have consumed thee from the land whither thou goest to enjoy it. And the LORD shall smite thee with 22 swelling, with fevers, heat, burning, weathering, with smiting and blasting. And they shall follow thee, until thou perish.
And the heaven that is over thy head shall be brass, and the 23 earth that is under thee, iron. And the LORD shall turn the 24 rain of the land unto powder and dust: even from heaven they shall come down upon thee, until thou be brought to nought.
And the LORD shall plague thee before thine enemies: Thou 25 shalt come out one way against them, and flee seven ways before them, and shalt be scattered among all the kingdoms of the earth. And thy carcass shall be meat unto all manner 26 fowls of the air and unto the beasts of the earth, and no man shall fray them away. And the LORD will smite thee with the 27 botches of Egypt and the emerods, scall and manginess, that thou shalt not be healed thereof. And the LORD shall smite 28 thee with madness, blindness and dazing of heart. And thou 29 shalt grope at noonday as the blind gropeth in darkness, and shalt not come to the right way. And thou shalt suffer wrong only and be polled evermore, and no man shall succour thee: thou shalt be betrothed unto a wife, and another shall lie with 30 her. Thou shalt build an house and another shall dwell therein.
Thou shalt plant a vineyard, and shalt not make it common.
Thine ox shall be slain before thine eyes, and thou shalt not 31 eat thereof. Thine ass shall be violently taken away even before thy face, and shall not be restored thee again. Thy sheep shall be given unto thine enemies, and no man shall help thee.
Thy sons and thy daughters shall be given unto another nation, 32 and thine eyes shall see and daze upon them all day long, but shalt have no might in thine hand. The fruit of thy land 33 and all thy labours shall a nation which thou knowest not, eat, and thou shalt but suffer violence only and be oppressed al-way: that thou shalt be clean beside thyself for the sight of 34 35 thine eyes which thou shalt see. The LORD shall smite thee with a mischievous botch in the knees and legs, so that thou canst not be healed: even from the sole of the foot unto the 36 top of the head. The LORD shall bring both thee and thy king which thou hast set over thee, unto a nation which neither thou nor thy fathers have known, and there thou shalt 37 serve strange gods: even wood and stone. And thou shalt go to waste and be made an example and a jesting stock unto all 38 nations whither the LORD shall carry thee. Thou shalt carry much seed out into the field, and shalt gather but little in: for 39 the locusts* shall destroy it. Thou shalt plant a vineyard and dress it, but shalt neither drink of the wine neither gather of 40 the grapes, for the worms shall eat it. Thou shalt have olive trees in all thy coasts, but shalt not be anointed with the oil, 41 for thine olive trees shall be rooted out. Thou shalt get sons and daughters, but shalt not have them: for they shall be carried away captive. All thy trees and fruit of thy land shall 42 be marred with blasting. The strangers that are among you shall climb above thee up on high,* and thou shalt come down 44 beneath alow. He shall lend thee and thou shalt not lend him, 45 he shall be before and thou behind. Moreover all these curses shall come upon thee and shall follow thee and overtake thee, till thou be destroyed: because thou hearkenedest not unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep his commandments and or-46 dinances which he commanded thee, and they shall be upon 47 thee as miracles and wonders and upon thy seed for ever. And because thou servedest not the LORD thy God with joyfulness 48 and with a good heart for the abundance of all things, therefore thou shalt serve thine enemy which the LORD shall send upon thee: in hunger and thirst, in nakedness and in need of all things: and he shall put a yoke of iron upon thine neck, un-49 til he have brought thee to nought. And the LORD shall bring a nation upon thee from afar, even from the end of the world, as swift as an eagle fleeth:* a nation whose tongue thou shalt not 50 understand: a hard favoured nation which shall not regard 51 the person of the old nor have compassion on the young. And he shall eat the fruit of thy land and the fruit of thy cattle until he have destroyed thee: so that he shall leave thee neither corn, wine, nor oil, neither the increase of thine oxen nor the flocks of thy sheep: until he have brought thee to nought. And he shall keep thee in all thy cities, until thy high and strong walls be come down wherein thou trustedest, thorow all thy land. And he shall besiege thee in all thy cities thorowout all thy land which the LORD thy God hath given thee. And thou shalt eat the fruit of thine own body: the flesh of thy sons and of thy daughters which the LORD thy God hath given thee, in that straitness and siege wherewith thine enemy shall besiege thee: so that it shall grieve the man that is tender and exceeding delicate among you, to look on his brother and upon his wife that lieth in his bosom and on the remnant of his children, which he hath yet left, for fear of giving unto any of them of the flesh of his children, which he eateth, because he hath nought left him in that straitness and siege wherewith thine enemy shall besiege thee in all thy cities. Yea and the woman that is so tender and delicate among you that she dare not adventure to set the sole of her foot upon the ground for softness and tenderness, shall be grieved to look on the husband that lieth in her bosom and on her son and on her daughter: even because of the afterbirth, that is come out from between her legs, and because of her children which she hath borne, because she would eat them for need of all things secretly, in the straitness and siege wherewith thine enemy shall besiege thee in thy cities. If thou wilt not be diligent to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, for to fear this glorious and fearful name of the LORD thy God: the LORD will smite both thee and thy seed with wonderful plagues and with great plagues and of long continuance, and with evil sicknesses and of long durance. Moreover he will bring upon thee all the diseases of Egypt which thou wast afraid of, and they shall cleave unto thee. Thereto all manner sicknesses and all manner plagues which are not written in the book of this law, will the LORD bring upon thee until thou be come to nought. And ye shall be left few in number, wheretofore ye were as the stars of heaven in multitude: because thou wouldest not hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God. And as the LORD rejoiced over you to do you good and to multiply you: even so he will rejoice over you, to destroy you and to bring you to nought. And ye shall be wasted from off the land whither thou goest to enjoy it. And the LORD shall scatter thee among all nations from the one end of the world unto the other, and there thou shalt serve strange gods, which neither thou nor thy fathers 65 have known: even wood and stone. And among these nations thou shalt be no small season, and yet shalt have no rest for the sole of thy foot. For the LORD shall give thee there a trembling heart and dazing eyes and sorrow of mind. And thy life 66 shall hang before thee, and thou shalt fear both day and night and shalt have no trust in thy life. In the morning thou shalt say, would God it were night. And at night thou shalt say, would God it were morning. For fear of thine heart which thou shalt fear, and for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see.

68 And the LORD shall bring thee into Egypt again with ships, by the way which I bade thee that thou shouldst see it no more. And there ye shall be sold unto your enemies, for bondmen and bondwomen: and yet no man shall buy you.

XXIX

These are the words of the appointment which the LORD commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel in the land of Moab, beside the appointment which he made with 2 them in Horeb. And Moses called unto all Israel and said unto them: Ye have seen all, that the LORD did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, unto Pharaoh and unto all his servants, and 3 unto all his land, and the great temptations which thine eyes 4 have seen and those great miracles and wonders: And yet the LORD hath not given you an heart to perceive, nor eyes to see, 5 nor ears to hear unto this day. And I have led you forty year in the wilderness: and your clothes are not waxed old upon 6 you, nor are thy shoes waxed old upon thy feet. Ye have eaten no bread nor drunk wine or strong drink: that ye might know, 7 how that he is the LORD your God. And at the last ye came unto this place, and Sihon the king of Hesbon and Og king of Basan came out against you unto battle, and we smote them 8 and took their land and gave it an heritage unto the Rubenites and Gadites and to the half tribe of Manasse. Keep therefore the word of this appointment and do them, that ye may 9 understand all that ye ought to do. Ye stand here this day every one of you before the LORD your God: both the heads of your tribes, your elders, your officers and all the men of Israel: 11 your children, your wives and the strangers that are in thine host, from the hewer of thy wood unto the drawer of thy water: 12 that thou shouldst come under the appointment of the LORD thy God, and under his oath which the LORD thy God maketh with thee this day. For to make thee a people unto himself, 13 and that he may be unto thee a God, as he hath said unto thee and as he hath sworn unto thy fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Also I make not this bond and this oath with you only: 14 but both with him that stoodeth here with us this day before 15 the LORD our God, and also with him that is not here with us this day. For ye know how we have dwelt in the land of Egypt, 16 and how we came thorow the midst of the nations which we passed by. And ye have seen their abominations and their 17 idols: wood, stone, silver, gold, which they had. Lest there 18 be among you man or woman kindred or tribe that turneth away in his heart this day from the LORD our God, to go and serve the gods of these nations: and lest there be among you some root that beareth gall and wormwood, so that when he 19 heareth the words of this curse, he bless himself in his heart saying: I fear it not,* I will therefore walk* after the lust of mine own heart, that the drunken destroy* the thirsty. And 20 so the LORD will not be merciful unto him, but then the wrath of the LORD and his jealousy, smoke against that man, and all the curses that are written in this book light upon him, and the LORD do out his name from under heaven, and separate 21 him unto evil out of all the tribes of Israel according unto all the curses of the appointment that is written in the book of this law. So that the generation to come of your children that shall 22 rise up after you and the stranger that shall come from a far land, say when they see the plagues of that land, and the diseases wherewith the LORD hath smitten it, how all the land is 23 burnt up with brimstone and salt, that it is neither sown nor beareth, nor any grass groweth therein, after the overthrowing of Sodom, Gomor, Adama and Zeboim: which the LORD overthrew in his wrath and anger. And then all nations also 24 say: wherefore hath the LORD done of this fashion unto this land? O how fierce is this great wrath? And men shall say: 25 because they left the testament of the LORD God of their fathers which he made with them, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt. And they went and served strange gods 26 and worshipped them: gods which they knew not and which had given them nought. And therefore the wrath of the LORD 27 29. v.19 Other: shall have peace. v.19 Other: work. v.19 Other: may perish with.

waxed hot upon that land to bring upon it all the curses that 28 are written in this book. And the LORD cast them out of their land in anger, wrath and great furiousness, and cast them into 29 a strange land, as it is come to pass this day. The secrets pertain unto the LORD our God and the things that are opened pertain unto us and our children for ever, that we do all the words of this law.

XXX

When all these words are come upon thee, whether it be the blessing or the curse which I have set before thee, yet if thou turn unto thine heart among all the nations whither the LORD 2 thy God hath thrust thee, and come again unto the LORD thy God and hearken unto his voice according to all that I command thee this day: both thou and thy children with all thine 3 heart and all thy soul: Then the LORD thy God will turn thy captivity and have compassion upon thee and go and fetch thee again from all the nations, among which the LORD thy God 4 shall have scattered thee. Though thou wast cast unto the extreme parts of heaven: even from thence will the LORD thy God 5 gather thee and from thence fetch thee and bring thee into the land which thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt enjoy it. And he will shew thee kindness and multiply thee above thy fathers.
6 And the LORD thy God will circumcise thine heart and the heart of thy seed for to love the LORD thy God with all thine 7 heart and all thy soul, that thou mayst live. And the LORD thy God will put all these curses upon thine enemies and on them 8 that hate thee and persecute thee. But thou shalt turn and hearken unto the voice of the LORD and do all his command-9 ments which I command thee this day. And the LORD thy God will make thee plenteous in all the works of thine hand and in the fruit of thy body, in the fruit of thy cattle and fruit of thy land and in riches. For the LORD will turn again and rejoice 10 over thee to do thee good, as he rejoiced over thy fathers: If thou hearken unto the voice of the LORD thy God, to keep his commandments and ordinances which are written in the book of this law, if thou turn unto the LORD thy God with all thine 11 heart and all thy soul. For the commandment which I command thee this day, is not separated from thee neither far off.
12 It is not in heaven, that thou needest to say: who shall go up for us into heaven, and fetch it us, that we may hear it and do 13 it: Neither is it beyond the sea, that thou shouldest say: who shall go over sea for us and fetch it us that we may hear it and do it. But the word is very nye unto thee: even in thy mouth 14 and in thine heart, that thou do it. Behold I have set before 15 you this day life and good, death and evil: in that I command 16 thee this day to love the LORD thy God and to walk in his ways and to keep his commandments, his ordinances and his laws: that thou mayst live and multiply, and that the LORD thy God may bless thee in the land whither thou goest to possess it.

But and if thine heart turn away, so that thou wilt not hear: 17 but shalt go astray and worship strange gods and serve them, I pronounce unto you this day, that ye shall surely perish and 18 that ye shall not prolong your days upon the land whither thou passest over Jordan to go and possess it. I call to record this 19 day unto you, heaven and earth, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: but choose life, that thou and thy seed may live, in that thou lovest the LORD thy God, 20 hearkenest unto his voice and cleavest unto him. For he is thy life and the length of thy days, that thou mayst dwell upon the earth which the LORD sware unto thy fathers: Abraham, Isaac and Jacob to give them.

And Moses went and spake these words unto all Israel and XXXI, 2 said unto them: I am an hundred and twenty year old this day, and can no more go out and in. Also the LORD hath said unto me, thou shalt not go over this Jordan. The LORD your God 3 he will go over before thee and he will destroy these nations before thee, and thou shalt conquer them. And Josua he shall go over before thee, as the LORD hath said. And the LORD 4 shall do* unto them, as he did to Sehon and Og kings of the Amorites and unto their lands which kings he destroyed. And 5 when the LORD hath delivered them to thee, see that ye do unto them according unto all the commandments which I have commanded you. Pluck up your hearts and be strong, dread 6 not nor be afeared of them: for the LORD thy God himself will go with thee, and will neither let thee go nor forsake thee. And 7 Moses called unto Josua and said unto him in the sight of all Israel. Be strong and bold, for thou must go with this people unto the land which the LORD hath sworn unto their fathers to give them, and thou shalt give it them to inherit. And the 8 LORD he shall go before thee and he shall be with thee, and 31. v.4 Other: go.

will not let thee go nor forsake thee, fear not therefore nor be 9 discomfited. And Moses wrote this law and delivered it unto the priests the sons of Levi which bare the ark of the testament 10 of the LORD, and unto all the elders of Israel, and commanded them saying: At the end of seven year, in the time of the free 11 year, in the feast of the tabernacles, when all Israel is come to appear before the LORD thy God, in the place which he hath chosen: see that thou read this law before all Israel in their 12 ears. Gather the people together: both men, women and children and the strangers that are in thy cities, that they may hear, learn and fear the LORD your God, and be diligent to 13 keep all the words of this law, and that their children which know nothing may hear and learn to fear the LORD your God, as long as ye live in the land whither ye go over Jordan to pos-14 sess it. And the LORD said unto Moses: Behold thy days are come, that thou must die. Call Josua and come and stand in the tabernacle of witness, that I may give him a charge. And Moses and Josua went and stood in the tabernacle of witness.
15 And the LORD appeared in the tabernacle: even in the pillar of the cloud. And the pillar of the cloud stood over the door of 16 the tabernacle. And the LORD said unto Moses: behold, thou must sleep with thy fathers, and this people will go a whoring after strange gods of the land whither they go and will forsake me and break the appointment which I have made with 17 them. And then my wrath will wax hot against them, and I will forsake them and will hide my face from them, and they shall be consumed. And when much adversity and tribulation is come upon them, then they will say: because our God is not 18 among us, these tribulations are come upon us. But I will hide my face that same time for all the evil's sake which they shall 19 have wrought, in that they are turned unto strange gods. Now therefore write ye this song, and teach it the children of Israel and put it in their mouths that this song may be my witness 20 unto the children of Israel. For when I have brought them into the land which I sware unto their fathers that runneth with milk and honey, then they will eat and fill them selves and wax fat and turn unto strange gods and serve them and rail on 21 me and break my testament. And then when much mischief and tribulation is come upon them, this song shall answer before them, and be a witness. It shall not be forgotten out of the mouths of their seed: for I know their imagination which they go about even now before I have brought them into the land which I swear. And Moses wrote this song the same season, and taught it the children of Israel. And the Lord gave Josua the son of Nun a charge and said: be bold and strong for thou shalt bring the children of Israel into the land which I swear unto them, and I will be with thee. When Moses had made an end of writing out the words of this law in a book unto the end of them he commanded the Levites which bare the ark of the testament of the LORD saying: take the book of this law and put it by the side of the ark of the testament of the LORD your God, and let it be there for a witness unto thee. For I know thy stubbornness and thy stiff neck: behold, while I am yet alive with you this day, ye have been disobedient unto the LORD: and how much more after my death. Gather unto me all the elders of your tribes, and your officers, that I may speak these words in their ears and call heaven and earth to record against them. For I am sure that after my death, they will utterly mar them selves and turn from the way which I commanded you, and tribulation will come upon you in the latter days, when ye have wrought wickedness in the sight of the LORD to provoke him with the works of your hands. And Moses spake in the ears of all the congregation of Israel the words of this song, unto the end of them.

Hear o heaven, what I shall speak and hear o earth the words of my mouth. My doctrine drop as doeth the rain, and my speech flow as doeth the dew, as the mizzling upon the herbs, and as the drops upon the grass. For I will call on the name of the LORD: Magnify the might of our God. He is a Rocke and perfect are his deeds, for all his ways are with discretion. God is faithful and without wickedness, both righteous and just is he. The froward and overthwart generation hath marred them selves to himward, and are not his sons for their deformities' sake. Dost thou so reward the LORD? O foolish nation and unwise. Is not he thy father and thine owner? hath he not made thee and ordained thee? Remember the days that are past: consider the years from time to time. Ask thy father and he will shew thee, thine elders and they will tell thee. When the most highest gave the nations an inheritance, and divided the sons of Adam, he put the borders of the na- XXXII 9 tions, fast by the multitude of the children of Israel. For the LORD's part is his folk, and Israel is the portion of his inher-10 itance. He found him in a desert land, in a void ground and a roaring wilderness. He led him about and gave him under-11 standing, and kept him as the apple of his eye. As an eagle that stirreth up her nest and fluttereth over her young, he stretched out his wings and took him up and bare him on his 12 shoulders. The LORD alone was his guide, and there was no 13 strange god with him. He set him up upon an high land, and he ate the increase of the fields. And he gave him honey to 14 suck out of the rock, and oil out of the hard stone. With butter of the kine and milk of the sheep, with fat of the lambs and fat rams and he goats with fat kidneys and with wheat. And 15 of the blood of grapes thou drunkenest wine. And Israel waxed fat and kicked. Thou wast fat, thick and smooth. And he let God go that made him and despised the rock that saved him.

16 They angered him with strange gods and with abominations 17 provoked him. They offered unto field devils and not to God, and to gods which they knew not and to new gods that came 18 newly up which their fathers feared not. Of the rock that begat thee thou art unmindful and hast forgot God that made 19 thee. And when the LORD saw it, he was angry because of 20 the provoking of his sons and daughters. And he said: I will hide my face from them and will see what their end shall be.
For they are a froward generation and children in whom is no 21 faith. They have angered me with that which is no god, and provoked me with their vanities; And I again will anger them with them which are no people, and will provoke them with 22 a foolish nation. For fire is kindled in my wrath, and shall burn unto the bottom of hell. And shall consume the earth with her increase, and set afire the bottoms of the mountains.
23 I will heap mischiefs upon thee and will spend all mine arrows 24 at them. Burnt with hunger and consumed with heat and with bitter pestilence. I will also send the teeth of beasts upon 25 them and poison serpents. Without forth, the sword shall rob them of their children: and within in the chamber, fear: both young men and young women and the sucklings with the men 26 of gray heads. I have determined to scatter them thorowout the world, and to make away the remembrance of them from 27 among men. Were it not that I feared the railing of their enemies, lest their adversaries would be proud and say: our high hand hath done all these works and not the LORD. For it is 28 a nation that hath an unhappy forecast, and hath no understanding in them: I would they were wise and understood 29 this and would consider their latter end. How it cometh that 30 one shall chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand of them to flight?: except their rock had sold them, and because the LORD had delivered them. For our rock is not as their rock, 31 no though our enemies be judge. But their vines are of the 32 vines of Sodom, and of the fields of Gomorra. Their grapes are grapes of gall, and their clusters be bitter. Their wine is the 33 poison of dragons, and the cruel gall of asps. Are not such 34 things laid in store with me, and sealed up among my treasures? Vengeance is mine and I will reward: their feet shall 35 slide, when the time cometh. For the time of their destruction is at hand, and the time that shall come upon them maketh haste. For the LORD will do justice unto his people, and have 36 compassion on his servants. For it shall be seen that their power shall fail, and at the last they shall be prisoned and forsaken. And it shall be said: where are their gods and their 37 rock wherein they trusted? The fat of whose sacrifices they 38 ate, and drank the wine of their drinkofferings, let them rise up and help you and be your protection. See now how that I, 39 I am he, and that there is no God but I. I can kill and make alive, and what I have smitten that I can heal: neither is there that can deliver any man out of my hand. For I will lift up my 40 hand to heaven, and will say: I live ever. If I whet the light- 41 ning of my sword, and mine hand take in hand to do justice, I will shew vengeance on mine enemies and will reward them that hate me. I will make mine arrows drunken with blood, 42 and my sword shall eat flesh of the blood of the slain and of the captive and of the bare head of the enemy. Rejoice* heathen 43 with his people, for he will avenge the blood of his servants, and will avenge him of his adversaries, and will be merciful unto the land of his people. And Moses went and spake all 44 the words of this song in the ears of the people, both he and Josua the son of Nun. And when Moses had spoken all these 45 words unto the end to all Israel, then he said unto them. Set 46 your hearts unto all the words which I testify unto you this day: that ye command them unto your children, to observe 47 and do all the words of this law. For it is not a vain word unto you: but it is your life, and thorow this word ye shall prolong your days in the land whither ye go over Jordan to conquer it.

 48, 49 And the LORD spake unto Moses the self same day saying: get thee up into this mountain Abarim unto mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab over against Jericho. And behold the land of Canaan which I give unto the children of Israel to possess.
 50 And die in the mount which thou goest upon, and be gathered unto thy people: As Aaron thy brother died in mount Hor and 51 was gathered unto his people. For ye trespassed against me among the children of Israel at the waters of strife, at Cades in the wilderness of Zin: because ye sanctified me not among 52 the children of Israel. Thou shalt see the land before thee, but shall not go thither unto the land which I give the children of Israel.

This is the blessing wherewith Moses God's man blessed the 2 children of Israel before his death saying: The LORD came from Sinai and shewed his beams from Seir unto them, and appeared gloriously from mount Pharan, and he came with thousands of saints, and in his right hand a law of fire for 3 them. How loved he the people? All his saints are in his hand. They joined them selves unto thy foot and received thy 4 words. Moses gave us a law which is the inheritance of the 5 congregation of Jacob. And he was in Israel king when he gathered the heads of the people and the tribes of Israel to-6 gether. Ruben shall live and shall not die: but his people 7 shall be few in number. This is the blessing of Juda. And he said: hear LORD the voice of Juda and bring him unto his people: let his hands fight for him: but be thou his help against 8 his enemies. And unto Levi he said: thy perfectness and thy light be after thy merciful man whom thou temptest at Masa 9 and with whom thou strivedest at the waters of strife. He that sayeth unto his father and mother: I saw him not, and unto his brethren I knew not, and to his son I wot not: for they 10 have observed thy words and kept thy testament. They shall teach Jacob thy judgements and Israel thy laws. They shall put cense before thy nose and whole sacrifices upon thine altar.
 11 Bless LORD their power and accept the works of their hands: smite the backs of them that rise against them and of them that hate them: that they rise not again. Unto Ben Jamin 12 he said: The LORD's darling shall dwell in safety by him and keep himself in the haven by him continually, and shall dwell between his shoulders. And unto Joseph he said: blessed of 13 the LORD is his land with the goodly fruits of heaven, with dew and with springs that lie beneath: and with fruits of the in- 14 crease of the son and with ripe fruit of the months, and with 15 the tops of mountains that were from the beginning and with the dainties of hills that last ever, and with goodly fruit of the 16 earth and of the fulness thereof. And the goodwill of him that dwelleth in the bush shall come upon the head of Joseph and upon the top of the head of him that was separated from among 17 his brethren, his beauty is as a firstborn ox and his horns as the horns of an unicorn. And with them he shall push the nations together, even unto the ends of the world. These are the many thousands of Ephraim and the thousands of Manasse.

 And unto Zabulon he said: Rejoice Zabulon in thy going out, 18 and thou Isachar in thy tents. They shall call the people unto 19 the hill, and there they shall offer offerings of righteousness.
 For they shall suck of the abundance of the sea and of treasure hid in the sand. And unto Gad he said: blessed is the 20 rowmmaker Gad. He dwelleth as a lion and caught the arm and also the top of the head. He saw his beginning, that a 21 part of the teachers were* hid there and come with the heads of the people, and executed the righteousness of the LORD and his judgements with Israel. And unto Dan he said: Dan is a 22 lion's whelp, he shall flow from Basan. And unto Nephthali, 23 he said: Nephthali he shall have abundance of pleasure and shall be filled with the blessing of the LORD and shall have his possessions in the southwest. And of Asser he said: Asser 24 shall be blessed with children: he shall be acceptable unto his brethren and shall dip his foot in oil: Iron and brass shall 25 hang on thy shoes and thine age shall be as thy youth. There 26 is none like unto the God of thee of Israel: he that sitteth upon heaven shall be thine help, whose glory is in the clouds, that 27 is the dwelling place of God from the beginning and from under the arms of the world: he hath cast out thine enemies before thee and said: destroy. And Israel shall dwell in safety alone. 28 And the eyes of Jacob shall look upon a land of corn and wine, 33. v.21 Other: teacher was.

29 moreover his heaven shall drop with dew. Happy art thou Israel, who is like unto thee? A people that art saved by the LORD thy shield and helper and sword of thy glory. And thine enemies shall hide them selves from thee, and thou shalt walk upon their high hills.

XXXIV

And Moses went from the fields of Moab up into mount Nebo which is the top of Pisga, that is over against Jericho. And the LORD shewed him all the land of Gilead even unto Dan, and all Naphthali and the land of Ephraim and Manasse, and all the land of Juda: even unto the utmost sea, and the south and the region of the plain of Jericho the city of datetrees* even unto Zoar. And the LORD said unto him. This is the land which I sware unto Abraham, Isaac and Jacob saying: I will give it unto thy seed. I have shewed it thee before thine eyes: but thou shalt not go over thither. So Moses the servant of the LORD died there in the land of Moab at the commandment of the LORD. And he buried him in a valley in the land of Moab beside Beth Peor: but no man wist of his sepulchre unto this day. And Moses was an hundred and twenty year old when he died, and yet his eyes were not dim nor his cheeks abated. And the children of Israel wept for Moses in the fields of Moab thirty days. And the days of weeping and mourning for Moses were ended. And Josua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom: for Moses had put his hand upon him. And all the children of Israel hearkened unto him and did as the LORD commanded Moses. But there arose not a prophet since in Israel like unto Moses, whom the LORD knew face to face, in all the miracles and wonders which the LORD sent him to do in the land of Egypt, unto Pharao and all his servants and unto all his land: and in all the mighty deeds and great terrible things which Moses did in the sight of all Israel.

The Book Of Joshua.

After the death of Moses the servant of the LORD: the LORD spake unto Josua the son of Nun Moses' minister saying: Moses my servant is dead. Now therefore up and go over Jordan, both thou and all this people, unto the land the which I give unto the children of Israel. All the places that the soles of your feet shall tread upon, have I given you, as I said unto Moses: from the wilderness and this Libanon unto the great river Euphrates: and all the land of the Hethites, even unto the great sea toward the going down of the son, shall be your coasts. There shall not a man be able to withstand thee all the days of thy life. For as I was with Moses, so will I be with thee and will neither leave thee, nor forsake thee. Be strong and bold: for unto this people shalt thou divide the land which I sware unto their fathers to give them. Above all thing be strong and harden thyself, to observe and to do, according to all the laws which Moses my servant commanded thee. Turn therefrom neither to the right hand, nor to the left: that thou mayest have understanding in all thou takest in hand. Let not the book of this law depart out of thy mouth: but record therein day and night that thou mayest be circumspect to do according to all that is written therein. For then shalt thou make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have understanding. Behold, I have said unto thee, be strong and bold: neither fear, nor dread. For the LORD thy God is with thee whither soever thou goest. Then Josua commanded the officers of the people saying: Go thorow the midst of the host, and command the people saying, prepare you vitailles: for after three days ye shall pass over this Jordan, to go and enjoy the land which the LORD your God giveth you, to possess it. And unto the Rubenites, Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasses spake Josua saying: Remember that which Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you saying: the LORD your God hath given you rest, and hath given you this land. Let your wives, your children and your cattle remain in the land which Moses gave you on this side Jordan: But go ye before your brethren Armyd, all that be men of war, and help them until the LORD hath given your brethren rest, as he hath you, and until they also have obtained, the land which the LORD your God giveth them. And then return unto the land of your possession and enjoy it, which land Moses the LORD's servant 16 gave you on this side Jordan toward the son rising. And they answered Josua saying: All that thou biddest us, we will do, 17 and whither soever thou sendest us, we will go. According as we obeyed Moses in all things, so we will obey thee, onely 18 the LORD thy God be with thee as he was with Moses. And whosoever disobey thy mouth, and will not hearken unto thy words in all that thou commandest him, let him die: Onely be strong and of good courage.

II Then Josua the son of Nun sent out of Settim two spies secretly saying: go and view the land and also Jericho. And they went, and came unto a harlot's* house named Rahab, and 2 lodged there. And it was told the king of Jericho saying: Behold there came men in hither tonight, of the children of Is-3 rael, to spy out the country. And the king of Jericho sent unto Rahab saying: bring forth the men that are come to thee, which are entered into thine house: for they be come to search 4 out all the land. And the woman took the two men and hid them. And said, indeed there came men unto me but I wot* 5 not whence they were. And about the time of the shutting of the gate when it was dark, they went out, whither they went I wot not: but follow after them quickly and ye shall take 6 them. And she brought them up upon the roof of the house, and hid them under flax (yet in the stalks) which she had ly-7 ing abroad upon the roof. And the men pursued after them, the way to Jordan even unto the passage, and as soon as they 8 which pursued after them were gone out, they shut the gates immediately. And or ever they were asleep, she came up unto 9 them upon the roof, and said unto the men: I know that the LORD hath given you the land, both because that the fear of you is fallen upon us, and because that the inhabitants of the 10 land faint at your coming. For we have heard how the LORD dried up the water of the red sea before you, when you came out of Egypt, and what you did unto the two kings of the Amorites on the other side Jordan Sehon, and Og, which ye utterly de-11 stroyed. And as soon as we had heard these things, our hearts did faint. And there remained no more courage in any man for fear of your coming. For the LORD your God, he is the God in heaven above: and on the earth beneath. Now therefore swear unto me by the LORD because I have shewed you mercy, that ye shall also shew mercy unto my father's house and give me a true token. And that ye shall save alive, both my father, and my mother, my brethren and my sisters, and all that pertain unto them. And that ye shall deliver our souls from death. And the men answered her, our lives for you to die, if you utter not this our communication. And so when the LORD hath given us the land, we will deal Mercifully and truly with thee. And then she let them down with a cord thorow the window. For her house stood in the town wall. And she dwelt in the town wall. And she said unto them, get you into the mountains, lest the followers meet you, and hide yourselves there three days, until the pursuers be returned, and then may ye go your ways. And the men said unto her, we will be blameless of thy oath, which thou hast made us swear. Behold, when we come unto the land, thou shalt bind this purple threaden cord in the window, which thou letttest us down by. And thou shalt bring thy father, thy mother, thy brethren, and all thy father's household, even into the house to thee. And then whosoever go out at the doors of thy house, into the street, his blood shall be upon his own head, and we guiltless. And whosoever shall be with thee in the house, his blood be upon our heads if any man's hand be upon him: And even so if thou utter these our words, we will be quite of thy oath which thou hast made us swear. And she said according unto your words so be it: and so sent them away, and they departed. And she bound the purple cord in the window. And they departed and got them into the mountains, and there abode three days until the pursuers were returned. And the pursuers sought thorowout all the way and found them not. And the two men returned and descended from the mountain and passed over, and came to Josua the son of Nun, and told him all that had chanced them. And they said unto Josua the LORD hath delivered into our hands all the land, for all the inhabiters of the country faint for fear of us.

2. v.1 Other: tavernar's. v.4 Other: knew.

And Josua rose early: And they removed from Settim, and came to Jordan, both he and all the children of Israel, and so-journed there before they went over. And after three days the

3 officers went thorough the host, and commanded the people saying: when ye see the ark of the testament of the LORD your God, and the priests that are Levites bearing it: then depart 4 ye from your places and follow after it. So yet that there be a space between you and it, about a two thousand cubits by measure. And come not nye unto it, that ye may know the way by 5 which ye must go: for ye have not gone by it in times past. And Josua said unto the people, purify yourselves, for tomorrow the 6 LORD shall shew wonders among you. Then Josua spake unto the priests saying: Take up the ark of the testament, and go before the people. And they took up the ark of the testament, 7 and went before the people. And the LORD said unto Josua: this day will I begin to magnify thee, in the sight of all Israel, that they may know how that as I was with Moses, so will I 8 be with thee. And command thou the priests that bear the ark of the testament, saying: when ye are entered a little into 9 the water of Jordan then stand still in it. Then spake Josua to the children of Israel, saying: come hither and hear the 10 words of the LORD your God. And Josua said: Hereby ye shall know, that the living God is among you, and that he will without fail cast out before you, the Cananites, the Hethites, the Hevites, the Pheresites, the Gergesites, the Amorites, and the 11 Jebusites. Behold, the ark of the appointment of the Lord of all the world shall go before you into Jordan. And now take you twelve men of the children of Israel, of every tribe a man.
12 And as soon as the soles of the feet of the priests that bear the ark of Jehovah* (the Lord of all the world) tread in the water of Jordan, the water of Jordan shall divide itself and the waters 13 that cometh from above shall stand still upon an heap. And when the people were departed from their tents to go over Jordan, (the priests bearing the ark of the appointment before the 14 people) as soon as they that bare the ark came unto Jordan, and the feet of the priests that bare the ark were dipped in the brim of the water. Jordan being full over all his banks all 15 the time of harvest: the water that came down from above did stop and stood upon an heap, a great way from Adam, a city beside Zarethan. And the water that went down vanished into the sea of the wilderness called the salt sea as soon as it was 16 divided: and the people went right over against Jericho. And the priests that bare the ark of the appointment of the LORD stood still upon dry land, until all the people were clean over Jordan.

And as soon as the people were all gone over Jordan, the IV LORD spake unto Josua saying: Take you twelve men out of 2 the people, of every tribe a man. And command you them 3 saying: take you hence out of the midst of Jordan even out of the place where the priests stood in a readiness, twelve stones. And take ye them away with you and put them in the place where you lodge at night. And Josua called unto the twelve 4 men which he had prepared of the children of Israel, of every tribe a man, and said unto them: get you before the ark of 5 the LORD your God even into the midst of Jordan, and take up every man a stone upon his shoulder, according unto the number of the tribes of the children of Israel, that this may 6 be a sign among you. And when your children ask their fathers in time to come saying: what mean ye with these stones? then say unto them, how that the water of Jordan divided at 7 the presence of the ark of the appointment of the LORD: even while it went over Jordan, the water of Jordan divided. And these stones shall be a memorial unto the children of Israel for ever. And the children of Israel did even so as Josua com- 8 manded, and took up twelve stones out of the midst of Jordan, as the LORD said unto Josua according to the number of the tribes of the children of Israel, and carried them away with them unto the place where they lodged, and laid them down there. And thereto Josua set up twelve stones in the midst of 9 Jordan in the place where the feet of the priests which bare the ark of the testament stood. And there they be even unto this day. For the priests that bare the ark stood in the midst of Jordan, until all was finished that the LORD commanded Josua to say unto the people, according to all that Moses charged Josua. And the people hasted and went over. When all the peo- 11 ple were clean over, then went over the ark of the LORD, and also the priests before the people. And the children of Ruben, 12 and the children of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasses went before the children of Israel armed, as Moses charged them. Upon a forty thousand trimmed for war, went before the LORD 13 unto battle, even unto the wild fields of Jericho. That day 14 the LORD magnified Josua in the sight of all Israel and they 15 feared him, as they feared Moses all the days of his life. And 16 the LORD spake unto Josua saying: command the priests that 17 bear the ark of witness to come up out of Jordan. And Josua 18 commanded the priests saying: Ascend up out of Jordan. And when the priests that bare the ark of the appointment of the LORD were ascended out of Jordan: as soon as the soles of the priests' feet were brought to dry land, the water of Jordan returned again to his place and went over all his banks as he did 19 before. And the people came up out of Jordan the tenth day of the first month and pitched in Gilgal even in the east borders 20 of Jericho. And the twelve stones which they took out of Jor-21 dan, Josua pitched in Gilgal. And he spake unto the children of Israel saying: when your children ask you in time to come 22 saying: what mean these stones, shew your children and say: 23 Israel came over this Jordan on dry land. For the LORD your God dried up the water of Jordan before you, until ye were over, as the LORD your God did unto the red sea, which he dried up 24 before us till we were over, that all the people of the world may know the hand of the LORD how mighty it is, and that ye might fear the LORD your God for ever.

V And when all the kings of the Amorites which are on this side Jordan to the seaward, and all the kings of the Cananites which lie on the sea heard, how the LORD had dried up the water of Jordan before the children of Israel, until they were over, their hearts fainted in them. And there was no spirit in them any more, for fear of the coming of the children of Israel.
2 That same time the LORD said unto Josua: Make thee knives of stone, and go to again and circumcise the children of Israel 3 the second time. And Josua made him knives of stone and 4 circumcised the children of Israel in the hill of foreskins. And this is the cause why Josua circumcised. All the people that came out of Egypt that were males, all that were men of war, died in the wilderness by the way after they came out of Egypt.
5 Now all the people that came out were circumcised. But all the people that were born in the wilderness by the way after they 6 came out of Egypt, they circumcised not. For the children of Israel walked forty year in the wilderness, till all the people of men of war that came out of Egypt were consumed, which hearkened not unto the voice of God, so that the LORD sware, that he would not shew them the land which the LORD sware unto their fathers, that he would give us, even a land that floweth with milk and honey. And their children he set up in their 7 stead: them Josua circumcised: for they were uncircumcised, because they circumcised them not by the way. And when all 8 the people were full circumcised, they abode still in their places in the host till they were whole. And the LORD said unto Jo-9 sua, this day I have taken away the shame of Egypt from you:

 and called the name of the same place Gilgal unto this day.
 And the children of Israel pitched their tents in Gilgal, and 10 held the feast of passover the fourteenth day of the month at even in the fields of Jericho. And they ate of the corn of the 11 land on the morrow after passover, sweet cakes and parched corn in the selfsame day. And Manna ceased on the morrow, 12 after they had eaten of the corn of the land, neither had the children of Israel Manna any more, but did eat of the fruits of the land of Canaan that year. And when Josua was come to 13 Jericho, he lift up his eyes and looked: and behold there stood a man before him with his sword drawn in his hand. And Josua went unto him and said unto him, art thou on our side or on our adversaries? And he answered, Nay, but I am the cap-14 tain of the host of the LORD and am now come. And Josua fell on his face to the earth and did reverence, and said unto him, what sayeth my lord unto his servant. And the captain of the 15 LORD's host said unto Josua: do thy shoes off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy. And Josua did so.

And Jericho shut in her people, and was shut for fear of the VI children of Israel, so that no man went out or in. And the 2
 LORD said into Josua: behold, I have given into thine hand, Jericho and her king and the men of war. And ye shall compass 3 the city, all that be men of war, and go round about it once: and so shall you do six days. And seven priests shall 4 bear seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark. And the seventh day, ye shall compass the city seven times and the priests shall blow with their trumpets. And when there is 5 a long blast blown with the ram's horn, as soon as ye hear the sound of the horn, let all the people shout a mighty shout. And then shall the walls of the city fall down, and the people shall ascend up, every man straight before him. And Josua the son 6 of Nun, called unto the priests and said unto them: take up the ark of the appointment, and let seven priests bear seven 7 trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the LORD. And he said unto the people, go and compass the city: And let the men 8 of arms go before the ark of the LORD. And when Josua had spoken unto the people, the seven priests that bare the seven trumpets of rams horns before the ark of the LORD, went forth and blew with the horns, and the ark of the testament of the 9 LORD followed after them. And the men of arms went before the priests that blew with the horns, and the common people came after the ark: and as they went, they blew with the 10 horns. And Josua commanded the people saying, shout not nor let your voice be heard, or any word proceed out of your 11 mouths, until the day I bid you shout: and then shout. And so the ark of the LORD compassed the city and went about it once: and then they returned unto the host and lodged there.

12 And Josua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the ark of the LORD, and seven priests bare seven trumpets of rams' horns before the ark of the LORD, and as they went, blew with the horns. And the men of arms went before them, and the common people came after the ark of the LORD: and as 14 they went, they blew with the horns. And the second day they compassed the city once, and returned again into the host, and 15 so they did six days long. And the seventh day they rose early: even with the dawning of the day, and compassed the city after the same manner seven times: only that they compassed the 16 city seven times. And at the seventh time, the priests blew with the horns, and Josua said unto the people, shout for the 17 LORD hath given you the city. But the city shall be excommunicate, both it and all that is therein, unto the LORD: onely Rahab the harlot shall live, both she and all that is with her in 18 the house, because she hid the messengers that we sent. And in any wise beware of the excommunicate things, lest ye make yourselves excommunicate. For if you take of the excommu-19 nicate and shall trouble it. But of the silver, gold, vessels of brass and iron shall be holy unto the LORD and shall go into 20 his treasury. And the people cried, and blew with horns: for when the people heard the sound of the horns, they shouted a great shout: and the walls fell down, and the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and took the city.
21 And they utterly destroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, ox, sheep and Ass, with the edge of the sword. Then Josua said to the two men that went to 22 spy out the country: go into the harlot's house, and bring out thence, both the woman and all that pertaineth to her, as ye sware to her. And the young men that were spies went in and 23 brought out Rahab, and her father, and mother, and all the brethren and all that she had. And they brought out all her household and put them without the host of Israel. And they 24 burnt the city with fire, and all that was therein. Onely the silver, the gold, and the things of brass and iron they put unto the treasure of the house of the LORD. And Josua saved Rahab 25 the harlot, and her father's household and all that pertained unto her, and she dwelt in Israel, even unto this day, because she hid the messengers which Josua sent to spy out Jericho.

And Josua cursed at that time, saying, cursed be the man be- 26 fore the LORD, that riseth up and buildeth this city Jericho:
so that he lay the foundation with the death of his eldest son, and with the death of his youngest set up the gates. And the 27 LORD was with Josua, and his fame was heard, thorowout all lands.

But yet the children of Israel trespassed in the excommuni- VII cate things: for Acan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zareh of the tribe of Juda, took of the excommunicate things. And the wrath of the LORD waxed hot against the children of Israel. Then Josua sent men from Jericho to Ai which 2 is beside Bethaven, on the east side of Bethel, and spake unto them saying, get you up and view the country. And the men went up and spied out Ai. And returned unto Josua and said 3 unto him, let not all the people go up, but let as it were a two or three thousand men go up and destroy Ai, and make not all the people to labour thither, for they are but few. And so 4 there went up thither about a three thousand men, which fled before the men of Ai. And the men of Ai smote of them upon a 5 thirty and six men, and chased them before the gates even unto Gabarim, and smote them in the going down. And the hearts of the people were discouraged and melted like water. And 6 Josua rent his clothes and fell to the earth upon his face before the ark of the LORD until the eventide, both he and the elders of Israel, and put earth upon their heads. And Josua said, Ah, 7

Lord Jehovah,* wherefore hast thou brought this people over Jordan to deliver us into the hands of the Amorites to destroy us: would to God we had adventured and dwelt on the other 8 side Jordan. Oh Lord what shall I say, when Israel turneth 9 their backs before their enemies: Moreover the Cananites, and all the inhabitants of the land shall hear of it, and shall come about us and destroy the name of us out of the world.
10 And then what wilt thou do unto thy mighty name? And the LORD said unto Josua, get thee up, wherefore liest thou thus 11 upon thy face? Israel hath sinned and also transgressed mine appointment, which I commanded them, and have taken of the excommunicate things, and have stolen and hid them, and also 12 put them unto their own stuff: And therefore the children of Israel can not stand before their enemies. They shall turn their backs before their enemies, because they be excommu-13 nicate. Neither will I be with you any more, except ye destroy the excommunicate from among you. Up and sanctify the people and bid them to sanctify themselves against the morrow: for so sayeth the LORD God of Israel, the excommunication is among you Israel, and therefore ye can not stand before your enemies, until ye have put the excommunication from among 14 you. Tomorrow morning ye shall come by your tribes. And the tribe which the LORD shall find guilty, shall come by kindreds. And the kindred which the LORD shall find guilty, shall come by households. And the household which the LORD shall 15 find faulty, shall come man by man. And he that is found in the excommunication shall be burnt with fire, both he and all that pertaineth unto him, because he hath transgressed the covenant of the LORD, and because he hath wrought folly in Is-16 rael. And so Josua rose up early in the morning and brought 17 Israel by their tribes: and the tribe of Juda was caught. Then he brought the kindreds of Juda, and found the kindred of the 18 Zarehites guilty. And he brought the kindred of the Zarehites by householders, and Zabdi was caught. And he brought his household man by man, and Acan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zareh in the tribe of Judah was caught.
19 And Josua said unto Acan: my son, give glory to the LORD God of Israel, and give him praise, and shew me what thou hast 20 done, and hide it not from me. And Acan answered Josua and said: of a truth I have sinned against the LORD God of Israel, and so and so have I done. I saw among the spoil a goodly Babylonish garment, and two hundredth sicles of silver, and a tongue of gold of fifty sicles weight: and I coveted them, and I took them. And behold they lie hid in the earth in my tent and the silver thereunder. And then Josua sent messengers which ran unto the tent. And behold, it was hid in his tent, and the silver thereunder. And they took them out of the midst of his tent and brought them unto Josua and unto all the children of Israel, and poured them out before the LORD. And Josua took Acan the son of Zareh, and the silver, and the garment, and the tongue of gold, and his sons and his daughters, his oxen, asses, sheep, his tent and all that he had, and all Israel with him, and brought them unto the valley of Acor. And Josua said: Inasmuch as thou hast troubled us: the LORD shall trouble thee this day. And all Israel stoned him with stones, and burnt them with fire, and overwhelmed them with stones. And they cast upon him a great heap of stones that remaineth unto this day. And so the LORD turned from his fierce wrath. Wherefore the name of the place is called the valley of Acor unto this day.

And the LORD said unto Josua: fear not, nor dread: but take all the men of war with thee, and up and get thee to Ai. Behold I have given into thy hand, the king of Ai, and his people, his city and his land. And thou shalt do to Ai and her king, as thou didst unto Jericho and her king. Nevertheless the spoil and cattle thereof, ye shall take unto yourselves. But lay a watch unto the town on the backside thereof. And then Josua arose and all the men of war, to go up unto Ai. And Josua chose out thirty thousand men of war, and sent them by night. And he commanded them saying: See that ye lie await unto the town on the backside thereof. Go not very far from the city, and see that ye be all ready. And I and all the people that are with me, will approach unto the city. And when they come out against us, as at the first time, then will we flee before them. And they will come out after us, until we have plucked them away from the city. For they will say, they flee before us, as at the first time: for we will flee before them. Then shall ye rise up from lying await and destroy the city: For the LORD your God will deliver it into your hands. As soon therefore as ye have taken the city, see that ye set it on fire. the commandment of the LORD see that ye do, behold, I have 9 charged you. And Josua sent them forth, and they went to lie await, and lay between Bethel and Ai, on the west side of Ai.
10 But Josua lodged that night among the people. And he rose up early in the morning and numbered the people and went up, both he and the elders of Israel before the people, unto Ai.
11 And all the men of war that were with him, went up and drew nye, and came before the city, and pitched on the north side of 12 Ai, a valley being between them and Ai, and he took upon a five thousand men and put them to lie await, between Bethel 13 and Ai, on the west side of the city. And he put the people even all the host, on the north side of the city, and the lyers await on the west. And Josua went the same night into the midst of the 14 valley. And when the king of Ai saw that they hasted and rose up early, then the people of the city went out against Israel, to battle, both the king and all his people, at a time appointed, even before the plain, and wist not that there were lyers await 15 on the backside of the city. And Josua and Israel were put to 16 the worse before them, and fled toward the wilderness. And all the people of the town cried to follow after them. And they followed after Josua till they were drawn away from the city: 17 So that there was not a man left in Ai, or in Bethel, that went not out after Israel. And they left the city open and followed 18 after Israel. Then the LORD said unto Josua stretch out the buckler that is in thine hand toward Ai, for I have given thee it. And Josua stretched out the buckler that was in his hand, 19 toward the city. And the lyers await rose quickly out of their places, and ran, as soon as Josua had stretched out his hand, and they entered into the city, and took* it, and hasted and set 20 it on fire. And when the men of Ai looked back after them and saw. Behold, the smoke of the city ascended up to heaven. And they had no place to flee either this way or that, for the people that fled to the wilderness turned back again upon the follow-21 ers. And when Josua and all Israel saw that the lyers await had taken the city and that the smoke of it ascended. They 22 turned again and laid on the men of Ai. And the other issued out of the city against them. And so were they in the midst of Israel, these being on the one side of them, and the rest on the other. And they laid upon them, so that they let none either remain or escape. And the king of Ai they took alive and brought 23 him to Josua. And when Israel had made an end of slaying all 24 the inhabitants of Ai in the fields and in the wilderness by which they chased them, and when they were all fallen on the Edge of the sword, until they were wasted. Then all Israel returned unto Ai and smote it with the edge of the sword. And all that 25 fell that day, both of men and women, were twelve thousand, even all the men of Ai. For Josua plucked not his hand back 26 again which he stretched out with the buckler, until they had utterly destroyed all the inhabitants of Ai. Only the cattle and 27 the spoil of the said city, Israel took unto themselves, according unto the word of the LORD, which he commanded Josua.

And Josua set Ai on fire and made it an heap for ever and a 28 wilderness, even unto this day. And the king of Ai he hanged 29 on tree, until evening. And as soon as the sun was down, Josua commanded and they took the carcass down off the tree, and cast it in the entering of the gate of the city, and cast thereon a great heap of stones, that remaineth unto this day. Then 30 Josua built an altar unto the LORD God of Israel, in mount Ebal, as Moses the servant of the LORD commanded the chil- 31 dren of Israel, according as it is written in the book of the law of Moses: an altar of rough stone over which no tool of iron was lifted. And they sacrificed thereon burnt sacrifice, and of- 32 fered peaceofferings. And he wrote there upon the stones the second law of Moses which he wrote in the presence of the chil- 33 dren of Israel. And all Israel and the elders thereof, and their officers and judges stood, part on this side the ark, and part on that side, before the priests: that were Levites which bare the ark of the appointment of the LORD: as well the stranger, as they that were born among them: half of them on the forefront of the Mount of Garizim, and half of them on the forefront of mount Ebal: as Moses the servant of the LORD commanded, 34 first to bless the people of Israel. And after that he read all the words of the law, both the blessing and cursing, according to all that is written in the book of the law: so that there was 35 not one word of all that Moses commanded, which Josua read not, before all the congregation of Israel, with women and children and the strangers that were among them.

And when all the kings that dwell on this side Jordan, in the IX hills and valleys, and along by all the coasts of the great sea, even unto Libanon, the Hethites, the Amorites, the Cananites, 2 the Pheresites, the Hevites, and the Jebusites heard: they gathered themselves together to fight against Josua and Israel 3 with one accord. But when the Inhabiters of Gibeon heard 4 what Josua had done unto Jericho, and Ai, they played wilily, and went and sent ambassadors, and took old sacks upon their Asses, and wine bottles old and rent and knit together 5 again, and old clouted shoes upon their feet, and old raiment upon them and all their provision of bread was dried up and 6 hoared. And they came unto Josua unto the host, to Gilgal and said unto him and unto the men of Israel: we be come from a far country, now therefore make agreement with us.

7 And the men of Israel said unto the Hevites, peradventure you dwell among us, and then how should we make peace with you.
8 And they said unto Josua, we are thy servants. And Josua said 9 unto them, what are ye: and whence come ye? And they answered him. From a very far country thy servants are come in the name of the LORD thy God: for we have heard the fame of 10 him, and all that he did in Egypt, and all that he did to the two kings of the Amorites beyond Jordan, Sehon king of Hes-11 bon and Og king of Basan which dwelt at Astharoth. Wherefore our elders and all the Enhabiters of our country spake to us saying: take vitailles with you to serve by the way, and go against them, and say unto them we are your servants. Now 12 therefore make a covenant of peace with us. This our provision of bread, we took with us out of our houses, hot, the day we departed to come unto you. And now behold it is dried up and 13 hoared. And these bottles of wine which we filled were new:
and see, they be rent. And these our garments and shoes are 14 waxen old by reason of the exceeding long Journey. And the men took of their vitailles, and counselled not with the mouth 15 of the LORD. And Josua made peace with them, and made a covenant with them, to save their lives: and the lords of the 16 congregation sware unto them. But three days after they had made peace with them, they heard that they were neighbours 17 unto them, and that they dwelt among them. For the children of Israel took their Journey and came unto their cities the third day: and their cities were Gabaon, Caphira, Beeroth 18 and Kariath Jarim. And the children of Israel slew them not, because the lords of the congregation had sworn unto them by the LORD God of Israel. And therefore all the multitude murmured against the lords. But all the lords said unto all the congregation: we have sworn unto them by the LORD God of Israel, and therefore we may not hurt them. But this we will do to them and let them live: and so shall no wrath be upon us because of the oath which we sware unto them. And the lords said unto them, that they should live: and they were made hewers of wood and drawers of water unto all the congregation, as the lords said unto them. Then Josua sent for them, and talked with them, and said: wherefore have ye beguiled us and yet ye dwell among us? and now therefore cursed be you, and there shall not cease to be of you, bondmen and hewers of wood and drawers of water unto the house of my God. And they answered Josua and said: it was told thy servants, how that the LORD thy God had commanded his servant Moses to give you all the land, and to destroy all the Inhabiters thereof out of your sight, and therefore we were exceeding sore afraid of our lives because of you, and now behold, we are in thine hand, as it seemeth good and right in thine eyes to do unto us, so do. And he dealt as it is said, with them, and rid them out of the hands of the children of Israel, that they slew them not. And Josua made them that same day hewers of wood and drawers of water unto the congregation and unto the altar of GOD unto this day, in the place which God should choose.

And when Adonizedec king of Jerusalem had heard how Josua had taken Ai, and had destroyed it, and how that as he had done to Jericho and her king, even so he had done to Ai and her king, and how the Inhabiters of Gibeon had made peace with Israel and did remain among them: then they feared exceedingly, for Gabaon was a great city, as any city of the kingdom, and thereto greater than Ai, and all her men were mighty. Wherefore Adonizedec king of Jerusalem sent unto Hoham king of Hebron, and unto Pharam king of Jerimoth, and unto Japhia king of Lachis, and unto Dabir king of Eglon saying: Come up unto me and help me, that we may smite Gabaon: for they have made peace with Josua and the children of Israel. Then the five kings of the Amorites, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jerimoth, the king of Lachis, the king of Eglon gathered themselves together, both they and all their hosts and went up and besieged Gabaon, X

6 and made war against it. But the men of Gabaon sent unto Josua unto the host to Gilgal, saying: withdraw not thy hands from thy servants, but come up to us: for all the kings of the Amorites which dwell in the mountains are gathered together 7 against us. And Josua ascended from Gilgal, both he and all 8 the people of war with him, and all the men of might, and the LORD said unto Josua, fear them not, for I have delivered them unto thine hand, there shall not a man of them stand 9 before thee. And Josua came unto them suddenly, and jour-10 neyed from Gilgal all night. And the LORD turmoiled* them before Israel and slew of them a great slaughter at Gabaon, and chased them along the way that goeth up to Bethoron 11 and slew them till they came to Esaka and Makeda. And as they fled from Israel, even in the going down to Bethoron, the LORD cast down great stones from heaven upon them, until they came unto Esaka, that they died. And there were more that died with hailstones, than the children of Israel slew with 12 the sword. Then spake Josua unto the LORD, the day when the LORD delivered the Amorites before the children of Israel, and he said in the sight of all Israel: Son stand thou still upon 13 Gabaon, and thou Moon, in the valley of Aialon. And the sun abode, and the moon stood still, until the people had avenged themselves upon their enemies. Is not this written in the book of the righteous, how that the son abode in the midst of heaven 14 and hasted not to go down by the space of a whole day. And there was no day like that, before it, or after it, that the LORD obeyed the voice of a man: and all because the LORD fought 15 for Israel. And Josua returned and all Israel with him, unto 16 the host to Gilgal: but the five kings fled and hid themselves 17 in a cave at Makeda. And it was told Josua, saying: the five 18 kings are found hid in a cave at Makeda. And Josua said, roll great stones unto the mouth of the cave and appoint men 19 thereto, for to keep them. And stand ye not still, but follow after your enemies and smite the hindmost of them. And suffer them not to enter into their cities, for the LORD your God 20 hath delivered them into your hands. And when Josua and the children of Israel had made an end of slaying them with a great slaughter till they were wasted, yet there remained a 21 certain of them, which entered into walled cities. And all the people returned to the host, to Josua at Makeda in peace, so that no man durst move his tongue against the children of Israel. Then said Josua: open the mouth of the cave, and bring out these five kings unto me out of the cave. And they did so, and brought those five kings unto him, out of the cave: the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jerimoth the king of Lachis, and the king of Eglon. And when they had brought out those kings unto Josua: Josua called for all the men of Israel, and said unto the captains of the men of war, which came with him, come near and put your feet upon the necks of these kings. And they came near and put their feet upon the necks of them. And Josua said unto them fear not nor dread: But be strong and pluck up your hearts, for so shall the LORD serve all your enemies against which ye fight. And then Josua smote them and slew them and hanged them on five trees till evening. And at the going down of the sun, Josua gave commandment, and they took them down off the trees and cast them into the cave, where they hid themselves, and laid great stones on the cave's mouth, which remain unto this day. And that same day Josua took Makeda, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and the king thereof also, and utterly destroyed them and all the souls that were therein, and let nought remain. And he did to the king of Makeda, as he did to the king of Jericho. Then Josua went from Makeda, and all Israel with him unto Libna, and fought against Libna. And the LORD delivered it also into their hands, with the king also and smote it with the edge of the sword and all the souls that were therein, and let nought remain in it, and did unto the king thereof as he did unto the king of Jericho. After that Josua departed from Libna, and all Israel with him, unto Lachis, and besieged it, and assaulted it. And the LORD delivered into the hands of Israel Lachis, that they took it the Second day, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and all the souls that were therein, according to all that he did to Libna. Then Horam king of Geser came up to help Lachis: But Josua smote him and his people, until he left him nought remaining. And from Lachis Josua departed, unto Eglon, and all Israel with him, and there besieged it, and assaulted it, and took it the same day, and smote it with the edge of the sword and all the souls that were therein: and utterly destroyed them the same day, according to all that he 36 did to Lachis. Then Josua departed up from Eglon and all Is-37 rael with him, unto Hebron. And they fought against it, and took it, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and the king thereof, and all the towns that pertained to it, and all the souls that were therein, so that they left nought remaining: but in all things as they did to Eglon, so they destroyed it utterly, 38 and all the souls that were therein. Then Josua returned and 39 all Israel with him to Dabir, and they fought against it, and took it, and the king thereof and all the towns that pertained thereto. And smote them with the edge of the sword, and utterly destroyed all the souls that were therein, and let nought remain. And as he did to Hebron, so he did to Dabir, and the 40 king thereof, and as he did to Libna and her king. And Josua smote all the hill countries and the south countries, and the valleys, and the springs of water, with all their kings and let nought remain, but utterly destroyed all that breathed, as the 41 LORD God of Israel commanded. And Josua smote them from Cades Barne, unto Asah, and all the coasts of Gosan, even unto 42 Gabaon. And all those kings and their land, Josua took at one 43 time: because the LORD God of Israel fought for Israel. And then Josua returned and all Israel with him unto the host to Gilgal.

XI And when Jabin king of Hazor had heard that: he sent to Jobab king of Madon, and to the king of Someron, and to the 2 king of Acsaph. And unto the kings that are by north in the mountains, and plains, on the south side of Ceneroth, and in 3 the low countries, and in the regions of Dor upon the sea, and unto the Cananites both by East and west: and unto the Amorites, Hethites, Pheresites, and Jebusites in the mountains: and 4 unto the Hevites under Hermon in the land of Mazpah: which came out and all their hosts with them a multitude of folk even as the sands of the sea in number with horses and chariots ex-5 ceeding many. And all these kings met together, and came and pitched together upon the water of Merom, for to fight with Is-6 rael. And the LORD said unto Josua: be not afraid of them: for tomorrow about this time I will deliver them all slain, before all Israel: and thou shalt hough their horses, and burn their 7 chariots with fire. And Josua came and all the men of war with him against them, unto the water of Merom, suddenly, 8 and fell upon them. And the LORD delivered them into the hands of Israel: and they smote them and chased them, into great Sidon, and unto the hot waters, and unto the valley of Mazphah Eastward: and smote them until they had none remaining of them. And Josua served them as the LORD bade 9 him, houghed their horses and burnt their chariots with fire. Then Josua at that time turned back and took Hazor and smote 10 her king with the sword. For Hazor before time was the head of all those kingdoms. And they smote all the souls that were 11 therein with the edge of the sword, utterly destroying them, that no breath was let remain. And burnt Hazor with fire and all the cities of those kings, with all the kings of them, 12 Josua took and smote them with the edge of the sword, and utterly destroyed them as Moses the servant of the LORD commanded. But Israel burnt none of the cities that stood upon 13 hills, save Hazor onely, that Josua burnt: but all the spoil of the said cities and the cattle, the children of Israel caught unto themselves: But the men only they smote with the edge of the 14 sword until they had destroyed them, and had left no breath remaining. As the LORD commanded Josua, and even so did Josua and minished no word of all that the LORD commanded 15 Moses. And so Josua took all the land, the hills and all the south country, and all the land of Gosan, and the low country, and the plains, and the mountain of Israel, with the low 16 country of the same, even from mount Halak that goeth up to Seir, unto Baal Gad in the valley of Libanon, under mount Hermon. And all the kings of the same, he took and smote 17 them, and slew them. Josua made war long time with those kings: for there was no city that made peace with the children 18 of Israel, save those Hethites that inhabited Gibeon: All other they took with battle: for it came of the LORD to harden their hearts: that they should come against Israel in battle: even to 19 destroy them utterly, that they should have no mercy, but to bring them to naught. As the LORD commanded Moses. And 20 that same season, Josua went and destroyed the Enakites out of the mountains, and out of Hebron, Dabir, and Anab, and out of all the mountains of Juda, and out of all the mountains of 21 Israel. And Josua destroyed them utterly with their cities. So that there was not one Enakite left in the land of the children of Israel: only in Asah, Geth, and Asdod, there remained of 22 them. And Josua took the whole land according to all that the 23

LORD said unto Moses, and gave it a possession unto Israel every man his part in their tribes: and the land rested from war.

XII These are the kings of the land which the children of Israel smote and conquered their lands, on the other side Jordan eastward, from the river Arnon, unto mount Hermon, and all the plain eastward: Sehon king of the Amorites that dwelt in Hesbon, and ruled from Aroer, which lieth on the brim of the river of Arnon, and to the middle of the river, and half Gilead unto the river Jabock, the border of the children of Ammon: And in the plain unto the sea of Ceneroth eastward, and unto the sea in the plain called the salt sea Eastward, the way to Beth, Jesimoth and by south under the springs of Phasgah. And the coasts of Og, king of Basan which was of the remnant of the Raphaites and dwelt at Astharoth, and Edrai: and reigned in mount Hermon, and in Salecah, and thorowout all Basan, unto the borders, of the Gesurites, and the Macathites and half Gilead, unto the borders of Sehon king of Hesbon. Moses the servant of the LORD and the children of Israel smote them, and Moses the servant of the LORD, gave their lands a possession, unto the Rubenites, Gaddites, and half the tribe of Manasses. These are the kings of the country which Josua and the children of Israel smote on this side Jordan, westward, from Baal Gad in the valley of Libanon, even unto mount Halak that goeth up to Seir. And Josua gave the land unto the tribes of Israel to possess, to every man his part: in the upper land, and nether land, in plains, and springs of water, in the wilderness, and south country the Hethites, the Amorites, the Cananites, the Pheresites, the Hevites and the Jebusites. The king of Jericho: The king of Ai beside Bethel: The king of Jerusalem: The king of Hebron: The king of Jerimoth: the king of Lachis: The king of Eglon: The king of Gazer: The king of Dabir: The king of Gader: The king of Horma: The king of Ered: The king of Libna: The king of Odolam: The king of Makeda: The king of Bethel: The king of Thaphuah: The king of Hopher: The king of Aphek: The king of Lasaron: The king of Madan: The king of Haser: The king Someronmeron: The king of Acsaph: The king Thenach: The king of Magedo: The king of Cades: The king of Jakanam in Carmel: The king of the country of Dor: The king of the nations in Gilgal: and king Therzah: All the kings together thirty and one.

When Josua was waxen old, and stricken in year, the LORD XIII said unto him: thou art old and stricken in year, and there remaineth yet exceeding much land to be possessed. This 2 is the land that remaineth: all the coasts of the Philistines: and all the Gesurites: from Nile in Egypt unto the borders 3 of Akaron northward, which land was counted to pertain unto the Cananites, even to the five lords of the Philistines: the Asathites, Asdadites, Ascalonites, Gethites, Akaronites, with the Evites, from the south. All the land of the Cananites, and 4 Maara that pertaineth to the Sidons, even unto Aphek, and to the borders of the Amorites. And the land of the Giblites, and 5 all Libanon toward the son rising, from Baal Gad under mount Hermon until thou come to Hemath, all the inhabitants of the 6 hill country, from Libanon unto the hot waters even all the Sidones. I will cast them out from before the children of Israel, and see that thou in any wise divide it by lot unto the children of Israel to inherit, as I have commanded thee. Now therefore 7 divide this land to inherit, unto the nine tribes and the half tribe of Manasses. For the other half with the Rubenites and 8 the Gaddites have received their inheritance already which Moses gave them beyond Jordan Eastward: even as Moses the servant of the LORD gave them: from Aroer that lieth on the 9 brim of the river Arnon: with the city in the midst of the river.
 And all the plain of Midba unto Dibon: and all the cities of Se-hon, king of the Amorites which reigned in Hesbon, even unto 10 the borders of the children of Ammon: and Gilead, and the lands that border upon the Gesurites and the Machathites, and all mount Hermon and all Basan unto Selecah: even all the 12 kingdom of Og in Basan which reigned in Astharoth and Edrai which same remained yet of the Rest of the Raphaites. But Moses smote them and destroyed them. Nevertheless the chil- 13 dren of Israel expelled not the Gesurites nor the Machathites: But the Gesurites and the Machathites dwelt among the Israelites even unto this day. Onely unto the tribe of Levi, he 14 gave none inheritance: for the offering of the LORD God of Israel is their inheritance as he said unto them. And Moses 15 gave unto the tribe of the children of Ruben by their kindreds.
 And their coasts were from Aroer that lieth on the bank of the 16 river Arnon, and the city that lieth in the river, and all the 17 plain about Madba, Hesbon, and all her towns that lie in the 18 plain: Dibon Bamothbaal and Bethbaalmeon: Jahazah, Kede-19 moth and Nephaath Kiriathaim, Sabamah and Zarath Zahar 20 in mount Emak: and Beth Pheor and the springs of Phasgah, 21 and Bethiesimoth: and all the cities in the plain. And all the kingdom of Sehon king of the Amorites which reigned in Hesbon, whom Moses smote with the lords of Madian, Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur and Reba, the lords of Sehon, and the Enhabiters of 22 the country. And Balam also the son of Beor the soothsayer, the children of Israel slew with the sword, among other that 23 were slain. And the borders of the children of Ruben was Jordan with the country that lieth thereon. This is the inheritance of the children of Ruben in their kindreds, with the cities and 24 villages pertaining thereto. And Moses gave unto the tribe of 25 Gad, even unto the children of Gad he gave by kindreds. And their coasts were Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the children of Ammon, unto Aroer that lieth be-26 fore Rabah: And from Hesbon unto Ramoth mazpah, and 27 Betonim: and from Mahanaim unto the borders of Dabir. And in the valley they had Betharam, Bethnimra, Socoth, and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sehon king of Hesbon, and Jordan and the coasts that lie thereon, even unto the edge of 28 the sea of Ceneroth, on the other side Jordan Eastward. This is the inheritance of the children of Gad in their kindreds, the 29 cities with their villages. And Moses gave unto the half tribe of Manasses. And the half tribe of Manasses had their part by 30 their kindreds. And their coasts were from Mahanaim, even all Basan, the kingdom of Og, king of Basan, and all the towns 31 of Jair which lie in Basan, even three score cities, and half Gilead and Astaroth, and Edrai, cities of the kingdom of Og in Basan, which pertain unto the children of Machir the son of Manasses, and that unto half the children of Machir by their 32 kindreds. These are they to which Moses gave inheritance in the fields of Moab, on the other side Jordan by Jericho East-33 ward. But unto the tribe of Levi Moses gave none inheritance, for the LORD God of Israel he is their inheritance, as he said unto them.

XIV And these are the countries which the children inherited in the land of Canaan, unto which Eleazar the priest, and Josua the son of Nun and the ancient heads of the tribes of the children of Israel, gave them their inheritance by lot, as the LORD 2 commanded by the hand of Moses, to give unto the nine tribes, and unto the half tribe of Manasses. For Moses had given in- 3 heritance unto two tribes and an half on the other side Jordan.

But unto the Levites he gave none inheritance among them.
For the children of Joseph were two tribes, Manasses and Eph- 4 raim. And therefore they gave no part unto the Levites in the land, save cities to dwell in and the suburbs of the same, for their beasts and cattle. As the LORD commanded Moses: even 5 so the children of Israel did when they divided the land. And 6 the children of Juda came unto Josua in Gilgal. And Caleb the son of Jephune the Kenesite said unto him: thou wotest what the LORD said unto Moses the man of God, about me and thee in Cades Barne. Forty year old was I when Moses the 7 servant of the LORD sent me from Cades Barne to spy out the land. And I brought them word again even as I thought in mine heart. Nevertheless my brethren that went up with me 8 discouraged the hearts of the people. But I followed the LORD my God even unto the end. And Moses sware the same sea- 9 son saying the land whereon thy feet have trodden, shall be thine inheritance and thy children for ever because thou hast followed the LORD my God continually. And now behold, the 10 LORD hath kept me lusty (as he said) this forty and five year, even since the LORD spake unto Moses, while the children of Israel wandered in the wilderness. And now see I am this day four score and five year: and yet am as strong at this time, 11 as I was when Moses sent me: look how strong I was then, so strong I am now, to war and to do all manner of things. Now 12 therefore give me this mountain which the LORD at that time promised, for thou heardest at the time, how the Enakims were there, and how the cities were great and walled. I trust the LORD will be with me, and I shall drive them out as the LORD said. And Josua blessed Caleb the son of Jephune and gave 13 him Hebron to inherit. And Hebron became the inheritance of Caleb the son of Jephune the Kenesite, unto this day: because he followed the LORD God of Israel perpetually. And the name 15 of Hebron was called in old time, Kariath arbe, which was a huge man among the Enakims. And the land ceased from war.

And the lot of the tribe of the children of Juda in their kin- XV dreds was the wilderness of Zin that stretched to the coasts of Edom southward, and is the utmost part of the south coasts.

2 And their south coasts were from the brink of the salt sea and from a certain point of the sea that leaneth southward.
3 And it went out on the south side of the going up to Acrabim, and went along to Zimma, and ascended up on the south side of Cades Barne, and went along the Hezron and went up 4 to Adar, and set a compass to Karca and went along to Az-mon, and it went out to the river of Egypt: so that the end of 5 the coast is the sea. And these are their south coasts. And their east coasts are the salt sea even unto the edge of Jordan. And their borders in the north quarter were from an-6 other point of the sea where Jordan endeth. And went up to Bethhagla and went along by the north side of Betharabah 7 and went up to the stone of Bohem the son of Ruben. And then went up to Dabir from the valley of Acor, and so northward, turning toward Gilgal that lieth before the going up to Adonim, which is of the south side of the River. And then went along to the water of Ensemes, and ended at the well 8 of Rogell. And then went up to the valley of the son of Hennom, even unto the south side of the Jebusites the inhabiters of Jerusalem. And then went up to the top of the hill that li-eth before the valley of Hennom westward, and by the edge of 9 the valley of Raphaim northward: And then it draweth from the sand hill unto the fountain of water called Nephthoah, and goeth out at the cities of mount Ephron: and draweth to Balah, 10 otherwise called Kariathiarim: and then it compasseth from Balah westward, unto Eyr, and then goeth along unto the side of mount Jarim, otherwise called Chesalon, on the north side 11 thereof. And cometh down to Bethsames and goeth to Tham-nah, and goeth out on the side of Akaron northward: And then draweth to Secron and goeth along to mount Balah, and goeth 12 out at Jabnel: and the end of the coasts is the sea. And the west borders are the great sea and the coasts that lie thereon.
And these are the coasts of the children of Juda round about in 13 their kindreds. And unto Caleb the son of Jephune was there a part given among the children of Juda, by the mouth of the LORD to Josua, even the city of Kariatharbe father of Enack 14 which city is called Hebron. And Caleb drove thence the three sons of Enack, Sefai, Ahman, and Thalmai, the sons begotten 15 of Enack. And he went up thence, to the inhabiters of Dabir, whose name in the old time was kariath sepher. And Caleb 16 said: he that smiteth kariath sepher and taketh it: to him will I give Acsah my daughter to wife. And Othinel, the son of 17 Kenes, the brother of Caleb took it. And he gave him Acsah his daughter to wife. And as she went she moved him, to ask 18 of her father a field. And she alighted off her ass. And Caleb said unto her, what aileth thee. And she said, give me a bless- 19 ing: for thou hast given me a southward and dry land: give me also springs of water. Then he gave her springs of water, both above and beneath. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the 20 children of Juda in their kindreds. And the cities of the tribe 21 of the children of Juda in all quarters, toward the coasts of Edom southward, were: Kabzel, Eder, and Jagur: Kinah, Di- 22 monah, and Adada: Kedes Hazor, and Jethnan: Ziph, Telem, 23, 24 and Baloth, Hazor Hadathah, and Karioth, Hezron, otherwise called Hazor: Eman, Sami, and Moladah: Hazargadah, Has- 25 mon, and Bethpheleth: Hazarsual, Bersabe, and Baziothiah: 26, 27 Baalah, Jim, and Azen: Eltholad, Cesill, and Horma: Zike- 28 lag, Medemenah, and Sensenah: Labaoth, Selhim, Ain, and 29, 30, 31 Kemon: all these cities are twenty and nine with their vil- 32 lages. And in the low country they had Esthaol, Zareah, and 33 Asenah: Zoneah, Enganim, Thaphuah and Enam: Jerimoth, 34, 35 Adulam, Socoh, and Askah: Saarem, Adithaim, Gederah, and 36 Geberothaim: fourteen cities with their villages. Zenan, Hadazah, 37 and Magdalgad: Delean Mazphah, and Jektheel: Lachis, 38, 39 Bazcath, and Eglon: Cabon, Lahamam, and Cethlis: Gaderoth 40, 41 Bethdagon, Maamah and Makedah: sixteen cities with their villages. Lebnah, Ether, and Asan: Jephthah, Asnah, and 42, 43 Nezib: Keilah, Kahezrip, and Maresah: nine cities with their 44 villages. Akron with their towns and villages. And from 45, 46 Akron out to the sea, all that lieth about Asdod with their villages. Asdod with her towns and villages. Asah with her 47 towns and villages, even unto the river of Egypt: and the great sea with the coasts that lie thereon. And in the mountains, 48 they had Samir Jathir, and Socoh: Danah: and Kariath sen- 49 ath, which is Dabir: Anab, Esthemoh, and Anim: Gozen, 50, 51 Holon, and Giloh: eleven cities with their villages. Arab, 52 Dumah, and Esean: Janim, Beththapuah and Aphcah: Hu- 53, 54 matah and kariath arbe: which is Hebron and Zior: nine cities with their villages. Maon, Carmel, Siph, and Jutah: Jes- 55, 56

57 raell, Jukadan, and Sanoeh: Cain, Gabaah, and Thamnah: 58 ten cities with their villages. Halhull Bethzur, and Gedor: 59 Maarath, Bethanoth, and Elthecon: Six cities with their vil-60 lages. Kariath Baal which is kariath Jarim, and Harabba 61 two cities with their villages. And in the wilderness they had 62 Betharabah, Meddin and Sacacah: Nebson, the city of salt, 63 and Engadi: Six cities with their villages. But the Jebusites that were the inhabitants of Jerusalem: the children of Juda could not cast out. Wherefore the Jebusites dwell among the children of Juda unto this day.

XVI

And the lot of the children of Joseph fell from Jordan by Jericho, unto the water of Jericho eastward, and the wilder-2 ness that goeth up from Jericho thorowout mount Bethel: and then goeth out from Bethel to Lus, and runneth along unto the 3 borders of Arciataroth: and goeth down westward, even unto the coasts of Japhlethi, and unto the coasts of Bethhoron the nether, and so to Gasor, and the ends of their coasts came to 4 the sea. And so the children of Joseph, Manasses and Eph-5 raim took their inheritance. And the children of Ephraim took their coasts by kindreds. And the coasts of their inheritance Eastward were, Ataroth Ador, even unto Bethhoron the 6 upper, and went out westward to Machmathah on the North side, and compassed Eastward unto Thaanath Silo, and past it 7 on the East side unto Janoah, and went down from Janoah to Ataroth and Naarath, and met at Jericho, and went out at Jor-8 dan. And their borders went from Thaphuah westward unto the river Kanah, and the ends were the sea. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim in their kindreds, 9 and the bordering cities of the children of Ephraim, lie among the inheritance of the children of Manasses: even all the cities 10 with their villages. Notwithstanding they drave not out the Cananites that dwelt in Gasor: but the Cananites dwelt among the Ephraites unto this day, and pay tribute.

XVII

And the tribe of Manasses which was the eldest son of Joseph received a lot. And Machir the eldest son of Manasses which was the father of Gilead (and a man of war) had Gilead and 2 Basan. And the rest of the children of Manasses received by their kindreds: which were the children of Abiezer: the children of Nelek: the children of Asriel: the children of Sichen, the children of Nepher: the children of Semida. These are the male children of Manasses the son of Joseph in their kindreds. But Zelaphead the son of Hephher the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasses, had no sons save daughters. And these are the names of his daughters: Mahela, Noa, Hagla, Melcha, and Thirza: which came before Eleazar the priest, and before Josua the son of Nun, and before the lords saying: the LORD commanded Moses to give us an inheritance among our brethren. And he gave them at the mouth of the LORD, an inheritance among the brethren of their fathers. And there fell ten portions to Manasses beside the land of Gilead and Basan which are on the other side Jordan: because the daughters of Manasses did inherit among his sons. And Manasses' other sons had the land of Gilead. And the coasts of Manasses reached from Aser to Machmathah that lieth before Sichem and went along on the right hand, even unto the inhabitants of Enthaphuah, and the land of Thaphuah belonged to Manasses, which Thaphuah lay in the borders between Manasses and the children of Ephraim. And the coasts descended unto the river Canah on whose south side Ephraim hath cities among the cities of Manasses. For the coasts of Manasses were on the north side of the river and the ends of them was the sea: so that the south pertained to Ephraim, and the north to Manasses, and the sea is his border. And they met together in Aser northward, and in Isacar Eastward. And Manasses had in Isacar and in Aser, Bethsean, and her towns: and the inhabitants of Dor, with the towns pertaining to the same: and the inhabitants of Endor with the towns of the same: and the inhabitants of Thaanath with her towns and the inhabitants of Magedo with the towns of the same, even three countries: yet the children of Manasses could not overcome those cities: But the Cananites began to dwell in the same land. Nevertheless as soon as the children of Israel were waxed strong, they put the Cananites to tribute, but expelled them not. And the children of Joseph spake unto Josua saying: why hast thou given us but one lot and one portion to inherit, seeing we be much people, and for as much as the LORD hath blessed us so: and Josua answered them: if ye be much people, then get you up to the wood country, and prepare for yourselves there in the land of the Pheresites and of the Raphaites, if mount Ephraim be too narrow for you. Then the children of Joseph said again the hill will not be gotten of us: for all the Cananites that dwell in the low country have chariots of iron, and so have they that inhabit Bethsean, and the towns of the same, and they also 17 that dwell in the valley of Jezreel. And Josua answered the house of Joseph, Ephraim and Manasses saying: ye be much people and have great power and shall not therefore have one 18 lot. But the hill shall be yours, for it is a wood country and ye shall bring it to fashion, and it shall be yours even unto the ends of it, for ye shall be able to cast out the Cananites for all their iron chariots and for all they be so strong.

And the whole congregation of the children of Israel came together at Siloh, and set up the tabernacle of witness there, 2 and the land was in subjection before them. But there remained among the children of Israel seven tribes which had 3 not their inheritance divided out. And Josua said unto the children of Israel, how long are ye so slack to go and possess the land which the LORD God of your fathers hath given you?
4 Bring of every tribe three men that I may send them. And that they may rise and walk thorow the land and distribute it by 5 their inheritances and come again to me. Divide it into seven parts. For Juda shall abide by their coasts in the south, and the house of Joseph shall stand to their coasts in the north.
6 Describe ye the land therefore into seven parts, and bring the description to me hither, that I may cast lots for you here before the LORD our God. The Levites have no part among you for the priestship of the LORD is their inheritance. And Gad, Ruben, and half the tribe of Manasses have received their inheritance beyond Jordan Eastward, which Moses the servant 8 of the LORD gave them. And the men arose and went their way. And Josua charged them that went to describe the land saying: hence and go thorow the land and describe it, and come again to me hither: and I will cast lots for you before the LORD 9 in Siloh. And the men departed, and walked thorow the land and described it by cities into seven parts in a book, and returned to Josua unto the host at Siloh. And Josua cast lots for them in Siloh before the LORD, and there he divided the 11 land unto the children of Israel, to each their portion. And the lot of the tribe of the children of Benjamin came up according to their kindreds. And the coasts of their lot came out 12 between the children of Juda and the children of Joseph. And their north coasts were from Jordan and went up to the side of Jericho on the north side, and went up thorow the mountains westward, and they ended at the wilderness of Bethaven: and went from thence to the south side of Lus, otherwise called 13 Bethel: and descended to Ataroth Adar upon the hill that lieth on the south side of the nether Bethhoron. And the west coast 14 draweth and compasseth southward, even from the hill that lieth before Bethhoron, and goeth out at Kariathbaal which is Kariath Jarim, a city of the children of Juda: and this is the west quarter: and the south coast goeth from the edge 15 of Kariathjarim westward, and goeth out to the water well, of Nephthoah and cometh down to the edge of the hill that 16 lieth before the valley of the son of Hennom which is in the valley of Raphaim northward, and descendeth thorow the valley of Hennom unto the side of Jebusi southward and goeth down to the well of Rogell. And compasseth from the north 17 and goeth forth to Ensames and to the coasts that lie before the going up unto Adomim: and goeth down to the stone of Bohan the son of Ruben: and then goeth along toward the 18 side of the plain, northward: and goeth down into the plain: and goeth along to the side of Bethhaglah northward, and en- 19 deth and the point of the salt sea north therefrom, and at the end of Jordan south therefrom. This is the south coast.

 And Jordan is their east coast, this is the inheritance of the 20 children of Benjamin with their coasts round about and by their kindreds. And these are the cities of the tribes of the 21 children of Benjamin in their kindreds: Jericho, Bethhaglah, and the valley of Kaziz: Betharabah, Zamarim, and Bethel: 22 Auim, Pharah, and Ophrah, Chepar Ammonai, Ophni, and 23, 24 Gabai, twelve cities with their villages. Gabaon, Ramah, and 25 Beroth: Mazpah, Caphairah and Mozah: Rekem, Jarephel 26, 27 and Tharelah, Zela, Eleph, and the city of the Jebusites which 28 is Jerusalem, Gabaath, and Kariath, fourteen cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the children of Benjamin in their kindreds.

And the second lot came out unto the tribe of the children XIX of Simeon by their kindreds. And their inheritance fell in the midst of the inheritance of the children of Juda. And their in- 2 heritance was Bersabe, Sabe, and Moladah, Hazorsual, Balah, 3 and Azem, Eltholad, Bethul and Hormah Zikelag, Bethmar- 4, 5 6 caboth and Hazetsusah, Bethlebaoth, and Saruhen thirteen 7 cities with their villages. Aim, Remon, Ether and Asan, four 8 cities with their villages: and thereto all the villages that lie round about these cities, even unto Balasath, Beor and Ramath, southward. This is the inheritance of the tribe of 9 the children of Simeon in their kindreds out of the portion of the children of Juda, came the inheritance of the children of Simeon. For the part of the children of Juda was too much for them: and therefore the children of Simeon had their inheri-10 tance in the inheritance of them. And the third lot came unto the children of Zabulon according unto their kindreds. And the 11 coasts of their inheritance came to Sarid, and went up to the Sea and to Martalah, and touched at Dabaseth, and met at 12 the river that lieth before Jokneven: and turned from Sarid eastward toward the sun rising unto the border of Chisloth in mount Thabor: and then goeth out to Dabereth and goeth up 13 to Japhia: and from thence goeth along eastward toward the sun rising, to Sethah, Hepher Ithah, and Jazim, and goeth to 14 Remon, Methoar, and Neah. And compasseth it on the north side and goeth to Nathan, and endeth in the valley of Jeph-15 thahel. And Jatath, Nathalol, Semron, Jedalah, and Beth-16 lehem: twelve cities with their villages. This is the inheritance of the Children of Zabulon, in their kindreds. The said 17 cities with their villages. And the fourth lot came out to the children of Isacar by their kindreds. And their coasts were 18 Jesraelah, Casuloth, Sunem, Napharaim, Silom, Anaharath: 19 Harabith, Kision and Abez: Rameth, Enganim, Enhadah, and 20, 21 Bethphazez. And his coasts met at Thabor Sahazimah and at Bethsames and endeth at Jordan; Sixteen cities with their vil-22 lages. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of 23 Isacar by their kindreds, the cities and their villages. And the fifth lot came out unto the tribe of the children of Aser by 24 their kindreds. And their coasts were Helkath, Hali, Beten 25 and Achsaph: Alamelech, Amaad, and Miseal: and met at 26 Carmel on the sea, and at Sihor and at Labanath and turneth 27 toward the sun rising to Bethdagon, and met at Zabulon and in the valley of Jehthah, and toward the northside of Bethemek 28 and Negel, and goeth out on the left side of Cabul: and He-29 bron, Rohob, Hamon, and Kanah even unto great Sidon. And then the coast turneth to Ramah and to the strong city of Azor and turneth to Hozah and endeth at the sea: by the possession of Achzibah: Ama, Aphek, and Rohob: twenty and two cities 30 with their villages. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the 31 children of Aser by their kindreds: these cities with their villages. And the sixth lot came out unto the children of Nephtali 32 thali by their kindreds. And their coasts were from Heleph 33 and from Elon in Zaananim, and Adami, Nekeb and Jabneel even to Lakum, and go out at Jordan. And then the coast tur- 34 neth westward to Asanoth in mount Thabor, and then goeth out from thence to Hukokah and meeteth with Zabulon on the south side, and with Aser on the west, and at Juda upon Jordan toward the sun rising. And their strong cities are Zidim, 35 Ber, Hamath, Racath and Cenereth Adamah, Hermah and 36 Hazor: Kedes, Edrai, and Enhazor: Ieron, Magdelel: Horem, 37, 38 Bethanah and Bethsames: nineteen cities with their villages.

This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Nephtali 39 by their kindreds: these cities and their villages. And the 40 seventh lot fell to the tribe of Dan by their kindreds. And the 41 coasts of their inheritance was zaraah, Esthaol, Irsames, Saelabin, Aialon and Jethlah: Eglon, Themnathah and Akaron: 42 Elthekeh Gibethon and Baalath: Jehud, Banebarak and Gath- 43 ermon, Neiericon and Harcon with the country that lieth be- 44, 45 fore Japho. And the coasts of the children of Dan went out 46 from beyond them. For the children of Dan went up and fought 47 against Lesen and took it, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and conquered it, and dwelt therein and called it Dan, after the name of Dan their father. This is the inheritance of 48 the tribe of the children of Dan in their kindreds: these cities with their villages. When they had made an end of dividing 49 the land by her coasts then the children of Israel gave an inheritance unto Josua the son of Nun among them: at the mouth of 50 the LORD they gave him the city which he asked, even Tham-nah serah in mount Ephraim. And he built the city and dwelt therein. These are the inheritances which Eleazar the priest 51 and Josua the son of Nun, and the ancient fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel divided by lot in Siloh before the LORD, in the door of the tabernacle of witness, and so made an end of dividing the country.

Then the LORD spake unto Josua saying: come with the XX, 2 children of Israel and say: Appoint out free cities, of which 3 I spake unto you by Moses, that the slayer that killeth any person unawares and unwittingly, may flee thither. And those 4 cities shall be your refuge from the avenger of blood. And the slayer shall flee unto one of those Cities and shall stand in the entering of the gate of the city and shall shew his cause in the ears of the elders of the said city. And they shall take him into the city unto them, and shall give him a place that he may 5 dwell among them. And when the avenger of blood followeth after him they shall not deliver the slayer unto his hand: because he smote his friend ignorantly, and hated him not before 6 time. And he shall dwell in the said city until he stand before the congregation in judgement, and until the death of the high priest that shall be in those days. And then shall the slayer return and come unto his own city and unto his own house, and 7 unto the city from whence he fled. And they appointed Kedes in Galile, in mount Nephthali, and Sichein in mount Ephraim, and Kariatharbe which is Hebron, in the mountains of Juda.

8 And on the other side Jordan over against Jericho eastward, they gave Bozor in the wilderness upon the plain, out of the tribe of Ruben and Ramoth in Gilead out of the tribe of Gad 9 and Golan in Basan out of the tribe of Manasses. These were the cities appointed for all the children of Israel, and to the strangers that Sojourned among them that whosoever killed any person ignorantly, the same might flee thither and should not die by the hand of the avenger of blood, until he stood before the congregation.

XXI And then came the principal heads of the Levites unto Eleazer the priest, and unto Josua the son of Nun and unto the ancient 2 heads of the tribes of the children of Israel, and spake unto them at Siloh in the land of Canaan saying: the LORD commanded by Moses, to give us cities to dwell in and the fields 3 about them, for our cattle. And the children of Israel gave unto the Levites out of their inheritances, at the bidding of the 4 LORD, these cities following with their Suburbs. And the lot came out unto the kindreds of the Cahathites: and the children of Aaron the priest which were of the Levites had given them by lot, out of the tribe of Juda, out of the tribe of Simeon, 5 out of the tribe of Ben Jamin, thirteen cities. And the rest of the children of Cahath had by lot, out of the kindreds of the tribe of Ephraim, out of the tribe of Dan, and out of the half tribe of Manasses ten cities. And the children of Gerson 6 had by lot out of the kindreds of the tribe of Issachar out of the tribe of Aser, out of the tribe of Nephthali and out of the other half tribe of Manasses in Basan, thirteen cities. And the chil- 7 dren of Merari by their kindreds, had out of the tribe of Ruben, out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zabulon, twelve cities. And the children of Israel gave by lot unto the Levites 8 these cities with their Suburbs as the LORD commanded by Moses. And they gave out of the tribe of the children of Juda, 9 and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, these cities by name: which the children of Aaron being of the kindreds of 10 the Cahathites, and of the children of Levi, obtained: for theirs was the first lot. And they gave them Kariath Arba of the 11 father of Enack, which is Hebron, in the hill country of Juda, with the Suburbs of the same round about it. But the country 12 that pertained to the city and the villages thereof, they gave to Caleb the son of Jephune, to be his possession. And thus 13 they gave to the children of Aaron the priest the franchised cities of the slayer, Hebron with her Suburbs: and Libna with her Suburbs, and Jathir with her Suburbs, and Estimoa with 14 her Suburbs, and Holon with her Suburbs, and Dabir with her Suburbs, and Ain with her Suburbs, and Jutah with her 15 Suburbs, and Bethsames with her Suburbs: nine cities out of those two tribes. And out of the tribe of Benjamin they gave 17

with her Suburbs: Almon with her suburbs: four cities. All 18 these cities of the children of Aaron priests were thirteen cities with their Suburbs. And the kindreds of the children of Ca- 20 hath that were Levities: that is to say the other children of Cahath had the cities of their lot, out of the tribe of Ephraim.
And they gave them the free city of the slayer: Sicheim with 21 her Suburbs, in mount Ephraim: and Gazer with her Suburbs: and Kabzaim with her Suburbs: Bethhoron with her Suburbs: 22 four cities. And out of the tribe of Dan: Eltheke with her Suburbs: Gibthon with her Suburbs: Ailaon with her Suburbs, 23 and Gathremon with her Suburbs: four cities. And out of the 24 half tribe of Manasses, Thanach with her Suburbs: Gathre- 25 mon with her Suburbs: two cities. So that all the cities which 26 were given unto the kindreds of the other children of Cahath, were ten with their Suburbs. And unto the children of Gerson 27 which were of the kindreds of the Levites, they gave out of the other half tribe of Manasses, the city of refuge for the slayer, Golan in Basan with her Suburbs: Beestherah with her Suburbs: two cities. And out of the tribe of Isacar, Kision with her Suburbs: Daberath with her Suburbs: Jarimoth with her Suburbs: Enganim with her Suburbs: four cities. And out of the tribe of Aser, Miseal with her Suburbs: Abdon with her Suburbs, Halakath with her Suburbs: Rohob with her Suburbs: four cities. And out of the tribe of Nephthali, the city of refuge for the slayer, Kedes in Galile, with her Suburbs: Halmothdor, with her Suburbs: Carthan with her Suburbs: three cities. So that all the cities of the Gersonites in their kindreds were thirteen with their Suburbs. And unto the kindreds of the children of Merari, the rest of the Levites, they gave out of the tribe of Zabulon: Jeenam with her Suburbs: Carthah with her Suburbs, Damna with her Suburbs, and Nahalal with her Suburbs: four cities. And out of the tribe of Ruben, they gave Bozor with her Suburbs: Jahesah with her Suburbs, Kedmoth with her Suburbs, and Naphaath with her suburbs: four cities. And out of the tribe of Gad, they gave the franchised city of the slayer, Romoth in Gilead with her suburbs, Mahanaim with her suburbs, Hesbon with her suburbs: and Jaser with her suburbs: four cities in all, so that all the cities of the children of Merari in their kindreds, which were the rest of the kindreds of the Levites, were by their lot, twelve cities. And all the cities that the Levites had in the possession of the children of Israel were forty eight with their Suburbs. And these cities had each their Suburbs round about her thorowout all the said cities. And the LORD gave unto Israel all the land which he sware to give unto their fathers. And they conquered it, and dwelt therein. And the LORD gave the rest round about according to all that he sware unto their fathers. So that there stood not a man of all their enemies before them. But the LORD delivered all their enemies into their hands. There escaped nothing of all the good things which the LORD had said unto the house of Israel. But all came to pass.

XXII Then Josua called unto the Rubenites, the Gaddites and to the half tribe of Manasses and said unto them: ye have kept all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded you, and have obeyed my voice in all that I commanded you: ye have not left your brethren of a long season unto this day but have kept the commandment of the LORD your God. And now the LORD hath given rest unto your brethren as he promised them. Wherefore return and go unto your tents and unto the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of the LORD gave you on the other side Jordan. But in any wise take exceeding good heed that ye do the commandment and law which Moses the servant of the LORD charged you: which is, that ye love the LORD your God, and walk in his ways and keep his commandments, and cleave unto him, and serve him with all your hearts and all your souls. And so Josua blessed them and sent them away. And they went unto their tents. Unto the one half of the tribe of Manasses Moses gave possession in Basan: and unto the other half thereof gave Josua with their brethren on this side Jordan westward. And also when Josua sent them away unto their tents and blessed them, he said unto them, return with much riches unto your tents, and with very much cattle, with silver, gold, brass, iron, and with raiment above measure, and divide the spoil of your enemies with your brethren. And the children of Ruben, the children of Gad and half the tribe of Manasses, returned and departed from the children of Israel out of Siloh which is in the land of Canaan, to go unto the country of Gilead, and to the land of their possession, wherein they were possessed at the mouth of the LORD by the hand of Moses. And when they came unto the coasts of Jordan that lie in the land of Canaan: there the children of Ruben, the children of Gad and the half tribe of Manasses, built an altar fast by Jordan and that a great altar to see to. And when the children of Israel heard say: behold the children of Ruben, the children of Gad and the half tribe of Manasses have built an altar in the forefront of the land of Canaan in the borders of Jordan on the side of the children of Israel: the whole congregation of the children of Israel gathered them together to Siloh, to go upon them with battle. And the children of Israel sent unto the children of Ruben, to the children of Gad and unto the half tribe of Manasses into the land of Gilead, Phinehes the son of Eleazar the priest, and with him ten lords of every chief house a lord thorowout all the tribes of Israel, which heads of their fathers' households were over the thousands of Israel. And they went unto the children of Ruben, of Gad and to the half tribe of Manasses, 16 unto the land of Gilead and spake with them saying: Thus say the whole congregation of the LORD: what transgression is this that ye have transgressed against the God of Israel, to turn away this day from after the LORD and to build you an al-17 tar for to rebel this day against the LORD? Is the wicked deed of Peor too little for us, whereof we are not cleansed unto this day, and there was a plague in the congregation of the LORD: 18 But that ye also should turn away this day from following the LORD: ye shall rebel today against the LORD, and tomorrow 19 he shall be wroth with all the congregation. Notwithstanding if the land of your possession be unclean, then come over unto the land of the possession of the LORD, where the LORD's tabernacle dwelleth, and be possessed among us. But rebel not against the LORD nor against us, to build you any other altar 20 save the altar of the LORD our God. Did not Acan the son of Zareh trespass in the excommunicate things, and wrath fell on all the congregation of Israel, so that he alone perished not for 21 his wickedness? Then the children of Ruben and of Gad, and half the tribe of Manasses answered and said unto the heads 22 over the thousands of Israel: The mighty God Jehovah* he knoweth, and Israel shall know if it be to rebel or transgress 23 against the LORD, then the LORD save us not this day. Or else if we have built us an altar to turn from following the LORD, or to offer thereon burnt offering or meat offerings, or to offer 24 peace offerings thereon: let the LORD require it. And have not rather done it for fear of this: lest in time to come your children should say unto ours: what have ye to do with the LORD God 25 of Israel, saying: that the LORD hath made Jordan a border between us and you ye children of Ruben and of Gad: ye have no part therefore in the LORD: and so shall your children make 26 our children cease from fearing the LORD. And therefore we said: Let us cause an altar to be made, not for burnt offerings, 27 nor sacrifices, but it shall be a witness between us and you and our generations after us, that we should serve the LORD, with our offerings, sacrifices and peace offerings: and that your children should not say to ours in time to come, ye have no part 28 in the LORD. And we thought if they should so say to us, or to our generations in time to come, that we would say again:

Behold the fashion of the altar which our fathers made, neither for burntofferings nor sacrifices, but that it should be a witness between us and you. God forbid that we should rebel against the LORD and that we should turn this day from after him, and build an altar for burntofferings nor sacrifices, save the altar of the LORD, our God that is before his tabernacle. And when Phinehes the Priest and the lords of the congregation and heads over the thousands of Israel which were with him, heard the words that the children of Ruben, the children of Gad and the children of Manasses spake, they were well content. And Phinehes the son of Eleazar the priest said unto the children of Ruben, of Gad and of Manasses, this day we perceive that the LORD is among us, because ye have not done this trespass against the LORD. And now ye have rid children of Israel out of the hands of the LORD. And Phinehes the son of Eleazar the priest and the lords returned from the children of Ruben and of Gad out of the land of Gilead unto the land of Canaan, to the children of Israel, and brought them word again. And the answer pleased the children of Israel well, and they praised God, and did not intend to go against them in battle, to destroy the land which the children of Ruben and Gad dwelt in. And the children of Ruben and the children of Gad called the altar Ed, because it is a witness between us, that the LORD is God.

And it came to pass a long season after that the LORD had given rest unto Israel from all their enemies round about, that Josua waxed old and was stricken in year. Wherefore he sent for all Israel and for their elders, their heads, their judges and officers, and said unto them: I am old and stricken in year. And ye have seen all that the LORD your God hath done unto all these nations before your faces: for the LORD your God he fought for you. Behold, I have appointed these nations that remain, to be the inheritance of your tribes: even from Jordan, and all the nations that I have destroyed, even unto the great Sea. And the LORD your God shall expel and cast them out before you, and ye shall conquer their lands, as the LORD your God hath said unto you. Be therefore exceeding strong that ye take heed to do all that is written in the book of the law of Moses, that ye bow not aside therefrom, to the right hand or to the left: and that ye go not unto these nations that remain with you: and that ye neither make mention or swear by the names of their gods: and that ye neither serve them nor bow 8 yourselves unto them. But that ye stick fast unto the LORD 9 your God, as ye have done unto this day. So shall the LORD 10 cast out before you great nations and mighty, as ye see how no 11 man hath stand before you hitherto. One of you shall chase 12 a thousand: for the LORD your God he fighteth for you, as he 13 hath said unto you. Take good heed therefore unto your souls, 14 that ye love the LORD your God. But and if ye shall go back and cleave unto the rest of these nations that remain with you and shall make Marriages with them, and shall go to them and they come to you: be sure that the LORD your God will not cast out all these nations before you. But they shall be snares and traps unto you, and scourges for your sides, and pricks in your eyes, until ye perish from off this good land which the 15 LORD your God hath given you. Behold I walk this day, by the way of all the world: call ye to mind in all your hearts and in all your souls, that nothing hath failed of all the good things which the LORD your God promised you. All are come to pass, 16 and nothing hath failed thereof. And as all good things are come upon you, which the LORD your God promised you: so shall the LORD bring upon you all evil until he have destroyed you from off this good land, which the LORD your God hath given you when ye have transgressed the appointment of the LORD your God, which he commanded you: and have gone and served strange gods, and bowed yourselves to them. Then shall the wrath of the LORD wax hot upon you, and ye shall perish quickly, from off the good land which he hath given you.

XXIV

And Josua gathered all the tribes of Israel to Sichem, and called for elders of Israel, and for their heads, judges and offi-2 cers which presented themselves before God. And Josua said unto all the people, thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel. Your fathers dwelt on the other side of the flood in old time even Thareh the father of Abraham and Nachor, and served strange 3 gods. But I took your father Abraham from the other side of the flood, and brought him into the land of Canaan, and mul-4 tiplied his seed, and gave him Isaac. And I gave unto Isaac Jacob and Esau. And I gave unto Esau mount Seir to possess 5 it. But Jacob and his children went down into Egypt. Then I sent Moses and Aaron. And I plagued Egypt, after the manner as I did among them, and after that I brought you out and 6 I brought your fathers out of Egypt. And ye came unto the sea: and the Egyptians followed after your fathers with chariots and horsemen, unto the red sea. And they cried unto the 7 LORD. And he put darkness between you and the Egyptians and brought the sea upon them and covered them. And your eyes have seen what I have done in Egypt. And ye dwelt in the wilderness a long season. And I brought you into the land of 8 the Amorites which dwelt on the other side Jordan. And they fought with you: and I gave them into your hands. And ye conquered their country. And I destroyed them in your sight.

Then Balak the son of Ziphor, king of Moab arose and warred 9 against Israel, and sent and called Balam the son of Beor for to curse you. But I would not agree to hearken unto Balam, 10 and therefore he blessed you: And so I delivered you out of his hand. And when ye went over Jordan, and came unto Jeri- 11 cho, the citizens of Jericho fought against you: the Amorites, Pheresites, Cananites, Hethites, Girgosites, Hevites, Jebusites which I delivered into your hands. And I sent hornets before 12 you and ye cast out before you: even the two kings of the Amorites: but not with your own sword or with your own bow. And 13 I gave you a land in which ye did not labor, and cities which you built not, and ye dwelt in them. And vines, and Olive trees which ye planted not, and ye ate of them. And now fear the 14 LORD and serve him in pureness and truth: And put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood, and in Egypt, and serve the LORD. But if it seem evil unto 15 you to serve the LORD, then choose you this day, whom you will serve: whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, either* the gods of the Amorites in whose land, ye dwelt, and I* and my house will serve the LORD.
And the people answered and said, God forbid that we should 16 forsake the LORD and serve strange gods. For the LORD our 17 God he it is that brought us and our fathers out of the land of Egypt, the house of bondage, and which did those miracles in our sight, and preserved us in all the way we went and among all the nations which we came thorow. And the LORD did cast 18 out before us all the nations with the Amorites which dwelt in the land, wherefore we will serve the LORD for he is our God.

19 But Josua said unto the people, ye can not serve the LORD: for he is an holy God and can not bear your transgression and sin.

20 But when ye have forsaken the LORD and have served strange gods, he will turn and do you evil and consume you, after that

21 he hath done you good. And the people answered Josua: nay, 22 but we will serve the LORD. Then Josua said unto the folk, ye are witnesses unto yourselves, that ye have chosen you the 23 LORD, to serve him: and they said we are witnesses. Then put away, said he, the strange gods which are among you, and bow

24 your hearts unto the LORD God of Israel. And the people answered Josua: the LORD our God we will serve and his voice we 25 will obey. And so Josua made a covenant with the people the same day and set ordinances and laws before them in Sichem.

26 And Josua wrote these words in the book of the law of God, and took a great stone and pitched it on end in the said place even under an oak that stood in the sanctuary of the LORD.

27 And Josua said unto all the people: behold, this stone shall be a witness unto us for it hath heard all the words of the LORD which he spake with us. It shall be therefore a witness unto 28 you, lest ye lie unto your God. And so Josua let the people depart every man unto his inheritance. And after these things the time came that Josua the son of Nun and the servant of

29 the LORD died being an hundredth and ten years old. Whom they buried in the country of his inheritance, even in Thamnath sareh which is in mount Ephraim, on the north side of 30 the hill of Gaas. And Israel served the LORD all the days of Josua, and all the days of the elders that overlived Josua, and which had seen all the works of the LORD that he had done

31 to Israel. And the bones of Joseph, which the children of Israel brought out of Egypt, they buried in Sichem, in a parcel of ground which Jacob bought of the sons of Hemor the father of Sichem, for an hundredth pieces of silver, which parcel became 32 the inheritance of the children of Joseph. And Eleazar the son of Aaron died whom they buried in Gabaath that pertained to Phinehes his son and was given him in Mount Ephraim.

The Book Of Judges.

After the death of Josua the children of Israel asked I the LORD saying: Who shall go up first unto the Cananites to fight against them? And the LORD said: Juda 2 shall go up: behold I have delivered the land into his hands. Then Juda said unto Simeon his brother: come with 3 me into my lot, and let us fight against the Cananites: And I likewise will go with thee into thy lot. And so Simeon went with him. And Juda went up, and the LORD delivered the 4 Cananites and Pheresites into their hands. And they slew of them in Bezek ten thousand men. And they found Adonibezek 5 in Bezek. And they fought against him, and slew the Cananites and Pherisites. But Adonibezek fled, and they followed after 6 him, and caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his great toes. Then Adonibezek said: three score and ten kings hav- 7 ing their thumbs and great toes cut off, gathered their meat under my table wherefore as I have done so God hath done to me again. And they brought him to Jerusalem, and there he died. The children of Juda fought against Jerusalem and 8 took it, and smote it with the edge of the sword, and set the city on fire. And after that the children of Juda went even 9 to fight against the Cananites that dwelt in the mountain, in the south, and in the low country. And Juda went unto the 10 Cananites that dwelt in Hebron, which before time was called Kariath Arbe. And slew Sesai, Ahiman and Thalmai. And 11 from thence they went to the inhabitants of Dabir, whose name in old time was called Kariathsepher. And Caleb said: he that smiteth Kariathsepher, and taketh it, to him will I give Acsah my daughter to wife. And Othoniel the son of Kenez Caleb's 12 younger brother took it: to whom he gave Acsah his daughter to wife, and as they went she counseled him to ask of her father a field. And then she lighted off her ass: and Caleb said 13 unto her: What aileth thee? She said unto him: give me a blessing: for thou hast given me a Southward and a dry land, 14 give me also springs of water. And Caleb gave her springs both above and beneath. And the children of the Kenite, Moses 15 father-in-law, went up out of the city of palm trees, with the children of Juda, into the wilderness of Juda that lieth in the 16 17 South of Arad, and dwelt among the people. And Juda went and Simeon with him, and they slew the Cananites that inhabited Zephath, and utterly destroyed it, and called the name 18 of the city Hormah. And Juda took Azah with the coasts thereof, and Askalon with the coasts thereof, and Akaron with 19 the coasts thereof. And the LORD was with Juda that he conquered the mountains, but they could not drive out the inhab-20 iters of the valleys, because they had chariots of iron. And they gave Hebron unto Caleb as Moses said. And he expelled 21 thence the three sons of Enack. And the children of BenJamin did not cast out the Jebusites that inhabited Jerusalem, but the Jebusites dwell with the children of BenJamin in Jerusa-22 lem unto this day. And in like manner the house of Joseph went up to Bethel and the LORD with them, and the house of Joseph searched out Bethel which before time was called 24 Lus. And the spies saw a man come out of the city and they said unto him shew us the way into the city. And we will shew 25 thee mercy. And he shewed them the way into the city, and they smote it with the edge of the sword, but let the man and 26 all his household go free. And the man went into the land of the Hethites, and built a city and called the name thereof 27 Lus which is the name thereof unto this day. Neither did Manasses expel Bethsean with her towns, neither Thaanach with her towns, neither the inhabitants of Dor with her towns, neither the inhabitants of Jebelaam with her towns, neither the inhabiters of Magedo with her towns, and so the Cananites 28 went to and dwelt in the said land. But as soon as Israel was waxed mighty, they put the Cananites to tribute: but ex-29 pelled them not. In like manner Ephraim expelled not the Cananites that dwelt in Gazer, but the Cananites dwelt still in 30 Gazer among them. Neither did Zabulon expel the inhabitants of Ketrion, neither the inhabitants of Nahalol: but the Cananites 31 dwelt among them and became tributaries. Neither did Aser cast out the inhabitants of Acho, neither the inhabitants of Zi-32 don, of Ahalab, Aczib, Halbah, Aphek, nor of Rohob, but the Aserites dwelt among the Cananites the inhabitants of the land, 33 and drave them not out. Neither did Nephthalim drive out the enhabiters of Bethsames, nor the inhabitants of Bethanath, but dwelt amongst the Cananites the inhabitants of the land. Nevertheless the inhabitants of Bethsames, and of Bethanath became tributaries unto them. And the Amorites kept the children of Dan in the mountains, and suffered them not to come down to the valleys. And so the Amorites went and dwelled in mount Heres in Hailon and in Salabim. Nevertheless the hand of Joseph waxed heavy upon them, so that they became tributaries. And the coasts of the Amorites was from the going up to Acrabim, and from the rock upward.

And the angel of the LORD came up from Gilgal to Bocim, and said, I brought you out of Egypt and have brought you unto the land which I swore unto your fathers. And I said that I would never break my appointment with you, but ye should have made no covenant with the inhabitants of this land, ye should have broken down their altars: but ye have not obeyed my voice: why have ye this done? Wherefore I have likewise determined that I will not cast them out before you: but they shall be in the sides of you, and their gods shall be snares unto you. And when the angel of the LORD had spoken these words unto all the children of Israel, the people cried out and wept. And called the name of the said place, Bocim, and offered there unto the LORD. And when Josua had sent the people away, the children of Israel went every man into his inheritance to possess the land. And the people served the LORD all the days of Josua, and all the days of the elders that outlived Josua, and had seen all the great works of the LORD that he did to Israel. And Josua the son of Nun the servant of the LORD died when he was an hundredth and ten years old: whom they buried in the coasts of his inheritance: even in Thamnath hares in mount Ephraim on the north side of the hill Gaas. And even so all that generation were put unto their fathers, and there arose another generation after them which neither knew the LORD, nor yet the works which he did unto Israel. And then the children of Israel did wickedly in the sight of the LORD, and served Baalim, and forsook the LORD God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and followed strange gods, even of the gods of the nations that were round about them, and bowed themselves unto them, and angered the LORD. And so they forsook the LORD and served Baal and Astharoth. Wherefore the LORD waxed angry with Israel, and delivered them unto the hands of ravens to spoil them and sold them into the hands of their enemies round about them, so that they had no power any longer to stand before their enemies. But unto whatsoever thing they went, the hand of the LORD was upon them with evil luck, even as the LORD promised them, and as he sware unto them. And they were sore vexed. Nevertheless the LORD raised up judges, which delivered them out of the hands of their oppressors, and yet for all that they would not hearken unto their judges: But went a whoring after strange gods and bowed themselves unto them, and turned quickly out of the way which their fathers walked in obeying the commandments of the LORD, and did not so. And when the LORD raised them up judges, he was with the judge, and delivered them out of the hands of their enemies all the days of the judge: for the LORD had compassion over their sorrowings which they had by the reason of them that oppressed them and vexed them: yet for all that as soon as the judge was dead they turned and did worse than their fathers in following strange gods, and in serving them, and ceased not from their inventions nor from their malicious ways. Wherefore the LORD was angry with Israel and said: because this people hath transgressed mine appointment which I commanded their fathers and have not obeyed my voice, therefore henceforth I will not cast out one man before them of the nations which Josua left when he died, and that to prove Israel through them whether they will keep the way of the LORD to walk therein as their fathers did or not. And so the LORD left those nations alone, and drove them not out immediately, neither delivered them into the hands of Josua.

III These are the nations which the LORD left to tempt Israel: even as many of Israel as had not known all the wars of Canaan: Onely for the learning of the generation of the children of Israel: which before knew nothing of war, he left the five lords of the Philistines, and all the Cananites, the Sidonites, the Hevites that dwelt in mount Libanon: even from mount Baal Hermon unto Hemath. Those remained to prove Israel by, to wete whether they would hearken unto the commandments of the LORD, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses. And as the children of Israel dwelt among the Cananites, Hethites, Amorites, Pheresites, Hevites, and Jebusites, they took the daughters of them to be their wives, and gave their own daughters to their sons, and served their gods. And so the children of Israel did wickedly in the sight of the LORD and forgot the LORD their God and served Baalim and Aseroth. Therefore the LORD was angry with Israel and delivered them into the hands of Chusan Rasathaim king of Mesopotamia. So that the children of Israel served Chusan Rasathaim eight years. And the children of Israel cried unto the LORD. And the LORD stirred them up a savior and saved them: one Othoniel the son of Kenes, Caleb's younger brother. And the spirit of the LORD came upon him. And he judged Israel, and went out to war. And the LORD sold Chusan Rasathaim king of Mesopotamia into his hand. So that his hand was mighty over Chusan Rasathaim. And the land had rest forty year. And Othoniel the son of Kenes died. And then the children of Israel went to again, and committed wickedness in the sight of the LORD. And then the LORD hardened Eglon the king of the Moabites, against the children of Israel, because they had committed wickedness before the LORD. And this Eglon gathered unto him the children of Ammon, and the Amalekites, and went and smote the children of Israel, and conquered the city of Palm trees. And the children of Israel served Eglon the king of the Moabites eighteen year. And then they cried unto the LORD. And the LORD stirred them up a savior, Ahud the son of Gera, the son of Jemini, a man that could do nothing handsomely with his right hand. By whom the children of Israel sent a present unto Eglon the king of the Moabites which Ahud made him a dagger with two edges, of a cubit length, and he did gird it under his coat upon his right thigh and carried the present unto Eglon the king of the Moabites, which Eglon was a very fat man. And when he had presented the present, he sent the people that bare it away, but he himself turned again from the Idols by Gilgal, and said: I have a secret unto thee O king: and the king commanded him to hold his peace until all that stood about him, were gone out from him. And Ahud came in unto him in a summer parlor, which he had several unto himself alone, and said: I have a message unto thee from God. And he arose out of his seat. And Ahud put forth his left hand and took the dagger from his right thigh and thrust it into his belly, so that the haft went in after the blade. And the haft stopped in the fat, for he drew not the dagger out of his belly. And the dirt came out. But

Ahud gat him out at a postern door and shut the doors of the 24 parlor upon him and locked them. When he was gone out, his servants came and looked. And behold, the doors of the parlor were locked. And they said, Ah, he is doing of his ease-25 ment in his summer chamber. And when they had tarried till they were ashamed, for no man did the doors of the parlor open: then they took a key and opened them. And behold 26 their lord was fallen down dead, unto the earth. But Ahud escaped while they tarried and was gone beyond the Idols and 27 escaped into Seirath. And when he was come he blew a trumpet in mount Ephraim. And the children of Israel went down 28 with him off the hill and he before them. And he said unto them, follow me: for the LORD hath delivered your enemies, the Moabites into your hands. And they descended after him and took the passages of Jordan from the Moabites, and suf-29 fered not a man to pass over. And they slew of the Moabites, the same time upon a ten thousand men, all fat, and men of 30 might: that there escaped not a man, and so the Moabites were subdued that day, under the hands of Israel: and the land 31 had rest eighty year. And after him came Samgar the son of Anath, which slew of the Philistines six hundredth men with an ox goad, and delivered Israel also.

IV And the children of Israel began again to do wickedly in 2 the sight of the LORD, when Ahud was dead. And the LORD sold them into the hands of Jabin king of Canaan, that reigned in Hazor, whose captain of war was Sisara, which dwelt in 3 Haroseth of the gentiles. And the children of Israel cried unto the LORD: for he had nine hundredth chariots of iron, he op-4 pressed the children of Israel with power twenty year. And Debora a Prophetess, the wife of Lapidoth judged Israel the 5 same time, and dwelt under the palm tree of Debora, between Ramath and Bethell, in mount Ephraim. And the children of 6 Israel came to her for judgement. And she sent and called Barak the son of Abinoam, out of Kedes Nephthalim, and said unto him. The LORD God of Israel commandeth thee, that thou go and draw to mount Tabor and take with thee ten thousand men, of the children of Nephthalim and of the children of Zabu-7 lon. And I will bring unto the river Kison Sisara, the Captain of war unto Jabin, with his chariots, and his people, and will 8 deliver them into thine hands. And Barak said unto her, if thou wilt go with me, I will go: But and if thou wilt not go with me, then I will not go. And she answered, I will surely go with 9 thee, but then the praise shall not be thine in the way which thou goest, for the LORD shall deliver Sisara into the hands of a woman. And she arose and went with Barak to Kedes. And 10 Barak called Zabulon and Nephthalim to Kedes. And he went up afoot with ten thousand men: and Debora went with him.

 But Heber the kenite was removed out of Kin, which was of 11 the children of Hobab the father-in-law of Moses, and pitched his tent until he was come unto the Oak of Zaanaim, by Kedes.
 And then it was shewed unto Sisara how that Barak the son 12 of Abinoam was gone up to mount Thabor. And Sisara called 13 for all his chariots, even nine hundred chariots of iron, and for all the people that he had, from Haroseth of the gentiles unto the river of Kison. Then said Debora unto Barak: up, for this 14 is the day in which the LORD hath delivered Sisara into thine hands: for the LORD is gone out before thee. And so Barak went down from mount Thabor, and ten thousand men after him. But the LORD trounced* Sisara and all his chariots and 15 all his host with the edge of the sword, before Barak. And Sisara lighted down off his chariot and fled afoot. But Barak fol- 16 lowed after the chariots and after the host, even unto Haroseth of the gentiles. And all the host of Sisara fell upon the edge of the sword, that there was not a man left. Howbeit, Sisara fled 17 afoot to the tent of Jael the wife of Haber the kenite: for there was peace between Jabin the king of Hazor, and the household of Haber the Kenite. And Jael went out against Sisara and 18 said unto him: turn in my lord, turn into me and fear not. And he turned into her tent: and she covered him with a mantle.
 And he said unto her, give me a little water to drink, for I am 19 thirsty. And she opened a bottle of milk and gave him drink and covered him. And he said unto her, stand in the door of 20 thy tent, and if any man come and ask thee, or enquire of thee whether there be any man here, say nay. Then Jael Haber's 21 wife took a nail of the tent, and an hammer in her hand, and went softly unto him, and smote the nail thorow the temples of his head into the ground, as he slumbered being weary: And so he died. And behold as Barak followed after Sisara, Jael came 22 out against him, and said unto him: come and I will shew thee the man whom thou seekest. And when he came into her tent: 23 Behold, Sisara lay dead, and the nail thorow his temples. And so God brought Jabin the king of Canaan into subjection that 24 day, before the children of Israel. And the hand of the children of Israel prospered and was sore upon Jabin the king of Canaan, until they had brought him to nought.

V Then debora and Barak the son of Abinoam sang the same 2 day: saying Praise the LORD in them that were willing while 3 other sat still in Israel. Hear kings and hearken lords, I will 4 sing, and give praise unto the LORD God, of Israel. LORD when thou departedest out of Seir and camest from the fields of Edom, the earth trembled, and the heaven rained, and the 5 clouds dropped water: the mountains melted before the LORD, 6 even mount Sinai before the LORD God of Israel. In the days of Samgar the son of Anath and in the days of Jael, the high ways were unoccupied. And they that walked by paths, went 7 by ways that set compasses about. The villages were uninhabited in Israel, were uninhabited: until I Debora arose until 8 I arose a mother in Israel. God chose new fashions of war, for when they had war at their gates: there was not seen among 9 forty thousand, either shield or spear in Israel. Mine heart loveth the maintainers of the law in Israel, that are willing 10 among the people. Bless the LORD ye that ride on goodly Asses and sit in judgment. And ye that walk by the ways 11 make ditties. Now the archers did cry, where men draw water, there shall they tell of the justice* of the LORD, and of the justice of his uplandish folk in Israel. And then the peo-12 ple of the LORD went down unto the gates. Up up Debora, up up and sing a song, up Barak, and take thy prey, thou son 13 of Abinoam. Then they that had escaped, reigned over the proudest of the people. The LORD reigneth over the strong.
 14 Ephraim was the first against Amalek, and after them Benjamin, among the people. Of Machir came learned men in the law, and of Zabulon that well could draw with the pen of a 15 scribe. The lords of Isacar were with Debora. And as Barak, even so was Isacar sent into the valley afoot. But in the divi-16 sions of Ruben, were great imaginations of heart. Wherefore abodest thou among the sheepfolds, to hear the bleatings of the flocks. In the divisions of Ruben, great were the imaginations of heart. Gilead abode on the other side Jordan, and why tar- 17 ried Dan in ships. And Aser sat in the havens of the sea, and abode still in his own coasts. But Zabulon is a people that put 18 their lives in jeopardy of death, and Nephthalim in like manner, even unto the top of the fields. Kings came and fought. 19 Then fought the king of Canaan at Thanach, upon the water of Magedo. But the silver that they coveted, they carried not away. From heaven came battle: for the stars being in their 20 course, fought against Sisara. The river of Kison caught them away: that ancient river the river Kison. My soul: tread thou 21 the mighty underfoot. Then they malled the horses' legs, that their mighty coursers left prancing. Curse Meroz bade the 22 angel of the LORD; Curse; Curse the inhabitants thereof because they came not forth to help the LORD, to help the LORD among the mighty. Blessed be Jael the wife of Haber the Kenite, 24 above other women: above other women blessed be she in the tent. He asked water, but she gave him milk, and brought but- 25 ter in a goodly dish. She caught a nail in her left hand, and a working hammer in her right, and nailed Sisara and wounded 26 his head and pierced and went thorow his temples. Between her feet he bowed himself, fell down and lay still: Between her 27 feet he bowed himself and fell. And whither he bowed himself, thither he fell brought to nought. Thorow a window looked 28 Sisara's mother and howled thorow a lattice, why abideth his chariot so long, that it cometh not, why tarry the wheels of his wagons? The wisest of her ladies answered her: yea and she 29 answered her own words herself, haply, they have found, and divide the spoil. A maid, yea two maids for a piece: a spoil 30 of divers colours for Sisara, a spoil of divers colours with broi-dered works, divers coloured broidered works for the neck for a prey. So, perish all thine enemies LORD: but they that love 31 thee, let them be as the sun rising in his might. And the land had rest forty year.

And the children of Israel committed wickedness in the sight VI of the LORD. And the LORD delivered them into the hands of the Madianites seven years. And when the hand of the Madi- 2 anites was sore upon Israel, the children of Israel made them dens in the mountains and caves and strong holds. For when 3 Israel had sown then came the Madianites the Amalekites and they of the East country upon them and pitched their tents 4 against them and destroyed the increase of the earth even unto Azah, and left no sustenance in Israel, neither sheep, ox 5 or ass, for they came with their cattle and households even as grasshoppers in multitude: so that both they and also their camels were without number. And they entered the land to de-6 stroy it. And so was Israel exceedingly impoverished by the 7 Madianites and cried unto the LORD. And when the children 8 of Israel cried unto the LORD because of the Madianites, the LORD sent a prophet unto them, and said unto them: Thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel: I fetched you from Egypt and 9 brought you out of the house of bondage and I rid you out of the hand of the Egyptians and out of the hands of all that oppressed you, and cast them out before you, and gave you 10 their lands. And I said unto you, I am the LORD your God, and therefore fear not the gods of the Amorites in whose land 11 you dwell. But you have not obeyed my voice. And the Angel of the LORD came and sat under an Oak in Ephrah, that pertained unto Joas the father of the Eserites. And his son Gedeon pressed out wheat out of the ears in a press, for to flee 12 from the Madianites. And the angel of the LORD appeared unto him, and said: the LORD is with thee, thou man of might.

13 And Gedeon answered him: Oh my Lord, if the LORD be with us, why is all this come upon us: yea and where be his miracles which our fathers told us of and said, the LORD brought us out of Egypt. But now the LORD hath forsaken us, and delivered 14 us into the hands of the Madianites. And the LORD looked upon him and said: Go hence in this thy might and deliver Israel out of the hands of the Madianites: Behold I have sent 15 thee: And he answered him: Oh Lord wherewith should I save Israel? Behold my kindred is the poorest in Manasses, and I 16 am the least in my father's house. But then the LORD said unto him: I will be with thee: and thou shalt smite the Madi-17 anites, as they were but one man. And he answered him, if I have found grace in thy sight, then shew me a sign, that thou 18 art the LORD that talketh with me. Depart not hence until I come again unto thee and bring mine offering, and have set it before thee. And he said I will tarry until thou come again.
19 And Gedeon went and made ready a kid, and sweet cakes of an Epha of flour, and put the flesh in a basket and the broth in a pot, and brought it out unto him under the Oak and presented it. And the angel of God said unto him: take the flesh 20 and the sweet cakes and put them upon this rock, and pour out the broth. And he did so. Then the angel of the LORD 21 put forth the end of the staff that was in his hand and touched the flesh and the cakes. And there arose up fire out of the rock and consumed the flesh and the cakes. And the angel of the LORD vanished out of his sight. And when Gedeon perceived 22 that it was an angel, he said: Alas my Lord Jehovah,* that I have seen an angel of the LORD face to face. And the LORD 23 said unto him, peace be with thee and fear not, for thou shalt not die. Then Gedeon made an altar there unto the LORD and 24 called it Jehovah Salom,* which unto this day is yet in Ephrah that pertaineth unto the father of the Eserites. And the same 25 night the LORD said unto him, take an ox of thy father's and another of seven years old, and destroy the altar of Baal that belongeth unto thy father, and cut down the grove that is about it, and make an altar unto the LORD thy God upon the top of 26 this rock and furnish it. And take the second ox and offer burnt sacrifice with the wood of the grove which thou shalt have cut down. Then Gedeon took ten men of his servants and did as 27 the LORD bade him. But because he durst not do it by day for fear of his father's household and of the men of the city, he did it by night. When the men of the city were up early in the 28 morning: Behold the altar of Baal was broken, and the grove that stood about it cut down. And the second ox offered upon the altar that was made. And they said one to another, who 29 hath done this thing, and they enquired and asked. And it was told them that Gedeon the son of Joas had done it. Then the 30 men of the city said unto Joas, bring out thy son that he may die, because he hath broken the altar of Baal, and cut down the grove that was about it. And Joas said unto all that stood 31 by him, will ye fight for Baal, or will ye be his defenders: he that striveth for him shall die this morning. If he be a God let him strive with him that cast down his altar. And he called 32 Gedeon Jerobaal the same time saying: let Baal strive with him because he hath broken down his altar. When all the 33 Madianites, the Amalekites and they of the East, were gathered together and had gone and pitched in the valley of Jerael: the spirit of the LORD entered into Gedeon. And he blew a 34 35 trumpet and called Abiezer to follow him, and sent messengers thorowout all Manasses and called them up to follow him also. And he sent messengers unto Aser, Zabulon and Neph-36 thalim, which came also to meet him. And Gedeon said unto God: if thou wilt save Israel by my hand as thou hast said.

37 Behold I will put a fleece of wool in the threshing place. And if the dew be on the fleece onely, and dry upon all the earth beside: then I shall be sure that thou wilt save Israel by my hand 38 as thou saidest. And it came to pass. And he rose up early on the morrow, and he thrust the fleece together and wrung 39 the dew thereout and filled a bowl of water. And Gedeon said unto God, be not angry with me, that I speak once more, let me prove only once again with the fleece. Let it be dry onely upon 40 the fleece, and dew upon all the ground about. And God did so that same night: so that it was dry upon the fleece onely, and on all the ground about, dew.

VII Then Jerobaal otherwise called Gedeon rose early and all the people that were with him, and pitched beside the well of Harad, so that the host of the Madianites were in a valley on 2 the north side of the hill Hamoreh. And the LORD said unto Gedeon, the people that are with thee are too many for me to give the Madianites into their hands, lest Israel make her vaunt to my dishonour and say, our own hand hath saved us.
3 Now therefore make a proclamation in the Ears of the people and say: if any man dread or be afraid, let him return and get him soon from mount Gilead. And there departed and returned of the people twenty two thousand, and there abode ten thou-4 sand. And the LORD said unto Gedeon: the people are yet too many, bring them down unto the water, and I will try them unto thee there. And of whom I say unto thee, this shall go with thee, the same shall go with thee. And whosoever I say unto thee, this shall not go with thee, the same shall not go.
5 And when he had brought down the people unto the water, the LORD said unto Gedeon: As many as lap the water with their tongues, as dogs do, them put by themselves, and so do them 6 that kneel down upon their knees to drink. And the number of them that put their hands to their mouths and lapped, were three hundredth men. And all the remnant of the people knelt 7 down upon their knees to drink water. And the LORD said unto Gedeon, with the three hundredth men that lapped will I save you, and deliver the Madianites into thine hand. And all the other people shall go every man unto his own home. And they took vitailles with them for the folk, and their trumpets. And he sent all the rest of Israel, every man unto his tent, and kept the three hundredth with him. And the host of Madian was beneath him in a valley. And the same night the LORD said unto him, up and go down unto the host, for I have delivered it into thine hand. But if thou fear to go down, then go thou down unto the host, and Pharah thy lad, and hearken what they say, and so shall thine hands be strong, and then thou shalt go down unto the host. Then he went down with Pharah his lad, even hard unto the men of arms that were in the host. And the Madianites, the Amalekites, and all they of the East, lay along in the valley, like unto grasshoppers in multitude, and their camels were without number, even as the sand by the sea side in multitude. And when Gedeon was come: behold, there was a man that told a dream unto his fellow and said: Behold I dreamed a dream and me thought that a broiled loaf of barley bread tumbled into the host of Madian, and came unto a tent, and smote it that it fell, and overturned it, that the tent lay along. And his fellow answered and said, this is nothing else save the sword of Gedeon the son of Joas a man of Israel, into whose hand the Lorde hath delivered Madian and all the host. When Gedeon heard the telling of the dream and the interpretation of the same, he bowed himself to the earth and returned unto the host of Israel, and said: up for the LORD hath delivered into your hands the host of the Madianites. And he divided the three hundredth men into three companies, and gave every man a trumpet in his hand, with an empty pitcher and lamps therein, and said unto them look on me and do likewise: and behold, when I come to the side of the host, even as I do, so do you. And when I blow with a trumpet and all that are with me, blow ye with trumpets also on every side the host and say, here be the LORD and Gedeon. And so Gedeon and the three hundredth men that were with him, came unto the side of the host in the beginning of the middle watch, and raised up the watch men. And they blew with their trumpets and brake the pitchers that were in their hands. And all three companies blew with trumpets and brake the pitchers, and held the lamps in their left hands, and the trumpets in their right, to blow with all. And they cried 21 the sword of the LORD and of Gedeon. And they stood still, every man in his place round about the host. And all the host 22 ran and cried and fled. And as the three hundredth blew with trumpets, the LORD set every man's sword upon his neighbour, thorowout all the host. And the host fled until they came to Bethsitah, to Zererath, and to the edge of Abelmeholah beside 23 Tabath. And the men of Israel gathered together of the tribe of Naphthalim, of Aser, and of all Manasses, and followed after 24 the Madianites. For Gedeon had sent messengers thorowout all mount Ephraim saying: come down against the Madianites and take from them the waters both of Bethbarath and also of Jordan. Then all the men of Ephraim gathered together and came down and took the waters, both of Bethbarath and also of 25 Jordan. And they took two captains of the Madianites, Oreb and Zeb, and slew Oreb upon the rock Oreb, and Zeb at the press Zeb and followed after Madian. And brought the heads of Oreb and Zeb to Gedeon on the other side Jordan.

VIII And the men of Ephraim said unto him. Why hast thou served us thus, that thou calledest us not, when thou wentest to fight with the Madianites. And they chode with him a good.
2 And he said unto them: What deed have I done like unto yours: are not the clusters of Ephraim better than the wine harvest of 3 Abiezer? God hath delivered into your hands the lords of Ma-dian, Oreb and Zeb. And what was I able to do like as you have done. And then their spirits abated from off him, when he had 4 said that. And then Gedeon came to Jordan and passed over, both he and the three hundredth men that were with him very 5 faint and yet followed the chase. And he said unto the men of Socoth: give I pray you cakes of bread unto the people that follow me: for they be fainty, that I may follow after Zebah and 6 Zalmona kings of Madian. And the lords of Socoth said: are the hands of Zebah and Zalmona now in thine hands that we 7 should give bread unto thy company. And Gedeon said, therefore when the LORD hath delivered Zebah and Zalmona into mine hand, I will tear the flesh of you with the thorns of the 8 wilderness and with briers. And he went thence to Phanel, and spake unto them likewise. And the men of Phanel an-9 swered him, as did the men of Socoth. And he said also unto the men of Phanel, when I come again in peace, I will break down this tower. Zebah and Zalmona were in Arkar and their 10 hosts with them, upon a fifteen thousand, which were all that were left of all the hosts of them of the East. And they that were slain were an hundredth and twenty thousand men that drew swords. And Gedeon went thorow them that dwell in 11 tabernacles on the east side of Nobah and Jebahah, and smote the host: for the host did cast no perils. Zebah and Zalmona 12 fled. But he followed after them, and took the two kings of the Madianites, Zebah and Zalmona and discomfited all the host.

And Gedeon the son of Joas returned from battle, the son being 13 yet up, and caught a lad of the men of Socoth, and enquired of him. And he wrote him of the lords and Elders of Socoth sev- 14 enty seven men. Then he came unto the men of Socoth and 15 said: Behold Zebah and Zalmona, with which ye cast me in the teeth saying: are the hands of Zebah and Zalmona already in thine hand, that we should give bread unto thy fainty men.
And he took the elders of the city, and thorns of the wilder- 16 ness and briers, and all to tear them therewith. And he brake 17 down the tower of Phaniel and slew the men of the city. And 18 then said unto Zebah and Zalmona, what manner men were they which ye slew at Thabor? and they answered, the likeness of thee and them is all one, even after the fashion of the 19 children of a king. And he said, they were my brethren, even my mother's children, and as truly as the LORD liveth, if ye had saved their lives, I would not slay you. And he said unto 20 Jether his eldest son, up and slay them: But the lad drew not his sword, for he feared, because he was yet young. Then Ze- 21 bah and Zalmona said: Rise thou and fall upon us, for as the man is so is his strength. And Gedeon arose and slew them: and he took away the chains that were on their camels' necks.
Then the men of Israel said unto Gedeon; Reign over us, both 22 thou, thy son and thy son's son, for thou hast delivered us out of the hands of the Madianites. And Gedeon said unto them, 23 I will not reign over you, neither shall my children reign over you, but the LORD shall reign over you. Neverthelater Gedeon 24 said unto them: I would desire a certain request of you, even that you would give me every man the earrings of his prey. For they had golden earrings, because they were Ismaelites. And 25 they said, we will do it. And they spread a mantle and did cast thereinto every man the earrings of his prey. And the weight 26 of the golden earrings was a thousand and seven hundredth sicles of gold, beside brooches, ouches and garments of scarlet that were of the kings of Madian, and beside the chains, 27 that were about their camels' necks. And Gedeon made an ephod thereof, and put it in his city Ephrah. And all Israel went a whoring after him there, which thing was the ruin of 28 Gedeon's house. Thus were the Madianites brought low before the children of Israel, so that they lift up their heads no more. And the country was in quietness forty year in the days 29 of Gedeon. And Jerobaal the son of Joas went and dwelt in his 30 own house. And Gedeon had seventy sons of his body begot-31 ten, for he had many wives. And his concubine that dwelt in Sichem bare him a son also, whose name he called Abimelech.

32 And Gedeon the son of Joas died, when he was of a good age, and was buried in the burial of Joas his father, even in Ephrah 33 that pertained unto the father of the Ezrites. But as soon as Gedeon was dead, the children of Israel turned away and went 34 a whoring after Baal, and made Baal berith their God, and thought not on the LORD their God which had delivered them 35 out of the hands of all their enemies on every side. Neither shewed they mercy on the house of Jerobaal, otherwise called Gedeon, according to all the goodness which he shewed them.

IX For Abimelech the son of Jerobaal went to Sichem, unto his mother's brethren, and communed with them and with 2 all his mother's father's kindred saying: say I pray you, in the ears of all the inhabitors of Sichem: whether is better for you that all the sons of Jerobaal which are seventy persons reign over you, either that one reign over you. And remem-3 ber thereto, that I am your bones and your flesh. And his mother's brethren rehearsed of him in the audience of all the Citizens of Sichem, all these words, and moved their hearts to follow Abimelech, in that they said how he was their brother.
4 And they gave him seventy pieces of silver out of the house of Baal Berith, with which Abimelech hired Jehel and light per-5 sons which went with him. And they went unto his father's house at Ephrah, and slew all his brethren, the sons of Jerobaal, even seventy persons with one stone. Notwithstanding yet Joatham the youngest son of Jerobaal escaped, for he hid 6 himself. And all the citizens of Sichem gathered together with all the house of Mello, and went and made Abimelech king at a certain oak that was by Sichem. And when it was told 7 Joatham, he went and stood in the top of mount Garizim, and lift up his voice and called, and said unto them: Hearken unto me you citizens of Sichem, that God may hearken unto you.

The trees went to anoint a king over them, and said unto the 8 olive tree, reign over us. But the olive tree said unto them: 9 should I leave my fatness which both God and man praiseth in me, and go to be promoted over the trees. Then said the trees 10 to the fig tree, come thou and be king over us. And the fig tree 11 answered them, should I forsake my sweetness and my good fruit, and should go to be promoted over the trees. Then said 12 the trees unto the vine, come thou and be king over us. And 13 the vine answered, should I leave my wine that cheereth both God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees. Then 14 said all the trees unto the furze bush come thou and reign over us. And the furze bush said unto the trees: if it will be true 15 that ye will anoint me king over you, then come and rest under my shadow, and ye shall see that a fire shall come out of the furze bush and waste the cypress trees of Libanon. And 16 even so now, if ye have done truly and uncorruptly to make Abimelech king. And if ye have dealt well with Jerobaal and his house, and have done unto him according to the deserving of his hands, forasmuch as my father fought for you and 17 adventured his life, and rid you out of the hands of the Madian-ites. And ye are risen up against my father's house this day. 18 And have slain his children, even seventy persons with one stone and have made Abimelech the son of his maidservant king over the citizens of Sichem, because he is your brother, if then ye have dealt purely and truly with Jerobaal and with 19 his house this day: then rejoice ye in Abimelech, and let him also rejoice in you. But if ye have not dealt truly, then I pray 20 God a fire may come out of Abimelech and consume the citizens of Sichem and the house of Mello. And that there come a fire out of the citizens of Sichem, and out of the house Mello and consume Abimelech. And Joatham ran away and fled and 21 went to Beer and dwelt there, for fear of Abimelech his brother.
When Abimelech had reigned three years God sent an hate 22, 23 between Abimelech and the citizens of Sichem. And the citizens of Sichem railed upon Abimelech, and wished that the 24 wickedness done to the seventy sons of Jerobaal might come on him, and laid the blood of them unto Abimelech their brother which slew them, and unto the other citizens of Sichem which 25 aided him in the killing of his brethren. And the citizens of Sichem set men to lay await for him in the top of the mountains, which men robbed all that came along the way by them.

26 And it was told Abimelech. And Gaal the son of Abed and his brethren went and gat them to Sichem. And the men of Sichem 27 put their confidence in him. And they went out into the fields and gathered in their grapes and trod them and made merry: and went into the house of their God, and did eat and drink 28 and cursed Abimelech. And Gaal the son of Abed said: what is Abimelech? and what is Sichem? that we should serve him, is he not the son of Jerobaal? and Zebul is his officer? serve such as come of Hemor the father of Sichem, for what reason 29 is it that we should serve him? would God this people were under my hand, then I would take Abimelech out of the way. And one said unto Abimelech, make thine host greater and go 30 out. And when Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal the son of Abed, he was wroth and sent messengers unto 31 Abimelech privily saying: Behold Gaal the son of Abed and his brethren be come to Sichem: and behold they set the city 32 against thee. Now therefore up by night, both thou and all the people that is with thee, and lie in wait in the fields. And rise 33 early in the morning as soon as the sun is up and come upon the city. And when he and the people that is with him come out against thee, do to him what thine hands shall be able.
34 And Abimelech rose up, and all the people that were with him, by night. And they laid await to the city in four companies.
35 And Gaal the son of Abed went out and stood in the entering of the gate of the city. And Abimelech rose up and the folk that were with him, from lying await. And when Gaal saw 36 the people, he said to Zebul: Behold there come people down from the top of the mountains. And Zebul said unto him: the 37 shadow of the hills seem men unto thee. And Gaal answered again and said: see there come folk down by the middle of the land and another company come along by the charmer's Oak.
38 Then said Zebul unto him: where is now thy mouth that said, what fellow is Abimelech, that we should serve him. These are the people that thou so despisest. Go out now a fellowship 39 and fight with them. And Gaal went out before the citizens of Sichem, and fought with Abimelech. And Abimelech chased 40 him that he fled before him and many were overthrown and slain, even until they came unto the entering of the gate. And 41 then Abimelech went and dwelt at Arumah. And then Zebul thrust out Gaal and his brethren, and would not suffer them to dwell in Sichem. And on the morrow the people went out 42 into the field. And it was told Abimelech. And he took his people and divided them into three companies and lay await in 43 the fields. And when he saw that the people were come out of the city, he ran upon them and laid upon them. And Abim- 44 elech and the companies that were with him, ran and stood in the entering of the gate of the city. And the two other companies ran upon all the people that were in the fields and slew them. And then Abimelech fought against the city all that 45 day, and took it, and slew the people that were therein, and destroyed the city and sowed salt in the place. And when all 46 the men of the town of Sichem heard that, they entered into a stronghold of the house of their god Baal Berith. And when 47 it was told Abimelech, that all the men of the tower of Sichem were gathered together, he gat him to mount Zelmon, both he 48 and all that were with him, and took axes with him and cut down an arm of a tree, and took it up, and put it on his shoulder, and said unto the folk that were with him, whatsoever ye see me do: speed yourselves and do likewise. And all the peo- 49 ple cut down also every man a bough, and followed Abimelech, and put them into the hold, and set the hold a fire upon them: so that all the men of the tower of Sichem were slain, upon a thousand persons what of men and women together. Then 50 went Abimelech to Thebes and besieged it and took it. But 51 there was a strong tower in the midst of the city, and thither ran all the men and women and all the citizens of the city and shut it to them, and got them up upon the top of the tower.

Then came Abimelech unto the tower and fought against it, 52 and went hard unto the entering of the gate, to set it on fire.
But a woman cast a piece of a millstone upon his head and all 53 to brake his brain pan. Then Abimelech called hastily unto 54 the young man that bare his harness, and said unto him: draw thy sword and slay me, that men say not of me, a woman slew him. And his lad thrust him thorow and he died. And when 55 the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they departed, 56 every man unto his own house. And thus all the wickedness of Abimelech which he did unto his father, in slaying his sev-57 enty brethren, and thereto all the wickedness of the men of Sichem, God did bring upon their heads: And upon them came the curse of Joatham the son of Jerobaal.

X After Abimelech there arose, to defend Israel, one Thola, the son of Phuah, the son of Dodo, a man of Isacar, which dwelt in 2 Samir in mount Ephraim. And he judged Israel twenty three 3 year, and then died and was buried in Samir. And after him arose Jair a Gileadite, which judged Israel twenty two year.
4 And he had thirty sons that rode on thirty Ass colts, and had thirty cities for them, which are called the towns of Jair unto 5 this day, and are in the land of Gilead. And Jair died, and was 6 buried in Kamon. And the children of Israel wrought wickedness yet again, in the sight of the LORD, and served Baalim and Astharoth, and the gods of Siria, and the gods of Sidon, the gods of Moab, the gods of the children of Ammon, and the gods of the Philistines, and forsook the LORD and served him 7 not. And the LORD was wroth with Israel, and sold them into the hands of the Philistines, and into the hands of the chil-8 dren of Ammon: which pilled and oppressed the children of Israel in those days eighteen year, all that were on the other 9 side Jordan in the land of the Amorites in Gilead. Moreover the children of Ammon went over Jordan to fight against Juda, Benjamin, and the house of Ephraim: so that Israel was sore 10 cumbered. Then the children of Israel cried unto the LORD saying: we have sinned against thee: for we have forsaken 11 our own God, and have served Baalim. And the LORD said unto the children of Israel: did not the Egyptians, the Amor-12 ites, the children of Ammon, the Philistines, the Sidonites, the Amalekites and the Maonites oppress you? And ye cried to 13 me, and I delivered you out of their hands. And for all that ye have forsaken me, and serve strange gods, wherefore I will 14 help you no more. But go and cry unto the gods which ye have chosen, and let them save you in the time of your tribulation.
15 But the children of Israel said unto the LORD we have sinned: do thou unto us whatsoever please thee, and deliver us onely at 16 this time. And they put away the strange gods from them and served the LORD. And the misery of Israel grieved his soul.
17 Then the children of Ammon gathered together and pitched in Gilead. And the children of Israel gathered them together and pitched in Mazpah. And the company of the lords of Gilead said each to other, whosoever will begin the battle against the children of Ammon, the same shall be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead. 18

And there was one Jephthah a Gileadite, a strong man, XI which was the son of an harlot: How be it Gilead begat Jephthah. But Gilead's wife bare him sons, which when they were come to age, thrust out of Jephthah, and said unto him: thou shalt not inherit in our father's house, for thou art the son of a strange woman. Then Jephthah fled from his brethren and dwelt in the land of Tob. And there gathered Idle people to Jephthah, and went out with him. But it chanced in process of time, that the children of Ammon made war against Israel, then the elders of Gilead went and fetched Jephthah out of the land of Tob, and said unto him: come and be our captain, and let us fight with the children of Ammon. And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead: Did not ye hate me and expel me out of my father's house? how happeneth it then that you come unto me now in time of your tribulation? And the elders of Gilead answered Jephthah: Therefore we turn again to thee now, that thou go with us, and fight against the children of Ammon, and be our head over all the inhabitants of Gilead. And Jephthah said unto the elders of Gilead: If ye bring me home again, to fight with the children of Ammon, then if the LORD deliver them before me, I shall be your head. And the elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, the LORD be witness between us if we do not according to thy words. Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead. And the people made him head and ruler over them. And Jephthah rehearsed all his words in Mazpah. Then Jephthah sent messengers unto the king of the children of Ammon, saying: what aileth thee with me that thou comest upon me to fight against my land? And the king of the children of Ammon answered unto the messengers of Jephthah, because Israel took away my land, when they came out of Egypt: even from Arnon unto Jabok, and from thence unto Jordan. Now therefore restore those lands again with fair means. And Jephthah sent messengers again unto the children of Ammon, and said unto him: thus sayeth Jephthah: Israel took not away the land of Moab, nor the land of 15

16 the children of Ammon. But when Israel came out of Egypt, they walked thorow the wilderness, even unto the red sea, and 17 came to Cades, and sent messengers unto the king of Edom saying: let us we pray thee go thorow thy land. But the king of Edom would not agree thereto. And in like manner they sent unto the king of Moab, but he would not consent. And so Israel 18 abode still in Cades. And then they went along thorow the wilderness, and compassed the land of Edom, and the land of Moab, and came along by the east side of the land of Moab, and pitched on the other side of the river of Arnon, and came not within the coasts of the Moabites: for Arnon was their utmost border. And then Israel sent messengers unto Sehon, 19 king of the Amorites, and king of Hesbon, and said unto him: Let us pass thorow thy land unto our own country. But Sehon trusted not Israel, to go thorow his coasts: but gathered all his people together and pitched in Jazah, and fought with 20 Israel. But the LORD God of Israel delivered Sehon and all his folk into the hands of Israel. And so Israel smote them and conquered all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of the said country. And they conquered all the coasts of the Amorites, from Arnon unto Jabok, and from the wilderness unto Jordan. So now seeing the LORD God of Israel hath cast out the Amorites before his people shouldest thou possess the land?
21 Nay, but what people Camos thy god driveth out, that land possess thou. But whatsoever nations the LORD our God expelleth, that land ought we to enjoy. And thereto art thou better than Balack the son of Zephor king of Moab? did he strive 22 with Israel or fight against thee? all the while Israel dwelt in Hesbon and her towns, and in Aroer and her towns, and in all the cities that be along by the coasts of Arnon, three hundredth year? why didst thou not recover them in all that space, 23 wherefore I have not sinned against thee. But thou doest me wrong, to war against me. The LORD therefore be Judge this day, between the children of Israel, and the children of Ammon. Howbeit the king of the children of Ammon hearkened 24 not unto the words of Jephthah which he sent him. Then the spirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah. And he passed over Gilead and Manasses, and came to Mazphah that lieth in 25 Gilead, and from thence unto the children of Ammon. And Jephthah vowed a vow unto the LORD and said: If thou shalt deliver the children of Ammon into my hands, then that thing 31 that cometh out of the doors of my house against me, when I come home in peace, from the children of Ammon, shall be the LORD's, and I will offer it up a burnt offering. And so Jephthah 32 went unto the children of Ammon to fight with them. And the LORD delivered them into his hands. And he smote them from 33 Aroer unto Menith, twenty cities. And so forth to the plain of the vineyards, and made an exceeding great slaughter. And thus the children of Ammon were brought under, before the children of Israel. Then Jephthah came to Mazpah unto his 34 house. And see, his daughter came out against him, with tim-brels and dances, which was his onely child: so that beside her he had neither son nor daughter. And when he saw her, he 35 rent his clothes and said: Alas my daughter, thou hast made me stoop, and art one of them that trouble me. For I have opened my mouth unto the LORD, and can not go back. And 36 she said unto him: my father, if thou have opened thy mouth unto the LORD, then do with me according to that proceeded out of thy mouth, forasmuch as the LORD hath avenged thee of thine enemies the children of Ammon. And she said unto 37 her father, do this much for me: let me alone two months that I may go down to the mountains and bewail my virginity with my fellows. And he said: go, and so he sent her away two 38 months. And she went with her companions and lamented her maidenhead upon the mountains. And after the two months 39 she turned again unto her father which did with her according to his vow which he had vowed, and so she knew no man. And 40 it became an ordinance in Israel year by year, that the daughters of Israel should go and lament the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite, four days in a year.

And the men of Ephraim gathered themselves together, and XII went northward, and said unto Jephthah: Wherefore wentest thou to fight with the children of Ammon, and didst not call us to go with thee? we will therefore burn thine house upon thee, with fire. And Jephthah said unto them: I and my people 2 were at great strife with the children of Ammon. And I called you. But ye delivered me not out of their hands. And when 3 I saw that ye delivered me not, I put my life in my hands and went upon the children of Ammon. And the LORD delivered them into my hands. Wherefore then are ye come upon me to 4 fight with me. And Jephthah gathered together all the men of Gilead, and fought with the Ephraites. And the men of Gilead smote the Ephraites, because they said: Ye Gileadites are but runagates of Ephraim among the Ephraites and the Manas-5 sites. Moreover the men of Gilead took the passages of Jordan from the Ephraites. And when those Ephraites that were escaped, said let us go over. Then the men of Gilead said unto 6 them: Ye are Ephraites, and they said nay. Then the other answered: then say: Scibolet. And they said Siboleth, and could not so pronounce, whereupon the other took them and slew them at the passages of Jordan. And there were overthrown 7 at that time of the Ephraites forty two thousand. And when Jephthah had judged Israel six years he died, and was buried 8 in one of the cities of Gilead. After this man judged Israel 9 one Abezan of Bethlehem, and he had thirty sons and thirty daughters, and sent also his thirty daughters out, and took 10 thirty other in, for his sons. And when Abezan had judged Is-11 rael seven years he died, and was buried at Bethlehem. And 12 after him Elon a Zabulonite judged Israel ten years, and he 13 died and was buried in Aialon, in the country of Zabulon. And after him, Abdon the son of Hellel a Pharathonite judged Is-14 rael. And he had forty sons, and thirty nephews, that rode 15 on thirty ass colts. And when Abdon the son of Hellel the Pharathonite had judged Israel eight years, he died, and was buried in Pharthon, the land of Ephraim in the mount of the Amalekites.

And the children of Israel began again to commit wickedness in the sight of the LORD. And the LORD delivered them 2 into the hands of the Philistines forty year. And there was a man in Zarahah of the kindred of the Dannites, named Manoah, 3 whose wife was barren and bare not. And the Angel of the LORD appeared unto his wife and said unto her: Behold, thou art barren and bearest not: But thou shalt conceive and bear 4 a son. And now beware, and drink no wine, nor strong drink, 5 neither eat any unclean thing: for see, thou shalt conceive and bear a son. And there may no razor or shearers come on his head: for the lad shall be an abstainer unto God, even from the time of his birth. And he shall begin to deliver Israel out of 6 the hands of the Philistines. Then the wife went and told her husband saying: a man of God came unto me, and the fashion of him was like the fashion of an Angel of God exceeding fearful. But I asked him not whence he was, neither told he me his name. And he said unto me: behold thou shalt be with child and bear a son, and now drink no wine nor strong drink, neither eat any unclean thing: for the lad shall be an abstainer to God even from his birth to the day of his death. Then Manoah made intercession to the LORD, and said: I pray thee my Lord let the man of God which thou sendest come once more unto us and teach us what we shall do unto the lad when he is born. And God heard the voice of Manoah, and the angel of God came again unto the wife, as she sat in the fields: But Manoah her husband was not with her. Then the wife made haste and ran and shewed her husband and said to him: Behold the man appeared unto me that came the other day unto me. And Manoah arose and went after his wife and came to the man and said unto him: art thou the man that spakest unto my wife? And he said, yea. Then Manoah said, now when thy saying is come to pass: what shall be the manner of the child, and what shall he do? And the Angel of the LORD said unto Manoah: thy wife must abstain from all that I said unto her: she may eat of nothing that cometh of the vine tree, nor drink wine or strong drink, nor eat any unclean thing: But must observe all that I bade her. Then said Manoah unto the Angel of the LORD, grant us to tarry until we have made ready a kid and have set it before thee. And the angel of the LORD said unto Manoah: though thou make me abide, I will not eat of thy meat. And moreover, if thou wilt prepare a burnt offering, that thou must offer unto the LORD. For Manoah wist not that it was an angel of the LORD. And Manoah said unto the angel of the LORD: what is thy name, that when thy saying is come to pass, we may do thee some worship? And the angel of the LORD said unto him: why askest thou after my name? when it is marvelous. And Manoah took a Kid with a meat offering and offered it upon a rock unto the LORD. And the angel did wonderfully, Manoah and his wife looking upon. For when the flame came up out of the altar, the angel of the LORD ascended up in the flame of the altar. And Manoah and his wife looked upon and fell flat on their faces unto the ground: But the angel of the LORD did no more appear unto Manoah and his wife. And then Manoah knew that it was an angel of the 22 LORD: and said unto his wife: we shall surely die, because 23 we have seen God. But his wife said unto him: If the LORD would kill us, he would not have received a burnt offering and a meat offering of our hands, neither would he have shewed us all these things, nor would have told us as he hath of things to 24 come. And the wife bare a son, and called his name Samson.

 25 And the lad grew, and the LORD blessed him. And the spirit of the LORD began first to be with the house of Dan, between Zarahah and Esthaol.

XIV Samson went down to Thamnath, and saw a woman in Tham-2 nath of the daughters of the Philistines, and came up and told his father and his mother, and said: I have seen a woman in Thamnath of the daughters of the Philistines. And now give 3 her me to wife. Then his father and mother said unto him, is there never a woman of the daughters of thy brethren, among all my people: but that thou must go and fetch a wife of the uncircumcised Philistines? And Samson said unto his father, 4 give me this woman for she pleaseth me well. But his father and mother wist* not that it was the LORD's doing, and that he sought an occasion of the Philistines, which at that time 5 reigned over Israel. Then went Samson and his father and his mother down to Thamnath. And when they came to the vineyards of Thamnath: behold a young lion roared upon him.
 6 And the spirit of the LORD came upon him. And he tare him, as a man would rent a Kid, and yet had nothing in his hand.
 Nevertheless he told not his father and mother what he had 7 done. And he went down and talked with the woman, which 8 seemed well favoured in the sight of Samson. And within a short space after, as he went thither again to take her to wife, he turned out of the way, to see the carcase of the Lion. And behold there was a swarm of bees in the carcase of the Lion 9 and honey. And he took of the honey in his hands and went eating, and came to his father and mother, and gave them also.
 And they did eat. But he told not them, that he had taken 10 the honey out of the carcase of the Lion. And when his father was come unto the woman, Samson made there a feast, 11 for so used the young men to do. And when her friends saw 12 him, they brought thirty companions to bear fellowship. And Samson said unto them: I will put forth a riddle unto you.

14. v.4 Other: knew.

And if you can declare it within seven days of the feast and find it out, I will give you thirty shirts and thirty changes of garments: But and if you can not declare it me, then shall ye give me thirty shirts and thirty changes of garments. And they answered him, put forth thy riddle and let us hear it. And he said unto them: Out of the eater came meat: and out of the strong came sweetness. And they could not in three days expound the riddle. And when the seventh day was come, they said unto Samson's wife; Flatter with thine husband, that he may declare us thy riddle, or else we will burn thee and thy father's house with fire: have ye called us to make us beggars or not? Then Samson's wife wept unto him and said, it can not be but that thou hatest me and lovest me not: for thou hast put forth a riddle unto the children of my folk and wilt not tell me what it meaneth. And he said: Behold, I have not told it my father, nor my mother, and should I tell it thee? And she wept unto him seven days, while the feast lasted. And the seventh day he told her, because she lay so sore upon him. And she told it the children of her folk. And the men of the city said unto him the seventh day before the son went down; What is sweeter than honey, and what is stronger than a Lion. Then said he unto them: If ye had not ploughed with my calf, ye had not found out my riddle. Then the spirit of the LORD came upon him. And he went down to Askalon, and slew thirty men of them and spoiled them, and gave their garments unto them which expounded the riddle. And he was wroth and went up to his father's house. But Samson's wife was given to one of his companions that bare him company. 13

But it chanced within a while after, even in the time of wheat harvest, that Samson visited his wife with a Kid. And when he supposed to have gone in unto his wife into the chamber, her father would not suffer him to go in: But said: I thought that thou hadst hated her, and therefore gave I her unto one of thy companions. Howbeit her younger sister is fairer than she. Take her instead of the other. Then said Samson unto them: Now I am blameless concerning the Philistines though I do them evil. And Samson went out and caught three hundredth foxes, and took firebrands, and fastened tail to tail, and put a firebrand in the midst between two tails. And he set the firebrands on fire, and put them into the corn of the XV 2

Philistines, and burnt up both the reaped corn and also the 6 standing, with vine and olives. Then the Philistines asked, who had done that? And it was told them that Samson the son-in-law of the Thamnite, because he had taken his wife and given her to one of his companions. And the Philistines came 7 and burnt her and her father with fire. And Samson said unto them: should ye do so? for I will surely be avenged of you, and 8 then I will cease. And he smote them leg and thigh with a mighty plague. And then he went and dwelt in the cave of the 9 rock Etam. Then the Philistines came up and pitched against 10 Juda, and lay in Lehi. And the men of Juda said; Why are ye come against us? And they answered to bind Samson are we 11 come, even to do him as he hath done to us. Then three thousant men of Juda went down to the cave of the rock Etam, and said to Samson: wotest thou not that the Philistines are rulers over us? Wherefore then hast thou served us thus? And he an-12 swered them, as they served me, so have I served them. And they said unto him, we are come to bind thee and to deliver thee into the hands of the Philistines. And Samson said unto them: sware unto me, that ye shall not hurt me yourselves.
13 And they said, we will not hurt thee, save only bind thee and deliver thee unto their hands: But we will not kill thee. And so they bound him with two new cords and brought him up from 14 the rock. And when he come to Lehi, the Philistines shouted against him. And the spirit of the LORD came upon him, and the cords that were upon his arms became as flax that was 15 burnt with fire and the bands lowsed from his hands. And he found a Jaw bone of a ratten ass, and put forth his hand and 16 caught it, and slew a thousand men therewith. And Samson said: with the Jaw of an ass, have I made heaps: with the Jaw 17 of an ass have I slain a thousand men. And when he had left speaking he cast away the Jaw out of his hand and called the 18 place Ramath Lehi. And he was sore a thirst, and called on the LORD and said: Thou LORD hath given this great victory, thorow the hand of thy servant. And now I must die for thirst 19 and fall into the hands of the uncircumcised. But God brake a great tooth that was in the Jaw, and there came water thereout. And when he had drunk his spirit came again, and he was refreshed, wherefore the name thereof was called the well of 20 the caller on, which is in Lehi unto this day. And he judged Israel in the days of the Philistines twenty year.

Then went Samson to Gaza, and saw there an whore, and XVI went in unto her. And it was told the Gazites, that Sam- 2 son was come thither. And they went about and laid await for him all night in the gate of the city, but were still all the night saying: Tarry till the morning that it be day, and then let us kill him. And Samson took his rest till midnight, and 3 arose at midnight took the doors of the gate of the city, and the two side posts, and rent them off, bars and all, and put them upon his shoulders, and carried them up to the top of an hill that lieth before Hebron. And after that he loved a woman, 4 upon the river of Sorek, called Dalilah unto whom came the 5 lords of the Philistines, and said unto her: Flatter with him and see wherein his great strength lieth, and by what means we may have power over him, that we may bind him, to bring him under, and we will give every man eleven hundred silver-lings. And Dalilah said to Samson. Oh, tell me where thy 6 great strength lieth, and if thou were bound wherewith men might constrain thee. And Samson said unto her: If men 7 bound me with seven green withies that were never dried, I should be weak and as another man. And then the lords of 8 the Philistines brought her seven withies that were yet green and never dried and she bound him therewith. Notwithstand- 9 ing she had men lying in wait with her in the chamber. And she said unto him, the Philistines be upon thee Samson. And he brake the cords as a string of tow breaketh, when it feeleth fire. And so his strength was not known. Then said Dalilah to 10 Samson: See thou hast mocked me and told me lies. Now yet tell me I pray thee, wherewith thou mightest be bound. And 11 he said: If I were bound with new ropes that never were occupied, then should I be weak, and as another man. And Dalilah 12 took new ropes and bound him therewith, and said unto him, the Philistines be upon thee Samson. And there were lyers of wait in the chamber, and he brake them from off his arms, as they had been but a thread. And Dalilah said unto Samson, 13 hitherto thou hast beguiled me and told me lies: I pray thee yet tell me wherewith men may bind thee. And he said unto her: If thou plaitedest the seven locks of my head with an hair lace and fastenedest them with a nail. And she said unto him, 14 the Philistines be upon thee Samson. And awaked out of his sleep, and plucked and went away with the nail that was in 15 the plaiting and with the hair lace. Then she said unto him: How canst thou say that thou lovest me, when thine heart is not with me: for thou hast mocked me this three times, and 16 hast not told wherein thy great strength lieth. And as she lay upon him with her words continually vexing of him, his soul 17 was encumbered even unto the death. And he told her all his heart, and said unto her: there never came razor nor shears upon mine head, for I have been an abstainer to God even from my mother's womb. If mine hair were cut off, my strength would go from me, and I should wax and be like all other men.

18 And when Dalilah saw that he had told her all his heart, she sent for the Philistines saying, come up yet this once, for he hath shewed me all his heart. Then the lords of the Philistines 19 came and brought the money in their hands. And she made him sleep upon her lap, and sent for a man, and cut off the seven locks of his head and began to vex him. But his strength 20 was gone from him. And she said the Philistines be upon thee Samson. And he awoke out of his sleep and thought to go out as at other times before and shake himself, and wist* not that 21 the LORD was departed from him. But the Philistines took him and put out his eyes, and brought him down to Gaza, and bound him with fetters. And he was made to grind in the prison 22 house, how be it the hair of his head began to grow again af-23 ter that he was shorn. Then the lords of the Philistines gathered them together, for to offer a solempne offering unto Dagon their God, and to rejoice: for they said, our God hath delivered 24 Samson our enemy into our hands. And when the people saw him, they praised their God: for they said our God hath delivered into our hands our enemy, that destroyed our country 25 and slew many of us. And when their hearts were merry, they said: send for Samson and let him play before us. And they fetchd Samson out of the prison house, and he played before 26 them, and they set him between the pillars. And Samson said unto the lad that led him by the hand: set me that I may touch the pillars that the house stands upon, and that I may lean to 27 them. And the house was full of men and women. And there was all the lords of the Philistines. And there were upon the roof a three thousand men and women, that beheld how Samson played. And Samson called unto the LORD, and said: my 28 Lord Jehovah * think upon me, and strengthen me, at this time only o God, that I may be avenged of the Philistines for my two eyes. And Samson caught the two middle pillars on which the 29 house stood and on which it was borne up, the one in his right hand, and the other in his left, and said: my soul die with the 30 Philistines, and bowed them with might. And the house fell upon the lords and upon all the people that were therein. And so the dead which he slew at his death, were more than they which he slew in his life. And then his brethren and all the 31 house of his father; came down and took him up, and brought him and buried him between Zarahah and Esthaol, in the burying place of Manoah his father. And he judged Israel twenty year.

There was a man in mount Ephraim, named Micah which XVII, 2 said unto his mother: the eleven hundredth silverlings that were taken from thee, about which thou cursedst and saidst in mine ears: Behold the silver is with me for I took it away. Then said his mother, blessed be thou my son, in the LORD. And 3 so he restored the eleven hundredth silverlings to his mother again. And his mother said: I vowed the silver unto the LORD of mine hand for my son: to make a graven image and an image of metal. Now therefore I give it thee again. And he restored 4 the money again unto his mother. Then his mother took two hundredth silverlings and put them to a goldsmith, to make thereof a graven image and a image of metal, which remained in the house of Micah. And the man Micah had a chapel of 5 gods, and made an Ephod and images, and filled the hand of one of his sons which became his priest. For in those days 6 there was no king in Israel, but every man did what thought him best. And there was a young man out of Bethlehem Juda, 7 and out of the kindreds of Juda: which young man was a Levite and sojourned there. And the man departed out of the city of 8 Bethlehem Juda, to go dwell where he could find a place. And he came to mount Ephraim, and to the house of Micah as he journeyed. And Micah said unto him, whence comest thou? 9 and the Levite answered him: I am of Bethlehem Juda, and go to dwell where I may find a place. And Micah said unto him: 10 dwell with me, and be unto me a father and a priest. And I will give thee ten silverlings by year and raiment of all sorts, 11 and thy meat and drink. And the Levite went and began to dwell with the man, and was unto him as dear as one of his 12 own sons. And Micah filled the hand of the Levite, and the young man became his priest, and continued in the house of 13 Micah. Then said Micah, now I am sure that the LORD will be good unto me, seeing I have a Levite to my priest.

In those days there was no king in Israel. And in those days the tribe of Dan sought them an inheritance to dwell in, for unto that time there fell none inheritance unto them among 2 the tribe of Israel. And the children of Dan sent of their kindreds five men of activity, out of their coasts, even out of Zaraah and Esthaol, to view the land and search it out, and said unto them: go and search out the land. And they came to mount Ephraim, even to the house of Micah and lodged there.
3 And when they were come unto the house of Micah, they knew the voice of the young man the Levite, and turned in thither, and said unto him: who brought thee hither? and what makest 4 thou in this place? And what hast thou here. And he said unto them, thus and thus dealeth Micah with me and hath hired me 5 to be his priest. And they said unto him: Ask of God I pray thee, that we may know whether the way which we go, shall be 6 prosperous or no. And the priest said unto them: go in peace, 7 for the way which ye go is before the LORD. Then the five men departed and came to Lais, and saw the people that were therein, how they dwelt careless, and after the manner of the Sidons: still, and without casting of perils, and that no man made any trouble in the land or usurped any dominion, and how they were far from the Sidons and had no business with 8 any nation. And they came unto their brethren, to Zaraah, and Esthaol. And their brethren said unto them: what tidings 9 bring you? And they said up and let us go unto them, for we have seen the land, that it is very good. Haste therefore and 10 be not slothful to depart and go and conquer the land. When ye be come, ye shall come unto a people that casteth no perils, and unto a large country: for God hath given into your hands a place wherein is no lack of anything that is in the world.
11 And there departed thence of the kindred of the Danites, out of Zaraah and Esthaol six hundredth men appointed with instru-12 ments of war. And they went and pitched in Kariath Jarim in Juda. Wherefore the place is called Mahanah Dan unto this day, which is on the back side of Kariath Jarim. And they 13 went thence unto mount Ephraim, and came to the house of Micah. Then answered the five men that went to spy out the 14 country of Lais, and said unto their brethren: wot ye not that there is in these houses and Ephod and Images, and a graven Image and an Image of metal? Now therefore consider what ye have to do. And they turned thitherward and came to the 15 house of the young man the Levite in the house of Micah, and saluted him peaceably. And the six hundredth men girded 16 with weapons of war which were of the children of Dan stood in the entering of the gate. And the five men that went to spy 17 out the land, went in thither and took the carved Image, and the Ephod, the carved Image, and the Image of metal. And the priest stood in the entering of the gate with the six hundredth 18 men that were armed unto battle, while the other went to Micah's house, and fetched the carved Image, the Ephod, the carved Image and the Image of metal. Then said the priest unto them: what do ye? and they answered him, hold thy 19 peace and put thine hand upon thy mouth, and come with us, and be unto us a father and a priest, whether is it better for thee to be a priest unto the house of one man, or to be priest unto a tribe or a kindred in Israel? And the priest was glad 20 and took the Ephod and the Images, and the graven Image, and went with the people. And they turned and departed, and 21 put the children, the cattle and their costly things before them.

When they were a good way from the house of Micah, the men 22 that were in the houses that were by Micah's house, made an outcry, and followed after the children of Dan and called unto them. And they turned their faces, and said unto Micah, what 23 aileth thee, that thou makest an outcry: And he said, ye have taken away my gods which I made and also the priest, and go 24 your ways with them: And what have I more, how then say ye unto me, what aileth thee? And the children of Dan said 25 unto him, let not thy voice be heard among us, lest angry fellows run upon thee, and thou lose thy life, with the lives of all thine household too. And so the children of Dan went their 26 ways. And when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned and went back unto his house again. And they took 27 the things which Micah had made, and the priest which he had, and went unto Lais, even unto a people that were at rest and without mistrust, and smote them with the edge of the sword and burnt the city with fire. And there was no man to help, because it was far from Sidon, and they had no meddling with any other nation. And the city stood in the valley that lieth by Bethrehob. And they built the city and dwelt therein. And called it Dan, after the name of Dan their father which was born unto Israel. Howbeit in very deed the name of the city was Lais at the beginning. And the children of Dan set them up the graven Image. And Jonathan the son of Gerson, the son of Manasses and his sons were the priests unto the tribe of the Danites, until they were carried away out of the land captive. And they set them up the carved Image which Micah made, all the while that the house of God was in Siloh.

It chanced in those days, when there was no king in Israel, that a certain Levite dwelling on the side of mount Ephraim, took to wife a concubine out of Bethlehem Juda: which concubine played the whore in his house, and went away from him, unto her father's house to Bethlehem Juda, and there continued four months. And her husband arose and went after her, to speak friendly, unto her, and to bring her home again, and his lad with him and a couple of Asses. And she brought him unto her father's house, and when the father of the damsel saw him, he rejoiced of his coming. And his father-in-law the damsel's father kept him that he abode with him three days and so they ate and drank and lodged there. The fourth day they arose early in the morning, and the man stood up to depart. But the damsel's father said unto his son-in-law, comfort thine heart with a morsel of bread and then go your way. And they sat down and did eat and drink both of them together. Then said the damsel's father unto the man, go to I pray thee and tarry all night and let thine heart be merry. How be it the man stood up to depart: but his father-in-law compelled him to turn again and to tarry all night there. And he rose up early the fifth day to depart. Then said the damsel's father comfort thine heart: and so made him tarry until after mid-day. And they did eat both of them together. And then the man arose to depart with his concubine and his lad. But his father-in-law the damsel's father said unto him behold the day goeth fast away and draweth toward even, tarry all night: at the least way tarry this day here and let thine heart be merry.

 And tomorrow get you early upon your way and get thee to thy tent. Neverthelater the man would not tarry, but arose and 10 departed and came as far as Jebus, which is Jerusalem, and his two asses laden, and his concubine, and his lad with him.
 And when they were fast by Jebus, the day was sore spent and 11 the young man said unto his master, come I pray thee and let us turn in, into this city of the Jebusites and lodge all night there. But his master said unto him, we will not turn in to 12 a strange city that are not of the children of Israel: we will go forth to Gabaah. And he said unto his lad, go forward, and 13 we shall come to one place or other and shall lodge all night in Gabaah or in Ramah. And they went forward upon their 14 way, and the son went down upon them when they were fast by Gabaah which is in Benjamin. And they turned thitherward 15 to go and lodge all night in Gabaah. And when they came in, they sat them down in a street of the city, for there was no man took them in to lodge. But behold there came an old man from 16 his work, out of the fields at even which was also of mount Eph-raim, and but a stranger in Gabaah, for the men of the place were of the children of Jemini. And when he had lifted up 17 his eyes, and saw a wayfaring man in the streets of the city he said: whither goest thou? And whence comest thou? And the 18 other answered him, we come from Bethlehem Juda toward the side of mount Ephraim: from thence am I, and went to Bethlehem Juda and go now to the house of the LORD. But there is no man that receiveth me to house: and yet I have straw 19 and provender for our Asses, and bread and wine for me and thy handmaid, and thy lad that are with thy servant, and lack nothing. The old man said, peace be with thee, all that thou 20 lackest shalt thou find with me: onely abide * not in the streets all night, and he brought him into his house, and gave fodder 21 unto his Asses. And they washed their feet, and did eat and drink. And as they were making their hearts merry, the men 22 of the city which were wicked, set the house round about, and thrust at the door, and spake to the man of the house, the old man saying: bring forth the man that came into thine house, that we may know him. But the man of the house went out 23 to them and said unto them, Oh, nay my brethren, do not so

19. v.20 Other: tarry.

wickedly seeing that this man is come into mine house: do not 24 this folly. Behold my daughter a maiden and this man's concucubine, them I will bring out unto you, and humble them, and do with them what seemeth you good: but unto this man, do 25 not this folly. But the men would not hearken to him. Nevertheless the man took his concubine and brought her out unto them, and they had to do with her, and entreated her shamefully, all the night even unto the morning. And when the day 26 began to spring, they let her go. And then came the woman in the dawning of the day and fell down at the door of the man's 27 house, where her lord was, and there she lay till day. And her lord arose up in the morning and opened the doors of the house and went out to go his way. And behold, his concubine lay along before the door of the house, and her hand upon the 28 threshold. And he said unto her: up and let us be going. But she answered not. Then he took her up upon an ass and stood 29 up and gat him unto his own home. And when he was come unto his house, he took a dressing knife, and caught his concu-bine and divided her thorow the bones into twelve pieces, and 30 sent her into all quarters of Israel. And all that saw it said: there was no such deed done or seen since the children of Israel came out of Egypt unto this day, consider the matter, give counsel and say your minds.

XX Then all the children of Israel went out: and there gathered a congregation together as it had been but one man, even from Dan to Berseba and out of the land of Gilead, unto the land 2 to Mazpah and there stood folk out of all quarters of all the tribes of Israel, in the congregation of the people of God, four 3 hundredth thousand footmen that drew swords. And the children of Benjamin heard that the children of Israel were gone up to Mazpah. Then said the children of Israel, tell us how 4 this wickedness happened. And the Levite the woman's husband that was slain, answered and said: I came into Gabaah 5 that is in Benjamin with my concubine to lodge all night. And the citizens of Gabaah rose against me, and set the house round about upon me by night, and thought to have slain me: and 6 caught my concubine and forced her, that she died. And I took my concubine and cut her in pieces and sent her thorowout all the lands of the inheritance of Israel. For they have committed 7 abomination and folly in Israel. Behold ye are all children of Israel. See therefore and give your advice in the case. Then 8 all the people arose, as it had been one man saying: there shall 9 not a man of us go to his tent, neither turn into his house. And 9 now this is it that we shall do to Gabaah and cast lots against 9 it. And we will take ten men of the hundredth thorowout all 10 the tribes of Israel, and an hundredth of the thousand, and a 10 thousand out of the ten thousand, to fetch vitailles for the peo- 10 ple to make that they may go against Gabaah Benjamin, ac- 10 cording to all the folly, that they have wrought in Israel. And 11 so all the men of Israel gathered together, unto Gabaah, knit 11 together as it had been but one man. And the tribes of Is- 12 rael sent men thorow all the tribe of Benjamin saying: what 12 wickedness is this that is happened among you. Now there- 13 fore deliver us the men, those wicked wretches of Gabaah that 13 we may slay them, and put away evil from Israel. Neverthe- 13 later the children of Benjamin would not hearken unto the 13 voice of their brethren the children of Israel: but gathered 14 themselves together out of the cities unto Gabaah, to come out 14 in battle against the children of Israel. And the children of 15 Benjamin were numbered at that time, out of the cities twenty 15 six thousand men that drew swords beside the inhabitants of 15 Gabaah which were numbered seven hundredth chosen men. 16 And among all these folk were seven hundredth left handed 16 men, which every one could sling stones at an hair breadth, 16 and not miss. And the children of Israel beside the children of 17 Benjamin were numbered four hundredth thousand men that 17 drew swords, and all men of war. And the children of Israel 18 arose and went up to Bethel, and asked of God, who should be- 18 gin the battle against the children of Benjamin, and the LORD 18 said Juda shall begin. And the children of Israel stood up 19 early and besieged Gabaah. And the men of Israel went out to 20 battle against Benjamin, and put themselves in array against 20 them, to fight against Gabaah. And the children of Benjamin 21 came out of Gabaah and destroyed in Israel that day twenty 21 two thousand men, and brought them to the earth. And the 22 folk of the children of Israel plucked up their hearts, and went 22 to again and made battle in the same place where they did the 22 first day: but they went first up and wept before the LORD 23 unto evening, and asked of the LORD saying: shall we go again 23 to battle against the children of Benjamin our brethren? And 24 the LORD said: go up unto them and when the children of Israel were come to the children of Benjamin the second day, the children of Ben Jamin went against them out of Gabaah, the second day, and destroyed to the earth of the children of Israel once again eighteen thousand men that drew swords every man of them. Then the children of Israel and all the people went up and came unto Bethel, and wept and sat there before the LORD, and fasted the same day unto evening, and offered burntofferings and peaceofferings before the LORD. And they asked the LORD: for there was the ark of the appointment of God, in those days. And Phinehes the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron waiting upon it at that time: and they said shall we go out any more to battle against the children of Benjamin our brethren, or shall we cease? And the LORD said go: for tomorrow I will deliver them into your hands. And Israel set layers await against Gabaah round about. And the children of Israel went against the children of Benjamin the third time, and put themselves in array against Gabaah, as twice before. Then came the children of Benjamin against the people, till they were drawn a great way from the city. And they began to smite of the people dead (as twice before, by two high ways of which one goeth up to Bethel and the other to Gabaah throw the field) upon a thirty men of Israel. For the children of Benjamin thought that the other had been beaten before them, as at the first time. But the children of Israel said, let us flee and pluck them away from the city, unto the high ways. And then all the men of Israel rose up out of their standing, and put themselves in array at Baal Thamar. And likewise the layers in wait of Israel came forth out of their places, even out of the meadows of Gabaah, and came before Gabaah: ten thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and there was sore battle. But the other wist* not that evil was so nye them. And the LORD plagued Benjamin before Israel, so that the children of Israel destroyed in Benjamin the same day twenty five thousand and an hundredth men, that drew swords every one of them. It seemed the children of Benjamin, that the other had been put to the worse. For the men of Israel gave Rome to Benjamin, because they trusted unto the layers in wait which they had laid against Gabaah. And the layers in wait hasted and ran 20. v.34 Other: knew.

upon Gabaah, and went and smote all the city with the edge of the sword. And the appointment of the men of Israel with 38 the layers in wait to run upon Benjamin with the sword, was when they should make the smoke rise up out of the city. And 39 the men of Israel fled in the battle. And Benjamin began to smite dead of the children of Israel, about a thirty persons, for they supposed that the other had been put to the worse before them, as in the first battle. Then began to arise out of 40 the city, a pillar of smoke. And the Benjamites looked back: and behold the wasting of the whole city began to ascend up to heaven. When the men of Israel turned again, the men 41 of Benjamin were abashed: for they saw that evil approached them. And they turned before the men of Israel into the way 42 that leadeth to the wilderness, the other following them at the hard heels. And beside that they of the city destroyed them in the middle of them. And they compassed Benjamin about, 43 and chased them to Menuah, and overran them before Gabaah on the east side: and there were slain of Benjamin eighteen 44 thousand, and all men of might. And they turned and fled 45 to the wilderness ward and unto the rock of pomegranates.
And the other slew by the way of the rest of them, five thousand men, and sticked unto them until they came to Gadaam, and slew two thousand more of them. So that all that were 46 slain that same day of Benjamin were twenty five thousand men that drew swords, and all men of might: onely six hundredth men turned and fled to the wilderness, unto the Rock 47 of pomegranates and abode there four months. And then the men of Israel turned back again unto the children of Benjamin, and smote them with the edge of the sword in the cities both 48 man and beast and all that came to hand, and moreover set all the cities they could come by on fire.

And the men of Israel sware in Mazphah saying: there shall XXI none of us give his daughter unto any of Benjamin to wife.
And the people came to Bethel and abode there till evening, 2 before God and lifted up their voices and wept sore and said: 3 O LORD God of Israel, why is this chanced in Israel, that there should be this day one tribe lacking in Israel? And on the 4 morrow the people rose up be time and made there an altar and offered burntofferings and peaceofferings. And the chil- 5 dren of Israel asked, who are they among all the tribes of Israel that came not with the congregation unto the LORD? for they had made a great oath concerning them that came not up to the LORD to Mazpah saying that they should surely die. And the children of Israel had pity on Benjamin their brethren, and said: there is one tribe cut off from Israel this day: what shall we do unto the remnant of them, for to get them wives, forasmuch as we have sworn by the LORD that we will not give them of our daughters to wives. Then they said, what are they of the tribes of Israel that came not up to Mazpah to the LORD. And behold there came none of the inhabitants of Jabes Gilead unto the congregation. And when the people were viewed: behold there were none of the inhabitants of Jabes Gilead there. And the congregation sent thither twelve thousand men of the strongest of them, and commanded them saying: go and smite the inhabitants of Jabes Gilead with the edge of the sword both women and children. And this is that ye shall do: utterly destroy all the males and the women that have lien by men. And they found among the inhabitants of Jabes Gilead four hundredth damsels virgins that had known no man by lying with any male. And they brought them unto the host to Siloh which is in the land of Canaan. And the whole congregation sent and spake with the children of Benjamin that were in the Rock of pomegranates, and called peaceably unto them, and Benjamin came again at that time, and they gave them the women which they had saved alive of the women of Jabes Gilead. But they so sufficed them not. And the people had compassion on Benjamin, because that GOD had made a gap in the tribes of Israel. And then the elders of the congregation said: what shall we do to the remnant of them, to get them wives seeing all the wives of Benjamin are destroyed? And they said there must be an inheritance for them that be escaped of Benjamin that a tribe be not destroyed out of Israel: how be it we may not give them wives of our daughters. For the children of Israel had made an adjuration saying: accursed be he that giveth a wife to Benjamin. Then they said: behold, there is a feast of the LORD yearly in Siloh which is on the north side of Bethel,* and on the east side of the way that goeth from Bethel to Sichem and south from Libanon. And they commanded the children of Benjamin saying: go and lie in wait in the vineyards. And when ye see that the daughters of Siloh come out 21 to dance in a row, then come ye out of the vineyards, and catch you every man a wife of the daughters of Siloh, and get you unto the land of Benjamin. And if their fathers or brethren 22 come to us to complain, we will say unto them, have pity on them, because we reserved not to each man his wife in time of war, and thereto because that ye gave them none in due time, ye were to blame. And the children of Benjamin did even so: 23 and took them wives according to the number of them of the dancers which they caught. And then they went and returned unto their inheritance, and built their cities and dwelt in them.

And the children of Israel departed thence at that time and 24 went every man to his tribe, and to his kindred, and went out from thence every man to his inheritance. In those days there 25 was no king in Israel: but every man did what seemed him right.

The end of the book of Judges.

The Book Of Ruth.

I  n the time when the judges judged, there fell a dearth in the land. Wherefore a certain man of Bethlehem Juda went for to sojourn in the country of Moab with 2 his wife and two sons. The name of the man was Elimelec, and his wife Noemi, and the names of his two sons were Mahalon and Chilion and they were Ephraites, out of Bethlehem Juda. And when they came into the land of Moab, 3 they continued there. And Elimelec Noemi's husband died, 4 and she remained with her two sons which took them wives of the nations of the Moabites: the one's name Orphah and the other's Ruth. And when they had dwelled there about a ten 5 years, Mahalon and Chilion died also even both two of them, so that the wife was left desolate of her two sons and of her 6 husband thereto. Then she stood up with her daughters-in-law and returned from the country of Moab: for she had heard say, being in the country of Moab: how that the LORD hath visited his people and given them food. Wherefore she departed 7 out of the place where she was and her two daughters with her. And as they went by the way returning unto the land of 8 Juda, Noemi said unto her two daughters-in-law: go and return each of you unto your mother's house: the LORD deal as kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead and with me.
9 And the LORD give* you that you may find rest either of you 10 in the house of her husband: and so she kissed them. Then they cried and wept and said unto her we will go with thee 11 unto thy folk. But Noemi said, turn again my daughters: for what cause would you go with me? think you that there be any 12 more children in my bowels to be your husbands? Turn again my daughters and go: for I am too old to have a husband. If I said I have hope, also if I took a man this night: yea, and 13 though I had already borne sons? would ye tarry after them, till they were of age? or would ye for them so long refrain from taking of husbands? Not so my daughters: for it grieveth me much for your sakes, that the hand of the LORD is gone out 14 against me. Therewith they cried and wept again: howbeit Orphah kissed her mother-in-law but Ruth abode still by her,

1. v.9 Other: grant.

then she said: see, thy sister-in-law is gone back again unto 15 her people and unto her God: return thou after her. But Ruth 16 said: entreat me not to leave thee, and to return from after thee, for whither thou goest, I will go, and where thou dwellest, there I will dwell: thy people are my people, and thy God is my God. Where thou diest, I will die, and there will be buried. 17
 The LORD do so and so to me, except that death onely depart thee and me asunder. When she saw that she would needs 18 go with her, she left speaking unto her. And so they went 19 both together until they came to Bethlehem. And when they were come to Bethlehem, it was noised thorow all the city and the women said: is not this Noemi? But she said unto them, 20 call me not Noemi: call me Mara, for the Almighty hath made me very bitter. I went out full: but the LORD hath brought 21 me home empty. Why should ye then call me Noemi: seeing the LORD hath humbled me, and the Almighty hath brought me unto adversity? And the time when Noemi with Ruth the 22 Moabitesse her daughter-in-law returned out of the country of Moab and came to Bethlehem, was in the beginning of barley harvest.

And Noemi had a kinsman of her husband's, a man of might, II of the kindred of Elimelec, named Booz. And Ruth the Moabitesse said unto Noemi, let me go to the field and lease and gather ears, after whomsoever I find grace in his sight. And she said unto her: go my daughter. And she went and came and gath- 3 ered after the harvest men, and her chance was that part of the field pertained unto Booz which was of the kindred of Elimelec. And behold, Booz came from Bethlehem and said unto 4 the harvest men, the LORD be with you. And they answered him, the LORD bless thee. Then said Booz unto the young 5 man that had the oversight of the harvest men. Whose damsel is this? And the young man that was set to oversee the har- 6 vest men answered and said: it is the Moabitish damsel that came with Noemi out of the country of Moab, and she said, 7 let me I pray thee, lease and gather after the harvest men, the ears that remain. And so she came, and hath continued even from the morning unto now, and tarried not long in the house.
 Then said Booz unto Ruth: hearest thou my daughter: go to no 8 other field to gather, neither go from hence: but abide by my maidens. Thine eyes are on a field that shall be reaped: go 9 after the maidens therefore, for I have charged the young men, that they touch thee not. Moreover when thou art athirst, go unto the vessels and drink of that which the lads have drawn.

10 Then she fell on her face and bowed herself to the ground and said unto him: how is that I have found grace in thine eyes, to 11 know me, seeing: I am an alien. And Booz answered and said unto her: all is told me that thou hast done unto thy mother-in-law since the death of thine husband, how thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the land where thou wast born, and art come unto a nation which thou knewest not in time past.

12 The LORD quite thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the LORD God of Israel unto whom thou art come, to trust under his wings. Then she said unto him, let me find favour in thy sight my lord, for thou hast comforted me and hast spoken heartily unto thy maid, which yet can not be like unto one of 14 thy maids. And Booz when the time of refection was come, said unto her: come hither and eat of the bread, and dip thy sop in the vinegar. And she sat down by the reapers, and he raught her parched corn. And so she did eat and was sufficed

15 and left part. And when she was risen up to gather, Booz said to the young men saying: let her gather the ears that remain

16 and do her no despite. And thereto pull out of the sheaves for her and let it lie, that she may gather it up, and rebuke her

17 not. And so she gathered until even and then threshed that 18 she had gathered, and it was upon an epha of barley. And she took it up and went to the city, and shewed her mother-in-law what she had gathered. And thereto she plucked out and gave to her that she had reserved when she had eaten enough.

19 Then said her mother-in-law unto her, where gatheredst thou today? and where wroughtest thou? blessed be he that knew thee. And she shewed her mother-in-law with whom she had wrought and said: the man's name with whom I wrought today

20 is Booz. Then said Noemi unto her daughter-in-law: blessed be he for he ceaseth not to do the same goodness to the dead that he did to the living. And Noemi said unto her: the man is nye unto us, even of our next kin. And Ruth the Moabite said: he bade me also that I should continue with his young 22 men until they had ended all that harvest he hath. Then said Noemi unto Ruth her daughter-in-law, it is best my daughter that thou go out with his maidens, and that no man meet thee in any other field. And so she kept her by the maidens of Booz, 23 to gather unto the end of barley harvest and of wheat harvest also: and dwelt with her mother-in-law.

Then Noemi her mother-in-law said unto her: my daughter III I will seek rest for thee, that thou mayst be in better case. For 2 now this Booz our kinsman with whose maidens thou wast, winnoweth his barley tonight in the threshing floor: wash 3 thyself therefore and anoint thee and put thy raiment upon thee, and get thee to the threshing floor. But let not the man be ware of thee, until he have left eating and drinking. And 4 when he goeth to sleep, mark the place where he layeth him down, and then go and lift up the clothes that are on his feet, and lay thee down and so he shall tell thee what thou shalt do. And she answered her: all that thou biddest me I will do. 5 And so she went unto the floor, and did according to all that her mother-in-law bade her. And when Booz had eaten and 7 drunken and made him merry, he went and lay down by the side of the heap. And she came softly, and lift up the clothes of his feet, and laid her down. And at midnight the man was 8 afraid and groped. And behold: a woman lay at his feet. Then 9 he said what art thou and she answered, I am Ruth thine handmaid, spread thy mantle over thine handmaid, for thou art the next of the kin. And then he said blessed be thou in the 10 LORD my daughter, for thou hast shewed more goodness in the latter end, than at the beginning, inasmuch as thou followedst not young men, whether they were poor or rich. And now 11 my daughter fear not, I will do to thee all that thou requirest, for all the gates of my people know that thou art a woman of virtue. And it is true that I am of thy next kin: howbeit, there 12 is one nigher than I. Tarry all night. And when morning is 13 come if he will marry thee it is good, so let him do. But if he will not have thee, as sure as the LORD liveth I will have thee, lie still until the morning. And so she lay at his feet until the 14 morning. And she arose up before one could know another. And he said: let no man be ware, that there came any woman unto the threshing floor. And he said: bring thy mantle that thou 15 hadst upon thee and hold it up. And she held it up. And he mette in six measures of barley and laid it on her. And she gat her into the city: and she came in to her mother-in-law which 16 said: what tidings my daughter? And she told her all that the 17 man had done to her. And said thereto, these six measures of barley gave he me and said: thou shalt not go empty unto 18 thy mother-in-law. Then said she: my daughter sit still, until thou know how the matter will chance. For the man will not be in rest until he have finished the matter this same day.

IV Then went Booz unto the gate and sat him down there: and behold, the kinsman of which Booz spake came by. Unto whom he said come and sit down here, and called him by his name.
2 And he turned in and sat down. Then he took ten men of the elders of the city and said, sit ye down here. And they sat 3 down. Then he said unto the kinsman: Noemi that is come again out of the country of Moab, will sell a parcel of land, 4 which was our brother Elimelec's. And I thought to do thee to wete and bid thee buy it before the inhabitors and elders of my people, if thou be disposed to challenge it: but and if thou wilt not purchase it, then tell me that I may wete it. For there is none to challenge it save thou, and I next thee. And the 5 other answered I will purchase it. Then said Booz, what day thou buyest the field of the hand of Noemi, thou must take also Ruth the Moabite the wife of the dead to stir up the name of 6 the dead upon his inheritance. Then said the kinsman, I can not purchase it for marrying of mine own inheritance: take 7 thou my right to thee, for I can not purchase it. Now this was the manner of old time in Israel concerning purchase and changing, for to establish all things: that a man must pluck off his shoe and give it his neighbour, and this was a witness 8 in Israel. And the kinsman said to Booz, buy it thou: and so 9 drew off his shoe. Then said Booz unto the elders and unto all the people ye are witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelec's, and all that was Chilion's and Mahalon's, 10 of the hand of Noemi. And moreover Ruth the Moabite the wife of Mahalon, do I take unto me to wife to stir up the name of the dead upon his inheritance, that his name be not put out from among his brethren, and from the gate of his city: 11 ye are witnesses this day. And all the people that were in the gate, and the elders said we are witnesses: the LORD make the woman that is come into thine house like Rahel and Lea, which twain did build the house of Israel: that she may do virtuously 12 in Ephrathah, and be famous in Bethlehem, and that thine house be like the house of Pharez, whom Tamar bare unto Juda, even of the seed which the LORD shall give thee of this young woman. And so Booz took Ruth, and she was his wife. 13

And he went in unto her, and the LORD gave that she conceived and bare a son. And the women said unto Noemi: blessed be 14 the LORD the which hath not left thee without an heir this day that shall have a name in Israel, and that shall bring thy 15 life again and cherish thine old age. For thy daughter-in-law which loveth thee hath borne him that is better to thee than seven sons. And Noemi took the child and laid it in her lap, 16 and became nurse unto it. And her neighbours gave it a name saying: there is a child borne to Noemi, and called it Obed: he 17 is the father of Isai, the father of David. This is the generation 18 of Pharez: Pharez begat Hezron: Hezron begat Ram, Ram 19 begat Aminadab, Aminadab begat Nahason, Nahason begat 20 Salmon, Salmon begat Booz, Booz begat Obed, Obed begat 21, 22 Isai, Isai begat David.

Thus endeth the booke of Ruth.

The First Book Of Samuel, Otherwise Called,
The First Book Of The Kingd.

I  here was a man of Ramathaim Zophim, of mount Ephraim named Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Thohu, the son of Zuph an Ephrathite: which had two wives, the one called Hannah and the other Phenennah. And Phenennah had children, but Hannah had none. And the said man went out of his city every feasting day, to pray and to offer unto the LORD of Hosts: where the two sons of Eli (Hophni and Phinehes) were the LORD's priests. And it fell on a day as Elkanah had offered that he gave to Phenennah his wife and to all her sons and daughters portions. But unto Hannah he gave a portion with a heavy cheer, for he loved her, nevertheless the LORD had made her barren. And thereto her enemy Phenennah vexed her a good in casting her in the teeth how the LORD had made her barren. And so did she year by year as oft as she went up to the house of the LORD. And so chafed her: wherefore Hannah wept and ate not. Then said Elkanah her husband to her: Hannah why weepest thou? and why eatest thou not? and why is thine heart so troubled? am not I better to thee, than ten sons. Then Hannah rose up after that they had eaten and drunk in Siloh. And Eli the priest sat upon a stool by one of the side posts of the temple of the LORD. And she was troubled in her spirits, and prayed unto the LORD and wept sore, and vowed a vow and said: LORD of Hosts, if thou wilt look on the wretchedness of thine handmaid and shalt remember me and not forget thine handmaid, and shalt give unto thine handmaid a man child I will give him unto the LORD, all the days of his life and there shall neither razor or shears come upon his head. And as she continued praying before the LORD, Eli marked her mouth. For Hannah she spake in her heart, and her lips did but move onely, but her voice was not heard. And therefore Eli took her for drunken, and said unto her, how long wilt thou be drunken? put away from thee, the wine that thou hast. Hannah answered and said: not so my lord, I am a woman sorrowful in mine heart, and have drunk neither wine nor any strong drink, but I have poured out my soul before the LORD. Count 16 not thine handmaid to be like a daughter of unthriftiness: for out of the abundance of my meditation and grief have I spoken hitherto. Eli answered and said: go in peace, the God of Is- 17 rael shall grant thee thy petition that thou hast asked of him.

 Then she said, let thine handmaid find grace* in thy sight. And 18 so the woman went her way, and did eat and looked no more so sad. And they rose up early and bowed themselves before the 19 LORD, and then returned and went to their house to Ramath.
 And Elkanah lay by his wife Hannah, and the LORD remembered her. And in process of time she conceived and bare a 20 son and called his name Samuel: because she had asked him of the LORD. And Elkanah and all his house went up to offer 21 unto the LORD, both the offerings due for the feast and also his vows: but Hannah went not up for she said unto her husband: 22 I will tarry until the lad be weaned, and then I will bring him, that he may appear before the LORD and there abide for ever.
 And Elkanah her husband said to her: do what seemeth thee 23 best: tarry until thou hast weaned him, only the LORD make good his saying. And so the woman abode and gave her son suck, until she weaned him. And then she took him with her, 24 when she had weaned him, with three bullocks and an Epha of flour and a bottle of wine, and brought him into the house of the LORD in Siloh, how be it the child was yet young. And 25 they slew the bullocks and brought in the lad to Eli, and then 26 she said: Oh my lord: as truly as thy soul liveth my lord: I am the woman that stood by thee here, praying unto the LORD and for this lad I prayed, and the LORD hath given me my de- 27 sire which I asked of him: and therefore I also lend him the 28 LORD, as long as he may be lent the LORD. And so they prayed there unto the LORD.

And Hannah prayed and said: mine heart rejoiceth in the II LORD, mine horn is high in the LORD and my mouth is wide open over mine enemies, for I rejoice in thy saving. There is 2 none so holy as the LORD: no there is none save thou. Neither is there any strength like unto our God. Talk not too 3 much proudly: let old things depart out of your mouths, for the LORD is a God of knowledge, and judgeth the thoughts. The 4 bows of the strong are broken: and the weak are endued with 5 strength. They that were full, have hired out themselves for bread, and they that were hungry cease so to be: insomuch that the barren hath borne seven, and she that had many children 6 is waxed feeble. The LORD killeth and maketh alive, bringeth 7 down to hell and fetcheth up again. The LORD maketh poor, 8 and maketh rich, bringeth low, and heaveth up on high.* He raiseth up the poor out of the dust, and lifteth up the beggar from the dunghill: to set them among princes, and to inherit them with the seat of glory. For the pillars of the earth are the 9 LORD's, and he hath set the round world upon them. He will keep the feet of his saints but the wicked shall keep silence in darkness. For in his own might shall no man be strong.

10 The LORD's adversaries shall be made to fear him: and out of heaven he shall thunder upon them. The LORD shall judge the ends of the world, and shall give might unto his king, and exalt 11 the horn of his anointed. And Elkanah went to Ramath to his house, and the lad did minister unto the LORD before Eli the 12 priest. But the sons of Eli were unthrifty children and knew not the LORD. For the manner of the priests with the people 13 was, whensoever any man offered any offerings the priest's lad came, while the flesh was in seething, and a flesh hook 14 with three teeth in his hand, and thrust it into the pan, kettle, cauldron or pot. And all that the flesh hook brought up the priest took away. And so they did unto all Israel that came 15 thither to Siloh. Yea: and thereto before they had offered the fat, the priest's lad came and said to the man that offered: give flesh to roast for the priest, for he will not have sodden flesh 16 of thee, but raw. And if any man said unto him, let the fat be offered according to the day, and then take as much as thine heart desireth. The lad would answer him, thou shalt give it 17 me now, or else I will take it with violence. And the sin of the young men was very great before the LORD. For they de-18 spised the people and also the offering of the LORD. But the lad Samuel ministered before the LORD girded about with a 19 linen Ephod. Moreover his mother made him a little coat, and brought it to him from feast to feast when she came up 20 with her husband to offer the offering of the said feast. And Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife, and said: the LORD give thee seed of this woman, for that she hath lent the LORD. And they went unto their own home. And the LORD visited Hannah 21 for that she conceived and bare three sons and two daughters.

 But the boy Samuel grew dwelling still with the LORD. Eli 22 was very old and heard all that his sons did unto all Israel, and how they slept with the women that waited in the door of the tabernacle of witness, and said unto them: why do ye 23 such things? For I hear your wicked deeds of all these people. Oh, nay my sons: For it is no good report that I hear 24 how that ye make the LORD's people to trespass. If one man 25 sin against another, daysmen may make his peace: but if a man sin against the LORD, who can be his daysman? Notwithstanding they hearkened not unto the voice of their father, because the LORD would slay them. The child Samuel profited 26 and grew, and was in favour both with the LORD and also with men. And there came a man of God unto Eli and said unto 27 him: thus sayeth the LORD. I appeared unto the house of thy father, when they were in Egypt in Pharaoh's house. And I 28 chose thy father out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest for to offer upon mine altar and to burn incense, and to wear an Ephod before me. And I gave unto the house of thy father all the offerings of the children of Israel. Wherefore kick ye 29 against my sacrifice and against mine offering which I command in the tabernacle, and honourest thy children above me, and make yourselves fat of the first fruits of all the offerings of Israel my people? Wherefore the LORD God of Israel sayeth: I 30 said that thine house and the house of thy father should have walked before me for ever. But now the LORD sayeth that be far from me: for them that worship* me I will worship,* and they that despise me, shall be despised,* Behold the days will 31 come that I will cut off thine arm and the arm of thy father's house, that there shall not be an elder in thine house. And 32 thou shalt see thine enemy in the tabernacle, in all that shall please Israel, and there shall not be an elder in thine house while the world standeth. Nevertheless I will not destroy all 33 thy males from my altar, to daze thy sight with all and to make thine heart melt. And all the multitude of thine house shall die young. And this shall be a sign unto thee, that shall come 34 upon thy two sons, Hophni and Phinehes: even in one day they 35 shall die both of them. And I will stir me up a faithful priest that shall do as it is in mine heart and in my mind. And I will build him a sure house. And he shall walk before mine 36 anointed for ever. And they that are left in thine house, shall come and crouch to him for a little piece of silver and a cake of bread, and shall say: put me I pray thee in one office or other among the priests, that I may eat a morsel of bread.

III And the child Samuel ministered unto the LORD before Eli: and the word of the LORD was precious in those days for there 2 was none open vision. And it chanced at that time, that Eli lay in his place, and his eyes began to wax dim that he could 3 not see. And yer the lamp of God went out Samuel laid him down to sleep, in the temple of the LORD, where the ark of God 4 was. And the LORD called Samuel: and he said, here am I, 5 and he ran unto Eli and said here am I for thou calledest me.
And he said I called thee not: go again and sleep. And he went 6 and laid him down to sleep. And the LORD called once again: Samuel, and Samuel arose and went to Eli and said: I am here, thou didst call me. And he answered: I called thee not my son.
7 Go again and take thy rest: but it was yer Samuel knew the LORD and yer the word of the LORD was opened unto him.
8 And the LORD went and called Samuel the third time. And he arose and went to Eli and said: I am here, for thou hast called 9 me. Then Eli perceived that the LORD had called the lad. And said unto him, go and lie down: and if he call thee again then say, speak on LORD, for thy servant heareth. And Samuel went 10 and laid him down in his place. And the LORD came and stood and called as before, Samuel, Samuel. And Samuel said: 11 speak on, for thy servant heareth thee. And the LORD said to Samuel: behold, I will do a thing in Israel, that the ears of as 12 many as heareth it, shall tingle. In that day I will perform to Eli, all that I have spoken concerning his house: I will begin it 13 and end it. For I have told him that I will judge his house for ever. For the wickedness which he knoweth, how his sons are 14 ungracious, and he was not wroth therewith. And therefore I have sworn unto the house of Eli, that the wickedness of Eli's house, shall not be purged with sacrifice nor offering, while the 15 world standeth. And Samuel lay till morning and then opened the doors of the house of the LORD. But Samuel feared, to shew 16 Eli the vision. Then Eli called Samuel and said: Samuel my son. And he answered here I am. And he said what is that 17 he said unto thee? See ye hide it not from me. The LORD do so and so to thee, if thou hide anything from me, of all that he said unto thee. And Samuel told him every whit and hid 18 it not from him. And he answered: it is the LORD, let him do what seemeth him best. And Samuel grew, and the LORD was 19 with him, and left none of his words unperformed. And all 20 Israel from Dan to Bersabe wist that Samuel was truly made the LORD's prophet. And the LORD appeared again in Siloh: 21 for the LORD opened himself to Samuel in Siloh, thorow the word of the LORD.

And Samuel spake unto all Israel. And Israel went out IV against the Philistines to battle, and pitched beside the help stone. And the Philistines pitched in Aphek. And put them- 2 selves in array against Israel. And in the end of the battle Israel was put to the worse before the Philistines. And the Philistines slew in array along by the fields, about a four thou- 3 sand men. And when the people were come into their tents, the elders of Israel said: wherefore hath the LORD beaten us this day before the Philistines? let us fetch the ark of the appointment of the LORD, out of Siloh unto us, and let it come 4 among us and save us out of the hands of our enemies. And the people sent to Siloh, and fetched from thence the ark of the appointment of the LORD of Hosts which dwelleth between the Cherubins. And there were the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehes with the ark of the appointment of God. And when 5 the ark of the appointment of the LORD came into the host, all Israel shouted a mighty shout, so that the earth rang again.
 When the Philistines heard the noise of the shout they said: 6 what meaneth the sound of this mighty shout in the host of the Hebrews? And they understood how that the ark of the LORD was come into the host. And the Philistines were afraid, when 7 it was told how that God was come into the host and said: Woe unto us, for it was never so before this. Woe unto us, who 8 shall deliver us out of the hand of this mighty God? This is the God that smote the Egyptians with all manner of plagues in the wilderness. Be strong and quite yourselves like men, 9 ye Philistines, that ye be not servants unto the Hebrews, as they have been to you. Be men therefore and fight. And the 10 Philistines fought, and Israel was put to the worse and fled, every man into his tent. And there was a mighty great slaughter, so that there were overthrown of Israel, thirty thousand footmen. And the ark of God was taken, and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehes were dead. And there ran a man of Ben Jamin out of the array and came to Siloh the same day, with his clothes rent and earth upon his head. And when the man came in, Eli sat upon a stool by the wayside looking: for his heart feared for the ark of God. And the man came in and told it in the city. And all the city cried. When Eli heard the noise of the crying, he asked what the noise of that rumour meant. And the man hasted and came in and told Eli. Eli was four score and eighteen year old, and his sight failed him that he could not see. And the man said unto Eli: I am he that came out of the array and fled out of the host this day. And he said how is it fortunèd, my son? And the messenger answered and said: Israel is fled before the Philistines, and there is a great slaughter chanced among the people, and thy two sons, Hophni and Phinehes are dead, and thereto the ark of God is taken. And when he made mention of the ark of God, Eli fell from off his stool backward toward the gate, and his neck brake, and he died: for he was old and unwieldy, and he had judged Israel forty year. And his daughter-in-law Phinehes' wife was with child and nye the birth. And when she heard the tidings of the taking of the ark of God, and that her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she bowed herself and travailed, for her pains came upon her. And about the time of her death, the women that stood about her, said unto her: fear not for thou hast borne a son. But she answered not nor regarded it. And she named the child Ichabod saying: honour is departed from Israel. Because the ark of God was taken, and her father-in-law and her husband were dead. And therefore she said, honour is gone from Israel, because the ark of God was taken.

V And the Philistines took the ark of God and carried it from the help stone, unto Asdod, and brought it unto the house of Dagon, and set it by Dagon. And when they of Asdod were up in the morning behold, Dagon lay grovelling upon the earth before the ark of the LORD. And they took Dagon and set him in his place again. And when they were up early in the next morning behold, Dagon lay grovelling upon the ground before the ark of the LORD, and his head and his two hands cut off upon the threshold, that the body onely was left on him. Wherefore neither the priests of Dagon, neither any man 5 that cometh into Dagon's house might tread on the threshold of Dagon in Asdod, unto this day. But the hand of the 6 LORD was heavy upon them of Asdod, and he destroyed them, and smote them with Emerods, both Asdod and all the coasts thereof. And when the men of Asdod saw that it was so, they 7 said: the ark of the God of Israel shall not abide here with us, for his hand is sore upon us and upon Dagon our god. And 8 so they sent and gathered all the lords of the Philistines unto them and said: what shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel? Then said they of Geth let the ark of the God of Israel be carried about. And they carried the ark of the God of Israel about. And when they had carried it about, the hand of the 9 LORD was in the city with a mighty great plague, and he smote the men of the city both small and great: and they were smitten in their secret places, with the Emerods. Then they sent 10 the ark of God to Akaron. And as soon as the ark of God came to Akaron, the Akaronites cried out saying: they have brought the ark of the God of Israel unto us: to slay us and our people.

 Then they sent and fetched all the lords of the Philistines unto 11 them and said: send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it go home again unto his own place, that it slay us not with our people. For there was a plague of death thorowout all the city, and the hand of God was exceeding sore there, insomuch 12 that they which died not, were smitten with the Emerods: so that the cry of the city went up to heaven.

And so when ark of the LORD had been in the country of the VI Philistines seven months, the Philistines called for the priests 2 and the soothsayers saying: what shall we do with the ark of the LORD? tell us wherewith we shall send it home again.
 They answered if you send the ark of the God of Israel home 3 again send it not empty: But reward it with a trespass offering: and then ye shall be whole, and it shall be known to you, why his hand departeth not from you. Then said they, what shall 4 be the trespass offering which we shall reward him with? And they answered: five golden arses with Emerods and five golden mice, according to the number of the lords of the Philistines.
 For it was one manner of plague that was on you all, and on your lords too. Wherefore ye shall make images like to 5 your arses with Emerods and images like to your mice that destroyed your land, and shall give glory unto the God of Israel: that he may take his hand from off you, and from off your gods, and from off your land. Wherefore should ye harden your hearts as the Egyptians and Pharao hardened their hearts, which for all that (when he had played his pageants with them) were fain to let the people go and depart. Now therefore make a new cart and take two milch kine, on whose neck never came yoke. And tie the kine in the cart, and bring the calves home from them. Then take the ark of the LORD and put it in the cart, and put the Jewels of gold (which ye reward him with for a trespass offering) in a forcer by the side thereof and send it away and let it go. And mark if he go up by the way that leadeth unto his own coast, to Bethsames, then it is he that did us this great evil. But and if he do not, then it is not his hand that smote us, but it was a chance that happened us. And the men did even so: they took two kine that gave milk and tied them in the cart, and kept the calves at home, and they laid the ark of the LORD upon the cart and the forcer with the mice of gold and the images of their arses with Emerods. And the kine took the straight way to Bethsames, both one way, and as they went, lowed, turning neither to the right hand nor to the left. And the lords of the Philistines went after them until they came to the borders of Bethsames. And they of Bethsames were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley. And they lifted up their eyes and spied the ark. And rejoiced when they saw it. And the cart came into the grove of one Jehosua a Bethsamite, and stood still there. There was there also a great stone. And they clave the wood of the cart and offered the kine a burnt offering unto the LORD. And the Levites took down the ark of the LORD and the forcer that was thereby, wherein the Jewels of gold were and put them on the great stone. And the men of Bethsames sacrificed burnt sacrifice and offered offerings that same day unto the LORD. And when the five lords of the Philistines had seen it, they returned to Akaron the same day. These are the golden arses with Emerods which the Philistines gave to amends for a trespass offering to the LORD: for Asdod one: for Gaza one: for Askalon one: for Geth one: and for Akaron one. And the golden mice were according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines thorow the five lordships: both of walled towns and of towns unwalled, even unto the great stone, whereon they set down the ark of the LORD: which stone remaineth unto this day in the field of Jehosua the Bethsamite. And he plagued the men of Bethsames, because 19 they had seen the ark of the LORD. And he slew of the people fifty thousand and three score and ten persons. And the people lamented, because the LORD had slain so great a slaughter of them. And the men of Bethsames said who is able to stand be- 20 fore the LORD so holy a God and to whom shall he go from us? And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kariath Jarim 21 saying: The Philistines have brought home again the Ark of the LORD: come down and fetch it up to you.

And the men of Kariathjarim came and set up the ark of the LORD, and brought it unto the house of Abinadab in Gabaah and sanctified Eleazar his son to wait upon the ark of the LORD. And while the ark abode in Kariathjarim, the days 2 multiplied, that it was twenty year, and all Israel lamented after the LORD. And Samuel spake unto all Israel saying: if ye 3 be come again unto the LORD with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods from among you, and Astharoth, and prepare your hearts unto the LORD and serve him alone, and so shall he rid you out of the hands of the Philistines. And 4 then the children of Israel did put away Baalim and Astharoth, and served the LORD onely. Then said Samuel: gather all 5 Israel to Mazpah, that I may pray for you unto the LORD. And they gathered together to Mazpah, and drew water and 6 poured it out before the LORD and fasted the same day and said there: we have sinned against the LORD. And Samuel judged the causes of the children of Israel in Mazpah. When 7 the Philistines heard, that the children of Israel were gathered together to Mazpah, the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the children of Israel heard that, they were afraid of the Philistines and said to Samuel: cease 8 not to cry unto the LORD our God for us, that he may save us out of the hands of the Philistines. And Samuel took a suck- 9 ing lamb and offered it altogether for a burnt offering, unto the LORD and cried unto the LORD for Israel: and the LORD heard him. And as Samuel offered the burnt offering, the 10 Philistines came to fight against Israel. But the LORD thundered a great thunder the same day upon the Philistines, and 11 turmoiled them, that they were beaten before Israel. And the men of Israel issued out of Mazpah and pursued the Philistines 12 and slew them, until they came under Bethcar. And the Samuel took a stone and pitched it between Mazpah and Sen, and called the name thereof the stone of help, saying: thus far hath 13 the LORD help us. And so the Philistines were brought under that they came no more into the coasts of Israel: for the hand of the LORD was upon the Philistines all the days of Samuel.

14 Thereto the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel came again to Israel, even from Akaron to Geth, with the coasts of the same, which Israel plucked out of the hands of the Philistines. For there was peace between Israel and the Amor-15, 16 ites. And Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life, and went about year by year, to Bethel Gilgal and Mazpah, and judged Israel in all those places, and came again to Ramath: 17 for there was his house, and there he judged Israel, and there he built an altar unto the LORD.

VIII When Samuel was old, he made his sons judges over Israel.
2 The name of his eldest son was Joel, and the name of the sec-3 ond Abiath, which were judges in Bersabe. Nevertheless his sons followed not his steps: but turned aside after lucre and 4 took rewards, and perverted the right. Then all the elders of Israel gathered them together and came to Samuel unto Ka-5 math and said unto him: behold, thou art old and thy sons follow not thy ways. Now therefore make us a king to judge us, 6 as all other nations have. But the thing displeased Samuel, when they said, give us a king to judge us. And Samuel prayed 7 unto the LORD. And the LORD said unto Samuel, hear the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee. For they have not cast thee away, but me: that I should not reign over them.
8 And as they have ever done (since I brought them out of Egypt unto this day, and have forsaken me and served other gods) 9 even so do they unto thee. Now therefore hearken unto their voice: howbeit yet, testify unto them and shew them the duty 10 of the king that shall reign over them. And Samuel told all the words of the LORD unto the people that asked a king of him, 11 and he said: this shall be the duty of the king that shall reign over you: he will take your sons and put them to his chariots and make his horsemen of them and they must run before his 12 chariot, and will make him captains of them over thousands and over fifties, and set them to ear his ground, and to gather in his harvest, and to make instruments of war and apparel for his chariots. And he will take your daughters and make them the dressers of his ointments, and his cooks and bakers. 13 And he shall take the best of your fields, and of your vineyards 14 and of your olive trees, and give them to his servants. And he 15 shall take the tenth of your seed and of your vines, and give it to his lords, and to his servants. And he shall take the best 16 of your menservants and maidservants and young men, and of your asses, and do his work with them. And he shall take the 17 tenth of your sheep, and ye shall be his servants. And when ye 18 cry out at that time upon your king which ye shall have chosen you, the LORD will not hear you at that day. Nevertheless the 19 people would not hear the voice of Samuel, but did say: nay not so: But there shall be a king over us, and we will be like all 20 other nations. And our king shall judge us, and go out before us and fight our battles. And Samuel heard all the words of 21 the people and rehearsed them in the ears of the LORD. And 22 the LORD said to Samuel: hearken unto their voice and make them a king. Then said Samuel unto the men of Israel: go every man to his city.

Now there was a man of Benjamin named Cis the son of IX Abiel, the son of Zeroz. the son of Bechorath, the son of Aphiah, the son of a man that was a Jeminite, a man of might: the 2 same had a son called Saul, a goodly young man, so that among the children of Israel, there was none goodlier than he, and was thereto from the shoulders upward higher than all the other 3 people. And it chanced that the Asses of this Cis Saul's father were lost. Then said Cis to Saul his son: Take one of 4 the lads with thee and up and go seek the Asses. And they went thorow mount Ephraim and thorow the land of Salisa, and found them not. Then they went thorow the land of Salim, and there they were not. Then they went also thorow the land of Jemini, and they found them not. Then when they were 5 come to the land of Zuph, Saul said to the young man that was with him: come let us return, lest my father leave caring for the Asses, and take thought for us. And he answered him: be- 6 hold there is in this city a worshipful man of God, and all that he sayeth, cometh to pass. Now then let us go thither: peradventure he shall shew us what way we may go. Then said 7

Saul to his lad: if we go what shall we bring the man? For our bread is all spent out of our hampers and there is none other 8 present to bring the man of God, what have we? And the young man answered Saul again and said: I have found about me the fourth part of a Sicle, that will we give the man of God 9 to tell us our way. Before time in Israel when a man went to seek an answer of God, thus wise he spake, come and let us go to the Sear. For he that is now called a prophet, was in the 10 old time called a Sear. Then said Saul to his young man: well said of thee: come let us go. And so they went unto the city 11 where the man of God was. And as they were going up into the city, they met with damsels that came out to draw water, 12 and said unto them: is there here a sear? And the maidens answered them, yea: behold, he goeth before you. Make haste now, for he came this day to the city, for the people must offer 13 this day in the hill. When ye be come into the city, so shall you find him, yer he go up to the hill to eat: for the people will not eat until he come, because he must bless the offering. And then eat they that be bidden to the feast. Now therefore get 14 you up for even now shall ye find him. And they went up into the city. And when they were come into the midst of the city: behold, Samuel came out against them, for to go up to the hill.
15 But the LORD had told Samuel a day before Saul came, saying: tomorrow this time I will send thee a man out of the land of Benjamin, him shalt thou anoint to be captain over my people Israel, that he may save my people out of the hand of the Philistines, for I have looked upon my people and their cry is 16 come unto me. When Samuel saw Saul, the LORD answered him: see, this is the man whom I spake to thee of. This same shall reign over my people. Then went Saul to Samuel in the middle of the gate, and said: tell me I pray thee, where about 17 the sear's house is, and Samuel answered Saul and said: I am the sear, go up before me unto the hill, for ye shall eat with me to day. And tomorrow I will let thee go early, and will 18 tell thee all that is in thine heart, and as for thine asses that were lost this day three days, care not for them, for they are found. And moreover whose shall the beautiful things of Israel be? belong they not unto thee, and unto all thy father's house?
19 But Saul answered and said: am not I the son of a Jeminite of the smallest tribe of Israel, and my kindred the least of all the kindreds of the tribe of Benjamin, wherefore then speakest thou so to me? And Samuel took Saul and his lad and brought 22 them into the parlour and made them sit in the chiefest place among them that were bidden: which were upon a thirty persons. Then said Samuel unto the cook: bring forth the portion 23 which I gave thee, and of which I said keep it with thee. And 24 the cook took up the shoulder and brought it, and set it before Saul. And Samuel said: behold, that which is left: put it before thee and eat, for I kept it for thee of purpose, when I called the people. And so Saul did eat with Samuel that day. And when 25 they were come down from the hill unto the city, Samuel communed with Saul upon the top of the house: and they arose 26 early. And about the spring of the day Samuel called Saul upon the top of the house saying: up that I may send thee away. And Saul arose. And they went out at the doors both of them, both he and Samuel. And when they were come almost out of the 27 town, Samuel said to Saul: bid the lad go before us, and he went, but stand thou still awhile even now, that I may shew thee what God sayeth.

And then Samuel took a box of oil and poured it upon his X head and kissed him and said: the LORD hath anointed thee to be a captain over his inheritance. And now when thou art 2 departed from me, thou shalt meet two men by Rahel's sepulchre in the borders of Benjamin even at Zalezah. And they will say unto thee, the asses which thou wentest to seek, are found see, thy father hath left the care of the Asses and sorroweth for you saying: what shall I do for my son? Then thou shalt go forth 3 from thence and shalt come to the oak of Thabor. And there shalt thou meet three men going to God to Bethel: one carrying three kids: and another carrying three loaves of bread: and the third carrying a bottle of wine. And they will salute thee and 4 give thee two loaves of bread: which thou shalt receive of their hands. After that thou shalt come to the hill of God, where the Philistines keep their watch. And when thou art come thither 5 to the city thou shalt meet a company of prophets coming down from the hill, with a psalter, a timbrel, a pipe, and a harp before them, and they prophesying. And the spirit of the LORD 6 will come upon thee, and thou shalt prophesy with them, and shalt be turned into another man. And when these signs are 7 chanced thee, then do what thou hast to do, for God is with 8 thee. And thou shalt also go before me to Gilgal. And behold I will come unto thee to sacrifice burnt sacrifice and peace offerings. Tarry for me seven days till I come to thee and shew thee 9 what thou shalt do. And as soon as he had turned his shoulder to go from Samuel, God gave him another manner of heart, and 10 all those tokens came to pass that same day. When they came to the hill: behold the company of prophets met him, and the spirit of God came upon him, and the prophesied among them.

11 And all that knew him before, when they saw that he prophesied among the prophets, they said each to other: what is happened unto the son of Cis? Is Saul also among the prophets?
12 And one of the same place answered and said: who is their father? And thereof sprang a proverb: what is Saul also among 13 the prophets? And when he had made an end of prophesying, 14 he came to the hill. Saul's father's brother said unto him and his lad: whither went ye? And he answered: to seek the asses, and when we saw that they were nowhere, we went to Samuel.
15 Then said Saul's uncle: tell me what Samuel said unto you?
16 And Saul answered his uncle: he told us that the asses were found. But of the kingdom whereof Samuel spake told he him 17 not. After that Samuel called the people together unto the 18 LORD to Mazpah and said unto the children of Israel: thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel, I brought you out of Egypt, and delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the 19 hands of all kingdoms that oppressed you. And ye have this day cast away your God that help you out of all your adversi-ties and tribulations. And ye have said unto him, make a king over us. Now therefore stand before the LORD by your tribes 20 and your thousands. And when Samuel had brought all the tribes of Israel the tribe of Benjamin was caught. When he 21 had brought the tribe of Benjamin by their kindreds, the kindred of Metri was caught: and Saul the son of Cis was caught.
22 And they sought him: but he could not be found. Then they asked the LORD further: whither the man should come thither.
And the LORD answered: behold, he hath hid himself among 23 the stuff. And they ran and fetched him thence. And when he stood among the people, he was higher than any of the people 24 from the shoulders upward. And Samuel said to all the people: there see ye whom the LORD hath chosen and how there is none like him among all the company. And all the people shouted and said: God send the king life. Then Samuel told 25 the people the duty of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the LORD, and so sent all the people away, ev- 26 ery man to his house. And Saul also went home to Gabaah.

 And there went with him an host, such as God hath touched their hearts. But the children of unthriftiness said: how shall 27 he save us? and despised him and brought him not presents.
 And he made as though he had not heard it.

Then Nahas the Ammonite came and beseiged Jabes in Gilead. XI
 And all the people of Jabes said unto Nahas: make a covenant 2 with us and we will be thy servants. And Nahas the Ammonite said: hereto will I make a covenant with you, even to thrust out all your right eyes, that I may bring that shame upon all Israel.
 Then said the elders of Jabes: give us seven days respite that 3 we may send messengers unto all the coasts of Israel. And then if there come no man to help us, we will come out to thee.
 Then came the messengers to Gabaah where Saul dwelt, and 4 told this tidings in the ears of the people. And all the people lifted up their voices and wept. And behold Saul came follow- 5 ing his oxen out of the field, and asked what ailed the people to weep. And they told him the tidings of the men of Jabes.
 Then came the spirit of God upon Saul, when he heard those 6 tidings, and he was exceeding angry. And took a yoke of oxen 7 and hewed them in pieces, and sent them thorowout all the coasts of Israel by the hands of messengers saying: whosoever cometh not forth after Saul and after Samuel, so shall his oxen be served. Then the fear of the LORD fell upon the people, and they came out as it had been but one man. And when they 8 were numbered in Bezek the children of Israel were three hundredth thousand, and the men of Juda thirty thousand. And 9 they said unto the messengers that came, so say unto the men of Jabes in Gilead: tomorrow by that time the son be hot, ye shall have help. And the messengers came and shewed the men of Jabes, and they were glad. And then the men of Jabes 10 said: tomorrow we will come out unto you, that ye may do with us all that pleaseth you. And on the morrow Saul put the 11 people in three parts. And they came in upon the host in the morning watch, and slew the Ammonites, until the heat of the day. And they that remained, scattered: so that two of them were not left together. Then said the people to Samuel: what 12 are they that said: shall Saul reign over us? bring them that 13 we may slay them. But Saul said: there shall no man die this 14 day, for today the LORD hath saved Israel. Then said Samuel unto the people: come and let us go to Gilgal, and renew the 15 kingdom there. And the people went to Gilgal and made Saul king there, before the LORD in Gilgal. And there they offered peace offerings before the LORD. And there Saul and all the people rejoiced exceedingly.

XII Then said Samuel unto all Israel: behold I have obeyed your voice in all that ye said unto me, and have made you a king.
2 And see your king walketh before you. But I am old and gray headed: and behold my sons are with you and I have walked 3 before you from my childhood unto this day. Behold here I am: answer me before the LORD and before his anointed, whose ox have I taken, or whose Ass have I taken? whom have I done wrong to? or whom have I pilled? And of whose hand have I received any bribe, to blind mine eyes therewith? and 4 I will restore it you again. And they said thou hast done us no wrong, nor pilled us, neither hast thou taken ought of 5 any man's hand. Then said he to them: the LORD is witness unto you, and his anointed is witness this day, that ye have found nought in my hands. And they answered: we are wit-6 nesses. Then said Samuel unto the people it is the LORD that made Moses and Aaron, and which brought your fathers out of 7 Egypt. Now therefore stand still, and let me reason with you before the LORD, of all the righteousnesses of the LORD which 8 he shewed both you and your fathers. After that Jacob was come into Egypt, your fathers cried unto the LORD, and the LORD sent Moses and Aaron, which brought your fathers out 9 of Egypt, and made them dwell in this place. Neverthelater they forgot the LORD their God. And he sold them into the hand of Sisara chief captain of Jabin king of Nazor, and into the hands of the philistines and into the hands of the king of 10 Moab, which fought against them. Then they cried unto the LORD and said: we have sinned, because we have forsaken the LORD and have served Baalim and Astharoth. But now deliver us out of the hands of our enemies and we will serve thee.
11 And the LORD sent Jerobaal, Badan, Jephthah, and Samuel, and delivered you out of the hands of your enemies on every 12 side, so that ye dwelled without fear. And for all that when you saw that Nahas the king of the children of Ammon came against you, ye said unto me: not so, a king shall reign over us, when yet the LORD your God was your king. Now therefore 13 behold the king, whom ye have chosen and whom ye have desired: see, the LORD hath given you a king; Oh that ye would 14 fear the LORD and serve him and hear his voice and not disobey the mouth of the LORD: and that both ye and the king that reigneth over you would follow the LORD your God. For 15 if ye shall not hearken unto the voice of the LORD, but shall disobey the LORD's mouth: then shall the hand of the LORD be upon you and on your fathers. Now also stand and see 16 this great thing which the LORD will do before your eyes: is it 17 not now wheat harvest. And yet for all that, I will call unto the LORD, and he shall send thunder and rain. Wherefore perceive and understand: how that your wickedness is great which ye have done in the sight of the LORD in asking you a king. And when Samuel called unto the LORD, the LORD sent 18 thunder and rain the same day. And all the people feared the LORD and Samuel exceedingly. Then said all the people unto 19 Samuel: pray for thy servants unto the LORD thy God, that we die not: for we have sinned in asking us a king, beside all the sins that ever we did. Then said Samuel unto the people: 20 fear not. And though ye have done all this wickedness yet depart not from the LORD in any case. But serve him with all your hearts. Neither turn ye after vain things which can not 21 deliver you, for they are but vanities. But the LORD will not 22 forsake his people, because of his great name's sake: because the LORD hath begun to make you his people. Moreover God 23 forbid that I should sin against the LORD in leaving praying for you and to shew you the good and right way. Only fear you 24 the LORD and serve him truly with all your hearts: for he hath done great things for you. But and if ye shall do wickedly: 25 then shall both ye and your king thereto perish.

Saul was as a child of a year old, when he began to reign. XIII
 And when he had reigned two years over Israel, he chose 2 him three thousand men out of Israel. Two thousand were with Saul in Machmas and mount Bethel, and a thousand with Jonathas in Gabaah Benjamin. And the rest of the people he sent, every man to his own house. And Jonathas slew the 3 Philistines in an hold they had in Gabaah, and it came to the Philistines' ears. And Saul caused the trumpet to be blown 4 thoroughout all the land saying: let the Hebrews hear. And all Israel heard say, how that Saul had destroyed an hold of the Philistines, and how that Israel stank unto the Philistines.

5 And all the people cried after Saul to Gilgal. Then the Philistines gathered themselves together to fight with Israel, thirty thousand chariots and Six thousand horsemen with other people like the sand by the sea's side in multitude and came up and 6 pitched in Michmas eastward from Bethaven. And when the men of Israel saw themselves in a strait, and that the people were acumbered, they hid themselves in caves, in privy holes, 7 in rocks, dens and pits. And the Hebrews went over Jordan unto the land of Gad and Gilead. But Saul was yet in Gil-8 gal, and all the people that followed him were astonied. And he tarried seven days, as Samuel had appointed. But Samuel 9 came not to Gilgal, and the people scattered from him. Wherefore Saul said: bring burnt sacrifice to me and peace offerings.
10 And he offered burnt sacrifice. And as soon as he had made an end of offering burnt offerings behold, Samuel came. And Saul went against him, to Salute him. Then said Samuel to Saul: 11 what hast thou done? And Saul said, because I saw that the people scattered from me, and yet thou camest not within the days appointed and that the phlistines gathered themselves 12 together to Machmas: then said I, the Philistines shall come down upon me to Gilgal, before I have made supplication unto the LORD. And therefore I took a courage with me and offered 13 burnt offerings. Then said Samuel to Saul: thou hast done foolishly and hast not kept the commandment of the LORD thy God which he commanded thee. For at this time would the 14 LORD have stablished thy kingdom upon Israel for ever. But now thy kingdom shall not continue. The LORD hath sought him a man after his own heart, and hath commanded him to be a captain over his people: because thou hast not kept that 15 which the LORD commanded thee. And Samuel arose and gat him from Gilgal to Gabaah Benjamin. And Saul numbered the people that were found with him, about a six hundredth men.
16 And Saul and Jonathas his son and the people that were found with them, had their abiding in Gabaah Benjamin. But the 17 Philistines had pitched in Machmas. And there came out of the host of the Philistines three companies, to destroy: one company turned unto the way that leadeth to Ephrah unto the land of Sual. And another company turned the way to 18 Bethoron. And the third company turned to the way of the coast that turneth to the valley of Zeboim toward the wilderness. But there was no smith thorowout the land of Israel. 19 For the Philistines thought that then the Hebrews might make them swords or spears. And therefore must all Israel go down 20 to the Philistines, to mend every man his share, his mattock, his axe or his sickle: as oft as the edges of the sickles, mat- 21 tocks, dung forks, and axes were blunt, and also to mend their goods. And so in time of battle there was neither sword nor 22 spear found in the hands of any of the people that were with Saul and Jonathas: save for Saul and Jonathas his son was there somewhat found. And the Garrison of the Philistines 23 came out and stood on the other side before Machmas.

And it fell on a day, that Jonathas the son of Saul said unto XIV his young man that bare his harness: come and let us go over to the watchmen of the Philistines that are yonder on the other side, and told not his father. But Saul tarried in the utmost 2 part of Gabaah under a pomegranate tree, that was in Magron, and the people that were with him were upon a six hundredth men. And Ahiah the son of Ahitob Ichabod's brother, the son 3 of Phinehes, the son of Eli, was the LORD's priest in Siloh and bare an Ephod. But the people wist* not that Jonathas was gone. And in the way over by which Jonathas sought to go 4 over unto the garrison of the philistines, were there two sharp rocks, even one on the one side, and the other one the other side: the one called Bozez, and the other Seneh. And the one 5 leaneth northward toward Machmas, and the other southward toward Gabaah. Then said Jonathas to the young man that 6 bare his harness: come and let us go over unto the standing of these uncircumcised, peradventure the LORD will work with us: for the LORD is free to save with many or with few. And 7 his harness bearer said unto him do all that is in thine heart: set thee forward: and see I am with thee, as thine heart lusteth. Then said Jonathas: behold when we go over unto the 8 men, and shew ourselves unto them: if they say on this wise 9 to us: tarry until we come to you, then we will stand still where we be and not go up unto them. But and if they so say unto 10

14. v.3 Other: knew.

us: come up unto us, then we will go up, for the LORD hath delivered them into our hands. And this shall be a sign unto 11 us. And when they had both shewed themselves unto the garrison of the Philistines, the Philistines said: see, the Hebrews 12 come out of the holes where they had hid themselves in. And the men of the garrison answered Jonathas and his harness bearer and said: come up to us, and we will shew you a thing. Then said Jonathas unto his harness bearer: come up after me, for the LORD hath delivered them into the hands of Israel.
13 And Jonathas clame upon hands and feet, and his harness bearer after him. Then they fell before Jonathas: and his 14 harness bearer slew them after him. And that first slaughter which Jonathas and his harness bearer made was upon a twenty men, within the compass as it were about an half acre 15 of land. And there was a fear in the host that was in the field, and among all the people: insomuch that they that kept the hold, and they that were gone to rob, were afraid also: and the 16 earth trembled and there was a fear sent of God. And the watchmen of Saul in Gabaah Benjamin, saw. And behold, the 17 people scattered and ran hither and thither. Then said Saul unto the people that was with him: number and see who is gone away from us. And when they had told: behold, Jonathas 18 and his harness bearer were not there. And then Saul said unto Ahia: bring hither the ark of God. For the ark of God 19 was at the time with the children of Israel. And while Saul talked unto the priest, the people that were in the host of the philistines, ran more and more. And Saul said unto the priest: 20 withdraw thine hand. And Saul cried and all the people that were with him, and went to battle. And behold every man's sword was against his fellow, with a mighty great slaughter.
21 Moreover the Hebrews that were with the Philistines before that time, and were come with them in all parts of the host, 22 they turned to Israel that was with Saul and Jonathas. And they also which had hid themselves in mount Ephraim, as soon as they heard how that the Philistines were fled, they followed 23 after them in battle. And so GOD help Israel that day. And the battle continued until they came unto Bethaven. And the 24 men of Israel joined themselves together that day: and Saul adjured the people saying: Cursed be he that eateth any food until night, that I may be avenged of mine enemies. And so there was none of the people that tasted any sustenance. And 25 all the land came to a wood where honey lay upon the ground.

And when the people were come into the wood: Behold, the 26 honey dropped. How be it there was no man that moved his hand to his mouth, because that the people feared the curse.
But Jonathas heard not when his father adjured the people, 27 wherefore he put forth the end of the staff that was in his hand, and dipped it in an honey comb, and put his hand to his mouth, and his eyes received sight. Then spake one of the people and 28 said: thy father adjured the people saying: Cursed be the man that eateth any sustenance this day, and yet the people were fainty. Then said Jonathas: my father hath troubled the land: 29 for see, mine eyes hath received sight, because I tasted a little of this honey: how then if all the people had eaten of the spoil 30 of their enemies which they found, had there not been then a much greater slaughter among the Philistines? And they 31 laid on the Philistines that day, from Machmas to Aialon. And the people were exceeding fainty. Then the people gat them 32 to the spoil and took sheep oxen and calves, and slew them on the ground and did eat with the blood. Then men told Saul 33 saying: Behold the people sin against the LORD, in that they eat with the blood. And he said: ye have trespassed. But roll a great stone unto me now, and go abroad among the people 34 and bid them bring every man his ox and every man his sheep, and slay them here, and sin not against the LORD in eating with the blood. And the people brought every man his ox in his hand by night and slew them there. And Saul made an altar 35 unto the LORD. And that was the first altar that he made unto the LORD. And Saul said: let us go down after the Philistines 36 by night, and let us make havoc among them until it be day in the morning, and let us not leave one of them. And the people answered: do whatsoever thou thinkest best. Then said the priest: let us come hither unto God. And Saul asked of God: 37 shall I go down after the Philistines? and wilt thou deliver them into mine hands? But he answered him not at that time.
Then said Saul let the people come hither out of all quarters, 38 and know and see, in whom this sin is chanced this day: for 39 as truly as the LORD liveth which hath saved Israel, though it be in Jonathas my son, he shall die for it. But no man answered him of all the people. Then he said unto all Israel: be 40

ye on one side, and I and Jonathas my son will be on another. And the people said unto Saul: what thou thinkest best that do. And Saul said unto the LORD God of Israel: give perfect knowledge. And Saul and Jonathas were caught, and the people escaped free. Then said Saul: cast lots between me and Jonathas my son. And Jonathas was caught. Then Saul said to Jonathas: tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathas told him and said: I tasted a little honey upon the end of my staff that was in mine hand, and see, I must die. Then said Saul God do so and so to me, except that thou die Jonathas. But the people said unto Saul: shall Jonathas die which hath so mightily holp Israel? God forbid. As truly as the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground: for he hath wrought with God this day. And so the people delivered Jonathas, that he died not. And then Saul departed from following the Philistines. And the Philistines went to their own place. And so Saul took the kingdom over Israel, and fought against all his enemies on every side: against the Moabites: against the children of Ammon: against the Edomites: against the kings of Zobah and against the Philistines. And whether soever he turned himself, there he wan, and played the man and slew the Amalekites, and rid Israel out of the hands of them that spoiled them. The sons of Saul were, Jonathas, Jesui, and Melchisua. And his two daughters were thus named: the elder was called Merob and the younger Michol. And the name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam the daughter of Ahimaaz. And the name of his chief captain was Abner the son of Ner Saul's uncle. And Cis was Saul's father. And Ner the father of Abner was the son of Abiel. And there was sore war with the Philistines, all the days of Saul. For wheresoever Saul saw a strong man, and an active, he took him unto him.

XV Then said Samuel unto Saul: the LORD sent me to anoint thee king over his people Israel. Now therefore obey thou the voice of the words of the LORD. Thus sayeth the LORD of Hosts: I have called to remembrance that which Amalek did to Israel how they lay in wait for them in the way, as they came out of Egypt. Now therefore go and smite the Amalekites, and only destroy ye all that pertaineth unto them, and see thou have no compassion on them. But slay both man and woman, infant and suckling, and ox, sheep, camel and Ass.

And Saul told it the people, and numbered them in Telaim two 4 hundredth thousand footmen, and ten thousand men of Juda.
And Saul came unto a city of the Amalekites, and fought in a 5 valley. But Saul said unto the Kenites go and depart and get 6 you down from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them, for ye shewed mercy with Israel when they came out of Egypt. And the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.
And Saul slew the Amalekites from Hevila to Sur that lieth 7 before Egypt, and took Agag the king of the Amalekites alive, 8 and utterly destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.
But Saul and the people spared Agag, and they left of the sheep 9 and of the oxen and fat things and the lambs and all that was good, and would not destroy them. But all that was nought worth and flaggy, that they destroyed utterly. Then came the 10 word of the LORD unto Samuel saying: it repenteth me that 11 I have made Saul king. For he is turned from me and hath not performed my commandments, wherefore Samuel was evil apaid and cried unto the LORD all night. And Samuel rose 12 early, to meet Saul in the morning. And it was told Samuel that Saul was come to Carmel, and had set him up a pillar of triumph. And was turned and departed and gone to Gil- 13 gal. And when Samuel was come to Saul, Saul said unto him: Blessed be thou in the LORD. I have done the commandment of the LORD. And Samuel answered: what meaneth then the 14 bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the noise of the oxen which I hear? And Saul said: they have brought them from 15 the Amalekites. For the people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen, to sacrifice unto the LORD thy God. And the rem- 16 nant we have destroyed. But Samuel said to Saul: cease and let me tell thee what the LORD hath said to me this night. And he said unto him: say on. And Samuel said when thou wast 17 little in thine own sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel? And the LORD anointed thee king over Israel.
And then the LORD sent thee on a journey, and said unto thee, 18 see that thou utterly destroy those sinners, the Amalekites and fight against them until ye have utterly destroyed them. And 19 wherefore hast thou now not obeyed the voice of the LORD: But didst turn to the prey and hast wrought wickedness in the sight of the LORD? And Saul said unto Samuel: I have obeyed 20 the voice of the LORD, and went the way which the LORD sent me, and have brought Agag the king of the Amalekites. And 21 have utterly destroyed the Amalekites. And the people took of the spoil, sheep, oxen, and the chiefest of the things which should have been destroyed, to offer unto the LORD thy God in 22 Gilgal. Then said Samuel: hath the LORD as great pleasure in burnt sacrifices and offerings, as he hath that thou shouldst obey his voice? Behold, to obey is better than offering, and to 23 give heed is better than the fat of rams. For rebelliousness is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is wickedness and Idolatry. Because therefore thou hast cast away the word of the LORD, therefore hath the LORD cast away thee also, from 24 being king. Then said Saul to Samuel: I have sinned for I have trespassed the mouth of the LORD, and thy words, be-25 cause I feared the people and obeyed their voice. But now take away my sin, and turn again with me, that I may worship 26 the LORD. Then said Samuel unto Saul: I will not return with thee: for thou hast cast away the bidding of God, and therefore the LORD hath cast away thee also, that thou shalt not be king 27 over Israel. And as Samuel turned to go away, he caught the 28 lap of his coat, and it rent. Then Samuel said, the LORD hath rent the kingdom of Israel from thee this day, and hath given it 29 to a neighbour of thine that is better than thou. And thereto he that giveth victory to Israel, will not beguile nor repent: 30 for he is not a man, that can repent. Then he said: I have sinned. But yet honour me before the elders of my people, and before Israel, and turn again with me, that I may pray unto the 31 LORD thy God. And Samuel turned again and followed Saul.

32 And Saul prayed unto the LORD. Then said Samuel: Bring ye hither to me, Agag the king of the Amalekites. And Agag came unto him delicately. And Agag said: truly the bitterness of 33 death cometh on. And Samuel said: As thy sword hath made women childless, so shall thy mother be childless among other women. And so Samuel hewed Agag in pieces before the LORD 34 in Gilgal. And then Samuel departed to Ramath. And Saul 35 went home to his house to Gabaah Saul. But Samuel came no more to see Saul until the day of his death. Nevertheless Samuel mourned for Saul, because the LORD repented that he had made him king over Israel.

XVI And then the LORD said unto Samuel: How long wilt thou mourn for Saul, seeing I have cast him away from reigning over Israel? fill an horn with ointment, and come: I will send thee to Isai the Bethlehemite, for I have spied me a king among his sons. But Samuel answered: how shall I go? for Saul shall 2 hear it and will kill me. And the LORD said: Take an heifer with thee, and say thou goest to offer to the LORD. And call 3 Isai to the offering, and I will shew thee what thou shalt do: And thou shalt anoint him whom I say unto thee. And Samuel 4 did as the LORD bade him. And when he came to Bethlehem, the elders of the town were astonied at his coming, and said: Betokeneth thy coming peace? and he said yea, for I am come 5 to offer unto the LORD. Cleanse yourselves and come with me to the offering. And he purified Isai and his sons, and bade them to the offering. And when they were come, he looked 6 on Eliab and said: the LORD's anointed is before him. But 7 the LORD said unto Samuel: look not on his fashion nor on the height of his stature, for I have refused him. Because it is not as man seeth. For man looketh on the outward appearance: but the LORD beholdeth the heart. Then Isai called Abinadab 8 and made him come before Samuel. And he said: neither hath the LORD chosen this. Then Isai made Samah come, and he 9 said: neither hath the LORD chosen him. Then made Isai 10 seven of his sons come before Samuel. And Samuel said, the LORD hath chosen none of these. Then said Samuel to Isai: 11 are here all thy children? and he said: the youngest is yet behind: Behold, he keepeth the sheep. Then Samuel said unto Isai: send and fetch him for we will not sit down, till he be come hither. And he sent and brought him in. And he was 12 brown with goodly eyes, and well favoured in sight. And then the LORD said up and anoint him: for this is he. And Samuel 13 took the horn with the ointment and anointed him in the presence of his brethren. And the spirit of the LORD came upon David, from that day forward. And Samuel rose up and went to Ramath. But the spirit of the LORD departed from Saul, 14 and an evil spirit sent of the LORD, vexed him. Then said his servants unto him: Behold, an evil spirit sent of God vexeth thee, let our lord therefore command his servants to seek a 15 man that is a cunning player with an harp. And then when the evil spirit sent of God, cometh upon thee, that he may play with his hand, and thou shalt be eased. And Saul said unto 16 his servants: seek me a man that can well play, and bring him 17 18 to me. Then answered one of his servants and said: Behold, I have seen a son of Isai the Bethlehemite, that can play upon instruments, and is an active fellow and a man of war and pru-19 dent and well made, and the LORD is with him, whereupon Saul sent messengers unto Isai and said: send me David thy 20 son which is with the sheep. And Isai took an ass laden with bread, and a flacket of wine, and a kid, and sent them by David 21 his son unto Saul. And David went to Saul and came before him, and he loved him very well, so that he was made his har-22 ness bearer. And Saul sent to Isai saying: let David remain 23 with me, for he hath found favour in my sight. And when the spirit of God came upon Saul, David took an harp and played with his hand, and so Saul was refreshed, and did amend and the evil spirit departed from him.

XVII The Philistines gathered their host to battle, and came together to Socoh in Juda, and pitched between Socoh and Azekah, 2 in the end of Domim. And Saul and the men of Israel came and pitched in Oakdale and put themselves in array, to fight 3 against the Philistines. And the Philistines stood on an hill on the one side, and Israel stood on an hill on the other side, 4 and a valley between them. And then came a man and stood in the midst, out of the tents of the Philistines named Goliath 5 of Geth, six cubits and a handbreadth long, and had an helmet of brass upon his head, and a coat of mail about him. And the weight of his coat of mail was five thousand Sicles of brass.
6 And he had harness of brass upon his legs, and a shield of 7 brass upon his shoulders. And the shaft of his spear was like a weaver's beam. And his spearhead weighed six hundredth 8 sicles of iron. And one bearing a shield went before him. And he stood and called unto the host of Israel, and said unto them: what needeth that ye should come out in array to battle? am not I a Philistine, and you servants to Saul? Choose you a 9 man, and let him come down to me, if he be able to fight with me and to beat me, then we will be your servants. But if I can overcome him and beat him: then ye shall be our ser-10 vants and serve us. And the Philistine said: I have defied the host of Israel this day give me a man and let us fight to-11 gether. When Saul and all Israel heard those words of the 12 Philistine, they were discouraged and greatly afraid. And this David was the son of an Ephrathite of Bethlehem Juda, named Isai, which Isai had eight sons. And was an old man in the days of Saul among the people. And the three eldest 13 sons of Isai went and followed Saul to battle. And the names of his three sons that went to battle were: Eliab the eldest, and the next to him Abinadab, and the third Samah, and 14 David was the youngest. And when the three eldest were gone after Saul, David went and departed from Saul, to feed his 15 father's sheep at Bethlehem. And the Philistine came forth 16 every morning and evening, and continued forty days. And 17 Isai said unto David his son: take for thy brethren this Epha of parched corn, and these ten loaves, and run to the host, to thy brethren. And carry these ten fresh cheeses unto the cap- 18 tain, and look how thy brethren fare, and set out their pledges.

And Saul and they and all the men of Israel were in oak valley 19 fighting with the Philistines. And David rose up early in 20 the morning and left the sheep with a keeper, and took and went, as Isai had commanded him, and came where the host lay. And the host was going out in array, and shouted in the battle: for Israel and the Philistines had put themselves in 21 array, the one against the other. Then David put the pannier 22 from him, unto the hands of the keeper of the vessels, and ran into the host and came and saluted his brethren. And as he 23 talked with them: Behold, there stood a man in the midst, Goliath the Philistine by name, of Geth, which came out of the Array of the Philistines, and spake of the manner above rehearsed, that David heard it. And all the men of Israel, when 24 they saw the man, ran away from him, and were sore afraid.
And every man of Israel said: See ye this man that is come 25 forth, even to revile Israel is he come. And to him that beateth him will the king give great riches, and will give him his daughter thereto: yea and make his father's house free in Israel. Then spake David to the men that stood by and said: 26 What shall be done to the man that beateth this Philistine and taketh away the shame from Israel? for what is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should revile the host of the living God? And the people answered as it is rehearsed saying: so 27 shall it be done to the man that beateth him. And Eliab his el- 28 dest brother heard when he spake unto the man and was angry with David and said: Why camest thou away, and with whom hast thou left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know thy pride and the malice of thine heart, that thou art come to see 29 the battle. And David answered, what have I now done? is 30 there any more save a word? And departed from by him into another front, and spake of the same manner, and the peo-31 ple answered him again, as before. And they that heard the words which David spake, rehearsed them before Saul, which 32 caused him to be fetched. And David said to Saul: Let no man's heart fail him because of him. Thy servant will go and 33 fight with his Philistine. And Saul said to David again, thou art not able to go unto this Philistine, to fight with him. For thou art but a lad, and he hath been a man of war even from 34 his youth. Then said David unto Saul, as thy servant kept his father's sheep, there came a Lion and likewise a Bear, and 35 took a sheep out of the flock. And I went out after him and smote him, and took it out of his mouth. And when he arose against me, I caught him by the beard and smote him and slew 36 him. For both a Lion and also a Bear hath thy servant slain.

And this uncircumcised Philistine shall be as one of them, for 37 his railing on the host of the living God. And David spake moreover, the LORD that delivered me out of the hands of the Lion and out of the hands of the Bear, he shall deliver me also out of the hands of the Philistine. Then said Saul to David go, 38 and the LORD be with thee. And Saul put his raiment upon David, and put an helmet of brass upon his head, and put a 39 coat of mail upon him, and girt David with his own sword upon his raiment. And he assayed to go, for he never proved it. Then said David unto Saul: I can not go in these, for I have 40 not been used thereto, and put them off him and took his staff in his hand, and chose him five smooth stones out of a brook and put them in a shepherd's bag which he had, and in a poke, 41 and his sling in his hand, and went to the Philistine. And the Philistine came and drew near to David, with the man that 42 bare a shield before him. And when the Philistine looked and saw David: he disdained him, for he was but a lad, ruddy and 43 goodly to look upon. And the Philistine said unto David: am I a dog, that thou comest to me with a staff? and he cursed David 44 in the name of his gods. And he said to David: come to me and I will give thy flesh unto the fowls of the air, and to the beasts 45 of the field. Then said David to the Philistine thou comest to me with a sword a spear and a shield: But I come to thee in the name of the LORD of Hosts, the God of the host of Israel whom thou hast railed upon. This day shall the LORD deliver thee 46 into my hand, and I shall smite thee and take thine head from thee, and will give the carcases of the host of the Philistines this day unto the fowls of the air and to the beasts of the earth, and all the world shall know, that there is a God in Israel.

 And all this congregation shall know, that the LORD saveth 47 not with the sword and spear. For the battle is the LORD's, and he shall give you into our hands. And when the Philis- 48 tine arose and came and drew nye unto David: David hasted and ran in array even against the Philistine. And David put 49 his hand in his poke and took out a stone and slung it, and smote the Philistine in his forehead that the stone sunk into his forehead, and he fell grovelling to the earth. And so David 50 overcame the Philistine with a sling and a stone, and smote the Philistine and slew him. And because David had no sword in his hand, he ran and stood upon the Philistine, and took 51 his sword and drew it out of his sheath and slew him and cut off his head therewith. And when the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, they fled. And the men of Israel and of 52 Juda arose and shouted and followed after the Philistines, until they came to the valley and unto the gates of Akaron. And the Philistines fell down dead by the way, even unto Geth and Akaron. And then the children of Israel returned from chas- 53 ing after the Philistines and robbed their tents. And David took the head of the Philistine and brought it to Jerusalem: But he put his armour in his tent. When Saul saw David go 55 forth against the Philistine, he said unto Abner the captain of his host, Abner, whose son is this lad? And Abner answered, as truly as thy soul liveth, O king, I can not tell. Then said 56 the king: Enquire thou, whose son the youngling is. And so 57 when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, Abner took him and brought him before Saul, with the head of the Philistine in his hand. And Saul said to him: whose son 58 art thou, thou lad? And David answered the son of thy servant Isai the Bethlehemite.

And when he had made an end of speaking unto Saul, the XVIII soul of Jonathas was knit with the soul of David. Insomuch that he loved him as his own soul. And Saul took him that day 2 and would let him go no more home to his father's house. And 3 Jonathas and David bound themselves the one to the other, for 4 Jonathas loved him as his own soul. And Jonathas put off his own coat that was upon him, and gave it David, and thereto 5 his mantle, his sword, his bow and his girdle. And David went out to all that Saul sent him, and behaved himself wisely.

And when Saul had set him over his men of war, he pleased 6 all the people, and Saul's servants thereto. And it happened as they went, when David was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, that women came out of all cities of Israel singing and dancing, against Saul, with timbrels, with joy, and 7 with fiddles. And the women that played sang thereto, and said: Saul hath slain his thousand, and David his ten thou-8 sand. Then was Saul exceeding wroth and that saying displeased him, and he said: they have ascribed unto David ten thousand, and to me but a thousand. And what can he more 9 have save the kingdom? Wherefore Saul looked on side of 10 David from that day forward. And it happened on the morrow, that the evil spirit sent of God came upon Saul, so that he prophesied in the midst of the house. And David played 11 on the instrument with his hand as he was daily wont. And Saul had a spear in his hand, and hurled it intending to to have nailed David to the wall. But David avoided out of his 12 presence two times. For Saul was afraid of David, because 13 the LORD was with him, and was departed from Saul. And then Saul put David from him and made him a captain over 14 a thousand, and he went out and in before the people. And David was wise in all that he took in hand, and the LORD was 15 with him. Wherefore when Saul saw that he was so exceed-16 ing wise, he was afraid of him. But all Israel and Juda loved 17 David, because he went out and in before them. Then said Saul to David. Behold my eldest daughter Merob, her I will give thee to wife: Only play the man and fight the LORD's battles. For Saul thought mine hand shall not be upon him, but 18 the hand of the Philistines. And David answered Saul: what am I? and what is my life or the kindred of my father in Israel, 19 that I should be son-in-law to the king: How be it when the time was come that Merob Saul's daughter should have been given to David she was given unto Adziel a Neholothite, to wife.
20 How be it Michol Saul's daughter loved David. And when it 21 was shewed Saul: the thing pleased him well. And he said:

I will give him her that she may be a snare to him, to bring the hand of the Philistines upon him. And Saul said to David: thou shalt this day be my son-in-law again. And Saul commanded his servants to commune with David secretly and say: Behold the king hath a favour to thee, and all his servants love thee, be therefore the king's son-in-law. And Saul's servants spake those words in the ears of David. But David answered: seemeth it to you a light thing to be the king's son-in-law, when I am a poor man and of small reputation? And Saul's servants told him again saying: of this manner answered David. Then said Saul: this wise say to David: the king careth for no other dowry but for an hundredth foreskins of the Philistines, to be avenged of the king's enemies. For Saul thought to make David fall into the hands of the Philistines. Then his servants told David these words, and it pleased David well to be the king's son-in-law. And shortly after that David arose with his men, and went, and slew of the Philistines, two hundredth men, and brought their foreskins, and satisfied the king thereof to be his son-in-law. And so Saul gave him Michol his daughter to wife. And when Saul saw and understood, how that the LORD was with David, and that Michol his daughter loved him, he was the more afraid of David, and became David's enemy for ever. And when the Philistines went out to war, David behaved himself wiselier than all the servants of Saul: so that his name was much set by.

Then Saul communed with Jonathas his son, and with all his servants, that they should kill David. But Jonathas Saul's son had a great favour to David, and told David saying: Saul my father goeth about to slay thee. Now therefore take heed to thyself betimes and abide in some secret place and hide thyself. And I will go out and stand by my father in the field where thou art, and will commune with my father of thee, and if I can perceive ought I will tell thee. And Jonathas spake the best of David unto Saul his father and said unto him: let not the king sin against his servant David, for he hath not sinned against thee, and his works are to thee ward very good. For he did put his life in his hand and slew the Philistine, and the LORD gave a great victory to all Israel. And thou sawest it, and thou rejoicedest, wherefore then shouldst thou sin against innocent blood, and slay David for nought? And

Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathas and sware: as truly 7 as the LORD liveth, he shall not die. Then Jonathas called David and shewed him all those words, and brought him to 8 Saul. And he was in his presence as in times past. And the war began again, and David went out and fought with the Philistines and slew a great slaughter, and put them to flight.
9 And the evil spirit of the LORD was upon Saul as he sat in his house having a Javelin in his hand, and David played with 10 his hand. And Saul intended to nail David to the wall with the Javelin: But David rid himself out of Saul's presence and he smote the spear into the wall. But David fled and saved 11 himself that same night. Then Saul sent messengers unto David's house, to watch him and to slay him in the morning.
But Michol his wife told it him saying: If thou save not thy-12 self this night, tomorrow thou art a dead man. And so Michol let David down thorow a window, and he went and fled and 13 saved himself. And then she took an Image and laid it in the bed, and put a pillow stuffed with goat's hair under the head 14 of it, and covered it with a cloth. And when Saul sent messengers to fetch David, she said that he was sick. Then Saul 15 sent the messengers to see David saying: bring him to me, bed and all, that he may be slain. And when the messengers were 16 come in: Behold there lay an Image in the bed, with a pillow of goat's hair under the head of it. Then said Saul to Michol: 17 why hast thou mocked me so, and sent away mine enemy, that he is escaped? And Michol answered Saul: he said unto me, 18 let me go, or else I will kill thee. And so David fled and escaped and went to Samuel to Ramath and told him all that Saul had done to him. And he, and Samuel went and dwelt 19 in Naioth. And it was told Saul saying: Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramath, then Saul sent messengers to fetch David.
20 And when they saw a company of prophets prophesying and Samuel standing fast by them, the spirit of God fell upon the 21 messengers of Saul, and they prophesied too. And when it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they prophesied likewise. And Saul sent messengers yet again the third time 22 which prophesied also. Then went he himself to Ramath, and when he came to a great well that is in Socoh, he asked and said: where are Samuel and David? And they said: see they be 23 at Naioth in Ramath and as he went thither to Naioth in Ra-math the spirit of God came upon him also and he went prophesying, until he came to Naioth in Ramath. And he stript 24 off his clothes and prophesied before Samuel in like manner, and fell naked all that day and all that night, wherefore it is a common saying, is Saul also among the prophets?

And David fled from Naioth in Ramath and went and said XX before Jonathas: What have I done? wherein am I faulty? what is the sin that I have committed before thy father that he seeketh my life? And Jonathas answered him: God forbid, 2 thou shalt not die. For see my father will do nothing either great or small, but that he will shew it me. For why should my father hide this thing from me? there shall be no such thing. And David sware again and said: thy father knoweth 3 that I have found grace in thine eyes and therefore he thinketh, Jonathas shall not know it, lest he be sorry. For in very deed even as truly as the LORD liveth, and as truly as thy soul liveth, there is but a step between me and death. Then said 4 Jonathas unto David, whatsoever thy soul desireth that I will do unto thee. And David said unto Jonathas: Behold, tomor- 5 row is the first day of the month, and I should sit with the king at meat. But let me go that I may hide myself in the fields unto this day three days at evening. If thy father miss me, 6 then say: David asked leave of me, that he might go to Bethlehem to his own city, for there is holden a yearly feast for all his kin. And if thy father say thus: it is well done, then thy 7 servant shall have peace. But and if he be angry: then be sure that wickedness is utterly concluded of him. And then thou 8 shalt shew mercy unto thy servant, for thou hast made with me thy servant a bond in the LORD. Notwithstanding if there be in me any trespass, then slay me thyself, for what needeth thee to bring me to thy father? And Jonathas answered: God 9 keep that from thee, that I should know, that wickedness were concluded of my father, to come upon thee: and should not tell it thee. Then said David, who shall tell me, if thy father an- 10 swer cruelly? Then said Jonathas to David, come and let us 11 go out into the fields. And they went out both of them into the fields. And Jonathas said unto David: O LORD God of Israel, 12 when I have groped my father's mind, one time or other within this three days, that it stand well with David: and I then send not unto thee and shew it thee, the LORD do so and so unto 13 Jonathas. And in like manner, if evil to thee ward please my father, I will shew thee and send thee away, that thou mayst go in peace. And the LORD be with thee as he hath been with 14 my father. And thou shalt perform unto me the mercy of the LORD, not only while I live but even when I am dead pluck 15 not thy mercy away from my house forever: No not when the LORD hath destroyed the enemies of David every one from 16 the face of the earth. And so Jonathas made a bond with the house of David, desiring that the LORD should seek out of the 17 hands of David's enemies their wickedness. And with other words Jonathas adjured David, because he loved him. For as 18 his own soul he loved him. Then said Jonathas to David: tomorrow shall be the first day of the moon. And thou shalt be 19 missed, because the place shall appear empty. But this day three days come in any wise unto the place where thou shalt 20 hide thy self, when it is workday: even by the stone Esell. And I will shoot three arrows by the one side thereof, as though I shot at a mark, and will send after a lad, and bid him go seek 21 the arrows. If I say unto the lad: see the arrows are on this side thee, bring them: then come thou: for it is peace and noth-22 ing to do, as sure as the LORD liveth. But and if I say thus unto the young fellow, behold, the Arrows are beyond thee, 23 then go, for the LORD hath sent thee away. And of this which thou and I have spoke: behold the LORD is witness between 24 thee and me for ever. And so David hid himself in the field.

And when the new moon was come, the king sat him down at 25 meat, for to eat. And the king sat him down after the old manner, in his seat by the wall. And Jonathas arose, and Abner sat 26 by Saul's side, and David's place was empty. Nevertheless yet Saul said nothing at all that day. For he thought something 27 had chanced him that he is not clean. But on the morrow which was the second day of the moon, when David's place appeared empty, Saul said unto Jonathas his son: wherefore cometh not the son of Isai to meat, neither yesterday nor to-28 day? And Jonathas answered unto Saul, David asked licence of me to go to Bethlehem saying: let me go I pray thee, for our 29 kindred hold an offering in the city, and my brother hath sent for me. Now therefore if I have found favour in thine eyes let me go and see my brother. And therefore he cometh not unto 30 the table of the king. Then was Saul angry with Jonathas and said unto him: O froward and rebellious, thinkest thou I know not how thou hast chosen the son of Isai unto thine own rebuke, and unto the rebuke and shame of thy mother. For as long as the son of Isai lieth upon the earth, thou shalt not be stablished, nor yet thy kingdom, wherefore now send and fetch him unto me, for he is the child of death. But Jonathas answered Saul his father and said to him: wherefore should he die? what hath he done? Then Saul cast a spear at him to hit him, whereby Jonathas wist well, that it was utterly determined of his father, to slay David. And so Jonathas arose from the table in a great anger and did eat no meat the second day of the month, for he was sorry for David, because his father had done him shame. On the next morning Jonathas went out unto the field, at the time appointed with David, and a little lad with him. And he said unto the boy: run and find out mine arrows which I shoot. And as the boy ran, he shot an arrow beyond him. And when the lad was come to the place whither Jonathas had shot the arrow, Jonathas cried after him and said: the arrow is beyond thee. And he cried after the lad: haste, make speed and stand not still. And Jonathas' lad gathered up the arrow and came to his master. But the lad wist* nothing of the matter: Onely Jonathas and David wist it. Then Jonathas gave his weapons unto the lad and said unto him: go and carry them to the town. And as soon as the lad was gone, David arose out of a place that was toward the south and fell on his face to the ground and bowed himself three times. And they kissed either other and wept together, but David more abundantly. And Jonathas said to David: go in peace which we have sworn both of us in the name of the LORD saying: the LORD be between thee and me, and between thy seed and mine for ever. And he rose and departed. And Jonathas went in to the town.

Then came David to Nob to Ahimelech the priest. And Ahimelech was astonied at his coming and said unto him: Why cometh thou thyself alone, and no man with thee? And David said to Ahimelech the priest: the king hath commanded me to do a certain thing and said unto me, let no man know whereabout I send and what I have commanded thee to do. And therefore I have appointed my servants to such and such places. XXI

3 And now what hast thou under thine hand? give me five loaves 4 of bread or what cometh to hand. And the priest answered David and said: there is no common bread under mine hand, but there is hallowed bread, if the young men had abstained 5 onely from women. And David answered the priest and said unto him: of a truth women hath been locked up from us about a three days, when I came out: and the vessels of the young men were holy. How be it this way is unpure, but it shall 6 be hallowed in the vessel. And so the priest gave him hallowed bread, for there was none other bread there save shewbreads that were taken from before the LORD, to put fresh 7 bread there, the day that it was taken away. And there was there the same day a certain man of the servants of Saul abiding before the LORD named Doeg an Edomite, the chiefest 8 of Saul's herdmen. And David said unto Ahimelech: is not here under thine hand other spear or sword? for I have neither brought my sword nor mine harness with me, because the 9 king's business required haste. Then the priest answered: the sword of Goliath the Philistine whom thou slewest in Oakdale, that is here wrapt in a cloth behind the Ephod. If thou wilt take that, take it: for there is no other save that here. And 10 David said: there is none to that, give it me. And David arose and fled the same day from the presence of Saul, and went to 11 Achis the king of Geth. And the servants of Achis said of him: is not this David the king of the land? did they not sing unto this fellow in dances saying: Saul hath slain his thousand, and 12 David his ten thousand? And David put those words into his 13 heart and was sore afraid of Achis the king of Geth. And he changed his countenance before them, and raved in their hands, and scrabbled on the doors of the gate, and let his spit-14 tle fall down upon his beard. Then said Achis unto his servant. Lo ye saw that this man was beside himself, wherefore 15 then have ye brought him to me? lack I madmen, that ye have brought this fellow to play the madman in my presence? he shall not come into my house.

XXII And David departed thence and escaped, and came unto the cave Odollam. When his brethren and all his father's house 2 heard it, they went thither to him. And there gathered unto him all men that were in cumbrance and in debt and troubled in their hearts, and he became a captain over them. And there were with him upon a four hundredth men. And David 3 went thence to Mazpah in the land of Moab, and said unto the king of Moab: Let my father and mother I pray thee, have their abiding with you, till I know what God will do with me.

And he left them with the king of Moab, and they dwelt with 4 him all the while that David kept himself in holds. And the 5 prophet Gad said unto David: Abide not in castles, but depart and go to the land of Juda. Then David departed and came into the forest Hareth. And Saul heard of it: for David was 6 known and also the men that were with him. And as Saul sat in Gabaah under a grove upon a high bank with his spear in his hand and all his men about him, he said unto his servants 7 that stood about him: Hear I pray you, you sons of Jemini: will the son of Isai also give every one of you fields and vineyards, and make you all captains over thousands and over hundreds? that ye have all conspired against me, so that there is none of 8 you that openeth mine ear, insomuch that my son hath made a bond with the son of Isai, neither is there any of you that mourneth for me or sheweth it in mine ear: because my son hath set up my servant to lie await against me, as it appeareth this day. Then answered Doeg the Edomite, which had the 9 oversight of the servants of Saul and said: I saw the son of Isai, when he came to Nob, to Ahimelech the son of Ahitob, which asked counsel of the LORD for him, and gave him vi- 10 tailles, and the sword of Goliath the Philistine also. Then the king sent to call Ahimelech the priest the son of Ahitob, and all his father's house: that is to say, the priests that were in Nob. And they came all to the king. And Saul said: hear thou 12 son of Ahitob. And he said: here I am my lord. Then said 13 Saul to him: why have ye conspired against me, thou and the son of Isai, insomuch that thou hast given him vitaille and a sword, and hast asked counsel of God for him, that he should arise against me and lie await as it is come to pass this day?
And Ahimelech answered the king and said: who is so faithful 14 among all thy servants as David and thereto the king's son-in-law, and goeth at thy bidding, and is had in honour in thine house? have I this day begun first to ask counsel of God for 15 him? God forbid that from me: let not the king put such a thing unto his servant and on all the house of my father. For thy servant knoweth nothing of all this, either less or more.

16 But for all that the king said: thou shalt surely die Ahimelech, 17 both thou and all thy father's house. Then said the king unto his footmen that stood about him: turn and slay the priests of the LORD, both because their hand is with David and because they knew when David fled and shewed it not to me. But the servants of the king would not move their hands, to run upon 18 the priests of the LORD. Then said the king to Doeg: turn thou and smite the priests. And Doeg the Edomite turned and ran upon the priests and slew that same day four score and 19 five persons that did wear each man a linen Ephod. And Nob the city of the priests he smote with the edge of the sword, both man and woman, child and suckling, with ox, ass and sheep.
20 But yet one of the sons of Ahimelech the son of Ahitob, named 21 Abiathar, escaped and fled to David, and shewed David, how 22 that Saul had slain the LORD's priests. And David said unto Abiathar: I wist it the same day, that Doeg the Edomite which was there would tell it Saul. And I am cause of the death of all 23 the Souls of thy father's house. Abide with me and fear not: he that seeketh thy soul, shall seek mine, and with me thou shalt be in safeguard.

Then men told David saying: Behold, the Philistines fight 2 against Keilah, and spoil the barns. Then David asked the LORD's advice saying: shall I go and smite the Philistines?
And the LORD said unto David: go and smite the Philistines 3 and save Keilah. Then said David's men unto him: see we be afraid here in Juda. What shall we then be, when we come 4 to Keilah, to the host of the Philistines? Then David asked the LORD again. And the LORD answered him and said: up and go to Keilah, for I will deliver the Philistines into thine 5 hands. And so David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines, and drave away their cattle and slew a great slaughter of them. And so David saved the inhabitants of 6 Keilah. And it chanced when Abiathar the son of Ahimelech fled to David to Keilah that he brought an Ephod in his hand.
7 And it was told Saul, that David was come to Keilah. Then said Saul: God hath delivered him into mine hand. For he is shut 8 in, that he is come into a town with gates and bars. And Saul called all the people to war, for to go to Keilah to besiege David 9 and his men. But David had knowledge that Saul imagined mischief against him, and said therefore to Abiathar the priest:

Bring the Ephod. Then said David, O LORD God of Israel, thy servant heareth that Saul is about to come to Keilah to destroy the city for my sake: will the men of Keilah deliver me into his hand? or will Saul come as thy servant heareth say? LORD God of Israel tell thy servant. And the LORD said: he will come. Then said David: will the men of Keilah deliver me and my men into the hand of Saul? and the LORD said they will deliver you. Then David and his men which were upon a six hundredth, arose and departed out of Keilah and went whither chance drave them. And when it was told Saul, that David was fled from Keilah, he let the journey alone. And David abode in the wilderness in strong holds, and in a mountain in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul sought him all his life, but God delivered him not into his hand. And David saw that Saul was come out, to seek his life, while David was in the wilderness of Ziph in a thicket. And Jonathas Saul's son arose and went to David to the thicket, and strengthened him in God, and said unto him: fear not, for the hand of Saul my father shall not find thee, and thou shalt be king over Israel, and I must be next unto thee: And Saul my father thereto knoweth that it shall be so. And they made a bond both of them together before the LORD. And David tarried still in the thicket, and Jonathas went to his house. Then came the Ziphites to Saul, to Gabaah saying: David hideth himself fast by us in strong holds that are in a thicket in the hill of Hachilah on the right side of the wilderness. Now therefore sir king, come down with all the lust that thy soul hath to come. And our part shall be to deliver him into the hands of the king. Then said Saul: Blessed are ye in the LORD: for ye have compassion on me. Go I pray you and mark more diligently, and know and see his haunt, where his foot hath been, and who hath seen him there: for it is told me that he is very subtle. See therefore and know all the lurking places where he lurketh, and come again to me with the certainty, and I will go with you. And then if he be in the land, I will hunt him out with all the thousands of Juda. And they arose and went to Ziph before Saul. But David and his men were in the wilderness of Maon, in the wild field, on the right hand of the wilderness. For when Saul was gone with his men to seek, it was told David. And therefore he went unto a Rock and dwelt in the wilderness of Maon. And when

Saul heard that, he followed after David into the wilderness 26 of Maon. And Saul and his men went on the one side of the mountain, and David and his men on the other. And David as a man amazed, made haste to get from Saul. For Saul and his men had compassed David and his men round about, to take 27 them. But there came a messenger to Saul saying: Haste thee and come, for the Philistines are come in and rove the 28 land. Wherefore Saul returned from persecuting David, and went against the Philistines. And therefore the place is called 29 Selah Mahelecoth. And then David went thence and dwelt in holds at Engadi.

When Saul was come again from the Philistines, there were that told him saying: behold, David is in the wilderness of En-2 gadi. Then Saul took three thousand men out of all Israel, and went to seek David and his men in the Rocks, where no 3 thing haunted but wild goats. And he came to the flocks of the sheep by a way's side where was a cave. And Saul went in to cover his feet. And David and his men sat a long by the 4 sides of the cave. And the men of David said unto him: see the day is come, of which the LORD said unto thee: Behold, I will deliver thine enemy into thine hand, and thou shalt do with him what it pleaseth thee. Then David arose and cut off a lap 5 of Saul's coat privily. And immediately David's heart smote 6 him, because he had cut off a lap of Saul's coat. And he said unto his men: the LORD keep me from doing that thing unto my master that is the LORD's anointed, to lay mine hand upon 7 him, seeing he is the LORD's anointed. And so David kept off his servants with words, and suffered them not to go upon 8 Saul. And when Saul was up out of the cave and gone away, David arose and went out of the cave and cried after Saul saying: My lord king. And Saul looked behind him. And David 9 stooped to the earth and bowed himself, and said to Saul: wherefore giveth thou an ear to men's words, that say, David 10 seeketh thee evil? Behold this day thine eyes have seen, how that the LORD had delivered thee this day, into mine hand in the cave. When they bade kill thee, mine eye had compassion on thee: and I said: I will not lay my hands on my master, for 11 he is the LORD's anointed. And moreover my father, see yet the lap of thy coat in my hand. And in as much as I killed thee not to, when I cut off the lap of thy coat, understand and see, that there is neither evil nor rebelliousness in me, and that I have not sinned against thee. And yet thou huntest after my soul to take it. The LORD be judge between thee and me, and the LORD avenge me of thee. But mine hand be not upon thee. According to the old proverb, wickedness shall proceed out of the wicked: But mine hand be not upon thee. After whom art thou come out, thou king of Israel? After whom chasest thou, even after a dead dog, and after a flea. The LORD be judge and judge between thee and me, and see and pleate my cause, and judge me free out of thine hand. When David had made an end of speaking all these words to Saul, Saul said: is this thy voice my son David? and he lifted up his voice and wept, and said to David: thou art righteouser than I, for thou hast rewarded me with good, and I have rewarded thee with evil. And thou hast shewed this day how that thou hast dealt lovingly with me, for as much as when the LORD had locked me in thine hands, thou slewest me not. For who shall find his enemy, and let him depart a good way. Wherefore the LORD reward thee with good, for that thou hast done unto me this day. And now I wot well that thou shalt be king, and that the kingdom of Israel shall be stablished in thine hand. Swear therefore unto me by the LORD, that thou shalt not destroy my seed after me, and that thou shalt not destroy my name out of my father's house. And David sware unto Saul, and Saul went home. But David and his men gat up unto an hold.

And then Samuel died, and all Israel gathered together and lamented him, and buried him in his own house at Ramath. And David arose and gat him to the wilderness of Pharan. And there was a man in Maon whose cattle was in Carmel, and the man was exceeding mighty, and had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. And he was shearing his sheep in Carmel. The name of the man was Nabal, and the name of his wife was Abigail, and was a woman of good wisdom and beautiful. But the man was churlish and of shrewd conditions and was a Calebite. And when David heard in the wilderness, that Nabal share his sheep, he sent out ten of his young men, and said unto them: get you up to Carmel and go to Nabal and greet him in my name. And thus wise say unto my friend: peace be to thee, peace be to thine house and peace be unto all that thou hast. I have heard say that thou hast shearers. Now the shepherds were with us, and we did them no spite, neither was there ought missing unto them, all the while they were in Carmel: ask thy lads, and they will shew thee. Wherefore let these young men find favour in thine eyes (for we come in a good season) and give I pray thee whatsoever cometh to thine hand unto thy servants and to thine son David.

9 And David's young men came and told Nabal all those words in the name of David and then stopped. And Nabal answered David's servants and said: What is David? and what is the son of Isai? there is plenty of servants now a days, that break away every man from his master. I should take my bread, my water and my flesh that I have killed for my shearers, and give it men which I wot not whence they be? And David's servants turned their way and went again, and came and told him according to all those sayings. Then David said unto his men: gird every man his sword about him. And they girded every man his sword on, and David thereto girded on his sword. And there followed David upon a four hundredth men, and two hundredth abode by the stuff. But one of the lads told Abigail Nabal's wife saying: see David sent messengers unto our master out of the wilderness to salute him, and he railed on them.

15 And yet the men were very good unto us and did us no displeasure, neither missed we anything, as long as were conversant with them, when we were in the fields. But they were a wall of defence unto us both by night and also by day, all the while we were with them keeping sheep. Now take heed and see what thou hast to do, for it is concluded to do mischief unto our master and to all his household. And he is ungracious to speak to. Then Abigail made haste and took two hundredth loaves and two bottles of wine and five sheep ready dressed and five measures of parched corn, and an hundredth bundles of raisins and two hundredth frails of figs, and laded them on asses, and said unto her young men: go before me, and see I come after you, and told her husband Nabal nothing thereof.

20 And as she rode on her ass and was coming down in a slade of the hill, David and his men came down against her, and she met them. And David said: in vain have I kept all that this fellow had in the wilderness: so that nought was missed that pertained unto him, for he hath quite me with evil for good.

22 So and so do God unto the enemies of David, as I will not leave of all that pertain to him, by the dawning of the day, ought that pisseth against the wall. When Abigail saw David, she 23 hasted and lighted off her ass and fell before David on her face, and bowed herself to the ground, and fell at his feet and said: 24 Let this unhappy deed be counted mine, my lord, and let thine handmaid speak in thine audience, and hear the words of thy handmaid. Let not my lord regard this unthrifty man Na- 25 bal, for as his name is, so is he. Nabal is his name and folly is with him. But I thine handmaid saw not the young men of my lord which thou sendest. And now my lord as sure as the 26 LORD liveth and as thy soul liveth, the LORD hath withholden thee from coming to shed blood and from avenging thyself with thine own hand. Furthermore I pray God that thine enemies and they that intend to do my lord evil, may be as Nabal. And 27 now this blessing which thine handmaid hath brought,* let it be given unto the young men that follow my lord. Forgive 28 the trespass of thine handmaid that the LORD may make my lord a sure house, because my lord fighteth the battles of the LORD, and there could none evil be found in thee in all thy 29 life. And if any man rise to persecute thee and to seek thy soul, the soul of my lord be bound in a bundle of life with the LORD thy God. And the souls of thy enemies be slung in the 30 middle of a sling. And moreover when the LORD shall have done to my lord all the good that he hath promised thee, and shall have made thee ruler over Israel: then shall it be no 31 grudge of conscience unto thee or discourage of heart unto my lord, that thou sheddest blood causeless and didst avenge thyself. And moreover when the LORD shall have dealt well with my lord, then think on thine handmaid. Then said David to 32 Abigail: blessed be the LORD God of Israel which sent thee this day to meet me. And blessed be thy behaviour, and blessed be 33 thou which hath kept me this day from coming to shed blood and from avenging myself with mine own hand. For in very 34 deed as sure as the LORD God of Israel liveth which hath kept me back from hurting thee, except thou hadst hastened and met me, there had not been left Nabal by the dawning of the day, a pissier against the wall. And so David received of her hand 35 that she brought him, and said to her: go in peace to thine house. And see I have obeyed thy voice and have received thee

25. v.27 Other: unto my lord,.

36 to grace. And when Abigail came to Nabal: behold, he held a feast in his house like the feast of a king, and Nabal's heart was merry within him, and he was drunk a good. Wherefore she told him nought neither little nor more, until the morrow 37 day. But in the morning, when the wine was gone out of Nabal, his wife told him these words, and his heart died within 38 him, and he became as a stone, and upon a ten days after 39 the LORD smote Nabal, that he died. And when David heard that Nabal was dead, he said: Blessed be the LORD that hath judged the cause of my rebuke of the hand of Nabal, and hath kept his servant from evil, and hath turned the wickedness of 40 Nabal again upon his own head. And David sent to commune with Abigail, to the intent to take her to his wife. And when the servants of David were come to Abigail to Carmel, they spake unto her saying: David sent us unto thee, to take thee to 41 his wife. And she arose and bowed herself on her face to the earth, and said: Behold thy handmaid, to be a servant to wash 42 the feet of the servants of my lord. And Abigail hastened and arose and gat her up upon an Ass, with five damsels of hers that went at her feet, and went after the messengers of David 43 and was his wife. David also took Ahinoam of Jezrahel, and 44 they were both his wives. But Saul gave Michol his daughter David's wife to Phalti the son of Lais of Gallin.

XXVI After that came the Ziphites unto Saul to Gabaah saying: David hideth himself in the hill of Hachilah even before the 2 wilderness. Then Saul arose and went to the wilderness of Ziph and three thousand chosen men of Israel with him, for 3 to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul pitched in the hill of Hachilah which lieth before the wilderness, by the way's side. But David dwelt in the wilderness. And when he 4 saw that Saul came after him into the wilderness, he sent out 5 spies and understood that Saul was come of surety. Wherefore David arose and went to the place where Saul had pitched, and beheld the place where Saul lay with Abner the son of Ner his chief captain. For Saul lay within a round bank and the people 6 pitched round about him. Then answered David and spake to Ahimelech the Hethite and to Abisai the son of Zaruiah and brother to Joab saying: who will go down with me to Saul to the 7 host? Abisai said: I will go down with thee. And so David and Abisai came to the people by night. And behold, Saul lay sleeping within a round bank and his spear pitched in the ground at his head, Abner and the people lying round about him. The 8 said Abisai to David: God hath closed in thine enemy unto thine hand this day. Now therefore let me smite him a fellowship with my spear to the earth, even one stroke, and I will not smite him the second time. But David said to Abisai: de- 9 stroy him not, for who can lay his hand on the LORD's anointed and be guiltless? And David said furthermore: as sure as the 10 LORD liveth, the LORD shall smite him, or his day shall come to die, or he shall descend into battle and there perish: but 11 the LORD keep me from laying mine hand upon the LORD's anointed. Now then take a fellowship the spear that is at his head, and the cruse of water, and let us go. And David took 12 the spear and the cruse of water that were at Saul's head, and they gat them away, and no man saw or wist it or awoke. For they were all asleep. Because the LORD had sent a slumber upon them. Then David went over to the other side and stood 13 on the top of an hill afar off (a great space being between them) and cried to the people and to Abner the son of Ner saying: An- 14 swerest thou not Abner? and Abner answered and said: What art thou that criest to the king? and David said to Abner: art 15 not thou a man, and who is like thee in Israel? But wherefore hast thou not kept thy lord the king? For there came one of the folk to destroy the king thy lord. It is not good that thou 16 hast done. As truly as the LORD liveth ye are worthy to die, because ye have no better kept the LORD's anointed. And now see where the king's spear is and the cruse of water that were at his head. Then Saul knew David's voice and said: is this 17 thy voice my son David? and David said: it is my voice my lord king. And he said thereto wherefore doth my lord persecute 18 his servant? for what have I done? or what evil is in mine hand? Now hear therefore (my lord king) the words of thy 19 servant. If the LORD have stirred thee up against me, he shall smell the savour of sacrifice. But and if they be the children of men, cursed be they before the LORD. For they have cast me out from abiding in the inheritance of the LORD, saying: hence and go serve other gods. And yet I hope my blood shall not 20 fall to the earth before the face of the LORD, though the king of Israel be come out to hunt a flea, as men hunt the partridges in the mountains. Then said Saul: I have sinned, come again my 21 son David for I will do thee no more harm, because my soul was precious in thine eyes this day. Behold, I have played the fool and have erred exceeding much. And David answered and said: Behold the king's spear, let one of the young men come over and fetch it. The LORD reward every man's righteousness and faith: for the LORD delivered thee into my hand this day, but I would not lay my hand upon the LORD's anointed. And as thy life was much set by this time in mine eyes: so be my life set by in the eyes of the LORD, that he deliver me out of all tribulation. And Saul said to David: Blessed art thou my son David: for thou shalt be a doer and also able to bring to an end. And so David went his way, and Saul turned to his place again.

XXVII Then thought David in his heart: I may perish one day or other by the hands of Israel. There is no better for me, than to flee into the land of the Philistines, that Saul of very despair to find me, may cease to seek me any more in all the coasts of Israel: for so I may escape his hand. And David arose and he and the six hundredth men that were with him went unto Achis, the son of Maach, king of Geth. And David dwelt with Achis at Geth, both he and his men, every man with his household, and David with his two wives: Ahinoam the Jezrahelite and Abigail Nabal's wife of Carmel. And when it was told Saul that David was fled to Geth, he sought no more for him. And David said unto Achis: If I have found grace in thine eyes, let me have a place in some town in the fields, that I may dwell there. For what should thy servant dwell in the head city of the kingdom with thee. Then Achis gave him Zikeleg the same day for which cause Zikeleg pertaineth unto the kings of Juda unto this day. And the time that David dwelt in the country of the Philistines, was a year and four months. And David and his men went and ran upon the Gesurites, the Gersites and the Amalekites: which nations were from the beginning the inhabitants of the land, as men go to Sur, and so forth to Egypt. And David smote the land and left neither man nor woman alive, and took the sheep, the oxen, the asses, camels, and clothes, and removed and came to Achis. And Achis said: have ye not been a roving this day? And David answered: yes in the south of Juda, and in the south of the Jezrahelites, and in the south of the Kenites. And David saved neither man nor woman alive to bring to Geth, for fear lest they should tell on them saying: so did David and so is his manner all the while he dwelt in the country of the Philistines. And Achis believed David saying: he hath made him self to stink unto his people Israel, and thereto he shall be my servant for ever. 12

And it chanced in those days, that the Philistines gathered their host together to war, intending to fight with Israel. And Achis said to David: Be sure, thou shalt go out with me in the host, and thy men also. And David said again to Achis: then thou shalt know, what thy servant can do. And Achis said to David: then I will make thee keeper of my head for ever. Samuel was then dead, and all Israel had lamented him and buried him in Ramath his own city. And Saul had put the women that had spirits of prophecy and the Sorcerers out of the land. And the Philistines gathered together and came and pitched in Sunam. And Saul and all Israel gathered together and pitched in Gelboe. And when Saul saw the host of the Philistines, he was afraid, and his heart was sore astonished. And Saul asked counsel of the LORD: But the LORD answered him not, neither by dream nor by Urim, nor yet by prophets. Then said Saul unto his servants: seek me a woman that is mistress of a spirit of prophecy that I may go to her and ask of her. And his servants said to him: see, there is a wife that hath a spirit of Prophecy in her possession at Endor. And Saul changed his clothes and put on other raiment, and then went he and two men with him, and they came to the wife by night. And he said: prophesy unto me by the spirit, and bring me him up whom I shall name unto thee. And the wife said unto him: Behold, thou knowest what Saul hath done, how he hath destroyed the women that had prophesying spirits, and the Sorcerers out of the land. Wherefore then layest thou a net for my soul to kill me? And Saul swore to her by the LORD saying: As surely as the LORD liveth, there shall no harm chance thee for this thing. Then said the wife: whom shall I fetch up unto thee? and he said: Bring me up Samuel. When the woman saw Samuel she cried with a loud voice and spake to Saul saying: why hast thou mocked me? for thou art Saul. And the king said unto her, be not afraid. But what seest thou. And the wife said unto Saul: I see a God ascending up out of the earth. And he said: what fashion is he of? 14

And the woman said: there cometh up an old man with a mantle upon him. And Saul perceived that it was Samuel, and 15 stooped with his face to the ground and bowed himself. And Samuel said to Saul: why hast thou unquieted me, to make me be brought up? And Saul answered: I am sore encumbered. For the Philistines make war against me, and God is departed from me and answered me no more, neither by prophets, neither by dreams. And therefore have I called thee, to tell me 16 what I shall do. Then said Samuel: wherefore dost thou ask of me? while the LORD is gone from thee and is thine enemy, the LORD will do to thee as he said by my hand. For the LORD 17 will rent the kingdom out of thine hand, and give it thy neighbour David, because thou obeyedst not the voice of the LORD, nor executedst his fierce wrath upon the Amalekites. There-18 fore hath the LORD done this unto thee this day. And moreover the LORD will deliver Israel with thee, into the hands of the Philistines. And tomorrow shalt thou and thy sons be with me, and the LORD shall give the host of Israel into the hands 20 of the Philistines. Then Saul fell straightway flat on the earth as long as he was, and was sore a dread of the words of Samuel. And thereto there was no strength in him, for he had not eaten 21 all the day and the night before. And the woman came unto Saul and saw that he was sore troubled, and said unto him: See, thine handmaid hath obeyed thy voice and have put my soul in thy hand, and have hearkened unto thy words which 22 thou saidst unto me. Now therefore hearken thou also unto the voice of thine handmaid, and let me set a morsel of bread before thee, and eat, and get the strength to go thy journey.
23 But he refused it and said: I will not eat. But his servants and the wife together compelled him, that he heard their voice. And 24 so he arose from the earth and sat him on a bed. The woman had a fat calf in the house, and that she hastened and killed it, and took flour and kneaded it and did bake him sweet cakes, 25 and brought them before Saul and before his servants. And when they had eaten, they stood up, and went away the same night.

XXIX The Philistines gathered all their hosts together unto Aphec: 2 And Israel pitched by a fountain in Jezrahel. And the lords of the Philistines went forth by hundreds and by thousands. But 3 David and his men came behind with Achis. Then said the lords of the Philistines: what are yonder Hebrews? And Achis said unto the lords of the Philistines: Is not this David the servant of Saul the king of Israel, which hath been with me days or years, and I have found no fault in him since he fled unto me unto this day. Nevertheless the lords of the Philistines were 4 wroth with him and said unto him: Make this fellow return, and let him go again to his place which thou hast appointed him. For he shall not go with us to to battle, lest he be an adversary to us in the battle. For wherewith could he better obtain the favour of his master, than upon the heads of our men. Is not this David to whom they sang in dances: Saul 5 slew his thousand, but David his ten thousand? Then Achis 6 called David and said unto him: As sure as the LORD liveth thou art honest, and it pleaseth me well that thou shouldest accompany me in the host, for I have found none evil with thee since thou camest to me unto this day: Nevertheless the lords of the Philistines favour thee not: wherefore return and go in 7 peace, that thou displease not the lords of the Philistines. And 8 David said again to Achis: Why what have I done? and what hast thou found in thy servant as long as I have been with thee unto this day? that I may not go fight against the enemies of my lord the king? Achis answered and said to David: I wot 9 well thou pleasest me, as it were an Angel of God. Notwithstanding the lords of the Philistines have said, that thou shalt not go with them to battle. Wherefore rise up early in the 10 morning with thy master's servants that are come with thee. And when ye be up early as soon as ye have light, depart. And 11 so David and his men rose early to depart in the morning, and to return into the land of the Philistines. And the Philistines went up to Jezrahel.

But yer David and his men were come to Zikeleg the third XXX day, the Amalekites had run in a running upon the south and upon Zikeleg, and had smitten Zikeleg and burnt it with fire, and had taken the women that were therein prisoners, both 2 small and great: but slew not a man, save carried them with them and went their ways. When David and his men came 3 to the city: behold, it was burnt with fire, and their wives, their sons and their daughters were taken prisoners. Then 4 David and the people that was with him lifted up their voices and wept, until they could weep no more. And David's two 5 wives were taken prisoners also: Ahinoam the Jezrahelite and 6 Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite. And David was in a shrewd strait: for the people intended to stone him because the 7 hearts of the people were vexed for their sons and their daughters. But David took a good courage to him in the LORD his 8 God and said to Abiathar the priest Ahimelech's son: bring me the Ephod. And Abiathar brought the Ephod to David. And 9 David asked the LORD saying: shall I follow after this company? and shall I overtake them? And he said to him: follow, 10 for thou shalt overtake them and recover the prey. And he went and the six hundredth men that were with him, and they 11 came to the river Besor, where a part of them abode. But David and four hundredth men followed: But two hundredth 12 abode behind being too weary to go over the river Besor. Then they found an Egyptian in the field, and brought him to David 13 and gave him bread to eat and water to drink, and gave him a few figs and two clusters of raisins. And when he had eaten his 14 spirits came again to him: for he had eaten no bread nor drunk no water in three days and three nights. Then David said unto 15 him: to whom belondest thou and whence art thou? and the lad answered: I am an Egyptian and servant to an Amalekite: and my master left me behind, because it is three days a gone that 16 I fell sick: We came a roving upon the south of Cerethis, and upon them of Juda and on the south of Caleb. And we burnt 17 Zikeleg with fire. And David said to him: canst thou bring me to this company? And he said: swear unto me by God, that 18 thou wilt neither kill me nor deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will bring thee unto them. And when he had 19 brought him: see, they lay scattered abroad upon the earth, eating and drinking and triumphing over all the great prey 20 that they had carried away out of the land of the Philistines, and out of the land of Juda. And David laid upon them from the twilight until the evening on the morrow: so that there 21 escaped not a man, save four hundredth young men which rode away upon camels and fled. And David recovered all the Amalekites had carried away, and his two wives: so that there was no person lacking small or great, son or daughter, or of the spoil of all that they had taken away, David brought all again.

And David took all the sheep, and the oxen. And they drave the cattle before, and said: this is David's prey. And then David came to the two hundredth men that were too weary for to follow David which they made to abide at the river Besor. And they came to meet David and the people that were with him. And when David came to the people, he saluted them. Then 22 answered all the wicked and the unthrifths of the men that went with David, and said: because they went not with us, therefore shall none of the prey that we have recovered, be given unto them, save to every man his wife and his children: which let them carry away and be walking. Then said David: ye shall 23 not do so (my brethren) with that the LORD hath given us, and hath preserved us, and delivered the company that came against us, into our hands. For who should hearken unto you 24 in this matter? But as his part is that goeth and fighteth, so good shall his part be, that tarrieth by the stuff, they shall part it alike. And so from that day forward was that made a law 25 and a custom in Israel, and dureth to this day. When David came to Zikeleg, he sent of his prey unto the elders of Juda and to his friends saying: see there a blessing for you, of the spoil of the enemies of the LORD. He sent to them of Bethel: to them 27 of south Ramath: to them of Gether: to them of Aroer: to them of Sephamoth: to them of Esthamo: to them of Rachal: 29 to them of the cities of the Jerhameelites: to them of the cities of the Kenites: to them of Haramah: to them of Borasan: to 30 them of Athach: to them of Hebron, and to all places where David and his men were wont to haunt. 31

And as the Philistines fought against Israel, the men of XXXI Israel fled away from the Philistines, and fell down dead in mount Gelboe. And the Philistines followed after Saul and 2 his sons, and slew Jonathas, Abinadab and Melchisua Saul's sons. And the battle went sore against Saul, in so much that 3 shooters with bows had found him, and he was sore wounded of the shooters. Then said Saul unto his harness bearer: draw 4 out thy sword and thrust me thorow therewith lest these uncircumcised come thrust me thorow and make a mocking stock of me. But his harness bearer would not, for he was sore afraid. Wherefore Saul took a sword and fell upon it. And when his 5 harness bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise upon his sword and died with him. And so Saul died and his three 6 sons and his harness bearer, and thereto all his men, that same day together. When the men of Israel that were of the other 7 side of the valley, and they of the other side Jordan, heard that the men of Israel were put to flight, and that Saul and his sons were dead, they left the cities, and ran away, and the 8 Philistines came and dwelt in them. On the morrow when the Philistines were come to strip them that were slain, they 9 found Saul and his sons lying in mount Gelboe. And they cut off his head and stripped him out of his harness, and sent unto the land of the Philistines everywhere, to publish in the 10 houses of their Gods* and to the people. And they hanged up his harness in the house of Astharoth, but they hanged up his 11 carcase on the walls of Bethsan. When the inhabitors of Jabes in Gilead heard thereof what the Philistines had done to Saul, 12 they arose as many as were men of war and went all night and took the carcase of Saul and the carcasses of his sons from the walls of Bethsan and brought them to Jabes and burnt them 13 there and took their bones and buried them under a Tree at Jabes, and fasted seven days.

The end of the first booke of Samuell, which they commonly call the first of the Kings.

The Second Book Of Samuel,

Otherwise Called,

The Second Book Of The King.

After the death of Saul, when David was returned from I the slaughter of the Amalekites and had been two days in Zikeleg: Behold, there came a man the third 2 day out of the host from Saul with his clothes rent and earth upon his head. And when he came to David, he fell to the earth and did obeisance. To whom David said: whence 3 comest thou? And the other answered him: Out of the host of Israel am I escaped. And David said to him again: How 4 hath it chanced? tell me. And he said: the people fled from the battle: and many of the people are overthrown and dead: and Saul and Jonathas his son are dead thereto. And David 5 said unto the young man that told him: how knowest thou that Saul and Jonathas his son be dead? and the young man that 6 told him, said: I was by chance in mount Gelboe. And see, Saul leaned upon his spear, and the chariots and horsemen followed him at the heels. And Saul looked back and called me. And 7 I answered: here am I. And he said unto me: what art thou? 8 and I said unto him: I am an Amalekite. And he said unto 9 me: come on me and slay me: For anguish is come upon me and my life is yet all in me. And I went on him and slew 10 him: for I was sure that he could not live, after that he was fallen. And I took the crown that was upon his head and the bracelet that was on his arm and have brought them unto my lord hither. Then David took his clothes and rent them, and so 11 did all the men that were with him. And they mourned, wept 12 and fasted until evening, for Saul and Jonathas his son, and for the people of the LORD, and for the house of Israel, because they were overthrown with the sword. Then said David unto 13 the young man that brought him tidings. Whence art thou?
And he said: I am the son of an alien an Amalekite. And 14 David said unto him: How is it that thou wast not afraid to lay thine hand on the LORD's anointed, to destroy him? And 15 David called one of his young men and said: Go and run upon him. And he smote him that he died. Then said David unto 16 him: thy blood upon thine own head: for thine own mouth hath testified against thee saying: I have slain the LORD's anointed.

17 And David sang this song of mourning over Saul and Jonathas 18 his son, and bade to teach the children of Israel the staves thereof. And behold it is written in the book of the righteous.
19 The glory of Israel is slain upon the high hills: Oh how were the 20 mighty overthrown? Tell it not in Geth: nor publish it in the streets of Askalon: lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice, and that the daughters of the uncircumcised triumph thereof.
21 Ye mountains of Gelboe, upon you be neither dew nor rain, nor fields whence heave offerings come. For there the shields of the 22 mighty were cast from them: the shield of Saul, as though he had not been anointed with oil. The bow of Jonathas and the 23 sword of Saul turned never back again empty, from the blood of the wounded and from the fat of the mighty warriors. Saul and Jonathas lovely and pleasant in their lives, were in their 24 deaths not divided, men swifter than Aegles and stronger than Lions. Ye daughters of Israel, weep over Saul, which clothed 25 you in purple and garments of pleasure, and bordered your raiment with ornaments of gold. How were the mighty slain in 26 battle? Jonathas on the high hills was wounded to death: Woe is me for thee my brother Jonathas: delectable to me wast thou exceeding. Thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of 27 women. How were the mighty overthrown, and how were the weapons of war forlorn.

II After this David asked the LORD saying: shall I go up into any of the cities of Juda? And the LORD said: go. And David 2 answered whither shall I go? He answered, unto Hebron. And so David went thither with his two wives also, Ahinoam the 3 Jezrahelite and Abigail Nabal's wife the Carmelite. And the men that were with him, did David carry up also, every man 4 with his house. And they dwelt in the towns of Hebron. And the men of Juda came and there anointed David king over the house of Juda. When it was told David, how the men of Jabes 5 in Gilead had buried Saul, he sent messengers unto them and said unto them: blessed are ye unto the LORD, that ye have shewed such kindness unto your lord Saul, and have buried 6 him. Wherefore the LORD shew you mercy and truth again. And I will do you good also, because ye have done this thing.
7 And now let your hands stir them and play ye the men, though your master Saul be dead. And finally understand that the house of Juda have anointed me king over them. But Abner the son of Ner that was captain of Saul's host, took Isboseth the son of Saul and brought him to Mahanaim and made him king over Gilead and over the Assurites, and over Jezrahel: and over Ephraim and Benjamin and over all Israel. And Isboseth Saul's son was forty year old when he began to reign over Israel, and reigned two years. But the house of Juda only followed David. And the time which David reigned in Hebron over the house of Juda was seven years and six months. And Abner the son of Ner and the servants of Isboseth the son of Saul went out of Mahanaim, to Gabaon. And Joab the son of Zaruiah and the servants of David went out and met them by the Pool of Gabaon. And they sat down, the one part on the one side the pool and the other on the other side. And Abner said to Joab: let the young men arise and play before us. And Joab answered: be it. Then there arose and went over: twelve of Benjamin by number which pertained to Isboseth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David. And they caught each his fellow that came against him, by the head and thrust his sword in his side, and so fell down all at once. Wherefore the place was called Helath Zurim which is in Gabaon. And there began an exceeding cruel battle that same day. But Abner and the men of Israel were put to the worse of the servants of David. And there was three sons of Zaruiah there: Joab, Abisai and Asahel: which Asahel was as swift of foot as a wild roe, and followed after Abner and turned neither to the right hand nor to the left from Abner. Then Abner looked behind him and said: art thou Asahel? And he said yea. Then said Abner: turn thee either to the right hand or to the left and catch one of the young men and take thee his spoil. But Asahel would not depart from him. And Abner said again to Asahel: turn from me, for I were loth to smite thee to the ground. For then how should I hold up my face before Joab thy brother? howbeit he would in no wise depart. Then Abner with the hinder end of the spear smote him under the short ribs, that the spear came out behind him: that he fell down in the same place and died there. And as many as came to the place where Asahel fell down and died, stood still. But Joab and Abisai followed Abner till the son went down. And when they were come to the hill Amah that lieth before Giah 25 in the way that goeth thorow the wilderness of Gabaon, the children of Benjamin gathered themselves together after Ab-26 ner on a plump and stood still on the top of an hill. Then Abner called to Joab and said: shall the sword devour without end? knowest thou not that bitterness is wont to come in the latter end? how long shall it be, yer thou bid the people return 27 from following their brethren? And Joab answered: as truly as God liveth, if thou hadst so said, then even in the morning 28 had the people departed, each from following his brother. And therewith Joab blew a trumpet, and all the people stood still 29 and pursued after Israel no more nor fought no more. And Abner and his men walked all that night by the wild fields, and went over Jordan, and passed thorow all Bethhoron and 30 came to Mahanaim. And Joab returned from after Abner and gathered all the people together. And there lacked of David's 31 servants nineteen persons and Asahel. But the servants of David had slain of Benjamin and of Abner's men, three hun-32 dredth and three score men. And they took up Asahel and buried him in the sepulchre of his father in Bethlehem. And Joab and his men went all night, and came in the dawning to Hebron.

III There was long strife between the house of Saul and the house of David. But David waxed stronger and stronger, and 2 the house of Saul waxed weaker and weaker. And David had children born him in Hebron: his eldest son was Amnon of Ahi-3 noam the Jezrahelite: the second Cheleab of Abigail the wife of Nabal the Carmelite: the third Absalom the son of Maachah 4 the daughter of Tholmai the king of Gessur: the fourth Adoniah the son of Hagith: the fifth Saphaitiah the son of Abital: 5 the sixth Jethraam by Eglah David's wife. These were born to 6 David in Hebron. And as long as there was battle between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner held up the house 7 of Saul. And Saul had a concubine named Riphah the daughter of Aiah. And Isboseth said to Abner: Wherefore liest thou 8 with my father's concubine? Then was Abner very wroth for the words of Isboseth and said: Am I not a dog's head, which Against Juda have shewed mercy this day unto the house of Saul thy father and to his brethren and friends, and have not delivered them into the hand of David: seeing thou findest a fault in me this day for a woman? So do God to Abner and 9 so thereto: except that as the LORD hath sworn to David, I so do to him, and bring the kingdom from the house of Saul, 10 and set up the throne of David over Israel and over Juda, even from Dan to Bersabe. And he could give Abner never a word 11 to answer because he feared him. And Abner sent messen- 12 gers to David forthwith, saying: whose is the land? And he said thereto: make a bond with me, and see, my hand is with thee, to bring all Israel unto thee. And David answered well 13 said, I will make a bond with thee. But one thing I require of thee, that thou see not my face, except thou first bring Mi- 14 chol Saul's daughter, when thou comest to see me. And David sent messengers to Isboseth Saul's son saying: deliver me my wife Michol which I married with an hundredth foreskins of the Philistines. And Isboseth sent and took her from her hus- 15 band Phaltiel the son of Lais. And her husband went with 16 her, and came weeping behind her, till they came to Bathurim.

Then said Abner unto him go and return. And he returned.
And Abner had communication with the elders of Israel, say- 17 ing: ye have long gone about that David should be king over you. Now then do it: for the LORD hath said of David, by the 18 hand of my servant David, I will save my people Israel, out of the hands of the Philistines, and out of the hand of all their en- 19 emies. And like words had he with Benjamin, and then went to tell in the ears of David in Hebron all that Israel was content with and the whole house of Benjamin. And when Abner 20 was come to David to Hebron and twenty men with him: David made him and the men that were with him a feast. Then Ab- 21 ner said unto David: I will up and go gather all Israel unto my lord the king, that they may make an appointment with thee, that thou mayest be king over all that thine heart desireth.
And so David let Abner depart, and he went in peace. And 22 see, the servants of David and Joab came from chasing robbers and brought a great prey with them. But Abner was not with David in Hebron: for he had sent him away to depart in peace.
When Joab and all the host that was with him were come, men 23 told Joab saying: Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he hath sent him away that he is gone in peace. Then Joab 24 went to the king and said: what hast thou done? See, Abner came unto thee, why hast thou sent him away, that he should 25 escape quite? Thou mightest know Abner the son of Ner, that he came to flatter with thee, and to know thy conversation and 26 behaviour, and to know all that thou doest. And when Joab was come out from the king, he sent messengers after Abner, which brought him again from the well of Sirah unwitting* to 27 David. And when Abner was come again to Hebron, Joab took him aside in the gate, to speak with him guilefully, and there smote him under the short ribs that he died, for the blood of 28 Asahel his brother. And when it afterward came to David's ear, he said: I and my kingdom are guiltless before the LORD 29 for ever, concerning the blood of Abner the son of Ner. It fall therefore on the head of Joab and on all his father's house: that the house of Joab be never without one or other that hath running issues or without lepers and goers on crutches, and that 30 fall on the sword and that lack bread. And the cause why Joab and Abisai slew Abner was, that Abner had slain their brother 31 Asahel at Gabaon in battle. And David said to Joab and to all the people that were with him, rent your clothes and put on sackcloth and mourn before Abner. And king David himself fol-32 lowed the bier. And when they had buried Abner in Hebron, the king lifted up his voice and wept over the sepulchre of Ab-33 ner, and so did all the people. And the king lamented over 34 Abner and said: Abner died not as a wretch dieth. Thy hands were not manacled nor thy feet brought into gyves: but as men fall before wicked children, so fellest thou. And all the people 35 wept yet more over him. And when all the people came to eat meat with David, while it was yet day, David sware saying: so do God to me and so thereto, if I taste bread or ought else, till 36 the son be down. And the people wist it, and it pleased them, as well as all other good things which the king did in the sight 37 of the people. And all the people and all Israel thereto understood that day how that it was not the king's mind, to slay 38 Abner the son of Ner. And the king said unto his servants: know ye not, how that there is a lord and that a great fallen 39 this day in Israel? And I am this day tender, though I be anointed king. And these men the sons of Zaruiah be too good for me to rule? But the LORD reward the doer of evil according to his wickedness.

IV When Saul's son heard that Abner was dead in Hebron, his hands fainted and all Israel was troubled. Now this Saul's 2 son had two men that were become captains over the soldiers, the one called Baanah and the other Rechab, the sons of Remon a Berothite, and of the children of Benjamin: for Beroth was reckoned to pertain to Benjamin. And these Berothites 3 fled to Gethaim and sojourned there until the same time. And 4 Jonathas Saul's son had a son that was lame on his feet: five years old was he when the tidings came of Saul and Jonathas out of Jezrahel. And his nurse took him up and fled away. And as she made haste to flee and was amazed, the child fell and became halt and was called Miphiboseth. And these sons of 5 Remon the Berothite, Rechab and Baanah went, and came in the heat of the day to the house of Isboseth, as he slept on a bed at noon. And behold they came into the house as though 6 they would have bought wheat, and smote him under the short ribs and fled. For they came into the house as he slept on his 7 bed in his resting chamber, and smote him and slew him and beheaded him and took his head and gat them away thorow the wild fields all night. And they brought the head of Isboseth 8 unto David, to Hebron and said to the king: behold there the head of Isboseth Saul's son thine enemy, which sought thy soul. But the LORD hath avenged my lord the king this day of Saul and of his seed. And David answered Rechab and Baanah 9 his brother, the sons of Remon the Berothite and said unto them: as surely as the LORD liveth which hath delivered my soul out of all adversities: him that told me how that Saul 10 was dead, thinking to have brought me good tidings, I caught and slew in Zikeleg, to give him a reward for his tidings bringing. And how much more ought I to deal with wicked men 11 that have slain a righteous person in his own house upon his bed? Now therefore think ye that I will not require his blood of your hands and take you from the earth? And David com- 12 manded his young men, and they slew them and cut off their hands and their feet and hanged them up by the pole in Hebron. And they took the head of Isboseth and buried it in the sepulchre of Abner in Hebron.

Then came all the tribes of Israel to David to Hebron and V said: see, we are thy bones and thy flesh. And thereto in 2 time past when Saul was king over us, thou leddest Israel in and out. And the LORD hath said to thee: thou shalt feed my 3 people Israel, and thou shalt be a captain over Israel. And so all the elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron. And king David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the 4 LORD. And they anointed David king over Israel. David was thirty year old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty 5 year. In Hebron he reigned over Juda seven years and six months. And in Jerusalem he reigned thirty and three year 6 over all Israel and Juda. Then went the king and his men to Jerusalem, unto the Jebusites the inhabitants of the land. And they said unto David: except thou take away the blind and the lame thou shalt not come in hither, meaning thereby that 7 David should not have come in thither. Nevertheless David 8 took the hold of Sion, which is in the city of David. Then said David the same day: whosoever winneth the walls and the lame and the blind hated of David's soul. Wherefore the 9 blind and the lame shall not come into the house. And David dwelt in the tower and called it the city of David. And David 10 built round about it from Mello inward. And David waxed great and the LORD God of hosts was with him. And Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David with Cedar trees and 12 carpenters and Masons, to build David an house. Whereby David perceived that the LORD had stablished him king over Israel and had exalted his kingdom for his people Israel's sake.

13 And David took him more concubines and wives out of Jerusalem, after he was come from Hebron, and more sons and 14 daughters were yet born to David. And these be the names of the sons that were born him in Jerusalem: Samua, Sobab, 15 Nathan, Salamon, Jebahar, Elisua, Nepheg, Japhia, Elisama, 16, 17 Eliada, and Eliphalet. But when the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king over Israel, they came all up to seek David. And as soon as David heard of it, he gat him to an 18 hold. And the Philistines came and laid them along in the val-19 ley of Raphaim. And David asked of the LORD saying: shall I go to the Philistines? and wilt thou deliver them into my hands? And the LORD said unto David: go for I will deliver the 20 Philistines into thy hands. And David came to Baal Pharazim and smote them there and said: the LORD hath divided mine enemies asunder before me, as a man would divide water. And therefore he called the name of the said place, Baal Pharazim.
21 And there they left their Images and David and his men took them up. And the Philistines came yet again and laid them in 22 the valley Raphaim. And David asked the LORD, and he said 23 go not. But compass them on the back side and come down upon them from the Peretrees. And when thou hearest the 24 noise of a thing going in the tops of the Peretrees, then move.

 For then the LORD is gone out before thee, to smite the host of the Philistines. And David did as the LORD commanded him 25 and smote the Philistines from Gabaah to Gezer.

After that, David chose out all the chief young men in Israel VI to the sum of thirty thousand, and arose and went and all the 2 folk that were with him of the men of Juda, to fetch away the Ark of God upon which is called the name of the LORD of Hosts that dwelleth between the cherubins. And they put the Ark 3 of God upon a new cart and brought it out of the house of Abinadab that dwelt at Gabaah. And Ozah and Ahio the sons of Abinadab drave the new cart. And when they brought it out 4 of that house of Abinadab that dwelt at Gabaah with the Ark of God, Ahio went before the ark. And David and all the house 5 of Israel played before the LORD with all manner instruments of fir wood, with harps, psalteries, timbrels, fiddles and cym- 6 bals. And when they came to Nachon's threshing floor, Ozah put his hand to the ark of God and held it, for the oxen stum- 7 bled. And the LORD was wrath with Ozah and God smote him in the same place for his fault, and there he died by the ark of 8 God. And David was displeased because the LORD had rent Ozah. And the name of the place was called Perez Ozah until 9 this day. And David was then afraid of the LORD and said: how should the Ark of the LORD come to my house? And so 10 David would not bring the Ark of the LORD with him into the city of David. But carried it into the house of Obed Edom a Gethite. And the Ark of the LORD continued in the house of 11 Obed Edom the Gethite, three months, and the LORD blessed Obed Edom and all his household. And when it was told king 12 David how that the LORD had blessed the house of Obed Edom and all that pertained unto him, because of the Ark of God, he went and brought the Ark of God from the house of Obed Edom unto the city of David with gladness. And ever when they that 13 bare the Ark of the LORD, had gone six passes, he offered an ox and a fat sheep. And David danced before the LORD with 14 all his might in a linen Ephod gird unto him. And David and 15 all the house of Israel brought the ark of the LORD with shouting and trumpet blowing. And as the ark of the LORD came into the city of David, Michol Saul's daughter looked through a window and saw king David spring and dance before the LORD, and therefore despised him in her heart. And when they had brought in the Ark of the LORD, and had set it even in his place, even in the tabernacle that David had prepared for it: David offered burntofferings and peaceofferings before the LORD, and as soon as David had made an end of offering burntofferings and peaceofferings he blessed the people in the name of the LORD of Hosts, and gave among all the folk, even among the whole multitude of Israel, as well to the women as men every one a Cake of bread and a piece of flesh and a flacket of wine. And so the people departed every man to his house. Then David returned to salute his household. And Michol the daughter of Saul came out against him and said: Oh how glorious was the king of Israel today, which stripped himself today before the eyes of the maidens of his servants, as a light brained fellow is wont to strip himself. But David said again to Michol, I will make sport before the LORD which chose me before thy father and before all his kin, commanding me to be ruler over all his people Israel. And I will be yet more vile than so, and will be meek in mine own sight: and shall for all that of the very same maidservants which thou speakest of, be had in honour. But the said Michol daughter to Saul had no child unto the day of her death.

VII And in process as the king dwelt in his house after that the LORD had given him rest round about from all his enemies, he said unto Nathan the prophet: behold, I dwell in a house of Cedar trees, but the Ark of God dwelleth in the midst of curtains. Then said Nathan unto the king: go and do all that is in thine heart, for the LORD is with thee. But that same night the word of the LORD came unto Nathan saying: go and tell my servant David, thus sayeth the LORD: shalt thou go build me an house for the LORD to dwell in? For I have not dwelt in any house since the time I brought the children of Israel out of Egypt, unto this day: but have walked in a tent and in a tabernacle. In any way where I went among the children of Israel, spake I one word with any of the tribes of Israel which I commanded to feed my people Israel saying: why build ye not me an house of Cedar tree? Now therefore so say unto my servant David, thus sayeth the LORD of Hosts I took thee out of a shepherd's cote from following sheep to be a ruler over my people Israel. And I was with thee in all that thou wentest to, and have destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and have made thee a great name, like unto the name of the great men of the world. And I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will plant it and they shall continue in one place and shall move no more, neither shall wicked people trouble them any more as they did at the beginning, and since the time I commanded judges to be over my people Israel, and I will give thee rest from all thine enemies. And the LORD telleth thee that he will build thee an household. And when thy days be fulfilled and thou laid to rest with thy fathers, then I will set up thy seed after thee, which shall proceed out of thy body, and will stablish his kingdom. And he shall build an house for my name, and I will stablish the seat of his kingdom for ever: I will be his father and he shall be my son: insomuch that if he sin, I will but rebuke him with such a rod as men be rebuked with and with such plagues as the children of men be plagued with. But my mercy will I not take away from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I put down before thee. And thine house and thy kingdom shall endure without end after thee, and thy seat shall be stablished for ever. And when Nathan had told David all these words and all this vision: Then went king David and set him down before the LORD and said: what am I Lord Jehovah,* and what is my kin, that thou shouldest have brought me this far forth? And is this a small thing in thy sight Lord Jehovah,* but that thou shouldest speak also of thy servant's house for a great while to come? is this a law among men Lord Jehovah? * And what can David say more unto thee, seeing thou knowest thy servant Lord Jehovah? * Even for thy word's sake and according to thine own heart hast thou done all these great things to make them known unto thy servant. Wherefore thou art great O LORD God and there is none like thee, neither is there any God save thou, according to all that we have heard with our ears. And what one people in the earth is like thy people Israel, which God went and delivered to be his people, and to make him a name, and to shew them great and terrible things in the earth, before thy people which thou redeemest to thee out of Egypt, even from the people and 24 from their gods. And thou hast ordained thy people Israel to 25 be thy people for ever. And thou LORD art their God. And now LORD God the thing thou hast said of thy servant and of 26 his house make it good for ever and do as thou hast said. And let thy name be great for ever, that men may say, the LORD of Hosts is the God of Israel: and let the house of thy servant 27 David be stablished before thee. For thou LORD of Hosts God of Israel hast told in the ear of thy servant saying: I will build thee an house. And therefore hath thy servant found in his 28 heart to pray this prayer unto thee. And now Lord Jehovah* thou art the God, and thy words must be true: for thou hast told this goodness unto thy servant. And now go to and bless the household of thy servant, that it may continue for ever before thee. For thou Lord Jehovah* hast said that of thy blessing the house of thy servant shall be blessed for ever.

After that, David beat the Philistines and subdued them 2 and took the bridle of bondage out of their hands. And he beat the Moabites and measured them with a line, making them lie along the earth, and then meeting the length of two lines to slay, and the length of one line to save a life. And so became the Moabites David's servants and paid tribute. David smote also Adadezer the son of Rehob king of Zobah as he went 4 to make the end of his coasts at the river Euphrates. And David took a thousand and seven hundredth horsemen of his, and twenty thousand footmen and destroyed all his chariots 5 reserving one hundredth of them. Then came the Sirians of Damasco to succour Adadezer king of Zobah. And David slew of them two and twenty thousand men and put soldiers in Siria 6 Damasco. And the Sirians became servants to David paying tribute. And thus the LORD saved David in all that he went to.
 7 And David took the shields of gold that were upon the servants of Adadezer and brought them to Jerusalem. And thereto out of Betah and Berathai cities of Adadezer he brought exceeding 9 great abundance of brass. When Thoi king of Hemath had heard how David had discomfited all the host of Adadezer, 10 he sent Joram his son unto king David to salute him with peace and to bless him because he had fought against Adadezer and beaten him: for Thoi kept war with Adadezer, which son brought vessels of silver, gold and of brass with him. And 11 them also king David did dedicate unto the LORD with the silver and gold that he consecrated of all nations which he subdued: of the Sirians, the Moabites, the children of Ammon, 12 the Philistines, the Amalekites, and of the spoil of Adadezer son of Rehob king of Zobah. And David made him a name 13 after he returned from the slaughter of the Sirians in the valley of Salt where he slew eighteen thousand men. And he 14 put keepers in Edom, even thorowout all Edom put he soldiers and all Edom became his servants. And the LORD kept David whatsoever he took in hand. And David reigned over all Is- 15 rael and executed right and Justice unto all his people. And 16 Joab the son of Zaruiah was over the host, and Jehosaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder. And Sadoch the son of Ahitob and 17 Ahimelech the son of Abiathar were the priests, and Saraiah was the Scribe. And Banaiah the son of Jehoiada was over 18 the Cerethites and the Phelethites and David's sons were chief rulers.

Then said David: is there yet any man left of the house of IX Saul, that I may shew him mercy for Jonathas' sake? And 2 there was of the household of Saul a servant named Zibah which was called unto David. And the king said unto him: art thou Zibah? And he said: thy servant is the man. Then said 3 the king: remaineth there yet any man of the kindred of Saul, whom I may shew the mercy of God upon? And Zibah said unto the king: Jonathas hath yet a son which is lame on both feet. And the king said unto him: where is he? And Zibah said unto 4 the king: behold he is in the house of Machir the son of Amiel in Lodaber. Then king David sent and fetched him out of the 5 house of Machir the son of Amiel, out of Lodaber. Now when 6 Miphiboseth the son of Jonathas the son of Saul was come unto David, he bowed himself and fell on his face. Then said David: Miphiboseth? And he answered. Behold thy servant. And 7 David said: fear not, for I will surely shew thee kindness for Jonathas' sake and will restore thee all the fields of Saul thy father, and thou shalt eat meat on mine own table always. And 8 the other bowed himself and said: what is thy servant that thou shouldst vouchsafe to look upon such a dead dog as I am.

9 Then the king called unto Zibah Saul's young man saying unto him: I give unto thy master's son all that pertained to Saul and 10 to all his kin. See therefore that thou and thy sons and thy servants till the land for him, and bring in, that thy master's son may have food to eat. For Miphiboseth thy master's son shall eat meat alway upon my table. For this Zibah had fifteen 11 sons and twenty servants. Then said Zibah unto the king: all that my lord hath said unto his servant, thy servant shall do.
For (said the king) Miphiboseth must eat upon my table, as 12 one of the king's sons. This Miphiboseth had a son that was young named Micha, and all that dwelled in the house of Zibah 13 were servants unto Miphiboseth. And Miphiboseth dwelt in Jerusalem, for he ate ever at the king's table, and was thereto halt on both legs.

X It happened after this, that the king of the children of Am-2 mon died, and Hanon his son reigned in his stead. Then said David: I will shew kindness unto Hanon the son of Nahas, as his father shewed kindness unto me. And thereupon David sent to comfort him by the hand of his servants over the death of his father. Now when David's servants were come into the 3 land of the children of Ammon, the lords of the children of Ammon said unto Hanon their lord: thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father, because he hath sent to comfort thee? Nay, he hath rather sent his servants unto thee, to search the city 4 and to spy it out, even to overthrow it. Wherefore Hanon took David's servants and shaved off the one half of every man's beard and cut off their garments even in the middle, even hard 5 by the buttocks of them and sent them away. When it was told David he sent against them (for they were men exceedingly ashamed) and said: tarry at Jericho until your beards be 6 grown, and then return. And when the children of Ammon saw that they stank unto David, they sent and hired the sons of Bethrehab of the Sirians of Zobah twenty thousand footmen and of king Maacah a thousand men, and of Istob twelve thou-7 sand men. And when David heard of it, he sent Joab and 8 all the host of strong men. And the children of Ammon came out and waged battle before the gate and the Sirians of Zobah, of Rehob, Istob and Maacah were by themselves in the fields.
9 When Joab saw that the front of the battle was before and after, he chose of all the best of Israel and put them in array against the Sirians. And the rest of the people he delivered in 10 the hand of Abisai his brother, which put them in array against the children of Ammon. And he said: if the Sirians overcome 11 me, then succour me. But if the children of Ammon be too good for thee, I will come and succour thee, quite thee like a man, 12 and let us fight lustily for our people and for the cities of our God. And the LORD do what seemeth best in his eyes. And 13 forthwith Joab proceeded and the people that was with him into battle against the Sirians, which fled before him. And 14 when the children of Ammon saw that the Sirians were fled, then fled they also before Abisai, and entered into the city. And so Joab returned from the children of Ammon and came to Je- 15 rusalem. And when the Sirians saw that they were put to the worse before Israel, they gathered them together. And 16 Adadezer sent and brought out the Sirians that were beyond the river. And the host of them came, and Sobah the captain of the host of Hadadezer before them. And when it was shewed 17 David, he gathered all Israel and passed over Jordan and came to Helam: where the Sirians put themselves in array against David and fought with him: how be it the Sirians fled before 18 Israel. And David destroyed seven hundredth chariots of them and forty thousand horsemen, and smote Sobah the captain of his host, that he there died. And when all the kings that were 19 servants to Hadadezer saw that they were put to the worse before Israel, they made peace with them and served them. And so the Sirians feared to help the children of Ammon any more.

And it came to pass in the beginning of a new year, in the XI times when kings are wont to go forth to battle, that David sent Joab and his servants with him and all Israel. And they destroyed the children of Ammon, and beseiged Rabah. But David tarried still at Jerusalem. And it chanced in an evening 2 that David arose from his couch and walked upon the roof of the king's palace, and from the roof saw a very beautiful woman washing herself. And he sent to enquire what woman it should be. And it was answered again, that she was Bethsabe 3 the daughter of Eliam and wife to Urias the Hethite. And 4 David sent messengers and fetched her, and she came unto him, and he lay with her. And she was straightway purified of her uncleanness, and returned unto her house. And when 5 the woman had perceived that she had conceived, she sent and 6 told David, and said: I am with child. Then David sent to Joab, to send unto him Urias the hethite. And Joab sent Urias 7 to David. And when Urias was come unto him he demanded how Joab did, and how the people fared, and how the war prospered.

8 And David said moreover to Urias: go down to thine house and wash thy feet. And Urias departed out of the king's palace, and there followed him a service from the king's table: 9 But Urias slept at the door of the king's palace with all the servants of his lord, and went not down to his house. Then they told David saying: Urias descended not into his house. Then said David unto Urias: seeing that thou art come from journeying, why dost thou not go down unto thine house? And Urias said unto David: the ark and Israel and Juda dwell in pavilions: and my lord Joab and the servants of my lord lie in tents upon the flat earth: and should I then go into mine house, to eat and to drink and to lie with my wife? By thy life and as sure as thy soul liveth I will not do that thing. Then said David unto Urias: tarry here this day also, and tomorrow I will let thee depart. And so Urias abode in Jerusalem that 13 day and on the morrow. And David called him, and he ate and drank before him, and he made him drunk. And at even he went out to lie on his couch with the servants of the lord, and 14 went not down to his house. Wherefore on the morrow David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by Urias. And he wrote in the letter saying: put Urias in the forefront of the battle where it is most strong, and come back from him that he may be smitten to death. And as Joab beseiged the city he assigned Urias 17 unto a place where he wist that strong men were. And the men of the city came out and fought with Joab. And there were certain overthrown of the people and of the servants of 18 David, and Urias the hethite died also. Then Joab sent and told David all the process of the war and charged the messengers saying: when thou hast made an end of telling the story 20 of war unto the king if he begin to fume and say unto thee: wherefore approached ye so nye unto the city to fight? wist ye not that men would hurl and shoot from the walls? who smote Abimelech son of Jerobeseth? did not a woman cast a piece of a millstone upon him from off the walls, that he died in Thebes? why then went ye nye the walls? then say thou?
22 thy servant Urias the Hethite is dead also. And the messengers went and came and shewed David all that Joab had sent him with, and said unto David: the men prevail against us, 23 and came out unto us into the field, and we stuck unto them, even unto the entering of the gate. And the shooters shot from 24 the walls, and some of the servants of the king be dead. And thy servant Urias the hethite is dead also. Then said David 25 unto the messenger, thus wise say unto Joab, let not that thing trouble thee. For the sword devoureth one as well as another: make thy battle more strong against the city and destroy it, and see that thou courage Joab. And when the wife of Urias 26 heard that her husband was dead, she mourned for him, and as soon as the mourning was ended, David sent and fetched her to his house, and she was his wife and bare him a son. 27 But the deed that David had committed, displeased the LORD.

And the LORD sent Nathan unto David. And he came unto XII him and said unto him: there were two men in one city, a rich and a poor. And the rich had exceeding great abundance of 2 sheep and oxen. But the poor had nothing save one little lamb 3 which he bought and nourished up. And it grew up with him and his children, and did eat of his own meat and drank of his own cup, and slept in his bosom, and was as dear unto him as his daughter. And there came a stranger unto the rich man. 4 And he could not find in his heart to take of his own sheep nor of his beasts to dress for the stranger that was come unto him. But took the poor man's lamb and dressed it for the man that was come to him. And David was exceeding wroth with 5 the man, and said to Nathan: as surely as the LORD liveth the fellow that hath done this thing, is the child of death and 6 shall restore the lamb fourfold, because he did this thing and because he had no pity. Then Nathan said to David: thou 7 art the man. Thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel: I anointed thee king over Israel and rid thee out of the hands of Saul.
 And I gave thee thy master's house and thy master's wives 8 into thy bosom, and gave thee the house of Israel and of Juda, and would if that had been too little: have given thee twice so much more. Wherefore hast thou despised the commandment 9 of the LORD, to do wickedness in his sight? thou hast killed Urias the hethite with the sword and hast taken his wife to thy wife, and hast slain him with the sword of the children of Ammon. Now therefore the sword shall never depart from 10 thine house, because (sayeth the Lord) thou hast despised me 11 and taken the wife of Urias the hethite, to be thy wife. Thus sayeth the LORD: behold I will stir up evil against thee even of thine own house and will take thy wives before thine eyes, and 12 give them unto thy neighbour, which shall sleep with them in the sight of the son. And thou didst it secretly, yet will I do 13 this thing before all Israel and in the open son light. Then said David unto Nathan: I have sinned against the LORD. And Nathan said again to David: the LORD hath put away thy sin, 14 thou shalt not die. Howbeit because in doing this deed thou hast given the enemies of the LORD a cause to rail, the child 15 that is born thee shall die surely. And Nathan departed unto his house. And the LORD struck the child that Urias' wife bare 16 David and it sickened. And David besought God for the boy and fasted and went and lay all night upon the earth. And the 17 elders of his house arose and went to him to take him up from the earth. But he would not, neither yet eat meat with them.

18 And it happened the seventh day that the child died. But the servants of David durst not tell him that the child was dead.
For they said: see, while the child was yet alive, we spake unto 19 him, and he would not hearken unto our voice. How much more then will he vex himself if we tell him that the child is 20 dead? But David saw his servants whispering and thereby perceived that the child was dead, and said unto his servants: is the child dead? And they said yea. Then David arose from the earth and washed and anointed himself and changed his 21 apparel, and went into the house of the LORD and prayed, and after came to his own house and bade that they should set meat before him, and he did eat. Then said his servants unto him: what is this that thou hast done? Thou fastedest and weepst for thy child while it was alive, and as soon as it was dead thou 22 didst rise up and didst eat meat. And he answered: while the child was alive, I fasted and wept. For I this thought: who can tell whether GOD will have mercy on me that the child 23 may live? But now seeing it is dead wherefore should I fast? can I bring him again any more? I shall go to him: but he 24 shall not come again to me. And David comforted Bethsabe his wife, and went in unto her and lay with her, and she bare a son whose name was called Salomon, and the LORD loved 25 him. And he sent by the hand of Nathan the prophet and called his name Jedidiah, of the LORD's behalf. And as Joab 26 fought against Rabah the city of the children of Ammon he took the king's Tower, and sent messengers to David saying: 27 I have made assault to Rabah, and also have taken the castle from whence they had their water. Now therefore gather the 28 rest of the people together, and come and besiege the city and take it: lest if I take it, the victory be ascribed to me. And 29 David gathered all the people together, and went to Rabah and assaulted it and gat it. And he took the king's crown from off 30 his head which weighed an hundredth weight of gold, and was set with precious stones. And David ware it on his head. And he brought out the spoil of the city in exceeding great abundance. And he brought out the people that was therein and 31 sawed them and drew harrows of iron upon them, and shred some of them with shredding knives of iron, and thrust some into furnaces. And so he served all the cities of the children of Ammon. And then David and all the people returned unto Jerusalem.

And it chanced that Absalom David's son had a fair sister XIII named Thamar, whom afterward Amnon another son of David 2 loved. And this Amnon was so vexed that he fell sick for the love of his sister Thamar: for it thought him hard to come by 3 his purpose of her, seeing she was yet a virgin. But Amnon 3 had a companion called Jonadab the son of Samah the brother of David: which Jonadab was a very wise man. And he said 4 unto him: how cometh it that thou being the king's son art thus consumed every morning? mayst thou not tell it me? And Amnon answered him: I love Thamar my brother Absalom's sister. Then said Jonadab unto him: lie on thy bed and feign 5 thyself sick. And when thy father is come to see thee, say unto him, let my sister Thamar come and give me meat and dress it in my sight, that I may see it and eat it of her hand. And 6 Amnon lay down and made himself sick. And when the king was come to see him Amnon said unto him: let Thamar my sister come and make me a couple of fritters in my sight, that I may eat of her hand. And David sent home to Thamar saying: 7 go to thy brother Amnon's house and dress him meat. When 8 Thamar came to her brother Amnon's house he lay. And she took flour and made paste and made fritters in his sight and did bake them, and took a platter and poured them out be- 9 fore him. And Amnon would not eat, but commanded to have 10 out all men from him. And they went all out from him. Then said Amnon unto Thamar: bring the meat into the chamber that I may eat it of thine hand. And Thamar took the fritters which she had made, and brought them into the chamber to 11 Amnon her brother and set them before him to eat. And he 12 took her and said unto her, come lie with me my sister. And she answered him: nay, my brother do not force me, for it ought 13 not to be so in Israel, do not this folly. For whither shall I go with my shame? And thou shalt be as one of the fools in Israel. But speak unto the king, and he shall not deny me unto 14 thee. How be it he would not hearken unto her voice but was 15 too strong for her and forced her and lay with her. And then Amnon hated her exceedingly: so that the hate wherewith he hated her was greater than the love with which he before loved 16 her. And he said unto her: up and away. Then she said unto him, this great cruelty that thou puttest me away passeth the other that thou didst unto me. Nevertheless he would not 17 hear her, but called his lad that waited upon him and said:

put her out at the doors from me and bolt the door after her.
18 And she had a kirtle of divers colours upon her: for with such were the king's daughters that were virgins apparelled, made strait unto them. Then his servant brought her out at the doors 19 and locked the doors after her. And Thamar put ashes on her head and rent her gay kirtle that was on her and put her hand 20 on her head and so went, and as she went cried. Then Absalom her brother said unto her: hath Amnon thy brother been with thee? Now then be still my sister: for he is thy brother.
And let not this thing grieve thine heart. And so Thamar re-21 mained discomfited in her brother Absalom's house. And 22 king David heard of all these things and was very wroth. And Absalom said unto his brother Amnon neither good nor bad.
How be it Absalom hated Amnon because he had forced his 23 sister Thamar. And it happened two year after that Absalom had a sheep shearing in Baal Hazor besides the tribe of Eph-24 raim, and bade all the king's sons and he came to the king and said: behold thy servant hath a sheep shearing, let the 25 king and his servants come with thy servant. And the king said unto Absalom: Oh nay my son let us not go every one of us that we be not chargeable unto thee. And Absalom lay sore upon him: how be it he would not go, but blessed him. Then 26 said Absalom: then let my brother Amnon go with us. And the king answered: what needeth it that he go with thee? But 27 Absalom made such instance that he let Amnon go with him, and all the king's children. Then Absalom commanded his 28 young men saying: mark when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I bid you smite Amnon then kill him: fear not, for it is I that bid you, be bold therefore and play the lusty bloods. And the young men of Absalom served Amnon even 29 as Absalom commanded them. And all the king's sons arose and took each man his Mule and fled. And while they were 30 yet in the way, tidings came to David that Absalom had slain all the king's sons, so that none was left alive. Then the king 31 arose and tare his garments and lay along on the earth: and all his servants stood by with their clothes rent. Then Jonadab 32 the son of Samah David's brother answered and said: let not my lord suppose that they have slain all the young men the king's sons, save Amnon onely is dead. For that hath been ever 33 in Absalom's mouth since he forced his sister Thamar. Now therefore let not my lord the king take the thing so grievously to think that all the king's sons were dead, when Amnon onely 34 is dead. But Absalom fled. And the young man that kept the watch lifted up his eyes and looked about. And behold, there came much people by a way that was behind his back along by an hill's side. Then said Jonadab unto the king: behold, the 35 king's sons are come, and as thy servant said, so it is. And 36 as soon as he had left speaking: behold, the king's sons came and lifted up their voices and wept. And thereto the king and all his servants wept exceedingly. But Absalom escaped and 37 went to Tholmai the son of Amihud king of Gesur. And the king mourned for his son continually. And so Absalom escaped and 38 went to Gesur, and was there three years. And by that time 39 the king turned his mind from pursuing Absalom. For he had left mourning for the death of Amnon.

When Joab the son of Zaruiah perceived that the king's XIV heart was turned again to Absalom, he sent to Thekoa, and 2 fetched thence a wise woman, and said unto her: feign thyself to be a mourner, and put on mourning apparel. And anoint not thyself with oil. But be as a woman that had long time mourned for the death of somebody. And go to the king and 3 4 speak of thus manner unto him. And so Joab taught her what 5 she should say. And when the wife of Thekoa was come to 6 speak with the king, she fell on her face to the ground and did 7 obeisance and said: help me O king. And the king said unto 8 her: what aileth thee? and she answered. I am a widow, and 9 mine husband is dead. And thy handmaid had two sons which 10 fought together in the fields where was no man to go between 11 them, and the one slew the other. And behold, the whole kindred 12 arose against thy handmaid and said: deliver us him that 13 smote his brother: that we may kill him for the soul of his 14 brother whom he slew, for he will destroy the heir also. And so 15 they shall quench my sparkle which is left that he shall stir up 16 neither name or issue upon the earth unto my husband. And 17 the king said unto the wife: go home to thine house, and I will 18 give a charge for thee. And the woman of Thekoa said unto 19 the king: My lord king, the trespass be on me and on my father's 20 house, and the king and his seat be guiltless. And then 21 said the king: if any man say ought unto thee, bring him to 22 me, and he shall no more trouble thee. Then said she: let the 23 king remember his LORD God, that the next of the blood gather 24 not on heaps together to destroy, and that they slay not my 25 son. And he said: as sure as the LORD liveth, there shall not 26 one hair of thy son's head fall to the earth. Then the woman 27 said: let thine handmaid speak one word more unto my lord 28 the king and he said: say on. And the woman said: wherefore 29 then hast thou determined on this same manner against the 30 people of God? that the king should speak this thing and be 31 faulty therein, so that the king should not fetch home again 32 his banished. For we must needs die and perish as water spilt 33 on the ground which can not be gathered up again and God 34 will not take away the life but find the means that the banished 35 be not utterly expelled from him. And now concerning 36 that I am come to speak of this thing unto the king my lord 37 in the presence of the people: thy handmaid thought: surely I 38 will speak unto the king, peradventure the king will hear the 39 request of his handmaid. And the king shall hear his handmaid 40 and deliver her out of the hand of the man that would have 41 destroyed me and my son also out of the inheritance of 42 God. Then thine handmaid said: I pray God that the word of 43 my lord the king may be immutable. For my lord the king is as an Angel of God, in hearing of good or bad: and therefore the LORD thy God be with thee. Then the king answered and 18 said unto the woman: hide not from me I pray thee: the thing that I shall ask thee. And the woman said: let my lord the king say on. Then said the king: is not the hand of Joab with 19 thee in all this matter? And the woman answered and said: as sure as thy soul liveth my lord king, it is neither on the right hand nor on the left that my lord the king hath spoken. For thy servant Joab he bade me, and he put all these words even in the mouth of thine handmaid. And the turning of my tale 20 another way, that made thy servant Joab. And so I see that my lord is wise even as an Angel of God, to understand all things that are in the earth. Then said the king to Joab: behold, I am 21 content to do this thing. Go therefore fetch home the lad Absalom.

And Joab fell to the ground on his face and bowed himself 22 and blessed the king and said: now thy servant knoweth that I have found grace in the sight of my lord the king in that he hath fulfilled the request of his servant. And so Joab arose 23 and went to Gesur and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. Then 24 said the king: let him turn to his own house, but see that he come not in my presence. And so Absalom went to his own house, but came not in the king's presence. Moreover in all 25 Israel there was not so goodly a man as Absalom, or so greatly praised, from the sole of his foot to the top of his head there was no blemish in him. And when he shaved his head (for at 26 every years' end he shaved it because it was heavy on him, and therefore he shaved it) the hair thereof weighed two hundredth sicles weight of the king's weight. And this Absalom had three 27 sons born him and one daughter named Thamar, which was a fair woman to look upon. When Absalom had dwelt two year 28 in Jerusalem without coming into the king's presence he sent for Joab, to have sent him to the king. But he would not come 29 to him. And he sent again, and for all that he would not come.
Then he said unto his servants: behold, Joab hath a parcel of 30 land fast by mine, and hath barley therein. Go and set it on fire. And Absalom's servants went and set it on fire. Then 31 Joab arose and came to Absalom unto his house and said unto him: wherefore have thy servants burned my field with fire?
And Absalom said to Joab: behold, I sent for thee desiring thee 32 to come, because I would have sent thee to the king, for to say:

wherefore I am come from Gesur. It had been as good for me to have bidden there still. Now therefore let me come to the king's presence, or else if there be any trespass in me, kill me.

33 And Joab went to the king and told him. And he sent for Absalom: which when he was come, fell to the ground on his face before the king. And the king kissed him.

XV After this Absalom gat him chariots and horses and fifty 2 men to run before him. And thereto he used to rise up early in the mornings and to stand by the way's side that led to the gate of the city. And all the men of Israel that had complaints and came to the king for judgement, he called unto him and said: of what city art thou? And when the other answered:
 3 thy servant is of such a tribe of Israel. Then said Absalom unto him: see, thy matter is good and righteous, and yet no 4 man is deputed of the king to hear thee. Then Absalom said moreover: Oh, that I were a judge in the land, and that all men which have pleas and matter in the law, should come to 5 me. For I would do them justice. And also when any man came nye to him to do him obeisance, he put forth his hand 6 and took him to him and kissed him. And on this manner did Absalom to all Israel that came to the king for judgement, and 7 therewith stole the hearts of the men of Israel. And at forty years' end Absalom said unto the king: let me go I pray thee to Hebron, and pay my vow which I have vowed, unto the LORD: 8 for thy servant vowed a vow when I was in Gesur in the land of Siria saying: if the LORD shall bring me again to Jerusalem, 9 I will serve the LORD. And the king said: go in peace. And 10 so he arose and went to Hebron. Then Absalom sent spies thorowout all the tribes of Israel saying: as soon as ye hear the voice of the trumpet blow, say: Absalom reigneth king in 11 Hebron. And with Absalom went two hundredth men out of Jerusalem that were called. And they went with pure hearts 12 and wist* nothing of the matter. And Absalom sent also for Ahitophel the Gilonite David's counsellor, and fetched him out of his city Giloh, when he sacrificed sacrifices. And there was wrought strong treason. And the people drew to Absalom in 13 great multitude. And there came a messenger to David and said: the hearts of the men of Israel are to follow Absalom.
 14 Then said David unto all his servants that were with him at

15. v.11 Other: knew.

Jerusalem: up and let us flee, for we shall not else escape from Absalom. Make speed to depart: lest he come suddenly and catch us and bring some mischief upon us, and smite the city with the edge of the sword. And the king's servants said to him: behold thy servants are ready to whatsoever my lord the king shall appoint. And the king and all his household departed afoot. And he left behind him ten wives that were his concubines, to keep the house. And so the king and all the people went out afoot and tarried far from the house. And all his servants went by his side. And all the Cerethites and all the Phelethites, and all the Hethites even six hundredth men which were come afoot from Geth, went before the king. Then said the king to Ethai the Gethite, wherefore shouldest thou go with us also? Return and abide with the king, for thou art a stranger and art removed from thine own place. Thou camest but yesterday, and should I unquiet thee today to go with us? I will go whither I go. But return thou and carry again thy brethren. Mercy and truth be with thee. And Ethai answered the king and said: as surely as the LORD liveth, and as surely as my lord the king liveth, in what place my lord the king shall be, whether in death or life, even there will thy servant be. Then said the king to Ethai, come and go forward. And Ethai the Gethite went forth, and all his men, and all the children that were with him. And all the country wept with a loud voice. And all the people went forward the straight way to the wilderness. And behold, Sadock and all the Levites were with him and bare the ark of the appointment of God. And when they had fetched down the Ark of God, Abiathar came up, until the people were all come over, out of the city. Then said the king unto Sadock: Carry the Ark of God again into the city. If I shall find favour in the eyes of the LORD, he will bring me again, and shew me both it and the tabernacle thereof also. But and if the Lord thus say: I have no lust unto thee. Behold, here am I, let him do with me what seemeth best in his eyes. The king said also unto Sadock the priest thou art a Sear. Return therefore into the city in peace. And take your two sons with you: Ahimaaz thy son, and Jonathas the son of Abiathar. And see, I will tarry in the fields of the wilderness until there come some word from you to be told me. And so Sadock and Abiathar carried the Ark of God again to Jerusalem, and they

30 tarried there. And David went up on mount olivet and wept as he went, and had his head covered and went thereto barefoot. And all the people that was with him, had every man 31 his head covered, and as they went wept also. And one told David saying: Ahitophel is one of them that have conspired with Absalom. Then said David: O LORD, turn the counsel of 32 Ahitophel unto foolishness. When David was come to the top of the mount and had bowed himself unto God: behold, Husai the Arachite came against him with his coat torn and earth 33 upon his head. Unto whom David said: if thou go with me thou shalt be a burden unto me. And if thou return to the 34 city: then shalt thou say unto Absalom I will be thy servant O king: thus long have I been thy father's servant, and now 35 I am thine. And destroy me the counsel of Ahitophel. And thou hast there with thee Sadock and Abiathar the priests, unto which thou shalt shew all that thou canst hear out of the 36 king's house. And behold, ye have there with you their two sons: Ahimaaz Sadock's son, and Jonathas Abiathar's son, by 37 which ye shall send me all that ye can hear. And so Husai David's friend gat him to the city. And Absalom also entered into Jerusalem.

XVI And when David was a little past the top of the hill: behold Ziba the servant of Miphiboseth came against him with a couple of Asses saddled, and upon them two hundredth loaves and one hundredth bunches of Resinges, and an hundredth frayls 2 of dried figs, and a bottle of wine. Then said the king to Ziba: what hast thou there? And Ziba said: Asses for the king's household to ride on, and bread and fruit for the young men to eat, and wine to drink, if any man faint in the wilderness.
3 Then said the king: where is thy master's son? and Ziba said unto the king: behold, he tarrieth still at Jerusalem. For he said: this day shall the house of Israel restore me the king-4 dom of my father. Then said the king to Ziba: behold, thine are all that pertained to Miphiboseth. And Ziba answered: I beseech thee that I may find grace in thy sight my lord king.
5 And when king David came to Bahurim: behold, thence came out a man of the kindred of the house of Saul named Semei 6 the son of Gera, and he came out cursing. And thereto he cast stones at David and at all the servants of king David, all the people and all the men of war going part on his right hand, and part on his left. And thus said this Semei as he cursed: 7 come forth, come forth thou blood shedder and thou unthrifty 8 man. The LORD hath brought upon thee all the blood of the house of Saul, in whose stead thou hast reigned, and he hath delivered the kingdom into the hand of Absalom thy son. And thou art wrapped about with thine own mischief, because thou art a blood shedder. Then said Abisai the son of Zaruiah unto 9 the king: why doth this dead dog curse my lord the king? let me go and take off the head of him. And the king said: what 10 have I to do with you ye sons of Zaruiah: let him curse: for the LORD hath bid him curse David. And who dare presume to say wherefore doth he so? And David said to Abisai, and to all 11 his servants: behold, my son which came out of mine own bowels seeketh my life. How much more may this son of Jemini do it? Suffer him therefore to curse, for the LORD hath bid- 12 den him: haply the LORD will look on my wretchedness, and do me good for his cursing this day. And thus as David and 13 his men went by the way, Semei went along on the hill's side over against him, and cursed as he went, and threw stones at him and cast dust. And the king and all that were with him 14 came weary, and refreshed themselves there. And Absalom 15 and all the people of the men of Israel came to Jerusalem and Ahitophel with him. And as soon as he was come: Husai the 16 Arachite went unto Absalom and said unto him: God save the king, God save the king. And Absalom said again to Husai: 17 is this the kindness thou owest to thy friend? Why wentest thou not with him? And Husai said unto Absalom: nay not so, 18 but whom the LORD and this people and all the men of Israel choose, his will I be, and with him will I dwell. And further- 19 more unto whom shall I do service but even to his son? And as I was servant before with thy father, even so shall I be with thee. Then spake Absalom to Ahitophel give counsel what is 20 best for us to do. And Ahitophel said unto Absalom: get thee 21 in unto thy father's concubines which he hath left to keep the house. For when all Israel shall hear that thou hast made thy father to stink, then shall the hands of all that are with thee be strong. And so they pitched Absalom a tent upon the top 22 of the house. And he went in unto his father's concubines in the sight of all Israel. And the counsel of Ahitophel which he 23 counselled in those days, was as a man had asked counsel of God: even so was all the counsel of Ahitophel, both unto David and also unto Absalom.

XVII

Then Ahitophel said unto Absalom: let me choose out, I pray thee, twelve thousand men. And I will up and follow after David by night. And I will come upon him while he is weary and weak handed, and will fear him, that all the people that are with him shall flee. And so will I smite the king onely, and will bring again all the people unto thee. And when all these men which thou seekest are turned to thee, all the people shall have rest. And the saying pleased Absalom well and all the elders of Israel. Then said Absalom: call also Husai the Arachite and let us hear his sentence. When Husai was come to Absalom, Absalom spake unto him saying: Ahitophel hath given such counsel: whether it be best we do after his saying or not, tell thou. Then said Husai to Absalom: the counsel that Ahitophel hath given is not good at this time. For (said Husai) thou knowest thy father and the men that are with him, how that they be strong men. And they be chafed in their minds, even as a bear robbed of her whelps. And thy father is a man practised in war, and will not lie a nights among the common people. Behold he lurketh now in some cave or in some other place. And thereto though some of his men be overthrown at the first brunt, yet they that hear it will think the people that followeth Absalom be put to the worse. By the reason whereof the best men thou hast whose hearts are as the hearts of Lions, shall shrink thereat. For all Israel knoweth that thy father is a man, and that they which be with him be children of activity. But my counsel is, that all Israel be gathered unto thee, from Dan to Bersabe, as the sand of the sea in number, and that thou go to battle in thine own person. And we will come upon him in one place or other, where we shalt find him, and we will pitch a field against him, even as thick as the dew falleth on the ground. And there shall not one of them be left, neither he nor any of all that are with him. Moreover if he take a town then shall all the men of Israel bring ropes to that city, and we will draw it into the river, until there be not one stone found upon another. And Absalom and all the men of Israel said: that the counsel of Husai the Arachite was better than the counsel of Ahitophel. For it was even the LORD's determination to destroy the counsel of Ahitophel: which was good, that the LORD might bring evil upon Absalom. Then said Husai 15 unto Sadock and Abiathar the priests: of this and that manner did Ahitophel and the elders of Israel counsel Absalom. And thus and thus have I counselled. Now therefore send quickly 16 and shew David saying: tarry not all night in the fields of the wilderness, but get thee over, lest the king be devoured and all the people that are with him. Now Jonathas and Ahimaaz 17 abode by the well rogell: for they might not be seen to come in to the city. And a wench went and told them. And they to go and shewed king David. Nevertheless there was a lad 18 saw them which told it to Absalom. But they went both of them away quickly and came to a man's house in Bahurim, which had a well in his yard, into which they went down. And 19 the wife took and spread a coverlet on the top of the well and strawed thereon steeped barley to dry. And the thing was not spied. And when Absalom's servants came to the wife to the 20 house and asked where one Ahimaaz and Jonathas were, the wife said unto them: they be gone over the little brook of water. And when they had sought them and could not find them, then they returned to Jerusalem. And as soon as they were 21 departed, the other came out of the well, and went and told king David and said unto him: up and get you quickly over the water for such counsel hath Ahitophel given. Then David 22 arose and all the people that were with him, and they were come over Jordan be that it was day, that there lacked not one of them that was not come over Jordan. And when Ahitophel 23 saw that his counsel was not followed, he saddled his Ass and arose and gat him home to his own house and to his own city, and put his household in order and hanged himself and died, and was buried in the sepulchre of his father. Then David 24 came to Mahanaim. And Absalom passed over Jordan, both he and all the men of Israel with him. And Absalom made 25 Amasa captain of the host in the stead of Joab, which Amasa was a man's son named Jethra a Jezrahelite that went into Abigail the daughter of Naah sister to Zaruiah Joab's mother.

And Israel and Absalom pitched in the land of Gilead. And 26, 27 when David was come to Mahanaim, Sobi the son of Naah out of Rabath the city of the children of Ammon, and Machir the son of Amiel out of Lodaber and Berzelai the Gileadite out of Rogelim, brought beds, basins, and earthen vessels: and also 28 29 corn, barley, flour and parched corn, beans and rice honey, butter, sheep and cheese of kine, for David and all the people that were with him to eat. For they supposed that the people should be hungry, fainty, and thirsty in the wilderness.

And the king numbered the people that were with him, and 2 set captains of thousands and of hundreds over them. And he sent one part of them with Joab, and another part with Abisai the son of Zaruiah Joab's brother, and the third part with Ethai the Gethite. And the king said unto the people: shall I 3 go with you? And the people answered: nay, for if we flee, our adversaries will not care for us: neither though half of us were slain, shall they regard us. But thou were worth ten thousand of us. And therefore it is better that thou be ready to succour 4 us out of the city. Then said the king: what seemeth you best, that will I do. And the king stood up by the Gate's side, and 5 all the people came out by hundreds and by thousands. And the king commanded Joab, Abisai, and Ethai saying: intreat me Jently my son Absalom. And all the people heard when the 6 king gave all the captains charge over Absalom. And the people went out into the field against Israel, and the battle was in 7 the wood of Ephraim. Where the people of Israel were put to the worse before the servants of David, and there was a great 8 slaughter that day, even of twenty thousand men. And the field was fought in divers places, all abroad upon the earth. And the woods devoured more people that day than did the 9 sword. And it chanced Absalom to come before the servants of David riding upon a Mule which carried him under the thick boughs of a great Oak. And his head caught in the Oak, and he was left between heaven and earth, and the Mule that was under 10 him went his way. And one that saw it told Joab saying: 11 behold, I saw Absalom hang in an Oak: and Joab said unto him that told him: lo, sawest thou him? And why didst thou not there smite him to the ground, that I should have given 12 thee ten sicles of silver and a soldier's girdle. And the man answered Joab: though I had a thousand sicles of silver told in my hand yet would I not stretch out mine hand against the king's son. For we heard with our ears when the king charged thee, 13 Abisai and Ethai, saying: spare me the lad Absalom. Moreover though I had jeopardated my life and done falsely thereto, yet could nought of all the matter have been hid from the king:

yea and thou thyself wouldest be against me. Then said Joab 14 I may not stand tarrying with thee. And therewith he took three spears in his hand and thrust them into the heart of Absalom, while he was yet alive on the body of the tree. And ten 15 servants that bare Joab's weapons, turned and smote Absalom and slew him. Then Joab blew a trumpet, and the people re- 16 turned from following Israel: for Joab spared the people. And 17 they took Absalom and cast him into a great pit that was in the wood, and cast a mighty great heap of stones upon him. And all Israel fled every man to his tent. And this Absalom yet in 18 his lifetime, took and reared up a pillar, which is yet in king's dale. For he said: I have no male child. And therefore to keep my name in remembrance do I it. And he called the pillar after his own name. And it is called unto this day, Absalom's pillar.
Then said Ahimaaz the son of Sadock: let me run I pray thee, 19 and bear the king tidings, how that the LORD hath judged him quite of the hands of all his enemies. And Joab said unto him: 20 thou art no man to bear tidings today: thou shalt bear tidings another time: but today thou shalt bear none, because the king's son is dead. Then said Joab to Chusi: go and tell the 21 king what thou hast seen. And Chusi bowed himself unto Joab and ran. Then said Ahimaaz the son of Sadock again to Joab: 22 come what come will, let me run I pray thee after Chusi. And Joab said: wherefore shouldest thou run my son? for and thou run thou gettest no reward: well come what will let me run.
And he said unto him: run. Then Ahimaaz ran by the plain 23 and overran Chusi. And David sat between the two gates. 24 And the watchman went up to the roof over the gate unto the wall, and lifted up his eyes and saw: and behold, there came a man running alone. And the watchman called and told the 25 king. And the king said: if he come alone, there is tidings in his mouth. And he came and drew nye. And the watchman 26 saw another man running, and called unto the porter and said: behold there cometh another running alone. And the king answered: he is also a tidings bringer. And the watchman said: 27 me thinketh the running of the foremost is like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Sadock. And the king said: he is a good man and cometh with good tidings. And Ahimaaz called and 28 said to the king: good tidings, and bowed himself to the earth upon his face before the king and said: blessed be the LORD thy God which hath shut up all the men that lifted up their 29 hands against my lord the king. And the king said: is the lad Absalom safe? And Ahimaaz answered I saw a great ado, when the king's servant Joab sent me thy servant. But I wot 30 not what it was. And the king said: turn and stand here. And 31 he turned and stood. And behold Chusi came and said: tidings my lord the king, the LORD hath quite thee this day out 32 of the hands of all that rose against thee. And the king said to Chusi: is the lad Absalom safe? And Chusi answered: the enemies of my lord the king and all that rise against thee, to 33 have thee, be as thy lad is. And the king was moved and went up to a chamber over the gate and wept. And as he went thus he said: my son Absalom, my son, my son, my son Absalom, would to God I had died for thee Absalom, my son, my son.

XIX And it was told Joab, how that the king wept and mourned 2 for Absalom. And the victory was turned that day into mourning unto all the people. For the people heard say that day, how 3 the king sorrowed for his son, and the people went stealing into the city, as people confounded steal away, when they flee 4 in battle. And the king hid his face and cried with a loud voice: 5 my son Absalom, Absalom my son my son. And Joab went into the house to the king and said: thou hast shamed this day the faces of all thy servants, which this day have saved thy life and the lives of thy sons and daughters, and the lives of thy wives 6 and concubines, in that thou lovest thine enemies and hatest thy friends. Thou hast declared this day that thou camest neither for thy lords nor servants. For this day I do perceive, if Absalom had lived, and all we died this day, that then it had 7 pleased thee well. Now therefore up and come out, and speak kindly unto thy servants, I swear by the LORD except thou come out, there will not tarry one man with thee this night.
And that will be worse unto thee, than all the evil that fell on 8 thee from thine youth unto this hour. Then the king arose and sat down in the Gate. And it was told unto all the people, how the king sat in the Gate. And then all the people came 9 before the king. But Israel fled every man to his tent. And all the people were at strife thorowout all the tribes of Israel saying: the king delivered us out of the hand of our enemies.
10 And he delivered us out of the hand of the Philistines. And now he is fled out of the land for Absalom. But Absalom whom we anointed over us is dead in battle. Now therefore why are ye so still, that ye bring not the king again. And king David sent to Sadock and Abiathar the priests saying: speak unto the elders of Juda and say: why should ye be the last that should bring again the king to his house, seeing that such tidings is come from all Israel unto the king even to his house? ye are my brethren, my bones and my flesh: wherefore then should ye be the last that should come to bring the king home again? And say to Amasa: art thou not my bone and my flesh? And God do so to me and so thereto: except thou be captain of the Host to me for ever in the room of Joab. And he bowed the hearts of all the men of Juda, as a man would bow the heart of one man: so that they sent word to the king, that he should return with all his servants. And the king returned and came to Jordan. And Juda came to Gilgal for to go against the king to convey him over Jordan. And Semei the son of Gera the son of Jemini which was of Bahurim, hasted and came with the men of Juda against king David, and a thousand men of Benjamin with him, and Ziba the servant of the house of Saul and his fifteen sons and twenty servants with him. And they whipt over Jordan before the king. And there went over a Boat to carry over the king's household and to do him pleasure. And Semei the son of Gera fell before the king, as he was come over Jordan and said unto him: let not my lord impute wickedness unto me, nor let him not remember the wickedness that thy servant did, when my lord the king departed out of Jerusalem that the king should take it to heart. For thy servant doth know how that I have done amiss. And therefore behold, I am the first this day of all the house of Joseph that am come to meet my lord the king. But Abisai the son of Zaruiah answered and said: shall Semei not die for that cause: which cursed the LORD's anointed? And the king said: what matter is between you and me ye sons of Zaruiah, that ye should this day be adversaries unto me? There shall no man die this day in Israel: for I know that I am this day king over Israel. And the king said unto Semei: thou shalt not die, and sware unto him. And Miphiboseth the son of Saul came to meet the king, and had neither dressed his feet nor shaved his beard nor washed his clothes from the time the king departed, until he came again in peace. And when he was come to Jerusalem toward the king, the king said unto him: wherefore went not thou with 26 me Miphiboseth? And he said: my lord king, my servant deceived me. For thy servant said: that I would have mine Ass saddled to ride thereon, for to go to the king, because thy ser-27 vant is lame. And he hath thereto complained on thy servant unto my lord the king. But my lord the king is as an Angel of 28 God: do therefore what seemeth best in thine eyes. For all my father's house were but dead men unto my lord the king: and yet didst thou put me among them that eat at thine own table.

What right therefore have I yet, to cry any more unto the king?
29 And the king said: it needeth thee not to speak any more, for I have said: that thou and Ziba shall divide the lands between 30 you. And Miphiboseth said unto the king: yea let him take all: for so much as my lord the king is come in peace unto his 31 own house. And Berselai the Gileadite came from Rogelim and went over Jordan with the king, to accompany him over 32 Jordan: which Berselai was a very aged man, even four score year old, and had provided the king of sustenance while he lay 33 at Mahanaim: for he was a man of very great substance. And the king said unto Berselai: come thou with me, that I may 34 feed thee with me in Jerusalem. But Berselai said unto the king: of what age am I of, that I should go with the king into 35 Jerusalem. I am this day four score year old: and therefore can not discern savoury from unsavoury, neither hath thy servant pleasure in that he eateth or drinketh: nor yet delectation in the songs of men or women. It is no need that thy servant 36 be a burden unto my lord the king: let thy servant go a little way over Jordan with the king: for why should the king ren-37 der me such a reward? But let thy servant turn back again, that I may die in mine own city, by the grave of my father and mother. But lo here is thy servant Chamaam: let him go with 38 my lord the king, and do to him, what shall please thee. And the king answered: Chamaam shall go with me. And I will do to him that thou shalt be content with. And thereto whatsoever thou shalt require of me, that same will I do for thee.
39 And all the people went over Jordan. And when the king was come over Jordan, he kissed Berselai and took his leave of him, 40 and he went back again unto his own place. And then the king went to Gilgal, and Chamaam went with him. Now all the men of Juda were at the bringing over of the king, and but half the men of Israel. Wherefore all the men of Israel came 41 to the king and said unto him: why have our brethren the men of Juda stolen thee away, and have brought the king and his household and all David's men with him over Jordan? And 42 all the men of Juda answered the men of Israel: for the king is near of kin to us:* wherefore be ye angry for that matter? think ye that we eat of the king's cost, or that the king giveth us any gifts? And the men of Israel answered the men of Juda 43 and said: we have ten parts in the king, and have thereto more right to David than ye. Why then did ye despise us, that our advice had not been first had in restoring our king again? And the words of the men of Juda were fiercer than the words of the men of Israel.

And there happened to be an unthrifty fellow named Seba XX the son of Bochri a man of Gemini which blew a trumpet and said: we have no part in David, nor inheritance in the son of Isai, o Israel, let us depart therefore every man to his tent. 2 And all Israel went from David and followed Seba the son of Bochri. But the men of Juda clave fast unto the king, from Jordan to Jerusalem. And when David was come to his house to 3 Jerusalem, he took the ten wives his concubines that he had left behind him to keep the house, and put them in ward and ministered all things unto them: but lay no more with them.
And so they were enclosed unto the day of the death of them, and lived a widow's life. Then said the king to Amasa: call 4 me the men of Juda together within three days and present thyself here. And Amasa went to gather the men of Juda to- 5 gether: but tarried longer than the time which was appointed him. Wherefore the king said to Abisai: now shall Seba the 6 son of Bochri be worse to us than Absalom. Take thou therefore thy lord's servants and follow after him: lest he get him walled cities and escape us. And there went out after him Joab's men 7 and the Cerethites and the Phelethites and the men of might.
And they departed out of Jerusalem to follow after Seba the son of Bochri. And when they were come to the great stone in 8 Gabaon, Amasa met them. And Joab had his garment that he had about him, gird unto him, and had girded there on a knife joined fast to his loins, in such a sheath that as he went it fell sometimes out. And Joab said to Amasa: are all things in rest 9 19. v.42 Other: nye kindred.

and peace my brother? And Joab took Amasa by the chin with the right hand, as though he would have kissed him. And Amasa took no heed to the knife that was in Joab's hand, with which Joab smote him in the short ribs, and shed out his bowels to the ground and smote him but one stroke, and he died. And then Joab and Amisai his brother followed after Seba the son of Bochri. And one of Joab's men that stood by him said: what is he that he would be as Joab, and what is he that would be unto David instead of Joab? And Amasa lay wallowing in blood in the midst of the way. And there was a man that saw all the people stand still. And when he saw that all that came by him stood still, he rolled Amasa out of the way into the field and cast a cloth upon him. And as soon as he was tumbled out of the way, all the people went after Joab to follow after Seba the son of Bochri. And he went thorow all the tribes of Israel unto Abel, Bethmaacah and all Barim. And the people gathered unto him and went also after him. And they came and besieged him in Abel Bethmaacah. And they cast up a bank against the city. And it was besieged. All the people that was with Joab laboured busily to overthrow the wall. Then cried a wise woman out of the city, hear hear, bid I pray you Joab that he come hither, that I may speak with him. When Joab was come the woman said: art thou Joab? And Joab answered that am I. And she said to him: hear the words of thy handmaid? And he said: I am ready to hear. And she said: it hath been a common saying in the old time, men must ask of Abel, and then go and finish the work. Abel is one of the quietest and faithfulest cities that are in Israel. And thou goest about to destroy a city that is as a mother in Israel. Why devourest thou the inheritance of the LORD? And Joab answered and said: God forbid, God forbid it me, that I should either devour or destroy it. The matter is not so: But there is a man of mount Ephraim, Seba the son of Bochri by name, which hath lifted up his hand against king David. Deliver us him onely, and I will depart from the city. And the woman said unto Joab: Behold, his head shall be thrown thorow the wall to thee. And then the woman went unto all the people in her wisdom. And they smote off the head of Seba son of Bochri, and cast it to Joab. And he blew a trumpet, and they scattered from the city every man to his tent, and Joab returned to Jerusalem unto the king. And Joab was over all the host of Israel. 23 And Banaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cerethites and the Phelethites. And Aduram was over the tribute. And Je- 24 hosaphat the son of Ahilud was Recorder. Sema was scribe. 25 And Sadock and Abiathar were priests. And Ira the Jairite 26 was likewise David's priest.

Then there fell an hunger in the days of David three years, XXI year by year. And David enquired of the LORD. And the LORD answered: it is for Saul's sake and the house of blood, because he slew the Gabeonites. And the king called the Gabeonites 2 and said unto them. Now these Gabeonites are not of the children of Israel, but a remnant of the Ammonites, and the children of Israel sware unto them. And yet Saul sought to slay them, for a zeal that he had to the children of Israel and of Juda. Wherefore David said unto them: what shall I do for 3 you? and wherewith shall I content you that ye may bless the inheritance of the LORD? And the Gabaonites said unto him: 4 we have no matter of silver or of gold with Saul or with his house: neither have we any man that we would kill in Israel.
 Then he said: what say ye that I shall do for you? and they 5 said unto the king: the man that consumed and imagined to bring us to nought, him we ought to destroy, that nought of him continue in any of the coasts of Israel, let seven men of 6 his sons be delivered unto us, that we may hang them up unto the LORD, in Gabaah of Saul the LORD's elect. And David said: I will give them you. But the king had compassion on 7 Miphiboseth the son of Jonathas, the son of Saul, because of the LORD's oath that was between them: that is to say between David and Jonathas the son of Saul. But he took the two sons 8 of Rezpah the daughter of Aiah which she bare unto Saul, Armoni and Miphiboseth, and the five sons of Michol the daughter of Saul which she bare to Adriel the son of Berselai the Mo- 9 lathite, and delivered them unto the hands of the Gabeonites, which hanged them in the hill before the LORD. And they fell all seven together in the first days of harvest: even in the beginning of barley harvest. And Rezpah the daughter of Aiah 10 took Sackcloth and spread it under her upon the Rock, even from the beginning of harvest until rain dropped upon them out of heaven, and suffered neither the birds of the Air to fall on them by day nor beasts of the field by night. And when it 11 was told David what Rezpah the daughter of Aiah the concubine of Saul had done, he went and took the bones of Saul, and of Jonathas his son, and of the men of Jabes in Gilead, which they had stolen from the street of Bethsan, where the Philistines had hanged them in the days when the Philistines had slain Saul in Gelboe. And he brought thence the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathas his son, and they fetched away the bones of them that were hanged, and buried them with the bones of Saul and Jonathas his son in the country of Benjamin, in Zela, in the sepulchre of Cis his father. And when they had performed all that the king commanded, God was then at one with the land. And the Philistines had yet again war with Israel. And David went down and his servants with him, and fought with the Philistines. And David waxed fainty, and Jesbi of Nob one of the sons of Haraphah whose spear head weighed three hundredth sicles of brass, and was girded with a new sword, thought to have slain David. But Abisai the son of Zaruiah succoured him and smote the Philistine and killed him. Then the servants of David sware unto him saying: Thou shalt go no more out with us to battle, that the light of Israel be not put out. And there was yet after this battle with the Philistines at Nob, in which Sobochai the Husathite slew Saph of the sons of Haraphah. And there was yet the third battle in Gob, with the Philistines, where Elhanan the son of the Jaere Orgim, a Bethlehemite slew one Goliath a Gethite: the staff of whose spear was as great as a weaver's cloth beam. And there was yet battle in Geth, where was a man of a size and had on every hand six fingers and on every foot six toes: twenty four in all. And was also of the kindred of Haraphah, and defied Israel. And Jonathas the son of Samach the brother of David slew him. These four were of the sons of Haraphah in Geth, and were overthrown by the hand of David and by the hands of his servants.

XXII And David spake the words of this song unto the LORD, what time the LORD had delivered him out of the hands of all his enemies, and out of the hands of Saul. And he said: The LORD is my rock, my castle and my deliverer. God is my strength, and in him will I trust: my shield and the horn that defendeth me: mine high hold and refuge: O my Saviour, save me from wrong. I will praise and call on the LORD, and so shall be saved from mine enemies. For the waves 5 of death have closed me about, and the floods of Belial have feared me. The cords of hell have compassed me about, and 6 the snares of death have overtaken me. In my tribulation I 7 called to the LORD, and cried to my God. And he heard my voice out of his temple, and my cry entered into his ears. And 8 the earth trembled and quoke, and the foundations of heaven moved and shook, because he was angry. Smoke went up out 9 of his nostrils, and consuming fire out of his mouth, that coals were kindled of him. And he bowed heaven and came down, 10 and darkness underneath his feet. And he rode upon Cherub 11 and flew: and appeared upon the wings of the wind. And 12 he made darkness a tabernacle round about him, with water gathered together in thick clouds. Of the brightness, that was 13 before him, coals were set on fire. The LORD thundered from 14 heaven, and the most high put out his voice. And he shot ar- 15 rows and scattered them, and hurled lightning and turmoiled them. And the bottom of the sea appeared, and the founda- 16 tions of the world were seen, by the reason of the rebuking of the LORD, and thorow the blasting of the breath of his nostrils.

He sent from on high and fetched me, and plucked me out of 17 mighty waters. He delivered me from my mighty enemy, and 18 from them that hated me and were too strong for me. When 19 they had compassed me in the day of my tribulation, the LORD stayed me up. And he brought me out into roomth, and de- 20 livered me, because he delighted in me. The LORD rewarded 21 me according to my righteousness, and according to the pure-ness of my hands he dealt with me. For I kept the ways of 22 the LORD, and did no wickedness forsaking my God. But I 23 had all his laws in my sight, and I turned my face from none of his ordinances. But was pure unto him ward, and kept myself 24 from wickedness. And the LORD did to me again, according 25 to my righteousness, and after my pureness that I had in his sight. With the holy thou shalt be holy, and with the man that 26 is uncorrupt, thou shalt be uncorrupt. With the pure thou 27 shalt be pure, and with the froward thou shalt be froward also.
And the people that are in adversity, thou shalt help. And 28, 29 on the proud shalt thou cast thine eyes. Thou art my light, O LORD, and the LORD shall light my darkness. With thy help I 30 will run thorow an Host of men, and by the aid of my God will 31 spring over a wall. The way of God is undefiled,* and the word of the LORD fined as gold,* and he* a shield to all* that* trust in 32 him. Who is a God save the LORD, and who mighty save our 33 God? God is my strength in war, and riddeth the way clear be-34 fore me. And maketh my feet as swift as an hind's, and setteth 35 me fast upon my high hold. And teacheth my hands to fight, 36 that a bow of brass is too weak for mine arms. And thou hast saved me with thy shield, and kepest me ever in meekness.

37 And thou madest me space to walk in, that my feet should not 38 stumble. I followed mine enemies and destroyed them, and 39 turned not again until I had consumed them. I wasted them and so clouted them, that they could not arise: but fell under 40 my feet. And thou compassedest me about with might to battle, and madest them that rose against me to stoop under me.
41 And thou madest mine enemies to turn their backs to me, and 42 them that hated me, and I destroyed them. They looked for help: But none came to save them: unto the LORD they cried, 43 but he heard them not. And I will beat them as small as the dust of the earth, and will stamp them as the dirt of the street, 44 and will spread them abroad. And thou deliveredst me from the dissension of my people, and kepest me to be an head over nations, for the people which I knew not became my servants.
45 And the aliens crouched unto me, and obeyed me at a word.
46 And the aliens that shrink away shall tremble for fear in their 47 defended places. The LORD live, and blessed be he that is my 48 strength: and exalted be God the strength that saveth me. It is God that avengeth me, and bringeth down the people un-49 der me. And delivereth me from mine enemies: thou liftest me up on high from them that rise against me, and deliverest 50 me from the wicked men. And therefore I will praise thee O 51 LORD among the heathen, and will sing unto thy name. For thy great and manifold saving of thy king, and shewing mercy unto thine anointed, even to David, and his seed for ever.

XXIII These be the last sayings of David. David the son of Isai said: And the man is lifted up on high, the anointed of the God 2 of Jacob and pleasant Psalmist of Israel said: the spirit of the 3 LORD spake in me, and his words were on my tongue. The God of Israel spake unto me, and the strength of Israel said:

22. v.31 Other: perfect. v.31 Other: yea, words of the LORD are tried in the fire.:

he that beareth rule over men, he that ruleth justly in the fear of God. And he shall be as the morning light, when the sun 4 shineth in a morning in which are no clouds to let the brightness, and as the grass of the earth is by the virtue of the rain.
And is not mine house so with God? in that he hath made 5 with me an everlasting covenant perfect in all points: and in that he shall fulfil all that is healthsome unto me, and all my desires thereto. When the unthrifty men are all of them as 6 thorns taken out of their places, which can not be taken with hands. But the man that shall touch them, must be armed 7 with iron on a long helve. And then shall they be burned with fire to sit thereby. These be the names of the mighty men 8 that were about David: Joseb of Sebeth the Thachmonite, first of three, otherwise called Adino the Azonite, which slew eight hundredth at one time. And next to him Eleazar the son of 9 Dodi the son of Ahohi, one of the three principal that were with David, which when they defied the Philistines that were there gathered together in battle (and the men of Israel were gone up) arose and laid on the Philistines until his hand ached 10 and clave unto the sword. And the LORD made a great victory the same day. And the people returned and went after him only to spoil. After him was Sema the son of Ageh the 11 Hararite (which when the Philistines were gathered together in Lahaia where was a parcel of land full of rice, and the people were fled for fear of the Philistines) stood in the midst of the 12 said ground, and defended it and slew the Philistines. And the LORD gave him a great victory. And these three of the thirty 13 of the Lord's went down and came to David in the harvest time unto the cave Odolom. And the Host of the Philistines had pitched in the valley of Giants. And David was then in an 14 hold. And the Soldiers of the Philistines were then in Bethlehem. And David longed and said: Oh, that I had of the water 15 that is in the well in the gate of Bethlehem for to drink. And 16 anon the three mighty brake thorow the Host of the Philistines and fetched water out of the well of Bethlehem that was in the gate, and took and brought it to David: Nevertheless he would not drink thereof, but offered it unto the LORD and said: the 17 LORD forbid that I should do so, should I drink the blood of men that were in jeopardy of their lives? and so he would not drink it. These things did these three mighty men. Then Abi- 18 sai the brother of Joab, the son of Saruiah: he was a captain over the three, and he lifted up his spear against three hundredth and slew them, and was named with the three. For he was nobler man than the three and was their captain. How be it he attained not unto those three in acts. Then Banaiah the son of Jehoiada the son of a lusty man valiant in acts of Rabzeel, he slew two lions of Moab. He went down and slew a lion in a pit in time of Snow. And he slew an Egyptian a goodly man, which had a spear in his hand. And Banaiah went down to him with a staff and plucked the spear out of the Egyptian's hand and slew him with his own spear: Such things did Banaiah the son of Jehoiada and was the noblest of thirty: But not like to any of the three in facts of war. And David made him of his counsel. Asahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty. Then Elehanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem: Semah the Harodite: Elica the Harodite: Helez the Palitite: Ira the son of Akes the Thekoite: Abiezer of Anathoth: Mobonai the Husathite: Zelmon an Ahoite: Maharai the Netophathite: Heleb the son of Baanah an Netophathite: Ithai the son of Ribai of Gabaah a city of the children of Benjamin: Banaiah the Pharathonite: Hedai of the river of Gaas: Abialbon the Arbathite: Asmaueth a Berhomite: Elithaba a Salabonite: Of the sons of Jasen Jonathas: Semah the Harorite: Ahiam the son of Sarar an Ararite: Eliphelet the son of Aasbai the son of a Maachathite: Eliam the son of Ahitophel the Gilonite: Hezrai the Carmelite: Pharai the Arbite: Igaal the son of Nathan of Zobah: Bani the Gadite: Zelec an Ammonite: Naharai a Berothite the Harnessbearer of Joab the son of Zaruiah: Ira the Jethrite: Gareb the Jethrite: Uriah the Hethite: in all thirty and seven.

XXIV

And the LORD was wroth again against Israel, and stirred up David against them saying: go and number both Israel and Juda. And forthwith the king said to Joab the captain of his Host: go abroad I pray thee, thorowout all the tribes of Israel, even from Dan to Bersabe, and number the people that I may know the number of them. And Joab said unto the king: I beseech that the LORD thy God make the people as many more as they be: yea and an hundredth times so many more, and that the eyes of my lord the king may see them. But how is it that my lord the king hath a lust in this thing? Notwithstanding the king's words prevailed against Joab and against all the captains of the Host. Then Joab and the captains of the Host went out from the king, to view the people of Israel. And they 5 passed over Jordan and pitched in Aroer on the right side of the city that lieth in the midst of the valley of Gad and so forth to Jazer. And then they went to Gilead and to the nether land 6 of Hodesi, and from thence to Dan Jaan, and about to Sidon, and came to the strong town of Tyre, and to all the cities of the 7 Hevites and of the Cananites, and then went out to the South of Juda even to Bersabe. And so when they had been abroad 8 thorowout all the land they returned to Jerusalem again at the end of nine months and twenty days. And then Joab delivered up the reckoning of the number of the people unto the 9 king. And there were found in Israel nine hundredth thousand men of might that drew swords. And the men of Juda were five hundredth thousand men. And David's heart smote him after 10 that he had numbered the people. And he said unto the LORD: I have sinned exceedingly in that I have done. And now LORD take away the trespass of thy servant: for I have done foolishly. And when David was up in a morning, the word of the LORD 11 came unto the prophet Gad David's sear, saying: go and say 12 unto David, thus sayeth the LORD: I offer thee three things, choose which of them I shall do to thee. And Gad came to 13 David and shewed him and said unto him: whether wilt thou have seven years hunger in thy land, or that thou flee three months before thine enemies and they following thee, or that there be three days pestilence in thy land. Now understand and see, what word I shall bring again to him that sent me. Then said David unto Gad: I am in a marvellous strait. But 14 let me fall I pray thee, into the hands of the LORD, for much is his mercy, and let me not fall into the hands of men. And the 15 LORD sent a pestilence in Israel from the morning unto the end of the time appointed. And there died of the people between Dan and Bersabe seventy thousand men. And when the An- 16 gel stretched out his hand unto Jerusalem to have destroyed it, the LORD had compassion to do that evil, and said to the Angel that destroyed the people: it is sufficient: let thine hand cease. And the Angel was at the threshing place of Areunah the Jebusite. Then spake David unto the LORD when he saw 17 the Angel that smote the people, and said: lo, it is I that have sinned, and I that have done wickedly. But these sheep what have they done? let I pray thee thine hand be on me and on 18 my father's house. And Gad came the same day to David and said unto him: go up and rear an altar unto the LORD in the 19 threshing floor of Areunah the Jebusite. And David according to the saying of Gad went up as the LORD commanded. And 20 when Areunah looked and saw the king and his servants coming toward him, he went out: and bowed himself to the king flat 21 on his face to the ground, and said: wherefore is my lord the king come to his servant? And David said: to buy the threshing floor of thee, for to make an altar unto the LORD that the 22 plague may cease from the people. And Areunah said unto the king: let my lord the king take and offer what seemeth him good in his eyes: Behold oxen for sacrifice, and sleds and 23 the other instruments of the oxen for wood. And Areunah the king's friend gave all to the king, and said moreover unto the king: the LORD: the LORD thy God accept thee. But the king 24 said unto Areunah: not so, but I will buy it of thee at a price, and will not offer sacrifice unto the LORD my God that shall cost me nought. And so David bought the threshing floor, and 25 the oxen for fifty sicles of silver. And David built there an altar unto the LORD and offered burnt sacrifices and peace offerings. And so the LORD was agreed with the land. And the plague ceased from Israel.

The end of the second booke of Samuel, which they commonly call the second of the Kings.

The First Book Of The Kinge,

Otherwise Called,

The Third Book Of The Kinge.

When king David was waxen old and stricken in year, I though they covered him with clothes, yet he caught 2 no heat. Wherefore his servants said unto him: let there be sought for my lord the king a young maiden 2 to wait upon him and to cherish him. And let her lie in his bosom, that my lord the king may get heat. And so they sought 3 for a fair Damsel thorowout all the coasts of Israel and found one Abisag a Sunamite and brought her to the king. And the 4 Damsel was exceeding fair, and cherished the king and ministered to him: But the king knew her not. But Adoniah the 5 son of Hagith exalted himself saying: I will be king. And he gat him a chariot and horsemen and fifty men to run before him. And his father rebuked him not at any time nor said so 6 much to him as why dost thou so. And he was thereto a goodly man and his mother bare him next after Absalom. And he 7 communed with Joab the son of Zaruiah and with Abiathar the priest. And they help Adoniah. But Sadock the priest, 8 Banaiah the son of Jehoiada, Nathan the prophet, Semei and Rei and the men of might which were with David favoured not Adoniah. And Adoniah sacrificed sheep and oxen and fatlings 9 at the stone of Zohemoth which is fast by the well of Rogel, and bade all his brethren the king's sons and all the men of Juda the king's servants. But Nathan the prophet and Banaiah and 10 the mighty men and Salomon his brother he bade not. Whereupon Nathan spake unto Bethsabe the mother of Salomon say- 11 ing: hast thou not heard how that Adoniah the son of Hagith doth reign unwitting unto our master David? Now therefore 12 come that I may give thee counsel, how to save thine own life and the life of thy son Salomon. Hence and get thee unto king 13 David and say unto him: didst thou not my lord king sware unto thy handmaid saying? Salomon thy son shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my seat, why is then Adoniah made king? And see, while thou yet talkest there with the king, I 14 will come in after thee and will end thy words. And Bethsabe 15 went in unto the king into the chamber. And the king was 16 very old and Abisag the Sunamite ministered unto him. And Bethsabe stooped and made obeisance unto the king. And the 17 king said: what is thy matter? And she answered and said: My lord thou swearest by the LORD thy God unto thine hand-maid: Salomon thy son shall reign after me and he shall sit 18 upon my seat. But now see, Adoniah is king and thou my 19 lord king wottest it not. And he hath offered oxen, fatlings and sheep abundantly, and hath called all the sons of the king, and Abiathar the priest, and Joab the captain of the Host. But 20 Salomon thy servant hath he not bidden. And now my lord king the eyes of all Israel wait on thee, to tell them who shall 21 sit on the seat of my lord the king after him. For else when my lord the king is laid to rest with his fathers, I and my son 22 Salomon shall be sinners. And behold, while she yet talked 23 with the king, Nathan the prophet was come. And they told the king saying: here cometh Nathan the prophet. And when he was come before the king, he made obeisance unto the king 24 upon his face unto the ground, and said: My lord king, hast thou said, Adoniah shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon 25 my seat? For he is gone down this day and hath offered oxen, fatlings and sheep abundantly, and hath called all the king's sons and the captains of the Host, and Abiathar the priest.

And see, they eat and drink before him and say. God save king 26 Adoniah. But me thy servant and Sadock the priest and Ba-naiah the son of Jehoiada, and thy servant Salomon he hath 27 not called. Is this thing done of my lord the king and yet wouldest not shew me thy servant, who should sit on the seat 28 of my lord the king after him? Then king David answered and said: call me Bethsabe. And she came in and stood be-29 fore him. And the king sware saying: As sure as the LORD 30 (that hath rid my soul out of all adversity) liveth: even as I sware unto thee by the LORD God of Israel saying: Salomon shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my seat for me, so 31 will I do this day. And Bethsabe bowed on her face to the earth and did obeisance unto the king and said: I pray God my 32 lord king David may live ever. Then said king David call me Sadock the priest and Nathan the prophet and Banaiah the 33 son of Jehoiada. And when they came before the king. The king said unto them: take with you the servants of your lord, and set Salomon my son upon mine own Mule and carry him down to Gihon. And let Sadock the priest and Nathan the 34 prophet anoint him there, to be king over Israel. And then blow ye with a trumpet and say: God save king Salomon. And 35 then come up after him, and let him come and sit upon my seat. For he shall be king in my stead. And him I have commanded to be captain over Israel and Juda. And Banaiah the 36 son of Jehoiada answered the king and said, Amen, and so I pray God that the LORD God of my lord the king say so too.

And as the LORD hath been with my lord the king, even so, I 37 pray God he may be, with Salomon and that he make his seat gloriouslyer than the seat of my lord king David. And Sadock 38 the priest and Nathan the prophet and Banaiah the son of Jehoiada and the Cerethites and Phelethites went down, and set Salomon upon king David's Mule and led him to Gihon. And 39 Sadock the priest took an horn of oil out of the tabernacle and anointed Salomon. And they blew a trumpet, and all they said: God save king Salomon. And all the people came up after him 40 piping with pipes and rejoicing greatly, so that the earth rang with the sound of them. And Adoniah and all the guests that 41 were with him, heard it even as they had made an end of eating. And when Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said: how happeneth it there is such a noise in the city? And as he 42 yet spake, see, Jonathas the son of Abiathar the priest came.
And Adoniah said: come for thou art a lusty blood and bringest good tidings. And Jonathas answered and said to Adoniah: 43 Verily our lord king David hath made Salomon king. And the 44 king sent with him, Sadock the priest and Nathan the prophet: and Banaiah the son of Jehoiada and the Cerethites and the 45 Phelethites, and they have set him upon the king's Mule. And Sadock the priest and Nathan the Prophet have anointed him king in Gihon. And as they came up again they rejoiced that the city did sound again. And that is the noise that ye have heard. And thereto Salomon sitteth on the seat of the king- 46 dom. And moreover the king's servants went in to bless our lord king David saying: thy God make the name of Salomon 47 more favour than thine, and his seat more glorious than thine.
And the king bowed himself upon the bed. And last of all thus 48 said the king: blessed be the LORD God of Israel which hath made one to sit on my seat this day, even mine eyes seeing 49 it. And all the guests that were with Adoniah were afraid and 50 rose up and went every man his way. And Adoniah fearing Salomon arose and went and caught hold on the horns of the 51 altar. And it was told Salomon, how that Adoniah for fear of king Salomon hath caught handfast by the horns of the altar saying: let king Salomon swear unto me this day, that he will 52 not slay his servant with the sword. And Salomon said, if he will be a child of virtue, there shall not an hair of him fall to the earth. But and if wickedness shall be found in him, he shall 53 die for it. And thereupon king Salomon sent and fetched him down from the altar. And he came and did obeisance unto king Salomon. And Salomon said to him: get thee to thine house.

II When the days of David were drawn nye, and he should die, 2 he charged Salomon his son saying: I must walk by the way of the world, neverthelater be thou strong and quite thyself man-3 fully. And see that thou keep the appointment of the LORD thy God, that thou walk in his ways and keep his commandments, ordinances, laws and testimonies, even as it is written in the law of Moses: that thou mayest understand all that thou 4 oughtest to do, and all that thou shouldest meddle with. That the LORD may make good his promise which he hath promised me saying: if thy children shall take heed to their ways, that they walk before me in truth, with all their hearts and with all their souls, then thou shalt never be without one sitting on 5 the seat of Israel. Moreover thou wottest how Joab the son of Zaruiah hath served me, and what he hath done to the two captains of the Hosts of Israel: unto Abner the son of Ner and unto Amasa the son of Jether: how he slew them and shed the blood of war in time of peace, and put the blood of war upon his girdle that was about his loins and in his shoes that were on his feet.
6 Deal with him therefore according to thy wisdom and see that 7 thou bring not his hoar head down to the grave in peace. And shew kindness unto the sons of Berselai the Gileadite, and let them be among them that eat at thine own table, because they 8 so clave to me when I fled from Absalom thy brother. And see, thou hast with thee, Semei the son of Gera the son of Jemini of Bahurim, which cursed me with a bitter curse what time I went to Mahanahim. But he came against me to Jordan, and I sware to him by the LORD, saying, I will not slay thee 9 with the sword. But pardon thou him not. Thou art a man of wisdom and shalt know what to do to him, see therefore that thou bring his hoar head to the grave with blood. And 10 so David rested with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David. And the days which David reigned upon Israel, were 11 forty years: seven year in Hebron, and thirty and three years in Jerusalem. And Salomon sat upon the seat of David his 12 father and his kingdom was stablished mightily. After that, Adoniah the son of Hagith came to Bethsabe the mother of Sa- 13 lomon. And she said: Betokeneth thy coming peace? And he 14 said: it betokeneth peace. Then said he, I have a matter to shew thee. And she said: say on. And he said: thou knowest 15 that the kingdom was mine, and that all Israel put their eyes on me, that I should reign, howbeit the kingdom was turned away and given to my brother, for it was appointed him of the LORD: and now I ask a petition of thee, whereof deny me not.

And she said unto him: tell what it is. Then he said: speak I 16, 17 pray thee, unto Salomon the king (for he will not say thee nay) that he give me Abisag the Sunamite to wife. And Bethsabe 18 said: well, I will speak for thee unto the king. And thereupon 19 Bethsabe went unto king Salomon to speak unto him for Adoniah. And the king rose up against her and bowed himself unto her, and sat him down on his seat. And there was a seat set for the king's mother, and she sat on his right side. Then she 20 said: I must desire a little petition of thee: say me not nay. And the king said unto her: Ask on my mother: for I will not say thee nay. And she said: let Abisag the Sunamite be given to 21 Adoniah thy brother to wife. And king Salomon answered and 22 said unto his mother: why dost thou ask Abisag the Sunamite for Adoniah? but rather ask for him the kingdom, seeing he is mine elder brother: Even for him ask it and for Abiathar the priest, and for Joab the son of Zaruiah. Then king Salomon 23 sware by the LORD saying: God do so to me and so thereto if Adoniah have not spoken this word against himself. Now 24 therefore as surely as the LORD liveth which hath stablished me and set me on the seat of David my father, and which hath made me an house as he promised me, Adoniah shall die this day. And king Salomon sent by the hand of Banaiah the son of 25 Jehoiada, and smote him that he died. And unto Abiathar the 26 priest said the king: get thee to Anatoth unto thine own fields, for thou art worthy of death: but I will not at this time kill thee, because thou barest the Ark of the Lord Jehovah* before David my father and because thou sufferest with my father in 27 all his afflictions. And so Salomon put away Abiathar from being priest unto the LORD: to fulfil the words of the LORD 28 which he spake over the house of Eli in Siloh. Then tidings came to Joab: for Joab had turned after Adoniah but not after Salomon. Whereupon he fled unto the tabernacle of the LORD 29 and caught handfast on the horns of the altar. And it was told king Salomon how that Joab was fled unto the tabernacle of the LORD and stood by the altar. Then Salomon sent Banaiah the 30 son of Jehoiada saying: go and smite him. And when Banaiah was come to the tabernacle of the LORD he said unto him: thus sayeth the king, come out. And he said nay: But I will die even here. And Banaiah brought the king word saying: thus 31 said Joab and thus he answered me. And the king said: do even as he hath said: smite him and bury him, and take away the blood (which Joab shed causeless), from me and from the 32 house of my father. And the LORD bring his blood upon his own head, for he smote two men righteouser and better than he, and slew them with the sword, my father unwitting: even Abner the son of Ner captain of the Host of Israel, and Amasa 33 the son of Jether captain of the Host of Juda. And their blood return upon the head of Joab and on the head of his seed for ever. And prosperity be unto David, and unto his seed, and 34 unto his house, and unto his seat, of the LORD for ever. And Banaiah the son of Jehoiada went up and smote him and slew 35 him and buried him in his own house in the wilderness. And the king put Banaiah the son of Jehoiada in his room over the 36 Host, and put Sadock the priest in the room of Abiathar. Then the king sent and called Semei, and said to him: build thee an house in Jerusalem and dwell there and see that thou go not 37 once thence any whither. For be thou sure of it, the day thou goest out and passest over the river of Cedron, thou shalt die 38 for it, and thy blood shall be on thine own head. And Semei said unto the king: is well said: as my lord the king hath said, so will his servant do. And Semei dwelt in Jerusalem many a 39 day. And it chanced at the end of three years that two of the servants of Semei ran away unto Achis son of Maacah king of Geth. And one told Semei saying: see, thy servants be in Geth.

2. v.26 Other: Iehouah.

And Semei stood up and saddled his Ass and gat him to Geth to Achis, to seek his servants, and came and brought them again from Geth. But it was told Salomon how that Semei had gone from Jerusalem to Geth and was come again. And the king sent and called Semei and said unto him: Did I not adjure thee by the LORD, and testified unto thee saying: be sure whensoever thou goest out and walkest abroad any whither, thou shalt die for it? And thou answeredst me, it is good tidings that I have heard. Why then hast thou not kept the oath of the LORD, and the commandment that I commanded thee? And then the king said to Semei: thou rememberest all the wickedness which thine heart knoweth that thou didst to David my father. The LORD therefore render again thy wickedness upon thine own head: and king Salomon be blessed, and the fear of the LORD be stablished before the LORD for ever. And the king commanded Banaiah the son of Jehoiada: which went out and smote him that he died. And so was the kingdom settled in the hand of Salomon.

Then Salomon drew affinity with Pharao king of Egypt, and took Pharao's daughter and brought her into the city of David until he had made an end of building his own house and the house of the LORD and the walls of Jerusalem round about. Only the people sacrificed in altars made on hills, because there was no house built unto the name of the LORD until those days. And Salomon loved the LORD and walked in the ordinances of David his father, save onely that he sacrificed and offered incense upon altars in hills. And the king went to Gabaon, to offer there: for that was a great offering place. And there Salomon offered a thousand burnt offerings upon that altar. And in Gabaon the LORD appeared to Salamon in a dream by night. And God said: Ask what I shall give thee. And Salomon said: thou hast shewed unto thy servant David my father great mercy, according as he walked before thee in truth and in righteousness and plainness of heart with thee. And thou hast kept for him this great mercy, that thou hast given him a son to sit on his seat: as it is come to pass this day. And now LORD, my God, it is thou that hast made thy servant king instead of David my father. And I am a young lad and wot not how to order myself. And thy servant is in the midst of thy people which thou hast chosen, a people that are so many 9 that they can not be told nor numbered for multitude. Give therefore unto thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, and to discern between good, and bad. For who is 10 able to judge this thy so weighty a people? And it pleased 11 the Lord well, that Salomon had desired this thing. Wherefore God said unto him: because thou hast asked this thing and hast not asked long life, neither hast asked riches, nor the lives of thine enemies, but hast asked the discretion to under-12 stand equity: See, I have done according to thy petition: and behold, I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart, so that there was none like thee before, neither after thee shall 13 any arise like unto thee. And thereto I have given thee that thou askedst not, both riches and honour: so that there shall 14 be no king like thee all thy days. And if thou wilt walk in my ways, to keep mine ordinances and commandments as David 15 thy father did walk, I will lengthen thy days also. When Salomon awoke, this was his dream. And he came to Jerusalem and presented himself before the Ark of the testament of the LORD, and offered burntofferings and peaceofferings, and 16 made a feast to all his servants. Then came there two women 17 that were harlots unto the king and stood before him. And the one of them said: Oh my lord I and this woman dwell in one house. And I was delivered of a child with her in the said 18 house. And the third day after that I was delivered, she was delivered also: we two being together and no stranger with us 19 in the house save we two alone. And this wife's child died in a 20 night, for she had overlaid it. And then she arose at midnight and took my son from my side, while thine handmaid slept and 21 laid it in her bosom, and put her dead child in my bosom. And when I rose up in the morning to give my child suck: see, it was dead. But when I had looked more diligently upon it in 22 the morning: Behold, it was not my son which I did bear. And the other woman said it is not so: But the living is my son, and the dead thine. And she said again: thou sayest untrue, for the dead is thy son, and the living mine. And thus they pleaded be-23 fore the king. Then said the king: the one sayeth, this that is alive is my son, and the dead is thine. And the other sayeth 24 nay: But thy son is the dead and the live child is mine. Then said the king: bring me a sword. And they brought a sword 25 before the king. And then the king said: Divide the living child in two, and give the one half to the one, and the other to the other. Then spake the woman whose the living child was, 26 unto the king (for her bowels yearned upon her son) and said: I beseech thee my lord, give her the living child, and in no wise slay it. And the other said: it shall be neither mine nor thine, but divide it. Then the king answered and said: give her 27 the living child and slay it not, for she is the mother thereof. And 28 all Israel heard of the judgement which the king had judged and feared the king: for they saw that the wisdom of God was in him to do justice.

And so king Salomon was king over all Israel. And these IV, 2 were his lords: Azariah the son of Sadock the priest: Eli- 3 horeph and Ahiah the sons of Sisa, scribes. Jehosaphat the son of Ahilud, the recorder. And Banaiah the son of Jehoiada 4 was over the Host. And Sadock and Abiathar were the priests.
 And Azariah the son of Nathan was over the general receivers. 5 And Zabud the son of Nathan was a waiter and the king's companion. And Ahisar the steward of household: And Adiran the 6 son of Abda over the tribute. And Salomon had twelve gen- 7 eral receivers over all Israel which sustained the king and his household: each man his month in a year. Whose names are 8 these: The son of Hur in mount Ephraim: the son of Dekar 9 in Makez, in Salem in Bethsames, in Elon and in Bethhanan: the son of Hessed in Aruboth, and to him pertained Socoh and 10 all the land of Hephher: the son of Abinadab, which had all the regions of Dor, and Tapheth the daughter of Salomon was 11 his wife: Baanah the son of Ahilud had Thanach Magedo and 12 all Bethsan which is by Zarhanah beneath Jezrahel, and from Bethsan to Abel Mehulah and unto beyond Jecmaam. The 13 son of Gaber had Ramoth Gilead, and his were the towns of Jair the son of Manasses which lie in Gilead, and his were the coasts of Argob in Basan, three score great cities with wall and Bars of Brass. Abinadab the son of Ado had Mahanaim: 14 Ahimaaz had Nephthalim, and he had taken Basemath the daughter of Salomon to wife: Baanah the son of Husai had 15 Aser and Aloth: Jehosaphat the son of Pharuah had Isachar, 17 Semei the son of Elah had Benjamin: Gaber the son of Uri 18, 19 had the country of Gilead and the land of Sehon king of the Amorites and of Og king of Basan, and was alone receiver in the land. And Juda and Israel were many even as the sand of 20 21 the sea in number, eating, drinking, and making merry. And Salomon reigned over all kingdoms from the river thorowout all the land of the Philistines unto the borders of Egypt, and they brought presents and served Salomon all days of his life.

22 And Salomon's food was in one day thirty quarters of manchet 23 flour and three score quarters of meal: ten stalled oxen, and twenty out of the pastures and an hundredth sheep and goats, 24 besides harts, bucks and buballs and fat poultry. For he ruled in all the regions on the other side Euphrates from Thaphsah to Gaza and also over all the kings on the other side the said Euphrates. And he had peace with all his servants on every 25 side. And Juda and Israel dwelt without fear, every man under his vine and under his fig tree from Dan to Bersabe, all the 26 days of Salomon. And Salomon had forty thousand stalls of 27 horses for chariots and twelve thousand horsemen. And the foresaid general receivers made purveyance for king Salomon and for all that came to king Salomon's table every man his 28 month, so that there lacked nothing. And as for barley and straw for the horses and beasts they brought unto the places 29 where the officers were, every man in his office. And God gave Salomon wisdom and understanding exceeding much and 30 a large heart, even as the sand along by the sea bank: so that Salomon's wisdom exceeded the wisdom of all them of 31 the East country and all the wisdom of the Egyptians. And he excelled all men in wisdom, both Ethan the Ezrahite, and Heman, Chalcol and Dorda the sons of Nahol. And his name 32 spread abroad among all nations on every side. And Salomon wrote three thousand proverbs. And his songs were a thousand 33 and five. And he disputed of trees, even from the Cedar tree that groweth in Libanon unto the Hyssop that springeth out of the wall. And he disputed of beasts, fowls, worms, and fishes.

34 And there came of all nations to hear the wisdom of Salomon, and from all kings of the earth which had heard of his wisdom.

V And Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants unto Salomon, for he had heard that they had anointed him king in the room of his father. And thereto Hiram was ever a lover of David's.

2, 3 And Salomon sent again to Hiram saying: thou knowest of David my father, how he could not build an house unto the name of the LORD his God for war which he had on every side, 4 until the LORD had put them under his foot. But now the LORD my God hath given me rest on every side, so that there is neither adversary nor any evil plague. And therefore I am disposed to build an house unto the name of the LORD my God, as he promised David my father saying: thy son which I will put upon thy seat for thee, he shall build an house unto my name. Now then command that they hew me Cedar trees in Libanon. And let my servants be with thine, and I will give the hire of thy servants in all such things as thou shalt appoint, for thou knowest that there are not among us that can skill to hew timber like unto the Sidones. When Hiram heard the words of Salomon, he rejoiced greatly and said: Blessed be the LORD this day which hath set David a wise son over this mighty people. And Hiram sent again to Salomon saying: I have accepted the request which thou sentest to me for, and will satisfy all thy lust, concerning timber of Cedar trees and fir. My servants shall bring them from Libanon to the sea. And I will convey them by ship unto the place that thou shalt send me word, and will cause them to be discharged there, that thou mayst receive them. And thou shalt do me this pleasure again, to minister food for mine house. And so Hiram gave Salomon Cedar trees and fir trees, as much as he desired. And Salomon gave Hiram twenty thousand quarters of wheat to feed his household withal, and twenty butts of pure oil. And so much gave Salomon to Hiram year by year. And the LORD gave Salomon wisdom as he promised him. And there was peace between Hiram and Salomon and they were confedered together. And king Salomon raised a tribute thorowout all Israel. And the tribute was thirty thousand men, which he sent to Libanon, ten thousand a month by course, so that they were one month in Libanon and two months at home. And Adoniram was over the tribute. And Salomon had three score and ten thousand that bare burthens, and three score and ten thousand that hewed in the mountains besides the lords he had, to oversee the work, in number three thousand and three hundredth, which ruled the people that wrought in the work. And at the commandment of the king, they brought great stones and that free stones, and hewed thereto, to lay in the foundation of the house. And Salomon's masons and the masons of Hiram did hew them, with them of the borders. And so they prepared both in timber and stone to build the house.

VI And it came to pass the four hundredth and fourscore year after the children of Israel were come out of the land of Egypt, and the fourth year of the reign of Salomon upon Israel, and the second month called Zif that he began to build the temple unto the LORD. And the house which Salomon built for the LORD, was three score cubits long and twenty broad and thirty cubits high. And the porch that was before the body of the temple, was twenty cubits long after the measure of the breadth of the house, and ten broad, even at the very end of the house. And he made unto the house windows to open and shut. And under the walls of the house he made galleries round about, both round about the temple and also the quere. And so made sides round about. And the nethermost gallery was five cubits broad and the middle gallery six. And the third seven cubits broad. For he made the walls without whereon the beams lay, ever thinner and thinner, so that they were not fastened in the walls of the house. And the house was built of stone made perfect all ready yer it was brought thither, so that there was neither hammer or axe either any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building. And the door of the middle gallery was in the end of the house on the right side. And men went up with winding stairs into the middle gallery, and out of the middle into the third. And so he built the house and finished it, and roofed it with beams of Cedar timber made hollow and joined together. And then he built chambers over all the temple of five cubits height, and coupled the house together with beams of Cedar. And the word of the LORD came to Salomon, saying: concerning the house which thou art in building, if thou wilt walk in mine ordinances and execute my laws and keep all my commandments, to walk in them: then will I make good unto thee, my promises which I promised David thy father. And I will dwell among the children of Israel and will not forsake my people Israel. And so therefore Salomon built the house and finished it and sealed the walls of the house within, with ribs of Cedar tree: even from the pavement unto the roof did he sile it within, and boarded the floor of the house with planks of fir. And he sealed twenty cubits in the end of the temple both floor and walls with Cedar, and dressed it within to be the quere and place most holy. And the first house, that is to say, the body of the temple, was forty cubits long. And the Cedar of the house within was carved 18 with knops and graven with flowers, and all was Cedar timber, so that no stone was seen. And the quere that was within the 19 temple, he prepared to set there the Ark of the appointment of the LORD. And the quere was twenty cubits long, and twenty 20 in breadth and twenty in height. And he sealed it with pure gold, and boarded the altar with Cedar. And Salomon sealed 21 the house within also with pure gold. And he made golden bars run along the quere, which he had covered with gold. And 22 the whole house he overlaid with gold until he had ended it.

And the altar that was in the quere he overlaid with gold also.
And within the quere he made two Cherubins of olive tree, ten 23 cubits high apiece, and every wing five cubits long: so that 24 from the uttermost part of one wing unto the uttermost part of the other were ten cubits. And the other Cherub was ten cu- 25 bits high also: so that both the Cherubs were of one measure and one size. The height of the one Cherub was ten cubits, 26 and so was it of the other. And he put the Cherubs in the 27 middle of the inner house. And the Cherubs stretched their wings, so that the one wing of the one touched the one wall, and the one wing of the other touched the other wall. And the other two wings of them touched one another in the midst of the house. And he overlaid the Cherubs with gold. And all 28, 29 the walls of the house round about, he garnished with work of Cherubs and paulme trees and graven flowers, both within in the quere and without in the temple. And the floor of the 30 house he covered with gold both within in the quere and also without in the temple. And in the entering of the quere he 31 made two doors of olive tree, with the upper and two side posts five square. And the two doors of olive tree he graved with 32 graving of Cherubs and Paulme trees and graved flowers, and covered them with gold, and laid gold over the Cherubs and also the Paulme trees. And in like manner unto the door of 33 the temple he made posts of olive tree four square, and two 34 doors of fir tree, and either door with two folding leaves and 35 graved thereon Cherubs, Paulme trees and flowers, and covered them with gold made plain by a ruler. And then he built 36 the inner court with three rows of hewed stone and one row of Cedar wood. In the fourth year of his reign was the foun- 37 dation of the house of the LORD laid, even in the month Zif, 38 and in the eleventh year in the month Bul which is the eighth month, it was full finished in all that pertained thereto, and fashioned as it should be in all points. And so was he seven years in building of it.

VII And Salomon built his own house in thirteen year space and 2 full finished it. And he built the house of the wood of Libanon, an hundredth cubits long and fifty broad, and thirty high, four square with rows of Cedar pillars and Cedar beams along upon 3 the pillars. And the roof was Cedar above on high upon the beams that lay an high on the pillars, which pillars were forty 4 and five in number, fifteen on a row, and the spaces between 5 the pillars were one against another three fold. And all the doors with the side posts were four square one against another 6 three fold. And he made a porch of pillars fifty cubits long and thirty cubits broad: and yet a porch before that with pillars, 7 and a thick pillar before that. Then he made a porch to sit and judge in, sealed with Cedar thorowout all the pavements. And his own house where he kept residence in another court 8 without that porch was of the same work. And then Salomon made an house for Pharaos daughter which he had taken to 9 wife, like unto that porch. And all these things were of rich stones hewed after a measure and sawed with saws within and without, even from the foundation unto that whereon the beams were laid, and on the outside thereto, toward the great 10 court. And the foundation was of rich stones and the mighty great stones of ten cubits and of eight. And above were rich stones hewed according to the same size, and also with Cedar.
11 And the great court round about was with three rows of hewed stone and one row of Cedar planks. And likewise was it in the inner court of the house of the LORD and of the porch of the 12 temple. And king Salomon sent and fetched one Hiram out 13 of Tyre, a widow's son of the tribe of Nephthalim, his father being of Tyre. Which Hiram was a craftsman in brass, and full of wisdom, understanding and cunning to work all manner of work in brass. And he came to king Salomon and wrought 14 all his work. He cast two pillars of brass of eighteen cubits apiece high, and a string of twelve cubits might compass either 15 of them about. And he made two head pieces of molten brass to set on the tops of the pillars, of five cubits long apiece, with 16 garlands of braided work and hoops of chain work for the head 17 pieces that were on the pillars, seven for the one and seven for the other. And he made the pillars, and for either of the head 18 pieces a garland with two rows of pomegranates to cover them with all. And the head pieces that were on the tops of the pil- 19 lars were wrought with lilies in the porch the space of four cubits of them. And the pomegranates above and beneath on the 20 wreathen chains that compassed the middle of the head pieces were in number two hundredth on either head piece. And he 21 set up the pillars in the porch of the temple, and when he had set up the right pillar, he called the name thereon Jachin, and when he had set up the left pillar, he called the name thereof Boaz. And the tops of the pillars were thus wrought with 22 lilies, and so was their workmanship finished. Then he cast 23 a sea of brass, ten cubits wide from brim to brim and round in compass, and five cubits high. And a string of thirty cubits 24 might compass it about, and under the brim of it as it were apples compassed and embrased the sea of ten cubits wide in two rows cast with it when it was cast. And it stood on twelve 25 oxen: of which three looked North, three West, three South, and three East, and the sea on high upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward. And it was an hand breadth thick, 26 and the brim wrought like the brim of a cup with flowers of lilies. And it contained two thousand baths. And he made ten 27 bottoms of brass, four cubits long and four cubits broad apiece, and three high. And the works of the bottoms was on this 28 manner that the sides were as it were flat boards between the ledges. And on the flat boards between the ledges were lions, 29 oxen and Cherubs. And upon the ledges that were above and beneath the lions and oxen, was joined pendant work. And ev- 30 ery bottom had four brazen wheels, whose axletrees were also of brass. And in the four corners were undersettters under the lavatory cast each over against his fellow. And the stalk of the 31 lavatory was in the middle of the bottom one cubit high, and a cubit and a half round, and it had knops thereon in the bare places which were foursquare not round. And under the sides 32 were four wheels and their axletrees joined fast to the bottom.

And the height of every wheel was a cubit and an half. And 33 the workmanship of the wheels was like the work of a chariot wheel. And the axletrees, the navels, spokes and shafts were all molten. And the four undersettters in the four corners were 34 35 of the very bottoms. And under the stalk of the lavatory in the midst of the bottom was there a round foot of half a cubit 36 high. And thereon plain places and ledges of the self. And he graved in the plain and also on the ledges, Cherubs, lions and 37 paulmetrees, every where round about. And on this manner he made the ten bottoms cast work: all of one measure and 38 one size. Then he made ten lavers of brass containing forty Baths apiece, and they were of four cubits apiece, for every one 39 of the bottoms a laver. And he put five of those bottoms on the right corner of the temple, and other five on the left: And put the sea on the right corner of the temple Eastward and toward 40 the South. And Hiram made pots, shovels and basins, and so furnished all the work that he made king Salomon for the 41 house of the LORD: That is to say two pillars and two scalps 42 of the heads that were on the tops of the two pillars, and four hundredth pomegranates upon two wreaths, two rows on either wreath, to cover the two scalps of the heads that were 43 on the tops of the two pillars. And the ten bottoms of brass 44 with ten lavers upon them: and a sea with twelve oxen under 45 it: And pots, shovels and basins. And all these vessels which Hiram made to king Salomon for the house of the LORD were 46 of bright brass. And in the plain of Jordan did the king cast them: even in the clay of the earth between Socoh and Zarthan.

47 And Salomon left all the vessels unweighed, for the exceeding 48 abundance of brass that was in them. And Salomon made all the vessels that pertained unto the house of the LORD: the Altar of gold, and the table of gold whereon the shewbread was 49 put. And five candlesticks, for the right side, and as many for the left, before the quere, of pure gold: with flowers, lamps, and 50 snuffers of gold: and Bowls, Psalteries, basins, spoons and fire pans of pure gold: and hinges of gold both for the doors of the quere, the place most holy, and for the doors of the temple also.
51 And so was ended all the work that king Salomon made for the house of the LORD. And then Salomon brought in the things which David his father had dedicated in silver, gold and other vessels, and put them to the treasure of the house of the LORD.

VIII Then Salomon gathered the elders of Israel, all the heads of the tribes and ancient lords of the children of Israel, unto him to Jerusalem, to bring up the Ark of the appointment of the 2 LORD out of the city of David which is Sion. And all the men of Israel assembled unto king Salomon to the feast that falleth in the month Ethanim which is the seventh month. And when 3 all the elders of Israel were come, the priests took up the Ark of the LORD, and brought it and also the tabernacle of witness 4 and all the holy vessels that were therein. And the priests and the Levites brought them up. And king Salomon and all the 5 congregation of Israel that were assembled, and were with him before the Ark, did offer sheep and oxen that could not be told nor numbered for multitude. And so the priests brought the 6 Ark of the appointment of the LORD unto his place: even into the quere of the temple and place most holy, under the wings of the Cherubs. For the Cherubs stretched out their wings over 7 the Ark, and covered both it and also the staves thereof on high upon it. Howbeit the staves were so long that the ends 8 of them appeared out of the holy place before the quere, but were not seen without. And there they be unto this day. And 9 there was nothing in the Ark save the two tables of stone which Moses put there at Horeb, when the LORD made an appointment with the children of Israel after they were come out of Egypt. And when the priests were come out of the Holy place, 10 then a cloud filled the house of the LORD, that the priests 11 could not endure to minister because of the cloud: for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of the LORD. Then spake 12 Salomon: the LORD said, that he would dwell in darkness. I 13 have built thee an house to dwell in, and an habitation for thee to abide in for ever. And the king turned his face and blessed 14 all the congregation of Israel, all the congregation standing.

And he said: Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, which hath 15 fulfilled with his hand, that he spake with his mouth unto David my father saying: from the day I brought my people 16 Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city among any of the tribes of Israel, to build an house, that my name might be there: But I have chosen David to be ruler over my people Israel. And it 17 was in the heart of David my father, to build an house for the name of the LORD God of Israel. But the LORD God said unto 18 David my father: in that it was in thine heart to build an house for my name, thou didst well, that thou wast so minded. Nev- 19 ertheless thou shalt not build the house, but thy son that shall come out of thy loins, he shall build an house for my name.
And the LORD hath made good his word that he spake. For I 20 stood up in the room of David my father, and sat on the seat of Israel, as the LORD promised, and have built an house for 21 the name of the LORD God of Israel. And I have prepared therein a place for the Ark wherein the covenant of the LORD is, which he made with our fathers, after he had brought them 22 out of the land of Egypt. And Salomon stood before the altar of the LORD in the sight of all the congregation of Israel and stretched out his hands to heaven and said: LORD God 23 of Israel, there is no God like thee in heaven above or in the earth beneath, that keepest appointment and mercy with thy 24 servants that walk before thee with all their hearts: which also hast kept with thy servants David my father, that thou promisedest him. Thou spakest with thy mouth and hast fulfilled with thine hand, as it is come to pass this day. And now 25 LORD God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father, that thou promisedest him saying: thou shalt not be without one or other before me, sitting on the seat of Israel: How be it if thy children shall take heed to their ways that they walk 26 before me, as thou hast walked before me. Now then O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be stable which thou spakest unto thy servant David my father. But indeed can God dwell on the 27 earth? Behold neither heaven, nor heaven above all heavens are able to contain thee: how much less then this house that I have built? but look to the prayer of thy servant and his supplication O LORD my God, to give an ear unto the voice and 28 prayer which thy servant prayeth before thee this day, that thine eyes may be open upon this house night and day, and upon the place, of which thou hast said, my name shall be there: that thou hearken unto the prayer which thy servant

29 shall pray in this place. And hearken unto the supplication of thy servant and of thy people Israel which they shall pray in this place: And hear thou up unto heaven thy dwelling place, 30 and when thou hearest have mercy. And if any man trespass against his neighbour, and his neighbour take an adjuration to adjure him withal, and the adjuration come before thine altar 31 at this house then hearken thou up to heaven, and work and judge thy servants, that thou condemn the wicked to bring his way upon his head, and justify the righteous to give him according to his righteousness. When thy people Israel be put 32 to the worse before their enemies, because they have sinned against thee, and afterward turn again to thee and praise thy name, and pray and make supplication unto thee in this house: Then hear thou up to heaven and be merciful unto the sin of thy people Israel, and bring thee again unto the land which thou gavest unto their fathers. If heaven be shut up, that there be no rain, because they have sinned against thee: yet if they pray in this place and praise thy name and turn from their sins, throw thy scourging of them: then hear thou up to heaven, and be merciful unto the sin of thy servants and of thy people Israel, that thou shew them a good way to walk in, and give rain upon thy land that thou hast given unto thy people to inherit. If there chance dearth in the land, pestilence, blasting or withering of corn, or that the fruits be devoured of Grasshoppers or Caterpillars, or if their enemies besiege them in the land and in their own cities, or whatsoever plague or sickness chance: then hear thou up to heaven thy dwelling place, all the prayers and supplications that shall be made of all men thoroughout all thy people Israel, which shall know every man the plague of his own heart, and stretch forth his hands unto this house, and be merciful, and work, and give every man according to his ways (even as thou onely knowest every man's heart, for thou knowest the hearts of all the children of Adam) that they may fear thee as long as they live upon the earth which thou gavest unto their fathers. And likewise if a stranger that is not of thy people Israel come out of a far country for thy name's sake (for they shall hear of thy great name and of thy mighty hand and stretched out Arm) and therefore if he come and pray at this place, hear thou up to heaven thy dwelling place and do according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for: that all nations of the earth may know thy name, to fear thee as do thy people Israel, and that it may be known that this house which I have built is called after thy name. And when they go out to battle against their enemies whither soever thou shalt send them, and shall pray unto the LORD toward the city which thou hast chosen and toward the house that I have built for thy name: hear thou their prayers and supplications, up to heaven, and judge their cause. And finally when they shall have sinned against thee (for there is no man that sinneth not) and thou art angry with them and hast delivered them to their enemies, that they be carried away prisoners unto the land of their enemies, whether far or near,* 47 yet if they turn again unto their hearts in the land where they be in captivity, and return and pray unto thee in the land of them that hold them captive, saying: we have sinned and have 48 done wickedly and have trespassed, and so turn again unto thee with all their hearts and all their souls in the land of their enemies which hold them captive, and pray unto thee, toward the land which thou gavest unto their fathers, and toward the city which thou hast chosen, and the house which I have built 49 for thy name: then hear thou their prayer and supplication 50 up to heaven thy dwelling place, and judge their causes, and be merciful unto thy people that have sinned against thee, and unto all their trespass that they have trespassed against thee, and get them favour* in the sight of them that hold them cap-51 tive that they may have compassion on them. For they be thy people and thine inheritance which thou broughtest out of 52 Egypt, from the furnace of iron. And let thine eyes be open unto the prayer of thy servant and unto the prayer of thy people Israel, to hearken unto them, in all that they call unto 53 thee for. For thou didst separate them to be thine inheritance, above all the nations of the earth, as thou saidest by the hand of Moses thy servant, when thou broughtest our fathers out of 54 Egypt O Lord Jehovah.* And when Salomon had made an end of praying all this prayer and supplication unto the LORD, he arose from before the altar of the LORD and from kneeling on 55 his knees and stretching of his hands up to heaven and stood and blessed all the congregation of Israel with a loud voice say-56 ing: Blessed be the LORD that hath given rest unto his people Israel according to all that he promised: so that there is not one word escaped of all the good promises which he promised 57 by the hand of Moses his servant. And the LORD our God be with us, as he was with our fathers, and forsake us not neither 58 leave us, but that he bow our hearts unto him, to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, ordinances and cus-59 toms which he commanded our fathers. And these my words which I have prayed before the LORD, be nye unto the LORD our God day and night, that he defend the cause of his servant 60 and of his people Israel evermore, that all nations of the earth may know, that the LORD, he is God and none but he.* And 61 I pray God that your hearts may be sound with the LORD our God, to walk in his ordinances and to keep his laws as we do this day. And the king and all Israel with him, offered offer- 62 ings before the LORD. And the peaceofferings that Salomon 63 offered unto the LORD, were twenty two thousand oxen and an hundredth and twenty thousand sheep: And so the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the LORD. And 64 the same day the king hallowed the middle of the court that is before the house of the LORD: for there he offered burntoffer-ings and meatofferings and the fat of the peaceofferings, because the brazen altar that was before the LORD, was too little to receive the burntofferings and meatofferings and the fat of the peace offerings. And Solomon held that same time a high 65 feast and all Israel with him, a mighty congregation, even from the coasts of Hemath unto the river of Egypt, before the LORD our God, seven days and yet seven days, that is, fourteen days.

 And the eighth day he sent the people away. And they blessed 66 the king and went unto their tents joyous and glad in heart for all the goodness that the LORD had shewed unto David his servant and to Israel his people.

And when Salomon had finished the building of the house IX of the LORD and of the king's palace, and of all that his desire and lust was to make: the LORD appeared unto him again, as 2 he appeared to him at Gabaon. And the LORD said unto him: 3 I have heard thy prayer and intercession that thou madest before me, and have hallowed this house which thou hast built, to put my name there for ever and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually. And if thou wilt walk before me, as 4 David thy father walked, in pureness of heart and plainness, to do all that I have commanded thee, and shalt keep mine ordinances and customs: then I will stablish the seat of thy 5 kingdom upon Israel for ever, as I promised to David thy father saying: Thou shalt not be without one or other upon the seat of Israel. But and if ye and your children shall turn away from 6 after me, and shall not keep mine ordinances which I have set before you, but shall go and serve other gods and bow yourselves unto them: then I will weed Israel out of the land which 7 I have given them. And this house which I have hallowed for my name, I will put out of my sight. And Israel shall be a 8 proverb and a fable unto all nations. And this house which is so high, all that pass by it shall be astonied and shall hiss and say: why hath the LORD dealt on this manner with this land 9 and with this house? And it shall be answered then, because they forsook the LORD their God which brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and have taken hold upon other gods and have stooped unto him and served them: therefore hath 10 the LORD brought upon them all this evil. Then at the end of twenty year in which Salomon had built the two houses, that 11 is to wete, the house of the LORD and the king's palace: because Hiram the king of Tyre had supported him with Cedar, fir and gold, as much as he desired: therefore Salomon gave 12 Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. And when Hiram was come from Tyre to see the cities which Salomon had given 13 him, they pleased him not. Wherefore he said: what cities are these which thou hast given me, my brother? and he called 14 them the land of Cabull unto this day. This Hiram had sent the king six score hundredweight of gold. And this is the sum 15 of the tribute, which king Salomon raised to build the house of the LORD and his own house, and Mello and the walls of 16 Jerusalem, and Hezer, and Magedo, and Gazer. For Pharao king of Egypt went up and took Gazer and burnt it with fire, and slew the Cananites that dwelt in the city, and gave it for a 17 present unto his daughter that was Salomon's wife. And Salomon built Gazer and Beth Horon the nether: and Baalath 18 and Tamar in the wilderness that is in the land: and all the store cities that Salomon had, and cities for his chariots, and cities for his horsemen and all that his lust was to build in Jerusalem and Libanon and in all the land of his kingdom.

20 And all the people that were left of the Amorites, Hethites, Pherethites, Hevites and Jebusites, which were not of the chil-21 dren of Israel, the children of the said nations that were left in the land, because the children of Israel were not able to de-22 stroy them, did Salomon make tributaries unto this day. And of the children of Israel did Salomon make no bondmen. But they were men of war and his servants and his lords and Cap-23 tains and rulers of his chariots and of his Horsemen. And these many lords that oversaw the work had Salomon, five hundredth and fifty, which ruled the people that wrought in the work. And Pharaoh's daughter came up out of the city of 24 David unto the house which Salomon had built for her. And 25 after that he built Mello. And thrice a year did Salomon offer burntofferings and peaceofferings upon the altar which he had built unto the LORD, to burn the fat thereon: which altar is before the LORD. And when king Salomon had made the house perfect, he made ships in Azion Gaber which is beside Eloth, 26 on the brink of the red sea, in the land of Edom. And Hi- 27 rram sent by ship also of his servants, that were shipmen and expert in the sea, with the servants of Salomon. And they 28 went to Ophir and fetched from thence gold, to the sum of four hundredth and twenty two talents, and brought it to Salomon.

And the queen of Saba heard of the wisdom of Salomon con- X cerning the name of the LORD, and came to prove him with riddles. And she came to Jerusalem with a mighty great mul- 2 titude of Camels that bare sweet odours and gold exceeding much, and precious stones. And when she was come to Salomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.
 And Salomon expounded her all her questions, that there was 3 not one thing hid from the king which he expounded her not.
 And when the queen of Saba had seen all Salomon's wisdom 4 and the house that he had built, and the meat of his table, 5 and the sitting of his servants, and the standing of his servi-tors and their apparel, and his butlers and his sacrifice that he offered in the house of the LORD, she was astonished. Then 6 she said to the king: the word I heard in mine own land of thy deeds and wisdom, is true. How be it I believed it not, till I 7 came and saw it with mine eyes. And see, the one half was not told me: for thy wisdom and goodness exceedeth the fame which I heard. Happy are thy men: and happy are these thy 8 servants, which stand ever before thee and hear thy wisdom.
 And blessed be the LORD thy God which had a lust to thee, to 9 set thee on the seat of Israel, because the LORD loved Israel for ever, and therefore made thee king, to do equity and righteousness. And she gave the king an hundredth and twenty 10 talents of gold, and of sweet odours exceeding much, and precious stones. There came never after such abundance of sweet odors as the Queen of Saba gave to king Salomon. And thereto 11 the ships of Hiram that brought gold from Ophir, brought from Ophir great plenty of Almuge trees and precious stones. And 12 king Salomon made of the Almuge trees pillars in the house of the LORD in the king's palace, and made harps and psalteries for singers. There came no more Almuge trees so, nor was any 13 more seen unto this day. And king Salomon gave unto the Queen of Saba all her desire that she asked of him: besides that he gave her with his own hand. And so she returned unto 14 her own country with her servants. The weight of gold that came to Salomon in one year, was six hundredth three score 15 and six talents of gold, besides that he had of chapmen and merchants of Poticaries and of all the kings of Araby and of the 16 lords of the country. And king Salomon made two hundredth bucklers of beaten gold, six hundredth sicles of gold went to 17 a buckler. And he made three hundredth shields of beaten gold, three pounds of gold going to a piece, and put them in the 18 house of the wood of Libanon. And the king made a great seat of Ivory and covered it with precious gold. And the seat had 19 six steps. And the top of the seat was round behind his back with pommels on either side on the place where he sat, and two 20 Lions standing beside the pommels. And there stood twelve lions on the steps, six on a side. There was none like seen in 21 any kingdom. And all king Salomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Libanon were of pure gold. And as for silver it was nothing worth in the 22 days of Salomon. For the sea ships which the king had in the sea, with the ships of Hiram, came every third years laden with 23 gold, silver, Ivory, apes and peacocks. And so king Salomon exceeded all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom. And 24 all the world resorted to Salomon, to hear his wisdom, which God had put in his heart. And brought him every man his 25 present, vessels of silver and of gold, and of raiment, harness, sweet odours, horses and Mules, year by year. And Salomon 26 gathered together chariots and horsemen: so that he had a thousand and four hundredth chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, which he bestowed in the chariot cities and with the 27 king at Jerusalem. And the king made silver in Jerusalem as plenteous as stones, and Cedar as plenteous as mulberry trees that grow in the valleys. And Salomon's horses came out of 28 Egypt from Keva: the merchants fetched them from Keva at a price. A chariot came out of Egypt for six hundredth sicles of 29 silver, and an horse for an hundredth and fifty. And even so by the hands of the said merchants, horses were brought out for all the kings of the Hethites and for the kings of Syria.

But king Salomon loved many outlandish women: the daughter of Pharaoh: and of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonites and Hethites, even of nations of which the LORD said 2 unto the children of Israel, see ye come not at them, nor let them come to you: for surely they will turn your hearts after their gods. Nevertheless to such Salomon clave and fell in love with them. And he had seven hundredth very Queens and 3 three hundredth concubines which turned always his heart. For when Salomon was old, his wives turned his heart after 4 other gods: so that his heart was not perfect with the LORD his God, as was the heart of David his father. And Salomon 5 followed Astaroth the God of the Zidons, and Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites. And Salomon wrought wickedness 6 in the sight of the LORD and continued not after the LORD as did David his father. After that Salomon built an altar 7 for Chamos the abomination of the Moabites in the hill that standeth before Jerusalem, and unto Moloch the abomination of the children of Ammon. And likewise did he for all his out- 8 landish wives which burnt cense and offered unto their gods. Then was the LORD angry with Salomon because his heart 9 turned from the LORD God of Israel which appeared unto him twice, and gave him a charge of this thing that he should not 10 follow other gods. But he kept not that which the LORD commanded him: whereupon the LORD said to Salomon: for as much as this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept mine ap- 11 pointment and mine ordinances which I have commanded thee, therefore I will rend the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant. Notwithstanding in thy days I will not do it, 12 because of David thy father: but I will take it from thy son. How be it I will not take away all: but will give one tribe to 13 thy son, because of David my servant and because of Jerusalem which I have chosen. And the LORD stirred up an adversary 14 unto Salomon, one Hadad an Edomite and of the king's lineage of Edom. For when David was in Edom, and Joab the captain of the host was gone up to bury them that were 15 slain: and had slain all the men children in Edom, for six months did Joab remain there and all Israel, till he had destroyed all the men children in Edom. And this Hadad fled 17 and certain other Edomites of his father's servants with him, 18 to go to Egypt, Hadad being yet a little lad. And they arose out of Madian and went to Pharan, and took men with them out of Pharan and came to Egypt unto Pharao king thereof, which gave him an house, and appointed him vitailles and gave him 19 lands. And Hadad gat great favour in the sight of Pharao, so that he gave him to wife the sister of his own wife, the sis-20 ter of Thahaphnes the Queen. And the sister of Thahaphnes bare him Senubath his son. And Thahaphnes weaned him in Pharao's house. And he was in Pharao's house among the sons 21 of Pharao. And when Hadad heard say in Egypt that David was laid to sleep with his fathers, and that Joab the captain of the host was dead also, he said to Pharao let me depart, that 22 I may go to mine own country. Then said Pharao unto him: what lackest thou here with me, that thou wouldest go to thine 23 own country? And he said, nothing: how be it let me go. And God stirred up another adversary, one Razon the son of Eliada, 24 which fled from Hadadezer king of Zobah his master. Which Razon gathered men unto him and became captain over the company, when David slew them. And they went to Damasco 25 and dwelt therein, and reigned in Damasco. And he was an adversary to Israel all the days of Salomon, with the evil that 26 Hadad did, which abhorred Israel and reigned in Siria. And Jeroboam the son of Nabat an Ephrathite of Zaredah (whose mother was called Zeruah and was a widow and Salomon's servant) lifted up his hand against the king. And hereof came it, 27 that he lifted up his hand against the king. Salomon built Mello and mended broken places in the city of David his fa-28 ther. And this fellow Jeroboam was an active man. And when Salomon saw the young man, that he wrought so lustily in the work, he made him ruler over all the charges of the house of 29 Joseph. And it chanced at that season as Jeroboam was gone out of Jerusalem, that the prophet Ahiah the Silonite met him by the way, having a new mantle on him, and they two alone in 30 the field. And Ahiah caught the new mantle that was on him and rent it in twelve pieces, and said to Jeroboam: take thee 31 ten pieces. For this sayeth the LORD God of Israel: behold, I will rent the kingdom out of the hands of Salomon and will 32 give ten tribes to thee, and he shall have one, for my servant David's sake and for Jerusalem the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel: because they have forsaken me, 33 and have bowed themselves unto Astaroth the God of the Zi-dons, and to Camos the God of the Moabites and to Milcom the God of the children of Ammon, and have not walked in my ways, to do that pleaseth me, and mine ordinances and customs, as David his father. How be it I will take none of 34 the kingdom out of his hand: but will make him chief all his life long, for David my servant's sake, which I chose: because he kept my commandments and ordinances. But I will take 35 the kingdom out of his son's hand and will give unto thee ten tribes of it: and will give his son one, that David my servant 36 may have a light alway before me in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen me, to put my name there. And I will take thee, 37 and thou shalt reign upon all that thy soul desireth and shalt be king over Israel. And if thou shalt hearken unto all that 38 I command thee, and shalt walk in my ways and do that is right in my sight, that thou keep mine ordinances and commandments as David my servant did: then will I be with thee and build thee an house that shall continue, as I built for my servant David, and will give Israel unto thee. And therewith 39 will I vex the seed of David, but not for ever. And Salomon 40 sought to kill Jeroboam: wherefore Jeroboam arose and fled into Egypt unto Sesak king of Egypt and continued there until the death of Salomon. And the rest of the Acts of Salomon and 41 all that he did, and his wisdom are written in the book of the Acts of Salomon. And the time that Salomon reigned in Jeru- 42 salem upon all Israel, was forty year. And then he laid him to 43 rest with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David his father, and Rehoboam his son reigned in his stead.

And Rehoboam went to Sichem: for all Israel were come to XII Sichem to make him king. And when Rehoboam the son of 2 Nabat heard of it being yet in Egypt: for he fled to Egypt for fear of Salomon, and dwelt in Egypt. And they sent and called 3 him: and so Jeroboam and all the congregation of Israel came and spake unto Rehoboam saying: thy father made our yoke 4 grievous, but now make thou the grievous service of thy father and his sore yoke which he put upon us, lighter, and so we will serve thee. And he said unto them: depart yet for the space 5 of three days, and then come again to me. And the people departed. And king Rehoboam took counsel with the old men 6 that stood before Salomon his father, while he yet lived, and 7 said: what counsel give ye to answer this people withal? And they said unto him: If thou shalt be a servant unto this peo-8 ple this day and serve them and answer them and speak kind words to them: they will be thy servants for ever. But he left the counsel that the old men had given him, and counselled with the young men that were nourished up with him and had 9 waited on him. And he said unto them: what counsel give ye, to answer this people withal which have communed with me saying: make the yoke which thy father did put upon us, 10 lighter? And the young men that were brought up with him, answered him saying, this people that have said unto thee: thy father made our yoke heavy, make thou it us lighter: thus an-11 swer them. My little finger shall be weightier than my father's loins. And now where my father put a grievous yoke upon you, I will make it heavier. For where my father corrected you 12 with scourges, I will chastise you with scorpions. And when Jeroboam: and all the people were come to Rehoboam the third day, as the king appointed them, saying, come to me again this 13 day three days: the king answered the people churlishly and left the advice that old men gave him: and spake to them af-14 ter the counsel of the young men saying: My father made your yoke grievous, but I will make it grievouser. For where my father chastised you with whips, I will chastise you with scor-15 pions. And so the king hearkened not unto the people: for the turning away was of the LORD, to perform his saying, which the LORD said by Ahiah the Silonite unto Jeroboam the son of 16 Nabat. And when all Israel saw that the king regarded them not, the people answered the king again saying: we have no part in David, nor inheritance in the son of Isai. To your tents therefore Israel, and now see to thine own house David. And 17 so Israel departed unto their tents. How be it over the children of Israel which dwelt in the city of Juda, did Rehoboam 18 reign still. Then king Rehoboam sent Aduram the receiver of the tribute. And all Israel stoned him to death with stones.

But king Rehoboam made speed and gat him up to his char-19 iot and fled to Jerusalem. And so Israel departed from the 20 house of David unto this day. And when all Israel heard that Jeroboam was come again, they sent and called him unto the congregation and made him king over Israel: so there followed the house of David, but the tribe of Juda onely. And when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem, he gathered all the house of Juda and the tribe of Ben Jamin an hundredth and four score thousands of chosen men and good warriors, to fight against the house of Israel, and to bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam the son of Salomon. Then came the word of the Lorde unto Semeiah the man of God saying: speak unto Rehoboam the son of Salomon king of Juda, and unto all the house of Juda and Benjamin, and the remnant of the people and say. Thus sayeth the LORD: go not nor yet fight against your brethren the children of Israel, but return every man to his house, for this doing is of the LORD. And they obeyed the word of the LORD and returned and departed according to the word of the LORD. Then Jeroboam built Sichein in mount Ephraim, and dwelt therein. And went from thence and built Phaniel. And Jeroboam thought in his heart: now might the kingdom return to the house of David again. For if this people shall go up and do sacrifice in the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, then shall their hearts turn again unto their lord Rehoboam king of Juda. And so shall they kill me and go again to Rehoboam king of Juda. Whereupon the king took counsel and made two calves of gold and said unto the people: ye shall not need to go any more to Jerusalem. Behold your gods* Israel which brought you out of the land of Egypt. And he put the one in Bethel and the other in Dan. And that doing was a cause of sin. And the people went before the one as far as Dan. And he made houses of hill altars, and made of the lowest of the people priests which were not of the sons of Levi. And Jeroboam made a feast the fifteenth day of the eighth month, like unto the feast that was in Juda, and offered on the altar. And so did he in Bethel, to offer unto the calves that he had made. And he put in Bethel the priests of the hillaltars, which he had made. And he offered upon the altar which he had made in Bethel, the fifteenth day of the eighth month, which he had imagined of his own heart: and made a solempne feast unto the children of Israel, and went up to the altar to burn sacrifice.

And behold, there came a man of God out of Juda with the word of GOD, to Bethel, as Jeroboam stood by the altar to offer, and cried against the altar at the commandment of the LORD and said: altar, altar, thus sayeth the LORD. Behold a child shall be born of the house of David, Josiah by name, which upon thee shall offer the priests of the hillaltars that sacrifice 3 upon thee, and shall burn men's bones upon thee. And he gave them the same time a sign saying: this is the sign of that the LORD hath promised. Behold the altar shall rent and the 4 ashes that are in it shall fall out. And when the king heard the saying of the man of God which he cried against the altar in Bethel, he stretched out his hand from the altar saying: hold him. And his hand which he put forth toward him dried up, 5 that he could not pull it in again to him and the altar clave and the ashes ran out of the altar according to the token which the man of God had given at the commandment of the LORD.

6 And the king answered and said unto the man of God: Oh pray unto the LORD thy God and make intercession for me, that my hand may be restored me again. And the man of God besought the LORD, and his hand came to him again as well as before.
7 Then said the king unto the man of God: come home with me 8 and refresh thyself, and I will give thee a reward. But the man of God answered the king, if thou wouldest give me half thine house, I would not go with thee neither would I eat meat 9 or drink water in this place. For so was it charged me, throw the word of GOD and said to me: eat no bread nor drink water 10 nor turn again by the same way thou wentest. And so he went another way and returned not by the way he came to Bethel.
11 And there dwelt an old prophet in Bethel, whose sons came and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Bethel, and the words which he spake unto the king 12 they told their father also. And their father said unto them: what way went he? for his sons had seen what way the man 13 of God went which came from Juda. Then said he to his sons: saddle mine Ass. And they saddled him an Ass. And he gat him up thereon and went after the man of God, and found him 14 sitting under an Oak and said unto him: art thou the man of 15 God that camest from Juda? And he said, yea. Then he said 16 to him: come home with me and eat bread. And the other said again I may not return with thee, to go with thee, neither may 17 I eat bread or drink water with thee in this place. For it was said to me by the commandment of the LORD, eat no bread nor drink water in this place, nor turn again by the way thou wentest. And the old prophet said unto him: I am a prophet as 18 well as thou, and an Angel spake unto me with the word of the LORD saying: bring him again with thee to thine house, and let him eat bread and drink water, and yet lied unto him. And 19 so the other went again with him and ate bread in his house and drank water. And as they sat at the table, the word of the 20 LORD came unto the prophet that brought him again. And 21 he cried unto the man of God that came from Juda, saying: thus sayeth the LORD: because thou hast disobeyed the mouth of the LORD, and hast not kept the commandment which the 22 LORD thy God commanded thee, but camest back again and hast eaten bread and drunk water in the place in which he bade that thou shouldest eat no bread nor drink water: therefore thy carcass shall not come unto the sepulchre of thy fathers. And when he had eaten bread and drunk, he saddled 23 an Ass for the prophet which he had brought again. And as he journeyed a Lion met him by the way and slew him, and his carcass lay along in the way and the Ass stood thereby, and the Lion stood by the corpse also. And men that passed 25 by, saw the carcass cast along in the way and the lion standing thereby, and went and told it in the town where the old prophet dwelt. And when the prophet that brought him back 26 again from the way, heard thereof, he said: it is the man of God which disobeyed the mouth of the LORD. And therefore the LORD hath delivered him unto the Lion which hath rent him and slain him, according to the word of the LORD, which he said to him. And he said to his sons saddle me an Ass: so 27 they did. And he went and found the body cast along in the 28 way and the Ass and the lion standing thereby. And the Lion had not eaten the carcass nor hurt the Ass. And he took up 29 the body of the man of God and put it upon the Ass and brought it again, and came to the city of the old prophet to lament him, and to bury him. And he laid his body in his own grave and 30 lamented over him, Oh my brother. And when he had buried 31 him, he spake to his sons saying: when I am dead, see that ye bury me in the sepulchre wherein the man of God is buried, and lay my bones by his. For the saying which he cried at the 32 bidding of the LORD against the altar in Bethel, and against all the houses of hillaltars which are in the cities of Samaria, shall come to pass. How be it for all that, Jeroboam turned 33 not from his wicked way: but turned away and made of the lowest of the people priests of the hillaltars. Whosoever would, he filled their hands, and they became priests of the hillaltars.

34 And this doing was sin unto the house of Jeroboam, even to destroy it and to put it away from off the face of the earth.

XIV, 2 At that time Abiah the son of Jeroboam fell sick. And Jeroboam said unto his wife: up a fellowship and change thine apparel that thou be not known to be the wife of Jeroboam, and get thee to Siloh. For there is Ahiah the Prophet which

3 told me that I should be king over this people. And take with thee ten loaves and cracknels and a cruse of honey, and go to

4 him: for he will tell thee what shall come of the lad. And Jeroboam's wife did so: she arose and went to Siloh and came to the house of Ahiah. But Ahiah could not see, for his eyes

5 were waxen dim for age. And the LORD said unto Ahiah: behold the wife of Jeroboam cometh, to question with thee about her son which is sick. This wise and this wise answer her. And when she came, she feigned herself to be another woman.

6 But when Ahiah heard the sound of her feet as she came to the door he said: come in thou wife of Jeroboam, why feignest thou thyself to be another? I am sent to thee a cruel messenger.

7 Go and tell Jeroboam, thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel: for as much as I exalted thee from among the common people

8 and made thee prince over my people Israel, and did rent the kingdom away from the house of David and gave it thee: and thou hast not been as was my servant David, which kept my commandments and followed me with all his heart, to do that

9 onely which seemeth right in mine eyes: but hast done evil above all that were before thee, and hast gone and made the other gods and images of metal, to provoke me, and hast cast

10 me behind thy back: therefore behold I will bring evil upon the house of Jeroboam and will strike from Jeroboam all that pisseth against the wall, and what soever is in prison or forsaken in Israel, and will take away the remnant of the house of Jeroboam, as men take away a dung hill, till it be consumed.

11 And whosoever of Jeroboam's house die in the town, him shall the dogs eat, and him that dieth in the field, shall the fowls of 12 the air eat: for the LORD hath said it, up and get thee to thine house, and as soon as thy foot enterest the city, the lad shall 13 die. How be it all Israel shall mourn him and bury him, for this onely of all Jeroboam shall come to the sepulchre, because in him there is found goodness toward the LORD God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam. Moreover the LORD shall stir him up a king over Israel which shall destroy the house of Jeroboam in that day. And what is that, that is now in hand? And the LORD shall smite Israel, as a reed that groweth in the water is shaken, and will weed Israel out of this good land which he gave to their fathers, and will scatter them beyond Euphrates, because they have made them groves to anger the LORD. And he will give Israel up, because of the sin of Jeroboam where-with he did sin and made Israel sin thereto. And Jeroboam's wife arose and departed and went to Therzah, and by that she was come to the threshold of the door, the lad was dead. And all Israel buried him and lamented him, according to the word of the LORD which he spake by the hand of his servant Ahiah the Prophet. And the rest of the deeds of Jeroboam, how he warred and how he reigned, are written in the book of the stories of the kings of Israel. And the days which Jeroboam reigned were twenty two year. And then he rested with his fathers, and Nadab his son reigned in his stead. And Rehoboam the son of Salomon reigned in Juda and was forty one year old when he began to reign, and reigned seventeen year in Jerusalem the city which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his name there. His mother's name was Naamah an Ammonite. And Juda wrought wickedness in the sight of the LORD and angered him above all that their fathers did, with their sin which they sinned. For they also made them hillaltars and Images and groves on every high hill and under every green tree. And thereto there was a stews of male children in the land, and they did according to all the abominations of the nations which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel. And the fifth year of king Rehoboam came Sesak king of Egypt up to Jerusalem, and took away the treasure of the house of the LORD, and the treasure of the king's house and all that was to be had. And he took away the shields of gold which Salomon made. In whose stead king Rehoboam made brazen shields and put them in the keeping of the captains of the guard which waited at the door of the king's house. And as oft as the king went in to the house of the LORD, they of his guard bare them, and ever brought 29 them again into the guard chamber. The rest of the Acts of king Rehoboam and all he did, are written in the book of Acts 30 of the kings of Juda. And there was war between Rehoboam 31 and Jeroboam all their lives. And Rehoboam laid him to rest with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And his mother's name was Naamah an Ammonite.

And Abiam his son reigned in his room.

XV The eighteenth year of Jeroboam the son of Nabat, reigned 2 king Abiam over Juda, and ruled three years in Jerusalem.
His mother's name was Maacah the daughter of Abesalom.
3 And he walked in all the sins of his father which he did before him, and his heart was not whole with the LORD his God, 4 as the heart of David his father. Nevertheless for David's sake did the LORD his God give him a light in Jerusalem, that he 5 set up his son after him to continue Jerusalem. Because that David did which pleased the LORD and turned from nothing that he commanded him all the days of his life, save only in 6 the matter of Urias the Hethite. And there was war between 7 Rehoboam and Jeroboam as long as he lived. And the rest of the deeds of Abiam and all that he did, are written in the 8 book of the deeds that were done in the days of the kings of Juda. And there was war between Abiam and Jeroboam. And Abiam rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the city 9 of David. And Asa his son reigned in his stead. The twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel began Asa to reign over 10 Juda, and ruled in Jerusalem forty one year. And his mother's 11 name was Maacah the daughter of Abesalom. And Asa did that seemed right in the eyes of the LORD, like David his fa-12 ther. And he made the stews of males depart the land, and 13 put away all the Idols that his fathers had made. And thereto he put down Maacah his mother from bearing rule, because she had made an Idol in a grove. And Asa destroyed her Idol 14 and burnt it by the brook Cedron. But he put not down the hill altars. Nevertheless Asa's heart was whole with the LORD 15 all his days. And he brought in that his father had dedicated, and the things dedicate unto the house of the LORD, silver, 16 gold, and Jewels. And there was war between Asa and Baasa 17 king of Israel all their days. And Baasa king of Israel went up against Juda and built Ramah, because that he would let none 18 of Asa's people king of Juda, go in or out. Then Asa took all the silver and gold that was left in the treasure of the house of the LORD, and all the treasure of the king's house and delivered it unto his servants, and sent them to Benhadad the son of Tabremon the son of Hezion king of Siria that dwelt at Damasco, saying: there is a bond between thee and me as was 19 between thy father and mine. Therefore I send thee both gold and silver for a gift, that thou go and break the appointment between thee and Baasa king of Israel, that he may depart from me. And Benhadad hearkened unto king Asa and sent 20 the captains of the hosts which he had against the cities of Israel, and smote Ahion, Dan, Abel called Beth Maacah and all Ceneroth with all the land of Nephthali. And when Baasa 21 heard that, he left building of Ramah and dwelt in Therzah. Then king Asa made a proclamation thorowout all Juda, that 22 none should be excused. And they took the stones of Ramah and the timber wherewith Baasa had built, and king Asa built there with Gabaah in Benjamin and Mazpah. And the rem- 23 nant of all the deeds of Asa and of all his might and of all that he did, and the cities which he built, are written in the chronicles of the acts done in the days of the kings of Juda. Neverthelater in his old age he was diseased in his feet. And 24 Asa laid him to rest with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father. And Jehosophat his son reigned in his room. And Nadab the son of Jeroboam began 25 to reign upon Israel the second year of Asa king of Juda, and reigned upon Israel two year. And he did evil in the sight of 26 the LORD and walked in the way of his father and in his sin wherewith he made Israel sin. But Baasa the son of Ahiah of 27 the house of Isacar conspired against him, and slew him at Gebethon a city of the Philistines for Nadab and all Israel lay at siege before Gebethon. And it was the third year of Asa king 28 of Juda, when Baasa slew him, and reigned in his stead. And 29 as soon as he was king, he slew all the house of Jeroboam and left him nought that breathed, until he had put him clean out, agreeing unto the saying of the LORD which he spake by his servant Ahiah the Silonite, for the sin of Jeroboam wherewith 30 he sinned and made Israel sin, and for his angering wherewith he angered the LORD God of Israel. The rest of the deeds 31 of Nadab, and all he did, are written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel. And there was war between Asa and Baasa 32 33 king of Israel all their days. And the third year of Asa king of Juda, Baasa the son of Ahiah began to reign over all Israel 34 in Therzah, and continued twenty four year. And he did that which displeased the LORD, for he walked in the way of Jeroboam and in his sin wherewith he made Israel sin.

XVI

Then came the word of the LORD to Jehu the son of Hanani 2 against Baasa saying: forasmuch as I exalted thee out of dust and made thee captain over my people Israel, and thou hast walked in the way of Jeroboam and hast made my people Is-3 rael sin, to anger me with their sin: therefore I will make clean riddance of Baasa and of all his house, and will make his 4 house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nabat. And he that dieth of Baasa in the city, him shall dogs eat: and him 5 that dieth in the fields, shall the fowls of the air eat. The rest of the deeds of Baasa, and what he did and his power, are 6 written in the book of the histories of the kings of Israel. And Baasa fell on sleep with his fathers and was buried in Therzah.
7 And Elah his son reigned in his stead. And thereto thorow the Prophet Jehu the son of Hanani, the word of the LORD came against Baasa and against his house, because of all the wickedness that he did in the sight of the LORD, in angering him with the works of his hands, that he should be like the house of Jer-8 oboam, because he had killed Nabat. The twenty sixth year of Asa king of Juda began Elah the son of Baasa to reign over 9 Israel in Therzah, and continued two year. And his servant Zamri captain of half his chariots, conspired against him, as he was in Therzah drinking of strong drink, in the house of 10 Arza steward of his house in Therzah. And Zamri came and smote him and killed him the twenty seventh year of Asa king 11 of Juda, and reigned in his stead. And as soon as he was king and sat his seat, he slew all the house of Baasa and left not a pissor against a wall. And thereto he slew all his kin 12 and friends, and so Zamri destroyed all the house of Baasa, according to the word of the LORD which he spake to Baasa 13 thorow Jehu the Prophet, for all the sins of Baasa and sins of Elah his son, wherewith they sinned and made Israel sin, to 14 anger the LORD of Israel with their vanities. The rest of the deeds of Elah and all he did, are written in the chronicles of 15 the kings of Israel. The twenty seventh year of Asa king of Juda, Zamri reigned seven days in Therzah, the people besieging Gebethon a city of the Philistines. And when the people 16 that lay in the siege, heard say how Zamri had conspired, and how he had slain the king also: then all Israel made Amri the captain of the men of war king the same day over Israel even in the host. And Amri departed from Gebethon and all Israel 17 with him, and besieged Therzah. And when Zamri saw that 18 the city must needs be taken, he went into the palace of the king's house, and set the king's house afire upon himself and there died, for his sins which he sinned in doing wickedness in 19 the sight of the LORD, and for walking in the way of Jeroboam and in his sins which he did and made Israel sin. The rest of 20 the Acts of Zamri and the treason that he wrought, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel. Moreover 21 that same season was Israel divided in twain, for half the people followed Thebni the son of Gineth, to make him king. And the other half followed Amri. But the people that followed 22 Amri prevailed against them that followed Thebni the son of Gineth. And so Thebni died and Amri reigned. The thirty 23 first year of Asa king of Juda, began Amri to reign over Israel twelve year and he ruled six years in Therzah. And he bought 24 the hill of Samaria of one Semar for two hundredth talents of silver, and built in the hill, and called the name of the city which he had built Samaria after the name of Semar the lord of the hill. And this Amri wrought wickedness in the eyes of 25 the LORD worse than all that were before him, and walked 26 in all the ways of Jeroboam the son of Nabat, and in his sin wherewith he made Israel sin, to anger the LORD God of Israel with their vanities. The rest of the acts of Amri which he did, 27 and his power that he used, are written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel. And Amri laid him to rest with his fathers, 28 and was buried in Samaria, and Ahab his son reigned in his stead. The thirty eighth year of Asa king of Juda, began Ahab 29 the son of Amri to reign over Israel, and reigned in Samaria twenty two year. And he displeased the LORD above all that 30 were before him. For it seemed him a light thing to walk in the sin of Jeroboam. But took Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal 31 king of the Sidonites to wife, and went and served Baal and bowed unto him. And he reared an altar to Baal in the house 32 of Baal which he had made in Samaria. And Ahab made a 33 grove, and proceeded further in angering the LORD God of Is-34 rael, than all the kings of Israel that were before him. In his days Hiel of Bethel built Jericho. And it cost him Amran his eldest son when he laid the foundation, and his youngest son when he set up the gates, agreeing unto the word of the LORD which he spake by Josua the son of Nun.

XVII And Eliah the Thesbite which was of the inhabiters of Gilead, said unto Ahab: as truly as the LORD God of Israel liveth, before whom I stand, there shall be neither dew nor rain these 2 year, save as I appoint it. And the word of GOD came to him 3 saying: get thee hence and turn thee eastward, and hide thy- 4 self in the brook Karith that lieth before Jordan: drink of the 5 river for I have commanded the ravens to feed thee there. And he went and did according unto the word of the LORD: he went 6 and dwelt by the brook Karith that lieth before Jordan. And the ravens brought him bread and flesh every morning and ev- 7 ery evening, and he drank of the brook. And it chanced after a while that the brook dried up, because there fell no rain upon 8 the earth. Then came the word of the LORD unto him saying: 9 up and get thee to Sarephtha a city of Sidon, and dwell there. 10 Behold I have commanded a widow there to sustain thee. And he arose and went to Sarephtha. And when he came to the gate of the city, there was a widow there gathering sticks. And he called to her and said: fetch me I pray thee a little water in a 11 dish that I may drink. And as she went to fetch it, he cried to her and said: bring me I pray thee, a morsel of bread in 12 thine hand. And she answered: as surely as the LORD thy God liveth, I have no bread, but even an handful of Meal in a pitcher, and a little Oil in a cruse. And see, I have gathered a 13 few sticks for to go and bake it for me and my son, that we may eat it and then die. And Eliah said unto her: fear not, but go and do as thou hast said: but make me thereof a little cake first of all, and bring it out to me: and afterward make for thee and 14 thy son. For thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel: the pitcher of Meal shall not be wasted neither shall thy oil cruse be with- 15 out oil, until the LORD have sent rain upon the earth. And she went and did as Eliah bade. And she and he and her house 16 did eat a good space, and the pitcher of meal wasted not nei- 17 ther was the oil cruse without oil according to the word of the LORD which he spake thorow Eliah. And after these things, it happened that the son of the wife of the house fell sick. And his sickness was so sore, that there was no breath left in him. Then said she unto Eliah what have I to do with thee, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me, that my sin should be thought on and my son slain? And Eliah said unto her: give me thy son. And he took him out of her lap and carried him up into a loft where he lay, and laid him upon his own bed, and called unto the LORD and said: O LORD my God, hast thou been so evil unto the widow with whom I sojourn, that thou hast slain her son? And he stretched himself upon the lad three times, and called unto the LORD and said: O LORD my God, let the lad's soul come into him again. And the LORD heard the voice of Eliah, and the soul of the lad came into him again and he revived. And Eliah took the boy and brought him down out of the chamber into the house and delivered him unto his mother and said: see, thy son liveth. Then the wife said to Eliah: now I know that thou art God's man, and that the word of the LORD in thy mouth, is truth.

And at the last the word of the LORD came to Eliah the third year saying: go shew thyself unto Ahab, that I may send rain upon the earth. And Eliah went to shew himself unto Ahab, for there was a great famishment in Samaria. Wherefore Ahab called Abdiah the governor of his house: which Abdiah feared GOD greatly: insomuch that when Jezebel destroyed the Prophets of the LORD, he took an hundredth of the Prophets and hid them, fifty in one cave and fifty in another, and provided bread and water for them. And Ahab said unto Abdiah: walk thorow the land, unto all fountains of water and unto all brooks, to see whether any grass may be found that we may save the horses and the Mules, that we destroy not the beasts. And they divided the land between them to walk thorow it. Ahab went one way by himself, and Abdiah went another by himself. And it chanced as Abdiah went in the way, that Eliah met him. And Abdiah knew him and fell on his face and said: art not thou my lord Eliah? And he said unto him: I am he. Go and tell Ahab that Eliah is here. And the other answered: what have I sinned, that thou wouldest deliver me unto the hand of Ahab, to slay me? As surely as the LORD thy God liveth there is no nation or kingdom, whither my lord hath not sent, to seek thee. And when they said thou wast not there, he took an oath of the kingdom and nation, be- XVIII

11 cause he found thee not. And now thou sayest: go tell thy 12 lord, Eliah is here. And as soon as I am gone from thee, the spirit of the LORD shall carry thee away whither I shall not know: and then when I have gone and told Ahab, and then he can not find thee, he shall slay me. And yet I thy servant have 13 feared the LORD from my young age. Was it not told my lord, what I did, when Jezebel slew the Prophets of the LORD? how I hid an hundredth of the LORD's Prophets, fifty in one cave and as many in another, and provided them of bread and wa-14 ter? And yet now thou sayest, go shew thy lord, that Eliah is 15 here, that he should slay me. Then Eliah said: as truly as the LORD of Hosts liveth, before whom I stand: I will shew my-16 self unto him this day. And thereupon Abdiah went to Ahab 17 and told him. And Ahab went against Eliah. And when Ahab saw Eliah, he said unto him: art thou he that troubleth Israel?
18 And he said: it is not I that trouble Israel, but thou and thy father's house, in that ye have forsaken the commandments of 19 the LORD, and hast followed Baal. But now send and gather to me all Israel unto mount Carmel and the Prophets of Baal four hundredth and fifty, and the Prophets of the groves four 20 hundredth, which eat of Jezebel's table. And Ahab sent for all the children of Israel, and gathered the Prophets unto mount 21 Carmel. And Eliah came unto all the people and said: why halt ye between two opinions? If the LORD be very God, follow him: or if Baal be he follow him. And the people answered 22 him not one word. Then said Eliah unto the people: I onely remain of the LORD's Prophets, and Baal's Prophets are four 23 hundredth and fifty. Let two oxen be given us, and let them choose the one and cut him in pieces and lay him on wood, and put no fire under. And I will dress the other and put him on 24 wood, and will put no fire under. And call ye on the name of your God, and I will call on the name of the LORD. And then the God that answereth by fire, he is the very God. And all 25 the people said: it is well spoken. Then said Eliah unto the Prophets of Baal, choose you an ox and dress him first (for ye are many) and call on the name of your God, but put no fire 26 under. And they took the ox that was given them and dressed it, and called on the name of Baal from morning to noon saying: O Baal hear us. But there was no voice nor answer. And 27 they leapt about the altar that they had made. And at noon

Elijah mocked them and said: call loud (for he is a God: but he is talking, or occupied, or in the way, or haply he sleepeth) that he may awake. And they cried loud, and cut themselves, as their manner was, with knives and lances, till the blood flowed on them. And when midday was passed, they prophesied until it was time to offer. But there was neither voice nor answer nor any that regarded them. Then Elijah said to all the folk: come to me. And all the people came to him. And he mended the altar of the LORD that was broken. And he took twelve stones according to the number of the twelve tribes of the sons of Jacob, unto whom the word of the LORD came saying: Israel shall be thy name. And with the stones he made an altar in the name of the LORD. And he made a gutter round about the altar, able to receive two pecks of corn. And he put the wood in order, and hewed the ox in pieces, and put him on the wood, and said: fill four pitchers with water and pour it on the sacrifice and on the wood. And he said: do so again. And they did so again. Then he said: do it the third time. And they did so the third time. And the water ran round about the altar, and the gutter was full of water also. And when offering time was come, Elijah the prophet went to and said: LORD God of Abraham, Isaac and of Israel, let it be known this day, that thou art the God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I do all these things at thy commandment. Hear me O LORD, hear me, that this people may know, that thou LORD, art the God, and that thou hast turned their hearts backward. And there fell fire from the LORD and consumed the sacrifice and the wood and the stones and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the gutter. And when all the people saw that, they fell on their faces and said: the LORD he is God, the LORD he is God. Then said Elijah unto them, lay hands on the Prophets of Baal, let not one of them escape. And when they had taken them, Elijah brought them down unto the brook Kison, and slew them there. Then Elijah said unto Ahab, get thee up and eat and drink, for there is a sound of much rain. And when Ahab went up to eat and to drink, Elijah went up to the top of mount Carmel. And bowed himself to the earth, and put his face between his knees, and said to his servant: go up and look toward the sea. And he went up and looked, and said: here is nothing. And he said go again seven times. And the seventh time he said: behold, there ariseth a little cloud out of the sea, like the palm of a man's hand. Then he said: go and say to Ahab, put the horses in the chariot, and get thee down 45 that the rain stop thee not. And within a little while, heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain.

46 And Ahab rode and went to Jezrahel. And the hand of the LORD was on Eliah, and he girded up his loins and ran before Ahab, till they came to Jezrahel.

XIX And Ahab told Jezabel, all that Eliah had done, and altogether how he had slain the Prophets with the sword. Then Jezabel sent a messenger unto Eliah saying: so do God to me and so thereto, except I make thy soul like one of theirs, by tomorrow this time: when he saw that, he arose and went for his 4 life, and came to Bersabe in Juda, and left his lad there. And he went a day's Journey into the wilderness, and when he was come sat down under a Juniper tree, and desired for his soul, that he might die, and said, it is now enough O LORD, take my 5 soul, for I am not better than my fathers. And as he lay and slept under the Juniper tree: behold, there came an Angel and 6 touched him, and said unto him: up and eat. And he looked about him: and see, there was a loaf of broiled bread and a cruse of water at his head. And he ate and drank and laid 7 him down again to sleep. And the Angel of the LORD came again the second time and touched him, and said: up and eat, 8 for thou hast a long Journey to go. And he arose and did eat and drink and went in the strength of that meat forty days and 9 forty nights, unto Horeb the mount of God, and entered there into a cave and lodged there all night. And then the word of the LORD came to him and said what doest thou here, Eliah?
10 And he answered: I have been thorough angry for the LORD God of Hosts' sake. For the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, and have broken down thine altars and slain the Prophets with the sword, and I onely am left, and they seek 11 my soul to have it too. And he said come out and stand before the LORD. And behold, the LORD went by and a mighty strong wind that rent the mountains and brake the rocks before him. But the LORD was not in the wind. And after the wind came an 12 earthquake. But the LORD was not in the earthquake. And after the earthquake, came fire: but the LORD was not in the 13 fire. And after the fire, came a small still voice. And when

Elijah heard it, he covered his face with his mantle, and went out and stood in the mouth of the cave. And see, there came a voice unto him and said: what doest thou here Elijah? And he answered: I was jealous for the LORD God of Hosts' sake: because the children of Israel have forsaken thine appointment and have cast down thine altars and slain thy prophets with the sword, and I onely am left, and they seek my soul to have it. Then the LORD said unto him: go and turn thy way to the wilderness of Damasco, and go and anoint Hazael to be king of Siria. And Jehu the son of Namsi, anoint to be king over Israel. And Eliseus the son of Saphat of Abel Mehulah anoint to be Prophet in thy room. And whoso escapeth the sword of Hazael, him shall Jehu slay: and if any man escape the sword of Jehu, him shall Eliseus slay. And thereto I have left me seven thousand in Israel, of which never man bowed his knees unto Baal nor kissed him with his mouth. And he departed thence and found Eliseus the son of Saphat ploughing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he with the twelve. And Elijah went to him and cast his mantle upon him. And he left the oxen and ran after Elijah and said: let me I pray thee, kiss my father and mother, and then I will follow thee. And he said to him: go back again, for what have I done to thee? And he went back again from after him, and took a yoke of oxen and slew them, and dressed the flesh with the instruments of the oxen and gave it the people, and they did eat. And then he arose and went after Elijah and ministered unto him.

And Benhadad king of Siria gathered all his host together, XX and thirty two kings with him, with horse and chariot: and went up and besieged Samaria and warred against it. And he sent messengers to Ahab king of Israel into the city, and said unto him: thus sayeth Benhadad. Thy silver and thy gold is mine, and the best of thy wives, and the best of thy children be mine. And the king of Israel answered and said: my lord king, according to thy saying, I am thine with all I have. And the messengers came again to Ahab and said: thus sayeth Benhadad. I have therefore sent unto thee, saying: deliver me then thy silver and thy gold, and thy wives, and thy children. Or else I will send my servants unto thee by tomorrow this time: and they shall search thine house, and the houses of thy servants, which shall take all that is glorious in thine eyes, and 7 bring it away with them. Then the king of Israel sent for the elders of the land and said: take heed I pray you and see, how this fellow goeth about mischief. For he sent unto me, for my wives and my children, and my silver and my gold: and I de-8 nied him nothing of it. And all the elders of Israel and all the 9 people said: hearken not to him nor consent. Whereupon he said unto the messengers of Benhadad: tell my lord the king, all that he sent for the first time, that I will do: but this request I may not do. And the messengers departed and brought him 10 word. Then Benhadad sent unto him and said: thus do the Gods to me and so thereto, if the dust of Samaria be enough for all the people that follow me, that every man may have 11 an handful. And the king of Israel answered and said: tell him, let not him that putteth on his harness boast himself, as 12 he putteth it off. And when Benhadad heard that tidings, as he and the kings were drinking in the pavilions, he said unto his servants: put ye in array. And they put themselves in ar-13 ray against the city. And behold there came a Prophet unto Ahab king of Israel, and said to him: thus sayeth the LORD.

Seest thou all this great multitude? behold, I will deliver them into thine hand this day, that thou mayest know that I am the 14 LORD. And Ahab said, by whom? And he said thus sayeth the LORD: even by the men of the governors of the shires. And 15 Ahab said: who shall join battle? And he said, thou. Then he numbered the men of the governors of the shires: and they were two hundredth and thirty two. And after them he numbered all the people, and all the children of Israel were seven 16 thousand. And they went out at noon when Benhadad was a drinking strong drink in the pavilions with the thirty two 17 kings that help him. And the men of the sheriffs of the shires went out first. And Benhadad sent out, and they shewed him 18 saying: there came men out of Samaria. And he said: if they come out for peace, take them alive. And also if they come for war, take them yet alive. And when those men of the sheriffs of the shires were come out of the city and the Host after 20 them, they slew every one of them his man. And the Sirians fled, and Israel followed after them. And Benhadad the 21 king of Siria escaped on a horse with his horsemen. And the king of Israel went out and smote horse and chariot, and slew 22 a great slaughter of the Sirians. Then there came a Prophet to the king of Israel, and said to him: go forth and play the man, be wise and take heed what thou doest: for when the year is about, the king of Siria will come against thee again. Then said the servants of the kings of Siria to him: the gods 23 of the hills* are their gods, and therefore they had the better of us. But let us fight with them in the plain, and for what ye will, we shall have the better of them. And this do: take the 24 kings away every man out of his place, and put dukes in their rooms. And do thou number thee an host, like the host that 25 thou hast lost, and horse for horse and chariot for chariot, and let us fight with them in the plain, and for a wager, we get the better of them. And the king hearkened unto their voice and did even so. And as soon as the year was about, Benhadad 26 numbered the Sirians and went up to Aphek to war with Israel. And the children of Israel were numbered and provided 27 of vitailles, and went against them, and pitched before them like two little flocks of kids: but the Sirians filled the country. Then there came a man of God and said unto the king of Israel: 28 thus sayeth the LORD. Because the Sirians say, that the LORD is but a God of the hills, and not God of the valleys too: therefore will I deliver all this great multitude into thine hand that ye may know that I am the LORD. And they pitched one over 29 against the other seven days, and the seventh day joined battle. And the children of Israel slew of the Sirians an hundredth thousand footmen in one day. And the rest fled to Aphek into 30 the city. And there fell a wall upon twenty seven thousand of them that were left. And Benhadad fled and went into the city, from chamber to chamber. Then said his servants unto him: 31 behold, we have heard say, that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings. Let us put sack cloth about our Loins and ropes about our heads, and go out to the king of Israel: haply he will save thy life. And they girded sack cloth about their 32 loins and put ropes about their heads, and went out to the king of Israel and said: thy servant Benhadad sayeth, I pray thee let me live. And he said: is he yet alive? what he is my brother. And they took the word for good luck and hastily caught it out of his mouth and said: yea thy brother Benhadad. Then he 33 said: go and bring him. And Benhadad came out to him, and the other took him up into the chariot. And Benhadad said: 34

20. v.23 Other: mountains.

the cities which my father took from thy father, I will restore again. And thou shalt make streets for thee in Damasco, as my father did in Samaria. And I will make an appointment with thee and send thee away. And so he made an appointment with him and sent him away. Then a certain man of the children of the Prophets said unto his fellow with the word of the LORD, smite me I pray thee. And the man would not smite him. And he said, because thou hast not obeyed the voice of the LORD: behold, as soon as thou art departed from me a lion shall slay thee. And as soon as he was departed from him, a Lion found him and slew him. Then he found another man and said to him: smite me I pray thee. And the man gave him a good stripe and wounded him. And the Prophet went forth and waited for the king by the way and put ashes upon his eyes, and put himself out of knowledge. And when the king came by, he cried unto him and said, thy servant went out in the midst of the battle. And see, there was one began to flee. And there came a man to me and said: keep this man. And if he be missed thy life shall go for his, or else thou shalt pay a talent of silver. And as thy servant had here and there to do, he was gone. And the king of Israel said unto him: even so shall thy judgement be as thou hast defined it thyself. And he hasted and took the ashes away from his eyes: and the king of Israel knew him, that he was of the Prophets. And he said unto the king, thus sayeth the LORD: because thou hast let go a man that ought to have died, thy life shall go for his life, and thy people for his. And the king of Israel went to his house wayward and heavy, and entered into Samaria.

XXI After these things were done, it chanced that Naboth the Jezrahelite had a vineyard in Jezrahel hard by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria. And Ahab spake unto Naboth saying: let me have thy vineyard, to make me a garden of herbs thereof, because it lieth so nye my house: and I will give thee a better vineyard for it: or if it please thee I will give thee the worth of it in silver. But Naboth said to Ahab: the LORD forbid that from me, that I should give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee. Then went Ahab unto his house wayward and evil apaid, because of the words which Naboth the Jezrahelite had spoken unto him saying: I will not give to thee, the inheritance of my fathers. And he laid him down upon his bed and turned away his face, and would eat no meat. And when Jezabel his wife came to him, and said unto him: why art thou so froward, that thou eatest no meat? And he said unto her, I spake unto Naboth the Jazrahelite, and said unto him: give me thy vineyard for silver, or else if thou wilt, I will give thee another vineyard for it. And he said: I will not give thee my vineyard. Then said Jezabel his wife unto him: what a goodly kingdom were thou able to make in Israel? up and eat meat and set thine heart at rest, for I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezrahelite. And she wrote a letter in Ahab's name and sealed it with his seal, and sent it unto the elders and chief men of his city that dwelt where Naboth dwelt. And she wrote in the letter saying: proclaim fasting and set Naboth on high among the people, and set two unthriftes before him, and let them testify against him saying: thou didst curse both God and the king. And upon that carry him out and stone him to death. And the elders and nobles of his city, which dwelt in his city, did as Jezabel had sent unto them, and as it was written in the letter which she had sent unto them. They proclaimed fasting, and set Naboth on high among the people, and there came in two unthrifty persons and sat before him. And the two unthrifty persons witnessed against Naboth before the people saying: Naboth did curse God and the king. And upon that they carried him out of the city and stoned him with stones to death. And then they sent to Jezabel saying: Naboth is stoned to death. And when Jezabel heard that Naboth was stoned to death: she said to Ahab: up and take possession of the vineyard of Naboth, the Jezrahelite, which he denied to give thee for silver, for Naboth is not alive, but dead. And when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead. He stood up to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezrahelite, to take possession of it. And the word of the LORD came unto Eliah the Thesbite saying: up and go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, which is in Samaria. Behold, he is in the vineyard of Naboth: for he is gone down thither, to take possession of it. And say unto him: thus sayeth the LORD, thou hast killed and thereto gotten possession. And say moreover unto him, thus sayeth the LORD: in the place where dogs lapped the blood of Naboth, shall dogs lap even thy blood also. And Ahab said to Eliah: hast thou found me thine enemy at any time? And he said yea, because thou art utterly given to work wickedness in the sight of the LORD. Behold, I will bring evil upon thee, and will make clean riddance of thee, and will destroy unto Ahab all that pisseth against the wall, and if ought be prisoned or forsaken in Israel: and will make thine house, like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nabat, and like the house of Baasa the son of Ahiah, for the angering wherewith thou hast angered and made Israel sin. And thereto against Jezabel came the word of the LORD saying: dogs shall eat Jezabel, under the walls of Jezrahel. And he that dieth of Ahab in the town, him shall dogs eat: and he that dieth in the fields, him shall the fowls of the air eat. For there was none at all like Ahab, that was so utterly given to work wickedness in the sight of the LORD, and that because Jezabel his wife pricked him forward. And therefore he did exceeding abominably, in following Idols, in all things like as did the Amorites which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel. When Ahab heard those words, he rent his clothes and put sack cloth about his flesh and fasted, and lay in sack and went comfortless. And the word of the LORD came to Eliah the Thesbite saying: seest thou how Ahab humbleth himself before me? because he so submitteth himself before me, I will not bring that evil in his days: but in his son's days, I will bring evil upon his house.

And they continued three years without war between Siria and Israel. And the third year Jehosaphat king of Juda came to the king of Israel. Then said the king of Israel unto his servants, know ye not that Ramoth in Gilead is ours, and we sit still and take it not out of the hands of the king of Siria? And he said unto Jehosaphat: wilt thou go with me to battle, to Ramoth in Gilead? And Jehosaphat said unto the king of Israel: I will be as thou art, and my people shall be as thine, and my horses as thine. And Jehosaphat said unto the king of Israel: ask counsel, I pray thee, of the LORD today. And then the king of Israel gathered of the Prophets together, upon a four hundredth men, and said unto them: shall I go to Ramoth in Gilead to battle, or be still? And they said, go: for the Lord shall deliver it into the hands of the king. And Jehosaphat said: is there never a Prophet of the LORD's here more, that we might enquire of him? And the king of Israel said to Jehosaphat: there is yet one, by whom we may ask counsel of the LORD, one Micheah the son of Jemlah. But I hate him: for he never prophesieth good unto me, but evil. And Jehosaphat said: let not the king say so. Then the king of Israel 9 called unto one of his chamberlains and said: fetch Micheah the son of Jemlah hither at once. And the king of Israel and 10 Jehosaphat the king of Juda sat either in his seat and their apparel on them, in a void place beside the entering of the gate of Samaria, and all the Prophets prophesying before them. And 11 Zedekiah the son of Canaanah made horns of iron and said, thus sayeth the LORD: with these horns thou shalt winnow the Sirians until thou have made an end of them. And all the 12 Prophets prophesied even so, saying: go to Ramoth in Gilead and prosper, for the LORD shall deliver it into the hands of the king. And the messenger that was gone to call Micheah, said 13 unto him: see, the words of the Prophets speak good unto the king with one voice: let thy words I pray thee be like the words of one of them, and speak that is good. And Micheah said: 14 as surely as the LORD liveth, what the LORD putteth in my mouth, that will I speak. And when he was come to the king, 15 the king said to him: Micheah, shall we go to Ramoth in Gilead to battle, or shall we be still? And he said unto him: go and prosper, the LORD deliver it unto the hands of the king. And 16 the king said unto him, how often shall I adjure thee, that thou tell me nothing but truth, in the name of the LORD? Then he 17 said, I saw all Israel scattered upon the hills, as sheep that have no shepherds. And the LORD said: those have no master, let them return, every man to his house in peace. Then said 18 the king of Israel to Jehosaphat: did I not tell thee, that he would prophesy no good unto me, but evil? And Micheah said: 19 hear therefore the word of the LORD. I saw the LORD sit on his seat and all his company of heaven standing about him, on his right hand and on his left. And the LORD said: who shall 20 deceive Ahab that he may go and be slain at Ramoth in Gilead? and one said on this manner and another on that. Then came 21 forth a spirit and stood before the LORD and said: I will deceive him. And the LORD said: wherewith? And he said: I 22 will go out and be a false spirit in the mouths of all Prophets. And the LORD said, thou shalt deceive him and also prevail, go forth and do even so. Now therefore behold, the LORD hath 23 put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these thy Prophets: when

24 in very deed the LORD hath spoken evil toward thee. Then Zedechiah the son of Canaanah went and smote Micheah on the cheek, and said: how is the spirit of the LORD gone from 25 me, to speak in thee? And Michaeah said: behold, thou shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go from chamber to chamber 26 to hide thee. And the king of Israel said: take Micheah and carry him back again into Amon the governor of the city, and 27 unto Joab the king's son, and say: thus sayeth the king. Put ye this fellow in the prison house and feed him with bread and 28 water straightly, until I return in peace. Then Micheah said, if thou come safe again, the LORD hath not spoken in me. And 29 he said moreover, hearken to the people every one of you. And so the king of Israel and Jehosaphat the king of Juda went up 30 to Ramoth in Gilead. And the king of Israel said to Jehosaphat change thee and get thee to war: but put on thine own apparel. And the king of Israel changed himself, and went to 31 battle also. But the king of Siria had commanded the captains of his chariots of which he had thirty two saying: fight neither with small nor great, save with the king of Israel onely.
32 And when the captains of the chariots saw Jehosaphat, they thought he had been the king of Israel, and therefore turned 33 to him to fight. But Jehosaphat cried out. And when the captains of the chariots saw that he was not the king of Israel, 34 they turned back from him. And a certain man drew a bow ignorantly and smote the king of Israel between the ribs of his harness. Wherefore the king said unto the driver of his chariot, turn thy hand and carry me out of the host, for I am 35 hurt. And the battle increased that day, and the king continued in his chariot before the Sirians, and died at evening. And the blood ran out of the wound into the bottom of the chariot.
36 And there went a proclamation thorowout the host after the son was down, saying: every man to his city and to his own 37 country. And when the king of Israel was dead, they came to 38 Samaria and buried him there. And while they washed the chariot in the pool of Samaria, the dogs licked up his blood, and harlots washed him according to the word of the LORD 39 which he spake. The rest of the deeds of Ahab, and all that he did, and the ivory house which he made, and the cities that he built, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings 40 of Israel. And when Ahab was laid to rest with his fathers, Ohoziah his son reigned in his stead. Jehosaphat the son of 41 Asa began to reign upon Juda, the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel, and was thirty five year old when he began to reign and reigned twenty five year in Jerusalem. And his mother's 42 name was Azubah the daughter of Salahi. And he walked in 43 all the ways of Asa his father and bowed not therefrom. But did that was right in the eyes of the LORD. Only he did not put the hillaltars out of the way: for the people offered and burnt 44 their sacrifices yet, in the hillaltars. And he had peace with 45 the king of Israel. And the rest of the deeds of Jehosaphat, and the might that he used, and how he warred, are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Juda. And the 46 remnant of the stews of the males, which remained in the days of his father, he put clean out of the land. There was then 47 no king in Edom, the king was but a debite. And Jehosaphat 48 made ships in the sea to go to Ophir for gold, but they went not: for the ships brake at Azion Gaber. Then said Ohoziah 49 the son of Ahab unto Jehosaphat: let my servants go with thine in the ships. But Jehosaphat would not. And Jehosaphat laid 50 him to sleep with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father. And Jehoram his son reigned in his room. Ohoziah the son of Ahab began to reign upon Israel 51 in Samaria, the seventeenth year of Jehosaphat king of Juda, and was king over Israel two year, and did evil in the sight of 52 the LORD, and walked in the way of his father and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nabat which made Israel sin. And he served Baal and bowed him- 53 self to him and angered the LORD God of Israel, in all things, as did his father.

1 And the Moabites rebelled against Israel after the death 2 of Ahab. And Ohoziah fell thorow a lattice window out of an upper chamber that he had in Samaria, and fell sick. Then he sent messengers saying unto them: 3 go and enquire of Beelzebub the God of Akaron, whether I shall recover of this disease. But the Angel of the LORD spake to Elijah the Thesbite, up and go against the messengers of the king of Samaria and say unto them: Is it because there is no God in Israel, that ye go to ask thorow Beelzebub the God of 4 Akaron. Therefore thus sayeth the LORD: thou shalt not come down from the bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt die.
5 And Elijah departed. And the messengers turned back again unto him. And he said unto them: why are ye thus come again?
6 And they said unto him there came a man against us and said unto us: go and turn again unto the king that sent you, and say unto him: Thus sayeth the LORD. Is it because there is no God in Israel, that thou sendest to enquire thorow Beelze-bub the God of Akaron? Therefore thou shalt not come down from the bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt surely die.
7 And he said to them: what manner a man was that which met 8 you and told you these words? And they said unto him: it was an hairy man and girded with a girdle of a skin about his 9 loins. And he said unto them: it is Elijah the Thesbite. Then the king sent unto him a captain over fifty with his fifty. And when the captain was come to him, behold: he sat on the top of an hill. And the captain said unto him: man of God, the king 10 biddeth thee come down. And Elijah answered and said to the captain over the fifty: if I be a man of God, fire come down from heaven and consume thee and thy fifty. And there came 11 fire down from heaven and devoured him and his fifty. And the king went again and sent to him another captain over fifty with his fifty, which answered and said unto him: Oh man of 12 God, thus sayeth the king: make haste and come down. And Elijah answered and said unto them: if I be a man of God, then let fire come down from heaven and consume thee and thy fifty. And there came fire down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty. And the king sent again the third captain over fifty. 13 And when the third captain over fifty was come up to him, he fell on his knees before Eliah and besought him and said unto him: Oh man of God, let my life and the life of these fifty thy servants be precious in thy sight. Behold there came fire down 14 from heaven and burnt up the two fore captains over fifty with their fifties. But let my life now be precious in thy sight. Then 15 said the Angel of the LORD unto Eliah: go down with him, and be not afraid of him. And he went down with him unto the king. And he said unto the king, thus sayeth the LORD: for as 16 much as thou sentest messengers to ask thorow Beelzebub the God of Akaron, as though there had been no God in Israel to ask thorow his word? therefore thou shalt not come off the bed on which thou art ascended, but shalt surely die. And so he 17 died according to the word of the LORD which Eliah spake, and Jehoram was made king in his stead, the second year of Jehoram son of Jehosaphat king of Juda, because he had no son. The rest of the deeds of Ohoziah which he did, are written in 18 the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

And it chanced when the LORD would take up Eliah to heaven II in a whirlwind, that Eliah and Eliseus were going from Gilgal. And Eliah said to Eliseus, tarry here, I pray thee, for the LORD 2 hath sent me to Bethel. But Eliseus said: as surely as the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. And when they came to Bethel, the children of the Prophets that 3 were at Bethel came out to Eliseus and said to him: knowest thou not how that the LORD will take away thy master from thee this day? And he said, I know it too, hold your peace. Then said Eliah to Eliseus: tarry here a fellowship, for the 4 LORD hath sent me to Jericho. And he said: as surely as the LORD liveth, and as surely as thy soul liveth, I will not leave* thee, and so they went to Jericho. And the children of the 5 Prophets that were at Jericho came to Eliseus and said unto him: art thou not ware that the LORD will take away thy master from thee this day? And he answered: I know it also, hold your peace. And Eliah said to him: tarry I pray thee here, for 6 the LORD hath sent me to Jordan. But he said: as surely as

2. v.4 Other: forsake.

the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee.

7 And so they went both of them together. And fifty men of the sons of the Prophets went and stood in sight afar off, as they

8 two stood by Jordan. And then Eliah took his mantle and wrapped it together and smote the water, and it divided itself, part the one way and part the other, and they two went over

9 on the dry land. And as soon as they were over, Eliah said to Eliseus, ask what I shall do for thee yer I be taken away from thee. And Eliseus said: let me, I pray thee, have thy spirit

10 double in me. And he said: thou hast asked a hard thing. Nevertheless if thou see me when I am taken away from thee,

11 thou shalt have it so: if thou do not, it shall not be. And as they went walking and talking: behold, there came a chariot of fire and horses of fire and put them asunder. And Eliah went

12 up in the whirlwind to heaven. And Eliseus saw and cried: O my father, O my father, the chariot of Israel and the horsemen thereof, and saw him no more: and therefore took his own

13 clothes and rent them in two pieces. And then he took up the mantle of Eliah that fell from him, and went back again and

14 stood by Jordan's side, and took the mantle of Eliah that fell from him, and smote the water and said: where is the LORD God of Eliah where is he? And when he had smitten the water it divided part this way and part that way, and Eliseus went

15 over. And the children of the Prophets of Jericho which saw from afar, said: the spirit of Eliah doth rest on Eliseus, and

16 went against him and bowed to the earth unto him. And they said unto him: see, there be among thy servants fifty lusty men: let them go and seek thy master: happily the spirit of the LORD hath taken him up and cast him upon some moun-

17 tain or in some valley. And he said: send not. Nevertheless yet they lay upon him, till he was a shamed, and said: send, and they sent fifty men which sought him three days and three

18 nights, but found him not. And they came again to him, for he tarried at Jericho. And he said to them, did I not say unto 19 you that ye should not go? Then the men of Jericho said to Eliseus: behold the city standeth pleasantly as my lord seeth, 20 but the water is nought and the ground barren. And he said: bring me a new cruse and put salt therein. And they brought it

21 to him. And he went unto the spring of the water and cast the salt in thither, and said thus sayeth the LORD: I heal this water, there shall not come henceforth either death or barrenness. And the water was healthsome ever after according to the saying of Eliseus which he spake. And he went from thence up to Bethel. And as he was going up in the way, there came little lads out of the city and mocked him, and said to him: go up thou bald head, go up thou baldhead. And he turned back and looked on them and cursed them in the name of the LORD. And there came two Bears out of the wood and tare forty two of the boys. And he went from thence to mount Carmel, and from thence went again to Samaria.

Jehoram the son of Ahab began to reign upon Israel in Samaria the eighteenth year of Jehosaphat king of Juda, and continued twelve year. And he wrought that was evil in the sight of the LORD: but not like his father or his mother, for he put away the image of Baal that his father had made. Nevertheless he continued in the sin of Jeroboam the son of Nabat which made Israel sin, and shrank not therefrom. And Mesa king of Moab which was rich of sheep (and was wont to render unto the king of Israel an hundredth thousand lambs and as many rams with the wool) rebelled against the king of Israel after the death of Ahab. And king Jehoram went out of Samaria the same season, and numbered all Israel. And then went and sent to Jehosaphat king of Juda saying: the king of Moab hath rebelled against me, wilt thou go with me against the Moabites to battle? And he said: I will go, and will be as thou, and my people shall be as thine, and my horses as thine. And he said: what way shall we go? And the other answered: the way thorow the wilderness of Edom. And the king of Israel took his journey with the king of Juda and the king of Edom. And when they had compassed the way seven days, there was no water for the host nor for the cattle that they had with them. Then said the king of Israel: Alas, the LORD hath called together these three kings to deliver them into the hands of the Moabites. But Jehosaphat said: is there here no prophet of the LORD's, that we may enquire of the LORD by him? And one of the king of Israel's servants answered and said: here is Eliseus the son of Saphat which poured water on the hands of Eliah. And Jehosaphat said: the word of the LORD is with him. And so the king of Israel, and Jehosaphat and the king of Edom went down to him. And Eliseus said to the king of Israel: what have I to do with thee? Get thee to the prophets of thy father and of thy mother. And the king of Israel said unto him: Oh nay, but hath the LORD called these three kings to deliver them into the hands of the Moabites? And Eliseus said, as sure as the LORD of Hosts liveth (in whose sight I stand) and it were not that I regard the presence of Jehosaphat the king of Juda, I would not look toward thee, nor yet see ye. But now bring me a minstrel. And as the minstrel played, the hand of the LORD was upon him. And he said: thus biddeth the LORD, make this brook full of ditches. For thus sayeth the LORD: ye shall see neither wind nor rain, and yet this brook shall be filled with water, that ye may drink, and your beasts and your cattle also. And this is yet but a small thing in the sight of the LORD: But he will give the Moabites into your hands also. And ye shall destroy all strong towns and all goodly cities, and shall fall all pleasant trees and stop* all the wells of water, and mar all good plots of ground with stones. And in the morning about offering time: there came such a water that way from Edom that the country was filled with water. And when all the Moabites heard that the kings were come to fight against them, they gathered together, from the youngest that was able to put on harness and so upward, and waited in the borders. And they being up early in the morning, the sun arose and shone upon the water. And when the Moabites saw the water afar off, as red as blood, they said: it is blood, the kings have fought together and one slain another. Now therefore ye Moabites get you to the spoil. And when they came to the Host of Israel, the Israelites stood up and laid on the Moabites, that they fled before them: And so they entered the land and destroyed the Moabites. And they overthrew the cities, and on every good parcel of land, cast every man his stone and over covered it, and stopped all the wells of water, and felled all the good trees. And as long as the stones thereof did remain in the walls of Brick the slingers went upon it and beat it. And when the king of Moab saw, that the battle was so strong for him, he took with him seven hundredth men that drew the sword, to have broken up unto the king of Edom. But they could not. And then he took his eldest son that should have reigned in his stead, and offered him for a burnt offering upon the walls.

3. v.19 Other: stoppe.

And there came so great wrath upon Israel, that they departed from him and returned to their own land.

And there cried a certain woman of the wives of the children IV of the prophets unto Eliseus saying: thy servant my husband is dead, and thou knowest that thy servant did fear the LORD.
And the creditor is come to fetch my two sons, to be his bond-men. And Eliseus said to her: What shall I do for thee? Tell 2 me, what hast thou in thine house? And she said thy handmaid hath nothing at all in her house, save a pitcher with oil. And 3 he said: Go and borrow thee in other places, of all thy neighbours, empty vessels and that not a few. And then go and shut 4 the door to thee and to thy sons, and pour out into all those vessels, and put the full always aside. And she went from him, 5 and shut the door to her and her sons. And they brought to her, and she poured out. And when the vessels were full, she said 6 to her son: bring yet a vessel. And he said: there is no more.
And then the oil ceased. Then she came and told the man of 7 God. And he said: go and sell the Oil and pay thy creditor. And live thou and thy children of the rest. And it fell on a day, that 8 Eliseus came to Sunam, where was a rich woman that took him in for to eat bread. And as oft as he came that way, he turned in thither to eat bread. And she said unto her husband: see, I 9 perceive that the man of God is perfect, and cometh always by us. Let us make him a chamber with a little wall, and let us 10 set him there a bed, a table, a stool and a candlestick, that he may turn in thither, when he cometh to us. And it fortun'd 11 on a time that he came thither and turned into the chamber and lay there. Then he said to Gihezi his servant: call this 12 Sunamite. And he called her, and she came before him. And 13 Eliseus said to him, say to her I pray thee: see, thou hast made all this provision for us, what shall we do for thee? wouldest thou be spoken for to the king or to the captain of the Host?
And she said I dwell among mine own people. Then he said, 14 what is to be done for her? And Gihezi said: Verily she hath no child, and her husband is old. And he said: call her. And he 15 called her. And she came and stood at the door. Then he said: 16 by such a time, as soon as the fruit can live, thou shalt embrace a son, and she said, Oh nay my lord thou man of God, do not lie unto the handmaid. And the wife conceived and bare a son 17 the same season that Eliseus had said unto her, as soon as the 18 fruit could have life. And when the lad was great, it fell on a 19 day, that he went out to his father, to the harvest time. And there he complained unto his father, my head, my head. And 20 his father said to a lad, carry him to his mother. And he took him and brought him to his mother. And he sat on her knees 21 till noon, and then died. And she carried him up and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the door to him, and 22 went out, and came to her husband and said: send me one of the young men and an Ass that I may run to the man of God.

23 And he said: wherefore wilt thou go to him today, while it is neither new moon nor Sabbath day. And she said: be content.
24 Then she saddled an Ass and said to the lad: lead away and 25 make me not cease riding, until I bid thee. And so she went and came unto the man of God, to mount Carmel. And when the man of God saw her a far, he said to Gihezi his servant: 26 see, where our servant cometh. Now run against her, and ask her, whether it be all well with her, and with her husband and 27 with the lad. And she said: all is well. Then she went to the man of God up to the hill and caught him by the feet. And Gi-hezi went to her, to thrust her away. But the man of God said: let her alone, for her soul is vexed, and the LORD hath hid it 28 from me and hath not told it me. Then she said: did I desire a son of my lord? did I not say, that thou shouldest not bring 29 me in a fools' Paradise? Then he said to Gihezi: gird up thy loins, and take my staff in thine hand and away. If any man meet thee, salute him not. And if any salute thee, answer him 30 not again. And put my staff upon the boy. Notwithstanding the mother of the child said: as sure as the LORD liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. And then he arose and 31 followed her. Gihezi went before them and put the staff upon the lad. But there was neither voice nor attending. And then he went again against his master and told him saying: it hath 32 not awaked the lad. And when Eliseus was come to the house: 33 Behold, the lad was dead and laid upon his bed. And he went in and shut the door to the lad and him, and prayed unto the 34 LORD. And he went up and lay upon the lad, and put his mouth on his mouth, and his eyes on his eyes, and the palm of his hands on the palm of his hands, and spread himself upon 35 the lad that the flesh of the child waxed warm. And went again and walked once up and down in the house, and then went up and spread himself upon him. And the lad sneezed seven times and opened his eyes. And he called Gihezi and 36 said: Call for this Sunamite. And he called her. And when she was come to him, he said: take thy son. Then she went 37 and fell at his feet and bowed herself to the ground, and took up her son and went out. When Eliseus was come to Gilgal 38 again, there was a dearth in the land, and the children of the prophets dwelt with him. Then he said to his servant, put on a great pot, and make pottage for the children of the prophets.

And one went out into the field, to gather herbs, and found as 39 it were a wild vine, and gathered thereof Coloquintidaes his lapful, and came and shred them into the pot of pottage, they unwitting. And they poured out for the men to eat. And when 40 they had tasted of the pottage, they cried out and said: there is death in the pot thou man of God, and could not eat thereof.
Then he said: bring meal. And he cast it into the pot and said: 41 fill for the people that they may eat, and there was no harm in the pot. There came a man from Baalsalisa and brought the 42 man of God bread of first fruits, even twenty loaves of barley, and new corn in a cloth he had. And Eliseus bade put it before the people that they might eat. Then his minister said: what 43 should I set this before an hundredth men? And he said: set it before the people and let them eat. For thus sayeth the LORD: they shall eat and leave. And he set it before them, and they 44 ate and left, according to the word of the LORD.

V Naaman captain of the Host to the king of Siria, was great with his master and well taken: for thorow him the LORD saved Siria. And he was an active man, and yet a leper. And 2 there had gone a company of Soldiers out of Siria a running, and had brought out of the country of Israel a little maid, which was with Naaman's wife. And the Damsel said unto 3 her lady: I would my master were with a prophet that is in Samaria: he would deliver him of his leprosy. And she went 4 and told her husband saying: thus and thus sayeth the maid that is out of the land of Israel. And the king of Siria said: 5 go thy way, and I will send a letter unto the king of Israel.
And he went and took with him ten talents of silver and six thousand pieces of gold, and ten changes of raiments. And he 6 brought the letter to the king of Israel containing this tenor: Now when this letter is come up to thee: Behold I have sent Naaman my servant to thee, that thou shouldest rid him of 7 his leprosy. And when the king of Israel had read the letter, he rent his clothes and said: am I God, to slay and to make alive, that he should send to me, for to deliver a man from his leprosy. But consider I pray you, and see, how he picketh quar-8 rels with me. And when Eliseus the man of God, heard how that the king of Israel had rent his clothes, he sent to the king saying: wherefore hast thou rent thy clothes? let him come to 9 me, that he may know that there is a prophet in Israel. And Naaman came with his horses and his chariot, and stood at 10 the door of Eliseus. Then Eliseus sent a messenger saying: go and wash thee in Jordan seven times, and thy flesh shall come 11 again to thee as before, and thou shalt be clean. And Naaman was wroth and went away, and said: Behold, I thought in myself, he would have come out, and stand and call on the name of the LORD his God, and put his hand on the place of 12 the disease, and so take away the leprosy. Are not Abanah and Pharphar, rivers of Damasco, better than all the waters of Israel? Might I not rather wash in them and be clean? And 13 so he turned and departed in an anger. Then came his servants and communed with him and said: Father if the prophet had bid thee done some great thing, oughtest thou not to have done it? How much rather then shouldest thou do it, while he 14 sayeth to thee only, wash and be clean. Then he went down and washed seven times in Jordan, as the man of God bade, and his flesh changed, like unto the flesh of a little boy, and 15 he was clean. Then he turned again to the man of God and all his company with him, and came and stood before him and said: Behold I know that there is no God in all the world, but in Israel. And now I pray thee take a blessing of thy servant.

16 But he said as surely as the LORD liveth before whom I stand, I will receive none. And the other would have constrained him to 17 receive: but he would not do it. And Naaman said, if thou wilt not: yet I pray thee, may there not be given to thy servant the burthen of two mules of earth. For thy servant will henceforth offer neither burnt sacrifice nor offering unto any other God, 18 than to the LORD. But herein the LORD be merciful to thy servant, for when my master goeth into the house of Remon to worship there, he leaneth on mine hand, and I must worship in the house of Remon, let the LORD I pray thee be merciful unto thy servant in this case. And he said to him: go in peace. And 19 when he was departed from him a furlong of ground, Gihezi 20 the servant of Eliseus the man of God, said: see, my master hath kept off, this Sirian Naaman that he would not receive of his hand that he offered. As surely as the LORD liveth I will run after him and take somewhat. And so Gihezi went after 21 Naaman. And when Naaman saw him coming after him, he came down off the chariot against him, and said: is all well?

 And he said yea. But my master hath sent me saying: see, 22 there be two young men come to me out of Ephraim of the children of the prophets: give them I pray thee, one talent of silver and a couple of good garments. And Naaman said: adventure 23 and take two talents of silver in two bags, with two goodly garments: and delivered them unto two of his servants, to bear it before him. And he went in the dark and took it of their 24 hands and bestowed it in the house, and let the men go, and they departed. Then he went and stood before his master. 25 And Eliseus said to him: whence cometh Gihezi? And he said: thy servant went no whither. And he said: went not mine 26 heart with thee, when the man turned and came of his chariot against thee? Is it a time to receive silver and to receive garments, olive trees, vineyards, oxen, sheep, menservants and maidservants? The leprosy therefore of Naaman cleave unto 27 thee, and unto thy seed for ever. And he went out from him a leper as white as snow.

Then said the children of the prophets unto Eliseus: see, VI the place where we dwell with thee, is too little for us. Let 2 us there take every man a beam and build us a place there, to dwell in. And he said: go ye. And one said: begin I pray thee, 3 and go with thy servants. And he said: I will, and so went 4 with them. And when they came to Jordan, they cut down wood. And as one was heaving of a beam, the axe head fell 5 into the water. And he cried out and said: Alas master, for it was lent me. And the man of God said: Where fell it? And 6 he shewed him the place. And he cut an helve and cast it in thither, and made the axe head swim. And he said: take it 7 up to thee. And the other stretched his hand and caught it.
 And the king of Siria fought against Israel, and took counsel 8 with his servants saying: In such a place and in such a place will I pitch. And the man of God sent unto the king of Is- 9 rael saying: Beware thou go not by such a place, for there are 10 the Sirians gone down. And the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him and warned him of, and 11 saved himself there more than once or twice. And the heart of the king of Siria was troubled therewith, that he sent for his servants and said to them: will ye not shew me which of us 12 telleth the king of Israel? And one of his servants said: nay my lord king: Eliseus the prophet that is in Israel, he telleth the king of Israel the words that thou speakest in thy sleep-13 ing chamber. Then he said: go and spy where he is that I may send and fetch him. And one told the king saying: see, 14 he is in Dothan. And he sent thither horse and chariots and a great Host. And they came thither by night and compassed 15 the town about. And when the servant of the men of God rose up early and was gone out: Behold: there was an Host round about the town with horses and chariots. Then said his lad to 16 him: Alas master, what shall we do? And he said: fear not, 17 there are more with us than with them. And Eliseus prayed and said: LORD open the eyes of the young man, and he saw.

And behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of 18 fire round about Eliseus. And when the soldiers came down to him, Eliseus prayed unto the LORD and said: Smite this people with blindness. And he smote them with blindness ac-19 cording to the desire of Eliseus. Then Eliseus said unto them this is not the way, nor this is not the town: But follow me and I will bring you to the man ye seek. And he led them 20 to Samaria. When they were come to Samaria, Eliseus said: LORD, open their eyes and let them see. And the LORD opened their eyes that they saw. And behold they were in the midst of 21 Samaria. And then said the king of Israel unto Eliseus when he saw them: shall I smite them, shall I smite them father: 22 And he said: smite them not. But smite them thou takest with thine own sword and with thine own bow. But set bread and water before them, and let them eat and drink, and go to their 23 master. And he made great ordinance before them. And when they had eaten and drunk, sent them away, and they went to their master. And so the Soldiers of Siria came no more into 24 the land of Israel. After this Benhadad king of Siria gath-25 ered all the Host, and went and besieged Samaria. And there arose great dearth in Samaria: for they had besieged it, until an Ass's head was worth four score sicles of silver, and the fourth part of a Cab of doves' dung worth five sicles. And as 26 the king of Israel walked upon the walls there cried a woman to him, saying: help, my lord king. And he said: Nay, the 27 LORD help thee. But wherewith should I help thee, with corn or wine? Then said the king to her: what aileth thee? And 28 she answered: this woman here said to me, bring thy son and let us eat him today, and we will eat mine tomorrow. And so 29 we dressed my son and did eat him. And I said to her another day, bring thy son that we may eat him. But she hath hid her son. When the king heard the words of the woman, he rent 30 his clothes even as he was walking on the walls. And when the people looked upon him: see, he was clothed in sack under.

 Then he said: God do so and so to me: if the head of Eliseus 31 the son of Saphat tarry on him this day. And as Eliseus sat 32 in his house and the elders with him, the king sent one from him. But yer the messenger came at him, he said to the elders: see you not how the son of this murderer hath sent, to take off mine head? Be circumspect therefore when the messenger cometh, and shut the door, and thrust him back therewith: for the sound of his master's feet followeth him. And while he yet 33 talked with them: Behold the messenger was come unto him.
 And he said: behold, this evil is of the LORD, what more shall we look for of the LORD.

Then Eliseus said: hear the word of the LORD: for thus VII sayeth the LORD: tomorrow this time a bushel of fine flour shall be sold for a sicle and two bushels of Barley for another in the gates of Samaria. Then a great lord on whose hand 2 the king leaned, answered the man of God and said, though the LORD would make windows in heaven, yet would not this be. And he said again: Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes and shalt not eat thereof. And there were four lepers 3 set without the gate of Samaria. And they said each to his companion, what sit we here until we die? though we thought 4 that we might come into the city, yet is the dearth so great in the city, that we shall there die. And if we tarry here, we are but dead also. Now therefore come and let us flee to the Host of the Sirians: if they save our lives, we shall live: And if they kill us, then are we dead. And so they arose in the 5 dark to go to the Host of the Sirians. And when they were 6 come to the side of the Host of Siria: see, there was no man there. For the Lord had made the host of the Sirians hear a noise of chariots and a noise of horses, and the noise of a great Host. In so much that they said one to another: see, the king of 7 Israel hath hired against us, the kings of the Hethites and the kings of Egypt, to come upon us. And upon that they arose and fled in the dark, and left their tents, their horses, their Asses and the field they had pitched even as it was, and fled 8 for their lives. And when these lepers came to the edge of the Host, they went into a tent and did eat and drink and carried thence silver, gold and raiment, and went and hid it: and came again and entered into another, and carried thence also, and 9 went and hid it. Then they said one to another: it is not well that we do, for this day is a day to bring tidings. And if we hold our peace, and tarry till it be daylight, we shall find a mischief.

Now therefore come, let us go and tell the king's household.
10 And so they went and called to the porter of the city and told them saying: we came to the pavilions of the Sirians: and see, there was no man there, neither voice of man, but horses and 11 Asses tied, and the tents even as they were. Then the porters called and told the kings house within. And the king arose in the night and said to his servants: I will shew you, how the Sirians have served us. They know that we are oppressed with hunger, and therefore are gone out of their pavilions to hide themselves in the field saying: They will come out of the city, 12 and then we shall catch them alive and get into the city. And one of his servants answered and said: Let men take five of the horses that remain and are left in the city. Behold they are as good as all the multitude that are left in the city: and as good as all the multitude of the city that are consumed, and 13 let us send and see. And they took two chariots of horses, and the king sent after the Host of the Sirians saying: go and 14 see. And they followed after them even unto Jordan: and see, all the way was full of clothes and vessels which the Sirians had cast from them for haste. And the messengers returned 15 and told the king. And then the people went out and robbed the tents of the Sirians. And so a bushel of flour was sold for a sicle, and two bushels of barley for a sicle, according to the 16 word of the LORD. And the king set the lord on whose hand he leaned, to keep the gate. And the people trod him in the gate, that he died, according to the saying of the man of God which he said, when the king came down to him. And it came to pass according to the word of the man of God to the king saying: two bushels of barley for a sicle and a bushel of flour for another shall be tomorrow this time in the gates of Samaria. And the lord answered the man of God and said: though the LORD made windows in heaven, yet would not this be. And the other said: Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, and shalt not eat thereof. And so it chanced: for the people trod him under feet in the gate, that he died. 18

Then spake Eliseus unto the woman whose son he had restored to life again, saying: up and go both thou and thine house, and sojourn where thou thinkest best, for the LORD will call a dearth which shall come on the land seven years. And the woman arose and did after the saying of the man of God, and went both she and her household and sojourned in the land of the Philistines seven years. And at the seven years' end, when the woman was come again out of the land of the Philistines she went out to speak to the king for her house and for her land. And the king was talking with Gihezi the servant to the man of God saying: tell me I pray thee, all the great deeds which Eliseus did. And it chanced as he was telling the king how he restored a dead body to life again that the woman whose son he revived, cried to the king for her house and her land. Then said Gihezi: My lord king, this is the woman and this is her son which Eliseus brought to life again. And the king asked the woman, and she told him. And so the king sent with her one of his chamberlains saying: restore all that pertaineth to her, with all the fruits of the field, since the day she left the land, unto this time. After that Eliseus went to Damasco, Benhadad the king of Siria being sick. And one told the king saying: The man of God is come hither. Then said the king to Hazael: take a present with thee and go against the man of God and ask the LORD by him whether I shall recover of this my disease or no. And Hazael went to meet him and took presents with him, even of all the good things of Damasco, as much as forty Camels could bear, and came and presented himself before him and said: thy son Benhadad king of Siria hath sent me to thee, saying: shall I recover of this my disease. And Eliseus said to him: go and say to him, thou shalt re- 10 cover, how be it the LORD hath shewed me that he shall surely 11 die. And the man of God began to look earnestly, in somuch 12 that he was ashamed: and the man of God wept. And Hazael said: why weepeth my lord: And he answered: for I know that thou shalt do evil unto the children of Israel: their strong cities thou shalt set on fire, and their young men thou shalt slay with the sword, and shalt dash out the brains of their sucking chil-13 dren: and all to tear their women with child. And Hazael said: what is thy servant which am but a dog, that I should do this great thing? And Eliseus said: for the LORD hath shewed 14 me, that thou shalt be king of Siria. And so he departed from Eliseus and came to his master, which said to him. What said Eliseus to thee? And he said: he told me that thou shouldest 15 recover. And on the morrow he took a rough cloth and dipped it in the water and spread it on his face, and he died, and Haz-16 ael reigned in his stead. The fifth year of Jehoram son of Ahab king of Israel, Jehosaphat being yet king of Juda, Jehoram the 17 son of Jehosaphat, king of Juda, began to reign. Thirty two year old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned eight 18 year in Jerusalem. And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as did the house of Ahab for the daughter of Ahab was 19 his wife, and he did that displeased the LORD. Neverthelater the LORD would not destroy Juda because of David his servant, as he promised him to give him a light in his children always.

20 And in his days Edom fell away from under the hand of Juda, 21 and made them a king of their own. And Jehoram went to Seir, and all his chariots with him. And he rose by night and laid on the Edomites, which compassed him in, and the cap-22 tains of his chariot and the people fled into their tents. And so the Edomites slipped away from under the hand of Juda unto this day. And then Lobnah slipped away too, even that same 23 time. The rest of the deeds of Jehoram and all he did, are writ-24 ten in the chronicles of the kings of Juda. And Jehoram rested with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of 25 David. And Ohoziah his son reigned in his stead. The twelfth year of Jehoram son of Ahab, king of Israel, did Ohoziah the 26 son of Jehoram king of Juda begin to reign. Two and twenty year old was Ohoziah when he began to reign, and reigned one year in Jerusalem, his mother's name was Athaliah daughter 27 of Amri king of Israel. And he walked in the way of the house of Ahab:* for he was a son-in-law to the house of Ahab. And 28 Jehoram the son of Ahab went to war with Hazael king of Siria, at Ramoth in Gilead, and the Sirians wounded him. Where- 29 fore king Jehoram went back again, to be healed in Jezrahel of the wounds which the Sirians had given him at Ramoth, when he fought with Hazael king of Siria. And Ohoziah the son of Jehoram king of Juda went down to see Jehoram of son of Ahab in Jezrahel because he was sick.

And Eliseus the prophet called unto one of the children of IX the prophets, and said to him: gird up thy loins and take this box of oil in thine hand and get thee to Ramoth in Gilead. And 2 when thou comest thither, thou shalt there see Jehu the son of Jehosaphat the son of Namsi and go to him, and make him arise up from among his brethren and carry him to a secret chamber. And take the box of oil and pour it on his head and 3 say, thus sayeth the LORD: I have anointed thee to be king over Israel. And then open the door and flee, and tarry not.
 And the servant of the prophet got him to Ramoth in Gilead, 4 and when he came, the captains of the Host were sitting to- 5 gether. And he said: I have an errand to thee Sir captain.
 And Jehu said, unto which of all of us? And he said: to thee O captain. And he arose and went into the house. And the 6 other poured the oil on his head and said to him, thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel: I have anointed thee to be king over Israel the people of the LORD, that thou slay the household 7 of Ahab thy master. For I (sayeth the LORD) will avenge the blood of my servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the LORD, of the hand of Jezabel (for the whole house 8 of Ahab shall be destroyed) and I will destroy unto Ahab what pisseth against the wall, and so much as the prisoned or that is forsaken in Israel, and will make the house of Ahab like the 9 house of Jeroboam son of Nabat, and like the house of Baasa the son of Ahiah. And as for Jezabel the dogs shall eat her in 10 the field of Jezrahel, and none shall bury her. And he opened the door and fled. And when Jehu was come out to the ser- 11 vants of his lord, they said to him: is all peace? Wherefore came this mad fellow unto thee? And he said to him: ye know the person and his communication. And they said: it is not 12 so. But tell us a fellowship. And he said, thus and thus spake

8. v.27 Other: and did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD.

he to me saying: Thus sayeth the LORD: I have anointed thee 13 to be king over Israel. And they hastened and took every man his mantle and put under him on an high bench at the top of 14 the steps, and blew a trumpet and said: Jehu is king. And so Jehu the son of Jehosaphat the son of Namsi conspired against Jehoram. And Jehoram had been waiting at Ramoth Gilead, 15 and all Israel with him for fear of Hazael king of Siria, and was returned to be healed in Jezrahel, of the wounds which the Sirians had given him as he fought with Hazael king of Siria. Then said Jehu: If it be your minds, then let no man 16 escape out of the city, to go and tell in Jezrahel. And Jehu rode and went to Jezrahel: for Jehoram lay there, and Ohoziah 17 king of Juda was come to Jehoram. And the watchmen that stood on the tower in Jezrahel spied the company of Jehu as he came, and said: I see a company. And Jehoram said: take an horseman and send against them, and let him ask whether it 18 be peace. And there went one on horseback against him and said: thus sayeth the king: is it peace? And Jehu answered: what hast thou to do with peace? turn and come after me.
And the watchman told saying: the messenger came to them 19 but he cometh not again. Then he sent out another on horseback, which came to them and said, thus sayeth the king: is it peace? And Jehu answered, what hast thou to do with peace?
20 turn and come after me. And the watchman told saying: he came to them, but he cometh not again, and the driving is like the driving of Jehu the son of Namsi, for he driveth as he were 21 mad. Then said Jehoram, make ready. And they made ready his chariot. And Jehoram king of Israel, and Ohoziah king of Juda went out either in his chariot against Jehu, and met him 22 in the furlong of Naboth the Jezrahelite. And when Jehoram saw Jehu, he said: is it peace Jehu? And he said, what peace should there be, so long as the whoredoms of thy mother Jez-23 abel and her witchcrafts are so great? And Jehoram turned his hand and fled, and said to Ohoziah: there is falsehood* 24 Ohoziah. And Jehu took a bow in his hand and smote Je-horam between the shoulders, that the arrow came out at his 25 breast. And he fell down three fold in his chariot. Then he said to Badakar a lord of his, take and cast him in the plat of ground of Naboth the Jezrahelite. For I remember as I and 9. v.23 Other: treason.

thou rode together after Ahab his father, how the LORD spake these words against him: I have seen yesterday the blood of Naboth and of his sons, said the LORD, and I will quite him in this ground, sayeth the LORD. Now therefore take him and cast him in the plat of ground according to the word of the LORD. And when Ohoziah the king of Juda saw that, he fled the way to the garden house. And Jehu followed after him and said: smite him also. And they smote him in his chariot at the going up to Sur by Jeblaam, and he fled to Magedo and there died. And his servants carried him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his sepulchre with his fathers in the city of David. And in the eleventh year of Jehoram son of David, began Ohoziah to reign over Juda. And when Jehu was come to Jezrahel, Jezabel heard of it, and starched her eyes and tired her head and looked out at a window. And as Jehu entered at the gate she said: had Zamri peace which slew his master? And he lifted up his eyes to the window and said, who is of my side who? And there looked out to him two or three lords that were chamberlains. And he said: Throw her down.
 And they threw her down. And he sprinkled of her blood upon the walls and on the horses, and trod her under foot. And then when he was come in and had eaten and drunk, he said: go and visit I pray you, yonder cursed creature, and bury her, for she is a king's daughter. And when they came to bury her, they found no more of her, than the skull and the two feet and the two hands. And they came again and told him. And he said: it is the word of the LORD which he spake by the hand of his servant Eliah the Thesbite saying: in the field of Jezrahel shall dogs eat the flesh of Jezabel, and the carcass of Jezabel shall be dung upon the earth, in the field of Jezrahel, that men shall not say, this is Jezabel.

Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria unto the elders that were lords of Jezrahel, and to them that nursed up Ahab's children saying: now at the coming of these letters to you, ye have with you your master's sons, and ye have with you chariots and horses, and a strong city and harness.
 Therefore choose the best, and him that most pleaseth you of your master's sons, and put him on his father's seat, and fight for your lord's house. And they were accordingly afraid, and said: see, two kings were not able

5 to stand before him, how shall we then stand? And the governor of the king's house and of the city and of the elders and the nurses sent to Jehu saying: we are thy servants and will do all that thou shalt bid us: we will make no man king: but do thou 6 what seemeth good in thine eyes. Then he wrote another letter to them saying: If ye be mine and will obey my voice, then take the heads of your master's sons and come to me to Jezrahel, by tomorrow this time. And the king's sons were seventy persons with the great men of the city which nourished them.
7 And when the letter came to them, they took the king's children and slew them in number, seventy persons, and put their 8 heads in coffins and sent them to him to Jezrahel. And there came a messenger and told him saying: they have brought the heads of the king's sons. And he said: let them put them on 9 two heaps in the entering of the gate, till it be day. And in the morning he went out and stood and said to all the folk, ye be righteous: for see, I conspired against my master and slew him:
10 But who slew these? consider now how there is nothing of the LORD's word fallen to the earth, which he spake against the house of Ahab: for the LORD hath done that he spake to his servant Eliah. And so Jehu slew all that remained of the house 11 of Ahab, in Jezrahel, and all that were great with him, and his companions and his priests, until he had left him nought remain. And he arose and departed and went to Samaria. And as Jehu was come even to the house where the shepherds bind 12 their sheep by the high way side, he met with the brethren of Ohoziah king of Juda, and said what are ye? and they said, the brethren of Ohoziah are we, and go to salute the children 13 of the king and of the queen. And he said: take them alive. And they took them alive, and slew them at the well beside the house where the shepherds bind their sheep, in number 14 forty two persons, that he left none of them. And when he was departed thence he met with Jehonadab the son of Rechab coming against him. And Jehu saluted him and said to him: is thine heart right, as mine heart is with thine. And Jehonadab said, yea that it is. If it be, then give me thine hand. And he gave his hand, and the other took him up to him into the 15 chariot and said: go with me and see the zeal I have to the 16 LORD, and made him ride with him in his chariot. And when he came to Samaria, he slew all that remained unto Ahab in

Samaria, till he had wiped him out, according to the saying of the LORD which he spake to Eliah. After that Jehu gathered all the people together and said to them: Ahab served Baal a little: but Jehu shall serve him a good. Now therefore call unto me all the Prophets of Baal and all his servants and all his priests that none be lacking. For I have a great sacrifice to do to Baal: and if any be missed, he shall not live. But Jehu did it for a subtlety, to destroy the servants of Baal. Wherefore Jehu said: Appoint a solempne feast for Baal, and they proclaimed it. Then Jehu sent thorowout all Israel. And all the servants of Baal came, that there was not a man left behind that came not. And when they were come into the temple of Baal, the temple was full from one end to another. Then he said to the keeper of the vestry, bring forth garments for the servants of Baal. And he brought them out garments. And Jehu went with Jehonadab son of Rechab into the house of Baal: and said to the servants of Baal: search and look that there be none here with you of the servants of the LORD, but the servants of Baal onely. And they went in, to offer sacrifice and burnt offerings. But Jehu appointed him four score men without and said: If any of the men that I shall bring unto your hands escape, he that letteth him go shall die for him. And as soon as he had made an end of offering of burnt sacrifice, he said to them of the guard and to the lords: go in and slay them, let none come out. And they smote them with the edge of the sword. And the guard and the lords cast them out, and went unto the city of the house of Baal, and fetched out the image out of the house of Baal and burnt it. And they brake the Image of Baal, and brake the house of Baal, and made a siege of it ever after. And so Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel. But from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nabat which made Israel sin with the golden calves in Bethel and Dan, Jehu departed not. Then the LORD said to Jehu, because thou hast lustily done that pleaseth me, and hast done to the house of Ahab all that was in mine heart, therefore shall thy children in the fourth generation sit on the seat of Israel. But Jehu cared not to walk in the law of the LORD God of Israel with all his heart: for he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam which made Israel sin. In those days the LORD began to cut Israel short, for Hazael slew them in all the coasts of Israel, from Jordan Eastward: even all the land of

Gilead, the Gadites, the Rubenites and the Manassites, from 34 Aroer upon the river of Arnon, with Gilead and Basan. The rest of the acts of Jehu, and all he did, and all his power, are 35 written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel. And when Jehu was laid to rest with his fathers, they buried him in Samaria, 36 and Jehoahaz his son reigned in his stead. And the time that Jehu reigned upon Israel in Samaria, was twenty eight year.

XI And Athaliah the mother of Ohoziah, when she saw that her son was dead, she arose and slew all the seed of the king-2 dom. But Jehosaba the daughter of king Jehoram and sister of Ohoziah, took Jehoas the son of Ohoziah and stole him from among the king's sons that were slain, and his nurse with him, out of a sleeping chamber, and hid him from Athaliah, that he 3 was not slain. And he was with her, hid in the house of the 4 LORD six years. And Athaliah did reign over the land. And the seventh year Jehoiada sent and fetched the rulers over hundreds with the captains and them of the guard, and took them into him into the house of the LORD, and made a bond with them, and took an oath of them in the house of the LORD, 5 and shewed them the king's son. And he commanded them saying: this is that ye must do: one third part of you shall come on the Sabbath day and keep the watch of the king's house: 6 And another third part shall be at the gate Sur: and another third part shall be at the gate behind the guard chamber, and 7 so shall ye keep the watch of the house of Mesah, and two portions of you: that is, all that go out the Sabbath day, shall keep 8 the watch of the house of the LORD about the king, and shall compass the king round about, every man with his weapon in his hand. And whosoever cometh within the ranges shall die for it. And see that ye be with the king as he goeth out and 9 in. And the captains over the hundreds did all the things as Jehoiada the priest commanded: and took every man his men, that is, them that came in the Sabbath day with them that went out the Sabbath day, and went to Jehoiada the priest.
10 And the priest gave to the captains over hundreds the spears and shields that were king David's and had remained in the 11 temple. And the guard stood every man with his weapon in his hand round about the king, from the right corner of the 12 temple to the left along by the altar and the temple. And he brought out the son of the king and put the crown upon him, and delivered him the witness, and made him king and anointed him. And they clapped their hands and said: God save the king. And when Athaliah heard the noise of the running of the people, she came to the people into the house of the LORD. And when she saw the king stand by a pillar (as the manner was) and the singers and the trumpets by the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing, and the blowing of the trumpets, she rent her clothes and cried, treason, treason. And Jehoiada the priest commanded the Captains of the hundreds that had the rule of the host, and said to them: have her out without the ranges, and if any follow her, let him die with the sword: for the priest said, she may not be slain in the house of the LORD. And they laid hands on her, and she went the way that the horses of the kings went out and was slain there. And Jehoiada made a bond both between the LORD and the king, and between the people and the LORD, that they should be the LORD's people: and also between the king and the people. Then all the people of the land went into the house of Baal, and destroyed his altars, and brake down his Images lustily, and slew Nathan the priest of Baal before the altar. And the priest set watchmen in the house of the LORD, and took the rulers over hundreds and the captains and the guard and all the people of the land: And they brought the king from the house of the LORD and went the way of the gate of the guard of the king's house. And he sat him down on the seat of the kings. And all the people of the Lord* rejoiced, and the city was in quiet. And they slew Athaliah with the sword in the house of the king. Jehoas was seven year old when he was made king.

And he began to reign the seventh years of Jehu, and reigned XII forty year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zebiah Bersabe. And he did that pleased the LORD, as long as Jehoiada the Priest informed him. But they took not away the hill altars, for the people slew and offered still in the hill altars. And Jehoas said to the priest: all the silver that is dedicate and brought to the house of the LORD in current money, that is to say, the money that every man is set at, with all the money that every man's heart giveth him to bring into the house of the LORD, let the priests take it to them, every man of his acquaintance, and let them repair the broken places of the temple in all the places where ought is found decayed. Nevertheless the priests had not mended unto the twenty third year of Jehoas, that was decayed in the temple. Then king Jehoas called for Jehoiada the priest and for the other priests also, and said to them: why repair ye not the broken places of the temple? Now therefore see ye receive no more money of your acquaintance, but deliver it to repair the temple withal. And the priests consented to receive no more money of the people: But that it should go to the mending of the temple. Then Jehoiada the priest took a coffer and bored a hole in the lid of it, and put it beside the altar on the right side as a man cometh in to the house of the LORD. And into that did the priests that kept the doors, put all the money that was brought into the house of the LORD. And when they saw that there was much money in the coffer the king's scribe and the high priest came, and knit up the money that was found in the house of the LORD, after they had told it. And they gave the money by sums into the hands of the workmen that had the oversight of the house of the LORD: and they brought it out to the carpenters and builders that wrought upon the house of the LORD, and to masons and hewers of stone, to buy timber and free stone, to repair the decay in the house of the LORD and all that, that needeth repairing in the house: howbeit there was not made in the house of the LORD, bowls of silver, shredding knives, basins, trumpets or any other instruments of gold or silver, of the money that was brought for the house of the LORD. For they gave that to the workmen, to repair therewith the house of the LORD. Moreover they reckoned not with the men, into whose hands they delivered that money to be bestowed on workmen: But they did it even of fidelity. How be it trespass money and sin money might not be brought into the house of the LORD, for it was the priests'. Then came Hazael king of Siria, and fought against Geth and took it, and appointed himself to go up to Jerusalem. But Jehoas king of Juda took all the dedicate things that Jehosaphat, Jehoram and Ohoziah his fathers, kings of Juda, had dedicate, and that he himself had dedicated, and all the gold that could be found in the treasure of the house of the LORD and of the king's house, and sent it to Hazael king of Siria: and so he departed from Jerusalem. The remnant of the acts of Jehoas and all he did, are written in the chronicles of the kings of Juda. And his own servants arose and wrought 20 treason, and slew Jehoas in the house Mello, in the way down to Sela. Jozabar the son of Semaath and Jehozabad the son of 21 Somer his servants, smote him, that he died. And they buried him with his fathers in the city of David. And Amaziah his son reigned in his stead.

In the twenty third year of Jehoas son of Ohoziah king of XIII Juda, Jehoahaz the son of Jehu was made king over Israel in Samaria, and continued seventeen year. And he wrought 2 wickedness in the sight of the LORD: for he followed the sin of Jeroboam the son of Nabat which made Israel sin, and departed not there from. Wherefore the LORD was angry with 3 Israel, and delivered them into the hand of Hazael king of Siria, and into the hand of Benhadad the son of Hazael all their days. But Jehoahaz besought the LORD, and the LORD heard 4 him. For he had seen the oppression of Israel, how the king of Siria oppressed them. And therefore the LORD gave Is- 5 rael a deliverer and they went out from under the hands of the Sirians. And the children of Israel dwelt in their tents as be- 6 fore time. Nevertheless they departed not from the sin of the house of Jeroboam which made Israel sin, but walked therein.
And there remained a grove also in Samaria still: But there 7 were left of the people to Jehoahaz, but fifty horsemen and ten chariots, and ten thousand footmen for the king of Siria had destroyed them and made them like threshed chaff. The rest of 8 the acts of Jehoahaz, and all he did and his power are written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel. And Jehoahaz rested 9 with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Joas his son reigned in his stead. In the thirty seventh year of Je- 10 hoas king of Juda, began Joas the son of Jehoahaz to reign over Israel in Samaria, and continued sixteen year, and did unhap- 11 pily in the sight of the LORD and departed in nothing from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nabat that made Israel sin, but walked therein. The remnant of the acts of Joas and all he 12 did, and his power, how he fought with Amaziah king of Juda, are written in the chronicle book of the kings of Israel. And 13 when Joas was laid to rest with his fathers, Jeroboam sat upon his seat. And Joas was buried in Samaria among the kings of Israel. When Eliseus was fallen sick of the sickness whereof 14 he died, Joas king of Israel came to him and wept to him, and said: O father, father the chariot of Israel and the horsemen 15 of the same. And Eliseus said unto him, bring bow and ar-16 rows. And he brought to him bow and arrows. And he said to the king of Israel: put thine hand upon the bow, and when he had put his hand upon the bow, Eliseus put his hands upon 17 the king's hands. Then he said, open a window eastward: and he opened. And Eliseus said: shoot, and he shot. And he said: the arrow of help of the LORD, and the arrow of help against the Sirians, for thou shalt beat the Sirians in Aphek till thou 18 have consumed them. Then he said: take arrows: and he took. Then he said to the king of Israel, smite the ground: 19 and he smote thrice and ceased. And the man of God was angry with him and said: thou shouldest have smitten five or six times, and then thou hadst smitten the Sirians till thou hadst consumed them: where now thou shalt beat them but thrice.

20 When Eliseus was dead and buried the soldiers of the Moabites 21 came into the land, the year following. And it chanced as they were burying a man, that they spied the Soldiers, and therefore cast the man into the sepulchre of Eliseus. And as soon as the man came and touched the bones of Eliseus, he revived 22 and stood up on his feet. And Hazael oppressed Israel, all 23 the days of Jehoahaz. But the LORD had mercy on them and pitied them and turned to them because of his appointment made with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and would not destroy 24 them, either cast them from him as yet. And when Hazael king of Siria was dead, Benhadad his son reigned in his stead.
25 And when Joas the son of Jehoahaz went again and took out of the hand of Benhadad son of Hazael, the cities which he had taken away out of the hands of Jehoahaz his father, with war.
And three times did Joas beat him and brought the cities of Israel again.

XIV The second year of Joas son of Jehoahaz king of Israel reigned 2 Amaziah the son of Jehoas king of Juda: he was twenty five year old when he began, and reigned twenty nine year in Je-3 rusalem. His mother's name was Jehoadan, and was of Jeru-4 salem. And he did that pleased the LORD, yet not like David his father: but did in all things as Joas his father did. Neither took they away the hill altars. But the people slew and offered 5 still in the hill altars. And as soon as the kingdom was settled in his hand, he slew his servants that killed the king his father. But the children of those murderers he slew not, as 6 it is written in the book of the law of Moses, where the LORD commanded saying: the fathers shall not die for the children's cause, nor the children for the deeds of their fathers: But every man shall be slain for his own sin. And he slew of the 7 Edomites in the salt valley ten thousand, and took the town Sela with strength of battle, and called the name of it Jektheel ever after. After that Amaziah sent messengers to Joas the 8 son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu king of Israel saying: come, let us see each other. But Joas king of Israel sent again to Amaziah 9 king of Juda saying: A thistle in Libanon sent to a cypress tree in Libanon saying: give thy daughter to my son to wife.

But the wild beasts in Libanon went and trod down the thistle.
Because thou hast beaten the Edomites, therefore thine heart 10 riseth. Be glorious: but tarry at home. For what needest thou to provoke to mischief, that thou shouldst be overthrown and Juda with thee. But Amaziah would not hear. And so Joas 11 king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Juda saw either other at Bethsames in Juda. And Juda was put to the 12 worse before Israel, and they fled every man to his tent. And 13 Joas king of Israel took Amaziah king of Juda, son of Jehoas son of Ohoziah, at Bethsames. And then he went to Jerusalem, and brake down the wall of Jerusalem from the gate of Eph-raim to the corner gate, four hundredth cubits. And he took 14 all the gold and silver and all the vessels that were found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasure of the king's house, and hostages thereto: and then returned to Samaria again. The 15 rest of the acts of Joas which he did, and his power, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Juda, are written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel: and Joas laid him to rest with his 16 fathers and was buried at Samaria among the kings of Israel: and Jeroboam his son reigned in his room. Amaziah the son of 17 Jehoas king of Juda lived after the death of Joas son of Jeho-haz king of Israel, fifteen year. And the remnant of the deeds 18 of Amaziah, are written in the chronicles of the kings of Juda.
And they conspired great treason against him in Jerusalem, 19 and he fled to Lachis. And they went after him to Lachis and slew him there. And they brought him on an horse and he was 20 buried at Jerusalem with his fathers in the city of David. And 21 all the people of Juda took Azariah, which was sixteen year 22 old and made him king for his father Amaziah. And he built Ailath and brought it again to Juda, after that the king was 23 laid to rest with his fathers. The fifteenth year of Amaziah son of Jehoas king of Juda, was Jeroboam son of Joas made 24 king over Israel in Samaria and reigned forty one year, and wrought wickedness in the sight of the LORD: for he turned in nothing from the sin of Jeroboam the son of Nabat which 25 made Israel sin. He restored the coasts of Israel from the entering of Hemath unto the sea, in the wild fields, according to the word of the LORD God of Israel which he spake thorow his 26 servant Jonas the son of Amithai the prophet, which was of Geth Opher. For the LORD had seen how that the affliction of Israel was exceeding bitter, in so much that the prisoned and the forsaken were at an end. And there was no helper unto 27 Israel. And the LORD had not yet said that men should put out the name of Israel from under heaven. And therefore he 28 help them by the hand of Jeroboam the son of Joas. The rest of the deeds of Jeroboam, and all he did, and his power how he fought, and how he restored Damasco and Hemath to Juda in Israel are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings 29 of Israel. And Jeroboam laid him to rest with his fathers and with the kings of Israel, and Zachariah his son reigned in his stead.

XV The twenty seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Aza-2 riah son of Amaziah king of Juda began to reign. Sixteen year old was he when he was made king, and he reigned forty two year in Jerusalem, his mother's name was Jecheliah, and 3 was of Jerusalem. And he did that pleased the LORD in all 4 things as did his father Amaziah: save that they put not the hill altars away: for the people offered and burned fat still in 5 the hill altars. And the LORD smote the king, that he was a leper unto the day of his death, and dwelt in an house at liberty, and Jotham the king's son governed the house and judged 6 the people of the land. The rest of the deeds of Azariah and all 7 he did, are written in the chronicles of the kings of Juda. And Azariah laid him to sleep with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David, and Jotham his son 8 reigned in his stead. In the thirty eighth year of Azariah king of Juda, was Zachariah the son of Jeroboam made king upon Israel in Samaria, and reigned six months, and did that displeased the LORD, as did his fathers, and turned not from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nabat which made Israel sin. And Selum the son of Jabes conspired against him, and smote him before the people, and killed him, and reigned in his stead. The rest of the deeds of Zachariah are written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel. This is the saying that the LORD spake unto Jehu, saying: thy sons shall sit on the seat of Israel in the fourth generation. And it came to pass. Selum the son of Jabes began to reign the thirty ninth year of Azariah king of Juda, and he reigned a month in Samaria. For Manahem the son of Gadi came up from Therzah and went to Samaria and smote Selum the son of Jabes in Samaria, and slew him, and reigned in his stead. The rest of the deeds of Selum and the treason, which he conspired are written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel. The same time Manahem destroyed Thaphsah, and all that were therein, and the coasts thereof from Therzah (because they opened not to him) he smote and rent all the women with child. The thirty ninth year of Azariah king of Juda, began Manahem the son of Gadi to reign upon Israel, and continued ten years in Samaria. And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and turned not all his days from the sin of Jeroboam the son of Nabat which made Israel sin. And Phul king of Assiria came upon the land. And Manahem gave Phul a thousand talents of silver, to help him to stablish his kingdom. And Manahem raised the money in Israel, upon all men of substance, for to give the king of Assiria fifty sicles of silver apiece. And the king of Assiria turned back again and tarried not there in the land. The rest of the deeds of Manahem and all he did, are written in the chronicles of the kings of Israel. And when Manahem was laid to rest with his fathers Phakeiah his son reigned in his stead. The fiftieth year of Azariah king of Juda, began Phakeiah the son of Manahem to reign over Israel in Samaria, and continued two year, and wrought wickedly in the sight of the LORD and left not off from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nabat which made Israel sin. And Phakeh the son of Romeliah a lord of his conspired against him and slew him in the palace of the king's house, with Argob and Ariah and fifty men with him that were Gileadites: and when he had killed him, reigned in his room. The rest of the acts of Phakeiah and all he did are written in the chronicles of the 27 kings of Israel. And the fifty second year of Azariah king of Juda, began Phakeh the son of Romeliah to reign over Israel in 28 Samaria and continued twenty year, and did evil in the sight of the LORD, and turned not from the sins of Jeroboam the son 29 of Nabat that made Israel sin. In the days of Phakeh king of Israel, came Teglath Phalasar king of Assiria, and took Aion, Abel, Beth, Maach, Janoah, Kades, Hazor, Gilead, Galile, and all the land of Nephthali, and carried them away to Assiria.

30 And Hosea the son of Elah conspired treason against Phakeh the son of Romeliah and smote him and slew him and reigned in his stead, the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Oziah.
31 The rest of the acts of Phakeh, and all he did, are written in 32 the stories of the kings of Israel. The second year of Phakeh son of Romeliah king of Israel, began Jotham the son of Oziah 33 king of Juda to reign. Five and twenty year old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen year in Jerusalem.
34 His mother's name was Jerusa the daughter of Zadok. And he did that was right in the sight of the LORD: even in all things 35 as did his father Oziah, did he. But they put not away the hill altars: for the people offered and burnt incense still in the hill 36 altars, he built the highest door in the house of the LORD. The rest of the deeds of Jotham and all he did, are written in the 37 Chronicles of the kings of Juda. In those days the LORD began to send against Juda, Razin the king of Siria and Phakeh 38 the son of Romeliah. And Jotham rested with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father, and Ahaz his son reigned in his stead.

XVI The seventeenth year of Phakah son of Romeliah king of Is-2 rael, Ahaz son of Jotham king of Juda, began to reign. Twenty year old was he when he was made king: and reigned sixteen year in Jerusalem, and did not that was right in the eyes of the 3 LORD his God, like David his father: But went in the way of the kings of Israel, and thereto he offered his son in fire, after the abomination of the heathen which the LORD cast out be-4 fore the children of Israel. And he offered and burnt the fat in the hill altars and on the hills and under every green tree.
5 Then Razin king of Siria and Phakeh son of Romeliah king of Israel came up to Jerusalem to fight. And they besieged Ahaz, 6 but could not overcome him. At the same time Razin king of

Siria brought Ailath again to Siria, and rid the Jews thence. And the Sirians went to Ailath and dwelt therein unto this day. Then Ahaz sent messengers to Teglath Phalasar king of Assiria, saying: I am thy servant and thy son, come and deliver me out of the hand of the king of Siria, and out of the hand of the king of Israel, which are risen against me. And Ahaz took the silver and the gold that was found in the house of the LORD and in the treasure of the king's house, and sent it for a reward to the king of Assiria. And the king of Assiria hearkened to him, and went to Damasco, and took it, and carried the people away to Kir and slew Razin. And king Ahaz went against Teglath Phalasar king of Assiria, to Damasco. And when he saw a certain altar that was at Damasco, he sent to Uriah the priest the pattern of the altar and the fashion of all the workmanship thereof. And Uriah the priest made an altar in all points like to the pattern which king Ahaz had sent from Damasco, and had finished it by the king's coming from Damasco. And when the king was come from Damasco and saw the altar, he went to it and offered thereon. And he burnt his burnt offering, and sprinkled the blood of his peace offering, and poured his drink offering and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings upon the said altar. And the brazen altar that was before the LORD, he fetched from before the house, from between the altar and the house of the LORD, and put it on the north side of the said altar. And the king commanded Uriah the Priest saying: upon the great altar set on fire, in the morning burnt offerings, and in the evening meat offerings and the king's burnt sacrifice and his meat offering, and the burnt offerings of all the people of the land and their meat offerings and their drink offerings, and pour thereon all the blood of all manner of offerings. But the brazen altar shall be for me, to enquire with. And Uriah the priest did all things as king Ahaz commanded him. And king Ahaz brake the sides of the bottoms and took the lavers from off them, and took down the sea from off the brazen oxen that were under it, and put it upon a pavement of stone. And thereto the pulpit for the Sabbath that they had made in the house, and the king's entry without turned he to the house of the LORD, for fear of the king of Assiria. The rest of the deeds of Ahaz which he did are written in the Chronicles of the kings of Juda. And Ahaz laid him to rest with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and Hezekiah his son reigned in his room.

In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Juda, Hosea son of Elah began to reign in Samaria upon Israel, and continued nine 2 years, and did that displeased the LORD, but not so evil as 3 did the kings of Israel that were before him. And Salmanasar king of Assiria came upon him, and Hosea became his servant 4 and gave him presents. And the king of Assiria found treason in Hosea, because he had sent messengers to Sua king of Egypt, and sent no presents unto the king of Assiria, as he was yearly wont to do. Therefore the king of Assiria be-5 sieged him and put him in prison. And then the king of Assiria came thorowout all the land, and came to Samaria and 6 besieged it three years. And in the ninth year of Hosea, the king of Assiria took Samaria and carried Israel away unto Assiria and put them in Hala, in Habor on the river of Gozan, 7 and in the cities of the Medes. For the children of Israel had sinned against the LORD their God which brought them out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharao king of 8 Egypt, and feared other gods. And they walked in the ordinance of the heathen which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel, and in the things which the kings of Is-9 rael had made. And the children of Israel wrapped themselves in things that were not well toward the LORD their God. And they built them Hillaltars in all their cities, both in the towers where they kept watch and also in the strong 10 towns. And they made them Images and groves on every high 11 hill and under every green tree. And there they sacrificed in the Hillaltars, as did the heathen which the LORD carried away at their coming, and wrought wicked deeds, to anger the 12 LORD withal. And they served Idols, whereof the LORD had 13 said to them: ye shall not do so. And the LORD testified to Israel and to Juda, by all the prophets and by all the sears, saying: Turn from your wicked ways and keep my commandments and mine ordinances according to all the laws which I commanded your fathers, and as I sent to you by my servants 14 the prophets. Notwithstanding they would not hear, but hardened their necks, like to the necks of their fathers that did not 15 believe the LORD their God. And they refused his ordinances and his appointment that he had made with their fathers, and the witness which he had witnessed to them and followed vanity and became vain, like to the heathen that were round about them, of which the LORD had charged them, that they should not do like them. But they left the commandments of the LORD their God and made them Images of metal, even two calves: and made groves and bowed themselves unto all the Host of heaven, and served Baal. And they sacrificed their sons and their daughters in fire, and used witchcraft and enchantments, and were sold to work wickedness in the sight of the LORD, for to anger him. Wherefore the LORD was exceeding wroth with Israel and put them out of his sight, that there was left but the tribe of Juda onely, and thereto Juda kept not the commandments of the LORD their God, but walked in the ordinances of Israel which they had made. Therefore the LORD cast up all the seed of Israel and vexed them and delivered them into the hands of spoilers, until he had cast them out of his sight. And Israel divided themselves, from the house of David, and made Jeroboam the son of Nabat king. Which Jeroboam thrust Israel away from the LORD and made them sin a great sin. And so the children of Israel walked in all the sin of Jeroboam which he had set up, and departed not therefrom, until the LORD had put Israel away out of his sight, as he said by all his servants the prophets. And so he translated Israel out of their land to Assiria, even unto this day. And the king of Assiria brought from Babylon and from Cutha, and from Ava and from Hemath and from Sepharuaim, and put them in the cities of Samaria instead of the children of Israel. And they possessed Samaria and dwelt in the cities thereof. But at the beginning of their dwelling, they feared not the LORD. Wherefore the LORD sent lions upon them which slew them. Then men told the king of Assiria, saying: The nations which thou hast translated and put in the cities of Samaria, know not the manner of the God of the land, and therefore he hath sent lions upon them, which slay them, because they know not the manner of the God of the land. Then the king of Assiria commanded saying: carry thither one of the priests which ye brought thence, and let him go and dwell there, and teach them the fashion how to serve the God of the country. And then one of the priests which they had carried thence, went and dwelt in Bethel, and taught them how they should fear the LORD.

29 How be it every nation made their own gods and put them in the houses of the Hillaltars which the Samaritans had made, 30 every nation in their cities where they dwelt. The men of Babylon made Socoth, Benoth. The men of Cuth made Nergal.
 31 They of Hemath made Asima. The Evites made Nebahaz, and Tharthak. And the Sepharuites burnt their children in fire unto Adramelech and Anamelech, the gods of Sepharuites.
 32 And they feared the LORD, yet they made them priests of the lowest of the people, for the Hillaltars, which sacrificed for 33 them in the houses of the Hillaltars. And so they feared the LORD, and yet served their own gods after the manner of the 34 people from whence they were brought. Unto this day they do after the old manner: they neither fear the LORD, neither do after their own ordinances and customs, and after the law and commandment which the LORD commanded the children 35 of Jacob whose name he called Israel, and made an appointment with them and charged them saying: Fear not any other gods, nor bow yourselves to them nor serve them, nor sacrifice 36 to them: But to the LORD which brought you out of the land of Egypt with great power and a stretched out arm: him fear and 37 to him bow and to him do sacrifice. And the ordinances, customs, law and commandment which I wrote for you, see that ye be diligent to do for evermore, and fear not any other gods.
 38 And the appointment that I have made with you, see ye forget 39 not, and that you fear none other gods: but the LORD your God ye shall fear, and he shall deliver you out of the hands of 40 all your enemies. How be it they heard not, but did after the 41 old manner. And even so did these nations fear the LORD and serve their images thereto: and so did their children, and their children's children too. Even as did their fathers, so do they unto this day.

XVIII In the third year of Hosea son of Ela, king of Israel reigned 2 Hezekiah son of Ahaz king of Juda. Twenty five year old was he, when he began to reign, and reigned twenty nine year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abi the daughter of 3 Zachariah, and he did that pleased the LORD in all things, 4 like to David his father. He put away the hillaltars, and brake the images and cut down the groves, and all to brake the brazen serpent that Moses made. For unto those days the children 5 of Israel did burn sacrifice to it, and called it Nehustan. He trusted in the LORD God of Israel, so that after him came none like him among all the kings of Juda, neither among them that went before him. He clave to the LORD and departed not from him, but kept his commandments which the LORD commanded Moses. And the LORD was with him. And whatsoever he took in hand he did it wisely. And he rebelled against the king of Assiria and served him not. He beat the Philistines even unto Azah and the coasts thereof, both in castles of garrisons and strong cities too. And the fourth year of king Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hosea son of Elah king of Israel, came Salmanasar king of Assiria upon Samaria and besieged it. And they took it at the end of three years, which was the sixth of Hezekiah: that is to say the ninth year of Hosea king of Israel, was Samaria won. And the king of Assiria did carry away Israel unto Assiria, and put them in Halah and in Habor on the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes: because they would not hearken unto the voice of the LORD their God. But transgressed his appointment, and all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded, and would neither hear nor do. The fourteenth year of king Hezekiah came Sennaherib king of Assiria against all the strong cities of Juda and took them. Whereupon Hezekiah king of Juda sent to the king of Assiria to Lachis saying: I have offended. But depart from me, and what thou putteth on me that I will bear. And the king of Assiria appointed unto Hezekiah king of Juda three hundredth talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. And Hezekiah gave him all the silver that was found in the house of the LORD and also in the treasure of the king's house. And the said season Hezekiah rent off the doors of the temple of the LORD and the pillars, which the said Hezekiah king of Juda covered over, and gave them to the king of Assiria. And the king of Assiria sent Tharthan and Rabsaris, and Rabsakeh from Lachis to king Hezekiah with a great Host to Jerusalem. And they went up and came to Jerusalem, and went and stood by the conduit of the uppermost pool which is in the way to the fuller's field, and called to the king. And there came out to them, Eliakim the son of Helkiah steward of household, and Sobnah the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder; And then Rabsakeh said unto them. Tell ye Hezekiah I pray you: Thus sayeth the great king, the king of Assiria; What confidence is this that 20 thou hast? thou wilt haply speak a light word, that thou hast counsel and power to make war. On whom then dost thou trust, 21 that thou rebellest against me? dost thou trust to the staff of this broken reed Egypt, on which if a man lean it will run into his hand and pierce it: For even so is Pharaoh king of Egypt 22 unto all that trust on him. If ye say unto me, we trust in the LORD our God. Is not that he whose hillaltars and other altars too, Hezekiah hath put down, and hath said to Juda and Jerusalem, bow yourselves before this altar here in Jerusalem.

23 And now join thyself to my lord the king of Assiria, and I will deliver thee two thousand horses, if thou be able to set riders 24 upon them: (and if thou be not) how then art thou able to resist one of the least dukes of my master's servants? or trustest 25 thou to Egypt for chariots and horsemen? Moreover thinkest thou that I am come without the bidding of the LORD to this place to destroy it? nay: the LORD said to me: Go up to this 26 land, and destroy it. Then said Eliakim the son of Helkiah and Sobnah and Joah, to Rabsakeh: speak we pray thee to thy servants in the Sirians' language, for we understand it: and talk not with us in the Jews' tongue, in the ears of the people 27 that are on the walls. And Rabsakeh said unto them: hath my master sent me only to thy master and to thee, to speak these words, or rather to the men that keep on the walls, that they shall eat their own dirt, and drink their own piss with 28 you. And so Rabsakeh stood and cried with a loud voice in the Jews' language, and spake saying: hear the saying of the 29 great king, the king of Assiria. Thus sayeth the king: Let not Hezekiah beguile you, for he is not able to deliver you out of 30 mine hand: neither let Hezekiah make you trust to the LORD saying: the LORD will surely rid us, and this city shall not be 31 delivered into the hands of the king of Assiria. Hearken not unto Hezekiah, for thus sayeth the king of Assiria. Deal kindly with me, and come out to me. And then eat every man of his own vine, and of his own fig tree, and drink every man of the 32 water of his own well, till I come and fetch you to as good a land as yours is: a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olive trees, of oil and of honey. And ye shall live and not die. And hearken not unto Hezekiah for he 33 will beguile you, saying: the LORD shall deliver us. For have the Gods of the nations delivered any God his land, out of the hand of the king of Assiria? Where are the Gods of Hemath 34 and of Arphad? where are the Gods of Sepharuaim of Ana and Auah? did they deliver Samaria out of mine hands? what God 35 of any land hath delivered his land out of mine hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem out of mine hand? But the 36 people held their peace and answered him not a word: for the king had commanded saying: answer him not. Then Eliakim 37 the steward of household, and Sobnah the scribe and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent and told him the words of Rabsakeh.

When king Hezekiah heard that, he rent his clothes and XIX put on sack, and went into the house of the LORD. Further- 2 more he sent Eliakim steward of the household and Sobnah the scribe, and the elders of the Priests clothed in sack, to Isa- 3 iah the prophet the son of Amoz. And they said to him, thus sayeth Hezekiah: this day is a day of tribulation, rebuking and railing. Even as when the children are ready to be born, and the mothers have no power to be delivered. Oh that the LORD 4 thy God would hear all the words of Rabsakeh whom the king of Assiria his master hath sent to rail on the living God, and to rebuke him with words which the LORD thy God hath heard.
 Wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant that are left.
 When the servants of king Hezekiah were come to Isaiah: 5, 6 Isaiah said to them: So shall we say to your master. Thus sayeth the LORD: be not afraid of the words thou heardest, with which the young men of the king of Assiria have railed on me. For I 7 will send him a blast that he shall hear tidings, and so return to his own land: And I will overthrow him with the sword even in his own land. And Rabsakeh went back again and found 8 the king of Assiria fighting against Lobnah: for he had heard how that he was departed from Lachis. And he heard tidings 9 of Therhakah king of the black Moors, how that he was come out to fight against him. And thereupon he departed and sent messengers unto Hezekiah saying: Thus say to Hezekiah king 10 of Juda, let not thy God carry thee out of the way, in whom thou so trustest saying: Jerusalem shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assiria. Behold, thou hast heard what the 11 kings of Assiria have done to all lands, how they have utterly destroyed them. And how then shouldest thou escape? hath 12 the gods of the heathen delivered them which mine ancestries have destroyed: as Gozan, Haran, Rezeph, and the children of 13 Eden which were in Thelasar? where is the king of Hemath, the king of Arphad, the king of the city of Sepharuaim, and 14 the king of Ana and the king of Auah? When Hezekiah had received the letter of the hand of the messenger and had read it: he went into the house of the LORD and laid it abroad before 15 the LORD. And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD and said: LORD God of Israel which dwellest between the Cherubs, thou art God alone over all the kingdoms of the earth, and thou hast 16 made both heaven and earth. LORD, bow thine ears and hear: Open LORD thine eyes and see: and hear the words of Senna-17 herib which hath sent to rail on the living God. But of a truth, LORD, the kings of Assiria have destroyed nations and their 18 lands, and have set fire on their gods. For they were no Gods, but the work of the hands of man: even wood and stone. And 19 therefore they destroyed them. Now therefore LORD our God, save thou us out of his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth 20 may know, that thou LORD art God alone. And Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah saying: thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel, that thou hast prayed to me concerning Sennaherib 21 king of Assiria, I have heard it. This is the thing that the LORD sayeth of him: he hath despised thee, O virgin daughter of Sihon: he hath shaked his head at thee, thou daughter of 22 Jerusalem: whom hast thou railed on, and whom hast thou reviled? Against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and hast 23 lift up thine eyes so high? Even against the holy of Israel. By the hand of thy messengers thou hast railed on the Lord and said: with the multitude of my chariots I am come up to the height of the mountains even along by the sides of Libanon, and have cut off the high Cedar trees and the lusty fir trees 24 thereof even to the wood of Carmel that belongeth thereto. I have digged and drunk strange waters, and have dried up with 25 the soles of my feet pools enclosed. But hast thou not heard how I have ordained such a thing a great while ago, and have prepared it from the beginning? And now I bring it forth and it shall be to destroy and to bring strong cities in to rude heaps 26 of stones. And the inhabitants of them shall be of little power, and faint hearted and confounded. They shall be like the grass of the field and green herbs, and as the hay on the tops of the 27 houses which withereth or it come to any height. I wot where thou dwellest, and thy coming out and going in know I too, and how thou settest up thy bristles against me. And because thou 28 settest up thy bristles against me, and that thy raging is come up to mine ears: therefore I will put a ring in thy nose and a bit in thy lips, and will bring thee back again the same way thou camest. And this shall be a sign unto thee: eat this year of the 29 fruits of the seed that fell out, and the next year, that waxeth of itself. And the third year sow ye and reap, plant vineyards and eat the fruits thereof. For the daughter of Juda that is escaped 30 and left, shall yet again take rooting downward and bear fruit upward. For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant, and a num- 31 ber that shall escape out of mount Sion: the zeal of the LORD of Hosts shall bring this thing to pass. Wherefore thus sayeth 32 the LORD, of the king of Assiria: he shall not come to this city, nor shoot arrow into it, nor come before with shield nor cast any bank against it: but shall go back again the way he came, 33 and shall not come at his city sayeth the LORD. For I will 34 defend this city and save it, for mine own sake and for David my servant's sake. And the self same night the Angel of the 35 LORD went out and smote in the Host of the Assirians an hundredth and four score and five thousand. And when they were up early in the morning: behold, they were all dead corpses.

 And so Sennaherib king of Assiria avoided and departed and 36 went again, and dwelt at Nineveh. And as he was in his devo- 37 tion kneeling in the house of Nisroch his God, Adramelech and Sarafar smote him with the sword. And they escaped into the land of Ararat, and Asarhadon his son reigned in his stead.

About that time Hezekiah was sick unto the death. And the XX Prophet Isaiah son of Amoz came to him and said to him: Thus sayeth the LORD: put thine household in an order, for thou shalt die and not live. And Hezekiah turned his face to the 2 wall and besought the LORD saying: Oh LORD, remember yet 3 how I have walked before thee truly and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy sight, and wept a great pace. And Isaiah was scarce gone out into the middle of the 4 city, but that the word of the LORD came to him saying: turn 5 again and tell Hezekiah the captain of my people. Thus sayeth the LORD God of David thy father. I have heard thy prayer and seen thy tears. Behold, I will heal thee, and this day three days thou shalt go up into the house of the LORD. And I will 6 lengthen thy days yet fifteen year, and will deliver both thee and this city out of the hand of the king of Assiria, and will defend this city for mine own sake, and for David my servant's 7 sake. And Isaiah said: bring a lump of figs. And they brought 8 and put it on the sore, and he recovered. Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah: what is the sign, that the LORD will heal me, and that I shall go up into the house of the LORD the third day?

9 And Isaiah said: this sign shalt thou have of the LORD, that the LORD will do that he hath spoken: shall the shadow go 10 forward ten degrees, or go back again ten degrees? And Hezekiah said: it is a light thing for the shadow to go down ten degrees. Therefore I will not that: but let the shadow go back-11 ward ten degrees. And Isaiah the Prophet called to the LORD, and he brought the shadow ten degrees backward by which it 12 had gone down, in the dial of Ahaz. The same season Bero-dach Baladan the son of Baladan king of Babilon sent letters and presents unto Hezekiah, for he heard how that Hezekiah 13 was sick. And Hezekiah hearkened unto them and shewed them all that was in the spicery house, and his silver and gold and odours and precious ointments and his armory and all that was found in his treasure: there was nothing in his house or in 14 all his realm, that he shewed them not. Then came Isaiah the Prophet unto king Hezekiah and said to him: What say these men and from whence come they to thee? And Hezekiah said: 15 they be come from a far country, even from Babylon. And he said: what have they seen in thy house? And Hezekiah said: all that is in my house have they seen: there is nothing among 16 my treasure that I have not shewed them. And Isaiah said to 17 Hezekiah: hear the word of the LORD. Behold the day shall come, that all that is in thine house and that thy fathers have laid up in store unto this day, shall be carried to Babylon, and 18 nothing shall be left sayeth the LORD. And of thy sons that proceeded out of thee, which thou begattest, shall there be carried away, and shall be made chamberlains in the palace of the 19 king of Babylon. And Hezekiah said to Isaiah: welcome be the word of the LORD which thou hast spoken: so that peace and 20 truth be kept in my days. The remnant of the deeds of Hezekiah and all his power, and how he made a pool and a conduit and brought the water into the city, are written in the book of 21 the chronicles of the kings of Juda. And Hezekiah laid him to rest with his fathers, and Manasseh his son reigned in his stead.

Manasseh was twelve year old when he began to reign and XXI reigned fifty and five year in Jerusalem: his mother's name was Haphzibah. And he did that displeased the LORD, even after 2 the abominations of the Heathen which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel. And he went and built the hillaltars again, which Hezekiah his father had destroyed. And he 3 reared up altars to Baal and made groves, as did Ahab king of Israel. And he bowed himself unto all the Host of heaven and served them. And he built altars in the very house of the 4 LORD, of which the LORD had said: in Jerusalem I will put my name. And he built altars unto all the Host of heaven, even 5 in two courts of the house of the LORD. And he offered his son in fire, and observed dismal days, and used witchcraft and 6 maintained workers with spirits, and tellers of fortunes: and wrought much wickedness in the sight of the LORD to anger him. And he put an image of a grove that he had made, even 7 in the very temple of which the LORD had said to David and to Salomon his son, in this house and in Jerusalem which I have chosen out of all tribes of Israel, will I put my name for ever. Neither will I make the feet of Israel move any more out of the 8 land which I gave their fathers: so that they will be diligent to do all I have commanded them, and all the law that my servant Moses commanded them. But they hearkened not: for Manasseh had led them out of the way, to do more wickedness than 9 did the heathen people which the LORD destroyed from before the children of Israel. And the LORD spake by his servants 10 the Prophets, saying: because Manasseh king of Juda hath done such abominations, and hath wrought wickedly above all that the Amorites which were before him did: and hath made 11 Juda sin also with his Idols. Therefore thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel. Behold, I will bring such evil upon Jerusalem 12 and Juda, that the ears of all that hear it, shall tingle at it. And I will stretch over Jerusalem the squaring line of Samaria 13 and the plummet of the house of Ahab. And I will wipe out Jerusalem, as a man would wipe a dish, and when he hath wiped it turneth it upside down. And though I leave a remnant of mine inheritance, yet I will deliver them into the hands 14 of them that hate them, and they shall be robbed and spoiled

15 of all their enemies: even because they have done wickedly and have angered me, since the time their fathers came out 16 of Egypt unto this day. And thereto Manasseh shed innocent blood exceeding abundantly, in so much that he replenished Jerusalem in all corners, beside his sin wherewith he made Juda 17 sin and to do evil in the sight of the LORD. The rest of the acts of Manasseh and all he did and his sin that he sinned, are 18 written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Juda. And Manasseh laid him to sleep with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own house, even in the garden of Oza: and 19 Amon his son reigned in his stead. Amon was twenty two year old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Mesalemeth the daughter of 20 Haru of Jathbah. And he did that displeased the LORD as his 21 father Manasseh did. And he walked in all the way that his father walked in, and served the Idols that his father served, 22 and bowed himself to them. And he forsook the LORD God of 23 his fathers and walked not in the way of the LORD. And the servants of Amon conspired against him, and slew him in his 24 own house. But the people of the land slew all that conspired against king Amon, and made Josiah his son king in his room.
25 The rest of the acts of Amon which he did are written in the 26 Chronicle of the kings of Juda. And they buried him in his sepulchre in the garden of Oza, and Josiah his son reigned in his stead.

XXII Josiah was eight year old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was 2 Ididah the daughter of Adaiah of Bezecath. And he did that seemed right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in all the ways of David his father, and bowed neither to the right hand 3 nor to the left. And the eighteenth year of his reign king Josiah sent Saphan the son of Azaliah the son of Mesulam the scribe to the house of the LORD, saying: go to Helkiah the 4 high priest, and let him sum the silver that is brought into the house of the LORD, which the keepers of the doors have 5 gathered of the people, and let them deliver it into the hands of the workmen that have the oversight of the house of the LORD, which shall give it to them that work upon the house 6 of the LORD, to repair the decayed places thereof, even unto carpenters and masons, and for to buy timber and free stone to repair the house. How be it let no reckoning be made with 7 them of the money that is delivered into their hands, but let them do it of their conscience. And Helkiah the high priest 8 said to Saphan the scribe: I have found the book of the law in the temple of the LORD, and Helkiah gave the book to Saphan, and he read it. And then Saphan the scribe went to the king 9 and brought him word again, and said: thy servants poured out the silver that was found in the temple, and have delivered it unto the workmen that have the oversight of the house of the LORD. Furthermore Saphan the scribe shewed the king say- 10 ing: Helkiah the priest hath delivered me here a book. And Saphan read it before the king. And the king as soon as 11 he had heard the words of the book of the law, he rent his clothes and commanded Helkiah the priest and Ahikam the 12 son of Saphan and Achobor the son of Michaiah, and Saphan the scribe, and Asahiah a servant of the king's, saying: go ye 13 and seek of the LORD for me and the people and for all Juda, concerning the words of this book that is found. For it is a great wrath of the LORD that is kindled upon us, that our fathers have not hearkened unto the words of this book, to do in all points as it is written therein. And Helkiah the high priest 14 and Ahikam, Achobor, Saphan, Asahiah went unto Oldah the Prophetess wife of Selum the son of Tekuah the son of Hara-ham keeper of the robes, which Prophetess dwelt in Jerusalem in the second ward, and communed with her. And she said to 15 them: thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel. Tell the man that sent you to me: thus sayeth the LORD: behold I will bring evil 16 upon this place and on the dwellers therein: even all the words of the book which the king of Juda hath read, because they 17 have forsaken me and have brent offerings unto other gods, to anger me with all the works of their hands. Therefore is my wrath kindled against this place, and shall not be quenched.

But to the king of Juda which sent you to enquire of the LORD, 18 so shall ye say: thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel, as touching the words which thou heardest. Because thine heart did 19 melt and thou meekedest thyself before me the LORD, when thou heardest what I spake against this place and the inhabiters of the same, how that it should be destroyed and made accursed: and tearest thy clothes and weepst before me: of that also I have heard sayeth the LORD. And therefore see, 20

I will receive ye unto thy fathers and will fetch thee unto thy grave in peace, thine eyes shall see none of the evil which I will bring upon this place. And they brought the king word again.

XXIII

And then the king sent and gathered unto him all the elders of Juda and of Jerusalem. And the king went up into the house of the LORD, and all the men of Juda and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, and the priests and the Prophets and all the people both small and great. And he read in the ears of them all the words of the book of the covenant, which was found in the house of the LORD. And the king stood by a pillar and made a covenant before the LORD that they should walk after the LORD, and keep his commandments and his witnesses and his ordinances with all their hearts and all their souls, and make good the words of the said appointment that were written in the foresaid book. And all the people consented to the appointment. And the king commanded Helkiah the high priest and the inferior priests and the keepers of the door, to bring out of the temple of the LORD, all the vessels that were made for Baal and for the grove and for all the Host of heaven. And he burnt them without Jerusalem in the fields of Cedron and carried the ashes of them into Bethel. And he put down the Camarites which the kings of Juda had set to burn offerings in the hillaltars in the cities of Juda round about Jerusalem and also them that burnt sacrifices unto Baal to the son and to the moon and to the planets, and to all the Host of heaven. And he brought out the grove from the temple of the LORD without Jerusalem unto the brook Cedron, and stamped it to powder, and cast the dust thereof upon the graves of people of the country. And he brake down the cells of the male whores that were in the house of the LORD, where the women wove little houses for the grove. And he brought all the priests out of the cities of Juda, and defiled* the hillaltars where the priests did burn sacrifice, even from Gabaa to Bersabe. And he brake down the hillaltars of the Gates, that were in the entering of the gate of Josua the governor of the city, which were on the left hand of the gate of the city. Nevertheless the priests of the hillaltars might not come at the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem, save only they did eat of the sweet bread among their brethren. And he defiled Topheth also, which is in the valley

23. v.8 Other: suspended.

of the children of Hennom, because no man should offer his son or his daughter in fire to Moloch: he put down the horses that 11 the kings of Israel had given to the son at the entering of the house of the LORD, in the chamber of Nathanmeleh the chamberlain which was of Paruarim, and burnt the chariots of the son with fire. And the altars that were on the top of the par- 12 lour of Ahaz which the king of Juda had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the LORD, the king brake down, and ran thence and cast the dust of them into the brook Cedron. And the hillaltars that before 13 Jerusalem on the right hand of the mount Nashith, which Salomon king of Israel built to Astharoth the abomination of the Zidons and to Chamos the abomination of the Moabites, and to Milchom the abomination of the children of Ammon, the king defiled: and brake the images and cut down the groves and 14 filled the places with the bones of men. Moreover the altar that was at Bethel, the hillaltar made by Jeroboam the son of 15 Nabat which made Israel sin: both the altar and also the hill he brake down and burnt the hill and stamped it to powder, and burnt the grove. And as Josiah turned himself, he spied 16 the graves that were in the mount and sent and fetched the bones out of the graves and burnt them upon the altar and polluted it according to the word of the LORD that the man of God had proclaimed, which openly had denounced the same things.
Then the king said: what meaneth yonder grave stone that I 17 see? And the men of the city told him, it is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Juda and openly denounced the self same things that thou hast done to the altar of Bethel.
And he said let him be: see that no man move his bones. And 18 so his bones escaped with the bones of a Prophet that came out of Samaria. And thereto all the houses of the hillaltars 19 of the cities of Samaria which the kings of Israel had made, to anger with all: Josiah put out of the way and did to them in all points as he did in Bethel. And he sacrificed all the 20 priests of the hillaltars that were there, even upon the altars, and burnt men's bones upon them, and returned to Jerusalem. And the king commanded all the people saying: keep 21 the feast of passover unto the LORD your God, as it is written in the book of this covenant. For there was no passover held 22 like that from the days of the judges that judged Israel, and 23 throwout all the days of the kings of Israel and of Juda. And in the eighteenth year of king Josiah was this passover holden 24 to the LORD in Jerusalem. And thereto workers with spirits, soothsayers, Images of witchcraft, idols and all other abomi-nations that were spied in the land of Juda and in Jerusalem, Josiah put out of the way to make good the words of the law, which were written in the book that Helkiah the priest found 25 in the house of the LORD: like unto him was there no king before him, that turned to the LORD with all his heart, with all his soul, and all his might, according to all the law of Moses, 26 neither after him arose there any such. Notwithstanding the LORD turned not from his fierce and great wrath wherewith he was angry against Juda upon all the provocations that Man-27 asseh provoked him. But the LORD said: I will put Juda too, out of my sight, as I have done Israel, and will cast off this city Jerusalem which I have chosen, and the house of which I 28 have said, my name shall be there. The rest of the deeds of Josiah and all he did are written in the book of the stories of 29 the kings of Juda. In his days Pharao Necoh king of Egypt went against the king of Assiria to the river of Euphrates. And king Josiah went against him, and was slain of him at Magedo 30 when he had seen him. And his servants carried him dead from Magedo and brought him to Jerusalem and buried him in his own sepulchre. And the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah and anointed him and made him king in his 31 father's room. And Jehoahaz was twenty three year old when he began to reign and reigned three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Namital the daughter of Jeremiah of Lob-32 nah. And he did that displeased the LORD, in all things as his fathers had done. And Pharao Necoh put him in bonds at 33 Reblah in the land of Hemath in the time of his reign in Jerusalem, and put the land to a tribute of an hundredth talents 34 of silver and a talent of gold. And Pharao Necoh made Eliakim the son of Josiah king in the room of Josiah his father, and turned his name to Jehoakim, and took Jehoahaz away 35 which when he came to Egypt died there. And Jehoakim gave the silver and the gold to Pharao: how be it he taxed the land, to give the money at the commandment of Pharao and as every man was set at, so he required the silver and the gold of 36 the people of the land, to give Pharao Necoh. Jehoakim was twenty five year old when he began to reign, and he reigned an eleven year in Jerusalem. His mother was named Zebda the daughter of Phadaiah of Ramah. And he did that was evil favoured in the sight of the LORD, like in all things as did his fathers. 37

In his days came Nabuchodonozor king of Babylon, and Jehoakim became his servant three years, and then turned and rebelled against him. And the LORD sent upon him men of war out of Galdey, out of Siria, out of the Moabites, and from the children of Ammon: and sent them into Juda, to destroy it, according to the saying of the LORD which he spake by his servants the Prophets. Only at the bidding of the LORD happened it so to Juda, to put them out of his sight, for the sin of Manasseh according to all he did: and for the innocent blood that he shed and filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, which the LORD would not forgive. The rest of the deeds of Jehoakim and all he did, are written in the chronicles of the kings of Juda. And Jehoakim laid him to sleep with his fathers, and Jehoacin his son reigned in his stead. But the king of Egypt came now no more out of his land: for the king of Babylon had taken from the river of Euphrates, all that pertained to the king of Egypt. Jehoacin was eighteen year old when he began to reign, and reigned in Jerusalem three months. His mother's name was Nehustha the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem. And he did that displeased the eyes of the LORD in all points as his father did. In his time came the servants of Nabuchodonozor king of Babylon, to Jerusalem and the city was besieged. And Nabuchodonozor came to the city as his servants were yet a besieging of it. And Jehoacin the king of Juda came out to the king of Babylon, with his mother, his servants, his lords and his chamberlains. And the king of Babylon took him, in the eighth year of his reign. And he carried out thence all the treasure of the house of the LORD, and the treasure of the king's house, and brake all the vessels of gold which Salomon king of Israel had made, in the temple of the LORD, as the LORD had said. And he carried away all Jerusalem, and all the lords and all the men of might, to the number of ten thousand into captivity and all craftsmen and Joiners, none remaining save the poor people of the land. And he carried away Jehoacin to Babylon, and the king's mother, and the XXIV kings wives, and his chamberlains, and the mighty of the land 16 carried he away from Jerusalem to Babylon. And all the men of activity to the number of seven thousand, and craftsmen and joiners a thousand, all strong and apt for war, did the king of 17 Babylon bring to Babylon to dwell. And the king of Babylon made Mathaniah his father's brother, king in his stead, and 18 changed his name and called him Zedekiah. Zedekiah was twenty one year old when he began to reign and he reigned an eleven year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamital the 19 daughter of Jeremiah of Lobnah. And he did evil in the sight 20 of the LORD, in all points like to Jehoakim. For through the wrath of the LORD it so chanced to Jerusalem and Juda, until he had cast them out of his sight. And the said Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

XXV Wherefore in the ninth year of his reign, the tenth day of the tenth month, came Nabuchodonozor king of Babylon with all his power to Jerusalem: and pitched against the town and 2 made engines against it on every side. And the city continued 3 besieged until the eleventh year of king Zedekiah. And the ninth day of the fourth month of that year, there was so great hunger in the city, that there was no sustenance for the people 4 of the land. And thereto the city was broken up: wherefore all the men of Arms fled by night, by a way thorow a gate, between two walls hard on the king's garden: the Caldeyes lying about 5 the city. And the king went straight toward the desert. And the host of the Caldeyes followed after him, and took him in the desert of Jericho, all his army being scattered away from 6 him. And when they had taken him, they brought him to Nabuchodonozor the king of Babylon to Reblah, where they 7 reasoned with him. And they slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, and put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and fettered him, 8 and carried him to Babylon. And the seventh day of the fifth month which was in the nineteenth year of king Nabuchodonozor king of Babylon, came Nabusaradan servant of the king of 9 Babylon and chief Marshal, unto Jerusalem: and burnt the house of the LORD and the king's house and all the houses of 10 Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire. And all the host of the Caldeyes that were with the chief Marshal 11 brake down the walls of Jerusalem round about. And the rest of the people that were left in the city, and them that were fled to the king of Babylon, and the remnant of the common people, Nabusaradan the chief Marshal carried away, and left of the poor of the land to dress the vines and to till the ground. And the pillars of brass that were in the house of the LORD and the bottoms, and the brazen sea that was in the house of the LORD the Caldeyes brake, and carried the brass of them to Babylon. And the lavers, shovels, dressing knives, ladles, and the ministering vessels of brass, they carried away. And the firepans, and basins that were either of gold or silver, they took the chief Marshal away with the two pillars and the sea of brass and the bottoms which Salomon had made in the house of the LORD. The brass of all these vessels was without weight. The height of the one pillar was eighteen cubits, and the head thereon was brass and three cubits long with a wreath and pomegranates round about upon the head, all of brass. And of the same fashion was the second pillar with a wreath. And the chief Marshal took Saraiah the chief priest, and Zophoniah the highest priest save one, and three keepers of the door. And out of the city he took a certain chamberlain that had the oversight of the men of war, and five men that were ever in the king's presence, which were found in the city, and Sopher the captain of the Host that taught the people of the land to make war, and three score men of the people of the land that were found in the city also. And Nabusaradan the chief Marshal took them and brought them to the king of Babylon to Reblah. And the king of Babylon smote them and slew them at Reblah in the land of Hemath. And so Juda was carried away out of all their land. And over the people that remained in the land of Juda, which Nabuchodonozor king of Babylon left, he set Godoliah the son of Ahikam the son of Saphan. And when all the captains of the men of war and the men heard that the king of Babylon had made Godoliah governor: there came to Godoliah to Mazphah: Ismael the son of Nathaniah and Johanan the son of Kareah and Saraiah the son of Thanehumeth the Netophathite and Jezoniah the son of Maachati and their men. And Godoliah sware to them and to their men, and said to them: fear not ye the servants of the Caldeyes. But dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon and ye shall be in good condition. But it chanced the seventh month after, that Ismael the son of Nathaniah the son of Elisama of the king's blood came, and ten men with him and smote Godoliah that he died: and so did he the Jews and the Caldeyes that were 26 with him at Mazpah. Thereupon all the people both small and great and the captains of the men of war arose and went 27 to Egypt: for they were afraid of the Caldeyes. Notwithstanding yet the thirty seventh year after Jehoacin king of Juda was carried away, the twenty seventh day of the twelfth month, did Evilmerodach king of Babylon lift up the head of Jehoacin king 28 of Juda out of the prison house, and spake kindly to him and set his seat above the seat of all the kings that were with him 29 at Babilon, and changed his prison garments. And he did ever eat bread before him all the days of his life: And a continual 30 portion was assigned him of the king, day by day as long as he lived.

and the Hagarites were delivered into their hands with all that were with the Hagarites. For they cried to God in their battle, and he heard them, because they trusted to him. And they took of their cattle fifty thousand camels, and two hundredth and fifty thousand sheep, and two thousand asses, and of the people an hundredth thousand: for there fell many dead because the war was of God. And they dwelt there in their steads until the time that they were carried away. And the children of half the tribe of Manasse dwelt in the land, from Basan unto were many. And these were the heads of the ancient households of them: Ephher, Jesi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaiah, Jehadiel, men of great power, men of name and heads of the ancient households of them. But when they had transgressed against the God of their fathers and had gone awhoring after the gods of the people of the land, which God destroyed before them, God stirred up the spirit of Phul king of Assiria and the spirit of Thiglath Phalneser king of Assiria, and carried away the Rubenites, the Gaddites and the half tribe of Man-asse, and brought them unto Helah, Habor, Hara and to the River Gozan, where they remain unto this day.

watched at the king's gate eastward in the tents of the children of Levi by companies. And Selum the son of Coreh the son of 19 Abiasaph the son of Coreh with his brethren the Corehites in the house of their fathers had their business and office to keep the door of the tabernacle: for their fathers in the Host of the LORD kept the entering. And Phinehes the son of Eleazar was 20 ruler over them before the LORD which was with him. And 21 Zachariah the son of Moselamiah kept the door of the tabernacle of witness. All these were chosen fellows to keep the 22 thresholds, two hundredth and twelve, and were numbered in their villages. And them did David and Samuel the sear institute in their fidelity. And their children had the oversight 23 of the gates of the house of the LORD and of the house of the tabernacle, to keep them. In four quarters were the keepers: 24 toward the east, west, north and south. And their brethren 25 that were in the country came in their weeks as their course came about with them. For the Levites were committed to 26 be principal porters of fidelity. And they had the oversight 27 of the vestries and treasures of the house of God, and lay all night round about the house of God: because the keeping 28 thereof pertained to them and to open it every morning. And certain of them had the rule of the ministering vessels and 29 brought them in and out by tale. And of them were certain appointed to oversee the vessels and all holy ornaments, and 30 of the flour, wine, oil, frankincense and sweet odours. But cer-

These are the sons of Azel.

X And the Philistines fought against Israel. And the men of Israel fled before the Philistines and were overthrown and 2 slain in mount Gelboe. And the Philistines followed Saul and his sons and slew Jehonathan, Abinadab and Melchisua 3 the sons of Saul. And the battle went sore against Saul, in so much that the shooters met him, and he was wounded of 4 the shooters. Then said Saul to his weapon bearer draw thy sword and thrust me thorow therewith, that these uncircumcised come not and do me shame. And his weapon bearer would not, but feared exceedingly. Whereupon Saul caught a sword and fell upon it. And when his harness bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell on a sword also and died. And thus Saul and his three sons and all his house died together. And when all the men that dwelt in the valleys, saw how they fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, they forsook their cities and ran away, and the Philistines came and dwelt in them. And on the morrow when the Philistines came to strip the dead bodies, they found Saul and his sons overthrown in mount Gelboe. And when they had stripped him they took his head and his harness and sent them into the land of the Philistines round about to shew tidings unto their gods* and to the people. And they put his harness in the houses of their gods. But his skull they hanged in the house of Dagon. And when all they of Jabes in Gilead heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul, all the men of war arose and fetched away the body of Saul, and the bodies of his sons and brought them to Jabes and buried the bones of them under an oak in Jabes, and fasted seven days. And so Saul died for his trespass that he trespassed against the LORD, in that he kept not the word of the LORD, and in that he asked counsel of a woman that wrought with a spirit, and asked not of the LORD. And therefore the LORD killed him and turned the kingdom unto David the son of Iesai.*

Then all Israel gathered themselves to David unto Hebron, and said: see we be thy bones and thy flesh. And moreover in time past, even when Saul was king, thou leddest Israel out and in. And the LORD thy God said unto thee: thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be captain over my people Israel. And when all the elders of Israel were come to the king to Hebron, David made a covenant with them there before the LORD. And they anointed David king over Israel according to the word of the LORD by the hand of Samuel. And David and all Israel went to Jerusalem which is Jebus: for there dwelt the Jebusites the inhabitants of the land. And the inhabitants of Jebus said to David, thou comest not here. Neverthelater David won the castle of Sion, which is called the city of David. Then said David: whosoever smite the Jebusites first, shall be the principal captain and a lord. And Joab the son of Zaruiah

XI

7 went first up, and was therefore the chiefcaptain. And because David dwelt in the castle, therefore it was called the city 8 of David. And he built the city on every side even from Mello 9 round about. But Joab repaired the rest of the city. And David prospered and waxed great, and the LORD of Hosts was with 10 him. These are the principal men of power that clave to David in his kingdom with all Israel, to make him king upon Israel 11 according to the word of the LORD. And this is the number of the mighty men which David had: Isabaam the son of Hachamoni the chief of thirty, he lifted up his spear against three 12 hundredth and slew them at one time. And after him Eleazar the son of Dodo an Ahothite which was one of the three mightiest.
13 He was with David at Phasdamin where the Philistines were gathered to battle. And there was there a parcel of ground full of barley, and the people fled for fear of the Philistines.
14 And they stepped forth into the midst of the furlong and saved it and slew the Philistines. And the LORD gave a great victory.
15 And the three of the thirty chiefs went to a rock to David at the cave Odolam. And the Host of the Philistines had pitched 16 in the valley of Raphaim. And David was in an hold. And there was a garrison of the Philistines at Bethlehem that same 17 time. And David longed and said: Oh that one would give me of the water of the well of Bethlehem that is in the gate, for to 18 drink. And the three brake thorow the Host of the Philistines and drew of the water of the well of Bethlehem that was in the gate, and took it and brought it to David. Nevertheless 19 David would not drink of it, but offered it to the LORD, and said: God forbid it me, that I should do this thing, that I should drink the blood of these men that have put their lives in Jeopardy (for with the Jeopardy of their lives they brought it) and therefore he would not drink it. This did the three mightiest.
20 And Abisai the brother of Joab was captain of the three, and he lifted up his spear against three hundredth and slew them, 21 and had a name among the three. And he was much more nobler than any of the three, and was their captain. But was not like to any of the three in acts. Banaiah the son of Jehoiada the son of a strong man that had done great deeds and was of Cabzeel: he slew two strong lions of Moab, and went down and 22 slew a Lion in a pit in time of snow. And he slew an Egyptian which was a man of size, even five cubits long, and in his hand had a spear like a weaver's beam. And the other went to him with a waster and plucked the spear out of the Egyptian's hand, and slew him with his spear. Such things did Banaiah the son of Jehoihada, and had a name with the three mightiest, was the gloriousest of thirty: but attained not unto the three. And David made him of his secret counsel. And these were the best men of war of the Host: Asahel the brother of Joab and Elhanan the son of Dodo out of Bethlehem. Samoth the Nazorite, Helez the Phalonite: Ira the son of Akes the Thekuite, Abiezer the Anathothite: Sobacai the Husathite, Isai the Ahohite: Maharai the Nethophathite and Heled the son of Baanah the Nethophathite: Ithai the son of Rebai of Gabaah that pertaineth to the children of Benjamin: Banaiah the Pharathonite: Haurai of the river of Gaas, and Abiel the Arbathite: Azmoth the Baharumite, Elhaba the Saalbonite. The sons of Hassem the Gezonite, Jonathan the son of Sagah, an Haratite: Ahiam the son of Sacar the Hararite, Eliphah the son of Ur. Hephher the Mecharathite, Ahiah the Phalonite: Hezro the Carmelite and Naari the son of Azbai: Joel the brother of Nathan: Mibahar the son of Gari: Zelec an Ammonite and Naharai a Berothite the bearer of the Harness of Joab the son of Zaruiah: Ira the Jethrite and Gareb a Jethrite, Uriah the Hethite, Zabad the son of Oholui: Adina the son of Siza a Rubenite and an head among the Rubenites and thirty about him: Hanan the son of Maacah and Josaphat a Mathanite: Ozeah an Astharothite: Sama and Jael the sons of Hothan an Aroerite: Jedial the son of Zamri and Joha his brother Thozites: Eliel a Mahumite. And Jeribai and Josoiah the sons of Elnaem and Jethmah a Moabite. Eliel and Obed and Jasiel of Masobaiah.

And these following came to David to Zikelag, while he yet kept himself close for fear of Saul the son of Cis: and they were of the men that succoured the battle, weaponed with bows, and could handle stones, arrows and bow as well with the left hand as with the right, and were of Saul's brethren, even of the tribe of Benjamin. The chiefest were Ahiezer and Joas the sons of Samaah a Gobaonite, and Jaziel a Phalite, the sons of Azmoth. Baracah and Jehu of Anathoth. And Isamaiah a Gabaonite as mighty as any of thirty and more mighty too. And Jeremiah, Jehaziel, Johanan and Josabad XII

5 of Gedor. Eluesai, Jerimoth, Baaliah, Samariah and Sapha-6 tiah: Haraphites, Elcanah, Jesia, Azrael, Joezer, Joseboam of 7 Karehim. And Joelah and Zabadiah the sons of Jeroham of 8 Gedor. And of the Gadites there separated themselves unto David when he kept an hold in the wilderness, men of might and men apt for war and could handle shield and spear, whose faces were like the faces of Lions, and they were thereto as 9 swift as the Roes of the mountains: Ezer the first, Obdiah the 10 second, Eliab the third, Masmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the 11, 12 fifth, Ethi the sixth, Eliel the seventh, Johanan the eighth, 13 Elsabad the ninth, Jeremiah the tenth, and Macahbanai the 14 eleventh. These were of the sons of Gad, and were captains over the men of war, the small over an hundredth, and the 15 great over a thousand. These are they that went over Jordan 16 in the first month, when he had spilled over all his bank. And they put to flight them of the valley both of the east side and also of the west. And there came of the children of Benjamin 17 and Juda to the hold of David. And David went out to them and answered and said to them: If ye be come peaceably unto me, to help me, mine heart shall be together with you. But and if you come to beguile me and to be mine adversary, seeing there is no wickedness in mine hands, the God of our fathers 18 look thereon and rebuke it. And the spirit came upon Amasai a captain over thirty and he said, thine are we David, and on thy side thou son of Jesse:* peace be with thee, and peace be with thine helpers, for thy God helpeth thee. Then David received them and made them heads of companies of the men of 19 war. And there fell of Manasse to David when he went with the Philistines against Saul to battle, but holp them not. For the lords of the Philistines took counsel and sent him away saying: he will fall to his master Saul to the Jeopardy of our 20 heads. And as he went to Zikelag there fell to him of Man-asse: Ednah, Jozabad, Jediel, Michael, and Jozabad, Elihu and 21 Zalthai, heads of the thousands of Manasse. And they holp David against those rovers. For they were all mighty men and 22 Captains in war. And there came one or other to David day by day to help him: until it was a great Host, like the Host of 23 God. And this is the number of the heads prepared to battle, that came to David to Hebron, to turn the kingdom of Saul to him, according to the mouth of the LORD. The children of 24 Juda that bare shield and spear were six thousand and eight hundredth trimmed to war. Of the children of Simeon, men 25 of might to war, seven thousand and one hundredth. And of 26 the children of Levi were four thousand and six hundredth.

 And Jehoiada was the chief of them of Aaron and with him 27 three thousand and seven hundredth. And Zadock a young 28 man of great power had his father's household with Captains twenty two. And of the children of Benjamin the brethren 29 of Saul, were three thousand. And a great part of them did yet follow the house of Saul. And of the children of Ephraim, 30 were twenty thousand and eight hundredth, men of might and named men in the households of their fathers. And of the half 31 tribe of Manasseh eighteen thousand which were appointed by name to go to make David king. And of the children of Isacar 32 which were men that had understanding in the right time to know what Israel ought to do: The heads of them were two 33 hundredth, and all their brethren at their will. And of Zabulon that went out with the Host and proceeded in the array to 34 battle with all manner of weapons of war, fifty thousand that kept in order with one accord. And of Nephtali a thousand 35 Captains, and with them with shield and spear. Thirty seven thousand. And of Dan prepared to battle, were twenty eight 36 thousand and six hundredth. And of Asser that went out with the Host to make battle, forty thousand. And of the other side 37 Jordan, of the Rubenites, Gadites and of the half tribe of Man-asse with all manner of instruments of war an hundredth and 38 twenty thousand. All these being men of war able to order the array, came to Hebron with pure heart, to make David king upon all Israel. And thereto all the rest of Israel was of one 39 accord to make David king. And there they were with David three days eating and drinking: for their brethren prepared for 40 them. Moreover they that were nye to them, as Isacar, Zabulon and, Nephtali brought bread on asses, Camels, mules and oxen, and meat: flour, figs, raisins, wine, oil, oxen, and sheep abundantly. For there was mirth in Israel.

And David counselled with the Captains of thousands and XIII of hundreds, and with all the lords, and said unto all the con- 2 gregation of Israel: If it seem you good and also to be of the LORD our God. Let us take and send unto the remnant of our brethren thorowout all the land of Israel, and to the priests and Levites with them, in their cities and suburbs, and gather 3 them together to us. And let us bring again the Ark of the 4 Lorde to us: for we regarded it not in the days of Saul. And all the congregation was content so to do, for the thing seemed 5 good in the eyes of all the people. And David gathered all Israel together from Sihor in Egypt unto Hemath, to bring the 6 Ark of the Lorde from Kariath Jarim. And David went up and all Israel to Baalah, and so to Kariath Jarim that is in Juda, to fetch thence the Ark of the God and LORD that sitteth on the 7 Cherubs. Where his name is called on. And they carried the Ark of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab. And 8 Oza and his brother drave the cart. And David and all Israel played before God with all their might, with singing, harps, 9 psalteries, timbrels and trumpets. And when they came on the threshing floor of Chidon, Oza put forth his hand to hold 10 the ark, for the oxen stumbled. And the LORD was wroth with 11 Oza and smote him, because he put his hand to the Ark. And there he died before God. And David was displeased, because the LORD had rent a rent in Oza, and called the said place 12 Perez Oza unto this day. And David was so afraid of God that day, that he said, how shall I bring the Ark of God home to me?

13 And so David brought not the Ark home to him in the city of David: But turned it in to the house of Obed Edom o Gethite 14 and the Ark of God was with Obed Edom in his house, three months. And the LORD blessed the house of Obed Edom and all that he had.

XIV After that Hiram king of Tire sent messengers to David, and timber of Cedar trees with masons and Carpenters, to build 2 him an house. Whereby David perceived that the LORD had prepared him to be king upon Israel, in that his kingdom was 3 lifted up on high, because of his people Israel. And David took yet more wives at Jerusalem and begat more sons and daugh-4 ters. And these are the names of his children which he had 5 born him at Jerusalem: Samua, Sobab, Nathan, and Salomon: 6 Jebhar, Elisua and Eliphelet: Noga, Nepheg and Japhiah.
7,8 Elisama, Baliada and Eliphelet. And when it was known among the Philistines that David was anointed king upon all Israel, all the Philistines went up to seek David. And David 9 heard of it and went out against them. And the Philistines came and pranced in the valley of Raphaim. And David asked 10 God saying: shall I go against the Philistines and wilt thou deliver them into mine hands? And the LORD said to him: go, for I will deliver them into thine hand. And when they were 11 come as far as Baal Pharazim, David beat them there. And David said: God hath divided mine enemies with mine hand as a man would divide water. And therefore they called the name of the said place Baal Pharazim. And they left their 12 gods there, which David bade to be burnt with fire. And the 13 Philistines came again and ran abroad in the valley. Then 14 David asked God: And God said to him: Go not after them, but turn away from them, and come upon them straight from the pear trees. And when thou hearest a sound go in the tops of 15 the pear trees, then go out to battle: for God will go out before thee to smite the host of the Philistines. And David did as God 16 commanded him. And they smote the host of the Philistines all the way from Gabaon to Gazer. And the fame of David went 17 out into all lands, and the LORD made all nations fear him.

And David made him houses in the city of David, and prepared XV a place for the Ark of God, and pitched for it a tent. And 2 then David said, the Ark of God ought not to be carried but of the Levites. For them hath the LORD chosen to bear the Ark of the LORD and to minister to him for ever. And therefore 3 David gathered all Israel to Jerusalem, to fetch the Ark of the LORD unto the place which he had ordained for it. And David 4 brought to gether the children of Aaron and the Levites. Of 5 the sons of Cahath: Uriel the chief, and of his brethren an hundredth and twenty. And of the children of Merari: Asaiah the 6 chief, and of his brethren two hundredth and twenty. And of 7 the sons of Gersom: Joel the chief, and of his brethren an hundredth and thirty. And of the children of Elizaphan: Semeiah 8 the chief and of his brethren two hundredth. And of the sons 9 of Hebron, Eliel the chief, and of his brethren eighty. And of 10 the sons of Oziel, Aminadab the chief, and of his brethren an hundredth and twelve. And David called to Zadock and Abiathar the priests, and to the Levites Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Se-meiah, Eliel and Aminadab: and said unto them: ye are the 12 principal heads of the Levites, sanctify therefore yourselves and your brethren and bring the Ark of the LORD God of Israel unto the place that I have prepared for it. For because 13 ye were not there at the first time, the LORD our God made a rent among us, for that we sought him not as the fashion ought to be. And the priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to fetch the Ark of the LORD God of Israel. And the children of the Levites bare the Ark of God upon their shoulders with staves thereon as Moses commanded according to the word of the LORD. And David spake to the chief heads of the Levites, that they should appoint of their brethren to sing with instruments of music: psalteries, harps and cymbals that sounded, and to sing on high with Joyfulness. And the Levites appointed Heman the son of Joel: and of his brethren, Asaph the son of Barachiah. And of the sons of Merari their brethren: Ethan the son of Cusaiahu. And with them their brethren of the second degree: Zachariah, Ben, Jaaziel, Semiramoth, Jahiel, Uri, Eliab, Banaiah, Maasaiah, Mathathiah, Eliphelehu, Makeniah, Obed Edom and Jeiel, porters. Heman, Asaph and Ethan sang with cymbals of brass to make a sound. And Zachariah, Oziel, Semiramoth, Jehiel, Ani, Eliab, Maasaiah and Banaiah sang with psalteries on an Almoth. And Mathathiah, Eliphelehu, Makeniah, Obed Edom, Jeiel, and Ozariah sang with harps an eight above to courage with all. And Conaniah the chief of the Levites was master of the song and taught to sing, for he was a man of understanding. And Barachiah and Elcanah kept the door of the Ark. And Sacaniah, Jehosaphat, Nathaniel, Amasai, Zachariah, Banaiah and Eliezer priests were blowers with trumpets before the Ark of God. And Obed Edom and Jahiah were keepers of the door of the Ark. And David and the elders of Israel and the Captains over thousands went to fetch the Ark of the appointment of the LORD out of the house of Obed Edom with gladness. And when God had holp the Levites that bare the Ark of the appointment of the LORD, they offered seven oxen and seven rams. And David had on him an alb of byss, and so had the Levites that bare the Ark, and so had the singers, and Conaniah the ruler of the song and of the singers. And David had moreover upon him an Ephod of linen. And all Israel brought the Ark of the LORD's covenant with shouting and blowing of horns, and with trumpets and cymbals that sounded, and with psalteries and harps. And as the Ark of the appointment of the LORD came unto the city of David, Michol the daughter of Saul looked out at a window: and when she saw king David dancing and playing, she despised him in her heart.

When they had brought in the Ark of God they set it in the tent that David had pitched for it. And they brought burnt sacrifice and peaceofferings before God. And when David had made an end of offering of burntofferings and of peaceofferings, he blessed the people with the name of the LORD. And he dealt all Israel both man and woman a cracknel of bread, a piece of flesh and a mess of sops. And he appointed certain of the Levites to minister before the LORD, and to repeat, and to thank and praise the LORD God of Israel: even Asaph the chief, and next to him Zachariah then Jeiel, Semiramoth, Jehiel, Mathathaih, Eliab, Banaiah, Obed Edom, and Jeiel with Psalteries and harps. But Asaph with sounding cymbals and Banaiah and Jahaziel priests with trumpets continually before the Ark of the covenant of God. And that same time David did appoint chiefly to thank the LORD by Asaph and his brethren. Thank the LORD, call on his name, make his Acts known among the people. Sing unto him and play unto him: and record all his wonderful deeds. Praise his holy name, and let the hearts of them that seek the LORD rejoice. Seek the LORD and his strength: Seek his presence always. Remember his marvels which he did, and his wonders, and the judgements of his mouth: The seed of Israel are his servants: the children of Jacob are his chosen. He is the LORD our God: in all lands are his judgements. Think on his appointment ever, and on the word he commanded to a thousand generations. Of his covenant to Abraham, and of his oath to Isaac: which he set before Jacob for a decree, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant, saying: to thee I will give the land of Canaan, to be the portion of your inheritance. When you were a small company in number, even but a few, and thereto strangers therein. And they went from people to people, and from one kingdom to another nation. He suffered no man to do them wrong: But rebuked kings for their sakes. Touch not mine anointed, nor do my Prophets any harm. Sing unto the LORD all the earth: and shew from day to day his victories. Tell among the heathen of his glory: and among all nations of his wonderful deeds. For great is the LORD and to be praised exceedingly: and terrible is he above all Gods. For all the gods of the heathen are Idols:

27 But the LORD made heaven.* Praise and honour are in his 28 presence: strength and gladness are in his place. Ascribe to the LORD ye kindreds of people; Ascribe to the LORD Glory and 29 strength. Give honour unto the LORD's name: bring presents and come before him, and bow to the LORD in holy apparel.
30 All the earth fear him, he stablished the earth that it can not 31 move. The heaven rejoice and the earth be glad, and let men 32 tell among the nations that the LORD is a king. Let the sea thunder and his fulness, and let the fields rejoice and all that 33 is therein. Moreover let the trees of the wood ring at the pres-34 ence of the LORD: for he cometh to judge the earth. Thank 35 the LORD for he is good, and his mercy lasteth ever: and say: save us o God our saviour and gather us together and deliver us from among the heathen, to thank thy holy name, and to 36 praise thee with the praise that becometh thee. Blessed be the LORD God of Israel for ever and ever, and all nations say 37 Amen, so praising the LORD. And he left there before the ark of the LORD's covenant, Asaph and his brethren, to min-38 ister before the Ark evermore day by day. And Obed Edom with his brethren three score and eight, and Obed Edom the 39 son of Iduthun and Ozah to be porters. And Zadock the priest with his brethren the priests set he before the tabernacle of the 40 LORD at the hillaltar of Gabaon, to offer burntofferings unto the LORD upon the burnt offering altar perpetually at morning and evening, according to all that is written in the law of 41 the LORD which he commanded Israel. And with them Heman and Iduthun, and other that were chosen and named by 42 name, to thank the LORD that his mercy lasteth ever. And with the said Heman and Iduthun were trumpets and sounding cymbals, and instruments of the melody of God. And the 43 sons of Iduthun were porters. And then all the people departed, every man to his house: and David returned to salute his household.

XVII And as David dwelt in his house he said to Nathan the prophet: lo, I dwell in an house of Cedar tree: and the Ark 2 of the LORD's covenant dwelleth under curtains. And Nathan said to David: do all that is in thine heart, for God is with 3 thee. But the same night the word of God came to Nathan 4 saying: go and tell David my servant, thus sayeth the LORD, thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in. For I have 5 dwell in no house since I brought out the children of Israel unto this day: But have gone from tent to tent and from one tabernacle to another. Neither in any place wheresoever I 6 have walked thorowout all Israel, spake I ever one word to any of the judges of Israel which I commanded to feed my people, saying: why build ye me not an house of Cedar tree? Now 7 therefore thus say unto my servant David: thus sayeth the LORD of Hosts: I took thee out of the pasture from after sheep, that thou shouldest be captain over my people Israel. And 8 I have been with thee in all thou tookest in hand, and have weeded out all thine enemies out of thy sight, and have made thee a name like the name of the greatest men of the earth.

And I will ordain a place for my people Israel, and will make 9 it fast, and they shall dwell under it and shall move no more.
Neither shall the children of wickedness vex them any more as at the beginning, and since the time I commanded judges to 10 be over my people Israel, and will bring under all thine enemies (for I told thee that the LORD would build thee an house).
But when thy days be expired, that thou must go after thy fa- 11 thers, I will set up thy seed after thee, which shall be of thy sons and will settle his kingdom. He shall build me an house, 12 and I will stablish his seat for ever. I will be his father and he shall be my son, and I will not put my mercy away from him as I did from him that was before thee. But I will set him 14 in mine house and in my kingdom for ever, and his seat shall be sure for ever. When Nathan had told David according to 15 all these words, and to all this vision, king David went and 16 sat him before the LORD and said: what am I O LORD God and what is mine household, that thou hast promoted me thus far. And yet this seemed little in thine eyes O God. But that 17 thou shouldest speak of thy servant's house for a great while to come: and hast looked upon me as upon a man of high degree O LORD God. What can David desire more of thee, wherein 18 thou shouldest make thy servant more glorious? Thou knowest thy servant: And LORD for thy servant's sake, even according 19 to thine own heart thou hast done all this magnificence, to 20 shew all bounteousness LORD, there is none like thee, nor any God save thou, according to all that we have heard with our ears. Moreover what nation on the earth is like thy people 21

Israel, which God went and redeemed to be his own people, and to make thee a name of excellency and terribleness, with 22 casting out nations from before thy people, for ever, and thou 23 LORD art become their God. And now LORD the thing thou hast spoken concerning thy servant and his house be true for 24 ever, and do as thou hast said. And thy name continue and wax great for ever, that it be said: the LORD of Hosts, the God of Israel is God in Israel, and the house of David thy servant 25 be stable before thee. For thou Lorde hast told thy servant, that thou wilt build him an house. And therefore thy servant 26 hath found in his heart to pray before thee. And now LORD thou art the very God, and hast promised this goodness unto 27 thy servant. Now therefore go to and bless the house of thy servant, that it may continue before thee for ever. For what thou blessest, O LORD that is blessed for ever.

And after that David beat the Philistines and subdued them, and took Gath and the towns that longed thereto, out of the 2 hands of the Philistines. And he beat the Moabites, and the 3 Moabites became David's servants and paid him tribute. And David beat Hadadezer king of Zobah unto Hemath, as he went 4 to bring his dominion unto the river Euphrates. And David took from him a thousand chariots and seven thousand horsemen and twenty thousand footmen, and brake all the chari-5 ots, save that he reserved of them an hundredth. Then came the Sirians of Damasco to help Hadadezer king of Zobah. And 6 David slew of the Sirians twenty two thousand, and put garrisons in Siria Damasco: And the Sirians became David's servants and brought him tribute. For the LORD help David in 7 all that he went to. And David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadadezer and brought them to Jeru-8 salem. And from Thebahath and Chun, cities of Hadadezer, brought David exceeding much brass. Wherewith Salomon made the brazen sea and the pillars and the vessels of brass.
 9 And when Thou king of Hemath, heard how David had beat all the host of Hadadezer king of Zobah, he sent Haduram 10 his son to king David, to salute him and to bless him, because he had fought with Hadadezer and beaten him (for Thou had war with Hadadezer) and sent all manner of Jewels of gold, sil-11 ver and brass with him. And king David dedicated them also unto the LORD with the silver and gold that he brought from all nations, from the Edomites, from the Moabites, from the children of Ammon, from the Philistines, from the Amalekites. And Abisai the son of Zaruiah slew of the Edomites in the salt valley eighteen thousand, and put Soldiers in Edom, and all Edom became David's servants: for the LORD kept David in all that he took in hand. And David reigned over all Israel and did right and equity unto all his people. And Joab the son of Zaruiah was over the host, and Jehosaphat the son of Ahilud recorder, and Zadock the son of Ahitob and Abimelech the son of Abiathar were the priests, and Susa was scribe, and Banaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cerethites and the Phelethites and the eldest sons of David waited at the king's hand.

After this it chanced that Nahas king of the children of Ammon died, and his son made king in his stead. Then said David, I will shew kindness unto Hanon the son of Nahas, because his father dealt kindly with me: and thereupon David sent messengers to comfort him over the death of his father. And when the servants of David were come into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanon to comfort him, the lords of the children of Ammon said to Hanon: thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father in thy sight, that he hath sent comforters unto thee? Nay, but it is to search and overthrow and to spy out the land, that his servants be come unto thee. Whereupon Hanon took David's servants and shaved them, and cut off their coats hard by their buttocks and sent them away. And there went that told David how the men were served. And the king sent to meet them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and said: tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown, and then return. And when the children of Ammon saw that they stank in the nose of David, Hanon, and the children of Ammon sent a thousand talents of silver to hire the chariots and horsemen out of Mesopotamia and out of Siria Maacah and out of Zobah. And they hired thirty two thousand chariots, and the king of Maacah and his people, which came and pitched before Midba. And the children of Ammon gathered themselves to gether from their cities and went out to battle. And as soon as David heard of it, he sent Joab with all the host of strong men. And the children of Ammon came out and put them in array to battle before the gate of the city. XIX

And the kings that were come kept them by themselves in the field. When Joab saw that the front of the battle was before him and after, he chose out of all the youth of Israel and put them in array against the Sirians. And the rest of the people he delivered unto Abisai his brother, that they should put themselves in array against the children of Ammon, and said: If the Sirians be too strong for me, succour me, and if the children of Ammon be too good for thee, I will help thee. Pluck up thine heart and let us play the men for our people's sake, and for the cities of our God, and the LORD to do what seemeth him best. And Joab and the people that were with him drew nye to the Sirians, to fight, and they fled before him. And when the children of Ammon saw that the Sirians were fled, they ran away likewise, from Abisai his brother and gat them into the city. And Joab came to Jerusalem. And when the Sirians saw that they were put to the worse of Israel, they sent messengers and fetched out the Sirians that are beyond the river with Sophach the Captain of the host of Hadadezer before them. Which when it was told David, he gathered all Israel, and went over Jordan and went and set upon them. And David put himself in array against the Sirians, and they fought with him. But the Sirians fled before Israel, and David destroyed of the Sirians seven thousand chariots, and slew forty thousand footmen and killed Sophach the Captain of the host. And when the servants of Hadadezer saw that they were put to the worse of Israel, they made peace with David and served him. Neither would the Sirians help the children of Ammon any more.

XX And the year following about the time that kings go out a warfare, Joab carried out the army of the host and destroyed the country of the children of Ammon, and went and besieged Rabah and destroyed it: But David bode at Jerusalem while Joab smote Rabah and destroyed it: And David took the crown of their king off his head, and found therein the weight of a talent of gold, and there were precious stones in it, and it was set on David's head. And he brought out also the spoil of the city which was exceeding much. And he brought out the people that were in it and tamed them with saws and harrows of iron and with brakes, and so dealt David with all the cities of the children of Ammon. And then David and all the people came again to Jerusalem. After that there arose war at Gazer with the Philistines. At which time Sobocai the Husathite slew Saphai that was of the children of Raphaim, and they were subdued. And there was battle again with the Philistines, and Elhanan the son of Jair slew Lahemi the brother of Goliath the Gethite, whose spear was like the beam of a weaver. And there chanced yet again war at Geth, where was a man of a size with twenty four fingers and toes, six on every hand and six on every foot, and was the son of Haraphah and defied Israel. And Jehonathan the son of Samaa David's brother slew him. These were born of Haraphah at Geth and were overthrown by the hand of David and of his servants.

And Satan stood up against Israel, and persuaded David XXI to number Israel. And David said to Joab and the rulers of the people, go ye and number Israel from Bersabe to Dan, and bring it to me that I may know the number of them. And Joab answered: the LORD make thy people an hundredth times so many more as they be. But my lord king, are they not all my lord's servants? Why then doth my lord require this thing? why should my lord be a cause of trespass to Israel? Nevertheless the king's words prevailed against Joab. And Joab took his way and went thorowout all Israel, and came to Jerusalem and gave the number of the count of the people unto David. And all Israel were in number a thousand, thousand and an hundredth thousand men that drew sword: and Juda was four hundredth and seventy thousand men that drew sword. But the Levites and Benjamin he counted not among them. For the king's deed seemed abominable to Joab. And the Lorde was displeased with this thing, and smote Israel. The said David to God: I have sinned exceedingly in doing this thing. Nevertheless yet do away the wickedness of thy servant, for I have done above measure foolishly. And the LORD spake unto Gad David's seer of visions saying: go and tell David saying: Thus sayeth the LORD: I give thee the choice of three things: choose thee one of them, that I may do unto thee. And Gad came to David and said to him: Thus sayeth the LORD. Choose thee either three years' famishment, or three months to be consumed of thine adversaries, the sword of thine enemies overtaking thee: or else the sword of the LORD three days and pestilence in the land, the Angel of the LORD destroying thorowout all the coasts of Israel. And now advise thyself what word I shall 13 bring again unto him that sent me. And David said to Gad, I am in an exceeding strait. But let me fall in to the hands of the LORD, for passing great is his mercy, and let me not fall unto 14 the hands of men. And the LORD sent pestilence upon all Israel, so that there were overthrown of Israel seventy thousand 15 men. And God sent the Angel to Jerusalem to destroy it. And as he was about to destroy, the LORD beheld and had compassion on the wretchedness, and said to the Angel that destroyed, it is enough, now cease thine hand. And the Angel of the LORD 16 stood by the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. And David lifted up his eyes and saw the Angel of the LORD stand between the earth and heaven with a drawn sword in his hand stretched out toward Jerusalem. Then fell David and the el-17 ders of Israel clothed in sack upon their faces. And David said unto God: Is it not I that commanded to number the people?

And I am he that have sinned and done evil in deed. But what have these sheep done? Let thine hand therefore O LORD God be on me and on my father's house, and not on thy people to de-18 stroy them. And the Angel commanded Gad to say to David, that David should go and rear up an altar unto the LORD, in 19 the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. And David went at the saying of Gad which spake in the name of the LORD.
20 And Ornan turned about and saw the Angel, and his four sons with him, and hid themselves: for Oman was threshing wheat.
21 And David came to Ornan. And when Ornan looked and saw David, he went out of the threshing floor and bowed himself 22 to David with his face to the ground. And David said to Or-nan: give me the place of the threshing floor, that I may build an altar therein unto the LORD. Let me have it for as much 23 money as it is worth, that the plague may cease from the people. And Ornan said to David: take it to thee, and let my lord king do that seemeth good in his eyes. See, I give thee oxen for a burnt sacrifice, and the threshing sleds for wood, and wheat 24 for meat offering: I give it all. But king David said to Ornan: not so, but I will buy it for as much money as it is worth. I will not take that which is thine, for the LORD, and offer burnt of-25 fering without cost. And so David gave to Ornan for the place 26 sicles of gold six hundredth by weight. And David built there an altar unto the LORD and offered burnt offerings and peace-offerings and called unto the LORD and he heard him from heaven in fire upon the altar of burnt offering. And the LORD 27 commanded the Angel to put up his sword again to the sheath of it. At that time when David saw, that the LORD had heard 28 him in the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite: he used to offer there. For the tabernacle of the LORD which Moses made 29 in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were that season in the hill at Gabaon. And David could not go before it to 30 seek God, because he was afraid of the sword of the Angel of the LORD.

And David said: this is the house of the LORD God, and this XXII the burnt offering altar for Israel. And David commanded to 2 gather the strangers that were in the land of Israel, and set hewers to hew stone, to build the house of God. And David 3 prepared plenty of iron for nails to the doors of the gates and to join with all, and abundance of brass without weight, and 4 of Cedar trees without number. For the Zidons and they of Tire brought much Cedar wood to David. For David thus thought, 5 Salomon my son is young and tender, and the house that is to be built for the LORD, must exceed in greatness, that it may be spoken of and praised in all lands. I will therefore make ordinance for it. And so David prepared abundance before his death. And he called Salomon his son and charged him to 6 build an house for the LORD God of Israel: And David said to 7 Salomon: my son, I had in mine heart to build an house unto the name of the LORD my God. But the word of the LORD 8 came to me saying: thou hast shed much blood, and hast made many battles. Thou shalt not build an house for my name, for thou hast shed much blood to the earth in my sight. Behold a 9 son shall be born thee which shall be a man of rest, for I will give him rest from all his enemies round about. And his name shall be Salomon: for I will send rest and peace upon Israel in his days. He shall build an house for my name, and he shall 10 be my son, and I will be his father, and will stablish the seat of his kingdom upon Israel for ever. Now my son, the LORD 11 be with thee, that thou mayest prosper and build the house of the LORD thy God, as he hath said of thee. And the LORD give 12 thee wisdom and understanding, and make thee governor of Israel, and to keep the law of the LORD thy God. For then thou 13 shalt prosper: If thou shalt be diligent to do the ordinances and laws which the LORD charged Moses with, to deliver to Israel.

14 Pluck up thine heart and be strong, dread not nor be discouraged. Behold in mine adversity I have prepared for the house of the LORD an hundredth thousand talents of gold and a thousant, thousand talents of silver, and as for brass and iron it can not be numbered, it is so much. And I have prepared tim-15 ber and stone, and shalt provide more thereto. Moreover thou hast workmen enough and masons and carpenters to work in stone and timber, and all manner of wise men for whatsoever 16 work it be. And of gold, silver, brass and iron there is no number. Up therefore and set upon it, and the LORD shall be with 17 thee. And David commanded all the lords of Israel, to help 18 Salomon his son saying: Is not the LORD your God with you? and hath he not given you rest on every side? for he hath given the inhabiters of the land into mine hand and the land is sub-19 dued before the LORD and before his people. Now therefore set your hearts and your souls, to seek the LORD your God.
And up and build ye the temple of the LORD God, to bring the Ark of the covenant of the LORD, and the holy vessels of God into the house so built for the name of the LORD.

XXIII

And when David was old and stricken in year, he made Sa-2 lomom his son king over Israel. And then he gathered together 3 all the lords of Israel with the Priests and the Levites. And the Levites were numbered from thirty year and above, and the tale of them in men poll by poll was thirty eight thou-4 sand. Of which twenty four thousand were set to further the work of the house of the LORD. And six thousand were officers 5 and judges. Four thousand were porters and four thousand praised the LORD with such instruments as David had made 6 to praise withal. And David put an order among the chil-7 dren of Levi: Gerson, Cahath and Merari: of the Gersonites 8 was Laadan and Semei. The sons of Laadan: the chief was 9 Jehiel and then Zethan and Joel, three. The sons of Semei, Salomith, Haziell, and Haran, three. These were the ancient 10 heads of Laadan. And the sons of Semei were also Jahath, Zinah, Jaus and Bariah: these four were the sons of Semei.
11 And Jahath was the chief, Zinah the second. But Jaus and Bariah had not many sons, and therefore they were reckoned 12 for one ancient household. The sons of Cahath: Amram, Iza-13 har, Hebron and Uziel, four. The sons of Amram: Aaron and Moses. And Aaron was appointed to consecrate in the place most holy, with his sons for ever: and to burn the offerings before the LORD, and to minister, and to bless in his name for ever. And as for Moses the man of God, his children were named with the tribe of Levi. The sons of Moses: Gersom and Eliezer. And of the sons of Gersom: Sabael was the chief. The sons of Eliezer: Rohabiah the chief. And Eliezer had no other sons: But the sons of Rohabiah were very many. And of the sons of Izabar: Salomi, the chief. The sons of Hebron: Jeriahu the first. Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third and Jecmaam the fourth. The sons of Uziel: Micah the first and Jesiah the second. The sons of Merari: Mahali: and Musi, the sons of Mahali: Eleazar and Cis. And Eleazar died and had no sons, but daughters only, which their brethren the sons of Cis took. The sons of Musi: Mahali, Eder, and Jerimuth, three. These are the children of Levi in the households of their fathers the ancient heads, viewed and numbered by name and poll by poll from twenty year and above, to work in the service of the house of the LORD. For David said: the LORD God of Israel hath given rest unto his people, and they shall dwell in Jerusalem for ever. Moreover the Levites should now no more bear the tabernacle and all the vessels that pertain to the service thereof. But at the last commandment of David, the Levites were numbered from twenty year and above, to wait at the hands of the sons of Aaron in the service of the house of the LORD, and to have the oversight of the courts and of the store houses, and of the purifying of all holy things, and of the work of the things that served for the house of God, as the shewbread, the fine flour, the meatofferings, the flawnes of sweet bread, and of the things baken in the frying pan, or broiled on the gridiron, and on all manner measures and size and to wait every morning to thank and praise the LORD, and likewise at evening. And to wait on every offering of burnt sacrifices unto the LORD, the Sabbaths and first days of the months, and other feastful days by number and custom, was their office ever before the LORD. And that they should wait on the tabernacle of witness and on the holy place, and on the sons of Aaron their brethren, in the service of the house of the LORD.

The division of the sons of Aaron: Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. But Nadab and Abihu died before their father and had no children. And Eleazar and Ithamar were the 3 Priests. And David ordered them on this manner: Zadock of the sons of Eleazar and Ahimelek of the sons of Ithamar to be 4 in office by course. And there were more mighty heads found of the sons of Eleazar than of the sons of Ithamar. And they divided them into sixteen heads of ancient households of the 5 sons of Eleazar, and eight of the sons of Ithamar. And they put them in order by lot, one with another that there should be rulers in the sanctuary and lords before God as well of the sons 6 of Ithamar as of the sons of Eleazar. And Semeiah the son of Nathaneel the Scribe of the Levites wrote them before the king and the lords, and before Zadock the priest and Ahimelek the son of Abiathar, and before the ancient heads of the priests and of the Levites: one principal household for Eleazar and one for 7 Ithamar. The first lot fell to Jehoiarib. The second to Jeda-8, 9 yah. The third to Harim. The fourth to Seorim. The fifth to 10 Melciah. The sixth to Miamin. The seventh to Hakes. The 11 eighth to Abiah. The ninth to Jesua. The tenth to Secaniah.

12, 13 The eleventh to Eliasib. The twelfth to Jakim. The thirteenth 14 to Huphah. The fourteenth to Isbaab. The fifteenth to Bel-15 gah. The sixteenth to Emer. The seventeenth to Hezir. The 16 eighteenth to Haphzez. The nineteenth to Pathahaiah. The 17 twentieth to Jehesekiel. The twenty first to Jacin. The twenty 18 second to Gamul. The twenty third to Delaiahu. The twenty 19 fourth to Maasiahu. This is the order of them in their offices, to come into the house of the LORD according to their manner under Aaron their father, as the LORD God of Israel 20 commanded. The rest of the sons of Levi: of the sons of Am-21 ram, Subael. Of the sons of Subael, Jehediahu. Of the sons 22 of Rohabiah the first Jesiah. Of the Izaharites, Salemoth.
23 Of the sons of Salemoth, Jahath. And the sons of Hebron were Jeriahu the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, 24 Jekameam the fourth. Of the sons of Usiel, Micah. Of the 25 sons of Micah Samir. The brother of Micah was Jesiah. Of the 26 sons of Jesiah Zachariah. The sons of Merari were Mahali and 27 Musi. The sons of Jaaziah, Beno. The sons of Merari by Ja-28 haziahu. Beno, Sohem, Zacur and Ebri. Mahali had Eleazar 29, 30 which had no sons. The sons of Kis: Jerahemel. The sons of Musi: Mahali, Eder and Jermoth. These are of the children 31 of Levi in the households of their fathers. And these cast lots next to their brethren the sons of Aaron, before David the king and Zadock and Ahimelek and the ancient heads and priests of the Levites: as well the youngest brother as an ancient head.

And David and the captains of the host appointed out to do service, the sons of Asaph of Heman and Iduthun, which did prophesy with harps, psalteries and cymbals. And the multitude of them were men to do service in their offices. The sons of Asaph: Zaur, Joseph, Nathaniah, Aserealah, to wait on Asaph which prophesied by the king. The sons of Iduthun: Godoliah, Zuri, Isaiah, Hasabiah and Mathathiah, Semei six, at the hands of their fathers Iduthun, with harps: which Iduthun prophesied for to thank and praise the LORD. The sons of Heman: Bokiahu, Mathaniah, Uziel, Subuel, Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Gedalthi, Romanthi Ezer, Jesbokasah, Malothi, Hothir and Mahazioth. All these were of the sons of Heman the king's Sear of visions with the word of God, to lift up the horn. God gave to Heman fourteen sons and three daughters. All these were at the hand of their father to sing in the house of the LORD with cymbals, psalteries and harps in the service of the house of God. And at the hand of the king was Asaph, Iduthun and Heman: But the multitude of them were with their brethren that were cunning in the song of the LORD. And the number of all that taught, were two hundredth and fourscore and eight. And they cast Lots indifferently how they should wait, as well the small as the great, the scholar as well as the schoolmaster. And the first lot of Asaph fell to Joseph. The second to Godoliah with his brethren and sons, twelve persons. The third fell to Zacur with his sons and brethren being twelve persons. The fourth to Izari with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The fifth to Nathaniah with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The sixth to Bokiahu with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The seventh to Isarelath with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The eighth to Isaiah with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The ninth to Mathaniah with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The tenth to Semei with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The eleventh to Azariel with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The twelfth to Hasabiah with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The thirteenth to Subuel with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The fourteenth to Mathathiah with his sons and brethren twelve persons. The fifteenth to Jer-26 brethren twelve persons. The nineteenth to Malothi with his 27 sons and brethren twelve persons. The twentieth to Eliathah 31 persons. The twenty fourth to Romanthi Ezer with his sons and brethren twelve persons.

XXVI The division of the porters among the Corehites: Meselemiah 2 the son of Koreh of the children of Asaph. And the sons of Meselemiah were these: Zachariah the eldest, Jadiel the sec-3 ond, Zabadiah the third, Jathaniel the fourth, Elam the fifth, 4 Jehohanan the sixth, Elioenai the seventh. And Obed Edom had sons: Semeiah the eldest, Jehosabad the second, Joah the 5 third, Sacar the fourth, Nathanael the fifth, Amiel the sixth, Isacar the seventh and Polathai the eighth for God had blessed 6 him. And unto Semeiah his son were sons born that ruled in 7 the house of their father, for they were men of might. The sons of Semeiah: Othni, Raphael, Obed, and Elzabad and his 8 brethren men of activity, Elihu and Samachiah. All these were of the children of Obed Edom, which with their brethren and their children, active men of strength to do service were 9 forty two of Obed Edom. And Meselemiah had sons and brethren, 10 active men eighteen. And Hosah of the children of Merari, had sons: Semri the chief, yet he was not the eldest, but his 11 father made him the chiefest. Helkiah the second, Tabeliah the third and Zachariah the fourth: so that all the sons and 12 brethren of Hosah were thirteen. Unto these was divided the office of the portership as unto heads over the men that waited with their brethren and ministered in the house of the LORD.
13 And they cast lots, the small as well as the great in the house-14 holds of their fathers, from gate to gate. And the East lot fell to Selemiah. And for Zachariah his son a wise counsellor, they 15 cast lots, and his lot came out toward the North. And Obed Edom's lot fell to the South. And to his sons fell the counsel 16 houses. And to Suphim and Hosah fell the west with the gate Salecheth, where the way ascendeth upward, the one way being fast by the other. In the East kept six Levites: in the North 17 four a day, and in the South four a day, and in every counsel house two, and in the watchhouses, on the way westward four: 18 two in a house. These are the divisions of the porters among the sons of Koreh and the sons of Merari. And of the Levites 19 Ahiah had the oversight of the treasure of the house of God, and of the treasure of the dedicate things. As concerning the 21 sons of Laadan which were Gersonites. Laadan had ancient fathers.

Laadan the Gersonite had Jehieli. The sons of Jehieli: 22 Zethan and Joel his brother, which were over the treasures of the house of the LORD. Among the Amramites, Izarahites He- 23 bronites and Ozielites, was Subuel the son of Gerson the son of Moses a ruler over the treasure. And of his brethren the 25 sons of Eliezer, was Rahabiah, whose son was Isaiah, and his son was Joram, and his son Zechri, and his son was Selomith, which Selomith and his brethren were over all the treasures of 26 the dedicate gifts which David the king, and the ancient heads, of the captains over thousands and hundreds, and the cap- 27 tains of the host had dedicated of the spoil won in battle, to maintain the house of the LORD: and over all that Samuel 28 the sear and Saul the son of Cis, and Abner the son of Ner, and Joab the son of Zaruiah had dedicated. All that was dedicated, was under the hand of Selomith and of his brethren.
Of the Izarahites Conaniah and his sons were in businesses 29 withoutforth made officers and judges over Israel. And of the Hebronites Hasabiah and his brethren men of activity a thou- 30 sand and seven hundredth were officers in Israel on this side Jordan westward, in all businesses of the LORD and service of the king. And Jediah was the chiefest among the kindreds 31 and fathers of the Hebronites. And in the fortieth year of the kingdom of David they were sought for. And there were found of them men of activity at Jezer in Gilead. And his brethren 32 were in men of activity, two thousand and seven hundredth ancient heads, which king David made rulers over the Rubenites, Gadites and the half tribe of Manasse in all matters pertaining to God and businesses of the king.

To speak of the children of Israel: in the number of them were ancient heads and captains of thousands and hundreds, and officers that served the king in all things according to the companies that came in or went out, month by month thorowout all the months of the year. And every company had twenty four thousand. Over the first company in the first month, was Jaso-boam the son of Zabdiel. And in his number twenty four thousand. And the chiefest of all the captains in the host of the first month was of the children of Pharez. Over the company of the second month Dodai an Ahohite, and in his host was Makeloth a ruler. And in his company were twenty four thousand. The chief captain of the third host in the third month, was Benaiah the son of Jehoiada the priest. And in his host twenty four thousand. This the Benaiah mighty among thirty and above thirty. And in his part was Amizabad his son. The fourth captain in the fourth month was Asael the brother of Joab, and Zabadiah his son after him. And in his host were twenty four thousand. The fifth captain in the fifth month was: Samahut the Jezrahite: and in his host were twenty four thousand. The sixth captain in the sixth month was Ira the son of Akes a Thekuite: and in his host were twenty four thousand. The seventh captain in the seventh month was Helei the Phalonite, of the children of Ephraim: and in his host twenty four thousand. The eighth Captain in the eighth month was Sobocai an Husathite of the kin of Sarah. And in his host twenty four thousand. The ninth Captain in the ninth month was Abiezer an Anathothite of the sons of Jemini: and in his host twenty four thousand. The tenth captain in the tenth month, was Mahari the Ne-tophathite of the Zarahites. And in his host twenty four thousand. The eleventh month, was Banaiah the Pharathonite of the children of Ephraim: and in his host twenty four thousand. The twelfth Captain in the twelfth month, was Heldai the Ne-tophathite of Othoniei, and in his host twenty four thousand. And the rulers over the tribes of Israel were these. Among the Rubenites, was Eliezer the son of Zechri. Among the Simeonites, was Saphariah the son of Maacah. Among the Levites: Hasabiah the son of Kamuel. Among the Haromites: Zadock. In Juda, Eliu of the brethren of David. In Isacar: Amri the son of Michael. In Zabulon: Jesmaiah the son of Abdiah. In Nephthalie: Jerimoth the son of Azriel. Among the children of Ephraim: Hosea the son of Ozaiah. In the half tribe of Manasseh: Joel the son of Phadaiah. Of the half tribe of Manasseh in Gilead: Jado the son of Zachariah. In Benjamin: Jaasiel the son of Abner. In Dan: Azariel the son of Jeroham. These are the lords in the tribes of Israel. But David took not the number of them under twenty year: for the LORD said he would increase Israel like unto the stars of the sky. And Joab the son of Zaruiah began to number. And though he finished it not, yet there fell wrath for that upon Israel. And therefore the number was not put in the chronicles of king David. Over the king's treasure was Azmoth the son of Adiel. And over the treasure of the fields, in the cities, villages and castles, was Jehonathan, the son of Oziah. And over the workmen in the fields that tilled the ground, was Ezri the son of Chelub. And the oversight of the vineyards had Semeiah the Ramathite. Over the winecellars and treasure of wine was Sabdi the Saphonite. And over the olivetrees and mulberry trees that were in the valleys was Baal Hanan the Gadarite. And over the treasure of oil was Joas. And over the oxen that fed in Saron was Setari the Saronite. And over the oxen in the valleys was Saphat the son of Adlai. And over the camels Ubil the Ismaelite. And over the asses was Johadia the Merothite. And over the sheep was Jazis the Hagarite. All these were the rulers of the substance of king David. And Jehonathan David's brother's son, a man of counsel, a man that taught wisdom, and a writer he and Jehiel the son of Hachamoni waited on the king's sons. And Ahitophel was of the kings counsel. And Husai the Arachite was the king's companion. And next to Ahitophel was Jehoiada the son of Banaiah, and Abiathar. And the captain of the king's war was Joab.

And David gathered together all the lords of Israel: the lords of the tribes, the lords of the companies that ministered to the king by course, the lords over the thousands and over the hundreds, and the lords over all the goods and cattle of the king and of his sons, with the chamberlains, warriors and all active men unto Jerusalem. And king David stood upon his feet and said: Hear me my brethren and my people: I had in mine heart to build an house of rest for the Ark of the covenant of the LORD, and a footstool for our God, and had made ready to build. But God said to me: thou shalt not build an house for my name, because thou art a man of war and hast shed blood. Moreover the LORD God of Israel chose me of all the house of my father, to be king over Israel for ever, for he chose Juda to be a captain: and in the house of Juda the house of my father, and of the sons of my father he had a lust to me, to make me 5 king over all Israel. And of all my sons (for the LORD hath given me many sons) he hath chosen Salomon my son, to sit on 6 the seat of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel. And he said unto me: Salomon thy son, he shall build my house and my courts, for I have chosen him to be my son, and I will be his fa-7 ther, and will stablish his kingdom for ever. If he will harden himself to do my commandments, and my laws, as it goeth this 8 day. And now I say unto you before all Israel the congregation of the LORD, and in the audience of our God: keep and seek for all the commandments of the LORD your God, that ye may enjoy a good land and inherit your children after you for ever.

9 And thou Salomon my son: know God thy father and serve him with a pure heart and lust of soul. For the LORD searcheth all hearts and understandeth all the Imaginations of thoughts. If thou shalt seek him, he will be found of thee: But and if thou 10 forsake him, he will cast thee off for ever. Take heed now, for the LORD hath chosen thee, to build an house of thy sanctu-11 ary. Be strong and do it. And David gave Salomon his son the pattern of the porch and of the houses that longed thereto, and of the storehouses, upper chambers, innermer parlors and of 12 the house of the Mercyseat: and the example of all that was in his mind, both of the courts of the house of the LORD and of the treasure houses round about, for the treasures of the 13 house of God and for the treasure of the dedicate gifts, and of the companies of the priests and Levites that waited by course, and of all workmanship, that should serve for the house of the 14 LORD. And appointed him what weight of gold should serve for things of gold thorowout all vessels for whatsoever use it served: and what weight of silver should suffice for all manner 15 of vessels of silver, for whatsoever purpose they served. And the weight of the golden candlesticks and of their lamps of gold, the weight for every candlestick and for their lamps. And for the candlesticks of silver by weight, both for the candlestick and also for her lamps according to the office of every candle-16 stick. And the weight of gold for the tables of shew bread, 17 table by table: and likewise silver for the tables of silver. And for fleshhooks, basins and drinking pots of pure gold. And for cups of gold by weight, cup by cup. And for cups of silver by weight, cup by cup. And for the altar of incense of tried gold 18 by weight. And the similitude of the seat of the Cherubs that stretched out their wings and covered the Ark of the covenant of the LORD. All was given me by writing of the hand of the LORD, which made me understand all the workmanship of the pattern. And David said to Salomon his son: harden thyself 19 and be strong and do it, fear not nor let thine heart discourage thee. For the LORD my God is with thee, and shall not leave thee nor forsake thee, until thou hast finished all the work that must serve for the house of the LORD. Behold the priests and 20 Levites divided in companies, for to do all manner of service that pertaineth to the house of God, and beside that, thou hast with thee for all manner of workmanship, all that are willing and wise for any manner of service. And the lords and all the people are at thy commandment in all things. 21

And David the king said unto all the congregation: God XXIX hath specially chosen Salomon my son which is yet young and tender, and the work is great, for the house is not for man, but for the LORD God.* Moreover I have prepared with all my 2 might for the house of God: gold for things of gold, and silver for things of silver, brass for things of brass, iron for things of iron, and wood for things of wood: and onyx stones, set stones, and of other gay stones, and all manner of precious stones, and of marble great abundance. And yet because I have lust to the 3 house of my God: I have several gold and silver which I give to the house of my God above all I have prepared for the holy house: even three thousand talents of gold of Ophir, and seven 4 thousand talents of silver tried: to sile the walls of the house with gold where it becometh, and with silver where silver is 5 meet, and for all manner of work by the hands of Artificers. And let me see who is willing also, to fill his hand for the LORD this day. And the ancient lords and the lords of the tribes of 6 Israel, and the captains of thousands and hundreds and the lords over the substance of the king, were willing and gave 7 for the service of the house of God, five thousand talents of gold and ten thousand pieces of gold coins, and ten thousand talents of silver, and eighteen thousand talents of brass, and 8 an hundredth thousand talents of iron. And they that had precious stones gave them for the treasure of the house of the 9 LORD, unto the hand of Jehiel the Gersonite. And the people rejoiced that they were so willing: for with a pure heart they were willing unto the LORD. And thereto David the king 10 rejoiced with great gladness. And David blessed the LORD before all the congregation and said: Blessed art thou LORD God 11 of Israel our father, from ever and for ever. Thine (O LORD) is the greatness, power and glory, victory and praise: for all that is in heaven and in earth is thine, and thine is the kingdom (O 12 LORD) and thou art lifted up an head above all. And riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all, and in thine hand is power and strength, and in thine hand it is to 13 make great and to give strength unto all. And now our God, we thank thee, and praise thy glorious name. For what am I?

And what is my people? That would obtain strength to be so 14 willing? But all is of thee, and of that we received of thine 15 hand we have given thee. For we be but strangers before thee and tenants, as were all our fathers. Our days on the earth is 16 but a shadow, and there is none abiding. O LORD our God, all this heap that we have prepared to build thee an house for thy 17 holy name, cometh of thine hand, and is all thine. I wot my God, that thou provest the heart and hast pleasure in plain-ness. And in plainness of mine heart I have willingly given all this. And now I see thy people which are here in gladness, to 18 offer willingly to thee. O LORD God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel of our fathers, keep this for ever in the imagination of the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts 19 unto thee. And give* unto Salomon my son, a pure heart to keep thy commandments, thy testimonies and thine ordinances, and to do all, and to build the house which I intended.
20 And David said to all the congregation: bless the LORD your God. And all the congregation blessed the LORD God of their fathers, and stooped and bowed themselves unto the LORD and 21 to the king. And they offered offerings unto the LORD. And on the morrow after the said day, they offered in burntoffer-ings unto the LORD a thousand oxen, a thousand rams, and 22 a thousand lambs with their drinkofferings. And they slew plenteously thorowout all Israel, and did eat and drink before the LORD the same day with great gladness. And they made Salomon the son of David king of Israel the second time, and anointed him unto the LORD, to be ruler, and Zadock to be the priest. And so Salomon sat on the seat of the LORD, and was king for David his father, and prospered, and all Israel obeyed him. And all the lords and men of power, and thereto all the sons of king David submitted themselves under king Salomon. And the LORD magnified Salomon on high, in the sight of all Israel, and gave him so glorious a kingdom as none of all that were kings before in Israel had. Now David the son of Isai was king over all Israel. And the space he reigned over Israel was forty year: seven years in Hebron and thirty three year in Jerusalem. And he died in a good age: old, rich and glorious: And Salomon his son reigned in his stead. The acts of David the king both first and last, are written in the books of Samuel the sear and in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the sear of visions, with all his kingdom and power and times that went over him and over all Israel, and over all the kingdoms of the earth.

The end of the first book of the Chronicles of the kings of Juda.

The Second Book Of The Chronicles.

1 And Salomon the son of David waxed strong in his king-2 dom, and the LORD his God was with him and mag-3 nified him on high. And Salomon communed with 4 all Israel, the captains over thousands and hundreds, 5 the judges and all other lords and ancient heads thorowout all 6 Israel. And so Salomon, and all the congregation with him, 7 went to the hill altar of Gabaon: for there was the tabernacle 8 of witness of God, which Moses the servant of the LORD made 9 in the wilderness. But the Ark of God had David brought from 10 Kariath Jarim, into the place he had prepared therefore. For 11 he had pitched a tent for it at Jerusalem. Moreover the brazen 12 altar that Bezeleel the son of Uri, the son of Or had made, was 13 at Gabaon also, before the tabernacle of the LORD. And Sa-14 lomom and the congregation went to visit it. And Salomon offered there before the LORD upon the brazen altar that was by the tabernacle of witness, a thousand burnt sacrifices. And the same night God appeared unto Salomon and said to him, ask what I shall give thee. And Salomon said unto God: thou hast shewed great mercy unto David my father, and hast made me king in his stead. And now LORD God, let thy promise unto David my father be true. For thou hast made me king over a people like the dust of the earth in multitude. Wherefore give* me wisdom and knowledge how to behave myself unto this people: for who is able to judge this people that is so great? Then God said to Salomon, because thou hadst this in thine heart, and didst not ask treasure and riches, and honour and the lives of thine enemies, neither yet long life: But hast asked wisdom and knowledge, to judge my people, over which I have made thee king: wisdom and knowledge shall be given thee, and I will give thee treasure, riches, and glory also, that among the kings before thee or after thee, none was or shall be like thee.
And so Salomon came from the hill altar that was at Gabaon to Jerusalem from the tabernacle of witness and reigned at Jerusalem. And Salomon gathered chariots and horsemen: that he had a thousand and four hundredth chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, which he bestowed in the chariot cities and about the king at Jerusalem. And the king made silver 15 and gold at Jerusalem as plenteous as stones, and Cedar trees as plenty as the mulberry trees that grow in the valleys. And 16 the horses which Salomon had, were brought him out of Egypt from Keva. The king's merchants fetched them out at Keva at a price. They came and brought out of Egypt a chariot for 17 five hundredth sicles, and an horse for one hundredth and fifty.

 And so brought they to all the kings of the Hethites and to the kings of Siria thorow the hands of the said merchants.

And Salomon determined to build an house for the name of II the LORD, and an house for his kingdom: and told out three 2 score and ten thousand men to bear burthens and four score thousand to hew in the mountain, and three thousand and six hundredth to oversee them. And Salomon sent to Hiram king 3 of Tire saying: As thou didst deal with David my father and didst send him Cedar wood, to build him an house to dwell in, even so deal with me now: that I may build an house for 4 the name of the LORD my God, to consecrate it to him to burn sweet odours and to set shewbread before him perpetually, and for burnt sacrifices morning and evening, and on the Sabbath days, and the first day of every new moon, and in the solempne feasts of the LORD our God, so to continue ever in Israel. And 5 the house which I build is great: for great is our God above other gods. So that who can be able to build him an house: 6 when that heaven, neither heaven above all heavens, is able to receive him, what am I then that I should build him an house?
 Nay, but to burn sacrifice before him: send me now there- 7 fore a cunning man to work in gold, silver, brass, iron, scarlet, crimson and Jacinth colour, and that can skill to grave, to be with the cunning men that are with me in Juda and Jerusalem, which David my father did prepare. And send me also 8 Cedar trees, fir trees and Algume trees out of Libanon. For I wot well thy servants can skill to hew timber in Libanon. And see, my men shall be with thine, that they may prepare me 9 timber enough. For the house which I build is great and wonderful. And behold, I sent for thy servants the cutters and 10 hewers of timber twenty thousand quarters of beaten wheat, and twenty thousand quarters of barley, and twenty thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand baths of oil. And Hiram 11 king of Tire answered in writing and sent to Salomon: because the LORD loveth his people, therefore he hath made thee king 12 over them. And Hiram said moreover: blessed be the LORD God of Israel which hath made both heaven and earth, that he hath given David the king a wise son that hath discretion and 13 understanding, to build an house for the LORD, and another 14 for his kingdom. And now I have sent a wise man and a man of understanding called Hiram Abi, and is the son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, (howbeit his father was a Tirian) and he can skill to work in gold, silver, brass, iron, stone, timber, scarlet, Jacinth, byss and crimson: and grave all manner of 15 gravings, and to find out all manner of subtle work that shall be set before him, with thy cunning men, and with the cun-16 ning men of my lord David thy father. And now the wheat, barley, oil and wine which my lord hath said, let him send his 17 servants. And we will cut wood out of Libanon, as much as thou shalt need, and will bring it to thee in ships by sea to port Japo: and thence thou mayest carry them to Jerusalem.

18 And Salomon numbered all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the time his father David had numbered them.
And they were found an hundredth and eighty thousand and six hundredth. And he set eighty thousand of them to bear burthens, and eighty thousand to hew in the mountain, and three thousand and six hundredth to courage and to set the people a work.

III And Salomon began to build the house of the LORD at Jerusalem in mount Moriah, which was shewed David his father when he prepared a place in the threshing floor of Ornan the 2 Jebusite. And he began to build the second day of the second 3 month the fourth year of his reign. And this is the foundation of Salomon in building the house of God. The length was three 4 score cubits after the old cubit, and the breadth twenty. And the porch at the end was as large as the house breadth twenty cubits: and the height was an hundredth and twenty cubits.
5 And he overlaid it on the inner side with pure gold. And the great house he sealed with fir tree, and overlaid it with 6 good gold, and graved thereto palm trees and chains. And he paved the house with precious stone goodly. And it was 7 gold of Pharuiam. And he overlaid the house: both beams, posts, walls and doors with gold, and graved Cherubs upon the 8 walls. And he made the house most holy, whose length was twenty cubits like to the breadth of the house, and the breadth thereof was also twenty cubits. And he overlaid it with the best gold, that drew to the sum of six hundredth talents. And 9 the weight of the nails of gold was thereto fifty sicles. And he overlaid the upper chambers with gold. And he made in 10 the house most holy two Cherubs of Image work, and overlaid them with gold. And the wings of the Cherubs were twenty 11 cubits long. The one wing was five cubits and touched the wall of the house, and the other wing was likewise five cubits and touched the wing of the other Cherub. And the one wing of 12 the other Cherub was five cubits, and touched the wall of the house, and the other wing was five cubits also, and raught to the wing of the other Cherub. So that the wings of the said 13 Cherubs raught twenty cubits. And they stood on their feet and looked inwards. And he made a forehanging of Jacinct 14 colour, of scarlet, crimson and byss: and caused the Cherubs to be bordered thereon. And he made before the house two 15 pillars of thirty five cubits long. And the head that was above on the top of one of them was five cubits. And he made such 16 chains as was in the quere, and put them on the heads of the pillars, and made an hundredth pomegranates and put them on the chains. And he reared up the pillars before the temple: 17 one on the right hand and another on the left, and called the right Jachin and the left Boaz.

And he made an altar of brass twenty cubits long and twenty IV cubits broad and ten cubits high. And he cast a brazen sea of 2 ten cubits from brim to brim, and round in compass and five cubits high: and a line of thirty cubits might have compassed it round about. And the fashion of oxen did compass it round 3 about under it: that is to wete, two rows of oxen cast when it was cast did compass that sea which was ten cubits wide, round about. And it stood also upon twelve oxen: of which 4 three looked North, three West, three South and three East, and the sea upon them above on high, and the hinder parts of them inward. And the thickest of it was an handbreadth, and 5 the brim like the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies. And it received and held the thousand baths. And he made ten lavers: 6 and put five on the right hand and five on the left, to wash with all. And in them they thrust the flesh of the burntofferings. But the sea was for the priests to wash in. And he made ten 7 candlesticks of gold in their fashions, and put them in the temple: five on the right hand and five on the left. And he made also ten tables and put them in the temple: five on the right side and five on the left. And he made an hundredth basins of gold. And he made the court of the priests, and the great court and doors to it: and overlaid the doors of them with brass. And he set the sea in the right side of the East end, toward the South. And Hiram made pots, shovels and basins. And Hiram finished the work he made for king Salomon unto the temple of God: The two pillars with their scalps of the two heads that were on the tops of the pillars: and the two wreaths to cover the two scalps of the heads that were on the tops of the pillars: and four hundredth pomegranates for the two wreaths, two rows of pomegranates for every wreath, to cover the two scalps of the heads that were on the pillars. And he made bottoms, and lavers upon the bottoms: and the sea with twelve oxen under it. And thereto pots, shovels, flesh hooks, and all their vessels did Hiram Abi make for king Salomon for the house of the LORD, of bright brass. In the plain of Jordan did the king cast them, in the thick earth, between Socoth and Zaredatha. And made of all these vessels so mighty great abundance, that the weight of brass could not be reckoned. And Salomon made all the vessels that pertained to the house of God: the golden altar and the tables with the shewbread upon them, the candlesticks with their lamps to burn after the manner before the quere, and that of pure gold, and the flowers and the lamps, and the snuffers were gold and that perfect gold: and the dressing knives, basins, spoons and censers of pure gold. And the inner doors of the place most holy, and the doors of the temple too, were gold.

V And so was all the work that Salomon made for the house of the LORD finished. And when the work that Salomon made in the house of the LORD was finished: then Salomon brought in the gifts dedicate by David his father, the silver and the gold and all the Jewels, and put them among the treasure of the house of God. Then Salomon gathered the elders of Israel together and all the heads of the tribes and ancient lords among the children of Israel, unto Jerusalem: to bring the Ark of the covenant of the LORD out of the city of David which is Sion. And all the men of Israel resorted unto the king in the feast of the seventh month. And when all the elders of Israel were come, the Levites took up the Ark. And the priests and the Levites brought away the Ark and the tabernacle of witness, and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle. And king Salomon and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled unto him before the Ark, offered sheep and oxen, so many that they could not be told or numbered for multitude. And the priests brought the Ark of the appointment of the LORD unto his place in the quere of the temple and place most holy: even under the wings of the Cherubs, that the Cherubs stretched out their wings over the place of the Ark and covered the Ark and her staves above on high. And the staves of the Ark, were so long, that they were seen a little before the quere, but not far without. And there it remaineth unto this day. Moreover there was nothing in the Ark save the two tables which Moses put therein at Horeb, when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Israel, after they were come out of Egypt. And when the priests were come out of the holy place (for all the priests that were found sanctified themselves and did not wait by course). But the Levites every one of them that were under Asaph, Heman and Iduthun, and among their children and brethren, were arrayed in byss and sang with Cymbals, Psalteries, and harps standing East from the altar, and with them an hundredth and twenty priests blowing trumpets. And the trumpet blowers and the singers so agreed, that it seemed but one voice in praising and thanking the LORD. And as the voice of the trumpets, cymbals and instruments of melody arose, and as they praised the LORD, how that he was good and that his mercy lasteth ever, the house of the LORD was filled with a cloud: so that the priests could not endure to minister by the reason of the cloud. For the glory of the LORD had filled the house of God.

Then Salomon said: the LORD hath spoken it, how that he will dwell in darkness. And I have built an habitation for thee and a place to dwell in for ever. And the king turned his face and blessed the whole congregation of Israel, and all the congregation of Israel stood. And he said: blessed be the LORD God of Israel which spake with his mouth to my father David and hath fulfilled it with his hands, for God said: since the time I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no city among all the tribes of Israel to build an house in, that my name might be there, neither chose I any man to be a ruler over my people Israel. But now I have chosen Jerusalem to have my name there, and have chosen David to be over my people Israel. And it was in the heart of David my father to build an house for the name of the LORD God of Israel: But the LORD said to David my father: for as much as it was in thine heart, to build an house for my name, thou didst well that thou hadst it in thine heart. Notwithstanding thou shalt not build the house, but thy son which shall issue out of thy loins, he shall build an house for my name. And the LORD hath made good his saying that he hath spoken. For I arose in the room of David my father, and sat on the seat of Israel, as the LORD promised, and have built an house for the name of the LORD God of Israel. And therein I have put the Ark wherein the covenant of the LORD made with the children of Israel, is. And he stepped forth before the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands, now Salomon had made a Brazen pulpit of five cubits long and five cubits broad, and three of height, and had set it in the midst of the great court, upon that he stepped and kneeled down upon his knees before all the congregation of Israel and stretched out his hands to heaven and said: LORD God of Israel there is no God like thee either in heaven or in earth, which keepest covenant and shewest mercy unto thy servants that walk before thee with all their hearts. Which hast kept with David my father that thou promisedest him: thou saidest it with thy mouth and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is to see this day. Now LORD God of Israel keep with thy servant David my father, that thou promisedest him saying: thou shalt not be without one or other in my sight that shall sit upon the seat of Israel. Of this condition yet, if thy children will take heed to their ways to walk in my law, as thou hast walked before me. Now LORD God of Israel let thy saying be true, which thou saidest unto thy servant David. How be it in very deed, can God dwell with man on earth? Behold, neither heaven or heaven above all heavens is able to contain thee: how should the house then which I have built for thee do it? But turn to the prayer of thy servant and to his supplication (O LORD my God) to hearken unto the voice and prayer which thy servant maketh before thee. That thine eyes be open over this house day and night, and over the place of which thou hast said, that thou wouldest put thy name there: to hearken unto the prayer which thy servant prayeth at this place: Hearken therefore unto the prayers of thy servant and of thy people Israel, which they pray in this place. But hear thou it out of thy dwelling place heaven: and when thou hearest it be merciful. If a man sin against his neighbour, and an adjuration be laid to his charge, to adjure him withal, and the adjuration come before thine altar in this house: then hear thou from heaven, and work and judge thy servants, that thou reward the evil and bring his way upon his head, and justify the righteous and give him according to his righteousness. Likewise if thy people Israel be put to the worse before their enemies, because they have sinned against thee: Yet if they turn and confess thy name, and make intercession and pray before thee in this house: Then hear thou from heaven and be merciful unto the sin of thy people Israel, and bring them again unto the land which thou gavest to them and to their fathers. If heaven be shut up, that there be no rain, because they have sinned against thee: yet if they pray at this place and confess thy name and turn from their sins at thy scourging: Then hear thou from heaven and be merciful unto the sin of thy servants and of thy people Israel, that thou shew them a good way to walk in, and send rain upon thy land which thou hast given unto thy people, for an inheritance. If there chance dearth in the land, pestilence, burning or smiting of corn, grasshoppers or caterpillars, or that their enemies besiege them in the cities of their own land, or whatsoever plague or sickness it be. Then all the supplications and prayers that shall be made of all men among all thy people Israel, which shall know every man his own sore and his own grief, and shall stretch out their hands towards this house: thou shalt hear from heaven thy dwelling place, and shalt be merciful, and give every man according unto all his way, even as thou shalt know every man's heart: for thou onely knowest the hearts of the children of Adam: that they may fear thee and walk in thy ways as long as they live upon the earth, which thou gavest to our fathers. Thereto a stranger which is not of thy people Israel, if he come from a far land for thy great name's sake and thy mighty hand and stretched out arm, and 33 therefore come and pray at this house: thou shalt hear him from heaven thy dwelling place, and shalt do according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for. That all the nations of the earth may know thy name, and fear thee, as doeth thy people Israel: and that it may be known how that this house which 34 I have built, is called after thy name. When thy people shall go out to war, against their enemies the way that thou shalt send them. If they pray to thee, the way toward this city which thou hast chosen, and house which I have built for thy name: 35 then hear from heaven, their supplication and prayer, and help 36 them in their right. If they shall sin against thee (as there is no man, but that he shall sin) and thou be angry with them and deliver them to their enemies, and they lead them away cap-37 tive unto a land* far or near,* yet if their hearts come to them again in the land where they be in captivity, and turn and pray unto thee in the land where they be in captivity saying: we 38 have sinned and have done evil and wickedly and turn again to thee, with all their hearts and all their souls, in the land of their captivity where they be kept in bondage, and so pray toward their land which thou gavest unto their fathers, and city which thou hast chosen, and to his house which I have built for 39 thy name: Then hear from heaven thy dwelling place, their supplication and prayers and judge their cause, and be merci-40 ful unto thy people, though they have sinned against thee. So now my God let thine eyes be open and thine ears attent unto 41 the prayers made in this place. And now up LORD God in thy resting place: both thou and the Ark of thy strength, and let thy priests put on victory and thy saints rejoice in goodness.

42 And LORD God turn not away the face of thine anointed: But remember the mercies promised to David thy servant.

VII And when Salomon had made an end of praying, there came down fire from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and 2 the sacrifices. And the glory of the LORD filled the house: that the priests could not go into the house of the LORD, because the 3 glory of the LORD had fulfilled the house of the LORD. And all the children of Israel saw how the fire came down and the glory of the LORD upon the house, and stooped with their faces to the earth upon the pavement and bowed themselves and confessed unto the LORD, that he was good and that his mercy lasted ever. And the king and all the people offered offerings 4 before the LORD. So that king Salomon offered twenty two 5 thousand oxen, and an hundredth and twenty thousand sheep. And so the king and all the people hallowed the house of God. And the priests waited on their offices, and the Levites with 6 instruments of music of the LORD which king David made to confess unto the LORD that his mercy lasteth ever, when David gave praise thorow their hands. And the priests blew trumpets fast by them: and all Israel stood. Moreover Salomon 7 hallowed the middle of the court that was before the LORD: for there he offered burntofferings and the fat of the peaceofferings, because the brazen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receive the burntofferings and the meat offerings and the fat. And Salomon kept a feast the same season of 8 seven days, and all Israel with him, an exceeding great congregation, even from Hemath unto the river of Egypt. And 9 the eighth day they made a gathering. For they kept the hallowing of the altar seven days and the feast seven days. And 10 the twenty third day of the seventh month, he let the people depart unto their tents, glad and merry in heart for the goodness that the LORD had shewed to David, to Salomon and to Israel his people. And so Salomon finished the house of the 11 LORD and the king's house and all that came in his heart to make in the house of the LORD and in his own house, and that prosperously. And the LORD appeared to Salomon by night 12 and said to him: I have heard thy petition and have chosen this place for myself to be an house of sacrifice. Moreover if 13 I shut up heaven that there be no rain, or if I command the locusts to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people: yet if my people that are named after my name, shall 14 humble themselves and make intercession and seek my presence, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven and be merciful to their sins, and will heal their land. Thereto mine eyes shall be open and mine ears attent unto 15 the prayers made in this place. And finally I have chosen and sanctified this house, that my name be there for ever, and mine 16 eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually. And if thou shalt walk before me as David thy father walked, to do according 17 to all that I have commanded thee, and shalt observe mine 18 ordinances and my laws: then I will stablish the seat of thy kingdom, according to the covenant I made with David thy father, saying: thou shalt have ever one or other that shall rule in 19 Israel. But and if ye turn away and forsake mine ordinances and my commandments which I have set before you, and shall 20 go and serve other gods and bow yourselves to them: then will I pluck them up by the roots out of my land which I have given them, and will cast this house which I have sanctified for my name out of my sight, and will make a proverb and a tale of 21 it among all nations. And this house that is so high, shall be a wonder to all that passeth thereby that they shall say: why hath the LORD dealt on this fashion with this land and with 22 this house? And it shall be answered then, because they forsook the LORD God of their fathers which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and caught hold on other gods, and bowed to them and served them: even therefore brought he on them all this evil.

VIII

And after twenty year when Salomon had built the house 2 of the LORD, and his own house: he built the cities that Hi-3 ram gave him, and put of the children of Israel in them. And 4 Salomon went to Hemath Zobah and strengthened it. And he built Thadmor in the wilderness and all the store cities which 5 he built in Hemath. And he built Bethhoron the upper and Bethhoron the nether, and made them strong cities with walls, 6 gates and bars. And Baalath and all the store cities that Salomon had, and all the chariot cities and the cities of Horsemen, and all that Salomon had lust to build in Jerusalem and 7 Libanon, and thorowout all the land of his dominion. And all the people that were left of the Hethites, Amorites, Pheresites, Hevites and Jebusites, which were not of the children of Is-8 rael: even the children of them, which were left after them in the land, and were not consumed of the children of Israel, them 9 did Salomon make tributaries unto this day. But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no bondmen in his work: but they were men of war and rulers and great lords with him, and 10 captains over his chariots and Horsemen. And king Salomon's officers that oversaw and ruled the people, were two hundredth 11 and fifty. And Salomon brought the daughter of Pharao out of the city of David into the house that he had made for her. For he said: my wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, for it is holy, because the Ark of the LORD came into it. And from thenceforth Salomon offered burntofferings unto the LORD on the altar of the LORD which he had built before the porch to offer day by day according to the commandment of Moses, and in the Sabbaths and new moons, and the three solempne feasts of the year, the feast of sweetbread, the feast of weeks and the feast of boothes. And Salomon put the sorts of priests in companies as David his father had ordered them, unto the offices, and the Levites unto their wait, for to praise and minister before the priests day by day, and the porters by course at every gate. For so had David the man of God commanded. And the commandment of the king unto the priests and the Levites concerning whatsoever cause it was, and concerning the treasures, was not disobeyed. And all the work of Salomon went lustely forward even unto the day of the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid: and from thence till he had finished it, that the house of the LORD was perfect. And then went king Salomon to Azion Gaber and to Eloth and to the sea's side in the land of Edom. And Hiram sent him by the hand of his servants, ships and servants that could skill of the sea: Which went with the servants of Salomon to Ophir, and brought thence four hundredth and fifty talents of gold, and brought it to king Salomon.

And the queen of Saba heard of the fame of Salomon and came to prove him with riddles at Jerusalem, with a very great company, and with camels that bare sweet odours and plenty of gold and precious stone. And when she was come to Salomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart. And Salomon soiled her all her questions, that there was nothing hid from Salomon, which he told her not. And when the queen of Saba had seen the wisdom of Salomon and the house that he had built, and the meat of his table and the sitting of his servants and the standing of his waiters, and their apparel, and his butlers with their apparel, and his parlor out of which he went into the house of the LORD, there was no more heart in her. And then she said to the king: the saying which I heard in mine own land, of thine acts and of thy wisdom, is truth. But I believed not the words of them, until I came and mine eyes had seen it. And see, the one half of thy wisdom was not told me: thou exceedest the same that I heard, IX

7 happy are thy men, and happy are these thy servants which 8 stand before thee alway and hear thy wisdom. Blessed be the LORD thy God which had lust to thee, to make thee king on his seat, unto the LORD thy God. Because thy God loved Israel, to make them continue ever, therefore made he the king 9 over them to do right and equity. And she gave the king an hundredth and twenty talents of gold, and of sweet odours an exceeding great abundance with precious stones, that there was no such sweet odours as the queen of Saba, gave king Sa-10 lomon. And thereto the servants of Hiram and the servants of Salomon which brought gold from Ophir, brought also Algume 11 wood and precious stones. And the king made of the Algume wood stairs for the house of the LORD and in the king's palace, and harps and psalteries for singers. And there was no such 12 wood seen before in the land of Juda. And king Salomon gave to the queen of Saba all her desire that she asked above that she brought unto the king. And so she turned and went away 13 unto her own land with her servants. The sum of gold that came to Salomon in one year, was six hundredth and sixty six 14 talents of gold, besides that which chapmen and merchants brought, and all the kings of Arabia and dukes of countries 15 brought gold and silver to Salomon. And king Salomon made two hundredth bucklers of gold, six hundredth sicles of beaten 16 gold to a buckler: and three hundredth shields of Beaten gold, three hundredth sicles of gold to a shield, and he put them in 17 the house of the forest of Libanon. And the king made a great seat of Ivory and overlaid it with pure gold. And there were 18 six steps to the seat with a footstool of gold fastened to the seat: and pommels on each side of the sitting place, and two li-19 ons standing by the pommels. And twelve lions stood one side and on the other, upon six steps, and there was no such in any 20 kingdom. And all the drinking vessels of king Salomon were gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Libanon, were pure gold. And as for silver, it was counted nothing worth 21 in the days of Salomon. For the king's ships went to Tharsis with the servants of Hiram every three years once. And the ships of Tharsis brought gold, silver, the teeth of elephants, 22 apes and peacocks. And king Salomon passed all the kings 23 of the earth in riches and wisdom. And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to hear the wisdom that God had put in his heart. And they brought every man his present in vessels of silver and vessels of gold, and raiment, harness, sweet odours, horses and mules year by year. And Salomon had four thousand mangers of horses and chariots for them, and twelve thousand horsemen. And he bestowed them in the chariot cities and with the king at Jerusalem. And he reigned over all the kings from Euphrates unto the land of the Philistines and to the borders of Egypt. And the king made silver in Jerusalem as plenteous as stones, and Cedar trees as plenteous as the mulberry trees that grow in the valleys. And Salomon had horses brought him out of Egypt and out of all lands. And the rest of the acts of king Salomon both first and last are written in the book of Nathan the Prophet and in the prophecy of Ahiah the Silonite and in the visions of Jadi the sear of visions against Jeroboam the son of Nabat. And when Salomon had reigned in Jerusalem upon all Israel forty year, he laid him to rest with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David his father, and Rehoboam his son reigned in his stead.

And Rehoboam went to Sichem: for to Sichem were all Israel come to make him king. And when Jeroboam the son of Nabat, being in Egypt heard it (for he was fled for fear of Salomon the king) he returned out of Egypt. And they sent and called him. And so Jeroboam and all Israel came and communed with Rehoboam and said: Thy father made us a grievous yoke: but remit thou somewhat of the grievous service of thy father and of his heavy yoke that he put upon us, and we will serve thee. And he said to them: come again after three days to me. And the people departed. And king Rehoboam counselled with elders that stood before Salomon his father, while he lived, and said: what counsel give ye me, to answer this people again? And they told him saying: if thou shalt be kind to this people and please them and shalt speak loving words to them, they will be thy servants for ever. But he left the counsel which the elders gave him, and took counsel with the young men that were nursed up with him and had stand in his presence, and said to them: what advice give ye that I may answer this people which have communed with me saying: Abate somewhat of the yoke which thy father did put upon us. And the young men that were nursed up with him talked with him saying: thus answer the people that spake to thee saying: Thy father made our yoke heavy: But make thou our yoke somewhat lighter. Thus wise answer them: my little finger shall be heavier than thy father's loins. For where 11 my father put a heavy yoke upon you I will put more thereto, and where my father chastised you with whips I will chastise 12 you with scorpions. And when Jeroboam and all Israel were come the third day, as the king bade saying: come again to me 13 the third day. The king answered them cruelly, for king Rehoboam left the counsel of the aged men, and answered them 14 after the advice of the young men saying: If my father made your yoke grievous, I will add thereto, and where my father chastised you with whips, I will chastise you with scorpions.

15 And so the king hearkened not unto the people, for the turning away was of God, that the LORD might make good his saying which he spake by the hand of Ahiah the Silonite to Jeroboam 16 the son of Nabat. And when all Israel saw that the king would not hear them, the people answered the king saying: what part have we with David or inheritance with the son of Isai? let every man of Israel go to his tent. And now David see to thine own house. And thereupon all Israel gat them to their tents, 17 so that Rehoboam reigned over no more of the children of Israel than dwelt in the cities of Juda. Then king Rehoboam 18 sent to them Haburam that was over the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones that he died. But king Rehoboam made speed and gat him up in his chariot to fly to 19 Jerusalem. And so Israel departed from the house of David unto this day.

XI And when Rehobam was come to Jerusalem, he gathered of the house of David and Benjamin to the number of nine score thousand choice men of war to fight with Israel, for to 2 bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam. But the word of the 3 LORD came to Semeiah the man of God saying: speak unto Rehoboam the son of Salomon king of Juda and to all Israel 4 that are in Juda, and to Benjamin and say: thus sayeth the LORD. Go not nor fight with your brethren: But return every man to his house, for this thing is done of me. And they obeyed the words of the LORD and returned from going against Jeroboam. And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built strong 5 cities in Juda: as Bethlehem, Etam and Thekuah: Bethzur, 6, 7 Socho and Odollam: Geth, Maresah and Ziph: Adurahim, 8, 9

Lachis and Asecah: Zarah Aialon and Hebron. Which were 10 the strong cities of Juda and Benjamin. And when he had 11 repaired such strong cities, he put captains in them and store of vitailles, and of oil and wine. And he ordained in all cities 12 shields and spears, and made them exceeding strong. And so Juda and Benjamin were under him. And the priests and 13 Levites that were in all Israel resorted to him, out of all their coasts. Insomuch that the Levites left their Suburbs and 14 possessions and came to Juda and Jerusalem: for Jeroboam and his sons had cast them out from ministering unto the LORD.
And he ordained him priests of hillaltars both to field devils 15 and also to the calves which he had made. And after them 16 there came of all the tribes of Israel (such as their hearts moved them to seek the LORD God of Israel) to Jerusalem to offer unto the LORD God of their fathers. And so they strengthe 17 the kingdom of Juda and made Rehoboam the son of Salomon mighty three year long, for three year they walked in the way of David and Salomon. And Rehoboam took him Mahalath the 18 daughter of Jerimoth the son of David to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the son of Isai, which bare him children: 19 Jeus, Samariah and Zaham. And after her he took Maacah 20 the daughter of Absalom which bare him Abiah, Ethai, Ziza and Salumith. But Rehoboam loved Maacah the daughter of 21 Absalom above all his wives and concubines for he took eighteen wives and three score concubines, and begat three score daughters and twenty eight sons. And Rehoboam made Abiah 22 the son of Maacah the chief ruler among his brethren, for to make him king. And he played wisely and scattered of all his 23 children thorowout all the countries of Judah and Benjamin in every strong city. And he gave them abundance of vitailles, and asked many wives.

And when Rehoboam had stablished the kingdom, and made XII it strong, he forsook the law of the LORD, and all Israel with him, wherefore the fifth year of king Rehoboam, Sesak the 2 king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem because they had transgressed against the LORD with twelve hundredth chari- 3 ots and three score thousand horsemen. And the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt, with them of Libia, and the Succites and the blackmoors. And they 4 took the strong cities that were in Juda and came to Jerusa-5 lem. Then came Semeiah the Prophet to Rehoboam and to the lords of Juda that were gathered to Jerusalem for fear of Sesak, and said to them: thus sayeth the LORD, ye have left me, and therefore will I leave you also in the hands of Sesak.

6 Whereupon the lords of Israel and the king humbled them-7 selves and said: the LORD is righteous. And when the LORD saw that they submitted themselves, the word of the LORD came to Semeiah saying: they meek themselves, and therefore I will not destroy them. But I will deliver them somewhat, and 8 my wrath shall not fall upon Jerusalem. Neverthelater they shall be his servants, to know what difference is between my 9 service and the service of the kingdoms of other lands. And Sesak king of Egypt came to Jerusalem and took away the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king's house, and shortly he took all. And he took also the shields of 10 gold which Salomon made. Instead of which king Rehoboam made shields of brass, and put them in the keeping of the captains of his guard which waited in the gate of the king's 11 house. And as oft as the king went to the house of the LORD, the guard went and fetched them, and brought them again 12 unto the guard chamber. And so because he humbled himself, the wrath of the LORD turned from him, and destroyed not all together. And thereto there were many good things yet 13 in Juda. And king Rehoboam waxed mighty in Jerusalem and reigned. And Rehoboam was forty one year old when he was made king, and he reigned seventeen year in Jerusalem the city which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there. And his mother's name was Naamah an 14 Ammonite. And he did evil: for he prepared not his heart to 15 seek the LORD. The acts of Rehoboam first and last are written in the sayings of Semeiah the Prophet and of Ado the sear of visions, so much as his genealogy and the perpetual war that 16 was between Rehoboam and Jeroboam during their life. And Rehoboam laid him to sleep with his fathers and was buried in the city of David, and Abiah his son reigned in his stead.

XIII The eighteenth year of king Jeroboam began Abiah to reign 2 over Juda, and he reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Michaiiah the daughter of Uriel of Gabaah.
3 And there was war between Abiah and Jeroboam. And Abiah made a battle with an Host of fighting men of four hundredth thousand chosen men. And Jeroboam put in array to fight against him, with eight hundredth thousand picked men and strong. And Abiah stood up upon Zemaraim an hill in mount 4 Ephraim and said: hear me thou Jeroboam and all Israel. Be- 5 cometh it not you to know how the LORD God of Israel gave the kingdom of Israel to David for ever, even to him and to his sons, with a salted covenant. But Jeroboam the son of Nabat 6 the servant of Salomon the son of David, rebelled against his* lord. And there gathered to him lewd men and unthrifties, 7 and prevailed against Rehoboam the son of Salomon: for Rehoboam was young and tender hearted and not strong enough for them. And now ye think to prevail against the kingdom 8 of the LORD in the hand of the sons of David, because ye be a great multitude and have with you the golden calves which Jeroboam made you for gods. And have ye not cast out the 9 priests of the LORD the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and have made you priests like the nations of other lands: even whosoever cometh and filleth his hand with an ox and seven rams, the same is made priest to them that are no Gods. But 10 with us is the LORD our God whom we have not forsaken, and the priests of the sons of Aaron ministering unto the LORD, and the Levites in office, burning unto the LORD every morn- 11 ing and every evening burntofferings and sweet cense: and the shewbread put in order upon a pure table: and the candlestick of gold with the lamps of the same, to be lighted every evening. For we keep the watch of the LORD our God: but ye have forsaken him. Moreover see, God is with us in the fore- 12 ward, and his priests, and the roaring trumpets to cry alarum against you. Ye children of Israel fight not with the LORD God of your fathers: for it will not prosper with you. But for all 13 that Jeroboam sent men privily above to come behind upon them: and so they were before Juda, and the layers in wait were behind them. And when Juda turned and saw the battle 14 behind and before, they cried unto the LORD, and the priests blew the trumpets and the men of Juda gave a shout. And 15 as the men of Juda shouted, God smote Jeroboam and all Israel before Abiah and Juda. And the children of Israel fled 16 before Juda, and the Lorde delivered them into the hands of Juda. And Abiah and his people slew a great slaughter of 17 them: so that there were stricken down dead of Israel five hundredth thousand chosen men. And so the children of Israel were brought under at that time, and the children of Juda prevailed: because they leaned unto the LORD God of their fathers. And Abiah followed after Jeroboam and won certain cities from him: Bethel with the towns belonging thereto, and Jesanah with the towns that longed thereto, and Ephron with her towns. And Jeroboam recovered not strength again in the days of Abiah. And at the last the LORD plagued him, that he died. And Abiah waxed mighty, and took him fourteen wives, and begat twenty two sons and sixteen daughters. The rest of the acts of Abiah and his ways and his doings are written in the story of the Prophet Ado.

XIV And when Abiah was laid to sleep with his fathers, they buried him in the city of David, and Asa his son reigned in his stead. In whose days the land was quiet ten years. And Asa did that was good and right in the eyes of the LORD his God, and took away the altars of strangers and the hillaltars, and brake the Images and cut down the groves, and commanded Juda to seek the LORD God of their fathers, and to do according to the law and commandment. And he put away out of all the cities of Juda, the hillaltars and the idols: for the kingdom was quiet before him. And he built strong cities in Juda: because the land was in rest, and he had no war in those year. For the LORD had given him rest. And therefore he said to Juda: let us build these cities and compass them with walls and towers, gates and bars, while we have the land quiet. For we have fought the LORD our God: and because we have fought him, he hath given us rest on every side. And so they built and prospered. And Asa had an Army that bare shield and spear, out of Juda three hundredth thousand, and out of Benjamin that bare shield and drew bows two hundredth and eighty thousand, and were all strong men. And there came out against them Zarah the Morian with an Host of ten hundredth thousand, and three hundredth chariots, and came as far of Maresa. And Asa went out to him, and they put in array to battle in the valley of Zephatah beside Maresa. And Asa cried unto the LORD his God and said: LORD, it is all one with thee to help them that have no power, with few or with many: help us O LORD our God, for we trust to thee, and in thine name be come against this multitude. Thou art the LORD our God. let not man prevail against thee. And the LORD smote the black Moors before Asa and Juda, that they fled. And Asa and the people that was with him, followed after them as far as Gerar. And the black Moors were overthrown, that there bode none alive of them, but were destroyed of the LORD and of his Host. And they carried away a mighty great prey. And they smote all the cities round about Gerar. For the fear of the LORD came upon them. And they robbed all the cities for there was exceeding much to be robbed in them. And thereto they smote the tents of cattle and carried away plenty of sheep and camels, and returned to Jerusalem.

And the spirit of God came upon Azariah the son of Obed. XV
 And he went out against Asa and said to him: hear me Asa and all Juda and Benjamin. The LORD is with you, while ye be with him, and if ye shall seek him, he will be found of you: but and if ye shall forsake him, he will forsake you. There will come many days in Israel, in which there shall be no true God nor priest that teacheth, nor any law. And in their tribulation they shall turn unto the LORD God of Israel and shall seek him, and he shall be found of them. And in those days there shall be no peace to them that go out and in. But great vexation upon the inhabiters of all lands. For one nation shall destroy another, and one city another: for God will trounce them with all adversity. But pluck you up your hearts and let not your hands faint, for your works shall be rewarded. When Asa heard those words and the prophecy of Azariah the son of Obed the Prophet, he took courage and put away the abominations out of all the land of Juda and Benjamin, and out of the cities which he won in mount Ephraim, and renewed the altar of the LORD that was before the porch of the LORD. And he gathered all Juda and Benjamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim, Manasse and Simeon. For there fell many to him out of Israel, when they saw that GOD was with him. And they assembled at Jerusalem the third month of the fifteen year of the reign of Asa. And they offered unto the LORD that same time of the spoil which they had brought seven hundredth oxen and seven thousand sheep. And they made a covenant to seek the LORD God of their fathers, with all their hearts and all their souls: so that all that sought not the LORD God of Israel, should die for it, whether he were small 14 or great, man or woman. And they sware unto the LORD with 15 a loud voice and shouting and with trumpets and horns. And all Juda rejoiced in the oath, for they had sworn with all their hearts, and sought him with all their lust, and he was found 16 of them. And the LORD gave them rest round about. And thereto king Asa put Maacah his mother out of authority, because she had made an idol in a grove: and brake down her 17 idol and stamped it and burnt it by the brook Cedron. But they put not the hillaltars out of Israel: nevertheless the heart 18 of Asa was pure all his life. And he brought into the house of God the dedicate gifts which he and his father had dedicated, 19 in gold, silver and other Jewels. And there was no more war unto the thirty fifth year of the reign of Asa.

XVI In the thirty sixth year of the reign of Asa, came Baasa king of Israel against Juda and built Ramah, to the intent that he would let none that pertained to Asa king of Juda, have pas-2 sage in and out. Whereupon Asa fetched out silver and gold out of the treasures of the house of the LORD and of the king's house, and sent it to Benhadad king of Siria, that dwelt at 3 Damasco, and said: There is a confederation between me and thee, and so was between my father and thine, wherefore I have sent thee silver and gold, that thou go and break thine appointment with Baasa king of Israel, that he may depart 4 from me. And Benhadad granted unto king Asa, and sent the captains of his army against the cities of Israel. And they beat Aion, Dan, Abelmaim and all the store cities of Nephthali.
5 And when Baasa heard that, he left building of Ramah and let 6 his work cease. And then Asa the king took all Juda and carried away and stoves and timber of Ramah wherewith Baasa was abuilding: and he built therewith Gabaa and Mazpah.
7 At that same time Hanani the sear, came to Asa king of Juda and said to him: because thou trustedest in the king of Siria, and trustest not in the LORD thy God, therefore is the host of 8 the king of Siria escaped out of thine hand. Were not the black Moors and they of Libia a great host with exceeding many char-iots and horsemen? And yet because thou trustedest in the 9 LORD, he delivered them into thine hands. For the eyes of the LORD behold all the earth, to strength the hearts of them that are whole with him. Herein thou hast done foolishly, and therefore from henceforth thou shalt have war. Whereupon 10 Asa was wroth with the sear and put him in the converting house, for he was displeased with him because of that. Moreover Asa oppressed certain of the people the same season. The 11 deeds of Asa both first and last, are written in the book of the kings of Juda and Israel. And the thirty ninth year of his 12 reign Asa fell sick of his feet, and that his disease exceeded.

 And thereto in his sickness he asked no counsel of the LORD, but of Physicians. And at the last Asa fell on sleep with his 13 fathers and died when he had reigned fifty one year. And they 14 buried him in his own sepulchre which he had made in the city of David, and laid him in the bed which he had filled with sweet odours of divers kinds, made by the craft of the apothecaries.
 And they did exceeding great cost about burying of him.

And Jehosaphat his son reigned in his stead and was might- XVII ier than Israel. And he put soldiers in all the strong cities 2 of Juda, and set rulers both in the land of Juda and also in the cities of Ephraim which Asa his father had won. And the 3 LORD was with Jehosaphat, because he walked in the old ways of his father David, and sought not Baals: But sought the 4 LORD God of his father and walked in his commandments and not after the doings of Israel. Therefore the LORD stablished 5 the kingdom in his hand and all Juda brought him presents, that he became exceeding rich and glorious. And his heart 6 was courageous in the ways of the LORD, and he put down yet more of the hillaltars and groves out of Juda. And the 7 third year of his reign he sent of his lords: Benhail, Abdiah, Zachariah, Nathanael and Michaah to teach in the cities of Juda: and with them Semeiah, Nathaniah, Zabadijah, Asahel, 8 Semiramoth, Jehonathan, Adoniah, Thobiah and Thobodoniah Levites: and with them Elisama and Joram priests. And they 9 taught in Juda, and had the book of the law with them, and went about thorowout all the cities of Juda and taught the people. And the fear of the LORD fell upon all the kingdoms of 10 the lands that were round about Juda, that they durst not war with Jehosaphat. And the Philistines brought Jehosaphat 11 gifts and tribute silver. And thereto the Arabians brought him of sheep, seven thousand and seven hundredth rams, and seven thousand and seven hundredth he goats. And so Jehos- 12 aphant prospered and grew up on high. And he built in Juda, 13 castles and store cities. And he had great substance in the 14 cities of Juda, and fighting men and men of might in Jerusa-15 lem. And this is the order in the houses of their fathers, of the 16 captains over thousands in Juda: Ednah the captain and with 17 him of fighting men three hundredth thousand. And next to 18 him Jehohanan a captain and with him two hundredth and 19 eighty thousand. And by his side Amaziah the son of Zechri willing unto the LORD, and with him two hundredth thousand mighty men. And of the children of Benjamin, Eliada was a man of might, and had with him armed with bows and shields two hundredth thousand. And by his side Jehosabad with whom were an hundredth and eighty thousand trimmed for war. These waited on the king, besides those which the king had put in strong cities thorowout all Juda.

And Jehosaphat became very rich and glorious, and joined 2 affinity with Ahab. And after certain years he went down to Ahab to Samaria. And Ahab slew sheep and oxen plenteously for him and for the people that came with him, and entreated 3 him to go up unto Ramoth in Gilead. And Ahab king of Israel said to Jehosaphat king of Juda: wilt thou go with me to Ramoth in Gilead? And he answered him, I will be as thou, and my people shall be as thine and we will be with thee in the war.
4 But Jehosaphat said unto the king of Israel: ask I pray thee the 5 word of the LORD. And the king of Israel gathered together of the Prophets four hundredth men, and said unto them: shall we go to Ramoth in Gilead to fight, or shall I cease? And they 6 said, go: the Lorde shall deliver it into the king's hand. And Jehosaphat said, is there yet here never a Prophet more of the 7 LORD's, that we might ask of him? And the king of Israel said to Jehosaphat, there is yet one, to ask the LORD by him: But I hate him, for he never prophesieth me good, but alway evil, one Micheah the son of Jemla. And Jehosaphat said: let 8 not the king say so. Then the king of Israel called one of his chamberlains and said: fetch hither quickly Micheah the son 9 of Jemla. And the king of Israel and Jehosaphat king of Juda sat either of them on his seat in their apparel, in a threshing floor beside the gate of Samaria, and all the Prophets proph-10 esying before them. And one Zedekiah the son of Chananah made him horns of iron and said, thus sayeth the LORD: with these thou shalt winnow Siria until thou hast brought them to naught. And all the Prophets prophesied even so saying: 11 Go up to Ramoth in Gilead and prosper, for the LORD shall 12 deliver it into the hand of the king. And the messenger that went to call Micheah, spake to him saying: behold, the words of 12 the Prophets are pleasant to the king with one assent, let thy words I pray thee, be like one of theirs, and speak that which is pleasant. And Micheah said: as truly as the LORD liveth, 13 even what my God sayeth, that will I speak. And when he 14 was come to the king, the king said to him: Micheah, shall we go to Ramoth in Gilead to fight, or shall I be in rest? And he answered: go ye and prosper, for the Lorde shall deliver it into your hands. But the king said to him: how often times shall I 15 adjure thee that thou say nothing but truth to me, in the name of the LORD. Then he said: I see all Israel scattered in the 16 mountains, as sheep that have no shepherd. And the LORD said: these have no master, let them return every man to his house in peace. Then said the king of Israel to Jehosaphat, 17 did I not tell thee, that he would not prophesy good unto me, but evil? And he answered: therefore hear ye the word of the 18 LORD. I saw the LORD sit upon his seat, and all the company of heaven standing on his right hand and on his left. And 19 the LORD said: who shall deceive Ahab king of Israel, that he may go and be overthrown at Ramoth in Gilead. And while one said thus and another that, there came out a spirit and 20 stood before the LORD and said: I will deceive him. And the LORD said to him, how? And he said: I will go out and will be 21 a lying spirit in the mouths of all his prophets. And the LORD said, thou shalt deceive him and shalt prevail, go out and do even so. And now behold the LORD hath put a lying spirit in 22 the mouths of all these thy prophets, and yet the LORD hath spoken evil against thee. And Zedekiah the son of Chananah, 23 went to and smote Micheah upon the cheek, and said: by what way went the spirit of the LORD from me, to speak in thee?

And Micheah said: thou shalt see the day when thou shalt 24 run from chamber to chamber, for to hide thyself. Then said 25 the king of Israel, take ye Micheah and deliver him to Amon the governor of city, and to Joas the king's son and say, thus 26 sayeth the king: put this fellow in prison, and feed him with bread and water of tribulation, until I come again in peace.
And Micheah said: if thou come again in peace, then hath not 27 the LORD spoken in me. And Mischeah said moreover, hearken 28 to ye people every one of you. And so the king of Israel and 29 Jehosaphat went up to Ramoth in Gilead. Then said the king of Israel to Jehosaphat: change thee and get thee to battle, but see thou have thine own apparel upon thee. And the king of 30 Israel changed himself, and they went to battle. But the king of Siria commanded the captains of his chariots saying: see 31 that ye fight not against small or great, save against the king of Israel onely. And when the captains of the chariots saw Je-hosaphat, they had wente he had been the king of Israel, and therefore compassed about him, to fight. But Jehosaphat cried out, and the LORD help him, and God tysed them away from 32 him. For when the captains of the chariots perceived that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back again from him.

33 And a certain man drew his bow ignorantly and smote the king of Israel between the Joints of his habergeon. And he said to the chariot man, turn thine hand and carry me out of the host, 34 for I am hurt. And the battle arose that day. Howbeit the king of Israel continued standing in his chariot against the Sirians until evening. And about the son going down he died.

XIX And Jehosaphat king of Juda returned to his house safe and 2 sound to Jerusalem. And Jehu the son of Hanani the sear, went out against him and said to king Jehosaphat: oughtest thou to help the wicked, and to love them that hate the LORD.
3 In this verily is the wrath of the LORD upon thee. Neverthelater there are good things found in thee, in that thou hast put away groves out of the land, and hast prepared thine heart to 4 seek God. And as Jehosaphat dwelt at Jerusalem, he went to again and went among the people from Bersabe to mount Eph-raim, and brought them again unto the LORD God of their fa-5 thers. And he set judges in the land, thorowout all the strong 6 cities of Juda, city by city, and said to the judges take heed what ye do: for ye be not judges in the law of man, but of GOD, 7 which is with you in the words of the law. Wherefore let the fear of the LORD be with you, and take heed and do it. For there is no unrighteousness in the LORD our God nor regard-8 ing of persons, nor taking of rewards. Moreover in Jerusalem did Jehosaphat set of the Levites and of the priests and of the ancient heads of Israel, over the customs of the LORD and causes of strife. And then they returned again to Jerusalem. And he charged them saying: do even so in the fear of 9 the LORD with truth and pure heart. And whatsoever come to 10 you of your brethren that dwell in their cities, between blood and blood, law, commandment, ordinances and customs: see that ye warn them, that they trespass not against the LORD, lest wrath come upon you and on your brethren. Thus do and ye shall not offend. And see here Amariah the priest which is 11 head over you in all matters of the LORD, and Zabadiah the son of Ismael a ruler in the house of Juda, he is over all causes concerning the king, with officers of the Levites before you. Take courage to you and go upon it, and the LORD shall be with the good.

After that came the children of Moab and the children of XX Ammon and with them the Ammonites against Jehosaphat to battle. And there came that told Jeshosaphat saying: there 2 cometh a great multitude against thee from the other side the sea out of Siria. And see they be in Hasason Tamar which is Engadi. And Jehosaphat feared and set himself to seek 3 the LORD, and proclaimed fasting thorowout all Juda. And 4 Juda gathered themselves together to ask counsel of the LORD.
 And thereto there came out of all the cities of Juda to seek the LORD. And Jehosaphat stood in the congregation of Juda and 5 Jerusalem in the house of the LORD before the new court and 6 said: LORD God of our fathers, art not thou God in heaven, and reignest not thou on all the kingdoms of the heathen? And in thine hand is power and might, that no man can stand before thee. Art not thou our God which didst cast out the inhabiters 7 of this land before thy people Israel, and gavest it to the seed of Abraham thy lover for ever? And they dwelt therein and have 8 built thee a temple therein unto thy name, and said: when 9 evil cometh upon us, as the sword of judgement, pestilence or hunger: then if we stand before this house and before thee (for thy name is in this house) and shall cry unto thee in our tribulation, thou shalt hear and help. And now behold, the children 10 of Ammon and Moab and mount Seir, by which thou wouldest not let Israel go, when they came out of Egypt: but they departed from them and destroyed them not. And see, how they 11 reward us, to come for to cast us out of thy possession which thou hast possessed us with all. O our God, wilt thou not 12 judge them? for we have no might against this great company that cometh against us. Neither wot we what to do: but our 13 eyes be unto thee. And as all Juda stood before the LORD with 14 their young ones, their wives and their children: the spirit of the LORD came upon Jahasiel the son of Zachariah the son of Banaiah the son of Jeiel the son of Mathaniah a Levite of the sons of Asaph, even as he was in the midst of the congregation.

15 And he said: hearken all Juda and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and also king Jehosaphat. Thus sayeth the LORD unto you: be not afeard or faint hearted by reason of this great multitude.
16 For the war is not yours, but God's. And tomorrow ye shall go down to them: see, they come up at Zis, and ye shall meet them in the flags of the brook before the wilderness of Jeruel.
17 Moreover it belongeth not to you for to fight this quarrel: but step forth and stand and behold the help of the LORD which is with you: fear not, nor let your heart fail you, O ye of Juda and of Jerusalem. Tomorrow go out to them: for the LORD is with 18 you. And Jehosaphat bowed himself with his face to the city, and all Juda and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the 19 LORD, to bow themselves unto the LORD. And the Levites and the children of the Cahathites and of the Corahites stood up, to praise the LORD God of Israel with a loud voice on high.
20 And so they arose early in the morning and gat them out unto the wilderness of Thekua. And as they went out Jehosaphat stood and said: hear me Juda and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
Believe in the LORD your God, and so shall ye continue: and 21 believe his prophets and so shall ye prosper. And he gave the people counsel, and set the singers of the LORD and them that praised in holy apparel, to go out before the army and to say: 22 praise the LORD for his mercy lasteth ever. And what time they began to laud and praise, then the LORD set layers await 23 against the children of Ammon and Moab and mount Seir, to destroy them utterly and to wipe them out. And when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, then they help to destroy 24 each other. And when Juda came to Mazpah in the wilderness, they looked unto the multitude. And behold, they were 25 dead carcasses fallen to the earth, and none escaped. And Jehosaphat and his people went to rob away the spoil of them and found among them abundance of goods and raiment and of pleasant Jewels, and caught from them more than they could carry away: so that they were three days in gathering of the spoil, it was so much. And the fourth day they assembled in 26 the valley of blessing, for there they blessed the LORD. And therefore they called the name of the said place the valley of blessing unto this day. And so all the men of Juda and Jeru- 27 salem returned and Jehosaphat among the thickest of them, for to go again to Jerusalem with gladness: for the LORD had made them to rejoice of their enemies. And they came to Je- 28 rusalem with psalteries and harps and trumpets, even unto the house of the LORD. And the fear of God fell in the king- 29 doms of all lands, when they had heard that the LORD fought against the enemies of Israel. And so the realm of Jehosaphat 30 was in tranquillity: for his God had given him rest on every side. And Jehosaphat reigned upon Juda, and was thirty five 31 year old when he began to reign, and reigned twenty five year in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Asuba the daugh- 32 ter of Silhi. And he walked in the way of Asa his father and bowed not therefrom, to do that was pleasant in the sight of the LORD. How be it they put not down the hillaltars, nei- 33 ther did the people yet prepare their hearts unto the God of their fathers. The rest of the acts of Jehosaphat first and 34 last are written in the works of Jehu the son of Hanani, which noted them in the book of the kings of Israel. After this Jehos- 35 aphat king of Juda joined himself with Ohoziah king of Israel, which was a wicked doer. And he coupled himself with him, 36 to make ships to go to Tharsis. And they made the ships in Azion Gaber. And Elieser the son of Dodanah of Maresa prophesied 37 against Jehosaphat: saying: because thou hast joined thyself with Ohoziah the LORD hath broken thy works. And the ships were broken that they were not able to go to Tharsis.

Jehosaphat laid him to rest with his fathers, and was buried XXI with his fathers in the city of David and Jehoram his son reigned in his room: which Jehoram had other brethren, sons of Je- 2 hosaphat, Asariah, Jehiel, Zachariah, Asariah, Michael and Sephatia. All these were the sons of Jehosaphat king of Juda.
 And their father gave them many great gifts in silver, gold 3 and other precious things with strong cities in Juda: but the kingdom he gave to Jehoram, because he was the eldest. And 4 when Jehoram was up upon the kingdom of his father and settled, he slew all his other brethren with the sword, and divers of the lords of Israel thereto. Jehoram was thirty two year old 5 when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. And he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, like as did the house of Ahab (for a daughter of Ahab was his wife) and he wrought evil in the eyes of the LORD. Howbeit the LORD would not destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he had made with David, as he promised to give a light to him and to his sons for ever. In his days the Edomites departed from under the hand of Juda and made them a king. And Jehoram went forth with his lords and all his chariots with him and rose by night and laid on the Edomites. Which compassed him in and the captains of his chariots. And so Edom departed from under the hand of Juda unto this day. That same time also did Iobnah depart from under his power, because he left the LORD God of his fathers. Moreover he made hillaltars in the mountains of Juda, and cause the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit adultery, and he thrust Juda out of the way. And there came a writing to him from Eliah the prophet of this tenor. Thus sayeth the LORD God of David thy father: because thou walkedst not in the ways of Jehosaphat thy father and in the ways of Asa king of Juda, but walkedst in the ways of Asa king of Israel and hast made Juda and the dwellers of Jerusalem go awhoring, like to the whoring of the house of Ahab, and hast thereto slain thy brethren that were thy father's house, which were better than thou: Therefore behold the LORD will smite thee with a mighty plague in thy folk, in thy children, in thy wives and in thy goods. And thou shalt have much disease thorow infirmity in thy bowels, until thy bowels fall out by reason of thy sickness, day by day. And the LORD stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines and the Arabians that border on the black moors. Which came against Juda and all to tare the land, and carried away all the substance that was found in the king's house, and thereto his sons and his wives: so that there was never a son left him save Jehoahaz his youngest son. And after all that, the LORD smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease. And in process of time, even about the end of two year, his guts fell out by reason of his sickness: and so he died of evil diseases. But they made him no bonfire, like the bonfires of his fathers. When he began to reign, he was twenty seven year old, and reigned in Jerusalem eight years. And he walked not pleasantly and they buried him in the city of David: but not in the sepulchre of the kings.

And the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ohoziah his youngest son king in his stead. For the men of war that came with the Arabians in the host, had slain all his elder sons. And so Ohoziah the son of Jehoram king of Juda, was made king. Two and forty year old was he when he began to reign, and reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah the daughter of Amri. And he walked also in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother was his counsellor for to do evil. Wherefore he did that displeased the LORD like to the house of Ahab, for they were his counsellors after the death of his father, to his destruction. And he also walked after their counsel. And Jehoram son of Ahab king of Israel went to fight with Hazael king of Siria at Ramoth in Gilead: and they of Ramoth wounded him. Wherefore he returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which were given him at Ramoth, when he fought with Hazael king of Siria. And Ohoziah the son of Jeroam king of Juda went down to see Jehoram the son of Ahab at Jezreel, because he was diseased. For it was thrust into Ohoziah of God to go to Jehoram, and that when he was come, he should go out with Jehoram against Jehu the son of Namsi whom the LORD had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab. And as Jehu was executing justice upon the house of Ahab. He found the lords of Juda and the sons of the brethren of Ohoziah that waited on Ohoziah, and he slew them. And he sought Ohoziah, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Jehu. And when they had slain him they buried him: because (said they) he was the son of Jehosaphat which sought the LORD with all his heart. And there was none of the house of Ohoziah that could obtain to be king. For Athaliah the mother of Ohoziah, when she saw her son was dead, arose and spake with all the seed of the kingdom of the house of Juda. But Jehosabeath the daughter of the king took Jehoas the son of Ohoziah and stole him from among the king's sons that were slain, and put him and his nurse in a sleeping chamber. And so Jehosabeath the daughter of king Jehoram and wife of Jehoiada the priest (because she was the sister of Ohoziah) hid him from Athaliah that she slew him not. And he was with them hid in the house of God six years. And Athaliah reigned over the land.

XXIII

And in the seventh year Jehoiada took heart, and made a bond with the captains of hundreds: Azariah the son of Jehoram, Ismael the son of Johanan, Azariah the son of Obed, Maaciah the son of Adaiah and Elisaphat the son of Zechri.

2 And they went about in Juda and gathered the Levites out of all the cities of Juda and the ancient heads of Israel: and they

3 came to Jerusalem. And all the congregation made a bond with the king in the house of God. And Jehoiada said to them: behold, the king's son must reign over the children of David, as

4 the LORD hath said. This it is therefore that ye shall do. The third part of you priests and Levites which come in the Sab-

5 bath day, shall keep the doors and another third part shall be in the king's house and another third part shall be in the gate of the foundation, and all the people shall be in the courts of

6 the house of the LORD. And there shall none come into the house of the LORD, save the priests and the Levites that minister. They shall go in, for they are holy: and all the people

7 shall keep the watch of the LORD. And the Levites shall compass the king round about, and every man his weapon in his hand: and whatsoever other man come into the house of the 8 Lord, he shall die for it, and they shall be with the king, as he cometh in and as he goeth out. And the Levites and all Juda did in all things as Jehoiada the priest commanded, and took every man his men: both them that came in and them that went out the Sabbath day: for Jehoiada the priest did

9 let none of the companies depart. And Jehoiada the priest delivered to the captains of hundreds spears and shields and bucklers that pertained to king David and were in the house

10 of God. And he set all the people and every man his weapon in his hand, from the right corner of the house to the left corner of the house, along by the altar and the house round about 11 the king. And they brought out the king's son and put upon him the crown and the testimony, and made him king. And Jehoiada and his sons anointed him and said: God save the 12 king. When Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she went among the people into the 13 house of the LORD. And when she saw the king stand at his pillar in the entering, and the lords and trumpets about the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing with trumpets, and the singers with instruments of music teaching to praise. Then she rent her clothes and cried: treason, treason. And Jehoiada the priest went out with the captains 14 of hundreds that were appointed to govern the host and said to them: have her out without the arrays and whosoever followeth her, let him be slain with the sword. For the priest said: slay her not in the house of the LORD. And they laid 15 hands on her, and when she was come out to the entering of the horsegate in the king's house, they slew her there. And Jehoiada made a bond between him and all the people and the king, to be the LORD's people. And all the people went to the 16 house of Baal and destroyed it, and brake his altars and his images, and slew Mathan the priest of Baal before the altars. And Jehoiada put the offices of the house of the LORD in the 17 hands of the priests the Levites, which David had divided in companies for the house of the LORD, to offer burntofferings unto the LORD, as it is written in the law of Moses, with rejoicing and singing, as it was ordained by David. And he set 18 porters unto the gates of the house of the LORD, that none that was unclean in any point should enter in. And he took 19 the captains of hundreds and the nobles, and the governors of the people and all the folk of the land, and brought the king down out of the house of the LORD, and they went thorow the high gate in the king's house, and set the king upon the seat of the kingdom. And all the people of the land rejoiced, and 20 the city was in tranquillity: but they slew Athaliah with the sword. 21

Jehoas was seven years old when he began to reign, and XXIV he reigned forty year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zebiah of Bersabe. And Jehoas did that pleased the LORD 2 all the days of Jehoiada the priest. And Jehoiada gave him 3 two wives, and he begat sons and daughters. It chanced after that, that Jehoas was minded to mend the house of the LORD. And upon that he gathered together the priests and 4 the Levites and said to them: go out thorow the cities of Juda and gather of all Israel silver, to strength the house of your God, year by year, and see that ye haste the thing: howbeit the Levites were slack. Then the king called Jehoiada that 5 was the chiefest, and said to him: Why requirest thou not of the Levites to bring in, out of Juda and Jerusalem the sum 6 appointed by Moses the servant of the LORD, and by the congregation of Israel, for the tabernacle of witness. For wicked Athaliah and her children had broken the house of God, and had thereto bestowed all the dedicate gifts of the house of the LORD, about Baals. Wherefore at the kings commandment, they made a coffer, and set it at the gate of the house of the LORD: and made proclamation thorow Juda and Jerusalem to bring in to the LORD the taxation of Moses the servant of God, which he set upon Israel in the wilderness. And the lords and all the people rejoiced and brought in and cast into the coffer until it was full. And when the time came that the chest should be brought in by the hands of the Levites at the appointment of the king, when they saw that there was much money: then came the king's scribe and one appointed by the high priest, and poured out that was in the coffer, and then took it and carried it to his place again, and thus they did day by day, and gathered much money. And the king and Jehoiada gave it to workmen that wrought upon the house of the LORD, and hired Masons and carpenters to redress the house of the LORD, and so did they artificers in iron and brass, to repair the house of the LORD. And the workmen wrought and the work mended thorow their hands: and they made the house of God as it ought to be, and strengthened it. And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the money to the king and Jehoiada, and therewith were made vessels for the house of the LORD: even vessels to minister withal and to serve for burntofferings as ladies and vessels of gold and silver. And they offered burntofferings in the house of the LORD continually all the days of Jehoiada. And Jehoiada waxed old and full of year and died. And hundredth and thirty year old was he when he died. And they buried him in the city of David among the kings because he had done good in Israel, and on God and on his house. And after the death of Jehoiada, came the lords of Juda and made obeisance to the king. And then he hearkened unto them. And so they left the house of the LORD God of their fathers, and served groves and Images. And then came there wrath upon Juda and Jerusalem, for this their trespasses' sake. Notwithstanding yet God sent Prophets to them, to bring them again unto the LORD. And they testified unto them. But they would not hear. And the spirit of God came upon Zachariah the son of Jehoiada the priest, and he stepped up above the people and said to them. Thus sayeth God: why transgress ye the commandments of the LORD? ye shall therefore not prosper, but as ye have forsaken him, so shall he forsake you. Whereupon they conspired against him 21 and stoned him with stones, at the commandment of the king: even in the court of the house of the LORD. And so Jehoas 22 the king remembered not the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his son. And when he died, he said: the LORD see and require a reckoning. And when the 23 year was out, the host of the Sirians came against him: and they came to Juda and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the lords of the people from among the people and sent all the spoil of them unto the king to Damasco. And though the army of Siria 24 came with a small company of men, yet the LORD delivered a very great host into their hands, because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers. And thereto they served Jehoas according. And as soon as they were departed from him, though 25 they left him in great diseases: yet his own servants conspired against him for the blood of the children of Jehoiada the priest, and slew him on his bed. And when he was dead, they buried him in the city of David: but not in the sepulchers of the kings. And these are they that conspired against him: Zabad the son 26 of Samaath an Ammonite and Jehosabad the son of Simrith a Moabite. And his sons and the sum of the tax that came to 27 him, and the foundation of the house of God, are written in the story of the book of kings. And Amaziah his son reigned in his stead.

Amaziah was twenty five year old when he began to reign, XXV and he reigned twenty nine year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoiadan of Jerusalem. And he did that pleased 2 the LORD: but not with the whole heart. And as soon as he 3 was settled in the kingdom, he slew them that killed the king his father. But he slew not their children as it is written in the 4 law, even in the book of Moses to whom the LORD commanded saying: the fathers shall not die for the children's causes, nor the children for the fathers, but every man shall die for his own sin. And Amaziah gathered Juda together and made captains 5 over thousands and over hundreds in the houses of their fathers thorowout all Juda and Benjamin. And he numbered them from twenty year and above, and found them three hundredth thousand lusty men able to go to battle, and that could 6 handle spear and shield. And he hired thereto an hundredth thousand fighting men out of Israel, for an hundredth talents 7 of silver. But there came a man of God to him and said: king, let not the army of Israel go with thee: for the LORD is not 8 with Israel neither with any of the house of Ephraim. Or else if thou needs wilt, then go and do it, and make thyself strong to battle: and thou shalt see, that God shall make thee fall before thine enemies. For God hath power to help or to cast down.

9 And Amaziah said again to the man of God, what shall we do then, for the hundredth talents which I have given unto the host of Israel? And the man of God said: the LORD is able to 10 give thee much more than that. And then Amaziah severed that army that was come to him out of Ephraim, to go home again. Wherefore they were exceeding wroth with Juda, and 11 returned to their own home in great anger. And Amaziah took heart and carried out his host and went to Saltdale. Where he 12 slew of the children of Seir ten thousand. And other ten thousand the children of Juda took alive, and carried them unto the top of a rock and cast them down from the top of the rock that 13 they all to burst: but the men of the army which Amaziah had turned back and would not let go with his people to battle, ran upon the cities of Juda from Samaria unto Bethhoron 14 and slew three thousand of them and won much spoil. And it chanced, after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, and had brought the gods of the children of Seir, he set them up to be his gods, and bowed himself before 15 them and burned cense unto them. Wherefore the LORD was wroth with Amaziah and sent to him a prophet, and said to him: why seekest thou the gods of the people which were not 16 able to deliver their own people out of thine hands? And as the prophet spake to him, he said to the prophet: have men made thee of the king's counsel? cease, lest thou be beaten. And the prophet ceased and said: I am sure that God hath taken counsel to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and obeyest 17 not my counsel. Then Amaziah king of Juda took advice and sent to Joas the son of Jehoahaz the son of Jehu king of Israel and said: come, and let us see each other. And Joas king 18 of Israel sent again to Amaziah king of Juda saying: a thistle

in Libanon sent to a Cedar tree of Libanon saying: give thy daughter to my son to wife. But there came the wild beasts of Libanon and trod down the thistle. Thou thinkest: see, I have beaten the Edomites, therefore thine heart ariseth to glorify thyself. Now bide at home: what needeth thee to provoke to evil, that thou perish and Juda with thee. But Amaziah rested not: for it came of God, even to deliver them into the hands of their enemies: and that because they had sought the gods of the Edomites. And Joas king of Israel came up: and they saw either other, both he and Amaziah king of Juda at Bethsames in Juda. And Juda was put to the worse before Israel, and fled every man to his tent. And Joas king of Israel took Amaziah king of Juda the son of Jehoas the son of Ohoziah at Bethsames: and brought him to Jerusalem, and tare the wall of Jerusalem from the gate of Ephraim unto the corner gate, four hundredth cubits long. And he took all the gold and silver and all the Jewels that were found in the house of God with Obed Edom and the treasure of the king's house and hostages, and returned to Samaria. And Amaziah the son of Jehoas king of Juda lived after the death of Joas son of Jehoahaz king of Israel fifteen year. The rest of the acts of Amaziah first and last are written in the book of the kings of Juda and Israel. And after that time that Amaziah did turn away from the LORD, they conspired treason against him in Jerusalem: and he fled to Lachis. Whither they sent after him and slew him there, and brought him up with horses and buried him with his fathers in the city of Juda.

Then all the people of Juda took Oziah which was sixteen year old, and made him king in the room of his father Amaziah. And he built Eloth and brought it again to Juda after the king was laid to rest with his fathers. Sixteen year old was Oziah when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty two year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecaliah of Jerusalem. And he did that pleased the LORD, in all points as did his father Amaziah. And he sought God while Zachariah the teacher to see God lived: and as long as he sought the LORD, God made him prosper. And he went to battle against the Philistines and brake down the walls of Geth, and the walls of Jabneh and the walls of Asdod, and built cities about Asdod and among the Philistines. And God help him against the Philistines and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gurbaal, and against the 8 Meunites. And the Ammonites gave tribute to Ozhiah, and his name spread abroad even to Egypt: for he played the man and 9 exceeded. Moreover Ozhiah built towers in Jerusalem over the corner gate, and over the valley gate, and over other corners, 10 and made them strong. And he built towers in the wilderness and digged many wells. For he had much cattle, both in the valley and also in the plain: and plowmen and vinedressers in the 11 mountains and in Carmel, for he loved husbandry. And Ozhiah had an host of fighting men that went out to war in the army and were told and numbered by Jeiel the scribe and Maasiah an officer, under the hand of Hananiah one of the king's lords.

12 And the whole number of the ancient heads of the men of might 13 were two thousand and six hundredth and under the hands of them was the army of the host, three hundredth and seven thousand, and five hundredth that made war with might and 14 strength, to help the king against his enemies. And Ozhiah provided them thorowout all the host, shields, spears, helmets, 15 habergeons, bows and slings for stones. And he made engines in Jerusalem by the craft of artificers to be on the towers and corners, to shoot arrows and great stones with all. And his name spread far abroad, for he was wonderfully holp, until he 16 was become mighty. And in his greatness his heart arose, that he was marred: and transgressed against the LORD his God.
For he went into the temple of the LORD to burn cense upon 17 the altar of incense. But Asariah the priest went in after him 18 with four score priests of the LORD that were bold men. And they stepped to Ozhiah the king and said to him: it pertaineth not to thee Ozhiah to burn cense unto the LORD, but to the priests the children of Aaron that are consecrate for to burn incense. Come out of the sanctuary, for thou hast trespassed, 19 and it shall be no worship to thee before the LORD God. And Ozhiah was wroth and had cense in his hand to offer, and in his indignation against the priest, the leprosy sprang in his forehead before the priests in the house of the LORD, even beside 20 the incense altar. And Asariah the chief priest with all the other priests looked upon him: and behold he was a leper in his forehead, and they vexed him thence. And thereto he was 21 fain to go out, because the LORD had plagued him. And Ozhiah the king continued a leper unto the day of his death and dwelt in an house at liberty: how be it, he was cast out of the house of the LORD. And Joatham his son had the governance of the king's house and judged the people of the land. The rest of the acts of Oziah both first and last, did Isaiah the prophet the son of Amos write. And when Oziah was laid to rest with his fathers, they buried him with his fathers in the field of burial of the kings. For they said: he is a leper. And Joatham his son reigned in his stead. 22 23

Joatham was twenty five year old when he began to reign, XXVII and reigned sixteen year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerusah the daughter of Zadoc. And he did that pleased the LORD in all points as did his father Oziah: save, that he came not to the temple of the LORD, and that the people did yet corrupt themselves. He built the high gate of the temple of the LORD, and on the wall Ophel he built much. Moreover he built cities in the mountains of Juda, and in the wood country he built castles and towers. And he fought with the king of the children of Ammon, and prevailed against them. And the children of Ammon gave him the same year an hundredth talents of silver, and ten thousand quarters of wheat and as much barley. So much also did the children of Ammon give him the second year and the third too. And Joatham became mighty, because he directed his way before the LORD his God. The rest of the acts of Joatham and all his wars and his ways are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Juda. He was twenty five year old when he began to reign, and reigned sixteen year in Jerusalem. And when Joatham was laid to rest with his fathers, they buried him in the city of David: and Ahaz his son reigned in his stead. 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

Ahaz was twenty year old when he began to reign, and XXVIII reigned sixteen year in Jerusalem. And he did not that pleased the LORD, as did his father David: but walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, and made thereto Baals of metal. And he offered cense in the valley of the children of Hennon, and burnt his children in fire after the abomination of the nations which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel. And he offered burnt cense in hillaltars and on mountains and under every green tree. Wherefore the LORD his God delivered him into the hand of the king of the Sirians: which beat him and carried away a great multitude of his captive into Damasco. 2 3 4 5

And thereto he was delivered into the hand of the king of Israel which slew of his a mighty slaughter. For Phakeh the son of Romeliah slew in Juda an hundredth and twenty thousand in one day, and all fighting men: and that because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers. And Zechri a mighty man in mount Ephraim slew Maasiah the king's son and Asrican the lord steward of household, and Elcanah that was next to the king. And the children of Israel took prisoners of their brethren two hundredth thousand wives, sons and daughters, and thereto carried away much spoil of them, and brought it to Samaria. But there was a prophet of the LORD's named Obed which went out to the host which came to Samaria and said to them: see, because the LORD God of your fathers was wroth with Juda, he delivered them into your hands. And ye have slain them with cruelty that reacheth up to heaven. And now ye purpose to keep under the children of Juda and Jerusalem and to make them bondmen and bondwomen. What other thing do ye (ye unhappy) than offend the LORD your God. But now hear me, and deliver the captives again which ye have taken of your brethren: for the great wrath of the LORD is upon you? And certain of the heads of the children of Ephraim, as Asariah the son of Johanan, Barachiah the son of Mesimeloth, Jehezekiah the son of Selum and Amasa the son of Hadalai stood up against them that came from war, and said unto them: ye shall not bring in the captives hither. For where we have offended the LORD already, ye intend to add more to our sins and trespass. For our trespass is great already, and there is fierce wrath upon Israel: And upon that the men of arms left the captives and the spoil before the lords and all the congregation. And there arose certain appointed thereto by name, and took the prisoners and clothed all that were naked among them, of the spoil, and arrayed them and shoed them and gave them to eat and to drink and anointed them, and carried all that were feeble of them upon asses and brought them to Jericho the city of Paulme trees fast by their brethren: and then returned to Samaria again. And at that same time king Ahaz sent unto the kings of Assur to have help. And the Edomites came yet again and slew of Juda and carried away some captives. And the Philistines invaded the cities in the low country and the south of Juda: and took Bethsames, Aialon, Gaderoth and Socoh with the towns longing thereto, and Thimna with the towns of the same, and Gimso with her towns, and dwelt therein. For the LORD brought Juda low, 19 because of Ahaz king of Juda which made Juda naked and transgressed against the LORD. And Thiglah Palneser king 20 of Assur came upon him and besieged him, but prevailed not against him. For Ahaz took away out of the house of the LORD 21 and out of the king's house and out of the Lord's houses, and gave unto the king of Assur, though it help him not. And 22 thereto in the very time of his tribulation did king Ahaz trespass yet more against the LORD. For he offered unto the gods 23 of them of Damasco which beat him and said, because the gods of the Sirians help them, therefore will I offer to them, that they may help me also. But they were his destruction and the destruction of all Israel. And Ahaz gathered together the ves- 24 sels of the house of God and brake them, and shut up the doors of the house of the LORD, and made him altars in all corners of Jerusalem. And in all the cities of Juda city by city he made 25 hillaltars to burn incense unto other gods, and angered the LORD God of his fathers. The rest of his acts and all his ways 26 both first and last are written in the book of the kings of Juda and Israel. And when Ahaz was laid to rest with his fathers, 27 they buried him in the city of Jerusalem: but brought him not unto the sepulchers of the kings of Juda. And Hezekiah his son reigned in his stead.

Hezekiah began to reign when he was twenty five year old, XXIX and reigned twenty nine year in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Abiah the daughter of Zachariah. And he did that 2 was right in the sight of the LORD in all points as did David his father. He opened the doors of the house of the LORD 3 in the first year and first month of his reign, and he repaired them. And he brought in the priests and the Levites and gathered 4 them together into the east street: and said unto them. 5 Hear me ye Levites: purify yourselves and hallow the house of the LORD God of your fathers, and bring out the filthiness out of the holy place. For our fathers have trespassed and done 6 evil favouredly in the eyes of the LORD our God: and have forsaken him, and turned away their faces from the habitation of the LORD and turned to their backs. And beside that they 7 have shut up the doors of the porch and quenched the lamps and have neither burned cense nor offered burntofferings in 8 the holy place unto the God of Israel. Wherefore the wrath of the LORD fell on Juda and Jerusalem: and he scattered them and made them so thin that men hiss at it, even as ye see 9 with your eyes. For see, our fathers were overthrown with the sword and our sons, our daughters and our wives were carried 10 away captive for the same cause. Now have I in my heart to stike a covenant with the LORD God of Israel: that his wrath 11 may cease. Now therefore my sons be not negligent: for the LORD had chosen you to stand before him, and for to minister 12 and burn offerings to him. Then the Levites arose: Nahath the son of Amasai and Joel the son of Asariah being of the children of the Cahathites: and the sons of Merari, Kis the son of Abdi and Asariah the son of Jehaleleel: and of the Gersonites, 13 Joah the son of Simma and Eden the son of Joah: and of the sons of Elizaphan, Simri and Jeiel: and of the sons of Asaph, 14 Zachariah and Mathaniah: and of the sons of Heman, Jehiel and Semei; and of the sons of Jeduthun, Semaiah and Oziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren and purified themselves, and then went at the commandment of the king by the word of the 16 LORD, for to cleanse the house of the LORD. And the priests went into the house of the LORD to cleanse it, and brought out all the uncleanness that they found in the temple of the LORD, and in the court of the house of the LORD. And the Levites took 17 it and carried it out into the brook Cedron. They began the first day of the first month to purify, and came the eighth day to the porch of the LORD: so that they had purged the house of the LORD in eight days in the sixteenth day of the first month 18 they made an end. And then they went into Hezekiah the king and said: we have cleansed all the house of the LORD, and the altar of burntofferings with all his vessels, and the shewbread 19 table with all his apparel: and thereto all the vessels which king Ahaz did cast aside when he reigned and transgressed, them we have repaired and sanctified: and see, they are be-20 fore the altar of the LORD. And Hezekiah the king rose early and gathered the lords of the city and went up to the house of 21 the LORD. And there were brought seven oxen, seven rams, seven lambs and seven kids to be a sinoffering for the kingdom, for the sanctuary and for Juda. And he commanded the priests the sons of Aaron to offer them on the altar of the LORD.

And they slew the oxen: and the priests received the blood and sprinkled it on the altar: and they slew the rams and sprinkled the blood upon the altar: and they slew the lambs and sprinkled the blood upon the altar. And then they brought forth the kids of the sin offering before the king and the congregation which put their hands upon them. And the priests slew them and offered the blood of them upon the altar, to make satisfaction for all Israel: for the king said: that the burnt offering and the sin offering should serve for all Israel. And they set the Levites in the house of the LORD with cymbals, psalteries and harps according to the commandments of David and of Gad the king's sear of visions and of Nathan the prophet. For so was the commandment of the LORD thow the hand of his prophets. And so the Levites stood with the instruments of David, and the priests with trumpets. And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering upon the altar. And when the burnt offering began, the song of the LORD began, and the trumpets with the instruments of David king of Israel. And all the congregation bowed themselves, and the singers sang, and the trumpets blew, and continued until the burnt offering was finished. And when they had made an end of the burnt offering, the king and all that were with him kneeled down and bowed themselves and gave praise and thanks. And Hezekiah the king and the lords bade the Levites to praise the LORD with the words of David and of Asaph the sear of visions. And the Levites praised that they rejoiced again, and the other stooped and bowed themselves. And Hezekiah answered and said: now that ye have filled your hands to the LORD, go to and bring in the sacrifices and thank offerings into the house of the LORD. And the congregation brought in the sacrifices and thank offerings, and all that were willing brought burnt offerings. And the number of the burnt offerings which the congregation brought in was seventy oxen and an hundredth rams and two hundredth lambs: and all for burnt offerings to the LORD. And beside that they dedicated six hundredth oxen and three thousand sheep. But the priests were too few, and were not able to slay all the burnt offerings. Wherefore their brethren the Levites help them till the work was ended, and until the priests were sanctified. For the Levites were purer hearted to sanctify themselves then the priests. And thereto the burntofferings were many with the fat of the peaceofferings and the drinkofferings that belonged to the burntofferings. And so the service pertaining to the house of the LORD 36 went forward. And Hezekiah rejoiced and all the people, that God had made the folk so ready: for the thing was suddenly done.

XXX

And Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Juda: and thereto wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, to offer passover unto the 2 LORD God of Israel. And the king held a counsel with his lords and all the congregation at Jerusalem to keep the feast 3 of passover in the second month. For they could not keep it at that time: for there were not priests enough sanctified, neither was the people gathered together to Jerusalem. And the 5 thing pleased the king and all the congregation. And they decreed that it should be proclaimed thorowout all Israel from Bersabe to Dan, that they should come and hold the feast of the passover unto the LORD God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they 6 had not often done it, as it is written how they should. And the messengers went with letters of the hand of the king and of his lords thorowout all Israel and Juda, at the commandment of the king which said: children of Israel, turn again unto the LORD God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, and so will he turn to the remnant of you that are escaped out of the hands of 7 the king of Assur. And be ye not like your fathers and your brethren which trespassed against the LORD of your fathers, which therefore gave them up that they are wasted as ye see.
8 Wherefore be not stiff necked like unto your fathers, but yield yourselves unto the LORD, and come to his holy place which he hath sanctified for ever, and serve the LORD your God, that his 9 wrath may turn from you. For if ye turn unto the LORD, then your brethren and your children shall find compassion in the presence of them that hold them captive, that they may come again unto this land: for the LORD your God is full of mercy and compassion, and will not turn his face from you, if ye turn 10 again to him. And the posts went from city to city thorowout the land of Ephraim and Manasseh and even unto Zabulon.
11 But they laughed them to scorn and mocked them. Nevertheless yet divers of Asser, Manasseh and of Zabulon meekened 12 themselves and came to Jerusalem. And thereto the hand of God was in Juda, to make them of one accord to do the commandment of the king and the captains, which was according to the word of the LORD. And so there assembled to Jerusalem much people and a mighty great congregation, to hold the feast of sweet bread in the second month. And they arose and put away the altars that were in Jerusalem. And thereto all the incense they did away and cast them into the brook Cedron. And they slew passover the fourteenth day of the second month. And the priests and Levites sanctified themselves for shame, and brought in the burntofferings into the house of the LORD. And they stood in their standing after their manner according to the law of Moses the man of God. And the priests sprinkled the blood receiving it of the hands of the Levites. And because there were many in the congregation that were not sanctified: and therefore did the Levites slay passover for all that were not clean to sanctify them to the LORD. There was very much people out of Ephraim, Manasseh, Isakar and Zabulon that were not clean, and therefore did eat passover otherwise than writing specifieth. But Hezekiah prayed for them and said: the good LORD be merciful to all that set their hearts to seek the God that is the LORD God of their fathers, though they do it not according to the cleanness of the holy place. And the LORD heard Hezekiah and healed the people. And so the children of Israel that were found at Jerusalem, held the feast of sweet bread seven days with great gladness, and the Levites and the priests praised the LORD day by day with loud instruments. And Hezekiah spake heartily unto the Levites that had good understanding of the LORD. And they did eat that feast seven days long and offered peaceofferings and thanked the LORD God of their fathers. And the whole assembly took counsel to keep seven days more: and they held those seven days with gladness. For Hezekiah king of Juda gave for heaveofferings to the congregation a thousand oxen and seven thousand sheep. And the lords gave to the congregation for heaveofferings a thousand oxen and ten thousand sheep. And the priests sanctified themselves, that they were enough. And all the congregation of Juda with the priests and Levites, and all the congregation that came out of Israel and the strangers, both that came out of the land of Israel and that dwelt in Juda, rejoiced: and there was great joy in Jerusalem. For since the time of Salomon the son of David king of 27 Israel it happened not so in Jerusalem. And the priests and the Levites arose and blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer went up unto his holy dwelling place heaven.

And when they had finished all this: then all Israel that were found in cities of Juda, went out and brake the Images and cut down the groves, and all to brake the hillaltars and the other altars thorowout all Juda and Benjamin, Ephraim and Manasseh, until they had made an end of them. And after-2 ward all the children of Israel returned every man to his possession in their own cities. And Hezekiah set the priests and the Levites in their order to wait by course, every man according to his office whether priest or Levite: for the burntofferings and peaceofferings, and to minister and to thank and to pray 3 in the gates of the lodge of the LORD. And the king gave a portion of his substance for burntofferings at morning and even, and for burntofferings on the Sabbath days and new moons and other solempne feasts, according as it is written in the law 4 of the LORD. And he bade the people that dwelt in Jerusalem to give the part of the priests and Levites, that they might be 5 maintained in the law of the LORD. And as soon as the word came abroad the children of Israel brought abundance of first fruits of corn, wine, oil and honey, and of all manner of fruits of the field: and the tithes of all manner of things brought they 6 in plenteously. And the children of Israel and Juda that dwelt in the cities of Juda, they also brought in the tithes of oxen and sheep, and tithes of dedicate things which were dedicated 7 to the LORD their God, and put them on heaps. In the third month they began to lay the heaps and finished them the sev-8 enth. And when Hezekiah and the lords came and saw the 9 heaps, they blessed the LORD and his people Israel. And Hezekiah questioned with the priests and the Levites concerning 10 the heaps. And Azariah the chief priest of the house of Zadock answered him and said since they began to bring the heaveof-ferings into the house of the LORD, we have eaten and had enough, and yet left abundance, for the LORD hath blessed 11 his people and thereof is this heap left. And Hezekiah bade dress up the store houses about the house of the LORD. And 12 so they did, and carried in the heaveofferings and the tithes and the dedicate gifts even of fidelity. Over which Chonaniah the Levite had the rule with Semei his brother next to him. And Jehiel, Asariah, Nahath, Asael, Jerimoth, Josabad, Eliel, 13 Jesmachiah, Mahath and Bananiah were overseers ordained by Chonaniah and Semei his brother, at the appointment of Hezekiah the king, and Asariah the ruler of the house of God. And Chore the son of Jemma the Levite porter of the East door 14 had the oversight of the freewill offerings of God, to give heave-offerings unto the LORD, and was over things most holy. And 15 under him were Eden, Miniamin, Jesua, Semeiah, Amariah and Secheniah, in the cities of the priests of their fidelity, to give to their brethren their portions, as well to the small as to the great. And to the males also that were reckoned from 16 three years and above among all that went into the house of the LORD day by day, to do service and to wait by course. And 17 to the priests that were reckoned in the households of their fathers from twenty year and above, to wait when their courses came. And to them that were reckoned thorowout all their 18 babes, wives, sons and daughters thorowout all the congregation. For to the fidelity of them did men commit their sanctified gifts. And thereto among the children of Aaron the priests 19 were men named by name in the fields of the suburbs of all their cities, city by city, for to give portions to all the males of the priests and to all that were reckoned among the Levites. And of this manner did Hezekiah thorowout all Juda, and did 20 that was good, right and truth, before the LORD his God. And 21 in all the works that he began in the service of the house of God, to seek his God after the law and commandment, that did he with all his heart, and prospered.

After these deeds and truth, Sennaherib king of Assur came XXXII and entered into Juda and pitched against the strong cities and thought to draw them to him. And when Hezekiah saw 2 that Sennaherib was come and that he was purposed to fight against Jerusalem: he took counsel with his captains and men 3 of might, to stop the water of the fountains that were without the city: and they were content to help him. And so there 4 gathered much people together and stopped all the wells and the brook that ran thorow the midst of the land, intending that the kings of Assur should not find much water when they came? And he went to lustily and built up the wall where 5 it was broken, and made towers above upon, and yet another wall without, and repaired Mello the city of David, and made 6 many darts and shields. And he set Captains of war over the people and gathered them together unto the large street of the 7 gate of the city and spake gently to them saying: Pluck up your hearts and be strong: Be not afraid or in any wise discouraged for dread of the king of Assur, and of the great multitude that is with him: for there is one greater with us than with 8 him. With him is an arm of flesh: But with us is the LORD our God for to help us and to fight our battles. And the people were well couraged with the words of Hezekiah king of Juda.

9 After that Sennaherib king of Assur sent of his servants to Jerusalem (he himself lying before Lachis, and all his kingdom with him) unto Hezekiah king of Juda and unto all Juda that 10 were at Jerusalem saying: Thus sayeth Sennaherib king of Assur: wherein do ye trust, O ye that are besieged in Jerusalem? Hezekiah deceiveth you, to deliver you to death, hunger and thirst, saying: the LORD our God shall rid us out of the 11 hand of the king of Assur. Is it not that Hezekiah that put down his hillaltars and his other altars, and commanded Juda and Jerusalem saying: before one altar ye shall bow yourselves 12 and upon that offer also. Moreover have ye not heard what I and my fathers have done unto the people of all lands? were the gods of the people of other lands able to save their lands 13 out of my hand? which of all the Gods of those nations that my fathers destroyed was it, that could deliver his people out of mine hand, that your God should be able to deliver you out 14 of mine hand? Wherefore now let not Hezekiah deceive you either persuade you of this fashion, nor yet believe him. For as no God among so many nations and kingdoms, was able to rid his people out of mine hand and the hands of my fathers: even 15 so much less shall your God keep you out of mine hand. And yet more did his servants speak against the LORD God and 16 against his servant Hezekiah. And thereto he wrote a letter to rail on the LORD God of Israel and spake therein saying: as the gods of the nations* of other lands have not delivered their people out of mine hand, no more shall the God of He-17 zekiah deliver his people out of mine hand. And they cried with a loud voice in the Jews' speech unto the people of Jeru-saalem that were on the walls, to fear them and to dismay them, that they might have taken the city. And they spake against 19 the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the nations of the earth, which are the work of the hands of men. But Hezekiah 20 the king and the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz prayed concerning the thing and cried up to heaven. And the LORD sent 21 an angel and destroyed all the men of war and the lords and captains of the host of the king of Assur, that he turned his face with shame towards his own land. And when he was come into the house of his God, he was there overthrown with the sword even by them that issued out of his bowels. And so the 22 LORD saved Hezekiah and the inhabiters at Jerusalem out of the hands of Sennaherib king of Assur and of all other, and maintained them on all sides. In so much that many brought 23 presents unto the LORD to Jerusalem and precious gifts to Hezekiah king of Juda: so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth. In those days Hezekiah was sick 24 unto the death and besought the LORD: which answered him and shewed him a wonderful miracle: But Hezekiah did not 25 according to the courtesy shewed him, for his heart arose: and therefore came there wrath upon him and upon Juda and Jerusalem. Notwithstanding Hezekiah meekened himself for the 26 arising of his heart, both he and the inhabiters of Jerusalem.

Wherefore the wrath of the LORD fell not upon them in the days of Hezekiah. And Hezekiah had exceeding much riches 27 and honour. And he gathered him treasure of silver, gold, precious stones, spices, shields and of all manner pleasant Jewels: and made store houses for the fruits of corn, wine and oil: 28 and stables for all manner of beasts, and folds for sheep. And 29 he made him towns because he had cattle of sheep and oxen great abundance. For God had given him substance exceeding much. And the said Hezekiah stopped the upper water 30 springs of Eihon and brought them down to the West side of the city of David. And Hezekiah prospered in all his works.
But when the ambassadors of the lords of Babilon were sent 31 to him to enquire of the wonder that chanced in the land, God left him: to tempt him that all that was in his heart might be known. The rest of the deeds of Hezekiah and his goodness 32 are written in the vision of Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz in the book of the kings of Juda and Israel. And then He- 33 zekiah laid him to rest with his fathers, and they buried him in the highest sepulchre of the sons of David: and Juda and the inhabiters of Jerusalem did him worship at his death. And Manasseh his son reigned in his stead.

XXXIII

Manasseh was twelve year old when he was made king, and 2 reigned fifty five year in Jerusalem. And he did wickedly in the sight of the LORD, like unto the abominations of the heathen which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel.
 3 For he went to and built again the hillaltars which Hezekiah his father had broken down. And he reared up altars unto Baals and made groves and bowed himself unto all the host 4 of heaven and served them. And he built altars in the house of the LORD: of which the LORD hath said in Jerusalem shall 5 my name be for ever. And he made altars unto all the host 6 of heaven in the two courts of the house of the LORD. And he burnt his children in fire in the valley of the sons of Hennon. And he observed dismal days and occupied witchcraft and sorcery, and maintained workers with spirits and sears of fortunes: and wrought much evil in the sight of the LORD, to 7 anger him withal. And he put the carved Image of an Idol which he had made, in the house of God.* Of which house God said to David and to Salomon his son, in this house here in Jerusalem which I have chosen out of all the tribes, I will put my 8 name for ever, and no more bring the seat of Israel from the land which I have ordained for your fathers. If so be they shall be diligent to do all I have commanded by Moses in all the law 9 ordinances and manners. But Manasseh made Juda and the inhabiters of Jerusalem to err and to do worse than the heathen which the LORD destroyed before the children of Israel.
 10 And when the LORD spake to Manasseh and to his people, they 11 attended not to him. Wherefore the LORD brought upon them the Captains of the host of the king of Assur, which took Manasseh in an hold and bound him with chains and carried him 12 to Babylon. And when he was in tribulation he besought the LORD his God, and humbled himself exceedingly before the 13 God of his fathers, and made intercession to him: and he was entreated of him and heard his prayer and brought him again to Jerusalem into his kingdom. And then Manasseh knew how 14 that the LORD was very God. After that he built a wall without the city of David on the west side of Gihon in the brook and so forth to fish gate and round about Ophel and brought it up of a very great height, and put captains of war in all the strong cities of Juda. And he took away strange gods and the Idol out of the house of GOD, and all the altars that he had built in the mount of the house of GOD and in Jerusalem, and cast them out of the city. And he made an altar unto the LORD and sacrificed thereon peaceofferings and thankofferings, and charged Juda to serve the LORD God of Israel. Nevertheless the people did offer still in the hillaltars, how be it unto the LORD their God only. The rest of the acts of Manasseh and his prayer unto his God, and the words of the sears of visions that spake to him in the name of the LORD God of Israel, are written among the deeds of the kings of Israel. And his prayer and how he was heard, and all his sin and trespass, and the places where he made hillaltars and set up groves and carved Images before he was meekened, are written among the deeds of the sears of visions. And when Manasseh was laid to rest with his fathers, they buried him in his own house: and Amon his son reigned in his room. Amon was twenty two years old, when he began to reign, and reigned two year in Jerusalem. And he did that displeased the LORD like unto Manasseh his father, for Amon sacrificed to all the carved Images which Manasseh his father made, and served them, and meekened not himself before the LORD as Manasseh his father had meekened himself: But Amon trespassed greatly. Wherefore his own servants conspired against him and slew him in his own house. And the people of the land slew all that had conspired against king Amon. And thereto the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his room.

Josiah was made king when he was eight years old, and he reigned in Jerusalem thirty one year. And he did that pleased the LORD, and walked in the ways of David his father bowing neither to the right hand or to the left. Insomuch that the eighth years of his reign, when he was yet a lad, he began to seek after the God of David his father. And in the twelfth year he began to purge Juda and Jerusalem of hillaltars, groves, carved Images, and Images of metal: so that they brake down the altars of Baals even in his presence, and the Idols that were upon them, he caused to be destroyed. And the groves, carved Images, and Images of metal he brake and made dust of them, and strawed it upon the graves of them that had offered to them. And he burnt the bones of the priests upon the altars, and cleansed Juda and Jerusalem. And even so did he in the cities of Manasse, Ephraim, Simeon and of Nephthali thereto. And in the wildernesses of them round about he plucked asunder the altars and the groves and did beat them and stamp them to powder, and beat down the idols thorowout all the land of Israel: and then returned to Jerusalem again. And in the eighteenth year of his reign when he had purged the land and the temple, he sent Saphan the son of Azaliah, and Maasiah the governor of the city and Joah the son of Joahaz the recorder, to repair the house of the LORD his God. And when they came to Helkiah the high priest, men delivered them the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites that kept the entries had gathered of the hands of Manasse and Ephraim and of all that yet remained in Israel and of all Juda and Benjamin and of the inhabitants of Jerusalem. And they put it in the hands of the workmen that had the oversight of the house of the LORD. which gave it to the labourers that wrought on the house of the LORD, to repair and mend it, and to masons and carpenters to buy hewed stone and timber for to make couples and beams for the houses which the kings of Juda had destroyed: And the men wrought in the work of fidelity. And the overseers of them to courage them forward, were Jahath and Obadiah Levites of the children of Merari: and Sechariah and Mesulam of the children of the Cahathites, and as many other of the Levites as could skill of instruments of Music. And over the bearers of burthens and over all that wrought, in whatsoever workmanship it were, wete there scribes, officers and porters of the Levites. And as they brought out the money that was brought into the house, Helkiah the priest found the book of the law of the LORD given by Moses. And Helkiah answered and said to Saphan the scribe: I have found the book of the law in the house of the LORD, and gave the book to Saphan. And Saphan carried the book to the king, and brought the king word again, saying: all that was committed to thy servants, that do they. And they have poured out the money that was found in the house of the LORD and have delivered into the hands of the overseers of the workmen. And then Saphan the scribe shewed the king, 18 saying: Helkiah the priest hath given me a book, and he read it before the king. And when the king had heard the words 19 of the law, he tare his clothes, and commanded Helkiah and 20 Ahikam the son of Saphan and Abadon the son of Micah and the said Saphan the scribe and Asaia a servant of the king's, saying: go and enquire of the LORD for me and for them that 21 are left in Israel and Juda concerning the words of the book that is found. For great is the wrath of the LORD that is fallen upon us, because our fathers kept not the word of the LORD, to do after all that is written in this book. And Helkiah with 22 them that pertained to the king went to Holdah a prophetess wife of Selum the son of Thekohath the son of Masarah keeper of the wardrobe (which prophetess dwelt in Jerusalem in the second ward) and they communed so with her. And she 23 said unto them: thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel, tell ye the man that sent you to me. Even thus sayeth the LORD: 24 see, I will bring evil upon this place and upon the inhabiters thereof, even all the curses that are written in the book which they have read before the king of Juda, because they have for- 25 saken me and have offered unto other gods to anger me with all manner works of their hands, therefore is my wrath set on fire against this place and shall not be quenched. And as for the 26 king of Juda which sent you to enquire of the LORD, so shall ye say unto him: thus sayeth the LORD God of Israel concerning the words which thou hast heard. Because thine heart 27 did melt and thou didst meek thyself before God, when thou heardest his words against this place and against the inhabiters thereof: and humblest thyself before me, and tarest thy clothes and weepest before me, that have I heard also sayeth the LORD. Behold I will take thee to thy fathers and thou 28 shalt be put in thy grave in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the mischief that I will bring upon this place and upon the inhabiters of the same; And they brought the king word again.

Then the king sent and gathered together all the elders of Juda 29 and Jerusalem. And the king went up into the house of the LORD, and all the men of Juda and the inhabiters of Jerusa- 30 lem and the Priests and Levites and all the people great and small: and read all the words of the book of the covenant that was found in the house of the LORD. And the king stood at 31 his standing and made a covenant before the LORD, to follow the LORD and to keep his commandments, his witnesses and his statutes with all his heart and with all his soul and to fulfil 32 the words of the appointment written in the said book. And he made to come forth all that were found in Jerusalem and Benjamin, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem promised to keep the 33 covenant of the God which was the God of their fathers. And Josiah put away all manner of abominations out of all lands that pertained to the children of Israel, and brought all that were found in Israel, to serve the LORD their God. And they turned not aside from after the LORD God of their fathers as long as he lived.

XXXV And Josiah held the feast of passover unto the LORD in Jerusalem, and they slew passover in the fourteenth day of 2 the first month. And he set the priests in their offices and 3 aided them in the service of the house of the LORD. And he said to the Levites that taught thoroughout all Israel and were sanctified unto the LORD: put the holy ark in the house which Salomon the son of David king of Israel did build, ye need not to bear it upon your shoulders. Wherefore now serve 4 the LORD your God and his people Israel. And prepare yourselves by your ancient households and companies, according to the writing of David king of Israel, and the writing of Salomon his son. And stand in the holy place according to the divisions of the ancient households of your brethren the children of the people, and after the division of the ancient households of the Levites, and kill passover, sanctify and prepare your brethren that they may do according to the word of the 7 LORD by the hand of Moses. And Josiah gave to the common people in lambs and kids, for passoverofferings only, unto all that were present thirty thousand by tale, and three thousand 8 oxen, even of the king's substance. And his lords gave willingly both unto the people and also unto the priests and unto the Levites. Helkiah, Zachariah and Jehiel, rulers of the house of God, gave unto the priests for passoverofferings two thousand and six hundredth lambs and kids, and three hundredth 9 oxen. And Conaniah with Semeiah and Nathaneel his brethren, and Hasabiah and Jaiel and Josabad lords of the Levites, gave unto the Levites five thousand passover offerings, and five hundredth oxen. And so the service went forward: and the priests stood in their places, and the Levites in their companies at the king's commandment. And they slew passover: and the priests sprinkled the blood receiving it of the Levites, and the Levites stripped the beasts. And they fetched away the burntofferings, to give them unto the common people as they were divided by ancient houses, for to offer unto the LORD, like as it is written in the book of Moses. And so did they with the oxen too. And they dressed the passover with fire as the manner was. But the other hallowed dedicate beasts they sod in pots, cauldrons and pans and divided them quickly among all the common people. And afterward they made ready for themselves and for the priests and for the children of Aaron, which were busied in offering of burntofferings and the fat until night. And therefore the Levites prepared for themselves and for the priests the sons of Aaron. And the singers the children of Asaph stood in their standing according to the commandment of David and Asaph, Heman and Iduthun the king's sear of visions: and the porters waited at every gate, and might not depart from their service: But their brethren the Levites prepared for them. And so all the service of the LORD went forward the said day, in offering passover of burntofferings upon the altar of the LORD, according to the commandment of king Josiah. And so the children of Israel that could be found, offered passover the same time and kept the feast of sweet bread seven days. And there was no passover like to that, kept in Israel from the time of Samuel the prophet: neither did any of the kings of Israel hold such a passover feast as did Josiah and the priests and Levites and all Juda, and as much of Israel as could be had, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. And this passover was holden in the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah. After all this, when Josiah had finished the temple, Necho king of Egypt came up to fight against Carcamis upon Euphrates, and Josiah went out against him. And the other sent messengers to him saying: what have I to do with thee thou king of Juda? I came not against thee now at this time, but against an house with whom I have war, and God bade me haste. Leave off therefore and meddle not with God which is with me, lest he destroy thee. Nevertheless Josiah turned not his face from him, but made him ready to fight with him, and hearkened not unto the words of Necho out of the mouth of God. And when he was come to fight in the valley of 23 Magedo, the shooters shot against the king Josiah. And the king said to his servants: carry me away for I am sore hurt.

24 And his servants had him out of the chariot and put him in another, and brought him to Jerusalem where he died and was buried in the sepulchre of his fathers. And all Juda and Je-25 rusalem mourned for Josiah. And Jeremiah lamented Josiah, and all singing men and singing women speak of Josiah to this day, and made it an ordinance in Israel: and they be written in 26 lamentations. The rest of the acts of Josiah and his goodness 27 in following the writing of the law, and his deeds first and last are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Juda.

And the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah 2 and made him king for his father in Jerusalem. And Jehoah-haz was twenty three year old when he began to reign, and he 3 reigned three months in Jerusalem. For the king of Egypt put him down at Jerusalem and merced the land in an hundredth 4 talents of silver and a talent of gold. And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king upon Juda and Jerusalem, and turned his name unto Jehoiakim, but Jehoahaz his brother Ne-5 cho took and carried him to Egypt. And Jehoakim was twenty five year old when he began to reign, and he reigned an eleven year in Jerusalem: and he did that displeased the LORD his 6 God. Against him came Nabuchodonozor king of Babylon and 7 bound him in fetters to carry him to Babylon. Thereto the king Nabuchodonozor carried off the vessels of the house of the 8 LORD to Babylon and put them in his temple at Babylon. The rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, and his Abominations, and that was laid to his charge, are written in the book of the kings of Is-9 rael: and Jehoiacin his son reigned in his stead. Jehoiacin was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem: and did that displeased 10 the LORD. And when the year was out, king Nabuchodonozor sent and fetched him to Babylon with the goodly vessels of the house of the LORD, and made Zedekiah his brother king 11 over Juda and Jerusalem. And Zedekiah was twenty one year old when he began to reign, and reigned a eleven year in Je-12 rusalem. And he did that displeased the LORD his God, and humbled not himself before Jeremiah the prophet at the mouth 13 of the LORD. And thereto he rebelled against Nabuchodonozor which had received an oath of him by God, and was too stiff necked and too hard hearted to turn unto the LORD God of Israel. Thereto all the rulers of the priests with the peo- 14 ple trespassed apace after all manner of abominations of the heathen and polluted the house of the LORD which he had hallowed in Jerusalem. And the LORD God of their fathers sent 15 to them by his messengers, sending them betimes: for he had compassion on his people and on his dwelling place. But they 16 mocked the messengers of God and despised their words and misused his prophets, until the wrath of the LORD so arose against his people that it was past remedy. And so he brought 17 upon them the king of Caldeye and slew their young men with the sword in their holy temple, and neither spared young man nor maiden, neither old man, neither so much as him that stooped for age: But gave all into his hand. And all the vessels 18 of the house of God both great and small, and the treasures of the house of GOD, and the treasures of the king and his lords he carried to Babylon every whit. And they burnt the house 19 of God and brake down the walls of Jerusalem and burnt all the palaces thereof with fire with all the goodly stuff thereof, and marred it. And he carried away them that had escaped 20 the sword, to Babylon, where they were servants to him and his children, until the kingdom of Persia began to rule, to ful- 21 fil the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah, until the land had her pleasure of her Sabbaths: for as long as she lay desolate, she kept Sabbath until she had fulfilled seventy year.

 And the first year of Cyrus king of Persia to finish the word 22 of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he made a proclamation thorowout all this kingdom, and thereto to set it up in writing, saying: Thus sayeth Cyrus king of Persia, all the kingdoms 23 of the earth hath the LORD God of heaven given me, which hath charged me to build him an house in Jerusalem that is in the land of Juda. Wherefore whosoever is among you of all his people, the LORD his God be with him, and let him go up.

Edral.

- I  n the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, (that the word of the LORD spoken by the mouth of Jeremy might be fulfilled) the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, that he caused it to be proclaimed thorowout
- 2 all his empire, yea and by writing also, saying: Thus sayeth Cyrus the king of Persia: The LORD God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the land and hath commanded me to
- 3 build him an house at Jerusalem in Judah. Whosoever now among you is of his people, the LORD his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem in Judah, and build the house of the LORD God of Israel. He is the God that is at Jerusalem.
- 4 And whosoever remaineth yet in any manner of place (where he is a stranger) let the men of his place help him with silver and gold, with good and cattle, beside that which they willingly offer,* for the house of God at Jerusalem. Then gat up
- 5 the principal* fathers of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites, and all they whose spirit God had raised to
- 6 go up, and to build the house of the LORD at Jerusalem. And all they that were about them, strengthened their hand with vessels of silver and gold, with goods and cattle, and jewels,
- 7 beside that which they gave of their own free will. And king Cyrus brought forth of the vessels of the house of the LORD, which Nabuchodonozar had taken out of Jerusalem, and put
- 8 in the house of his God. But Cyrus the king of Persia brought forth by Mithridates the treasurer, and numbered them unto
- 9 Sesbazar the prince of Judah. And this is the number of them: thirty basins of gold, and a thousand basins of silver, nine and
- 10 twenty knives, thirty cups of gold, and of other silver cups
- 11 four hundredth and ten, and of other vessels a thousand. So that all the vessels both of gold and silver, were five thousand and four hundredth. Sesbazar brought them all up, with them that came up out of the captivity of Babylon unto Jerusalem.
- II These are the children of the land that went up out of the captivity, (whom Nabuchodonozor the king of Babylon had carried away unto Babylon) and came again unto Jerusalem and

Nattill, the children of Pochereth of Zebaim, the children of 58 Ami. All the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon's ser-59 And these went up also, Thelmelah, Tel Harsa, Cherub, Addon, and Emer: but they could not shew their father's house, nor 60 their seed, whether they were of Israel. The children of Dala-iah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Necoda, six hun-

The children of Hobaiah, the children of Hacos, the children of Berzilai, which took one of the daughters of Berzilai the Gilea-62 dite to wife, and was counted among the same names: These sought the register of their birth, and found none, therefore 63 were they put from the priesthood. And Hathirsatha said unto them, that they should not eat of the most holy, till there 64 rose up a priest with the light and perfectness. The whole congregation as one man, was two and forty thousand, three hundredth and threescore; Beside their servants and maidens, of whom there were seven thousand, three hundredth and seven and thirty. And they had two hundredth singing men and women, seven hundredth and six and thirty horses, two hundredth and five and forty Mules, four hundredth and five and thirty Camels, and six thousand, seven hundredth and twenty Asses. And certain of the chief fathers, when they came to the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, they offered willingly* unto the house of God, that it should be set in his place, and gave after their ability unto the treasure of the work, one and three score thousand drams,* and five thousand pound of silver, and an hundredth priests' garments. So the priests and the Levites, and certain of the people, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

And when the seventh month came, and the children of Israel were now in their cities, the people came together even as one man, unto Jerusalem. And there stood up Jesua the son of Josedec, and his brethren the priests, and Zorobabel the son of Salathiel and his brethren, and builded the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the law of Moses the man of God. And the altar set they upon his sockets (for there was a fearfulness among them because of the nations and the lands) and offered burnt offerings thereon unto the LORD, in the morning and at evening. And held the feast of tabernacles as it is written, and offered burnt sacrifices daily in order, according to the custom, day by day.* Afterward the daily burnt offering also, and of the new Moons and of all the feast days of the LORD that were hallowed, and all manner of free will offerings, which they did of their own freewill* unto the LORD. Upon the first day of the seventh month began they to offer burnt sacrifices unto the LORD. But the foundation of the temple of the LORD was not yet laid. Nevertheless they gave money unto the masons and the carpenters, and meat and drink and oil unto them of Zidon and of Tyre, to bring Cedar timber from Libanus by sea* unto Joppa, according to the commandment of Cyrus the king of Persia. In the second year of their coming unto the house of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, began Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and Jeshua the son of Josadec, and the remnant of their brethren the priests and the Levites, and all they that were come out of the captivity unto Jerusalem, and appointed the Levites from twenty year old and above, to see that the work of the house 9 of the LORD went forward. And Jesua stood with his sons and his brethren, and Cadmiel with his sons and the children of Judah, to further the workmen of the house of God, namely the children of Henadad with their children and their brethren 10 the Levites. And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, the priests stood in their array, with trumpets. And the Levites the children of Asaph with cymbals, to praise the LORD, after the manner* of David king of 11 Israel. And they sang together, giving praise and thanks unto the LORD, because he is gracious, and because his mercy endureth for ever upon Israel. And all the people shouted loud in praising the LORD, because the foundation of the house of 12 the LORD was laid. Many also of the old priests and Levites and ancient fathers, which had seen the first house: when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with 13 a loud voice. And many shouted with joy,* so that the noise gave a great sound, in so much that the people could not know the joyful sound for the noise of the weeping among* the people: for the people shouted with a loud cry, so that the noise was heard afar off.

IV But when the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard, that the children of the captivity builded the temple unto the 2 LORD God of Israel, they came to Zorobabel and to the principal fathers, and said unto them: We will build with you: for we seek the Lord your God like as ye do. And we have done sacrifice unto him, since the time that Asor Hadon the king of 3 Assur brought us up hither. But Zorobabel and Jesua and the other ancient fathers of Israel answered them: It belongeth not to you, but to us* to build the house unto our God: for* we ourselves will build alone unto the LORD our God of Israel, 4 as Cyrus the king of Persia hath commanded us. Then the folk of the land hindered the people of Judah, and made them afraid to build, and hired counsellors* against them and hindered their device, as long as Cyrus the king of Persia lived, 5 until the reign of Darius king of Persia. But when Ahasuerus 6 was king, in the beginning of his reign wrote they unto him a complaint against them of Judah and Jerusalem. And in the 7 time of Arthaxerses, wrote Bisellam, Mithridates, Tabeel, and the other of their counsel* unto Arthaxerses the king of Persia. But the scripture of the letter was written in the Syrians speach, and was interpreted in the language of the Syrians.

 Rehum the chancellor, and Samsai the scribe, wrote this let- 8 ter against Jerusalem to Arthaxerses the king. We Rehum 9 the chancellor, and Samsai the scribe, and other of the council of Dina, of Axphasath, of Tarplat, of Persia, of Arach, of Ba-bilon, of Susan, of Deha, and of Elam, and other of the people, 10 whom the great and noble Asenaphar brought over, and set in the cities of Samaria, and other on this side the water, and in Ceneeth. And this is the sum of the letter that they sent unto 11 king Arthaxerses. Thy servants the men on this side the water, and in Ceneeth. Be it known unto the king, that the Jews* 12 are come up from thee to us unto Jerusalem a city seditious and froward, and build the same, and lay the foundation of the walls thereof, and repair them.* Be it known now therefore 13 unto the king, that if this city be builded and the walls made up again, then shall not they pay tribute, toll, and yearly custom, and even unto the kings shall this hurt redound.* But 14 now that we all are thereby which destroyed the temple, we would no longer see the king's dishonour. Therefore sent we out, and caused the king to be certified thereof: That it may 15 be sought in the Chronicles of thy progenitors, and so shalt thou find in the same Chronicles, and perceive, that this city is seditious and noisome unto kings and lands, and that they cause others also to rebel of the old, and for the same cause was this city destroyed. Therefore do we certify the king, that 16 if this city be builded, and the walls thereof made up, thou shalt keep nothing on this side the water by the reason of it.
 Then sent the king an answer unto Rehum the chancellor, and 17 to Samsai the scribe, and to the other of their counsel that dwelt in Samaria, and unto other beyond the water. Peace and salutation. The letter which ye sent unto us, hath been openly read before me, and I have commanded to make search: and it is found, that this city of old, hath made insurrection against kings, and how the uproar and rebellion hath been committed therein. There have been mighty kings also at Jerusalem which have reigned over all that is beyond the water, and toll, tribute and a yearly custom was given unto them. Do ye now after this commandment, forbid the same men, that the city be not builded, till I have given commandment. Take heed now that ye be not negligent here in, lest the king have harm there thorow. Now when king Arthaxerses' letter was read before Rehum the chancellor and Samsai the scribe and their counsel,* they went up in all the haste to Jerusalem unto the Jews, and forbade them with violence and power.* Then ceased the work of the house of God at Jerusalem, and continued so unto the second year of Darius king of Persia.

V The Prophets, Aggeus, and Zachary the son of Ado, prophesied unto the Jews that were in Judah and Jerusalem, in the name of the God of Israel. Then gat up Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and Jesua the son of Josedec, and began to build the house of God at Jerusalem, and with them the Prophets of God which helped* them. At the same time came to them Thathanai, the captain* on this side the water, and Starbuzanai,* and their counselors, and said thus unto them: Who hath commanded you to build this house, and to make up the walls thereof? Then told we them the names of the men, that made this building. But the eye of their God came upon the Elders of the Jews, that they could not cause them to cease, till the matter was brought before Darius, and till they had answered by letters thereunto.* This is the copy* of the letter that Thathanai the captain* on this side the water, and Starbuzanai,* and their counselors of Apharsach, (which were on this side the water) sent unto king Darius. And this is the intent of the words that they sent unto him: Unto Darius the king, all peace. Be it known unto the king, that we 8 came into Jewry to the house of the great God, which is builded with rough* stone, and beams* are laid in the walls, and the work goeth fast forth, and prospereth in their hands. We 9 asked therefore* the Elders and said unto them: Who hath commanded you to build this house, and to make up the walls thereof? We asked their names also, that we might certify 10 thee, and have written the names of the men that were their rulers. But they answered us with these words, and said: We 11 are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and build the house that was builded many years ago, which a great king of Israel builded and set up. And after our forefathers 12 had* provoked the God of heaven unto wrath, he gave them over into the hand of Nabuchodonozor the king of Babylon, the Chaldean, which brake down this house, and carried the people away unto Babylon. But* in the first year of Cyrus the 13 king of Babylon, the same king Cyrus commanded to build this house of God, for the vessels of gold and silver in the house of 14 God, which Nabuchodonozor took out of the temple at Jerusalem, and brought them into the temple at Babilon, those did Cyrus the king take out of the temple of Babylon, and delivered them unto Sasbazar by name, whom he made captain,* and said unto him. Take these vessels, go thy way, and bring 15 them unto the temple at Jerusalem, and let the house of God be builded in his place. Then came the same Sasbazar and 16 laid the foundation of the house of God at Jerusalem. Since that time hath it been in building, and yet is it not finished. If 17 it please the king now, let there be search made in the king's treasure house, which is at Babylon, whether it have been king Cyrus commandment, that the house of God at Jerusalem should be builded: and send us the king's mind concerning the same.

Then commanded king Darius, that search should be made VI in the library of the king's treasure house which lay at Ba-bilon. So at Egbathanis in a castell there lieth in the land of 2 the Meedes, there was found a book, and in it was there an act written after this manner: In the first year of king Cyrus, 3 commanded the same king Cyrus to build the house of God at Jerusalem, in the place where the sacrifice is made, and to lay the foundation to bear threescore cubits height, threescore cubits breadth, and three walls of rough* stones, and one wall of timber, and the expenses shall be given of the king's house. And the gold and silver vessel of the house of God, (which Nabuchodonozor took out of the temple at Jerusalem, and brought unto Babilon) shall be restored again, that they may be brought unto the temple at Jerusalem to their place into the house of God. Get you far from them therefore, thou Thathanai, captain* beyond the water, and Stharbuzzani,* and your counselors, which are beyond the water, get ye away from them. Let them work in the house of God, that the captain* of the Jews and their Elders may build the house of God in his place. I have commanded also, what shall be done to the Elders of Juda for the building of the house of God, that there shall diligently be taken of the king's goods, even of the rents beyond the water, and given unto the men, and that they be not hindered. And if they have need of calves, lambs, or goats, for the burnt offering unto the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine and oil, after the custom of the priests at Jerusalem, there shall be given them daily as is according: and see that this be done without fault,* that they may offer sweet saviours unto the God of heaven, and pray for the king's life, and for his children. This commandment have I given. And what man soever he be that altereth these words, there shall a beam be taken from his house, and set up, and he shall be hanged thereon, and his house shall be prised for the deed. But the God that dwelleth in heaven, destroy all kings and people, that put to their hand to alter and to break down the house of God at Jerusalem. I Darius have commanded, that this be diligently done. Then Thathanai the captain* beyond the water, and Stharbuzzanai* with their counselors (to whom king Darius the king had sent) did their diligence. And the Elders of the Jews builded, and they prospered thorow the prophesying* of Aggeus the prophet and Zachary the son of Ado: and they builded, and set up the work, according to the commandment of the God of Israel, and after the commandment of Cyrus, Darius, and Arthaxerses kings of Persia. And they performed the house unto the third day of the month Adar, that was in the sixth year of the reign of king Darius. And the children of Israel, the priests, the Levites, and the other children of the captivity held the dedication of the house of God with joy, and offered at the dedication of the house of God, an hundredth calves, two hundredth lambs, four hundredth goats: and for the sinoffering for all Israel, twelve he goats, according to the number of the tribes of Israel, and set the priests in their courses, and the Levites in their offices to minister unto God which is at Jerusalem as it is written in the book of Moses. And the children of the captivity held Passover upon the fourteenth day of the first month: for the priests and Levites had purified themselves, so that they were all clean as one man, and killed Passover for all the children of the captivity, and for their brethren the priests, and for themselves. And the children of Israel which were come again out of captivity, and all such as had separated themselves unto them from the filthiness of the Heathen in the land, to seek the LORD God of Israel, ate and held the feast of unleavened bread seven days with joy: for the LORD had made them glad, and turned the heart of the king of Assur unto them, so that their hands were strengthened in the work of the house of God, which is the God of Israel.

After these acts in the reign of Arthaxerses king of Persia, VII there went up from Babilon, Esdras the son of Saraiah, the son of Asariah, the son of Helkiah, the son of Sellum, the son of Zadoc, the son of Ahitob, the son of Amariah, the son of Asariah, the son of Maraioth, the son of Zariaiah, the son of Uzi, the son of Boki, the son of Abisua, the son of Phinehes, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest: This Esdras* was a quick scribe in the law of Moses, which the LORD God of Israel did give. And the king gave him all that he required, according to the hand of the LORD his God upon him. And there went up certain of the children of Israel, and of the priests, and of the Levites, of the singers, of the porters, and of the Nethinims unto Jerusalem, in the seventh year of king Arthaxerses. And they came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, that is the seventh year of the king. For upon the first day of the first month devised he to go up from Babilon: and on the first day of the fifth month came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of God upon him. For Esdras prepared his heart to seek the law of the LORD, and to do it, and to teach the precept and judgement in Israel. And this is the copy* of the letter, that king Arthaxerses gave unto Esdras the priest, the scribe, which was a teacher in the words of the LORD and of his statutes over Israel. Unto Esdras the priest and scribe in the law of the God of heaven, peace and salutation. I have commanded, that all they of the people of Israel, and of the priests and Levites in my realm, which are minded of their own good will to go up to Jerusalem, that they go with thee, being sent of the king and of the seven lords of the counsel, to visit Judah and Jerusalem, according to the law of God, which is in thy hand: And that thou shouldest take with thee, silver and gold, which the king and the lords of his counsel give of their own good will unto the God of Israel (whose habitation is at Jerusalem) and all the silver and gold that thou canst find in all the country of Babilon: with it that the people and priests give of their own good will unto the house of God at Jerusalem. Take thou the same, and buy diligently with the same money, calves, lambs, goats, and meat offerings and drink offerings, to be offered upon the altar of the house of your God at Jerusalem. And look what it liketh thee and thy brethren to do with the remnant of the money, that do after the will of your God. And the vessels that are given thee for the ministration in the house of thy God, those deliver thou before God at Jerusalem. And whatsoever thing more shall be needful for the house of thy God, which is necessary for thee to spend, let the same be given out of the king's chamber. I king Arthaxerses have commanded all the treasurers beyond the water, that look whatsoever Esdras the priest and scribe in the law of the God of heaven, requireth of you, that ye fulfill the same diligently, until an hundredth talents of silver, until* an hundredth quarters of wheat, and until an hundredth baths of wine, and till an hundredth baths of oil, and salt without measure. Whatsoever belongeth to the law of the God of heaven, let the same be done with diligence for the house of the God of heaven, that there come no wrath upon the king's realm and his children.

And known be it unto you, that ye shall have no authority 24 to require taxing and custom, yearly rents upon any of the priests, Levites, singers, porters, Nethinims, and ministers in the house of this God. But thou Esdras, (after the wisdom of 25 thy God that is in thy hand) set thou judges and arbiters, to judge all the people that is beyond the Jordan, even all such as know the law of thy God: and them that know it not, those see that ye teach. And whosoever will not diligently fulfill the 26 law of thy God, and the king's law, shall have his judgment for the deed, whether it be unto death, or to be banished, or to be condemned in goods, or to be put in prison. Praised be 27 the LORD God of our fathers, which so hath inspired the king's heart, to garnish the house of God at Jerusalem: and hath 28 inclined his mercy unto me in the presence of the king, and his counsellors, and before all the king's high estates. And I was comforted (according to the hand of the LORD my God over me) and so gathered I the heads of Israel together, that they might go up with me.

These are the heads of their fathers that were named, which VIII went up with me from Babilon, what time as king Arthaxerses reigned. Of the children of Phinehes, Gersom: of the chil- 2 dren of Ithamar, Daniel: of the children of David, Hatus: Of 3 the children of Zecaniah, of the children of Pharos, Zachary, and with him were numbered an hundredth and fifty men.*
Of the children of Pahath Moab, Elioenai the son of Zarakiah, 4 and with him two hundredth men.* Of the children of Zecha- 5 niah the son of Jahasiel, and with him three hundredth men.*
Of the children also of Adin Abed the son of Jonathan, and 6 with him fifty men.* Of the children of Elam, Jesaiah the son 7 of Athaliah, and with him seventy men.* Of the children of 8 Saphatia, Zabadiah the son of Michael, and with him fourscore men.* Of the children of Joab, Obadiah the son of Jehiel, and 9 with him two hundredth and eighteen men.* Of the children 10 of Selomith, the son of Josphiah, and with him an hundredth and three men.* Of the children of Bebai, Zachary the son 11 of Bebai, and with him eight and twenty men.* Of the chil- 12 dren of Asgad, Jehanan the son of Hakatan,* and with him an 13 hundredth and ten men.* Of the last children of Adonicam, and these were their names: Eliphelet, Jehiel, and Samaiah, 14 and with them threescore men.* Of the children of Begui, 15 Uthai, and Zabud, and with them seventy men.* And I gathered them together by the water that runneth* toward Ahava, and there abode we three days. And when I looked among the 16 people and the priests, I found no Levites there. Then sent I Elieser, Ariel, Semeiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zachary, and Mosollam the rulers, and Joiarib, and Elnathan 17 the teachers, and those sent I unto Edo the chiefest at Casphia, that they should fetch us ministers for the house of our God, and I told them what they should say unto Edo and to 18 his brethren the Nethinims, at Casphia. And (according to the good hand of our God upon us) they brought us a wise man from among the children of Moholi the son of Levi the son of Israel, even Sarebia, with his sons and brethren, eigh-19 teen. And Hasabia, and with him Jesaiah of the children of 20 Merari, with his brethren and their sons, twenty. And of the Nethinims, whom David and the princes gave to minister unto the Levites, two hundredth and twenty, all named by name.

 21 And even there at the water beside Ahava, caused I a fasting to be proclaimed, that we might humble ourselves before our God, to seek of him a right way for us, and our children and all 22 our substance. For I was ashamed to require of the king, soldiers and horsemen, to help us against the enemy in the way.
 For we had said unto the king: The hand of our God is upon all them that seek him in goodness,* and his violence and wrath 23 is upon all them that forsake him. So we fasted, and sought 24 this at our God, and he heard us. And I took out twelve of the chief priests, Sarabia and Hasabia, and ten of their brethren 25 with them, and weighed them there the silver and gold and vessels for the heave offering unto the house of our God, which the king and his lords of his counsel and princes, and all Israel 26 that were at hand, had given to the heave offering: And there weighed I them under their hand six hundredth and fifty talents of silver, and in silver vessel an hundredth talents, and in 27 gold an hundredth talents, twenty cups of gold of a thousand drams,* and two costly ornaments of good brass, as clear as gold, and said unto them: Ye are holy unto the LORD, therefore are these vessels holy also, and so is the silver and the gold that is given of a good will unto the LORD God of your fathers: Watch ye therefore and keep it, till ye weigh it down before the chief priests and Levites, and ancient fathers of Israel at Jerusalem in the chests of the house of the LORD. Then took the priests and the Levites that weighed silver and gold and vessel, to bring it to Jerusalem unto the house of our God. So we brake up, from the water of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go unto Jerusalem: and the hand of our God was upon us, and delivered us from the hand of the enemies and prevy waitings by the way. And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three days. But on the fourth day was the silver and gold, and vessel weighed in the house of our God under the hand of Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest, and with him Eleazar the son of Phinehes, and with them Josabad the son of Jesua, and Noadiah the son of Benoi the Levites, according to the number and weight of every one. And the weight was all written up at the same time. And the children of the captivity, which were come out of prison, offered burnt offerings unto the God of Israel: twelve bullocks for all Israel, six and ninety rams, seven and seventy lambs, twelve goats for a sinoffering, all to the burnt offering of the LORD. And they delivered the king's commission unto the king's officers, and to the captains* on this side the water. And they promoted the people and the house of God.

When all this was performed, the rulers came to me, and said: The people of Israel, and the priests, and Levites are not separated from the nations in the lands as touching their abominations, namely of the Cananites, Hethites, Pheresites, Jebusites, Ammonites, Moabites, Egyptians, and Amorites. For they have taken the daughters of the same, and their sons, and have mixt the holy seed with the nations in the lands: and the hand of the princes and rulers* hath been principal in this trespass. When I heard this, I rent my clothes and my raiment, and plucked off* the hair of my head and of my beard, and sat mourning. And there resorted unto me all such as feared the word of the Lord God of Israel, because of the great transgression. And I sat mourning until the evening sacrifice.

5 And about the evening sacrifice I rose up from my heaviness, and rent my clothes and my raiment, and fell upon my knees, 6 and spread out my hands unto the LORD my God; And said: My God, I am ashamed, and dare not lift up mine eyes unto thee my God: for our wickednesses are grown over our head, 7 and our trespasses are waxen great unto the heaven. Since the time of our fathers have we been in great trespass unto this day, and because of our wickedness have we and our kings been delivered into the hand of the kings of the nations, in to the sword, in to captivity, in to spoil, and in to confusion of 8 face, as it is come to pass this day. But now is there a little and sodaine graciousness come from the LORD our God, so that some of us are escaped, that he may give us a nail in his holy place, that our God may light our eyes, and give us a little life 9 in our bondage. For we are bondmen, and our God hath not forsaken us in our bondage,* and hath inclined mercy unto us in the sight of the kings of Persia, that he should give us life, and promote the house of our God, and to set up the desolation thereof, and to give us an hedge in Judah and in Jerusalem.
10 And now O our God, what shall we say after this: for we have 11 forsaken thy commandments, which thou hast commanded by thy servants the Prophets, and said: The land unto which ye go* to possess it, is an unclean land thorow the filthiness of the people of the lands, in their abominations wherewith they have 12 made it full of uncleanness on every side. Therefore shall ye not give your daughters unto their sons, and their daughters shall ye not take unto your sons, and seek not their peace and wealth for ever, that ye may be strong, and enjoy the good in the land, and that ye and your children may have the inheritance of it for evermore. And after all this that is come upon us (because of our evil deeds and great trespass) thou our God hast spared our wickednesses, and hast given us a deliverance 13 as it is come to pass this day. As for us, we have turned back, and have let go thy commandments, to make contract with the people of these abominations. Wilt thou then be wroth at us, till we be utterly consumed, so that nothing remain, and there 14 be no deliverance? O LORD God of Israel, thou art righteous, for we remain yet escaped, as it is this day. Behold in thy presence are we in our trespass, for because of it is there no standing before thee.

And when Esdras prayed after this manner, and knowl- X edged, wept, and lay before the house of God, there resorted unto him out of Israel a very great congregation of men and women, and children: For the people wept very sore. And 2 Sechaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the children of Elam, answered, and said unto Esdras: We have trespassed against the Lord our God, in that we have taken strange wives of the people of the land. Now there is hope yet in Israel concerning this, therefore let us make a covenant now with our God, 3 that we shall put away all the wives (and such as are born of them) according to the counsel of my* lord, and of them that fear the commandment of our God, that we may do according to the law. Get thee up therefore, for the matter belongeth 4 unto thee. We will be with thee, be of good comfort, and do it. Then rose Esdras, and took an oath of the rulers, priests, 5 and Levites, and all of Israel, that they should do according to this word: and they swear. And Esdras stood up before 6 the house of God, and went in to the chamber of Johanan the son of Eliasib. And when he came thither, he ate no bread, nor drank water: for he mourned because of the transgression of them that had been in captivity. And they caused a 7 proclamation be made thorowout Judah and Jerusalem, unto all the children which had been in captivity, that they should gather themselves together unto Jerusalem: And that whoso- 8 ever came not within three days, according to the device of the rulers and Elders, all his substance should be forfeited, and be put out from the congregation of the captive. Then all the men 9 of Judah and Benjamin gathered themselves together unto Jerusalem in three days, that is on the twentieth day of the ninth month: and all the people sat in the street before of the house of God, and trembled because of this matter, and for the rain.
 And Esdras the priest stood up, and said unto them: Ye have 10 transgressed, that have taken strange wives, to make the trespass of Israel yet more: confess now therefore unto the LORD 11 God of your fathers, and do his pleasure, and separate yourselves from the people of the land, and from the strange wives.

12 Then answered all the congregation and said with a loud voice: 13 Let it be done as thou hast said. But the people are many, and it is a rainy weather, and they can not stand* here without, neither is this a work of one day or two, for we are many 14 that have offended in this transgression. Let us appoint our rulers therefore in all the congregation, that all they which have taken strange wives in our cities, may come at the time appointed, and the elders of every city and their judges with them, till the wrath of our God be turned away from us for 15 this offense.* Then were appointed Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahasia the son of Thekuah over this matter: And Mosol-16 lam and Sabathai the Levites helped them. And the children of the captivity did even so. And Esdras the priest, and the ancient heads* thorow the house of their fathers, and all that were now rehearsed by name, separated themselves, and sat them down on the first day of the tenth month to examine this 17 matter. And of the first day of the first month they made 18 an end of* all the men that had taken strange wives. And among the children of the priests there were men found that had taken strange wives, namely among the children of Jesua the son of Josedec and of his brethren, Maasiah, and Eliezer, 19 and Jarib, and Godoliah. And they gave their hands there upon, that they would put away their wives: and for their tres-

The end of the first book of Esdras.

The Book Of Nehemiah.

I  these are the acts of Nehemiah the son of Hachalia. It 1  fortunated in the month Casleu, in the twentieth year, 2  that I was in the castle at Susan: and Hanani, one of my brethren, came with certain men of Judah, and I asked them how the Jews did that were delivered and es-3 caped from the captivity, and how it went at Jerusalem. And they said unto me: The remnant of the captivity are there in the land in great misfortune and rebuke. The walls of Jeru-4 salem are broken down, and the gates thereof are brent with fire. When I heard these words, I sat me down and wept, and mourned two days, and fasted and prayed before the God 5 of heaven and said: O LORD God of heaven, thou great and terrible God, thou that keepest covenant and mercy for them 6 that love thee and observe thy commandments: Let thine ears hearken,* and thine eyes open, that thou mayest hear the prayer of thy servant, which I pray now before thee day and night for the children of Israel thy servants, and knowledge the sins of the children of Israel, which we have commit-7 ted against thee. And I and my father's house have sinned also. We have been corrupt unto thee, in that we have not 8 kept the commandments, statutes, and laws, which thou com-mandedst thy servant Moses. Yet call to remembrance the word that thou commandedst thy servant Moses, and saidest: 9 If ye transgress, then will I scatter you abroad among the nations. But if ye turn unto me, and keep my commandments and do them: though ye were cast out unto the uttermost* part of heaven yet will I gather you from thence, and will bring you from thence, even unto the place, that I have chosen for my 10 name to dwell there. They are thy servants, and thy people whom thou hast delivered thorow thy great power and mighty 11 hand. O Lord, let thine ears hearken to* the prayer of thy servant, and the prayer of thy servants, whose desire is to fear thy name, and let thy servant prosper this day, and grant him mercy in the sight of this man. For I was the king's butler.

II In the month Nisan in the twentieth year of king Artax-erses, when the wine stood before him, I took up the wine, and gave it unto the king and I was heavy in his presence. Then 2 said the king unto me: Why lookest thou so sadly? Thou art not sick, that is not the matter, but thou art heavy hearted.

Nevertheless I was sore afraid and said unto the king: God 3 save the king's life forever, should I not look sadly? The city of my fathers' burial lieth waste and the gates thereof are consumed with fire. Then said the king unto me: what is then thy 4 request? Then made I my prayer to the God of heaven, and 5 said unto the king: If it please the king, and if thy servant be favoured in thy sight. I be seek thee send me in to Judah unto the city of my fathers' burial, that I may build it. And the king 6 said unto me, and so did the queen that sat by him: How long shall thy journey continue, and when wilt thou come again?
And it pleased the king to send me, and I set him a time, and 7 said unto the king: if it please the king, let him give me letters to the captains beyond the water, that they may convey me over, till I come into Judah: And letters unto Asaph the lord 8 of the king's wood, that he may give me wood for beams* to the gates of the palace, which are hard on the house and hard on the walls of the city, and for the house that I shall enter into.
And the king gave me according to the good hand of God upon me: And when I came to the captains beyond the water, I gave 9 them the king's letters. And the king sent captains and horsemen with me. But when Sanabalat the Horonite and Tobiah 10 the servant of the Ammonites heard that, it grieved them sore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel. And when I came to Jerusalem, and had 11 been there three days, I gat me up in the night season, and 12 a few men with me: for I told no man what God had given me in my heart to do at Jerusalem: and there was not one beast with me, save it that I rode upon. And I rode by night unto 13 the valley port before the Dragon well, and to the Dung port, and considered the walls of Jerusalem that were broken down, and the ports thereof consumed with the fire. And I went over 14 unto the wellport, and to the king's conduit,* and there was no room* for my beast, that it could go under me. Then went 15 I on in the night by the brook side, and considered the wall, and turned back and came home again to the valley port. And 16 the rulers knew not whither I went or what I did: for hither to had I not told the Jews and the priests, the councilors* and 17 the rulers, and the other that laboured in the work. And I said unto them: Ye see the misery that we are in, how Jerusalem lieth waste, and how the gates thereof are brent with fire, come let us build up the walls of Jerusalem, that we be no 18 more a rebuke. And I told them of the good hand of my God which was upon me: and the king's words that he had spoken unto me. And they said: then let us get up, and build:* and 19 their hands were strengthened to good. But when Sanabalat the Horonite, and Tobiah the servant of the Ammonites, and Gesem the Arabian heard it, they laughed us to scorn, and despised us, and said: what is this that ye do? Will ye fall away 20 again from the king? Then answered I them, and said: the God of heaven he it is that causeth* us to prosper: and we be his servants. Let us get up and build.* As for you, ye have no portion, nor right, nor remembrance in Jerusalem.

III And Eliasib the high priest gat him up with his brethren the priests, and builded the Sheeppgate. They repaired* it, and set up the doors of it: even unto the tower of Meah repaired* 2 they it, namely unto the tower of Hananeel. Next unto him builded the men of Jericho. And beside him builded Sachur 3 the son of Amri. But the fishport did the children of Asanah build, they covered it and set on the doors, locks and bars of it.
 4 Next unto him builded Marimoth the son of Uriah the son of Nakoz. Next unto him builded Mosolam the son of Barachiah the son of Mesesabeel. Next unto him builded Zadoc the son 5 of Baana. Next unto him builded they of Thekua. But their 6 great men put not their necks to the service of their Lord. The old gate builded Jehoiadah the son of Paseah, and Mosolam the son of Besodiah, they covered it, and set on the doors, locks 7 and bars of it. Next unto them builded Malatiah the Gabaon, and Jadon the Merano, men of Gibeon and of Mazphah for 8 the seat of the captain on this side the water. Next unto him builded Usiel the son of Harhaiah the goldsmith. Next unto him builded Hananiah the Apotecary's son, and they re-9 paired Jerusalem unto the broad wall. Next unto him builded Raphaiah the son of Hur, the ruler of the half quarter of Jeru-10 salem. Next unto him builded Jedaiah the son of Haremaph over against his house. Next unto him builded Hatus the son of Hasaboniah. But Melchia the son of Harim, and Hasub 11 the son of Pahath Moab builded the other piece, and the tower beside the furnace. Next unto him builded Selum the son of 12 Halohes the ruler of the half quarter of Jerusalem, and his daughters. The valley gate builded Hanun, and the citizens 13 of Zanoah. They builded it, and set on the doors, locks and bars thereof, and a thousand cubits on the wall, unto the Dung port. But the Dung port builded Melchiah the son of Rechab, 14 the ruler of the fourth part of the vineyards: he builded it, and set on the doors, locks and bars thereof. But the Wellgate 15 builded Selum the son of Cholhosah, the ruler of the fourth part of Masphah; He builded it, covered it, and set on the doors, locks, and bars thereof, and the wall unto the pool of Siloah by the king's garden, unto the steps that go down from the city of David. After him builded Nehemiah the son of Asbok, the 16 ruler of the half quarter of Bethzur, until the other side over against the sepulchers of David, and to the pool Asuia and unto the house of the mighty. After him builded the Levites, Re- 17 hum the son of Bani. Next unto him builded Hashabiah the ruler of the half quarter at Keilah in his quarter. After him 18 builded their brethren, Bavai the son of Henadad, the ruler of the half quarter of Keilah. After him builded Ezer the 19 son of Jesua, the ruler of Masphah the other piece hard over against the harness corner. After him builded Baruch the son of Zabai the other piece worshipfully and costly, from the cor- 20 ner unto the door of the house of Eliasib the high priest. After him builded Marimuth the son of Uriah the son of Hacos the 21 other piece, from the door of the house of Eliasib even as long as the house of Eliasib extended. And after him builded the 22 priests, the men of the country. After him builded Benjamin 23 and Hasub over against their house. After them* Asariah the son of Maasiah the son of Ananiah next to his house. After 24 him builded Benui the son of Henadad the other piece from the house of Asariah unto the turning, and unto the corner.

After him builded Phalel the son of Usai over against the 25 corner and the high tower, which lieth out over from the king's house, beside the court of the prison. After him Phadaiah the son of Pharos (as for the Nethinims they dwelt in Ophel, 26 unto the Watergate, toward the east where the tower that lieth 27 out). After him builded they of Thekua the other piece over against the great tower, that lieth outward, and unto the wall 28 of Ophel. But from the Horsegate forth builded the priests, 29 every one over against his house. After them builded Zadok the son of Emer over against his house. After him builded Se-30 meiah the son of Sechaniah the keeper of the east gate. After him builded Hananiah the son of Selemiah, and Hanun the son of Zalaph the sixth, that other peace. After him builded 31 Mosolam the son of Barachiah over against his chest. After him builded Melchiah the goldsmith's son, until the house of the Nethinims, and of the merchants over against the councill 32 gate, and to the parlor in the corner. And between the parler of the corner unto the Sheepgate builded the goldsmiths and the merchants.

IV But when Sanabalat heard that we builded the wall, he was 2 wroth and took great indignation and mocked the Jews and said before his brethren and the host* of Samaria: What do the impotent Jews? shall they be thus suffered? shall they offer? shall they perform it in one day? shall they make the stones 3 whole again that are brought to dust, and brent? And Tobiah the Ammonite beside him said: Let them build on, if a fox go 4 up, he shall break down their stony wall. Hear O thou our God, how we are despised, turn their shame upon their own head, that thou mayest give them over into despising in the 5 land of their captivity. Cover not their wickedness, and put not out their sin from thy presence: for they have provoked 6 the builders. Yet builded we the wall, and joined it whole together, unto the half height. And the people were well minded 7 to labour. But when Sanabalat, and Tobiah, and the Arabi-ans, and Ammonites, and Asdodits heard that the walls of Jerusalem were made up, and that they had begun to stop* up 8 the gaps they were very wroth, and conspired all together to come and fight against Jerusalem, and to make a hinderance 9 therein. Nevertheless we made our prayer unto our God, and set watchmen upon the wall day and night over against them.
 10 And Judah said: the strength of the bearers is too feeble, and there is too much dust, we are not able to build on the wall.
 11 And our adversaries thought: they shall not know neither see, till we come in the midst among them, and slay them, and hinder the work. But when the Jews that dwelt beside them, came out of all the places where they dwelt about us, and told us as good as ten times, then set I the people after their kindreds with their swords, spears, and bows beneath in the low places behind the wall, and looked, and gat me up, and said unto the chief men and rulers, and to the other people: Be not ye afraid of them think upon the great Lord which ought to be feared and fight for your brethren, sons, daughters, wives, and houses. Nevertheless when our enemies heard that we had gotten word of it, God brought their counsel to naught, and we turned all again to the wall, every one unto his labour. And from that time forth it came to pass, that the half part of the young men did the labour, and the other half part held spears, shields, bows, and breastplates: and the rulers stood behind all the house of Judah, which builded on the wall, and bare burthens, from those that laded them. With one hand did they the work, and with the other held they their weapon. And everyone that builded, had his sword gird by his side, and so builded they. And the trumpeters stood beside me. And I said unto the principal men, and rulers, and to the other people: the work is great and large, and we are separated upon the wall one far from another. Look in what place now ye hear the noise of the trumpet, resort ye thither unto us. Our God shall fight for us, and we will be labouring in the work. And the half part of them held the spears from the morning spring, till the stars came forth. And at the same time said I unto the people: every one abide with his servant at Jerusalem, that in the night season we may give attendance to the watch, and to labour on the day time. As for me and my brethren, and my servants, and the men of the watch behind me, we put never off our clothes, so much as to wash ourselves.

And there arose a great complaint of the people, and of their wives against their brethren the Jews. And there were some that said: our sons and daughters are too many, let us take corn for them to eat, that we may live. Some said: Let us set our lands, vineyards, and houses, to pledge, and take up corn in the darth. But some said: let us borrow money of the king's tribute* for our lands and vineyards. Now are our brethrens' bodies as our own bodies and their children as our children: else should we subdue our sons and daughters into bondage, and some of our daughters are subdued already, and no strength is there in our hands, and other men shall have 6 our lands and vineyards. But when I heard their complaint 7 and such words, it displeased me sore, and I advised so in my mind, that I rebuked the councilors,* the rulers, and said unto them: Will ye require usury one of another? And I brought 8 a great congregation against them and said unto them: We (after our ability) have bought our brethren the Jews, which were sold unto the Heathen. And will ye sell your brethren, whom we have bought unto us? Then held they their peace, 9 and could find nothing to answer. Also I said: It is not good that ye do. Ought ye not to walk in the fear of God because of 10 the rebuke of the Heathen our enemies? I and my brethren, and my servants have lent them money and corn: but as for 11 usury, let us leave it. Therefore this same day see that ye restore them their lands again, their vineyards, oil gardens, and houses, and the hundredth part of the money of the corn, wine, 12 and oil, that ye have won of them. Then said they: We will restore them again and will require nothing of them and will do as thou hast spoken. And I called the priests, and took an 13 oath of them, that they should do so. And I shook my lap, and said: God shake out every man after the same manner from his house and labour, that maintaineth not this word: even thus be he shaken out, and void. And all the congregation said: Amen, 14 and praised the LORD. And the people did so. And from the time forth that it was committed unto me to be a captain in the land of Juda, namely from the twentieth year even unto the two and thirtieth year of king Arthaxerses (that is twelve years) I and my brethren lived not of such sustenance as was 15 given to a captain: For the old captains that were before me, had been chargeable unto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, and forty sicles of silver: yea and their servants had oppressed the people. But so did not I, and that because of the fear of God. I laboured also in the work upon the wall, and bought no land. And all my servants came thither 16 together unto the work. Moreover there were at my table an hundredth and fifty of the Jews and rulers, which came unto me, from among the Heathen, that are about us. And there was prepared me daily an ox, and six chosen sheep, and birds, and ever once in ten days a great sum of wine. Yet required not I the living of a captain for the bondage was grievous unto the people. Think upon me my God unto the best, according to all that I have done for this people. 18 19

And when Sanabalat, Tobiah, and Gesem the Arabian, and the other of our enemies heard that I had builded the wall, and that there were no more gaps therein (howbeit at the same time had I not hanged the doors upon the gates) Sanabalat and Gesem sent unto me, saying: come and let us meet together in the villages upon the plain of the city Ono. Nevertheless they thought to do me evil. Notwithstanding I sent messengers unto them, saying: I have a great business to do, I can not come down. The work should stand still, if I were negligent, and came down to you. Howbeit they sent unto me as good as four times after the same manner. And I gave the same answer. Then sent Sanabalat his servant unto me the fifth time, with an open letter in his hand, wherein was written: it is told the Heathen, and Gesem hath said it, that thou and the Jews think to rebel: for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and wilt be their king in these matters, and hast ordained the Prophets to preach of thee at Jerusalem, and to say: He is king of Judah. Now shall this come to the king's ears: come now therefore, and let us take our counsel together. Nevertheless I sent unto him saying: there is no such thing done as thou sayest: thou hast feigned it out of thine own heart. For they were all minded to make us afraid and thought: They shall withdraw their hands from the work, that they shall not labour. Howbeit I strengthen my hand the more. And I came unto the house of Semaiah the son of Delaiah the son of Mehetabeel, and he had shut himself within, and said: let us come together in to the house of God, even unto the midst of the temple, and shut* the doors of the temple: for they will come to slay thee, yea even in the night will they come to put thee to death. But I said: should any such man as I flee? Who is that,* being as I am, that will go in to the temple, to save his life? I will not go in. For I perceived, that God had not sent him: Yet spake he prophecy upon me, neverthe-13 less Tobiah and Sanabalat had hired him for money. Therefore took he the money, that through fear I should do so, and sin:* that they might have an evil report of me, to blaspheme 14 me. My God think thou upon Tobiah and Sanabalat according unto these their works, and of the Prophet Noadiah and of 15 the other Prophets, that would have put me in fear. And the wall was finished on the five and twentieth day of the month 16 Elul, in two and fifty days. And when all our enemies heard thereof, all the Heathen that were about us, were afraid and their courage failed them: for they perceived, that this work 17 came of God. And at the same time were there many of the chief of Juda, whose letters went unto Tobiah, and from Tobiah 18 unto them, (for there were many in Judah that were sworn unto him: for he was the son-in-law of Shechaniah the son of Arah, and his son Johanan had the daughter of Mosolam the 19 son of Barachiah and they spake good of him before me, and told him my words) and Tobiah sent letters, to put me in fear.

VII Now when we had builded the wall I hanged on the doors, 2 and the porters, singers and Levites were appointed. And I commanded my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace at Jerusalem: for he was a faithful man, and feared 3 God more than did many other, and I said unto them: let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the son be whote.* and while they are yet standing in the watch, the doors shall be shut and barred. And there were certain citizens of Jerusalem appointed to be watchmen every one in his watch, and about 4 his house. As for the city, it was large of room, and great, but the people were few therein, and the houses were not builded.
 5 And my God gave me in my heart, that I gathered together the principal men and the people to number them. And I found a register of the number of them, which came up afore out 6 of the captivity: and found written therein: These are the sons of the land that went up from the captivity of the carrying away, (whom Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon had brought* away) and came again to* Jerusalem and Judah, ev-7 ery one unto his city, which came* with Zorobabel, Jesua, Nehemiah, Asariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mardochee, Belsan, Mesparath, Begvai, Nahum, Baanah. This is the number of children of Jaala, the children of Darcon, the children of Gidel; 59 The children of Saphatiah, the children of Natil, the children 60 of Pochereth of Zabaim, the children of Amon. All the Nethin-ims, and the children of Solomon's servants, were all together 61 three hundredth and two and ninety. And these went up also, Thel Melah, Tel Harsa, Cherub, Adon, and Emer: but they could not shew their father's house, nor their seed, whether 62 they were of Israel. The children of Dalaiah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Necoda,* six hundredth and two and 63 forty. And of the priests* the children of Hobaiah, the chil-daughters of Bersilai the Gileadite to wife, and was named af-64 ter their name. These sought the register of their generation, and when they found it not, they were put from the priesthood.

 65 And Hathirsatha said unto them, that they should not eat of the most holy, till there came up a Priest with light and per-66 fectness. The whole congregation as one man, was two and 67 forty thousand, three hundredth and threescore; Beside their servants and maidens, of whom there were seven thousand, three hundredth and seven and thirty. And they had two hundredth and seven and forty singing men and women, seven 68 hundredth and six and thirty horses, two hundredth and five and forty Mules, four hundredth and five and thirty Camels, 69 and six thousand, seven hundredth and twenty Asses. And 70 certain of the ancient fathers gave unto the work. Nathirsatha gave to the treasure a thousand drames,* fifty basens, five hundredth and thirty priests' garments. And some of the chief fa- 71 thers gave unto the treasure of the work, twenty thousand and two hundredth pound of silver. And the other people gave 72 twenty thousand drams,* and two thousand pound of silver, and seven and three score priests' garments. And the priests 73 and Levites, the Porters, the singers, and the other of the people, and the Nethinims, and all Israel, dwelt in their cities.

Now when the seventh month drew nye, and the children of VIII Israel were in their cities, all the people gathered themselves together as one man upon the street before the Watergate, and said unto Esdras the scribe, that he should fetch the book of the law of Moses, which the LORD commanded to Israel. And Es- 2 dras the priest brought the law before the congregation both of men and women, and of all that could understand it, upon the first day of the seventh month. And read therein in the street 3 that is before the Watergate, from the* morning until the noon day before men and women, and such as could understand it: and the ears of all the people were inclined unto the book of the law. And Esdras the scribe stood upon an high pulpit of wood, 4 which they had made for the preaching, and beside him stood Mathathiah, Sema, Ananiah, Uriah, Helkiah, and Maaseiah, on his right hand: and on his left hand stood Phadaiah, Mis-ael, Melchiah, Hasum, Hasebadanah, Zachary, and Mosolam.
 And Esdras opened the book before all the people, for he stood 5 above all the people. And when he opened it, all the people stood up. And Esdras praised the LORD the great God. And 6 all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with their hands up, and bowed themselves, and worshipped the LORD with their faces to the ground. And Jesua, and Baani, and Serabiah, 7 Jami, Acuba, Sebathai, Hodaiah, Maasiah, Celita, Azariah, Jozabed, Hanan, Phalaiah, and the Levites, caused the people to give heed unto the law, and the people stood in their place. And they read in the book of the law of God distinctly 8 and plainly, so that men understood the thing that was read.

9 And Nehemiah (which is Harthirsatha) and Esdras the priest and scribe, and the Levites that caused the people to take heed, said unto all the people: this day is holy unto the LORD your God: be not ye sorry therefore, and weep not. For all the people wept when they heard the words of the law. Therefore 10 said he unto them: Go your way, and eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send part unto them also that have not prepared themselves: for this day is holy unto our Lord: be not ye 11 sorry therefore: for the joy of the LORD is your strength. And the Levites stilled all the people, and said: hold your peace, for the day is holy, vex not ye yourselves. And all the people went their way to eat and to drink, and to send part unto 12 other, and to make great mirth, because* they had understood the words that were declared unto them. And on the next day 13 were gathered together the chief fathers among all the people and the priests and Levites, unto Esdras the scribe, that he should teach them the words of the law. And they found written in the law, how that the LORD had commanded by Moses that the children of Israel should dwell in booths in the feast 14 of the seventh month. And so they caused it be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and at Jerusalem, saying: go up unto the mount and fetch Olive branches, and Pine branches, Myrtle branches, Palm branches, and branches of thick trees, 15 to make booths, as it is written. And the people went up, and fetched them, and made them booths, every one upon the roof of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the street by the Watergate, and in the 16 street by port Ephraim. And all the congregation of them that were come again out of the captivity, made booths, and dwelt therein. For since the time of Jesua the son of Nun unto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was 17 very great gladness. And every day from the first day unto the last, read he in the book of the law of God. And seven days held they the feast, and on the eighth day the gathering together, according unto the manner.

children and stood and knowledged their sins, and the wickedness of their fathers, and stood up in their place, and read 3 in the book of the law of the LORD their God four times on the day, and they knowledged, and worshipped the LORD their God four times on the day. And the Levites stood on high, namely 4 Jesua, and Bani, Cadmiel, Sabaniah, Buni, Sarebiah, Bani, and Chanani, and cried loud unto the LORD their God. And 5 the Levites, Jeshua, and Cadmiel, Bani, Hasabniah, Serebiah, Hodjah, Sebaniah, and Pathahiah, said: Stand up praise the LORD your God forever: and let thanks be given unto the name of thy glory, which exceedeth all thanksgiving and praise. LORD⁶* thou alone hast made heaven, and the heaven of all heavens, with all their host, the earth and all that is therein, the sea and all that is therein: thou givest life unto all, and the host of heaven bow themselves unto thee. Thou art, the LORD, the 7 God that hast chosen Abram, and broughtest him out of Ur in Chaldea, and called him Abraham and foundest his heart 8 faithful before thee, and madest a covenant with him to give unto his seed the land of the Cananites, Hethites, Amorites, Pheresites, Jebusites, and Gergasites, and hast made good thy words: for thou art righteous and hast considered the misery 9 of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their complaint by the reed sea,* and shewed tokens and wonders upon Pharaoh, and 10 on all his servants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that they were presumptuous and cruel against them; and so madest thou thee a name as it is this day. And the 11 reed sea* didst thou divide* in sunder before them, so that they went thorow the midst* of the sea dry shoed: and their persecutors threwest thou into the deep as a stone, in the mighty waters, and leddest them on the day time in a cloudy pillar; 12 and on the night season in a pillar of fire, to shew them light in the way that they went. Thou camest down also upon mount 13 Sinai, and spakest unto them from heaven, and gavest them right judgments, true laws, good commandments and statutes, and declared unto them thy holy Sabbath, and commandedst 14 them precepts, ordinances, and laws, by Moses thy servant: and gavest them bread from heaven when they were hungry, 15 and broughtest forth water for them out of the rock when they were thirsty: and promised them, that they should go in, and take possession of the land, over which* thou hadst lift up thine 16 hand for to give them. But* our fathers were proud, and hard-17 necked, so that they followed not thy commandments, and refused to hear, and were not mindful of the wonders that thou didst* for them: but became obstinate and heady in so much that they turned back to their bondage in their disobedience.

But thou my God forgavest, and wast gracious, merciful, pa-18 tient, and of great goodness, and forsookest them not. And though they made a molten calf, (and said: This is thy God, that brought thee out of the land of Egypt) and did great blas-19 phemies, yet forsookest thou them not in the wilderness, according to thy great mercy. And the cloudy pillar departed not from them on the day time to lead them the way, neither the pillar of fire in the night season, to shew them light in the way 20 that they went. And thou gavest them thy good spirit to en-form them, and withheldest not thy manna from their mouth, 21 and gavest them water when they were thirsty. Forty years long madest thou provision for them in the wilderness, so that they lacked* nothing: their clothes waxed not old, and their 22 feet swelled not. And thou gavest them kingdoms and nations, and partest them according to their portions, so that they possessed the land of Sehon king of Hesebon, and the land of 23 Og the king of Basan. And their children multipliedst thou as the stars of heaven, and broughtest them into the land whereof thou hadst spoken unto their fathers, that they should go in 24 to it, and have it in possession. And the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedest before them the inhabiters of the land, even the Cananites, and gavest them into their hand, and their kings and the people of the land, 25 that they might do with them what they would. And they won* their strong cities, and a fat land, and took possession of houses that were full of all manner goods, wells digged out, vineyards, olivegardens, and many fruitful trees: and they ate and were filled, and became fat, and lived in wealth thorow 26 thy great goodness. Nevertheless they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy law behind their backs, and slew thy prophets, which exhorted them so earnestly, that they should convert unto thee, and did great blasphemies. There- 27 fore gavest thou them over in to the hand of their enemies that vexed them. And in the time of their trouble they cried unto thee, and thou hardest them from heaven and thorow thy great mercy thou gavest them saviours, which helped them out of the hand of their enemies. But when they came to rest, they 28 turned back again to do evil before thee: therefore leftest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion over them. So they converted, and cried unto thee, and thou heardest them from heaven; and many time hast thou delivered them according to thy great mercy, and testified unto 29 them, that they should turn again unto thy law. Notwithstanding they were proud, and hearkened not unto thy commandments, but sinned in thy laws, (which a man should do and live in them) and turned the shoulder away, and were stiffnecked, and would not hear. And many years didst thou forbear them, 30 and testified unto them thorow thy spirit, even by the office of thy prophets, and yet would they not hear. Therefore gavest thou them into the hand of the nations in the lands. But for 31 thy great mercies' sake thou hast not utterly consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and merciful God. Now our God, thou great God, mighty and terrible, thou 32 that keepest covenant and mercy, regard not a little all the travail that hath happened unto us, and our kings, princes, priests, prophets, fathers and all thy people, since the time of the kings of Assur unto this day. Thou art righteous in all that 33 thou hast brought upon us: for thou hast done right. As for us, 34 we have been ungodly, and our kings, princes, priests, and fathers have not done after thy law, nor regarded thy commandments, and thy earnest exhortations wherewith thou hast exhorted them, and have not served thee in their kingdom, and 35 in thy great goods that thou gavest them, and in the large and plenteous land which thou gavest them,* and have not converted from their wicked works. Behold, therefore are we in 36 bondage this day: yea even in the land that thou gavest unto our fathers, to enjoy the fruits and goods thereof, behold, there are we bondsmen. And great is the increase of it unto the 37 kings, whom thou hast set over us because of our sins, and they have dominion over our bodies, and cattle, and we are in 38 great trouble. And in all this make we a sure covenant, and write it, and let our princes, Levites, and priests seal it.

X These sealers were: Nehemiah, (that is) Hathirsatha, the 2 son of Hachaliah, and Zedekiah, Saraiah, Asariah, Jeremy, 3, 4, 5 Phashur, Amariah, Malchiah, Hatus, Sebaniah, Malluch, Harim, 6, 7 Merimoth, Obadiah, Daniel Jenthon, Baruch, Mosolam, Abiah, 8 Miamin, Maasiah, Belgai and Semeiah: these were priests.
 9 The Levites were: Jesua the son of Azariah, Benui among 10 the children of Henadad and Cadmiel. And their brethren: 11 Sechaniah, Hodiah, Celita, Phalaiah, Hanan, Micha, Rehob, 12, 13 Hasabiah, Sachur, Serebiah, Sabaniah, Hodiah, Bani and 14 Baninu. The heads of the people were: Phares, Pahath Moab, 15, 16 Elam, Zathua, Bani, Boni, Asgad, Bebai, Adoniah, Begoai, 17, 18, 19 Adin, Ater, Hezekiah, Asur, Hodiah, Hasum, Bezai, Hariph, 20, 21 Anathoth, Nebai, Magphias, Mosolam, Hesir, Mesesabel, Zadoc, 22, 23 Jaddua, Phalatia, Hanan, Anaiah, Hosea, Hananiah, Ha-24, 25 sub, Halohes, Phaleha, Sobek, Rehum, Hasabnah, Maasiah, 26, 27, 28 Ahiah, Hanan, Anan, Malluch, Harim, Baanah. And the other people, the priests, Levites, Porters, singers, Nethinims, and all they that had separated themselves from the people in the lands unto the law of God, with their wives, sons and 29 daughters, as many as could understand it, and their lords that had rule of them, received it for their brethren. And they came to swear, and to bind themselves with an oath to walk in God's law, which was given by Moses the servant of God, that they would observe and do according unto all the commandments, judgements, and statutes of the LORD our God: 30 and that we would not give our daughters unto the people in 31 the land, neither to take their daughters for our sons. And if the people of the land brought ware on the Sabbath, and all manner of vitailles to sell, that we would not take it of them on the Sabbath and on the holy days. And that we would let the seventh year be free concerning all manner of charge.
 32 And we decreed* a statute upon ourselves, to give yearly the third part of a sicle to the ministration in the house of our 33 God, namely to the shewbread, to the daily meatoffering, to the daily burntoffering of the Sabbaths, of the new moons and feast days, and to the things that were sanctified, and to the sinofferings, to reconcile Israel withall, and to all the business in the house of our God. And we cast the lot among the priests, 34 Levites and the people, for offering of the wood to be brought unto the house of our God from year to year, after the houses of our fathers that it might be brent at times appointed, upon the altar of the LORD our God, as it is written in the law: and 35 yearly to bring the firstlings of our land, and the firstlings of our fruits of all trees, year by year, unto the house of the LORD: and the firstlings of our sons, and of our cattle, as it is written 36 in the law: and the firstlings of our oxen and of our sheep, that we should bring all this to the house of our God unto the priests that minister in the house of our God: and that we 37 should bring the firstlings of our dough, and our heaveofferings, and the fruits of all manner of trees, of wine also and of oil, unto the priests to the chests the house of our God. And the tithes of our land unto the Levites, that the Levites might have the tithes in all the cities of our ministration. And the priest 38 the son of Aaron shall with the Levites have also of the tithes of the Levites, so that the Levites shall bring up the tithes of their tithes unto the house of our God to the chest in the treasure house. For the children of Israel and the children of 39 Levi shall bring up the heaveofferings of the corn, wine, and oil unto the chests. And there shall be* the vessels of the sanctuary, and the priests that minister, and the porters, and singers, that we forsake not the house of our God.

And the rulers of the people dwelt at Jerusalem. But the XI other people cast lots therefore, so that among ten one part went to Jerusalem into the holy city to dwell, and nine parts in the cities. And the people thanked all the men that were 2 willingly to dwell at Jerusalem. These are the heads of the 3 land that dwelt at Jerusalem and in the cities of Judah; And every one dwelt in his possession, and* in their cities of* Israel, the priests, Levites, the Nethinims, and the children of Solomon's servants. And at Jerusalem dwelt certain of the 4 children of Judah and of Benjamin. Of the children of Judah: Athaiah the son of Usiah, the son of Zachary, the son of Amariah, the son of Saphatiah, the son of Mahalaleel, of the children of Phares. And Maasiah the son of Baruch, the son 5 of Cal Hose, the son of Hasaia, the son of Adaia, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zachary, the son of Siloni. All the children 6 of Phares that dwelt at Jerusalem, were four hundredth and eight and threescore valiant men. These are the children of Ben Jamin: Sallu the son of Mesullam, the son of Joeb, the son of Phadaiah, the son of Colaiah, the son of Masiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jesaiah. And after him Abai, Selar, nine hundredth and eight and twenty. And Joel the son of Zechri had the over sight of them: and Judah the son of Senuah over the second part of the city. Of the priests there dwelt: Jedaiah the son of Joiarib, Jachin. Saraiah the son of Helkiah the son of Mosolam, the son of Zadoc, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitob, was prince in the house of God: and his brethren that performed the work in the house: of whom there were eight hundredth twenty two. And Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Plalaliel, the son of Amazi, the son of Zachary, the son of Phashur, the son of Melchiah, and his brethren, chief among the fathers: of whom there were two hundredth and two and forty. And Amashai the son of Asarael, the son of Ahasai, the son of Mosolamoth, the son of Emer: and his brethren were valiant men, of whom there were an hundredth and eight and twenty. And their overseer was Zabdiel, the son of Hagdolim. Of the Levites: Semeiah the son of Hasub, the son of Aserikam, the son of Hasabiah, the son of Boni: and Sabathai and Josabad, of the chief of the Levites, in the outward business of the house of God. And Mathaniah the son of Micha, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, which was the principal to begin the thanksgiving unto prayer. And bakbukiah the second among his brethren, and Abda the son of Sammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun. All the Levites in the holy city were two hundredth and four and fourscore. And the porters, Acub, Talmon, and their brethren that kept the ports, were an hundredth and two and seventy. As for the residue of Israel, the priests, and Levites, they were in all the cities of Judah, every one in his inheritance. And the Nethinims dwelt in Ophel: and Ziha and Gaspha belonged to the Nethinims. The overseer of the Levites at Jerusalem, was Usi the son of Baani, the son of Hasabiah, the son of Mathaniah, the son of Micha. Of the children of Asaph, there were singers about the business in the house of God: For it was the king's commandment concerning them, that the singers should deal faithfully every day as according was. And Pathaiah the son of Mesesabel, of the children of Zarah the son of Judah, next the king in all matters concerning the people and their villages, thoroughout all their regions. And the children of Judah that were without in the towns of their land, dwelt some at Kariath Arbe, and in the villages thereof, and at Dibon, and in the villages thereof: and at Cabzeel, and in the villages thereof: And at Jesua, Moladah, Bethphaiet, Hazersual, Bersabe, and in their villages: And at Sikelag, and Moconah, and in their villages: And at Enremon, Zarah, Jerimuth, Zonoah, Odollam, and in their villages: At Lachis, and in the fields thereof: At Asekah, and in the villages thereof: And dwelt from Bersabe unto the valley of Hennom. The children of Benjamin of Gaba, dwelt at Machmas, and Aia, Bethel, and in their villages. And at Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, Hazor, Ramah, Gethaim, Hadid, Zeboim, Nabalat, Lod, and Ono and in the carpenters valley. And certain of the Levites that had portions in Judah, dwelt in Ben Jamin.

These are the priests and Levites that went up with Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and with Jesua: Seraiah, Jeremy, Esdras, Amariah, Meluch, Hatus, Sechaniah, Rehum, Merimoth, Ado, Genthoi, Abiah, Miamin, Maadiah, Belgah, Semaiah, and Joiarib and Jadaiah, Salu, Amok, Helkiah, Jadaiah. These were the heads among the priests and their brethren in the time of Jesua. The Levites were these: Jesua, Ben-nui, Cadmiel, Sarabiah, Judah, and Mathaniah, over the office of thanksgiving, they and their brethren: Bacbukiah and Uni, and their brethren, were about them in the watches. Jesua begat Joakim, Joakim begat Eliasib, Eliasib begat Joiada. Joiada begat Jonathan, Jonathan begat Jadua. And in the time of Joakim were these the chief fathers among the priests: under* Saraiah,* Maraiah; under* Jeremy,* Hananiah, under Esdras, Mosolam, under Amariah, Jehoanan, under Milico, Jonathan, under Sebaniah, Joseph, under Harim, Edna, under Maraioth, Helcai, under Adia, Zachary, under Genthon, Mosolam, under Abia, Zechri, under Miniamin and Moadia Peltai, under Belgah, Samua, under Semeiah, Jehonathan, under Joiarib, Mathnai, under Jadaiah, Usi, under Selai, Kelai, under Amok, Eber, under Helchiah, Hasabiah, under Jadaiah, Nathanael. And in the time of Eliasib. Joiada, Johanan and Jadua, were the chief fathers among the Levites, and the 23 priests written under the reign of Darius the Persian. The children of Levi the principal fathers were written in the Chron-24 icles, until the time of Jonathan the son of Eliasib. And these were the chief among the Levites, Hasabiah, Serebiah and Jesua the son of Cadmiel, and their brethren over against them, to give praise and thanks, according as David the man of God 25 had ordained it, one watch over against another. Mathania, Balbukiah, Obadiah, Mosolam, Talmon, and Abub were porters 26 in the watch at the thresholds of the gates. These were in the time of Joiakim the son of Jesua the son of Josedec, and in the time of Nehemiah the captain* and of the priest Es-27 dras the scribe. And in the dedication of the wall at Jerusalem, were the Levites sought out of all their places, that they might be brought to Jerusalem, to keep the dedication and gladness, with thanksgivings, with singing, with cymbals, 28 Psalteries, and harps. And the children of the singers gathered themselves together from the plain country about Jeru-29 salem, and from the villages of Nethophathi and from the house of Gilgal, and out of the fields of Geba and Asmaveth: for 30 the singers had builded them villages about Jerusalem. And the priests and Levites purified themselves, and cleansed the 31 people, the gates and the wall. And I caused the princes of Juda to go up upon the wall, and appointed two great choirs* of thanksgiving, which went on the right hand of the wall toward 32 the Dung gate, and after them went Hosaiah, and half of the 33, 34 princes of Juda, and Asaria, Esdras, Mosolam, Judah, Ben 35 Jamin, and Semeiah, and Jeremy: and certain of the priests' children with trumpets, namely Zachary the son of Jonathan, the son of Semeiah, the son of Mathaniah, the son of Micha-36 iah, the son of Zecur, the son of Asaph, and his brethren, Se-meiah, and Asarael, Melalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nathanael, and Juda, and Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the 37 man of God. And Esdras the scribe before them, toward the Wellgate, and they went up over against them upon the steps of the city of David at the going up of the wall to the house 38 of David, unto the Watergate Eastward. The other choir of thanksgiving went over against them, and I after them, and the half part of the people upon the wall, toward the Furnace-39 gate upward, until the broad wall, and to the port of Ephraim, and to the Oldgate, and to the Fishgate, and to the tower of Hananeel, and to the tower of Meah, until the Sheepgate. And in the prison gate they stood still, and so stood the two choirs of thanksgiving of the house of God, and I and the half of the rulers with me, and the priests, namely Eliakim, Maasiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zachary, and Hananiah, with trumpets, and Maasiah, Semeiah, Eleasar, Ursi, Jehoanan, Melchiah, Elam, and Ser. And the singers sang loud, and Jeshiah was the overseer. And the same day were there great sacrifices offered, and they rejoiced: for God had given them great gladness, so that both the wives and children were joyful, and the mirth of Jerusalem was heard afar off. At the same time were there men appointed over the treasure chests (wherein were the Heaveofferings, the firstlings and the tithes) that they should gather them out of the fields about the cities, to distribute them unto the priests and Levites according to the law: for Judah was glad of the priests, and Levites, that they stood and waited upon the office of their God, and the office of the purification. And the singers and porters stood after the commandment of David and of Solomon his son: for in the time of David and Asaph, were the chief singers founded, and the songs of praise and thanksgiving unto God. In the time of Zorobabel, and Nehemiah, did all Israel, give portions unto the singers and porters, every day his portion, and they gave things hallowed unto the Levites, and the Levites gave things that were sanctified, unto the children of Aaron.

And what time as the book of Moses was read in the ears of the people there was found written therein, that the Ammonites and Moabites should never come into the congregation of God, because they met not the children of Israel with bread and water, and hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them: nevertheless our God turned the curse into a blessing. Now when they heard the Law, they separated from Israel everyone that had mixt himself therein. And before this had the Priest Eliasib delivered the chest of the house of our God unto his kinsman Tobiah: for he had made him a great chest, and there had they afore time laid the meatofferings, frankincense, vessel, and the tithes of corn, wine and oil (according to the commandment given to the Levites, singers and porters) and the heaveofferings of the priests. But in all this was not I at Jerusalem: for in the two and thirtieth year of Arthaxerses king of Babilon, came I unto the king, and after 7 certain days obtained* I license of the king to come to Jerusalem. And I gat knowledge of the evil that Eliasib did unto Tobiah, in that he had made him a chest in the court of the house 8 of God, and it grieved me sore, and I cast forth all the vessels 9 of the house of Tobiah out of the chest, and commanded them to cleanse the chest. And thither brought I again the vessels 10 of the house of God, the meatoffering and the incense. And I perceived, that the portions of the Levites were not given them, for the which cause the Levites and singers were fled, every-11 one to his land for to work. Then reprov'd I the rulers, and said: Why forsake we the house of God? But I gathered them 12 together, and set them in their place. Then brought all Judah the tithes of corn, wine and oil unto the treasury. And I made treasurers over the treasure, even Selemiah the priest, 13 and Zadoc the scribe, and of the Levites, Phedaiah, and under their hand Hanan the son of Zacur, the son of Mathaniah: for they were counted faithful, and their office was to distribute 14 unto their brethren. Think upon me, O my God here in, and wipe not out my mercy, that I have shewed on the house of my 15 God, and on the officers thereof. At the same time saw I some treading wine presses on the Sabbath and bringing in clusters, and asses laden with wine, grapes, figs, and bringing all manner of burthens unto Jerusalem, upon the Sabbath day. And I rebuked them earnestly the same day that they sold the vittails. There dwelt men of Tyre also therein, which brought 16 fish and all manner of ware, and sold on the Sabbath unto the children of Judah and Jerusalem. Then reprov'd I the rulers in Judah, and said unto them: What evil thing is this that ye 17 do, and break the Sabbath day? Did not our fathers even thus, and our God brought all this plague upon us and upon this city? And ye make the wrath more yet upon Israel, in that ye 18 break the Sabbath. And it fortun'd, that when the porters of Jerusalem made shadow* before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath: and some of my servants set I at the gates, that there should no burthen be brought in on the Sabbath day.

19 Then remained the chapmen and merchants once or twice over night without Jerusalem with all manner of wares. Then re- 21 proved I them sore, and said unto them: Why tarry ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once again, I will lay hands upon you.

 From that time forth came they no more on the Sabbath. And 22 I said unto the Levites which were clean, that they should come and keep the gates, to hallow the Sabbath day. Think upon me (O my God) concerning this also, and spare me according to thy great mercy. And at the same time saw I Jews, that mar- 23 ried wives of Asdod, Ammon, and of Moab: and their children 24 spake half in the speech of Ashdod, and could not speak in the Jews' * language, but by the tongue mighty a man perceive every people. And I reprovèd them, and cursed them, and smote 25 certain men of them, and plucked* them up, and took an oath of them by God: Ye shall not give your daughters unto their sons, neither shall ye take their daughters unto your sons, or for yourselves. Did not Salomon the king of Israel sin therein? 26 and yet among many Heathen was there no king like him, and he was dear unto his God, and God made him king over all Israel, and yet nevertheless outlandish women caused him to sin? And shall we then obey unto you, to do all this great evil, 27 and to transgress against our God, and marry strange wives?
 And one of the children of Jehoiada, the son of Eliasib the high 28 priest, had made a contract with Sanabalat the Horonite: but I chased him from me. O my God, think thou upon them that 29 are quite of the priesthood, and have defiled the covenant of the priesthood and of the Levites. Thus cleansed I them from 30 all such as were outlandish, and appointed the courses of the priests and Levites, every one to his office, and to offer the 31 wood at times appointed, and the firstfruits. Think thou upon me, (O my God) for the best.

The end of the second book of Esdras, otherwise called the book of Nehemiah.

The Book Of Esther.

I  n the time of Ahaserus, which reigned from India unto Ethiopia, over an hundredth and seven and twenty 2 lands, what time as he sat on his seat royal in the 3 castle of Susan in the third year of his reign, he made a feast unto all his princes and servants, namely unto the mighty men of Persia and Media, to the captains and rulers 4 of his countries, that he might shew the noble riches of his kingdom, and the glorious worship of his greatness, many days 5 long, even an hundredth and fourscore days. And when these days were expired, the king made a feast unto all the people that were in the castle of Susan, both unto great and small, seven days long in the court of the garden by the king's palace: 6 where there hanged white, red and yellow clothes, fastened with cords of linen and scarlet in silver rings, upon pillars of Marble stone. The benches were of gold and silver made upon 7 a pavement of green, white, yellow and black Marble. And the drink was carried in vessels of gold, and there was ever change of vessel. And the king's wine was much according to 8 the power of the king. And no man was appointed what he should drink: for the king had commanded all the officers of 9 his house, that everyone should do as it liked him. And the queen Vasthi made a feast also for the women in the palace 10 of Ahasuerus. And on the seventh day when the king was merry of the wine, he commanded Mehuman, Bartha, Harbona, Bagatha, Abagtha, Zathar, and Carcas, the seven chamberlains (that did service in the presence of king Ahasuerus, 11 to fetch the queen Vasthi with the crown regal, that he might shew the people and princes her fairness: for she was beau-12 tiful. But the queen Vasthi would not come at the king's word by his chamberlains. Then was the king very wroth, 13 and his indignation kindled in him. And the king spake to the wise men that had understanding in the ordinances of the land (for the king's matters must be handled before all such 14 as have knowledge of the law and judgment:) and the next unto him were Carsena, Sethar, Admatha, Tharsis, Mares, Marsana, and Mamucan, the seven princes of the Persians, and Meedes, which saw the king's face, and sat above in the kingdom; What law should be execute upon the queen Vasthi, 15 because she did not according to the word of the king by his chamberlains. Then said Mamucan before the king and the 16 princes: the queen Vasthi hath not onely done evil against the king but also against all the princes and all the people in all the lands of king Ahasuerus for this deed of the queen 17 shall come abroad unto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands before their eyes, and shall say: the king Ahasuerus commanded Vasthi the queen to come before him, but she would not. And so shall the princesses in Persia and Me- 18 dia say likewise unto all the king's princes, when they hear of this deed of the queen, thus shall there arise dispiteful-ness and wrath enough. If it please the king, let there go 19 a* commandment from him, and let it be written according to the law of the Persians and Medians (and not to be transgressed) that Vasthi come no more before king Ahasuerus, and let the king give the kingdom unto another that is better than she. And that this writing of the king which shall be made, 20 be published thorowout all his empire, (which is great) that all wives may hold their husbands in honour, both among the great and small. This pleased the king and the princes, and 21 the king did according to the word of Mamucan. Then were 22 there letters sent forth into all the king's lands, into every land according to the writing thereof, and to every people after their language, that every man should be lord in his own house. And this caused he be spoken after the language of his people.

After these acts when the displeasure of king Ahasuerus II was laid he thought upon Vasthi, what she had done, and what was concluded concerning her. Then said the king's servants: 2 Let there be fair young virgins sought for the king, and let 3 the king appoint overseers in all the lands of his empire, that they may bring together all fair young virgins unto the castle Susan to the women's building, under the hand of Hegei the king's chamberlain, that keepeth the Women, and let him give them their apparel. And look which damsel pleaseth the 4 king, let her be queen in Vasthi's stead. This pleased the king, and he did so. In the castle of Susan there was a Jew, whose 5 name was Mardocheus, the son of Jair, the son of Semei, the son of Cis, the son of Jemini, which was carried away from 6

Jerusalem, when Jekoniah the king of Judah was led away, 7 (whom Nabuchodonozor the king of Babilon carried away) and he nourished Hadasah (that is Esther) * his uncle's daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and she was a fair and beautiful damsel. And when her father and mother died, 8 Mardocheus received her as his own daughter. Now when the king's commandment and commission was published, and many damsels were brought together unto the castle of Susan under the hand of Hagei, Esther was taken also unto the king's 9 house under the hand of Hagei the keeper of the women, and the damsel pleased him, and she found grace in his sight. And he caused her ointment to be given her, and her gifts, and gave her seven notable gentle women of the king's house, and arrayed both her and her gentle women very richly in the house 10 of women.* But Esther shewed not her people nor her kindred: for Mardocheus had charged her, that she should not 11 tell it. And Mardocheus walked every day before the court of the women's building, that he might know how Esther did, 12 and what should become of her. And when the appointed time of every damsel came that she should come to the king Ahasuerus, after that she had been twelve months in the decking of the women (for their decking must have so much time, namely six months with Balm and Myrre, and six months with 13 good spices, so were the women beautified) then went there one damsel unto the king, and whatsoever she required, that must be given her to go with her out of the women's building 14 unto the king's palace. And when one came in the evening, the same went from him on the morrow into the second house of women, under the hand of Sasagas the king's chamberlain, which kept the concubines. And she must come in unto the king no more, except it pleased the king, and that he caused 15 her to be called by name. Now when the time came of Esther the daughter of Abihail Mardocheus uncle (whom he had received as his own daughter) that she should come to the king, she desired nothing but what Hagei the king's chamberlain the keeper of the women, said. And Esther found favour in 16 the sight of all them that looked upon her. And Esther was taken unto king Ahasuerus in to the house royal, in the tenth month, which is called Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign. And the king loved Esther above all the women, and she found 17 grace and mercy in his sight before all the virgins: and he set the queens crown upon her head, and made her queen in stead of Vasthi. And the king made a great feast unto all his princes 18 and his servants, (which feast was because of Esther) and let the lands be in quietness, and gave royal gifts. And when the 19 virgins were gathered together the second time, Mardocheus sat in the king's gate. And as yet had not Esther shewed her 20 kindred and her people, according as Mardocheus had bidden her: for Esther did after the word of Mardocheus, like as when he was her tutor. At the same time while Mardocheus sat 21 in the king's gate, two of the king's chamberlains, Bagathan and Thares which kept the door, were wroth, and sought to lay their hands on the king Ahasuerus: whereof Mardocheus gat 22 knowledge, and told it unto queen Esther, and Esther certified the king thereof in Mardocheus' name. And when inquisition was made, it was found so. And they were both hanged on a 23 tree: and it was written in the Chronicles before the king.

After these acts did the king promote Haman the son of III Amadatha the Agagite, and set him high, and set his seat above all the princes that were with him. And all the king's 2 servants that were in the gate, bowed their knees, and did reveyed unto Haman: for the king had so commanded. But Mardocheus bowed not the knee, and worshiped him not. Then 3 the king's servants which were in the king's gate, said unto Mardocheus: Why transgressest thou the king's commandment?
 And when they spake this daily unto him and he followed them 4 not, they told Haman, that they might see whether Mardocheus' matters would endure: for he had told them, that he was a Jew. And when Haman saw, that Mardocheus bowed not the 5 knee unto him, nor worshipped him, he was full of indignation * and thought it too little to lay hands* onely on Mardocheus: 6 for they had shewed him the nation* of Mardocheus, but he sought to destroy all the Jews the nation* of Mardocheus, that were in the whole empire of Ahasuerus. In the first month 7 (that is the month Nisan) in the twelfth year of king Ahasuerus they cast Phur, (that is a lot) before Haman, on what day and what month this should be done: and it went out the twelfth 8 month that is the month Adar.* And Haman said unto king Ahasuerus: There is a people scattered abroad and dispersed among all people in all the lands of thine empire, and their law is contrary unto all people, and they do not after the king's laws, neither is it the king's profit to suffer them after this 9 manner. If it please the king, let him write, that they may be destroyed, and so will I weigh down ten thousand talents of silver, under the hands of the workmen, to be brought into the 10 king's chamber. Then took the king his ring from his hand, and gave it unto Haman the son of Amadatha the Agagite, the 11 Jews' enemy. And the king said unto Haman: Let the silver be given thee, and that people also, to do with all what pleaseth 12 thee. Then were the king's scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and there was written (according as Haman commanded) unto the king's princes, and to the captains* everywhere in the lands, and to the rulers of every people in the countries on every side, according to the writing of every nation, and after their language in the name of king Ahasuerus, 13 and sealed with the king's ring. And the writings were sent by posts in to all the king's lands, to root out, to kill, and to destroy all Jews, both young and old, children and women in one day, (namely upon the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, 14 which is the month Adar) and to spoil their goods. This was the sum of the writing, that there should be a commandment given in all lands, to be published unto all people, that they 15 should be ready against the same day. And the posts went in all the haste according to the king's commandment. And in the castle of Susan was the commandment devised. And the king and Haman sat and drank. But the city Susan was disquieted.

IV When Mardocheus perceived all that was done, he rent his clothes, and put on sack cloth, and ashes, and went out into 2 the midst* of the city, and cried loud and lamentably, and came before the king's gate: for there might no man enter 3 within the king's gate, that hath* sack cloth on. And in all lands and places, as far as the king's word and commandment extended, there was great lamentation among the Jews and many fasted, wept, mourned and lay in sack clothes and in ashes. So Esther's damsels and her chamberlains, came and 4 told it her. Then was the queen exceedingly astonished. And she sent raiment, that Mardocheus should put them on, and lay the sackcloth from him. But Mardocheus would not take them. Then called Esther Hathath one of the king's chamber- 5 lains (which stood before her) and gave him a commandment to Mardocheus, that he might know what it were, and wherefore he did so. So Hathath went forth to Mardocheus unto the 6 street of the city, which was before the king's gate. And Mar- 7 docheus told him of all that had happened unto him, and of the sum of silver that Haman had promised to weigh down in the king's chamber because of the Jews, for to destroy them. And 8 he gave him the copy of the commandment, that was devised at Susan to destroy them, that he might shew it unto Esther, and to speak to her and charge her, that she should go into the king, and make her prayer and supplication unto him for her people.

And when Hathath came in, and told Esther the words of Mar- 9 docheus, Esther spake unto Hathath, and commanded him to 10 say unto Mardocheus: All the king's servants, and the people 11 in the lands of the king know, that whosoever cometh within the court unto the king, whether it be man or woman, which is not called, the commandment is that the same shall die immediately, except the king hold out the golden scepter unto him, that he may live. As for me, I have not been called to come in to the king now this thirty days. And when Mardocheus was 12 certified of Esther's words, Mardocheus bade say again unto 13 Esther: think not to save thine own life, while thou art in the king's house before all Jews: for if thou holdest thy peace at 14 this time, then shall the Jews have help and deliverance out of another place, and thou and thy father's house shall be destroyed. And who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom, for this time's sake? Esther bade, give Mardocheus this 15 answer: Go thou thy way then, and gather together all the 16 Jews that are found at Susan, and fast ye for me, that ye eat not and drink not in three days, neither day nor night. I and my damsels will fast likewise, and so will I go in to the king contrary to the commandment: if I perish, I perish. So Mar- 17 docheus went his way, and did all that Esther had commanded him.

V And on the third day put Esther on her royal apparel, and stood in the inner court of the king's palace within over against the king's house. And the king sat upon his royal seat in the 2 king's palace over against the gate* of the house. And when the king saw Esther the queen standing in the court, she found grace in his sight. And the king held out the golden scepter in his hand toward Esther. So Esther stepped* forth, and touched 3 the top of the scepter. Then said the king unto her: What wilt thou queen Esther? and what requirest thou? ask even the 4 half of the empire, and it shall be given thee. Esther said: If it please the king, let the king and Haman come this day 5 unto the banquet that I have prepared. The king said: Cause Haman to make haste, that he may do as Esther hath said. Now when the king and Haman came to the banquet that Es-6 ther had prepared, the king said unto Esther at the banquet of wine,* Esther what is thy petition? and it shall be given thee. And what requirest thou? even the half of the empire, it 7 shall be done. Then answered Esther and said: My petition 8 and desire is, if I have found grace in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to give me my petition, and to fulfill my request, then let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and so will I do tomorrow as the 9 king hath said. Then went Haman forth the same day joyful and merry in his mind. And when he saw Mardocheus in the king's gate, that he stood not up and kneeled before him, he 10 was full of indignation at Mardocheus. Nevertheless he refrained himself: and when he came home, he sent, and called 11 for his friends, and Zares his wife, and told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children all together how the king had promoted him so greatly, and how that he was 12 taken above the princes and servants of the king. Haman said moreover: Yea and Esther the queen let no man come with the king unto the banquet that she had prepared, except me, and 13 tomorrow am I bidden unto her also with the king. But in all this am I not satisfied as long as I see Mardocheus the Jew 14 sitting at the king's gate. Then said Zares his wife and all his friends unto him: Let them make a gallows of fifty cubits high, and tomorrow speak thou unto the king, that Mardocheus may be hanged thereon, if thou comest merrily with the king unto the banquet. Haman was well content with all, and caused a gallows to be prepared.

The same night could not the king sleep, and he commanded VI to bring the Chronicles and the stories: which when they were read before the king, they happened on the place where it was written, how Mardocheus had told, that the king's two chamberlains, (which kept the thresholds) sought: to lay hands on king Ahasuerus. And the king said: What worship and good have we done to Mardocheus therefore? Then said the king's servants that ministered unto him, there is nothing done for him. And the king said: Who is in the court? (for Haman was gone into the court without before the king's house, that he might speak unto the king to hang Mardocheus on the tree, that he had prepared for him.) And the king's servants said unto him: behold, Haman standeth in the court. The king said: let him come in. And when Haman came in, the king said unto him: what shall be done unto the man, whom the king would fain bring unto worship? But Haman thought in his heart: Whom should the king else be glad to bring unto worship, but me? And Haman said unto the king: Let the man unto whom the king would be glad to do worship, be brought hither, that he may be arrayed with the royal garments which the king useth to wear: and the horse that the king rideth upon, and that the crown royal may be set upon his head. And let this raiment and horse be delivered under the hand of one of the king's princes, that he may array the man withal (whom the king would fain honour) and carry him upon the horse thorow the street of the city, and cause it to be proclaimed before him: Thus shall it be done to every man, whom the king would fain honour. The king said: make haste, and take as thou hath said, the raiment and the horse: and do even so with Mardocheus the Jew that sitteth before the king's gate, and let nothing fail of all that thou hast spoken. Then took Haman the raiment and the horse, and arrayed him, and brought him on horseback thorow the street of the city, and proclaimed before him: Even thus shall it be done unto every man whom the king is disposed to honour. And Mardocheus came again to the king's gate, but Haman gat him home in all the haist, mourning with bare head, and told Zares his wife and all his friends, every thing that had happened him. Then said his wise men and Zares his wife unto him: If it be Mardocheus of the seed of the Jews, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou 14 canst do nothing unto him, but shalt fall before him. While they were yet talking with him, came the king's chamberlains, and caused Haman to make haste to come unto the banquet that Esther had prepared.

VII And when the king and Haman came to banquet that queen 2 Esther had prepared, the king said unto Esther on the second day at the banquet of wine:* What is thy petition queen Esther, that it may be given thee? And what requirest thou? Yea, 3 ask even half of the empire, and it shall be done. Esther the queen answered and said: If I have found grace in thy sight, (O king) and if it please the king, then grant me my life at 4 my desire and my people for my petition's sake: for we are sold, I and my people both to be destroyed, to be slain, and to perish. And would God we were sold to be bondmen and bond-5 women, then would I hold my tongue, so should not the enemy be so high to the king's harm. The king Ahasuerus spake and said unto queen Esther: What is he that? Or where is he that dare presume in his mind to do such a thing after that man-6 ner? Esther said: The enemy and adversary is this wicked Haman. As for Haman, he was exceedingly afraid before the 7 king and the queen. And the king arose from the banquet and from the wine in his displeasure and went in to the palace garden. And Haman stood up, and besought queen Esther for his life: for he saw that there was a mischance prepared for him 8 of the king already. And when the king came again out of the palace garden into the parlor where they had eaten, Haman had laid him upon the bed that Esther sat upon. Then said the king; Will he force the queen also beside me in the house? As soon as that word went out of the king's mouth, they covered 9 Haman's face. And Harbonah, one of the chamberlains that stood before the king, said: Behold, there standeth a gallows in Haman's house fifty cubits high, which he had made for Mar-docheus, that spake good for the king. The king said: hang him 10 thereon. So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had made for Mardocheus. Then was the king's wrath pacified.*

VIII The same day did king Ahasuerus give the house of Haman the Jews' enemy, unto queen Esther. And Mardocheus came before the king: for Esther told how that he belonged unto her. And the king put off his finger ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it unto Mardocheus. And Esther set Mardocheus over the house of Haman. And Esther spake yet more before the king, and fell down at his feet, and besought him, that he would put away the wickedness of Haman the Agagite, and his device that he had imagined against the Jews. And the king held out the golden scepter unto Esther. Then rose Esther, and stood before the king, and said: if it please the king, and if I have found grace in his sight, and if it be convenient for the king, and if it be accepted in his sight, then let it be written, that the letters of the device of Haman the son of Hamadatha the Agagite, may be called again: which letters he wrote, to destroy the Jews in all the king's lands. For how can I see the evil that shall happen unto my people? and how can I look upon the destruction of my kindred? Then said the king Ahasuerus unto queen Esther, and to Mardocheus the Jew. Behold, I have given Esther the house of Haman, and him have they hanged upon a tree, because he laid hand upon the Jews. Write ye now therefore for the Jews, as it liketh you in the king's name, and seal it with the king's ring, (for the writings that were written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's ring, durst no man disannul) Then were the king's scribes called at the same time in the third month, that is the month Sivan, on the three and twentieth day. And it was written (as Mardocheus commanded) unto the Jews and to the princes, to the Deputies and captains in the lands from India until Ethiopia, namely an hundredth and seven and twenty lands, unto every one according to the writing thereof, unto every people after their speach, and to the Jews according to their writing and language. And it was written in the king Ahasuerus' name, and sealed with the king's ring. And by posts that rode upon swift young Mules, sent he the writings, wherein the king granted the Jews (in what cities soever they were) to gather them selves together, and to stand for their life,* and for to root out, to slay and to destroy all the power of the people and land that would trouble them, with children and women, and to spoil their good upon one day in all the

8. v.11 Other translation: To stand for their life is a manner of speaking familiar to the Hebrews, for that we say, to defend their lives, & shift them selues from the cruel persecution of their enemies.

lands of king Ahasuerus, namely upon the thirteenth day of 13 the twelfth month, which is the month Adar. The sum of the writing was, how there was a commandment given in all lands to be published unto all the people, that the Jews should be ready against that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.
14 And the posts that rode upon the Mules, made haste with all speed, according to the king's word: and the commandment 15 was devised in the castle of Susan. As for Mardocheus, he went out from the king in royal apparel of yellow and white, and with a great crown of gold, being arrayed with a garment of linen and purple, and the city of Susan rejoiced and was 16 glad: but unto the Jews was come light and gladness, and joy, 17 and worship. And in all lands and cities, into what places soever, the king's word and commandment reached, there was joy and mirth, prosperity and good days among the Jews: insomuch that many of the people in the land became of the Jews' belief, for the fear of the Jews came upon them.

IX In the twelfth month, that is the month Adar, upon the thirteenth day, which the king's word and commandment had appointed, that it should be done, even upon the same day that the enemies should have destroyed the Jews to have oppressed them, it turned contrary wise, even that the Jews should sub-2 due their enemies. Then gathered the Jews together in their cities within all the lands of the king Ahasuerus, to lay hand on such as would do them evil, and no man could withstand 3 them: for the fear of them was come over all people. And all the rulers in the lands, and princes and Deputies, and officers of the king promoted the Jews: for the fear of Mardocheus 4 came upon them. For Mardocheus was great in the king's house, and the report of him was noised in all lands, how he 5 increased and grew. Thus the Jews smote all their enemies with a sore slaughter, and slew and destroyed, and did after 6 their will unto such as were their adversaries. And at the castle of Susan slew the Jews and destroyed five hundredth 7, 8 men: and slew Pharsandatha, Delphon, Aspatha, Phoratha, 9, 10 Adalia, Aridatha, Pharmastha, Arisai, Aridai, Vaizatha, the ten sons of Haman the son of Hammadatha the enemy of the 11 Jews: but on his goods they laid no hands. At the same time was the king certified of the number of those that were slain 12 at the castle of Susan. And the king said unto queen Esther:

The Jews have slain and destroyed five hundredth men at the castle of Susan, and the ten sons of Haman: What shall they do in the other lands of the king? What is thy petition, that it may be given thee? and what requirest thou more to be done? Esther said: If it please the king, let him suffer the Jews tomorrow also to do according unto this day's commandment, that they may hang Haman's ten sons upon the tree. And the king charged to do so, and the commandment was devised at Susan, and Haman's ten sons were hanged. And the Jews gathered themselves together at Susan, upon the fourteenth day of the month Adar, and slew three hundredth men at Susan, but on their goods they laid no hands. As for the other Jews in the king's lands, they came together, and stood for their lives, and gat rest from their enemies: and slew of their enemies five and seventy thousand, how be it they laid no hands on their goods. This was done on the thirteenth day of the month Adar, and on the fourteenth day of the same month rested they, which day they ordained to be a day of feasting and gladness. But the Jews at Susan were come together both on the thirteenth day and on the fourteenth, and on the fifteenth day they rested, and the same day ordained they to be a day of feasting and gladness. Therefore the Jews that dwelt in the villages and unwall'd towns, ordained the fourteenth day of the month Adar, to be a day of feasting and gladness, and one sent gifts to another. And Mardocheus wrote these acts, and sent the writings unto all the Jews that were in all the lands of the king Ahasuerus, both nye and far, that they should yearly receive and hold the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the month Adar, as the days wherein the Jews came to rest from their enemies, and as a month wherein their pain was turned to joy, and their sorrow to prosperity: that they should observe the same days of wealth and gladness, and one to send gifts to another, and to distribute unto the poor. And the Jews received it that they had begun to do, and that Mardocheus wrote unto them: how that Haman the son of Hamadatha, all the Jews enemy, had devised to destroy all the Jews, and caused to cast Phur, (that is Lot) for to put them in fear, and to bring them to naught: and how Hester went and spake to the king, that thorow letters his wicked device (which he imagined against the Jews) might be turned upon his own head, and how he and 26 his sons were hanged on the tree. For the which cause they called this day Phurim after the name of Phur,* according to all the words of this writing: and what they themselves had 27 seen, and what had happened unto them. And the Jews set it up, and took it upon them and their seed, and upon all such as joined themselves unto them, that they would not miss to observe these two days yearly, according as they were written 28 and appointed, how that these days are not to be forgotten, but to be kept of the children's children among all kindreds in all lands and cities. They are the days of Phurim, which are not to be overslipped* among the Jews, and the memorial of 29 them ought not to perish from their seed. And queen Hester the daughter of Abihail and Mardocheus the Jew wrote with 30 all authority, to confirm this second writing of Phurim, and sent the letters unto all the Jews, in the hundredth and seven and twenty lands of the empire of Ahasuerus, with friendly and 31 faithful words, to confirm these days of Phurim, in their time appointed, according as Mardocheus the Jew and Hester the queen had ordained concerning them: like as they upon their soul and upon their seed had confirmed the acts of the fasting 32 and of her complaint. And Hester commanded to establish these acts of this Phurim, and to write them in a book.

X And the king Ahasuerus laid tribute upon the land, and 2 upon the Isles of the sea.* As for all the work of his power and authority, and the great worship of Mardocheus, which the king gave him, behold, it is written in the Chronicles of the 3 kings of Media and Persia. For Mardocheus the Jew was the second next unto king Ahasuerus, and great among the Jews, and accepted among the multitude of his brethren, as one that seeketh the wealth of his people, and speaketh the best for all his seed.

The end of the book of Esther.

The Book Of Job.

In the land of Hus, there was a man called Job: an innocent and virtuous man, such one as feared God, and eschewed evil. This man had seven sons, and three daughters. His substance was seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundredth yoke of oxen, five hundredth she asses, and a very great household: so that he was one of the most principal men among all them of the east country. And his sons went,* and made banquets: one day in one house, another day in another, and sent for their three sisters to eat and to drink with them. So when they had passed over the time of their banqueting round about, Job sent for them, and cleansed them again, and gat* up early, and offered for everyone a brentoffering. For Job thought thus: peradventure my sons have done some offense, and have been unthankful to God in their hearts. And thus did Job everyday. Now upon a time, when the servants of God came and stood before the LORD, Sathan came also among them. And the LORD said unto Sathan: From whence comest thou? Sathan answered the LORD, and said: I have gone about the land and walked thorow it. Then said the LORD unto Sathan: hast thou not considered my servant Job, and how that he is an innocent and virtuous man: such one as feareth God, and escheweth evil, and that there is none like him in the land? Sathan answered, and said unto the LORD: Doth Job fear God for naught? hast thou not preserved him, his house, and all his substance on every side? hast thou not blessed the work of his hands? Is not his possession increased* in the land? But lay thine hand upon him a little, touch once all that he hath, and (I hold) he shall curse thee to thy face. And the LORD said unto Sathan: lo all that he hath, be in thy power: only upon him self see that thou lay not thine hand. Then went Sathan forth from the LORD. Now upon a certain day when his sons and daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brother's house, there came a messenger unto Job, and said: While the oxen were a plowing, and the Asses going in the pasture beside them: the Sabees came in violently, and took them all away: yea they have slain thy* servants with the sword, and 16 I only ran my way, to tell thee. And while he was yet speaking, there came another, and said: The fire of God is fallen from heaven, it hath consumed, and brent up all thy sheep 17 and servants: and I only ran my way, to tell thee. In the mean season while he was yet speaking, there came another, and said: The Caldees made three armies, and fell upon thy* camels, which they have carried away, yea and slain thy servants with the sword: and I only am gotten away, to tell thee: 18 While he was speaking, there came yet another, and said: Thy sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their el-19 dest brother's house, and suddenly there came a mighty great wind out of the South, and smote the four corners of the house: which fell upon thy children, so that they are dead: and I am 20 gotten away alone, to tell thee. Then Job stood up, and rent his clothes, shaved his head, fell down upon the ground, wor-21 shipped, and said: Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked shall I turn thither again. The LORD gave, and the LORD hath taken away,* now blessed be the name of the LORD.

 22 In all these things did Job not offend, nor murmured foolishly against God.

II It happened also upon a time, that when the servants of God came and stood before the LORD, Sathan* came among them, 2 and stood before him. And the LORD said unto Sathan: From whence comest thou? Sathan answered and said: I have gone 3 about the land, and walked thorow it. Then said the LORD unto Sathan: Hast thou not considered my servant Job, how that he is an innocent and virtuous man such one as feareth God, and escheweth evil, and that there is none like him in the land? But thou movedst me against him, to punish him: yet is 4 it in vain, for he continueth still in his godlyness. Sathan answered the LORD, and said: Skin for skin? yea a man will give 5 all that ever he hath, for his life. But lay thine hand upon him, touch him once upon the bone and flesh, and (I hold) he shall 6 curse thee to thy face. Then said the LORD unto Sathan: lo, 7 there hast thou him in thy power, but spare his life. So went Sathan forth from the LORD, and smote Job with marvelous 8 sore boils,* from the sole of the foot unto his crown. So that he sat upon the ground in the ashes, and scraped off the filth* of his sores with a potsherd. Then said his wife unto him: 9 Dost thou* continue in thy perfectness? curse God, and die. But Job said unto her: Thou speakest like a foolish woman. 10 Seeing we have received prosperity at the hand of God, wherefore should we not be content with adversity also? In all these things, did not Job sin with his lips. Now when Job's friends 11 heard of all the trouble, that happened to him, there came three of them, every one from his own place: namely, Eliphaz the Thamanite, Baldad the Suhite, and Zophar the Naamathite. For they were agreed together to come, to shew their compassion on him, and to comfort him. So when they lift up 12 their eyes afar off, they knew him not. Then they cried, and wept: then every one of them rent his clothes, and sprinkled dust upon their heads in the air. They sat them down by him 13 also upon the ground seven days and seven nights. Neither was there any of them that spake one word unto him, for they saw that his pain was very great.

After this opened Job his mouth, and cursed his day, and III, 2 said: lost be the day, wherein I was born: and the night, in 3 the which it was said: there is a man child conceived. The 4 same day be turned to darkness, and not regarded of God from above, neither be shined upon with light: but be covered with 5 darkness, and the shadow of death. Let the dim cloud fall upon it, and let it be lapped in with sorrow. Let the dark storm 6 overcome that* night, let it not be reckoned among the days of the year, nor counted in the months. Despised be that night, 7 and discommended: let them that curse the day, even those 8 that be ready to raise up mourning give it also their curse.* Let the stars be dim thorow darkness of it. Let it look for light, 9 but let it see none, neither the raising up of the fair morning: because it shut not up the womb that bare me, nor hide these 10 sorrows from mine eyes. Alas, why died I not in the birth? 11 Why did not I perish, as soon as I came out of my mother's womb? Why set they me upon their knees? Why gave they 12 me suck with their breasts? Then should I now have layen 13 still, I should have slept, and been at rest: like as the kings 14 and lords of the earth, which build themselves special places:

15 As the princes that have great substance of gold, and their 16 houses full of silver. O that I utterly had no being, or were as a thing born out of time (that is put aside) ether as young 17 children, which never saw the light. There must the wicked cease from their tyranny, there such as are overlaboured be at 18 rest: there are those let out free, which have been in prison, 19 so that they hear no more the voice of the oppressor: There are small and great: the bondman, and he that is free from his 20 master. Wherefore is the light given to him that is in misery?
 21 and life unto them, that have heavy hearts? Which long for 22 death, if it come not: and search for it more than for treasure which also would be exceedingly glad, and rejoyce if they found 23 their grave.* That should be joy to the man whose way is hid, 24 which God keepeth back from him. For my sighs come* before 25 I eat, and my roarings fall out like flowing water.* For the thing that I feared, is come upon me: and the thing that I was 26 afraid of, is happened unto me. Was I not happy? Had I not quietness? Was I not in rest? And now cometh such misery upon me.

IV Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite and said unto him: 2 If we begin to commune* with thee, peradventure thou wilt be 3 discontent, but who can withhold himself from speaking? Behold, thou hast been a teacher of many, and hast comforted 4 the weary hands. Thy words have set up those that were 5 fallen, thou hast refreshed the weak knees. But now that the plague is come upon thee, thou shrinkest away: now that it 6 hath touched thy self, thou art faint hearted. Is not this thy fear,* thy steadfastness, thy patience, and the perfectness of 7 thy ways? * Consider (I pray thee) who ever perished being 8 an innocent? Or, when were the godly destroyed? As I have seen them that plow vanity* and sow malice* reap the same.

 I knew not his face, an image there was before me and there was stillness,* so that I heard this voice. Shall man be more 17 just than God? Or shall man be purer than his maker? * Be 18 found frowardness.* How much more in them* that dwell in 19

Name me one else, if thou can find any: yee look about thee, V upon any of the holy men. As for the foolish man, displea- 2 sure killeth him and anger slayeth the ignorant. I have seen 3 my self, when the foolish was deep rooted, that his beauty was suddenly* destroyed, that his children were without prosper- 4 ity or health: that they were slain in the door, and no man to deliver them: that his harvest was eaten up of the hungry: 5 that the weaponed man had spoiled it, and that the thirsty had drunk up his riches. Is it not the earth that bringeth forth 6 travail, neither cometh sorrow out of the ground: but it is 7 man, that is born unto misery, like as the bird for to flee. But 8 now will I speak of the Lorde, and talk of God: which doth 9 things, that are unsearchable, and marvelous without number: Which giveth rain upon the earth, and poureth water 10 11 upon all things: which setteth up them of low degree, and 12 sendeth prosperity, to those that are in heaviness: Which de-13 stroyeth the devices of the subtle, so that they are not able to 14 perform the things that they take in hand: which compass 15 the wise in their own craftiness, and overthroweth the coun-16 sel of the wicked? In so much that they run in to darkness 17 by fair day, and grope about them at the noon day, like as in 18 the night. And so he delivereth the poor from the sword, from 19 their mouth, and from the hand of the cruel, that the poor 20 may have hope, and that the mouth of the oppressor may be 21 stopped. Behold, happy is the man, whom God punisheth: 22 therefore, despise not thou the chastening of the Almighty.

23 For though he make a wound, he giveth a medicine again: 24 though he smite, his hand maketh whole again. He deliv-25 ereth thee out of six troubles, so that in the seventh there can 26 no harm touch thee. In the midst of hunger he saveth thee 27 from death: and when it is war, from the power of the sword.
He shall keep thee from the perilous tongue so that when trouble cometh, thou shalt not need to fear. In destruction and dearth thou shalt be merry, and shalt not be afraid for the beasts of the earth: But the castles in the land shall be confederate with thee, and the beasts of the field, shall give thee peace. Yea thou shalt know,* that thy dwelling place shall be in rest: thou shalt behold thy substance, and be no more punished for sin. Thou shalt see also, that thy seed shall increase, and that thy posterity shall be as the grass upon the earth. Thou shalt come to thy grave in a fair age, like as the corn sheaves are brought in to the barn in due season. Lo, this is the matter, as we ourselves have proved by experience.
Therefore now that thou hearest it, take better heed to thyself.

VI Job answered, and said: Oh that my misery were weighed, 2 and my punishment laid in the balances: For then should it 3 be heavier, than the sand of the sea. This is the cause, that 4 my words are so sorrowful. For the arrows of the allmighty 5 are in me, whose indignation hath drunk up my spirit, and the 6 terrible fears of God fight against me. Doth the wild ass roar when he hath grass? Or crieth the ox, when he hath fodder enough? That which is unsavory, shalt it be eaten without salt, or is there any taste in the white of an egg? * The things 7 that some time I might not away withal, are now my meat for 8 very sorrow. O that I might have my desire: O that God would 8 grant me the thing, that I long for: That he would begin and 9 smite me: that he would let his hand go, and hew me down. 9 Then should I have some comfort: yea I would desire him in 10 my pain, that he should not spare, for I will not be against the words of the holy one. What power have I to endure? Or, what 11 is mine end, that my soul might be patient? Is my strength 12 the strength of stones? Or is my flesh made of brass? Is it 13 not so that there is in me no help? that my substance is taken from me.* He that is in tribulation ought to be comforted of 14 his neighbour: but the fear of the Lord is clean away: Mine 15 own brethren pass over by me as the water brook, that hastily runneth thorow the valleys. But they that fear the hoarfrost, 16 the snow shall fall upon them. When their time cometh, they 17 shall be destroyed and perish: and when they be set on fire, they shall be removed out of their place, for the paths that 18 they go in, are crooked: they haste after vain things, and shall perish. Consider the paths of Theman, and the ways of Saba, 19 wherein they have put their trust. Confounded are they, that 20 put any confidence in them: For when they came to obtain the things that they looked for, they were brought to confusion.

 Even so are ye also come unto me: but now that ye see my 21 misery, ye are afraid. Did I desire you, to come hither? Or, 22 to give me any of your substance? To deliver me from the 23 enemy's hand, or to save me from the power of the mighty?
 Teach me and I will hold my tongue: and if I do err, shew me 24 wherein. Wherefore blame ye then the words, that are well 25 and truly spoken? which of you can reprove them? Saving 26 only that ye are subtle to check men's sayings, and can speak many words in the wind. Ye fall upon the fatherless, and go 27 about to overthrow your own friend. Wherefore look not only 28 upon me, but upon yourselves: whether I lie, or no. Turn into 29 your own selves (I pray you) be indifferent judges, and consider mine unguiltiness: whether there be any unrighteousness in 30 my tongue, or vain words in my mouth.

6. v.6 Other: Maye a thyng be eaten unseasoned, or without salt? What taist hath ye whyte within the yoke an egg?. v.13 Other: Am I able to help my self? Is not my strength gone from me, like as if one withdrew a good deed from his friend, and forsook the fear of God?.

VII Is not the life of man upon earth a very battle? Are not his 2 days like the days of an hired servant? For like as a bond servant desireth the shadow, and as an hireling would fain have 3 an end of his work: Even so have I laboured whole months 4 long (but in vain) and many a careful night have I told. When I laid me down to sleep, I said: O when shall I rise? Again, I longed sore for the night. Thus am I full of sorrow, till it be 5 dark. My flesh is clothed with worms, filthiness and dust: my 6 skin is withered, and crumpled together: my days pass over more speedily, than a weaver can weave out his web: and are 7 gone, or I am aware.* O remember, that my life is but a wind, 8 and that mine eye shall no more see the pleasures thereof, yea 9 and that none other man's eye shall see me anymore. For if thou fasten thine eyes upon me, I come to naught like as a cloud is consumed and vanisheth away, even so he that goeth 10 down to hell, cometh no more up, nor turneth again into his 11 house, neither shall his place know him any more. Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speak in the trouble of my 12 spirit, in that bitterness of my mind will I talk. Am I a sea, 13 or a whalefish, that thou keepest me so in prison? When I think: my bed shall comfort me. I shall have some refreshing 14 by talking by myself upon my couch: Then troublest thou me 15 with dreams, and makest me so afraid thorow visions, that my soul wisheth rather to be strangled,* and my bones to be 16 dead. I can see no remedy, I shall live no more: O spare me 17 then, for my days are but vain. What is man, that thou hast 18 him in such reputation, and setest so much by him? Thou takest diligent care for him, and suddenly* doest thou try him.
 19 Why goest thou not from me, nor letest me alone, so long till 20 I swallow down my spittle? I have offended, what shall I do unto thee, O thou preserver of men? Why hast thou made me to stand in thy way, and am so heavy a burden unto myself?
 21 Why doest thou not forgive my sin? Wherefore takest thou not away my wickedness. Behold, now must I sleep in the dust: And if thou seekest me tomorrow in the morning, I shall be gone.

VIII, 2 Then answered Baldad the Suhite, and said: How long wilt thou talk of such things? how long shall thy mouth speak 3 so proud words? Doth God pervert the thing that is lawful? Or, doth the Almighty destroy the thing that is right? When thy sons sinned against him, did not he punish them 4 for their wickedness? If thou wouldest now resort unto God 5 by times, and make thy humble prayer to the Almighty: If 6 thou wouldest live a pure and godly life: should he not wake up unto thee immediately, and give thee the beauty of righteousness again? In so much, that wherein soever thou hadst little 7 afore, thou shouldest now have great abundance. Enquire 8 of them that have been before thee, search diligently among thy forefathers: Namely, that we are but of yesterday, and 9 consider not, that our days upon earth are but a very shadow. They shall shew thee, they shall tell thee, yea they will gladly 10 confess the same. May a rush be green without moistness? 11 may the grass grow without water? No: but (or ever it be 12 shot forth, and or ever it be gathered) it withereth, before any other herb. Even so goeth it with all them, that forget God: 13 and even thus also shall the hypocrite's hope come to naught. His confidence shall be destroyed, for he trusteth in a spider's 14 web. He leaneth him upon his house, but he shall not stand: 15 he holdeth him fast by it, yet shall he not endure. Often time 16 a thing doth flourish, and men think that it may abide the Son shining: * it shooteth forth the branches in his garden, it 17 taketh many roots, in so much that it is like a house of stones. But if it be taken out of his place, every man denyeth it, say- 18 ing: I know thee not. Lo, thus is it with him, that rejoiceth in 19 his own doings: and as for others, they grow out of the earth. Behold, God will not cast away a virtuous man, neither will 20 he help the ungodly. Thy mouth shall be still with laugh- 21 ing, and thy lips with gladness. They that hate thee, shall 22 be confounded, and the dwellings of the ungodly shall come to naught.

Job answered, and said: As for that, I know it is so of a IX, 2 truth, that a man compared unto God, can not be justified. If 3 he will argue with him, he shall not be able to answer him unto one among a thousand. He is wise of heart, and mighty in 4 strength. Who ever prospered that took part against him? He 5 translateth the mountains, or ever they be aware,* and over- 6 throweth them in his wrath. He removeth the earth out of 7 her place, that her pillars shake withal. He commandeth the Son, and it riseth not: he closeth up the stars, as it were under 8 a signet. He himself alone spreadeth out the heavens, and 9 goeth upon the waves of the sea. He maketh the vaines* of heaven, the Orions, the seven stars and the secret places of 10 the south. He doth great things, such as are unsearchable, 11 yea and wonders without number. If he came by me, I might not look upon him: if he went his way, I should not perceive 12 it. If he be hasty to take anything away, who will make him 13 restore it again? Who will say unto him: what doest thou? He is God, whose wrath no man may withstand:* but the proudest 14 of all must stoop* under him. How should I then answer him?

15 or what words should I find out against him? Yea though I be righteous, yet will I not give him one word again, but meekly 16 submit myself to my judge. All be it that I call upon him, and he hear me, yet am I not sure, that he hath heard my voice: 17 he troubleth me so with the tempest, and woundeth me out of 18 measure without a cause. He will not let my spirit be in rest, 19 but filleth me with bitterness. If men will speak of strength, he is the strongest of all: if men will speak of righteousness, 20 who dare be my record. If I will justify my self, mine own mouth shall condemn me: if I will put forth my self for a per-21 fect man, he shall prove me a wicked doer: For that I should be an innocent, my conscience knoweth it not, yea I my self am 22 weary of my life. This one thing will I say: He destroyeth both 23 the righteous and ungodly. And though he slay suddenly with the scourge, yet laugheth he at the punishment of the innocent.
24 As for the world, he giveth it over in to the power of the wicked, such as the rivers be, whereof all lands are full. Is it not so?
25 where is there any, but he is such one? My days have been more swift than a runner: they are gone suddenly, and have 26 seen no good thing. They are passed away, as the ships that be good under sail, and as the Aegle that hasteth to the prey.
27 When I am purposed to forget my complainings, to change my 28 countenance, and to comfort myself: Then am I afraid of all 29 my works, for I know, thou favourest not an evil doer. If I be 30 then a wicked one, why have I laboured in vain? Though I washed my self with snow water, and made mine hands never 31 so clean, yet shouldest thou dip me in the mire, and mine own 32 clothes should defile me. For he that I must give answer unto, and with whom I go to law, is not a man as I am. Neither is 33 there any daysman to reprove both the parts, or to lay his hand 34 betwixt us. Let him take his rod away from me, yea let him 34 make me no more afraid of him, and then shall I answer him 35 without any fear. For as long as I am in such fearfulness, I can make no answer: And why?

it grieveth my soul to live. Nevertheless, now will I put forth X my words: I will speak out of the very heaviness of my soul, and will say unto God: O do not condemn me: but shew me 2 the cause, wherefore thou judgest me on this manner. Think- 3 est thou it well done, to oppress me, to cast me off (being a work of thine hands) and to maintain the counsel of the un- 4 godly? Hast thou fleshly eyes then, or doest thou look as 4 a man looketh? Are thy days as the days of man, and thy 5 years as man's years? That thou makest such inquisition for 6 my wickedness, and searchest out my sin? Whereas (notwith- 7 standing) thou knowest that I am no wicked person, and that there is no man able to deliver me out of thine hand. Thy 8 hands have made me, and fashioned me altogether round about, wilt thou then destroy me suddenly? O remember (I beseech 9 thee) how that thou madest me of the mould of the earth, and shalt bring me to earth again. Hast thou not milked me, as it 10 were milk: and turned me to curdles like cheese? Thou hast 11 covered me with skin and flesh, and joined me together with bones and sinews. Thou hast granted me life, and done me 12 good: and the diligent heed that thou tookest upon me, hath preserved my spirit. Though thou hidest these things in thine 13 heart, yet am I sure, that thou rememberest them all. Where- 14 fore didst thou keep me, when I sinned, and hast not cleansed me from mine offense? If I do wickedly, woe is me therefore: If 15 I be righteous, yet dare I not lift up my head: so full am I of confusion, and see mine own misery. Thou huntest me out (being 16 in heaviness) as it were a Lion, and troublest me out of measure. Thou bringest fresh witnesses against me, thy wrath in- 17 creasest thou upon me, very many are the plagues that I am in.
 Wherefore hast thou brought me out of my mother's womb? O 18 that I had perished, and that no eye had seen me. If they had 19 carried me to my grave, as soon as I was born, then should I be now, as though I had never been. Shall not my short life come 20 so soon to an end? O hold thee from me, let me alone, that I 21 may ease myself a little afore I go thither, from whence I shall not turn again. Namely, to that land of darkness and shadow 22 of death: yea into that dark cloudy land and deadly shadow, where as is no order, but terrible fear as in the darkness.

XI, 2 Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said: Should not he that maketh many words, be answered? Should he that 3 bableth much, be commended therein? Should men give ear unto thee only? Thou wilt laugh other men to scorn, and shall 4 nobody mock thee again? Wilt thou say unto God: The thing 5 that I take in hand is perfect, and I am clean in thy sight? O 6 that God would speak, and open his lips against thee, that he might shew thee (out of his secret wisdom) how many fold his law is: then shouldest thou know, that God had forgotten 7 thee, because of thy sins. Wilt thou find out God with thy seeking? Wilt thou attain to the perfectness of the Almighty?
8 He is higher than heaven, what wilt thou do? Deeper than 9 hell, how wilt thou then know him? His length exceedeth the length of the earth, and his breadth the breadth of the 10 sea. Though he turn all things upside down, close them in, or 11 thrust them together, who dare check him therefore? For it is he that knoweth the vanity of men: he seeth their wicked-12 ness also, should he not then consider it? A vain body exalteth 13 himself, and the son of man is like a wild ass's foal. If thou hadst now a right heart, and liftest up thine hands toward him: 14 if thou wouldest put away the wickedness which thou hast in 15 hand, so that no ungodliness dwelt in thy house: Then might-est thou lift up thy face without shame, then shouldest thou 16 be sure, and have no need to fear. Then shouldest thou forget thy misery, and think no more upon it, than upon the waters 17 that run by. Then should thy life be as clear as the noon day, 18 and spring forth as the morning. Then mightest thou have comforth, in the hope that thou hast: and sleep quietly, when 19 thou art buried. Then shouldest thou take thy rest, and no man to make thee afraid, yea many one should set much by 20 thee. As for the eyes of the ungodly, they shall be consumed, and not escape: their hope shall be misery and sorrow of mind.

XII, 2 So Job answered, and said: Then (no doubt) ye are the 3 men alone, and wisdom shall perish with you. But I have understanding as well as ye, and am no less than ye. Yea who 4 knoweth not these things? Thus he that calleth upon God, and whom God heareth, is mocked of his neighbour: the godly and innocent man is laughed to scorn. Godliness is a light despised in the hearts of the rich, and is set for them to stumble upon.

 The houses of robbers are in wealth and prosperity, and they that maliciously meddle against God, dwell without care: yea God giveth all things richly with his hand. Ask the cattle, and they shall inform thee: the fowls of the air, and they shall tell thee: Speak to the earth, and it shall shew thee: Or to the fishes of the sea, and they shall certify thee. What is he, but he knoweth that the hand of the LORD made all these? In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all men. Have not the ears pleasure in hearing, and the mouth in tasting the thing that it eateth? Among old persons there is wisdom, and among the aged is understanding. Yea with God is wisdom and strength, it is he that hath counsel and foreknowledge. If he break down a thing, who can set it up again? If he shut a thing, who will open it?
 Behold, if he withhold the waters, they dry up: If he let them go, they destroy the earth. With him is strength and wisdom: he knoweth both the deceiver and him that is deceived. He carrieth away the wise men, as it were a spoil, and bringeth the judges out of their wits. He lowseth the girdle of kings, and girdleth their loins with a bond. He leadeth away the Priests in to captivity, and turneth the mighty up side down.
 He taketh the verity from out of the mouth, and disappointeth the aged of their wisdom. He poureth out confusion upon princes, and comforteth them that have been oppressed. Look what lieth hid in darkness, he declareth it openly: and the very shadow of death bringeth he to light. He both increaseth the people and destroyeth them: He maketh them to multiply, and driveth them away. He changeth the heart of the princes and kings of the earth, and disappointeth them: so that they go wandering out of the way, and grope in the dark without light, staggering to and fro like drunken men.

Lo, all this have I seen with mine eye, heard with mine ear, XIII and understand it. Look what ye know, that same do I know also, neither am I inferior unto you. Nevertheless I am pur-posed to talk with the almighty, and my desire is to commune* with God. As for you, ye are workmasters of lies, and unprof- 4 5 itable Physicians altogether. Would God ye kept your tongue, 6 that ye might be taken for wise men. Therefore hear my 7 words, and ponder the sentence of my lips. Will ye make an 8 answer for God with lies, and maintain him with deceit? Will 9 ye accept the person of God, and entreat for him? Shall that help you, when he calleth you to reckoning. Think ye to be-10 guile him, as a man is beguiled? He shall punish you, and 11 reprove you,* if ye do secretly accept any person. Shall he not make you afraid, when he sheweth himself? Shall not his ter-12 rible face fall upon you? your remembrance shall be like unto 13 the dust, and your pride shall be turned to clay. Hold your tongues now, and let me speak, for there is something come 14 into my mind. Wherefore do I bear my flesh in my teeth, and 15 my soul in my hands? Lo, there is neither comfort nor hope for me, if he will slay me. But if I shew and reprove mine own 16 ways in his sight, he is even the same that maketh me whole: 17 And why? There may no hypocrite come before him. Hear 18 my words, and ponder my sayings with your ears. Behold, now have I prepared my judgement, and know that I shall be 19 found righteous.* What is he that will go to law with me? For 20 if I hold my tongue, I shall die. Nevertheless grant me two 21 things, and then will I not hide my self from thee. Withdraw thine hand from me, and let not the fearful dread of thee make 22 me afraid. And then send for me to the law, that, I may answer for myself: or else, let me speak, and give thou the an-23 swer. How great are my misdeeds and sins? Let me know 24 my transgressions and offenses. Wherefore hidest thou thy 25 face, and holdest me for thine enemy? Wilt thou be so cruel and extreme unto a flying leaf, and follow upon dry stubble?

 26 That thou layest so sharply to my charge, and will utterly undo 27 me, for the sins of my youth? Thou hast put my foot in the stocks: thou lookest narrowly unto all my paths, and markest 28 the steps of my feet: where as I (notwithstanding) must consume like as a foul carrion, and as a cloth that is moth eaten.

XIV Man that is born of a woman, hath but a short time to live, 2 and is full of divers miseries. He cometh up and falleth away like a flower. He flyeth as it were a shadow, and never con-3 tinueth in one state. Thinkest thou it now well done, to open thine eyes upon such one, and to bring me before thee in judgment? Who can make it clean, that cometh from an unclean thing? Nobody. The days of man are short, the number of his months are known only to thee. Thou hast appointed him his bounds, he can not go beyond them. Go from him, that he may rest a little: until his day come, which he looketh for, like as an hireling doth. If a tree be cut down, there is some hope yet, that it will sprout and shoot forth the branches again; For though a root be waxen old and dead in the ground, yet when the stock geteth the scent of water, it will bud, and bring forth bows, like as when it was first planted. But as for man, when he is dead, perished and consumed away, what becometh of him? The floods when they be dried up, and the rivers when they be empty, are filled again thorow the flowing waters of the sea: but when man sleepeth, he riseth not again, until the heaven perish: he shall not wake up nor rise out of his sleep. O that thou wouldest keep me, and hide me in the hell, until thy wrath were stilled: and to appoint me a time, wherein thou mightest remember me. May a dead man live again? All the days of this my pilgrimage am I looking, when my changing shall come. If thou wouldest but call me, I should obey thee: only despise not the work of thine own hands. For thou hast numbered all my goings, yet be not thou too extreme upon my sins. Thou hast sealed up mine offenses, as it were in a bag: but be merciful unto my wickedness. The mountains fall away at the last, the rocks are removed out of their place, the waters pierce thorow the very stones by little and little, the floods wash away the gravel and the earth: Even so destroyest thou the hope of man in like manner. Thou prevailest against him, so that he passeth away: thou changes his estate, and putteth him from thee. Whether his children come to worship or no, he can not tell: And if they be men of low degree, he knoweth not. While he liveth, his flesh must have travail: And while the soul is in him, he must be in sorrow.

Then answered Eliphaz the Themanite, and said: Should XV, 2 a wise man answer as the science of the wind, and fill his belly with the wind of the east? * Thou reprovest with words, that 3 are nothing worth: * and speakest the things, which can do no 4 good. As for shame, thou hast set it aside, else wouldest thou 5 not make so many words before God: but thy wickedness teacheth thy mouth, and so thou hast chosen thee a crafty tongue.

 6 Thine own mouth condemneth thee, and not I: yea thine own 7 lips shape the answer. Art thou the first man, that ever was 8 born? Or, wast thou made before the hills? hast thou heard the secret counsel* of God, that all wisdom is too little for thee?
 9 What knowest thou, that we know not? What understandest 10 thou, but we can the same? With us are old and aged men, yea 11 such as have lived longer than thy forefathers. Thinkest thou it a small thing of the consolations of God? and are they with 12 the living word.* Why doth thine heart make thee so proud?
 Why standest thou so greatly in thine own conceit? Where 13 unto look thine eyes, that thy mind is so puffed up against 14 God and lettest such words go out of thy mouth? What is man, that he should be clean? what hath he (which is born of a 15 woman) whereby he might be known to be righteous? Behold there is no trust to his saints:* yea the very heavens are not 16 clean in his sight. How much more then an abominable and 17 vile man, which drinketh wickedness like water? I will tell 18 thee, hear me: I will shew thee a thing, that I know: which wise men have told, and hath not been hid from their fathers: 19 unto whom only the land was given, that no stranger should 20 come among them. The ungodly despaireth all the days of his 21 life, and the number of a tyrant's years is unknown. A fearful sound is ever in his ears, and when it is peace yet feareth he destruction: 22 He believeth never to be delivered out of darkness, 23 the sword is alway before his eyes. When he goeth forth to get his living, he thinketh plainly, that the day of darkness is at 24 hand. Sorrow and carefulness make him afraid, and compass him round about, like as it were a king with his host ready 25 to the battle. For he hath stretched out his hand against God, 26 and armed himself against the Almighty. He runneth proudly 27 upon him, and with a stiffneck fighteth he against him: where as he covereth his face with fatness, and maketh his body well 28 liking. Therefore shall his dwelling be in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabits, but are become heaps of 29 stones. He shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, nor increase upon earth. He shall never come out of 30 darkness, the flame shall dry up his branches, with the blast of the mouth of God shall he be taken away. He will never 31 apply himself to faithfulness and truth, so sore is he deceived with vanity. He shall perish, afore his time be worn out, and 32 his hand shall not be green. He shall be plucked off as an un- 33 timely grape from the vine, and shall let his flower fall, as the olive doth. For the congregation of hypocrites is unfruitful, 34 and the fire shall consume the houses of such, as are greedy to receive gifts. He conceiveth travail, he beareth mischief, and 35 his body bringeth forth deceit.

Job answered, and said: I have oft times heard such things. XVI, 2 Miserable givers of comfort are ye, all the sort of you. Shall 3 not thy vain words come yet to an end? Or, hast thou yet any more to say? I could speak as ye do also. But would God, 4 that your soul were in my soul's stead: then should I heap up words against you, and shake my head at you. I should 5 comfort you with my mouth, and release your pain with the talking of my lips. But what shall I do? For all my words, my 6 sorrow will not cease: and though I hold my tongue, yet will it not depart from me. And now that I am full of pain, and 7 all that I have destroyed (whereof my wrinkles bear witness) 8 there standeth up a dissembler to make me answer with lies to my face. He is angry at me, he hateth me, and gnasheth 9 upon me with his teeth. Mine enemy scowleth* upon me with his eyes. They have opened their mouths wide upon me, and 10 smitten me upon the cheek despitefully, they have eased themselves thorow mine adversity. God hath given me over to the 11 ungodly, and delivered me in to the hands of the wicked. I 12 was some time in wealth, but suddenly hath he brought me to naught. He hath taken me by the neck, he hath rent me, and set me, as it were a mark for him to shoot at. He hath 13 compassed me round about with his darts, he hath wounded my loins, and not spared. My bowels hath he poured upon the ground. He hath given me one wound upon another, and is 14 fallen upon me like a giant. I have sowed a sack cloth upon my skin, and lie with my strength in the dust. My face is swollen 16 with weeping, and mine eyes are waxen dim. Howbeit there is 17 no wickedness in my hands, and my prayer is clean. O earth, 18

16. v.9 Other: skouleth.

19 cover not my blood, and let my crying find no room. For lo, my witness is in heaven, and he that knoweth me, is above in the 20 height.* My friends laugh me to scorn, but mine eye poureth 21 out tears unto God. Though a body might plead with God, 22 as one man doth with another, yet the number of my years are come, and I must go the way, from whence I shall not turn again.

XVII My breath faileth, my days are shortened. I am hard at 2 death's door. I have deceived no man, yet must mine eye con-3 tinue in heaviness. O deliver me and set me by thee: who 4 shall then be able to thrust my hands together? Thou hast withholden their hearts from understanding, therefore shall 5 they not be set up on high.* He promiseth his friends part of 6 his good, but his own children spend it. He hath made me as it were a byword of the common people. I am his jesting stock 7 among them. My countenance is heavy for very anger, and 8 the members of my body are become like a shadow. Virtuous men therefore shall well consider this, and the innocent shall 9 take part against the hypocrite. The righteous will keep his way, and he that hath clean hands, will ever be stronger and 10 stronger. As for you, turn you, and get you hence, for I can not 11 see one wise man among you. My days are past, my thoughts 12 are vanished away, which have vexed my heart, changing the 13 night in to day, and the light into darkness. Though I tarry never so much, yet the grave is my house, and I must make my 14 bed in the dark. I call corruption my father, and the worms 15 call I my mother and my sister. What helpeth then my long 16 tarrying? Or, who will fulfill the thing, that I look for? All that I have, shall go down into the pit, and lie with me in the dust.

XVIII, 2 Then answered Baldad the Suhite, and said: when will ye make an end of your words? Mark well, and consider, we will 3 speak also. Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and reputed 4 so vile in your sight? Why destroyest thou thy self with anger?
 Shall the earth be forsaken, or the stones removed out of their 5 place because of thee? Shall not the light of the ungodly be put 6 out? Yea the flame of his fire shall not burn. The light shall be dark in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.
 7 His presumptuous goings shall be kept in, and his own counsel shall cast him down. For his feet shall be taken in the net, 8 and he shall walk in the snare. His foot shall be holden in the 9 gilder, and the thirsty shall catch him. The snare is laid for 10 him in the ground, and a pitfall in the way. Fearfulness shall 11 make him afraid on every side, that he shall not know, where to 12 get out. Hunger shall be his substance, and misfortune shall 13 hang upon him. He shall eat the strength of his skin, the 14 firstborn of death shall eat his members.* All his comfort and 15 hope shall be rooted out of his dwelling, very fearfulness shall 16 bring him unto the king. Other men shall dwell in his house 17 (which now is none of his) and brimstone shall be scattered 18 upon his habitation. His roots shall be dried up beneath, and 19 above shall his harvest be cut down. His remembrance shall 20 perish from the earth, and his name shall not be praised in the 21 streets: he shall be driven from the light into darkness, and cast clean out of the world. He shall neither have children nor kinfolks among his people, no nor any posterity in his country: young and old shall be astonished at his death. Such are now the dwellings of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

Job answered, and said: How long will ye vex my mind, XIX, 2 and trouble me with words? Lo, ten times have ye reproved 3 me: are ye not ashamed, for to laugh me to scorn? If I go 4 wrong, I go wrong to myself. But if ye will enhance yourselves 5 against me, and accuse me to be a wicked person because of the shame that is come upon me: know this then, that it is 6 God, which hath handled me so violently, and hath compassed me about with his scourges. Behold, though I cry, yet vio- 7 lence is done unto me, I can not be heard: Though I complain, there is none to give sentence with me. He hath hedged up 8 my path, I can not get away, he hath set darkness in my gate.
 He hath spoiled me of mine honour, and taken the crown away 9 from my head. He hath destroyed me on every side, and I am 10 undone: My hope hath he taken away from me, as it were a tree plucked up by the root. His wrath is kindled against me, 11 he taketh me, as though I were his enemy. His men of war 12 came together, which made their way over me, and besieged my dwelling round about. He hath put my brethren far away 13 beyng a firstborne of death.

from me, and such as were of mine acquaintance, are become 14 strangers unto me. Mine own kinfolk have forsaken me, and 15 my friends have put me out of remembrance. The servants and maids of mine own house take me for a stranger, and I am 16 become as an alien* in their sight. When I call upon my servant, he giveth me no answer: no though I pray him with my 17 mouth. Mine own wife may not abide my breath, I am faint* 18 to speak fair unto the children of mine own body. Yea the very desert fools despise me, and when I am gone from them, they 19 speak evil upon me. All such as were my most familiars, abhor me: And they whom I loved best, are turned against me.
 20 My bone hangeth to my skin, and my* flesh is away, only there 21 is left me the skin about my teeth. Have pity upon me, have pity upon me (O ye my friends) for the hand of the Lorde hath 22 touched me. Why do ye persecute me as God, and are not sat-23 isfied of my flesh? * O that my words were written, O that 24 they were put in a book: would God they were graven with an 25 iron pen in lead or in stone. For I am sure, that my redeemer liveth, and that I shall rise out of the earth in the latter day: 26 that I shall be clothed again with this skin, and see God in my 27 flesh. Yea I my self shall behold him, not with other but with 28 these same eyes. My reins are consumed within me, when ye say: Why do not we persecute him? We have found an occasion 29 against him. But beware of the sword, for the sword will be avenged of wickedness, and be sure, that there is a judgement.

XX, 2 Then answered Sophar the Naamathite, and said: For the same cause do my thoughts compel me to answer. And why?
 3 My mind is tossed here and there. I have sufficiently heard thy checking and reproof, therefore am I purposed to make 4 answer after mine understanding. Knowest thou not this, namely: that from the beginning (ever since the creation of 5 man upon earth) the praise of the ungodly hath been short, and that the joy of the Hypocrites continued but the twinkling 6 of an eye? Though he be magnified up to the heaven, so that 7 his head reacheth into the clouds: yet he perish at the last like dung: In so much that they which have seen him, say: Where 8 is he? He vanisheth as a dream, so that he can no more be 9 found, and passeth away as a vision in the night. So that the eye which saw him before, getteth now no sight of him, and his place knoweth him no more. His children go a beg- 10 ging, their hands bring them to sorrow and heaviness. From 11 his youth his bones are full of vice, which shall lie down with him in the earth. When wickedness is sweet in his mouth, he 12 hideth it under his tongue. That he favoureth, that will he 13 not forsake, but keepeth it close in his throat. The meat that 14 he eateth, shall be turned to the poison of serpents, within his body. The riches that he devoureth, shall he perbreak again, 15 for God shall draw them out of his belly he shall suck the ser- 16 pent's head,* and the adder's tongue shall slay him: so that 17 he shall no more see the rivers, and brooks of honey and butter: But labour shall he, and yet have nothing to eat. Great 18 travail shall he make for riches, but he shall not enjoy them.

 And why? he hath oppressed the poor, and not helped them: 19 houses hath he spoiled, and not builded them. His belly could 20 never be filled, therefore shall he perish in his covetousness.
 He devoured so greedily, that he left nothing behind, therefore 21 his goods shall not prosper. Though he had plenteousness of 22 everything, yet was he poor, and therefore he is but a wretch on every side. For though the wicked have never so much 23 to fill his belly, yet God shall send his wrath upon him, and cause his battle to rain over him: so that if he flee the iron 24 weapons, he shall be shot with the steel bow. The arrow shall 25 be taken forth, and go out at his back, and a glistening sword thorow the gall of him, fear shall come upon him. There shall 26 no darkness be able to hide him. And unkindled fire shall consume him, and look what remaineth in his house, it shall be destroyed. The heaven shall declare his wickedness, and the 27 earth shall take part against him. The substance that he hath 28 in his house, shall be taken away and perish, in the day of the Lord's wrath. This is the portion that the wicked shall have 29 of God, and the heritage that he may look for of the Lord.

Job answered, and said: O hear my words, and amend XXI, 2 yourselves. Suffer me a little, that I may speak also, and 3 then laugh my words to scorn, if ye will. Is it with a man, 4 that I make this disputation? Which if it were so, should not my spirit be then in sore trouble? Mark me well, be abashed, 5 and lay your hand upon your mouth. For when I ponder and 6 consider this, I am afraid, and my flesh is smitten with fear.

7 Wherefore do wicked men live in health and prosperity, come 8 to their old age, and increase in riches? Their children's children live in their sight, and their generation before their eyes.
9 Their houses are safe from all fear, for the rod of God doth not 10 smite them. Their bullock gendereth, and that not out of time: 11 their cow calveth, and is not unfruitful. They send forth their 12 children by flocks, and their sons lead the dance. They bear with them taberets and harps, and have instruments of music 13 at their pleasure. They spend their days in wealthiness: but 14 suddenly they go down to hell. They say unto God: go from 15 us, we desire not the knowledge of thy ways. What manner of fellow is the Almighty, that we should serve him? What profit 16 should we have, to submit our selves unto him? Lo, there is utterly no goodness in them, therefore will not I have to do 17 with the counsel of the ungodly. How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out? How oft cometh their destruction upon them? Oh what sorrow shall God give them for their part in his 18 wrath. Yea they shall be even as chaff before the wind, and as 19 dust that the storm carrieth away. And though God save their children from such sorrow, yet will he so reward themselves, 20 that they shall know it. Their own destruction and misery shall they see with their eyes, and drink of the fearful wrath of 21 the Almighty. For what careth he, what be come of his household after his death? Whose months pass away swifter than an 22 arrow. In as much then as God hath the highest* power of all, 23 who can teach him any knowledge? One dieth now when he is 24 mighty and at his best, rich, and in prosperity: even when his 25 bowels are at the fattest, and his bones full of merry. An other 26 dieth in sorrow and heaviness, and never had good days. Now sleep they both alike in the earth, and the worms cover them.
27 But I know what ye think, yea and what ye imagine against 28 me unrighteously. For ye say: Where is the prince's palace?
29 where is the dwelling of the ungodly: Ask any man that goeth by the way, and (if ye will not regard their tokens and deeds) 30 he shall tell you, that the wicked is kept unto the day of destruction, and that the ungodly shall be brought forth in the 31 day of wrath. Who dare reprove him for his ways to his face?
32 Who rewardeth him for the ungraciousness that he doth? Yet

21. v.22 Other: hyst.

shall he be brought to his grave, and watch among the heap of the dead. Then shall he be fain to be buried among the stones 33 by the brook side. All men must follow him, and there are innumerable gone before him. O how vain is the comfort that 34 ye give me? Are not your answers clean contrary to right and truth?

So Eliphaz the Themanite gave answer, and said: XXII, 2 May a man be compared unto God in wisdom, though he seem to himself, for to be like him? What pleasure hath God in that 3 thou art righteous? Or what doth it profit him, that thy ways are perfect? Is he afraid to reprove thee, and to step forth 4 with thee in to judgement? Cometh not this for that* great 5 wickedness, and for thine ungracious deeds which are innumerable? Thou hast taken the pledge from thy brethren for 6 naught, and robbed the naked of their clothing: To such as 7 were weary, hast thou given no water to drink, thou hast withdrawn bread from the hungry: Should such one then as useth 8 violence, wrong and oppression (doing all things of partiality, and having respect of persons) dwell in the land? Thou hast 9 sent widows away empty and oppressed the poor fatherless.
Therefore art thou compassed about with snares on every side, 10 and suddenly vexed with fear. Shouldest thou then see no 11 darkness? Should not the water flood run over thee? Now because that God is higher then the heavens, and because thou 12 seest the stars are so high, wilt thou therefore say: Tush, 13 how should God know? Doth his dominion reach beyond the clouds? Tush, the clouds cover him that he may not see, for 14 he dwelleth in heaven. Well, thou wilt keep the old way, that 15 all wicked men have gone: both old and young, whose foundation is a running water, which sayeth unto God: go from us, 16 and after this manner: Tush, what will the Almighty do unto 17 us? where as he (notwithstanding) filleth their houses with 18 all good. Which meaning of the ungodly be far from me. For with joy shall the godly, and with gladness shall the innocent 19 see, that their increase shall be hewn down, and their poster- 20 ity consumed with* fire. Therefore reconcile thee unto God, 21 and be content, so shall all things prosper with thee rightwell.
Receive the law at his mouth, and lay up his words in thine 22 heart. For if thou wilt turn to the Almighty, thou shalt stand 23 fast, and all unrighteousness shall be far from thy dwelling: 24 He shall give thee an harvest, which in plenty and abundance shall exceed the dust of the earth, and the gold of Ophir like 25 river stones. Yea the Almighty his own self shall be thine har-26 vest, and the heap of thy money. Then shalt thou have thy 27 delight* in the Almighty, and lift up thy face unto God. Then shalt thou make thy prayer unto him, and he shall hear thee, 28 and thou shalt keep thy promises. Then, look what thou tak-est in hand, he shall make it to prosper with thee, and the light 29 shall shine in thy ways. For who so humbleth himself, him 30 shall he set up: and who so looketh meekly, shall be healed. If thou be innocent, he shall save thee: and thorow the unguiltyness of thine hands shalt thou be delivered.

XXIII. 2 Job answered, and said: My saying is yet this day in bit-3 terness, and my hand heavy among my groanings. O that I might see him and find him: O that I might come before his 4 seat, to plead my cause before him, and to fill my mouth with 5 arguments: That I might know, what answer he would give me: and that I might understand, what he would say unto me.
 6 Will he plead against me with his great power and strength, or 7 will he lean himself utterly upon me? Oh no, let him not do so with me. But let him give me like power to go to law, then 8 am I sure to win my matter. For though I go before, I find him 9 not: If I come behind, I can get no knowledge of him: If I go on the left side to ponder his works, I can not attain unto them.
 Again, if I go on the right side, he hideth himself, that I can 10 not see him. But as for my way, he knoweth it: and tryeth me 11 as the gold in the fire. Nevertheless my feet keep his path, 12 his high street have I holden, and not gone out of it. I have not forsaken the commandment of his lips, but look what he charged me with his mouth, that have I shut up in my heart.
 13 It is he him self alone, who will turn him back? He doth as 14 him listeth, and bringeth to pass what he will. He rewardeth me in to my bosom, and many other things more doth he, as 15 he may by his power. This is the cause, that I shrink at his 16 presence, so that when I consider him, I am afraid of him. For in so much as he is God, he maketh my heart soft: and seeing 17 that he is Almighty, he putteth me in fear. Thus can not I get out of darkness, the cloud hath so covered my face.

v.26 Other: delyte.

Considering then that there is no time hid from the Almighty, XXIV how happeneth it, that they which know him, will not regard his days? For some men there be, that remove other men's 2 landmarks: that rob them of their cattle, and keep the same for their own: that drive away the ass of the fatherless: that 3 take the widow's ox for a pledge: that thrust the poor out of 4 the way, and oppress the simple of the world together. Be- 5 hold, the wild asses in the desert go by times, as their manner is, to spoil: Yea the very wilderness ministereth food for their children. They reap the corn field that is not their own: 6 and gather the grapes out of his vineyard, whom they have oppressed by violence. They are the cause that so many men 7 are naked and bare, having no clothes to cover them and keep them from cold: So that when the showers in the mountains 8 have rained upon them, and they be all wet, they have none other succour, but to keep them among the rocks. They spoil 9 the sucking fatherless children, and put the poor in prison: In 10 so much that they let them go naked without clothing, and yet the hungry bear the sheaves. The poor are fain to labour 11 in their oil mills, yea and to tread in their wine presses, and yet to suffer thirst. The whole city crieth unto the Lord with 12 sighing, the souls of the slain make their complaint: But God destroyeth them not for all this, where as they (notwithstand- 13 ing) are rebellious and disobedient enemies: which seek not his light and way, nor turn again in to his path. Timely in the 14 morning do they arise, to murder the simple and poor, and in the night they go a stealing. The eye of the ungodly is like the 15 advouterer, that waiteth for the darkness, and sayeth thus in him self: Tush, there shall no man see me, and so he disguiseth his face. In the night season they search the houses, and hide 16 them selves in the day time, but will not know the light. For 17 as soon as the day breaketh, the shadow of death cometh upon them, and they go in horrible darkness. The ungodly is very 18 swift: O that his portion also upon earth were swifter than the running water, which suffereth not the shipman to behold the fair and pleasant vineyards. O that they (for the wickedness 19 which they have done) were drawn to the hell, sooner than snow melteth at the heat. O that all compassion upon them 20 were forgotten: that their dainties were worms, that they were clean put out of remembrance, and utterly hewn down like an 21 unfruitful tree. For they maintain the barren, and make them 22 that they can not bear, and unto widows they do no good. They pluck down the mighty with their power, and when they themselves are gotten up, they are never without fear, as long as 23 they live. And though they might be safe, yet they will not re-24 ceive it, for their eyes look upon their own ways. They are exalted for a little, but shortly are they gone, brought to extreme poverty, and taken out of the way: yea and utterly plucked off, 25 as the ears of corn. Is it not so? Who will then reprove me as a liar, and say that my words are nothing worth.

XXV, 2 Then answered Baldad the Suhite, and said: Power and fear is with him above, that maketh peace, sitting in his high-3 ness, whose men of war* are innumerable, and whose light 4 ariseth over all. But how may a man compared unto God be justified? Or, how can he be clean, that is born of a woman?
 5 Behold, the Moon shineth nothing in comparison to him, and 6 the stars are unclean in his sight. How much more then man, that is but corruption: and the son of man, which is but a worm?

XXVI, 2 Job answered, and said: O how helpeth thou the weak?
 3 what comfort givest thou unto him that hath no strength? Where is the counsel that thou shouldest give him, which hath no wis-4 dom? Wilt thou so shew thine excellent righteousness? Before whom hast thou spoken those words? Who made the breath 5 to come out of the mouth: The giants and worthies that are 6 slain, and lie under the world with their companions: yea and all they which dwell beneath in the hell are not hid from him, and the very destruction it self can not be kept out of his sight.
 7 He stretcheth out the north over the empty, and hangeth the 8 earth upon nothing. He bindeth the water in his clouds, that 9 they fall not down together. He holdeth back his stole, that 10 it can not be seen, and spreadeth his clouds before it. He hath compassed the waters with certain bounds, until the day 11 and night come to an end. The very pillars of heaven tremble 12 and quake at his reproof. He filleth the sea with his power, 13 and thorow his wisdom hath he set forth the world. With his spirit hath he garnished the heavens, and with his hand hath 14 he wounded the rebellious serpent. This is now a short sum of his doings. But who is able sufficiently to rehearse his works?

25. v.3 Other: warre.

Who can perceive and understand the thunder of his power.

And Job* proceeded and went* forth in his communication, XXVII saying: As truly as God liveth (which hath taken away my 2 power from me) and the Almighty, that hath vexed my mind: My lips shall talk of no vanity, and my tongue shall speak no 3 deceit, while my breath is in me, and as long as the wind (that 4 God hath given me) is in my nostrils. God forbid, that I should 5 grant your cause to be right. As for me, until mine end come will I never go from my innocence. My righteous dealing keep 6 I fast, which I will not forsake: my heart shall not reprove me of my days.* Therefore mine enemy shall be found as the un- 7 godly, and he that taketh part against me, as the unrighteous.
 What hope hath the hypocrite, though he have great good, and 8 though God give him riches after his heart's desire? Doth God 9 hear him the sooner, when he crieth unto him in his necessity?
 Hath he such pleasure and delight in the Almighty, that he 10 dare alway call upon God? I will teach you in the name of 11 God? and the thing that I have of the Almighty, will I not keep from you. Behold, ye stand in your own conceit, as though 12 ye knew all things. Wherefore then do ye go about with such vain words, saying: This is that portion that the wicked shall 13 have of God, and the heritage that Tyrants shall receive of the Almighty. If he get many children, they shall perish with the 14 sword, and his posterity shall have scarceness of bread. Look whom he leaveth behind him, they shall die and be buried, 15 and no man shall have pity of his widows. Though he have 16 as much money as the dust of the earth, and raiment as ready as the clay, he may well prepare it: but the godly shall put 17 it upon him, and the innocent shall deal out the money. His 18 house shall endure as the moth, and as a booth that the watchman maketh. When the rich man dieth, he carrieth nothing 19 with him: he is gone in the twinkling of an eye. Destruction 20 taketh hold upon him as a water flood, and the tempest stealeth him away in the night season. A vehement wind car- 21 rieth him hence, and departeth: a storm plucketh him out of his place. It rusheth in upon him, and spareth him not, he 22 may not escape from the power thereof. Then clap men their 23 hands at him, yea and jest of him, when they look upon his place.

There are places where silver is molten, and where gold is tried: where iron is digged out of the ground, and stones resolved to metal. The darkness shall once come to an end, he can seek out the ground of all things: the stones, the dark, and the horrible shadow. With the river of water parteth he a sundry the strange people, that knoweth no good neighbourhead: such as are rude, unmannerly and boisterous: He bringeth food out of the earth, and that which is under, consumeth he with fire. There is found a place, whose stones are clean Sapphires, and where the clots of the earth are gold. There is a way also that the birds know not, that no vulture's eye hath seen: wherein the proud and high minded walk not, and where no lion cometh. There putteth he his hand upon the stony rocks, and overthroweth the mountains. Rivers flow out of the rocks, and look what is pleasant, his eye seeth it. Out of drops bringeth he great floods together, and the thing that is hid bringeth he to light. How cometh a man then by wisdom? Where is the place that men find understanding? Verily no man can tell how worthy a thing she is, neither is she found in the land of the living. The deep sayeth: she is not in me. The sea sayeth: she is not with me. She can not be gotten for the most fine gold, neither may the price of her be bought with any money. No wedges of gold of Ophir, no precious Onyx stones, no Sapphire may be compared unto her. No, neither gold nor Crystal, neither sweet odours nor golden plate. There is nothing so worthy, or so excellent, as once to be named unto her: for perfect wisdom goeth far beyond them all. The Topaz that cometh out of Inde, may in no wise be likened unto her: yea no manner of apparel how pleasant and fair soever it be. From where then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of understanding? She is hid from the eyes of all men, yea and from the fowls of the air. Destruction and death say: We have heard tell of her with our ears. But God seeth her way, and knoweth her place. For he holdeth the ends of the world and looketh upon all that is under the heaven. When he weighed the winds, and measured the waters: When he set the rain in order, and gave the mighty floods a law. Then did he see her, then declared he her, prepared her and knew her. And unto man he said: Behold, to fear the Lord, is wisdom: and to forsake evil, is understanding.

So Job proceeded and went forth in his communication, say- XXIX ing: Oh that I were as I was in the months by past, and in the 2 days when God preserved me: When his light shined upon 3 my head: when I went after the same light and shining even 4 thorow the darkness. As it stood with me, when I was wealthy 5 and had ynough: when God prospered my house: When the 6 Almighty was with me: when my household folks stood about 7 me: When my ways ran over with butter, and when the stony 8 rocks gave me rivers of oil: When I went thorow the city unto 9 the gate, and when they set me a chair in the street: When the 10 young men (as soon as they saw me) hid themselves, and when 11 the aged arose, and stood up unto me: when the princes left 12 of their talking, and laid their hand to their mouth: when the 13 mighty kept still their voice, and when their tongues cleaved to 14 the roof of their mouths. When all they that heard me, called 15 me happy: and when all they that saw me, wished me good. 16 For I delivered the poor when he cried, and the fatherless that 17 wanted help. He that should have been lost, gave me a good 18 word, and the widow's heart praised me. And why? I put 19 upon me righteousness, which covered me as a garment, and 20 equity was my crown. I was an eye unto the blind, and a foot 21 to the lame, I was a father unto the poor, and when I knew not 22 their cause, I sought it out diligently. I brake the chafes of the 23 unrighteous, and plucked the spoil out of their teeth. There- 24 fore, I thought verily, that I should have died in my nest: and 25 that my days should have been as many as the sands of the sea.
 For my root was spread out by the water's side, and the dew lay upon my corn. My honor increased* more and more, and my bow was ever the stronger in my hand. Unto me men gave ear, me they regarded, and with silence they tarried for my counsel. If I had spoken, they would have it none other ways, my words were so well taken among them. They waited for me, as the earth doth for the rain: and gaped upon me, as the ground doth to receive the latter shower. When I laughed, they knew well it was not earnest: and this testimony of my countenance pleased them nothing at all. When I agreed unto their way, I was the chief, and sat as a king among his servants: Or as one that comforteth such as be in heaviness.

29. v.20 Other: encreased.

XXX

But now they that are mine inferiors and younger then I, have me in derision: yea even they, whose fathers I would have 2 thought scorn to have set with the dogs of my cattle. The power and strength of their hands might do me no good, and as for their age, it is spent and past away without any profit.
 3 For very misery and hunger, they went about in the wilderness 4 like wretches and beggars, plucking up herbs from among the 5 bushes, and the Junipers root was their meat. And when they were driven forth, men cried after them, as it had been af-6 ter a thief. Their dwelling was beside foul brooks, yea in the 7 caves and dens of the earth. Upon the dry heath went they about crying, and in the broom hills they gathered them to-8 gether. They were children of fools and villains, which are 9 dead away from the world. Now am I their song, and am be-10 come their jesting stock: they abhor me, they flee far from me, 11 and stain my face with spittle, for the Lord hath opened his 12 quiver, he hath hit me and put a bridle in my mouth. Upon my right hand they rose together against me, they have hurt 13 my feet, made a way to destroy me, and my path have they clean marred. It was so easy for them to do me harm, that 14 they needed no man to help them. They fell upon me, as it had been the breaking in of waters, and came in by heaps to 15 destroy me. Fearfulness is turned against me. Mine honour vanisheth away more swiftly than wind, and my prosperity de-16 parteth hence like as it were a cloud. Therefore is my mind poured full of heaviness, and the days of trouble have taken 17 hold upon me. My bones are pierced thorow in the night sea-18 son, and my sinews take no rest. With all their power have they changed my garment, and girded me therewith, as it were 19 with a coat. I am even as it were clay, and am become like 20 ashes and dust. When I cry unto thee, thou doest not hear me: and though I stand before thee, yet thou regardest me not.
 21 Thou art become mine enemy, and with thy violent hand thou 22 takest part against me. In times past thou didst set me up on high,* as it were above the wind, but now hast thou given 23 me a very sore fall. Sure I am, that thou wilt deliver me unto 24 death: whereas a lodging is prepared for all men living. Now use not me to do violence unto them, that are destroyed al-25 ready: but where hurt is done, there use they to help. Did not I weep in the time of trouble? Had not my soul compassion upon the poor? Yet nevertheless where as I looked for good, 26 evil happened unto me: and where as I waited for light, there came darkness. My bowels seeth within me, and take no rest, 27 for the days of my trouble are come upon me. Meekly and 28 lowly came I in, yea and without any displeasure: I stood up in the congregation, and communed with them. But now I am 29 a companion of dragons, and a fellow of Ostriches. My skin 30 upon me is turned to black, and my bones are brent with heat: my harp is turned to sorrow, and my pipe to weeping. 31

I made a covenant with mine eyes, that I would not look XXXI upon a damsel. For how great a portion shall I have of God 2 from above? and what inheritance from the almighty on high?

* As for the ungodly and he that joineth himself to the com- 3 pany of wicked doers shall not destruction and misery come upon him? Doth not he see my ways, and tell all my goings. 4 If I have cleaved unto vanity, or if my feet have run to deceive: 5 Let me be weighed in an even balance, that God may see my 6 innocency. If so be that I have withdrawn my foot out of the 7 right way, if my heart hath followed mine eyesight, if I have stained or defiled my hands: O then is it reason that I sow, 8 and another eat, yea that my generation and posterity be clean rooted out. If my heart hath lusted after my neighbour's wife, 9 or if I have laid wait at his door. O then let my wife be another 10 man's harlot and let other lie with her. For this is a wicked- 11 ness and sin, that is worthy to be punished, yea a fire that 12 utterly should consume, and root out all my substance. Did 13 I ever think scorn to do right unto my servants and maidens, when they had any matter against me. But seeing that God 14 will sit in judgement what shall I do? And for so much as he will needs visit me, what answer shall I give him? He that 15 fashioned me in my mother's womb, made he not him also? were we not both shapen alike in our mother's bodies? When 16 the poor desireth anything at me, have I denied it them? Have I caused the widow stand waiting for me in vain? Have I eaten 17 my portion alone, that the fatherless hath had no part with me? For mercy grew up with me from my youth, and compas- 18 sion from my mother's womb. Have I seen any man perish 19 thorow nakedness and want of clothing? Or any poor man for 20 lack of raiment, whose sides thanked me not, because he was 21 warmed with the wool of my sheep? Did I ever lift up my hand to hurt the fatherless? Yea in the gates where I saw myself to 22 be in authority: then let mine arm fall from my shoulder, and 23 mine arm holes be broken from the joints. For I have ever feared the vengeance and punishment of God, and knew very 24 well, that I was not able to bear his burthen. Have I put my trust in gold? Or, have I said to the finest gold of all: thou 25 art my confidence? Have I rejoiced because my substance was 26 great, and because my hand gat so much? Did I ever greatly regard the rising of the son? Or, had I the going down of the 27 moon in great reputation? Hath my heart meddled privily 28 with any deceit? Or, did I ever kiss mine own hand? That were a wickedness worth to be punished, for then should I have 29 denied the God that is above. Have I ever rejoiced at the hurt of mine enemy? Or was I ever glad, that any harm happened 30 to him? Oh no. I never suffered my mouth to do such a sin, 31 as to wish him evil. Yet they of mine own household say: who 32 shall let us to have our belly full of his flesh? I have not suffered a stranger to lie without, but opened my doors unto him.

33 Have I ever done any wicked deed where thorow I shamed myself before men: or any abomination, that I was fain to hide 34 it? For if I had feared any great multitude of people: or if I had been despised of the simple, Oh then should I have been afraid. Thus have I quietly spent my life, and not gone out at 35 the door. O that I had one which would hear me. Lo, this is my cause. Let the almighty give me answer: and let him that 36 is my contrary party, sue me with libel. Then shall I take it 37 upon my shoulder, and as a garland about my head. I have told the number of my goings, and delivered them unto him as 38 to a prince. But if cause be that my land cry against me, or 39 that the furrows thereof make any complaint: if I have eaten the fruits thereof unpaid for, yea if I have grieved any of the 40 plowmen: then let thistles grow in stead of my wheat, and thorns for my barley. Here end the words of Job.

So these three men would strive no more with Job, because 2 he held himself a righteous man. But Eliu the son of Barachell the Bussite of the kindred of Ram, was very sore displeased at 3 Job, that he called him self just before God. And with Job's three friends he was angry also, because they had found no reasonable answer to overcome him. Now tarried Eliu till they 4 had ended their communication with Job, for why? they were 5 elder than he. So when Eliu the son of Barachell the Bussite 5 saw, that these three men were not able to make Job answer, he was discontent: so that he gave answer himself, and said: 6 Considering, that I am young, and ye be men of age, I was afraid, and durst not shew forth my mind, for I thought thus 7 within myself: It becometh old men to speak, and the aged to teach wisdom. Every man (no doubt) hath a mind, but it is the 8 inspiration of the Almighty that giveth understanding. All 9 men are not wise, neither doth every aged man understand the thing that is lawful. Therefore will I speak also (in so far as 10 I may be heard) and will shew you mine opinion. For when I 11 had waited till ye made an end of your talking, and heard your wisdom, what arguments you made in your communication: Yea when I had diligently pondered what ye said, I found not 12 one of you that made any good argument against Job, or that directly could make answer unto his words: Lest ye should 13 praise yourselves, to have found out wisdom: because it is God that hath cast him out, and no man. Nevertheless, seeing he 14 hath not spoken unto me, therefore will not I answer him as ye have done (for they where so abashed that they could not 15 make answer, nor speak one word) but in so much as ye will 16 not speak, standing still like dumb* men, and making no answer: I have a good hope for my part to shape him an answer, 17 and to shew him my meaning. For I am full of words, and the spirit that is within me, compelleth me. Behold I am as the 19 new wine, which hath no vent, and bursteth the new vessels in sunder. Therefore will I speak, that I may have vent: I will 20 open my lips, and make answer. I will regard no manner of person, no man will I spare. For if I would go about to please 22 men, I know not how soon my maker would take me away.

Wherefore hear my words (O Job) and hearken to me all,* XXXIII that I will say: Behold, I will open my mouth, and my tongue 2 shall speak out of my chaws. My heart shall order my words 3 aright, and my lips shall talk of pure wisdom. The spirit 4 of God hath made me, and the breath of the almighty hath given me my life. If thou canst, then give me answer: pre- 5 pare thyself to stand* before me face to face. Behold, before 6

God am I, even as thou, for I am fashioned and made even 7 of the same mould. Therefore, thou needest not be afraid of me, neither needest thou to fear, that my authority, shall be 8 too heavy for thee. Now hast thou spoken in mine ears, and 9 I have heard the voice of thy words: I am clean without any 10 fault, I am innocent, and there is no wickedness in me. But lo, he hath picked a quarrel against me, and taketh me for his 11 enemy: He hath put my foot in the stocks, and looketh nar-12 rowly unto all my paths. Behold, unto these unreasonable words of thine will I make answer. Should God be reprov-13 ed of man? Why dost thou then strive against him? because 14 he giveth thee no accomptes of all his doings? For when God doth once command a thing, there should no man be curious, 15 to search whether it be right. In dreams and visions of the night season (When slumbering cometh upon men, that they 16 fall a sleep in their beds) he roundeth* them in the ears, he in-17 formeth them, and sheweth them plainly, that it is he, which 18 withdraweth man from evil, delivereth him from pride, keep-19 eth his soul from destruction, and his life from the sword. He chasteneth him with sickness, and bringeth him to his bed: he 20 layeth sore punishment upon his bones, so that his life may away with no bread, and his soul abhorreth to eat any dainty 21 meat. In so much that his body is clean consumed away, and 22 his bones appear no more. His soul draweth on to destruction, 23 and his life to death. Now if there be a messenger* (one among a thousand) sent for to speak unto man, and to shew him the 24 right way: then the Lord is merciful unto him, and sayeth: He shall be delivered, that he fall not down to destruction, for 25 I am sufficiently reconciled. Then his flesh (which hath been 26 in misery and trouble) shall be as it was in his youth. For if he submit himself unto God, he is gracious, and sheweth him his countenance joyfully, and rewardeth man for his righ-27 teousness. Such a respect hath he unto men. Therefore let a man confess (and say) I offended, but he hath chastened and reformed me: I did unrighteously nevertheless he hath not rec-28 ompensed me thereafter. Yea he hath delivered my soul from 29 destruction, and my life, that it seeth the light. Lo, thus wor-30 keth God alway with man, that he keepeth his soul from per-31 ishing, and letteth him enjoy the light of the living. Mark well v.16 Other: rowneth. v.23 Other: angel.

(O Job) and hear me: hold thee still until I have spoken. But 32 if thou hast any thing to say, then answer me, and speak, for thy answer pleaseth me. If thou hast nothing, then hear me, 33 and hold thy tongue, so shall I teach thee wisdom.

Eliu proceeding forth in his communication, said: Hear my XXXIV, 2 words, (O ye wise men) hearken unto me, ye that have understanding. For like as the mouth tasteth the meats, so the ear 3 proveth and discerneth the words. As for the judgment, let us 4 seek it out among ourselves, that we may know what is right.
 And why? Job hath said: I am righteous, but God doth me 5 wrong. I must needs be a liar, though my cause be right, and 6 violently am I plagued where as I made no fault: where is 7 there such one as Job, that drinketh up scornfulness like water? Which goeth in company of wicked doers, and walketh 8 with ungodly men: For he sayeth: Though a man be good, yet 9 is he naught before God. Therefore hearken unto me, ye that 10 have understanding. Far be it from God, that he should meddle with wickedness: and far be it from the almighty, that he should meddle with unrighteous dealing: but he rewardeth 11 the works of man, and causeth every man to find according to his ways. For sure it is, that God condemneth no man wron- 12 gously, and the judgement of the Almighty is not unrighteous.
 Who ruleth the earth in his stead? Or whom hath he set to 13 govern the whole world? To whom hath he given his heart, for to draw his spirit and breath unto him? All flesh shall 15 come together unto naught, and all men shall turn again unto earth. If thou now have understanding, hear what I say, and 16 hearken to the voice of my words. May he be made whole, that loveth no right? If thou were a very innocent man, shouldest 17 thou then be punished? For he is even the same, that knoweth 18 the rebellious kings, and sayeth to princes: Ungodly men are 19 ye. He hath none respect unto the persons of the lordly, and regardeth not the rich more than the poor. For they be all the work of his hands. In the twinkling of an eye shall they be 20 slain: and at midnight, when the people and the tyrants rage, then shall they perish, and be taken away without hands. And 21 why? his eyes look upon the ways of man, and he seeth all his goings. There is no darkness nor thick shadow, that can hide 22 the wicked doers from him. For no man shall be suffered to go 23 into judgement with God. Many one, yea innumerable doth 24 25 he punish, and setteth other in their stead. For he knoweth their evil and dark works, therefore shall they be destroyed.

 26 They that were in the stead of Sears, dealt like ungodly men.
 27 Therefore turned they back traitorously and unfaithfully from 28 him, and would not receive his ways. In so much that they have caused the voice of the poor to come unto him, and now he 29 heareth the complaint of such as are in necessity. If he deliver and grant pardon, who will judge or condemn? But if he hide away his countenance, who will turn it about again, whether 30 it be to the people or to any man? From the wickedness and sin of the people, he maketh an hypocrite to reign over them.
 31 For so much as I have begun to talk of God, I will not hinder 32 thee; If I have gone amiss, enform me: if I have done wrong, 33 I will leave off. Wilt thou not give a reasonable answer? Art thou afraid of anything, seeing thou beganest first to speak, 34 and not I? For else the men of understanding and wisdom, 35 that have heard me, might say: What canst thou speak? As 36 for Job he hath neither spoken to the purpose nor wisely. O father let Job be well tried, because he hath turned himself to 37 the wicked: yea above his sins he hath blasphemed, which offense he hath done even before us, in that he striveth against God with his words.

XXXV, 2 Eliu spake moreover, and said: Thinkest thou it right, that 3 thou saidst: I am righteous before God? Seeing thou sayest so, how doest thou know it? What thing hast thou more excel-4 lent than I, that I am a sinner? * Therefore will I give answer 5 unto thee and thy friends: Look unto the heaven, and behold 6 it: consider the clouds, how they are higher than thou. If thou sinnest, what doest thou unto him? If thine offenses be many, 7 how gettest thou his favour? If thou be righteous, what givest 8 thou him? Or what receiveth he of thy hands? Of such an un-godly person as thou, and of the son of man that is righteous as 9 thou pretendest to be: there is a great cry and complaint made by them that are oppressed with violence, yea every man com-10 plaineth upon the cruel arm of tyrants. For such one never sayeth: Where is God that made me? and that shineth upon 11 us, that we might praise him in the night? Which giveth us more understanding than he doth the beasts of the earth, and 12 teacheth us more than the fowls of heaven. If any such complain, no man giveth answer, and that because of the wickedness of proud tyrants. But if a man call upon God, doth not he hear him? Doth not the almighty accept his cry? When thou speakest then, should not he pardon thee, if thou open thyself before him, and put thy trust in him? Then useth he no violence in his wrath, neither hath he pleasure in curious and deep inquisitions. Therefore hath Job opened his mouth but in vain, and foolishly hath he made so many words.

Eliu proceeded forth in his talking and said: Hold thee still a little, and I shall shew thee, what I have yet to speak on God's behalf. I will open unto thee yet more of mine understanding, and prove my maker righteousness. True are my words, and no lie: and the knowledge wherewithall I argue against thee, is perfect. Behold, God casteth not away the mighty, for he himself is mighty in power and wisdom. As for the ungodly, he preserveth them not, but helpeth the poor to their right. He turneth not his eyes away from the righteous, he setteth up kings in their throne, and confirmeth them, so that they always sit therein. But if they be laid in prison and chains, or bound with the bonds of poverty: then sheweth he them their works and deeds and the sins where with they have used cruel violence. He with punishing and nurturing of them, roundeth* them in the ears, warneth them to leave off from their wickedness, and to amend. If they now will take heed and be obedient, they shall wear out their days in prosperity, and their years in pleasure and joy. But if they will not obey, they shall go thorow the sword, and perish or ever they be aware.* As for such as be fained, dissemblers and hypocrites, they heap up wrath for themselves: for they call not upon him, though they be his prisoners. Thus their soul perisheth in foolishness, and their life with the condemned. The poor delivereth he out of his straitness, and comforteth such as be in necessity and trouble. Even so shall he keep thee (if thou wilt be content) from the bottomless pit that is beneath: and if thou wilt hold the quiet, he shall fill thy table with plenteousness. Nevertheless thou hast condemned the judgement of the ungodly, yea even such a judgment and sentence shalt thou suffer. For then shall not thy cause be stilled with cruelty, nor pacified with many gifts. Hath God ordained* then, that the glorious life of thee, and all such mighty men should not be put down?

20 Prolong not thou the time, till there come a night for thee, to 21 set other people in thy stead. But beware that thou turn not aside to wickedness and sin, which hither to thou hast chosen 22 more than meekness. Behold, God is of a mighty high power: 23 Where is there such a guide and law giver as he? Who will reprove him of his way? Who will say unto him: thou hast 24 done wrong? O consider how great and excellent his works 25 be, whom all men love and praise: yee wonder at him, and 26 yet they see him but afar off. Behold, so great is God, that he passeth our knowledge, neither are we able to come to the ex-27 perience of his years. He turneth the water to small drops, he 28 driveth his clouds together for to rain, so that they pour down 29 and drop upon men. He can spread out the clouds (a covering 30 of his tabernacle) and cause his light to shine upon them, and 31 to cover the bottom of the sea. By these things governeth he 32 his people, and giveth them abundance of meat. In the turning of a hand he hideth the light, and at his commandment it 33 cometh again. The rising up thereof sheweth he to his friends and to the cattle.

XXXVII

At this, my heart is astonied, and moved out of his place.
2 Hear then the sound of his voice, and the noise that goeth out 3 of his mouth. He governeth everything under the heaven, and 4 his light reacheth unto the end of the world. A roaring voice followeth him: for his glorious majesty giveth such a thunder clap, that (though a man hear it) yet may he not perceive it 5 afterward. It giveth an horrible sound, when God sendeth out his voice: great things doth he, which we can not comprehend.
6 When he commandeth the snow, it falleth upon the earth: As soon as he giveth the rain a charge, immediately the showers 7 have their strength, and fall down. He sendeth fear upon ev-8 ery man, that they might know their own works. The beasts 9 creep into their dens, and take their rest. Out of the south 10 cometh the tempest, and cold out of the north. At the breath 11 of God, the frost cometh, and the waters are shed abroad. The clouds do their labour in getting moistness, the clouds pour 12 down the rain. He distributeth also on every side, according as it pleaseth him to deal out his works, that they may do, whatsoever he commandeth them thorow the whole world: 13 whether it be to punish any land, or to do good unto them, that seek him. Hearken unto this, (O Job) stand still, and consider the wonderous works of God. Art thou of counsel with God, when he doth these things? When he causeth the light to come forth of his clouds? Art thou of his counsel, when he spreadeth out the clouds? Hast thou the perfect knowledge of his wonders? and how thy clothes are warm, when the land is still thorow the South wind? Hast thou helped him to spread out the heaven, which is to look upon, as it were cast of clear metal? Teach us what we shall say unto him, for we are unmete because of darkness. Shall it be told him what I say? Should a man speak, or should he keep it back? For every man seeth not the light, that he keepeth clear in the clouds, which he cleanseth when he maketh the wind to blow. Gold is brought out of the North, but the praise and honour of God's fear cometh from God himself. It is not we that can find out the almighty: for in power, equity, and righteousness, he is higher than can be expressed. Seeing then that every body feareth him, why should not all wise men also stand* in fear of him.

Then spake the LORD unto Job out of the storm, and said: XXXVIII
 What is he that hideth his mind with foolish words? Gird up thy loins like a man, for I will question thee, see thou give me a direct answer. Where wast thou, when I laid the foundations of the earth? Tell plainly if thou hast understanding. Who hath measured it, knowest thou? Or, who hath spread the line upon it? Where upon stand* the pillars of it? Or, who laid the corner stone? Where wast thou, when the morning stars praised me together, and all the children* of God rejoiced triumphantly? Who shut the sea with doors, when it brake forth as a child out of his mother's womb? When I made the clouds to be a covering for it, and swaddled it with the dark? When I gave it my commandment, making doors and bars for it, saying: Hither to shalt thou come, but no further, and here shalt thou lay down thy proud and high waves. Hast thou given the morning his charge (as soon as thou wast born) and shewed the day spring his place, that it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the ungodly might be shaken out? Their tokens and weapons hast thou turned like clay, and set them up again as the changing of a garment. Yea thou hast spoiled the ungodly of their light, and broken the arm of the proud.

 16 Camest thou ever into the ground of the sea: or hast thou 17 walked in the low corners of the deep? Have the gates of death been open unto thee, or hast thou seen the door of everlasting 18 treasure? Hast thou also perceived how broad the earth is?
 19 Now if thou hast knowledge of all, then shew me where light 20 dwelleth, and where darkness is: that thou mayest bring us unto their quarters, if thou canst tell the way to their houses.
 21 Knowest thou (when thou wast born) how old thou shouldst 22 be? Wentest thou ever into the treasures of the snow? or hast 23 thou seen the secret places of the hail, which I have prepared against the time of trouble, against the time of battle and war?
 24 * By what way is the light parted, and the heat dealt out upon 25 the earth? Who divideth the abundance of waters into rivers, 26 or who maketh a way for the stormy weather, that it watereth 27 and moistureth the dry and barren ground: to make the grass grow in places where no body dwelleth, and in the wilderness 28 where no man remaineth? Who is the father of rain? Or who 29 hath begotten the drops of dew? Out of whose womb came 30 the ice? Who hath gendered the coldness of the air? That the waters are as hard as stones, and lie congealed above the deep.
 31 Hast thou brought the seven stars together? Or art thou able 32 to break the Circle of heaven? Canst thou bring forth the morning star or the evening star at convenient time, and con-33 vey them home again? Knewest thou the course of heaven, that thou mayest set up the ordinance thereof upon the earth?
 34 Moreover, canst thou lift up thy voice to the clouds, that they 35 may pour down a great rain upon thee? Canst thou thunder also that they may go their way, and be obedient unto thee, 36 saying: Lo here are we. Who giveth sure wisdom or stead-37 fast understanding? Who numbereth the clouds in wisdom?
 38 Who stilleth the vehement waters of heaven? Who turneth 39 the clots to dust, and then to be clots again? Huntest thou the 40 prey from the lion, or feedest thou his whelps living in their 41 dens, and lurking in their couches? Who provideth meat for the raven, when his young ones cry unto God, and fly about for want of meat?

XXXIX

Knowest thou the time when the wild goats bring forth their young among the stony rocks? Or layest thou wait when the hinds use to fawn? Reckonest thou the months after they en- 2 gender, that thou knowest the time of their bearing? Or when 3 they lie down when they cast their young ones, and when they are delivered of their travail and pain? How their young ones 4 grow up and wax great thorow good feeding? who letteth the 5 wild ass go free, or who lowseth the bonds of the mule? Unto 6 whom I have given the wilderness to be their house, and the untilled land to be their dwelling place. That they may give 7 no force for the multitude of people in the cities, neither* re- 8 gard the crying of the driver: but* seek their pasture about 8 the mountains and* follow* the green grass. Will the unicorn 9 be so tame as to do the service, or to abide still by thy crib?

Canst thou bind the yoke about him in thy furrows, to make 10 him plow after thee in the valleys? Mayest thou trust him 11 (because he is strong) or commit thy labour unto him? Mayest 12 thou believe him, that he will bring home the* corn, or to carry anything unto the* barn? The Ostrich (whose feathers are 13 fairer than the wings of the sparrow hawk) when he hath laid 14 his eggs upon the ground, he bredeth them in the dust, and 15 forgetteth them: so that they might be trodden upon with feet, or broken with some wild beast. So hard is he to his young 16 ones, as though they were not his, and laboureth in vain without any fear. And that because God hath taken wisdom from 17 him, and hath not given him understanding. When his time 18 is, he flyeth up on high,* and careth neither for horse nor man.
Hast thou given the horse his strength? or learned him to bow 19 down his neck with fear: that he letteth himself be driven 20 forth like a grasshopper, where as the stout neighing that he maketh, is fearful? he breaketh the ground with the hoofs 21 of his feet cheerfully in his strength, and runneth to meet the harness* men. He layeth aside all fear, his stomach is not 22 abated, neither starteth he a back for any sword. Though 23 the quivers rattle upon him, though the spear and shield glister: yet rusheth he in fearlessly, and beateth upon the ground. 24 He feareth not the noise of the trumpets, but as soon as he 25 heareth the shawmes blow, tush (sayeth he) for he smelleth the battle afar off, the noise, the Captains and the shouting.
Cometh it thorow thy wisdom, that the Goshawk flyeth toward 26 27 the South? Doth the Aegle mount up, and make his nest on 28 high,* at thy commandment? He abideth in the stony rocks, and upon the high tops of hard mountains, where no man can 29 come. From thence may he behold his pray, and look far about 30 with his eyes. His young ones are fed with blood, and where any dead body lieth, there is he immediately.

XL, 2 Moreover, GOD spake unto Job and said: Can he that striveth with the almighty, be at rest? Should not he which disputeth 3 with God, give him an answer? Job answered the 4 LORD, saying: Behold, I am too vile a person, to answer thee, 5 therefore will I lay my hand upon my mouth. Once or twice 6 have I spoken, but I will say no more. Then spake the LORD 7 unto Job out of the storm, and said: Gird up thy loins like a 8 man, and tell me the things that I will ask thee. Wilt thou disannul my judgment? Or wilt thou condemn me, that thou 9 thyself mayest be made righteous? Is thine arm then like the arm of God? Maketh thy voice such a sound as his doth?
 10 Then arm thyself with thine own power, up, deck thee in thy 11 jolly array, pour out thy indignation of thy wrath: see that 12 thou cast down all the proud, look well, that thou makeest all such as be stubborn, to obey: tread all the ungodly under thy 13 feet, cast them down into the mire, and cover their faces with 14 darkness: Then will I confess also, that thy own right hand 15 hath saved thee. Behold Behemoth* (whom I made with thee) 16 which eateth hay as an ox: lo, how strong he is in his loins, 17 and what power he hath in the navel of his body. He spreadeth 18 out his tail like a Cedar tree, all his veins are stiff. His shins are like pipes of brass, his rig bones are like staves of 19 iron. First when God made him, he ordained* the wilderness 20 for him, that the mountains should give him grass, where all 21 the beasts of the field take their pastime. He lieth among the 22 reeds in the Mosses, the fens hide him with their shadow, and 23 the willows of the brook cover him round about. Lo, without any labour might he drink out of the whole flood, and sup of 24 Jordan without any trail.* Who dare lay a hand on him openly, and undertake to catch him? Or, who dare put a hook thorow his nose, and lay a snare for him?

tongue with a snare? Canst thou put a ring in the nose of him? 2 or bore his chaftes thorow with a nawl? * Will he make many 3 fair words with thee (thinkest thou) or flatter thee? Will he 4 make a covenant with thee? Or art thou able for to compel him 5 to do thee continual service? Wilt thou take thy pastime with 6 him as with a bird? Or give him unto thy maidens, that thy 6 companions may hew him in pieces, to be parted among the 7 merchant men? Canst thou fill the net with his skin, or the 7 fish panner with his head? Darest thou lay hand upon him? 8 It is better for thee to consider what harm might happen thee 9 there thorow, and not to touch him. For when thou thinkest 9 to have hold upon him, he shall beguile thee: Every man also 10 that seeth him, shall go back. And why? there dare none be so 10 bold as to raise him up. Who is able to stand before me? Or, 11 who hath given me anything afore hand, that I am bound to 11 reward him again? All things under heaven are mine. I fear 12 him not, whether he threaten or speak fair. Who lifteth him 13 up, and stripeth him out of his clothes, or who taketh him by 13 the bit of his bridle? Who openeth the doors of his face? for 14 he hath horrible teeth round about, His body is covered with 15 scales as it were with shields, locked* in, kept, and well com- 15 pact together. One is so joined to another, that no air can come 16 in: Yea one hangeth so upon another, and sticketh so together, 17 that they can not be sundered. His nesing is like a glistering 18 fire, and his eyes like the morning shine. Out of his mouth go 19 torches and fire brands, out of his nostrils there goeth smoke, 20 like as out of an hot seething pot. His breath maketh the coals 21 burn, the flame goeth out of his mouth. In his neck remaineth 22 strength, and before his face sorrow is turned to gladness. The 23 members of his body are joined so strait one to another, and 23 cleave so fast together, that he can not be moved. His heart 24 is as hard as stone, and as fast as the stithy that the hammer 24 man smiteth upon. When he goeth: the mightiest of all are 25 afraid, and the waves heave. If he draw out the sword, there 26 may neither spear, nor breast plate, abide him. He sitteth as 27 much by a straw as by iron, and as much by a rotten stock as 27 by metal. He starteth not away for him that bendeth the bow: 28 and as for sling stones, he careth as much for stubble as for 28 them. He counteth the hammer no better than a straw, he 29 30 laugheth him to scorn that shaketh the spear. He treadeth 31 the gold in the mire like the sharp potsherds. He maketh the deep to seethe and boil like a pot, and stirreth the sea together 32 like an ointment. The way is light after him, the deep is his 33 walking place. Upon earth is there no power like unto his, for 34 he is so made that he feareth not. If a man will consider all high things, this same is a king over all the children of pride.

XLII, 2 Then Job answered the LORD, and said: I know that thou hast power over* all things, and that there is no thought hid 3 unto thee. For who can keep his own counsel* so secret, but it shall be known? Therefore have I spoken unwisely, seeing 4 these things are so high, and pass mine understanding. O hearken thou unto me also, and let me speak: answer me unto 5 the thing that I will ask thee. I have given diligent ear unto 6 thee, and now I see thee with mine eyes. Wherefore I give mine own self the blame, and take repentance in the dust and 7 ashes. Now when the LORD had spoken these words unto Job, he said unto Eliphaz the Themanite: I am displeased with thee and thy two friends, for ye have not spoken the thing that is 8 right before me, like as my servant Job hath done. Therefore take seven oxen and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, offer up also for yourselves a brentoffering: and let my servant Job pray for you. Him will I accept, and not deal with you after your foolishness: in that ye have not spoken the thing 9 which is right, like as my servant Job hath done. So Eliphaz the Themanite, Baldad the Suhite and Sophar the Naamath-ite went their way, and did according as the LORD commanded 10 them. The LORD also accepted the person of Job, and the LORD turned him unto Job, when he prayed for his friends: 11 Yea the LORD gave Job twice as much as he had afore. And then came there unto him all his brethren, all his sisters, with all them that had been of his acquaintance afore, and ate bread with him in his house, wondering at him, and comforting him over all the trouble, that the LORD had brought upon him. Ev-12 ery man gave him a sheep and a Jewel of gold. And the LORD made Job richer than he was before: for he had fourteen thousand sheep, and six thousand camels, and a thousand yoke 13 of oxen, and a thousand asses. He had children also, seven 14 sons and three daughters. The first* called Day: the second Poverty: the third All plenteousness. In all the land were 15 none found so fair, as the daughters of Job, and their father gave them inheritance among their brethren. After this lived 16 Job forty years, so that he saw his children, his childrens' children to the fourth generation; And so he died, being old and 17 of a perfect age.

The Book Of Psalmes.

I Blessed is the man that goeth not in the counsel of the ungodly: that abideth not in the way of sinners, 2 and sitteth not in the seat of the scornful. But delighteth in the law of the LORD, and exerciseth him-3 self in his law, both day and night. Such a man is like a tree planted by the water side, that bringeth forth his fruit in due season. His leaves shall not fall off, and look whatsoever he 4 doth, it shall prosper. As for the ungodly, it is not so with them: but they are like the dust, which the wind scattereth 5 away from the ground. Therefore the ungodly shall not be able to stand in the judgment, neither the sinners in the con-6 gregation of the righteous. For the LORD alloweth the way of the righteous, but the way of the ungodly shall perish.

II Why do the heathen grudge? Why do the people imagine 2 vain things? The kings of the earth stand* up, and the rulers are come together, against the LORD, and against his anointed.
3 Let us break their bonds asunder, and cast away their yoke 4 from us. Nevertheless he that dwelleth in heaven, shall laugh them to scorn: yea even the Lord himself shall have them in 5 derision. Then shall he speak unto them in his wrath, and 6 vex them in his sore displeasure. Yet have I set my king 7 upon my holy hill of Sion. As for me, I will preach the law, whereof the LORD hath said unto me: Thou art my son, this 8 day have I begotten thee. Desire of me, and I shall give thee the Heathen for thine inheritance; Yea the uttermost* parts of 9 the world for thy possession. Thou shalt rule them with a rod 10 of iron, and break them in pieces like an earthen vessel. Be wise now therefore, O ye kings, be warned, ye that are judges 11 of the earth. Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoyce before him 12 with reverence. Kiss the Son, lest the Lord be angry, and so ye perish from the right way. For his wrath shall be kindled shortly: blessed are all they that put their trust in him.

III (A Psalm of David when he fled from the face of Absalom.) Why are they so many, O LORD, that trouble me? a great mul-2 titude are they, that rise against me. Yea many one there be that say of my soul: There is no help for him in God. Selah.

2. v.2 Other: stode. v.8 Other: utmost.

But thou, O LORD, art my defender, my worship, and the lifter 3 up of my head. I call upon the LORD with my voice, and he 4 heareth me out of his holy hill. Selah. I laid me down and 5 slept, but I rose up again, for the LORD sustained me. I am 6 not afraid for thousands of the people, that compass me round about. Up LORD, and help me, O my God: for thou smitest all 7 mine enemies upon the cheek bones, and breakest the teeth of the ungodly. Help belongeth unto the LORD, therefore let thy 8 blessing be upon thy people.

(To the Chanter in Neginoth, a Psalm of David) Hear me IV when I call, O God of my righteousness: thou that comfortest me in my trouble: have mercy upon me, and harken unto my prayer. O ye sons of men, how long will ye blaspheme mine 2 honour? why have ye such pleasure in vanity, and seek after lies? Selah. Know this, that the LORD dealeth marvelously 3 with his saint: and when I call upon the LORD, he heareth me.
 Be angry, but sin not: come with your own hearts upon your 4 beds, and remember your selves. Selah. Offer the sacrifice 5 of righteousness, and put your trust in the LORD. There be 6 many that say: Who will do us any good? LORD lift up upon* us the light of thy countenance. Thou rejoicest mine heart, 7 though their increase be great both in corn and wine. There- 8 fore will I lay me down in peace, and take my rest: for thou, LORD only settest me in a sure dwelling.

(To the Chanter in Nehiloth, a Psalm of David.) Hear my V words (O LORD) consider my calling. O mark the voice of my 2 petition, my King and my God, for unto thee will I make my prayer. Hear my voice by times (O LORD) for early in the 3 morning will I get me unto thee, and that with diligence. For 4 thou art not the God that hath pleasure in wickedness, there may no ungodly person dwell with thee. Such as be cruel may 5 not stand in thy sight, thou art an enemy unto all wicked doers.
 Thou destroyest the liars: the LORD abhorreth the bloodthirsty 6 and deceitful. But as for me, I will come into thy house, even 7 upon the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy fear will I worship toward thy holy temple. Lead me (O LORD) in thy righteous- 8 ness because of mine enemies, and make thy way plain before me. For there is no faithfulness in their mouths: they dis- 9 semble in their hearts: their throat is an open sepulchre: with 10 their tongues they deceive. Punish them (O God) that they may perish in their own imaginations: cast them out because of the multitude of their ungodliness, for they rebel against thee.

 11 Again, let all them that put their trust in thee, rejoice: let them ever be giving of thanks, because thou defendest them: 12 that they which love thy name, may be joyful in thee. For thou LORD givest thy blessing unto the righteous: and with thy favourable kindness thou defendest him, as with a shield.

VI (To the Chanter in Neginoth upon Sheminith, a Psalm of David.) Oh LORD, rebuke me not in thine anger: Oh chasten 2 me not in thy heavy displeasure. Have mercy upon me (O LORD) for I am weak: O LORD heal me, for all my bones are 3 vexed. My soul also is in great trouble, but LORD, how long?
 4 Turn thee (O LORD) and deliver my soul: Oh save me for thy 5 mercies' sake. For in death no man remembereth thee: Oh 6 who will give thee thanks in the hell? I am weary of groaning: every night wash I my bed, and water my couch with my tears.
 7 My countenance is changed for very inward grief, I consume 8 away, I have so many enemies. Away from me all ye wicked 9 doers, for the LORD hath heard the voice of my weeping. The LORD hath heard my humble petition, the LORD hath received 10 my prayer. All mine enemies shall be confounded and sore vexed: yea they shall be turned back and put to shame, and that right soon.

VII (Sigaion of David, which he sang for the words of Cus the son of Jemini.) O LORD my God, in thee do I trust: save me 2 from all them that persecute me, and deliver me. Lest he hantche up my soul like a lion, and tear it in pieces, while 3 there is none to help. O LORD my God, if I have done any 4 such thing, if there be any unrighteousness in my hands: If I have rewarded evil unto them that dealt friendly with me, or 5 hurt them that without any cause are mine enemies: Then let mine enemy persecute my soul, and take me: yea let him tread my life down in the earth, and lay mine honor in the dust. Se-6 lah. Stand* up (O LORD) in thy wrath, lift up thyself over the furious indignation of mine enemies: arise up (for me) in the 7 vengeance that thou hast promised. That the congregation of the people may come about thee, for their sakes therefore lift 8 up thyself again. The LORD is judge over the people: avenge me then (O LORD) according to my righteousness and innocence. Oh let the wickedness of the ungodly come to an end: 9 but maintain the just, thou righteous God, that triest the very 10 hearts and reins. My help cometh of God, which preserveth 11 them that are true of heart. God is a righteous judge, and 12 God is ever threatening. If men will not turn, he hath whet 13 his sword: he hath bent his bow and made it ready. He hath 14 prepared* him the weapons of death, and ordained his arrows 15 to destroy. Behold, he travaileth with mischief, he hath conceived 16 unhappiness, and brought forth a lie. He hath graven 17 and digged up a pit, but he shall fall himself into the pit that he hath made. For his unhappiness shall come upon his own head, and his wickedness shall fall upon his own pate. As for me, I will give thanks unto the LORD for his righteousness^{} sake, and will praise the name of the LORD the most highest.

(To the Chanter upon Githith, a Psalm of David.) O LORD VIII our governour: how wonderfull is thy name in all the world? how excellent is thy glory above the heavens. Out of the 2 mouth of the very babes and sucklings, thou hast ordained* praise, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest destroy 3 the enemy and the avenger. For I consider thy heavens, even the work of thy fingers: the moon and the stars which thou 4 hast made. Oh what is man, that thou art so mindful of him? either the son of man that thou visitest him? After thou hadst 5 for a season made him lower than the angels, thou crownest him with honor and glory. Thou hast set him above the works 6 of thy hands: and thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. All sheep and oxen, yea and the beasts of the field. 7 The fowls of the air, and the fish of the sea, and whatsoever 8 walketh thorow the ways of the sea. O LORD our governour, 9 how wonderful is thy name in all the world?

(To the Chanter upon Almuth Laben, a Psalm of David.) I IX will give thanks unto thee (O LORD) with my whole heart, I will speak of all thy marvelous works. I will be glad, and 2 rejoyce in thee, yea my songs will I make of thy name, O thou most highest.* Because thou hast driven mine enemies aback, 3 they were discomfited, and perished at thy presence. For thou 4 hast maintained my right and my cause: thou sittest in the 5 throne that art the true judge. Thou rebukest the heathen, and destroyest the ungodly, thou puttest out their name for 6 ever and ever. The enemy's swords are come to an end, thou hast overthrown their cities, their memorial is perished with 7 them. But the LORD endureth for ever, he hath prepared his 8 seat unto judgment. He governeth the world with righteous-9 ness, and ministereth true judgment unto the people. The LORD is a defense for the poor, a defense in the time of trouble.

 10 Therefore they that know thy name, put their trust in thee: 11 for thou (LORD) never failest them that seek thee. O praise the LORD, which dwelleth in Sion, shew the people of his do-12 ings. And why? he maketh inquisition for their blood, and remembereth them: he forgetteth not the complaint of the poor.
 13 Have mercy upon me, (O LORD) consider the trouble that I am in among mine enemies, thou that liftest me up from the gates 14 of death. That I may shew all thy praises within the ports of the daughter of Sion, and rejoice in thy saving health. As for 15 the Heathen, they are sunk down in the pit that they made: in the same net which they spread out privily, is their own foot 16 taken. Thus the LORD is known to execute true judgment, when the ungodly is trapped in the works of his own hands.
 17 Selah. The wicked must be turned unto hell, and all the Hea-18 then that forget God. But the poor shall not all way be out of remembrance, the patient abiding of such as be in trouble 19 shall not perish for ever. Up LORD, let no man have the up-20 per hand, let the Heathen be condemned before thee. O LORD set a school master over them, that the Heathen may know themselves to be but men. Selah.

X Why art thou gone so far off, O LORD? whilst thou hide thy-2 self in time of trouble? While the ungodly hath the over hand, the poor must suffer persecution: O that they were taken in 3 the imagination which they go about. For the ungodly maketh boast* of his own heart's desire, the covetous blesseth himself, 4 and blasphemeth the LORD. The ungodly is so proud and full of indignation, that he careth not: neither is God before his 5 eyes. His ways are always filthy, thy judgments are far out 6 of his sight, he defyeth all his enemies. For he sayeth in his heart: Tush, I shall never be cast down, there shall no harm 7 happen to me. His mouth is full of cursing, fraud and deceit:

10. v.3 Other: boost.

under his tongue is travail and sorrow. He sitteth lurking in 8 the gardens, that he may privily murder the innocent, his eyes are set upon the poor. He lieth waiting secretly, as it were a 9 lion in his den. He lurketh that he may ravish the poor, yea to ravish the poor when he hath gotten him into his net. Then 10 smiteth he, then oppresseth he and casteth down the poor with his authority. For he sayeth in his heart: Tush, God hath for- 11 gotten, he hath turned away his face, so that he will never see it. Arise O LORD God, lift up thine hand and forget not the 12 poor. Wherefore should the wicked blaspheme God and say 13 in his heart: tush, he careth not for it: This thou seest, for 14 thou considerest the misery and sorrow. The poor giveth himself over in to thy hand, and committeth him unto thee, for thou art the helper of the friendless. Break thou the arm off 15 the ungodly and malicious, search out the wickedness which he hath done, that he may perish. The LORD is King for ever, 16 the Heathen shall perish out of his land. LORD, thou hearest 17 the desirous longing of the poor: their heart is sure, that thine ear hearkeneth thereto. Help the fatherless and the poor unto 18 their right, that the ungodly be no more exalted upon earth.

(To the Chanter, of David.) In the LORD put I my trust: how XI will ye then say to my soul: that she should flee as a bird upon your hill? For lo, the ungodly have bend their bow, and made 2 ready their arrows in the quiver, that they may privily shoot at them, which are true of heart. The very foundations have 3 they cast down, what can the righteous then do with all? But 4 the LORD is in his holy temple, the LORD's seat is in heaven: he considereth with his eyes, his eyelids behold the children of men. The LORD seeth both the righteous and ungodly, but 5 who so delighteth in wickedness, him his soul abhoreth. Upon 6 the ungodly he shall rain snares, fire, brimstone, storm and tempest: this reward shall they have to drink. For the LORD 7 is righteous, and he loveth righteousness: his countenance beholdeth the thing that is just.

(To the Chanter upon Sheminith, a Psalm of David.) Help XII LORD, for there is not one saint more: very few faithful are there among the children of men. Every man telleth lies to his 2 neighbour, they do but flatter with their lips and dissemble in their heart. O that the LORD would root out all deceitful lips, 3 and the tongue that speaketh proud things. Which said: our 4 tongue should prevail: we are they that ought to speak, who 5 is lord over us? Now for the trouble's sake of the oppressed, and because of the complaint of the poor, I will up (sayeth the 6 LORD) I will help them, and set them at rest. The words of the LORD are pure words: even as the silver, which from the 7 earth is tried and purified seven times in the fire. Keep them therefore (O LORD) and preserve us from this generation for 8 ever. And why? when vanity and idleness getteth the over-hand among the children of men, all are full of the ungodly.

XIII (To the chanter, a Psalm of David) How long wilt thou forget me, O LORD? for ever? how long wilt thou hide thy face from 2 me? Oh how long shall I seek counsel in my soul? how long shall I be so vexed in my heart? how long shall mine enemy 3 triumph over me? Consider, and hear me, O LORD my God: 4 lighten mine eyes, that I sleep not in death. Lest mine enemy say: I have prevailed against him: for if I be cast down, they 5 that trouble me will rejoice at it. But my trust is in thy mercy, 6 and my heart is joyful in thy saving health. I will sing of the LORD, that dealeth so lovingly with me. (Yea I will praise the name of the LORD the most highest.) *

XIV (To the chanter, a Psalm of David) The foolish bodies say in their hearts: Tush, there is no God. They are corrupt, and become abominable in their doings, there is not one that doth 2 good. The LORD looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to see if there were any that would understand and 3 seek after God. But they are all gone out of the way, they are all together become unprofitable: there is none that doth good, 4 no not one. How can they have understanding, that work mischief, eating up my people, as it were bread, and call not upon 5 the LORD? Therefore shall they be brought in great fear, for 6 God standeth by the generation of the righteous. As for you, ye have made a mock at the counsel of the poor, because he 7 putteth his trust in the LORD. Oh that the saving health were given unto Israel out of Sion. Oh that the LORD would deliver his people out of captivity. Then should Jacob rejoice, and Israel should be right glad.

XV (A Psalm of David.) LORD, who shall dwell in thy taber-2 nacle? who shall rest upon thy holy hill? Even he that lead-eth an uncorrupt life: that doth the thing which is right, and that speaketh the truth from his heart. He that useth no deceit in his tongue: he that doth no evil to his neighbour, and slandereth* not his neighbours. He that sitteth not by the ungodly, but maketh much of them that fear the LORD: he that sweareth unto his neighbour, and disappointeth* him not. He that giveth not his money upon usury, and taketh no reward against the innocent. Who so doth these things, shall never be removed.

(Michtam of David) Preserve me, (O God) for in thee do I XVI trust. I have said unto the LORD: thou art my God, my goods 2 are nothing unto thee. All my delight is upon the saints that 3 are in the earth, and upon such like. But they that run after 4 another, shall have great trouble. Their drink offerings of 4 blood will not I offer, neither make mention of their name in 5 my mouth. The LORD him self is my good and my portion, 5 thou maintainest mine inheritance. The lot is fallen unto me 6 in fair ground, yea I have a goodly heritage. I will thank the 7 LORD for giving me warning: my reins also have chastened me 7 in the night season. Afore hand saw I GOD alwayes before 8 me, for he is on my right hand, that I should not be moved. 8 Therefore did my heart rejoyce, and my tongue was glad, my 9 flesh also shall rest in hope. For why? thou shalt not leave 10 my soul in hell, neither shalt thou suffer thy saint to see corruption. 10 Thou hast shewed me the ways of life: thou shalt 11 make me full of joy with thy countenance. At thy right hand 11 there is pleasure and joy for evermore.

(A prayer of David.) Hear the right (O LORD) consider my XVII complaint: harken to my prayer, that goeth not out of a feigned 2 mouth. Let my sentence come forth from thy presence: and 2 look upon the thing that is equal. Thou hast proved and visited 3 mine heart in the night season: thou hast tried me in the 3 fire: and hast found no wickedness in me: for I utterly purposed 4 that my mouth should not offend. Because the words of 4 thy lips, I have kept me from the works of men: in the way of 4 the murderer. Oh order thou my goings in thy paths: that my 5 footsteps slip not. For unto thee I cry: hear me O God: incline 5 thine ears unto me: and harken unto my words. Shew thy 7 marvelous loving-kindness, thou that savest them which put 7 their trust in thee, from such as resist thy right hand. Keep 8 me as the apple of an eye, defend me under the shadow of thy 9 wings. From the ungodly that trouble me, from my enemies 10 which compass my soul round about. Which maintain their own wealthiness with oppression, and their mouth speaketh 11 proud things. They lie waiting in our way on every side, turn-12 ing their eyes down to the ground. Like as a lion that is greedy of his prey, and as it were a lion's whelp lurking in his den.

 13 Up LORD, disappoint* him and cast him down: deliver my soul 14 with thy sword from the ungodly. From the men of thy hand (O LORD) from the men of the world, which have their portion 15 in this life: whose bellies thou fillest with thy treasure. They have children at their desire, and leave the rest of their substance for their babes. But as for me, I will behold thy presence in righteousness: and when thy glory appeareth, I shall be satisfied.

(To the chanter of David, servaunt of the LORD, which saide unto the LORD the words of this song, on the day in which the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul, and said:) I will love thee, (O LORD) my 2 strength. The LORD is my succor, my refuge, my Savior: my God, my helper, in whom I trust: my buckler, the horn of my 3 health, and my protection. I will praise the LORD, and call 4 upon him, so shall I be save from mine enemies. The sorrows of death compassed me, and the brooks of ungodliness made 5 me afraid. The pains of hell came about me, the snares of 6 death took hold upon me. Yet in my trouble I called upon the LORD, and complained unto my God. So he heard my voice out of his holy temple, and my complaint came before him, yea 7 even into his ears. Then the earth trembled and quaked, the very foundations of the hills shook and were removed, because 8 he was wroth. There went a smoke out of his nostrils, and a consuming fire out of his mouth, so that coals were kindled at 9 it. He bowed the heavens, and came down, and it was dark 10 under his feet. He rode upon the Cherub, and did fly: he 11 came flying with the wings of the wind. He made darkness his pavilion round about him, with dark waters and thick clouds 12 to cover him. At the brightness of his presence the clouds 13 removed, with hail stones and coals of fire. The LORD also thundered out of the heaven, and the height gave his thunder

17. v.13 Other: dispoynnte.

with hail stones and coals of fire. He sent out his arrows and 14 scattered them, he cast sore lightnings, and destroyed them.
 The springs of waters were seen, and the foundations of the 15 round world were discovered at thy chiding (O LORD) at the blasting and breath of thy displeasures. He sent down from 16 the height* to fetch me, and took me out of great waters. He 17 delivered me from my strong enemies, and from my foes which were to mighty for me. They prevented me in the time of 18 my trouble, but the LORD was my defense. He brought me 19 forth also into liberty: and delivered me, because he had a favor unto me. The LORD shall reward me after my righteous 20 dealing, and according to the cleanness of my hands shall he recompense me. For I have kept the ways of the LORD: and 21 have not behaved myself wickedly against my God. I have an eye unto all his laws, and cast not out his commandments from 22 me. Uncorrupt will I be before him, and will eschew my own wickedness. Therefore shall the LORD reward me after my 23 righteous dealing, and according to the cleanness of my hands 24 in his eyesight. With the holy thou shalt be holy, and with the innocent thou shalt be innocent. With the clean thou shalt be 25 clean, and with the froward thou shalt be froward. For thou 26 shalt save the poor oppressed, and bring down the high looks of the proud. Thou lightest my candle, O LORD my God: thou 27 makest my darkness to be light. For in thee I can discomfort an host of men: yea in my God I can leap over the wall. The 28 way of God is a perfect way: the words of the LORD are tried in the fire: he is a shield of defense, for all them that trust 29 in him. For who is God, but the LORD? Or, who hath any strength, but our God? It is God that hath girded me with 30 strength, and made my way uncorrupt. He hath made my feet like hart's feet, and set me up on high.* He teacheth my 31 hands to fight, and maketh mine arms to break even a bow of steel. Thou hast given me the defense of thy health, thy 32 right hand upholdeth me, and thy loving correction maketh me great. Thou hast made room enough under me for to go, 33 that my foot steps should not slide. I will follow upon mine 34 enemies, and take them: I will not turn till they be discom-fitted. I will smite them, they shall not be able to stand, but 35 fall under my feet. Thou hast girded me with strength unto 36 the battle, thou hast thrown them all down under me, that 40 rose up against me. Thou hast made mine enemies to turn their backs upon me, thou hast destroyed them that hated me.

 41 They cried, but there was none to help them: yea even unto 42 the LORD, but he heard them not. I will beat them as small as the dust clay in* the wind, I will cast them out as the clay 43 in the streets. Thou shalt deliver me from the strivings of the people, thou shalt make me the head of the Heathen. A people 44 whom I have not known shall serve me. As soon as they hear of me, they shall obey me, but the strange children dissemble 45 with me. The strange children are waxen old, and go halt-46 ing out of their paths. The LORD liveth: and blessed be my 47 helper, praised be the God of my health. Even the God which 48 seeth that I be avenged, and subdueth the people unto me. It is he that delivereth me from my cruel enemies: thou shalt lift me up from them that rise against me, thou shalt rid me 49 from the wicked man. For this cause I will give thanks unto thee (O LORD) among the gentiles, and sing praises unto thy 50 name. Great prosperity giveth he unto his king, and sheweth loving-kindness unto David his anointed, yea and to his seed for evermore.

XIX (To the Chanter, a Psalm of David.) The very heavens de-1 declare the glory of God, and the very firmament sheweth his 2 handiwork. One day telleth another, and one night certifi-3 eth another. There is neither speech nor language, but their 4 voices are heard among them. Their sound is gone out into all lands, and their words in to the ends of the world. In them 5 hath he set a tabernacle for the Sun,* which cometh forth as a bridegroom out of his chamber, and rejoiceth as a giant to run 6 his course. It goeth forth from the one end of the heaven, and runneth about unto the same end again, and there may no man 7 hide himself from the heat thereof. The law of the LORD is a perfect law, it quickeneth the soul. The testimony of the LORD 8 is true, and giveth wisdom even unto babes. The statutes of the LORD are right, and rejoice the heart: the commandment 9 of the LORD is pure, and giveth light unto the eyes. The fear of the LORD is clean, and endureth for ever: the judgments 10 of the LORD are true and righteous altogether. More pleasant are they than gold, yea then much fine gold: sweeter then honey and the honeycomb. These thy servant keepeth, and 11 for keeping of them there is great reward. Who can tell, how 12 oft he offendeth? Oh cleanse thou me from my secret faults.

 Keep thy servant also from presumptuous sins, lest they get 13 dominion over me: so shall I be undefiled and innocent from the great offense. Yea the words of my mouth and the medi- 14 tation of my heart shall be acceptable unto thee, O LORD, my helper and my redeemer.

(To the Chanter, a Psalm of David.) The LORD hear thee in XX the time of trouble, the name of the God of Jacob defend thee.
 Send thee help from the Sanctuary, and strengthen thee out 2 of Sion. Remember all thy offerings, and accept thy brent 3 sacrifice. Selah. Grant thee thy heart's desire, and fulfil all 4 thy mind. We will rejoice in thy health, and triumph in the 5 name of the LORD our God: the LORD performe all thy petitions. Now know I, that the LORD helpeth his anointed, and 6 will hear him from his holy heaven: mighty is the help of his right hand. Some put their trust in chariots, and some in 7 horses: but we will remember the name of the LORD our God.
 They are brought down and fallen, but we are risen and stand* 8 up right. Save, LORD, and help us, O king, when we call upon 9 thee.

(To the Chanter, a Psalm of David) LORD, how joyful is the XXI king in thy strength? O how exceedingly glad is he of thy saving health? Thou hast given him his heart's desire, and hast 2 not put him from the request of his lips. Selah. For thou 3 hast prevented him with liberal blessings, and set a crown of gold on his head. He asked life of thee, and thou gavest him 4 a long life, even for ever and ever. His honour is great in 5 thy saving health, glory and great worship shalt thou lay upon him. For thou shalt give him everlasting felicity, and make 6 him glad with the joy of thy countenance. And why? because 7 the king putteth his trust in the LORD, and in the mercy of the most highest* he shall not miscarry. Let all thine enemies 8 feel thy hand: let thy right hand find out all them that hate thee. Thou shalt make them like a fire oven in the time of thy 9 wrath: the LORD shall destroy them in his displeasure, and the fire shall consume them. Their fruit shalt thou root out 10 of the earth, and their seed from among the children of men.

11 For they intended mischief against thee, and imagined such 12 devices, as they were not able to perform. Therefore shalt thou put them to flight, and with thy strings thou shalt make 13 ready thine arrows against the faces of them. Be thou exalted, LORD, in thine own strength, so will we sing and praise thy power.

XXII (To the Chanter upon Aieleth of the dawning, a Psalm of David.) My God, my God: why hast thou forsaken me? the 2 words of my complaint are far from my health. O my God, I cry in the daytime, but thou hearest not: and in the night 3 season also I take no rest. Yet dwellest thou in the sanctuary, 4 O thou worship of Israel. Our fathers hoped in thee, they 5 trusted in thee, and thou didst* deliver them. They called upon thee, and were helped: they put their trust in thee, and 6 were not confounded. But as for me, I am a worm and no 7 man: a very scorn of men and the outcast of the people. All they that see me, laugh me to scorn: they shoot out their lips, 8 and shake their heads. He trusted in God, let him deliver 9 him: let him help him, if he will have him. But thou art he that took me out of my mother's womb: thou wast my hope, 10 when I hanged yet upon my mother's breasts. I have been left unto thee ever since I was born, thou art my God, even from 11 my mother's womb. O go not far from me then, for trouble 12 is hard at hand, and here is none to help me. Great bulls 13 are come about me, fat oxen close me in on every side. They gape upon me with their mouths, as it were a rampaging and 14 roaring lion. I am poured out like water, all my bones are out of joint: my heart in the midst of my body is even like 15 melting wax. My strength is dried up like a potsherd, and my tongue cleaveth to my gums, and thou hast brought me into 16 the dust of death. For dogs are come about me, the counsel 17 of the wicked hath laid siege against me. They pierced my hands and my feet, I might have told all my bones: as for them, 18 they stood staring and looking upon me. They have parted my 19 garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture. But be not thou far from me, O LORD: thou art my succour, haste 20 thee to help me. Deliver my soul from the sword, my dearling 21 from the power of the dog. Save me from the lion's mouth, 22 and hear me from among the horns of the unicorns. So will
